Carrier sent to aid Manila

MANILA (UPI)—The U. S. helicopter carrier Tripoli has been ordered off its station in Vietnam and sent to the flood-stricken Philippines for relief work, President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today.

Marcos said the carrier called off station in the China Sea, will be carrying a 108-man U.S. military civic action team from Okinawa.

U. S. ship movements are classified but it was believed the Tripoli has been operating off Vietnam.

The decision to send the carrier followed Philippine Red Cross reports that about half a million people were marooned by the floods.

cos said.

Red Cross Secretary General Mrs. Loreto Paras said flood waters are 10 feet deep in some areas and still rising. She said Manila, struck by more than two feet of rain in three days, was "90 per cent under water" and 50 evacuation centers had been set up in the greater Manila area to provide food and shelter for about 14,000 people.

Heavy monsoon rains which started July 7 have flooded 200 miles of central and northern Luzon and claimed at least 213 lives, according to official reports.

Marcos said earlier "the situation is getting more critical than we expected." He said he had ordered the commandeering of all available watercraft and foodstuffs in areas where there is a shortage.

"The Tripoli usually carries about 16 helicopters but they have loaded everything on it so the estimate is it would be carrying 20 helicopters," Mar-

Arsonists hit perch of Oswald

DALLAS (UPI)—Arsonists today spread gallons of gasoline across five floors of the Texas School Book Depository Building, where Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shots that killed President John F. Kennedy, and set the 68-year-old brick structure on fire.

The fire was confined to third, fourth and fifth floors of the building and was extinguished in 24 minutes after it was reported.

"It was definitely arson," assistant Fire Chief L. R. McCowan said. "We found gasoline cans on every floor and the smell of gasoline was all through the building."

Damages were estimated at $5,000. But there were no injuries and McCowan said it was thought no one was in the building at the time.

"There was quite a bit of fire," he said. "But the sprinkler system put most of it out."

1st acupuncture clinic shut down

NEW YORK (UPI)—When the nation's first and only acupuncture clinic opened, its stated aim was to help through the ancient Chinese art of inserting needles those patients who received no help from modern medicine.

"It was bedlam," said Charles Newmark, administrative director of the clinic. "We had (3,000) people from all over the country waiting for treatment. They (the state) gave us no warning. They just walked in."

At the time the clinic was closed down, he said, 100 persons were there—25 with needles in them.

"I am furious," said Fran Lee, 61, former consumer affairs editor for Metromedia and WINS radio in New York. "I would like to rap the whole medical profession in the mouth. I have suffered with arthritis for over 20 years and I could not open my hand. Last Wednesday, I had my first treatment and I was able to open my hand for the first time in years." Her last treatment was a few hours before the shutdown.

Robert Stone, chief counsel for the education department which licenses doctors in New York, said that a month ago he had determined only licensed doctors could perform acupuncture. At the clinic, technicians and Chinese doctors not licensed by the state had been handling the needles, he said.

The acupuncturists all study the art in China, Newmark said. One had been practicing the art for more than 20 years and had been in charge of a Peking hospital, he said.

About 90 per cent of the 300 people the clinic has treated so far had responded to the treatment, Newmark said.

"Many had tears in their eyes when they were denied treatment. Many wanted to sleep over in the clinic all night in hope of getting treatment tomorrow."

Dr. Arnold Benson, director of the clinic, could have his license suspended if the clinic continues to operate, Stone said.

Newmark said the clinic was consulting its attorneys to see what could be done to keep the clinic open.

US 'copters attack North Viet coast line

SAIGON (UPI)—U. S. Marine helicopter gunships raided the North Vietnamese coast Wednesday, the second time in the war that helicopters have been used in offensive operations over the North, the U. S. command said today.

Military sources said about six AH-1 Sea Cobras flying off the USS Denver from the U. S. 7th Fleet offshore reported destroying three water craft and damaging six others 68 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams. The helicopters fired rockets and 20mm cannon shells.

In fighting in South Vietnam, Communist guerrillas Wednesday shot down a U.S. jet fighter-bomber and two U.S. helicopters supporting the South Vietnamese drive to recapture Quang Tri City. Four Americans were wounded.

Spokesmen said the only other time choppers flew into North Vietnam was the November, 1971, raid on the Son Tay prisoner of war camp, which was found empty.

Elsewhere in the air war Wednesday, U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom jets firing guided bombs dropped two of the five spans of the Cao Hung railroad bridge 50 miles northeast of Hanoi and 35 miles southwest of China, the U.S. command said.

The Denver, an amphibious transport ship, is the main U.S. Marine "base" in Indochina, carrying about 900 of the estimated 5,000 Leathernecks based in the Tonkin Gulf.

Artillery, armored vehicles and everything else a Marine battalion needs for a combat assault are aboard it. The Marines have been on the alert offshore ever since the early days of the current 16-week Communist offensive in South Vietnam.

Ten U.S. helicopters have been shot down over North Vietnam, all of them on rescue missions to pluck downed air crewmen to safety, spokesmen said.

Along the Tonkin Gulf coast, a Navy pilot from the carrier Kitty Hawk put a "Fat Albert" Walleye television-guided bomb right into a cave being used as a defense site at the water's edge 140 miles south of Hanoi, the U.S. command said. The pilot reported that after his bomb found its mark, explosions continued inside the cave "for approximately 10 minutes."

Air Force Phantoms set off a veritable fireworks display when they hit an ammunition dump 23 miles north of the DMZ and just 40 miles north of embattled Quang Tri city, the command said.

In ground fighting, Communist reinforcements twice tried to drive 1,500 government paratroopers from embattled Quang Tri. But in the bloodiest encounters of the three-week-old South Vietnamese push to recapture the provincial capital, the paratroopers killed at least 198 North Vietnamese at a cost of 11 government soldiers dead and 44 wounded.

Labor balks, Demos hurt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The decision of the giant AFL-CIO to straddle the fence in this year's presidential election has thrown an already divided labor movement and disjointed Democratic coalition into further disarray.

Some of the 117 AFL-CIO unions will follow the lead of their parent federation and its 77-year-old president, George Meany, and remain neutral between President Nixon and Democrat George S. McGovern, but many will go out on their own and support McGovern.

And at least one of them, the Marine Engineer, has endorsed Nixon, joining with the big independent Teamsters Union and an unaffiliated Federal Employee Union in supporting the Republican ticket—an almost unheard-of act in the labor movement.

Labor's disarray contrasts sharply with the loyalty it has given Democratic presidential candidates since Franklin D. Roosevelt forged labor into his Democratic coalition four decades ago—a coalition that appears to be breaking up under the takeover of the party by McGovern and his youthful and liberal supporters.

The AFL-CIO's Executive Council voted 27-3 for political neutrality Wednesday. It was more a show of loyalty to Meany than a vote against McGovern, since the number of those on the majority side had already endorsed McGovern and others plan to mobilize their unions for the Democratic ticket.

There's no doubt the action hurts McGovern's chances to defeat Nixon, compared for instance with full and unqualified support of the Democratic ticket by the 13.6 million-member AFL-CIO. But the damage to McGovern will be lessened with each union that decides to support him on its own.

Meany and most other labor leaders have severely criticized Nixon and said the nation could hardly stand four more years of his rule.

The real practical significance of the vote was to deny any of the AFL-CIO's political funds to the McGovern campaign. Instead, Meany said, the money will be used to help elect labor's friends, to Congress.

This money was expected to total about $10 million this year after the AFL-CIO doubled its goal from $1 to $2 per member in voluntary political contributions.

O'Brien will head McGovern campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI)—George S. McGovern today appointed Lawrence F. O'Brien, former Democratic national chairman, as chairman of his campaign for the presidency.

In a news conference statement, the Democratic nominee said O'Brien "will be a foremost consultant on the overall policy and strategy of my campaign."

McGovern said O'Brien would be "personally and directly involved in all major campaign decisions" and would have as his basic mission the task of unifying "the support of key Democrats across the country."

O'Brien stepped down as Democratic chairman Friday after two terms and was succeeded by Jean Westwood, a 47-year-old businesswoman from Utah—the first woman ever to lead either national party.

O'Brien, active in presidential campaigns since 1960, will be McGovern's liaison with congressional Democrats, Democratic governors, mayors, state legislative leaders, Democratic party officials, organized labor and other organizations.

McGovern said O'Brien "will be a principal spokesman for this campaign and I am urging him to travel to every section of the country to speak in support of my candidacy—in public forums, in private consultations with those organizations and individuals so important to our success in the fall."

Ulster toll rises again

BELFAST (UPI)—Gunmen shot and killed a man who tried to stop them from bombing a news vendor's shop in Belfast today and a passerby discovered a young man's body stuffed in a hedgerow near Belfast airport.

Police said the man was shot in the neck when he attempted to prevent gunmen from planting a bomb in the shop in the mixed Springfield Road area. The bomb exploded shortly afterward, wrecking the shop.

The two deaths brought to 452 the number of fatalities in three years of violence in Northern Ireland.

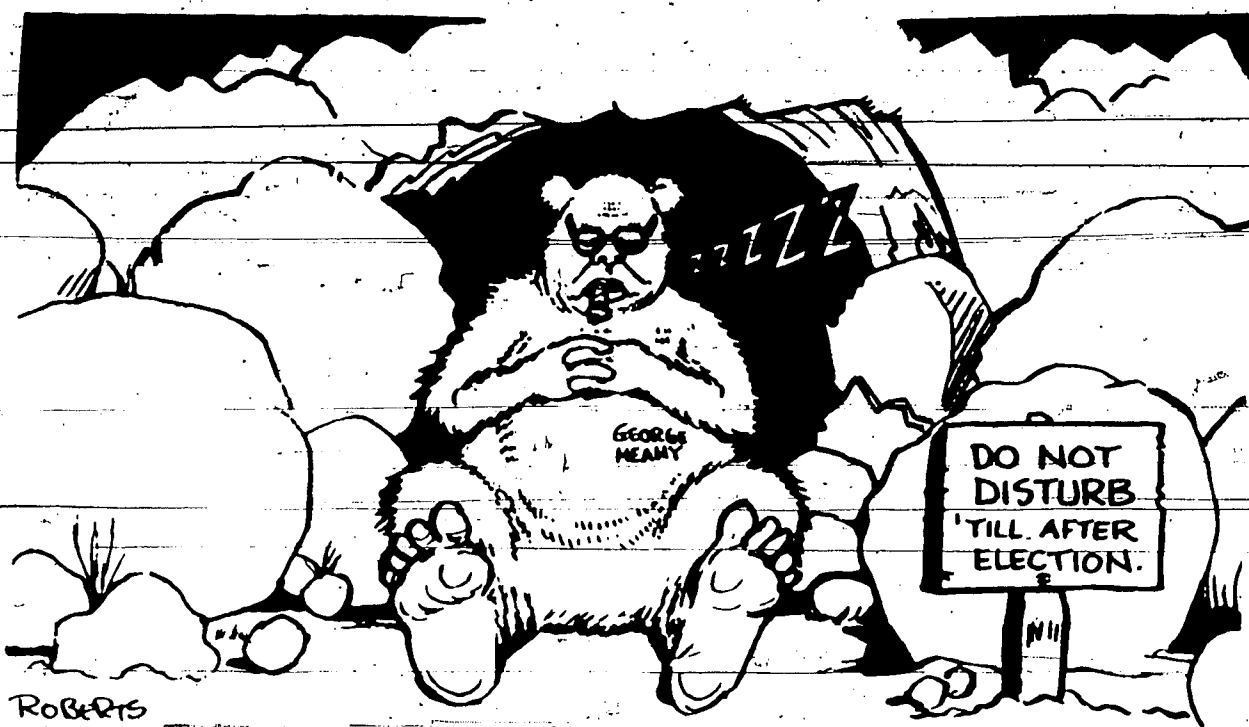

In the border town of Newry a bomb-laden baby carriage exploded, demolishing a post office. Only three persons were injured by flying glass but police said the casualties could have been much higher.

The chief Viet Cong negotiator, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, stated flatly that the U.S. demand for separate political and military agreements "is obviously one-sided and does not lead to a settlement of the South Vietnamese problem."

Madame Binh said the U.S. participation in the war "manifests itself both militarily and politically. Therefore in order to put an end to such participation, these two aspects of the problems should be settled simultaneously."

Madame Binh again demanded that the United States accept the Viet Cong's seven-point peace plan, centered on complete withdrawal of U.S. troops, abandonment of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and the formation of a three-part coalition government including the Viet Cong, present Saigon leaders except Thieu and "neutrals."

Mandel improves penal programs

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Gov. Marvin Mandel says medical care and rehabilitation programs will be improved immediately for the 5,000 inmates of the Maryland penal system that was disrupted by three riots this week.

Mandel intervened personally in disruptions at Jessup and Baltimore, which brought him face-to-face with inmates who complained about prison conditions.

After meeting with state penal authorities Wednesday, Mandel told newsmen that there would be "a change in direction" of medical care and rehabilitation. Uniform regulations will be implemented statewide, the governor said.

He also said he told corrections officials "to speed up the programs now under analysis but not yet implemented."

The state government has been studying means to improve living conditions in 19th century prison buildings and how to provide vocational training and meaningful rehabilitation.

Rioting inmates caused $2 million damage to the medium security House of Corrections at Jessup Saturday and Sunday. The next outbreak occurred Monday at the maximum security penitentiary in Baltimore where damage was estimated at $500,000. The third disturbance was at Upper Marlboro Tuesday and Wednesday.

Battle deaths doubled

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. battle deaths in Indochina doubled last week and South Vietnamese combat deaths were the highest in nearly three months, official figures showed today. Eight Americans died in combat.

The number of Communists killed in action decreased by 14 per cent.

The U.S. command reported that four more were killed in action last week than the previous week. The number of Americans wounded last week was 26, an increase of eight from the previous week.

Attica prison stable

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—The approximately 600 inmates who participated in a three-day strike at the Attica prison ended their protest Wednesday. But a state of emergency remained in effect today as a precautionary measure.

The inmates agreed to come out of their cells after a meeting between prison Superintendent Ernest L. Montanye and the Inmate Liaison Committee. They had remained in their cells, shunning meals, work periods and exercise breaks, to support 11 demands.

It was the first major unrest at the maximum security prison since last September, when 43 persons were killed during a rebellion.

Montanye agreed to two of the 11 demands and said some of the others were being worked out. Only one demand—for the liaison committee to meet with the press—was turned down because the committee was formed "as an advisory committee to the superintendent and not for meetings with the press," Montanye said.

He said he would continue the state of emergency as a precautionary measure "pending the return of the institution to its normal operations."

Welfare drive stopped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State of California has agreed to end its drive to force welfare mothers to answer district attorneys' questions about their sex lives and the whereabouts of absent fathers.

The agreement was contained in a stipulation signed by Deputy Attorney General Elizabeth Palmer and filed in U.S. District Court. The stipulation was drawn up after a series of hearings before Judge Robert F. Peckham.

The order also said recipients would not be cut from the welfare rolls when they decide to dismiss a criminal complaint for non-support against the father.

As a result of the stipulation some 750 women and 2,250 children will be retained on the welfare rolls.

Confer at hearing

NEW ENGLAND CRIME figure, Raymond Patriarca, center, serving a 10-year sentence for conspiracy to commit murder, confers with his attorneys as he testifies at a House Crime Committee hearing Wednesday. Left is Robert Napolitano and right is Harvey Brower. Patriarca claimed he has never met Frank Sinatra. (UPI)

Alleged underworld boss takes 5th amendment at congressional probe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The alleged New England underworld boss and the owner of a defunct Massachusetts race track linked with crime money took the fifth Amendment 78 times Wednesday at a congressional crime investigation.

Joseph Phillips, counsel for the House Crime Committee, said the substance of the questions he posed for alleged Mafia members Raymond Patriarca and Salvatore "Sam" Rizzo was based on FBI wiretaps.

Patriarca invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid self-incrimination 44 times. He was asked primarily if he had invested $214,000 in the Berkshire Downs race track and if he had any business dealings with singer Frank Sinatra, a 5 per cent stockholder in the track.

Patriarca, who is serving a sentence for conspiracy to commit murder, said he knew Sinatra only "on television and in the moving pictures."

Sinatra in testimony Tuesday denied knowing Patriarca. Sinatra said he invested $55,000 in the track in 1962 and pulled out a year later.

Berkshire Downs went bankrupt in 1965.

Rizzo, who ran the track, refused to answer any of the 34 questions put to him.

If Rizzo had talked, a committee spokesman said, he would have been asked in detail about his association with Sinatra.

Sinatra said he met Rizzo in an Atlantic City nightclub in 1962 and agreed to invest in the track.

Patriarca said he claimed the Fifth Amendment because of a pending trial in Rhode Island. Of the questions he did answer, Patriarca said he was only a middle class vending machine operator and did not have $214,000 to invest in anything. He also said that Joseph "The Baron" Barboza, who in testimony May 24 linked Patriarca and Sinatra with Mafia dealings at the track, was "a nutcase."

"He is liable to say anything to keep himself out of prison," Patriarca said.

Oyster deaths aired

HONGKONG (UPI)—Environmentalists today blamed pollution for the unexplained death of nearly 34 million oysters in Pearl Harbor.

Life of the Land, an ecology group said the deaths were "no mystery to us."

"The state and federal governments have passively allowed streams emptying into Pearl Harbor to be used as receptacles for all kinds of hazardous material," a spokesman said.

In the past two months, 99 per cent of the harbors oysters died under mysterious circumstances. State Department of Health officials said Wednesday that they didn't notify the Navy or the public of the situation because of "an oversight."

Tests were being made to discover the cause. A University of Hawaii scientist said, "It's something pretty strange."

Dr. Henri Minette, state deputy health director, said the cause was still "a deep dark mystery" and said there was a staggering cleanup job awaiting the state.

"Oh man," said Minette, "All those oysters are going to rot and deteriorate, millions of them."

He said the real tragedy was it would take years to repopulate the oyster beds, with which the state had hoped to develop a profitable commercial industry.

"Liger" dies

SHASTA, 24-year-old "Liger" died Wednesday at the Salt Lake City Zoo. Zoo director LaMar Farnsworth said Shasta was the only living offspring of a lion and a tiger. He said Shasta was as old in liger terms as a 120-year-old human. Her father was an African lion and her mother a Bengal tigress. (UPI)

Train bartender charged

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Bell, George H. Bell, 49, of Chicago, was released on $500 bond Wednesday on charges he violated Oklahoma's liquor laws when the Amtrak passenger train on which he tends bar rolled into the state.

It is against the law in Oklahoma to sell liquor by the drink. The "open saloons" in Amtrak's club cars also run through Kansas, which has similar antiliqor laws. Authorities in both states raided the trains Tuesday night.

Bell, a bartender for 20 years, served drinks to Oklahoma liquor control agents who boarded his train in Ardmore, Okla., and were riding to Oklahoma City.

He mixed the drinks in the crowded, swaying bar car, and served them with a napkin to the gentlemen dressed in dark suits.

"You are under arrest for running an open saloon. The bar is closed," an agent told

Bell. "What?" Bell said. "I've got a letter that says I can sell whisky anywhere, any time, any state, any county, seven days a week."

The liquor agents, refusing to argue, cleared the club car and confiscated the liquor, seven sacks of two-ounce bottles of scotch, rum, bourbon and vodka.

State agents said the charges against Bell were only the beginning. They said similar charges were being prepared against the railroad itself and its officials.

The case set up a classic battle between state and federal supremacy.

In Kansas, agents stopped a train in Newton and arrested conductors, bartenders and stewards for selling liquor by the drink to the passengers.

Kansas law allows mixed drinks to be served in private clubs, but the state attorney general said the Amtrak club car could not qualify as a private club because it could not fulfill the requirement of a permanent address.

In Washington, Amtrak officials said they would battle the case in the courts, but in the meantime suspended all bar car operations in Oklahoma and Kansas.

There are 156 lakes in Minnesota named Long Lake. There also are 122 Rice Lakes, 90 Mud Lakes, 63 Bass Lakes, 72 Twin Lakes and 70 Round Lakes.

Funds asked for center

TWIN FALLS — Senior Citizens Agency and advisory council member in Twin Falls are seeking funds for an activities center for senior citizens.

Donations may be sent to Senior Citizens Advisory Council, Box 531, Twin Falls.

The funds are needed to provide a permanent center for senior citizens of Twin Falls from which to operate activities and in which to meet for social activities. Meals can be prepared for those unable to cook for themselves and delivered to the residents through the "Meals on Wheels" program.

The center would provide a location for potluck dinners, luncheons, social programs and special entertainment for senior citizens. Mrs. H. F. Waggoner, advisory board member said.

Group meetings for senior citizens as well as classes in ceramics, sewing and other crafts could be held.

Senior citizens could meet at the center when they chose to play cards, work on quilts or just visit, she explained.

A job placement program for senior citizens wishing to work part time could also be held and residents could obtain help with income tax returns and other financial matters.

Lorna Bolton, coordinator, would maintain an office at the center and provide assistance by telephone for persons with questions or needing transportation.

Mrs. Waggoner said the advisory council is also seeking assistance from young volunteers who will go on a door-to-door campaign for collection of donations.

Talks begin by US, Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Washington and Moscow get down to business today on promoting big business between themselves. If all goes well, President Nixon may have the Soviet-American trade pact he wants by year's end.

U.S. Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson arrives today aboard the presidential jet for a 12-day visit and talks with Soviet officials on removing the barriers to expanded Soviet-American trade.

He will lead the American side at the first gathering of the bilateral trade commission set up during Nixon's May summit visit to meet alternately in the two capitals and work out expanded trade.

Nixon has instructed Peterson to try to reach a comprehensive trade agreement with the Soviet Union by the end of the year. Peterson has forecast "tough bargaining ahead" in the drive to give Soviet-

American trade a superpower-size boost.

The United States last year exported $161 million worth of goods, largely machine tools and surgical instruments, to the Soviet Union. The Russians exported $57 million worth of goods to the United States. The Soviet Union's annual trade with capitalist countries totals more than $4 billion.

Despite the recent Soviet purchase of $750 million worth of American grain and the five-year scientific and technical pact between Moscow and the American Occidental Petroleum Co. that has billion-dollar potential, Peterson faces a rough road.

Soviet-American trade has not grown significantly since the May summit and one U.S. embassy official said American businessmen in Moscow "find the ropes are still pretty tough."

TF commissioner listed 'good'

BOISE — Heber Loughmiller, Twin Falls County commissioner, is listed in good condition at St. Luke's hospital here.

Hospital officials said today he has been transferred out of the intensive care unit and is under regular floor care. Loughmiller underwent openheart surgery last week in the Boise hospital for replacement of three arteries.

New rates

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho wheat growers were notified that Union Pacific Railroad freight rates on wheat moving between Idaho and California will be reduced in the near future. According to Harold West, administrator for the Idaho Wheat Commission, the new rates will apply to the following cities: seven and a half cents reduction per hundred pounds on shipment from Pocatello, American Falls and Burley to California, and nine cents reduction per hundred pounds on shipments from Idaho Falls and Ashton.

Felony charge sentence set

TWIN FALLS — Sentence for Michael Smith, 21, on a felony charge of delivery of a controlled substance has been set for Friday.

Judge Theron W. Ward, Fifth Judicial District, granted a delay July 14 to allow counsel to determine if rehabilitation is possible. Smith entered a plea of guilt to the charge June 30 and was granted a pre-sentence investigation, which was completed July 11.

Four complaints for conveyance of forfeiture on vehicles allegedly involved in transportation of controlled substances were filed Wednesday by the Idaho attorney general in Fifth Judicial District Court.

Complaints were filed against Steven Gibson, Filer, involving a 1967 Plymouth sedan allegedly used in the April 22, transporting of marijuana for sale; Bill Newcomer, Twin Falls, a 1966 Mustang the March 30 transportation of LSD for sale; Raymond Jeff, Twin Falls, for a 1964 Dodge pickup truck in the March 17 transportation of LSD for sale, and David Jones, Twin Falls, a 1964 Dodge Dart for the April 15 transportation of marijuana for sale.

The attorney general requests the court order forfeiture of the vehicles to the Bureau of Narcotics and Drug Enforcement, attorney general's office, as provided by state law.

Canyon rock festival set

TWIN FALLS — A one-day rock festival is planned in the Snake River Canyon near here Sunday.

The affair is sponsored by Jack Teater, Kimberly, the man who put on a controversial three-day festival near Bellevue last year. Teater said Wednesday the project is backed by "several persons" from Twin Falls who wish to remain anonymous.

The festival, called the Snake River Music Concert, will be held at the Canyon Club north of Twin Falls.

Teater said he hopes to attract "several thousand" young people but "would be satisfied with 500."

He said he had not applied for any kind of permit to hold the event. He said state law requiring permits for festivals does not apply because his program will be less than 18 hours long.

He said music will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at midnight. He said a number of rock groups, including "Elbo," whose current record "Follow Me" is on the top 40 chart, will play, Teater said.

Other bands include "Salem Mass" and local groups.

He said the affair has been advertised in Boise and Pocatello but not outside Idaho. He said additional parking will be provided, but declined to say where.

"We very definitely are going to discourage drugs," Teater said. "All laws will be enforced."

Hair fine

MANILA (UPI) — The municipal council of Agusan del Norte, some 500 miles south of Manila, recently approved a resolution penalizing male residents sport-ing long hair.

Mayor Florentino P. Maga-lanes said violators would be fined about $8 or imprisoned for 15 days. Transients are exempt.

Home brewers

SYDNEY (UPI) — Statistics show that the beer swallowed each year by Aussies averages out to 27.1 gallons (Imperial) per head of population. But pub owners and brewers say that doesn't tell the whole story because of the increasing numbers of Australians who are brewing their own. "If they include the home brew now being bottled throughout the country, they'd find the average well over 30 gallons per man," one brewery spokesman said.

Demonstrate beds

NEW EQUIPMENT in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital rooms is explained by Cora Lentini, registered nurse, left, and Shirley Campbell, licensed practical nurse. Both say the new electrically operated beds save much time and effort for nurses and are enjoyed by patients.

Ex-musician trio sets plans

TWIN FALLS — Three musicians who began playing in 1926 to finance their college educations are planning a July 28 reunion here.

During the peak of their popularity the three men, plus another musician, played throughout Idaho, in Chicago and other areas as The Four Horsemen. The original three, Matt Devine, who recently returned to Twin Falls to make his home, Sherman Marriott, formerly of Idaho and now Portland, Ore., and Max Sommer, Salt Lake City, were later joined by Frank Hyde, residing in Arizona and unable to attend the July 28 event.

Instead of getting together for their own enjoyment, the three decided to hold a public dance at the Bowladrome as a means of observing their anniversary. Devine said the group hasn't gotten together in about 15 years and they plan some rehearsals on July 27.

He and his wife, the former Mary Ann Brailsford, moved back to Idaho early this year. He formerly resided in Winnetka, Ill.

He said it was Marriott's idea to form a musical group and play in Idaho during the summer months to make money for college and the three began in 1926, adding the fourth a season later. They then consolidated their college programs to Chicago so they could play in the winter months and continued for several years, becoming one of the most popular small bands in the area. Devine plays saxophone and clarinet while Marriott plays banjo and bass drum and Sommer specializes in piano.

MV hospital refurbishes for 114 patients

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Think buying new furniture would tax the family budget?

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital has just purchased and moved in 486 pieces of new furniture for the 114-patient capacity for all departments except pediatrics.

The new furniture, of pressed wood in a grained teak design matches the hospital's utility paneling installed several years ago. Each patient area includes a new electrically controlled bed, night stand, chest of drawers and a contour chair.

Irene Oliver, hospital administrator, said large paintings are being obtained for each of the private rooms.

The new furniture is the first hospital-wide refurbishing since the building was erected 21 years ago.

All of the value is not in the appearance. The new electrically operated beds save nurses both back aches and time. With new controls, the patient who is able, can raise, lower or adjust his own bed as he desires.

At meal time, the head of the bed is raised to assist the patient during his meal. Under the previous system, the nurse had to adjust each bed and then lower them again when the meals were over. Now patients can take care of this. If a nurse does make the adjustment, or does not wish the patient to change the bed position, she can lock it by pushing one lever as she leaves the room, the nurse can return the bed to normal position, or raise or lower it as far as it will go.

At night, the new electrically operate beds are lowered to about the same level as the patient's bed at home.

"In this way if he awakens in the night and is confused, he will not step out of bed thinking he is at home and drop an extra two feet or so, but will be the same distance from the floor he is accustomed to," Mrs. Oliver said.

Nurses in the hospital say the new electrical controls save them a great deal of time spent in turning the cranks at the foot and head of the beds and many back aches from bending over to operate the cranks.

Mrs. Oliver said the moving day for new furniture was something of a problem since it occurred during a high census period and the 486 items of furniture in use had to be moved out and the 486 pieces of new furniture moved into the patient areas.

Cost of the new furniture was $114,361 and it represents the major improvement for the hospital this year.

Most of the old furniture was sold. The hospital retained some for overflow patients and some of the beds were given to the county where they will be loaned at no cost to persons needing hospital beds in their homes during illness or because of injuries to family members.

Pointing out the old furniture was well used, Mrs. Oliver said 123,000 patients were admitted to the hospital during the time the equipment was in use from September, 1951 until the present time.

A whole city of new citizens arrived here during that period, she said, with 19,000 births at the hospital in the 21 year period.

With recent trends toward smaller families, Mrs. Oliver said the obstetrics department on the second floor is the only area in the hospital where empty beds can be found with any regularity.

The queen candidates are Laurie Ann Hafen and Karen Lage, both Hagerman; Jenny Peterson, Lemhi; Ann Harvey, Twin Falls; Chris Blastock, Filer; Carol Skinner, Twin Falls; Loy Ann Casper, Wendell, and Terrell Yost, Twin Falls.

Miss Yost will also be the reigning queen for the parade and rodeo as, Lynn Sherrell, the queen selected at last year's event, married, forfeiting her title.

Miss Yost, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yost was 1971's first runner-up to the queen. She is a graduate of Twin Falls High School and attended Boise State University for one year. She is presently working at Rivers' Edge Arabian Ranch, Boise.

She plans to tour Spain and Germany this fall and winter. She is an accomplished musician in piano, guitar, banjo and the flute, and plans to further pursue her endeavors in music and travel.

She has been riding horses since the first grade. The horse she will be riding is one she has trained herself. She is 19 years old.

Carol Skinner, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Skinner. She is a graduate of Twin Falls High School where she was active in the Pep Club, Spanish Club, Music Club and Girls' League.

Mideast peace chance?

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Events of the next few days probably will determine whether chances of a Mideast peace suddenly have been enhanced by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's ouster of Soviet military advisers, or whether a new explosion is imminent.

Sadat's own position also may be hanging in the balance. For many months a steady deterioration in relations between Sadat and Moscow has been apparent. But for Sadat to go to the extremes he has must be interpreted as a heavy blow to Soviet Mideast aspirations.

That Sadat should make his move at this particular time suggests also that the Egyptian leader is becoming increasingly isolated, from other Arab governments and perhaps at home as well.

On April 6 he broke relations with Jordan as result of King Hussein's proposal for a federation which would give autonomous status to Palestinians living on the Israeli-occupied west bank of the Jordan River. Further bitter reaction came from Cairo this month with news of the renewal of diplomatic relations between the United States and Yemen and reports that similar action may be expected soon between the United States and Sudan. Suggestions of political unrest and possible changes in neighboring Libya also hint at bad news for Sadat who has received not only moral but financial support from Libya's strongman, Moammar Khadafi. After a period of reconciliation with the United States over many months a year ago, Sadat announced last November he had "severed contact" with the United States. Last May he ordered the U. S. diplomatic mission in Cairo to cut its staff from 20 to 10.

At home a test of strength may be shaping up. It could come from one of several directions. One could be from among the left-overs from those accused last year of a plot to overthrow Sadat. Chief defendant was former Vice President Ali Sabry, a Moscow favorite and one of the reasons for the mounting ill will between Sadat and Moscow.

Thursday, July 20, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 13

Another possible source could be impatient Egyptian students fed up with oratory and demanding action. Last winter's student demonstrations showed resentments to be directed about evenly against the United States and the Soviet Union, and still another could be young Egyptian army officers tired both of Russian dictation and of Sadat's broken promises of imminent action against Israel. Sadat went from last year's "year of decision" to this year government reorganization dedicated to "total confrontation."

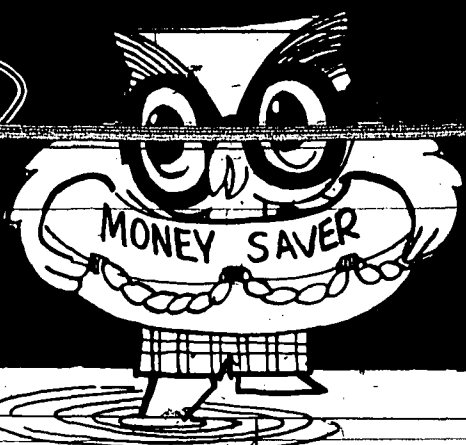

On the Russian side there also is a weariness with Sadat's oratory. Mideast unrest suits Moscow's purpose but a war which might draw it into a confrontation with the United States does not.

Sadat has been demanding increasing supplies of ground and air supplies, plus, it has been reported, assurances from Moscow of support in the event of some military action against Israel; even though it might be small.

Gem economy in 'turnaround'

Thursday, July 20, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 15

BOISE — The Idaho Department of Employment's monthly economic bulletin cites a "turnaround situation" in the Gem State's economy.

An index of the state's five leading economic indicators is placed at 60 per cent, with three of the indicators on the rise during June.

Another index of 15 coinciding indicators, however, is at a seven month low of 75 per cent.

The report lists the highest percentage increase over figures of a year ago as a one-third rise in non-residential building permits. Residential building permits were up more than one quarter over a year ago, also.

In June, however, non-residential permits showed a decline of 27 per cent, while residential permits showed a gain of 48 per cent.

"The general rise in the leading indicators signals a turnaround situation indicated best perhaps by the rise of the average work week of 1.2 hours from the corresponding month of a year ago," the department bulletin notes.

The Idaho Economic Outlook report for June likens the placing of unemployed, underemployed or misemployed, in proper jobs to the making of a patchwork quilt.

The report notes a housewife making a quilt will lay out various color patches to form the design she wants. The same method should be followed in finding jobs for people, and people for jobs, the report says.

The president of Marketing Survey and Research Corp., contends 80 per cent of the work force in the United States is misemployed. For example, the report says 55 per cent of all salesmen should be selling and an additional 25 per cent, although qualified to sell, are selling the wrong products in the wrong markets.

The report states the unemployed aerospace technicians, teachers and engineers is disconcerting. Unemployment attacks all groups in all sectors of all economies and is hard to document. Underemployment finds the engineer working as a part time janitor. Together the three employment problems contribute to the country's inflation and reveal part of the riddle of the enormous iceberglike underside of the inflation situation.

Russians sitting on our chest

CAIRO (UPI)—"I felt as if the Russians were sitting on our chests," the shopkeeper said, "and it's great to get them off."

It was a typical comment when Cairo learned President Anwar Sadat had ordered Soviet military advisers to leave the country. Egyptians seemed genuinely happy the Russians were leaving, but at the same time perplexed at the decision.

"Everyone is delighted," the shopkeeper, Mohammed Ibrahim Gouda, said. "We have had the Russians here but what have they done for us? We won't lose anything if they go."

It was undoubtedly a popular decision, but as Egyptians sipped their late evening coffee, many asked why it was taken at this time.

A journalist said, "This could mean a new start for us but which way? Does the pullout mean it is a move toward peace or will we now have another war? We will have to wait and see."

For the average Egyptian, the Russian withdrawal will go practically unnoticed.

British home secretary quits

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG

LONDON (UPI)—The sudden resignation under fire of Home Secretary Reginald Maudling confronted Prime Minister Edward Heath Wednesday with the probable need to carry out an early shakeup of his two-year-old cabinet.

Government officials and sources in Heath's ruling Conservative Party said the prime minister in any case had planned a cabinet reshuffle in the fall.

Now, the sources said, Maudling's abrupt resignation and his temporary replacement in the key home secretary's job by Robert Carr, who will double in that post and that of Leader of the House of Commons, may force Heath to speed up the government changes.

Heath told a stunned House of Commons Tuesday that Maudling—his deputy prime minister and the man tipped as his most likely successor—had quit after his name came up in bankruptcy court hearings. He said Maudling refused another cabinet post.

Heath accepted Maudling's resignation "with the greatest reluctance" and expressed the hope it would not be long before his return to public life. But many members of Parliament speculated that the incident could mean the end of the political road for the former home secretary.

Maudling's resignation followed bankruptcy hearings of John Poulson, a wealthy Yorkshire architect and one of the country's biggest building contractors.

Probe continues in range fires

SHOSHONE — An FBI probe into range fires in Magic Valley is continuing today and while rain fell impacts of the valley, most rangeland remains dry.

O'Dell Frandsen, district manager for the Bureau of Land Management in Shoshone, said most of the rangeland received no rain and fire danger remains high.

A three to four acre fire was reported this morning between Shoshone and Gooding. Frandsen said there was no lightning in the area and the fire is believed to be man-caused.

In addition to the FBI being called in to investigate the fires Tuesday, roving BLM patrols have been increased and a spotter plane will be used to watch the desert.

The four fires most under suspicion are those in the Kimama Butte area of Lincoln County. More than 18,000 acres has been burned in four separate fires surrounding the butte. Cost of extinguishing the fires is placed at $50,000.

Of 25 fires in the district this summer, 21 are believed to have been man-caused, BLM officials said.

Cassia zoning unit asks help

BURLEY — The Cassia County Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday evening voted to check with Idaho State University about assistance in zoning the county.

Zoning procedures were tentatively set to begin in August.

Members discussed a proposed building and fire code for the county, planned to go into effect Oct. 1. The commission is considering the possibility that the building and fire code might be more effective if adopted at the same time as the zoning.

Lex Kunau and Earl McCaslin both reported the fastest and least expensive way to get the county zoned would be to obtain the same type of service that the city of Burley received from ISU.

The commission, in a discussion, decided that the part-time commission workers would take a lot longer to zone the county.

Gordon Neilson, county prosecuting attorney, said the building and fire code would be put into effect as soon as the commission agrees on it, but the county would have to have time to publish legal notices and hold a public hearing before it could officially become effective.

The next regular meeting of the commission will be Sept. 19. A meeting may be called earlier if the commissioner can get ISU to help with the project.

State to crack down on weed control violators

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The state of Idaho plans to "lower the boom" on counties failing to obey new weed-control regulations, according to Agriculture Commissioner Oscar Arstein.

In a hard-hitting address before more than 100 participants in the Idaho Weed Control Association conference Wednesday morning, Arstein charged that "many people are playing politics" with weed control. Various agencies which could help alleviate the growing problem have failed to do so, he said.

"The problem is that many people in public life believe that weed control is not a politically popular issue. It pulls no votes," Arstein said. He indicated that this view is occasionally found among county agents.

Arstein said he has appointed

Wallace Fisher, Murtaugh, as state weed-control officer under a two-year-old law which was not put into effect until July 1 of this year, due to a lack of funding.

With the help of the state department of agriculture, Fisher will set up guidelines on weed control, map out serious infestations throughout the state, set up conferences on the problem and establish priorities on weed eradication, Arstein said.

Charging that "There have been negative attitudes expressed toward what can be accomplished in weed control," the commissioner specified three types of professional people who have expressed such attitudes.

They include the "legislator who thinks that weed control is a matter of education, and that nothing much can be accomplished by regulatory officials," the county agent, and the extension agent. Citing a single case of a "negative attitude" in a county agent, Arstein commented that the agent believed, "you can't get any cooperation from county commissioners or anyone involved in politics; it's too much of a political issue."

Extension agents have felt, according to Arstein, that "nothing has been accomplished in weed control in the last 20 years, and I doubt if much will be accomplished in the next 20 years."

The Idaho Department of Agriculture plans to see that a comprehensive weed-control program is adopted in every county, under the state law which requires counties to set up such programs and to name a weed-control supervisor.

Counties failing within a reasonable time to obey state law can be brought into line with court action, Arstein said.

Fisher has contacted several county commissions in counties without adequate control programs, and has found the commissioners willing to participate in the work, Arstein said.

A complete survey of the problem throughout the state is the first major step in the eradication program, and this will be done in the near future, with the help of the counties, Arstein concluded.

Oregon Trail Day at Declo

DECLO — Plans are complete for the Old Oregon Trail Days set for Saturday at Declo by the Declo Kiwanis Club.

The event will begin with the annual breakfast in the city park from 7 to 11 a.m. Richard Moncur is in charge.

The parade will be at 11 a.m. and will start in the LDS Church parking lot, traveling east to the high school. At noon will be the hamburger and hotdog fry in the park, followed by games and contests.

In the evening the Ponderosa Theater Group will present a melodrama at 8:30 in the LDS Church cultural hall.

Weeds puzzle

WHAT'S THAT WEED? A tableful of 30 unidentified weeds confronted participants in the Idaho Weed Control Association conference Wednesday at the Ponderosa Inn in Burley. Men who work with weed control daily found themselves sometimes puzzled over which weed was which during an identification competition.

Ketchum sets meet on sewage

KETCHUM — An informational meeting on the Ketchum-Sun Valley sewage treatment plant will be conducted tonight in Ketchum.

The meeting was set up by the Wood River Round Table — a citizen's action group which is concerned about environmental quality in the Wood River Valley.

Special guest at the meeting will be Jim Kimball, engineer for the Idaho State Health Department. Members of the Ketchum and Sun Valley city councils have also been invited.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Ernest Hemingway Grade School.

Solons ask tax ruling

JEROME — A group of Idaho lawmakers will ask the Idaho Supreme Court to rule unconstitutional a tax bill passed last winter.

The Committee to Challenge House Bill 789, composed of seven state representatives, has told its lawyers to file for a declaratory judgment to obtain a judicial determination of the bill.

The bill removed federal income tax as a deductible item in computing state income tax.

Cumer L. Green, a partner of the firm of Green and Bithell, Boise, said today his firm would file a request for original jurisdiction with the supreme court, since the question involved is one of constitutionality.

A request for original jurisdiction, if granted, would bypass lower court action and have the supreme court hear the merits of the cases. If the request is refused Green said, the committee would take its case for hearing into Fourth District Court in Boise.

Paul Worthen, a Boise Republican legislator and chairman of the challenging group, said today the challenge to the bill comes on two points. The first, he said, is an error in transmitting the bill to the governor for his signature.

Worthen and Earl Greenawalt, a Jerome Republican, said the bill signed by the governor is not the same bill as was passed by the legislature in session. The error, as alleged by the committee, was made when the bill was prepared for the governor's signature without incorporating certain senate amendments.

The second allegation, Greenawalt said, is that the bill violates a constitutional requirement that revenue and taxation bills must originate in the lower house of the legislature. Greenawalt claims the bill that finally gained approval was amended in such a way by the Senate that it cannot fairly be said to be a House-originated measure.

Green said today his firm would file its petition before the supreme court within two weeks. He said it was impossible to estimate when the court would respond to the petition, but said, "with a bill of this import," he did not expect a lengthy delay.

If the court decides to take jurisdiction of the case, he said, and then finds in favor of the Committee to Challenge HB 789, it would have several possible rulings, including voiding the entire bill, voiding only parts of it, or construing the bill differently than the committee has in filing its case.

Greenawalt said today in Jerome the funds to support the legal maneuvers had been raised in a state-wide appeal, with most of the contributions coming from the Magic Valley and Treasure Valley around the capital city.

About $3,000 has been raised thus far, he said.

Parade set tonight at Filer

FILER — Filer youths will participate in a parade which will begin at 8 p.m. today at the Filer High School.

The group will assemble at the high school at 7:30 p.m. and will march down Yakima Street, over to Sixth Street and up toward the new city park. They then will parade down Main Street, cross over to Union Street and end at the high school.

The parade is to promote a benefit show which will be presented next Wednesday at the Filer fairgrounds by the Antique Festival Theatre.

Achievement day held

JEROME — Jerome County 4-H club members received assistance with their projects at the home economics achievement day today.

In addition to project review and assistance with problem areas, those participating attended judging contest practice, demonstration practice and style revue practice sessions.

Persons in attendance provided their own sack lunch at noon.

Contract awarded for Jerome plant

JEROME — A $124,000 contract has been awarded to a Pocatello firm for initial preparations to the construction of a new factory in Jerome.

According to Mike Sullivan, manager, Bank of Idaho, Jerome, Moore Business Forms, an Oakland, Calif., based company, gave the contract to Mitchell Construction Co.

Sullivan said the business forms company is seriously considering building a plant at the cost of $1.5 to $2 million, for printing business forms near Jerome.

George Roland, Moore Business Forms, acknowledged today the company is now negotiating the contract with Mitchell construction and Architectural Design West of Logan, Utah.

Roland said they are checking specifications in the design. He said there are several problems yet to be resolved.

He said Moore Business Forms still has the option to the land they hope to locate on, but they have not yet purchased the land.

The two firms are now working out several programs in a fact gathering meeting concerning the possibility of locating near Jerome. He said a final decision will have to be made in the near future.

"We have no thoughts of going anywhere else," Roland said.

The company's option is on 29.57 acres of land owned by Katy Smith south of Jerome on State Highway 79, near the Bean Grower's Warehouse and the Jerome Cemetery.

In May, Sullivan outlined details on the plant to the Jerome City Council.

He said the plant will hire between 150 and 200 employees, 70 per cent of which will be men. They hope to hire young people of post high school or college age, Sullivan said.

The City Council has been requested to annex the land, rezone it for commercial and supply water and sanitation needs. The firm wants it annexed because of sewer, water, fire and police services.

He said the firm has indicated they would not locate in Jerome if the council refuses to annex the acreage.

The plant itself would require

30,000 gallons of water daily which would not be used in manufacturing. There would be no pollution, no waste products and no smoke created. Machinery used in the plant process and air conditioning would be operated by electricity and natural gas would be used for heat.

The building itself would be a low lying structure of 90,000 square feet. The firm would have a $1 million annual payroll. The work force would be recruited from the Jerome and Magic Valley area.

So far the Jerome City Council has not indicated what its action will be in the annexation of the property but the councilmen apparently look favorably upon the business. They said they are looking into every possibility to supply the firm's needs.

The Oakland based firm operates eight plants in the western states. The newest was built in 1967 in Logan, Utah.

It has a net worth of about $400 million. It claims to be one of the largest manufacturers of business forms and related office products.

Clean air 114 index

Expressed as micrograms of particulate matter per cubic foot, the index is based on readings taken in Twin Falls by the South Central Health District staff.

General recommendations call for readings below 15 for 2477 hours per day and below 260 for even a short period of time.

Church files claim against Rupert

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council received a claim for $2,415 in damages from Rev. Larry Coen, Rupert Nazarene Church, during the Tuesday night meeting.

Rev. Coen said water had backed up into the church basement when a city storm sewer clogged and overflowed. The council referred the claim to the city's insurance representatives for further consideration.

In other council action a scheduled "ecology" hearing considering expansion of the city's sewage disposal plant drew no protests.

Federal regulations require whenever federal funds are involved for development of expansion of a facility, the impact, if any, on the ecology of the area must be considered.

The city is contemplating expansion of the treatment plant to accommodate increased population and anticipated industrial expansion.

The council agreed to issue a request to all citizens to clean weeds from vacant lots and discussed the longstanding problem of an empty apartment unit on C Street. The owner is reportedly trying to sell the property. Councilman W. F. (Bill) Whitton suggested the owner be given until Aug. 15 to complete the sale. After that date the city may take formal action to condemn the property.

The council accepted the annual audit of the city books from Helen Dickinson, CPA. No major problems were indicated in the audit report.

Rupert Fire Chief Odell McLane said the Rupert Civil Air Patrol unit has volunteered to make available a portable power generator for the city to use in the event of a power failure to provide police communications and other essential services.

A new feature this year with the new producer will be the steer riding event for 12-15 year old boys and girls. Participation is limited to one rodeo. Entries will be taken at the rodeo office at fairgrounds. First place winner will receive a gold and silver belt buckle plus $200 travel expense to finals at Fresno, Calif.

Second place will receive a bronze and silver belt buckle and third place will receive a silver belt buckle. The steer riding for boys and girls is sponsored locally by the Coca-Cola Co.

The Burley Exchange Club will again sponsor the Country Western Jamboree Aug 16 with several celebrities engaged for the evening performance.

Reigning queen Mar Ellen Van Komen, Bridge, will crown the new rodeo and fair queen the final night at the rodeo.

Minico students schedule bicycle trip

RUPERT — Energetic Minico High School students and recent graduates will rest their legs as well as their mettle later this month.

They will take a bicycle ride to Redfish Lake in the Stanley Basin.

A number of students proposed the arduous trip, involving traverse of Galena Summit, before school was out. All students attending Minico High School last year were invited, with about 40 accepting the dare so far, according to Mark Edwards, spokesman for the bicyclists.

Any others planning to join the group should call Edwards at 678-5172 as soon as possible.

The ambitious bicyclists plan to gather at the Kasota Road interchange of Interstate 80, eight miles west of Burley, at 5 a.m. July 31 to start the trip. Five trucks will follow the group, carrying sleeping bags, supplies and luggage. A number of parents plan to accompany the vacationers, Edwards said.

Those who make it as far as Shoshone will enjoy a rest stop there, allowing any stragglers to catch-up. The group will camp overnight near Sun Valley on property belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Al Ralls, Rupert, who maintain a summer home in the area.

The next day, the travelers plan to cross Galena Summit and head for Redfish Lake, where they plan to camp out for three days before heading home.

Landed gentry

LONDON (UPI)—There are some 310,000 land holdings in Britain which are described as farms.

The average size of these holdings is 165 acres, but half are much smaller. The largest 10 per cent of the farms produce half the nation's agricultural output.

Nursing mothers respond

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) —Nursing mothers responded in overwhelming numbers to a plea for help on behalf of an infant who needs human milk to survive.

The telephones "never stopped ringing" after word got out, said a spokesman for the La Leche League, which coordinated the effort.

More than 100 nursing women have been signed up, said a spokesman for Lorraine Miller Children's Hospital, and no more volunteers are needed.

Three-month-old John Joseph Shults, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shults of Huntington Beach, was hospitalized two weeks ago weighing only 6 1/2 pounds, just ounces more than he weighed at birth.

Doctors diagnosed his problem as a digestive ailment and he was placed in the intensive care unit. The baby would live only if he could get enough human milk, physicians said, and called for help from the La Leche League, an organization which promotes breast feeding.

Within hours after the appeal Tuesday, the hospital had more volunteers than it could use.

MR. AND MRS. STANLEY H. McMILLAN

Janel Smalley, McMillan marry

BUHL — Janel Ann Smalley and Stanley Harold McMillan were married in an evening double ring ceremony June 30 in the Buhl Nazarene Church. Rev. Edward C. Garrison performed the ceremony before an altar flanked by four candelabra holding purple candles and decorated with purple asters, lavender carnations and white mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Smalley, Buhl, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clyde Muegerl, Twin Falls, and Harold McMillan, Jerome.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of embossed white satin trimmed with insertion lace and white satin ribbon. Her three-tiered fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and lace. Mrs. Myrtle Walker, grandmother of the bride, fashioned both the wedding dress and veil. The bride carried a 100-year-old white satin family Bible topped with a cascade bouquet of purple asters tied with purple ribbon. She borrowed her grandmother's pearls.

Rhonda Smalley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Diane Fingerson and Ila Rhodes were bridesmaids. Kolyn Smalley, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Larry Hodge served as best man and Pat Fuller and Kurt Fritzer were ushers. Jeff Mullins was junior usher. Jeff and Kirk Mullins, nephews of the bride, were ring bearers.

The couple resides at 633 1/2 Buchanan St., Twin Falls. The bridegroom is employed at KLIX Radio station as announcer and chief engineer.

The bride was honored at two miscellaneous showers hosted by Mrs. Don Wavra, Mrs. Ray Hudson and Mrs. Howard Hudson and the other hosted by Candy Atkins and Diane Fingerson.

New books added to Filer library

FILER — Several new books were added to the Filer City library shelves the past week.

The book, "The Everything Cookbook," by Wason was placed on the shelves of the library in honor of Vira Diehl Stafford by Mr. and Mrs. Loren Drake as a memorial.

"The Book of Freedom, Our American Heritage," compiled and edited by Jenks, is a gift from the American Legion Auxiliary.

Other new books include "Treasury of Name Lore,"

Smith; "Best Feet Forward," Young; "Norman" Rose, and "Animals from A to Z" Gutherie. The last three are children's books.

The summer reading program at the library is in process, said Mrs. F. E. Albin, librarian, and two children have already completed the project.

Total circulation for June was 722 books, according to the librarian. Library hours are from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Friday.

Mined waters

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese military officials estimate there are at least 2,000 mines from World War II in Japanese coastal waters.

These officials say that the United States laid about 11,000 mines around Japan during the war and most of those remaining are in the area of Kamon Strait. Japan's Maritime Defense Force carries out periodic mine sweeping operations.

Items made

Fashion 'fullness' gone

ROME (UPI) — Tiziani forgot about pleats and fullness today in a fall-winter high fashion collection that made girls look skinny enough to be pulled through a knothole.

The Texas-born designer, ever at his best with suits and coats, leaned heavily on double-faced wools in navy and midnight blue, black and camel in cutting his new slender silhouette.

Cozy threesomes should be foursomes

DEAR ABBY: I have been married one year, but like everyone else who writes to you. I have a problem: This is my first marriage, out Edwin's second. He was a swinging bachelor for five years before he married me.

Edwin keeps inviting his former girl friends over to our home for dinner. They are all friendly and attractive, but I feel so awkward entertaining my husband and a young woman he has known. None of these ladies ever brings an escort although I've asked Edwin to please suggest it when he invites them.

They all come alone and stay late. I have even gone to bed and left my husband chatting with the lady guest. [Wouldn't you say 2 a.m. is late enough for the hostess to entertain a dinner guest?]

How do I put an end to these cozy threesomes dinner parties? Or am I wrong to feel the way I do?

ONE OUT OF THREE

DEAR ONE: You're not wrong. Tell Edwin that when he invites a former girl friend to dinner, just to make sure everything is "kosher," if she doesn't know a man she can bring, you dig up a fourth.

DEAR ABBY: I am 83 years old, and here is my problem: What if I should win that million dollars on the big contest which pays you $50,000 a year for life, over a period of 20 years? I sure don't expect to live another 20 years, so if I win the money and die in the meantime, what happens to the money?

Could I will the rest of it to someone? Or could I just take the full amount right now?

I may never win, but it could happen.

CURIOUS IN MASS.

DEAR CURIOUS: Does the contest advertise "A million dollars, at the rate of $50,000 a year for 20 years"? Or does it state, "Fifty thousand a year for LIFE"? If it's the former, should the winner die, the balance of the unpaid prize money would become part of the winner's estate.

If it's the latter, only $50,000 a year would be paid to the winner as long as he (or she) lived. For the most authoritative answer, inquire of the sponsors of that contest.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon, and Abby, I am so happy, I could fly. But something is spoiling everything. He is a Catholic and I am a Baptist.

He is not at all strong in his religion, but his mother is, and she refuses to come to our wedding unless it's in a Catholic church.

To make matters worse, although I am not strong in my religion, my mother is a very strict Baptist, and she says she won't come to my wedding if I don't get married in the Baptist church.

It doesn't make one bit of difference to me where we get married as long as it's in a church. A church is a church, and we all worship the same God, right?

Abby, I just hate to hurt my mother. And he hates to hurt his mother, but we'll do anything you say. Please help us decide.

CHURCH PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: The decision should be yours and your fiancé's. Since you obviously cannot please both your mother and his, you would probably be wise to select a compromise church, invite whomever you want, and let them either accept or decline.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 67700, L. A., CALIF. 90006 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Exhibits scheduled

SHOSHONE — Space will be provided in the women's department building at the Lincoln County Fair for the hobby exhibits, County Extension Agent Ivan Hopkins said.

Awards will be $1 for first; and 75 cents for second in all classes judged. Each exhibit will be judged on its own merit. Smaller articles of a like type will be accepted as group exhibit rather than as individual items.

Exhibits by schools, Scout troops, Camp Fire Girls, etc., will be accepted for exhibit only and will not be judged.

Awards of a rosette plus $2 for first; $1.50 for second, and $1 for third will be offered to the three exhibitors receiving the greatest number of first awards.

Entries will be received from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 2 and 8:30 to 10 p.m. Aug. 3. All articles must be in the hands of the directors of the fair at the fairgrounds at that time and must remain there until 9 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 5.

PROPER CARE FOR CUTICLES

By Mary Sue Miller

A lovely writes: My fingernail cuticles are coarse, very thick and cover the moons. About two months ago I started trimming them with manicure scissors. Now they grow faster than ever and looked ragged. What overcomes this problem?

The Answer: First off, stop cutting your cuticles. Cutting leads to a ragged effect that requires a long time to clean up. Put those scissors away and use them only if hangnails develop. And hangnails respond better to nippers than scissors.

Now for cuticle control. At manicure time, take off any enamel with only remover. Massage a dot of cuticle oil into skin surrounding nails. File nails with an emery board to desired shape. Then submerge fingers in warm, soapy water for several minutes, rinse and dry well.

Next dip a cotton swab in cuticle remover and saturate cuticles in turn with the liquid. Using the blunt end of an orangewood stick, gently push back cuticles. Also move stick back and forth across moons. Raggedy ends are thus detached and eventually eliminated. The process is gradual. Do not expect perfection for some weeks.

P.S. After cuticle remover, wash hands and proceed with manicure as usual. Rub cuticle oil into flesh around nails nightly, making certain to push back cuticles at that time. And after every hand washing with your towel as you dry off.

no-trump slam would make easily unless East held all four hearts. The safety play to guard against finding all four in Rochefort's hand (Rochefort was West) would be to play low from dummy after West followed with the eight, nine or 10, but the wily Rochefort played the queen.

D'Artagnan started to play dummy's ace and claim seven, but paused to reflect that Rochefort was not completely reliable in matters concerning queens. Then he let the queen hold the trick! "I don't know why I play bridge with you," groaned Rochefort. "I might have some, chance with swords."

Gold collector's plate offered

Collector plates

ARTIST Richard Baldwin's study of a lonely cowboy is the first in a series of four bas relief collector's plates featuring scenes from the American West. Plates will be the first 22 karat gold plates issued by the Franklin Mint.

FRANKLIN CENTER, Pa. — The Franklin Mint will offer its first 22 karat gold sculptured collector's plate to established Franklin Mint collectors beginning July 15.

A small number of the plates is being made available to selected stores after the collector offering, which closes July 31.

The plate is the first in a series of four featuring scenes from The American West which will include individual, signed works by four of America's most talented living western artists:

Richard Baldwin, Gordon Phillips, Gus Shafer and John Weaver. Since all four are accomplished sculptors, each plate will be minted from the artist's original sculpture.

Charles L. Andes, president of the suburban Philadelphia private mint noted that "it is fitting that these plates be available in gold, as well as in sterling silver, for it was the lure of silver and gold that attracted thousands of settlers to the American West. In a very real sense, these were the metals that made the West."

Speaking of his sculpture for the first plate in this series, "Horizons West," Richard Baldwin said: "The cowboy in my sculpture is the man alone, the man starting out with nothing but the clothes on his back and the courage inside him. He's the man in search of a better life—the dreamer who's also a doer—the kind of man who built these United States." The four plates in this collection will be issued at three-month intervals beginning in September 1972. Each silver plate will contain approximately 11 troy ounces of sterling silver. Because of gold's greater density, each gold plate will contain approximately 21 troy ounces of 22 karat gold. Each plate in this limited edition series will be serially numbered.

Home tour

FOX CREEK, north of Ketchum, will be the setting of a tour of the G. T. Newcomb home during the annual Ketchum-Sun Valley Library Home and Garden Tour. The Clear Creek Canyon gardens and Snook family homes will also be featured.

Ketchum-SV home, garden tour set

KETCHUM — The formal Fox Creek home, north of Ketchum, of the G. T. Newcomb family will be a special feature of the annual Home and Garden Tour.

The July 29 event, sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library Association, will also be highlighted by tours of the Clear Creek Canyon gardens and the rustic Snook family homes.

Architect Marvin Jackson, San Diego, designed the home for the Newcombs, who are former residents of Twin Falls.

Interior decorator Jane Wilson, San Francisco, has used warm earth tones in furnishing the home. Bronze carpeting throughout the home lends continuity to the "open" look of the large foyer, living room and dining room.

Dark ash walls in the living area add an elegant look to the gold and yellow tones of the room. Custom designed Pietro grills are also used above the fireplace as a floor to ceiling divider.

Tour guests will be served refreshment in the "meadow," adjacent to the Wood River, beside the Newcomb home, as well as on the patios overlooking the Clear Creek gardens.

Tour officials said unusual and beautiful items have been collected from many homes in the area to be used for table settings in each home on the tour.

On display in the guest house in Clear Creek Canyon will be about 20 new paintings by local artist, Penny Hellyer.

This year, a special price of $3.50 per person will be offered to clubs purchasing 15 or more tickets for its members. Groups interested in the special rate may make reservations by calling Mrs. Clifford Bentley, Ketchum, 726-5050. Single tickets will be $5.

Perfect Halibut Burgers

SEATTLE, Wash. — Family picnics are one of the special pleasures of the summer season.

Whether at a nearby park or beach, or just in your own backyard, young and old alike enjoy relaxing and dining at a favorite outdoor spot. Easy-to-tote foods are the wise choice to fill the picnic basket, and sandwiches rank at the top of the list. On your next outing take along these tasty halibut burgers, prepared at home and wrapped in foil for quick heating on a grill or hibachi.

Halibut is flaked and mixed with chopped hard-cooked eggs, dill pickles, green onions and crunchy bits of celery. Mayonnaise blended with mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper binds the sandwich filling together.

Spread the bottom halves of buttered burger buns with the halibut mixture and top with juicy slices of tomato. Replace the tops of the buns and wrap in foil for heating. Before serving, unwrap the hot burgers and garnish each with a skewered olive and pickle slice.

For meals, indoors or out, you will enjoy the tender moist texture and delicate flavor of halibut. Because any cooking method is suitable, halibut is an excellent choice for a variety of main dishes, soups, salads and appetizers. Whether you bake, broil, poach or fry it, cook halibut just until the tender flesh turns opaque and flakes at the touch of a fork. Overcooking only tends to dry out this delicate fish.

Genuine halibut is harvested from icy waters of the North Pacific and is available all year, either fresh or frozen. This choice seafood is an excellent source of protein, minerals and vitamins, yet has very few calories.

- HALIBUT BURGERS
- 1 1/2 cups flaked-cooked halibut
 - 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
 - 1/2 cup chopped dill pickles
 - 2 tablespoons chopped green onions
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt

Dash pepper

6 buttered burger buns
6 slices tomato
Olives and dill pickle slices
To cook halibut:
Place one pound halibut in skillet. Barely covering with boiling, salted water. Add a slice each of lemon and onion, a sprig of parsley and three pepper-corns. Cover and simmer eight to 10 minutes or until halibut flakes when tested with a fork. Drain halibut. Remove skin and bone and flake with fork. Makes one and one-half cups flaked halibut.

For halibut burgers, combine flaked halibut, chopped eggs, dill pickles, green onions and celery. Blend mayonnaise with mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Add to halibut mixture. Mix thoroughly. Spread mixture on bottom halves of buttered burger buns. Place tomato slice on each and replace tops of buns. Wrap in foil. To serve, heat on grill or hibachi for 20 minutes or until heated through. Garnish with olives and dill pickle slices. Makes six halibut burgers.

Urban metropolitan areas in the United States are expanding at the rate of 1,000 square miles a year.

Grill favorites

SERVE halibut burgers for a special summer treat. Halibut is poached, flaked and mixed with hard-cooked eggs, crunchy vegetables and well-seasoned mayonnaise for this good sandwich filling. Heat on a grill over hot coals.

Laws asked to control methadone

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration will ask Congress soon for new laws to control a dramatic increase in the illegal use of methadone, a heroin substitute, the government's top narcotics lawyer said today.

"It now seems clear that just as we are at last obtaining control over the barbiturates and amphetamines, the diversion of narcotic drugs and particularly methadone (to illegal uses) is rapidly increasing," said John E. Ingersoll, director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD).

"The increase in the last several years is so dramatic as to indicate that our present legal controls are inadequate," he said in testimony prepared for the National Commission on Marihuana and Drug Abuse.

The panel concludes three days of hearings today on drug advertising and the diversion of legitimate drugs to illicit channels.

Ingersoll, the panel's first witness today, said that 92 percent of New York City's heroin addicts sampled in a recent study had been offered the opportunity to buy illicit methadone and that 13 percent have sold it themselves.

Methadone is a synthetic drug that eliminates the craving some addicts have for heroin. It is an accepted form of treatment in some federally financed drug programs.

In Miami, 40 percent of the applicants to a methadone maintenance program "were already using the drug illegally," Ingersoll added.

He said the law hasn't caught up with the changes in medical opinion that have led to thousands of addicts receiving methadone daily.

"In some programs patients are actually permitted to handle and administer narcotic medication with the result that much of the drug has been pilfered for sale in the illicit traffic," he testified.

In keeping with a promise made last fall to a House health subcommittee, the administration is now ready to submit its legislation. "That legislation has now been drafted and will shortly be introduced before the Congress," Ingersoll said. "It is our hope that it will aid in reversing this trend of deteriorating control over narcotic drugs."

Although Kentucky ranks 36th in size, it has more miles of running water—over 14,000—than any state except Alaska.

The last Civil War battle in Indian Territory was fought at Cabin Creek in eastern Oklahoma in September, 1864.

Power-plant restrictions asked

DENVER (UPI)—A federal agency says the Grand Canyon could fill up with haze, and aspen groves on Colorado hillsides could be stripped of their leaves unless restrictions are placed on power-plant development in the West.

The report, revealed Tuesday by the Denver Post, was issued by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in connection with a Southwest energy study commissioned by the Interior Department.

The Denver newspaper said the EPA has tried to keep its comments out of public view by squelching a proposed news release on the report.

The comments were submitted to Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton June 23 by Robert Fri, EPA deputy administrator, the newspaper said.

The report warned that "haziness in a four-state study area (Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah) could be destroyed by sulphate deposits which will find their way from the power-plants to streams and watersheds.

The visibility of vistas across unspoiled distances of more than 50 miles will be reduced to a "hazy" haze, the Grand Canyon and other canyons along the Colorado River below Lake Powell could fill up with hazy particulates, the report added.

It also warned that aspen groves in Colorado could be defoliated to meet growing water needs of large industrial plants. In addition, dangerous heavy metals such as arsenic, selenium and mercury could be expected to find their way into soil and water.

Although the report focused on coal-fired power plants being developed in Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Utah, the EPA indicated its conclusions also could apply to Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and North Dakota where other power plants are being contemplated.

In his letter to Morton, Fri said the Interior Department had failed to take environmental factors into account when composing the draft of the Southwest energy study summary.

He wrote: "In particular, we conclude that the issues of meeting environmental air standards; degradation of visibility; water salinity and supply; (power plant) siting and evaluations of alternatives to coal-fired power plants have not been adequately examined and analyzed."

Venezuela is a federal republic divided into 20 states, two federal territories, a federal district and 22 islands in the Caribbean Sea which are called federal dependencies.

Times change

BOSTON (UPI)—Changing times affect alimony payment, according to a unanimous decision of the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

When determining how much a husband should pay his divorced wife, the court said, judges "may appropriately take into account the enhanced ability and desire of women today to look after their own affairs and to provide for their own economic well being."

Cattlemen's group forms subsidiary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following the lead of several other farm and rural groups, the nation's best known cattlemen's organization currently is trying to breathe life into a subsidiary set up to make contributions to political campaigns.

The new political action arm organized by the American National Cattlemen's Association has one of the more appropriate acronyms in use these days — CALF. The initials stand for Cattlemen's Action Legislative Fund.

But so far, an ANCA spokesman here said, CALF exists as largely a paper organization. Fund-raising efforts to date have produced few contributions and no detailed spending plans have been made.

In coming months, added C. W. McMillan, ANCA executive vice president, leaders of the cattle group intend to put more emphasis on efforts to attract voluntary contributions to CALF. How the money is used may depend largely on how much is raised. McMillan said if the fund is relatively small, ANCA leaders might decide to devote virtually all of it to congressional races rather than the presidential campaign. Whatever contributions are made, he said, would go on a nonpartisan basis to members of both parties.

Such a policy would follow the pattern set in the use of political action funds by several big dairy farmer organizations and rural electric cooperatives. Contributions from these groups have been split between members of both parties, although the most heavily publicized gifts have been the large contributions by dairy groups to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

McMillan, in a recent newsletter to cattlemen, said the producers must become more active in politics to protect their interests.

"We in agriculture have never been considered political activists, but ... I feel strongly that now is the time for all of us to become more, not less, involved," the cattlemen's lobbyist said.

"According to the 1970 census, only 3 million rural folks could be counted out of America's 205 million citizens and as a result many agricultural congressional districts have been reapportioned to the cities and suburbs. Therefore, if our representatives and senators do not come from the country, we must teach them about our way of life," McMillan added.

"But to be even more effective we must increase our clout, because we make up a smaller percentage of the population than ever before," he said.

Despite McMillan's assertion that farmers have "never been considered political activists," cattle and farm organizations of have long been considered among the more effective interest-group lobbies in Washington. The cattlemen, for example, were able to force enactment of a beef import control law in 1965 and currently are protesting President Nixon's temporary suspension of import quotas in the face of high domestic meat prices.

Church calls on Butz to end 'hopper delays

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Frank Church has urged Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to cut bureaucratic red tape and help Idaho farmers with an infestation of grasshoppers.

In a letter to the secretary, Church said he has been informed by Idaho Agriculture Commissioner Oscar Arstein that numerous delays have been encountered in securing approval for spraying operations from the agricultural research service.

Processing of applications for spraying operations has caused 'serious delays' in farmers' attempts to control the infestation, Church said.

"These delays are, in turn, resulting in less benefit from

Onion marketing rules in effect

BOISE — Federal grade, size and maturity requirements for onions marketed in Idaho and Malheur County, Ore., have gone into effect.

The requirements are for onions marketed under the federal marketing order, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Yellow varieties of onions must grade at least U. S. No. 2 or better, and be a minimum of one and one-half inches in diameter. White varieties have to be grade U. S. No. 2 or better and at least one inch in diameter. All imported onions will have to be at least "moderately cured."

Sausage opinions sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department would like to find out if you agree there is single style of sausage which consumers generally would recognize as "Italian Sausage."

Department officials issued the appeal because of a meat packer filed petition for authority to label one of his products as "Italian Style Sausage."

Before ruling on the petition, officials decided to get views from consumers to find out if they agree there actually is a "distinctive style or type of product recognized as "Italian Sausage."

Spokesmen said comments on the proposal should be sent to the Agriculture Department's hearing clerk in room 112-A of the department's headquarters here.

Warning placards needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Environmentalists have urged Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz to reverse his department's withdrawal of a recommendation for use of warning placards on fields treated with Parathion, an effective but dangerous pesticide.

The plea came in a letter to Butz Tuesday from the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF). The group was joined in the appeal by the Agribusiness Accountability Project, the Migrant Legal Action Program, and the Children's Foundation. The agriculture department last year launched a campaign to avert serious and sometimes fatal accidents in handling Parathion. The program included use of "purchase certificates" showing dealers had warned retail buyers about the need for caution in handling the chemical. It also included a recommendation that farmers and other users post treated fields with warning placards so passers-by would not accidentally enter treated areas until a safe period after the spraying date.

For this year's program, however, agriculture department officials disclosed recently they had dropped the warning poster recommendation because of objections from farmers.

The EDF, in its letter to Butz, said, it was "shocked and disturbed" to learn of the policy change.

Ali posts TKO victory over Lewis in round 12

DUBLIN, IRELAND (UPI)—Muhammad Ali floored Al "Blue" Lewis of Detroit, Mich., once Wednesday night but Lewis still was on his feet when Ali was awarded a technical knockout triumph in the 11th round of their 12-round heavyweight bout at Croke Park.

The 30-year-old former champion was not as light on his feet

Disinterested Ali says head cold made showing under par

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI)—Ali said a head cold was the reason for his below-par performance Wednesday night in defeating Al "Blue" Lewis in the 11th round of their 12-round contest.

"I felt very weak at the end and that cold nearly destroyed me," he said.

The former world champion lay slumped on the rubbing table. However, he regained some of his spark and added: "If I had known Premier Jack Lynch was in the audience, I would have finished it in the third round."

All said, "It was much rougher a fight than I thought it would be. I now know why the other men did not want to meet him. He was certainly tougher than Quarry and on his performance tonight he must be rated in the world's top five."

Ali, who did not move with his normal sparkle, said: "A couple of the shots he caught me with were as hard as anything I've been hit with."

Trainer Angelo Dundee claimed the fifth round knockdown was "more like 22 seconds than nine. It was definitely a long count."

Dundee said "it had been a good, tough fight. Naturally I'm pleased about the win and it is important that he did not hurt his hands."

Ali said he plans "a rest" before his next fight against former champion Floyd Patterson. "If Patterson watched the fight on television no doubt he'll be pleased. I was not at my best."

The fight with Patterson has been tentatively arranged for Sept. 20.

Lewis' manager Chuck Neary said: "It was exhaustion more than anything else that beat him. He is now ready for Quarry, George Chuvalo, George Foreman, Patterson or anyone else in the top ten."

Lewis said, "I'm quite pleased with my performance, especially because it was the first time I've had to go more than 10 rounds."

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—The Sporting News said Wednesday the results of its major league All-Star balloting among baseball players was disagreed with the All-Star teams chosen by the fans at five positions.

The weekly newspaper said it polled the players under the same system used previously to pick the teams for the All-Star game before the selection process was returned to the fans in 1970. No player was allowed to vote for his own teammates.

The biggest disparity in the voting between players and fans was on Oakland's Joe Rudi, who topped all other outfielders in the players' balloting and finished ninth in the voting by the fans.

There was such chaos at the end of the fight that the boxers were unable to leave the ring and the organizers had to appeal to the crowd to return to its seats.

Ali, who entered the ring with a head cold, did not display the fastest feet in the business and only twice during the 11 rounds did he use his famous shuffle. On occasions he looked ponderous and flat-footed as he fought at close quarters with Lewis.

Ali, who stopped Jerry Quarry June 27 in his last fight, concentrated his attack to the body in the early rounds before switching to the head where he rained in left and right combinations.

Lewis, a former convict turned social worker, earned the cheers for his refusal to give in. Several times he appeared on the verge of being knocked out, but he always came back fighting.

It looked all over in the fifth when Ali opened him up with a left and crossed a right which caught Lewis high on the jaw. He collapsed like a deck of cards and lay motionless until the count had reached seven. He was on his feet, but defenseless, when the ref had reached nine but the bell sounded to save him.

Government charges Montana for using federal funds in athletic programs

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI)—The vice-president of the University of Montana and the school's athletic director were indicted Wednesday on charges they conspired to illegally divert an estimated $200,000 in federal funds to help student athletes.

Also named were two assistant football coaches and the athletic department's business manager. All five were also charged with making false statements to the government.

They were ordered to appear in court Aug. 7 to enter pleas.

Indicted were George L. Mitchell, 39, Missoula, administrative vice-president of the university; Harold Jack Swarthout, 52, Missoula, athletic director; John Elway, 41, formerly of Missoula, an assistant football coach; William D. Betcher, 33, Missoula, an assistant football coach; and Earl W. Martell, 58, Missoula, business manager of the Athletic Department of the university.

Named as unindicted co-conspirators were Calvin L. Murphy, 48, business manager of the university; Harley W. Lewis, 30, track coach at the university; and George M. Heathcote, 45, the school's basketball coach.

A 32 count indictment was returned by a Federal grand jury in U.S. District Court, charging that money designated for student aid programs had been diverted to the school's athletic department.

The indictment did not specify the amount of Health, Education and Welfare Department funds allegedly misused by the men. But the Justice Department in Washington quoted Otis L. Packwood, the U.S. attorney for Montana, as estimating that $200,000 was involved.

The indictment charged that school officials falsified work records and job descriptions. The 31 other counts charged them with falsifying specific student work records by saying the students worked a specified number of hours when, according to the indictment, the students had not worked.

charged with conspiring, from January, 1967, to April, 1972, to defraud the United States.

Crash kills Met chief

OLBIA, Sardinia (UPI)—Goeran Gentile, director of the New York Metropolitan Opera, and two of his daughters were killed Tuesday when their car smashed into a cement truck on a road on the Italian island of Sardinia.

His wife and another daughter were injured, police said.

Gentile, 55, a Stockholm native who has lived in New York since assuming the directorship of the Met last month, was vacationing at the Karim Aga Khan's Porto Cervo resort on the Sardinian Emerald Coast.

He rented a Fiat four-door sedan for a day's trip to the Maddalena peninsula. On the way back to Porto Cervo he tried to pass a slower car, and crashed into an onrushing truck loaded with cement.

Gentile and his daughters Beatrice, 15, and Anne, 21, who were sitting in the front seat, died instantly, police said.

"It was a straight stretch of road," a police spokesman said. "We don't understand how it happened."

A hospital spokesman later reported that Mrs. Gentile and her daughter were in satisfactory condition. "They are out of danger and doing well," the spokesman said.

Gentile took over directorship of the Met from Sir Rudolf Bing a few weeks ago. He was to have started his first season as manager Sept. 19 with a production of "Carmen."

The family was due to return to New York Monday.

In New York, a Metropolitan Opera spokesman said it was not immediately known what effect Gentile's death would have on the forthcoming opera season. The opera board of directors were scheduled to meet today.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay called Gentile's death "a devastating tragedy." The mayor said Gentile was "a great artist most certainly headed for further greatness at the Met. We pray for the recovery of his wife, Marit, and their surviving daughter."

Schuyler G. Chapin, named assistant director of the Met by Gentile, said Gentile quietly assembled a group of people to operate with him and we hope to continue as a tribute to a great man of the theater who was also a very warm human being.

Minors no longer accomplice

BOISE (UPI)—The State Supreme Court has ruled that a minor who illegally purchases beer is not an "accomplice" of the individual who illegally sells it to him.

In a majority opinion by Justice Charles Donaldson, the court affirmed Tuesday the conviction of Frank Murphy for selling beer to a minor. He was convicted in Bonner County District Court and was fined $300 and sentenced to 20 days in jail.

In his appeal, Murphy contended two minors who testified against him were "accomplices."

CARTAGENA, Colombia (UPI)—The copilot of an airliner with 53 persons aboard, badly wounded by a passenger who went berserk and killed the pilot, managed to land "almost perfectly" despite his wounds.

He is now eligible for the Soldier of the Quarter Award.

Idaho court affirms case

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Supreme Court has affirmed a Fifth Judicial District court jury verdict involving fraud and deceit in a Twin Falls County land transaction.

The high court held in favor of plaintiffs in a damage suit, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Fowler, Murtaugh, and against defendants and appellants, Leonard M. Uezzell and Fred C. Farmer.

In 1968 the plaintiffs entered an agreement to lease with option to purchase 240 acres of land owned by Mrs. Uezzell and managed by Fred C. Farmer. They said they were told by Farmer there was adequate water for irrigation of the entire 240 acres, but the first year of farming there was only about one half enough water and the remaining crops were lost. They alleged Farmer misrepresented facts by stating there was adequate water and it would be delivered in the second season but it was not available.

just over $10,000 and the defendants appealed the verdict to the Supreme Court.

Arguments in the case were held in March of this year, and the high court affirmed the jury's verdict, stating the Fowlers were entitled to damages after relying on the statements of Farmer, being ignorant of the false statements until after planting crops and said the testimony and evidence clearly showed the statements regarding available water to be false.

The case was heard originally before Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood. R. E. Rayborn represented the plaintiffs.

Charlies elect

SHOSHONE — Officers were elected for the Charlie Horse 4-H club. Rick Wilcox is the president; Rick Errington, vice president, and Cheryl Errington, secretary-treasurer. Heather Tews is the reporter.

Naturalist programs offered

SAWTOOTH VALLEY—All naturalist programs are now being offered in the Sawtooth Valley, Stanley Basin, and along the Wood River area.

Gray Reynolds, superintendent of the proposed Sawtooth National Recreation Area said the programs include campfire talks, guided tours and informational workshops from the Redfish Lake Visitor Center.

The center provides a focal point for the programs with its many exhibits and is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday and Monday.

Trained forest naturalists will answer questions about the Sawtooth Mountain Region.

Guided tours departing from the visitor center include the chinook salmon tour on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. The tour includes an explanation of the salmon's 800 mile journey from the Pacific Ocean to the headwaters of the Salmon River.

Evening programs are offered at various locations within the Sawtooth Recreation Area and brochures are available from forest offices and the Redfish Visitor Center. Other tours include the Beartrap Nature Walk, and primitive area hikes.

The Custer ghost town museum, nine miles up Yankee Fork north of Sunbeam Dam, is open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. through Sept. 4.

Elmore county gets US funds

GLENNS FERRY — An agreement has been reached between Elmore County Sheriff Earl Winters and the Boise National Forest for $5,000 in additional federal funds.

The funds would be made available to Elmore County for increased law enforcement on the Boise National Forest.

Forest Administrative officer George Robinson said the agreement also reached with sheriffs of Boise and Valley counties. Initially, the agreement provides $5,000 in added funding for each county. Also included is permission for county law enforcement personnel to use U. S. Forest Service radios and frequencies when necessary.

The special funds are made available to the forest service under the Sisk Bill, passed in August 1971 by Congress.

Robinson said purpose of the act is two fold: to protect natural resources and public improvements and to protect people who are using the national forests and their property.

Those counties with large acreages of national forest within their boundaries coupled with a small tax base would not be able to provide additional manpower and equipment for this protection without financial help," Robinson said.

Car wash planned by club

TWIN FALLS — Final plans were made at the Western Wranglers 4-H Club meeting Tuesday for a car wash Saturday.

Cars will be washed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Standard Station at the Lynwood Shopping Center. The meeting was held at the home of Randy Watson.

Terry Sabotka reported on the club's swimming party at Nat-Soo-Pah saying that everyone had fun swimming, eating, playing games and listening to Debbie Thiebert's guitar music.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the home of Heidi Schorzman.

FRANK OLANDER
... attends camp

News Of Servicemen

GOODING — Cadet Frank H. Olander Jr., 21, is attending the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps Ranger Camp at Ft. Benning, Ga.

During the eight-week course he will learn and practice basic ranger skills, such as land navigation, patrolling and mountaineering. The training, which is a substitute for the normal ROTC summer camp required of all cadets before commissioning, concludes with a two-week counter-guerrilla operation in the coastal swamps of northwest Florida.

Graduates of the camp will be awarded the yellow and black shoulder tab worn by all rangers. Cadet Olander is the son of Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Frank H. Olander Sr., Gooding. He is a 1969 graduate of Gooding High School and attends the University of Idaho where he is a member of Delta Sigma Phi and Alpha Phi Omega fraternities.

GLENN'S FERRY — PH 2 Russel Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rice, Glenns Ferry, has returned to his base at Norfolk, Va., after a two-week leave.

Russel has been in the Navy for three years and has been stationed in the Mediterranean Sea, along the Italian and Grecian shore. He is assigned to the USS Inihon.

Wool contest now open to both men and women

IDAHO FALLS — The "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest is open to both young men and women for the first time this year.

The same rules will apply to both. Mrs. Richard Peterson, Idaho Falls, state director of the competition, said. Entry forms are now available for young men and women ages 10 through 21 skilled in sewing, knitting or crocheting.

Contestants must make a wool suit, coat, dress or pants outfit to 100 per cent wool loomed or spun in America. Professionals in the field of fashion or clothing construction may not enter.

Entrants compete with others in their own age group: pre-teens (ages 10-13), juniors (14-15) and seniors (17-21). Pre-teens compete only at the district level. Junior and senior division levels will advance to the state competition in Burley Nov. 13, with state winners traveling to Washington, D.C., Jan. 21, 1973.

The competition is sponsored nationally by the American Sheep Producers Council and the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Grower's Association. In Idaho the contest is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Idaho Wool Grower's Association.

Grand prize for the winners in the junior and senior divisions will be a trip to Europe, plus other prizes for district, state and national winners.

Wood River Council schedules workshops

Fund-a-thon set at Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY — A "Fund-a-thon" sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled for Aug. 28 at Sun Valley.

Contributions of new and used merchandise as well as services are being sought for the event's auction, which will be presided over by Ned Bell. Persons who wish to donate may call the Chamber office in Ketchum at 728-3241.

The "Fund-a-thon" will begin at 6 p.m. Aug. 28 in the Limelight Room at the Sun Valley Inn. Included in the event will be a no-host cocktail hour and dinner.

Rep. Hansen happy with services bill

WASHINGTON D. C. — House passage this week of the Comprehensive Older Americans Services Bill has enhanced the position of the senior citizen.

This was the feeling of Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, co-sponsor of the measure, who said opportunities for "greater visibility and a stronger voice for our nation's older citizens" were enhanced with the bill's passage.

"The bill," Hansen said "continues such effective programs as 'meals on wheels,' 'foster grandparents,' centers for the aged, plus coordinated state plans to provide more comprehensive and functional programs to aid the elderly."

Hansen, who acted as floor manager of the bill during House debate, said it also strengthens the position of Administration on Aging within the federal bureaucracy and begins to provide more effective delivery systems for services.

"The measure," he said, "provides a stronger voice for our senior citizens by placing the Administration on Aging directly under the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, with the commissioner on aging reporting directly to the President. It has been buried by the Johnson administration for years within the Social and Rehabilitation Services," Hansen said.

The House adopted 10 of Hansen's amendments to the bill, including a stipulation that allocation of funds be based on the state's population of persons aged 65 and older, with no state to receive less than $250,000.

SHOSHONE — A second set of workshops will be sponsored by the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments in connection with the Corps of Engineers Wood River Basin Study.

The meetings will be held at Gooding and Hailey, at 7:30 p.m. each night, Aug. 8 at the Gooding Courthouse and Aug. 9 at the Hailey Courthouse.

At the first workshops this month, also held at Gooding and Hailey, discussion centered around basin water resource goals and objectives.

Consensus of these meetings, Don Fredericksen, Gooding, chairman of the council, said, was that preliminary studies of alternatives should be made and the results presented for discussion at future workshops.

During the past year, Fredericksen said, the Corps made studies of various methods of providing for flood protection, supplemental irrigation water supplies, recreation and low-flow augmentation. The results of their study are shown in a brochure.

At the August meetings, the data will be studied to determine which, if any, of the alternatives should be studied in more detail.

Fredericksen said that all of the economically feasible alternatives require local sponsorship and cost-sharing. Therefore, local government bodies that may be involved in sponsorship are urged to attend the August meetings.

The resource needs as outlined include flood control, additional water during times of low flow, more irrigation water, and more water-oriented recreation. Some of the methods suggested to satisfy these needs are raising existing reservoirs, building new reservoirs or levees, and diversion of flood flows into lava beds.

Venezuela has four climate zones—tropical, moderate, cool and cold.

Lincoln County fair—women's rules listed

SHOSHONE — The Women's Department at the Lincoln County Fair Aug. 4 and 5 will be under direction of Mrs. R. B. Kelley.

In the handwork division, all needlework, embroidery, crocheting and tatting will be accepted for exhibit and will be judged providing there are enough entries for a class.

Awards will be $1 for first and 75 cents for second in all classes judged.

Awards of $2 for first, $1.50 for second, and $1 for third, will be given for those with the most first awards. They will also be given rosettes.

Entries will be received from 5 p.m. Aug. 2 and all articles must be in the hands of the directors of the fair grounds before 10 a.m. Aug. 3.

The articles must be the handwork of the exhibitors, made during the past three years.

Exhibits must be finished articles, and competition is confined to Lincoln County.

Judging will be on appearance, design and workmanship.

Canning entries must be made at the same time as the handwork, and special awards are provided by the Kerr and Ball Brothers Companies in these divisions. Rules and regulations pertaining to these will be printed in the fair book, County Extension Agent Ivan C. Hopkins said.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 21, 1972

CARROLL RIGNER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Rigner Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening for you to take part in whatever realm of expression interests you and to make plans to extend your present influence and activities far beyond today's boundaries. So contact others, state your views, get their approval and then put whatever you want to do into action. Expand.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan some trip that will give you the data you need for some good purpose, and it would be well to be more modern. Do some studying that will help you now. Take some time for fun in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine creative ideas that you should make a note of so you do not forget them. Put the most creative to work at once. Try to come to a far better understanding with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Cement better relations with partners by listening more attentively to what they say and getting facts really straight. Put that new idea to work in public life and get right results. Think. Grow.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Have a more enthusiastic approach to whatever work you have to do and get much accomplished. Find the right clothing that will make your appearance more attractive. Arrive on time for some important appointment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) The evening is excellent for any pleasures you want to enjoy with congenials. Take mate along with you, and show that you are truly devoted. Do not forget to pay any important bills that you may owe.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make those improvements at home that add to its charm and comfort, and increase harmony with those who dwell with you. Being hospitable to others is fine. Think along more constructive lines.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have an opportunity to be with wise associates and gain their ideas for your early advancement as well as theirs. Joining with people you admire at recreations is fine. Hobbies can be particularly enjoyable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able now to understand how to have greater prosperity in the future, and with fewer complications arising than in the past. Get ideas from a banker regarding financial matters. Advance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have fine ideas you can now put across with partners, so sit down early with them. Accepting invitations is excellent since good things can come of this. Show finesse.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get off privately with those people who are definitely important to your welfare; state your aims for the future and gain their support. You are able to express yourself well now and can accomplish a great deal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your mind is working quickly and accurately and you know how to get much done along new and fascinating lines. You can be far more productive than in the past. Evening is favored for enjoying yourself.

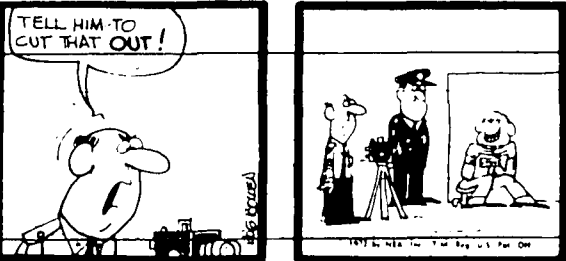

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able to see that bigwig you know and get his support for your ideas and talents. Add to present prestige by doing some entertaining tonight. However, it is not necessary to be extravagant in doing this.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a quick mind and much intelligence, who can reason profoundly and will get good ideas from the subconscious which are prophetic. Teach early to overcome that "know-it-all" attitude, or others could turn against this child and the fine success possible here would not then manifest. A good religious background early is very helpful. A certain amount of discipline given diplomatically and with wisdom is fine here.

Everybody Is Female First

All human beings are female in the first six weeks of life. Believe I mentioned that. Said discovery was made in the late 1950s. At any rate, arising therefrom, the movement continues to grow among the women's Lib girls to prove scientifically that Eve preceded Adam. When such proof is absolute, it will be printed in this space.

WHAT'S the proper way to eat a lamb chop? None other than that great statesman of yesteryear Winston Churchill said, "Seize it boldly in hand and chew upon it."

A RECENT study of 2,000 marriages proves that in 28 out of 100 the wife is boss, in 35 out of 100 the husband is boss, and in 37 out of 100 both are boss.

MASTER musicians live longer. Stravinsky, Casals, Stokowski, Montoux, Sibelius, Charpentier, all passed 80.

TWINS Scientific "researchers" claim the average singleton uses 100 different words to the average twin's 80 words. But those loquacious twins, Ann Landers and Abigail Van Buren, have not yet discovered this fascinating fact, I gather.

KNOW anybody with a flock of geese? If so, ask said poultry proprietor how to tell a male goose from a female. A subscriber says it's easy: the male always has blue eyes, the female brown.

THAT THE height of the average centerfold playmate in "Playboy" magazine is 5-foot-1 has been reported. It is also true that four out of five of those young ladies live in Los Angeles.

QUERIES

Q. "Come on, Louie, name the one horse ever to win the Kentucky Derby twice."

A. Impossible. How can any horse win a race only for 3-year-olds more than once?

Q. "WHO was the first pro baseball catcher to crouch right behind the bat instead of standing 16 feet back of the plate?"

A. Connie Mack was that revolutionary.

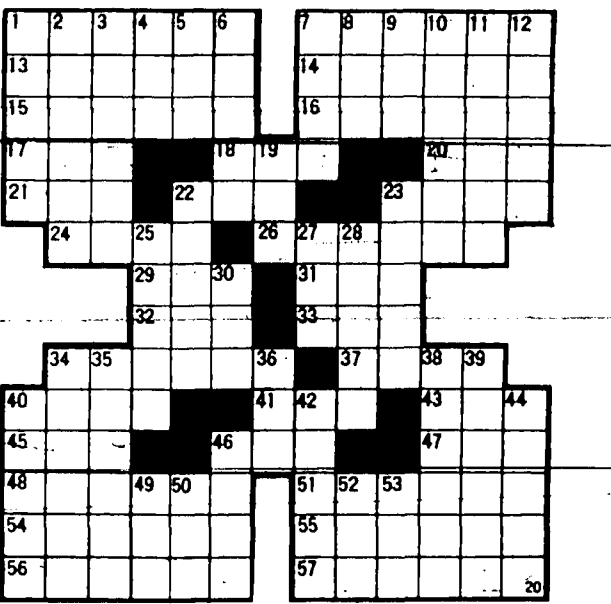

NOTHING much attracted more attention years ago in any southern town than a distilling apparatus set up for display on a courthouse lawn. The sheriff, who confiscated it from some white lightning artist in the woods, put it there usually. To warn wrong doers, tut tut. Why did it attract so much attention? Sir, it announced one more local bootlegger had been put out of business, leaving an open market. And it served as a pattern for enterprising souls who wanted to set up their own apparatus, but theretofore didn't know how.

New job this year

Hagerman parade minus handcart

HAGERMAN — A familiar sight in the Pioneer Day parade will not be seen this year.

Wilbert Cline, who has been a parade participant pushing or pulling a handcart similar to those used by the pioneers crossing the plains, will be riding instead of walking this year. Cline has been selected parade marshal and will ride at the head of the parade.

Cline with his wife Ruth and their family moved to the Hagerman area about 20 years ago. A few years after they moved here, Cline was asked to participate in the Handcart Centennial and the handcart which was constructed or reconstructed for that event became part of the Cline homestead. Each year since that time, the handcart has made the familiar trek down Hagerman's main street each Pioneer Day.

In the first few years, Mrs. Cline and the children were part of the handcart scene, but as time went on, Mrs. Cline became a spectator instead of a participant and as the children grew older, their interests went to horses and other things until they moved away to school and homes of their own in other communities.

For the past six years or so, Cline has carried on the handcart tradition by himself.

Unless a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. DeVerl Jensen, or someone else, pushes the handcart in this year's parade, the handcart will be retired — for this year — after 10 years or more of making the same journey from one end of Hagerman to the other and back again.
