Special airport ballot looms in Cassia County

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The South Idaho Regional Airport Board of Trustees may have to sponsor its own election in Cassia County on Aug. 8.

The cost would be $3,000 to $4,000. The board was told Wednesday it will have to hire and pay 75 election clerks and judges — three for each of the 25 precincts in Legislative District 26, comprising Cassia County and two precincts in Minidoka County.

The board may even have to provide its own voting booths, and tally clerks, along with the regular primary election setup.

And there will be no contest in the district. Only one candidate, incumbent board chairman George Forschler, is running. He had said earlier he wouldn't run.

Three members of the airport board are to be elected Aug. 8 during the primary election as provided by state law. This will be the first election for the authority, re-electing or replacing members of the board originally appointed by former Gov. Don Samuelson.

One board member is to be elected from each of the three legislative districts encompassed by the authority.

Burley attorney Tom Church, legal counsel for the board, said Wednesday night there will be no problem in district 21, including most of Minidoka and part of Lincoln counties, or in district 23, covering Gooding and Jerome counties and the rest of Lincoln.

Primary election judges and clerks in those counties will be sworn in by the board to serve on its behalf during the primary election. The board will provide its own ballots.

In Cassia County, however, a semi-automated punch card voting system throws a monkey wrench into the works, according to an opinion from the office of the Idaho attorney general.

For reasons not fully known, according to Church, the airport board cannot legally add a punch card containing Forschler's name to the county's primary election setup. The state opinion declares, Church said, that if the board is to elect a member in Cassia County, an entirely separate election will have to be staged.

The board would have to operate in the red as far as funding the unexpected election is concerned, since no funds were budgeted for electioneering, Forschler said.

Indicators hint growing economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department Thursday reported a sharp upswing in its leading economic indicators which it said pointed to a major expansion of the economy at least through 1973.

The nation's foreign trade deficit continued to worsen, however, the department said. The department said its index of leading economic indicators advanced 0.5 per cent in June. It also reported that preliminary figures showing a 0.2 per cent increase in May had been revised to show a 1.4 per cent gain.

This produced a 4.2 per cent increase in the index for the second quarter of 1972, the largest quarterly gain since the first three months of 1971 when the economy was recovering from a long strike against General Motors, officials said.

But imports continued to outstrip exports during June as the nation's balance of trade deficit continued well ahead of last year when the United States wound up with a $2.7 billion deficit — the first time it had been in the red in trade since 1893, put was 0.32 on an annual basis.

The Department said imports in June totaled $4.45 billion, which was $590 million more than exports. It was the ninth consecutive month that imports have exceeded exports.

The trade deficit for the first six months of this year was a record high $3.343 billion, more than $600 million more than the deficit for all of last year.

Officials noted that the annual rate of exports during the first six months of this year was 8 per cent above all of last year, while imports were 18 per cent above the 1971 rate.

Assistant Commerce Secretary Harold C. Passer said the composite index of leading indicators "is continuing to signal strong economic expansion in the months ahead."

In the longer-run perspective, the sustained upturn in the index — a 25 per cent increase since the low point 20 months ago — indicates that the present upswing in the economy is a major expansion that will continue at least through 1973, Passer said.

He said the index is tracing a pattern remarkably similar to its performance in four other economic expansions since World War II, only one of which lasted less than three years.

"In all four past recoveries the composite index has leveled off or declined slightly after rising for a year to a year and a half, even though the economy continued to expand," he said.

"Thus, even a leveling or a slight dip in the next several months would not alter the forecast of continued growth in the economy at least through 1973."

Hanoi rejects US cease-fire offer

PARIS (UPI) — The United States, calling a cease-fire the key to peace in Indochina, proposed today an end to the fighting and the release of American prisoners of war, followed by a military withdrawal.

The Communists rejected the offer and said the cease-fire could come only after American troops were sent home.

Chief Hanoi delegate Xuan Thuy said U.S. demands for a cease-fire and release of prisoners — followed by a U.S. military pullout four months later — left political issues unanswered.

"As regards the cease-fire, we have many times made it clear that after agreement on all the military and political

Deficit efforts praised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nobel prize winning economist Paul A. Samuelson congratulated Congress today for producing multi-billion dollar deficits and urged it not to relax its efforts now.

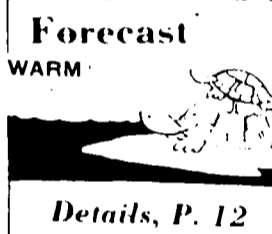

In testimony prepared for Congress' Joint Economic Committee, Samuelson said deficit spending over the past few years was solely responsible for the healthy state of today's economy, with employment rising, unemployment dropping and profits soaring.

"Congress has responsibly insisted upon budget deficits that by historical standards would have been considered large," he said but which have been shown "to be vitally necessary to turn an anemic expansion into a vigorous one."

He contrasted the economy's vigor with the sluggish growth of the Eisenhower administration, when, he said, Congress heeded administration warning against the excesses of Sodom and Gomorrah and trimmed government spending.

Mr. T-N SAYS
If your name ain't on the registration books, all you can do about the primary election is holler.

Details, P. 12

Certain registration allowed on primary day

TWIN FALLS — Persons who have been registered in Twin Falls County, but fail to meet registration deadlines may re-register at the polls on election day.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa said the U.S. Supreme Court ruling which appears to have had in mind making it possible for all persons to cast a vote, allows for re-registration at the polls on election day.

He said this does not mean persons who were not previously registered in the state may wait until voting time to register.

"You may re-register, but not register for the first time," the secretary of state said.

He encouraged all voters to register prior to election, however, to save time at the polls and to give election workers an opportunity to handle the electors on election day with a minimum of difficulties.

Harold Lancaster, Twin Falls County clerk, said persons who appear at the polls and are not registered on the new uniform registration card system but have been registered in the past will be allowed to sign a voter's oath and vote.

Registration deadlines are 8 p.m. Friday at the homes of registrars, and 8 p.m. Aug. 5 at the clerk's offices. Both Lancaster and Cenarrusa said all persons are asked to register with their registrars if at all possible so records can be processed in time for election day, Aug. 8.

Any person, 18 years of age or older, presently living in the county, may register and vote. There are no length of time residency requirements. Persons who can show they will be living in the county on Aug. 8 and who register prior to deadlines may also vote, Lancaster said.

CUSTER, S.D. (UPI) — Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern said Wednesday he would not be "stamped" by demands that he remove Sen. Thomas S. Eagleton from the ticket.

McGovern, standing in front of his vacation cabin in the Black Hills, steadfastly maintained his support for Eagleton in a brief interview with UPI and said he had "no intentions" of accepting Eagleton's offer to quit as the vice presidential candidate.

McGovern said he had not seen the telegrams coming into his camp urging him to replace Eagleton as a result of disclosures by the vice presidential nominee that he was under a psychiatrist's care for a nervous condition on three occasions between 1960 and 1966.

Eagleton did not tell McGovern of his medical past when he was selected to run as vice president.

McGovern denied as "1,000 per cent untrue" reports that he was waiting for public opinion to develop before a final decision is made.

"I'm not going to be stamped," he said. "I am certainly not going to let a handful of telegrams determine public policy."

McGovern insisted he knew nothing of reports from his staff that some of his key financial advisers were "dismayed" about the problem of raising the possibility that it will affect his ability to support a sustained campaign.

"I haven't had a single financial contributor say anything to me," he said. "I McGovern remained in his cabin most of the afternoon Wednesday, and at the pleading of newsmen scheduled a news conference for today."

But about 9 a.m., Richard Dougherty, the candidate's press secretary, said that the news conference was cancelled. He gave no reason. Dougherty said there would be a briefing later.

Board OK's dairy plan

JEROME — South Central Idaho Health District board members agreed to assist in a National Farm Organization plan to produce grade A milk for Colorado.

James Ingalls, deputy administrator of the district, told the board in a meeting Wednesday afternoon in Jerome the NFO is developing a Colorado market and has obtained a marketing quota for grade A milk in Colorado. He said the NFO has asked for help from the Health Department in providing inspections, sampling and laboratory tests needed to ship the milk out of the state.

Ingalls said at present there are five producers in this area. Some already have their grade

A barns built and some inspections have been made. He said he is not aware of what the marketing quota is but apparently at this time only five producers will be participating. These include one each in Hansen, Jerome, Shoshone, Gooding and Wendell.

Members of the board said they felt the district should cooperate as far as possible to help the producers in the interest of overall improved economy in the dairy industry for this area.

It was voted to handle inspections and have laboratory tests made by the Idaho Health Department laboratory so long as the work does not reach the point of requiring additional personnel.

CSI policy clarified

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho business manager Herbert Van Slyke said today a story in the Times-News Wednesday had inaccurately reported a college policy.

The story said that college employees at the school could run for public office but could not assume them if elected.

The policy says, "any employee of the College of Southern Idaho who is elected to any public office other than a school board or a city council or village board, shall be required to resign as an employee of the college upon election to said office."

Ulster bar bombed

BELFAST (UPI) — A bomb went off in a busy downtown Belfast bar today, killing at least one person and injuring several others.

The army said the incident occurred at the Hayloft Bar. It was the first major bombing in Belfast since nine persons were killed and more than 100 injured last Friday in a series of explosions set off by the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

The bodies of two other men were found in a burned car earlier in the day. The death toll in three years of violence in Northern Ireland stood at 477, including 65 persons killed since an IRA truce collapsed on July 9.

Earlier, the British government said it was sending an additional 600 troops to the province, bringing the total number of soldiers in Northern Ireland to 17,600 — the highest since civil strife started three years ago.

The Protestant Ulster Defense Association (UDA) ordered its members to impose a fuel oil blockade of Roman Catholic areas of Londonderry.

Health board re-elects two

JEROME — Members of the South Central Idaho Health Board Wednesday re-elected the two elective officers and adopted bylaws.

Meeting in Wood Cafe in Jerome the board re-elected William L. (Bill) Chaney, Twin Falls County commissioner, as board chairman, and named Clyde Petersen, Wendell, as vice chairman. Dr. Wayne Carte, administrator, serves as secretary.

Members discussed plans for new district headquarters as those in the Twin Falls City Hall must be vacated this year. Dr. Carte told the group he believed a building of 6,000 square feet of space could be built and paid for over a period of years at about the same figure it would cost for rentals.

He said Hill Burton federal funds would be available for part of the cost and some additional revenue could be provided by renting one or two office spaces until they are needed if administrative and service staff increases occur.

He also said land would be available for a building adjacent to the Twin Falls Child Development Center in Twin Falls. The district must vacate space in the city hall as the additional offices are needed by city department, and health district officials are studying rental costs and building costs. The old county hospital building is one of the rental possibilities but renovation costs have not yet been obtained. No action was taken on the matter.

In other business, the board reviewed per capita test requirements for septic tank construction. Carl Stutzman, contractor, said there is a need for better supervision by the department at the time a permit is obtained to avoid having to re-do the plans and often the construction after it has been completed.

The board discussed insurance coverage and swimming pool regulations for commercial pools, and instructed the environmentalists to enforce all safety regulations.

They discussed continuing education programs for employees wishing to attend school to obtain master's degrees in public health.

The board asked Dr. Carte to come up with additional information on how many employees might be attending special training and what salaries would cost for these people while completing their education.

Dr. Carte reported he has been asked by Don Frank of the Social and Rehabilitation Services Department to assist in an evaluation program to help persons receiving welfare return to working status.

Simple ballot

BOISE (UPI) — In a letter to Secretary of State Pete Cennarus Wednesday, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus urged a simplification in numbering the nine proposed constitutional amendments to appear on the ballot Nov. 7.

"I feel it would be a great service to the voters of Idaho if they could enter a polling booth and see propositions 1-9 listed numerically, instead of being faced with a myriad of HJR and SJR numbers," the letter stated, referring to House and Senate Joint Resolutions proposed during the Legislature.

"The retention of the legislative bill numbers for identification is of questionable value."

Health board to assist NFO

Dr. Wayne Carte, administrator for the district, said he favors assisting the local producers who are area taxpayers, but said Idaho is not obligated to make the same inspections it would if the milk were being consumed in Idaho. It should be the Colorado health authorities' responsibility, he said, to make certain the product meets consumption requirements and health standards once it reaches that state.

Board members voted to continue the program on a month to month basis and review it at later board meetings, making adjustment if it expands to a point where additional help is needed.

Ingalls said the NFO officials have advised they hope to begin shipping by tanker trucks about Aug. 1 at whatever rate the producers are able to fill a tank shipment.

Ingalls said both Idaho and Colorado follow the U.S. Department of Health standards for grade A barn inspection and milk sampling and testing. He said the barn inspections would have to be made on a basis of four times

R. Miller

BURLEY — Robert (Bob) Miller, 73, former Burley area banker, died Wednesday at Watsonville, Calif., following a short illness.

He was born Jan. 29, 1899, at Jackson Hole, Wyo. He moved to Arco as a young man and attended Arco schools. He married Myrtle Matthies in Arco.

Mr. Miller was cashier in the Arco bank for many years. In 1947 he moved to Burley and became associated with the Idaho Bank and Trust Co., where he worked until his retirement. His wife died in 1950.

In 1958, he married Ellen Jordan. After his retirement from the bank, the couple moved to Boise. She died in March, 1972. Since that time he had been living in California with his son's family.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Burley Episcopal Church, the Masonic Lodge at Arco and Burley, and the Burley Order of Eastern Star. He was a past master of the Arco Masonic Lodge. A past president of the Burley Chamber of Commerce, he formerly belonged to the Burley Lions Club and was active in civic affairs in the towns where he lived.

One son also preceded him in death.

Surviving are a son, Kenneth Miller, Watsonville, four stepchildren, one brother, one sister, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at Joseph Payne Memorial Chapel by Rev. John B. Sims of Twin Falls. Final rites will be in the Pleasant View Cemetery.

Friends may call at Payne Mortuary Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday prior to time of services.

Submarine funds set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate took up the question today of whether to speed development of a new submarine two-thirds the size of a World War II aircraft carrier and armed with 4,000-mile range missiles.

Advocates of a Navy for the 1980s won a handy victory Wednesday when the Senate voted 60-29 to authorize $299 million to start construction of a new billion dollar aircraft carrier.

Today the Senate scheduled seven hours of debate on funding for the Trident nuclear submarine. The administration contends the Trident is necessary to bolster American defense and persuade the Russians to negotiate a permanent offensive nuclear weapons treaty.

Just as the Moscow agreements were made possible by our successful action in such programs as Safeguard, Poseidon and Minuteman III, these future negotiations to which we are pledged can only succeed if we are equally successful in implementing such programs as the Trident system," said Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird in arguing for the Trident.

The administration has decided the Trident program must be accelerated. It originally asked $398 million for the project over the next 12 months but has increased the request to $964 million, including $361 million to buy components for the first four of the vessels.

The Navy has estimated the first 10 Tridents will cost $13.5 billion. The Trident is designed to replace the 41 Polaris-Poseidon submarines now in the fleet.

TF mother terms report inaccurate

TWIN FALLS — The mother of a 9-week-old infant who died Saturday said today that portions of a coroner's report were inaccurate.

Janet Allen, mother of Kevin Christopher Cornett, termed statements incorrect that said she had told officers that she had not recalled whether she had checked the infant's condition upon returning home Saturday.

Mrs. Allen said she returned home at about 3 a.m. and checked the baby's condition. She said she awoke at 9:30 a.m. the next morning to find the baby dead.

An autopsy on the child ordered by Twin Falls County Coroner Cloyce Edwards ruled that the infant died of "crib death."

Contractor named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has selected North American Rockwell Corp. to be prime contractor for the $2.6 billion space shuttle, probably the last major space program until the 1980s.

A spokesman for North American Rockwell said the project would create 450,000 jobs nationwide, including 50,000 in California.

NASA said more than half the jobs would probably be located in the West.

North American Rockwell is based in southern California.

NASA named North American Rockwell Wednesday from four competitors: Grumman Aerospace Corp., Bethpage, N.Y.; Lockheed Missile and Space Co. Inc., Sunnyvale, Calif.; and McDonnell Douglas Corp., St. Louis.

Although North American Rockwell won the prime contract, a company spokesman said 53 per cent of the work will be subcontracted to another 6,000 to 10,000 firms. It was expected that Grumman, Lock-

Soviet navy called growing power

Thursday, July 27, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 3

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet navy is expanding to every ocean and "can snap its fingers at all the maritime countries," the authoritative Jane's Fighting Ships said Thursday.

Russia has more submarines than the United States, or any other country, can possibly construct now and is reported to be building the first of a fleet of aircraft carriers to match those of the U.S. Navy, Jane's said.

In a foreword to the 1972-73 edition, Jane's editor Raymond Blackman, a bluff 62-year-old former sailor, compared the Soviet and U.S. navies in a soccer analogy to "two first division teams in the cup final with the score equal and the young and more-with-it side believing that it can score the deciding goal and lick the older and longer established team at any time."

"It is a sobering thought,"

Blackman said, "that no other country in the world in this day and age of sophistication and inflation can possibly build as many submarines as the Soviet navy has at the present time."

"The Soviet navy's attitude to the older naval powers," Blackman said, "seems to be: anything you can do we can do better. In short, the Soviet navy has given the victory sign to the world."

The British Royal Navy, which once ruled the waves, has "fallen below the safety level," Blackman said.

Jane's listed the total U.S.

submarine force, at 98 nuclear submarines, including 41 ballistic missile carrying vessels, and 35 conventional submarines.

"It estimated the Soviet submarine force at 95 nuclear-powered vessels and 313 conventionally powered vessels."

In surface vessels the United States has 17 aircraft carriers in service and 9 under construction, 8 missile cruisers, 30 missile frigates, 29 missile destroyers, 104 other destroyers and 69 escorts.

Jane's estimated Soviet surface ships at 2 helicopter carriers, 12 guided-missile cruisers, 35 gun cruisers, 35 guided-missile destroyers, 66 gun destroyers, 130 frigates and 258 escorts.

Jane's said there have been "many and varied" reports that the Soviet Union is building at least one aircraft carrier and that up to eight others are planned.

It said estimates of the size of the first Soviet aircraft carrier range from 30,000 to 40,000 tons and it may be nuclear powered.

It said intelligence photographs show another vessel under construction in the Black Sea port of Nikolayev, which could be a second aircraft carrier.

The U.S. Polaris-Posidon fleet of submarines carries 656 nuclear missiles, Jane's said.

But it said by the mid-1970s the United States will have about 5,120 offensive nuclear warheads carried by Polaris and Posidon submarines, or about two-thirds of its total strategic offensive missile weapon force.

It gave no estimate of the number of Soviet submarine-borne missiles.

Revised formula for funds sought

BOISE (UPI) — The 13-member state board of education committee on school funding and reorganization ended a day-long session Wednesday by agreeing to approach the school finance dilemma by revising the existing formula.

Chairman Jerry Evans, Caldwell district superintendent, agreed to work with Ezra Moore in the State Department of Education on formula recommendations to present to the committee at its next meeting Aug. 23.

"The committee is faced with a deadline of November to come up with some concrete proposals for the state board," Evans said. "About the only realistic approach we have is to revise the present formulas to attempt to make them more equitable."

He said the committee would continue to explore other possibilities of funding "including some entirely new approaches."

Hearing unneeded

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that arraignment in a misdemeanor case could take place without first holding a preliminary hearing.

In a unanimous decision announced by Justice Joseph J. McFadden, the high court ordered Court Judicial District Magistrate Ariel L. Crowley, Boise County, to arraign a misdemeanor defendant without first holding a preliminary hearing.

The magistrate had refused to proceed with a scheduled arraignment contending that the state constitution required that every criminal defendant be preliminarily examined before a magistrate, or indicted before a grand jury, before being held for trial.

The magistrate reasoned that only in the former probate and justice of peace courts was the preliminary hearing procedure not applicable.

The supreme court stated from its inception the state constitution provided for different criminal procedures depending on the seriousness of the crime charged.

'Dumping' attacked

ABERDEEN (UPI) — Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc., said Wednesday it opposes dumping of Canadian potato granules imported into the United States.

Referring to hearings before the Tariff Commission in Washington, D. C., PGI President Lenard Schritter, Aberdeen, said while importation cannot be stopped "there should be regulations against the dumping of the Canadian product below the American market price."

"Over 5 million pounds of potato granules were brought into the country last year below the Canadian cost of production, as well as below our market price," he said.

"This kind of dumping ended up breaking the U. S. potato market," he said.

BOISE (UPI) — The first meeting of a drug abuse task force study group has been scheduled Friday in the state office building here.

Task force chairman Robert Haakenson of Coeur d'Alene said the group will consider prevention and education aspects of the drug problem. He said the task force was formed last month by the governor's advisory council on comprehensive health planning.

THE SWENSEN'S MARKETS

INELASTIC SALT SALE

According to the college economics professors, the demand for salt is really inelastic, which means that it doesn't matter how much salt costs, people eat about the same amount, which means that this SALT SALE probably will be a big bust. But we had to give it a try anyway to see if the economists are really right. According to their theory, if the demand for some thing is really elastic, you could lower the price by 1/2 and sell twice as much or even more, but if the demand for something is inelastic (like Salt), you're just wasting your time, because people will only buy so much anyway. So it's like you don't expect someone to say "SALT IS ON SALE DOWN AT SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS. LET'S GO DOWN TO THE PARK AND EAT A COUPLE OF POUNDS." On the other hand, there is this one girl who married one of the Swensens whose demand for salt simply has to be elastic; "It's Insatiable". She not only eats it on popcorn, tomatoes, eggs, bacon and all the usual things, she dumps it on cantaloupe, watermelon, peaches, pears, oranges, grapefruit, apples — You name it — "Salty" Specials that will make your grocery dollars seem very ELASTIC, are listed below!

Congress SALT OK Is Likely

WASHINGTON — After a month of little-noticed and largely ignored committee hearings and discussions, it now appears evident Congress will approve the U. S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation agreements.

While there is no undue enthusiasm among legislators for the pacts, there also is no pronounced opposition. Members are just not particularly interested. Their underlying attitude is more or less apathy and indifference — coupled with willingness to go along with the President that the treaties are a "forward step for peace."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a ranking member of the Armed Services Committee and the foremost Congressional authority on strategic armaments, is vigorously voicing grave misgivings about key aspects of the agreements. But his detailed warnings and arguments are evoking little response or support in or out of Congress.

As a consequence, it is highly probable the accords will be ratified by Congress before the convening of the Republican national convention — Aug. 21. That's what the Administration wants, and it looks as if it will get its way.

Potentially aiding in this is that the pacts are not a partisan issue. Democratic Congressional leaders are as much in favor of them as the Republicans — and also of disposing of them as quickly as possible.

From all indications, the deliberations in the Senate and House will be brief and more or less perfunctory.

The weeks of largely-slighted hearings (by four different committees) have clearly shown that the "crux of the Moscow agreements is that the U.S. made specific and concrete major concessions on strategic defensive weapons in return for distinctly vague and indefinite concessions in offensive weapons by the Russians.

In other words, U. S. concessions in defense are spelled out explicitly, while the Soviet concessions in offense are debatable.

For example: the U. S. is allowed 1,054 land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs). On the other hand, Russia can have a total of 1,618 — an approximate 50 per cent advantage in numbers alone.

And that's only half the story. Not only does the Soviet get more missiles than we do, but theirs can be larger — thus giving them a superiority in overall payload of about 4 to 1.

This grim story is the same in sea-based missiles, where the U.S. again winds up far from a position of parity in a crucial strategic field where until now it has been way out in front.

Under the agreement, by the end of five years, the U.S. will have 41 nuclear-powered Poseidon-type submarines, while Russia can build up to 62 of these devastating craft. And that isn't all: in addition to the 62, the treaty also permits the Soviet Union to have under construction as many as 18 more of these submarines as so-called "replacements" for older vessels in their ballistic missile underwater fleet.

The Administration justifies this jolting gap on the ground that Russian submarine construction was so extensive they would have had 80 of the latest-type by 1977. Thus the treaty limitation of 62 is a big gain for the U. S.

Voting Laws

A recently enacted law in Florida may make it necessary to roll voting machines into mental hospitals on election day.

Or so claims Robert S. Furlough, Administrator of special programs for the state's Division of Mental Health. The right of mental patients to cast ballots will be one side effect of the law, which is aimed at ending the social and legal stigma of hospitalization for mental illness.

Written by Rep. Maxine Baker of Miami and called a "bill of rights" for mental patients, the new law ends the practice still common in most states whereby patients are committed to mental hospitals by judicial order, with accompanying loss of their civil rights as if they were criminals.

Florida now recognizes mental illness as a disease requiring treatment rather than a legal situation involving loss of rights.

Actually, it's highly unlikely that many mental patients will try to exercise their right to vote. But theoretically they could, and Furlough notes that in one town in northern Florida, patients in the state mental hospital outnumber residents by 7,995 to 4,500.

Should anyone be disturbed at the prospect of mental patients participating in such a serious matter as an election, he need but reflect that, like anybody else, they would be pretty much confined to voting for whatever candidates are on the ballot.

If it is the mental condition of this or the other candidate or this or the other party that is suspect (a charge not unknown in politics) — well, that's a different kettle of fish entirely.

No Box Tops

At the risk of setting off a new avalanche of cigarette wrappers, matchbook covers, teabag labels, beverage can tabs and what have you, the Seeing Eye of Morristown, N. J., would like to emphasize that none of these things can be traded for a Seeing Eye dog.

For 40 years the organization has been on the receiving end of such worthless junk sent in by well-meaning people deluded by a rumor that refuses to die despite all attempts to squelch it.

Yet all a blind person has to do is apply to the school in Morristown. No one is every denied a dog for lack of funds.

The Hall Of Fame

An 88-year-old resident of Hagerman is just a step away from being enshrined in the International Hall of Fame.

He's Henri (Harry) LeMoine who, in his youth, was one of the nation's greatest swimmers. LeMoine, of Brookline (Mass.) in his days of national prominence, now has his picture and a resume of his career hanging in the International Hall of Fame at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He was born in Brookline in 1884 and started swimming when he was six years old. In 1902, while a member of the Brookline Athletic Club, he set five world swimming records, all free-style. The records were in the 60, 80, 100, 120 and 220 yard events. Later, as a student at Harvard, he received honorable mention on the

All-America football squad and was also active in track, polo, boxing and basketball.

He came to Idaho about 1905 and he and his brother Charles entered the sheep-raising business. He and his wife, Jeanette Fox of Hailey, are now retired and residing in Hagerman.

Two children reside in this area. They are John LeMoine, Hagerman, and Harry LeMoine, Twin Falls.

That's Show Biz

WASHINGTON — The Republican convention planners are in a swivet. They have three nights of prime time on Aug. 21, 22 and 23 to fill, and not much to fill it with. At the moment there are no rules fights, no platform battles and no Stop-Nixon movements. The GOP could have one of the best-organized, well-run, rancorless conventions in modern political history, but who the hell wants to watch it on TV?

A close Republican friend, Hiram Stauchfield, who is head of the Committee to Re-Elect the President Without Boring the People to Death, told me that his group was hard at work trying to make an exciting political convention out of a sow's ear.

"It's going to be very tough this year to keep up the excitement," he said. "On the first night we plan to attack McGovern and Eagleton. The second night will be devoted to attacking the media, and on the third night we'll put on Nixon, Pat, Tricia and Julie. But I'm not sure that is enough. The American people will forgive anything but a dull television show."

"What about the demonstrators outside the convention hall?" I asked.

"That's our ace in the hole. If the people outside will demonstrate, we might be able to hold everyone's interest. One of the reasons we keep warning the demonstrators not to ruin our convention is that we feel it's the only way to get them to come to Miami."

"I notice that both Clark MacGregor and Sen. Bob Dole, the Republican national chairman, have asked McGovern to keep his people away from your convention."

Stauchfield chuckles. "You have to admit that wasn't a bad play. If anyone shows up to demonstrate, we can blame it on McGovern."

"It's good thinking," I admitted, "particularly since most of the people who would bother to demonstrate are also against McGovern."

"But the TV audiences won't know that, will they?" Stauchfield asked.

"Suppose no demonstrators and agitators show up for the Republican convention? Won't that put you people in a bind?"

"There will be demonstrators there," Stauchfield assured me, "if we have to bring them in ourselves."

"We've asked all our delegates who are driving to Miami to pick up any hitchhiker who looks as if he is coming down to cause trouble. We're even talking about chartering buses from Cambridge, Berkeley and Georgetown to make it easier for the kids to come. We'll promise them room, board and a chance to be on prime-time television. It's an offer they can't possibly refuse."

"I hope for your sake they show up," I said to Stauchfield. "But kids are funny these days. If they know you need them to make your convention, they might stay away. Don't you have any other plans in case the demonstrations don't take place?"

"Nothing that the networks would be interested in,"

Stauchfield said.

"Have you thought about dumping Agnew during the convention, just to get a TV audience?"

"We've certainly talked about it," Stauchfield replied. "But so far the President won't give us the green light. He's promised to announce his Vice Presidential candidate before the convention, which you'll have to admit is pretty lousy show business."

"Well, if all is lost, you still have Billy Graham," I said.

"And if that fails," Stauchfield said, "Bob Hope has offered to tape his Christmas show in front of the troops guarding the Republican convention hall."

RAY CROMLEY

Unhappy

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The unhappiness at State Department over Dr. Henry Kissinger's great power as President Nixon's adviser on foreign and national security affairs is well known.

Not generally realized is the equally high concern at other key points in the government.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird has had two serious confrontations with Kissinger on defense. Laird came out on top in both instances—but only because he has proved to be a very strong man indeed in this type of in-house fighting.

There is worry too in the higher echelons of Treasury, Commerce and in the White House itself. This reporter is told that one reason Peter Peterson, now Commerce Department secretary, left his White House economic post so quickly was that built-in rivalry with the Kissinger group made his job all but impossible.

The concern over Kissinger's role is, in part, a problem of natural personal jousting. In part it is a conflict of national security and foreign policy concepts. But there is more.

A major problem is Kissinger's isolation. He has few intimate friends, few men he trusts intellectually. He gets no determined arguments from his staff. They funnel material to him; he picks and chooses. Thus there are few men who can pound at his ideas until the bugs are beaten out.

Every man this reporter has talked to conceded Kissinger's brilliance as a historian. And as a novel and innovative mind, capable of designing precedent-shattering concept. But their persistent worry is that ivory castle. Brilliant ideas frequently have unexpectedly serious indirect effect if not argued at length by men with different types of experience.

Yet quite frequently the men who are to be key actors in any decision hear about a new line much too late to make meaningful change.

Then, too, Kissinger is a thinker, not an operations man. "Henry doesn't know how to carry things out and he won't let others in on the operations," says one colleague. "Even well-thought-out ideas have operational bugs. The side effects can break you. It's a one-man show and one-man shows are dangerous."

Witness the bitter, unnecessary side effects of two recent Kissinger involvements: The China trip as carried out resulted in a near disaster in Japan. It undercut our closest friends in that island country, threatened a serious loosening of Tokyo's close ties with the United States.

The tragedy is that it need not have been. The Japanese government did not object to an opening in China. Tokyo, in fact, wanted a China approach, and had held off only at the insistence of the United States.

The problem lay in the way Kissinger carried out the plan. We did not take the Japanese into our confidence.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Vitamins

Dear Dr. Thosteson: They say vitamins A and D are harmful if you take too much, but how much is too much and what are the symptoms of overdose? — Mrs. D. R.

It is possible to get too much of either of these vitamins — not likely in ordinary circumstances, but quite possible when someone decides that if a little of something is good, then a lot must be better.

A maximum dosage of vitamin A would be 50,000 units a day. Even larger doses are sometimes given for skin disorders such as acne, but when that is done, the heavy dosage is only for a limited time. Children are more susceptible to a toxic dose of this than adults. Symptoms are loss of appetite, irritability, bone tenderness, loss of hair.

Toxicity from vitamin D varies so much that I can't give any arbitrary level, but symptoms are loss of appetite, nausea, headache, loss of weight, constipation in children, increase in blood calcium.

Large doses of these vitamins are not necessary for the average person, adult or child, and are used in large amounts only for special circumstances.

There's no danger of getting too much of either from the ordinary one-a-day type mixed vitamins. The trouble occurs when folks take it on themselves to take continued heavy doses on their own, without finding out from the doctor how much will help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you tell me what to expect after a hysterectomy? I understand it is necessary to go through the change of life twice, once now, and again when I'm in my 50s. I am 36 now. — Mrs. R.

No, you don't go through the change of life (menopause) twice.

Hysterectomy means removal of the uterus, and this does not cause menopause. However, if the ovaries are also removed, then you will experience "surgical menopause." Once through it, however, you need not worry about having to go through it again in your 40s or 50s. You won't.

This will be thoroughly explained and cleared up for you if you'll read my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," since it explains what surgical menopause is, among other things. Send 35 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope if you'd like a copy.

Are you having a ball bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for, send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of this newspaper for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Reds repel Viet relief battalion

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese officers ordered a battered paratroop battalion out of the heavily defended Quang Tri Citadel today, relinquishing ground they had fought for three days to seize.

Military spokesmen said 500 fresh marines were sent in to relieve the paratroopers but they were not able to fight their way back inside the fortress despite a fierce six-hour battle northeast of the 19th century building.

Communist troops, in an apparent attempt to divert South Vietnamese forces from Quang Tri, overran two fire bases on the outskirts of Hue about 40 miles to the south. Some sources predicted the Communists would try a major attack against Hue, the ancient imperial capital.

The paratroopers stormed the Citadel three days ago and captured part of the 13-acre fortress before they were stopped by well dug-in North Vietnamese troops. A Saigon command spokesman said the men were sent to an undisclosed area for a new operation. No casualty figures were given.

Government spokesmen said they could not say the city has been recaptured until South Vietnamese troops control the Citadel.

Quang Tri Province and its capital, Quang Tri City, fell to the Communists May 1. South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu promised to recapture the area by Sept. 19 and sent 20,000 men north from Hue on June 28 to drive the Communists out.

Since then, the South Vietnamese have met heavy Communist resistance in Quang Tri City and along the 20 miles of highway leading from the government's northern defense line to the provincial capital.

They have also kept up the pressure on Hue, South Vietnam's third-largest city located 400 miles north of Saigon.

U. S. sources said Communists captured fire bases Bastogne and Checkmate, two vital links in Hue's defense. One source said Bastogne has changed hands six times since the current Communist offensive started March 30.

U. S. sources said heavy fighting was under way today in the area around Bastogne and Checkmate, 12 and 13 miles southwest of Hue. One source said Bastogne has changed hands six times since the Communist offensive in South Vietnam began March 30.

The sources said North Vietnamese gunners during the night blasted the two bases—plus Fire Bases Birmingham, T-Bone and Lion along the Hue defense line—with more than 3,000 rounds of 122mm artillery, rockets and mortar shells. Another 150-round barrage of mortar and recoilless rifle fire hit an element of South Vietnam's 54th Regiment a mile from Bastogne but the infantrymen counterattacked and killed 17 Communists at a cost of two government troops dead and six wounded, the Saigon command said.

In a separate development, the Saigon command today said 50 South Vietnamese marines were killed north of Quang Tri July 11 in the worst single helicopter crash of the war. A spokesman said Communist gunners downed the chopper in the middle of a North Vietnamese anti-aircraft emplacement. He said 10 Americans were wounded in the incident and two are missing.

A government spokesman only hours before today's withdrawal from the Quang Tri Citadel said the Communists remained in control of the western portion of the 19th Century fortress but that North Vietnamese resistance is weakening every day.

The paratroopers Wednesday raised their country's flag over the installation but sources said half of the Citadel was still in Communist hands.

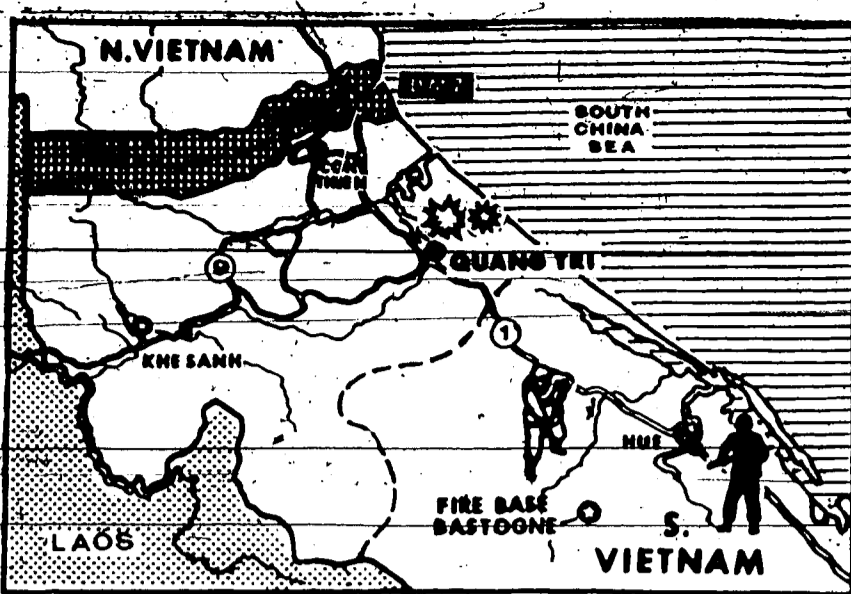

The U. S. command said 24 U. S. B-52 bombers dumped more than two million pounds of explosives on Communist troops and supply dumps within 13 miles of Quang Tri City overnight. Eight more flights of the big planes unloaded about 1-1.2 million pounds of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese positions around Hue.

TF firemen on 3 runs; no damage

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls firemen made three runs Wednesday, with no damage reported from any of the fires.

Fire Chief Bob Bopp said at 10:20 p.m. firemen were called to 348 Madison to put out a trash fire.

At 8:48 p.m. they were called to Washington Street South to extinguish a weed fire and earlier in the day they were called to Blue Lakes Boulevard South where weeds were burning in Rock Creek Canyon.

Pot found aid in eye ailment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Marijuana smoking reduces fluid pressure in the eyes and may prevent glaucoma, a significant cause of blindness, researchers reported Wednesday.

They said some volunteers were given marijuana cigarettes and others placebos—cigarettes without the drug.

Each volunteer was given tonometric examinations—the precise technique used by ophthalmologists to measure eye pressure.

Scientists from the University of California at Los Angeles Medical School and the National Institute for Health said they stumbled by chance on the efficacy of marijuana to reduce the accumulation of fluid inside the eye.

They told the International Congress on Pharmacology meeting that they were studying the effects of pot smoking on motor coordination and other functions related to automobile driving and part of that study included eye examinations.

Jerome kitchen opens

JEROME — The Jerome canning kitchen will open Friday following the same schedule as last year.

Hours are Monday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Richard Jasper will be the kitchen manager, Mrs. Ed Otto, the registrar, and Al Vogel, in charge of boiler.

Persons wishing to can pork and beans and chili are urged to make early appointments as the run at the kitchen may not be as long this year because of the shortage of fruit, according to Mrs. Harry Brown, publicity chairman.

Gem aide gets budget dispute

BOISE — The College of Southern Idaho and the state budget bureau have taken their funding dispute to the attorney general's office.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, and Robert Alexander, college counsel, met with budget officials in the attorney general's office Tuesday to try to iron out their disagreement.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Jim Hargis said Wednesday his office would prepare a ruling to try to settle the differences.

At stake is the college's appropriated funding for the current fiscal year. College officials are reacting against a budget announcement that funds would come to the school in semi-annual checks this year — a change from the single lump sum funding of past years.

Budget Director D. E. Chilberg said last week the change was to bring the school into line with other state agencies, as well as to tighten the state's cash flow.

Y plans breakfast Friday

TWIN FALLS — If you would like to have the mayor serve you breakfast, then the annual YMCA-YWCA chuck wagon breakfast is for you.

The event will be Friday in city park from 6:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Mayor John Christoffersen, numerous service club presidents and others have agreed to help cook and serve the breakfast.

Honorary "pancake flippers" will include Gayland Erickson of the Lions Club, John Rosholt, Rotary Club; Lyman Davis, Optimist Club, and Bob Becker, Twin Falls Jaycees. J. J. Alexander, newsman, will also assist.

Matt Smith, chairman of the event, said about 500 persons are expected to participate. The menu will include pancakes, sausage, eggs, juice, coffee and milk.

Smith said this is the sixth annual chuckwagon breakfast for the organizations and is held annually to help provide funds for the continuing programs.

This year the staff hopes to add several special programs, including soccer for boys and tumbling and gymnastics for girls.

Tickets to the breakfast may be purchased at the city park near the bandshell Friday morning.

TF track meet set Friday

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Recreation Department city track meet is set for 1 p.m. Friday at Sunrise Park.

Mike Tinker, meet director, said competition is planned in seven events for boys and girls in three age brackets — for ages 6 to 8; for 9 to 12; and for 13 years and older.

Events will include the 40 and 60 yard dashes, distance run, relays, softball throw, high jump and long jump.

The meet is open to all interested youths, Tinker said. Prospective contestants should go to the park nearest their homes on Friday morning to enter as a representative of that park, he said.

Idaho man killed

FRUITLAND, Idaho (UPI) — A Fruitland man was killed Wednesday when he failed to see a gravel truck backing toward him on a state road project 22 miles from Payette.

Payette County Sheriff's deputies said Vincent Leroy Horn, 44, was guiding a gravel truck into position for unloading when he failed to see another truck backing toward him. He was struck and killed.

Horn's son Walter, 17, also working on the project, saw the accident and drove away in a nearby pickup truck to locate help. However, he took a corner too fast and rolled the truck. He received only minor injuries and was later released from Holy Rosary Hospital in Ontario, Ore.

Due on TV

BOISE — Rose Bowman, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, will appear in an ABC television special program Friday.

"The Hand that Rocks the Ballot Box" will begin at 10:30 p.m.

Spock looks for title

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Dr. Benjamin Spock says he expects the People's Party convention to retain him as its candidate for president rather than throw the nomination to Democrat George McGovern.

Spock also said Wednesday night that conveying this party's message to the people is "incomparably more difficult" because the Democrats' nominee is McGovern.

The pediatrician, frequently arrested as an antiwar activist, played down the significance of a split between his backers and those of McGovern, who envision McGovern's name being placed on the ballot twice in some states.

The McGovern advocates at the four-day convention, which opened Wednesday, say a vote for the senator on the People's Party ticket would be an endorsement of the party's more liberal platform.

"There's no question that many who will support us in local elections will decide on their own responsibility to vote for McGovern just to make sure that the anti-Nixon votes are not split," Spock said.

"But, that's entirely different from us advocating it. If we advocate the election of McGovern, we believe that McGovern can make the changes that will make that much difference in America, and we simply don't."

SEN. EAGLETON would quit

Eagleton offers race withdrawal

HONOLULU (UPI)—Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton said Wednesday he will withdraw as vice presidential candidate if his history of past mental health treatment would hurt Sen. George S. McGovern's White House bid.

"If my visceral feeling is that my candidacy is untenable and is negative insofar as the McGovern ticket is concerned, I'll not even wait for McGovern to give me the word. I'll give the word myself," Eagleton told a news conference at Honolulu International Airport Wednesday.

"The stakes are too high when you're talking about the presidency of the United States," Eagleton said later. "I want George McGovern to be the next president of the United States. I'm going to do everything I can positively to make sure he is that, and I will do nothing negatively to prevent him from attaining that goal."

Less than an hour after he made that statement, Eagleton appeared at a large shopping center and quipped to a huge throng, "I imagine my name is a little better known now than it was 48 hours ago."

In a taped television interview with news media Wednesday night, Eagleton elaborated further on possible repercussions from disclosure of his treatments.

Foregoes race

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. George C. Wallace is expected to say once and for all Saturday that he will forego a third party presidential race this year in order to build up his physical strength for a possible 1976 campaign.

Wallace's staff said Wednesday that he has declined an invitation to speak at the American Independent Party AIP convention Aug. 3-5 in Louisville, Ky.

There will be an announcement Saturday from Wallace or his aides on his future political plans, almost certainly to be a firm statement that because of his recuperation from an attempted assassin's bullets he will remain out of the presidential picture this fall.

Castro did not use the occasion to comment in detail about Cuba's internal situation. His speech ran two hours and 46 minutes but contained no reference to the just-completed sugar harvest, key to the island's economy. Havana Radio has called the harvest "bad" without saying how much sugar was produced.

New trial asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorneys representing Lt. William L. Calley, sentenced last year to 30 years in prison for his part in the My Lai massacre, have requested a new trial.

Auto firms want to hike price

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American auto makers want to increase their 1973 car prices from $90 to $150 a model.

Ralph Nader wants the government's Price Commission to hold immediate public hearings on the requests. He went to court over the issue Wednesday.

Nader and Consumers Union Inc., a nonprofit product testing organization, asked U.S. District Court to order Price Commission Chairman C. Grayson Jackson Jr. to hold the hearings.

They argued the Price Commission is violating federal law by refusing to hold the public evidence-gathering sessions.

It was the first time the commission's policy on public hearings had been challenged in court. Judge Gerhard Gesell took the case under advisement.

LBJ satisfactory

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson remained in satisfactory condition today in Brooke Army Hospital where he is undergoing tests for chest pains and nausea suffered Monday.

Doctors would not say whether the former president had suffered a heart attack. They said only that Johnson did not suffer a major heart attack like he did last April.

Hospital spokesman Tom Matthews said Wednesday Johnson had ordered that no information be released as to his activities, diet or visitors.

By MARTIN MCFEYNOLDS

MIAMI (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said Wednesday night that President Nixon was the worst of the presidential candidates. Castro indicated he was less displeased with the Democratic candidate, Sen. George McGovern.

Castro addressed a rally in Havana's Plaza de la Revolution marking the 19th anniversary of the birth of his rebel movement.

In the speech broadcast by Radio Havana and monitored in Miami, Castro called President Nixon a "criminal" and "the worst among all the candidates." He said Nixon may lose his bid for re-election in November.

Without mentioning McGovern by name, Castro said he was pleased that "one candidate" favors ending "the economic blockade of Cuba. McGovern has said he would favor making advances toward Cuba along the lines of Nixon's advances with China."

Castro, however, rejected a plank in the Democratic Party platform saying Cuba must not be permitted to become a Soviet military base.

He also said his government is in no hurry to resume relations with the United States and that it can wait until America adopts socialism. In a departure from tradition,

Dockers freed

5 longshoremen free from prison

LONDON (UPI)—The five longshoremen rode triumphantly from prison on the shoulders of comrades. Thousands of singing, shouting workers celebrated the occasion with jubilant victory marches.

London's red, double-decker buses and airline flights from the British capital resumed operation today following the release Wednesday of the five men, jailed Friday for defying Britain's new Industrial Relations Act.

Work in other industries began returning to normal and labor union sources said a threatened one-day strike Monday by the 10 million-member Trades Union Congress (TUC) was almost certain to be called off.

The TUC was scheduled to meet today to decide on the issue.

The Industrial Relations Court released the five dockers from London's Pentonville prison after the House of Lords ruled their union, the Transport and General Workers Union (TGWU), should be held accountable under the law for their actions.

The men, the first persons imprisoned on the new act, were jailed for defying an order by the Industrial Relations Court to cease illegal picketing of container depots.

The Lords also reimposed a $137,000 fine on the TGWU for its members' failure to comply with the court order. The decision overturned a ruling by the High Court absolving the union from the fine, imposed by the Industrial Relations Court.

Walkouts in support of the imprisoned dockers during the week brought the nation's ports to a near-total standstill and halted the production of nationally circulated newspapers. Strikes grounded most flights Wednesday at London's Heathrow Airport and halted bus service in the city.

Publishers of national newspapers said production would probably resume with afternoon editions today.

Union members hailed the men's release as a victory over the act, introduced by the conservative government in an effort to curb industrial strife in Britain.

Government officials said, however, the ruling in the House of Lords means unions would be liable to heavy fines unless they are able to prevent members from engaging in industrial practices which contravene the act.

When the five dockers appeared at the gates of the prison, supporters shoved bottles of beer into their hands and hoisted them onto their shoulders. The crowd of 2,000 longshoremen, coal miners and other workers sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and chanted "We are the winners!"

4 lawyers subpoenaed

CHICAGO (UPI)—Defense attorneys, maintaining that perjured testimony was used to obtain the indictment against Cook County State's Attorney, Edward V. Hanrahan, have subpoenaed lawyers for Black Panthers to explain a crucial development in Hanrahan's trial.

The four lawyers—Jonathan Hyman, Francis Andrews, Flint Taylor and James Montgomery—were subpoenaed Wednesday to explain in court today why statements by four Panthers have not come to light for 2-1-2 years. The statements were revealed by a prosecutor last Saturday.

The statements, one signed and sworn by a Black Panther who survived the Dec. 4, 1969, raid in which Panther leaders Mark Clark and Fred Hampton were killed, indicate that Panthers fired shots at raiding police. When they testified before the country grand jury which indicted Hanrahan, an assistant and 12 policemen, the Panthers said they neither fired shots nor handled weapons during the raid.

The grand jury concluded that the Panthers fired only one shot, and the police more than 100.

In the statements, three surviving Panthers admit picking up and handing guns during the raid. A fourth said he fired two shots at police.

Hanrahan and the other 13 were charged with conspiring to obstruct justice by covering up evidence after the raid in efforts to block prosecution of the raiding policemen.

Under law, statements a client makes to his lawyer are confidential. This has been suggested as a reason why the attorneys did not step forward with the statements.

Defense attorneys contend the statements should result in dismissal of the charges.

But special prosecutor Barnabas Sears maintains that the indictment charges Hanrahan and his co-defendants with covering up after the raid, not with wrong-doing during it, and therefore should stand.

Pentagon papers trial delayed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The start of testimony in the Pentagon Papers trial has been delayed again, this time until a federal appeals court decides whether a government wiretap involving a member of the defense team affected the case.

The issue was taken under consideration by a panel of three federal appeals court judges Wednesday. The trial cannot get under way until they render a decision.

They can uphold the trial judge, who ruled the wiretap had no connection with the case, or order him to hold a hearing into the matter, which would further delay the start of testimony.

Only the Justice Department and U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne, who is conducting the trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, know the details of the incident.

Ellsberg and Russo are charged with theft, conspiracy and espionage in making public the Pentagon Papers, which spelled out the process of American decision-making in the Vietnam War. They have admitted being behind the leak.

Sadat meeting rejected

By United Press International
Egypt's government-controlled press today rejected an appeal by Israeli Premier Golda Meir for a meeting with President Anwar Sadat to discuss the Middle East conflict.

The newspaper Al Ahran, commenting on Mrs. Meir's speech to the Knesset (parliament) Wednesday, said: "Mrs. Meir fettered her earlier offer, which Egypt rejected, of direct negotiations aimed at solving the crisis."

"She said that if it were difficult to hold the negotiations then, it should be impossible to hold contacts for reopening the Suez Canal."

"Mrs. Meir offered that previously but the offer was rejected by Cairo since the reopening of the canal was not an objective in itself."

The newspapers devoted little space on their front pages to Mrs. Meir's speech.

Filer Mutual Telephone Company Shareholders/Subscribers

Idaho Telephone Company, headquartered in Homedale, is offering Filer Mutual Telephone Company directors and shareholders $1,000,000 cash for all assets of Filer Mutual. If shareholders approve the sale, it can result in a number of advantages to shareholders and subscribers as well as the community of Filer.

Be sure you attend tonight's meeting to hear Idaho Telephone's purchase offer.

Your Filer Mutual Telephone Board of Directors has called an informal shareholder subscriber meeting tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Filer High School auditorium to consider all facts surrounding Idaho Telephone Company's $1,000,000 cash proposal. Shareholder approval is necessary to complete the sale and you are urged to attend tonight's meeting in order to understand all facts when you are asked to cast your vote. Your decision will be very important to you, personally.

When you vote, consider the advantages Idaho Telephone can provide:

Idaho Telephone Company, as a major utility regulated by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, can offer you a number of advantages and built-in protection that a small mutual company cannot provide. When you decide your vote, consider:

- No Planned Rate Increases.
Idaho Telephone Company is not planning and does not contemplate any rate increases for any Filer subscriber. During its eight years as a statewide telephone system, Idaho Telephone has had only one rate adjustment which occurred back in 1968.
- You Receive $1,000,000 For Distribution to You.
In the absence of any outstanding indebtedness, it is anticipated that the entire $1,000,000 will be available to your company for disbursement to you. And, actual disbursement of monies will be controlled by you through your elected directors.
- Regular Expansion and Improvement is Planned.
Idaho Telephone has a solid record for providing the best possible service to all its customers. For example, company officials have announced a $168,000 remodeling of the entire outside plant operation in neighboring Carey. To replace rural cable and remodel outside plant facilities, Idaho Telephone has earmarked $500,000 for Homedale, $73,000 for Oia, $500,000 over the next two years for Parma, and $173,000 for Wilder. These improvements are only a part of Idaho Telephone's continuing customer service program.
- Service is Backed by Larger Operation.
Idaho Telephone, as a subsidiary of Continental Telephone Systems, has the support and backing to insure that progress and improvements to your system will keep pace with changing communication needs. It is increasingly difficult for small Mutuals to match space-age telephone communications now being developed.
- Local Management and Local Profits Will Continue.
Idaho Telephone is not planning changes in staff or management of Filer Telephone if the sale is completed. Support of local merchants and community participation will definitely continue and most likely be accelerated. Idaho Telephone lives by a good neighbor policy.
- Shareholders Are in Optimum Cash Position.
With Idaho Telephone's $1,000,000 offer for assets estimated to be worth $900,000, and no outstanding company debt, shares of Filer Mutual are at their highest peak. Future expansion or improvement demands upon the mutual could mean a rate increase or company debt which reduce the cash value of a share from its present worth.

Bennett criticizes Chancey and Galley (right) ponders charges

Sparks fly as TF candidates quarrel

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County candidates quarreled sharply and traded heated exchanges at a candidate forum Wednesday night at the Twin Falls Judicial Building.

The 50 persons attending the meeting, sponsored by the Community Improvement Association, frequently broke into applause in support of various statements.

Five of the six candidates for county offices were present. They included Ron Goodman, Republican candidate for sheriff; Robert Galley, Republican running for prosecuting attorney; and Golden Bennett, his Democratic opponent; William Chancey, incumbent Republican county commissioner, and his Democratic challenger, Robert Geer.

Paul Corder, Republican, the incumbent sheriff, was not present at the meeting. He attended a gathering for Glen Wegner, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate.

But Corder came under heavy and repeated attack, both from Goodman and Bennett, and from questioners in the audience as well.

Goodman pledged wholesale reform of sheriff deputy training if he defeated Corder in the primary and won election in November, and questioned Corder's practice of hiring his wife and daughter on the county payroll.

The nepotism dispute boiled over into a confrontation between Bennett and Chancey, after Chancey told the group the county commissioner's account for "every penny" of tax dollars spent.

Bennett fired repeated questions at Chancey about the propriety of paying Mrs. Corder's expenses as a county employee on extradition trips with her sheriff husband.

Finally, an exasperated Chancey replied, "I would remind you, Mr. Bennett, that I am not on trial here."

Bennett also charged Galley with improper private law work saying the present assistant prosecuting attorney had "taken cases he shouldn't have" while a county employee.

But he later acknowledged to the group that Idaho law allows county attorneys to practice private law. "It's not his (Galley's) fault that the prosecuting attorney takes private cases. We need to change the state statute," he said.

But near the end of the two and a half hour session, the nepotism question was raised again. A law book was handed to Bennett. The Democrat asked Galley, whom he charged had repeatedly refused to look into possible prosecution of Corder, to read the statute aloud for the questioner. Galley declined, saying he was certain the questioner "can read it for himself."

Bennett then read the statute, and remarked "I don't know Mr. Galley's interpretation of the law, but I've read it a number of times and it says the same thing to me in English."

After several other comments, Galley responded, "If we went on Mr. Bennett's interpretation of the law we wouldn't have any law enforcement. Nobody would be safe."

Gem intrastate rate hike OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — An application of the Idaho Motor Tariff Bureau, Inc., to increase intrastate rates and charges has been granted by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

The bureau sought to increase rates covering lumber, board, lathe, shingles and plywood. Louis Schiele, testifying for the applicant, said the applied-for rates would bring the current Idaho intrastate rates up to the same level as the interstate rates published in a Tariff Bureau release which covers the same commodities for similar distances on an interstate basis.

granting the proposed increases for mileages up to the 400 mile level, the commission said, and a 12 per cent increase on all rates for mileage beyond that level.

The IPUC said this should provide the carrier involved with sufficient revenue to enable it to continue to render quality service to the public in the transportation of commodities included in the proposal.

Justification was shown for 14,000 virgins

ST. THOMAS, V. I. (UPI) — Christopher Columbus liked to name the islands he discovered after saints but a large group in the Caribbean stumped him until he recalled the legend of St. Ursula and the 11,000 virgins.

The Virgin Islands number far less than 11,000, however. There are 1,600, counting every little islet — 60 owned by the United States and the rest by Britain.

Tony Park, Idaho attorney general and candidate for the U.S. Senate, Wednesday warned that in pursuit of law and order the fundamental concept of justice upon which the country was founded must not be forgotten.

In a speech in Mountain Home, Park said, "Above all, Idaho's next senator must stand for justice. He must speak out for what's right, even when right is not what is popular."

He said justice is a single standard—not rules for the rich and rules for the poor.

In Caldwell, Republican senatorial candidate Robert Smylie said he would oppose renewal of the wage and price controls in the Senate next fall if elected. He said the control authority of the President would come up for renewal then.

"The American people have cooperated magnificently to make the wage-price control program work," Smylie said. "But whenever I have traveled in this campaign the people say they want to return to the traditional policy of relying on market force to determine wages and prices."

Democratic senatorial candidate Byron Johnson, speaking in Pocatello, said the property tax must be eliminated as primary means of financing local government and public education.

"Property tax is the least fair tax since it is based on property values — not the production of income or the ability to pay. The property tax has weighed heavily upon those who have sacrificed to buy their own home — especially those on fixed income, such as our elderly," Johnson said.

Wayne Kidwell, Republican candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives, told a group in Caldwell secrecy in many governmental affairs is a dangerous trend.

Wegner eyes plan to 'inch' from conflict

TWIN FALLS — U.S. senatorial candidate Glen Wegner Wednesday night sketched a plan to permit the United States to "inch" out of the Vietnam War.

The Republican candidate suggested that small groups of US troops and a proportionate number of prisoners of war be returned to the US at the same time "on the same plane."

He suggested that the US determine the ratio of remaining prisoners and troops. As an example, he said, were there five POWs for every 115 troops, he would place a plane at the end of a runway loaded with 115 soldiers ready to return to the US.

The plane would leave as soon as the North Vietnamese permitted five POWs to board the plane. The result would be "inch-by-inch" withdrawal.

Wegner was speaking to a group of about 110 persons at the home of Dr. Harold Wiedemann in Twin Falls.

At the same time Wegner said he supported actions taken to date by the Nixon administration in the Vietnam War.

Wegner told the group he opposed granting amnesty to any of the various categories of deserters "before the end of the war."

After the war's end, he said,

Bowman reports

BOISE (UPI) — Democratic senatorial candidate Rose Bowman Wednesday listed $4,091 in receipts for her campaign, according to the secretary of state's office.

Mrs. Bowman said in the statement filed in line with the Federal Campaign Expenses Disclosure Act that she had receipts of $1,690 for the period of June 1 through July 18.

Candidates are required to file a statement of contributions and expenses 15 and 5 days before the primary election Aug. 8.

The candidate listed total expenses of $3,351 and $1,443 for the last reporting period.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon met country and western singer Johnny Cash at the White House Wednesday to discuss prison parole. They agreed the nation's prisons are filled with young persons who "can be saved."

Cash visited the President in his oval office with Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., after the singer testified on prison reforms before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Nashville's Grand Ole Opry star has been performing in prisons since 1959. He said at San Quentin prison in California, the prisoners "kept calling for me to come back."

Meal costs lower for BSC students

BOISE — Residence hall students at Boise State College will be paying less for their meals during the coming academic year.

A new food service company, A. R. Slater, will begin food service operations in the College Union Aug. 1, replacing SAGA, which has held the contract for a number of years.

"We are getting an expanded contract with more flexibility at a lower cost," says Roger Green, vice president for financial affairs. "Residence hall students who purchase the regular seven-day, 20-meal ticket can expect to save $5 per year in comparison to last year's board costs."

The new contract will allow students to select a seven-day, 20-meal; five-day, 15-meal or five-day, 10-meal ticket. Terms of the new contract call for a semi-continuous meal arrangement with serving hours spread over longer periods of time for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The contractor will also provide steak dinner every Wednesday night during the school year and once a month will arrange a special buffet or other type of festive dinner as a "monotony breaker."

While intended primarily for students in campus residence halls, students who live off campus may purchase meal tickets, according to the vice president.

Mel Koopman has been selected to direct A. R. Slater's contract at BSC. He is a native of Idaho and his parents reside in Boise.

Other features of the contract include snack service in the residence halls, during examinations — special meals when requested by the college physician — delivery of trays to residence halls for ill students — operation of the training table for football and basketball teams — and the right of A. R. Slater to operate the general snack bar area and food and drink vending machines in the College Union.

There are more than 1,000 Uta mountains.

MR. AND MRS. TRIS L. MOORE

Mary Burton, Moore say vows

TWIN FALLS — Mary Kay Burton and Tris L. Moore were married in rites July 15 at Immanuel Lutheran Church, with Rev. David Atrops, Eden, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Burton, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Moore, Heyburn.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of candlelight satin with sheer organza sleeves made by her mother. The dress featured lace trim and a ruffled stand-up collar of organza and lace. Her tiered fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of seed pearls and lace borrowed from a friend. She carried a cascade bouquet of daisies and chrysanthemums of assorted colors on a white Bible.

Sheila Burton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Gayle Cheney and Dana Ostyn, both Twin Falls, were bridesmaids. Kent Moore, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were David Krieger, Twin Falls, and Steve Judd, Burley.

Michelle Moore, sister of the bridegroom, and Van Burton, brother of the bride, were candlelighters.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white lace over light blue and centered with a wedding cake iced in white and decorated with blue flowers. The cake was flanked with crystal candle holders holding blue candles.

Guests were seated at quartet tables decorated with miniature bride and bridegroom centerpieces.

Mrs. Brent Thompson, sister of the bridegroom, served cake. Coffee was purged by Mrs. Clyde Gillespie, Pocatello, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Marvin Fisher, Driggs, cousin of the bride, served punch.

After a wedding trip to Ketchum and Alturas Lake, the couple will reside in Heyburn. The bridegroom is employed by Massey-Ferguson Farm Equipment, Burley.

Couple exchanges marriage promise

FILER — The Peace Lutheran Church, Filer, was the setting of the July 15 wedding which united in marriage Becky Russler and Kent Lierman.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joan Aelkens, Modesto, Calif., and Lloyd Russler, Bellevue, Wash. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lierman, Filer.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Burton, pastor of the Jerome Lutheran Church. Background decorations featured large baskets of red and white gladioli and lighted tapers in candleabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length nylon gown over cotton, trimmed with lace and pearls. The gown featured an empire waistline, puffed sleeves and scalloped neckline. Her floor-length veil of illusion was held by a pearlized headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli accented with red.

Debbie Miller, St. Anthony, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Polly Russler, Modesto, sister of the bride, and Denese Ploss, Rupert.

Wade Clark, Blackfoot, was best man, and ushers were Brent Lierman, brother of the bridegroom, and Ray Baker, both Filer. Mrs. Joyce Harding was soloist and was accompanied by Mrs. Reuben Lierman who also played the wedding music.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a handmade lace cloth over red and centered with a three-tier wedding cake trimmed in red and silver and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom before a heart-shaped arch.

The cake was made by Mrs. Reuben Lierman, aunt of the bridegroom, and was served by Mrs. George Hulbert, Bellevue, Wash., sister of the bride. Punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Harold Young, Rupert, and Karen Ploss, Jerome. Carol Sturdivant, Modesto, Calif., registered the guests at a table covered with a lace cloth and featuring a miniature bride and groom.

The couple resides in Pocatello where the bridegroom is attending Idaho State University and is employed by Skyline Volkswagen. The bride is employed by the First Security Bank, Pocatello.

The bride was honored at a shower hosted by Denese Ploss and Karen Ploss. The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal supper.

Achievement Day set Aug. 4 in GF

GLENN'S FERRY — The Home Economic Achievement Day will be held at 10 a.m. Aug. 4 at the Glenn's Ferry High School.

The junior and intermediate demonstrations will begin at 10 a.m. Paula Bishop, a professional model from the Mountain Home Air Base, will give the seniors modeling instructions during this time. Then the seniors will take part in the judging contest.

The areas this year are laundry — methods, meal cooking, buying knives and lining fabrics, according to Mrs. Marilyn Jordan, Elmore County home extension agent.

The senior and special demonstration will begin at 1 p.m. Miss Bishop will give the seniors and intermediates modeling instruction at that time. Juniors and intermediates will take part in the judging contest. Areas they will be judging are measuring utensils, sorting, clothes, picnic menus and seam finishes.

All who will be in the style revue are urged to attend the modeling instruction.

Parents and teachers are invited to attend. Each child should bring money for lunch or a sack lunch. If anyone desires a ride, they should contact the extension office.

The judges will be Carolyn Barnes, area 4-H specialist; Mrs. Orville Locke, Mountain Home, and Mrs. Floyd Jack from the Mountain Home Air Force Base.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Charol T. Tilton-H. V. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My son was in Viet Nam for over a year, and when I heard he was coming home I started counting the hours.

Well, he came home, and guess where he went? Straight to his girl friend's house! I was so hurt I cried all night.

Abby, if you had a son and he did this to you, tell me, truthfully, how would you feel? HURT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I HAVE a son, and I can tell you truthfully, if my son had a girl waiting for him whom he couldn't wait to see, I'd not be hurt. I'd be grateful for his good fortune. (Many young men will not be coming home and many others will not have girl friends waiting for them.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my husband is 23. We have been married for two years and have no children.

My husband and I have come to the decision that we married too young, our marriage was a mistake, and we should go our separate ways. We have both gone for counseling, and there is no hard feeling between us, and I think we could probably still be friends after the divorce.

Our problem is how to tell our families. They knew we had been having our problems and had seen a marriage counselor, but they will be shocked when we tell them we have decided to split up. In fact, I'm afraid they might try to talk us out of it. We have grandparents on both sides who I'm sure would never understand it. If they ask us what happened or why we can't make a go of our marriage, what can we tell them?

This is the hardest part of breaking up. Can you help us? HIS AND HERS

DEAR H AND H: The less explaining you try to do, the better. Simply tell them that you have decided to end your marriage. And if they press you for details, say, "We'd rather not discuss it." Period.

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office all day long and in the evenings I do income tax. I have a lot of calling to do in the evening, but I am on a four-party telephone line and I have a terrible time getting the line.

These other parties are home all day, so I think they should use the phone during the daytime and leave it free for me to use at night.

I tell them to get off the line so I can use it, but sometimes they don't do it. Don't you think I have the right to use the phone in the evenings since I am never here to use it during the day? WORK TO DO

DEAR WORK: I think you deserve special consideration in the evenings because you never use the telephone during the day. But if you were to ASK them, instead of TELL them to get off the line, you'd probably have more luck.

DEAR ABBY: We've had a lot of trouble with our teenage son, and my next door neighbor keeps saying, "If he were MY kid, I'd kick him out of the house."

Maybe my neighbor is right, but I just can't see it. How should I answer him if he says it again? HEARTBROKEN DAD IN KANSAS CITY

DEAR DAD: Say, "If he were YOUR kid I'd probably kick him out of the house, but he's not YOUR kid, he's MINE."

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6790, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Safe diving tips given

BURLEY — The Snake River Diving Team lists information for boaters in regard to safety of divers.

Boaters should be on the alert for red flags or buoys on the water, which indicates that a diver is below, according to diving team officials.

The red flag is square in shape with a white diagonal line, and designates that boaters should stay at least 100 feet from the flag on all sides.

Local divers report that many person do not know what the flag or buoy is for and this causes a potential hazard to the diver. The flags or buoys are flown on the water only when there is a diver beneath the surface.

The diving team includes members for Cassia and Minidoka counties and the group of about 20 recently formed a club. The club is affiliated with the Mini-Cassia Search and Rescue Team.

The members have been called upon for assistance by law enforcement agencies of both counties and more recently they were called upon when the Burley City water pipe had to be repaired and raised from the Snake River where part of the pipe had dropped from the Burley-Paul bridge.

Through the past year diving members have assisted with locating persons who drowned in both counties.

The organization is for community service and pleasure, for many divers like to dive and explore the underwater world, just for fun.

Most of the diving by the members is done on weekends in the Snake River.

Strictly a volunteer organization, the members receive no reimbursement when called upon in emergencies, according to Kelly Reynolds, president.

Presently members are working to raise funds to purchase a compressor unit, which costs about $3,000 to provide air for the divers while under water.

Local residents who want something salvaged from Snake River or any body of water should contact Reynolds at 678-9855 or Dave Teeter 436-6392 for divers.

Agent speaks at 4-H meet

PAUL — Sharon LaFray, home agent, was guest speaker during the Crestview Cookies and Skirts 4-H Club meeting Tuesday at the home of Charles Roseberry.

A report on 4-H Camp was given by Mrs. LaFray. She also discussed Achievement Day and the county fair.

Mrs. Leonard Schenk spoke on the 4-H record books which members are to keep on their projects.

Connie Stepp gave a demonstration on "Kinds of Toast" and Shana Roseberry prepared and made cookies.

During the business meeting it was reported that the 4-H members sold cookies recently during the Crestview 59's Club meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Joe Kalisek and date will be announced.

South's queen loses to West's ace. A second diamond is led. The king of clubs is cashed and South has to abandon that suit.

He plays out his ace-king-queen and three of hearts.

If East wins that heart trick he can cash two heart tricks, but must give South the rest of the tricks in spades. If East has hung onto his deuce of hearts he lets the three-spot hold. The spade suit is shut out and West sets the hand by taking the last four tricks.

Afternoon clouds may show up

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert area.

Rain through Friday except a few afternoon clouds and threat of isolated thundershowers over the mountains. Lows tonight in the 50s with highs tomorrow in the 90s.

Outlook for Saturday, fair. Camas Prairie, Hailey and lower Wood River Valley. Fair through Friday except a few afternoon clouds and threat of isolated thundershowers over the mountains. Lows tonight 37 to 47 with highs tomorrow in the 80s.

The outlook for Saturday calls for continued fair weather.

Synopsis: Fair weather covers southern Idaho valleys with a few clouds over the central mountains and a couple of thundershowers near the Salmon River.

Early morning temperatures were in the upper 40s in southern Idaho to the upper 50s in the southwest.

Wednesday afternoon widely scattered thundershowers developed over southeastern Idaho valleys and most mountain areas. Idaho Falls recorded .08 inches and Pocatello .01 inches for the only measurable amounts. Gusty winds of up to 45 mph also occurred in the Pocatello area.

Afternoon temperatures on Wednesday ranged from 86 at Burley to 106 at King Hill.

The extended outlook through Monday indicates a continuation of the fair weather with highs in the 90s and lows in the 50s and 60s.

Mutual Funds

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q— Please explain bid, ask and previous bid in relation to mutual fund shares. I am also puzzled by the fact that in some cases bid and ask are identical.

— R.S.

A— The word bid, when associated with the shares of a mutual fund, represents the net asset value per share. Net asset value is the fund's total assets divided by the number of fund shares outstanding.

The word ask refers to the NAV plus sales charge. For those mutual funds where bid and ask are identical, there is no sales charge. These funds are referred to as no-load. The previous bid is self-explanatory, being the NAV of the previous trading session.

Q— We own shares of National Gypsum which are now less than half of what we paid. Would it be wise to take a loss or hold in the hopes they will move? — A.T.

A— Long range prospects are encouraging for National Gypsum (NYSE) and retention would be the wiser choice. Not only does the stock offer good growth potential, but a secure and generous return around 6 per cent. Crimping the shares' market activity are anti-trust complaints which have been brought against the firm in regard to past pricing of gypsum products.

Operationswise, National Gypsum is showing vast improvement. Following a 54 per cent earnings gain in 1971, the company posted a 128 per cent income rise in the initial 1972 March quarter on a 22 per cent sales gain.

Boisterous business are the roaring building pace and housing demand which have favorably affected results in National Gypsum's tile, cement and gypsum products plus wall coverings and mobile homes.

This trend is expected to extend throughout 1972 and beyond as the economy continues on its recovery course. Hold.

Plane readied

MALATHION IS PUMPED aboard a TBM Torpedo Bomber by employees of Aviation Specialties in preparation for the Blaine County grasshopper spraying program. The planes, based at the Hailey Airport, are expected to continue spray operations for three to five days.

Blaine 'hopper spraying under way

HAILEY — An 84,000-acre grasshopper spraying program is in progress in Blaine County. According to county extension agent James Eakin, the program includes 30,000 acres of private ground and encompasses four major project areas, lower Fish Creek, Muldoon, Dry Creek and the Picabo hills.

Spraying began Tuesday morning and concentrated in the area northeast of Carey. The entire program is expected to take from three to five days depending on the weather.

Contractor is Aviation Specialties, Mesa, Ariz., which uses two Navy surplus planes, a TBM Torpedo Bomber and a PV-2 Patrol Bomber, each rigged with wing spray booms. Pilot Dave Donahue said spraying is done only between the hours of 6 and 8 a.m. to achieve the proper wind, temperature and humidity conditions.

In the ultralow volume spraying program, pilots apply about eight ounces of malathion to each acre as they fly about 200 feet above the ground. Eakin said that the spray material has a low toxicity to warm blooded animals.

On Tuesday's run the PV-2 sprayed about 8,600 acres and the TBM about 5,000 acres. Following the spraying USDA officials check the kill rate.

Eakin said the thrust of the program is to stop immediate damage this year and, by reducing the number of grasshoppers, stem reproduction next fall. Only about 2,000 acres were sprayed last year, he said.

Preparations for the program began in late June with the formation of grasshopper control committees. These groups, working jointly with Roger Pollard, USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, investigated and set agreements with area ranchers and farmers to determine the feasibility of block spraying projects for dry grazing land.

The sailfish is the world's fastest game fish, according to the National Automobile Club. It has been clocked at nearly 70 miles per hour and can easily travel 80 mph.

At that time Eakin termed the grasshopper infestation "moderate to severe." He said the condition stemmed from ideal egg laying conditions

Cutting cost

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The rate of increase of total annual expenditures of America's institutions of higher education must be reduced in the 1970s. Through vigorous efforts, it should be possible to cut these expenditures by nearly $10 billion by 1980, compared with the annual sum that would be spent if the trends of the 1960s were continued. Those points were made in a new report from the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education.

The report's title gives a clue as to how this fiscal magic might be accomplished.

Hurricane insurance changes eyed

NEW YORK (UPI)—When hurricane Agnes slammed through the eastern states, causing rivers to rise and dams to break, only a small fraction of the estimated $2 billion loss it caused was covered by regular insurance.

The main reason, says the American Insurance Association, is that insurance companies do not know how to predict losses from hurricanes that produce floods. Consequently they make little or no effort to sell such coverage.

The association has concluded at long last that if the weatherman can predict the path of hurricanes, it ought to be possible to predict how much damage they will cause. Accordingly it is engaged in a large scale project to test the feasibility of that idea. If the theory proves to be workable, it could result in drastic changes in the storm insurance picture, says W.D. Swift, vice president of the association's property claims service division.

The study is being made with the help of McDonnell-Douglas Corp. of St. Louis, the builder of airliners. Aircraft people have a natural interest in hurricane tracking, so the St. Louis company is furnishing, through a data processing subsidiary, a computer to make simulated models of typical hurricanes.

The models will be built of data about the storms themselves and data about the communities and open country in the path of the storm—the nature and value of all kinds of property, the type of construction, the presence of dams, power lines and other hazards, and other pertinent factors, Swift said. A lot of this information will be filed into the computer simply by updating figures from previous storms.

With this as a working base, insurance companies hope to be able to tell brokers and customers what should be the "safe" level of storm damage coverage for their community. They will be able to determine how to spread the coverage and avoid having a single company take a catastrophic loss from one storm by having too much business concentrated in a single area.

Swift said the AIA was forced to take action because storm losses are growing. Even though most of the people hit by Agnes had little insurance and the Federal government is going to have to pay out to $1.7 billion in aid as a result, the national toll of insured storm losses for the industry hit $1.6 billion in one recent 12-month period, Swift noted.

"With today's high property values and the dense concentration of people due to population explosion, losses of $1 billion from a single storm may become a regular thing," Swift added.

Waremart saves those who help themselves.

Not long ago, grocery markets had one long counter and one tired clerk, who had to hand you every item of your choice. Then came the long aisles and the advantages of self service. But those were the days before many S-o-o-per Markets added costly "window dressings," such as chrome carts, super polished floors, lacquered shelves, magic-ceiling lighting ... and Overhead. Overhead is what gets added to your food costs. When the Overhead is too S-o-o-per ... so are your grocery bills.

That's where Waremart gets down to earth. On your grocery bills. We use the old-fashioned idea of saving you money, by not over-dressing the store. And we let you help yourself in a lot of old-fashioned ways. For instance, no bags (to tear out at the bottom). We give you empty cartons and a marking pencil; we cut the tops off the cases, slap a price sticker on the outside, with the cost of one item or the whole case (if you want a case), and let you loose to help yourself to big savings on nationally advertised brand items. There's great browsing and wide aisles of big savings ... all waiting for you to make a new habit of economy.

Feel like helping yourself to grocery savings? While you feed your family better? We can only open our doors. You have to help yourself from there on in. We may not be perfect, but the floors are clean and the goods are cheap. Heaven knows we love to save you money on your total grocery bill. We're cheap!

TF woman appointed editor

TWIN FALLS — Doris Paxton, investigator for the firm of May, May and Sudweeks, Twin Falls, has been appointed editor-publisher of the National Association of Legal Investigators newsletter. Her appointment was announced today by Tony Goled, Belleville, Ill., who was named national director for the association at the group's annual convention last week in New Orleans.

Membership in the association is nationwide, and Mrs. Paxton is one of only three women members.

She has been a member of the association for three years and has attended seminars and conventions in Las Vegas and Minneapolis.

She was regional director for the northwest region of seven western states in 1971-72 and covered the American Trial Lawyers convention in August in Portland in that capacity.

Mrs. Paxton will be responsible for the monthly newsletter published by the investigators' group.

150 4-H youths at camp

JEROME — Over 150 youths participated in a four-day 4-H Summer Camp at Ketchum.

The youths who are members of 4-H groups in Jerome County left Monday from the Jerome County courthouse, and will return Friday.

The theme for this year's camp is Youth Responsibility, with the teen leaders of the various groups having planned the programs that will be presented at the camp.

Some of the activities for the youngsters include a nature hike which will be under the leadership of Mike Peterson and Graydon Stanley; crafts which will be taught by Karla Hollifield and Nolita McCann assisted by Carol Lewis and Debbie Allison.

Outdoor cooking will be taught by Barbara Fuller and Sharon LaFray, and Gun safety by Jerome County Agent Bill Priest.

The counselors this year will be made up of the teen leaders from throughout Jerome County.

The camp will conclude with an athletic program and evening carnival.

POTATO BUSINESS is serious business, speakers at the Wednesday sessions of the Potato Association of America convention in Twin Falls contended. Participating in a speckle leaf potato disease symposium Wednesday were Herman Timm, Davis, Calif., president; M. L. Vitosh, W. G. Hoyman and H. E. Heggstad, speakers, from left.

Funds asked for Hailey Cemetery

HAILEY — Concern about grounds conditions at the Hailey Cemetery prompted a meeting of about 35 interested residents Wednesday night.

During the meeting, cemetery board chairman Rev. W. D. Ellway requested immediate donations, totaling $8,000 with $6,000 of the sum to go for additional watering facilities and the remainder to a complete resurvey of the cemetery.

Instead, the group opted to form a "Friends of the Hailey Cemetery Committee" to assess facility needs and to coordinate fund raising efforts. Emory Dietrich was elected chairman with William Burt selected as a committeeman. About six to 10 other members will be selected.

Dietrich said "the question right now is to get the grass green." He said a temporary system could be rigged, using fire hose if necessary, to an existing city hydrant and canal pump.

The committee chairman said that perhaps $1,000 a year could be spent on a permanent system. But he said "It's impossible to do it all now."

Selection of Dietrich followed comments by one Hailey resident that the cemetery "was a disgrace" and by another resident that this year was the first time in 24 years that the grass at the cemetery "burned up."

Rev. Ellway said "we have nothing in reserve. All income is used to maintain the cemetery." He said $410 was raised so far this year from grave sales, with another about $4,000 anticipated from taxes. Board member Charles Harris said the evaluation of the Hailey Cemetery district "still isn't high enough for maintenance and to put in improvements."

Harris termed the present watering system "inadequate" and said, under present conditions, a given area of the cemetery could only be watered every five or six days.

Driving course set

HAILEY — A defensive driving course will be offered in Hailey through the Idaho Department of Education.

The course, open to all interested residents, will begin Aug. 7 and will be conducted each Monday evening through August. The sessions have been scheduled for 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Blaine County courtroom.

Application forms are available at the county magistrate court office.

Picnic at Carey

CAREY — A meet-the-candidates potluck picnic has been scheduled for Friday night at the Carey fairgrounds.

Sponsored by the Blaine County Farm Bureau, the night will feature candidates for Blaine County and district 21 positions. The meeting is open to all interested residents and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Burley girl released

BURLEY — Naline Wayment, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garr Wayment, Burley, was treated and released at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

She was injured in a pedestrian-car accident.

John B. Gibson, 20, Paul, was driving a car south on Overland Avenue at 5:44 p.m. Tuesday. Gibson was traveling in the outside lane of traffic when a vehicle to his left slowed and stopped and the Wayment girl ran in front of both vehicles and was struck by the Gibson car.

Passengers in the Gibson vehicle were Dee Ann Warr, 18, Burley, and Michael Jolley, 21, Heyburn.

Officers of the Burley Police Department investigated.

Dr. Davis campaigns in valley

TWIN FALLS — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis said today President Nixon's tax program costs the country "billions of dollars annually."

He made his statement while campaigning in the Magic Valley area, making appearances in Twin Falls Wednesday and today, and appearing in other valley communities.

Davis cited an Internal Revenue Service study for 1969-70 that he said shows 43 per cent of all U.S. business corporations paid "not a cent" in federal income taxes.

"How many families can make a similar statement?" he said.

Davis, on leave from the presidency of Idaho State University, also charged a Republican opponent, Rep. James McClure, with being a benefactor of tax unfairness.

McClure, he said, had received his largest current campaign contribution from Gulf Oil Co., which "paid just a shade over one per cent in taxes on a net income of nearly a billion dollars in 1970."

"A thought for the day: American writer Anne Morrow Lindbergh said: 'The wave of the future is coming and there is no fighting it.'"

Air pollution reportedly stunts Idaho spud growth

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Air pollution effects on potato production were reviewed Wednesday during the Potato Association of America sessions here.

Speaking before industry leaders from throughout the United States and several foreign countries, H. E. Heggstad, U.S. Department of Agriculture Plant Science Research Division, Beltsville, Md., presented slides and research reports on "speckle leaf" disease.

Some of this damage, he said, has been traced to air pollution in test plots in Virginia. To counteract this, he said, the breeding program is developing new resistant varieties.

In answer to questions following the speckle leaf symposium, he said there are no smog free or air pollution free areas. Even in desert areas such as southern Idaho, Heggstad said, indicators show heavy pollution rates at some times during each growing season.

Other speakers on the speckle leaf disorder included W. G. Hoyman, also of the plant science research division, Prosser, Wash., and M. L. Vitosh, Michigan State University, department of crop and soil sciences.

Dr. Vitosh discussed the effects of nutrition and water management as a control measure in speckle leaf while Hoyman reported on systemic insecticides.

About 600 leaders in the potato industry are attending the week-long meeting at the College of Southern Idaho. Wednesday afternoon buses took several hundred delegates on a tour of new potato producing fields on the Bell Rapids Project near Hagerman and to inspect other growing and processing areas of the county.

Friday the group will visit the Aberdeen experiment station to inspect test plots and review research programs there in disease and production.

Today speakers continue to review disease and control measures being developed through research. Speakers also covered the potato utilization phases of the potato industry.

Horace K. Burr, western marketing and nutrition research division, USDA, Berkeley, Calif., discussed diffusion of moisture within the thawed French fried potato product. He said when the frozen par-fried potatoes are thawed and held at refrigerator temperatures for several hours they absorb more oil, lose more moisture and give lower quality products during the final frying.

Mary V. Zaehringer, University of Idaho food specialist, told the potato men unwrapped and foil wrapped tubers show very little if any difference in mealiness following baking.

Plant at Buhl re-opens today

BUHL — Rendering was expected to start today at the Cascade Commodities Corp. plant near Buhl.

Gordon Carter, co-owner of the plant, said a truck was in the Castleford area this morning and was expected to supply dead livestock to get the firm's equipment.

The plant was shut down by court order a year ago and was allowed to reopen under ruling of the Idaho Supreme Court. Company officials expect to operate the plant in a test run for a maximum of two weeks to test deodorizing equipment.

Mel Carter, also a co-owner, said Wednesday "This is just a test to see if the equipment we installed over a year ago to remove odors from our operation is satisfactory. So far, we can say it has been able to remove odors."

The boilers and cookers at the firm were put into operation Tuesday for the trial period Carter said.

He said the cleanup began Monday and a boiler expert came in to check boilers and put them in shape. Tuesday they were fired up and boilers and cookers were going. Carter said he could not afford to go back into full operation at this time, after a year's lapse in plant operation, but has six employees on duty now for the test.

He said a maximum of two weeks will be needed and if it can be established in four or five days time that deodorizers are functioning properly the plant will shut down.

Carter said he was advised by his attorneys to operate for a test period to gain evidence for the Aug. 8 trial before District Judge Sherman Bellwood, Rupert, to determine if the plant is to be allowed to operate.

Residents in the area brought action more than a year ago on grounds odors from the rendering operation constituted a nuisance and made it unbearable to enjoy their homes and yards located in the vicinity of the plant.

District Judge James M. Cunningham, who has now disqualified himself from the case, ruled the plant be closed after affidavits were filed indicating the plant was continuing to emit odors despite a temporary injunction.

Board may have to finance vote

Complicating the situation is an apparent error in the state's law books apparently eliminating voter qualifications in airport authority elections.

This resulted, according to Church, when legislation authorizing formation of the regional airport authorities was passed. It stipulated the qualifications for voters in airport authority elections be the same as for any other election.

These qualifications were spelled out in Section 34-401 of the Idaho Code. As originally written, 34-401 specified voters' qualifications. Later the election law was amended and Section 34-401 had nothing to do with voters' qualifications.

Currently, Church said, Section 34-402, contains the law on qualifications. It is acceptable for anyone reading the law but not for airport authority elections. That law stipulates that the qualifications are to be found in 34-401, which now says that voters are immune from arrest at the polling places.

The only "out" appears to be a stipulation in the airport authority legislation that the original members of the board, including Forschler, would continue in office until their successors are duly elected.

Forschler may be able to stay in office by default until the question can be settled, Church said. The attorney said he will continue to investigate the possibilities.

GOP senatorial hopeful opens TF headquarters

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Republican senatorial candidate George Hansen opened his Twin Falls campaign office Wednesday.

Hansen opened his Twin Falls campaign office Wednesday, and took the opportunity to call for a balance federal budget. "Citizens are growing tired of having to pick up the tab every time Congress goes on a wild spending spree," the former congressman said. "We must put a stop to deficit spending and lighten the heavy load which inflation and high taxes are placing on Americans."

Hansen spent the day in the Twin Falls area Wednesday, appearing at a candidates forum sponsored by the city GOP women and also meeting voters at a home in Kimberly.

As part of fiscal reform in the country, Hansen called for a constitutional amendment to prohibit the federal government from spending more money than it raises in revenues. He said there would be certain "emergency" exceptions to the law, for cases of war and other extraordinary circumstances. Hansen also called upon the Congress to return taxpayers' withholding dollar with interest payments at the end of the year.

He declined to estimate what the program would cost the federal government, but said the interest rate should reflect current Farmer's Home Administration standardized interest rates.

As an alternative to an interest payment program, the candidate urged that citizens have the right to keep their entire earnings until the end of the fiscal year and pay their taxes with one check.

"People should have the right to keep their money and pay taxes at the end of the year," he said.

Hansen also said that he would work vigorously for repeal of federal gun control legislation.

"I would do more than vote a blank," he said of gun control legislation. "I would take the offensive and start working toward repeal. I would get it (gun control) out of the federal level."

Attacks tax laws

DEMOCRATIC SENATORIAL candidate William E. (Bud) Davis, campaigning in the Magic Valley Wednesday and Thursday, attacked the nation's tax laws as "an astounding exercise in tax unfairness."

Plan for sessions

Seminar on dying slated in Twin Falls Aug. 16-17

TWIN FALLS — A seminar entitled "Living With Dying" is scheduled in Twin Falls Aug. 16 and 17 for all persons dealing with terminal illness.

The two-day session, which will include a separate session for physicians, is sponsored by several medical groups and the Twin Falls Ministerial Association, said Rev. Leslie Brown, Valley Christian church.

Faculty members include Dr. Ronald Koons, chief, department of radio therapy; John J. Dawson, chaplain and patient counselor, and Shirley Koons, nursing coordinator, all of the Mountain States Tumor Institute, Boise.

This team has led similar seminars throughout Idaho and the intermountain region, Rev. Brown said.

The session for physicians is scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 16 in the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital conference room and will deal with emotional support for terminal patients and their families, according to R. Blaine Durrant, executive director, Southeastern Idaho Center for Health Resources, Inc., Idaho State University, Pocatello.

He was in Twin Falls Tuesday to coordinate plans for the seminar with Rev. Brown and Delores Sims, community coordinator for the Mountain States Regional Medical program, one of the sponsors of the event.

On Aug. 17 a full day of CONFERRING ON PLANS for a seminar set Aug. 16 and 17 in Twin Falls are R. Blaine Durrant, left, executive director, Southeastern Idaho Center for Health Resources, Inc., Pocatello, with Rev. Leslie Brown and Delores Sims, nursing community coordinator for the Mountain States Regional Medical program, both Twin Falls.

sessions is slated at the First Presbyterian church, 209 Fifth Ave. N., Twin Falls, for clergy, nurses and other interested individuals.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. with case studies, films and discussion on terminally ill patients and their families. After lunch there will be follow-up discussions, and a question period from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Durrant said the three-member faculty has had much experience in dealing with terminally ill patients and the members have been closely associated with Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, considered the national authority on death and dying. She has been in Idaho several times to work with the faculty for the seminar.

Sponsors of the seminar, in addition to the ministerial association, are the Mountain States Regional Medical Program, Intermountain Regional Medical Program and the Southeastern Idaho Center for Health Resources, Inc.

Cousins club has picnic

TWIN FALLS — A picnic for members of the Country Cousins 4-H Club was planned at a Tuesday meeting of the group.

The picnic, to be directed by Rhett Massey, will be held on the day of the Twin Falls County Achievement Day.

Teen leader Janet Burkhart discussed judging procedures with members in both the junior and senior divisions. She also showed the group a film on choosing the correct knife.

Members took part in a quiz on measurements. Bonnie Hansen gave a demonstration on the use of an iron-on sewing aid. Miss Burkhart presented a demonstration on the freezing of pies and cakes.

In the capacity of recreation chairman, Miss Hansen directed the group in a handicraft project.

The next meeting will be Aug. 8 at the home of Karen and Shari Stoker, Buhl.

Minidoka hospital to install new PBX unit

RUPERT — Installation of a $27,000 private business exchange (PBX) unit is scheduled for completion Aug. 31 at Minidoka County Memorial Hospital.

The new unit will have a capacity of 40 trunks and 100 extensions, replacing the old system of six trunks and 70 extensions.

Project Mutual Telephone Co. of Rupert is installing the system, considered the latest development in PBX units. All telephones will be touch-tone and of the "Slenderette" model for the convenience of patients, Ed Richardson, hospital administrator, said.

Installation of the equipment began about three months ago with Wes Creamer and Jim Hausheer of Project Mutual as principal installers. They have been installing the new unit strictly from the parts manual.

The new system has many advantages, according to Richardson. When a caller to the hospital dials a busy line, the computerized system will switch to another line and hold the call until the operator is free. There is a station answering service for night calls which will automatically switch calls to one of several previously programmed stations.

In case of any malfunction, the main unit will switch over to a stand-by system until repairs can be made. The system also contains a conference circuit, a paging system, and is compatible with data phones, and coronary care units.

The electrocardiograph data phone system which has been in operation for about two years will work efficiently with the new PBX unit, Richardson said. The electrocardiograph system is said to lower by 30 per cent the heart patient fatalities which would occur without the system.

Also under construction is a 1,500 square foot storage area which will be completed within two weeks. Work on the facility began about one month ago by Fred Haynes Construction Co. of Rupert. It will cost about $7,500.

Jerome rally held for Paul Whaley

JEROME — A rally and potluck dinner were held Tuesday night for independent sheriff candidate Paul Whaley. The event was held at the Jerome City Park.

Whaley, running as a write-in candidate against eight other declared candidates, spoke to the group of his 10-point program and his plans for the sheriff's office.

Whaley said he believes Jerome County needs a fully trained deputy force trained in investigation, first aid, rescue and fire fighting.

"It has been my experience that many times the police officer at the scene of a bad accident is at a loss of what to do for the injured because they have not been duly trained. My deputy force would be trained to handle each and every incident," Whaley said.

Whaley also proposed a program for crime prevention, for businesses, farms and homes.

"I've had many years in security work and I feel the training I received with the FBI and its security procedures is adequate to provide help in providing security techniques in Jerome County. It also is my belief the sheriff's department has a duty to keep the public informed as to the activities of the sheriff's department," he said.

"I entered the race to win," he said, "and believe I will win in the primary election and also the general election in November even though my name will have to be written on the ballot. I feel the citizens of Jerome County are ready for a change to up to the minute law enforcement protection," he said.

A caravan will be held Aug. 3 and those wishing to attend are asked to meet at 4:30 p.m. at the city park. A tour through the east part of the county and a rally following in Jerome will be held.

Whaley is expected to be in the Eden and Hazelton area this Thursday and was a guest speaker at the Jerome Chamber of Commerce noon luncheon today.

Country and western entertainment was provided at the Tuesday night rally by members of the Blue Grass Express.

Why doesn't somebody else make a whiskey taste soft? It's a free country.

It took us many years, thousands of tests and millions of dollars to come up with a soft whiskey. To do it we had to break a lot of whiskey-making traditions. We think you'll find the end result was well worth it.

An 86 proof whiskey that's even soft enough to drink straight up. If somebody else wants to make a whiskey that tastes as soft as Calvert Extra, they'll have to do it the way we did. The hard way.

Contests Friday at Lincoln fair

SHOSHONE — The 4-H demonstration contest for Lincoln County will be at 8 p.m. Friday prior to the Aug. 4-5 county fair.

David Porter is in charge of the agricultural contests, and Curley and Jean Jones will handle the home economics and special demonstrations.

Stacie Churchman is in charge of the forestry identification contest and the entomology identification contest will be under direction of Terry Hopkins.

As many demonstrations and/or illustrated talks may be entered as club leaders desire. Demonstrations will be limited to 20 minutes for seniors, 15 minutes for intermediates and 10 minutes for juniors.

The three winning demonstrations or illustrated talks will enter the district fair at Jerome. Members of the demonstrating teams or individuals will receive ribbons with points corresponding to miscellaneous exhibits.

The junior contest is for 10, 11 and 12 year olds; the intermediate for 13 and 14 year olds, and senior for 15 and up.

The Future Farmers of America judging contest will be under direction of Gail Serr, high school instructor.

All FFA members are eligible to enter the livestock judging contest. Each contestant must place one class each of hogs, sheep, dairy cattle and beef cattle.

Ten minutes will be allowed for placing each class.

The three high scoring members will be the team eligible to compete at the district fair.

Ribbons and points will be allowed as for the 4-H contest.

Harvest slows

BOISE (UPI) — Grain and hay harvesting operations were held up last week as cool weather and scattered rains occurred in much of Idaho, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The rains were especially beneficial to north Idaho crops giving them a final watering before they mature.

According to the department, Southern Idaho crops are more advanced and the rain did help pastures and later fields of grain.

Winter small grain harvest is now 10 to 15 per cent complete in Southwestern Idaho, and beginning in other parts of the state, according to the department.

Lamb lunch, auction set at Filer ram sale

FILER — The 51st annual ram sale of the Idaho Wool Growers Association Aug. 5 will feature lamb chop lunch prepared by the auxiliary.

Another feature of this year's sale will be the auction of three sheep by the auxiliary to raise funds for the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest and to send state winners to the national contest in Washington, D. C., in January.

Wool growers who have donated the sheep are Steve, Shan and Lawson Howland, Cambridge — a Suffolk ram; Rich Sheep Co., Burley — a Panama ram, and O. A. Murray, Boise — a registered Corriedale ewe.

The Filer Kiwanis Club and business men of Filer will be hosts for all consignors for the annual dinner Friday night. Fred Laidlaw, Carey is chairman of the ram sale committee.

Consignors to the sale this year include Mrs. E. R. Kelsey and Soren P. Nielsen, both Burley; George Babcock, Hagerman; Emil Klimes, Jerome; Reed Hulet, Wendell; Michael Neal, Gooding; Fred Laidlaw, Carey; Charles Kimball, Hazelton; Lyle Barton, Heburn.

Lamb, wool yields sink to low marks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Production of lamb and wool this year will be down to the lowest levels on record, the Agriculture Department reports.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said the 1972 lamb crop is now estimated at 12,442,000 head, down 4 per cent from 1971. This is the smallest crop listed in a record series dating back to 1924.

Officials also said production of shorn wool for 1972 is estimated at 152.5 million pounds, down 4 per cent from last year. The figure is the smallest recorded in records dating back to 1909.

Bureau slates candidate meet

JEROME — The Jerome County Farm Bureau wants to have the Occupational Safety and Health Act which was enacted by the federal government repealed.

He said it was the general feeling of Jerome County farmers that the act is unfair and unjust since under the act an inspector could enter a farm and determine that the farmer was in violation of the act and levy a fine against him.

Another resolution approved by the board dealt with treating 18-year-olds as adults now that the law has recognized them to be adults.

Ammonia prevents corn mold damage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department scientists today announced a discovery which they said may lead to development of waste-preventing new methods of handling wet corn harvested with picker-sheller machines.

The discovery, Ammonia can kill molds that spoil wet corn in storage.

Officials said success with using ammonia as a preservative has been reported after experiments at the Agricultural Research Service Laboratory in Peoria, Ill.

They said the breakthrough would be followed up by experiments in feeding ammoniatreated corn to livestock and in research aimed at preventing air pollution and human discomfort in handling ammonia-treated corn.

When corn is harvested with picker-shellers, experts explained, its high moisture content of 20 per cent or more encourages mold and fungus growth. As a result, some 250 million bushels of corn spoils in storage annually.

Appointed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, has announced that Richard F. Stahger of Idaho Falls has been asked to serve on the horse industry advisory committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Gem vets benefits hiked

BOISE — About 7,400 Idaho veterans with service-connected disabilities will receive a 10 per cent cost of living increase in their September check.

Loryn E. Kopan, Veteran's Administration Center director, Boise, stressed the increase will be paid automatically and eligible veterans need not contact the VA to receive it.

"With the 10 per cent increase, a 50 per cent disabled single veteran's compensation would go from $135 to $149 a month, and a 100 per cent disabled single veteran would receive $495 monthly instead of $450," Kopan said.

Married veterans with disabilities rated 50 percent or higher will also get a 10 per cent hike in their dependent's allowances.

In addition, the increase provides a $150 a year clothing allowance for veterans who wear prosthetic devices because of service-connected disabilities, if these devices tend to wear or tear clothing.

Another provision of the new law makes peacetime veterans eligible for compensation at the same rate as wartime veterans instead of the 80 per cent of wartime rate which has been in effect for 40 years.

However, this equalization provision will not go into effect until July 1, 1973.

"Compensation is paid to veterans whose injuries or diseases were incurred in the line of duty or aggravated by it, and who were discharged or separated under other than dishonorable conditions," Kopan said.

Nominated

Ketchum man held

KETCHUM — A second Ketchum man has been arrested in connection with a July 13 drug raid on a Ketchum residence.

Ketchum Police Department officers Tuesday charged Michael A. Mylnar, 27, Ketchum, with manufacture of a controlled substance, a felony.

After arraignment in Blaine County Magistrate Court, Mylnar was released on $200 bond. No preliminary hearing date has been scheduled.

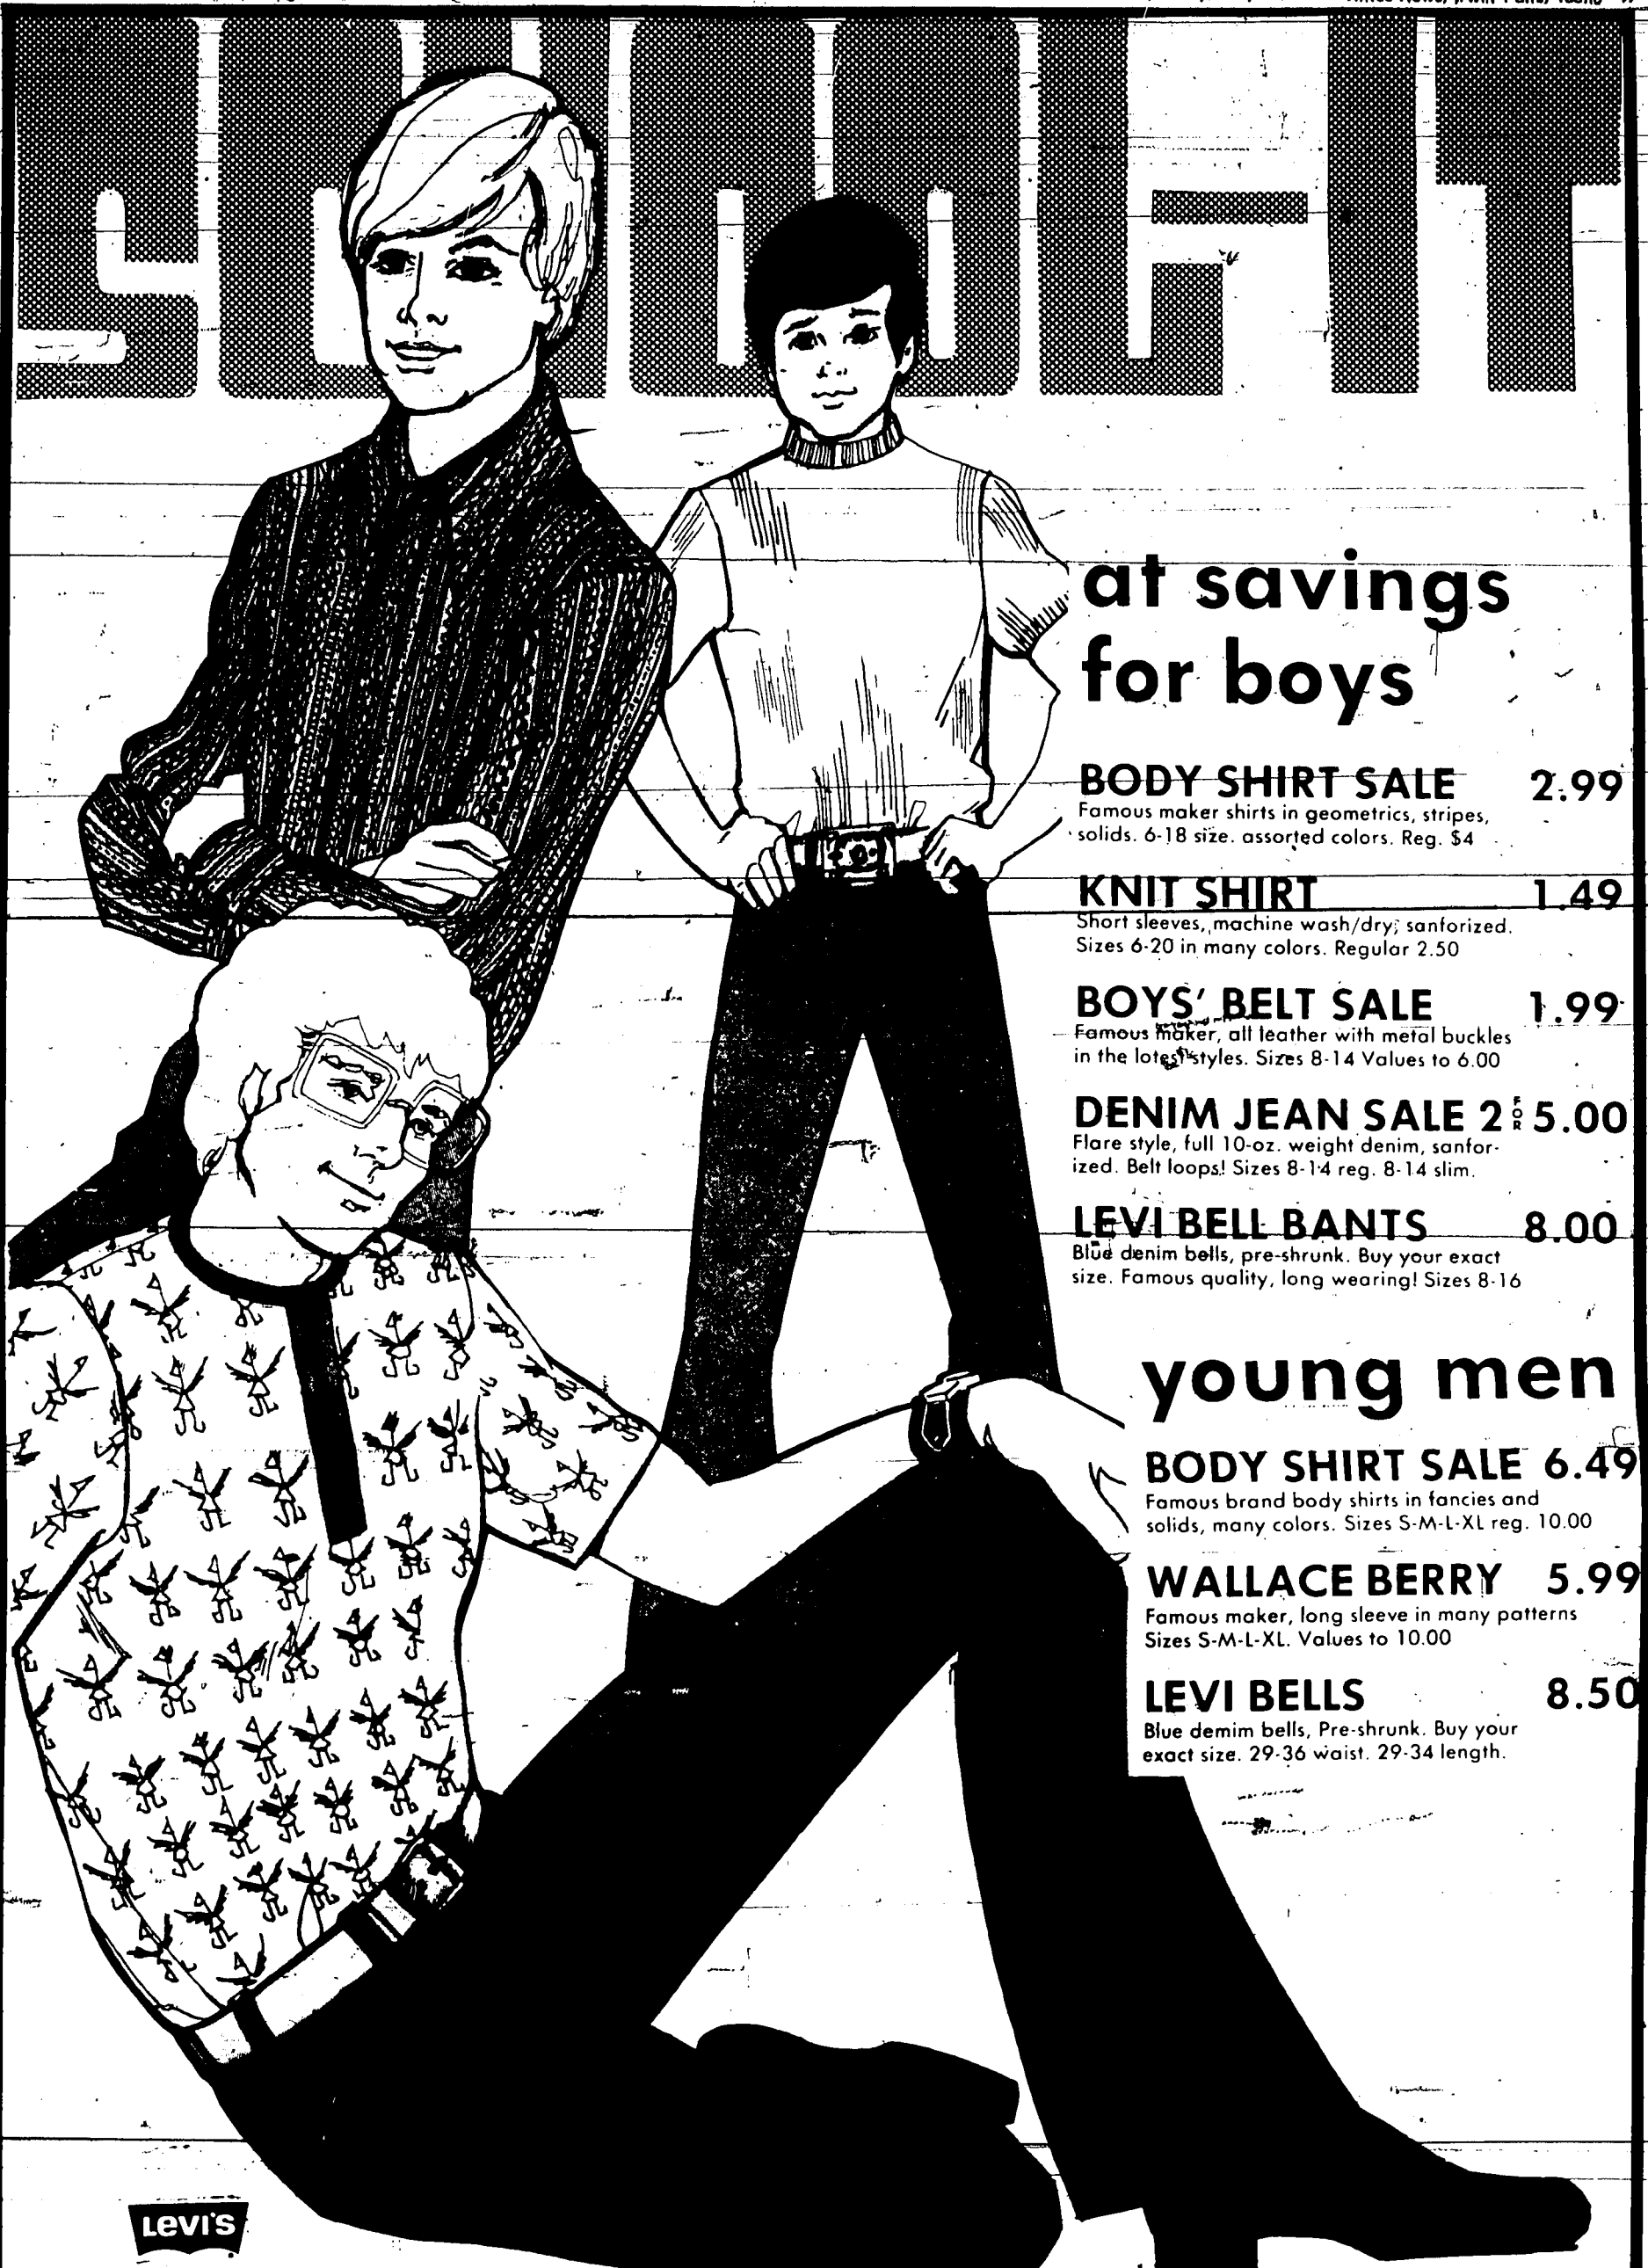

On July 17 officers arrested another resident of the home, Robert Griswold, 26 Ketchum, also on a charge of manufacture of a controlled substance. He is free on a $200 bond.

During the raid, officers confiscated about 55 marijuana plants, according to Ketchum Police Chief Dennis Haynes.

ABA picks new chief

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert Carlson, a Wall Street attorney who has represented the American Basketball Association in many legal hassles the past few years, Wednesday accepted the job as ABA commissioner.

By The United Press

With 1,065 games of the long major league baseball season on the record books the expert odds makers have decreed that the race between the Detroit Tigers and Baltimore Orioles in the American League East is the only one of four divisional races which is not "locked up."

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds in the National League East and West Divisions, respectively and the Oakland Athletics in the American League West are listed as prohibitive 1-8 favorites. Their first-place margins when play resumes in both leagues tonight after the All-Star break are 5 1-2 games for the Pirates, six for the Reds and 6 1-2 for the A's. The three-time AL champion Orioles trail the Tigers by one game in the AL East but are favored to win the division crown at 4-5 odds. The Tigers are listed at 7-5 despite their current first-place status.

Within the baseball establishment, however, there is still the belief that close races will develop in at least two of the other three divisions. The Pirates' and Reds' pitching staffs are still suspect among baseball men who see how the Mets in the NL East and the Houston Astros in the NL West could make up ground rapidly and close in on the front-runners.

The Athletics seem to be the safest bet to win their division title on the strength of a pitching staff anchored by Jim Hunter and all-around offensive and defensive skills which appear superior to those of the second-place Chicago White Sox.

The Tigers are atop the AL East Division on the strength of a well-balanced offense and defense plus the powerful pitching of 17-game winner Mickey Lolich, who seems to be emerging as everybody's choice as the No. 1 pitcher in the game today. The Orioles, meanwhile, have been transformed by Manager Earl Weaver from a team dependent on veterans to one dependent on young players.

Carlson, 47, succeeds Jack Dolph, who resigned unexpectedly on June 2 for personal reasons. Carlson, who acted as legal counsel for the New York Nets and was a member of the ABA merger committee, will assume his duties immediately. Just how long Carlson's duties will last is uncertain with the eventual merger between the ABA and the National Basketball Association almost sure to be put into legislation after the coming season.

"I will serve as long as they need me," said Carlson. "I have severed all my communications with my firm as of July 31. If a merger occurs I would go back to the firm."

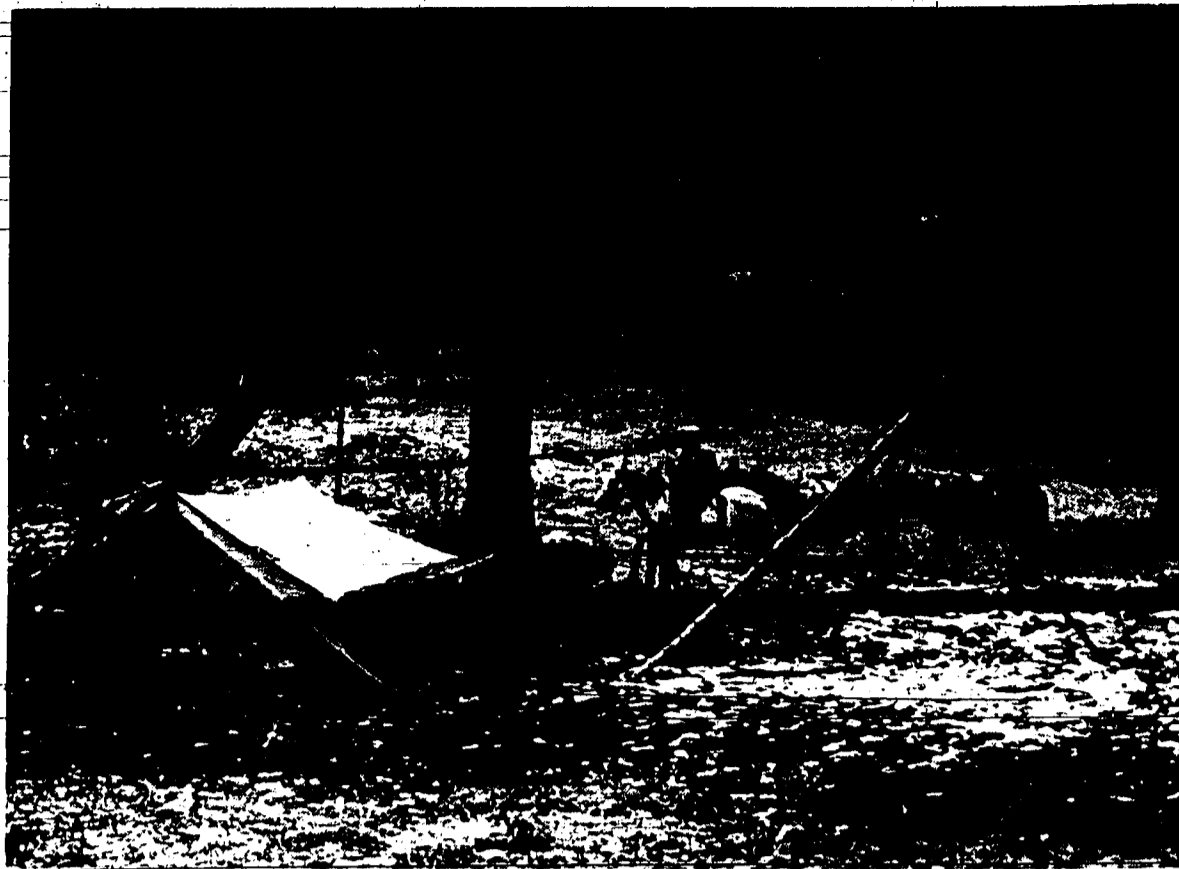

"But we have to make plans to operate and be successful on our own. We will be a 10-team league this year. I am not at liberty to discuss which franchise will be added but an announcement will be made within the next week." The ABA was reduced to a nine-team league recently when the Pittsburgh and Floridian teams were disbanded.

Carlson, a graduate of Harvard and the Harvard Law School, was hand-picked for the job by the league trustees. "The trustees considered numerous candidates and unanimously decided Bob was the best man for the position," said Tedd Munchak, owner of the Carolina Cougars. "Much of our decision was based on his vast experience and insight into the problems and goals of the ABA and of pro basketball and his working knowledge of the league."

Asked why he took the job, knowing full well that the eventual merger would strip him of all his power as commissioner, Carlson replied: "My wife asked me the same question. I guess it's because I like professional basketball and it seemed like an ideal way for me to become more deeply involved in it."

Carlson said he expected to have complete control and authorization of the league, a situation that Dolph never could attain and eventually led to his resignation.

One of Carlson's first tasks as commissioner will be to get a television package for the league which has been hurt by the lack of exposure over the years.

Plan hunt

BIG GAME CAMPS are twice as comfortable and rewarding if the result of careful and long range planning. Idaho hunters anticipating such a trek this fall are urged by the Idaho Fish and Game Department to start making preparations now.

Careful planning of hunting trips can be enjoyable, promote success

By STU MURRELL
Idaho Fish and Game Dept.

JEROME — It's that time of year when a big game hunter should start planning his hunt for next fall.

Planning is one of the most enjoyable parts of a hunting trip and involves quite a bit of preparation, particularly if a hunter is going into a new area. The Idaho Fish and Game Department can quite often supply information on the number of animals bagged in each unit which provides the hunter with an indication of where some of the better areas are located for the species in which he is interested.

The next step and one of the most important is obtaining maps which show the type of features a hunter needs — such as trails, roads, prominent mountains, etc. If it is on national forest lands, one of the best is a large scale map of the forest which is printed one-half inch to the mile.

There are also free maps of the national forests that show main roads and some topographic detail, but are usually not as detailed as most hunters would like. Both of these types are available from the supervisor's office for that particular forest.

If your hunting area is on Bureau of Land Management lands, their offices can provide a general recreation map showing public lands in the whole state which is valuable for showing the general location of federal and state lands. Again, it is not detailed enough for most hunters.

The most detailed maps are available from the U.S. Geological Survey, GSA Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20242 and are called quadrangles. The best way to find out which ones are available is to write them requesting the free index map for the state you will be hunting in.

These show vegetative types which is very important for determining where your animals may be. One comment the fish and game department does not have detailed maps with the exception of some general hand-outs on lakes and reservoirs, and national forest maps.

Once you have your maps, study them carefully so you know where the landmarks are, such as roads, streams, mountains, etc., and it will not only help you in planning your hunt but may prevent you from getting lost once you're hunting.

An ideal situation is to take a scouting trip into the area during the summer to better acquaint yourself with any problems with road conditions and use of areas by wildlife. If you can talk with the local conservation officer or local residents on expected conditions during the hunting season, it can be quite helpful.

The next item you should consider is equipment needed for the hunt. Does the road require a four-wheel drive in the fall for access — what type of clothing should you wear — are your regular hunting boots going to be adequate for the terrain and weather or should you get some specialized ones — is your gun and ammo proper for the job — do you have adequate equipment to properly dress out a big bull elk, for example — if you're to use horses, are all the saddles, packs, etc., in good repair, and what food will be needed. These are all questions you should ask yourself early in the year.

The next steps are sighting in your rifle and getting used to it. I like to sight my 30.06 in at three-inches high at 100 yards, which puts it on at about 275, and is a good setting for most deer or elk hunting in Idaho.

I also will shoot about 100 rounds at rocks or jacks at various distances while walking around the hills which gives me practice at range estimation, breaks in my new boots if I have recently purchased some, and familiarizes myself with the gun such as mounting it quickly, getting the sight in line, and working the action.

Each year we have many cripples left in the woods because hunters failed to sight in their gun and are not familiar with its effective range.

Finally, you should condition yourself for the type of hunting you are planning. It may involve some summer backpacking, if you are planning to backpack out your game, or some horseback riding to get some other parts of your body in shape. Don't let a heart attack, or even a minor thing like sore feet spoil your hunt.

Buhl hosts Idaho 'B' Legion meet

BUHL — Buhl will host the state class "B" Legion tournament Aug. 3 through 5, with defending champion Lewiston rated as the favorite.

The meet will be double elimination with three regional champions going against Buhl, seeded into the first-eight feature game spot as host team. The meet will have two games Aug. 3 and 4, starting at 5 and 8 p.m., at Faris Field. The second game of Aug. 5 will be the championship battle unless the once-defeated team beats the unbeaten squad. In that case, the meet will wind up with an extra game at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 6.

The class "B" is actually a misnomer which only separates the division from the larger towns' first team. It is composed of communities fielding teams that derive their manpower from high schools of less than 500 enrollment. However, all towns are eligible to compete in "B" competition a first team, or A team, is also fielded.

The three regionals sending champions to Buhl will be northern Idaho, the geographical area north of the river from Jerome and including all the Boise Valley area, and the eastern division including Twin Falls 'B' team to eastern Idaho.

Regional tournaments are scheduled to wind up by this weekend at which time the Buhl tournament committee will announce the first-round pairings.

Argos topple Montreal 24-15

MONTREAL (UPI)—Former Notre Dame star Joe Theismann threw two touchdown passes to Mike Eber Wednesday night to lead the Toronto Argonauts to a 24-15 victory over the Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian Football League's final pre-season contest.

Turf Club stuns Alley

TWIN FALLS — Long suffering Turf Club put the finishing touches on the Pacific division slowpitch title chase Wednesday night by drilling the Alley 16-6.

Borup and Espil had off-setting homers for the winners and losers, respectively.

Coors-First Federal belted Maxie's Pizza 15-7 despite a homer by Clark Rolfe, Gunter and Ash homered for Cain's in a 28-14 breeze over Haney Seed with Gartner homering for the losers.

Keebler Cookie outlasted Stan's Chevron 16-14 with Stanger hitting one for Stan's and Howard's homerun helped Blue Lakes Volkswagen beat Twin Falls Bank and Trust 9-2. Lewis cracked two homers and Paul Epperson one as Theisen Motor drilled Olympia Beer 12-3.

T.F. ousts Burley in Legion tourney

BURLEY Kevin Nelson and Mike Anderson combined for a no-hitter as the Twin Falls Legion won "Phase one" of the district baseball tournament 9-0.

By winning against Burley Wednesday night, the best of three series in two straight, Twin Falls earned the right to play at Mountain Home Aug. 3-4 in another best of three series, compliments of the Legion baseball collective minds at Lewiston, Mountain Home had complained it never has had the home field advantage. Lewiston also is hosting the state and regional tournaments, the state Aug. 10-14 and regional the weekend after.

In between the longest district tournament in history (for a three-team field) Twin Falls will host the Boise Senators in a three-game set Saturday and Sunday at Jaycee Park. The two will play a twin bill at 6 and 8 p.m. Saturday with a single game at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Nelson and Anderson were virtually untouchable against the young Burley club. They combined for 21 strikeouts with Nelson getting 11 in five innings and Anderson 10 in four innings.

Twin Falls wrapped up all its scoring in two big frames, the second and eighth.

The five-run second started with two away when Darrell Groves was hit by a pitch and stole second base. Dennis Warburton, coming on strong with the bat the past several games, scored him with a single and Kerry Wentworth, Rick Spriggs and Mark Hanchey all followed with run-scoring hits. Mike Fries wound it up with a two-run single.

In the eighth, Dick Walker doubled and moved to third while Wentworth was walking and then stealing second base. Spriggs singled Walker home before Hanchey and Mike Gabica drew walks, Gabica getting an RBI. Nelson unloaded a two-run single to wrap up scoring.

Bucs can't call series critical yet

PITTSBURGH (UPI) Pirate manager Bill Virdon doesn't look upon the three game series with the New York Mets as a crucial one.

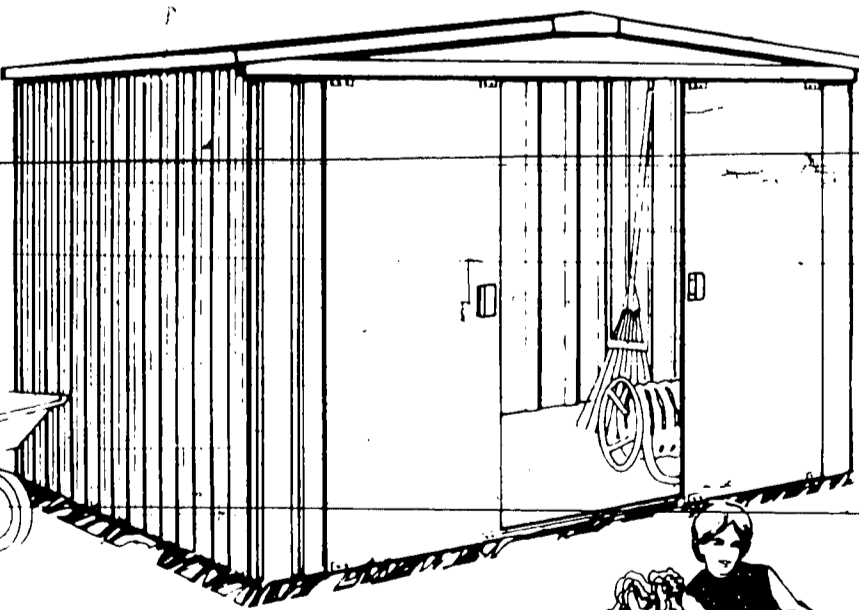

"It's too early for that," Virdon said. "The games are important, of course, but not critical — not yet."

The first two games will be played tonight in a two-night doubleheader and the Pirates will be without their ace rightfielder, Roberto Clemente. Clemente, who missed 12 games earlier with a virus infection, has been slowed by swollen heels. He is batting .310 and has knocked in 42 runs this year.

A Pirate spokesman said Clemente might be out for several days.

Landry says he'll call plays again

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—With the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys' first test of the season only two days away, Coach Tom Landry fielded the inevitable question Wednesday.

"I'll call the plays," Landry said. "And you don't have to ask me that any more this year."

So in one quick sentence Landry not only wiped out the chances of quarterback Roger Staubach getting to run the club Friday night against the College All-Stars, but he seemed to settle the matter for the season.

So with that out of the way Landry wanted to talk about the all-stars who he thought would give the Cowboys the most trouble.

"I think Bobby Moore—a running back from Oregon and the St. Louis Cardinals) and Riley Odums (a tight end of the University of Houston and the Denver Broncos) will be key factors in this game," Landry said.

"These are people with the ability to make the play. And on defense their linemen and linebackers seem to be a very active bunch. But you really have to watch Willie Buchanan (defensive back from San Diego State and Green Bay). He was the best cornerback in college last year."

"We have to stop the big play against them because it could give them a real emotional lift. But the all-stars have to control our offense, too, and not let us run against them."

"When you are favored so much you have a heck of a lot to lose. But our players have a good attitude and they have worked hard."

Landry plans to start the same lineup against the all-stars that started the Super Bowl game last January against Miami with the exception of Ralph Neely at left tackle in place of Tony Liscio, who has retired.

There could be another change, however, if tight end Mike Ditka does not appear healed enough to play in the all-star contest. Ditka has been hobbled the past week with a pulled hamstring muscle.

"I assume Ditka will play," said Landry. "But I will really have to wait until just before the game and see how he is running."

Because this is the earliest pre-season game the Cowboys have ever played, their hard core conditioning work was reduced this year. But Landry does not think that will mean any trouble later in the year.

"This is the best conditioned pro team I've ever seen," Landry said. "Our players have become firm believers in the off-season conditioning program, and you can see the results."

"We don't intend to lose this one. There's always a certain amount of pride involved when the NFL champion meets the all-stars."

Sturgeon study on Snake River set

BOISE — The Idaho Fish and Game Department is beginning a study to examine the condition of the white sturgeon population in the Swan Falls-Guffy area of the Snake River.

Biologists have set-up a study area to evaluate the (1) age, (2) growth rate, (3) food habits, (4) habitat preferences, and (5) limited movements of the sturgeon below Swan Falls dam.

From this information, the department hopes to better understand what the effects of impounding the Snake River at Guffy dam site might have on the sturgeon population, according to William Goodnight, Kuna, fisheries research biologist.

Early results of the study indicate that sturgeon do exist in the potential Guffy pool area. Angling biologists have caught four sturgeon ranging from 1 foot to 7 feet in length. Other reported catches of sturgeon measuring 1 foot indicate that they are naturally reproducing in the area.

Goodnight said that the white sturgeon has lived in the Columbia River system a long time. This species has adapted to flowing water conditions for spawning and feeding.

Their protrusible mouth is able to suck food from the stream bottom. The primary food organisms of sturgeon include insect larvae, snails, clams and other fish.

Field information, the biologists are obtaining includes length and girth measurements and age of the fish. Age is determined by removing the portion of a pectoral fin ray and counting the annual growth rings within a section of the ray.

The claimed world record for sturgeon caught on rod and reel was caught below Swan Falls dam on the Snake River. Glenn Howard in 1953 landed a sturgeon that weighed 394 pounds.

Infected finger dims Nicklaus' PGA hopes

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus withdrew from the National Team Championship Wednesday following surgery on an infected finger, leaving Arnold Palmer with young Jack Lewis as a partner and clouding Nicklaus' status for the PGA next week.

"The doctors told me that if I had not undergone the operation, I would have been out of action for at least two weeks," Nicklaus told tournament officials by telephone from Columbus, Ohio.

Nicklaus underwent the operation Tuesday night on the forefinger of his right hand which had become sorely infected in recent days and began to pain him during a pre-tournament Monday in Columbus.

"The doctor said I had developed a strep infection in the finger and had to have it operated on, including the draining of the fluid," Nicklaus said.

He said the forefinger became swollen "like a balloon" following the operation, forcing him to pull out of the team championship, which Nicklaus and Palmer won in 1970 and 1971. Nicklaus, who also is the defending champion in the PGA, which begins next Thursday at Birmingham, Mich., said he was "hopeful" he would be able to play, and he is almost certain to start in that tournament unless the infection gets severely worse.

Lewis, 25, from Florence, S. C., who now will team with Palmer, was the first recipient of the scholarship program Palmer instituted several years ago at Wake Forest, his alma mater. Lewis tried to qualify for the tournament Monday with Billy Ziobro of Cresskill, N. J., but they did not make it.

Now that Palmer, the host pro, is saddled with Lewis, a non-winner, as his partner in this $200,000 event that begins Thursday, the teams of Ray Floyd-Lee Trevino, Jerry Heard-Billy Casper and Bert Yancey-Tom Weiskopf move up among the favorites.

"I'm truly sorry this had to happen, because I was looking forward to teaming up with Arnold," Nicklaus said.

Concern over Nicklaus' condition first became public Tuesday when he scratched from a benefit exhibition in Cincinnati and Trevino flew in as a last-minute replacement. The surgery was performed several hours later.

This is the second time in little more than a month that a defending champion has been in the hospital just prior to one of the major golf championships.

Trevino was hospitalized with pneumonia the week before he defended his title in the U.S. Open last month, but he got out of the hospital in time and stayed close throughout to Nicklaus, who won it.

Palmer called Lewis "a fine young player who shows plenty of promise," but that does not cloud the fact their team is a distinct underdog. Lewis has won only $1,423 on the tour this year, and they will face the strongest field in the six-year history of the team tournament.

Scoring in the tournament, the only team event on the PGA tour, is on a better-ball basis, with only the lower of a team's score on each hole counting toward its total.

Triple option to test pros

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—The triple option with all its complexities will probably get a full tryout Friday night for the first time against a professional football club.

Tom Landry, as much as anyone, is curious as to what the results will be.

The College All-Stars are expected to run some triple option plays against the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys in the opening game of the pro football season with Jerry Tagge of national champion Nebraska quarterbacking the offense.

"This is an intriguing game for a lot of people," said Landry on the eve of his club's departure for Chicago. "This was all the off-season talk about how the pros would defense the triple option."

"The way this game goes will influence some (professional football) people one way or another. I think the option will work in the pros, but I don't think it would work as a steady diet. I don't think your quarterbacking would last in the pros."

Not only will the pros be interested in seeing how the all-stars run the option, but they will be interested in seeing how the Cowboys go about defending it. Landry, of course, is not too keen on giving out technical specifics, but he does say:

"Our defense will have a real mental test in this ball game. If the all-stars are able to get us disorganized then they are going to have some success. The key is our ability to stop the option."
