

Dump-Eagleton showdown nears

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The thorny decision on whether Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton is to remain as George S. McGovern's vice presidential running mate reached the showdown stage today with key McGovern strategists urging the Missouri man to get off the ticket.

Eagleton and McGovern were set to meet privately at an unspecified time tonight for the first time since the vice presidential nominee disclosed six days ago he had been hospitalized three times for psychiatric treatment in the 1960s.

McGovern left Washington for most of the day to attend funeral services for Sen. Allen J. Ellender in Louisiana. But Eagleton decided at the last minute to pass up making the trip on a separate plane.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., the assistant Democratic floor leader, said a decision on whether Eagleton remains on the ticket should be made tonight. It should not be put off any longer.

Arms fund lid?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging that military spending the last six years has been the "main cause of inflation," Sen. George S. McGovern said today he would introduce an amendment to keep the administration from increasing the Pentagon's budget.

The Democratic presidential candidate said the amendment, which he would introduce Tuesday, would hold military spending to the level of last year's $77.6 billion.

This would in effect cut $4 billion from President Nixon's request for military spending for the current fiscal year.

McGovern described his move as "the only proper response to the President's plea that federal spending be held to $250 billion this year." Nixon has criticized Congress for contributing to inflation by increasing government spending.

"Holding military expenditures to the present level will allow the Congress to keep within the spending ceiling and still provide some urgently needed support for schools, housing, hospitals, jobs and other domestic requirements," McGovern said. "Pentagon demands must not be allowed to drain still more resources from homefront needs."

McGovern said he had made it clear repeatedly that he considered an arms budget identical to last year's to be "far in excess of what the country needs for its own security."

"The main cause of inflation for the last half dozen years, under both the Republicans and the Democrats, has been military spending, and more particularly the Vietnam war," he said.

Survival buffs plod in desert

FURNACE CREEK RANCH, Calif. (UPI) — Four determined endurance buffs sweated, roasted and plodded on through Death Valley today, through desert air summing at 127 degrees and over sands baking at up to 200 degrees.

One of them passed out at the end of his hike Sunday, reports said.

The desert crossers are separated in three unrelated expeditions.

As Death Valley—the lowest, and often the hottest, point on the continent—warms up in July, it attracts would-be record setters to walk or run across the baking terrain.

Keeping track of them is Earl Schneeweis, bartender at the Furnace Creek Ranch, deep in Death Valley.

"Nobody walks across the desert without checking in with me," the bartender said.

Bill Collins, 47, a Las Vegas, Nev., casino executive, covered 30 miles Sunday, the bartender said, and became the first known man to walk across the devil's golf course, a borax wasteland.

Ellsberg trial stay protested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department asked the full Supreme Court today to set aside a stay of the Pentagon Papers trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo on grounds the action was "completely unjustified" and constituted an "impermissible interference" with the trial.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold also cautioned that if the stay granted by Justice William O. Douglas on Saturday from his vacation cabin in Goose Prairie, Wash., is allowed, it "would have a disastrous impact upon this important criminal prosecution."

Douglas granted a stay of the trial at the request of the defense because a conversation of an attorney or consultant to Ellsberg and Russo was overheard on a wiretap maintained by the government in what it said was the interest of "foreign intelligence."

It was the first time a criminal trial had ever been stayed by a Supreme Court justice, Griswold said. He asked that it be set aside "at once."

"If it is necessary to convene the court for this purpose, we ask that it be convened," Griswold said.

Douglas acted as presiding justice of the 9th Circuit Court. Most of the court members are on vacation and must be polled for a decision on whether to grant the government's request at once.

Gold price at new high

LONDON (UPI) — Gold soared to its highest level since the war on the London bullion market today, hitting $68.90 an ounce.

Dealers said there were still rumors that the ruler of the oil-rich state of Kuwait was demanding payment for his country's oil in gold rather than pounds sterling.

"Does it in any way impair his capacity of leadership? Does it arouse anxiety in a public that is already nervous and uptight about its national leadership? Does it damage our chances of winning the election?"

"These are all things I frankly cannot answer," McGovern said.

British troops invade enclaves

By JOSEPH FLEMING
BELFAST (UPI) — Thousands of heavily armed British troops, led by tanks, bulldozers and armored personnel carriers, moved swiftly into Roman Catholic strongholds throughout Northern Ireland at dawn today in a massive push to crush the militant Irish Republican Army (IRA).

An army statement said the drive was a complete success. Gunmen fired back in Londonderry and two of them were killed. It was the only immediate resistance to the drive although three bombs were set off hours later in Claudy, a village 10 miles east of Londonderry.

The army said five persons were killed, including a 9-year-old girl. Other reports said as many as eight died in the blasts.

No warning was given. As men, women and children fled the first bomb—planted in a car in the center of the village—two others went off.

Police said 30 villagers were wounded, 15 of them seriously. Witnesses said the blasts threw men, women and children "all over the street."

The explosions brought to at least 488 the number killed in three years of strife between Northern Ireland's majority Protestants, its Roman Catholics and the British army.

An army statement said the troop action was "completely successful."

It was the first time troops or police had been in some of the areas since the violence started three years ago.

Soldiers, their faces blackened to make them difficult to spot, dodged behind the tanks and armored vehicles as they swept through the barricades built of burned out cars, rocks, discarded lumber and odds and ends.

"We didn't even hear a whistle," said Capt. Tony Courtis-Britton of the 2nd Battalion, Royal Regiment of Fusiliers.

Cannons on the Saracen and Saladin armored cars swiveled menacingly while bulldozers and 50-ton Centurion tanks outfitted with earthmoving blades chopped up the barricades.

Explosives experts dug out mines planted in some areas and blew up booby-traps.

Sharp quake jars Alaskans

SITKA, Alaska (UPI) — A powerful earthquake struck this fishing town Sunday, sending all 6,000 residents of the area fleeing to higher ground in fear that a tidal wave would follow.

But no injuries and only minor damage was reported, and residents returned to their homes a short time later when the tidal wave alert was cancelled.

The Palmer Observatory north of Anchorage issues tidal wave warnings whenever a quake has a Richter scale intensity of 7.2 or more. Sunday's quake registered 7.3.

A mammoth tidal wave resulted from the last major quake to shake Sitka in 1958.

The observatory reported the epicenter of Sunday's quake at 35 miles west of Sitka in the southeast corner of Alaska, about 550 miles southeast of Anchorage.

The quake caused some wave action in swimming pools hundreds of miles farther south in Seattle, Wash., and some pools spilled over.

Sitka Police Sgt. Cliff Young said that the evacuation of the 6,000 persons from the shoreline here would have been ineffective had there actually been a tidal wave because "we wouldn't have had time."

Joseph T. Greco, an administrator at Barnes, said Sunday he knew nothing about the reported removal of Eagleton's records.

The newspaper said this was done apparently to prevent disclosure of the Missouri senator's hospitalization.

Medical records showing the patients name, address, age and dates of hospitalization are usually available.

Bellevue firemen learn about truck hard way

BELLEVUE — Unfamiliarity with the operation of Bellevue's new fire truck hampered volunteer firemen battling a burning shed Sunday evening.

Firemen were called to the home of DeLane Anderson, where a shed caught fire about 8 p.m. But when they arrived with the new pumper, they worked unsuccessfully for about an hour to pump water from a nearby irrigation ditch to feed the main fire hoses.

Mitchell Lete, watermaster and fire chief, who knows how to operate the equipment, was out of town.

Finally, firemen used a garden hose, a small hose attached to the truck and fire extinguishers to put out the blaze.

Cause of the fire was not determined. It spread from the shed to one end of a trailer parked about 15 feet away. Anderson estimated the damage to the trailer at $5,000 and said contents of the trailer received another $2,000 damage. The storage shed and contents received an estimated $1,500 damage.

Firemen also sprayed water on and around a 350 gallon liquefied gas tank next to the trailer to reduce the danger of explosion.

Corder and Goodman, a former deputy on the Twin Falls force, are opponents in the Republican primary election Tuesday, Nov. 8.

A spot check telephone survey conducted by the Times-News today reveals unanimous support for Corder's re-election campaign, however.

A paid political advertisement in the Sunday edition of the Times-News, "bought, paid for, and approved by the deputies in the Twin Falls County Sheriff Department," calls for Corder's re-election because, "We want to continue to work for Twin Falls under Sheriff Paul Corder, whom we feel has done an excellent job in training, organizing, and fulfilling the duties of his office in a reasonable and prudent manner within the limits of the budget allotted him."

Corder has been attacked by Goodman for failure to train the county deputies adequately, failure to organize the department, and violation of state laws barring nepotism in public office.

Harold Jensen, a deputy on the force, said today the advertisement has been read, approved and paid for by all the members of the force with the exception of one man who is resigning his position in the near future.

"We did this because we were in support of the present sheriff and opposed to an outsider coming in who is not qualified and making accusations," Jensen said in explaining the placement of the advertisement.

Jensen responded to one of Goodman's attacks against the incumbent Sheriff by saying Corder had turned down federal money "to try to keep government control away from the department."

"We've known the man," Jensen said of Goodman, "and we don't feel he is the man for the job. Besides, there's no reason for a change."

Mrs. Flora Wagner, a civil deputy on the force, also a Corder backer said today, "I'm in back of the ad 100 per cent. I wrote part of it."

T.M. Kendrick, a deputy who works out of the west end of the county, also said, "I wrote part of it. I'm certainly behind it and behind Paul 100 per cent."

Kendrick's West End colleague, Curtis Pryor, agreed, saying "I back him all the way. He's a good guy to work for and I think he's done a good job."

Mrs. Wagner said she would make public the list of signers and donors to the advertisement this week, as soon as she could compile it from earlier lists.

Hospital mum on Eagleton

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Barnes Hospital officials have refused to confirm or deny a published report that they have removed Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's medical charts from their public record files.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said in its Sunday edition that a medical records committee ordered Eagleton's charts removed from the records room shortly after he received the vice-presidential nomination.

The newspaper said this was done apparently to prevent disclosure of the Missouri senator's hospitalization.

Medical records showing the patients name, address, age and dates of hospitalization are usually available.

Joseph T. Greco, an administrator at Barnes, said Sunday he knew nothing about the reported removal of Eagleton's records.

'Dozers entomb miners

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI) — Bulldozers poured tons of earth into the mouth of the Box Hill coal mine near Ipswich today, sealing the fate of 14 men trapped in the mine by two pre-dawn explosions.

Three men were killed at the top of the mine in the first explosion.

The explosions, which occurred at 2:45 a.m. (12:45 a.m. EDT), followed a fire in the mine which crews had been fighting for six hours.

As the bulldozers poured hundreds of tons of earth into the four entrances, five priests held a short burial service on a hill overlooking the mine.

It was Queensland's worst mining disaster in 51 years. Australia's worst disaster was at Port Kembla, near Sydney, where 92 men died in 1902.

TF deputies' ad sparks hassle

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff of Twin Falls County Paul Corder said today the entire deputy staff had supported a paid political advertisement calling for the sheriff's re-election.

But a supporter of Corder's primary opponent immediately charged the assertion was false, and said he had been called by two or three deputies who voiced objection to the advertisement.

Michael Spratt, the campaign manager in Ronald Goodman's attempt to unseat the incumbent sheriff, declined to release the names of the dissenters, saying "it would cost them their job. The security of their jobs is at stake."

Corder and Goodman, a former deputy on the Twin Falls force, are opponents in the Republican primary election Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Guard killed in escape try

NORFOLK, Mass. (UPI)—One guard was shot to death and two or possibly three other persons were wounded today in an apparent "desperate escape attempt" by a Norfolk Prison Colony inmate who took a woman hostage.

Several two-man teams of State Police expert marksmen, with sniper scopes on their rifles, found hundreds of police and off-duty guards at the medium security jail where the inmate was holed up with the woman—possibly his wife—in a prison dormitory cottage.

The inmate tentatively was identified by prison officials as Walter J. Elliott, 31, of Boston. The identity of the dead guard was not available immediately.

A Department of Corrections spokesman said the hostage may be the inmate's wife who was visiting him earlier today. "It looks like a desperate escape attempt by a single man. It doesn't look like other prisoners are involved," the spokesman said.

State Corrections Commissioner John O. Boone went to the prison which is located about 20 miles southwest of Boston.

Guards from Bridgewater and Concord jails, along with local and state police, converged at nearby Walpole State Prison which was set up as headquarters for the police. From there they were dispatched to strategic locations in and around Norfolk.

Prison officials said the wounded included a guard and a civilian who were taken to Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

The guard, David Mackie, 37, of Norfolk, suffered a bullet wound in the neck and a broken jaw. He was listed in satisfactory condition.

The civilian, Alfred J. Baranowski, 54, of East Walpole, was shot in the head. His condition was listed as "very serious." Prison officials said he was an instructor at the prison.

Roadblocks were set up on several highways and back roads.

Authorities said the dormitory cottage in which the prisoner was barricaded was somewhat removed from the main prison population and was in an open area.

Al Sarno of Walpole, who lives on Winter Street which is a main access to the prison colony, said he saw ambulances and police cars speeding past his home about 9 a.m. today.

Sarno said an off-duty guard, and he were to go fishing but when the guard arrived at his home he received a telephone call to return to the prison immediately because of the slaying.

Car hits pole, Filer man hurt

FILER — A Filer man received minor injuries when his vehicle went out of control and struck a power pole Sunday.

Douglas Lee Hoobler, 21, was headed east on U. S. Highway 30 when he apparently went out of control, crossed over into the oncoming lane of traffic, jumped the curb and collided with a power pole near the intersection of Union Street.

The Hoobler vehicle received $1,500 damage, officers said. Investigation of this accident is continuing. Hoobler was admitted to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for observation.

Steelworkers receive new round of benefits

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The second round of benefits take effect Tuesday for the nation's 450,000 basic steelworkers who will receive bigger paychecks, better pensions and a return of the cost-of-living escalator.

The steelworkers will get a 12 1/2 cent-an-hour, across-the-board wage raise in the second round.

Steelworkers gave up—the cost-of-living clause in the 1959 agreement but it was high on the agenda in the contract demands of the United Steelworkers (USW) last year. The rank-and-file will get a cent-an-hour boost for every four-tenths per cent. increase in the Consumer Price Index (CPI). The CPI recorded in June will be the base index for the adjustment.

When the three-year pact was signed a year ago, workers were guaranteed a 31 per cent increase and fringe benefits. The non-incentive workers' pay now runs from $3.51 to a little more than $6.42 an hour. The hourly wage is about $4.16.

According to the industry, labor costs are about $6.98 per worker.

Steelworkers who retired before July 31, 1971, will receive an extra $15 a month in pensions in the second round. Those retiring under the present agreement will get $8 a month for each of their first 15 years of service, $9 a month for the next 15 years of service and $10 a month for each year over 30 years.

The present pension rate is $6.50 a month for each year of service.

The 35-year maximum for which steelworkers could receive pension benefits has been eliminated.

Under the old agreement, a 40-year and 35-year steelworker would receive the same pension. But with the second round, the 40-year workers will get $355 a month and the 35-year worker $305.

Vacation bonuses will be increased and the day after Thanksgiving becomes the ninth paid holiday in the second round benefits.

Question...

I work for the government and will receive a Civil Service pension when I retire. My wife is covered on her job by Social Security. When either of us die will the survivor receive both a Social Security and Civil Service annuity?

Answer...

Your coverage under the Federal Civil Service Retirement System, automatically provides for an annuity payment to your wife at the time of your death unless you request in writing that her benefits be omitted. Since this possibility is unlikely, it is safe to assume your wife will have benefits from your Civil Service program as well as benefits from her own Social Security earnings.

You are not so fortunate. Your Civil Service annuity continues after your wife's death but unless you can prove at least one-half of your support came from your wife you are not entitled to a Social Security widower's benefit.

Compensation law overhaul proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressionally-established study commission says that state workmen's compensation laws, which affect millions of Americans each year, should undergo an extensive overhaul.

The 15-member panel recommended Sunday that the states be given three years to reform their systems if the states fail to act on their own, the commission said. Congress should require uniform compliance with the panel's proposals.

The specific recommendations included:

A broadening of coverage to encompass all workers.

Liberalizing of benefits.

Improvement of medical and rehabilitation services including coverage for all work-related diseases.

"The basic principles of workmen's compensation are sound, but the present performance of the program is unsatisfactory and extensive reforms are essential," the commission said in a report to Congress and President Nixon.

The commission noted that some 14,000 workers die each year because of on-the-job injuries or from job-related illnesses. Another 90,000 are permanently impaired and more than 2 million miss one or more days of work all at a cost last year of about $9.3 billion in lost wages, medical treatment, lost production, damaged equipment and related expenses.

Bail revocation proposed

By United Press-International
Republican Senate hopeful Wayne Kidwell said Sunday law and order is a phrase many people, including politicians, are afraid to talk about.

Campaigning in Boise, Kidwell said if elected, "I will strongly urge passage of legislation to provide any person who, while out on bail awaiting trial in a felony case and is arrested as a suspect in another felony case, have his bail revoked and be returned to custody to await disposition of the original charge."

Robert Purcell told a Nampa meeting Sunday that entry into the world free market for agriculture will "adversely affect almost every person in Idaho."

Purcell, a Republican aspirant for First District in Congress, said Idaho's agricultural base would collapse with such an entry where Idaho farmers would be competing with producers from around the world.

On another political front, Republican Senate candidate George Hansen said Sunday Idahoans are registering a resounding protest to the Occupational Safety and Health Act through petitions now being collected.

"Wherever I go," Hansen said, "people are asking how such a discriminatory bill could have been enacted. They feel it was passed behind their backs."

According to canvassing by his volunteer staff, results show Byron Johnson leading in the race for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate by more than a two to one margin.

A Johnson statement Sunday said a total of 1,483 households in five Ada County precincts were canvassed from July 18 to 25. The results showed 51 per cent for Johnson, 22 per cent for Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park, 14 per cent for Rose Bowman and 13 per cent for William E. (Bud) Davis.

Elsewhere on the political scene, Robert E.

Smylie said Sunday he would finance a four-way debate among Republican candidates for the Senate.

"A debate would be a helpful thing for people to see all four candidates in a face-to-face confrontation," the former Idaho governor said.

He suggested all four candidates join to finance an hour-long "Meet the Press" style program, in order to "avoid the churlish inferences likely to be kicked around if the debate does not occur."

Campaigning in Boise Sunday, Glen Wegner said he too, would help finance a debate among the four Republican Senate contenders.

"I am totally in favor of this idea; as it will enable the people of this state to see and hear the candidate discuss the records and issues," Wegner said. "It's too bad all the candidates are not willing to do this."

Idaho girl named

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (UPI) — Louise Sheryl Edmo, an 18-year-old Bannock — Shoshone — who wants a better understanding among Indians and whites, was selected as new Miss Indian America Sunday.

The University of Idaho student beat 28 other contestants for the honor at the close of the annual All-American Indian Days celebration. She succeeds Nora Begay, 22, a Navajo from Kaibeto, Ariz., to the title.

"My primary concern is to provide understanding of both white and Indian life styles to Indians and non-Indians alike," Miss Edmo told the judges.

Miss Edmo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey Edmo Sr. of Fort Hall, Idaho, is attending college on scholarships. Her father is the immediate past chairman of the Idaho Intertribal Council and a member of the Idaho Advisory Board to the governor.

Accident victim given aid

Crash injures Utah man

TWIN FALLS — A Salt Lake City man is listed in fair condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a two-car accident Saturday evening.

W. John Greenhand, 24, was taken to the hospital after colliding with a vehicle driven by Jorday Allen Eldredge, 16, Twin Falls.

According to Twin Falls Police, Eldredge was headed southeast on Second Avenue South in the center lane of traffic. Apparently Greenhand pulled into the intersection from Seventh Street South, headed northeast.

According to police reports, he failed to yield the right of way and was struck by the Eldredge vehicle.

Eldredge claimed that Greenhand did not stop at the stop sign. The Salt Lake City man was cited for failure to yield right of way and having no driver's license in possession.

The Greenhand vehicle received about $2,000 damage and the Eldredge vehicle about $800, police said. Investigation is continuing.

Death preferred

HAMILTON, Ohio (UPI) — Richard McCoy Jr., sentenced to 45 years in prison for air piracy, says he would rather go before a firing squad or go to the gas chamber than spend the rest of his life behind bars.

McCoy, 29, of Provo, Utah is in the Butler County Jail here awaiting transfer to the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. to begin his sentence for hijacking a United Airlines jet and extorting $500,000 in ransom money.

He said in a weekend interview in his cell that defendants in capital cases should have the option of death or long prison terms.

"If it's between a long prison sentence and death by execution, a guy should get the option," the former Brigham Young University student said. "He should be allowed to make the choice."

McCoy said he plans to appeal his conviction.

"The only reason I am hanging on is because I want to get back and see my family, particularly my kids. 'If I was suicidal, I wouldn't be here now,' he said.

He said he plans to use his prison time reading and working.

Evel gives Colorado fans scare

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (UPI) — Motorcycle daredevil Robert (Evel) Knievel gave 15,000 fans more of a scare when he landed his plane Sunday than when he leaped 11 vehicles with his cycle.

As Knievel was landing his Cessna 414, at Continental Divide Raceways, the tip of his wing hit a 25-foot pole alongside the makeshift runway. Wing lights on the plane were smashed, but it landed safely.

Knievel cleared the 11 vehicles — four camper vans, four pickups and three automobiles — without incident.

Knievel hopes to jump the Snake River Canyon near Twin Falls on a jet-powered bike next year.

COMMENT

The Sawtooth Bill

Idaho Falls Post-Register
The Sawtooth National Recreation legislation, now on the threshold of formal passage, is a legacy of long dedication on the part of Sen. Frank Church and Len B. Jordan.

The Sawtooth's genesis actually started with Senator Church who first suggested a national park, which would be Idaho's first, and then, after an extended dialogue with Idahoans and several hearings, accepted a recreation area proposal for this incomparable land.

That first recreation area proposal, however, was flawed with too much suturing. A plan which was predominantly a park plan, with environmental and conservation organizations over the state the principal standardbearers for the plan, then emerged.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, gave the park plan momentum with his approval — but it was not quite enough for the "park now" campaign.

The park-recreation area combination of that time did not have enough Idaho and Congress committee support, apparently. The Senate, which has approved both park-accented or recreation area-accented plans before, this time waited for the House, where the legislation died each time, to act first.

The House surfaced with some of the same flaws of former years but with decided improvement. However, it was noticeably weak in what it accepted in mining permissiveness in this fragile high country, in leaving doubtful whether federal or state would manage the game, and in installing a temporary instead of a permanent moratorium on mine development.

Senator Church, wearied by many years of debate but with no agreement on preserving this extraordinary land, quickly targeted the weaknesses of the House bill and declared his intent to remove them. He was joined by Senator Jordan, who with Senator Church, had successfully propelled every piece of Sawtooth legislation successfully through the Senate.

What emerged in the Senate version was, as this newspaper has said before, a clean, complete and final prescription. And this was the legislation which emerged virtually unscathed from the Senate-House conference committee.

Cong. James McClure, who in the past has worried more about the difficulties of removing mining prerogatives and possible court claims than in pushing this type of bill, apparently persuaded Cong. Wayne Aspinall, chairman of the House Interior Committee to abandon his reluctance to accept such things as a permanent mining moratorium. Election year pressure was also undoubtedly involved.

The only basic change coming out of the conference committee was the refinement in language in sustaining the state's control of game and in eliminating the so called "reverse condemnation" feature whereby property owners of the area could force the government to buy their properties. Under the bill, the forest Service, which will operate this vast recreation area, has power to condemn up to five per cent of the total deeded or private in Sawtooth valley and Stanley Basin, and can insist on purchased scenic easements in zoning the private land to achieve the preservation objective of the legislation.

Once formally passed by Congress and signed, the Forest Service can proceed to hold hearings on zoning standards and management policies. One of its stickiest challenges will be to rescue non-conforming subdivisions and to prevent future ones from marring the area with this kind of transplanted suburbia.

The Sawtooth legislation, the final version as well as both the House and Senate proposals, sustains a Park Service study of the high country in the White Clouds, Boulders and Pioneers as well as the existing Sawtooth peaks area. What is mystifying some is the current Forest Service wilderness study of these same areas. The question may well become whether the lower recreation area should be managed by the Forest Service and the higher country by the Park Service. Or would it be just as compatible to install full wilderness status of this high country as well as the recreation area elsewhere under Forest Service management?

Conservation groups, which have fought hard for a clean Sawtooth formula, prefer the Park Service because of what they feel is a higher order of protection than the wilderness act accords the Forest Service currently. Wilderness areas outside of specific parks, can still be explored for mining, for example, at least until 1982 — and this worries environmental groups.

There is something to be said, however, in the name of consistent management, where the authorities are not divided in management.

But the great strike of the current Sawtooth legislation is that it takes care of the immediate problems — mining threats in the recreation area and the rapid growth of non-conforming private developments on the deeded land — while leaving the wilderness decision on the back country for more leisurely and thorough research.

But to Senator Church particularly is this excellent Sawtooth prescription a deserving monument. This mountain-loving, generations-thinking Idaho senator especially deserves Idaho's heartfelt thanks. It has been a long, relentless and wearying battle for him to give Idahoans what they wanted all along.

Why Pioneer Day?

Idaho State Journal
Some newcomers here and visitors from other states are nonplused by the idea of celebrating Pioneer Day. Not everyone understands the spirit of this regional holiday.

IT WAS ORIGINALLY conceived to commemorate the arrival of the Mormons in the Salt Lake valley on July 24, 1847. The holiday still has a strong LDS flavor, paying deserved tribute to those early pioneers.

But we believe there is something more to Pioneer Day than venerating the old timers.

It is a celebration of a spirit that has sadly waned in other parts of America. Pioneer Day still says to the world that some Americans have the spirit to control their destiny, that by uniting in common purpose and high ideals, we can make good things happen.

OUR FORBEARS settled a wilderness and turned it into a productive, flourishing homeland. That determination and visions lives on, as evidenced in Pioneer Day celebrations.

Optimism: The Crunch On Hanoi

WASHINGTON — Muted optimism at the highest levels here about a Vietnam settlement is based on the hard conviction that a massive Communist offensive against Hue, expected soon, will be crushed before October, paving the way for final negotiations before the elections.

There are, moreover, reliable signals that Hanoi is at last seriously interested in a negotiated settlement. Key advisers of President Nixon note the absence of the usual propaganda hoopla from Hanoi or its top-level negotiating team in Paris.

Thus, settlement hopes are a product of altered conditions both on the battlefield and at Paris.

Hanoi's new offensive, expected by mid-August, will be the one major Communist military effort aimed at salvaging something from the wreckage of last spring's nationwide offensive.

Backed by elements of up to eight divisions, it appears aimed at the ancient imperial capital of Hue. Experts here expect either a direct assault on Hue or a drive east to the sea between Quang Tri and Hue, cutting the vital Highway 1 artery — the famed "street without joy" — between those two provincial capitals.

To mount this offensive after the horrible chewing up of Communist forces since the attack across the demilitarized zone four months ago, Hanoi is believed to have scraped the bottom of its manpower barrel. Moreover, the attacking forces will be facing South Vietnamese troops with higher morale than last spring — a result of their success, containing the big offensive. The strong feeling within the Administration is that the offensive will fail at an enormous sacrifice of blood and equipment to Hanoi.

Even so, there would be little hope for any subsequent breakthrough at the Paris talks were it not for the subtle changes there. In the past, sure signs that Hanoi was not truly interested in negotiations were propaganda leaks to sympathetic Western journalists and cozy chats with anti-war American politicians, all pretending that Hanoi would settle if only Mr. Nixon would bargain in good faith.

For example, Sen. George McGovern said last September he had received positive assurances in private talks with Hanoi's negotiators that withdrawal of all U.S. troops from South Vietnam would automatically lead to release of the U.S. prisoners of war. But while its agents soft-talked the American doves, Hanoi's real goal never changed: displacement of President Nguyen Van Thieu by a coalition government.

Since the start of the new phase in the Paris talks, both the government in Hanoi and its politburo member in Paris, Le Duc Tho, have floated not a single word of beguiling propaganda to a single American — newsmen or politician — despite innumerable opportunities.

As of this writing, Le Duc Tho has refused to grant any significant interviews at all. A propaganda fog surrounded Henry Kissinger and Tho in their last, brief round of Paris peace talks May 2 — when Tho went to Paris only under heavy Soviet pressure. Now, however, the chief Communist negotiator is exhibiting signs of serious purpose.

But translating that serious purpose into successful negotiations won't happen unless Hanoi's assault on Hue fails.

ROBERT ALLEN

On The Spot

WASHINGTON — Senate Armed Services Committee chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., is finally being put squarely on the spot on the military retirees survivors benefits bill that he has stalled for nine months.

The legislation is being offered as an amendment to the $20.5 billion military procurement authorization measure now under consideration in the Senate.

The decision to force action on the long-stymied retirees benefits measure as an amendment to the giant military procurement bill was made by Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and J. Glenn Beall, R-Md.

"I don't intend to wait any longer," Goldwater told this column. "We're going to see this thing through now. It's long overdue."

The unjustifiable protracted delay in the consideration of this important legislation directly affecting close to a million veterans is inexplicable to me," said Beall. "It's time we put an end to it. I have said I was going to put this measure through this year, and I mean it. It has wide bipartisan support in the Senate, as evidenced by the fact that 38 Republican and Democratic Senators joined me in sponsoring this legislation. They are in full accord with me that further delay is unwarranted and indefensible."

Putting Stennis on the spot in this manner forces him to either "fish or cut bait."

He now faces three alternatives:

(1) Accept the retirees survivors benefits bill as an amendment to the military procurement measure and allow the Senate to vote on it — thus ensuring its speedy overwhelmingly approval.

(2) Try to have the amendment thrown out on the ground it is not germane to the procurement bill. Sens. Beall and Goldwater are prepared to demand a rollcall vote on that, and are confident they can win hands-down.

(3) Offer to compromise with a categorical promise to bring up the retirees legislation for separate Senate consideration by a definite date in the fall.

This last stratagem is considered the most likely by Sen. Goldwater and Beall.

Their belief is based on backstage and other indications.

Lately it has become evident that Sen. Stennis is "displeased" by the vigorous prodding in and out of Congress in behalf of the survivors benefits bill which mysteriously has gathered dust in the Armed Services Committee for nine months. It is known the Mississippi got a flood of critical mail following this column's disclosure that he planned to still further delay the measure by withholding consideration until the Senate disposed of the strategic arms limitation agreements.

ANDREW TULLY

Agreements

The SALT agreements concluded in Moscow go to the heart of America's future security — our ability to deter nuclear war. They will also have an important influence on the future of international politics. In examining the accords, there is simply no substitute for facing facts. And these facts must be weighed against the euphoria surrounding much of the public discussion of the Moscow summit. The American people will be rightfully disappointed if SALT results in both diminishing our security and forcing major increases in the defense budget.

All Americans desire a more stable strategic relationship with the Soviet Union. What makes for stability in this area is a potential aggressor's certain knowledge that he cannot execute a disarming first strike against us — and that there is no possibility that he will be able to gain that capability. I am concerned, however, that the accords will do little to promote this kind of stability.

Why is this so? The ABM treaty places a permanent restraint on the defense of our land-based deterrent against missile attack, but the interim five-year agreement on offensive arms places no effective restraint on the growing Soviet offense. The Soviets are granted great numerical superiority — 1,618 ICBMs to our 1,054 — including at least 300 of their giant SS-9's to zero modern heavy missiles for us.

Because the Soviet missiles are so much larger than ours, the Soviet land-based missile force has a "throw weight" about four times greater than ours. And since the Soviets are free to test and deploy multiple warheads, their numerical and payload advantages could easily be translated — within five years — into an advantage in number of warheads. Secretary Laird has admitted as much during his recent testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Thus, in my judgment, the bargain we struck in this area is seriously out of balance. It allows the Soviets to proceed with weapons programs that threaten the survivability of our land-based deterrent, but forbids us any effective countermeasures for protecting that deterrent. Our Minuteman force can be neither enlarged nor substituted for, and the hardening of the silos will not notably aid in increasing Minuteman's ability to survive an attack. Our total of Polaris submarines will be effectively held to 41, while during the same period the Soviets can expand their present total of 25 operational submarines to 62 — plus continuing the construction of submarines "replacements" for older models.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Problems

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you explain the difference between mental and emotional problems? And could you recommend a book on how to treat such people? — G.M.

As the terms are popularly used, there isn't any difference. An emotional problem, not being a physical ailment, has to be a "mental" problem, doesn't it?

Strictly speaking, however, I think this is a fair distinction: A retarded child (or adult) would have a mental problem but not necessarily an emotional one. A retarded person can be happy and adjusted to life within his limitations.

A person of normal or even high intelligence can have emotional problems. Some patients in "mental hospitals" have extremely high I.Q.s. Their problem is a matter not of brain-power, but of emotions.

They may be suffering from anxieties with which they simply cannot contend. They may have periods of terrible depression. They may, from emotional but not logical causes, believe that people are plotting against them. They may go off into a sort of private and unreal dream world to "escape" from problems they cannot cope with. They may simply view the world in an unreal way — and hence be unable to get along in the real world.

When you seek "a book" to explain such a vast and complicated subject, I'm afraid you are going to be disappointed. Start studying up on subjects of mental retardation and emotional illnesses if you wish, but don't expect to find a simple answer to some very complex problems.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had GI X-rays and the diagnosis was colitis. I thought you may even have some literature on this. I feel the more you know about a chronic ailment the better you can cope with it. Mrs. R.D.

I concur. Yes, I have such a booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and I'll mail you a copy. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have sickle cell anemia. I am 39 and have learned to live with it, but I pray for a medical breakthrough for all of us with this disease.

My problem: I read somewhere that people with this disease should not fly. I would like to fly to the Bahamas but now am having second thoughts. Please advise me. — M.C.

A change in atmospheric pressure can precipitate a "crisis" with sickle cell anemia. However, on commercial flights the cabin is pressurized to compensate for the altitude. I doubt that you would have any trouble, but your own physician may have other thoughts on this.

Your prayers I think — I hope — are being answered. There have been some significant breakthroughs on sickle cell anemia lately and more should follow because of intensive research in this field.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What are the pros and cons of circumcision? Should a man be advised to have it done at age 22? — P.M.

It's an uncomfortable procedure for an adult. I wouldn't have it done unless your doctor sees some real need for doing it — the main consideration is whether it is needed because of infection or adhesion of the foreskin.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Ellender funeral services today

HOUMA, La. (UPI)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender, a backwoods bayou boy who went into politics and became dean of the U.S. Senate, will be buried today in the southern Louisiana Cajun country where he was born 81 years ago.

The funeral was scheduled at noon EDT with President Nixon and more than 100 other Washington officials among those planning to attend.

Included among some 40 former Senate colleagues on the list were Sens. George McGovern and Thomas Eagleton, meeting for the first time since disclosure of Eagleton's past medical history last week.

Ellender died Thursday night. He had interrupted a 12-hour-a-day campaign schedule battling for an unprecedented seventh term and had flown to Washington to add a vote to an agriculture appropriations bill he favored.

But he died of a heart attack in Bethesda Naval Hospital outside the capital before he could vote.

Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of the Archdiocese of New Orleans was chosen to give a homily during Ellender's funeral mass at St. Francis de Sales

Catholic Church. The burial plot was in nearby Magnolia Cemetery, next to that of his brother Claude who died in 1962.

Ellender, who served in the Senate 36 years, was the last active member of the political machine of the late Sen. Huey P. Long. He served as speaker of the state house under Long and replaced him in the U.S. Senate after "the Kingfish" was assassinated in 1935.

Ellender was the acknowledged architect of the nation's farm policy, sponsored America's first Aid to Education Bill, authored the Free Lunch Program and backed the first Minimum Wage Bill.

'Mr. Europe' dies at 73

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Paul Henri Spaak, the portly, moonfaced Belgian known as "Mr. Europe" in the post-war era, died today at the age of 73 of kidney failure, his family said.

Spaak, one of the fathers of modern Europe and the first president of the U.N. General Assembly, entered Brugmann hospital Sunday and died shortly after midnight, his son said.

Flags flew at half staff throughout Belgium for the man who helped create the European Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO.

He also served twice as Belgian premier and six times as the country's foreign minister.

The son of a lawyer-turned-playwright and Belgium's first woman senator, Spaak became Belgium's youngest prime minister at the age of 39. He returned from Britain after World War II to become one of the chief architects of the rebuilding of Europe.

4 die in Utah air crash

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—A private plane with one of its engines afire crashed in a heavily populated area Sunday night. All four occupants of the plane were killed but no one on the ground was hurt.

The twin-engine Piper Aztec narrowly missed a playground full of children as it cut through a tree and smashed into a metal awning above picnic tables, then burst into flames.

"We were just sitting here rapping when we heard the plane. We heard a woman screaming," said Ken Gurule, 17, who had been chatting with friends under the tree the plane hit.

Gurule said one of the victims was thrown out of the plane and slammed against a tree. "He was torn in half," he said.

Baltazar Morfin, 26, said he heard an explosion and thought it was a car wreck.

They tried to give one of the victims, a woman, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but she was pretty badly beaten up," Morfin said. The woman died later in a hospital.

"It's lucky no one was sitting under that awning," Morfin said. "Usually someone is there, lots of people."

The victims were identified as George B. Buckway, 32, Ogden, the pilot and port owner of the aircraft, Guss Florr, 57, Ogden, and Ann Thompson, 33, Huntsville, Utah. The fourth victim's identity was being withheld by authorities.

Dennis Morgan, 22, whose house borders on a park where the plane crashed, said a flaming engine and part of a wing slid into his driveway, scorching his pickup truck, lawn and a tree.

A controller at the Ogden airport tower said the pilot radioed that his left engine was out and he was unable to determine if his landing gear was extended.

Three US airplanes lost in Viet fighting

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force B52 bomber and a pair of F4 Phantom jet fighter-bombers crashed Sunday as the U.S. command accelerated the air war with more than 600 missions over North and South Vietnam, military spokesmen said today.

Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers scored bullseyes with guided bombs to destroy five bridges near Hanoi and Haiphong, the command said. A ball of fire rose 3,000 feet after a strike at a Haiphong port facility.

The command said the B52 carried a crew of six and was headed for a bombing mission over Indochina when it went down in a thunderstorm near Ubon Rathachathani, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok. Cause of the crash was not known. The U.S. embassy in Bangkok said one survivor was found but there was no word on the remaining five crewmen.

According to unofficial records, it was the seventh B52 to crash during the Vietnam war and the second to crash in bad weather this month.

Both Air Force Phantom fighter-bombers crashed in the Gulf of Tonkin Sunday. One was downed in a dogfight with a North Vietnamese MIG. The rescued crewmen said they did not think the plane was damaged by the Communist fighter before crashing 80 miles offshore from Vinh.

The second F4 crashed at sea 85 miles from Haiphong after failing to rendezvous with a tanker. Both of the $2 million airplanes were returning from missions over North Vietnam when they crashed.

Radio Hanoi charged in a Saigon-monitored broadcast that U.S. planes July 19 bombed the dike system on the Chu River in North Vietnam, a sewage system at Thanh Hoa, 83 miles southwest of Hanoi, and the sewage system at Thai Binh. U.S. officials do not comment on Radio Hanoi allegations.

On the war front in South Vietnam, government soldiers in separate battles Sunday reopened two sections of Highway 1, the vital supply line running through the northern part of the country.

Official spokesmen in Saigon said they had few details of the Stratofortress crash. The $8 million plane was based at U-Tapao Air Force Base in Thailand, home of most of the B52s that fly missions over Vietnam. The command said the specific mission of the aircraft was not known.

B52s flew three missions and there were 310 tactical air strikes over the North during the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Sunday, the command said. About 93 of the big planes dumped an estimated 2,325 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese supply dumps and emplacements, where fighter-bombers struck 277 times Sunday.

Air Force jets using guided bombs dropped the middle swivel span of a 738-foot-long bridge five miles northeast of Hanoi Sunday. They also destroyed the center span of the 550-foot Dap Cau Bridge on Highway 1, 18 miles from the North Vietnamese capital, the command said.

Navy planes armed with "Walleye" radar-guided bombs wrecked three bridges on key routes around Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port city.

Spassky faces mental crisis

REYKJAVIK (UPI) — World chess champion, Boris Spassky who canceled Sunday's game against U.S. challenger Bobby Fischer because of a head cold is undergoing a mental crisis that may cost him his title, chess experts said today.

"You'll find the name of Spassky's illness is spelled B-o-b-b-y not c-o-l-d," said Yugoslav grandmaster Svetozar Gligoric upon hearing that the 9th game in the $250,000 "match of the century" had been postponed until Tuesday.

"Spassky is in a serious stress crisis," Gligoric said. "His crown is slipping and he is worried over the level of his game."

The game was postponed by German arbiter Lothar Schmid who said that Spassky's second, Ivo Ney, telephoned him Sunday morning to say the Russian was suffering from a head cold.

"It is nothing serious," said Ney, "just an ordinary cold. But you must remember chess is not like football or tennis. Even the slightest cold is upsetting when you have to sit in deep concentration for five hours."

But Fischer aide Fred Cramer, a vice-president of the International Chess Federation (FIDE), said he thought Spassky wanted time to recover from Thursday night's 8th game defeat.

Star dies

HELEN TRAUBEL, former Metropolitan Opera star, died Friday at her home at the age of 73. Burtal will be a private family affair. Miss Traubel also was well known as a comedienne and had served as voice coach to Margaret Truman. (UPI)

Welfare climbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. welfare rolls grew by 732,000 persons, or 5.1 per cent, between July, 1971, and June this year, a Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) report showed today.

The percentage of increase compared to 17.6 per cent for the nine months ending in March, 1971, and 15.2 per cent for a similar period ending in March, 1970.

Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Monday, July 31, the 213th day of 1972 with 153 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Leo.

Diversity powerful

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The executive director of the National Urban League, Vernon E. Jordan Jr., addressing delegates Sunday at the organization's annual conference, said that no single organization can presume to speak for all blacks.

"The surge toward unity is important, but the reality to diversity is just as powerful," Jordan said in his keynote address. "The unity that marked the early years of the civil rights movement eludes us today because conditions have changed so markedly."

"The failure of this nation to fulfill the promises of equality and freedom has led many of our brothers and sisters to seek new, separate paths."

American writer John Kent was born on July 31, 1763.

For draft eligibles the 1972 lottery number is 315.

In 1953, Senate Majority Leader Robert Taft of Ohio died in New York City.

Wallace attacker trial starts today

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI)—Arthur Herman Bremer, the Milwaukee busboy accused of critically wounding Gov. George C. Wallace, goes on trial today in a pale green Prince Georges County courtroom.

Bremer, 21, has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to charges he attempted to murder Wallace, a campaign worker, a Secret Service agent, and an Alabama state trooper.

He could receive prison terms totaling 123 years if he is convicted.

The shooting incident occurred May 15 as Wallace completed a campaign rally at a Laurel, Md., shopping center parking lot. A spinal injury left Wallace paralyzed from the hips down, and he now is undergoing therapy in his home state.

The Maryland state trial will be presided over by Judge Ralph Powers in a second floor courtroom that is about 100 yards from the cell where Bremer has been held since mid-July.

Powers is expected to rule today on a series of motions filed by Bremer's court-appointed attorney, Benjamin Lipsitz.

Lipsitz has asked for two separate trials—one on Bre-

No proof of nobility, no crown, no gypsy wedding

By JAMES L. SAYLORS
BONN, Germany (UPI)—The champagne was on the table and the pigs were on the spit, but the gold crown from Israel didn't arrive, the bride fled in the night, and the grandest gypsy wedding of them all never happened.

It was a sad day in the North-Rhein Westphalian city of Bielefeld where preparations for the great event had been going on for months.

Ilonka Korpatsch, the dark-eyed, 26-year-old niece of gypsy President Heinrich Korpatsch had been promised to Senum Kierpacz, also 26, after months of negotiations.

Last week at the pinnacle of an all-night revelry, President Korpatsch proposed that Senum's father be crowned king so that the groom-to-be would be a prince and thus more worthy of the bride.

The 250 members of the West German branch of tribe approved and telegrams flew back and forth between Bielefeld and Israel where the 106-year-old chief of the tribe has lived since World War II.

The newly-appointed king, Franzischeck Kierpacz, had a gold crown painted on the side of his $20,000 Mercedes and the crown prince strutted through the camp "counting the seconds" as President Korpatsch put it.

Invitations went out to all points in Europe and the Middle East and acceptances poured in by the hundreds.

Caravans of expensive sedans pulling glistening trailers arrived in Bielefeld. Guitar music and strong choral voices filled the air.

Droves of photographers and reporters converged on the camp, seeking interviews and pictures of the beautiful Ilonka.

"After the wedding, my friends," they were told, "You will see wonders like never before. Dancing, singing, colorful clothes, much gold and jewelry. But only after the wedding."

Then came the bad news. Senum would have to prove to the old chief in Israel that he was of noble blood. Otherwise the 400-year-old crown of gold would not leave the promised land.

More telegrams and long-distance calls. Ilonka hid in her trailer. Senum moped. But the preparations went on and vast sums "25,000 maybe. Maybe $30,000. Money is no object," were collected and spent.

A final telegram from Israel. No proof of nobility, no crown. No crown, no wedding.

Saturday morning the entire camp was empty. Only a few empty bottles and an old car battery remained.

Wash wooden clothespins in hot soapsuds now and then.

Soviet police question leader

MOSCOW (UPI)—Physicist Valery Chalidze, co-founder of the "Committee on Human Rights," says Soviet secret police have called him in twice this month for questioning and told him he will be arrested if he does not start acting "like an ordinary Soviet citizen."

Chalidze said the secret police (KGB) had begun for the first time an open investigation of the committee, which studies civil rights problems in the Soviet Union.

Western observers said the action seemed to indicate the beginnings of a broad government program directed against internal dissident political activity.

In the past, the authorities have frowned on the four-man committee, which also includes nuclear physicist Andrei D. Sakharov and two other scientists, but allowed it to remain active.

Nobel Prize novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn is one of its proclaimed backers.

Chalidze told several western newsmen in an interview Friday the KGB accused him of "well-masked anti-Soviet behavior." He said in interrogations on July 5 and 7 KGB Lt. Col. Y. N. Pochenkov told him if he did not start acting "like an ordinary Soviet citizen," he would be "repressed."

Asked what that meant, the 34-year-old legal expert on the committee replied "arrest, of course."

Chalidze said he asked what the term "ordinary Soviet citizen" was supposed to mean, but got no clear answer.

He said if it meant observing Soviet law, "then I am behaving like an ordinary Soviet citizen." Chalidze said he could not follow the proscription if it meant "beyond this," that he had to fulfill "certain demands from the KGB." Conviction on charges of anti-Soviet behavior can entail six months to seven years imprisonment plus two to five years internal exile.

Chalidze, whose committee has previously studied such things as Soviet psychiatric hospitals where alleged sane persons are held because of their religious views, said the group would continue its studies.

"I have always only written to protest against misuse of the law or to suggest improvements of the law," he said.

Air X-ray experts check bulgy boa

MIAMI, Fla. — It had been a fairly routine day in Pan American World Airways' cargo and mail department at Miami until the phone rang in mid-afternoon.

"Can you X-ray a snake?" inquired the caller. "This is U.S. Customs."

"Certainly, sir, how many views would you like?" replied J.C. Witzleben, manager of Pan Am's airport cargo-mail services. (Maybe that's not exactly what he said. What would you say if someone asked you if you could X-ray a snake?)

Alert customs inspectors had noted that a large boa constrictor brought in from South America by an air carrier (not Pan Am) seemed unusually bulging. They suspected someone might have force-fed the beast some plastic bags of illegal drugs, to set up something new in snake smugglers.

Pan Am X-ray technicians were alerted. They took it in stride, since they're used to X-raying all sorts of things.

The technicians didn't bother to unravel the boa. They just X-rayed snake, container and all. They couldn't say how long the snake was.

"It had a very large head, though," reported one, repressing a slight shudder.

Results: Negative.

"Just a snake with a weight problem," they advised.

Recipes for small groups available

BURLEY — When you want to increase recipes from family size to club luncheon size use the "Cooking for Small Groups" bulletin, suggests Joan Parr, Cassia County Agent.

"You'll find two years of figuring adjustments in "Cooking for Small Groups," U.S. Department of Agriculture Home and Garden Bulletin No. 197, reports Esther Wilson, extension nutrition specialist, University of Idaho. The bulletin is available at the Cassia County Agent's office.

Any time you're cooking for a small group, church supper, scout dinner, or neighborhood potluck, you'll find this bulletin comes in handy. Adjusting recipes is more than simply doubling to get twice as much, points out Mrs. Wilson.

One of the methods for adjusting quantities shows you how to adjust any recipe to make from 15 to 50. All recipes in the bulletin are for 25 servings.

The bulletin also gives twelve different menus that vary in price and ease of preparation. Recipes for main dishes, vegetables, salads, salad dressings, breads and desserts included in the menus are given.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every time I read a letter in your column from parents complaining because of a problem with a child I could scream! I would give my right arm to have their problem.

I am 23, married, and have been to several doctors dealing with sterility problems, and I have been told I am sterile. We want to adopt a child, but there is a long waiting list of at least three years.

People who have "problems" with their children should thank God every day of their lives that they are able to have children—no matter what kind of problems they have with them. They are blessed and don't even appreciate it. I envy them their problems with their children, and I couldn't mean it more sincerely.

HEARTBROKEN FOR REAL

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Apparently you want to adopt a newborn, American, Caucasian baby, which is not easy to come by. Babies of mixed parentage are available. Also Korean babies. Also children in orphanages, some of them handicapped. If you are sincere, and consider "problems" a blessing, you need not remain childless.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about a man whose house is cluttered with pictures of himself? He has them in every room, framed and on the walls, and sitting around in expensive frames on every end table, and even on the window sills.

This man is now fat and bald, and most of these pictures were taken long ago when he was young and handsome and had lots of hair and a trim physique. Nobody would recognize him as the same person.

What is wrong with him?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Nothing need be "wrong" with him. Maybe he just enjoys seeing himself as others SAW him.

DEAR ABBY: Is it improper to put a return address on a card of sympathy?

A friend of mine said this should never be done.

HURON, S. DAKOTA

DEAR HURON: Your friend is mistaken. All mail should have a return address. And my sympathy goes to those frustrated postmasters and mail handlers who find millions of pieces of mail undeliverable because of insufficient, incorrect or illegible addresses, and NO return address.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "Going Crazy," the wife of a man who always starts projects, but never finishes anything.

I have a solution for your problem. When your husband starts a project—painting, papering, building a patio, putting in a garden, or whatever, and then loses interest and abandons it, that's your cue to go right to work and start to "finish" it for him.

He will come running to show you how incompetent you are, quickly pointing out that you are doing it all wrong. Then he will proceed to take over the job and "show" you how an expert does it.

Just keep telling him how smart he is, and continue to marvel at his expertise. And before you know it, the job will be finished.

Lucille Kelly, Paynter say vows

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Lucille Kelly, Twin Falls, and Harley Paynter, Topeka, Kan., were married in evening rites July 16 at the First United Methodist Church Fireplace Chapel.

Rev. Herbert E. Morris officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Attending the couple were the bride's sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kelly, Moscow, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Kelly, Waterford, Conn., and Paynter's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Osborne, Concord, Calif.

Paynter's granddaughters, Sherri and Kim Osborne, lighted the candles, assisted by Robyn Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly.

Mrs. Kenneth Gibson was pianist and accompanied the soloist, Rex Reed, Filer.

The bride wore a floor-length blush-pink chiffon gown and carried an arrangement of Phalaenopsis orchids on her white Order of Eastern Star Bible.

Wedding guests were feted at a champagne buffet after the ceremony at the couple's home, 634 Monte Vista Drive. Quartet tables on the spacious lawn encircled the bride's table which was centered with the three-tiered cake enhanced with fern and pink Elf roses. The pink-flounced buffet table was festive with roses and large hurricane candles.

Special out-of-town guests were the bride's sister, Mrs.

Susan Sonner bride of Baird

BUHL — Susan Sonner became the bride of Kenneth Baird during ceremonies July 14 in the garden at her parents' home.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Barton Sonner and Mrs. Charles Conrad, all Buhl.

Rev. Floyd Austin, pastor of the Buhl First Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kaes served as best man and matron of honor. Mrs. Kaes is the sister of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate family. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad entertained the wedding party at Kaes' later that evening.

The bride was honored at showers at the home of Mrs. Howard Parrish assisted by Mrs. Walter Olson, by Mrs. Albert Gabardi and Pam Gabardi, and by Mrs. Kaes at the home of Mrs. Conrad assisted by Mrs. John Rogers Sr., Twin Falls, Mrs. Richard Kevan and Mrs. Ronald Harding.

The couple will reside in Buhl.

Rupert woman gives home to animals

RUPERT — Myrtle Kelly has been an honorary member of the Humane Society for a long time and for good reason.

Her Rupert home is shelter for a variety of otherwise homeless animals. She cares for about 10 dogs, numerous cats, a skunk, three hawks, a packrat and a squirrel monkey, to name a few. Her menagerie also includes a pair of barn owls and domestic fowl in variety.

Miss Kelly began raising and caring for homeless creatures as a child. She works at the Heyburn Smplot plant from 4 p.m. to midnight doing maintenance work. She returns home from work and feeds and cares for her pets until 2 or 3 a.m.

When asked how she feeds her animal friends, Miss Kelly replied that the dogs eat from 200 to 300 pounds of dry dog food per month. Her porcupines also thrive on the dog food. She added that people are very generous with food but that it would help if decent table leftovers, which most people discard, could be donated more often.

She has a number of tame starlings and a raven which she has trained to talk and mimic the other animals.

Miss Kelly has a dog, a crossbred offspring of two of her other dogs, who once started work as a sheep dog. He was returned when he didn't perform as expected. She says "It's no wonder he didn't, he didn't speak Basque."

The Kelly home is located on the last half acre of her father's original homestead and boasts many varieties of trees and bushes, including black walnut, bamboo and yellow delicious apple trees and lilacs in all sizes and varieties.

Miss Kelly's animal friends all have their own traits and personalities which bring her pleasure in return for the care she gives them.

THE OPEN DOOR POLICY

The Republican Party, Through Its Open Door Policy, Invites You To Be A Part Of THE PARTY. Be a PART OF — Not APART FROM — Your Political System

THERE IS A PRIMARY ELECTION AUGUST 8

This Election Chooses the Candidates of each Party for the November, 1972 Election.

SOME PEOPLE THINK BOTH PARTIES ARE ALIKE — BUT THERE IS A DIFFERENCE!

The very reason that a candidate is listed as a Republican or a Democrat is that he or she ascribes to the basic political philosophy for which their party stands... and there is a difference!

Man and Society.

Cornerstone of Republican philosophy is the belief that each man is an individual who is responsible for his own place in our society. He is encouraged to work to secure the benefits of that society for himself and his family as well as for those who are unable to care for themselves.

Democrats are much more willing to subordinate the individual to the group. They assume that society is collectively responsible for each of its members and they place less emphasis on individual enterprise and initiative.

Government and the Governed.

Republicans believe that government should be limited to doing for people only those things which they cannot do for themselves. The GOP is convinced that government functions best at the local level where citizens can have an effective measure of control over their own problems.

Democrats contend that growing urban and national needs are making local and state governments obsolete. They say power must be concentrated in big, centralized government to solve modern problems.

Economic Policies.

Republicans believe that the free enterprise system is the key to individual and national prosperity. They seek to protect the system against unwarranted government regulation and feel that artificial means of controlling the economy should be used only when there is a clear need.

Democrats maintain that the economy is too complicated to be left to free enterprise alone and must be constantly managed at the federal level. They are generally much quicker to use economic gimmicks such as wage and price controls, tax increases and cutbacks, surcharges and the like.

Foreign Policy.

Republicans believe that America's foreign interests are best served by a strong defense posture and sound national economy. Whenever possible, they believe in encouraging other countries to solve their own problems.

Democrats often seem overly concerned about America's image abroad and are prone to become involved in the affairs of foreign countries. It is a fact that the four major conflicts of this century — World Wars I and II, the Korean War and the Vietnam conflict — were entered into by Democratic administrations.

Government Spending.

Republicans constantly strive for fiscal responsibility in government and look for ways to cut back or eliminate unnecessary and overlapping federal programs. They believe in retaining more tax money at community and state levels where it can be directly applied to local problems.

Democrats, by the very nature of their dependence on big government, are forced to seek more taxes to pay for large, less efficient federal programs. Because they don't believe many problems can be solved at the state and city levels, they try to funnel more dollars to the federal government.

Farm Programs.

Republicans believe that farmers must not be constricted by unwise government controls. The GOP maintains that producers of food and fiber should be permitted to operate as their own masters, rather than as wards of the federal bureaucracy.

Democrats, since the days of the New Deal, have tinkered with the farm economy by imposing quotas and setting prices. In the process they have produced a maze of government controls which have resulted in needless bankruptcies and lower profits for both large and small farmers.

The Environment.

Republicans believe that renewal of our environment is one of the great challenges facing this generation of Americans. Nothing so touches all citizens and the quality of their life than the air we breathe, the water we drink, and the condition of the land on which we live and work.

Despite this vital dependence upon the environment, we have allowed a serious imbalance to arise between man and nature. Technological progress meant a better life for all Americans but it also brought profound changes in the environment. For too long we have not adapted to these changes, and the evidence of neglect is all around us — in air and water and noise pollution, in traffic jams, in the breakdown of many of the systems that make up our daily life.

Environmental quality has become a vitally important issue. Government is now acting to solve the problems of urban sprawl, foul air, polluted water, and land abuse.

Under a Republican Administration, for the first time in our history the environment is a national priority. A special agency, the Environmental Protection Agency, has been established with Cabinet position to solve our neglected ills.

The Democrats have expressed their concern and maintain they are the Party that realized the people's needs, but it is the Republican Party that has recognized and responded to the Nation's problems.

Republican or Democrat?

America has prospered under the two-party system because one party has always served to check the excesses of the other. Republicans believe the time has come to reverse the trend toward bigness in government.

Aside from the mismanagement and waste of over-centralized administration, Republicans recognized a greater danger in big government. Once a people lose the feeling that they control their own destiny, when they come to depend on "the government" to solve all their problems, then they also lose spirit. And a people without spirit can never be a great people.

Many governmental functions must be returned to states and cities and enough tax money retained at those levels to adequately support them.

This is the Republican Way. The Democrats would solve America's problems with more money, more programs and more big government.

Republicans believe people should not be treated as a mass but as individuals. They believe the individual working, by himself or through well-managed programs, within a society for the good of all is the key to a great America. Republicans believe in people.

Yes, there is a difference!

Charge made by Panthers

DETROIT (UPI) — The Justice Department Friday dropped bomb conspiracy charges against Lawrence "Pun" Plamondon, subject of a landmark Supreme Court ruling on government eavesdropping — rather than disclose wiretap evidence it had gathered in the case.

The 26-year-old cofounder of the radical but now defunct White Panther party had spent most of the 2½ years since he was indicted either in hiding or in jail. He had been on the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted" list.

Charges against two other former White Panther leaders — John Sinclair, 29, and Jack W. Forrest, 22 — also were dropped.

The case was the third abandoned by the government since the June 20 Supreme Court ruling that wiretaps against domestic subversive groups without court authorization are illegal. Earlier charges stemming from the 1971 May Day antiwar demonstrations were dropped against Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman and Bradford Lyttle.

The high court ruling upheld an order issued by U.S. District Judge Damon Keith of Detroit, who had directed the government to either disclose the wiretap evidence in the Plamondon case or drop the charges.

'Mad cutter' active at base

NELLIS AFB, Nev. (UPI) — A high level source at this Air Force base said today a disgruntled airman called the "mad wire cutter" crept into a jet plane while officers were celebrating at a party and wrecked the plane's cockpit.

The "mad wire cutter" has been active on the base for several months, the source said but "until now he has confined his cutting activities to one area of the base, usually involving electrical wires and cables."

The base command refused to talk about the incidents, and the Pentagon said the plane had been reported damaged by accident, not sabotage.

A red alert was in effect at the base Friday. Armed guards patrolled the flight line, and air policemen searched autos entering and leaving the base. Such an alert is customary when liquor is served at a party on the base "to protect the jets," the base source said.

The vandal apparently used the ball as a diversion to enter the cockpit of a jet plane, despite the alert. He snipped wires, ripped out instruments and generally wreaked havoc with the plane's cockpit, according to the source.

An air policeman said the "mad cutter" is "probably a guy here on base who is peeved at the Air Force and this is his way of getting even for whatever wrong he feels has been done to him."

"Whoever this guy is, he's an experienced electrician," another air policeman said. "He knows what he's doing with those wire cutters."

It was not known what kind of plane was involved in the incident Thursday night. But the base aircraft include the controversial F111 fighter, the A7D Corsair II, the F4 Phantom and the F105 Thunderchief.

Charges dropped in eavesdropping case

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Black Panther has charged that police repeatedly fired bullets into the body of slain party leader Fred Hampton during a Dec. 4, 1969, weapons raid on a West Side apartment.

The allegations were made in two brief excerpts read in court Friday from a recently discovered statement given by Panther Louis Truelock to an attorney a short time after the raid.

In the statement Truelock accused Sgt. James Groth, leader of the raiding party, and policeman James "Gloves" Davis of riddling Hampton's body.

Groth and Davis have been indicted along with Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan and 11 others on charges of altering and concealing evidence about the raid.

Speaking of Groth, the statement alleged: "The sergeant he aimed at the chairman Hampton. He emptied his gun. Then he called for a machine gun."

In an excerpt referring to Davis, the statement charged: "Gloves laid his revolver on his elbow, like this, and aimed right at the chairman's body."

Davis, one of two black policemen indicted, was known as "Gloves" from his habit of wearing black leather gloves.

Building topples

ALGIERS (UPI) — At least 5 persons were killed and 30 injured Saturday when an explosion caused by leaking gas toppled a three-storey building and set fire to a department store in Algiers.

A government spokesman said the blast was touched off when a passing vehicle ignited an accumulation of leaking gas. The explosion caused the collapse of a three-story building and shattered windows of neighboring shops.

Michigan solon gives away crop

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (UPI) — Republican State Rep. Richard Friske started his own giveaway program Saturday — free cherries.

Friske has decided to give away his entire cherry crop rather than "knuckle under to government pressure and interference with free enterprise," he said.

In a printed flyer, he said "rather than destroy the bounty of our Lord and the fruit of the Friske family labor, there is available free 70,000 pounds of the finest red tart cherries ever grown on the Friske property."

Friske said starting Saturday he would allow anyone to come into his orchards between Atwood and Ellsworth, "and pick and keep all you want." The exception is no picking on Sundays.

Friske said his offer is based on opposition to a "federal law which has forced cherry producers to either sell at a dictated price to the processors and store 15 per cent of the product at exorbitant prices or shake them on the ground and pay a fixed penalty to the Cherry Administration Board," according to his announcement.

Road stolen

VITERBO, Italy (UPI) — Thieves stole 210 feet of historic road between Rome and Florence Friday night, police reported.

A patrol which guards ancient monuments and archaeological sites was speeding down the Cassia Road when the road ended abruptly. The patrol car hit the brakes and the guards got out.

Exhaust purifiers developed

MURRAY HILL, N.J. (UPI) — Scientists at Bell Laboratories have developed synthetic crystals for automobile exhaust purifiers which they said are much cheaper than the ingredients now being used.

It has been estimated that in order to comply with the emission control standards for 1976 models, the automakers may have to spend $4 billion a year on platinum for catalytic converters. Nearly all of the platinum would have to be imported from Europe and Africa. Chrysler Corp said last week it was trying to arrange to import platinum from the Soviet Union.

Scientists here announced Friday the discovery of a series of potential antipollution catalysts. They said the new catalysts are synthetic crystals made from compounds of manganese, cobalt and rare but inexpensive earth elements.

The purpose of the catalytic converter is to change dangerous carbon monoxide into harmless carbon dioxide.

The scientists said the experimental catalytic crystals are vastly cheaper than the platinum catalysts now being used in exhaust purifiers.

Blood money

HOUSTON (UPI) — Four men broke into a city blood bank Wednesday and took about $1,100 from a dozen persons donating blood, including a off-duty policeman.

A witness said the robbers, armed with guns, allowed those who were giving blood to complete their donation before taking their money.

Queen chosen at Murtaugh

MURTAUGH — Betty Will, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Will, Eden, succeeds Loretta Conrad as queen of the Murtaugh Hospitality Day for 1973.

She was crowned Saturday at the conclusion of gymkhana, one of the events of the annual western celebration in Murtaugh. Miss Will received the queen's trophy, several gift certificates and merchandise gifts from Twin Falls county business firms, a tiara from the Conrad Ranchers of Milner, and other gifts. Named first runner-up was Betsy Moorman, who also received a trophy and several gifts. Third was Cindy Bourn, who was awarded a gift certificate.

Dennis Shirley was selected by the queen contestants as "Mr. Maverick," a title given the individual who helps most during the contest and gymkhana. He received a special trophy.

Other events of the Saturday program included a parade with trophies to first place winners in various divisions. Kody McFarland and Connie Goodman won the individual trophies as a black face jazz musical team. The Oakley marching drill team won the award for the best marching group and the Foothill Lads and Lassies Club won the float award. A bicycle decorated as a kitty and a small covered wagon won in the youth entries.

THE PILOT of this Cessna 172 airplane which crashed and burned Saturday about 400 yards from the Gimlet Field in Blaine County escaped with minor injuries. James Herndon, 31, Salmon, was alone in the plane when it crashed.

Cabins entered in Blaine area

KETCHUM — Three cabin break-ins in the lower Baker Creek summer home area were reported over the weekend with about $550 in goods stolen.

According to the Blaine County Sheriff's office, William L. Watt, Buhl, said that thieves pried off the lock on a kitchen window and entered his cabin sometime between last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stolen was a china closet, valued at $100; an eight-foot-high wardrobe, worth $100; and other household goods with a total value of $120.

Two other adjacent cabin owners in the Baker Creek area, located north of Ketchum, reported break-ins which occurred at about the same time. In one break-in, an antique table worth $200 was taken, with an antique ice box stolen, from the rear of the other cabin.

Convocation set at Red Fish Lake

TWIN FALLS — Plans are being made for a Conservation Convocation Sept. 18 at Redfish Lake Lodge.

The annual event is sponsored jointly by the U. S. Forest Service the Idaho Federation of Garden Clubs and the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs.

Supervisor Ed Fournier of the Sawtooth National Forest said the in-the-field workshop will focus on selected environmental issues and the roll of women as makers of environment. Mrs. Kenneth Sadler, Nampa, is chairman for the garden clubs' participation and Mrs. Earl Harmon, Boise, is chairman for the women's clubs.

Mrs. Wendell O. Winger, Springville, Utah, will deliver the keynote address. She is recording secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and immediate past chairman of the General Federation's community improvement program.

Sessions will be held in the Redfish Lake Lodge and persons planning to attend should make reservations with Robert Tucker, Stanley lodge manager. Speakers for the three day program will include state legislators, Forest Service officials, college instructors and other specialists in the field of environment.

Fish and Game to build new office

BOISE — The State Fish and Game Department will spend about $80,000 for a new regional Magic Valley department office.

But Joseph C. Greenley, state department director, said today it would be "some months" before a decision is reached about whether to convert the present office site in Jerome or build a new building.

Greenley also said flatly, there are no plans for any change in the present bird farm now located in Jerome. Reports circulating in Jerome recently had speculated on a phasing out of the preserve site.

The director said the new regional headquarters would cost in the area of $80,000, and would include office space for a minimum of five department professionals and a secretarial staff of two. In addition, he said, the department wants to include a conference room for the staff, and "maybe a little warehouse space."

He said the present office, a converted family residence, is "too limited" to meet department needs in the area, and "is in pretty bad shape."

Although an architecture firm is drawing up the plans for the new office, members of the department will decide whether to build a new office or convert the present site.

Gem cheerleaders learn techniques

TWIN FALLS — Twenty-nine young women from Idaho high schools are learning finer points of cheerleading in a workshop which opened today at the College of Southern Idaho.

Willie Chong, Los Angeles, west coast representative of the American Cheerleaders Association, said this is the first workshop to be conducted in Idaho. It is designed to teach the high school cheerleaders crowd control, crowd psychology, working together, raising funds, the history of cheerleading and discipline, he said.

During the week girls from

Magic Valley, eastern and western Idaho schools, will be living in the dormitory on campus. They practice routines daily and also attend classroom sessions.

Girls begin activities by 6:30 a.m. each day and are in bed by 9:30 p.m. During the week they give up such things as boys, soft drinks and gum chewing to learn discipline and concentrate full-time on their responsibilities.

Registration began Sunday night. The workshop continues through Friday morning.

KH wrecks cause heavy damage

KING HILL — Two accidents Saturday morning on U. S. Highway 30 near here caused extensive damage to vehicles.

Deputy Sheriff George Taylor said one 1967 station wagon was destroyed by fire and a travel trailer was demolished in the two accidents.

A westbound automobile pulling a travel trailer and driven by Glenn Covert, 43, Hyrum, Utah, four miles east of King Hill went out of control when it pulled from the interstate onto U. S. Highway 30 and rolled over. Officers said the driver and seven passengers in the vehicle escaped injury.

The accident occurred at 10 a.m. Damage was estimated at $2,000 to the trailer and $100 to the car.

While Deputy Taylor was investigating the trailer accident, another vehicle, a station wagon owned by Freddie Fears, Seattle, Wash., and driven by Walter Fears, 21, Seattle, caught fire when a wheel bearing ignited a tire. The accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

The Glens Ferry Fire Department responded to help extinguish the blaze. Officers said the fire spread so rapidly through the vehicle the driver and nine passengers barely had time to get out of the station wagon. All of their possessions, including the driver's wallet which had been left on the platform above the dashboard, were lost.

Damage was estimated at $1,800, to the station wagon and no estimate had been made on the loss of items inside.

TF chain collision injures 3 persons

TWIN FALLS — Five vehicles were damaged and three persons injured in a "chain reaction" collision at North Five Points Saturday afternoon.

Treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for slight injuries were Mrs. Phyllis Metcalf, 34, Twin Falls, and her two children, Mathew Metcalf, 2, and Derrek Metcalf, 9.

According to Twin Falls

police, her vehicle started a chain reaction rear end collision accident. Her car apparently went out of control because of brake failure, she told police officers.

Mrs. Metcalf was traveling south on Blue Lakes North when her car struck a stopped car driven by Barbara Jean Smith, 15, Twin Falls, police said.

The Smith car, in turn, hit the rear end of a car driven by Vincent Stanley Cegelka, 39, Milwaukee, Ore. His car was pushed into a car driven by Jerrita Lynn Laughlin, 16, Buhl.

The Laughlin vehicle hit the rear end of a car driven by Mickey Louise Barber, 24, Twin Falls.

The four vehicles driven by Narber, Laughlin, Cegelka and Smith were all stopped and waiting for a red stop light at the North Five Points intersection.

Mrs. Metcalf was charged with following too closely, police said. Damages to the vehicles were listed as $80 to the Barber car, $250 to the Laughlin car, $800 to the Cegelka vehicle and $2,000 to the Smith car. Mrs. Metcalf's car received about $800 damage.

None of the passengers in the four other cars was injured.

Larceny charge nets conviction

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — A Bliss man and woman were found guilty of larceny of lost property in District Court in Gooding Saturday.

They were found innocent of an additional charge of grand larceny of livestock.

Elene Miller and Willis (Bud) Webb were charged with the two counts last September. They will face sentencing Aug. 4.

The jury deliberated for several hours Saturday before returning the two verdicts. Eleven months ago, according to Gooding County Sheriff Earl Brown, the Bank of Idaho foreclosed on ranches owned by the two, and when bank officials were sent to pick up the livestock, they noticed different brands on the herd.

Brand inspector James Baker, called into the case, reportedly found 26 strays belonging to six different ranchers who had previously made reports of missing cattle.

Judge James Cunningham, Fifth Judicial District, is presiding over the case, following the self-disqualification of Judge Charles Scoggin.

Girl transferred

BURLEY — Debbie Flowers, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Flowers, Burley, is in Cassia Memorial Hospital today after being returned from Holy Cross Hospital, Salt Lake City.

She remains in a coma with injuries received June 26 when a car struck several members of the Burley High School Marching Band.

She was transferred to Salt Lake on July 3.

Nutrition major health problem

GLENN'S FERRY (UPI) — In a recent screening conducted by the Idaho Department of Health, nutritional problems appeared to cause more diseases and deficiencies than any other health area.

According to a report issued Saturday, 106 of 613 persons screened were found to be overweight. In the area of anemia, a testing of 489 showed that 138 had some problem, presumably related to nutrition; 1 E., poor eating habits.

The health screening lasted one week, and 735 Glens Ferry residents were checked for various health deficiencies.

The health department, examiners tested 394 for tuberculosis, and 444 had their vision screened. In the vision screening, 56 persons appeared to have eyesight trouble, and have since been referred to doctors.

Eleven persons were told they had a diabetes problem, out of a testing total of 117. A hearing check disclosed 88 persons with deficiencies, the health report said.

Other communities soon to be screened are Garden Valley and McCall.

3 die on weekend

By United Press International

Three persons died in two separate accidents in Idaho this weekend.

The victims were: Gordon Johnson, 21, and Gayle Johnson, 22, both Wallace, and Frank Sanchez, in his late 20s, Corpus Christi, Tex.

According to police, the Johnson brothers were killed in a head-on collision on Interstate 90 near Wallace Sunday morning. Officers said a car driven by James Hodge, 27, Kellogg crossed the median strip into the eastbound lane and hit the Johnson car. He was listed in satisfactory condition at West Shoshone Hospital.

Sanchez died and six others were injured when their car slammed into the rear of a truck which had slowed to turn onto a side street. The mishap occurred on U. S. 191 just south of Idaho Falls.

The injured were reported in good condition at Idaho Falls Hospital.

The Idaho traffic fatality toll now stands at 175, compared to 159 a year ago.

1,500-acre fire halted

BURLEY — Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management fire crews brought to a halt 1,500-acre fire in the Buckhorn Canyon south-west of Burley.

The blaze began near the Buckhorn Ranch in the South Hills area Saturday afternoon, and by nightfall had a crew of 128 men in addition to tankers and airplanes battling to bring it under control. It was controlled about midnight but crews continued to fight the flames until about 5 p.m. Sunday.

Officials said the fire spread from BLM to forest land shortly after breaking out. One Sawtooth National Inter-Regional fire crew was dispatched immediately and three other crews of 25 members each from the Sawtooth and two north Idaho forests were intercepted for stand-by services as they returned from Nevada, where they have been fighting fires in the Las Vegas area.

Cause of the fire had not been determined. It burned in grass, brush and scrub cedar, officials said.

Three small range fires were reported over the weekend to the Shoshone office.

One at 2:55 a.m. Sunday east of the Jerome Golf Course burned less than one acre, Michael Green, public information officer, said.

The other two fires were Saturday, one near the Shoshone Ice Caves and the other northwest of Minidoka. Two were apparently man-caused and the one near Minidoka may have started from equipment being operated in the area.

Gooding homes project valid

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News Writer

WENDELL — Gooding County Federal Housing Administration Director Dell Taylor said today the "concept and organization" of a proposed housing project can continue "without Edward McNutt."

He said the fact that McNutt had resigned as head of the housing authority would not affect the project.

Taylor said the project is still in the works "unless the city has withdrawn its lease."

Taylor said he had not been informed of any cancellation of the lease.

Earlier today, McNutt said the project had definitely been cancelled because the lease had been dropped.

He said "the project is dropped. It is definitely off as it now stands and there is no way to revive it."

His statement contradicted an earlier statement by Councilman Dale Gilbert who said the lease was still in effect.

Under the lease agreement, the authority leased the site from the city.

McNutt said a new committee could be named by the council or the city could continue on a new project with the other members of the present committee from which McNutt has resigned.

Spanish family income up in '71

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Median income for families of Spanish origin rose to $7,550 during 1971, according to a new report released today by the Bureau of the Census.

The 1970 median level for Spanish origin families was $7,330. The difference between the two totals was not statistically significant due to sampling variability.

The median income for males of Spanish origin with one year or more of college was $9,110. Spanish origin families, whose head worked full-time year-around, had a median income of about $9,600. The latter represent 57 percent of all Spanish origin families.

The estimates by the Bureau, part of the U. S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration, were based on information from a nationwide survey of about 37,000 households conducted in March of 1972.

Persons of Spanish origin include those who identified their origin or descent as Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American, or other Spanish.

Chinook season closes in state

BOISE (UPI) — The 1972 chinook salmon fishing season in all Idaho waters closes today for 1972, according to the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Salmon anglers enjoyed a passable fishing season this year, with bag and possession limits liberalized since the last week in June.

The department said the total spring run was not larger than normal, but there was a greater rate of passage up the Columbia and Snake rivers with less loss of fish than last year at the dams. Nitrogen supersaturation was reduced by physical changes in the dam spillway structures.

TF club sets trail ride

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Junior Riding Club plans a two-day trail ride for members and their family Aug. 5 and 6 at the North Fork Camp ground.

Earlier this year, the club had taken 20 first place prizes in a parade competition in Nampa.

Bellevue wreck puts power out

BELLEVUE — Power was out in Bellevue for about 45 minutes Saturday evening after a one truck, non-injury accident.

According to a Blaine County Sheriff's Deputy, the accident happened about one mile north of Bellevue on the Broadford Road, about 6:15 p.m.

The deputy said that Steve D. Gutches, 25, Bellevue, was traveling west on the road when he lost control of his pickup truck and it skidded.

The truck traveled about 170 feet off the north side of the roadway, struck a power pole and rolled over, landing on its side.

The power pole broke off about five feet from its base and was moved west about 10 feet. Gutches was cited for inattentive driving.

Hiskey and Zarley cop PGA team championship

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI)—Kermit Zarley and Babe Hiskey, former teammates at the University of Houston, shot a five-under-par 66 Sunday to coast to a three-stroke victory in the PGA National Team championship.

Zarley clinched the top prize of $20,000 per man when he through most of the tournament, scoring 16 birdies as they finished at 22-under-par 262.

Johnny Miller and Grier Jones slipped into second place at 265 with a 63 Sunday, the best round of the day.

Lanny Wadkins and Gibby Gilbert shot a 69 for a 266 and finished third while Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody, the first-round leaders, were fourth with 64 for 267.

Hiskey and Zarley, who have not won an individual tournament since 1970, had five birdies and no bogeys in their final round. Zarley birdied the short par five sixth hole and two par threes on the back nine including No. 17. Hiskey birdied the two longest par five holes on the 7,045-yard Laurel Valley Golf Club course, which was softened by a morning-long rain.

There was a four-way tie for fifth place at 269 among the teams of George Archer-Bobby Nichols who had a 65 Sunday, brothers Dave and Mike Hill, Dale Douglass-Hale Irwin, who had a 64, and Harry Tossocano-Jim Wiechers.

"I was going to hit a four iron at 17," said Zarley, "but my partner came alive and told me to take out the three iron."

That was the shot that wrapped up the tournament and also snapped a series of disappointing finishes for Zarley, 30, who had a chance to win the U.S. Open last month until he shot a final round 79.

"It's been a little bit discouraging—the last round of every tournament has been my worst round for about three months," Zarley said. "I was just hoping I could play good today because Babe's been doing most of the playing in this thing."

The victory earned both Zarley and Hiskey a year's exemption from qualifying for PGA tournaments.

The Twin Falls American Legion team breezed to another triumph, 16-0, over the Boise Senators Sunday afternoon to take the three-game week-end series two to one.

Twin Falls now points to a best of three series at Mountain Home this week with the winner moving into the state tournament in Lewiston.

Ickx drives Ferrari to grand prix win

NURBURGRING, Germany (UPI)—Jacky Ickx of Belgium Sunday led from start to finish in his 12-cylinder Ferrari to win the 34th edition of the German Grand Prix, the eighth formula one race counting towards the world driver's championship.

The 27-year-old baby-faced Belgian, scoring his second German Grand Prix victory since his 1969 win, covered the 198.8 miles in 1:42:12.3 hours for an average speed of 116.6 mph.

Switzerland's Clay Regazzoni made it a clean sweep for the flame red Ferraris as he finished second in 1:43:00.8.

Sweden's Ronnie Peterson in an STP March was third in 1:43:19.0 hours.

Ickx, giving Ferrari its first victory after 14 grand prix races, was never challenged during the 14-lap race over the 14.2-mile twisting Nurburgring circuit.

He improved the lap record on almost every round and finally set the mark at 7:13.6 minutes at an average speed of 117.74 mph.

The fierce battle for second place thrilled 250,000 fans.

Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi held second spot in his Lotus Ford until the end of the 10th lap when his engine started smoking and caught fire.

The 25-year-old Brazilian was able to jump out of his car in time, and onrushing firemen extinguished the flames and smoke immediately.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland, the defending champion, was also hit by bad luck. Challenging Regazzoni for second place in his Tyrrell Ford at the start of the final lap, he brushed the Swissman's car, lost a wheel and had to retire with only 12.4 miles to go.

Fittipaldi retained his lead in the world championship standings with 43 points. Stewart is still second with 27 points. Ickx moved into third spot with 25 points leaving the championship open for the four remaining races in Austria, Italy, Canada and the United States.

Stewart blamed Regazzoni for the mishap when the rear wheels of their autos touched and the Scotsman spun off the track.

Killebrew's home run carries Twins past White Sox by 1-0

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Harmon Killebrew's home run and Jim Perry's clutch pitching produced a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Sunday. The home run broke a scoreless duel in the sixth inning between Perry and Wilbur Wood.

Killebrew's home run to left field, which nearly landed in foul territory, was his fifth homer in the last six games and his 18th of the season.

Until Killebrew homered in the sixth inning Wood, who was making his 16th start of the season on two days rest, had held the Twins to just four hits.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices turned lower Monday in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 3.31 at 923.39. It had been ahead at the outset. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was down 0.18 to 107.20. Declines outnumbered advances, 673 to 531, among the 1,605 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover totaled 6,300,000 shares, down from the 7,890,000 traded during the corresponding period Friday.

Crocker National Bank was the most active issue, unchanged at 31 1/4 on 124,900 shares, including a block of 122,000 at 31, off 1/4. Molybdenum was second, unchanged at 16 on 120,500 shares. Plessey was third, unchanged at 2 1/4 on 115,100 shares.

Polaroid gained 1 1/2 and Corning Glass 1 1/2 in the glimmers. Philip Morris lost 2 1/4, Jaggett & Myers 1 1/2, Bausch & Lomb 1 1/2, Tropicana 1.

IBM rose 1 1/2 in the easier electronics and computers. Fairchild Camera dropped 1 1/2. Texas Instruments 1 1/4, Motorola 1 1/4.

Rails and airlines were mixed.

Aircraft moved irregularly. Chemicals generally were lower. Steels, motors and oils were mixed.

Fair tonight and Tuesday, a little warmer Tuesday.

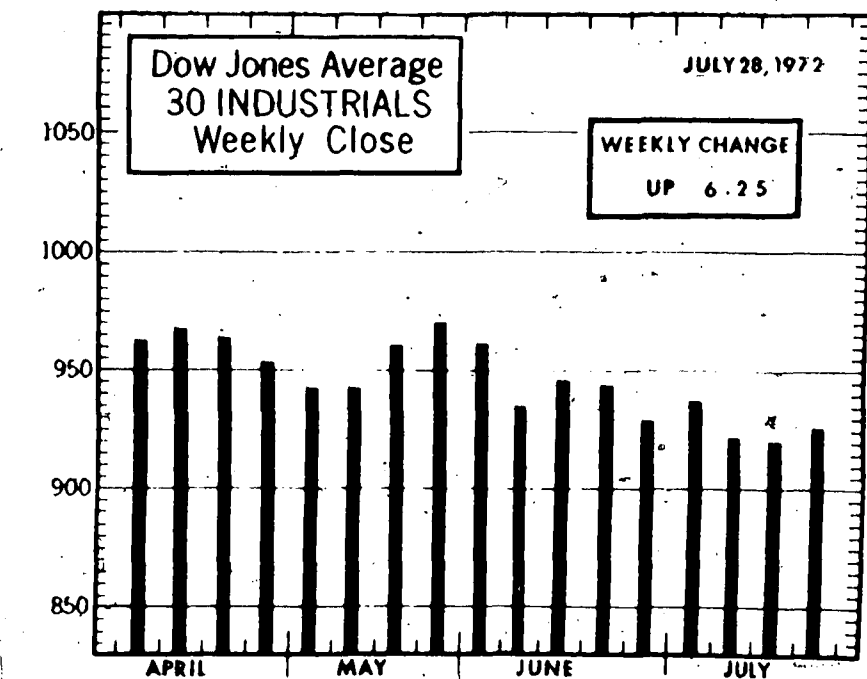

Lows tonight 42 to 52, highs Tuesday 82 to 92.
Outlook for Wednesday, fair with little temperature change.
Synopsis:
High pressure aloft is building over the eastern Pacific and Western states. This will cut off the moisture supply and bring drier air into the Intermountain region through Tuesday. Temperatures will range mostly in the 80's and 90's with only minor changes through mid-week.

The overnight lows will become a little cooler, and range from the mid 40's in the higher valleys through the 50's in the lower valleys.
Yesterday, considerable cloudiness prevailed through the area, lowering maximum temperatures about 20 degrees.

Traces of precipitation were reported throughout the valleys but no measurable amounts were reported in southern Idaho.
High temperatures yesterday ranged from the lower 80's to 100 degrees at King Hill. Lows this morning varied with the amount of cloudiness, and ranged from the mid 50's through the 60's.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q We are retired and interested in income producing stocks with some growth possibilities. Our holdings of General Motors (NYSE) are rather large. Although the return is fair, shares have not shown much growth. Should we switch to another issue?
J. L.

A—With earnings expected to continue their upturning pattern into 1973, I would not advise disposing of the shares at this time. In the March quarter earnings gained 7 per cent, a rate, which, if maintained, would lift full-year profit to $7.20 a share and share price to higher levels.

Furthermore, the current dividend rate of $3.65 a share would then likely be supplemented in November. Under Phase 2 guidelines an annual dividend of up to $4.47 a share is permissible.

In the last decade shares have traded in a 56-point cyclical range between $58 and $114, following closely the ups-and-downs in the economy. Recovery will probably be less exuberant than in the mid-1960s.
Q Between 1961 and 1966 I invested $10,000 in United Accumulative Fund with the intention of having a monthly income if needed, after retirement I am now retired but so far have not required the extra income, so have left all dividends in, to accumulate. Should I hold the 2,165 shares, redeem them or transfer to some other United Fund?
R. J.

A—The performance of this fund has been below average in the last five years. Your investment made 6 to 11 years ago has appreciated only 78 per cent including income dividends. This return is only slightly better than you would have done in a savings account.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Contrary Investor says from a stock market viewpoint we remain in a "dichotomy" between fundamentals and technical indicators. Interestingly enough, while the basic economic figures improve, technicians see worsening signs in their charts and computers, it adds.

E. F. Hutton notes the transportation index has been disappointingly weaker than the industrials over the past two sessions, although it has not negated the reversal pattern traced out last week, one of the technical signals for the market advance that followed. "In summary, the market is consolidating its recent gains in a fairly commendable fashion and has done nothing over the past two days to alter the feeling that a more positive approach is warranted," the firm says.

TPO Inc. says the long awaited summer rally appears to have begun with a bang with the Dow Jones industrial average jumping 40 intra-day points in three trading days. "A strong pocket of resistance between 940-950 could lead to a temporary reaction over the near term, but most issues now have an excellent chance of rotating upward during the next few weeks," the firm notes. "It thus appears likely that an intermediate rally is under way with the Dow Jones industrials possibly rising to 980-1000 by September."

Three suitable bonds are Allied Chemical 3 1/2's of 1978, Beneficial Finance 5's of 1977 and Columbia Gas 4 1/2's of 1983. These three issues carry A or better ratings, yield 4 per cent to 5 1/2 per cent and sell at 8 per cent to 20 per cent discounts from par value.

FEDERAL CLEAN AIR ACT

AS AMENDED

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announces a public hearing to discuss proposed Federal regulations to remedy disapproved portions of the document entitled Idaho Air Quality Implementation Plan.

The public hearing will be held in order to discuss all matters relevant to assuring that the State of Idaho air pollution control implementation plan fully complies with all requirements of the Clean Air Act and the applicable regulations. To fulfill requirements of the Clean Air Act, this hearing will consider proposed Federal regulations. The location and date for the hearing is:

August 31, 1972, 10 a.m.

Elmore and Camas Rooms,

College Union Building,

Boise State College,

Boise, Idaho.

All interested persons and members of the public are invited to be present or represented by a representative of a Federal, State, or local agency. All persons are also invited to express their views concerning the proposed regulations.

On May 13, 1972, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency approved the State of Idaho's air pollution control implementation plan for the attainment and maintenance of national standards with the exception of portions of the plan concerning the legal authority for the release of emissions data to the public. To remedy this deficiency, the Administrator has delegated to Idaho's authority under section 114 of the Act, the strategy for the control of sulfur dioxide in the Eastern Idaho Interstate and the Eastern Washington Northern Idaho Interstate Air Quality Control Regions. Compliance schedules, air quality standards, review of new sources and modifications, and attainment dates for national standards (see F.R. 10842 at 10861 May 31, 1972) under Section 110 of the Clean Air Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency is directed to remedy a portion of a State air pollution control implementation plan which is not in accordance with the requirements of Section 110 of the Act. Therefore, the Administrator, in accordance with other federal regulations and other actions proposed to remedy the disapproved portions of the State of Idaho air pollution control implementation plan.

Those individuals wishing to testify are requested to notify the EPA Regional Office, Miss Kathryn M. Davidson (Phone No. (206) 442-1226), at least five days before the hearing. Oral statements will be heard, but limited to 15 minutes per person or a time determined by the presiding officer, but for accuracy of record all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing. Written statements may be handed to the person presiding at the hearing or mailed to: Regional Administrator, Environmental Protection Agency, Region 8, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Seattle, Washington, 98101. Attention: Mr. Gary D. Young. It is requested that all written statements be accompanied by a one-page summary of the statements received by September 8, 1972, will be incorporated into the official record of this hearing.

The "Idaho Air Quality Implementation Plan" as supplemented, the above cited Federal Register of May 31, 1972, and proposed Federal regulations to remedy disapproved portions of the State of Idaho air pollution control implementation plan, may be inspected by the public in the EPA Regional Office, Room 10B (Air Quality Management Section) 1200 Sixth Avenue, Seattle, Washington, 98101. You may obtain the Federal Register of May 31, 1972, and the proposed Federal regulations by sending a written request to the above address.

Please bring the foregoing to the attention of the persons known to you to be interested in this matter.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S
HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You find there is a decided conflict between ideas and performance today, between financial activities and intellectual outlets, and it is necessary that you do try to harmonize the two different systems by scheduling your hours to give you a chance to build up both avenues of expression rightly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) That monetary plan you have cannot work out successfully if you do not get the support of a backer who also has the necessary expertise. You would only work yourself literally to death otherwise. Retire early in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Those of the female gender are most helpful in a.m. and p.m., but males are apt to be most demanding, so be guided accordingly. Show higher-ups that finances are not uppermost in your mind. Get bills paid early.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Run over accounting records and you find you can make new investment, or find ways to economize. Follow through with advice given you by experts. Being with intellectuals later in the day is fine.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Avoid one who has nothing but money on his or her mind and enjoy the company of good friends you like. You are able to gain that idealistic aim today if you work at it wisely. Think constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you in any wayirk a bigwig who is most important to your way of life, you will certainly regret it later on. Get busy on personal matters that are vital and keep out of trouble. Pay that bill instead of arguing about it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have fine ideas for advancing, so set up the right new policy quickly for future living, but do notirk a good adviser. Plan that new trip also. Forget those things you can do nothing about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Let a good pal guide you on just how to have more pleasant relations with others, but avoid a highfalutin financier who has an eye on your assets. Not a good day for business, but fine for social, cultural matters. Be more sure of yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listen to what a partner has to say and cooperate with his ideas, instead of following an irascible bigwig today. Bigwigs have conflicting ideas, so keep neutral now and all is fine for you. Grow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have fine new ideas that require only openmindedness to derive many benefits from them, plus good hard work. Plan those changes that are necessary, and also handle transportation matters well. Change your diet, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Fine day for enjoying amusements during spare time; forget going to that adviser who is too busy today. You have specialized talents that should be put to work now. These can lead to excellent benefits.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to understand what it is that your associates expect of you, and you find you come to a far better understanding. Don't bring up little frustrations at home that can start a big argument. Show you have poise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be active at shopping, keeping appointments and getting everything operating much more efficiently now. Do notirk that co-worker who is already in a bad mood. Evening is fine for whatever is of a social nature.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who likes to please others, but is also of a very practical turn of mind, so be sure you understand your child and do not try to change him or her to suit your own ideas, or the fine promise here will be lost. Slant the education along lines that will place your youngster in the limelight, whether on the stage, in political circles, on the lecture platform, or whatever. Encourage your son, daughter.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Chile's Girls
Are Prettiest

Twenty years ago the blondes of northern Italy were said to be the most beautiful women of all. Ten years ago the almond-eyed ladies of Thailand were generally named to that honor. Today, the girls of Chile are so credited. Airline pilots who claim expertise in these matters now contend there are more perfect feminine figures in Chile than anywhere in the world.

TRICKY business, the ball bond game. Every fifth soul underwritten by the bondsmen jumps bail. WHEN JAPANESE fishermen started using pink nets, they boosted their catches by 80 per cent. They wondered why. Still do. Me too.

EVEN THOUGH people who bite their fingernails are thought to be an angry lot, the science boys insist they rarely start quarrels. Whatever goes wrong, the nail biters, they say, tend to blame themselves.

QUERIES
Q. "Where does 'Baker' rank on that list of most popular surnames?"
A. It's No. 31.

"HOW many fair-skinned blacks nationwide pass every year? By pass, I mean identify as white?"
A. About 10,000, it's said.

Q. "IN 'GUNSMOKE,' how much does old Matt Dillon fine those rough-and-tumble cowboys who shoot off their guns in Dodge City?"
A. All I can tell you is the real Wyatt Earp levied a customary fine of $2.50 for such fireworks.

THE HONORARY Indian name of that seasoned screen queen Barbara Stanwyck is reported to be "many Conquests."

BIG BEN

You know Big Ben is the bell in London's great clock tower. But do you know for whom Big Ben was named? Sir Benjamin Hall, commissioner of works thereabouts when that bell was first hung. What, you say you never heard of him?

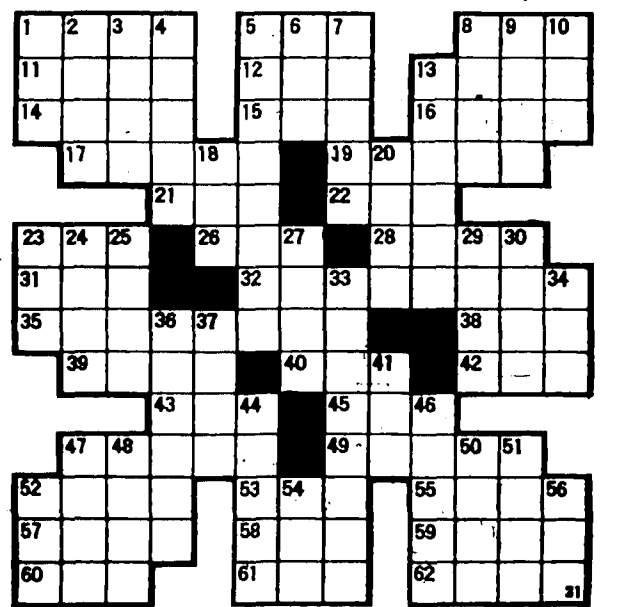

Her face first, then her hair! That's the order of importance a woman ought to give her physical attributes when getting gussied up. Her face first, because that's what's noticed first. Then her hair, because it frames the face. Such is the opinion of a television makeup man. Any extravagant hair arrangement that draws attention from a woman's eyes, he contends, is bad. Very bad. He nominates the beehive as the most offensive feminine hairdo of the Twentieth Century. Second most offensive, the shag wig. Third, the long straight double peek-a-bow.
