Area citizens vote, settle hot contests

TWIN FALLS — Despite a minimum of contests in the primary elections around the Magic Valley today, local officials were predicting heavy voter turnouts.

The races that have drawn the most attention, in Jerome and Twin Falls, were for nominations for the sheriff's office on the Republican ticket.

In Twin Falls, County Clerk Harold Lancaster found registrations so heavy last week that he had to order a new shipment of voter registration cards sent in by air mail.

In Jerome County, Clerk Virginia Ricketts reported over 4,500 people had registered to vote, an unusually high number; and 1,600 of them were new registrants. A large percentage of 18 to 21 year olds were registered to vote, the clerk said. Turnout today was steady. The local trend is mirroring what has been predicted for the state as a whole. Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa and Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon this week predicted heavy turnouts, partly based on the newly enfranchised, younger voters.

In Twin Falls, Sheriff Paul Corder, a Republican, and a former deputy on his staff, Ronald Goodman, were vying for the party's nomination for office. Corder has served for five years, having been appointed in 1967 to serve an unexpired term, and was elected in his own right in 1968. In Jerome County, retirement of Sheriff Pat Burns, a Republican, has created a wild nine-man scramble to succeed him. Republicans hoping for victory today include Dennis Robinette, Irving Altman, Jack Parrott, Eliza Hall, James Laswell and Boyd Rydalen. Jerome Chief of Police Howard DuBois is running as a Republican write-in candidate. The lone Democrat in the race is Foley Asher. One other man, Paul Whaley, is running as an Independent.

Cleo C. Ambrose, a Jerome County commissioner, is faced with a challenge for his two-man race for county renomination for Milford Jones. In Camas County, voters are faced with two contested races, for county commissioner and sheriff on the Republican ballot. Dwight Osborne and William F. Stewart, both Republicans, are seeking the party nomination for county commissioner, while three men, Paul E. Cox, Calvin C. McNeil and Paul L. Bracy, are hoping for the Republican nomination for Sheriff.

In Lincoln County, the only contest is for the Republican nomination for coroner. Dr. R. G. Neher and William A. Turska are vying for the nomination.

The only Gooding County commissioner is provided by the county. John R. LeMoyné and William N.

Brailsford are both seeking the Republican nomination. Blaine County lists two contested races, for Republican candidates for sheriff and county commissioner.

Robert W. Ratto and Russ L. Horn are seeking the nomination of the Republican Party for the county commission, while Ivan Swaner and Dennis L. Haynes are seeking the Republican right to challenge incumbent Democrat Sheriff Orville Drexler in November.

There are no primary battles for any of the valley's legislative seats.

Strict gun bill killed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate rejected, 75 to 16, today a proposal by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., for nationwide registration and licensing of pistols and revolvers.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., opposed the legislation as unenforceable. He said in cities where such laws have been tried "they have failed and failed miserably."

"Why is it these laws are not successful?" Hruska asked. Answering himself, he said:

"Because the public does not support this type of law. It will not support an effort to enforce such laws."

A similar proposal embracing all types of civilian-owned weapons, including sporting rifles and shotguns, offered by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was rejected by the Senate Monday 78-11.

Also rejected, 84-7, was a proposal by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to outlaw private possession of pistols and revolvers.

Sen. George S. McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate, voted with the majority, both times.

Candidate arraigned

SHOSHONE — A Republican candidate for the office of Lincoln County coroner was arraigned for drunk driving in magistrate court Monday.

W. A. Turska, Shoshone naturopath, has been charged with driving while intoxicated and driving with a suspended license.

Turska entered a plea of not guilty before Magistrate C. M. Wilson and was held in the Lincoln County jail in lieu of $750 bond. The hearing was set for Aug. 15.

Turska is opposing incumbent coroner, Dr. R. G. Neher.

Prostitution linked to 3 Burley hotels

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

BURLEY — An abortive attempt to charge a prostitute with grand larceny triggered a "crackdown" on prostitution throughout Cassia County Monday morning.

Cassia County Prosecutor Gordon Nielson said he issued cease-and-desist injunctions Monday against three Burley hotels ordering the owners to "abate a moral nuisance" by ending the alleged prostitution. The injunctions are effective "immediately," Nielson said.

The hotels involved were the Lee Rooms, the Pine Hotel and the Central Hotel. All are second story walk-ups in the downtown area.

The injunctions can be enforced by court action if they are not obeyed and the buildings can be sealed off from any use for an entire year. The action is a civil one taken to ring a prompt end to the "nuisance" and does not involve criminal penalties at this time.

An intensive investigation is continuing in secret, he said.

Nielson declined to release information on the owners of the three Burley hotels under investigation today, saying that there had been no formal charges filed.

"We don't know that they are, in any way directly connected with the alleged activities which are the subject of our investigation," Nielson said. The state law requires that the owner of record be served with an injunction, but this does not necessarily mean that he is implicated with the alleged activities, he said.

A check by the Times-News showed that the owners of record of the three hotels are Shelby Enterprises, Inc., Kay Martin, Burley, and the Kales S. Lowe Estate. Donald Westfall has been identified as the apparent agent of the Lowe estate. Further details were not available today.

Joe Shelby of Twin Falls, president of Shelby Enterprises, said this morning that he was unaware of the issuance of any injunction, since he had been out of town until today.

Shelby Enterprises owns the Pine Hotel but has leased it since acquiring the property. Shelby said he did not have the records available as to who is operating the hotel.

Shelby said he was unaware of any activities other than operation of a hotel being conducted on the premises.

The "cease-and-desist" order was issued somewhat prematurely as a result of an intensive year-long investigation, Nielson said. He said he had planned mass raids of the establishments later this month culminating in the arrest of the persons involved at the time.

However, last Saturday night, Nielson said he was called by a woman identified as Kathryn (Kay) Martin, a resident of the Lee Hotel in downtown Burley. The complainant said "one of her girls" had stolen $300 from her and left town and she wanted to sign a complaint, Nielson said.

The 22-year-old suspect, who was not identified by the prosecutor, was traced to a Utah-bound bus. Utah authorities were notified and the girl was taken into custody at Tremonton, Utah. Nielson and Cassia County Sheriff Ray Mitchell, went to the Utah community and returned the girl to Burley to face the grand larceny charge.

En route from Tremonton to Burley, the prosecutor said the young lady discussed her work at the Burley hotel. She admitted to prostitution, but insisted that she had earned the money and had not stolen it. When Nielson and Mitchell confronted Mrs. Martin with the girl, she then refused to press charges or sign a complaint.

Admitting that the refusal "left us out on a limb," Nielson said he told Mrs. Martin that she was to close down the alleged prostitution.

Big vote seen

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI)

Despite summer vacations and hot, sultry weather, a record number of Idahoans are expected to vote in the primary election today — many of them exercising their franchise for the first time.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa and Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon — three of the five members of the state board of canvassers — all forecast a record turnout.

Andrus declined to pick a number but Cenarrusa estimated 165,000 and Cenarrusa 175,000 would cast ballots. All cited the newly-enfranchised 18, 19 and 20-year-olds as one of the reasons for the heavy turnout and Cenarrusa guessed they could number as many as 40,000.

Cenarrusa also reported that absentee voting is very heavy this year, indicating a more than usual interest in the election in a year when no statehouse offices are on the ballot.

"It's a combination of young people, issues and contests in some offices," Cenarrusa said. The record was 157,718 in the 1966 primary.

For some, today may hold a surprise at the polls if they never voted in an Idaho election before, new registration deadline was 8 p.m. last Saturday. Those registered under the old registration law can update their registration today at the polls, Cenarrusa said.

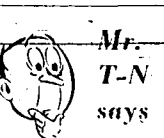

Polls in the 651 precincts will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Featured on the ballot are four-way races for the Democratic and Republican nominations for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Republican Len B. Jordan. There also is a race for the GOP nomination for Congress from the First District.

Besides picking other congressional nominees who are running without opposition, the voters will choose nominees for 103 seats in the legislature. There are 35 races on the legislative ballots. Commissioners, sheriffs and some other county officials are up for nomination and election this year and in some areas the contests are hot ones.

In addition, the electorate must make official the re-election of Supreme Court Justices Harry McQuade and Joseph McPadden.

Few effects from flares

By DALE STEWART
Times-News City Editor

TWIN FALLS — The current series of "solar flares" apparently has had little effect on telephone and electrical communications in the Magic Valley.

The most recent of the flares erupted on the surface of the sun's surface Monday. When the electrified gases spewed out reach the earth in another day or two, another geomagnetic storm will occur.

Scientists say the most apparent effects will be a blackout of radio communications in the polar regions and power surges in major electrical transmission lines. Another effect is the appearance of aurora borealis — "northern lights" in the northern skies.

Earl Haroldson, division manager for Idaho Power Co. Twin Falls, said a check with the utility's dispatcher in Boise shows no problems anywhere along the system, from eastern Oregon to the Pocatello area.

Magnetic emanations from solar flares don't usually affect power lines, Haroldson said. When they do, they affect control circuitry and not transmission lines.

Don Worsen, supervisory service foreman, for Mountain Bell, Twin Falls, said the magnetic bursts don't seem to affect microwave equipment used by the telephone company because of its high frequency and because it operates on a "line of sight" basis.

"We've had no trouble so far with it," Worsen said. "However, some lower frequency equipment might be interrupted." He said that the telephone company's microwave systems are occasionally disrupted when aircraft fly through the beams or by raindrops of a certain density.

In United Press International reports, scientists in Boulder, Colo., said today that current series of flares is expected to continue for a few more days because the flare producing area in the sun's northeast quadrant is "almost as active and angry looking as it was when it started last week."

The solar flares are being studied from Boulder high altitude observatories. Information is being sought on radiation effects on astronauts and on weather patterns on Earth by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Monday's flare was the largest ninth in a well-week-long series. It covered 200 billion square miles of the sun's surface. That's more than 50 times the area of the Earth's surface.

Real income

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government released figures today which show the average American's salaries and wages are increasing faster than prices.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics released a report showing that average salaries of selected white collar workers kept ahead of inflation for the nine months ending March 31 by rising 4.4 per cent, compared to a 2.1 per cent increase in consumer prices for the same period.

Stevenson proposes ban on handguns

The proposals were offered as amendments to a bill by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., outlawing the sale of pistols and revolvers known as "Saturday night specials."

Importation of such handguns was barred by the 1968 gun control law. But domestic manufacturers immediately began producing this type of weapon from both domestically produced and imported components.

Saturday night specials are defined as guns which have no sporting purpose.

"This amendment is a workable and practical answer to a plague of handgun violence. It recognizes the legitimate uses for handguns, but it also recognizes that you don't shoot ducks with a snub-nosed .38," Stevenson said.

Calling the handgun the "chief instrument of crime and violence in our society," Stevenson said "it's time to adopt effective handgun controls."

Hart argued that handguns have "one primary purpose—to kill or seriously wound other human beings. Broader controls on every type of handgun are needed if we would diminish the tragic frequency of violence in America."

Church opposes control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Monday he would vote against pending Senate legislation to impose controls on so-called "Saturday night specials" — cheap handguns.

In remarks prepared for delivery in the Senate, Church — who has opposed federal gun control legislation since he came to the Senate in 1957 — said enactment of the pending legislation "will only encourage the introduction of broader gun control legislation in the future, designed to insure total federal pre-emption of the field."

He added, "As a senator representing a rural state whose people regard their unfettered right to purchase and possess guns as a symbol of their sovereignty, I must vote against this bill."

BURLEY — Frank Patterson, owner of Patterson Customer Relations and Sales Clinic for 34 years, spoke to the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Patterson will be conducting his customer relations and sales clinic from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Aug. 22 and 23 at Ponderosa Inn, sponsored by Burley Lions Club.

Robert Barton, administrator at Cassia Memorial Hospital, announced the contract on the present addition to the hospital calls for the construction to be completed by Aug. 9, but some areas are ahead of schedule and others are slightly behind. An opening ceremony for the new addition is set for Sept. 8 and 9.

Barton introduced Dr. Brigitte Mengelberg, who was in Burley Monday. She is considering establishing her medical practice here.

U.S. fed up with 'welfare loafers'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John G. Schmitz, the John Birch Society member nominated for President by the American Party, describes his candidacy as a spark in dry grass — ready to burst into flame at any moment.

The dry grass, he contends, is the discontent of the millions who make up "Middle America." He says they are fed up with loafers on the welfare rolls at one extreme, and at the other with inheritors of wealth who flirt with socialism in search of political power.

The American Party picked Schmitz as its standard bearer at Louisville, Ky., last week after Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace decided not to run again.

Schmitz insisted in an interview Monday that he is a "serious candidate, not an unrealistic one." He said his main problem would be to reach enough people between now and November and that he would have to concentrate on television and radio. He said he had numerous invitations to appear on panel and talk shows.

"They're curious about the man who has taken George Wallace's place," he said. "They want to see what kind of man he is."

Schmitz is a lampduck Republican congressman from California's 35th congressional district in Orange County, a bastion of conservatism. He was elected to Congress in 1970 after six years in the California State Senate, but he was beaten in the primary this year.

He is a stocky, balding man with a thin black moustache who will be 42 on Saturday. From 1952 to 1960, he served as a Marine Corps jet and helicopter pilot and holds a commission as a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps reserve. He has taught philosophy, history and political science at California's Santa Ana college.

Schmitz is a Roman Catholic and the father of seven children.

The candidate said he does not look upon the American Party as "a third party" but as an "alternative party" for those who are fed up with the Democrats and the Republicans. He said the Democrats are "the party of disaster" and the Republicans are "the party of decay."

5 slain in home

BARRINGTON HILLS, Ill. (UPI) — Robbers, who were apparently professionals, "slaughtered" a wealthy retired socialite-businessman, his wife, stepdaughter and sister-in-law Friday night and ransacked their $100,000 estate home, but left valuable jewelry behind, police said Saturday.

The gunmen who invaded the estate home of Paul M. Corbett in this exclusive Chicago suburb went through the two main bedrooms of the home thoroughly, apparently looking for "documents or money," a Cook County sheriff's deputy said at the scene.

Slain were Paul M. Corbett, 67, retired former president of Johnson & Higgins, one of the nation's largest insurance brokerage firms, his wife, Marian Boyd Corbett, her daughter by a previous marriage, Barbara Boyd, 22, and her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Derry, 60.

They apparently had been herded into the kitchen and shot down, police said. Corbett's stepson, Anthony Boyd, found the bodies of his mother, sister, aunt and stepfather in a pool of blood when he went to the home to return a borrowed car Friday night.

Last survivor of love duel dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tom Neal, whose film career was ruined by the beating he gave Franchot Tone in a celebrated fist fight over a sexy young actress, was found dead Monday. He was 59.

After the scandal, Neal was reduced to working as a gardener, and later found guilty of shooting his third wife in the head with a .45 caliber pistol as they made love. He was sentenced to prison and paroled last year.

Neal was found dead in bed by his son, Thomas Patrick Neal, 15. Sheriff's deputies said death appeared to have been from natural causes.

Neal was the last survivor of the love triangle that made headlines in 1951 — Neal, Tone and Barbara Payton, then a 23-year-old blonde starlet.

Neal had appeared in 180 pictures, mostly B movies such as "Flying Tigers" and "First Yank into Tokyo." He had a mansion, a swimming pool and lived the movie star life when he became involved with Miss Payton.

TF council delays McDonald's building

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City councilmen granted building permits for all applications except one the application by McDonald's to construct a restaurant on Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Granting of the application was delayed until parties involved in a dispute over the construction have opportunity to meet and report to the council.

Counsel for Dr. C. R. McWilliams, whose property borders the VanEngelen property purchased by McDonald's, reported that irrigation matters have not been settled to Dr. McWilliams' satisfaction. He said the McDonald's representatives have agreed that Dr. McWilliams continue to receive water, but that there would be expense to Dr. McWilliams in supplying a new route for water delivery. Dr. McWilliams was out of town and the council agreed that the two factions should meet and report to the council. The building permit is expected to be granted at the next council meeting.

In other action the council: Denied a request by Colonial Life Insurance Co. to sell disability insurance to city employees; and have the city make payroll deductions for the insurance.

Approved the appointment of Harold Grigg to the Twin Falls City Highway and Traffic Safety Commission.

Released the Lynwood Shopping Center parking bond to the contractor; Denied a request for deferment of curb construction by Magic Valley Green Cross Veterinary Hospital.

Placed on third reading and disallowed a request that a portion of the alley north of DuBois street be vacated. The council pointed out to property owners who wished to add onto a house bordering on the alley, that a variance could possibly be okayed to allow construction.

Okayed a request for alley encroachment by Keith Malone of Keith's Interiors. The encroachment would be only about 30 inches, reported city manager Jean Milar.

Accepted low bids from Standard Oil Co. for petroleum products; Continental Oil for Kerosene, and United Oil for anti-freeze.

Other bids submitted were from Aslett Construction Co., Twin Falls, for $125,170; Peter Kiewit and Sons, Twin Falls, $168,279; and Stanley Quigley, $163,555.

The 12th game of the 24-match series was scheduled for 1 p.m. EDT today. Fischer was playing the white pieces and moving first.

Fischer, the U.S. challenger, held a 6-1-2 to 4-1-2 advantage over Spassky, the Soviet world champion. A victory today would give Fischer a three-point lead with only 12 games to play and a tie would keep his lead at two points. Fischer needs 12-1-2 points to become the first American to win the chess world championship, while Spassky needs 12 to retain the title.

Britain's air gets cleaner

LONDON (UPI) — Every day in every way Britain's air is getting cleaner, according to a government report.

The Department of Trade and Industry Monday released a report by one of its research laboratories saying daily average smoke concentrations in British cities dropped 60 per cent in the 10 years ending in 1971.

London and some other major industrial cities, such as Sheffield, cleaned their air at an even faster rate, the Warburton Spring Laboratory report said. It said sulphur dioxide concentrations fell 30 per cent in the 10-year period, but the greater London area is the nation's worst for sulphur dioxide content.

The report cited use of tall chimneys and the siting of new industrial installations well away from big towns as factors in cleaning urban air. It said the pollution decrease was expected to continue.

But it noted some places "are still far too heavily polluted by smoke." Most of it from domestic open fires.

4-H exchange students feted

BURLEY — The 4-H Japanese students and their adviser were honored Sunday evening at a picnic at Salmon Park.

Honored were Yoshiko Shiozaki, Hiromi Okamoto, Kazuko Murato, Teruyo Miura, all 4-H students; and their adviser Mrs. Mitsuko Tashiro. Unable to attend the picnic was Madoka Maruyama.

The students are living with residents in Mini-Cassia area. The group is in the area on a 4-H exchange student plan and will remain here through Aug. 10. Then the students will go to Spokane, Wash., and from there to Glacier National Park, Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest.

A special program will be presented by the Japanese students during the annual 4-H Style Review at 8 p.m. Aug. 15 in 4-H building on fairgrounds.

Last week the youths attended 4-H camp in the Ketchikan area and presented a program one evening which included dances, special songs and displaying the native Japanese dress and answered questions about their country.

On Aug. 26 the students will leave San Francisco, Calif., for their flight home.

1974 disarmament meet aired

GENEVA (UPI) — Poland said today a world disarmament conference could be held in 1974, preferably in Geneva. Ambassador Wladimir Natorf, the Polish negotiator at the 25-nation Geneva Disarmament Conference, proposed that the world conference last several weeks and establish a permanent committee of 30 to 40 nations to continue negotiations. Western officials said they believe Natorf's proposals at the meeting today reflect the views of the Soviet Union. "A world disarmament conference could be held in 1974," Natorf said. "It could last several weeks and might decide to hold its sessions on a periodic basis, for example at three-to-four-year intervals."

Natorf said several cities have proper facilities for a world conference. "Geneva is definitely one of them," he said. Natorf said nuclear disarmament must be the first order of business at such a conference.

There should be a ban on all nuclear testing, he said, followed by a ban on the use of nuclear weapons. Finally, the production of these weapons should be banned.

Tie Between Greece And U.S.

WASHINGTON — The without even bothering to into a quickie study of Italian Pentagon selected Athens for a survey alternative possibilities harbors. This most revealing new home port of the U.S. Sixth until prodded by the State Fleet in the Mediterranean Department six months later formation, contradicting public testimony by Navy brass that Greece was picked after exhaustive surveys, was reluctantly submitted to the House Foreign Affairs Committee June 15 and appears in a committee document published this weekend.

The disclosure supports what Nixon administration officials deny: A backstage struggle over establishing a Navy home port at Athens was waged through 1971 between the Defense and State Departments with the Pentagon's Greek victory following personal intervention by Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, the aggressive Chief of Naval Operations.

What makes this so important is the political significance of the home port in Greece, forging iron links between the U.S. government and the Greek military dictatorship. Consequently, the Navy's determination on a Greek site amounts to the military making diplomatic decisions — buttressing charges by the harshest critics of U.S. foreign policy.

The navy decided in 1970 to establish a new carrier task group home port for the Sixth Fleet, to save funds (reducing fleet time at sea) and spur recruitments (permitting sailors to be with their families). Testifying before the Foreign Affairs Committee last March 7, Adm. Zumwalt asserted the Navy surveyed eight Italian ports before selecting Athens.

But classified messages between the State and Defense Departments submitted to the committee June 15 tell a somewhat different story: The Navy in January 1971 started surveying a home port in Athens — and nowhere else. The unspoken reason: Navy brass greatly prefer the increasingly one-man regime in Greece — by Col. George Papadopoulos to the increasingly unstable parliamentary regime in Italy. Six months later, in July 1971, the State Department requested the Navy also survey facilities in the Italian harbors of La Spezia, Livorno, Augusta Bay and Taranto. The suspicion on Capitol Hill is that the Navy conducted only a perfunctory survey of the Italian ports before reiterating Athens as its choice. True or not, the Navy has steadfastly refused to give Congress the surveys, supplying only an unclassified summary.

The State Department's request for additional port surveys derived partly from a desire to show Congress Athens was not the only site studied. However, working-level State Department officials actually opposed the Greek home port on grounds it would further blind the United States to a regime with no intention of democratizing itself.

Indeed, State Department opposition persisted — until Zumwalt telephoned Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco late in 1971 and convincingly argued the Pentagon's position. With President Nixon himself warm toward the Greek dictators, matters of protest by U.S. diplomats were muffled.

That point is underlined in the preface to last winter's hearings on the Greek home port published this weekend. Reps Lee Hamilton of Indiana and Benjamin Rosenthal of New York, whose Foreign Affairs subcommittee conducted the hearings, write in the preface: "These hearings provide a disturbing account of the growing preeminence of military and strategic considerations over political issues within the executive branch."

Defense Ideas

Russian superiority in important facets of military power over the U.S. is undeniable, yet Senator George McGovern maintains he can cut the defense budget by $10 billion dollars a year over the next three years and still prevent the U.S. from becoming a second-rate power.

McGovern's defense strategy, apparently is to rely solely upon nuclear weapons when he says we have "enough nuclear warheads to reduce Russian and Chinese targets to ashes 20 times over."

Fortunately, the Senate defeated his "meat-ax" slash of $4 billion dollars from the military procurement bill by a vote of 59 to 33. McGovern's move came hard on the heels of a new boast by the Russian naval chief that his fleets can destroy any enemy, with the clear implication that Russia is aiming at naval supremacy, not mere parity with the United States.

Still, McGovern argues "the most serious national security questions" involve health, safety and schools, not defense. That is dangerous nonsense. As Senator John Stennis, D-Miss., Chairman of the Armed Services Committee, stated: "We have to be prepared. You don't get any dissent from people on that point."

McGovern would reduce our forces, scrap the ABM system, and "eliminate waste" in the defense budget. On the other hand, he says, workers who lose defense jobs as a result of his policies should be guaranteed other jobs. Some savings!

Western experts see no exaggeration in Admiral Sergei Gorshkov's boast. Soviet shipyards are turning out nuclear submarines at the rate of ten a year to join the 95 now in operation. The United States, with 101 in service, plans to build five in fiscal 1972 and six in 1973. Thus, by the end of that time, Russia will have 115 against our 112, but Russia has a ten to one advantage in conventional submarines and has more cruisers than we do.

The U.S. has superiority in aircraft carriers, which McGovern holds are becoming obsolete and he would cut back on them.

Even with his drastic defense cuts, McGovern contends we would remain the world's foremost military power.

We can imagine Admiral Gorshkov laughing up his gold-braided sleeve at that.

"I KNEW IT WAS GOING TO BE UPHILL, BOT..."

Trade Talk

On the surface at least, the reason U.S. Commerce Secretary Peter Peterson and his trade team were unable to obtain an overall trade agreement from top Soviet officials during 10 days of talks was the outstanding lend-lease debt of World War II.

That debt, which Washington wrote down to one billion dollars a year ago, and later to $800 million, has elicited a settlement offer of $300 million from the Soviets.

Indications now are that a figure somewhere between the two — possibly $500 million — might be acceptable to both sides, providing interest terms can be arranged. American negotiators are reported to be asking 6 percent interest, and the Soviets are offering 2 percent.

Safe Shortcuts

The new Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst's first public speech since nomination and confirmation includes a recommendation for speeding up the trial process.

I hear some applause; many howls of anguish.

Are there any safe shortcuts to justice?

We have learned much from the British. Our Bill of Rights was fashioned after their Magna Carta. But in recent decades we have modified our laws, by amendment and interpretation to give more rights to wrongdoers.

Our good intentions have been abused.

Our permissiveness bore bitter fruit. Crime is increasing seven times faster than our population is increasing.

There are now 10 times more homicides in New York City than in all of England.

A select committee of the American Bar Assn. — judges, lawyers, legal scholars — proposes major revision of our canons of judicial ethics. But the ABA is preoccupied with further restrictions on the rights of judges.

Doubtless our judiciary has sometimes been influenced by payola, intimidated by threats and in some cases overruled by politicians.

But at least as acute is the need for unsmuggling our court system from a monumental morass of legalistic red tape.

Former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell says our judiciary has spent too much time "making new laws and new public policy," spending too little time determining guilt or innocence.

He says "justice is drowning in a sea of legalisms."

With Britain's expeditious court system resulting in so much less crime and infinitely fewer criminal "repeaters," the British system is about to be made even tougher.

A commission of British lending judges and lawyers has been eight years analyzing what works and what doesn't and that commission wants to make it easier for the police and for the prosecution.

If their recommendations are made law, an accused person in Britain will go longer have a right to remain silent.

An accused person will no longer be able to keep his earlier criminal record from being brought up.

No longer may a wife refuse to give evidence against her husband.

And from now on the testimony of children will be admissible in British courts.

The government-appointed committee recommending these reforms decided that too many criminals are escaping justice on technicalities.

Trials are regarded as a kind of game played to fixed rules and all you have to do is duck behind any one of those rules and holler "foul!"

That's why in England, as well as in the United States, so many who have money and organization behind them slip through the net.

The new man in Scotland Yard, Robert Mark, endorses the proposed changes. He says if this is dangerous, I had an electrocardiogram taken, and the doctor said I had an enlarged left ventricle.

P.J.F.

The popular idea of an "athletic heart" is largely a mistake. Under strenuous and protracted exertion (distance running is an example) the heart might dilate a little, but it readily goes back to normal size. A healthy heart adapts to exertion very well indeed.

I suspect that what your doctor was talking about was that he noted a preponderance of what is called "the electrical axis in the left ventricle." This is not abnormal.

Assuming that you have had no heart disease (rheumatic fever, coronary disease, or congenital defect), such a reading does not imply enlargement of the heart.

Just exactly what did the doctor say? Did he just drop a casual comment, or what? If he said he found an abnormality and you ought to keep track of it with further checks, that would be something else.

But if he didn't make a point of anything like that, then if I were you I'd relax and not worry.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had high blood pressure for eight years. I never was one for eating green leafy vegetables, but for the last two years I have been eating cabbage, string beans and egg plant two and three times a week.

My friends now tell me it is very bad for high blood pressure. I would appreciate some information. — S.N.

Sir, your friends are giving you some very faulty advice, because those vegetables aren't going to affect your blood pressure one way or the other (and egg plant is hardly a "leafy" vegetable).

You'll do much better for yourself to get some information on what really does or doesn't affect your blood pressure, and I suggest that you read my booklet, "Controlling Your Blood Pressure." Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Due to weight lifting, I developed an athletic heart, and wish to know if this is dangerous. I had an electrocardiogram taken, and the doctor said I had an enlarged left ventricle. — P.J.F.

MR. SPECTATOR

Today's The Day

If you haven't voted, you still have time. So get down and get the job done.

On the other hand there might be some people unable to get to the polls. Monday morning we came to work, leaving home at 1224 Eleventh Ave. East, driving to Blue Lakes Boulevard, then over to Shoshone Street and down to Sixth Avenue North, then on that avenue to Second Street North and then down to the Times-News Building.

During the drive we counted 37 beer cans on the roadway or in the gutters. This, plus three empty paper carriers for the cans.

Just thought you would like to know!

POLITICS

We have heard nothing but politics and election data and statements pro and con for quite a spell now. But we must concede that the shocker of them all came when the Southern Idaho Airport Board of Trustees decided not to hold any election at all in District 26, which is roughly Cassia county and a part of Minidoka county. There must be a lot of primary election candidates who wish they, too, could forget the whole thing.

THAT COMMON COLD.

Not long ago, the public was informed by the government that there was no real panacea for the common cold. Now comes the New Jersey Superior Court with a ruling there is no law against the common cold.

The court is correct, of course. The ancient New Jersey statute, applicable to women only and now ruled invalid, prescribed a public ducking as punishment and was undoubtedly drawn by those same people who invented the witches in Salem. The court rightly noted the law's discrimination between the sexes with its chauvinist stipulation that only females were able to scold and gossip.

There have been no convictions under the law since 1890, the decision will probably rank as a footnote to, rather than a major milestone in, the march for female equality. Unfortunately, it will probably not put an end to the common scold, of either gender.

Nor will the end of a law against the scold stop the periodic grumblings on how there really ought to be one.

TAX GROWTH

By now many more Americans than ever before are familiar with some of the complex workings of the economy, as well as the corrosive effects of inflation. Nevertheless, it is still difficult to rathom the changes which have taken place in only 10 years.

One of the most striking economic factors in the decade 1962-1972, has been the rapid increase in taxes of all kinds collected from the average household. The average direct tax bill per family has risen from $2,552 to $4,530 in this period.

Add to that the increased taxes hidden in prices of commodities and services and the burden increases. The largest growth has taken place at state and local levels. In the year ended last March, for example, total state sales tax collections increased 13.6 per cent.

These are reasons why it is often disappointing to measure income growth in real dollars. The tax shave is not inconsiderable.

Brings business

MICHAEL G. HEMMIS, 48, who has spent a fourth of his life in prisons, stands in front of his laundromat in Park Ridge, a suburb of Chicago. A sign proclaiming "owned and operated by an ex-convict" fills part of the front window. Hemmis wants to start a half-way house for ex-convicts. (UPI)

Big 4 plan peace meet

LONDON (UPI) — The Big Four powers will resume soundings on possible new Middle East peace moves when their foreign ministers assemble in New York next month for the fall U.N. General Assembly session, diplomatic sources said today.

But any meaningful developments on the Mideast diplomatic front will have to await November's U.S. presidential election and clarification of future Russo-Egyptian relations, now at the breaking point, they said.

Big power Middle East peace strategy is at a virtual standstill at present. Neither the United States, Britain, France nor Russia have been advancing any significant initiatives for a resumption of the peace process.

Little prospect is seen for any such initiative at present, diplomatic informants said.

The resumed mission of U.N. Middle East mediator Gunnar Jarring is welcomed, but few diplomats here expect it to produce any concrete results in the foreseeable future.

The diplomats said the rumormongering between Russia and Egypt, rumblings in the Arab world spotlighted by the projected union between Egypt and Libya, the uncertainty of Egypt's future military potential, the forthcoming U.S. election and Britain's preoccupation with troubles at home all have tended to put off new moves by the major powers for a Mideast peace settlement.

'Shooting stars' due on weekend

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Earth enters the orbital path of an 1882 comet this weekend, giving astronomical buffs a vivid display of "shooting stars" known as the perseids meteor showers.

A spokesman for the Astronomical Society of the Pacific said the display will occur between the constellations of Perseus and Cassiopeia. The shooting stars will appear at about one per minute during the peak activity beginning about midnight Friday.

Streaks from the comet that was last seen in 1882 occur as the Earth traverses the remnants of solid particles deposited by the comet's head. When the Earth rushes through the zone of cosmic litter, light streaks can be seen from the solid grain-sized particles that strike the atmosphere.

Rock chunk swings nearest to Earth

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Earth's "other moon," a rock speck named Toro that swings through space as an eccentric satellite, is now being tracked by astronomers.

It is "a living astronomical fossil," he said, a survivor of the many small satellites that orbited the planets when the solar system was still being formed.

Computers at the university, the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm and the IBM plant in San Jose, Calif., have figured out the satellite's strange orbital path, he said.

"In the few centuries immediately prior to 1580, Toro was locked in on Venus," Arrhenius said.

"From A.D. 1580 to 2200, it has been and will be locked in on Earth. Then the governing planet will become Venus again in 2200, the Earth again in 2350, Venus again in 2800."

Until the computers recently determined that the planetoid is bounced back and forth between the gravitational fields of the two planets as a shared satellite, scientists had thought it was just a piece of interplanetary debris with a particularly eccentric orbit around the sun, he said.

Director resigns

NAMPA (UPI) — The administrative director of the Nampa State School and Hospital for the past two years has resigned effective Oct. 1, to become regional supervisor for the social services program of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

John Christensen, 37, Nampa, has been with the Idaho retardation program for seven years. "I have been in the church volunteer program for 11 years and often wanted to go into it full-time but I felt a responsibility for the school," he said Monday night.

"I think the school is in good hands now and the child development center is going well. It now seemed a good time to move," he said.

Christensen said he will start with the church program Sept. 1, and will continue to live in Nampa. The region he will supervise includes the Boise Valley.

The commissioner of the State Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, Dr. John R. Marks, Boise, said Christensen indicated for some time his wish to join the church program.

He said a replacement had not been found, but various persons were being considered.

Idaho given grants

BOISE (UPI) — The governor's office has announced that the Office of Child Development has received two federal grants for Headstart management and training programs.

The child agency created during 1971, received a grant worth $78,000 for training Headstart teachers and a grant worth $34,000 for Headstart management programming, both previously carried out by the federal government.

The grants announcement came in an amended executive order.

The state will now have an opportunity to review the Headstart grant applications before they go to the federal government, according to Roy Haney in the governor's office.

The office is responsible for inventorying all services available to children up to six years of age in Idaho.

Youthful Idahoans register

BOISE (UPI) — Secretary of State Peto Conrussa said Monday a survey conducted by his office shows that about 12 percent of those registering around the state are between the ages of 18 and 21.

Some of the estimates show 5,000 newly enfranchised voters registering in Ada County, between 4,000 and 6,000 in Twin Falls, 2,000 in Bonneville, 540 in Shoshone, 320 in Payette, 600 in Lewiston and 300 in Madison.

Conrussa earlier predicted that as many as 175,000 voters could turn out for Tuesday's general election.

He said there are about 40,000 on the state between the ages of 18 and 21, but he would not predict how many would turn out to vote.

Ex-con starts drive to escape pen shadow

CHICAGO (UPI) — "Owned and Operated by an Ex-Convict. Now that I have your attention may I please have your business?"

Michael G. Hemmis is 48, single and greying. A man who has spent a fourth of his life in prisons, he stands proudly in front of that sign in his Crossroads Laundromat in suburban Park Ridge.

"I thought about putting up that sign for a long time," he said. "I talked to my brother who told me to go ahead. At least you'll know what people think," he told me. So I did and it was the best thing that ever happened. I have more customers now than ever.

"We're not all repeaters," he said. "We don't have to be." The red and white banner in the window is his first step toward starting an organization that can get that point across.

"It's time ex-cons stood up and said 'Hey, we're here and we need jobs and we have qualifications. We need a chance.'"

"I'll call it Ex-Convicts United," he said. "I think it's all part of stepping out of this shadow of my life—this prison thing."

Hemmis, who served a total of 11 years in prison for armed robbery and safecracking, believes the penal system causes repeaters.

"If I had been released after the first 30 days I would have been cured," he said. "But after five years in the Indiana State Reformatory Society was my enemy."

Hemmis said he was lucky "because a friend got me a job with an engineering factory" where he worked until he bought the laundromat last year.

Although business is booming, Hemmis wants to sell Crossroads to be free to open a halfway house for ex-convicts "just to help them get jobs and keep out of prison."

"You can feel awful trapped coming out of prison with some clothes and a few bucks and no one giving a damn."

"I want to start a place where a man who has been discharged can live while he is hunting for a job, and this is the time," he said seriously.

Airport grant due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Administration has approved a $1,028,888 grant for the Idaho Falls Airport.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Monday the funds will be used for repairs and expansion of the airport.

Hansen said it was "gratifying" the funds were made available so necessary repairs could be made before winter.

Cambodian troops defend highway

SAIGON (UPI)—Elite Cambodian troops parachuted into a key town on the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway today to defend it from tank-led North Vietnamese troops, field reports said.

Two other Cambodian cities were threatened by similar tank and infantry units, sources said.

American jet fighter-bombers reported strafing a fourth tank group boldly heading south from the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam towards the Communist-held city of Quang Tri.

Field reports in Phnom Penh said the parachutists jumped into the market town of Kompong Trabe, 47 miles southeast of the Cambodian capital and about 2,000 South Vietnamese soldiers were moving into the area. Both groups attempted to relieve beleaguered

Insurance bill fought by GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republicans fought today to shelve Senate consideration of no-fault insurance, contending its enactment could deprive people of access to the courts when they are injured in crashes.

The bill's backers did not dispute that, but argued the present insurance system produces overly generous settlements for people slightly injured and inadequate payments for those most heavily injured.

No-fault insurance eliminates the need for court suits to determine who was at fault—whereas insurance must pay when an accident occurs.

Instead, damages of up to $25,000 for injury, $25,000 for rehabilitation and $25,000 to cover lost wages would be paid automatically to accident victims without regard to who was at fault. Suits would be permitted if damages exceeded those limits.

A key vote was scheduled for tonight on a motion by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., to send the Senate bill to the Judiciary Committee for study—a move that would end consideration this year.

Sponsors said they had the votes to defeat Hruska, but a close outcome was expected.

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., saying he was a friend of the no-fault concept, supported Hruska's motion anyway. He said the bill raises "wild questions" and would force people to undergo rehabilitation for accident injuries in government-sponsored clinics or lose half their rehabilitation compensation.

"Big brother hasn't gotten that big as far as this senator is concerned," he said Monday night when the debate opened.

Trial lawyers who derive their income from negligence trials, segments of the insurance industry and the Nixon administration are united in their opposition to the bill, sponsored by Sens. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. Lobbying on both sides is intense.

The bill would require states over the next 18 months to adopt the no-fault principle meeting federal minimum standards. Otherwise, those standards would apply under federal administration.

Victims of accidents would receive damages from the insurance company covering the car in which they were riders or drivers or, if pedestrians, the car that struck them. Insurance would be mandatory and uncancelable and payments would have to come quickly.

Panels consider antibusing bills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two House committees today considered separate antibusing bills that could blunt the drive for a constitutional amendment to ban racial busing.

The Rules Committee took up a White House request that it take from the Judiciary Committee President Nixon's proposed moratorium on any new court ordered busing.

The panel voted a week ago today to pluck from Judiciary the constitutional amendment but said at the time it would not consider the moratorium measure, stalled in Judiciary, unless the House Education and Labor Committee had not acted by today on Nixon's second antibusing measure which would set guidelines for school desegregation.

The education panel met simultaneously with the Rules Committee today and Chairman Carl Perkins, D-Ky., a foe of the guidelines measure, pledged to "expedite" action on the bill.

Pensions raised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pensions for six widows of Supreme Court justices would be raised from $5,000 to $10,000 a year under legislation passed 280 to 97 by the House.

The Senate earlier approved a similar bill, and the House bill passed Monday went to the Senate for consideration of House amendments.

Cambodian soldiers who recaptured the town from North Vietnamese units July 24.

The new allied offensive was coordinated personally by Cambodian President Lon Nol who met today with South Vietnamese military commanders in a border town shelled only hours before by Communist mortar crews.

Cambodian spokesmen said American aircraft and government artillery destroyed 21 Soviet-made tanks in three days of fighting near Kompong Trabe but at least 10 others remained in the area. One was destroyed as it burst into the city before dawn today.

Military spokesman Maj. Chhang Song said U.S. aircraft knocked out 14 of the tanks with the rest destroyed by Cambodian artillery.

Military sources said that two other large groups of tanks were closing in on the provincial capitals of Svay Rieng, 78 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and Prey Veng, 24 miles southeast of the capital. The latter group was said to be supporting 3,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

Communist troops control most of southeastern Cambodia, including a 60-mile stretch of Highway 1, Phnom Penh's vital supply line with Saigon.

UPI correspondent Alan Dawson, reporting from South Vietnam's northernmost sector, said U.S. pilots shot at three Russian-built tanks moving along an open road just south of the DMZ today. The results were not known.

TV network will air controversial report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A presidential population committee finally has found a television network willing to air the panel's own version of a controversial report to Congress and President Nixon, panel chairman John D. Rockefeller III said today.

The Public Broadcast Service (PBS) will air the findings of the Commission on Population Growth and the American Future in late November, Rockefeller said. One of the panel's recommendations, later rejected by Nixon, was that abortion, "contraception" and sterilization should be made available to single and married Americans.

The 24-member commission unsuccessfully tried to buy an hour-of-prime time on each of the three major networks, ABC, CBS and NBC, to present its conclusions.

Rockefeller also announced formation of a private Citizens Committee on Population and the American Future to increase the public awareness of the population report.

4 primaries held today

By United Press International

Four states hold primary elections today and national attention focused on the gubernatorial race in Missouri where voter "disaffection" over Sen. Thomas Eagleton's resignation may help the Republican ticket this fall.

Michigan, Georgia and Idaho also hold state primaries to select candidates for state offices and seats in both the U.S. House and Senate.

In Missouri, Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick anticipated a million-voter turnout, the first in a primary since 1936. Among the reasons was the aroused interest of voters who felt bitter because of Eagleton's withdrawal from the Democratic national ticket, and also the fact that 17 candidates were vying for the governor's mansion.

The gubernatorial candidates include 10 Democrats, five Republicans and two independents. Although Missouri has had a Democratic governor for 30 years, the GOP is given a good chance this time because unhappy Democrats may cross party lines to vote for a Republican.

In Georgia 14 candidates are challenging incumbent David Gambrell for the Democratic Senate nomination. Gambrell, appointed last year after the death of long-time Sen. Richard B. Russell, is expected to survive the primary but is almost certain to be forced into a runoff.

In Idaho, a senate race plays a hot three-way contest for a congressional nomination is expected to produce a record turnout of 175,000 voters.

Congressman James A. McClure is up against former Gov. Robert E. Smylie, former Congressman George V. Hansen and former White House staffer Glen Wegner for the GOP senatorial nomination for the seat of retiring Sen. Len D. Jordan, a Republican.

State Attorney General W. Anthony Park, President William E. Davis of Idaho State University, Attorney Byron Johnson and Women's liberation advocate Rose Bowman seek the Democratic nomination.

Despite a variety of issues, including busing, a tight turnout was predicted in Michigan where the top position at stake is the U.S. Senate seat held by incumbent Republican Robert P. Griffin.

His seat is being sought by Democrat Attorney General Frank J. Kelley. Since neither candidate has any opposition within his own party.

'Grinder' widens Yank-Viet rifts

HUE, Vietnam (UPI)—The push to recapture Quang Tri city has ground to a halt and opened a rift between the South Vietnamese and their American advisers.

The South Vietnamese, from President Nguyen Van Thieu on down, call Quang Tri city a symbol. The Americans call it a meatgrinder.

North and South Vietnamese forces have settled into an almost perfectly matched battle that in the first five weeks cost the 20,000 government troops 4,000 men dead and seriously wounded.

South Vietnamese commanders up to and including President Thieu have studiously ignored the recommendations of U.S. advisers throughout. As a result, some American support has been removed.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officers have argued the tactics of the drive, however pleasantly. Government officers seeking glory have fought bitterly among themselves, often behind each others' backs.

U.S. officers now admit privately that the operation to retake Quang Tri is not going well and that the former imperial capital of Hue is in great danger of falling to the Communists.

The officers say that the government is inviting the destruction of its elite volunteer forces and what could be at best a severe psychological setback and at worst a stunning military defeat.

The meatgrinder operation to retake Quang Tri city and the inner fortress Citadel destroyed three of the nine airborne battalions in South Vietnam. They are now retraining and being given replacements whose fighting ability is far below that of the veterans killed or maimed.

When the paratroopers were removed from the books of effective fighting forces, the marines took over. Within a week, a marine battalion was all but wiped out, sent to the rear for retraining and replaced by another.

The withdrawal of the airborne was itself clouded by military politics.

The paratroopers were given the first chance of "liberating" Quang Tri because their commander is a three-star general.

Most officers agreed the marines were the logical force to attack the provincial capital because they were fresher. The Quang Tri push is the third major fight for the airborne since the Communist offensive began. They had already been bloodied at Kontum and An Loc.

The marine division, however, is led by only a one-star general.

At one point, the paratroopers claimed victory at Quang Tri, a claim soon given the lie.

What was believed to be a small Communist force in the provincial capital was expected to evaporate in the face of a large drive by 2,500 vaunted paratroopers.

"We thought that the enemy either could not or would not reinforce," said one allied officer. "But he did."

The paratroopers left an escape route for the North Vietnamese inside. But instead of leaving, the Communists moved in more men and supplies, including heavy anti-aircraft guns.

At that point, about mid-July, U.S. advisers recommended a change of tactics. Instead of a drive on Quang Tri, they argued for end runs around the city that would eventually starve the Communists out.

President Thieu demurred and reordered his generals to retake Quang Tri.

Kimberly wedding rites unite Magic Valley pair

KIMBERLY — Jeanne Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jacobs, Kimberly, and James R. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Wilson, Twin Falls, were united in marriage July 28 in the Kimberly Christian Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. James Keefe. The altar was decorated with baskets of pink and lavender gladioli accented with pink satin bows and streamers tied in love knots.

A silver vase containing pink gladioli was centered at the rear of the altar. The ivy and flowered entwined candelabra held pink and lavender tapers. Dr. V. Ellis Knight arranged the bouquet in the silver vase and decorated the candelabra. Mrs. Keith Brown, Kimberly, designed and decorated the remaining decor. Both are friends of the family.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length Chantilly lace gown. The fitted bodice was styled with a mandarin collar, ruffled sleeves, and mother-of-pearl sequins trim on a background of yoke inset of nylon tulle. The full gathered skirt featured a short chapel train.

Her finger-tip nylon tulle veil was held by a tulle of mother-of-pearl sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink miniature roses and Stephanotis centered with a Cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Jack Wright, Kimberly, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joe Laughlin, Portland, Ore., also a sister of the bride; Mrs. Richard Russell, Portland, sister of the bridegroom; and Mitzi Sweet, Twin Falls.

Teresa Wright, Kimberly, niece of the bride, carried a basket of pink rose-petals. Theron Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Walker, Hansen, carried rings on a lace-trimmed white satin pillow.

Susan Wilson, Twin Falls, sister of the bridegroom, and Douglas Wright, Kimberly, nephew of the bride, were candelighters.

John Wilson, Twin Falls, was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Gerald Hayes, Twin Falls; Bill Slabough, Caldwell, and Walter Freestone, Hansen, cousin of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Jack Wright, Kimberly, and Joe Laughlin, Portland, brothers-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Douglas Gee, Hansen, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Ferris Freestone, Hansen, aunt of the bridegroom.

A reception to honor the newlyweds was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a lavender cloth enhanced with a white nylon founce trimmed with pink chiffon bows.

The table was centered with a four-tier white cake decorated with lavender daisies and pink roses, and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Uba Allen, Twin Falls, made and decorated the cake. Crystal candelabra of lighted pink and lavender tapers, and crystal nut and mint dishes completed the table appointments. Punch was served from crystal punch bowls at either end of the table.

Mark Niewirth, Kimberly, played background music during the reception. Mrs. Joe DiOrto, Canon City, Colo., and Mr. Dwayne Burton, Twin Falls, aunts of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Ed Lindgren, La Mesa, Calif., aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Dick Callen, Kimberly, served the punch.

Leanne Doolittle, Kimberly, was in charge of the guest book. The wedding scrolls were handed out by Ruth Cox, Kimberly. Giftbearers were David Wright, Kimberly, nephew of the bride, and Tammy and Timmy Wilson, cousins of the bridegroom. Elizabeth Callen arranged the gift table.

Friends of the family were reception hostesses. After a wedding trip to points in Idaho and Oregon, the couple will reside in Twin Falls where the bridegroom is associated with his father in the Wilson Planing Mill. The newlyweds are former ISU students.

The bride was honored by miscellaneous showers hosted by Mrs. Dick Callen, Jennifer and Elizabeth, Mrs. Blake Froehlich, and Mrs. Joe Froehlich, at the Callen home and by employees of the Mountain View Convalescent Center, where the bride was employed this summer.

The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Turf Club, Twin Falls, for the bride and groom, immediate family members. Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Ellen Brose, Twin Falls, grandmother of the bridegroom; Grover Wilson, Boise, grandfather of the bridegroom; Mrs. Ellen Jacobs, Tacoma, Wash., grandmother of the bride.

Other guests attended from Colorado and California and the surrounding communities. The bride, a graduate of Provo High School, is presently a nursing student at BYU. Ellis attended Burley High School and is a graduate of BYU. He is continuing his studies at the University.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Betsy Wolff is one of our top women bridge players but like most smart wives she likes to let her husband play no-trump contracts whenever she gets a chance to let him operate.

Her jump to three no-trump with the North hand would not be approved procedure in match points but at IMPs it has a lot to commend it including the result.

Husband Bobby, who with Jim Jacoby, constitutes the anchor pair of the World's champion Dallas Aces, didn't have any chance to show great skill at three no-trump.

He simply won the diamond-lead and proceeded to rattle off his eight tricks in the black suits to chalk up the no-trump game.

The bidding was more scientific at the other table. North used Stayman and raised South to four spades after South bid two spades in response to the Stayman two clubs.

Four spades is a mighty good contract. It can only be beaten by a 4-1 or 5-0 break in trumps but suits break that way about 32 per cent of the time and this was one of those times. There was no way for South to make more than nine tricks at spades and the net profit of 700 points was worth 12 IMPs to the victorious mixed team.

Wendell artist named

WENDELL — Artist of the Month for the Idaho First National Bank, Wendell branch, is Marjorie Clark of Gooding.

She has been painting about four years, and enjoys group painting, self-expression on a piece of canvas and "seeing a picture come alive with the right stroke of the brush."

Mrs. Clark has studied under the direction of Roy-Mason in water colors, Marilyn LaCroix and Lee Parkinson in oil, and Quentin Gregory in oil and color tones.

Her interest in painting began as a young woman with a remembrance of watching a close friend paint. Letters from her friend, who now has her own studio in New York, along with a Christmas gift of painting items from her son, Brian, inspired Mrs. Clark to try painting.

She has displayed her paintings at Gooding Memorial Hospital, First Security Bank in Gooding, Green Acres Terrace, and in Twin Falls, Jerome, Buhl and Boise.

Receives benefits

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — One of the youngest persons ever to receive social security benefits is Holly Anderson of Logan — less than two weeks old when she received the familiar card.

Little Holly will receive about $32,000 in benefits until she turns 18. She's entitled to it because her father died almost nine months before Holly was born.

The 1 pound, 7 ounce girl is the daughter of Mrs. Judith Anderson, who is also eligible for benefits as long as she remains single.

Mrs. Beck Checketts of the social security office here said Holly is among the youngest — and perhaps the youngest — people to receive the nine digit number that she'll carry the rest of her life.

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State College has received an $11,600 grant from the National Science Foundation for purchase of instructional scientific equipment.

The new equipment will enable the college to offer new introductory bio-physics courses which incorporate biological experiments.

Job bias suits name 2 US cities

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department filed civil suits Monday charging the city of Los Angeles with discriminating in the hiring of firemen and the city of Montgomery, Ala., with discrimination in public jobs.

The two suits are the first to be filed under the 1972 Equal Employment Opportunity Act which removed an exemption in the 1964 Civil Rights Act for state and local employees.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the suit filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles accused the city of discriminating against blacks, Mexican-Americans and Orientals in recruitment and hiring.

The Los Angeles Fire Department employs about 3,150 firemen of whom 40 are black—1.5 per cent—and 94 are Mexican-American—3 per cent. It has no Orientals. The minority group population of the city is 18 per cent black, 18 per cent Mexican-American and 3.5 per cent Oriental.

The government said the city pursues policies and practices that discriminate against members of the minority groups, such as using tests and educational and height requirements that disproportionately exclude minority applicants.

The suit sought injunctions prohibiting discrimination, requiring the elimination of invalidated tests and detrimental selection standards, and sought an order for the city to increase hiring minority-group firemen. It also requested back pay to victims of alleged discrimination.

The Justice Department said it engaged in extensive negotiations with the city in an effort to resolve the matter without a lawsuit, but the city council voted recently to take no action.

The first suit under the 1972 law, filed earlier Monday, challenged the general employment practices of the city of Montgomery, Ala., charging that whites were assigned to preferred classified positions while blacks were given unclassified jobs as common laborers.

The government charged the city had traditionally maintained a segregated employment structure and said the present practices tended to perpetuate racially discriminatory effects.

Named defendants in addition to the city were the Waterworks and Sanitary Sewer Board and the Montgomery City-County Personnel Board, a state agency. The 1972 law amending the 1964 Civil Rights Act empowers the attorney general to bring such suits against public employers.

Kleindienst told UPI June 10 that many such actions would be brought to attack racial discrimination in employment by state and local governments. At the time, he mentioned Chicago and Los Angeles, along with Montgomery.

The civil suit filed against Montgomery said blacks were hired as unclassified laborers although they performed work similar to that done by whites with classified status.

Collective due to succeed Mao

LONDON (UPI)—A Soviet-type collective directorate headed by Premier Chou En-lai will take over China after the death of Mao Tse-tung, a Western diplomatic dispatch reported from Peking Monday.

There are strong indications no single leader will be appointed as "successor designate" to Mao as was Lin Biao, the Defense Minister who later died in a plane crash after an abortive attempt to topple Mao and seize power.

No new figure yet has been discerned that could qualify for the job, the report said.

Chou in effect runs the country, or at least plays the key role in China's day-to-day affairs. But he is not seen as a likely single successor to Mao, the report said.

Already a sort of party-collective rule was said to be in force in China, though Mao remains the undisputed ruler who sets the course of the nation's policy.

The collective leadership is intended to safeguard a smooth transition and eventual takeover, at least until a new set-up or a possible new strongman emerges, the report suggested.

There was no clear indication, it said, as to who the other members of the collective directorate are or will be.

It seems, however, that it is to include Lin's successor as defense minister, 73-year-old Yeh Chien-ying, Chou's old and trusted friend, who would have the task to secure the co-operation of the army.

The plan, according to present indications, envisages the continuation of the policy initiated recently under Mao's supervision that brought about President Nixon's visit to Peking early this year and has since led to a mounting effort to get China back onto the international scene.

Daley says choice helpful to Demos

CHICAGO (UPI)—Mayor Richard J. Daley said Monday the selection of Sargent Shriver as vice presidential candidate was "a great appointment" which will help the Democratic ticket in Illinois.

Daley told a news conference he had spoken with presidential nominee George S. McGovern before the Shriver selection was announced and had told McGovern:

"It was a great appointment, with Sargent's background and his experience as head of the Peace Corps and as ambassador to France. I thought his general knowledge of the executive branch of government under John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, and I especially thought his holding this important nomination would help the state of Illinois and the Democratic ticket in Illinois," Daley said.

Daley, who pledged after the Democratic National Convention that he will support the Democratic ticket in November at the federal, state and local levels, said he would try to change the minds of Democrats who have said they will vote for President Nixon.

"This is an act of independence. But we will try to convince people and persuade them that they should support the whole Democratic ticket," Daley said. "I will repeat what I said earlier, that I am a Democrat and I will support the Democratic ticket."

Shriver endorsed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A number of House members who worked last week in Shriver's behalf as McGovern's choice of Sargent Shriver to be the party's vice presidential nominee.

At the meeting, no stand was taken on the nomination of Sen. McGovern as the party's presidential nominee. But Speaker Carl Albert said it was assumed the caucus supported McGovern, who was picked by the national convention, whereas Shriver's formal nomination by the National Committee is still to be made on Tuesday.

Rep. Lester Wolff of New York proposed the Shriver endorsement. Wolff was among

Hailey drug symptom clinic told people biggest problem

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — "Drugs are not the problem. People are the problem."

That statement was made Monday by Tom Stoelling, Pocatello, member of the region 6 drug team. Stoelling was one of the speakers during the all-day "Drug Crisis Intervention Workshop," sponsored by the Idaho Nurses' Association, Region 4.

According to Delores Sims, Twin Falls, regional representative of the association, impetus for the workshop stemmed from requests from nurses who have to deal with drug cases.

Emergency room nurses were particularly interested in patient symptoms which would indicate the kind of drug, or in some cases the combination of drugs, which had been taken, she said.

Stoelling said drugs are the means by which people "make themselves feel better about themselves and their condition."

To prevent drug abuse, "our responsibility is to try to deal with ourselves and others in a constructive way, through interaction, to positively influence lives," Stoelling said.

The drug team member said this approach would remove the need for a person to "seek out less satisfactory ways to feel good about himself, such as the use of chemicals."

The workshop drew about 20 nurses and interested residents from Magic and Wood River Valley. A similar session was scheduled for today in Burley.

Topics under discussion included "Drugs —

Classification and Actions," "Overdose Aid and Common Emergencies," "Common Drug Reactions, Role-Playing," "Youth Involvement with Drugs" and "Community Involvement and Resources."

Speakers during the session were Ken High, Twin Falls, a Red Cross overdose aid instructor; Stephanie Martin, a member of the state drug education team and director of the Hotline, Burley; Rev. Michael Fitzgibbons, drug education team member and chairman of the Southcentral Idaho Mental Health Center; Janet Small, organizer of a Blaine County youth home, and Jo Higbee, Ketchum, representing Nite-Line.

The event was co-sponsored by the Idaho Mountain States Regional Medical Program.

DISCUSSING SYMPTOMS of various drugs is Ken High, center, a Red Cross overdose aid instructor during an all-day "Drug Crisis Intervention Workshop," conducted Monday at Sun Valley.

Prostitute not illegal in Idaho

BURLEY — It's not a crime in Idaho to become a prostitute. But it is a crime to hire one to "procure" or to "live off the earnings" of a street walker, according to Cassia County Prosecutor Gordon Nielson. In fact, state law specifies these actions are felonies.

Idaho legislators did pass a law making prostitution a "misdemeanor," but somewhere along the line the penalty clause was omitted, effectively nullifying the entire law.

In order to close down a "disorderly house," a prosecutor may file a "cease-and-desist" civil order, informing the owner of a building that he must halt the alleged "nuisance." This was done Monday in Burley.

"The law takes the position that the owner of a building must be responsible for anything that goes on inside his building," Nielson explained.

According to state law, if the owners do not take the proper action, the prosecutor can ask for a court injunction. A hearing would be scheduled to present evidence on the alleged crime.

If the evidence is sufficient, the court can order the building seized and sealed for a full year, cutting off all use of it. The sheriff can seize and sell all furniture in the building if the court so orders.

The owners have one recourse — they can post a bond equivalent to the appraised value of the entire building. Upon posting of the bond the building can then be unsealed and used for any legal business such as a hotel.

Should the "moral nuisance" resume, however, the court can order the entire bond forfeited and the building would then be sealed again for a year with no recourse.

At the same time, the prosecutor and sheriff can proceed along the usual lines of filing criminal charges.

Cassia houses closed

The prosecutor said he had the orders being processed at that time so he issued them Monday, speeding up his plan.

He said Monday that he had been "seeking to bring an end to prostitution in Cassia County for two years," but he lacked funds to bring in the needed undercover investigators. Only last January "the county allocated $1,000 for the investigation and we could proceed."

Though the prosecutor was reluctant to discuss the investigation, he admitted that eight agents of the narcotics and organized crime bureau of the Idaho attorney general's office had been working with him since the first of the year. He said he did not even notify the Cassia County Sheriff's office about the investigation until "about a month and a half ago."

The city police were not brought into the picture at all, he said, adding that "the first they knew about it was when the injunctions were issued."

Though he declined to discuss this aspect of the case, he indicated that under state law the county prosecutor and the sheriff, "as chief law enforcement officers of the county," can act when the city takes no action.

No criminal charges have been filed to date. The girl gave the prosecutor and sheriff a statement and was allowed to leave town.

The injunctions do not affect the use of the buildings as hotels or in any other legal business, the prosecutor said. "They can live there and run a hotel if they wish so long as they do not carry on the practice of prostitution."

The prosecutors said "as far as I know" the three establishments represent the only such business enterprises within Cassia County. He said if any other such activities turn up they will be closed down immediately.

"We are asking the help of the public," Nielson said, "if anybody knows about such an operation, we would appreciate being notified."

Demos convene to pick Shriver

call vote before 9 p.m. Shriver was scheduled to make a short acceptance speech and McGovern a longer address once the voting ended.

The rules subcommittee was to meet early today to adopt a rule under which no candidate could be placed in nomination without his consent. The rule would have to be ratified by the entire committee and it could provoke the only major squabble.

Sen. Thomas R. Eagleton, who was dropped off the ticket after revealing I was hospitalized for psychiatric treatment, has refused to give his consent to being placed in nomination.

The committee must also act on procedural challenges affecting committee members from Wisconsin, Ohio, New Jersey, up very much."

and Virginia. These disputes, which have not been marked by the bitterness which attended delegate challenges, will be settled at an afternoon session.

Party leaders from around the country hailed McGovern's choice of Shriver.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley called it "a great appointment" which would help the Democratic ticket in Illinois, a state considered crucial to McGovern's hopes. Shriver once served on the Chicago Board of Education.

Former Gov. Richard J. Hughes, national committee man from New Jersey, said Shriver was "probably the best he (McGovern) could have gotten" and said his selection "revives the whole idea of winning. He will wake things up very much."

Grant status sought

GOODING — Mayor Harley Crippen told city councilmen Monday night he has asked State Sen. Don Fredericksen to investigate the status of a grant for the city park.

Crippen said the city has applied for $15,000 in matching funds from the state parks department. The grant will be used for a sprinkling system, additional swimming pool equipment including a slide and diving board, park benches and a picnic shelter.

Crippen told the council, "Don't count on getting any park money. Everyone seems to be eligible for these grants except us."

At a previous council meeting Crippen read a letter from the state saying there was a good possibility that Gooding would receive a grant but he has since been informed the money may not be forthcoming.

Crippen reported that 170 city blocks had been sealed since last month. Councilman Earl Greenwalt reported fences would be put around the city wells this fall.

4 arrested at TF rally still in jail

TWIN FALLS — Four of six persons arrested in Twin Falls Sunday at a combination rock concert and political rally were still in county custody today following court appearances Monday.

Itocy Vitale, 18, Jerome, was in jail on bail of $5,000 on a charge of possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver. He has requested a preliminary hearing.

Salvatore Vitale, 26, Jerome, was in custody on $5,000 bail on the same charge. He also has requested a preliminary hearing.

James O. White is in custody on a total of $5,000 bail on two separate charges, one of possession of a controlled substance and also a count of resisting a law officer by means of violence. His appearance was continued until today by Magistrate Dan Meehl.

Greg Solosabol, 20, Hazelton, is in custody on $1,500 bail on a charge of delivery of a controlled substance.

Two others arrested during the day-long event Sunday at Twin Falls Jaycee Park are free on bond.

They include Dennis Summers, 23, Twin Falls, who posted $50 bond on a charge of disturbing the peace, and Thomas Tierney, 20, Mountain Home, who posted bond of $200 on a charge of interfering with officers. His arraignment is not yet complete, according to a court secretary.

factory effluent contained too much oil, grease and acids, principally formaldehyde, to be handled by the city sewer system.

Since that time, Boise Cascade has installed a purification plant at the factory to remove the harmful elements, and has begun recycling water used for cooling, reducing the amount of sewage from 40,000 to 10,000 per day. The factory currently holds the effluent in settling ponds at the plant.

The council decided the factory will be charged according to the amount of waste it dumps into the sewer system, and will install a pipeline three-fourths of a mile from the plant to the nearest main line.

A second request to hook up to the sewer system was approved for the 10-acre subdivision southeast of the city limits owned by Alma Clark. Clark will be required to install main sewer lines and hookups, under the direction of the city engineer.

The council fixed the hookup and monthly charge at one and one-half times the city rate. The city may annex the subdivision in the future. It presently contains five homes.

Three American Oil Co. bids on gasoline, diesel fuel and No. 1 fuel oil were accepted. The firm submitted low bids of 2250 cents per gallon for small gasoline deliveries; 129 cents per gallon for diesel and 134 cents per gallon for fuel oil.

Standard Oil Co. submitted the low bid for bulk tank-truck gasoline deliveries at 2214 cents per gallon. Other bidders were Texaco, Inc., and Atlantic Richfield Oil Co.

The auditing firm of Nelson, Sagers, King and Anderson reported on its audit of the 1971 city budget, saying everything was in good shape.

Verl King and LaMar Anderson, representing the firm, recommended the city use purchasing orders for everything bought by the city to simplify the auditing procedure. They also asked the city if it would be feasible to make the library an independent taxing district, working through the count instead of the city.

There is a special mill levy for the library now, but no specific amount budgeted for the library each year, King said. The change would entail no increase in taxes, but would simplify the administrative procedure and allow the library to know exactly how much revenue it would be getting.

The council will investigate the matter.

Albert Hodge, city water department employee, was presented a certificate of appreciation by the council for outstanding work done.

600 attend annual Elks Lodge picnic in Burley

BURLEY—About 600—the lodge members in the past week. The picnic project was started under the direction of Charles (Chuck) Shaddock, now a past exalted ruler, and has been carried on by Jim Skiles, present exalted ruler.

The golf tournament began Sunday morning at 7:45 a.m. and the net winners were William Parsons, first; Don Beekham, second; Dodo Mal and Jack Woodward, tied for third. There was a three-way tie for gross—including Ken Hutzinger, Glen Blakey and Kent Church.

Barbecued beef, rolls, beverages, potato salad and baked beans were furnished by the lodge. Each family furnished a salad, hot dish or dessert and their own table service.

Frank Langer and Leon Doman were co-chairmen of the picnic.

In the afternoon there were boat rides on Snake River, pony rides, moon bounce and foot races all for the children. Horseshoe pitching was a popular game for the men and the women seem to just enjoy visiting with friends.

Sirhan moved from death row

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan, assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has been moved from Death Row, San Quentin Prison officials announced Monday.

Sirhan, 28, was moved to the prison's adjustment center in the same building as the result of the closing of Death Row by a California Supreme Court decision banning the death penalty in the state.

Sirhan's sentence was reduced from execution to life imprisonment by the state's high court on June 16.

Sirhan was placed under special protective custody in the adjustment center. He had been kept under special surveillance on "Death Row" because prison officials feared other inmates might try to avenge the Kennedy slaying.

"He's in enough protection that we feel he won't come to harm from other inmates," said prison information officer Joseph R. O'Brien.

Congress urged to approve ban

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress was urged today to approve President Nixon's ban on the use of deadly poisons to control coyotes and other predators despite the protests of western sheepmen.

Administration officials, senators and conservationists joined in urging the Senate to follow the lead of the House in passing legislation to make the ban a federal law.

Assistant Interior Secretary Nathaniel P. Reed, testifying before the Senate environment subcommittee, said it would be "very sad" if Congress did not pass the administration-backed legislation this year.

Reed, in response to questioning by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, denied rumors that an executive order banning use of the poisons on federal lands would be used.

But Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., in urging approval of the legislation, warned that an executive order could be lifted at any time.

"We know from experience that executive orders are short-lived," Bayh said. "Therefore it's imperative that an unequivocal ban on the use of poisons on public lands be entered into law."

Moss said studies had shown the $8 million a year that was being spent by the federal government on predator control was not working. Besides, he said, the poisons used to kill coyotes also was killing off their natural prey—such as rodents—and causing them to prey on livestock to an ever greater extent than before.

Free GOP broadcast time asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert Dole, Republican national chairman, said Monday elementary fairness dictates that the GOP be given free network broadcast time to answer Sen. George McGovern's Saturday night speech in which he announced his selection of Sargent Shriver to be his new running mate.

In a Senate speech, Dole denounced McGovern for devoting "only one minute of his 16-minute speech to Shriver (and) taking the balance of the time for a blistering attack on President Nixon and his record."

Dole read from a lengthy telegram he sent Sunday to the three major television networks and Mutual radio.

"The concept of elementary fairness requires comparable time be afforded to the Republican Party," Dole wrote.

Blaine 4-H livestock projects given review

BELLEVUE—Showmanship, livestock quality and animal health were emphasized Saturday during the Blaine County 4-H animal project achievement day.

Termining the event "an educational process," County Extension Agent James Eakin said the achievement day served both to help participants improve their projects for the Blaine County Fair, and to "show their animal to its best advantage."

Participants were members of the Sagebrush Ranchers, whose leader is Dollie Collier, Bellevue. Projects included three dairy heifers, three sheep, a beef steer and three horses. During a review of each project, Eakin supplied tips on animal cleanliness, grooming, proper foot care and general health maintenance.

Emphasized were characteristics and qualities of the different breeds shown. Participants were also instructed on showing courtesy and show techniques.

The Blaine County Fair will be Aug. 17-19 at Carey. In preparation for the fair, the following judging schedule has been established: 4-H demonstrations, Aug. 9; 4-H style review, Aug. 14 and livestock judging, Aug. 15.

Reservoirs full

RUPERT—All reservoirs on the Upper Snake River system filled this year with indications of a good water carryover at the end of 1972.

This was reported Saturday by Carlos Randolph, Minidoka Project superintendent. He said Pallasades Reservoir filled as of July 22, and now has 1.888 million acre feet in storage, an above normal amount for this time of year and with the high demand for water shown this season.

Randolph said spoomelt runoff above Heise peaked at 45,000 cubic feet per second this year and was controlled by the flood operation to 29,000 cfs as measured at Heise. He said all reservoirs are now supplying irrigation water, but all have an excellent supply.

The Department of Interior and Geological Survey office in Idaho Falls reports other reservoirs and present storage include American Falls, 1.228 million acre feet; Lake Walcott, 97,000 acre feet; Island Park Reservoir, 123,500 acre feet; Grassy Lake, 14,700 acre feet.

Demo questions further DES use

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. L.H. Fountain, D-N.C., believes the Food and Drug Administration's decision to permit use of the cancer-connected drug DES in livestock feed for five more months is "indefensible."

Fountain heads a House subcommittee which held hearings on the use of DES (diethylstilbestrol).

He said Monday he questioned whether FDA Commissioner Charles Edwards had legal authority to permit any continued use at all of the substance in animal feed.

"There is no justification, in my opinion, for exposing the public another five months to a drug which is known to be a potent cancer-promoting substance and which the FDA now acknowledges cannot be kept out of the liver we eat," Fountain said.

The FDA, after a lengthy study, declared DES may not be manufactured or shipped between states for use as an additive in feed. The agency, however, said existing stocks could be used until next Jan. 1.

The drug has been used for some years as a growth stimulant in livestock feeds, permitting earlier marketing of fattened animals on less feed. Laboratory tests have established a relationship between DES and cancer in rats.

TF fair to feature two youth divisions

FILER—The youth department at the Twin Falls County Fair has two divisions. One is for children 8-14 years, and one for youth of 15-18 years. The fair is Sept. 3-9.

Both divisions offer three place ribbons and money premiums for a large variety of items, according to Mrs. Cecil Brown and Mrs. Orville Sackett, Filer, superintendents.

Those in the 8-14 year old category may enter aprons, dresses, pant suits, knit sweaters, as well as crocheted articles, embroidery work, pillows, painted embroidery and yarn work.

In the culinary class, they may compete for breads, cakes, cookies and candies. Airplanes, ships, cars, space rockets and miscellaneous all may be entered in the models class.

Pictures include pencil sketches, pictures made with chalk, oils and water colors, as well as several others. Miscellaneous class includes many kinds of hobbies.

Clothing in the 15-18 year class lists blouses, dresses, sleepwear, pant suits, skirts and others. The handwork includes both knit and crocheted articles, as well as pillows and cases, pot holders, stuffed toys and others.

Those interested in cooking may enter their breads, cakes, cookies, candies and canned fruits and vegetables. The class for models, pictures and miscellaneous all number-large selection of arts and crafts.

Each year the sum of $300 is set aside to premiums for school exhibits. Most schools in the area display the best work of their students.

Entries may be made on Sunday, Sept. 3 from noon to 2 p.m. and all-day Monday, Sept. 4. Judging in this department will be on Sept. 5.

Gas gives you a BETTER DEAL

A Gas Water Heater Is About As Complex As This!

There's not much to go wrong with a gas water heater. No elements that become less efficient through corrosion, then burn out and have to be replaced.

While the operation of a gas water heater is simple, its production is fantastic. It heats water faster for less money than its electric counterpart and has a longer life expectancy.

But don't take our word for it. Ask someone who heats water with gas. Our customers are our best salesmen.

Eight men are inducted into baseball shrine

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—Words, carved on tablets of bronze certifying the deeds that preceded them, brought Hall of Fame immortality Monday to eight men who gave distinction both on and off the field.

The men inducted were pitchers Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Vernon "Lefty" Gomez of the New York Yankees and Early Wynn of the Washington Senators; Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox; catcher Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees, outfielder Ross Youngs of the New York Giants, catcher Josh Gibson and first baseman Buck Leonard of the Homestead Grays; and former President William Harridge of the American League.

Despite sullen skies that threatened to soak the record gathering of 3,500 fans who gathered in the courtyard of Shrine Library and on surrounding hilltops, the only moisture that flowed was from the eyes of the emotional men who were honored.

And it was comical, clumsy Berra, the squat little fellow who always looked like a droopy cupid doll, who gave the crowd his most electric moment—Berra, with 358 career homers, three Most Valuable Player awards, a pennant-winning year as Yankee manager in 1964 and combat on 14 championship teams, brought an explosive roar from the crowd when Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced him.

"I want to thank everybody who made this day necessary," he said, bringing back to mind an unconscious boo-boo he made years ago when hometown fans in St. Louis honored him with a special day. "I only regret right now that there were those close to me who didn't live to see this day, my mother and father, my brother, who died this year, and Gil Hodges."

Berra became manager of the Mets at the beginning of this season when his old friend Hodges died just before the campaign began.

Koufax, at 36 the youngest player ever to be inducted, pointed up the game's stationary structure of more than half a century, because he was the first Hall of Famer who played most of his career with a transferred team, the Los Angeles Dodgers uprooted from Brooklyn. He had four no-hitters, including a perfect game in 1955, was Most Valuable Player in 1963 and won the Cy Young award as the National League's outstanding pitcher in 1963, 1965 and 1966.

"I owe a great deal to a lot of people who had faith enough in me so that I can be standing here today, after my inglorious start in Brooklyn," he said.

Body of Machen found in S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The pajama-clad body of former-heavyweight contender Eddie Machen was found Monday in the parking lot of his apartment house.

Coroner's deputies said Machen, 40, fell or jumped from his second-floor apartment. They said he died from liver damage.

The ex-fighter, who had been under psychiatric care for several years following repeated brushes with the law, was found on his right side, between a post and a car in the parking lot.

There was a high railing outside Machen's apartment, a coroner's spokesman said, and investigators could not immediately determine whether he jumped or fell. He said a friend who saw Machen Sunday described the former boxer as "in good spirits."

A trail of blood from the center of the driveway to the auto where the body was found indicated Machen crawled about seven feet before he died, the investigators reported.

The former boxer, who fought and lost to—the top heavyweights of the 1950s and 1960s, was wearing a pair of

Parish is reinstated

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—LINEBACKER DON Parish, who was suspended by coach Tommy Prothro last week, was reinstated Monday and worked out with the Los Angeles Rams.

At the time of his suspension for talking back to an assistant coach, Prothro, said he was going to try to trade Parish but would take the third-year player from Stanford back if he showed an attitude change.

Parish was acquired during the off-season from the St. Louis Cardinals for a draft choice.

The Rams released running back Albert Schmidt, an 11th-round draft choice from Kansas State of Pittsburg, on waivers.

The Rams, 13-3 winners over Cleveland in their exhibition opener last weekend, host the Dallas Cowboys at the Coliseum Saturday night.

Players are honored Game managers can control numbers at desired levels

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish and Game Department

Game managers now know enough about wildlife ecology to hold fish and game populations at whatever levels people are willing to pay the price to have — financially and otherwise.

Stated negatively, this proposition means that nobody wants to see a return of buffalo herds so large that bison would repossess the Great Plains, or grizzly bears in such numbers that hunters would have to go out in groups for mutual protection.

Of course, it is much too late to help some 48 extinct species of American-mammals, birds, and fish by providing habitat, or any other need.

It may be too late to save some of the rare and endangered species of fish and wildlife that are listed by the Department of Interior, and embodied by Congress in Public Law 89-669, the Endangered Species Preservation Act. Probably a safe generalization is that more suitable habitat to give them places to live would be the best of all possible ways to save grizzly bear — a remnant species still found in Idaho, and 16 other mammals in other states — listed as endangered. These include the timber wolf and blackfooted ferret.

The California bighorn — a coastal strain of wild sheep related to the Rocky Mountain bighorn, which was transplanted from British Columbia to the Owyhee Mountains several years ago; is the only Idaho mammal listed as "rare." There are, however, 15 rare species in other states including two kinds of prairie dogs and several strains of seals and whales.

Mountain caribou, found on the northern edge of Idaho's panhandle region, occur in large numbers in Canada but have limited distribution anywhere in the contiguous United States, are found on the peripheral list. Pine marten, fisher, wolverine, and Canada lynx all occur in the Gem-state though in remnant numbers.

Montana officials deny funds misuse

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI)—Five officials associated with the University of Montana's athletic program pleaded innocent Monday to federal charges of misuse of nearly $250,000 in work-study funds for student athletes.

All five were released without bond and U.S. District Judge W.D. Murray of Butte indicated further court proceedings would not take place for at least 2-12 months.

Charged in the 32-count indictment were Jack Swarthout, 52, athletic director and head football coach, whose grid teams at Montana won the Big Sky Conference titles in 1969 and 1970; George W. Mitchell, 39, administrative vice president of the University; Earl W. Martell, 58, athletic business manager; John Elway, 41, former first assistant coach under Swarthout, now an assistant football coach at Washington State University in Pullman, Wash.; and William Betcher, 35, Swarthout's offensive line coach at Montana.

Murray granted attorneys for the defendants 30 days in which to file motions and briefs and said the government would have another 30 days in which to file answering briefs.

The judge said a federal jurist from outside the district would preside over future proceedings.

Not appearing Monday were three alleged "co-conspirators" who were not indicted by the federal government but could be called as equivalent to government prosecution witnesses, U.S. District Attorney Otis Packwood said.

He identified the men as Calvin L. Murphy, 48, University of Montana business manager; George Heathcoate, 45,

Broncos trim squad for opener

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—The Denver Broncos cut 10 players Monday and placed one on the team's injured-waiver list to trim the squad to 60 players for Friday's opener against Washington in pre-season play.

None of the players cut was among the top draft choices earlier in the year, a spokesman said from the Bronco summer camp.

Placed on the injured-waiver list was Eric Harris, a defensive back from the University of Colorado.

Cut were wide receiver Jon Harrison of Oklahoma, tight end Bill Stowers of UCLA, tackle Skip Parmenter from Massachusetts, wide receiver Gordon Bowdell of Michigan State, linebacker Mike McConnell of Oregon, linebacker Dennis Ontkott of Penn State, defensive back Jack Schultz of Stanford, defensive back Jimmy Jones of Southern California, defensive back Randy McDougal of Weber State, and punter Gary Loyd of California-Lathegan.

Cards call Allen from Tulsa club

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Monday called up first baseman Ron Allen from their Tulsa farm club to replace Donn Clendenon, who was given his unconditional release.

Allen, brother of Chicago White Sox star Dick Allen and former major leaguer Hank Allen, was expected to make his first major league appearance with St. Louis Monday night against the New York Mets.

Allen, 28, began his minor league career in 1964 in the Philadelphia organization and remained with the Phillies until 1970 when he moved to the New York Mets' farm system in Memphis.

The 6-3, 205-pound switch-hitter was acquired by Tulsa from the Mets' Tidewater club last September. In nine minor league seasons, Allen has hit 135 homers.

At Tulsa this season, Allen was hitting .269 in 50 games, with 16 home runs and 49 RBIs. St. Louis announced Sunday it intended to apply for waivers on Clendenon following a meeting between the 37-year-old first baseman and General Manager Bing Devine.

Wooden is honored

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—John Wooden, whose UCLA Bruins have won six straight NCAA titles, Monday was elected to the United Savings-Helms College Basketball Hall of Fame.

Two ex-coaches, Stan Watts of Brigham Young and Bob Calihan of University of Detroit, also were selected as were 11 former great players.

The 11 were: George Gardner, Southwestern Kansas; Art Loeb, Princeton; Joe Schaaf, Penn; Joe Relf, Northwestern; Elwood Romney, Brigham Young; John Lobdinger, Missouri; John O'Brien, Columbia; Max Morris, Northwestern; Sam Runzino, North Carolina State; Pete Maravich, Louisiana State; and Sley Wicks, UCLA.

Parks is undecided on future

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—Billy Parks, the wide receiver who figured in the trade that sent running back Pauline Thomas to San Diego, still does not know whether he wants to play football for the Dallas Cowboys.

A Cowboy spokesman said Monday coach Sid Gilman, formerly of the Chargers, ate dinner with Parks Sunday night in Los Angeles to discuss the situation and Parks did not make a decision.

"We expect a decision in the very near future," the spokesman said.

The Cowboys play Los Angeles Saturday night and then return to Texas for the rest of the season and indications were that change bothered Parks more than the move from one team to another. He was born in California, has played football there in high school, college and the pros and does not want to leave.

Yanks win in annual game

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—Bernie Allen drove in six runs with three homers—equalling the total he has hit during the American League season—to lead the New York Yankees to an 8-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday in the 28th annual Hall of Fame game.

Allen hit a three-run homer in a five-run fourth inning outburst which gave the Yankees a 3-1 lead. Allen also homered in the sixth and eighth innings to become the first player ever to hit three homers in the annual Shrine game.

Wes Parker singled in the Dodgers' first run in the first inning and Willie Davis hit a two-run homer in the third.

Braves unload Harris, select Eddie Mathews

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Atlanta Braves finally made the rumors come true Monday by firing Manager Luman Harris and naming former Braves slugger Eddie Mathews to take his place.

Mathews, the Braves former star third baseman and more recently a first base coach, was signed to a contract which runs through the 1973 season.

Harris' dismissal had been rumored for some time and recently Eddie Robinson, the Braves player personnel director, had been traveling with the team to evaluate the players and the problems.

Mathews said he was informed of the decision to change managers at 7:30 A.M. EDT Monday. He met with the other coaches a short time after the announcement was made and planned to talk with the players sometime before Monday night's game with the Reds.

"Right now we're not going to make any changes," Mathews said concerning the Braves lineup. "We're going to have the same personnel on the field for tonight's game."

The Braves, losers in seven of their last eight games, have been plagued by weak pitching, and Mathews addressed himself to the problem.

"We're going to take a long, hard look and evaluate these fellows for the remainder of the season," he said.

"I think we have better pitching than we have shown and better pitching than people think we have."

Low being in charge. I'm still the boss of this club, but the pitchers will know they can take a problem to Low and he can take care of it."

Braves President Bill Bartholomay, who made the announcement of Harris' dismissal, said he had always been impressed with Mathews as a player and "I believe he is capable of providing the type of direction that the Braves need at this time."

"I want to express my personal gratitude and respect to Luman Harris for the fine work he has done on behalf of the Braves during the past five seasons and I wish him well."

Harris, 57, refused to make any comment on the firing and reportedly planned to return to Atlanta later Monday.

Twins blank Rangers 5-0

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Jim Perry, who held Texas without a hit over the first four innings, pitched a two-hitter and Bobby Darwin slammed it three runs homer Monday to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 5-0 victory over the Rangers.

Perry walked Texas leadoff batter Dave Nelson in the first inning, but later picked him off first base and then didn't allow a Ranger baserunner until the fifth inning.

Mathews said pitching Coach Lew Burdette would be in "complete charge of the pitchers" for the rest of the season.

"You know, Luman was a pitcher himself and he pretty much took charge of the pitchers," Mathews remarked. "Don't get me wrong about

Harris, who pitched six years in the majors and managed at Baltimore and Houston before joining the Braves in 1968, guided the team to a Western Division title in 1969.

However, the team was fifth in the league in 1968, fifth in the division in 1970, third last year and has been unable to rise above the .500 mark this season.

Mathews, at 40 one of the youngest managers in baseball, hit 512 home runs during his major-league career, most of it spent with the Braves in their former homes, Boston and Milwaukee.

Bruce McNeer survives cut

WICHITA, Kansas — Bruce McNeer, Twin Falls, shot a 78 Monday in the third day of the National Insurance Youth Classic golf tournament in Wichita, Kansas.

The tournament began Saturday with 150 junior golfers selected from state competition. After Sunday's second round the 60 best scores survived the cut. McNeer shot a 157 for the first 36 holes with the cut at 150. Kevin Packard, another Twin Falls golfer playing in the national competition, shot a pair of 80's the first two days and missed the cut by a stroke.

Pro tour golfers joined the tournament on Monday with McNeer playing the first day with Charlie Sifford. Today he will play with Ken Still. The Junior leader after Monday's round was John Elam of North Carolina who shot a one-under 71.

Field goal lets Saints nip Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Rookie Toni Linhart, an Austrian import, kicked a nine-yard field goal with nine seconds left to play Monday night to give the New Orleans Saints a 13-10 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League exhibition game.

Linhart, who was signed in Austria by Saints' coach J. D. Roberts, kicked the winning points only seconds after the Eagles fans boomed a personal foul call and held up play for 20 minutes, keeping quarterback Archie Manning from calling signals 12 straight times out of the huddle at the Eagle 12-yard line.

On the 13th try, Bob Gresham bolted five yards and then carried for three and two yards to put Linhart in line for the kick.

Manning had pulled the Saints into a 10-10 tie with 6:13 left in the game by combining with wide receiver Margene Adkins on a 73-yard pass play.

CLOSING IN on his second 20-plus wins per season is White Sox pitcher Wilbur Wood as he beat the Texas Rangers 10-1 Sunday. His 1971 record was 22-13, his first in the over-20 game winner elite. Wood is now 18-11. (UPI)

Royals down Hunter, A's

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—The Kansas City Royals collected a double, three singles, two walks and a sacrifice fly to score four runs in the fourth inning Monday night to defeat Jim Hunter and the Oakland Athletics, 4-2.

The loss left Oakland only three games ahead of Chicago in the American League West, their narrowest margin since July 1.

Richie Scheinblum led off the fourth with a walk. Ed Kirkpatrick followed with a double and Scheinblum scored on Lou Piniella's sacrifice fly.

with Kirkpatrick moving to third.

After Paul Schaal popped out, Fred Patek flew to score offensively. Pitcher Dick Drago, hitless in his last 20 at-bats, then delivered a run-scoring single.

Wildlife seasons discussed

TWIN FALLS — A discussion was held Monday night on upland game bird and water fowl seasons by the Fish and Game Department during a public hearing in the College of Southern Idaho multi-purpose building.

Proposals discussed included the pheasant season, along with huns and chukar seasons, remaining the same as 1971. The pheasant season would start Oct. 28 and the proposed closing date would be Dec. 10.

The bag limit would be four cocks up until the final nine days of the season when one hen would be allowed. Sage grouse season would also be the same as last season, starting Sept. 16th with the bag limit three per day. These proposals must be passed by the Fish and Game commission next week.

There were also proposed changes on the boundaries where hunters may hunt on the Hagerman refuge, including possible closure of Frank Oster lakes area on the refuge, adjustment back of the line near the refuge manager's house, possibly closure of the lakes lying to the west of Highway 30 and installation of a sign to let the hunters know when legal quitting time has arrived. Also under discussion was a week's extension of the goose season east of Highway 90 over last year.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you have considerable vitality. You are able to see conditions in their most comprehensive light and can make real progress toward attaining your most cherished objectives. Avoid being too forceful or demanding even though you may be tempted.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): It's all right to have a good time; but don't force others to go along with you. They may have more important things to do. Give others a compliment when merited. Pay your bills.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You can accomplish a great deal today at home, but do nothing that will irritate anyone there. An unkind word could touch off a big argument. Make improvements to the property you own.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Engage in outside activities early and accomplish much whether of a business, cultural or artistic nature. A good time to engage in your favorite hobby. Show more devotion to family.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You are thinking sensibly and can do much to add to your present abundance. Discuss your best ideas with experts so that you remove any doubts you may have. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You can make your presence felt now where it counts the most, since the planets are most favorable. Contact valuable allies early and discuss the subjects that are closest to your heart.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You have private aims that require more study now if you are to make a success of them. Reach right decisions early. Once arrangements are made for the future, go out for entertainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Ideal day to get together with friends you truly admire and who can help make your life happier. Stop closing yourself in the home so much. Engage in group activities that please.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Show loyalty and admiration to superiors and public leaders. Forget a tendency to poke fun at them. Make sure you carry through with civic matters instead of running away from them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Ideal day to visit bigwig who can help you advance in your line of endeavor. Anything of a scientific or educational nature is fine. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Find a better method of handling those responsibilities ahead of you. Show others that you are a conscientious person. Try not to be forceful with the one you love. Relax tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Try not to act in such an uncontrollable way that you lose the support of a bigwig. Show that you are a reasonable person and add to prestige you now enjoy. Be puffed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You have so much work ahead of you that you may neglect order and neatness around you, so give more attention to this and you can labor more efficiently. Get wardrobe fixed to suit your style.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those dynamic young people who has to be taught early to be careful and not act in an imperious fashion. There is much ability at organizing here and the education should be directed along such lines so that your progeny can be of greatest assistance to the multitudes. Give good ethical training early and teach love of family.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.

Airline Girls And Pregnancy

Approximately 88 per cent of Zambia's airline stewardesses become pregnant during their six-month training session. Never get off the ground. It's frustrating, says Zambia National Airways Executive Lawrence Moola. That flight company has hired a staff gynecologist.

WHEN Carmelo Carbone, 88, of Milan, Italy, ordered his wife to tell him how she voted in the election, she refused. Big fight. Police. Legal charges. But the judge upheld Signor Carbone. The precedent is set. In Italy, a wife must tell her husband how she voted.

ANOTHER symptom among some young ladies of that psychosomatic syndrome called hypochondria is the fluttering of the eyelids. So contends a medical specialist. Eyelid flutterers, he says, tend to visit their doctors frequently with complaints most difficult to diagnose.

QUERIES

Q. "How come those Japanese suicide pilots of World War II were named the kamikaze?"
A. That name means "divine wind." So called after an infamous typhoon 700 years ago. It wrecked a mainland invasion fleet that almost certainly could have subjugated Japan.

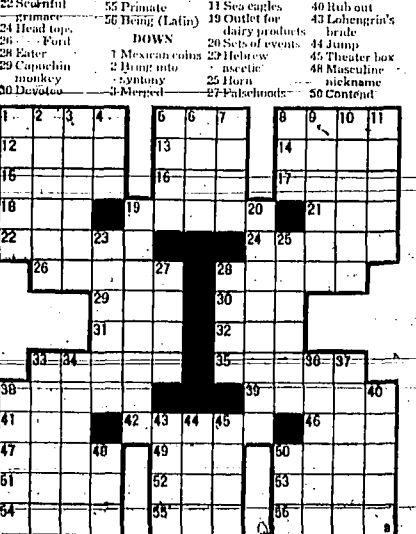

Q. "WHERE in the Bible does it say 'give the Devil his due'?"
A. That's not Biblical. It's Shakespearean. As in "dona as a door nail" and "it's Greek to me."

WHY APPENDICITIS crops up more frequently in men than in women is another medical mystery.

Attorney hits law on eagles

DENVER (UPI)—An attorney for three men who allegedly hunted down 62 golden eagles over Colorado argued before a U.S. district judge Monday that federal laws protecting the large birds were unconstitutional.

Vasco G. Seavy Jr. told U.S. District Judge Fred Winner that only states, not the federal government, have the authority to protect wildlife.

Seavy represented Colorado ranch owner Dean Visintainer, 40, of Craig; Doyle R. Vaughan, 38, of Buffalo, Wyo., owner of the Buffalo Flying Service; and Joe Evans, 44, of Baggs, Wyo., a deputy sheriff and state brand inspector.

Seavy, in asking that charges be dismissed, quoted testimony offered by Colorado Gov. John A. Love before the Senate Commerce Committee. He said the governor told the committee there is "nothing in the Constitution authorizing the federal government to regulate wildlife in these United States."

Seavy argued that Congress can regulate the Great Seal of the United States, but it cannot claim control over the bald eagle which is depicted on the seal and "certainly not a bird of an entirely different species (the golden eagle)."

The golden eagle is the national symbol of Mexico, not the national symbol or emblem of the United States, he added. "The only asserted authority to protect the golden eagle is an indirect protection of the bald eagle," he said.

The three men are accused of hunting the eagles from a helicopter over Colorado in 1970 and 1971. Vaughan and Evans also have been charged with killing golden eagles in Wyoming.

The maximum penalty for killing a golden eagle from an aircraft is six months in jail and a $500 fine for each eagle.

Drinking noncom's undoing

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI)—An Air Force psychiatrist testified today that heavy drinking had some detrimental effect on the judgment of accused spy M. Sgt. Walter T. Perkins but did not cause him "total impairment."

Col. John C. Sparks was the first of three Air Force psychiatrists expected to try to refute defense testimony that Perkins was a pitiable alcoholic on the verge of total mental collapse.

Sparks, who examined Perkins, told the military judge that we felt there was an impairment, but not a total impairment caused by the sergeant's prolonged drinking. Judge Sparks said the stand, the judge Col. Joe F. Peck, was told that two defense psychiatrists had listened to tape recordings of part of the testimony given by a third defense psychiatrist before they took the stand.

The military prosecutor did not ask for a mistrial. But he urged Col. Peck to "weigh the credibility" of the two defense psychiatrists in light of the fact they had heard portions of the testimony given by the third defense psychiatrist.

Sparks was expected to be followed on the witness stand today by Lt. Col. William J. Fisher and Maj. Daniel E. Schweid. All three are assigned to the Air Force alcoholism control center at Lackland AFB in Texas.

Russians send hundreds to fight peat blaze

MOSCOW (UPI)—Thousands of soldiers, firemen and farmers have been mobilized to battle a vast peat fire raging for almost a week in the sun-scorched lands of Central Russia, authoritative sources said today.

Sporadic fires have broken out in areas as far apart as the Kalinin district 100 miles north of Moscow and in the bog lands 90 miles to the south and east of the capital.

The worst of the fires, according to Trud, the trade union newspaper, covers an area of more than 2,500 acres in the Shatura region, 90 miles east of Moscow, and is spreading westward.

Moscow, this morning, was shrouded in a milky blue haze. Acrid smoke blown by winds from the east added considerably to the discomfort of the population suffering the worst and most sustained heat wave in the past 100 years of recorded weather history.

McGovern's dream comes true

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — From the very beginning, George S. McGovern dreamed of a Kennedy as his running-mate and Saturday he finally found one. His name is Shriver.

At best, however, R. Sargent Shriver was well down the list of those McGovern wanted to hand-pick as the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

McGovern turned to the 56-year old Shriver only after he was compelled to force Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Mis-son, Hubert H. Humphrey, who served as Lyndon B. Johnson's vice president for four years (1965-1969) was not interested in another go-around and finally, Saturday morning, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie turned down McGovern for personal and family reasons.

With time running out before the Democratic National Committee meets Tuesday to formally select a vice presidential candidate, McGovern reached his long-awaited decision — R. Sargent Shriver.

Shriver is not only a Kennedy by marriage — he is the husband of Eunice and the in-law of Edward M. Kennedy — but his entire political career is intertwined with the Kennedys.

And Shriver's credentials in public affairs reach beyond his marital association with the Kennedy clan or even his political affiliation with the nation's most prestigious political family.

President John F. Kennedy made him the first director of the Peace Corps and Shriver made it a success. President Lyndon B. Johnson made him the first director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and Shriver had some single successes leading the War on Poverty.

His career in public office ended with a term as U.S.

ambassador to France which bridged the Johnson and Nixon administrations.

Kenneth O'Donnell, a Kennedy intimate, said that Johnson wanted either Shriver or former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy as his running-mate in 1964 because they were Catholics and that Humphrey was forced on him; Humphrey also considered Shriver before settling on Muskie in 1968; and Nixon thought of him as a possible ambassador to the United Nations.

Despite his career in public office and his apparent high regard among leaders in both parties, Shriver has consistently bucked away from seeking souri off the ticket and five — at least five — offers said no.

From the outset, McGovern hoped that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy could overcome his reluctance and become the party's No. 2 man in the battle against President Nixon.

McGovern then turned to Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, long a political ally, who said that at 62 he was too old.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, McGovern's closest friend in the Senate, said he did not want to lose his independence.

No endorsement

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The presidential candidate of the American Party does not expect to get the endorsement of Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who ran on the party ticket four years ago.

from the West Coast," Schmitz said.

He said President Nixon has "so little to offer the people they are running on the unofficial campaign slogan of 'You don't want McGovern, do you?'"

Wreckage removed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — A train-truck collision that caused a spectacular explosion and $600,000 damage was being cleared today by wreck crews of the government-owned Alaska Railroad.

The fiery accident happened Saturday morning 35 miles north of Anchorage and was seven hours later the flames caused a tank car full of aviation fuel to explode.

"It just went sky high," said Diane Nichols, who drove 10 miles to reach a telephone to report the explosion. Fire from the wreckage was seen 60 miles away.

Phone and power service was disrupted to two small towns for 24 hours following the derailment of 38 railroad cars and two engines.

Gem senator pleased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who recently withdrew as a possible vice presidential nominee, said he was pleased with Sen. George McGovern's selection of Sargent Shriver as his new running mate.

"Sen. McGovern has made an excellent choice," Church said. "Now, let's get on with the business of electing him president."

"I don't anticipate him endorsing anyone, but he has told me I'm one of his favorite people," says John G. Schmitz, a lameduck congressman from California who won the presidential nomination at the party convention here.

Schmitz, who said the Republicans "purged" him when he lost renomination to Congress in June, heads a ticket that also includes Thomas J. Anderson, of Pigeon Forge, Tenn.

Schmitz, 41, and Anderson, 61, both belong to the John Birch Society, but Schmitz said the ticket is still "balanced."
