

US ground combat ends

SAIGON (UPI)—The last American ground combat unit in Vietnam was deactivated today, the day after one of its companies returned from a four-day mission during which two men were wounded by booby traps.

One soldier from Delta Company, which went on the mission, was slightly wounded the first night out when he stepped on a booby trap, and another was wounded in an identical manner on the Thursday night.

The unit, 3rd Battalion, 21st Infantry, with supporting artillery battery and medical detachment, guarded the big U.S. aircraft and helicopter base at Da Nang. The battalion has 1,043 men.

The deactivation was announced by a U.S. command spokesman. He said most of the battalion's men will be going home in the next few days, but those with job specialties still needed in Vietnam and those with less than six months Vietnam service will stay.

The spokesman said there have been several volunteers for door gunner or security jobs at remaining American air bases.

As of last week 44,600 American servicemen were left in South Vietnam. The figure does not include sailors in the U.S. 7th Fleet off the Vietnamese coast or airmen stationed in Thailand and Guam flying missions over North and South Vietnam.

Nixon warned on July 18 that he would veto appropriations bills which exceed his budget. He is trying to hold government spending to $250 billion this fiscal year, an amount that will produce a deficit in excess of $30 billion.

Twenty-three Republicans joined 39 Democrats in voting for the bill and 18 Republicans and four Democrats voted against it.

The House passed the bill Wednesday 338-166—a margin, not wide enough to provide the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto.

That means Congress will have to start from scratch in

Reds bombard S. Viet towns

SAIGON (UPI)—Guerrillas in a sudden offensive surge, bombed towns all over South Vietnam today and launched commando attacks as close as 22 miles to Saigon.

In a little over 24 hours ending at dawn today the guerrillas shelled at least nine towns and followed up with ground attacks on five of them.

Two of the ground attacks were launched Thursday and three more today. Military spokesmen said all five were repulsed.

All told the attacks cost the lives of 60 guerrillas and 20 South Vietnamese soldiers and civilians. An additional 80 soldiers and civilians were wounded.

In the most spectacular attack, an estimated 100 commandos, smeared with black paint for night fighting and wearing only loincloths to avoid getting snagged on barbed wire, crawled into the big South Vietnamese base of Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

Sparkling fireball sighted over Valley

By DALE STEWART
Times-News writer

Hundreds of Magic Valley residents saw the fireball which zipped across the western United States Thursday afternoon.

Tentatively identified by scientists as a large meteor, it sparked a flood of telephone calls to the Times-News, law enforcement agencies, airports and the flight service office at Burley. Descriptions included "like a jagged rock standing on end," "a flashing, cone-shaped object," "a basketball-sized object" and "a flaming ball." Most viewers agreed that it left a trail of vapor or smoke as it sped silently from south to north through the sky.

There were a few variations in the reported direction. Most reports had the object going north, but there were some who said it was going northwest. Reports of sightings ranged from Las Vegas, Nev., to Dillon, Mont., and north into Canada, as well as from Denver to Seattle.

Quick checks determined that no reports of aircraft crashes had been received in the Magic Valley area or at Mountain Home Air Force Base. However, at least one report of an apparent airplane crash in Twin Falls was received at the city-county airport.

Supporting the tentative identification of the object as a meteor is the fact the Earth is passing through the orbital path of the remains of a comet, debris from which will create a "shower" of "shooting stars" as the rocks and other material burn up in the planet's atmosphere.

Known as the Perseid meteors, those objects strike the atmosphere and burn up high above the ground, according to western scientists quoted by United Press International.

Most reports of the sightings placed the time at about 2:40 p.m.

Mrs. Ferris Sweet, Twin Falls — the first to call the Times-News — said a "flashing, cone shaped object" was headed northeast. She saw it from near her home, south of Twin Falls near the airport.

Ralph Keeney, Buhl, said the basketball-sized object was trailing a flame as it sped northward over the Snake River Canyon.

Mrs. Irene Whitton, Rupert, a secretary in the office of the Minidoka County agricultural agent, was at her desk near an east window. The flash of light from the object attracted her attention when it hit the glass top on the desk. She saw a "shiny white streak" traveling north when she looked up.

William Swartley, Twin Falls, was driving with two companions near Murlaugh when he spotted the object going north and west. Before it disappeared in the direction of Eden and Hazelton, "it appeared like three balloons left it."

Mrs. Wardell Rainey, Hailey, was in the Farm Bureau insurance office there when the burning object passed, with flaring pieces coming from it. "It was visible for about two seconds. It was fiery, with a kind of blue flame. It left a brownish gray trail," she said. The trail remained visible for several minutes after the object passed silently.

One observer told the Blaine County sheriff's office the object passed out of sight behind trees on the North Fork north of Ketchum.

Another person saw it above Slaughterhouse

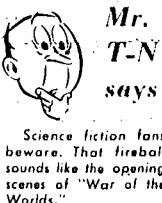

Gulch near Bellevue. James Cortos, Twin Falls, was driving in the 100-block on Blue Lakes North when he saw it. "It left a vapor trail and had a big tail on it," he said. The object passed over Twin Falls from south to north "like a bat out of hell," about half a mile up. It was visible for about 10 to 15 seconds, he estimated.

Gene Waltz, who operates the Sportsman's Lodge on the Snake River between Hagerman and Buhl, said it passed over Buhl, and went toward Bliss. At first, he said, he thought it was a jet in trouble, but decided it was "too pretty for that."

Most reports received described the object as traveling high in the air, with a smoke trail behind which remained visible in the sky for several minutes. There was no sound, and the burning object — described variously as bluish, silver, orange or red — was trailed by white to gray or brownish smoke, looking much like the condensation trail behind a jet aircraft.

Although there were generally no reports of any sound created by passage of the object over the Magic Valley, a Polson, Mont., newsman reported it made a boom followed by rumbling noises which were strong enough to rattle windows.

And pilots near Great Falls, Mont., reported it was above 41,000 feet when they saw it.

Senate ponders N-pact

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S.-Soviet agreement to stem the nuclear arms race reached the Senate floor today with the White House and factions of senators disputing its meaning.

Four senators have announced their intentions to introduce amendments to the agreement. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is guiding the agreement through the Senate, Thursday voted to oppose any amendments.

Caught in the middle was the White House, which in seeking to mollify Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., accepted the concept of a Jackson amendment on Monday. Then Wednesday the White House said it disagreed with Jackson's interpretation of his amendment.

Jackson has been the chief critic of the agreement, declaring that it favored the Soviet Union.

The agreement gives "the Soviets a numerical edge in numbers of missile launchers, but the administration claims this is more than offset by the U.S. ability to cluster several warheads in a single nose cone. The administration also contends that U.S. missiles are more accurate than Soviet missiles.

British airlift supplies

LONDON (UPI)—The British government ordered Royal Air Force (RAF) transport planes to fly food today to remote islands where the national dock strike has narrowed housewives' groceries to little more than fish, potatoes and lettuce.

A union-dock employers committee met in London in an effort to settle the dock workers' strike, now in its 15th day.

Jack Jones, leader of the Transport and General Workers Union (TGWU), to which most dockers belong, said if today's meeting showed enough progress in assuring dockers jobs despite containerization, a conference of dockers delegates could be called next week to vote on a settlement.

The airlift to the Shetlands and Orkneys Islands off the north coast of Scotland was being organized by RAF Hercules transports from Kinloss. From shopping lists made up by officials on the islands, the planes were flying 90 tons of supplies to each of the two island groups.

A smaller scale airlift of fuel and food supplies to the Hebrides off Scotland's west coast was being organized in commercial planes today.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—A recent study shows that 85 per cent of American television viewers think a show about a San Francisco police chief ferreting criminals from his wheelchair shows "life as it really is."

The same study shows that "majorities of viewers" rate soap operas and medical programs as "both realistic and instructive," but are unable to identify such newsmakers as consumer advocate Ralph Nader and Martha Mitchell, wife of the former attorney general John P. Robinson, study director at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research, revealed Thursday the results of 23 different studies of the effects of television undertaken by the Surgeon General's Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior.

Robinson said that "Ironside" and "The FBI" were the types of programs described by 85 per cent of viewers as "showing life as it really is." "Ironside" is a TV drama with a crippled police chief in the leading role.

Robinson said that the average American spends about two hours a day watching television—not three to six hours as has often been stated. He went on to explore the theory that watching TV is dissatisfying and mind-dulling, saying "the legions of viewers say that watching television is pleasurable, entertaining and often educational."

But few viewers watch TV for education, the study showed. Only 10 per cent in a pilot national sample spontaneously brought up information seeking as a reason for watching television. And frequent viewers from the national sample and a study of high school students "showed almost no more awareness than those who seldom watched television news."

In both studies people were asked to identify such newsmakers as Nader and Mrs. Mitchell, and fewer than 30 per cent of those sampled could identify either, Robinson said. "Readership of magazines and newspapers, on the other hand, exhibited considerably greater awareness, after other determinants were taken into account," Robinson said.

Robinson found that few people complained about the violence and sex when asked what they would like to see changed on television. The most frequent complaint was about commercials, "particularly that there are too many of them," he said.

SARGENT SHRIVER
... cites 'blunder'

Nixon 'blew it' on talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver believes President Nixon "blew it" when he failed to take a "historic opportunity" to end the Vietnam war in 1969.

Shriver contended Thursday that Nixon had the opportunity the year he took office to end the war on better terms than he can get now.

"President Nixon had peace in his lap handed to him," Shriver said. "I cannot imagine why he blew it."

Shriver was U.S. ambassador to France during the first year of the Paris peace talks under the Nixon administration. He was interviewed at his suburban Maryland estate by five reporters.

"I think we could have gotten better terms in 1969 than he (Nixon) can get now," Shriver said. "I can assure you it (the terms) would have been as good or better."

Nixon could have offered the Vietnamese Communists the same terms then that he is offering now and they would have been accepted, Shriver said.

Mac's proposals termed nonsense

By United Press International
The president of the nation's largest independent labor union describes as "nonsense" Sen. George S. McGovern proposals on welfare, taxes, amnesty, busing and the Vietnam war.

Frank B. Fitzsimmons of the 2.1 million member Teamsters Union characterized the Democratic presidential candidate Thursday as an enemy of labor. Fitzsimmons, whose union has endorsed President Nixon, urged union members to spurn McGovern's efforts to win their votes.

Fitzsimmons was joined in lambasting McGovern by Nixon's campaign director, Clark MacGregor, who challenged the South Dakota senator to put his proposals to a Senate test. Immediately, MacGregor predicted they would be rejected "by a vote of 95 to 1." But MacGregor also said the Nixon campaign staff was working to combat overconfidence and was running the campaign as "if the President were one vote behind" despite polls showing Nixon far ahead.

While his critics spoke out against him, McGovern plunged into a three-state campaign swing through New England, described as "listening" tour designed to learn what voters are thinking. He toured a Manchester, N.H., shoe factory and visited a Hartford, Conn., insurance center. Today he campaigns in Rhode Island before ending the day in New York City.

McGovern's running mate, Sargent Shriver, charged that Nixon "blew it" when he failed to take a "historic opportunity" to end the Vietnam war soon after he took office in 1969. Shriver, who served as U.S. ambassador to France during the early part of Nixon's administration, argued that Nixon could have ended the war in 1969 on better terms than he can get now. Shriver said Nixon's failure was "one of the great tragedies of the Nixon administration."

Fitzsimmons' accused McGovern of "grossly distorting President Nixon's record while covering up his own performance in public life which is not one on behalf of those who labor."

The Teamsters president said McGovern's welfare proposals would bankrupt the federal treasury and wipe out the $750 per person income tax exemption. He said McGovern's proposals included one "to beg to Hanol, thus embarrassing the United States in the eyes of the world."

Only 1 sick elm found

TWIN FALLS — "Most sick elms are not infected with Dutch elm disease," according to Don Youtz, Twin Falls County Extension Agent.

Following reports of identification of the Dutch elm disease in Twin Falls, the county extension office has received numerous calls regarding sick elms.

Youtz said only one tree had been located with Dutch Elm disease.

Most of the calls described symptoms of trees suffering from the results of the elm tree beetle, which is one of the most destructive pests of the elm tree in the United States. "Twin Falls has probably had this pest as long as we have had elm trees," said Youtz.

The leaves are skeletonized and the trees take on a brown appearance with the dead looking leaves. These infested elm trees are all over Twin Falls and it is not the Dutch elm disease.

The adult elm leaf beetle is a yellowish-to-dull green beetle about one-fourth inch long with an indistinct black stripe along each side. The larvae or worm is yellow to black and will be found skeletonizing the leaves or crawling about on the bark of the trunk. They are sometimes clustered about the trunk of the tree in great numbers.

Chemical control with insecticides is the only cure, says Youtz. It is a little late now, however, since the damage has been done for this year. Elm trees decline and die from other diseases, says Youtz. Many disease organisms gain entry when a tree is pruned or injured.

The big 411 four-door Sedans. And, of course, our lovable little Beetles.

All you have to do is drive your car back to the dealer who sold it to you for free-service for one year or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

Nobody in the world offers you anything like that.

Nobody.

It hardly seems fair.

Especially when you consider that all this is over and above our normal 2-yr./24,000-mile warranty.

You see, all the other cars in the world (with the notable exception of Rolls Royce) have to struggle along on a mere one-year/12,000 mile warranty.

Now they'll all have to struggle along on even less. Even the mighty Rolls Royce—with prices starting at $25,200—doesn't offer you this.

But, then, if you're not a Volkswagen, you can't expect everything, can you?

*If an owner maintains and services his vehicle in accordance with the Volkswagen maintenance schedule any factory part found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, will be repaired or replaced by any U.S. or Canadian Volkswagen Dealer. And this will be done free of charge.

Officers acquitted of charges

DETROIT (UPI) — Three members of a special Detroit police decoy squad were acquitted Thursday on charges of assault with intent to murder after a bizarre March 9 shootout with off-duty Wayne County sheriff's deputies.

A jury of 10 women and two men deliberated for one hour before returning innocent verdicts for Virgil Starkey, James R. Harris and Ronald H. Martin. The three men are members of the tactical unit called STRESS, an acronym for Stop the Robberies, Enjoy Safe Streets.

One deputy was killed and two others wounded in the late-night mixup when the plainclothes officers followed deputy James Jenkins into an apartment where Jenkins planned to join four comrades in a game of cards.

Deputy Henry S. Henderson, 40, was killed in the mixup. Jenkins, 29, was critically injured and deputy Henry Duvall, 29, suffered a serious gunshot wound of the leg.

The STRESS officers said they followed Jenkins because they saw him carrying his service revolver into the house. The policemen said that when they attempted to enter the house, they were fired upon. Both sides said they identified themselves as police officers during the shootout.

After the verdicts were read, Martin said he believed he and the other two officers, all of whom had been suspended from the force, would be reinstated. All three officers said they were grateful for the acquittal and felt no animosity toward the deputies.

Lung disorders linked to spray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Food and Drug Administration (FDA) doctor says the ingredient in hair sprays that helps keep hair in place may be causing lung disorders.

Dr. John M. Gowdy, who works in the FDA's cosmetics division, said Thursday hair sprays had been suspected for 10 years of causing fibrosis, or "storage disease." But he said the evidence is limited because chemical tests are not sophisticated enough to spot the ingredient in the lungs.

"But there are some suspected cases that we have seen over the last 10 years at FDA," Gowdy said. He reported his investigations in the current issue of the Archives of Environmental Health, a professional journal.

He said private doctors and patients have been sending reports to the FDA for years of hair spray users who have lung disorders that on X-ray film suggest cancer or advanced tuberculosis. After closer examination the conditions are found to be not so serious and "possibly due to inhalation of plastic from hair spray preparations," he said.

Officials of the Cosmetic Toiletry & Fragrance Association, a trade organization, declined to comment because they have not seen Gowdy's report.

Some hair spray manufacturers voluntarily carry warnings on the can against inhaling the spray but there are no requirements that they carry warnings.

Curtain draped in Colorado

RIFLE, Colo. (UPI) — A massive pumpkin-colored curtain billowed gracefully in the breeze over a Colorado mountain valley today, fulfilling a two-year-old dream of New York artist Christo Javacheff.

The artist, plagued by high winds last year and thwarted earlier this week by a jammed "zipper," succeeded Thursday in his $700,000 venture. The curtain was packed into a long, skinny cocoon.

It took an hour and 30 minutes for a gravity-operated "zipper" of rope loops to open across the 1,350-foot-long cocoon, releasing the parachute-like material into the mountain sky.

"I like to work with real things, real problems, and not just something that hangs on a museum wall," said Christo, who presided over the final unfurling of his creation.

Christo has been draping things in the name of art since 1950—everything from an Australian coastline to five nude women in a Philadelphia banquet hall—but Thursday's effort was his most ambitious and most costly.

The 250,000-square-foot of fabric released over Rifle Gap is held in place by steel anchors below and a quarter-mile of heavy cables on top. A 25-foot high cutout tunnel in the middle allows for traffic to pass underneath. The 27 anchor points along the valley floor will enable the curtain to withstand winds of up to 67 miles an hour as they swoop down the mountain gap.

It was gusty mountain winds which ripped Christo's curtain to shreds last year, forcing him to revise his plans and start again. His most serious problem this year was a tangled zipper, but workmen corrected the difficulty Wednesday. As the curtain unfurled to cheers of workmen and nearby spectators, five skydivers carrying smoke bombs turned cartwheels overhead.

Liberalism said barred

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Donald Riegle, R-Mich., said Thursday he and a fellow GOP liberal, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, were being barred by party leaders from testifying before the full Republican Platform Committee next week at Miami Beach.

Riegle said he and McCloskey had been shunted off to subcommittees to hide their antiwar and civil rights views from most of the Platform Committee and the American public in the hearings just prior to the opening of the GOP National Convention.

Riegle told a news conference that when he asked Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., chairman of the committee, about the scheduling he was told: "You're crazy if you think anybody will appear before the Platform Committee that will say anything that will embarrass the President."

Rhodes branded Riegle's assertion as "clearly not true." He said the Platform Committee would hear from people who have ideas directly in contrast to those of the President and himself. He mentioned Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., as one who would testify.

"Very frankly I didn't think that either McCloskey or Riegle represented the mainstream of liberal thinking in the party," Rhodes said.

Riegle said McCloskey won 20 per cent of the vote in the New Hampshire GOP primary compared to about 10 per cent registered by conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, but Ashbrook will testify before the full Platform Committee while McCloskey will have to settle for a subcommittee, Riegle said.

"The administration has an almost paranoid concern about the right wing of the party,"

Part 1. Tolstoy took four years (1855-59) to write his masterwork "War and Peace". It took five years to produce this six and one half hour 1917 Russian movie. The film concerns the fortunes of our aristocratic families during the turbulent years of the Napoleonic Wars (1800-12). The heart of the film is visual splendor — panoramas of brutal conflict and scenes of grandeur that was czarist Russia.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices moved up in moderate trading through mid-session Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

Around 1:15 p.m. the Dow Jones industrial average was up almost 4 points at 958.81 as advances swept past declines 781 to 370 among 1,634 issues across the tape. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was up 0.22 at 111.27.

The three-hour volume came to 0.9 billion shares compared with 0.3 billion traded in the same period Thursday.

Stock analysts said investors apparently were encouraged by the buoyancy of the market in the face of recent profit-taking. There was little in the news background to push prices higher but by the same token, there was little negative news to bring on a selling spree.

Pleasney was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 1/4 to 3 1/2 on 443,000 shares, including a block trade of 400,000 shares.

Airline stocks, which have been significantly higher in recent sessions, moved irregularly lower despite an announcement by the Civil Aeronautics Board marking approval of a 2.7 per cent fare increase on domestic air travel.

Steels and motors remained mixed while chemical issues moved up. Rails and aircrafts moved in both directions, with little change.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Peace in Southeast Asia appears the one near-term factor that could ease investor hesitancy and allow the strong domestic market picture to move the profit upward," according to Moody's Investors Service, Inc.'s stock survey.

The Contrary Investor says in recent months we have experienced what one might call "a manipulated news market."

While he admits this is an exaggerated remark, he simply wishes to stress the point that news has been throwing technical indications "every-which-way" and is likely to continue.

"From a contrary viewpoint, I continue to suggest that fundamentals (including political) are providing a basis for confidence in the near-term future," he says.

The Bache Technical Service warns the recent rally must be seen within the context of an intermediate correction, and within this definition not much more upside movement can be anticipated.

Hide quota plan scored

BRUNEAU, Idaho (UPI) — The president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association said today the "quota ticket system" established by the Department of Commerce recently controlling the export of U.S. hides is discriminatory and will work extreme hardship on western firms engaged in livestock, meat-packing and hides.

Gene Davis, said, "Western hide dealers and exporters are almost wholly dependent upon foreign country markets and nothing could damage Agriculture export business relations more than the feeling of unreliability and poor business reputation the 'quota ticket system' will surely create," Davis said.

He said the western meat packing industry is still recovering from the almost-fatal effects of the 1968 dock strikes. He said this "unfortunate situation" earned an unwarranted reputation for unreliability that has taken years to overcome.

Davis said the 11 western states produce 22 per cent of the total U.S. hide production with no major tanneries in the west.

The quota system permits hide producers to export approximately 43 per cent of their hide production. This leaves the export-hide packer with 57 per cent of his hides unsold — with little or no market for them, Davis said.

Special diet

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — The state is studying a European caterpillar with a specialized diet. A task force appointed by Gov. Tom McCall is studying limited introduction of the Cinnabar moth caterpillar. It eats only tansy ragwort, a weed poisonous to livestock.

Russian fires retreat

MOSCOW (UPI) — Ringing fires which scorched thousands of acres in the past 20 days, killing livestock and dumping soot on Moscow 100 miles away, were in retreat in some areas Thursday, newspapers reported.

The reports made no mention of human casualties or property damage.

More than 4,000 soldiers, firemen and workers battled the stubborn peat and brush fires which covered about 8,000 acres in five areas north, south and east of the capital.

The newspaper Lenin's Banner said cows, goats and cattle were killed near the village of Radovidski, about 100 miles southeast of Moscow, when they fed on fields undermined by peat blazing beneath the surface.

Wind-borne smoke from the fires spread over Moscow for the fourth straight day and dropped specks of soot.

The army newspaper Red Star said peat fires in the Shatura region east of the capital were "in retreat." Red Star said of 125 fires in Shatura several days ago, 61 with a

LOOFAH SPONGE VINE GROWN

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovelier writes: Please tell me what a loofah sponge is made of. Does use really benefit the skin? It looks so coarse and feel so rough: I hesitate to make a purchase in spite of recommendations at cosmetic counters.

The Answer: Loofahs are not new. They have been used for centuries for scrubbing the skin to a fine glow and immaculate cleanliness. They are not products of the sea or of synthetic materials, like more familiar types of sponges. Loofahs come from the interior of a gourd that climbs on a tropical plant. When ripe it is removed, then treated and processed before it arrives at your cosmetic counter.

It comes to you in several forms: One is a thin, mesh-like rectangle about the size and shape of a kitchen sponge. Some are very large and roundish like a gourd. Others are oval to fit the hand or backed with terry toweling. While still dry loofahs have a coarse, scratchy feel. When wet they soften and become extremely pliable.

You'll soon learn that your body really hasn't had a good scrub in its life until a going-over with a sponge that swooshes away all those dead skin cells and makes the body complexion bright and sparkly.

A word of caution . . . Do not use a loofah if your skin is unusually sensitive, or if you have the problem of blemishes. Of course, you would never use a loofah on your face. These sponges, ages-old, are ecology young, as aptures to today's living as to yesterday's simply hygiene.

1972; Publishers-Hall Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 43-year-old childless widow. I own my own home.

A few months ago I was shopping for paint at a large hardware store and the salesman was very charming and helpful. I was obviously a woman alone, so the salesman asked if he could come by and see how much work my house needed. He said he had been a priest, but left the church, got married, and was now separated from his wife.

He came to see me several times, always after work—never on a weekend. I called information, got his phone number and called his house. A woman answered. Of course it was his wife.

I told him not to come by any more as I didn't appreciate his lying to me. He said he didn't appreciate my checking up on him, but he continued to stop by my house after work.

Unwanted wolf bays at door

I would like to break off this relationship, but he is persistent. Should I just not answer the door? Or should I arrange to be away when he comes here?

LONELY BUT BETRAYED

DEAR LONELY: There is something worse than loneliness, and if you allow yourself to become involved further with this man you will find out what it is. TELL him you don't want to see him any more. And if he shows up anyway, don't let him in.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine personally installed an extension telephone in his home with neither the assistance nor knowledge of the telephone company. This means he is paying nothing for the extension, while those who have extensions installed by the telephone company must pay an additional charge every month. I say this is plain old dishonesty. My husband says anything is honest if you can get away with it.

What do you think, Abby? Please print your answer as my husband reads your column and thinks you know everything. Thanks.

ON THE UP AND UP

DEAR ON: If one performs a dishonest act, it is still a dishonest act whether he's caught or not.

DEAR ABBY: I recently found out, quite by accident, that the man I am planning to marry soon is a widower. I love him, and the fact that he has been married before does not disturb me, but his failure to mention it to me does.

Should I bring it up? Or should I leave well enough alone?

THE SECOND MRS.

DEAR SECOND: Since his failure to mention his previous marriage disturbs you, it's sufficient reason for bringing it up. Do so. And soon.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 7-year-old son Billy. He is very jealous of other children. At his own birthday party he saw another child playing with one of his toys and became so infuriated that he tore it from the child's hands and ran to his room with it.

On a more recent occasion, I sent Billy to a neighbor child's birthday party with a gift. I later learned that Billy told the child that we couldn't afford to buy him a present, and Billy kept the present for himself.

Thinking such extreme jealousy is not normal, I mentioned it to my husband. He said Billy will outgrow it. Will he? What do you think?

CONCERNED MOM

DEAR MOM: A 7-year-old should be willing to share. Consult your pediatrician. Billy may need some early counseling.

Problems—Trust Abby: For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69749, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Northwest grain mart awaits another boost

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Pacific Northwest wheat market, already buoyed indirectly by Soviet Union grain purchases in the Midwest, awaited action today on purchase of 5.5 million bushels of wheat by Commodity Credit Corporation.

Bill Hughes of the U.S. Agriculture Department's Grain Market News said the federal government would buy the wheat where the lowest "tender" was submitted.

He said that much of the wheat for distribution in Bangladesh probably would come from the Midwest but was a chance that some of it might be purchased in the Pacific Northwest states of Montana, Oregon, Washington and Idaho if the price was low enough.

The CCC planned to make the purchase under the USDA's Title II, or donation provision, he said.

Hughes said the market for Northwest white wheat had risen 10 cents a bushel in the past couple of weeks. He said this came under stimulus of the Russian purchase of red wheat from the Midwest plus a drought in Australia.

George Boynton, grain market specialist for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said that while current crop figures were not yet available, he expected it would be equal to or higher than last year. He said it was "real good quality."

Russian grain returns zoom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials said Wednesday grain sales to Russia under a three-year trade arrangement probably will reach $1 billion in the first year alone — far beyond expectations.

The White House last month said the three-year agreement would result in a minimum of $750 million in sales and predicted at least $200 million in grain would be sold the first year.

But Laurel C. Meade, general sales manager of the Agriculture Department's expert marketing service, said it now appears that first year sales alone will reach $1 billion.

Trade sources said the Soviets in the latest stage of the grain deal had purchased 1 million tons of U.S. soybeans, valued at about $129.5 million. The Russians also are expected to buy during the first year about 400 million bushels of wheat and about 100 million bushels of livestock feed grain, valued at about $782 million.

Growth check lone weaning obstacle

MOSCOW — A two week growth check at weaning appears to be the only serious obstacle to early weaning of lambs, according to John A. Jacobs, University research with lambs weaned at 30 to 40 pounds, half normal weaning weight, showed that growth of early weaned lambs is hindered during the two week adjustment to high roughage diets from milk diets.

College of agriculture scientists are studying nutrient requirements and feedlot performance of early weaned lambs (30-40 pounds).

Research includes investigations into the effects of controlled environment and different dietary levels of protein and energy on feedlot performance. Different breeds and breeding systems are also being evaluated in an effort to produce high cutability lamb carcasses at heavier weights, Jacobs said.

The ultimate goal of the program is to achieve a product more acceptable to retailers and consumers, who want more lean meat and less fat in lamb carcasses and an increase in the amount of lamb available, Jacobs noted.

Initial results of the program show that once early weaned lambs begin to eat, there are few problems in raising them successfully. Jacobs anticipated additional work on lamb diets to improve appetite during the rest of the study.

Fights for draw

UPI CHART locates the position of the pieces after world chess champion Boris Spassky, fighting to salvage a draw in the 13th game of the $250,000 world championship match against U.S. grandmaster Bobby Fischer, late Thursday played through 41 moves then accepted adjournment until today. (UPI)

Silver exemptions aired

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Administration has exempted silver in several forms from price controls in a move designed to grant relief to domestic users from the recent jump in the price of the metal.

The free market price of silver has recently increased 20 cents an ounce above the domestic controlled price of $1.61. The council said the price boost was caused in part, and taken advantage of, by investors and speculators and that the higher prices were encouraging exporting and hoarding of U.S.-produced silver.

This shift could force U.S. users to buy more silver from abroad at a higher price than if silver were exempt from controls, the council said in explaining its action.

Hansen says race unsavory

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—Republican George Hansen, second place finisher to Congressman James A. McClure in the Idaho Senate primary, said Thursday a group of citizens tried to keep him out of the race.

At a news conference in Idaho

Utah unit endorses McGovern

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Utah State AFL-CIO suspended national rules and endorsed Sen. George McGovern for president at its convention Thursday.

The move counters the stand taken by national president George Meany and the executive council, which voted 27-3 earlier this year not to endorse any presidential candidate.

Delegates were told Wednesday by a political officer that under union rules, state organizations could endorse candidates up to every office except president and vice president.

However, the motion to consider the endorsement won out by a two-thirds vote.

The delegates, meeting in Carpenter's Hall, also have endorsed local candidates including Calvin L. Hampton for re-election as governor, K. Gunn McKay for re-election to the First Congressional District.

Falls, Hansen said he felt it was "about time" the public knew "some of the unsavory tactics" that took place during the campaign.

"At the beginning stages of this campaign, a group of people representing large industries and businesses in the state called a meeting at which they asked me to withdraw my candidacy," he said. "They told me I had no right to be in the race and to get out of the way."

He added this particular "group" wanted him to withdraw in favor of Congressman McClure, and said there was a large amount of "special interest" money coming in to "influence" the election.

"And without trying to second guess, I feel that if this amount of money had not come in, the election results would have been different," the Pocatello businessman said.

Later at the news conference, Hansen admitted to being asked to run for the Second District congressional slot on the American Party ticket against Republican incumbent Orval Hansen and Democrat Willis Ludlow of Pocatello. He failed to affirm or deny a third party candidacy, and pledged support to GOP candidates in the November general election.

Wendell board names Peterson

WENDELL — Clyde Peterson was appointed to the Wendell Housing Authority Thursday night to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Edward McNutt.

City Councilman Dale Gilbert said he wanted it to go on record that there is still a lease on the original property as a site for proposed low income senior citizen housing.

"The housing authority should relinquish the lease since they are not going to do anything with it," Gilbert said. Mayor Eugene Soares announced the appointment of Iva Meyers as new city superintendent. He will start Aug. 21. Meyers was formerly city superintendent at Pomona, Calif.

The city has received $3,562 from the Idaho Parks Department to be used for installing a sprinkler system in the new McGuinness Park.

The council decided that no sewer and water hookups would be made until after the building inspector gives his approval. The ruling is designed to prevent mobile homes from obtaining sewer and water hookups until skirting is placed around the home as required by the city code. The city attorney is checking whether a new ordinance is required to enforce the resolution.

Dale Bunn, Wendell City police chief, told the council the Wendell School District has written to the Idaho Highway Department concerning the removal of caution lights at the grade school. Last month the city received a letter from the department that placement of the lights in the middle of the highway was in violation of the state highway code.

The council decided to delay any action until the school district receives an answer from the highway department.

Jerome selects parade marshal

JEROME — John Ansley, president of Tupperware International, will be parade marshal for the Jerome County Fair parade on Aug. 23. John Steele Jr., chairman of the fair board, said Thursday that Ansley had consented to be the parade marshal, saying he was honored by the board's request.

Stelle said the theme for this year's fair is "Progress '72." The chairman added that a great deal of work has been done at the fairgrounds for this year's fair and rodeo. He said a new concession stand has been built behind the grandstand near the main entrance to the arena. Stelle said the stand was built with the help of the Jerome Lions Club who donated both time and equipment to the project.

"Trees were planted earlier this year in the concession stands area and the 4-H judging area. More parking has been provided by the piping and covering of nearly 400 feet of ditch," Stelle said.

Work has been done on the rebuilding of the announcer's stand, gates and all of the area behind the announcer's stand.

Cutback not needed, says representative

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus Thursday ordered a cutback in state spending to avoid a tax increase to balance the state's budget.

William Roberts, R-Buhl, co-chairman of the Senate House Fiscal-Budget Committee, said he saw no need for the governor's holdback which will cut about $2.6 million from the total fiscal appropriation of $137,345,000.

He said what is needed is a closer executive rein to make sure that state agencies do not over-obligate what they have been appropriated by the legislature.

"This just bears out what we said during the regular session when many of us said the governor was doing the wrong thing when he lifted the one per cent holdback during the 1971-72 fiscal year," Roberts said.

Roberts said from economic indicators and the increasing amount of tax receipts, there was no need for the holdback during this fiscal year.

Testimony ends in Cascade case

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Open court testimony ended Thursday in District Court in Twin Falls in the most recent legal battle over the Cascade Commodities Corp.

But it will be as much as five weeks before the case goes to District Judge Sherman Bellwood for a decision.

The most recent trial, centering around the rendering plant in Buhl stretched out over two and a half days in District Court this week, with a total of 28 plaintiffs seeking a permanent closing order on the operation at the plant.

The plaintiffs, some of whom have been struggling against the Cascade Corp. for several years, claim the plant is a nuisance, emits pollution into both the nearby water sources and air and is a violation of the county zoning ordinances, according to their attorney, Ted Behn, Buhl.

Lloyd Webb, a Twin Falls attorney and former district court judge, is the lawyer for the rendering plant, in the continuation of the firm's efforts to remain in operation.

Bellwood said Thursday Behn has three weeks to submit written arguments to the court.

The defendants then have ten days to prepare and submit their own arguments, and the plaintiffs have another five days to resubmit papers.

If the lawyers use up their maximum allowable time, Bellwood wouldn't have all the papers to make the decision until slightly over five weeks from the end of the trial.

The courtroom trial this week, according to Bellwood, was ordered by the Idaho State Supreme court, in vacating an amendment to an injunction issued on the rendering plant by District Judge James Cunningham.

The amendment to the injunction ordered the plant shut down, and was appealed. The earlier order issued by Cunningham had ordered the owners of the plant to cease pollution.

Cascade Commodities appealed the amendment to the injunction to the State Supreme Court, and on May 12, 1972 according to Webb, the high court vacated the order, allowing the plant to reopen.

It also ordered a new trial, which began Tuesday in the Judicial Building in Twin Falls and didn't conclude until Thursday at noon.

While the Buhl residents argued the rendering plant was a polluter and in violation of zoning regulations, Webb said the defendants argued the company was able and willing to install anti-pollution devices that would reduce the pollutants emitted by 70 to 80 per cent.

The business officials lawyers also introduced evidence in court that it was in the interests of the community to allow the firm to reopen, since, witnesses testified, the only other rendering plant in the area had begun charging a pickup charge on dead animals when the Cascade plant had been shut down.

The result of the charge, which Webb said went as high as $7 or $8 per carcass was "increase of dead animals strewn about the countryside."

Full picture not given, ranch officials report

RUPERT — Officials of the Idaho Youth Ranch look issue Thursday with a statement from the Idaho Department of Health linking the ranch with the state agency.

Duane Peterson, youth ranch superintendent and assistant executive director of the board, told the Times-News that a statement from Dr. James A. Bax, administrator of the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health, that the ranch will be utilized as a "group home" for delinquent youth does not present the full picture.

"Dr. Bax implied that we are expanding our role as a treatment center for troubled youth and that we are virtually an extension of the state agency," said Peterson. "This is not true in that we are not taking on any new role. We have always worked with the state health department."

Peterson agreed that the state had entered into a formal agreement with the youth ranch whereby the ranch training and rehabilitation facilities can be utilized to "help youths coming under the provision of the Idaho Youth Rehabilitation Act."

The agreement, however, merely formalizes the working arrangement within which the state and the youth ranch have cooperated, the official said.

Peterson and Mike Tucker, director of social services at the youth ranch, said the facility will accept youths, usually between the ages of 10 and 15, for rehabilitation schooling only when "court involvement is a part of the picture."

"We ask that a court order be issued in order to place a boy in the ranch for several reasons," Tucker said. Parents wishing to place youths at the ranch must explain their reasons and discuss the problems with a court, usually a magistrate court, he explained. This helps the parents face up to the problem and admit that help is needed.

Also, Tucker said, "Sometimes a worried mother will ask that her son be sent here; only to change her mind a few days later and ask that he be sent home." We believe that this adds a great deal of strain to the family, particularly the youngster. He is taken from his home and established here, only to be plucked out and taken home again before he can adjust to either situation.

"With a court order to back them up, counselors can have time to study the situation and consider the best move," Tucker said.

Peterson also took issue with a statement attributed to Dr. Bax that two "delinquent" youngsters, ages 9 and 11, were transferred to the ranch from St. Anthony. The two brothers were sent to St. Anthony by the state, mainly because their parents apparently abandoned them and left the area, and "there was no place to put them except St. Anthony." The youngsters have not been deemed "delinquent," Peterson said.

Jerome registration will begin next week

JEROME — Registration for Jerome schools will begin Aug. 17, according to Supt. John B. Campbell.

Campbell said registration for all beginning first grade pupils and pupils new to the district will be Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Washington school.

Campbell said that students should register at the school they will be attending. First and second graders will attend Washington; three and four at Lincoln; five and six at Jefferson; seven, eight and nine at the junior high; and ten, eleven and twelve, high school.

The superintendent explained that students must be 6 years of age by Oct. 15 to enroll. "A birth certificate should be brought at the time of registration for all beginning first graders," Campbell said.

Registration for grades two through six will also be held Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Junior high students will register Aug. 17 and 18. Ninth graders from 9 a.m. to noon on Aug. 17 and eighth graders from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 17.

Seventh graders register from 9 p.m. to noon on Aug. 18 and from 1 to 4 p.m. New students and those who could not register during the above hours may do so at that time, Campbell said.

There is no charge for registration. However, student activity cards will cost $5 and the school annual $4.

Senior high school registration will be held Aug. 17 and 18 also. Seniors will register from 9 a.m. until noon and juniors from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Aug. 17.

Seniors from 9 a.m. until noon and new registrations and others from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Aug. 18.

Senior high student activity cards will be $6.50 and the annual $6.50.

Athletic insurance is $8.50 for both juniors and senior high students and laundry $3.60 for both schools.

Senior High Principal Jerry Diehl said that student activity cards are required for all school functions.

Campbell recommended that parents who are new to the area and are living outside of the Jerome City limits "check with the bus barn at 324-4426 if they are not sure about the school bus schedule."

He noted that the same system is still in effect as last year for students who live in town. "Because we have put only two grades in the elementary schools, students may walk to the closest school to their home, even if it is not their grade level, and take a bus to the school they are to attend," Campbell said.

He explained that the student may also ride the bus back to the school nearest his home.

Lightning ignites forest, range fires in 4-state area

BOISE (UPI) — Lightning ignited range and forests in a four-state area Thursday touching off new blazes faster than firefighters could control the scores already burning.

More than 200 fires were reported Thursday in Idaho, Utah, Nevada and eastern Oregon.

The U. S. Forest Service said 13 fires started in one-half hour period in the Boise National Forest alone. At least five fires believed started by man added to firefighters' troubles. Four were controlled near Gibbonsville, Idaho, and are under investigation by arson squads from the Idaho State Police. Another man-caused blaze burned 10 acres near Salt Lake City.

The Forest Service said the hottest spot in the four-state area was the Humboldt National Forest in Northern Nevada, where two fires were burning out of control on more than 1,500 acres.

The fires started on Bureau of Land Management land west of Jackpot, and burned onto Forest Service lands. Special teams are being brought in to manage firefighting efforts.

In the Salmon National Forest in Idaho, about 350 men were fighting 40 fires. The largest was out of control on 30 acres. Smoke jumpers were dropped into another fire on the remote Middle Fork of the Salmon River. A 100-acre fire at Clear Creek was controlled Thursday.

Firefighters battling 45 fires in the Payette National Forest reported electrical storms in progress last night, and at least eight new fires. Although the largest reported fire was less than one acre, more than 200 men were on the firelines. In northern Utah's Wasatch National Forest, local, Army and Forest Service crews controlled a 150-acre blaze west of Salt Lake City after calling in B-17 air tankers to drop retardants on the flames.

Another fire burned out of control on the East Fork of the Salmon River in Idaho's Sawtooth National Forest. No acreage estimate was immediately available. As far south as Cedar City in southwestern Utah, five new fires were reported caused by lightning late Thursday. One was reported under control, three others were not considered serious, and two in the Dixie National Forest's Cedar Mountain were resisting efforts to bring them under control.

One large fire which began late Wednesday continued to burn on Bureau of Land Management land in Eastern Oregon, and about 30 fires have been reported on BLM land in Idaho.

An estimated 1,500 men from the BLM and the Forest Service were reported battling the blazes, with B-17 and B-26 bombers dropping retardants from above.

Officials said more than 200 smoke jumpers, who parachute into remote areas to fight fires, had been deployed. If more are needed, they will have to be brought in from Alaska, according to the Interagency Fire Center in Boise. Firefighting manpower is reported particularly in the Boise National Forest.

Officials of both the BLM and the Forest Service said they expected the heavy lightning barrage to continue kicking up fires in the parched range and forests throughout the night.

As long as your chicken is stamped "GRADE A" it really doesn't matter where you buy it, right?

Wrong! Grade A is the highest standard set by the U.S. Government. Any chicken that has been awarded its "A" has passed every requirement for health and wholesomeness, and then some.

Anything more is simply a question of taste. In other words, "Will a fresh Grade A chicken taste as delicious as a fresher Grade A chicken?"

What do you think? Until today (unless you lived just down the road from a poultry farm), you've probably never enjoyed the truly delicate and delicious flavor of real, country-fresh chicken.

Now you can buy Grade A chickens and chicken parts that have been Deep Chilled—an exciting new process that locks in the freshest, most succulent flavor components of the natural chicken...without ever freezing it! Here's what happens:

Immediately upon processing, the chickens are chilled to about 28 degrees—which is just cold enough to "lock in" their true country flavor and freshness, without freezing the chicken itself. (Frozen poultry, as you know, is chilled to well below zero before shipping—an entirely different process from ours.)

In your supermarket, Tyson's Deep Chill Country-Fresh Chicken will feel a bit firmer to your touch. That's because your store's display case is also chilled to the "magical" 28 degrees that keeps all the fresh flavor and natural moisture in the chicken. Without freezing it.

So you can prepare it your usual way, refrigerate it, or freeze it for future use (without re-wrapping). We hope you prepare your first Tyson's Deep Chill chicken the very first day you buy it. And the simplest way possible—no fancy seasonings, no fancy gravy. The ultimate taste!

Because the sooner you taste the difference, the sooner you'll be back for more.

Mortgage burned by TF church

TWIN FALLS — Although smoke and ashes often mean the end of dreams for many, to members of the Eastside Southern Baptist Church last Sunday it symbolized the realization of their dreams.

A loan for $12,200 to pay for their new church property had been paid after three years, and the contract was symbolically put to the match by the church minister, Rev. R.C. Schreckenberg, during the morning service.

Since the church had first begun as a mission in 1963, the congregation has been meeting in the pastor's home. The church has shown steady growth, necessitating the establishment of a new and expanded church building.

But first the church had to find suitable property for its building, and then pay off that property. This has just been accomplished, not only through the church membership, but through outside sources, more notably from churches in the French Broad Baptist Association; Mars Hill, N.C.

Leading in this effort in the French Broad Baptist Association were Rev. E. W. Jenkins, pastor of the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church, Asheville, N.C., and Rev. E.J. Jenkins, superintendent of missions for the association at Mars Hill.

After conducting a series of revival meetings at the Twin Falls church in the fall of 1971, Rev. E.W. Jenkins was impressed with the activities of the church and its need for a church building.

When he returned to North Carolina he began a campaign within the association's churches to raise contributions to help the Twin Falls church pay off the property.

He was aided by Rev. E.J. Jenkins, who urged support for the Twin Falls church during radio programs. Rev. E.J. Jenkins originally supported Eastside Southern Baptist Church when it was a mission, while he pastored a church in Nampa.

The church property is located on Eastland Drive immediately north of the intersection of Addison Avenue and Eastland Drive, and comprises almost five acres.

The task that now lies ahead for the church is the building proper. Again, the church will be aided by the French Broad Baptist Association, with a bus full of workers traveling from North Carolina to Twin Falls to begin construction on the church around the first of October, under the auspices of Rev. E.J. Jenkins.

The church will be built in three sections and in three phases, the first of which is to begin in October.

T.F. drops I.F. 9-0 in Legion tourney opener

LEWISTON — Kevin Nelson and Darrell Groves combined for a four-hitter and Mark Hanchey drove in four runs Thursday afternoon as Twin Falls dropped Idaho Falls 9-0 in the opening round of the state Legion tournament.

Twin Falls advances to the quarterfinals at 5:30 p.m. Nelson, who's status was doubtful due to an eye problem sustained in work, gave up three infield hits over the first four innings and despite the 100-degree heat was overpowering from the fifth to seventh. With 'Rick Spriggs broke them on top the 12-inning in 72 hours of pitching rule. Coach Bob and eventually scored on a Banfield then went to Grove for a two-out rally in the second inning when Wentworth and Spriggs opened with infield hits and moved up on a passed ball. Hanchey then delivered both draft, lost even less than their nine lodge brothers inasmuch as their other contribution to the Conquistadors was George Peeples, a free agent picked up recently for nothing.

Regalado tops Idaho golf meet

BOISE (UPI) — Vic Regalado of San Ysidro, Calif., fired a seven-under-par 64 Thursday at Boise's Crane Creek course to take the first round lead among 111 pros in the fourth annual Treasure Valley open golf tournament.

Regalado hit four birdies on his front nine 31 and scored a 33 on the back nine.

Runner up was Milt Klumness of Casper, Wyo., with a 66, also at Crane Creek, in the tourney being played over three courses in Boise and Caldwell.

Hitting 67s were Bill Fiel of Los Angeles and Jim Blanks of Fullerton, Calif., and amateur Gary Floan of Spokane, Wash. Floan is a former University of Idaho links star.

Scoring for the first day was exceptionally low with 20 pros and four amateurs hitting par 70 or better at the three courses.

Walleys are members of the perch family.

Tourney favorites scramble to slowpitch opening victory

Pre-tourney favored Coors-First Federal, getting a timely fifth-inning triple from Rusty Eller, survived an upset bid by Green Kimberly Seed in the second round of the district slowpitch tournament Thursday night.

Coors, figured to win the game easily, had to come from behind on Eller's two-run triple for a 7-6 lead, then added an unearned run in the sixth for an 8-6 decision.

Lendville of Kelclosing innings to top Wuthrich Foundations 7-2.

Action continues with six games Friday night, the opener at 6:45 p.m. winding up the first round when Cain's Furniture meets Olympia Beer. All the Friday night play comes from the winner's bracket.

Following the Cain's-Oly game on diamond one, Paria-Culligan meets Ford Transfer-Brake and Petroleum at 8 p.m. and Turf club vs. Gallatin Valley seed at 8:45 p.m. On its tourney debut, racking up a lot of three-drive singles in Idaho-Grill meets Bull-Moose Congem of Jerome 17-9. Royal-Lounge broke away in the Coors vs. Stan's Chevron at 9:15.

The loser bracket games start at 9 a.m. Saturday.

ABA San Diego spends fortune for others' hand-me-downs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Another one of those all-too-familiar expansion drafts was held Thursday with the new San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball the latest beneficiaries of everybody else's hand-me-downs.

With head coach K.C. Jones and general manager Alex

Groza doing the selecting and owner Dr. Leonard Bloom shelling out the money, the Conquistadors, who were added as the ABA's 10th team last month, picked up 17 professionals and one amateur and very little hope for any quick success.

First tapped by Jones and Groza was Stew Johnson, a 6-8 forward from the Carolina Cougars who has a reputation as a good shooter and strong rebounder.

from the Indiana Pacers. The Pacers, meanwhile, who cleaned house last month in anticipation of the expansion draft, lost even less than their nine lodge brothers inasmuch as their other contribution to the Conquistadors was George Peeples, a free agent picked up recently for nothing.

Gilroy, Calif., is known as the "garlic capital of the world."

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rookie Rick Reuschel pitched his second major league shutout while Billy Williams and Rick Monday had two-run hits as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Montreal Expos 8-0 Thursday afternoon.

Reuschel, 5-4 since being recalled from the minors earlier this season, gave up eight hits but was in trouble only once when the Expos loaded the bases in the fifth inning.

He pitched out of that jam getting Boots Day on an inning-ending bouncer, and the Cubs then broke the game open with five runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Brewers edge Baltimore 1-0

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Daring base running by Bob Halse and George Scott's single in the sixth inning snapped a five-game Milwaukee losing streak and gave the Brewers a 1-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

The Brewer victory also ended a four-game Baltimore winning streak. Gary Ryerson outpitched Jim Palmer to improve his record to 3-4 while Palmer took his fifth loss against 15 wins.

Keeping with that trend, the next pick was another Johnson — George — a 6-11 center from the Dallas Chaparrals whose greatest claim to fame was being the No. 1 collegiate draft pick of the Baltimore Bullets in the NBA in 1970. Since then, the second Johnson has been hobbled by injuries and averaged just 4.7 points last season in limited play with Dallas.

Jones, who may have wished he never left the quiet, friendly confines of Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., nonetheless expressed hope for San Diego's second pro basketball team, tabbing Stew Johnson and veteran Red Robbins, a perennial all-pro forward picked up from the Utah Stars, as the nucleus of the club.

"In Stew Johnson and this Robbins fellow we've got two real fine shooting and rebounding forwards. They should form the heart of the club. I'd say we didn't do too badly considering what was available," Jones said.

Possibly the best player, Jones got won't even be playing professional basketball next year. That would be 6-10 Dwight Jones, who averaged 16.5 points and 13.3 rebounds as a sophomore at the University of Houston last year.

The rights to Jones, who is currently playing with the U.S. Olympic team, were acquired

New flu vaccine developed King 'abdicates'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A new kind of flu vaccine containing live viruses has been developed by government scientists who believe it holds hope of greatly containing future influenza epidemics, it was disclosed today.

The vaccine still must be put through "extensive tests and trials," before being licensed for use on the public. But scientists who reported the development were hopeful that this could be done before the next major expected U.S. flu epidemic in the latter part of the decade. Disclosure of development of the new vaccine came in an article by the scientists in a monthly publication, "Journal of Infectious Diseases."

In their research at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., the scientists said they employed the live, though weakened, viruses in developing the vaccine.

Present flu vaccines use dead viruses. They have been only partially successful in containing flu outbreaks, partly because, scientists say, flu viruses change their structure and can become resistant to both vaccine and natural immunities developed against them.

The new vaccine contains what was described as a hybrid virus that cannot withstand the heat of the lungs, where live virus can infect an individual. But it thrives in lower temperatures such as the nose and throat where it helps ward off infection, the scientists said.

They said they tested the vaccine on 45 volunteer inmates of a federal reformatory for men at Lorton, Va., near Washington.

They said 17 who took the vaccine via a nasal spray did not come down with flu when exposed to it, while 17 of the 28 others exposed to it, and not immunized, became ill.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Charles Fragapane, 46, has abdicated as king of the scofflaws. Long live Tillman K. Saylor.

Fragapane appeared before Chief Magistrate Robert E. Dauer Wednesday and asked for more time to raise $1,040 in fines on 110 parking tickets. He was granted an extension to Aug. 25.

In the next case, Saylor, 23, came before the magistrate and paid a $1,011 fine for 154 parking tickets.

"Now you're the king of the scofflaws," Fragapane said, shaking hands with Taylor. "It takes the heat off me."
