Clark describes Viet damage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark told a Senate subcommittee today of his "personal observations" of extensive damage to North Vietnamese dikes and other facilities by U.S. warplanes.

Clark, who the Republicans termed a dupe of the Communists during his two-week tour as a guest of the Hanoi government, testified he saw "big holes along the dikes" along coastal areas and dikes gates used to control the critical water supply for crops that had been "demolished, shattered and twisted."

He also testified that he saw bombed-out schools, hospitals, churches, homes and other buildings during his 600-mile tour of North Vietnam.

Clark, who served in the Johnson administration, appeared before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on refugees at the invitation of its chairman, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who asked him to describe what he had seen.

"I can say from personal observation," Clark replied, "that there is extensive damage being done to the dikes ... right now."

Observing that some of the cities reminded him of war-ravaged Europe during World War II, Clark said: "I saw a good many schools, hospitals and dikes that were obviously the subject of extensive bombing."

Describing one village hit by bombs, he said, "It didn't look very pretty. A lot of people got killed there."

"You could hear the bombs every day in the distance," he said. "I saw the (U.S.) planes ... you could see the markings very clearly."

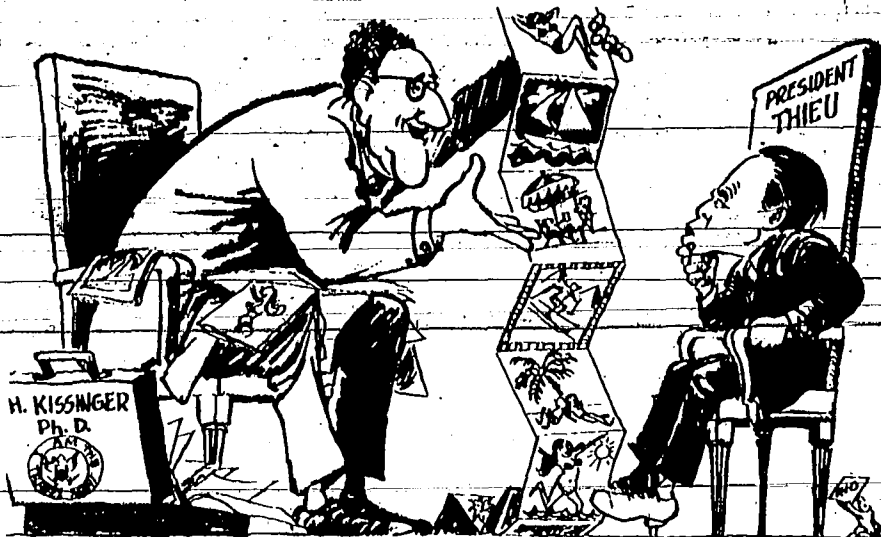

He said the cities he visited were "to a very considerable degree evacuated. In Haiphong there were at least 11 air alerts during the day. Even in villages

I visited the air alerts are constant."

While touring the Haiphong harbor area on Aug. 3-4, Clark said he viewed "acres of debris and waste. They claimed the bombings had killed scores of people. I don't see how it could kill so few."

During his testimony Clark held up a small fragmentary bomb.

Gooding 'Drags' set

GOODING — The unused Gooding Airport runway was leased today for drag racing to Gooding County International Raceway Inc.

Terms for the eight-year lease call for the city of Gooding to receive four per cent of the gross profits from the racing, and five per cent after five years. The lease also has a renewable option.

Craig Muchow, Gooding, president of the racing firm, said the first race will be this Sunday, with time trials from 1 to 3:30 p.m. and eliminations at 4 p.m.

Permanent bleachers, refreshment stand and inspection station are expected to be built this fall, Muchow said. In the meantime, the company is borrowing movable bleachers and other equipment for use.

The corporation is not yet sanctioned by the National Hot Rod Association, but sanctioning is expected by next summer, Muchow said.

Breakthrough in Paris hinted; envoy in Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger arrived in Saigon tonight on a special mission, that some political figures believed signaled a breakthrough in his secret Vietnam peace talks in Paris. North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho, who met Kissinger in Paris, was flying to Hanoi but called his trip "routine."

Kissinger's blue and white Air Force Boeing 707 made its way through thick rain clouds into Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base where Kissinger was greeted by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Frederick Weyand, commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Kissinger entered a waiting U.S. Embassy limousine and sped off, ignoring a waiting crowd of newsmen.

The belief in Saigon was there had been an important development, but South Vietnamese officials were divided among themselves over whether Kissinger was flying here to dump President Nguyen Van Thieu or to assure him his political future was secure.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong peace negotiators in Paris at the last session on Thursday issued statements that there could be no peace settlement until the Thieu government was dissolved. They seek a coalition government.

The Miami Herald, in a report from Bonn, said today Kissinger is going to Saigon to ask Thieu to step down and be replaced by an "interim coalition regime." Correspondent William R. Frye, citing no sources, said:

"The United States and South Vietnam can have a cease-fire if President Thieu will step down and be replaced by an interim coalition regime. If he insists on retaining power, Washington may attempt to negotiate a cease-fire and prisoner exchange applying only to American forces."

The White House declined to comment on the speculation, and Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler cautioned reporters not to expect dramatic results from Kissinger's trip. He said Kissinger would be in Saigon for two days of talks with Thieu and there would be a "general review of all aspects of the Vietnam problem, including the negotiations in Paris."

Kissinger last met the And Chief Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy in Paris on Monday. The nature of the talks was not disclosed, but administration sources said Tuesday in Washington that Kissinger would discuss with Thieu "substantive ideas" that were raised in Paris.

Michener chosen Buhl HS principal

BUHL — Roger Michener, 30, Idaho, has been named principal of the Buhl High School.

Supt. Dan Mabe said Michener will replace Frank Charlton who had accepted a position as principal of Twin Falls Senior High School.

Michener is a graduate of Twin Falls High School and Boise Junior College. He was graduated from Idaho State University and received his master of science and education degree from the University of Idaho. He began his teaching career at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School in Twin Falls. He taught at Twin Falls High School where he was head wrestling coach, and later accepted a teaching assistantship in physical education at the University of Idaho while completing requirements for his master's degree.

Before coming to Buhl, he served as athletic director and physical education coordinator in the Jerome School District.

GOP's score Demo stand

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson said today George S. McGovern's welfare proposals were "misguided, misleading and mistaken" and chided the Democratic-controlled Congress for failure to act on President Nixon's welfare reform and revenue sharing proposals.

Richardson, testifying before the Republican platform committee, said the cost of only two of the plagues in the Democratic platform — national health insurance and assurance of any income substantially above the poverty level for all families — would exceed the entire budget for national defense.

"It is clear that such promises are but illusory and simplistic panaceas," he said.

In a news conference statement following his testimony, Richardson attacked Mc-Govern's proposals to provide a minimum annual income of $8,500 for a family of four and to give a tax credit of $1,000 to every American.

"These proposals are misguided, misleading and mistaken," he said. "They fail to meet the basic tests of program feasibility and public responsibility."

"I think in this area he (McGovern) has clearly demonstrated irresponsibility," Richardson said. "I think he has demonstrated he does not understand the problem."

Richardson strongly denied reports the administration was ready to let its own welfare reform bill die for this session, and said that even if it did not become law this session "we would try again. The situation is so bad we would have to."

A draft of the platform already has been written by GOP leaders.

Mr. T-N says

That Community Action meeting last night shows there is a lot of spark left in our senior citizens. (Story below).

CAA delays decision on seniors' withdrawal bids

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Community Action Agency Board postponed a decision Tuesday night on requests from two senior citizen groups to withdraw from CAA control.

The decision came in a two and a half hour meeting at the CAA building in Twin Falls that ran the gamut of emotions from tense to comical.

The two senior citizen groups, one representing Kimberly, Hansen and Murtaugh, and the other the Senior Citizen Recreation Center of Cassia County, petitioned the CAA July 7 for separation, citing a lack of cooperation and other grievances.

In a letter dated Aug. 3, the two groups reaffirmed their decision, noting "Each project area of the bi-county will assume its own fiscal responsibility. We therefore request all fiscal books and pertinent data concerning our project areas now held by the SCCAA be turned over to the director and chairman of each project area."

But the board refused to take affirmative action on the petitions, requesting the two groups discuss their petitions further for reporting at another board meeting.

Near the end of the session Tuesday night, Rev. John Wallace, Twin Falls, told the board he had agreed to act as a liaison between the dissident groups and the board. His announcement was greeted with favor.

Wallace, an alternate to the CAA board, declined other comment on the events at the meeting, however, saying that in his opinion any public reporting of the meeting would jeopardize the federally funded programs involved.

Prior to taking the postponement action, the board voted a unanimous motion of support for the agency's new director, Robert Russell.

Twin Falls County Commissioner William Chansey, a board member, appealed to the board and the senior citizen in the audience to "let us see what he can do."

In a strong defense of the new director, Chansey said, "Let's all calm down. Let's give this director a chance before we accuse him of some misdeed." Chansey's remarks were greeted with applause from the audience and the board members, and the motion of support passed by a unanimous voice vote.

Russell also appealed for cooperation, telling the senior citizens in the group "I want you to be free. I'm the last one who will stand in your way."

But the senior citizen representatives declined to withdraw their petitions, reaffirming their desire to be released from CAA jurisdiction.

Their action came after Mrs. Kay Pell, director of the Idaho Department of Special Services, told them the state could not grant money to any but incorporated non-profit organizations that could demonstrate fiscal capabilities.

Also present at the meeting was Harold Whitehead, Office of Economic Opportunity operations director for Idaho. He told the group no OEO funds would be available to the groups if they withdrew from the agency unless there were no agencies in the area who could assume fiscal responsibility.

Since the CAA has that capability, his announcement effectively cut off possible federal OEO funds to the groups from Burley and the Twin Falls communities.

In a letter dated Aug. 11, Russell requested that "funds for those programs (involving the Cassia County group and those in Twin Falls seeking disassociation) be held and disbursed by the Idaho Office on Aging."

"Due to the lack of response to fund requests for the Senior Citizen Program, this office has covered fund expenses for these areas mentioned above, for which this agency expects to be reimbursed."

In a response to the letter, Wil Overgaard, deputy director of the Idaho Office on Aging, replied, "The estimated expenses for the Burley, Kimberly-Murtaugh-Hansen projects altes totaling $14,244 will be held pending final action by the board and the Idaho Office on Aging concerning their petition for disassociation with South Central Community Action Agency."

But members of the two groups seeking disassociation said they were unconcerned with the loss of federal funds, and said they could establish proof of fiscal capabilities for the state money.

Walter Smythe, the chairman of the Cassia County group, said after the meeting, "The senior citizens are just as smart as old people as when they're younger and we can make our way."

Betty Biel, a former "outreach" worker employed by the CAA until she resigned, said at the request of the senior citizens, the group was seeking disassociation so it "could no longer be harassed and brainwashed by the CAP agency."

Emma Boyer, chairman of the Kimberly-Murtaugh group, said the organization favored withdrawal because of a "total lack of cooperation between the Community Action Agency and local organizations."

She also charged there was a "$30,000 slush fund" at the agency and local officials had been told to spend it "real quick."

Another woman, who declined to give her name, also slammed the CAA board for what she termed the "kangaroo court type way" in which the former senior citizen director left his job. She said "Robert Hale was fired, and never signed his resignation." The board minutes from a month ago, as read at the meeting Tuesday night, say tersely "Mr. Hale was allowed to resign."

In other action, the board approved investigation of two possible new Head Start programs in the county, and heard a suggestion from Russell that equal pay raises be granted to all staff members, rather than across the board cost of living increases.

Practice area set for fire crew

TWIN FALLS — Equipment testing and fire training will involve Twin Falls fire fighters on five acres of land in a remote area of Joslin Field.

Members of the Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission, meeting at the airport Tuesday afternoon, ruled favorably on the application of Fire Chief Bobby Bopp for permission to establish a practice area. The commission recommended that county and city commissioners approve the proposal.

The five acres, in the northeast corner of airport property and remote from runways and airport structures, would provide firemen with needed practice in battling various types of fires. It would also permit testing of pumping and other equipment because of close proximity to the Highline Canal.

The department's practice sessions would extend over a total of approximately 10 days, divided into various seasons of the year.

Chief Bopp said the sessions would also train the men in simulated airport fires pointing to the time when federal law will require a manned department at all airports served by airlines.

The chief said cost of preparing the practice area would be at a minimum and that it would also be available for use of other departments in Twin Falls County.

In other business the airport commission:

— Turned down a request of Gem State Realty to rent space in the terminal building on an annual basis and for a five year period. The commissioners ruled it was inconsistent with present use of the facilities.

— Voted to hold a special meeting Saturday afternoon to work on a new airport operations manual in line with new federal requirements. The manual is required by Nov. 10 and any waivers requested must be certified by Sept. 17.

— Heard a report from the engineering department that grading required for installation of the new instrument landing system equipment will be completed by Oct. 15 and that, according to FAA announcement, the system would be in operation sometime in January, 1973.

— Received a report from Airport Manager Harry Merrick that tiedown areas, doubled two years ago, were now inadequate because of the number of planes based at the local field and the number of transient flights. The manager was instructed to recommend an area where additional tiedowns could be installed.

— Heard a report by City Manager Jean Millar that a design to upgrade taxiways and roads has been completed and that land in the small hanger area as well as on the vehicle parking lot and in front of the AVI hanger would be graded and oiled. The access road to the field will also be graded and an overlay installed. All this work will be completed by fall.

In addition to Merrick and Millar, those attending were airport commissioners Bill Powell, chairman; Gus Kelker, Armour Anderson, George Colner and William Bosworth; Winston Jones, city commissioner; William Chancey and Mari Leonard, county commissioners, and Dale Riedesel, consulting engineer for airport projects.

The money was from the Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation, Inc. administered by the Moore family, one of the founders of the Idaho First National.

Grants go to CSI, Boy Scouts

TWIN FALLS — One grant in total amount of $4,750 had been received in Twin Falls today.

The grants from the Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation, Inc., went to the College of Southern Idaho in the amount of $2,250 and to the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, in the amount of $2,500.

The presentation, on behalf of the foundation, was made by L. A. Frazier, senior vice president of the Idaho First National Bank, Twin Falls. Dr. James Taylor, president of CSI, accepted for the school and Coly Parrish, area council president, accepted for the Scout council.

The Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation, Inc., is administered by members of the Moore family, one of the founders of the 105-year-old Idaho First National Bank. The foundation was organized in 1963 by the will of Laura Moore Cunningham for the purpose of aiding education and charities in Idaho.

Christopher W. Moore and his partner, B. M. DuRell, in 1967 received the second national bank charter issued west of the Missouri River. The bank now has 58 offices serving the state and it is in these communities where grants to the charities and educational institutions are made by the foundation.

Library budget adopted

RICHFIELD—Trustees of the Richfield Library District met in regular session Monday at the library and approved the budget for 1973.

The proposed budget of $1660.40 is down from this year's budget of $1,738.30. The decrease in funds is made possible because the loan for operating expenses since the district was formed is paid off, reports Mrs. Clifford Dayley, board chairman.

The budget will be presented to the county commissioners for their September meeting. A break down of the budget includes $738.40 for wages and Social Security; $50 for liability insurance on the building; $200, hookup to the new sewer line; $35 electricity; $180 fuel; $150 books, and $300 general fund. It was reported that Wanda Paulson, treasurer, met with the City Council to consider the cost of hooking up to the new sewer line. It was agreed that the library district stand the expense of the hookup at a cost of about $200.

Roper's stores managers named

TWIN FALLS — Managers for Twin Falls and Burley Roper's stores were announced today.

Merrill J. Call, formerly assistant manager at Twin Falls, will become manager in Twin Falls. Gordon Blair, former assistant manager at Burley, will be manager there.

The announcements were made here by John W. Roper, company president. Roper had been manager at Twin Falls for the last 20 years.

Company vice president James H. Roper had been manager at Burley for 20 years. Call joined the firm when the Twin Falls store opened in 1949. Blair went to work at Roper's in Burley in 1948. He moved to the Burley store in 1949. He was promoted to assistant manager five years ago.

Roper said the changes would make it possible for the Roper brothers to "devote more time to the overall company operations and especially the opening of the seventh store" in Murray, Utah.

John Roper will continue to live and maintain his office in Twin Falls. James Roper will remain in Burley with the company's general office there.

Two new assistant managers were named for the stores. Ted Wilson was named assistant manager at Twin Falls and Paul Reid becomes assistant manager at Burley.

Renewal director selected

TWIN FALLS — Jeanne Miranda is living proof of the secretary's dream come true.

For two years the secretary in the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency, Miss Miranda was named the agency's new director this week by Voy Hudson, chairman of the Urban Renewal Commission.

She replaces Evan Robertson, 29. He resigned earlier this week to attend law school at the University of Idaho in Moscow.

Robertson has headed the city's renewal project since January, 1971, but has worked in the office, earlier as assistant director, since January, 1969. His resignation becomes effective Aug. 31.

Robertson and Miss Miranda, 22, agreed there is little new work left to do on the downtown renewal project, with mostly administrative details such as audits and financial accounts left to clear up.

Hudson said Tuesday, however, the office can't be closed until a final federal audit is performed on the agency's books and that might not come until a few months into 1973.

Robertson has been a "wonderful help and we regret very much losing him. We can't stand in the way of his education, though."

Robertson, who grew up in Twin Falls, expressed thanks for the cooperation of citizens "for the three years of considerable disruption," and expressed confidence that the urban renewal project would be a "longstanding success."

Senior citizens buy TF home for center

TWIN FALLS — Senior citizens of Twin Falls will soon have a center for recreation activities.

Papers were signed and a downpayment was made Tuesday by the Senior Citizen Federation, Inc., Twin Falls, on a residence formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hase.

According to Vena Waggoner, chairman of the Senior Citizen Advisory Council, the center will be taken over by the group Sept. 15.

The down payment for the residence at 421 Second Ave. W. was made from money donations.

Mrs. Waggoner said the $150 payments on the house will be made from a federal grant. The money is distributed through the Community Action Program, a state program.

She said, however, funds for improvements must be accumulated through donations. About $500 is now needed for improvements. Mrs. Waggoner said eventually a new roof will be needed on the building.

The facility will be available to all senior citizens as a meeting place, recreation center, or just as a place to go. Mrs. Waggoner said the "Meals on Wheels" food program will be based there. She said lunches will also be prepared at the building.

The recreation room will have facilities for arts and crafts, quilting, billiards and card playing. Lorna Boulton, coordinator for the CAP, will have her office in the new building.

Mrs. Waggoner said this particular residence was picked for the center because it was available, and because it was close to the downtown business area.

She said it is within walking distance of the homes of many senior citizen residents in the area. Also the house and kitchen facilities have been approved by the health department as a private nursing home.

The building was bought by the Senior Citizen Federation, Inc., formerly the Senior Citizen Agency. Mrs. Waggoner said the agency was incorporated in order that it legally buy the building.

Last TF concert Thursday

TWIN FALLS — The final concert of the season will be presented by the Twin Falls Municipal Band Thursday evening.

Director Del Slaughter said the concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. at the city park band shell. Cornetist Dave Tippet will be featured with a solo in "Londonderry Air" during the second portion of the concert.

Other numbers on the program include "Regal Procession," by Williams; "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair," arranged by Reed; "American Folk Rhapsody," Grundman; "Balladair," Erickson; "Waltzes from 'Sari,'" Kalman; "Dauntless March," Smith; "Mancini," arranged by Reed; "Hymn Festival," Ades; "Man of La Mancha," Leigh; "Pride of the Wolverines," Sousa.

The National Anthem will conclude the concert.

leaders from the area will be invited to be special guests at the celebration and will be introduced during evening performances of the rodeo.

About 100 entries have been received for the National Register of Merit Hereford Show to be held in conjunction with the fair, Shouse said.

Fair, rodeo appointments made during board session

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls County Fair board have been appointed to oversee segments of the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo Sept. 5-9.

Harold O. Hove, board chairman, made the appointments during a Monday meeting in Twin Falls.

Cecil Calhoun will direct produce department; Ben

Mottern, grandstand and seating; Walter Miller, horses; T. W. Richmond, cattle and finances; Bill Moore, introductions of youth and other special guests and second arena assistant; Mike Gray, finances and gates and assistant to fair manager Tom Shouse, and Hove, pver-all chairman.

Shouse reports that each afternoon of the fair will be filled with entertainment staged in the park section of the grounds. There will be a talent show, theater performances twice a day, Old Time Fiddlers performances, square dancing and music by Slim Dossey and his Gem State Gens.

"Youth — Tomorrow's Leaders" is the theme of the 1972 fair and rodeo. Student

The Open Door

All hospitals should have open doors — and most of them, including the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, do. But after the patient gets inside, who should pay the bill?

There are those hospital administrators and doctors who have long argued against socialized medicine. Yet just the other day the president of the American Medical Association (AMA) said on a national television interview that "my mind is open on socialized medicine."

Through medicare and related programs and through broad insurance programs which are paid for by employers and not employees in many cases, socialized medicine is here now, he said. Other thousands receive free hospital care from welfare funds and from union and industrial funds.

In many nations of the world, socialized medicine is a broad fact of life. If you become ill you are treated and at no direct cost to the patient. Of course the patient ultimately pays, through taxes, but not shelling out the cash on the spot eases the burden.

The AMA president said 31 per cent of the cost of going to a hospital comes because of personnel expenses. Workers must be paid. This is as it should be but every day more and more people are coming around to the belief that it really doesn't make much difference who pays the bill — just so the bills are paid.

And how important is it to pay hospital bills? We would point out one fact of life. In this day and age health insurance of some kind is a necessity — socialized medicine or not.

A job without the fringe benefit of medical coverage is a dangerous job. — OAK.

In Moscow

When a head-of-government advocates capitalistic incentives as a method of overcoming severe shortages and inefficiency in his nation's service industries, that normally is not newsworthy. Except that in this instance it was Soviet communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev talking.

It was in a little noted speech more than a year ago that Brezhnev legitimized private enterprise for persons engaged in service occupations. A reminder of the speech has come from a Moscow literary publication, which apparently feels some party officials need to be sold on the idea.

Actually, what Brezhnev was doing was legitimizing an already existing practice. The state-run service industry is so shoddy and unresponsive, a number of Russians simply went into business for themselves to provide services not available elsewhere.

It apparently is working out. Those workers, including housewives, who perform services on the side take the government off the hook and contribute something useful to the economy. They also help pacify the restless consumer. That they charge for their services, sometimes at inflated prices, is overlooked.

Aquaports

Airline travelers of the future may no longer have to worry about the congestion, delay and turmoil to be found in most metropolitan terminals. And instead of grabbing the nearest taxi for the ride into town, they'll look for the nearest boat.

A number of American cities with large bodies of water nearby are considering building artificial islands, or aquaports, offshore. Although not a new idea, it is receiving more attention as congestion at airports continues to build.

Half a dozen cities have made extensive surveys of aquaport feasibility, with varying results. None is under construction, but only Chicago has definitely vetoed the idea. Most cost estimates run into billions of dollars, but much of this could be recovered by selling prime land now used as airports.

Oceans and lakes have an obvious advantage in areas where land in large acreages no longer is available. It is an advantage which will grow in attractiveness with the population.

MR. SPECTATOR

Tale Of The Purse.

Mr. Spectator likes to receive letters of praise. Who doesn't? But when one comes that praises someone else then it is doubly appreciated.

Such was the one we received the other day from Quinby Self, who hangs his hat at 308 N. Locust St. in Denton, Texas. He told of an incident on a trip he and his wife made recently through the Twin Falls area. They made the trip to visit their son, who is a student at the University of Idaho.

But let's pick up his letter: "Enroute, in your fine state, my wife lost her purse. It contained, among other things, her driving license, her glasses, cash, her various credit cards, her bank statements and her personalized check book.

"After considerable effort trying to locate the purse, we failed. "Philosophically, we just checked it off as one of those things that happen to vacationers, and continued our trip on a very pinched budget.

"To our amazement, when we returned home, we had a letter from your sheriff, Mr. Paul Corder, stating that he had recovered the purse and if we would let him know the address we wanted it sent to, he would forward it to us immediately.

"To say the least, we were very happy. We advised Sheriff Corder to send the purse and we enclosed extra money for his time and trouble and expense. Sheriff Corder returned the purse 'airmail' and returned the extra money we had sent.

"In today's society, where much criticism is leveled at our peace officers, I wish to say that you people of Twin Falls County are fortunate to have a man of Mr. Corder's ability, honesty and accommodation to serve you as sheriff.

"Again, I wish to thank him and, through your newspaper, let the people of Twin Falls county know that strangers from Texas appreciate Sheriff Corder's services."

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

It's The Politics Of Defense

WASHINGTON — As the Senate neared a decision late last month on the new fleet of missile-firing, Trident submarines, President Nixon was confronted with a policy decision of profound importance for both national security and domestic politics. To prevent the Senate from butting Trident production money, Mr. Nixon desperately needed help from Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, normally energetic for defense spending but less than enthusiastic about Trident. To get Jackson's support, it was made clear, the White House ought to go along with his hard-line amendment to the U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms agreement.

The President chose the hard line. By accepting the Jackson language, he insured approval of the Trident.

That, indeed, was a major goal of the bipartisan group supporting the Jackson amendment. Whether the amendment directly affects the second phase of strategic arms limitations talks (SALT) as Jackson intends is subject to debate. But there is no doubt Mr. Nixon has had to choose between friends and enemies in the Senate.

After Mr. Nixon returned from Moscow June 1 with his first-phase SALT agreement, there was resentment inside the Senate's defense bloc that he was relying too much on his enemies. The sight of Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois (a consistent opponent of Nixon defense programs) serving on national television as defender of the SALT agreement did not sit well in the Senate Republican cloakroom.

Republican Senators (including Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee) were eagerly receptive when Jackson proposed an amendment approving the nuclear arms agreement. His amendment suggested the treaty would be abrogated if the Soviet Union took advantage of the agreement to build nuclear weapons threatening the U.S.

When the White House announced Aug. 3 that Jackson's amendment is consistent with U.S. policy, there was instant outrage — by Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Jackson did get backing over the telephone from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. But the White House worried about agitation by Soviet diplomats here, whose complaints to Senate staffers were quickly relayed to Administration officials.

To reassure the White House, Jackson drafted a second version — less overtly anti-Soviet but still seeking assurance that the Soviets do not achieve dangerous nuclear superiority. That cosmetic change calmed things down at the Soviet embassy and won positive endorsement by President Nixon.

Nuttier Advisers

WASHINGTON — If George McGovern could slip away from some of his nuttier advisers for a quiet second thought, perhaps he'd change his mind about nominating Ramsey Clark to the Supreme Court — if and when, of course.

Even allowing for good George's rather advanced views on how to settle the Vietnam War, he must wonder whether Clark's trip to North Vietnam was necessary. Clark who served Lyndon Johnson as an Attorney General who frequently seemed to think his job was to resist law and order, still appears determined to prove that he is a glib little wit.

First, Clark went to North Vietnam as a member of a "fact-finding" group of the International Commission for Investigation of U. S. War Crimes in Indochina. The commission was organized in Paris a few years ago by a gaggle of Communists, aided and abetted by the usual assortment of silly women and the kind of Americans who parade with Viet Cong flags.

Even so, Clark had earned a reputation as a pretty fair country lawyer and this might have led some Americans to believe he would take a good look at things in the enemy country. Ha! To say nothing of 23 skidoo.

Like Jane Fonda, who might be excused as an ignorant and stubborn overage child, Clark was escorted around by Communist guides and shown what the guides wanted him to see. Predictably, the guides led him to a dike, a sluice gate, a hospital for lepers and a children's school they said had been damaged by American bombing planes.

Now then — For the sake of argument, let us accept the claim that these installations were indeed damaged by U. S. bombs. What bugs me is Clark's bland admission in a report over Hanoi Radio that he didn't know what he was talking about when he deplored this damage.

That admission was contained in his statement that he "had no way of knowing" whether there had been military targets in the vicinity of the damaged areas.

It just doesn't wash. There was a "way of knowing," whether military targets were involved. Undoubtedly, it would have been useless for Clark to ask his guides about military targets, but any good reporter would have insisted, or tried to insist, that he be permitted to see for himself whether such targets existed in those various neighborhoods. This request probably would have been rejected, but in that case a reporter would have considered it mandatory to mention the rejection in his dispatch to the American people.

But not Clark. He viewed the bombing damage and merely reported what he had seen without bothering to ask — or perhaps even wonder — whether there might be a military reason for the damage. Of course, it is possible that Clark feared a truly objective report would displease the International Commission for Investigation of U. S. War Crimes in Indochina. After all, the words in that title "for investigation of U. S. War Crimes in Indochina" charge without equivocation that the U. S. has committed such crimes.

Meanwhile, there is no record of a comment by Ramsey Clark on what The New York Times editorially titled: "Bloodbath in Binh Dinh." Unless I missed it while rewriting "War and Peace," George McGovern also has made no public remarks on the execution of an estimated 250 to 500 South Vietnamese officials and others by Communist forces during their occupation of Binh Dinh Province, and the imprisonment of thousands of other South Vietnamese civilians.

Of course, there is no International Commission for Investigation of Communist War Crimes in Indochina, although the Binh Dinh massacre has been confirmed by on-the-spot interviews by a Times reporter, and no one has disputed well-documented stories of similar Communist crimes in other parts of South Vietnam.

ART BUCHWALD

Nixon And Fischer

WASHINGTON — As reported in this column several weeks ago, President Nixon planned to telephone Bobby Fischer and invite him to the White House for dinner.

The White House has just announced that the President intends to go ahead with this plan whether Fischer wins or loses his championship match with Boris Spassky.

It turns out that this is not just a friendly invitation by a President to an American chess personality. Mr. Nixon has definite plans for Fischer which I can reveal today.

The President has decided to ask Fischer to take over the Paris peace talks with the North Vietnamese.

Since Fischer has driven everyone in Iceland crazy, the President feels he can do the same thing in Paris.

This is the President's game plan: First, he will announce that he is sending Fischer to Paris on Sept. 1.

All the reporters will be waiting for him at Andrews Air Force Base to take off in the President's plane. No Fischer.

The newsmen find him in his hotel room. His lawyer announces Fischer will not go to Paris to meet with the North Vietnamese unless the French, who are the hosts to the peace talks, pay him $100,000 to attend the conference.

Cables go back and forth. The North Vietnamese are waiting at the table, prepared with a series of attacks on the Americans, but there is no one to deliver them to. They win by default, but it's a hollow victory, and it is obvious they are unnerved by the events.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Carsickness

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 12-year-old daughter has been getting carsick since she was 6. Our doctor assures me she will outgrow it and in the meantime has given her a medication. However, the medication works by putting her to sleep, and I am concerned about the emotional problems which have resulted. She refused to go on class trips or accept any invitation that means riding in a car.

With all the serious illnesses, this probably doesn't seem important, but if you could, I would appreciate any suggestion. — A.J.B.

Maybe not a serious "illness," but it's serious to her. One suggestion is that, since there are various "seasick" remedies, trying some of the others, or trying smaller doses, perhaps may calm her down enough without putting her to sleep. It may take a little experimentation, and I hope she'll go along with the effort. After all, she's missing a lot of fun the way things are.

While the motion-sickness remedies are pretty good these days, one possible alternative might be worth a try: very small doses of phenobarbital or some other sedative.

Another thought: taking the medication (the one she is using or some other one) a little more in advance of a car trip may be more satisfactory, and perhaps make a smaller dose just as effective. A heavy dose shortly before a ride is not as good.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just came from the doctor yesterday. I'd been suffering terribly with shortness of breath and was almost sure it was my heart. He gave me an examination and cardiogram and said he couldn't find a thing wrong with my heart. It is emphysema I have. If you have a booklet on this, please tell me in your column so I can send for it. — Mrs. M.E.S.

Emphysema, a loss of elasticity in the lungs, is one of the important causes of shortness of breath. It is not a "curable" disease, but proper care is necessary to keep it from becoming worse. Yes, I have a booklet on it: "How to Control Emphysema." Send 20 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of Times-News for a copy.

Charlton on Job

TFHS principal assumes new duty

TWIN FALLS — John Lawrence's name is still on the office appointment calendar, but Frank Charlton has moved into the Twin Falls High School principal's office.

Charlton was named Lawrence's successor a week ago after Lawrence's sudden resignation left the high school without a principal less than a month before the opening of class.

Charlton said Tuesday he was "very obligated" to Lawrence, and said much of the opening school work such as registration was prepared when he took the job, but there are still people to meet — teachers, administrators, students — and problems to solve for a new man.

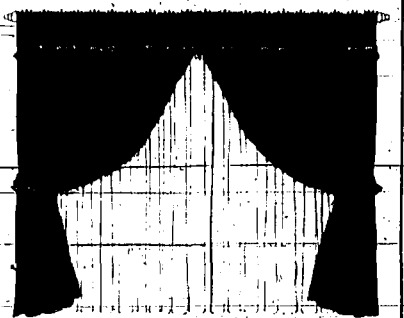

He intends to allow things to run as they have been set up without major initial changes, Charlton said. "It's pretty difficult to come in here and put a lot of new ideas in, and I don't want to. I won't make any quick changes here at the beginning. I want to do some evaluating."

He did say, however, that he favored participation by the student body in decisions made at the school. "The student council has quite a voice and I wouldn't want to change that. I'll work with them on decisions," the principal said.

"When you work with young people and communicate, you find they have some good ideas on their own."

Charlton also said there was little that could be done to eliminate a situation which left a high school without a principal only a few weeks before the opening of school.

TF school plan support asked

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School Supt. George Staudaher asked Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce officials to support a proposed school building program.
Staudaher told members of the chamber's directors Monday that the proposal could cost about $3.3 million — the amount of remaining bonding capacity of the district.

Chamber officials appeared receptive. President Fred Wanzon told Staudaher "I'm sure you'll get support."
Staudaher said letters would soon be mailed to 80 organizations asking them to select representatives to a large citizens' committee to help develop the proposed building program.
Staudaher said highest priority construction included construction of a new elementary school north of the Twin Falls High School to replace the existing Washington School.

He said sale of the Washington School site would help defray construction costs of the new school.
In addition the Happy Day School would be replaced on a first-priority basis.
Second-priority construction would include construction of additional vocational space at the high school.

Lower priority items included construction of 4 additional classrooms at Robert Stuart Junior High School, three classrooms at the Special Education Building, and an extension of physical education facilities at Robert Stuart.
Additionally, ten acres of land for the site for future construction of an elementary school south of town was proposed.
Staudaher said his proposal did not call for replacement of the O'Leary Junior High School because the building was "one of the most sound" in the district, despite its old age.

He said all three floors are currently in use there, with only the dome area unoccupied.

Weiser gets water funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Economic Development Administration Tuesday approved a $439,000 grant for enlarging Weiser's water system.
Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said the grant will assist in installing water lines to serve a 35 acre industrial site adjacent to the city's eastern boundary. McClure said Champion Home Builders will establish a plant on the site to produce pre-cut components for mobile homes.
The operation is expected to provide 103 additional jobs, the congressman added.
Another grant announced Tuesday was awarded to the Nampa Development Corp. by the Small Business Administration, to assist in manufacturing pre-built houses.

McClure said the Nampa plant has been financed by a $300,000 bank loan, 90 per cent of which has been guaranteed by the SBA. The new operation will create 110 new job openings.

Boise firm gets license

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union Carbide Corp. announced it has licensed Chemical Construction Corp., a Boise Cascade subsidiary, to use technology developed by Union Carbide to design and engineer coal gasification plants.
The process is the first and major step in making pipeline grade manufactured gas, commonly called "synthetic natural gas."

Ceremony planned in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Frank Steunenberg, Roseburg, Ore., Saturday will lay a wreath at the statue of his father, Frank Steunenberg, the former Idaho governor, who was assassinated on Dec. 30, 1905, at his home in Caldwell.

The ceremony, scheduled for 10 a.m. in Steunenberg Park will highlight a three-day family reunion planned by descendants of the six brothers and four sisters of the late governor's generation.

While the son was only five at the time of his father's death, he has made a study of the tumultuous times when his father took office at the age of 33, the youngest man ever to serve as governor.

Steunenberg held office from 1897 to 1901. As governor, he asked for the dispatch of federal troops into the Coeur d'Alene area in 1899 during a period of bitter labor-management strife in the north Idaho mines.

Bivens airs Andrus outline

PAYETTE (UPI) — State Sen. David Bivens, R-Payette, said Tuesday that he was "delighted" that Gov. Cecil D. Andrus would not ask the next session of the legislature for a tax increase, but added the governor did just that eight months ago.
"I was delighted that the governor has joined the Republican leadership of the state legislature in taking a positive stand against needless, massive tax increases in the foreseeable future," he said.

He said during the last session of the legislature the governor asked for $20 million worth of tax increases, but the Republicans in the legislature rejected the plan.
"I am glad to see the governor moving more in line with the general thinking of the people in Idaho," Bivens said.

Caldwell event set

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — A 10-day Treasure Valley crusade will begin Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Simplot Stadium in Caldwell.

Speaker for the 10 evening meetings will be Dr. John Wesley White, Toronto, a Billy Graham associate evangelist who has conducted similar crusades throughout the United States and abroad.

"More than a year of planning and months of detailed preparations will be climaxed by a series of outdoor meetings," said the Rev. Jerald Johnson of Nampa, crusade general chairman.

Gem board meet set

BOISE (UPI) — The Board of Environmental Protection and Health is expected to devote most of its time to environmental problems during its first half-day session.
The meeting will begin Thursday afternoon in Pocatello.
Included on the agenda for discussion are proposed governing feed lot contamination and nitrogen supersaturation from dams on Idaho streams.

Idaho health unit hires two

BOISE (UPI) — The escalation of Idaho's war against Venereal disease includes the recent appointments of a health educator and a microbiologist.
Arthur Boyle, director of Venereal Disease Prevention for the State Department of Environmental Protection and Health, said a federal grant has made the staff additions possible.
William O. Overton, Boise, will work with schools, health districts and adult groups throughout the state to teach methods of controlling syphilis and gonorrhea.

Mrs. Pamela Southcombe, Boise, will supervise the laboratory side of v.d. control. She has been a microbiologist with the state laboratory since 1968, and will conduct training sessions for medical technologists and physicians' staffs.

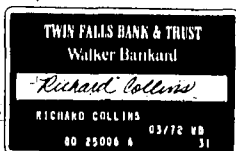

Boyle pointed out that venereal disease incidence has increased 28 per cent over 1971, with 1,103 cases of gonorrhea reported so far this year in Idaho.

Jets blast Hanoi

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force F4 fighter-bombers knocked out a suburban Hanoi industrial power plant Tuesday and shot down a North Vietnamese MIG21 fighter plane, military spokesmen said today.

In Cambodia, communist rockets hit a refugee camp near Phnom Penh's airport, killing six members of a single family.

The U.S. command reported the downing of two more U.S. aircraft, one in North Vietnam and one in the South. They said 82 American pilots are missing after being shot down in North Vietnam since the start of the Communist offensive March 31. Spokesmen said 175 fliers are missing throughout the two Vietnams from the 127-airplane and 68 helicopter downed during that period.

In a delayed report, the U.S. command confirmed that a U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down Sunday by Communist ground fire near the northern edge of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams. Both crewmen were listed as missing.

The U.S. command also reported that a U.S. Army AH1 Cobra helicopter gunship was shot down Tuesday by ground fire near Quang Tri City, south Vietnam's northernmost capital that has been in North Vietnamese hands since May 1. One crewman was killed, the other wounded. Another Cobra chopper was grounded by Communist gunners in the Central Highlands but both pilots were rescued unharmed.

It was the second time in less than two months that U.S. planes have knocked out the Viet Tri steam power plant, 30 miles northwest of Hanoi, the U.S. command said.

It was the 159th MIG shot down by U.S. planes in seven years and the 48th downed this year. MIGs have shot down 66 U.S. planes, official allied records showed.

In the fighting for Quang Tri City, 435 miles north of Saigon, North Vietnamese troops advancing under cover of a 100-round barrage of 130mm artillery shells attacked South Vietnamese Marines at two points within a half mile of the provincial capital. The marines drove back the attackers, killing 19, but seven of the government troops died in the fighting.

A 20,000-man South Vietnamese force has been trying to recapture the city since June 28.

In Cambodia, the Communist gunners who struck at the country's main military and commercial airport Tuesday also damaged a hangar and a water system, the Cambodian command said.

McGovern at fair by self

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—"There is no gap between Mayor Daley and me," Sen. George McGovern said on his way to the Illinois State Fair and a meeting to bury the hatchet with Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

But today the meeting was off. Daley remained in Chicago for reasons that were not clear. McGovern was going to the fair by himself. And the two politicians were still separated by a gap of 200 miles—the distance between the fairgrounds and Daley's hometown.

McGovern and his aides insisted there was no political significance in the cancellation of the meeting. They noted that Daley specifically asked McGovern for another meeting when the Democratic presidential nominee goes to Chicago Aug. 23 to address the American Legion Convention.

But some of the circumstances indicated that the feud is not quite over between Daley, one of the last of the big city machine leaders, and McGovern, whose supporters kept Daley and his Cook County organization out of the Democratic Convention last month.

Latin hijack route

Skyjackers surrender

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Six armed terrorists who hijacked a domestic airliner with 90 persons aboard from Argentina to Santiago surrendered to police today after the Chilean government rejected their pleas for asylum.

The guerrillas commandeered the Austral Airlines BAC111 jet at Trelew, Argentina, and held the 90 passengers and six crewmen as ransom for their demands. The six had broken out of a maximum security prison at Rawson, a small town 15 miles away in the desolate Patagonia plains on the Atlantic coast.

Argentine Interior Minister Arturo Mor Roig said the jailbreak was masterminded by terrorists who coordinated a guerrilla attack from the outside with a riot by prisoners inside. In the shootout that followed, one guard was killed and another critically wounded, he said.

News dispatches from Trelew and Argentine Interior Ministry sources said 25 political prisoners, five of them women, escaped under fire. They split up into two groups, six in one and 10 in the other, and drove along different routes to the airport at Trelew in stolen trucks.

The six, armed with automatic weapons, arrived at the airport just as the twin-engine jetliner was taxiing for takeoff after a regular stop on a flight from Comodoro Rivadavia, 210 miles southwest of Trelew, to Buenos Aires, 275 miles to the north. They forced tower personnel to signal the plane to stop, boarded it and ordered the pilot to fly them to Santiago.

The other 10 escapees, including the five women, arrived too late for the plane and following negotiations, surrendered peacefully to army troops who were called to the airport.

Chilean authorities, who negotiated for four hours with the terrorists at Santiago's Pudahuel International Airport while civilian and military police stood guard around the plane, said the six handed over their weapons after their demands for political asylum or safe conduct to other countries were refused.

Bicycle path idea popular

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The news is that Rep. Paul N. McCloskey has come up with an idea that other Republicans like. Bicycle paths.

The California congressman has not been Mr. Popular in Republican circles since he challenged President Nixon in the primaries. But he got a glimmer of friendly response Tuesday with a proposal that the GOP platform call for a national system of bike paths and hiking trails.

The rest of his suggestions to the party's platform writers, preparing a campaign document to be approved at next week's Republican National Convention, got a reception ranging from icily polite to badly hostile. For example,

He said the GOP faced defeat in November if it didn't name all of its campaign contributors and tell everything it knew about the recent break-in at Democratic headquarters in Washington. In response to that, he was asked whether he intended to support Nixon for re-election.

—He called for an end to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, which he said was harming dikes and endangering American prisoners of war. The reaction was a rhetorical question whether he regarded his failure in the primaries against Nixon as an indication that the voters supported his policies or the President's.

McCloskey's reply to whether he would support Nixon depended upon the President's action on further bombing. As for his primary showing, McCloskey said he considered his 20 percent share of the New Hampshire GOP vote to be significant, and that he did not have money to campaign elsewhere.

Demos claiming new 'bug' dope

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lawrence F. O'Brien contends the Democratic party's national headquarters "were in fact bugged for a period of time" before the June burglary which led to the arrest of persons connected to President Nixon's campaign organization.

O'Brien, the former Democratic national chairman who serves now as chairman of Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign, said Tuesday "new evidence" had been uncovered in the case.

He said the Democrats' $1 million suit against the Nixon re-election committee and the five men caught by police in the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee at 2:30 a.m. June 17 would be amended to add the bugging complaint. However, O'Brien declined to elaborate in any way about the evidence when questioned further at a news conference.

Police said the men arrested in the Democratic headquarters in Washington carried electronic surveillance equipment.

One of the suspects was James McCord, a former CIA and FBI employee who at the time was the salaried chief of security for the Nixon campaign committee.

Another was Bernard L. Baker, a Miami real-estate operator who also had connections to the CIA. It has been reported in recent weeks that a total of $114,000 in checks contributed to the Nixon committee were channeled into Barker's Florida bank account.

British dockers vote to end strike

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's 42,000 longshoremen decided today to end a nationwide dock strike, now in its 20th day.

Strikers, jeered and jostled by Jack Jones, leader of their Transport and General Workers' Union, as he arrived for a workers' delegates conference, shouting: "You've sold us out."

But the delegate conference accepted a report drawn up by Jones and Lord Aldington, chairman of the government-owned Port of London Authority, for a long-term settlement of dock workers' fears that pro-packet-container-traffic would eliminate their jobs.

Union officials said some urgent shipments could be unloaded by the weekend following today's vote. Full dock work could resume by Monday.

But longshoremen bitter at what they called a "sell-out" could prolong the walkout at some ports by unofficial strikes.

The dockers' anger was evident today. Jones was heckled and jostled as he arrived for the meeting—one report said he was punched by dockers swarming five deep around his car. When the delegate vote was announced, one docker burst into the conference room and hurled a metal ashtray at Jones. It missed.

"You are a leper," one striking dockworker shouted.

The Aldington-Jones report accepted today was rejected by the same conference July 28, closing all the nation's major ports. Teams from both sides have worked since to secure additional guarantees of future employment for dockers at inland container depots.

This was the root cause of the strike — longshoremen's fears that the growing practice of shipping goods in containers packed inland would deprive dockside workers of the job of loading ships.

Jones attempted to hold a news conference on the third floor of his union's headquarters. Dockers broke it up.

SV City Council 'flexes muscles'

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer
SUN VALLEY — Sun Valley City Council flexed its muscles Tuesday as it considered a variety of measures to extend city responsibilities and services.

A planning and zoning commission was foremost on a list of topics, which ranged from a new administration-office complex to the expansion of police jurisdiction to private streets.

The council decided to seek members for a planning and zoning commission to investigate costs of enacting and implementing a zoning ordinance.

After the cost report is made, the council would decide whether to establish the commission as a permanent group.

Councilman William Innes said, "Every property owner is concerned about zoning and really wants this done."

Commenting on the city's current lack of any zoning laws, the councilman said, "There is nothing to aid saving greenbelts and recreation areas. It is inconceivable to think that a community can go on without a zoning ordinance."

Councilman Royce Asher said the commission would give residents a chance to express their opinions.

City clerk G. Robert Ackerman said the city facing capital expenditures for additional equipment and facilities.

The city is currently working under a timetable to acquire responsibility for certain services and facilities previously provided by the Sun Valley Co.

The clerk said a new municipal complex would be needed at a cost of about $250,000. The complex should include a three-story fire truck garage, expanded facilities for the police department and an overnight holding area for prisoners, he said. An additional fire truck will also be required, he said.

The council tabled the complex proposal. Ackerman said the facility could either be funded by an increase in the mill levy, which would provide $10,000-$15,000 annually to be held in reserve, or by a general obligation bond.

The clerk said he favored the second alternative because future residents would share the cost.

In other action, the council adopted the 1970 editions of the uniform building code and the mechanical code to be effective Jan. 1.

The council also approved a second ordinance — calling for the adoption of the 1970 Fire Prevention Code of the American Insurance Association — effective upon publication.

Ackerman said action was sought on the ordinances at this time because a provision may have to be made for a building inspector in this year's levy request.

However, he said, discussions are currently being conducted to determine whether Sun Valley and neighboring cities could jointly share a building inspector.

A third ordinance was passed, empowering the city to extend enforcement of Idaho state traffic laws to private streets as well as city streets.

Action on the matter has been considered since last winter when the city police department was formed. Ackerman said the Sun Valley Co. owns the majority of streets in the city.

In other action, the council hired Mac Reynolds as a part-time dogcatcher in addition to his regular police duties. Approval was also given for purchase of a $1,395 pickup truck for the dogcatcher's use.

Storms brew over Wood River Valley

Wendell School Board will meet with council

WENDELL — The Wendell School Board will meet with the City Council at its next meeting Aug. 24 to request a patrolman be stationed at the elementary school.

The Idaho Highway Department has required the city to remove the portable caution light from the highway in front of the school.

Supt. Lawrence LaRue said the school board also decided at its meeting Monday night to request that flashing lights which meet state highway codes be installed. It is not clear whether this would be the job of the city or the state highway department.

LaRue said the safety of elementary school children is most important, and it is hazardous for them to cross Idaho Highway 46 without lights and supervision.

The school board will consider another bond issue in November. A bond election three months ago failed by one vote. It called for $520,000 for a new gymnasium and additional classroom space for the junior high school.

LaRue said the school still has an option on the land, which is three blocks east of the high school, and the board will consider the same sight.

Six new teachers were hired at the Wendell grade school, replacing five who are retiring and adding one. First grade teacher will be Mrs. Ingrid Avril, Ft. Collins, Colo. Second grade will be taught by Mrs. Margaret Speltz, San Diego, Calif.; third grade, Mrs. Diane Jones, Wendell native who has been teaching at Twin Falls; fourth grade, Mrs. Carolyn Mason, Wendell; sixth grade, Dan Sellers, Valley High School graduate formerly teaching in Oregon, and Lula Mae Correll, Dietrich.

Tom Olson, formerly a teacher at Boise and Jerome, was hired as high school mathematics teacher. Donald Davis, Jerome, will teach in the junior high and be assistant football and track coach at the high school, and high school wrestling coach.

The school board increased the cost of school lunches by five cents, making the price 30 cents for elementary and 35 cents for junior and senior high.

LaRue announced that registration will be Aug. 22-24. Seniors will register from 9 a.m. to noon on Aug. 22, with juniors from 1 to 4 p.m. Eighth graders will register the entire day.

On Aug. 23, seventh graders will register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; sophomores will register from 9 a.m. to noon, and freshmen from 1 to 4 p.m. All students will register at their respective schools.

Aug. 24 at 9 a.m. is teacher orientation. School will begin Aug. 28 with a half-day of classes. Optional fees will include: yearbook $7; activity card $6; school insurance $2.50 and $5.00; towel $2; arts and crafts, $5.

Jerome factory progresses

JEROME — Officials of Moore Business Forms Inc. will meet Thursday with representatives of Mitchell Construction Co. about a starting date for construction of a new factory in Jerome.

Leslie L. Mitchell, Pocatello, president of the construction company which has been awarded a $124,800 contract for initial preparations to construction, said this morning representatives from his firm will meet Thursday in Logan, Utah, or Pocatello with Moore officials.

Mitchell said he believes sale of the Katy L. Smith property south of Jerome has been completed. Officials at Moore's Pacific Regional office in Oakland, Calif., were not available for confirmation.

The Moore officials are also scheduled to meet Thursday with Architectural Design West of Logan, Mitchell said.

Shoshone special meet set

SHOSHONE — A "city housing authority" for Shoshone will be considered at a special meeting of the Shoshone City Council and members of the Shoshone Development Corp.

The meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the city hall will also include consideration of plans for building and zoning codes.

Robert Miller, president of the development corporation, urged all members to attend. Gov. Cecil Andrus has notified the corporation through Miller of provisions of Idaho Senate Housing Bill No. 1407, which will assist in housing projects.

Whaley continues to be candidate

JEROME — Paul Whaley announced Tuesday "he will continue to be an independent candidate for the office of Jerome County sheriff in the November general election."

He placed fourth against eight other men seeking the sheriff's position in the Aug. 8 primary. His opponents on the November ballot will be Democratic candidate Foley Asher and Republican nominee Eliza Hall.

Whaley stated that he is running independent of any political party because he strongly feels that law enforcement and politics should not mix.

"The office of sheriff is a working office and not a voting office," he said. "As sheriff I will not be representing the philosophy of any particular group but I will serve all the citizens of the entire county regardless of political affiliation."

He said with the growth of the county "there is a great need at the present time for more efficient law enforcement throughout Jerome County."

6 arrested in TF

HANSEN — Four juveniles and two adult men were arrested Tuesday evening in connection with a stolen and stripped car.

According to Twin Falls sheriff's officers, Hal Lundin, 19, and John Allen Dunnigan, 18, both Twin Falls were charged with grand larceny in the incident. The juveniles are under a juvenile petition under the Youth Rehabilitation Act.

Apparently the six persons moved a car owned by Bill Wilder, from the front of his residence in the 300 block of Maple Street in Hansen, sometime after 1 a.m. Tuesday.

The car was moved down the street from the residence and stripped of its transmission, driveline, steering wheel, storage speakers and a box of tools from the trunk. The merchandise was valued at an estimated $800.

All of the stolen parts were recovered by the Sheriff's department. Dunnigan and Lundin will make a first court appearance today. Two of the juveniles are in custody and two have been released to the custody of their parents.

Lightning starts six range fires

SHOSHONE — Lightning strikes between 6 and 10 p.m. Tuesday started six range fires in the Shoshone District Bureau of Land Management.

Don Runberg, BLM official, said there were many other lightning strikes, but the rain was heavy enough to put the others out and hold down the acreage on those that started. All the fires were declared out by 10:30 p.m. Overall burned acreage only amounted to six acres, Runberg said. Two fires started west and south of Shoshone, two south of Richfield, one north of Dietrich Butte and one north of Fairfield. Fire crews dispatched to the sites included 23 men, two tankers, one bulldozer, one shovel crew and several pickups with water tanks.

Haircut — up 'a bit'

BUHL — Inflation has hit the barbering business.

Five Buhl barbers have announced they are raising their prices 25 cents to $2.25 starting Sept. 1. They said the increase was "due to the cost of living increase and rising operating costs."

Marvin E. Richeson, Monte Doty, Scott Boyer, James Calkins and Ed Cargy issued a statement saying the price increase was still less than the cost of living rise.

"Since the price of a regular hair cut went to $2 four years ago, the cost of living has risen 20 per cent. Therefore, if the $2 haircut of four years ago was to have the same buying power today we would have to have $2.40 for a haircut. But this we are not doing!" they said.

Problems caused by loss of purse

JEROME — A lost purse may prevent a military wife from obtaining housing and starting her children in school. Jerome Postmaster Dale Vining said his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gordon Vining, lost her black handbag Saturday at the Jerome swimming pool. A search of the area failed to locate it.

"We are not concerned about the money that was in the wallet," Vining said. He explained that it contained his daughter-in-law's military officer's wife identification card.

Without the card she cannot be admitted to any military base. Prior to losing the wallet she was in the process of obtaining housing at Hill Field Air Force Base, Ogden, Utah. Her husband is in Vietnam and will be stationed at Hill when he returns in October, according to Vining.

If anyone finds the purse, Vining asks that the party drop it in any of the Jerome Post Office boxes or call the post office and leave word where it can be found. He emphasized that "no questions will be asked."

Jerome GOP elects

JEROME — Clair Ricketts was named chairman of the Jerome County Republican Central Committee during reorganizational meeting Tuesday.

Other officers elected include Joyce Craig, vice chairman;

Louise Rowatt, state committeewoman; LeRoy Craig, state committeeman; John Hohnhorst and Randy Bell, co-chairmen of the youth committee; Nadine McCoy, secretary; William McCoy, treasurer and Charlie Marshall, finance chairman.

Minidoka School Board hires four new teachers

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School Board Monday evening hired new teachers and opened bids on fuel.

Four teachers were hired, including Melanie Burrup for first grade at Paul Lawrence Burton, science teacher, Minico High School; Randy Fagg, Minico High School, and Gary Craner, East Junior High School.

Chevron Oil Co. bid the lowest for regular gas, 23.06 cents per gallon. The firm was also low bidder for motor oil, and kerosene at 12.95 cents per gallon.

Firestone Co. was low bidder on anti-freeze in 65-gallon drums at $35.00 per drum. Matlock and Sons, Burley, bid lowest on coal at $16.50 per ton.

The board granted a leave of absence to Raymond Caldwell, teacher at Minico High School. Ray Saras submitted his resignation, which was accepted, as teacher at the high school. He is leaving to go into private business.

Glen Maughan, principal at Minico High School, presented the proposed fee schedule, which calls for increases of $1 in the student activity fee; 50 cents for other activities, 50 cents for student council and $2.50 for the yearbook. The board set the final figures for student fees at $11.50 for total student activities and $10 for the yearbook.

The board accepted a proposal from Vern Hacking, supervisor of the Minidoka County Soil Conservation Service, to plan and help build "outdoor classrooms" along with the landscaping at East and West Minico junior high school.

Plans call for different species of trees and shrubs, which would be of interest to biology and science classes. The Idaho Fish and Game Department will also cooperate on the plan, Hacking said.

Gooding woman injured

GOODING — A Gooding woman was injured in a one-car accident Tuesday morning near Bliss on U. S. Highway 20-26.

Margaret Byrd, 38, was on her way to work in Bliss when she apparently fell asleep and ran onto the shoulder of the road. Awakened, she overcorrected the car, which went out of control and rolled over twice, leaving the road three miles east of Bliss.

She is listed in good condition today at Gooding County Memorial Hospital.

Bill Boyer, Gooding County sheriff's deputy, investigated the accident.

Probation ordered for Jerome woman

JEROME — A Jerome woman was placed on probation after being found guilty in Fifth District Court Tuesday of a charge of illegally producing a controlled substance.

Sandra Trussell Blakk, 26, was sentenced to the Idaho House of Corrections for five years but the commitment was suspended by Judge Theron Ward, who placed her on probation for 18 months.

She was arrested in June by state narcotics agents and marijuana plants were found growing near her home in Jerome.

Also in Fifth District Court Tuesday, Nick Calvert, 17, Jerome, entered pleas of guilty to two charges of grand larceny filed in connection with auto thefts in the Jerome area. He was held in the county jail pending completion of a presentence investigation ordered by Judge Ward.

Gooding areas reported as acres

GOODING — In a story about a proposed land purchase by the Idaho Fish and Game Department, the Times-News incorrectly reported that three acres in Gooding County would result in a $3,000 annual tax loss to the county.

The statement should have read "three areas" instead of "three acres." The newspaper regrets the error.

Directors elected

GOODING — Directors of the Gooding Senior Citizen Center were elected Monday night as a first step in incorporating this center.

Directors are Howard Lollar, Harold Hake, Blanche Loewen and Marlene Lees. Board chairman is Rosanne Hardin. Project director of the center, Marlene Lees, announced the War Memorial Hall would be closed Thursday and Friday so that she and Rosanne Hardin could attend training programs in Ketchum.

Training sessions sponsored by the Idaho Office of Aging will cover nutrition, social rehabilitation for the aged and project development.

Mrs. Lee reported that 63 people attended a potluck social and sing-along at the center Monday night.

People from Wendell, Hagerman, Gooding and Green Acres Nursing Home attended.

Librarians meet in TF

TWIN FALLS — Librarians and trustees from the 15 regional libraries met Tuesday at the local Regional Reference Center to consider area library operations.

Scott Brown, area specialist in community development from the University of Idaho Cooperative Extension service, met with the group to determine "what made the regional unit successful."

The librarians and trustees from the eight counties discussed advantages of participating in the regional unit.

Benefits listed include expansion of services to patrons, senior citizens and handicapped persons, access to state and federal funds; sharing cost of book purchases; school and public library cooperation; technical communication, and up-grading of education for librarians.

Brown commended that the regional library is the only regional organization now operating successfully. The group also commended Charles Orr for her work during her term as regional assistant for the library.

Regional director Arjan Call said there is still a problem of adequate space for books in the area and a need for improved buildings and facilities. There is also a need for equitable distribution of non-resident fees for reciprocal borrowing privileges in the area.

During the afternoon session the group visited the Otto News Agency in Twin Falls and selected approximately 300 paperback books to be added to the regional book collection. They will be made available to all participating libraries.

Filer sets class start

FILER — Trustees of School District No. 413 set the opening date Monday evening for the Filer elementary and high school and Hollister elementary school.

The schools will open Aug. 28, with registration to be held Aug. 21 at 9 a.m. for high school juniors and seniors, and Aug. 22 at 9 a.m. for freshmen and sophomores.

The elementary school registration will be from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Aug. 23, 24, and 9 a.m. to noon Aug. 25 at both Filer and Hollister.

Marshall Johnson, Filer, was hired to paint the old section of the high school. Loren Cannon of the Cannon Public Accountant Service, Twin Falls, reported on the Filer school audit.

Mrs. LeRoy Fleenor, school lunch supervisor, reported on qualifications for receiving free lunches in the school's program.

The trustees hired Idaho Bean Co., Filer, to furnish coal for the Hollister school heating system.

LeRoy Fleenor, Filer school bus operator, announced the bus routes will start out the same as last year, except for the bus traveling toward the Salmon Reservoir. It will turn around east of the dam this year. More Information on the bus routes may be obtained by calling Fleenor at 326-5407, or 655-4218 in Hollister.

Also discussed by the school board was athletic ticket sales, which will be the same as last year. Adult season tickets will go on sale immediately at $15. Brackett's Heating and Plumbing Co. has added Harry Watson to its staff as engineer who will study the Filer schools heating systems.

The board turned down a request for a new program, B-II, in the school system this year. The program involves the training of new teachers under little program from Idaho State University.

The board felt the present Teacher's Corps program in Filer is sufficient.

Ray Baker, superintendent, was instructed to make his first breakdown on priorities used in the plant facilities levy to be presented at the next school board meeting.

All district 413 teachers will meet at 1 p.m. Aug. 26 in the high school auditorium. A get-acquainted picnic at the Filer fairgrounds at 5 p.m. will close the meeting. All teachers and their spouses, as well as school board members and wives, are invited.

Ship 'afloat'

REPLICA OF the USS Enterprise will appear Thursday in the Cassia County parade. The miniature version of the huge aircraft carrier also will be on display during the fair. Here Chief Harold E. Smith of the Navy Recruiting station in Twin Falls sits "aboard" the float.

Cassia flower show rules told

BURLEY — Mrs. Carrie Draper, superintendent of the flower department at the Cassia County Fair, said today entries will be accepted from 7 to 11 a.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Draper, who is serving her first year as flower superintendent, said all exhibits must be in place by 11 a.m. and judging will follow at 1 p.m. Doors will be closed during judging. All late entries will be for exhibit only.

All flower entries must be grown by the exhibitor and each exhibitor may enter only one of a kind. Exhibitors will be allowed to replace flowers after judging so that displays will be fresh all during the fair. No artificial flowers will be allowed.

No flower containers will be furnished, Mrs. Draper said. She said all flowers in artistic displays must be garden-grown. Children under 13 must do their own arranging without help from their parents. Professional growers may exhibit for display only and may not complete for prizes.

There will be cash awards for the individual having the most entries, for best of show, queen of show and princess of show. Flowers will be judged 45 per cent on arrangement and effect, 35 per cent on cultural perfection and 20 per cent on suitability.

Kimberly picks lunch head

KIMBERLY — Kimberly school trustees hired Edna Jacobs, Kimberly, as the new hot lunch supervisor for the coming school year, Monday night.

According to Supt. Bud West, the district called for bids for two used school buses.

Contracts for coal, milk and gasoline supplies were also approved. Moore Warehouse, Hansen, will supply coal; Young's Dairy will supply milk; and American Oil Co. received the gasoline contract.

The trustees refused a bid for an accounting machine for the school. West said the board decided the cost was too high for the amount of use.

He said all teacher positions have been filled for the year.

Free as bird

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After a year of training in how to live wild, the San Francisco Zoo has released two young golden eagles on a secret mountain top in central California.

The eagles were the first birds of prey to be freed in a "rehabilitation and release" program in which zoos participate in the preservation or reintroduction of animals in the wild. San Francisco Zoo's bird of prey program was aided by a $4,000 grant from the Mzuri Safari Club, a hunter-conservation organization.

THE McFADDEN FAMILY of Hagerman set perhaps a precedent in Idaho swimming over the weekend and assisted by Cindy Garrett, left, helped the Twin Falls swim team to fifth place in the state tournament. Miss Garrett took two firsts, a second and a fourth in the 13-14 age group. Tracy McFadden, second left, was high point girl in the 9-10 group with three firsts and two seconds; Mike McFadden won the eight and under boy high point trophy with six firsts, and Krislin McFadden, right, took the eight and under girls point trophy with three firsts, two seconds and a fourth.

Sox nip Brewers to maintain pressure on division leaders

CHICAGO (UPI)—Tom Bradley and Terry Forster combined for a four-hitter and Dick Allen set up the winning run with some hands-up bunting Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 2-1.

The victory, the White Sox's 17th in their last 22 games, moved them to within one game of the idle Oakland Athletics in the race for first place in the American League West.

Indians nip Angels in 10th
CLEVELAND (UPI)—Frank Duffy's two out single in the 10th inning scored Ray Fosse from third Tuesday night to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 victory over the California Angels.

After the Angels went ahead 3-2 in the top of the 10th on Bob Oliver's run-scoring single, the Indians bounced back against reliever Steve Barber in the 10th.

Bell led off with a single, his third hit of the game. Jack Brohamer sacrificed as Bell beat Oliver's throw to second, with Brohamer taking first. Fosse singled to lead the bases. Bell then scored the tying run on a wild pitch by Barber and pinch-hitter Alex Johnson was given an intentional pass to again fill the bases. Two outs later, Duffy lined a single to right center to score the winning run.

Reeds' win Stokes benefit

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—Johnny Green of the Kansas City Omulha Kings scored 22 points, 14 of them in the second quarter, to spark a Willis Reed coached team to an 85-82 victory over a team coached by Red Auerbach Tuesday night in the 14th annual Maurice Stokes benefit basketball game at Kutsher's Country Club.

Green, 38, the oldest active player in the National Basketball Association, was voted the game's Most Valuable Player. Billy Cunningham, former All-Star for the Philadelphia 76ers of the NBA who will be playing for the ABA Carolina Cougars this season, led the losers with 17 points.

Stokes, a former player for the Cincinnati Royals, was stricken at the age of 24 with encephalitis and died in 1970 at the age of 36. Part of the proceeds from this game go to the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

Smith powers Sox by Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—Reggie Smith's 12th and 13th home runs of the season accounted for all the scoring and rookie John Curtis hand-cuffed Texas on three hits Tuesday night to give the Boston Red Sox a 3-0 win over the Rangers.

Smith's first homer was a solo shot in the fifth inning and just cleared the right center-field fence at the 380-foot mark.

Twins outlast Detroit 7-6

DETROIT (UPI)—Graig Nettles and Rod Carew each singled home a run in the top of the 13th Tuesday and reliever Dave LaRoche held off a last ditch bid by the Tigers to give the Minnesota Twins a 7-6 win over Detroit.

Reeves must miss game

DALLAS (UPI)—Dan Reeves, tabbed by Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry as backup quarterback for Craig Morton, cannot be activated for this week's New Orleans game, the Cowboys announced Tuesday night.

Reeves, filling a vacancy created when Roger Staubach suffered a separated shoulder last Saturday against the Los Angeles Rams, had retired this season and had been waived through the National Football League.

NFL rules specify Reeves, once he clears waivers, must sit out two games or 16 days. Dallas spokesmen said the South Carolina product would be activated for the Aug. 26 New York Jets game in Dallas.

Buhl, Stuart issue calls

Buhl and Stuart junior high schools announce calls for seventh and eighth grade football teams.

Stuart will begin with an eighth-grade team meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the gymnasium, reports Coach Bob Gibbons.

Tom Holmes of Buhl said seventh and eighth grade candidates should pick up their physical examination forms at the junior-high school office and have them filled and signed by parents and doctors by Aug. 28.

McFaddens Not even loss of Staubach set tank history

The McFaddens, with three members taking high point honors in their age groups, led Twin Falls to fifth place in the state meet and its best point showing perhaps in history.

Twin Falls trailed Boise, Y. Idaho Falls, Nampa and Moscow, in that order, and posted 270 points, a new high for a team coached here by Mr. John McNeese. The McFaddens, Tracy, 18-year-old, seven-year-old Kristin and eight-year-old Mike accounted for 84 of the points.

Mike was perfect in the boys eight and under with six first place finishes. Tracy had three firsts and two seconds and Kristin had three firsts, two seconds and a fourth.

"It might be a first," Dr. McNeese said. "There have been several times, where two members of a family have won high point honors, but I don't think its ever been done by three from the same family."

Cindy Garrett, 13-years-old, won two firsts, a second and a fourth to ably assist the McFaddens in posting over 100 points.

Rod Schaeffer got two seconds in the backstroke, a fifth in the 500 freestyle and fourth in the 100 and 200-yard freestyles. Mark Mari had a third in the 100 butterfly and fourth in the 100 breaststroke and Dr. McNeese's son had a third and fourth in the 100 and 200-yard freestyles, respectively.

The Twin Falls 14-year-old boys won the medley and freestyle relays.

Cross country begins Monday

First call and practice for the defending state champion Twin Falls cross country team is slated for 9 a.m. Monday, announces Coach Jerry Kleinkopf.

Coach Kleinkopf said all candidates should have their physical examination forms filled and signed by parents and doctors. The team's first test comes Sept. 1 at Jerome.

DALLAS (UPI)—Not even the loss of quarterback Roger Staubach has been enough to create the "countenance" of Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

"I still feel pretty good about this season," Landry said Tuesday.

"I'm pleased with the performance of Craig Morton (who will take over this Saturday as No. 1 quarterback in place of the injured Staubach). Craig has been performing extremely well for a long period of time."

"Now that he has this opportunity to play I think he will show what he can do. I know he feels a little pressure right now stepping in like he has."

"Last year when the decision to use Staubach went against him he took it like a man. But he expected to work hard and move back into the top spot. He knows he is a good quarterback, and I've been saying all along that he is a good quarterback."

But the availability of Morton to move in when Staubach suffered a shoulder separation last Saturday is not the main thing that comforts Landry.

"I think we are in a better frame of mind at this time this year than we were last year," Landry said.

"We were impatient last summer. We felt we had the Super Bowl (against Baltimore) under control and we lost it. You saw the intensity of our club before the Super Bowl game against Miami. That was the same intensity we had felt all year."

"This year our attitude is not so much to make up for past performance. We are the champions. Our attitude now is to work on specific problems on personnel and mechanics."

Landry will be all but forced to use Morton almost exclusively during the rest of the preseason, thereby leaving his last experienced quarterback vulnerable to injury. But Landry does not hesitate to do so.

"Of course the more exposure you have the more chance you have of injury. But you can't worry about that."

"And Morton needs some work, too. He has not played in that many games since the middle of last season."

Barring further quarterback difficulties, the Cowboys are about set for the season with the exception of decisions on Thomas.

backup linebackers and running backs.

As a result Landry will make heavy use of second round draft choice Robert Newhouse at running back along with Mike Montgomery at fullback. Montgomery came to the Cowboys from San Diego in the trade which relieved Dallas of Duane Thomas.

The world's finest Bourbon since 1795.

JIM BEAM

Generation gap? We never heard of it.

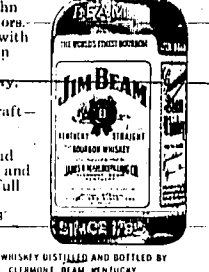

Dennis Hopper and John Huston are both film directors. Different generations. But with the same desire to be best in their craft.

"The Beams are that way, too. And for 6 generations, they've been best in their craft—the distilling of Kentucky Bourbon."

A proud record. A proud Bourbon. Smooth and light and mellow, with a rich aroma full of promise.

Jim Beam. The world's finest since 1795.

U.S., shotputter, Soviet sprinter star in meet

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—George Woods, one of the musclemen of the U.S. Olympic track and field team, today warmed up for the Games by putting the shot 69 feet 6 inches.

Woods was competing in the Hanna Braun memorial meeting which attracted 15,000 fans to the Danto stadium.

Brian Oldfield made it a 1-2 for the Americans by finishing second with a toss of 68 ft-4 1/2 ins.

Woods, the 1968 Olympic silver medalist, made his winning toss with his third effort.

The bespectacled Woods said he has not yet reached his Olympic peak. "I still have to work on stability and consistency," he said.

"I was off balance with my second and third throws. If I had combined the freshness of these two heaves with the technique of my fifth, I would have gone over 70 feet."

Asked about his chances at the Games, Woods said: "I can't see how Al Fierbach can be beaten."

"But if I beat him, it will be the gold medal for me," Woods said. He said the only challenge to the U.S. musclemen would come from the East Germans.

Dodgers rally from behind on Davis' hit to drop Pirates

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Hot-hitting Willie Davis knocked in one run with a sacrifice fly and cracked a two-run homer in the sixth inning to snap a 6-6 tie Tuesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers battled from behind to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-6.

Montreal tops Astros in 10th

MONTREAL (UPI)—Mike Jorgenson singled in the winning run with two out in the bottom of the 10th inning Tuesday night to lead the Montreal Expos to a 3-2 win over the Houston Astros.

Ken Singleton walked with one out and losing pitcher Jim Ray issued another walk to Mike Marshall with two out before Singleton hit a bloop single to centerfield off Fred Gladding.

Gladding, Marshall picked up his 12th win of the season against three losses all in relief as he pitched 1 1/3 innings.

Caldwell went the distance for only the second time in his young career to put his record at 6-5. He walked one and permitted only one runner as far as second base until the ninth inning.

'No room' in Uganda, Amin says

UPI Foreign News Analyst President Idi Amin of Uganda has faced some 50,000 Asians living in his country with dilator and Britain with a crisis of conscience.

Amin has declared there is "no room" in Uganda for those Asians of Indian and Pakistani descent who elected to retain British citizenship at the time of Ugandan independence in 1962. He gave them three months to get out.

The ruling spread panic among the shopkeepers and small businessmen affected by the decree and roused concern in Britain where an influx of thousands of Asian forced out of Kenya in 1968 led to sharp reductions in the number of businesses working harder than the Africans were willing to work, living within their own enclaves and marrying among themselves.

Most of them now have no desire to return to India or Pakistan. Britain is their goal and in Kenya, where it all began, many have preferred to live upon the charity of family or friends while waiting for their quota number to come up permitting entry to Britain.

The British government of Prime Minister Edward Heath has admitted a limited responsibility for the Uganda Asians holding British passports. Yet suddenly to admit 50,000 from Uganda not only would ignore the rights of others awaiting their turn, it would aggravate Britain's already high rate of unemployment and racial tensions just below the surface in some areas.

Analysis

non-whites admitted to Britain each year and to racist charges against the government.

Amin accused the Asians of being "economic saboteurs" and echoed other charges which have been brought against them in the other East-African countries of Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia and Malawi. An estimated 400,000 Asians live in the five countries.

African resentments against the Asians are both social and economic.

Amin complained that that although the Asian community of some 80,000 persons had been in Uganda for 70 years, only six Asian girls had married African men.

Other charges against them included disloyalty, a lack of confidence in African government, bribery, corruption, income tax evasion, smuggling and attempts to thwart African commercial development.

Altogether, some 80,000 Asians reside in Uganda. Of those, around 25,000 hold Ugandan citizenship and therefore are unaffected by the order. Amin has granted special exemption to others such as accountants and teachers.

Others have been ordered to sell their businesses to Ugandan citizens and if there are no takers, then the loss is total. The Asians first arrived in East Africa to help build the railroads.

Since in those days of the Commonwealth, British citizenship was common to all, the question of immigration did not arise.

And for the Asians, Africa offered better economic possibilities than did India so they stayed, setting up small

Panther statement expected

ALGIERS (UPI)—The international headquarters-in-exile of the U.S. Black Panther movement will make a major statement at a Panther open house party Friday on the struggle of American blacks, including hijacking aircraft for ransom, a Panther member said Tuesday.

Peter O'Neill, apparent successor to Eldridge Cleaver as chief of the headquarters in Algiers, said the world press was welcome to attend as well as "all progressive, revolutionary and peace-loving people."

The invitations handed out by the Panthers said their major statement would "analyze the development of factors in the Afro-American struggle from the Watts uprising to the expropriation of American airplanes for ransom."

Some persons invited to the party described it as a move by the Panthers to reestablish themselves as a liberation movement following a raid on their villa by police.

The raid followed angry public claims by Cleaver that the Algerian government must return a million dollars brought to Algiers by hijackers from Detroit for the Panther movement, Aug. 1.

Authorities still hold the impounded cash pending conclusion of their investigation into the hijack of a Delta Airlines jet from Florida.

Tourney winners

Miss Howard, Dyke exchange promise

TWIN FALLS — Becky Howard, Hazelton, became the bride of Doug Dyke, Bonners Ferry, in a candlelight ceremony July 30 in the First Baptist Church, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dean Howard, Hazelton, and Don Howard, Tacoma, Wash. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dyke, Bonners Ferry.

Rev. James B. Hughes officiated in the double ring ceremony before a background of lighted candles and baskets of blue and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her step father, Dean Howard, the bride wore an original floor-length gown designed in peau de soie, overlaid with silk organza, with lace appliques, full bishop sleeves and an A-line skirt accented with light blue ribbon.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and tiny blue chrysanthemums. She paused going down the aisle to present her mother and the bridegroom's mother with flowers from her bouquet. She also carried a handkerchief which was carried by her grandmother, Mrs. John Ottersberg, at her wedding in 1917.

Pearl earrings, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Leonard Mills, were the bride's only jewelry.

Linda Heinrich, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Cindy Mills, Hazelton, cousin of the bride; Cheryl Dyke, sister of the bridegroom; Shari Telford, Boise; Charlotte Crumrine, Hazelton, and Del Rae Arnold, Kimberly, friends of the bride. Sheri Mills, Hazelton, and Pam Ottersberg, Twin Falls, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Best man was Bill Brown, Bonners Ferry. Bob Fisher, Charlottesville, Va.; Bruce Faber and Bob Faber, Bonners Ferry; Lyn Johnson, Nampa, and Dick Capps, Twin Falls, attended the bridegroom.

Mrs. Francis Rider, Twin Falls, was organist, accompanying Terry Kilmes, soloist.

A reception followed the ceremony. The reception table was covered in shades of blue and white and centered with a four-tier cake trimmed with blue and white. A miniature wedding processional on candlelit steps lined the first two layers.

The cake and trapezoidal punch were served by Mrs. Leonard Mills, Hazelton, and Mrs. Erna Devers and Mrs. Wayne Ottersberg, both Twin Falls, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Dean Pennington, Jerome, registered the guests.

In charge of the gifts were Mrs. Ron Gray and Brenda Ottersberg, both Twin Falls, cousins of the bride; Carolee Kuka, Lewiston, and Gwen Malsch, Aberdeen.

MR. AND MRS. DOUG DYKE

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Dyke, Ellensburg, Wash., uncle and aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Fred Rudolph and Mr. and Mrs. William Heinrich, all Twin Falls, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Vera Conover, Twin Falls, great-aunt of the bride.

Out-of-town guests attended from Ellensburg, Wash.; Charlottesville, Va.; Nampa, Bonners Ferry, Pocatello, Boise, Lewiston, Aberdeen and Buhl.

The bride was honored at three showers, hosted by Mrs. Bill Giles, Eugene, Ore., and Debbie Watkins, Kimberly; Mrs. Leonard Mills, Hazelton, and Mrs. Devers, Twin Falls; and Mrs. Dick Roth, Mrs. Grant Turner, both Twin Falls, Mrs. Delbert Rawlings, Hazelton, and employees of the Bon Marche.

The couple will live at Clarkston, Wash.

Ann Seymour, Reese Jarrell wed

BURLEY — Ann Vivian Seymour was married to Reese Jarrell of Idaho Falls Aug. 6 in a double ring ceremony at the Burley United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Seymour, Murtaugh. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Jarrell Jr., Salt Lake City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a fitted full-length princess style gown in white peau de soie satin, featuring chiffon sleeves gathered into satin cuffs. The dress, which was made by the bride, was accented with a row of covered buttons, at the anbrina neckline and a wide band of French lace at the hemline.

She wore a fingertip illusion veil borrowed from Mrs. Ralph E. Jones, Filer, and carried a colonial bouquet of Woburn Abbey roses, blue cornflowers, white pompon chrysanthemums and green baby's breath with silver streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary L. Seymour, sister of the bride.

Mrs. Ralph Jones, Filer, was matron of honor, and Janet M. Seymour, Murtaugh, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Bruce W. Chapin, Idaho Falls, was best man, with Russell Kraeger and Glen Weldon, both Idaho Falls, as groomsmen.

Candlelight and usher was Carl E. Seymour, Murtaugh, cousin of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church social hall. Julie Conrad, Murtaugh, attended the guest book.

The three-tier white wedding cake was accented with orange Talisman roses, three satin wedding bells and lily of the valley decoration. The bride's table was decorated with bells and orange streamers embossed with the bride and groom's names on a lace tablecloth.

The gift table featured lime green net accented by royal blue and powder blue bows and light green streamers. The reception was planned by Mrs. J. R. Seymour, Murtaugh, aunt of the bride.

Cheryl Chambers, Filer, cut the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Jerald Bradshaw, Denver, Colo., and Molly Molitor, Boise, Mrs. Wendell E. Robinson, Jerome, was in charge of the gift table, assisted by Mrs. Glen Weldon, and Mrs. Russell Kraeger, both Idaho Falls.

Taking gifts were Anne Kloor and Carol Sargent, both Murtaugh. The church WSCS provided kitchen help.

Special guest was Mrs. F. E. Hastings, Twin Falls, grandmother of the bride. Out-of-town guests attended from Denver, Colo.; Page, Ariz.; Salt Lake City, Idaho Falls, Pocatello and Twin Falls.

Mrs. Edwin Brune, Mrs. Harold Kloor and Mrs. James Sargent were hostesses for a shower for the bride at the Brune home.

The couple took a one-week wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., and are now residing at 358 Utley Drive, Idaho Falls.

The bride is a senior in English education at Idaho State University, and will be student teaching this fall at Skyline High School, Idaho Falls. The bridegroom is stationed with the Navy at Arco.

Bronson reunion set

SPRINGDALE — The Bronson family will have its annual reunion Saturday at Salmon Park in Burley.

Descendants of the late Leman Bronson, Lucy Brass Bronson, Donald Clinton Bronson and Louise Andrews Bronson are invited to the business meeting at 11 a.m. Dinner will be at noon with each family bringing a basket lunch. A program, sports and swimming are planned for the afternoon.

Officers in charge of the reunion are Clinton Bronson, Tremonton, Utah, president and Robert Bronson, Springdale, reunion chairman. All relatives are invited.

Hansen TOPS names loser

HANSEN — Mrs. Kimber Glenn was named best loser during the TOPS No. 84 meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Mrs. Stephanie Godfrey was a 10-pound loser. Both honorees received gifts.

A card of thanks was received from the Roy Dopson family. Mrs. Lewis Morris asked members to turn in quilt blocks at the next meeting.

Mrs. Pat Spahr demonstrated containers for storing various vegetables and gave some low calorie recipes.

Double duty

Cutting down on the time for your beauty ritual requires some extra planning. If you must sit under a hair dryer, then give yourself a manicure while you're waiting. If you blow-dry your hair, it's the perfect time for doing those waist bends or toe touches. Besides trimming the wastline, brushing your hair while you bend forward will help the circulation in your scalp.

Camper-keeping done efficiently

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Drive down almost any highway this summer and you're likely to see a home-on-wheels whizzing by.

And where there's a home, there's sure to be a homemaker, probably with thoughts of liberation on her mind. No frilly apron or feather duster for this contemporary Mrs. or Ms., thank you!

She looks upon camper-keeping as something to be done efficiently, quickly, to her time is priceless, and space is too.

But would you believe, in this most modern of environments, old-fashioned baking soda is often the favorite cleaning agent?

Ecologically aware land-roamers (boaters also) are discovering that simple, pure bicarbonate of soda can replace a shelf-wasting hoard of chemical products which may clean now but pollute later.

These earth-loving people use baking soda for all sorts of tasks, like scouring and polishing. Sprinkled on a damp sponge, baking soda scrubs everything from cooking pots to counter tops, from stoves to stainless.

And never, never scratches. Dissolved in water, it replaces harsh liquid cleaners containing phosphates.

A sudden grease fire? Quick, toss on baking soda to smother the flames. And for sensitive noses, an absorbing box of bicarb, top off, refreshes a refrigerator for the entire vacation.

Four leading manufacturers of recreational vehicles are so enthusiastic about baking soda they are supplying a half-pound package with each camper sold. This way, more than 20,000 proud new owners will discover the merits of soda as a cleaner way of life.

TFHS '23 class meet set Thursday

TWIN FALLS — A steering committee for the 50-year reunion of the Twin Falls High School class of 1923 will meet Thursday at the Rogerson Hotel.

The lunch meeting will be 12:15 p.m. in the Colonial Room. According to Leonard W. Scott and his wife, Helen Varney Scott, coordinators of the meeting, the reunion has been tentatively set for July, 1973.

Scott said the class of 1923 with 160 graduates was the largest graduation class in Twin Falls until the 1930s. Of the 160 persons, 130 graduates have been located and notified.

He said the main purpose of the meeting is to appoint a chairman for the steering committee and to begin discussing the location and date of the reunion.

The steering committee will also be responsible for contacting the graduates of the class and locate the 30 that have not been found.

Members of the committee are Bill Ostrander, Margaret McAtee, Merrill Puckett, Nellie Bowen, Magel, Erma Holloway Tucker, Constance Hill Bowers, Joe. Seavers, Mildred Haynes Buffington, Ruth Snowhill Moore, Fred Powers, George Warberg, Henrietta Smith McCloskey and Nona Yockum Verano, all Twin Falls, and Milo Davis, Buhl.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Norm and I bought a little home in the suburbs, and last spring we planted a vegetable garden. We thought with the prices of everything going so high, it would save us money.

When our tomato plants got about half a foot high, Norm started singing to them. He'd take a sixpack of beer and a chair outside and plunk himself down right in the middle of the tomato plants and start to sing. The more beer he drank the louder he sang. (It's a wonder the neighbors didn't call the police).

Norm claims it's a scientific fact that plants that get music produce more than plants that don't. Is there any truth to this?

NORM'S WIFE

Plants seeds, self in tomato patch

DEAR WIFE: My agriculture experts say: Yes! But a word of caution. Better buy your tomatoes. No matter how expensive they get, it's cheaper than drying out Norm.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not seem important to some people, but it is a threat to my marriage.

Howard and I have been married for two years. We were happy at first, living in a small apartment.

I am an average housekeeper and must do all my housecleaning and laundry on Saturdays because I work during the week.

Howard wants me to work as we have no children and the money helps a lot, but lately he has become demanding about my housekeeping.

We have terrible fights about it almost every night. Abby, I just can't help it. When I get home after work I have all I can do to get supper, and I am just too tired to start doing housework! And we both leave for work at 7:30 a. m. and I certainly can't do anything in the morning.

I love Howard and don't want to lose him, but he has threatened to walk out if I don't improve my housekeeping. Please help me.

DESPERATE IN THE BRONX

DEAR DES: You have the following options:

1. Insist that Howard pitch in and help you. He lives there, too.

2. Straighten up after yourself in the morning and you'll have less of a mess at night. Tidy up the place after dinner if it kills you.

3. Quit your job, become a full-time housekeeper, and live on Howard's salary.

4. Hire some help and lighten your belts.

5. Continue as you are and risk a walkout.

DEAR ABBY: Now that the women are becoming so aggressive even to the point of asking strange men to dance with them, new problems have developed.

I have taken my wife to a club where couples dance, and have had strange women approach me with, "Care to dance?"

Not knowing what else to do, I get up and dance. Later my wife gives me "what for" for leaving her to all alone while I dance with a woman I've never seen before. But what else can I do? I hate to hurt a strange woman's feelings.

DANCING WITH TEARS IN MY EYES

DEAR DANCING: You can screw up the courage to say, "Thank you, but I'd rather not leave my lady alone." And don't worry about hurting a strange woman's feelings. Women who ask men to dance have pretty tough hides.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6070, L. A. CALIF. 90006 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Engagement revealed

MALTA — Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Elison, Malta, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Kern H. Crump.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Crump, Malta. A Sept. 15 wedding is planned in the Logan, Utah, LDS Temple.

Miss Elison is a graduate of Ruff River High School and Stevens-Henager Business School, Ogden, Utah. She has been executive secretary to the director of the business school.

Crump is a graduate of North Gem High School, Bancroft, and attended the University of Idaho, Moscow, and Utah State University, Logan. He served a two-year mission for the LDS Church in West Germany.

A reception for the couple will be held Sept. 16 at Malta. They plan to live at Chesterfield, where he is engaged in ranching.

Therefore, after winning the club he played his ace of spades and continued with a spade to dummy's king.

East showed out and South had to play on carefully.

It appeared that he would not be able to handle a 5-1 diamond break so he decided to play out dummy's ace and king of diamonds and hope for the best.

When both opponents followed it was all over but the shouting. He ruffed a third diamond high, led a trump.

Low diamond broke, and a fourth diamond with his last trump, cashed the top hearts to discard a club from dummy. Took the ace of clubs; ruffed his other club and made the last trick with the jack of diamonds.

When your partner has made a game forcing bid, your jump to game shows that the only thing extra you have to show is a good trump holding. You are making a slam try, but, warning your partner, that she cannot expect anything extra from you in the high card department.

North's hand is just about ideal for this jump to game and it also makes things mighty easy for South to go to the grand slam.

South knew that there might be some little play to the grand slam contract when he bid it and when dummy hit the table he gave the hand considerable study before starting on his plan of campaign.

It was obvious that he had 13 easy tricks against a 3-3 trump break and that he would have to find the best

STRESS WORSENS ACNE

By Mary Sue Miller

Acne is not painful. What hurts like fury is the emotional stress it so often causes. The resulting blue moods, antagonisms, nerves, do not help the situation. Tensions, in fact, work against the skin, even good skin.

To keep the tides of tension from rising, be good to yourself. Get extra amounts of sleep and outdoor activity. Make a fetish of proteins and vitamins in your diet. Above all, try to take a cheery approach. It will win friends who enjoy your company; your complexion goes unnoticed.

Localized treatment is a matter of keeping the skin scrupulously clean and applying a medicated nighttime product, every night.

There are several daytime "cosmetics" that help to cover up and clear up blemishes. Tubes of smooth, creamy formula work both on and in the surface layer of skin, helping to fight bacteria, blackheads and pimples. What's more, it is skin-toned, never cakes, and possesses no unpleasant medicinal odor.

Seems if you've got a lot going for you — so cheer up. You no longer need to fuss over your skin. When acne disappears altogether, a dermatologist is able to plane noticeable scars. It is the better part of wisdom to consult a doctor at the very outset of an attack of acne. His advice will not only help your skin but stiffen your spine.

FACTS ABOUT ACNE

Is acne your problem? If so write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, requesting her leaflet, FACTS ABOUT ACNE. Advice covers medical and home care; use of cosmetics; diet and tension control. Please enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

RICHFIELD — Lawrence Silvey, former Richfield resident, received his doctor of philosophy degree from Utah State University this summer.

Silvey resides in Bozeman, Mont., where he is teaching speech and debate at Montana State College. He is married and has four children.

He attended schools in Twin Falls and Richfield. He studied at Louisiana State University and the University of Nebraska and received his master's degree in Denver.

Silvey is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Silvey, Richfield, this week.

Below standard

TOKYO (UPI)—Three out of every four pair of Japanese sunglasses are below government standards, according to the Japanese Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI).

MITI officials said only 28, or 24 per cent, of 128 tinted glasses selected at random at shops have passed the standards that call for lenses capable of filtering more than 70 per cent of ultra-violet rays. There are some 800 sunglass makers in Japan and the industry last year reported sale of 8 billion yen ($26 million).

Picnic planned

AMERICAN FALLS — The annual Kansas - Missouri Nebraska picnic has been set for 1 p.m. Sunday at the American Falls City Park.

Mrs. Clara Stealing, Burley said those attending should bring a basket of food and their own drink.

No program, business meeting or entertainment is planned, she said, but former residents of those three states now living in southern Idaho will have ample opportunity for visiting.

American in Paris 72 years

PARIS (UPI)—Eva Bennett of Alameda, Calif., sailed to Paris to see the 1960 World Exposition, climbed to the top of the new Eiffel Tower and fell in love with the city.

"I'm still here. But it's no longer the same Paris," the durable ex-tourist said today. Mrs. Bennett turned 100 Tuesday, the oldest American in Paris and perhaps the oldest living abroad.

Receiving birthday guests in the riverside apartment where she has lived for 40 years, except for travel and California visits, Mrs. Bennett recalled that she loved picturesque Paris even though "I didn't think the Eiffel Tower was very artistic, just a lot of iron."

"But Paris has changed. The only thing that remains is the River Seine and the old streets that I loved," she said, sighing at her river view now harsh with skyscrapers.

"On the Champs Elysees we would sit in chairs and watch the horses and carriages. All the people promenaded saying hello to strangers. The women dressed in white, pale blue and rose satin and big hats with ostrich plumes that long."

"Now women wear dresses like a little ruffle around the hips. I'm a very old woman and that is shocking to me. In the old days ladies were real women. Now they all wear trousers. Oh, there was opera and theater every night. The food no longer is what it used to be either. The bread is horrible."

Mrs. Bennett looked like a 1900 painting herself, a wisp of a lady, a black fox cape over her long green dress, leaning on red brocade pillows, heaped on a green velvet sofa.

Mrs. Bennett pulled out a brown photograph of her Alameda mansion inherited along with a fortune from her grandfather Aristotle Brand, founder of what she said is now the French branch of the Bank of America.

SHOSHONE Cadet Stanley H. Kerner, a student at the University of Idaho, participated in the sixth U.S. Army Advanced ROTC Summer Camp at Ft. Lewis, Wash. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kerner, Shoshone. The summer camp included building an assumed rope bridge under test conditions.

Buhl Army Pvt. Kenneth E. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jenkins, Buhl, has been assigned to Ft. Ord, Calif., under the Modern Volunteer Army program.

The program combines basic and advanced individual training, and includes more free time, fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities. Pvt. Jenkins is training with Company A, 2nd Battalion, 1st Brigade, on July 17 and is scheduled to complete the first phase Sept. 8.

He is a 1970 graduate of Buhl High School and attended Utah State University, Logan.

Woman's heart paced

MIAMI (UPI)—A Key West housewife Monday became the first American woman whose heart is paced by the power of the atom.

Mrs. Virginia Recupero, 53, received a nuclear powered heart pacemaker in an operation that was performed while she was under local anesthetic. A team of surgeons at Mount Sinai Hospital implanted the device just under her right collarbone.

"I didn't feel a thing, but some of the shots I got before the operation sure hurt," said Mrs. Recupero less than an hour after the implant.

Mrs. Recupero had been wearing a conventional pacemaker to regulate the rhythm of her heartbeat for several years. The titanium-covered nuclear device about 2.4 inches in diameter and four-fifths of an inch thick was attached to the leads already in place for the conventional pacemaker.

The nuclear pack is expected to last 10 years; compared to the 21-month span of mercury batteries used with the conventional pacemaker.

Mrs. Recupero will report for checkups every 90 days during the first year, and once every six months after that.

Flexible Nixon predicted

LONDON (UPI)—The North Vietnamese have told Communist European diplomats they intend to maintain maximum military and propaganda pressure in Vietnam because they expect President Nixon to become "more flexible" as the U.S. presidential election approaches.

They also voiced their anger over what they called Chinese and Russian attempts "to teach us and tell us what to do."

Both Communist powers, key allies of North Vietnam, independently counseled Hanoi recently to negotiate a settlement with the United States. This was confirmed by the North Vietnamese in their latest talks with the Communist diplomats.

The North Vietnamese, they said, left them in no doubt that Hanoi is deeply embittered by the failure of Peking and Moscow to do anything about the American blockade of North Vietnamese ports.

The diplomats cited them as saying that their big allies—Russia and China—are offering them unsolicited advice and trying to teach them what to do, but they consider themselves the best judges of their own destiny and of the measures necessary to secure their objectives.

The North Vietnamese were quoted as saying that Hanoi intends to go on fighting on whatever scale it considers necessary or advisable in prevailing circumstances. Hanoi intends to try to bring the pressure to bear on the battlefronts and on world opinion with an eye to the approaching U.S. presidential election.

In this campaign the losses on all sides and the American bombing are being, and will continue to be, exploited to the hilt by them, the diplomats indicated.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Woodsmen, please note. You rarely read about it in frontier tales. Still, it's a fact the old mountain men — hunters, trappers and their ilk — customarily built not one but two campfires. And slept between them.

PUTTING on weight, madam? Don't diet. Fly to the South Pacific. There, the pleasantly plump girls are more admired than the lithe-some lassies who never gain. Pounds plenty are ubiquitous in Pago Pago. Really.

SAY YOU'RE about to milk a cow. First milk zipped into the pails is the least creamy. Last milk stripped into the pail is the richest. You'll want to remember this, young fellow. It's also true of the milk of pigeons and whales.

THE FELLOWS who attend men's conventions sometimes take their wives. Gals who attend women's conventions almost never take their husbands. Discrimination.

WRITTEN instructions to the world's first flight stewardess employed in 1938 by the Boeing Air Transport Company included the following: "Discourage passengers from throwing their cigar butts out the windows."

LONGEST hole-in-one by a male golfer of any age has been published. Leg widely reported was the longest hole-in-one by a lady of any age. One Marie Roble of Wollaston, Mass., must be named here. On Sept. 4, 1966, she whipped an ace of 303 yards. Here's to Marie clink!

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are now overly eager to travel or in some way to expand your interests and extend yourself far beyond your present sphere of activity. Make sure, however, that during the morning you force nothing and that you do not get into any arguments. Then the rest of the day and evening are just great for you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are apt to want to use force to get something you want very badly, but use diplomacy instead. Make some new contacts who are worthwhile. Go to the right source for the information you want.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Although the morning may be trying, do not indulge in self-pity, and later you can have much fun with the one you love. Your intuition is not good during day, but fine tonight. So be sure to follow it then.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Morning could prove difficult, but show you can still smile. Later in the day you can make better arrangements with a good associate. Know what your true position is with mate, others. Then you realize what is best to do.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you stop deliberating about that work ahead of you and delve right into it, you get it done for once and for all. Show you are most efficient. Plan time for rest in p.m., instead of going out and getting overtired.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets during day and then be off with congenials for the amusements you desire. Show thoughtfulness for mate and come to a better understanding. Good manners are most important now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing consideration and thoughtfulness to those who dwell with you brings fine results now. Handle some basic matter well, though it requires some effort on your part. Prove you are an efficient person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make preparations early to see good pals and business allies so you know exactly what to say and do. You can confer with one who can help you advance very quickly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Money matters are very important to you today, so get into all the ramifications of such early and watch the improvement by p.m. Listen to what a clever business expert has to suggest. Follow good advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle personal affairs with others in a most diplomatic and intelligent way now, and this will help you advance. The afternoon is excellent for entertaining, or accepting some fine invitation extended to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Much care in motion of any kind should be exercised now. Plan your activities for the near future most intelligently and widen your horizons. Get the suggestions you need from one who is an expert in your particular field of endeavor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Avoid that pal who likes to argue a good deal and get together with people who can help you be more productive. Personal affairs should be put off to the evening hours. Then handle them wisely.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The morning is apt to be rather difficult, but later in the day you can take care of both career and civic matters efficiently. Find the right system for handling one who is vital to your happiness and welfare. Early to bed tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be one of those highly sensitive young people who needs harmony and happiness in the environment early in life so the nervous system can strengthen itself naturally. Then your offspring can become a most vibrant and efficient person. An academic education is best here, since the mind is definite and thorough, then upon maturity fine opportunities will be seized and much made of them. Provide good religious background.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
