POLICE OFFICERS and ambulance attendants remove one of victims of a two-car collision at Pole Line Road and Grandview Drive North. The auto came to rest in a bean field near intersection.

TF girl electrocuted

TWIN FALLS — Five 15-year-old Twin Falls girls were playing tag early today on their way home from a high school picnic.

One girl brushed a power pole and screamed. A second tag-player ran up to touch the pole. The second girl died at the pole.

Police said a ground wire, running down the side of the pole, apparently was carrying the current that electrocuted 15-year-old Christine Atkin, Twin Falls, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Atkin.

A third girl, attempting to rescue Christine, grabbed the victim. She too felt the current, but managed to break free.

Investigating Twin Falls Police refused to release the names of the two girls who were shocked but not hurt.

Twin Falls Coroner Cloyce

Edwards declared Christine dead at the scene, the intersection of Poplar Street and Sunrise Boulevard. The mishap occurred at 12:35 a.m. today.

J. L. Johnston, electrical superintendent for Idaho Power Co., said investigation is continuing to determine why the ground wire was carrying electricity.

He said it had been found there was apparently an accidental contact between the ground wire and a power carrying line overhead. Johnston said the situation apparently resulted from a lightning strike about two weeks ago, which burned out a street light mounted on the pole, and several others in the area.

The street light which had been replaced, was operating Wednesday night, he said.

Ground wires are within easy reach of the public. The uninsulated wires normally carry no current.

The girls told police they were on the way home from a high-school-sponsored party at Shoshone Falls earlier in the evening.

According to Twin Falls High School Principal Frank Charlton, the Girls' Club Big Little Sister party began at 7 and ended at 9 p.m.

He said the electrocution should not be linked to the school function.

Twin Falls Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said the victim was given emergency treatment at the scene by bystanders and police officers, but did not recover.

2 Valley newspapers confirm sale report

JEROME — The Northside News today confirmed a Times-News report that the Northside News and the Gooding County Leader had been sold to a Utah corporation.

Similar confirmation also appeared in the Gooding newspaper.

The Northside News said the Standard Corporation, owner of the Ogden Standard-Examiner, purchased the papers for an undisclosed price.

Blake Patterson and Al Mencher, both Jerome, purchased the Northside News in 1962 and the Gooding County Leader in 1968. Patterson and Mencher are presently publisher and editor of the Northside News. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hagen manage the Gooding Leader.

Mencher said today he was uncertain of plans for the newspaper. He said a few minor changes may be made. He referred further inquiries to Gordon Glasman, Twin Falls, who is affiliated with the Utah corporation.

Mencher said at present no change in policy or personnel at either paper is being planned and that for the present he and Patterson will remain with the papers.

Glasman was unavailable today for comment. On Saturday, he had denied knowledge of the purchase.

Secrecy shrouds talks between Henry, Thieu

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger met today for their first Vietnam talks in more than a year. They smiled and joked for newsmen but gave no clue whether Kissinger was here to dump Thieu or put him on the back.

The South Vietnamese said they had been supposed to meet at lunch, but that Thieu was "too busy." The Americans said this was not a snub and that reports Kissinger had been given a cool reception weren't true either—that the 20-hour delay before he saw Thieu was taken up with other meetings. Thieu and Kissinger met for more than two hours and aides said they would meet again Friday before Kissinger flies to Washington to report to President Nixon. Kissinger went to the residence of the American ambassador and a spokesman said he would spend the evening at a working dinner with U.S. officials.

Kissinger has not given newsmen any indication what will be discussed during the two days of meetings with Thieu and other officials, including U.S. military leaders.

Government sources have said the purpose of Kissinger's sudden visit is to assure Thieu of continued U.S. support. Other sources contended Kissinger's mission is to persuade Thieu to step down as a co-leader to the North Vietnamese negotiators at the Paris peace talks.

There has been widespread speculation that Kissinger's visit signaled a breakthrough in peace negotiations that he has been holding privately with the North Vietnamese in Paris.

Fall kills woman, 85, at Filer

FILER — Mrs. Claude Oliver, 85, Filer, died early this morning from injuries she received in a fall.

Mrs. Oliver apparently stepped through a door leading to some steps to a porch at her residence. According to Twin Falls County Coroner, Cloyce Edwards, she apparently fell, striking her head.

Edwards pronounced her dead at the scene of the accident. The report was received about 8 a.m.

Car injures 3 Boise cyclists

TWIN FALLS — Three motorcycle riders were injured Wednesday when their "bikes" were hit by a car driven by Steven Wayne Threlkeld, 21, Pocatello.

Threlkeld was charged by Twin Falls Police with driving, while intoxicated and leaving the scene of the accident in downtown Twin Falls.

Injured were Michael Coffman and Joseph Shutter, no ages listed, and Gary Scott, 27, all Boise. All were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Coffman was later transferred to a Boise hospital. He was apparently seriously injured. Shutter and Scott were released following treatment.

According to police reports, the three motorcyclists were stopped with three other men, all riding large motorcycles, at a red light at the intersection of Second Avenue West and Shoshone Street.

The vehicle driven by Threlkeld apparently plowed through the middle of the group of motorcycle riders, police said.

He then apparently left the scene of the accident before being apprehended by police. Threlkeld was taken to the Twin Falls county jail, to be held for first court appearance today.

Estimated damage to the cycles was $3,500.

US income total soars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Commerce Department report showed today personal income of all Americans soared by $11.3 billion in July.

The increase followed a $1 billion drop in personal income in June. Commerce Department officials attributed the June decrease to the flooding of tropical storm Agnes in the East.

Proprietors and rental income dropped $6.2 billion at an annual rate in June but bounced back in July with a $6.8 billion increase.

Personal income in July was placed at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $934.2 billion.

Only words from Paris

PARIS (UPI) — Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, chief negotiator of the Viet Cong delegation at the Vietnam peace talks, said today she agreed with President Nixon's political opponents that he missed a chance to make peace when he took office in 1969.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver has charged that President Nixon "blew" a chance of ending the war at the beginning of his term. Shriver was backed by former chief U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman and his deputy, Cyrus Vance.

Addressing the 15th session of the Vietnam talks' semi-public meetings today, Madame Binh said the United States was to blame for "prolonging the impasse in which the conference finds itself."

"I should like to say that, in the search for a solution to the Vietnamese problem, the Nixon administration made an error of choice from the beginning."

"This conference began its work in 1969 at the same time as the arrival of President Nixon at the White House. This was one of the most favorable occasions to put an end to the war, if President Nixon had wanted."

that Pierre Salinger, the former White House press secretary, had met in Paris with North Vietnamese negotiators to discuss the prisoner-of-war situation. He also told them they should negotiate peace now and not wait for the U.S. presidential elections.

Madame Binh did not mention Shriver, Harriman and Vance by name, but she followed their argument that by choosing to keep Saigon President Nguyen Van Thieu in power and "Vietnamizing" the war, President Nixon threw away an opportunity to negotiate peace then.

"On the contrary what (the U.S. government) sought was a solution which would allow the perpetuation of the yoke of American neocolonialism in South Vietnam," she said.

Mr. T-N says

A terrible wreck often makes drivers think about safety. The tragedy is that it will not last.

GOP liberals look to top for help

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Battered Republican liberals and moderates looked today to GOP governors, a women's rights group and possibly even the White House to help enact the reforms which the conservative-dominated party so far has soundly rejected.

The reformers suffered a series of setbacks in the Temporary Rules Committee Wednesday. At one point, the momentum against them was so great that the panel watered down an existing rule which the reformers wanted strengthened. They carried their case today to the Republican National Committee, hoping that group would be more receptive to their plea that the party actively seek more women, youths, blacks and other minority group members.

The committee was called to a 10 a.m. EDT meeting to hear the recommendations of the Rules Committee majority as well as the minority views of the reformers.

But the liberals were fast learning that they could not win if they relied on the apparatus of the national convention—which opens Monday. They were pulling for the intervention of President Nixon, banking on the conviction that he would not want to see the party in an anti-progressive image. Pro-convention maneuvering at another decision, the National Committee refused to seat McCloskey's hand-picked New Mexico delegate, won in the states primary election.

Four days before the convention opens to renominate the Nixon-Agnew ticket, the Platform Committee scheduled a final round of hearings before completing the document of principles on which the fall campaign is to be based. Protesters began occupying a tent city at Flamingo Park, a 35-acre enclave a few blocks from the convention hall. So far, about 150 assorted Zippies, Yippies and others are on hand. Leaders say they expect up to 10,000 next week.

Nixon does not plan to arrive in Florida until Tuesday, the night he will be renominated. Mrs. Nixon and other members of the first family fly to Miami Beach Sunday.

'Wal, sure Sen. McGovern and I have our differences, but we have unity too!'

McGovern accepts Seen... LBJ endorsement

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—

Sen. George McGovern has accepted the endorsement of former President Lyndon B. Johnson in an arms length reconciliation between two bitter enemies in the Democratic Party.

Johnson announced from his Texas ranch Wednesday that he would vote for McGovern and the rest of the Democratic ticket despite his deep differences with the presidential nominee over the war in Vietnam and other foreign policy issues. McGovern said he "welcomed" the endorsement and said he and Johnson were united in a bid to retire President Nixon from the White House.

McGovern headed to Wisconsin today after what he called "a marvellously unifying" thrust into Illinois that failed to produce the reunion that had been billed between him and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

Daley's postponement of the scheduled meeting and two statements by McGovern about contacts with North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris diverted attention from McGovern's person-to-person tour.

Johnson's endorsement had been expected for several weeks, although McGovern was a leader of the Senate and war bloc whose criticism of Johnson's Vietnam policies forced the Texan to relinquish a second term.

Johnson said it was "no secret" that he and McGovern had widely different opinions on some matters. Just as McGovern did not hold back on criticism of him, "neither shall I refrain from disagreeing with him when the public interest demands," Johnson said.

McGovern said, "I had my differences with President Johnson over the war." But he praised Johnson's domestic record.

McGovern's statements on the Vietnam negotiations were a result of a trip to Paris by Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy.

When he returned to New York from Paris Wednesday, Salinger said that at McGovern's request, he had met with the Hanoi delegation to the peace talks.

Walk Across The Potomac?

WASHINGTON — Off the record, it is dangerous to underestimate the Republicans' capacity to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory, but George McGovern's chances of beating Richard Nixon in November seem to depend on another miracle of the sort that transformed the South Dakotan from George. Who into the Democratic nominee.

"We can do it," says McGovern's political director, Frank Mankiewicz. Then, wryly, "But it would help if George walked across the Potomac in prime TV time."

At no time during the 1968 campaign did Hubert Hurnphrey trail Nixon as badly as McGovern does at this writing. Yet, after the horror movie that was the Chicago convention, the Democratic Party was a viable elective force — virtually nonexistent — much more divided than it is today.

Polls must always be suspect, if only because they reflect the opinions of human beings equipped with changeable minds. But it is no secret that the McGovern-Shriver forces were shocked by the latest survey conducted by the highly respected Louis Harris. They should have been. Harris' poll showed Nixon leading McGovern by a whopping 23 percentage points, the President's greatest lead since last March when McGovern was a household name only in those neighborhoods inhabited by his campaign workers.

Most sobering to the McGovern people is that since last May, when Harris showed Nixon leading by only seven percentage points, McGovern now trails the President in every region of the country and in every category of voter except the Democratic. And even among Democrats, McGovern has lost 15 percentage points since the May survey.

There, of course, is the voter's changeable mind at work. Most of McGovern's slippage undoubtedly has been the result of the snafu in which McGovern was forced to drop Sen. Tom Eagleton from the ticket.

This does not mean that all is lost for the Democrats. The Harris Poll was taken on Aug. 2 and 3 when the 'Eagleton affair' was fresh in the voters' minds. As the great healer named time goes to work, McGovern is sure to recover some of his strength; indeed both Independent and Democratic soundings have revealed considerable enthusiasm for McGovern's new running mate, the personable, energetic and Kennedy-connected Sargent Shriver.

Nevertheless, the specifics of the Harris Poll insist that McGovern is in deep trouble. For example, it shows that the South Dakotan, at least temporarily has lost the support of his purportedly most loyal bloc — the voters between 18 and 29. Nixon leads among this group, 53 per cent to 43 per cent; a McGovern slippage, since May, of 22 astonishing percentage points. Among Democrats, McGovern now leads Nixon by only 53 to 38 per cent.

In the suburbs and among voters earning less than $5,000 a year — two other pre-Eagleton McGovern strongholds — McGovern has slipped 17 and 4 percentage points, respectively. He has lost 24 percentage points among Independents, who now favor Nixon by 60 to 25 per cent. McGovern's hopes of closing this gap depend on two things:

1. The successful binding up of the wounds suffered by his candidacy as a result of his clumsy, if not cynical, handling of the Eagleton affair. The contrast between McGovern's candidacy and the Old Politics will require considerable fine tuning to restore its sharpness.

2. Shriver's performance as a running mate. Shriver has got to be very, very good to win back those voters who now think either that Eagleton got a raw deal or that McGovern's judgment was faulty in picking the Missourian in the first place. Shriver's marriage into the Kennedy family is counted a plus by McGovern people. But it remains to be seen how much of the Kennedy luster has been tarnished by Senator Ted's misfortunes.

Before Eagleton, Nixon and McGovern agree the campaign would be fought almost entirely on the issues. That is no longer a certainty. After Eagleton, McGovern today cannot be sure that the electorate will decide he is the more believable of the two candidates. His purity still tests out pretty high, but it is not quite as pristine as the new driven snow.

Never So Good

So what is all the beefing about? Really, you've never had it so good. We agree with Dalls Townsend, CBS commentator, newsman and a recent speaker at Sun Valley. He said, based on his own observations, things are not as bad as people may believe by reading the news.

Quite often, the spoken word over the air or the headlines over the story are not indicative of what actually happened. Lots of good things come in this nation of ours — but too often they are never mentioned or are pushed so far back in the news they are not seen. Like we said, things are not as bad as they seem. For instance, we all complain of the war yet there is more carnage on our highways. Most people complain on how hard they work yet most of them get two days off a week.

Approaching it from another angle. How many meals have you missed this year? Any?

How many times have you gone barefoot because you could not afford shoes?

How many of you do not have a savings account or are not protected by health and life insurance?

How many of you never get an opportunity to go fishing, or hunting, or skiing or on a picnic?

Lots of good things are happening and lots of good things are available to the average citizen. So like Townsend we would say things are not as bad as they are painted.

And one more thought. In this nation, whether you believe it or not, you are born free and like the words of the popular song "you are as free as the wind blows, as free as the grass grows, to follow your heart." — OAK.

The Incentive

Remembering the numerous examples of cost overruns in the last decade, skeptics abounded when the Defense Department announced all that had ended with its new fly-before-you-buy policy. The policy was put to its first real test recently, and so far it is a winner.

The object of scrutiny was the F-15 Eagle fighter, a plane touted as the best in the world. A prototype of the plane passed its first supersonic flight with flying colors, but that really was not the reason for excitement.

A contract for the plane's development was given to the McDonnell-Douglas Co. only after competing engine and radar systems had been demonstrated to defense officials.

The next step is yet to come. The Pentagon is not obligated to purchase any production models even now until the plane has been fully tested and proves it meets military specifications.

What about original cost estimates? The contractor reports the F-15 is "on or ahead of schedule and at or below the target price set three years ago."

Why Not The Best?

We read with interest where the Mayor of Twin Falls — while vacationing in Europe — will visit Twin Falls' sister city of Singen in Germany. Also that he will deliver to officials of that community various publications and books so the Singen residents can gain an insight into the background of our area and state.

The books selected are fine — we have no argument on that score — but we do wonder why a copy of the Times-News Progress Edition for 1971 and the same edition for 1972 (published last June) are not included.

Those two editions give more detailed history and present day background on Twin Falls and Magic Valley than any other publication available. It would be something fresh and in depth. It would be accurate.

Frankly, we do not know where the Mayor could pick up an extra issue of each of those Progress Editions because we have none left in our files (hundreds of extras printed were promptly sold) and a lot of people would not like to give theirs up.

But we would suggest that he try to find one of each to haul to Germany. Like we said, they did sell and were popular and informative. We are reminded of the telephone call we received from George Staudacher on the Sunday the Progress 72 edition was distributed.

"There is more Idaho history in that edition than in any history books now in use in our school system," he said. "I want to get a copy of that edition for every room in every school of our system so it will be available for reference."

He got them, too.

NURSING HOMES

Mr. Spectator thought you might be interested in parts of a communication received from the White House correspondent. The facts concerning nursing homes.

There are 23,000 institutions for the aged in the United States.

Seventy-one per cent of them are privately-owned for profit, 20 per cent are private non-profit places and 9 per cent are owned by government — state or local.

The average monthly charge per resident in skilled nursing homes is more than $420 and in intermediate care facilities $270.

There were more than 1 million persons over 65 in long term care institutions at the end of 1971.

Federal support to patients in nursing homes comes to $1.5 billion while state and local governments spend $1.1 billion. Private sources provide for about $900 million.

The nursing home "industry" amounts to some $3.5 billion; of which public funds represent almost 75 per cent.

As Medicaid providers there are more than 431,000 skilled nursing beds certified in the nation.

A Trojan Horse

"Give me your tired, your poor. Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

For generations Lady Liberty has stood in New York's harbor welcoming outsiders in.

And, because most all Americans originally came from elsewhere, any suggestion that we should close the immigration door sounded un-American.

But we'd better, now. Continuing immigration is a Trojan horse. Immigration just from Asia to the United States has multiplied three times in two decades. And that's just "legal" immigration.

Last year more than a third of a million illegal aliens from Mexico were caught in the United States. And that's just the ones who were caught.

The number of first- and second-generation Cubans now in the United States has multiplied four times in 10 years.

Michigan's Rep. Jack McDonald's examination of our Immigration and Naturalization Service indicates that there are at least 2 million and probably 3 million illegal aliens in the United States sending $2 billion a year out of the United States.

New Jersey's Rep. Peter W. Rodino, Jr., of the House immigration subcommittee, says the flood of illegal aliens is aggravating our unemployment situation and helping to depress wages.

These are largely responsible for the fact that our nation has more workers working than ever in history — but still has almost 6 percent unemployment.

In any period of recession, the weight of these outsiders would be unbearable.

Most members of Congress are so intimidated by organized ethnic minorities that they dare not talk publicly as many do privately.

Arkansas' Sen. John L. McClellan is an exception. He says, "I don't think we ought to let this country get flooded with immigrants; we've enough unemployment and welfare overloads as it is."

The problem is not ours alone. Australia used to advertise for immigrants but now says don't come unless you have a job — first.

Britain has clamped down on immigration even from member nations of its own Commonwealth, and nobody gets in without having a job — first.

Now Canada. Canada, as a developing and sparsely settled country, historically welcomed immigrants — even solicited them.

Now, increasingly industrialized and automated, and with unemployment comparable to our own (approximately 6 percent), Canada is considering locking outsiders out.

With ancient trade barriers crumbling, with East and West getting together around half-a-dozen conference tables and exploring mutual interests, with them and us scheduled now to explore space together, the world's "tired, poor, huddled masses" may now benefit most if they stay put while we stay strong.

Certainly none should be admitted to the United States unless he has a job — first.

To Just Sit

WASHINGTON (NEA) — After extended discussions, the Nixon administration has decided to move very slowly and cautiously in the Middle East in the wake of Moscow's partial pullout from Egypt.

The United States will wait for President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and other Arab leaders to make known exactly what it is they want of the United States.

As one high official put it privately, "We will wait for them to come to us."

American diplomats will not take the initiative. They are being instructed to tell the Arab countries to which they are accredited that President Nixon now believes the United States has carried the ball for too long in the Middle East and the leaders of each Arab country must decide, without suggestions from us, what relationship they will have with Washington and what role, if any, the Arab lands wish Nixon to play in the Arab-Israeli war.

This relaxed U. S. attitude contrasts sharply with earlier Washington moves early in the Arab-Israeli and India-historical-American belief that world and regional crises will inevitably erupt catastrophically unless American diplomats are in the ring pinching with both hands at all times.

But this new approach most certainly is in line with the Nixon doctrine which calls for Dear Dr. Thosteson: How does one get rid of crab lice? I discovered quite by accident that I had them. Where are they picked up? I have not had sexual relations so my only thought would be a public restroom, although I have always been very careful when using such restrooms, and always been particular about keeping myself clean. — Miss R.

I hadn't intended to keep harping on the topic of crab lice (and other types of lice) but letters keep coming in, asking about them. A few years ago hardly anybody asked. Now a lot do.

The fact is that crab lice are very much more prevalent now. Many times more. The difference between a crab louse and any other kind of body louse is that it prefers to inhabit the human genital region. It can migrate to other parts of the body, though.

Anyway, crab lice are often transmitted in sexual intercourse, but that isn't the only way. The bugs can get into the seams of clothing, and the fecal treatment in my ex-casual lending and borrowing of clothes can spread the pests. They also can hide in small creases of bed linens, on blankets, or such. There are, in a word, plenty of ways for the pests to move from one person to another. I doubt that public restrooms are a very important element in the problem.

As for getting rid of "crabs," just ridding yourself of the creatures isn't too much of a problem. But here's the catch: they lay eggs, which are attached to hair shafts by a very sticky strong adhesive, and it is extremely difficult to get rid of all the eggs. So presently a new batch hatches.

Best medication, in the experience of physicians, is a prescription medication (lotion or shampoo form) called Kwell, which gets rid of both the bugs and the eggs. There are non-prescription remedies available in drug stores. How well they work, I can't say.

I've been told that some people have had very good results with them, so I don't intend to downgrade them. I do, however, stick to my belief that the bugs can get into the Kwell has been the most effective treatment in my experience.

GOP may boost women's rights, attack busing

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Republican platform writers have tentatively agreed to strongly denounce racial busing and to advocate women's rights proposals including a program of day care centers, but to ignore the sensitive issue of abortion.

Platform subcommittees were allowed Wednesday night for the first time to see the closely guarded draft of the party platform prepared by GOP leaders and approved by the White House. In closed sessions they mostly rubber-stamped the draft.

The 118-page documents, bound in red notebooks, reflect President Nixon's thinking on all subjects although the subcommittee provisions on busing and day care centers went farther than GOP leaders wanted.

The full platform committee was to begin work tonight on the final version of the platform, which will be presented to the GOP national convention next week, and further changes could be made.

Sources said the subcommittee on community and national development went farther than GOP leaders wanted in denouncing busing. The White House-approved draft called for an end to racial busing and support of Nixon's proposed legislation to place a moratorium on court-ordered busing. The subcommittee also urged consideration of a constitutional amendment against busing if the legislation failed to pass.

The woman-dominated subcommittee on human rights strengthened language denouncing economic discrimination against women and added a proposal which calls for federal funding of day care centers with child development programs.

The day care centers would be voluntary and those who used them would pay on a sliding scale according to means.

Nixon earlier this year vetoed a child development bill, but women delegates led by Rep. Margaret Heckler of Massachusetts vowed a fight to put it in the platform. They say Nixon vetoed the bill because of technical considerations, and he may approve their language.

After lengthy discussion, the subcommittee decided to neither recommend nor condemn abortion laws. Sources said it appeared doubtful the matter would be brought to the convention floor.

In other platform planks, the various subcommittees recommended support for Nixon's policies on Vietnam and his other foreign and military policies. They agreed to language saying children should be allowed to pray in school, but did not recommend a constitutional amendment to allow it.

In a move for labor support, one subcommittee approved the draft language saying the country owes a great debt to organized labor. There was no mention of right to work legislation.

Short summer

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UPI)—It's been a short summer at Crater Lake National Park.

Five inches of snow closed the 33-mile rim route around the lake Wednesday and winter plows had to be put into action.

Park officials said the roads around the lake's rim opened on July 10 after "an unusually long winter."

Crews attempt drain clearing

TWIN FALLS—City crews continued today an attempt to clear root-plugged drainage lines in a small area on the east side of Twin Falls.

City Manager Jean Milar said the work started Wednesday in an area bounded by Kimberly Road, the baseball park, Locust Street and Madrona Street where the plugged lines have caused the water table to rise and flood basements.

Work began after Milar conferred with Twin Falls Canal Co. officials and informed them the city would attempt to assist in clearing the lines at the company's request. The request was then made, Milar said.

The lines were laid over 50 years ago to drain what was then saturated farm land, and the owner at that time did not plant trees. However, after the area developed, trees were planted. Their roots gradually clogged the lines, preventing drainage and causing the water table to rise again, Milar said.

In August, 1971, the canal company by resolution dropped all rights to the drain lines within Twin Falls.

The city manager said that although residents have complained to the city and other governmental agencies about trouble caused by the high water level, little if any action was taken by them to clear out the lines or protect properties.

Milar said the city will work "long enough either to solve the problem or find that we can't handle it because our equipment is inadequate."

If the city can't handle the job, he said, it will be up to the canal company to follow another route for a solution.

Mine bills out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two bills designed to stabilize Idaho's lead and zinc industries have been introduced in Congress by Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho.

McClure said Wednesday that he has joined House Interior Committee Chairman Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., in proposing a one-year duty suspension on zinc concentrates. The second measure calls for setting a ceiling on the importation of lead and zinc products.

"Foreign producers are pulling ahead because governmental politics provide them with advantages that are not available to American industries," McClure said.

"And as far as Idaho is concerned," he added, "directly and indirectly, about 10,000 jobs depend on our state's lead and zinc mines, smelters and refineries."

Secrecy shrouds Saigon sessions

But the White House has cautioned against expecting too much from the visit and press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said in Washington the official purpose of the trip was "for a general review of all aspects of the Vietnam problem, including the negotiations in Paris."

The presidential adviser, in his first visit to Saigon since July 4, 1971, spent nearly three hours earlier today conferring with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. commander Gen. Frederick C. Weyand and 7th Air Force commander Gen. John W. Vogt.

Kissinger told a pool of reporters they conducted a "general and political review of the situation" during the lunchtime meeting.

South Vietnamese government sources said Thieu and Kissinger originally had been scheduled to have lunch together at the Presidential Palace, followed by the talks. However, the sources said Thieu was "too busy to make the luncheon and the meeting was postponed by mutual agreement at the suggestion of Thieu's staff."

When Kissinger and Thieu met at the palace at 4:30 p.m. they shook hands, smiled and posed for news photographers. Thieu and Kissinger then went into a private meeting with Bunker, Thieu's foreign affairs assistant Nguyen Phu Duc and press secretary Hoang Duc Nha, the president's nephew.

—Turned down a proposal by 14 Republican governors directing states to make a "good faith effort" to insure that delegations to future conventions reflect the makeup of their states' populations.

AMC stands firm on bid

DETROIT (UPI)—American Motors Corp. is standing firm against Nixon administration pressure to back off its request to increase prices of 1973 cars by an average $78 to cover government-required safety and emission control equipment.

AMC President William V. Luneburg answered Wednesday a government request for a rollback by saying, "We have previously advised the Price Commission that we are prepared to defer implementing the economic cost portion of our 1973 request but we cannot withdraw the request for the federally mandated product changes."

The refusal, in a telegram to Cost of Living Council Director Donald Rumsfeld, followed a charge by Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler Corp. chairman, that the Nixon administration had unfairly singled out the auto industry in an "arbitrary and discriminatory" action.

"First we are ordered by our government to incur substantial costs in order to provide added safety and emission control items," Townsend said. "Then, having been told that we must provide these items, we are told we should not recover the cost of providing them."

Townsend, however, did not say whether Chrysler would back down on its request to raise prices by an average $110.

Spokesmen at Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. refused to comment.

The Big Four have requested permission to raise 1973 model car and truck prices by between $85 and $146 to cover cost of safety and emission control and optional equipment which becomes standard. AMC and Chrysler also asked for an "economic cost" increase to cover added labor and material costs.

AMC said its request to raise prices by an average of $146, included $78 for safety and emission requirements and $68 for "economic" costs.

"Although we will continue to review our competitive position, we believe our responsibility to shareholders, employees, dealers and suppliers requires that we not voluntarily subject the company to this reduction of revenues," the telegram concluded.

The Price Commission announced Aug. 4 it was suspending the requested increases for further study. After meeting with auto executives this week, Rumsfeld asked them to reconsider their requests and answer by the end of the week.

If the automakers refuse to back off, the commission is expected to hold hearings to force the firms into publicly justifying the increases.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has filed suit in Washington seeking to force the Price Commission to hold such hearings before approving any increase which could substantially affect the public interest.

Nader appeared at a Washington news conference Wednesday with United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock to renew that call.

Nixon veto aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats are prepared to make a major election year issue of President Nixon's veto of a $30.5 billion health, education and labor bill.

The bill exceeded Nixon's budget request by $1.76 billion, and he vetoed it Wednesday. From his Camp David retreat in Maryland, the President issued a statement saying the bill was "a perfect example of the kind of reckless federal spending that just cannot be done without more taxes or more inflation."

An effort to override the veto occurred in the House within hours after Nixon announced his decision. The try fell 47 votes shy of the two-thirds required, 203-171.

Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., launched an attack on Nixon's action before the attempt to override was made.

"This is another example of the 'low' priority that the administration places on action designed to upgrade the health, education and welfare of all Americans," Albert said.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., Senate floor manager of the bill agreed with Albert.

"We all know that Mr. Nixon's budget is out of balance," Magnuson said. "But we must ask why it is out of balance. Is it because we in the Congress added money to his woefully inadequate requests for training doctors and aid to emotionally disturbed children? Or is it out of balance to pay for a policy of aid for big business and bombs to kill Southeast Asians?"

The veto message contained the strongest language Nixon has used in addressing the Congress since he took office. When it was read to the House, Republican members applauded.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., chairman of the House subcommittee that drafted the bill, said action would begin on a new bill after Congress returns from a two-week recess that starts Friday.

No cut to U.S. troops, NATO asks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Armed Services subcommittee which has been studying the NATO commitment recommended today against any cuts in the U.S. troop strength in Europe.

Small "cosmetic" reductions amounting to 10,000 or 20,000 troops might "appease political sentiment in the United States, but...might weaken the alliance out of proportion to the number of men withdrawn and the savings, if any, would be extremely modest."

The subcommittee held a series of hearings with military and diplomatic witnesses early this year, and recommended in its formal report to the full committee Wednesday that establishment of a NATO common fund would relieve the United States of balance of payments costs without weakening the military capability of the alliance. Under terms of the fund, nations with a balance-of-payments deficit as a result of their NATO deployments would draw from the fund to make up the deficit.

Antibus forces claim House win

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Antibus forces claimed they had the votes to win House approval today of President Nixon's bill to make court ordered busing a last resort in school desegregation.

Some busing advocates gloomily agreed with the claim.

The measure would set guidelines for courts to follow in ordering desegregation with busing as a last resort. In any event, pupils in the sixth grade and below could not be bused past their second nearest school, a provision aimed at halting cross-town busing of youngsters.

The bill would also earmark half of the $1 billion a year, already authorized in law to help schools pay the costs of desegregation, for use in improving educational offerings in "interior" schools.

A key provision of the Nixon bill, knocked out on a 19-16 vote by the House Education and Labor Committee, is expected to be reinstated on the floor. It would permit schools to go to court to have desegregation orders, no matter how old or whether they involved busing, reopened and ordered to conform to the new guidelines.

Strike to end

LONDON (UPI) — Striking longshoremen rebuffed an angry group of militant dockers today and decided to go back to work Monday.

Mass meetings of strikers at seven ports, including London, voted overwhelmingly to go along with the decision by their national union delegates to end the nationwide strike, now in its 21st day.

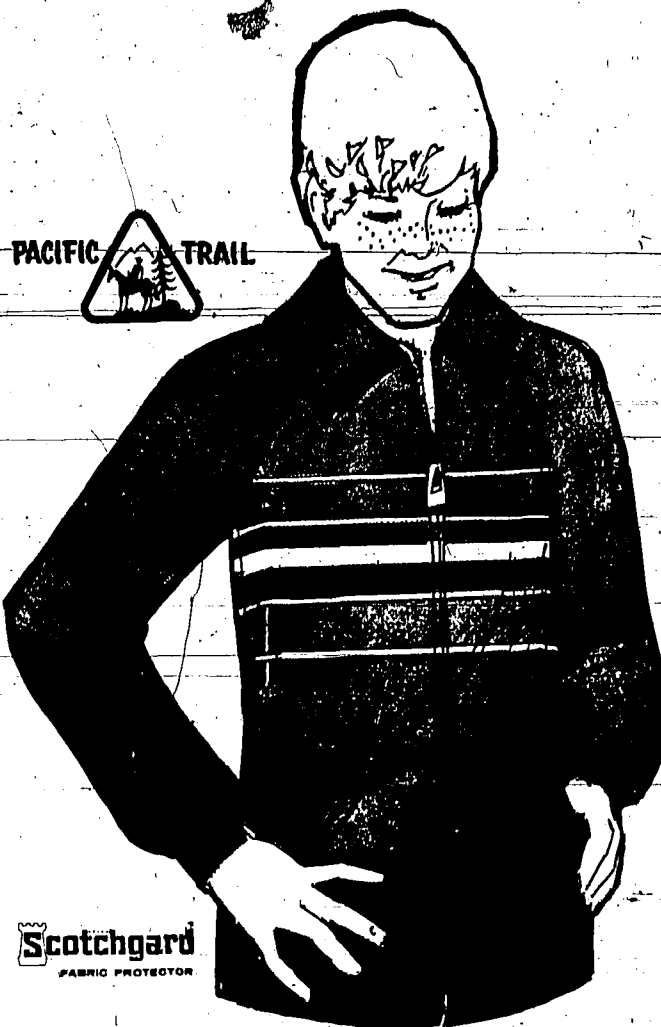

Militants who punched, abused and insulted their union leaders Wednesday urged the men to continue the strike until every demand was met. Union leaders said they expected the militants to succeed in this plea in some ports, particularly the north.

But dock workers in London's Tilbury docks voted four to one to go back Monday. Longshoremen in Felixstowe voted to return to work, then did so immediately. Another port decided to resume work Friday.

The decision to end the strike came Wednesday. It was greeted by violence and abuse.

Lodge denies opportunity there in '69

BOSTON (UPI)—Henry Cabot Lodge said Tuesday there was no "golden opportunity" in the 1969 Paris peace talks because North Vietnam never budged from its stand demanding the United States unilaterally withdraw from South Vietnam and depose the Saigon regime.

Lodge, the U.S. negotiator in Paris starting in 1969, said Sargent Shriver, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, never mentioned that there was such an opportunity until last week.

"I was in touch with Shriver during the period after I went to Paris, and there was no talk of a change in the North Vietnam position," Lodge said in a telephone interview from his Beverly, Mass., home.

"I don't understand why the people in power in 1968, if they had such information, waited until 1972 to tell us about it," Lodge said that in "a little more than a year that I was in Paris, there were perhaps five or six secret negotiations."

But he said no breakthrough of the type described by Shriver appeared in prospect, on the basis of his consultations with the White House and State Department.

Shriver, former ambassador to France, said President Nixon missed "a golden opportunity" for fruitful negotiations after he took office in January, 1969, letting it elude him by giving South Vietnam President Thieu virtual veto power over the U.S. position.

When he arrived in Paris, Lodge said, the enemy established these conditions as necessary to end the conflict: "The United States would have to withdraw unilaterally from South Vietnam."

"The United States would have to overthrow the government and put a Communist government in power."

The North Vietnamese negotiators, he said, never changed these positions during the time he was in Paris.

Lodge said he did not believe the withdrawal of Vietnamese troops north of the Demilitarized Zone in October, 1968, could be interpreted as any kind of signal.

"There was nothing, he insisted, that indicated the North Vietnamese at any time changed their position from the intelligence provided during the transition of governments after the 1968 elections."

In 1969, the U.S. government was "grasping at straws" looking for any possible avenue to extricate the nation from the Vietnam War, Lodge said. Any indication there was such a

Johnson endorses McGovern

STONEWALL, Tex. (UPI)—Despite having "widely differing opinions on many matters," former President Lyndon B. Johnson Wednesday endorsed fellow Democrat George S. McGovern for president.

In a statement issued to an old friend who is editor of a weekly newspaper, Johnson said he will vote for McGovern because "I believe the Democratic party best serves the needs of the people."

Johnson's endorsement of the South Dakota senator put him in direct conflict with his old friend and political ally, John B. Connally, who has repudiated McGovern and heads a group of Democrats supporting the re-election campaign of Republican President Nixon.

Connally, former governor of Texas and Navy secretary under President John F. Kennedy, resigned earlier this year as treasury secretary. He was the only Democrat in Nixon's cabinet.

The statement by Johnson, 63, who is recuperating from a heart ailment suffered three weeks ago, came just six days before he is scheduled to play host to McGovern at the I.B.J. Ranch.

"It is no secret that Sen. McGovern and I have widely differing opinions on many matters, especially foreign policy," Johnson said. "Sen. McGovern has not refrained from criticizing policies of mine with which he disagrees."

Nixon signs flood aid bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon signed a bill today granting $5,000 and low-cost loans to victims of the flooding caused this summer by tropical storm Agnes and the heavy rains in the Black Hills.

The act, Nixon said, "is evidence that when the country is faced with a serious disaster, the government can respond quickly and effectively."

It is the key measure in the $1.8 billion program Nixon announced July 12 to provide unprecedented relief to flood victims in Rapid City, S. D., and the six states hardest hit by Agnes—Florida, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, New York and Maryland. It was passed by the House Monday.

The measure provides federal funds to repair homes and small businesses repayable over 35 years at 1 per cent interest with the first $5,000 of the loan forgiven, making this amount, in effect, a grant. It also reduces interest on similar disaster loans during calendar 1971 from 8 1/2 per cent to 3 per cent.

The White House has estimated that more than 128,000 homeowners and small businessmen will benefit from the measure, an unprecedented disaster relief effort.

"The stamina, courage and spirit of the disaster victims evidenced throughout the stricken areas have earned them nothing less than this unprecedented response," Nixon said.

Harriman says chance for peace was there

YORKTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—W. Averell Harriman says when he left the Paris peace talks in 1969 he handed the President, Nixon, a chance for successful peace negotiations "on a silver platter" but Nixon allowed South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu to scuttle it.

Harriman, President Lyndon Johnson's chief delegate to the talks, said Nixon gave Thieu virtual veto over American positions in the talks in order to maintain a government in South Vietnam beholden to the United States.

During a luncheon interview at his country estate, Harriman said that by January, 1969, "all the procedural questions were settled which we thought made it possible to begin really serious negotiations."

"Unfortunately they never took place. President Thieu, I believe, consciously scuttled the negotiations," Harriman said.

Harriman said the North Vietnamese had signalled—both by withdrawing nearly 90 per cent of their troops from the northern two provinces of South Vietnam and by "words" at secret talks in the fall of 1968—that they were prepared to begin serious negotiations.

The 80-year-old diplomat and former New York governor said it was this opportunity to which he and Cyrus Vance, his deputy in the talks, referred in their joint statement Saturday supporting Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver's statement that Nixon "blew" a chance for peace in 1969.

By the fall of 1968, Harriman said, he and Vance had overcome the most difficult obstacles—getting the North Vietnamese to begin negotiations and to accept the presence of South Vietnamese representatives.

Starting in October, 1968, Harriman said, there were several indications that fruitful negotiations could begin. Principal among them was the North Vietnamese withdrawal of "22 regiments out of 25" from the northern two provinces of South Vietnam.

More than half the North Vietnamese troops were withdrawn above the 20th parallel—the northern limit of U.S. bombing and about 200 miles north of South Vietnam—Harriman said.

"We interpreted (this) to be an indication that they were ready to take seriously our desire to have the DMZ (Demilitarized Zone separating the two Vietnams) re-established and to end the fighting in that area," he said.

What was more, Harriman said, "We had our discussions, we had our understandings which made it possible for President Johnson to stop the bombing. We had many private talks, none of which have been discussed publicly and I don't intend to do it now."

The beginning of formal talks was delayed at least two months—from October, 1968 until about two days before

Nixon's inauguration—first by Thieu's refusal to participate, then by the issue of the shape of the table.

On January 29, 1969, Thieu stated he would "refuse to engage in secret talks with the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong). He changed his mind and agreed to such talks two months later, but Harriman said it was by then too late; the Communists would no longer talk to Thieu.

In March of 1969, Harriman said, Thieu "made a public statement...that under no circumstances would he ever agree to change the constitution to let the Communist party operate in South Vietnam nor would he ever agree to any coalition government."

"But as those two points were the essence of any agreement, that ended the other side's willingness to talk to him....From then on, the other side has refused to negotiate with President Thieu as they do today," he said.

"The opportunity for negotiations started almost the day that President Nixon took office and that opportunity was lost because the administration didn't pursue negotiations in private and President Thieu refused to negotiate in private."

"There have been many opportunities since—and I believe there is still an opportunity, but I believe we had the best opportunity at that time because we had 500,000 troops in the country at that time."

Kimberly man hurt in wreck

KIMBERLY — A Kimberly man is in fair condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today with injuries received in a two-car accident Tuesday at Red Cap Corner.

Idaho State Police said Charles Wathier, 78; Kimberly, was north-bound out of Kimberly and pulled from a stop sign into the path of a car driven west on Kimberly Road by Wayne Anderson, 18 Rupert.

Officer Everett Waddell said the Wathier vehicle was struck broad-side on the passenger side.

Anderson was unhurt except for bruises. Wathier suffered fractures and lacerations.

Waddell said the large stop sign at the island on Kimberly Road was knocked down in the 2 p.m. accident.

Both men were alone in their cars and both were wearing seat belts.

Overture denied

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern Wednesday flatly denied that he had sent word to North Vietnamese negotiators to negotiate a settlement of the Indochina War with the Nixon administration rather than wait until the presidential election.

"I certainly did not," he said when asked about a report from Paris that he had sent the message to Communist negotiators there through Pierre Salinger, a former White House aide.

"I know nothing about any such report. There's no truth in it at all," the South Dakota Democratic presidential candidate said.

McGovern said "it may be" that Salinger did meet with North Vietnamese officials, but he said he had given him "no instructions whatsoever."

Two charged in Twin Falls wreck

TWIN FALLS — Two persons were cited and one injured Tuesday in a two vehicle accident in a Twin Falls residential district.

The accident occurred when Dorothy Nagel, 56, Twin Falls, was traveling west on Caswell Avenue West and struck a cement truck parked at 194 Caswell Ave. West.

According to Twin Falls Police, Mrs. Nagel's attention was distracted when she hit the truck which was apparently improperly parked north and south across the roadway. Bill J. Oliver, Colonial Concrete, Inc., Twin Falls, was cited for improper parking and Mrs. Nagel was cited for inattentive driving.

Estimated damages to the Nagel car were $900 and $600 to the cement truck.

Mrs. Nagel was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment and was released.

Finance committee okays revenue sharing measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee gave its final approval Wednesday to President Nixon's revenue-sharing proposal that would distribute nearly $35 billion over the next five years to the states and 39,000 municipalities.

The bill was sent to the Senate floor on a 124 vote, but its enactment was not expected until Congress' return after Labor Day from the recess it starts Friday. The House has approved a similar measure.

Approval, however, seemed assured, after three years of prodding from Nixon and virtually every governor, mayor and county official in the country. Nixon called it the keystone of his domestic policy.

Charles E. Walker, deputy Treasury secretary, said he would report to Nixon that "honestly I think it's a better bill" than he originally proposed in August, 1969.

He said the bill's features making a state's relative poverty a factor in determining how much money it would receive improved the bill over Nixon's draft.

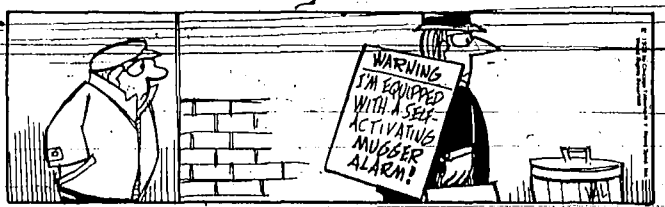

When Senate debate opens, a floor fight is anticipated over an attempt to assure congressional oversight on how the money is spent. This would be done by requiring annual appropriations of revenue sharing funds rather than appropriating $34.8 billion over five years, retroactive to last Jan. 1.

The House passed a similar bill in June after defeating a call for annual appropriations. Its bill appropriates $29.8 billion for five years.

The Senate committee tacked on an extra $1 billion a year to fund state programs of "social services" to present, past and potential welfare clients.

But that amount actually represents a cutback—a $1 billion ceiling on a program that cost the federal government $1.7 billion in the last fiscal year and could have cost over $4 billion this year as state officials learned to master an obscure law making the funds available for a wide variety of purposes.

GF drug survey results given

GLENN'S FERRY — The results of a school survey taken earlier in the year are announced by the Glenn's Ferry Jay-C-Ettes.

The Glenn's Ferry Jaycees assisted the Jay-C-Ettes in compiling the survey on the use of illegal drugs in the Glenn's Ferry schools.

Of 360 survey sheets answered, 26 (21 per cent) admitted to having at least tried some illegal drug. Of those, 10 claimed to be regular users, 37 frequent users and 49 experimenters. More had tried the drugs more out of curiosity than for any other reason.

Those illegal drugs listed most frequently in all categories were marijuana, 65 users; hashish, 37; meacaline,

This season the show has added—acrobatics—to the program along with famed Austrian foot juggler, Sir Chester Cable, and western Star, Dan Themis.

Also on the bill will be Neena, the baby elephant and 10 big name circus acts including Princess Awoni on her swinging trapeze. Clown Alley will be headed by TV's versatile Eddie Spaghetti.

A Lovelier You

ETIQUETTE FOR HANDS

By Mary Sue Miller

"Don't talk with your hands" was a lesson once taught to young ladies at home, dancing class and school. Girls were admonished to keep their hands folded in their laps or on the desk.

If a girl were to follow that advice today she, would seem a stiff, shy child. Yet it would be better to teach your hands in right ways than to let them fidget with your hair or jewelry. Fidgeters really show a childish lack of poise and drive other people crazy.

There is a vast gulf between fidgets and meaningful gestures. Punctuating a remark with a movement of the hand appears natural and charming. But do be sparing of such gestures. Wildly flapping hands divert attention from your ideas. They catch the eye, not the ear.

But, whether or not your hands are in motion, they speak for you. They have a sign language all their own. When they are well-groomed they tell nice things about you. When they are grubby they tattle of unattractive qualities.

For happy rapping, hands need to be sudsed clean and lotioned smooth. Nails should be filed in neat ovals, cuticles should be tidy, and polish if used should be perfection. Do keep on the alert for aids to see-worthy hands. Like what? Like so — soap with a pH factor, moisturized lotion, gauzy brush-on nail strengtheners.

Given just that much attention the hands respond with the kind of looks that win "ahs" of admiration. No "ughs."

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for LOVELIER HANDS, a leaflet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish-chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

wood to check on aces and kings and finally went to seven spades on the theory that one of his partner's kings just had to be in spades and it didn't really matter where the other two showed up.

South won the spade lead in his own hand and quickly counted 12 top tricks. The 13th would come if he could just ruff a heart in his hand or a diamond in dummy. He was looking at a total of just five hearts as against six diamonds so at trick two he led a heart to dummy's ace; then he ruffed a heart high and drew trumps. The 4-1 break did not bother him since he had started with five top trumps in the combined hands.

Then he spread his hand to claim the balance.

Nudity at home?
Just pull shades

DEAR NEW: I'm with you. But do put an apron on when you're frying bacon. And watch the wringer.

DEAR ABBY: How-when, I just read the following sentence in one of your columns: "You will always be your mother's daughter regardless of whom your father's wife is."

Abby, you could not possibly have committed so horrendous a grammatical crime, so it must have been your secretary, a proofreader or printer. Regardless of "whom" it is, call the Kulp on the Karpel and Kartigate him, her or it Katergally.

TONY THE STICKLER IN CANOGA PARK, CAL.

DEAR TONY: I'll take my lumps when I goof, but this time I'm not guilty. The word was correctly "who" in the copies sent to all the newspapers carrying my column. For some reason, ONE newspaper (with a circulation of almost a million) changed my "who" to "whom." (Oh, would that they had changed my "whom" to "who" when recently I erroneously wrote, "Whom shall I say is calling?")

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been an invalid for 10 years. I have been willing to take him on trips for vacations twice a year, but he refuses to go because he would have to go in a wheelchair, and this he refuses to do.

Do you think I should give up all future vacations which include travel? I have opportunities to go with tour groups thru my husband's business associations. No hanky panky. Just a change of scenery, which I would so love.

My husband would have good loving care from our children, and they think I should go. I'd never be gone for more than 10 days. Should I go or not?

CABIN FEVER IN ILLINOIS

DEAR FEVER: How does your husband feel about it? If he wants you to go, then go. If he doesn't, then it would be selfish of him, stay home. You wouldn't have a good time if you went and took a nagging conscience with you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL WHO WROTE OFFERING TO GIVE ANNIE A HOME: Rest assured, that 12-year-old orphan who was being abused in a foster home is now with a family who loves her and are taking good care of her. I was overwhelmed by the number of readers who wrote and offered to give Annie a home. God bless you. People ARE wonderful!

TWIN FALLS — Dobra Gemette and Richard G. Borah were married in a private ceremony July 28 at the Carillon, Twin Falls.

A reception was held after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white over a pale blue skirt scalloped with satin. It was centered with the wedding cake iced in white and decorated with blue flowers. It was topped with two white cherubs beneath an arch. The cake was flanked by a bouquet of daisy pompons and blue baby's breath.

Guests were seated at quartet tables decorated with white baskets filled with white and blue daisy pompons.

Mrs. Robert Messner, cousin of the bride, served punch and Mrs. Eugene Messner, cousin of the bride, served coffee. Mrs. Leroy Messner, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake.

Assigned to ship

LT. (jg) Ann E. Kerr of the United States Navy has a warm reception from Lt. Cmdr. Don Hunter, left, while Lt. Cmdr. Jim Ferguson pins on one of Navy ribbons after a press conference in Lakehurst, N.J., where it was announced she will become the first female line officer on an American ship. (UPI)

1st woman assigned to ship's crew will serve as personnel officer

LAKEHURST, N.J. (UPI)—The first woman to be assigned to a ship's crew in the U.S. Navy says that drafting women may be a logical outcome of the move for women's liberation.

"If women want equality," LT. (jg) Ann E. Kerr said Tuesday, "I think they should be prepared to be drafted."

The 26-year-old lieutenant has been assigned to the Lakehurst Naval Air Station pending her departure in October to the hospital ship USS Sanctuary where she will serve as a personnel officer.

At an news conference LT. Kerr said "women's lib" really is a misnomer for the phrase, "women equalization." "I don't feel as if I am enslaved," she said, "I think that's a state of mind."

She said she can foresee no unusual problems because of her new assignment and stressed that she was acting as a professional and isn't out to catch a husband as some have inferred. She said she has lived in bachelor officers quarters at Lakehurst where men also live without running into any special problems.

LT. Kerr said she originally intended to become a teacher, but found the field flooded when she graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. She said she decided the military would be a challenging career and now says the experience has broadened her life.

She said she was surprised she was selected for the distinctive assignment.

KH Grange welcomes four new members

KING HILL. — Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Whitehead and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hampton were accepted as new members of the King Hill Grange Tuesday evening.

A letter from the state master, Dan Robinson, was read about holding a school of instruction for Elmore County Grangers at the King Hill Grange Hall on Sept. 12. Mrs. Horace Tape, women's activities chairman, reported on the Grange Subordinate picnic and on the dinner booth at the Elmore County Fair.

Mrs. John Davis reported on the produce booth which received the grand championship ribbon. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones and Mrs. Joel Young were members of the booth committee.

The Grangers received an invitation to attend the 50th anniversary program at the Bliss Grange. The members voted to donate $5 to the Cancer Fund, $5 to the National Deaf Foundation and $10 to the Gopher Knoll 4-H Club, which is sponsored by the King Hill Grange.

Members discussed selling the boiler in the old cannery building. During the lecture hour, Mrs. T. M. Timbers promoted ideas for improving the fair, particularly the dinner booth.

Mrs. Jones reminded the members that a Ball fruit jar must have a ball lid in canning competition at the fair and a Kerr jar a Kerr lid.

Cards were signed for members who were ill. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer served refreshments.

Bathrooms for shuttles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Space shuttle passengers will find at least one reassuringly earthlike fixture in their craft—a bathroom.

The Space Agency foresees bathrooms that will be about the same as on present-day jetliners and has let a $238,000 contract to Hamilton-Standard Division of United Aircraft Corp. Windsor Locks, Conn., to build and test a prototype of the space commode.

Space engineers discussed the space bathroom Tuesday at the annual Environmental Control and Life Support System Conference here.

Blaine commissioners push for gravel pit solution

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer
HAILEY — Blaine County commissioners pushed for a solution Wednesday to a year-long dispute over the Gordon Paving Co. gravel pit south of Bellevue.

In a unanimous action, the commissioners voted to require Gordon Paving to dust-coat an access road before resuming operations. The gravel pit is located four miles south of Bellevue.

Commissioner Jack Bennett said the move was an effort to reach a "fair and equitable" solution to the problem and did not constitute a rescinding of planning and zoning appeals board stipulations placed on the company.

The decision on the road way was "left essentially to the commissioners," Bennett said. The appeals board's ruling stated that before quarry operations commence, the road "shall be hard surfaced in conformity with Blaine County specifications for road surfacing."

Wednesday's action stemmed from a request by Larry Hansen, part-owner of Gordon Paving Co., for a clarification of the type of road preparation needed.

At the commissioners' request, a 16-foot wide strip of the road will be dust-covered along a one-half mile stretch between U. S. Highway 93 and the gravel pit entrance. Hansen said company use of the road will be limited to three "belly-dump" vehicles. He said he was uncertain when operations will resume at the pit.

Conflict over the gravel pit began June 10, 1971, when Gordon Paving's request for a conditional use permit to operate the gravel pit was denied by the county planning and zoning commission.

However, the plant was operated from June to August. The commission's decision was reversed in October by the planning and zoning appeals board, which set up specific stipulations on the issuance of a permit which allows excavation, crushing and stockpiling of aggregate gravel.

In April, trucks began hauling stockpiled gravel over the unimproved roadway. At that time, Blaine County Planning and Zoning Administrator David Vhay notified the paving company that it was in violation of the appeals board ruling, and hauling was curtailed.

During a later hearing before the county commissioners, attorney James L. Kennedy Jr., who represented Gordon Paving, termed roadway surfacing provisions "obviously a stringent and onerous requirement."

But he recommended that the appeals board ruling be used as a precedent so that "competitors be required to meet the same high standards."

Fairs open in Valley counties

Fairs are underway today at opposite ends of Magic Valley: The three-day Blaine County Fair started today at Carey with 4-H and FFA judging and the Cassia County Fair and Rodeo opened at Burley Wednesday night with a country-western jamboree attended by about 7,000.

Featured artist of the opening event at Burley was Ray Price, 1971 Grammy Award winner. Others on the program were Sheb Wooley and his alter ego, Ben Colder, Barbara Fairchild and Dave Dudley and his Road Runners. The Groves Orchestra from Salt Lake City provided the backup music for Ray Price.

The program was sponsored by the Burley Exchange Club, with proceeds to be used for a community service project.

The fair parade was at 10 a.m. today, with all entries judged en route. Three $50 cash prizes were given and each entry received an 8 by 10-inch colored photograph. Parimutuel horse racing began today at 1 p.m. and goes through Saturday, and the rodeo opens at 8 p.m. today featuring Kids Night.

The new rodeo queen will be crowned Saturday night at the rodeo by the reigning queen, Mary Ellen VanKomen, Bridge.

The grand champion livestock round robin contest is set for 3 p.m. Friday in the Little Arena and starting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday will be the annual 4-H and FFA fat stock sale in the Little Arena.

Sen. Robert Saxvik will dedicate the Cassia County Historical Society Museum at noon Saturday.

The highlight of the annual Blaine County event will be a meat animal sale at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The sale will feature 11 beef and 30 lamb projects — all raised from Blaine County FFA and 4-H herds.

At 8 p.m. Saturday, the annual rodeo will be conducted, using livestock from local farms and ranches.

Today's agenda included judging of 4-H and FFA projects, excluding livestock, and judging of open class entries.

The following events will be conducted: Friday — at the fairgrounds: livestock quality judging, including dairy, beef, sheep and swine judging at 9 a.m.; horse quality — fitting and showing, 9 a.m., and the home economics judging contest, 3 p.m.

A junior jamboree, open to all 4-H and organized junior riding clubs has been set for 8:30 p.m. Friday at the rodeo arena.

Saturday the slate of events includes: 4-H horse performance, 9 a.m.; rodeo arena, and open class livestock, entry and show, 10:30 a.m. fairgrounds. At 11:30 a.m., the 4-H Leaders' Council will host a luncheon for fair participants and buyers.

SHEB WOOLEY, left, playing the part of Ben Colder during the country-western jamboree in Burley Wednesday night, brought the crowd of 7,000 to their feet in a standing ovation. The event marked the opening of the Cassia County Fair and Rodeo.

BLM advisers meet at Burley

By LePAGE LAYTON
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Members of the Idaho Bureau of Land Management Advisory Board heard a plea Wednesday for controls on overgrazing.

A. L. (Gus) Hormay, BLM range conservationist from Berkeley, Calif., told the board "Any grazing area must from time to time be rested. He said a good rotation could call for leaving range ungrazed two years out of a six-year period."

Hormay said stockmen should "get water for livestock on all sections of the area so range close to water will not be overgrazed while areas with no water will not be touched."

Long range plans must be made. To achieve good progress in grazing calls for cooperation between stockmen, game and wildlife management and BLM is a must, Hormay said.

Hormay showed color slides of overgrazed areas in the Pleasant View grazing district, west of Malad City, which were almost useless in 1966. After fencing and developing water sources under a management program slides were taken this summer and shown of the same areas. It was nearly unbelievable the difference then and now.

Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls, chairman of the advisory board, welcomed the 50 persons in attendance and extended an invitation for all these interested in taking the tour.

William (Bill) Matthews BLM state director, Boise, introduced all the board members from the various districts. Burton Silcock, national director of the BLM, Washington, D. C., addressed the group by telephone from Washington, with an intercom system used in the meeting room.

He discussed proposed legislation concerning BLM.

Lincoln gave a report on the National Advisory Board Council held last month in Washington D. C.

Matthews reported on fire rehabilitation which is costing much money, but is satisfactory and is paying off in grazing and wildlife matters.

John Kilgough, chief of resources, Boise, stressed a zoning of BLM land as to elevation, nature of soil, rainfall, and other topics. This type of information would be of great benefit if and when an area burns. The BLM personnel would know immediately what kind of grass and browse should be planted back to fit the habitat of the area.

Following lunch the group toured the grazing areas in Raft River, Sublett and Black Pine. The group stayed all night at Malad City. Today they were to view Pleasant View district, Abbon Valley and American Falls and return to Burley.

Blaine canvass reveals changes

HAILEY — Canvassing of Blaine County primary ballots Wednesday produced only minor changes from the unofficial count.

Write-in votes may create contests for two previously unopposed positions.

Receiving the most write ins, enabling placement on the November ballot, were Dr. Robert Gwinner, who led both Democratic and Republican write ins for coroner, and Ketchum attorney E. Lee Schlender, who led Democratic write ins for prosecuting attorney.

However, according to Blaine County Clerk, Marie Ivie, both must file with her office by Friday to gain a place on the ballot.

Present coroner, Dr. Gwinner, who declined in June to refile for the office, received 44 Democratic and 29 Republican write ins. Second was Dr. Edward M. Tappor, who earned 14 Republican and 8 Democratic write ins.

In the prosecutor's race against incumbent Stephen W. Boller, who gained the Republican nomination, Schlender drew 10 write in votes.

Only several one vote changes were recorded in the final canvassing over the unofficial count. In county contests in the Republican party the following results were finalized: second district county commissioner, Russ L. Hohn, 331; Robert W. Ratfio, 328; prosecuting attorney, Stephen W. Boller, 730; sheriff, Donnie L. Haynes, 712 and Ivan H. Swanner, 210.

In Democratic contests results included: first district county commissioner, Ray Sweet, 791; second district county commissioner, C. W. (Andy) Gardner, 704 write ins, and Gary J. Hibbard, 280; county clerk, Marie Ivie, 626, and sheriff, Orville E. Drexler, 663.

In other Republican contests the following votes were recorded: U.S. Senator, Glen Wegner, 342; George Hansen, 261; James McClure, 231 and Robert Smylie, 174; U. S. representative, Orval Hansen, 890; district 21 state senator, John Peavey, 847; district 21 state representative, Steve Antone, 406 and E. V. McCann, 722.

In Democratic races results were: U.S. senator, Anthony Park, 362; William (Bud) Davis, 230; Rose Bowman, 184 and Byron Johnson, 163; U. S. representative, Willis Tadlow, 686; District 21 state senator, W. F. (Bill) Whitton, 693 and district 21 representative, Robert Guffy, 734.

Jerome advised to plan growth

JEROME — Jerome should not plan orderly growth in connection with its industrial development, chamber of commerce members were told Wednesday.

Herb Schuler Sarasota, Fla., described the growth of that community from about 5,000 persons in 1950 to more than 150,000 today.

He said that in 1962, an industrial development council was set up to help plan the orderly growth of the community. Schuler said an area such as Jerome should have a pool of resources including public utilities and finances to assist with planning for growth.

Schuler, the son-in-law of Jerome School Supt. John Campbell, was involved in industrial development work for several years.

'Living with Dying' seminar held in T.F.

By IRENE PETERS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — About 40 people met here today to learn how to teach people to live with the ordeal of death.

The seminar on "Living with Dying" held the session for interested individuals at the Twin Falls Presbyterian Church.

Wednesday night a similar meeting was held at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for area doctors.

The program was presented by two representatives of the Mountain States Tumor Institute at Boise. Dr. Ronald Koons, chief, department of radiotherapy, and Shirley Koons, RN, nursing coordinator at the institute.

A film was presented, showing a series of interviews with eight persons who were terminal cancer patients.

In the film, photographed at the Tumor Institute, Dr. Koons said the goals of the tumor institute were "most concerned with the quality of survival," maximizing happiness and productivity during the final period of a dying person's life.

A typical filmed interview was with a 38-year-old father of five children dying with lung cancer.

The victim said "I seem to know what life is about now, where I don't think I did as a regular human being."

The victim said when the doctor first told him he had cancer he asked himself, "What are you going to do about it? You can either lay here and die or you can get up on your two feet and go."

He said he chose the second course, and "I've never regretted it."

After the film, questioners asked whether the film's cases were typical.

Dr. Koons said "These are the people who spoke out most easily. I think most people can and most people do develop this attitude."

"LIVING WITH DYING" was discussed Wednesday night by three members of the Mountain States Tumor Institute. John J. Dawson, (left), patient counselor at MSTI; Shirley Koons, R. N. # Jerome tax levy up 20 per cent

JEROME — A 1972 tax levy amounting to $159,641 — up 20 per cent from 1971 — has been approved by the Jerome City Council.

The 1971 levy yielded $133,012. The Council Tuesday evening instructed Mrs. Bruce Bragg, city clerk to certify the levy and submit it to county officials. She said the levy is based on last year's valuation.

It includes $87,500, ($70,000) general fund, $3,000 (nothing) fire department special fund; $47,003, ($43,404) street department; $12,860 ($11,001) library, and $8,318, ($7,701) parks. Last year's figures are in parentheses. A petition from nine residents in the southeast area of Jerome was presented, voicing opposition to the proposed annexation of four acres of property recently purchased by the LDS Church for new church construction. The property is east of town between East Avenue B and East Avenue D.

The petition set down several allegations why the annexation should not be allowed: That it would not be in the best interest of Jerome, the church would cause an unsafe traffic condition in a residential area, and the city "would lose" revenue from tax-exempt property.

In a related matter, Mrs. Bragg read a report from the zoning commission which met Monday night to consider annexation of the property. The commission recommended that the city approve the annexation upon receiving confirmation from the church that it would allow a 60-foot easement for the possible future extension of East Avenue C, which the church originally had requested be closed.

City attorney Richard Sealey pointed out that the council could not act on the matter until the zoning commission held a public hearing on the rezoning of the area.

Joe Haines, representing the Nann Subdivision, asked the council to approve laying of a new 'type of roadway' for the Hillcrest Subdivision.

Haines said the new type of roadbed, only four and a half inches deep, has proved to be as good as the customary 12-inch roadbed presently being used. He said the cost of the new roadbed is much less than the standard one and can be done in a shorter period of time.

The council gave approval to the project with the stipulation that the city be given a one-year maintenance guarantee on the road.

A preliminary plat for the addition of 24 new units at Heritage Homes was tabled by the council for future discussion.

Also tabled was the changing of the Green River Ordinance which was requested at the last regular council meeting.

The council approved a request from the senior citizens organization at Heritage Homes to provide downtown parking space for their bus.

The council gave permission for the bus to park in the police parking area at the corner of South Lincoln and East Main.

The council approved a request from Raymond Ackley to form a taxi service in Jerome. After hearing a report from Chief of Police Howard DuBois that Ackley has met all of the requirements for running the service, the council approved Ackley's permit.

A letter from Robert M. Hartwood, attorney, was read to the council. In the letter Hartwood advised they council to inform the city's liability insurance holder of possible legal action against the city by Mr. and Mrs. Luis Madrid.

The letter stated the city of Jerome may bear some of the responsibility in the drowning death of Jason Bruce Madrid, 17-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Madrid.

The boy drowned July 9 in an irrigation pipe near his home in the Kerri Subdivision southeast of Jerome.

Information in the letter alleged that the city was negligent in not covering a hole in the irrigation pipe into which the boy apparently climbed in and was trapped and drowned.

Mayor Jack Russell informed the council that the city insurance company had been notified of the letter.

Engineer named

CHALLIS — Lee Collett has been named assistant forest engineer on the Challis National Forest effective Aug. 20.

Collett has been working as civil engineer on the Sawtooth National Forest staff at Twin Falls since November, 1970. Born at Mountain Home, he was educated at Grandview and the University of Idaho.

He was a seasonal and fulltime worker on the Payette National Forest prior to being assigned to Twin Falls. The family will reside at Challis.

Richfield sewage bids anticipated

RICHFIELD — Bids may be sought soon for a new sewage plant for Richfield.

A new lagoon site on city property at the northeast corner of the airport has been chosen, city clerk Ruth Swainston said Wednesday. A rodeo arena at that site will be moved west of the airport entrance.

Engineers have drawn plans for three lagoons for treatment of sewage with an overall size of 210 feet by 750 feet. Plans call for installing 41 aerators to speed sludge break-up and reduce odors. Mrs. Swainston said the cost of the service will be about $6.00 per month after installation is completed. Residents will be required to provide pipe for connecting homes with mains.

Inability to obtain land to carry the trunk lines to the original site delayed calling for bids, originally anticipated in May. Engineers now hope to be able to advertise for construction bids early in September.

Injuries received in 2-car accident

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls woman received minor injuries in a two-car accident south of here Tuesday evening.

According to Twin Falls County sheriff's reports, Nancy Greenway, 22, was injured when she hit a car driven by Gonnie Martinez, 21, Twin Falls.

Apparently Mrs. Greenway was traveling west on county road-3700 north and failed to yield to the Martinez vehicle, at the roads intersection of 2700 north. Mrs. Martinez was headed south on 2700 north.

Kelley Ray Martinez, 2, received slight injuries in the mishap.

Mrs. Greenway was treated and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Recreation fee system outlined for Gem area

TWIN FALLS — Tom Kovalicky has announced the recreation fee collection system which will be used for the rest of 1972 within the Sawtooth National Recreation Area.

According to Kovalicky, assistant superintendent for the proposed SNRA, many recreationists have expressed confusion over the unavailability of the Golden Eagle passports which were a part of the fee system in previous years.

Kovalicky stated that the Golden Eagle passport will not be a part of the fee system on the national forests during the 1972 recreation season. At those campgrounds where fees are charged, the fees will be payable on a day-use basis only. The standard fee for charge areas within the proposed NRA is $1 for a 24-hour period. There are no charge fees for use of picnic or swimming areas.

In some of the charge areas, Kivalicky said, the cash collection boxes have been destroyed by vandals. Until these boxes can be replaced, he requested that users hold their fees at their campsites until a collection officer visits them.

Kovalicky also announced that persons 62 years of age or older will be admitted to the campgrounds for on-half of the price normally charged other users.

Minidoka extension council meets

RUPERT — The Minidoka County Extension Homemakers Council held its August meeting at the county agents office and made plans for the county fair.

Mrs. Dorothea Kildow, council president, conducted the Tuesday business meeting and introduced Charlene Wicks, new extensions home economist.

Mrs. Eilan Mae Mahler, council open class superintendent, presented activities and changes for the county fair. "All in a Homemaker's Day" is the theme for this year's fair.

Dates for the fair are Aug. 29 through Sept. 2. Buildings will be open on Aug. 28 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. to decorate and set up booths and displays. Aug. 29 will be entry day from 1 to 7 p.m. After that time all divisions will be closed and no late entries will be accepted.

Contestants entering cakes may pick-up all but one-fourth piece Aug. 31 after they have been judged.

No entries will be released until 9 p.m. Sept. 2 unless otherwise posted. Claim tags must be kept to pickup articles.

Entries will be judged Aug. 30 starting at 9 a.m. and will continue until all judging is completed.

The judges have asked that clear plastic bags for displaying products be used and to secure bags with a twist top. All soiled clothing will be disqualified. If garment is worn before the fair it must be properly laundered before entering. A set (2) pillow cases must be exhibited.

To further stimulate interest in home canning, Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corp. is offering a total of nine dozen Kerr wide-mouth quart jars, three dozen half pint jars and eight Kerr Home Canning Books as prizes. These prizes will be awarded in fruits, vegetables, pickles, relishes, jams and jelly. They will be awarded to the first and second place winners in each division.

One exhibitor may not win more than one award in each of the classes. To be eligible for these prizes, the produce must be canned in Kerr jars, with Kerr seals and rings.

"Anyone is eligible to enter products in the fair as long as they are not professional," stated Mrs. Mahler. "Oven baked and cold ceramics will be placed in a separate booth," Mrs. Mahler added.

"A new notification board will show all events for the fair," announced Miss Wicks.

Booth space at the fair was made for each of the home demonstration clubs. It was requested that if a club is not going to use their booth space to notify the fair superintendent.

Miss Wicks announced the 4-H Demonstration Day will be at 10 a.m. Aug. 22 at the Armory, and the 4-H style review will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 28 at Minico High School.

Other items discussed were the Extension Homemaker's state convention, the Tasting Tea, and the Holiday Fair.

In other business, $141.85 was presented from the council to the Mini-Child Development Center. Mrs. Lucille Ketterling, family life chairman, made the presentation, with Kayleen Sunderland and Marlene Wood, therapy technicians at the center, accepting the gift. Miss Wood answered questions about the center. She reported there are 44 children registered and self help skills of school children are taught. There are two separate programs from five to eight weeks training.

It was announced that each of the extension homemakers clubs have set goals and the funds were given in the one donation.

Miss Wicks announced the Social Rehabilitation Center is seeking volunteers to quilt about 25 child size quilts.

The next meeting is Sept. 7. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Cheryl McCall.

State officials get pay raises

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Mid-summer pay increases are being enjoyed by a number of state officials, records showed Tuesday, including a key appointee of the governor.

Robert Lenaghan, director of administration and acting director of administrative services, went up to $1,402.64 per month from $1,406 as of July 1, records disclosed.

Lenaghan's administrator of building services, Thomas Payne, went to $1,041 from $902 per month on the same date; pay records showed.

State Finance Commissioner Tom McElowney jumped to $1,690 from $1,625 per month the same date while Adjutant General George Bennett went to $1,560 from $1,500.

Not all the raises, of course, were in the executive branch of government. Two key employees of the legislative branch also got July 1 pay increases.

Legislative Auditor James A. Defenbach was boosted to $1,583.33 from $1,500 and director Myran Schlechte of the Legislative Council was increased to $1,636 from $1,551 per month.

Gene Rutledge, the executive for the nuclear energy commission, got his raise Aug. 1 — to $1,960 per month from $1,886.

Other officials receiving July 1 pay increases include John Bender, law enforcement commissioner, to $1,393.60 from $1,340 per month; Andrew Hartley, director of the insurance fund, to $1,137.76 from $1,094 (his first raise since July 1, 1969); Glenn Nichols, director of the state planning agency, to $1,256.66 from $1,203.33; Harold Coles, director of surplus property, to $1,031.68 from $992; purchasing agent Dan Pilkington, to $1,137.70 from $1,094; commissioner of public works, Max Boesiger to $1,254.24 from $1,200.

Somewhat earlier than these — but within the past few months — other officials got pay increases.

Arthur Hart, historical director, went to $1,477 per month from $1,406 on May 1.

Lloyd Howe, executive secretary of commerce and development, jumped to $1,268.75 from $1,208.33 on April 1.

Richard Barrett was boosted to $1,629 per month the same date from $1,551 when he was named director for the personnel commission. Then his raise, records revealed, was made retroactive to Jan. 1 when he took over as acting director.

T. F. Terrell director of the public employees retirement system, also got a raise April 1 — to $1,795 a month from $1,710. So did Kay Pell, director of special services, who climbed to $1,330 from $1,267.

Another key official — Dr. Robert Lee, director of the water resource board — got his raise last Jan. 1 — to $1,852 a month from $1,764.

Two others getting Jan. 1 raises — in these cases their first since September, 1970 — were highway engineer Ellis Mathes and secretary Wayne Summers of the highway board. Mathes went to $2,080 per month from $1,795 and Summers to $1,340 from $1,140.

TF Aeromodelers set competition

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Aeromodelers Radio Control Club will conduct flying competition Sunday at the model airport outside Twin Falls.

The meeting is the first one locally sanctioned by the American Model Association, according to Robert Gillespie, chapter president.

All types of radio controlled equipment will be flown, including gliders, Gillespie said, with prizes offered to winning entries.

The model airport is two miles south of the Twin Falls City-County Airport. Signs have been posted along Blue Lakes Boulevard South for guidance.

The event is open to the public, with flying to begin at 9 a.m.

Governor is guest

Bowman lost election, but not private funds

BOISE (UPI) — Rose Bowman of Boise is the only loser in the three contested Idaho primary election campaigns for United States Senate and Congress to come through without personal financial loss.

All the others, the "Idaho Statesman" said today, admit to use of personal funds and/or debt to help finance their campaigns.

In a story signed by political editor John Corlett, the newspaper said all but three of the eight losers in the three contested campaigns have to readjust the way they have been used to making a living.

He reported that both Byron Johnson, a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination, and Wayne Kidwell, a Republican First District Congress hopeful, gave up their law practices to seek nominations.

Both say they have not yet decided in what manner they will re-establish their practices, Corlett said. But he added that both said it had been suggested they go into partnership.

Corlett said a spokesman for Dr. Glen Wegner, one of those who tried for the Republican senate nomination, will establish private medical practice in the Boise Valley and utilize his law degree and federal governmental experience on a consultant basis.

Before running for office Wegner was on the White House staff.

House environment committee wanted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, held out hope today that Congress will consider legislation to establish a standing Committee on the Environment before time runs out on this session.

"We are already into the homestretch of this session and time is running out," Hansen said.

"A standing Committee on Environment would help us coordinate congressional efforts to deal with air, water and noise pollution, solid waste disposal, the 'energy crisis' and the problems associated with the use of herbicides and pesticides.

"We have a myriad of environmental bills introduced each day with no committee to coordinate them," he said.

Closing program loopholes goal of federal officials

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials have moved to close a farm program loophole which they said had allowed "a few" producers to get better treatment than most others.

The department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), which runs farm production control and subsidy programs, said the new action involved a sharp increase in subsidy deductions for growers who idle "less-than-average-quality" land in 1973 programs for wheat, feed grains and cotton.

In 1971 and again this year, the government's "set aside" programs for the three major crops were designed to provide standardized subsidy rates for farmers who idled, or "set aside," specified amounts of land on each farm — assuming the idled acreage was equal in productivity to the fields left in production.

If farmers elected to "set aside" low-quality fields, the program provided fixed subsidy reductions based on how far the idled land fell below par for the farm. The object was to leave the farmer who retired low-quality land no better off, financially, than if he had idled average land.

However, officials said, studies showed the deductions were not deep enough to keep some farmers from gaining a cash advantage by idling low-quality rather than standard-quality land. A spokesman said this happened mainly in cases where farmers set aside low-yielding "dryland" acreage while keeping their crops on high-yielding irrigated acreage.

Under a new regulation adopted for 1973, penalties for setting aside low-yield land will be increased by a simple device. In such cases, subsidy payments on wheat and feed grain farms will be based on the average yield of the land held out of production, not on the "good" land actually used for crops.

For example, officials said, a 100-bushel-an-acre corn farmer who idled average land this year would have gotten payments equal to $80 for each "set aside" acre. If the same farmer idled land only half as productive as his average, his payment was reduced to $40 an acre under the 1972 rules.

Under the new 1973 rule, however, the farmer who idles land only half as productive as average would get a payment of only $40 an acre.

For cotton farmers, deductions are calculated differently, but will be twice as big in 1973 as they were this year, an official said.

Spokesmen said most farmers have set aside average-quality land, and "relatively few" producers will be affected by the tightened regulations. An official said the change had no relation at all to investigations of set aside violations in Kern County, Calif., where many producers were accused of idling sub-par land while claiming payments based on average-quality acreage.

July crop gains told

BOISE (UPI) — Growing conditions in Idaho were favorable for most crops during July, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Wednesday.

Temperatures were average to a little below normal.

"Many dryland ranges and pastures in South Idaho were showing some stress at the close of the month as rainfall continued below normal," the report said.

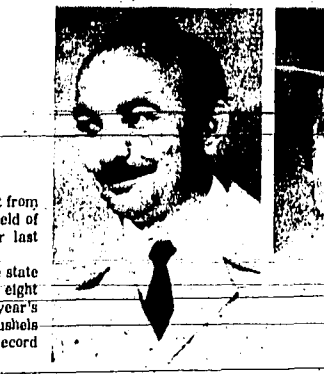

Small grain harvest was in progress in all areas of the state by Aug. 1 and was well advanced in the southwest. It was progressing rapidly in the south-central sector.

Grasshopper infestations were heavy in some areas in South-Central Idaho but control programs generally were able to prevent any significant crop damage, the report said.

Meantime, the reporting service said Idaho's fall wheat crop at 47.7 million bushels is down six per cent from last year. Lower yields were blamed for the decrease inasmuch as acreage harvested was above 1971.

Winter wheat production at 36.4 million is two per cent above last year with the yield at 48 bushels per acre or down three from last year.

The spring wheat crop estimated at 11.2 million

3 funnel clouds sighted

BOISE (UPI) — Three funnel clouds were reported 20 to 30 miles west of Idaho Falls during July, a climatologist for the National Weather Service reported Wednesday.

One was seen on July 20 and two on July 27. On the afternoon of July 27, a tornado rained debris and dust over the desert area about 30 miles west of Idaho Falls, climatologist Kenneth A. Rice reported.

No damage was observed or reported, Rice said.

Temperatures for July averaged cooler than normal in all divisions. Smallest departures from the north occurred in the central mountains and northeast valleys and the greatest within the Upper Snake River Plains.

Rice said precipitation for July was above normal north of the Salmon River, increasing northward to average near 100 per cent of normal in the northern panhandle.

People with interesting and unusual hobbies are asked to call the fair office and make reservations for their display.

Rainfall no help on wheat

RITZVILLE, Wash. (UPI) — While the current rainy period is making firefighters happy, its effect is just the opposite on Inland Empire wheat farmers.

Snell Weatherford, executive secretary of the Washington Association of Wheat Growers, said Tuesday the rainfall is endangering the quality of the unharvested wheat.

Weatherford said about 40 per cent of the soft white wheat crop remained unharvested and it was in danger because the rain just before harvest changes the starch in the wheat kernel into sugar.

This, he said, makes it unsuitable for use by Japan which is the primary market for northwest soft white wheat. The Japanese use it to make noodles and pastry.

However, Weatherford said, other countries, such as India, Bangladesh and Pakistan, can still use the wheat for the type of products they make.

The secretary said elevator operators and producers will have to keep the rained-on wheat separated from that which was harvested prior to the rains because once the wheat becomes unsuitable for use by the Japanese.

Horoscope

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are all too apt to state some truth so badly that another with whom you want to keep on good terms takes offense. You then find you have made an opponent of one you never thought possible to have against you. But if you keep tactful and refrain from critical and unwise comments, you can hold such friendship with ease.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to go off to some new interest you know little about at the cost of present good set-up, to think twice and refrain. New contacts are fine, but don't shed current allies as a result. Keep poised.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Endeavoring to get out of some responsibility you have assumed could really cause you trouble today, so follow through instead and show you have real character. Use patience where mate is concerned. Forget that temper.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Troublesome matters with associates can be handled satisfactorily if you are willing to listen to their views more. Do nothing to start an argument. Forget that desire to be kingpin — remember it's a partnership.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Why don't you get right down to all that work you have on hand and be charming about it? This gets you back into the good graces of bigwigs. Taking health treatments simply is a must now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to run off to fun places at the cost of important work, etc., so stop such mistaken thoughts and carry through wisely. Get into creative things during spare time. Derive much pleasure from them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't let some unkind remark at home touch off a big argument, but take it in your stride, and quietly find out what brought it on. Keep busy at whatever it is you have to do. A show of wisdom pays off well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use diplomacy in dealing with others and you get along just fine, provided you show you enjoy them despite any pressures on either side. Drive with particular care, especially on the highways and byways. Think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are tempted to put all your eggs in one basket and could certainly regret it later, so think before you act. Steer clear of a business person who acts in a confusing manner. Show more affection for mate in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You had better think that plan over again before you make the radical changes you are tempted to make. Be sure you think before you speak, especially with higher-ups. Don't say things you will have to retract later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need to get into behind-the-scenes work so you can take right action soon, so avoid public limelight. The latter could prove detrimental to your best interests now. Add to present security.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Rather than criticize good pals, be sure you pay compliments where due, then you make big headway with them. Get out to that social affair, but show courtesy and kindness to all. A fine new friend can be made.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure you do not argue with a powerful person, or make radical changes where your vocation is concerned, or you would soon regret it. Build up your credit. Get bills paid that are important.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who is a troublemaker; teach early not to create problems just for the fun of solving them, but to wait until they actually arise before tackling them. Your offspring understands the underlying factors of any situation and therefore can remove the effects by getting at the cause. Give as fine an education as you can and slant it along such lines, whether boy or girl. Sports are a must here.

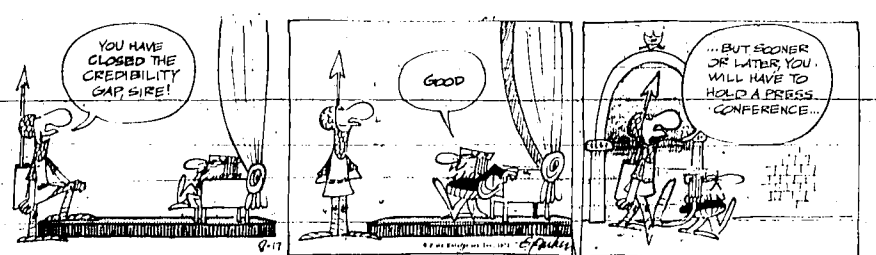

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

British police are experimenting with a mechanical bloodhound. A machine. Called a gas chromatograph. It sniffs things, then records their particular odors on charts called alprints. Those lawmen say they expect to perfect the device to such a degree its alprints can be accepted as evidence in courts. To prove culprits were at crime scenes.

DID YOU know the right half of the face is more maturely developed than the left in 98 per cent of all people?

MEN of science, I'm told, discover about 9,000 new kinds of insects every year. Certainly wish they wouldn't.

FOUR times as much salt is poured on the streets to control ice as is sprinkled into cookery, bear it mind.

QUERIES

Q "Can I wash my piano keys with soap?"
A Ought not. Soap stains ivory. Try ammonia.

Q "Where's the world's biggest rock?"
A That's Stone Mountain. Near Atlanta, Ga.

Q "Can a snake kill a garter snake?"
A It happens, the record shows.

WORLD'S most renowned Horoscopes and Women expert, it's believed, was old Ed Durling, now long departed. Contended he, solemnly: "About three times as many men as women marry for love. Men are much more sincere and romantic than women. He said further: 'Women understand men far better than men understand women. And in particular an unattached man, what over his experience, has almost no chance whatsoever against a young widow or a divorcee."

WEIGHT

Only 17 out of every 100 high school girls are overweight. But exactly 99 out of every 100 such girls tell pollsters they'd like to diet off a few pounds. Curious.

WHEN itemizing the holes-in-one of golf, don't forget Edna Hussey. At age 81 in Cincinnati, she chalked up an ace of 139 yards three years ago. Senior lady ever to do so.

MORE than 180 U.S. companies now devote themselves exclusively to the manufacture of men's cosmetics. It's a damned disgrace, I say.

WHAT does a tomato really taste like? A maker of tomato paste wanted to know, precisely, so better to preserve the flavor of his commodity. As is widely known, taste depends largely on odor. And the taste of a tomato, he learned, is like the smell of roses, violets, lemons, peppermints, caramel, vanilla, carrots, citronella and sulphur. Combined.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, ahead at the outset, turned mixed around midsession Thursday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up more than a point earlier, was off 0.45 at 983.90 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was down 0.06 at 111.66.

Declines led advances, 621 to 613, among the 1,616 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover totaled 8,620,000 shares, compared with 9,400,000 traded during the same period Wednesday.

TWA was the most active issue, down 1 1/2 to 48 on 181,300 shares. A major brokerage has lowered its earnings estimates for the airline. Pan American World Airways was second, down 3/4 at 13% on 175,600 shares.

International Harvester was third, up 3/4 at 35 on 200 shares. The firm reported third quarter earnings of 72 cents a share, compared with 36 cents a year before. In addition, the company signed a $40 million tractor deal with the Soviet Union Wednesday.

In addition to TWA and Pan Am, other airline issues were lower. Delta lost 1 1/4 and Continental Airlines 1.

Gleaners headed in both directions. Xerox gained 1/4, Walt Disney 1 3/4 and Curtis Wright 1. Corning Glass surrendered 5/4, Black & Decker 3/4 and Parulator 1/4.

Electronics and computers were mixed. Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, rails and aircrafts were mixed.

Those showers are moving out

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area: Mostly fair with chance of clouds and some scattered showers. Little temperature change. Lows tonight in the 40s. Highs tomorrow in the 70s and 80s. Outlook for Saturday, clearing with little temperature change. Synops: A large, cold upper air low pressure area along the West Coast that has been dominating the weather pattern over the northwest for the past several days is now moving to the northeast and weakening. A band of clouds and showers moving out of the low off the West Coast moved across Washington and Oregon during the night and into the western Idaho border area during the early morning hours. Clearing was general over Idaho ahead of this weather band. Most of the shower activity is expected to occur in the northern mountain area as this shower band moves across Idaho. However, there is a slight chance of a little shower activity in southern Idaho valley areas. Gustly winds are expected to subside tonight. Very little temperature change is anticipated in the next few days.

Power firm

issue OK'd

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's Public Utilities Commission has authorized the Idaho Power Company to issue $30 million of its first mortgage bonds and 150,000 shares of its serial preferred stock.

Net proceeds from sale of the bonds and the stock will be applied to payment of short term notes incurred primarily for the Jim Bridger steam generating plant now under construction and scheduled for completion early in June, 1974, near Rock Springs, Wyo.

Meanwhile, the PUC authorized Washington Water Power Company to issue $25 million in promissory notes to be used in part to repay all promissory notes to banks of the company maturing Sept. 30 and to meet construction requirements.
