N-test triggers small Aleutian chain quakes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The five-megaton nuclear test at Amchitka Island last November caused 22 small earthquakes and hundreds of blast aftershocks, a government scientist reported Wednesday.

But it did not, as opponents of the test had feared, trigger the "natural earthquake-causing processes" in that geologically fragile area of Alaska's Aleutian Islands.

An analysis of seismic data from the Amchitka test, called Cannikin, has been made by Dr. E. R. Engdahl, a research geophysicist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) at Boulder, Colo.

The 22 quakes were "minor structural adjustments in the earth's crust" caused by the test explosion, detonated more than a mile deep Nov. 6, 1971. Cannikin itself registered about 7.0 on the Richter quake magnitude scale. The first and largest of these "stimulated" quakes measured 3.5. It occurred more than seven days after the test.

Most natural low-level quakes in this region occur at depths of 12 to 30 miles.

Inmates riot

LONDON (UPI)—Another jail was hit today by a growing wave of unrest and demonstrations in British prisons.

Inmates went on a rampage during the night in Chelmsford Prison, 30 miles east of London, ripping down doors, ransacking the prison canteen, breaking windows and ripping out railings.

About 60 prisoners climbed to the roof and stayed there. The other 200 prisoners, locked in their cells, shouted abuse. Authorities said damage to the prison was extensive.

Probers question 2 aides

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two close associates of President Nixon were questioned today about alleged mishandling of Nixon campaign funds and the break-in of Democratic party headquarters. They appeared at separate closed inquiries.

Charles W. Colson, special counsel to the President, made a sworn, court-ordered deposition on the incident to opposition lawyers in a $1 million damage suit filed by Democratic leaders.

The suit was filed after the June 17 break-in at the offices of the Democratic National Committee at which five men were arrested. Police said they had bugging equipment in their possession.

At the same time, Maurice H. Stans, Nixon's campaign finance director, and former Commerce secretary, agreed to undergo informal questioning by staff members of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

The committee is conducting its own probe of possible mishandling of up to $350,000 in Nixon campaign funds. The General Accounting Office (GAO) cited a series of "apparent and possible" violations in a report last weekend.

More than a third of the money was said to have been traced to the bank account of one of the suspects in the break-in at the Watergate Hotel complex.

Colson appeared promptly at 10 a.m. EDT at the law offices of Edward Bennett Williams, who is representing the Democrats in their damage suit.

Williams took a deposition Tuesday from E. Howard Hunt, who formerly served as a White House consultant on Colson's recommitment and whose name was reported to have turned up in address books of two of the suspects in the break-in.

The depositions were ordered sealed by U.S. District Judge Charles R. Richey, but he indicated he might lift the order before the case comes to trial.

Stans, and the committee aides were expected to center their talks on the GAO contention that $114,000 of the disputed $350,000 campaign fund was traced to the Florida bank account of Bernard L. Barker, one of the Watergate suspects.

The GAO's report said the Committee to Re-elect the President may have committed 11 "apparent and possible" violations of the new campaign funding law. The GAO, Congress' investigative unit, referred its findings to the Justice Department for possible criminal action.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the banking panel which is conducting its own probe into Nixon campaign funds, invited Stans to meet with his aides to discuss what Stans had labeled the "misrepresentations and inaccuracies" in the report.

Five men were arrested with electronic eavesdropping equipment and photographic gear inside the Democratic offices June 17.

Lincoln qualifies for US aid

SHOSHONE—A combination of loss of people and unemployment has made Lincoln County one of four in the state qualified as a US "redevelopment area."

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, today announced that Lincoln County, along with Bonneville, Custer and Lemhi counties, may receive Economic Development Administration grants, loans and public works guarantees.

Other redevelopment options open to the county include industrial and commercial development facilities, Hansen said.

Ironically, the county's status was announced at a time when the county's unemployment rate stood at only 4.2 per cent.

Apparently the county's net outmigration of residents during the 1960's, according to US census reports, was what enabled the county to qualify for the special US aid.

During the decade of the '60's, Lincoln County's net population loss was 17.1 per cent, falling to 3,057 people.

Only Camus County lost a larger share of its population in Magic Valley.

Larry Drexler, Twin Falls,

Department of Employment official, said the unemployment rate in Lincoln County is good compared to other area counties and for 1971 stood at 4.2 per cent compared to its normal of 6 per cent.

"The out-migration figures would change this considerably," he said, "since most of the graduates leave and do not remain as unemployment statistics."

He said his department does not have out-migration figures and the unemployment per capita figures for the county are apparently provided by a different agency based on different statistics than used by the Department of Employment.

Jerome County, he said, is the only county in the eight in this area to qualify for "depressed area" status; and this is expected to change with the next study because of industrial growth in Twin Falls, and Jerome counties.

Robert Miller, Shoshone, chairman of the Shoshone Development Corp., said he is delighted to hear Lincoln County qualified for Economic Development Administration assistance.

He said the development corporation works on a county-wide basis and is aiming efforts toward a better economy for the entire county. "We found a better economic climate requires more people and one of our major problems is a lack of adequate housing, even for the people we already have, he said.

Miller said the corporation has been working with individual developers to encourage more and better housing and has succeeded in getting a Shoshone Housing Authority established by the City Council.

"We are also working closely with the state housing people and have some programs already underway," Miller said.

Police kill kidnapers, rescue women unharmed

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police early today killed two of three men who abducted five women hostages at gunpoint in a robbery at a North Side restaurant. The hostages were rescued unharmed.

Dead were Michael Jones, 17, and Michael Larry Griggs, 18, both of Chicago. The third man was arrested and identified as Louis Tarver, 21, Chicago.

A police spokesman said the hostages, who ranged in ages from 17 to 46, were "very thankful, very happy to be alive."

In the gun battle that culminated the hectic chase following the robbery and abduction, one policeman was wounded slightly in the arm.

Police squad cars and helicopters cautiously gave chase to the car the offenders demanded after robbing Tokyo's Japanese restaurant and terrorizing its patrons. Police had broken the lenses of the car's tail lights to aid in spotting the vehicle in the chase that followed.

Despite repeated radio pleas for no shooting by Deputy Police Superintendent Walter Valle, the highest ranking police officer on Chicago streets at the midnight hour, gunfire broke out between the offenders and police at a South Side location about seven miles from the restaurant.

Police were able to rescue the hostages in the shooting melee which ensued, as leading gas around the abductors' automobile was ignited and the car burst into flames.

The episode began shortly before midnight Tuesday when the three men entered the restaurant. They had been there an hour earlier, one of them asking to use the bathroom. The waitress who refused that request was approached when the gunmen returned.

She, eight other restaurant employees and eight customers were held at gunpoint for about an hour while the men robbed them and stole the day's receipts—about $1,000—from the cash register.

One of the gunmen shouted out to the approximately 100 policemen who had been brought to the scene after a restaurant employee was able to sneak out and alert police.

Sawtooth crews fight 2 blazes

TWIN FALLS—Sawtooth National Forest fire fighters are fighting two lightning caused fires this morning.

According to Sawtooth officials, the fires were started last night in the Basin Butte area above Stanley and in the Obsidian area above Sawtooth Valley.

The fires are small and under control, officials said.

Inter-regional fire fighting crews are back on duty today after fighting fires in California.

Jerome leaders buoyed

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News writer

JEROME—Jerome leaders were buoyed today by the new 200-employee Moore Business Forms plant for Jerome.

Mayor J. A. (Jack) Russell said "I feel as I did with the announcement of Tupperware coming, that Moore Business Forms will be a great asset to our community."

He said Jerome's growth "most likely will continue to increase in both residences and businesses."

Earl Greenwalt, R-Jerome, said "I think that Moore Business Forms will be a valuable asset to the valley as a whole as well as to Jerome. I am very happy that they are coming to Jerome."

According to Mike Sullivan, president of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, "Moore Business Forms is the type of business the community can be proud to have. Not only is it a clean non-polluting type of industry, but the people of Moore Business Forms are of the finest caliber to do business with."

Gordon Hollifield, chairman of the Jerome School Board, said he did not expect any great increase in school enrollment because the firm plans to hire local people.

John Campbell, superintendent of schools, said he feels that "Moore Business Forms will be a real asset to the community."

Finance laws said violated

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif.—President Nixon denies anyone "presently employed" in the administration had anything to do with bugging Democratic headquarters, but admits to "technical violations" by Republicans of election financial laws.

The Democrats are just as guilty, Nixon added, and said their violations will be revealed this week.

The President made the admission concerning his campaign finances in replying to a question about charges by the General Accounting Office, an independent federal agency, that there were "apparent and possible violations" of federal law in the handling of $350,000 worth of Republican campaign funds.

He said that although there may have been technical violations, there was no intention to circumvent the law. He promised that his finance chairman, former Treasury Secretary Maurice Stans, will correct the errors and "thoroughly comply with the law" in the future.

Nixon declined to specify the nature of the violations, but said it would become clear this week that the Democrats were equally guilty of such infractions.

The GAO, which initiated the investigation after GOP campaign funds turned up in the bank account of one of the persons arrested for attempting to bug the Democratic national headquarters, has referred the matter to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

Hawaii next stop

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif.—His trip to Hawaii today to talk money and defense in a summit conference with Japan's new prime minister is proof of just how deeply the enmity of World War II is buried, President Nixon said.

Nixon predicted "some progress" would be made in the major issue between the two nations, the $3.4 billion unfavorable U.S. trade balance with Japan.

He warned that unless an agreement is reached, protectionists in the United States will clamor all the louder for quotas and other restrictions on Japanese exports to the United States.

Nixon was scheduled to leave at 3 p.m. MDT today for Hawaii and the meeting with newly elected Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka.

He held a news conference in front of his palm-shaded guest house on his ocean-side estate Tuesday that "Japanese-American friendship and cooperation is the linchpin of peace in the Pacific and we are going to try to strengthen that linchpin in these meetings."

"It seems to me that we could have no better proof of the fact that the war is over, not only the shooting, but also the enmity, than the fact that we are having this meeting between the leader of Japan and the leader of the United States in Hawaii, where the war began," he said.

Japan, Nixon told reporters, is an "economic giant with great potentials for political and other leadership in the Pacific and plays an indispensable role if we are going to have peace in the Pacific."

The discussions, Nixon said, will cover "the whole range of problems of the Pacific."

Not the least is Japan's new detente with China, and the prospect of diplomatic relations between the two countries in the near future.

99 missing in air raids

SAIGON (UPI)—Ninety-nine American fliers are missing in action after missiles, MIGs or unexplained problems brought down their planes over North Vietnam in the five months of the Communist offensive, unofficial figures showed today.

The most recent additions were announced in a delayed report today by the U.S. Command, which said three of four crewmen shot down last weekend are missing.

The command said on Aug. 17 that 82 fliers were missing over the North as of that date. Seventeen more have been listed on the missing rolls since that date in the downing of 10 planes during that time, records show.

The command says 87 U.S. aircraft have been shot down by MIGs over North Vietnam during the entire war, and surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) have brought down another 127 American warplanes. An undetermined number of other planes have crashed because of undetermined problems after raids on the North.

North Vietnam claims to have downed 3,865 U.S. planes for the war. Radio Hanoi says seven warplanes were downed during heavy weekend raids.

Demo asks asylum for Pres. Thieu

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern, acknowledging he had begun an all-out campaign to broaden the base of his support, defended former President Lyndon B. Johnson on the Vietnam War today and called for political asylum in the United States for South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

While declaring "I'm not compromising on principle," McGovern said he believes his supporters will understand that he must broaden his support to have a chance of defeating President Nixon in November.

The Democratic nominee said his visit with Johnson at the LBJ ranch last week was "one of the most treasured moments of my life...He inherited that war. He didn't start it. He gave up his chance for reelection in an attempt to end it."

McGovern made the remarks after an appearance on the "Today" (NBC) show, during which he accused Nixon of running the war to suit his own election timetable.

On that program, and in comments to reporters afterwards, McGovern said he "absolutely" would offer political asylum in the United States to Thieu after the war.

"General Thieu has been our man in Saigon," he said. "We put him there. He may not represent the ideals of democracy but he's our man. If he and his friends feel endangered by a postwar settlement, we should welcome him here."

McGovern said he did not believe that there was danger of a blood bath in South Vietnam if the Communists take control and "I think unquestionably the slaughter will be greatly reduced" once a political settlement is reached. But he did acknowledge that the "people most in danger" were Thieu and the political leadership in Saigon.

McGovern Tuesday continued his campaign to woo the political center away from Nixon's clutches by scrapping his advanced sociological program calling for a $1,000 per person government income subsidy, replacing it with a modest welfare reform plan.

As unveiled in a talk before the New York Society of Security Analysts, his new plan appeared only slightly more ambitious than President Nixon's own family assistance plan now before Congress.

Convoy route denied

TOKYO (UPI)—The mayor of Yokohama today turned down a request by the national government that American military vehicles be allowed to pass through Yokohama for shipment overseas.

"The feeling of the people of Yokohama against shipment of American weapons is getting more intense," Mayor Ichio Asakata said. "If you try to send them through by force, now there will be a big disorder."

Asakata's statement was made to Construction Minister Takeo Kimura, who called on the mayor today.

American Army tanks and personnel carriers have been bottled up in a repair center at Sagami, 25 miles southwest of Tokyo, since Aug. 5 when left-wing demonstrators halted a convoy of tanks in Yokohama's streets.

The ostensible issue is that the weight of the tanks and personnel carriers violates laws against overloading of city streets.

However, the Japan Socialist Party, which is behind the campaign, openly says the object is to end the American use of bases in Japan to back up military operations in Vietnam and other Asian countries.

Party spokesmen claim that tanks and other vehicles from Vietnam are brought to Sagami for repair and then returned to the Indochina battlefields.

The U.S. military declines to comment on destinations of the armored vehicles. Since Aug. 5 only one shipment of six M113 personnel carriers has left Sagami.

Interest lags in Demo plan

By United Press International

Sen. George McGovern's revised economic program drew generally unenthusiastic reviews from economists, Wall Street analysts and the stock market.

Dr. Paul Samuelson, Nobel Prize winning economist from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was one of the few to welcome McGovern's Tuesday proposal. Samuelson called it "a tremendous improvement over the present system. It's a much more practical package than was earlier coming out of McGovern headquarters."

Samuelson said that the only persons who would be hurt by the program, which McGovern outlined to Wall Street analysts in what the Democratic presidential candidate termed a major address, would be "the rare bird with a half-million dollar loophole and some tax accountants and attorneys."

McGovern proposed a new welfare program and the closing of $22 billion per year in tax loopholes.

Dr. John Stockton, an economist at the University of Texas, felt that business would be hurt by McGovern's proposal to increase the tax on capital gains. "Most people think these tax loopholes are unfair, but they are available to anyone who can use them," Stockton said.

On the New York Stock Exchange, there appeared to be little reaction. The Dow Jones Industrial Average, down more than 6 points early in the day, closed with a loss of 2.25 points at 954.70. The average price of a common share of stock on the exchange increased by seven cents.

Most business analysts, who previously had regarded McGovern's economic proposals as too extreme for their liking, said the address moderated earlier proposals. However, they said McGovern had done little to swing business into his corner.

"If you characterize the economy as a watch, I don't know if he can put it together again after taking it apart," said Leo Lancer, director of special studies at Bruns, Nordman Co.

Health funds resolution due adoption by TF county board

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners in Twin Falls are expected to adopt a resolution this week adding another $18,400 to the county budget.

The resolution to amend the budget was made necessary by the Idaho Supreme Court majority decision in the action the county brought against the Fifth District Health Board of the Idaho Department of Health.

Twin Falls County declined to budget $69,400 asked for the current tax year as its share as one of seven counties in the district.

The county contended this would more than double its health budget in one year's time and constituted an unreasonable burden on county taxpayers. Instead, the county increased the $33,548 health budget of 1971 to $51,000 for 1972 and took the issue to the supreme court for a ruling.

Douglas Kramer, who represented the county as a special assistant prosecutor in the case, said today he has advised the commissioners to make no further appeal.

"The decision was by a two-to-three vote by the supreme court which indicates they gave the matter full study and apparently deliberated at length on all of the issues involved," Kramer said.

He said Justices Charles Donaldson and Robert Bakes have written a dissenting opinion on the matter, declaring they feel the power of the health board of a district over individual counties is unconstitutional.

Kramer said this indicates the situation is not the most suitable possible and that the county had a good basis for asking the supreme court for a ruling.

Kramer said he sees the court ruling as an aid to creating a powerful new governmental entity whose powers over counties if carried to the fullest extent, could replace the individual county governments.

The county had contended a health district board comprised of commissioners of several counties should not have the authority to levy taxes in an individual county. He said this would constitute one county's commissioners levying taxes in a neighboring county.

In the dissenting opinion, Justices Donaldson and Bakes supported the Twin Falls County position the statute creating health districts is not constitutional. They also stated the creation of a "super agency" and improper delegation of authority to that agency constitutes a delegation of legislative power by the legislature.

In the opinion, the two said the statute ignored the principle of separation of powers while the majority opinion found the statute to be constitutional and ordered the county commissioners to appropriate the funds as demanded by the health district.

The majority opinion, Kramer said, held Twin Falls County has no discretion in the matter and no alternative but to follow the directive of the district health board.

William Chancey, chairman of the Twin Falls County commissioners and the Fifth District health board, said the board originally approved a budget based on an assessment of $2.25 per capita in each county.

This would have cost Twin Falls County taxpayers $94,066 or about triple the existing budget figure. It would also have been triple the amount assessed any other county in the district, he said.

The board then reduced this to an assessment which would have required $69,400 from Twin Falls County. Chancey said he feels this is still out of line.

"We are getting no additional services but instead of $33,548 we will be paying $69,400," he said.

"Our only out, now," he said, "is through the legislature. We will have to hope the legislators see the error of the statute and give the counties some relief," he said.

Mine tragedy victims file $5 million claims

BOISE (UPI) — Claims totaling $5.2 million have been filed against the state of Idaho by survivors of 47 miners who died in the Sunshine Mine fire May 2.

Claims totaling $800,000 for surviving relatives of three of the miners were filed with Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa last week under the tort claims act. Claims for the remaining 44, filed Tuesday, totaled $4.4 million.

Both allege failure by state mines inspector W. Carl Griner to carry out a proper safety examination of the mine's premises as required by law. The latest claims also allege negligent conduct by Griner in examining the Sunshine facilities.

Cenarrusa said he doubted if the legislature had in mind a disaster of the proportion of the Sunshine Mine holocaust when it wrote the Tort Claims Act.

Besides filing copies of the claims in his own office and with the state insurance department, Cenarrusa said he also intends to file copies with the mines inspector and the Attorney General.

Under the Tort Claims Act, survivors have 120 days after the incident causing the death to file their claims with the Secretary of State. The state then has 60 days in which to answer or deny the claims. If the claim is denied, the claimant must bring litigation within two years in order to collect.

The latest group of claims seeks $100,000 damages for each of the deaths and was filed within one day of the Statutory deadline. It is represented by five law firms in Boise: Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, Chicago, Calif., and Coeur d'Alene, and has been signed by attorney George Greenfield of Boise.

"Subsequent to inspections by him (Griner) and his office, dangerous and hazardous conditions were allowed to exist when they either were or should have been discovered by said inspections," the notice of claims said.

"The dangerous and hazardous conditions were, among other, although not exclusively, inadequate provision of safety equipment, such as self-rescue units, inadequate enforcement of good housekeeping rules in not cleaning up the abandoned mining areas of debris and combustible materials, inadequate warning of mine personnel of the hazardous conditions existing, and otherwise failing to comply with the duties and obligations imposed upon the inspector of mines..." it added.

TF resident charged in wreck

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated Tuesday after an accident involving a motorcycle.

According to Twin Falls Police, Edgar D. Sherer, 23, was traveling east on Addison Avenue West when he apparently attempted to make a right hand turn from the inside lane of traffic.

In the act of turning police said he apparently turned his car in front of a motorcycle driven by Michael Forest Kilborn, 19, Kimberly, forcing it off the road.

Kilborn received slight injuries in the accident, which occurred about 2 p.m.

Damage to the Sherer vehicle was estimated at $130 and damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $80.

Of the 105 U.S. school-age children in every 1,000 who are handicapped in some way, 20 are emotionally disturbed, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Candidates agree to disclose worth

BOISE (UPI) — Two Republicans running for Congress said Tuesday they would disclose their personal net worth within 30 days.

Orval Hansen, incumbent Congressman from the Second District, and James McClure, incumbent U. S. Senator, said they would prepare statements of their net worth.

Steve Symms, Republican nominee for the U. S. House of Representatives from the First District, was not available for comment. He is on a trip in the northern part of the state.

When asked by United Press International, major Democratic candidates agreed last weekend to disclose their net worth.

William E. (Bud) Davis, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, and Willis Ludlow, nominee for the U. S. House of Representatives from the Second District, and Ed Williams, nominee for the house from the First District, said the public should know a candidate's personal worth.

"They should know what a candidate starts with and what he finishes with," Williams said.

Praise Be

We were more than just pleased to have the wife of a doctor write to the Times-News Public Forum last Sunday in defense of charges the physicians, as a class, do little to support many public projects.

Since as long as we can remember the charges have been directed at the doctors—and other professional people—who live under an antiquated code of ethics having to do with just how much they can get in the public eye.

In a great majority of the cases in which doctors are accused of not backing certain public projects—careful investigation would prove this not to be the case.

The doctors, and other professional people, fluff up their own beds in matters of this kind and then hide in the feathers hoping the whole thing will blow over. They are really the cause of their own public image troubles.

That code of ethics having to do with publicity is, in this day and age, a good piece of bunk. Why should a doctor, or a lawyer or an accountant be considered in any different light than anyone else? If they do something worth public praise then this should receive due publicity. If they are falsely accused then they should be able to come to their own defense—in public print—without fear of criticism from other members of their profession or from anyone else.

So we would say to these professional people—praise be for the doctor's wife who had gumption enough to defend her husband and the profession—in general on charges of not giving financial aid to a local project backed by those interested in the preservation of things historic hereabouts.

If the members of the various professions would stand up in this manner and state their beliefs it would be better for all concerned. If they choose, however, to remain behind the wall of "ethics" and say nothing in their own defense then their public image will suffer—just as it is suffering right now.—OAK

The Garden Weeds

Ebullient Republicans completed the formalities for the election campaign by renominating President Nixon and Vice President Agnew with heady confidence of a sweeping victory in November.

So bright were the prospects, hope was expressed for a Republican Congress to help the President "finish the job." To keep party workers from the error of over-confidence, Senator Hugh Scott cautioned that Republicans had "a fighting chance" of winning control of the Senate, which often crossed Nixon during his first term.

However, even if Nixon should win a landslide victory, it could be attributed in large measure to voters' antipathy toward the fumbling start of Senator George McGovern in his bid for the White House and his ultra-liberal policies which have alienated many conservative Democrats.

Aware of the opportunity, Republican keynotes praised past Democratic presidents and candidates and invited their supporters to vote Republican. Of course, they didn't promise "amnesty, abortion and marijuana."

For many voters, it will be Nixon or nothing in November. Many citizens besides Senator Barry Goldwater, who scored with his plea for self-reliance, want less, not more, government spending.

President Nixon was right on target with the views of the responsible majority when he pledged his determination to hold down government spending.

A New Trail Book

Something new is now available for those who have an interest in the Old Oregon Trail. The "something new" is the book "The Oregon Trail Revisited" by Gregory M. Franzwa and printed by Patrice Press, Inc.

We enjoyed reading a copy of it and found that it is especially unique in that it gives the reader precise directions to reach the points where the route of the trail intersects public streets, country roads and highways—all the way from the Missouri River landing north of Independence, Mo., to The Dalles, Ore., on the south bank of the Columbia River near Portland.

The 436-page paperback also presents a broad history of the trail and its impact upon the course of events in 19th century America. The publisher describes the trail today as "a faint trace etched on the prairies and in the mountains, recalling the fading doctrine of Manifest Destiny."

Directions given to the traveler are so explicit that the train may be pinpointed to a tolerance of about 50 yards on most of the journey. Through the Twin Falls—Burley and Glenns Ferry area this same fact holds true.

The book comes as a result of nearly three years of intensive research by the author, a public relations counselor in St. Louis.

The book contains 140 or more illustrations and also concludes with a two-week "speed trip" where highlights of the trail may be visited by way of interstate highways.

So there you have a sketch of something new—and informative and necessary for the Oregon Trail clan. It is worth adding to your library—a must for history bugs. If you cannot get it at local or area bookstores then you can order direct by sending $2.95 plus 35 cents mailing charge to the Publisher, Patrice Press, Inc., 9528 Old Bonhomme Road, St. Louis, Mo., 63132.

OH, COME NOW!

Mr. Spectator:

I enjoyed the story about the changes in school of Twin Falls. But using George Staudacher as a substitute for a janitor in the big picture illustrating the article just had to be the height of something or other. Anyone—yes, I say anyone—would recognize Mr. Staudacher even in profile and in subdued lighting and putting a mop in his hand didn't fool anyone. Next time the school board meets someone should suggest that the superintendent could possibly be assigned janitorial duties on the side.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Nixon: The Economy Issue

President Nixon, clearly feels vulnerable on the economy and related issues in this campaign. Acceptance speeches are supposed to be lofty, but he used his as his first big opportunity to attack Sen. George McGovern on the domestic front.

You could argue that the President's comments in this field had at least something of an upbeat tone, since he spoke positively about providing more jobs at higher wages, cutting inflation, promoting industrial growth rates, easing the hated property tax.

Yet all this was basically defensive. Nixon knows that his White House years have been marred by voter discontent over high prices, spiraling taxes, too few jobs to meet the national need.

Moreover, he moved quickly away from these embarrassments to the assault on McGovern. Probably the tactic was irresistible. The President and his aides think the 1972 Democratic nominee was sent to them by little angels. They think McGovern is even more vulnerable than the President on the economic side.

The unspoken lines in Nixon's speech to the Republican convention were these:

"You voters may not be all that satisfied with what we have done with the economy and taxes. You may want change here, above all. But McGovern isn't your man. He isn't credible in this field."

The words the President did utter were bent in that direction: "Their (McGovern's) proposal to pay $1,000 to every person in America insulted the intelligence of the American voter."

"The American people are not going to be taken in by a scheme where government gives money with one hand and takes it away with the other."

"Today Americans pay one-third of their income in taxes. Their programs were enacted, Americans would have to pay over one-half of their income in taxes. This means that American wage earners would be working more for the government than they would for themselves."

This, of course, is pure scare stuff, designed to alarm Americans where many already are feeling hurt the most—in their tax bills. Furthermore, it is pretty flimsy conjecture. McGovern has scrapped some of his earlier proposals. Nobody knows what the new ones will suggest, or how much they will cost.

Nevertheless, the President has a crucial advantage, and he is moving to exploit it. McGovern's proposals for a $1,000 income grant per person per year, and for tax reform, have struck countless voters as badly conceived things. His credibility in this field was in serious jeopardy, even before Nixon said a word.

McGovern thinks he is fighting the idea planted by adversaries and critics that his proposals are radical. That is true, but only in part. He is also battling the notion that they are thoughtless, and his often amazingly casual confession of their flaws seems to confirm it.

So it isn't just the roughed-out specific content of his plans that bothers some voters. As soundings among them indicate, the core of McGovern's difficulty in the economic realm is doubt over his capacity for solid judgment.

Nixon vs. McGovern may be a case of double vulnerability on the economic front. But Nixon plainly is betting that voters won't see much point in trading their doubts about him for a whole new set centering on George McGovern.

Times-News Public Forum

Times-News Chastised

Mr. Taggart Writes

Editor, Times-News:

Congratulations. The Times News has done it again, as far as I am concerned! Once again you have proven to be the newspaper that is still worth reading...when times are limited. You are still the progressive, informative and broad-minded newspaper I have always admired so much in the past.

I have been following with growing concern, the many articles appearing in many of our local newspapers stating the pros and cons on the subject of welfare.

I would like to congratulate GOODING WELFARE MOTHER for her excellent letter to the Public Forum, printed in your newspaper on 8-23-72. She made more sense than anyone who has written on the subject so far! She said all the things I have been wanting to say ever since this particular subject became such a "hot" issue. In my book, she is a prime candidate for "first class citizen" of the year.

I think I can say with some degree of certainty that most people are about as sick of reading about the welfare issue as I am. It only tends to stir up more hard feelings on both sides of the fence. It's like the weather...everyone gripes about it but no one does anything about it!

Why can't the public find something else to complain about for a while and give welfare a much needed rest? I am sure there must be some other evils left in our country to get off the "bandwagon" about.

I think the welfare recipients have been cut about as low as they are ever going to get. The people who are abusing their welfare privileges and making it so hard on the ones who are not, should know by now all this criticism is directed toward them. If the shoe fits wear it. If you are not guilty, ignore the people who wag their tongues and seldom know what they are talking about in the first place!

If the irate tax-payers disapprove of our present welfare system, why don't they write to their congressmen and senators expressing their views and ideas for reform where it might do some constructive good and stop beating the poor people who are usually forced by circumstances beyond their control...to go on welfare. Yes, welfare as we have it today leaves much to be desired as do many things in our government.

Yes...many people use and abuse welfare just as they would anything else given them so easily with so little effort on their part. If our present welfare stinks so badly then let's clean it up and make it something out working class will be glad to support...and the needy proud to accept. Welfare seems to be a necessary evil within our modern way of living, where the working class, especially, seems hell-bent on having just as much...if not more...than the Jones.

"Dear readers what would you do if your successful, secure way of life were suddenly taken away from you overnight? Where would you turn in your time of trouble if you couldn't work to support yourself, had no husband and children to raise and put through school. It can happen to the best of us...and much easier than you would ever suspect." I KNOW OF

WHAT I SPEAK, for I found myself in just such a set of tragic circumstances about a year ago. Let me tell you folks...it was PRETTY SCARY....

I had been a working mother for 21 years, helping my husband provide for our family trying to furnish a rundown home with decent furniture and buy second-hand cars to give us adequate transportation to and from work, and we paid taxes just like the people do today. I remember the days of the W.P.A. where people who didn't have the means to live on were given something to do to earn their assistance so they didn't have to feel like free-loaders as our people today are made to feel.

I was on welfare exactly nine months...before I remarried. The day I got home from Nevada there was my next months welfare check in my mailbox. The next day I took it into the local welfare office and told them I was married and no longer needed assistance and thanked them for their help. I really appreciated the help I received from the state and I never tried to abuse my privileges. I didn't go to the beauty shop every week, or out on the town, or buy new clothes and neglect my child, but neither were we dirty and unkempt or ever looked down on as 2nd class citizens that I knew of. Maybe I was luckier than most people on welfare because everyone in our town knew me and my circumstances and accepted me just the same as they had when I was a working mother.

"I'll tell you one of the happiest days of my life this spring...was when I could go to the grocery store and pay for my groceries with real money instead of food stamps. Food stamps are a God-send when you are on welfare...With an $81.00 house payment to make and fuel oil and light-bills to pay, my monthly check for $139.00 a month didn't begin to go far enough. I ended up owing a big fuel oil bill and milk bill by the time I got off welfare this May.

I know quite a few good people on welfare and some not so good, in our two counties. Some really need it, who won't even ask for help. They choose to struggle along as best they can. Like the young couple with a 11 month baby who can hardly buy baby food and still put food on the table for themselves....do you know why they can't make it even though he has a good job here????? He pays out half of each paycheck in child support to an ex-wife who lives out of state. As far as I know, he has never missed a payment.

So Mr. Taggart and all the people who think the same as you do...there are two sides to the welfare coin...and I hope some of us who have been there and some who are still there, have helped you to see the other side of the coin. Not all people on welfare come under the heading of free-loading 2nd class citizens...believe it or not most of us feel just as first class as you...but under different circumstances. Maybe this will give you something to think about the next time you are ready to blast someone for something they can't help. The good book says...quote... "Judge not lest ye also be judged."

Why can't we civilized people just learn to live and let live and while we are at it...let's let the WELFARE ISSUE DIE A DIGNIFIED DEATH!

...Ex-Welfare Mother Rupert (The name of this writer was withheld upon request)

Editor Times-News:

This is an open letter to Gooding Welfare Mother and the two abusive telephone callers who were also anonymous.

The fact that you prefer to vent your anger with no identity indicates that you are not really sure of your position. It could also indicate that you are ashamed of your welfare status.

No, I am not God to judge you, and I did not point you out by name. But I do have a right as a citizen to criticize the abuse and waste of a program I am forced to support. You are so quick to identify yourself as 2nd class that I wonder if you missed the point of my letter. If you will review it again, you will find I recommended welfare for legitimate reasons such as incompetence, handicaps, disasters and death. Being a welfare recipient does not automatically make one 2nd class; however, the abuse of welfare and a greedy demanding attitude coupled with extravagance does. If my description of a 2nd class citizen doesn't fit, don't sweat it. Nobody is trying to make you wear a shoe that doesn't fit.

Welfare people who are willing to work when they can, who are good members of PTA and church, who are Den Mothers and who keep the best homes they can don't fit 2nd class status, do they? Are they not contributing to the community? I don't remember criticizing them in my letter. You have nothing to complain about on that score.

You say the man who fails to support his family pays taxes also. Well, that's just fine, but I'm much more interested in the several thousands of dollars per year that he doesn't spend supporting his family which the rest of the tax paying community are forced to provide. You say welfare people are entitled to some medical care. I agree, everyone should have medical care, but wouldn't it be lovely if the absent fathers and free lovers who aren't dead could help pay the bills along with their income tax? I didn't father your children and I don't feel I should provide the necessities of life for them as well as my own. Why don't you deserted mothers unite with other welfare critics and lobby for national laws with teeth in them to require fathers and mothers to provide support and care for their babies under penalty of imprisonment at hard labor.

Your comments about jobs and finances are well taken. Again, I don't criticize those who try, and I don't mind helping someone willing to help himself. I do resent those who refuse any work because it might be menial or degrading, and I resent government agencies supporting them in this view. And while we're on the government, let me say I do criticize our waste in foreign aid and Vietnam. It's wrong for many of the same reasons that our present welfare system is wrong.

The great fallacy of welfare is that it is not free. Its price is actually pretty terrible. When you take a handout from the government you automatically forfeit your right to privacy and individual choice. When I, as part of the great supporting body of taxpayers, give you money for the necessities of life, I automatically am given the right to judge and criticize the way you spend it.

Freedom is the right to privacy and choice and is America's greatest gift to her citizens. When you accept welfare unnecessarily or abuse it, you trade your freedom for a mess of pottage. Your letter amply demonstrates that the price is too high.

In closing, may I say that I did not ask you to bow and scrape and you err greatly in suggesting it. Further, while you have made several pertinent statements, you failed to specifically answer any of my questions. I am still waiting.

Vasectomies report made

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tests showed that nine of 12 men who had vasectomies built up antibodies believed to be a factor in kidney inflammations, multiple sclerosis, rheumatoid arthritis and other chronic diseases, a scientist reported Tuesday.

"While there is presently no reason to discontinue these operations, their sheer number suggests there should be a careful study of the long-term consequences," Dr. John B. Henry said.

He also suggested that women who have undergone surgery for sterilization be checked for similar symptoms. The scientist estimated that one million of the sterilization operations are performed each year.

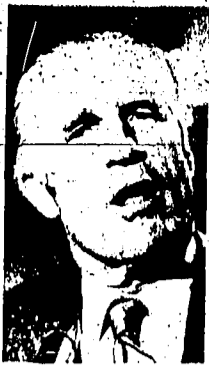

The preliminary tests involved 12 men at New York State University's Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse. Nine of the 12 showed symptoms similar to those of men with the diseases, possibly as a result of the surgery.

Henry disclosed the findings of his four-man team in a paper to the International Transfusion Congress, sponsored by the American Association of Blood Banks.

Henry, a professor of pathology, said that the nine showed symptoms of building up antibodies against their own sperm, which is forced to remain in the body after the operation.

He said the entrapped sperm apparently sensitizes white blood cells causing the formation of cytotoxic antibodies. Cytotoxic antibodies are believed to have a bearing on multiple sclerosis, rheumatoid arthritis and kidney inflammations, the pathologist said.

Henry said the testing also offered some evidence that could possibly indicate why many men do not regain fertility after subsequent surgery repairs the severed vas.

GEORGE ROMNEY

Aide resigns

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Arthur K. Watson, former IBM executive, has resigned as ambassador to France, saying his doctor told him he must "take six months off" because of asthma.

President Nixon accepted Watson's resignation in an exchange of letters released by the Western White House Tuesday.

Watson said he would leave his post in a week or so. No successor has been chosen, a White House spokesman said.

Nixon wrote Watson that he accepted the resignation with "greatest regret" and praised him for having been a "superb representative to our oldest ally and friend."

Amnesty policy draws protests

Romney defends position

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Housing Secretary George Romney, criticized by Pennsylvania victims of tropical storm Agnes, says the federal government has never worked faster than it has in helping victims of Agnes and the South Dakota floods.

Romney was criticized by Pennsylvanians who lost their homes and possessions in the storm that moved up the East Coast in June.

"It took us six months to provide approximately 5,000 units following Hurricane Camille (in 1969)," Romney said Tuesday in a statement. "Now, in nine weeks we have provided temporary housing for 17,382 families."

Romney said that housing reconstruction in Rapid City, S.D., where a dam broke during May floods, has been completed.

"Never before have homeless families been re-housed so rapidly," the secretary said.

TORONTO (UPI) — Dick Brown, 25, heard about President Nixon's statement that draft dodgers should "pay the penalty" before being granted amnesty and summed up his reaction briefly:

"A collective yawn. A big, so what."

Brown came here from Detroit in 1969 to avoid the draft. Although his draft case has been cleared up, he is remaining in Toronto as a military counselor at Toronto Anti-Draft Program.

"The fact that he has said no amnesty, in the long run, will allow people to discuss a more just amnesty, but it shows you that the man is just not able to look at reality. All the injustices he's perpetrating with the war will eventually come home to roost in America," Brown said.

Brown accused Nixon of contradicting a statement he made last December in an interview with CBS newsman Dan Rather.

"He said his approach to amnesty would be quite, very liberal, unquote," Brown said. "Now his definition of 'liberal' is certainly going to be different from mine but the man is still enough of a b— to say this. It shows him to be the two-faced politician he is."

"Amnesty is a valid idea and a valid issue, but it will become even more so when the war is over—not when some Nixon PR (public relations) man says it's over—but when the war is genuinely over. We still don't want any guilt attached. We are not the guilty ones," Brown said.

State decision delayed

BOISE (UPI) — A legislative interim committee Tuesday decided to wait until November before endorsing any specific measures to trim state government.

After mulling over a staff-prepared memorandum detailing a plan to re-group existing state agencies into 11 classifications, the committee officially recognized the need for government reorganization, but apparently chose to await the decision of Idaho voters Nov. 7. On that day, citizens will vote on a proposed constitutional amendment to reduce the number of state agencies to no more than 20 by Jan. 1, 1975.

The amendment closely resembles one proposed earlier by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Although the legislature voted to place the proposed amendment on the ballot, the committee also stepped a move to endorse Andrus' timetable and specific procedure for government reorganization.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, made such a motion but withdrew it after Sen. Ray Rigby, E-Rexburg, noted it would force a committee members to take a particular stand.

Rather than adopt that motion, the committee instead adopted as a report a proposal prepared by Rigby and Rep. Larry Looney, D-Coeur d'Alene. This pointed to the need for more knowledge about the functions and necessity of various state agencies, a need to develop lines of authority in the executive branch and the desire to pursue reorganization.

Memphis school busing ordered

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday ordered the busing of nearly 14,000 students now attending all-black or all-white schools in Memphis, Tenn., the 10th-largest school system in the United States.

The appellate court said the Memphis board of education failed to prove its 128 one-race schools were not the product of "past or present discriminatory conduct."

An attorney representing the school board said the decision would be studied carefully this week for possible appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Officials in Washington also planned to study the decision for its possible effects on the Nixon administration's pending busing legislation.

The 140,000-student Memphis system opened classes Monday and attorney Jack Petree said the ordered changes could not immediately be complied with.

"How long it would take to get the equipment necessary to set up the transportation system, I don't know," Petree said.

The appellate court affirmed the busing plan U.S. District Judge Robert McTear had ordered in April, and additionally instructed McTear to prepare a timetable for the integration plan.

Memphis has 53.6 per cent black students and 46.4 per cent white. But 128 of the 162 schools are not integrated.

Newcomer defeats Georgia senator

By United Press International

A newcomer to statewide politics defeated Sen. David Gambrell in Georgia's Democratic primary Tuesday and another relative unknown won the right to challenge Sen. Strom Thurmond in South Carolina.

Gambrell, who was appointed by Gov. Jimmy Carter to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., 19 months ago, was unseated by State Rep. Sam Nunn, a 33-year-old legislator who had received an 11th-hour endorsement from Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox.

Nunn faces formidable opposition in November from Republican Congressman Fletcher Thompson, who won the GOP's Senate nomination without opposition earlier this month.

In South Carolina, State Sen. Eugene N. Zeigler, conducting a personal appearance campaign "without the use of the mass media," beat attorney John Bolt Culbertson, a veteran liberal from Greenville.

Zeigler, 51, a six-year legislator who made his first statewide race, said he would begin his campaign immediately against Thurmond, a 69-year-old Republican whom Culbertson had said it would take a "miracle" to beat.

With almost 1,400 of South Carolina's 1,627 precincts reported, Zeigler had a lead over Culbertson of 139,640 votes to 105,297.

Reds push stopped

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese forces employing battle-tested U.S. tactics have stopped a Communist push on Saigon, military sources said today.

But fighting stepped up around the capital. Government forces lost six men clearing a Communist roadblock 23 miles from Saigon Tuesday while other militiamen repaired a bridge blown up on National Highway 1, the road to Cambodia, only 13 miles from the capital.

Near Kien Hanh, 35 miles northwest of Saigon, three militia platoons—about 100 men—fought a force of about the same size and reported killing 42 guerrillas. Eleven militiamen were killed and 22 wounded, military spokesmen said.

In the fight to recapture Quang Tri City, 400 miles north of Saigon, U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine jet fighter-bombers flew 24 strikes Tuesday, the most since May 3 when they flew 320, U.S. spokesmen said. Lt. (jg) Craig Woodard of Wichita, Kan., and his wingman, flying A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Hancock, reported starting one large and 10 small secondary explosions when they destroyed two storage areas protected with earthworks 15 miles west of Quang Tri City. North Vietnamese forces, who still hold the Quang Tri Citadel, bombarded South Vietnamese marines in and near the city with about 1,000 rounds of 130mm artillery and 82mm artillery and mortar fire Tuesday, Saigon spokesmen said.

In the air war against North Vietnam, the U.S. command said U.S. jets flew 200 strikes, about two-thirds the usual number, on Tuesday while tropical storm Cora was moving across the Red River Delta.

In the Saigon area, military sources said more than 1,600 Communist troops poised 40 miles north of the capital recently began moving south with the objective of hitting Saigon before the American presidential elections.

But South Vietnamese commanders in the capital's military region put together a 20,000-man "special" mobile force which struck this week, boxing the Communists into an area northwest of Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon. The strike force idea was borrowed from the U.S. 10th Infantry Brigade, which operated in the Saigon area in the late 1960's, a military source reported.

The mobile force of combined infantry, ranger and armored cavalry regiments was drawn from the South Vietnamese forces involved in the five-month-old battle along Highway 19 from Chon Thanh 40 miles north of Saigon, to the besieged provincial capital of An Loc, 20 miles farther north.

Before the creation of the strike unit, the South Vietnamese forces were tied to positions along the highway.

The source said halting the Communists' mobility cut their chances of carrying out an attack on Saigon by roughly two-thirds. "Before, we couldn't send any force to meet the enemy," the source said. "Now we can and he cannot move."

The Communists apparently tipped their hand on pulling out of their Highway 13 strong points, except for minor blocking forces, when they attacked Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon, Aug. 11. They have been skirmishing with government troops in the area since then.

Women needed

CULDESAC, Idaho (UPI)—The Culdesac Fire Department is actively recruiting women for any job they are capable of handling. Fire Chief Jerry Hewett said the move is from necessity. He said the men are usually away logging during the day and women often end up doing the fire fighting.

Accident kills 1

WILDER, Idaho (UPI)—One person was killed and three others critically injured Tuesday night in a car-truck collision at a county road intersection near here.

Canyon County Sheriff's deputies said Laura Lee Lemrick, 44, Percival, Iowa, was pronounced dead at St. Alphonsus Hospital after the car she was riding in was struck by a truck.

Mrs. Lemrick's husband, Barton, 47, and her son, Paul, 24, were in critical condition at Caldwell Memorial Hospital, deputies said.

The driver of the truck, John G. Stanley, Wilder, was also listed in critical condition at the same hospital. Five passengers in his truck were all reported in various stages of recover at the Caldwell hospital.

Officer said they were continuing to investigate the accident.

Israel said impartial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Tuesday talks with Prime Minister Golda Meir and other Israeli officials convinced him Israel was maintaining "strict impartiality" in the U.S. Presidential election.

Church, back Monday from a five-day visit, referred to reports that Israel favored President Nixon's re-election. They were based in part on an interview Yitzhak Rabin, Israeli Ambassador to the United States, gave to Radio Israel some time ago.

"Every political leader with whom I spoke stressed that inasmuch as American support for Israel has been bipartisan in nature they felt the policy of the United States would not be affected by the outcome of our election," Church said in a statement.

"I was told that nothing could be worse for Israel than for her to intervene in American politics or to favor one party over another."

Church also said Israeli military officers expressed no anxiety over U.S. retention of naval bases in Greece. Senate Republican leader Hu Scott opposed efforts to remove U.S. Naval forces from Greece on grounds the bases there were vital to Israel's security.

US troop cut set

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon announced Tuesday the withdrawal of 12,000 American troops from Vietnam but said he would continue bombing and mining until North Vietnam makes "substantial progress" in negotiating an end to the war.

Nixon said, however, it was "ridiculous" to believe the United States would be carrying on the air war years from now.

The bombing and mining he ordered May 8 would continue until Hanoi showed a readiness to reach agreement on ending the war, Nixon said.

"Unless there is progress on the negotiating front which is substantial, there will be no reduction of the bombing of North Vietnam and there will be no lifting of the mining," he said.

Nixon predicted that even if negotiations fail, the South Vietnamese, already carrying responsibility for ground combat, would replace Americans in the air and sea war in the Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam had been halted.

Munich: all eyes watch

By DR. JANOS VON ANDRASSY

Special to Times-News.

MUNICH — Keeping competing summer Olympic athletes healthy — and eliminating ills as they occur — is a big job.

With more than 10,000 athletes involved the project is really of major proportions. For instance the heart of the project here is a special diagnostic center with all equipment planned for further use after the games have been completed.

During the Games there are 320 physicians and 1,400 nurses on duty in addition to scores of attendance attendants, first-aid experts and also masseurs.

The 10,000 athletes will be in competition for a total of 1,109 medals awarded in the 21 disciplines (competitions) at the Games — this being the 20th Olympiad. Of the metals there will be 364 gold, for first place, 364 silver for second place and 381 bronze for third. The difference in the number of bronze comes because two of these will be won in each weight category in boxing and judo.

One of the interesting sidelight is that the 1,200 women competitors will not have to submit to any undignified procedure for the ascertainment of their sex. Medical experts will only have to examine one hair from each, as the follicle has now been found to furnish absolute proof of the owner's sex.

The sex tests were introduced by the Medical Commission of the International Olympic Committee at the 1968 winter games in Grenoble. At the Munich games exemptions were granted to women able to produce a certificate from certified Olympic officials.

I might point out that there was a lot of laughing when the rule was announced (it is carried out to make sure a competitor in the female races is not a male) because someone wanted to know what would happen if the girls wore wigs.

"Can they produce a hair from the wig?" one official asked.

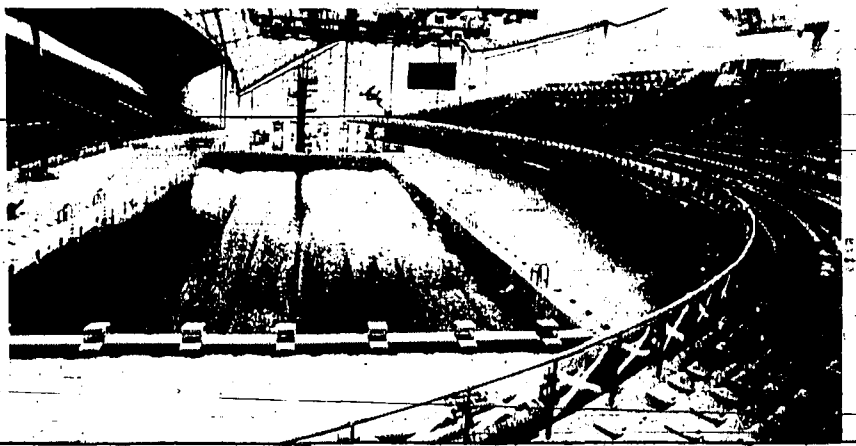

"Absolutely not," said the medical official. "It's their own hair or they do not get in."

One of the more popular athletes at the Games — one who participated when the games were last held in Germany in 1936 and who won four gold medals — is Jesse Owens. Just signing autographs for visitors — many who were not even born when he was at the top of his career — keeps him busy.

At this writing the weather has been most cooperative and it couldn't have been better on opening day. There are hundreds of newsmen here and the games are being beamed by television to all parts of the civilized world.

Political differences, which came to some head just before start of the games, has disappeared now that competition is underway. Everyone seems to be everybody's friend!

Dr. Andrassy, a widely known tour and travel official of Germany, visited in Twin Falls last summer and because he planned to attend the games, offered to write sidelights and provide pictures of the area. The Times-News is indebted to him for the story and the pictures making up today's article.

Expanded soybean crop plan may change rules

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration farm officials are giving serious consideration to revising 1978 feed-grain control rules in an effort to encourage expanded planting of soybeans, informed sources said today.

Just how the move might be made was uncertain. But sources said one possibility might be an order allowing growers to produce soybeans on acreage set aside, or idled, under the feed grain program.

To protect farmers against the possibility that heavy plantings might depress soybean prices, the Agriculture Department could guarantee to take off the market all beans produced over a National "target" total.

Another possible option, the sources said, would be to reduce the amount of acreage feed grain growers must "set aside" in order to qualify for basic price support benefits, but to simultaneously limit expansion of corn acreage. The twin steps would make acreage available for use in soybeans or whatever other crops farmers might choose.

Top Agriculture Department officials so far are discussing the entire issue publicly only in cautious language — avoiding any specific commitments and stressing they intend to avoid action which could drive down soybean prices which have been strong this year.

But a speech by Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carroll G. Brunthaver this week left no doubt that serious study will be given to freeing for possible 1973 markets. "The Soviet market is, of course, only one element in the growth of our export opportunities," Brunthaver added in a speech to soybean processors, "and export growth is only one element in our need for additional soybeans as the demand for meat ... expands here as well as in other countries."

"These opportunities being what they are, there would seem to be a certain consistency in a failure to produce enough soybeans, while at the same time holding out of production a large number of acres that could be used for this purpose," Brunthaver told the processors.

The official said that no decisions had been made, saying the question was one "that we will be considering."

Harvest delayed in Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Rains delayed harvesting of most crops in northern Idaho last week but cooler temperatures throughout the state eased demands for irrigation water.

A federal crop report said the small grain harvest outside of northern Idaho was active and nearing completion in many areas of the state.

The dry bean harvest in the southwest and southcentral areas was about 20 per cent complete.

Potato digging was in full swing in southwestern Idaho and about 20 per cent of the crop has been harvested.

Bad name

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Badlands National Monument is one of the rare national parks or monuments in the United States that actually is under-crowded.

The National Geographic Society reports that the South Dakota monument, 170 square miles of fantastically carved rock and soil in the southwestern part of the state, hosted about a million and a half visitors during 1971 but could easily have accommodated twice that number.

Produce Prices

TF blood drawing slated for Sept. 11

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Chapter of the American Red Cross has scheduled a blood drawing for 1 to 6 p.m. Sept. 11 at the American Legion Hall.

Chapter officials said that they realize that most new donors are apprehensive about giving blood, therefore, they have compiled some information they think will be helpful to prospective donors.

Noting that giving blood is a happy occasion, one in which life is celebrated and shared, they say that the normal human adult of average weight has approximately 10 to 12 pints of blood in his body, or about eight per cent of his body weight. One pint of blood is donated at a time and the interval between donations, at least eight weeks and not more than five times a year, gives the body ample time to replace the pint of blood.

Blood is procured by sending the bloodmobile on scheduled visits to each of the communities served by the Boise Regional Red Cross Blood Program. The communities are assigned quotas dependent upon the size of the community, frequency of bloodmobile visits and the amount of blood used by the community.

For the safety of both the donor and the recipient of the blood, the medical history of each donor is checked by a registered nurse. His blood pressure, temperature, pulse, and hemoglobin level are also determined by registered nurses. A volunteer physician is in attendance at all times. The blood is collected by specially trained registered nurses. All other services are performed by volunteers recruited by the chapter.

The blood is shipped to the central laboratory in Boise where it is processed, typed and returned to the communities upon request of their hospitals. Hospitals and physicians are also supplied with blood derivatives.

The quota for the September drawing has been set at 150 pints.

Dr. John P. Gibney will be the attending doctor.

Certification session set

TWIN FALLS — Margaret Lyngholm of the regional Red Cross office will conduct a two-day session to certify registered nurses to teach Red Cross Mother-Baby Care.

The class will be held in September and those interested in certification are urged to contact Dolores Sims, 733-0100 or the Red Cross office, 733-6464.

October Issue

THIS DESIGN of the Tom Sawyer commemorative stamp has been made public by the U. S. Postal Service. The design was taken from a Norman Rockwell painting of the celebrated fence whitewashing which took place in the Mark Twain book, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." The stamp will be issued Oct. 13 in Hannibal, Mo. (UPI)

Aide knows but won't tell culprit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst says he believes he knows who was behind the alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters here but he won't say who.

In an interview with the Washington Post, Kleindienst was quoted today as replying "I think so," when asked if he knew who was responsible for the break-in of the Democratic offices June 17.

When the reporter pressed, Kleindienst said he did not know for sure and would not elaborate.

Kleindienst said the Justice Department's investigation of the affair would be "the most extensive, thorough and comprehensive investigation since the assassination of President Kennedy."

Cod war likely for 2 nations

LONDON (UPI) — Iceland and Britain may find themselves in the middle of a "cod war" Friday unless Britain's last-minute effort to work out a settlement is successful, government sources said Tuesday.

The British government Monday delivered a note to Iceland proposing new talks to avert a confrontation in the freezing North Atlantic. But British officials said there have been no indications Iceland is in any mood to relax its stand.

The dispute stems from Iceland's decision of Aug. 6, 1971, to extend its offshore territorial limits from 12 miles to as much as 70 miles starting Sept. 1, 1972, closing the waters to foreign trawlers.

Iceland said it was taking the action to protect the rich fishing grounds which supply the only major national industry for the country's 200,000 people.

Britain and Iceland held a series of abortive negotiations earlier this year and in April Britain and West Germany, whose trawlers also fish off the Icelandic coast, appealed to the International Court at The Hague.

On Aug. 17 the Court handed down an interim decision in favor of Britain and West Germany, but Iceland refused to recognize the court's jurisdiction.

To prepare for the confrontation, British fishermen who work off the Icelandic coast have painted out registration numbers and names on their boats to make identification difficult if they encounter Icelandic gunboats.

On the other side, Britain said the Royal Navy is prepared to protect British trawlers if the situation gets desperate but it will avoid an armed confrontation if it can.

Demos said best for businessmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Business fares better under Democratic than Republican administrations, according to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

"If the Republican party is the party of big business," Proxmire said, "then I say it hasn't even taken care of its own constituency."

Proxmire, the chairman of the Senate House Joint Economic Committee, said corporate profits rose 3 per cent in the Eisenhower administration, and 9.5 per cent in the Kennedy-Johnson years.

Profits have fallen under President Nixon to the point that "in 1971 the economy's feeble performance wasn't enough to return profits to their 1968 levels," Proxmire said Monday in a statement.

"By almost every measure of business performance—profits, investment and production—the business sector has lagged miserably during Republican years," Proxmire said, "while during Democratic administrations business performance has made healthy progress."

Japan's budget higher

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's Self Defense Agency today settled on a tentative budget which, if adopted by Parliament will be the largest in the postwar era and 22 per cent greater than the current one.

The agency has asked for a budget of 378.2 billion yen ($3.2 billion) for the year beginning April 1, 1973.

Japan's armed forces this year are operating on a budget of 802 billion yen ($2.6 billion). Air Self Defense Force plans to buy 75 aircraft, including Phantom fighters, trainers, rescue helicopters, and 84 Nike air-to-ground missiles.

The Navy will order 13 destroyers with missile launchers, and 28 aircraft, including eight antisubmarine planes.

Orders for the ground force include 34 new armored vehicles and 50 Hawk missiles.

Closure okayed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Utility Commission has given Camas Prairie Railroad authority to close its station agency at Cottonwood.

However, the PUC said the railroad must provide toll-free telephone service to Grangeville for its Cottonwood patrons. It also must give 15 days' public notice before closing the station.

Interior of hospital day room

Opening set on Cassia addition

BURLEY — Opening ceremonies for additions and alterations to Cassia Memorial Hospital will be held Sept. 8, according to administrator Robert G. Barton.

Rodney A. Hansen, chairman of the governing board, will officiate at the ceremonies, and LDS Presiding Bishop Victor L. Brown will deliver the opening address.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the improvements took place in June, 1971. At a cost of slightly more than $1 million a large day room and dining area have been added to the hospital's north wing, a 40-bed east wing has been constructed off the south wing, and the south wing has been extended.

The construction has permitted the addition of 15 acute care beds and 25 nursing home beds.

The new east wing includes 40 opti-care units, a new concept in hospital care that provides maximum care and economy.

Alterations of the original building include carpeting and widening of doorways to meet funding standards.

Student referrals drop at Hailey

By LIZ BOLTON
Times-News Writer

HAILEY — Student referrals to the Wood River Mental Health Clinic, Hailey, have dropped considerably recently and clinic committee members are seeking an explanation.

Representatives of the Mental Health Committee met with the Blaine County School Board Tuesday to explain the problem and request assistance.

Russ Horn, committee member, said members feel there is a communication problem between the committee and school board members in that school board members fail to understand the scope of the clinic services.

"While the school is staffed to handle learning disability and mental retardation problems," Horn said, "the clinic is established to handle emotional problems which often cause learning impairment.

Dr. El Wenger, psychiatrist for the clinic, said the clinic offers a full range of psychotherapy, including individual, marriage and parental counseling, and total family studies.

"The staff is able to work with a child's family, lending continuity to the problem and effecting a solution," Dr. Wenger said.

Supt. Charles Clark agreed to meet Thursday afternoon with Dr. Wenger, with Richard Jones, the school's learning disability director, and Paul Burnett, head of the Child Development Center, Twin Falls.

The meeting will set the stage for monthly sessions of the four along with a member of the Mental Health Committee to iron out problems.

Survey slated

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

SHOSHONE — A survey to determine scope of drug abuse and alcohol problems as they relate to mental health is planned throughout all Magic Valley counties.

Rev. Mike Fitzgibbons, Shoshone, chairman of the regional mental health board, told members here Tuesday night additional data on the subject must be obtained for inclusion into the staffing grant being prepared for funding to provide mental health services throughout the Valley.

He said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare regional office, Seattle, had notified him that additional data is needed to indicate how the proposed mental health center would deal with the narcotics problems.

Larry Burman, Boise, Department of Environment and Health, told directors the survey also should serve to involve many people who deal with these problems. He urged the volunteers to contact not only judges, prosecutors, law enforcement officers, school leaders, clergymen, but "people on the street, taxidrivers and bartenders."

"These people know as much about the extent of drug abuse and alcoholism and the types of categories of local persons affected as any doctor," he said.

The board also is in the process of screening applications for the position of program director who would assist with completion of the larger staffing grant.

Roger Abernathy, Twin Falls, reported about eight applications have been received. The screening committee hopes to have the field narrowed and have the candidates meet with the full board Sept. 16.

Increased enrollment in most valley schools

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Writer

Gooding and Camas County schools opened today. Other Magic Valley districts predicted increased enrollment over last year.

In Blaine County, the school district reported a total first day enrollment of 1,395 students as compared to 1,415 students enrolled Sept. 9, 1971.

Ray Jefferson, assistant superintendent of schools, said he is expecting considerable late registration because of the week early start of school this year.

He said there probably will be an eight to 10 per cent increase in total student enrollment in the county. The expected increase is comparable to last year, he said.

A more accurate count for the year will be made after Sept. 9 and the Labor Day weekend.

Enrollment is up in the Jerome School District with 1,993 students registered the first day, Monday, as compared with the daily attendance average of 1,922 students last year.

School officials anticipate a five per cent overall increase in attendance when the average daily attendance check is made Sept. 8. Supt. John Campbell said many seniors have not

Paul slates Oct. 3 vote for new sewage system

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Writer

PAUL — Paul residents will vote Oct. 3 on a $125,000 bond issue to finance a proposed sewer extension and a treatment facility.

Paul Mayor Robert K. Larsen said the project would cost about $272,000, including land acquisition costs. An additional $45,000 will be used to replace and seal some of the existing main-sewer-trunk-lines in the city of Paul.

The total funds required will be divided so that a federal grant supplies $128,302, a state grant $84,195 and the balance from the city of Paul under the $125,000 proposed bond issue.

The bonds would be repaid over a period of 30 years by a monthly sewer charge. City officials estimate the charge for retirement of the bond would not exceed $2 per month per hookup.

Larsen said the sewer extension and treatment facilities were ordered by the state and federal government. Environmental hearings have been held with no objections registered to the new facility.

The present plant has only primary treatment. Waste is drained into the main drain near Paul.

The proposed treatment facilities will have both primary and secondary treatment. The combined plant could be constructed at less cost than adding a secondary treatment plant at the present site.

Present facilities will be abandoned except for emergency use.

Mayor Larsen announced a special meeting of the City Council is being planned in late September for persons interested to hear detailed reports on the project. The date of the special meeting will be announced later.

Wendel Smith is engineer for the project. The proposed facilities has been approved by the Idaho Department of Health and the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency.

All city residents over 18 years old will be eligible to vote on the proposed bond issue. The voting place will be the Paul City Office.

It will be necessary to register to vote unless already registered for a city election. LaVauna Tibbitts, city clerk, acts as registrar.

Polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m. Precinct boundaries are those of the city.

Bellevue plans Labor Day fete

BELLEVUE — The traditional tug-of-war between farmers and miners will be revived for Bellevue's 53rd Annual Labor Day Celebration on Monday.

The day's events will begin at 11 a.m. with a parade on Main Street. A free barbeque, with beef sandwiches and corn on the cob, will be served at 1 p.m. at the new city park, accompanied by live music.

Street sports, for "kids of all ages," are scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. on Main Street. A special feature of the sports will be a re-run of the "Roberta McKercher Handicap" for runners 50 years and older.

A raffle will also be conducted during the sports. First prize will be an automatic rifle, second prize a barbeque rotisserie and third will be a cooler. Throughout the day, carnival rides and concessions will be available at the city park.

The celebration is completely funded by local donations. They may be made at Sam's Club or the Silver Dollar Bar and Cafe. Proceeds, above the cost of the event, will benefit the new park. Officials for the celebration will be Bill Altken, event chairman; Boyd Jones and Marva Shoemaker, finance chairman; Charlie Young, street sports chairman; Okie Drussel and Walt Pascoe, barbeque pit preparation.

John Pascoe, in charge of the grounds and park crew; Faye Jones, serving; Bill Shappee, most chairman; Bill Showalter, parade; Kirk Brower and Mick Barker, advertising and entertainment; Bill Kohler, coffee committee, and Ron Showalter, raffle.

Hailey sidewalk improvement eyed

HAILEY — The Hailey Chamber of Commerce decided Monday to form a committee of merchants to explore sidewalk improvements along Main Street.

The decision came after City Councilman Claude (Hop) Porter said during the chamber meeting that any improvements of U. S. 93 through town hinged on up-grading of sidewalks and installation of gutters.

The councilman said the city had explored setting up a local improvement district last spring, but that the idea had died from lack of the support.

The new committee, which has not as yet been named, will study sidewalk designs and costs and will meet with the city and Idaho Department of Highways officials.

In other action, William O. Shaw was introduced as the new chamber president and John Szafryk as new vice-president. Shaw, the former vice president, replaces out-going president Jerry Osborn.

Priorities during his term of office, Shaw said, would be the continuation of programs initiated by Osborn, which included new Christmas decorations and re-opening of the city park.

The new president said he would also like to promote cooperation between all Hailey merchants on civic projects.

Public participation asked for Sawtooths

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

SUN VALLEY — Public participation in management planning for the Sawtooth National Recreation Area was urged Tuesday evening.

The appeal preceded a presentation of an environmental study and inventory of SNRA and adjacent lands, covering land geology and soils, vegetation types, fisheries, wildlife and scenic-historic features of the study area.

Robert Entzminger, assistant regional forester for the intermountain region who served as moderator, said four ways exist for the public to aid U. S. Forest Service land use planning.

Entzminger requested interested residents review the study reports and give additional information that had been overlooked; review specific management situations on the ground with forest service officials; help find management alternatives for specific areas to aid selection of the best such alternatives and review the proposed set of planning guidelines which will be discussed with the public after October.

Following the presentation, questions from the audience, which totaled about 50 persons, focused mainly on the details of the SNRA legislation. Fielding the questions were Gray Reynolds, superintendent of the SNRA; Ed Fournier, Sawtooth National Forest supervisor and Dick Benjamin, Challis National Forest supervisor.

In response to an inquiry on the effect of the legislation on subdivision development in the Stanley Basin, Reynolds said the forest service is empowered to guide development which would "retain the western ranching atmosphere" of the Stanley area.

The SNRA superintendent said proposals will be developed to meet this legislative intent and will be included in the proposed set of guidelines, which will be released later.

Reynolds also said the National Park Service is presently conducting a study on the SNRA and the Pioneer Mountains. He said that by Dec. 31, 1974, the department will present its recommendations on areas which should be included under the National Park system.

On funding, Fournier said the legislation established upper limits of finance — about $19 million for acquisition of private land and about $28 million for development — but did not include any appropriations.

Further funding bills will have to be submitted to Congress, he said.

One audience member said the "charm" of various areas of the SNRA stems from their undeveloped nature. He asked whether population limits may be required in these areas.

Fournier said, "We will be faced with rationing use in some places. I certainly hope we will be able to recognize the situation before it gets out of hand."

In response to a related question, Fournier said a study is currently being conducted by the University of Idaho on the population capacity of the Sawtooth Valley. Through the economic and sociological information provided by the study, a determination on how many people the area can support will be possible, he said.

The environmental study and inventory, which will be used in setting management guidelines, included the Sawtooth, White Cloud, Boulder and Pioneer Mountains.

Presenting data illustrated with slides were five specialists representing less than one-third of the disciplines covered in the study. They included wildlife biologist Frank Gunnell, fishery biologist Bill Platts, soil scientist Kermit Larson, ecologist Dr. Edward Schlatterer and interpretive biologist Art Sells.

Spitz wins third gold medal, Could surprised

MUNICH (UPI)—Mark Spitz extended his Olympic gold medal and world swimming record streak to three Tuesday when he won the 200-meter freestyle but Shane Gould of Australia saw her dream of a record gold harvest vanish in the 100-meter freestyle.

Spitz, the 22-year-old native of Carmichael, Calif., who some call the greatest swimmer in history, reinforced that argument when he won the 200-meter freestyle in 1:52.8, rallying on the final turn to best teammate Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif.

Miss Gould came to these Olympics with the idea of winning five individual golds and one in the relays, but she was disappointed when she came on to win the 100 freestyle in the Olympic record time of 58.6 seconds.

Shirley Babashoff of Fountain Valley, Calif., thought to be America's best in the event, finished second in 59 flat and Miss Gould, who won the 200-meter individual medley in world record time Monday, was third in 59.1.

In all, the United States picked up seven swimming medals Tuesday and increased its Games total in that sport alone to 13.

In other events, the Yank water polo team scored its third victory without a loss, 8-1, over Canada; the basketball team made it three in a row and 58 straight in Olympic competition with a 67-48 win over Cuba; freestyle wrestlers won seven of nine matches, and three of five rowing crews advanced to the semifinals through high placings in repechage heats.

Dwight Jones of the University of Houston scored 18 points despite suffering a groin injury midway through the first half to feature the basketball triumph over Cuba.

Otherwise, Italy's Angelo Scanzzone won the trap shooting gold medal with a world record 190 hits out of 200-possible changes; the Soviet Union picked up the gold medal in 62 mile team road cycling; Bulgaria's Noral Nourlikian won the gold medal in featherweight weightlifting with a total hoist of 887 pounds, and Japan won a gold medal in men's gymnastic team competition with 571.25 points.

The United States failed to advance anyone in men's foil fencing; light middleweight boxer Reggie Jones of Newark, N.J., dropped a controversial decision to Russia's European champ as fans showered the ring with garbage, and the American soccer team suffered its first loss, 3-0, to Malaysia.

There were two other swimming finals on Tuesday's program. Roland Matthes of East Germany successfully defended his Olympic 100-meter backstroke title with a Games record 56.6 clocking in one and Beverly Whitfield of Australia, who couldn't believe she was the winner, took the women's 200-meter breaststroke in the Games record time of 2:41.7 in the other.

Genter's time in the 200 freestyle was 1:53.7 and Werner Lampe of West Germany was third in 1:54.0.

Mike Stamm of San Diego, Calif., was second to Matthes in the 100 back in 57.7 and John Murphy of Hinsdale, Ill., was third in 58.3.

Dana Schoenfeld of Anaheim, Calif., picked up America's seventh medal of the day when she finished second to Miss Whitfield in the 200 breast in 2:42.0. Gailina Stepanova of Russia, the big favorite in the race and the leader after three touches, wound up third in 59.1.

Spitz, disappointed four years ago at Mexico City when he failed to win a single individual gold medal, is shooting for seven this year. His other golds here were in the 200 butterfly and the 400-meter freestyle relay.

Genter made a strong race of it against Spitz and was ahead of Mark until they touched for the last time. As they came up for the run home, Spitz was in front by a couple of strokes and he kept the margin the rest of the way.

"I passed a milestone in my career Monday," Spitz said. "With my victory Tuesday I have broken 31 world records. Now, I think I can relax."

Genter's strong showing in some ways was more impressive than Spitz's victory. Only four days before the race he was in bed with a collapsed lung and doctors were saying he had little or no chance of competing.

"They were pessimistic, but I wasn't," Genter said. "Now, I do feel a little tired."

Miss Nelson found it hard to believe she was a gold medal winner.

"It feels good but I don't believe it," she said. "I'm so excited."

The water polo team, which scrambled in the final minute to beat Romania and Cuba, had an easier time of it Tuesday, routing Canada, 8-1.

In wrestling, bantamweight Richard Sanders of Lakeview, Ore., and lightweight Dan Gable of Waterloo, Iowa, extended their records to a perfect 3-0. Paperweight Sergio Gonzalez of Venice, Calif., won his first match after drawing in the first two.

Meanwhile, flyweight James

Carr of Erie, Pa., and featherweight Gene Davis of Oklahoma City, Okla., were beaten. Carr stands 1-1 and Davis is 1-2.

In rowing, things looked up for the Yanks after they advanced only two boats on Monday. The fours with coxswain won a repechage heat Tuesday, the pairs without coxswain was second and Jim Dietz of New York City advanced by winning his heat of the single sculls.

A Frenchman and an Italian finished behind Scanzzone in the trap shooting final. The best American placing was sixth by James Poindester of Bradbury, Calif. Donald Haldeman of Souderton, Pa., was far back in 17th place.

Jones' loss in his light middleweight fight with Russia's Valeriy Tregubov almost touched off a riot when the decision was announced.

To most observers it appeared that Jones had scored a decisive victory, inasmuch as he staggered the Russian, nine years his senior at 30, three times in the final round and opened up a nasty cut over his eye.

Two judges gave the decision to Jones, one to Tregubov, and the referee and other judge called it even but gave the nod to the Russian "because of better style."

Jones could hardly believe the decision and talked later of quitting.

"This is not the first time this has happened to me," said the saddened 21-year-old Marine, "but it probably is the last. I've gone as far as I can go. I can't win a gold medal and I'll probably quit boxing."

Buddy Melges of Zenda, Wis., saved a shutout for America in the yachting competition, which finally got under way at Kiel. He won the new Soling Class race with a crew that included William Allen of Excelsior, Minn., and William Bertsen of Lake Geneva, Wis.

Big Eight may have top three teams in nation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Given the proper chain of events, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado could field the best three college football teams in the nation this fall. The odds against such a happenstance are phenomenal, but those three Big Eight Conference powerhouses have the material, the tradition and everything else necessary.

It's safe to say all three will be very good. But they can't win 'em all because they have to play each other.

Last season Colorado was beaten soundly by Oklahoma, 45-17, and Nebraska, 31-7. The Buffaloes, though a very good team, were a distant third behind the Cornhuskers and Sooners.

But then Nebraska and Oklahoma in 1971 may have fielded the best two teams in the history of college football.

That's a mouthful and will draw cries of rage from Birmingham, Austin and South Bend, but those who watched both teams all season and the slam-bang collision at Norman on Thanksgiving Day had no doubts. Nebraska was 35-31 victor and spectators thought their $6 tickets were vastly underpriced.

But let's take a quick look at the Big Eight's three national championship pretenders in 1972:

NEBRASKA—The Cornhuskers have played 32 consecutive games without a loss. They return such offensive standouts as slotback Johnny Rodgers, fullback Bill Oats, center Doug Dummer and tackle Darryl White.

The defensive standouts include middle guard Rich Glover, end Willie Harper, tackle Bill Janssen, monsterman Dave Mason and halfback Joe Blahak.

The word from Lincoln is that coach Bob Devaney's last team may be—his best defensively. Devaney has announced his retirement from coaching after this season.

What effect this might have on the Cornhuskers is debatable.

Nebraska probably will rise or fall with sophomore red-shirt quarterback David Humm, a classy signal-caller from Las Vegas, Nev. The schedule is in the Cornhuskers' favor. They could escape past UCLA, Texas A&M, Army and Minnesota before entering conference warfare.

Most of their problems may be ironed out by then.

OKLAHOMA—The first thing to consider about the Sooners is they have one problem and one problem only. That is at quarterback where slow-footed senior Dave Robertson will attempt to replace Jack Milne.

The other 21 positions are manned with superb athletes.

The top of the Wishbone-T returns for its third year together in the form of Greg Pruitt, Leon Crosswhite and Joe Wylie. Five of the seven starting offensive linemen return, led by center Tom Brananey, tight end Albert Chandler, tackle Dean Unruh and guard Ken Jones.

The defense is anchored by tackles Derland Moore and Raymond Hamilton and middle guard Lucious Selmon.

The Sooners are expected to throw more off the Wishbone with Robertson than they did with Milne. Wide receiver John Carroll is considered one of the finest. It's difficult to anticipate the Sooners being anything but good, but much of their success will depend on Robertson. He is surrounded, however, by classy performers.

COLORADO—The Buffaloes have lost two starters since spring training. Tight end J.V. Cain was ruled ineligible for the fall semester by the NCAA and sophomore defensive tackle Bubba Bridges was a summer-school casualty. Bridges, a 6-5, 280-pounder, figured to be outstanding.

Colorado's potential is indicated by the fact that Folsom Field has been sold out for all home games for the first time in history. Much of the offense will center around tailback Charlie Davis and quarterback Ken Johnson. A veteran offensive line is led by tackle Jake Zumbach. Defensively, the Buffs will be strong, too. Bud Magrum, the ex-Marine, has been switched to linebacker and he's surrounded by experienced players.

The Buffs have the capabilities, plus a schedule that permits them to meet both Oklahoma and Nebraska in Boulder. Should they jell early, as they did last year before injuries depleted the team, they could be as good or better than anyone.

A's regain division lead by posting 1-0 win over Indians

OKLAND (UPI)—Jim Hunter and Darold Knowles combined on a three-hit to pitch the Oakland Athletics into first place in the American League West with a 1-0 win over Cleveland Tuesday night.

Hunter, the ace of the Oakland staff with 17 wins in 24 decisions, gave up only two singles through the first eight innings before being lifted after Chris Chambliss' one-out double in the ninth. Knowles picked up his 10th save by retiring Craig Nettles on a fly ball and Tom McCraw on a groundout on only two pitches.

The game's only run came in the fifth inning on consecutive two-out singles by Gene Tenace, Hunter and Bert Campaneris.

Cleveland's only hit was a single by Alvin Davis in the first inning.

Oakland's record is 10-11, while Cleveland's is 9-12.

Texas splits with Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ted Ford's 12th home run of the season and second of the night launched a four-run Texas rally in the seventh inning of the nightcap as the Rangers snapped a five-game losing streak with a 7-4 victory over New York after the Yankees won the opener, 7-6, in 11 innings.

Ford, who had a three-run homer in the opener, greeted Ron Klimkowski, the third Yankee pitcher, with his lead-off shot to left field.

The Royals scored two runs in the second and four in the third, all without an extra base hit, and Carl Taylor led a 12-hit attack with three singles.

Coach Johnson has 10 lettermen including some proven talent. But 10 doesn't fill up a starting lineup, let alone a depth chart.

A plus will be the return of starting quarterback Steve Stanger, who will only be a junior this year.

Stanger showed he could throw the ball last year. In the backfield with him are Jack Hurt, 105-pound senior, and Don Brinks, 105-pound senior halfback. Other veterans are Rick Denny, 175-pound senior end; Tom Homan, 190-pound sophomore center, and Kenyon Gunnell, 170-pound senior tackle.

Coach Johnson also has been impressed with the showing of sophomores Mike Kenner and Mike Alred and frosh Kelly McFarland.

Murtaugh gets his blood in the traditional opener against the Valley Vikings at 4 p.m. Friday in Eden. The remainder of the schedule includes Sept. 8, Murtaugh at Kimberly; Sept. 15, Oakley at Murtaugh; Sept. 22, Declo at Murtaugh; Sept. 29, Murtaugh at Hansen; Oct. 5, Castleford at Murtaugh; Oct. 13, Murtaugh at Raft River; Oct. 20, Murtaugh at Hagerman.

One of the returnees is junior signal-caller Randy Brackenbury who at 6-0, 175, has grown a little since starting last season. The halfbacks are Rob Riding, 150-pound junior; Tim Matthews, 170-pound senior with two letters to his credit, and Kelly Taylor, 150-pound, two-year senior.

Keith Schrenk, 6-2, 195, is back at end, having lettered there as a sophomore. Hugh Roy, a sophomore gunning for his second letter, is 6-2, 200 pounds. Ray Arguello is a 5-6, 150-pound senior guard with two years' experience and juniors Kim Harris, 155-pound linebacker, and Grant Clark, 170-pound center, found out the veteran list.

All Declo home games played in September will begin at 8 p.m. and at 7 p.m. during October.

The schedule includes Sept. 1, Glenns Ferry at Declo; Sept. 9, Shoshone at Declo (1:30 p.m.); Sept. 15, Hagerman at Declo; Sept. 22, Declo at Murtaugh; Sept. 29, Declo at Castleford; Oct. 6, Declo at Hansen; Oct. 13, Oakley at Declo; Oct. 20, Raft River at Declo; Oct. 27, Kimberly at Declo, and Nov. 3, Declo at Valley.

The kokanee salmon are now on their spawning run in the South Fork of the Boise River above Anderson Ranch Reservoir and have reached the Baumgartner Campground area.

Fishing on these species has been slow to date. Fishermen are reminded there is a special five kokanee limit in the South Fork and beginning on Sept. 1 anglers must use a single hook of 5-6 (about a No. 6 trout hook or smaller). This single hook can be used on a lure such as a No. 3 mepps which is preferred lure for this species. Any kokanee hooked other than in the head must be immediately released.

Some people prefer a fourmepps, but newcomers prefer two for two.

The only splits are our lush-type chum gets bowling are at the bar.

Murtaugh team to be young

MURTAUGH—Youth is the key word in discussing the Murtaugh Red Devils team this fall and with Coach Jim Johnson looking at sophomores and freshmen as possible starters, some costly mistakes can't be far behind.

The Red Devils lost some fine talent from last year's team, namely John Flynn and Stuart Tolman, but four others did well.

Coach Johnson has 10 lettermen including some proven talent. But 10 doesn't fill up a starting lineup, let alone a depth chart.

Wendell builds toward first battle against Buhl Friday

WENDELL — With 11 13-12 setback in the opener. Coach Behrens lost five of his linemen and a linebacker to graduation, but the truth be known, Wendell could be a pretty good scoring machine.

The Trojans have good speed in wide receiver to quarterback, and Kip Dennis at halfback. A lot of A-3 track men throughout the state can attest to their speed. Stevenson is 5-10, 150 against Middleton undefeated, and Dennis is 5-11, 160. The other backfield veterans are allowed only 33 points and shutout three opponents.

Buhl was one of the teams that defeated Wendell early, a 5-9, 150-pound senior halfback.

Wendell also boasts a couple huge linemen, headed by 6-4, 280-pound center Jim Parr, a senior, and senior George Ambrose, 6-0, 245-pound tackle. But there's quite a drop to the next veteran linemen, 160-pound Jim Orth, a center. Other lettermen in the line are Mike Eaton, 155-pound guard; Don McClug, 145-pound guard; Vince Dias, 155-pound guard, and Tony Rost, a good receiver at 5-10 and 140-pound end.

Juniors are rather noticeable by their absence at Coach Behrens has only seven on the team, including Bunn. The others include Kent Sisson, 150-pound quarterback; Pat Borchard, 162-pound end; Paul Hulet, 124-pound guard; Gary Mobley, 165-pound tackle; Joe Seckora, 145-pound end, and Kurt Benson, 140-pound end. Seniors trying for their first letters are Steve Durfee, 180-pound tackle; Dan Mason, 195-pound tackle, and Marshall Henderson, 160-pound end.

Coach Behrens sees help in the sophomore class from Pat Higginsbotham, 175-pound halfback, and Blaine Scott, 154-pound guard.

The kokanee salmon are now on their spawning run in the South Fork of the Boise River above Anderson Ranch Reservoir and have reached the Baumgartner Campground area.

Fishing on these species has been slow to date. Fishermen are reminded there is a special five kokanee limit in the South Fork and beginning on Sept. 1 anglers must use a single hook of 5-6 (about a No. 6 trout hook or smaller). This single hook can be used on a lure such as a No. 3 mepps which is preferred lure for this species. Any kokanee hooked other than in the head must be immediately released.

Some people prefer a fourmepps, but newcomers prefer two for two.

Declo will depend on underclassmen

DECLO — With only three senior lettermen back, Coach Mike Matthews and the Declo Hornets might have a tough time improving on last year's solid 8-2 record.

The Hornets face their first non-conference test Friday night, hosting the Glenns Ferry Pilots.

Coach Matthews saw graduation strip nine men off his starting unit last year and he's going down largely to the junior class for replacements.

However, five of the juniors played long enough last fall to letter and will not be going into the season pea-green.

One of the returnees is junior signal-caller Randy Brackenbury who at 6-0, 175, has grown a little since starting last season. The halfbacks are Rob Riding, 150-pound junior; Tim Matthews, 170-pound senior with two letters to his credit, and Kelly Taylor, 150-pound, two-year senior.

Keith Schrenk, 6-2, 195, is back at end, having lettered there as a sophomore. Hugh Roy, a sophomore gunning for his second letter, is 6-2, 200 pounds. Ray Arguello is a 5-6, 150-pound senior guard with two years' experience and juniors Kim Harris, 155-pound linebacker, and Grant Clark, 170-pound center, found out the veteran list.

All Declo home games played in September will begin at 8 p.m. and at 7 p.m. during October.

The schedule includes Sept. 1, Glenns Ferry at Declo; Sept. 9, Shoshone at Declo (1:30 p.m.); Sept

A Volkswagen
guarantee
doesn't have to guarantee
a Volkswagen.

Any used
car that's tough enough to pass VW's 16-point inspection deserves a VW guarantee. No matter how big it is.

You see, a VW guarantee isn't a 50/50 deal, but our full 100% guarantee to repair or replace all major mechanical working parts* for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first.

So before we guarantee a big used car, we make sure it's as tough as our little car.
Here are some big cars
who are tough enough:

*engine, transmission, brake axle,
front axle assemblies, brake system,
electrical system.

Goes to dogs

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Eighty-one stray dogs, ranging from purebreds to mutts, have inherited about $14 million from the estate of their spinster mistress, Eleanor E. Ritchey.

Miss Ritchey, heir to the founder of the Quaker State Refining Corp., left the money to the dogs when she died Oct. 14, 1968, at the age of 58.

Her estate was settled Monday after four years of litigation brought by relatives who, for the most part, were left out of the will.

Miss Ritchey's original bequest was $4.5 million to 150 stray dogs. Since then, the estate has multiplied and the dogs diminished to 81.

BOISE (UPI) — Democratic senatorial nominee William E. "Bud" Davis said today he would not support a much talked about secondary boycott of Idaho potatoes.

Davis said during a news conference with leading Idaho Democrats that he did sign a lettuce boycott petition during the State Democratic Convention in Sun Valley in June.

"The lettuce statement was to support the right of workers to organize peacefully," Davis said. "I did abstain from eating lettuce during the convention."

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said he was in favor of Davis receiving money from that labor group.

He said he would not support a secondary potato boycott because it was contrary to labor regulations.

Earlier this spring there was talk of a nationwide potato boycott by the United Farm Workers because of labor regulations adopted by the state.

Davis was asked about where he would receive campaign funds for his senatorial race.

He said they would come from different groups possibly including COPE, the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said he was in favor of Davis receiving money from that labor group.

Davis also said he never made a statement that he would not take money from out-of-state groups, but added that his primary campaign was financed mostly by in-state funds.

The news conference for Davis was attended by Andrus, Byron Johnson, Rose Bowman and a representative for Tony Park.

Johnson said in a prepared statement that Davis is a person well suited to fulfill the responsibilities of the Senate seat. He said his experience and background will give him the necessary wisdom to make the decisions that affect the people of Idaho.

"His opponent has shown through his actions and votes in Congress that he would provide only negative, reactionary representation," Johnson said.

Davis will face Republican James A. McClure in the November General Election.

Students increasing at shaken Chinese colleges

PEKING (UPI)—Shaken and closed by the struggles of the Cultural Revolution, China's universities are beginning to increase their student bodies again while carrying out an "Educational Revolution" to change and shorten education to emphasize the practical.

At Peking University, some 2,700 students were enrolled in 1971 when classes reopened after four years in comparison with the 10,000 there before the Cultural Revolution began in 1966. This school year enrollment is being increased to 4,200.

Chou Pei-yuan, the internationally-known physicist who is vice chairman of the Revolutionary Committee which runs the university, estimates that it will take several more years to reach and surpass the enrollment of before the Cultural Revolution.

The educational future of the millions of Red Guards—some outside estimates are from 15 to 20 million—who were sent to work in the factories and countryside as the Cultural Revolution waged its vague.

Chou and several members of the Revolutionary Committee and teaching staff tried to explain what was going on at Peking University to a UPI party visiting China recently, seated in a beautiful green-tiled reception house that was once part of the American-founded Yenching University. Some of its departments were combined in 1952 with Peking University, which took over and enlarged the campus.

They explained that the two-year-old Educational Revolution is still experimenting in reshaping the curricula. The old practice of selecting students on the basis of examinations has been scrapped in favor of one which takes account of "political consciousness, their relations with the masses and their health" as well as merit.

In the sciences the emphasis is on—on—uniting theory with practice in the university manufacturing workshops while at the same time continuing fundamental research, according to Prof. Chou, who worked at the University of Chicago, the California Institute of Technology and Princeton before returning to China.

In history, the textbooks are being rewritten and also shortened to eliminate what is considered unessential material.

In literature, the emphasis is on Chinese literature. Shakespeare and the Western classics are not being studied now, although there may be time for them later.

Dressed in blue Mao jackets, Chou and his associates stood in line and applauded the arriving cars of visitors. Inside around an oblong table set with cups of constantly replenished tea came the explanation of the Educational Revolution at Peking University. Inside the room they spoke in Chinese but later, in showing the visitors around switched to English.

Li Chia-kuan, a member of the standing committee of the Revolutionary Committee, explained:

"In 1957 and 1958, Chairman Mao put forth a new educational principle. It is that the student must be trained morally, physically and culturally so that he becomes a laborer with social consciousness. Chairman Mao also said that education must be combined with proletarian politics and productive labor."

Former chief of state Liu Chao-chi turned the universities into institutions divorced from proletarian politics, from the workers, soldiers and peasants, it was explained. Then the Cultural Revolution began in 1966 when revolutionary teachers and students seized power "from a handful of capitalist reactionaries."

In August of 1969, a Mao propaganda team came to the university and began the educational revolution, and in September, 1969, the revolutionary committee of the university was founded. Chou, who was vice president of the university before the Cultural revolution, is vice chairman of that committee.

News Of Servicemen

JEROME — Lt. Lloyd W. Werner has been awarded the Army Commendation Medal for outstanding performance as training officer from January, 1971, to May, 1972.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Werner, Jerome, he was attached to Company D, Second Battalion, First Advanced Individual Training Brigade, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Werner completed active duty in the Army May 23 and will soon be employed by the U.S. Forest Service in Oregon. He graduated from Jerome High School in 1966, and from the University of Idaho, Moscow, in 1970.

TRIPLER ARMY MEDICAL CENTER, HAWAII — Army Dentist John F. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson, Buhl, has been transferred to Tripler Army Medical Center, Hawaii.

Lt. Col. Nelson will be chief of oral medicine, oral diagnosis and oral pathology in the center's department of dentistry. He was previously stationed in Vietnam.

He is a 1952 graduate of Buhl High School and attended the University of Idaho, University of Minnesota, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Nelson is a recipient of the Meritorious Service Medal.

His wife, Josephine, is with him in Hawaii.

FT. ORD, Calif. — Pvt. Juan A. De La Torre, son of Mrs. Carmen M. Wilson, Heyburn, is training under the modern volunteer army program at Ft. Ord.

Pvt. De La Torre began his training with Company H, 5th Battalion of the First Brigade on Aug. 4. He is scheduled to complete the first phase of training Sept. 29.

The program combines basic and advanced individual training (AIT) into an average 16-week program, depending on the AIT the soldier receives after completing basic. Decentralized instruction at the unit level and a reduction of formations and inspections give the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time. Fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities are other benefits of the program.

Proposal gives elected solons more authority

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — A staff researcher put before a bipartisan legislative interim committee today a government reorganization plan that gives elected officials more authority and reduces agencies to 11.

A spokesman for the Governor's State Planning Agency called the outline the work "of one or two people" that is both incomplete and lacking in public input.

"This approach is opposite to the approach the executive branch has chosen to take," planner Joe Welch told the committee.

He pointed out that the executive branch, under leadership of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, proposes a constitutional amendment limiting the number of agencies to no more than 20 and then seeking input from both the public and the state officials for developing a plan.

Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, said the committee is not about to adopt the outline as its officially recommended reorganization plan.

But he said the outline does give the committee some place to start in talking about reorganization. He said the legislature eventually will make the decision and that this is at least 1 1/2 years away.

Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, said he was certain nobody on the 10-member committee would buy the plan as is.

"But it does take the elected officials and puts people under them and makes them responsible," Brown said.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, called the outline "so premature we'll make it confusing" to the public.

She recommended the committee take a function approach.

Sen. Neil Miller, D-Blackfoot, said a basic question the committee must answer is whether it wants to give a newly-elected governor power to implement his campaign promises.

Much of the governor's power in the past 30 years, he said, has been put under the boards and commissions he cannot control.

"The people gave direction when they turned down the short ballot," Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the committee, said.

"They want elected officials and they want them to act."

"You are not going to get much input until you give them something to chew on. I think the people are entitled to some grouping—to see what the proposed constitutional amendment (if they approved the amendment)" he said.

Researcher Allen Willis told the committee that in developing the outline they requested he tried to group agencies by their most closely related functions. He said he then considered creation of six or seven agencies and grouped other functions under elected officials "because they are answerable to the people."

At the head of his 11-agency list Willis put what he called "a super department" of human and natural resources. If this is too large and powerful, he said, it could be split into three smaller departments of human resources, natural resources and agriculture.

Other agencies or elected officials who would head up additional functions were the board of regents, the governor, health and welfare under a board of health, the attorney general, the secretary of state, a department of business regulation, a transportation department, administrative services, a department of revenue and taxation and the state treasurer.

He suggested putting professional examining boards under the secretary of state because they are clerical in nature although he said they also would fit under business regulation.

All education would be under the board of regents.

Holiday deaths seen

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council has estimated that between 580 and 680 persons could die in traffic accidents during the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The council said Monday traffic deaths during a nonholiday weekend and "working Monday" would be about 470 "at this time of year."

The Labor Day period last year claimed 616 lives due to traffic accidents. However, the council said there are 3 million more drivers and 4 million more vehicles registered this Labor Day.

The council also estimated there would be between 23,000 and 27,000 persons injured during the holiday, compared to a "normal" 19,000 traffic injuries.

The council estimated 11.8 billion vehicle miles would be traveled during the holiday compared with 11.4 billion during a nonholiday period.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You find you are quite nervous and restless now and need to be very careful you are not forgetful and that you avoid breaking promises. You are thinking with good logic, but have trouble carrying through with the sensible decisions you make. Be steadfast.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take time to compose yourself so that you do not have trouble in motion of any kind, especially while driving on the highway, turning corners, and so forth. Avoid sarcasm with associates. Diplomacy pays off well.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A more balanced attitude is best, since you can be very stingy, one minute and overly extravagant the next. Do contact an adviser you can trust. Make the investment that will lead to greater security in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to go after personal aims with a vengeance; if you plan your time well, you can do just that and handle business also. Listen to what a clever person has to suggest. Haphazard activity could have you running around in circles, though.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you try to get out of that obligation you have assumed, you can certainly come a cropper now. Try to assist others with their troublesome affairs. You are a fine humanitarian at heart.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You cannot rely on usually helpful friends today since they are preoccupied with their own affairs, so handle matters well by yourself. A poised attitude is wise when dealing with others. Have a delightful time socially in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use courtesy in dealing with others or you really get into trouble. Safeguard your reputation and be on the safe side. Drive with utmost care in p.m. if you have to go out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are tempted to make some radical changes now but the time is not right for such, so await a better day. Sit down and plan new arrangements first. Show you are an expert in whatever you do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are responsibilities you have to handle, so get at them though you may not be in the right mood for such. Mate may be in a bad mood. It would not be a good idea to ask the reason.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Understand what it is a good partner has to say instead of trying to follow your own way of thinking now. This could be very helpful to mutual affairs. Avoid arguments that are annoying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Many tasks face you and there is no more ideal day than this to get them out of the way efficiently. Plan more time for rest later so you rebuild your energies. Do a little reading and relax before you retire.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to get into the amusements you enjoy now with congenial after you have done your work well. Show more affection for mate. Buy some thoughtful gift that will please. Early to bed tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The situation at home is apt to be very tense, so get busy making everything there more harmonious. Show you have understanding for others. Don't discuss any controversial subjects and start a serious argument.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY He or she will be one of those very restless young people who early in life will require much rest and a very good diet to build up the body, so be sure to put to bed early even though this child wants to stay up late and be peevish. Siant the education along lines that will place your offspring before the public, whether as a salesperson, on the rostrum, entertaining, or whatever. Teach early to complete whatever has once been started.

What's What

That New York City's past side is said to be an excellent field for lonely bachelors in search of unattached girls has been reported. What should be noted, also, is the Boston suburbs are likewise a happy hunting ground for lonely single girls in search of bachelors. There, approximately 40 per cent of the masculine population is said to be unmarried, still.

CAN'T dogs be insured against accidents? Certainly. Dog policies cover just about everything except poisoning.

YOUNG LADY, if your body radiates approximately the same amount of heat as a 100-watt light bulb, say the science boys, you're exactly average. If more, send a snapshot.

GIRLS who are born under the sign of Aquarius take considerable wooing. Or such is the contention of our consulting Planet man. They don't much care for housework, just can't put up with a man who is too thrifty, and are bored by fellows with inferiority complexes.

QUERIES
Q. "What's the most widely loved animal?"
A. The dog, I guess. Or the horse, on. Don't know, ask me something else. Like what's the most widely detested animal? That's the rat.

Q. "IN A church wedding, how does everybody know when it's supposed to start, exactly?"
A. When the mother of the bride walks in, that means it.

DITTY
Back-to-school time is fast upon us, and a client asks again to hear that previously printed variation on a popular old ditty, as follows: "School days, school days... Dear old break-the-rule days... Hocking and rioting, throwing bricks... Dodging the cops with their big night sticks... You were my queen in jeans, go go... I was your barefoot long-haired beau... We scrawled on the wall, 'Hell, no, we won't go... When we were a couple of kids.' Sentimental thing, isn't it?"

THERE'S a certain clever fellow with the FBI who reportedly can go through the fingerprint files and pick out all the trumpet players. Nont.

AT AGE 60, mister, your grip is only 84 per cent as strong as it was when you were 25. If average. Or such be the indication from a scientific study of about 1,000 ex-Navy men.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a hired companion to an 88-year-old invalid woman. She is very wealthy and lives in a luxurious mobile home with every convenience you could imagine. I occupy the back bedroom of her mobile home. I am well paid, but here's my problem:

This lady smokes constantly and has frequently fallen asleep with a lit cigarette between her fingers.

I work from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m., caring for her, and I need my rest, but I'm afraid to go to sleep because she gets up during the night, lights a cigarette and falls asleep.

This lady is friendly with the manager of the trailer court, who knows about her smoking, but does nothing about it. Her doctor also knows because I have told him. He also has done nothing.

wants action

Abby, I am so afraid that one night she will set fire to this mobile home. What can be done? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You must persuade the lady that for her own safety she must either turn in her matches at bedtime or hire a companion for the night shift. And for heaven's sake, implore her doctor and the manager of the court to take some action!

DEAR ABBY: If a girl is single and free to date, has a child, and a fellow wants to take her out, should the fellow pay for the babysitter? Or should the gal pay for it herself? In this case, the girl has limited funds, and the man is aware that she has a child.

Should she just drop a hint, or come right out and say, "I'm sorry, I can't go out this evening because I can't afford a sitter," and then wait for him to offer or what?

I feel that if a man can afford to date a girl, he should consider the sitter a part of the expense of dating, right?

SHORT OF MONEY

DEAR SHORT: Paying the sitter should be the mother's responsibility. If the gentleman offers to pay for the sitter, fine, but anything resembling a "hint" would be in poor taste.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 20s and have been married for five years. Neither my husband nor I want children. We do not like children, and we do not need them. Ever since we have been married, all I have heard from the community is "When are you going to have children?" I am so sick and tired of hearing this astinine and rude question that I could scream. I am beginning to feel as tho I should have been a salmon — a simple creature that lives only to spawn and then die. That is the way most people seem to regard young married women.

Well, I have news for them: I am perfectly happy with my life as it is. I have no desire or "urge" to have children. I have a good job that makes me feel needed and useful. I feel as tho I am doing my part for mankind in earning my own support and doing a much needed job. And if those nosy people think that I'm missing the "joy" of supporting children, just let them look at my tax bills. I'm busy enough supporting children of those people who don't have enough sense to use birth control. I don't need any more bills.

I'm no dope — I have a good mind, and I contribute as much to the working force as any man, and I think that if that is enough for my satisfaction, it should satisfy the old biddies in the community.

So, please, Dear Abby, tell those rude and insensitive people to stop trying to make a girl feel useless unless she has a dozen kids trailing behind her. I am as useful and feminine as any mother (more than most) and I intend to stay that way. The doldrums of childrearing are not for me. Give me a challenging and rewarding business career any day!

SIGNED: SMART — NOT SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SMART: You've already told 'em. But good!

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South ruffed the third round of hearts and hummed softly to himself. If you had listened carefully, you would have noted the words were: "Where, o where is the king of diamonds? Where, o where can it be?"

Look at the hand. You can see his problem. If East holds the king, he can enter dummy with a high trump; lead the queen of diamonds and let it ride. Then he can play ace, king and a third club. The defense will win its third trick, but South will be able to ruff the fourth club in dummy and make his game.

Suppose West has the king of diamonds. The finesse will lose and eventually South will have to lose his fourth trick to the queen or jack of clubs.

South didn't hum very long because he knew where the king of diamonds was. West had opened the bidding with a heart with just seven high card points in that suit. Without the king of diamonds West could not hold more than 10 high card points and would not have made a vulnerable opening bid. As extra confirmation, East had passed the one heart opening. He might well have responded with the king of diamonds and three hearts to the queen.

Since he knew where the monarch was located, South proceeded to make his contract. He simply led his low diamond toward dummy.

West did the best he could. He rose with his king and led a trump.

South won in his hand; cashed the diamond ace; played two more rounds of trumps to stop in dummy; and discarded his two small clubs on the queen and jack of diamonds.

Newlyweds feted at TF reception

TWIN FALLS—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dennis Moon were honored at an afternoon wedding reception Sunday.

The event was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Houn.

The bride is the former Barbara Shulsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Bolich.

The bride's table was covered with an ivory lace tablecloth and centered with a wedding cake decorated with dainty pink, coral and raspberry-pink flowers. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was encircled with pink tapers. A silver punch bowl holding champagne raspberry Trappe and a pink gladioli floral arrangement completed the table arrangement.

The bride's mother served the cake. Mrs. Cisco Garcia, sister of the bride, served coffee and Mrs. Rodney Bolich, sister-in-law of the bride, served the champagne-trappe punch.

Randy and Kim Shulsen, son and daughter of the bride, assisted at the gift table.

The couple exchanged vows in a private afternoon ceremony Aug. 17 in the Fireside Room of the First United Methodist Church. Rev. Herbert E. Morris officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brown, Corvallis, Ore., brother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Fern Servent, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Guests attended from Oregon, Rupert, Boise, Castelford, Jerome and Twin Falls.

The couple will reside in Twin Falls, where the bridegroom is a student at CSI and the bride is employed as receptionist-secretary at the Community Action Agency.

The bridegroom, a former Shoshone resident, was graduated from Shoshone High School and is now a student at Brigham Young University.

P. N. Stowell was master of ceremonies for the special program presented during the evening.

Baskets of gladioli decorated the hall and quartet tables were centered with miniature baskets of flowers.

Hints

The best way to clean bare aluminum used in the kitchen is with a simple soap and water solution. If the surface has heavy deposits of dirt, a stronger cleaner may be necessary. But use the mildest solution possible. Don't be guilty of cleaning "overkill."

A Lovelier You

COLOR KEYS FLATTERY

By Mary Sue Miller

Colors are a travelogue of hilltop America on a golden autumn day. The earth's colors, deep browns and russets, mingle with flashes of the frost-nipped red and yellow of oak and maple leaves. The lush green of spruce and pine backgrounds, valley of drying grain. Then there's the bright of the sky and the migrating mallards, the warmth of late plums and roses.

All those shades combine with each other and with black, white cloud gray — in the fabrics themselves, or via trims and accessories. Whatever you elect to wear, it obviously will not lack eye appeal. It will enhance your individual loveliness as well, if it complements your skin tone. As a guide to the late and feminine skin tones, just-right choices, new shades are matched on this chart:

BRUNET SKIN: True red; antique gold, bottle and moss green; brilliant blue; red plum and shocking pink; black with white; gray flannel; camel; russet; dark brown; creamy white.

BLOND SKIN: Burgundy red and crush of roses; blue spruce and black pine; French blues, winter navy; ultra-violet and blue plum; jet black; silver gray; oatmeal and pearly browns, snowy white.

FLORID SKIN: Light to dark brown, oatmeal, sand, slate gray; raven black; oyster white; blue spruce and blackened greens; blue violet; all blues on fall palette.

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost in youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
