Labor leaders divided on backing Demo ticket

By United Press International.
AFL-CIO President George Meany won't vote for either President Nixon or Democrat George S. McGovern but describes McGovern as "an apologist for the Communist world."
United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock calls on labor "to unite more firmly and vigorously than ever before to elect George McGovern" and criticizes Nixon for an "ineffective" economic performance, failure to end the war, and for dividing blacks and whites. Leaders of organized labor remained sharply divided today as the nation observed Labor Day—the traditional starting point for presidential campaigns. And both McGovern and Nixon took the occasion to appeal for the votes of unionists.

McGovern, running as much as 34 points behind Nixon in the latest polls, scheduled Labor Day speeches at Barberton and Chippewa Lake, Ohio, and Alameda County, Calif. In remarks prepared for a rally at Barberton, he accused Nixon of allowing inflation, condoning unemployment, plotting a national sales tax, and turning the government "into the White House-Wall Street connection."

"The Democratic party is the party of the people," McGovern said. "The Republican party is the party of the privileged. And this election is the renewal of a struggle as old as the Great Depression and as recent as the economic black magic invented by Richard Nixon when he gave us recession and inflation at the same time."

Nixon, in a Labor Day radio broadcast, praised the working man's contribution to American prosperity. He argued his administration had cut the rate of inflation, provided more jobs and successfully completed the shift from a "wartime" to a stable, peacetime economy.
Meany defended in a Sunday television interview the decision of the AFL-CIO executive council to endorse no presidential candidate this year. It was the first time the council had failed to endorse a Democratic candidate since the AFL-CIO was formed. Several AFL-CIO member unions have endorsed McGovern, however, and McGovern strategists have said they expect unions representing 10 million of the AFL-CIO's 13.5 million members to be behind McGovern by election day.

Woodcock, also interviewed on television, said "profits have soared to record levels" during Nixon's term in office.

Southern chiefs pleasant

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI)—Southern governors gave Sen. George McGovern a "pleasant" reception—but no commitments—Sunday night at their annual conference.

The best public backing the Democratic presidential nominee could get after a dinner appeal to the governors of 17 Southern and border states and Puerto Rico was from Gov. John West of South Carolina.

West, who had refused comment earlier on the presidential race, said after the private meeting with McGovern that he will vote the Democratic ticket in November.

But West added that he would not ask South Carolina voters to follow his lead, suggesting instead that they follow "the dictates of their conscience."

Most governors secluded themselves at heavily guarded villas after meeting McGovern and were not available to comment on the dinner gathering. Gov. Bob Scott of North Carolina, who has endorsed McGovern, scheduled a news conference shortly after McGovern's appearance but cancelled it at the last minute.

The governors were scheduled to officially begin their three-day conference, with a discussion of regional problems today and political attention now focused on the appearance of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew at a state dinner Tuesday night and his planned address to the session Wednesday.

McGovern held a brief rally at nearby Savannah, Ga., Sunday night before being taken by helicopter to the posh plantation club on Hilton Head to meet with the governors. McGovern was invited to the conference by West and Scott, co-hosts for the meeting.

Flash flood sweeps town

HILLSBORO, N.M. (UPI)—Searchers on horseback were called into southwestern New Mexico today to look for the bodies of five or six missing persons carried away by flash floodwaters.

The bodies of two other persons were found Sunday, hours after the Pecos River, fed by a week of hard rain, boiled out of its banks.

Four feet of water rippled through Hillsboro, flattening buildings, washing away a dozen vehicles, injuring three persons and chasing 80 out of their homes to higher ground. Many spent the night in the town school.

Lupe Terrazas, about 75, was killed when high water caused the adobe walls of his house to collapse on him. Ed Newton was drowned in his pickup, which was washed into the mainstream of the flooding Pecos.

"The river is within its banks now," said Sierra County Undersheriff Charlie Cox today. "But the countryside is saturated and it wouldn't take much rain to start it again."

Hillsboro Fire Chief Leroy Howe said the missing persons included two young hitchhikers who had stayed the night in the firehouse and a party of three or four persons on a camping trip. All were unidentified.

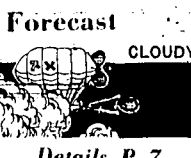

Cox said he was leading a party on horseback to search downstream for any bodies.

Howe said there was some mud and debris left in the town "but the water pretty well flushed the debris out as it went through."

Blast felt

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—The Seismological Institute today registered what it believed to be an underground nuclear explosion on the Cola Peninsula near the Soviet Arctic Sea Coast.

The former POWs made these statements only after the military "spirited them away" upon their return to the United States, she said. Before the military got them the released POWs had expressed gratitude for the way they were treated by the North Vietnamese, she said.

The Defense Department in Washington declined to comment on Mrs. Weiss' allegations.

"I can't prevent the military from taking these men back," she said. "But they must not be used for political and propaganda purposes and to train new men to go over and kill."

She said the North Vietnamese suspended prisoner releases from 1969 until now, because other released POWs had "slandered the Vietnamese people" with statements about inhumane treatment and even torture in POW camps.

Sanctuary end asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said today that the airline hijacker is "a man on the run" and that hijacking will end when every nation denies sanctuary.

"Piracy on the high seas came to an end when the ports of call were closed to the plunderers of ships," Volpe said. "Piracy in the skies will do the same when the doors of welcome are universally slammed on hijackers around the world."

The ICAO adopted an anti-hijacking resolution in Montreal in September, 1970.

Rock fans jam island

CARMI, Ill. (UPI)—The 1,100-acre Bull Island in the Wabash River was crowded with about 300,000 young people today as a Labor Day weekend rock festival moved into its third and final day.

The snarl of marijuana was everywhere and youths openly used drugs, but the atmosphere on the island, where no law officers were visible, was informal and friendly.

However, law enforcement officials were worried about massive traffic jams that probably will occur when the festival ends tonight.

Police said Sunday people were still arriving for the festival at the rate of 1,200 an hour. The youths gathered around a makeshift wooden stage to hear such entertainers as Chained Heat, Pure Prairie League, Bullin-Jack, and Black Oak Arkansas.

Some walked 10 miles from where they had to leave their cars.

Food and drinking water was at a premium and many bartered for what was available. One girl traded five cigarettes Sunday for a can of baked beans and a coke.

Youths passed the time by swimming, talking, walking or just sitting around listening to the music. Some who napped doubled up in sleeping bags. About a dozen nude swimmers attracted about 500 onlookers.

Bull Island is located on the Illinois side of the Indiana-Illinois state line and the only way to reach it is from the Indiana side of the river.

Festival promoters, who set up headquarters in nearby Evansville, Ind., said the crowd looks like it will be bigger than Woodstock.

White County Sheriff Roy Poshard Jr., who normally runs law enforcement patrols for a county of 17,000, agreed with promoters on the 300,000 attendance estimate. He said there had been no arrests and no serious injuries.

Fifteen persons were treated at an Evansville hospital since the festival began Friday, but only two were admitted, one for chest injuries and another for a high fever.

He cited hazards in wiring, stairways and exits in the junior high and high schools as problems.

In addition, the bond issue would finance remodeling vocal music facilities and purchase music instruments and furniture.

Other needs listed included modernization for safety of the high school auditorium, where Mabe said the balcony is unsafe and wiring inadequate.

Raids said release key

GAY HEAD, Mass. (UPI)—The freedom of three U.S. pilots held prisoner in North Vietnam could be jeopardized by continued bombing of North Vietnam, according to Cora Weiss, who helped arrange their release.

"Both the President and the military have been leading Americans to believe that they are continuing the war in the interests of the prisoners," she said Sunday. "Such bombing raids are a threat to the lives of those prisoners who are there and create new prisoners because of planes that are shot down. The continuation of bombing will jeopardize not only this release but potential future releases," she said.

return with the POWs when they return to the United States—or even before—could cause the planned release to break down and ruin chances of possible other releases before the war ends, she said in a telephone interview from her summer home on Martha's Vineyard.

But on the other hand, all U.S. POWs could be released within 90 days if the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam and withdrew its support of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, Mrs. Weiss said.

"It wouldn't even take 90 days and we have the experience of French to go by," she said. "The Vietnamese released every single (French prisoner) within weeks of the Geneva agreement (in 1954)." Mrs. Weiss and pacifist Dave Dellinger are co-chairmen of the Committee of Liaison with Families of American POWs in North Vietnam. Dellinger on Saturday the day Hanoi announced the planned release of the three POWs—used the word "brainwash" to describe the actions of the U.S. military when other released prisoners returned home.

Mrs. Weiss said the release of the three was conditioned on non-interference with the prisoners.

"I can't prevent the military from taking these men back," she said. "But they must not be used for political and propaganda purposes and to train new men to go over and kill."

She said the North Vietnamese suspended prisoner releases from 1969 until now, because other released POWs had "slandered the Vietnamese people" with statements about inhumane treatment and even torture in POW camps.

Buhl school levy vote set Tuesday

BUHL—Buhl school patrons will vote Tuesday on a proposed $5-million levy to fund improvements in district buildings and equipment.

According to Supt. Dan Mabe, the levy would authorize the district to tax up to five mills for a three-year period. The levy would bring in an estimated $45,000 the first year. The amount to be raised in subsequent years would depend on the growth of the tax base.

There is no current plant facilities levy, Mabe said. However, he said, there will be a net increase to taxpayers of only two mills, because an existing three-mill emergency maintenance and operation levy will not be renewed.

Mabe said funds raised by the levy would be used exclusively to remodel, repair, furnish and equip district schools.

Polls will be open from noon to 7 p.m. Tuesday. District residents living in Twin Falls County will vote at the Buhl High School, while district residents living in Gooding County will vote at the Snake River Trout Co.

According to Mabe, there is an "immediate need" to correct building deficiencies and "meet safety standards."

UDA breaks British tie

BELFAST (UPI)—The Ulster Defense Association (UDA), a paramilitary Protestant organization, said today it was being harassed by the British army and was breaking its ties with the soldiers.

The UDA also said its 50,000 members would resume wearing disguises of masks and dark glasses "as" protection against reprisals by the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

The UDA announcement followed reports that soldiers arrested a UDA member last week for alleged possession of a revolver. The reports said UDA members made an unsuccessful bid to rescue him.

The UDA calls itself a "counter-terrorist" organization and said its purpose is to protect Protestants from the IRA.

Security forces said earlier patrolling soldiers will be briefed more thoroughly to try to prevent incidents such as the accidental killing of a trooper by his colleague.

British army sources said soldier Robert Cutting, 18, died early Sunday in Belfast's New Lodge area after being shot by another soldier who mistook him for a gunman.

A second soldier, Alexander

Miller, 21, was wounded in the incident, which will be investigated by a special panel of inquiry, an army spokesman said.

Cutting was the 122nd soldier killed in three years of Northern Ireland violence and the second to die in a shoot-out with a colleague in just over a week. A week ago Saturday Pvt. Ronald Rowe, 21, was killed in Belfast's Ardoyne district.

The overall Northern Ireland death toll now stands at 548, according to police and army figures.

A security source said both soldiers involved in Sunday's incident were working out of different tactical headquarters and were unaware that the others patrol was in the same area.

"This was a great mistake," the source said. "From now on soldiers will receive more thorough briefings and we'll make sure they know of the presence of other patrols in the same area."

The source said there have been several incidents in the past when two patrols have fired at each other, but the two deaths in the past eight days are the first fatal results.

Rome merchants protest freeze

ROME (UPI)—The city's 3,000 butchers stayed home today, along with fruit and vegetable vendors, to protest a government-imposed price freeze. But Roman eating habits didn't change — residents are used to strikes and lock up. The nation's railwaymen also were to walk off the job at 9 p.m. (3 p.m. EDT), but that too was nothing new. The strike happened last month and the strike was to last only 24 hours.

"Meat?" asked one Roman housewife. "I bought three days' supply on Saturday."

What if the strike lasts the full week the butchers said it might.

"There is always a way," said the owner of a restaurant near the Trevi fountain. "Even during the war we could get meat. This is nothing."

The butchers and fruit vendors kept their shops closed to protest a 60-day price freeze ordered to stop inflation. But a 10-minute drive out of town, butchers and fruit sellers were doing a better than average business.

Ironie thefts

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Leonard Nesbit and Adelbert Howard both recently reported burglaries to police. What had been stolen was their anti-burglar protection.

Nesbit told police someone had stolen his two German shepherd husky dogs from their backyard enclosure during the night. He said the dogs, valued at $75 each, never let a stranger approach without raising a commotion. Howard's complaint was that someone had stolen his .22 caliber pistol while he slept. The gun had been under his pillow.

Fischer arrives late for fete

REYKJAVIK (UPI) — Has success spoiled Bobby Fischer? Apparently not. Fischer turned up 53 minutes late at official closing ceremonies for his world chess championship, remarked how small his winner's gold medal was, asked for his money and sat down to play some more chess with the man he beat for the title.

The crowd attending the banquet ceremonies closing the championship cheered louder for loser Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union than it did for Fischer, a 29-year-old New Yorker. But Fischer, busy playing chess on a pocket board, seemed not to notice.

While Spassky sat at one end of the banquet table chatting with his wife Larissa, Fischer did what he has done so superbly the past two months—he played chess.

Fischer, dressed in a velvet tuxedo, made no speech and interrupted a game with himself on a pocket chess board only once—to walk across the hall and accept a check for the $70,125 winner's purse from Icelandic Chess Federation President Gudmundur Thorarinnson. Fischer smiled, took the envelope with the check, looked inside and returned to his seat without a word.

Spassky collected the loser's share—$48,825. Another $160,000 put up by a British millionaire will be split the same way at some future time. He doubled the original purse when Fischer said it wasn't enough.

Fischer arrived 53 minutes late for the lamb and roast suckling pig dinner, held in the small hall in which his 21-game "match of the century" against Spassky took place.

When he saw Dr. Max Euwe, president of the International Chess Federation (FIDE), he asked him: "Did you bring the money?"—the prize money Fischer had won. "Yes, sir," Euwe replied, and Bobby walked away, apparently satisfied.

Euwe introduced Fischer to the self-styled crowd of 1,150 persons, who had paid $22 a head to attend the dinner. They cheered as Euwe placed a wreath around Fischer's head and presented him with the world champion's gold medal as a band played the Star Spangled Banner.

Landlords to evict

BOISE (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service says landlords who evict tenants in retaliation for protesting allegedly illegal rent hikes to the IRS are violating economic stabilization regulations and face possible penalties.

IRS District Director Calvin Wright said if the government proves retaliation in court the landlord may be subject to a $5,000 fine for each violation, or an injunction to prohibit future retaliatory acts.

He said tenants who receive notices of eviction after complaining of a rent increase should contact their IRS office.

Seniors' problems

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Ton-In Coker, director of the Canyon County Senior Citizen Center, says society in America tends to ignore problems of elderly persons.

She said senior citizens are "usually—a very peaceful group," but "they're beginning to realize that they are really not getting the recognition they deserve in the minds of those planning and executing senior citizen programs today."

Mrs. Coker and her husband, Tracy, helped organize the County Council on Aging, which met recently to discuss possible funding of local elderly programs.

She said they would like to have a center in Caldwell this winter and have plans for facilities elsewhere in Treasure Valley.

She charged that Canyon County commissioners lack interest in problems of the elderly. "They should realize that the needs of these activities will require their assistance eventually in planning for senior citizens."

Question...

A member of my family is terminally ill. When I came to arrange the funeral details would you object if my clergyman accompanied me?

Answer...

You most certainly may bring with you whomever you choose. The fact that there is a doubt in your mind that your clergyman would not be welcome is the most worrisome part of your question. It is perhaps true that in very few of the material purchases in your lifetime would you expect the assistance of your clergyman. Since, however, a funeral service is a religious ceremony, it is quite normal and understandable that you should turn to him for guidance at this time. We concur with you in this decision.

My own personal experience is that when Asian Communist leaders want to signal something there is no doubt in anyone's mind about what they want to signal.

In months spent negotiating with some of the top men in Communist China as a U.S. Army officer in World War II, I came across this bluntness time and again. Officers in another branch of our military operation reported identical experiences in dealing with the late Ho Chi Minh. I found the principle true in talks with leading Japanese Communists.

Other friends have spent considerable time in negotiations with Communists in Laos and Thailand and with Ho's North Vietnamese associates. Their conclusions are the same. When a Communist negotiator wants you to know what he is driving at, he makes certain you get it. All this makes it difficult to understand what Sargent Shriver and Averell Harriman mean when they say the Nixon administration ignored a Hanoi peace signal in 1968 and 1969.

The Communists may or may not use official channels. They may go over the heads of or around the men they're negotiating with. They may attempt messages through unorthodox channels. But with all this, they are very clear when they want to be.

They may speak in allegories. But if you don't understand what they mean, they say it again and again and again in different ways until you can't help but know what they're saying. If you still don't see their point, they will, in disgust, tell you directly in language no horse trader could fail to understand.

Based on past experiences, this reporter is certain that if the troop movements had been a peace signal, the North Vietnamese negotiators would not have been coy. They would have, at first, waited for a U.S. reaction.

If that reaction was not forthcoming, they would have buttonholed all U.S. delegates they could find and would have, in addition, marshalled their radio, their diplomats wherever stationed and all their other contacts around the world and would have said in effect: See, look at those troop movements. Don't they mean something to you? Can't you figure out what this means? Can't you take a hint? Do you need glasses or something?

Then at the Paris talks the Communists would have adopted an attitude that would have opened the door for progress. They would have continued to be tough in their negotiations. They would have fought for every point. They would have been repeated delays.

But the talks would have inched forward. It is time to stop wishful thinking. When the Communists are ready to negotiate, they will.

Analytical men would look, nevertheless, to see if this large troop movement was indeed a signal. Officials at State and the Defense Department of officials in Thailand, Laos, South Vietnam and in Paris and Washington looked into this question hopefully.

Routine Transfer

WASHINGTON — G. Gordon Liddy, a central figure in the squalid Watergate case, was fired by the Treasury Department in July 1971 for insubordinate, unauthorized conduct on gun controls — and immediately found a cozy haven in the White House.

The official Nixon administration version of this strange story, both then and now is that this was nothing but a routine transfer.

In fact, however, high Treasury officials were flabbergasted and furious when they learned the man they had fired quickly landed a coveted staff job on the White House Domestic Council. From there, Liddy went to the Nixon reelection committee — and subsequent notoriety — without ever having his troubles at the Treasury aired.

This background points up two important facts about Liddy who was fired from the reelection committee June 28 when he refused to answer Federal agents' questions about the June 17 break-in at the plush Watergate's Democratic national headquarters.

First, Liddy has a record of free-wheeling without regard for the desires of his superiors; second, he has been protected and supported by senior officials at the White House and has their blessing to this day.

Liddy came to the Treasury in 1969 with a background in law enforcement and right-wing politics in upstate New York. As assistant district attorney in Dutchess County, ex-FBI agent Liddy ran for Congress in 1968 as a law-and-order candidate. Defeated in the Republican primary by Hamilton Fish, Liddy then ran an inactive campaign as a Conservative party nominee. His 9,000 votes nearly defeated Fish.

Nevertheless, freshman Rep. Fish endorsed Liddy's application for a job at the Treasury and so did other Republican politicians. Because of those endorsements and his 1968 role as Dutchess County chairman for Nixon-Agnew, Liddy was hired by Assistant Secretary Eugene Rosasides as a special assistant. Although Nixon administration sources now claim Rosasides brought Liddy into the Treasury, the fact is they did not even meet until 1969.

Liddy quickly balked at taking orders, particularly when it came to politically volatile gun-control legislation. Rosasides was trying to regulate the lethal "Saturday night special" pistols. But Liddy, an ardent gun fancier himself, was marching to a different drummer. High Treasury officials were angered when Liddy conferred privately and without authorization on gun controls with White House and Justice Department officials as well as anti-gun-control lobbyists from the National Rifle Assn. (NRA).

The last straw was the 100th anniversary convention of the NRA here April 4, 1971, when Liddy — without authorization or approval — delivered a speech praising NRA goals and indicating a helping hand against gun controls by the Nixon administration.

His Treasury superiors outraged, that was the end of Liddy there. But he suffered not a day of unemployment. While in the Treasury, Liddy had worked closely with Egil (Bud) Krogh, top aide to White House domestic policy chief John Ehrlichman. Without even checking the Treasury, the White House elevated Liddy on July 19, 1971, to the lofty reaches of Ehrlichman's office, working under Krogh.

Ehrlichman told us this week he was not aware of Liddy's problems at the Treasury. Krogh would not talk to us but relayed word that he, too, was unaware of the gun-control difficulty.

PAUL HARVEY

Profile

The long-ago braggadocio of Cassius Clay served its purpose: stimulated ringside attendance, made each fight worth more money to the fighter.

Let's not imagine that the game of chess would now enjoy TV coverage and front-page prominence except for the flamboyant misbehavior of Bobby Fischer.

But where flaunting a superego gets attention, it does not solicit sustained support.

So Cassius Clay — now Muhammad Ali — doesn't swagger any more. And Bobby Fischer, if he is long to perpetuate his prominence, will temper his temperament.

For the same reason that Uncle Sam is becoming less the self-proclaimed world leader, more a "partner" instead. It'll be good for us.

In the beginnings of my broadcasting career I sat admiringly at the feet of Ted Husing and Graham McNamee, Boone Carter, Walter Winchell and H.V. Kaltenborn.

But it was to snappy, brassy Walter Winchell that I owed a uniquely early lesson in humility. He said, "Don't ever start believing your press agents."

Now I see young Paul, a budding concert pianist, admiring the glints of his art and I'm so glad that he has a hero like Van Cliburn to emulate. Van Cliburn's modesty is genuine.

He has to recognize his own excellence, but giving God credit for his talents tends to keep him personally humble. Which is good for him.

The self-important can only be chopped down.

The gentle giant will be upheld.

This is what Mr. Nixon sees as the proper image for Uncle Sam. For generations we strutted across the world stage, bragging of our more and better everything — and begat mostly envy and resentment.

While President Nixon continues to prod Americans to shape up, be better, do better and produce more, to the rest of the world he does not say, "Look what we did!" or "Look what we're going to do for you!"

Instead he says, "Hereafter the future of Asia will reside in Asian hands."

To Europe he says, "Let us hold hands with you."

Of Moscow and Peking he asks, "May we do business with you?"

It's not a phony, contrived humility. That also, begets disdain.

Instead, Uncle Sam's lower profile reflects the poise that derives from maturity and wide comprehension and genuine self-confidence.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

White Dust

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter urged me to buy a vaporizer, type humidifier for use in my bedroom. She has one in each of her children's rooms (age 1 and 3).

The instructions state, "In highly mineralized water areas a white dust may form on furniture. This can be wiped away with a cloth. To avoid this, use distilled water."

We are in a hard water area, and the powder that forms from just one night's use is really amazing, and purchasing distilled water would be prohibitive.

I am constantly worrying what this white dust might do to our health. We use the humidifiers only at night.

Can you help?

The "white dust" since it comes from ordinary drinking water, probably is not poisonous. All the same, it is dust, and will all our air pollution, there certainly is no point in adding any more dust to it. It's that much more pollution to irritate the respiratory system.

One question: is the cost of distilled water as "prohibitive" as you think? If I were you, I'd do some investigating. So far as that goes, it wouldn't be difficult to rig up a simple apparatus so you could make your own distilled water at home.

An alternative might be to rig some sort of a cloth drape — cheese cloth, perhaps — just to see whether that wouldn't trap the dust but let the water vapor get through.

You didn't explain why you need a humidifier except that your daughter urged you to get one. If you don't have a real humidity problem, I wouldn't run the risk of breathing any excess dust.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give a simple yes or no to a question: Can a person develop a sinus condition in a period of nine months? Also I enclose 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet on sinus trouble. — B.B.

Can? Yes.

Infection in the sinuses related to obstruction from a crooked septum, polyps, congestion from allergy or other irritants (fumes or dust) can cause gradual development of sinusitis.

But acute sinus infection may develop rapidly, as from a severe cold.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

"I'm sorry—we simply don't have any openings for pundits, at this time!"

COMMENT

Angela "Home"

Nampa Free Press

The average mind is boggled when it tries to make any kind of logical sense out of many of the pronouncements made by some of the extremist political personalities in this country.

This is particularly true when one tries to comprehend the utterances combined with their activism.

The latest example — and a dilly — is Angela Davis.

When she was freed from the ridiculous charge of conspiracy and as we recall, several other allied charges, including murder complicity, etc., she said:

"Starting from this day forward, we must work to free every political prisoner and every oppressed person in the country and in the whole world."

A response to this statement caught our eye. It was by Julius Epstein, former research associate, Hoover, Institution on War, Revolution and Peace, Stanford University.

Said Epstein in a letter to the editor of The San Francisco Examiner:

"This would include untold thousands of political prisoners in the Soviet Union, in the People's Republic of China, in the German Democratic Republic as well as all the political prisoners in Poland, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. (Beside the billion people of the countries who are not right now 'political prisoners' but just 'oppressed'.)

"Will Angela Davis, who was so wrong when she believed she would never get a fair trial in the U.S., really work for the liberation of the political prisoners in the countries just mentioned and also for the liberation of the millions in these countries who are just 'oppressed'?"

"If Miss Davis' answer is 'yes,' she should have the support of millions of Americans and others the world over. Her answer to this question will be the acid test of her sincerity."

Well, Miss Davis has given Mr. Epstein — and the world — her answer.

The brilliant American Communist, university instructor, civil rightist and revolutionist is visiting Russia.

Upon arriving in Moscow this week, Miss Davis told her hosts that it was indescribable how great it was to be on Soviet soil!

And she predicted that the United States someday will be Communist.

We earnestly suggest that Miss Davis seek Soviet citizenship. Surely even the most radical supporter of the young lady must see that she is totally blind to Russian (Communist) oppression, oblivious to the sad state of Russian (Communist) political prisoners, and the vast number of them. Surely she would be largely ineffective as a Red revolutionist in this country.

And that's exactly what we think Miss Davis will be — ineffective — when she returns to what she apparently thinks are these "sad shores" following her Soviet visit.

Additionally, we've got news for Angela Davis and others of her ilk — Eldridge Cleaver, for instance, who with one breath wants to machine gun down the members of the House and Senate, and the next breath wants to "come home" because someone apparently wants his hide in Algeria. The news we've got for Cleaver and Davis is that Americans are more and more turning to the founding-father concept of individual liberty.

Right here in the First Congressional District of Idaho, voters nominated a first-time non-politician who promised the people nothing but a personal effort to try to get this country back to that early concept of individual liberty.

Surely we here in Idaho aren't alone among all of the millions of other government-harassed, tax-burdened, crime-assaulted, bureau-belabored, purple-shafted people in this country who are sick of being controlled right-down to our Formosa-made soles.

But even so, we here in the United States of America have the God-given, Constitution-protected right and hope to change things. Under the Big Brotherism philosophy of communism, change comes only out of the end of a gun barrel, to quote Chairman Mao.

Yes, indeed, Angela Davis, please stay over there on your beloved Soviet soil. Most of us not only can do without you here in the United States, but you'd be a pretty ineffective revolutionist anyhow.

Suspicious Lawsuit

Lewiston Tribune

A lawsuit, brought by seven members of the Idaho House of Representatives against a change in Idaho's income tax is suspect on the face of it.

The new law lowered the income tax withholding rates for low and middle-income citizens while increasing rates for corporations and individuals with above-average incomes. Before those changes, Idaho's income tax was the opposite of what an income tax is normally best equipped to do — respect the ability of the individual taxpayer to pay.

The changes adopted by the 1972 Legislature lowered the rates for those least able to pay and increased them for those best able to pay.

The action is now being challenged on technical procedural grounds by State Reps. John F.

Reardon and Paul W. Worthen of Boise; E. V. McHan, Ketchum; E. G. Jenkins, Nampa; Allan F. Larson, Blackfoot; Earl C. Greenawalt, Jerome and Wayne E. Tibbitts, Lorenzo.

The seven representatives are not exactly the foremost champions of equitable taxation in the House. It is not any real or imagined technical difficulties in enacting the new tax system that troubles them. They oppose what the tax bill accomplished, not how it was passed.

The insincerity of their feigned attention to technical procedures is best demonstrated by the certain knowledge that had a bill to take it easy on wealthy taxpayers gone through in exactly the same manner, there would have been no lawsuit from the seven House members. — B. H.

Chinese village moves mountains

SHASHIYU, China (UPI) — In China there is an ancient and famous fable about "a foolish old man" whose undying faith moved mountains. That fable became a reality for the peasants of Shashi-yu village—they proved that mountains can be moved.

Shashi-yu village in north China is more than 100 years old. It lies nestled among the rocky Yenshan mountain range. In Hopei province, about 137 miles northeast of Peking, Shashi-yu's first settlers were peasants trying to escape the oppression of old China's landlord class, according to village elders.

They felt the barren mountainous area would be as safe a place as any. "There was no water here then," said an old peasant born in the village.

"People had to walk nearly four miles to fetch water. There was no earth for planting, only red clay and solid rock here."

The Shashi-yu peasants had a song that went, "Earth is as precious as pearls and water as precious as oil," he recalled.

But it wasn't long before a landlord discovered the peasants and forced them to become his tenants. Work was so scarce, the village elder reminisced, that of the 78 village families, "67 families had to find work elsewhere. Thirteen of those families were forced to beg the entire year to stay alive. Twenty-one families had to beg six months of the year to make ends meet."

Chinese Communist forces occupied Shashi-yu in 1947, and a land reform program was immediately instituted. The first task was to bring water to the depressed village. The peasants, now members of the Shashi-yu production brigade, succeeded in carving out a 95-foot well only to find more rock.

The project was finally abandoned as too costly. "Armed with Chairman Mao Tse-tung's teachings that we must become self-reliant, and the spirit of the foolish old man, we decided that if we couldn't get water from the ground, we could get it from the sky," the villager said.

A new pond was dug capable of holding a six-month supply of rain water. Together with the water being imported from the outside, the villagers began raising some crops. But the arduous task of transforming rock and clay into fertile fields still lay ahead.

"The young people showed us the way. During the day, in addition to their other tasks, they removed rocks. We used them to terrace the mountains. For ninety straight nights the young people helped reclaim the land by carrying earth to fill in the terraces we built." Men, women and even children carried earth and water to Shashi-yu. "One hundred villagers worked for ten days to reclaim a sixth of an acre of land. The next month we reclaimed nearly four acres," he said.

After three years of back-breaking work the goal of the Shashi-yu production brigade — "to turn mountains into fields and produce grain from rocks" — was finally accomplished.

In 1956 Shashi-yu became self-sufficient in grain production. Since 1957, the village that once received 382,500 pounds of grain relief annually between 1950 and 1956, now sells the state more than 616,000 pounds of grain each year, officials say.

Today each member of the Shashi-yu production brigade receives a yearly allotment of 116 pounds of grain, not including what he may grow in his private plot. Officials also say that before the liberation, the average annual wage of a Shashi-yu peasant was 17 Yuan—about $7.74. Today, the average annual wage is 97 Yuan, or about $44. In addition, the peasant may receive from 20-30 Yuan a year, between $9 and $14, from raising livestock privately.

The village elder proudly tells the American visitor, one of the first foreigners permitted to visit the area, that Shashi-yu has built up a public reserve fund of $91,000. In addition to Shashi-yu's grain crop, the village has nearly 67 acres of fruit trees. "Before the liberation we could only grow dates. Now we have more than ten varieties of fruit," he said.

Between 1957 and 1964 Shashi-yu succeeded in turning all its slopes into terraced fields. The village's water problem has also been solved with the installation of two electric wells. Today Shashi-yu's peasants are concentrating on improving their standard of living. The mud and straw huts that existed before the liberation have nearly all been replaced by small stone houses. A typical new house consists of three to four rooms. The village elder asks that the American people be told that most of Shashi-yu's 130 families have sewing machines and radios, "And we have 113 bicycles now too," he beams.

A visitor to Shashi-yu is impressed with the progress the village has made. Row after row of cultivated terraces carved out of the rugged surrounding mountains stand as a monument to the fable of the foolish old man. A recently built road now links the formerly isolated village with Tsunhuo, the county seat, 30 miles away.

Narcotics suspect arrested

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI) — Loudly protesting his innocence, alleged narcotics overlord Auguste Joseph Ricord was extradited Saturday for trial in New York City as a master heroin smuggler responsible for bringing two tons of heroin, worth $2.5 billion, into the United States.

As U.S. authorities took custody of the 61-year-old Franco-Argentine at President Strassner Airport and put him on a specially-chartered Pan American jetliner with two doctors aboard, he said:

"I never was a drug trafficker. I never shipped drugs to the United States. I never was in that country. I don't know how they can condemn me."

McGovern defeat sought

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — H. G. Bill France, former state campaign manager for George Wallace and now a national vice chairman of "Democrats for Nixon," Saturday called on Wallace supporters to help defeat George McGovern if they want their man to have a chance in 1976.

"If McGovern is elected, there is no chance of changing the Democratic party's rules" for selection of delegates to the convention that will pick the 1976 nominee, France said in an interview.

"We're looking at 1976 for Governor Wallace," he explained, "provided the rules can be changed to prevent caucus packing."

There is one argument France, who quarterbacked Wallace's successful drive for Florida delegates in the pre-convention primary, is using to persuade Wallace Democrats to work and vote for the Republican president on Nov. 7.

Firm's court day set

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Glenn W. Turner, the Florida multi-millionaire who is the object of court actions in at least 38 states, will get his day in court here Sept. 22.

The Attorney General's office said Friday that Third District Court Judge Bryant Croft has ordered a show cause hearing on the state's request for a preliminary injunction against Turner's Dare to Be Great firm.

The attorney general's consumer protection division is charging that Dare to Be Great violates state security laws.

The suit asks that the court halt Dare to Be Great's Utah operations, declare all investments contracts invalid, provide for refunds to investors, and freeze assets.

It was filed last March, but hung in limbo for nearly six months while the AG's office determined whether to push ahead in district court, or to withdraw the suit and refile it in U.S. District Court for Utah.

The suit alleges in addition to the state law violations, violations of federal security laws.

The show-cause hearing was originally scheduled Wednesday, but attorneys for Dare to Be Great asked for a postponement, and a chance to reply to the state's charges.

Stocks register sharp gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ignoring Sen. George S. McGovern and custom, the stock market registered a sharp gain last week, particularly in the last two days. Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was light.

The Dow Jones Average of 30 selected blue-chip industrial climbed 10.69 to 978.05, with most of the gain coming Thursday and Friday, despite reduced activity in advance of the Labor Day holiday. Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index gained 0.84 to 111.51. The NYSE Common Stock Index rose 0.41 to 61.41.

Of 1,919 issues crossing the tape, 887 declined, 846 advanced. Turnover for the week totaled 59,446,675 shares, compared with 43,643,870 the week before and 57,064,610 the year before.

Analysts such as Harry Laubscher of Walston & Co. said the gains Thursday and Friday were strange in view of the light volume and the small difference between up and down turnover. Many investors took an early holiday. The exchange will be closed Monday.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, unveiled his revised economic and tax plans on Tuesday, and Wall Street found nothing much new or to their liking in them. Then, the "market absolutely ignored McGovern," according to Bradbury K. Thurlow, analyst for Laflaw & Co.

Shares. Occidental Petroleum, which has sold three million barrels of its low sulphur Libyan Oil to Japan, was second most active, up 1 1/2 at 14 1/2, on 574,990 shares. American Telephone & Telegraph was third, off 1/4 at 43 1/2 on 514,600 shares.

Much of the week's activity was centered in the chemicals and oils, while the electronics, computers and glamors came more into focus during the latter part.

Jersey standard was one of the oil pacesetters, up 2 1/2, primarily on the strength of a new major oil find in the North Sea. Matanzas also gained 2 1/2, Pennzoil 1 1/2 and Phillips Petroleum 1. Superior Oil lost 3/8, Ohio Standard 2 1/2 and Kerr McGee 1 1/2.

Market analysis

A major dampener for the market was the Price Commission's decision Tuesday to deny 1973 price increase requests by Ford and General Motors. "That really hurt the market," said Robert Johnson, analyst for Paine, Webber Jackson & Curtis.

General Motors made the news earlier by deciding to manufacture automobiles with in the next two years powered by the Wankel rotary engine. This decision made Curtiss-Wright, holder of North American rights to the Wankel, the most active issue and one of the biggest gainers.

For the week, Curtiss gained six points to 54 on 1,115,200

FRANK R. SCHELL
Idaho story winner

TWIN FALLS — Frank R. Schell, Twin Falls, has been awarded honorable mention for an article on trade tokens, published in a national journal.

Schell, coordinator of curriculum development at the vocational division, College of Southern Idaho, is also author of the Times-News column, "The Money Box."

The award was made by the Token and Medal Society of the U.S. for an article describing various post exchange and canteen tokens used at old Ft. Sherman in northern Idaho.

The old military post was located at Coeur d'Alene on a site now occupied by the North Idaho Junior College campus. It was abandoned as a post in 1914, Schell said.

The article, which was published in February, 1971, was among four chosen for top honors by society officials.

Richfield program climaxed

RICHFIELD — The summer reading program at the Richfield Public Library was climaxed with awards and certificates given to those who participated.

Three awards were given to three girls who read the highest number of books. Top reader was Lani Cliff, fourth grader, who read 106 books. A second grader, Teri Peterson, was next with 81 books, and Kayla Sams, a third grader, came in third by reading 82 books. Each was presented a "Charlie Brown" book.

All 23 children who participated in the program during the summer were presented a reading achievement certificate from the library in association with the Children's Book Council, a plastic ruler and a candy treat.

The presentations were made by Mrs. Ken Dixon, librarian, during regular library hours at the library.

Other children participating in the program included Jerry and Frankie Robinson, Jill Crowther, March Cliff, Roy, Carol, Linda and Carrie Spencer, Jamie and Tommy Peterson, Cheryl Selvers, Connie Hubsmith, Jill Dixon, Brenda and Debbie Brauberger, Teri Flora, Wade Galle, Berkly and Garr Ward and Susan Maestas.

STUFFED ZUCCHINI

2 zucchinis, about 8 inches long
1 lb. ground beef
1 chopped onion (1/4 cup)
1 large clove garlic, or 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon crushed oregano
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1 can (11 oz.) tomato sauce or 1 can (11 oz.) tomato soup
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
Cut zucchini in half lengthwise, scoop out seeds and pulp, leaving 1/4 inch shell. Coarsely chop pulp and seeds. In skillet, brown beef and cook onion, garlic and oregano in oil until tender. Add zucchini pulp and seeds, 1/2 cup sauce or soup and parmesan. Cook 10 minutes longer.
Spoon into zucchini shells. Arrange in shallow baking dish, 12 by 9 by 2 inches. Pour remaining sauce over and around stuffed zucchini, sprinkle with cheese. Cover and bake at 375 degrees for 40 minutes. Uncover for the last five minutes.

A Lovelier You

YOU CAMPAIGN FOR YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

What do you hope to gain from the fall season? When it ends are you going to be closer to what spells success to you? Are you going to chalk up the biggest possible personal returns?

How? You cannot leave it to chance. You will have to sit down and map out a campaign. To make a good beginning, first analyze those departments of your appearance and personality in need of a bit of refurbishing.

If you are involved in a career you might make a critical evaluation of your efficiency and dependability on the job. Perhaps you should take that advanced evening course in your work specialty. Perhaps you should face squarely the reason why you are so frequently late or absent. What do you think your colleagues think of you? That you are cooperative, courteous and a worthy associate?

Now to examine your family and social life: What would improve your appearance — a diet, new hairstyle, sleeker grooming? Easy come by!

Not so simple are the consideration, self-control and new interests that benefit family members. Not so quick to form is the "live and let live" attitude that wins and holds friends.

Of course every lovely has her pet goals. Her self-examinations might not include a single one of the above points, which are meant only as a jumping-off place. No better day to take the jump than today. How about it?

WINNING MANNERS

To open a door on increased poise and popularity, send for my booklet, WINNING MANNERS. Topics included are Introductions, Invitations, Table Manners, The Charming Hostess, You—The Guest, Dating Manners, Formal Dances, Travel Tips and Tipping. Small write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing 25 cents. Please, like when to wear a hat or check your coat. For your copy, in coin, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune, Inc. All Rights Reserved

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I have never seen in your column. I am a 38-year-old woman who was married for 10 years and bore two children. My husband died four years ago. Thank God I was equipped to take a high-paying position in order to support myself and children.

I am reasonably attractive, but am not the type who goes to bars alone looking for male companionship. I've dated some, but not much, because as soon as a man learns that I am not so sex-starved that he can head for a motel on the second date, he looks for hungrier women.

Innocent victim denies rumor

My problem: Because I am not actively looking for a man, and have refused to be rushed into bed by all the so-called eligible bachelors who've dated me, the rumor is rampant that I prefer women. [This was told to me by two friends, one woman and the other a man.]

Of course, it's a lie, but I have become so self-conscious about it that I don't dare call a single woman and suggest we have dinner or go to a movie together. The fact that I was married and bore two children doesn't seem to matter. The rumor, I'm told, persists.

Now, you're supposed to be a wise woman, Abby. How does an innocent victim deny such a rumor? PERSECUTED

DEAR PERSECUTED: The rumor may not be as rampant as you were led to believe it is. I would question the motives of one who would bring such a rumor to my attention. (Could a male be attempting to persuade you to "prove" the rumor false?) Or could a woman, who herself preferred women, be "teasing" you? Don't refrain from socializing with women. Forget the rumor, and continue to behave as you always have.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who sleeps with a smile on his face?

CURIOUS IN ARLINGTON

DEAR CURIOUS: He could be lucky he doesn't TALK in his sleep.

DEAR ABBY: I have a bone to pick with you! Last April my wife wrote to you, asking if she should accompany me to my 20th high school graduation reunion. She told you that she didn't come from my hometown, and wouldn't know a soul there.

You advised her as follows: "Go anyway! Let your husband enjoy himself reminiscing with old friends. You'll find plenty of other mates who won't know a soul either."

Well, she took your advice, and she had a better time than I did. In fact, when it came time to go home, I had to practically drag her away from "Red," the best looking guy in the class, who majored in football and girls. His wife decided not to come because she wouldn't know a soul either! Now my wife is looking forward to the next class reunion. Thanks for complicating my life. CLASS OF '52

DEAR CLASS: And thanks for answering [in advance] a question I am asked by hundreds every year. "Should I accompany my mate to his class reunion? I won't know a soul there."

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHICAGO GIRL: When a girl marries a man, she should be willing to live where he is able to make the best living—gladly. Don't insist that he relocate and start over to please you. It's foolish and unfair.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Jim: "Here is a hand from George Gooden's new advanced lesson course."

Oswald: "George is the man who thought of the code word, ARCH, where 'A' is Analyze the lead; 'R' is Review the bidding; 'C' is Count your winners and losers."

Jim: "We changed the word to 'ARCH' with 'H' standing for the all-important How can I make the hand? We are indebted to George for the ARCH, and he has now added our 'H'."

Oswald: "The first hand in the book shows the 'H' of ARCH in action. South needs six trump tricks to make his contract. Without a trump lead, he has time to play hearts and will ruff his third heart with one of dummy's trumps. However, West has opened a trump and South sees that the defense will be able to play trumps three times before South can ruff a heart. How can South make a sixth trump trick in spite of this mean defense?"

Jim: "A dummy reversal will do the trick. South wins in his hand; plays ace-king and another club to ruff once. Then king and ace of diamonds, followed by a second club ruff. Then he plays a third diamond and there is no way for the defense to keep South from ruffing dummy's last diamond."

Rupert benefits from volunteers serving in reserve police force

RUPERT — Rupert has purged the undesirable aspects from the Old West concept of citizen vigilantes and come up with a vitally beneficial reserve police force.

Ten men (more could be had but the city has decided ten is enough) give of their free time each month to work with the Rupert police regulars in patrolling the streets or acting as stake-outs or looking for lost children.

The reservists are duly sworn as officers of the law and fully acquainted with the police credo. They are supplied one uniform by the city, are covered by an insurance policy while they are working with the force, and carry their own weapons while on duty.

The bylaws of the Rupert Auxiliary Police Reserves require that each volunteer put in at least 10 hours per month on active duty. In addition he must work during the Fourth of July, Halloween and Christmas holidays.

Three of the reservists have been with the program since its inception in 1966. They are Arnold Hirsch, Marvin Hirsch and Clarence Sparks. The remaining participants include Dean Wilson, Dave Teeter, Max Vaughn, Ron Arnold, Basil Garcia, Dwight Felt and Lefty Klam. All are from Rupert with the exception of Garcia, who lives in Burley.

In the opinion of Rupert Detective Paul Fries, the reserve force has "greatly benefited both the community and the police force."

Fries is the reserve adviser. When a reserve member is needed, applicants are reviewed by the reservists, by Detective Fries, and by Chief of Police Ed Culver. All must agree on the choice.

Members of the reserve force have the same authority as a regular policeman. However, in the case of traffic violations, the reservist signs a complaint rather than issuing a citation. Not only are the reservists not paid for their services, but they must pay monthly dues of $1 which are put into a reserve fund. On occasion they act as private guards for high school sports events or businesses.

Remuneration for such jobs is also deposited in the reserve fund. The fund is then used to sponsor community activities, such as a local baseball team.

Metropak exceeds first estimates

TWIN FALLS — Kenneth Mann, manager of the Twin Falls office of Mountain States Telephone Co., said use of Metropak has exceeded preliminary estimates.

He made the comment while discussing the Idaho Public Utilities Commission hearing on a petition by the telephone company requesting investigation of the Metropak service.

The hearing has been set for 9:30 a.m. Oct. 3 at the Twin Falls American Legion Hall.

Mann said about 3,700

telephone subscribers in the 14 towns included in the plan have elected to include Metropak in their telephone service. Use of the service enables a subscriber to call toll free, except for a set monthly fee, to any town in a 31 mile radius which is included in the Metropak system.

As an example, Mann said subscribers living in Jerome, being in the center of the system, can call any of the 14 towns. Twin Falls subscribers can call all of the towns except Bliss.

Mann said the 31 mile figure represents line mileage and is based on the company's toll rates.

He said use of the service has exceeded preliminary estimates in number of subscribers using the service and in the number and length of calls they make.

The utility's petition states that the ability of the telephone company to provide service on the present level may be impaired if rate relief is not granted.

Mann said this mainly alludes to the danger of overloading circuits with too many Metropak calls, which use the same switchboard equipment as regular toll calls.

Mann said the company has no set solution to the problem, but that something will have to be done in order to maintain the present quality of telephone service.

He said that the hearing was called so that Metropak service could be discussed in its entirety with the public and with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

Need for population policy thrust forward on British political stage

YACHT
CLOSED FOR VACATION
RE-OPENING
SEPT. 12, 1972

London Financial Times—UPI
LONDON—For the first time in British history the need for a national population policy is being thrust towards the center of the political stage as a matter for urgent debate.

Politicians have always shied away from such a controversial topic, ignoring the fact that as long ago as 1949 a Royal Commission recommended some form of population stabilization. Now they can ignore the question no longer.

Members of Parliament on the powerful Science and Technology Committee have unanimously called on the government to take immediate action and have condemned its "laissez faire and unlettered" approach to the question. The committee has demanded that contraceptives should be supplied under the National Health Service and that a minister be appointed with special responsibility for population policy.

Simultaneously a mass movement is gaining momentum under the banner of a newly formed organization, Population Stabilization. They are demanding an immediate revolution in financial and social policies in order to curb population growth in Britain.

In fact, there is every sign that public opinion is ready for such policies. A recent opinion poll in Britain showed that 84 per cent believe population growth is a problem while 54 per cent thought the present level of population was too big.

Ninety per cent of those at a London conference of agriculturalists, biologists, economists and sociologists said they believed the optimum population of Britain already had been exceeded.

The global figures speak for themselves. It was not until 1850 that world population reached 1 billion but it only took until the 1930s for it to double to 2 billion.

It is now estimated that it will hit 4 billion by 1975 and possibly 20 billion a century from now.

Humphrey plans safeguard

WASHINGTON—UPI—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Saturday he would introduce in the Senate this week a bill to guard against abuses of humans subjected to health experiments.

Although he said his intent was not to hamper health research, Humphrey said, "we must act carefully to protect our country from abuses in experimentation on human beings, however rare such abuses might in fact be."

He cited recent news stories of the "Tuskegee experiment" which allowed black men to deteriorate with venereal disease over four decades without treatment, and of daughters of women given the hormone diethylstilbestrol (DES) in the 1950's suffering a high rate of malignancies.

"The clear and shocking implication of the most recently revealed experiments indicate that the powerless, the poor, the least educated and members of minority groups are the likeliest human guinea pigs," he said.

Humphrey's bill would establish a national human experimentation standards board with authority to obtain injunctions, halt experiments and review all planned experiments to assure their compliance with the board's guidelines.

He also will offer an amendment soon, he said, to order the Health, Education and Welfare secretary to make an immediate inventory of all research being conducted by the federal government involving human experimentation, and report to Congress within six months.

He noted that the experiments on blacks, from whom penicillin was withheld while the effects of venereal disease was being studied, were conducted under the aegis of a federal agency, the National Institutes of Health.

He said the federal government already sponsors or funds 85 to 90 per cent of all clinical investigations and he believes clinical investigations will proliferate in the next few years as cancer research and other investigative efforts are accelerated.

Ordinance on TF council agenda

TWIN FALLS — City council members will consider adoption of a new ordinance on curb, gutter and sidewalk construction Tuesday night.

The council meets Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. rather than the regular first Monday of the month because of the Labor Day holiday.

Other items on the agenda include a proposed ordinance on rezoning of a section of land in the Wilmore Tract. The ordinance will be on second reading and involves one of the lots on which the Idaho First National Bank plans to locate a drive-in branch on Blue Lakes Boulevard and Spruce Street.

The council is also scheduled to consider lease agreement proposals on airport property in connection with the installation of an Instrument Landing System. The Federal Aviation Agency proposes lease of the property for the installation.

Comments will be heard regarding the Twin Falls Canal Co. drain lines and the council will discuss a resolution for filing a deed restriction on the Dierkes Lake property.

Approval is also expected on closing of city offices for Thursday afternoon to permit city employees to attend the county fair.

Water meet set

BOISE (UPI) — The president of the Idaho Water Users Association announced Sunday the group will meet Thursday in Burley at the Ponderosa Inn to discuss items important to the water users of Idaho.

Don Evans, a rancher and irrigation farmer from Malad, said present federal and state water quality controls and proposed controls may have a significant effect on the water users of the state and the citizens of Idaho.

Evans said the public is invited to the meeting of the 25 directors and advisers from throughout the state. A morning session of the water quality committee of the association and a session of the awards subcommittee will be featured.

3 hospitalized after KH mishap

KING HILL — Three people remain hospitalized today following a head-on collision Saturday east of King Hill.

Elmore County Sheriff Earl Winters and Douglas Williams, Idaho State Police officer, investigated the mishap which occurred at 4:30 p.m. Saturday on U. S. Highway 30 half a mile from King Hill.

The officers said a car driven east by Mrs. Dorothy Hogg, 62, Caldwell, apparently went out of control and crossed into the path of a west-bound pickup truck driven by Airman Howard Cagle, 19, Mountain Home Air Force Base.

Officers said they believed Mrs. Hogg went to sleep at the wheel.

Mrs. Hogg, her husband, Roland Hogg, 59, and daughter, Meredith, 16, all remain hospitalized at Elmore County Memorial Hospital in Mountain Home. Mrs. Hogg is in serious condition and the other two family members are in satisfactory condition. Cagle was released after treatment.

TF men held

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls men were in the Twin Falls county jail Monday morning on charges of first degree burglary.

James Sparrow, 27, and Harry D. Stewart, 34, were being held on $1,000 bond. No details were available from police.

Minidoka youth receive awards

RUPERT — Thirty-five 4-H and FFA youths received trophies, merchandise and gift certificates Saturday afternoon in the Swine Barn in the final event of the Minidoka County Fair.

TaMont Smith and Charlene Wicks, county agricultural agents, presented the awards. Rhonda Horner received a $5 gift certificate for best first year clothing project. Lucinda Wright received a pen for outstanding junior leadership project.

Receiving trophies for best demonstrations were Lorrine Moore, junior division; Pat Ward, intermediate division; and Lorraine Cavener, senior division.

Teresa Charles received a trophy for the style revue, junior division, and Debbie Lees received the trophy for the senior division.

Sharon Coker received a $5 gift certificate for outstanding gifts project.

Receiving trophies were Cindy Bolen, grand champion sheep, and Gail Kendall, fitting and showing sheep.

Wolstein trophies went to Betsy Smith, grand champion; Tom Gresenti, grand champion bull, and fitting and showing.

FFA: Bill Lewis, grand champion cow; and Judy Lewis, junior champion.

Shawn Van Fleet, first year 4-H; Sam Gochmour, intermediate, 4-H; and Nancy Smith, senior 4-H, received trophies.

A trophy was presented to Harlan Gobaue for fitting and showing.

Gary Beaver received an award for outstanding Angus project. Belt buckles were presented to East Ward for FFA fitting and showing and Deane Scott for 4-H fitting and showing.

Deanne Scott received a trophy for best appearance for horse, Bill Gochmour a trophy for best record book, and Zane Howell for outstanding horse record book.

Receiving show halters for champion fitting and showing in dairy were Shawn Van Fleet and Jerry Gouchmour. A curry comb and brush for fitting and showing in the divisions were presented to Tom Gochmour, Roy Studer, Debbie Lees and Sam Gouchmour.

One hundred pounds of feed grains went to Deanne Scott, beef; David Smith, dairy; Cindy Bolen, sheep and Richard Sablin, swine.

Jerome council to consider zoning

JEROME — The Jerome City Council will consider Tuesday night the zoning commission recommendation on annexation of four acres of land east of Jerome.

The zoning commission is expected to recommend that land presently owned by the LDS Church be rezoned from agriculture to residential one, and also recommend that the property be annexed into the city.

Controversy has developed over annexation of the property on which the church wants to construct a new church. Several residents in the area reportedly feel it would not be in the best interest of Jerome to locate the church in the residential area. The zoning commission held a public hearing Friday on the rezoning of the area. Protests were made at this time.

Final decision on the annexation and rezoning now rests with the council, which also will have to hold a public hearing before annexation can be completed.

TF fair opens Tuesday

By MARJORIE LIEBMAN

Times-News writer

FILER — It's Fair Time in Magic Valley! Come to the fair! Twin Falls County's 58th annual fair will open its gates Tuesday with a flag-raising ceremony at 8 a.m. under the direction of the Filer American Legion post. A similar flag-raising ceremony each morning and a flag-lowering at 5 p.m. will be featured each day.

This year's fair will offer "something for everyone." Carrying out its theme "Youth — Tomorrow's Leaders," special emphasis will be placed on the youth activities, and representatives of youth organizations in the area will be special guests of the fair board.

Judging in most of the departments will be completed by Tuesday evening so complete exhibits and their winning blue, red and white ribbons will be ready for public display Wednesday morning.

Swine, poultry, sheep and 4-H and FFA dairy and beef fitting and showing will commence at 9 a.m. All 4-H horse events will be included in Tuesday's schedule. Judging of antiques, produce and fruit, home arts, youth exhibits, and kitchen and pantry exhibits also will begin Tuesday morning.

Judging of dogs in the dog barn will be at 1 p.m., and junior vegetable gardeners will be judged at 2 p.m. in the produce building.

Wednesday is East End Day for residents of the Murtaugh, Hansen and Kimberly communities. Wednesday also will feature the Aberdeen Angus, Junior Angus and Shorthorn cattle shows in the beef arena.

Judging of horses in the horse arena, 4-H and FFA sheep in the sheep arena, and fat hog junior show is set for Wednesday morning.

Flower judging begins at 10 a.m. when flower displays are complete and are at their freshest. Junior flower gardeners will have their displays judged at 4 p.m.

Wednesday's free afternoon entertainment includes two performances of the little theatre group in the shade area, as well as the Gem State Gems with Slim Dossey, and a square dance group. Free entertainment in the afternoon will be featured all four days of the fair.

The first night's pre-rodeo entertainment will feature band music, a riding club drill, and the annual 4-H club parade. The rodeo will get underway at 8 p.m.

New this year is a two-ring arena where regular rodeo events with the Keg Kester rodeo stock will be in progress at the same time youth riding and queen contestant's competition are going on in the smaller arena.

Clem McSpadden is rodeo announcer and Karl Doering and Mickey Bagnell will present clown and specialty acts.

Thursday's Charolais and Junior Charolais shows begin in the morning in the show area, with quarter horse working events to be in the rodeo arena. The Tom Parks pavilion building will feature 4-H demonstrations in agriculture and home economics. A 4-H tractor driving contest in the old arena area, and 4-H and FFA round robin fitting and showing will be in the afternoon.

An "open-to-the-world" fat steer show is also set for Thursday in the show area. Thursday's pre-rodeo events will feature band music and riding club drills, and a presentation of the best five head chosen from the Charolais show.

Friday's nationally-known Register of Merit show will open at 8:05 a.m. in the show arena. Hereford breeders from many states will bring their best stock for display at the Filer show with premiums in some classes listed to 18 places.

Home economics judging and 4-H and FFA judging, all are scheduled Friday in the pavilion with senior style revues set for the afternoon. A special feature of Friday's rodeo entertainment will be Morgan horse performances.

Saturday, grand finals day, will see the 4-H and FFA fat stock sale beginning at 10 a.m. and a free horse show sponsored by the Filer Wranglerettes from noon to 4 p.m. in the rodeo arena. Awards in 4-H will be given at the afternoon assembly, and Miss Rodeo Idaho will be crowned during the evening rodeo.

New classes were added this year in the kitchen and pantry department, and a number of new classes in the antique building. Fairgoers will be able to tour all the exhibit buildings to see the prize winners in every class.

New this year is a hobby display in merchants' building No. 4. Last year's innovation, a photography exhibit, will be repeated this year.

Many farmers have missed the machinery displays which in former years were an integral part of the fair. This year, implement dealers were again invited to bring their latest machinery for exhibit on the new lawn where the former grandstand stood.

Fairgoers will find many eating stands on the fairgrounds, and children and young folks can enjoy the many rides and entertainment brought to the fair by the Ray Cammack Shows, "America's Brightest Midway."

Fishing group elects Hemingway to position

SUN VALLEY — Jack Hemingway, Sun Valley, has been elected to the 35-member board of directors for the Federation of Fly Fishermen (FFF).

He was named during balloting Sunday, which also placed Dr. Willard Godfrey, Boise, on the board and named him vice president to serve the Idaho region.

New president of the group is James R. Eriser, Long Beach, Calif. He succeeds Dr. James Gifford, of Maryland.

The elections Sunday morning closed the four-day business meetings at Sun Valley. Marshall Turner, director of operations and coordination group of the Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D. C., keynoted the Saturday night banquet. He discussed the operation of the agency as it is divided into regions throughout the country, which receive complaints, investigate them and file court suits if necessary. He said a number of suits have already been filed in area courts.

Also during the convolve, fly tying experts from throughout the country lectured and demonstrated their craft. Casting games were also held at the Inn Pond and fly fishing movies were shown.

Awards given during the awards banquet Saturday went to Ray Fisher, David, Calif., Man of the Year; Phil Chase, of New York, second Man of the Year; Theodore Gordon, of New York, McKenzle Award for publicity furthering the cause of FFF; Dave Whitlock, of Oklahoma; the Bus-Suak Memorial Award for promoting fly fishing; and special president's awards to Stewart McChesney, Fresno, Calif.; Ron Thomas, Phoenix, Ariz.; Paul Collier, of California; Jim Bashline, of Pennsylvania; Jimmy Eriser, Long Beach, Calif.; and Prescott Tolman, of New York.

Hemingway also donated one of his father's fishing rods to the federation for fund raising purposes. The rod was purchased by Prescott Tolman.

Name of victim withheld

MACKAY, Idaho (UPI) — City Marshal Jerry Conklin said he would probably release the name today of a Nampa man who died in the City Jail last week from a brain hemorrhage. The man, aged 44, was found dead Friday hours after he and a companion were picked up for intoxication.

The dead man, confined to a wheel chair after a motorcycle accident several years ago, was on leave from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Boise to visit a friend here.

The man's body was taken to an Arco funeral home after hospital officials there determined he apparently had a ruptured brain blood vessel, caused by excessive drinking.

Minidoka schools to open

RUPERT — A week later than their Magic Valley colleagues, Minidoka School District School students trudge back to their classrooms Tuesday.

School officials report Tuesday will be a full school day, with all bus routes in operation, and hot lunches served to the students.

Although most other school districts in the Magic Valley began school last week, Minidoka students received an extra week of summer vacation because of the Minidoka County fair which was held last week and because of the three-day Labor Day holiday weekend.

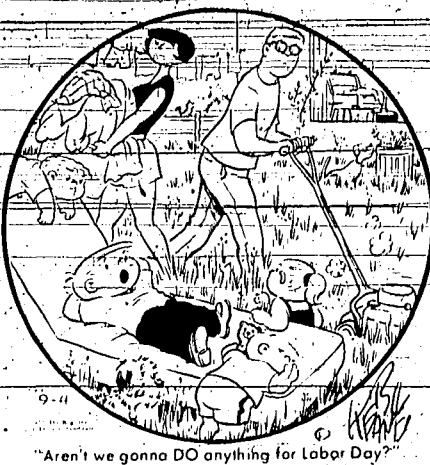

School Supt. Dr. Darrell Hatfield said the new year opens with 27 new instructors in the district, and registration running at about the same pace as a year ago, slightly over 5,100 students.

Receives bicycle

KETCHUM-SUN VALLEY Chamber of Commerce manager, Lloyd Curtis, presents a new bicycle to Farleigh Allatt-Ketchum, co-winner of the "Fund-A-Bus" ticket sales contest. Hillary Holmes, Sun Valley, also won a bicycle.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1972.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There is considerable confusion present in the early morning, so take nothing for granted. Later beneficial influences come into being that make it possible to take a long-standing condition and improve it. In addition, you can add various kinds of improved conditions and make it successful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A perfect day for enjoying the company of friends and getting ahead socially. Do only the work that is necessary. Don't neglect to pay an important bill. Relax at home tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking kin out for the pleasures they enjoy can add to harmony within the home. Those creative ideas you have are good. Do some work on them instead of procrastinating.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Join with those who are talented and you can get the inspiration you need for advancement. Make new arrangements that will help you to produce more. Show you have ability.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can easily have new conditions working in your favor now so that you become more successful and happy in the future. Others have good ideas that are helpful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can mix with people socially now and enjoy the recreations that please while obtaining information and ideas you want. You can whittle your aims down to a practical basis.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Talk with a very successful person you know and get good ideas for your own advancement. Be of assistance to one who is temporarily having a difficult time. Show kindness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It is possible now to visit with fascinating friends and state your aims. They can be helpful. Talk with experts about a problem you may have. Show you have wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Friends who are experts in their fields can be of great help to you now, so contact them early, but avoid a higher-up who wants you to work extra with little compensation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) New situations can be most helpful now, but make sure you first complete a career matter before you act on them. A new friend has fine ideas. Listen carefully and benefit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) It is best to handle a matter of importance early today before you go to new places and meet interesting people. You have a hunch that should be followed. It will lead you rightly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can handle association matters efficiently now, but do it in a pleasant fashion. You can become reconciled with one who had strong opinion. Show you are a reasonable person.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Talk over with interested persons those aspects of your work and get excellent results thereby. Put more mite color and comfort into your surroundings. Relax tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY He or she will be one of those delightful young people who appears constantly trying to get the idealistic concept of life. There could be periods of disappointment because some of the high expectations are out of reach. Don't try to get your progeny to do things your way, but permit to carry on the search to his or her own satisfaction. Much success is then possible here.

Exactly how that thing called estrogen makes a person sexy I don't know. Too scientific. But it does. Anyway, it's said to be found in considerable quantities in the cattle forage of the Scottish island of Islay. Thus it gets into the milk. And hence into the cheese. For this reason, Scottish cheese is banned in Italy. Official explanation is said cheese might boost the Italian birthrate.

HERE are the results of some intensive research by Dr. Edith Patterson and Dr. Doris J. Matthews at Crissy Hospital, Holt Radiation Institute, Manchester, England: Two batches of rats, one given copious quantities of alcohol and the other given plain water, were exposed to killing doses of radiation. The watered rats died, as predicted. But more than a fourth of the rats on alcohol survived. After a study of these tests, some scientists conclude a nuclear attack on a major metropolitan area might leave nobody alive thereabouts except maybe 25 per cent of the drunks.

lowable in the one as the other."

KISS
Presumably, mister, you kiss your wife goodbye when you leave for work and again hello when you show up at night. Or if not, why not? Nevertheless, merely wish to mention this custom of kissing the bride upon arrival and departure is just about universal among of history's societies. In those exceptional tribes where the kiss is not the practice, it's said, matrimonial mates make do with the nose-rub, the posterior pat or the one-armed hug.

THE SIGNING
A lease before you move into rent quarters is no new business practice, please note. Landlords among the Sumerians about 3,000 B.C. required tenants to sign leases.

Mooney hikes lead in Magic Valley amateur

A funny thing happened to Pocatello's Mike Mooney on his way to an apparent Magic Valley golf championship Sunday. He shot a two-over par 70 and still picked up a stroke. Mooney, who blistered the municipal course with a six-under 62 Saturday, then went on to test the jinx of the tournament. He won the 10-man elimination derby — and so far, not one has won the derby and the championship. Most of Mooney's success in padding his lead was due to the failure to first-day runner-up Jim Packard to match his opening effort. Packard, Twin Falls, skied to a 70, including a nearly unheard-of — for him — 41 on the front side. Packard had six penalty shots and some lousy putting to eliminate himself from consideration. In the meantime, Jeff Leinassar, Pocatello, and Ken Huizinga, Burley, came up with 65s to keep their title hopes alive. Leinassar went into Monday's final round at even par: 68, four shots behind Mooney at 132-136. Knotted at 130 were Huizinga, Jim Purves and John Rosholt, Twin Falls. Don Lowman, Jerome, and Carl Hoss, Pocatello. Mooney was three-under par on the front in the derby in claiming that title while Packard, who bogied five and six and still survived, was three over in claiming second. Dave Driscoll, one under going up eight, was show.

Bob Bradbury took the first flight lead at 135 with Jim Hollenbeck and Marlon Undheim, Twin Falls, at 141, and Porter Ingram, Twin Falls at 142. Another shot back were Harvey Schlagenhaut and Bill DeWald, Twin Falls.

Gary Rolland turned in a 73 to go with his opening 64 for a 141 total and one shot lead over Bob Wood. Don Hutchins also turned in a sparkling 71 to move into third place while first-day leader Jim Duffel was tied with G. Ballingham and Stan Ayres, Buhl, at 145.

John Barovich, Billings, made about a shambles of the third flight, posting a 146 and six-shot lead over P. Cullinan, Pocatello; Carl Feeler, Twin Falls; and Jay Commander, Twin Falls.

J. Forman and Ken Stratford, Pocatello, were tied for the fourth flight lead at 150 with Perry Jensen, Twin Falls, two strokes away. It was five shots back to the fourth position.

Rex Wood, Twin Falls, led the fifth flight at 161 with Bob Chauvin, Mountain Home, threatening at 162. Marv Aslett, Rexburg, had a solid 77 to move into third place with Bob Skredner, Twin Falls, at 164. In the sixth flight, B. Salisbury continued to dominate and wound up the day at 155. That should take care of that since Cliff Smith is second at 163 and C. Campbell and M. Peterson are back at 165.

Laver wins epic match in Open tennis event

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — In one of the cliff-hanging epics of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships Sunday, Rod Laver defeated Jaime Fillol of Chile in a sudden death fifth set match, Laver winning, 6-2, 4-6, 6-7, 6-1, 7-6.

Laver, playing dreadfully in the second and third sets, had pulled himself together against the 26-year-old Fillol in the fourth, when he began to make the "impossible" shots that mark him as one of the finest players the game has ever seen.

Throughout the just-over three-hour match, the 34-year-old Laver had trouble with his service, and also seemed unable to compensate for the grass footing, which had contributed to second-seeded Ken Rosewall's defeat by Mark Cox on Saturday.

But Laver, one of the fiercest of competitors, came back from his dismal showing in the second set, and his five point to three loss in the third set sudden death, to rip Fillol apart in the fourth set.

He seemed on his way to triumph in the final set, but again his serve faltered and he exchanged service breaks with the 26-year-old Chilean in the third, fourth and fifth games. Fillol got another break when a line call in the eighth game was changed, giving the Jaime the game for 4-all.

They held service thereafter, although Laver forced Fillol to deuce twice from 40-15 in the 11th game. The red-headed Aussie held his own service at 15 in the twelfth game.

In tie tie break, Fillol won the first point on his service, but a great forehand by Laver knotted it at 1-1. But Laver's first serve was useless and a poor volley on the fourth point tied it at 2-2. They split again on Jaime's serve for 3-3 but Laver then wrapped it up when Fillol was "long on a backhand" and then netted a backhand on match point.

Stan Smith had opened the day in men's action by defeating Australia's Allan Stone, 6-3, 7-6, 7-5, but the defending champion was not impressive. Smith had played weakly against Billy Martin in the opening round, and had shown only flashes of his skill against Clark Grahner, but Stan insisted he was not too concerned — yet.

Laver, exhausted as was Fillol, said "winning a close match like this one is good for one's confidence. I've had tougher matches in my short career," he grinned.

Fillol said he was happy at winning two sets and that in the first set he thought it was 1969 all over again, when Laver had whipped him in three sets here en route to Rod's Grand Slam.

Curtis Sifford, Johnston tie for lead at Hartford

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI) — Curtis Sifford and Ralph Johnston both shot four-under par 67s Sunday to tie for the third round lead at 12-under par in the $125,000 Greater Hartford at windswept Wethersfield Country Club.

Johnston put away four birdies on the 6,583-yard course while Sifford had five birdies and a bogey and both men pulled out of a tie for eighth place after two rounds to move into the lead with one round to go. The two had 54-hole totals of 201.

Lee Elder shot a 69 Sunday to move into a third-place tie with Deane Berman at 202. Ken Still was fifth at 203 while Tee Trevino, who held the second round lead with Berman, went to the clubhouse at 204.

Sifford, in his fourth year on the Professional Golfers Association tour, said he was crossed up on occasion by a "tricky wind" that hit 35 mph in gusts and was "blowing in circles."

His only major problem, however, came on the 404-yard fourth hole where he "eased up on the ball because of the wind and I left myself a long putt." He ended up with his only bogey, a five, on the hole.

"This is my lowest three-round score this year," Sifford said. "I'm not trying to shoot scores, though. I decided at the beginning of the year I'm just going to play the game and not worry about the scores."

Johnston, who said he is "hitting the ball higher and longer" with the help of a new swing, was "hitting solidly off the tee" Sunday and was troubled by the wind only when putting.

"The wind affected my stance on the green more than it affected my swing," he said. "I was hitting the ball well off the tee even when we went into the wind."

Elder blew a chance to tie for the lead when he overshot the cup on the 18th hole and two-putted for a bogey five. "I putted well in general, but got myself into a bad spot on the 18th," he said. "There's always tomorrow. I'm still within striking distance and I feel a little more confident."

Elder is seeking to become the first black man to qualify for the Masters tournament but needs a win to do it. He has been on the pro tour since 1968 and has yet to win a major tournament.

Berman said he "made mistakes" because of the wind. He said he "misread the wind."

Brodie leads S.F. past Oakland 34-21

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco quarterback John Brodie passed for three first-half touchdowns as the 49ers handed the Oakland Raiders their first defeat Sunday, 34-21.

A record crowd of 61,237 watched Brodie snap another Raiders' streak with his first score, a 12-yard strike to running back Vic Washington. The Raiders hadn't allowed an offensive touchdown for 13 consecutive quarters.

Oakland's first score was set up when defender Art Thoms returned a San Francisco fumble to the 49er eight. Raider quarterback Darley Lamonica hit tight end Raymond Chester for the score.

Brodie finished the half by finding reserve wide receiver Preston Riley with scoring aerials of 44 and six yards. A 23-yard Bruce Gossett field goal gave San Francisco a 24-7 half-time lead.

Brodie, who did not play in the second half, finished with 14 completions in 20 attempts for 206 yards. Oakland could manage only 89 yards total offense in the half.

The teams traded scores late in a wild fourth period. Jimmy Thomas scored for San Francisco on a one-yard plunge, and Lamonica teamed with Chester again for a 26-yard score.

Mark Spitz grabs record 6th gold medal in games

MUNICH (UPI)—Mark Spitz of Carmichael, Calif., capped a brilliant week of Olympic swimming with a record sixth gold medal Sunday and the United States grabbed a pair of surprise thirds in track and field to forgo ahead of Russia in the Games medal chase.

Yank swimmers, as they have so many times in the past, kept up their record-shattering pace with world records in the women's 800 meter freestyle by Keena Rothhammer of Santa Clara, Calif., and the women's 400-meter medley relay, but the day clearly belonged to Spitz, who has made the 1972 Olympics his own private preserve.

The 22-year-old pre-dental student, who "bombed out" in Mexico City four years ago and came to Munich vowing he'd make up for it, thus became the greatest single winner of gold medals in one Olympic Games, passing four others who had won five.

And the fact that Spitz won his four individual events and two relays all in world record time only added to his stature as the most successful athlete in Olympic history.

He got off strongly in the 100-meter freestyle and never gave up the lead as he splashed home in 51.2, just ahead of teammate Jerry Heldenreich of Dallas, Tex. John Murphy of Hinsdale, Ill., finished fourth and defending Olympic champ Mike Wenden of Australia was fifth.

Miss Rothhammer took the 800 in 8:53.08 and the team of Melissa Belote of Washington, D. C., Cathy Carr of Albuquerque, N. M., Deena Deardruff of Cincinnati and Sandra Neilson of El Monte, Calif., won the 400 medley relay in 4:20.75.

The track and field surprises were turned in by Larry Young of Sibley, Mo., in the 50-kilometer walk and Bill Schmidt of Muse, Pa., in the javelin.

The bearded Young clocked 4:00.40 in the walk, while finishing behind Bernd Kannenberg of West Germany and Vsevolod Soldatenko of Russia. He was no threat to first or second but was nearly a minute ahead of the fourth-place finisher.

Klaus Wolfermann of West Germany took the javelin with an Olympic record throw of 296-10 with Janis Lusis, the defending champ from Russia, second at 296-9 and Schmidt third at 276-11.

The United States also grabbed third place in individual grand prix jumping with Neal Shapiro of Glen Head, N. Y., and Duane Boblek, the handsome boxing heavyweight hopeful, made his Olympic debut a winning one with a clear-cut decision over a Russian rival.

After the bulk of Sunday's program the United States was in front of the medal race with 21 golds, 21 silvers and 18 bronzes for a total of 60—five more than Russia and 18 ahead of East Germany.

Through Sunday's finals, U. S. men swimmers had won seven of 11 events and the women had taken four of 11 finals. However, the total medal score in 22 events accounted for the bulk of the entire U.S. total.

When Miss Rothhammer took the 800 free on Sunday's program, she beat Shane Gould of Australia, who had won three previous golds and was the standout among women swimmers. Miss Gould was no match for Miss Rothhammer, finishing nearly three seconds behind her.

While most of the news in track and field has been bad for Americans, it turned a bit better on Sunday as world record holder Red Millburn of Opelousas, La., Tom Hill of Jonesboro, Ark., and defending Olympic champ Willie Davenport of Baton Rouge, La., easily got through the second round of heats in the high hurdles and Larry Black of Miami, Fla., Larry Burton of Melfa, Va., and Chuck Smith of Los Angeles advanced with equal ease through the second round of the 200 dash.

In the 400-meter dash, Vincent Matthews of Queens Village, N. Y., John Smith of Los Angeles and Wayne Collett of Santa Monica, Calif., made it through the heats without being extended. Some observers are predicting a sweep in this event as well as the hurdles for the U.S.

In the 10,000 run, Frank Shorter of Taos, N.M., stayed with the leaders until the final lap, then faded to finish fifth. Laase Viren of Finland took the gold medal in the world record time of 27:38.4 with Emiel Puttemans of Belgium second and Merus Yifter of Ethiopia third.

Hildegard Falck of West Germany almost brought the big house down when she won the women's 800 in Olympic record time of 1:58.6 with Niele Sabatini of Russia second and Gundild Hoffmeister of East Germany third.

Mary Peters of Great Britain provided a big surprise when she won the women's pentathlon with a world record 4,801 points. Heide Rosendahl of West Germany, earlier winner of the long jump title, was second and Burglinda Pollak of East Germany third.

Boblek's victory, a hard earned one over a Russian foe who wouldn't go down despite being hit often and hard, was the only one for Yank boxers Sunday. Earlier, flyweight Tim Dement of Bossier City, La., lightweight James Busecme of Beaumont, Tex., and featherweight Louis Self of Toledo, Ohio, all were beaten.

RAISING HIS ARMS in a victory gesture is America's Jerry Heldenreich of Dallas, Tex., after he and teammate Mark Spitz of Carmichael, Calif., took second and first place, respectively in the 100-meter Olympic freestyle swimming competition in Munich, Germany, Sunday. Spitz's 51.22 performance brought him not only the gold medal but a new world record for the event. Heldenreich came in with a time of 51.65 in the race. (UPI Telephoto).

Spitz says he wouldn't repeat quest for gold

MUNICH (UPI)—Mark Spitz said he wouldn't go through all the trouble again for six, or even seven, Olympic gold medals.

"They aren't worth much monetarily," Spitz said. "I'll hang them up on the wall someplace."

"This has been the hardest six days of my life," Spitz said. "I've done 38 laps now. There are only two to go (in the 400-meter medley relay Monday night)."

Spitz was interviewed with his father, Arnold Spitz, who had urged his son to continue his swimming career the last four years.

"We would do it all over again if we thought he had the same chance for success," the proud father said.

Spitz wasn't so sure.

"I probably wouldn't," Mark said. "There's been a lot of toil involved."

Spitz also admitted for the first time since arriving for the Games that he was going for seven golds from the first splash. He earlier had said he would try his best in each race, but refused to discuss more than the next event.

"Now, I can honestly say that I thought seven," Spitz said. "Now, it looks good for seven. I think the United States has a great chance in the relay."

Spitz said a slight back injury suffered two days ago helped rather than hindered him in winning his sixth gold medal.

"I had this irritable back and it helped me because it took my mind off tonight's race," said Spitz, moments after the 100-meter freestyle. "It was bothering me for two days and then I woke up today feeling perfectly well."

"This race was the hardest one for me to get mentally up for," he said. "Physically I felt great, but I was a little tired."

Spitz said that teammate Jerry Heldenreich, who won a silver medal, had given him a tough battle.

"If it had not been for Jerry pushing me so much, I would not have gone out so hard," Spitz said. "I really gave it all I had during the last 100 meters. I was stretched to the wall for several days. I tried not to go for several days. I was going to win while I was swimming tonight and I would not have upset me if I had lost. I was only concerned with swimming as if this was my first race of the Games."

Heldenreich pounded the edge pool with his fist; at the end of the race, and then grinned at Spitz and shook his hand.

"I came closer to beating him than ever before," said Heldenreich. "I thought that if I had gotten out ahead of him at the halfway point I might have thrown him off, but it didn't work."

"I always thought I could beat him in the freestyle and if I had another shot, I still believe I could," he said.

Another world record Hunter hurls Oakland over Detroit in AL

By United Press International

Jim Hunter stopped the puncheonless Detroit Tigers on four hits, and Sal Bando snapped an 0 for 24 batting slump with a solo home run to give the Oakland A's a 3-1 victory Sunday, the sixth win in their last seven games.

Hunter pitched out of trouble in early innings to record his 18th win in 25 decisions and his first complete game in a month. He retired the final 15 Tigers he faced. The A's right-handed veteran walked no one and seems enroute to his second straight 20-game season.

Detroit, which has lost five of six and scored only eight runs in the last seven games, tallied in the second inning on a double by Bill Freehan and Tony Taylor's single. Mickey Stanley followed with another base hit, but right fielder Matty Alou robbed Ed Brinkman of an extra base hit to prevent further damage.

In the fifth Bando homered off loser Bill Slayback (5-6) for his first hit since Aug. 25 and first RBI since Aug. 18. The A's captain had only one hit in 37 at bats and just six in his previous 67 official trips as his average tumbled under .230.

The win kept the A's 2 and one-half games in front of Chicago in the AL West, while Detroit dropped to a tie for third in the tightly-clustered AL East.

In other American League action Chicago blanked New York 5-0, Cleveland defeated Minnesota 4-1, Texas toppled Milwaukee 4-1 and California shut out Baltimore 1-0 in 10 innings. The Kansas City at Boston game was postponed due to rain.

Ken Berry's one-out single scored the only run of the game in the 10th inning Sunday as Andy Messersmith hurled a five-hitter to pitch the California Angels to a 1-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Despite losing two out of three to California, the Orioles managed to remain a half game ahead of Detroit, New York and Boston in the tight American League East race.

Messersmith's battery mate, Jeff Torborg opened, the winning rally by beating out a bunt. Curt Motton ran for Torborg and was able to advance to second when Orioles' catcher John Oates was guilty of a passed ball.

After Messersmith popped out, loser Eddie Watt walked Sandy Alomar intentionally. But it backfired as Berry lined a single into the right field corner to give Messersmith his sixth victory in 14 decisions.

The Angel righthander had been locked in a scoreless duel with Mike Cuellar before the Baltimore lefty was taken out for a pinchhitter in the top of the 10th. Watt came on to take his second loss in three decisions.

Los Angeles defeats Cards 6-3 in Sunday's NL action

By United Press International

Wes Parker drove in four runs with a two-run triple, a sacrifice fly and a single and Willie Crawford hit a two-run homer Sunday to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 6-3 win over the St. Louis Cardinals.

With two outs in the sixth, Manny Mota and Willie Davis singled and Parker tripled them home. Crawford then hit his eighth homer of the season.

Parker also drove in the other two Dodger runs. In the fourth he hit a sacrifice fly to drive in Mota, who had singled and gone to third when St. Louis starter Reggie Cleveland's pick-off attempt went wild. And in the eighth Mota, Davis and Parker hit consecutive singles for the final Los Angeles runs.

Mota had three singles and three runs scored in three trips to the plate after entering the game for Bill Buckner. Buckner was hit on the wrist by a Cleveland pitch in the first and was taken to the hospital for X-rays.

Buckner was thrown out at third base on Davis' single in the first, and Los Angeles manager Walter Alston protesting the call, was ejected from the game. Cleveland was hit by a pitch by Los Angeles starter Bill Singer on his first appearance at the plate.

Left-hander Fred Norman pitched a seven-hit shutout and Clarence Gaston scored one run and drove in two others Sunday to give the San Diego Padres a 3-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Norman, whose record is only 7-9 but has pitched five shutouts this season, allowed only one runner as far as third base and he was cut down at the plate trying to score on a short fly to right.

San Diego, the victim of a no-hitter by Milt Pappas on Saturday, scored its first run in the second when Gaston beat out a hit to deep short, went to third on Derral Thomas' double to right and scored on Fred Kendall's single to center. Thomas was thrown out by Billy North trying to score from second on Kendall's hit.

In the eighth, the Pirates knocked out Burt Hooton and scored their final two runs on a single by Dave Roberts, a hit by Nate Colbert who went to second on a late throw trying to get Roberts at third and Gaston's two-run single to left.

The Cubs' most serious scoring threat came in the fourth when singles by Jose Cardenal and Ron Santo put runners on first and third and one out. Jim Hickman popped to Gaston in short right and when Gaston lobbed the ball back toward the infield, Cardenal streaked to the plate. But a quick relay by first baseman Colbert retired him at home.

In other National League action Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings, Philadelphia blanked Atlanta 8-0, Cincinnati edged Montreal 4-3 and New York nipped Houston 2-1.

TIMES-NEWS STORY INFORMATION

NEWS WANTED

The Times-News would like to have information concerning activities of your organization to make preparation of news stories easier. This form is provided. Because additional information may be desired, the news desk asks that the name of the contributor be provided along with a telephone number where that source of information may be reached.

TIME IS IMPORTANT

The Times-News has a deadline of two days following an event in which information will be printed. So if an event occurs on Monday, information about it should be submitted early enough so it can be in Wednesday's newspaper. There is no limit on how far in advance of a coming event that a story may be submitted.

Important - Use full names, not nicknames. Be sure all names are spelled correctly.
