Damp arena

Most eyes watch skies over Filer fairgrounds

FILER — Most eyes were on the sky at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds today.

Rain showers dampened the fairgrounds but not the interest of exhibitors and judges, as the latter began considering entries in various classes.

The fair opens Wednesday, but the Weather Bureau didn't offer much bright news. A forecast calling for scattered showers and possible thunderstorms through Wednesday was issued late this morning.

So fair officials and exhibitors were keeping their rain gear handy while hoping the prediction is wrong.

Today's showers, which dampened most of the Magic Valley, were caused by a tropical storm centered about 500 miles southwest of San Diego, Calif. The storm is expected to move northeastward and weaken, with clearing skies and cool temperatures in prospect for southern Idaho by Friday.

Most reporting stations in the Magic Valley had measurable amounts of precipitation today, with .07 of an inch at Twin Falls the most.

The first to be judged this morning were open swine classes and 4-H club horse events. The latter included fitting and showing, quality, western pleasure and working classes.

The 4-H and FFA dairy fitting and showing, scheduled for 9 a.m. this morning, was postponed until 1:30 p.m. because of late arrival of the judge. Home economics and miscellaneous exhibits for 4-H clubs were judged this morning in the Tom Parks Pavilion.

Also judged this morning were sheep, antiques, produce and fruits, home arts, youth exhibits and kitchen and pantry displays. The Antique Building closed its doors on a full house of articles at noon Monday with exhibitors bringing in antiques until the last moment.

The dog show began at 1 p.m. today with the dog judged best overall to receive a special ribbon. Junior vegetable gardeners will have their exhibits judged this afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Produce Building.

Wednesday's activities start at 8 a.m. with the flag raising ceremony under the direction of the Filer American Legion Post. Wayne Webster is commander and Bob Bruce Jr. will serve as bugler.

Wednesday will feature the Angus and Junior Angus shows in the morning, along with judging of sheep and swine in the 4-H department.

Raid halts Olympic games; Arabs kill 2

MUNICH (UPI) — The 20th Olympic Games were temporarily suspended today after an Arab vengeance squad shot its way into the Israeli quarters of the Olympic Village, killed two Israeli men and seized nine Israeli hostages.

The guerrillas "threatened" to kill their captives unless they were allowed to fly them to an Arab country.

They set one more deadline—5 p.m. (10 a.m. MDT). As the deadline approached dozens of police, some carrying machine-guns, surrounded the complex and took up battle positions.

A number of Israelis were able to escape through the heroism of two who died. Wrestling coach Moshe Weinberg, 33, fell in front of the Israeli building when he apparently intercepted the raiders. Referee Joseph Gottfreund was said to have leaped against the door shouting an alarm until he was riddled by bullets fired through it.

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, ordered suspension of the games for 24 hours or until the hostages were freed—as had been demanded an hour earlier by Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir who surmised an emergency session of the Israeli Parliament to discuss the situation.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt flew in from Bonn to head the negotiations with the guerrillas personally. He appealed to the world Arab leaders to intervene to try to seek the release of the Israelis.

The incident threatened the future of the Olympic Games themselves and Egypt announced it was withdrawing from the current games.

American swimmer Mark Spitz, a Jew and winner of seven gold medals in the swimming events, was under guard by U.S. military police in a Munich hotel nine miles from Olympic village so that he would not become a target of any Arab guerrilla attempt.

The assault by the band of extremists, who call themselves the Black September Group and who perpetrated the Lod Airport massacre in Tel Aviv, shocked the 10,000 competitors and officials in the Olympic village into the realization that this might be the last Olympic Games.

Many said as demonstrations broke out in the village that this meeting could mark the end of the modern games, which were revived in 1896.

In San Clemente, Calif., President Nixon expressed "a sense of deep outrage" over the incident.

United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said he was "profoundly distressed" when he heard of the "dastardly act perpetrated against Israeli athletes in the Olympic Village in Munich."

The suspension was announced by Brundage and by Willie Daume, the German organizer. They said all events would be suspended today—except for events already underway. They did not say when or if the games would resume.

"The Olympic peace has been broken by an act of terror," the two men said in a statement. "The whole world regards this with disgust. The events of this afternoon have been suspended."

They also announced a memorial service for Wednesday morning in the 84,000 seat Olympic Stadium so athletes and officials can pay tribute to the Israeli victims.

"This ceremony should make clear that the Olympic ideal is stronger than terror and force," the two men said. Brandt held an emergency cabinet meeting in Bonn and then flew to Munich for talks with Brundage.

Mitchell says bugging not harmful to Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell said today he did not believe the alleged bugging of Democratic party headquarters would hurt President Nixon's chances for re-election.

The former attorney general, who was Nixon's campaign manager at the time of the June 17 break-in, made the statement as he entered law offices of the Democrats' lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, to make a sworn statement on whatever he might know about the affair. The Democratic Party has filed a $1 million civil suit against the suspects in the case.

Asked by reporters on his arrival at Williams' office whether he felt the episode would affect Nixon's re-election hopes, Mitchell replied: "None whatsoever."

Arriving shortly before Mitchell, attorney Henry B. Rothblatt, representing five men arrested in the Democratic offices, said he fully expected that a federal grand jury would return criminal indictments in the case later this month.

He also said in response to a question that he believed Mitchell and Maurice Stans, finance chairman of the Committee to Re-Elect President Nixon, would be exonerated of any part in the break-in.

Rothblatt also said he has a "pretty good series of suspicions" about what was behind the incident. He refused to elaborate but teased reporters, "I'm sure if you knew what I know, you'd have some stories."

Williams asked for Mitchell's sworn deposition, believing he could supply some information about the break-in of the Democratic offices in the Watergate complex. Police said the men arrested had bugging and photographic gear in their possession.

Douglas questions Viet War legality

NEW YORK (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas believes the Vietnam War may be unconstitutional because it was not formally declared by Congress.

"As you read the constitution, it says that Congress has the power to declare war," Douglas said in a (CBS) television interview Monday. "And it doesn't say Congress and-or the President, or the Congress and-or the President and-or the Supreme Court."

"It just says Congress shall have the power to declare war. And historically that has been the case."

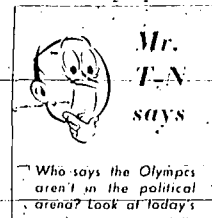

The 73-year-old justice said if the Supreme Court declared the Vietnam war unconstitutional, the practical effect would be "that the boy who didn't want to go wouldn't have to go."

But, he said, the war probably would continue "with volunteers."

Asked what the war did to the reputation of the United States, Douglas replied: "Well, I'm afraid as a result of the Vietnam war that in many eyes of the many people in the underdeveloped nations, we're the new Genghis Khan, a great destroyer, which is very, very unfortunate."

Douglas, in a wide-ranging interview that touched on many aspects of his long public career, said that he might have been "Franklin D. Roosevelt's running mate in 1944."

Congress' last weeks said 'mess'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott predicted as Congress resumed work today that the remaining days of the session "will be a mess."

His Democratic counterpart, Mike Mansfield, defended the record of Congress so far and said in response to a question he did not think Republican criticism of its work was justified.

The two leaders made their remarks in brief sessions with reporters as Congress reconvened after an 18-day recess that began just before the Republican National Convention.

Mansfield said he was still shooting for adjournment Sept. 30, but would not rule out a post-election session.

GOP issues new fund charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republicans and the Democrats are currently locked in an increasingly bitter contest to determine which side operates the more illegal campaign.

The trading of charges and counter-charges resumed Monday when GOP National Chairman Robert J. Dole outlined to the General Accounting Office (GAO) a number of new, "serious" violations by the Democrats of campaign financing, postal, tax and criminal laws.

Dole's charges centered on provisions in the Federal Election Campaign Act that require political committees to report periodically to the GAO where their money comes from and how it is spent.

Specifically, he alleged: — Failure to report $248,000 of the $350,000 or more that wealthy Los Angeles businessman Max Palevsky is believed by the GOP to have contributed.

— Establishment of dummy committees so Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner and "one or two other large contributors" could escape federal taxes levied on political donations in excess of $3,000 by making several smaller contributions. He said Hefner had chipped-in "at least $50,000" to the McGovern campaign, this way.

— Failure to file required reports five days before Sargent Shriver was selected as McGovern's running mate.

— Failure, by the National Labor Committee for the Election of McGovern-Shriver, to register as the law requires. He also suggested that the 28 unions listed as committee sponsors in ads in the New York Times and Washington Post Aug. 25 may have violated laws forbidding union contributions to political campaigns.

Dole also charged that McGovern violated postal regulations by misusing his senate franking privileges for political mailings.

He further alleged twin violations of a criminal statute forbidding promise of reward for political activity. He said McGovern first, in a letter to "millions of Americans" in early August, promised a "people's dinner" at the White House if elected.

when you don't have the responsibility to balance the budget," Andrus said.

High and Roberts told the hastily-called news conference that the levy on local property is an automatic one. They said the Board of Education has no choice but to order the increased property tax of more than $908,000 and property taxes have no appeal.

"Our feeling about this is simply that the facts do not justify a holdback at this time," High said.

Roberts said if a local property tax levy is imposed now and later the holdback of general fund money is lifted then the local school districts "would receive a windfall" — that the property tax revenue would be in addition to the legislative appropriation.

Andrus, interviewed by newsmen while having his morning coffee and doughnuts, expressed surprise at that statement.

"In the same statement he's saying the schools, health and welfare need more funds," Andrus said. "If this is a gloom situation (a windfall) to him — so be it."

Both High and Roberts insisted the holdback is both unnecessary and premature.

"The Idaho economy is strong, and we have every reason to believe that the rate of growth will continue and that general fund revenues meet or exceed estimates used by the 1972 legislature to balance the state budget," they said.

They said that agricultural income and retail sales are up and so is employment in Idaho.

TF solons ask Idaho holdback end

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — The co-chairmen of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee of the legislature asked Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today to lift his 1.9 per cent holdback on general fund spending.

Sen. Richard Tigh, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, called the holdback premature and said that economic indicators at this point do not justify it.

They added the holdback is working "an undue hardship" on such state agencies as education, health and welfare.

And, they said, if the order stays in effect through Sept. 11 the State Board of Education will be forced by law to apply an added local property tax to replace revenues lost through the holdback.

"We do not believe that a local property tax should be imposed by governor's edict," Tigh and Roberts said, in a joint statement.

Andrus, who had not yet received the High-Roberts letter, told newsmen he has no intention of lifting the holdback at this time.

"These same individuals were the ones who asked me to rescind the one per cent holdback last year because of some of their revenue estimates," Andrus said. "They were wrong then — I see no reason to believe they would be other than that now."

"Therefore, I am not going to lift this until I have more accurate indicators than the legislative committee."

IRA focuses on British troop hits

BELEFAST (UPI)—The Provisional wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) will soon curtail its bombing of civilian establishments and concentrate on attacking British troops, sources close to the group's leadership said today.

The sources said the decision had been forced by pressure from Roman Catholics in Belfast and Londonderry who were tired of being caught in the middle of the IRA's guerrilla war.

The leadership has been taking a hard look at the overall strategy of the Northern campaign, one source said.

One of the decisions has been to phase out the bombing of civilian targets and to step up the war against British forces, he said.

There have been reports lately of splits within the group.

The latest civilian target to be bombed was the Belfast headquarters of the Social Democratic and Labor party, the province's largest Catholic opposition group. After a bomb shattered windows in the building early today, the party's secretary general, Julian Jacotot, protested that security forces had ignored their request for protection.

Earlier, besieged policemen fired two shots into the ceiling of an East Belfast police station to drive off a mob of Protestant youths.

No one was injured in the attack on the Willowfield police station on Woodstock road. About 80 members of the Protestant "Tartan Gang" were involved in the incident, a police spokesman said.

An army source said the attack followed the arrest of a member of the inner council of the Ulster Defense Association (UDA), which has pledged a get-tough policy toward the security forces.

The shots succeeded in driving off the youths who attacked the station with bottles and stones. Earlier they had gone on a window smashing spree, the police spokesman said.

Crowds threw two hijacked buses across roads leading to the Willowfield station, delaying reinforcements from reaching it.

Near Belfast's downtown area, a car bomb exploded outside the Social Democratic and Labor Party (SDLP) headquarters. There were no casualties; the car had been noticed and the area cleared. Windows in the building were shattered. The SDLP is Northern Ireland's main Roman Catholic opposition party.

Near Enniskillen, 70 miles southwest of Belfast, a mine blew an armored troop carrier off a road.

Soviet trip planned

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser, will visit Moscow Sept. 10-19 for talks with Soviet leaders "on matters of mutual interest," the White House announced today.

President Nixon's press secretary, Hopold L. Ziegler, said efforts to negotiate peace in Vietnam and the next phase of negotiations on limitation of nuclear armaments would be among the topics discussed.

Ziegler said Kissinger also would stop in Munich en route to the Soviet Union for talks Sept. 8-9 with West German leaders. He said Kissinger would meet with Chancellor Willy Brandt and other West German leaders for informal talks on matters relating to Germany in particular and Europe in general.

Ziegler said Kissinger's visit to the Soviet Union was in accordance with the agreement reached during Nixon's Moscow summit.

Desegregation issue aired

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley today presented written arguments taking issue with virtually every recommendation made by the Detroit school desegregation panel appointed by U.S. District Judge Stephen Roth.

Some 285,000 public school students in Philadelphia, which has the nation's fourth largest school system, faced the prospect of a prolonged summer vacation today because of a strike called by the local teacher union for 7 a.m.

Strikes were already in progress in eight school districts in western Pennsylvania, including five in the suburbs of Pittsburgh. Strikes also appeared imminent today in 11 suburban Philadelphia districts.

Scheduled strike votes in Rhode Island threatened the Wednesday opening of public schools around the state.

In the New York City school system, the nation's largest, the Board of Education was reported close to completing a contract package for submission to the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) which it hopes would avert a strike when classes begin next Monday.

Illinois faced definite strikes today in Sesser, Champaign and Carpentersville. Teachers in Rockford, the state's second largest school district, were voting on a possible walkout which would affect some 48,000 children.

The 13,000 members of the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers (PFT) voted for a strike when contract talks broke off Monday night because school officials refused to discuss salary raises for teacher's aides, non-teaching assistants, and secretaries until the basic teachers' wage package had been settled.

About 47,000 students in western Pennsylvania already were enjoying extended summer vacations because of teachers' strikes.

In Rhode Island, contract talks between teachers and school boards were held in Newport and Providence over the holiday weekend but no negotiations were reported in eight other communities.

The communities involved were West Warwick, Cranston, Barrington, Smithfield, Westerly, Charlestown, Foster and Gloucester.

In New York, UFT President Albert Shanker said Sunday that unless the total offer was presented in within 24 hours, there would not be sufficient time to avert a strike by the city's 80,000 teachers.

Basement areas will be finished as additional funds are available.

When the additional space is completed the home will be able to provide care for 12 boys and girls.

Carpeting, light fixtures, furniture and all other items donated by organizations and individuals to open the original Harbor House on Shoshone Street were moved to the new building.

Three years ago Harbor House opened in an old home on Shoshone Street North, with numerous donations of used furniture, carpet, several gifts of new appliances and furnishings.

During the past three years the home has provided for wards of the courts and other children temporarily without suitable homes.

The same service will continue in the new building. The old building, formerly known as the Clark home, at 717 Shoshone St. N., will be torn down. It was rented by the Harbor House organization and has been sold. It will be cleared from the site to make way for a new office complex.

Welch Moving and Storage donated two trucks and the services of four men to move the furnishings and other items into the new building.

Board cleans kitchen

Nevadan facing tough challenge

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Congressman Walter S. Baring, who has served in the U.S. House of Representatives longer than any Nevadan, faces one of the toughest challenges of his career today in a state primary election.

The 10-term Democrat is up against James H. Billray, 34, a Las Vegas attorney and University of Nevada regent who waged a strong campaign for the youth vote.

Baring, 60, is a self-described states rights Democrat who usually draws heavy Republican support during general elections. His strength lies mainly in the Reno and rural districts.

Billray expected to win big in his own Las Vegas area, which has about half the state's registered voters — most of them Democrats.

Road toll reaches 3 in Nevada

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada's Labor Day highway death toll rose to three with two accidents in the Winnemucca area.

Ethel Garfield Crutcher died Sunday when the car she was in ran off a Reservation Road about two miles east of U.S. 95 near McDermott.

She was thrown from the car when it rolled. Two other persons were also injured in that crash. They were taken to Humboldt County Hospital for treatment.

In a separate accident, John V. Irish, 42, of the Elder Creek Ranch at Denio died when his car ran off Interstate 80.

Hopeful fined

RUHL — Legislative candidate Raymond E. Stricklan, D-Buhl, was fined $17.50 after pleading guilty to fishing without a license.

According to an Idaho Fish and Game Department report, Stricklan, 41, was arrested while fishing at Oster Lake No. 4 at Hagerman on Aug. 4. He appeared before Magistrate Charles Packham on Aug. 28.

Stricklan is seeking the District 24 Idaho Senate seat now held by Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl.

Stricklan said today "I was helping my nephew and was caught with a pole in my hand. I hadn't intended to be fishing." He said his nephew was 4 years old.

"I didn't even catch a fish," Stricklan said.

GOP hopeful asks welfare changes

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — America's welfare system must be "thrown out" in favor of a new program, U.S. Rep. James A. McClure said in Blackfoot Monday.

"Last year," McClure, who is running for the state's seat in the U.S. Senate, said, "The U.S. spent approximately $14.2 billion on welfare."

"That's more than twice the amount spent five years ago and it's being paid out to nearly 14 million people," he said.

He said because the welfare program has developed into a "hodgepodge of unrelated and sometimes conflicting programs," much of the money is wasted.

The First District Congressman said the entire present system must be thrown out in favor of a program with three essential elements.

He said a program must include work requirements, job training programs and the new laws must replace, not supplement, the old system.

Valley Briefs

TWIN FALLS — The Ladies of the Elks will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday. The time was incorrectly listed in an earlier notice.

Classes in radio set

TWIN FALLS — A school for radio announcers is scheduled to open this month in Twin Falls.

Roland Moore, program director, KTFI, will conduct the 12-week school to be held in the KTFI studios. He said the class will be limited to 10 prospective announcers and is designed for those without previous experience although it will also be suitable to beginning announcers who wish to improve their techniques.

Moore said the program is scheduled for 52 hours and will be on Tuesday and Thursday nights beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The course will cover speech evaluation, the techniques of proper breathing, improving tone quality, attitudes of speech, reading aloud, pronunciation, vocabulary and other phases of delivery.

Training will also touch on copy writing, news gathering and writing, equipment operation and maintenance, and the theory of radio.

Moore said he plans to obtain the services of an engineer to assist in equipment and broadcast technicalities.

Both men and women are eligible to enroll in the course, he said, and all Magic Valley residents are welcome.

Moore has been engaged in radio work the past 20 years including positions in Twin Falls, Scotts Bluff, Neb., and other areas.

Persons interested in enrolling may contact Moore at KTFI. He said if sufficient interest is shown, the course will be offered again each spring and fall.

Nominee worries about TV

POCATELLO (UPI) — U.S. Senate nominee William E. (Bud) Davis said here Monday he is concerned about reports his opponent, Rep. James A. McClure, is backing out of the television debate scheduled for airing throughout Southern Idaho Nov. 3.

The television Network of Idaho confirmed more than a week ago that both Davis and McClure had accepted the debate which will be taped Nov. 1.

However, McClure told Washington reporters last week that he would have "to weigh some things, such as allocation of my time" if the meeting with Davis were similar to a 1968 televised forum featuring Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and challenger George Hansen, Davis said.

Davis said the voters are entitled to hear the answers but that such a debate also measures how well each candidate can make a case and handle himself in a give-and-take of a televised confrontation with his opponent.

TV stolen

TWIN FALLS — A color television set valued at about $500 was taken from the Jasper Smith residence over the Labor Day weekend.

Apparently the burglar entered the house at 603 Heyburn Ave. from the rear by removing an air conditioner, according to Twin Falls Police.

Nothing else was apparently removed from the house.

Denver labor unit awaits discipline

DENVER (UPI) — The attorney for the Colorado Labor Council says AFL-CIO President George Meany has made up his mind to discipline the state group for endorsing Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

Meany said earlier this week he had made no decision on what action to take — if any — against the Colorado group. He said he was awaiting a report from a committee which was in Denver to investigate the matter last week.

"This whole thing is just staged for publicity purposes by Meany and his gang," said council attorney Phil Hornbein Monday. "Actually he has already made the decision."

Hornbein said the decision would be based on Meany's "personal whim and caprice — not any facts." The attorney said any attempt by Meany to replace state officers with his own men would be challenged in federal court.

The trusteeship provision of the AFL-CIO is designed for use "only when the subordinate body does not discharge its legal responsibilities, not when there is merely a difference of opinion," Hornbein said.

Power tie operation restored

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The direct current power intertie between the Pacific Northwest and the Southwest, which was put out of service by the California earthquake of Feb. 9, 1971, resumed full commercial operation today.

Bonneville Power Administration said the Sylmar Converter Station near Los Angeles had been restored at a cost of $20 million.

The intertie extends 846 miles between the Sylmar Station operated by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power and the Celilo Converter Station operated by BPA near The Dalles, Ore. The Sylmar station was severely damaged by the quake.

The system was restored to partial service last March 20 and has been transmitting one-fourth to nearly one-half the line's capacity of 1.4 million kilowatts since then.

BPA officials said loss of power sales while the system was being repaired totaled about $14 million.

OIL HELPS IDAHO SCHOOLS MAKE THE GRADE

Our schools use hundreds of things that are made from oil: desk tops and fiberglass seats, educational films, tapes and records, paint, ink, even the erasers on pencils.

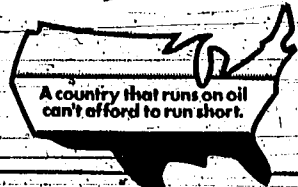

But most of all, schools use energy. For heat, light and transportation. 75% of all our energy comes from oil and natural gas (including 40% of our electricity).

But today, we're using these petroleum fuels faster than we are finding them. That's why America faces an Energy Gap.

We're your local oil companies. Working to bridge the growing Energy Gap. Because it's as simple as A-B-C... a country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

School Costs

You can safely ignore the campaign wailing over President Nixon's veto of the biphased health, education and welfare bill.

Furthermore, the voters who have reacted against school bond issues have been confirmed in their judgment that education costs are too high.

A recent report from Dr. Roger A. Freeman, senior fellow at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University, shows the staggering growth of public educational spending.

Between the school years 1949-50 and 1971-72, he wrote in The University Bookman, "school revenues jumped from $5.4 billion to $46.5 billion, with 93 per cent of the funds provided by state and local governments."

That is a 758 per cent increase in contrast to enrollment growth of 91 per cent. In constant dollars, the percentage is 405, which means the nation is spending four times as much to educate less than twice as many students.

Dr. Freeman's devastating comment is that this huge increase has failed to show "any demonstrable improvement in educational output."

In contrast, the Defense Department budget, which Senator

McGovern wants to slash in order to give more money to health, education and welfare, in the current fiscal year is projected at 31 cents of every budget dollar whereas it was 60 cents in 1953.

Teachers' salaries have risen by 98 per cent, in constant dollars, while average earnings in the non-agricultural private economy went up only 49 per cent, Dr. Freeman reported, with the comment: "Small wonder we have a growing surplus of teachers."

The 1971 crop of graduates prepared for teaching was the largest in history, and the Journal on Teacher Education noted the number "is considerably larger than the number of positions open."

Shifting of more of the load from state and local governments to the federal bureaucracy is being sought and may be desirable. It almost certainly will mean still heavier expenses with no assurance of better education. Since the control of the purse strings means calling the tune, there will be more federal regulation and interference with local autonomy. Only a few months ago, the Department of Agriculture decreed that school soft drinks in Maryland must be locked up during lunch periods or the schools would lose $1.5 million in federal school lunch subsidies.

Not much choice.

WASHINGTON — I bled not with my liberal friends over Communist China's veto of Bangladesh's right to become a member of that guerrilla band of confidence men known as the United Nations.

For one thing, Bangladesh is a brand new country and might go on to become an honest member of international society if not forced to associate with a UN that is about as moral as a Parliarian cutpurse. It is yet a small child and should be protected against bad companions adept at legalized shell games.

But mostly I am enjoying the discomfiture of those dogooders of my ken who, while reduced to genteel tooth-grashing and Guecel-styled sackcloth by Bangladesh's rejection, have been thrown into confusion by the power politics of their hero, Red China. They mourn for Bangladesh, which successfully rebelled against the American ally, Pakistan, but they are careful not to say anything naughty about Peking.

These characters, of course, are caught in a switch, in urging the admission of Bangladesh, they point out that it is the eighth largest country in the world and has been recognized by 83 governments — and besides, the UN's "ideal" is that its membership should be universal.

Not having peered under every ideological rock, I cannot say with certainty that these bleeders totally ignored the merits of the cage when Taiwan was expelled from the UN as the price paid to Peking for its entry into the UN madhouse. But it's a fact that an overwhelming majority of the Peking Firsters — or at least those capable of uttering a simple declarative sentence — were rabid in their demands that Taiwan be given the boot. Forget that pious jazz about "universality" for a moment, or forever for that matter, since it is a fraud on the international body politic, and consider the claim that Bangladesh deserves UN admission because it is the world's eighth-biggest country. At the time of its expulsion, Taiwan was a viable, independent nation with a population of 14 million people. That's a body count larger than that of two-thirds of the UN's membership.

Did that cut any ice? Was any serious consideration given to the argument that 14 million people were as deserving of representation in the UN as Chad, population 4 million, Libya, population 1,660,000, and Luxembourg, population 337,000? The answer of course is no, on account of Red China didn't care much for Taiwan. Indeed, several months after Peking's admission to the UN, it still wasn't satisfied. In a move that exemplified the sordid extent of the UN's moral bankruptcy, UN Undersecretary General Constantin Stavropoulos, legal counsel for this organization of political creeps, capitulated to the demands of Red Chinese Ambassador Huang Hua, and last month rules in effect that Taiwan was a noncountry.

Specifically, Stavropoulos ordered that "no separate mention of Taiwan in any form whatsoever should be made in any document or publication which is prepared or compiled by the Secretariat." There will be no text or tables dealing with Taiwan's population; trade, industry or any other data in future editions of the UN's Statistical Yearbook. In one sweeping sentence, the UN wiped Taiwan off the face of the earth.

Again, the irony is cutting. During the years when Peking was not a UN member, the UN regularly included such figures on mainland China, with no objection from the Taiwan government or any other country. Stavropoulos' ruling also ignored other precedents under which West Irian was listed separately from Indonesia and Sarawak separately from Malaysia.

Finally, UN authorities decided to rewrite a little history, Communist style. They ordered removed from a green marble slab containing a quotation from Confucius at UN headquarters a plaque saying the slab had been donated by the government of Taiwan. The UN has progressed from the ridiculous to the absurd.

EXTREMELY FARSIGHTED

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Thumb-Sucking

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In your column recently you discussed thumb-sucking.

I'd like to tell you how I cured my daughter. She's the youngest child of four, and the only one who sucked her thumb. A couple of months before her fourth birthday, I said to her: "Soon you'll be four years old and you'll be a big girl, then you can't suck your thumb anymore."

We never made a fuss about her thumb-sucking, nor allowed anyone else to scold her. Occasionally I would repeat that she would be a big girl on her birthday and couldn't suck her thumb anymore.

Soon she was repeating this herself (thumb in mouth). "I wasn't really confident that this course of action would work, and I planned to try another course later on if it didn't."

Her fourth birthday arrived and she gave me her satin quilt that she always fingered while thumb-sucking. She absolutely never sucked her thumb again, and it had been an almost constant habit.

She's now a well-adjusted 13-year-old and makes straight-A grades. Don't know if this would work for everyone, but it sure did for us. — Mrs. C.C.

In most cases, the approach is as important as the method, and in your case you probably used an effective approach to the problem. Whether facing a child with a deadline of that kind would always work is another question.

But I'm happy to pass along your experience to other readers.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I make a cranberry relish to serve with chicken dinners. My family has enjoyed eating this until my husband found out there were two whole oranges in this relish.

He claims that the orange skins contain some very harmful ingredients and refuses to eat my relish. What is in orange skins, and is it really harmful to humans? — Mrs. B.R.

Your relish sounds as harmless as it undoubtedly is delicious. Skins contain bio-flavonoids, whose function is similar to that of vitamin C. They are not harmful.

If this doesn't convince your husband, confront him with a label from any commercial jar of orange marmalade which contains orange skins and is rightly popular around my own breakfast table. Eat on.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

More Taxes?

President Nixon's efforts to hold federal spending to $250 billion a year is under attack from the Democratic majority of the Senate-Economic Committee.

Even so, the majority report acknowledged plans should be made for future tax increases. There you have the picture, spend more and tax more.

The majority also admitted that recovery is under way and that inflation has moderated but maintained that unemployment is too high and the economy is operating below its potential.

A noteworthy dissent was entered by Senator William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat, chairman of the committee, who said "there is far too much waste in every phase of the Federal government to justify tax increases." He also favored a ceiling of $240 billion on spending as adequate to meet and improve essential programs.

Senator Proxmire is correct on both counts but we doubt that the Democratic majority in Congress will ever agree to hold down spending or taxes. Senator George McGovern, the Democratic Presidential candidate, is revising his spending program but not his give-away philosophy.

Unemployment is one of the rallying cries of the Democratic campaigners, although the number of employed rose last year by 2.4 million and the jobless rate fell to 5.5 per cent. The Democrats argue that there should be no more than a 1 per cent jobless by the end of the year and the long run goal should be a maximum of 3 per cent.

The increase in the minimum wage and those who are in fact well high unemployment pose real obstacles to full employment.

Republicans on the committee emphasized the growth in jobs and expressed confidence that continued economic expansion would reduce the jobless rate by the end of the year to about 5 per cent. This may well be approaching the minimum.

Most people fear inflation a great deal more than the bugaboo raised by the Democrats that "the recovery must not be choked off by premature moves toward monetary and fiscal restraint."

Some of these same "experts" criticized Nixon for doing too little too late when he did finally impose fiscal restraint.

Monetary and fiscal restraint is the nation's crying need.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Drive Is Lacking

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Moderates don't command anything in the Republican party any more because they neither have a tough leader nor the kind of collective political skills which might help them offset that lack.

About half the 20 GOP governors classify as attractive moderates, some with real backbone. The roster: Govs. Walter Peterson of New Hampshire, Francis Sargent of Massachusetts, Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Russell Peterson of Delaware, Linwood Holton of Virginia, William Milliken of Michigan, Roger Ray of Iowa, John Love of Colorado, Tom McCall of Oregon, Daniel Evans of Washington.

Among the Republicans' 46 U.S. senators, the pickings are slimmer. The moderates of real "name standing" don't go much beyond Sens. Charles Percy of Illinois, Robert Taft of Ohio, Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, Howard Baker of Tennessee, Jacob Javits of New York, Clifford Case of New Jersey, Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

It is pipe-dreaming to imagine that this little posse of men, fewer than a score, is going to put any sort of dominant imprint upon the GOP in the years just ahead. It is equally wild to predict that they are going to make the 1976 Republican convention a conservative-moderate death struggle.

They don't have the talent for strategy, they don't have the weapons, and they don't have the manpower — even assuming there might be some augmenting of their numbers this fall and in 1974.

The governors on that list are often real whippersnappers in their own states. Yet, except for Rockefeller the Perennial, none has any genuine national status nor has demonstrated the capacity to lead the others.

Rockefeller in New York has become one of the toughest old boys in the business. But his political future, including his possible role as a leader of moderates, is beset by dilemma.

though he will be 68 by that time.

If, however, he should go after the 1976 nomination, then he would almost surely crimp his possible usefulness as a leader — who might bang moderate heads together. Such an undertaking could in those circumstances only seem self-serving.

For Rockefeller to have any real chance would require a coalescing of moderate forces behind him, which didn't happen in 1964 or 1968. Who would do the coalescing? Sargent? Milliken? Evans? Able men, these, but lacking the big clout.

Among the moderate sensitivities, only Percy appears to have any real drive for the top job. A big re-election win for him in Illinois this November would entice his prospects.

ART BUCHWALD

Honest Man

WASHINGTON — The man who came into the office was dressed strangely, even by today's standards. He had on a dirty gray toga tied with a piece of rope, scuffed sandals and he was carrying a lamp.

His business card said his name was Diogenes; and he was a "Cynic." He said he came from Athens.

"What are you doing in Washington?" I asked him. "I'm looking for an honest man."

"Are you crazy?" I asked. "This is an election year."

"I was told it wouldn't be easy," he replied. "Have you any ideas?"

"Well, I guess you had better start at the White House. You never can tell what you'll find over there."

He came back 15 minutes later. "They wouldn't let me in."

"They denied anyone in the White House had ever talked to one, and they referred all questions to the Justice Department. I'm going there now."

He returned an hour later. "The spokesman for the Justice Department said they could not disclose any information on an honest man. They knew one but they had a case pending against him in the courts."

"I was afraid of that," I said. "Well, why don't you go to the Capitol? I'm sure among all the senators and congressmen, you'll find what you're looking for."

"Good heavens! You really are having a tough time of it. Why don't you go over to the Pentagon?" Out of 20,000 employees they have to have one honest man."

He reported back in the afternoon. "I went to the Public Information Office and asked if they could direct me to an honest man, and they said THAT was classified information. When I protested that finding one couldn't harm anyone they said, 'There is nothing the enemy would like to know more than who the one honest man at the Pentagon is.'"

"They've got a point," I agreed. "Well, let's see. I could send you over to the State Department."

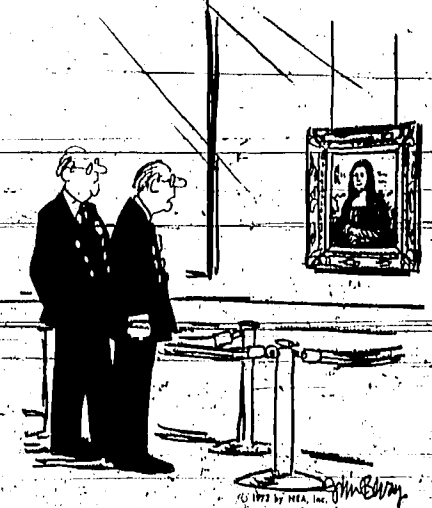

"I stopped there on my way back from the Pentagon, but when they found out I was Greek, they sent me to the Middle European Affairs Desk. They haven't had an honest man there since the military coup three years ago."

"There is no sense sending you over to the CIA," I said. "I doubt if you'll have any luck at HEW, HUD, or USA. There has to be someone. Wait a minute! Wait a minute! Why didn't I think of it before? There are more than 3,000 newspapermen in this town. Surely you will find hundreds of honest men among them. Go to the National Press Club. It's lunch time now, and you'll have your pick of the crop."

Diogenes grabbed his lamp and dashed off excitedly to the National Press Club on 14th and F streets.

He was back an hour later in tears. "What happened?" "When I told them at the door what I was doing, they made me check my lamp."

BERRY'S WORLD

"That smile bugs me. You don't suppose she was liberated, do you?" "They stole my lamp."

Homes—Jobs

If the nation could be balanced on a pin, it would be seen tilting toward the South and West in terms of homes and jobs.

Seventy per cent of the housing starts in the first half of 1972 were in these two regions, where less than half the population lives. So were 66 per cent of the new jobs.

These are findings of a semi-annual survey, "U.S. Housing Markets," by Advance Mortgage Corp. of Detroit. It compares housing trends and associated economic factors in 22 major markets in the United States.

Of the record total of 1,161,000 housing starts in the first half of 1972, 532,000 were in the South and 282,000 were in the West. Florida alone, thanks largely to the impact of Disney World, issued more housing permits than the populous Northeast.

It is expected that the 70 per cent combined share of the South and West should decline very slightly in the second half.

"The greatest of all housing booms," says Advance Mortgage president Irving Rose, "is based on something more than a bumper supply of mortgage funds. It rests on a massive national shift of population and employment."

Some of the hottest markets in the boom, such as Houston, Phoenix, Denver and most of Florida, never experienced the recent recession, he says.

On the other hand, some of the industrial centers in the East and Midwest have never emerged from the recession, at least in terms of employment.

Economic issues stressed by Demo

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern campaigned in the economically distressed Pacific Northwest today, stressing the pocketbook issues which are becoming the central theme of his race against President Nixon.

Seattle has suffered a Nixon depression, the Democratic presidential nominee said in remarks prepared for an appearance at a waterfront warehouse, which distributes foods to the city's unemployed.

"The economic collapse persists, both here and nationwide, because the Nixon administration thinks the route to recovery is through more tax loopholes for the rich, instead of more jobs for the needy," he said.

In a speech prepared for an appearance later in the day at a retirement community in Gresham, Ore., a Portland suburb, McGovern pledged to double the annual output of federally subsidized homes for the aged, boosting the figure to $120,000 a year.

"Six and a half million older Americans have incomes at or below the poverty line," he said. "Almost without exception their housing is dilapidated, deteriorating and disgraceful."

McGovern Monday admitted the failure of efforts to woo AFL-CIO President George Meany back into the Democratic fold. But he predicted he would win the votes of an "overwhelming majority" of workers.

The South Dakotan and his staff were booed by the crowds that turned out for the Labor Day rallies in Barberton and Chippewa Lake, Ohio, Pleasanton, Calif., and Seattle. A combined total of 20,000 or so persons — mostly enthusiastic supporters — attended the outdoor events.

McGovern responded with some of the most emotional speeches of his campaign so far. In the harsh glare of klieg lights, McGovern told about 5,000 persons who filled the sidewalks and streets in front of his Seattle hotel about 10 p.m. that he was confident he would upset Nixon because "I've been with the people of this country."

In his Labor Day speeches, McGovern stressed the traditional Democratic theme of full employment and support for the concerns of the working people.

He even found a new villain for his supporters to boo: John D. Connally, once the only Democrat in the Nixon cabinet, three times the governor of Texas and now head of the Democrats for Nixon organization.

The mere mention of Connally's name brought boos and catcalls from the crowds in California and Washington state.

"The Republicans are welcome to Mr. Connally and his exclusive club of oil millionaires," McGovern said. "I want the oil workers, the auto workers, the dock workers, the rubber workers... and all the other workers." The remark was met with cheers at almost every stop.

Some McGovern staff members were surprised at the reaction. "I didn't know Connally was that well known," one said.

McGovern even linked Connally indirectly with Meany, citing both as Democrats who had "decided to take a walk this year."

Asked for a response to Meany's comment, that McGovern has "become an apologist for the Communist world," McGovern told reporters: "It is total nonsense and it does credit neither to Mr. Meany nor the cause of truth."

Visits hospital

SARGENT SHRIVER, Democratic candidate for vice president, talks with disabled coal miner Howard Ash at Appalachian Regional Hospital in Beckley, W. Va. Accompanying Shriver to the hospital were his wife, Eunice; Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va. (UPI)

Shriver raps Nixon policies

BOSTON (UPI) — Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver said Monday night that President Nixon is the greatest warmaker of modern times.

"I don't know anyone who has made as much war as he (Nixon) has," Shriver said in a taped television interview.

Shriver, asked if he would have said four years ago that President Lyndon B. Johnson was the greatest warmaker of our time, said, "At one point, yes, he (Johnson) was the greatest warmaker of our time. But he lost that title to a newcomer."

"He has dropped more bombs than Johnson," Shriver said. When one interviewer said that Johnson escalated the war and Nixon pulled more than 400,000 troops from Vietnam, Shriver said, "Yes, but he's killed more people than Johnson. All he's done is change the color of the corpses."

When Nixon came into office he had a clean slate — a perfect chance to grab peace," Shriver said.

The "perfect chance" for peace came in early 1969, Shriver said, when Averell Harriman, then ambassador to the Paris peace talks, told Nixon he could negotiate a settlement with the North Vietnamese but the President refused.

Sargent's remarks were made on WNCN-TV's "The Newsmakers" program, to be aired Sunday.

President plugs park approval

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon flies back to Washington with a stopover in San Francisco to plug for congressional approval of "Gateway West," a proposed new park in the Bay Area.

Nixon will don his "presidential" hat for his 1 p.m. MDT appearance in San Francisco. His brief visit follows a Labor Day appearance by Democratic rival George McGovern in the area.

Following a welcome by Mayor Joseph Alioto, Nixon will go directly to the bay where he will board the ferryboat "Golden Gate" for a meeting with his Citizens Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality to review plans for the 24,000-acre Golden Gate National Recreation Area. He also will take a boat tour of the parkland, which reaches from the Golden Gate bridge to the southern boundary of Point Reyes National Seashore.

Included in the area are federally owned Alcatraz Island and state-owned Angel Island, along with several other historic landmarks and forts.

Aides at the Western White House expect favorable action by Congress on the $50 million measure creating the park. Interior Secretary Rogers Morton and White House counselor Donald Rumsfeld were summoned to join Nixon meeting after he returns to Washington. About 3,600 acres are owned by the federal government; 11,300 by the state; 200 by Marin and San Francisco counties and the remaining 8,000 acres are in private hands.

The President said he will be campaigning one day a week

Agnew scores at confab

MILLTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew came to bat for the Nixon administration before the Southern Governors' Conference today after Sen. George McGovern apparently struck out.

Agnew, who collected high praise from the predominantly Democratic governors, was scheduled to address the evening state banquet, the formal highlight of the three-day meeting of Dixie and border state chief executives.

The vice president's appearance comes less than 48 hours after McGovern was told by the governors that he appears to have no chance of carrying any of the 17 states represented at the conference at this time.

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland came to the conference hoping to persuade the Southern governors to unite in an endorsement of the Democratic presidential candidate. But Mandel gave up his plan conceding "I could see after talking with several of the governors that there just wasn't any hope."

McGovern did pick up one new endorsement and several new promises of campaign assistance, but some of the 16 governors surveyed by United Press International said it would take a "miracle" for the Democratic candidate to carry their states in November.

Gov. John West of South Carolina, co-host for the conference, predicted Agnew would receive a "very warm" reception from the governors.

"I believe all the governors regardless of party feel the vice president has done an excellent job of liaison between the states and the federal government and I'm certain they all would like to show their appreciation," West said.

The South Carolina governor said he agreed with the sentiments of an unnamed governor who told McGovern privately "I'll give you odds that you won't carry a single state represented at this conference."

Kentucky Gov. Wendell Ford said, however, "I'm going all the way for him (McGovern). It's going to be an uphill battle, but maybe we can pull it off in Kentucky."

Most governors expressed opinions similar to Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, who told reporters "I'm going to vote Democratic, but I don't intend to get out and work for McGovern."

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, confined to a wheelchair since he was shot while campaigning in Maryland in May, was the last of the governors to arrive at this sea island resort Monday afternoon.

US jets destroy radar sets

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force jet fighter-bombers dove through storm clouds near Hanoi Monday to knock out a pair of sophisticated missile-guiding radar systems, the U.S. command said today.

Other Air Force jets attacked three railroad bridges on Hanoi's northwest rail line halfway between China and the North Vietnamese capital. Navy jets, taking off from aircraft carriers rolling in heavy seas destroyed five bridges and damaged six more in the panhandle area, the command said. Heavy clouds prevented precise damage assessments.

In the ground war, a South Vietnamese force of about 8,000 men Monday recaptured the vital Quan Loi airfield, which had been in Communist hands for five months. But North Vietnamese pressure stepped up in the Central Highlands today around Pleiku, 230 miles northeast of Saigon, with attacks reported on two outlying bases, the Saigon command said.

The Air Force jets on a SAM (surface-to-air missile) destruction mission, roared in to destroy a pair of elaborate "Fan Song" radar units 17 miles southeast and 10 miles northwest of Hanoi, the command said. The complicated sets can track up to six targets and guide three missiles at a time, according to technical manuals.

The Soviet-built systems were named "Fan Song" by Western military analysts because of their fan-shaped radar pattern and the chirping noise made by their radiation system.

UPI correspondent Barney Selbert reported two big skirmishes Monday near the stone fortress Citadel in Quang

Tri City, 435 miles north of Saigon.

He said 61 Communists were killed while marines suffered seven dead and 30 wounded in the fights 400 and 700 yards south of the Citadel. The Saigon command said North Vietnamese gunners hit the government troops with 775 rounds of artillery and mortar fire but there were no reports of casualties.

Selbert said a big clash just south of the city near La Vang left 30 Communist soldiers dead at a cost of four government troops killed and nine wounded.

Missions by warplanes were at a minimum over South Vietnam Monday because of bad weather—span off from tropical storm Elsie, which came ashore at typhoon strength Sunday at Chu Lai. The Navy planes flew no missions in South Vietnam during the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Monday; the command said, and only 164 Air Force and Marine sorties were flown.

Saigon rangers reported a skirmish close to border ranger camp 42A, eight miles northwest of Pleiku. Seven Communists were killed, and two rangers died and seven were wounded in the fighting. Communist troops captured the Le Minh ranger camp 21 miles southwest of Pleiku earlier Monday.

Fifteen miles southwest of Pleiku, the largest city in the western highlands, North Vietnamese forces shelled and attacked a base manned by regional forces at dawn today, the Saigon command said. Spokesmen said air and artillery strikes were called in and the attack was repulsed, with 130 Communists killed at a cost of five South Vietnamese dead and 13 wounded.

Military sources said government troops took control of the Quan Loi airfield, 60 miles north of Saigon, after three days of the heaviest fighting in the area since a two-regiment South Vietnamese drive began 17 days ago to retake it from battle-hardened units of the crack North Vietnamese 9th Division. The Communists overran the airstrip April 6 and had held it ever since.

Election precedes war end

LONDON (UPI)—Communist diplomats who recently visited Hanoi said today North Vietnam will wait until after the U.S. presidential election before considering a possible settlement of the war.

Hanoi wants to see the election outcome since it apparently feels it would be easier to deal with Sen. George McGovern, the diplomats said.

In addition, they said, Hanoi has brushed aside counsel from both Peking and Moscow to come to terms with the United States.

The diplomats said Hanoi has made it very clear that it considers the North Vietnamese regime alone must determine what course of action to pursue. It is not prepared to be "taught" even by its closest allies what to do and what not to do.

Both Peking and Moscow were said to have taken the rebuke quietly and no further intervention apparently has been attempted since. Both Communist powers independently in effect reassured Hanoi that they stand behind it and will continue to support it.

Quake jars farmlands

HOLLISTER, Calif. (UPI)—A moderate earthquake rolled through central California farmlands Monday, shaking residents but causing no damage.

"It was quite a jolt. It really shook the jail here," a San Benito County sheriff's deputy said.

Hollister is known as the "earthquake capital" because of numerous quakes along a divergent series of fault lines. It is the center of various studies on tremor activity.

Residents reported feeling the quake in Salinas, Gonzales and other communities in the Monterey Bay Area, the deputy said.

Rangers puzzled by ghost trucks

LAI KHE, Vietnam (UPI)—They still haven't solved the perplexing puzzle of the ghost trucks.

What happened is that around midnight Aug. 30 South Vietnamese Rangers were startled to see five large trucks, lights ablaze, speeding towards them from North Vietnamese Army positions along Highway 13, about six miles north of here. They apparently were NVA trucks carrying ammunition and supplies.

As the wide-eyed Rangers watched, the trucks bolted from the paved highway onto Highway 301 heading southeast into South Vietnamese territory.

"We've sent helicopters and patrols into the area," said an American Ranger adviser. "But it gets pretty thick in there... we can't find a thing, not a trace of them. They vanished like ghosts."

"But the problem," he said, "is not so much that they went by us. It's why."

Slow flying unit wins top citation

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force unit that flies some of the slowest planes in the sky was awarded a Presidential Unit Citation Monday for "extraordinary heroism" in helping in the rescue of 78 downed American airmen, military spokesmen said today.

The citation was given the 56th Special Operation Wing at its base in Nakhon Phanom, Thailand, by Maj. Gen. Winton W. Marshall, vice commander of the U.S. Seventh Air Force.

The unit flies the propeller-driven A1E Skyraider known as "Sandies"—which have the prime duty of protecting downed pilots and helicopters coming to rescue them.

The wing was decorated for "extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against opposing armed forces in Southeast Asia from Oct. 1, 1969 to April 30, 1970," according to the special citation issued by President Nixon. The wing earned a similar award for its work from November, 1968 through May, 1969, the Air Force said.

Specific mention was made in the new citation of the role played by the "Sandies" in picking up 78 downed American airmen from hostile territory, in addition to their missions against Communist targets. The Sandies are known primarily for circling for hours to guide rescue helicopters.

*Figure in this table are based on annual performance averages of funds listed in the Management Reports section of Wiesenberger's Investment Companies except in the category of bond and preferred stock funds, for free exchange funds and international funds. Annual average performance was derived by adding each fund's performance and dividing by the number of funds. Few funds were added as they appeared in the Wiesenberger survey. In 1958, 1963 and 1970, for example, the number of funds was 40, 145 and 107, respectively. Investment results assume initial investment of $10,000 following deduction of sales charge of 4 1/2 percent and subsequent reinvestment of dividends and capital gains.

The table illustrates how an investment of $10,000 in 1950 would have fared, year by year, measured by the average performance of mutual funds. It shows that by the end of 1971 it would have grown to $94,008 for a net gain of $84,008. The same $10,000 at 5% interest compounded annually would have produced a guaranteed net gain of $19,256 over the same period.

The figures demonstrate the advantages of long-term thinking and long-term investing for those now planning for the future. While past performance is no guarantee of the future, the record of the fund industry over the last two decades should be an important factor in the investment decision of any potential investor.

Mutual Funds are for people with faith in the future.

Mint new crop in Elmore area

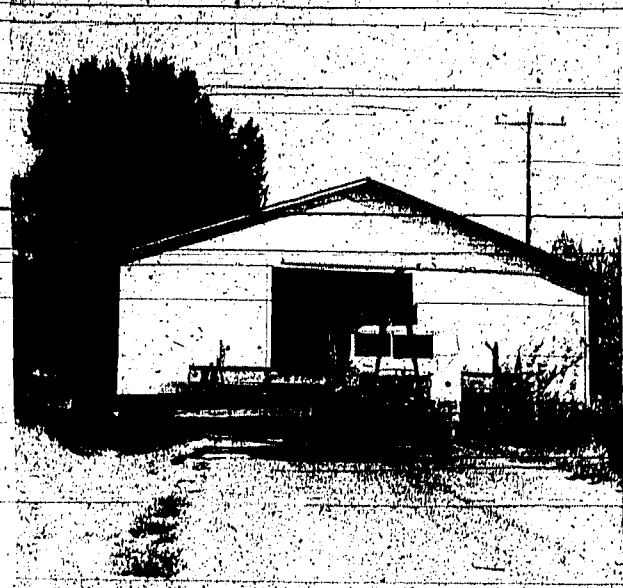

GLENN'S FERRY — The growing of mint is a new venture in Elmore County, according to Curtis May, Glenn's Ferry.

May is a partner in the El Dorado Mint Farm 80 miles west of Glenn's Ferry, where mint was started two years ago. There are now 480 acres in mint, 320 of which is in peppermint, 160 in spearmint.

The mint is swathed like alfalfa, is cooked in giant cookers from two and a half to four hours, depending on the moisture content of the mint. Natural gas is used as fuel for the cooking. The average yield is from 60 to 70 pounds of oil per acre.

The oil is strong, and a toothpick dipped into the oil, then put into the mouth, leaves a lasting, unpleasant taste.

Each fall more acreage has been planted. The mint roots cluster like grass roots. Charles Finlayson of Glenn's Ferry, employed by May on the Saylor Creek Farm, has done the swathing of the mint this year.

Sale barn makes long move

Moving barn half mile takes week of effort

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — It took more than a week to move a ranch sale barn half a mile.

The barn was a 40 foot by 70 foot structure owned by Mon Reposa Angus Ranch southwest of Jerome. It was moved to a new site when a tract of ground on which it was located was sold. Bud Patterson, owner, said the ranch will conduct its regular sale in October, and efforts are being made to have the barn ready to use on its new location.

The move had to be made in a roundabout way because of trees lining the road which would have been the most direct route between new and old locations. The trip took the barn more than a mile, across fields and ditches.

Bruce Miller, house mover, said the barn was one of the most difficult jobs his firm has ever attempted.

"Because the barn didn't have a floor in it, enough braces were needed to move it that would have been used to move five houses," he said. And because of the trees, the barn had to be taken through fields, moving only inches at a time by placing heavy timbers under the wheels of the moving equipment.

When the barn was about 500 yards from its destination and being returned to the roadway, one set of wheels dropped into a ditch and the barn dragged into a fence. It required several hours of work — placing timbers under the wheels to raise the structure — before the barn could be moved out of the ditch and the journey resumed.

Patterson said the job of lifting the barn for the move took two days and the rest of the week to make the trip.

Breed awards

JOHN WOODY, Filer, member of South Central Idaho Charolais Breeders, shows trophies to be presented during junior Charolais show at Twin Falls County Fair Thursday. Date has been chosen Charolais Show Day and will feature large numbers of prize Charolais on display in both regular and junior classes.

Testing methods pinpoint needs

MOSCOW — A different method of soil testing can pinpoint the amount of phosphorus needed for maximum plant growth, according to J. Preston Jones, University of Idaho associate professor and associate soil scientist.

Other soil testing methods show phosphorus deficiencies but cannot determine how much phosphorus must be added to meet plant needs. As a result, growers often overfertilize to insure their crops against yield losses from phosphorus deficiencies, Jones said. Overfertilizing increases costs and may interfere with utilization of other nutrients, especially zinc.

The new analysis, being tested by plant and soil scientists in the College of Agriculture, shows exactly how much fertilizer should be applied. It determines how much phosphorus is taken up by the soil and made unavailable for plant use.

Some soils have great capacity for forming chemical complexes with phosphorus which removes phosphorus from solution. Because plants absorb phosphorus from the soil solution through their roots, phosphorus tied up in soil complexes is not readily available to plants.

Fertilizer often has had little effect on soils with great capacities to tie up phosphorus because not enough was applied to correct the deficiency, Jones said. The new soil test will show how much fertilizer must be applied to take care of the soil's capacity to form complexes and what additional amount is needed for crop growth. This means that soils which once seemed to have uncorrectable, phosphorus deficiencies may now be put into production.

Experiments with the new soil test show that a plant seems to need about the same level of phosphorus in solution for maximum growth regardless of its soil type or location. This means, Jones said, that corn grown in Hawaii needs about the same level of phosphorus as corn grown in Idaho in spite of very different soil and climatic conditions.

Research indicates that this may be true for other crops such as potatoes, Jones said. He noted that plant requirements may vary slightly with different varieties.

Jones explained that different amounts of fertilizer are needed because soils have different capacities for tying up phosphorus.

In the test, the soil is placed in a solution containing phosphorus. It is allowed to form as many phosphorus complexes as it can.

Phosphorus left in the solution is measured and compared with the original solution. The amount of phosphorus taken out by the soil indicates the amount of fertilizer needed to adjust the soluble phosphorus to any desired level.

University of Idaho scientists are now trying to determine phosphorus requirements for potatoes and wheat. An additional goal of the project is to find out where the test is valid. Previous research indicates the test may not work well on organic soils.

The test should work on most soils, Jones added, since they are largely inorganic.

Jones said the soil testing method should work for any other nutrient such as zinc, copper, boron and manganese which is not particularly mobile in the soil.

Because phosphorus is not easily lost, once a soil's capacity to tie up phosphorus is satisfied only the phosphorus used by plants needs to be replaced.

Potato expert, Dane swap jobs

ABERDEEN — An Idaho potato storage expert will trade countries and positions for a year with a potato storage expert from Denmark.

Walter C. Sparks, research professor of horticulture at the University of Idaho Agricultural branch experiment station at Aberdeen, will exchange with Niels Kristian Nielsen, a horticulturist from Denmark.

Both countries benefit from the exchange of experts, facilities and knowledge, according to Lucas Calpouzos, professor and head of the Department of Plant and Soil Sciences, University of Idaho, Moscow.

Sparks will spend the next academic year at the Research Institute of Commercial and Industrial Plants in Kolding, Denmark. He will continue his work on potato storage, using materials and methods developed recently in Europe.

Sparks plans to visit other potato producing areas and research centers throughout the world during his trip, including England, Germany, Israel, Australia and New Zealand. He will present a paper on his work in potato storage to the European Association for Potato Research meeting in England in September.

Although Sparks describes his Danish as not good, he does not expect to have much language difficulty as the staff in the Danish lab speaks English.

Sparks and his wife, who left the U. S. in July, will return next summer.

Nielsen will assume Sparks' position at the Aberdeen experiment station during 1972-73. Nielsen worked on potato storage in the Kolding research laboratory and will continue potato storage research at Aberdeen. The Nielsen family will arrive in late August when the three children will enter Aberdeen public schools.

The two potato experts previously exchanged visits when Nielsen came to Aberdeen in 1966. Sparks returned the visit on a trip to Denmark in 1969.

Idaho red meat yield up in July

BOISE (UPI) — July red meat production, including beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton, in Idaho commercial slaughter plants equaled the record output of the same month a year ago.

According to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, output for July totaled 22.4 million pounds.

The number of cattle slaughtered was the same as a year earlier, but heavier average liveweight per head resulted in a one per cent increase in total liveweight.

The hog kill was down 26 per cent from a year ago.

The number of sheep slaughtered was 10 per cent greater than last year.

Gem farm prices stay above 1971

BOISE (UPI) — Farm product prices received by Idaho farmers by mid-August remained well above levels a year ago, even though some decline in livestock prices occurred since mid-July.

According to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, prices received for crops were mostly above those of a month earlier.

Significant monthly gains were noted for wheat, oats, barley, and dry peas. Mixed grain went down slightly and dry bean price showed a greater decline.

Arab youths sought in death try

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli troops carried out a house-to-house search today for three Arab youths wanted for an apparent assassination attempt on the mayor of Gaza.

Military sources said troops set up road blocks and began the night-long search after the youths fired shots and threw a hand grenade at the car of Mayor Rashid A-Shawa Monday. They said A-Shawa was parking the car in front of his home in the El Rimal section of the city at the time.

Israel Radio said authorities had not ruled out the possibility that A-Shawa, 63, had staged the assassination attempt himself to win support among his townfolk.

A military spokesman said the grenade did not explode and only one of the bullets hit the mayor's car, shattering its rear windshield. It was the sixth Arab guerrilla attack in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip within 11 days, the spokesman added.

A-Shawa told newsmen he ran after one of the assailants but they all escaped.

Military spokesmen have no explanation for the attempted assassination, but other sources linked it to A-Shawa's recent meeting with King Hussein of Jordan.

Knowledgeable thieves

Conclave drafts hijacker policies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Representatives from 17 nations were meeting again today in hopes of drafting an acceptable international agreement carrying sanctions against countries that did not punish or extradite airplane hijackers.

The two-week conference opened Monday with most delegation spokesmen in agreement that the air piracy problem is pressing and that a solution must be found. But some representatives were apprehensive of taking action that would prove to be unacceptable to any country.

Most of the reservations involved taking action that might violate the United Nations charter or any individual nation's laws or international agreements.

M. R. Mok, Ministry of Justice in the Hague and chairman of the conference, proposed the conference might more efficiently ready an acceptable plan if representatives separated into two groups. That possibility was discussed when the conference resumed today.

Sentencing of priest slated

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The sentencing of the Rev. Philip Berrigan today on a letter-smuggling conviction may lead to temporary freedom for the imprisoned antiwar priest.

Berrigan and Sister Elizabeth McAlister were to be sentenced by Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman on charges of smuggling letters in and out of a federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. The priest faced a maximum sentence of 10 years and Sister Elizabeth could be sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Berrigan, already imprisoned in Danbury, Conn., for destroying draft records in 1968, and has requested parole. But a New York parole board which freed his brother Daniel on the same charge was awaiting final action in the letter-smuggling case.

A jury convicted the Roman Catholic priest and nun April 5 but failed to agree on other charges that they and other members of the "Harrisburg Seven" took part in an antiwar conspiracy that included plans to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

Defense attorneys have indicated they may submit an appeal of the letter smuggling conviction to the U. S. 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia. This could present Berrigan with hope of temporary freedom should he be granted a parole on the previous conviction.

Defense attorney Thomas Menaker said Berrigan "is already 14 months overdue for parole" on the record burning conviction.

Union chief campaigns

GRUNDY, Va. (UPI)—W. A. "Tony" Boyle, embattled president of the United Mine Workers Union (UMW), says those charging him with misconduct are trying to destroy the union.

Boyle opened his campaign for re-election here Monday with a grassroots appeal to some 3,000 coal miners not to let "outsiders" control their union.

"For years our union has been subjected to the most vicious and far-reaching anti-labor attack ever ranged against a union in this nation," he said.

Worldwide alert issued for stolen art objects

MONTREAL (UPI)—A worldwide alert was in effect today for $2 million worth of paintings and art objects stolen from the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts Monday by three "discriminating" thieves.

The three, armed with shotguns and wearing ski masks, took a page from the movie "Topkapi" and gained entry about 1:30 a.m. EDT by sliding down a nylon rope slung from a rooftop skylight. The skylight burglar alarm had been neutralized, apparently by repair work last week.

The athletic thieves bound and gagged three museum guards before assembling the 18 paintings, including a $1 million oil by Rembrandt, and 39 pieces of decorative art.

A police spokesman said all airports, harbors and border points in Canada, Interpol, the international police agency, and art dealers around the world had been alerted to watch for the stolen goods.

"But," he said, "we wouldn't be surprised if they asked for ransom instead. No one has contacted us yet with any demands, but it seems a possibility. I don't see who could buy the paintings."

Authorities noted that the thieves knew their way around the museum and appeared to be familiar with its collection.

Museum officials said the three had several other art works ready to take out but were forced to leave them behind when one of them accidentally tripped a side-entry alarm after they had been in the building about 30 minutes. They fled in a panel truck, police said.

Contestants begin rehearsals

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Fifty Miss America contestants were welcomed to this resort city Monday and went through a long day of rehearsals, interviews and picture taking sessions in preparation for the start of the 1973 pageant.

Pageant Executive Director Albert A. Marks Jr. said the young women were given 48 hours to prepare for the preliminaries Wednesday night. Their day began at 6:30 a.m. and ended at 2 a.m. today.

"It's rough on them to put together something of this magnitude within such a short time," Marks said, "but at their age, it looks good on them."

The married contestants will get away from rehearsing this evening when they parade along the boardwalk from Steel Pier to Convention Hall.

"In the midst of Monday's hustle-bustle 19-year old Miss Maine, whose hometown is Friendship with a population of 800, said her background offered little in the way of preparation for all the attention she is now getting.

TF bank displays paintings

TWIN FALLS—On display at the First Security Bank of Idaho during September is the work of Glendoris Brannen, "Artist of the Month."

Mrs. Brannen, a member of the Buhl Art Guild and the Twin Falls Art Guild, began exhibiting her work in 1924 and has studied under such artists as Mary Marsh, I. G. Gooding, Olaf Moller, Vernon Acker and Lawrence Culver.

A Buhl native, Mrs. Brannen was graduated from Buhl High School in 1910 and from Albion Normal School in 1922. At that time she took private lessons in charcoal and watercolors. Her paintings have appeared at the Twin Falls County Fair and with the Buhl Art Guild.

GLENN'S FERRY—The first meeting of the fall season for the Glenn's Ferry-Worthville Club will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Melvin Cody, 210 W. Cleveland.

The lesson will be "Tricks for Cooking for Two." Plans will be made for the state home-makers convention to be held in October at McCall. All newcomers are urged to attend.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago an aunt died and left me a lovely leopard coat. It's about 35 years old, but looks like new. It was recently restyled, is in excellent condition, has a lovely new lining and fits me perfectly.

My problem? You guessed it. I am completely in accord with the conservation of this animal as well as all the others in jeopardy, so I would feel terribly guilty wearing the coat—even tho' it was purchased long before the animal was in danger of extinction—or any measures had been taken to protect it.

Can't change her spots

I have stored it for three summers now without wearing it once. I don't think it would sell because of the current situation. If you were I, would you wear it? If not, have you any suggestions as to what I should do with it? Sign me "SPOTS BEFORE MY EYES"

DEAR SPOTS: If I were you, I would not wear it because even tho' you have no reason to feel "guilty," you would be so concerned about what people might think, you wouldn't enjoy wearing it. You might consider giving it to a charity and taking a tax deduction on it. Someone, somewhere would wear it with pleasure without feeling self-conscious.

DEAR ABBY: My parents divorced when I was 4. My mother remarried a wonderful man when I was 12. I have always kept in contact with my natural father, and my stepfather was more of an acting father than my real father. I love them both very much.

My problem is this: I am now planning my wedding and I don't know who should give me away. Both men would be proud to do so, but I know each would be very hurt and disappointed if he weren't chosen.

I don't want toelope, so please don't suggest that as a solution. Would it be "kosher" to walk down the aisle with a father on each arm?

DEAR DE: Why not? My father (rest his soul) walked down the aisle with a DAUGHTER on each arm!

DEAR ABBY: That marvelous letter about the two salesmen who share the same mistress five days a week is stuck up on my wall in front of my typewriter.

The lady, it seems, wants to report what she gets (the money, that is) for tax purposes, but it would cost her an extra $1,518 a year.

She should check with her accountant. I think she can report her income as a gift. That way she pays only a gift tax on it, which is nominal, and no tax on the first $30,000.

The other possibility is that they consider a third partner, for weekends, which, they say, the girl has off any way.

This situation reminds me of my law-school days—back in the mid-'30s, when we were all broke, and also girlless. Five of us once considered such an arrangement, only we couldn't find a girl who would live on $1.00 a week.

Historical note: One of us is now a judge in Southern California, another is senior counsel for a major state agency, and one has a very successful private law practice. One (the brightest one) was killed in World War II, and I am managing editor of a legal magazine.

I'm not sure what this proves, except maybe that rich is better? ANONYMOUS, PLEASE, IN SAN FRANCISCO

CONFIDENTIAL TO BROWN EYES IN S. C.: When a man tells you he's breaking up with you because you are "too good" for him—believe him. He knows his history better than you do.

Problem? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69706, L.A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

LITTLE HAT, BIG FASHION

By Mary Sue Miller

The little hat makes big fashion news. Small wonder! It is every young. It is suited to every sort of costume in every kind of weather. Big fur collar and high winds, for instance.

Leather, suede, fur, felt, knits, silky prints and velvet all lend themselves to this approach to millinery. Shapes and colors are flattery. Hats—ful!

For wear with pantsuits, town suits, day dresses, blazers and coats there is an array of snappy, snappy and snappy hats. These are immensely becoming. The brim is worn on a slant and this forms the famous beautifier, the diagonal line.

Colders have a high brilliance, the better to combine plaids, patterns and earthy shades of clothing. The better to light up the face and eyes. Look for flaming reds, citrus oranges, tawny gold. In addition, bright plaids themselves form facings and trimmings, matching shoulder bags and scarves.

In the late day, hats move toward glamour. A black velvet toque, one red rose falling over the cheek, tops a black crepe cocktail dress. A white mink turban, draped to snug the head, poses above a deep violet theatre coat.

It is said that fashion is a lady again, a saying that paraphrases "Luck is a lady tonight." Let's combine the thoughts—"A lady with a fashion hat is a lucky lady."

Buhl miss, Murray recite promise

BUHL—Linda Garrison and Bruce Murray were married in an 8 p.m. ceremony Aug. 19 at the Calvary Assembly of God Church, Buhl.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Duane Gunderson, before a three-piece brass candelabra holding orange tapers accented with green glads, yellow chrysanthemums and orange carnations and pom-poms. Avocado green satin bows centered with orange gladioli marked the aisle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Garrison, Buhl, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Murray, Vallejo, Calif.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin floor-length gown with embossed flowers accenting the fitted bodice and skirt. The dress featured a rounded neckline, long lily point sleeves and a white satin train held in place by a large white satin bow. Her shoulder-length veil of nylon illusion was held in place by a lace flower and petals, edged with pearls and centered with diamonds. Her only jewelry was a cross necklace with diamonds, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of green gladioli, yellow french chrysanthemums and orange roses and lemon leaf.

Arlene Garrison, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bob Pearson, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, Pamela Garrison, Buhl, sister of the bride; Karen Harris, Vallejo, Calif., sister of the bridegroom, and Vicki Tverdy, Buhl.

Brian Murray, Santa Cruz, Calif., brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Groomsman were Don Ryall, Santa Cruz, Calif., and Bob Pearson, Twin Falls.

Toni Perkins, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Robbie Pearson, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Doug Slagel, Jerome, and Marvin Gunderson, Tigard, Ore., served as ushers and taper lighters.

Linda Huffman, Modesto, Calif., was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Sheldon Slagel served as organist and accompanied Mrs. Doug Slagel, soloist. Mrs. Brian Murray accompanied the bridegroom when he sang a solo to the bride. A girls' trio consisting of the bride and her two sisters, Mrs. Bob Pearson and Arlene Garrison, also sang.

A reception attended by about 150 guests was held after the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church. The bride's table was covered with orange nylon net over lace caught at the corners with orange satin bows.

The orange and white three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white swans, orange roses and bells and white lace and green leaves. A miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of lilies of the valley, bells and white satin roses. The cake was flanked by orange wedding balls and two heart-shaped cakes on each side bearing the names of the bride and bridegroom. Silver candelabra holding orange tapers completed the arrangement.

Mrs. George Moore, Wendell, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Wilbert Perkins and Mrs. Melvin Cook, aunts of the bride, served coffee and punch. Mrs. Oscar Van Winkle also helped with the serving.

The women of the First Christian Church assisted with the reception.

Kathy Cook, Karen Finney, Rondu Owen and Renee Perkins, all cousins of the bride, cared for the gifts. Brenda Van Winkle stood at a round table covered with an avocado green cloth and handed the guests thank-you scrolls.

Guests attended from California, Oregon, Pocatello, Boise, Gooding, Piler, Wendell, Castleford, Twin Falls and Jerome.

Pre-nuptial miscellaneous showers honoring the bride were hosted by aunts of the bride, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. Karen Finney, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Wilbert Perkins and Mrs. Oscar Van Winkle. A lingerie shower honoring the bride was held in Vallejo, Calif., hosted by Mrs. A. J. Murray, Mrs. Karen Harris and Mrs. Brian Murray.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Buhl High School and has attended Bethany Bible College, Santa Cruz, Calif., majoring in music for three years. She is presently employed at the Triple A Insurance office, Santa Cruz, Calif. The bridegroom is a graduate of Vallejo High School and attended Bethany Bible College for three years. He is presently employed by Sentinel News, Santa Cruz, Calif. The couple resides at 525 Bethany Drive, Santa Cruz, Calif., 95009.

Artist plans Nixon mural

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif.—Artist Diane Bailey Woodruff says she will paint an avant-garde mural of the life of President Nixon in a Torrance, Calif., shopping center.

Mrs. Woodruff said she decided on the shopping center because the President's alma mater, Whittier College, won't display the work. She said Whittier withdrew its earlier offer to accept her painting after the President's brother Don Nixon and his cousin, author Jessamyn West, a trustee of the college, looked at her preliminary sketches.

Today's George Gooden hand illustrates the loser-on-loser play. South is playing a very normal four-heart contract. It also looks mighty easy.

If West holds all four trumps, South won't be able to make the contract because he has no way to avoid the loss of two diamonds and one spade.

Otherwise, if left to himself, he can simply draw trumps and concede his three losing tricks.

Unfortunately for this simple plan, the defense leads first. West opens the eight of diamonds in response to his partner's diamond overcall and East quickly takes two diamond tricks and continues the suit.

If South ruffs this third diamond with a low trump, West will overruff. If South ruffs high, West will eventually collect a trick with his jack of trumps. Either way, South will still have to lose a spade trick later on.

What, if anything, can South do about this situation?

He can use the loser-on-loser technique and discard a low spade on the third diamond. This play leaves South in full control for the rest of the hand. Dummy is ready to ruff a fourth diamond lead and any lead at low South to draw trumps and make the rest of the tricks.

Nixon asks labor vote

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—In a political bid for the blue collar vote, President Nixon marked Labor Day Monday with a scathing attack on "master planners" who advocate the "welfare ethic" income "redistribution" biting quotas and busing to achieve racial balance in the schools.

While not mentioning Democratic foe George McGovern by name, the target of his denunciation was clear.

"We are faced this year with the choice between the 'work ethic' that built this nation's character — and the new 'welfare ethic' that could cause the American character to weaken," he said.

Urging workers to go to the polls in record numbers, Nixon asserted the traditional American values "have come under challenge" by his opponents.

The person whose values are most directly threatened is the American worker," he said, "and it is up to the American workers to understand the nature of the challenge and to move strongly to turn it back."

Nixon's statement was taped at the Western White House and distributed Sunday. Informal sources said that the three major networks turned down a request for radio broadcast time on grounds that the President's remarks were "political" and did not fall into the mold of a traditional Labor Day address.

In a direct appeal for the labor vote, he said: "This year, you are not only going to choose the kind of leadership you want, you are going to decide what kind of people Americans will be."

He said that those who believe in the "welfare ethic" are seeking "something for nothing" without striving and sacrifice, while those who advocate the "work ethic" realize "willingness to work makes a person a better human being."

"The work ethic builds character and self-reliance, the welfare ethic destroys character and leads to a vicious cycle of dependence," he said.

"The work ethic builds strong people," he added, while the "welfare ethic breeds weak people."

Nixon was particularly harsh on the busing issue, saying "well intentioned people, who believe paternal government in Washington 'can solve everything' are refusing to recognize the realities of human nature."

"We have come a long way in the past four years in ending segregation in this country," he said, "but that steady progress does not satisfy everyone. The master planners who want more power in a central government believe they know what is best for the welfare of every locality. They fail to see how their zeal sets back the cause of good race relations, of orderly desegregation and of quality education.

"Our children are America's most priceless national asset," said Nixon. "We must not allow them to be used as pawns in the hands of social planners in Washington, many of whom basically believe that children should be raised by the government rather than by their parents."

NY aide says danger rising

NEW YORK (UPI)—City Council President Sanford D. Garellick says it's now more dangerous than ever to live in New York City. Garellick said that contrary to a city report claiming crime is decreasing, the city is losing its battle against crimes of violence.

He said statistics he has show that during May and June, the latest reporting periods, crimes rose in all categories.

Mine aide scored

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—Democratic vice presidential nominee Sargent Shriver said Monday coal mining laws have not been enforced because President Nixon appointed a "political operator" as second-in-command of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Shriver criticized the Nixon administration's coal mining policies during a meeting with miners before touring the Appalachian Regional Hospital here.

Mickey Wilson, president of United Mine Workers Local 1391, told Shriver the federal coal mine law is good, but said coal companies know when federal inspectors were going to visit a mine.

"The answer to your problem lies in the administration of the law," Shriver said.

Stockpile approved

TAIPEI (UPI)—The Nationalist Chinese government will lend $100 million to private industry on Taiwan to stockpile raw materials that normally come from Japan in the past, the newspaper China News said today.

The well-informed English language daily said the move is being made to prepare the island's fast growing industry to cope with what appears to be imminent recognition of Peking by Tokyo.

Pat confident as campaigner

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—First Lady Pat Nixon displays every bit of the confidence of her role as one of the White House's foremost vote seekers.

Her aides say the veteran campaigner, who hit the stump with her husband's initial bid for Congress in 1946, will begin to make solo appearances soon after she returns to Washington.

Plans call for Mrs. Nixon to concentrate on the most populous states with stops in California, New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Texas, Ohio, Michigan, Florida, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

In October, strategists say, she will join the President for the final leg of the campaign.

Observers say the First Lady has never appeared more assured or seemed to relish the political demands of campaigning more than this year since the Republican convention and her opening political appearance in Hawaii last week.

On the campaign trail with Mrs. Nixon will be some new staff members, replacing some she has lost in the past few weeks.

One of her chief press assistants, Julie Robinson, has resigned and her personal secretary, Stephanie Wilson, has left, to be replaced by Susan Porter, a member of the First Lady's correspondence corps.

Deborah Murray Sloan, an aide to White House social secretary Lucy Winchester, has also departed for maternity leave.

Bill Codrus, a former deputy in the state department's protocol division, is the chief coordinator of Mrs. Nixon's campaign.

The remainder of the First Family is also planning a busy schedule.

Party ignores national race

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—La Raza Unida Monday voted to stay completely out of national politics this election year and instead concentrate on establishing the predominantly Mexican-American party on the local level.

The vote was on a resolution whether to endorse President Nixon in his re-election bid or Democratic candidate Sen. George McGovern. That resolution, which was passed, favored complete political independence from the two major parties.

The party also decided not to run a presidential candidate of its own. That action was taken by simply not submitting a resolution calling for a Raza Unida presidential candidate.

The voting on these few resolutions and a staggering 500 others came at about 2 a.m. today following hours of lobbying between delegations by members of the dominant Texas and Colorado groups.

In what turned out to be the only moment of drama, the delegates elected Jose Angel

Gutierrez of Texas as chairman of the Congreso de Aztlan (permanent steering committee). The vote margin over Rodolfo Gonzalez of Colorado was narrow.

When the vote was tallied, the Colorado delegation for a few minutes considered walking out. However, Gutierrez walked to the stage, embraced Gonzalez and both of them faced the audience with their arms raised in a symbol of unity.

About 3,000 persons, most of them under 30, are attending the convention. They represent 18 states.

Other resolutions concerned labor, housing, prison reforms, law enforcement, justice, Spanish land grants and Chicano liberation. Other resolutions, among those passed in the group of 500 approved unanimously, called for the independence of Puerto Rico, the end of U.-S. involvement in Latin America and Southeast Asia, and redistribution of the wealth.

Cardinal endorses US lettuce boycott

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cardinal Patrick O'Boyle, Archbishop of Washington, Monday endorsed the nationwide lettuce boycott of the United Farm Workers.

"These truly are the forgotten people of the United States," the cardinal said at a special Labor Day mass. He said the nation's 2.5 million migrant workers are not covered indeed, they have been deliberately excluded from coverage under most of the social legislation enacted in the last 40 years.

O'Boyle praised Cesar Chavez, head of the UFW, as "one of the most dedicated labor leaders in the history of the United States, a man fully committed, as a matter of religious conviction, to the philosophy of nonviolence and the principle of labor-management cooperation.

At Boster Key Shop A Locksmith Is A Skilled Craftsman

Kyle Harshbarger on the right is the owner and manager of Boster Key Shop which he purchased about two years ago. On the left is Kyle's number one assistant locksmith, Lowell Wilson. Kyle and Lowell stand next to a vault door checking the combination lock to determine whether or not it's in good working order. Intricate combination locks require occasional inspection and maintenance to insure against faulty operation.

Kyle points out that many people are not aware of the many services locksmiths provide. He also points out the difference between Key Cutters and Locksmiths. A Key Cutter Makes Duplicate Keys Only! He cannot fit a key to a door nor can he repair one! He cannot install a lock on a door. He cannot pick a lock. He is unable to make a key by number. He doesn't know how to make a master key in short, all he can do is to make a duplicate key from the sample given him. A Locksmith is A Skilled Craftsman. He knows many things INCLUDING key duplicating. He can fit keys to locks when the original keys are lost. He can change combinations so that other keys do not fit the locks. He can work on safe locks. He can make two or more locks work on the same key. When parts are required for locks, he can make them. If people are locked out of their homes or cars, he can pick the locks and let them in. If they need new locks, he can install them. In short, he knows the construction of locks, and what to do to keep them in service and good operating condition. Bellevue fete attracts crowd

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News writer

BELLEVUE — About 800 pounds of beef and 1,500 pounds of corn were eaten Monday by the 1,300 persons attending a free barbecue in Bellevue.

The barbecue, a parade and street sports were part of Bellevue's 53rd Annual Labor Day Celebration. Big winner of the day was Wally Young, Halley, who captured first in the "Roberta McKercher Handicap," for slightly older racers, for the second year "running."

The annual event drew a large number of politicians. Bill Whitton, a Democratic candidate for state senator from district 21, led a mule in the parade, while his opponent incumbent John Peavey passed out bumper stickers on Main Street.

Other parade entries were Steven Antone, Republican incumbent for district 21 state legislature, his Democratic opponent Robert Guffy and U.S. legislature candidate, Democrat Willis Ludlow, riding a bicycle.

Parade winners, who received cash prizes, included the following: Horses: First, Lori Hazen and Bobette Kawamura; second, Amy Barkes, and third, Dianne and David Knight.

Floats and old cars: First, "Uncle Sam," Tom Barratt; second, Tinker's Grocery, and third, "Grandma's Kindergarten." Bicycles: First, owl, Tommy Bergin; second, clowns and balloons, Don Stelma and third, the McAuley boys.

Tricycles and wagons: First, circus, Lori Sims, and second, wigs, Phyllis Stelma. Children walking: First, bride and bridegroom, Curtis and Kris Barker; second, tin man, Greg Taylor, and third, Jack-in-the-box, Debbie Taylor.

Street characters

Man-caused fire chars 1,300 acres

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News Writer

HAILEY — A 1,300-acre range fire southwest of Hailey was brought under control by Bureau of Land Management fire fighters at 8 a.m. this morning.

According to Larry Bardsley, Shoshone-BLM area manager, the fire has been ruled man-caused. Investigation is continuing today to determine whether it was deliberately set.

The blaze began about noon Monday on BLM land in Hatty Gulch near Rock Creek, eight miles southwest of Hailey, and was spotted by Ole Bell Mountain lookout, near Bellevue.

Primed by steady 10 to 20 m.p.h. winds, with gusts up to 30 miles per hour, the fire spread northward over a three mile area through the steep sagebrush terrain.

An armada of BLM and U.S. Forest Service personnel — at times numbering over 50 — aircraft and ground equipment were called in to fight the fire. One of two B26 planes from Twin Falls, loaded with fire retardant, punctured two fires before take-off at the Hailey Airport, necessitating a replacement plane.

Other fire fighting equipment included three bulldozers, five tanker units, an observation plane and a helicopter. A 25-man forest service inter regional crew from Twin Falls was brought in Monday evening.

Bardsley said operations concentrated on the north end of the blaze with bulldozer fire line work and burn outs. Fire fighting was hampered by the wind, the steepness of the terrain and the need to move cattle out of the blaze area, he said.

The fire zone included about 400 acres of private and 100 acres of state-owned area, he said.

The only other fire reported over the holiday weekend was five miles east of the Highway 93 interchange with Interstate 80, south of Shoshone. Between two and three acres were burned.

The fire was handled by a six man tanker crew. It was reported at 3 p.m. Saturday and was believed to be man-caused.

Ludlow attacks Hansen record

BELLEVUE — Democratic congressional candidate Willis Ludlow accused his Republican incumbent opponent Monday of voting "the wrong way" on vital environmental issues.

Ludlow, appearing at a Labor Day picnic in Bellevue, said Rep. Orval Hansen "voted the wrong way on three critically important amendments to the Water Pollution Control Act."

Ludlow during remarks to voters in Blaine County, made reference to a recent evaluation appearing in "Field and Stream" magazine which he said cited Hansen's voting record on outdoor issues "inadequate."

"Field and Stream along with all environmentally aware and outdoor loving people have a right to insist that Mr. Hansen answer to the voters for his inadequate position, his reluctance to vote what is necessary to clear up the waters," Ludlow said.

Double trouble

TAIPEI (UPI) — Mrs. Shen Chien-yun, a 39-year-old housewife, was fined $60 by a policeman for jaywalking in a Taipei street Monday. She went back to the same street later, saw two other policemen, slapped them both and was arrested for assaulting peace officers.

GOP sets training school in TF soon

TWIN FALLS — A training school for Republican candidates in the area will be held Sept. 13-14 in Twin Falls.

Larry Jackson, executive director of the state Republican organization, notified county commissioners in a letter today that the school is one of five being held in the state prior to the November general election.

The Twin Falls school will be at 6:30 p.m. at the Turf Club in Twin Falls. All local and county office seekers are asked to attend the meeting.

Organization, man-power utilization, media relations, advertising, graphics and fund raising will be discussed. Candidates are asked to bring campaign material and campaign managers also are requested to attend.

Clean air index 80

Expressed as a percentage of pollution, the index gives a measure of how the air quality compares with the standard set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. District 1 has a clean air index of 80.

Dispersion: Today: Excellent Tonight: Good Wed.: Excellent

An air quality index of 100 is the standard for perfect air. A score of 100 means that the air is as good as new.

Goodman may re-enter Twin Falls sheriff race

TWIN FALLS — Ron Goodman, defeated in a primary effort last month for the Republican nomination for Twin Falls sheriff, may re-enter the contest.

Goodman said Tuesday "I'm not saying I'm not running and I'm not saying I am." He did say, however, that undisclosed persons had contacted him and urged him to re-enter the race against incumbent Sheriff Paul Corder, but that no final decision had been made.

"It's up in the air right now," Goodman said today.

Earlier speculation that Goodman might file his candidacy on the American Independent Party ticket was discounted both by Goodman and by Nolan Viator, state party chairman, Twin Falls.

Both men said the issue hadn't been discussed.

But Goodman, if he chose not to run on the third party ticket, could run either as a Democrat, Independent or as a write in candidate. He indicated he would not make a final decision for several weeks. Other sources say a race as a Democrat is unlikely, however.

Goodman was trounced in the primary election by Corder, who received 7,231 votes to Goodman's 1,595. The campaign, the most hotly contested in Twin Falls County on the local level, led to charges of Corder's alleged mishandling of the jail administration.

First rainstorm causes power problems in area

JEROME — The first heavy rain of the season caused some problems in electrical service in Magic Valley today.

Jim Johnstone, dispatcher for Idaho Power Co. in Twin Falls, said flash overs were caused in the area around Jerome and Wendell.

Wendell because of rain. He said there was a breakdown in the transmission line west of the Wendell, causing trouble in the Orchard Valley and Jerome damaged poles.

Johnstone said a range fire at 8:09 a.m. Monday southwest of Hailey also created problems for the customers in the Jerome area power company. He said were without power for five minutes and 600 Orchard Valley customers were without power for 20 minutes.

Johnstone said the trouble caused a pole to burn two miles south and a quarter mile west of the area around Jerome and Wendell.

By switching, crews were able to get service restored in the area but were still working Monday morning to replace the

Uprising ends peacefully in New Jersey hospital

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Sixteen "troublemakers" transferred from state prisons to the Trenton State Hospital peacefully ended a five-hour uprising this morning after being assured they would be allowed to tell their story to the press.

The 16 seized the first floor of the hospital's Vroom Building around 11:30 Monday night but took no hostages. Three guards suffered minor injuries in the takeover.

Robert L. Clifford, state institutions and agencies commissioner, negotiated a settlement with the prisoners by shouting through a window.

"The only demand they made was that they be permitted to talk to a member of the press," said department spokesman Albert S. Felling.

Felling said enough damage had been done to make it necessary to transfer the inmates to empty cells on the third floor, where a pool reporter heard their grievances.

The building, which formerly housed the criminally insane, was converted in June to a cell block for some 40 prisoners considered "incorrigible" by the state.

Twenty to 25 inmates in the second floor were locked in their cells during the disturbance.

Inmates shouting through windows told reporters the trouble began when two prisoners were beaten by guards. One inmate said prisoners tried to stop the beating and the guards fled from the building.

About 20 state troopers and 15 Ewing Township policemen ringed the building, but Felling said they did not go inside.

Inmates shouted that they were not armed, but local police said a locker containing clubs, mace and tear gas had been broken into.

The prisoners used a first-floor telephone to call families, friends, and leaders of prison reform groups, many of whom gathered outside the building.

One inmate told the Newark Star-Ledger by telephone that inmates are demanding a federal investigation of prison conditions, a meeting with a reporter and a guarantee of no physical reprisals.

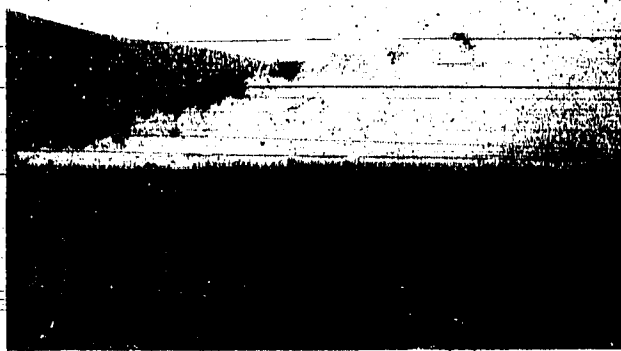

Buhl votes today

BUHL — Buhl school patrons go to the polls today to decide whether to tax themselves up to five mills for school improvement.

The polls will remain open from noon until 7 p.m. at the Buhl High School for voters in Twin Falls County, and at the Snake River Trout-Cat for patrons living in Gooding County.

Supt. Dan Mabé of the school system said the levy, if approved by the voters in the balloting, would authorize a tax of five mills over three years. School officials estimate the total revenue of one year's levy could reach $45,000.

There is no current plant facilities levy in the school district and the money raised by the new one, if approved, would be used exclusively to remodel, repair, furnish and equip the district's schools.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

"What's so remarkable about the crime of bigamy is not just that it's so frequently committed, which it is, but rather that it usually goes unpunished," contends a Los Angeles lawman of lengthy experience. Says he: "For every bigamist apprehended, just about 200 get away with it indefinitely."

CLAIM is a third of all matter printed in English is made up of only 25 different words. ONE out of every five men past age 50 will undergo a prostate operation, say the medical prognosticators. IT'S ALSO a fact that just about 75 per cent of the dead ducks are downed by only 22 per cent of the duck shooters.

DELICATE work, the assembly of electronic circuits. Mostly it's women who do it. Not because women command lower wages, insist the manufacturers, but because their finger dexterity is far superior to men's. Interesting. Still, it's odd you never see any female brain surgeons.

QUERY Q. "When are you going to retire to that trout farm, Louis?"

A. Not ready for the trout farm yet. Bought a Texas cattle ranch. Instead, look, some government bureaus define anything over 10 acres as a ranch. The big book at hand defines two or more bovines as cattle. So my 13 acres with its pair of heifers is a cattle ranch, got it? The pond is too warm for rainbow, naturally. Might toss in some catfish. But I don't like their looks. No class.

OLSONS In Minnesota, the Olsons outnumber the Joneses considerably. In fact, when a native there stands atop Echo Rock to yell, "A-y-ah-ho, Ole Olson," the echo comes back, "Vich Vone?" Or such be the legendary report.

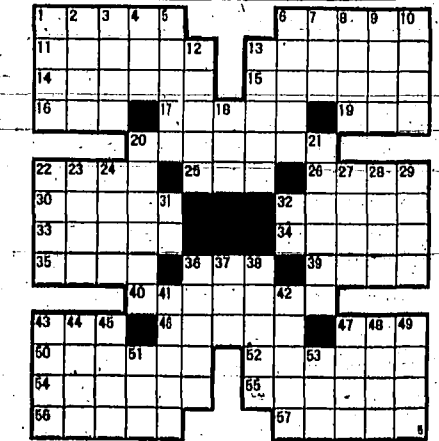

THAT the science boys can change the sex of an animal is widely known. Less widely known is the fact it's far easier to change a female to a male than vice versa. This is true to poultry, pig, people, whatever.

FRIDAY is not the weekday on which the largest number of women go shopping. On the contrary, the smallest number go then. But it is indeed the weekday on which those who do go shopping actually buy something. Or so the surveys indicate.
