Jerome plant into operation

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Production of molded plastic products began this week at the new $5 million Tupperware plant in Jerome.

Presently 10 out of 40 molding machines in the plant are in operation with 150 persons employed. Packing superintendent and industrial engineer, Ray Camara, said plans are to put 10 additional machines into operation each week until full production is reached.

Plant officials hope for full production the first week in October. Approximately 450 persons will be employed when all 40 machines are in operation.

Camara said 90 per cent of the plant has been completed and turned over to the company. There are still some Klidde Construction Co., subcontractors working at the plant. An elevator between the ground and upper floors is not yet complete so equipment and supplies can't be moved from floor to floor, and several floor areas in the plant are not painted.

Gravel is being spread in preparation for laying asphalt on driveways and the parking lot outside the plant. Landscaping should begin sometime next week.

Camara said western state orders have been relayed from Florida, and are being filled. Some difficulty is being experienced in filling orders because personnel are unfamiliar with the names of different items and their locations in the storage area.

The plant is to be a distribution center for the western states. An initial stock of merchandise was shipped in from other plant locations to fill the warehouse. This inventory will be maintained by production at the plant.

E. Germans under guard

MUNICH (UPI) — Police put East Germany's powerful Olympic team under heavy guard today after telephoned threats from alleged Palestinian commando groups to attack its athletes with guns and bombs. Fifteen heavily armed Arab guerrillas were reported still at large in West Germany.

A Palestinian guerrilla broadcast over Cairo Radio Wednesday called West German police murderers thirsting for Palestinian blood and warned that the guerrilla movement would turn next against German interests. West German police went on alert against such activities and heavily armed troops equipped with walkie-talkies began guarding Israeli and Arab embassies and business establishments.

Why the guerrillas had turned against the East Germans was not clear, but a spokesman said special transport including helicopters had been arranged for the East Germans, third behind the United States and Russia in the medal winning table.

Wolfgang Peter, director of one of the Olympic arenas, said he took the threats seriously. "I don't believe they are from cranks," he said.

Police confirmed threatening letters against the East Germans had also been received but did not disclose what reasons the writers or telephoners gave for singling out the team.

The 15 Arab guerrillas reported still at large in West Germany were reported to be part of the original band which invaded the Olympic Village Tuesday, shot and killed two Israelis and kidnaped nine hostages they later murdered in a shootout at a nearby airport.

TF Day crowd may top fair attendance marks

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Twin Falls Day at the county fair promised to shatter attendance records as spectators began arriving early on a clear but cool morning.

Wednesday's crowd totaled 11,500, fair officials said, about 400 ahead of last year's first day. Harold Hove, president of the fair board, said the clearing weather was a blessing and the hard work and efforts of all connected with this year's fair is bound to make it the biggest and best on record.

The Charolais and junior Charolais cattle shows opened today in the livestock show area. Quarter Horse working events were taking place in the rodeo arena at the same time.

In the 4-H pavilion, agriculture, home economics and miscellaneous demonstrations were presented. Afternoon 4-H features included a tractor driving contest and 4-H and FFA round robin fitting and showing.

This year, for the first time, the home arts, kitchen and pantry departments opened their classes to male exhibitors. The men responded by bringing in afghans, crocheted and knitted sweaters, tatted articles, embroidery work and other favorite recipes of the male exhibitors found their way to the bakery department shelves.

A Bisque figurine group in the antique department won the best of show award for the owners, Mr. and Mrs. William Peters, Twin Falls. This department attracted a number of new exhibitors this year with especially large showings of china, silver, and toys and games.

Three Appaloosa mules in the horse barn are creating much interest. They were entered by Keith Perkins, Murtaugh. The small colt, "Happy-Go-Lucky" is fast becoming a pet of all the fair goers.

Full funding bill seen winning OK

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — State Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking told the Board of Education today he was confident a bill for 100 per cent funding for public education will pass the 1973 Legislature.

"I think it will go this time," Engelking said at a meeting of the board. "We got it half way through the last time."

Engelking's comments followed a board discussion about a "bucket of works" that education may be faced with concerning residency requirements of students who have been given voting and other rights.

He said the question arose because a student votes in one district and lives in another. He said a student may use his voting area as residency and go to a public school there leaving the other district short property taxes for the student's education.

No-smoke measure proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today proposed new rules designed to cut both exhaust and smoke pollution from trucks, buses and other vehicles with heavy duty engines.

The new standards, applying both to gasoline and diesel engines, will take effect starting with the 1974 model year—covering vehicles on which production will start during 1973.

The Environmental Protection Agency said the new rules are basically similar to standards it originally wanted to impose for the 1973 model year, but which it delayed one year because the industry said it could not comply soon enough.

It also said the standards are substantially the same as those in effect under state law in California for the 1973-74 model year, although California has no separate limit on smoke.

The standards cover heavy duty vehicles, defined as those which carry 12 or more passengers or which weigh 6,000 pounds or more. A spokesman said that included mostly trucks and buses, although some smaller vehicles such as airport limousines might be affected as well.

Meets end in deadlock

GENEVA (UPI) — The 25-nation Disarmament Conference today concluded its 1972 session with the United States and Soviet Union still deadlocked over the major issue of banning all nuclear tests.

Alexei Roschin, the Soviet negotiator, said in his closing statement the Western countries are to be blamed for the lack of progress on the test ban question and on the prohibition of chemical weapons.

Guerrillas chased out

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli troops punched into southern Lebanon today in pursuit of Arab guerrillas, a military spokesman said. He said the Israelis have remained there without suffering any casualties.

The announcement said an Israeli patrol earlier in the day had tracked down and killed one of a group of guerrillas who had infiltrated from Lebanon Wednesday and clashed with an Israeli patrol.

In that skirmish, one Israeli soldier and one guerrilla were reported killed.

A spokesman said the Israeli troops pushed into southern Lebanon, tracking still another member of the guerrilla group to the village of Yarum, about one mile above the border.

Bigwood ski area project starts

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Construction has begun on the $10 million Bigwood Ski Area 13 miles north of Ketchum.

National attention will be focused on the project's progress because it is the first to be developed inside a national recreation area.

(See related story on page 13)

The two-phase project is part of the Sprenger Land Investment Inc., Ketchum, development. It is expected to be opened by December 1973, with additional facilities to be established by December 1975.

According to Robert Kress, executive director for Bigwood Mountain, under a contract with S and V Construction, Hailey, crews are currently clearing a roadway to Elk Flats, about two thirds of the way up the 9,700-foot mountain. By winter, two lift lines will be cleared and a major trail will be cut in order that skiers may be introduced to the mountain this winter through helicopter skiing, Kress said.

The development manager said that before the area is put into operation, a double chair lift — built in two sections — will be completed to Elk Flats; a lodge will be constructed at that point and another lodge will be built at the base of the mountain.

Other facilities, which will be constructed before the opening, include a beginner's hill, runs — including three major routes from different sides of Elk Flats — parking for 500 cars and an access road, exiting across from the Russian John Ranger Station.

By 1975, Kress said, the mountain will be open to the top, with the completion of a third lift.

Designed as an intermediate area, Kress said the mountain, which has a vertical drop of 2,550 feet, "will complement, not compete with Sun Valley facilities."

Bigwood and the "outstanding ski values of Baldy Mountain should maintain the area and the state" as prime ski resorts, Kress said.

Meat price rise continues in MV

Meat prices advanced 3.1 per cent during August — an annual rate of increase of over 36 per cent. The increases followed a pattern of sharp meat price hikes that began at the beginning of 1972 and has continued at a rapid pace since.

Meat prices stood 20.8 per cent higher than they were when the Times-News survey began 11 months ago.

Shoppers could take consolation from the fact that seasonal declines in the prices of produce items more than made up for the meat price increases in a typical grocery basket.

Produce prices dropped an average of 26 per cent during the month.

Staples, in contrast, remained nearly steady, registering a slight decline of about one-tenth of a per cent during the month.

A basket of groceries that would have cost a valley buyer $10 just 11 months ago now would cost 58 cents more. That would represent an annual increase of just over 6.3 per cent.

The newspaper survey was conducted Aug. 28-29 in five medium and large markets. The same list of 20 typical items was priced at each store, giving a composite price check on 100 items each month.

The overall price pattern during the past 11 months showed slow increases during 1971 and in the early months of 1972. Then suddenly in June, prices shot upward, registering a one-month gain of nearly 4 per cent. The prices stabilized at that high level in July.

Last month's prices showed the first significant decline from the all-time record levels of mid-1972.

The price spread between the most expensive and least expensive stores surveyed was 10 per cent, reflecting a leveling of store prices. The spread had been as high as 13.8 per cent in July.

Red troops sweep into Tien Phuoc

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops swept into the Tien Phuoc district town 36 miles south of Da Nang today and were fighting house to house to capture the entire city, field reports said. The government flew in 2,000 reinforcements to try to stem this new threat to Da Nang.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong increased their attacks in many other areas of Vietnam during the day. They hit Quang Tri City with 1,700 rounds of artillery fire, attacked a South Vietnamese division headquarters southwest of Saigon and intensified their attacks in the Central Highlands.

UPI Correspondent Barney Seibert reported from the Quang Tri area that 153 North Vietnamese were reported killed Wednesday in the 130th day of fighting for the town and that the government forces lost 10 dead and 70 wounded. B52s dumped 900 tons of explosives on the area.

B52s also struck in the Tien Phuoc area but results of the bombing was not announced.

Now you know

By United Press International
The record flight by a homing pigeon of the U.S. Army Signal Corps was 2,300 miles.

The Communists overran South Vietnamese district headquarters on the edge of the town in a move that could threaten both Da Nang and the coastal regions to the south.

Resolutions passed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress has unanimously passed resolutions urging the nations of the world to sever contacts with any country giving sanctuary or aid to perpetrators of atrocities such as occurred at Munich.

No offending nations were named in the resolutions passed separately Wednesday by the Senate and House.

But members in debate singled out Lebanon, Syria, Libya and Algeria as having provided refuge for terrorists. Egypt was cited for its refusal to help negotiate the rescue of the 11 Israeli hostages held by the Arab terrorists in the Olympic village Tuesday.

The Senate passed a resolution on an 82-0 rollcall. The House after recessing for 30 minutes in memory of the Israeli athletes passed its resolution on a 346-0 rollcall.

Egypt blames W. German police for tragedy

BEIRUT (UPI)—Egypt today became the first Arab country to officially blame the West German authorities for the Munich tragedy.

Two other Arab governments, Lebanon and Jordan, expressed sorrow at the incident, while the rest of the Arab regimes maintained silence.

An Egyptian government spokesman said in Cairo his country would summon the West German Ambassador to Cairo to the Foreign Ministry to seek "clarification of the West German attitude regarding the incident."

The spokesman said explanations to date by the German authorities clearly indicated that their handling of the incident was "unjust and unwise."

"Therefore the West German government is fully responsible for the consequences of the incident," the spokesman said. Contrary to the Egyptian stand, Lebanon and Jordan expressed regret and sorrow. A Palestinian radio station in Cairo praised the guerrillas and called them martyrs.

The mass-circulation Cairo newspaper Al-Akhbar said in an editorial, "the betrayal has failed and the hostages were killed." The guerrillas acted "courageously and cautiously, killed the Israelis and fell martyrs," it said.

"The guerrillas accepted negotiations and refrained from killing the hostages after the expiry of the deadline, but West German police prepared for them a shameful trick which ended in a massacre which the West German authorities are fully responsible for," Al-Akhbar said.

Up until today most Arab nations had remained silent on the Palestinian terrorist action that took the lives of 17 persons at the Munich Olympics—11 Israeli team members, five guerrillas and one Munich policeman.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said the goal of Palestinian guerrillas is to draw the attention of the world to their cause and make the world public opinion shoulder the responsibility of the "crime" committed by Israel on Palestinian soil.

The Palestinian guerrillas were not planning to kill the Israeli hostages and the fact that they had extended their deadline ultimatum three times and their agreement to fly the hostages to Tunis "proves that they have no intention to kill members of the Israeli team," it said.

Sportsmen arrive home in coffins

TEL-AVIV (UPI)—Ten sportsmen who set out three weeks ago for the glory of the Olympic Games came home today in coffins.

Sobbing, near hysterical relatives clutched the flag and flower-bedragged caskets. The arrival of the men who were murdered by Arab Guerrillas in Munich sparked a scene of grief among cabinet ministers, diplomats, church leaders and Israelis paying their last respects.

As if to bring home the continuing threat of guerrilla attacks, the military command announced that Israeli troops had intercepted a group of infiltrators during the night, killing one. One Israeli soldier was reported slain.

Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon, in an open neck shirt, told the estimated 3,000 mourners in a eulogy that "the Arab states which are supporting these crazy killers will have to carry the responsibility as much as the terrorists themselves."

The 11th victim of the guerrilla raid in Germany, David Berger, 28, was flown in from Munich to Cleveland, Ohio, the home of his parents. A bachelor, he had no family in the country to which he immigrated two years ago.

Wrapped in the blue-and-white Star of David flag of Israel and bedecked with red and white wreaths, the coffins were loaded onto army trucks with three military rabbis seated on each side.

Relatives walked alongside the trucks to the ceremony site, most of the women in black and with veils, many of them gobbing uncontrollably and clutching at the pine boxes containing the remains of their loved ones.

The 10 men who came home in boxes left seven widows and 13 children.

A burly young man hanging onto the coffin of Joseph Romano; 32-year-old weight lifter, who left a widow and three children, shouted "Why don't they kill them (the surviving Arab attackers)? Why don't they slaughter them?"

Uniformed soldiers moved in with paper cups of water for the grieving relatives, some of whom fainted under the stress and "80 degree heat" of the summer sun.

Parked in a line in a barricaded square, the command cars each had an Israeli Olympic representative, in blue blazer and white hat, standing by as Allon delivered the eulogy in place of Prime Minister Golda Meir.

Mrs. Meir was burying her sister, Mrs. Shana Korengold, 83, who died Wednesday night.

Allon said the guerrillas "are not the freedom fighters nor redeemers of people. This is a despicable sound bent on genocide... We did not wish for you (the dead) to come back like this. Not for such a welcome did we prepare ourselves."

"A despicable group of extreme Arabs—fortunately not all of them are like this—a group that has made murder its cult and blind killing its motto, killed 11 of the elite of our sportsmen—and with them the olympic spirit," Allon said.

GOP unit slates meeting

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Republican Central Committee will meet Monday, Sept. 11 to make plans for the coming election campaign.

Douglas Kramer, committee chairman, said the meeting would begin at 8 p.m. in the judicial building in Twin Falls. Party members are expected to discuss the scheduled candidate workshop, being scheduled by the state party organization to inform legislative and local candidates about the components of running their campaign.

A decision is also expected Monday night about whether to rent a party headquarters for the election, according to Kramer.

Gene Schiffler, Willard, Utah; and Neal Arave, Idaho Falls. Clem McSpadden, state senator from Oklahoma, is an announcer for the rodeo events.

New this year is a second ring in front of the large rodeo arena.

While cowboys battle in earnest for standings in calf roping, steer wrestling and other competition, the small fry contestants, most of them under 9 years of age, ride small calves and ponies to the delight of the crowd.

The 13 contestants for the Miss Rodeo Idaho crown participated in goat tying, ring spearing and several other arena events to gain points for the title.

Tonight's rodeo will again feature entertainment by the Filer High School band and a riding club. The best five head in the Charolais show will be paraded before spectators prior to the start of the rodeo.

Friday's Register of Merit Hereford Show will begin at 8:05 a.m. in the livestock show ring with more than 250 head of prize Herefords to be shown.

Hereford breeders from as far east as Virginia and Pennsylvania have entered animals in the show, one of the largest in the nation. Premiums in 23 divisions will be paid to 10 places or more with rosettes and purple ribbons to grand and reserve champions.

First night rodeo events included the wild buffalo ride, a new rodeo attraction this year. It was well accepted by fans with six local riders attempting to stay aboard the wild buffalo. The special event will be repeated each night.

Calf roping, first section, was won Wednesday by Sparky Trotter, Kermos, B.C., with 10.5 seconds. Second place went to Larry Hume, Hawk Springs, Wyo., with 11.6 seconds, and third, Warren Wurthler, Banner, Wyo., 12.2 seconds.

Bareback riding winners were Royce Smith, Challis, first; Van Vannoy, Thermopolis, Wyo., second, and Duane Sorenson, Weiser, third.

Steer wrestling winners were Bob Ragsdale, Chowchilla, Calif., first; Sam Hutchison, Blackfoot, and Chuck Boatright, Clarkston, Wash., tied for second.

Campaign data filed

BOISE (UPI) — Congressional candidate Steven D. Symms has filed his campaign disclosure with the Secretary of State's office, showing he collected contributions totaling $23,140.01 during his quest for the First District Republican nomination.

Symms, who beat two other candidates in the GOP primary race, also reported he spent $17,888.97 during the campaign.

A decision is also expected Monday night about whether to rent a party headquarters for the election, according to Kramer.

JACK MULDOON makes appeal

TF blood drawing Monday

TWIN FALLS — A special appeal was made today to new residents of the community and new college students here to participate in the Monday blood drawing.

Jack Muldoon, honorary chairman of the Monday blood drive, said everyone in the community is urged to support the Twin Falls effort to obtain 150 pints of blood, but said new community residents and students new to the College of Southern Idaho this year are especially asked to participate.

The drawing is from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the American Legion Hall in Twin Falls. Muldoon, a Twin Falls businessman, is also a member of United Fund, Kiwanis and numerous other community organizations.

Hopefuls qualify for vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department reported Wednesday that incumbent Tony Boyle and insurgent Arnold Miller have both qualified for the ballot in a court-ordered election for United Mine Workers president.

The election is scheduled Dec. 1-5. It was ordered after the 1969 election of Boyle was declared invalid by a federal court.

In 1969, Boyle defeated Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski. Yablonski and two members of his family were murdered a few weeks later.

Boyle since has been convicted of illegally channeling union funds into political campaigns, and faces a term in federal prison.

A department survey showed Boyle received 863 nominations from UMW locals to 410 for Miller. Only 50 nominations are required under the union constitution to qualify to run for president. Steve Kochis, who ran against Boyle in 1964, failed to be nominated. He gained only 10 local nominations.

Mining rules passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Interior Committee Wednesday approved a tough-strip mining control bill, banning such mining in steep mountain areas.

The bill would mandate that the Secretary of Interior deny any permits for strip mining on slopes of greater than 20 degrees.

"I'd say it would hit Appalachia right between the eyes," commented Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., ranking Democrat on the committee who presided at the markup session.

Edmondson said he thought an amendment by Rep. Teno Roncallo, D-Wyo., which was adopted, would have given the secretary only the permission to deny such permits. But the committee staff confirmed that the provision was mandatory.

The amendment would not have a great effect in the massive coal reserves of the western states, such as Roncallo's state of Wyoming, where strip-mining and open pit mining is done in less sloping areas.

In the final markup session, the committee gave the states more administrative control over the regulation of strip-mining, but maintained a federal overview.

If adopted, it would require that guidelines made by the Interior Department go into effect within 60 days of enactment. Other provisions would go into effect six months after enactment.

In states where no legislation or machinery for enforcement was set up, the federal government would administer the guidelines, until such time as the state was qualified.

Even after that, under a substitute amendment by Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., the federal government would continue to make periodic spot inspections.

The bill also calls for a $100 million fund to be set up for federal acquisition of previously mined areas, which the government would then reclaim.

Strip mining, which is also called surface mining, is a process where large bulldozers scrape away topsoil hiding coal seams near the surface, exposing the mineral for extraction. The committee rejected overwhelmingly Wednesday a move to enact a 10 cent per ton royalty from strip mining operators to help pay for reclaiming private or public lands.

Elmore man Davis aide

BOISE (UPI) — John P. O'Connor, 26, Mountain Home, has been hired as a field coordinator by Democratic Senate candidate William E. Davis. O'Connor will be responsible for 20 counties in Idaho's First Congressional District.

Davis for Senate Headquarters spokesmen said O'Connor will join Dave Lachiondo, 25, Pocatello, who has an identical post in the Second Congressional District.

Show falters

TWIN FALLS — Lack of men's voices for chorus and a few principal parts may cause discontinuation of Magic Valley's planned first grand opera, "Carmen."

Most leads have been cast and the orchestra has started rehearsals. Mrs. Frank E. DeLuca, president of the Twin Falls Music Club, said "We have director, conductor and full production staff, but unless we have the bass, baritone and tenor voices needed, we have no choice but to discontinue opera plans. Therefore we are sending out a plea to men in Magic Valley for their support."

Interested men should call Mrs. DeLuca, 733-3531, or Mrs. Donald Youitz, 735-7905, immediately. Deadline for casting is Monday. Premier performance is scheduled for Nov. 3 and is sponsored by the Twin Falls Music Club, an affiliate of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and the College of Southern Idaho.

No changes found

POCATELLO (UPI) — A recount of votes cast in the Aug. 8 Primary Election for the Democratic nomination for state representative from District 34 has left the earlier reported results unchanged.

Because absentee ballots were fed into the voting machines election day there is no way to ascertain if any errors were made by the election officials in their counting of the votes originally, officials said.

Assistant Attorney General John F. Croner, who helped supervise the recount Wednesday, said legal action may be forthcoming. He said the attorney general's office would study the possibility of seeking a declaratory judgment from District Court to invalidate the election and call for a new one.

John Pino asked for the recount. He lost the nomination to Wayne Loveless by four votes.

One of the questions which must be decided is whether County Clerk Tim Erikson

Idahoans condemn slayings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, called Tuesday's killing of 11 Israeli Olympic Team members in Munich, "One of the most barbaric acts in history."

Hansen summoned all nations to cooperate in "redoubling our efforts to bring to justice and to punish those guilty of these monstrous crimes against humanity, and in taking positive steps to protect innocent persons from future attacks by international outlaws."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, recently returned from a visit to Israel, said the killings "can only tighten tensions in an already volatile Middle East, where pressures will now build for reprisal and revenge."

"Before this black September recedes into history, an outraged world must insist on the rooting out and suppression of the guerrilla organization responsible for the Munich murders," he said.

Oil shale leasing hearings planned

ROCKSPRINGS, Wyo. (UPI) — The first of two public hearings on the draft environmental statement on proposed oil shale leasing in Utah, Colorado and Wyoming will be held here next month.

The first hearing is scheduled for Oct. 10 and the second session will move to Cheyenne, Oct. 12.

The three-volume draft covers a proposal to make available for private oil shale developments as many as six 5,120-acre leases on federal lands in the three states.

Each of the states could lease two tracts for the recovery of petroleum products from oil shale. The shale deposits in the three-state area comprise nearly all of the nation's known supply.

The proposed leases would be sold by competitive bonus bidding and would require payment to the United States of royalties on any production.

The shale would be recovered by strip mining techniques and petroleum products removed by closed retort refining.

Written comments on the draft statement can also be submitted to the hearings.

Arab Diplomatic Channels Opening

WASHINGTON — Secret Syria and the U.S., broken since profound political upheaval in negotiations looking toward a partial resumption of the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, are the Arab world that could lead to a latest sign that the Soviet, to a Mideast settlement. diplomatic relations between ouster from Egypt is causing a What the Syrians want in Washington is some form of diplomatic representation under cover of a third country, such as the U.S. now has in Cairo through the Spanish embassy.

Confidential talks have been going on for some time and no imminent arrangement is expected. But the mere fact that the Syrian regime, one of the area's most virulently anti-American governments, wants a diplomatic outpost in Washington is the most spectacular piece of evidence yet available that the U.S. holds the trump cards in the Middle East today.

Thus the expulsion of the Russians last month is now perceived within the Nixon administration as an unpredictable sea change which has transformed the Middle East from the most dangerous threat of war between the Soviet Union and the U.S. to a potentially stable area in which Moscow's huge investment verges on bankruptcy.

In recent weeks, the Nixon administration has reopened formal diplomatic relations with Yemen and Sudan (where a Communist coup plotted by Moscow failed last year.) Iraq has agreed to accept an American diplomat — officially assigned as an attache in the Belgian Embassy — in Baghdad this month.

Moreover, the rancid aftermath of President Sadat's ouster of Soviet military technicians, missile experts and pilots shows not the slightest sign of abatement. To the contrary, Cairo and Moscow now wage a long-distance warfare via government controlled press that becomes more vitriolic every day.

Sadat has not fulfilled the pledge in his July 18 speech (when he first signalled the ouster of more than 12,000 Soviet troops from Egypt) that he and the Russians would arrange a high-level meeting soon "for consultation regarding the upcoming stage" of relations between them. No such conference has been arranged. Since July 18, in fact, the only serious conversations at all between the two treaty-bound allies has been to arrange speedy departure of Soviet troops.

Although the full explanation of Sadat's shocking switch on Moscow is still debated, most officials here now accept this as the primary reason: Sadat's conviction that Moscow would never risk confrontation with the U.S. to expel Israel from the Sinai peninsula, seized in the 1967 war.

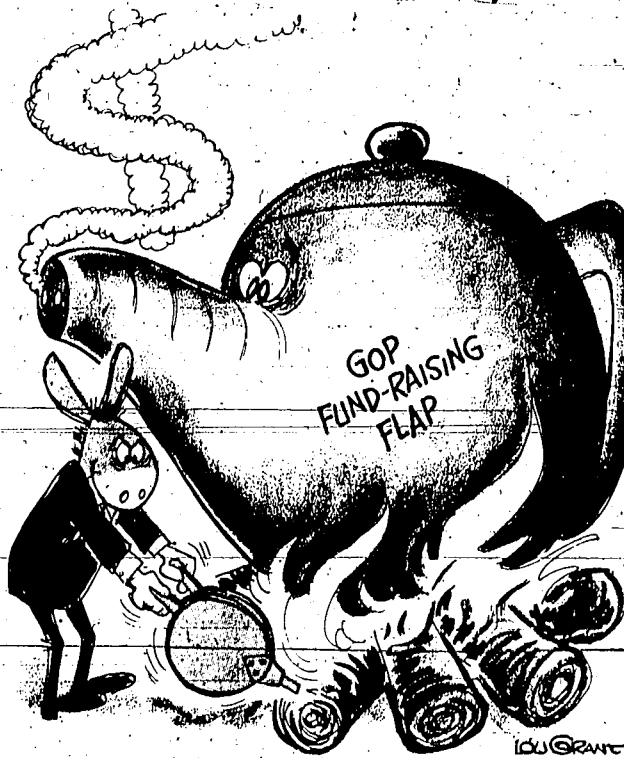

Sadat's Arab friends — notably the Syrians and Iraqis — are also making friendly passes at Washington instead of accusing Egypt of a sellout — thus closing the Arab circle on the Soviet Union. Egypt, as the top Arab power, is leading lesser Arab states into a tentative anti-Soviet, pro-American posture which is changing the face of the Middle East.

This political sea change has taken place, despite President Nixon's decision early this year to give Israel just about all the military equipment it wants, from a steady flow of Phantom jets (now guaranteed through 1973) to the most advanced U.S. electronic gear.

Sadat is not about to come knocking on Washington. His approach is circuitous and devious, starting with an expected appeal for the United Nations to underwrite a Middle East peace conference. That proposal will dominate the new UN session this fall but will get nowhere. Neither Israel nor the Nixon administration sees any chance for a settlement through such an unwieldy, public forum.

The real test will come next year, when Sadat will quietly appeal to the U.S. for help on grounds that Cairo has expunged Soviet influence and is ready for U.S. mediation with Israel. A settlement under U.S. mediation, therefore, looks more hopeful than at any time since the 1967 war — but only if Israel, now riding so high in the Mideast saddle, also agrees to negotiate.

TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT?

ANDREW TULLY

A Private Matter

WASHINGTON — Man and boy, I have always held that as far as possible religion should be a private matter between homo sapiens and the deity of his choice, but I'll come down on the side of Gen. Ralph E. Haines and his right to parade his "discovery of Jesus."

Haines, chief of the Army's Continental Command, has been doing some evangelizing around the country, such as speaking at assorted revival meetings. This brought Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., a member of the House Armed Services Committee who apparently has nothing better to do, to his feet to protest against Haines' religious activities.

Now a Pentagon source reports that his superiors have ordered the general to be a little more circumspect; a touch more low-key, in his public devotions.

It is Stratton's position that he's not agn religion but is merely concerned that Haines might have used military time, transportation and per diem expense dough to spread the Gospel.

I suppose there are grounds for Stratton's mealy-mouthed and even mean concern. Generals of Haines' rank do not travel by bus, but by plush flying machine. In Haines' case, considerable travel is implicitly among his official duties and obligations. Thus it seems fair to conclude that some of his evangelizing has been made possible by his tax-fianced trips around the country.

But Stratton is really straining at a very small gnat. Presumably, Haines is permitted an hour or so of free time when his duties take him to Omaha or San Francisco, and it has always been my understanding that what a man does in his off-hours is strictly his own business, providing he does not spend those hours inspecting brothers or manufacturing heroin.

Incredibly, the "charge" against Haines is that he has spread the Word during his official peregrinations. My impression is that Stratton would not object if Haines spent his spare time shooting pool or playing golf or even dallying with a bit of feminine fluff, on account of such pursuits are not regarded as "controversial." You know, separation of church and state stuff.

This is a bit much. Even after a rather careful Roman Catholic upbringing, I tend to be anti-establishment concerning the formal exercise of religion. Also I have no pretensions of expertise on the subject, except for a strong belief that what my neighbor believes in the God department is none of my affair.

But I do hold that General Haines can do the commonwealth no harm by whipping about the country trying to persuade people to turn on to Jesus.

Formal religion may have its faults, but in its fundamentals it does not teach evil. Stripped down, all sects promote assorted versions of the Golden Rule and the brotherhood of man. So far as I have been able to discover, no religion has ever dispatched a child on a life of crime or persuaded him to turn hophead, although I confess that some of our more wit-if-clergyman are unwelcome in the Tully lean-to, mostly because they are so ruddy tiresome.

Stratton and others have made much of Haines' avowal that his real commander-in-chief is Jesus, not the Army Chief of Staff or Richard Nixon.

So what else is new? An awful lot of the general's fellow citizens feel the same way, and I should not like to find that some automobile assembly line worker had been given the sack for putting his own particular God before his foreman.

Haines speaks in a spiritual context. In so doing, he is reiterating the ancient dictum that man need not neglect his obligation to Caesar when he renders God's things to God.

Besides, it comes with something akin to ill grace for a member of Congress to squawk that a general might be using taxpayers' money to finance his evangelism. Stratton and his colleagues in both House and Senate get fat expense accounts for travel, which they use mostly for trips home to nurture their political fortunes. If Sen. Stratton can run for reelection on the taxpayers' money, I guess I stand still for General Haines trying to save souls on his expense account.

Japan's Inflation

WASHINGTON — Letters pressure (the interests of from Japan report major wage increases — gains of 15 per cent in big company settlements thus far in 1972. More importantly, the wage boosts are greater in several major export industries — such as automobile manufacture.

These gains, furthermore, are now a trend in Japan. Wages in "large enterprises" rose 16 per cent last year and close to 13 per cent a year over the past decade.

Sooner or later these steady gains are bound to narrow the gap between Japanese and U.S. manufacturing costs if the President of the United States can hold inflation in check and American industry can increase productivity at a rate great enough to keep over-all labor costs competitive over the next eight to 10 years.

Thus Japanese inflation and its natural economic consequences may do more in the long run to solve the $3 billion-plus annual U.S. trade deficit with Japan than President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and their aides can accomplish with all their negotiating and patting.

This is not to say there is no short-run crisis. There is. It is not to maintain, either, that Japan's highly protective trade system is going to be easily or quickly overturned. But growing internal Japanese

Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Shouldn't a baby going on eight months be crawling around the floor and be able to pull its body up and sit up by now? — Mrs. G.P.

Statistics show that about 70 per cent of babies are able to get themselves to sitting positions anywhere between six months and nine months. Your baby may be one of those who performs a bit later than others. Most behavior charts are based on averages of hundreds of infants tested and are not to be interpreted too strictly. Differences of two or three months from one baby to another are not uncommon. Each accomplishment is but one of many that must be interpreted as a group.

His physician should check his progress in the course of usual periodic visits.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to become an alcoholic on beer? We have been married for six years, and every night of those six years my husband has consumed a minimum of three quarts of beer — many times more.

We have a family and I'm concerned. He is 30. — Mrs. R.B.R.

Yes, it is possible. No question about it.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a zip, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Comrade, what does 'jump to another league' mean?"

McGovern Wonderland

Senator George McGovern says, if elected President, he would slash the defense budget by $30 billion and raise taxes by $22 million over the next three years to provide the money for a flood of welfare reforms, expanded social security, government jobs for the unemployed, and income "supplement for working people who, in spite of their labor, still have trouble making ends meet."

Even if his budget cuts and tax inclusion proposals provides the revenue he says they will, his spending proposal fails in several major instances. Two glaring exclusions from his spending proposals are Senator Ted Kennedy's $57 billion health insurance plan, a plan McGovern has previously supported, and increased agricultural price support for which the Democratic platform called for inclusion.

As Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz declared, "anyone who says you can have unreasonably high support prices is not familiar with history, doesn't know his economics — or is intellectually dishonest, and you can take your choice."

McGovern says he favors support at 100 per cent of parity. But says we tried that approach in the 1960's with the result that "exports slumped and the farmers suffered."

When McGovern found no one liked his idea of a $1,000 to every man, woman, and child, he quickly backed away from it. He has shown a willingness to modify any position in his efforts to woo votes. If he helps every wage earner who has "trouble making ends meet," he won't have time for much else.

A closer analysis of McGovern's economic ideas shows how he has included a failure philosophy in his "Adequate Income Act of 1971." This proposed bill states: "the real employment problem is not that people need jobs and jobs need people; it is that jobs do not provide a minimum adequate income. Employment does not distribute income the way its advocates claim it does. As an income distribution system, employment has never worked well for the poor, especially the black-poor."

"Even if all eligible Americans were employed today, the number of poor people would not be seriously reduced. Therefore, it becomes the responsibility of the Congress to assure every person the right to live."

This seems to say that a job is a poor way to make a living, and that Uncle Sam will open up a bottomless cookie jar for any who have trouble making ends meet.

Still, McGovern's fellow Senators have sat on his bill for more than a year while the economic system he says isn't working well has been setting new records.

The growth of our gross national product in 1971 was $30 million, more than the total GNP of 90 per cent of the countries of the world. Our welfare recipients alone own more automobiles than the whole population of Sweden.

Our system of gainful employment may not be perfect but it sure beats anything else around.

Somehow, McGovern manages to call to mind Abby Hoffman's absurd comment that "this country is so rich no one needs to work." Tell it to Sweeney, or to anyone who helps produce the nation's food supply, its goods and essential services. They might not agree with the Senator!

Least Perfect Crime

The record of plane hijackings for extortion is so unsuccessful the crime has achieved the highest failure rate among all serious criminal acts. The chances of a person hijacking — a plane, demanding and receiving ransom, and escaping to spend his loot are so poor as to approach near impossibility.

Federal Aviation Administrator John H. Shaffer phrased it well when he said: "When a person buys a ticket on an airliner with the idea of hijacking it for profit, he has really bought himself a ticket to prison or to the morgue."

Last Nov. 24 the first hijacking for extortion occurred, and it is the only one of the 21 to date in which the perpetrator has not been caught or killed. Many authorities are convinced the mysterious D. B. Cooper who parachuted from an airliner with $200,000 in ransom was killed in his descent, although neither he nor the money have been found.

The only other case in which either the hijacker or the money have not been found was the one involving a man who parachuted over Honduras and later surrendered with a story that he had forwarded the ransom money to Red China.

Of 28 participants in hijacking-extortion attempts, three were killed and 17 are in U.S. custody. Even those who have sought asylum in foreign countries have been forced to surrender their extortion money.

Plane hijacking is a crime which does not pay, except possibly for those ill individuals who get their kicks from the notoriety of being captured and possibly killed.

Buying Poppies

With all the innovations, special task forces, law enforcement cooperation and international agreements the United States had brought to bear on the heroin traffic, the total effort to date has been less than a success. Addiction is still growing, and despite record numbers of arrests and the largest hauls of illicit narcotics in history, the traffic continues.

Obviously, some rethinking of the problem is in order. One part of the program with was an admitted experiment from the beginning and needs another critical look is paying overseas farmers not to grow opium.

In the case of Turkey, that plan already has cost American taxpayers $35 million with demonstrable results. It is not a clear case of buying off the peasants who grow illicit poppies, for they will find ways — in Turkey or else where — of playing both ends of the street.

This is a bit much. Even after a rather careful Roman Catholic upbringing, I tend to be anti-establishment concerning the formal exercise of religion. Also I have no pretensions of expertise on the subject, except

Demo continues Connally attacks

DALLAS (UPI)—Campaigning today in Texas, Sen. George S. McGovern, kept up his drumfire of criticism of former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, oil millionaire and the economic policies of the Nixon administration.

Although Connally who now heads the Democrats for Nixon organization was three times elected governor of Texas, McGovern did not mute the attacks on the former cabinet official which had brought cheers from crowds in other states.

"It doesn't surprise me that John Connally and his billionaire friends have decided they are more at home with Richard Nixon's brand of Republicanism," the Democratic presidential nominee told an outdoor rally in Dallas Wednesday night. "I don't mind at all being branded radical by that crowd."

In a statement issued in advance of a scheduled walk through a Dallas supermarket, McGovern berated President Nixon for the inflation which he said was "ground into every pound of hamburger, folded into every sack of flour."

"Each dollar we spent in 1972 buys only 82 cents worth of goods and services at January, 1969 prices," he said. "The other 18 cents is the direct cost we pay every day out of every dollar for the stunning economic failures of this administration."

The South Dakota senator's schedule today was loaded with the things his backers call "listening tours," trips to meet the voter in his native habitat. He was to walk through a Dallas supermarket, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters in Houston, and a tractor factory in Peoria, Ill. He was to end the day with a nighttime rally in Rockford, Ill.

McGovern's Dallas rally pointed out the strengths and weaknesses of his drive to collect Texas' 28 electoral votes. The crowd of about 3,000 was enthusiastic but it was almost exclusively young and predominantly white. The state's top Democratic officials mostly stayed away.

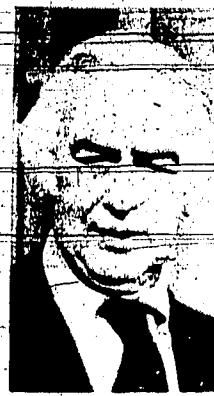

Lobbyists file suit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Common Cause, a lobby organization, filed suit here Wednesday to compel key fundraisers for President Nixon's re-election campaign to disclose the sources of a $10 million war chest.

The suit, filed in federal district court, contends the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925 required fundraisers for the Committee for the Re-election of the President to file public reports naming the campaign contributors.

The committee's financial subdivisions have contended that only names of contributors since the April 7 effective date of a new elections reporting law were required to be made public.

John W. Gardner, chairman of the self-described "citizens' lobby," said the suit was filed "to bring all the facts out in the open."

Resigns

THE NATIONAL CHAIRMAN of the Democrats' voter registration drive, Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., resigned today in an apparent dispute with McGovern's top campaign aides. (UPI)

8 policemen indicted in NY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eight policemen, all one-time members of the Bronx Narcotics squad, were indicted Wednesday on charges of robbing heroin addicts while making narcotics arrests.

The indictments followed an eight-month investigation initiated by a policeman-turned-informer, according to Bronx District Attorney Burton Roberts, who announced the indictments in a joint news conference with Police Commissioner Patrick Murphy.

Demo quits over clash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The national chairman of the Democrats' voter registration drive, which Sen. George S. McGovern said had priority in his presidential bid, resigned today in an apparent dispute with McGovern's top campaign aides.

N.J., said in a "Dear George" letter hand-delivered to McGovern's office, "It is imperative for me to return at the earliest possible date to my duties in Congress and to the difficult task of being re-elected from my new district."

Thompson aides told UPI that the break was the result of

"interference" by McGovern campaign managers, principally Gary Hart, in the registration drive, which McGovern promised would be subject to Thompson's control alone.

McGovern handpicked Thompson in July to head the drive, stating that his campaign's priority would be to try to sign up the estimated 45 million voters who are not registered.

Thompson was national chairman of the drive that registered 8.2 million voters in John F. Kennedy's successful 1960 campaign for the presidency.

Thompson telephoned McGovern in Dallas Wednesday night to tell him that the letter was on the way. McGovern reportedly urged Thompson to stay on the job and promised that he would personally work out any differences that existed.

Thompson also talked Wednesday with Lawrence F. O'Brien, McGovern's national campaign director, who aired his differences last week with McGovern strategists over how the campaign was being waged. O'Brien reportedly approved Thompson's decision.

The only two species of eagle found in North America are the bald and the golden eagles.

1st black aide set for confab

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI)—The first black chairman-elect of the Southern Governors' Conference says his selection marks a "maturing" of Dixie leadership.

Gov. Melvin H. Evans of the Virgin Islands was unanimously chosen vice chairman by the 17 governors Wednesday at the closing of the annual conference.

An vice-chairman, Evans automatically becomes chairman in 1973, succeeding Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who was inserted as the new chairman when South Carolina Gov. John C. West stepped aside in tribute to Wallace.

"When the Southern governors elect George Wallace and a black Republican, then I think we've shown to the world an example of Southern unity and progress," said West.

Wallace, who once stood in a school doorway and vowed "segregation forever," leaned from his wheelchair and clasped hands with Lane after the election as other governors stood and applauded.

Evans, smiling broadly after his selection, told friends and reporters that his election represents a "maturing of southern governors." He denied that his name was proposed to balance that of Wallace.

McGovern gets IAM endorsement

By United Press International

Sen. George S. McGovern has picked up another labor endorsement, but a youth group and three Democrats in the Johnson administration have crossed party lines to back President Nixon.

The 908,000-member International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers voted to back McGovern over a vocal minority's urging that the AFL-CIO union remain neutral.

The IAM endorsement in convention at Los Angeles Wednesday was no surprise. IAM President Floyd Smith had already announced support of McGovern and was working on his task force for national security.

The AFL-CIO's executive council had recommended in July that labor remain neutral in the presidential campaign, but unions comprising most of the AFL-CIO membership have endorsed or announced intentions to endorse McGovern.

Nixon met at the White House Wednesday with former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and a dozen other prominent Democrats to discuss their role in luring Democrats into the GOP camp for Nov. 7.

Among the Democrats with Connally were Leonard Marks, director of the U.S. Information Agency in the Johnson administration; former Johnson aide, Jake Jacobsen and Warren Woodward, and former Virginia congressman Jack Marsh.

A group calling itself Youth Against McGovern (YAM) told a Washington news conference that it would try to thwart George McGovern in his effort to turn America's youth into the shock troops for his presidential campaign.

The YAM national chairman is Chris Buckley, son of conservative columnist William F. Buckley.

'Dawn' to increase

MIAMI (UPI)—The National Hurricane Center predicted Tropical Storm Dawn would increase in intensity to full hurricane force sometime today.

Just after midnight Dawn was plotted near latitude 29.0 North and longitude 74.0

West or about 600 miles southwest of Bermuda.

Dawn, the Atlantic's fourth tropical storm of the season, posed no immediate threat to the U.S. mainland, but there were gales extending outward 75 miles from the center of Dawn, in all directions.

Ask your neighbor where your closest Waremart Food Store is...

No one is embarrassed about saving money on groceries.

Maybe you're new in town and haven't heard about us. Or, maybe you just haven't spotted our store yet. Well, don't be afraid to ask your neighbor where we are. If she doesn't know the way, you're doing her a big favor. She'll probably want to come find out for herself.

And it's not because our store is hard to find. It's not. It's just that we think you both should know where we are, because we save you money on your total grocery bill. And everyone likes to save money on groceries these days.

We let you mark your own prices down here at Waremart. We give you a cart, and a marking pencil. We stock cartons full of grocery values in every aisle and let you loose. There's a label on each carton to give you the price. And the open end of the case is yours, to reach into. To save on nationally advertised brand items and top-quality Waremart private label brands. By the time you're finished, you'll find that you've saved on meat, produce, dairy products and non-food items. It's really a browsers' paradise... a food savers' heaven.

And about that neighbor. If she doesn't know the way herself... (we hope she does)... bring her with you. Split the gas cost between you and save just that much more.

At Waremart. Where we save you so much money on your groceries, it's almost embarrassing!

Masked robbers slay 11 diners

CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix, V. I. (UPI)—Masked gunmen burst from a clump of bushes bordering a swank golf course Wednesday, gunned down 11 diners in the clubhouse and escaped into the hills of this resort island after cleaning out their victims' pockets.

Eight persons were killed in the attack and three were injured. Only one of the victims, an employee at the golf course, was identified.

Guards stood posted today at all possible points of exit from the 84-square-mile tourist island as government helicopters arrived from Puerto Rico and two platoons of police reinforcements were flown in from neighboring St. Thomas to assist the St. Croix contingent of about 100 police in a massive, island-wide manhunt for the killers.

Lt. Gov. David Mans, a former FBI agent, said "four or five" men "launched the 3 p.m. MDT attack. Witnesses said the men—hooded, dressed in fatigues and wearing what appeared to be bullet-proof vests—sprang from the bushes at the Fountain Valley Golf Course and sprayed the open air clubhouse dining area with automatic weapons fire.

Mans said seven persons fell dead instantly. Another died later at Charles Harwood Hospital and three others were admitted with bullet wounds. Police said four of the dead were apparently tourists and witnesses said several of the victims were shot in the back.

Arms pact stalls

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate is stalled over a nuclear arms limitation agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union because of White House indecision, according to Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

"What are they for?" Mansfield asked Wednesday as the Senate tried to decide when to vote on the agreement. "The administration wants it both ways."

Mansfield was talking about a White House-endorsed amendment by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., which would make it U.S. policy to achieve "equality" in any permanent Soviet-American agreement on offensive weapons.

A statement of principles signed by President Nixon in Moscow May 26 says "both sides recognize that efforts to obtain unilateral advantage at the expense of the other, directly or indirectly, are inconsistent."

"Unfortunately," said Mansfield, "the administration is against its own language."

The temporary agreement covering offensive nuclear weapons over a five-year period has passed the House. The Senate earlier approved a parallel treaty to restrict deployment of defensive nuclear weapons to two antiballistic missile systems for each nation.

SAIGON (UPI)—One American was killed in Vietnam war action last week, the lowest death toll since a single U.S. soldier died in the week ending last Christmas Day, the U.S. command said today.

The number of wounded rose from the three reported two weeks ago to 26 last week, spokesmen said. Just three of the 26 wounded required hospital care, however.

The command said another five Americans were reported "missing, captured or interned" in the war last week, all of them from warplanes shot down behind Communist lines.

In all, 1,667 Americans have been reported missing in Indochina since Jan. 1, 1961.

The one American killed last week brought total U.S. deaths for the war to 45,856, spokesmen said.

The Saigon government, he said, was notified in advance through Korean Ambassador Yu Yang-su.

Mans said seven persons fell dead instantly. Another died later at Charles Harwood Hospital and three others were admitted with bullet wounds.

Police said four of the dead were apparently tourists and witnesses said several of the victims were shot in the back.

Police said the killers took the wallets of the victims and any valuables they had on them. They then cleaned out the clubhouse till of about $700 and fled toward the remote, hilly central spine of the island where the crux of today's manhunt was centered.

A police spokesman said the armed men, believed to be fugitives wanted for some time, were spotted in the vicinity of the course earlier Wednesday but detectives sent to investigate did not arrive until after the shooting.

U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft was born Sept. 8, 1892. He died in 1953.

On this day in history: In 1565, the first permanent settlement of what is now the continental United States was founded at the present location of St. Augustine, Fla.

In 1990, more than 6,000 persons were killed when a hurricane and tidal wave struck Galveston, Tex.

In 1934, the U.S. liner "Morro Castle," burned off Asbury Park, N.J., taking 137 lives.

On 1943, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced the unconditional surrender of Italy, one of the World War II axis powers. The others were Germany and Japan.

A thought for the day: U.S. educator Horace Mann said, "Lost, yesterday, somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each set with 60 diamond minutes. No reward is offered, for they are gone forever."

The Air Force had said that only Lt. Gen. John D. Lavelle was involved. He was relieved of his command of the Seventh Air Force in March.

Sgt. Lonnie D. Franks said from his home here that at least 200 officers and enlisted men at Udorn Air Base in Thailand were involved in falsifying reports that U.S. reconnaissance planes had received antiaircraft artillery fire from North Vietnamese planes.

Until bombing of North Vietnam was resumed last spring, such raids could be made only in retaliation for antiaircraft attacks.

Franks based his estimate of 200 persons on the fact that two squadrons were involved.

"It should be over 200 really, 200 is conservative," he said.

"It was very common knowledge. It's hard to keep such a thing secret," Franks said.

ROK's pull out

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korea announced today it will pull out its 37,000 fighting men from South Vietnam beginning in December to test up its domestic defense capabilities.

A high-ranking Foreign Ministry official, in announcing the planned troop withdrawal, said the government's decision is final and that the pullout will be completed by next spring.

The Saigon government, he said, was notified in advance through Korean Ambassador Yu Yang-su.

Kansas, Delaware winners

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Miss America contestants from Delaware and Kansas won preliminary competition Wednesday night, giving them a good chance to place among the 30 semi-finalists for the crown Saturday night.

Catherine Lawton, 20, of Claymont, Del., cried "it's wonderful" after she won the talent trophy with a banjo-strumming medley of state songs, from "California, Here I Come" to "Back Home Again in Indiana."

"I said my prayers before I went on stage," said Miss Lawton, who carried an extra banjo on stage in case a string broke.

The swimsuit competition was won by Cindy Lee Sikes, 18, of Wichita, Kan. She drew whistles from the Convention Hall audience of 7,000 as she filled her suit with a 36-24-36 shape. She bought the suit for $12 at a clearance sale, she said, and jogged and swam to build up her shape.

Preliminary winners have a good chance of finishing in the group of 10 semi-finalists that Miss America will be chosen from Saturday. Talent counts double points, but pageant judges in the finals traditionally have favored swimsuit winners in handing out the Miss America crown.

The preliminary competitions continue tonight. Only winners are announced and each girl participates in a different competition during preliminary nights.

Gooding artist gets top award

FILER — The "Best of Show" award in the art department of the Twin Falls County Fair went to Marilyn LaCroix, Gooding, for a still life floral. Dianne Van Dine, Twin Falls, was named first runner-up. Receiving honorable mentions were Leona Crismore, Buhl; Warren Gossett, Twin Falls; Ronnie Vanek, Burley; Chady Peckenpaugh, Ivory Duffey, Betty Evans, Ruth Sparrow, all Twin Falls, and Elsie Stafford, Kimberly.

Mrs. LaCroix had previously won the blue ribbon in the still life division with Loraine Reese, Castleford, receiving second. In landscapes and seascapes, Dianne Van Dine, Twin Falls, received first; June Haggard, Kimberly, second, and Marlene Sears, Twin Falls, third.

Abstract — collage, Kathy Glassey, Twin Falls, first; Peg Sass, Twin Falls, second; Evanell Henkleman, Twin Falls, third.

Miscellaneous — animals, Patricia Curtis, Twin Falls, first; Mike Youngman, Twin Falls, second; Tom Ramsey, Caldwell, third.

Mrs. LaCroix was the recipient of a special governor's award for a sign painting of "Smoky the Bear" during the 1962 Idaho Keep Idaho Green campaign.

"The artist says she loves the Idaho landscape intensely and hopes to live the greater part of her life in it. Its wide open spaces have affected much of my work with a free, loose brushstroke which exemplifies the typical Idahoan's heritage of independence and self-reliance," she said.

Enrollment stays same at Gooding

GOODING — School enrollment this year is almost the same as last year, according to James Muscat, Gooding school superintendent. This year's total enrollment, grades one through 12 is 1,067, compared to 1,065 last year.

The elementary school has a total enrollment this year of 418 compared to 423 last year. The enrollment by grade is first grade, 77; second grade, 77; third grade, 92; fourth grade, 80; fifth grade, 92.

Junior high school enrollment this year is sixth grade, 92; seventh grade, 92; eighth grade, 97, for a total of 281 compared to 276 last year.

In the senior high school, ninth grade, 91; 10th grade, 96; 11th grade, 83; 12th grade, 82 to total 352 compared to 368 last year.

Gooding delays project

GOODING — There will not be a sidewalk all the way to the new high school this year, according to City Councilman Gene Kelly.

The council had originally decided that new sidewalks would be installed on Seventh Avenue leading to the new high school at the property owners' expense. Earlier this summer a group of residents on Seventh Avenue met with the council to protest the decision.

Kelly told the Times-News at last night's council meeting that it was unfair for property owners to absorb all of the costs, that some owners would have to pay for more sidewalk than others and that some owners already had sidewalks in good condition.

The city engineer originally proposed that all new, wider sidewalks be installed. Kelly said, "We can't force anyone to put in new sidewalks. Beside we haven't been able to get any contractors with the time to do the work. Maybe a local improvement organization would be the answer."

City Attorney Cecil Hobday said that the city can still legally have the sidewalks installed and charge the homeowners.

The sidewalks were originally recommended because of the heavy pedestrian, bus and car traffic to the new high school and because of the narrowness of the road in some areas.

In other council proceedings, Hobday recommended to the council that a resolution be adopted which would set up a schedule of costs for sewer and water extension, water meters, hook ups to the main line and such items, to clarify what the city provides and what is the owner's responsibility.

Councilman Kelly told the council that stop signs and 25 m.p.h. speed limit signs have been installed on Seventh Avenue leading to the high school.

Councilman Valdo Gray said the swimming pool has been closed for the winter and Police Chief Lyle Clifford told the council 19 arrests were made in August.

New sites suggested

BOISE (UPI) — If Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has his way, two new sites will be added to the Nez Perce National Historical Park in northern Idaho.

Andrus said Tuesday he has written Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton requesting the additions of the old Shoshone Courthouse at Pierce and the archaeological site at Lenore.

The park presently consists of 22 areas, each of which played a significant part in the historical make-up of Idaho.

Lions meet at Richfield

RICHFIELD — Richfield Lions and their wives held a dinner meeting Tuesday at the Richfield-United Methodist Church.

Greg Davis was welcomed as a new member. A guest was John Paulson.

Pres. Marvin Webb reported that the consignment auction sale Aug. 19 netted about $160. He read a letter from the district governor stressing the need for more new active Lions members, and that three new clubs were needed in this southern Idaho district.

The letter also said there have been 31 corneal transplants in Idaho sponsored by the Lions, and more donor cards need to be signed. Lions have added hearing conservation to their eyesight projects, the letter concluded.

Lyle Piper volunteered to work on having highway markers advertising Richfield placed on old highway 93 north of Richfield. An invitation was read from the Meridian Lions Club inviting Richfield members to attend their charter night Nov. 16.

The next meeting will be Sept. 10 at the Lemmon Hardware Store where members will complete the trash can project.

Susan Jackson, Martin say vows

TWIN FALLS — Susan Jackson and Lawrence Karl Martin were married in rites Aug. 31 in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Jackson, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Martin, Oakley.

The bride wore a gown, fashioned of organza and Venise lace. The long puffed sleeves were finished at the wrists with wide lace edged cuffs. The bodice was appliqued with lace and accented at the waistline with a satin band.

The flared skirt lengthened into a sweeping train and was accented with tiny lace flowers. Her full, waterfall veil was held by a headpiece of lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with trailing ivy.

Mrs. Don R. (Mary Anne) Clark, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Randy Drake, Suzanne Matthews and Loralee White.

Steve Rich, Salt Lake City, was best man.

The couple was honored at a wedding breakfast after the ceremony in the Gold Room of the Hotel Utah. The breakfast was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

A reception honoring the couple was held Aug. 29 at the Blue Lakes Country Club. Guests were registered by Melinda Snow, Salt Lake City. Gifts were received by Mrs. Norman A. Jackson, Mesa, Ariz.

The bride's table was covered with pink silk accented by American Beauty pink gladioli. The four-tiered wedding cake was iced with white and decorated with fresh flowers. Assisting with serving were Mrs. Marvin Custer, Mrs. J.T. Anderson, Mrs. Ray Lincoln, Mrs. V'Laine Matthews and Mrs. Kenneth Martin.

Showers honoring the bride were given by Mrs. Ray Lincoln, assisted by Mrs. Neil Olmstead, and by Mrs. J. T. Anderson, assisted by her daughters, Jane and Julie.

An open house for the couple was held the following evening, Aug. 30, in Oakley at the home of the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. V'Laine Matthews.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Dean Belnap, Bountiful, Utah, were special guests. Dr. Belnap was president of the East English mission during the time the bridegroom served an LDS mission there.

MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE K. MARTIN

Guests attended from Utah, California, Oregon, Colorado and Boise.

The couple resides in Provo, where the bridegroom will complete his studies at Brigham Young University. He is majoring in environmental design. The bride was graduated from BYU in May.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Here are a few simple rules, which, if followed, could save our nation:

1. The man should be the head of the family. His wife should stay home and look after the children.
2. A married man should get preference for a job over a single man.

3. Married women should give up their jobs to married men.

4. A child should never come home from school to an empty house.

5. There should be radio and television blackouts every day from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. so families could talk to each other and bridge the generation gap. Very truly yours,

FOR A STRONGER AMERICA

DEAR FOR: Re Number 1: How about families in which there is no man? Or if the wife's energies and talents extend beyond child tending? Or where there are no children at all?

2. Why should a man be penalized because he has chosen to remain single? Job opportunities should be based on ability, not marital status.

3. Why? Some married women must carry the same financial load as married men.

4. Working mothers can't always manage to be home before their children.

What ever happened to freedom of choice?

DEAR ABBY: What would you think of a husband who after being married over a year still locks all his belongings up in cedar closets? There is nobody else in the house but me.

Also, he gets all his mail at his sister's house. What does he have to hide? BEWILDERED IN CONN.

DEAR BEWILDERED: I would be more concerned about what he imagines he has to hide, than what he actually has. He's behaving like a sick man. Urge him to see a doctor.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is going to sound like a nightmare! I just found a library book that is 3 1/2 years overdue! I figured it out, and it will cost me $60.50 if I turn it in and pay the overdue penalty. The book itself costs only $6. Abby, I just don't know what to do. Should I just say I lost it and will be glad to replace it with a new one? Paying that ridiculous overdue penalty doesn't make any sense to me.

Can you help me?

GUILTY

DEAR GUILTY: Take the book back to the library, and throw yourself on the librarian's mercy and ask if she will settle for the price of a new book.

DEAR ABBY: Some kook signed "Taxpayer" was all worked up because she wanted to call up her postmaster and ask him why he "nte" her pension check, and she found out he had an unlisted telephone number. Then she asked you why "public servants" like postmasters needed unlisted telephone numbers. Boy, that beats everything.

My husband is at his job at the post office all day yet some stupid woman called him at home in the middle of his evening meal to ask him how much it costs to send a postcard air mail now!

POSTMASTER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: With postal rates changing as frequently as they have been, it's not such a stupid question. Had she called the post office, any employee could have told her.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 68700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

CSI admissions workshop scheduled for Sept. 21

TWIN FALLS — Plans for a one-day workshop Sept. 21 at the College of Southern Idaho to cover college information and admissions have been announced.

Paul Ostyn, high school relations officer at CSI, arranged the workshop which he said is designed to provide information for high school counselors in helping advise their students who are planning to attend colleges in Idaho. Each Idaho college or university will have a representative at the workshop.

The Idaho Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers will cooperate with CSI in conducting the program. Delegates begin registering at 8:30 a.m. with breakfast refreshments available at that time. Dr. James Taylor, president of CSI, will welcome the participants.

During the morning session, three panel discussions will be held with speakers from CSI, North Idaho Community College, Ricks College, Boise State College, Lewis Clark College, Idaho State University, University of Idaho, College of Idaho and Northwest Nazarene College.

David Perkins, CSI, will discuss financial aid programs during the afternoon and a question and answer session follows. Delegates will also have time to meet with representatives of individual schools for further information.

Display set at TF bank

TWIN FALLS. — A special display of 18 reproductions of paintings recording the U. S. Navy actions is on display through Friday at the Idaho First National Bank.

In the collection the Navy has recorded in fine art its military actions, explorations, landings and just plain sailing.

It begins with convoy actions just prior to World War II and continues to contemporary paintings of Vietnam scenes.

About 150 new paintings are added to the collection each year. The combat artists of World War II have been replaced by civilian artists who witness today's Navy and Marine Corps, then record their impressions and contribute the paintings to the Department of the Navy.

The paintings range from scenes of smoky battles and white-suited sailors participating in church services on board ship, to a painting of the all-U.S. Navy crew on the Apollo 12 lunar landing mission.

Copies of the paintings can be obtained through the U. S. Navy recruiting service in Twin Falls.

Navy art displayed

ONE OF 15 painting reproductions on display this week at the Idaho First National Bank in Twin Falls is this one depicting the air defense battle at Santa Cruz. Holding the painting by Dwight Shepler are, from left, Lt. Cmdr. David Mead, U.S. Naval Reserve, and PO I.C. C.E. Bradley, Twin Falls Navy recruiting station.

Kimberly miss listed in edition

KIMBERLY. — Anne Sievers, Kimberly High School senior, is featured in the 1971-72 edition of "Merit's Who's Who Among American High School Students."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sievers, Kimberly, and has been active in pep club, career club, Girls' League, Civil Air Patrol and Matrons. She was Kimberly's delegate to Syringa Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Miss Sievers plans to attend Carroll College, Helena, Mont., and will major in microbiology or radiology.

POCATELLO. — Among 32 coeds pledged to social sororities during fall rush at Idaho State University are Diane Pfefferle and Elizabeth Rice, both Twin Falls; Patricia Hulse, Murtaugh; and Mary Ann Miller, Wendell.

TWIN FALLS. — A class in street spoken Spanish will be offered at the College of Southern Idaho beginning Tuesday. The course will be instructed by Bob Harris, associate professor of Spanish. The course, started here four years ago by Harris, is designed for those who have contact with the Magic Valley's Mexican-American citizens or migrant workers.

TWIN FALLS. — Twin Falls Shrine Club's regular monthly meeting will be held Monday at The Alley, Inc. Social hour is set for 7 p.m. with dinner at 7:45 p.m. Plans will be made for the auction sale and food caravan for benefit of the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children. All Shriners are welcome.

SHOSHONE. — Mrs. Virginia Larsen has purchased the South Side Market from Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guenechea. Mrs. Larsen is the former owner of the business. She took possession this week.

TWIN FALLS. — The Magic Valley Chapter of Research Society of America will meet Sept. 14 at 8 p.m. in Room 208 of the Shields Academic Building.

CSI. Dr. James Milligan, assistant professor of civil engineering at the University of Idaho, will speak on "Water Quality Problems in Idaho." Members are asked to bring a guest to the meeting.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The poet who wrote, "Beneath the budgeonings of chance, my head is bloody but unbowed," probably was not a bridge player.

If he was, he would have to be a pretty good one to keep those budgeonings from really hurting him.

West cashes two spade tricks and shifts to a diamond. South has looked over dummy by this time and seen that, assuming trumps don't break 3-0, he will be able to draw trumps, and try the club finesse for an overtrick.

He plays a high trump and budgeonings start. East shows out! He has to lose a trump trick and cannot afford to lose a club also.

If he takes the club finesse he will lose that trick but he does not have to. West has the three trumps and he can use an elimination play to catch West in an end play.

South simply takes the two high trumps and his good spade. Then he plays out the rest of the high diamonds. West's best defense is to refuse to ruff, but this does him no good. South simply throws West in with his high trump and forces West to make the losing lead of a club or spade.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to: R.D.S. Products, P.O. Box 834, Dept. 19, Del Mar, California 92014. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet is designed to do!

TF couple recites promise

FILED—Wedding vows were exchanged Aug. 25 in the First Baptist Church between Carla Hoag Obenchain and Robert Sievers, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoag, and Sievers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sievers Sr., all Twin Falls.

Rev. Roy Watson performed the marriage ceremony before background settings of an archway of lighted yellow tapers and candelabra holding lighted tapers. A wedding prayer was offered by Rev. Ernest Hasselblad, Castleford.

The bride wore a floor-length dress of white cotton sprigged with tiny pink flowers, fashioned with long sleeves. In her hair she wore pink roses with dark pink streamers. She carried a basket of mixed flowers in shades of pink and yellow, and she wore a cross, centered with a diamond, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ray Hurd, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Shanna Hurd, niece of the bride, and Timmy Sievers, brother of the bridegroom, were candelabers.

Gary Sievers, Twin Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Dick Griff and Terry Krieg. Mrs. Don Ransom was organist.

The reception table was covered with a white cloth over yellow and centered with a wedding cake loaf in yellow and topped with glimmering and daisies. Mrs. Frances Wells and Mrs. Alex Mellon cut and served the cake, and Mrs. Jennie Gartner and Mrs. Roy Gartner served punch and coffee.

Kitchen assistants were Mrs. Roy Wright, Mrs. Jon Wells and Mrs. Gordon Larsen. Joan Vincent was in charge of the guest book, and the gifts were received by Rose Miller, Jeannie Holloway and Debbie Ransom.

The couple resides in Twin Falls where the bride is employed at Crandall's Floral Shop, and the bridegroom is employed at Sears.

Mrs. Ray Hurd hosted a kitchen shower for the bride at the First Baptist Church in Filer.

Few policy changes seen on first major plan under SNRA

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Few policy changes are anticipated on the Bigwood Ski Area — the first major project to be administered under the Infant Sawtooth National Recreation Area.

According to Richard Anderson, SNRA planner, development conditions under the new U. S. Forest Service organization will be "stringent." However, he said provisions for the ski area will generally follow Sawtooth forest guidelines for such areas and will not constitute a precedence.

Anderson said deviations from the established guidelines will follow from the need to fit the policies to certain conditions present on Bigwood Mountain. Similar "tailoring" is carried out on each individual ski area project, he said.

(See related story, P.1)

Special conditions for the Bigwood project, Anderson said, will include:

- Measures to prevent erosion because of the number of springs on the site.
- Screening of the lodge and parking area at the base of the mountain as well as special efforts to save the present timber stand to preserve the scenic view from U. S. Highway 93.
- Blending of the runs onto the mountain in order to minimize their visibility from the roadway.

SNRA personnel involved in the Bigwood project, under Lynn Sprague's land use planning division, include two foresters, a landscape architect, a wildlife and fisheries biologist and a civil engineer, Anderson said. Further consultants can be obtained, if needed, through the Twin Falls, Ogden, Utah, or Washington, D. C., forest service offices, he said.

Currently, Bigwood's master plan has been approved by the SNRA. But, Anderson said specific approval and review must be obtained for each individual road, lift and run.

SNRA policies on the project are set forth in letters to Bigwood and a prospectus on the development, he said.

The prospectus was formulated about five years ago when the forest service determined that a ski area was feasible at the site and solicited bids for the project. Included in the 1970 edition are specifications for the location and types of facilities that were required of the bidder.

Specific restrictions to preserve the watershed state that stream channel banks will not be disturbed, no live trees may be cut within 20 feet of live streams, no permanent roads may be constructed within the Butterfield Creek drainage above the forks of the creek, lift line and run clearing will generally be accomplished by horse or hand logging methods.

Land shaping using heavy equipment will not be permitted on slopes over 20 per cent, lifts will be constructed, where necessary, through use of helicopters and rapid revegetation and stabilization of disturbed soil areas will be required.

Further conditions regulate slash disposal, view preservation and trail development.

Anderson said also that upon review of Bigwood's proposals on each specific project, SNRA personnel may submit additions to the plans in order to meet their requirements. SNRA review of each project may take from one to six months and is followed up by on-site inspections after construction begins, he said.

Forest service additions to each project are subject to negotiation with Bigwood, Anderson said, "but not to the point that damage to the watershed may result." He said that presently Bigwood officials are "cooperating well" with the forest service.

Under Bigwood's lease, which is granted on a year to year basis, roadwork to the permittee, the development pays a certain fee and a percentage of the gross to the government. The forest service also holds a $50,000 bond, which may be used to complete specific details, if Bigwood fails to do so, Anderson said.

Anderson said that the SNRA will also consider any public feedback on the Bigwood project. He said that public comments were solicited when the prospectus was issued and that the project plans were recently displayed at the Ketchum Ranger Station.

Speeders busy Wendell court

WENDELL — Eighty-five people were either warned or cited for speeding near Wendell grade school the last two days, according to Gooding Sheriff's Deputy Jim Burke.

Burke said he and Wendell City Police Chief Dale Bunn had been receiving numerous complaints about speeding past the school, so they requested a state patrolman with radar be stationed near the school.

The radar check ran Tuesday and Wednesday, Burke said.

Since the Idaho Highway Department has ordered the city to remove the portable warning signs previously located in the middle of the highway, Burke said, people are falling to stop for children in the crosswalks as well as speeding.

Burke said the area is well marked as a 25 m.p.h. speed zone. He said that radar would be used periodically in the future, and that patrolmen are located in their cars at the crosswalk during school hours.

He requested that parents use side streets or find parking places when loading or unloading passengers by the school. Burke said cars have been stopping in the line of traffic on the highway, causing a safety hazard.

Contract awarded at Paul

PAUL — The Paul City Council opened garbage contract bids in a meeting Wednesday night.

The contract was awarded to McIntyre Sanitary Disposal, which submitted a bid of $1.25 per month for residential pickup. Teal and Parks Sanitary companies submitted bids of $2.50 and $2.95, respectively.

Council members said the present $2 garbage pickup fee would probably be maintained due to clerical and landfill expenses.

The council also passed an ordinance requiring registration of bicycles. The registration fee will be $1.

A public meeting was scheduled at 8 p.m. Sept. 20 in the fire hall to explain the proposed sewage treatment plant and revenue bond election Oct. 3.

Gooding system said best

GOODING — Mayor Harley Crippen said Wednesday the Gooding sewer system is one of the best in the state.

He said, "We are pleased with it and it will last for a long time with only replacement of parts unless the town outgrows it."

He said the system has the capacity for population of 8,000. (Gooding is 2,700.) The sewage system was installed in 1953 at a cost of $350,000, the mayor said.

At that time Gooding was the only town in Idaho which provided both primary and secondary sewage treatment. He said the outflow of the system into the Little Wood River is 98 per cent pure.

He said the sewer creates the gas to run a gas boiler which in turn heats the digester so the plant is also self sufficient. The city has had no trouble with the system and it requires a daily check for about an hour and periodic cleanings.

According to the city engineer, Wendell Smith, a similar system installed today would cost $1.2 million.

Wendell blood drawing Tuesday

WENDELL — An appeal for blood replacement for Cherie Hobday, 20, has been made for Tuesday.

Mrs. Ivan Hobday, mother of the accident victim who lost a foot in a car-bicycle accident, said 10 pints of blood were used for Cherie during an operation in St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome and two operations in the Sun Valley Hospital.

The Wendell blood drawing conducted by the American Red Cross Blood program will be Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the American Legion Building in Wendell.

Mrs. Hobday said her daughter was injured when struck by a car as she was riding her bicycle. She was released from the Sun Valley Hospital this week and is now on crutches recuperating at home.

"We are especially grateful to those who have already donated some replacement blood for Cherie," Mrs. Hobday said, "and hope more people will take advantage of the Wendell drawing to make additional contributions on her behalf."

Mrs. Hobday said it will be several weeks yet before her daughter can be fitted for a temporary replacement for the foot she lost just above the ankle. In addition she suffered a severe break of the same leg just above the knee. The family is most appreciative of the assistance given at the accident scene, by doctors, nurses and other hospital employees, and by friends and relatives, she said.

2 TF Demos file

BOISE (UPI) — Two Twin Falls County Democrats paid $15 filing fees to the Secretary of State Wednesday to seek posts in the state legislature.

They were A. K. Reed, Filer, and Melvyn Lucas, Twin Falls, a senate hopeful from District 25.

Both were chosen to fill vacancies on the general election ballot.

Little theatre sets plays

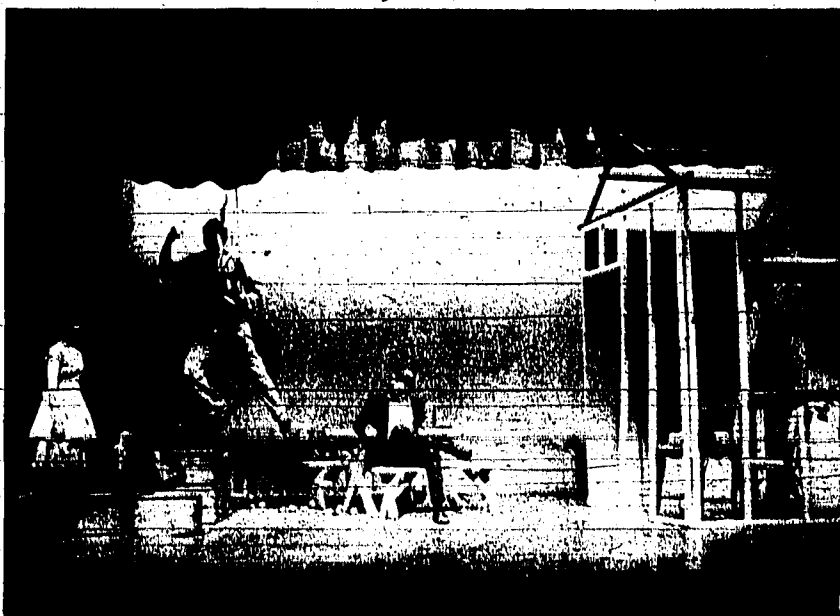

FILER — The Magic Valley Little Theatre is presenting two performances each day of the Twin Falls County Fair.

"A one-act play 'The Hanging of Abner Martin' will be presented at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. each day in the shaded area. There is no admission.

Brent Blackburn of Buhl High School drama department is director, and members of the cast include Rhonda Miracle, Pat Wentworth and Denny Wentworth, all Twin Falls. Others in the cast include Karen Dalton and Doug Garland, both Jerome, and Jack Southwick, Buhl.

Production manager is Connie Rae Lytle and Pam Neilson is stage manager. Carroll Dowd heads the construction crew, assisted by George Brown, Laurie Beal and Lisa Muldoon, all Twin Falls.

The play is a melodramatic comic comment on life using little stage setting and few props.

Judging begins for 13 Miss Rodeo contestants

TWIN FALLS — Contestants for Miss Rodeo Idaho were introduced to judges, fair officials and area residents Wednesday.

The 13 girls, each of whom has won a local contest within the state, are seeking the title currently held by Ruth Campbell, Caldwell.

Special guests at a tea held Wednesday afternoon for the girls were Miss Rodeo America, Susan Merrill, Ogden, Utah, and Miss Campbell.

Fred Wanzner, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the contestants, their parents and guests to Twin Falls. Harold O. Hove, chairman of the Twin Falls County Fair board also extended greetings to the competitors.

Gene Hall, chairman of the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest, outlined the competition schedule and rules.

Hall is being assisted by Mrs. Jerry James, Jerome, former Miss Rodeo America, and Mrs. Dean Vickers, Twin Falls.

Hopsemanship judges are Loren Butler, Glendora, Calif.; Katy Sevy, Sun Valley, and Lana Brackenbury, Jerome, 1971 Miss Rodeo America. Personality judges are Chon Cooper, Shoshone; Susan Hutchison, Twin Falls, and Sharon Davis, Jerome, Miss Twin Falls.

Appearance judges are Carolyn Cornell, Wallace, former Miss Rodeo Idaho; Joyce Ostyn, Twin Falls, and Ruth Miller, Times-News staff writer, Twin Falls.

The contest ends Saturday night when the new Miss Rodeo Idaho will be crowned during the final performance of the rodeo.

Albion will trim trees

ALBION — The Albion City Council hired Kidd's Tree Service, Declo, to trim trees at least five feet from power lines.

Lynn Teeples, Oregon Trail Festival of Arts, met Tuesday night with the council to discuss regulations limiting number and type of animals within the city limits.

The number of required signatures has been obtained on a petition to the City Council requesting that Park and Sons pick up garbage at individual residences. The council is taking the matter under advisement.

Ed Robinson, new city marshal, recommended that a new dog leash law adopted by the council, pertaining to dog licensing and impounding be adopted by the council.

Robinson was instructed by the council to check with the Burley dogcatchers and the Humane Society, and report back to the next council meeting.

A way to stop the noise problem at the city park was then suggested by Robinson. He recommended the city establish a 10 p.m. or dark closing time, and $35 deposit for groups wanting to use the park, which would be refunded if the park was left in good condition.

Robinson also requested an ordinance be adopted to license bicycles, so a record would be available at city hall for identifying stolen bicycles by their serial numbers.

Robinson, who is also city electrician, told the council he has found some electrical meters which are operating too fast or too slow and he is checking the meters as time permits. Several traffic warnings have been issued, he said, and starting Sunday, citations will be issued to all offenders.

Mayor Odeen Redman said he will discuss the legal matters brought up by Robinson with city Attorney Herman Bedke, and report on them at the next meeting.

Open house set Sunday for Rupert Youth Ranch

RUPERT — An open house will be held Sunday at the Idaho Youth Ranch northeast of here.

Lee Childs, executive director of the ranch, has extended an invitation to the public to attend the open house and visit the ranch facilities and inspect first hand the homes, work and education programs of the ranch.

It is located on Highway 24, 15 miles northeast of Rupert and can be reached by traveling east on Highway 24 to 400 East then north on 400 East for 10 miles.

Childs said the ranch is operated on private donations and provides home like facilities for young boys who are not able to function in their own homes because of neglect, abuse or abandonment.

From such situations, he said, delinquency frequently develops. Some of the young men at the ranch have been involved in delinquency charges but were found rehabilitable and suitable to the environment provided by the ranch.

Childs said for the first time the Youth Rehabilitation Department now makes a small amount of money available to assist with the program but most of it still comes from private donations.

Childs said some people have misunderstood comments of Dr. James A. Bax, head of the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health in which he indicated the Youth Ranch would be used by the department as an alternate to the state training school.

He said Youth Rehabilitation boys have been received at the ranch for some time and no change is being made, other than some state funds will be available on such cases in the future.

MÜNICH (UPI) —The United States' lost a gold medal in Olympic swimming without a splash Wednesday while most of the 121 nations in the Games took a breather on the official "day of mourning."

Avery Brundage, the outgoing president of the International Olympic Committee, along with West German President Gustav Heinemann, Will Drueme of the host organizing committee and Israeli Ambassador to West Germany Ben Horan, led a touching memorial service for 11 dead Israeli team members in the morning and the Games resumed in the afternoon.

Much of the day was devoted to mourning the victims of the Munich massacre. The Netherlands lost its bronze in the cycling event because one of the team members — Aad Van den Hoek — didn't pass the doping test.

Brundage, who retires as IOC president with the ending of these Games, announced during the memorial service that the decision had been made to continue, but the Games would be extended a day through Sept. 11.

Earlier, Ken Treadway, team manager from Bartlesville, Okla., said the Medical Commission was told before the Games that DeMont took medication for his asthma condition containing the stimulant ephedrine.

But de Merode, while sympathizing with DeMont, said that was not true. He also said someone (unnamed) on the American delegation should be reprimanded.

The loss of the medal still left the United States in front in the team chase, but reduced its overall gold harvest from 25 to 24 and in swimming golds from 14 to 13.

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa State football coach Johnny Majors said Wednesday his team is "nowhere near ready" for the season opener against Colorado State.

Majors, obviously discontented over the early showings by the Cyclones, said, "It's a good thing we have two weeks to get ready," before Iowa State encounters Colorado State Sept. 16.

"We are nowhere near ready to play Colorado State," Majors said. "We have a lot of work to do before we play anyone."

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—The Soviet National team fought back from a two-goal deficit Wednesday night to salvage a 4-4 tie with Team Canada in the third match of their eight-game series.

Canada dropped the opener to the Soviets Saturday 7-3; but came back to defeat the visitors 4-1 Monday.

A record crowd of 10,600 crowded the Winnipeg arena to watch the Soviets rebound from the two-goal deficit on second-period goals by Yuri Lebedev and Alexander Bodunov. Vladimir Petrov and Valery Kharlamov scored the other Soviet goals.

Phil Esposito and Paul Henderson. Team Canada went ahead 2-1 in the first period on goals by Parise at 1:54 and Ratelle with 90 seconds remaining in the period. Esposito made it 3-1 for Team Canada at the 4:19 mark of the second and it appeared the NHL All-Stars were enroute to another victory.

The Soviets began to roll at the 12:56 mark of the second when Kharlamov slammed in their second goal. Henderson gave Canada a two-goal lead at 13:47 when he slammed it home on a pass from Ron Ellis.

Utah contract

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Merv Jackson, a 6-foot-3 guard sidelined last season with a knee injury, Wednesday signed a new contract with the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association.

The pact ended 23 months of negotiations between the former University of Utah basketball ace and the Stars. It had been speculated Jackson would jump to the National Basketball Association when his option with Utah ran out this fall.

MUNICH (UPI) — Staff Sgt. Jesse Valdez of Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., clinched an Olympic bronze medal Wednesday night in the welterweight division with a unanimous decision over Russian southpaw Anatoly Khoklov.

The 25-year-old Valdez, a native of Houston, gained the votes of all five judges although two scored the fight even, but gave the advantage on style to the American.

Valdez also from Hamilton Air Force Base, was the first American to advance to the semifinals with a 3-2 decision over Russia's Vassil Solomon.

There was little effective punching in a fight that saw the 22-year-old American putting the pressure on the 10-year-old Russian who boxed with upright orthodox, using a flicking left jab and a straight right counter punch.

Carreras of New York City.

Cheered on by the capacity crowd of 5,000, Valdez substituted his speed and skill for brawling. It proved to be the right thing to do. He moved inside and slammed nonstop lefts and rights to the Russian's head and body.

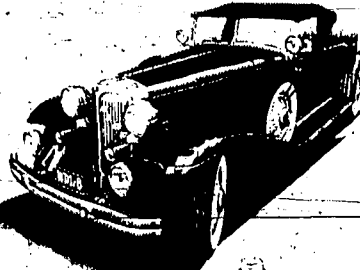

-He hurt his taller opponent several times. -The score was

In the semifinals, Valdez will clash with a 19-year-old Cuban, Emilio Correa, who gained a split decision over West German Guenter Meier.

The diagram illustrates the experimental setup. A participant is seated at a table, looking at a video screen. On the table, there is a horizontal bar with a vertical rod attached to it. The rod is connected to a motor that can move it horizontally. The participant's task is to move the rod to a target position on the screen. The setup is used to study the relationship between the visual feedback (video screen) and the actual movement (rod position).

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1972.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make sure you don't borrow or lend today and that you avoid taking chances where there is risk of getting in trouble. The latter part of the day becomes improved and you are able to organize your duties so they are better performed. Be exact.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A day to do your work in a most conscientious fashion, whether at home or at place of business. Taking health treatments now can give you more energy for activities in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you take professional beauty treatments now you will make yourself more attractive. The evening is excellent for attending social affairs you enjoy. Avoid a false friend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Spend time adding needed appliances in the home. A good time to entertain lightly in the evening. Have a happy time with kin. Don't forget to pay an important bill.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There are some stumbling blocks in your path of progress. Remove them and you get ahead much faster. Spend time with fascinating associates. Don't neglect to handle correspondence.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Pay more attention to the practical side of your existence now and use more efficient methods in the future. Listen to what a financial expert has to say, but don't take any risks.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) The morning could be frustrating but later all smooths out with conditions becoming favorable to you. Entertain those persons who understand your ideas and position. Avoid gossip.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Eliminate any obstacles that stand in the way of your progress and then you can get ahead very quickly. Seek the romantic side of life tonight, after an interesting but trying day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can now engage in fascinating hobbies and other pleasures with good friends during spare time, but don't spend too much money. Handle those important business matters. Use wisdom.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Use care in handling outside matters and you can expect excellent results. Show others that you are a very good citizen. Engage in community activities and gain added prestige.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) The morning is dull doing regular routines but later you can engage in new activities that are fascinating. A deeper study of facts and figures is necessary at this time.

AQUARIAN (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handling obligations efficiently—early in the day is wise. Your hunches are prompting you to take part in afternoon activities. Show more devotion to mate this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to straighten out a situation with a close the early and you get good results later. Taking care of civic work will improve your image. Don't go slumming tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has a strong desire to do for others, but finds it difficult to know what to do for self. Be sure to give as fine an education as you can and direct it toward the most humanitarian activities for greatest satisfaction and success in life. A fine family person in this chart. Sports are very important here.

Excellent thing parents can't choose the sex of their expected child, that's clear. If they could, studies show, there'd be a surplus of at least 300,000 boys a year around here.

YOU KNOW, there are a lot of penguins alive in the wilds, that have never seen any ice whatsoever. One such sort is called the Australian fairy. Pretty little thing.

YOUNG follow, if the folks object to your interest in the guitar, ease their minds. Advise them surveys show the guitar is by far the most popular instrument in the nation's penal institutions.

ARTISTS

That mythical Greek Oedipus inadvertently killed his own father, then unwittingly married his own mother. This was contrary to the custom of the time. When he finally found out that the man he'd murdered was his dad and the woman he'd wed was his mom, he got pretty badly shook up. Today many a lad who loves his mother but not his father is described as the possessor of an Oedipus complex.

Likewise, many a girl who loves her father but not her mother. All of this is merely preliminary to the report that said complex is known to be a common affliction among geniuses. For instance, Michelangelo, da Vinci, Dostoevsky, Sarah Bernhardt, Colette and Emily Dickinson. That's all for today on the oddball deviations of artists. But don't miss next week's class on kings and bed wetting.

IN AN interview at the Bellevue Medical Center, one Dr. James J. Smith has been quoted as saying "Baldness is rare among alcoholics, who often become prematurely gray, and generally do not have much body hair."

Q. "How come Monday, is the traditional closing day for beauty parlors?"

A. "Don't know, maybe it's hopeless—Mondays. Quite right, though, that's the occupational custom worldwide."

Q. "CORN-HUSKING on these big mid-west farms, is that much work or woman's?"

A. "Depends on exactly where. In Europe, it's a woman's job. In Jackson Wis., it's a man's."

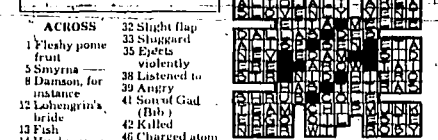

YOU'VE seen those Japanese wind chimes no doubt. Pieces of glass hung together in such a manner they tinkle when the breeze blows through them. And you've seen strings of Chinese brass bells, too. I imagine, but did you know these chimes and bells were regarded in the Orient as the world's first air conditioners? Dangline, in windows, they're set to ringing by any little old zephyr. And when residents thereby hear them start up, they tend to feel cooler. Just a trick of the mind. But it works.
