

Valley's child aid caseload rockets

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Aid to Dependent Children, public assistance's most controversial program, shows a Magic Valley caseload increase of 37.7 per cent from June, 1971, to March, 1972.

The eight-month increase was well above the statewide increase during that period.

Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee, who released the statistics, said they demonstrate the complexity of the situation facing officials and legislators.

According to Barker, the number of people receiving ADC support in Twin Falls County rose 33.5 per cent during the period. Cassia County rose 50.5 per cent, and Gooding rose a staggering 124 per cent.

The increase in the valley is reflective of the situation statewide, although the jump is larger. Cases across Idaho increased at a rate of 25.6 per cent during the same June, 1971, to March, 1972, period.

In Twin Falls, Theo Murdock, eligibility director for the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services for Region V, said officials are confused about the rapid rate of increase, and have conducted a study to determine the causes.

According to Murdock, there are several possible causes.

The first is a Supreme Court decision waiving residency requirements for Aid to Dependent Children assistance checks. The effect of the decision was to enable women receiving the assistance checks to travel more freely throughout the country.

According to Barker's figures, Idaho has the third highest average monthly support checks in the seven intermountain states.

The average monthly per child payment was pegged at $59.97 during the period of the increase, compared to a high of $66.43 in Wyoming and a low of Nevada's $34.83. These figures compare to the national average, according to Barker's statistics, of $51.43 per month per child.

Murdock also speculated that while part of the increase in the area is due to migration from other states, an additional factor may be the general increased awareness on the part of citizens concerning what is available to them through federal and state programs.

He also speculated that there was "general lessening of the stigma" attached to receiving public assistance.

The rate of divorce, generally high in the area, may also account for the increase, he said. He also said the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services conducted a study during the early summer to attempt to pinpoint the reasons for the increase.

The study data in Twin Falls and the surrounding area was gathered by Denny Almquist, who said today he had interviewed about 85 Aid to Dependent Children recipients from the regional area.

In Boise, SRS's director of research, Richard Atwood, said the study would be completed in a few weeks. He said the questions on the survey were designed to determine whether the recipients were from within Idaho or had migrated, among other information.

Murdock said Wednesday part of the increase could probably be explained by normal migration of persons seeking work in the agricultural industries in the Magic Valley.

He said persons from Utah, which pays an average of $61.20 in its public assistance checks per month per child, would seek work in the processing plants in the Burley area. If there were too great a supply of prospective employees, though, the result could be an increased aid to dependents workload case.

Increases for the other Magic Valley counties, according to the figures, are as follows: Jerome County, 15.7 per cent; Minidoka County, 35.8 per cent; Lincoln County, 38.5 per cent; Blaine County, 25.0 per cent; Camas County, an increase from no Aid to Dependent Children cases to two.

Other average monthly checks from surrounding states include Oregon $48.86; Montana, $47.34; Washington, $64.67.

Murdock's figures, however, show no definite correlation between the size of the checks and the total percentage of children under 18 years of age receiving the assistance.

Non-gas stinks, TF region finds

TWIN FALLS — A "gas smell" is not always gas. At least it wasn't here Wednesday night.

An odor identified as natural gas covered much of the Twin Falls area Wednesday evening, and was particularly noticeable on the east side of town. But it was not gas, only an "odorizer" which is added to lines carrying the fuel.

Robert Peterson, division manager for Intermountain Gas Co., Twin Falls, said the problem stemmed from the company's odorizer equipment at its border distribution station south of Twin Falls.

Peterson said the equipment which places the odorizing chemical into the gas broke down, springing a leak and releasing the chemical. The additive is placed in gas lines to enable company workmen to detect leaks in lines.

Peterson said no gas escaped and the odorizer posed no danger to people in the area.

Company crews repaired the equipment and stopped the leaking chemical. Peterson said the odor should disperse. He said he had visited the area in which the smell was noticeable and had not detected any trace of it.

The chemical is used by most gas distribution companies in their lines, Peterson said.

Senators vote to end arms control squabble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted today to halt its month-long squabble over the new Soviet-American arms control agreement and put the ratification issue to a vote, possibly by nightfall.

The move was a tactical defeat for arms control advocates fighting a White House-backed amendment they claimed would jeopardize further negotiations with the Russians and sour the atmosphere of détente.

A leadership move to impose closure — limiting further debate on the issue to one hour per Senator — mustered the necessary two-thirds vote, on the first try, a very rare occurrence.

This cleared the way for an immediate showdown on an amendment by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a bitter opponent of the arms agreement, demanding "equality" in the size and numbers of missiles deployed by both sides when a permanent treaty is negotiated to replace the five-year arms agreement.

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee from both parties fought the Jackson amendment, contending it would create a rigid condition for the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) when they resume this fall.

But the White House backed the Jackson amendment and the Washington senator collected 44 co-sponsors, most of them Republicans, even though he was sharply critical of the agreement.

The five-year pact would, for the first time, place strict limits on the numbers of missile launchers each side could deploy through 1977, although leaving both superpowers free to develop better and more destructive weapons.

While giving the Soviets a decided edge in numbers and megatonnage of missiles, the pact retained a U.S. technological advantage, including the ability to cluster several warheads in a single nose cone.

China buys US wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government said today about 15 million bushels of American wheat has been bought by mainland China. The announcement came as the administration defended before Congress as beneficial to all Americans its 400 million bushel wheat deal with Russia.

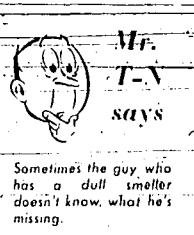

The Export Marketing Service of the Agriculture Department, in announcing the wheat sales to China, did not spell out the details of who handled them or how. It simply said documents received on export payment registrations showed the deal had been made.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who has been engaging in a heated, long-range debate over the Soviet sales in recent days with Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern, was called as the first witness at a House hearing on the Soviet sales, called by Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex.

Butz testified that the sale benefits farmers by higher prices, taxpayers by producing a $200 million net reduction in farm costs, and labor by creating new jobs.

But, apparently referring to charges by McGovern and some other Democrats that grain dealers had reaped a windfall at the expense of American consumers, Butz said the deal was being jeopardized by "biased political manipulations."

Compromise given nod

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today split the difference with President Nixon on his veto of a budget-busting $30.5 billion money bill for labor, school, health and welfare purposes.

It approved a compromise bill that had been trimmed by $935 million from the original version but which still exceeded the President's budget request by $335 million.

S. Viet force captures wall

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese marines, in a daring daylight attack, stormed and captured part of the south wall of the Quang Tri Citadel today. They charged yelling, hurling hand grenades and firing point blank at the North Vietnamese under cover of fire from five tanks.

UPI reporter Ted Kurrus, who climbed up under fire with the 50 attacking marines, said that by nightfall the marines had secured a 250-yard section of the wall — about half of it. The attack left the North Vietnamese with one line of escape and supply and B52s heavily bombed that route outside the city.

The sudden charge under covering tank fire gave the marines positions on three sides of the 50-acre Citadel which is the heart of Quang Tri City, the only province capital to fall in the Communist 1972 offensive.

Gem air standard endorsed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's proposed air quality standards will provide cleaner air sooner for the Kellogg area than will proposed federal regulations, Dr. James A. Bax, administrator of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health, said at a hearing here this morning.

"The federal Environmental Protection Agency's proposal on sulfur dioxide emissions is not acceptable to us," Bax said in a prepared statement read by his assistant administrator, A. J. Elgren.

Bax said his department would not support the extension of time granted the Bunker Hill Co. smelter complex in Kellogg under the proposed federal regulations, giving the company until 1977 to meet federal standards.

Nixon panel sues Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's campaign committee has filed a $2.5 million countersuit against the Democrats, alleging that the Democrats' bugging charges were aimed at capturing newspaper headlines.

The GOP suit, filed in the U.S. District Court Wednesday, charged invasion of privacy and violation of 1st Amendment rights. It also said the Democrats were using the taking of depositions as a means of making accusations that would constitute libel if published without benefit of the court proceedings.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, campaign manager for Sen. George S. McGovern, was named in the suit. O'Brien was Democratic national chairman and principal plaintiff when the Democrats filed their $1 million suit against the five bugging suspects.

The five, including two who had received funds from President Nixon's re-election committee, were arrested on burglary charges June 17 during an alleged attempt to plant electronic surveillance equipment inside Democratic national headquarters.

In other developments Wednesday — The Democrats reported finding another purported bug, "a small black device," in the telephone of Spencer Oliver.

executive director of the State Chairman's Association of the Democratic National Committee. Last week the Democrats found a "little red box," allegedly for electronic surveillance.

—Mafrice Stans, finance chairman of Nixon's re-election committee, dismissed as "politically motivated" a House Banking Committee report that Stans had knowledge of $100,000 in Mexican funds illegally transferred to Nixon's campaign fund.

Cassia Senior Citizen fund compromise offered by aide

By DAVID HOFFMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The deputy director of the Idaho Office on Aging Wednesday proposed a compromise in the tangled dispute over Senior Citizen funding in Cassia County.

Will Overgaard, speaking before the Cassia County Commission, suggested the Senior Citizens in the area, who have sought to disassociate their organization from the South Central Community Action Agency, accept "delegate agency" status for the current fiscal year.

Under the arrangement Overgaard proposed, the officials of the Senior Citizens in the Burley area and officials of the CAA in Twin Falls would draft an agreement establishing the terms of their relationship.

If accepted by the disputing sides, Overgaard's proposal could untie a knot that has left the CAA unable to receive funds it has been awarded for the fiscal year and the Senior Citizens without any money except for the little they could raise locally.

Overgaard said the new group could adopt a delegate agency status within the framework of the South Central Community Action Agency or could follow through with a petition for complete disjunction from the agency.

He said the latter alternative would exclude any immediate federal funding of the Burley group, whereas the former would allow a more autonomous stance while retaining the federal grant.

Complete separation from the CAA would make the senior citizens entirely dependent on local funding, according to Overgaard.

He said his position was irrevocable since he had signed a notification of grant award in June allotting $67,000 to the South Central CAA for use in five senior citizen projects in Jerome, Twin Falls and Cassia counties.

The Burley group's share of that amount was $18,000, he said, which is being held by the IOGA until action is taken on the group's petition.

Overgaard said that the money is committed to the South Central CAA as grantee, and must be routed through that agency.

Betty Blet, coordinator for the group (now called the Senior Citizens Recreation Center — Cassia County), responded negatively to Overgaard's proposal of maintaining CAA ties. She said, "We don't want the dictatorship we have had in the past."

Panel OK's new home loan plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Banking Committee approved today, by a 14-13 vote, a proposal to provide a new program of direct government loans to moderate income families who cannot get mortgage loans for homes.

Eligible for loans under the $10 million pilot program would be families with a total yearly income of less than $15,000 who were qualified credit risks but could not get loans because of the tight money market.

TF Demo's name still on ballot

TWIN FALLS — Golden Bennett, who wants to drop his Democratic candidacy for Twin Falls prosecuting attorney, learned Wednesday he was still a "bona fide candidate."

Harold Lancaster, county clerk and the county's chief election officer, told Bennett in a letter, "I have gone over the election law and find no provision therein for a candidate to withdraw; I also called the secretary of state's office and talked to Mr. Jerry Hill, who is a deputy, and he agrees that the legislature made no provisions for withdrawal of a candidate."

But, Lancaster continued in his letter to the Twin Falls attorney, "If you are determined to not have your name on the November ballot, you should give official notice to the chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, who will in turn notify me as chief county election official."

Bennett, who ran unopposed in the August primary election to oppose Republican Robert Galley in the November election, announced abruptly three weeks after the primary that he wanted to quit the race.

At the time, he notified Lancaster by mail of his intentions. Lancaster's letter

Wednesday was in response to Bennett's original notification, in which he asked for advice for steps necessary for withdrawal.

But Lancaster said Wednesday it was not clear under the law how a candidate could withdraw, and Jerry Hill, a deputy secretary of state, said Bennett's action was unprecedented under the newly revised election laws.

Hill said he was "unable to find any code section that speaks" to the withdrawal of a candidate, but he emphasized that he had made only a "perfunctory examination of the law governing elections."

Hill said the legislature had made a major revision of the election laws in 1970, with minor changes coming during the last two legislative sessions.

Bennett said today he would respond to Lancaster's letter by giving Vincent Smazal, county Democratic chairman, official notice of his desire to withdraw. Smazal would then presumably notify Lancaster, who would request a directive from the secretary of state's office on how to drop Bennett's name from the ballot.

The secretary of state's office would then request the office of the attorney general for assistance in drawing up its directive, according to Hill.

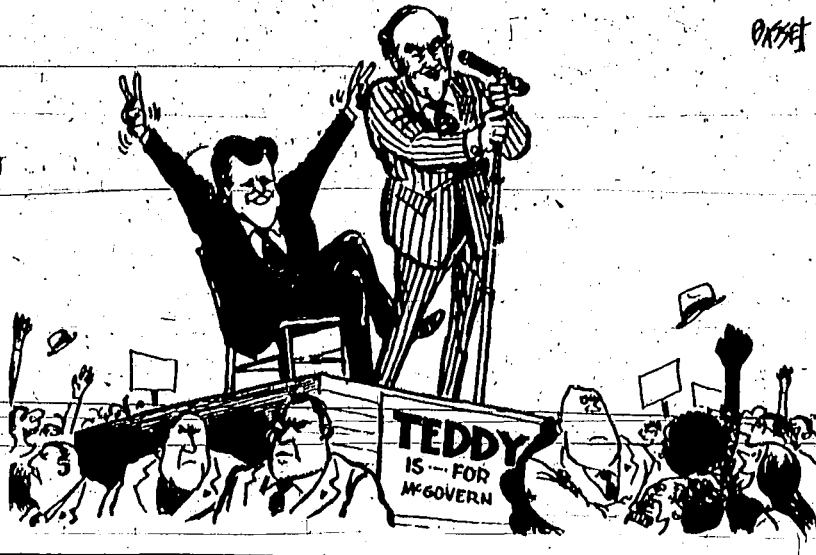

Gem opposition to gun control asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. McClure Wednesday asked all Idahoans opposed to federal gun controls to join him in a mass petition drive to stop the latest move in Congress.

McClure said the present bill to restrict sale and ownership of "Saturday night specials" has been misrepresented to the American public. In reality, he said, it is a dangerous step toward dismantling lawabiding citizens.

"As I have said many times before, the question of gun control should be left to the states," McClure said.

"I'm overjoyed to see my campaign finally catching fire."

Elected

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Idaho Falls Attorney Dennis Olson has defeated County Clerk Keith Long in an election to reclaim the chairmanship of the Bonneville County Republican Central Committee.

Olson originally lost his chairmanship to Wally Burns at a reorganizational meeting following the August 8 primary election.

But the next day, Burns refused the office and first vice chairman Roy Hall temporarily assumed the head post.

Arabs used Red weapons

BONN (UPI)—The Bavarian State Justice Ministry said today the weapons used by Palestinian guerrillas in the kidnapping of 11 Israeli athletes in Munich were of Russian make, not American.

"The story from Cairo about the terrorists getting their weapons from an American soldier is not true," a ministry spokesman said.

"The machineguns used were the Russian model AK-47 and the ammunition was of the Kalashnikov brand," he said.

Federal security experts were meeting in continuous session today to work out details for the formation of a counter-terrorist police unit, the Federal Interior Ministry said.

Interior Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher announced the government's decision to establish such a special police unit late Wednesday night.

"The Killer Troops?" questioned the newspaper Nordrhein-Zellung in an editorial today.

The Interior Ministry said the nationwide investigation of all Arabs living in West Germany was continuing. It said there were 58,820 Arab citizens living in West Germany and that another 10,000 were thought to be living here illegally.

Libyan Ambassador Jalal Mohamed Gaghely protested the crackdown on Arabs and said, "we view this undifferentiated treatment of all Arabs by the German authorities with consternation."

He said five Libyan citizens just released from a hospital in Bonn were forced to wait for hours Wednesday at Frankfurt's Rhein-Main airport before being allowed to fly home even though the Embassy had vouchsafed for them and paid for their medical treatment.

Doors reopen

BONN (UPI)—West Germany and Poland today re-established diplomatic relations for the first time since World War II.

A joint communique was issued at the end of a two-day visit to Bonn by a Polish delegation headed by Foreign Minister Stefan Olszowski.

The communique said the two sides had decided to establish embassies in Bonn and Warsaw, effective today. It said ambassadors would be named "without delay."

Citizen 'hopelessness' scored

HAILEY — "Utter hopelessness" of the average citizen in maintaining self-determination in the face of massive federal bureaucracy was scored in Hailey Tuesday by State Sen. John Peavey.

Peavey, a Republican from Rupert and Carey, told a gathering of the St. Charles Council of Catholic women "the hundreds of thousands of rules and regulations of the federal government keep the common person completely mired down in a gigantic web of red tape."

He said the national government generates 50 pages of records annually for every U.S. citizen.

"The people usually get the kind of government they deserve and if they take an interest they will get a good government," Peavey said. He said he was encouraged by the evidence that more people are becoming interested in government and starting to pay attention.

Peavey predicted this renewed interest would reverse the trend of allowing power to flow from Washington, D. C., and said he hoped for a regeneration in the quality and aggressiveness of local and state government.

people paying the bills can see to it that they get a dollars worth of service for a dollar spent," he said.

"Problem: solving on this level can be influenced by interested groups of people. The

Reservations due

JEROME — Jerome County residents who wish to reserve a specific license plate number may do so Friday morning.

According to Howard Jepson, county assessor, residents may begin reserving the plates at 8:30 a.m. Friday at the Jerome County Courthouse.

"The plates will be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis, issued from Sept. 15 to Nov. 1," Jepson said.

He said a service fee of $1 will be charged, and as elsewhere in the valley, the reserved number must end in the same number as the current plate, according to the staggered licensing system.

Minidoka Demo backs holdback

RUPERT — District 21 senatorial candidate Bill Whitton Wednesday announced his support of Gov. Cecil Andrus' 1.9 per cent general fund spending holdback.

The Rupert Democrat met that day with State Auditor Joe Williams. He said his decision to support the holdback was primarily a result of that talk.

Whitton said, "The state is $5 million more in the red than it was last year at the end of August. According to the state constitution, the maximum debt the state can incur is $1 million in bonded indebtedness. As I see it, the governor had two choices — he could have called a special legislative session to gain more tax revenue or he could do what executive order to cut back spending."

Whitton said "The biggest problem I see is that the Republican controlled legislature appropriated more money for expenditure than they had revenue coming in. They anticipated revenues that haven't come through."

When asked about the recent Idaho Board of Education certification of $18,000 to be collected in the Minidoka School District to offset the holdback, Whitton said, "I plan to discuss this matter with the governor this week. If I find that the holdback is detrimental to education, I will recommend exceptions to the rule."

TF Demo chief blasts solons

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Democratic Chairman Vincent Sinazat Wednesday accused two legislators of "nothing but partisan politics" in their budget dispute with Gov. Andrus.

Speaking of Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, Sinazat said, "They are putting politics way ahead of the needs of the people."

The two lawmakers, co-chairman of the Joint Fiscal Budget Committee, last week asked Andrus to rescind his 1.9 per cent general fund agency spending holdback. They said it was premature, and added the economic future in the state was "tremendously optimistic."

2 Jerome residents injured in mishap

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jenks, Sr., Wendell, are listed in good condition today at St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenks were hospitalized Wednesday afternoon following a two-car accident two miles south and two miles west of Jerome on the Bob Barton Highway.

Also hospitalized and listed in good condition was Don Thibault, Jerome, driver of the other vehicle.

Sheriff Pat Burns said that Thibault was headed west when Jenks, who was headed east, apparently turned left in front of him. Thibault was unable to avoid the collision.

Jenks' son and daughter-in-law and grandchildren were riding in his car, and were treated and released from St. Benedict's Hospital for minor injuries.

Burns said Jenks' car was destroyed, and an estimated $1,750 damage was done to Thibault's pickup truck.

Health budgeting tops county meet

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District county commissioners are expected to discuss public health budgeting and pending land use legislation in Jerome Tuesday.

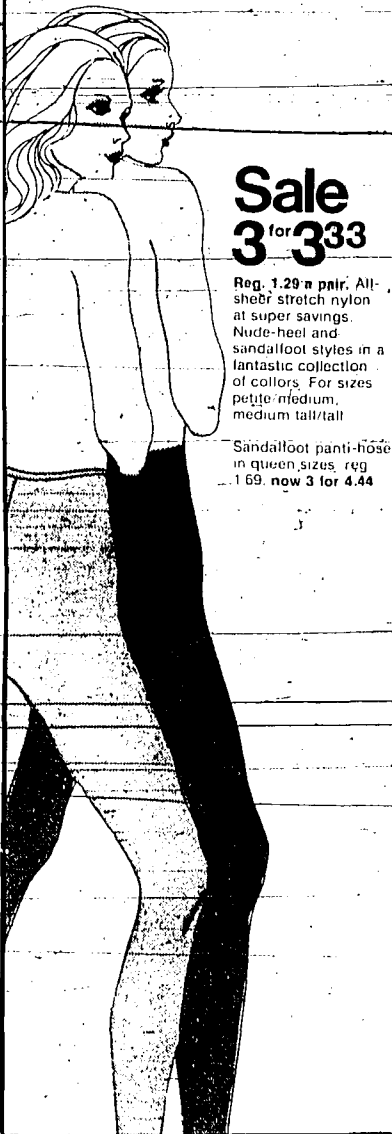

William L. Chancey, chairman of the Twin Falls County commissioners, said commissioners of the district will discuss proposals to be submitted during the state convention Sept. 27 through 29 in Idaho Falls.

He said the proposed health budget which would increase county assessment from $1.66 to $2.25 per capita per county and would mean a major increase for more populated counties such as Twin Falls, will also be discussed.

Commissioners, working with county assessors and clerks, are proposing county wide reclassification of land use which could establish land use on a permanent basis and eliminate the need for the continuous reappraisal program on all property within each county. The program runs continuously and gives each piece of property a new appraisal each five years.

Chancey said this, for example, costs Twin Falls county about $75,000 to $80,000 per year and most counties do not feel there are sufficient changes in use, improvements or values to make the present system beneficial.

Valley GOP hopefuls at seminar

TWIN FALLS — Over 25 Magic Valley Republican candidates and campaign assistants turned out Wednesday night for a Republican National Committee-sponsored campaign seminar.

The four-hour session, conducted by Ralph H. Andrews, National committee director of education and training, centered around campaign organization, manpower utilization, fund raising, media relations and advertising and campaign research on a candidate's opposition.

The meeting, the second in a series of five to be conducted across the state, was attended by nearly all the Republican legislative candidates from across the valley, including the six office seekers from Twin Falls County. Men and women running for county offices also attended.

In an interview earlier in the day, Andrews said the national committee was concentrating its campaign strategy on electing Republicans to state and local office, and leaving the attempt to win re-election for President Nixon and Vice President Agnew to the Committee to Re-elect the President.

Andrews and Marjorie Minor, Republican state chairwoman, emphasized that the state party organization had invited Andrews to visit the state. As part of its effort to "build the party from the bottom up," Andrews said, a notebook had been printed compiling the material he presented to the candidates at the seminar.

For states which don't invite the party officials to address candidates, he said, the material is still available to them through the notebooks.

Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise and state Republican executive secretary, said the grass roots effort would pay off in Idaho and allow the party to add to its majority in both houses of the state legislature. He predicted Republicans would retain control of the state senate, increasing its numerical advantage from three seats to five, and also predicted about a nine-man edge in the state house of representatives.

Cong demands rejected

PARIS (UPI)—The United States today rejected a Viet Cong demand to control one-third of a peace cabinet in South Vietnam as a scheme to first emasculate the Saigon regime and then impose Communism on the population without even an election.

U.S. negotiator William J. Porter charged at today's 159th Vietnam peace talks session that the Communists, in their 1971 peace plan reworded and republished Sept. 11, wanted the United States to dismantle the South Vietnamese regime before they would agree to negotiate with its remnants.

"Specifically," Porter said, "the changes you demand before you will agree to such negotiations include the release of all North Vietnamese and Viet Cong prisoners of war and civilians detained for crimes against the state, and a total change of the policy of the emascualated Saigon government thus created."

Salgon negotiator Pham Dang Lam also brushed aside the plan which urges the creation of a "national concord" cabinet as did the July 1971 peace plan.

One-third of the seats would be held by the Viet Cong, one third by the Saigon administration after president Nguyen Dan Thieu's dismissal, while the remaining third would be men chosen jointly by the Communists and Saigon.

"No one is deceived by this formula which poorly conceals your unchanged design to seize power in South Vietnam immediately or in stages, by force or by devious means, and to place the whole of Vietnam under the rule of the Hanoi Communist regime," Lam said.

Both Lam and Porter said the Viet Cong represented a tiny fraction of the South Vietnamese public and was not entitled to one-third of a coalition cabinet.

Labelling the Viet Cong demands "preconditions," Porter said they would determine South Vietnam's future without free elections.

Porter said that in addition to taking one-third of the cabinet seats, the Communists wanted to name half of the neutral element, raise your effective participation at least to the 50 per cent level," Porter said.

Porter remarked that the Viet Cong might exert a veto against neutral men nominated by the Saigon third.

"As the North Vietnamese army would, under your proposals, still be involved at that juncture in all-out military activities in the south, one can reasonably judge that your influence on the unarmed neutral element of your proposed government would indeed be considerable," the U.S. envoy said.

Porter said dismantling of the Saigon regime along Communist demands would leave it rudderless.

Koreans reach accord

SEOUL (UPI)—South and North Korean Red Cross officials announced today they had reached agreement on dates for future talks in Pyongyang and Seoul to reunite millions of separated family members in divided Korea.

They said the next full-dress meeting would be held in Pyongyang Oct. 24 with Seoul using the fourth round Nov. 22.

The delegation leaders from both sides also signed a document providing for further discussion of the agenda already agreed on for reuniting the separated families. The agreement brought to a successful conclusion the second full-scale meeting in Seoul that ended in deadlock Wednesday when the North Koreans insisted on having political representatives at future meetings. The first round of talks was held in Pyongyang Sept. 20.

WILLIAM BOYD ... 'Hoppy' dies

Western TV star, 74, dies

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—There have been 18 different Tarzans, six Lone Rangers, two Supermen, three sets of Batmen and Robins and a litter of Lassies.

"But there could be only one Hopalong."

William Boyd, who made Hopalong Cassidy a fixture of the early days of television, died late Tuesday night. He was 74.

Boyd was the first of the western actors to foresee the riches that could be made in television, and parlayed a series of cheap movies made years before into one of television's biggest hits worth millions of dollars.

He so identified the black-clad, silver-haired Hopalong with himself that no other actor could take over, and after he retired he refused to give interviews, for fear children would see he was not the saintly knight of the sagebrush he played.

Funeral services will be private. He was survived by his widow, former actress Grace Bradley, his fourth wife.

A spokesman for South Coast Community Hospital, where Boyd had been under care since June, said he died of a combination of Parkinson's disease and heart failure.

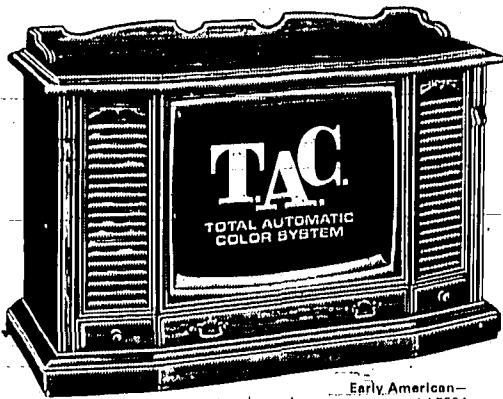

After brief stardom as a romantic leading man in the 1920s under Cecil B. DeMille (who was struck by Boyd's gleaming, prematurely white hair), Boyd's career ran downhill in expensive-living and gambling debts.

He was broke in 1940 when he already saw the potential in the television market, and obtained the rights to 66 quickie movies he made, starting in 1935. The movies featured the exploits of a character named Hopalong Cassidy.

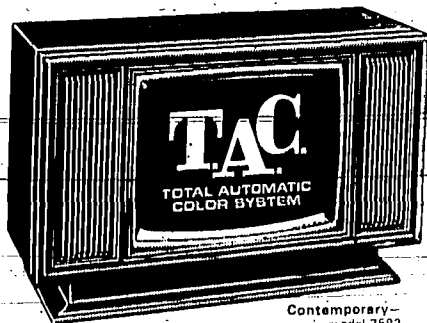

The character's name was taken from a series of cowboy novels by Clarence Mulford, but little else of the original remained.

Nixon pushes plan against terrorism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At President Nixon's direction, Secretary of State William P. Rogers is seeking to mobilize world opinion against international terrorism which bloodied the Munich Olympics.

But privately U.S. officials acknowledge that the struggle against terrorism—which includes more than the troublesome Palestinian guerrillas of Munich infamy—will be a long and complicated one. It is a struggle against a shadowy enemy who has a habit of hiding out of sight and striking without notice.

Parallel to visible actions, which the State Department has been announcing with fanfare, the administration is carrying out a less spectacular diplomatic effort but one which, in the long run, might produce more concrete results.

The effort is organized by Undersecretary of State John N. Irwin II. Beneath him are two committees which deal with the effort within the United States, and the effort abroad.

William B. Macomber Jr., deputy undersecretary for management, heads the committee focusing on protecting foreign visitors to the United States. Protection will undoubtedly be extended now to the athletes who will come to Denver for the winter olympics in 1976.

Joseph J. Sisco, assistant secretary of state for Near East and South Asian Affairs, heads the second committee, focusing on contributions other than money to the fight.

Under direction of the Sisco group, American diplomats are trying to get cooperation from police and intelligence organizations of other countries. Rogers sent a personal appeal last weekend to many nations including Egypt, Libya and Iraq.

The prime American aim is to cut off or greatly reduce monetary support as well as territorial sanctuaries for Palestinian guerrillas.

No U.S. official will say publicly what countries might be involved. But it is generally assumed that funds flow through indirect means to Palestinian fronts from such wealthy Arab countries as Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya. Libya, Lebanon and Egypt are also known for having offered territorial favors to the Palestinian guerrillas.

The administration is hoping that patient and quiet diplomacy will convince those countries to cooperate. But that is the area which constitutes the weakest link in the American chain of reasoning.

United States has poor relations with Libya and has only very limited influence with the other Arab countries.

Stoned turtle

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Knoxville police aren't sure, but they may have a "stoned" turtle on their hands.

Narcotics Lt. Dorthea Sweeten said she discovered a small turtle in a plastic package of marijuana Tuesday. The marijuana had been confiscated earlier in the day in a narcotics arrest.

Mrs. Sweeten said the turtle acted strange. Instead of retreating into its shell, it became highly agitated when disturbed.

Largest fire year

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — More forest fires have been reported in the Intermountain Region during 1972 than in any other year in history, says a U.S. Forest Service official.

Robert McBride, chief of the Division of Fire Control, said 1,474 fires have been reported so far this year. The previous record year was 1966 when 1,340 fires burned 61,374 acres. Fires in 1972, however, have burned only 13,670 acres.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, Sept. 14, the 258th day of 1972 with 108 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

American physicist Karl Compton was born Sept. 14, 1897.

On this day in history:

In 1847, Mexico City was occupied by the United States Army.

In 1901, President William McKinley died from wounds inflicted by an assassin eight days earlier.

In 1963, the first quintuplets in U.S. history to survive were born in Aberdeen, S.D., to Mrs. Andrew Fischer.

In 1969, the tanker SS Manhattan became the first commercial ship to navigate the Northwest Passage.

A thought for the day: British Prime Minister and author Benjamin Disraeli said, "Every woman should marry... and no man."

Route of election suit questioned

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General W. Anthony Park says his office may not be the proper channel through which a suit challenging a Bannock County election should be filed. He voiced his opinion Wednesday following a week of intensive research into the disputed election.

The matter began when Democratic state legislative candidate John Pino of Pocatello requested a recount among District 34's six precincts after he lost the nomination to incumbent Wayne Lovelless by four votes.

Officials from the attorney general's office then traveled to Pocatello, and in the course of investigation uncovered two apparent discrepancies in the district's voting procedures.

The first was the use of absentee ballots in regular voting machines on election day, an apparent violation of a balloting regulation from Secretary of State Pete T. Conrussa. The second irregularity was discovered after a voter from District 34 was given an absentee ballot from District 33, and simply wrote in his choices for election, one of whom was Pino.

Park said although the secretary of state may be in a stronger position as chief elections officer, "he has also indicated that because of the late date and because the aggrieved party (Pino) is able to bring his own action, he would not prefer to initiate the lawsuit."

"If we were to file an action," Park added, "we would spend most of our time arguing over whether we had the right to do it, and could very well end up not reaching the substantive issue in the case."

Source of funds asked by Demo

CORRAL (UPI) — State Democratic Chairman Joe McCarter Wednesday called upon James McClure to disclose the source of nearly $40,000 in contributions to his campaign for the U.S. Senate.

McCarter said a recently published news story quoted the Republican nominee as favoring disclosure of financial contributions and assets as a voter protection against control of political campaigns by moneyed interests.

"Mr. McClure said he favors complete disclosure of the source of campaign contributions yet he continues to keep secret the source of nearly $40,000 of his own campaign contributions," McCarter said.

"I think the people of Idaho have the right to know who is financing his campaign."

US must turn to ocean gas fields

BOISE (UPI) — A well-known petroleum expert said today the United States must turn to offshore areas for development of new oil and natural gas fields.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Idaho Petroleum Council here, Dr. Wilson M. Laird, director of exploration for the American Petroleum Institute, said the United States simply isn't producing enough oil and natural gas to meet its ever-rising demands, and added

Jury convicts Kellogg inmate

BOISE (UPI) — A Fourth District Court jury of nine women and three men has convicted Danny Ray Powers, 22, Kellogg, of first-degree murder in the slaying of a fellow inmate of the state prison.

Judge J. Ray Durtschli has continued the case until 3:30 p.m. Sept. 21.

Powers was accused of killing William Henry Butler on Aug. 14, 1971, at the penitentiary. The jury deliberated more than five hours Wednesday before finding him guilty.

Amnesty rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Those responding to a recent

Aging assembly proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has proposed a world-assembly on aging because of a retirement revolution.

He said Wednesday his proposal would be conducted within three to five years from now, and added it might be directed by the United Nations.

Church, chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging, said the major function of the assembly would be to "involve governments in a cooperative venture which would help each nation determine what kinds of action commitments must be made in a world in which larger and larger segments of the population live to be older and older."

GEN. ABRAMS
...testifies

General refutes testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Creighton W. Abrams in four hours of testimony on unauthorized bombing raids against North Vietnam clearly contradicted earlier statements by Gen. John D. Lavelle, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said Wednesday.

Stennis said he was not surprised by the conflict, but did not disclose its nature. Stennis is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which has questioned Lavelle and Abrams in closed session this week.

Abrams' nomination to be Army chief of staff has been delayed because of Lavelle's admissions of bombing North Vietnam in violation of President Nixon's orders for protective reaction strikes only. Lavelle indicated in House testimony last June that Abrams knew of the violations.

"There's a conflict between the testimony of Gen. Abrams and Gen. Lavelle that will have to be resolved by the committee," Stennis said after Abrams' appearance Wednesday. "I'm not surprised at the conflict, the testimony has been so voluminous. It's inconclusive yet."

The hearings were to resume late today with Air Force Sgt. Lonnie Franks, 23, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Withdrawal urged on Attica records

NEW YORK (UPI)—The head of the McKay Commission has asked Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz to withdraw a subpoena for the panel's records investigating last year's Attica prison riot.

Deputy Attorney General Robert Fischer, the state official directing the grand jury investigation into the Attica riot, has subpoenaed the records of the McKay Commission, which was assigned to make a complete report of all the events involved in the rebellion which claimed 43 lives.

Dean Robert McKay of the New York University Law School, head of the commission, said Wednesday its records would not be turned over under any circumstances since it had promised confidentiality to its witnesses.

The records reportedly contain names of inmates and police officers involved in potentially criminal events during the riot and the storming of the prison afterward to put down the rebellion. It is believed the records include the names of inmates involved in the death of guard William Quinn during the opening moments of the riot, and those who killed three prisoners during the five days prisoners controlled Attica.

McKay accused the state of "breaking an agreement that we would not ask to see the grand jury's records and they would not ask for ours."

The commission's report, the first official account of what happened before, during and after the riot, was made public Tuesday. The report was critical of the manner in which officials retold the prison.

About 200 persons gathered outside Attica prison Wednesday to observe the anniversary of the deaths of 32 inmates. A six-foot wood carving was placed near a stone memorial to the 11 guards killed by police bullets. The participants removed the wood memorial after the ceremony.

McKay said he went to Lefkowitz after Fischer refused to withdraw the subpoena.

"Lefkowitz said he was hopeful we could work out an agreement and I said that we would not give up the records," McKay said. He said if that route fails, the matter would be taken to court by the commission.

McKay said that news stories of the commission report "played up" the criticism that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller should have gone to Attica to personally direct state operations during the riot.

Chieftain must leave Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Interior Minister Joseph Burg said today it would be "undesirable and dangerous" for alleged American underworld chieftain Meyer Lansky to remain in Israel.

The supreme court ruled Monday that Lansky had to leave the country, rejecting his application for citizenship. In effect, it agreed with the Interior Ministry that he was a "threat to public safety."

In an interview with the Jerusalem Post, Burg said there was no evidence linking Lansky to crime in Israel and said:

"His remaining seemed to me both undesirable and dangerous, whether the danger was of organized crime in Israel or of Israel becoming the center of illegal activities abroad."

Burg said there were two reasons for the court's decision. "First, we received a steady stream of information, perhaps not all of it exact in every detail, but all conveying certain unfavorable impressions."

POW relatives going to Hanoi

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—Traveling with suitcases packed with letters and small personal gifts, the mother and the wife of two American prisoners of war relaxed for a few hours at Copenhagen airport enroute to Hanoi.

"I'm still in a state of shock and cannot believe my husband will be free," said Olga Charles, 24 of San Diego, Calif. She is married to Navy Lt. Norris Alfonso Charles, one of the three POWs North Vietnam has promised to release from captivity.

Sitting next to her in the airport's VIP-room, Mrs. Minnie Lee Gartley, Dunedin, Fla., smiled and said: "My biggest problem was to get all the letters and small personal gifts for other prisoners tucked into my suitcase."

Her son, Navy Lt. Mark Gartley, was shot down over Hanoi on Aug. 17, 1968. The wife of Maj. Edward Elias, the third POW to be released, was advised by her doctor not to travel.

The group is led by U.S. anti-war activists Cora Weiss, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin of Yale and Chicago Seven defendant David Dellinger.

Dellinger, who was given special court permission to travel pending appeal, said: "We hope to arrive next Saturday and will stay in Hanoi for a week."

The prisoner release will be the first since 1969.

"How and when we get out I don't know. We have to play it by the ear, but it's a wonderful gesture by the North Vietnamese considering that our air raids have continued."

"How these three boys were singled out to be released we don't know. I was called to Paris and told by the North Vietnamese delegation I could bring a peace delegation and any relatives to Hanoi."

Demo faithful praying for grass roots fervor

CHICAGO (UPI)—Democrats faithful are praying that the grass roots fervor that George S. McGovern's primary campaign winging will give Illinois for him in November.

It will take a lot of hustle. McGovern's managers say they must take Illinois to win the country—but early polls show President Nixon winning here handsly.

McGovern planners are banking on the usual ingredients for Democratic victory in Illinois—the heart and muscle of which is what some critically call the Chicago Democratic machine.

But even a machine, a political machine at least, can have hurt feelings. A vital factor in McGovern's chances has to be how badly feelings were hurt when the Senator's people managed to bar Mayor Richard J. Daley and his Chicago delegates from the Democratic National Convention.

The last time he talked publicly about that embarrassment, Daley said, "Why should I get mad?" McGovernites hope Daley means it. Some Chicago machine watchers wonder.

Given these troubles and more, McGovern loyalists hark back to the last time their man campaigned in Illinois. He had just trailed in the New Hampshire primary, conceded Florida, and was giving Illinois the token treatment before taking on the Democratic field in Wisconsin.

McGovern came out of Illinois with only a few delegates but he won big in Wisconsin and became a red hot contender nationally.

The young man credited with laying the groundwork for Wisconsin was Gene Pokorny, one of the first McGovern "whiz kid" managers to surface in the 1972 campaign. Now Pokorny is in Chicago running McGovern headquarters at 73 W. Monroe Street.

Analysis

plotting to pull off another Wisconsin.

He hopes to do it in much the same way, working from the precinct and store front levels up, bringing his candidate to the people and working the issue of alleged tax inequality for all it's worth. On Labor Day, the traditional jumping off point for serious Democratic campaigning, the 26-year-old political pro sat in a corner restaurant in Chicago's Loop, drinking decaffeinated coffee, eating pecan pie and reviewing the outlook in Illinois.

The polls, he predicted, would change now that the campaign structure had been shaken down and "we begin to take the message to the people of Illinois... You'll begin to see some switching around because right now people have some wrong perceptions about who

George McGovern is and what he believes.

As for Daley, Pokorny said he considers the mayor a man of his word.

"The mayor says he supports the ticket and I believe he supports the ticket," Pokorny said. "I have no reason to believe he does not. There may be some who would like to try to win an election in Illinois without the help of the Chicago organization, but I am not one of them."

Beyond the mayor and his precinct captains, Pokorny places much of his faith in the 106 storefront headquarters his own organization already has opened in Illinois, sometimes with Daley lieutenants in attendance.

Honesty on taxes queried

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, one of President Nixon's key reelection speechmakers, said Wednesday the President wasn't being "altogether honest" in promising no new taxes if he wins a second term.

"I think we're living in a dream world," Saxbe told a news conference.

Saxbe also criticized the revenue-sharing measure the Senate passed Tuesday, calling it "a fraud on the public."

"It's just typical of the politics of today when both parties are trying to fool the people," he said, and added:

"I don't think the President is being altogether honest with the people when he says there won't be any new taxes."

Saxbe said Nixon had qualified his statement by saying it applied if Congress kept government spending under $250 billion, then commented: "That's great. You can say the same thing to your wife—don't buy any groceries and we won't go into debt." Asked what tax increases he foresaw, Saxbe replied: "Across-the-board percentage increases at every level."

Altrusans pick 2

TWIN FALLS — Altrusa Club members named delegates to the Sept. 30 meeting on Twin Falls school needs at their meeting Tuesday at Colonial House.

Virginia Bancroft and Elaine Nesbitt will represent the club at the meeting which will be held at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School.

Virginia Bancroft, Altrusa president, conducted the meeting and announced that the Altrusa family picnic will be at 2 p.m. Sept. 24, at Three Island Park, Glenns Ferry, with the Boise Altrusa Club.

Elaine Nesbitt gave the Altrusa accent for the evening. Mrs. Katherine Nesbitt and Mrs. Marilyn Way were guests.

The Sept. 28 evening meeting will be at the home of Miriam DePew. The Altrusa information committee will be in charge of the program which will be on leadership.

State Grangers instruct at KH

KING HILL — Thirteen state Grange officers affiliated in the Elmore County Grange school of instruction Tuesday evening at the King Hill Grange Hall.

State Grange Master Dan Robinson, Meridian, spoke on Grange resolutions and said that each Grange should have youth and junior chairmen, whether they have youth or junior groups in the subordinate Grange or not.

Mrs. Lester Kruger, Caldwell, state lecturer, presented a flag to Mrs. T. M. Timbers, King Hill lecturer. Mrs. Kruger reported on the Northwestern States Grange Conference held recently in Sacramento, Calif.

Ira Klatzer, Gooding, state overseer, spoke about sending delegates to the state Grange. State Steward Thomas Kunkel, Jerome, gave instructions on presenting the flag.

Vernon Kohnopp, Jerome, assistant state steward, explained the duties of his office and the state Grange election. Expenses of delegates and salaries for state Grange officers along with improvements in the state Grange building at Meridian were discussed by state executive committeeman Robert Watley, Meridian.

A change in the memorial service to be given at the state Grange in Coeur d'Alene the last of October was explained by Mrs. Glen Symms, Nampa.

Master Robinson gave the first and fourth degree obligations to nine candidates, four from the Mariposa Grange in Mountain Home.

Six guests from Mariposa Grange attended the school of instruction, including Mrs. Steve Waters, Elmore County Pomona Grange master.

The King Hill Grange obligated four new candidates, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Whitehead. The traveling duck is now the property of the Mountain Home Grange, it was reported.

A potluck dinner preceded the school of instruction.

FASHION

Now We're Being 'Bootjacked'

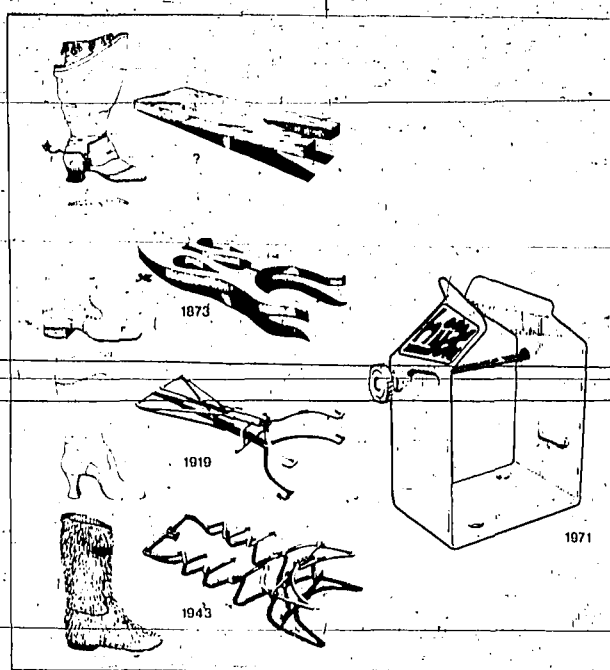

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — There is a theory that boots as a fashion for women appear when women are most physically active, socially mobile and personally independent. Certainly they lend a machismo air to fashion whether it is the riding habit of the cavalier's lady or the zap of today's liberated woman.

Despite lapses into disfavor during periods of reaction and prim notions of "woman's place" (in Victorian times boots were the badge of the "loose female"), boots have symbolized military pride—cowboy—vanity, jargonism's dash, courtly elegance and dandy's distinction since their emergence in the 1800s. Whenever women want to adopt these swashbuckling images, they pull on a pair of boots.

But the popularity of the fashion in the past is not a patch on their acceptance today. Now boots emerge as the major footwear fashion for men and children as well as women. Stores expect to sell up to 100 per cent more boots this year than they did last year, a serious contender for the footwear dollar, they have given inspiration to a whole range of special accessories from inflatable boot trees to special waterproofing sprays and now a bootjack that is as functional as a fine machine, called Hijack.

"The biggest problem with boots has always been how to get them off," said industrial designer and creator of the new bootjack, Dorwin Teague. Internationally known for designing kitchen systems, boats, cars, industrial machinery and appliances, Teague turned his attention to women's fashion when he noticed his secretary engaged in a regular morning and afternoon battle with her boots. Using the same principles he has applied to development of complex systems, Teague invented the now patented vinyl-covered steel boot remover.

These objects may look like instruments of torture. Actually they are various forms of bootjacks developed throughout the years. In 1971 (far right) Hijack was invented, far more compact and much easier to use than previous designs.

teation to women's fashion when he noticed his secretary engaged in a regular morning and afternoon battle with her boots. Using the same principles he has applied to development of complex systems, Teague invented the now patented vinyl-covered steel boot remover.

bootjacks going back to 1873," Teague said. "Although the simplest variety, a V-notched slanted board, must have originated in the mists of antiquity."

"None of them were anything but substitutes for the best boot remover we know of—a husband or boyfriend. But for the girl living in her own bachelor pad the helpful male isn't always present," Teague said.

A special feature makes the bootjack adjustable so that men and small children can also use it and the soft vinyl covering protects the delicate fabrics and soft kid skins used in boot styles for spring.

not heard. Still, we can use this column to show how South should have made his contract.

He should have led a club to dummy's ace, discarded his two remaining clubs on two hearts, ruffed dummy's last club, entered dummy with the king of diamonds and played dummy's last heart.

If West ruffed that trick he would be hopelessly endplayed. If he discarded a club he would only postpone the inevitable. He would be thrown in with the queen of trumps and caught in that same end play.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South took his ace of hearts and cashed his ace and king of spades. East discarded the seven of clubs and South paused for a moment before leading a third trump.

West took his queen and got out with a heart. South played on a while but eventually misguessed the queen of diamonds and was one down.

This was a very nice rubber bridge game. South apologized at length for misguessing the queen of diamonds. North apologized for having a poor no-trump and commiserated with South about the bad luck in trumps.

We said nothing because kibitzers should be seen and not heard.

BURLEY — The Burley Duplicate Bridge Club had six tables in play Tuesday at Burley Elks Lodge Hall.

Winners were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hunter, first; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warnke, second; Mrs. Kent Woodland and Mrs. Haven Glerich, third; Mrs. Sylvia Beck and Mrs. Hogg, fourth; Mrs. Lois Stephenson and Mrs. Evelyn Hunsinger, fifth.

Refreshments were furnished by Mrs. Jean Holmes.

During the board meeting it was decided that the club will host special events open pairs Sept. 28 at Burley Elks Lodge Hall.

It was announced that unit play will be Sept. 17 at Hazelton 100F Hall, with dinner to be served at 4 p.m. and bridge games will begin at 5 p.m. or immediately after dinner.

Flower groupings displayed

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Alice Prescott demonstrated four flower arrangements, with African violets predominating, when the Magic Valley Saint-paulia Club met Monday at the home of Mrs. Sam Porter.

A display on a leaf project started in March was postponed until the next meeting to be judged. Papers were passed out for members to fill in on how their plant was raised and the method used.

Questions and answers on pests and troubles with African violets for the summer were discussed.

Birthday anniversary gifts were received from secret pals by Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Ray Fike and Mrs. Harman Paulsen.

The next meeting will be Oct. 9.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years, and still can't believe I am actually writing a "Dear Abby" letter, but here goes: This is the second time around for my husband and myself. We are both middle-aged and lost our mates in death.

My question: How do you tell a full grown adult about personal hygiene? He bathes once a week, at which time he changes his socks and underwear. This came as a terrific shock to me as he always appeared to be so well-groomed and immaculate when we were dating.

I just don't know how to tell him that I find his personal habits extremely offensive. He douses himself with sweet smelling cologne between baths.

A Loveller You

TO WRITE WINNING LETTERS

By Mary Sue Miller

A woman's letters tell as much about her as meeting her face to face. The first clue comes from the stationery used. Obviously it should be selected with care. Although novelty colors and decorations abound in papers these days, the classics — white, gray, cream and blue — are always suitable.

Single sheets prove the most useful for chatty letters, as well as home-written business correspondence. For invitations, thank-yous and the like, small folded notes are indispensable. The accepted decoration for notes is one's monogram or name. Single sheets may be imprinted with your name and address. But no sort of marking is required.

As to the form of a social letter or note, it naturally varies with the purpose of the message. However, it must include your address, a salutation, a complimentary close and your signature. Salutations are fixed: "Dear . . ." The close depends on relationships. "Sincerely" is preferred when the letter is addressed to anyone outside your immediate circle.

Your signature is also cued by relationships. Sign your full name "Sally Ann Webb" when writing to an acquaintance. If that person is unfamiliar with your title, write it in the lower left corner — "Mrs. John Webb."

Admittedly—the message is the crux of a letter. But, sad to say, it often goes begging for want of a convincing backdrop.

WINNING MANNERS

To open a door on increased poise and popularity, send for my booklet, WINNING MANNERS. up!

Believe me, Abby, he is a fine man otherwise. He is a faithful reader of your column and is always quoting you to me, so if you print this letter he will see it. I don't have the nerve to tell him.

DISMAYED

DEAR DIS: Here's your letter, and I hope it helps. [P.S. Marriages in which both partners do not bathe and change underwear daily risk being all washed up.]

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I disagree on something and want you to settle it. My wife says it is perfectly all right to ask a man who is wearing a toupee where he bought it.

I say that if a toupee LOOKS like a toupee it is no commitment, so it's best not to ask such a question.

My wife insists that I am wrong—that the wearer would be complimented, and more than happy to share the information.

What do you say, Abby?

CONSIDERING ONE

DEAR CONSIDERING: I wouldn't recommend "complimenting" a stranger with an inquiry concerning his toupee. However, if you were friendly with the man when his hair was thinner, and consider the toupee a perceptible improvement, go ahead and ask.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me, and please put the answer in the paper. It may help somebody else.

How does one discourage persistent invitations from somebody they do not want to have more than a business relationship with? I have been going to the same beauty shop for five years. The operator I have is a very nice, the somewhat aggressive person. The hairdresser I go to does my hair exactly the way I like it, but she keeps suggesting that we go here and there and the next place together.

I don't care to socialize with her and have said I was busy, hoping she would get the hint, but she evidently hasn't. I don't know where she ever got the idea that I would want to become a "buddy" of hers.

She is a married woman with grown children. I am a widow, with grown children and grandchildren, too. . . I have a career, plenty of friends, and I am not lonely. Please tell me what to do.

NAMELESS, NATURALLY

DEAR NAMELESS: Unless you want to get this woman "out of your hair" professionally, as well as socially, continue to be "busy" when she suggests you go out together.

LDS rites unite couple

RICHFIELD — Adreon Gardner and Dale Sanders were married in double ring ceremonies conducted at the Salt Lake LDS Temple Aug. 29.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gardner, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Linley T. Sanders, all Richfield.

Attending the ceremony were parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ward and Jay Ward, all Richfield; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stout, Tucson, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Allison, Rupert.

The couple was honored at a reception Sept. 2 at the Richfield Ward LDS Cultural Hall. They received guests in a hall decorated with bouquets of daisies and chrysanthemums and accented with large white and green wedding bells. The line was separated from the rest of the hall with white standards adorned with white daisies, greenery and yellow and green streamers.

The bride wore a floorlength gown that featured a fitted bodice, long sleeves pointed over the wrists and a rounded lace edged scooped neckline and sheer yoke. The lace edged chapel train fell in deep folds from the bodice. Her elbow length veil of bridal illusion was caught by a tiara of pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of daisies and baby's-breath, centered with a white orchid.

The bride's married sisters, Mrs. Elaine Stout, Tucson, and Mrs. Derry Allison, Rupert, were her matrons of honor. The maid of honor was Carol Lyn Sanders, sister of the groom.

The bridesmaids were Sanna and Valynn Gardner, sisters of the bride, Rhonda Swainston and DeAnn Dixon, Richfield, and Kathy Gardner, Sacramento, Calif., a cousin of the bride.

Steve Toth, La Jolla, Calif., was best man.

A pale yellow and white three-tiered wedding cake topped with china cupid and daisies centered the bride's table that was skirted with green lace ruffles. The cake was made by the bride's mother and featured a miniature Salt Lake Temple between the second and top layers, along with daisies and cupid.

Smaller cakes with the names of the bride and groom were on either side. Green candles and daisies in crystal goblets also decorated the table.

The cakes and punch were served by Mrs. Ross Swainston and Mrs. Ken Dixon, who were assisted by Mrs. Lana Puchs, Midvale, sister of the groom; Darlene American Horse, Janeen Dixon, both Richfield; Peggy Murdock and Gail Stocking, both Carey.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with yellow and centered by crystal goblets holding green candles and white daisies and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Dixie Godfredson, Shoshone, aunt of the bride, sat at the round white skirted guest table which was centered with a floral arrangement of chrysanthemums and daisies and a plaque displaying the newlyweds' wedding announcement.

Brothers of the bride, Scott, Evan, and Gahr Gardner, accepted gifts which were opened late in the evening by the bride and bridegroom.

A short program was presented that included a vocal duet by the groom's father and sister, Tim and Carol Sanders; a vocal trio by sisters of the bride, Valynn and Sanna Gardner and Derry Allison; a piano solo by Carol Sanders; and a vocal duet by the bride and bridegroom.

Bob Allison was master of ceremonies.

Guests attended from California, Arizona, Twin Falls, Shoshone and Carey.

The new couple is making a home in Springville, Utah, while the groom is attending Brigham Young University.

Retired teachers set meet

JEROME — The first regular meeting of the Retired Teachers Association will be held at 12:30 p.m. Friday at the Rogerson Hotel, Twin Falls.

Edith Nancolas, president, Jerome, said a special invitation has been issued to all new retirees this year and a personal invitation will be mailed to all names available.

Miss Nancolas said this year will be an important one for retired teachers and administrators and that the programs will be of interest to all. She explained that this is the silver anniversary year of the National Teachers' Association.

"A special meeting in observance of the anniversary will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Oct. 13 at the Turf Club in Twin Falls," Miss Nancolas said.

Officiate at Hailey plant rites

Hailey dedicates new water, sewer system

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Hailey has shown the direction a community can take in rural development, according to the executive assistant to the secretary of agriculture.

E. Frederick Behrens was the main speaker at the dedication Wednesday of the new $1.3 million Hailey water and sewer system.

The administrative aide said that through the new federal Rural Development Act and the revenue sharing bill, more incentive is expected to be given to small communities "to solve their own problems."

Behrens said that he also hoped that the Farmers Home Administration would be empowered to have more involvement in local improvement projects and work as a coordinator with other federal agencies.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa, who also attended the dedication, said "we should begin at home to solve our problems, as Hailey did."

Congratulating the city on the 74 per cent approval of its system bond election, the state official said "many cities should look at the example of Hailey" and described the city as one which "had done more for itself than is normally required."

"We can no longer afford to use water unwisely and wastefully nor can we afford to have the water supply made useless by pollution," Cenarrusa said.

The secretary of state enumerated federal funding for the Hailey project and said that "in the future, federal funding up to 75 per cent may be available to assist projects with plan. Such funding he said is projected to be "second only to the national defense budget."

Guests at the dedication included James M. Kimball, public health engineer for the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health; representatives of JUB Engineers, Boise, project consultants, and local legislators.

State FHA officials were Donald L. Winder, director; Elwood Thueson, chief of community programs; Ray Peterson, community program specialist; Frank Dallas, Shoshone county supervisor; and C. E. Gough, administrative officer.

Funding breakdown on the three-phase Hailey project included $60,000 city funds; $540,000 revenue bonds purchased by the FHA on a 30-year term; $97,000 state grant and $193,000 federal Environmental Protection Agency Grant.

Construction on the project began in October, 1970, and was essentially complete at the end of 1971.

Phase one included rebuilding of the Indian Springs water supply facilities and a new transmission line into Hailey.

Hansen slates bond vote Nov. 1

HANSEN — Hansen school trustees have decided to call a bond election for a new elementary building Nov. 1, Supt. Percy Christensen said Wednesday.

The bond issue will be for approximately $250,000, he said, but exact figures have not been completed.

Trustees made the decision Tuesday night after a public hearing attended by about 30 persons. Most of those attending seemed favorable to the plan, the superintendent said.

He said the general feeling is that the present building, which houses only the first three grades, is too small and outdated. The rest of the grade school students, as well as junior high and high school students, attend class in another building which is beside the elementary building.

The proposed new building would be built to the southwest of the present football field, Christensen said.

Attendance in the Hansen school system is near 300 students, he said. There were 135 elementary pupils when classes opened this fall, but enrollment has increased since in both the elementary and secondary classes.

Explosion

BURLEY — Dan Murphy, 19, Paul, was dismissed from Cassia Memorial Hospital Wednesday after being burned in a service station fire Tuesday night.

Burley firemen said cause of the explosion and resulting fire at the North Overland Husky service station was unknown. Several windows were blown out and the lube rooms and inside of the station were gutted by the fire.

Several men who happened to be at the station had the fire nearly under control with extinguishers by the time firemen arrived.

Development group sets Shoshone meet

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Development Corp. will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the court house, Shoshone, in conjunction with an Economic Development Administration meeting.

Robert Miller, president of the local group, said this meeting will be for the purpose of learning more about the Public Works and Economic Development Act under which Shoshone was recently listed for "redevelopment."

The redevelopment areas are selected if they meet certain statistical criteria, according to information received from Richard Greer from the U.S.

Office of Development. Under a recent amendment to the original 1965 Public Works and Economic Development Act, areas which have experienced a net outmigration, together with decline in per capita employment of more than 1.2 per cent, in the decade from 1960 to 1970, qualify statistically for designation as EDA redevelopment areas.

Arrangements for the meeting with Lincoln County commissioners and other interested persons set for next Tuesday evening, were made through Scott Brown, Twin Falls.

TF judge to hear Rupert rape case

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood granted an affidavit of prejudice filed Wednesday in the case of Joseph Arturo Ybarra, who is charged with rape and assault.

The affidavit, filed by the defense and signed by Twin Falls attorney Ed Frachiseur, requested the disqualification of Magistrate LeRoy Blacker because of "bias and prejudice." Magistrate Blacker was to have officiated at Ybarra's preliminary hearing Friday.

In granting the disqualification, Judge Bellwood reassigned the hearing duties to Twin Falls Magistrate Daniel Meehl and set the court date at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Frachiseur had earlier petitioned the Idaho Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus to secure Ybarra's pre-trial release.

However the petition was returned by the clerk of this court because of technical insufficiencies, including a lack of signatures, and was not resubmitted. Frachiseur said the petition was not filed again because "the relief we sought through a grant of habeas corpus has been granted with a preliminary hearing."

Ybarra is being held in Minidoka County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. He is charged with the forcible rape and assault with a deadly weapon of a Rupert woman on Aug. 9.

On August 23, Magistrate Blacker granted a motion by the prosecution for a 30-day continuance of the preliminary hearing in order to secure state's evidence that had been sent to the FBI crime lab for analysis. In the same action he denied a change of venue requested by the defense.

Pros. Atty. Don Chisholm said Tuesday the evidence had been returned from Washington, D. C.

Burglary, game charges at Burley

BURLEY — Two adults and one juvenile have been arrested and charged with two counts of burglary and a fish and game violation.

Allen Aultman and David A. Bass, and a juvenile, all of the Burley Labor Camp, were charged with burglary by Cassia County sheriff's officers about 7 p.m. Tuesday night.

The trio is also charged by fish and game officers with having three hen pheasants and one duck in their possession. The events leading to the arrest began about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday when Clarence Barks, west of Burley, requested an officer as he was in pursuit of an old station wagon, with occupants believed to have taken items from the Barks home.

Items recovered along the borrowpit, in the sagebrush and in the car were a stereo player, a tape player, several tapes and a shotgun. Also in the vehicle officers found three hen pheasants and one duck. All four of the birds were still warm, according to officers.

All of the items recovered were from the Barks home except the shotgun which was taken in another home burglary on Sept. 9, according to officers. Investigation is continuing and the trio is in Cassia County jail.

Ketchum man held

HAILEY — A Ketchum man is being held in the Blaine County jail on a felony charge of cultivation of marijuana.

According to the county sheriff's office, Jeffrey J. Zeller, 24, was arrested about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at his home about four miles up Warm Springs west of Ketchum.

Confiscated in the raid were several marijuana plants and a substance which will have to be tested, Sheriff Orville Drexler said.

The arrest was made by two sheriff's deputies, with Sheriff Drexler assisting in the search. Zeller is scheduled for court appearance today in county magistrate court.

Aide refuses comment about futures market

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A high U.S. Agriculture Department official refused comment Wednesday on alleged manipulation of prices on the Idaho potato futures market.

E. F. Behrens, executive assistant to secretary of agriculture Earl Butz, said he didn't think it would be proper for him to make any comment on the issue.

He said he hadn't actually studied the issue. Behrens said only that the U.S.D.A. Commodity Exchange Authority is handling the charges of manipulating the market.

Prominent among persons charged with the manipulation had been J. R. Simplot, Idaho's richest man, along with Madeline J. Spiegel, retired chairman of the Chicago-based mail order firm, Spiegel, Inc.

They and others were charged by the Commodity Exchange Authority with attempting to manipulate the Idaho-Potato-Futures-Market during the 1970-71 trading year.

In a press conference before speaking at a Twin Falls Rotary Club meeting Wednesday, Behrens said there is no basis to Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern's charges that large companies knew ahead of time about U.S. and Russian agreements on grain sales.

Behrens said only three people knew about terms of the agreement before it was made public. They were the secretary of agriculture, a Commodities Credit Corporation attorney and one other unidentified official.

He said the large traders did not get any more lead time than anyone else.

"McGovern can charge all he wants to," Behrens said, "there is no truth to what he says."

He said there is no actual controversy over the issue unless farmers think that getting 50 cents more a bushel for their wheat or permission to plant more acreage next year with less federal control is controversial. He said this came about because of the agreement with Russia.

In his speech before Rotary, Behrens said, "There exists a real need for clearly spelling out the identity of interests between farmers and consumers."

"We have to help the consuming public understand that the best assurance of an abundant food supply is a strong, profitable agriculture. This is why Secretary Butz has gone to the public over radio and TV, in scores of meetings, and through the press, to defend farm prices."

He said that it should be evident that however good the idea of cheap food may sound to the consumers, in the long run it's bad for the country.

"A cheap food policy would end up driving thousands of efficient producers out of agriculture. It would end up as an expensive food policy," he said.

Jerome GOP meets tonight

JEROME — The Jerome County Republican Central Committee will meet at 8 p.m. today at Wood Cafe.

On the agenda is a general discussion and planning for the upcoming November election. A decision is also expected to be made on when and where the Republican Party will open its campaign headquarters in Jerome.

Uniform speeding limits urged by Burley group

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The Burley Traffic Safety Commission recommended all speed limits within the city of Burley be uniform during their Tuesday night meeting.

The commission approved a motion to recommend to the City Council that all speed limits in the city of Burley be changed to a uniform speed (suggested to be 25 miles per hour) with the exception of state highways and school zones. The commission also suggested 15 miles per hour limit for school zones.

Ken Barry, chief of police, reported to the commission that the city has a problem with speed limits not covered by ordinance and that a speed limit should be decided on, then legal procedures taken to make speed limits possible.

According to the safety commission, a uniform speed limit after being publicized would help minimize confusion and give the city of Burley a more blanket policy in adopting future speed limits.

Also the commission recommended that an agreement be worked out with the county so city police could patrol the county half of four streets in Burley. These four streets are split with the county property being one half and the other half is city property. This recommendation will be presented to the City Council.

The commission suggested that, if a blanket speed limit is adopted by the city council, that the next step would be to remove and replace speed signs listing the proper speed limit.

Complaints heard by the commission were shrubbery growth at the corner of Main Street and Highland Avenue, and Occidental Avenue and 10th Street.

Rex Stanley reported that Little League Football is now in full swing and parents should remind their sons not to wear their helmets while riding a bike to and from the football games, for it limits their sight and hearing.

All drivers should be reminded that children are back in school and Little League is under way and to use extra caution for there are many children using the streets, said Stanley.

Soviets shrewd bargainers, aides say of grain dealing

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet officials who bought a reported total of 400 million bushels of U.S. wheat earlier this summer were "shrewd buyers," Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says.

The Soviets, in fact, may well have saved themselves millions of dollars by the way in which they timed their purchases, another Agriculture Department specialist agreed today.

"I think there's no question about it," said George S. Shanklin, assistant sales manager of the department's Export Marketing Service when asked about the timing of the Russian orders. "I think they were clever buyers."

Shanklin and other department officials disclaim first-hand knowledge of the specific amount of wheat ordered by the Russians from private U.S. trading firms. But they have said the total, as reported by reliable trade informants, is believed to be about 400 million bushels.

The purchasing by a Soviet mission began early in July and, after a pause, resumed heavily in August. Shanklin said that while he had no firm evidence, he had not heard of any sales in recent days—a probable indication that little or none has been sold to Russia since the U.S. began raising export prices on new sales Aug. 25.

The bunching of Soviet orders into the July-August period means the men from Exportkhleb, a Russian international trading agency, got their wheat during a period when the Agriculture Department was holding export prices down.

The export price for hard red winter wheat at Gulf ports, for example, had been in the $1.63-$1.65 a bushel range for more than a year. As news of the magnitude of Soviet demand began circulating this summer, domestic prices rose. But exporters were able to continue offering wheat to the Soviets (and other foreign buyers) at the old $1.63 price because the Agriculture Department offset the domestic hikes by increases in export subsidies enabled exporters to pay more for the wheat at home without raising their price to foreign buyers.

On Aug. 25, the Agriculture Department announced it would no longer guarantee subsidies high enough to keep export prices at $1.63. (Exporters who had made sales agreements before that day, but had not yet signed up for subsidies, were allowed one additional week to register for "high level" export payments on "old" business.)

Since then, export subsidies have dropped from the final "cleanup week" rate of 47 cents a bushel to 28 cents a bushel, while domestic prices have continued to rise. By Sept. 11, the export price of hard red winter wheat at the Gulf was up to $1.92 a bushel—a domestic price of $2.21 minus a 29-cent export subsidy.

If Soviet buyers did, as many believe, buy virtually all their 400 million bushels of wheat at around $1.63, they got it for about $250 million. If U.S. export prices had been raised earlier, or if the Russians had delayed some purchases until after the price hike, the cost to the Soviets would have been higher. Purchasing half the wheat at $1.63 and half at $1.90, for example, would have pushed the overall cost to over $700 million.

Butz and other officials say the Russians themselves may not have known until late in July just how big Soviet needs would be. Officials say they cannot tell whether the Russians cannily kept their needs quite as long as possible in order to buy as much as possible before prices rose.

But that would be good business judgment, one official said. And Butz, in a news conference this week added, speaking of the Soviet officials: "They're stupid — like a fox."

Top crop due

BOISE (UPI) — A record potato crop of 78,785 million hundredweight — two per cent more than last year — was forecast today by the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Acres for harvest was estimated at 306,000 acres — down 13,000 from last year. But yields are expected to top last year in most areas of the state and especially in the southwestern counties and the Magic Valley.

Meantime, the reporting service said, per-acre potato production in Idaho this year is about 11 per cent less than last. Acreage of 4,600 is below last year's 5,100 and yield of 100 per acre at 57 pounds is down about one pound from a year ago.

District judging planned

JEROME — Judging of horses and exhibits in the district fair will open Friday's activities at the event here.

Both categories will be judged at 9 a.m., and home economics and demonstrations will be judged at 1 p.m.

The Saturday judging schedule includes home economics judging contest, 9 a.m.; dogs, 10 a.m.; livestock judging, 11 a.m.; junior style review, 11:30 a.m.; tractor driving and tree identification, 1 p.m., and the senior style review, 2:30 p.m.

Livestock fitting and showing events are also scheduled Saturday.

Prepare in autumn for tree planting

MOSCOW — It is a good idea to begin preparations now for planting trees next spring, suggests Vernon Burlison, University of Idaho extension forester.

Planting trees is a good idea in itself, Burlison said. He said trees do much to improve the environment. They make it more healthful by helping purify the air and by holding the soil in place to prevent it from being washed into rivers, streams and lakes.

Trees provide shade and beauty. They form a cover for streams and fish in them. Trees are also a source of cover and forage for many forms of wildlife. And, they are the raw material from which many important products such as lumber and paper are made. Those who make plans now will know early what trees and how many they will need when it comes time to plant in the spring. Therefore, orders can be placed this fall for spring delivery. The likelihood of disappointment from stocks being sold out will thus be avoided.

Fall preparation is almost a necessity for persons intending to plant a large number of trees. Burlison said for large plantings, the ground be plowed in the fall and then disced in the spring before planting.

Farm, industry groups set control discussion

BOISE — A one-day conference to "get answers" from environmental control agencies has been scheduled here by 25 Idaho agricultural and industrial associations on Oct. 3.

Participants include top enforcement officials from federal and state agencies, and Gov. Cecil Andrus is to address the group at lunch. A large attendance is expected, according to Associated Industries of Idaho, the organization that is handling arrangements for the sponsoring groups.

Speakers and panel participants are to discuss specifics of regulations governing air and water pollution control, animal waste disposal, land management and use of pesticides.

To insure coverage of all areas of interest to Idaho employers, registrants have been invited to submit questions in advance of the meeting for referral to appropriate conference speakers. Invitations mailed by the co-sponsoring groups have included a return registration and question card for that purpose.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices, ahead at the outset, turned lower Thursday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, up more than a point earlier, was off 4.60 at 945.22 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was down 0.07 at 108.83.

Declines overtook advances, 622 to 588, among the 1,643 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover totaled 8,000,000 shares, compared with 7,360,000 traded during the same period Wednesday.

Occidental Petroleum was the most active issue, up 1/4 at 15 1/4 on 238,600 shares. Company officials said Soviet leaders have agreed to some arrangements in a deal completed earlier this year. Also, they reported a second oil find off Nigeria.

Panhandle Eastern Pipeline was second, up 1/4 at 30 3/4 on 237,300 shares, including a block of 225,000 shares at 30, up 1/4. Baker Oil Tools was third, off 1/4 at 54 1/4 on 201,000 shares, including a block of 199,000 shares at 55, off 1/4.

Walt Disney gained a point in the glimmers. Pointed-fingers included Polaroid, Itek, Schlumberger, Quattri Wright and ARA Services.

Digital Equipment rose 2 1/4 and IBM 1 1/4 in the electronics and computers. Texas Instruments lost 2 1/4, Burroughs 2 and Fairchild Camera 1 1/4.

Chemicals and oils were scrambled. Ralls headed in both directions. Steels, motors, airlines and aircrafts were mixed in fractions.

UPI WEATHER (C) OCT 61

Indian Summer awaits Idahoans

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert area:
Continued fair through Friday. Warmer tonight. Lows tonight 40 to 46 and highs Friday in the 70s.
Outlook for Saturday, little change.
Camas Prairie, Halley and Lower Wood River Valley:
Continued fair through Friday. Warmer tonight. Lows tonight near 30, highs Friday near 70.

Outlook for Saturday, little change.
Synopsis:
High pressure at the surface should continue to dominate the weather pattern over southern Idaho for the next few days.
This high pressure along with the flow of warm dry air aloft should produce some fine late summer weather through the early part of the week.

At the present time, storms systems moving eastward from the Gulf of Alaska are moving inland well north of our area. A system dropping southward from southern Canada Sunday may spread some cloudiness but most of the precipitation should be confined to the northern mountains.

Temperatures will continue to warm tonight with little change on Friday.
The extended outlook for Saturday through Monday calls for continued fair weather through Saturday and clouds and a chance of showers Sunday, but clearing Monday.
Highs will be in the mid-60s through the 70s and lows from the mid 30s through the 40s.

Trash fish eradication waged in Shoshone basin

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
Trash fish are taking a nearly 100 per cent beating in Idaho and Nevada in a double-pronged attack designed to put upper Salmon Falls Creek and its tributaries in the good trout fishing class.

The wildlife departments of the two states are winding up a week-long eradication project.

Nevada figures to draw the biggest benefit and Nevada is putting out the biggest effort in cost and manpower. However, Bob Bell, regional biologist for Idaho, and Rex Spackman,

Twin Falls hatchery superintendent, have treated about 30 miles of Idaho streams in the Shoshone basin.

The overall project, however, will give Idaho an added benefit. The crux of the project is a $113,000 barrier, built by the bureau of Land Management, on Salmon Falls Creek some seven miles above Salmon Falls Reservoir. The barrier will preclude reinfestation of trash fish in the Salmon Falls Creek drainage through upstream movement out of the reservoir. In addition, the barrier includes a fish trap which will allow Idaho to harvest some of the intermediate-run Kokanee out of the Idaho impoundment. And should the upstream spawning run of suckers prove large, the barrier will hold them prisoner while the Idaho department annihilates them with spot treatment—thus reducing the overall trash fish population in the reservoir.

"I think we can establish a pretty good trout fishery (in Shoshone basin) through this project. The area receives pretty good early pressure when the water is up but usually falls off to little or nothing within 30 days or so of the opening," Bell said. "We will plant rainbow and cutthroat trout, of course, but I think if we can get German Brown trout established, it will attract Idaho fishermen through most of the season. In a similar project we had in Eastern Idaho, the German Brown trout took hold and were providing two and three-pound fish in streams no larger than these."

Idaho covered most of Shoshone Creek, Hot Creek, Big Creek and a couple other smaller creeks. The upper ends

Sherman's voice back but no Wilt

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Los Angeles Lakers Coach Bill Sherman has his voice back but he's missing a player—7-foot-2 center Wilt Chamberlain.

Chamberlain was absent Wednesday when the National Basketball Association champs opened their first day of practice for the coming season. Neither he nor his attorney would make any official comment on the star's failure to report, but earlier in the summer Chamberlain threatened to retire unless his contract was renegotiated.

Pete Newell, the club's general manager, said it is not Lakers policy to renegotiate contracts and added: "Unless there was a reasonable excuse for missing the opening practice session, there will be a fine levied."

Chamberlain was not the only Laker unsatisfied with his current pay situation. Happy Hairston and Flynn Robinson both reportedly are seeking contract modifications.

Haylicek holds out

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (UPI)—John Haylicek became an official holdout Wednesday when he failed to show up for the Boston Celtics' opening pre-season workout at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy.

Haylicek was in camp Monday for a physical examination, but a spokesman for the club said he left immediately after the exam to rejoin his wife at the couple's summer cottage on Cape Cod.

Haylicek's old three-year contract expired at the end of last season and there were reports he was holding out Wednesday for a five-year pact which could be his last.

ATLANTA (UPI)—Johnny Bench slammed a two-run homer in the top of the 10th inning Wednesday to give the Cincinnati Reds an 8-6 victory over the Atlanta Braves after Hank Aaron had tied the game in the bottom of the ninth with his second home run of the game.

Aaron's two home runs gave him 30 for the year and 668 for his career. It also marked the 14th season he has hit 30 or more home runs, breaking Babe Ruth's record of 13.

New boon to Idaho anglers

Salmon Falls barrier aids in Kokanee management and trash fish control

on a couple were not treated since the flow is very small. Shoshone Creek is largely just puddled toward its origin. The treatment project missed forest land entirely, due to the hassle and red tape that would have evolved.

"We can handle this small area with eradication projects at nominal cost and effort every seven or eight years," Bell pointed out.

The project also brought the new Fintrol toxicant into Magic Valley for the first time in a rather large use. Fintrol is the most deadly, economical, easily handled, etc., of any tried thus far — and it is entirely selective toward gill-breathing species. Its effort should prove to be 100 per cent since it is very sneaky — or sophisticated might be the better word. It is odorless, invisible and tasteless. It requires only three parts of Fintrol to one billion (that's right, one billion) parts of water to be lethal to fish. This compares to others in use that range from one part to 100,000 to one part to a million. Its toxicity is effective only for three to five days on the average and it is completely biodegradable, meaning no residual build up in streams.

Inspection of the treated waters Wednesday showed snakes, water skippers frogs and all aquatic insects were briskly going about their business, detouring only to avoid dead fish. The snakes already were so fat they too were avoiding the fish carcasses.

"To be safe we're planning on a 95 per cent kill," Bell said. "But if a fish takes a good dose of it (Fintrol) he's a goner. It interferes with the transfer of oxygen from the gills into the red corpuscles of the blood."

Effect has direct relation to the size of fish and water temperature. In Big Creek, which was running about 60 degrees, the first dead fish didn't show up for about four hours and within six hours most of them had had the course. The smaller dace were the first to go, the larger suckers, up to eight and 10 inches, the last.

But at the warm springs head of Hot Creek, emulsified Fintrol was sprayed onto the surface. Water temperature was around 72 degrees and within five minutes the small dace were bellying up.

Fintrol's orderless, tasteless, etc., marks it clearly the superior eradicator. Rotenone, the fish killer of the ancients, is deadly but the fish has to stay in it until it suffocates. Rotenone works directly on the gills and fish feel it on its first breath. The fish retreat and while many die, some ultimately find that little spring inlet and breath there until the toxicant has drifted pass.

Then they come out and repopulate the streams to the detriment of trout and more desirable species.

Compare that reaction to those seen when fish actually swim through the toxicant at its point of origin or in cases of spraying, actually struck at the droplets as they hit the water surface, like fish in a raceway being fed.

The basic form of Fintrol used comes in a small cake form, roughly twice the size of a bar of hand soap. The flow of water is measured and the desired amount of toxicant is attained by cutting the cake into the proper percentage.

This is inserted in a four-inch plastic pipe, adjusted on a stake to a point about three inches above the creek bottom. The Fintrol then "melts" at a constant rate, protected by the pipe from over erosion by current, with the toxicant ebbing out the bottom of the pipe at an even flow.

With this method, one man can carry enough Fintrol to eradicate many miles of stream. With rotenone, it would take a couple of horses or a four-wheel-powered vehicle. And the effect, of course, is better.

Immediately fishermen of Salmon Reservoir will rise up, decrying the threat of the reservoir populations. Not so. Potassium permanganate neutralizes Fintrol and this is being pumped into Salmon Falls Creek immediately below the barrier at the rate of one part per million. The catalyst also has turned the creek purple, which might astound some unknowing onlooker in the next few days.

Because it can be turned on and off so easily, Fintrol lends itself to spot eradication, such as Bell outlined below the barrier in cases of large sucker spawning runs. "We can kill them all with minimum cost and effort — a mile below neutralize it so nothing reaches the reservoir," he points out.

Returning to the second plus of the overall project, Bell is pleased with the trap in the barrier. A rather large number of Kokanee (Redfish) first planted four years ago, run out of Salmon Reservoir to spawning beds in Nevada. These are the intermediate spawners and Idaho has no source for these.

(Kokanee come in early run (late August) intermediate run (late September-October) and late run (December).

Idaho has a multitude of early spawners, Island Park, Mackay Reservoir and Anderson Ranch Reservoir providing more than the department can handle.

Because the later run species can provide longer fishing for Idaho anglers, they are desirable.

If this year's run is as large as expected, Bell hopes to keep 800 to 1,000 spawners and pass the remainder over the barrier to spawn naturally — and give Nevada fishermen a crack. The reason for the numbers set is hatchery space limitation. The spawn stripped from the 800 to 1,000 will be eyed and hatched at Spackman's Twin Falls hatchery, then be replanted at Salmon Reservoir or available for introduction into other suitable Idaho streams.

Currently, Magic Valley anglers are taking Kokanee out of Salmon Reservoir that are starting to turn red, indicating the run is at hand. The barrier, now about nine months behind completion schedule, doesn't have the trap installed but its getting close.

Mackey put on waivers

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts announced Wednesday that three-time all-pro tight end John Mackey has been placed on waivers. The action by the Colts climaxed three days of controversy over Mackey's playing status.

The American Conference Club Vice President Joe Thomas said the move was made "since the resultant dispute has made it very difficult for Mackey to return as an effective member of the Baltimore Colts."

The Colts announced Monday that the hulking former Syracuse star had retired because the club had failed to trade him. That announcement was immediately refuted by Mackey who claimed he told head coach Don McCafferty that he "wasn't going to sit on the bench."

In his statement Wednesday, Thomas said the nine-year veteran had turned in his playbook, taken as a sign of voluntary retirement. The club said Mackey was unhappy about his second-string status behind end Tom Mitchell.

The action by the Colts today allows all of the other 25 National Football League clubs to claim him. In the event Mackey is not claimed, he will become a free agent at 4 p.m. Friday.

Miami to use three backs

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Coach Don Shula said Wednesday that from now on it's Larry "Sundance" Csonka, Jim "Cassidy" Kwik and Eugene "Mercury" Morris in the Dolphin backfield.

Shula had planned to use the three-back system last season, but Morris injured his thigh in training camp and never had a chance to work into the Csonka-Kwik act before the regular season began.

But Morris has been the star of the offense during this year's pre-season games, starting every one.

Burley-Minico, Caldwell-TF games top prep grid slate

It's Burley-Minico time—and enough said about that—while Twin Falls entertains Caldwell and unbeaten Filer plays host to dangerous Wendell in the mainliners of Magic Valley high school football Friday.

Basically it's the start of conference play since the 14 games set for Friday, only three will be non-league.

Of course, one of those non-league games is very big—the Minico-Burley thing. Minico opened well, defeating Nampa on the road and will be undefeated in its opener. Burley, meanwhile, has gone one and one against folks out of Magic Valley.

Minico has about as many lettermen as Burley will have in uniform but the Bobcats aren't punchless. "I felt we showed quite a bit of improvement against Kelly after our opener against Bear River," Coach Matthews said. "I don't know if its enough but I'm a little more encouraged."

Minico showed a little Gary Swan—John Astorquia influence in its opener under new Coach Bart Templeman. Both Templeman's aides like to see the ball in the air and junior quarterback Rich Donner put it there 10 times. That's a lot for Minico, according to past history.

Twin Falls is coming back after a victory and two-week layoff. However, the Bruins, despite shutting out Jerome, were not over powering offensively.

"The first thing we did," said Coach Norm Thomas of the practice after, "was nominate (Quarterback Mike) Sturgill for the medal of honor and then we started making some changes in personnel and blocking assignments." Sturgill wore a necklace of Jerome tackles just behind the line of scrimmage much of the opener.

Among the changes are whittling the three junior fullbacks to one and switching the others to linemen. Mel Harder stays in the backfield with Curt Ward and Terry Hillman going into the line. They run 195 and 210 each.

"We've increased our size, cut down our splits and forgot about trying to influence people out of the play. We're blocking right down the line," Coach Thomas said.

Of course, the thing to watch is the middle of the Twin Falls defense where linebackers Dick Walker and Mark McKain and nose guard Ross Deahl were superlative.

Buhl is expecting a strong passing game when it entertains the Valluue Falcons. "They have a quarterback who reminds me of McMillan (now playing for Boise State). It's a strong team, but if we play well and without many mistakes, we can beat them," Coach Jon Jund says.

Jerome continues on the road, this time going to Glens Ferry. The Tigers will have a huge weight advantage over Glens Ferry.

In South Central Idaho Conference play, the Gooding Senators and Indians meet at Shoshone with neither having scored yet. The difference being Shoshone managed a tie at 0-0 with Declo while Gooding bowed to Filer 6-0. It should be a rugged defensive game as both teams showed desire to hit.

Wood River debuts at home, entertaining in Mountain Home at 1:30 p.m. Friday. The Wolverines defeated Salmon 13-6 but moved the ball somewhat better than that indicates.

Mountain Home reportedly is very strong in the line.

Filer, relying heavily on youngsters but picking up per-capita in attitude, puts its 2-0 mark against Wendell's 0-2. The Wildcats have put two shutouts back to back, which might be a seven-year record, but its defense can't relax since Wendell has outstanding, one-play speed. Wendell's biggest problem is depth, only 18 suited up last week.

A full four games are scheduled in the Magic Valley Conference. Raft River, easy winner over two Eastern Idaho teams, will be at Hansen where the Huskies are 0-2. Declo, now 1-0-1, will put Hagerman's sudden two-game win streak to the test at Declo. Oakley, 1-0, will be at Murtaugh, 2-0, and this could have a bearing on each's title outlook.

In the June Little Five battle, traditional foes Valley and Kimberly meet at Kimberly. Both have lost two outings.

Eight-man action finds the Carey Panthers the next in line to test the Camas County juggernaut at Fairfield. The Musers showed little dip from last year's untested team. Bliss, still trying to cram experience into a lot of youngsters, will be at Richfield which already has felt the Camas County sting and probably didn't like it much. Richfield went into the thing rated No. 2 in the league in pre-season outlook. Dietrich, reviving from a couple of down seasons with a big scoring surge in its opener, will be home to Rimrock.

NFL hall of fame fund under probe for possible fraud

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York attorney general's office Wednesday confirmed a published report that it has been investigating possible fraudulent activities on the part of the National Football Foundation.

A story, published Wednesday in the Wall Street Journal, said that the National Football Foundation has raised over $5 million during the past two decades through donations from various institutions and individuals but has a net worth right now of only $2 million and has yet to begin construction on the Hall of Fame.

The frauds bureau is trying to find out what has happened to the money collected and why the foundation has failed to launch its project.

As originally conceived, the Hall of Fame was to be constructed on the campus of Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N.J., the site of the first college football game. A ground-breaking ceremony was held in 1966 but as yet no construction has been started on the proposed site. Rutgers has even contributed $320,000 to the foundation.

Recently, the foundation purchased a 65-room former private home on 80th street in New York City and has said it will install the Hall of Fame there. The reason for the switch in locations, the foundation said, is due to increased building costs at Rutgers and the fact that they now have less than $2 million to spend. It is estimated that to build the Hall of Fame now at Rutgers would cost $5.5 million as compared to $1 million 20 years ago.

The idea of New York City as the site of the National Football Hall of Fame has caused some raised eyebrows among football fans.

Sox nip NY first-place bid; Tigers top Orioles on balk

NEW YORK (UPI)—Doug Griffin collected three hits including run-scoring singles in the four-run fifth inning, and the three-run eighth inning Wednesday night as the Boston Red Sox routed the New York Yankees, 7-2 to maintain their shaky hold on first place in the American League East.

The Yankee, who could have moved into first place for the first time in September since 1964 with a victory, fell 1-2 games back as they were the victims of their misplays and some unusual bouncers.

Fred Scherman protected Joe Coleman's 16th win against 14 defeats with four innings of faultless relief.

Detroit scored five times in the fifth to overcome a 5-1 lead by Baltimore, which had shared second place with New York in the American League's tight East Division. Boston leads, Detroit is one back, while Baltimore and New York are now 1-1-2 back.

Frank Howard started repaying Detroit for buying him from Texas September 1 by doubling home a run in the first inning and hitting his 10th home run.

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Paul Schaal cracked a tie-breaking two-run double in the eighth inning Wednesday night, pulling the Kansas City Royals to a 6-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Amos Otis led off the eighth with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice. Carl Taylor walked before Schaal, who had three hits and three RBI's, cracked a double down the leftfield line on a 3-2 pitch from loser Terry Forster, 6-5.
