Search broadens for 2 Elmore kidnap suspects

MOUNTAIN HOME — Two men who fled the Elmore County jail early Sunday — kidnapping and later releasing an unarmed police officer — were suspects today in the possible murder of a man found at a Montana roadside rest stop.

The search for the two escapees widened into Montana this morning with the discovery of a man's body in a rest stop along Interstate Highway 94 about 2 miles west of Miles City, Mont.

Sheriff's officers in Miles City said the escapees are suspects in the apparent slaying since the victim was shot four times with .38 caliber "wad cutter" bullets. Ammunition of that type is often carried by law enforcement officers, and two .38 caliber pistols were taken by the two escapees when they fled the Elmore County jail, along with about 50 bullets of that type.

The fugitives were identified as Wallace Rhoades Jr., 22, of Clark County, Nev., and James M. Shields, 20, Mountain Home. Rhoades was in jail on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. Shields was being held for grand larceny and parole violation.

Montana officers said the body of a man believed to be about 55 to 60 years of age was found about 1 a.m. today in the bathroom of a roadside rest area off the interstate.

Identity of the shooting victim had not been established late this morning because his billfold and all identification were missing.

The two men overpowered Elmore County Sheriff Earl Winter during the breakfast hour.

Mountain Home Police Officer Al Elsberry was taken hostage by the gunmen after they escaped from jail.

Elsberry said the two men pretended to be runaway juveniles when he spotted them this morning.

The patrol car headed northeast toward Fairfield when the escapees made Elsberry stop another car. The car was a 1972 Thunderbird with Oregon license plates. "They made the people get out and told me to get in and drive," Elsberry said.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Huffelman, Dayville, Ore., were left by the side of the road unharmed.

Elsberry said he traveled for about seven more miles with the escapees. "They handcuffed me with my handcuffs to a chain link fence and threw my keys in the brush," he said. "I asked them if they'd leave my gun with me because it wasn't paid for yet," he said.

"About two minutes later, two men in a pickup saw me and took me back to my patrol car," Elsberry said. The Huffelmans were waiting there and Elsberry radioed back to the office and help came.

Roadblocks were set up on Highways 68 and 93 and helicopters were sent into the hills to search.

Officers from several Magic Valley counties were involved Sunday in the manhunt. Lincoln County Sheriff Thomas W. Connor said the escapees were reported seen on a country road between Gooding County and Johnny's Country store eight miles north of Shoshone.

Copner said he and Deputy Bill Anderson and Shoshone Police Chief John Shaffer searched the area but found no trace of the pair.

Camia County Sheriff Paul Cox said his department was maintaining a search of the valley surrounding the area where the men were last seen. A spokesman for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Twin Falls said the FBI was not involved in the chase.

the Speaker said, he didn't anticipate the governor would take the action.

Roy Haney, an assistant to the governor and coordinator of federal programs, said Saturday it would be several days before Andrus would have data available to him gauging the possible effects of the funds on the economy.

"It is Andrus, he said, who has jurisdiction over the funds. The Congressional conference committee reached agreement Friday on a compromise revenue sharing bill which is expected to bring Idaho $19.8 million for state and local governments by Dec. 31.

Special session eyed on new funds

TWIN FALLS — House speaker William J. Lanting, R-Hollister, said today he would "encourage" Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to call a special legislative session to deal with revenue sharing funds.

Lanting said he thought the legislature should assist in drawing up guidelines for the allocation of the approximately $10 million the state government will receive by next June 30, after President Nixon signs the revenue sharing measure.

While agreeing the governor has jurisdiction over the allocation of the funds, Lanting said he would "encourage him" to summon the legislature. But,

Grain exporters got advance info

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials testified today that major exporters selling wheat to Russia were notified in advance of a change in U.S. export policy, but said the firms were given no specifics through which they could profit.

A House agriculture subcommittee, holding hearings on the big grain deal which has been criticized by Democrats as unfairly advantageous to private sellers, heard the testimony from Carroll G. Brunthaver, assistant agriculture secretary for international affairs and commodity programs, and Charles W. Pence, director of the department's grain division.

The National Farmers Union (NFU) charged in the same hearing that private grain traders conceivably could have reaped as much as $100 million in windfall profits by careful timing of their purchases and applications for government export subsidies.

In his testimony, Brunthaver said Pence was instructed on Aug. 24 "to notify exporters immediately that a change had just been made in export policy." But he said the sellers could not have profited from the information, since a decision to lower subsidies was not made until the following day, and then was made retroactive to Aug. 23 — later extended to Aug. 24.

Pence backed up Brunthaver's version, saying the call on the 24th "were to place exporters on instant notice that if they continued making sales they did so at their own risk as to subsidy levels."

"This was done," Pence said,

"to prevent overselling of certain classes of wheat. The exporters were not told what a new export price level would be, nor was any information given to indicate that the level of subsidy would necessarily change, only that they could not count on the previous export price policy being continued."

The Agriculture Department lowered the government subsidy levels on Aug. 25 to reflect domestic price rises resulting from the sales to Russia, which burgeoned well beyond the volume initially expected.

Anti-drug pressure promised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tearing the battle against drug abuse "one of the most urgent national priorities," President Nixon said today he would suspend all U.S. assistance to nations whose leaders protect narcotics traffickers.

In an address to the International Narcotics Control Conference at the State Department, Nixon ticked off steps his administration had taken to crack down on drug peddlers.

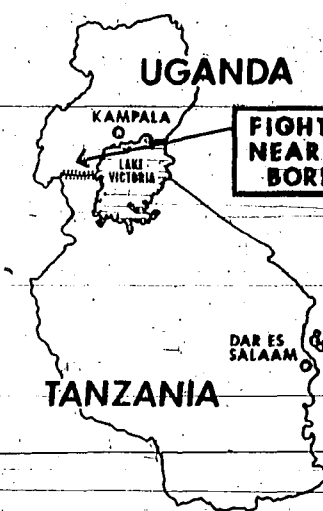

He said more federally funded drug treatment facilities had been created in his administration than in the 50 previous years, with help now available to 100,000 heroin addicts a year. This will be increased to a million per year if Congress approves his requests for funds, he said.

The number of arrests of drug traffickers doubled last year, over the previous year, and recent sharp increases in heroin prices furnish evidence of the effectiveness of the crackdown, Nixon said.

Nixon's declaration that he would cut off both economic and military assistance to countries not cooperating in the campaign against drug traffic was the latest in a long series of steps he has announced in this area since taking office. It also appeared to be at least partially a response to Sen. George S. McGovern.

McGovern, noting that Nixon was appearing before the narcotics control meeting, accused the President of turning his head to heavy drug trafficking from Southeast Asia.

"One-quarter to one-third of the heroin entering the United States comes from Southeast Asia," the Democratic presidential nominee said Sunday. "The reason that Richard Nixon has been unable to prevent this is that our allies in Laos, Thailand and South Vietnam are involved in the narcotics trade. The administration does not crack down on them because it needs air bases in Thailand."

African battle

REPORTS from Africa said about 1,500 invaders from Tanzania were being engaged by Ugandans, who claimed victory over the invading force. (Story at right) (UPI)

Uganda claims Tanzanian rout

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI) — Uganda said today it had routed an invading force of 1,500 Ugandan exiles from Tanzania and that its bombers had struck at their base in the neighboring country.

(A Dar-Es-Salaam dispatch said one of two planes believed to be Ugandan hit the Tanzanian town of Bukova on Lake Victoria 20 miles south of the Uganda border and that unconfirmed reports said four persons were killed.)

A military spokesman in Kampala said Ugandan tanks, infantry and paratroopers, supported by its small air force and navy, had retaken three towns overrun by the invaders Sunday night and driven the attackers off from the administrative center of Mbarara, 160 miles southwest of here.

He said casualty figures by mid-day were 200 enemy troops killed, including three identified as Israeli, with nine Ugandan soldiers killed.

(In Dar-Es-Salaam, the capital of Tanzania, an army source said 1,000 troops had been moved to the Ugandan border with instructions not to provoke any incidents or cross into Uganda.)

Charles' wife and Gartley's mother accompanied the peace group, called "The Committee of Liaison with the Families of American Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam," to Hanoi to meet the prisoners.

VNA said that after the ceremony the pilots, "their families and the peace group drove to the hotel reserved for them." A Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) radio report from Hanoi said the pilots and the visiting American group were expected to take "some tours of damaged areas" before returning to the United States.

It was not known what route the group would take out of Hanoi, but it was considered likely they would fly to Moscow on the Soviet Aeroflot airline next Saturday through Vientiane, Laos.

"All the three American fliers, dressed in civilian suits complete with neckties, took turns in voicing their deep gratitude to the people and government of the DRVN (Democratic Republic of Vietnam) for their humane policy and good treatment during their detention," the agency said.

Hanoi frees 3 GIs

TOKYO (UPI) — North Vietnam Sunday released three American prisoners of war to their waiting relatives and a U.S. peace group in Hanoi, the Communist Vietnam News Agency (VNA) said.

The VNA dispatch, monitored in Tokyo, said "a moving moment followed" when two of the three men—all pilots—were reunited with members of their families in the downtown ceremony.

The report said the prisoners "joyfully greeted" peace committee members David Dellinger, Mrs. Cora Weiss, Princeton University Prof. Richard Falk and The Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr. of Yale University.

The three men, all pilots, were Navy Lt. (j.g.) Markham L. Gartley of Dunedin, Fla., captured Aug. 17, 1969; Navy Lt. Norris Alphonzo Charles of San Diego, Calif., captured Dec. 30, 1971, and Air Force Maj. Edward Knight Elias, of Valdosta, Ga., captured April 20.

Charles' wife and Gartley's mother accompanied the peace group, called "The Committee of Liaison with the Families of American Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam," to Hanoi to meet the prisoners.

Aide's dismissal troubles seniors' program

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In late February and early March, after Robert Hale was hired as its senior citizens program director, the South-Central Community Action Agency (CAA) was in trouble.

Only three months earlier a state evaluation team had put the local CAA on probation and set up a timetable to be met by the CAA staff.

The evaluation team from the Idaho Office on Aging — the agency which channels federal funds to the local CAA — found lack of communication between the CAA staff and the senior citizens program staff. It found the CAA lacked understanding of the senior citizens project goals.

Four months after the critical evaluation, after massive help from the professional staff of the Office on Aging, grants were approved to fund five Magic Valley senior citizens projects in Twin Falls, Jerome and Cassia counties. The grants were approved by an agreement, which included special conditions between the Aging office and the local CAA.

Less than two weeks after the senior citizens projects were successfully funded, the senior citizens program director, Robert Hale, was fired at the end of a two-week series of meetings and demands.

The official reason given by those responsible was that Hale had failed to do his job. But there were other, unspoken reasons Hale believes, that contributed to his downfall.

Hale now says there were rumors that he was guilty of morals offenses and that he had "manhandled" a senior citizen.

Hale vigorously denied the charges. No evidence has been made public to substantiate them.

But there can be little question that Hale's personality clashed with those of several other CAA staffers, leading to bitterness, anger, and Hale claims, a "hatchet job."

Hale says he and his secretary, Mrs. Ted

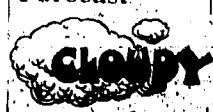

Ross, failed to work well together. He says he had tried to fire her in May, but backed down to avoid jeopardizing the pending project grants after she said she would demand a fair hearing from the CAA board.

Mrs. Ross, in an interview, denied that Hale had ever tried to fire her, but agreed the two did not work well together in the office, and their relationship was cool.

Hale charges that many of the problems in getting the grants written in acceptable form were due to "sabotage" on the part of Mrs. Ross and other office staffers.

Hale says he and his secretary, Mrs. Ted

Downtown stores have fire class

TWIN FALLS — Business firm owners in downtown Twin Falls are taking precautions to prevent costly commercial area fires.

Rudy Aashenbrenner, chairman of the fire prevention program of the downtown business organization, said each block has a fire chief and each business a fire chairman. Friday, demonstrations were given by the Twin Falls Fire Department in extinguishing various types of fires with water and chemicals. Fire extinguishers were used by each of the men and women attending the drill for the square block including the 100 block of Main Avenue West.

Dale Platt served as instructor from the fire department and Monte Lee conducted the fire fighting. Aashenbrenner said the merchants have also asked the fire department to inspect each of their firms and make suggestions about how to eliminate fire hazards and make improvements which will lessen the chances of a damaging fire.

Demonstrations with fire extinguisher equipment will be held in each block, under the direction of the fire department.

Block chiefs include Walter Mildon, Price Hardware; Del Van Orden, Calns; Susan Hutchison, Bowl and Board; Kent Berg, Shirley and Wyatt; Paul Fee, Jensen's Jewelry; Bob Ellis, Western Auto; Edd Bossard, Alexanders' and Maurice Cole, Macies Boots.

Punishment fits youthful 'crime'

TWIN FALLS — Harry Martin, working on the Laurel Park Apartments construction, called police Friday to report he had a "thief" he was holding for the law.

By the time police arrived, the father of the 9-year-old thief had arrived, the crime report said, and had "taken the situation in hand in good style." Police said the young man who had helped himself to some of the building materials would probably be standing up for a while, and the case was closed.

Joint meet set at Filer

FILER — The American Legion and Auxiliary will hold a joint meeting tonight in the Filer Legion Hall. Dessert will be served at 8 p.m. Delegates to last spring's Boys' State and Girls' State will be speakers and parents of the delegates will be special guests.

Question...

I want to create a burial fund that will transfer to you easily when I die, but will be under my complete control while I am living. What do you think of my credit union as a medium to accomplish this?

There are many desirable features to be found in the credit union plan for the purpose. Although it is optional with individual credit unions most of them now have term life insurance on their deposits. For example, if you are under 55 and deposit $300 or any amount up to the credit union maximum in an account to be paid to you upon your death, you will receive double the deposit plus the accrued dividends. If you are over age 55 when you first make a deposit for this purpose you at least get the amount of term insurance that will be paid at the time of your death.

Your credit union will actually loan you money to deposit into this burial fund. Should you pass away before the funds fully repaid the borrowing loan, balance a cancelled and term insurance applies to the amount on deposit. Some of the aspects of this plan may seem a little complicated but actually they are not. We will be glad to discuss them with you at your convenience.

4 hearings set for TF council

TWIN FALLS — Four items will be covered in public hearings during the Twin Falls City Council meeting tonight.

The hearings will review zoning and annexation requests and will begin at 8 p.m. in the city hall auditorium.

Proposed for annexation and scheduled for public hearing is a parcel of property north of the city of about 20 acres in size known as College Meadows subdivision.

An application for conditional use to permit a beauty shop at 2038 Concordia Way is also scheduled for public hearing.

Other items are the application for a variance of set-back requirements to allow construction of a carport at 1201 10th Ave. E., and application for conditional use in a residential medium density zone for an eight-unit apartment building in the Pearson subdivision.

Other business on the agenda includes a discussion of requests for annexation of the Tom Walker property south of town and part of the John Breckenridge property north of town. Both requests are expected to be referred to the planning and zoning commission for recommendations.

Several members of the city police department will receive certificates showing their qualifications under a state certification program.

An agreement with the U.S. Air Force for use of the city-county airport as an emergency dispersion base for Nellis Air Force Base will be discussed and a request of the airport commission to purchase fire fighting equipment will be aired.

Gem high court opens TF meet

TWIN FALLS — A review of disciplinary proceedings opened a session of the Idaho Supreme Court here today.

The court was scheduled to hear arguments in an appeal from disciplinary proceedings against attorney Robert C. Campbell, brought by the Idaho State Bar. That was the opening item on a docket listing hearings continuing through Friday afternoon.

Other cases scheduled for hearing today included Amco Insurance Co. vs. Paul Chesley, an appeal by Chesley contesting a summary judgment entered in favor of the insurance firm following litigation involving an auto accident, and Vernon C. Phillips vs. Fifth District Court. The latter action seeks review of a court order finding Phillips in contempt of court for allegedly failing to comply with terms of a divorce decree.

McClure assails red tape

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — Federal red tape will do more harm for the consumer than good, U.S. Rep. James McClure told the Idaho Retailers and Food Dealers convention in Sun Valley Sunday.

The Republican U.S. Senate candidate said, "More red tape, such as the Occupational Safety and Health Act as it is presently written, will not give the consumer and the businessman the protection they need."

He said both houses of Congress have new consumer protection bills in the works, but he favors the house version which would use existing agencies for enforcement of the legislation.

McClure said he had intended to stay in Idaho this week to campaign for the U. S. Senate, but the health, education and welfare bill will be up for a vote on Tuesday, and it's one of the most important bills of the session, so I am returning to Washington.

The bill includes the funding of the enforcement of OSHA.

Enrollment period for CSI term ends

TWIN FALLS — Today was the last day for late enrollment at the College of Southern Idaho.

Students were still able to enroll for full credit and enrollment figures are scheduled to be tabulated early this week.

Other events this week include a men's pool tournament beginning today; the state adult basic education conference Monday through Wednesday in the student conference room, and a social committee meeting Tuesday at noon.

Other events Tuesday include intermural football beginning at 4 p.m. on the campus; an American Association of University Women meeting at 8 p.m. in the CSI dining room, and

The Collegiates for Christ meeting at 8 p.m. in the student priority.

Intra mural tennis begins Wednesday on the CSI tennis courts. A movie, "Blow Hot, Blow Cold" will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

An alcohol safety action program will be held Wednesday from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the student conference room. A Torch Club meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Eagle's Nest and Idaho real estate classes begin at 7 p.m. in Room 107 of the Shields building.

On Thursday a Student Senate meeting is set for 1 p.m. in the student conference room and the Ski Club meets at 4 p.m. in the student conference room.

Facility site cleaned

TWIN FALLS — About a dozen Kimberly youngsters worked most of Saturday and their pay was a hamburger and soft drink.

Bernice Climer, member of the Humane Society Auxiliary, Kimberly, directed the work party of grade school and junior high school students who cleared away weeds and picked up trash around the Humane Society office and shelter.

Officials at the shelter said the youngsters did a good days work to help meet one of the many needs around the new shelter.

Volunteer work and cash donations have made it possible for the establishment of a shelter which is accepting homeless animals and providing pets for persons wishing puppies, kittens or full-grown animals. Frequently the shelter finds itself housing horses, cows, turtles or porcupines.

Nevadan ducks taxes

BOISE (UPI) — Nevada's Gov. Mike O'Callaghan told Idaho newsmen this weekend he will try to avoid new taxes or general tax increases by using a sharp pencil on the state's budget.

Appearing Saturday on the Television Network of Idaho's "Viewpoint," O'Callaghan said he hopes he can go a full four years in office without a tax hike.

He said he would have a positive answer on whether there will be a tax increase in the next two years in Nevada in about 30 to 60 days.

The Democrat said there would never be a personal income tax in the state while he is governor — unless the legislature had enough votes to override a veto.

O'Callaghan added he would not run for the Congress in 1974, and he would not indicate whether he would seek another term as governor.

In a question directed at O'Callaghan's lukewarm support for presidential candidate George McGovern, he said he was an honorary co-chairman of a committee to elect McGovern.

He added that if McGovern had to run for president today in Nevada, the senator would have a "tough time winning."

Davis attacks defense waste

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — Government should take a tip from business and "crack down on the monumental problem of incompetent waste," according to Senate candidate William E. (Bud) Davis.

Addressing the Idaho Retailers and Food Dealers Association convention here Sunday, the Peocatello Democrat said, "Skyrocketing overruns, waste and corruption could lead to dangerous cutbacks in our military preparedness."

"While I campaign for $15 billion to be cut from the defense budget for a public works program that will be administered on a state level to turn over money in each community, I do not want to weaken our defense," he said. "Instead, I want a Spartan-tough defense posture — one without this ridiculous waste," he added.

Davis said the new programs the nation needs could be funded for a "mere fraction of the waste going on."

"The Idaho taxpayer has the right to know why it costs 8,000 times more today to shoot down one Communist MIG in Vietnam than it did in Korea," Davis said.

He called for a U.S. Senate which would "be on hand not only when these waste-ridden appropriations come before their respective committees, but which will also be on the floor with a vote for the taxpayer."

Goldwater blasts ban

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Ousted Gen. John D. Lavelle and Army Chief of Staff appointee Gen. Creighton W. Abrams jointly ordered an unauthorized air strike against a radar site in North Vietnam last spring, according to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

"When the site was finally destroyed, it was on the orders of Gen. Abrams and Gen. Lavelle and they both caught hell from the Joint Chiefs of Staff — not because the JCS disagreed with the strike, but because the orders said you can't do it," Goldwater said during the weekend.

Abrams, whose appointment by President Nixon as chief of staff has been delayed pending a Senate Armed Services Committee investigation of 28 offensive air raids into North Vietnam during a time when only defensive strikes were allowed, has denied ordering the attacks.

Goldwater, a member of the Armed Services Committee and a retired Air Force Reserve general, said both men acted honorably and their actions were justified.

Gem Guard chiefs at national meet

SAN FRANCISCO (Special to the Times-News) — Idaho National Guard leaders were among delegates attending the general conference of the National Guard Association in San Francisco.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, in addressing the closing session of the conference Friday, attacked defense proposals of Sen. George McGovern, Democratic presidential candidate.

Reagan charged planned cutbacks in military spending would make the United States a "second rate nation" and that changes proposed for the National Guard would make it a "domestic militia." Reagan said he wanted the Guard to "be a combat ready force."

Entertainer Bob Hope received an award citing his distinguished service to defense through overseas trips at Christmas over the past 30 years.

Among Idahoans attending the meeting were Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, adjutant general; Brig. Gen. James S. Brooks of the Army National Guard; Brig. Gen. James M. Trail, Air National Guard, and Mrs. Norma Herzinger, Twin Falls, a member of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Service.

Other topics discussed during the conference were equal opportunities for minority groups, all-volunteer armed service, and opposition to annexation for those leaving the United States to avoid military service.

Condition said good

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cogan, South Pasadena, Calif., injured in a two-car accident Monday, were listed in good condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The collision Monday morning south of Hogerson took the lives of the five occupants of the other car. Cogan suffered a fractured arm and other injuries and Mrs. Cogan a fractured pelvis and facial lacerations.

COMMENT

Hansen Race Doubtful

Idaho State Journal
Odds are that George Hansen's name will not appear on the November ballot, despite rumors that he might accept the American Party nomination as either a Senate or Second Congressional District candidate.

Three weeks after his defeat in the Republican nominating contest for the Senate, Hansen is not talking like an American Party candidate. But he is not keeping quiet like a "good Republican" either. He feels he was robbed of a fair shot at the Republican Senate nomination by some of Idaho's biggest industrial interests, which he claims gave unprecedented financial support to one of his Republican rival, First District Congressman James McClure, the winner of the Republican battle. That kind of help, amounting to $75,000 or more, traditionally has been held for the general election, Hansen says.

During the primary race Hansen did not say much about the special help McClure was getting. Nor did he play upon the special meeting to which he and the late F. W. "Bill" Bergeson, another Senate contender, were summoned by certain party leaders, who along with McClure and representatives of several major Idaho industries, sought to talk them out of seeking the Senate post.

When Hansen did not play along, he received veiled threats that he would be washed up politically in Idaho and of a possible FBI investigation for alleged violations of the Hatch Act. When that didn't work, money was poured into McClure's campaign at such a rate that his organization was hard put to spend it fast enough, says Hansen.

Hansen knew he was risking his prospects in the Republican party when he decided to buck the crowd centered in the CBS (Simple) Building in Boise and within a few blocks thereabouts. His revelations of the maneuverings to assure McClure's nomination have not improved his position with the Republican bosses, many of whom apparently feel he should put up with this kind of treatment rather than endanger party unity and McClure's election. Still, the 35,000 votes he received in primary command enough respect that party chieftains may forgive him for the transgression of speaking ill of another Republican.

Should he run outside the party, either for the Senate or for the Second Congressional District seat which he formerly held, Hansen would lose the support of those Republicans who place the party above personalities. That would likely mean another election lost and could perhaps help elect a Democrat.

So Hansen, author of the ill-fated "southern strategy" in the Idaho primary, is not doing much strategizing these days. His thoughts are more concerned with paying off his campaign debts and making his recently opened Pocatello business a success.

Hansen is dubious about going back to the small contributors to his primary campaign for another handout. Other people are doing that on his behalf, but so far Hansen is doubtful that they will raise enough money to mount a successful campaign.

Gun Control Wheeze

Lewiston Morning Tribune

Can't we all agree that the vast majority of Idahoans are dead set against gun control of any type, that those of us who differ in some degree have been soundly beaten on this issue and will be again? Can't we now convince Idaho politicians they can stop belaboring us with this quite academic issue?

Democratic Sen. Frank Church started it four years ago by passing petitions against gun control. There was no threat then or now that federal legislation would be enacted to take weapons away from Idaho sportsmen. But there was a slight risk that Church might be defeated that year in his bid for re-election, so the senator passed petitions against gun controls from one end of the state to the other, kicked hell out of his own strawman and won re-election easily, not for being one of the most distinguished foreign policy leaders in American government as he deserved, but for winning a bogus battle on gun control.

His opponent that year, then-Congressman George Hansen, erected billboards all over the state, proclaiming that Hansen was "first to oppose gun controls." The statement was false. Church was the first to grandstand on the issue and the people knew it.

We had a bit of a respite in the elections two years ago. There were no big splashy efforts to paint one candidate or the other as the foremost champion of guns. Democratic nominee Cecil D. Andrus and Republican Gov. Don Samuelson contented themselves with mentioning their opposition to gun control only three or four times a week.

The same show is on the road again this year. All eight primary election candidates for the U. S. Senate roamed the state pounding their chests and denouncing gun control.

Tooth In Packaging

Christian Science Monitor

We are intrigued, and a bit dismayed, to read that within the next decade or so the American consumer may find beverages sold in edible cans candy bars dispensed in edible wrappers, and meats encased in nutritious containers that dissolve during cooking.

That may be a possible solution to the growing problem of what to do with solid wastes, but it poses some problems of its own.

Such as, what to do with the candy bar in its edible wrapper which has been lying on the store shelf for undusted weeks?

And what about the picky children (young and old) who already insist on taking the jacket off boiled potatoes, peeling the skins off hot dogs, and excising the remotest trace of fat from their roast beef? Will awareness that an invisible film once encased their chicken cause them to cry fo(w)?

As for soft drinks in edible cans, we'll wait and see, but experience out of the dim past makes us doubt. Remember those miniature bottles of orange-flavored water that used to sell for a penny over the counter? They, too, as we recall, were "edible," or at least chewable. For hours on end.

Our own favorite solution to the wrapping problem is one prescribed by the French for fresh-baked bread since time beyond memory: remove a warm and fragrant baguette of bread from the oven; tuck under the arm; head for home; resist, if you can, the temptation to nibble before you get there.

ART BUCHWALD

Thoughts Of A Candidates Wife

WASHINGTON — It is regrettable that when the wife of a candidate for public office is interviewed, she can't say what is really on her mind. In order to be a good candidate's standard cliches about her husband, her home and her children.

Now, for the first time, thanks to a new "extrasensory perception" process, I can reveal what really is going on in the mind of the wife of the candidate. Her thoughts are indented:

"Mrs. Goodfellow, what is the most important role a wife must play in her husband's political career?"

"She must give him moral support when he is discouraged. She must be his ears and eyes when he isn't around, and she must be able to help him relax at the end of a hard day's campaigning."

"As well as keep him off the bottle and away from all the skirts who think he's God's gift to women."

"You have four children. Do you find they miss their father when he is out making speeches all the time?"

"I imagine they do. But Charlton is a wonderful parent and he always makes time for the children, no matter how many political commitments he has."

"Would you believe he hasn't seen them since the Fourth of July?"

"Do you find the children understand why both of you have to be away from home so much?"

"Oh, yes. They're wonderful about it, and they're as interested in the race as we are."

"They've only run away from home twice — the second time they asked to be placed in an orphanage."

"Do you get upset at the terrible things that are said about your husband during the campaign?"

"Oh, no. One must understand that politics is a rough business, and I'm used to it."

"But if I ever see the wife of Charlton's opponent, I'll scratch her eyes out."

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you find it tiring to be constantly in the limelight and always on your best behavior?"

"I love it. When we first got married, Charlton indicated he wanted to go into politics, and I knew that although it would place me in the spotlight, our lives would be exciting, thrilling and rewarding. I wouldn't change my life for anything."

"Except to be married to a plumber or somebody else with a respectable job."

"How do you manage to keep so beautifully dressed all the time?"

"I make do on Charlton's salary. You just have to know where the bargains are."

"If it weren't for the trust fund Daddy left me, I'd be in rags right now."

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you ever get any time alone with your husband?"

"Oh, yes. We steal many hours together and talk about the children and the funny things that have happened during the campaign and the intimate day-to-day happenings of our lives."

"The only other people present are his political campaign manager, his pressman, his finance chairman and 43 other volunteer workers."

"Mrs. Goodfellow, if your husband wins his race for office, will you change your living habits in any way?"

"Oh, no. I'm going to be the same person I was before."

"I'll just take more tranquilizers."

Angela In Moscow

WASHINGTON — Unless Angela Davis locates a workable brain in some secondhand clinic, I expect we can forget about her as a credible black leader, although she might make it as a mindless bomb-throwing Communist revolutionist.

If the name has happily slipped your mind, forgive me for the reminder that Miss Davis earlier this year was acquitted of murder-conspiracy charges in a California courtroom — shoot-out — and forthwith set out to liberate the oppressed peoples of the world. Presumably, history will pass judgment on the validity of her acquittal.

At any rate, Angela's first stop on her excursion of liberation was the Soviet Union. That ersatz paradise seemed a logical launching pad because Russia is about as free as the District of Columbia jailhouse, although a case might have been made for some of the dictator-operated African "democracies," such as Uganda. At the time, it appeared Miss Davis would find herself working a 25-hour day on behalf of the Soviet oppressed.

Well, Mrs. Balderdash, Angela finally has concluded what can only be described as a triumphant two weeks in Stalin's old haunts. Despite her emancipation proclamation, which might have been expected to make her suspect with her Communist hosts, she was received as a heroine. She was named an honorary professor of Moscow University, given the keys to the city of Samarkand and otherwise accorded the full treatment usually reserved for visiting tyrants from Red satellite states.

That sort of thing keeps a body on the jump, of course, but liberators supposedly are made of sterner stuff. Not La Davis. Not once did she suggest that the Soviet citizen might appreciate a dollop of liberation like, for instance, free speech or free elections.

Instead, Angela spent all her time lavishing praise on the Soviet system and Soviet policies and generally hewing to the straight Communist Party line. Reading her inane utterances in the controlled Soviet press, the Russian could be excused for wondering whether Miss Davis was talking about the street where he lives. Indeed, he might have decided she was referring to that capitalist mudhouse, the United States.

The Soviet Union's millions of ethnics in particular must have been astonished at Angela's statement in a speech to an audience in the Uzbek Republic of Central Asia. Said Miss Davis: "The possibility of seeing with my own eyes the practical realization of Lenin's ethnic policy will be of tremendous help in our own struggle of resolving the ethnic problem in the United States."

I fervently hope not. The Lenin ethnic policy unremittently followed by his successors is one of trampling the ethnics into the grounds, combined with periodic pogroms and the transportation of hundreds of thousands of "troublemaking" — Uzbeks, Mongolians and Ukrainians — thousands of miles into strange lands to dull their nationalism. Jews, Roman Catholics and the feisty Georgians hardly can be regarded as champions of Lenin's "solution" to the ethnic problem.

In fact, The New York Times was permitted to report from Moscow that Angela's enthusiasm for the Soviet system aroused "skepticism even among loyal Russians more familiar with the realities of life." The Times quoted the reaction of one avowed dissident:

"Is she a fool or is she dishonest? It seems to me she is."

ROBERT ALLEN

Black September

WASHINGTON — Libya, with an oil income of around $2.5 billion a year and a largely primitive and illiterate population of 1.9 million, is financing the maniacal violence of the Black September terrorists.

Main headquarters and staging area of the Palestinian killers is in Libya, not far from Tripoli, its capital and principal port. Since early this year, Colonel Muammar Qaddafi, Libyan strongman and fanatical Moslem and hater of Israel, has funneled some $2 million into Black September coffers.

This money financed the Munich atrocity, and last spring the massacre of some 40 foreign tourists at the Lod airport in Israel.

That mass slaughter, perpetrated by three Japanese extremists recruited and trained for this purpose, was planned, organized and executed with funds supplied by Qaddafi.

The 30-year-old Libyan ruler was kept personally informed of every phase of the Munich and Lod carnage.

To the Moslem zealot these berserk murders, and other blood-thirsty Palestinian terrorism, are part of the jihad (holy war) he is vicariously waging against Israel. As Libya is too distant and militarily too innocuous to hit directly at Israel, Qaddafi feels he is waging relentless war for all the Arabs by providing the means for the Palestinians to "strike deadly blows."

doing a disservice to her own countrymen by her statements here."

The answer is that Angela Davis is both a fool and dishonest. Like so-called "intellectuals" of the leftist brand, she is actually a rather stupid girl. Otherwise, she could not have tried to pass off on even her freakiest followers the almost moronic declaration that "Everything we have seen in the Soviet Union will inspire us in our own struggle."

She will of course continue to receive the allegiance of America's hard-core Communist revolutionaries with their clenched fists and Viet Cong flags. That bunch invents its own facts, as Lenin and Stalin did. But unless Angela Davis gets what might generously be described as her wits about her, she will find no future as a leader of 65 per cent of her black countrymen. Quite simply, her holiday in the Soviet Union has destroyed whatever small credibility she heretofore commanded.

There's a bit of confusion. Bronchitis is not a fungus disease, but rather is a structural change in the bronchi, resulting in dilation and the formation of sacs.

These sacs or bulges become infected, resulting in cough and production of foul and sometimes bloody sputum. But of course fungi can be present along with the other germs.

You are right that, in general, fungi thrive in moist rather than dry climates, but there are exceptions to this. Really, climate changes are not likely to have much effect one way or the other on bronchitis.

One or both lungs may be affected.

Treatment involves getting rid of those infected secretions. One part of this is by "postural drainage," which should be done twice a day. This means the patient lies down, as across a bed, with head and shoulders lower than the rest of the body.

Not only has the Soviet been careful to cultivate ties with them, but despite the Russians' eviction from Egypt, they still have considerable influence there and a great deal more in Syria, Iraq and other Arab countries. Even in Libya, there are high-placed pro-Soviet elements.

They are said to be close to certain members of the Revolutionary Command Council, the group of young military officers who overthrew the monarchy and seized control three years ago. Qaddafi is titular head of the Council and the dominant figure in it.

But there are signs of increasing strains and personal policy clashes in the group. Particular causes of disaffection are Qaddafi's rigid religious fanaticism and grandiose ambition to replace the late Gamal Abdel Nasser as world leader of the Arabs.

In the supercharged intrigues and violence of the Arab world, it's very possible that Libyan strongman Qaddafi, while covertly waging "merciless death and destruction against Israel," may wind up a victim of his own jihad.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband, 67, just spent two days in the hospital for tests and lung examination. The verdict was bronchitis. I understand this is a fungus disease.

I asked if a drier climate would be beneficial, and our doctor said he really didn't know, perhaps a moist climate would be better. I should think fungus would be less active in dry air. — B. M.M.

There's a bit of confusion. Bronchitis is not a fungus disease, but rather is a structural change in the bronchi, resulting in dilation and the formation of sacs.

These sacs or bulges become infected, resulting in cough and production of foul and sometimes bloody sputum. But of course fungi can be present along with the other germs.

You are right that, in general, fungi thrive in moist rather than dry climates, but there are exceptions to this. Really, climate changes are not likely to have much effect one way or the other on bronchitis.

One or both lungs may be affected.

Treatment involves getting rid of those infected secretions. One part of this is by "postural drainage," which should be done twice a day. This means the patient lies down, as across a bed, with head and shoulders lower than the rest of the body.

These help remove the secretions by drainage.

In addition, antibiotics usually are necessary to suppress the infection. Usually it is necessary to take them periodically, and for long enough to be effective — not the familiar few days.

Bronchograms (a form of lung X-ray) can map the exact extent and location of the trouble.

In some cases, removal of segments of the lung can bring about a cure. That's not the usual decision, however.

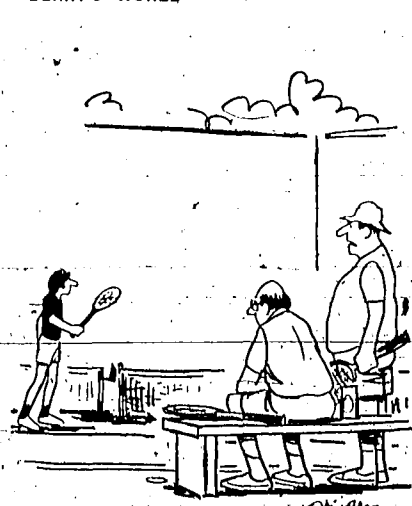

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 70 and my health is good. I work right along, do a lot of walking and go dancing once a week.

In the last few months I have had a hernia on the right side. The doctor said I should get it fixed. Do you think I should at my age? — G. W.

Yes. Your doctor recommended it and he knows your general condition. A hernia does not improve by itself. It gets worse.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed envelope (use zip code), stamped with 25 cents in coin.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Another tradition going by the boards — tennis whites! WHAT, hath God wrought?"

Senior citizen program upset ram-upset by speedy ouster

But Hale's biggest quarrel was with Betty Wooten, who was serving as GAA acting director during much of the time Hale was employed at the agency.

Wooten agrees the two did not get along, and says, "I don't know whether the man was treated justly, I really don't."

Other agency workers agree the atmosphere in the building was tense.

"You walked in in the morning and you didn't know who was your friend and who was your enemy," according to Lorna Bolton, who served as an outreach worker for the Twin Falls senior citizens program.

Others say the agency was practically without administrative direction, since executive director Dennis Pratt was away much of the time, having served his resignation notice and seeking employment in Boise.

Pratt agrees there were problems, but dismisses reports that they were out of control. "There was not a large dissatisfaction," he said, "problems were maybe a little bit more than usual."

But it is clear from the minutes of CAA meetings that Hale's dismissal was handled in a rapid manner.

The minutes of a May 15 tri-county board meeting show that Pratt, who had been director of the CAA for a year and a half, submitted his letter of resignation.

They also show that Hale described the budgets for the five senior citizens project centers to the board, and they gained approval.

With Betty Wooten picked as acting director, the records show, "Mr. Pratt recommended that (Wooten's salary) be adjusted to the director's salary of $9,600 and also that no policy or personnel changes be made during this time. Mr. (Cecil) Galley (a board member) moved this be done and was seconded by Mrs. Carter. The vote was unanimous."

Both Mrs. Wooten and Royal Slotten, CAA chairman of the board, agree that the records are in error, that no motion was made on the change of personnel and policy during the tenure of the acting executive director. The vote, they say, applied to the salary change.

This was later to be a key issue in Hale's complaints in the way his case was handled, since he said his dismissal was in direct contradiction to the vote of the board.

Ten days after acting director Wooten was named, on May 26, Zella Pace, the secretary of the Jerome Council on Aging, in a letter to Slotten, expressed dissatisfaction with Hale's performance on the job.

"We (the Jerome Council on Aging) feel he should have more interest in the Senior Citizens, their needs, welfare and wants. We feel he has failed to discharge his duties with truth and understanding."

But, the letter continued, "We are appreciative of what has been done for our Senior Citizens of Jerome and want to be able to continue with our work and program here."

Slotten's response, written a few days later, expressed confusion as to the Jerome group's reasoning, and advised the senior citizens to take their complaints through the Jerome CAA Board, one of three county advisory boards under the Tri-County Agency.

In an interview, Mrs. Pace said Hale "kind of got fouled up one time with the federal grant." And also said he didn't "understand his job," and had no effect on the awarding of the grant.

In fact, everyone involved in the preparation of the grants will agree that the job done at the local agency was spotty — the grants were rejected by the state office a number of times because they were not adequately prepared.

But, as with virtually every other specific in the furor surrounding Hale, there is no consensus on the culprit.

Hale charges that Mrs. Ross and others at the agency intentionally made errors on the grant forms to make his work reflect poorly. He also claims he was denied access to information in Boise because of regulation that all telephone calls were to be cleared routinely by Mrs. Wooten.

Mrs. Ross specifically denies the allegations made by Hale over her job, and Mrs. Wooten similarly dismisses the charges that she interfered with Hale's grantmanship.

On June 23, the Personnel Committee of the CAA met, and according to the minutes, "with a vote of four to one recommended that Robert Hale be asked for his resignation. It was recommended that Mrs. Wooten present this to Mr. Hale and in lieu of his refusal, the matter would go before the Tri-County Board for its discussion."

In a letter to Hale, Personnel Committee Chairman Hazel Norris wrote, "Failure to coordinate the Senior Citizen Program to the complete satisfaction of the senior citizens was the main objection."

Hale claims that Wooten handed him the letter written by Mrs. Norris with Rev. John Wallace, a member of the Twin Falls board, present.

She then asked for his resignation.

Wallace later confirmed the meeting. He said it was "clear to me" that Hale was not doing the job properly. He cited unauthorized long-distance telephone calls to Boise as one indication.

July 6, the executive committee of the CAA held an emergency meeting.

On hearing the report of the earlier personnel committee meeting, the executive committee passed a motion affirming that "Mr. Hale has failed to discharge his duties and his employment be terminated following notice given by Mrs. Wooten on July 7, 1972. This was seconded by Mr. Slotten. The vote was unanimous."

Paradoxically, the board noted that "evaluations" had not been made of Hale or his "recently hired employees."

... It is clear from the minutes of CAA meetings that Hale's dismissal was handled in a rapid manner.

The following day, Hale was handed a letter by Mrs. Wooten which read, "You are hereby given notice that the Executive Committee of the Tri-County Board of Directors met Thursday evening, July 6, 1972."

"A motion was made and seconded that Bob Hale's employment be terminated."

The same day, Hale wrote a letter to Slotten, making the following requests:

"That the board grant my request for a hearing regarding the Personnel Board's decisions to ask for my resignation;
"That the Tri-County Board look into the condition and management of the South Central Community Action Agency for the benefit of those senior citizens who have requested that I be retained."

Hale claims he was being handed a rapid exit from his job because his six-month employment probationary period was soon to expire, and after that time, the board would be bound by its bylaws to grant him a full hearing.

But before the end of the six months the agency had a right to terminate the employment arrangement with two weeks notice.

One man, who was very close to the matter, and voted in favor of firing Hale, substantiated Hale's claim, saying the dismissal was hastened to beat the 6-month deadline.

Ironically, Tad Ross, Hale's secretary, was also under the same rule, and could have been fired the same way.

The letters of support Hale referred to in his letter to Slotten were coming from, among others, the senior citizen group in Murtough-Kimberly-Hansen, which wrote, on June 5, "We wish at this time to express our deep heartfelt gratitude and appreciation to Mr. Robert Hale, Director of Senior Citizens Agency, for his hard work and long hours put in on our behalf."

The Cassia County group authorized a letter to the state Office on Aging stating it was "very satisfied" on June 28 with the work being done by Hale.

The West End Senior Citizen Council, centered in Buhl, wrote July 6, that Hale "has done his job securing our grant for our program."

"We hope that Mr. Hale will continue to work as director."

On July 11, however, when the Tri-County Board met, "a motion was made to endorse the executive committee's decision made at their last meeting. A ballot was taken and counted to be 13 yes votes and five no votes. Motion passed: A motion was then made and seconded to allow Mr. Hale to resign. A count of hands was taken and the motion was passed unanimously. A motion was made and passed to accept his resignation."

Hale refused to resign.

July 11 was Hale's final day of employment, two weeks after the personnel committee had first served him notice.

July 11 was also the day the new executive director, Bobby Russell was hired.

Although Russell and Hale were both dealt with in closed session, the board dispatched with Hale before it hired Russell, thus keeping Russell free of any involvement with the controversial issue.

With Hale still refusing to sign a letter of resignation, senior citizens in support of him were not ready to quit their efforts in his behalf, either.

Snake island status eyed

BOISE (UPI) — A study indicating 68 of 74 Snake River islands are suitable for inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System will be discussed at hearings in Boise and Ontario

Interior Department Fish and Wildlife Service officials announced the public meetings are set for Sept. 29 in the Malheur County library in Ontario and Sept. 30 at the Interagency Fire Center in Boise.

The islands under study are located along 110 miles of the river and are part of the service's Deer Flat National Wildlife Refuge. The wilderness proposal totals 734 acres.

A map and other information about the wilderness study are available from the refuge manager, Deer Flat National Wildlife Refuge, Route One, Box 1457, or the regional director, Fish and Wildlife Service, P. O. Box 3737, Portland, Ore., 97208.

Oral or written statements may be submitted at the hearings or comments sent to the regional director by Oct. 30.

Wrinkle-free

NEW YORK (UPI) — A convenient way to keep dresses from wrinkling during a move is to put them in a wardrobe carton. Available from moving firms, they're portable closets, complete with hanger bars. After the move they're ideal for storing clothes out of season.

Diseases unreported

BOISE (UPI) — The head of preventive medicine for the State Health Department said physicians are reporting only a small percentage of Idaho cases involving communicable diseases.

He said the search for a better reporting system has not produced results.

Dr. John A. Mather said the department changed from a card-mailing system to a telephone line available to physicians for reporting cases of the 40 communicable diseases the department wants statistics for.

"One of the real problems is that doctors just fail to report."

"It's not an intentional neglecting of the system," he said. "There's just no reminder to the physician to report the case, except the weekly report."

Bathtub rowed in river

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Leonard Moore, who recently walked across Death Valley in record time, has completed another bizarre adventure—rowing a bathtub 180 miles down the Sacramento River.

"It feels like I've gone a thousand miles," Moore said after completing his voyage from Red Bluff Friday. "At first I had blisters everywhere, but now they're hard. But my hands are sure sore."

Moore, 48, of Oakland, made the trip in five days despite a handicap probably unique in the sketchy annals of bathtub rowing.

"The two fellows who were following along in my pickup had to go back to work, so I had to drive the pickup, too, for the last three days," he said.

Moore said he first would row the bathtub about six miles downriver, then walk back to the truck and move it ahead.

"Then I'd walk back to the boat and row it another six miles, get out, walk back to the truck and move it ahead again."

Bradshaw-led Steelers defeat Raiders 34-28

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The daredevil Pittsburgh Steelers defense, blending with Terry Bradshaw's three-touchdown performance, scored one touchdown and set up three other scores for a 34-28 victory Sunday over the Oakland Raiders in an American Football Conference opener.

Bradshaw, in the finest performance of his pro career, ran 20 yards and two yards for touchdowns and then capped his day with a 57-yard scoring aerial to Ron Shanklin. Bradshaw completed 7 of 17 passes for 124 yards.

The defense began the Steelers scoring when linebacker Henry Davis blocked Jerry DePoyster's punt and then rambled five yards for his first NFL touchdown. Less than four minutes later, linebacker Jack Ham intercepted Ken Stabler's pass and returned two yards to the Raider 35.

Bradshaw passed 15 yards to Jack McMakin and in the next play went 20 yards over center for the tally. Roy Gerela's second conversational put the Steelers ahead, 14-0.

With four seconds remaining in the first period, safety Chuck

Cardinals top Baltimore 10-3

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Veteran St. Louis taxi squad quarterback Tim Van Gilder engineered a 5-play, 78 yard drive midway through the third quarter to give the punchless Cardinals a 10-3 win over the mistake prone Baltimore Colts Sunday afternoon.

Van Gilder, starting his first regular season game after five years on the club, connected with tight end Jackie Smith on a 71 yard pass and to play that pushed St. Louis to the Colts 10. Three plays later Donnie Anderson bulled over from the four to make the score 10-3 Cardinals.

Baltimore overwhelmed the Colts statistically piling up 117 yards rushing and 247 passing, as veteran Johnny Unitas clicked for 22 of 36 through the air. But the Colts attack, inside the St. Louis 20 on three different occasions failed to find the inzone.

With the score 10-3 early in the fourth quarter the Colts drove to the Cardinals 10 yard line. Three plays later they were at the two but head coach Don McCafferty disdained the field goal try and attempted to push over a score. On fourth down Unitas' pass on the goal line was picked off by safety Larry Wilson to end the threat.

Van Gilder was 10 of 15 for 60 yards. The Big Red offense was so shackled by a marauding Colts defensive unit that they could accumulate only 34 yards rushing on the afternoon.

St. Louis opened the scoring in the second quarter on a 41 yard field goal by Jim Bakken. Baltimore's Jim O'Brien missed four field goals, having two of them blocked before tying the game on a 42-yarder.

New York topples Buffalo 41-24

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Emerson Booser ran for two touchdowns and was on the receiving end of a Joe Namath pass for another score Sunday as the New York Jets methodically rolled over the Buffalo Bills, 41-24 in the opening National Football League game for both teams.

The Bills found themselves down 21-0 only five seconds into the second quarter as Namath, who appeared to be finding targets at will, tossed a 12 yard scoring pass to Booser.

Jets' running back John Riggins took a handoff for a 15 yard touchdown run through the left side of the line at 6:31 of the first quarter to open the scoring. Buffalo failed to move the ball on the next series and Chris Fargasopoulos raced 65 yards with a Spike Jones punt at the 8:20 mark to give the

Lions top New York

DETROIT (UPI) — Quarterback Greg Landry threw three touchdown passes Sunday to help the Detroit Lions open their National Football League season with a 30-16 routing of the New York Giants.

Errol Mann added field goals of 26, 20, and 38 yards to help the two-touchdown favorite win by exactly that.

Rocky Thompson returned a kickoff 92 yards and quarterback Norm Snead hit tight end Bob Tucker with a two-yard touchdown pass for New York's touchdowns. Pete Gogolak kicked a 42-yard field goal and missed an extra point for New York.

Thompson's kickoff return shaved Detroit's lead to 13-0 with 56 seconds left in the first half but Landry hit Al Barnes with an eight-yard scoring pass with 8:12 left in the third quarter and Mike Laca blunted a New York drive when he intercepted a deflected Snead pass while on his knees at the Detroit 16.

Cleveland routs Red Sox 9-2

BOSTON (UPI) — Gaylord Perry pitched a seven-hitter for his 21st victory Sunday as the Cleveland Indians routed the Boston Red Sox 9-2 and tightened up the American League East pennant race.

Cleveland scored five runs in the first four innings off Boston lefthander John Curtis and Perry limited the Red Sox to three hits thereafter. Cleveland's attack included two doubles by Graig Nettles and Frank Duffy and Buddy Bell's eighth home run.

Boston's first run in the first inning was unearned. Luis Aparicio's fly to centerfield was dropped by Bell and the run scored on Rico Petrocelli's two-out single. Boston's other run was a pinch homer by Andy Kosco in the seventh inning, his ninth of the year.

The Red Sox used four relief pitchers in an effort to stop the Indians but only one, Mike Garmon, was effective. Sonny Siebert made his first relief appearance of the season in the fourth inning and gave up a grounder and a single which accounted for two Cleveland runs.

Oakland extends winning streak

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jim Hunter stopped Texas on two hits for his 20th victory of the season Sunday as the Oakland A's rolled to a 4-1 triumph over the Rangers and extended their latest winning streak to five games.

Hunter struck out six and walked only one batter as he became a 20-game winner, for the second straight season.

Gene Tenace drove in two of Oakland's four runs with a pair of doubles. Matty Alou and Gonzalo Marquez each had one RBI as the A's made the most of seven hits.

Dave Nelson opened the game with a single, stole second for his 42nd theft of the year, went to third on an infield out and scored Texas' only run on a sacrifice fly by Larry Blittner. Hunter then retired 20 batters in a row until Ted Ford doubled with two out in the seventh for Texas' other hit.

Dolphins outlast Chiefs 20-10 to win rematch

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins struck for 10 points in the last minute of the first half Sunday, compliments of a 47-yard field goal by Garo Yepremian and a one-yard smash by Larry Csonka, lifting the Dolphins to a 20-10 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs in a not-so-close rematch of professional football's longest game last Christmas Day.

Safety Jake Scott provided the Dolphins with a big play after Yepremian's field goal erected a 10-6 lead with 59 seconds to go before intermission.

Scott intercepted a Len Dawson pass, then returned to the Kansas City 40.

From there, Bob Griese flipped a 30-yard strike to Paul Warfield and Mercury Morris swept nine yards to the one.

Csonka's one-yard smash sealed the verdict 22 seconds before the Chiefs were unable to overcome the 17-point halftime deficit, coughing up another fumble and pass interception in the second half. In all, Kansas City committed four turnovers.

Linebacker Mike Kolen picked off another Dawson pass early in the third quarter, and the Dolphins drove 34 yards to the Chiefs' eight-before Yepremian notched a 15-yard field goal.

The Chiefs finally broke into the scoring column with 1:55 to play in the third quarter when Jan Stenerud kicked a 40-yard field goal. The Chiefs had been hold scoreless for seven consecutive quarters through exhibition play and the season opener before they scored.

Denver opens with win over Oilers

DENVER (UPI) — Quarterback Steve Ramsey passed for one touchdown and ran for another and veteran Jim Turner kicked three field goals Sunday to lead the Denver Broncos to a season-opening 30-17 win over the Houston Oilers.

Turner had a 15-yard field goal to open Denver's scoring in the first quarter.

Ramsey, who directed Denver into scoring position each time it had the ball in the first quarter, put the Broncos ahead 10-0 with 45 seconds left in the first period with a three-yard run off left tackle.

The next time the Broncos got the ball, Ramsey led them 80 yards in seven plays, capping the second quarter drive with a 9-yard pass to Billy Masters.

Denver scored its final touchdown when punter Billy Van Heusen, attempting to run out the final four seconds of play, faked a punt and ran unopposed 66 yards down the left sideline for the touchdown. Houston scored on a second quarter 57-yard pass from Dan Pastorini to wide receiver Ken Burrough and a fourth quarter scoring toss of 19 yards from Pastorini to Jim Beirre. A 20-yard field goal by Mark Moseley capped off the Oilers' scoring.

Denver, which moved into first place in the AFC's Western Division, excited a record 51,656 fans in the opening period of the game.

On the first play from scrimmage, Pastorini hit Charlie Joiner with a 14-yard pass, but cornerback Randy Montgomery hit Joiner so hard he fumbled and middle linebacker Fred Forsberg recovered for Denver.

In four plays, Ramsey moved Denver from its own 39 to the Houston seven-yard line, but the Broncos turned the ball over on downs when premier running back Floyd Little, who gained 101 yards, was held on fourth and one.

Los Angeles beats New Orleans 34-14

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bob Thomas, a second-year running back from Arizona State, ran for two touchdowns and Roman Gabriel threw to Jack Snow for another to pace the Los Angeles Rams to a 34-14 win over the New Orleans Saints in their National Football League opener Sunday.

The Saints, who upset the Rams in their opener last season, got on the scoreboard with 50 seconds left before halftime when Archie Manning, under pressure and scrambling, connected to Bob Newland on a 42-yard touchdown pass.

The Saints got on the board for the second time with 31 seconds left in the game when Manning threw a 4-yard touchdown pass to Dan Abramowicz. Thomas, a chunky 5-foot-10 and 210 pounds, got good blocking from guards Joe Scibelli and Mike Lahoad as he ran for 123 yards on 13 carries in the first half alone.

After field goals of 36 and 28 yards by David Hay in the first quarter, Thomas scored his first touchdown on a one-yard plunge at 12:43 of the opening period.

Gabriel hit Snow with a 31-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter. Larry Smith ran for four yards for another touchdown and Thomas sprinted 38 yards for his second score.

Falcon quarterback paces 37-21 win

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bob Berry, a small-sized quarterback by pro football standards, passed for two touchdowns and plunged for another Sunday in a 37-21 Atlanta Falcon victory over the fumbling Chicago Bears.

The 5-foot-11 Berry put the game almost out of reach in the first half when he sent running back Art Malone racing down the sidelines and lofted a 57-yard scoring bomb. Malone took it on the 30 and dashed in untouched.

Bill Bell's conversion made it 31-7 and the Bears, who had already set up two Atlanta touchdowns with fumbles, couldn't come back despite a 113-yard rushing performance by second-year running back Jim Harrison.

Berry's other scoring contributions came when he hit Ken Burrow on a 32-yard picture play touchdown pass and again, when his running backs were unable to end the Bear goal

Bengals score easy victory over Pats

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Lamar Parrish returned a punt 51 yards for one touchdown and Jim LeClair set up another with a fumble recovery Sunday as the Cincinnati Bengals packed 21 points into the second half to whip the New England Patriots, 31-7.

The Bengals led 10-7 at the intermission, but broke the game open at 6:09 of the third period when Jess Phillips bulled his way over from the one yard line to cap a 46-yard drive that took seven plays.

New England punter Pat Studstill turned a bad pass from center into a good kick, but Parrish hauled the ball, then picked up a key block and raced unopposed into the end zone for a 24-7 Cincinnati lead with 3:40 gone in the fourth period.

Carl Garrett fumbled the ensuing kickoff at his own 16 yard line and LeClair recovered to set up the last Cincinnati touchdown.

Doug Dressler drove to the 11 on the next play, and quarterback Ken Anderson passed to wide receiver Bob Trumpy for the score at 4:53.

The Bengals never trailed. Essex Johnson pushed his way 14 yards around the left side to open the scoring at 9:46 of the first quarter. The scoring play capped a 54-yard drive that took seven plays.

Cowboys throttle New York Giants

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Craig Morton sparked a lethargic offense with two touchdown passes Sunday that helped Dallas successfully open its quest for a second straight pro football championship with a 28-6 victory over Philadelphia.

The Cowboys managed to get out of their end of the field only once and had fallen behind 6-0 before Morton, who took over during the pre-season for the injured Roger Staubach, eluded a rush and hit Ron Sellers with a 37-yard touchdown pass with three minutes left in the first half.

With only 89 seconds gone in the second half Morton found Lance Alworth with a 13-yard scoring toss that, as it turned out, put the game out of reach of the frustrated Eagles.

Calvin Hill, who says his only goal is an injury-free season,

Green Bay beats Cleveland 26-10

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Rookie Chester Marcol booted four field goals and quarterback Scott Hunter tossed two touchdown passes to tight end Rich McGeorge as the Green Bay Packers scored a 26-10 victory over the listless Cleveland Browns Sunday in the 1972 NFL season opener for both clubs.

Hunter, who completed seven of 18 passes for 140 yards and the two TD's, checked for his first score on a 2nd-and-11, 22-yard pass to McGeorge, a three year veteran who was the Packers' No. 1 draft choice in 1970.

The aerial with 2:39 elapsed in the first quarter followed rookie quarterback Willie Biechman steal of a Bill Nelson pass intended for tightend Milt Morin on the Browns 33, returning it 11 yards.

McGeorge's other tally, a two-yard lob from Hunter on first and goal, culminated the 5-play 52 yard attack with 20 left in the first half. McGeorge was alone in the endzone as the Browns' defense failed to cover him. The toss quade the score 17-10.

The Khyber Pass in Pakistan, about 33 miles long, narrows at some places to less than 50 feet and is surmounted by cliffs 600 to 1,000 feet high, says National Geographic.

Red troop resistance said at low

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese marines today secured another key sector near the Citadel at reoccupied Quang Tri City, prepared to push further north—and said—Communist resistance was at its lowest point in nearly three months.

But other Communist troops launched a wave of attacks against strategic government outposts along the central coast and correspondents were warned it was not advisable to try to reach the area.

U.S. warplanes stayed well away from the Hanoi area Sunday because of the release ceremony for three American war prisoners but flew 330 bombing strikes elsewhere across North Vietnam, the U.S. command said. One American jet was shot down by a surface-to-air (SAM) missile—and the two crewmen were listed as missing.

In a delayed report, the U.S. Command also disclosed the loss Sept. 12 of an Air Force F4 Phantom jet to a North Vietnamese MIG and said both crewmembers are missing. An American crew downed a MIG over the North Saturday.

On the Central Coast, officers said about 600 government infantrymen with armored personnel carriers fought their way through two Communist ambushes today to reach embattled Mo Duc district

Troop withdrawal 'slows to crawl'

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nixon's troop withdrawal program slowed to a crawl last week with only 200 U.S. servicemen pulled out of South Vietnam, U.S. officials said today.

It was the lowest number of troops withdrawn this year and the U.S. command said it was among the lowest one-week totals since the pullout program began in April of 1969.

The withdrawal of 100 Army men and 100 Marines left American troop strength in South Vietnam at 36,500—the smallest U.S. troop presence since April 30, 1965, when there were 36,000 Americans deployed here.

Dead at 50

REP. WILLIAM Fitts Ryan, liberal Manhattan Democrat who earlier this year survived a bruising primary battle with women's liberalist Bella Abzug for re-election, died Sunday. Ryan, first elected to Congress in 1960, was one of the first congressmen to speak out against the war in Vietnam. He was 50 and had suffered from throat cancer. (UPI)

Groucho suffers attacks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Groucho Marx may have suffered a series of mild strokes in anguish over the slaying of Israeli athletes in Munich, it was disclosed today.

The 86-year-old entertainer was severely upset by the Olympic killings and was hospitalized last week for "exhaustion." A spokesman for Marx said doctors suspected he suffered two or three mild strokes but will not know for sure until Tuesday, when extensive medical tests are completed.

The spokesman said Marx was feeling much better and had been removed from the intensive care unit at Century City Hospital and put into a regular ward. "We expect to be able to bring him home in a couple of weeks," the spokesman said, "and then he should be able to go ahead with his concerts, but not right away."

Contract awarded

WASHINGTON — Globe Seed and Feed Co., Twin Falls, has today been awarded a $19,915 Bureau of Land Management contract according to Rep. Orval Hansen.

The contract is for purchase of miscellaneous seeds for BLM districts in Boise and Shoshone counties in Idaho, and in Montana, Nevada and Oregon.

Lawyers in Corona case center of attention

By JAMES C. BAPIS
—FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—The prosecutor and defense attorney are the center of attention at the mass murder trial of John V. Corona.

Questioning of potential jurors enters its second week today amid warnings by the judge that both sides ease their courtroom rhetoric and abide by a "gag" rule prohibiting public statements on the case.

Richard E. Hawk, attorney for the defendant, was fined $200 Friday and sentenced to two days in jail for contempt of court after an outburst during jury selection.

A prosecutor then risked contempt charges to discuss with newsmen a charge by Hawk that threatened the "credibility" of the state's case.

Bart Williams, an assistant Sutter County district attorney, responded to an accusation by Hawk that the state was "hiding evidence" favorable to Corona, who is charged with slaying 25 migrant farm workers and burying their bodies along the Feather River.

Williams said the prosecution had failed to link Corona with a 1970 assault in a Marysville, Calif., bar owned by Corona's halfbrother, Natividad. He said the connection would have been an important part of the state's case.

The findings were being told, said Williams, "because it's the only chance we had to neutralize the issue and hopefully to reinstate our credibility."

Paul youth given post

PAUL — Mark A. Ingram, a senior at Minidoka County High School, has been named a member of the NASC advisory committee of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

He will serve as one of 14 members on the national committee advising the Association's board of directors and Washington headquarters in determining programs to solve the country's secondary schools.

The NASC advisory committee is designed to promote the cause of student participation in the school community.

NASSP, a 35,000 member association serving the needs of school administrators for more than 35 years, has as its primary purpose promoting high professional standards, providing research and leadership, and working for the welfare of the nation's secondary schools and the youth they serve.

The association's committee structure serves as the primary means of membership participation in program development and policy formulation. Members are selected on the basis of their contributions to secondary education.

Popular mayor

JACK HENDRICKSON, 55, popular mayor of Tombstone, Ariz., strolls down the street the day after primary election in which he not only won his own party's renomination (Democratic) but also captured the Republican nomination through write-in votes. Hendrickson says he spent a total of $80 on his campaign for the $80-a-month job. (UPI)

Cassia officers recover goods

BURLEY — Additional stolen goods have been recovered by Cassia County sheriff's officers in a continuing investigation from last Tuesday's arrest of three persons.

Recovered in the last two days were two guns, two blankets, a radio, a record player, jewelry box, an eight-track stereo player and a new garbage can.

Now additional charges are pending against Allen B. Aultman, David A. Bass and a male juvenile all Burley.

The recovered stolen items were taken from a car at DelMonte, the Frank Perez residence, Declo; Bud Lynch residence, Declo, and Burley Labor Camp, according to sheriff's officers.

Bond has been set at $1,000 per man, which has not been posted. The trio is in Cassia County jail waiting trial.

Andrus lauds teen group for efforts

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today lauded the Idaho Teen Organization (Torch) for its willingness to "help our less fortunate citizens enjoy a higher quality of life."

Speaking in Idaho Falls, Andrus also praised the six-year-old organization's contribution in making the 1972 Idaho Special Olympics in Boise "a splendid success."

"Through your involvement with Torch, you are rewarded with one of the greatest gifts of all the satisfaction that comes through service to a fellow human being in need," the governor said.

"In an age when technology threatens to depersonalize society even more, you have begun to accept the responsibility for humanitarian concerns."

"You have discovered a new and deep pleasure in life by giving for someone other than yourselves," he added.

Project under way

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho State Police Superintendent L. Clark Hand says a cooperative effort by Oregon and Idaho is underway to reduce the high number of driving-age violations incurred by Idaho youths in Oregon.

Idaho's law permits 14 year olds to drive, while Oregon law does not permit anyone under 16 to drive without a learner's permit.

Hand said the Oregon State Police are concerned over the

Richfield sets first PTA meet

RICHFIELD — A teacher's reception, open house and a film will all be featured at the first meeting of the Richfield PTA at 8 p.m. Sept. 28.

The faculty will be introduced to the parents by Supt. Nell Anderson, which will be followed by a period when they will be in their respective classrooms to meet parents, Mrs. Parker said.

The film, "What Is PTA?" will aim to better acquaint members of the organization and function of the association, she said.

Mrs. Jodey Parker will assume the office of president of the Richfield PTA after Mrs. Dale Sluder, president, moved from the community.

Serving with her on the executive board are Colette Sparks, secretary; Marie Buttane, treasurer; Peggy Robinson, membership chairman, and Nell Anderson, legislative chairman.

Phyllis Flavel and Mrs. Erma Flavel will serve as program co-chairman; Maxine Stinton, hospitality; Gladys Jensen, procedure book; Regina Erwin and Mary Brown, room mother co-chairman; and Wanda Paulson and Dixie Dixon, publicity.

Uruguay demonstrates imposing faith in democracy twice in year

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Commentary

Last November and again in March, the voters of tiny Uruguay demonstrated an imposing faith in democracy.

In electing and then installing in office a new president dedicated to a continuation of their traditional welfare state they rejected both an appeal from the extreme left which advocated overthrow of the government by force and from a popular front which could have led to Marxist rule in the manner of Chile.

The front linking Communists, Socialists, Christian Democrats and other small political parties came in a poor third in the elections.

As for the violent extreme left, reverse has followed reverse since last April.

It was then, shortly after President Juan Maria Bordaberry took office, that the army joined with the police to fight the urban guerrillas known as the Tupamaros.

For nearly a decade, Uruguayan governments had fought the Tupamaros, usually ineffectively.

For their part, as the Uruguayan economy slid toward collapse, the Tupamaros gained a "Robin Hood" reputation for robbing the rich to give to the poor.

Their name was a contraction of Tupac Amaro, an Inca chief who fought the Spanish in Peru in the 16th century.

Their membership was drawn from the elite of the middle class, students, doctors, lawyers, teachers.

They were the best organized of all the Latin American guerrilla groups. They considered themselves Marxists but generally, they spurned the Moscow-oriented Communists who followed the co-existence line.

They took the Castro Communists of Cuba as their model and their leader and founder, Raul Sendic, was something in the "Che" Guevara mold.

revolutionary from Argentina, was a physician by training.

Sendic quit law school in the late 1950s to become an organizer of impoverished sugar workers.

The Tupamaros had about them the aura of success, conducting bank robberies, kidnappings and executions with impunity.

Among their execution victims was Dan A. Mitrione, a U.S. adviser to the Uruguayan police force.

Last year Sendic was among 100 Tupamaros who tunneled their way to freedom in a spectacular prison break. Also among them were Sendic's two principal lieutenants, Jorge Manera Llavenera, an engineer and hero of a $220,000 robbery of the casino at Punta del Este, and Julio Marenco Saenz, a university professor.

Shoshone pool fund growing

SHOSHONE — The swimming pool fund is beginning to grow, according to Myron D. Johnson, chairman of the Rotary Club swimming pool fund-raising committee.

Nearly $500 has been pledged in the past week and will be added to the fund, Johnson said. A scrap drive has been scheduled and a community auction will be held this fall, with all funds raised going to the pool project.

Pledge cards are being circulated throughout the country in an effort to raise as much money as possible prior to Oct. 15, the date when a preliminary presentation must be made before the Idaho Parks Board.

Auction slated

SHOSHONE — A public auction of vehicles will be at 1 p.m. Sept. 28 at the Idaho Department of Highways yard in Shoshone.

Included in the auction will be sedans, pickups, travel trailers, trucks, tractors, snow plows, truck and auto tires and miscellaneous items.

District Engineer Howard Johnson said that a list and description of all items is available at the district office. The equipment may be inspected on the morning of the auction.

UN assembly opens soon

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The 27th annual General Assembly session, already dubbed "the assembly of insecurity," meets Tuesday under an unusually heavy guard and dominated by the crisis of international terrorism.

The 13-week session is scheduled to get under way at 3 p.m. EDT with Stanislaw Trepaczski, deputy foreign minister of Poland, expected to be elected to succeed Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik as assembly president.

The main topic of conversation among delegates as they began to gather at the U.N.'s skyscraper headquarters were the problems of international terrorism, such as hijacking, kidnapping and assassination, underlined by the murder by Arab terrorists of 11 members of the Israeli team at the Munich Olympic games earlier this month.

Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, warning that unless terrorism was checked "we may witness a steady erosion of the already tenuous structure of international law, order and behavior," proposed an immediate debate of the problem in the 133-nation world parliament.

Insecurity also was manifest at the United Nations itself, where threats had been made against many missions and U.N. officials, including Waldheim.

Robert J. Ryan of the United States, assistant secretary general for general services, said the U.N. guard force of 230 men was being augmented for the assembly. Federal and New York police and security officers also were being pressed into service.

As in past years, the United Nations started its assembly session faced with financial insecurity. The United States is demanding that its 31.5 per cent share of the U.N. budget be reduced to 25 per cent but there was a possibility that Washington might be persuaded to delay its demand until 1974.

Waldheim submitted a budget estimate of $224,150,100 for 1973—an increase of 5 per cent as against the usual 10 over the previous year—but the Budgetary Advisory Committee recommended that the assembly cut $4,550,900 from it.

The 5,000-member U.N. secretariat was agitating for a salary increase and there was the suggestion of a strike.

The assembly faced a 30-item agenda, ranging from environmental questions to disarmament.

Major items included the report of the Decolonization Committee, including a call for review of demands for Puerto Rican independence; the Middle East—although most diplomats expected no concrete proposals until after the U.S. presidential election Nov. 7; use of the seabeds, and peace-keeping functions.

Economic and social problems and South Africa's racial policy of apartheid and its refusal to surrender control of South West Africa also will demand attention.

Workers needed

FOUNDATION OF NEW 40 by 108 foot display building at the Twin Falls County Historical Society property is being poured with a crew of volunteer workers assisting. Volunteer workers are needed daily this week to help complete the building. It will house pioneer farm machines and vehicles such as wagons, stage coaches and buggies.

NATO forces stage large exercise

LONDON (UPI)—Military forces from 12 of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations converged on a remote Norwegian fjord Saturday for one of the largest military exercises in the alliance's history.

NATO officials, concerned over weakening interest in the alliance as cold war tensions have eased, were trying through "Exercise Strong Express" to generate more enthusiasm for the pact.

NATO Secretary-General Joseph M.A.H. Luns told a news conference here only NATO's unity and strength would make possible a lowering of tensions. "The guarantee of genuine detente is the maintenance of a military balance between East and West," Luns said.

"The Soviet Union possesses a concentration of military power that goes far beyond her reasonable requirements for national security and the defense of her borders," Luns said.

The French, who dropped out of the military side of NATO while Charles de Gaulle was president, are sending several ships to join the exercise in a peripheral minesweeping operation.

Asked if he wished the French had participated more fully, Luns shrugged and said, "The alliance welcomes the French Navy...I don't think we should ask for more when we get something."

The only NATO members not participating are Iceland, which has no military forces, and Greece and Turkey which will be at the center of another exercise due soon on the southern flank of NATO.

World conclave on parks opens today

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UPI)—Elephants are making grasslands out of forests in some Kenyan parks and National Park Director Perez M. Olindo hopes to find an answer this week high in the Rocky Mountains.

Olindo and 500 other wildlife and park specialists attending the 2nd World Conference on National Parks opening today will consider and debate such problems through Sept. 27.

Tuesday there will be a visit by Mrs. Pat Nixon and U.S. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton for the centennial rededication of Yellowstone, the world's first national park.

Olindo's problem, that of too many elephants uprooting too many trees, is only one that will be discussed. The philosophy of park management will be one of the prime topics considered at the meeting, the first of its kind since 1963 when the first international forum was held in Seattle.

Representing some 90 nations, the delegates share a common goal: "A resolve to make national parks an increasing force for the protection and enhancement of nature in a world increasingly dominated by man and technology."

Today, some 100 nations have established more than 1,200 national parks and reserves.

Nixon's wealth has increased

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House said Saturday President Nixon's personal wealth has increased by $166,218—to a total of $765,118—since he took office three and one half years ago.

The net worth announcement listed total assets of $1,283,250 including homes in California and Florida and liabilities, mortgages and notes payable on the California and Florida properties of $518,138.

"With the exception of small sums of interest paid on his savings accounts, the President's total income is derived from a yearly salary of $200,000 and a yearly expense allowance of $50,000 provided by act of Congress," said the statement, which was prepared by John R. Dean, counsel to the President.

"The net worth increase is attributable to income from his salary which has been used for improvements to his home or deposited in the bank," it said. At the same time, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew issued a similar statement showing his net worth to be $100,250—an increase of $87,166 over four years ago.

Agnew's assets were listed as $87,250 in savings and checking accounts; $25,000 in life insurance cash surrender value and civil service retirement; $15,000 in Baltimore County, Md., property; $14,000 in equity in a condominium in the Virgin Islands; $92,000 in a trust and $15,000 in furniture and personal property.

The President's assets put the value of his property in San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla., at $809,747. He listed $303,565 in cash, savings certificates and U.S. Savings Bonds; $54,811 in life insurance cash surrender value and civil service retirement; and $55,113 in personal property.

Truck flips

WRECKER CREW lifts the tractor of a semi-trailer truck which flipped onto its side at the junction of Idaho Highway 79 and Interstate 80N south of Jerome Sunday. Officers said the driver, Kenneth L. Sadler, 28, Fort Jennings, Iowa, was treated at St. Benedict's Hospital for slight injuries. He apparently fell asleep, the truck veered off the highway, and then overturned when he woke up and tried to pull it back onto the highway. Traffic was hampered for several hours.

Tour up Salmon river concludes

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News

SALMON -- A Forest Service study group and an interagency steering committee this past week finished a two-purpose tour of the main Salmon River.

Also completed was the fact-finding portion of a study on whether that stream should be included in the Wild and Scenic Rivers System. The Middle Fork of the Salmon is already included in the system, but the main stream is one of 27 rivers in study status.

The Salmon River study began one year ago, and the basic fact-finding portion concluded this past week as the study group handed in most of its basic reports and joined the steering committee for a four-day jetboat tour from Lewiston to North Fork.

Now will follow two years of report writing, evaluation, review, recommendation, public hearings, and argument, culminating on Oct. 1, 1974, when the Secretary of Agriculture is supposed to present his final recommendations about the river to Congress. After that will follow the Congressional reworking of the issued.

The river could be classified in toto or in segments, and will probably be broken into segments; with different parts given different classifications. Harold Bolt of McCall, study group director for the U.S. Forest Service, said, "There is tremendous pressure nationally to classify the entire river. I couldn't say there is a 50-50 chance that any part of it will be left unclassified."

Any part of the river left unclassified could be dammed, diverted, or developed commercially. A segment classified as "wild" would be accessible only by trail and would have strict limits placed on development.

A segment classified as "scenic" could be reached by roads in some places, and by trails, and would also have limited development. A segment classified "recreational" could be reached by roads and existing commercial developments, towns, farms and the like would continue to exist. But the government could take scenic easements on 320-acre adjacent to each one-mile stretch of river -- that averages to a quarter mile on each side of the river -- and limit development on the acreages covered by those easements.

That idea of scenic easements aroused strong opposition among area citizens when the traveler's met with Riggins and Whitebird landowners during the trip.

"Let free enterprise control it," was their watchword. "We don't want someone from New York coming in and telling us what to do with our land."

The unanimous viewpoint among 30 people from that area who attended the meeting was that the river should be left unclassified. But some did voice objection to dams or subdivisions along the banks. They felt, however, that those could be controlled locally or by special legislation, and wild river classification would be unnecessary and detrimental.

There was some sentiment expressed in favor of building roads into the wilderness area so more people could see it, and some of the Riggins-Whitebird citizens said if the river were dammed they might not favor it but it would be "progress" and should be accepted.

"You could progress yourself right out of a quality of living," warned H. Tom Davis of Boise, Idaho Coordinator for Wild and Scenic Rivers and chairman of the steering committee.

From Long Tom east of Riggins to Corn Creek west of Salmon -- more than 100 miles -- there are no roads leading to the river. Most of the access there is by airplane and jetboat. The jetboat operators said their main concern is that if the Salmon is brought into the Wild-Rivers system, their operations might be curtailed.

"This is our livelihood," said boat operator Dave Giles, who has a lodge at Corn Creek. Members of the steering committee were mixed in their opinions of whether motors should be allowed on that part of the river.

The party saw several floatboats on the river and only two groups of floaters. At the mouth of the river during July and August, a survey showed that 1,546 people went by on the river, only 20 of them floating, all the others in jetboats. The proportion of floaters would probably be higher through the primitive area of the river, however.

The touring committee looked at some of the eight damsites that have been suggested by the Corps of Engineers, and at two mineral deposits that are thought to be potentially profitable.

They saw deer swimming and trotting high on the slopes, exchanged stares with four mountain sheep, and found chukars to be plentiful in number. They stopped to see river hound Buckskin Billy, and looked at obtrusive and unobtrusive boat camps.

Possibly the most vivid sight of all was the sharp line of demarcation between the waters at the point where the Middle Fork flows into the main Salmon.

Tri-County CAA board sets meet

BURLEY -- The Tri-County Board of the South Central Community Action Agency will meet here Tuesday night, according to Chairman Royal Slotten.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the CAA neighborhood center on Albion St.

The agenda includes a discussion of the status of the senior citizen programs in the tri-county area. Senior citizens groups in Cassia County and Kimberly - Murtaugh - Hansen have requested that they be independent of the CAA.

Also on the agenda, Slotten said, is the planned appointment of a special committee for the development of an operations manual, as well as reports from the director of the Head Start program and the various committees of the board.

Executive Director Bobby Russell is also expected to make recommendations concerning staff salary increases and a legal counsel.

Victim transferred

TWIN FALLS -- David J. Thomas, 22, Burley, injured Saturday in a car-truck accident, was flown early Sunday morning to University Hospital, Salt Lake City.

Officials at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, from which he was transferred, said Thomas was in critical condition with head injuries.

He was a passenger in a car which struck the rear of a truck on Highway 30, two miles east of Twin Falls, Saturday evening. The driver of the car, Jerry Le Anderson, 20, Hagerman, was killed.

Team opens study

ALMO -- A study team from the National Park Service began inspection tours of two Magic Valley sites today.

The team, headed by Paul Fritz, superintendent of Craters of the Moon National Monument, began a four day visit to the City of Rocks in Cassia County today.

On Friday, the team will move into the Thousand Springs area near Hagerman, making studies that will continue through Sept. 25 with a visit to fossil beds in that area.

National Park Service officials said the trip will result in recommendations concerning future management of the two areas, possibly including their addition to the national park system. State and local officials and residents of the area will be visited by the group along with on-site inspections to obtain information.

Others on the team are Don Campbell, park planner, and Jim Rouse, resources and park management specialist, both from Seattle; Fred Babb, landscape architect and Ken Kasper, land specialist, both from Denver.

First named

DEANNE SCOTT, whose Hereford steer was named grand champion at the Twin Falls County Fair, will be the first to have her name engraved on the Harry Eaton Memorial Trophy in recognition of that honor. The trophy was presented to Curtis Eaton, right, by John Hayes, Idaho Hereford Association president, at a dinner in Twin Falls Saturday.

Carcass awards given at dinner

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS -- The Brooks Angus Ranch, Hazelton, received both grand champion and supreme champion awards Saturday night at the Open to the World Carcass Show dinner.

Glenn Brooks was presented a $250 check from the Producers Livestock Marketing Association by Bill Swan, president, and a trophy from Ken Topholm of the Walla Northwest-Trophy Supply for a champion Angus bull.

Ralph Baughman, director of the Idaho Angus Association, presented a trophy to the Brooks Angus Ranch from the Idaho Angus Association Breeder Association, and also with the supreme trophy.

Reserve champion award went to John Rose for a Charolais steer. Rose received a $100 cash prize from Barton's Club 93 and a trophy from Allison Feed Mills, Filer.

David Chadwick was master of ceremonies for the event at the Rogerson Round-Up Room. It was attended by cattlemen, junior breeders, 4-H club agents and members of the Idaho Cow Belles, the woman's auxiliary. Tom Williams offered the table prayer.

Chadwick said a beef advisory committee was formed several years ago to advise and make suggestions for carrying on extension programs and to help promote the beef shows and junior shows.

The dinner has become an annual event to climax a successful Twin Falls County Fair and to present the awards, he said.

Members of the beef advisory committee introduced included Dick Howard, Bill Brockman, Dick Noh, Tom Williams, Ivan Skinner, Swan Chadwick, and Dick Fuehrer, 4-H county agent and secretary of the committee.

Chadwick introduced Mrs. Libby Swan, president-elect of the Idaho Cow Belles; Mrs. Karlene Noh, president of the Desert Gold Cow Belles, and Mrs. Sue Clark, Mrs. Donna Lanting, Mrs. Tina Boss and Mrs. Bertie Schmitter, all members.

Special guests introduced included David Metzger, Gooding, chief grader of the United States Department of Agriculture; Art DeVlaser, president of the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association, and of the Idaho Polled Hereford Association; Don Youtz, county agent, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shouse of the Twin Falls County Fair.

Otto Florence of the Independent Meat Co. spoke on what the industry wants in beef raising and congratulated the winners of the awards. Herschel Boydston, chairman of the agriculture department of the College of Southern Idaho, told of the carcass program and how points were acquired. He said the top five steers were less than one point apart in totals and that all entries this year were highly superior.

Bill Clark played his guitar and presented several vocal numbers.

Third place winner in the carcass competition was Deanna Scott, Hazelton, who received a trophy and check from Mike Blond of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice Co.

David H. Chadwick received a check and award from the Globe Feed and Seed Co, and received a silver tray from John Hayes of the Idaho Hereford Association for owning the champion Hereford.

Marcia Chadwick received a silver tray from Hayes for the reserve Hereford carcass. Deanna Scott, Wade Williams and Christine Chadwick presented pictures of the prize winning animals to the United Oil Co., Bank and Trust, Rocky Mountain Harvestore and Magic Valley Packers.

Climax of the evening was the presentation of the Harry Eaton Memorial trophy to Curtis Eaton from the Idaho Hereford Association.

The trophy, a memorial to the late Harry Eaton, was given to his son to be kept at the Bank and Trust which sponsors the Open to the World Steer Show.

The name of Deanna Scott, this year's winner of the grand champion on hoof steer, will be the first inscribed on the trophy. Subsequent winners' names will be added each year.

Gooding boy hurt Filer road

GOODING -- Douglas Butler, 15, Gooding resident, is reported in fairly good condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after being injured in a motorcycle accident Sunday. Butler was treated for shock at Gooding County Hospital and transferred to the Twin Falls hospital for treatment of a knee injury and a fracture of both bones in his right leg.

According to investigating officer Vern Esterbrook, Gooding Police Department, Butler was traveling west on his motorcycle on Highway 20-26 at about 2:30 p.m. Sunday in front of a car driven by Mrs. Noel Jensen, 64, Ontario, Ore. He started to make a left turn and then thinking he was turning at the wrong place, tried to pull back into the westbound lane. She sounded her horn and he turned to look when her car struck the motorcycle on the right.

About $150 damage was sustained by the Jensen vehicle. There was practically no damage to the motorcycle.

Investigation of the accident is continuing because of discrepancies in the accounts of those involved, Esterbrook said.

Victim transferred

FILER -- Dedication of a memorial highway marker on U.S. Highway 30 has been set for 11 a.m. Thursday. Federated Garden Clubs from the Magic Valley district, under sponsorship of the Idaho State Federation of Garden Clubs and in cooperation with the Idaho Highway Department, will dedicate the marker.

The Blue Star Highway memorial marker is at a rest stop on the highway between Filer and Buhl. The ceremony will be open to the public.

Owens champion

GLENN BROOKS of the Brooks Angus Ranch, Hazelton, receives trophy for owning grand champion steer at carcass show from Ken Topholm, of Walla's Northwest-Trophy Supply. With them are Ike Muir, manager, Producers Livestock Marketing Association, which gave Brooks a cash award, and Bill Swan, president of the company.

Dairy products dated for freshness

Product freshness told by opening dating system

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — If you want to know if a specific item in the grocery store is fresh — look for a date.

Most major chain stores are now using the "open dating" system to tell store personnel and customers how fresh a loaf of bread, carton of eggs or milk is.

The date — usually the month and day — is shown on the top of the product or in another easily visible area. It is the date on which the item is to be removed from the shelf or from sale.

An item marked "Sept. 18 or 19" seen on the shelf Sept. 18 or 19, should not be purchased — or at least not at full price.

Depending on the item, it may be removed from the shelves where it is normally offered for sale and placed in a special bargain display.

Officials of Safeway Stores say all Safeway brand items they sell are open dated and have been for some time. However, the procedure has not been publicized until recently.

This does not include fresh produce, as it is difficult to date a head of lettuce or an apple.

Safeway officials say open dated items in their stores are removed from sales counters when the "pull date" is reached.

Use of open dating can work to the advantage of the customer who may find such items as expensive cuts of meat still good but reduced in price because the "pull" date is approaching.

As one Twin Falls market manager said, meat will darken slightly when it has been in the show case for a period of time while it is still perfectly good for consumption, it gives the appearance of not being fully fresh. At this point, the price is generally reduced.

Other items follow the same procedure and it is the market's responsibility to make certain they are still suitable. Any such bargain item which proves to be spoiled should be returned by the purchaser.

LeRoy Geist, Buttre's manager, said his firm has been following "open dating" for more than a year. One some brand products purchased from various producers and packagers, code dating is still used.

For these items, Buttre's maintains a code book at the courtesy counter where customers may check the code meaning. Geist said only about once a month, however, does a customer ask for the code book.

For the most part, he said, customers pay little attention to the code or open date figures and are more concerned with pricing.

Geist said consumers are inclined to buy products without checking dates or codes.

Safeway stores do not provide a code book for customer use, but employees are available to answer questions about codes the shopper may not understand.

Most other large markets follow the same procedure as the Safeway stores with minor variations. Generally smaller markets do not open date but to the dairy suppliers and similar wholesalers generally code or open date all of their products.

of picking up pull date items from smaller markets.

Meadow Gold Dairy Products, Twin Falls, officials say all dairy items the plant produces are dated. While it is in code, the average customer can look at the figures and understand them. The code includes the plant from which the product comes and carries two dates. The first two numbers are the "pull date."

Drivers for the firm who service the various stores check their displays and pull the products which have reached expiration date. The producer must absorb the loss for these items, but plant officials say it is relatively low. Frequently such items are sold for a few cents per gallon to swine producers for feed.

Ida-Gem dairymen also date all products, with the day of the year being shown as the pull date. Officials at the Ida-Gem plant in Twin Falls said the housewife would have to know what she is looking for to be able to read the code dating, which also includes the number of the plant where the product originated.

A typical dairy product such as cheese, butter, cream or milk will be watched by delivery personnel and pulled from a store display when outdated. Other personnel from the firm will check to make certain there are no aged products still on the shelves of stores.

Some days the pull items may run as high as two per cent and some days there will be none, the company reports. Grade A milk production fluctuates and the supply is not constant.

Public buying also fluctuates for unknown reasons and as a result the plant allows several days of fluctuation.

The pull date is about 10 days from date of production on a 14-day item, officials said. This gives the housewife four days extra if she purchases the item on the final day.

Manager of markets in Twin Falls agree the customer should check the dates and should use his own best judgment about buying bargain items which are near or past the "pull date."

If the item is to be consumed immediately, the bargain may prove an excellent one. If the buyer plans to leave the product in storage in her own refrigerator for several days before using it, she will want to be more particular about the date.

Most buyers apparently do not use the dating system to their advantage, store operators say. If an item looks fresh it generally sells, and apparently the store manager or department head is more concerned with the date than is the customer.

Hints

Teen-agers who look good in the battle tube dress or a knee-length sweater must be thin. For those who aren't thin the A-line or tent is a better substitute.

Clothes influence behavior. A sense of neatness and organization in your dressing will make everything fall into place by itself.

Directions for being a young fashion-maker: whether you're junior high or junior college — the big words this fall are casual and classic. The components (put together) include things that can be mixed and matched or switcheroos. You add, subtract, multiply and stay with the classics. Put the put-together look under a coat that goes with all the parts (no color clashes, please) and you are bound to be a fashion-maker. See?

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After trying without success for a long time to have a child, my husband and I had fertility examinations. We discovered that he was unable to father a child, so we agreed that I should have artificial insemination.

Abby, twins have always fascinated me, and if I could have a pair of twins my dream would come true! Is there a donor somewhere who could guarantee me twins?

There's no guarantee

I asked my doctor about this and he said he thought I was asking for too much, and I should be satisfied with just one baby. Will you please see what you can do for us in this life? Thank you.

WANTS TWINS

DEAR WANTS: No one can guarantee you twins. With artificial insemination or otherwise. Only one mother in 11,000 (in the U.S.) is likely to produce twins. And since twins fascinate you, do get the book just out titled "The Curious World of Twins" by Vincent and Margaret Gaddis. It's the most fascinating collection of documented stories about twins ever published! And one of the most entertaining and informative books I've ever read.

DEAR ABBY: I agree, there is entirely too much food wasted in some restaurants because they serve much too large portions, and one can't carry home soup or leftover salad or relishes.

We are two senior citizens, and naturally our appetites aren't what they used to be, but we enjoy eating out in different places.

A full meal usually consists of soup, salad, vegetables, bread, butter, and by the time we get to the main course, we can't eat it because we are so filled up with the other things.

Lo and behold, we went to a restaurant the other evening, and we saw in bold print on the menu, "children's and senior citizens' portions at a reduced price."

I wish more restaurants would give us a break like that. It's not only cheaper, but there is no food wasted.

MOM: AGE 90
DAUGHTER: AGE 67

DEAR MOM: Maybe after this appears in print, they will. I hope so. Our senior citizens need all the "breaks" they can get.

DEAR ABBY: Our family usually takes a winter vacation over the Christmas holidays, so we were talking about it when my father suggested that instead of going somewhere, we should use the money to give Mother a facelift!

Mom was very hurt and she broke into tears. I would like to say that I think my mother is very pretty and she doesn't look her age.

Do you think my father should be praised, or was my mother justified in feeling hurt? PUZZLED DAUGHTER.

DEAR DAUGHTER: Mom probably needs a facelift less than Dad needs a dressing down.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the teenager who cursed and used foul language, and told her 50-year-old mother to "get with it" when she expressed disapproval, reminded me of a similar incident.

About 10 years ago my granddaughter came home from her freshman year of college. When she came to visit me, she immediately used two obscene words which shocked me, but I tried not to show it.

I don't know where I got the courage, but in the very next sentence I used the same two obscene words! My granddaughter burst into laughter and said, "Granny, it is so out of character for you to talk that way. You're such a lady!"

I smiled and said, "It's also out of character for YOU to talk that way, Dear. You're a lady, too!"

She never used that kind of language in my presence again.

Jim: "This would be disastrous for those Souths who let East and West push them to the five-level, others who doubled a defensive four spades would collect 300 to 500 points and not as good as a heart game."

Oswald: "We watched one South get a top score by opening two no-trump. He won the spade opening, cashed his hearts, led the diamond queen. West played the king and dummy the ace."

NEW IDEA IN DEODORANTS

By Mary Sue Miller

A young teen-ager (age 13) asks: What is the best type of underarm deodorant for a girl my age to use? I have tried several, but applications sting and seem to irritate my skin. Mother thinks I should just be happy with soap and water until I am older. But I feel self-conscious by the time I get home from school. We both hope for your advice.

The Answer: There's a new idea in deodorants, namely Vitamin E, and the first in many years. Heretofore deodorants relied upon germicides to kill the resident bacteria on the skin. It is these bacteria, acting in conjunction with oxygen in the air, that cause perspiration odors. Until oxidation occurs, perspiration is odorless.

Vitamin E helps prevent oxidation; it does not kill the resident bacteria. E deodorant works gently without significantly disturbing the skin's balance of nature—the ecology of the skin, as it were.

E deodorant is packaged in an aerosol container; sprays on warmer, drier and without sting or stain. Application is made daily, after thoroughly rinsing and drying the underarm area. Several quick wisks, with the can held about four inches from the body, assures protection. No more self-conscious agonizing.

As in this instance, scientists are researching the E vitamin. Keep alert for further discoveries.

STRICTLY PERSONAL
Everything you need to know about deodorants, anti-perspirants and depilatories is contained in my "Letter," STRICTLY PERSONAL. All deodorants are cleared up about why, when and how to use these safeguards of femininity. Toastmistress meet

TWIN FALLS — Changing traditions was the theme when the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club met Friday at the Alley Motel and Cafe, Idaho Room.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. John Loontz. Table topics were under the direction of Mrs. Lee Blitzenberg and the red pencil was won by Mary Lou Lampe.

Welcome was given by Mrs. Morris McFarland and invocation by Mrs. James Griffith, Jr. Mrs. Lampe became a new member at this meeting and was inducted by Mrs. Harold Armstrong.

The education lesson on speech evaluation was given by Mrs. John Burkhardt. Icebreaker speech was given by Mrs. Bart Silver, evaluated by Mrs. Calvin Hoffman and the second icebreaker speech given by Mrs. Gary Jenkins was evaluated by Mrs. John Burkhardt.

Mrs. John Detweiler's speech was evaluated by Mrs. Lee Blitzenberg. The blue pencil was won by Mrs. Jenkins. Toastmistress for the day was Mrs. John Burkhardt. Mrs. Harold-Armstrong won the traveling trophy. Mrs. Lawrence Rudolph was a guest.

Flies flag

THE TWIN Falls unit of the Daughters of the American Revolution are urging area residents to fly their flags this week in honor of National Constitution Week. Mrs. Ruth Detweiler, chapter regent, is shown here. The week was proclaimed by President Richard M. Nixon.
