Taxes shift

(up 24.2%)

TWIN FALLS — Property owners in Twin Falls County will pay higher property taxes this year.

County figures released today show, for example, that a person living in Twin Falls would pay 10.4 per cent more in property taxes on the same piece of property than last year.

A person living in a rural area outside the city would pay 2.7 per cent more than last year. And a person living in Buhl would pay 8.7 per cent more than last year.

The total tax load for each taxpayer is the combined taxes of each taxing district in which he lives.

The owner of a home in Twin Falls City would pay $228.09 for each $10,000 of its cash value, compared to $206.87 last year. The owner of a home in Buhl would pay $235.02 for each $10,000 of cash value compared to $214.95 last year.

The farmer residing outside of any city will pay $136.55 for each $10,000 cash value of his property, compared to $132.99 last year. The total assessed valuation of Twin Falls County is up this year to $60.59 million compared to $58.19 million a year ago. In the city of Twin Falls, the assessed valuation increased to $21.50 million from $20.41 million last year.

The tax levies as certified by the Twin Falls County Commissioners this week for all taxing agencies in the county the taxpayer will pay, for $10,000 of property, is as follows. Figures are total taxes this year, last year and per cent change. Cities: Twin Falls, $91.53, $73.71, up 24.2 per cent; Buhl, $82.50, $60.33, up 27.2 per cent; Filer, $54.89, $41.84, up 4.9 per cent; Kimberly, $30.82, $32.95, down 6.5 per cent; Hansen, $47.25, $46.50, up 1.6 per cent; Hollister, $23.18, $22.31, up 3.9 per cent; Murtaugh, $39.37, $38.75, up 1.6 per cent; and Castleford, $47.25, $46.50, up 1.6 per cent.

School districts: District 151, Cassia and Twin Falls County,

$63.10, $64.17, down 1.7 per cent; Twin Falls 411, $50.91, $42.47, down 8.9 per cent; Buhl 412, $68.74, $64.69, up 6.3 per cent; Filer 413, $66.74, $62.47, up 6.2 per cent; Kimberly, 414, $63.32, $63.32, same; Hansen, 415, $53.40, $50.46, down 5.9 per cent; Castleford, 417, $52.58 and $52.01, down 1.1 per cent and Murtaugh $71.83, and $68.11, up 5.5 per cent.

Highway district taxes increased by 12 per cent in the Twin Falls district, by 1.6 per cent in the Murtaugh district, and declined 1 per cent in the Filer district and 1.3 per cent in the Buhl district. The levies for College of Southern Idaho will bring in $11.82 on that $10,000 home this year, compared to $11.84 last year, an increase of 1.5 per cent.

The county levy is up this year, according to Times-News figures, from $46.20 to $53.66 per $10,000 cash value or 16.1 per cent.

In Twin Falls city, the tax increase will go largely for street improvements.

Proposed additive ban hit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration charged today that proposed legislation to expand a law that prohibits cancer-causing substances in food would essentially ban all food ingredients and most foods.

Testifying on legislation pending in the Senate, Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Commissioner Charles C. Edwards said the proposed legislation could affect such commonly used products as salt, sugar, milk and other dairy foods, meat and eggs.

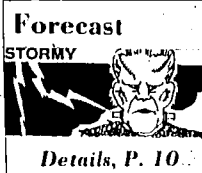

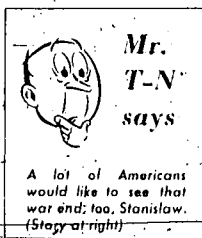

The so-called Delaney clause of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act now bans food additives if they cause cancer in laboratory animals or man. A bill introduced by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., would expand the law to prohibit food substances that cause birth defects, genetic damage or other chronic biological damage.

"It is likely that all substances either natural or synthetic food ingredients or additives, when fed at a high enough level for a period of time, will produce some chronic biologic injury," Edwards said in testimony prepared for a hearing by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Health.

"Therefore, the proposed new legislation would essentially ban all food ingredients and most foods."

As examples, Edwards cited research showing that rats fed only ydgrut developed cataracts. He said the probable cause was a natural occurring substance in milk. "It would certainly be possible for some to conclude that the role of cholesterol in heart disease constitutes chronic biologic damage," he added. "It could then be argued that all meat and dairy products and eggs would be subject to the Delaney clause."

UN chief asks Viet war end

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The new president of the U.N. General Assembly called Tuesday for an end to the Vietnam war which he said "cannot be justified any longer by any stretch of the imagination."

Stanislaw Trepczynski, deputy foreign minister of Poland, in an inaugural address after he was elected president of the General Assembly, conceded that what he termed "a favorable climate" for peace eludes much of the world.

"I am thinking particularly of Indochina, where blood continues to flow, where innocent people are dying—women and children, whose modest belongings are being destroyed—where the monuments of ancient civilizations are being turned into ruins," he said.

"This war cannot be justified any longer by any stretch of the imagination; it violates every rule of ethics. If it is true that no one wants this war, and if the statesmen who are responsible for it wish to cease ignoring world opinion, we have the right to expect it to be stopped, once and for all."

Trepczynski emphasized the mood of insecurity that permeated the General Assembly with a call for a cease in worldwide terrorism.

"A realistic evaluation of the prevailing situation compels us to take cognizance of the fact that the state of security of the world continues to be inadequate and that the overriding duty—that of freeing the world from the specter of war and the organized forms of mass murder—has not been fulfilled," he said.

As the new president finished speaking, a demonstrator sent ed near Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, tossed a fistful of leaflets demanding freedom for Soviet Jews to leave Russia.

"Let my people go," he shouted.

U.N. guards, New York City police and federal agents hustled the young man out of the hall. He was identified as Raphael Rebhun, 24, of Claremont, Calif. He told security officials he was a Los Angeles County social worker and belonged to no activist group. He was released with a warning.

The General Assembly faced a 98-item agenda which was expected to take until just before Christmas when adjournment was scheduled. Foremost on the list were the Middle East and acts of terrorism.

Israeli attacks endorsed

By United Press International
Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said today Israel should strike at the Palestinian guerrillas in their bases in the neighboring Arab countries to "blunt the punch" of the war they have called on Israelis at home and abroad.

"Israel can fight terror attacks by delivering blows against and weakening the saboteurs in their bases," Eban said. "This is the basic way of blunting the punch of their war."

Eban spoke to newsmen at Lod International Airport before his departure for New York where he will head the Israeli delegation to the U.N. General Assembly. He called the killing Tuesday of an Israeli embassy official in London "a further manifestation of the war we have been thrown into recently, a war that culminated in the outrageous murder in Munich."

Israeli military spokesmen said a number of missiles fired from Syria hit the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights during the night and "fire was returned." It said no casualties nor damage were caused by the Arab fire.

Anti-poverty programs go on; legal aid out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House announced today President Nixon has signed a two-year extension of federal antipoverty programs minus the controversial free Legal Services provision that had brought a veto threat.

The act authorizes $2.1 billion in the fiscal year begun last July 1 for Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) programs, about $200 million more than Nixon had budgeted for the year. It also authorizes $2.4 billion for fiscal the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Actual appropriations must be made in separate legislation. In announcing the signing, the White House said there was no presidential comment.

A congressional conference committee agreed earlier on transfer of the Legal Services program to a private corporation, which Nixon supported. But the conferees placed restrictions on who the president could appoint to the corporation's board, and this brought the threat of a veto.

After hammering out one compromise bill, the conferees returned to a new session and dropped the Legal Services revision entirely, leaving the program as is in OEO.

Aside from the Legal Services controversy, the act establishes a fee system for enrollees of the popular Head Start preschool training program.

Children from families with an annual income of $4,320 or lower will get free Head Start services, but fees will be charged on a sliding scale above that level. Additionally, 10 per cent of all Head-Start openings must be reserved for handicapped children.

The bulk of the authorization—OEO actually got $2 billion in appropriations last fiscal year—is for Community Action Agency (CAA) programs operated by private and public groups at the state and local level to help the poor.

The administration had asked for an increase to 25 per cent in the so-called "in-kind" contribution a CAA has to make to get OEO funding, but Congress set the contribution at the current 20 per cent level.

The law added two new programs to OEO—one to create environmental protection jobs, such as cleaning up parks, and the other to provide rural housing loans and funds to pay for repair of rural homes in poverty areas.

CAA, seniors reach truce

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The Community Action Agency and two dissident senior citizen groups agreed in principle to a truce Tuesday night.

In a war that has raged for 10 weeks over programs and funding, there were other indications that the agency's board of directors was swapping one problem for another, when the Community Improvement Association, an agency-spawned low income group, was denied immediate access to funds it claimed it needed to remain in operation.

The accord between the agency and the two senior citizen groups, the Ageless Senior Citizens of Kimberly-Murtaugh-Hansen and the Cassia County Senior Citizens, calls for "delegate agency status" for the two groups from the agency. The groups had been requesting total independence.

According to a 13-point memorandum of agreement presented and accepted in principle at a agency board meeting Tuesday night, "the delegate agency will operate independently within the approved budget and according to approved programs."

The agreement continues, "The delegate agency will keep necessary records and books and will submit by the 5th of the month, an authorized list of expenses to the grantee (the CAA) for payment from proper funds on a monthly basis, to be paid by the 10th of the month. Salaries and mileage to be paid semi-monthly."

The effect of the agreement, when it is finally approved, formally, will be to resolve a dispute that has hampered the programs and the agency for over two months, holding up funds for the two groups since nearly the beginning of the current fiscal year.

CAA Executive Director Bobby Russell said today he expected the final stipulations of the memorandum of agreement could be ironed out within a month, and also said he was seeking to release funds for the groups immediately from the Idaho Office on Aging.

County aides eye funding

JEROME — Commissioners from the eight Magic Valley counties will investigate increased funding for the South Central District Health Department.

The present funding is $1.66 per capita, it was reported at the quarterly meeting Tuesday at Jerome.

Dr. Wayne Catts, director of the health department, has requested a $2.25 per capita figure for funding of the department.

Jerome Commissioner John Van Orman said the commissioners should wait for the outcome of the present appeal for rehearing by the Twin Falls County commissioners to the Idaho Supreme Court on a recent judgment which stated Twin Falls County must pay the $1.66 per capita funding.

Van Orman said the funding could, if the court rules in favor of Twin Falls, be taken from the local level and be funded by the state. He also noted that because this district is one of the lowest-funded health districts in Idaho, it should carefully consider the proposed increase.

decided to wait and see what the court ruling will be before making any commitment on financing new office space for the department.

It was suggested that the present health department office, which must be vacated by the end of 1973, be relocated in the present child development center. That unit will shortly be moving into new facilities.

Mori Leonard, Twin Falls County commissioner, was instructed to check with area banks to see if they could maintain the present commissioners' checking account without a service charge.

Leonard said that at present, a balance of $70 is being maintained in the account, which is rarely used, and the service charge is cutting into the fund.

The commissioners agreed to set a fee of $10 per county annually until a minimum balance is reached so a service charge will not be levied. If Leonard is unable to find another bank that will let them retain the balance without the service charge of $1 per month.

Cassia well case arguments heard

TWIN FALLS — Arguments in a ground water dispute which has been in litigation more than seven years were heard Tuesday before the Idaho Supreme Court.

The high court convened in Twin Falls Monday for a week-long session during which 15 appeals will be argued.

Tuesday the dispute over deep irrigation wells in the Cassia County area was argued on behalf of Ore-Ida Food, Inc., and a group of farm owners.

A district court ruling held wells drilled by Ore-Ida were junior in time to those of the other farmers and ordered the food processing firm to discontinue pumping water from the wells to preserve the water levels for earlier drilled wells.

Ore-Ida appealed the decision to the supreme court. In arguments Tuesday, Allen White, Portland, Ore., attorney for Ore-Ida Foods, said this is an inequitable judgment.

He said the wells were all drilled at about the same time and his client had invested about $900,000 in the farm land and wells.

White argues the court should have divided the water in the aquifer on an equitable basis. He said the old water code of "first in time first in law" is becoming outmoded by modern water programs.

Adonis Nielson, Burley, also represented Ore-Ida Foods but did not participate in arguments. Defendants and respondents in the case include Simon L. and Marjorie Baker, Ralph and Deanna Poulton, represented by Tom Nelson, Twin Falls, and Golden Valley Farms and Cattle Co., and Golden Valley Mutual Water Co., represented by Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls, and Glen and Hazel Briggs and Bill and Jane Doe Brockman, represented by Herman Bedtke, Burley.

Nelson explained the points of diversion and use from the wells, stating this does not change the original right by the date of filing.

Nelson said the recharge of the aquifer is about 5,500 acre feet per year and said with all wells pumping there is an over pumping of more than 100 per cent.

He said between 12,500 to 17,000 acre feet was being taken out and added the Ore-Ida rights were so junior only an agreement with other water users would allow them a portion.

Lloyd Walker told the court the court decision and their review of the case is moot in view of the trial court's action to turn the matter over to the Department of Water Administration for regulation.

Walker said this action was requested early in the litigation by his clients but the request was denied.

Walker said the court is not sufficiently involved with ground water studies and regulations to determine the amount of the aquifer's supply and said it requires time to test the production of the ground wells and to determine if all of the wells are supplied by the same aquifer and if the wells have been drilled at the point where they derive peak supply.

Bedtke said there was no question but the Ore-Ida well was impairing the water level, saying the production of the wells of his clients made a noticeable reduction after the Ore-Ida wells went into use.

The court will review arguments and announce a decision on appeals heard in Twin Falls at a later time. Hearings continued Wednesday with a case involving the Ketchum City zoning regulations among those to be heard.

Family aided

SHOSHONE — A little Shoshone and her coll have netted the Evan Guthrie family nearly $500.

The family, which lost its home and contents in two separate fires several weeks ago, also was benefited by another $250 from sale of household goods and cooked food at the Shoshone Sales Yard weekly sale Monday.

The coll was resold about 40 times, with the price ranging from $10 to $25.

The Guthries now are living in a trailer house loaned them by a neighbor. Work has begun on construction of a new home, but Mrs. Guthrie said insurance on the former building will not go far toward a new structure.

MV libraries receive funds in state grant

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley libraries received checks for $150 Tuesday from Arlan Call, director of the Region IV reference center library, Twin Falls.

The presentations were made at the monthly meeting of librarians at the regional reference center located in the basement of the Twin Falls Public Library.

Funding came from a state grant to the reference center. All money will be designated for the purchase of books in the various libraries. In earlier sessions, the group had voted to expand the funds in this manner.

Call announced a library trustees' workshop will be held at noon Oct. 10 at the Rogerson Motor Inn. All librarians, librarians, trustees, mayors, friends of the library and interested persons are invited.

Call also reported a new library district is hoped to be formed in Camas County. Petitions which went out last week are now being circulated by volunteers.

Metropac phone usage skyrockets, Mann says

TWIN FALLS — The telephone company's metropac program is troubled because of skyrocketing customer use according to a Mountain Bell official.

Kenneth G. Mann, Twin Falls district manager for the telephone company told Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce board members Tuesday that the 9,700 metropac customers in the valley district had placed about a quarter million calls during August — or about 67 long distance calls per customer.

In comparison, when the system was begun in May of 1970, 900 customers placed about 5,000 calls — or about 5.5 calls per customer.

According to Mann's figures, the number of calls per customer increased more than 12 times during the period.

Mann said the August metropac billings this year totaled $18,500. But had each metropac call been billed at standard rate, he said, the charges would have been about $170,000 for the month.

Mann gave the figures as background information for a phone company petition to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission for either rate relief or discontinuation of metropac service.

A typical metropac customer, Mann said, pays between $3.00 and $5 above the regular phone rate for the service.

In return, the customer is permitted an unlimited number of long distance calls within the metropac area — limited to Magic Valley.

Mann said the toll-free aspect of the service had prompted some cases of "abuse." He said the cases were not proven but only suspected by the company.

Mann said one alternative to the present metropac rate structure would be to provide the customer a base of three or four hours of toll-free calls per month. After the base had been exceeded, the customer would again be billed for calls.

He said metropac service had been tried on a smaller scale in three other states. In each of the other metropac systems, the number of calls had been curbed because of skyrocketing use patterns.

Mann said the company's investment in the Magic Valley program exceeds $1.1 million, and should rise to about $2 million by 1974.

He said the current rate of return at $18,500 was too low to justify such an investment.

In other business, chamber Manager Ray Rostron suggested the board members consider raising the base rates for chamber membership above the current minimum of $40 per year.

He suggested a base figure of $75. No chamber action was taken on the suggestion.

Western senators split on enforcement plans

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Neighboring U.S. Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., and Cliff Hansen, D-Wyo., were in sharp disagreement Tuesday on how to effectively enforce the Land Use Planning Bill which passed the Senate.

Hansen successfully introduced the amendment which displeased Allott the most. It cut out a provision whereby states would be penalized and lose portions of federal highway and aviation money if they did not adopt adequate land use planning procedures.

Hansen said the amendment dealt with the implied threat of unwarranted federal intrusion into state, local and private land matters.

Allott, in praising Senate passage of the bill Tuesday, said it would do away with "unstable and chaotic results" from misuse.

"Land use, or rather misuse, has been ignored far too long with unsightly and chaotic results," Allott said. "It is up to the federal government to take the lead in encouraging the states to correct this situation."

Allott also explained the difference between the Senate bill and a House bill still pending which covers both private and public lands. The Senate bill, he said, does not cover public lands such as National Forests and Wilderness Areas.

Hansen opposed the bill while it was still in committee.

"The idea of someone at the federal level with a map deciding what uses will be made of privately owned land in this country is contrary to the generally accepted principles of state and personal rights," Hansen said.

Prior to amendment, the Land Use Planning Bill would have required all states to designate uses for certain non-federal lands, and to obtain federal approval of their plans or else face loss up to 21 per cent of certain airport, land-water and secondary primary highway trust funds.

One of Hansen's amendments removed the economic penalties and the second required the Interior Secretary to submit in advance of any land use preparation a list of all areas considered in the state.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Only Hansen and Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., had opposed the bill in committee.

The Wave Of Teachers Strikes

WASHINGTON — The wave of teachers' strikes across the country recalled a New York Times piece by Bill Shannon several weeks ago in which he gloomily predicted that unless the nation's educational system straightens itself out America will produce "a swelling tribe of New Barbarians."

Shannon was addressing himself to the current vogue for eliminating formal grades and written examinations, and the move toward permitting students to design their own courses. The fruit of such trends, he suggested, would be a country of adults "armed with college degrees and gib phrases, but ignorant."

But Shannon also made a point of noting that the product of incompetent or frivolous administration... The administrators, often supported by vote-seeking politicians, have let the situation get out of hand in their desire to please their hired hands at any price.

In short, the pendulum has swung from one extreme to the other — from rigid salary controls that kept many teachers in "near-poverty," to giving them everything they want lest they run away and establish a provisional government.

Consider the strike of Philadelphia's teachers. It was permeated our public school system nationally is also the product of incompetent or frivolous administration... The administrators, often supported by vote-seeking politicians, have let the situation get out of hand in their desire to please their hired hands at any price.

In short, the pendulum has swung from one extreme to the other — from rigid salary controls that kept many teachers in "near-poverty," to giving them everything they want lest they run away and establish a provisional government.

Consider the strike of Philadelphia's teachers. It was called to support the teachers' demands for a 34 per cent salary boost and their opposition to the school board's proposal to extend the five-hour work day to five hours and 40 minutes.

Deadpan, the teachers' union sought a salary of $12,000 per nine-month year for beginners in a city whose school board is $52-million in debt.

Meanwhile, striking teachers in New York and Massachusetts defied court orders to return to work and other strikes kept schools closed in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Rhode Island and Indiana. In New York City, the powerful member United Federation of Teachers Unions wrestled from that wretched community a contract that will cost an estimated $275- to $300-million in Washington, a strike vote was passed by a howling one-sixth of Hell City's teachers.

What bugs me is not necessarily the teachers' demands for more money. In many instances, they have a solid case. But in all this hooray there has been no mention whatsoever of improving the quality of public school education, which has fallen so low in most big cities that any parent who can borrow a buck ships his kid off to a private learning factory. That's nice for the more affluent families, but it is tough on the poor parent whose children perhaps are particularly in need of a decent education.

Indeed, parents with children in private schools and colleges face some of the problems posed by the infiltration of Shannon's "mediocre persons" into the educational field. Tenure, originally designed to protect the teachers from frivolous discharge, has become in many secondary schools and colleges a refuge for the incompetent. It is almost impossible these days to fire the time-serving bum who lets his classes run themselves unless he is convicted of homicide. As a result, as studies have shown, many colleges and preparatory schools are burdened with more teachers than they can use.

I expect many young people find this situation just what they ordered. Wrestling with a Latin verb or probing the political consequences of the Thirty Years War is a blasted nuisance. As most parents have discovered in this era of permissiveness, an awful lot of their children prefer rapping about politics or the "New Sex" whatever the hell that is, to sitting in a classroom or lecture hall where some old-fashioned pedagogue forces them to read a couple of books.

But those kids are not getting an education, let alone pursuing the path of scholarship. With the casual encouragement of too many bubbleheaded teachers, preoccupied with committee meetings, strike votes and the case for homosexuality, they are wasting the only years given to most of us to grow up. God knows the quality of today's politicians, corporation chieftains and labor tycoons is pretty miserable, but one can only shudder in contemplation of what the future holds in store for us.

Red Trade Booms

Trade on a scale of mind-boggling magnitude is on the way between the United States and Soviet Russia. Billions of dollars will be involved in the next five years.

Henry Kissinger, reportedly concluded agreement in principal with Soviet leaders for a $5 billion trade pact along with settlement of the Russian lendlease debt for $300 million, a compromise.

Occidental Petroleum president Armand Hammer has announced a private agreement with the Russians for petroleum exploration and a trans-Siberian pipeline that may involve as much as $5 billion dollars.

The Russian grain deal involving 400 million bushels of wheat proved not only a shot in the arm for wheat prices but provided the target for the Democrats in the presidential campaign.

George McGovern charged grain exporters used inside information "to exploit unsuspecting farmers" many of whom sold before the price jumped. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz commented the Russians were "shrewd buyers."

The Chinese, who have ordered 20 million bushels of grain, will have to pay more now than the Russians did in July and August. And so will Japan. If Russia has not filled her needs, she, too, will have to raise the ante.

Some farmers, who were eager to dispose of their crop, may be angry because they didn't heed advice not to sell their grain at one time. But the age-old rule of supply and demand has made out-guessing the grain market close to impossible. The odds are heavily weighted against it as each sale affects the subsequent movement of the market.

As a result of far heavier Russian wheat buying than anticipated, due to bad weather that hurt Russian production, domestic prices have risen and the government has stopped supporting the old export price level and the world price has risen.

No one can doubt that the Russians thought it was good business and it was, for us, as well as the Russians. Think what the situation would have been if the Russians hadn't bought the wheat.

The Pied Piper

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Competence Questioned

WASHINGTON — A prominent Democrat, who is giving full support to Sen. George McGovern's candidacy, told me privately that a lot of his friends are not doing so. Their doubts, he added, go to the question of the senator's competence.

It is not the first time I have encountered this response among liberal Democrats who ought to be all-out for McGovern as "one of their own."

Two things bother them. First, they question the senator's grasp of the intricacies of economic and social matters. They think he was too flip and casual about going back to the old drawing board after his original tax reform and welfare proposals crashed flames. They have something less than complete faith in his substitute proposals.

Second, they seriously suspect McGovern is accident-prone in his handling of people. From the moment the Democratic convention ended in Miami Beach July 14, he has been plagued by mishaps of one sort or another. His accident report includes:

The backing and filling begun that first day over the use of Lawrence O'Brien, the Eagleton affair, the absurd flap over Pierre Salinger's approach to the North Vietnamese in Paris, the staff chaos highlighted by O'Brien's late August blast, the resignation of New Jersey Rep. Frank Thompson as head of the registration drive, the departure of veteran top staff man Gordon Weil.

Some McGovern aides take the view that these things are "internal" matters which don't affect the voters' impression of McGovern. They would be less complacent if they had seen the damaging headline in the Chicago Daily News the day O'Brien struck hard at staff confusion.

The fact is, these foulups are so numerous they are perceived by most newsmen as a pattern, and they are being reported as such. Furthermore, whatever their impact upon voters generally, it is clear that many influential Democrats, who ought to be tolling enthusiastically for the ticket, are seriously disenchanted by the McGovern performance and are doing little or nothing. I'm talking here not about party regulars who never favored McGovern anyway, but about liberals who should be his. Some supported Eugene McCarthy in 1968.

Even if the broad range of voters is not troubled by McGovern's "boo-boo of the week" campaign management, there are unmistakable signs they are indeed upset by the senator's positions on the major issues.

A new Harris poll summed it up with a finding that 55 per cent of voters agree with the statement McGovern "wants to change things too much."

While the heated California primary campaign was at its height in late May, the senator's key advisers seemed to recognize the peril in this impression. They led newsmen to believe they were going to move strongly to correct it. But the Harris poll indicates the impression has deepened, by a factor of about 26 per cent, since April.

McGovern is supposed, at the very minimum, to be the purest symbol of anti-Vietnam war sentiment. Yet here, too, he is in trouble. The poll shows that by a margin of more than three to one voters don't believe he can fulfill his pledge to get U.S. troops and prisoners out of Vietnam 90 days after he occupies the White House. These doubts even grip his own supporters, by 52 per cent to 36.

So, at this stage, McGovern is being whipsawed. Voters have a damaging impression of him. And a good many of the influential Democrats who might help to change it actually think it is well founded and reflects a basic lack of good judgment on McGovern's part.

Catbird Seat

ATLANTA — The critical role of George Wallace to President Nixon's soaring hopes to capture the Senate seven weeks from Tuesday is obvious from the frantic cries for help now overloading telephone circuits to the catbird seat in Montgomery, Ala., from the headquarters of Democratic Senatorial candidates all over the South.

A case in point is Sam Nunn, the 34-year-old political ingenue who toppled Sen. David Gambrell in the Democratic primary runoff election on Aug. 29. Nunn is neck-and-neck against Republican Rep. Fletcher Thompson, a conservative with a strong following among Wallacettes.

Nunn began plotting his approach to Gov. Wallace in Georgia's rich harvest of Wallacettes long before anyone thought he had a chance to win the Senate nomination.

White House. Within days of his surprising triumph over Gambrell, Nunn was on the telephone to Wallace's office seeking an appointment and Wallace told us last week he plans to receive Nunn, possibly this week. But that doesn't assure an endorsement.

Likewise, managers of South Carolina state Sen. Nick Ziegler say that if Wallace would "just accept an invitation to speak at a Ziegler fund-raiser" in South Carolina, Ziegler's challenge to the formidable Sen. Strom Thurmond could become serious overnight.

Ziegler courted Wallace at the Southern Governors' Conference in Hiltonhead, S.C., early this month — but, instead of an endorsement, Wallace gave him a rhetorical pat on the head as a "fine man."

Wallace, in short, has not decided how or even whether to use the extraordinary political power he gained throughout the country, particularly in the South, from his spectacular showing in the Democratic Presidential primaries last spring.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I recently had lung surgery because of a disease or fungus called blastomycosis. Can you tell me something about it? I understand it is fairly rare, especially in women. — Mrs. A. R., Oklahoma.

There are funguses that attack lungs, and this is one of them. The fungus is in the soil, and it can reach the lungs if contaminated dust is inhaled. You are quite right that it is most prevalent in the Southern states, and the disease — when it affects the lungs — is much more common in men than in women.

Reason I emphasize the lungs is that the fungus can also cause a skin condition, first causing a pimple which then will enlarge and ulcerate.

When it affects the lungs, the disease starts as a "cold" with a cough which progresses to fever, sweats, chest pain and heavy sputum. Changes occur in the lungs which, in X-rays, resemble TB.

You don't specify just what surgery was performed, but it might have been drainage of an abscess caused by the fungus. The disease also responds to medications administered in a vein, which may be done either before or after surgery.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet on arthritis for which I enclose 35 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope. And can you tell me, please, if cortisone is bad to take if you have an ulcer?

I have gotten different answers on it. — Mrs. L. M.

One of the characteristics of cortisone is that it is likely to bother ulcers — and cause bleeding, so it has to be handled with considerable care. That doesn't altogether rule out its use. The question is how much is being given, and whether the amount does or doesn't bother the ulcer. If a small amount helps the arthritis and doesn't appreciably bother the ulcer, then use would be permissible. But you do have to be watchful and cautious.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Two doctors told me not to take aspirin when I take Benemid for gouty arthritis.

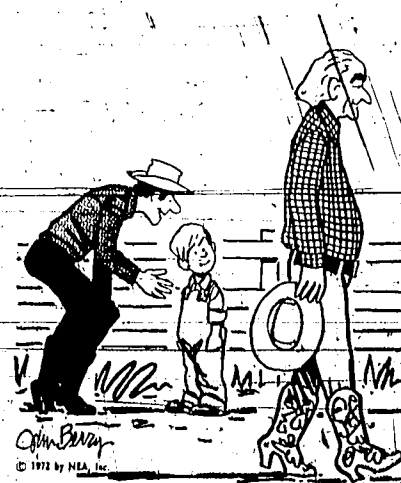

After a kidney stone operation, the urologist changed the medication to allopurinol. He said the book didn't say anything about aspirin with this drug. Is it okay to take both? A.J.K.

So now a third doctor — me — has told you not to take aspirin or other salicylates with either Benemid or sulfinpyrazone, two drugs that are used to prevent attacks of gout. The salicylates interfere with the action of these drugs.

Allopurinol works in a different manner, retarding the production of uric acid instead of increasing the excretion of it. To the best of my information, aspirin does not interfere with this.

However, if the allopurinol is effective in your case, you may not need the aspirin anyway.

Last Minute Decision

Predictions before elections change, stretch the predicted margin, lower it, do one thing and another depending on who is predicting, and on behalf of whom.

But actually, doesn't it seem logical to reason that elections are decided by the undecideds, and in good part at the moment of entering the polling booth?

There are a whole lot of diehards, Democrats and Republicans who probably wouldn't vote for Jesus if he represented the other party. They are in the kitty of their party's "counted" votes.

They don't need any appeals or arguments. They don't heed any appeals or arguments from the other side. They vote "right" whatever.

But let's consider the undecided voter. A lot of them — maybe most — are undecided as they enter the polling booth. They have last minute thoughts: "Nixon has done as well as anyone could." "People say the country needs a change to a new order, a new politics." "McGovern... McGovern... you can't tell what he wants from one day to the next." "Should I take a chance on McGovern?" "Nixon is tested in the job."

How many voters do such reasoning right up to the last moment can never be known, but it's got to be a whole lot. If you go back to 1948 you remember that "right up to election day you could get up to 25 to 1 odds that Thomas E. Dewey would defeat President Harry S. Truman.

On election eve, Truman took to the airwaves with some down-to-earth reasoning. Think of how many "undecideds" he must have won over with his "The Republicans say they will... etc. Don't you believe it!" This catchline repeated in his speech.

Somewhat the same predicted imbalance is true today with the Nixon-McGovern election coming up. People say, "I don't want to vote for Nixon." "I don't want to vote for McGovern."

Has there ever been a presidential election in which so many people had so little enthusiasm for the candidates?

Why? Well, reasons can be cited, but reasons don't really matter, now. What each candidate needs to do is find some way to reach deep into the thoughts, the ideas, the "I-like-that" responses of the undecideds. He must surely will be addressed as "Mr. President."

Mass Transit

So much talk has been heard over such a long period of time about the need for mass transit systems, it is surprising to learn the new system now in operation in the San Francisco Bay area is the first new regional mass transit system in the United States in half a century.

While others talk about it, the communities surrounding the bay have been doing something about it. The preparations have been costly and prolonged.

The system cost $1.5 billion, has been under construction for eight years, missed its opening date by five years and now has only about one-third of the route in operation.

But the initial report of the system's operation is that it has been well received by leaders of the communities it serves and the public. The investment in time and money has been huge and the return on that investment will determine eventual success.

An air conditioned, computerized, electric rail subway system which travels under, above and on the ground through its 34-station route at speeds up to 75 mph is an ambitious gamble.

It is a gamble, however, to fill a need — other metropolitan centers only talk about.

Renters can sue owners

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Under a landmark ruling issued Tuesday by the Iowa Supreme Court, renters can sue their landlords if the houses or apartments they lease are unsanitary or unsafe.

Throwing out the concept of "caveat emptor" or "let the buyer beware," the high court outlined a concept of implied warranty to affect all houses, condominiums and apartments when a renter moves in, whether a formal lease has been signed or not.

The court said its unanimous ruling gives renters the right to sue landlords for losses and damages, including back rent, when it can be proved that the premises are not up to state, local or city standards.

Justice W. Ward Reynoldson of Osceola, who wrote the court's opinion, said the implied warranty concept was designed to take away the landlord's traditional upper hand and put him on an equal basis with the renter.

The court ruled that at the outset of a lease there be no latent defects in facilities and utilities necessary for the full use of the premises. The court said the landlord is legally bound to see there is no "violation of applicable, sanitary or unfit" during the period of the lease.

LYNDEN PINDLING gets support

Bahama leader wins support

NASSAU (UPI)—Voters gave overwhelming support in Tuesday's general elections to Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling and his plan to make the Bahamas an independent nation by next July.

Pindling, running on a platform of independence from Great Britain and his Progressive Liberal Party (PLP) rolled up nearly 61 per cent of the vote and won a wide support from the fishing village and resorts for Americans on the out islands to the slum of urban Nassau.

The victory means there may be a constitutional assembly perhaps as early as December.

In the unofficial tally by the Nassau Guardian, the PLP today held at least 20 of the 30 assembly seats, one was tied, and it appeared the opposition Free National Movement (FNM) might get eight seats. Nearly 90 per cent of the 57,000 registered voters exercised their franchise.

After a campaign marred by sporadic violence and vandalism on both sides, from his Kemp's Bay home on Andros Island, Pindling said late Tuesday night, "I thank God that he has spared my life to witness this great triumph for the Bahamian people."

Underdog reaction possible

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two of the nation's leading political pollsters believe President Nixon's commanding lead in public opinion polls could spark an underdog reaction that would benefit Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

Dr. George Gallup and Louis Harris, whose separate polls show Nixon ahead by 34 percentage points, Tuesday also rejected the possibility that poll results persuade voters to climb on the bandwagon of the leading candidate.

The pollsters appeared Tuesday before a House administration subcommittee considering legislation to require filing with the Library of Congress information about a publicly released poll, such as its sponsor and the number of persons surveyed.

While Harris declined to say whether he expected McGovern to narrow Nixon's lead, Gallup said "it would be amazing if Mr. McGovern did not start improving his position" by picking up support from Democratic defectors.

But Harris did agree with Gallup that a poll showing one candidate with a substantial lead "can indeed help an underdog."

Harris said that "if I were Mr. Nixon I would be a little bit worried that people are going to look at these polls and say 'I'm for him but he doesn't deserve to win by this margin.'"

The subcommittee led by Chairman Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., has been trying to assess the impact of polls on voters' preferences and Gallup and Harris were joined by other witnesses in rejecting the bandwagon theory.

"It is virtually non-existent."

Rooney wins in NY runoff vote

By United Press International

Victory in Brooklyn Tuesday for Rep. John Rooney over Allard Lowenstein, architect of the "dump Johnson" movement in 1968, highlighted a day of primary and runoff elections in New York, Massachusetts, Oklahoma and Washington State.

Rooney, a conservative Democrat who has spent 20 years in the House, has been a consistent supporter of the Vietnam War. He defeated Lowenstein in New York's June 20 primary, but a rerun was ordered by the courts.

In another race where the Vietnam war was a pivotal issue, John Kerry, spokesman for Vietnam Veterans Against the War, won the Democratic nomination for Congress in Lowell, Mass.

Democratic congresswoman Louise Day Hicks, an early and staunch foe of school busing, won renomination to her House seat in the Massachusetts primary.

Rooney claimed an early victory and vowed he would be "back in Washington tomorrow," representing his Brooklyn district. But Lowenstein would not formally concede.

Rooney and Lowenstein each charged that delays in poll openings had hurt his chances and a federal judge ordered some polls to remain open past the normal closing time.

Complete but unofficial returns gave Rooney 15,486 votes to Lowenstein's 13,071.

In Massachusetts, late returns showed Kerry, a recipient of the Silver star in Vietnam and vocal antiwar activist, defeated nine other candidates for the Democratic nomination in the 5th Congressional District.

With 137 of 154 precincts reported, Kerry had 19,761 votes to 11,900 for his closest opponent, State Rep. Anthony DiFruscio. Kerry's opponent in November will be former Republican state Rep. Paul W. Cronin.

Kerry's younger brother and another Kerry worker were arrested Tuesday in the course of an alleged break-in in the basement of the building housing DiFruscio's headquarters.

Middlesex County District Attorney John J. Droney, a "law and order" candidate, won the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination. He will face Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke, the only Negro in the Senate in November.

Mrs. Hicks, an opponent of school busing, polled 21,838 votes to 14,155 for state Sen. Robert L. Cawley, the closest of five other candidates.

In Washington, Democrats chose former Gov. Albert D. Rosellini to oppose Republican Gov. Dan Evans, who defeated Rosellini eight years ago.

Rosellini defeated labor-backed state Sen. Martin J. Durkan, opening the way for a political comeback bid. Rep. James McDermott finished a poor third in the race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Incumbent Democratic Congressmen Brock Adams, Tom Foley, Lloyd Meeds, Mike McCormack and Julia Butler Hansen all won renomination.

Grain exporter 'leaks' probed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday that an FBI investigation ordered by President Nixon is "in progress" into charges that large grain exporters were leaked advance information enabling them to reap windfall profits in the recent wheat sale to Russia.

Agnew said, "the Federal Bureau of Investigation has a business practices unit that has been asked by the President to look thoroughly into this matter—to investigate the profits of these big grain exporters, to see whether anyone has taken any undue profit, any misinformation, or improperly revealed information on the part of the federal government."

"The investigation is in progress now," he told a news conference.

A White House press spokesman said early today that he was "unable to confirm at this time" what the vice president said.

"It's probably just one of those things where the information hasn't caught up with us yet, but we should be able to clarify it later this morning," the spokesman said.

Agnew defended the 400 million-bushel wheat sale, which far exceeded expectations because of a drought in Russia's Ukrainian breadbasket, and accused Democrats of making it into "another Watergate."

Keeps neutrality

LAS VEGAS, Nov. (UPI)—The 1.4 million-member United Steelworkers Union is sticking to the AFL-CIO stand of neutrality in the presidential election.

After almost four hours of debate, and despite a determined effort by delegates supporting Sen. George McGovern, nearly 5,000 local leaders attending the union's convention Tuesday shouted down a motion to endorse the Democratic presidential nominee.

Union leaders again characterized McGovern's followers as hippies.

It was a victory for AFL-CIO chief George Meany, who journeyed to the convention to make "his own plan" to the delegates to back his stand, and for steelworkers president I. W. Abel, one of Meany's allies in the decision not to give the giant labor group's traditional support to the Democratic nominee.

In a speech to the delegates before the voting, Abel said:

"We are not saying 'vote for Nixon.' We are not saying, 'stay at home.' All we are saying is be a little discriminating when it comes to stamping the seal of approval of this great organization on any politician."

Red barrage just misses Thieu party

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist artillery today narrowly missed a convoy carrying President Nguyen Van Thieu and three of his top generals in Quang Tri City. Thieu later vowed that the ruined city, recaptured after 138 days of Communist occupation, would be rebuilt.

Far to the south along the Central Coast, allied officers told UPI correspondent Edward Bassett the Communists were using civilians as human shields against air strikes and artillery fire. Officers told Bassett the tactic left 20 civilians dead Monday.

UPI reporter Ted Kurrus, reporting from the rubble that is now Quang Tri, said Thieu and his party—who paid a visit to the city to congratulate the Saigon troops on their victory—were headed toward a marine brigade position for awards ceremonies when a 130mm artillery barrage detonated a nearby ammunition dump. There were no reports of casualties.

The convoy quickly spun around after officers flashed a warning to Thieu's motorcade and sped to marine headquarters at Huong Dien, 18 miles to the south. A Vietnamese officer told Kurrus: "The VC (Viet Cong) apparently had his timetable. Another officer said

"It was a lucky thing he didn't go any further."

The U.S. command in Saigon said American jet fighters and B52s Tuesday flew 310 strikes over North Vietnam, most of them in the country's southern panhandle. Spokesmen said the attacks destroyed 17 bridges, 10 warehouses, 25 boats and 18 trucks. The command also announced the loss of a Navy jet in the raids over the North.

A Saigon command spokesman said the government counteroffensive in Quang Tri City, which began June 28, was officially declared victorious Tuesday. The city, South Vietnam's northernmost provincial capital 435 miles north of Saigon, and its fortress Citadel were recaptured Friday. Today's artillery fire prevented Thieu from entering the 50-acre Citadel.

In awards ceremonies at Huong Dien, Thieu said Quang Tri City would be rebuilt and declared his government would never accept a cease-fire on North Vietnamese terms. He said the Communists "know it will be much more difficult to deal with a re-elected President (Nixon)" because Nixon "rejects the coalition government offer of the North Vietnamese. We will continue to destroy the enemy."

Ellsberg charges 'bugging'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Charging illegal electronic surveillance had been used against them, Daniel Ellsberg and 18 associates in the Pentagon Papers case have filed suit seeking almost $1 million in damages from the federal government.

Named as defendants in the suit filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court here were 10 government officials, including Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, FBI Director Patrick Gray III and CIA Director Richard Helms.

Washington attorney David Rein, representing the filers of the suit, said it grew out of admissions by attorneys for the government in the trial of Ellsberg and his companion, Anthony J. Russo Jr., in Los Angeles on July 21.

The government lawyers admitted under questioning, Rein said, that telephone lines of persons connected with the Ellsberg-Russo defense had been tapped, but the tapping had nothing to do with the case. Rein said the government lawyers would not say whose telephones had been tapped or how often the taps had been made.

The 19 plaintiffs asked for punitive damages of $50,000 each plus $100 a day for each day since June 17, 1968, when surveillance was conducted, or $1,000, whichever is higher.

The suit charged that between Dec. 1, 1970, and July 21, 1972, the government may have tapped the telephones of one or all of the plaintiffs and conducted other types of electronic surveillance.

The other plaintiffs included former Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y.

Defamation suit filed by Black

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Stepin Fetchit, 60, Hollywood's first black screen star, filed a suit Monday against CBS for its slow-motion, gaudy character portrayals, stood on federal courthouse steps Tuesday and tearfully appealed for help in a $3 million defamation suit against CBS and three other corporations.

Fetchit's public plea came 10 days after U.S. District Court Judge William E. Stecker dismissed his suit against CBS, Xerox Corp., 20th Century Fox Film Corp., and Indiana Broadcast Corp. His attorney said he plans to file an appeal.

The suit was filed July 20, 1970, almost two years after CBS presented Fetchit in film clips—provided by 20th Century Fox—in a black-history series entitled "Black History: Lost, Stolen or Forgotten." The series was narrated by comedian Bill Cosby.

Fetchit claimed that CBS portrayed him as "the symbol of the white man's Negro: The traditional lazy, stupid, crapping, chicken stealing idiot." "These people hired by CBS,"

Pat enjoys park

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UPI)—Neither freezing rain, sleet, or hailstorm, nor snow could stay America's indomitable first lady from enjoying the outdoor grandeur of Yellowstone National Park on her first excursion here.

Mrs. Nixon had flown to Yellowstone for an overnight stop on her six-day, seven-state western political swing. She resumes her solo tour today with campaign appearances in Idaho Falls, Idaho, where she will salute Republican supporters and in California.

Before driving into the serenely scenic 2.2 million-acre park Mrs. Nixon took bows at an airport rally at Billings, Mont., where she was buffeted by a 55 mile-an-hour gale.

But the high winds were only a prelude to what she faced at Yellowstone.

Tanzanian force retreats in disarray

KAMPALA (UPI)—An invasion force from neighboring Tanzania retreated in disarray today before advancing Ugandan troops, a military spokesman said. He said the invaders suffered heavy casualties.

The spokesman said at least 450 persons have been killed, including 300 invaders and 150 civilians, in three days of fighting in the border area between the two countries.

(The dead included Louis W. Morton, 23, a Peace Corps volunteer from Houston, killed when Ugandan forces opened fire on his vehicle, Peace Corps officials in Washington said.)

(They said Robert E. Freed, 21, another Peace Corps worker riding with Morton, suffered superficial wounds. Freed is from Madison, Wis.)

A British High Commission spokesman in Kampala said at least 25 foreigners, mostly Britons and Americans detained for questioning during the fighting, still were in jail. (Peace Corps officials in

Belfast hospital site of shooting

BELFAST (UPI)—Gunfire broke out early today near Belfast's Royal Victoria Hospital, but the army said Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists failed to carry out their threat to shoot British troops stationed at the huge medical complex.

An army spokesman said 13 shots were fired from the Protestant village area at the nearby Roman Catholic Falls Road district, shattering the windows of several homes there. There were no casualties, the spokesman said.

Both districts are near the 1,200-bed hospital, where at least 200 troops are stationed, but the hospital was not involved in the action.

A statement issued by the militant Provisional wing of the IRA said that unless the troops withdrew from the hospital by midnight Tuesday "we will shoot on sight armed soldiers within the confines of the hospital."

The army said the deadline passed without incident, adding that the troops would not be withdrawn from the hospital. The Provisionals say the soldiers use the complex as a base for raids on nearby Catholic areas. The army says the troops are there to protect soldier casualties.

In sporadic violence Tuesday, a bomb destroyed a supermarket in Londonderry and another damaged a factory on Belfast's northern outskirts. There were no casualties in either of the bombings, the army said.

Admiral anxious to play case down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, appears eager to play down the significance of the case of Air Force Lt. Gen. John D. Lavelle, demoted for ordering unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam.

Moorer, the nation's highest military officer, told reporters Tuesday the Lavelle affair is receiving undue and emotional attention and is unlikely to have any impact on the military's "image."

Interviewed in a Senate corridor after testifying behind closed doors about the Vietnam situation, Moorer disputed reporters' questions which characterized the Lavelle bombing missions as "illegal" or as "raids."

"The flights were authorized," he said. "What was improper was the manner in which they were conducted."

He was asked whether he was disappointed "that it fell to a sergeant to step forward" and disclose, in a letter to Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, that the bombings had occurred in violation of President Nixon's orders and that false reports had been sent to Washington and Saigon to hide their existence.

"I'm disappointed that instructions were not followed to the letter," Moorer replied.

As for the actions of Air Force Sgt. Lonnie D. Franks, 23, "I wouldn't pass judgment on him any more than I would pass judgment on Gen. Lavelle."

"It is a free country," he said of Franks, "and a man has to live with his conscience."

"Overall, there's been quite a bit of emotion set forth in discussing this case," he said.

Oregon has 'bottle bill'

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—An Oregon "bottle bill" aimed at reducing litter by the re-use of containers goes into effect next month despite a pending suit by brewers and soft drink producers, the Oregon Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday.

Opponents of the measure had wanted the effective Oct. 1 date delayed until the appeals court held hearings on whether the law was constitutional.

The suit to overturn the law passed by the 1971 Oregon Legislature was filed by can and bottle manufacturers, brewers and soft drink producers and claimed the law discriminated against their industries and was an unjustified interference with interstate commerce.

The appellate court has not yet set a date to hear arguments on the suit and Tuesday's refusal to delay the law's enactment means the companies must comply with deposit requirements.

Under the law, a five-cent deposit is required on beer and carbonated soft drink cans and bottles. Standardized bottles will have a two-cent refund value. The law also bans use of pull tab opening devices on cans.

Think about phrases, Demo hopeful advises

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Democratic Congressional hopeful Ed Williams told supporters in Boise Tuesday to stop and think each time they hear politicians espousing "cute political phrases."

Williams said words such as "Independence, free enterprise and less government control" are superficial at best; adding they are designed to oversimplify the issues and "hoodwink" the voter.

"The voter must question the statements of candidates who are actually attempting to remove government for their own selfish interests," he said.

Meanwhile Williams' Republican opponent for the First District Congressional slot, fruit grower Steve Symms, said Tuesday one of the major problems facing Idaho people in this country is the rapid inflation being caused by irresponsible government spending.

Speaking to senior citizens in Weiser, Symms said, "The thing most people don't understand is that inflation is a tax. It is a tax being paid by persons on fixed salaries."

"These people are usually the least able to afford it," he added, "and this is why inflation is one of the most unjust forms of taxation."

Democratic Senate nominee William E. (Bud) Davis said Tuesday he thinks it is "a bit presumptuous" of his opponent, Rep. James A. McClure, to pick the Senate committees he wants to serve on before the election.

Campaigning in Elmore and Ada counties, Davis referred to a syndicated columnist's recent article saying McClure had already talked to Senate Majority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., about possible committee assignments.

"According to Mr. McClure's actions," the Pocatello Democrat said, "there is no need for an election at all. I think the voters should decide at the polls before anyone picks the committees on which he wishes to serve."

In other Idaho political action Tuesday, Larry Jackson of Boise, state Republican central committee executive director, criticized a recent editorial in the Idaho Statesman as being "misleading and inaccurate and reflected a loss in memory on the part of its writer."

Jackson also impugned the editorial for saying the next state legislature "surely will join with Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and be opposed to tax increases."

Meet called

BOISE (UPI) — A meeting was called for today to discuss the design of the Nov. 7 general election ballot for Idaho.

Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa said representatives for county election officials will be present, along with members of the AFL-CIO and the League of Women Voters.

Backing for Mac denied

BOISE (UPI) — Executive Director Wayne York denied rumors today that the National and Idaho Education Association endorsed Sen. George McGovern for president.

"It is not true," York said. "Both the NEA and the IEA executive committees have not voted to endorse a presidential candidate at all."

"But we are working our tails off for legislative candidates who are sympathetic to education."

Even in their support of legislative candidates, he added, the two organizations are retraining from public endorsement. But he said both are supplying money and man hours for candidates who are friends of education.

Aid proposed

BOISE (UPI) — Public Instruction Superintendent D. F. Engelking says his recommendation for lowering the age requirement for first grade was aimed at providing state reimbursement for kindergarten programs.

Engelking said it was not the department's intent to simply move the first grade down a year. He said the proposed legislation will ask each school district to provide a kindergarten program, recognizing the individual differences of each child and not a program "locked in" to an age factor.

Gem fund measure approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to authorize the distribution of about $4.5 million in judgment funds to members of the Shoshone-Bannock tribes of the Fort Hall Reservation in Idaho was passed Tuesday by the House.

The Senate bill, which was sent to the White House, provides for per capita distribution of 75 per cent of the funds awarded to the Lemhi tribe by the Indian Claims Commission.

The Shoshone-Bannock tribes are the sole successors of the Lemhi Tribe.

The per capita payments will total nearly $1,500 for each member of the tribes. About $1 million of the total award will be retained by the tribes and used for land acquisition.

OSHA exemptions OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives acted to exempt small business men from the occupational safety and health act Tuesday, according to Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho.

By a vote of 192-102, the House amended a bill appropriating funds for the labor department. So as to exempt businesses employing 16 or fewer persons from the OSHA program. An identical amendment had been included in the original labor appropriation bill vetoed by President Nixon last month.

FDA warns about clams from east

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has warned against eating fresh or frozen clams and mussels shipped from Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts since Sept. 4, saying some had been found contaminated with poisonous algae "which can be fatal" if consumed.

"A ban on harvesting shellfish in the New England states has been imposed by state and local authorities following the discovery of a toxic red tide algae ... which is the cause of paralytic shellfish poisoning," the FDA said in a statement.

"Because it cannot be accurately determined when the algae first entered the harvesting areas, the FDA warns against consuming clams and mussels shipped from the affected areas since Sept. 4, 1972. Lobsters, crabs, scallops, and fish are not affected.

"Consumption of shellfish contaminated by the algae can be fatal. There is no known antidote. The toxin is stable and cooking even under pressure will not destroy it."

The FDA said Massachusetts officials had reported 19 cases of paralytic shellfish poisoning among persons known to have consumed the contaminated shellfish, but no fatalities have been reported.

"Consumers, restaurants and other business establishments handling fresh and frozen hard and soft shell clams and mussels from the affected areas are advised to destroy or return to suppliers any such products known to be from the affected areas or whose labels identify the shippers as being located in any of the three states," the FDA said.

The agency said the shipments involved are labeled: "ME followed by a one, two or three-digit number and by the letters RS, SS, SP or RP; Mass followed by a one, two, three or four-digit number and by the letters RS, SS, SP or RP; Nh followed by a one or two-digit number and by the letters RS, SS, SP or RP."

Pine nut crop poor

TWIN FALLS — Not only is this a poor year for fruit production in Magic Valley, but the pine nut crop is almost a total failure.

National forest officials say the pine nut crops on forest land throughout the Intermountain Region are extremely poor this year. The few pine nuts found in Utah and Nevada forests are scattered, small and hard to find.

Idaho areas report a similar situation, with most pine nut gatherers reporting it is hardly worth the effort.

Soviets outline plans to cleanse water, air

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government outlined to its rubber-stamp parliament today an ambitious program for cleansing the nation's water and air and preserving its natural resources.

Vladimir A. Kirillin, a deputy premier and chairman of the State Committee for Science and Technology, told 1,517 delegates to the Supreme Soviet that Communist states were better equipped than capitalists to protect the environment.

Russell E. Train, chairman of the U.S. council on environmental quality, and his special assistant, former actress Shirley Temple Black, listened from the diplomatic gallery to Kirillin's 90-minute report.

They are in Moscow to work out cooperative measures for dealing with pollution.

"The economic development of the capitalist countries that causes irrational use of natural resources and, quite often, their plundering, leads to their depletion and to changes in the environment that are almost irreversible," Kirillin said.

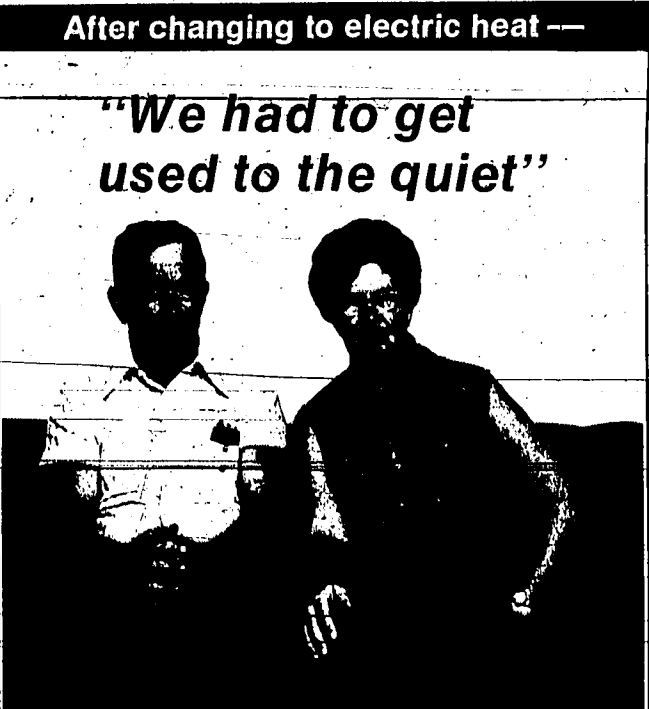

"In the Socialist countries, where the development of economy is based on the people's ownership of the means of production and natural resources, there are much greater opportunities for better protection of nature."

No credit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, today introduced a Senate resolution to prevent the Nixon administration from claiming credit for the recent 20 per cent social security increase which President Nixon opposed.

The Idaho senator, chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging and author of the 20 per cent increase, accused the administration of "a shameless attempt to create the impression that somehow the 20 per cent increase is a result of Presidential leadership when, in fact, it was enacted over vigorous and persistent administration opposition."

Morlan Nelson holds 8-year-old Otis

Bird expert describes electrocution deterrent

SUN VALLEY — Morlan Nelson, Boise, a birds-of-prey expert, described Tuesday modifications being made to Idaho Power Co. structures to prevent electrocution of young eagles.

Nelson spoke at the 65th annual meeting of the Northwest Electric Light and Power Association at Sun Valley. A nationally recognized authority on the habits and training of eagles, Nelson was engaged by Idaho Power to study the problem of the birds' electrocution, and recommend modifications for the eagles' safety.

Currently, 17 "preferred" structures have been corrected, and 37 more are scheduled for modification, Nelson said. Most of them are in Magic Valley, near the C. J. Strike Dam and between Thousand Springs and Jarbridge, Nev.

The preferred poles were identified according to the following criteria: first, the crossarms face prevailing winds; second, the pole is located on high ground; third, it is located in a food source area, and fourth, there is an escarpment or steep slope nearby creating thermal updraft which helps the birds to land.

Only about 2 per cent of Idaho Power's total structures meet all these conditions, Nelson said.

Nelson said most of the problem is with adolescent eagles who are unstable in landing. Older eagles do not land with their wings outstretched, he said.

One method of modifying the structures is insulating the center conductors on each side of the crossarms.

"The insulation extends a total of 12 feet from the crossarms to prevent eagles, who have wingspreads of up to eight feet, from contacting two uninsulated conductors as they land," Nelson said.

The cheapest improvement is to install a landing bar above the wires, Nelson said. Another method is to raise the center phase to eliminate the possibility that an eagle would touch two phases as it lands, said Nelson. This modification costs about $150.

Before the modifications were made, Nelson tested their effectiveness with trained eagles on a mock structure Idaho Power erected at his home in the Boise foothills.

Nelson said 17 young birds learning to fly were known to have been electrocuted in the Blue Gulch area since Jan. 1. However, he said irresponsible shooters kill many more of the birds than are electrocuted.

An estimated 600 birds of prey are shot annually in Ada and Canyon counties alone, Nelson said. His estimate was based on the number of wounded and dead birds brought to Nelson and Dr. John Lee, a Meridian veterinarian who assists in examining them.

Richfield helps

RICHFIELD — The Richfield High School student body raised $785 at a Don Millican benefit dance, and presented the check to his father, Don L. Millican, Monday.

The funds are to help defray hospital costs for young Millican, a Richfield High School Junior, who was severely burned in an automobile accident Sept. 8.

Football team members conducted a preliminary donation campaign before the dance, and proceeds were added to those donated at the door and refreshment table at the dance for the total.

Speaking for the student body, Supt. Neil Anderson expressed his thanks to the students and townspeople who helped in any way with the project. He especially thanked Dave and Dick Kennison and O. M. Capps, who furnished the music.

Millican is reported improving at St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome.

Rustling trial begins at Burley

BURLEY — The jury trial of Danny Lewis, Declo, charged with grand larceny, cattle rustling, entered its second day.

Tommy Thompson, Idaho State Police, was scheduled to resume the stand to complete testimony begun Tuesday afternoon. Other witnesses testifying yesterday included Brad Wickel and Joe Carlson Jr., both Albion.

The trial is being heard by Judge Sherman Bellwood in Fifth Judicial District Court, Burley.

An earlier trial conducted on April 13 and 14 this year resulted in a hung jury, necessitating this trial.

Lewis is charged with stealing a calf from Frank Rasmussen, Declo. The calf was found in a car following a two-car accident on the Albion grade during the early morning of Sept. 5, 1971.

Theater sets plan

BOISE (UPI) — Public school students in all grades this year will have an opportunity to see professional actors and actresses perform, if local districts are interested.

Marlyn L. Willardson, Idaho Department of Education consultant, said the Buhl Antique Festival Theatre has agreed to perform at schools for a small guarantee. He said it also would conduct two special workshops for interested students.

"The group's programs will be geared to complement and to reinforce existing Idaho curricula," Willardson said. "It would also give students an opportunity to experience live theater."

"Because many Idaho communities are isolated some kids rarely have this opportunity," he said.

CAA, senior citizens reach truce

The funds have been held by the state agency since the two groups petitioned the CAA board of directors over two months ago for independence, a move they requested, they said, because they were dissatisfied with the way the senior citizen program was being handled by the agency and because of the removal of Robert Hale as CAA Senior Citizen program director.

Will Overgaard, deputy director of the Office on Aging, who met earlier Tuesday with representatives of the two senior citizens groups and Russell to hammer out the memorandum of agreement, could not be reached for comment today on the immediate availability of funds. Overgaard's relationship with the agency in Twin Falls had been strained by the developments in the past two months over the handling of the frozen funds and requests by his office for the use of local staff time to provide the state agency with needed information.

Locally, a meeting was set for this morning between representatives of the two senior citizens groups and the agency's bookkeeper to discuss some of the remaining sticking points before the agreement can be signed formally.

But the board of directors gave executive director Russell the authority Tuesday night to sign the agreement without further board action.

Emma Boyer, chairman of the Kimberly Murtaugh Hansen group, said the agreement was "something we could live with," although it falls short of the group's original demand of independence.

Walter Smythe, chairman of the Cassia County group, said his board of directors was also in agreement with the plan. But while the senior citizens were winding down their conflict with the agency, the Community Improvement Association was rebuffed in its requests for immediate funds to continue its operations.

The CIA, formed a year ago under agency guidance, had submitted a budget to the board of directors for over $4,000 earlier this year, but were granted only $750.

But when the agency's monthly financial report showed a surplus of slightly over $400 in one category through the first two months of the fiscal year, Cecil Galley, a board member and also a member of the CIA, requested the money be released for the organization's use.

The motion was defeated easily, with most board members accepting Russell's recommendation that the money could not be released without major revisions in the agency's budget and "work plan," a master plan submitted to federal officials in the beginning of the year.

Galley and Gary Kretts, president of the group, claimed the CIA was active in state organizations, and the money was needed to finance members' trips to conferences.

In other developments at the meeting, the board voted to petition federal Health, Education and Welfare officials in Seattle for a 30-day extension past its existing Sept. 30 deadline to resubmit the work program. Agency staff members have been working on the document for several days.

SV may set bond vote for complex

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — A bond issue for a new municipal complex and fire equipment may be in store for Sun Valley residents.

During a Sun Valley City Council meeting Tuesday night, the council discussed hiring Kirchner, Moore and Co., Denver, Colo., financial consultants, in the event the council decides to go ahead with the bond issue.

City Clerk G. Robert Ackerman said the proposed election would be for more than $300,000. The consulting firm recommended that an election be scheduled in November or early December, but if it were successful, bonds would not be issued until next year.

The council also discussed placement of the new complex on the Elkhorn Saddle Road, centrally located to both Sun Valley and Milhorn.

During the last meeting, Ackerman said the city needed an additional fire truck and the complex, which would include a three-stall fire truck garage, expanded police department office space and an overnight holding area for prisoners.

In other action, the council instructed Ackerman, as administrator of the Mortiz Community Hospital, to work with the doctors' professional organization to complete an agreement between the doctors and the hospital.

Mayor Winton Gray said the agreement has been sought for about one year, but has been delayed by negotiation over details. The agreement would establish a joint venture whereby the doctors would conduct their practice on hospital property in exchange for services in the emergency room and medical service to the community.

During Tuesday's meeting, the council also tabled action on Twin Creeks Elkhorn Subdivision No. 3, which was submitted for preliminary approval. The council decided to visit the site this week.

Rupert accepts division

RUPERT — Plans for a 14-lot housing subdivision south of the Grandview addition were accepted by the Rupert City council Tuesday evening.

Developer Harvey Marcolta said the Meadowbrook subdivision will include approximately six acres of land and will be the site of 14 homes all costing more than $20,000.

In other action the council agreed to sign a sanitary landfill agreement with the county. Calling for county maintenance and fee collection at the Paul site, beginning Jan. 1.

The council also voted to have city attorney Bill Goodman prepare first mortgage liens on the two 18th Street lots owned by Carl Williams.

The city took the action to expedite the paving of the street. The paving fronting Williams' lots will be paid for by the city in return for his mortgage of the property to the city.

The council also appointed Mrs. Robert Christiansen, John Pannell, Frank Sanders and Richard Maggard to the city's recreation committee.

Children's Theatre needs room

TWIN FALLS — A room which will facilitate painting of 12-foot high flats is needed by Children's Theatre.

Beverly Sturgill said the group had been working in the upstairs of Crowley Pharmacy, but recent remodeling there has done away with the painting space.

She asks anyone who might have a barn, warehouse or vacant building for the group to use to call her at 733-8999.

Shoshone hay burns

SHOSHONE — The Volunteer Fire Department was called to the Don Simpson farm, north of the city's edge, at 11:15 a.m. to extinguish a fire.

The fire started in hay stacks. The feed manger on the south side of the corral burned along with about 20 tons of hay.

Gem State traffic deaths rise by 3

By United Press International

Three more persons have died from Idaho traffic accidents, raising the death toll to 240, or 17 more than at this time a year ago.

Latest victims were Ronald D. Neamann, 20, Pocatello; Stephen L. Pope, 15, Jordan Valley, Ore., and Gregory W.

Smith, 25, SEBUIE.

State police said Neamann died early today when he failed to negotiate a curve on old Highway 38, a quarter mile east of Pauline Junction in Power County. Officers said the car, traveling at a high rate of speed, overturned.

Lincoln economic help qualifications outlined

SHOSHONE — Necessary steps to qualify Lincoln County for receiving economic development aid were outlined at a meeting Tuesday night.

George Green, Boise, U. S. Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration, reviewed the history of the agency in the meeting held in the county courthouse. He was assisted by Scott Brown, University of Idaho Extension Service.

On behalf of the board of directors for the Lincoln County Development Corp., Robert Miller requested the county commissioners go ahead with necessary plans to qualify the county for participation in the economic development funds.

Green explained the county commissioners must first request the county be designated for the aid. Then a committee should be appointed to prepare an overall economic development plan. This committee would be known as the O. E. D. P. committee.

Green said the economic development agency provides assistance in the form of grants and loans for public works and private enterprise.

The loans would supplement 50-per-cent grants in given instances.

Some of the things that have been accomplished in Idaho under the program include building of decks, public access roads, community centers, tourist complexes and private and company loans given for expansion or new business.

In the business type loans, the 65-per-cent available amount could be loaned over a 20-year period at government rates.

He cited a program in Shoshone Bend as an example of the type of work carried out by 200 jobs and financial aid was provided to the city for city water and sewage to accommodate the growth area.

Fugitives' auto found in Montana

FORSYTH, Mont. — Montana lawmen have found the Oregon car used by two Idaho fugitives to escape after breaking out of the Elmore County jail Sunday.

Rosebud County sheriff's officers said the 1972 model car was found today about 10:30 a.m. about 125 miles west of Forsyth in a rest stop near Columbus, Mont.

No other sign of Wallace Rhoades Jr., 22, Clark County, Nev., and James Shields, 20, Mountain Home, was evident at this time. Federal Bureau of Investigation officers were at the scene.

Rhoades and Shields overpowered Sheriff Earl Winter at the breakfast hour, forcing their way out of the Elmore County jail Sunday. They later took Mountain Home Policeman Al Elsberry hostage. They ordered him to head toward Fairfield when they made him stop another car.

The fugitives then took the car owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Huffelman, Dayville, Ore., leaving them by the road. The two escapees later left Elsberry handcuffed to a fence along the road.

Rhoades and Shields are also thought to be linked with the shooting death of Donald Kalberg, 48, a Hardin, Mont., jeweler.

His body was found in a roadside rest stop 20 miles east of Forsyth. Officers believe that he was taken prisoner by the fugitives, but probably tried to "make a stand" somewhere late Sunday night and it was then he was killed.

Three men were seen in a gasoline station about 30 minutes before the coroner's estimate of the time of death Sunday night. An attendant said two of the men matched descriptions of the fugitives.

The third man apparently was Kalberg. Montana law enforcement officers are still searching for Kalberg's 1970 bronze Chevrolet Impala with Montana license number 22-1731.

3 added to CSI staff

TWIN FALLS — Two vocational instructors and one counselor have been hired by the College of Southern Idaho. Employment was approved by the CSI Board of Trustees Monday night for Jimmy O. Palmer, formerly of California. He will serve as a counselor at the vocational school.

Also approved are Dr. Dale Stukenholtz, Twin Falls, who will instruct agri-business courses in the vocational college, and Russell Liveley Jr., Buhl, who will be the drafting instructor for vocational students.

Dr. James Taylor, CSI president, said all three are well qualified for the positions they will fill.

Trustees also approved awarding of scholarships as recommended by the scholarship committee. Totaling $725, the scholarships will go to Eva Thompson, Dave Hamilton, Jim Hopkins, Jim Brill, Jesse Torres, Scott Pence, Theodore Argyle and Delfa Allen, all current students.

Scholarships will be awarded for the current school year.

Board members also discussed college improvements, including a new parking lot for 125 cars north of the maintenance building. This will provide additional student parking and will be completed this week, weather permitting.

Environmental projects open

POCATELLO — Idaho college students are invited to apply for independent environmental study-research projects to be administered by Idaho State University.

Applications close Nov. 15, with Dr. Donald W. Johnson, assistant professor of biology at ISU. Ten students are to be selected and will be notified by Dec. 1. Applicants should submit a tentative research proposal, three letters of recommendation, a transcript of academic records and a resume of background and future goals.

Dr. Johnson said that examples of the type of research students might undertake include the effect of industrial emissions on desert communities, the effect of thermal pollution of growth of plants in reservoirs, or the effect of environmental contaminants on fishes.

The program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation to develop a learning program in science that will emphasize individual responsibility.

Toxic chemical found in paint

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A toxic chemical used in plastics and paints has been found in unexpectedly large amounts, particularly in newly developed real estate lakes, in 17 of 39 states sampled, according to government scientists.

The chemical is polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB), chemically similar to the insecticide DDT. It is widely used in production of plastics, paints, caulking compounds and hydraulic fluids.

The PCB findings were contained in a paper presented to the American Chemical Society in New York in August by three U.S. Geological Survey scientists led by Hans J. Crump-Wiesner. The Interior Department made the paper public Tuesday.

Reporting on a federal monitoring program concerned with pesticides in water supplies, the three said they analyzed more than 2,000 water and sediment samples from streams and lakes throughout the United States collected from January 1971 through last June.

"We expected to find traces of PCBs at sampling points near industrial centers, but were surprised to find detectable levels in samples from 17 of 39 states covered by the sampling," they reported. "A safe level for PCBs has not been generally accepted to date."

"We found PCBs in river water, some newly developed real estate lakes, and at two U.S. Geological Survey stations located in relatively remote areas unaffected by man," Crump-Wiesner said. "We also found lake and stream sediments to have relatively high concentrations of PCB residues. One out of every five bottom sediment samples collected in 18 states contained significant concentrations of PCBs."

The chemical apparently enters the environment as a result of burning discarded plastics and other materials, and through leakage from the machinery in which the fluid is used.

Senate committee sets withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday approved legislation calling for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina within four months, setting up another confrontation with the administration on the Vietnam War.

The so-called Brooke amendment was included in a $1.55 billion foreign military aid authorization bill. The same bill, with the exception of sealed-down authorizations, was rejected by the Senate 48 to 42 on July 24.

The vote was 7-3 with Senate leaders Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott and Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., voting against the package. Other members were being polled.

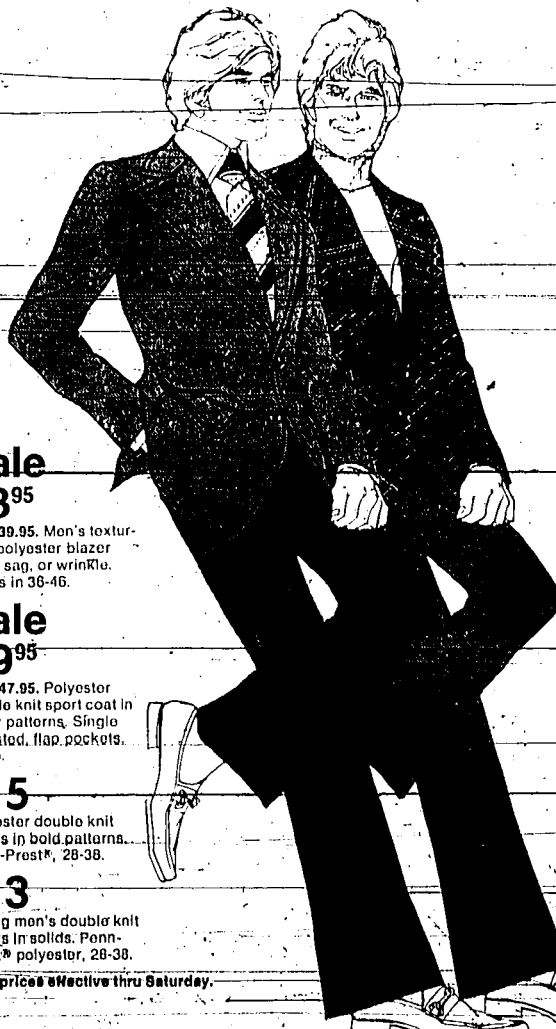

Authored by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., the amendment would cut off funds for the Vietnam conflict within four months after passage of the legislation unless all U.S. forces were withdrawn from Indochina.

The only conditions attached to the American withdrawal would be the release of prisoners-of-war and an accounting of those missing in action.

Originally, the amendment was added to the aid bill on the Senate floor. But senators opposing the amendment joined with long-time opponents of foreign military assistance to kill the entire bill and send it back to committee.

A similar confrontation involving various Senate factions could again doom the military assistance measure and delay congressional adjournment.

Drop in jobless level predicted by US advisor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's chief economic adviser, Herbert Stein, predicted Tuesday that the present 5.6 per cent level of unemployment would drop "to the low 4's" next year if Congress observes a ceiling on federal spending.

Stein told the House Ways and Means Committee the economy "is now in the course of a strong expansion" that could be crippled in inflation if spending exceeds the President's proposed $250 billion ceiling.

The committee is considering

Nixon's spending ceiling request as part of legislation that would raise the temporary limit on the national debt from $450 billion to $465 billion. The temporary limit expires Oct. 31 and would revert to the permanent ceiling of $400 billion.

Advanced appraisal course set

TWIN FALLS — A course in "Advanced Real Estate Appraisal" will be conducted in Twin Falls over a 10-week period, starting Thursday.

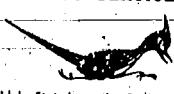

L. James Koutnik, real estate appraiser and owner of the Western Realty Co. and the Western Appraisal and Investment Co., Inc., will be instructor. He said the course is designed by the University of Idaho and is sponsored locally by the Twin Falls Board of Realtors and the Idaho Real Estate Commission for the benefit of all realtors and licensees in Magic Valley.

The lecture series will be held from 7 to 9 a.m. at CSI.

without congressional action. The national debt will be an estimated $437 billion by Oct. 31.

"If we follow a prudent policy, such as the President's proposed spending ceiling, we can continue to have a steady expansion of the economy that will reduce the unemployment rate to the neighborhood of 6 per cent at the end of 1972 and below that later," Stein said.

Senate opens food additives inquiry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate began an inquiry Tuesday into sweeteners, dyes, preservatives, emulsifiers, fresheners and flavor enhancers — some suspected as cancer-causers — that are added to food.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., chairman of a select committee on nutrition and health that is conducting the hearings, said each American consumes an average of five pounds of food additives every year.

In a statement, he said: "More than a billion pounds of additives are added to food products annually, with sales estimated by the industry at more than $500 million a year."

"The list grows daily of additives that are under new scientific scrutiny and have questionable value or safety levels."

Particularly under scrutiny are those products classified as "Generally Recognized as Safe (GRAS)," a list compiled by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Family joins club

FILER — The John Thiebert family, Twin Falls, became members of Magic Valley Guernsey Club at a meeting Sunday at home of Vernon Lassen.

It was announced that Pauline Thiebert won the Guernsey calf at the district fair in Jerome Saturday for her outstanding Guernsey project and record book. The calf was given by Mrs. Helen Lyons Branch, Jerome, who had won a calf when she was a 4-H club member.

Cindy Williamson, Buhl, won the halter from the club and also won the state award trophy. Debbie Thiebert won a brush from the club. All three girls received blue ribbons from the Guernsey association.

Mr. and Mrs. Thiebert will be hosts for the Oct. 15 meeting of the club. Anyone interested in Guernsey cattle is invited to attend.

Production boost on farms needed

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — By the year 2000, U.S. farmers will need to produce 70 per cent more beef and pork and 20 per cent more milk.

They will also need to produce 117 per cent more chicken and turkey and 21 percent more eggs to meet the needs of an estimated population of 280 million, according to Dr. Roy M. Kottman, dean of the college of agriculture and home economics, Ohio State University.

Writing in the October issue of the American Farmer, national monthly magazine of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Dr. Kottman bases his predictions on a three-year long-range planning project, "Life 2000" conducted by faculty members at the university.

Continually increasing livestock production will help hold down relative costs, he said.

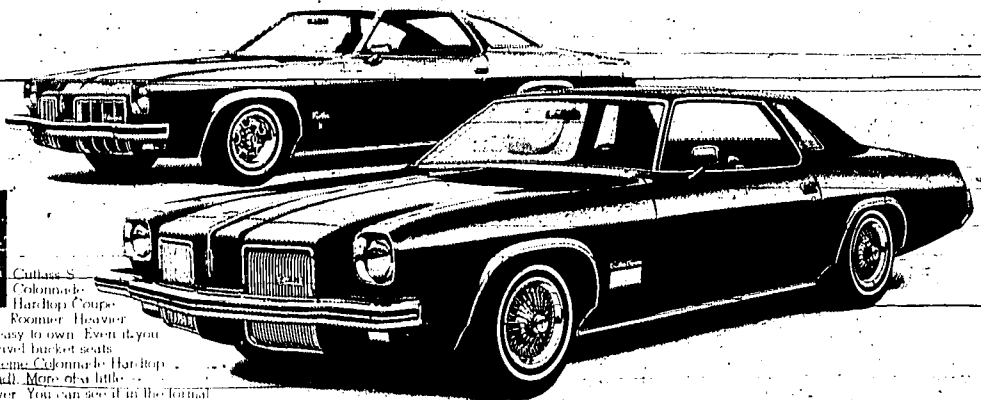

Despite recurrent conjecture that U.S. animal agriculture has reached plateaus in production efficiency, genetic variation in today's livestock and poultry indicate that the biological potential for efficiency improvement and cost reduction is tremendous.

Dr. Kottman said there is little question that sufficient land, water, and other resources will be available to produce the feed grains, hay, and pasture that will be required by a substantially larger U.S. animal agriculture in the year 2000 and beyond. He also believes that except for isolated instances, synthetics and substitutes will not make significant inroads into the demand for animal products over the next 30 years.

Oldsmobile for '73

Cutlass. It's two new cars.

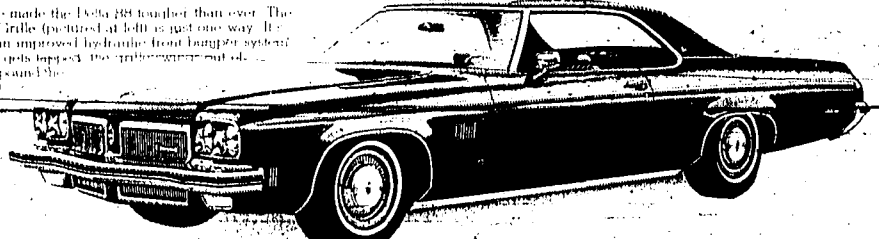

Yet surprisingly easy to own. Even if you order the new wheel bucket seats. Cutlass Supreme. Oldsmobile Hardtop Coupe (foreground). More of a little brouhaha than ever. You can see it in the formal routine and new open-air windows. You can feel it in the spacious, quiet interior. And even in the ride we've patterned after our bigger Oldsmobiles.

Delta 88—with a new grille that swings out of harm's way.

For '73, we've made the Delta 88 tougher than ever. The Swing-Away Grille (pictured at left) is just one way. It's teamed with an improved hydraulic front bumper system. If the bumper gets bopped, the grille swings out of the way. We've added seats that fold down for extra luggage space.

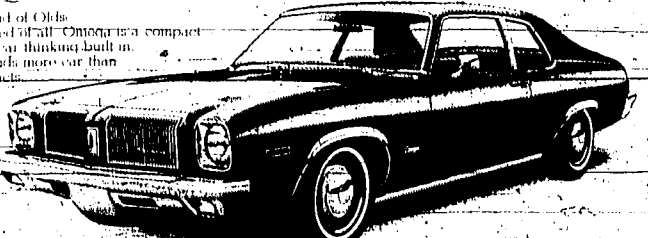

Delta 88 thousands of hard miles, to last durably. All to make sure it's more than just big, comfortable and smooth riding, not just another pretty car.

Omega. The new compact Olds at a compact price.

And you can feel the difference on the road. A deluxe interior with new "wet-look" vinyl trim is standard. So is full carpeting. And a 250-cu.-in. engine. Coupe, 3-door hatchback or sedan. It's a lot of Olds for the money.

See the '73 Toronado, Ninety-Eight, all the new ones at your Olds dealer's showroom now.

Cowboy board votes to reactivate franchise

Magie Valley, Cowboy board of directors voted Tuesday night to reactivate their Pioneer League franchise for the 1973 season if a working agreement is available.

Detroit, Yanks lose ground to rain-idled Sox, Orioles

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A two-run homer by Graig Nettles in the fourth and a four-run seventh inning Tuesday night powered the Cleveland Indians to a 6-4 victory and a doubleheader sweep over the Detroit Tigers after Steve Dunning won his own game 3-2 in the opener by hitting his third homer of the season.

The two defeats dropped the Tigers to a second place tie with the Baltimore Orioles and the Boston Red Sox moved back into first place in the Eastern division of the American League.

Detroit starter John Hiller retired 11 of the first 12 batters he faced but walked Roy Foster with two out in the fourth. Nettles followed with his 17th homer of the season into the right field stands.

The Indians wrapped it up with four runs against four Detroit pitchers in the seventh. Tom Timmerman walked pinch-hitter Del Unser with the bases-loaded to force in one run. Frank Duffy's squeeze bunt scored another and two more crossed the plate when Chris Chambliss hit into a force play.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers came roaring in to the Cleveland Stadium Tuesday night but it was Tiger Manager Billy Martin who was growling after watching his Bengals drop into second place after taking a doubleheader lacing at the hands of the Cleveland Indians.

"We're still right there and we have the type of club that will bounce right back," said Martin.

The Tigers' headman was fuming at a few calls in the nightcap that cost the Tigers at least three runs.

"If Chris Chambliss was called out at first in the seventh, it's a double play and they only score two runs. Bill Freehan gets called out on strikes on a 3-2 pitch in the eighth inning and Willie Horton follows with a three-run homer," chirped Martin.

Steve Dunning, who hit his third homer, and Ed Farmer teamed up to whip the Tigers 3-2 in the opener and a four-run seventh inning plus Graig Nettles' two-run homer in the fourth helped the Tribe to a 6-4

President Claude Engberg, could do little more than adopt that resolution unanimously. Ed Potthast, acting chairman, noted the action would give Engberg something concrete when he goes to meet with civic and sports leaders in Butte and Helena, Mont., in the next few days.

Engberg wrote there was a strong possibility that two working agreements would be available to the Pioneer League next year. To restore the alignment to six teams, two towns would have to be found. Twin Falls, which still held membership but was inactive, would have first shot.

However, the return is based on two contingencies — that a second (or sixth) town with the facilities and willingness to field a team be found and two working agreements were committed to the Pioneer League. Lack of either one would put the Pioneer circuit in an unworkable five-team situation.

Engberg is scheduled to meet with civic leaders in Butte, Mont., this week. A group in Helena also has been contacted and appears interested. No firm meeting date has been established for that town. Butte is the preferred site since it is located within the current radius of the league and would require less travel expense than Helena.

Potthast said he and the board felt it would be a disservice to the area to pass up this opportunity.

"I think it gives the area a little prestige in having professional baseball and, secondly, I know, regardless of what others say, it brings a lot of money into the area," he said.

The directors also discussed some promotional and housekeeping matters but noted nothing solid could be started until the working agreement has been secured. That answer is expected to occur at the convention of National Baseball Association in early December.

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Bill Parsons pitched a six-hitter and George Scott and John Briggs hit back-to-back homers in the third inning Tuesday night as the Milwaukee Brewers routed the New York Yankees 7-2.

The loss left the fourth place Yankees four games from the top of the American League East in the loss column and was a severe blow to their pennant hopes.

Scott, who had three hits, Briggs and Ollie Brown each drove in two runs to pace the Brewers' 14-hit attack off loser Rob Gardner and three relievers.

Except for homers by Bobby Murcer and Ron Blomberg, which accounted for New York's two runs, Parsons allowed only two Yankees to reach second base as he improved his record to 13-12.

Gardner suffered his fourth loss against seven wins. He lasted 2 1/3 innings, allowing six hits, three walks and four runs.

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The potent Kansas City Royals showed why they have four batters in the American League's top 10 Tuesday night as they pounded California pitching for 15 hits to back rookie Monty Montgomery's winning effort in defeating the Angels 7-2.

Dunning has got to be the luckiest pitcher against us. We hit some shots off him and he still comes out ahead," said Martin who has now lost three games to the 23-year old right-hander this season.

Martin used seven pitchers and 25 players in an effort to pull out the nightcap but Mike Killebrew, former Detroit hurler, got pinch-hitter Ike Bleasitt to ground out with the tying runs on base in the ninth to give reliever Ray Lamb his fifth victory against five losses.

"It's tough to play a team like Cleveland. They are not consistent and they can get up for a game against us," added Martin.

"This will be a night that Ken Aspromonte will live to regret," growled Martin, after the Cleveland manager lifted starter Bill Butler in the third inning of the second game.

"The kid gives up only one hit and he comes in with Ray Lamb. He had Lamb warning up in the first inning after Butler walked his first batter," added the Tiger manager.

Aces

Three holes-in-one have been recorded at the Twin Falls municipal golf course in the past few days.

Gary Rene and Doyle Morrill scored their on the par three, 150-yard No. 8 hole. Rene used a wedge and Morrill a seven iron. Jess Lowman scored his ace on the par three, 150-yard 14th hole with a seven iron. Lowman played the three pars in four under and had an 18-hole score of 65. That's three under par and not bad for a nine handicapper.

'Walk on' earns top line award

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Andre Jackson is a "walk on," a young man overlooked in football recruiting who comes to college intent to play, with or without an athletic scholarship.

Andre, 18 and a freshman, never doubted that he could play football and play well, and he showed Iowa Coach Frank Lauterbur just how well he can do Saturday in his first college game. Despite a 21-0 loss Iowa to Ohio State, Andre emerged with a solo tackle, 13 assists, a starting linebacking position and a promise of an athletic scholarship beginning next semester.

Jackson's performance made him United Press International's Midwest Lineman of the Week.

Far from being satisfied, however, Andre now hopes to do even better during the coming weeks to "show" Minnesota, Kansas, Michigan and Illinois how wrong they were in overlooking him during recruiting.

As a prep in Dixmore, Ill., Jackson had a fine record, but two serious knee operations, the last in December of his senior year, made most schools, including Iowa, "lay off" during recruiting.

Southland loop bars McNeese State from all title games

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UPI) — Southland Conference officials said Tuesday McNeese State University is prohibited from playing any basketball championship games and its coach, Bill Reigel, cannot personally help to recruit any players for an indefinite period.

The ruling by the conference's executive committee followed disclosure by Louisiana athletic officials earlier this month that two former freshman basketball players on the McNeese team had stand-ins take their college entrance examinations.

The disclosure, by Louisiana athletic commissioner Stanley Galloway, was coupled with a one-year probationary period in which McNeese was prohibited from participating in any post-season or championship games.

But the league executive committee went further. It prohibited the Cowboys from taking part in championship basketball competition beyond the one year limit set by Galloway.

The conference also said Reigel would not be allowed to recruit players "on campus or off, for an indefinite period beyond a year."

Last week, the McNeese faculty athletic committee placed Reigel on one-year probation in connection with the incident.

The league executive committee's decision said: "A poll of faculty athletic committees at each of the other Southland Conference institutions resulted in a majority vote that, pending stringent disciplinary action, McNeese be declared ineligible for championships in all sports for one year.

"However, the executive committee feels its decision is in accord with the majority feeling that no other sport be penalized for the matter."

The committee also permanently barred the two players, already expelled from McNeese and prohibited from participating in sports at any Louisiana school.

Hunter has Big Sky award

University of Idaho opened the 1972 season on a winning note, and placed a man on the "Player of the Week" list. The Vandals' Steve Hunter, who had a field day in the Idaho 17-14 win over Ohio of the Mid-American Conference, was an easy selection for "Back of the Week" honors. Hunter, who performs many duties, made two interceptions from his safety position, and was credited with 11 tackles, and on the specialty team, had a punt of 77 yards.

Northern Arizona, after placing two men on last week's "All Star" lineup, repeated again this week with another outstanding lineman. Sophomore defensive tackle Bruce Ivor, who stands 6'3" and weighs 218, was credited with 13 tackles and reached the quarterback for a substantial loss as the Lumberjacks downed the San Francisco Golden Gators, 31-10.

Receiving honorable mention was Joe Larkin, safety for the Boise State Broncos, who returned a fumble for 71 yards and a touchdown, had nine tackles, kicked a 43 yard field goal, and was three for four in points after touchdown. Jim Olsen of Idaho State, who carried eleven times for 88 yards and a 7.8 yard per carry average. Montana State's top-notch quarterback, Zoni McLean, who directed Montana State to 20 points in a come-from-behind victory over highly rated North Dakota State.

Martin fumes as Tigers drop pair

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers came roaring in to the Cleveland Stadium Tuesday night but it was Tiger Manager Billy Martin who was growling after watching his Bengals drop into second place after taking a doubleheader lacing at the hands of the Cleveland Indians.

"We're still right there and we have the type of club that will bounce right back," said Martin.

The Tigers' headman was fuming at a few calls in the nightcap that cost the Tigers at least three runs.

"If Chris Chambliss was called out at first in the seventh, it's a double play and they only score two runs. Bill Freehan gets called out on strikes on a 3-2 pitch in the eighth inning and Willie Horton follows with a three-run homer," chirped Martin.

Steve Dunning, who hit his third homer, and Ed Farmer teamed up to whip the Tigers 3-2 in the opener and a four-run seventh inning plus Graig Nettles' two-run homer in the fourth helped the Tribe to a 6-4 win in the nightcap.

"Dunning has got to be the luckiest pitcher against us. We hit some shots off him and he still comes out ahead," said Martin who has now lost three games to the 23-year old right-hander this season.

Martin used seven pitchers and 25 players in an effort to pull out the nightcap but Mike Killebrew, former Detroit hurler, got pinch-hitter Ike Bleasitt to ground out with the tying runs on base in the ninth to give reliever Ray Lamb his fifth victory against five losses.

"It's tough to play a team like Cleveland. They are not consistent and they can get up for a game against us," added Martin.

"This will be a night that Ken Aspromonte will live to regret," growled Martin, after the Cleveland manager lifted starter Bill Butler in the third inning of the second game.

"The kid gives up only one hit and he comes in with Ray Lamb. He had Lamb warning up in the first inning after Butler walked his first batter," added the Tiger manager.

Ali-Patterson fight to select foe for Frazier

NEW YORK (UPI)—No longer what they used to be, former heavyweight champions Muhammad Ali and Floyd Patterson are matched in a 12-round elimination bout tonight at Madison Square Garden with the winner earning a shot at Joe Frazier and the title.

Ali, wider around the waist and a little slower afoot at age 30, is hoping to weigh in at 210 pounds while the 37-year-old Patterson expects to scale about 192 pounds.

In their last meeting seven years ago, Ali, then the champion Cassius Clay, was a much lighter 210 pounds while Patterson was beefed up to 196

34. Ali, brash and confident in his second title defense, gave Patterson a frightful beating that night before referee Harry Krause finally stopped it in the 12th round with Floyd folded up in pain. An examination after the fight revealed that Patterson had suffered a slipped disc. Patterson will get a chance to give a better account of himself tonight against Ali, who has won all of his seven fights since losing to Frazier at the Garden on March 8, 1971.

Traveling around the world and taking on the top-ranked fighters in the division Ali was never really seriously challenged by his victims; Jimmy Ellis, Buster Mathis, Jurgen Blin, Mac Foster, George Chuvalo, Jerry Quarry, and Al "Blue" Lewis.

All won each fight convincingly but he always appeared to be biding his time, happy to pick up his paycheck and convinced that his work in the ring had brought him closer to his return with Frazier.

All has been guaranteed $250,000 against 25 per cent of the gate for this fight, probably his final tuneup before his expected confrontation with the champion early next year. That's assuming, of course, Ali wins.

Patterson, who will receive $125,000 against 20 per cent of the gate, is strangely confident for this fight and he's quietly telling friends he'll win this fight and move on to a fight with Frazier himself.

This will be the first big fight Floyd has had since he went into retirement after losing to Jimmy Ellis in 1968. Patterson began fighting again in 1970 and has won nine straight, including a surprisingly easy victory over tough Oscar Bonavena of Argentina here last February.

Patterson's overall record during his 20 years in the ring reads; 55-7-1 with 39 knockouts. All has lost only that one time to Frazier while winning 37, 29 by knockout.

Ken Buchanan and Carlos Ortiz, two former lightweight champions, meet in the 10-round semi-final. Buchanan lost his title to Roberto Duran here in June and was called in to replace the champion when the Panamanian took ill last week.

Pirates top Mets to clinch tie for third division title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Robertson's three-run homer and Bob Moose's six-hit pitching carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 victory over the New York Mets Tuesday night and enabled them to clinch a tie for their third straight National League Eastern Division title.

The triumph also reduced the Pirates' magic number to clinch the Eastern division pennant to one.

In winning his 12th game of the season, Moose struck out four and walked one.

Pittsburgh scored three times off losing pitcher Jerry Koosman in the second inning. Richie Zisk doubled to right, Manny Sanguillen reached first on an infield single, and after Richie Hebner flied out, Robertson smashed an 0-2 pitch into the left field bullpen. It was his 11th homer of the season.

Pittsburgh's record improved to 44-30, while the Mets fell to 38-36. The Pirates' victory moved them into a tie with the Cincinnati Reds for the third place in the division.

Nehlen cited for upset of Purdue

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (UPI)—Don Nehlen, who sees himself as more of a coordinator than head coach of the Bowling Green football team, has been chosen the United Press International Coach of the Week for the Falcons' 17-14 upset victory over Purdue Saturday.

"It's a great honor for me but my staff just did a great job," Nehlen said when told of his selection. "Do a story on my coaching staff."

Buck asks U.S. cage boycott

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clifford Buck, the president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said Tuesday he will recommend that the U.S. should refuse to participate in future Olympic basketball competition.

Buck said he will make the recommendation to the USOC Board of Directors that the U.S. should take the action, "as a protest against the unconscionable injustice done the USA basketball team in Munich."

He said the action would preclude the continued recurrence of similar treatment at the hands of the International Amateur Basketball Federation (FIBA).

Buck said this action would not affect American participation in other sports in the Olympics.

The USOC head was upset at the end of the U.S.-Russian basketball final when the clock was reset back three seconds to give the Russians a second chance to win.

However, the question may be academic since the International Olympic Committee is supposed to be thinking about eliminating team sports from future Olympics.

New prediction?

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Charlie Tuna predicted the St. Louis Cardinals would lose their first football game. The Cardinals won Sunday and Tuna had to crawl seven blocks Tuesday to repent for his error.

Tuna, sports director for radio station KATZ, may have set a record for covering the distance from Busch stadium to his station's studios.

Wearing gloves and knee pads and receiving a police escort, Tuna took 33 minutes to travel the route.

And he was harassed by Cardinals fans the whole way. An ambulance and nurse followed.

Sweating in the 91-degree heat, Charlie gulped two aspirins and predicted that he wouldn't be making any more predictions.

Wilson suffered the injury in Sunday's game against Baltimore. He is expected to remain in the hospital a few days.

Vandals face big Weber test

MOSCOW — Coach Don Robbins' exciting Idaho Vandals pulled out a close win over the very tough Ohio Bobcats 17-14 last Saturday to thrill an opening-day crowd of 15,000 in the new Idaho stadium.

Playing with clear skies and balmy weather but with a still wind, the Vandals won their first home opener since 1964. They now have won nine out of their last 10 games and 13 out of their last 17 games under Robbins.

Coach Robbins said he was pleased with the work of Ross Gaddard, sophomore quarterback from Idaho Falls. Gaddard, starting his first game, ran the team well, was able to check off plays at the line of scrimmage and passed with good accuracy. Robbins also said Steve Hunter, senior safety from Prosser, Wash., had a great game. Hunter punted for an average of 41.3 yards, including a 77 yard punt, had 11 tackles, intercepted two passes, and recovered an important fumble by the Bobcats in the fourth period.

Commenting on the Vandals' next game, Robbins said, "Weber is a big, strong, physical team, and extremely tough to beat. J. Ogden. They run the wishbone offense well and should be a real test for our defensive unit. Halfback Jim Larsen, a junior college recruit, is one of their top backs and veteran Rick Bojak is a fine ball-carrier. Veterans John Edwards and Charlie Grayson will be directing the team at quarterback.

The Vandals came out of the game with only minor bumps and bruises.

Knap happy with first BSC effort

BOISE, Idaho — "It was a good first game effort," commented Boise State Broncos head football coach after the Broncos' opening victory over the University of Nevada Las Vegas Rebels last Saturday night by a 36-16 score.

"We had a lot of players who played well and that Rebel team was much stronger than a lot of people here in Boise thought, but we got the job done," Knap said.

"The Rebels made us look weak and inept enough to keep our players coachable and give us coaches something to work on. We did see a lot of our players at work and that is important in preparing for a long, tough season," he said.

The season will continue this coming Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23 when the Broncos travel to Arcata, California to face the Lumberjacks from Humboldt State.

The Lumberjacks defeated Puget Sound last Saturday afternoon by a 27-24 score. That winning margin came in the last three seconds of the game on a field goal by Brian Ferguson. It was the first game of the year for Humboldt State.

Two Boise State school records were broken in their win over the University of Nevada Las Vegas. A 72-yard scoring pass from quarterback Ron Autole to split end Rod Stearns broke a three-year old mark of 67 yards.

The other record was a 71-yard fumble return by defensive safety Joe Larkin for a score. Fumble returns are counted as interception returns statistically.

Donovan, whose team plummeted from its No. 1 spot in the national ratings after its 26-17 loss at UCLA in the season opener, warned against undue optimism despite the fact the Huskers are heavily favored in the clash at West Point. The Nebraska squad climbed back up to No. 9 this week after a 37-7 drubbing of visiting Texas A&M.

"Army is especially tough to play at home," Devaney said. "They're a two-touchdown better team when they're playing at Michie Stadium."

Silent Thomas reports to San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Duane Thomas, considered by many as the finest running back in professional football, arrived at the San Diego Chargers training camp Tuesday and began working out for the first time in seven weeks since his acquisition from the Dallas Cowboys.

Noted for being uncommunicative, Thomas would only say to newsmen that he was "always in shape," "yes," he came to play, and "no," he would not be available for interviews.

Believed to be on the last year of a three-year contract, Thomas was asked why he was so late reporting. He replied, "What do you think?"

Thomas was seventh in National Football Conference rushing last year with 793 yards. Edwards at fullback, despite missing the first three games with Dallas. He led all runners in touchdowns with 11.

Chargers coach Harland Sware described Thomas as a player who can do it all—run, receive and block. Asked if Thomas would be ready for the Sunday's battle with Denver, Sware said he understood had been looking around the area for another form of employment for the running back if an agreement could not be reached with the Chargers.

Thomas, who looked thinner than in the past, will compete with former Holmann Trophy winner Mike Garrett for the starting halfback slot with Cid Hansen now? 423-5408.

BURLEY — Eight governmental agencies have combined their expertise this week to bring conservation and environmental education to Mini-Cassia sixth graders. Coordinator Deane Zeller said the Mini-Cassia Conservation Tour began Monday and will continue through Thursday. About 150 to 200 sixth graders per day will participate in practical studies and lectures in the Howell Canyon region of the Sawtooth National Forest near Albion.

Personnel from the Bureau of Reclamation, Soil Conservation Service, Cassia County Extension Service, U. S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, Public Health Service, the Idaho Fish and Game Department and the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife are aiding in the project, Zeller said.

He said the tour has been held annually since 1968 and seeks to acquaint the students with natural sciences dealing with resource conservation.

He said discussions covering fire control, recreation, water sheds, soils and wildlife have taken on greater meaning when conducted in an outdoor classroom.

Zeller stressed the program is intended to complement school room teachings and is coplanated through the county school superintendents.

Bamboo in Idaho

NO NATIVE to Twin Falls, bamboo plant in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Klopfer is doing well in the Idaho climate. It has already reached the height of power lines in the alley and will have to be trimmed. Mrs. Klopfer, above, says she could make her own fishing poles as it is the type of bamboo used for fishing poles, bamboo curtains and other building material.

Truthful about lying

VALDOSTA, Ga. (UPI)—A poll at Valdosta State College shows students are truthful about lying.

The poll was conducted by Dr. Bernard Cosneck and his research assistant, Nancy Lockington. They asked 491 VS students whether they had ever told a lie, and 490 of them said they had.

Cosneck said the "biggest cause for lying was the fear of punishment for 31.3 per cent of the students. The next most mentioned cause was the wish to avoid hurting someone, 24.3 per cent. And the third largest cause was the desire to avoid a disagreeable situation, 18.3 per cent."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I was falsely accused of having an affair with the wife of a fellow worker. This fellow telephoned me at 7 a.m. and informed me that he had some good news and some bad news. The bad news was that I wouldn't be able to spend the weekend with his wife. The good news was that instead of doing me physical harm for having fooled around with his wife (which I never did), he had thrown a brick thru the windshield of my automobile!

I thought it was all a joke. Now comes the problem: Later that morning, I found a $100 check in my car and a note from this fellow stating, "After contemplating my rash behavior, I realized how foolishly I behaved, so this $100 will cover the damages to your car."

Unjustly accused

I replaced the windshield, which amounted to $30. What should I do with the remaining $70? "ON THE LEVEL"

DEAR ABBY: Buy yourself a bulletproof vest. You never know what a nut like that will do next.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to our nephew's high school graduation party, and when we arrived we were told our nephew had left town that morning to go on a vacation to the seashore. His mother said he had made plans to go three days before the party. We (and all the others at the party) were disappointed to come to a party and find the guest of honor wasn't even there.

We had brought a nice check which we wanted to hand to our nephew in person, but we left it with his mother instead. (The boy has been back for five weeks and we still haven't had an acknowledgment for our check.)

I asked the mother why she didn't cancel the party when she knew three days in advance that her son wouldn't be home, and she said, "It's proper to have a party to honor our son's graduation whether he's here or not."

We've never heard of such a thing. Was this proper?

DISAPPOINTED RELATIVES

DEAR ABBY: About as "proper" as scheduling a wedding without a bride and groom. In any case, there is no excuse for his not having acknowledged your gift.

DEAR ABBY: I am being married in December and I have my wedding all planned out to the smallest detail because I want it to be perfect.

The problem is this: the guy I am marrying wears braces on his teeth. We thought he would have them off in time for the wedding, but he found out yesterday that he will have to wear them for another five or six months! He's 20, and a junior in college (so am I) and it's bad enough that he has to wear braces at his age, but when I think of the wedding pictures and him with braces, I could cry.

Should I insist that he have them taken off for the wedding? I know it could be done, but his dentist isn't crazy about the idea. Please advise me. BLUE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Don't mention his braces. I'm sure they aren't as conspicuous to others as they are to you.

DEAR ABBY: I read that letter from "Hurt Mother," who cried all night because her son who had been in Viet Nam for over a year, went straight to his girl friend's house instead of coming home. (Your answer was perfect. You said, "Thank God he came home!")

I know only too well what you meant. My son was killed in Viet Nam after he had been there only three months. Ask "Hurt Mother" if she would like to trade places with me? She should get down on her hands and knees and thank God her son came home alive. I'd give anything in the world if mine had.

RUTH PERRY: GOLD STAR MOTHER, GLADYS, VA.

A Lovelier You

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By Mary-Sue Miller

"Tell me what you eat, and I shall tell you what you are." Those are words written, circa 1796, by Brillat-Savarin, the celebrated French gastronome. Another wise bit reads: "Men who stuff themselves . . . know neither how to eat nor how to drink."

Certainly obese persons are an open book to all of us. They grossly overeat from custom or else have no real knowledge of the pleasures of the table: what food to eat and how to prepare it, for health and enjoyment.

Depending on her height and frame, a woman who is between 10 and 20 pounds overweight is on the bumpy road to obesity. She must revise her eating habits and re-educate her appetite.

That does not mean she must cut out favorite foods, but that she must eat down. Nor does it mean that she may skip items she dislikes — green vegetables, for instance — as a way of saving calories.

A balance of nutrients keeps normal weight. The emphasis is on proteins, vitamins and minerals — lean meat, fish and fowl, skim milk, eggs, cheese, green and leafy vegetables, yellow and red vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, fresh fruits. To be greatly limited, but not omitted, are fats, and carbohydrates (starches and sweets) from fried foods to candy, from candied yams to caramel candy.

Watch the column next week for how to eat less and enjoy it more.

POCKET CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our booklet, POCKET CALORIE COUNTER, tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan—a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Message the same

Youthpower: Election '72

WENDELL — When the National Junior Miss pageant was held in Mobile, Ala., contestants participated in advance preparations for getting out the youth vote in '72.

Among them was Anne Hagerman, Wendell, Idaho's Junior Miss and fourth runner-up at the national pageant.

The 50 young state finalists in the pageant who are part of the youth movement of 18 to 21-year-olds who are first-time voters, unanimously suggested that young people "Organize their own political party," a "Get Out the Vote" party.

At the contest in Mobile the girls got together all the buttons, banners, balloons and other political party paraphernalia to show for the record just how to go about doing this.

The girls advised that first on the agenda should be a big feed to work up energy for the heavy campaigning.

The menu included: Political punch: Made from cranberry and orange juice mixed with ginger ale. They suggested using a bright plastic pail for a punch bowl. The pail is unbreakable and adds color.

Platform sandwiches: The girls suggested setting up a plank of wood on some books to raise it from the rest of the table. Cover it with foil and trim with bunting. Then, pile up the sandwich makings — cold cuts, shredded lettuce, sliced tomatoes, lots of bread, pickles, mustard and other trimmings; and let each young person vote for his favorite by making her own sandwich.

Delegate's delight: For dessert the girls chose ice cream in the colors of the flag — strawberry, vanilla and blueberry, packed in tubs of dry ice with a dipper and cones handy.

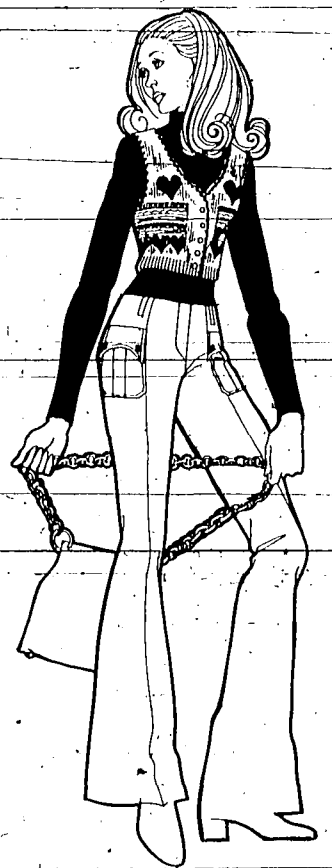

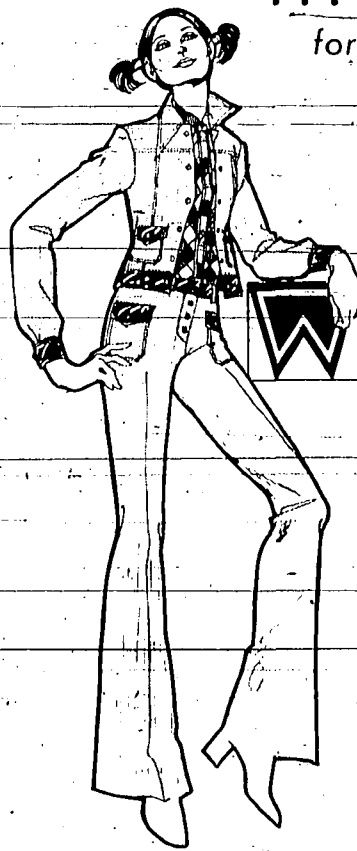

Then the girls passed out colorful sweatshirts as they got down to the main item of business politics.

They also passed around magic markers and iron-on letters and let each delegate go to work on creating his own word on election, 1972.

Some of the results were, "Name Your Man Now that You Can," "It's Our Turn Now," "The Choice is for You in '72," "Put Youth Power in the Ballot Box," "Vote! We Can Change the World," "If Tomorrow Matters, Vote Today," "The 18-year-old Vote — We Worked to Get It; Now Let's Go to Work," and Miss Hagerman's choice, "A Youth in the Booth Doesn't Goof."

We have a strong feeling that not more than a corporal's guard of the thousands of players competing in the Olympiad fund game will have bid and made five diamonds.

The bidding will start with a diamond by South and a spade response by North. South's correct rebid is three diamonds. We can visualize some cautious Norths passing this; other Norths will try three no-trump on the theory that their kind of diamonds will solidify a diamond suit and that East and West won't be able to run a suit of their own first.

These players will be rudely disillusioned. East will lead a heart and five quick heart tricks will develop.

A three-spade or four-diamond call by North will get South to five diamonds. Then it is up to him to try to make it. If hearts are opened and continued he can ruff—play ace, king and another club and ruff small in dummy. The queen of clubs will drop and he will be home free.

If a trump is opened that same series of clubs plays will win for him, but after a trump lead that is an inferior line.

The best line is simply to win the first trump in his own hand; lead a second trump to dummy's king and take a club finesse. This represents a 50 per cent chance and is better than any other club suit play.

Of course, South will lose a heart and a spade on any line he takes.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

♥CARD Sense♠

BRAD AND Diane Hickerson get into the spirit of tryouts the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley, Inc., will hold at 8 p.m. Friday at Washington School. Men, women, boys and girls are needed to perform in the spring production of "Hello, Dolly." No experience is needed by the dancers, they just have to be able to move, production officials said.

BPW makes plans for potluck event

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's Club scheduled a potluck dinner when they met Monday night.

The dinner will be Oct. 2 at the senior citizens housing center on Addison Avenue East and will observe National Business and Professional Women's Club week.

The Monday night meeting was conducted by Mrs. Betty Ainsworth. Guests were three 4-H club members, Carol Snyder, Julie Lindemood and Cindy Kennedy, all members of the club of Mrs. Gervase Kennedy. The girls showed their winning projects from the Twin Falls County Fair.

Mrs. Nancy Sampson also was a guest and Mrs. Mae Chatterton and JoAnn Ainsworth, new members, were introduced.

In charge of the program and refreshments were Mrs. LaVerne Rudolph and Mrs. Faye Hoffman. The program was dedicated to the new members and included humorous verses about each.

Reports given at Burley club meet

BURLEY — Reports were given during the business meeting of the American War Mothers Monday at the home of Mrs. Irma Quanstrom, Acequia.

Mrs. Katie Schmidt, Burley, state AWM president, reported on the 29th biennial executive state board meeting. Others who gave reports were Mrs. Quanstrom, state corresponding secretary and Mrs. Rhubie McClaflin, local chapter president.

The three women, all members of the Burley chapter of AWM, gave reports at the state meeting.

Mrs. Schmidt will represent Idaho at the national convention at Mobile, Ala.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. McClaflin. It was reported the rummage sale was successful and another is planned for October with details to be worked out.

A card was read from Mrs. Leona Eagan Tripp, former member of the chapter.

Members voted to contribute to the mine disaster fund at Kellogg.

The nominating committee report was given by Mrs. Quanstrom.

The October, November and December meetings will be held at the Idaho Bank and Trust Conference room, Burley.

Two poems were read by Mrs. McClaflin.

Refreshments were furnished by Mrs. Quanstrom and Mrs. May Tanner and were served by Karla Kowitz.

Mrs. Lena Anderson was a guest.

ISU art show set

POCATELLO — Marcia Way, Fullerton, Calif., a senior art student at Idaho State University, has prepared a one-woman show at ISU.

It will include ceramic earthenware, hanging weavings, fabric lengths and east jewelry and will be presented in the ISU Translition Gallery on the first floor of the Student Union Building.

There will be a special opening reception in the gallery at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The gallery is open to everyone Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Monday through Thursday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Leftover foods subject at TOPS

HANSEN — Mrs. Reed Lyons, leader of Idaho TOPS Chapter No. 84, opened Monday's meeting with a humorous reading on leftover foods, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Mrs. Lewis Morris was best loser of the week.

Mrs. Lyons reported that a copy of the bylaws and rules for TOPS Club have been placed on the bulletin board. It was decided that they should be read occasionally at meetings and new members should be given a copy.

Due to the power outage, before the meeting, it was decided to keep the meeting short and report the results of the contest at the next meeting. Alternatives to contests will be discussed at the next meeting.

FOODS PROVIDE ENERGY! USE THAT ENERGY TO ENJOY LIFE, STAY TRIM!

Foods provide vital nutrients to keep your whole body in good condition. Foods also provide energy, which is measured in calories. To avoid gaining weight, you must use up your daily intake of calories . . . in your daily work, and enjoying your favorite sport or exercise. Swimming's a sport the whole family can enjoy together. And, if your teenage daughter weighs 117 pounds, she can expend 260 calories in a 1/2 hour continued swim.

For special dietary problems and exercise programs, consult your physician.

WHO NEEDS THE HELP OF MEATS AS BODY BUILDERS?

Protein is needed by children for building muscles, by adults for repairing muscle and other body cells. A lean, cooked portion of meat, fish or poultry provides high quality protein. Other foods rich in protein are eggs, dry beans and peas, peanut butter and nuts. You need 2 or more servings of these protein-rich foods every day. Milk and cereal foods also give you protein.
