Candidates expanding campaign

By United Press International

Truth squads, medical care and big spenders in government dominated Thursday's topics as Idaho candidates flexed their political muscles from Pocatello west to Boise and north to St. Maries.

Long distance accusations and intense record-clearing speeches appeared to set the stage for the final month of campaigning before election day Nov. 7.

In St. Mary's, senate nominee William E. (Bud) Davis said his Republican opponent, Rep. James A. McClure, voted against improved medical care when he "sustained" President Nixon's veto of the recent labor-HEW bill.

"Mr. McClure's vote on this measure is opposed to the provision of doctors to doctorless counties, is opposed to hospital construction and modernization and is opposed to cancer research and prevention," the Pocatello Democrat said.

He claimed the veto represented a "desperate attempt on the part of the president and his rubber stamp congressman James McClure to pay for the enormous cost of the tragic bombing policy in Vietnam."

In Jerome, meanwhile, Republican Senate hopeful, James A. McClure said the "big spenders" in government are first "big taxers."

"There are many politicians today talking about tax revision, but there are not enough talking about reduction in overall spending of government," the Republican from Payett said.

He said he supports the closing of loopholes where people are avoiding paying their "fair share" of the tax burden.

"Unfortunately, however, there just aren't enough of the wealthy individuals who are not paying their share to make a significant difference," he said.

In other state political news Thursday, Second District Congressional Candidate Willis Ludlow sought an answer from opponent Orval Hansen on the current status of the National Reactor Testing Station (NRTS) near Arco.

In a letter to Hansen, the incumbent Republican legislator from Pocatello, Ludlow said he was "disappointed" by Hansen's lack of response to a Sept. 25 speech regarding conditions at the NRTS.

"I was deeply disturbed to discover that during the four years you have been in Washington, there has been a slow and systematic decay at the testing station," Ludlow, a campus minister at Idaho State University, said.

"I find little evidence that you have been concerned about these matters or that you are even aware that such a national scandal is building in your own congressional district," he said.

In Boise, First District congressional hopeful, Steve Symms, said Idaho "already has a truth squad," in response to a proposal made Wednesday by Idaho McGovern coordinator Carl Baumgardner.

Baumgardner told newsmen the state needs a federal "truth squad" to keep its election honest.

Melvin Ewell

BUHL — Melvin Ewell, 84, Buhl, died in Council Bluffs, Iowa Thursday while visiting relatives there.

Funeral services will be announced by the Albertson-Dickard Chapel.

Magazine supports McGovern

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Catholic magazine (Commonweal), making a presidential endorsement only for the second time in its 49-year history, Thursday said it supported Sen. George S. McGovern.

"He is himself," the magazine said. "He is that rare treasure — the good man in public life."

Richard Nixon once had a chance to unify the nation and to usher in the 'generation of peace,' but he missed it because something else was more important, the consolidation of his own power. He does not deserve that chance again."

The magazine added that, "As a Catholic magazine in an ecumenical age, we support McGovern because the overriding issues are moral ones."

Commonweal's only other presidential endorsement was for Adlai Stevenson in 1952.

Council reaffirms support

DENVER (UPI) — The Colorado Labor Council, in further defiance of AFL-CIO President George Meany, voted overwhelmingly Thursday to reaffirm its endorsement of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

"There is now in America's White House a man whose placid countenance oft betrays his revelling in the divisiveness that he has successfully thrust upon some of our labor leadership," said Council President Herick Roth. "History is replete with such game-playing in the temples of power."

Only 10 dissenting votes were cast against the endorsement among the more than 270 delegates who gathered in Denver to decide the issue.

A special council session was ordered after the council's executive board endorsed McGovern, defying a ruling by Meany that AFL-CIO state affiliates remain neutral in the presidential race.

Meany tried to "suspend" the council leadership for its action, but was blocked by a Denver federal judge.

Delegates also voted to double their per capita assessments during the month of October for use in the election effort, because of the Colorado unit's endorsement of McGovern, the AFL-CIO national Committee on Political Action (COPE) cut off $10,300, which had been earmarked for Colorado for registration and get-out-the-vote efforts.

Basketball player jailed

DENVER (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, 7-foot-2 center of the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association, was jailed today with teammate Lucius Allen and two other men on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs.

Police stopped their car early today and officers said they confiscated suspected marijuana and other "dangerous drugs." Simple possession of drugs is a misdemeanor in Colorado.

Jabbar and Allen were with the Bucks in Denver, where they defeated the Rockets of the American Basketball Association in a preseason game Thursday night, 136-92. Jabbar played just two quarters and scored 29 points.

Also jailed on suspicion of possessing drugs were Stephen E. Duncan, 23, a college student from Columbia, Mo., and Mordechai Cooke III, 23, of Seattle, Wash.

Arlan Prebloss, attorney for the ABA Players Association in Denver, said release on bond under the possession charge was routine because it is a misdemeanor.

Ruling favors elderly

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has ruled in favor of elderly persons who may be faced with the possibility of losing medical assistance because of increased Social Security payments.

In a 3-2 vote, the high court ruled Thursday that the state could not cut off medical assistance because of increased payments.

In doing so, the court affirmed two cases appealed from a Second Judicial District Court in Nez Perce County.

The plaintiffs, Bessie Curtis and Minnie Linthicum, are both elderly patients in the Lewiston, Orchard Nursing Home. Both are bedridden and unable physically to take care of themselves, the opinion said. It said nursing home care is essential to their subsistence.

According to the ruling, increases in Social Security prior to April 1, 1970 put the plaintiffs over the $153.80 per month cut-off point, and their state medical assistance for nursing home care was terminated.

When the medical assistance payments, which made up the difference between Social Security and the cost of the nursing home, were terminated, the two women were short of the needed $255 per month cost.

Following administrative hearings, the plaintiffs appealed to the district court, which ordered the payments reinstated.

The two cases were appealed to the Supreme Court by the former director of the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, Bill Child. It was then named the Department of Public Assistance.

Justice Charles Donaldson's majority opinion concluded that the relevant statutes indicated that the Idaho Legislature intended to extend medical assistance to persons such as the two nursing home patients.

Another PTA unit divides

TWIN FALLS — Another Twin Falls Parent Teacher Association has become a Parent Teacher Organization, independent of state and national PTA.

Mary Bennett, president of the Bickel school parents and teachers organization, said the group there has been organized as a PTO. As such, it will operate independently, using all funds raised by organization projects to support benefits in the Bickel School, she said.

No action was taken to withdraw from PTA and should Bickel school parents and teachers wish to affiliate at a later time with PTA the door is still open, Mrs. Bennett said. Formation of PTO was authorized by 131 to 7 vote in the October meeting, she said.

Election of new officers will be held during the next meeting.

Members have also announced plans for a carnival to be held Oct. 27 at 5:30 p.m. for the major fund raising event of the year. Eileen Lowe is chairman of the carnival.

Organization members will also be assisting the school principal in coordinating the motor learning program for first grade students this year.

Funds raised by the PTO are used to provide needed "extras" for the school and to provide scholarships for graduating seniors planning to attend academic or trade and vocational schools.

Under the PTA plan, 60 percent of the revenue raised locally went to state and national organization support.

Mrs. Russell said the Bickel group agreed the benefits were not sufficient to warrant the costs.

JACK MULDOON, left, was installed as new president of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club Thursday. ## Cassia posse elects officers

BURLEY — A review of the past year's events and election of officers, highlighted the Wednesday dinner meeting of the Cassia County Sheriff's Posse at Min's Cafe, Declo.

Jack Funk, captain, expressed gratitude to each of the members for their cooperation and hard work which, he said, was responsible for the large number of trophies the group received during the past year.

At the Idaho Sheriff's Posse meet held in Burley the local riders were awarded first place in drill, first place in overall points, second place for parade and third place for inspection.

At the Idaho State Riding Association meet, southern division, held at Blackfoot, they were awarded first for overall points of the meet; and winner of the most events.

At the state meet held in Rigby they placed first in parade, third in drill and were winners of the meet.

Current project of the Mounted Posse is working toward the 1973 trip to Calgary, Canada, next July to ride in the parade, and attend the world famous stampede.

Officers re-elected were Funk, captain; Alma Turner, co-captain; and Thurman Kidd, secretary.

Judges for coming years events are Herb Ashby, one year; Jay Glorfield, and Jim Poulton, both two year terms; Bruce Turner, and Scott Loveland, both three year terms.

Grounds committee includes C. F. Tolman, Bryce Chugg, Ron Smith, and Glorfield.

Committees appointed were ways and means: Bruce Turner, chairman, Loveland, director, Bill Poulton, Noel England, Buzz McCustion, Bryce Chugg, Wally Bradshaw and Don Jacobs; entertainment: Glenn Weeks and Don Merrill, directors; O. ## Pinchot's son raps practices

HAMILTON, Mont. (UPI) — Gifford Pinchot Jr., son of the first chief of the U. S. Forest Service, says the management practices on the Bitterroot National Forest would have killed his father if he had lived long enough to see them.

Pinchot, a board trustee and scientific consultant for the Natural Resources Defense Council of New York, added that the group's lawyer is considering a lawsuit against the forest service to halt the objectionable clear-cutting practices.

After a 175-mile grand tour of the forest in western Montana, supplemented by an aerial flight, he said, "My reaction is that it's appalling, it's unbelievable."

Jerry Allen, in the Bitterroot forest office, said Thursday Pinchot had visited areas timbered two or three years ago, when clearcutting standards were less strict.

"But Pinchot says he visited areas where cutting was still going on or had been completed within the past week."

Pinchot says the Forest Service is employing massive clearcutting in the Bitterroot, without other forest values such as recreation, watershed and aesthetic.

Allen disagreed, saying his office does not take a step in the Bitterroot without complicated studies.

5 persons bruised in TF 3-car crash

TWIN FALLS — Five persons suffered minor injuries in a three-car accident on Filer Avenue East Thursday afternoon.

City police said a vehicle driven by Clarence C. Hatt, 25, and another driven by Arleen Braxton-Hurt, 34, were stopped to allow another unidentified driver to turn into a driveway in the 1100 block of Filer Avenue East.

A vehicle driven by Robert Evan Roach, 47, crashed into the rear of the Hurt vehicle, forcing it into the rear of the Hatt auto.

A passenger in the Roach vehicle, John Lundson, 18, suffered cuts and bruises as did Hatt and his passengers, Janet Hatt, 24, and Laeta Hatt, 3, and Dieder Hatt, 1. The drivers and passengers are all from Twin Falls.

Roach was cited for following too closely. Damage to his vehicle was listed as total with $275 damage to the Hatt auto and $75 damage to the Hurt vehicle.

Tickets available

TWIN FALLS — Tickets for the 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. performances of "Pippi Longstocking" will be available at the door Saturday at O'Leary Junior High School. Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. David vanLeguwen, ticket chairman, 733-0530.

TF driver cited

TWIN FALLS — One driver was cited for a traffic violation and seven persons escaped injury in a traffic accident late Thursday on Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Jimmy D. Dunsmore, 18, who lives on the College of Southern Idaho campus, was charged with following too closely after his vehicle in which five other CSI students were riding crashed into the rear of another vehicle. Driver of the other car, Donald Eugene Keller, 47, Gooding, had stopped to pick up a hitchhiker who was putting his luggage into the rear of the Keller vehicle when the accident occurred.

Officers said the hitchhiker narrowly escaped injury. The accident occurred in the 1100 block at 10:55 p.m.

Dunsmore told officers he did not see the other vehicle. Both were traveling north. Passengers in the Dunsmore vehicle included Susan Palmer, Debbie Putman, Ralph Bollinger, Kurt Baron and Joe Robino, all 18 and 19.

Nixon sets radio speech Saturday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will outline the tax policy of his re-election campaign Saturday in a nationwide paid political radio broadcast.

The 15-minute speech, to be aired by NBC, CBS and Mutual Broadcasting System, will begin right after each network's noon news broadcast.

Nixon announced the broadcast at a news conference Thursday. He also produced some hints about what it would contain.

The President told newsmen he has found a "formula" that would provide some property tax relief without increasing federal taxes to replace the revenue that local governments and school districts would lose.

This ruled out the value added tax which the administration has been considering for replacement revenue.

Although he spelled out no details, the President appeared to be discussing a much more modest property tax relief plan considered by the administration earlier.

Nixon also repeated his pledge not to propose a tax increase next year. But he said if Congress increases his spending programs the result could be higher taxes in spite of administration efforts to hold the line.

Residents are invited to meet the candidates. Refreshments will be served.

DECA members to attend meet

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Distributive Education Club of America will attend a one-day conference in Caldwell Tuesday.

The 31 students planning to attend are enrolled in the distributive education program at Twin Falls High School. The conference is designed to aid DECA members in preparing for state competition in the spring. The students will attend several workshops during the day, some of which will feature great business men who will discuss job interviewing and advertising. A no-host luncheon will be followed by a business meeting and election of district officers.

Mrs. Ted Helmer, club advisor will accompany the students to the conference.

Students planning to attend include club officers Candy Freeman, president; Carl Blessing, vice-president; Mike Lee, reporter; Karol Keane, treasurer; Cindy Carlson, secretary; Andy Cover, parliamentarian; and Bruce Wilson, state chaplain.

Other club members planning to attend include Kathy Brown, Debbie Green, Evonne Halladay, Vonnice Homan, Mike Jordan, Brent Lillevold, Cindy Maughan, Wanda Morgan, Sheila Ochsner, Debbie Pool, Diane Richter, Mary Talamantes, Mike Nab, Alan Crane, Bill Workman, Rony Walker, Janet Cheney, Ann Marie Williams, Cherrie Loveland, Kyle Anderson, Linda Arhart, Michelle Price, Connie Haby and Frank Forrey.

Cultural Collapse

Crumbling and subsequent closing to most tourist traffic of the Colosseum and parts of the Forum and the Palatine point up how difficult it is becoming to preserve the magnificent treasures of ancient civilizations. Rome, more than most cities in the old world, is both honored and plagued by these vestiges of the past.

Crumbling stone and marble can be repaired, at least to a degree. Stolen and vandalized art objects may be lost forever. Rome is afflicted by more than its share of these crimes.

More than 3,000 art objects have disappeared from Italy in the last five years, with most of the loot presumably destined for a growing black market specializing in such treasures.

The problem Italians are having with cultural crumbling and theft is not exclusively theirs. The western world traces much of its ancient heritage to the periods which created the art now falling victim to crime, carelessness and time.

What is happening in Rome is being duplicated elsewhere in sufficient scope to raise the question whether much of the cultural past may survive this century. The Colosseum's cracks can be refilled and its toppled stones reset. The lagging cultural spirit it symbolizes is not so easily repaired.

As a result, if you want to see the ancient things in Europe before all is lost, you had better start making your plans right now. —OAK

Lacking Spirit

If Prime Minister Heath's government is not to blame for the complacency and lack of purpose which have afflicted the British economy in recent years, it must be alarmed by signs that the moribund Labor party is showing increasing evidence of a return to life.

Britain is of necessity an importing country. She produces almost nine of the essentials of life in sufficient quantities to support her population. It is essential to the stability of the British currency, therefore, that the British Isles develop export potential to the fullest extent.

Increased productivity in British manufacturing is the key to solution of many of the nation's economic problems, but neither labor nor management exhibits the leadership necessary to bring this about.

Britons may yet awake in time from their lethargy, as they have many times in the past. Churchillian bulldog determination is what Britons need most now.

MR. SPECTATOR

She Enjoys It

Mrs. Frances Breeding has lived in Twin Falls county for more than 59 years. And she's enjoyed every day of it.

Recently members of the Breeding clan gathered for a five-generation picture which is a part of today's Mr. Spectator. In the picture (from the left, seated) are Mrs. Breeding, Mrs. Lynn (Karen) Siddoway, Portland, and her baby Lynn George Siddoway II, 16 months. Standing, from the left, are Mrs. Joe A. (Frances) Keele, Newdale, Idaho, and J. R. (Bob) Breeding, Murtaugh.

Mrs. Breeding, now 88, lives in Twin Falls, does her own housework and tends her flower garden. Only recently did she find it necessary to wear glasses for reading or sewing. Mr. Breeding died in 1961 at the age of 83.

Active in various things, Mrs. Breeding is a member of the First Christian Church, the Silver and Gold Club, the Golden Age Club, the Twin Falls County Historical Society, the Association of Retired Persons. One nice thing about Twin Falls, she says, is the shopping buses which are now available to senior citizens.

Looking back over an active life, she recalls when she and her husband observed their Golden Wedding anniversary. That was on March of 1954.

"They were wonderful years," she said.

And from Mr. Spectator our congratulations to Mrs. Breeding. Citizens like her are appreciated.

McGovernite Politics Of Exclusion

ARLINGTON, Tex. — The fact that a tenacious energetic Sargent Shriver barnstormed parts of three steamy days in Texas last week on his fifth campaign visit to the state since his nomination for Vice President can be traced to deeply significant strategic contradictions within the McGovern campaign.

Of the seven most populous states, Texas seems the bleakest for Sen. George McGovern (with various polls showing him from 28 to 41 percentage points behind as of early September). The critical change — rural Texans, Democratic voters since their birth, are switching to President Nixon. Yet, McGovern strategists are concentrating on Texas.

Besides Shriver's comings and goings, McGovern has visited Texas three times since his nomination — and that's only the beginning.

The reason is that while McGovern now desperately attempts to patch together the shattered old Democratic coalition, his strategists never have fully abandoned their vision of a new majority based on youths and racial minority groups. In Texas particularly, they are fixed to the unrealistic notion that newly liberalized registration will produce enough new black and Mexican-American voters to carry the state.

This contradiction is typified by Shriver's most recent visit. Loyalist Texas Democratic politicians sticking by the national ticket find Shriver delivering old-fashioned liberal speeches vastly more attractive than McGovern. Throughout Texas, Shriver denounced Mr. Nixon's "fiscal irresponsibility" in deficit spending. At a Galveston press conference, he was measurably more conservative on Vietnam amnesty than McGovern.

But Shriver found himself facing not the white working-class Democrats he must win back but committed members of the McGovern youth-minority group coalition. His big, enthusiastic audience at McAllen in the Rio Grande valley was almost entirely Chicano. The next morning's speech was to new, leftist students at the University of Houston. That night's crowd at the rally in Fort Worth was overwhelmingly under 25.

Moreover, Shriver was accompanied everywhere by the state's most visible symbols of this youth-minority group coalition: state Rep. Frances Farenthold and former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, defeated for governor and a Senator, respectively, in this year's Democratic primary. They can scarcely hope to lure back alienated white Texas Democrats, particularly with Mrs. Farenthold at Shriver's side delivering anti-military polemics in pro-military Texas.

A reception for Dallas-Fort Worth Democratic politicians at the Inn of the Six Flags in Arlington was packed with true-blue McGovernites. Only a few old-line conservative Democrats and no supporters of Gov. George Wallace showed up. Several backers of Sen. Hubert Humphrey were present, but they complained privately that they have been otherwise excluded from the McGovern campaign.

The unmistakable conclusion is that the Texas McGovernites contemplate an ideologized, exclusive state Democratic party, controlled by themselves whatever the cost in election victories. Nor is this narrowed base compensated for by McGovern's highly publicized voter registration.

Those Hiccups

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a child to be born with hiccups? A friend claims that, when she was carrying her first child, she felt it move and it seemed as though the baby was having hiccups.

When the baby was born the doctor was surprised that the baby was crying. As a rule, as you know, the baby does not cry until the doctor spansk it. — X

Your friend may have been right, because infants can have hiccups immediately after birth, and it is known to happen in the uterus before birth.

I can't agree, however, that a baby doesn't cry until spanked. Many of them start breathing normally without any help — that's the purpose of a spank. To give a mild shock that starts the baby breathing. Probably many doctors give that mild spank routinely, but in fact it isn't always necessary. Still, no harm done either.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my family doctor that I have a prostate condition, and he suggested that I consult a urologist. Before I do, I would like to learn more about this condition. Is there any treatment except surgery? Is it lower at times. — R.L.J.

My first answer to you is to suggest that you do as your doctor said and see urologist. If the problem is mild now, why not get it treated while it remains mild?

Yes, there are treatments other than surgery, but the treatment is dictated by the exact type and degree of the trouble.

Prostate trouble to one degree or another is very common in men past middle age and isn't necessarily something to fret about unduly. Why don't you send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." It will explain the nature of the trouble and what to do about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am two months pregnant. I am on a low sodium diet and I am 30 pounds overweight.

Is there any way I can lose weight and still maintain a balanced nutritional diet and give birth to a normal baby? — L. S.

Your baby needs the same basic diet that you do — vitamins, calcium, iron, and, of course, protein.

For you to get this, there is no need to overeat, but no need to starve yourself, either.

You probably recall the old saying that "now you are eating for two." But, remember, the second party is a pretty tiny one and doesn't require that you eat twice as much as normal to support it.

Anyway, if you've put on any sizable portion of that 30 pounds during your pregnancy, you should be concerned, which your doctor apparently is because that's why you're on that low sodium diet right now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way other than X-ray to determine lung cancer? I have raised phlegm for a long time and am inclined to cough when I lie on my back. — C.J.H.

Other ways to detect lung cancer are by Pap smear of sputum or direct observation by bronchoscopic examination. Suggestive symptoms (besides chronic cough) are blood-tinged sputum, chest pain, shortness of breath.

Just Look Back

WASHINGTON (NEA) — This reporter talked for several hours recently with a contact who 26 years ago in North Vietnam was Mint-director in a coalition government of the type Hanoi is today proposing for the South.

That 1946 coalition began auspiciously. The Communist party "dissolved" itself. As they do today, the Communists said they were prepared to accept a provisional government of national concord dominated by neither side. Ironclad agreements were made to insure that neither Nationalists nor Communists would have control that the country would be neutral in its philosophy and administration.

To make certain neither side would take over the government, the 12 major cabinet posts were divided evenly — one-third to the Nationalists, one-third to Communists, one-third to neutralists on whom both sides could agree.

The three segments in the government were to be in equal strength and on an equal footing from top to bottom.

To make doubly certain neither Nationalists nor Communists would dominate, the three power ministries — Defense, Interior, the national police, and Justice — were put in the hands of neutralists. Ho Chi Minh became president, a Nationalist became vice-president.

Within one year, the Communists were in absolute control. The Defense and Interior ministries had become Communist. The Justice minister was dead and his deputy, a Communist, had succeeded him.

Only two Nationalist members of the National Assembly were left, the remainder being dead, in prison or missing.

But Ho Chi Minh's men were in effective control long before the year was up.

The Finance ministry, assigned to the Communists, printed money with abandon and siphoned off large sums of those printing press piasters for use by the party.

The Marxists, though they did not head the most powerful ministries, did have important positions in the second, third and fourth echelons. They used these posts to block effective government action.

Meanwhile, the Communist party (dissolved only in name) issued orders to its cells in the provinces, set up its own local police and operated its own security (military) forces. There was no effective apparatus to oppose them. Communist cadres had free reign to organize, make "arrests" and to assassinate.

Thus the guerrilla war went on, but with the government security forces sabotaged from within.

PAUL HARVEY

It's Not Free

On the afternoon of last August 22, smog levels in Riverside, close to Los Angeles, hit a hazardous 5 for half-an-hour. Had that much pollution lasted a half-an-hour longer, the federal government was prepared to seek court orders to ban gasoline sales, close airports — in effect, to shut down Los Angeles.

John Crews of Cedar Falls, Iowa — the mayor of the city — has turned in his driver's license and traded his car for a bicycle. He says one-man-one-car commuting is inexcusable waste, cost, congestion and pollution.

The mayor of Chicago, Richard Daley, has designated lanes on Loop streets exclusively for bike-riders. Denver, Colo., and Austin, Texas, contemplate such moves.

But the bike in your future is getting adorned with a lot of red tape.

Bicycles will likely outsell automobiles in the United States this year. In 1970 sales were 5 million, 1971 sales were 9 million, 1972 sales may top 11 million.

If the mushrooming bicycle population retards pollution it creates other hazards — accidents, theft and such — giving the politicians all the excuse they need to levy new taxes or fees on the pedalers. Free wheeling is no longer free.

Already Chicago requires registration of all bicycles plus a $1 registration fee. Loop parking of bikes is prohibited except in reserved lots — 50 cents a day. And the city contemplates safety checks on all bikes requiring another license and another fee.

There is agitation for mandatory helmets.

We have had a similar experience in the international inspection groups appointed for Korea, Vietnam and Laos in the past. In each team there has been a representative from a Communist country, a Western nation and a neutral. In each instance, the inspection system broke down because of vetoes by the Communist member. This has left the Communists free to violate the agreements.

The regimentation of bike riders has not yet caught up with small towns, but history says most regimentation eventually does. It's likely that every town which has parking meters today will have bike registration within months.

The registration practice is defended as a form of "insurance" against theft though that result has yet to be demonstrated.

Even rural roads are booby-trapped with dogs, obstructions, chukholes. Few city streets are even reasonably safe for two-wheelers.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, an ardent supporter of bicycling, says, "the main problem is the danger involved."

With 75 million Americans now riding bicycles the National Safety Council guesstimates that 880 riders will be killed this year and the National Transportation Safety Board anticipates an additional 130 "bike-related" deaths.

Nonfatal injuries are pandemic.

Heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White and others have long advocated bike riding as a "perfect" exercise for maintaining muscle tone, for stimulating circulation in the extremities and for moderate weight control. Yet these important advantages may be negated by hazards unless, as most police and safety officials recommend, bicycles are made subject to all traffic laws presently applying to automobiles. All states have such laws but no state enforces them.

They will.

Bicycle riding may ease some of our mass transit and pollution problems but it won't be so much fun from here on.

labor, to the nation and to some extent the world."

By United Press International
Sen. George S. McGovern concentrated his wide-ranging attack against President Nixon's administration today on minority voter registration while Nixon's campaign manager charged the Democratic nominee with escalating his "personal invective against the President."

In a statement prepared for delivery to a meeting of black ministers in Chicago, McGovern charged Republicans with reducing the number of black voters in 1968 and said they were doing the same with the Spanish community this year.

McGovern said that Republican sources contributed money to militant minority organizations four years ago. The groups, in return, "propagandized" local communities that it didn't matter whether people vote before "there wasn't a dime's worth of difference between the Democrats and Republicans."

He alleged that "it is happening again this year," McGovern said that in Chicago "I am told that Republican funds have been funneled to groups in the Spanish community for the purpose of reducing registration and voter turnout."

After his Chicago appearance, McGovern was scheduled to fly to Kansas City, Mo., tonight for a full day of campaigning capped by a speech at the Truman Day Award Dinner in St. Louis Saturday. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, who was dropped as McGovern's running-mate more than two months ago, was expected to join him.

Clark MacGregor, Nixon's campaign manager, charged today that McGovern had escalated "the shrillness and the stridency of his personal invective against the President."

In remarks prepared for delivery to the National Advisory Committee for the Re-election of the President in the Capitol Hill Club, MacGregor said "the mild-mannered fellow" portrayed by McGovern's television commercials "cannot possibly be the same man who has been ranting and raving all over the country in recent weeks as the Democratic candidate for President."

He added that "the McGovern big lie technique is poisoning the intellectual and moral atmosphere of our public life."

Without using McGovern's name, Nixon told a White House news conference Thursday that the public has been "turned off" by McGovern's allegations that the GOP administration is "the trickiest, most deceitful in our national history" and was tainted with corruption.

Nixon will outline the tax policy of his re-election campaign Saturday in a nationwide paid political radio broadcast. Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew made campaign stops in Council Bluffs, Iowa and Charleston, W.Va. Thursday. In West Virginia Agnew announced support for controversial strip-mining.

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern each have 48 per cent of the youth vote, according to a poll.

The poll, commissioned by Saturday Review magazine from Gilbert Youth Research and released Thursday, also indicated that Nixon had an 8 per cent advantage over McGovern among youths out of school.

Persons between 18 and 24 years old were surveyed in the poll, which was conducted in August and consisted of interviews with 2,500 youths across the nation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring the re-election of President Nixon would "constitute a grave danger," the head of the Butchers Union has asked President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to give up his neutral position and support Democrat George S. McGovern.

Patrick Gorman, the meat cutters president, sent Meany a telegram Thursday asking the AFL-CIO president to reconsider the federation's executive council to reconsider the earlier decision to remain neutral in the presidential contest.

Gorman complained Meany was criticizing McGovern while trying to "gag" AFL-CIO state and local central labor councils from criticizing Nixon or supporting McGovern.

"It is with ostensible neutrality that spokesmen for the AFL-CIO have leveled attack after attack upon the national candidates of the Democratic party and their supporters," Gorman said. "How can a policy of neutrality sanction such things while it gags critics of the anti-labor Nixon administration?"

Gorman told Meany that "no one quite understands your 180-degree reversal of position."

"There can be in fact no neutrality in these elections," Gorman said. "The re-election of President Nixon could constitute a grave danger to

Schmitz campaign tour ends

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Rep. John G. Schmitz, the American Party presidential candidate, said Thursday he would feel free to ignore the Supreme Court when it "legislated," such as on school busing.

"As president I would not feel obligated to execute the legislative edicts of the Supreme Court or any federal court. That is a power grab," Schmitz said at the windup of a two-day Connecticut campaign tour. "I would not feel obligated to execute any laws except those passed by Congress."

Schmitz said this particularly included court mandates to integrate schools through busing.

"Federal judges, if they want to legislate, should stand for re-election and undergo the occupational hazards of being a legislator," he added.

The lame duck California congressman attacked the courts during public appearances in Hartford, Stratford and Bridgeport.

Schmitz capped the trip by addressing 300 supporters who paid $15-a-plate at a dinner in Hartford.

Warming up for an anti-abortion rally tonight at New York's Madison Square Garden, the Roman Catholic father of seven denounced abortions as "murder" and part of the trend toward totalitarianism.

And holding a news conference from the barber chair of his Hartford campaign manager, Charlie Burke, Schmitz declared, "I'd like to cut off all foreign aid and put it into our space program."

Schmitz said he favored only foreign military aid that "directly affects the well being of the United States." He doubted whether American interests were helped by furnishing Israel with fighter jets.

Agnew attacks Demo record

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro Agnew, on a swing Thursday through the heart of the nation's soft coal industry, attacked what he called Sen. George McGovern's "consistent record of inconsistency."

Agnew also came out in support of strip mining with "safeguards to protect the environment." Strip mining is a sensitive issue in this coal-rich state where Republican Gov. Arch Moore faces a tough fight for re-election against Democrat John D. Rockefeller IV, who has promised to abolish the practice if elected.

Following a tour of an interstate highway construction project with Moore, Agnew returned here for a rally before some 4,000 shouting partisans.

"Sen. McGovern's consistent record of inconsistency is amusing, but the prospect of having a man in the White House as uncertain of himself, his staff and his facts as Sen. McGovern really isn't funny," Agnew said.

"Inconsistency can sometimes be forgiven, but consistent inconsistency is the last quality the American people want in their president."

Changing his pitch to bolster local campaigns, Agnew described Rockefeller as a "well meaning young man" whose roots simply are not in West Virginia.

"Rockefeller is more interested in cultivating a national image than he is in West Virginia," Agnew said. "There's a rumor he's seeking the governorship because he wants to move into a smaller house."

Rockefeller, a great-grandson of the oil magnate, has pledged to abolish strip mining over a two-year period if elected. Moore favors reclamation and stricter enforcement of laws regulating strip mining.

Parkland needed

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Sargent Shriver, the Democratic candidate for vice president, said Thursday that desperately needed parkland near urban areas is being whittled away. He blamed the Nixon Administration for failure to correct the problem.

"There is a greater need than ever before in our history for a human environment with parks and open space areas," Shriver told a convention of the National Recreation and Parks Association.

"But despite this fact," Shriver said, "22,000 acres of urban parkland has been lost in the last six years to utilities, highways and housing developments."

He said the Nixon administration is moving with "great slowness in correcting the problem of desperately needed parkland."

MOSCOW (UPI)—A study by a University of Idaho economics professor indicates extension of Idaho's sales tax to certain services would increase revenue and make the levy more equitable than it is now. The study was done by Dr. Shaikh Ghazanfar with a classes; and the exemption of services which are most often purchased by the wealthier. ## Firm told to stop claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Trade Commission today ordered Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. to stop using "false and deceptive" advertisements claiming that its Wide Oval tires "stop quicker," are free from defects and safe under all conditions.

But the five-member commission stopped short of ordering the Akron, Ohio, company to undertake corrective advertising though it ruled for the first time that it has the authority to do so.

Firestone replied that it had not produced the tires in question "for several years" and had not advertised them. The company said it had filed an appeal of the FTC order with the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

A group of Georgetown University law students called Students Opposing Unfair Practices, Inc. (SOUP) had intervened in the case in an attempt to obtain an order directing Firestone to place corrective ads.

Only Commissioner Mary Gardner Jones voted to require such ads. She said the Firestone case "presents the commission with its first opportunity to articulate on the public record just what its position with respect to this remedy is in the context of a formal record."

Military spokesmen said Air Force F4 Phantom crews escorting a flight of other fighter-bombers intercepted Communist MIG-21 jets and one of the North Vietnamese planes was shot down with an air-to-air missile about 50 miles southwest of the major port city of Haiphong. No U.S. planes were hit.

Both Cartoscelli and Purcell were asked by Hawk about that report. The undersheriff was blocked from responding by the prosecution challenge and Purcell said he hasn't seen the report.

Meantime, Hawk was cited twice more for contempt of court for his courtroom statements. The judge fined him a total of $1,000 and sentenced him to 10 days in jail. That brought to 32 days in jail and $2,700 in fines the penalties imposed against the defense attorney.

Others testifying Thursday for legislative protection were Fred D. Behringer, president of the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, and Victor S. Navasky, who spoke on behalf of the American Civil Liberties Union.

"The court's recent decision makes us fear for the future," said Behringer, who is executive editor of Montgomery Newspapers in Montgomery County, Pa.

Edward A. Perlik, president of the American Newspaper Guild, told a House Judiciary subcommittee Thursday that without legal protection some newsmen are jailed or threatened with jail if they do not disclose information or news sources to government prosecutors.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The head of the newspaper reporters' union has asked Congress to pass legislation to protect newsmen from revealing sources under the force of a government subpoena.

The Supreme Court ruled in June that the first amendment does not give journalists an absolute right not to testify.

Communist troops launch critical attack on Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops today launched attacks on government units within seven miles of Saigon, blocking traffic on a major highway and infiltrating at least five hamlets in what military sources said was a "critical threat" to the capital.

Major fighting was reported swirling around Phu Cuong, capital of Binh Duong Province about 15 miles north of Saigon, and snipers were firing on military vehicles on Highway 13 just north of the capital, the sources said. They said residents were being told to store rice for one to two months and that wounded soldiers would be treated "at their posts," not evacuated to hospitals.

Allied commanders have predicted the Communists will try to isolate Saigon in advance of the Nov. 7th U.S. presidential elections. To blunt the threatened offensive, the U.S. command for the past three days has been sending U.S. B-52 bombers against suspected Communist positions near the capital and the big planes overnight struck nearby targets in the heaviest raids in the area in more than three years.

The Saigon region is faced with a critical threat, one officer said.

Command spokesmen said at least 42 B-52s dumped an estimated 1,260 tons of explosives on suspected Communist positions around Saigon late Thursday and today, rattling windows and doors in the capital in the heaviest strikes since early 1969.

In the air war, clearing weather over North Vietnam Thursday enabled the U.S. command to order the heaviest air raids of the week above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams. Command spokesmen said more than 300 bombing strikes were flown over the North, including night missions by F-111 all-weather fighter-bombers.

Military spokesmen said Air Force F4 Phantom crews escorting a flight of other fighter-bombers intercepted Communist MIG-21 jets and one of the North Vietnamese planes was shot down with an air-to-air missile about 50 miles southwest of the major port city of Haiphong. No U.S. planes were hit.

Evidence of tire tracks blocked in Corona trial

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Accused mass slayer Juan Corona's attorney was blocked Thursday in repeated attempts to show that tire tracks found near one of the victims' graves were not left by vehicles owned by the defendant.

Richard Hawk, slapped with two new contempt citations, cross examined several Sutter County sheriff's officers at length about the tracks discovered near the first of 25 graves found in lush fruit orchards.

Corona, a 38-year-old Yuba City farm labor contractor, is accused of committing the murders and burying the victims — all farm workers — in crude graves more than a year ago.

Hawk bored in on the tire marks while questioning undersheriff Frank Cartoscelli and Capt. John Purcell, the chief investigators in the case for the sheriff's office.

During an exchange with Cartoscelli, Hawk asked: "Isn't it true they (the tire tracks) were the most significant clue you had at that grave?"

"I suppose that's true," the undersheriff responded.

"They were the only clues, isn't that correct?" Hawk said.

"Yes," the officer replied.

"Isn't it true that nobody matched those with any of Corona's vehicles before they snapped him out of bed at 4 a.m.?" Hawk asked.

Before the undersheriff responded, Hawk's line of questioning was cut off by Superior Court Judge Richard Patton in sustaining a prosecution objection.

Although Hawk failed to get the admission he sought, the tire tracks, described by Purcell as "easily visible" do not in fact match Corona's late model sedan and van truck.

This was confirmed in a report given to the sheriff's office several months ago by the state Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

Both Cartoscelli and Purcell were asked by Hawk about that report. The undersheriff was blocked from responding by the prosecution challenge and Purcell said he hasn't seen the report.

Meantime, Hawk was cited twice more for contempt of court for his courtroom statements. The judge fined him a total of $1,000 and sentenced him to 10 days in jail. That brought to 32 days in jail and $2,700 in fines the penalties imposed against the defense attorney.

Referring to Bridge's former employer, the defunct Newark Evening News, Mrs. Bridge said, "First there was the layoff. Then the place closed down. Now he is in jail and I will have a baby. You know, when it rains, it pours."

She said telephone calls from friends and sympathetic strangers "make me feel very good that we're not alone, even though I am alone. He'll come home some day soon, maybe tomorrow."

100th test flight held

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) —The 100th test flight by NASA of a wingless lifting body, forerunner of a generation of reusable space ships, was carried out Thursday.

A B-52 carried the rocket-powered M2 aloft and set it free. NASA research pilot William H. Dana ignited the craft's rocket engine and climbed to an altitude of 67,000 feet, reaching a top speed of 900 miles per hour.

Syrian trial set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jonathan Bates, a New York City graduate student, apparently will be tried for espionage in Syria starting Nov. 2, the State Department said Thursday.

Department spokesman John F. King said Bates was arrested in Syria last February but that the State Department did not know of his plight for months. King said Bates was reported in good physical condition and that his father, Ralph Bates, a retired professor at New York University, had been told by the Syrians that he could visit his son.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco met with Syrian

Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam in New York Thursday to express concern about the detention of Bates and protest the unexplained arrest of Maj. Richard Barratt, an assistant U.S. military attaché assigned to the American embassy in Amman, Jordan.

King also confirmed that the United States had revoked the visa of a Syrian diplomat, Dia Allah El Fattal, who had been seeking to come to the United States to join the Syrian delegation to the United Nations.

The United States and Syria have not had diplomatic relations since 1967.

Fewer jobless for TF

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls unemployment picture improved markedly during August, nearly offsetting the unprecedented increase in jobless the previous month.

Department of Employment statistics, released Thursday, show a decline in August unemployment in of 2.8 per cent from July's unprecedented 7.6 per cent. The August total is 4.8 per cent.

At the same time, the department's monthly Manpower Review reports total employment increased five per cent to an estimated 21,620 persons.

Labor analyst Ken Hodge attributed the increased employment to seasonal growth in the food processing industry, as well as construction, trades and services.

The report cites a sharp upsurge in county construction, with a $1 million apartment building nearing completion on Maurice Street. In addition, the report cites the construction of five housing units, being financed under the Housing and Urban Development 255 program.

Agricultural employment showed a modest decrease during August, the report states, with the end of preharvest activities.

The report also predicts no appreciable change in the unemployment picture throughout the county during the next two months, largely the result of the annual harvest season.

Co-pilot guiding Mac's jet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United Air Lines said Thursday Democratic presidential candidate George S. McGovern, a former bomber pilot, did not take over the controls of his campaign jetliner.

McGovern, who named his jetliner "Dakota Queen II" after his World War II bomber, was photographed Sunday seated in the pilot's seat.

But United Air Lines, which provided the chartered jet, said "the aircraft was being flown by the copilot by means of the automatic pilot."

The Federal Aviation Administration announced Wednesday it planned to investigate the incident. Under FAA rules, McGovern was not allowed to sit in the pilot's seat.

But a spokesman for the lines said the company "has not received a citation from the FAA" over the incident. However, it said the pilot of the plane "was admonished."

The olive branches on the flag of the United Nations signify the U.N.'s purpose of promoting world peace.

Danish minister installed

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Anker Jorgensen, a 50-year-old self-educated labor union leader handpicked by Jens Otto Krag to replace him as Prime Minister of Denmark, took office Thursday in an informal ceremony at the Royal Palace.

Krag resigned as leader of the minority Social Democratic government for personal reasons Tuesday, the day after winning a successor but divisive fight for voter approval of Denmark's entry into the European Common Market.

Krag picked Jorgensen as his successor and the choice was approved by the executive board of the Social Democratic party.

The new Prime Minister's first task was to pull the badly divided party together after Danish voters in a national referendum Monday approved entry into the European Common Market.

The measure gained a 2-1 majority and was a major political triumph for Krag, but more than 500,000 workers voted against market membership and several members threatened to leave the party and back the leftwing Socialist Peoples Party.

Hunting no-no

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Deer shining — with or without weapons in possession — is strictly taboo in Michigan between midnight and sunrise under a new law designed to clamp down on a serious deer poaching problem.

The restriction remains in force through December and comes during a period of the year when shining deer, which holds them spellbound when a bright light is cast on their faces, takes its heaviest toll. Officials estimate these illegal after-dark torays drain 20,000 to 30,000 deer from Michigan's herd each year.

LDS elders meet, sustain leader

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The elders of the Mormon Church gathered today in the silver-domed Tabernacle to sustain 73-year-old Harold B. Lee as the youngest president of the church in four decades.

Lee, who founded the Mormon self-help welfare program during the Depression, was named "prophet, seer and revelator" of the three-million-member church in July following the death of Joseph Fielding Smith at the age of 95.

The church's ruling Council of the Twelve Apostles followed a tradition started with Brigham Young in selecting its senior member, Lee, as the 11th president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints.

Church doctrine holds that the council's choice must be sustained by the membership. The sustaining vote, which eventually is participated in by each Mormon at his local ward (parish), begins with a Solemn Assembly at the Tabernacle at which representatives of the priesthood approve the choice.

In remarks prepared for delivery after the show of hands by the priesthood leaders, Lee pledged to "earnestly try to so live that the Lord can answer your prayers through me."

"There has been here an overwhelming spiritual endowment, attesting, no doubt, that in all likelihood, we are in the presence of personages, seen and unseen, who are in attendance," he said.

"Who knows but that even our Lord and Master would be near us, on such an occasion as this, for we, and the world, must never forget that this is His church and under whose Almighty direction we are to serve."

According to Mormon belief, the church's leader is a "prophet, seer and revelator" who receives divine inspiration and direct revelation from God.

Lee said recently that the church's controversial denial to Negroes of the priesthood — held by 750,000 of its members — could only be changed by revelation.

"The Negro will achieve full status," he said. "We're just waiting for that time."

"Our doctrine toward Negroes cannot be explained in abstract terms," Lee added. "If one believes in revelation, then the reason is clear; if he doesn't, then there is no adequate explanation."

Lee, who was born to Mormon parents in Clinton, Idaho, on March 28, 1899, was a school principal, businessman and city commissioner before being named a member of the Council of the Twelve in 1941.

The Mormon leader, who served for many years as a director of Union Pacific Railroad and Equitable Life Assurance Society, was the chief organizer of the church's welfare program in 1936.

The church, which distributed $17 million in funds and commodities to its needy members last year, prides itself on taking care of its own through a system of welfare farms and plants manned by volunteers.

The Mormon Church, which doubled its membership in the past decade to 3.1 million, is now the sixth largest of 217 American church organizations.

LONDON (UPI) — Hoverlloyd, a company which operates air cushion vehicle ferry services across the English Channel, has announced it would "stretch" three of its craft to enable them to carry 288 passengers and 37 cars. Hoyercraft operating now have a capacity of 250 passengers and 30 cars. They make regular Channel crossings.

Shoplifting...

the crime
that sounds like a snap.

Fear hits like a punch in the stomach when you get caught shoplifting. It's always a surprise to the poor patsy when he's caught red-handed, because it looks so easy. It's never easy. Today's law officers have TV monitors, electronic tags and dozens of other science fiction devices watching the merchandise. You'll get caught. The odds are better than ever. If losing some of your life in the pokey doesn't bother you, it will bother your future. Long after your release, your record will follow you like a disease. Don't kid yourself about the crime of shoplifting. The snap you hear can mess up the rest of your life. Think about it. The world doesn't need any more senseless acts.

Pedicar useful on short hops

WINDSOR, Conn. (UPI)—A Connecticut firm is betting it can break Americans of the habit of using the family auto for short hops around town. The firm, Environmental Tran Sport Corp., has developed and will soon be marketing a $550 Pedicar, propelled by legpower and capable of going 13 to 15 miles an hour, with no more effort, the company says, than the average person would exert walking the same route.

The company has driven the car up a 21 per cent or 12 degree snow-covered slope at a walking speed without using snow-tread tires.

The key to the human-powered vehicle is the firm's "linear torque" drive system.

Cardiologist Dr. Paul Dudley White, a life-long bicycle advocate, and the late President Eisenhower's personal physician, test drove a prototype of the Pedicar last year over snow packed roads in nine degree weather.

The doctor, who was 84 at the time, said he was impressed by the way the vehicle took maximum advantage of the thigh muscles.

The Pedicar's three-way pedal system allows the driver to pump with only one foot if he so chooses, use both feet alternately, or when an extra surge of power is needed, depress both pedals at the same time.

same material used in professional football helmets. It rides on four bicycle-type spoke wheels, two of which are equipped with disc brakes operated.

The cockpit, with an adjust-

The driver can pump with only one foot if he chooses

The driver can also change gears on the five-speed synchromesh transmission system at any time whether the vehicle is moving or not.

Robert L. Bundschuh, the 38-year-old aircraft engineer and inventor who designed the Pedicar, says his drive system can convert 96 per cent of the force exerted on the pedals into driving power.

The Pedicar weighs slightly more than 100 pounds, is about four feet high and about three feet wide, and has a 58 inch wheelbase. It has a welded aluminum alloy chassis and a body made of Cyclocac, the ble antiwhiplash bucket seat and collapsible aircraft-type steering yoke, will accommodate an adult up to six-foot-four, with space left over for a preschooler, a couple of bags of groceries or a picnic lunch. Standard equipment will include a battery-powered headlight, manually-operated windshield wiper, seat belts, safety reflectors and a rear view mirror.

Available as options will be a speedometer, sunroof, radio and turn-signals.

If all goes as planned, the stubby little vehicles will be rolling off the company's assembly line shortly after the first of the year.

Present plans call for marketing the Pedicars through the existing network of some 40,000 bicycle retailers.

Travel hazard
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The death toll increases in summer with more cars on unfamiliar roads and it isn't just the human population that suffers.

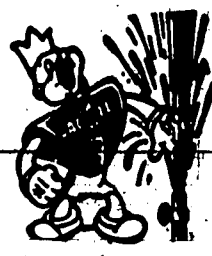

A recent national survey showed that 120,000 deer and 1,200 other big-game animals are killed each year, in addition to many thousands of domestic pets. Damage to vehicles involved in car-animal collisions is estimated at more than $30 million annually.

Andrus promotes Expo-74

COEUR D'ALENE — Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus says he will go to the State legislature this coming January and seek an appropriation for the state's participation in Expo-74.

Andrus told a meeting of 45 business and government leaders Wednesday night, "Expo is important, not only to the Pacific Northwest, but also to Idaho."

The governor said his state is on what will be the eastern gateway to the World Environmental Exposition in Spokane and many people attending the Expo would pass through Idaho to get there.

"I will go to the Idaho legislature," he said, "and request funds to provide an Idaho display and participation on the Expo grounds. We will use this with some matching funds which could be federal funds within planning areas and/or funds from the private sector in Idaho."

Andrus said the private sector in the state could provide for the convenience of travelers going to and from the exposition as its part of the state's participation.

Transfer directive received

GLENN'S FERRY — A directive has been received from the Internal Revenue office relative to relocation pay for Union Pacific transfers.

Many Union Pacific employees have been transferred to Pocatello from Glenn's Ferry. They must include on their income tax returns all relocation pay, reimbursements, inducements and other payments whether deductible or not, as gross income for the year in which they are received.

Internal Revenue Service explained the employer is required to furnish each employee with a form 4782 "Employee Moving Expense Information" describing the nature of payments. The employee should complete Form 3903 "Moving Expense adjustment" to claim a deduction for the allowable portion of his expense on his income tax return.

Full information is provided in Publication 521 "Tax Information on Moving Expenses" available at all Internal Revenue offices.

Youth Seminar delegates honored by TF Civitan

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Civitans hosted delegates to this year's Civitan Youth Seminar, their parents and sponsors at a dessert meeting Wednesday at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room.

Robert E. Briggs, Pocatello, past district governor and head of this year's seminar, served as master of ceremonies at the meeting.

Three delegates presented talks on their experiences at the seminar. They were Matt Muldoon and Kent Katz, both Twin Falls, and Virgil Alldritt, Kimberly.

The seminar covered political and social problems of the present and how they affect today's youth. A representative of big business and a religious representative addressed delegates at the seminar to explain why things are as they are. The delegates also heard a talk by an individual who had spent some time in Russia.

Other program numbers included a drama by Ann Holloway and Jackie Kasel, both Twin Falls, and a selection of songs from "Camelot" sung by Martin Wright, Murlaugh.

Carle Scheele, president of the Twin Falls Civitans, presented certificates of appreciation to sponsors of the delegates.

Delegates include Katrina Colner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Colner, Hansen; Diana Lynn Borah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Borah, Hansen; Virgil Alldritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Alldritt, Kimberly; Darryl Stiegemeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stiegemeier, Buhl; Scott Crane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Crane, Burley; Diane Stoker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deloss Stoker, Burley.

Martin Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright Jr., Murlaugh; Kent Katz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Katz, Twin Falls; Ann Holloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Holloway, Twin Falls; Jacqueline Kasel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kasel, Twin Falls; Mike Sass, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sass, Twin Falls; Sharla Timm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Timm, Twin Falls; Bonnie Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larson, Hansen; Jeannette Ahlm, daughter of Jeannette Ahlm, Buhl; Matt Muldoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Muldoon, Twin Falls.

Girls senior adviser was Caroline Herzinger, Twin Falls, and boys senior adviser was Carl Scheele, Twin Falls.

Seminar delegate sponsors included Dr. Ben Katz; Cains, Inc.; Idaho First National Bank, Buhl; Farmers National Bank, Buhl; Mountain-Bell; Idaho Power Co.; Pennywise Drug, Twin Falls; Shields Warehouse, Buhl; Independent Meat Co.; Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co.; Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., Kimberly Branch; Intermountain Gas Co., and Snake River Auction.

The annual Civitan Seminar will be in Great Falls, Mont., next year.

65th observance

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Cleveland will celebrate their 65th Wedding Anniversary Sunday at their home South of Twin Falls.

Their daughters, Mrs. R. W. (Jean) Stuart, Gooding, and Mrs. Don (Kathryn) Ramseyer, Twin Falls, invite friends of the Clevelands to join them at an open house from 2 to 3 p.m. They request no gifts.

Janice Corak, Cook wed

TWIN FALLS — Janice Corak and Keith Cook were married Sept. 10 at the Twin Falls YMCA Chapel with the Rev. Loren Blades, Jerome officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Corak and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook, all Twin Falls.

Matron of honor was Rhonda Ashford, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Sylvia Grooms was organist. Kenneth Cook, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The couple was honored at a reception in the YMCA reception hall, after the ceremony.

Gem Garden Club Symposium scheduled Oct. 10-12 in TF

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Garden Club members were told of the State Garden Club horticultural and floral design symposium at their meeting Wednesday.

The symposium will be Oct. 10-12 at the IOOF Hall, 235 3rd Ave. E. and is open to persons interested. The program is available from Mrs. S. W. Smith.

Mrs. T. W. Hicks, Garden Club president, conducted the meeting at the YM-YWCA building. Mrs. Bill Couberly, treasurer, and Mrs. Gail Porter, corresponding secretary, presented reports. Mrs. Victor W. Nelson gave tips on care and winter storage of gladioli, dahlias and tuberous begonias.

Mrs. Mark Knoll, district director, reported on the dedication of the Blue Star Memorial marker at the new highway rest stop west of Filer.

A committee was appointed to consider a memorial for the late Mrs. Ray Fike.

Gasteford, was welcomed as a new member. She reported on activities of her junior garden club, "The Plant People."

Mrs. Mark Knoll and Mrs. Gabriel Nuttle were hostesses. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ada Powell and Mrs. Edward Reichert.

Guests included Mrs. J. N. Leggat, Boise; Mrs. Elsie Penney, Mrs. Willard Nutting and Mrs. Ivan Waring.

The next meeting will be a workshop on Christmas arrangements Nov. 1 at the YM-YWCA building. Members should bring their own materials including wire, clay and needlepoint holder. A flat container is suggested. Mrs. Ivan Mink, Jerome, will direct the workshop.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please keep my name off this. If my mother knew I wrote it she would kill me.

First, my mom has been in the nut ward four times. (She used to take all kinds of pills.) She can't get along with anybody. She knows everything and is never wrong. Everybody else is. She doesn't talk she hollers! She is always picking on me, and when I complain to my father, he says, "You know your mother is off her rocker, so don't expect her to act normal."

When I ask him why we don't just send her away somewhere, he says, "Because she will get well faster at home, and if you don't try to get along with her, we will send YOU away!" Is that fair? I am 15 and have some rights, too.

Needs
listener

My mom's been going to a psychiatrist three times a week for five months now and I can't see one bit of improvement. It's costing my father a fortune. That's why he can't buy me a car.

I guess maybe I just need someone to talk to. Maybe if I acted goofy enough they'd send ME to a shrink. It would sure be neat to pay someone to listen to me complain. Thanks, Abby, for letting me get this off my chest.

DOWN IN THE DUMPS

DEAR DOWN: Many a truth is spoken in jest. Maybe you do need someone to listen to you. If there's a counseling service at school, take advantage of it. Or inquire about seeing someone at Family Service or your local Mental Health Clinic. Living with a disturbed person isn't easy, but if you learn more about your mother's illness you will be more compassionate and less hostile, which would help her, and you, too.

DEAR ABBY: We live in an apartment, and the people next door have taken their stereo out on the patio and the racket is driving me up a wall. They have one of those twin speaker setups, and I hear rock and roll blasting away until I think the top of my head will fly off! I simply cannot understand how they can tolerate the sound level. They have GOT to be deaf!

I didn't have the courage to go over there and tell them personally to turn the music down, so I telephoned them, and would you believe the phone rang a full ten minutes before they heard it! They did turn it down a bit, but the next evening it was blaring away again.

Don't tell me to report them to the manager. The people on the other side did that and got nowhere. And in case you think I'm an old fogey, I am 33 years old! Please help me.

LOSING MY MIND IN L.A.

DEAR LOSING: Go over there and TELL them they are disturbing your peace. And since the other neighbors are equally annoyed, how about getting up a petition? Present it to the manager. If that doesn't get results, call the goondarmes.

DEAR ABBY: The Admiral of this installation was leaving for another assignment. His last day he came to each person to bid farewell. I am a woman, employed here. When the Admiral approached my desk I stood up to shake his hand.

Another woman employee loudly criticized me for standing up for a man. Some employees took her side. Some took mine. I am interested in your opinion.

DEAR B.: It is proper for a woman to stand in greeting a man for whom she wishes to show respect for his age or position.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 9709, L. A., CALIF. 90009 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

TF LAPM slates inspection review

TWIN FALLS — Tentative Ladies Auxiliary Patriarch plans for a review of inspection Dec. 4 were made at a meeting of Ladies Auxiliary Patriarch Militant of Colfax No. 13.

Mrs. George Easton, Jerome, gave the thought for the day, and directed the forming of the lines.

Mrs. Helen O. Breeding was welcomed as a new member through transfer from Ridgely Canton Auxiliary at Stockton, Calif.

It was announced Mrs. Bertha Neaves, former member is visiting sisters at Jerome. She would like friends to visit her there.

Officers for the coming year were nominated.

Mrs. Anna Leth, Buhl, presented a paper on Mrs. Fairhall, organizer of the first Ladies Auxiliary Patriarch Militant. She said the Colfax No. 13 auxiliary was organized April 3, 1927.

The next meeting is Nov. 6 at the Buhl Odd Fellows Temple.

Hints

Liven up dull dorm floors at college. Put down plushy bathroom rugs. Use pillow cases as pillow shams by tucking the open ends inside and sewing on snaps. Suspend something from the floor to ceiling to create an impression of privacy for two roommates.

Use towels to cover foam cushions and pile on the floor for seating. These tips on decorating dorm rooms (or those at home) come from Seventeen magazine.

LDS groups resume lessons

SHOSHONE — Weekly lessons have resumed for the LDS Relief Societies, after a four-month summer vacation period.

The lessons will again be varied, with the first meeting of the month featuring a spiritual living topic, dealing with religious aspects of the Church. The text for this course is "Articles of Faith," by James E. Talmage.

A new series of lessons are outlined for the homemaking period each month. Major topic is attitudes and manners.

In addition to the obvious manners of behavior, discussed will be "Being a Good Neighbor," "Church and Public Performance," "True Hospitality," and further emphasis on home management, dealing and influencing children in all walks of life.

The social relations lessons will deal with family relationships, under duo topics of "Time Together, a Family Benefit," "Respect for Authority," "The Challenge of Motherhood-How to Live With Your Children and Enjoy It, and related topics.

For October, the social relations lesson will deal with creating a climate within the home that will give opportunity for healthy, normal personalities within a family. Use of the school and recreation in forming binding ties within the family will be considered.

"Eternal Truths Portrayed in Woods, Art and Music" will be the subject of the cultural refinement lessons this year. The text is the New Testament based on "Jesus The Christ" by James E. Talmage.

"For God So Loved the World" is October lesson topic with an objective to show music deepens the awareness of God's love that was manifested in the prophetic announcement of the coming of His Son.

"The Messiah," by George Handel will be studied along with "Star Bright" by Lorin F. Wheelright.

In the Shoshone Ward, Relief Society classes are at 10 a.m. and end before noon, except on the second Tuesday of the month, when an all day work meeting is held with luncheon served at the church. The visiting teacher's meeting is held at 9:30 a.m. on the first Tuesday of the month.

A fall festival is planned for the latter part of November when bazaar items will be offered for sale.

THE BEST BEAUTY POLICY

By Mary Sue Miller

An "un-madeup" look is the aim of the "new" women with an unaffected lifestyle. This means a sheer, glowing, wholesome look all day long. It's a straight-on look that says, "This is me!"

The effect can be achieved only by transparent, weightless formulas designed to enhance, not mask, one's complexion. A Wholesome Face collection of make-up is what's wanted.

First off, women with dry or normal skin require a perfect sort of moisturizer, an under-makeup moisture gel that provides a smooth, dewy surface for make-up to cling, long and evenly. For an oily skin, there's oil-free under-makeup blotting gel. This little item performs a large service by creating a buffer zone between skin and makeup which discourages oily build-ups and puddled foundation.

As for foundation, all day face tints give a flawless finish via transparent liquid in natural, honest shades of neutral, cool beiges and warm, pink-laced beiges. For instance Amber Buff for a golden blond, Amber Blush for a tawny brunet.

Deftly assembled and applied, makeup with honest intent emphasizes your individuality. And honestly, isn't that the best policy?

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

North's hand is weak for a limit jump raise since his queen of clubs is not likely to be worth much if it is worth anything. South has a clear-cut rebid to game.

West opens the queen of spades and South sees that in spite of the surprisingly poor dummy he has a diamond finesse for game.

If South is in a hurry he wins the spade in dummy, tries and loses the diamond finesse and winds up one trick short of his contract.

If South stops to analyze the lead and review the bidding he decides that West does not hold both ace and king of clubs since in that case he would probably open a club to have a look at dummy.

In that case could he have made a vulnerable overcall without the king of diamonds? Possibly, but not likely. Furthermore, East might well have raised clubs with short hearts, a high club and a side king.

Can East find some way to make his contract if West has the diamond king?

If he looks carefully he will find the chance. He can make it if East holds both the jack and 10.

Beggars can't be choosers. South leads a diamond from dummy at trick two and plays his nine. This knocks out the king and South can discard dummy's small spade on the queen of the monds.

Jerome priest retires

JEROME — Retirement of Father Bernard McBride, priest of the St. Jerome Catholic Church here the past 15 years was announced today.

Paul Eshleman, Explo '72 director, will be featured speaker. He was in charge of the youth activities in Dallas, Tex.,

FATHER McBride retires

Father McBride is leaving his post because of ill health. He was born in Clyde Bank, Scotland, and came to the United States in 1914. At the age of 5 he went to Ireland to make his home with his grandparents.

Rev. McBride completed his education in St. Mary's High School in Oakland, Calif., and studied philosophical and theological courses at St. Paul's Seminary, St. Paul, Minn. He was ordained in St. Vibiana's Cathedral, Los Angeles, Calif., by the Most Rev. Bishop Cantwell, May 29, 1930, for services in the Diocese of Boise.

After two years as assistant in St. John's Cathedral, Boise, he moved to Grangeville, and has served at Potlatch, Emmett, Sandpoint, Hailey and Genesee before coming to Jerome. He plans to continue making his home in Jerome after retirement.

TF LWML has talk by pastor

TWIN FALLS — The Lutheran Women's Missionary League met Tuesday evening at the Immanuel Lutheran Parish hall for the monthly meeting.

Rev. R. J. Scholz presented a topic for group participation from a leaflet "So That I Can Tell."

He asked that all members attend the Reformation Rally at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at the College of Southern Idaho. The speaker will be Dr. Emil Jaech, Northwestern district president of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

The fall coffee hour will be Oct. 26 for new members and visitors to get acquainted with LWML. The executive committee will plan and host the affair.

this summer which attracted about 100,000 young church members.

Campus Crusade for Christ officials said young people of the area will have an opportunity to receive some of the same training offered during the Explo '72 program. High school students, college students and laymen interested in the program are urged to attend.

"Operation Penetration" in Twin Falls is designed to provide some of this training for those of this area and is part of a nationwide follow-up program.

Sessions will continue at the college through Saturday and Sunday with lodging headquartered in the Holiday Inn.

Those participating will feature discussions of problems to which people from throughout the world are seeking solutions. Some of the topics including drug control, violence, false security and materialism.

Youth from all-denominations are expected to participate in the programs.

Eshleman received a B.A. degree in business administration and a masters in marketing from Michigan State University. He then studied theology at Florida Bible College for one year.

He later joined the full-time staff of Campus Crusade for Christ in 1966 and since that time has been active in major programs of the group throughout the nation.

Other members of the staff of Campus Crusade will join him in presenting talks and in leading discussions during the seminar sessions.

Allied Forces set convention in TF

Members who have been saving coupons, stamps, stars and MJB coffee lids may bring them to this meeting.

Chance of concord eyed by Lutherans, Catholics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lutheran and Roman Catholic church leaders and theologians have found "new possibilities of concord" over the issue of papal primacy that has divided the two churches for more than 450 years.

"Common ground" was found during recent theological discussions between delegations from the two churches, according to Auxiliary Bishops T. Austin Murphy of Baltimore and Dr. C. Paul Emplie, former general secretary of the U.S. national committee of the Lutheran World Federation. They said:

"We find ourselves persuaded that barriers are not as insuperable as they were previously considered." The joint statement said that in the session "we have once again found common ground in the discussion of positions which have in the past been strongly contested."

"The Lutherans have become more aware of the need for a ministry serving the church's unity and mission, while Catholics increasingly see the necessity of a more nuanced understanding of the role of the papacy."

The statement added: "It is possible for both loyal Lutherans and loyal Catholics to envision new possibilities of concord."

envision new possibilities of concord."

The meeting was the 15th in a series of doctrinal discussions between representatives of the two churches that began in 1965. Previous discussions had resulted in "fundamental accord" on such questions of faith as the eucharist, baptism, the Christological center of faith, and the Nicene Creed.

The most recent meeting of the two groups centered on the question of ministry.

"Specific forms of ministry have in fact arisen to nurture and promote the church's unity in Christ," the joint statement said. "Within this ministry the role of the papacy has been a subject of controversy between Roman Catholics and Lutherans."

It said that other forms of ministry to the church, such as general councils, had not been particularly disputed and "in most disagreements in this area have their source in the discord over papal primacy." "This discord has left a deep psychological imprint in the history of both churches, which further complicated the process of theological discussion."

The theological discussions centered on the first draft of a common statement the partic-pants hope will be completed before next year.

In the discussion, the theologians said they were limiting themselves to the question of primacy and "no attempt has as yet been made to enter into the question of papal infallibility."

Although that question may prove to be even more difficult to reach understanding on, the theologians defended their method. "Primacy was an issue centuries before papal infallibility became a dogma," they said in the statement.

The theologians said separate reflections will be published next year. A separate but related volume by a dozen biblical experts on "Peter in the New Testament" will also be published as part of the dialogue.

The 13 Roman Catholic scholars and leaders were sponsored by the Catholic Bishop's Committee for Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs. The 11 Lutherans represented the American Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church in America, both members of the Lutheran World Federation. The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, while not a member of the LWF, was also represented at the talks.

Special day

TWIN FALLS — First Baptist Churches of Magic Valley will be observing Laymen's Sunday this Sunday.

Services in the Twin Falls First Baptist Church at 8:30 and 11 a.m. will be conducted by laymen. The 8:30 a.m. service will be in the chapel and the later event in the church sanctuary. Worship leaders for the two one-hour programs include D. Alan Everett and Lyle H. Wing. Speakers will be Ross S. Prather, Bernard Martyn and James R. Gentry. Also participating will be William Rosenbaum, Keith Turner and John Massey.

A 7:30 p.m. program in the fellowship hall will feature a party in recognition of the five-year association of congregation and the pastor, Rev. James B. Hughes. Mrs. Marvin Molyneux and Mrs. Dean W. Dietrich will be in charge of the evening program.

Lutheran rally held at Rupert

RUPERT — The Trinity Lutheran Church of Rupert, Mrs. John Orthel reported on Camp hosted the central zone rally of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League Sunday.

Rev. A. Mietzner was in charge of the opening devotional service, and Mrs. DeLoris Thaeate gave the welcome address. Mrs. Phyllis Behm presided at the business sessions. Mrs. Irene Adolf, district president, reported on the district activities and stated the 1973 international convention will be held in Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. Adolf reported the Japan visitation films are now available from the international office and that she has the new material for the resource folders. She said regional institutes on "Strengthening the Home Through Communication" will be held throughout the country.

A total of 176 people attended the district convention at Ontario, Ore., according to Mrs. Thaeate where a two-year project goal was set at $4,500. Convention theme was "Christ, A Pattern for Living."

The Kimberly LWML will host the Nov. 6 workshop with the theme "Look At These Doors." Mrs. Jane Burton is zone Christian growth chairman.

Mrs. Janet LeFurgey were named delegate and alternate to the Mobile convention.

Mrs. Bill Hoops, Twin Falls, was guest speaker and told of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, its origin 13 months ago and the help it offers to the community. She introduced Cecil Capell, a former alcoholic, who works at the center, who told his life story and how he overcame his affliction. In the 13 months the center has been in operation, 128 men have gone there for help, the speaker said.

The Rupert ladies hosted the evening meal and the Twin Falls league provided entertainment. Mrs. Evelyn Barnes told of her experiences while training as a Head Start aide at the University of Kansas.

The Rupert league led the closing devotional service and the Twin Falls league extended an invitation to host the 1973 rally.

Family clinic slated Saturday

TWIN FALLS — A Youth and Family clinic will be conducted Saturday at the Tyler Street Baptist Church.

Featured will be Paul (Tex) Yearout who has been appearing in high schools throughout the area this week during national assemblies. The speaker will discuss the urgent problems facing the teenagers and their parents in today's fast living pace.

The full day's program includes an address by Yearout at 9:30 a.m. in the Tyler Street Baptist Church. His topic will be "A Study of the Four Basic Temperaments." He will also discuss emotional maturity during the morning program. Afternoon sessions open at 1:30 p.m. with the speaker discussing child control and a second speech; "The Junior Years" in which he deals with rebellion and parent-teen conflicts.

An evening session opens at 7 p.m. and deals with dating and courtship. Starting marriage on the right foundation and husband and wife relationship will also be discussed. A registration fee is charged for the day's clinic session and additional information is available by calling Rev. Kenneth Himple, pastor, 733-1919.

CHURCHES

Filer Nazarenes set Layman's day

FILER — Laymen's Sunday will be observed Oct. 8 in the Filer Nazarene Church, according to Rev. Gernie Iversen, Pastor.

Idaho State Patrolman, Duane Owen will be officer of law enforcement Sunday in the Sunday School contest "Driving to the Stars" and special lay speaker during the 11 a.m. service.

The Churchman of the Year award for the Filer Church also will be presented during this special service.

The 7:30 p.m. service will feature 63 minutes on the theme "Jesus Is Coming" and will include a film "His Return" with introduction and conclusion by Hal Lindsay, author of "The Late Great Planet Earth."

This film is a beautiful documentary of fulfilled prophecy, said the pastor. Filmed in the Holy Land, it declares that the events of our day are really unfolding in the intricate and incredible plan of which the prophets spoke, and reveal that we are standing, not at the end of things but where they begin in the literal return of Jesus Christ.

The public is invited to this service, said Rev. Iversen.

BILLY GRAHAM says:

"The new motion picture, TWO A PENNY, is your bridge across the generation gap!"

The world is growing younger. One of every two Americans is under 25. This tidal wave of young people is making its presence felt throughout our country, and this is only the beginning. The youth of the world will reshape history. They will do it with our help as Christians, or they will do it without us, (but they will do it!)

At the moment, the choice is still ours... For this generation is openly seeking answers to life. Student unrest all over the world is basically an expression of modern youth's religious frustration, their search for a meaningful existence. "TWO A PENNY" is a very personal exploration of this problem. The questions that it raises are relevant to the thoughts of young people today. "TWO A PENNY" can be your bridge across the generation gap.

Labor blasts ceiling

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—Britain's Labor Party attacked the Conservative government's anti-inflation blueprint Thursday, angrily rejecting Prime Minister Edward Heath's plan for a $5-a-week ceiling on pay raises for everyone from workers to chairmen of the board.

The party's annual rank-and-file convention switched from its battle over Common Market membership to a full morning of oratory on the state of the British economy—most of it devoted to denunciation of the Conservatives.

Alan Fisher, the sharply attired leader of the Public Employees union, branded the Heath package as "political pornography designed to titillate the desire without fulfilling it."

"Let's say no deal with the Tories (Conservatives)," said GIVE Jenkins, a spellbinder from Wales and leader of Britain's white collar workers' union.

"I predict serious industrial trouble soon if the Tories go ahead with this plan," said Ray Buckton, leader of Britain's railroad engine drivers' union.

"The trade unions would be putting themselves in a strait-jacket if they accepted this Tory philosophy," said Member of Parliament Stan Orme, sporting a lavender suit and tie.

Eighteen hours earlier, trade union leaders meeting at Preston, 30 miles from Blackpool, rejected the Heath package of a $5 lid on wages and a 5 per cent ceiling on prices during the next 12 months.

The union leaders were reported to have decided to demand at least $8.75 as a wage ceiling, although union spokesmen here said they could not confirm this.

Polar bear rug theft ring strikes

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Authorities said Wednesday they believe a ring of thieves stealing polar bear rugs is operating in Alaska.

State troopers said at least seven polar bear rugs have been stolen in recent weeks and pointed out the European market for the rugs has skyrocketed in recent months, with reports of as much as $10,000 paid for a single hide.

The latest theft was of a rug from the home of an Anchorage attorney, Lester Miller, who reported his 10-by-10 1-2 foot bear hide gone when he returned from vacation.

Miller's rug, which was bound in gray and blue felt, was believed to be the largest in existence in North America. The bear was shot during the mid-1950s near Point Barrow on the Arctic Ocean.

Illegal transportation of unregistered polar bear skins can bring convicted persons a jail sentence of up to five years and a fine of $5,000.

Island verdict soon

BOISE (UPI) — Federal District Judge Ray McNichols said Thursday a decision concerning ownership of three Snake River islands should be reached by "sometime in November."

At issue are three small islets in the Snake located near the Thousand Springs area. A lawsuit against the Interior Department was brought nearly two years ago by U. S. District Judge Willis Ritter, Salt Lake City, who owns the adjacent lands.

His legal action followed a Bureau of Land Management proposal to sell several acres of land, including the islands, to the Idaho Fish and Game Department for use as a wildlife refuge.

A drawn-out trial ensued last summer, with both Ritter and the BLM presenting several volumes of testimony.

Judge McNichols said Thursday he was "still working on the pertinent findings of fact and conclusions of law" in the case, but refused to comment on any developments in his findings so far.

"So far, there are no conclusions for me to give," he said.

Camas group meets

FAIRFIELD — Robert Olsen, of the State Environmental Planning and Health Office, discussed requirements for solid waste disposal at a meeting of the Camas County Planning Commission Thursday night.

Jack Frostenson, chairman, said the meeting was spent discussing state requirements for sanitary landfills. Camas County's present solid waste disposal problems and possible solutions. The Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments' application for federal funding for a four county solid waste disposal study was also discussed, he said.

Frostenson said no decisions were reached. The next meeting of the commission will be Nov. 2.

Youth to give plans on Dierkes

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Youth Advisory Commission will present a proposed long-range development plan for Dierkes Lake Oct. 16.

Members of the youth commission will meet with the City Council at that time to propose plans as a result of a study of the lake area. This week the youth group met with the Twin Falls Parks and Recreation Commission and representatives from the State Parks Department.

A tour of the lake and surrounding area was conducted and the groups then met to list recommendations. Lowen Schuett, planning director for the Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation, participated and also met with City Manager Jean Milar to discuss city plans. A master plan for the area is required if the city is to receive Housing and Urban Development or Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funding for the park development.

WHAT SERVED as Gooding High School for most of this century is now a pile of rubble on the city's main street. Demolition continues on the brick structure, which was no longer needed after completion of a new high school west of Gooding.

Davis dinner slated at SV

SUN VALLEY — Democratic senatorial candidate Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis and other candidates will address a dinner Saturday night in Sun Valley.

Appearing at the "Dinner with Davis" event beginning at 8:30 p.m. will be Willis Ludlow, Democratic candidate for the Second Congressional District, W. F. (Bill) Whitton, Democratic state senatorial candidate from District 21, and Robert Guffy, running for state House of Representatives in the same district.

Boise attorney, Byron Johnson, whom Davis defeated in the August primary election for the party's senatorial nomination, will serve as master of ceremonies. Idaho Atty. Gen. W. Anthony (Tony) Park, another unsuccessful primary candidate, will introduce Davis.

The event is sponsored by the Blaine County Democratic Central Committee. The 8:30 dinner will be preceded by a no-host cocktail hour at the Sun Valley Lodge Dining Room.

Burley solon asks park study help

BURLEY — Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, has called on Gov. Cecil Andrus to help expedite the completion of the City of Rocks Park study.

Sen. Saxvik has asked the governor to make proper contacts with the Department of Interior and National Parks Service Director George B. Hartzog.

The recent survey completed by a team of specialists is to provide for the feasibility of making the City of Rocks a national monument within the National Parks system.

The Cassia County Historical Society and area officials have been instrumental in instigating the study. Sen. Saxvik said "It is typical that studies and reports such as these bog down in large departments such as the National Parks system and never see the light of day or at least take several years before they are completed. We do not want to take the risk of having this study meet the fate of delay that other park studies have experienced," he said.

"It is also extremely important that when the study is completed, provisions be included to protect those grazing rights surrounding and within the proposed park area for the farmers and ranchers in the Almo area," he said.

"By having these provisions carefully written into the study and entered on the congressional report it will insure the preservation of this historical spot in our county and preserve the important grazing rights," Sen. Saxvik said.

He also urged private citizens interested in the City of Rocks Park project to write to their U. S. senators and representatives.

Defense for Eden uncertain in case

EDEN — Eden City Attorney S. A. Kolman said Thursday an insurance question made it uncertain who would defend the city in its legal dispute over a beer license.

Kolman said city officials were trying to determine through the insurance company carrying Eden's liability coverage whether the city's policy covered the court action involving Wilma York's attempt to secure the license.

Mrs. York's attorney, E. R. Frachiseur, Twin Falls, is seeking a writ of mandamus in Fifth District Court to have a license approved by the City Council.

At a court hearing Tuesday in Jerome, District Judge Theron Ward rescheduled the hearing for Oct. 17 because he said Frachiseur had not properly served the necessary papers on Eden Mayor James Lulow and four city councilmen.

A story in the Times-News Tuesday edition had incorrectly stated the five city officials had not been mailed copies of the papers. Copies were in fact mailed to the men, but under legal regulations must be serviced through the sheriff's office to be valid. Because of the processing error, Judge Ward ruled the court had no jurisdiction in the matter, and postponed the hearing two weeks to allow for proper servicing.

Kolman said the indecision over the attorney for the city of Eden in the case could be cleared up when the insurance company determines whether it will defend the case. If it does, he said, the company itself will choose the counsel. If not, the City Council will.

The case has attracted considerable interest, since the theater for which Mrs. York wants the beer license shows "x" rated films.

The council had earlier turned down the request for the beer license determining the city had a sufficient number of taverns in operation.

Bellevue plans Oct. 12 meet to review zoning

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News writer

BELLEVUE — A meeting to review the proposed Bellevue zoning ordinance has been set for Oct. 12.

During a City Council meeting Thursday night, Mayor James Pigg said the meeting will be a joint session between the council and the city planning commission. A public hearing on the new ordinance will be scheduled later, he said.

Prior to the first meeting, the aldermen will study the ordinance, make recommendations and note their approval or disapproval of specific sections of the ordinance, Mayor Pigg said.

In other action the council reiterated its May 15 ruling that any mobile home moved onto private or leased ground within the city, exclusive of developed mobile home courts, requires the payment of a building permit fee in accordance with the uniform building code fee schedule.

The council also decided to seek bids for snow removal in the event that equipment is needed in addition to the city's new grader.

Alderman Mike Ivie said the grader would be able to handle up to three feet of snow. In recommending bids, Alderman John Pascoe said that the action would ensure equipment on call if the city needed it and would establish equipment costs.

In other action the council: — Approved replacement of broken sidewalks with asphalt around Bill's Chevron by the oil company. — Approved payment of $150 to JUB Engineers, Boise, for a survey of Bellevue. When the city contracted for the survey in May, 1971, it agreed to pay JUB $1,000. With Thursday's payment a balance of $150 remains. — Voiced no objection to the establishment of a clothing store in the home of Mrs. Bonnie Smith in east central Bellevue.

Transferred

HAILEY — Two men injured in a light plane crash Tuesday in Hailey have been transferred from Blaine County Hospital, Hailey, to the Mercy Medical Center, Nampa.

Listed in satisfactory condition this morning at the Nampa facility are Gary Lynn Ellenor, 27, Caldwell, and Robert L. Strause, 47, Nampa. Remaining at St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise, are two other men injured during the crash. The pilot of the craft, John Rawlins, 52, Nampa, was listed in serious condition this morning.

Listed as in fair condition was Dr. Robert A. Miller, 34, Moraga, Calif. The four sustained injuries when their plane crashed after take-off from the Friedman Memorial Airport.

Paul council certifies results of sewer vote

PAUL — Sewer bond issue election ballots were canvassed and certified by the Paul City Council during its meeting Wednesday night.

The bond issue passed with 116 yes votes and 16 no votes, making an 87 per cent affirmative vote on the issue which required a two thirds majority to pass.

In other business, the council passed by an extension of the rules a new garbage collection ordinance regarding size of containers, requirement of lids, and making special arrangements, at additional charge, for picking up extra items.

The ordinance would go into effect immediately following legal publication next Tuesday. Garbage will be hauled from residential areas on Mondays and Thursdays. Business areas will have Tuesday and Friday pick-ups.

The council held a discussion on Project 70-Drug Abuse, a weekly program to be broadcast over KAYT Radio, Rupert, an hour a day for five days a week for two weeks.

In the ordinance, a no burning ruling is included for the city of Paul. Violation of this ruling can result in a fine of not more than $100, according to the ordinance.

The request for funds of $75 was made by Mrs. Paul Werner, committee member of the Minidoka Drug Study Group. She requested the funds to help finance the drug study and to provide funds for the radio program. Following discussion the council okayed the fund request.

The council appointed Reuben Weber to a three-year term on the Paul Housing Authority board.

Ed Winn, who also serves on the housing board, is coming to the end of his term and has requested a replacement be named. The council will fill that post at a later date.

Ketchum woman, 26, hurt in accident

KETCHUM — A Ketchum woman is listed in satisfactory condition today after a truck overturned early this morning on Warm Springs Road.

Lorraine Coner, 26, was taken to Moritz Community Hospital, Sun Valley, with apparent arm injuries.

According to the Ketchum Police Department, Michael Miller, 33, Ketchum, was cited for inattentive driving following the accident.

The accident occurred about 2:10 a.m. at the intersection of Warm Springs Road and the railroad tracks.

The police department said Miller was traveling east towards the city when he went off the road on a curve, the vehicle rolled over once and landed on its top on the railroad tracks. The Coner woman was thrown from the vehicle and her arm was pinned under the truck. Miller received minor cuts and abrasions.

Man in custody

GOODING — A Washington man was in custody in Gooding County today, waiting extradition to Oregon to face grand theft charges.

City police reported the arrest of Robert Douglas Hood, 31, Vancouver, Wash., early Thursday morning.

Police Chief Lyle Clifford said a routine investigation of license plates was being made on a vehicle parked on a side street when it was discovered the vehicle had been reported stolen from a used car lot in Vancouver.

Officers arrested Hood when he returned to the vehicle. He waived extradition and was being held in county custody in lieu of $3,500 bond pending return to Washington on grand theft charges.

Columbus day slated for Monday

TWIN FALLS — Some schools in Magic Valley will close Monday for the Columbus Day holiday, but others, will remain open.

Hansen and Kimberly schools will close, but Twin Falls, Gooding, Jerome, Minidoka and Cassia County, among others, will remain in session.

County offices in Twin Falls will be closed, but Twin Falls City offices will not.

There will be no mail service Monday in observance of the federal holiday and banks in Twin Falls will also be closed. Stores were reported as planning to remain open.

Cassia eyes water costs

BURLEY — Cost figures included in a water and sewer systems study in Cassia County are being studied by officials of the communities involved.

The report was presented by Idaho Water Resources Board representatives to Cassia officials this past week.

Although the study is an advisory move, but communities must follow guidelines set forth in it to qualify for Farmers Home Administration loans to finance improvements in water and sewer systems.

The report recommended that the city of Albion expand its water distribution system and install an emergency back up system for fire protection.

The Albion sewer system, now made up of individual cesspools and septic tanks, should be changed to a central three stage sewer treatment system, the report said. The sewer system at the Albion college campus was reported to be in extremely poor condition, allowing discharge of raw sewage into Marsh Creek.

The cost of the recommended water system for Albion was estimated at $168,000 and the sewer system installation cost was estimated at $242,000.

Recommendations for the Almo and Elba areas called for updating present individual sewage and water systems. The report mentioned that some residents were discharging untreated sewage into area streams.

Declo is already in the process of upgrading the sewer system. The report recommended an additional 150,000 gallon water storage tank be installed for fire protection, and that water distribution be extended. Costs for these improvements were estimated at $85,000.

The board recommended that a $182,500 central water system be installed at Malta, and that residents update their septic tank systems.

Improvements recommended for Oakley were estimated at $296,000. A booster pump, chlorination facilities and expansion of water pipelines were listed. Also suggested was a central three-stage sewer treatment system, estimated to cost $290,000.

Grading plan might improve market, price paid for pork

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers might buy more pork, and hog producers might make more money if the industry adopted a federal grading system to identify high-grade pork cuts with labels like "prime" and "choice," a marketing report contends.

The report, prepared by a team of Agriculture Department specialists, was released by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz. It was one of a series of five similar studies of potential moves to improve marketing and producer income for pork, eggs, potatoes, apples and canning peaches.

Butz, unveiling the pork report to a seminar of industry leaders here, said he was urging farmers and others involved in hog marketing to review the long list of proposals in the report and was instructing Agriculture Department agencies to give "prompt and careful attention" to proposals which involve government action.

Farmers this year have been getting record prices for hogs, and gross hog receipts probably will set a new all-time record of over $4.5 billion. The report noted, however, that the hog industry is still subject to wide swings in production and price, and Butz said farmers feel the current marketing system is not giving pork its fair comparative share of the overall demand for meat.

"Unfortunately, pork still suffers from a negative consumer image — that it is too fat and too fattening; that it is unsafe to eat unless cooked excessively; and that it is of inconsistent and unreliable quality," the marketing report said. To attack one phase of the "image" problem, the report recommended widespread use of "quality grades" like those already familiar to consumers who buy beef.

Marketing experts said a "prime," or top grade should be set for chops, roasts and other fresh cuts from carcasses with the best characteristics and taste. Below that, a "choice" grade could be set to cover a vaguely-defined but larger proportion of pork — but excluding carcasses and cuts with dark color, coarse texture and boar odor.

The report noted that a system of federal grades-for-hogs, using numbers, has been in effect for about 30 years. But it has been almost completely ignored as far as consumer cuts are concerned. The report said this means fresh pork, accounting for 30 per cent of each carcass, offers consumers no assurance of consistent quality. For processed items like ham, bacon and sausage the problem is less important, the report added.

One problem which has increasingly concerned farmers in recent years — the possibility that pork production may trend toward a vertically-integrated system in which farmers work under contract and key decisions are made by agribusiness firms — was mentioned only briefly.

The report said hog production is rapidly moving toward more concentration among large-scale producers concerned with large-volume production of uniform animals. Adding that many farmers expect increased "contracting and coordination," it recommended that farmers should take a more active part in shaping future industry trends either individually or through associations.

The report also said hog producers — about 900,000 in business today compared with about twice that many a decade ago — could make more money if they got together to control production. It conceded that most farmers currently do not want controls, but the marketing experts went on to tentatively suggest a series of "possible alternative courses" for study by producers.

To level off ups and downs in marketing which produce wide swings in prices, the report said farmers might want to consider self-imposed, voluntary plans including:

— A system of uniform long-term supply contracts with slaughterers calling for a "rather uniform flow of hogs to market." If the contracts were standardized, the report said they could be traded among slaughterers.

— A system in which farmers were paid increased "differentials" to persuade them to sell hogs at light weights during low-price periods.

— A system in which farmer associations would assign individual production allotments to each producer.

— A two-price system giving producers higher prices for normal commercial sales and lower prices for pork going into export or domestic relief programs.

Other proposals in the lengthy report included suggested steps to eliminate trichinosis and other diseases; to improve sales methods by steps including use of area, regional or national electronic negotiating equipment for selling slaughter hogs; and to expand auction selling by telephone or teletype.

Idaho beet harvest ahead of schedule

POCA TELLO, Idaho (UPI) — The sugar beet harvest in south east Idaho officially opens Friday, four days ahead of schedule.

The decision to open the harvest early arose from a meeting of growers and officials of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. Wednesday night.

Don Benscotter, agricultural superintendent for U and I, said all receiving stations except the Homestead station will open Friday for unrestricted deliveries between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily.

Homestead will open on the normal harvest date of Oct. 10, and other stations will begin operating extended hours on that date.

Milk price hearing set

ST. GEORGE, Utah (UPI) — A public hearing will be conducted Oct. 17 on proposals for a new federal milk marketing order.

It would regulate the handling of milk in Nevada and Utah. The proposal would establish minimum prices which distributors pay dairy farmers but would not regulate consumer prices.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture said the hearing was sought by Alamo Dairy Association, Clark County Dairymen Inc., Hi-Land Dairymen's Association and Vegas Valley Farms.

Plant plan abandoned

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Colorado - Utah - Idaho International says it has abandoned plans to build a controversial, $2 million continuous rendering plant in Nampa.

Instead, the company said, it will remodel the present plant to meet state requirements, and use the money set aside for the new plant to construct a facility in San Antonio, Tex.

The company, which operates Idaho Animal Products in Nampa, said adverse publicity for the firm and continuing delays were the reasons for its decision.

NFO starts shipments

JEROME — National Farmers' Organization members in the Magic Valley initiated their cull cow blocking operation Thursday.

According to Wayne Bluemer, NFO zone chairman, Jerome, two semi-trailer truck loads of cattle were loaded and shipped to the E. A. Miller and Sons Packing Plant in Hyrum, Utah.

These cattle were delivered to two collection points of four collection points in the Magic Valley from Twin Falls and Jerome area members.

The two collection points were the LaVerne Jorgenson livestock pens, six miles north of Jerome and the Twin Falls Stockgrowers Commission Co. yards, Twin Falls. Members took their cattle to the nearest collection point.

Bluemer said this cattle shipment kicks off an NFO blocking action in cull or fed cows throughout southern Idaho, the western half of Montana, northern Utah and western Wyoming.

He said cows will be collected at various collection points throughout the area. Weekly collections will be made, he said.

All cows will be reloaded and shipped to the Miller plant in Hyrum. The plant has an agreement with NFO farmers for processing of the meat.

Local NFO members participating in this weeks shipment are Jim Whitaker, Shoshone, Leon Aslett, LaVerne Jorgenson, Don Elliott, Love Spencer, all Jerome, and Richard Curtis, Gooding.

Buhl members shipping cattle were Alvin Johnson, Twin Falls county NFO president, Thaine Roberts, Bill Hicks, Dick Howard and Tubby Runtree. Davis Brown and Boyd Brown, both Kimberly, also shipped cull cows.

Hurd leads Murtaugh past Castleford 22-14

MURTAUGH — Senior Jack Hurd, who led the homecoming queen and her attendants, was named Mr. Touchdown and before and after that scored two touchdowns and anchored a tough defense that gave Murtaugh a 22-14 decision over the previously unbeaten Castleford Wolves Thursday.

Hurd, assigned one-on-one against Castleford's breakaway threat Lynn Reese, did a and two touchdowns late in the great job — sometimes with third-period that proved the assistance — in never letting clinger after scoring from the Reese build up much steam. He one late in the half. Don Barkes got the first one on a seven-yard pitchout. Rick Denney added two one-point conversions and threw to Barkes for a two-pointer.

Reese, having his hands full with Hurd, was fairly well contained from scrimmage but the talented halfback threw his two-bits in with a fine 47-yard punt return. The other Wolf touchdown came on a blocked punt which Mike Bowers ran 43 yards to score.

The victory kept Murtaugh undefeated and left the Devils facing undefeated Raft River at Malta Friday night in what should be the Magic Valley Conference title showdown. It also kept Murtaugh's hopes for its first undefeated season going.

Things were even through most of the game. The first difference came late in the opening period when Murtaugh's Don Barkes picked off a Castleford pass and returned it 36 yards to the Wolf seven. He scored on the next play and Denney converted.

Late in the second period Rob Wright recovered a fumble at the Wolf 22. Defensive Line Hepworth and Hurd battled for first downs to the 10-yard line. Castleford stiffened there but Hurd broke the goal line stand with his first touchdown, spinning off the first contact and falling into pay dirt. Denney threw to Barkes out of place-kick formation for the two-pointer.

The Devils pieced together a 64-yard drive in the third period with Hurd ending it on a two-yard plunge with 38 seconds remaining.

Up to that point Murtaugh had played errorless ball while Castleford lost two interceptions and two fumbles. But early in the fourth period, Murtaugh started making some mistakes. The first let middle linebacker Randy McCoy come up the middle to block a Murtaugh punt. The ball spun off McCoy and literally landed in the hands of Bowers who squeezed it, then set sail for the goal line 43 yards away. Reese skinned end for two points.

Two major penalties stifled Murtaugh after the kickoff and the Devils had to punt from deep in their own country. Reese took punt at the 47, broke the grasp of one Devil, got a big block at the corner and used his speed up the sideline to score.

But Murtaugh got two first downs to run out the clock and end Castleford's rally.

Gate not hurt by strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Despite a curtailed schedule, forced by the players' strike at the start of the season and the lack of a stimulating pennant race in either division, the National League attracted 15,529,423 fans to its games in 1972, according to official figures announced Thursday by president Charles S. Feeney.

It was the third highest total in league history even though the league had 41 fewer games than in 1971. The New York Mets again led the way with a total paid attendance of 2,134,185. It was the fourth consecutive year the Mets have topped the two-million mark.

The Dodgers, with five fewer dates this year, ran second with 1,860,858, while the Reds posted their second highest total ever — 1,611,459 — and the world champion Pirates attracted 1,427,460.

At the bottom of the heap were the San Francisco Giants and San Diego Padres with 647,744 and 644,273, respectively.

Each club played from two to eight fewer games in 1972 than in 1971.

Osborne's going again

TOUCHDOWN BOUND Layne Osborne burst through a big hole enroute to a six-yard scoring run during Camas County's 58-6 decision over Dietrich Thursday. Osborne scored 24 points in the game, just about his average for the undefeated Mushers.

Mushers explode in third quarter to defeat Dietrich

DIETRICH — The undefeated Camas County Mushers reeled off 26 points in a five-minute span of the third period Thursday afternoon and went on to defeat the Dietrich Blue Devils 58-6.

Although Camas County's defense dominated most of the way, in the early going its offense had some trouble with Dietrich. The Mushers got on the board, however, on their second possession when Brent Geisler threw a little out pass to Layne Osborne who turned it into a 50-yard bomb. Geisler then pitched out to Osborne for the extra points.

On the last play of the game, Camas County's foreign exchange student, Toby Karlsson from Sweden, shook loose on an 18-yard touchdown run and Wayne Weatherly added the points after.

Blackouts protect salaries

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mike Brown, assistant manager of the Cincinnati Bengals, said Thursday if Congress approves legislation permitting locally televised games of professional sports, it's bound to affect salaries.

"The threat of the legislation, Brown said, was that 'if people can see games for nothing, they are going to hold back, thinking if it's free, why buy a ticket.'"

"Our football players are paid by two sources of income, gate receipts and television," he explained. "By far the greatest is from gate receipts and if this bill passes, it's bound to affect salaries."

"I think this is one thing you'll find general agreement on between the clubs and the players," he said.

Several bills are before the Senate Communications subcommittee to prohibit blackouts of games. One would permit local telecasts of contests that are sell-outs 48 hours before game time.

The bills would affect professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

Brown said he believes the legislation stemmed from politicians who "can't get into the games free" in Washington D.C.

"The senators can't get into the games," he claimed. "That's what generated the spotlight on it."

As for the Bengals, Brown said the city wrote a provision in the club's lease for Riverfront Stadium requiring a blackout within a 75 mile radius of the city.

Arrests made over 'ringers'

MIAMI (UPI) — Two men were arrested Thursday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on warrants issued in Providence, R. I., charging them with collecting big payoffs at East Coast racetracks by substituting speedy "ringers" to run under the name of longshots.

Arrested were Paul S. Bast, 34, of North Miami Beach, and Martin J. Rolnick, 35, of Miami.

A third man, Arnold Rosenbaum of the Bronx, N. Y., also was indicted and the jury named as an "undiscovered co-conspirator." Vincent Casale, a former Miamian associated with Bast and shot to death in a restaurant at Miramar, Fla., just north of Miami last June 7.

The Mushers added their second score two plays into the second period when Larry Lee went 21 yards and Osborne again converted. Dietrich threatened minutes later when Meservy intercepted a pass and returned it to the Musher 22-yard line, but Osborne intercepted back and the Mushers rolled 78 yards. Osborne turned in two big fourth-down plays to keep the drive alive before Lee scampered 16 yards for the touchdown and Osborne converted.

Camas County took the second half kickoff and ground to a touchdown, Osborne getting it on a six-yard burst up the middle. That signalled the explosion. Four plays later Dietrich punted and on the first play Osborne romped 41 yards.

Two plays after the next kickoff, Osborne intercepted a Meservy pass and went 35 yards to score. On its next possession, after Dietrich gambled and failed on a fourth-down play, Geisler threw to Jeff Ashmead who legged it into a 60-yard bomb.

After fumbling away one opportunity in the fourth period, Dietrich went for its lone touchdown on the running of Dan Weiss Weiss, after accounting for most of the yardage, went in from the six.

Dodgers rehire Alston

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The third place Los Angeles Dodgers, who spent much of this season juggling rosters, won't be making any major changes in leadership positions for next year.

Dodger President Peter O'Malley announced Thursday that Walt Alston will be returning for his 20th season as manager of the club and will be bringing his coaching staff with him.

Alston has led the Dodgers to four world championships, six pennants, and this year only a percentage point out of second place behind Houston. His term as Dodger manager is the longest in the history of the team.

The returning coaches are Jim Gilliam, Roy Hartford, Danny Ozark, Red Adams and Carol Beringer.

Tucking away the victory

DRAGGING MEN into the end zone, Murtaugh's Jack Hurd gets the clinching touchdown despite the efforts of two Castleford Wolves during play Thursday night. Hurd scored twice and anchored the defense as Murtaugh won 22-14 and remained undefeated.

Shepherd-led Hansen defeats Declo 20-19 in last minutes

HANSEN — Marty Shepherd, carrying 10 of the 14 plays, hammered the Hansen Huskies for 46 yards in the closing minutes Thursday night to defeat the Declo Hornets 20-19.

Shepherd, shifted from quarterback to tailback when

Ralph Hopkins was injured earlier, took advantage of tough blocking by Hansen's front line as the Huskies hammered at the weak side throughout the decisive drive and scored the winning touchdown with 1:13 remaining. Ted Christensen then iced the victory by intercepting a Declo pass one play after the kickoff.

The Huskies took the opening kickoff and moved 48 yards to score with Hopkins getting the final two yards. Declo stopped the extra point try and within 30 seconds had the game tied. It came on a quarterback sneak, Rob Riding bursting up the middle and sailing 60 yards.

Midway through the second period Hansen pieced together a 40-yard march with Shepherd getting the last two yards and he then threw to Ron Mothershead for the two-point conversion.

Declo nullified that before halftime on a 35-yard bomb from Riding to Scott Mallory, but Hansen stopped the extra point try to stay ahead 14-12.

Declo took the lead late in the third period after recovering a fumble at the Hansen 25-yard line. The go-ahead points came on a 10-yard pass from Riding to Mallory and Kelly Taylor booted the point after.

Hansen rebounded with a drive to the 34, then fumbled the ball away. Declo got one first down then had to punt and it didn't help. The kick covered only six yards and set the Huskies up on the 45. Fourteen plays after that Shepherd rammed in from the two.

Declo had one instant of hope with a 40-yard kickoff runback put the ball on Hansen's 49. But Christensen intercepted on the next play.

Tigers top Carey, keep hopes alive

RICHFIELD — The Richfield Tigers took a firm hold on the Snake River Conference runner-up spot and kept their title chances alive Thursday afternoon by outlasting the Carey Panthers 32-28.

The Tigers broke into a big lead at 20-0 early in the second period before Carey came back to make it tight.

The Tigers opened on an eight-yard pass from Wade Allred to Steve Bowers and late in the first period Allred picked off a pass and returned it 55 yards to make it 12-0.

Allred turned in two long runs to offset Carey's second period production. He scampered 45 yards in the opening minutes with Rick Brown getting the extra points. Carey came back on a five-yard pass from Chrigel Hofstetter to Barton but Allred nullified that on a 37-yard romp. Carey cut the halftime deficit to 26-14 when Shane Parke went in from the seven and Hofstetter threw for the conversion.

Carey got back into the game in the third period when Hofstetter and Parke hooked up on a 13-yard scoring play but Brown's 12-yard touchdown run for Richfield took the Tigers out of reach. Carey's last touchdown came on a 25-yard pass from Hofstetter to Jerry Ivey.

Carey got back into the game in the third period when Hofstetter and Parke hooked up on a 13-yard scoring play but Brown's 12-yard touchdown run for Richfield took the Tigers out of reach. Carey's last touchdown came on a 25-yard pass from Hofstetter to Jerry Ivey.

OAKLEY — The passing combination of Mike Brown to Mike Campos clicked on consecutive plays Thursday afternoon to haul the Hagerman Pirates past the Oakley Hornets 8-7.

The Pirates, trailing 7-0 from the opening period on, was unable to mount a consistent threat against the Hornets. But in the third quarter Gilbert Hafen set up their big scoring chance with a 66-yard romp that carried to the Hornet six. Brown threw to Campos for the touchdown, then came back with the same play to get the make-or-break two points.

Oakley's touchdown came in the opening period when Randy Sharp hit Don Pickett on a 10-yard play and Jim Daley booted the point after.

Raft River tips Burley jrs. 12-2

MALTA — The undefeated Raft River Trojans, stung by a safety and trailing 2-0 after three quarters, scored twice in the fourth period Thursday to defeat the Burley Juniors 12-2.

The game was nearly 33 minutes old before anything happened on the scoreboard. At that point, Raft River, deep in its own territory, tried a rollout pass from its end zone. The play was blocked by a Burley defender and when the Raft River man tried to reverse his field, he slipped and his knee touched.

But in the fourth period the Trojans nullified that when a 55-yard march, mostly on inside plays, Leon Paskett got the go-ahead points on a two-yard burst but Burley stopped the conversion play.

After a punt exchange, Raft River was presented with a golden chance, recovering a dropped kick on the Burley 11-yard line. Two plays later Bill Lucas went in from the three-

A's ready, Tigers juggle for playoff

OAKLAND (UPI) — Dick Williams seems all set with his Oakland lineup for the American League playoffs starting Saturday but Billy Martin is still juggling names and combinations for his Detroit Club.

Today, both teams will hold workouts in the Oakland coliseum and hopefully Martin will settle on a lineup. The one name the Tigers skipper is certain about is Mickey Lolich, his star pitcher, for the opener.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, Williams' ace, will start against Lolich in the 1 p.m. PDT first game Saturday. For the second game Sunday in the best-of-five series to determine the A.L. pennant winner. It will be Ken Holtzman for the A's and Joe Williams will lead off his lineup with shortstop Bert Campaneris, the A.L. base stealing champion with 52, and follow with right fielder Matty Alou, left fielder Joe Rudi, centerfielder Reggie Jackson, third baseman Sal Bando, first baseman Mike Epstein, catcher Gene Tenace, second baseman Dick Green and Hunter.

"Those are the fellows who won the division title for us," said Williams, "with the exception of Tenace and Green I'll stick pretty much to this lineup."

Green is one of four second basemen Williams uses. The others, in the usual order of appearance, are Ted Kubiak, Dal Maxvill and Tim Cullen. All four will see duty in the playoffs because every time the second baseman comes to bat with a chance to advance a runner or score one Williams will go to a pinch hitter.

"My pinch-hitters have come through enough times in big games," said Williams in defense of the move first dreamed up by A's owner Charlie Finley, "so I'd have to be foolish not to get a hitter up there when we have a chance to score. We don't score too many runs so we have to take advantage of all our opportunities, even in the second and third innings."

Martin, the pepper-pot former star second baseman of World Series fame with the New York Yankees, knows all about two-platoon baseball, having taken a few lessons from teacher Casey Stengel, but he prefers to go with a pat lineup, whenever possible.

For the playoffs, he has a small problem, because Bill Freehan seems healed from a broken bone in his thumb and is ready to play.

Where to put Freehan is Martin's dilemma. Bill was his No. 1 catcher before injuring his thumb in early September, but he also can play first base.

While he's been out Duke Sims has done most of the catching. Chances are that Martin will start with Sims behind the plate and left-handed swinger Norm Cash at first and use Freehan as a pinch-hitter if needed. In Sunday's second game, with the left-handed Holtzman pitching for the A's, Martin could switch to the right-handed swinging Freehan at first.

"I'm ready to play," Freehan said upon arriving in Oakland late Friday. "I'll catch or play first, wherever he (Martin) wants me. Sure, the thumb still hurts a little but not enough to keep me on the bench."

Williams feels his A's will beat the Tigers and go on to represent the A.L. in the World Series against either the Pirates or Reds.

Martin isn't about to make any predictions.

"We'll let our playing tell the story," said the Tigers manager. "There are a lot of veterans on our club and in a short series there is no substitute for experience."

Neither game in Oakland will be a sellout. The best estimates call for a crowd of 25,000 on Saturday and 35,000 to 40,000 on Sunday. On Saturday the A's are in competition with college football. The Southern California-Stanford game is assured of a sellout 87,000 and the Ohio State-California tussle down the road in Berkeley should draw upwards of 50,000.

Both games here will be televised nationally as will the next three games — if necessary — from Detroit. The A's are 6 to 5 favorites to win the playoffs but Saturday's first game is even.

Robbins said the Courage have one of the fine quarterbacks in the country in Ty Paine, who runs the veer offense with authority and is a top passer.

"Ken Grandberry is a quick elusive runner who can always hurt you and the Vandals will have to contain him if possible," Robbins said. "Their defense is quick and very consistent with Tom Poe, Clyde Warehime, and Steve Roberts doing their thing as linebackers."

"We hope to have a strong week of practice and will try to get some polish and more class to our offense. We have been able to score only two touchdowns in the past two games and with the type of offense we use, this just isn't right," Robbins said.

"We feel that we have excellent talent at running backs and fine receivers. Our only worry is that our

Idaho's waterfowl season opens Saturday, October 7th with the bag limit of 7 ducks and 2 Canada geese per day. Shooting hours for ducks in the Columbia Basin Mallard Counties (which includes Magic Valley) is from ½ hour before sunrise to ½ hour after sunset. Canvasback are protected this year. Goose hunting ends at sunset in the entire State. Hunters are reminded they need a $5 migratory bird stamp and their gun must not be capable of holding more than 3 shells. Regulations are available at your local vendors to check the numerous regulations, particularly concerning geese. Nesting conditions were good in Idaho and the prairie provinces and the prospects are for an excellent season. Typically, local ducks supply many of the birds taken on opening weekend but there are some migrants already showing up in Idaho, such as pintails and teal.

The history of duck hunting in this area commonly shows a good opening weekend and then a slow period until the migrant birds start to come into the valley, which normally happens some time in November. Some of the better areas are usually Camas prairie, Carey Lake

Mgt. area, the Snake River in the open section of the Minidoka Wildlife Refuge, Wilson Lake, Murtaugh, Pioneer Reservoir near Bliss, and any of the farm ponds for jump shooting. There will be one change in operation at Hagerman Wildlife Management area that will involve the use of a siren to signal the close of shooting time each evening. The boundaries of the firing line will be posted as in the past.

The Fish and Game Department has changed the format on the shooting hours listed on the back of the waterfowl regulations. In the past they listed sunrise and sunset and the hunter had to complete the calculation for ½ hour before sunrise, daylight saving time, etc., to find his actual starting or quitting time.

This year the actual shooting times are given with the only adjustment an addition of ½ hour after the closing time shown if the hunter is in a Columbia Basin Mallard County. The starting and closing times shown are valid for the ducks in the Idaho area outside the Columbia Basin Mallard Counties and for geese in the State. There was one error in the printing of the regulations which affects JEROME — Mike Allison ran for three touchdowns and passed for six extra points Thursday night when the Stuart frosh topped Jerome 38-14.

Allison scored on runs of 25, 10 and 30 yards and threw the conversion passes to Randy Barbour Jeff Osborne hit Randy Givens with a 30-yard scoring strike and Jim Cox scored from three yards out after a Craig Nielsen interception.

Jerome scored touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

Brewers replace Frank Lane in front office shake-up

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Frank Lane, baseball's legendary trader whose career spans more than half a century, was removed Thursday as director of baseball operations for the Milwaukee Brewers and given another assignment.

The 73-year-old Lane, who joined the Brewers two years ago, will remain with the team as a special assignments scout and vice president with the emphasis on major league players and an announced assignment of paving the way for trades that could make the floundering Brewers contenders.

"I think this is a step forward," said Lane, whose abilities many times before made pennant contenders of also-rans. "This is going to free me to do more things that I hope can help this organization. It will let me get out on the road, which is where the hell I should go—not having to worry about the office."

Lane was replaced by Jim Wilson, the Brewers' scouting director who, in his 12 years as a major league pitcher once drew fans to Milwaukee County Stadium as a star for the Milwaukee Braves. He pitched a no-hitter in 1954 against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Brewers Manager Del Crandall was Wilson's batterymate at the time.

"The first thing I thought about," Wilson said, "is how does one go about trying to replace a legend? Frank Lane is just that—he's a legend. I don't think anybody in the game has the knowledge he does."

The shifts were part of a front office shakeup announced by Brewers President Allan H. "Bud" Selig.

Selig said Jim Baumer, the Brewers' top scout, would replace Wilson as director of scouting and former major league pitcher Al Widmar would become director of player development and instruction.

Tommy Ferguson, already a vice president, was given added duties in the field of player relations, scheduling and spring training; Bob Quinn was named director of business operations for the minor league system and Tony Siegle was named as administrative assistant to Wilson.

All had been in the Brewers' organization.

Selig said the restructuring was "in no way a criticism of Frank Lane or a minimizing of the outstanding work he has done for the club over the past two years."

He said Lane had made tremendous contributions in salvaging what had been a chaotic situation. "No man ever stepped into a more intolerable, distressing situation," Selig said.

Lane was asked if the shift in his responsibilities might be a prelude to retirement.

Pirates fret over Stargell's slump

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Willie Stargell may be in his worst batting slump of the season but Manager Bill Virdon doesn't seem too concerned as the Pittsburgh Pirates head into the National League playoffs.

After hitting over a .300 clip for most of the year, Stargell saw his average drop 17 points to .293 in the final month of the season. He had only four hits in his last 44 at bats and his last homer, his 33rd of the season, came during the first week of September. He hasn't driven in a run since Sept. 14.

Despite Stargell's slump, Virdon says the Pirates have enough muscle at the plate to make it through the best-of-five series against Cincinnati starting Saturday at Three Rivers Stadium.

ISU faces Eastern Michigan

POCATELLO — Buoyed by a crushing 51-6 victory over Portland State, and hoping to stop a potent wishbone attack, Idaho State travels to Ypsilanti, Michigan for an important game with Eastern Michigan.

Few people would have guessed before the season that ISU and the Hurons would go into this contest with identical 1-2 records. Eastern Michigan was picked as one of the top ten College Division teams in pre-season polls and Idaho State had high hopes of finishing near the top of the Big Sky Conference. Both results are still possible for the winner but unlikely for the loser.

The Hurons are defensive-minded, with a huge line and quick backs. Offensively they have had troubles with consistency. After viewing EMU films Idaho State Coach Bob Griffin says he is impressed with the next ISU foe. "Their defense is as good as anything we'll see and maybe better. They have some real fine personnel. Tackle Ron Fernandes (6-5, 235) is probably their best player, although everyone in the line is over 230 lbs and 6-3 or taller. Their safety Darrell Mossburg is the top man in their secondary."

The Vandals are coming off a 49-16 licking of the Weber State Wildcats. Boise State has scored 106 points in their three outings to just 17 for their foes.

The two teams have played just one common opponent so far this year. The Broncos squeezed past Humboldt State two weeks ago in Arcata, Calif. by a 21-15 score.

record book, "this is the game which counts," and "the season depends on this game." Most of them will be true. Both teams should be highly emotional for this game.

The lack of emotion played a big part in the Idaho loss last week to the upstart Montana State Bobcats. The Vandals played without emotion, were listless, and acted more like puppets than football players. They failed to take advantage of breaks, fumbled five times, losing four, played poor defense and lost the game.

Much credit should be given to the Bobcats. They were ready for the Vandals and played a great game. Coach Don Robbins said Coach Sonny Holland of the Bobcats did a great job of getting his team ready.

Now Robbins must get his team up for the big one. Most Idaho fans would forget the rest of the season if the Vandals could beat the Cougars.

BSC sees Cal Poly as toughest

BOISE, Idaho — The Boise State Broncos take their three-game winning streak to the State of California Saturday, Oct. 7, and face their most severe challenge in the young 1972 season in the Mustangs of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. Pacific Time.

The Mustangs, under head coach Joe Harper, have the same 3-0 record as the Broncos. They have allowed just seven points this year in their three wins and have picked up 110 points in those games.

They have defeated Cal State Hayward 42-0, Montana State 34-7 and Humboldt State 34-0.

The Broncos are coming off a 49-16 licking of the Weber State Wildcats. Boise State has scored 106 points in their three outings to just 17 for their foes.

Vandals renew WSU rivalry Saturday; Rick Seefried may return to action

MOSCOW — One of the oldest collegiate rivalries in the west will be resumed this week when the Idaho Vandals and the Washington State Cougars clash in Pullman Saturday for their 71st meeting.

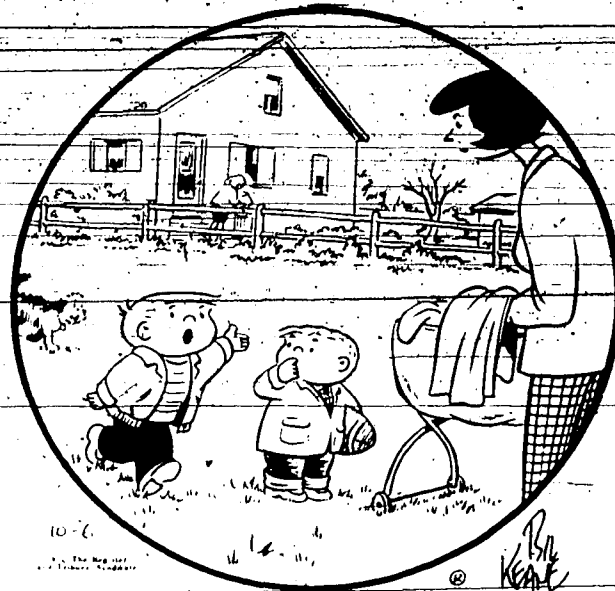

The two teams met for the first time in 1893 and since that time the Cougars have had quite an edge in victories. WSU has won 50 games, Idaho has 17 wins and three have been ties.

The Vandals last won in 1965 by a 17-13 score. The Cougars have taken the last four meetings, and the teams did not meet in 1969 or 1971.

Idaho will be bringing a 1-2 record into the contest while the Cougars have a 2-2 mark. Last week Montana State upset the Vandals 17-3 while Utah crushed the Cougars 44-25 in another upset.

Fans will hear many statements dug out of the history of this game during this week such as "throw away the record book, "this is the game which counts," and "the season depends on this game." Most of them will be true. Both teams should be highly emotional for this game.

"People are always callin' me Jeffy, and they call Jeffy, Billy. Don't we look like OURSELVES?"

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when employing the use of tact and diplomacy brings the results you wish. This may not be easy since unexpected difficulties are bound to arise to test your patience. Any surprise setbacks will be temporary and no threat to overall progress. A good sense of humor is important.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Resorting to temper where an associate is concerned would only make matters worse. Also, make sure you are not the one who is at fault. Express more confidence in what others are doing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An excellent day to express your views with friends, but be sure to avoid any arguments. Taking health treatments at this time can give you more vitality. Show that you have poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are tempted to dash out for recreation instead of carrying through with promises you have made. Avoid those individuals who are unreliable. Home is your best bet tonight. Relax.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do nothing that will spoil the harmonious manner in which your home is running. Be sure to keep quiet if provoked. Take care of artistic and cultural matters early.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't be careless in motion today and you safeguard money and physical well being. You can run those errands but don't take any risks. Be sure to count your money when shopping.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You feel that by spending money lavishly, you can alleviate another's feelings, but an honest admission of guilt would be better. Discuss with an expert how to add to present abundance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan how to make yourself more attractive and healthy. Forget the faults of those persons you like and think only of their good qualities. Buy the right clothing for your wardrobe.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may feel hemmed in today, so get out and go places, meet people who are interesting and have a good time. A little encouragement to a friend now can go a long way. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Being blunt with friends could lead to arguments now, so use tact instead. You need to build goodwill, not lessen it. Personal goals are best worked out alone at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know what your duties are of public or personal nature, so attend to them instead of going off on some tangent. Show that you are efficient. Avoid a higher-up who is irate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a new method of handling the tasks ahead of you and get better results. Don't be pressured by a newcomer into doing something that would embarrass you. Use your willpower.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) With all the tasks ahead of you, get busy and handle them instead of procrastinating any longer. Take good care of your health and make yourself more charming. Express happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is constantly motivated to challenge others, even the closest ties. Teach early to have more faith in others and give the right religious training that will accomplish this. Any profession that has to do with music, art and culture is fine here. Sports are also important. Don't neglect ethical training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

Highly athletic women do not tend to have a particularly easy time in childbirth. Seemingly weak and fragile girls quite often do. A medico named Dr. V. R. Rhodes therefore concludes, "Muscular development is contrary to essential femininity."

EVERY TIME a Friday falls on the 13th of the month, say, the computer boys, businessmen drop about $250 million. It's because so many people then won't buy, won't sell, won't even go to work.

WHY ROACHES are significantly more susceptible to insecticides around 4 p.m. daily also remains a mystery. But Dr. William N. Sullivan of the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports such to be the case.

QUERIES
Q. "How many of the so-called forcible rape cases turn out to be phony complaints by girls who want to get even?"
A. Exactly 18 per cent, police records indicate.

Q. "HOW FREQUENTLY do the real big poultry operators gather their eggs?"
A. As often as four times a day.

Q. "AMONG mammals, all males tend to be born bigger but weaker than females, right?"
A. Except for the rabbit. Why the rabbit is an exception I do not know.

DEBTS
Mister, if you're between 35 and 54 years old, and if you're married with some youngsters, and if you owe creditors 78 per cent of your annual income, you're exactly average. But consider, too, if you're between 55 and 64 years old, and your children have moved out, and you owe creditors just 41 percent of your annual income, you're also average. The foregoing includes mortgages, please note.

A GEORGIA LADY asks our Love and War man to name the one most essential characteristic of a happy marriage. All right. After that thing called love, he avers; the big thing is the ability to confide fully, freely and frankly in each other. He's thinking of writing a "how to" manual on this matter, too.

MOST OF the muscles in a woman's arms are particularly weak. Relatively weaker than the other muscles in her body, it's said. Except for two of these arm muscles. One, the latissimus dorsi. That's the one that gets the work when buttoning or zipping up a dress in the back. And two, the deltoid. That's the one most exercised when brushing the hair.

IN LIGHT OF the fact there are about 1,000 symphony orchestras in this country, why is it you can't name 10 of them, sir? Neither can I. Can name 10 professional football teams, though. And then some.

MUST MENTION, before quitting, you've got about 45 miles of nerves just in your skin.

Nixon denies corruption

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Thursday the public has been "turned off" by Sen. George McGovern's charges that the Republican administration is the most corrupt in the nation's history.

He said he would not "dignify" the Democratic presidential nominee's charges by replying to them. But without mentioning McGovern by name, Nixon directed a series of barbs at his opponent.

"One of the very few members of the Congress who is publicly and actively supporting the opposition ticket in this campaign has very vigorously criticized this kind of tactics," Nixon told a news conference. He referred to Rep. Jerome Walde, D-Calif., who said McGovern had gone too far in some of his charges.

Asked if he would say McGovern was waging a "smear" campaign, Nixon said: "I am not going to characterize the Senator's campaign. As a matter of fact, I don't question his motives."

But he made it plain he was angered by McGovern's charges.

"I think the responsible members of the Democratic Party will be turned off by this kind of campaigning, and I would suggest that responsible members of the press, following the single standard to which they are deeply devoted, will also be turned off by it," he said.

Asked about specific charges that his campaign organization "bugged" the Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate Hotel in Washington, Nixon said he had no knowledge of the affair until it became public. Nixon refused to speculate on the size of the vote he will receive in the Nov. 7 election.

Brushes off charge

PRES. NIXON held his first news conference in five weeks in his office in the White House Thursday. Nixon brushed aside Democratic nominee George McGovern's charges of corruption which he predicted will "turn off" the public. He also said he would not let the Nov. 7 election dictate an ill-conceived settlement of the Vietnam War. (UPI)

Peace talks in sensitive stage

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said today the Vietnam peace negotiations were in a "sensitive stage" but declined to predict, when or whether they would succeed.

He also told a news conference that the "United States would never agree to a settlement which would impose a Communist government directly or indirectly on the people of South Vietnam."

Nixon declined to discuss the private negotiations conducted in Paris by Henry A. Kissinger but said they had been "very extensive."

"I will only say that the negotiations are in a sensitive stage," he said. "I cannot predict and will not predict that they will or will not succeed. I cannot and will not predict when they will succeed."

Nixon added: "The settlement will come just as soon as we can possibly get a settlement which is right — right for the South Vietnamese, the North Vietnamese, and for us, one that will have in mind our goals of preventing the imposition by force of a Communist government in South Vietnam and a goal that is particularly close to our hearts in a humanitarian sense, the return of our prisoners of war."

Nixon arranged to meet today with Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Haig, Kissinger's chief deputy who is just back from South Vietnam.

Nixon said he supports an amendment if other means failed. "If we don't get it now, we'll go for it as a matter of highest priority in the next Congress."

Anti-bus proposal backed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Thursday he would support a constitutional amendment against busing in the next Congress but would prefer the legislative route.

He told a news conference if Congress failed "to provide relief from excessive busing orders, then I intend to find another way."

Nixon said a new Congress might act quickly to curtail use of busing as a means of achieving racial integration of the nation's schools. "The legislative front is preferable," he said. "If we cannot get it through Congress there would have to be movements toward an amendment."

He said he supports an amendment if other means failed. "If we don't get it now, we'll go for it as a matter of highest priority in the next Congress."

Senate abandons health proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The senate voted Thursday to abandon the goal Congress established seven years ago of providing free, comprehensive health care to every poor person in America by 1977.

Up to 25 million people the poor and those who would be thrown into poverty by heavy medical bills would be affected by the decision to relax standards written into the Medicaid law when it was enacted in 1965 under prodding by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., bitterly fought the change but senators were under heavy pressure from governors who said their budgets could not sustain the unexpectedly heavy demands imposed by the Medicaid program. In another action, the Senate voted to come to the rescue of poor people who stand to lose as much or more than they gained from a 20 per cent increase in Social Security payments which took effect this month.

Since public housing rents, food stamps, the surplus food program, Medicaid and adult welfare payments are all tied to the income levels of recipients, millions would have suffered a cutback arising from their increased income through Social Security.

An amendment by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., ordered that the 20 per cent increase be disregarded as income for those programs.

Consumer agency killed in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—By a three-vote margin, the Senate again Thursday refused to halt a filibuster against legislation to create an independent consumer protection agency, virtually killing all chance for passage of the bill this year.

Backers of the measure — intended to help consumers press complaints before federal regulatory agencies and courts — attributed their defeat to continued vigorous lobbying by powerful business interests and opposition by the Nixon administration.

Ralph Nader, a heavy supporter of the proposed legislation, said, "President Nixon is directly responsible for defeating this bill — he has once again chosen corporations over consumers."

The effort to impose "cloture," meaning further debate on the bill would be limited to a maximum of 100 hours, failed on a 52 to 30 vote — falling three votes short of the two-thirds majority necessary to stop a filibuster. It was the third consecutive setback for proponents of the bill and the three-vote deficit was the same as that on Tuesday.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chief sponsor of the Senate measure, said after Thursday's vote that he would like to try once more for cloture, but that the battle was over for all practical purposes. "We haven't got the votes," he conceded.

Oil firms reach agreement

NEW YORK (UPI)—A group of private oil companies Thursday reached agreement with five oil-producing Arab countries which eventually will give the Arab nations majority control over 30 per cent of the Western world's petroleum, it was announced here.

Details of the agreement were not released pending completion of all necessary formalities, but one clause called for a gradual rise in participation over "a period of years" until the Arab countries gain 51 per cent control, a spokesman for the companies said.

Negotiations began nine months ago after the countries Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi and Qatar demanded an immediate 20 per cent participation and threatened nationalization of the oil operations.

The spokesman said the agreement was reached with Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, oil minister of Saudi Arabia, who has been representing the five countries.

Students sentenced

BELGRADE (UPI)—Four Croatian student leaders convicted of planning a government overthrow to create an independent Croatia received prison sentences today ranging from one to four years, judicial officials said.

The sentences ended Yugoslavia's first major political trial since the nationalist crisis of late 1971.
