SECURITY MEN outside main door of Boise's St. Alphonsus hospital kept way clear for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., during half hour visit Friday. (Related stories, P. 7)

Tight Boise security doesn't hamper Ted

By DAVID ESPO

Times-News writer

BOISE — Security was tight here Friday, but it didn't stop Sen. Edward M. Kennedy from signing autographs and shaking hundreds of hands.

Kennedy, who made a brief campaign stop in Idaho's capital city to stump for the election of the national ticket, William E. (Bud) Davis, senatorial candidate and Ed Williams and Willis Ludow, congressional hopefuls, held a press conference, addressed a $25 a plate luncheon and visited a new hospital in less than three hours.

Security at the press conference was well controlled, with personnel challenging all those not carrying proper credentials. State police were positioned along the motor route the senator's automobile took from the motel to the new St. Alphonsus Hospital, and from the hospital to the airport.

At least one man was positioned atop a highway overpass along Interstate 80, and law enforcement cars were also visible along the access road to the interstate near the airport.

Security agents at the hospital, uninformed that Kennedy's visit would also be attended by representatives of the media, told reporters to move from their spot in front of the hospital door.

But in spite of the security, Kennedy — whom many feel is conducting a long range campaign for the presidential election in 1976 — took opportunities to shake hands and greet wellwishers.

After the press conference was declared over by a staff member, the senator moved among reporters and cameramen, shaking hands. He stopped in the hall on his way to the luncheon to continue a discussion that had begun moments earlier with a question.

He was greeted enthusiastically at the luncheon, with several persons rushing to the speaker's table to greet him.

At the hospital, where staff members and patients turned out to greet him, Kennedy moved among the crowd, grasping hands. He also signed several autographs.

At one point, the crowd of politicians, security men, hospital officials and press momentarily prevented one person from entering the hospital door.

Cassia bond vote Tuesday

By DAVID HORSMAN

Times-News writer

BURLEY — Few Cassia County residents by now are unaware of Tuesday's school bond election.

Even fewer would claim to know all about it. Since Sept. 11, when the Cassia County School Board voted to take a $2.95 million bond proposal to the polls on Tuesday, verbal salvos from disgruntled parents and taxpayers and defensive consolidationists have become pivotal points for all conversation.

The social amenity, "How are ya?", has been expanded to "How are ya voting?" or replaced by some other reference to the election.

But the tone is often bitter and the words are not easily forgotten or shrugged off.

The Oakley News, a weekly tabloid in a community considered by most to be the core of opposition to the bond issue and described by one Cassia school trustee as "secessionist," printed a bold challenge Sept. 28. "If you fight and win," the front-page headline began, "you have earned the right fight again. If you lose, you have nothing left for which to fight."

The battle cry alluded to successful opposition of past bond proposals and hinted at sentiments expressed in the article which followed, which asked the reader not to tire in his bout against consolidation because that is what "they" are counting on.

The unspecified "they" in the Oakley article all but names the originators of the bond proposal — the Cassia school board — and could easily be said to include the issue's proponents, those who will vote "yes" Oct. 17.

And the bond supporters, obvious in their reticence at the beginning, have also established lines of vote solicitation.

One group, the Cassia County Citizens for Better Schools Committee, has placed half-page advertisements in area newspapers and purchased air time on the Burley radio station. Both media messages contain an obvious appeal to the Burley voter.

However the Oakley "they" is replaced by two equally suggestive but conversely pointed words — "negative voters" — in the committee's ad campaign. The words are contained in a challenge, "Don't let a small group of negative voters continue to decide the future of education in Cassia County."

So there has been much ado about something in Cassia County since Sept. 11.

The ado can be generally described as a clash between rural and urban priorities. The something is a bond proposal that forces the rural and urban bulls to lock horns at the ballot box.

The bond proposal to be decided Tuesday will be the seventh offered to Cassia voters since 1969. Of the previous six, only the first passed. (Continued on P. 17)

GOP sabotage link claimed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Aides of President Nixon were linked to alleged political sabotage directed against Democrats seeking the presidential nomination in an article by Time magazine to be published Sunday.

Time said two aides of Nixon, Dwight Chapin, a deputy assistant to the President, and Gordon Strachen, a member of the White House staff, recruited a saboteur to interfere in the Democrats' campaigns. The saboteur allegedly was paid $35,000 from a slush fund by Nixon's personal attorney, Time said.

Time said the saboteur was Donald H. Segretti, a Los Angeles attorney who, once worked for the Treasury Department. Segretti was also named last week by the Washington Post as an agent hired to conduct political sabotage.

Time said the man who paid

Segretti was Herbert Kalmbach, Nixon's personal attorney.

Time said files in the Justice Department, which has investigated the Watergate break in at Democratic headquarters and other allegations of campaign and spending irregularities by the Committee to Re-elect the President (CRP), establish "a direct link between the White House and a political saboteur named Donald H. Segretti, a Los Angeles attorney who was paid more than $35,000 from the CRP's funds to subvert and disrupt Democratic candidates' campaigns this election year."

Time said "the department's files state that Segretti, a 31-year-old Democrat was hired in September, 1971 by Dwight Chapin, a deputy assistant to the President, and Gordon Strachen, an assistant on the White House staff. For his services, Segretti was paid by Herbert Kalmbach, Nixon's personal attorney who has handled such matters as acquisition of Nixon's estate at San Clemente. His payment included a $16,000-a-year salary plus expenses."

Time continued: "From Sept. 1, 1971 to March 15, 1972, Kalmbach gave Segretti more than $35,000, including one payment of $25,000 in cash. The money came from the CRP slush fund that was kept in the safe of Maurice Stans, chief political fund-raiser for the President."

Adjournment due Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 92nd Congress broke session's end logjams on welfare and spending late Saturday night but too late to pass them finally and call it quits for the year.

Plans to adjourn "sine die" —without setting a day to return—went down the drain shortly before midnight EDT when the Senate agreed to resume work on Monday and the House on Tuesday.

Congressional leaders reset their adjournment, sights for late Tuesday. But as the Senate quit for the weekend, at 12:04 a.m. Sunday, the House remained in session hoping to pass the welfare and spending bills that had wrecked plans for an immediate adjournment of Congress.

As expected, a House-Senate conference committee stripped away most of the 583 Senate amendments to a House-passed welfare reform bill that originally embraced Nixon's concept of a $2,400 annual minimum wage for a family of four.

Major welfare reform, including the guaranteed minimum wage, were put off for further study. But major Social Security benefits common to both House and Senate bills were preserved.

Another group of negotiators, after day-long bargaining, failed to settle a bitter dispute over a Senate proposal to divert $700 million in highway construction trust funds to development of urban mass transit systems, if desired by local officials.

A key figure in the rush to adjournment, marked by frayed tempers and soaring absenteeism, was Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee who was overseeing negotiations over both the welfare and the spending ceiling bills.

Spending lid set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House and Senate conferees late Saturday agreed with President Nixon on a $250 billion spending ceiling but voted to restrict cuts in any one program to stay under the lid to not more than 20 per cent and to exclude certain programs from any cuts at all.

The compromise bill was a setback for Nixon who demanded unfettered authority to cut any program any amount he desired to stay under the $250 billion ceiling.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the conference committee, said, however, administration spokesmen who sat in on the conference "indicated they're willing to try this plan. They don't like it but they're willing to try. They feel it's better than nothing."

The measure prohibits Nixon from cutting any program by more than 20 per cent and excludes from the ceiling, or in other words protects from being cut, social security and veterans benefits, unemployment compensation, Medicare and Medicaid, welfare, military, Civil Service and railroad retirement pay and judicial salaries.

The Senate bill, in addition to those exclusions, named social services grants, food stamps and interest on the national debt, but these were deleted from the compromise bill.

Russian airliner toll 172

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet jetliner carrying as many as 172 passengers and crew on a flight from Leningrad crashed Friday night near Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport, killing all aboard, the Tass news agency and an airport official said Saturday. It would be the worst disaster in civil aviation history.

The jetliner, an Ilyushin 62 on a charter flight from Paris, was the second plane belonging to the state airline Aeroflot to crash in 12 days.

Western airline sources said they were told by Soviet airline officials the plane circled the fog-shrouded airport three times before it crashed near the village of Chernaya Gryaz on the main road to Leningrad. The crash scene was about seven miles west of the airport, the sources said.

UPI Correspondent Peter J. Shaw interviewed an official at the airport's administration office who said, "The plane had 162 seats," and implied that all were filled. The official, who refused to identify himself, said the plane normally carries a crew of 10.

Western sources said that about 50 French tourists were originally aboard the plane but disembarked in Leningrad. The sources were not sure if they were replaced for the flight to Moscow.

Chilean Embassy officials said they were checking reports that the plane carried 38 Chilean citizens.

The airliner went into international service in 1967.

Shop raid kills pair

BELFAST (UPI)—Gunmen fatally wounded two men in a raid on a Belfast wine shop Saturday night, and the body of another man was discovered elsewhere in the capital to raise the three-year toll of sectarian violence in Northern Ireland to 804.

The three deaths raised to 70 the number killed in a wave of executions in the province since July.

An army spokesman said another man was seriously wounded in the wine shop raid in the Protestant Tate's Avenue district of south Belfast.

Oil firms seek state land leases

BOISE — Oil and gas mineral lease applications have been filed on over 25,000 state-owned Magic Valley acres since the middle of this year.

A check of public lease application records in the Public Lands Department in Boise shows Gulf Oil Corp. alone has filed 39 separate applications for leases on slightly over 20,000 acres.

None of the Gulf applications has been granted, pending review by state officials.

Most of the land which is being sought for mineral leases falls in Gooding County, although there are also applications on file in the state office for acreage in Twin Falls, Jerome, Blaine and Lincoln counties.

Checks with the Bureau of Land Management office had earlier disclosed large numbers of applications had been filed on Valley lands owned by the federal government. Gulf had made the bulk of applications on those lands, as well.

George Allen, Carson City, Nev., who holds leases on Bureau of Land Management land in southeastern Cassia County, has made similar filings for two sections of state land in the same area. A section is 640 acres. The confirmation of Allen's leases is being withheld, pending posting of necessary bonds with the state.

If they are granted they, like all others, will be "subject to prior surface rights—and improvements."

Others filing lease applications for state-owned land in the Magic Valley include Amoco, which has made one filing request for 640 acres in Twin Falls County, and the Anschutz Corp., which has filed for five leases on 3,200 acres of state-owned Blaine County land.

The applications filed by the Gulf Oil Corp. for oil and gas leases in Gooding County were almost all filed with the state office in the latter part of June. (Continued on p. 17)

President gets share measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate gave final congressional approval Friday to President Nixon's proposal to share federal tax dollars with state and local governments.

The vote was 59 to 19.

Despite opponents' last ditch warnings that it was a bad concept, members sent the bill to the White House, where Nixon's signature was assured.

Under the bill, the federal government will distribute $30.2 billion to the state and local governments over the next five years. The first year's allocation will amount to $9.5 billion.

Under the bill's complex allocation formula, each state is allocated a certain amount of money. The state itself keeps one-third of that amount and the remaining two thirds must be given to local governments.

The bill provides no strings at all for the states' share of the money, but the cities, counties and other local governments must spend their share within three broad areas — public, safety, sanitation, or transit systems.

Under the formula included in the compromise bill, Idaho would receive $8.7 million in state funds and $13.2 million for local governments.

The Magic Valley would receive $1.88 million, to be divided among the eight counties and the towns in the area.

Fire department improvement eyed

KETCHUM — Efforts to improve the Ketchum Volunteer Fire Department have been backed by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce.

During a chamber meeting Thursday, the group appointed a committee to request the Ketchum City Council to increase the fire department budget and acquire needed equipment.

Serving on the committee will be chamber members Tom McMahon, Bill Brand, a volunteer fireman interested in department improvement and William Innes, Sun Valley fire commissioner, who will serve as an advisor to the committee.

Brand said during the meeting that currently no regular program of fire truck maintenance exists. He recommended a full-time fire chief be hired by the city to conduct maintenance work and perhaps fire prevention inspections.

After the meeting, Brand, who is seeking private donations for the department, said that a tanker truck was needed both for rural fire district fires and for in-town work because no water system exists west of the railroad tracks and in Warm Springs.

Brand also said that three trucks are presently "jammed" into a fire house built for two trucks and that 50 per cent of the fire hoses would not pass pressure checks.

Further department needs brought out during the meeting were additional hats, coats and boots for the volunteers and a hose drying lower. Brand said the needs were urgent for public safety and that the Idaho Rating and Survey Bureau will be in the area next month to re-evaluate fire ratings for insurance purposes.

McMahon said "Volunteers should not have to put their necks on the line without proper equipment."

Chamber member Robert (Gen.) Neeley said that the city should rearrange its priorities, placing the fire and police departments at the top.

Innes said, "The number one responsibility of the city is public safety." He said that improvement costs should be taken from the city budget and that it was not the duty of groups, such as the chamber, to donate funds when tax dollars are provided.

MURTAUGH — Truman R. Davidson, 68, retired Murtaugh area farmer, died Friday at the Twin Falls Clinic after a long illness.

He was born March 3, 1904 at Oakley. He attended school in Paul and Oakley, graduating from the Oakley High school. He married Nellie Elwood Ower in Rupert on May 29, 1939. The marriage was solemnized in Idaho Falls LDS Temple in 1964.

He moved to Paul with his family as a child. He returned to Oakley in 1921, moved to Montana in 1927, where he lived until 1936, when he moved to Twin Falls. In 1939, he moved to Murtaugh where he has since resided.

He was a member of the LDS church and was an elder at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife, two sons, Truman Davidson Jr., McKinleyville, Calif., and Gary Davidson, Laguna Beach, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Don (Kay) Sager, Las Vegas, Nev.; one brother, Edward R. Davidson, Oakley; 12 grandchildren; and 2 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Monday at the Murtaugh LDS Ward Chapel with Bishop Roger Tolman officiating. Interment will be in the Sunset Memorial Park Twin Falls. Friends may call at Payne Mortuary, Burley, Sunday afternoon and evening and church one hour prior to the service on Monday.

WENDELL — Sarah Wickersham, 90, died early Saturday in the Gooding County Memorial Hospital following a long illness.

She was born Oct. 23, 1881, in Quincy, Ill., and moved to Palo, Mo., with her parents when 7 years old. She became a member of the Christian Church when she was 16 and was married to William McDowell June 10, 1903, in Kingston, Mo. He died Feb. 22, 1943. They moved to Idaho prior to his death. She married Tom Wickersham May 6, 1946, and he died Feb. 8, 1951.

She is survived by two sons, Marion McDowell, Houghton, Kan., and Sidney McDowell, Jerome; two daughters, Mrs. Clarence (Mary) Lee, Holbrook, Ariz., and Vera Clark, Richmond, Calif.; 13 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by four brothers, four sisters and four daughters.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Leeper Mortuary Chapel by Rev. Woodrow Harris. Burial will be in the Wendell Cemetery. Friends may call Monday evening and until time of services on Tuesday.

RUPERT — Adeline Dockstader Simpson, 57, former Minidoka County resident, died Friday at Moses Lake, Wash.

Funeral services are pending at Walk Mortuary in Rupert.

GLENN'S FERRY — Mrs. Darlene Gaerty, Nampa, arep captain, visited the Glenn's Ferry TOPS club Thursday evening.

She gave a report of her attendance recently at the International Recognition Day in Denver, where several hundred KOPS were in attendance. Some of them were from foreign countries. They represented a combined loss of 12,341 pounds.

Mrs. Charles Goughman was named Topper of the Week, and was presented with a corsage. Mrs. George Thomas won the "Endurance" contest and turned her "Winnings" into the TOP treasury. Mrs. D. D. Anderson showed her scrapbook and the dress she wore before reducing.

TWIN FALLS — Thirty-five grade school children in Twin Falls became firemen for an afternoon Saturday as they toured the fire station.

The youngsters were guests of the Twin Falls Fire Department for ice cream and cake after winning fire prevention essay contests in their various grade school grades.

Winners were selected from all grade schools and all grades after submitting written essays last week. For their winning work, each received a certificate from the fire department and an invitation to the fire station to inspect equipment, slide down the pole between the first and second floors and climb aboard a fire engine.

Roy Roper, owner of the Cinema Theater donated free movie passes to the winners to be used during the coming week. Ice cream was donated by Young's Dairy and cake by Albertson's and Safeway bakeries.

Fire Chief Bobby K. Bopp said 35 of the 36 winners attended the party. This is part of the department's observance of Fire Prevention Week. Fire engines also visited all of the grade schools during the past week to demonstrate ladder equipment and fire fighting practices.

TWIN FALLS — New officers of the American War Mothers of Twin Falls will be installed in the November meeting.

Those elected in a meeting Friday in the American Legion Hall were Mary Taylor, re-elected president; Lola Vise, first vice president; Lula Shumway, second vice president; Emma Stone, treasurer; Lora Doss, recording secretary; Martina Romans, chaplain; Josephine Wurst, historian; Beulah Bartlett, sergeant-at-arms, and Nellie Horejs, reappointed corresponding secretary.

Members of the nominating committee included Ruth Landerman, chairman, Sue Pratt and Maude Collins.

Mrs. Dorothy Handshy, Girard, Kans., was a guest at the Friday meeting. Members voted to send funds to Tullie Buchanan, Veterans Administration Service chairman, for the Christmas Party at the Veterans Administration Hospital and

GF lodge to meet

GLENN'S FERRY — Aileen Rebekah Lodge No. 62 will meet Monday evening in the Veteran's Memorial Hall.

Mrs. Dorothy Clark, Mrs. W. E. Wells and Mrs. Louis Carpenter will be on the serving committee and Mrs. Ray Whitt, Mrs. Olive Majors and Mrs. Robert Pusey on the program committee.

Hemingway land deal said false

KETCHUM — A Wood River Journal account involving Jack Hemingway in a land deal was termed "absolutely false" Saturday.

Lee Schlender, attorney representing the Idaho Fish and Game Commission member, said the story, contending Hemingway acted on privileged information in a land purchase in Lincoln County will result in a "statement of facts" being given to the Game Commission when members meet in a regular session in Boise Tuesday morning.

The newspaper, in a front page story and also in an editorial, asserted the game commission member doubled the bid that was offered by the Fish and Game Department.

The land in question, including natural marsh and Little Wood River stream frontage, was, according to the newspaper, bid in at $24,000 by the state and $48,000 by Hemingway.

In announcing the charges of the newspaper would be aired before the commission, the attorney said the matter is libelous.

Hemingway, a writer, sportsman and son of the late famed author, Ernest Hemingway, has resided in this area for several years. He was appointed to the commission by Gov. Cecil Andrus. At that time Hemingway, who said he was a lifelong Republican, came out for the Democratic governor over Gov. Don Samuelson.

The Blind Book

Ralph Nader rides again and this time it is not roughshod over the little Corvair but over 185 years of American history.

"Who Runs Congress — The President, Big Business or You?" first volume in a projected encyclopedic study of Congress by Nader and his associates, will be sure to please those who like to blame all our troubles on the rascals in Washington.

Calling Congress the "Great American Default," Nader declares that the White House and the President are emerging in the United States as "a new kind of monarchy."

Nader was in top form at a news conference called to announce release of the book:

"We are in the midst of a very serious constitutional crisis. Congress has abdicated its responsibilities to powerful committee chairmen, executive bureaucracy and special-interest groups."

"This administration is not sympathetic to corporations, it is indentured to them" and is easily "the most corrupt in history." Removing Nixon would be "like replacing the rose on the top of the trash heap" because corruption goes all the way down to the bottom of the bureaucracy.

Who would deny at least a grain of truth in many of Nader's allegations? Yet the sweeping charges, the tone without parallel, is more than a misreading of American history. It amounts to a total disregard of that history.

Congress no longer runs the government, says Nader. But it is precisely in those periods when Congress did run the government, when a weak president was in office, that the deficiencies and inefficiencies and corruption Nader complains about were most rampant.

In their wisdom — which was really an acknowledgement of the limitations to their wisdom — the Founding Fathers in 1787 drew only the broad outlines of the powers of the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the new government, leaving it for future generations to breathe life into them.

It is a matter for continual thanksgiving that at those times of greatest national crisis, strong presidents have emerged to meet the challenges of the day by exercising the latent powers of their office, making the president, truly, the "tribune of all the people."

The people could control the government if they would lobby their congressmen vigorously, vote out the bad ones and hold the others accountable, says Nader.

They always could in this Republic. But the people do not always know what they want. Witness the peculiar perversity of the American electorate in so often voting in a president from one party and then turning around and giving him a Congress dominated by the opposition party.

The people want change, they want action — but not too much, or too quickly.

It is a curious coincidence that on the same day the Nader book came out, George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, was complaining that President Nixon had introduced 90 pieces of major legislation in the current Congress and only one, revenue sharing, had been passed.

Neither this nor the President's troubles with holding down congressional spending is exactly evidence of an executive "monarchy."

In the details of needed changes in the organization of Congress as they are spelled out in the promised 20 to 30 volumes to come — reform of the seniority system, curbing the excesses of lobbyists, etc. — Nader's magnum opus may yet do a service for the American people.

By the broad-brush approach of his first volume, however, by his ignoring the historical circumstances which have shaped the Congress and the presidency, and especially by his penchant for rabble-rousing rhetoric, Ralph Nader has once again generated more heat than light.

Set Of Values

A recent issue of ECO, a Washington-based, anti-atomic energy publication devoted to turning the clock back to before 1945, printed a list of 35 nuclear power projects that are "dead, denied, delayed, destroyed, demolished or discharged."

Included in the 35 were the atomic submarines Thresher and Scorpion, both of which went down at sea.

It so happens that 228 lives were lost in these two tragedies, which is about 228 more deaths than have ever been caused by the operation of the nuclear power plants that allegedly pose such a threat to human welfare.

"We hope to be able to report many more," says ECO of its list.

MR. SPECTATOR

Swimming? No Foolin'

The other day we saw a strange sight. In the distance we spotted our old friend L. H. (Spec) Haslam. Then all of a sudden there was a big splash and Spec about disappeared.

Seems as though he had stepped into and tried to wade through one of those big puddles which now form at the intersections along Second Avenue North and East a couple of blocks each way from Shoshone Street. That's the new paving area, you know.

But for some reason, when it rains, great puddles of water form alongside two or three of the intersections and this all leads to "shocks" such as those we experienced when we thought Spec had gone swimming.

Just thought we would warn you so when you come downtown — or within a block of downtown — and it is raining then you will either wear your bathing suit, put on a life jacket or bring your boat.

It ain't easy to provide low areas in new paving to catch the excess water. That takes modern engineering.

A PROBLEM

J. T. Anderson, the local school district official, is pondering a problem.

Outside the downtown administrative office of the school district is this big and tall flag pole. Used to be a rope to put the flag on. Then someone cut the rope — after apparently using it to swing on sometime during the night. This happened at least a couple of times. Putting a new rope on was a task requiring the ladder equipment of the local fire department. It just wasn't good.

So the school officials decided to put a chain in place of the rope. And not only that but to use a padlock to keep the chain in place.

Well, the other night someone apparently cut the chain. The lock was fine — but the chain was snapped.

Now the officials are pondering — but first they will have to get the fire fighters to put the thing into place again.

Kettle And The Black Pot

WASHINGTON — If ever there was a graphic illustration of the kettle calling the pot black, it is Sen. McGovern's walling complaints about the widespread disbelief in his credibility and dependability.

Everyone is at fault but himself — the press (invariably targets of sorehead politicians and losing candidates); the failure of the public to grasp and appreciate his "real character and veracity" (as he unctuously told a meeting of editors in Washington); unnamed business and other hostile interests' etc., etc.

With characteristic self-righteousness and disdainful smugness, the South Dakota radical seems totally oblivious of the fact that there is a glaring credibility gap in his very complaints.

While on one hand he is viciously and unsparingly excoriating and denigrating the Nixon administration, on the other he is indignantly berating those who question his integrity and reliability. To McGovern, reviling the opposition is a public service, but when the same treatment is dished out to him, that's a despicable outrage.

It seems never to occur to McGovern that this might strike the average fair-minded voter as a blatantly sanctimonious contradiction and raise lasting doubts about the glibly voluble candidate's credibility.

Especially as against the still vividly fresh background of:

That now famous, fervent avowal "I am 1,000 per cent for Tom Eagleton and have no intention of dropping him from the ticket," only to weaseling, waffling and flip-flopping on virtually every issue in the campaign.

The plain fact is that the reason for the widespread doubts about McGovern's credibility and reliability is his incontrovertible record of sanctimoniousness, the South Dakota leftist defends that. As he told the editors, "I make no apology for changing my mind in light of additional insight and reflection. I have held to a steady course on the transcendent issues of our time, the war in Vietnam and the reallocation of excessive military spending to the urgent needs of our society." Both those statements are flatly untrue; the record proves that irrefutable.

McGovern voted for the Tonkin Gulf resolution, and for every appropriation for the Vietnam war until 1968, when he made his first and short-lived scramble for the Presidency; and in the 14 years he has been in Congress (four in the House, 10 in the Senate), he has never sponsored legislation or done anything else to "reallocate excessive military spending" — in fact, he has repeatedly voted for huge multi-billion-dollar military appropriations.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Pacemaker

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," for which I enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Do you know if I would encounter serious problems in scuba diving? I have an implanted pacemaker but am in excellent health. Normal swimming, racing and water skiing have no deleterious effects.

I can't seem to find an answer to the scuba question. I have asked many people and doctors. No one seems to know the answer, short of a test in a decompression chamber under observation. Perhaps this is the only way I will find out.

I am 41, very active, first pacemaker implant six years ago. — L. A.

I can't give you any positive, no-quibble answer to your question, but I'll give you my opinion.

As active as you are, you certainly are a living example of how well pacemakers can work for patients with certain types of heart trouble. I hope you continue to be such a living example for many, many years.

But all the same, you have to recognize the fact that scuba diving has many built-in hazards, mostly related to air and gas pressures.

Pressure changes can affect the lungs, sinuses, eardrums, as well as, under some unfortunate circumstances, causing bubbles in the blood.

Some of these difficulties would have no relation to the heart; others could. The fact that you have a pacemaker is an indication that you DO have a health problem. Your health isn't "perfect", no matter how vigorously active you are with the pacemaker doing its share.

You MIGHT get away with scuba diving, I suppose, but if anything went wrong you could be in serious trouble, to say the least.

Temperature changes, as well as pressure changes, can affect your heart rhythm — and the purpose of a pacemaker is to compensate for faulty heart rhythm.

Talk to the specialist who is in charge of your case if you like.

Try out experiments in a decompression chamber if you can afford what would be a rather expensive type of experimenting.

But my advice, on the basis of my knowledge of hearts as well as some of the factors of scuba diving, is this: I'd just be thankful that your pacemaker is doing such a good job for you, and I'd forget about scuba diving. It has risks for anyone; in your case I feel that you'd be tempting fate, the circumstances being what they are.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband recently had a vasectomy and now has a sperm count of "zero." The doctor says pregnancy is impossible, but wants to make a second count. If pregnancy is not possible, why the second count? — S.Y.Z.

A second test is one way of being doubly sure.

Catholic Flight

BROOKLYN — Sen. George McGovern's increasingly harsh attacks on President Nixon, far from lifting his campaign out of the rut here, are being turned against him by working-class Catholics, many of them old-line Democrats, as one more reason to vote for Mr. Nixon.

That conclusion is inescapable from our talks with 104 lower middle-income Italian, Polish and Irish Catholic voters, half in the Williamsburg and Green Point sections of Brooklyn and half in suburban Mount Vernon.

"I just can't take the way McGovern is knocking his opponents," the pretty wife of a New York City fireman told us. A straight Democratic voter until she switched to George Wallace in 1968, she added: "I'm sure he didn't feel this way about Nixon before he started running for President."

The fireman's wife, a registered Democrat, was restrained compared to some others. A Republican with a lifetime union membership card angrily spat out: "That fellow's knocking below the belt."

Thus, to the already lengthy litany of reasons given by voters here for opposing McGovern, must now be added McGovern's escalating attacks on the President for running the "trickiest, most deceitful Administration in our entire national history" (as he told the New York Liberal party last week).

With the help of national pollster Oliver Quayle's expert field team, we screened out all but registered Catholic voters in a political scouting tour to learn whether McGovern's hardening line on law and order, drugs and high-level Republican corruption were swinging the blue-collar vote his way. For McGovern, our finds are depressing.

Thus, our voters' almost 240-1 Nixon margin over Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 has turned into an almost 740-1 Nixon margin over McGovern; 81 for Nixon, 12 for McGovern, 11 not sure. Yet, old habits die hard. These ethnic Catholics still show a strong Democratic registration: 49 Democrats and 36 Republicans (the balance either independent or couldn't remember).

The great Catholic swing to the Republicans during the Eisenhower years, arrested by John F. Kennedy in 1960 and the Goldwater debacle of 1964, now seems to be in flood tide. For McGovern, scorned by many of these blue-collar workers as the champion of long-haired kids, welfare, amnesty and defeat in Vietnam, the flight seems beyond stopping.

McGovern has been talking hard of late about the need for tough measures to deal with drugs and crime in the streets, but many of our voters don't believe him. Said a 23-year-old Green Point housewife: "He's always changing his position. He's suddenly come out against violence and crime in New York but he never mentioned it before."

PAUL HARVEY

Peace Price

Sen. George McGovern and his running mate, Sargent Shriver, accuse President Nixon of trying for a pre-election peace in Vietnam on terms which he could have had four years and 27,000 lives ago.

What is the present, right-now asking price for peace in Vietnam?

The Communists at the peace table have not given an inch. When President Nixon first took office nearly four years ago, the Communists in Paris advanced a "new five-point peace proposal."

In essence they demanded total American withdrawal, the ouster of President Thieu and the setting up of a provisional coalition government in Saigon to arrange "free elections."

At the most recent formal session of the Paris peace talks that offer was essentially unchanged from four years ago. So it's true, as the Democrats say, if President Nixon would settle for peace on these terms, the sacrifices of the last four years would have availed nothing.

But the hard bargaining between them and us has been in private discussions involving our Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho who is North Vietnam's Kenry Kissinger.

These two, with the sometime intercession of Moscow, are aware that any settlement will have to save face on both sides.

Recently a Hanoi broadcast suggested a small but significant modification of their position. It has to do with the makeup of the postwar Saigon government.

For the first time they appear not to demand that they be allowed to dictate the "party of the third part" in a tripartite government for South Vietnam. They still want President Thieu out of it. But they are suggesting "The provisional revolutionary government (that's North Vietnam) and the Viet Cong (those are the Reds in South Vietnam) and the Saigon administration — excluding President Thieu — will appoint people to participate in a government of national accord pending free elections."

Presumably those elections, if truly free, could re-elect President Thieu. This would in fact amount to self-determination for the people of South Vietnam which we have consistently contended is what this war is all about.

The voice of Hanoi radio is not binding on their horse-traders, but if Hanoi wanted to encourage a resumption of private bargaining this is one way they might go about it.

Governed

Editor, Times-News: Government derived its just powers from the consent of the governed.

Regarding the Constitutional Amendments to be voted Nov. 7 S. J. R. No. 1 I'd say deserves a "no" vote. Why exchange our present elected state land board — whose members are the governor, superintendent of public instruction, secretary of state, attorney general and state auditor — for a state land board selected by "law"? I ask whose law?

As Vardis Fisher wrote in the Gooding Leader of May 31, 1962:

"One of the precious freedoms still left to Americans is their right to listen to all the candidates seeking public office and then in secrecy vote for their choice. And the candidates have the right to mystify, deceive, beguile and hoodwink, tell half-lies and whole lies, jeer at and mock and insult their opponents and practice on the voters all the mannerisms, voodoo and toothy grins and magical spells of which they are masters."

The right to fool or be fooled is part of the American system and no other part is kept so busy.

Comment: Montana's Big Sky Proves A Point

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Editor, Times-News

What's an environmentalist? He's the guy who built his summer cabin last year.

A joke? Well, could be, and that's what Gus Raam, president of Big Sky of Montana says it should be labeled but there is more food for thought than there is poetry in the suggestion.

The Big Sky project, one of the most ambitious man has conceived to provide for recreation needs now and in the future, was born in a swirl of controversy as conservationists pounced upon the plans and attempted to tear them apart. But their efforts were not as successful as they anticipated and today Big Sky is a prime example of how to fill recreation needs to the benefit of everyone.

Un-needed existing roads within Montana's Big Sky project are being reseeded or reduced to hiking or horse trails. Altogether more than two years were devoted to planning and laying the groundwork for construction before actual work began. One of the very first things built was a special sediment pond to keep mud and silt out of the streams while Big Sky is under construction.

But even more than that, much is being and has been done to protect the environment after it's finished.

At Big Sky is the most modern sewage treatment plant in Montana. Septic tanks and private wells are NOT allowed in the RESIDENTIAL areas. To prevent air pollution, all heating for Big Sky will be electric. To prevent visual pollution, all telephone and electric lines will be underground within the subdivisions. In addition, large-scale landscaping will be carried out around the Meadow Village Golf Course and all landscape scars will be replanted.

In creating Big Sky, the builders are taking many steps to alleviate abuses of the past and taken many others to protect the land for the future.

And what does a project like this one prove?

As President Raam puts it: "It proves that we can have a place with all the comforts of civilization and all the rewards of the wilderness."

The young development official put his case before a Natural Resource Candidate Forum as he was speaker at the recent session held at the Hotel Boise. A native of Norway who came to this country on a ski team when 21, who enrolled at the University of Washington, and became a citizen 17 years ago, Raam's purpose in speaking before the blue ribbon crowd of candidates and natural resource experts was to prove all outdoor projects are not bad.

And he did just that. And the young man from Big Sky, Mont. — heading a development with Post Office Box 1 — dished out a knowledgeable case for his cause.

"We are all aware that man's environment is a matter of major concern to legislative bodies, governmental agencies, citizen organizations and individuals in all walks of life," he said. "This concern is expressed by such topical listings as industry vs. ecology; growth vs. environment, and economic development vs. environmental values."

"The general approach to environmental concerns is one of an advisory relationship with developers, producers, harvesters, processors and other private enterprises being pictured as wearing the black hats in our society."

"It has been suggested that the private users of natural resources should not be so defensive with regard to environmental problems. A defensive attitude is not surprising if we recognize that we are close to the point where private enterprises who become involved in environmental conflicts are judged guilty before the discussion begins."

He said the United States has a long history of exploitation and wasteful use of natural resources. But we should remember that much of what we now view as exploitation was once considered necessary to the transformation of a richly endowed and vacant continent into a viable economic, social and governmental structure. Much of what we now view as wasteful, he pointed out, was accepted because the supply of land and water and timber and minerals was considered inexhaustible. The national philosophy was one of conquering the continent, including the native Red Man and the natural resources.

He also said the present concern about man's environment is not the first time. There were eras spearheaded by President Teddy Roosevelt and then by President Franklin Roosevelt.

"With their general disdain for history," Raam said, "few modern day conservationists (environmentalists) seem to understand the significance of the efforts of conservationists in the century since Yellowstone National Park was established, in 1872 and the first national forests were set aside in 1891."

Many dedicated individuals struggled against a national philosophy and public policies that emphasized economic development of the nation. If they had not been remarkably successful, today's environmental crusade would not have much to defend in the way of publicly-owned land and water resources."

So far as recreation is concerned it is now a major component in Idaho's economy as it is in the economy of Montana. The possibilities for development of recreation as a major factor in Idaho are being questioned by individuals and groups who are concerned about the impacts of increased use on the natural resources and others who would keep the resources as inaccessible as possible and limit use to certain kinds of users.

"Nationwide," the speaker said, "concern is growing for the needs and opportunities for nationwide recreation planning."

"Maximum opportunity for quality outdoor recreation experiences is the major consideration in planning," he said. "There is no doubt that the maintenance of wilderness and primitive areas meet a human need; however, for the vast majority of our population who have neither the physical capacity, the material resources, nor the time to utilize wilderness recreational opportunities, more comprehensive outdoor recreational opportunities must be made readily available."

"The role of the private sector in providing outdoor recreational opportunities must be recognized. The expenditure of public funds should be limited to those developments and purposes relating to resources development, rather than the provision of services."

"The operation of marinas, campgrounds, hospitality services and the like are best done by the private sector. Public funds should be used in providing access to recreational opportunities, improvement in basic recreational resources including the lands, water, game and fish which are common to the public domain. This can best be accomplished at the state level among the various interests affected."

So far as the nationally known and studied Big Sky development is concerned, Raam said "we began by creating an overall master plan which laid down some important ground rules for Big Sky's 10,600 plus acres."

"We decided that only 25 to 30 per cent of the land would ever be developed. The rest is to be left for recreation and wildlife preserves. Written into the master plan were some of the most stringent covenants and architectural controls ever put into effect, regulating future construction and landscaping. Improvements will be low density. Buildings will be finished in rough sawn wood and local stone."

"We eliminated the mistakes of the past. We bought up the outstanding logging rights within Big Sky, preventing the uncontrolled logging that would otherwise have taken place."

"We eliminated cattle grazing to bring back the underbrush and permit the return of small birds and small game and the forage for the late larger animals."

So that's how it is going up in Montana. President Raam's description was thorough and interesting. It showed what could be done through cooperation of many segments of western state living — and that boxing up an area for only one use is, in reality, unnecessary and the wrong way to go.

Times-News Public Forum

Let Them Speak

Editor, Times-News:

On November 7 the voters of Idaho will be called upon to decide a question our legislature seems incapable of solving.

The issue of limiting state agencies comes before us in Senate Joint Resolution 132 which provides for reduction of present state departments from 268 to a maximum of 20.

In 1919 this state had only 66 agencies. That year the Legislature abolished 40 of them and gave the Governor six weeks to consolidate the remainder into nine departments. This was done but the legislation contained no provision limiting future expansion and over the years, in response to legitimate needs, buck passing and political pressure we now have an unwieldy structure that does not represent or respond to the wishes of the people. Inefficiency, duplication and red tape, coupled with political hasseling seems the trade mark.

In 1949 and again in 1965 the Legislature tried to cope with this problem. Over $100,000 was spent without result. Now simple arithmetic tells us that interest on that sum over a period of 23 and seven years would have amounted to $104,800 had it been invested in Treasury Bills. (Give or take a few hundred dollars).

The futility of political action was again demonstrated when Gov. Andrus proposed at the last session of the Legislature, that the number of state agencies be reduced to no more than 20 departments. Again the Legislature mired down in partisan politics and the buck passed to the people at the coming election.

SJR No. 132 is the bi-partisan measure presented by a committee composed of five Democrats and five Republicans. It provides for 20 state departments with all the powers and duties granted under Idaho Constitution to elected officials. It also provides that only by vote of the people can the number of departments be increased.

This plugs the loophole in previous legislation whereby a Legislature could, and did, circumvent the law and appoint or create agencies without regard to need or functional relationship.

SJR No. 132 merits close study and decisive action by the voters. A more efficient and responsive operation of state affairs should take precedence over petty partisan politics. It seems appropriate to give our Legislators guidance in this matter. Informative meetings are being scheduled in every county and the public should avail themselves of this opportunity to gain some insight into this proposal.

Big Brother?

Editor, Times-News:

Burley is a clean, well-organized, progressive community, and I think all of us here in Cassia County are proud of this fact. We should be. We helped bring it to pass. But should we let the smaller communities dry up in order to keep the big one in splendor? If we push the "big brother" trend too far, we could end up with our state agencies, colleges, and many businesses in Boise. Would this be good? If the small communities begin losing their schools a regressive trend could set in that is neither good nor necessary.

Cassia County has people, wealth, and many other resources. If we put them to use wisely and fairly we can develop each community to its fullest potential. Most of us realize that Burley needs additional school facilities and most people would be willing to help finance the necessary improvements along with the needs of the other schools.

We have previously suggested bringing students from the congested schools to those that aren't. In some cases this would involve extra transportation for them. This isn't good, but to justify it they would move into uncongested schools, which would in turn relieve the crowded conditions in the schools they left. Also, this would put junior and senior high students from the same family on the same bus going to the same school.

The increased enrollment in the small schools would make a larger curriculum possible. We would then be fully using existing facilities. At that time, if it were felt necessary, we could begin to expand, replace, or improve the building throughout the county to make our system satisfactory.

This approach would meet our needs with less money and antagonism and make Cassia an even better county. Cliff and Ann Woodhouse

Nixon And Promises

Editor, Times-News:

We feel that the American people deserve better than four more years of broken promises and socialism from Mr. Nixon. One example of the broken promises is that Mr. Nixon promised to stop aid and trade with our enemies, but because of the Red China trip he has been covering up the fact that most of the heroin coming in to the United States is coming from Red China. The president himself actually boasts that there are now twice as many arrests for crimes related to drug use as when he was inaugurated — without explaining that this increase is mainly due to his own policies and permissiveness.

Allan C. Brownfield confirmed in the Capitol Hill Roll Call for Sept. 7, 1972, that the suppression by the Nixon Administration of information about Red China's production of heroin may be "one of the prices being paid for allegedly better relations." Brownfield noted that "this fact is well known to most Asians as well as to European narcotics experts."

Congressman John G. Schmitz, American Party candidate for President, in his Sept. 13, 1972 Weekly News Report revealed the contradiction between official testimony of a retired Marine Corps General, Lewis Walt, of long service in the Far East, and a report of Mr. Nixon's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

The newsletter continues as follows: "Evidently alarmed by the rapidly accumulating evidence of massive Red Chinese involvement in the heroin traffic and stung by the persistence of those who will not keep quiet about it, the Nixon Administration has now gone so far as to officially deny that any significant amount of the heroin that is blasting the lives of six hundred thousand Americans today comes from the poppy fields of Red China. This almost incredible statement has to be branded for what it is: an outright lie. Reasonable men may differ as to the percentage of the heroin sold to drug addicts which comes out of Red China, but in view of the fact that this percentage is reliably estimated as high as 80 percent, to say that there is no significant amount cannot possibly be true."

The newsletter then goes on to pile up evidence of other falsehoods emanating from the same sources, about the role of the Red Chinese in this deadly, organized and gigantic criminal activity that is aimed primarily against the youth of America.

You can help stop this flow of killer drugs. Help elect John G. Schmitz for President, a man with proven integrity who will not play politics with the lives of his fellow countrymen. His two main platform statements are: "Do not go to war unless you plan on winning" and "Those who work should live better than those who don't." Vote positive this year instead of voting for the lesser of two evils. M-M Adrian L. Arp

About Gun Control

Editor, Times-News:

Apparently Democrat William (Bud) Davis who is seeking a seat in the U.S. Senate, as a representative for the people of Idaho, doesn't know what's in store for him when he asks Senator Ted (Hero of Chappaquiddick) Kennedy to endorse him for that important job. Especially in a state where the majority of its population is strictly against any form of firearms legislation; and the "Great Lover" from Massachusetts who has repeatedly failed to get his restrictive firearms legislation passed in the senate, is without a doubt looking for more recruits to maneuver into his way of thinking concerning gun control. Or better named as "People Control."

In my opinion, Davis should have known better than to seek support from a man who has practically dedicated his entire political career to disarm ALL the people of this country, and using crime as a gimmick to get it done. While on the other hand when given the opportunity to vote for a mandatory jail sentence for anybody using a firearm during the commission of a felony, the "Hero of Chappaquiddick" voted against such a bill, as did many of his contemporaries who had also introduced firearms bills at this last session of the senate. Apparently crime is not the factor in taking our guns away, but some other infectious motive is in the making, using the crime rate as the excuse.

I urge all voters of the state to consider these facts when they go to the polls in November. Although Bud Davis may be a good man, we cannot take chances in getting another politician elected to the senate who may follow the times of the greatest anti-gunner of the senate. Everywhere else in this country, anti-gun politicians are taking a terrible beating at the polls. Anybody that is going to be supported by Sen. Kennedy, will no doubt be obligated to perform certain favors to our "hero"; and Democrat William "Bud" Davis will be no exception to that rule.

Congressman Jim McClure has repeatedly voted against any kind of firearms control. So every gun owner in the state of Idaho should certainly remember this is an issue when it comes down to the wire in November. Firearms and Idaho have been synonymous since pioneer days, and I see no reason(s) that it should be changed now. Do you?

On Wages

Editor, Times-News:

Why is it that I am not better off than a year ago, two years ago, three years ago?

The answer to that question is really an indictment of the entire system of economic maneuvering that has pervaded the U. S. for the past several years. The workers' wages are rigidly controlled so that, even if the economic posture of the nation were improving, he is unable to negotiate himself a fair portion of that improvement.

What small monetary gains he makes are slowly eaten up by the rampant inflation that, to date, shows no signs of subsiding. And, finally, the third element that inhibits workers from realization of any noticeable benefits from today's pseudo prosperity is the fact that the gravy is going into the vaults of big business in the form of exorbitant profits.

There seems to be little reason to wonder where the property went. Given the high prices and high profits encouraged by the Nixon administration, there just ain't nothing left for good wages. Besides, the law says good wages are inflationary.

Facts Of Economics

Editor, Times-News:

We would like to explore a few facts of economics. These particular facts have to do with schools. We have been told that consolidation will be more economical. We have also been told that the rural areas do not carry their weight in financing of their own schools. Here are some facts: Due to their locations, Oakley and Raft River attendance areas qualify for sparsity factor money from the government. This money goes to the district.

Here are some comparative figures: Income per student—Burley attendance area — $97.35; expenditure per student — $18.02. Income per student — Oakley attendance area — $82.28 (inc. sparsity factor); expenditure per student — $51.70. These figures are for 1970-71. Do you see, that the Oakley area is putting over $300 per year, per student into the "kitty" in the district office? If that money were spent in Oakley for just two years, it would solve all the accreditation problems we have as far as building facilities are concerned. However, Burley is sporting several new classrooms thanks to this money. We believe this makes it clear that the people of Oakley are not being subsidized by Burley tax payers.

Another economic fact: Consolidation can create nightmares too. We need only look across the river to the Minico School District to see that consolidation did not solve their problems, academic or financial. That district is thousands of dollars in debt. It is impossible for them to maintain their attained level of grandness in athletics, academic offerings etc. on their income.

Each year the tax anticipation notices started earlier, until finally, in 1970-71, the tax anticipation limit was reached before the end of the school year, and it was necessary to wait until a new fiscal year started before paying for the remainder of that year. Due to limiting the numbers of assistant coaches and some of the academic offerings, they hoped to maintain the level of indebtedness for 1971-72. Not get out of debt, just not sink further.

We believe that it is our right, as parents, taxpayers, and U.S. citizens to educate our children close to home in an environment which we believe is beneficial to their proper development. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce C. Boren

A Big School?

Editor, Times-News:

Why do our school board members (as a whole) want to have a big school in Burley? A high school student is not able to take more than six (or seven) subjects during the day. If he wants subjects other than what he can get in his own school, let him do the traveling individually. Are athletics so important to our school people that they will go to all the expense and dangers (in the winter) of busing our children back and forth from one town to the other?

We feel like our intelligence is being insulted when the same bond (if not a bigger one) for practically the same plan of action is pressed upon us again, after having voted it down repeatedly for the same reasons.

We want every real need of the schools in our county taken care of, and especially do we want to keep our own high school right here in Oakley where we can look after it, even if we have to take drastic measures to keep it.

Chairman Brown evidently doesn't care about the feelings of the people of the county when he says that the Burley attendance area should be able to pass anything. But, Dr. Brown, there seem to be a lot of people in Burley who do not want their junior high students bused to Oakley.

If the officials in our state are getting out of hand, let us write to our state legislators. We do not want 100 percent state funding for our schools because we do not want state control of our schools. We do not even want complete county control of each of our schools. There are those in our county who think they can eventually wear us down until we will agree to anything to get the matter settled, but this is not true of the Oakley Valley Improvement Group.

Beyond Reason

Editor, Times-News:

The political rhetoric concerning the question of health "rights" has obviously proceeded beyond reason. No longer is the question of accessibility to health care the question. Now good health itself is the promise of some. I could not better spotlight this illusion better than by quoting John B. Thomson, M. D. in the Journal of the Tennessee Medical Association.

"They actually said it! The Democratic Party Platform Committee has said: 'Good health is the least this society should promise its citizens. We endorse the principle that good health is a right of all Americans.'"

Americans are overweight and flabby, consumption of cigarettes is increasing in spite of all the warnings about the hazards of smoking. Abuse of drugs — legitimate and otherwise — is on the increase. The atmosphere and water are being made health hazards by our unwillingness to control our wastes and worst of all, we continue to carry the most explosive of all mixtures — alcohol and gasoline — at top speeds over our highways.

"We can spend all our money and health care systems, and talk until our voices fail, but good health cannot be forced on those unwilling to receive it. Until the American people are willing to discipline themselves, 'good health' for every American is a vacant promise, useful only as political rhetoric."

TF trustees to discuss bond vote

Voting starts

TWIN FALLS — Absentee voting for the November general elections will begin Monday in the office of Twin Falls County Clerk Harold Lancaster.

Lancaster said voting Monday will be on paper ballots as the supplies for voting machines have not yet arrived. When the material is received, machines will be available for absentee voting.

Persons who will be out of town or otherwise unable to be at the polls on election day may vote absentee by calling at the clerk's office from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days.

Absentee voting will continue until election day, Lancaster said.

TWIN FALLS — Prospects for a bond issue in Twin Falls for additional school buildings will be discussed in two meetings Tuesday night.

Trustees of the school district will meet at 7:30 p.m. for their first full review of recommendations submitted in writing Thursday in the district office.

Members of the Citizens Committee for School District 411 will meet at 8 p.m. in the O'Leary Junior High School auditorium to discuss the recommendations submitted by their executive board, reaction from the school trustees and future plans. School trustees will also attend the citizens committee meeting.

A list of recommendations including one to delay the bond issue votes beyond the proposed date of Dec. 5 was submitted to the school administrators Thursday afternoon by Gary Custer, chairman; Daniel A. Slavin, vice chairman, and Sue Pack, secretary, of the Citizens Committee.

Trustees, scheduled to meet last Tuesday postponed their meeting because of a lack of a quorum. George Stauda, superintendent, said he has not been able to contact all members but those available will meet briefly Tuesday prior to the citizens meeting and will then attend the citizens meeting. Trustees were not present for the Citizens Committee meeting two weeks ago.

Other recommendations of the executive committee, based on ideas presented in the two general meetings the committee has held, called for: Immediate replacement of Happy Day School, regardless of a bond issue, and suggested a residence type building. Immediate attention by the district trustees to additional elementary school classrooms.

Retaining Washington School for either elementary classrooms or as a career type training center.

More career and vocational training programs in high school, junior high school and even in elementary schools, and employing a career education coordinator and the final recommendation for retaining Special Education facilities at the Robert Stuart Junior High School.

Executive committee members also called for continuing the committee to conduct further study.

Tuesday night the committee has arranged to have Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the State Health, Education and Welfare Committee, present to answer questions and discuss school matters. Joseph McCollum, member of the State Board of Education and Board of Regents will also attend.

A third speaker will be Roy Truby, administrative assistant to D. F. Engleking, state superintendent of public instruction.

Committee members say they hope the Tuesday night meeting will spark more public interest in the Citizens Committee efforts and will bring out a large attendance. In the two meetings held by the Citizens Committee, attendance has been small.

In the Oct. 3 meeting, reports were given by subcommittees on various studies and several committees indicated they did not know the CTA Architects-Engineers and Planners study of Twin Falls Schools was available.

The executive committee suggested copies of this survey and report be made available for wide public distribution and study.

The committee also recommended the school administration continue to provide advice and information for the guidance of the committee.

In the Oct. 3 meeting some committee members questioned the recommended priority list of school needs already established by the superintendent's office.

Stauda and John Wolfe, board chairman, both stated this was offered purely for the guidance of the citizens group. Stauda said Saturday his office and the board are grateful for the recommendations and this is what they have been waiting to hear.

"If this group feels Dec. 5 is too early for a bond election, this is what we want to know and certainly if they want more time we will agree," he said. "If we are going to have a bond issue in our district we want the people of the district to initiate the move and if the people do not want the bond issue and additional building program we wait to know it," Stauda said.

Wolfe said before the recommendations were received the board is anxious to hold the election as soon as possible if one is to be held because of the increasing building costs of 12 to 12 per cent annually.

"This would mean about $350,000 in one year's delay on a $3.3 million bond issue, and this would build a lot of classroom," he said.

Coalition urged to help schools

TWIN FALLS — The League of Women Voters will encourage citizen coalitions for improving education, according to Mrs. Roy Slotten, state board member.

Joyce Buersmeyer, Boise, state president, said, during a state meeting at Idaho Falls Thursday, "We are convinced that many groups are also concerned about the urgency of providing a better education for Idaho's children. Therefore we are encouraging our nine local leagues to join with interested groups to realize such possible goals as kindergartens, career education, administrative district reorganization, adequate funding and equitable distribution of available funds."

Mrs. Slotten said statewide distribution of general election ballot issue and candidate information is complete. This nonpartisan information is located at libraries and Chambers of Commerce throughout Idaho or can be obtained from local leagues.

Information on the American Party candidates for Congress was received too late for inclusion in the candidate sheets but is now available from local leagues. John L. Thibert, Twin Falls, is a candidate for the Second District Congressional seat and Jean Stoddard, Salmon, is the party's candidate for U. S. Senate.

Doli Obee, Boise, state environmental quality chairman, will attend a conference on solid waste management in Washington, D. C., Oct. 22-24.

Dorothy Mandillo, Idaho Falls, state land use and management chairman, has been appointed to the land use committee of the National League of Women Voters and will attend her first committee meeting in Washington on Nov. 1.

Flow shut off Tuesday

Kennedy links vote, peace effort

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy told a news conference Friday he cannot help but believe current American peace efforts in Paris "are not unconnected" with the fact a presidential election campaign is coming to a close.

Kennedy said that while he hopes and prays peace can be achieved in Vietnam, he cannot ignore the obvious political ramifications of foreign advisor Henry Kissinger's secret talks in Paris.

"I can't help but believe they are not unconnected, but the fact we are getting into the final days of a national election," the Massachusetts Democrat said.

Kennedy came to Idaho for a three hour visit on behalf of senatorial candidate William E. "Bud" Davis, and Congressional hopefuls Ed Williams and Willis Ludlow and the party's national ticket.

He urged election of David, president of Idaho State University, saying he would provide the type of leadership needed by the state.

"We need new dynamic men like Bud in the senate because he is the kind of candidate who can bring positive and progressive leadership for the benefit of all the people of Idaho," Kennedy said in remarks prepared for delivery at a $25 per plate luncheon.

"Bud Davis is a man who would be everybody's senator, because he is a man who cares about the people and their problems," Kennedy said.

Kennedy lambasted the Nixon Administration's record not only in its conduct of the war but on the domestic agriculture front.

He said in his travels around the nation he has found the farmers enormously distressed with the huge windfall profit made by exporters in the nation's grain deal with Russia.

He said he found the public equally distressed with the Watergate caper and the alleged tie-ins between it and those high on the Committee to Re-elect the President.

Kennedy said farmers are distressed with the movement of agri-business into farming and called the Nixon Administration's rural development program is "a sham and a farce."

Kennedy said 140,000 farms have closed in the last three and one-half years in this century and "I don't think that's a record of sensitivity to the problems of rural America."

In his prepared luncheon remarks heaped high praise on Idaho Sen. Frank Church saying, "His most recent triumph is in the mails this week," Kennedy said. "Thanks to the concern of Frank Church for the rights of the elderly, checks are now going out with a 20 per cent increase in Social Security for millions of senior citizens."

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., whose Senate subcommittee will investigate alleged espionage and sabotage by Republicans, denounced the Watergate Incident Saturday.

"Watergate is unique, he said. "It's a major effort by one political party to destroy the other. "If the Republicans are doing this kind of thing now, what will they be doing in four more years? Is anybody safe?"

In campaign appearances in Butte and Salt Lake City for Sen. George McGovern, Kennedy discussed the forthcoming investigation but would not say if open hearing will be held before the election.

He plans to call a meeting of his administrative practices subcommittee after "sufficient investigation has been developed." "But it will be a decision by the subcommittee and not by myself. "I've given those assurances to the subcommittee."

Welfare donations sought

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for the Idaho Welfare Rights Organization (IWRO) asked those attending a luncheon for Sen. Edward Kennedy Friday to contribute to a fund for poor children.

"Revenue sharing is going to result in a windfall of some $19 million for the state of Idaho," Mrs. Linda Oloizia of Boise told a news conference.

She said Gov. Cecil D. Andrus may spend more than $6 million in any manner he wishes. She said the IWRO recently petitioned the governor asking that he use one-sixth of the money to rescind the 11 per cent cut in aid to dependent children.

"That cut, because of alleged shortage of state funds, went into effect Sept. 1," Mrs. Oloizia said. "As a result, over 16,000 Idaho children are suffering from hunger, inadequate school clothes and poor housing."

"Gov. Andrus has been too busy to meet with members of IWRO to discuss using some of the federal revenue sharing money to feed and clothe poor children," she said.

She said her organization was referred to Andrus' state coordinator of federal programs Roy Haney, who suggested that "because federal revenue sharing funds could not be used to match other federal money, IWRO should raise money from private sources and that money then given to the State of Idaho."

"Money raised in that way would then be used to obtain federal matching dollars," Mrs. Oloizia said.

She said under this plan, Idaho's poor must raise "only" $460,000 to match approximately $1.5 million in federal funds.

Reached by phone later, Haney reiterated his earlier statement that private donations were "much more viable" than asking the governor to "simply give out the $1.6 million."

"They (IWRO) seem to be assuming we can spend that money with no problem," he said. "But it would create a state deficit of $5 million, or $6 million."

Haney said a bill pending in Congress called "fiscal relief for states" — in essence, a welfare reform bill that would raise the federal matching share "so the states wouldn't have to put up as much to get federal money."

US planes help stall new Communist drive

SAIGON (UPI) — American planes took advantage of improving weather to fly more than 500 attack missions over North and South Vietnam to help stall a new Communist drive, the U.S. command said Saturday.

On one of the 330 tactical strikes over the north Friday, U.S. Air Force Capt. Jeff S. Feinstein of East Troy, Wis., downed his fifth North Vietnamese MIG fighter and became the fifth U.S. air "ace" of the war, the command said.

There were 148 tactical strikes in South Vietnam during the 24-hour ending at 5 p.m. Friday and the command said B52 heavy bombers ran 37 missions on both sides of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) during that time.

The total of 516 missions throughout the divided country was the heaviest of the week. Monsoon weather over the north earlier had kept bombing at a low level.

In South Vietnam, fighting continued north of Saigon, but field reports indicated little action in the Central Highlands, where Communist forces captured two strategic bases this week.

The U.S. command said two American aircraft were lost over the North Tuesday and Thursday, and that all four crewmen were missing.

Near Phnom Penh Saturday Soviet-made 122mm rockets tore through a Cambodian Special Forces camp, killing one Cambodian soldier and wounding 10 others. One warehouse was gutted by the rockets in the camp four miles northwest of Phnom Penh.

On the diplomatic front three of South Vietnam's most important ambassadors were called back to Saigon for urgent consultations with President Nguyen Van Thieu Friday.

Tran Kim Phuong, ambassador to the United States, had no comment to newsmen's questions in Saigon concerning the continuing peace negotiations. Also summoned for talks by Thieu were the ambassador to Britain, Vuong Van Bac, and the ambassador to Paris, Pham Dang Lam.

The new air ace, Feinstein, 27, is a weapons systems operator in a U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom flying out of Thailand.

Fighting in villages north of Saigon continued in a scattered pattern Saturday as government forces and Viet Cong troops clashed repeatedly. Field reports said the hamlets of Xom Suoi and An My—about 22 miles north of the capital—were retaken by South Vietnamese units for the first time since the mini-offensive in that area began five days ago.

Demos plan new charges

By United Press International
Sen. George S. McGovern will spell out charges next week that the Nixon administration grossly mishandled the government cotton program to the detriment of farmers and consumers, the chairwoman of the Democratic National Committee said Saturday.

Mrs. Jean Westwood told a news conference in Boston that because Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz made an erroneous projection on world cotton needs, U.S. farmers were told to plant 10 per cent more acreage and "the result is that we have a three billion bale surplus."

The Democratic presidential candidate was in California, invigorated by a massive turnout for a San Francisco appearance Friday that exceeded crowds drawn in past election years by either John F. or Robert F. Kennedy.

There were 20,000 enthusiastic listeners inside the Cow Palace and several thousands stood outside to hear his speech over loudspeakers.

Because of a late arrival in San Diego, McGovern started his campaigning late in the morning with an appearance at Balboa Park. His day was to be climaxed by a rally in Los Angeles where the vote may prove to be pivotal in his bid for California's electoral college votes.

President Nixon went into isolation at Camp David to put the finishing touches on a paid radio speech he will make Sunday on crime and drug addiction in which he will return to the law and order theme he used to win election in 1968.

Sea pact signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union today signed a three-year maritime agreement which provides important new arrangements for the shipping of goods between the two countries.

The agreement will open 40 U.S. ports and 40 Soviet ports to the ships of each nation, according to the text and accompanying documents released by the White House.

The agreement provides that vessels of each country will carry "equal and substantial shares of the trade between the two nations."

This means that both the United States and the Soviet Union can count on carrying not less than a third of the cargoes moving between the two nations, officials said.

Police, strikers battle

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Riot police clashed Saturday with anti-government demonstrators who tried to prevent the reopening of stores closed to support a truck drivers' strike that has crippled food and fuel delivery across the nation.

Police fired tear gas barrages at the demonstrators on Abundancia Street, Santiago's main shopping artery. The government stationed riot police with helmets and tear gas guns along the street to "guarantee" the safety of the merchants.

Interior Minister Jaime Suarez said at least 60 percent of the stores in the capital and other major cities had opened. The nation's six biggest business and professional organizations asked shops to close Friday to support the truckers.

Strike leaders said the walkout would continue until the government dropped plans to create a federal trucking authority in Aysen Province, about 800 miles south of Santiago.

The drivers struck at midnight Wednesday. They claimed that a government trucking corporation in Aysen would be the first step towards complete federal control of their industry.

Solons OK funds bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress gave final approval Saturday to a $30.5 billion appropriations bill to replace one President Nixon vetoed in August on grounds it was inflationary.

The measure provides funds for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Nixon vetoed the original bill on grounds it was $3.1 billion over his budget. To meet his objections, Congress inserted a provision permitting him to cut spending to $29.3 billion providing no program is sliced by more than 10 per cent.

OPEN LETTER TO ALL REPUBLICANS, DEMOCRATS and INDEPENDENTS.

From Mel Lucas, the Democratic Nominee for State Senator in the 25th District

Dear Voter

I care what happens to you, and propose to enact the following legislation, When Elected:

- A 25% raise in the Idaho unemployment benefits to help take care of our increased cost of living.
- No fault auto insurance for Idaho.
- Increases in Workmen's Compensation and Disability insurance benefits.
- Top State priority for Freeway and Highway construction, including starting the North-South freeway.
- More low rent housing for the elderly and disabled with State insured plan of financing and construction.
- Increased Pensions for the aged and disabled.
- Reform in Property taxes: $7,000 tax exemption on property tax for all citizens over 65. Taxes now are driving people right out of their homes.
- New acquisitions of parks for recreation areas and access to hunting and fishing areas for sportsmen.
- A six member Senatorial Advisory committee in Twin Falls in the 25th District, so that a closer contact can be established with the County and City officials and the people in this area.
- A District office in Twin Falls to be open full time for everyone, so that all problems relating to the people and the State of Idaho can be expedited help given to all.
- Establishment of the IYCC — the Idaho Youth Conservation Corps.

Details will be made available on the complete program. Support for the small family farm, which is the backbone of rural America and assistance given to help improve the family farm's marketing position. Vigorous enforcement of existing laws to prevent unfair price fixing and price discrimination.

Legislative support to protect the minimum flow rates in Idaho streams and rivers, protect water quality and legislation passed to keep special interest groups from taking Idaho water. These and many other programs — More JOBS, larger PAYROLLS and a secured economic future for all our Idaho citizens. The Committee to elect Mel Lucas for State Senator on November 7th would like to solicit your help and support for the campaign. We urge you to vote for Mel Lucas — and we will appreciate any financial or Volunteer help you can give us.

Beauty Is, by Bonnie Marshall, $3.25

Every girl wants to be beautiful. The author, a former model, discloses secrets for developing the uniqueness of one's own personal beauty.

Beginnings, by Carol Lynn Pearson, $2.95

This book offers understandable poetry written with a positive and spiritual purpose. It includes sketches that are brilliant and touching.

Dear Booklover

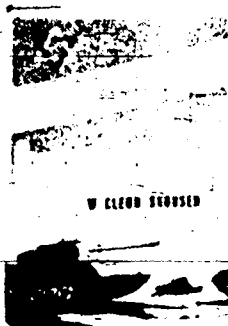

Thoreau rightly said that "books are the treasured wealth of the world." Expressing the timelessness of the ages as they link past, present and future, they are an inexhaustible chest of riches for mind and soul.

Whether you select it for a gift or for your personal use, a book has a profound potential impact. At the very least, books can entertain and delight — a welcome contribution to today's living. Good books can stimulate the mind, impart knowledge, enhance perspectives, deepen insights. Great books can transform lives as they motivate the heart and the will to fresh and fruitful effort.

A book is a special sort of friend. It brings the author into your home in his finest dress and manners and on your terms. There he converses or is silent according to your pleasure, offering his store of knowledge and his considered judgments, then patiently waiting while you ponder his conclusions. No relationship could complement you more.

As to that, good books are complimentary in the best way. As gifts, they complement the taste of both giver and receiver. As a personal library, they are evidence of sensitive discrimination. And as words molded into great and good ideas, they are infallibly reflected in your conversation, culture and character.

Be glad you can be a part of the noble world of books.

Fantastic Victory, by W. Cleon Skousen, $3.75

A brief, exciting account of Israel's 1967 miracle war. Only in its detailed historical setting can the significance of this startling victory be appreciated.

To Thine Own Self
by Wendell J. Ashton, $3.95

A popular Church author presents a collection of his brief, absorbing pieces. Vibrant with interest, they depict human living with a sparkle and spirit to which the reader unfailingly responds as he involves himself in the abundant stories and allusions. This is relaxing reading which serves also the purpose of subtly motivating the reader to be his better self.

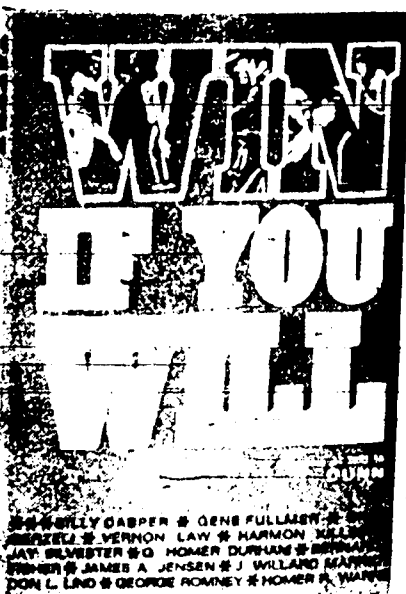

Family Faith and Fun,
by Monroe and Shirley Paxman, $3.50

A book to add variety and sparkle to family home evenings and to family living generally. Contains over two hundred ideas for attractive activities, catering all age levels. Completely compatible with the Church's home evening program, it emphasizes not only religious activities but many other areas important to personal growth as well as just plain fun — spelling out what to do and how to do it. Of immense value to every family.

Richard Evans Quote-Book, by Richard L. Evans, $4.95 (Deluxe edition $5.95)

A beautifully bound selection of the most choice quotations collected by Elder Evans forty plus years of writing the famed "Music and the Spoken Word." Selected with his discriminating judgment just before his death.

When If You Will, by Paul H. Dunn, $4.50

Thirteen fascinating personal stories of prominent LDS men who achieved top flight success. Accounts as told to the author by six well known athletes, a heart authority, an astronaut, a Congressional Medal of Honor holder, an administrator, an explorer, an educator, a business magnate. The stories underline the significance of observing gospel principles in seeking success in the world. Intensely readable and strongly motivational, this is especially recommended for Aaronic Priesthood youth.

Senate drives pushed

By United Press International
Both northern and southern Idaho got a taste of political action Saturday, as two of the state's Senate candidates took their campaigns to Pocatello and Kellogg.
Democrat William E. (Bud) Davis asked opponent James A. McClure why he allowed Idaho to be dealt out of the $34 million program to "plug" returning Vietnam veterans back into higher education programs.
Campaigning among a large homecoming crowd at Idaho State University, Davis said Idaho received "not one cent" from the $300,000 allocated from the program to northwest states.

"It is obvious that my opponent's connection with the existing administration is of questionable value when he cannot protect the interests of Idaho's veterans," he said.
Because the state's institutions of higher learning did not receive their fair share of the money, he added, retraining program benefits will not be available to veterans in their home state of Idaho.
Stumping Kellogg meanwhile, Republican Senate hopeful James A. McClure said close touch with Idaho residents is "an absolute must" for a Congressman.

Speaking at a raising dinner, McClure said he will continue to keep a district office in Coeur d'Alene and open an office in eastern Idaho if elected to the Senate.

"Response to the office in Coeur d'Alene has been good," McClure, a Republican from Payette, said. "And this is the only contact many people have with their elected officials."

"I believe the only way a Congressman can stay in constant touch with the people is through regional offices and direct mail questionnaires," he added.

Elsewhere in Gem State political action Saturday, Marge Miner, state chairman of the Idaho Republican Party, said Idaho people "should just now realize who Bud Davis' friends really are."

Referring to Sen. Edward Kennedy's stopover in Boise Friday Mrs. Miner said, "Kennedy spent most of his time in glowing praise of Davis, and he used most of the same words for Davis that he'd used earlier in the campaign for George McGovern."

"It should be difficult now for Davis to maintain the false 'moderate' front he's managed to keep up for so long, despite revelations of big liberal Eastern financing," she added.

13 aliens arrested in caravan

TWIN FALLS — Thirteen illegal aliens were taken into custody Saturday by city, county, state and immigration officers.

Twin Falls sheriff's officers received word of a caravan believed to include illegal aliens from Mexico enroute to Twin Falls from Burley. The caravan of trucks and cars was stopped on Interstate 80 north of Twin Falls shortly before noon Saturday. The caravan was reportedly bound for Ontario, Ore., where the men were planning to work in the harvest.

All were housed in the county jail in Twin Falls, until they could be taken back to Mexico by the immigration officials.

Officers said they do not know who was planning to employ the workers. A number of others, legally in this country, were involved in the caravan and were allowed to go on their way.

Gem PUC denies airline rehearing

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has turned down a rehearing petition from one Idaho airline seeking denial of a certification of convenience and necessity to a competitor.

In its denial, the commission referred to the original request April 18 made by Key Transportation, Inc. to prevent Trans Magic Airlines Corp. from flying passengers between Boise and Hailey-Sun Valley.

Its finding stated that Key had not proved sufficiently that granting a certificate to Trans Magic would hinder its own air service business.

"The public convenience and necessity in Idaho would be served by granting the additional authority requested herein, and therefore the commission cannot agree with the allegations of the petitioner," the opinion, written in May, said.

In its denial of a rehearing Friday, the commission said Trans Magic has been a "pioneer" in this establishment of an interstate network in Idaho, and added it is the only small commuter airline serving some routes within the state.

Patient care controversy resolved

BOISE (UPI) — The department of Environmental protection and health and the Mountain View-Caldwell Convalescent Center have come to an agreement on a recent controversy over patient care.

The center agreed in a Third District Court decree Friday to meet state regulations on patient care.

Dr. James Bax, administrator of the department, said he was satisfied that the decree would give his department the mechanisms needed to correct nursing conditions at the Caldwell center.

Wednesday, a Third District Court judge continued indefinitely a request by Bax's department for an injunction against the nursing home for some 50 alleged shortcomings in patient care.

Bax said at a press conference Thursday that he had contacted the department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Social Security Administration recommending decertification of the center as a provider of Medicare and Medicaid.

But Friday, Bax pledged the full support of his personnel in assisting the center in their effort to upgrade the facility to meet standards.

In the decree, signed by Judge Edward Lodge, the center agreed to "enter into a systematic program of staffing, training, record keeping, and care at the Mountain View-Caldwell Convalescent Center to insure consistent and high standard of care."

"We will place a full-time person in the facility to assist in rehabilitation of the nursing home to assist in and will make available all resources of the department in the effort," Bax said.

UF stands one fourth complete

TWIN FALLS — The United Fund total collections and pledges stood near the one-quarter mark Saturday.

Fund officials said tabulations completed after the first "workers' meeting Friday noon showed fund total to be $25,968 with a goal of $113,956. The initial report session, at the Turf Club, featured a talk by Mayor John Christoffersen.

Next report session will be Friday noon, Oct. 20 at a place to be announced.

Gem jail reform proposed

BOISE (UPI) — Describing some of the state's city and county jails as "sparsely equipped at best," an Idaho Women's Commission task force on jail conditions Saturday proposed an all-inclusive penal reform package for delivery to the legislature in January.

Included in the committee's nine proposals, approved by the commission at its two-day fall meeting in the Statehouse, were home furlough for inmates, more women filling law enforcement slots, better nutrition for prisoners and more emphasis on vocational training for rehabilitation.

"Time hangs heavy and passes slowly for prisoners," said task force chairman Frances Sleep. "There should be more diversion — books, games, activities."

Mrs. Sleep described the group's three-day tour earlier this week through 13 city and county jails in Southern Idaho, and recommended the legislature consider the idea of regional jails as an alternative to the present city-county system. "There would be one facility for a multi-county area," she explained, adding that Idaho's first such jail is being built in Wallace to serve the state's five northernmost communities.

Funding for regional centers would be financed on a 50-50 basis between state appropriations and federal grants, she said.

In the meantime, however, Mrs. Sleep said, "we propose that county commissioners take a much closer look at their jails."

Priests held in Philippines

Assignment completed

BELLAIRE HIGH School principal, David McClure, sits among his morning mail in Houston, Tex., puzzled with what to do with all the eggs some of his students sent him. His commercial art class got the assignment to design an attractive container which would provide protection in the mail. All the eggs made it through the mail intact. (UPI)

MANILA (UPI)—Two American Roman Catholic priests doing missionary work in the Philippines have been arrested and placed in military camps on charges of violating the martial law decree, the government said Friday.

One of the priests, the director of a radio station in the central Philippines, was charged with "inciting to rebellion." The other missionary was charged with continuing broadcasts despite an official ban.

At the same time, the Philippine government announced a ban on travel abroad by permanent foreign residents and those on certain working status.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos gave the order in a letter of instruction to the secretaries of foreign affairs, justice, finance and national defense and to the governor of the Philippine Central Bank.

The president said travel clearance should not be given to permanent alien residents holding immigration certificates of residence or certificates of registration for pre-arranged employees.

The only exceptions, the president said, are those in the face of what he termed a foreign supported Communist uprising.

The government said the two Americans under arrest were the Rev. Bruno Hicks, 43, and the Rev. John Peterson, 35, both members of the Franciscan Order assigned in the Philippines.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad told a news briefing that Father Hicks was

The two priests are the only known Americans under martial law detention.

The two also are the only clerics still reported in detention in two military camps outside Manila along with more than 200 persons.

The Rev. Kiernan Kilroy, who said he was an associate of Father Hicks, told newsmen in Los Angeles that Father Hicks was arrested Sept. 26 and Father Peterson last Sept. 29.

traveling on official missions, scholars, immigrants, those with work contracts abroad and crews of ships or planes. The president earlier banned travels by Filipinos abroad with similar exceptions.

It was believed the order was issued to enable the government to investigate foreigners engaged in subversive activities. President Marcos proclaimed martial law last Sept.

charged with "inciting to a rebellion," an offense subject to trial by a military tribunal. Tatad, however, said it was not yet definite the priest would face a military trial since investigation was still going on.

Father Peterson was detained for continuing unauthorized radio broadcasts despite the closure order under President Marcos' martial law proclamation.

Undecided voters cut edge

NEW YORK (UPI)—An increase in undecided voters as well as a jump in the number of those planning to vote Nov. 7, has cut slightly into President Nixon's huge lead on Sen. George McGovern, the Gallup polling organization reported Friday.

The survey, covering the week of Sept. 29-Oct. 5, was conducted by telephone interviews with 2,311 persons across the country.

The survey indicated that 60.5 per cent of voters planned to vote for Nixon, 21 per cent planned to vote for McGovern and 18.5 per cent were undecided.

In the previous week's survey, Nixon's lead was 62.1 per cent to 21.5 per cent for McGovern.

Undecided voters rose from 12,954,000 to 15,045,000, the poll indicated. Those who plan to vote Nov. 7 increased from 79,133,000 to 81,106,000, or 58.5 per cent of qualified voters.

Released pilot expresses sadness for other POW's

GREENVILLE, Maine (UPI)—A pensive Navy Lt. Markham L. Gartley came home to a hero's welcome Friday, but expressed sadness for the American prisoners still being held in Indochina.

"I wish I could re-orient the emphasis away from me in particular and put it on all the prisoners," Gartley said as the 1,600 townspeople of this northern Maine resort community honored the 28-year-old pilot who was released last month after four years as a prisoner in North Vietnam.

"That's really what I feel is most important to attract public interest at this point," Gartley said in an interview.

Local residents, who remember Gartley as the star football player and valedictorian of the Class of '62 at Greenville High School, arranged a Friday night celebration at Mark's alma mater where he was to be given a red, white and blue automobile bought through contributions from across the country.

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis declared Friday "Mark Gartley Day" throughout the state. Stores in Greenville were closed all day, and "welcome home" banners were hung across streets and painted on windows.

Despite the air of gaiety in this small town, Gartley's thoughts were still on the war, the other prisoners, his four years in a North Vietnamese prison camp and his struggle to overcome the cultural shock of re-entry into American society.

"I felt more sorrow about leaving those guys," he said. "That's the hardest thing to get to when you come back. It almost overshadowed the happiness of meeting my folks."

Gartley, a bachelor, who is on a 90-day leave, will interrupt his Maine vacation with his family Sunday to fly to Washington, D.C., and attend a meeting of the National League of Families of POW's.

"I will be in Washington to tell them briefly of my experiences and recommend some specific benefits for prisoners when they come home that may or may not require some legislation. For one thing," he said, "they (the recommendations) will include a broad base retirement plan and future health care."

Street urchin chorus

AMONG those participating in the street urchin chorus for the forthcoming well-known opera, "Carmen," are, from bottom, Lisa Martiza, Julia Strobe, Scott Steel and Roger Cook. This is the first time in the history of Magic Valley a full-length opera has been produced with local talent. The event is set Nov. 3 and 4 at the CSI Fine Arts Center Auditorium, with a matinee slated Nov. 7. Aldrich Bowler is the director; Craig Morris, producer; Eugene Milton, chorus director; and Larry Curllis, orchestra director. Opera lead will be played by Roger Vincent, Mary Walker, Jay Fowles and Fredwyn Stauffer. The opera is being presented by the Twin Falls Music Club, a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and the College of Southern Idaho.

NEW YORK (UPI)—After a years-long study of many examples a scientist concluded that an extra female chromosome in the male's genetic makeup probably is much less meaningful and occurs more often than medical science has been supposing.

All males have one, an X chromosome, which is paired with the chromosome of male-ness, the Y, in the normal human complement of 46. How the X finds expression in maleness is largely unknown but at very least it enables the male to sire females.

Two X's in the fertilized germ cell, one of maternal, the other of paternal origin, results in a female. A male is the outcome if the male contribution was a Y rather than an X. The female can't contribute a Y. She has only X's.

Now and then there appears a male with 47 chromosomes in his cells, the extra one being an extra X. According to conventional medical belief the consequence is almost certain to be a sterile, mentally retarded, sadistically aggressive, antisocial individual with a "eunuchoid" body.

This belief is challenged by Dr. Zvi Laron, professor of pediatric endocrinology at Tel Aviv University medical school in Israel. His experiences indicate "Klinefelter's Syndrome," to give the condition its medical name, occurs much more often than once in every 450 births; that being the accepted statistic.

And more often than supposed—indeed, probably in the majority of cases—the consequence is "relatively benign," he said. The individual may turn out to be of normal or near-normal intelligence and behavior and capable of all masculine pursuits, including military service and being a satisfactory husband, although male, the so-called "super-male."

This last is no barrier to marriage in a time when artificial insemination and child adoption are freely available, he said in describing his studies in the American journal, "Hospital Practice."

Victims of Klinefelter's Syndrome have been stigmatized by "statistical bias," in his opinion. They have been sought and found in prisons and institutions for the retarded. Laron sought and found them in screening normal, prepubertal boys and following them into adulthood.

His deflating of the myth of the double X-Y male parallels a similar one of the X double-Y

Ducks poisoned

NAMPA (UPI) — Type "C" botulism poisoning has killed at least 2,500 ducks and a few wild geese at the National Refuge during the past month.

John Annear, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologist, said biologists have collected that many dead waterfowl and "it looks like we'll have another 500 or so before we're finished." He said most of the ducks that died from the poison were infected in late August or September. He said it appears that cold weather has stopped the spread of botulism in the shallow waters at the east end of Lake Lowell.

4 million for Idaho projects

BOISE (UPI) — Preparing its requests for presentation to the next legislature, a Permanent Building Fund cash flow status report today showed $4,380,000 available for new projects in fiscal 1975.

At a Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council meeting here, Public Works Commissioner Max Boesiger urged members to "ready" themselves with proposals for at least two years ahead.

"Since our projected 1975 balance shows enough money to move forward, we should be ready with some ideas," he said.

The fund's cash flow report listed expenditures of $12,900,000 to complete all authorized projects through fiscal 1975. It also showed $17,460,000 in total projected income for the same period.

Boesiger told the nine-member council the fund has been "hard pressed of late" to complete its study of the proposed Capitol Mall. He said the council would have to meet again next month to ready the study for presentation to the legislature.

"It's a matter of time and space," he said, noting the present parking problem for state employees.

"But even if we okay funding for the mall, it will still be two years before a building can go up, or parking facilities can be worked out," Boesiger added.

Filer PTO sets meet

FILER — The newly organized Parent-Teachers Organization will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Filer Elementary school.

Mrs. William Bunce will demonstrate the new reading program underway at the school. The new by-laws will be read and passed upon.

Officers of the new organization include Wayne Helms, president; Larry Kohstopp, vice president; Mrs. Kay Jones, secretary; George Ward, treasurer, and Mrs. Dee Hepworth, publicity chairman.

Worthy successor

LAGUNA HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Rufus shed his nickname of "the reluctant lion" Friday and proved himself a worthy successor to the late Frasier as king of Lion-Country Safari.

Until Friday, Rufus, a 15-year-old lion who came here six weeks ago from the Riverside Zoo in Wichita, Kan., had refused to come out of his night shelter to take charge of Frasier's large pride of widows.

Friday morning, a spokesman for the preserve said, Rufus voluntarily came out of his shelter when the doors were opened at 7:30 a.m. and headed straight for Lefty, one of Frasier's favorites.

They mated then and there, and then he accompanied her into the animal park where he repeated "every 15 minutes."

"This could go on all day," said the park's zoologist shortly before noon.

Rufus, whose equivalent age in human years would be 70 for 72, had previously mated with only one of Frasier's widows and that was Zona who was put in his night shelter soon after his arrival here.

Zona is pregnant and expecting soon, a spokesman said. But until Friday, Rufus, who had lived in a zoo all his life, had ignored the rest of the widows.

With his attraction to Lefty, who bore six cubs by Frasier, Rufus has come in to his own.

"He's a worthy successor to Frasier," the spokesman said.

Strip mining bill dies in adjournment rush

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to impose restrictions on strip mining was declared dead Friday, a victim of Congress' rush to adjourn.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield made the announcement, saying he had been unable to get agreement on a time limitation for Senate consideration of either a House-passed bill, or the Senate's own version.

"It is with reluctance that I announce...no bill dealing with strip mining, which is vitally needed, will be called up this week," Mansfield said.

His comment came after he assured senators that the leadership still expected to adjourn Saturday.

Mansfield said he would have preferred the House bill "because the Senate bill is too weak."

The fate of the surface mining bill became evident Thursday when Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott told newsmen its consideration was unlikely. The Senate passed a special resolution, with Mansfield's backing, to place a moratorium on granting federal coal leases in Montana for one year or until Congress enacts strip mining control legislation.

Strip mining, which has been assailed by environmentalists for its damage to the landscape, consists of scraping away topsoil to expose coal for extraction.

The House on Tuesday, in a surprisingly lopsided vote of 265 to 75, adopted a tough bill for its control.

The National Coal Association, which represents the major coal operators in the nation, lobbied strongly against it. Many advocates of the legislation said if the bill failed, a stronger push would be made next year for total abolition of strip mining.

Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., the most outspoken critic of strip mining, had obtained more than 100 co-sponsors on such legislation this year, including Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern.

Project nearing finish

TWIN FALLS — Contract for the current downtown improvement project on parking lots and alleys is nearing completion but several repairs must be made.

City Manager Jean Milar said Friday after inspecting several newly paved areas some difficulties have been encountered in proper drainage. The contractor has been attempting to repair these problem areas, Milar said, and the city is anxious to get all repairs made before winter weather when excessive moisture will be present.

Milar said the city engineer, contractor, sub-contractor and Urban Renewal officials inspected several of the areas Thursday.

The project has not been accepted and will not be accepted, he said, until a full inspection is made and all areas of the project are found to be up to specifications of the contract.

Downtown improvement work this year as well as the city's main street improvement program elsewhere in the city have been plagued by paving problems. Milar said the city and contractor are attempting to correct these before conclusion of the contracts.

Richest woman faces eviction

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—A circuit judge today played an eviction order issued against 75-year-old Mrs. Adeline K. Moffett, once reputed to be one of the world's richest women, for nonpayment of her $150-a-month rent.

The eviction order had been obtained by her multimillionaire landlord, John D. MacArthur, who said Mrs. Moffett owed him $950 in back rent.

In staying the eviction order, Palm Beach County Circuit Judge Hugh McMillan ordered a new hearing of the case sometime after Nov. 1.

He granted defense lawyer Peter Penrose's motion that MacArthur had not provided Mrs. Moffett sufficient time to gather funds to relocate.

Her attorneys claimed the former socialite's funds have gone to taxes and that her valuable belongings are mostly water damaged.

She said the damage was caused when roofers, hired by MacArthur, allegedly left their job for a weekend in 1969 leaving the apartment house roof uncovered and her apartment was inundated by heavy rains.

Frank Schell

From M.E.F., Twin Falls: Would you please tell me the value of a 1919 three-pence?

On the front is printed "Georgius V. D. C. Brinn. Omn. Rex F. D. Ind. Imp." Also, three-pence 1911 — looks like flowers on back, on front "Georgius Vid. g. Br. Omn. Rex F. D. Ind. Imp." Also 1959 half-crown. A crown and coat of arms on back and fid. Def. on front, Regina Elizabeth, Dei Gratia. All in good condition.

Answer: All of your coins are standard issues of Great Britain. The 1919 three-pence of George the Fifth currently brings 35 cents in uncirculated condition; the three-pence of George the Sixth brings 20 cents in uncirculated condition, and the half-crown of Elizabeth the Second, 1949, is valued at $1.50, uncirculated. They are not scarce coinage.

From T.A., Jerome: I have a large silver coin, dated 1895, which is beautiful. It is about the size of our dollar and one side it has a picture of a woman dressed in armor, standing, with a shield in her left and a spear in her right.

There is a kind of square pattern scroll all the way around the woman, and above her it says "One Dollar." The other side has the same pattern around the outside, then a circle of small beads. There is some fancy scrollwork around it and a circle in the center with a kind of cross in it. Also some letters which look like Chinese writing.

I would like to know about this coin. It looks almost new. It is what is called a "Standing Liberty" coin?

Answer: Your coin is a British trade dollar. There is no "Standing Liberty" coin — the "Walking Liberty" half dollar of the United States may have you confused.

Control board cleared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to keep the Subversive Activities Control Board in business cleared Congress Friday and was sent to President Nixon.

The Senate gave final approval to a $4.7 billion appropriations bill that contained $350,000 to pay salaries of the board's members and employees, but it also stripped the agency of its only remaining duty — to investigate the loyalty of dissident political groups.

It "is an outrage," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who has led a fight to abolish the board. Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said the only thing the investigators have to do now is "draw their breath and draw their salaries." Sen. John T. Pastore, D-R.I., urged board members to resign.

Area fliers set accident meet

TWIN FALLS — Area fliers will attend an accident prevention seminar here Wednesday evening.

John J. Quinn, veteran weatherman and pilot with the National Weather Service at Salt Lake City, will be speaker.

Sponsored by the Twin Falls Fliers, Inc., the session, starting at 7:30 p.m., will be in the Shields Building, College of Southern Idaho. Lloyd Shewmaker and Ivan Skinner, officers of the flight club and Harry Merrick, manager of the Twin Falls City-County Airport, have been in charge of arrangements.

Installation set Oct. 20

SHOSHONE — Joint installation of officers for Magic, Wood River, Center, Richfield and Dietrich Granges will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 20, at Magic Grange Hall.

Mrs. Ira Kissler, Gooding, master of the Gooding Grange, will be installing officer.

Flying in, eastern Idaho's inter-mountain weather conditions will be the main topic covered. Participating with Quinn will be Mel Swan, Idaho Falls, coordinator for the Federal Aviation Administration at Fanning Field, and Jack Van De Reit, Boise, accident prevention specialist.

Princess wants to enter event

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Anne is determined to be included in the British riding team that will go to Russia where she plans to defend the European equestrian championship she won in Britain last year.

Friends said today the princess is confident her winning horse, Doublet, will be fit again for competitions long before the events in Kiev next year.

Though she has a heavy round of public engagements during the coming months, the princess will be at the Berkshire training stables early every possible morning to practice the finer points with Doublet before her official duties.

There is no government objection to the princess being included in a visit to Russia. The Foreign Office will make no official pronouncement until the matter comes up for formal consideration but the government's private view is that sport is above political considerations.

As a team member the princess would be treated just like her colleagues, subject to the captain's rules, and would stay in the official quarters with the rest of the team.

San Francisco State's college president quits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, a no-nonsense administrator whose tough policies brought an end to student rioting at San Francisco State College, resigned Friday after four years as the school's president.

Hayakawa, a short and stocky Japanese-American, burst dramatically into the troubled national academic scene in 1968 soon after he assumed the presidency. He climbed aboard a truck and ripped the wires out of a loudspeaker being used by dissident students and slipped away then hands when they reached for him.

Hayakawa also crated as many as 600 police onto the campus to keep classrooms open. He denounced strike leaders as "hoodlums."

President Hayakawa assumed office at a most difficult period, and with a specific assignment, to bring peace and order to a troubled campus," state university Chancellor Glenn S. Dunke said in a statement Friday. "He not only accomplished this objective with effectiveness and dispatch but in the doing of it became a national symbol of the turning point in the unfortunate cycle of campus turbulence which characterized the late 1960s."

Green Thumb

George Abraham

With geranium plants selling for a dollar or more in some areas, many home gardeners are looking for ways to save their plants for another year.

There are several tricks for saving plants.

(1) Store plants in tubs. Fill tub with peat or soil, set your potted geranium in the peat. Store several of them side by side in the peat, which is kept slightly moistened from time to time. Tub is kept in bright cellar or attic window, or sun parlor.

Attics which do not freeze make a fine place for geraniums in winter. If in a bright window the mother plants will bloom all winter. In spring, lift the pots out of tubs, cut them back about half, feed them a liquid plant food and watch them grow.

NOTE: One advantage to growing geraniums in pots outdoors is allowing you to lift the plants pot and all in the fall.

(2) Hanging upside down. Dig up plants and shake off soil. Place in perforated plastic bag containing a piece of cotton or rag. About two times a month you can add a tiny amount of moisture, or soak the cotton (or rag) and slide it into the bag. We've seen geraniums bloom in the bag. In March you take the plants down, soak them in a pail of water for half an hour, cut the tops back and pot them up in a mixture of 1:3 each sand, peat and loam. By the time spring rolls around the geraniums may look dead but you'll be surprised to see how quickly new growth appears. In full light and ample moisture the plants will send forth new growth and bloom for Decoration Day.

(3) Cutting plants back. Many cut them back severely now, and grow the plants in a bright kitchen window for a winter show. They'll get leggy (let them ramble) but their blossoms will be welcomed in the winter. If they get too leggy cut the tops back and root them in sand or perlite. These make good plants for 1973 show.

Home made potting mix. A member of the Men's Garden Club sent us his own "perfect potting mix" and we're passing it along. Wood shavings, 1 pint, perlite, 1 pint, peat moss, 2 pints, calcinated clay (kitty litter) 1 pint and sheep manure, 1 pint. Try it.

Squirreless tomatoes. Men who bring tomatoes to work in their lunch boxes get squirted when they bite into the juicy vegetable. If you're one who likes to eat whole tomatoes out of the hand, start eating it by biting into the bottom of it, not into the middle, as most of us do.

Planting tulip bulbs. The great debate today is: Should tulips be planted deep or shallow?

We think it's a mistake to plant tulips (or gladiolus bulbs) too shallow. Many nurserymen believe that deep planting prolongs the useful life of the bulb. That means you should plant 6 to 8 inches. Shallow planted bulbs tend to reproduce and will split up into several small bulbs which do not bloom well or at all the next year.

Al Moses, a commercial nurseryman for 40 years tells us, "When we were in the bulb growing business in a big way, we had this rule for bulb production, plant shallow, and for blooms plant deep."

We plant thousands of bulbs each year and the depth we use is six to eight inches. You can plant bulbs any time in the fall as long as the soil is workable. Some people have tulip bulbs which come up year after year, without ever bothering to separate them. On the other hand, many tulips will not flower or do poorly after the second or third year.

Rooting cuttings. If you're having trouble rooting cuttings of Impatiens, coleus, geraniums and other ornamentals, perhaps there's something wrong with your water. Many gardeners, according to the bulletin of the Men's Garden Club of America, say that "city" water from the tap causes stems to rot before they root.

If you're having this problem, next time use distilled water or rain water, or well water. Cuttings will develop roots in a couple days. If you still have trouble rooting cuttings in plain tap water, or any kind of water, switch to perlite, vermiculite or a mixture of sand, washed and peatmoss.

Basil chases flies. A reader writes: "I put a pot of sweet basil near my screen door and we didn't have a fly all summer."

Another writes: "Concerning mosquito remedies, my mother used to use salt. Wet the mosquito bite and rub salt on it, to relieve the itching and the swelling went away in a short time." Another says: "If mosquitoes bother you, rub the exposed areas of your skin with apple cider vinegar before going outside. I do that before working outside and I have very little trouble with mosquitoes."

Fuchsia indoors. Don't try to bring a big fuchsia indoors for winter growing. Your best bet is to take tip cuttings and root them for new plants. Or cut the parent back heavily and let all new growth come along. Yellowing of leaves is due to high temperature, poor drainage or too much water. Drooping of buds is usually due to hot, dry air, poor soils or insufficient light. Grow plants in bright window and give a uniform supply of moisture.

QUESTION BOX

F. R. of Twin Falls: "I have a pear tree that has not set fruit. I'm wondering if we should dig it up and discard it. Is there such a thing as a pear tree that is pure male and never bear fruit?"

If your pear tree hasn't bloomed, perhaps it's too young to set fruit or blossoms. Pear trees are notoriously slow in coming into bearing and we've seen some 10 years old or older which refused to bear. If they are growing under poor conditions, they take longer to bear.

If your tree is not making at least 6 to 10 inches of new growth each year and it does not have a good green color to the leaves, then feed it a plant food with nitrogen. Use an organic fertilizer, a liquid plant food such as 23-19-17, or add a pound of ammonium nitrate around the tree, reaching out to the edge of the branches.

D. F. of Gooding: A greenhouse operator told us that we should never use old flower pots because they contain disease spores. Is that true?

Old flower pots can pose serious problems, but there's no reason why you can't re-use them. Fungi or bacteria can grow into the pores of the clay pots, and when these pots are refilled with a potting soil disease can spread to the roots of plants. You can boil clay pots for 20 minutes to kill all harmful organisms. Plastic pots may melt if they are subjected to a temperature high enough to kill the harmful organisms.

Greenhouse operators can steam clay pots, or disinfect them against all organisms by using formaldehyde at the rate of 1 pint per 6 gallons of water.

NOTE: Formaldehyde is poisonous, has an offensive odor and the solution is irritating to the hands. Always wear gloves, and keep solution away from children. Be sure to let treated pots "air" out before using, since the fumes are toxic to plants.

Some gardeners dip their old clay or plastic pots in a household-bleach solution — 1 pint to a gallon of water — and it does a fairly decent job of disinfecting the pots.

Shoplifting isn't a schoolgirl prank — it's a crime. When you steal, you're a criminal. And they put you in jail. It's as simple as that.

Authorities are getting tough with shoplifters. No "second chance" any more. No "let's have a little talk" if you're a kid from a nice family. Today they throw the book at you. If you're too young for the penitentiary, you can still make reform school.

Even with a suspended sentence, you've had it. You report to a probation officer regularly. No college wants you. Your life becomes a nightmare.

Stealing is a loser's game. If you have a friend who steals, she needs a friend to warn her. Ask Mary G. That's her, staring at you.

Mind Your Money

Peter Weaver

There are times when you can't live with it and there are times when you can't live without it. What is it: sex, food, politics?

None of these. It's the humidity -- or lack of it. Too much humidity (water in the air) can make you feel rotten when it's hot outside. Too little humidity can make you feel rotten when it's cold.

Aside from making you feel uncomfortable, humidity extremes can also run up your fuel and energy bills. In an effort to cut down fuel bills, the Defense Department is now ordering the installation of humidifiers in many of the armed forces' base housing units.

Let's see how they figure it. It's a known fact that the more humidity in the air, the less heat the body needs to be comfortable. In summer, if it's hot and humid, we turn on the air conditioner. Our bodies want less heat when there's more moisture in the air.

In winter, when there's enough humidity inside a home, you can actually turn down the thermostat several degrees and still not feel the cold. By turning down the thermostat, of course, you can save money on your fuel bill.

It's been estimated that you can save as much as 10 per cent on your monthly fuel bill by turning the thermostat down five degrees.

How do you know whether your home needs more or less water in the air?

An easy way to find out is to buy a good precision hygrometer. Taylor makes wet-bulb, dry-bulb hygrometers for home use that give accurate humidity and temperature readings. They cost around $13.

The next question is: What's the proper humidity for the inside of a home?

Experts say a relative humidity reading of around 35 will keep you comfortable and will help keep your utility bills down. Unfortunately, in winter, homes that have to be heated usually have humidity readings down around 10 or 12.

When the humidity is this low, you not only have to keep your heat up higher to be comfortable, you also discover that the membranes in your nose and throat dry up. Some doctors say this dryness can make you prone to catching winter colds.

There are various types of humidifiers available -- some good, some bad. If you live in an apartment that has no central humidifying system (and most don't), you have two choices. You can get a portable humidifier for $100 or less.

It heats up water in a tank and blows it into the room. You have to keep filling it with water, and slime tends to form inside. The slime breeds spores and bacteria that cause allergic reactions in some people.

Apartment dwellers can also get a "self-contained" humidifier which does a good job with reasonably fuss-free maintenance. Because these humidifiers need their own permanent water and drain attachments, they can cost more than $500 installed. Aprilaire makes a pretty good standard model and you can get others modified to suit your specific needs.

For homes that have a central heating system, spray-type or pad-type humidifiers are the best bet. They cost around $100 to $300 installed. The spray-type can put out plenty of humidity and has a good drain system so water isn't left standing to form slime deposits. Spra-Kleen, Lennox, Minstronic and Aqua-Mist are the major manufacturers of spray-type units.

The pad-type humidifiers trickle water through a filter pad where it is blown into ducts by the furnace fan. Aprilaire and Autofole are the two major manufacturers of the pad type.

To be able to maintain a relative humidity level near 35, you may face the expense of installing double-pane or storm windows. But, over the long run, these windows can help cut your heating and air-conditioning costs.

Private visits urged

MOSCOW -- Tom Henderson, Nez Perce, said plans are being made to replace the traditional mass "senior days" trip to the University of Idaho campus with individualized visits.

Henderson is chairman of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho visitation committee.

He said high school seniors across the state are being encouraged to visit the campus earlier in the year with visits planned to include activities relating to the individual senior's expressed needs and interests.

Henderson said students will be contacted within the next two weeks through a postcard mailing which asks the senior to name a date for a visit and to indicate whether he needs to talk to financial advisors and outline areas of interest for study.

He said the visitors will be housed in dormitories and fraternities or sororities.

AUTOMATION

NEW YORK (UPI) -- The New York Stock Exchange's Block Automation System was inaugurated Jan. 26, 1970, when the first group of subscriber terminals was placed in operation. As of Dec. 1, 1971, the total number of member firm and institutional subscribers in the network was 130 institutions and 116 member firms.

Cassia school bond vote Tuesday stirs controversy

Passage of Tuesday's $2.95 million proposal would permit the first major classroom construction in Cassia County since 1960.

At Declo, an addition to the high school for use of grades kindergarten through nine and a new junior high gymnasium would be built at a cost of $800,000; the Oakley High School would undergo a $250,000 renovation and be converted to junior high use; $500,000 would build from seven to 10 new classrooms at Burley High; a multi-learning station would be added at Raft River High for $125,000; a $1.1 million elementary school would be constructed in Burley; and a $175,000 contingency fund would be established to cover inflationary costs, some renovations, and unexpected building expenses.

Other than the expected opposition of several unhappy property owners who think taxes are already too high (as fiscal agent's estimate set the bond's increased cost to the taxpayer at $13.23 per $10,000 market value) and the predicted "no" votes of many senior citizens who live on fixed incomes, most the negative votes are apt to come because of busing necessitated by the bond.

Cassia School Supt. Harold Blauer has estimated that under the proposal 200 students now in the Declo and Oakley High Schools will be bused daily to the enlarged Burley High, while 170 Burley junior high pupils will go to Oakley and Declo for classes.

Many rural residents have cried "Foul" at the idea of shipping their senior high children to Burley. An Albion mother said that she would not let her children be sent to Burley, that she would petition the school board and send them to Raft River High at Malta.

An allegation stemming from the busing issue accuses the Burley area of attempting to import high school students to insure Burley High's entry into and athletic success in the South Idaho Conference.

But most frequently voiced argument against the busing concept has to do with the uprooting of students from hearth and home. A news opinion written by the Oakley Valley Improvement Group, an organization considered unshakably adamant in its opposition to the bond, protested "the extra hours spent away from the home environment" and "the extra difficulties involved in transportation for the student who becomes involved in extracurricular activities, the ill student or the students who must wait after the school dismissal for the shuttle-bus to arrive and take them home."

The pioneer-bred social concept of a community based school probably deserves a good deal of credit as the source of the Cassia uproar.

Assistant Supt. Norman Hurst has said that according to his research, more than 26 independent school districts have existed in Cassia County since its settlement. The figure itself is not astounding in view of the geography of the county, but it does establish a precedence of administrative diversity.

Analysis

The word "consolidation" has been tossed around like a hot potato since Tuesday's bond issue was proposed. The term has been used loosely to mean the centralization of students at one site, although its true element, the vesting of administrative power in a central school board, has existed in Cassia County since 1948, when the area's several districts joined under the Public School Reorganization Act of 1947. The legislation reduced the number of Idaho districts from more than 1,000 to 117, according to Hurst.

The Cassia consolidated district's first building projects came in 1955 after the passage of a bond issue. Burley, Raft River and Declo High Schools were constructed that year and a gymnasium was added at Oakley High School.

The next successful bond issue came in 1959 and provided $1.1 million for construction of Dworshak and Albion Elementary Schools, added a shop to Burley High, and built additional classrooms at Oakley, Declo and Raft River high schools and Springdale Elementary.

No bond proposal has passed since then, although voters went to the polls in 1964, 1965, 1967, 1968 and in February of this year. The last proposal included a $2.35 million high school to house Declo, Oakley and Burley students.

Several private and governmental agencies have conducted studies of Cassia County's educational facilities.

One group, identified by Supt. Blauer as "six-respected Idaho educators," submitted 1967 survey results describing the district's schools as "overcrowded and physically inadequate." The survey added, "The problems of the district are large today and will be greater the longer they are not acted upon."

That the district needs school improvements is denied by few. Even Lynn Boren, secretary-treasurer of the Oakley Valley Improvement Group, acknowledged the advisability of a new elementary building in Declo, explaining that her group opposes the bond because it "includes so much that we don't need."

"The rural areas see the solution to the problem differently than the city area. It's just a marriage gone bad," she added.

Kendell Dayley, principal of Declo and Springdale Elementary Schools, was one of the few Oakley residents to speak out in favor of the bond issue. Citing the crowded conditions at most of the junior high schools, he said, "I think the junior high students are being deprived. And we are being parasitic on the efforts of our forefathers, who built the schools and left them to us to maintain and improve."

The rural communities want to keep their high schools — the school board and most Burley voters want centralized senior and junior high schools, thereby permitting an expanded curriculum, including more vocational training.

The conflicting interests go on and on. And the apparent irony is that all will be decided Tuesday.

Backhoe digs septic tank

Springdale pupils bused to Burley

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

SPRINGDALE — Springdale pupils will be bused to Declo and Burley for two weeks beginning Monday while school officials attempt to satisfy the health department.

The decision came Friday after the South Central District Health Department, Twin Falls, withdrew sanction of a plan to temporarily provide the elementary school with water from an approved portable tank.

The school district had planned to reopen the school Monday and use the tank water until a new well is drilled.

The health agency demanded Friday that both the new well and a new sewage system be completed before reopening the school, according to Cassia School Supt. Harold Blauer.

Cassia school trustees approved an administrative plan Friday that will send kindergarten through third grade pupils to Declo Elementary.

fourth graders to Dworshak, fifth graders to Southwest and sixth graders to Miller.

Blauer said all the students will attend full-day sessions with exception of the kindergartners under the Head Start program, who will attend Declo in the afternoons. He also explained that for the first two or three days all the pupils will be bused to Springdale first, where they will be picked up and taken to the various school sites.

Rex Weech, Burley, a school-hired well driller, began work at Springdale Saturday. The new well site is approximately 50 feet southeast of the building. Weech estimated that his job will take eight to 10 working days. He said that plans call for drilling 200 to 250 feet deep to provide enough water for irrigation of the school's three acres.

Replacement of the sewage system also started Saturday. By noon, the old septic tank had been removed and a cavity large enough to accommodate the new 4,000 gallon tank was dug.

The school district decided to build its own sewage system after a commercial tank vendor said delivery would take more than three weeks. Asst. Supt. Norman Hurst, who designed the system, said the large septic tank would be located near the old site in the immediate rear of the building, but pointed out that the drain field would be changed to run only west. The previous drainfield ran southwest and southeast.

Although school officials have estimated that students will re-enter Springdale in two weeks, Hurst didn't rule out a later date. He said construction of the septic tank alone will take more than a week.

Springdale PTA President Kenneth Peterson said he received phone calls from parents who fear that the school might be permanently closed. He said the work started Saturday was a definite indication that no such action was planned.

Many parents are hesitant about the busing of pupils, according to Peterson, because of Supt. Blauer's avowed wish to close Springdale permanently.

"Our people are concerned about Supt. Blauer's adamant attitude (in favor of the school's closure). Quite frankly, they don't like it," Peterson said.

A check of the record shows the activity on state land follows a pattern established on Idaho's BLM land. Attempts to secure leases began in the Ada-Canyon County area 18 months ago, and a little more than a year ago, companies began applying for leases in Teton and Fremont counties on the eastern side of the state. Gradually the oil and gas prospectors began pinching in toward the Magic Valley with their applications. This summer Gulf Oil made requests for numerous leases for the land in Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls and Lincoln counties while the other companies were filing lease applications for Elmore and Owyhee county land.

But while the filings for state land mineral leases follow the pattern already established on federal lands, one or two differences are noticeable.

For one, the Gulf filings include five applications made on state-owned land in Lincoln County, left untouched by oil companies filing on federal land.

The five applications made by Gulf are for one section, each, or a total of 3,200 acres.

In addition, the Anschutz Corp. has filed for lease rights on a total of 3,200 Blaine County acres. Blaine County was ignored by those filing for the mineral leases on federal land.

The number of filing applications made with the state office has increased dramatically in the past 18 months, beginning with filings made in the western part of the state by Standard Oil of California in February, 1971. Since that time, nearly 1,000 applications have been deposited with state officials, compared with less than 50 in the entire decade and a half previously.

The procedure for obtaining the actual lease rights with the state office is similar to the procedure with the federal

BLM. The state office makes a determination of the desirability of granting a lease and if the decision is favorable, the applicant must post a bond with the state as well as pay a rental fee of 25 cents per acre per year.

But, as is the case with the federal government, a state lease does not necessarily mean that an oil well can be drilled. For that, state and federal authorities must make yet another inspection to determine the impact on the surrounding area.

In the eyes of both state and federal experts, the current rush to file for applications is an indication of a nation-wide "energy crisis" that American industries may face in the future.

Oil companies, they agree, are willing to invest large sums of money to determine whether oil and gas do exist in commercial quantities under Idaho's land.

Greater federal funding forecast

LEWISTON (UPI) — Idaho's chief public school officer predicted Saturday that within 10 years up to 60 per cent of the school funding would come from the federal government.

D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, addressed the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers here.

"There are many programs in education we simply are not able to accomplish because of the problem of local and state funding," he said.

"It is already clear that we have to look to sources beyond our own local tax structure," Engelking said.

He said increased support from the federal level would not necessarily take away local control of the school districts, but that there would probably be basic guidelines to follow such as audit procedures and annual reports and other normal budget practices.

Engelking said both his department and the State Board of Education is depending on the PTA membership to help get necessary school legislation approved in the next legislature.

Moto-cross race set at Hailey

HAILEY — A moto-cross race will be held today in conjunction with dedication ceremonies for the Wood River Recreation Association's new facilities west of Hailey.

Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy will be on hand as will O'dell Franson, Shoshone, district manager for the Bureau of Land Management, and C. W. (Andy) Gardner, Blaine County commissioner. The three men all will deliver speeches during the dedication.

Registration for moto-cross races will be from 8 to 11 a.m.; practice laps available from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.; drivers meeting from 10:30 to 11 a.m., and racing at 11 a.m., followed by the dedication at 2 p.m.

Racing will resume at about 2:30 p.m.

President of the association is Dwayne Farmer. Other officers are Del Nicholson, vice president; Jim Hopkins, secretary-treasurer; Bill Osterstein, Jimmie DeBoard, and Wheeler, all directors.

Land dispute bill wins OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed legislation sponsored by Sens. Frank Church and Len B. Jordan to give citizens in eastern Idaho access to the courts in resolving land title disputes.

According to a news release Saturday from the two legislators' offices, all that remains for enactment is President Nixon's signature. Church and Jordan said the measure is designed to help those persons in Idaho who are adversely affected by the omitted lands problem.

The situation, they said, involves land originally surveyed during the 19th century by the federal government.

4 meets slated on Gem proposal

TWIN FALLS — Four public meetings have been scheduled in Magic Valley in the coming week to provide information on the proposal for executive reorganization of state government.

Joe Welch, associate director of executive reorganization from the office of Gov. Cecil Andrus, will attend each of the meetings to present a summary of Joint Senate Resolution 132.

This is one of nine amendments to be placed on the Nov. 7 general election ballot in Idaho. Meetings will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in Gooding County Courthouse; Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Lincoln County Courthouse, and Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in Room 117 of the Shields Academic building on the College of Southern Idaho Campus in Twin Falls, and at 8 p.m. on Thursday in the Rand R Cafe, Buhl.

The proposed amendment would limit the number of state agencies in the Idaho government. Welch will discuss only the executive reorganization amendment. In each of the meetings the county extension service is cooperating with the office of Gov. Andrus to arrange the informational meetings and all voters are urged to attend.

Discuss tour

1973 Times-News Magic of Hawaii tour slated

TWIN FALLS — The 1973 version of the annual Times-News "Magic of Hawaii" tour will depart Twin Falls February 12.

Al Westergren, Times-News publisher, announced Saturday space has been reserved for 55 tour members and that "the winter break will last for 10 full days and feature visits to four of the Hawaiian Islands." He said arrangements are being handled by Magic Carpet Travels. Air transportation will be on Pan-American World Airways (Pan-Am).

In announcing the tour date, Westergren also announced tour hosts would be Mr. and Mrs. O. A. (Gus) Kelker. Kelker is editor of the Times-

News and his wife, Betty, is a travel consultant with the tour agency.

The Kelkers have traveled extensively in the United States, Canada, Central America, Mexico and the Yucatan. They only recently returned from an extended exploration tour of Europe. It will be the second time they have hosted the Hawaii trip, having led the local group eight years ago.

Westergren said that Joe Salisbury, owner of the agency, has reserved air space out of Twin Falls and to Hawaii by way of Honolulu and on to Hilo on the Big Island. There reservations have been confirmed at the new Hilo Lagoon Hotel. Orchid gardens, the volcanoes of Hawaii

National Park and the Black Sand Beaches will be among places visited before proceeding to Kona with two nights in the delightful Kona Inn.

The group will then fly to Maui for a stay at the Maui Beach Hotel to be followed by another flight to the Island of Kauai for another two nights at the famed Kauai Resort Hotel. From there will come the flight to Honolulu where the last four nights will be at Denny's Imperial Hawaii Hotel.

The special program in the process of arrangement for Times-News tour members will include a cruise of Pearl Harbor and an afternoon visit and a dinner at the Polynesian Cultural Center. There will also be a briefing breakfast and a complete dinner at the Sheraton Waikiki luau the last night before the flight back to Twin Falls.

Westergren said more than 50 local merchants, as in past years, will cooperate in promotion of the tour and that a drawing about two weeks before tour departure will provide two free trips to the winter. Official entry blanks will appear in the advertisements of the various merchants participating and "bonus" coupons will be run in the Times-News from time to time.

Complete details of the trip will be available within a few days, Westergren said, and will be mailed to those requesting them. Such requests should be sent to Betty Kelker at either the Times-News, Box 548, or Magic Carpet Travels, Box MM in Twin Falls.

"The Times-News is happy to again sponsor this fine tour," Westergren said. "My wife and I were hosts for the first tour several years back and it was a wonderful break from the winter weather prevailing in this area at that season of the year. In only a few hours, thanks to jet planes which leave from Joelin Field in Twin Falls and from the coast, tour participants are out of winter and into summer."

Grain China bound

DANISH VESSEL Larua, Mersk has number 2 hold topped off with load of 40,000 tons of white wheat bound for China at Portland, Ore., grain elevators Thursday. It was first grain shipment bound directly for China in more than 20 years. Ship was to sail Saturday. Dreyfus Co. contracted for sale of 400,000 tons of American wheat in August. (UPI)

Production test results for TF dairy herds told

TWIN FALLS — According to Donald T. Youtz, Twin Falls county agent, 29 herds totaling 2,290 cows were production tested in September.

These herds are a part of the Twin Falls County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Testing supervisors, Ed Lynch, Kimberly, and Galen Slatter, Filer, reported the 29 herds had 1,992 cows milking and 298 dry cows.

Production averages for September, listing number of cows milking, total cows, average daily milk production and average daily butterfat production are:

Grain trader backs Russian shipments

BOISE (UPI) — A Chicago commodity trader says the reasons for the big Russian purchase of American wheat indicate a bright outlook for U.S. agriculture.

Howard Stotter, senior partner of Stotter and Co., said that in addition to bad weather conditions which limited the Russian domestic wheat crop, the Russians have embarked on a five-year plan to upgrade the dietary standards of the Soviet populace.

He said improving those standards will require purchase of various grains, such as corn and soybeans.

"I think when they want to increase their standard of living, they will call on us," Stotter said.

He said the Russians already have bought 37 million bushels of soybeans. To improve their meat and poultry production he said, American corn certainly will be required.

There were an estimated 7,550 sheep sold with choice range fat lambs 28.00-28.75; range fat lambs 27.00-28.00; ranch feeder lambs 25.00-27.00; odd rough feeder lambs 25.00 and down; light fat ewes 65.0 6.50-7.00; breeding ewes 3.00-6.00; good mouth ewes 12.00-15.00 a head.

Idaho potato crop larger

BOISE (UPI) — Potato production in Idaho this year still is expected to total 78.79 million hundredweight or two per cent more than last year, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Friday.

The 1972 crop is expected to be harvested from 306,000 acres, down 13,000 from 1971.

Potatoes matured earlier than usual this year because of earlier planting of the crop, the report said. Most fields had died naturally or had been sprayed to kill vines by the time of the first killing frost Sept. 25.

Gem aide credited with cut

BOISE (UPI) — A freight rate specialist has been given credit for the 10 per cent grain hauling fee reduction by the Union Pacific Railroad.

State Agriculture Commissioner Oscar C. Arstein said Thursday Robert Henry, a specialist for Idaho Wheat and Bean Growers, got the company to reduce its freight rates through extensive studies and negotiations with railroad representatives.

He added that "this might mark the first time in history anyone has ever talked the railroad into reducing rates."

He said the lower rate will mean a price gain of about four-and-one-half cents a bushel for the growers.

Valley Weather Report

Showers due in Valley

Southern Idaho — Variable cloudiness today and Monday with a few showers or thundershowers, mainly in the mountains; chance of showers increasing tonight and Monday. Turning cooler at night with low readings in the 30's; highs both days in the 60's. A strong cold front is expected to push deeper into the nation's midsection Sunday, bringing chilly 40 and 50 degree temperatures to much of the northern half of the country. Farther south, on the other side of the front, balmy 80 and 90 degree readings are to rule. There is some light snow expected over portions of the Great Lakes region and heavy rains continued to batter the central California coast. But most of the storm activity was centered along a band where the cold Canadian air pushed into the much warmer tropical air. Heavy rains and thunderstorms were predicted for parts of the Southern Plains, down into northern Texas and across to the Atlantic coast.

Coastal winds power source?

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—The high winds of the Pacific Northwest coastline may be used in the future to generate electricity.

Dr. E. Wendell Hewson, who heads a team of scientists from Oregon State University working on a three-year $44,500 grant from private utility companies, envisions groups of giant fans 100 feet in diameter, built on platforms and powering electric generators.

"If there's any place in the United States with the potential, it's the Pacific Northwest. The winds sweep right in off the ocean unobstructed, strike the coastal range and are uplifted with a corresponding increase in velocity," Hewson said.

Hewson, the chairman of the Department of Atmospheric Sciences at OSU, said the British researched aero-generators after World War II, and an aero-generator at Grandpa's Knob, Vt., was built and produced 1,250 kilowatts of electricity. Both projects were victims of the belief that atomic energy was the "ultimate" power source.

It would take an average wind velocity of just over 12 knots to make the 10,000 kilowatt generators feasible, Hewson said. Winter wind readings at test spots along the Oregon coast have ranged from more than 15 knots average to 9.7 knots.

Idaho construction totals for August show increase

NEW YORK — Construction in Idaho during August is up sharply over the same month in 1971 according to F.W. Dodge Division, McGraw Hill Information Systems Co.

Construction contracts for the first eight months of 1972 are also more than double the amount for 1971.

August construction figures for August provided by the firm include:

Non-residential, $6.15 million, up 73 per cent from $3.55 million in the same month a year earlier.

Residential, $10.83 million, up more than 100 per cent from $4.35 million in August, 1971.

Non-building, $16.41 million, up 61 per cent from $10.18 million in August, 1971.

Total construction, $33.4 million, up 85 per cent from $18.08 million in August, 1971.

Figures for the first eight months of 1972, compared with the same period in 1971:

Non-residential, $50.65 million, up over 100 per cent from $24.92 million.

Residential, $56.14 million, up 50 per cent from $37.46 million.

Non-building, $104.52 million, up over 100 per cent from $42.37 million.

Total, $211.31 million, up over 100 per cent from $104.75 million.

Condition

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's three bank regulatory agencies issued a call today for statements of condition of all banks as of the close of business Oct. 10.

The order applies to banks supervised by the Federal Reserve, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the controller of the currency.

The announcement was one of two annual surprise calls in which banks must open their records for examination by the federal agencies. There also are two regularly scheduled examinations on Dec. 31 and June 30.

absorbed by Redwood

SAN FRANCISCO — Redwood Bancorp., which operates five banking offices in the San Francisco Bay Area, has agreed in principle to acquire National Mortgage Company, Salt Lake City, for approximately 45,575 shares of Redwood Bancorp. stock.

The combined real estate loan portfolio of National Mortgage and Redwood Bancorp.'s mortgage banking division would exceed $100 million.

Announcement of the agreement was made by Byron W. Leydecker, president of Redwood Bancorp., and John E. Papanikolas, president of National Mortgage, which also operates branch offices in Tucson and Idaho Falls.

National Mortgage, which services real estate loans of $35 million for 15 institutional investors, would continue to operate under its present name. Redwood Bancorp.'s mortgage division currently services mortgages for 24 institutional investors with $70 million in loans.

TWIN FALLS — A new concept in home construction has come to Twin Falls in the form of Unique Builders.

The firm, started by Alex Brehm, Jerry Shane and Stan Rose, all of Twin Falls, offers the opportunity for total building from design to construction to decorating.

Unique Builders offices are in the Shane's Furniture Building on Shoshone Street North.

Shane said the firm offers a combination of talents often needed by the person thinking of building a new home or remodeling an old one.

Shane is a furniture expert, Rose an interior designer and Brehm is a home builder.

The firm presently has three new homes under construction.

TWIN FALLS — R. N. (Dick) White, Small Business Administration loan officer, will visit Twin Falls on Oct. 26.

Appointments to confer with White should be made by calling the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, 733-3974. Ray Rostron, chamber manager, said, White's visit is a cooperative venture with the chamber.

volume grows

CHICAGO — A 61.0 per cent increase in September trading volume on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange contributed heavily to a 41.0 per cent rise in the first nine months of 3.34 million trades exceeded the total for any previous full year in exchange history except for the record year of 1969, Harris said. It compared with 2.36 million a year ago. The 1969 full-year total was 3.79 million.

Trades in September totaled 384,118 compared with 238,650 a year earlier. It was the 13th successive month in which the year-earlier month's volume was surpassed.

The estimated value of contracts traded reflected both increased volume and higher commodity prices, soaring to an all-time high of approximately $47.1 million in the three quarters, of which $5.8-billion came in September. The previous record for any full year was $40.3 billion in 1971.

Trading in frozen pork bellies through the first nine months totaled 1.64 million contracts, up 31.5 per cent from 1.25 million, in the 1971 period, leading all other contracts and establishing a record for pork bellies.

It was the first time since 1964, however, that the pork belly contract accounted for less than 50 percent of all trades on the C.M.E., thanks to a strong surge of trading in the live cattle and live hog contracts. Live cattle volume was up 76 per cent to 972,213 from 552,251 a year ago, rising 175.3 per cent to 123,087 in September. Live hogs climbed an even more dramatic 95.6 per cent to 395,445 from 202,202, increasing by 193.0 per cent to 64,578 in September.

Not included in the exchange totals, Harris said, were figures for the International Monetary Market of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, Inc., on which trading in foreign currency futures began last May 16.

Through September, I.M.M. volume amounted to 64,771 transactions worth an estimated $10.6 billion, of which 10,432 trades worth approximately $1.5 billion came in September.

Harris emphasized that the current climate of uncertainty in price patterns for agricultural commodities is conducive to continued rapid growth of futures trading.

Boise State shatters Nevada (Reno) 56-19

BOISE — The Boise State Broncos shook off an early 7-0 deficit and rolled over the University of Nevada at Reno 56-19 Saturday night.

The Broncos had to score twice before getting the lead but once in the lead commanded the game easily. Coach Tony Knap used everyone on his team and three quarterbacks in posting their fourth win in five outings.

BSC returns to Big Sky action Saturday, traveling to Montana State at 2 p.m.

Boise State didn't get its usual quick start as Reno scored in the opening minutes and it wasn't until late in the period that Bill Stephens ran in from the five.

The quarter ended with Boise moving on an 80-yard march, which ended when Ron Autele threw an eight-yard strike to Al Marshall and Joe Larkin converted. Two plays after the kickoff, Mark Reber covered a Nevada fumble at the Reno 31 and within a few seconds Autele hit Dave Nickely with a 14-yard scoring pass.

Reno then rebounded with a good drive but lost the points when Goodyear fumbled into the end zone from a yard away. A fumble hit Boise driving out, giving Reno a field goal chance but it was short.

After that Boise rolled another 80 yards, Pat Riley opening with a 35-yard spring, and Anteale wound it up with a two-yard sneak. Reno scored with 1:24 left in the third period on a one-yard plunge by Goodyear before Boise came up with two quick scores. The first was a one-yard plunge by sophomore quarterback Jim McMillan and then Dave Nicely scored from the two. Reno fought back with a 55-yard bomb from Goodyear to Greg Nunnally.

McMillan threw to Tod Whitman for Boise's seventh touchdown and then on the last play of the game Larkin returned an intercepted pass 50 yards. Frederick passed to Don Hunt for the two-point conversion after game's end.

Memphis surprises Utah State 38-29 in battle of passers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Quarterbacks Al Harvey and David Fowler got three touchdowns Saturday night as the hungry Memphis State Tigers scored a 38-29 upset over Utah

State for their first victory of the season. Harvey, who threw and ran for 268 yards despite a back injury in the first half, lofted a 14-yard scoring toss to split end Clifton Taylor in the final period to ice the win for Memphis State.

Fowler came off the bench in the second period to replace Harvey briefly and ran for one touchdown and passed for another.

Three fumbles killed Utah State drives in the second-half although Utah State quarterback Tony Adams tossed for touchdowns of eight and seven yards to end Tom Forzani with time running out in the game.

It was the third loss for the Aggies against three victories and gave Memphis State a 1-4 record.

Mississippi upset by Georgia

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Quarterback Andy Johnson scored on a short run in the fourth period Saturday to bring Georgia from behind for a 14-13 upset of Mississippi.

Johnson ran one yard for the touchdown early in the final period and Kim Braswell kicked his second extra point to put the Bulldogs ahead. James Ray passed 74 yards to tailback Hal Bissell in the second quarter for the other Bulldog touchdown.

Ole Miss had jumped off to an early 13-0 lead before Georgia started its move.

Quarterback Norris Weese passed for both of the Rebels' first-half touchdowns — seven yards to tight end Burney Veazey and 47 yards to wide receiver Bill Malouf. Freshman Steve Lavinghouse connected on one of two extra point attempts.

Ole Miss drove 83 yards the first time with the ball to score on Weese's pass to Veazey. The longest gain of the 15-play series was a 28-yard pass from Weese to Malouf.

WSU and Hamilton beat Ducks

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Steve Hamilton came home to Oregon Saturday and sparked Washington State to a 31-14 Pacific-8 football victory over the University of Oregon.

Hamilton's name went on the scoreboard only once, but it was the junior fullback from Portland, Ore., who really spoiled the Webfoots' homecoming as he accounted for nearly half of the WSU offense.

Hamilton scored WSU's final touchdown on a one-yard plunge with 31 seconds remaining. He finished the afternoon with 164 rushing yards in 31 carries.

Oregon's premier passer, Dan Fouts, who went into the game as the second leading passer in the nation, was hurt by fumbles, penalties and Cougars in the Oregon backfield.

Florida State nips Miss. St.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Florida State's Gary Huff hurled two touchdowns passes to ace receiver Barry Smith and fullback Mike Davison raced 49 yards for another touchdown to lead the Seminoles to a tough 25-21 win Saturday night over Mississippi State.

Huff, setting a new school record for most touchdowns passes in his varsity career, hit Smith with scoring passes of 14 and 53 yards in the first half, then Davison clinched the decision with less than a minute remaining in the game.

Freshman placekicker Ahmet Askin kicked a 46-yard field goal for the Seminoles along with two extra points, and Huff connected to Smith for a two-pointer following Davison's long run.

Tenace hits two homers to lift A's past Redlegs 3-2 in series opener

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ob-scure Gene Tenace, the "other catcher" in the 1972 World Series, overshadowed Johnny Bench Saturday by becoming the first player ever to homer in his first two World Series at-bats to give the underdog Oakland A's a 3-2 opening game victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Tenace, whose only hit in the American league playoffs won the final game after his error helped to lose the fourth game, hit a two-run homer in the second inning and snapped a 2-2 deadlock with his high fly ball in the fifth inning that just drifted past the left field foul pole.

Bench, the engine of Cincinnati's "Big Red Machine," collected two hits; walked and scored both runs but the three Oakland pitchers—Ken Holtzman, Rollie Fingers and Vida utilized 15 players as the A's nursed their one-run lead over the final five innings to score the upset victory in the club's first World Series appearance since the days of Connie Mack in Philadelphia in 1931.

The A's only collected four hits—all off loser Gary Nolan, who went the first six innings—but two of them were Tenace's homers and that's all they needed because George Hendrick, subbing for the injured Reggie Jackson, walked with two out in the second and rode home on Tenace's first homer.

Tenace, who was 1-for-17 in the playoffs but singled in the A's deciding run in the 2-1 victory over Detroit Thursday, that put them in the World Series, had a shot at joining Babe Ruth as the only player to hit three homers in a Series game but he grounded out in the seventh.

Tenace was the ninth player ever to homer in his first at bat in a Series but he became the first to do it a second time.

Holtzman, who got credit for the victory, held the Reds to five hits and two runs before being lifted when Bench led off with his second hit, a double.

hard-throwing southpaw would have to face righthanded sluggers Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, with the bases loaded.

"That was the turning point, no doubt about it," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson.

Blue, stilled "the Big Red Machine" on one hit.

It would have meant the Conception swore that Dave Green never touched him, while Gary Nolan moaned that he got "touched" too hard by Gene Tenace.

Tenace's two homers off Nolan and Conception's failure to steal second base in the seventh inning were the key elements in Oakland's 3-2 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds in the opening game of the World Series Saturday.

"Green never touched me in that play at second base," Conception told reporters. "I was going down on a hit and run and they pitched out. The umpire said he touched me on the helmet, but I know he didn't."

If Conception had been safe, the Reds might have come up with a winning rally because reliever Vida Blue walked Pete Rose, uncorked a wild pitch and walked Joe Morgan before retiring Bobby Tolan on a foul to the catcher.

Idaho drops North Illinois 31-13

Rembert, stolen passes net win

MOSCOW — Bernie Rembert ran for 165 yards and two touchdowns and the Idaho Vandals turned two late pass interceptions into 14 points to defeat the Northern Illinois Huskies 31-13 Saturday afternoon.

Rembert carried 16 times for his total but the biggest one was a 75-yard touchdown scamper in his third period just after the Huskies dominated throughout the first half, had rallied into a 10-10 tie. The Huskies cut the margin to 17-13 after that but then Rand Marquess and Randy Hall returned interceptions inside the Northern Illinois 10-yard line. Kevin Ault took a 13-yard pass from frosh quarterback Dave Comstock to capitalize on the first one and Rembert swept in from the one with 17 seconds left in the game to nail it down. Steve Tanner booted four conversions and a field goal.

It was ironic that Idaho should clinch the game in the third quarter since Rembert's 75-yard dash was the only play from scrimmage the Vandals had in the period. In the first half, Comstock led the Vandals up and down the field for a lot of yardage but only 10 points. Tanner put Idaho on the board with a 37-yard field goal. Two possessions after that Idaho ground out a touchdown, the payoff coming on an eight-yard strike to Ault.

But Northern Illinois took the third quarter kickoff and scored in 14 plays on a field goal by Roger Passaglia. Idaho fumbled the ensuing kickoff with the Huskies recovering but being held. They got the ball back on a fumble on the first play and this time Jerry Latin went in from the 31. It was right after the kickoff that Rembert broke his scoring tally. Northern Illinois then bounced down to the Idaho eight on a 56-yard run by Talley but had to settle for a field goal.

Marquess got the break Idaho needed on the stolen pass which he returned 29 yards to the six-yard line to set up the Comstock to Ault pass. Then Hall stopped another deep Northern Illinois drive by picking off a deflected pass and returning it 61 yards to the nine. Rembert scored four plays later.

Carey gives Rimrock first win

CAREY — Buster Ridley's 30 yard touchdown run with about five minutes left gave Rimrock its first win of the football season Friday, a 28-20 decision over Carey.

Ridley's scoring run broke a 20-20 tie and Mark McQueen's extra point dash sealed the victory in the eighth man contest. Carey came from behind to tie the score three times, the last early in the fourth quarter when Jim Barton took a pass from Chrige Hofstetter on a 15 yard scoring play. But another pass for the extra point failed, leaving the score tied at 20-20.

Ridley put Rimrock ahead 8-0 in the first period with a 56 yard run and an extra point dash. Carey tied it on Shane Parke's 64 yard pass interception return. He also ran the extra point over.

Arnie Hipwell ran 10 yards in the second quarter, putting Rimrock ahead 14-8 at halftime. The run for point was stopped. Carey caught up at 14-14 in the third period, as Hofstetter passing to Parke for 10 yards and the score. Another pass for point failed. An eight yard scoring dash by Rimrock's Todd Agenbroad put the Elmore County club ahead, 20-14. The run for point was stopped.

Carey's record is now 2-4 for the season.

Blocked punt sparks Oklahoma to 27-0 victory

DALLAS (UPI) — Massive Durland Moore blocked a quick kick attempt into the end zone and Lucious Selmon recovered it for a third-period touchdown Saturday which gave No. 2 Oklahoma the spark it needed to rush past the inspired Texas Longhorns, 27-0 handing Texas its first shutout in 101 games.

A battling Longhorn defense, led by linebackers Sherman Lee and Randy Braband and second string halfback Terry Melancon, had reduced the awesome Oklahoma ground attack to average and had yielded only three points during the first 43 minutes of the oldest rivalry in the Southwest.

But with less than three minutes to play in the third period a favorite play of Texas Coach Darrell Royal's backfired and led to the points which sealed Texas' doom.

On a third down and 16 situation from his own 25, Texas quarterback Alan Lowry, dropped back quickly to get a quick kick away. But Moore, a 246-pound senior, burst through from his left tackle position to bat the punt down.

The ball rolled into the end zone where Selmon fell on it for an Oklahoma touchdown.

Oklahoma added two more touchdowns in the fourth period on a six-yard burst over the left side by fleet Greg Pruitt, the key to the Sooners' deadly running attack which until Saturday had been averaging 498 yards a game in leading the nation.

Until the only points the Sooners could come up with were produced on a first-period field goal by Fulcher of 37 yards.

The Longhorns, who had scored in every game since being shut out by Louisiana State, 13-0, in the 1963 Cotton Bowl game, got no closer to the Oklahoma goal line than the Sooner 25.

Texas reached that point early in the second period, trailing 3-0, but the Longhorns decided to go for a first down on a fourth-and-two situation and Donald Ealey's blast into the line came up a yard short.

Texas fumbled the ball away three times in the first half, two times in Oklahoma territory, and Lowry threw three interceptions in the second half to help extinguish its offensive hopes.

It was the first time since 1956 in the 67-game Texas-Oklahoma series that the Longhorns have not scored.

Until the final Oklahoma flurry, the Texas defense had handled itself well against the corps of Sooner powerhouse backs. Having been burned last year by Pruitt on sprints to the outside, Texas centered its defense on making sure the Sooners did not get around the Longhorn flanks.

That defense paid off, but the eleventh-ranked Longhorns could not deal with the much improved Oklahoma defensive crew led by Moore and Selmon.

UCLA overpowers Oregon State 37-7

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Thirteenth ranked UCLA got two touchdowns from sub fullback Gary Campbell and overpowered Oregon State 37-7 Saturday for its second Pacific-8 conference victory of the season.

The Bruins, unbeaten in the conference and 5-1 overall, were sluggish in the first half, but thanks to the defensive heroics of sophomore Rich Guenther forged a 17-7 lead.

Guenther recovered a quick-kick blocked by teammate Tom Waddell on the Oregon State six in the first period and Campbell got his touchdown from three yards out.

Early in the second period Guenther recovered a fumble deep in Oregon State territory and halfback Kermit Johnson scored on an eight yard run. Reserve quarterback Rob Scribner led UCLA to its final two touchdowns. He ran 46 and 22 yards in the fourth period to set up a three yard scoring run by the Bruins James McAlister.

Meservy, Dietrich top Bliss

BLISS — Ken Meservy ran for two touchdowns, threw for two more and intercepted three passes to lead the Dietrich Blue Devils past Bliss 40-28 Friday.

Meservy scored on a 30-yard rollout on Dietrich's third play of the game and came back minutes later with a five-yard run. He threw to Daryl Ballard for one conversion. Before the end of the first period Hoffman and Lenker hooked up for 60 yards and Steve Quigley converted for Bliss' first points.

Bliss drew into a tie when Hoffman threw to Bart Butler early in the second but before halftime Dietrich hit twice. Meservy and Ballard hitting on a 50-yard pass play and Dan Weiss taking a swing pass 18 yards to make it 26-14 at halftime.

In the third period Craig Sorenson scored on a five-yard cross buck and converted on the same play before Bliss came back one a 20-yard Hoffman to Butler scoring pass. Weiss replied on a 10-yard run for Dietrich before Bliss wound up scoring on a 15-yard screen to Quigley. The same thing worked for the extra points.

CSI defeats

Ricks runners

Randy Suter and Pat McIntyre went one-two easily Friday afternoon in leading College of South Idaho to a cross country dual victory over Ricks 26-29.

Suter, turning the 4.2 mile course in 22:42 and McIntyre, both Jerome graduates, was 11 seconds back. Ricks' first man was third in 23:35, followed by Jeff Van Hoozer, CSI; Willie Heward, Ricks; Dave Noack, Ricks; Rex Saunders, Ricks; Steve Arnold, Ricks; Ray Charlton, CSI, and Alan Gibbs, CSI.

CSI will run in the all-Idaho meet Friday at Boise.

Declo tops Oakley for 18-7 win

DECLO — The Declo Hornets struck for two touchdowns in a two-minute span of the second period Friday night to erase an early 7-0 deficit and beat Oakley 18-7.

Oakley stunned the favored Hornets in the first period when it recovered a fumble at its own 35-yard line. On the next play Sharp threw to Grant Severe on a 65-yard pass and run scoring play. James Dayley booted the point after.

Oakley kept the lead until 6:55 remained in the second period when Randy Brackenbury, back after a three-week injury-forced layoff, scored from the four. But the point-after failed. Three plays after the kickoff, however, Tim Matthews recovered an Oakley fumble and Rob Riding threw a 25-yard halfback pass to Scott Mallory for the go-ahead points.

Oakley's defense turned back two Declo threats inside the 10 in the third period but early in the fourth the Hornets got their last score. It came on a 35-yard pass from Brackenbury to Riding.

Highland cops SIC run title

The Highland Rams, seizing control midway through the race, ran off with the Southern Idaho Conference cross country championship Friday afternoon although Nampa's Steve Hills took the individual prize.

Highland scored 49 to win in a breeze while Borah nipped Twin Falls 80-84 for second spot. They were followed by Capital 103, Boise 130, Meridian 171, Minico 189, Pocatello 225, Nampa 227, Idaho Falls 236, Skyline 291 and Caldwell 335.

The top 10 finishers were Hills, Rich Gross, Borah; Marion Huffman, Meridian; Tom Medley, Highland; Gary Sievers, Twin Falls; Byron In-The-Woods, Highland; Tom Lytle, Borah; Sherwood Little, Highland; Dave Sears, Twin Falls, and Doug Larsen, Twin Falls.

Twin Falls won the jayvee portion with 36 total points, followed by Borah at 44, Boise 91, Capital 115, and Pocatello 165. Jim Shew paced Twin Falls with a second place finish while Rex Gillenwater was fifth. Molyneux sixth, Mike Gabica 10, and Billington 13th.

Idaho State stuns Montana in 14-7 upset

Bengal defense holds 4 times

POCATELLO — Idaho State's embattled defensive unit, helped twice by fumbled pitchouts, turned previously-undefeated Montana back four times in the second half

Saturday night, for a 14-7 Big Sky Conference victory. Montana ran up a huge statistical advantage but the Grizzlies, who now have lost 20 fumbles this year, fell prey to that nemesis five times Saturday night. But on their last two thrusts, reaching the 23 and the seven, Idaho State stopped them on fourth down situations.

With only a couple of exceptions, Idaho State had trouble moving the ball against Montana, which was 2-0 in the Big Sky. Idaho State, playing its first league game, made their payoff, however. The Bengals drew first blood on a five-yard run by Jim Witkowski. That came on a good drive that started on a 17-yard pass to Dave Schultz and then was maintained on the running of Witkowski and Mike Davis.

Montana State struck back with 3:11 left in the first period, when Ray Olsen took a pitchout on the wishbone option and sprinted 78 yards to score.

In the third period Idaho State had a scoring chance after a fumble recovery at midfield. Tom Lee hit tight end Mike Hancock with a 26-yard pass that carried to the Grizzly 18-yard line and two plays later little Rene Garnet burst 17 yards up the middle to score. Steve Beller tackled on the second conversion.

For the next 12 playing minutes ISU was fighting off its back. Montana drove with the ensuing kickoff but fumbled at the ISU 23. Three plays later Montana's Kirk Donner covered an ISU miscue at the 34. The Grizzlies drove to a first down at the Bengal eight but then a bad pitchout squirted all the way back to the Bengal 32 where ISU covered it two plays into the fourth period.

The Grizzlies bounced right back on a pass interception by Terry Reynolds but after two first downs ISU made its first fourth and one stand at the 23. Idaho State then ate up some time. A pass to Hancock and a 15-yard penalty moved the Bengals to the 38 and Schultz took a pass at the 25 for a first down. But ISU then fumbled back at the 30 and two plays later Olsen almost broke another one on the option. He sailed 51 yards and was nudged out of bounds at the Bengals nine-yard line. But again the ISU defense was there, taking over on downs with 4:10 left in the game.

Lee passed to Schultz and Davis picked up a key first down as ISU punched out to the 48-yard line, eating up three minutes before having to punt. Montana, starting from its own 18-yard line, saw things die with 37 seconds left when ISU's Phil Spain intercepted.

After the sweat-soaked workout, which ended shortly after noon, Coach Svare told newsmen he would activate the third-year running back for the Sunday Dolphins game. But Svare said Thomas' use against Miami would be limited to kickoff returns, if he saw action at all.

Nebraska humbles Missouri

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Slot-back Johnny Rodgers became the greatest scorer in Nebraska history Saturday when he gathered in a 28-yard touchdown pass from Dave Humm on the way to a 62-0 Husker humiliation of Missouri.

Humm, the sophomore ace, also hit for touchdowns with tosses of 24 yards to Jerry List and 19 yards to Bob Revelle in Nebraska's Big Eight Conference opener and the worst defeat for the Tigers in the 66 clashes between the two teams.

Rodgers scored just that one touchdown in the rout, but it brought his career total to 216 points, five better than the Nebraska record of 211 set by Bobby Reynolds in the early 1950s.

Humm also achieved a mark. His three touchdown throws equalled the one-game Nebraska record set by Bob Churchich in 1966 and Jerry Tagge last year.

Thomas works out, then goes

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Duane Thomas worked out with the San Diego Chargers for the first time Saturday, was told he would be activated for Sunday's game with the Dolphins, then packed his bags and left.

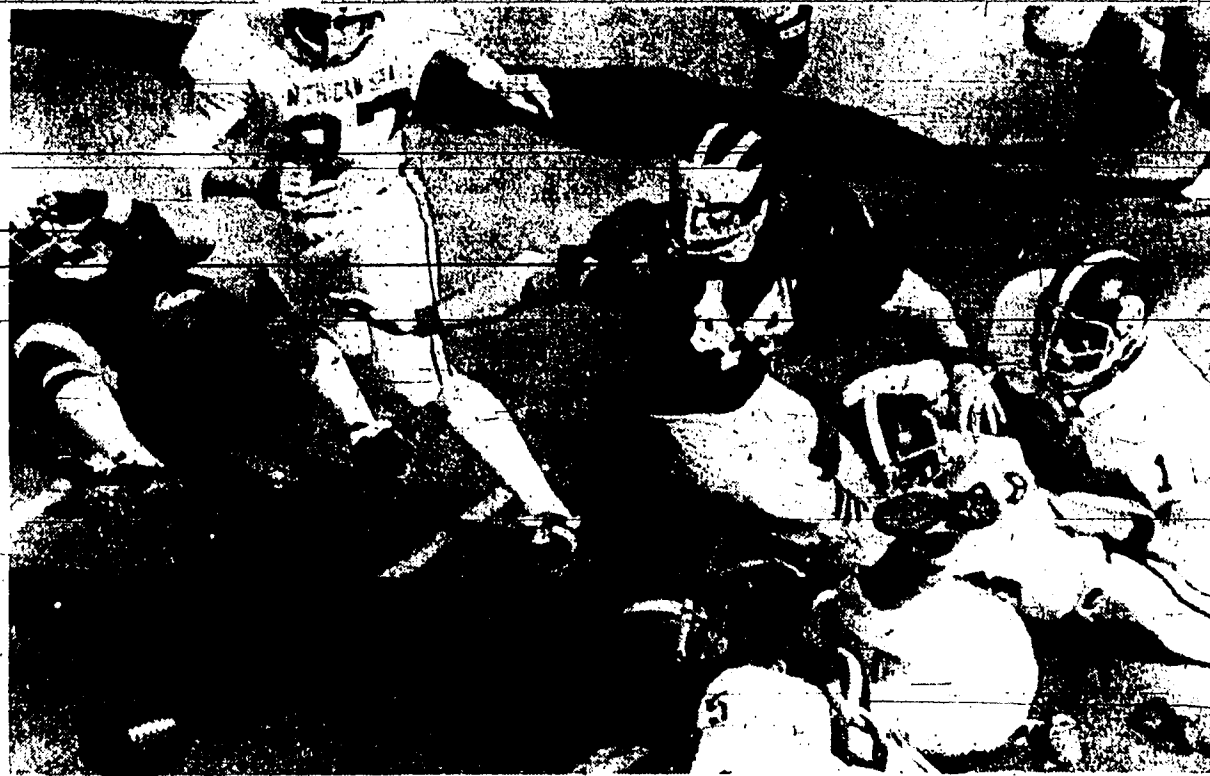

Coach Harland Svare had no immediate comment on the latest sudden departure of Thomas from the Chargers.

"We have no idea where he is," a Chargers spokesman said. "All we know is that he was overheard asking a stranger for a ride to Miami and then was seen leaving with the stranger."

Thomas had been staying at the Chargers' hotel here for nearly four days and after several meetings with Svare, decided to participate in Saturday's brief workout — his first with San Diego.

"He even returned a kickoff and looked real good," a Chargers spokesman said. "He appeared to be in excellent condition and not tired by the hour-long workout."

After the sweat-soaked workout, which ended shortly after noon, Coach Svare told newsmen he would activate the third-year running back for the Sunday Dolphins game. But Svare said Thomas' use against Miami would be limited to kickoff returns, if he saw action at all.

LOOSE BALL draws all the attention but particularly from Michigan tailback Chuck Heater (44) who bobbled it. Michigan State recovered but Michigan went on to claim a 10-0 victory. (UPI telephoto)

Alabama rolls over Florida

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Kicking specialist Bill Davis of Columbus, Ga., booted his first field goal of the year Saturday to help give third-ranked Alabama a 24-7 victory over Florida.

Florida had jumped to an early lead on a 60-yard scoring run by Nat Moore with 3:50 left in the first period. But the Crimson Tide took the ensuing kickoff and marched 84 yards in 8 plays to tie it up with 49 seconds remaining in the period on a 13-yard run by Paul Spivey.

The second period was less than three minutes old when Davis came into the lineup to boot the three-pointer from 31 yards out to put the Tide ahead to stay.

Starting Alabama quarterback Terry Davis ran for six points from four yards out to cap another 84-yard march in the third period. Sophomore running back Ralph Stokes also plunged over from the one-yard line with 2:45 left to play.

In spite of the loss, Florida quarterback David Bowden, a sophomore, completed 13 of 19 passes for 123 yards, throwing only one interception. Moore, also a sophomore, was the game's leading rusher with 108 yards in 11 carries.

Late UTEP bid fails as BYU wins 21-14

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Brigham Young scored three touchdowns in the first half Saturday and the Cougars held their breath when a last-second penalty nullified Texas-EI Paso's chances to tie the game as BYU defeated the Miners 21-14 in a Western Athletic Conference football game.

Irish cop 42-16 win over Pitt

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame stumbled and fumbled through the first half but smashed a feisty Pittsburgh team with four second half touchdowns Saturday on the way to a 42-16 victory.

Until Notre Dame's second half rally, it appeared that the winless Panthers might be in position to upset.

In the opening quarter Notre Dame lost the ball three times on fumbles and had a punt blocked. The Irish scored only once when Andy Huff plunged over from the one-yard line to climax an 80-yard drive in 11 plays.

The easy win ran seventh-ranked Notre Dame's season record to 4-0.

Michigan tips arch state foe

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Little Gil Chapman went 58 yards on a split end reverse with 8:32 to play Saturday to nail down sixth-ranked Michigan's 10-0 Big Ten win over its bitter rival from up the road, Michigan State.

Michigan also got a 22-yard field goal from sophomore Mike Lantry to record its fifth win of the season and second conference victory without a loss.

The clincher came when defensive end Clint Spearman and linebacker Tom Kee had stopped the Spartans' Mike Holt for no gain when he needed one yard on fourth down at the Michigan 41 with nine.

USC throttles California 42-14

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Quarterback Mike Rae ran over two touchdowns and guided No. 1-ranked University of Southern California to two other scores as the Trojans romped past California 42-14 in a Pacific-8 football game Saturday.

Stanford riddles Washington

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Mike Boryla completed 24 passes in a fine personal performance Saturday while leading Stanford to a 24-0 shutout over previously unbeaten Washington in the Pacific-8 Conference.

Two of Boryla's completions were for touchdowns as the Cardinals jumped to a 21-0 lead in the first half and played ball control in the second to hand Washington its first loss in six games. The victory was Stanford's fourth in five starts and, as a result, both the Cardinals and Huskies now are 1-1 in conference play.

Boryla's touchdowns were of 21 yards to Eric Cross and 30 yards to Don Alvarado. The Cardinals got a third touchdown on a 13-yard pass from Steve Murray to Miles Moore on a fake field goal try, and Rod Garcia added a 32-yard field goal.

California averted a shutout with touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters.

The victory was the sixth of the season and third in the Pac-8 for the undefeated Trojans, who were four-touchdown favorites. Cal suffered its fifth defeat against one win.

With the Golden Bears unable to get past their own 30 in the opening quarter, the Trojans took advantage of good field position to run over two touchdowns.

Scott-led Bruins rip Tigers 46-13

IDAHO FALLS — Senior tailback Gary Scott scored four touchdowns and turned in two scintillating punt returns Friday night to lead the Twin Falls Bruins past the Idaho Falls Tigers 46-13.

Minico shuts out Pocatello by 21-0

RUPERT — Brad Hadden scored twice, as a receiver and as a runner, Friday night to spark the Minico Spartans to a 21-0 decision over the Pocatello Indians.

Minico's defense, picking up the string from the last week's second half effort against Capital, dominated the Indians throughout the night. The Spartan offense moved the ball better but still had trouble getting the tough yardage inside the 10. Minico was turned back four times, twice on fumbles, in that area.

Minico scored on its first possession, forcing a Pocatello punt and driving 60 yards to score. The Spartans stayed entirely on the ground with Richie Donner sweeping for the final four yards. Scott Morehouse booted the first of three conversions.

In the second quarter Minico had two good chances, fumbling away a 62-yard march at the Indian three and then coming back to the two, only to be stopped on downs.

On the first play of the second half, Hadden took a quick pitch for 20 yards and on the next play, Donner, playing halfback most of the time, threw a 55-yard halfback pass to Hadden.

The Spartans recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff at the Indians 33 but fumbled that opportunity away at the eight. Pocatello tried to pass its way out but Bill Hedrick intercepted and zig-zagged the ball back to the 14-yard line. With 25 seconds left Hadden scored from the five on a quick pitch.

Scott had two long punt returns, one for 56 yards and a touchdown and another for 51 yards that carried to the Tiger one and set up another. In between he scored on runs of one, 15 and five yards.

The Bruins scored on their first possession, Mike Sturgill throwing into the end zone to Shawn Livingston for 22 yards with less than three minutes gone in the game. On their next possession, Twin Falls marched 64 yards in 11 plays with Scott going in from the one with less than a minute left in the first period.

Immediately after the kickoff, Idaho Falls was forced to punt and Scott shook loose on his 56-yard scoring return. Two minutes later Scott scored again, this time from the 15.

Idaho Falls then rebounded on a long run by Van Ashton that set up a three-yard scoring pass from Alstrom to Homer. But before the period ended, Twin Falls marched again, this time for 53 yards with Scott getting the last five. Pat Charlton's conversion made it 32-0 at intermission.

Scoring slowed down in the second half. Twin Falls covered a fumble at the Idaho Falls 29 in the opening minute of the third period with junior Mel Harder plunging in from the one to capitalize on it. Harder added the next touchdown on a one-yard dive after Scott's second long punt return. Landy Haynes threw to Terry Hillman for the two-point.

Idaho Falls scored late in the game when Freeman hit Baldwin on a 30-yard pass.

G.F. wins to set up showdown

GLENN'S FERRY — The Glens Ferry Pilots kept their little five-conference title hopes alive Friday night by shutting out the Kimberly Bulldogs 24-0.

The Pilots now meet Shoshone on a battle of league undefeateds Friday at Glens Ferry.

It wasn't until the second play of the second half, however, that the Pilots got on the scoreboard. Kimberly's kickoff return man was downed at the one-yard line and on the next play Buddy Allen tackled a Kimberly ball carrier in the end zone.

The Pilots took the ensuing free kick for a touchdown to pad the margin. It came seven plays later when Ray Hansen bulled in from the eight-yard line. Late in the third quarter, Jody Allen broke off tackle and sprinted 45 yards to score. He also ran in the two-point on a sweep.

The final Glens Ferry score came on a 40-yard pass from Ray Hansen to Nate Jones. Allen again ran in the extra points.

Stevenson Wendell beat Valley

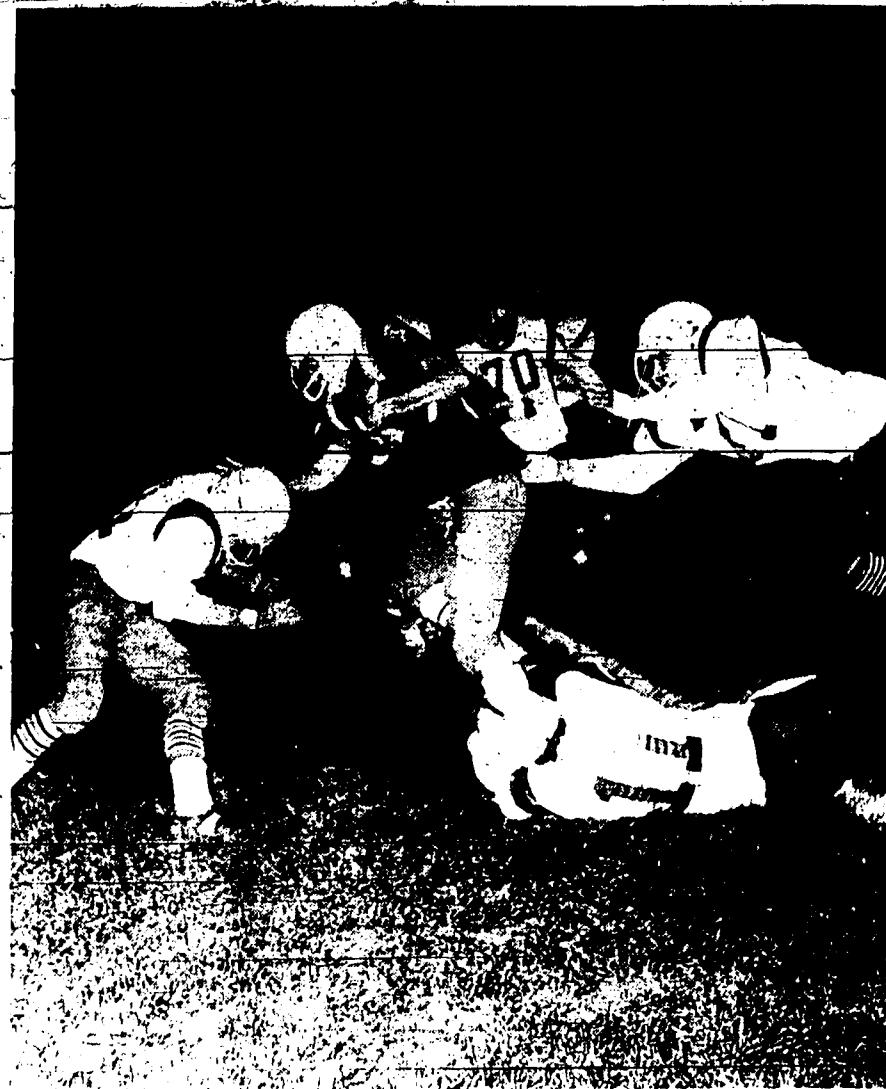

EDEN — Spedster Alan Stevenson clicked on two long scoring plays in the first quarter Friday afternoon to send the Wendell Trojans past the Valley Vikings 16-0.

The senior wide receiver hooked up with Sisson on a 38-yard pass and run play to get scoring started in the early moments. Kip Dennis ran for the extra points.

Minutes later Stevenson gathered in a Valley punt at his own 30 yard line and sailed 70 yards to score. Rost got the two extra points.

Attracting a crowd

JEROME FULLBACK Lance Johns is triple teamed by three Gooding Senators and downed after a short game Friday night. Jerome nipped Gooding 6-0 on a 51-yard pass play with the defenses controlling the rest of the game.

51-yard pass play carries Jerome past Gooding by 6-0

JEROME — Lon Schilling picked the ball off a defenders arms and scooted 51 yards for the only touchdown Friday night when the Jerome Tigers nipped the Gooding Senators 6-0.

The lone score came suddenly as Tiger quarterback Rich Watson, who's missed a couple bomb possibilities earlier, threw toward Schilling from his own 49-yard line. A Gooding defender appeared to have the best shot at the ball, but Schilling got there about the same time and the ball slipped through the Senator's fingers. Schilling caught it off his chest and sprinted in untouched. The point-after run ended in a dropped pitchout.

Gooding got the shutout news early in the evening. On the third play after the kickoff, a pitchout went awry and after a frantic scramble Cash Nichols fell on it at the Jerome seven. Three line plays carried the ball to about the yard and one-half line and on fourth down the Senators tried a reverse which was stacked up for a five-yard loss.

The Senators had trouble, as most have had, running against the Jerome line and for over three quarters had no success in passing. Rich Watson intercepted two aeriels and Schilling a third to add to Gooding's miseries.

However, Gooding's defense contained Jerome effectively and the Tigers had only one serious threat — that ending on one of several fumbles.

The victory kept Jerome undefeated in the South Central Idaho Conference with Gooding now at 0-3.

Shoshone rallies past Filer 20-12

FILER — Senior Gary Kinghorn scored on a 13-yard, fourth and 13 situation, quarterback sneak with a minute left Friday night to nail down Shoshone's 20-12 decision over the Filer Wildcats.

Kinghorn's call in a situation that had Filer looking for just about everything else settled a game divided into halves. Shoshone had the biggest half. The Indian defense again arose spectacularly, holding Filer to a net zero in total offense in the last two periods after the Wildcats had racked up 189 yards in the first half.

Filer missed a 20-yard field goal in the only happening of the first quarter but then started rolling in the second period. Shoshone punted to the Wildcats five-yard line and from there Ron Griff and Steve Thaele picked up key yardage. Faced with third and 15 at the Shoshone 40-yard line, Steve Thaele faded to pass, found no one open and then swivel flipped his way to score standing up, brother Lon giving him a key block.

Minutes later, Shoshone, trying to pass its way past two penalties, saw Lon Thaele intercept and return 35 yards for Filer's second touchdown. The Wildcats, after being stung on a flea-flicker, held Shoshone inside the 10 late in the half.

Shoshone received the second half kickoff and started throwing Kinghorn passed six straight times, hitting three of them, to cover 62 yards. The payoff came on a 32-yard pass and run to Don Winn. Homer Owens kicked the PAT.

A short Filer quick kick set Shoshone up on the 24 later in the period and the Indians ground to a first down at the Wildcat six-inch line. Three plays after that Mark Anderson scored on an option to make it 14-12.

Steve Chatterton's interception set up the clinching score, the youngster returning it to the Filer 32. Shoshone went to a first down at the eight before Kinghorn was thrown for a seven-yard loss. Then came the 13-yard quarterback sneak.

Filer's last-minute rally attempt ended with 17 seconds left when Don Setser picked off a pass.

Burley tips Mtn. Home, eyes title

BURLEY — The Burley Bobcats, scoring a touchdown in each quarter, dropped the Mountain Home Tigers 27-6 Friday night to set up a probable Cross State Conference title showdown with the Jerome Tigers.

Coach Bob Mathews' Bobcats bottled up the Mountain Home offense and things got progressively easier as the Tigers lost three top men to injuries during the game.

Burley ground out the clinching points on two drives in the first period. Ken Harper capped the first one on a six-yard burst in the opening quarter and Mike Sagers hit the first of three points after.

In the second quarter, Harper and Scott Crane provided most of the yardage in another drive that ended on Trent Martindale's five-yard sprint.

Mountain Home cut the deficit by six points in the third quarter when quarterback Bob Mendiola starting working the option. He picked up three good gains with the play then threw a pass to Mead to put the ball inside the 10-yard line. Dan Winings went in from the two. But the Bobcats came right back with a touchdown, Pat Pike hitting Wes Heward on a 40-yard pass and run play. In the fourth quarter Heward scored again, this time on a 25-yard burst up the middle.

Burley now faces an Eastern Idaho Conference showdown at Bonneville Friday night and travels to Jerome Oct. 27 for what could well decide the Cross State crown.

Mushers all but cinch loop title

RISHFIELD — The undefeated Camias County Mushers, hammered past Richfield 54-12 Friday afternoon and left the Snake River Conference with only a slim mathematical chance of keeping them from their second straight title.

The Mushers raced up a 28-0 halftime lead in punting the second loss of the year on Richfield. They went for a score on their first possession, Baldwin cracking in from the 12. Layne Osborne converted. Brent Giesler and Larry Lee hooked up on a 20-yard touchdown pass and Osborne scored on a 30-yard gallop. Before the half ended, Baldwin scored again and Giesler converted.

Richfield's best threat was topped at the one-half yard line in the second period.

In the second half, Osborne rambled 45 yards with Giesler converting. Richfield then came up with its first score. Nick Hubschmidt burst up the middle and rambling 50 yards.

After Larry Ivey tackled on the last Camias County touchdown from the 10-yard line, Richfield came back on a 10-yard strike from Wade Allied to Steve Bowers.

Trojans top Devils to grab loop lead

MALTA — The Raft River Trojans dropped previously undefeated Murtaugh 22-0 Friday night and grabbed sole possession of the Magic Valley

Wolves top Pirates in last period

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford Wolves, with pass interceptions helping, exploded for 28 points in the fourth quarter Friday night to overhaul the Hagerman Pirates 34-14.

The favored Wolves had trouble containing Hagerman's inside game through the first three periods, a fumble and a pass interception helping them in the second quarter.

Castleford drew first blood when Randy McCoy scored on a 37-yard sprint just two and one-half minutes into the game. But Hagerman replied immediately with Brown throwing to Gilbert Hafen for 24 yards and the tying points.

Hagerman took the lead in the third period on a brown to Mike Campos pass for seven yards. Hafen ran in the extra points. But early in the fourth period, Castleford picked off a Hagerman pass and on the first play Lynn Reese shook away for 70 yards. He also got the extra points to tie it at 14-14.

Midway through the quarter Randy McCoy shoved Castleford ahead on a five-yard burst after Curt Carter set it up with a 20-yard dash. Reese scored again with a minute left and Mike Bowers booted the point after as the Wolves continued to pull away.

McCoy set up the final score on a pass interception with 42 seconds remaining and on the last play Carter went in from the five. Bowers again converted.

Hole-in-one

Glenn Simmons, Twin Falls, scored the fifth hole-in-one of his career while playing the Corral de Tierra Country Club course last week.

He made the ace while playing with Dr. Jerry Oehler, Warren Paulson and Dr. Gary Simmons. It came on the par three, 175-yard eighth hole. He and son Dr. Simmons won the teams best ball tournament at 11 under par.

THE BIGGEST SELLING CAR IN EUROPE IS NOW FOR SALE IN TWIN FALLS

In Europe, where they've been buying small cars for three generations, they buy more Fiats than anything else.

For every Volkswagen sold in Italy, 6 Fiats are sold in Germany.

For every Renault sold in Italy, 2 Fiats are sold in France.

For every Volvo sold in Italy, 9 Fiats are sold in Sweden.

All this becomes more meaningful when you consider that, over there, they have fifty different kinds of cars to choose from.

And that their choice is based on sixty years of driving these various cars under conditions that run all the way from the sub-zero winters of Sweden to the Alpine roads of northern Italy to the traffic jams of Paris to the no speed limit driving of the German autobahn.

Now, if you've been trying to decide between the dozen or so small cars sold here in the States, stop in at our new showroom and look over our eight Fiat models.

It'll make your decision considerably easier.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES A day and evening to get a good rest and carefully think out the ways and means by which you can put your life on a more firm and practical foundation for greater satisfaction. Ideas and methods for accomplishment that have proved satisfactory are the best now for making your life more secure.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make better arrangements where your work duties are concerned so you earn more money and need not work so hard. Contact bigwigs you know who have the right ideas to impart to you. Stop being a slave in your personal life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) That new plan you have in mind is fine provided you iron out the wrinkles in it and study the details well. Plan also how to add to present roster of influential friends. Think constructively instead of pessimistically.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your intuitive faculties are working very well and should be utilized after double-checking with your best judgment and common sense. Little courtesies extended to mate bring fine results. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can make fine plans with associates now for greater cooperation in the future that bring fine mutual benefits. Get that civic affair handled satisfactorily. Show you have real ability.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can make requests of alms gently now that will be quickly granted, provided you use that fine smile. Take the treatments that will give you better health. Show others you are truly a social lion, lioness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into the recreation that will make you forget work worry, and you find you start the new week ahead refreshed. Think creatively so you make life more satisfying and prosperous. Get to bed early tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get into practical matters at home and improve conditions there with kin. Rid yourself of whatever is a real hindrance to progress. Eliminate clutter and be sure you get that streamlined look.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Once you have attended services you prefer, make sure you contact persons you have known for a long time who are experts in your field of endeavor. Talk over how to have more progress in the future. Get facts you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are capable of bringing ideas down to a practical level and should talk them over with persons you want to have allied with you. A monetary expert can be most helpful. Consult with him or her.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ideal day to think over what your aims are, how far you have progressed toward them and what is best to do in the future. Being with congenials is wisest if you go out socially later. Avoid the new and untied right now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan to have better conditions around you and consult with an expert who has the know-how, data you need. A period of meditation can be most helpful to you. Don't argue with anyone, if you can help it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can now contact that elderly person who can be relied upon for good help and advice and you know how to make more rapid strides in your vocation. One you meet socially can come up with fine ideas. Listen carefully.

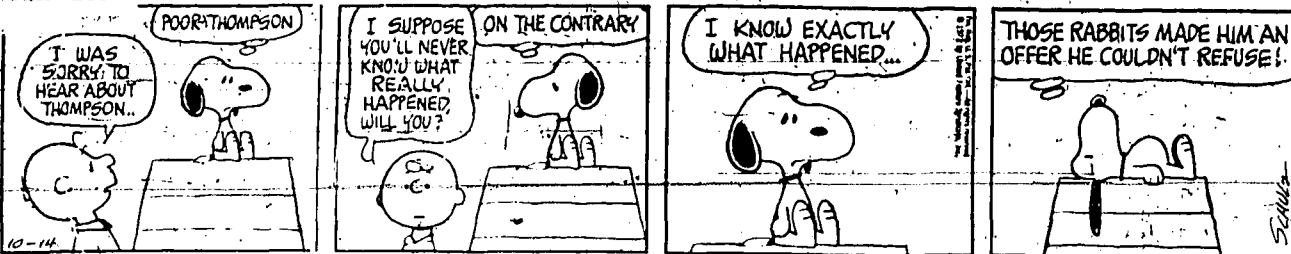

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will have much ability at whatever has to do with property and property management, the stock market or any other profession requiring good judgment and wise business methods, and should be taught early to be practical and to build career step by step, and to study in the same fashion. The nature here is a naturally serious one, but should be encouraged to use that fine smile more.

No need to slice into that steak to check when to take it off the fire. Just touch it. Mushy means raw. Soft means rare. Springy means medium. Firm means well done. Or so advises a specialist in the frying of good beef. He can tell you the interior color of a cooking steak just by tapping it a couple of times with a fork, he says. I've known this fellow to be a highly reliable source for a dozen years. He's blind, must mention.

ONE CURIOUS patient described with some frequency in the medical journals is the compulsive swallower. Like the old boy who complained of swollen ankles, nothing more. Investigation revealed he had 258 oddball items in his stomach, including 26 keys, three sets of rosary beads and 88 assorted coins. What prompts these citizens to gulp down whatever's at hand is still not clear.

GOSSIP It's not that men gossip less than women. They're just more accurate. Psychological tests in Philadelphia indicate this. When women repeat a story, they tend to overemphasize some of the derogatory details. Men are more apt to stick a little closer to the facts. Or so concluded these testers, at any rate.

IF TWO men, one exceedingly fat and one exceedingly thin, were stranded on a desert island with fresh water but no food, which would survive the longer? The fat man because of his reserve calories? Or the thin man because of his wary physique? Still can't get a conclusive reply to this query. Research goes on.

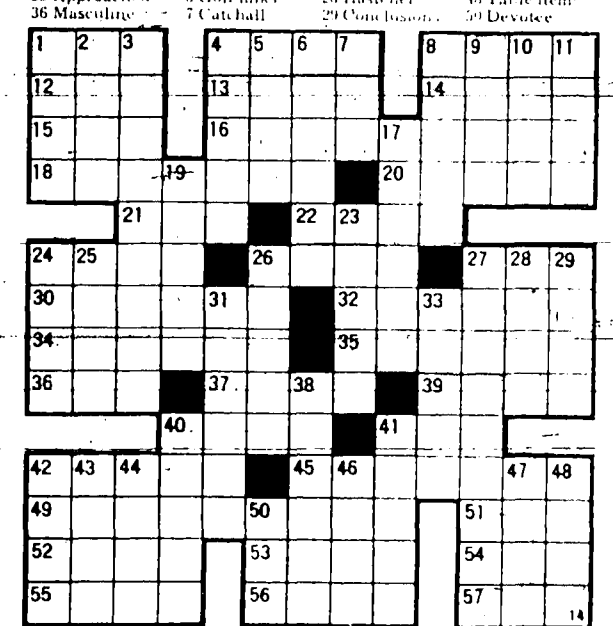

IF YOUR cat gets sick, get it a dog. Michigan veterinarians recently found out sick cats stay sick longer when cooped up by themselves. Put a dog with them and they tend to recover rapidly. It's said.

Airport help for Burley

BURLEY — Daryl Manning, state aviation director, delivered a state grant to the city of Burley Thursday for improvements at the Burley Airport.

On hand at the airport for the presentation were state Sen. Robert Saxvik, who officially presented the check to Mayor Garis Robertson, and Phil Payne, airport manager.

The grant is funds from the aviation use tax collected on fuel. Improvements made this summer at the airport included resurfacing the runway for a total of 4,060 feet by 70 feet overlay and black topping taxi ways, ramp and tie down area.

The improvement project at the airport was financed by the grant from the state, about 55 per cent of total project federal funds and the remainder of the funds about $38,000 from City of Burley.

The federal funds are from the Department of Transportation.

Richfield chapter has guest

RICHFIELD — Grand Warder Beth Pendleton of the Grand Chapter of Idaho Order of Eastern Star was a special guest of the Richfield Chapter No. 72 OES Thursday evening.

Mrs. Pendleton made her official instruction visit to the Richfield group. She was accompanied by her husband, Charles Pendleton.

Conductress Helen Lemmon and associate conductress, Myrtle Schisler, introduced Mrs. Pendleton, who is also secretary of Lincoln Chapter No. 42, Shoshone, and Mrs. Ethel Conner, secretary of the Richfield unit.

The two secretaries were honored and presented gifts from Worthy Matron Iva Frowbridge, Bellevue.

Final arrangements were made for the visit of the Twin Grand Matron Glenadene Kiestea, Pocatello, that will be held at the Richfield Masonic Temple Nov. 9.

Book review presented

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Bill Jacobsen presented the book review program for the Le Layre de La Plume Literary Arts Society meeting Thursday.

Members met at the home of Mrs. Veri Meacham. Mrs. Jacobsen reviewed the book, "Capable of Honor," by Allen Drury. Mrs. Burt Huish read a sketch of the author and Mrs. Ben Ward gave the guided thought.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Allen Bastow, Mrs. Dell Timponi and Mrs. Veri Meacham assisting.

Council to meet

JEROME — A general meeting of the Jerome County Rural Development Council is scheduled for 7 p.m. Nov. 8 at Wood Cafe.

Thomas P. Mahan, chairman, said the meeting signifies the first general session of the full council since June 12. He said progress reports from the following committees will be given: Land Use Planning, Rights of Way and Public Access, Commercial Sign Policy and Human Resources and Facilities.

Mahan said that other reports will be heard from other planning organizations and a special speaker will be present to discuss a related planning subject. Also under consideration will be certain changes in the council bylaws.

DURING OUR ELECTION YEAR SALE, SUPPORT THE LITTLE CAR THAT DOES EVERYTHING WELL.

Vote Vega

Selling From $2265.40

Take a look at Vega's record and suddenly your choice among the major small-car candidates narrows to one. And why not, since Vega qualifications include a 97 long wheelbase, 23 liter engine with die-cast aluminum block and one front disc brakes, side-guard door beams, power ventilation, and much more.

Of course, Vega's been a vote-getter right from its start. In 1971 it was named Motor Trend magazine's "Car of the Year." And in both 1971 and 1972, readers of Car and Driver voted it world's "best economy sedan."

While our Election Year Sale is on, compare the candidates and the issues. Once you see what Vega stands for, plus the good deals we're offering now, we know you'll Vote Vega.

Vega also has proved itself with other solid product achievements. As standard equipment you get two steel roofs instead of one front disc.

An agreement between the two Germanys opening the way to international recognition of Communist East Germany and eliminating the greatest cause of friction in Europe seems likely within the next few weeks.

It would be a natural and major step forward in West German Chancellor Willy Brandt's "Ostpolitik" policy after his non-aggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland and last year's four-power agreement on access to Berlin.

It is not by accident that both sides hope agreement can be reached before West German elections Nov. 19.

The next step then would be for the two Germanys to apply for separate memberships in the United Nations, regarded as a certainty for next year.

France and Britain both have made it clear they will exchange ambassadors with East Germany after both Germanys have become U.N. members. The United States is expected to do the same. Austria has suggested it might not even wait upon U.N. membership.

East Germany is interested in reaching early agreement with the Bonn government in the belief that an election defeat for Brandt's coalition government by the opposition Christian Democrats would eliminate all chances of agreement in the foreseeable future. Brandt is equally anxious for Agreement normalizing ties between the two would mean that East Germany had "soft-pedaled" previous demands that West Germany formally recognize it as a sovereign state. Brandt has declared that West Germany only can recognize the East as a separate state within a German nation.

The East Germans have indicated they consider the question now to be academic in view of Bonn's recognition of established boundaries and promises of recognition from major Western nations.

The East Berlin government at present is recognized only by other Communist states, some of the Arab nations and some of the developing nations which have received East German economic assistance.

The Communist bloc has made no secret of its hopes for the re-election of Brandt's Socialist and Free Democratic coalition. The Czechs have indicated they are ready to resume negotiations on a treaty similar to the Moscow and Warsaw pacts and the Soviets have suggested progress is possible on a German-Soviet cultural treaty.

Analysis

a chance to focus public attention on his foreign policy successes upon which he bases his hopes for re-election.

East and West German representatives resumed this week the talks they began in October, 1970, and which last spring led to agreement on East-West traffic, their first major accord since division of Germany after World War II.

Since reaching that agreement nearly five million West Germans and West Berliners have visited East Germany, and nearly a million East Germans have been permitted to visit the West.

Amazon's flow said purer than most US tap waters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Amazon is by far the greatest river on earth.

It drains 2.3 million square miles of land, including the world's largest rain forest. Its drainage basin is nearly three-quarters the size of the United States before Alaska and Hawaii.

Nevertheless, according to a recent report by the U.S. Geological Survey, its waters are purer than "most of the tap water in the United States."

In some places according to the Survey, Amazon samples were found to have "a chemical purity nearly equivalent to that of distilled water."

How can this be the case in view of the fact that the Amazon is 3,900 miles long and is fed by more than 200 tributaries, some of which are more than 1,000 miles in length?

One reason is that for a period of perhaps millions of years heavy rainfall — now around 50 to 120 inches a year — has "almost completely leached the soil of readily soluble minerals that affect the chemical purity of a river," according to the Geological Survey.

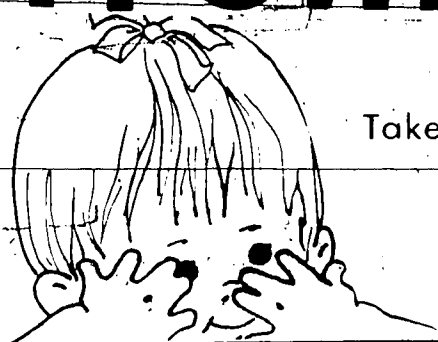

The soil in the Amazon basin, the Survey said, has been so thoroughly leached of mineral content "that it is not sufficiently fertile for most agricultural crops." Only along the flood plains is the soil rich enough for agricultural development.

This has been proved by ill-fated attempts in times past to carve farms out of the rain forest by clearing the land of its age-old tree cover. The forests were luxuriant, so why wouldn't the land be, once the trees were got out of the way?

It turned out that the ripe growth of the richly watered rain forests was sustained largely by their own accumulated humus

If a man answers ... don't hang up

TWIN FALLS — A deep masculine voice comes across the wire — "Number, please." "Oh, I'm sorry, I wanted the operator," responds a "sweet little old lady type voice, followed by a "click" and a dead wire. This type of shortlived conversation has occurred frequently the past month to Twin Falls' first male telephone operator.

Steven Poindexter is one of three men hired by Mountain Bell Telephone Co. in Idaho.

Poindexter is a husky 6-footer, a 19-year-old graduate of Filer High School.

Poindexter has had his fair share of people hanging up on him since he started work about a month ago after three week's training.

But, although he likes the switchboard and the feminine company, he eventually would like to work into an executive position.

It takes a certain temperament to deal with the public as a telephone operator, Poindexter said, and he has had a lot of fun in his new position. Girls often ask him for dates, he said when they reach him by dialing 0 for operator.

Poindexter is fully qualified to handle all calls, including long distance, but has not yet trained as a directory assistance operator.

He heard about the job through friends, applied for it and became the second male operator in Idaho. There are now two male operators in Boise.

On the distaff side of the telephone company, Darlene Foss works in a position called "stockman." Her job, however, consists of reconditioning telephones, putting new parts in phones and assists in refueling vehicles used by the telephone company forces.

Ken Mann, Mountain Bell manager in Twin Falls, said there are men and women working for the telephone company in jobs normally considered to be more appropriate for the opposite sex.

He said the telephone company has "jobs," not "jobs for men" or "jobs for women."

Women's liberation has seen the movement of many women into "men's jobs in other fields.

According to records at the Idaho Department of Employment in Twin Falls, there are women carpenters, house painters, fence builders, truck drivers, welders and construction workers.

Two women have even applied to attend the operating engineers school at Weiser, which trains heavy equipment operators.

In the case of males entering the field of telephone operators, it's not a case of men's liberation — but it's a step back to the original set-up. The telephone company reports that originally most telephone operators were male and were replaced by women, with men only recently reentering the field.

The male operator is frequently heard over Bell telephone wires in Reno and Seattle, where quite a large number of male operators have been hired.

"NUMBER, please?" requests Steven Poindexter, 19, Filer, one of the three male telephone operators in Idaho. A graduate of Filer High School, he has worked at the Twin Falls Mountain Bell Telephone office for approximately one month.

Rock patterns unique, impressive

Viewers find rock forms interesting

ALBION — There's a monster on Mt. Harrison.

He's a pretty rough customer, too.

Unlike some other monsters, this one doesn't move around much. So he's not too hard to find.

This monster is really an oddly-shaped rock formation located a few hundred yards south of the road leading to Lake Cleveland, but the formation isn't visible from the road. It takes a short walk to reach it.

Then, from a certain angle, the formation — one of a group scattered along the side of the mountain — appears to have a broad, flattened head with deep-set eyes. The viewer's imagination can endow the "critter" with other facial or physical features.

And seen from close range, some of the effects of weathering on the rock formations dotting the area are almost equally striking.

you really went wrong then. The professor was right as always. The student was unlucky to find all five trumps and the ace of hearts in the West hand and both ace and queen of clubs in the East, but the student had two ways to insure his contract at trick one.

The simple way was to play a low diamond from dummy. Then when West got in with the ace of hearts the student could cover the next diamond with dummy's jack and be sure not to lose more than two diamond tricks.

Or the student could have discarded a low club instead of ruffing the first trick and got out of trouble that way.

TWIN FALLS — How is the lighting in your kitchen?

Now with shorter days, much of meal preparation is done before sunup or after dark.

Not so long ago, homemakers were satisfied with a single light fixture in the center of the kitchen ceiling to provide light — and were happy to have that. But times have changed and so have lighting practices.

Modern kitchens are better planned, more attractively decorated, equipped with more labor-saving appliances than ever before. All this makes working in the kitchen more pleasant and efficient.

Today, the single ceiling fixture still may be there but it is supplemented with additional fixtures at all the work centers and in the dining area. Well planned lighting makes food preparation, cooking and cleanup easier and faster. Safer, too, because it helps prevent accidents, burns and cuts for there are no shadows to obscure clear vision.

Lighting for the kitchen falls into two categories — general and local. General lighting should provide diffuse over all lighting. Local lighting is specifically planned for a work area such as a sink range or counter top. Following are recommended levels for lighting today's kitchens.

General illumination 150 to 175 watts of incandescent or 50-

60 watts of fluorescent for EACH 50 SQUARE FEET of floor area. One of the most effective treatments is an entire luminous ceiling (fluorescent fixtures behind translucent paneling or plastic grid) and it can be easily installed in an existing kitchen. Remember that natural and dark wood cupboards, paneling and colored counter tops absorb light and lighting levels need to be increased to compensate.

Range Center — 70 to 100 watts of incandescent or 30 watts of fluorescent. A lighted range hood is adequate; otherwise, ceiling-mounted or under cabinet fixtures may be used. The light on a range control panel does not provide sufficient light.

Sink Center — 150 watts of incandescent or 60 watts of fluorescent. A fixture may be mounted above the sink or a decorative hanging fixture can be used in this area.

Counters — one 20-watt fluorescent fixture for about every three feet of counter surface. These fixtures may be mounted under upper kitchen cabinets.

Dining — 150 watts of incandescent light (it makes food appear more appetizing than fluorescent.) Fixtures may be decorative to match the style of the home's interior furnishings. A dimmer switch is easily installed, if you prefer "atmosphere."

Does your home meet these standards? Very few do.

October Readers' Theatre opening slated by CSI

TWIN FALLS — The seventh season for the CSI drama department will open at 8:15 p.m. Oct. 20 and 21 in the Fine Arts Theatre 119.

The opening Readers' Theatre production is "Love's Ladder," reports director Fran Tanner. A special high school performance is scheduled for Oct. 19.

The hour and a half program will be composed of two separate shows that share both the humorous and serious aspects of love. The evening's performances are being sponsored by Delta Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity on campus.

Experienced readers known to last year's audiences include Patrick Cunningham, Burley; Penne Main, Jerome; Bob Haynes, Hansen; Mick Guillen, Twin Falls, and Douglas Garfield, Jerome. Newcomer to the group is Sue Palmer, Maryland.

Delsa Allen, Twin Falls, soprano, will be featured in the musical interludes preceding the two acts. She is a student of Gene Middleton, CSI music professor.

Prose and poetry are combined in Act I entitled "Ladder of Love." Humorous and satirical aspects are featured by the readers.

Act II is a short play, "The Romancers" by Rostand, the famous French author who wrote "Cyrano de Bergerac." This light-hearted piece romps with romantic intrigue with a story that Broadway adapted into the musical "The Fantasticks."

Production crews include director, Fran Tanner, professor of speech and drama; Ed Collins, instructor in speech and drama; and student stage manager, Douglas Garland.

Tickets are on sale at the CSI Student Information desk, CSI Commons.

Advance purchase is recommended as FA 119 has limited seating. Tickets may be reserved by calling 733-9554, exten. 233.

The two 30-minute shows will also be available to community meetings and conventions during this year. Interested groups may contact Fran Tanner at CSI.

MV women to attend meet

TWIN FALLS — A bus will be chartered to take women from seven Magic Valley counties to the annual meeting of the Idaho Extension Homemakers Council.

Mrs. Patricia Maughan, Twin Falls County extension home economist, said that about 35 women from Twin Falls, Jerome, Minidoka, Cassia, Gooding, Elmore and Owyhee counties are planning to ride the bus to the two-day convention being held in McCall, Oct. 18 and 19.

Anyone interested in attending should contact the Twin Falls County extension office for further information.

Speakers at the conference include Joan Bergy, U.S. Food and Drug Administration; Louise Shaddock, Washington, D.C.; and Dr. Douglas Tiffany, McCall. Their talks will follow the theme "Glances of an Expanding World."

Western District Homemakers' councils are host for the event. Mrs. Trudy Chisholm, Hayden Lake, state extension homemaker president, will preside.

Persons attending will have opportunity to participate in seminars of interest including safety, health, citizenship and public information.

Filer Maroa Women meet

FILER — Mrs. A. K. Reed was hostess for the Maroa Women's Club meeting Thursday afternoon at her home.

Mrs. Paul Hainline read the inspirational thought for the day. Mrs. Cecil Brown and Mrs. Don Hine won game prizes. Mrs. Fred Decker and Mrs. Roy Byland were guests.

The club made plans for a Christmas gift exchange in December.

Mrs. Orville Sackett was co-hostess.

Mrs. Jacob Tolk will hold the Nov. 9 meeting, assisted by Mrs. Irene Childers.

Winners

HANSEN — Mrs. Wayne Smith was high score winner at the Jolly 12 Pinochle Club meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Alma Ball.

Mrs. Chloe Weech was hostess. Mrs. Ruth Wright was second high and Lydia Mae Pryon was low.

Mrs. Weech presented Mrs. Ball a gift in thanks for the use of her home. Mrs. Jack Nuckols and Mrs. William Allen were guests.

The Nov. 9 meeting is at the home of Mrs. Ralph Simmons.

Couple weds at temple

RICHFIELD — Norma Ralls and Lynn Tree were married in ceremonies performed by Elder Holger P. Peterson at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple Sept. 29.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ralls. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Tree, all Richfield.

Among the guests attending the ceremony were parents of both the bride and bridegroom; Mrs. E. J. Tree, Salt Lake City, grandmother of the bridegroom, and aunts of the bride and bridegroom.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a wedding breakfast at the Chuck-Arama, Salt Lake City, after the ceremony.

An open house honoring the couple was held at the Hoytville, Utah LDS Cultural Hall the evening of the ceremony. Three large lighted pillars topped with green fern made the background for the reception line.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace over crepe-backed satin, featuring an empire waistline, stand up collar, long full sleeves with wide buttoned cuffs and scalloped lace at the waist and hemline. Her bridal veil was of nylon tulle, with a flower headpiece. The gown was designed by the bride.

Her bridal bouquet was white rosebuds centered with three large white orchids and white ribbon streamers.

Peggy Ralls, sister of the bride, Rexburg, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Jensen, Richfield, and Delbra Tree, Salt Lake City, sisters of the bridegroom, and Letty and Anita Tree, both Richfield.

Charles Tree, brother of the bridegroom, Richfield, was the best man. Edward Tree, the bridegroom's brother, Logan, Utah, and Robert Ruffland, Salt

MR. AND MRS. LYNN TREE

Lake City, were ushers.

A reception was held at the Richfield Ward LDS Cultural Hall Sept. 30.

A white archway decorated with white ribbon bows, white carnations and lavender and purple asters made the background for the reception line.

Charlotte Davis, Barbara Davis and Colleen Brown arranged the gifts.

The three-tiered wedding cake was white, decorated with white bells, lavender and purple roses and rosebuds. Mrs. Ross Swainston and Mrs. Glen Jensen cut the cake and served punch.

Assisting with serving were Janea Swainston, Janeen Dixon, Yvonne Jensen, Christine Davis and Kathy Bowers.

Special guests were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George Ralls, Burley, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Albrethsen, Richfield. Other relatives and friends attended from Ashton, Idaho Falls, Rexburg, Carey, Fairfield, Pocatello, Jerome, Burley, Twin Falls, Meridian, Boise and Richfield.

The newlyweds reside in Richfield, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming with his father.

Scholarship supper slated by TF IOOF

TWIN FALLS — Plans for the third annual Ridgeway Memorial Scholarship pancake supper were made at a meeting of Twin Falls IOOF No. 23 Thursday.

Fran Rider, noble grand, presided at the meeting at the Odd Fellows Hall.

The supper will be at the IOOF Hall, at 235 3rd Ave. E., Nov. 4 from 5 to 8 p.m. Proceeds will go to help a local student attend the College of Southern Idaho.

Last year, the scholarship was won by Sharon Jorgenson, Twin Falls. She is presently attending CSI.

Clothes improve sex life?

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI) — It used to be said that a new hat would cheer a woman up.

Now Dr. Joyce Brothers says the right vacation clothes may improve her sex life.

In a filmed speech shown to fashion writers recently at the California Fashion Creators' showings, Dr. Brothers noted that a husband and wife see each other differently on a vacation. Relaxed, they can appreciate each other more. A man will notice a new hairstyle or a new pantsuit. "The relationship, if it's a good one, benefits," said Dr. Brothers.

"Even sex becomes better," Dr. Brothers stressed the importance of vacations and vacation clothes.

A woman buying her vacation wardrobe is mentally enjoying her trip long before it even begins. A man doesn't start to enjoy his vacation until he gets where he's going," she said.

She suggested that the man who takes a few drinks when he comes home from work every day is a candidate for a long vacation.

She suggested that couples take separate long weekends rather than separate long vacations. "The best separate vacation for a man seems to be a camping trip," she said. "This is easiest to explain to his wife."

The ideal vacation for children, according to Dr. Brothers, is "not to go away, but to have a pool in the backyard and do nothing in the way of self-improvement."

EVERY CUT OF SAFEWAY BEEF IS USDA CHOICE

3 REASONS YOU CAN ALWAYS DEPEND ON SAFEWAY MEATS

- 1 USDA CHOICE BEEF AND LAMB
Finest quality pork and veal, too.
- 2 ALL CUTS TRIMMED BEFORE WEIGHING
Excess bone and fat removed.
- 3 UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE
Your money courteously refunded if any cut fails to please.

Safeway's (the) place

U.S.D.A. Choice Beef & Lamb

At Safeway, every steak, every cut of beef, every cut of lamb is USDA Choice grade. This is meat graded by U.S. Department of Agriculture inspectors, and, importantly, USDA inspectors are available to inspect the meat in every Safeway store. This is the most rigorous inspection.

In order to feature such a quality of meat, Safeway has selected the best of the best USDA Choice and lower grades. Some of the cuts are the same as the ones you see. But at Safeway, every cut of beef and lamb is USDA Choice.

Safeway Specialized Handling

Our meat experts, using modern equipment and procedures, select the top quality of Safeway meats as they are transported and prepared for sale. The day and temperature are controlled to protect the tenderness, juiciness and flavor of each steak, sheep and roast.

Nothing is left to chance in making sure that the meat is always at its best quality.

Expert Meat Cutting & Trimming

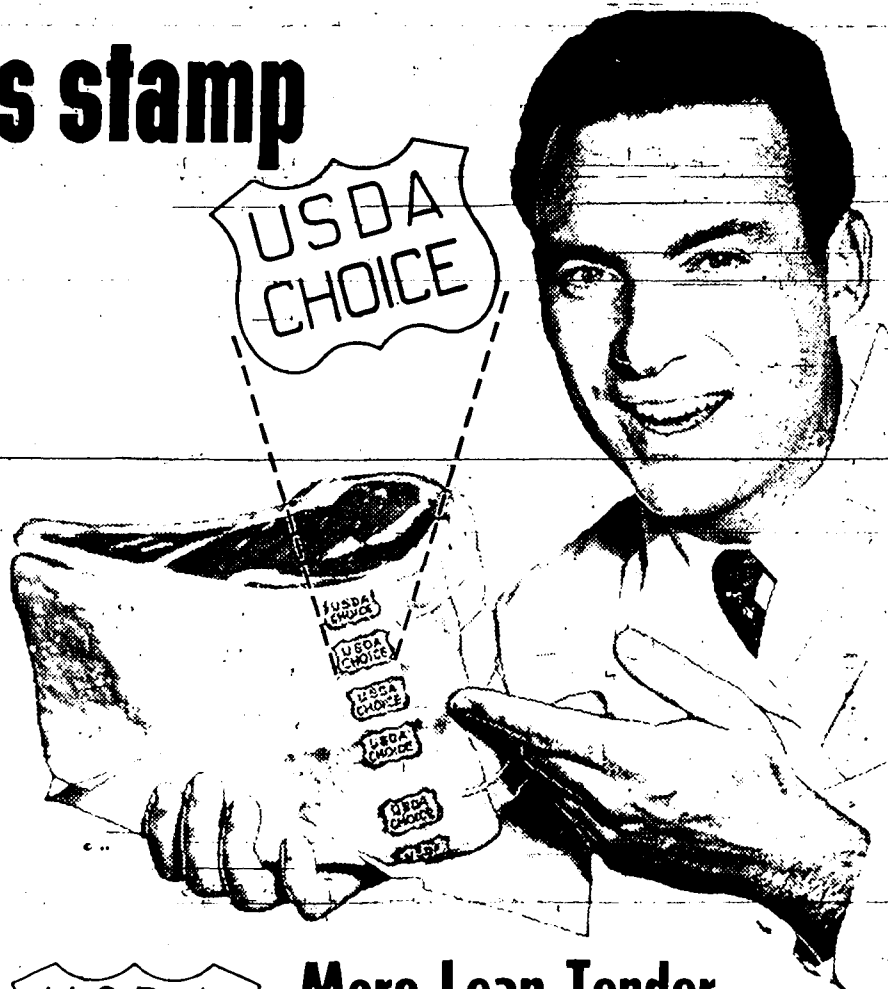

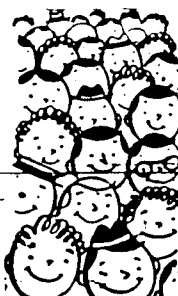

Our method of butchering meat is unique. We select the best of the best for your money, because excess fat and bone are cut off before the meat is weighed. In preparing meats for sale, we also make sure that each cut will be just right for its cooking method. The meat on every Safeway steak, for example, is all steak meat. The less tender end portion has been trimmed off to be sold at a lower price per pound. Similarly, a Safeway roast is roast meat.

Since We're Neighbors Let's Be Friends!

DESIGNING WOMAN!

Safeway's wonderful stores are really designed by you, Mrs. Homemaker! You rightfully insist on the "mostest and the bestest" for your family... and we've made it our job to bring you just that. DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of a more or less happy marriage—mostly less—my husband ran off with our cook. I miss her terribly and cannot seem to replace her.

With your vast knowledge and experience in matters of this kind, will you please advise me how to get her back, leaving my husband where he is?

Don't tell me to have somebody bump him off because I don't have that kind of money.

College Day set at TFHS

TWIN FALLS — The annual college day for the Twin Falls High School senior class will be Oct. 25.

Kimberly High School seniors will also participate in the event scheduled for 9 a.m. to noon at Twin Falls High School.

College Day is being planned by senior class officers, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Charlton. The officers include Mike Styrill, president; Brent Olmstead, vice president; Nancy Bonnett, secretary, and Terry Latham, treasurer.

Eleven colleges will send representatives who will present an hour long resume.

The participating colleges and their local hosts include Boise State College, Franny Florence; Brigham Young University, Elaine Summers; College of Idaho, Mark McKain; College of Southern Idaho, LeAnn Dorland; Idaho State University, Dick Walker; Lewis and Clark College, Brent Olmstead; Northwest Nazarene College, Terry Latham; Ricks College, Caroline Hall; University of Idaho, Janie Mead; University of Utah, Nancy Bonnett; Utah State University, Mike Beck.

Salmon fishing is the oldest commercial fishing in California, having started on the Sacramento River during the gold rush.

DEAR WRECK: Tell that tower of Jello you are married to be had better tell his mother to respect your privacy. And if things don't improve, insist on parking your trailer somewhere else. In your present setup, your marriage isn't worth a bean.

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I lost a beautiful 21-year-old daughter in a car accident. She was driving alone and the driver of the other car ran a red light and struck her car, killing her instantly. There were many witnesses, who all agreed on what happened. The man who hit her is quite well off.

I can be in a grocery store or anywhere in public and people I hardly know will come up to me and ask, "What did you get out of your daughter's accident?"

I reply, "The loss of a daughter!"

This may be considered a rude answer, but I don't think it's anybody's business. If you agree with me, please print this in your column. Maybe they will see it and realize how cruel and heartless they are.

BROKENHEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yours was not a rude answer. I think it was very touching, and more than they deserved.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of my fiancée's mother? I have been engaged to her son for two years, and she still refuses to meet me because she is being "loyal" to his ex-wife. Thanks for your opinion.

LOU IN LONG BEACH

DEAR LOU: Much would depend upon some facts which are unknown to me. Did you in any way contribute to her son's divorce? If not, his mother is grossly unfair, and you should consider yourself lucky you don't have to spend any time with her.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Wedding promises exchanged

EDEN — Charlotte Crumrine and Richard Erickson exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony Sept. 29 in Valley Presbyterian Church, Hazelton.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Harold Cameron, Eden, and the late Don Crumrine, Hazelton, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Erickson, Kimberly.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. George Hirose before altar baskets of all chrysanthemums accented with large yellow bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a floor-length gown of white satin with long full sleeves. The sleeves and skirt were covered with an overlay of white lilies of the valley organza. She carried a colonial bouquet of white, blue and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Julie Brown, Pocatello, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shauna Christopherson, Hazelton, and Dee Dee McDonald, Eden. Caria Nakano, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Joe Gattau, Twin Falls, was best man. Mike and Dennis Erickson, brothers of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Jeff Drake and Randy Claiborn were ushers.

Wedding music was provided by Donna Lauce, pianist.

The couple was honored at a reception immediately after the ceremony in the church basement.

The bride's table featured a three-tiered cake decorated with blue and white flowers topped with a pair of doves around a heart.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Roy Laughlin, Twin Falls, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Jim Christopherson, Hazelton. Mrs. Keith Myers, Eden, served punch and Mrs. William Cooper, Heyburn, aunt of the bride, served coffee.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD ERICKSON

Quartet tables were covered with blue and white lace cloths and centered with snifters holding fall flowers.

Judy Hagen, Hazelton, was in charge of the guest book.

Wade Hamby and Gary Dotson, Kimberly, were gift carriers. The gift tables were attended by Mrs. Pat Pharris and Mrs. Harold Schlund, Hazelton; Mrs. Tom McCaughey, Jerome, and Pauline Evans, Paul.

Mrs. Fred Stremler and Mrs. Hans Hagen and Mrs. Harold Griffith, Hazelton, also assisted with the reception.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Russell Schwartz and Mrs. Keith Myers, Eden. Judy Hagen hosted a lingerie shower in Twin Falls, assisted by Dee Dee McDonald, Debra Craig and Rosalie Nelson.

Special guests were grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dotson, Kimberly. Guests attended from Pocatello, Boise, Jerome, Buhl, Hailey, Kimberly, Hazelton, Eden and Twin Falls.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at their home in Kimberly the evening of Sept. 28.

The couple resides in Pocatello, where the bridegroom is a student at Idaho State University.

TF literary guild hears book review

TWIN FALLS — "Eleanor and Franklin" was reviewed by Mrs. Byron L. Averett for members of the Literary Art Guild Thursday evening.

Members met at the home of Mrs. Melvin E. Anderson. "Eleanor and Franklin" is the story of the private life of Eleanor Roosevelt.

Mrs. Claude Brown Jr. welcomed members and two guests, Mrs. Ellen Remington and Mrs. Margaret Oaks. The program was introduced by Mrs. Roy E. Babbel. A sketch of the life of the author, Joseph P. Lash, was presented by Mrs. Jerry H. Swensen and Mrs. Bernell Skinner gave the "guided thought."

Hostesses were Mrs. Vaughn M. Pond and Mrs. Wayne Bauer.

The next meeting is Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Wendell Petty.

OES visit slated

HOLLISTER — Plans for the visit of Mrs. Glenadene Keister, worthy grand matron, were made when members of Hollister Chapter No. 47, OES, met Thursday evening.

The visit is set for Nov. 13. Mrs. Ray Clark, worthy matron, and Ray Clark, worthy patron, were in charge of the business session.

The landmarks were read by the worthy patron. Past matrons and past patrons were honored and each received a gift from the worthy matron and worthy patron.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Barbara Nelson.

Ogden temple rites set

DIETRICH — Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Allred, Dietrich, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Ilona, to Gary F. Bowman.

Miss Allred was graduated from Castleford High School and attended Utah State University. Bowman is a graduate of Dietrich High School and has attended Idaho State University. He has completed a two-year mission for the LDS Church in the Northwestern States Mission.

The couple plans a Nov. 1 wedding in the Ogden LDS Temple.

Autumn is a wonderful time to pack the camera with color film and shoot the foliage. Planning your pictures gives best results.

LINDA MYERS

Magic Valley Favorites

Week's Recipe Winner
FREDERICKA THOMPSON
819 Ash, Twin Falls

Molasses Spiced Fruit
1 can (16 ounce) cling peach halves
1 can (16 ounce) pear halves
1 can (16 ounce) whole apricots
1 can (16 ounce) sliced pineapple
1 stick cinnamon
2 teaspoons whole cloves
1/2 cup molasses
1-3 cup vinegar

Drain syrup from fruit. To syrup add one teaspoon of cloves and the stick of cinnamon. Stud the fruit with the remaining cloves. Bring syrup to a boil and boil about 15 minutes. Add molasses and vinegar. Add fruit and heat. Serve hot or cold as a relish. The flavor improves if allowed to stand in the refrigerator for 24 hours or more.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

POLLY'S

DEAR POLLY—I have found the job of raking leaves is easier if I remove the top tray from a snack tray stand, stretch a plastic garbage bag over the stand and then put the leaves in this bag. The stand can be very easily moved about the yard.—MELINDA

DEAR POLLY—When tomatoes grow large and rest on the ground before they ripen, I place a foil pan under each tomato. This keeps them dry and free from rot. They seem to ripen faster as the sun reflects on the pan.—GERTRUDE Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, c/o this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—When we started to put up a swing set for our children we discovered that the swing chains cut their little hands. Also, these chains were hard for a little one to hold and little fingers could get stuck in the chain links. My husband ran the chains through lengths cut from old garden hose before attaching the seats. No more cut hands and the hose is a good size for little hands to hold.—MRS. C. O. C.

DEAR POLLY—A 12-pocket plastic shoe bag is most useful when hung in available space in a travel-trailer. This bag will hold numerous items—brushes, combs, talcum, sprays and many other small things. A name should be attached to each pocket so each family member knows where his own things are. A piece of masking or freezer tape will work fine for this. We have found the quilted vinyl bags more durable, and we hang them on a couple of 2-inch cup hooks.—EM.

DEAR POLLY—When my electric clock is losing time I place it face down and leave it running that way for several days. This redistributes the lubricant, and it then runs correctly.—JASON

DEAR POLLY—If your pet spills his water, dig a hole in the ground just deep enough to hold the base of the bowl. When it's filled with water there is no danger of a spill.—JAMES

DEAR POLLY—Here's a Pointer for those who cut rags into strips to use for making rugs. To save time in deciding which color to use next and then having to stir through a pile of rags to find it, I keep each color in a separate box or bag. When I am ready to sew the strips together I arrange the containers in a half-circle in front of me with the colors in the order I want to use them. I start at one end and keep going around. Saves time, and it keeps my rags from roveling and tangling.—MRS. E. S.

DEAR POLLY—I used a felt hat my husband had discarded to make a protector for my scissors. First, I steam-ironed the hat flat, laid my scissors on it and marked around it, allowing one-half-inch extra all around. I cut two pieces like this and then stitched around and up to the scissor handles, then cut away that part of the front side above the handles for easy removal.—ROSE

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask" Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR RICARDO MONTALBAN, actor

As a Mexican-American, do you feel that Mexicans have been portrayed correctly in Hollywood films?
—J. Pearson, Hamilton, Ohio

● Hollywood has always had a tendency to portray Mexicans in one of two ways—almost equally ridiculous: as lackadaisical peon bandits with big mustaches and bullets across their chests, or as gigolo-type Latin lovers. I'd like to think these portrayals are based on ignorance rather than maliciousness. There were two exceptions: "Viva Zapata" and "The Treasure of Sierra Madre." There were bandits in "The Treasure of Sierra Madre," but the Mexican people had dignity. They were understandable human beings. However, there is a growing tendency today to portray Mexicans and other minority groups with more depth, more understanding, more dignity.

FOR DAVID JANSSEN

You were one of the judges in the Miss World contest. Tell me honestly, isn't there a lot of cheating going on?—O. H. Joliet, Ill.

● Bob Hope invited me to be one of the judges, and I can assure you that when he is involved, there is no cheating. And if someone had come to me and said, "I want you to vote for a certain girl" for whatever reason, I would have told her or him to go and jump!

FOR JEANE DIXON, seeress

Will President Nixon be reelected?—Harry B. Halvorson, Waukon, Iowa

● My prediction is that President Nixon will be reelected in a close race, if the Republicans do not become too overconfident.

FOR HANK AARON, of the Atlanta Braves

How long do you think it will take you to break Babe Ruth's record of 714 home runs?—Craig Miller, McMinnville, Ore.

● I think I have a chance to break Ruth's record, but things will have to fall my way. I have been relatively free from injuries during my career and I would have to have the same kind of luck over the next couple of seasons. I would not want to say when I might reach 714 home runs, but if it is to happen at all, it probably would be sometime in 1974.

FOR POLLY BERGEN

You always look so good! What kind of a diet are you on?
—N. L. R., Burlington, Vt.

● I don't exactly diet. I just cut down on what I eat—approximately half. Of course, I stay away from very fattening foods. I think breakfast is the most important meal of the day and should never be skipped. Anything you eat after 3:30 goes to fat. And I weigh every day. If you go even one pound over, start cutting down while you still can!

FOR PAULA PRENTISS

Both you and your husband Dick Benjamin are appearing in recent movies. Are you terribly worried about the reviews?—R. D. L., Santa Rosa, Calif.

● Nope. I think Dick's great in "Portnoy's Complaint," and I love my part in "Last of the Red Hot Lovers"—it's so much fun just saying Neil Simon's lines. But if these movies aren't smashes, the next ones will be. I mean, I'm not opposed to having successes. Far from it. But my whole world doesn't depend on that.

FOR PERRY COMO

Is it true that you are so lazy that when you don't work, you don't get up till noon?—F. Lang, Albany, N.Y.

● To be honest, the laziness was always part of my act. As for getting up in the morning, when I go fishing—next to golf, my favorite pastime—I get up at six in the morning, and sometimes earlier, and then my neighbors say, "Just look—that Italian idiot is at it again!"

FOR JOHNNY CARSON

Why did you move the "Tonight" show from New York City to California?—Robert Garza, Laredo, Texas

● The main reason was to bring my viewers some new faces. New York has actors from Broadway, and writers, and other interesting, creative people, but the nation's biggest talent pool is in California. That's why we moved the show.

FOR FLIP WILSON

I've seen a lot of magazine pictures where you're shown at Redd Foxx's house. Do you live near him?—Donna E. Foster, Sacramento, Calif.

● My home is wherever I happen to be at the time, and many times, especially weekends, I find myself in Las Vegas. I do not maintain a residence there, but I often visit Redd, who is an old friend of mine.

FOR JAMES FRANCISCUS

I read in FAMILY WEEKLY that you've been married for 12 years. Don't you feel tied down by the marriage contract?—B. N., Dothan, Ala.

● No. Certainly contracts are restrictive, but that's part of life, unless you want to walk around as a vagabond. When you marry, you know you have to relinquish certain freedoms, but if it is the right combination, each partner becomes more of an individual. Each gives something to the other, a momentum. Kitty infects me with enthusiasm. I motivate her. If everyone puts in more than he takes out, you're home free.

The Very Gentle

By Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

The Peales in their Pauling, N.Y. country home. Dr. Peale writes: "An enthusiastic man or woman is a person who cares, and real caring is the most contagious thing in the world."

The other night I attended a dinner party where our hostess was a lively, imaginative lady. "Tell me," she asked her guests at one point, "if you suddenly discovered you had a fairy godmother willing to grant you one gift—just one—to improve your personality, what would you ask for?"

No two people had the same idea. One guest said he would wish for a sharper sense of humor. Another said she would request liberation from her inferiority complex. A third thought for what seemed like a full minute. Finally he said, "I'd ask for the gift of persuasion. It's not only the most useful skill in the world, it's the most fun!"

I've been pondering those words, and I believe that man was right. Successful persuasion is fun. Not only that, it's absolutely essential to successful living.

Just look around you! In any profession, any enterprise, the man or woman at the top is almost always a master persuader. The rank and file use it constantly too. A jobholder has to persuade his employer that he's worth keeping on the payroll. A teacher has to persuade her students to learn. Every time I preach a sermon, I'm trying to persuade people to follow the greatest Leader who ever lived. Every speech I make before a convention or other gathering is designed to persuade people to buy a certain thought pattern. We're all persuaders, every one of us.

Art of Persuading People

A famous minister reveals a lifetime's worth of precious—but deceptively simple—hints on dealing with others

Why are some people so much better at the art of persuasion than others? Are there any guidelines to follow, any commonsense rules that will help when you're trying to get another person to walk the road of agreement with you? I can think of half a dozen that have been useful to me. Anyone can apply them. Here they are.

1. Always look at your proposal from the other person's viewpoint. This may seem elementary, but it's astonishing how often would-be persuaders fail to do it. They're so intent on their own objectives that as they talk, the other person begins to feel that he's being exploited or used. This sets up instant resistance.

In persuasion it's not so much what you say that counts, it's the total impression that you convey. If your approach primarily takes into consideration the welfare of the person you're trying to persuade, something in him is going to sense it and respond to it. If you're merely self-seeking, or trying to take advantage, it's going to show through. A wise man once said, "What you are shouts so loudly that I can't hear what you say." Exactly so!

2. Avoid the hard sell; it's counter-productive. No one likes to be cornered. No one likes to be pressured. There's a point at which persuasion becomes demand. Stop short of this! Even if you force apparent agreement, the other person will resent you for it. "A man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still."

Even in small things, the unobtrusive persuader gets the best results. I know an extremely busy man whose days are filled with a steady stream of visitors. He never glances at his watch. He never seems to hurry his guests. But when he thinks an interview has gone on long enough, he leans forward, puts his hands on his knees, tilts his head expectantly. Invariably the visitor rises, convinced that he is ending the conversation, blissfully unaware that actually he has been persuaded to leave.

3. Stay constantly aware of

Your family room can be as special as your family. This book will show you how.

There's no other family quite like yours. So decorating your family room should be a very special thing.

Your free copy of our book "Ideas for Family Rooms" is waiting for you now at your nearby Sherwin-Williams store. Check the Yellow Pages for the address.

And bring the family.

Sherwin-Williams. More than a paint store.

the effect you're creating. If it's favorable, move ahead. If not, draw back. The person who fails to do this isn't a persuader; he's a bore.

Recently a friend dropped by to ask me to take on some additional responsibility. I had more than my usual quota of harassments but made myself listen attentively—I thought. Suddenly he smiled, stood up, reached for his hat. "I'll come back next week," he said. I protested that I was ready to discuss the matter now. "No," he said, "you're not. You have other things on your mind. Don't worry. This will keep."

How he read the signs I don't know. All I know is that if he had insisted on an answer that day, he would have had a negative one. Being a good persuader, receiving as well as sending, he knew this too—and acted accordingly.

4. If you find the front door locked, go around to the side. Good persuaders don't try to pry open a closed mind; they think of possible alternatives.

Not long ago my hostess in a Midwestern city was telling me about the struggles of the local symphony orchestra to survive. Things looked grim, she said, when it was announced that the city funds which had been available in the past would be discontinued. One of the aldermen, a self-made man with no fondness for music and a resentment of "society people," was blocking the grant.

At a hurriedly called meeting of music lovers, various proposals were made: send a delegation to see the man, explain to him the advantages of a civic orchestra, threaten him with political reprisals, and so on. Finally a hitherto silent businessman spoke up. "Why," he asked, "don't the ladies of the Symphony Guild invite his wife to be a vice president?"

The lady was invited. She accepted. And the problem disappeared. Indirect persuasion, maybe. But it worked!

5. Whenever possible, create a climate of acceptance in advance. Happy, relaxed people are responsive, cooperative people. Fretful, moody people are not. Every salesman knows that the time to talk business is after an enjoyable meal, not before.

Every afterdinner speaker knows that if he says something pleasant about his audience it conditions them to listen to him. Every intelligent wife avoids discussing family finances when her husband is tired or hungry.

We can learn from the greatest of all persuaders. Whenever I read the New Testament I marvel at our Lord's mastery of this technique. When people flocked to hear Him, He didn't harangue or lecture them. He simply told them some of the greatest short stories the world has ever known. Then, when He had them enchanted, spell-bound, fascinated—and receptive—He persuaded them in the direction He wanted them to go.

6. Finally, let your enthusiasm show through. This is perhaps the most important rule of all, because no worthwhile persuasion can be accomplished without it.

To an astonishing degree, all of us are mirrors, faithfully reflecting whatever emotions or attitudes are placed before us. It's easy to resist a halfhearted persuader; after all, he hasn't been able to persuade himself. But an enthusiastic man or woman is a person who cares, and real caring is the most contagious thing in the world.

A few weeks ago in Philadelphia I met a lively lady in her seventies who had been a member of the first troop of Girl Scouts in this country. She told me that Juliette Low, the eccentric, warmhearted Founder of Scouting, had had two secret weapons that she used in her early efforts to recruit Scout leaders among her skeptical friends. Being somewhat deaf, she refused to hear their excuses or refusals. Then, in the time thus gained, she talked with such excitement and enthusiasm about her dream that her listeners were unable to resist her. Caught by the contagion of caring, they were seduced, beguiled, persuaded into becoming partners in her great adventure.

The artless art of persuasion—have I convinced you that it can be fun? A good persuader would have! In any case, try it for yourself—and see.

Star Chat

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

Look Who's Back!

What's June Allyson Up to Now?

Family Weekly: You used to have a beautiful big estate in Mandeville Canyon. Do you still?

JUNE: No, it was too big for me after Richard went away. [June's husband, actor-producer Dick Powell, died in 1963.] Today I have a beautiful apartment, and a maid to look after it. It is easier for me this way. If anything breaks I just call the manager to fix it. I don't have all the responsibility of looking after it myself. By a funny coincidence, it is right across the street from where I first lived when I came to Hollywood, only then I paid $35 a week, and had a bed that folded up into the wall.

FW: I understand you're in a new movie. What is it?

JUNE: It's a picture by MGM called "They Only Kill Their Masters." And it's not a "sweet little June Allyson" role, either. I'm almost embarrassed to say it, but I play a well, let's say I play a woman who likes other women better than men. But I don't do anything! It isn't dirty, there's no nudity in it.

FW: Even if there's no nudity, it's still a tremendous change of pace for you, isn't it?

JUNE: Exactly, and that's why I accepted it! I want to move on into another area instead of always being so sweet. Time is moving on. You have to move with it. It's just a cameo part anyway.

FW: You still have the same hairstyle that you had years ago. Why haven't you ever changed it?

JUNE: I grew up with it, and I liked it—although I have made a slight change. It used to be parted on the side, and now I pull it back.

FW: Looking at you, you don't seem to have gained any weight. How do you manage?

JUNE: I weigh 92 pounds, which isn't bad for 5'2". I like food and I eat three big meals a day. But I just don't put on any weight. I've tried eating lots of ice cream and chocolates, but it didn't have any effect. Maybe there's something wrong with my metabolism. I don't do any special exercises either. Maybe I stay the same because I am a very busy person. I can't sit still for long.

FW: Do you have a temper?

JUNE: I lose my temper in a strange way. I get very quiet. Instead of meeting someone head on, I simply pull away. Besides, I think it is rude to lose one's temper. I am the same way with my children. If they do something I don't like, I tell them so quietly, and never when there is anyone else around. This way they can talk back to me, and when I'm wrong, I admit it.

FW: How old are your children?

JUNE: Pam is 23 and Ricky is 21.

FW: What do you want to do during the next five or ten years?

JUNE: I would love to be able to keep the peace I've found within myself recently, and to see Pam and Ricky healthy and happy human beings. As for work, I want to do it as long as people want to see me.

FW: Did you ever think of retiring?

JUNE: I thought about it after Richard went away. It was so difficult to even walk on the set. Everything was Richard. I didn't enjoy acting any more. I didn't enjoy the sets any more. I thought I should get as far away from it as possible to make it easier for me. But that wasn't the answer. So I went back to work.

FW: If you had to live your life over again, what would you do differently?

JUNE: Just one thing: I'd try to figure a way to keep Richard. Other than that, I don't mind what happened because you learn from your experiences. Even the bad ones. Only a fool will make the same mistakes twice.

To the 56,000,000 people who smoke cigarettes.

A lot of people have been telling you not to smoke, especially cigarettes with high 'tar' and nicotine. But smoking provides you with a pleasure you don't want to give up.

Naturally, we're prejudiced. We're in the business of selling cigarettes.

But there is one overriding fact that transcends whether you should or shouldn't smoke and that fact is that you do smoke.

And what are they going to do about that?

They can continue to exhort you not to smoke. Or they might look reality in the face and recommend that, if you smoke and want low 'tar' and nicotine in a cigarette, you smoke a cigarette like Vantage.

And we'll go along with that, because there is no other cigarette like Vantage. Except Vantage.

Vantage has a unique filter that allows rich flavor to come through it and yet substantially cuts down on 'tar' and nicotine.

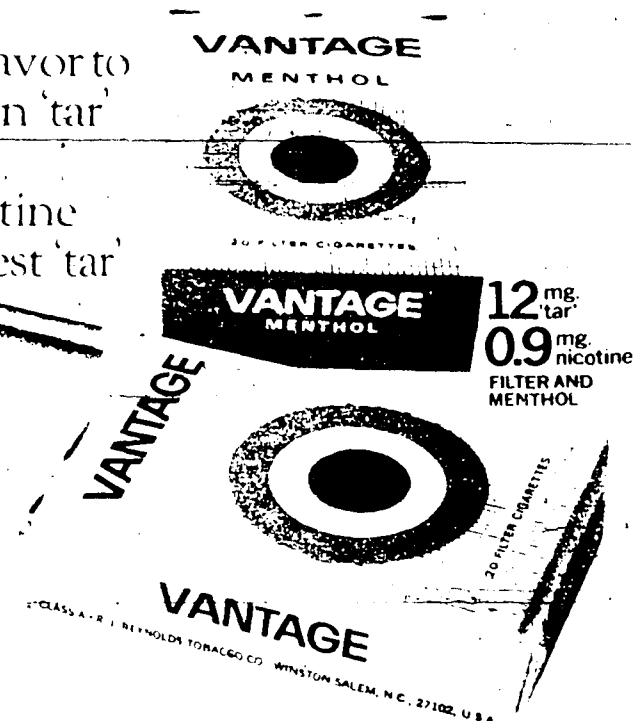

Not that Vantage is the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette. (But you probably wouldn't like the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette anyway.)

The plain truth is that smoke has to come through a filter if taste is to come through a filter. And where there is taste there has to be some 'tar'.

But Vantage is the only cigarette that gives you so much flavor with so little 'tar' and nicotine.

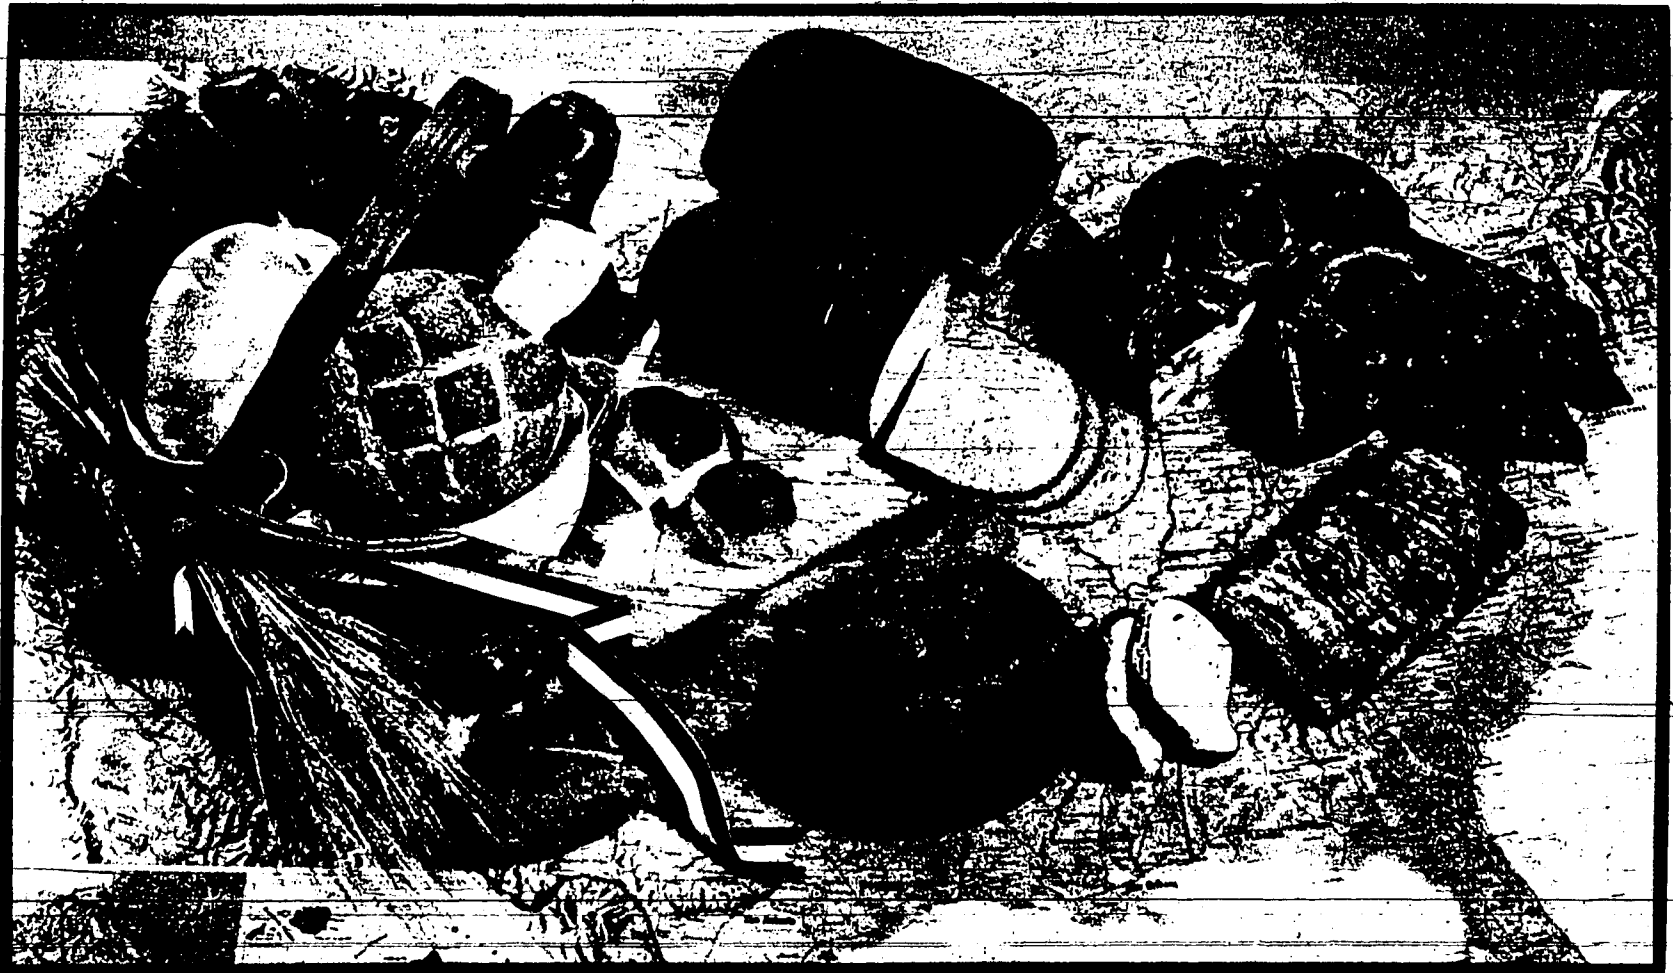

So much flavor that you'll never miss your high 'tar' cigarette.

America's Yeast Breads— From Coast to Coast

Photograph for Family Weekly by Lizio. Map copyright 1969 by Rand-McNally & Company, reproduced by permission.

A cross-country selection of breads. (See drawing for identification.) In the basket: (1) Cheese-Paprika Bread; (2) Arab Bread; (3) Sour French Bread. On the map: (4) Anadama Bread; (5) Cinnamon Bubble 'n' Swirl; (6) Pull-Apart Pepper Bread; (7) Norwegian Wheat Bread; (8) Sour Rye Bread; (9) Raisin Black Bread.

There's a fantastic revival taking place in American kitchens from coast to coast: bread baking. Yeast sales have risen phenomenally, also the demand for various kinds of flours. It's all part of the homemaker's desire to create a central part of the family's nutrition, and also a sincere effort to exercise some control over just what ingredients are going into that central part.

The magic ingredient of bread making is yeast, without which the bread would be hard, flat and unappetizing. Yeast is a living microscopic plant. It works with the sugar in a recipe to produce carbon dioxide. This is what makes the dough rise.

As for flour, all-purpose wheat flour is the type used most frequently, although whole wheat flour, rye flour, oatmeal and other cereals sometimes are combined with all-purpose wheat flour to make breads and rolls. The interest in home bread baking has also fostered the creation of enriched natural bread-flour blends: enriched white-whole wheat, enriched white-corn blend and enriched white-rye blend.

We have used the Rapidmix method in our recipes, as it saves time and energy. The dry active yeast is mixed with some of the dry ingredients. The liquid is warmed to 120° F., 130° F. and beaten into the yeast-flour mixture. The dough formed rises faster because it is warmer, and therefore perfect for yeast fermentation.

In 2-quart saucepan mix sugar, KARO and water. Boil, stirring constantly to 250°F. or until drops of syrup form hard, yet plastic balls in cold water. Add candies and cook to 285°F. or until drops of syrup separate into hard but not brittle threads in cold water. Remove, stir in food coloring. Twirl apple in syrup. Remove, let excess drip off then twirl. Cool on greased baking sheet.

To decorate: Dip licorice, small candies, marshmallows and gum drops in KARO and apply immediately or later. Or, thinly spread KARO on apple and sprinkle with coconut, cereal or decorative sugar.

POPCORN UGLIES

¾ cup KARO light or dark corn syrup
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 quarts popped corn

Boil KARO, sugar and salt together 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Gradually pour over popped corn, toss until coated. Grease hands; shape into balls and insert wooden sticks. (If popcorn mixture cools during shaping place over low heat.) Makes 6 popcorn balls. To decorate: Dip candy corn, candy wafers, chocolate chips, and licorice laces in KARO and apply immediately or later. Or, thinly spread KARO over popcorn ball and sprinkle with chocolate shot, colored sugar or coconut.

Uglies make nice trick or treat surprises, too.

PULL-APART PEPPER BREAD

5½-6½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour or 5½-6½ cups unsifted enriched unbleached white flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon cracked black pepper
1½ teaspoons crushed red pepper
1 pkg. active dry yeast
1½ cups water
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons margarine plus 3 tablespoons melted margarine
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

1. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, sugar, salt, black pepper, red pepper and the undissolved active dry yeast.
2. Combine water, milk and 3 tablespoons margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is very warm (120°F.-130°F.). Margarine does not need to melt.
3. Gradually add to dry ingredients, beating at low speed of electric mixer as you add. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally.
4. Add ¼ cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally.
5. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. You will have to really work at this, adding rest of flour with your own well-scrubbed hands!
6. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.
7. Punch dough down; divide in half. Cover, let rest on board 15 minutes. Roll one half into 12x8-inch rectangle. Brush with melted margarine. Cut into 4 equal strips, 8 inches long. Stack strips. Cut into 4 equal pieces, 2 inches wide. Place on edge in greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan so that layers form one long row down length of pan. Repeat with remaining dough.
8. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.
9. Sprinkle tops with grated cheese. Bake at 400°F. about 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Serve warm or cold. Great served warm at barbecues!

CINNAMON BUBBLE 'N' SWIRL

6-7 cups unsifted all-purpose flour or 6-7 cups unsifted enriched unbleached white flour
½ cup wheat germ
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1¾ cups milk
½ cup water
3 tablespoons margarine or butter plus 4 tablespoons melted margarine or butter
¾ cup light-brown sugar, packed
1 cup broken walnuts
2 teaspoons cinnamon

1. In large bowl mix 2¼ cups flour, wheat germ, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.
2. Combine milk, water and 3 tablespoons margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is very warm (120°F.-130°F.). Margarine does not need to melt.
3. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in remaining flour, or enough to make a stiff dough. You will want to use your own scrubbed hands to work in the flour.
4. Turn out dough onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk. Takes about 40 minutes.
5. Punch dough down, cut in half. Roll each half into a 15x10-inch rectangle. Brush with 1½ tablespoons melted margarine. In small bowl combine brown sugar, walnuts, and cinnamon. Sprinkle half of this mixture over dough. Roll up jelly-roll fashion from 15-inch side. Cut into ten 1½-inch pieces. Shape half of pieces into balls (bubbles), leave others as swirls. Repeat with second half of dough.
6. Arrange bubbles and swirls in greased 10-inch tube pan. Sprinkle with any remaining sugar-cinnamon mixture and melted margarine.
7. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Preheat oven to 375°F.
8. Bake for about 60 minutes until done. Place foil loosely over top to prevent crust from getting too brown during last 20 minutes of baking.
9. Cool 2 minutes in pan, then turn out onto rack. Let cool upside down 15 minutes; then turn right side up to finish cooling. Makes 1 large loaf.

ANADAMA BREAD

- 7-8 cups unsifted all-purpose flour (or 8-9 cups enriched white-corn-flour blend)
- 1½ cups yellow cornmeal
- 2½ teaspoons salt
- 2 pkgs. active dry yeast
- ½ cup softened margarine or butter
- 2¼ cups very warm tap water (120° F.-130° F.)
- ½ cup molasses (at room temperature)

1. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2½ cups flour with cornmeal (if using white-corn-flour blend, use as is), salt and undissolved active dry yeast. Add margarine.
2. Gradually add water and molasses to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour.
3. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in additional flour to make a stiff dough. Work remaining flour into dough with your own well-scrubbed hands.
4. Turn out onto lightly floured board, knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.
5. Punch dough down; divide in half. Roll each half into a 14x9-inch rectangle. Shape into loaves. Place in 2 greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.
6. Just before rising time is up, pre-heat oven to 375° F. Bake about 45 minutes, or until done. Remove immediately from pans and cool on wire racks. Makes 2 large loaves Testing bread for doneness: When baking time is up, remove one loaf and tap bottom or sides with knuckle. It is done if loaf sounds hollow. In breads baked on a baking sheet, tap top crust with knuckle. If it sounds hollow it is done.

NORWEGIAN WHEAT BREAD

- 4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour (or 6 cups unsifted enriched white-rye-flour blend)
- 2 cups unsifted rye flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ½ cup wheat germ
- 1 tablespoon ground cardamom
- 2 pkgs. active dry yeast
- 1¼ cups milk
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup margarine or butter plus 2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter

1. Combine flours. If using white-rye-flour blend, use as is. In a large bowl, thoroughly mix 1½ cups flour, sugar, salt, wheat germ, cardamom and undissolved active dry yeast.
2. Combine milk, water and ¼ cup margarine in saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is warm, 120-130° F. (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat at medium speed of electric mixer for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally.
3. Add ¼ cup flour, or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally.
4. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough. Use your own well-scrubbed hands to work in the flour.
5. Turn out onto a lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk. Takes about 45 minutes.
6. Punch dough down; turn out onto a lightly floured board. Divide in half, shape each half into a round loaf and flatten slightly. Place in 2 greased 8-inch pie or cake pans. Start near the center of each loaf and make 6 cuts, about ¼ inch deep, curving slightly to the edges of the loaf. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.
7. Just before rising time is up, pre-heat oven to 400° F. Bake 30-35 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Brush top crust with melted margarine. Makes 2 loaves

Mrs. Loma Russell, Miss California 1957, serves chicken salad sandwiches.

Mrs. Russell is now the mother of two and a school teacher in Carmichael, California. She cares about her children's diet, so she's careful to give them a well balanced lunch. "A child's nutrition is what you make it. Boned Chicken, a bit of celery salt, a bit of mayonnaise and light brown bread make a delightful chicken salad sandwich. With vegetable soup, milk and fruit, I feel the children have had a good lunch."

Peter Graves: "Anybody Can Serve Noodles— But Not Like My Wife's!"

By Peter Graves,
as told to Helen Dorsey

I'm very fortunate that I can eat what I want to eat when I want to. Good cooks abound in my family. I was very young when my grandmother passed away, but my mother has told me many stories about the huge family dinners she used to prepare. They would sit down at the table and eat for four or five hours, with as many as 15 courses. Mostly she prepared heavy German fare: sauerbraten, goulash, rouladen and what they call spatzle (home-made noodles).

Recently my wife Joan and I were visiting in Colorado and ordered some German noodles in a restaurant. They weren't nearly up to my wife's. For one thing, they were done by machine. All the restaurant did was put the dough into it and slice it off. Joan hand-cuts her noodles and cooks them in boiling water, or turns out a delicious noodle pudding as a great side dish to go with beef.

Luckily, I'm married to a lady who never got involved in the acting profession, and I think that's tremendously important. She only gets involved in it with me. She can turn out anything from delicious wiener schnitzel or rouladen to great Italian dishes. She creates wonderful pasta, pungent sauces and veal picatti.

We love our family dinners. We sit down with our three daughters in our Spanish-style house in Santa Monica or at our mountain retreat at Lake Arrowhead. But I've got to admit, I'm probably better playing the clarinet than fooling around in the kitchen. I'm happy to carve the roast or pour the wine! A lot of people ask me about Women's Lib. I think it's marvelous. I think all women should be liberated. But (perhaps luckily for me) my wife's not that type!

JOAN GRAVES' NOODLE PUDDING

- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 large eggs
- ¾ cup water or milk, scant
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 1 stick butter, melted

½ cup toasted bread crumbs

1. In large mixing bowl combine flour and ½ teaspoon salt.
2. Beat eggs in separate bowl with fork, beat into flour mixture with wooden spoon.

3. Add water to make a soft dough (barely runs off edge of bowl).
4. Add remaining salt to boiling water, bring to rolling boil.
5. Tilt mixing bowl until dough reaches edge. As it starts to run off, take a silver knife and slice along edge of bowl, allowing dough to drop into boiling water. Cook about 5 minutes, drain.

6. Pour melted butter over cooked noodles, add bread crumbs. Simmer a few minutes. Serve with roast beef, rouladen or sauerbraten.

Makes 4 servings

AFTERTHOUGHTS. Joan's noodles are tricky for the novice cook, as dough is extremely soft and takes skillful cutting with the knife to turn out uniformly small noodles. To simplify the procedure, press dough through holes of a collander.

EGG NOODLES WITH ROULADEN

- 1 slice white bread
 - ¼ cup milk
 - ¼ lb. ground beef
 - ½ lb. ground pork
 - 1 medium onion, chopped
 - 1½ tablespoons chopped parsley
 - Salt
 - Black pepper, freshly ground
 - 8 slices (about 2½ lbs.) top round of beef, pounded (halved if necessary)
 - ½ cup diced salt pork, rendered, or ¼ cup butter
 - 1 large onion, thinly sliced
 - 2 cloves garlic, minced
 - 3 medium carrots, sliced
 - 2 tomatoes, peeled, chopped
 - ¼ teaspoon whole allspice
 - ½ teaspoon thyme leaves
 - 1 bay leaf
 - ½ cup dry red wine or water
 - 1¼ cups water
 - ¼ cup flour
 - 4-6 quarts boiling water
 - 8 cups medium egg noodles
1. Soften bread in milk; add ground meats, chopped onion, parsley, ¼ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper.
 2. Spread evenly over beef slices. Roll up, secure with toothpicks.
 3. In Dutch oven brown beef rolls in rendered salt pork; drain and discard excess fat. Add sliced onion, garlic, carrots, tomatoes, allspice, herbs, wine, 1 cup of water, 2½ teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Simmer covered 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Remove rouladen.

Peter Graves, star of CBS's "Mission: Impossible," was raised on foods like sauerbraten and spaetzle back in his native Minnesota.

4. Blend remaining $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water and flour; stir into pan liquid. Cook, stirring until sauce boils for 1 minute. Reduce heat and return meat to sauce.
5. Add 2 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander. Serve rouladen over noodles. Makes 8 servings

SHRIMP ORANGE FLAMBE

2 lbs. medium-sized shrimp
2 quarts water
1 bay leaf
Pinch of oregano
2 sticks sweet butter
1 small clove garlic, crushed
2 navel oranges, peeled
Rind of $\frac{1}{2}$ orange, grated
1 oz. curaçao, heated
1 oz. brandy, heated
Rice, white or saffron, cooked

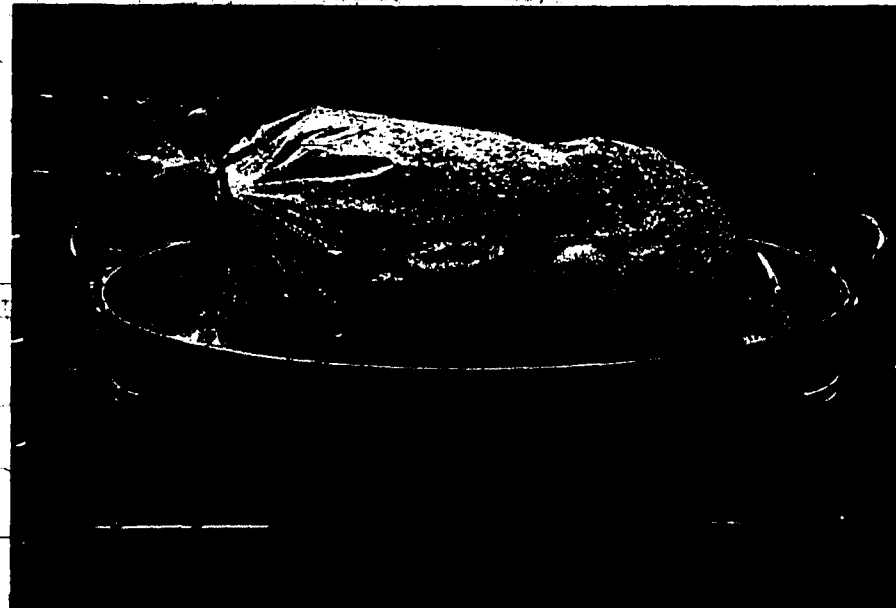

1. Boil shrimp in water seasoned with bay leaf and oregano. Peel shrimp, remove dark vein, and place shrimp in warming dish.
2. Melt butter, add crushed garlic. Pour over shrimp.
3. Cut $\frac{1}{2}$ oranges into wedges, place around shrimp in warming dish. Sprinkle grated orange rind over shrimp.
4. Set fire to heated brandy and curaçao, pour over shrimp. Spoon shrimp and oranges over cooked rice.

Makes 6-8 servings

SAFFRON RICE

1 cup uncooked regular rice
2 cups chicken broth
1 teaspoon salt
Water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon powdered saffron

Combine all ingredients. Bring to a boil, stir once. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 14 minutes, or until rice is tender. Makes 6 servings

CHEESE-PAPRIKA BREAD

5-6 cups unsifted all-purpose flour or enriched unbleached white flour
1/4 cup wheat germ
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon paprika
2 teaspoons salt
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup margarine or butter
1 1/2 cups shredded sharp, natural Cheddar cheese
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon water
Paprika

1. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, wheat germ, sugar, paprika, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

2. Combine milk, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is very warm (120° F.-130° F.). Margarine does not need to melt.

3. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup cheese and 1/2 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally.

4. Stir in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. You will have to use your own well-scrubbed hands to incorporate the flour.

5. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

6. Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Roll each half into a 15x2-inch roll. Place each roll on a greased cookie sheet to form a "C" (for cheese!). Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

7. Just before rising time is up, preheat oven to 375° F. Beat yolk with water and brush surface of dough. Cut dough in several places at outer edge of "C," 2 inches apart. Sprinkle loaves with rest of shredded cheese and paprika. Bake for 35-40 minutes, or until done.

RAISIN BLACK BREAD

- 4 cups unsifted rye flour (or 7 cups unsifted enriched white-rye-flour blend)
- 3 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 cups whole-bran cereal
- 2 tablespoons caraway seed, crushed
- 2 teaspoons instant coffee
- 1 teaspoon anise seed, crushed
- 2 pkgs. active dry yeast
- 2½-cups water
- ¼ cup vinegar
- ¼ cup dark molasses
- 1 square (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
- Cornmeal
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- ½ cup cold water

1. Combine rye and white flours. If you are using the white-rye-flour blend, use it as is. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2½ cups of flour, sugar, salt, whole-bran cereal, caraway seed, instant coffee, anise seed and the undissolved active dry yeast.
2. Combine water, vinegar, molasses, chocolate and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until the liquid is very warm (120° F.-130° F.), and the margarine and chocolate are melted.
3. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally.
4. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough. You will have to work in flour with your own well-scrubbed hands.
5. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Cover; let rest 15 minutes. Then knead until smooth and elastic, about 10-15 minutes (dough may be sticky). Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until the dough is doubled in bulk. Takes about 1 hour.
6. Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide in half. Roll out half of dough into 14x8-inch rectangle. Roll up from long side jelly-roll fashion. Press edges to seal. Place long seam side down on cookie sheet sprinkled with cornmeal. Repeat with second half of dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1-1½ hours.
7. Bake in preheated 350° F. oven 45-50 minutes, or until done. Meanwhile combine cornstarch and cold water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 1 minute. As soon as bread is baked, brush cornstarch mixture over top of loaves. Return bread to oven and bake 2-3 minutes longer, or until glaze is set. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

SOUR FRENCH BREAD

- 4½-5½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour or enriched unbleached white flour.
¼ cup wheat germ
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1 can (12 ozs.) malt liquor
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon margarine
Cornmeal
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Sesame seeds or poppy seeds

1. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1½ cups flour, wheat germ, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.
2. Combine malt liquor, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is warm, 120°-130° F. Margarine does not need to melt.
3. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour, or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Add enough flour to make a soft dough. Use your well-scrubbed hands to work in the flour.
4. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic (8-10 minutes). Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.
5. Punch dough down. Turn out onto lightly floured board; divide in half; form each piece into a smooth ball.
6. Place on greased baking sheets that have been sprinkled with cornmeal. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.
7. Brush with beaten egg white. Sprinkle with sesame or poppy seeds. With razor, slash tops of loaves crosswise and across again, about ¼ inch deep.
8. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 20-25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks.

SOUR RYE BREAD

- 4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour (or 6 cups unsifted enriched white-rye-flour blend)
2 cups unsifted rye flour
2 tablespoons caraway seeds
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
1 can (12 ozs.) malt liquor
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
Cornmeal
1 egg white
1 tablespoon cold water

1. Combine all-purpose and rye flour. If using white-rye-flour blend, use as is. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2½ cups flour, caraway seeds, salt, sugar and undissolved active dry yeast.

2. Combine malt liquor, ¼ cup water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is very warm (120° F.-130° F.). Margarine does not need to melt.

3. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour, or enough to make a thick batter.

4. Beat at high speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Use your own well-scrubbed hands to work in the flour.

5. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes.

6. Punch dough down; turn out onto a heavily floured board. Divide dough in half. Roll each half into a rectangle 15x10 inches. Roll up tightly from wide side as for jelly roll; pinch seams to seal. Place, long seam down, on greased baking sheets that have been sprinkled with cornmeal.

7. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes. With sharp knife or razor make 4 diagonal cuts on top of each loaf.

8. Just before rising time is up, preheat oven to 450° F. Bake for 25 minutes. Remove from oven and brush with egg white mixed with cold water. Return to oven; bake 5 minutes longer, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Makes 2 loaves

ARAB BREAD

- 5-6 cups unsifted all-purpose flour or enriched unbleached white flour
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 pkg. active dry yeast
2 cups very warm tap water (120°-130° F.)

1. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, sugar, salt, undissolved active dry yeast.
2. Gradually add tap water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add ¾ cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. You will want to use your own well-scrubbed hands to work in the flour.

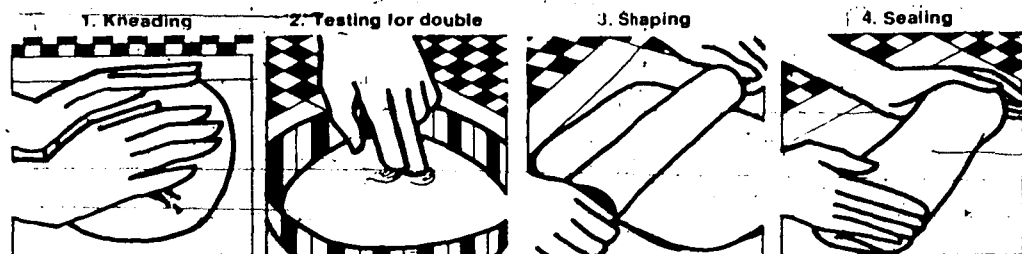

3. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8-10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

4. Punch down dough; turn out onto lightly floured board. Cover; let rest 30 minutes.

5. Preheat oven to 450° F. Divide dough into 6 equal pieces; shape each into a ball. On lightly floured board, roll each ball into an 8-inch circle; place on a lightly floured baking sheet.

6. Bake on lowest rack of preheated 450° F. oven for 5 minutes. Bake on rack in center of oven 3-5 minutes, or until lightly browned and centers puff up. Remove from baking sheet, wrap each in foil. When loaves are unwrapped, the tops will have fallen and there will be a pocket of air in the center. Makes 6 loaves Arab bread is an old type of bread that has gained new popularity at Middle Eastern-style fast-food stores in San Francisco, Chicago and New York. The bread is slit on one side and filled with a hot mixture of sliced lamb, a seasoned sauce and perhaps lettuce and tomato.

Tricks of the Trade: 1. Kneading is necessary if the loaf is to retain its shape. Knead with heels of hands. 2. To test for double in size, press fingers ½ inch into dough; if dent stays, it's double. 3. Divide dough in half and roll into rectangles; this gets rid of gas bubbles. 4. Seal ends and fold under; place seam side down in greased pan.

People Quiz

So You Think You're an Expert on Love!

By John E. Gibson

True or False: The envelope of a love letter often tells more than what's inside. (See number 2.)

Some people find love easily, but for many of us love is elusive and as hard to find as it is to define. In this quiz we take a quick look at Cupid's action in the bow-and-arrow department.

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. To a girl seeking love and romance, farther fields are likely to look the greenest.
2. The envelope of a love letter often tells more than what's inside.
3. People who are lacking in self-confidence and who have the greatest need for love and affection are the most receptive to it.
4. People are often attracted to each other and fall in love because they have similar personality needs.
5. Women are more inclined than men to believe in the starry-eyed love of pure romance.
6. Men love women more than women love men.

ANSWERS

1. True. That's one reason why single girls like to travel. And as one psychologist has observed in summing up his findings on the subject: "The further a woman travels on her vacation, the more anxious she is to find love and romance."
2. True—according to the findings of University of California psychiatrist Dr. Harry A. Wilmer. His studies show that envelopes can reveal behavior, attitudes, moods and relationships more effectively than letters. For example, "Letters from a lover might initially show return addresses far to the right, almost directly over the addressee's name. But if the romance cools, the return address may drift back to the upper left corner, to the back flap, or even disappear completely."
3. False. It's true that the low-esteem, lacking-in-self-confidence person may have an intense need for love, but as one leading authority has pointed out, "A symptom of excessive need for the approval of others is extreme sensitivity to rejection." Such people are apt to misconstrue all kinds of things as rejection and react with suspicion and distrust. Studies also show that while the confident, high-self-esteem person takes it for granted that others will like him—since he likes himself—the low-esteem individual finds it difficult to accept the fact that another person feels affection for him.

4. False—according to a recent study of engaged couples, which showed that in most cases the attraction resulted from complementary needs. That is to say, one person was strong in attributes that the other lacked. The women were significantly stronger than the men they were in love with in these characteristics: friendliness, helpfulness, loyalty, willingness to forgive and to accept blame, sympathy for others, ability to show affection. The men were appreciably stronger in perseverance, doing one's best under difficult circumstances, and ability to direct, influence and make decisions for others.

5. False. Sociological studies at the University of California and elsewhere have shown that men are much more idealistic in their attitude toward love. Women may appear to be more romantically oriented, but personality tests show that they are really much more realistic than the average man is.

6. False. Studies at a leading university have put romantic love under the social scientist's microscope. Using nearly 200 dating couples as subjects, loving and liking were evaluated through special questionnaires and objective-measurement techniques under controlled conditions. Findings: Both sexes tended to love each other with equal feeling or ardor. However, it was found that "Women liked their boyfriends somewhat more than they were liked in return." It's pointed out that it's perfectly possible to love a person without liking him—as well as vice versa.

The Doctor Lets You In

What's Really the Best Cure for a Hangover?

Everyone claims to have a surefire remedy for a hangover (particularly when it's someone else's hangover): tomato juice, aspirin, black coffee, beer, even "the hair of the dog that bit you." Science has its favorite remedies, too—but they're none of the above. Perhaps the most oft-tried hangover "cure" is aspirin. But aspirin—while it might relieve the headache part of the hangover—is one of the worst things you can take. The reason is that alcohol, in almost any quantity, irritates the stomach. This stomach irritation is called gastritis. And in an irritated stomach, aspirin can produce bleeding. That's why aspirin—which is otherwise an excellent analgesic—is always cautioned against when stomach problems exist (like, for example, ulcer). All right, then, what should you take for a hangover? The best remedies are acetaminophen or salicylamide (show these names to your pharmacist—he can supply you with the brand names). These are drugs that have many of aspirin's effects, but that do not irritate the stomach. The use of an alkaline drink can also help—like a half-teaspoonful of sodium bicarbonate (baking soda) in a glass of water, or one of the effervescent alkaline drinks. But no aspirin. —By Erwin Di Cyan, Ph.D.

Jobmanship

Those First Five Minutes of a Job Interview

Up to now you may have thought that the first few minutes of a job interview were the easiest. You and the interviewer are introducing yourselves and talking about general topics before settling down to serious details. Be careful, though. Those first four or five minutes are not only important, they are probably it! Industrial psychologists have found that most interviewers form a complete impression of you and your fitness for the job during this time. Regardless of what happens later, their first decision changes very little. One possible guide as to what influences an interviewer during those opening moments comes from a study made of interviewers who were screening applicants for seven different jobs. The interviewers said they were impressed by evidence of a job applicant being stable, responsible, conscientious and dependable. However, the psychologists who conducted the study point out that it's not always easy for the interviewer to be sure of what really impresses him during those first crucial minutes. —By S. R. The answer to the signs that alarm every woman... MINK OIL AND BEAUTY

By Billie Ann Bender

About five years ago I was shocked when I discovered in my mirror those dreaded signs of dryness—little lines that were certain to deepen, if neglected—lines that take away from your beauty and make you look older than you are. It seems that the awful changes in climate, temperature, humidity—even soaps and detergents are the causes of this condition.

I had always pampered my skin. Special creams, lotions, costly astringent rinses—I used them faithfully.

So I tried different brands, even more expensive, but nothing helped. I was ready to give up. I thought I'd have to accept the fact.

Then something struck me—something I never would have known if my husband hadn't owned and managed a mink farm where we lived.

One day, I was serving coffee to three of the men who handle the mink pelts. These men had worked for my husband about 25 years. As I gave them their coffee, I couldn't help but notice their hands. How smooth and soft they were!

I thought about them all that day. I believed there must be something in the body or skin of the mink that made their hands so smooth and soft. And if it was good for hands, then it must be good for the face and throat. Could this be the answer to the signs that alarm every woman?

I told my husband what was on my mind and asked if he could possibly extract some of the oil from the mink pelts. At first he laughed at me, but then agreed I might have a point. He consulted a chemist friend, and together they compounded the mink oil with a pure balm base. It was a costly process, but what it produced I believed was priceless.

After I'd used the mink oil three weeks, I could see a change in my complexion. It was fresher, clearer, smoother looking. Two months later there was no doubt about it. My formerly dull, dry skin now had a glowing, dewy look. I was really thrilled! The little lines had been eased away. Even my throat seemed petal-smooth and more firm looking. I could hardly believe it.

My friends and relatives were astonished at the change in my appearance. When I told them what I'd been using, of course they wanted to try it. Without exception, they had wonderful results.

They urged me to make my product available to all women. They said I'd be doing a real service since these problems can be terribly disturbing.

So I gave my precious mink oil a name and put it on the market. It's called Emlin® Mink Oil Essential Creme. It contains no hormones, estrogens or steroids—only the pure oil and balm. Already I've received hundreds of letters from delighted users. Many said the effects were beyond anything they had hoped for.

And, mind you, there's nothing complicated about the application. (Who has time for elaborate beauty rituals? I'll bet you don't.) Just apply Emlin® Mink Oil Essential Creme at bedtime and leave it on while you sleep. That's when it works its wonders, helping to penetrate below the surface of your skin replacing lost natural oils, restoring moisture balance, leaving a beautifully lovely skin you never dreamed possible.

I'm so confident my Mink Oil cream can do marvelous things for your skin, I offer it to you with an unconditional guarantee. Just try it. See for yourself, in your own mirror, how it helps ease away unwanted dreadful lines. Many women wrote of gratifying results after only two weeks. Some take longer. But I want you to understand this. If, for any reason, you are not pleased with Emlin® Mink Oil Essential Creme, just return the unused portion to me, and I'll mail you a full refund, plus postage with no questions asked.

Now it's up to you. Here is your chance to have beautiful, attractive skin—at no risk. Fill out the coupon and mail today.

Her family has a lovely house, balanced meals, stylish clothes—and Pin-Worms!

It's a medical fact that Pin-Worms can attack any family—rich or poor, young or old. Medical authorities say that at least 1 out of 3 persons examined are infected by the troublesome parasite—without knowing it. Even worse, Pin-Worms are highly contagious, so they can spread through the whole family.

Pin-Worms can happen to anyone. How can you tell if Pin-Worms have infiltrated your family? The most obvious signs will come from children—nose-picking, fidgeting and scratching to overcome the tormenting rectal itch.

What can you do about it? Fortunately there is an easy-to-take medication that gets rid of Pin-Worms. It's called Jayne's P-W tablets. Ask your pharmacist. He'll tell you that Jayne's P-W tablets are specially formulated with an effective medical ingredient that gets Pin-Worms out of your system. For a free informative pamphlet giving medical facts about Pin-Worms, send name and address to Jayne's P-W, Dept. A2, Box 400, New York, N.Y. 10016.

JOHN REAVES, Rookie Quarterback: Is There Room for Another "Broadway Joe"?

Can rookie quarterback John Reaves of the Philadelphia Eagles make it? He says:

"I feel I can be a starter right away." The Eagles, long one of pro football's weakest teams, hope he's right. They made him their first selection in the college draft last winter. . . . At the University of Florida, the sandy-haired, blue-eyed Reaves was a record-setting passer. He compiled 7,549 passing yards, five more than the total attained by former Stanford University star Jim Plunkett. One prominent pro scout calls Reaves "a young man who could eventually lead a team to the Super Bowl." . . . If John does that, he will be following in the footsteps of his idol, Joe Namath. John has closely watched the career of "Broadway Joe." "I try to pattern myself after him," says Reaves. "I like to wear white shoes like he does. I like mod clothes. And," he smiles with a mischievous wink, "I like girls, especially blondes." The 22-year-old rookie has been a quarterback since the eighth grade in Tampa, Fla. "I think the kid who was supposed to be the quarterback moved away," says Reaves. "The coach decided I might be able to replace him, even though I was only 5-6 then and weighed 125 pounds." Today, John stands 6-3 and weighs close to 215. A born Alabamian, John speaks in a soft drawl and addresses all older adults as "Sir" or "Ma'am." This politeness is not expected to extend to the playing field.

SUPER-CONCENTRATE DEODORIZER IS SO EFFECTIVE THAT

JUST THINK OF THE ODOR PROBLEMS DVO COULD SOLVE FOR YOU...IN THE HOME OR INDUSTRY, BOATS, CARS, PETS

READ HOW COMMERCIAL USERS SOLVE ODOR PROBLEMS

Cars that have had fires and have been repaired are treated with DVO to eliminate smoke odor. Acceptance of car is by owner and it must be odor free. DVO handles this big problem easily.

— Allstate Insurance Co.

Big trucks can carry leather hides one day and flour (foodstuffs) the next. How do they pass inspection? Four drops of DVO in the empty truck for 15 minutes (if refrigerator equipped turn unit on) and no odor.

— AMS Trucking Co.

This airline can carry thousands of monkeys into the country for scientific experiments. Imagine what the cargo hold smells like after it is unloaded. One drop of DVO every six feet and passengers can board 20 minutes later without any malodorous discomfort.

— Flying Tiger

When the plant was built, no one lived out here. Now it's the center of a community. Eight bottles of DVO are hung on strings around the plant. So far, no complaints from residents.

— Municipal Sewage Treatment Plant, Boca Raton, Florida

DVO is used in the kitchens, and laboratories. DVO has kept these rooms at very low or no odor levels.

— Fordham Hospital, Bronx, NY

Plastic food service trays hold odor. Two dashes of DVO in the washer water keeps them odor free.

— United Air Lines

Holding tanks (honey buckets) unloaded from airliners are treated with DVO while awaiting pick up.

— Airline Maintenance Service

DOES NOT MASK ODORS, BUT DESTROYS THEM

Use in infants rooms (for regurgitation, diaper pails). Use in bathrooms, sickrooms. Use on boats (kill fish odors; use in bilges, in heads). Use in garages, in refrigerators. Use for musty and damp odors in basements and summer homes. Use in outhouses, kitty litter boxes. Wash pets in solution of two drops DVO to a pail of water. It will eliminate any odor (including skunk) your pet has picked up. Use on pet in heat to keep other animals away from her. Use in central air conditioning systems to keep entire home odor free. One drop in each corner of room when painting will keep room odor free. An open bottle in the corner of a musty closet will keep clothes odor free for a year.

ACTRESS LANA WOOD
Acting isn't real life

"He'd grab me so hard I'd get black-and-blue marks, so they used to pad my arms," Lana Wood told FAMILY WEEKLY, recalling her days on TV's "Peyton Place." She was talking for the first time about the actor who played her husband, taking a sidelong swipe at other actors who "confuse acting with life." Her television mate was once supposed to push her, so she cautioned him, "Just put your hand against me, and I'll fall." Instead, she says, "He gave me a shove that sent me flying down some stairs, split my lip, and tore up my legs. I was furious! I spent more time in the hospital than anywhere else when I was doing 'Peyton Place,' all because of that actor. He didn't understand that this was play-acting, not real life. The actors that some fans call 'wonderful, fantastic,' but only go into roles where they play themselves, aren't really actors at all."

What's the most hazardous job in the U.S.? Fire fighting. Government figures reveal that 211 firemen were killed and 38,583 injured in the line of duty last year. What's made the job too hot to handle? While modern living has increased the dangers and problems for fire fighters and citizens, it hasn't provided the tools and technology needed to fight today's fire problems, says Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland in "The Journal of Insurance." In introducing a legislative bill to modernize fire fighting, he notes that the clothes that could protect the fireman, and even save his life, "are hanging in a closet at NASA," instead of in the nation's firehouses.

"LADY" AND ED DURDEN
He helped her to fly

What can a pilot teach a golden eagle? "It comes as a surprise to most people that eagles, just like human pilots, must learn how to fly properly. ... When Lady began flying, my Dad [Ed Durden] helped her by showing her where the winds were best and could be used to her advantage. ... Always there was a parallel experience in his early days of flying. ... Many times when she was learning to handle herself in the air she made the same mistakes new pilots do. ... She made several high-speed tail-wind landings before she learned that heading into the wind could slow her ground speed. These landings were hilarious as she tried desperately but to no avail to put on the brakes, always ending up in a jumble of feathers and looking rather sheepish." From "Gifts of an Eagle" by Kent Durden (Simon and Schuster, $5.95).

Quips & Quotes

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY By Richard Armour

LEAF ME ALONE

Leaves I think belong on trees.
I wish that they would stay there,
please.
But no, they drop on walk and lawn—
I'd like to put them right back on.
In fact with greenish paste or glue
That's what, someday, I swear I'll do.
I thought some may think I've lost my reason,
I'll make those leaves stay through the season.
Yes, through the year and, come the fall,

They simply will not fall at all.
I'll sell my rake, though good as new,
And put the money into glue.
This isn't hasty, isn't quick.
That's my resolve—I'll make it stick.

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Kids see life differently. Send original contributions —16. "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022 $10 if used—none returned.

I left my small son in his high chair at the table recently, and unfortunately the jam jar was within his reach.

Juliet Lowell's CELEBRITY LETTERS

Juliet Lowell, author of the all-time best-seller "Dear Sir," collects unintentionally humorous letters to and from people in all walks of life.

To Michael York

Dear dear Michael:

I saw you in Cabaret and fell madly in love with you as soon as the picture started. I felt terrible when Liza Minnelli wouldn't marry you.

I think I'm just as pretty as she is as you can see by this picture of me on the beach in my bathing suit.

You are so handsome and kind, I don't see how anyone could resist You.

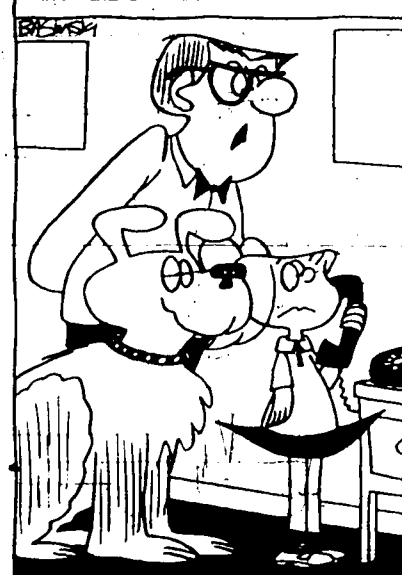

Please send plane fare by return mail so I can come to you at once.

Forever true,
Lisabeth
