

Building council cuts CSI request

TWIN FALLS — The president of the College of Southern Idaho said today he was "terribly disappointed" over the fate of the school's proposed new building.

The state's Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council, meeting last week, dropped CSI's proposed $2.1 million vocational-technical structure from its list of recommendations to the state legislature.

The Council had received requests for $25 million in construction, and pared the figure to slightly over $5 million in its final legislative recommendations.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, although disappointed over the decision by the council said, "when the Council has $25 million in requests and only $5 million in funds, they have to make cuts somewhere."

But he called for a "good hard look at the permanent building fund" to find ways of increasing it in future years.

Two years ago he said, the legislature had approved $42,000 in funding for the college to go ahead with planning for the proposed classroom building, which according to Taylor, would "enable us to move vocational classes on campus." The planning has been done, he said.

But a year ago, the legislature, on the recommendation of the Council, did not appropriate any more money for construction.

'Preventive' Israeli raids

By United Press International
Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir served notice on the Arab World today that Israel's air raids into Lebanon and Syria this weekend were just the beginning of a new policy of strikes against Arab guerrillas there.

Israeli warplanes hit five bases Sunday, four in southern Lebanon and one in Syria.

Mrs. Meir said: "Our war against the Arab terrorists... cannot be limited to defensive means, to safeguarding and self-defense."

Instead, she added, "it must be active in all that has to do with the detection of murderers, of their bases, their actions and operations, to foil their designs and, in particular, to stamp out the terrorist organizations."

Court balks on Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused again today to involve itself in the argument over whether the Vietnam War is unconstitutional. The vote was 7 to 2 with Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr. dissenting.

Three men claimed in a suit filed in Los Angeles federal district court that Congress unconstitutionally delegated its war power to the President when it passed the 1961 Foreign Assistance Act.

Federal District Judge William P. Gray and the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals both dismissed the suit. Today's brief order leaves those decisions standing.

The three who brought suit — Irving Sarnoff, Kenneth W. Rotger and Raphael Konigsberg — said the challenged sections of the law provide funds which the President can use for foreign military assistance, without specification of countries, terms or conditions.

Such assignments by the Congress to the President of powers given it alone under the Constitution "wind down the democracy of this nation," the appeal said. "As a result of such assignments the President takes over functions of the suit, calling the subject matter "political." Justices Potter Stewart, Douglas and Brennan have also 8 times Vietnam War challenge but four votes are needed for acceptance of a case.

In a three-page dissent, Douglas said the Constitution gives Congress, not the President, the power to "declare war" and that this is a "specific grant of power that impliedly bars its exercise by the executive branch."

The power "is so pervasive in its reach that it may effect the lives, the property, and the well-being of the entire nation," he argued.

"No declaration of war has been made respecting Vietnam," Douglas added. "Hence the question can be phrased in terms of the constitutionality of the use of funds to pursue a 'presidential war.'"

Brennan joined Douglas in his written dissent.

Jerome murder hearing starts

JEROME — A preliminary hearing for Gay Dean Standlee, 30, Hazelton, charged with first degree murder, opened in Magistrate Court in Jerome today.

Standlee appeared before Magistrate Russell Shaud in connection with the charge. He is accused of murdering his former wife, Sharyn Woodall, 26, Silverton, Ore., in a shooting Aug. 18, 1971.

It allegedly occurred at the home of Standlee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Standlee, in the Greenwood area near Hazelton. Mrs. Woodall's husband, Theral Woodall, 41, also Silverton, was wounded in the shooting.

Dr. Robert H. Maier, Twin Falls pathologist, testified this morning that Mrs. Woodall's death resulted from brain damage caused by two bullets.

The shooting reportedly followed a family altercation. Mrs. Deloris Standlee, sister-in-law of the defendant, was the first witness called. She testified concerning events at the Standlee home on the evening of the shooting.

Standlee was arrested at the scene of the shooting on the night it occurred. He was subsequently released on $35,000 bond after asking for a preliminary hearing.

Nixon makes POW pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon made an unscheduled visit to a convention of families of American POWs today and promised that "under no circumstances" would the men be abandoned.

"We cannot leave their fate to the good will of the enemy," Nixon said.

Nixon said that negotiations aimed at ending the war had been "very intensive" over the past year, but he declined to give any specifics for fear that might jeopardize success of the negotiations — and because "I would not want to raise false hopes."

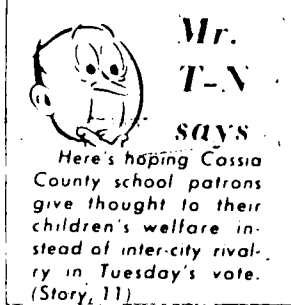

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief negotiator on Vietnam, had been expected to address the gathering at the Statler

Hilton Hotel of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia.

But Nixon told the meeting he decided to pre-empt Kissinger because he wanted the opportunity to thank the organization for supporting his policies in Southeast Asia.

Some 750 persons are attending the meeting, and at Sunday night's session, cheers greeted a speaker who said antiwar activists such as Cora Weiss and David Dellinger were more interested in Hanoi's goals than getting POWs home.

Nixon repeated his position that whatever agreement emerges in Vietnam would not include imposition of a Communist government in Saigon.

Black critic sets CSI talk

TWIN FALLS — Dick Gregory, black activist and comedian, will speak at 8 p.m. today at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts auditorium.

Gregory, who became famous as a comedian, appeared in major and civil rights demonstrations in the 1960's. He is now well known as an author, lecturer, actor, human rights activist, social satirist, critic, philosopher and political analyst.

Tickets are available at the Leatherman, Sullivan's Music, CSI and at the door.

Yanks bomb N. Viet port

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Navy pilots Sunday destroyed 1,500 barrels of fuel and sent smoke rising to 10,000 feet in heavy raids against a petroleum depot outside Vinh, North Vietnam's second largest port, the U.S. command said today.

The command also disclosed the loss of an Air Force F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber over the North last Thursday and said it was presumed shot down by a Communist MIG fighter. The two crewmen were reported missing in action.

Military spokesmen said U.S. fighter-bombers flew 270 strikes against the North in the 24-hour period ending at 5 p.m. Sunday, a sharp drop from the more than 350 missions flown the previous day. The Saturday raids were the second heaviest since President Nixon ordered a resumption of the bombing

April 6. In South Vietnam, U.S. B52 bombers dropped 900 tons of explosives in a giant arc around Saigon today in what the U.S. command said was a drive to blunt a Communist thrust that has cut vital Highway 1. Military spokesmen said fighting continued today along Highway 13 north of the capital. Highway 1 has been severed since Friday when North Vietnamese troops blew out a culvert and set up grass and mud roadblocks about 29 miles northeast of Saigon. A Saigon command spokesman said all hamlets and villages seized in the North Vietnamese drive launched 10 days ago north of the capital have been recaptured but he warned "more attacks" may occur because Communist casualties in the fighting were relatively light.

Strikers' children get aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that a state may not refuse federally funded benefits to children on grounds the father's unemployment is caused by a strike or his discharge from his job.

In a brief order without comment, the Court affirmed a decision by a special three-judge federal court in Baltimore Jan. 28, which struck down Maryland regulations it found in conflict with Social Security legislation.

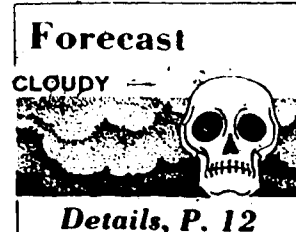

In a separate order, the Court rejected an appeal against the same ruling by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce which argued that granting such welfare benefits interferes with free collective bargaining. The Court said it lacked jurisdiction to hear the chamber's appeal.

The panel's decision was also appealed by Maryland. The opinion held that the state practice runs counter to both federal law and the regulations of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

No housing bias permitted in ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to disturb a lower court ruling that newspapers are subject to the 1968 Fair Housing Act ban on publication of racially discriminatory real estate or housing advertisements.

The Court vote was 8 to 1 with Justice William O. Douglas wanting to hear the case. It was brought by Bill R. Hunter, publisher of the Courier, a weekly newspaper in Silver Spring, Md., just outside Washington.

The Justice Department sued Hunter in 1970 in the first action of its kind when he ran two ads for apartments which said they were in a "white home."

U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomson of Baltimore refused to grant the government's request for an injunction against the Courier but did rule that the law does apply to newspapers and is constitutional.

Police seek 667 in mob roundup

NEW YORK (UPI) — A small army of police fanned out through the city and three suburban counties today carrying subpoenas for 877 persons linked with an "organized crime headquarters" which had been under surveillance for a year.

Brooklyn District Attorney Eugene Gold announced the existence of the headquarters, which he said was housed in a trailer in an automobile junkyard in the Canarsie section of his borough.

Gold said FBI agents and detectives assigned to his office had been watching it for the past year.

As a result of the surveillance, he said, 1,200 police officers had been sent to addresses in all of New York's five boroughs and Nassau, Westchester and Rockland counties with subpoenas in their hands.

Gold said the headquarters was guarded at night by a watchman and two police dogs and kept under a spotlight to keep out intruders.

But he said his operatives had succeeded in tapping three telephones inside the trailer despite a 14-foot high fence of chain link corrugated iron and barbed wire, and had planted an electronic "bug" inside as well.

The district attorney said the trailer was the "summit" headquarters for organized crime in the New York metropolitan area, directly linked with the "comings and goings of prominent members of the five organized crime families of

New York City and other people."

He said the bug and the wiretaps turned up indications of dealings in narcotics, extortion and loan sharking, corruption, bookmaking, and numbers. People frequenting the trailer also were implicated in such crimes as assault and robbery, burglary, counterfeiting, hijacking, receiving stolen goods, possession and sale of weapons, labor racketeering, auto theft, insurance frauds, arson and prostitution, Gold said.

The evidence thus obtained, he said, will be presented to a grand jury, along with the appearances of the 877 persons subpoenaed today.

Death toll 176

MOSCOW (UPI)—A light rain was falling but visibility was good as the sleek blue and white Soviet jetliner carrying 176 persons from Leningrad circled Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport three times. Airport control watched its final approach on radar.

Then, for an unknown reason, the Ilyushin 62 airliner belonging to Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, plunged into a pond in rolling farmland three miles away, killing all aboard. Rescuers arriving on the scene found only the airliner's T-shaped tail above water.

This account of Friday night's crash was pieced together from unofficial Soviet and Western airline sources. If true, it would make the disaster the worst in aviation history, surpassing the 162 killed in a July, 1971, mid-air collision over Japan.

The Soviets maintained an official silence about the crash. The only official word was a six-line Tass news agency announcement Saturday, 17 hours after the tragedy, which gave no death toll.

Western embassies said the Soviet government informed them the dead included 38 Chileans, five Algerians, one Briton and one Frenchman. None have been identified.

An unofficial Soviet source said Sunday 176 persons were aboard the plane, a nonscheduled flight from Paris via Leningrad, when it crashed into the pond near the village of Krasnaya Polyana (Red Clearing). The Ilyushin 62 has four engines at the rear and closely resembles the British-built VC10.

Western airline sources, quoting other unofficial Soviet sources, also reported the 176 figure and the site. These sources had earlier said possibly 172 died and pinpointed the crash location near the village of Chernaya Cryaz (Black Mud) about seven miles northwest of the airport.

Both villages are in areas permanently closed to foreigners.

Pilots of Western aircraft landing Sunday at Sheremetyevo were unable to see any sign of the crash site due to low visibility, the Western sources said. More than a dozen Western airlines use the airport.

William Bell

TWIN FALLS — William Henry Bell, 52, Kennelick, Wash., former Twin Falls resident, died Saturday at Richland, Wash.

He was born Oct. 22, 1919, at Twin Falls, and attended Twin Falls schools, graduating from Twin Falls High School.

He was married to Adda Mae Bracken and they resided in St. Anthony and Pocatello before being transferred to Kennelick in January, 1972. He served two terms as mayor of St. Anthony. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and was an ordained elder and deacon in St. Anthony. Mr. Bell was a member and past master of the St. Anthony Masonic Lodge and a member of the St. Anthony Rotary Club. He was active in boy scouting, past president of St. Anthony Chamber of Commerce and served on the hospital board. He was a member of the Kayler Masonic Lodge No. 94, AF & AM, Twin Falls.

He also served as a director of the Association of Idaho Cities and was a member of VFW and American Legion Posts in St. Anthony. He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the 116th Engineer Group in the South Pacific for three years.

Mr. Bell owned and operated a parts store in St. Anthony for 12 years prior to joining Sherwin Williams Paint Stores. He was assistant manager of the Sherwin Williams store in Pasco, Wash., at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Rollie (Nancy) Bennett, Pleasant Hill, Calif.; one son, Bruce Bell, Liberty Lake, Wash.; his mother, Mrs. Stella Bell, Twin Falls, two sisters, Mrs. Roy H. Russell, Twin Falls, and Mrs. J. D. Peck, Burley; one brother, James D. Bell, Annapolis, Md., and four grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his father in May, 1972.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday

Question...

Is it true that parents as well as the widow of a deceased veteran may receive a memorial flag?

Answer...

Yes, the Congress of the United States realizing the importance of a burial flag has ordered the Veterans Administration to issue a flag upon request to the parents as well as to the widow of a deceased serviceman. Two flags may be issued. We will complete and file the necessary forms.

When there is no widow surviving the serviceman, but there is a child or children, these children have a greater priority to receive the flag than his parents. In this situation the parents are entitled to a flag in addition to the one which goes to the children.

Parents include a natural parent, a step-parent, or a parent by adoption. If the parents are divorced or separated the flag shall be given to the person who exercised a parental relationship at the time of, or most nearly before, the death of the serviceman.

CAP unit honored

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Young people in the Civil Air Patrol program are not just interested, they are involved. Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Idaho adjutant general said Saturday night.

General Bennett addressed a dinner honoring the Twin Falls CAP squadron as the outstanding cadet squadron of the nation of 1972.

He told the youngsters and adult leaders obtaining the first place award is not nearly so difficult as retaining it, and challenged them to continue their outstanding efforts and leaderships which earned them the title for this year.

General Bennett credited the leadership, environment and quality of the youth members in earning the award for Twin Falls in competition with 380 other squadrons around the country.

Maj. George Faulkner, Rupert, Idaho wing commander, presented General Bennett an honorary membership award in the Civil Air Patrol.

In addition to members of the squadron, including 22 youth and 9 adults, several volunteers were honored including Mary C. Harris. She has been associated with the organization since 1943 and still devotes many volunteer hours of training each year.

Court refuses busing dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to give priority consideration to a school busing dispute involving Richmond, Va., and two neighboring counties.

The Court also refused to direct the state to begin preparations for the busing ordered by Federal District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. so that it could be placed in effect next September if proponents eventually won.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund (LDF) and the Richmond school board urged the Court to approve Merhige's precedent-setting ruling of last January, which combined Richmond's predominantly black schools with those of the largely white suburban counties of Henrico and Chesterfield.

The Merhige order was struck down by the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on June 6. It would have required the busing across city and county lines of 78,000 of the 101,000 students in the Richmond metropolitan area. The single school system would be 66 per cent white and 34 per cent black.

About 68,000 students already are being bused.

The school board asked the Supreme Court to hear the case immediately and meantime to order the state board of education to "take such preliminary steps" as necessary to carry out the Merhige order. Then there would be no delay in putting it in effect by September of 1973, the board said.

The appeal now will come up for disposition in the routine way in a few weeks. The Court will decide then whether to hear it.

Election-Crime

Christian Science Monitor

The difference between appearance and substance must be kept in mind when weighing the latest American crime statistics.

For the first six months of this year, recorded serious crime increased by 1 per cent. The Justice Department points out correctly that this is the smallest rate of increase since the Nixon administration took office. The crime increase curve for the past six years was as follows: 11 per cent in 1966, 16 per cent in 1967, 17 per cent in 1968, 12 per cent in 1969, 11 per cent in 1970, and 7 per cent in 1971. If the first six months' rate holds steady, the 1972 increase rate will be 2 per cent. Thus on the surface, Mr. Nixon's administration may justly point to a declining rate of increase in FBI crime statistics.

But the political side of the crime situation is actually not so cut and dried. In the first place, as a point of logic, it could also be said that under the Nixon administration crime in America has apparently got as bad as it can get. And more seriously, there are apparently few votes to be won on the crime and lawlessness issue this November. The latest Newsweek poll on election issues shows only some 17 per cent of Americans think Mr. Nixon able to do a good job of handling crime, and only 12 per cent think Mr. McGovern able to do a good job. The figures show less about voter preference, then, than they do about how little confidence there is that either party or candidate, or the federal government, can put a firm handle on the crime issue.

Further, there is doubt that FBI statistics are an accurate measure. Some estimates put the level of serious crime in America at twice the reported rate. The reports that showed crime increase peaked before the Nixon administration took office are also suspect for comparative purposes. How badly were they swollen by the social elements that led to the urban riots of 1967? No one has yet shown any link between post-1967 federal actions and the easing of urban social tensions. And could it be that the increase in welfare over the past year, the costs of which are so widely and justly lamented, have actually brought a downturn in urban crime? We don't know.

Nor do we know why serious crime against property or persons has surged in recent years. One thing that came out of the 1967 riots was a profound desire among all Americans to understand the force of frustration that had precipitated the riotous. Perhaps this attempt to see the underclass as individuals with genuine and urgent needs, and helping to ease tensions. But we can only guess.

Is a 2 per cent increase in crime, which appears to be the current Statistical rate, "not much"? What about the increase in burglaries in the suburbs? They are becoming so numerous that police departments are doing only the most cursory investigations and leave the rest up to insurance companies. Is it as if a financial panic had settled a breach of public order?

Are Americans becoming numb to crime and violence? The standard of five dozen citizens who, New York lawyer was heard to say, "on Wednesday night, the onlookers, think they were watching a movie." What about the failure of Americans to be shocked by the Watergate incident, the corporate espionage and political dirty work, by either party, thought to be the norm that such criminal incidents are now shrugged off with "What else would you expect?"

The serious crime rate in America is sufficient to make every 30 citizens to be raped, or murdered and there can be no political complacency about such figures, especially since the crime is thought to be under control. A decrease in total crime could come about by a change in social factors. But the crime surely can be hastened. It need to obey the basic moral action that must permeate all human action.

There is a tendency today to admire craftiness, an ability to hedge around law, more than simple honesty. The way to set up phony moral standards, they contribute more to the law than the law allows. The positions on issues by the country they are in, according to which party they show the present election, is a paign a model for stability, thinking.

What the latest election show, if anything, is that Americans need to be brought back to the moral action, though searching for society back to the moral action, it needs. What do the political leaders say?

WITH THE SHRIVER CAMPAIGN (NEA) Philadelphia, U.S. Rep. William Barrett introduced R. Sargent Shriver at a street rally as "The most handsome vice-presidential candidate we've ever had."

It was an agreeable, irrelevant comment, yet it said a lot about the kind of campaign George McGovern's running mate has been carrying on. The effervescent fast-talking Shriver does provide some of the zest we reporters say has been missing from this campaign. The trouble is, most of his utterances are not taken seriously because he's so outrageously careless. Over a span of years, he mislabeled the name of a famous song, gave the wrong date for McGovern's big Vietnam speech, misstated the number of men under arms in World War II by three million, garbled his own age at an earlier time misquoted the Declaration of Independence and the Star Spangled Banner. So when he guns out "facts" about the alleged sins of the Nixon administration and other matters, it registers as great good fun but doesn't seem to have much to do with governing the United States. He comes across, then, mostly as a showman, something like a movie matinee idol dashing about trying to promote one of his films by joshing with the customers. Don't imagine, though, that the folks don't enjoy the fun. Talking on a Philadelphia street to a group of blacks, Shriver as usual was rattling off food and other price increases to hammer home the perils of continuing inflation. He shouted: "Why, chitlins have gone up 15 per cent. And Nixon is taking pig's feet away from us."

A puzzled reporter heading for the press bus asked another: "What are pig's feet now? Fifty cents a toe?" Wherever he is, Shriver plunges on. At a ministerial alliance in a Baltimore church, he said: "Funeral expenses are up. You can't afford to die under Nixon... diapers are up 18 per cent. You can't afford to be born under Nixon."

In Shriver's book, President Nixon is to blame for everything bad that has happened anywhere in the world in the past four years but mostly for

"blowing things up in Vietnam instead of building up Baltimore," or for taking all the tax money down to Washington and sending it overseas instead of to places like Philadelphia. Shriver says that under the President, unemployment has doubled, welfare rolls and costs have doubled. Maybe, but with so much error in his daily spiel, who can be sure? It would take the General Accounting Office six months to run an accuracy test on Shriver's gunned-out statistics.

Thus it all comes back to simple good fun. Reporters keep track of the number of times he says "thank you" when he's introduced. When I left the entourage, the record was 15. They repay tapes of his more outrageous — and hence hilarious — comments.

There's no doubt, of course, that his heart is in the right place. In his rare calm moods, as at a big Pittsburgh rally, he begins to make real points. And there's no doubt, either, that this Kennedy brother-in-law is a genuine charmer. At a Philadelphia garment factory, he had the working girls in a dither of shouting, giggling, and giggling. They loved him.

But the question lingers: "Is this a real run for high office?"

WASHINGTON — It says in the Revised Professional Code that attorneys are busing out of the state, but I don't know. I know people like George Allen, who would save the industry by getting the sport out of the country. Allen is coach of the Washington Redskins, a deadly serious man, as who among his contractors isn't? who has become a third-rate joke even Johnny Carson would not touch his suffering. Allen is a lousy coach, which might be understandable in an industry where winning is counted in millions of dollars. Unlucky, he sometimes acts as a silly little boy, as the nation's stadium, heavily favored Redskins, were defeated by the New York Patriots, whose coaches are ordinarily considered on the fingers of a coach who caught his own child saw. Naturally, the coach is unhappy. The coach's made him a lousy coach.

his editors would not agree to let newsmen being restricted in what they could write while attending practice. Allen, who is sometimes held up to adoring fans as Billy Graham with an Eagle Scout sash, used a coarse sexual expression to tell the reporter what he could do to his editors. Now really, dear customer. Speaking as a citizen who contributes considerable weekend time to acting like a nut before the TV screen, I insist I have not yet reached the point where I equate a football game with the fuss at Gallipoli or the Normandy invasion. Nor, as a newspaperman, am I about to stand still for that kind of imperious nonsense from a glorified slave master who is paid a vast salary, with fringe benefits, to — among other things, — submit his performance to public scrutiny. Indeed, the attention of us football buffs is what the professional game is all about.

Cock Robin

WASHINGTON — When Det. Reilly walked into the Rotunda of the Capitol he was agast. Lying there on the floor were the bodies of the Welfare Reform Bill, the Consumer Protection Agency Bill, the Mass Transit Bill and the Minimum Wage Bill. "Geez," whistled Reilly. "This is worse than the St. Valentine's Day massacre."

for months. "Well, let me ask you this. Did you know the deceased at all?" Reilly asked. Nixon said, "You can't pin this one on me. Congress killed them. I had nothing to do with it."

He went over to his assistant, Det. Monday. "What happened?" Reilly asked. "I don't know," Monday said. "They were all alive and healthy one day, and the next moment they were all killed. Nobody saw anything." Reilly went over to the Welfare Reform Bill and pulled back the sheet. It was mangled and torn beyond recognition. Reilly almost got sick to his stomach. He asked Monday, "Anybody identify the bodies?" "Someone said they were all related to a guy named Nixon who lives at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. We sent for him. He should be here any minute." Just then, two policemen brought in a dark-haired man with a heavy 5 o'clock shadow. Reilly went up to him. "Mr. Nixon, sorry to bother you at this hour, but we were wondering if you could identify any of these bills lying there on the floor." Nixon, without looking, said, "I never saw any of them before in my life." Det. Monday referred to some notes. "Witnesses say you introduced these bills and then killed them." "It's a lie," Nixon said. "I haven't been up here on the Hill

Hysterectomy

Dear Doctor: A close relative is soon to have a hysterectomy. Can you please answer these questions for me? Is this a serious operation? Is it or has it ever been fatal? How long can a patient be expected to live after the operation? Will it affect her health in any way? Will it limit her activities after standard recovery time? Is this operation common? Can complications occur? Is the operation anything for us to be concerned about? — Y.A.H.

female operation gives rise to more confusion than any other I encounter, and it usually stems from an incomplete notion of just what the term "hysterectomy" means. The term "partial hysterectomy" is used sometimes, adding to the confusion. When used, it merely refers to the fact that only a portion of the uterus has been removed. Will her health be affected? Yes, probably for the better.

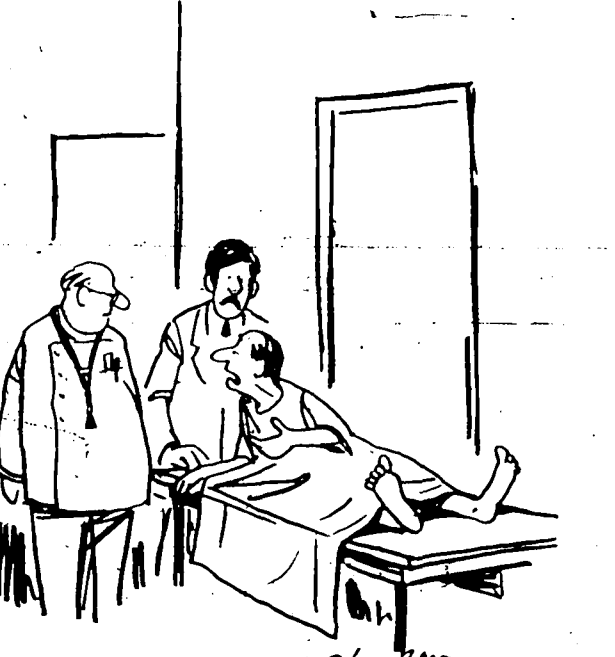

A hysterectomy is the removal of the uterus and it is a very common operation. Serious? How do you answer that? Speaking generally, no. Now, I'm referring here to the hysterectomy as defined, and that is the removal of the uterus alone. Often such surgery will involve removal of one or more of the ovaries if they are found to be diseased, but this is in addition to the hysterectomy. Here, we are dealing with something a bit more complicated, but still not what we might consider in the dangerous category — again speaking generally and certainly not about your relative's individual case. In the average hysterectomy, few complications result and the patient is up and about leading normal life as if nothing had happened. Sex is not disturbed and no hormone imbalance results. Where such surgery goes beyond the uterus removal and ovaries are removed also, then hormone imbalance is to be expected. Treatment after surgery with hormones is common in such cases. The question of the so-called

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would plastic surgery to reshape a person's nose change her genes and chromosomes? For instance, would such a person's children have the original nose or the newly shaped one? — P.C.

Such surgery does not change genes and chromosomes — anymore than a woman who had a leg amputated would have children with only one leg.

POW's Interest

Portland Oregonian

For obvious reasons, the North Vietnamese deal only with American peace activists on the release of American pilots shot down in their country. It is a connecting link with Hanoi the U.S. government frowns upon but permits because it is the only war, so far, to get prisoners of war released.

Maj. Edward Elias, Lt. Mark Gartley and Lt. Norris Charles stated en route home that the North Vietnamese had placed "no conditions" on their release. But Elias said, "I've been told by these people (the Committee of Liaison, which sent the delegation with relatives of Charles and Gartley to Hanoi) that future releases were contingent on the way it was handled. I don't want to do anything which might affect someone else."

Peter Arnett, the Associated Press correspondent who made the trip, quoted the four American anti-war activists, however, as saying the North Vietnamese had made it clear to them they expected the POWs to be flown all the way to the United States by civilian aircraft. Thus, the refusal to accept the embassy's offer to Moscow and Copenhagen was on a military point of view, understandable. The concern is the release of the 400 American prisoners behind. They don't want anything which might affect anyone's release. No one pressed the issue to leave the party. Transportation was given.

The fact remains, however, that the freed prisoners of war officers in their military uniforms that they have not been turned into civilian life. They have an obligation to provide information they may have about prisoners left behind. The fact shares their pleasure in being restored and owes them a payable debt for their freedom. Not one should treat about the propaganda uses of the POWs by the anti-war activists or the Communists. Getting prisoners freed is more important

Key GM walkout ended

DETROIT (UPI) — Without calling it a settlement, United Auto Workers Local 25 has agreed to return to work Tuesday at the General Motors Assembly Division Plant in St. Louis, while bargainers continued meeting in Ohio and Georgia, attempting to resolve other strikes.

A UAW spokesman here labeled the St. Louis agreement "a termination, not a settlement, but was unable to provide the terms, under which the 8,500 employees ended their two-day walkout.

Negotiators continued meeting Sunday and were scheduled for talks Monday at GM's major body stamping plant at Mansfield, Ohio and its Doraville, Ga., assembly plant. A company spokesman said "negotiation would probably continue" on the St. Louis dispute as well.

Apparently in keeping with an earlier statement by UAW president Leonard Woodcock, the St. Louis "termination" will cost the union less in strike benefits to its members, because they do not draw benefits until the second week of a walkout.

Woodcock said, The UAW "was not going to engage in long strikes anywhere at GM where the result is to almost bleed to death our local unions." He added in Los Angeles, that none of the GM strikes in progress, or planned, would last more than a week.

At issue in St. Louis, as at Lordstown and Norwood, Ohio, and a number of other GM plants, was the union's charge that the consolidation of GM's Fisher Body and Chevrolet Assembly Plants last October, and their takeover by the GM assembly division, had resulted in layoffs of some 1,000 to 1,400 employees.

In the union's eyes that amounts to a speed-up of assembly line operations since it's alleged that fewer workers must produce the same amount of cars as before.

Ever since GMAD began its efficiency-minded strategy of combining once separate assembly and stamping operations, strikes have occurred, with the longest one in company history having just ended after 174 days at Norwood, Ohio, where Chevrolet Camaros and Pontiac Firebirds are made.

Quick Viet War settlement 'dim'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern's national security adviser describes as "very dim" the chances for securing a settlement of the Vietnam war before the Nov. 7 election or within a "reasonable time" thereafter.

The assessment was made Sunday by Paul C. Warnke, an assistant defense secretary during the Johnson administration, who argued the prospects for successful negotiations were poor because President Nixon insists on maintaining the regime of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Warnke said his estimate of the prospects for peace was based on "what I have seen in the papers" and on "my past experience."

Warnke said he believed the chances were dim because Nixon's "position still requires the maintenance and power of the Thieu regime and the maintenance of the status quo is inconsistent with a political compromise and a political compromise in my view is the only way that the war can be ended."

Abrams takes command

WASHINGTON (UPI) Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., who held the difficult job of U.S. commander in Vietnam for four years, takes on the new assignment today of trying to lead the Army into the era of the volunteer.

The Defense Department scheduled a mid-morning ceremony to swear in Abrams, 58, as the Army chief of staff. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird was to preside at the Pentagon rites.

Abrams will replace Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who also preceded Abrams in the Vietnam command.

Navy quiet on racial brawl

HONOLULU (UPI) — The Navy was still secretive today about a racial brawl that injured 46 persons aboard the carrier Kitty Hawk although five days have passed since the seaborne clash.

"At this point we don't have anything we can give you," a Navy spokesman said when asked why no details were being released, whether a preliminary investigation had been completed or even the conditions of three men flown to shoreside hospitals.

Also unanswered were whether weapons were involved, what sparked the fight, the identities of the injured and how many were involved.

All the Navy would add to its original tersely worded statement announcing the "altercations" between blacks and whites was that "there had been no previous incidents of this nature aboard the Kitty Hawk."

The Navy announced Friday that 46 persons, including black and white sailors, were injured while the 1,062-foot carrier was stationed off Vietnam at Yankee Station on Thursday. Most of the injuries were minor, but three persons were injured seriously enough to be flown to hospitals ashore for treatment.

The Navy said further information would be made available upon completion of an official investigation.

But today the ship was still at Yankee Station with her fighter bombers launching air strikes against North Vietnam and there was still no word about the fight.

Demo takes to stump, Nixon eyes crime halt

By United Press International
George McGovern today returns to the campaign after a day of rest, while President Nixon following a day as a campaigner resumes the duties of the presidency.

McGovern, who said he took "a little sun" near Los Angeles Sunday, was flying to Texas in the next phase of his bid to defeat Nixon next month. Despite a public opinion poll showing that McGovern trimmed the President's lead by eight points, the South Dakotan was still 30 percentage points behind.

Nixon was back at the White House to watch the adjournment proceedings of the 92nd Congress after delivering a radio address Sunday in which he declared that he had brought "crime and anarchy to a standstill."

In a paid, political speech broadcast from his Camp David mountain retreat, Nixon proposed that "wherever more money, more manpower, or more teeth in the laws are needed to maintain our momentum in the war against drugs and crime, I will do everything in my power to provide them."

Nixon said he would ask the next Congress to require stiff mandatory sentences for heroin traffickers and to amend other federal statutes so as to keep those peddlers of death off our streets after their arrest.

The President also revealed that Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst would make public today the first comprehensive report ever compiled on federal law enforcement and criminal justice assistance activities.

In a statement accompanying the 542-page review of Justice Department activities for 1971,

Kleindienst said that "the nation could, with some justification, look forward fairly soon to the day when the crime rates would cease to grow and would, instead, actually begin to decline."

McGovern, who broke his rest long enough to issue two statements, said that crime had continued to rise despite Nixon's law and order stance.

"The American people know from their own experience in their own neighborhoods that President Nixon has dismally failed to win the war against crime and drugs," McGovern said.

The South Dakotan also said Nixon had failed to in his 1969 Thanksgiving pledge to feed America's nine million children from poor families. "Hope is a good breakfast but a lean supper," McGovern said.

POW kin applaud blast against antiwar crew

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Relatives of U.S. prisoners of war cheered Sunday when a speaker told them American antiwar activists such as Cora Weiss and David Dellinger are more interested in seeing Hanoi achieve its objectives than they are in getting the captives back.

The cheers came from about 750 persons attending the third annual convention of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, the largest organization of prisoners' relatives.

"Most of them (peace movement leaders) are much more concerned to see Hanoi's objectives fulfilled; not yours," said Robert F. Turner, a Vietnam veteran and researcher at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace.

Turner spoke at the convention opened Sunday. It will continue today and Tuesday with the delegates voting on a series of resolutions.

Generally, the organization has supported the administration. However, it voted at its last meeting in May to label the Vietnamization program a failure as far as it concerned freedom for the POWs.

Sentiment appeared hawkish at the Sunday session.

When a graying mother of a POW rose to speak kindly of Mrs. Weiss, she was silenced by boos and shouts of "sit down."

Mrs. Weiss and Dellinger were members of the antiwar delegation which recently took custody of three U.S. pilots the North Vietnamese released.

Idaho GOP praises Nixon

BOISE (UPI) — The executive director of the Idaho Republican Central Committee said Sunday Richard Nixon has begun to build the most "efficient, human-oriented government in history."

Larry Jackson, Boise, said,

"Idaho people know this and they will join the rest of America Nov. 7 in re-electing the president who has given them, for the first time in years, an effective leadership."

He added, "More poor people have been given opportunity than ever before. We are closer to a just and lasting peace than we've been in 20 years."

The executive director said, "Both George McGovern and John Schmitz make the mistake of underestimating the intelligence of the American voter when they throw around charges about the Nixon administration such as 'most corrupt' or 'most totalitarian.' 'Idaho people would know if they lived under a corrupt government,' Jackson said, 'because under such a government McGovern wouldn't be allowed to make such an unsubstantiated charge.'

Meanwhile, in Corral, Democratic State Chairman Joe McCarter announced Sunday the League of Women Voters gave Congressman James McClure a rating of "zero on nine key issues coming before the first session of the 92nd Congress."

McCarter said the league's political accountability rating covers issues such as welfare reform, foreign aid and trade and anti-poverty measures on which the 160,000 member organization lobbied during 1971.

He said, "the record shows Mr. McClure voted on only three of the nine issues, was absent on five and was paired on one for an effective attendance record of only 33 percent."

"He failed to support the league's position on any of the roll call vote he was present for," he added.

McCarter stated, "once again a national organization has pointed out Mr. McClure's now famous voting record and has rated it accordingly."

Farmer talks at BSC

BOISE (UPI) — The major role of social worker is not to get people off the nation's welfare rolls but to eliminate the need for people to be on welfare.

James Farmer, founder of the Congress of Racial Equality, told the Idaho Conference on Social Welfare that all social services are so interrelated, "un- less all are improved simult- aneously we won't succeed in equal."

Farmer was the keynote speaker at the two-day gathering at Boise State College.

All of us are on welfare," Farmer said, "whether it be through a farm subsidy, tax shelter or some other govern- ment dole. What we need is a guaranteed annual income so that all Americans will start equal."

"A program for a guaranteed annual income should be considered an investment in Ameri- ca. We can't afford to have people poor."

Farmer said other nations are doing better than the United States, noting that illiteracy and poverty are lower in Japan and Western Europe than in the United States.

He urged the social workers attending the conference to join with "your clients and people of good will, churches, unions and others to change attitudes to- ward welfare reform."

Farmer told the group to "become political activists to eliminate the need for people to be on welfare rather than trying to get people off the welfare rolls."

The conference continues to- day with panels and additional lectures.

Federal grant approved

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — An $80,374 federal grant has been approved for Idaho's Department of Environmental Protection and Health to help the state develop water quality management plans for six watershed basins.

James L. Agee, Region 10 administrator for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, said the grant will cover about half of the first year's costs of a projected three-year water quality planning effort.

He said EPA also can provide the same 50 per cent federal share in the ensuing two years of planning.

Idaho's plan will include detailed analysis of the six major basins in Idaho — the panhandle, upper Snake, Southwest Idaho, Clearwater, Bear River and Salmon River — in that order.

The first year's federal funding will permit the Idaho agency to hire one professional to work on development of the plan, Agee said.

He said the Idaho plan will incorporate studies from several state and federal planning studies, some of the most important of which will come from the Idaho Water Resource Board.

These studies will include hydrologic models which simulate future water quality conditions and comprehensive water supply and sewage studies for 25 Idaho counties.

Selander airs views on reform

BOISE (UPI) — A Democratic candidate for the Idaho legislature said Sunday he found it "difficult to imagine the majority of the legislature balking initially at government reorganization."

Glenn Selander, District 17 candidate for the Idaho House of Representatives, told supporters that partisan politics should not enter into discussions concerning improving services for people.

He said the last session of the legislature showed "lack of interest in the government reorganization proposal because it was initiated by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus."

"It is hard to believe that legislators would work against such an innovative proposal, but some did," Selander said.

He said if the constitutional amendment proposal regarding executive branch reorganization is approved Nov. 7 by Idaho voters, it will be up to the 1973 legislature to design initial plans for the development of a new executive branch with 20 state agencies.

Autopsy scheduled

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — An autopsy was scheduled for late Sunday to determine cause of death and help with the identification of a body discovered earlier in the day on the Fort Hall Indian Reservation.

Officer Joe Spivey, Bureau of Indian Affairs, said the male body was found by duck hunters about 9 a.m. at Michaud Flats, overlooking the American Falls Reservoir.

Spivey said the body was partly nude and appeared to have been shot several times. He said it had apparently been in the area for at least three months and was partially decomposed.

No identification was found with the body.

Spivey said the BIA and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were conducting the investigation.

Moon target geologically complex landing site

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The moon target at which Apollo 17 astronauts will aim next December is geologically the most complex lunar landing site yet picked for visiting U.S. spacemen.

It may contain in one place some of the youngest and some of the oldest rocks on the moon, a scientist of the U.S. Geological Survey reported Saturday. It may also contain answers to puzzles raised by previous lunar explorations.

The Apollo 17 landers will be Navy Capt. Eugene A. Cernan and Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, the first geologist-astronaut. While Navy Cmdr. Ronald E.

Evans sails the mission's command ship in orbit around the moon, Cernan and Schmitt will study the Taurus-Littrow region in a mountainous area southeast of the Sea of Serenity.

Dr. William R. Muehlberger, of the Geological Survey's Center of Astrogeology at Flagstaff, Ariz., and the University of Texas, said Cernan and Schmitt "will have their work cut out in deciphering the geology of this complex area."

Apollo 17 is scheduled to leave Cape Kennedy on the night of Dec. 6. Muehlberger is the mission's "principal investigator". He mapped the site from photographs, planned the geological traverses, and will help to interpret results.

The landing point is on the floor of a deep valley, a sort of bay in the highlands. Photographs show a veneer of dark material, "some of the darkest on the moon," which appears to be "very young," the scientist said.

"We're not exactly sure where this dark material came from, but we hope," Muehlberger said, "that Schmitt with his trained geologist's eye will be able to tell us."

The possibility that the dark veneer is ash and cinders from an ancient volcano has been raised but appears to be discounted by the fact that no ash and cinders have ever been brought back by previous Apollo missions. Nor has any evidence of explosive eruptions, of steam or other hot gases, ever turned up in lunar rocks this far collected.

Bright material that may represent slides from the hills above the valley conceivably could contain ancient rocks dating from the moon's origin some 4.5 billion years ago. But no rocks that old have yet been found by Apollo astronauts.

Thus far no lunar rocks younger than three billion years have been brought back.

Birthday

PRESIDENT of the Republic of Ireland, Eamon de Valera, reads one of the many birthday cards he has received from all over the world at his home in Dublin. He was 90 Saturday, the oldest head of state in the world. (UPI)

GOODING — Magic Valley Radiological Technologists will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Gooding Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Douglas Smith will speak on "Respiratory Problems and Diseases" and "Maintaining Respiratory System." Warren Bergey, Jerome, will conduct the business meeting. Jean M. Thompson is secretary-treasurer.

Idaho university enrollment hiked

MOSCOW (UPI) — The University of Idaho announced Friday a total of 8,007 students from all sources are attending classes at the university this fall.

Matt E. Telin, registrar, said this was an increase of 442 students over the same period of 1971 when 7,565 students attended fall semester classes. Telin said included in this total were 7,118 students on-campus, 450 at the National Reactor Testing Station at Idaho Falls, 300 enrolled in extension programs, and 139 at the Boise Cooperative Graduate Center.

The registrar said the on-campus headcount is a new record for the university. Last year at this time a total of 6,991 students were enrolled in on-campus classes at Idaho.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse, and my pet peeve is one that is shared by many in my profession. It is being called "NURSE."

We all wear name pins. Why can't people take the time and trouble to look at them and call us "Miss Jones" or "Mrs. Smith"? A nurse would never call a patient, "Patient," or a visitor, "Visitor."

Please print this. It might penetrate. Thank you.

IRKED IN N. J.

DEAR IRKED: I found it difficult to believe that the majority of nurses shared your feeling, so I conducted a minipoll. Here are the results:

She's still a nurse

The Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland:
"We questioned approximately 300 nurses, and

"[a] More than 90 per cent were 'not irked' by being called nurse. While they all wear name badges, many patients are not wearing their glasses, others are preoccupied with their illnesses, and some never even notice the name badge.

"[b] Virtually all of our nurses would be 'irked' by being called by her first name unless it was by a patient who happened to be a friend.

"[c] The nurses would prefer not to be called 'Miss' or 'Mrs.'

"[d] Our conclusion is that nurses are proud of being called nurse, a title which designates a high level of achievement and respect."

Century City Hospital, Los Angeles, Cal.:
"We asked 44 nurses how they felt about being called 'nurse,' only three said they didn't like it, two said they preferred to be called 'Miss' or 'Mrs. So and So—but NOT 'Miss' or 'Mrs.' unless their last names were included. One said, 'I don't object to being called 'Nurse' if it is said gently, but when someone shouts 'NURSE' as tho he's a drill sergeant commanding a buck private, I bristle.'"

Mount Sinai Hospital, Minneapolis:
"Not one nurse said she would be irked if she were addressed as 'Nurse.' It is preferable to 'Blondie,' 'Red,' 'Girly,' or 'Honey.'"

"We regard nursing as a noble profession, and since it required a great deal of time and effort to attain that title, it's inconceivable that a nurse would be irked when addressed as 'Nurse.'"

Saint John's Hospital, Santa Monica, Cal.:
"Only one nurse polled was 'irked' when someone called her 'Nurse.' The consensus was that 'Miss' or 'Mrs.' was a close runner-up for irritating names. Almost all the nurses preferred to be addressed by their names, (all wear name pins on their uniforms), but a surprising number of patients and visitors do not seem to notice them.

"Most expressed great surprise that any nurse would be irked at being called 'Nurse.' Of course, since St. John's has many nuns who are also nurses, one would be more apt to address a nursing sister as 'Sister' than 'Nurse.' They answer to both cheerfully."

Abbott Hospital, Minneapolis:
"Sixty five nurses were polled, 31 of whom stated that they did not like to be called 'Nurse.' They preferred to be addressed by their names, 'Miss' or 'Mrs.' which is the reason their names are worn on their uniforms.

"Thirty-four of the Abbott Hospital nurses said they had no objections whatsoever to being called 'Nurse.'"

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6770, L. A., CALIF. 90008 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Addison club fetes Mrs. Glynn Smith

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Glynn Smith was guest of honor at the 50th anniversary of the Addison Avenue Club at a luncheon Saturday at the Colonial House. Mrs. Smith became a member of the club soon after it formed and has been a member longer than any other members active at the present time. Mrs. Smith was named Idaho's Mother of the Year in 1957. She was presented with a corsage of pink rosebuds accented with gold. An anniversary cake centered the table. It was decorated with pink and white, flanked by pink candles. The club colors are pink and white and the flower is the carnation. Arrangements for the luncheon were made by Mrs. D. A. McGuire, club president. Mrs. Herman Wanman and Mrs. Albert Wegener were in charge of decorations. Officers in addition to Mrs. McGuire include Mrs. A. W. Schrank, vice president, Mrs. Percy Green, secretary, and Mrs. Al Peters, treasurer. The Addison Avenue club was organized March 17, 1922. Its early members were women who lived in the area of east Addison. Membership now is not confined to that area. Although a small club, it has been very active throughout the years in community affairs, contributing in time and money to a great number of civic causes.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Oswald, Jeff Rubens of New York has been a great bridge theorist for many years. He finally showed his ability as a player when his team won the Spingold Cup this year so that his new book, "The Secrets of Winning Bridge," is rather timely.

Jim "He is a duplicate player rather than a rubber bridge player. As would be expected, his section on duplicate is very good. His chapters on rubber bridge are not up to that standard."

Oswald "Fast's three-club bid is a typical non-vulnerable match point preempt. Jeff recommends South's jump to four spades, as do we. You can't play your partner for a blank hand in these situations."

Jim, Jeff neither recommends nor disapproves of West's five-club bid. This time it works well as North bids a doubtful five spades.

Oswald "The important bit of advice comes next. Rubens points out that West expects to beat five spades, but there is no point in a double. If West does beat five spades he is sure of a mighty good score. A double would gain maybe half a match point."

Jim "While it really does not change any of Jeff's points, it turns out that four spades will be beaten if West leads a diamond when he gets in with the king of spades and the subsequent defense doesn't ship at all."

Royalty crowned at TF Music Club social fete

By JOCELYN CLOWARD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Teala Bellini and J. C. Hill, local musicians, were crowned queen and king of the Twin Falls Music Club's Scholarship Ball, Friday evening.

Mrs. Bellini, now in her 60th year of music teaching, was credited with "manifesting music into voices that charm the ear." Hill, a well known performer with dance groups in Magic Valley, was honored for his "outstanding, unique, and individual achievements in music in the Twin Falls area."

Mrs. Frank E. DeLuca, president of the Twin Falls Music Club, welcomed approximately 150 guests to the ball which was entitled "A Night in Camelot."

Rev. Robert D. Van Nest read scrolls honoring the royalty and introduced Martin Wright, scholarship winner and prize winning area music student who sang songs from "Camelot" in their honor.

Assisting with the program were Leslie Acree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Acree, and Annette Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules V. Harrison, crown bearers; Ralph Pond, son of Dr. and Mrs. Vaughn Pond, and David Tippet, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Tippet, trumpeters; Cheri Cummins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cummins, acrobat; and Dana and Danny Brizee, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brizee, escorts.

Music for the dance was provided by the Hank Houst Combo of the Men in Blue, Boise.

Wall decor was furnished by Shane's Furnitures and Cain's.

Committee members for the benefit were Mrs. Emmett Harrison, chairman, Mrs. Louis A. Thorson, Mrs. Frank Acree and Mrs. John P. Gibney.

Mrs. Clifford Mullikin, Burley, state president of the Federated Music Clubs, attended the affair, as did Mrs. David Mead, state second vice president and Mrs. Roger Vincent, state secretary. Mrs. Thorson is state treasurer. Mrs. Mead and Mrs. Donald Youtz, also in attendance, are both state and national officials.

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Friday Night Duplicate Club met at Duplicate Hall this week.

Winners were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wycoff, first; Mr. and Mrs. Cal McIntyre, second; Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Kall, third, and Mrs. and Mrs. H. C. Powers, 4th.

SPRINGDALE — Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matthews, were Mr. and Mrs.

Petro Gatti, Rio Grande, Brazil, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Carlos, Provo, Utah.

Mrs. Carlos, the former Marian Gatti, was an exchange student making her home with the Matthews while in the United States. She graduated from Burley High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Gatti left Saturday to visit in Provo before returning to South America.

Speaker set

HAILEY — G. Robert Ackerman, recently appointed administrator of the Blaine County Hospital, will be the featured speaker at the hospital's auxiliary meeting Tuesday.

Ackerman also serves as the administrator of the Moritz Community Hospital Sun Valley, and as the clerk for the city of Sun Valley.

Guest entertainer will be Elder Byron Sorensen, who will play selections from latest Broadway hits.

All prospective members of the Blaine County Hospital Auxiliary as well as interested residents are invited to attend. The meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Relief Society Room of the Hailey Ward LDS Church.

Springdale group has book reviews

SPRINGDALE — Mrs. Robert Christensen and Mrs. Earl Christensen presented book reviews when the Country Friends Literary Club met Friday.

The two selections were "Halves" by Margert P. Browne, the story of two cousins who are reunited after searching for a legacy left by an uncle, and "Second Honeymoon" by Claire T. Sifton, a comedy about people learning to live on Social Security.

Cassia votes Tuesday on school bond issue

BURLEY — Cassia residents will vote Tuesday on a $2.95 million school bond issue.

Passage of the proposal would permit the first major classroom construction in Cassia County since 1960. At Declo the proposal provides for an addition to the high school for use of grades kindergarten through nine and for a new junior high gymnasium to be built at a combined cost of $800,000; the Oakley High School would undergo a $250,000 renovation and be converted to junior high use; $500,000 would build from seven to 10 new classrooms at Burley High

Cassia polling places slated

BURLEY — Polling places for the proposed school bond election have been announced by the Cassia County School Board.

County residents will be voting at Oakley High School; Burley Senior High School; Bean Growers Warehouse; Milner; Southwest school improvements in stressing that need.

Dr. Brown said there have been unannounced inspections by the Department of Labor of three Cassia schools. "They found us in violation and gave us 10 days to correct them," he said. "Correcting all of these deficiencies is impossible, so we have done what we could and are hoping for the best."

One of the inspected schools, Springdale Elementary, was closed Oct. 11 after the Health Department discovered intestinal bacteria in the water supply. The school students are now being bussed to Declo and Burley sites while a new well and sewage system are constructed.

Two new elements have been added to Tuesday's vote. On the advice of school attorney Herman Bedke, residency requirements have been lifted and any person who considers himself a resident can vote.

Also, the 18 year old vote has been cited as an untested voter area. Many bond proponents hope the newly enfranchised young voters are sympathetic toward the proposals.

Two Buhl residents injured

TWIN FALLS — Two Buhl residents were injured in a two-car accident Saturday afternoon one half mile west of Twin Falls.

Roderic Tonkelson, 3, son of Mrs. Margaret Tonkelson, 27, Buhl, and Dorothy Stewart, 63, Buhl, sustained minor injuries.

The accident occurred when a vehicle driven by Alfred C. Anderson, 58, Ruby Valley, Nev., attempted to make a left turn into an auto wrecking yard.

Investigating officers said Anderson apparently turned in front of the eastbound vehicle, Idaho State Police said.

Gooding Demos hear treasurer

GOODING — The possibility of an increase in the Idaho spending holdback was raised Saturday night at a Democratic fund raising dinner here.

State Treasurer Marjorie Moon, discussing the 1.9 per cent cut back in spending ordered by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, said he had two choices — cut spending or increase taxes.

"The money wasn't there," Miss Moon said. "Take it from me, the cut back was necessary and may have to be increased."

Miss Moon said Republican state legislators were putting political interests above the interests of the state, and also assailed President Nixon's policies and campaign activities, which are "based on fear and espionage."

Carl Baumgardner, Idaho chairman for the campaign of Sen. George McGovern, and George Klein, legislative assistant to Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, also spoke at the dinner meeting.

Klein said Senator Church, who had been scheduled to speak, was unable to leave Washington, D. C., because Congress was still in session.

Joe McCarder, Democratic

Gooding meet set

GOODING — The first of a series of executive re-organization meetings will be at 8 p.m. tonight at the Gooding County court room.

Joe Welch of the State Planning and Community Affairs Agency will discuss senate Joint Resolution 132, an amendment to the state constitution which proposes to reduce 260 state agencies, commissions and departments to 20.

Location omitted

ALBION — Location of the "Mt. Harrison monster" was inadvertently omitted from a feature story in Sunday's Times-News.

The unique rock formation may be reached by turning left on the gravel road leading to Lake Cleveland at the Thompson Flat campground turnoff. That road leads about a quarter of a mile to a grove of trees at a site called Twin Lakes.

The rock formations are about a quarter of a mile southwesterly from that grove of trees, and are located on the slope of the ridge.

A thought for the day: American scientists Rossiter Worthington Raymond said, "Life is eternal, and love is immortal, and death is only a horizon, and a horizon is nothing save the limit of our sight."

state chairman, lauded Democratic candidates for their campaign efforts at all levels.

County and district candidates were introduced. They included Leo Rice and Ann Robison, running for the state house of representatives; Don Fredericksen, state senate candidate; Chet Floyd, running for sheriff; Margo Layne Brown, and Ben-Glauner, for the county commission.

Blaine school study under way

HAILEY — Organization has begun for a four-phase, three year study towards a new Blaine County high school.

Conducting the study will be a team from Northwestern University, including Dr. Lindley J. Stiles, Dr. B. J. Chandler and Walter Hoesel, on-site coordinator.

According to Dr. Stiles, the study will include an assessment of community ambitions and expectations for the new school; an investigation of student needs; an implementation phase where new teaching methods gained from the study are tried out in existing facilities, and the final development of specifications for the school.

All the study work will be conducted before a site is selected or construction details are considered, Dr. Stiles said.

The construction phase will probably be reached by spring, 1975, he said.

The decision to conduct the study — a joint effort involving private, local and federal funds — was made in August by the district trustees.

The first year, 1972-73 will be totally financed by private resources and is expected to total about $25,000. The second and third year costs will be covered by the school district and federal funds and is expected to total about $25,000.

In 1971, county voters approved a 10 mill a year, five year plant facility levy for the new school. Funds from the levy are anticipated to total about $1.35 million.

District trustee chairman W. B. Mallory said the study will be conducted "by Blaine County for Blaine County." Terming the move, "a forward looking step," he said the results of the study will benefit the state and possibly the nation.

To implement the study, a group has been formed, including members of local governmental groups, community and special interest groups. From this membership, an about 15-member steering committee has been organized.

The purpose of the steering committee will be to present the larger group's recommendations to the trustees for their final decision.

Dr. Stiles said, for each monthly meeting of the steering committee, educators from outside the community will be brought in to share new ideas on education.

Featured at successive meetings, he said, will be a proponent of the concept that a high school for 250 students can be designed to have as rich and varied programs as schools with 5,000 students; specialists involved in community schools, and educators from the Aspen, Colo., area.

Dr. Stiles said the purpose of the study was to get the entire community — students, teachers, parents and residents — thinking about the new school. "There aren't going to be any decisions made behind closed doors," he said.

As recommendations are formulated, the public will be informed "so they know what they are," he said.

In reference to the cost of implementing new programs at the new high school, Jane Kneeland, trustee and member of the steering committee, said "let's not think in terms of the horrendous budget the district is faced with now. Let's take this opportunity to dream."

Technical assistance on the needs assessment portion of the study will be provided through the planning office of the state department of education as a part of a series of such surveys currently conducted by the department.

Dr. Wayne Phillips, director of planning, said the goals of the survey will be what the high school should be, to determine possible locations, to assess where the big gaps exist in district education, and to establish priorities to meet needs of the students and the community.

Dr. Stiles said, "We are not engaged in evaluating the present program (at the high school)." He said that if the study supports the current program, the study committee will recommend to continue it.

However, Dr. Stiles said although the Wood River High School program "has proved serviceable over the years," the study will look to the future to ensure that the "public has everything it would want in a high school."

Murphy speaks at dedication

HAILEY — The Wood River Recreation Association was commended Sunday by U. S. Gov. Jack Murphy for organization of is new facilities, west of Hailey.

During dedication ceremonies on the 330 acre site, leased from the Bureau of Land Management, Murphy said "spontaneous effort produced the inevitable results we have today."

Facilities for the area, affording year around recreational activities, include a snowmobile track, motocross course and a four wheel-drive track. Future development plans call for a rifle and trap shooting range.

Construction has also been completed on a two-story building, housing a concession stand, broadcasting booth and meeting room.

"Praising the spirit and cooperation" of the association, O'dell Frandsen, Shoshone District manager of the BLM, said focus of off-road vehicle usage on the site will take pressure off other public and private lands.

Frandsen said the area will be used as a guide to set up other similar facilities.

Blaine County Commissioner C. W. (Andy) Gardner said the planned area is a credit and asset to both the association and Blaine County.

Also speaking at the event was Legislative District 21 representative Steve Antone, R-Rupert.

The dedication was in conjunction with a motocross race.

Cassia drive begins today

BURLEY — The Cassia County Red Cross fund drive begins today, Mrs. Faye Stoddard, fund drive chairman, announced.

"The quota for the county is $5,000 and volunteer workers are to turn in the funds collected to Ormand Burch, county chapter treasurer, at the McCulloch Funeral Home."

William McGill, chapter chairman, says two teen age boys at Milner have already collected funds amounting to more than $100 from the Milner Area.

Dee Nelson, in charge of advance gifts, reports the quota of $600 has almost been reached.

Tip nets $5

TWIN FALLS — Jack Shipman, Bellevue, is the latest Magic Valley resident to receive $5 for a news tip.

Shipman was the first to notify the Times-News of the airplane crash near the southwest edge of Hailey on Oct. 3.

If you see something happening that you think should be in your newspaper, call 731-9931, or use one of the toll free lines serving various sections of the Magic Valley.

Vehicles damaged

HAILEY — A BB or pellet from an air gun caused about $130 in damage to three U. S. Forest Service vehicles parked at the Hailey Ranger District office.

Lorin Bartlome, Forest Service employee, told Blaine County sheriff's officers today the vandalism occurred sometime Friday night.

The rear windows of two pickup trucks were shot, with a passenger window of a third truck damaged, he said. Investigation is continuing in the case.

Cloudiness expected Tuesday

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert area:

Variable cloudiness and widely scattered showers or thundershowers through Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and highs Tuesday in the middle 60s. Outlook for Wednesday, little change.

Camas Prairie, Bailey and lower Wood River Valley:

Lows tonight in the lower 30s and highs Tuesday in near 60s. Variable cloudiness and scattered thundershowers are forecast.

Synopsis: Little change is expected in the weather pattern over the west during the next 48 hours. A weak low pressure system aloft continues off the California coast and southwesterly winds aloft dominate the weather pattern over southern Idaho Patches of moisture imbedded in this flow will bring periods of showers or thundershowers and periods of considerable clearing through Tuesday. Temperatures are also expected to show little overall change with day to day changes mainly due to local cloud cover. Highs should remain in the 60s with overnight lows in the 30s to low 40s.

weekend have been quite spotty, which is typical of shower activity. Caldwell reported .73 inches for the greatest amount in the state, and many stations report no precipitation.

The extended weather outlook for Wednesday through Friday continues variable cloudiness and periods of showers with little change in temperature.

Faster money

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. Postal Service will install 56,000 data recorders in more than 35,000 post offices, military installations and aboard ships beginning early next year to help speed preparation of about 180 million orders a year. The data recorders will help reduce issuance time while providing a modern paper-check order and an improved customer receipt, says Addressograph-Multigraph Corp., which signed a $2.5 million contract for the equipment.

Jerome Angus ranch lists sales returns

JEROME Top animals in the Mon Repos Angus Ranch production sale included the $4,700 top bull and the $3,050 high selling cow.

Officials of the ranch say this is the first time an Angus cow has sold in Idaho for more than $3,000. Sale results were announced Friday.

Officials said the sale was highly successful and for the third year 60 per cent of the sale offerings went to repeat buyers in 10 states and Canada.

The 28 bulls in the sale averaged $1,456 while 44 cows sold for an average of $1,243 per lot. The total sale represented $94,450 spent for Jerome Angus cattle.

The top selling bull was purchased with half interest and half possession to Quarter Creek Spear Angus Ranch, Benson, Ariz. The same buyer purchased two thirds interest in another bull at $1,700. They also purchased five cows, making them one of the leading buyers in the sale.

Lot 3, second high bull in the sale, brought $3,160 and sold to Charles James, Paso Robles, Calif. Mays Angus Ranch, Auburn, Wash., bought a bull for $2,350 with other top bulls including one sold to Hamman Angus Ranch, LaGrande, Ore., $2,100 and one to Hal P. Schulthies, Alberta, Utah, at $1,600.

Max Sprattling, Deeth, Nev., took four of the top bulls and has been participating in the sales for six years.

Top cow was sold to El Capitán, Lompoc, Calif. The same ranch also purchased the high selling two-year old cow and heifer.

Volume buyer of cows was Bill Siegenthaler, Artesia, N.M., who is starting a new Angus herd. He took seven head of young cows averaging $1,100 per head.

Ernest Kleiveno, Soap Lake, Wash., took five cows and calves, and Blain Yancey, Moore, purchased a AAA cow at $1,600. Another sold for $1,625 to Hochstein Bros., Pinchard Creek, Canada. Earl Tarbell, Elgin, Ore., took a heifer for $1,675, while his two sons purchased heifers at $900 and $700 each.

The sale was held Oct. 7 at the Mon Repos ranch in Jerome County. Jim Messersmith, John Wert and Kaye Wall were auctioneers.

Griese injured as Miami topples Chargers 24-10

MIAMI (UPI) — Veteran Earl Morrall stepped onto the field in the first period Sunday to lead a Miami Dolphins team infuriated by a severe injury to quarterback Bob Griese to a 24-10 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

The 38-year-old Morrall led Miami to a 37-yard field goal by Garo Yepremian right after the injury to Griese, then passed for two touchdowns, 18 yards to Howard Twilley and 19 to Paul Warfield, after San Diego had tied the score 3-3 on Dennis Partee's 13-yard field goal.

It was the fifth consecutive victory for the Dolphins preserving Miami's record as the only undefeated and untied team in professional football.

But it was a costly one because Griese, the American Conference's leading passer last year, went down 8:32 deep into the first period and probably is lost for the remainder of the regular season. He was taken to Mercy Hospital where team physician Herbert Virgin diagnosed the injury as a fracture of the right tibia. Griese was carried out on a stretcher and strapped to the stretcher.

Before he was nailed behind the line as he tossed a pass, Griese and the Miami Dolphins had an unbeaten record and the seventh-year quarterback was in line to become the premier quarterback in the National Football League.

"Now he may not play again for the rest of the season," Griese suffered a fracture in the small bone of his right leg about four inches above the ankle, and a dislocated ankle as well, in the first quarter of the game with San Diego. Coach Don Shula ran onto the field with the team physician when he saw his quarterback squirming in pain on the artificial turf.

"He didn't have much to say. He was just down in the dumps," Shula said.

He said the ankle injury is a worse injury than the fracture, "because of the stretched muscles and ligaments." This ankle will have to be in a cast about six weeks.

There's still some hope he can come back and help in next year," Shula said, but he didn't sound very hopeful.

Miami went on to whip the Chargers, 24-10, with Earl Morrall running the team, but Shula said, "all the good things about this game are reduced by what happened to Griese."

But Shula was obviously proud of his team.

Falcons outlast New Orleans 21-14

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bob Berry threw three touchdown passes to guide the Atlanta Falcons, down by two touchdowns in the first quarter, to a 21-14 victory over a New Orleans Saints team that is still looking for its first win of 1977.

Berry, hit tight end Jim Mitchell with a 10-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter and found Mitchell again in the second period on a five-yard scoring shot. He provided the winning points early in the final period with a 23-yard pass to Ken Burrow.

New Orleans scored early when rookie cornerback Ernie Jackson scooped up an Art Malone fumble and dashed 85 yards to score.

Willie Gernany fumbled away the following kickoff at his own 19 and six plays later, quarterback Archie Manning plowed over from three yards out for another Saints touchdown.

New Orleans had two chances to tie the score late in the game when Malone fumbled the ball away at his own 44 and Berry later did the same at his 40.

But Manning fumbled the first chance right back to the Falcons and the second time the Saints ran out of down, on the Atlanta 35 with 1:25 left.

While New Orleans was capitalizing on early Falcon fumbles, Atlanta was unable to do the same on a pair of first half fumbles by the Saints. Joe Williams.

Williams first gave up the ball shortly after the kickoff at the Saint 21 but Malone fumbled it over to Jack on the Saints' first score. Later in the second period Williams fumbled the ball at his own 10 but the Saints defense stiffened and held the Falcons on downs at the one-yard line.

The win gave Atlanta's Western Division record and kept New Orleans in the division cellar at 0-2.

Washington beats St. Louis 33-3

ST LOUIS (UPI) — Charley Harraway scored touchdowns on two short dives and Curt Knight kicked four field goals Sunday to lead the Washington Redskins to a 33-3 victory over the punchless and mistake-prone St. Louis Cardinals.

Washington took advantage of two short field goal misses by St. Louis' Jim Bakken, a blocked punt, a fumble recovery and an interception to build the lead before putting the game out of reach with two late touchdowns.

Knight kicked field goals of 30, 8, 42 and 36 yards.

Larry Brown, the NFL's leading rusher, ground out 140 yards in 23 carries for the Redskins, the fourth time in five games this season he has exceeded 100 yards; while Sonny Jurgensen, who won the quarterback job from Joe Klinger a week ago, completed 13 of 18 passes for 204 yards.

The favored Redskins had only a 3-0 lead late in the second period when Jim Bakken partially blocked Donny Anderson's punt from the end zone to set them up at the St. Louis 13-yard line, and three plays later they scored the first touchdown.

Jurgensen hit Brown with a 29-yard pass to get the ball to the six and Harraway scored two cracks at the line.

After St. Louis got its only points on a 46-yard field goal by Bakken in the third period, Verlon Biggs recovered a fumble by Anderson to set up Knight's second field goal for a 13-3 Washington lead.

Interception helps Bengals top KC 23-16

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Tommy Casanova's 33-yard return with a pass interception in the fourth quarter Sunday set up a seven-yard touchdown pass from Ken Anderson to Speedy Thomas, catapulting the Cincinnati Bengals to a 23-16 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

The victory allowed Cincinnati to retain its lead in the American Football Conference's Central Division with a 4-1 record. Kansas City dropped to 3-2 in the AFC West.

With the Chiefs leading 13-10 quarterback Ken Dawson flipped a pass to Dennis Homan. The ball bounced out of Homan's hands and into Casanova's at the Cincinnati 40. The rookie from Louisiana State returned to the Kansas City 27.

Anderson passed six yards to Thomas before Essex Johnson scampered 19 yards on a sweep. After Fred Willis was dumped for a two-yard loss, Anderson passed to Thomas who dove over the goal line at the flag with 11:06 left in the game.

The aroused Bengals then added 12 and 16-yard field goals by Horst Muhlmann to put the game out of reach. The second field goal with 5:36 left was set up by another interception by linebacker Doug Adams, who returned to the Chiefs' 15.

Jan Stenerud kicked a 42-yard field goal to narrow the score with 2:07 left. The Chiefs got the ball back with 1:29 to play and drove from the 50 to the Cincinnati eight before a fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

The Chiefs' 10 points in the third quarter on a 13-yard pass from Dawson to Otis Taylor and a 32-yard field goal by Stenerud.

Dawson took the Chiefs 75 yards to open the third quarter, hitting Taylor 24 yards to the Cincinnati 41. Mike Adamle ran 12 and 15 yards on successive plays before Dawson found Taylor cutting across the end zone for the 14-yard scoring pass.

Cincinnati, trying to make a first down on a third-down play, broke a 65-yard play when Johnson eluded a couple of tackles on a flat pass from Anderson and went the distance with 6:17 to go in the third quarter.

Dawson, suffering bruised ribs, was pressed into action on the first play of the second quarter, when Mike Livingston pulled a hamstring muscle while running out of bounds on a keeper. Livingston was not hit on the play.

Neither team penetrated the opponents' 20-yard line in the first half and Cincinnati did not get inside the Chiefs' 30.

Muhlmann kicked a 16-yard field goal with 9:18 to go in the first quarter, ending a 35-yard drive.

With 2:31 remaining in the half, Stenerud tied the game for Kansas City with a 39-yard field goal.

The Chiefs drove from their six to the Bengals' 22 before Dawson was sacked for a nine-yard loss on third down by pulled a hamstring muscle, Mike Reid.

Coyboys shutout Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Dallas quarterback Craig Morton used "nickel-and-dime" passes and the withering rushes of Calvin Hill and Walt Garrison Sunday as the Cowboys lullied the puncheonless Baltimore Colts to sleep, 21-0.

Morton finished the day with 21 completions out of 30 attempts for 279 yards and two touchdowns and the running duo of Hill and Garrison ground out 124 yards rushing to give the defending Super Bowl champs all they needed to win.

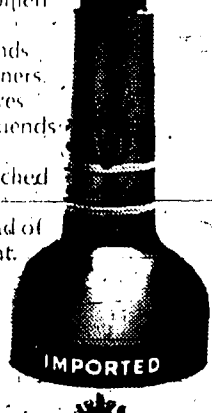

Dallas crept ahead 7-0 when Morton and his runners combined on a 73-yard, 10-play drive early in the second quarter.

Morton continued to work for short passing yardage in the second half as he brought Dallas 83 yards for a score climaxed by his 17-yard strike to Hill midway through the third period. That tally put the Cowboys ahead 14-0 and a Morton to Ron Sellers touchdown pass of 44 yards with 3:30 left to play finished the one-sided scoring.

The Colts were unable to mount any real offensive threat, the lone Baltimore drive being snuffed out by an illegal forward pass penalty against veteran Johnny Unitas on the Dallas two.

Homecoming for TF high

TWIN FALLS — Week long Twin Falls High School homecoming activities begin today and end Friday with a parade and a Friday night football game.

Theme of the event this year is "Those Were the Days," with outside entertainment including a band, The Riff-Raff from Los Angeles, playing Saturday from 9 p.m. to midnight, and the University of Idaho drill team and marching band taking part in the Friday afternoon parade and performing at half-time during the game.

The University of Idaho Vandelettes drill team will also perform. During the early part of the week classes and clubs will be preparing floats and queen candidates will be campaigning for votes.

Gov. Cecil Andrus will be parade marshal for the Friday parade at 2:30 p.m. In addition to marching bands, drill teams and other school participating groups, floats will be entered by all school clubs and one float for each class.

The parade will be judged by three businessmen selected by the school. Judging basis will be on a basis of appearance of the floats, originality, crowd response and theme. School board members and Supt. George Staudaher will also ride in the parade as will homecoming queen candidates and the junior miss candidates.

A marked-off section of the stands will be held for the class of '54, the first class to graduate from the present high school. Free coffee will be served during the game.

Other events of the week will include a sophomore football game Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the stadium, followed by a pep rally and snake dance to a bonfire site adjacent to the Sav-On Drug store.

A pep assembly will be Friday at 1 p.m. featuring the homecoming queen candidates from each class. Junior and senior high schools will dismiss at 2:30 p.m. Friday for the parade and other activities.

Not mod

L. PATRICK GRAY III told the Executives Club of Chicago Friday that after 23 weeks as acting FBI director "I do not observe the men and women of the FBI going 'mod' with medallions, beads, frayed blue jeans and the sandals. He said he has heard stories about how he was trying to convert the FBI to a communal style of dress. (UPI)

McGovern plans 'full statement'

BOSTON (UPI)—Jean Westwood, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said Saturday McGovern forces will make a "full statement" next week regarding an alleged major scandal involving the Nixon administration and the cotton industry.

She denied, however, a "slip" she made Friday night at a rally in Madawaska, Maine, about the scandal was intentional and designed to incriminate by innuendo.

The so-called scandal allegedly involves "inside information and profit making" in the cotton industry, Mrs. Westwood had commented Friday night.

Asked at a news conference Saturday to expand on the remark, Mrs. Westwood said "a full statement will be made next week" by Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Mrs. Westwood denied that her slip was intentional. "I've given these facts," she said. "I don't have a record of giving innuendo."

She explained that cotton prices had dropped by one-third and Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz made a projection that the United States would need much more cotton for the world market. "In fact," she said, "there was no need at all" for more cotton.

Because of that projection, she said the U.S. Department of Agriculture went to the cotton farmers and asked them to plant 10 per cent more cotton.

The result is that we have a three billion bale surplus," she said. "This has to be the worst miss-guess in history, and we believe there are reasons behind this." She said the McGovern people believe it was done intentionally.

Losers in this matter, she said, are all the cotton farmers and consumers.

U. of I. slates homecoming

MOSCOW (UPI) — Special entertainment and speakers, a pajama parade, alumni meetings, open houses and the traditional football game are planned for homecoming at the University of Idaho Oct. 22-29, the university announced Friday.

The week's activities begin Oct. 22 with performances by "El Chicano" and "Sneaky Sam," two rock groups, in the memorial gymnasium.

University officials said the combined Miss U-O-I Homecoming Queen pageant is scheduled Friday.

The homecoming parade is slated Oct. 28 followed by a football game between the Idaho Vandals and University of Pacific.

The university said the homecoming activities will conclude with a folk mass at St. Augustine's Catholic Center Oct. 29.

Environmental unit hits exploitation

MOSCOW — A resolution has been adopted by the Idaho Environmental Council, pertaining to the exploitation of Idaho's heritage and natural resources, officials said today.

Idaho is experiencing a rapid subdivision of its most precious land that is unparalleled except possibly by the largely exploitation of California, council officials said.

The objective of the state and federal agencies involved must be to stop such exploitation. In line with this, the IEC proposes in its resolution an immediate ban on all septic tanks or individual sewage treatment facilities unless they are required for valid farm or ranch units greater than 40 acres; an emergency land use planning to designate metropolitan or community areas outside of which subdivision would not be allowed; the enactment of adequate investor safeguards and assurances that land which is sold can be connected to central sewer and water systems; an immediate cessation of advertising by the state to induce tourism, and a complete inventory and analysis of all Idaho areas requiring special protection to be followed by proposals for legislative action and administrative control.

Survey bureau elects

BOISE — Robert A. Panero, property insurance manager for Industrial Indemnity Co., has been elected president of the Idaho Surveying and Rating Bureau.

He was elected at the agency's annual meeting at Sun Valley.

Other officers are Roger McDonald, vice president; Gilbert M. Eddins, Darol Fieldman, and David L. Hardin, directors.

Students set meet

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho nursing students will meet Friday for a luncheon in the Cafeteria at 12:15 p.m. for presentation of their stripes.

Jean Thomson, instructor, said the event will feature presentation of stripes for all sophomore nursing students in the CSI program.

A thought for the day: Canadian physician Sir William Osler said, "Tact is the saving virtue without which no woman can be a success."
