

Oil advances

EFFORTS TO KEEP a massive oil spill on the San Juan River in southern Utah from reaching Lake Powell proper, have failed. The oil and debris pushed past log barriers into the lake Thursday as steady rains continued to swell the San Juan to flood stage. Officials now will let the pollution move to calmer central portions of the lake before attempting to remove it. Heavy oil spilled into the San Juan more than a week ago when an oil transportation pipeline broke. (UPI).

First definite figures show CSI growth slows

TWIN FALLS — First definite 1972 enrollment figures at the College of Southern Idaho show only a small growth over the same period last year.

Director of admissions Gerald Meyerhoeffer said enrollment measured on a full-time - equivalent - students basis is up two percent for this year.

Growth from 1968 to 1971 at the seven-year-old community junior college was about 15 percent each year.

1,477 academic students are registered for fall semester this year. Of that total, 1,224 carry a full course load and 253 are part-time students.

Fall semester 1971 showed an enrollment of 1,212 full-time students and 228 part-time enrollees, making a total of 1,440 academic students.

The vocational school enrollment, of full-time students exclusively, shows only a modest increase from 298 students for 1971 to 304 for fall, 1972.

Academic equivalency figures, computed by CSI by using two-thirds of part-time students as equivalent to full time, show that 1697 full-time equivalency students are enrolled at CSI this fall in comparison to 1,662 full-time equivalency enrollees for 1971.

This figure shows the small 2.05 per cent increase in enrollment from 1971 to 1972.

In the college's special education programs 1,236 students are enrolled this year in comparison to 1,104 for 1971. Students in these programs are not computed in full-time equivalency figures, according to Meyerhoeffer.

Meyerhoeffer had speculated earlier this fall that the slowing of the enrollment increase, expected by his office, is due to several factors, including the shift nationwide toward an all-volunteer army.

The creation several years ago of a national lottery for draft-eligible men eliminated the uncertainty facing them in making future plans.

In addition, Meyerhoeffer said students have developed a scepticism about the assistance of a college education in obtaining a job.

In related news, the Idaho Board of Education, meeting in Pocatello Thursday and Friday, learned that autumn enrollment at three of the state's college's and universities has declined over a year ago, with only the University of Idaho showing an increase.

A spokesman at the Office of Higher Education said today the office has not yet received enrollment figures from the College of Southern Idaho. The figures are used to complete state aid to the institutions of higher education.

Gem colleges lose students

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Autumn enrollment figures at Idaho's college and universities have dropped, with the exception of the University of Idaho — which showed an increase.

The state board of education meeting here Thursday discussed the figures, which show the decreases are occurring in the lower divisions.

The decrease in the freshman and sophomore levels were more than enough to offset some increases in the upper divisions.

A special planning committee told the board during the Thursday meeting it has found duplication in the university and college programs, but as yet cannot determine whether it is wasteful.

Dr. John Swartley of Boise, chairman of the committee, told the board there is considerable evidence that many existing programs at institutions are seriously underfunded.

While he said new programs need to be considered, he felt a moratorium should be continued until the planning committee reviews all institutions' curricula and cost data.

"There are indeed a number of areas in which programs are duplicated and repeated in more than a single institution," Swartley's report to the board said.

"However, there is no conclusive evidence that it is wasteful or that consolidation or transfer of programs would be in the best interests of the state," he said.

The committee conducted a preliminary review in the areas of education, business administration and medical arts.

In other action Thursday, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus briefed the board privately on federal revenue sharing possibilities for higher education, during a two-hour closed luncheon.

"We met at his request," said the board chairman, M. T. Deaton of Pocatello.

He said he was unable to discuss in detail what the governor had told the board because Andrus asked members to keep it off the record.

Also, an advisory council for vocational education presented its annual reports to the board.

Chairman P. K. Harwood, of Caldwell said the decade of the 70s probably will be devoted to career education.

Harwood and other members of the council urged that vocational education be given high priorities.

Thieu says US scuttled truce

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu told South Vietnamese legislators that President Nixon rejected a North Vietnamese offer of a cease-fire before the Nov. 7 U.S. presidential elections, members of the National Assembly said today.

The legislators said Thieu told a conference of about 40 members of the National Assembly Thursday night that the North Vietnamese had proposed the cease-fire to be followed by a coalition government extending from the national down to the hamlet level in South Vietnam.

Thieu said he himself vetoed the coalition with the Communists and that Nixon then turned down the cease-fire, the lawmakers said.

The legislators said Thieu did not give any specific reason for Nixon's reported rejection of the cease-fire. Thieu said only that he would not accept the coalition government.

The lawmakers said Thieu told them a cease-fire before the election would be advantageous to the North Vietnamese. After the election Nixon would have four more years to negotiate an end to the war.

The president's two-hour conference with the legislators was held after Nixon's special adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Thieu conferred at the Presidential pace for five hours.

Kissinger, Thieu, members of the South Vietnamese National Security Council and American officials met again today for 3 1-2 hours.

No details of the meetings were given to newsmen. An official South Vietnamese statement today said "both sides continued discussion of the general situation and the Paris peace talks."

The newspaper Tin Song (Live News) reported today Kissinger would meet Saturday with South Vietnamese political leaders. The newspaper is partially financed by Thieu's nephew and personal secretary Hoang Duc Nha who was present at the meetings.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said "we are not going to be commenting about the discussions or the negotiations."

Viets retake hamlet

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops today reoccupied a hamlet eight miles north of Saigon, but Communist forces again cut Highway 1 and cut off the capital from the rich farmlands in the lower highlands northeast of the city, military sources said.

In Saigon today, there was a shortage of vegetables in the markets and what remained was about three times the normal price. Spokesman said there was fighting in an arc from east to west of Saigon along the city's outer northern defenses.

A new threat developed in the Central Highlands 270 miles north of Saigon and there were reports that traces of Communist tanks had been sighted. U. S. planes bombed in 15-minute relays to save the crucial base of My Thach from being overrun, UPI reporter Matt Fronjola reported from Pleiku.

JOHN BARDEEN
... wins 2nd Nobel

6 American scientists win Nobels

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Six American scientists scored a clean sweep today of the Nobel Prize Awards for Chemistry and Physics.

Three shared the chemistry prize and three shared the physics prize, each worth $100,000. The physics prize went to Prof. John Bardeen of the University of Illinois — the first man to win two Nobel prizes for physics — and to Leon N. Cooper of Brown University and John Robert Schrieffer of the University of Pennsylvania. They share equally.

The chemistry prize went to Dr. Christian B. Anfinsen of the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., and Drs. Stanford Moore and William H. Stein of Rockefeller University in New York. Anfinsen was awarded half of the prize and the other half was shared by Moore and Stein.

The physics prize was awarded to Bardeen, Cooper and Schrieffer for their study in the superconductivity of metals cooled almost to absolute zero; studies of vast importance to the electrical industry. Bardeen had shared a previous physics prize in 1956 for inventing transistors.

Anfinsen won his chemistry prize for his work on ribonuclease, especially concerning the connection between the amino acid sequence and the biologically active conformation — studies into the chemistry of the chromosome and the gene, the factors which determine heredity.

Moore and Stein won their award for "their contribution to the understanding of the connection between chemical structure and catalytic activity of the active center of the ribonuclease molecule," the Swedish Academy of Sciences announced.

A spokesman at Rockefeller University said this referred to "the genetic structure of the chromosome and gene, important links in unraveling the molecular structure of the genetic material which determines heredity."

TF mall dedicated

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus dedicated the Twin Falls downtown mall today, praising the city for its "planning, foresight and determination."

He said the mall project was the first completed urban renewal project in the state of Idaho, and would serve as a model for other areas.

The governor was introduced at the brief ceremonies by Twin Falls Mayor John Christofferson before a small group of people, including mostly city civic leaders, as well as candidates for state and county political office.

Andrus reminded the group that he had agreed to act as floor sponsor of the initial urban renewal legislation when he served in the state legislature.

He also praised the patience demonstrated by the downtown merchants through the several years of construction for their efforts in bringing about the "improvement in business and improvement in the city and pride in the city."

Heart ails TF commissioner

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioner Heber Loughmiller, Hollister, was in serious condition in a Reno, Nev., hospital today being treated for a heart ailment.

He and Mrs. Loughmiller were driving to California for a brief vacation and rest when he became ill late Wednesday night.

Officials said he was in the cardiac care unit of St. Mary's Hospital.

Loughmiller had undergone open heart surgery in Boise this summer and has been carrying out his county duties on a limited basis since that time.

TFHS students back Nixon in straw poll

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls High School students and teachers favor President Richard Nixon by better than a 4-1 margin for election over Sen. George McGovern.

A candidate preference poll, published today by the Bruin News, the school paper, shows Nixon with 759 votes in the survey taken among the high school juniors and seniors, as well as the faculty, with Sen. McGovern trailing with 170 votes.

In the other featured races of the election campaign, Rep. James A. McClure, Republican, leads Democrat Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis in the race for Idaho's Senate seat by a 683-278 total.

Incumbent Republican Rep. Orval Hansen polled 843 votes in the survey compared to 149 for his Democratic challenger Willis Ludlow in the race for the second congressional district.

Of a total of 1,034 participants in the survey, 45 teachers listed themselves as eligible to vote and 25 senior students will be eligible to vote in the Nov. 7 election.

Television was chosen as the media supplying the most election information to survey participants. All media were considered fair in their election coverage.

Election candidates received the following number of votes in the survey: Presidential election: George McGovern 170; Richard M. Nixon 759; Linda Jenness (Socialist Labor) 9; Rep. John G. Schmitz (American) 19; Dr. Benjamin Spock (People's Party) 14.

Senate: William E. (Bud) Davis, 278; Rep. James A. McClure, 683; Jean L. Stoddard (American) 29.

House of Representatives: Rep. Orval Hansen, 843; Willis Ludlow, 149; John Thibert (AM) 35.

Kent Christensen, Bruin News reporter, conducted the survey.

Bill Campbell, Idaho campaign director of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, Thursday urged Democrats and independents to watch a special thirty-minute telecast tonight by ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally.

He predicted that "very few people who witness John Connally's indictment of George McGovern's policies will find it possible to support the Democratic nominee."

Valley Briefs

TWIN FALLS — "Discovery of America" was the theme of the Cub Scout Pack 66 meeting Wednesday evening. Mike Voelmer received his Bobcat award. It was announced that the Webelos den will cut fireplace wood to sell and that the next meeting will be Nov. 15 in the Presbyterian Church.

In other political action, Democratic First District congressional hopeful Ed Williams called for revisions in Social Security laws and the Republican candidate in that district praised the state land board for its decision at a Wednesday meeting. Symms, a Republican from Marsing, commended the land board for its suggestion that land selections by the state of Idaho from federal properties not be made on territory that could be appropriated by Idaho citizens for desert entry.

"This forward-looking position will ultimately strengthen Idaho's economy," he said, adding the board's action was consistent with his position concerning public land use.

Speaking at the Democratic Women's Club luncheon, Ed Williams said that while the implementation of Social Security has increased services and benefits to persons who can no longer work, including retired citizens, the problem is that not everyone eligible for social security is on its payroll.

"I believe Social Security should provide fair and adequate income for all older Americans," Williams, a Democrat from Meridian, said. "The recent increase in benefits was welcomed by many but became a burden to a few who lost old age assistance benefits, including medicare, because they had exceeded the limit of Social Security."

"The family unit which once took care of its elderly has begun to disintegrate, placing an increasingly large burden on the government to provide additional services," Williams added.

Elsewhere in political action Thursday, Republican Senate nominee James A. McClure said inflation continues to be the number one enemy of the American farmer.

Informant gives murder account

CHICAGO (UPI)—The stabbing of a barking dog triggered the murders of a wealthy suburban family, an informant against members of the De Mau Mau gang told police.

A source close to the investigation said Thursday an informant gave police an account of the slayings. He refused to identify the informant.

According to the account given investigators, the murder of the four members of a Barrington Hills family Aug. 4 began when one of the killers slashed the pet dog to silence it and one of the family being held at gunpoint ran to the animal.

The story came out as Cook County sheriffs police charged a ninth man in the murders. The nine men, described as members of a black terrorist group formed by Vietnam veterans, have been charged in the murders of nine persons, including the mass slayings of two white families.

Kenneth Stevens, a reputed member of De Mau Maus, surrendered to police late Thursday in the home of his mother. Two other men were held and being questioned in the slayings. No charges have been filed against them.

Police have been checking with authorities in other states to determine whether gang members committed unsolved murders elsewhere.

The slaughter of insurance executive Paul Corbett and three members of his family began when a dog began barking and one of the gunmen knifed it, the informant told police.

A stepdaughter, Barbara

Board, 22, became incensed at the stabbing and ran towards the man with the knife, the informant said. The second man standing guard with a .30 caliber carbine shot her once in the head, the informant said.

Two other gunmen looting the 14-room mansion, raced downstairs at the sound of gunfire, the informant said. The other three members of the family were herded into the pantry, forced to kneel down, and shot in the head at point blank range, he said.

The source close to the investigation identified the triggerman as Donald Taylor, 21. The four gunmen fled with only a few valuables.

Buhl salutes growth

BUHL — The Buhl Chamber of Commerce is saluting industry and agriculture with displays in downtown store windows during the week of Oct. 19-25.

Ken Patterson, chamber president, said today "There is no doubt about it... Buhl is growing. There is more housing being added this year than there has been for years, and we still cannot meet the demand. New businesses are opening up in Buhl with a hint of more to come."

Nine companies have placed displays: Rangen, Inc. and Green Giant Co., both in the former White Furniture Store location; Idaho Power Co. in Randall's Furniture and Appliance Store; Thousand Springs Trout Farm, Inc. at Gambles; Ida-Gem Dairyman, Inc. at Home Appliance Center; Conover Candies at Sav-Mor; Shields Warehouse at Roper's; and Bell Rapids Project at Idaho Power Co.

American Party opens TF office

TWIN FALLS — Election headquarters for the American Party in Twin Falls County opened Thursday with a visit by Jean Stoddard, U. S. Senate candidate.

Several other state and county candidates also attended to meet voters and hand out literature.

Mrs. Stoddard, a rancher's wife and mother of 10 children, lives in Salmon where she says voters are "pretty much independent" in their voting and candidate support.

Mrs. Stoddard said she decided to seek the office of U. S. Senate because the party wanted a full slate of candidates and she felt voters should be given a wider choice.

"Both other parties are socialistic and support a managed economy. The American Party is a party for constitutional government," she said.

"Congress gets away with this type of government," she said, "because of our Supreme Court which enforces and applies the laws according to the ideas of the individual members, not according to the constitution. Seventy-four per cent of their decisions favor communism."

As for the Vietnam War, Mrs. Stoddard said she feels as long as the United States is there, there should be an honorable peace by winning the war and then all trade to "enemy" countries should be stopped.

Wayne Kinney, county chairman; Alice Jackson, and Paul Whaley, candidate for sheriff in Jerome County, were among those welcoming the public during the open house.

American Party election headquarters are located at 227 Shoshone St. South. It will be open daily through the general election date.

TF County alters plans for jail meal service

By BONNIE RAIRD JONES Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioner Merl E. Leonard said today the county has been forced to alter original plans for catering meals to county prisoners. No one, apparently, wants the job.

On Nov. 1, Sheriff and Mrs. Paul Corder will move out of the apartment adjacent to the jail and Mrs. Corder will no longer feed prisoners.

Commissioners had hoped to award a contract for catering, but as yet they have been unable to find a restaurant, cafe or catering service interested in taking on the project.

"It looks now as though we will work on a plan for making some jail area revisions which will allow a jailer to supervise the meal preparations with trustees doing the cooking, serving and clean up," Commissioner Leonard said.

In this event, he said, the county will hire one, and possibly two men to serve as jailers. The sheriff's present apartment will be remodeled into juvenile detention facilities. The kitchen area can easily be retained and is fully equipped with stoves, refrigerators and a deep freeze.

Leonard said the county could probably save money by retaining the equipment and purchasing food supplies wholesale.

Some remodeling will be necessary for security purposes if the trustees are used in the kitchen, Leonard said, but with remodeling underway this would not be a major problem. He said additional storage space will also be added for staples which will be purchased in large quantities.

Mrs. Corder has agreed to work temporarily with the jailers and trustees to help arrange a schedule, establish menus and provide buying information, Leonard said.

Two meals per prisoner per day are served, Leonard said, and in the past several months jail population has averaged 38 per day. Some increase has occurred recently because of the Immigration Service officials working from Twin Falls in the round up of illegal aliens which must be jailed until they can be taken back to Mexico.

Ada County, Leonard said, serves three meals per day with the cooking and serving handled in the jail in this manner.

"In fact," he said, "we are finding most of the counties are using this method."

Change of concert time brings calls

TWIN FALLS — John Doerr said if his phone had been on a hook it would have been rung off. Why?

It all came about because of a change in time for the Monday evening performance of Andres Segovia, master guitarist, before members of the Community Concert Association.

Because Vice-President Agnew is here that same evening — speaking at the College of Southern Idaho gym at 7:30 p.m., the time of the concert at the CSI Fine Arts Building was changed from 8:15 to 9 p.m.

After a Times-News story on the time change, Doerr said, many of the several hundred association members had called to report there must be an error — the tickets listed the 8:30 time.

Doerr said "The 9 p.m. concert time is correct. We thought many members would like to hear the vice president in the gym before coming over to the fine arts auditorium. Then, too, there will be the traffic situation."

Late garbage pick-up in TF

TWIN FALLS — Because of the Monday holiday, sanitation pick-ups in Twin Falls will be one day late throughout next week.

2 arrested

TWIN FALLS — Two Magic Valley residents were arrested on charges of forgery Thursday by Twin Falls Police and county sheriff's officers.

Stimpson was held in lieu of $1,000 bond. Mrs. Crawford was released in her own custody.

Official City and County Newspaper
Pursuant to Section 60-108 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 8, 1979.

Rumble, Grumble

With the election nearing, we once more hear rumbles and grumbles from some quarters — mostly from up Boise way — that the Republican leadership at the last Legislature "fumbled and stumbled" and was not inspired.

Really? To the contrary, we believe this Republican leadership is what prevented the Legislature, as such, from getting so much out of hand that nothing of real benefit was possible.

It was this Republican leadership — and several Magic Valley legislators including at least three from Twin Falls county were among those leaders — that kept things alive. And we are just as sure as we are breathing that all these men will be returned for another term. This fact will hardly bear out the contention the people were against their actions.

On the contrary, it shows there are still level thinking individuals who believe the Legislature should say how things are running — rather than members of the executive.

If the present Governor had been successful in getting on the books all the far-out ideas he was thinking up, we would have had something really big to worry about. As it is, with that Republican leadership still in the saddle, we look forward to more needed accomplishments to benefit all of us. — OAK

The Activist

The visit of Dick Gregory — billed as comedian, political activist and what have you — was a flop.

Less than 100, and most of them college students, showed up when Gregory spoke at the College of Southern Idaho this week. The College of Southern Idaho, sponsors of the event, failed in the quest to make a profit from the visit.

But it did show one thing — and the message should now be loud and clear. Despite adequate free publicity through the newspaper, over TV and Radio and through paid advertising, the people of Magic Valley showed they are not interested in the rantings of the likes of an individual like Gregory.

He has, under our form of government, the right to say what he thinks. But area citizens also remembered their own right under that same government. They didn't have to listen — and sponsors who thought they would pay to attend a session with Gregory as speaker were wrong indeed. — OAK

MR. SPECTATOR

Origin Of Halloween

Observance of Halloween on the eve of Oct. 31 raises curiosity as to why the date is celebrated in the present manner. A review of the subject by Mr. Spectator reveals some historical information.

Primarily, because the evening of October 31 preceded All Saints Day on November 1, it was known as All Halloween. The celebration is supposed to have originated, in the pre-Christian era, among the Druids who were a Celtic religious order.

Bonfires were lit in honor of their sun god, and on this occasion the lord of death would summon all the souls of the departed who had been confined in the bodies of lower animals in order to decide what future form they would take.

This is an indication that the Druids were believers in the incarnation of departed souls. Furthermore, there was a superstitious belief that witches, fairies, devils, ghosts and all manner of unnatural beings were most likely to appear on Halloween.

A somewhat later concept of the observance is based on an ancient Roman festival in honor of Pomona, a mythological goddess of fruits, farms and gardens — an occasion which was celebrated at this time of year. The objective of this custom was an expression of gratitude to symbolize Pomona's gifts to mankind.

Observance of Halloween has developed through the passing of time into an evening of frivolity, mischievous pranks, masked parades and merry-making. Today the common custom is that of celebrating by the "trick or treat" route. This custom actually developed from the ancient manner of celebrating All Souls Day when it was a practice for the youth of the land to congregate and call on prosperous neighbors to beg specially prepared cake known as "soul cake."

Upon receipt of the gift it is supposed that a prayer was offered for the donor's soul.

Well, here in Twin Falls and in other Magic Valley communities, we are pretty sure that there will be no prayer for your well being. Rather, we would give you a little warning that when Halloween comes, you had better have something to "treat" with or suffer the consequences.

GIVEAWAY DEPT:

Your little giveaway notices really work. Last time we had 15 to 20 calls when we had a family of kittens to give away. Well, that time has arrived again and we're calling on you, Mr. Spectator. These are the latest fall models and are ready for delivery. You can choose from several styles and colors. Call 734-2280 — ask for Mrs. Charles Upson — and you will be granted a private showing of the cute, fluffy little eight-week old things. And they have all had their shots, too!

THE HOLIDAY

Depending on the way you look at it — you can be either lucky or unlucky when Veterans Day is observed Monday. For government, bank and many professional employees it will mean a three-day holiday. But for most people, at least in this neck of the woods, it will mean the same old shift. So if you are feeling sorry for yourself — and envious of those who will get a three-day holiday — just remember there are a lot of people in the same boat as you are.

Say — are you registered to vote November 7 ????

Crowd Was Cheerful — But Uninspired

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Sen. George McGovern's spectacular return to the Vietnam war issue was an admission that he is now threatened with potentially grave defections among voters originally attracted to him for one reason alone: his pledge to end the war.

That explains his decision to broadcast an anonymous tape from an alleged Vietnam war veteran to a huge student audience at the University of Minnesota here, a "war is hell" lament so emotionalized that it stunned his antiwar audience.

Yet, before McGovern played the tape over the loudspeaker, his reception here, despite the size of the student audience, was only mildly enthusiastic. Indeed, even on this activist campus the antiwar passions seemed to have run out. Little white buckets handed through the audience for contributions to McGovern's campaign went empty from hand to hand. The huge crowd was cheerful but clearly uninspired as McGovern once again outlined his well-known peace plan.

The potential loss of McGovern's credibility on the war issue is partly explained by the overall erosion, remarkable in its intensity, of voter confidence in him across the board. That erosion set in during Sen. Hubert Humphrey's attacks on McGovern in the California primary and became apparently irreversible during the Eagleton catastrophe.

That it should now threaten to undermine McGovern on the war issue is ironic in the extreme, considering the Senator's efforts the past two months to shed his image as a "one issue" candidate.

Thus, until last week, McGovern had soft-pedaled Vietnam in favor of the corruption, inflation, drugs and crime-in-the-streets issues. He culminated his attack with a charge in New York two weeks ago that President Nixon's administration is the "trickiest, most deceitful" in U.S. history.

But while the Democratic nominee was desperately trying to find a non-war campaign issue that might begin to whittle down Mr. Nixon's huge lead, polling data from both his own campaign staff and such outside experts as Louis Harris and Dr. George Gallup began to show grave deterioration in his voter standing on the war issue itself.

That data, comparing with our own scouting expeditions with Oliver Quayle in such traditional Democratic areas as Macomb County, Michigan, and Brooklyn, N.Y., traced a steady decline in the credibility of McGovern to end the war in a way acceptable to American voters.

Dr. Gallup's poll of Oct. 13, in fact, showed that even among young voters between 18 and 29, McGovern's end-the-war plan lagged behind Mr. Nixon's plan by a fatal 33 to 52 per cent.

As dubiously interpreted by McGovern's top political advisers, that meant one thing: McGovern's soft-pedaling of the war had smudged his once-clear-cut pledge to remove every vestige of U.S. military power from all of Indochina within 90 days of his inauguration, end all support for the "corrupt Thieu regime" and trust Hanoi to return all U.S. POWs.

Such a finding dictated an immediate return to the Vietnam issue.

Human Response

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Three times in the past year or more I have written things which have evoked so wide and warm a human response that I am convinced of this: There is a deep yearning among people for a kind of specialness that gives life its crowning spirit.

It has nothing to do with most of the things we journalists and the public figures we report on talk about, like tax relief, the chaos in welfare, workers' discontents on the job, the racial struggle, city decay, the inability of governments to perform well.

The yearning seems to have more to do with a search for a lost innocence, with a questing after enduring attachments, with a getting together without shouting in unison, with a wish for a sense of continuity in living, with an appreciation for uncomplicated yet richly satisfying enjoyments.

Only two of the things I wrote reached public print. The other was a eulogy I delivered at a midsummer memorial service for my 89-year-old mother, which was reproduced so hundreds could read it.

It all started in August of 1971, when I said goodbye to a lovely patch of Michigan woods I and my family had enhanced with graceful paths and wandered through for more than a generation. The story was simple: It was a tale of personal attachment to the land, a very special place.

My writing of that farewell was widely printed and often fondly displayed. Friends clipped it and stuck it up on refrigerators and bulletin boards. People wrote to tell of bits of land they, too, loved.

The eulogy I penned a year later was, of course, meant only for my family, my mother's friends, and ours. But it has gone out to hundreds we know, and some of them have sent new copies to still more people.

Though it was a very personal document, it had a strong, binding thread which was quickly visible. My mother's life was a continuous, joyous celebration of the human spirit. Everyone and everything she touched had thereafter the look of gold. She was an appreciator, radiating warm interest and curiosity. Her energies flagged only at the end. She found drama, romance, and excitement in all things. Nothing was purely routine and so the whole of her life, for all its portion of trial and hardship, became a grand ceremony. After she died and then died in late July, I wrote a column telling what it was like to make ready to leave the home where the family had lived for 53 years. It was a small portrait, in motion, of an era ending, never to be regained. Again the response, marked by moving letters and word of reprints sent about, indicated a vital chord was struck for many, young and old.

Today, October 5, the exact date of the month we entered the house in 1919, the motion stops and the portrait becomes fixed. In memory it will always be brimming with life and sound and things warming to the eye and the heart. In fact the great old place stands silent and empty. Only the windblown trees cast shadows suggesting life.

But the life there, and much that was in the house, have gone out to the neighborhood, they are Chicago and farther reaches of the land.

To all these things, things particles of the golden spirit that marked my mother and enlivened our family and our home. Must it end I think people remember — are hungering for its touch.

About Youth

WASHINGTON — It went unnoticed in the adjournment hubbub, but you will definitely hear about it in the new Congress, 93d, that convenes in January.

It's the latest manifestation of the youth movement in public affairs.

In keeping with the lowering of the voting age to 18, the minimum age of members of Congress would be lowered by three years for Senators to 27 from the present 30, for Congressmen to 22 from 25.

As on the voting age, this change will require a Constitutional amendment.

The existing age levels for members of Congress are the same as when the Constitution was adopted.

Not only have they never been changed, but no move has ever been made to do so. The one launched in the recent session was the first ever undertaken.

Principal author of the proposed Constitutional amendment is Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee. An abortive candidate for President early this year, Bayh, 45, will undoubtedly try again in 1976.

His measure has a number of co-sponsors in both branches of Congress, some of them known to also harbor Presidential ambitions.

Foremost among them is Sen. Charles Percy (R-Ill.), 51, running for a second term this year and an all but publicly avowed White House aspirant. If as appears likely he is reelected, Percy can be expected to pass up no opportunity to further his yearning Presidential ambitions.

Percy, who affects loush hair and sideburns, is a voluble champion of youth. He courts young voters with persistence and vigor.

In line with that practice, the bustling Illinoisan made a speech in the closing days of the session in which he proclaimed himself one of the co-sponsors of Bayh's amendment and heartily endorsing it.

In hailing it as a fair and logical follow-up to the lowering of the voting age to 18, Percy held, "I can find few arguments against this proposed Constitutional amendment. It seems to me a reasonable and equitable complement to the other."

One intriguing argument advanced by Percy was the claim that "Americans now mature three years earlier than at the turn of the century."

Rinse The Skin

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several years ago nurses at a hospital used a lotion for back rubs, and I have been using it ever since. Also a soap that contains hexachlorophene.

A doctor told me that since they both contain hexachlorophene I should no longer use them. My daughter, a volunteer at a hospital, says the lotion is still used there.

Is it really harmful to use in moderation? I am 64 and very healthy. — F.E.P.

It's plain to see the confusion over hexachlorophene still exists.

Hexachlorophene is effective in suppressing germs; hence, its use in soaps and some other products.

However, studies with animals showed that it could be toxic, causing brain damage. As with other materials that have been tested, large amounts were used. But since they did cause damage, warnings were issued concerning human use.

Hexachlorophene was not banned. It was simply a matter of making a public warning.

Products containing it should be used with awareness that the risk of absorbing it is greater when used on broken or injured skin or burns or skin disorders, for example.

It was widely used in hospital nurseries to combat staphylococcus and skin infections. After the recommendation that its use be stopped, an increase in skin infections resulted. Some hospitals, however, never had used it as a skin disinfectant.

The answer at the moment seems to be to use it as a disinfectant, but not as a skin disinfectant.

Let adults with intact skin know of no objection to its use. The two items you mention contain 1 per cent or less.

The two products are not to be used on broken skin and to rinse well after using it. After all, you have used these products for years without apparent ill effect, and I see no reason for you to discontinue.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son is just a year old and one testicle has not come down. One doctor tells me to leave it alone, it's not uncommon. Another says have it operated on, and still another says wait until he is 5.

I'm very confused. — Mrs. G. L.B.

An undescended testis is not to be ignored. Keep track of the situation. But there's certainly no urgency for surgery at his age.

I concur with the advice not to consider surgery until he is at least 5. At age 3 or 5, if it has not descended, hormone injections (chorionic gonadotrophin) may be tried, which may solve the problem.

Around age 5 the testis becomes more mature, and surgery to bring it down can be undertaken then.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would it be possible for a woman to become sterile from watching color television over a period of eight hours? How many? Would eight hours be possible? — P.W.

No, I suspect that you have misinterpreted something you have read or heard.

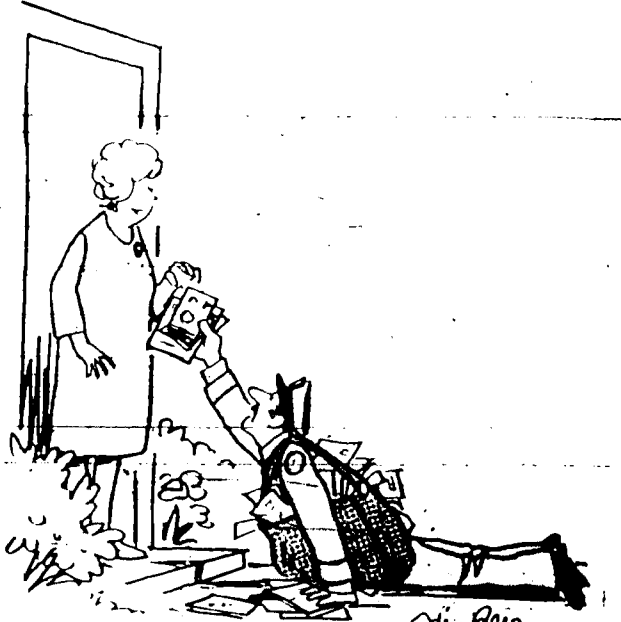

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been taught that drinking plenty of water is essential to good health. Today there are people who drink very little water, preferring juices, tea, soft drinks, etc., instead. Please comment. — Mrs. O. L. P.

It's water, regardless of the various flavorings, so it isn't harmful if ALL the water you drink is flavored.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for the booklet, Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures, enclosing with your request 15¢ in coin, and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Soviets seek pact

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has launched a new campaign for a collective security pact in Asia under Moscow's leadership, evidently aimed at curbing China's influence in the Far East.

The idea, launched publicly first by Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev about three years ago, was cold-shouldered at the time by many Asian nations and strongly opposed by others, notably China.

Several more feelers put out subsequently by the Soviet Union elicited no response or diplomatic excuses, pleading for time to "study" the idea.

A few days ago, Moscow launched a new effort for its security pact concept, and made known it has worked out the "principles on which such a system could be based," decrying any opposition to the plan as imperialist-inspired and chiding Peking for its obstruction.

The issue was publicly raised in Moscow's government newspaper, Izvestia, and was taken up this week in the Soviet embassy publication "Soviet News" which headlined its report: "Pressing Need to Create System of Collective Security in Asia."

The Soviet line is that such an alignment would deprive "imperialists of opportunities to use the unresolved problems between Asian countries in their own mercenary interests." No names were mentioned, but Moscow has accused the Chinese of aggressive intentions because of their territorial claims on Russia, while Peking has labelled the Soviet "social imperialists."

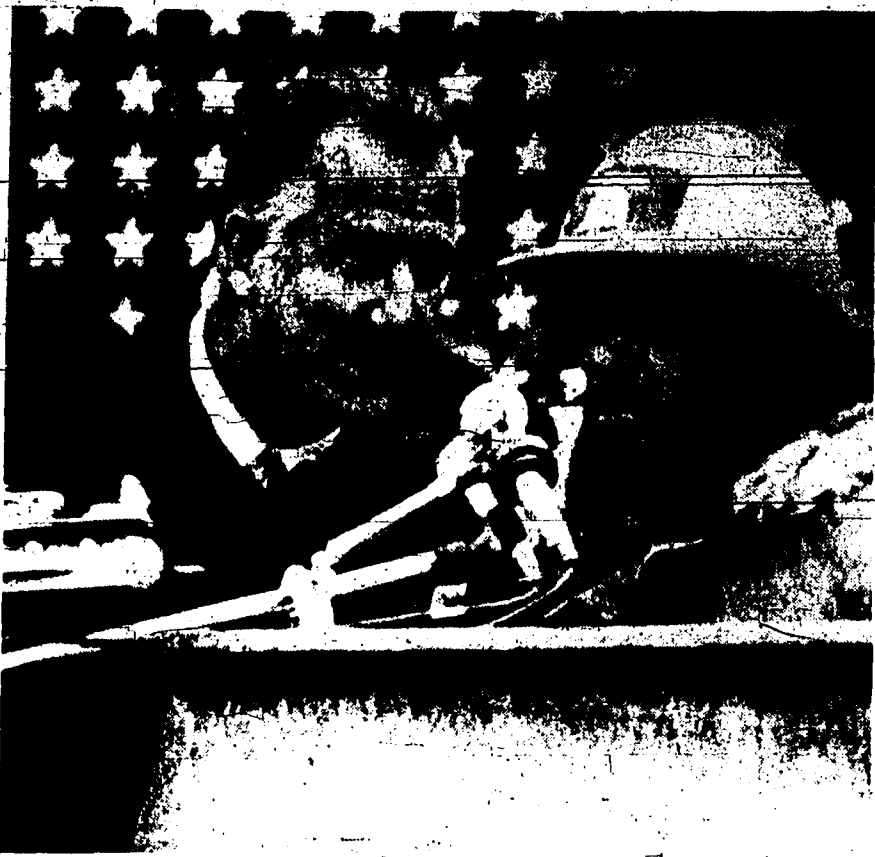

The Soviet Union evidently hopes by such an alignment to curb China's influence in Asia, while Peking considers this policy an attempt by the Kremlin to expand its influence into the Far East.

In propagating the security project, the Russians said that it will require "collective planning by all the interested Asian countries which takes into account all the special features that exist."

To opponents of the scheme these suggestions evidently have an ominous ring.

So far there have been no known major takers of the project which Moscow was believed to have revived now in the face of an expected settlement of the Vietnam war and its political long term effects in South East Asia.

India, closely aligned with Russia since the war against Pakistan, has not responded and is studiously marking time.

Dancer faces fraud charge

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—An exotic dancer who claimed she couldn't work because of a "bad back" was paid up to $1,200 a month welfare from three different state agencies, investigators reported Thursday.

She also made $125 a week working as a furniture refinisher.

Alicia Stephenson, 27, was charged with one count of welfare fraud and, was being held in lieu of $5,000 bail. Marin County investigators said other charges were being prepared against Miss Stephenson, who also used the names Lia Culclease, Lia Stanton and Lia Stahlrite.

Authorities said Miss Stephenson has one child and was living with an unemployed man.

The first indication of wrongdoing, officials said, came when a state computer check showed welfare payments being made in Marin and San Francisco Counties to the same Social Security numbers. Further checks turned up the number on other payments.

In addition to the welfare checks from the two counties, Miss Stephenson was getting aid to the disabled for her injured back and aid for her dependent child.

2 thugs rob NY teacher

NEW YORK (UPI)—A classroom full of horrified elementary school students watched Thursday as two thugs robbed their teacher.

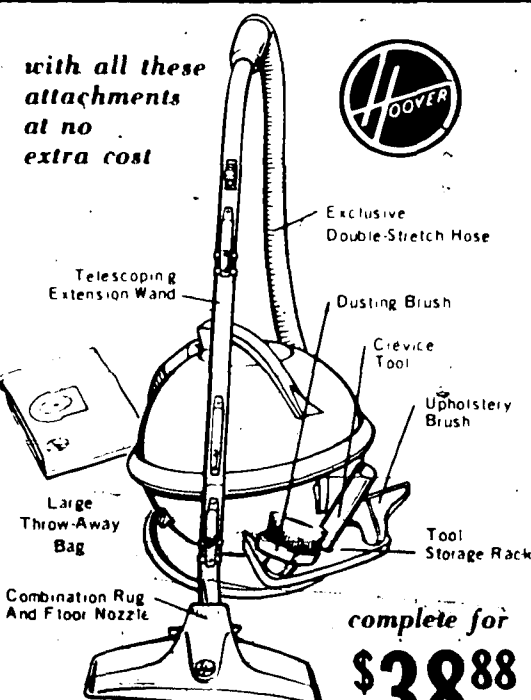

Two men entered the classroom at P.S. 304 where Gail Florowitz was teaching and demanded her money, police said. Neither man showed a gun, according to police, but one held his hand in his pocket "in a menacing manner as though he held a gun there."

The two fled with $5 the teacher gave them from her purse.

Heart threat isolated

HOBART, Tasmania (UPI)—A group of medical researchers has isolated and identified the fatty substance which acts as a clotting agent in heart attacks. One of researchers said he believes isolation of the fat may rule out cholesterol as a major cause of heart disease.

Dr. R.S. Parsons, a member of the research team at the University of Tasmania, said Thursday that their findings indicated that a more important factor in preventing heart attacks was to find a method of controlling the behavior of the fat, which builds up at times of stress.

The team hopes the discovery will lead to a preventive for the blood clots which cause heart attacks.

The researchers included John B. Polya, associate professor of chemistry, and Parsons, a senior research fellow in the department. They said they had been able to isolate the fatty clotting agent while investigating the role played by cholesterol in blockage of arteries. The body produces large quantities of the fatty substances at times of excitement or stress.

Parsons said he and Polya will now try to find out why the blood coagulates or forms a clot. He said that if it could be discovered why blood clots, it may be possible to stop it and thereby prevent heart attacks caused by such clots.

Parsons said what puzzles them is the apparently contradictory influence of cholesterol.

They said cholesterol apparently slows the rate of blood coagulation but at the same time acts as an agent to inhibit the destruction of coagulants already created.

Although cholesterol appeared to be present in large number of heart attacks, it may not be a significant factor, he said.

Parsons said keeping people from undergoing stress was an obvious solution but not one appropriate in today's world. He said the age group which fell victim to heart disease was becoming younger every year.

He said the researchers isolated the fat using a technique of thin layer chromatography widely used in the detection of narcotics by forensic scientists.

About 8,000 miles of new roads—enough to girdle the nation—are added annually to the U.S. highways system.

'Tied' to election

TARA DESMOND, the newest member of the Twin Falls League of Women Voters, pins a new tie on County Clerk Harold Lancaster. The league is selling the ties to raise money for its voter services. They are available at the downtown mall at the league booth this weekend and at KTFI. They were fashioned by Beverly Groce, Oshkosh, Nebr.

Mailing deadlines for overseas delivery told

TWIN FALLS — David Mead, Twin Falls USO spokesman, reminded area residents to keep mailing deadlines in mind so that gifts will arrive overseas in time for the holidays.

The post office has set the following 1972 dates for all areas of Europe, including Iceland. Airmail: Dec. 11; PAL Parcel Post (Parcel Airlift Mail), Dec. 1; SAM Parcel Post (Space Available Mail), Nov. 27, and Surface Parcel Post, Nov. 11.

The deadline dates for areas in the Far East, including Thailand, Korea and Vietnam, are: Airmail, Dec. 1; PAL Parcel Post, Nov. 27; SAM Parcel Post, Nov. 20, and Surface Parcel Post, Oct. 27. Packages should be wrapped in heavy paper. The post office suggests that gifts be cushioned in boxes of solid fiberboard, metal or wood. In addition to a return address label, a label listing contents should be attached.

Donors are requested to direct their gifts for distribution to USO club directors at specific armed forces APO and FPO addresses. The United States postal authorities will not accept packages addressed to "Any Serviceman."

Postal authorities have urged that all packages be mailed early, saying there are no plans this year for a special airlift of Christmas packages to servicemen in Vietnam.

A holiday gift list compiled by the USO as the result of a survey taken among overseas personnel lists many categories of gifts desired.

Included are such things as cosmetics, electronic equipment, foods (canned or other long shelf life snacks are suggested), games, hobby equipment, medical aids (especially foot spray and powder), stationery and books, beauty supplies and such miscellaneous items as holiday decorations, candles, flashlights and batteries and many other small useful items.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Charles Scribner's Sons, Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I was in the same boat with "Nameless," whose husband of 20 years refused to call her by her name.

This nut I was married to for 13 years would never call me "Viola," which was my name. (It was always, "Tell your mother, etc.")

I once asked him why he never called me "Viola," and he said there was a little town by that name he hated. I quit asking him to call me "Viola."

I'm glad we aren't married anymore.

VIOLA

What's in a name?

DEAR ABBY: This is in behalf of the man who has not called his wife by her first name in 20 years.

I, too, am such a man. I love my wife dearly, and altho she has a beautiful first name, I have avoided calling her by her name during the almost 50 years of our happy marriage.

Why? Because there is an old Danish superstition that love for one's dear wife should be kept well hidden so the devil doesn't hear about it and do her harm out of sheer wickedness. Consequently a husband will refer to his beloved wife as "The Old Lady" or "The Old Woman" or something slightly degrading, should the devil be listening and identify her.

I realize it's only a silly superstition, but I've never been able to shake it.

SUPERSTITIOUS DANE

DEAR DANE: Keeping quiet about one's good fortune, lest the devil "hear" you and reverse your luck is not only a Danish superstition—it's Jewish, too.

DEAR ABBY: I married a girl named "Anita" which happened to be my mother's name. I couldn't bring myself to call my bride "Anita." Worse yet, that's not all I couldn't do, so 100 hours on the couch and $3,500 later I overcame the Mother thing—but what a drag!

BETTER SHRUNK THAN SUNK

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I never call each other by our given names and for a good reason. I am his sixth wife and he is my fourth husband. He slipped just once and called me "Sally." (My name is Bertha.) I was married to two different Bobs and I came close to calling him "Bob" on more than one occasion. We made a deal. He calls me "Baby" and I call him "Pops." A 55-YEAR-OLD "BABY"

DEAR ABBY: About the man who couldn't (or wouldn't) call his wife by her name. I know exactly how he feels because I had the same problem.

I'm a widow now, but I was married for many years to a man I just adored, but I couldn't call him "Charlie" to save my life.

One time, some relatives got a hold of me and insisted that I call my husband "Charlie"—and I could hardly say it. It just didn't sound right. I could call him "Darling," "Sweetheart" or "Daddy" (we had six kids), but I couldn't call him "Charlie" to his dying day, and how I loved that man, and he loved me.

CHARLIE'S LOVING WIDOW

Kimberly Methodists meet

KIMBERLY — The United Methodist Women met Wednesday afternoon at the Kimberly Methodist Church.

Mrs. W. I. McFarland presided.

The turkey dinner will be Oct. 25 from 5 to 8 p.m. Mrs. Harold Hove, chairman, announced that tickets will be sold at the door by Mrs. Lavilla Legg and Mrs. Mabel Helton. Mrs. Legg and Mrs. W. C. Klutz will have charge of the country store, baked goods and white elephant sale at the dinner.

The Browse and Buy shop will close Monday afternoon. Boxes from the shop have been donated to local missionary and welfare organizations. Mrs. Hugh Sanderson and Mrs. Helton were in charge of sales during the summer months.

Members were told that a new lace tablecloth and skirt will be purchased for use at wedding receptions and were reminded to remember their mystery daughters.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Orville Allen, Mrs. Austin Moore and Mrs. Delbert T. Remaley, reported they are prepared to present the slate of officers to be elected in November.

In honor of the 49th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer, Mrs. Don Kilborn presented them with a cake.

The group voted to sell note stationery. The offering will be sent to the Methodist Home, Salem, Ore.

Mrs. McFarland was program chairman and presented the study, "Struggle Against Poverty." She was assisted in Bible readings by Mrs. Kilborn and Mrs. Sanderson.

A skit was given by Mrs. Klutz, Mrs. Kilborn, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Sanderson with Mrs. McFarland as moderator. Hostesses were Mrs. Marion Wall and Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Fashion competition set Saturday in TF

TWIN FALLS — The annual "Make It Yourself with Wool" fashion show competition will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room. The Idaho Wool Growers Auxiliary District 3 sponsors the show, which will be judged by Mrs. Zan Payne, Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby and Mrs. Norma Tarter, all Twin Falls.

Clara Tschannen, Gooding.

Contestants select the fabric or yarn of 100 per cent wool, loomed in the United States for their entries. They also choose patterns and accessories to construct the garment which they model.

Richfield women convene

RICHFIELD — Mrs. Eugene Alexander and Mrs. Carl Paulson spoke to the Richfield Women's Club Wednesday. They informed members of the Lions eyesight conservation program how eyes can be donated to the Lions' eyebank.

and urged their participation in the program.

They reported a clinic will be conducted in Richfield by the Lions Club this fall to screen out children ages 3 to 6 who may have eyesight problems.

If the problems can be discovered in children during this period, many of them can be helped, the women said.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Nelson Frederickson, with Mrs. Dennis Hendricks as co-hostess.

Zella Kennison, president, announced the women's club will host the "Christmas Fair of Gift Ideas" to be held at the Richfield American Legion Hall on Nov. 15.

The United Methodist Women, the Richfield Ward LDS Relief Society, the Burnah Club and the Hobby-Ettes Club of Dietrich will participate and display gift ideas for Christmas.

The event will take the place of the women's club November meeting, Mrs. Kennison said.

Mrs. David Whitesell was welcomed as a new member.

Special guests were Mrs. Claudia Ritchey, Bakersfield, Calif., and Mrs. Fred Hubsch, Richfield.

Rally set

TWIN FALLS — The zone Lutheran Layman's League of Magic Valley will sponsor a Reformation Rally Oct. 29 in the College of Southern Idaho auditorium.

Wild shot changes life of Gem boy

By RANDY LEBLANC
BOISE (UPI) — Randy Moser is 15, eats M and M's by the handful, watches weekend horror movies and has a passion for televised football.

So much so that he recently lost 75 cents betting on the Detroit Lions.

"I didn't think the Packers would ever pull it out," he says with a gambler's confidence. Randy's life changed without warning July 12 when he was accidentally shot by a coyote hunter while setting sprinkler pipes on a ranch near Weiser.

Besides his job as a field hand, he umpired in the Weiser Little League and was a starting second baseman on the local Babe Ruth team. A typically full summer for an active teenager.

But the errant .30 caliber bullet severed his spine, leaving him paralyzed from the chest down. His arms, shoulders and head move freely as he jokes with his ward mates at the Elks Rehabilitation Center, but his doctor's prognosis is permanent paralysis. Randy insists the adjustment to his new life style will be made slowly, and says he hasn't given much thought to the future. All he wants to do now is rejoin his sophomore classmates at Weiser High School.

"I don't think I'd mind teaching or even coaching if I could do it," he says, fingering a shock of blond hair from his eyes.

His reading interests vary from sports to westerns, and a stack of paperback novels scattered on his bedside table bears witness to a diverse literary taste. On the adjacent closet wall is a list of daily therapy treatments, including leg movements and crutch practice.

"It's not the kind of exercise I'm used to, but I guess I have to learn it," he says, and points to a new set of arm supports for walking.

"My arms will probably be pretty strong before too long," he laughs.

Randy's medical expenses to date have topped $5,000, and, except for a nominal policy where his mother works, the eight-member family carries no insurance.

Efforts to raise money for his surgery and therapy have only begun recently, with Elks-sponsored programs accounting for most of it.

The Crippled Children's Society donated a new wheel chair, walker and leg braces. A benefit football game Oct. 7 in Weiser netted $300. An Elks-sponsored trap shoot Oct. 1 raised $160, and a benefit auction is scheduled Sunday.

"The Elks have really been a tremendous help to us," Randy says. "I owe them a lot for all they've done."

The youngster's morale, despondent at first, now seems somewhat more unburdened. He smiles easily and insists on having a "fresh approach" to his new life style.

One of his biggest thrills since the accident, he boasts, was receiving a letter from a fellow paralytic, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. Enclosed was an autographed picture of the governor and a certificate making Randy an honorary member of the Alabama State Militia.

"I sure didn't expect that," he beams.

When he returns to school next month, Randy says he wants to resume his academic routine just as he left it last June.

"I don't want any special treatment; I just hope everybody acts the same way around me they always did," he says.

"My appearance may have changed, but I haven't."

FHA loan change could save processing costs

BOISE — A proposed change in processing rural housing loans which could save $100-million in processing costs is being evaluated.

This was announced today by Donald L. Winder, Idaho FHA director, who is meeting this week with representatives of the office of James V. Smith, FHA administrator.

Joseph F. Freburger and Dale Kane, FHA representatives, have been studying the possibilities of implementing a new concept of short-term, interim financing for construction of single dwelling low-to-moderate housing through the Farmers Home Administration.

"This is in line with the President's policy for streamlining operations under the Federal Assistance Review Program," Winder said, "and should promote greater involvement of the public sector in government sponsored programs."

The study has been conducted during the past two years, and came to the attention of the Idaho director after he submitted an employee suggestion to the national office which was substantially the same as the proposal under review by the two FHA representatives.

As proposed, the procedure would permit short-term interim financing through commercial channels with the federal government assuming the mortgage with the borrower at the completion of construction.

This would decelerate the withdrawal of cash from the treasury until needed to close the loan. Saving would be reflected in reduced interest costs to the government and excessive administration costs.

Closing of the loan upon completion of construction would abolish the need for FHA-borrowers to make payments on the home under construction while still making rental or equity payments on their present home, Winder said.

Nixon sets activities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced plans Thursday for two weekend radio speeches and an 80-mile motorcade through Ohio Oct. 28.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will make radio broadcasts paid for by his campaign committee on Saturday and Sunday. The Saturday speech will cover domestic matters and the Sunday broadcast will be an observance of Veterans' Day.

Nixon, who has made only one overtly political trip in three weeks, is scheduled to go to Philadelphia Friday to sign a $30.2 billion revenue sharing bill at historic Independence Hall.

Measure affects state land board

(EDITORS NOTE: This is the last of a series outlining the Amendments which will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot in Idaho.

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — If voters approve Senate Joint Resolution 101 next month, the Idaho Land Board would be appointed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Presently, the land board is composed of elected officials.

They include Andrus, D. F. Engelking, Superintendent of public instruction; W. Anthony Park, state attorney general; Joe Williams, state auditor, and Pete Cenarrusa, secretary of state.

Opponents of the measure say that an appointed board would not have any more time to devote to the state's land policy than the elected officials.

The land board sets policy for the state land commissioner and oversees sales and transfers of state land.

But Andrus feels an appointed board would lead to greater professionalism, according to his press secretary John Hough. Hough also said the governor feels that the state's top elected officials do not have the proper amount of time to devote to the land board job.

But opponents say there would be extra travel expense each month when the appointed members from throughout the state had to come to Boise for the meeting.

They also say that a governor in his second term of office could control the land board through his appointments. Under the proposal the members would be appointed to staggered terms.

Another amendment to appear on the Ballot Nov. 7 would require every child between the ages of 6 and 18 to attend public schools in Idaho unless educated by other means prescribed by law.

The present constitution does not require compulsory attendance of public schools for those insufficient in mental and physical ability, or for those between the ages of 6 and 18 who have completed an equivalent of three years.

House Joint Resolution 63, which will be the last amendment to appear on the ballot, would require that in all elections for directors or managers of incorporated companies, shareholders of voting or common stock, may, by proxy or in person, vote for the candidate.

The proposal also would require that non-voting stock be clearly marked prior to issuance so as to indicate its non-voting character.

The present constitution does not require non-voting stock to be identified and permits holders of "shares of stock" generally to vote.

When voters go to the polls next month they will have a total of nine amendments to vote on.

Stopgap bill signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed a stopgap bill Thursday extending federal housing programs until June 30, 1973.

Authorization for the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) mortgage program expired Oct. 1 and without the legislation, the system would have gone out of business.

Congress passed the measure in the closing days of its session after failing to reach agreement on proposed reforms for FHA, public housing and urban renewal programs.

The measure also increases by $150 million the contract authority for annual payments to support public housing programs for the poor and boosts by $250 million the authorization for urban renewal grants.

The bill was one of nine Nixon signed following the adjournment of Congress. Still on his desk are more than 100 other measures.

Suspect sought

CHICAGO (UPI) — Another man associated with De-Mau Mau today was being sought for the murder of a Southern Illinois University student, Cook County sheriff's police said.

Eight members of a black terrorist group formed by Vietnam veterans have been accused in connection with the murders of nine white persons, including that of the SIU student, Michael Gerschenson, 19, Highland Park, Ill., who was slain May 3.

Authorities said two more men were in custody but not being charged immediately.

A spokesman in the office of Cook County Sheriff Richard Elrod said police were searching for Kenneth Stevens on Chicago's South Side on the basis of a murder warrant.

Restoration of Pieta nears completion date

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The director of the Vatican museum said Thursday that Michelangelo's damaged Pieta would be restored to its original condition — at least as far as the eye is concerned — before the end of this year.

"I hope to make a nice Christmas present of it," Deocleio Redig de Campos told a news conference.

The Brazilian-born museum chief promised the repairs will be invisible from even a short distance.

"You will need a microscope to tell the difference," he said.

A "hammer-wielding Hungarian emigrant claiming to be a reincarnation of Christ damaged the statue May 21. The man, Lazo Toth, still is in an Italian prison awaiting trial.

Experts, including de Campos, call La Pieta — which shows the Madonna cradling the dead Christ — one of the most perfect examples of Renaissance art.

Michelangelo sculpted it in 1498 at the age of 23.

Toth struck the statue of the Madonna at least 15 blows with a 2.2 pound sculptor's hammer, knocking off the left forearm and nose, chipping the eyebrow and damaging the veil.

De Campos said nearly all the fragments — a total of about 50 — have been recovered and that only minute gaps will have to be filled in with special marble paste mixed to match Michelangelo's original "to within 98 per cent of perfection."

Although modern techniques call for restored parts to be left clearly visible, De Campos said that in this case, "We felt it was our duty to bring the work as near to its original condition as we could. A scratch on the Pieta is worse than a missing arm on another statue."

De Campos said the Vatican's restoration laboratory has been carrying out tests to find the exact kind of glue that will join Michelangelo's white Carrara marble without a trace. Only now will technicians begin sticking the pieces together and buffing them with lead — the way Michelangelo did it — to restore their patina.

De Campos said a glass or plexiglass screen will be installed in front of La Pieta before allowing the public to see it. "We are studying ways in which we can do this without having reflections," he said.

Navy announces re-enlistment plan

TWIN FALLS — AEC Harold F. Smith, U. S. Navy recruiter, said the Navy has announced a new program designed to attract re-enlistments from former officers.

Under the new plan, ex-Navy petty officers who have been discharged up to four years may re-enlist at the same pay grade they held at the time of discharge.

Chief Smith reminded those who have been out of the Navy for four years that military pay has increased dramatically. A serviceman's pay now compares to, and in many cases, exceeds that of salaries paid in the civilian community.

Those interested in knowing what rates are on the "critical skills" list should see Harold Smith, Dennis Abrams or Brad Bradley at 130 2nd St. East in Twin Falls.

Normal office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days and 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays. If the hours conflict with the present work schedule of someone who is interested, a special appointment may be arranged by calling 733-6323 collect.

Airwest announces change

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hughes Airwest will increase its Sundance series this fall instead of joining other carriers in the industry's traditional seasonal cutbacks.

The airline said Tuesday its jet operations would be maintained at last summer's peak — an increase of nearly 30 per cent over last fall.

Airwest senior director of planning Terry Ashton said, "For the first time in our history we are not predicting a seasonal systemwide slack."

"We will reallocate our available seat miles to expand our service in Mexico, Arizona and southern California on Oct. 29 — not reduce it — to accommodate a forecast traffic increase."

Ashton said the forecast was based on a general economic upsurge expected to continue through the third quarter of 1973. He added usually airlines cut passenger service up to four per cent during this usually slower period.

Gem restructuring boosted in TF talk

TWIN FALLS — "The Idaho government structure is so fragmented, it can't be used by the citizens of this state," a state official said Tuesday.

Joe Welch, associate director of executive reorganization, Idaho State Planning and Community Affairs Agency, presented the Senate Joint Resolution 132 for Idaho executive reorganization to a group of interested citizens here at the College of Southern Idaho.

He said the people of Idaho must demand an end to the constant creation of new state agencies and a reorganization of the present unwieldy structure or face an increase in wasted tax dollars, confusion, duplication and inefficiency in state government.

Welch said rampant costs, rising taxes, waste and red tape are becoming ever more widespread in state government because of the present structure.

SJR 132 is an effort to put a stop to this waste in Idaho, he said. The resolution was drafted by a legislative committee of five Republicans headed by Rep. Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls, and five Democrats, headed by Sen. Ray W. Rigby, Rexburg.

If passed by a majority of Idaho's voters in the November general election, SJR 132 would limit the number of government agencies to no more than 20 by Jan. 1, 1975. At present, 268 agencies exist because of the practice of creating new agencies to handle special problems.

Welch said if SJR 132 passes, it would establish a constitutional amendment which would actually strengthen the Idaho Constitution by putting strict limits on the legislature.

"SJR 132 is a demand by the people of Idaho to their legislators to stop the spiraling growth of government," Welch said.

He said no plan has been put together at present for reorganization. SJR 132 is just a way for Idahoans to require the legislature to reorganize the government structure by 1975.

If the people of Idaho pass the resolution, a planning committee will be formed to reorganize the structure, Welch said.

"It will cost money to come back to the people," Welch said, to find what type government changes they want.

He said under a Nixon program, the state will receive two-thirds funding of costs over $100,000.

Welch said when Montana reorganized the structure of its state government, the state paid for the cost in the first month and a half in savings of costs.

In 1948 and 1965 the legislatures spent a total of $100,000 for three years of study on reorganization and came up with nothing, he said.

Before this year, the legislature has spent tax money before asking the people, Welch said.

The last session of the Idaho Legislature overwhelmingly endorsed the proposal with only nine of 105 legislators voting against it.

Welch said this is not the first time state government in Idaho has been reorganized. In 1919, with only 58 agencies in existence, Idaho was one of the first states to check undue growth.

However, he said no limit was placed on future expansion. The result is the present 268 agency structure with nothing to prevent the number from mushrooming even further, he said.

SJR 132 would limit the number of agencies to 20.

"If SJR 132 fails in November, we can expect to see more money spent and less service rendered," he said.

Welch emphasized the fact the proposal was not one of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, the Democrats or Republicans of the state, but a bi-partisan effort.

He said it is not a new idea in the United States. Thirty-seven states have already gone through a reorganization, he said.

Using Montana as an example, Welch said 71 per cent of that state's voters voted for reorganization. He said after the change was made, 161 agencies were consolidated into 19. They have reported a $2 million a year tax saving, Welch said.

Agnew's visit major MV event

TWIN FALLS — "Vice President Agnew's visit in Twin Falls on Veteran's Day is — the largest political event to ever occur in Magic Valley."

Doug Kramer, chairman of the event, made this statement while speaking to the Twin Falls Republican Central Committee Wednesday night. Agnew is expected to speak at the CSI Gymnasium Monday night at 7:30 p.m., according to Kramer.

"I am overwhelmed at the response of people throughout Magic Valley concerning this event," he said.

Testimony under advisement in TF

TWIN FALLS — Judge Daniel Meehl, Twin Falls County Magistrate Court, has taken testimony under advisement following a preliminary hearing for Virginia Griggs.

She is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with total disability payments from the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services and at the same time earning a salary from two employers.

Judge Meehl asked the prosecution and defense attorney Monte Carlson to submit briefs and he then will decide if Miss Griggs is to be bound over to district court for further action. She was also known as Ginger Worley to her employers.

Judge Meehl bound Sharon Moseley, Twin Falls, over to district court on forgery charges and set a preliminary hearing for Oct. 24 at 11 a.m. for Ray Hamby, 54, Twin Falls. He is charged with burglary of the Tanner Jewelry this summer. Hamby is in the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

On Oct. 26, a preliminary hearing will be held for John Morgan, 18, Twin Falls, and Dennis Parker, 22, Rupert, on charges of burglary involving thefts from a pickup truck.

Roger Torkelson, 30, Buhl, will have a preliminary hearing on charges of driving while intoxicated. The hearing begins at 10 a.m. Nov. 8.

A hearing has been set for Nov. 1 at 11 a.m. for Connie Eldredge, 21, Twin Falls, on a check charge. Another hearing is planned for Oct. 30 at 10 a.m. for Marvin L. Anderson, Twin Falls, also facing a check charge.

Attend meet

TWIN FALLS — City Manager Jean Millar was in Boise today to attend Idaho Intercom '72, an annual meeting of representatives of state, federal and city agencies.

Williams, had supported a joint resolution calling for elimination of several government agencies, including the Department of Agriculture, the Bonneville Power Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Williams also attacked the "conflicting interests" and committee actions of Whitton's incumbent opponent, Sen. John Peavey.

Peavey was a leader in the recent Senate Finance-House Appropriations Committee investigation of computer leasing methods used by the state, especially by the auditor's office and the Idaho Highway Department.

Admitting that computer bids were called for by the auditor's office in a manner that favored IBM, Williams said the action was necessary "to protect the state's interests."

"It would cost the state from $500,000 to $600,000 to switch computer systems (from IBM)," he said.

Referring to his membership on the Idaho Land Commission, Williams said the Republican dominated legislature has not appropriated enough money for a re-appraisal of state lands.

He tied in a "conflict of interests" charge against the district 21 senator, noting that Peavey leases several thousand acres of state land for grazing purposes and pays fees of five to nine cents per acre. A re-appraisal of land values would raise the fees, according to Williams, and provide more state revenue.

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon also lambasted the Republican legislature for stymieing the efforts of Gov.

Cecil Andrus. "We need legislators like Bill Whitton to put state government back on the track toward the people's betterment," she said.

Miss Moon said the Senate Finance-House Appropriations Committee had criticized her for not making more money through state investments, but had refused to pass laws permitting her a wider investment field.

Whitton's rural upbringing was highlighted by Don Carpenter, an Idaho Department of Education official and the Democratic contender's former school superintendent.

Carpenter spoke briefly stressing Whitton's life on a "family farm" in Payette County as essential to a "people oriented" legislator.

Demo fete set tonight

TWIN FALLS — Sen. Frank Church and Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will be the featured speakers tonight at a Twin Falls Democratic campaign dinner.

The event, scheduled to begin at the Holiday Inn at 8 p.m., has also attracted other top state Democratic officials, as well as the candidates for the Senate, Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis and for the second congressional district, Willis Laddow.

A cocktail hour will precede the dinner at 7 p.m.

Other elected officials scheduled to be present at the dinner are Attorney General W. Anthony (Tony) Park and State Auditor Joe Williams. In addition, the local legislative and county candidates are expected to appear.

Highway work nears finish

SHOSHONE — Progress on highway projects in the second district, Idaho Department of Highways, shows work is nearly complete on the latest Interstate 80N section.

Crews are currently installing signs and guard rails on the newly completed area between Tuttle and Wendell, Howard Johnson, district engineer, said.

In the Burley and Rupert area, the contractor is installing pipe, drilling and blasting rock and constructing the southbound lane of the Cotterel to Sweetzer section of 180N.

A new railroad underpass on 180N is being constructed near King Hill. Work in progress includes the east abutment fill for the future 998-foot bridge across Snake River. The contractor is presently drilling and blasting rock on the roadway portion and constructing a temporary railroad detour.

New projects in the district this month include construction of a new roadway on State Highway 24, west of Kimama. Contractor is Western Construction Co., Boise, and the contract amount is $538,601 for 6.11 miles.

Another new project involves structures on 180N including a concrete overpass, concrete bridge over Raft River and related work on the section of interstate between the Salt Lake interchange and Sweetzer. Weyer Construction Co., Salt Lake City, has been awarded the $239,230 contract, Johnson said.

State evaluates Salmon school

SALMON — "If schools will involve the community in identifying problems the community will fund the programs the schools need," Francis Rist, Boise, said here Wednesday.

"If we say out in the open we have problems, if we say what we are doing about it, and that we need your help then the public generally will understand," Rist, director of secondary education in Idaho, said.

The official, who came here to participate in an evaluation of Salmon High School, said "we try to get school districts to involve their public in determining just exactly what their schools should be."

Rist was one of a team of Idaho Department of Education officials and educators from Eastern Idaho evaluating the Salmon High School educational offering and facilities this week.

"We feel if instead of hiding problems schools have to try to get problems out in the open, to understand them and thus get better service from the public," he said.

Rist said some schools in the state are forging ahead in new areas while others are doing the same things they have done the past 75 years.

Moore plant work contract awarded

JEROME — Construction of the main plant of Moore Business Forms at Jerome will begin "as soon as possible," a company official said.

George Rowland, assistant production manager, Oakland, Calif., said a contract of about $700,000 has been let to Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, for the project.

The company has been doing the basic groundwork on the facility.

Rowland said the construction work will start as rapidly as the company can get organized.

He said the preliminary work is on schedule. The plant will be finished sometime early next spring, Rowland said. He said it is difficult to set an exact date because of the many variables affecting the rate of work, particularly the weather.

The plant is being built southwest of Jerome.

Concert set

GOODING — An October swing concert is being planned by the Gooding High School Swing Choir and Jazz Band.

The concert is set for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30 in the multi-purpose room of Gooding High School. Tickets will be available at the door and the public is invited.

Library district okayed in Camas

FAIRFIELD — Formation of a library district for all of Camas County was authorized Thursday by the Camas County Commission.

A five-member board of trustees, to direct library plans and management, was appointed by the commissioners. Mrs. Phil Brackenbury was named chairman of the board and other members include Marvin France, Mrs. Doran Cluer, Mrs. LeRoy Packham and Mrs. Jack Exon.

Arlan Call, Twin Falls, regional librarian, said the district plans call for establishing a library in Fairfield. He said a trailer van has been made available and is to be set on a foundation on a landscaped lot in the town to provide housing for the library collection.

Under the district plan, Camas County will be eligible for all regional library services including bookmobile service to outlying areas.

Commissioners acted to create the district Thursday afternoon following a Wednesday night public hearing in which no protests were heard.

The only other library services in the county consist of the high school library's limited collection. This will also receive regional exchange library supplies and research material through the regional program, Call said.

The Camas district will have an option of purchasing their own books for permanent use or obtaining them through regional services.

State law allows a levy of up to two mills for library district funding. No levy has been set for the new district. Call said, but commissioners indicate it will be under one mill.

About 30 persons attended the public hearing Wednesday night and all spoke in favor of forming a library district.

Call said the Camas County district is one of the few in the state to cover an entire county. Lon Baldwin, county commission chairman, announced the board's decision to go ahead with the district.

Attorney speaks

RUPERT — Don Chisholm, local attorney, Thursday spoke to the Rupert Chamber of Commerce members on the Federal Consumer Credit Reporting Act during regular luncheon meeting.

Chisholm discussed the various areas of the credit reporting act and its uses for the businessman and the consumer.

"The legislation is a good piece of legislation," according to Chisholm. "For the consumer knows why credit has been refused and I can see no harm to the businessman," said Chisholm.

Korean mother appeals for help

TWIN FALLS — An appeal for help has been sent to the Times-News by Father Joseph K. Tjeng, St. Paul's Church in Pusan, Korea, for a Korean mother and her four children.

Father Tjeng translated the letter from Mrs. Woo Kyongak, who expressed concern about being "impolite with this letter to you" in asking for help.

The woman is the mother of four fatherless children. Her husband left the family about two years ago.

Even though she is seriously ill, she hand sews clothing in an attempt to feed her children. She says her earnings, about one dollar per day, will feed only two of the children and that Father Tjeng helps as much as he can but there are many others needing his help also. She must pay $8 per month in rent.

Mrs. Woo has been told that the operation and medicine she needs will cost $300, a sum she cannot afford.

She said that if she had a sewing machine and some materials to work with she could earn up to $3 per day, enough for the family to live and possibly enabling her to save some for medical expenses.

Mrs. Woo said "I am longing for having generous persons who will be kind enough to give any materials or financial contribution for our dire needs and perhaps become the foster parent to one or two of my four needy innocent kids."

"In closing," she said, "we pray that prosperity will be brought to your works and we shall be able to hear from you and your people."

Father Tjeng in a note below Mrs. Woo's letter said "I find it irresistible to recommend her to your attention for her and her children's needs. They live under sub-human conditions due to too severe trials, and to me it would be a sin to sit and do nothing to relieve this human misery."

CHURCHES

Castleford plans harvest festival

CASTLEFORD — The annual harvest festival will be Sunday at the First Baptist Church, Castleford.

Chief benefactors from this year's festival will be the Protestant Student Center of the Intermountain Indian School in Brigham City, Utah; the American Baptist Seminary of the West, the American Bible Society, and the American Leprosy Mission which carries on a program of treatment and control in 26 counties with additional vocational and evangelistic ministries.

Rev. Rupert Nelson, missionary from Thailand, will be guest speaker at the harvest festival. He serves as an agricultural specialist and supervises the village school in Namlet, Thailand. He has established an agricultural experiment station in which he introduces farmers to a better variety of crops and livestock. He will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service and at the festival program in the afternoon. A potluck dinner will be held following the morning service and former members and friends will be special guests.

Others participating in the festival program will be Mr. and Mrs. Jim LaGrone, Mrs. Alan Pierce, Mrs. William Fultz, Mrs. Larry Lammers, Mrs. Michael Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells, Mrs. Virgil Reeves and Jennings Pierce.

Projects planned

GOODING — Projects for the coming months were planned Wednesday evening when members of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League met in the basement of Calvary Lutheran church, Gooding.

Mrs. Kurt Westendorf, charity guild chairman, will mail a box of used clothing to the Navajo Indian Mission in New Mexico with other boxes to be mailed as more clothing is collected.

Funds will be collected this month to help furnish a Good Shepherd Home near completion at Cornelius, Ore., by donations added to a gift envelope passed from one member to another. Green stamps and Betty Crocker coupons will be brought to the November meeting and sent to the Good Shepherd Home in Terra Bella, Calif., to help purchase three buses for use at the home in California and the home in Oregon.

Mrs. William LeFurgey, delegate, and Mrs. Jerry Neils, alternate, have been named to attend the LWML International Convention at Mobile, Ala., in July, 1973. They will represent this district. A report was read of the rally held Oct. 1 in Rupert.

A Christian growth workshop was announced for Nov. 6 at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kimberly. The theme is "Look at These Doors" and registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Daine Hallman Medex will be the speaker.

Mrs. Harold Mays and Mrs. Westendorf were named nominating committee by Mrs. Ervin Braun, president, who conducted the meeting. Officers to be elected in November are president, vice president, secretary and Christian growth chairman.

Mrs. Westendorf read the secretary report and Mrs. Mays gave the treasurer's report and special fund from the gift shop report. Occasional greeting cards and Christmas cards will be ordered this week, for purchase by anyone. Mrs. Virginia Bauder, a guest, was accepted as a new member.

Mrs. LeFurgey, Christian growth chairman, gave the topic the Holy Spirit taken from the October Quarterly. An October quarterly featuring LWML achievements and activities was given to each lady following church services Oct. 1. The occasion was the 25th anniversary of the national organization and recognition of its work is noted annually on the first Sunday in October.

Mrs. Martin Reinke was hostess.

chairman, decorating and putting up tables.

Mrs. Wayne Jagels, Mrs. Ohlenschlaeger, Mrs. James Horton, Mrs. Orval Reinke and Mrs. Kaster will serve on the nominating committee.

Special projects group 3, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Schroeder, reported sending a donation to the National Bible Society.

LWML Sunday was observed Oct. 8 with a special service at the church. Mrs. Gary Schroeder was organist and Mrs. William Rupprecht directed the choir. Mrs. Eugene Schroeder made the church banner.

Mrs. Martin Kniep presented a book review on "Cher Red Fox." Mrs. Hugo Meyer was in charge of the closing service.

Mrs. Edwin Liernan and Mrs. David Lutz served refreshments. Mrs. Kaster and Mrs. T. D. Johnson were members-at-large.

Filer LWML meets

CLOVER — Mrs. David Lutz presented the opening devotional service to the Clover Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) in the school.

Guests were Mrs. Lester Geran and Mrs. Charles Giddings.

The LWML fall workshop will be held next month in Kimberly. Members reported on the recent zone rally at Rupert.

A used clothing and bedding drive is being conducted this month for World Relief and articles may be left in the school basement. Members were reminded to save stamps for missions.

The foreign missions and world affairs committee will be in charge of a mission fair at the Nov. 5 mission Sunday at the church. Committees were appointed with group 1, Mrs. Walter Kaster, chairman, to be in charge of the kitchen; group 2, Mrs. Raymond Ohlenschlaeger, chairman, clean-up, and group 3, Mrs. Elmer Schroeder,

Topic presented

FILER — Rev. T. D. Johnston presented the topic on Martin Luther and the Reformation to Peace Lutheran Women's Missionary League members at the October meeting.

Mrs. Johnston assisted in the topic presentation at the church using the theme "Serve the Word with Gladness." A number of hymns were sung during the service.

LDS speaker named

TWIN FALLS — Elder Henry D. Taylor, assistant to the Council of Twelve, will speak at the Twin Falls West Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday.

The conference session will be at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Maurice Street Stakehouse.

Stake president Joel A. Tate says visitors are welcome.

Elder Taylor has served 13 years as managing director of the Mormon Welfare program and was called as assistant to the Council of Twelve in April of 1958 when he was president of the California Mission.

Baptist speakers named

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thornburg will be guest speakers at the Grace Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Thornburg are missionary appointees to Spain under the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism. Pastor Robert Seaman and his congregation invite the public to hear their talk.

Church briefs

TWIN FALLS — "When I awake, I am still with thee," a verse from Psalms, is included in the lesson sermon on the subject "Probation After Death," scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday at the Christian Science Church.

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Methodist Church will hold its annual turkey dinner Wednesday. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

FILER — The Clover Lutheran School was dismissed Wednesday and Thursday while teachers attended a pastoral-teachers conference in Seattle, Wash.

FILER — Peace Lutheran Church will observe its annual Mission Festival Sunday. The morning service will be at 10:30 a.m. A potluck dinner will be served at noon. Rev. Richard Scholz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Buhl, will be speaker for the 2:30 p.m. service.

FILER — The Clover Christian Couple's Club hosted a "Backwards Party" at the Clover school. Young couples from Peace Lutheran Church were guests. Games were played and refreshments served.

EDEN — Trinity Lutheran Church, Eden, hosted a Walther League rally using the theme "The Church — The Body of Christ." Leagues from Magic Valley towns attended the meeting. A Bible quiz on the Book of Ephesians was a feature of the rally.

Buhl group meets

BUHL — Mrs. Harlan Schmeckpeper gave opening devotions when St. John's Women's Federation met.

The topic was presented by Mrs. Karl Werth, Buhl, who spoke on her work as a technician at the Child Development Center in Twin Falls.

The St. John's ladies will provide a luncheon for the residents of Lincoln Court on Nov. 16. Anyone wishing to donate food or money or assist with the serving is asked to contact Mrs. Ted Behm or Mrs.

R. J. Scholz. A Christian growth workshop is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Nov. 6 at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kimberly. It was reported that "Connie Day" will be observed sometime after Christmas.

A "chrismon" work party is scheduled for 1:30 Thursday at the church basement.

Members were urged to save commemorative postage stamps for mission projects. Mrs. Vic Rohlfing reported on the zone rally in Rupert. Mrs. Neil Stiegemeir and Mrs. Don Schroeder served refreshments. Mrs. Schroeder gave the closing devotions.

Nazarene open house set

TWIN FALLS — An open house will be held Sunday in the Church of the Nazarene during which parents and friends may visit various departments of Sunday school.

Morning worship begins at 9:45 a.m. in the sanctuary with special music and program items.

At 11 a.m. parents will visit the Sunday school classes for a brief time and will then go to the fellowship hall for refreshments. A special gift will be given each person attending.

Sunday night the caravan group will hold a round up program in the sanctuary. This will be followed by the evening "hour of joy."

Anyone interested in starting a full gospel businessmen's fellowship international chapter, CALL PETE FIELD AT 324-5836 BEFORE OCTOBER 21.

Outdoors

By STU MURRELL,
Regional Conservation
Educator

The controlled deer hunts in Magic Valley open next Saturday, October 21st, and the prospects appear good. Hunters are asked for their cooperation in collecting the lower, front teeth of their deer and sending them into the Fish and Game Department in the pre-addressed sample bag furnished with the deer permit. These teeth can then be sectioned and the age of the animal determined by the number of growth rings in the tooth, similar to ageing a tree. This data will be used to ascertain the age composition of the herd in each unit which helps the biologist to manage the deer properly. Hunters are also reminded they are required to stop at all checking stations whether or not they have bagged any game.

Four controlled deer units in Magic Valley did not fill. These were 145-1, 145-2, 152-1 and 152-2. It was widely publicized in all news media that these units were on a controlled basis this year and two separate drawings were held to allow people adequate time to apply for them. The remaining permits have been voided for this year.

What are some of the techniques that result in a successful deer hunt? I feel the most important is to be out in the field during early morning and late evening hours when deer are most active. If you can, scout an area before the season and then pick a nice vantage point to observe a possible deer area and get out there in the predawn. Watch possible feeding areas and cover patches the deer might be returning to after feeding. Binoculars are very helpful in this type of hunting. If you don't spot something within an hour after dawn, move to another likely area and sit down and watch. I usually use this alternately, moving and stopping technique, until about 10 a.m. when I head for camp and leisure lunch and snooze. Then I hit it hard again in the late afternoon and evening.

Certainly road hunting is not an effective method since deer rapidly associate the sound of a vehicle with danger. Once in a while hunters in a car will surprise a big game animal but not very often. The game is getting smarter each year with the added hunting pressure exerted on them and they don't react like they have in the past. Deer head for heavy cover, feed at night, and are much more difficult to approach.

There are several other techniques that make a good deer hunter. He knows the capability of his particular gun and doesn't exceed it. I consider a 300 yard shot maximum range for a .270-06 type of scope sighted rifle. About 200 yards is the limit of effective range for an iron-sighted 30-30 type rifle. Shooting at deer past these ranges often results in misses or crippling shots and many animals are lost. If you shoot at an animal be sure and check the area for some distance to see if any signs of a hit are evident such as hair or blood. Many times animals will be hit but not show it.

Hunt upwind and look for pieces of an animal that might show, such as a rump patch, ear, etc., since the animal is not usually visible in its whole form. Finally, wear some piece of fluorescent orange clothing or hat for safety.

Dr. Ernest Hartung, president of the university, told newsmen immediately after that the decision means Idaho will have to drop some of the games it was scheduled to play in the next three or four years because it will not have the scholarship potential to field a properly competitive team.

"I think we'll have to renegotiate our schedules," Hartung said. "It will cost us money because we will have to pay guarantees."

He declined to say at this time just what schools may be dropped from forthcoming schedules of the university. He said Idaho was scheduled ahead in football for nearly 10 years.

In presenting his case to the board, Hartung said the university cannot continue to compete in university division football under what he considers the too stringent scholarship rules of the Big Sky Conference which permit only 62 full time scholarships for ballplayers.

The PCAV, he said, would permit the university to grant 75 full time-equivalent scholarships to football players.

Under the Big Sky rules, Hartung told newsmen, "I think it's suicide to try to play the schedules we have for the next three or four years."

Hartung told the board that the main thrust of intercollegiate athletics is not education but "entertainment and public relations."

He said the university in the past few years has had significant monetary losses in its athletic programs — the worst year losing more than $100,000.

Up until now he said, Idaho has been able to balance its budget because of a big reserve it had built up in years past when it played in the old Pacific Coast Conference. But he said "we are fast getting to the end of that reserve."

That leaves, he said, three alternatives for the university: cut down on the outgo, increase the revenues substantially or a combination of both. He said to stay where the university is now is to invite bankruptcy.

Accordingly, he said, with the backing of the students, the faculty and the alumni Idaho wants to bail out of the Big Sky and join a conference where it not only can bring in big money from televised football games but engage in a full schedule of minor sports. He said minor intercollegiate sports are being de-emphasized in the Big Sky.

Dr. John Swartley, a board member from Boise, disputed Hartung's arithmetic saying he does not believe it would be wise to switch conferences and gain only $13,180 per year in revenue. "Were we making a private investment of the kind of money that goes into a university's athletic program," he said, he would not do so with only that small a gain.

A. L. Alford, Jr., Lewiston, disagreed with Swartley saying he felt if anything Hartung's figures were conservative. He agreed with Hartung that the university could not continue to play other schools in the university division under the college style rules of the Big Sky Conference.

Trailing the leaders by a stroke was Hawaiian Open champion Grier Jones, who had seven birdies and two bogies en route to a 67.

Four more were tied at 62. They included local golfers Bob E. Smith and Jimmy Wiechers as well as Tournament of Champions winner Bobby Mitchell and little Buddy Allin.

Former National Open champion Gene Littler, playing his first tour round in the United States since his cancer operation last March, had a one under par 71, the same score turned in by his San Diego neighbor, Billy Casper, defending the Kaiser title.

Irish tackle out for year

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Steve Niehaus, the freshman tackle who became the University of Notre Dame's second-leading tackler, is out for the season because of a knee injury suffered when another player fell on him during exercises, the team said Thursday.

Niehaus, 6 foot 5 and 265 pounds, was injured Wednesday in a routine drill. Coach Ara Parseghian said. Niehaus had fallen forward with his hands braced when another player fell on his left leg, causing a torn ligament in his knee.

Palmer shoots 66, shares Kaiser lead

NAPA, Calif. (UPI)—Making a serious bid for his first title of the year, Arnold Palmer shot a 66 Thursday to share the first-round lead of the $150,000 Kaiser International Golf Tour.

Dobbs will resign if team loses

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Bobby Dobbs, head football coach of the University of Texas at El Paso, announced Thursday that he will resign if his squad fails to beat the University of New Mexico in a game at El Paso Saturday night.

Dobbs has been at UTEP, a Western Athletic Conference school, for the past eight years.

He is under pressure from local football fans after compiling an 11-10 record in 1970-1971 and approaching the New Mexico game with a 1-4 record this fall.

Most of his troubles this year have been blamed on the inexperience of 38 junior college transfers on his squad.

Dobbs gave the El Paso Herald-Post reporter the following handwritten note:

"First, I have been very disappointed in our season to date. It has taken us longer to put this 1972 Miner team together than we had first thought."

"With the UTEP football program at heart I have made a decision which I feel is to the best interest of the university and my family."

"The decision was made by me and my wife without any influence from anyone. I have decided that if we do not defeat New Mexico this Saturday night, a coaching change needs to be made."

"If the Lobos defeat the Miners I will step down immediately as the UTEP head football coach."

Declo ends Raft River's undefeated boast 8-6

DECLO — The Declo Hornets scrambled the Magic Valley Conference standings Thursday night when they nipped the previously-undefeated Raft River Trojans 8-6 in a slam-bang affair.

The loss knocked the Trojans from sole possession of the loop lead to a three-way tie along with Castleford and Murtaugh.

Castleford and Raft River meet in the season finale Oct. 27 while Murtaugh winds it up tonight at Hagerman. Castleford will entertain Hansen tonight.

All the scoring came in the first half. Declo went marching after an early punt exchange and with about four minutes left in the opening period scoring on a four-yard quick throw to Scott Mallory from Randy Brackenbury. Fullback Tim Matthews then went off tackle for what proved the deciding points.

Raft River replied in the second period with a similar drive which Ted Tracy capped on a four-yard burst. But Declo stopped the conversion run. Each team had one scoring chance in the second half. Declo moved to about the Raft River 15-yard line late in the third period but died there on two pass incompletions. With 2:06 left in the game, Raft River made one last move. It took a punt from their own 40 and moved to the Declo 15 but ran out of time after three downs there.

Horoscope

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES A beautiful day to think in terms of new beginnings and projects you have in mind, whether of a business or social nature. Lose no time in contacting those who are able to help you make a success of them. Be less hasty and show more poise in everything you do. Use good judgment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to plan your work constructively today if you are to gain your aims. You can have a conversation with the right persons socially that will be most helpful. Be more tolerant.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you think more on those aims that mean much, you can find the right avenues through which they can be attained. Talk with experts for advice you need. Avoid one who is greedy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A fine day for getting together with progressive pals who can give you the boost you need. Repay social obligations that will bring fine results. Show that you are appreciative.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Ideal day for seeing those powerful individuals you know and gaining their backing. Some civic work can add appreciably to prestige you now enjoy. Show goodwill toward others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good day for looking into new ventures and meeting interesting people. Listen carefully to what others have to say instead of thinking you know it all. Make the acquaintance of a bigwig.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Others could be pressuring you for money you owe, so divide what you have sensibly instead of doing something drastic. Sincere devotion to mate will bring the fine response you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get in touch with a dynamic ally you have and make plans for greater success in the near future. Iron out the kinks in a mutual project. Establishing goodwill with the public is wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An excellent day to take care of all that work that has been mounting up, but use improved methods for best results. Find new items of apparel that you need, but use good taste.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Contact good friends and state your ideas for recreation and then team up and have an enjoyable time together. You can put those creative talents you have over very well now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Direct your energy on family affairs now so that you can establish greater harmony there. Have fine talks with kin so that you know how to make the future more affluent. Do not argue.

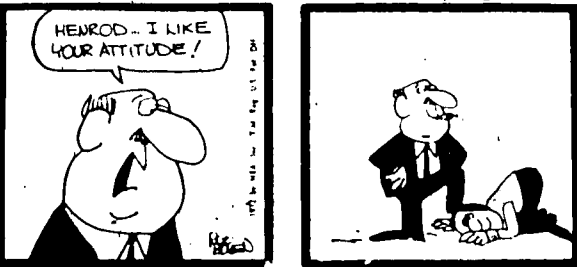

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking very clearly and have a very good sense of humor now. A good time to make new arrangements with allies for the future. Take care of important correspondence.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have excellent business sense today and can be an inspiration to others who are having their troubles. A consultation with a financial expert is wise. Relax at home tonight with mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those intelligent and talkative young people whose judgment is good and who pioneers. Teach at an early age not to act too hastily, otherwise this could undo all the fine potential in this most interesting chart. Give as fine a college education as you can afford. Only gentle discipline is required. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

That gypsies get along with animals better than do most people has long been known. But why is a matter of much argument. Most widely accepted explanation is gypsies believe in reincarnation. They think their animals may be relatives returned. To keep an eye on things, Treat them with great respect, therefore.

YES, THE cost of whiskey, if medicinal, is indeed deductible on your Federal income tax. Says the Internal Revenue Service: "When your doctor prescribes two ounces of whiskey daily for relief of angina pain resulting from coronary artery ailment, price of the prescribed liquor is a deductible medical expense."

AN EXTENSIVE study of those occasional recluses who lock themselves up in seclusion indicates none has ever been known to reveal a sense of humor. That is the one characteristic seemingly common to them all. Apparently nothing can make them laugh or even smile.

Q. "WHAT'S the most common object accidentally swallowed?"
A. Don't know. Most common object accidentally swallowed which requires surgery to remove, however, is the toothpick, know that.

CIGAR
The ad agency boys spend considerable computer money to come up with snazzy trade-names guaranteed not to offend the buying public. Wouldn't they throw a connipion now if somebody were to name a cigar "Rat's Tail"? No doubt! But that was indeed the name of one of the most successful smokes on the market a century ago hereabouts.

Q. "DID you say a camel can outrun a horse?"
A. In a race of more than three miles, it probably can. Long on endurance, that camel.

Q. "WHAT proportion of the mothers bottle feed their babies from birth?"
A. Three out of four.

WAS NONE other than Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands who claimed any man could "tell" his real friends from the phonies simply by growing a moustache. The flatterer, said he, will tell you it's dandy. But the truly loyal will admit it looks ridiculous.

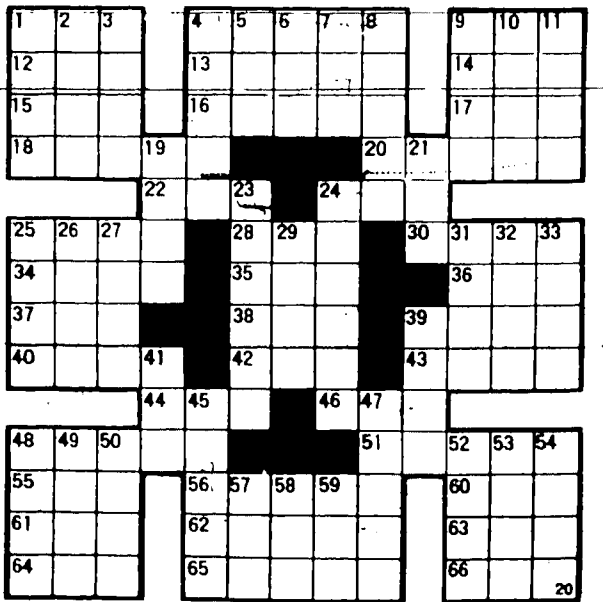

WHY guppies are cheap is not just that they multiply so lavishly. But the baby females outnumber the males by two to one.

AGAIN AM asked how frequently a husband and wife married 40 years, wind up divorced. About one out of every 1,000 such couples eventually part in court.

Paul garbage pick-up schedule established

PAUL — A garbage and rubbish pick-up schedule for the city of Paul has been established by Robert McIntire, a recently contracted trash hauler.

The area north of Highway 25 will get pick-up service on Mondays and Thursdays while the area south of Highway 25 will be serviced on Tuesdays and Fridays, according to McIntire.

Fees will be $2 per month for residences and from $3.50 to $15 per month for businesses.

City Clerk Lavauna Tibbitts said several violations of a new garbage ordinance passed in connection with the plan have been reported.

She said several residents are apparently not aware of a provision making it unlawful to burn garbage or rubbish within the fire limits of Paul.

Conviction for such a violation could result in a $100 fine and payment of prosecution costs under the new ordinance.

Ward reorganizes

VIEW — Raymond Searle has been named new bishop of the View LDS Ward during reorganization.

Cecil Blauer and Rex Wrigley are first and second councillors respectively. Jay Paul Tegan is finance clerk and Jack Taylor is statistical clerk.

Delores Stoker, James Nowland and John Koyle are retiring bishopric. Orville Searle is retiring clerk.

Courses set for personnel

TWIN FALLS — Refresher courses on bacteriology for Magic Valley Laboratory personnel are being sponsored by the Southcentral-Idaho Coordinating Council for Continuing Health Education.

The class will be presented at Gooding Memorial Hospital, Gooding, Oct. 31; Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley, Nov. 2; Minidoka Memorial Hospital, Nov. 7, and at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, Nov. 9.

All of the sessions, which will begin at 2 p.m., will be conducted by Dorothy Pfefferle, MT(ASCP) and Diana Canine, MT(ASCP), laboratory personnel from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls.

DISTURBING — NEW YORK (UPI) — Disturbing behavior may be an indication of mental or emotional illness. This is according to the NAMH Reporter, official publication of the National Association for Mental Health.

Troublesome persons may be persons in trouble and the article suggests sympathetic understanding rather than criticism and antagonism when dealing with people who have such mental problems.

Minidoka pageant applicants sought

RUPERT — Minidoka senior high girls wishing to participate in the Junior Miss Pageant should submit applications by Monday, according to pageant chairman W. F. (Bill) Whitton.

Whitton said application forms are available from Dr. Dale Miles and himself, Rupert; Mrs. Wayne Reddekopp, Paul, and Mrs. Sherman Couch, Heyburn. The forms can be returned to any of the four.

The annual pageant will be held Nov. 25 at 8 p.m. in the Minico High School auditorium. The winner will enter state competition Dec. 12 in Moscow.

The reigning Minico Junior Miss, Brenda Martin, Paul, will crown the winner, according to Whitton.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

What do you think of North's bidding? Sheer whimsy? Or real top level? Top level is the answer. North really doesn't have a bid over West's one-spade opening. If he doubles he expects his partner to bid hearts and his minor suits are just four cards each.

Then East barges into Blackwood in direct response to the one-spade opening. North doesn't know just what is going on but he passes at five diamonds and East settles for five spades.

This gets back to North and North should have a pretty good picture of the East hand. He has tried for a slam with just one ace. He must have a lot of hearts and spades and singletons in both minor suits. South is marked with an ace and probably nothing else, but he certainly should be long in at least one minor since clearly he can't hold more than one spade.

The five no trump call will get him to bid his better minor and South should not be set more than one trick at six.

Sure enough, South bids six clubs. West doubles. What else would you do?

South looks worried until he sees dummy. Then he ruffs the spade lead, draws trumps, eventually finesses twice in diamonds and brings home his slam.
