

SPIRO AGNEW bans fundraising

Agnew speaks in TF tonight

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Arrival of Vice President Spiro Agnew's bullet-proof limousine marked the end of preparations for his visit tonight.

Douglas Kramer, chairman of the Magic Valley Committee to Reelect the President, said two chartered American Airliner 727 jets were scheduled to land at Joslin field at 2:30 p.m.

The Vice President is bringing a personal staff of 18 persons and will set up an office at the Holiday Inn to conduct business during his brief stay, Kramer said.

Kramer said the schedule for the day includes the arrival by plane at 2:30 p.m. at the airport, a motorcade through town immediately following and arrival of the party at the Holiday Inn.

Inn should he decide to remain overnight. Kramer said the special limousine was flown to Twin Falls Sunday to be used by the Vice President as a security measure while he travels in the motorcade from the airport and while being transported from the Holiday Inn to the Turf Club for an evening cocktail party and reception and to the CSI Gymnasium for his campaign address.

Kramer said from Twin Falls the Vice President is scheduled to fly to Salt Lake City where he will meet with President Harold Lee of the LDS Church. He will then appear in Provo, Utah.

Kramer said Agnew declined to appear at a fund raising benefit as this has become the policy of the campaign. He said as a result the $50 per ticket charges for the cocktail party have been returned.

The cocktail party and reception, by invitation only, Kramer said, is reserved for GOP party supporters of long standing.

"We have invited those who have supported the party in the past and who will support it in the future," he said.

Kramer also said he has a committee in charge of helping finance the Vice President's visit and they are making arrangements for receiving contributions from those attending the party. The national and local Republican party organizations and the Magic Valley Committee for Reelection of the President are financing the visit, Kramer said.

Holiday Inn Manager Norman Bergman said today the Agnew party including advance men and secret service agents is being housed in the 52-room detached wing at the south of the complex.

He said the party was paying for and using no more than "15 or 20" of the rooms. The other rooms are vacant, he said.

Bergman said the Holiday Inn had volunteered the block of rooms "because we thought it would be the best place for them not to be disturbed, easy to protect, easier for us, easier for them." He said the Agnew party had not requested the secluded rooms.

He said the Agnew representatives had "given permission" to permit the Holiday Inn to use the empty rooms in the event that the remaining rooms were filled, but Bergman did not know whether advance security clearance would be required.

Today, however, the 52-room block was cordoned off.

A highway barricade marked "closed" was placed in front of the building.

PRESIDENTIAL Adviser Henry A. Kissinger, left, bids goodbye to his South Vietnamese counterpart, Nguyen Phu Duc at Tan Son Nhut after the U.S. and South Vietnam are said to have reached an agreement "in principle for an Indochina cease fire." (UPI)

Reports claim peace nearing

By United Press International Reports persisted today that a cease-fire agreement in the Vietnam War might be near. The Communist delegations to the Paris peace talks said conditions for peace were at hand but that basic issues remained unsolved.

"Rumors are rumors, but bombs are bombs," said Ly Van Sau, the Viet Cong spokesman in Paris.

U.S. Presidential Adviser Henry A. Kissinger today ended five days of talks with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon and flew back to Washington to report to President Nixon. The U.S. embassy would say only that the talks "made progress."

Some South Vietnamese government sources said Thieu and Kissinger had reached an agreement in principle for an Indochina cease-fire before the U.S. presidential elections 15 days away, but neither Kissinger nor the embassy would comment on these reports.

Indications in Saigon and Paris were that the chief obstacle to an immediate agreement was Thieu's opposition to a coalition government that would include the Communists. There were no official statements on this because of the secrecy of the Thieu-Kissinger talks, but the government controlled Saigon Radio and Television repeated previous Thieu speeches opposing a coalition with the Communists.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Paris delegations, in telephone interviews with UPI correspondent George Sibera, repeated the Communist position.

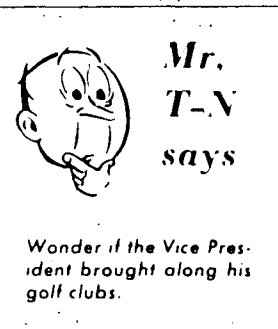

Veterans honored today

Magic Valley residents honored veterans of the nation's wars today, the second "new" Veterans' Day.

A highlight of the day was the dedication of a new Idaho National Guard Armory at Burley. Ceremonies were scheduled for 11 a.m.

The structure, built this year, was to be dedicated to Sgt. Dennis Huber, killed in a training accident on the desert. Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, Idaho adjutant general, was scheduled to formally open the building. Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy was scheduled to deliver the dedicatory address.

Throughout the Valley, government offices — federal, state, county and city — were closed for the day.

Pollster says students split

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI) — A Gallup poll released Sunday said college students are almost equally divided in their support of Sen. George McGovern and President Nixon, with McGovern preferred by a 2 per cent margin.

Gallup listed 49 per cent of the students for McGovern compared to 47 for Nixon. The remaining 4 per cent were undecided or for other candidates.

Lesson ends with death

GOODING — A one-car accident during a driving lesson north of Gooding late Sunday ended in the death of Jesus Celaya, 32, Gooding.

Gooding County sheriff's deputies said Celaya was apparently learning to drive the car he was operating when it rolled over on State Highway 46 about 9:45 p.m. The accident occurred 28 miles north of Gooding.

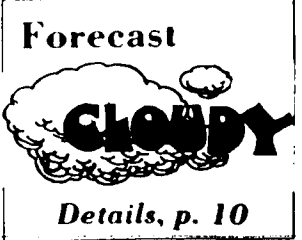

A passenger in the car, Joseph Basterrechea, 30, also Gooding, was released following treatment at Gooding Memorial Hospital for minor injuries, officers said.

The accident was investigated by Idaho State Police Officer Jim Finch, Gooding County Deputy Sheriff Jim Burke, and Camas County Sheriff Paul Cox. It was reported to Gooding County officers by Manning Patterson, Gooding, employer of the two men in the auto.

Funeral arrangements for Celaya will be announced through Thompson Chapel, Gooding.

Celaya's death was one of four on Idaho highways over the weekend, according to Idaho State Police.

Hijackers threaten to blow up hostages

SOFIA, Bulgaria (UPI) — Four Turkish hijackers extended their deadline for the release of 12 political prisoners from Turkish jails today, saying that if Turkey refused they would blow up their plane load of hostages.

The gang's first deadline of 6 a.m. EDT passed as the plane sat on the runway at Sofia airport and Radio Sofia announced that "thanks to the intervention of Bulgarian authorities, the deadline has been extended." The radio did not announce the new deadline.

In Ankara the Turkish Interior Ministry said the hijackers had set the new deadline as 7:30 p.m. (11:30 p.m. MDT.) Turkey, in a note to the Bulgarian government, said it would under no circumstances agree to negotiate with the hijackers. The Turkish cabinet has been meeting in emergency session to consider the incident.

The hijackers, who commandeered the Turkish Airlines Boeing 707 over Turkey on a flight to Sofia early Sunday morning, demanded freedom for a dozen political prisoners and sweeping social reforms in Turkey.

If their orders were not carried out, the hijackers said, they would blow up themselves and their 66 hostages.

Radio Sofia said today "the night was full of tension for the passengers" as the first deadline approached.

The four allowed passengers out of the jet for exercise early today, making them walk in small groups around the jet. The passengers huddled together as they stretched their legs, shielding themselves from the biting wind on the remote runway. A snowstorm subsided during the night, but snow and ice still covered the ground today.

During an inflight shooting shortly before landing Sunday, the hijackers wounded a crew member and a passenger.

Nader analyzes Idaho solons

BOISE (UPI) — The Ralph Nader congress project, "Citizens Look at Congress" has labeled Rep. James McClure with having the manner of a "Boy Scout troopmaster," and Rep. Orval Hansen "somewhat naive."

The report on U. S. Senators and representatives has just been published, based on interviews with the official, staff, constituents at home and on voting records in congress.

Sven Erik Holmes of the Nader project wrote the report on McClure, a Republican from the First District. He said McClure is a conservative, advocates balance in the development - versus - preservation issues but often votes on the development side.

Holmes said McClure — a six-year House veteran — "could never be accused of catering to environmental groups." The report states that of the 110 bills McClure has introduced in the last three years, more than one-fourth have dealt with environmental problems.

The writer said a representative bill of the lot calls for development of mineral resources on public lands. Another was a bill to increase logging in national forests.

On McClure's defense spending ideas, Holmes found that "despite his desire to keep a tight rein on government spending, McClure has supported nearly every major defense expenditure bill to come before Congress in recent years."

On a number of key votes on military policy McClure was absent, the Nader report said.

Republican Hansen was labeled in Nader's profile of him as "low-key, somewhat naive, lacking in follow-through, pork barrel legislation." Hansen has co-sponsored major bills during his terms of office regarding childhood development.

The Nader team found his record in education — besides childhood development — "not prominent and distinguished." Hansen told the researchers he felt his work in committee was effective.

The profile found no consistent pattern to the Republican's votes on environmental issues. It said, however, Hansen has shown "real initiative in authoring legislation involving federal land and water development projects in Idaho."

His support of the Sawtooth National Recreation Area is seen as his main accomplishment.

But much of his legislative activity was dismissed in the report as "pork barrel bills," designed to only serve his district.

The Congressman was characterized as one who runs a low-key campaign and who "finds the nitty-gritty of politics slightly unpleasant."

Boggs search limited

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The Air Force officer heading the search for missing House Majority Leader Hale Boggs and three other persons said planes may "be limited to a very few areas" today because of cloudy weather over most of Alaska.

"We probably will not have a good day searching," said Maj. Henry Stocker.

Supersonic reconnaissance jets shot thousands of feet of film Sunday for the plane carrying the four men. The craft has been missing a week.

Stocker was asked how long he thought the search would go on.

"Each day that we search we do get closer to suspension but when that is I don't know," he answered.

Capt. Orren Wilson, in charge of the two RF4 Phantoms from the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Bergstrom AFB, Tex., said the search was "the first time we've done something like this."

The Phantoms were brought in for reconnaissance flights at 2,000 feet after a high-flying SR71 "spy plane" apparently had no success in detecting the whereabouts of the plane.

For the seventh straight night, electronically equipped C130 aircraft cruised slowly over the Alaska wilderness, listening for any radio signal that might lead to the missing plane.

The Air Force said search pilots had flown 1,191 hours covering 102,000 square miles. A spokesman said there was no discussion of abandoning the search.

The impact threw the rider from the bicycle, resulting in a broken clavical, cuts and bruises. City police said he was unconscious when they arrived and he was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Preparations set for Agnew

(Continued from P. 1) Bergman said should the Vice Presidential party stay overnight he would have to put up the numerous press representatives in other sections of the motel.

About 1,000 free tickets to the address in the CSI gymnasium were distributed to area school children today.

The children need only the ticket and an "Agnew" placard or sign to gain admission to a reserved section.

This section, incidentally, is situated in line with Agnew and press and photographer's section to give the students and signs prominent display.

Charles Brumbach, in charge of arrangements at CSI said the doors will open at 7 p.m. and there is no charge to the public for the evening event.

U.S. Rep. James McClure, candidate for U.S. Senate, will be master of ceremonies and other states and local candidates will attend along with Orval Hansen, seeking reelection to the U.S. Congress Second District seat; Steve Symms, First District Congressional candidate; U.S. Senator Len B. Jordan; and party officials. These will also attend the reception at the Turf Club prior to the public appearance.

The first injury in connection with Agnew's visit occurred Sunday afternoon at the CSI campus. Darrell Eugene Groves, 18, Route 3, rode his bicycle into a rope barricade around the gymnasium and was thrown to the pavement. He was hospitalized with cuts, bruises and a fractured clavical. (see story page 3.)

COMMENT

Candidate Schmitz

Idaho Falls Post-Register
There is one refreshing attribute of Congressman John G. Schmitz, the American Party Candidate for President. He believes in the American debate, saying his piece candidly and openly. Too many political hopefuls at every level so over-sanitize their message and their answers to issues that the public is not really sure where they stand, and why.

But Schmitz, for all his refreshing candor, is flawed with another extremity of the political stage — the oversimplification. It is particularly a weakness of the Far Right and the Far Left. It is the basic assumption that every basic issue is either black or white. He avoids that basic requirement of the American debate — the truth-extraction process of deliberation.

It is consequently easy for Candidate Schmitz to say such things as human resource development is the real cause of high taxes, not defense spending. In the extraction process, one has to examine first what Congressman Schmitz means by human resource development. Are secondary sewer system, for example, unneeded human resource projects?

And skipping over the obviously needed human resource development needs, it is easy for Schmitz to dismiss the gargantuan defense expenditure of this country the past 10 years. It is easy for him to say that all welfare is socialism. The deliberation involved is what is unnecessary welfare and what is needed welfare to those people, like dependent children, who cannot make it in our competitive society without some assistance.

That is why he can hide behind that grand simplification, when he said in his Idaho Falls address here last week:

"Those who work should live better than those who won't."

That's not thinking, that's sloganeering, the cheapest kind of excuse for thinking.

With all the obvious faults in our welfare system, a system that needs overhauling, Congressman Schmitz cannot erase the reality that there are millions of people who cannot work for many reasons — some of them unseen psychological and educational handicaps which demand an extraordinary type of re-training. The tragedy of the oversimplification is that it all ends up with searing culture lines dividing our society.

It is easy for Schmitz to say Government should get out of education and welfare, when he fails to deliberate about the alternatives.

And that is where the sound decisions are hammered out — in the selective process of deliberation. That is what it's all about in Congress, in fact, as Congressman Schmitz knows full well.

The problem for the voters again is that Candidate Schmitz also strums on some of the recognizable truths of our day. The government bureaucracy is altogether too ghastly large and growing larger. It represents one of the biggest challenges to the Republic of our time.

Manila Style

Christian Science Monitor
Worrisome as may be many of the Draconian suspensions of civil rights imposed by Filipino President Ferdinand Marcos in his effort to achieve a desperately needed sense of public order, at least one of his acts by fiat has had positive results for all: the order to turn in all personal firearms by Oct. 25.

Within three weeks, individual Filipinos — who are, if anything, more addicted to guns than Americans — had turned in some 13,000 guns and a million rounds of ammunition.

As a result — even though an estimated half million registered guns are still in private possession, along with perhaps another 90,000 unregistered ones — the streets of Manila and its suburbs have experienced an overnight transformation. Where gun battles in the style of Chicago in the '20's were the order of the day, quiet now reigns. The number of murders in Manila has gone down by 90 percent. And in one of the most dangerous sectors of the city, Makati, policemen have been ordered not to carry guns while on duty.

No doubt the overall imposition of martial law and of a curfew has helped cut down the amount of gunplay in Manila's streets, along with the ban on gun-toting itself. Even so, the positive results of the gun ban in this former United States possession are remarkable and encouraging. And they place a strain on the credibility of the argument, put forth by American gun lobbyists, that to take away handguns from ordinary citizens would only result in criminals using them more frequently against an unarmed citizenry.

Congress' Duty

Idaho State Journal
The Senate is justified in its apprehension over granting power to President Nixon to cut any federal programs he chooses to stay within a $250 billion spending ceiling for the current fiscal year.

No one man — the President or even Howard Hughes — should have that much power. You can argue that Congress or the administration is responsible for the whopping budget deficits of recent years, but the fact is that neither should have all the responsibility. All of which does not alter the fact that a $250 billion spending ceiling is a fine idea. The House has passed such a measure, granting the President the right to cut where he chooses to stay within the ceiling. There should be a way for the Senate to approve the ceiling without giving that right to the President. The main problem, of course, is that not enough senators, or congressmen for that matter — want a spending ceiling. While $250 billion is an immense amount, there are so many built-in escalating costs such as pay raises, welfare and other commitments such as revenue sharing, that a $250 billion budget actually will be very tight.

Yet the President has warned that tax increases will be necessary if that figure is exceeded, and he has threatened to veto bills if he believes they contain too much money.

The Senate should vote to hold to a $250 billion ceiling without giving the President power to make cuts as he sees fit. If the Senate would give itself a large measure of fiscal responsibility to live up to, it would not have to worry about which programs might be cut by the chief executive.

The Egos Of The Candidates

WASHINGTON — With only two weeks to Election Day, the egos of both Presidential candidates must be in awful shape. Whatever the result of the Nov. 7 balloting, Richard Nixon and George McGovern already are established as the two most unpopular men to ever run for George Washington's chair in the same year.

Some pretty disesteemed politicians have sought the Presidency, but this is the first time neither candidate has managed to win the personal favor of a sizable chunk of the electorate. All the polls show that in what might be called the beauty contest aspect of the campaign the voters will be choosing between the lesser of two evils. Or, put less harshly, the citizenry will elect the candidate it dislikes least.

Consider the latest-New York

Times-Yankelovich poll, notable for its in-depth examination of the voters' moods. When those interviewed in the 16 largest states — with 62 per cent of the electoral votes — were asked whom they regard as the more attractive personality, the X's marked "Neither" came within two percentage points of winning. Nixon scored 34 per cent, "Neither" 32 per cent, and McGovern 26 per cent. Two-thirds of both the Nixon and McGovern supporters said they were merely choosing the best of two available choices, NOT picking the man they would most like to see as President. This is shattering. Quite aside from its effect on the Nixon and McGovern psyches, the poll reflects a depressed electorate, reluctantly and unhappily going about its job of choosing a President for the next four years. It also suggests that voters in record numbers will go fishing on election day.

Nixon led the Times-Yankelovich poll, conducted between Oct. 1 and 10, by 57 to 27 per cent, with the rest undecided, and a 30-point margin would seem virtually impregnable this late in the game. But the beauty contest findings muddle things up more than a touch. With 32 per cent of those polled rejecting both candidates as personalities, Nixon could yet find himself in trouble.

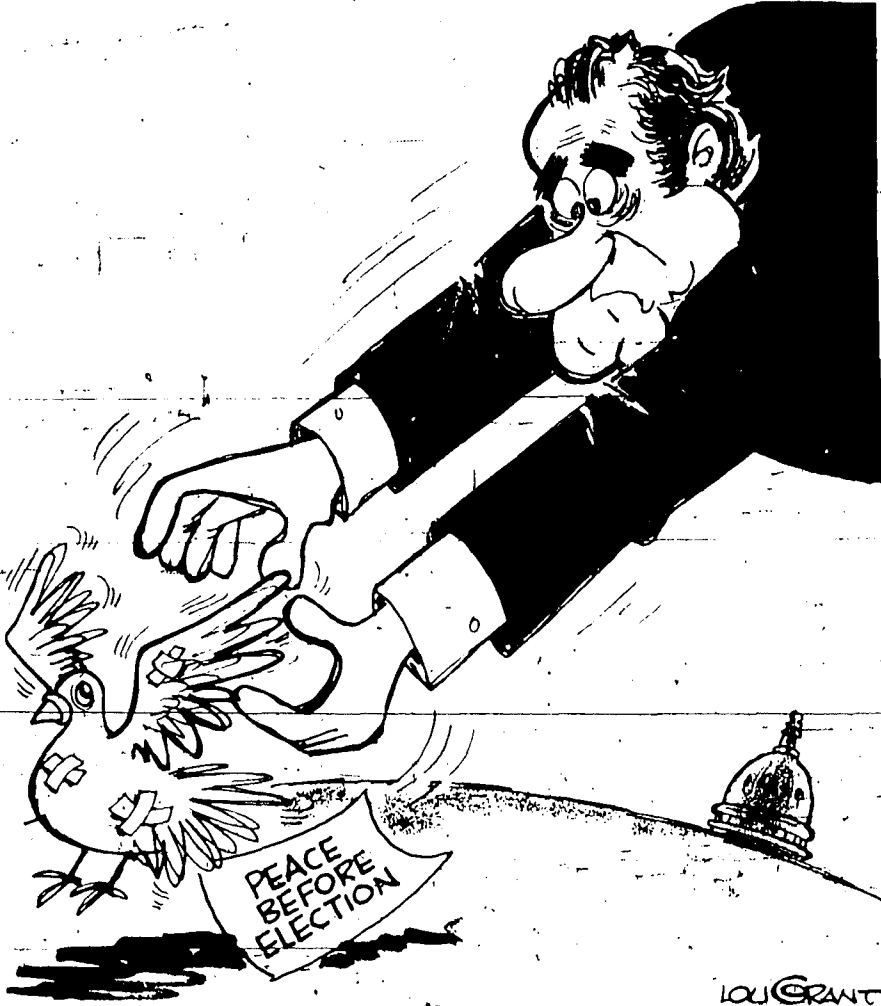

That is to say, he has no cushion of personal popularity to see him through the mounting attacks on the integrity of his administration. Almost every day brings new revelations linking, or purporting to link, White House officials with the GOP campaign's secret espionage efforts to sabotage the Democrats. The alleged attempt to bug Democratic headquarters in the Watergate office building is still an issue, and so are charges that the Russian wheat deal handed the big grain companies a fat financial windfall.

Thus, as George McGovern hammers away at the "corruption" issue, he has a fighting chance to convert the 32 per cent of the voters who said they didn't much like either candidate. A Franklin Roosevelt or a Dwight Eisenhower could survive such attacks, but they were both personally popular men. All Richard Nixon has going for him is his job rating.

So far, all the polls say that's enough. Gallup's latest survey, for example, finds Nixon leading McGovern by 60 per cent to 34 per cent — and winning the support of all major population groups except blacks and new voters. Moreover, the Times-Yankelovich poll shows McGovern trailing badly even on his major campaign theme — the Vietnam War. Two-thirds of those interviewed said they thought Nixon was doing everything possible to end the war. Fifty-four per cent said they thought Nixon was the "peace candidate," compared with 35 per cent who saw McGovern in that light.

In short, even voters who dislike Nixon personally are favorably influenced by his job performance. They seem to base their judgment on what has been called the "plumber syndrome," which says that when you have a leak in the bathtub you summon an artisan who can repair the leak, not a man who's good company at a ball game. McGovern can win only if he convinces voters that the plumber employs helpers who specialize in making off with the family jewels.

BIRDMAN OF PENNSYLVANIA AVE.

PAUL HARVEY

The Third Party

There is a third party in this presidential race and presidential candidate John G. Schmitz protests that the news media has been ignoring him. My phone rang. A man of means whose name you'd recognize said, "We've got to dethrone Nixon."

I said, "Why?" He said, "Because he's sold out to the Communies."

I said, "How are you going to defeat him?" He said, "With John Schmitz."

I confess I had almost forgot; there is a party of the third part in this presidential race, on the ballot in at least 30 states.

John Schmitz, nominee of what's left of Gov. George Wallace's American Party, is consistent in his convictions. If this is to his credit as a California congressman, it is to his disadvantage when it comes to capturing headlines.

How many times can it be repeated that his platform opposes busing, favors a military draft, opposes trade with Communist countries. He wants to end the Vietnamese war by winning it militarily.

Recently, in a brave try at capturing some spotlight, he insisted that the Wallace shooting was a "conspiracy involving others."

But the allegation died of malnutrition.

Of all the recent generations who have rallied to the political extremes, left and right, today's appears less dangerous than did yesterday's.

Yesterday's superpatriot on the right demanded that we "kill all Communies." Yesterday's radical on the left wanted to smash the Establishment.

Today there is so much less political paranoia that organizations and publications which have supported themselves on dissent, left and right, are floundering for issues.

President Nixon, soliciting broad-base support in Congress and in the hustings, has, as his party slogan says, "brought us together."

When John Schmitz challenges the White House to "cut welfare, reduce taxes, restrict the prerogatives of the courts," he is reiterating the things President Nixon tried to do and could not do while the opposition was in control of the Congress.

An observer has to see John Schmitz as a stand-in for George Wallace and can only imagine how different the campaign might have been otherwise.

Would Wallace, campaigning now, arouse a significantly greater response? Doubtless.

But the inescapable plight of the far right is even more hopeless than the utopian quest of the far left.

For where the latter wants heaven on earth, the former wants the status to remain quo. If either is desirable, neither is attainable.

So the practicalities of modern politics lead us right back to the prescription of the Delphic oracle: "Nothing too much."

ART BUCHWALD

Show Biz

WASHINGTON — The biggest thrill any American can get is to appear on television shaking hands with one of the presidential candidates. In some cases it could change a man's life forever.

Last week I saw a Mr. Larry McTaggart shaking hands with Sen. George McGovern in front of a factory gate. McTaggart was quoted as saying, "Meat's too high, and the big guys get all the tax breaks."

That was it.

After the show I decided to find out what happens to an average man who has had his one great moment on television — a chance that may never happen again.

I sought out McTaggart at his home a week later.

When I walked into the living room, I found him wearing a red velvet jacket, a white turtleneck sweater, plaid pants and blue monogrammed slippers.

"I'm rather pressed for time," McTaggart said. "Forgive me if I don't offer you a drink."

"That's okay," I said. "I'm just grateful you could see me at all. I saw you on the news last week with Sen. McGovern."

"Yes," McTaggart said. "George is a fine man; I enjoyed working with him."

"I thought you gave a wonderful performance. It was honest and sincere, and you came through as a true American," I said.

"I did the best I could in the part," McTaggart said. "Of course I couldn't have done it alone. Some of the credit has to go to the cameramen and the wonderful technicians I worked with. I also have to thank the producer and director of the show for the marvelous co-operation they gave me. And I want to thank my mother and my wife who had faith in me during all the years I was struggling to get on TV. And last but not least, Timmy O'Leary, my foreman, who let me off 15 minutes early so I could get to the gate before the other guys were let out of the factory."

"You're a very modest man, Mr. McTaggart. Tell me, if you had to do the show again would you do anything differently?" McTaggart said, "Meat and taxes seem to be the main issues of the campaign and if I raised other issues they might have been left on the cutting-room floor."

"A vast number of people seemed to enjoy what I said, and in our profession that's all that counts."

"Would you consider making TV your career?"

"Well," said McTaggart, "it's a very risky business. It's true I had a big hit with McGovern, but that's no guarantee my next appearance would be a smash. They've asked me to play a role in front of the fence when Spiro Agnew visits the plant next week, but I don't want to be typecast as a factory worker. Frankly, I'd rather be on one of those medical shows where you get residuals."

"Have you had many offers?" "Nothing concrete, though there seems to be a lot of talk in the neighborhood that I should have my own show like All in the Family. But I wouldn't do it just for the money. It would have to be a part I could get my teeth into."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Fussy Salt

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have always been of the opinion that a person should use iodized salt unless he lives in a section of the country in which the water contains iodine naturally. Having seen people with goiters, I am very concerned. My husband feels that one should use iodized salt only when a doctor recommends it, and since no doctor has told him to use it, he uses plain salt, buying a separate package when I buy iodized salt. — I.H.

You have the right idea; hubby is a bit confused. It's not just iodine in the water, but in the soil. In some parts of the country (and in other parts of the world, too), iodine has gradually leaked out of the soil and virtually none is left.

Elsewhere there is some iodine, and vegetables will have traces of it — all the body needs is small traces of it, but without those traces, the thyroid gland enlarges and the result is that swelling that we call a goiter. The amount of iodine in iodized salt is so slight that it isn't going to be harmful — but it can be mighty helpful.

Use of iodized salt started nearly half a century ago, and the amount of goiter was greatly reduced. Today, we have much faster and wider transportation of food (seafood shipped in, vegetables and fruits from various parts of the country) so people in the iodine-poor areas are more likely to get at least a little iodine. But use of iodized salt continues to be a good precaution.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me a copy of your booklet.

"How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Lenclose 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Another question: Is it likely for one to feel cramps and aching around an injured knee, if injury occurred several years ago? There has been no pain in the intervening time, between recovery from the injury and now. — Mrs. C.W.D.

The booklet on cramps deals primarily with the very common cramps in the calf of the leg or the foot, or feet, and that is a matter of muscular cramping. Worst time for such cramps, of course, is after you've gone to bed or while walking.

About that knee: I have to ask whether you really mean cramps, or whether you mean aching. True muscle cramps around the knee are not very common. Stiffness and pain, however, are quite prevalent.

What I'm getting at is that the knee pain may be arthritis. There is such a thing as "traumatic arthritis," and it is very common.

That is, injury occurs to a joint. The injury heals, but there still can be some change in the bone shape which can develop into arthritis some years later, although there has been no discomfort in between.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please explain to us what "crabs" actually is? — A.B. & L.V.

Short term for "crab lice," one of several types of lice, the crab lice primarily infesting the hairy area around the genitals. The pests can spread elsewhere, however.

"Poor devil! He probably 'burned himself out!'"

McGovern plans TV campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George S. McGovern, who says he is confident of an upset victory by a narrow margin, plans to concentrate on television appearances in populous industrial states in the waning days of his campaign.

The Democratic presidential candidate flies today to Philadelphia where he will pay a Veterans Day call on wounded servicemen in a U.S. naval hospital. He planned a television appearance before leaving Philadelphia for New York City, where another in a series of telethons is scheduled.

The focus on television in the last two weeks of his uphill campaign reflected McGovern's need to reach mass audiences before the Nov. 7 balloting. On election eve, he will hold another marathon telethon and on the day of the balloting he will be home in Sioux Falls, S.D.

While the polls portrayed him far behind, McGovern still exuded the zeal of a prairie preacher who firmly believes he can fire up the voters on the issues of the alleged bugging of the Democratic headquarters, the Vietnam war, unemployment and inflation. He was heartened by the large, enthusiastic crowds that turned out in the cold Saturday as he toured the industrial heartland of Pennsylvania.

Koreans arrive for talks

SEOUL (UPI) — A 34-man South Korean delegation arrived in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang today for the third round of the main South-North Red Cross talks on separated families.

Shortly after the southern delegation took off on its trip the South Korean government of President Park Chung Hee passed a series of laws designed to strengthen its hands under martial law proclaimed a week ago.

The extraordinary state council, currently the supreme ruling body with Park at the head, empowered itself to carry out the duties of the nation's now dissolved parliament. Thus the council combined in it all the executive and legislative powers.

A meeting of the council also passed two special laws, stipulating that members of the central election management committee appointed on recommendations from political parties are dismissed, and that no one can campaign for or against subjects being referred to a national referendum for approval.

40 newsmen demonstrate

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — About 40 newsmen held a demonstration over the weekend outside the jail where reporter Peter Bridge is being held for refusing to answer a county grand jury's questions.

Participants marched in a circle in front of the Essex County Jail Saturday carrying signs reading, "Free Peter Bridge" and "Crooks Should be in Jail, Not Reporters." The demonstration was organized by three newsmen associated with The Record of Hackensack.

Last Indian war vet can't get nurse aid

CHICAGO (UPI) — The sole surviving veteran of the American Indian War needs a nurse but his daughter says the Veterans Administration has ignored their pleas.

Lillian Friske, 67, has been trying since last May to get the VA to bring someone in to help her care for her father, Fredrak Friske, 98.

Discharged as a private from the Army in 1897, Friske's service goes back farther than any other of the 28.9 million veterans of wars honored today on Veterans Day.

Miss Friske said her father is practically blind, is often confused and cannot walk without her support. She herself is not well. A cardiac patient, she has suffered two recent heart attacks and is under doctor's orders not to exert herself.

When she called the VA office last spring, she was told her calls would be returned: "I haven't heard a word to this day," she said.

"We received a letter from President Nixon saying my father was being honored...it's all blarney when no one calls back. I just can't get any help from them."

"If they could just get a women's auxiliary volunteer or a nurse to come in for a few hours each week," the daughter said. "He's growing weaker and weaker."

"They spend millions of dollars to go to the moon," she said. "Why don't they take care of those on earth first? All my phone calls have been in vain."

Friske was born in Germany and enlisted in the Army in 1894 after his father died. Miss Friske said her father told her many years ago he lied about his age in order to get in.

"He told them he was three years younger than he was so he's probably 101 years old now but we have no birth records from Germany to prove it."

He served three years in Cheyenne before he was honorably discharged in 1897. He was employed full time until he was 88 years old and too feeble to continue.

"The VA raised our pension last winter from $135 to $160, a month but even with social security we have to skimp. With doctor bills, medication, X-ray bills, the fuel bill and the high cost of living, I can't afford a nurse."

"I can never leave my father alone, ever. I only leave the house one hour each week to visit the doctor so he can check my heart. And I couldn't even do that if I didn't have a lovely neighbor."

"There is no recreation in my life. I go nowhere. My father is totally dependent on me. All my life I've wanted to see the "nutcracker suite" which is coming next month and my two friends are going. For me, it's impossible."

Shipboard riot suspects charged

HONOLULU (UPI) — Twenty-five blacks aboard the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk were charged Sunday in connection with a race riot aboard their ship while off the coast of Vietnam. They face special courts martial and severe penalties if convicted of assault and rioting, according to the Navy.

A spokesman for the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet said Sunday the 25 blacks were charged in connection with a race riot Oct. 12 and 13 that injured 46 persons as the carrier served as base at "Yankee Station" of the coast of Vietnam for U.S. air strikes against North Vietnamese targets.

Those charged, all between the ages of 18 and 22, were not jailed, the spokesman said. They face special courts martial aboard the ship as soon as possible.

There are three degrees of severity in courts martial penalties, and a "special proceeding"—what the men face—is second on the list.

All but one of the 25 charged had completed "legal processing," the spokesman said.

The exception was John L. Rowe, 18, of Anniston, Ala.

Navy sources indicated he was suspected of being "ring leader" of the riot, and was facing more serious charges than assault or rioting.

Chile officials say crisis eases

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Union officials said today there were signs of an end to a 13-day-old series of national strikes which crippled business life and brought a warning by President Salvador Allende that Chile was on the verge of civil war. Officials of the Chilean taxi drivers union said Allende promised early today to free labor leaders jailed in the continuing and damaging wave of strikes. On the basis of that, officials said, they ordered drivers to return to work.

Big 4 begin Berlin talks

By JOSEPH FLEMING
 BERLIN (UPI)—The Big Four occupation powers began talks today on maintaining their rights in Germany after the two rival German states sign a basic treaty that will prepare the way for their entry into the United Nations.
 Western officials said they expected no great difficulties in drawing up a Big Four ambassadors' declaration on their rights.
 "The Russians have indicated they want such a declaration, too," a Western diplomat said.

 A West German official put it this way: "Everyone wants to keep their fingers in the German pie."
 The talks aimed at drawing up a declaration safeguarding their rights as victors were held in the former Allied Control Authority building in the American sector.

 American military police on duty on Veteran's Day, an armed forces holiday, saluted as the envoys entered the building from which the four powers once ruled Germany.
 Although four-power rule is dead, the flags of the United States, Britain, France and Russia still fly there.

 Only about 20 persons gathered in the rain outside the building see the envoys arrive. West Berlin police assigned to the security detail had little to do.
 The participants were Martin

J. Hillenbrand, American Ambassador to West Germany; Michael T. Yefrenov, Soviet Ambassador to East Germany; Jean V. Sauvagnargues, French Ambassador to West Germany; and Reginald Hibbert, British charge representing Sir Nicholas Henderson, British ambassador to West Germany.

Scranton support of McGovern embarrasses

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—There's a William Scranton supporting Sen. George McGovern for the presidency and this is causing his father, a former Republican governor of Pennsylvania, some embarrassment.

William Scranton III, 27, a newspaper publisher whose father was governor from 1962 until 1966, handles press arrangements for the McGovern campaign in this area.

While awaiting the arrival of McGovern at the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre Airport Saturday, young Scranton discussed politics.

"Dad hasn't said much about my newspapers supporting McGovern," he said. "Which isn't to say he is pleased or displeased."

Young Scranton said his father was not particularly surprised by his McGovern endorsement but admitted that it has caused some difficulty in the senior Scranton's household.

A UPI reporter called the former governor last week after hearing reports that "Bill Scranton was supporting McGovern."

"He laid it on the line pretty heavily," young Scranton said. "He told her (the reporter) that he was supporting Nixon and has never endorsed McGovern's candidacy."

Young Scranton said his three weekly newspapers—the Abington Journal, The Dallas Post and the Mountaintop Eagle—would officially endorse McGovern next week.

He said the three newspapers have a 10,000 circulation and reach about 33,000 people in the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton area, the heart of the hard coal region.

Scranton said he selected political candidates for endorsement on the basis of their accomplishments, not their party affiliation.

"We have supported Democrats and Republicans. We feel we must support the man who is best for the job," he said.

The feedback he gets from his father and his Republican readers is "something I have come to expect," Scranton said. "It can have its advantages or disadvantages."

"I am basically a nonpolitical publisher. I am a radical and I think the country needs a radical change."

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "We have had a lot of requests to do another series of articles on the squeeze play."

Jim: "Let's do it. The squeeze is a play in which you make it impossible for your opponents to keep protection in two or three suits by playing out high cards in the others. In general the squeeze is used to bring in one extra trick although some squeezes do even better."

Oswald: "Here is a very simple squeeze. Anyone who stops at six no-trump has no worries about his contract. He starts with 12 winners. A match point player will go after the overtrick on the theory that an overtrick is always worthwhile."

Jim: "Change the East-West hands around and if declarer just cashes dummy's winners there will be a simple squeeze against East. There doesn't appear to be any squeeze against West, since West sits in back of South but South can handle West's case almost as easily."

Oswald: "It just requires that South cash his tricks in the right order. He wins the spade lead, takes his ace and king of hearts and now runs off dummy's winners to come down to the nine of hearts and seven of spades in dummy and ace-small of spades in his own hand. West is squeezed just as surely as if he had to play before South."

Flood-damaged autos reported sold in US

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Unscrupulous dealers are selling thousands of flood-damaged Pennsylvania cars to unknowing buyers all over the nation, state officials said Saturday.

The estimates ranged from 18,000 to 30,000 cars, which have turned up in Maryland, New York, South Carolina, Georgia, Wisconsin, Illinois and California.

Some dealers know they have flood damaged cars. But many have been tricked by dealers who bought the cars at huge auctions, fixed them up, then resold them to retail outlets.

"These are the same people who deal in stolen cars," said William Titelman, state director of motor vehicles. "There is no question that the flood-damaged cars are gone from Pennsylvania."

"The first rule of thumb for these vultures is to get it out of where you got it as fast as you can."

Titelman said he has warned every state and Canada of the seriousness of the problem. He sent a letter offering a list of registration numbers of damaged vehicles to every state motor vehicle department.

"I haven't had any interest expressed to me from anyone for the list," he said. "All we can do is write another letter and try again."

There were about 35,000 cars damaged when tropical storm Agnes caused massive flooding last June in eastern Pennsylvania. The state insurance department said most of the vehicles were covered by insurance. "Local salvage dealers offered them about 22 per cent, but 25 or 30 dealers from out of state were up to 50 per cent before you knew it. There's no doubt that they planned to resell them at full value."

Catholic newspaper banned

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—A Croatian prosecutor today temporarily banned a Catholic newspaper for publishing an article which "calls believers to disobedience," court officials said.

The prosecutor's office, in Zagreb, capital of the constituent Republic of Croatia, said the ban was imposed because the Glas Koncila (Voice of the Council) weekly newspaper printed an article with "false and alarming reports and which calls believers to disobedience and disrespect toward the laws of Yugoslavia and Croatia."

The article, published Sunday, was titled "Seventeen Centuries of Sacred Defiance" and told the story of a saint who "preferred to die rather than become subdued."

Glas Koncila is published by the Roman Catholic Archbishopric in Zagreb. Croatia is predominantly Catholic.

The ban, subject to review by the Zagreb district court, came after a top Croatian Communist official criticized the Glas Koncila article Friday.

"In printing such an article this Catholic newspaper is trying to revive the activities of defeated (Croatian) nationalistic forces which recently were removed from the political scene," said Josip Vukovic, secretary of the Croatian Communist Party.

He said relations between the Yugoslav government and the Catholic church, including the Vatican, were good and that such articles were intended to undermine those relations.

Swap wanted

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UPI) — Southern Illinois University student Frank Lesko Jr. has a 1964 model computer originally valued at $300,000 and is ready to swap for almost anything — including a car.

Lesko, 27, a Vietnam veteran, got the two-unit Univac 60-120 system two years ago when a Chicago savings and loan firm was replacing it with new equipment. Lesko and a partner rented a fork lift and truck and moved the computer into storage near Champaign, Ill.

"It's in perfect condition and I have the blueprints," said Lesko, adding he would listen to any reasonable offer of a swap.

"A decent car might swing it."

Proxmire urges ceiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told President Nixon Saturday he should cut spending to $245 billion, rather than the $250 billion limit he asked Congress to set.

"You have the power to do that because the President — any President — controls spending or outlays. By a memo to your budget director, or even by a verbal order, you can set a spending ceiling today," Proxmire's letter said.

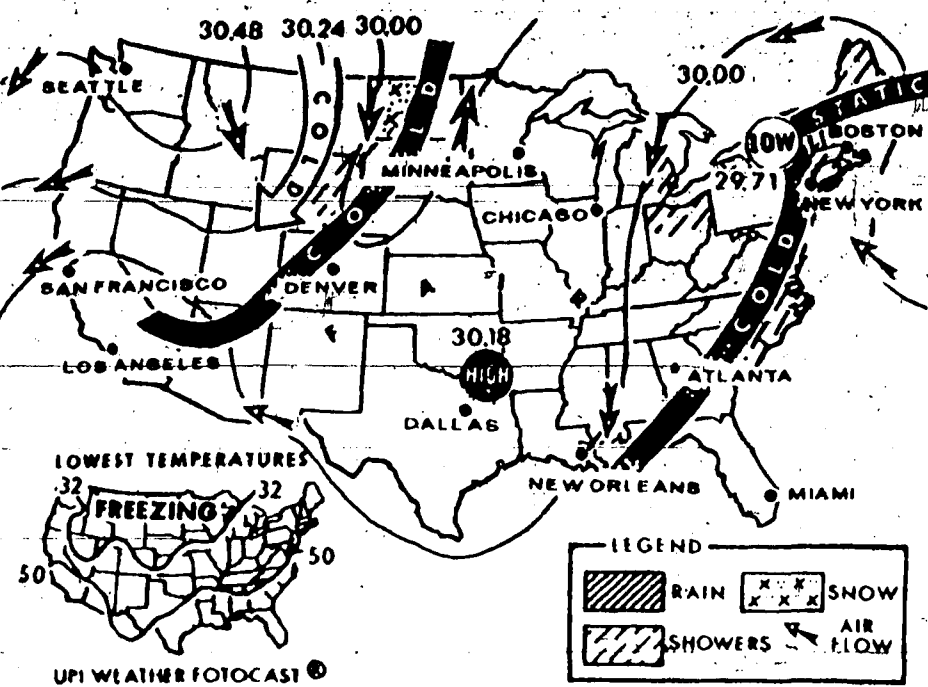

According to the 1973 fiscal year budget, $245 billion is the figure at which federal revenues would match outlays under Nixon's full employment concept. "That amount ... and no more or no less should be spent," Proxmire said.

Federal bookkeeping is an arcane science.

The public is invited to attend this rally where Robert Robson, Republican regional chairman, will be master of ceremonies. There will be an evening of singing and informal questions and answers with the Republican candidates.

Special guests will include incumbent state Sen. Wilson

Steen, incumbent state Rep. Virgil Kraus, and Lee Barron, candidate for state representative. Also on hand will be Sheriff Earl Winter and M.A. "Bud" Riddle, county commissioner.

Since the rally is an informal coffee, citizens of the communities of King Hill, Hammett and Glenns Ferry will be able to visit with these candidates, according to Robson.

Travelers return

SHOSHONE — Magistrate and Mrs. C. M. Wilson have returned from a three-week vacation trip that took them by jet to Bangkok, Hong Kong, Honolulu, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

They made the tour in company with their son and his wife, Mrs. and Mrs. Russell Wilson, Alameda, Calif. The younger Wilson is an airline pilot and had mapped the tour to places he considered of interest to his family.

They traveled by Quantas, a private chartering plane service, and TWA, only traveling three days of the time. They enjoyed the springtime in Australia and the seasonal beauty of fall in Hong Kong.

Humphrey plans stop in N. Idaho

By United Press International
The political spotlight turned to Coeur d'Alene today and the appearance of Sen. Hubert Humphrey in a scheduled stop to campaign for national and local Democratic candidates.

Congressional candidate Ed Williams headed the list of local candidates at a luncheon in the north Idaho city.

In a statement released in advance of that appearance, Williams said veterans created from the Vietnam War should have the same advantages as veterans who fought in World Wars I and II.

Today is the official day for celebrating Veterans Day across the nation.

The Meridian Democrat said while Korean War veterans received 98.8 per cent of their educational costs, Vietnam veterans receive only 67 per cent.

From Corral, Idaho, state Democratic Chairman Joe McCarter said Sunday a survey by the National Student Lobby of 10 key Congressional votes during 1971 show Idaho's James McClure "to have one of the worst records in Congress for dealing with those issues of vital concern to students."

McCarter said the survey shows McClure voted against a bill to lower the voting age to 18, HR 4249, and voted against the minimum wage increase amendment which would have deleted language permitting employment of youths at sub-minimum wages.

Ann Ludlow, the wife of Second District Congressional hopeful Willis Ludlow, said the jump in the price of milk is a good example of "what happens to the little man or woman under Nixonomics."

She wrote in Poor Willie's Almanack, Ludlow's weekly newspaper, that, "if you were one of the many shoppers this week who bought milk at the grocery store, you know what I'm writing about this week."

"The price of milk went up 20 cents a gallon. It was all at once — not even a gradual increase," she said.

Mrs. Ludlow added, "Last March the government raised the subsidy for the dairy industry, one worth a half billion dollars to them. Why is there now a raise in consumer prices?"

District wool winners named at TF contest

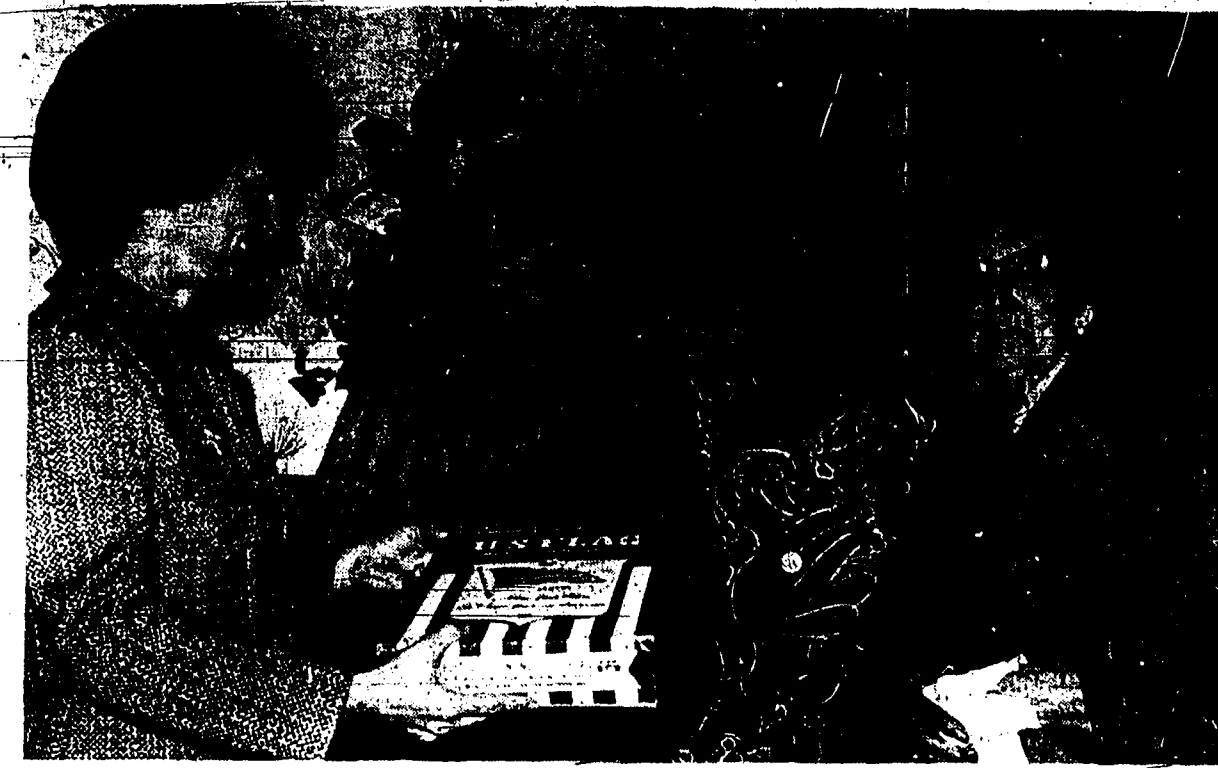

TWIN FALLS — District No. 3 winners of the 1972-73 Make It Yourself With Wool contest were selected Saturday from a group of 20 contestants.

The group participated in a fashion show at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room. Cindy Williamson, Buhl, was named senior winner, with Clara Tschannen, Gooding, named senior runner-up. Diana Dutcher, Mountain Home, won the junior division, with Phyllis Britt, Kimberly, named runner-up.

Miss Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin

Williamson, Buhl, modeled a navy wool cape with attached hood and navy blue wool pants to match. Miss Dutcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dutcher, was the junior division winner with a coat with large plaid, fashioned with a tie belt and red pants to match the red in the coat.

In order to be in the contest, contestants had to make and model their own garment, selecting the fabric-yarn, pattern and accessories. However, all fabrics used had to be made of 100 per cent wool, loomed or spun in America.

Hailey probe continues

HAILEY — Investigation is continuing today into the apparent suicide death of a Hailey woman Sunday morning. According to Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler, the woman has been identified as Mary Ann Randles, 23.

She apparently shot herself in the right temple with a revolver sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, at her home in Hidden Hollow north of Hailey, Drexler said. The death was discovered and reported to the sheriff's office Sunday evening.

Drexler said he was uncertain whether an autopsy will be ordered in the case. The body was taken to Bird Funeral Home, Hailey. Funeral services are pending.

Hearing slated for Blaine man

KETCHUM — A Ketchum man, charged with delivery of a controlled substance, is scheduled to appear in Blaine County magistrate court Tuesday.

Peter Werschkul is the 18th area resident to be arrested on drug charges in connection with an eight month investigation conducted by the Idaho State Bureau of Narcotics and Drug Control in cooperation with the Ketchum Police Department.

Werschkul turned himself in to the court on a warrant seeking his arrest. He is currently free on a $2500 bond.

Delegates from all chambers of commerce on the north side and their partners are urged to attend, as well as any other interested persons.

Fire rips mobile plant in Weiser

WEISER, Idaho (UPI) — About $1 million worth of damage was done Sunday to the Tamarack Mobile Homes Division Plant of Champion Homes south of Weiser, destroyed by fire apparently caused by a welding accident.

Washington County Sheriff James R. Johnson said the plant, two miles south of here in the industrial park, was engulfed by flames about 8:30 a.m. A construction crew in the process of adding floor space to the 300 feet by 200 feet structure reported the fire, and firemen from Weiser, Payette and the rural area responded.

Before the blaze broke out a dense fog blanketed Weiser, and as smoke became trapped underneath, the area was temporarily smothered.

A welding operation apparently blew sparks into flammable insulating material, foam rubber or the like, Johnson said.

Plant Manager Joe Light added, "we don't have anything definite yet, but possibly it started in the foam rubber used for furniture," he said. A complete investigation would be made.

The fire burned all day Sunday, and officials said a watch would be maintained to see it did not erupt again. Damage extended to eight mobile homes under construction inside the plant, Light said.

Damage, including inventory, supplies and everything else will probably run about a million dollars," he said, "but the plant will be back in operation in five or six weeks." "We have 127 persons employed here who will start the rebuilding Tuesday," he said.

Peavey refutes allegations

RUPERT — In a press conference Saturday, Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, refuted several allegations made by State Auditor Joe R. Williams at a Democratic rally here Thursday.

Concerning Williams' charge that his dual position as a legislator and a lease holder of grazing rights on several thousand acres of state land constituted a "conflict of interests," Peavey said he has always supported higher appropriation figures for the State Department of Lands, thereby permitting reappraisal of land values and raising of lease fees if needed.

"Our lease rates (for grazing purposes) have increased as much as 300 per cent in the last two years," Peavey said.

"Avoiding the serving of my self interests is the one area of my legislative voting record that I am proudest of," he said. Peavey also cited several instances when his vote was essentially against his better interests as a private businessman or earned him the disapproval of powerful corporations.

"When I voted against the coyote bounty bill, it was against the wishes of many members of the Wool Growers Association, and my partner in the Flattop Sheep Co.," he said.

He also mentioned his work in drafting and passing a law that insures the serving of public interests on hunting reserves. Harris Club, a private enterprise headquartered in Nevada which owns a resort on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, was affected by the law, Peavey said.

"I'm sure that business enterprise (Harris Club) is not supporting my re-election," he said.

Peavey also mentioned his opposition to surface mining laws presented to the Senate which had been drafted primarily by mining attorneys. "There were some gaping loopholes in the law. I drafted amendments that remedied them and made the law more acceptable," he said.

Commenting on Williams' admission that bid methods used by his office in acquiring computer services favored IBM, Peavey said, "It is deplorable to think that an Idaho official would come to Rupert and a mile that bids were rigged so one company would be assured of getting the business."

He said, "I have been in the forefront of the fight to correct this situation. The sooner the state changes to a standardized computer language the sooner a competitive method of acquiring computer services can be initiated."

Voter day

BOISE (UPI) — Wednesday has been proclaimed "Voter Registration Day in Idaho" by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, and voter registration drives are scheduled on all campuses in the state.

Coordinating the drives will be the Governor's Student Advisory Committee — student body officers from the state's college and universities — and Frontlash, a national non-partisan voter registration program.

Salmon hermit

SYLVAN HART, better known as "Buckskin Bill," is seen in the back yard of his home on the Salmon River, not far from the primitive area. Hart's place is reached by jetboat or by trail from Mackay Bar.

'Buckskin Bill' part of Salmon River scene

SLAMON — With the passing of time, Sylvan Hart has become one of the Salmon River's longest living residents. Hart is better known as "Buckskin Bill" to the hundreds of persons who stop at his place just outside the Idaho Primitive Area each summer. One of them wrote a book about him.

Now 68, Hart has spent 40 years on the south side of the Salmon at the mouth of Five-Mile Creek. The only access is by trail or boat.

Those who float the Salmon each season and those who come by jet boat generally stop to chat with the bearded recluse who has a college education.

In recent years, his nephew and family have come to be his neighbor, building a home perched on a rock ledge on Five-Mile Creek overlooking Hart's place and the Salmon River.

Rodney Cox, the nephew, and his wife, Chana, have three children, Jeremiah, 4; Nehama, 2, and Isaiah, 9 months. Cox has been on the river six years.

Hart came to the river in 1932 and did some placer mining. He had worked in the oil fields in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas. The Hart property is located on the old Painter Mill site which is deeded land, some four and one-half acres in size.

Downstream from Hart's place is Mackay Bar while a few miles upstream the Salmon River moves into the primitive area between the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area on the north and the Idaho Primitive Area on the south.

Hart and the Coxes live off the land, having just harvested a large garden.

Cox is still building on the house he started five years ago. "It will take him another five years to finish it," Hart commented.

"I'll have it done in another six months," Cox replied.

After a brief stop and tour of the Hart place the visitor climbs back into his boat, moving off upstream of down, leaving his brief host standing on a vast expanse of white sand, washed up by the endless motion of the Salmon River.

Magic Grange elects

SHOSHONE — Several officers were elected to complete the slate for the coming year when members of the Magic Grange met Friday.

Larry Tews was elected secretary; Oscar Kerner, lecturer, and Ed Sheer, steward.

An Idaho products dinner was announced for 8 p.m. Oct. 27 for members and invited guests. Mrs. William Kerner is in charge of arrangements.

A thank-you card was read from the family of the late Mrs. Marion Ineas.

Joint installation of officers will be at the Magic Grange Hall at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 20. Mrs. Ira Kistler, Gooding, will be installing officer. Officers to be installed are those for Magic, Wood River Center, Dietrich, Richfield and Upper Big Wood River at Halley.

The legislative committee, George Horn chairman, and Ed Sheer, presented resolutions for members consideration in preparation for action, by delegates at the state convention in Coeur d'Alene later this month.

A resolution to hold sessions of the Idaho legislature every two years was approved. The release of pheasants by the Idaho Fish and Game Department on property without the owner's consent was tabled.

Opposition to any price control on farm products and unlimited imports of farm products was approved.

A resolution to change measurements to the metric system was approved.

Concerning food stamps and the present welfare program, a resolution was approved that would recommend to the Congress that present policies be replaced with one that would be more serviceable.

The welfare recommendation is that financial aid be given those who cannot work and are unable to support their families with all those physically able to work providing for themselves.

Favored by the group was abolishment of three-day weekends because of increased rate on highways and return all federal holidays to their natural date. The members approved holding all the nation's primary elections on the same day.

"We must protect the environment for posterity ... at the same time realizing the need of people to live and eat.

The future of Idaho is tied closely to the land. Any reasoned analysis will tell us that jobs for our young will come from a healthy growth of agricultural activity and a wise development of our natural resources. The encouragement of such development, balanced with realistic environmental controls, is what I seek and shall continue to strive for.

We are all part of this most important balancing act of all time. It's obvious that we must not lean too far either way."

Oakland nips Reds 3-2 for World Series crown

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Gene Tenace, batting clean-up in one of Oakland manager Dick Williams' countless controversial moves, doubled in the tie-breaking run Sunday as the opportunistic Athletics became the World Series champions for the first time in 42 years with a 3-2 seventh-inning victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Atlanta edges Green Bay 10-9

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Quarterback Bob Berry, shaking off the effects of a steady rain and a sloppy field, directed Atlanta on two long scoring drives midway through the game Sunday to give the Falcons a 10-9 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

It was only the second loss this year for the Packers and dropped them back into a tie with Detroit for the National Football Conference Central Division lead at 4-2. Atlanta also is 4-2.

Penalties against Green Bay figured in both the Falcons' scoring drives. The first, on the final series of the first half, was an interference call on rookie Willie Buchanan, that gave Atlanta a first down on the Green Bay 14.

Browns topple Houston 23-17

HOUSTON (UPI)—Cleveland quarterback Mike Phipps passed 27 yards to Frank Pitts for one touchdown and sneaked one yard for the winning touchdown with 3:36 left in the game Sunday to give the Browns a 23-17 victory over the Houston Oilers.

Phipps' sneak climaxed an 80-yard drive after Skip Butler had put Houston ahead 17-16 on a 46-yard field goal with 9:35 remaining. The Oilers' other points came on a pair of bombs from Dan Pastorini — 80 yards to Ken Burroughs and 51 yards to Charlie Joiner.

Don Cockroft kicked three field goals for the Browns, two from 33 yards in the second quarter and a 26-yarder in the third period.

car given to the Series' "Most Valuable Player."

But Tenace then was lifted for a pinch-runner—who else but Williams lifts his cleanup hitter for a pinch-runner in the sixth inning?—and Al Lewis rode home on Sal Bando's double for what proved to be the winning run.

Before it was all over, Williams still defied the odds by making several other moves but they all worked perfectly and you can't argue with success.

Williams, who shuffled his lineup for the seventh game by benching Mike Epstein, moving Tenace from catcher to first base and putting him in the cleanup spot and inserting Dave Duncan behind the plate, used four pitchers even though the Reds picked up just four hits.

In the eighth inning, he defied the "baseball book" by ordering an intentional walk to Johnny Bench—putting the potential winning run on base—but that worked, too, when Rolie

FG lets 49ers tie Saints

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bruce Gossett kicked a 38-yard field goal with three seconds left in the game after New Orleans had taken a three-point lead with just 1:45 remaining Sunday to give the San Francisco 49ers a 20-20 tie with the Saints.

Archie Manning had hit Dave Parks with a 30-yard scoring pass, their second touchdown hookup of the afternoon, to give the Saints what appeared to be their first National Football League victory in six starts.

But after a New Orleans interception on the subsequent kickoff the 49ers defense, which turned back two other New Orleans drives in the second half, held on downs and turned the ball over to the offense unit on the San Francisco 35.

From that point, Steve Spurrier, making his first start in three seasons, marched the 49ers to the New Orleans 29 from where Gossett kicked his second field goal of the game.

Fingers retired Tony Perez on a sacrifice fly and got Denis Menke to fly out.

The A's even got lucky when it counted. They scored their first run in the first inning on a misjudged fly ball by Bobby Tolan and a grounder that took a bad hop.

While Williams could do no wrong, the one major move by Reds' manager Sparky Anderson backfired. He lifted Jack Billingham for a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning with the bases loaded and the A's jumped on his replacement, Borbon, for the two runs that won the game in the sixth.

Knudson is first at Kaiser

NAPA, Calif. (UPI)—George Knudson, who came to Napa hoping for a high finish to save an exemption for 1973, wound up with the top prize of $30,000 Sunday when he shot a closing, two under par 70 to win the $150,000 Kaiser International Open by three strokes despite a course record 64 by Bobby Nichols.

The shaggy-haired Knudson, without a tour victory in 25 months, started the final round on a cool, overcast day at Silverado with a five-stroke lead after earlier rounds of 66-69-66 and thus won with a 72-hole score of 17 under par 271.

Defending champion Billy Casper was the man closest to Knudson at the start of the last round, but he was forced to withdraw after the sixth hole because of the flu. With Casper out of the running, Nichols and Hale Irwin were the only ones with a chance to overhaul Knudson and both made a strong bid on the back side.

When it was all over, the A's were world champions for the first time since 1930, when the team was located in Philadelphia and run by the legendary Connie Mack instead of the flamboyant Charlie Finley.

The standing-room-only crowd of 56,040—over 4,000 fans bought standing room tickets for the stadium that has 51,744 seats even though the game was on local TV—watched the ending dejectedly as Pete Rose fled out for the final out.

But the A's, in their colorful gold-and-green uniforms and distinctive mustaches, staged their own mini-celebration on the artificial turf as they hugged each other and danced in a circle. They were the underdogs who won the first two games, took a 3-1 lead and never lost their poise even when they lost the fifth and sixth games.

Even the artificial turf played a role in their victory. It is supposed to guarantee true bounces. But in Riverfront Stadium, there are little ridges around the areas where the dirt is inserted at home and at each base.

Johnson leads Denver to upset over Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) — Charley Johnson starting his first 1972 game at quarterback, flipped two touchdown passes and riddled the vaunted secondary of the Oakland Raiders repeatedly Sunday in leading the Denver Broncos to a stunning 30-23 upset.

The Raiders loss coupled with Kansas City's win over Philadelphia dropped Oakland to second place in the American Football Conference West with 3-2-1 record compared to 4-2 for the Chiefs. Denver is 2-4 after beating the Raiders for the first time since 1962.

Johnson, a journeyman quarterback who nearly engineered an upset of Minnesota in a substitute role last week hit tight end Billy Masters with a 21-yard scoring pass midway through the opening period and then found back Floyd Little all by himself for a 32-yard touchdown toss

Little, who missed most of the second half with a slight concussion, then took a pitchout from Johnson and caught the Raider defense napping as he lofted a 35-yard pass to wide receiver Jerry Simmons.

When the going gets tough, Bobby Hull gets a Suzuki.

"I play hard even when I'm not playing hockey. That's why I ride a Suzuki. No matter how hard I wring it out, it just keeps going. The Suzuki engine is a proven powerhouse. I know it will get me home."

Not only is my Suzuki tough, it's quick. It's fast on the straight yet it powers through the tightest corners. Snowmobiling is a lot more fun when you have power and handling.

I'm out here for a good time Suzuki does it for me.

Here are a few other features Bobby Hull likes:

Suzuki's power is not only dependable, it gives you all the acceleration you can handle. A low center of gravity and ball joint steering whip you through the turns. Disc brakes for quick stops. Rear mounted gas tank for better traction and safety.

Suzuki is dependable all over. Dual coil ignition and flywheel magneto give you quick constant starts. Big VM carburetors have quick change jets. Variable torque sensitive converter clutch. Speedo and tach are standard. Super quiet muffler system dissipates heat. Only Suzuki gives you so much snowmobile for the money.

See the four new Suzuki snowmobiles, get Bobby Hull's hockey stick for less than half price. This is a tough offer to help you get acquainted with the four tough new snowmobiles from Suzuki. It's a genuine Bobby Hull hockey stick: curved to really fire the puck. And it's autographed by Bobby Hull. You can get it by visiting your Suzuki dealer.

Brown paces Washington to 24-20 win over Dallas

By SAM FOGG
UPI Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Larry Brown caught one touchdown pass, raced 34 yards for another and set up the game-deciding score with two receptions Sunday as the Washington Redskins won their head-to-head shootout with the Dallas Cowboys, 24-20.

Brown caught seven passes for 100 yards and rushed for 95 yards on 26 carries to provide the firepower that enabled the Redskins to rally from a 13-point deficit and vault into the Eastern Division lead of the National Football Conference.

The game-winning touchdown was scored with 6:12 left in the hard-fought battle when Charlie Harraway sprinted 13 yards around left end for a touchdown that climaxed an 80-yard Washington march.

In the drive, Brown hooked onto passes from Sonny Jurgensen for 18 and 16 yards. Jurgensen, who completed 11 of 16 passes for 180 yards, surpassed the 30,000-yard career passing mark in upsetting the defending Super Bowl champions.

The Cowboys had forged to a 20-7 when they drove 63 yards in five plays at the beginning of the third period. Walt Garrison, who contributed a 33-yard dash off tackle, went over from the one.

But Washington struck back with a touchdown five plays later when Brown streaked 34 yards for the score.

New York outlasts Cardinals

By BILL MADDEN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—A pair of field goals by Pete Gogolak climaxed 20 points of second-half lightning Sunday afternoon as the New York Giants overcame a two-touchdown first-half deficit to tie the St. Louis Cardinals, 27-21, for their fourth straight victory.

Trailing 21-7 at the half, the Giants used only a minute and seven seconds to tie the score at the outset of the third period. Linebacker Pat Hughes recovered a fumble by the Cardinals' Donnie Anderson on the St. Louis 19 and two plays later quarterback Norm Snead hit Don Herrmann with a 16-yard touchdown pass as Gogolak converted to narrow the St. Louis lead to 21-14.

One minute later, Giants' safety Spider Lockhart picked off a Jim Hart pass intended for Jackie Smith and ran it 29 yards into the end zone as New York suddenly pulled to a 21-21 tie.

Then after a Giant drive stalled at the nine-yard line early in the fourth quarter, Gogolak put New York ahead, 24-21, with a 16-yard field goal. With 9:21 showing on the clock, Gogolak then added a 43-yarder for the final New York points.

Roger Wehrli set up the first St. Louis score when, in the waning minutes of the first period, he returned a Giant punt 22 yards to midfield. Ten plays later, Hart hit Anderson on an eight-yard pass and Jim Bakken converted to make it 7-0.

score in the third period on Charley Gogolak's 16-yard field goal. But the Steelers came right back for a touchdown.

John "Frenchy" Fuqua, who broke the 100 yard mark for the sixth time in his career, ran off left tackle for 47 yards to the Patriot 28 and on the next play, Davis bolted over left guard for a touchdown.

Terry Hanratty, whose duty all season has been confined to holding the ball for place kicks, entered the game briefly and set up Gerela's 35-yard field goal. Hanratty suffered a knee injury a short time later and had to leave the game.

Gerela kicked his fourth field goal—a 33-yarder—in the final period to tie a Steeler record for one game.

The Steeler blitz was effective throughout the game. Plunkett was sacked six times for a loss of 72 yards. With less than three minutes remaining on the clock, the Patriots swept from their 20 to the Steelers 15, where Mike Wagner intercepted Carl Garrett's option pass in the end zone.

Pittsburgh drills New England 33-3

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Terry Bradshaw passed for 173 yards and a touchdown and set up two of four field goals by Roy Gerela to ease the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 33-3 victory over the New England Patriots Sunday.

The Steelers' defense also produced a touchdown in the American Conference contest to assure Pittsburgh its fourth victory in six games.

In the first period, the Steelers scored twice within a 45 second span. Bradshaw passed 40 yards to Ron Shamklin to set up Gerela's 19-yard field goal. Then linebacker Jack Ham intercepted Jim Plunkett's pass and ran 32 yards for his first score.

In the second period, the Steelers marched 76 yards for a score climaxed by Bradshaw's 30-yard pass to Shamklin, who outran a pursuer into the end zone.

Steve Davis, returning to action for the first time after four games, supplied a key 23 yard run in the series.

Bradshaw, who completed seven of 11 passes, set up Gerela's third quarter field goal of 22 yards which widened Pittsburgh's margin to 20-0.

Dolphins remain unbeaten

By FRANK EIDGE
MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami Dolphins, calling on their power-running game and stingy defense, survived four turnovers Sunday to keep pro football's only perfect record unblemished with a 24-23 victory over the Buffalo Bills.

Miami's Mercury Morris flitted for touchdowns with five and 15 yard runs in the first and final periods to cap the only consistent drives mounted in a weird afternoon of football before a full house of 80,010 in the Orange Bowl.

It was the first full game played by veteran quarterback Earl Morrall in relief of Miami's injured Bob Griese and it was a rough one.

After the opening 80-yard drive to Morris' first score, Morrall took the Dolphins to the Buffalo seven but Miami failed to score in four cracks at the Bills' line.

Then, in quick succession in the second period, Jim Kiick fumbled to Buffalo's Alvin Wyatt, the Bills' Ken Lee intercepted a Morrall pass that bounced out of Morris' hands and Al Cowlings recovered Kiick's second fumble.

Buffalo turned the first fumble into a 35-yard field goal by John Leypoldt and Lee ran his interception 16 yards to a touchdown.

Buffalo got the ball again with two minutes remaining in the first half when an official ruled the Bills' Don Croft covered a lateral pass missed by Morris. The Dolphins and nearly every one of the fans believed it was an incomplete forward pass and booed from the stands delayed the game more than 15 minutes.

Late touchdown pass lets Jets top Colts

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Namath threw an 83-yard touchdown pass to Eddie Bell with 63 seconds remaining Sunday to lift the New York Jets to a 24-20 victory over the Baltimore Colts and spoil John Sandusky's head coaching debut.

Baltimore had just taken a 20-17 lead on Marty Domres' 13-yard pass to Jim O'Brien when Namath heaved a desperation pass down the middle of the field. The ball deflected off Baltimore's Jerry Logan and Charlie Stukes and Bell took it in full stride on the 30 and raced into the end zone.

John Riggins ran 32 yards for the Jets' first TD and Namath threw 49 yards to Emerson Boozer for another. Bobby Howfield added a 29-yard field goal.

Domres, making his first start at quarterback for Baltimore threw a 13-yard TD pass to O'Brien with 1:30 left in the game.

Don Nottingham plunged over for the Colts' first score and O'Brien, playing at wide receiver for the first time this year, kicked field goals of 22 and 28 yards.

The Colts blew two golden opportunities to go ahead in the fourth quarter. Early in the period, Mike Curtis returned an interception to the Jets' 14. But on third and six from the New York 10, Marty Domres, making his first start at quarterback for Baltimore, was chased back to the Colts' 36 where he was hauled down by John Elliott and Joey Jackson. O'Brien then missed a 43-yard field goal attempt. The Colts moved deep into New York territory with six minutes to go but Al Atkinson jolted the ball loose from Nottingham on the New York 10 and Larry Grantham recovered after Don McCauley of Baltimore kicked the ball away with no one between him and the end zone.

Namath moved the Jets 76 yards in six plays following the opening kickoff for their first

TD. Riggins churned 32 yards around left end for the score, breaking a tackle by Ray May at the line of scrimmage and racing down the sideline.

O'Brien's 23 yard field goal cut the lead to 7-3 but defensive end Mark Lomas of the Jets recovered Norm Bulaich's fumble on the Colts' 49 and one play later, Namath threw over the middle to Boozer, giving New York a 14-3 lead.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you have your knowledge and information correct, which requires rechecking now, you find you are able to think out a new and more logical plan of action than that upon which you have been relying to accomplish your most satisfactory results. You have manual dexterity, too, for repairing articles and other handwork.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good day for taking short trips to secure information, or investigate new outlets, so get an early start. Buy items you need for greater resourcefulness and efficiency. Talk problems over with experts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Showing others you have good common sense makes them trust you more, now, especially where business is concerned. Confide in some clever expert and get right answer to any problems you may have. Let your work be precise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid that demanding associate and get out to do those personal chores that are important to you right now. Evening is fine for socializing with the people you really admire. Have a delightful time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Advisers will now give you the right ideas for operating more successfully in the near future. You have a great deal of energy and can use it wisely at this time. Don't forget to call on some good pal you have not seen in some time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get in touch with good pals who are quick and logical thinkers and find out how to handle own problems wisely and well. A friend may need help from you, so give it. Improve your personal life by using logic.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Discuss with some expert the activities you have in mind and do not be thwarted by a family tie who cannot appreciate your big aims. Get bills paid and improve your credit rating. Grow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can handle those outside affairs in a most efficient manner now, even those from a distance. Make better preparations for the future. A clever business expert will give you the ideas you want.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study to see if the obligations you have assumed are being carried out in the most ideal way, efficiently. Spend some time with mate and make it very enjoyable. Ask questions of an expert early in the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day to make those changes where association matters are concerned, or you get into trouble with your partners. Don't try to put points across with others today. Tomorrow is far better.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) There is much work for you to clear away, so do not get into new outlets in the outside world just yet. Show you are efficient. Take the health treatments you need so you add to present energy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can take time out for awhile from dull tediums and have fun with good friends you like, since you need relaxation. Show devotion to attachment and get fine results. Increase your happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good day to be with a higher-up for support, but fine for improving the situation at home. More rapport is important in that vital realm of your life. Evening is fine for going out to the theater.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those youngsters full of ingenuity who will have a very inventive nature, plus the ability to use the hands to put new ideas to work well. The salesmanship here is remarkable, since your youngster is practically a mind reader. Teach early to complete whatever has once been started if there is to be continued success in this chart. Give the finest ethical training you can while young. Teach to dress well, neatly at an early age.

It was none other than that expert Governor Ronald Reagan who said: "When you kiss even the most frozen blondes, they seem to glow." No blonde should discount the observation as mere flattery. MILK ought to be marketed in black containers. That's what the science boys in Holland contend. Daylight drains about 90 per cent of the vitamin C in milk in one hour, they say. In their newly invented black cartons, only about 10 percent of the vitamin C is lost in an hour, they claim.

Vote Vega

 Selling From $2265.40

Take a look at Vega's record and suddenly your choice, among the major small-car candidates narrows to one. And why not, since Vega's qualifications include a 97" long wheelbase, 2.3 liter engine with die-cast aluminum block and, to help smooth the ride, computer-selected coil springs tailored to the weight of the equipment you order.

Vega also has proved itself with other solid product achievements. As standard equipment, you get two steel roofs instead of one, front disc brakes, side-guard door beams, power ventilation, and much more.

Of course, Vega's been a vote-getter right from its start. In 1971, it was named Motor Trend magazine's "Car of the Year." And in both 1971 and 1972, readers of Car and Driver voted it world's "best economy sedan."

While our Election Year Sale is on, compare the "candidates" and the issues. Once you see what Vega stands for, plus the good deals we're offering now, we know you'll Vote Vega.
