Viet troops on job amidst peace speculations

Ceasefire jockeying:

Conflicting reports circulated today as Asian foes jockeyed for position. South Vietnam's President Thieu iced over talk of imminent peace by imposing rigid truce conditions. Gloomy reports also were given by the Viet Cong's representative to the Paris talks.

In contrast, Nixon aide Clark MacGregor flatly predicted a ceasefire by year's end, while the US reduced bomber pressure on North Vietnam, a move believed linked to peace negotiations. (Stories below)

Jury told top Nixon aide ruled spy funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The former treasurer of President Nixon's re-election campaign has told a grand jury that H.R. Haldeman, a chief White House aide, was authorized to approve payments from a secret cash fund used for political security operations, the Washington Post said today.

The Post said that Haldeman along with four other presidential associates were named by Hugh W. Sloan Jr., who formerly managed Nixon's re-election campaign finances, before the grand jury which conducted the investigation of the Watergate bugging case.

The grand jury indicted seven men as the result of the investigation of the June 17 break-in and bugging attempt at the Democratic National headquarters in the Watergate complex.

Haldeman, when informed by the Post of its findings Tuesday, issued a statement through the White House press office saying: "Your inquiry is based on misinformation because the reference to Bob Haldeman is untrue."

There was no further elaboration.

Haldeman, who will be 47 Friday, is considered one of Nixon's three closest aides. The other two are Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, and John Ehrlichman, responsible for domestic affairs. Haldeman is chief of Nixon's White House executive staff.

The Post said Haldeman had been identified to the grand jury by Sloan as a fund controller along with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Nixon's former campaign manager, former Commerce Secretary Maurice C. Stans, the finance director of the Nixon campaign; Jeb Stuart Magruder, deputy director of Nixon's campaign, and Herbert W. Kalmbach, the President's personal attorney.

According to the Post, unidentified federal investigators independently confirmed that the five men controlled the fund which at times totaled $700,000.

The fund was uncovered during the FBI's probe of the Watergate case. It was allegedly used to finance political spying activities against Democratic candidates.

In another development Tuesday, Acting FBI Director Patrick Gray told reporters he understood that Nixon had ordered a new internal investigation on the Watergate case.

Vintage train considered for Blaine 'school bus'

HAILEY — Wood River Valley students may ride a train to school instead of buses. Commuters between Bellevue, Ketchum, Sun Valley and Hailey would be traveling by rail, along with tourists.

A preliminary proposal to initiate train service — concentrating on students, commuters and tourists in the Wood River Valley — was received by Blaine County commissioners and the county planning and zoning commission Tuesday night.

Commissioner C. W. (Andy) Gardner said the idea was "well worth exploring" as an alternative means of transportation.

Proponents of the train service, Tim O'Leary, Bellevue, and Brian Clark, Hailey, who represent a group of about six local residents, said the idea was currently in the planning stage and would require detailed financial work and discussion with state, federal and Union Pacific officials.

O'Leary said two vintage, oil-burning locomotives can be leased for $1 a year from Charles Morrow, Ketchum, if the county maintains the track and the engines.

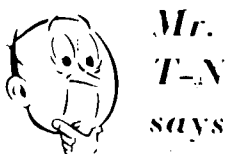

Initial plans call for offering commuters and students free transportation between Bellevue and Ketchum. Tickets would be sold to tourists for a 40-mile round trip scenic run between those towns.

O'Leary said if the train is used to transport students, the number of school buses presently operating on U. S. Highway 93 could be reduced from the current nine to six.

Savings to the county would be about $35,000 a year, he said.

Clark said the idea was being proposed in the interest of safety — to get school children off the highway — and as an alternative to highway travel for commuters.

O'Leary and Clark are expected to meet with Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Friday, to determine whether a five year federal deficit grant could be available until the trains could operate on a break-even basis.

Thieu: Peace OK—but conditions stiff

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's rambling radio and television address Tuesday night reaffirmed his stiff conditions for an Indochina cease-fire but did not rule out settling the war, Vietnamese political and government sources said today.

The sources said Thieu's conditions for a cease-fire remained unchanged despite five days of talks with U.S. presidential adviser Henry Kissinger in Saigon.

Political leaders could not seem to agree on whether Thieu was trying to prepare the nation for a cease-fire or merely discussing all possible alternatives to the war.

An Information Ministry spokesman said Thieu's two-hour speech "was aimed at presenting all the angles of the problems of peace, a cease-fire and the Communists' plots to the population so that they know what is to be expected ahead of them."

The newspaper Tin Song (Live News), which often reflects official presidential palace views, today carried the headline "Cease-Fire May Come Soon." But the front-page story emphasized the fighting would stop only under conditions spelled out by Thieu.

Tin Song is partially financed by Thieu's nephew and personal secretary, Hoang Duc Nha, who was present during the entire 15 hours of talks between Kissinger and the president.

Tin Song said Thieu told the nation "if a cease-fire does not come between now and the U.S. presidential election (Nov. 7), it must come afterward."

"There could be a cease-fire very quickly," Thieu said in his address. "But the Communists have to guarantee they will restrict their fighting forces to North Vietnam."

Thieu's other demands included international supervision of the cease-fire with guarantees from the Soviet Union and China that the North Vietnamese would withdraw.

Thieu again rejected any coalition with the Communists and said American bombing of North Vietnam and the mining and blockade of seven major ports by the United States would continue until a final solution to the war is reached.

Viet Cong: US blocks Red ceasefire try

PARIS (UPI) — Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister, discussing the latest Vietnam developments said today "no early cease-fire is in sight...we still have no agreement with the Americans over the basic issues."

Looking pale and tired but bursting on occasion into a faint smile, the 47-year-old Vietnamese leftist accused President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam of blocking the road to peace—and accused President Nixon of refusing to force Thieu from office.

In an exclusive interview with UPI, Madame Binh, speaking in her suburban residence at Verrieres-Bulson, didn't deny that progress has been made in private talks held by Henry A. Kissinger and the North Vietnamese, her allies.

"Our desire is to have a cease-fire put into effect as fast as possible," she said. "This would put an end to the unspeakable suffering of the Vietnamese and allow us to enjoy independence and self-determination."

"But, she added, "An early cease-fire is not in sight, and all the rumors to this effect are not based on facts."

Madame Binh said under questioning that in the private talks the Communists had made a concession—agreeing to a prompt cease-fire once there was a basic agreement on the political future of South Vietnam. Previously, the Communists had maintained a rigid link between the implementation of the two issues.

"In order to facilitate the negotiations and show our good will, we have said that if there has been an agreement in principle on concrete questions of a political settlement, we will display a flexible attitude" on the cease-fire issue, she said.

Madame Binh thus confirmed a statement made by North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong to Newsweek magazine that the Communists would be prepared to accept a cease-fire as the first step towards ending the conflict.

Sitting in a soft beige velvet cosy chair under the blue red pennant of the Viet Cong, Madame Binh said the Communists will not agree to a cease-fire if Thieu stays in power.

PRESIDENT THIEU... stumbling block?

Bombers: US eases B-52 raids on North

SAIGON (UPI) — American warplanes cut back sharply on their air raids on North Vietnam Tuesday and military sources in Saigon said today that the halting of airstrikes above the 20th parallel was on orders received "from Washington." The curtailment appeared to be a tacit peace overture to Hanoi.

(In Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird refused to discuss an apparent easing of U.S. bombing in North Vietnam. He said, "It does not do any good for military or civilian authorities to discuss these operational authorities in advance. It could jeopardize the safety of pilots who are now flying.")

Air and ground attacks continued in South Vietnam, and Communist gunners in the south stepped up their shelling attacks on population centers. Attacks near Saigon and Da Nang killed 23 Vietnamese and wounded 115, most of them civilians. An American civilian was killed at Da Nang.

Just 100 fighter-bombers struck the north, the lowest total since last Sept. 4, the U.S. command reported today. Nine waves of B52s dumped more than 800 tons of high explosives in the lower panhandle, aiming at enemy "supply caches," military spokesmen said. The 20th parallel runs about 60 miles below Hanoi; the B52 strikes were 200 miles south of Hanoi.

In 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson halted all American bombing above the 20th parallel as an inducement to North Vietnam to begin the first peace contacts.

U.S. bombers Tuesday and early today restricted their raids in North Vietnam to below the 20th parallel in the country's panhandle area, the U.S. command's daily communiqué said. This meant the bombers stayed well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Command spokesmen, however, had no comment on Washington reports that the bombing was being restricted on orders from the White House to ease up on North Vietnam during the current phase of sensitive peace negotiations.

MacGregor: Nixon aide flatly predicts truce

By United Press International President Nixon's campaign director, Clark MacGregor, predicted today a ceasefire in Vietnam by the end of this year and said Sen. George S. McGovern "could not be more wrong" in charging it could have been achieved long ago.

MacGregor said he talked with Henry A. Kissinger Tuesday after the presidential adviser's return from Saigon. He would not discuss details of peace moves but said:

"There is an inexorable course to these events which will produce a cessation of hostilities in this calendar year... Nov. 7 has no relation to our efforts."

Appearing with MacGregor in an interview on the NBC-TV Today Show, McGovern's military and foreign affairs adviser, Paul C. Warnke, said, "It seems that events are taking their course and there will be a cease-fire in the foreseeable future."

Warnke, who receives regular briefings by the administration on peace talks and related matters, repeated McGovern's charge that essentially the same terms reported under consideration now could have been obtained as much as four years ago.

Warnke, a Pentagon official during the Johnson administration, said South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu had blocked peace in the past and "the real issue at this point is whether President Nixon is going to make the courageous decision (to withdraw) and let Thieu take his chances."

Warnke said that during the recent intensive peace efforts the Nixon and McGovern "positions tended to converge." He said Nixon's "position is now that we would accept some form of coalition government... For some period of time, the Nixon administration was unwilling to accept a coalition government."

MacGregor responded, "I cannot accept for a moment that there is a coming together of the positions of President Nixon and Sen. McGovern... We would under no circumstances impose a coalition."

Explosive letters to Nixon

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Security forces found explosive charges today in letters addressed to President Nixon, U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers and U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, police said.

The three letters were found Tuesday by postal workers in Kiryat Shmona, a town in northern Israel near the Lebanese border, said the national police spokesman, Mordechai Tavor.

"This morning the envelopes were examined by security forces and were found to contain explosives similar to the envelopes sent from Amsterdam," he said. Amsterdam was the origin of a recent mail-bomb campaign.

Israel told the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv of the three letters today and the information was passed on to Washington, a U.S. source said.

Repeats whistle

APPARENTLY liking the response he got when he first blew his whistle at a heckler while speaking in Twin Falls Monday, Vice President Spiro Agnew repeated the tactic while speaking at Utica, N. Y., where he told the hecklers "That's five personal fouls, you're out." (UPI)

McGovern says war issue No. 1

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — George McGovern said Tuesday he would applaud settlement of the Vietnam war before the election — and "damn" the political consequences.

He also insisted "the time has come to make it clear to President (Nguyen Van) Thieu that if he wants to carry on the war—that's his option, but he's going to have to do it without any American blood and any American dollars."

"Now whether or not Mr. Nixon is prepared to make that choice, I don't know," he added. "I would have made that choice years ago."

The Democratic presidential nominee was feeling vindicated that the Vietnam war has popped up again on the front pages, just before the election, and is again standing out as the "Number One Issues."

As he campaigned, mostly via TV shows and an hour-long telephone Tuesday night, McGovern was quizzed on his reaction to Thieu's refusal to accept a cease-fire without the withdrawal of North Vietnam's troops from his country.

"I would applaud the President's settlement of the war if he settled it tonight," McGovern said.

He accused the President of "just knuckling under to everything too long" in the 'Small cigars' scored

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Luther Terry, former surgeon general, said Tuesday that "little cigars" have the same tar and nicotine content as cigarettes, are smoked in exactly the same way, yet unlike cigarettes are legally advertised on radio and television.

Such advertising, Terry said, constitutes an "evasion of the intentions of Congress," which banned the advertising of cigarettes on radio and television.

In addition, said Terry, the cigarette-sized "cigars" are classified as cigars, and thus are not taxed as highly as cigarettes, which results in a loss of revenue to the federal government. This, he told a news conference at the American Cancer Society meeting, is because "the Internal Revenue Service has the responsibility for labeling smoking material as cigar or cigarette."

Jerome man charged in assault

TWIN FALLS — Michael Dean Barnes, 23, Jerome, was arrested by Twin Falls Police Tuesday on a warrant charging assault and battery.

According to Twin Falls Police, he was arrested in connection with the assault and battery of Stan Schneider, Sunday at a gas station in Twin Falls.

Barnes was released after posting $300 bond.

Nixon's efforts rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will step up the pace of his low key re-election effort with a political radio broadcast today and campaign trips Thursday and Saturday.

The radio speech on education policy, to be aired at 10:07 p.m. MDT on time purchased on three networks by his campaign organization, was the fifth in a series of talks that have substituted in part for personal appearances by the candidate.

With less than two weeks to go before the Nov. 7 election, Nixon planned a one-day campaign trip to Ashland, Ky., Thursday and a 100-mile motorcade through the industrial heartland of Ohio on Saturday.

Hansen optimistic about SALT talks

IDAHO FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, today expressed optimism about the second round of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

He said he hoped the talks will result in a more comprehensive and permanent treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons accompanied by cuts in U. S. arms spending.

The Idaho man said negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union, scheduled to resume next month in Geneva, will be aimed at building on the five-year interim agreement signed by President Nixon in Moscow.

Earlier this year limiting land and sea-based offensive missiles.

The first stage of SALT also led to the U.S.-Soviet pact restricting the number of defensive anti-ballistic missile systems permitted on each side.

TF zoners reject Filer gas station

BY DALE STEWART
Times-News city editor
TWIN FALLS — Neighbors' objections to a proposed self-service gas station at 845 Filer Ave. prevailed with the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday night.

The commission rejected by a 4-2 vote a recommendation for approval of a conditional use allowing the station. The use was sought by Jay M. Davis.

Although the zoning commission turned down the request, another public hearing is scheduled on it before the Twin Falls City Council on Nov. 6 at which time it could receive approval.

The site is at the southwest corner of a shopping center, and was formerly occupied by a service station. At a public hearing Tuesday night, Davis said a small office building is planned, with no car washing or service bays.

Four residents of the immediate area — Harold F. Brown, Alfred Olson, Arvel McBride and Reed Hansen — objected, with Brown serving as spokesman. He also presented a petition signed by eight residents of the area, opposing the self service station.

Davis and the four conferred over plans for the station during a recess following the hearing.

When the commission took up the matter on its regular agenda, Chairman John Rosholt asked Brown if the group had altered its stand.

Brown said the station was "becoming more acceptable" but that it seemed unlikely to be successful. He said if the area residents were sure it would be successful as a place for gasoline sales only, they wouldn't oppose it.

The commission recommended annexation of a 10-acre tract on Blue Lakes Boulevard North which will be the site of the proposed Rodeway Inn and zoning it commercial local.

The action also recommended approval of a conditional use for a motel, and stipulated the annexation be subject to acquisition of adequate right of way for a major street at the south edge of the tract, extending west to the College of Southern Idaho.

Also recommended was approval of a zoning variance and conditional use sought by Will, Inc., for a parcel of land at the northeast corner of Filer Avenue and Harrison Street.

The 2.27 acre tract is zoned residential medium density. The variance and conditional use are necessary to permit construction of a 37-unit apartment complex, including 6 residential buildings and an accessory structure.

Both recommendations will go to the City Council.

Also recommended to the City Council was Rosholt's suggestion that the zoning commission discontinue public hearings on conditional use requests, since the council is required by state law to hold such hearings. That act would require amendment of the city zoning ordinance.

Rosholt said the zoning commission should retain the power to hold hearings on such requests if it deemed it necessary. He said he based his recommendation on a belief that conditional uses are permitted uses under the zoning ordinance.

Meeting set on training

TWIN FALLS — Tentative planning for adoption of a career education program in all of Idaho's public schools was to be discussed here today.

In one of a series of six statewide meetings, superintendents, teachers, trustees and others were to attend the meeting at Robert Stuart Junior High School. A similar session was held in Boise Tuesday.

D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, and vocational education director Roy D. Irons said in Boise a "great deal" of work lies ahead if the schools are to implement the program fully, UPI reported.

TF hearing set on mobile homes

TWIN FALLS — A hearing was set for Nov. 24 on a requested amendment in the mobile home ordinance by the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday.

The proposed change in the ordinance would modify the present requirement that a 25-foot-wide strip around the perimeter of a mobile home park be provided for screening of the area.

The change would permit a narrower strip if a masonry, wood or other decorative fencing screen is used instead of shrubbery, and would allow the fencing to be placed on a line 15 feet from the interior of the perimeter strip.

The commission also:

- Named commission member Dave Armstrong chairman of a subcommittee charged with developing guidelines for aiding in preparation of a master plan.
- Chairman John Rosholt suggested Armstrong obtain help from citizens as well as commission members.
- Approved the preliminary plat of the Wycoff Subdivision, an industrial subdivision located west of Eastland Avenue and south of Fourth Avenue East.
- Recommended approval by the City Council of a commercial general zoning for property on which Scott Refrigeration, 502 Madrona, plans to build a storage building to house equipment before and after repair.

- Recommended annexation of five acres occupied by Western Beverage Co. on Orchard Avenue, south of Twin Falls, with industrial zoning to permit future expansion.
- Tabled a request for rezoning from residential low density to residential professional a tract of property at Heritage Manor, requested by Dr. R. A. Drake and Harold A. Drake. A proper legal description of the tract was asked.
- Recommended amendments to the zoning ordinance adding churches, church schools and parish halls to uses under commercial general zoning and providing that uses in commercial general zones include uses permitted in commercial central zones.
- Recommended denial as spot zoning a request by Nolan Victor for rezoning of two lots and part of a third on the northeast corner of Blue Lakes and Lawndale Drive. The change sought was from commercial local to commercial general.
- Recommended approval of a conditional use at 1751 Elizabeth Blvd. permitting construction of a natatorium. The area is zoned residential medium density.

Both recommendations will go to the City Council.

Also recommended to the City Council was Rosholt's suggestion that the zoning commission discontinue public hearings on conditional use requests, since the council is required by state law to hold such hearings. That act would require amendment of the city zoning ordinance.

Rosholt said the zoning commission should retain the power to hold hearings on such requests if it deemed it necessary. He said he based his recommendation on a belief that conditional uses are permitted uses under the zoning ordinance.

TF rivals play today

TWIN FALLS — A traditional sports battle between Robert Stuart and Vera C. O'Leary junior high schools was slated today with football games at Bruin Stadium.

The "Green and White" "Red and White" contest included two eighth grade games, lightweight, and heavyweight, fought on the practice field outside the stadium, and a ninth grade lightweight game played inside. The three games were played simultaneously.

A fourth game, with ninth grade heavyweight teams, was played for possession of the Victory Bell, prize for whichever junior high wins an athletic contest.

The bell was won during football season last year by Vera C. O'Leary students, then passed into the hands of Robert Stuart players during basketball season. O'Leary won it back during the spring track contest.

Today, pep rallies and parades from both schools to Bruin Stadium preceded the games.

Activities at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High included a door decoration contest which was judged by George R. Staudaher, superintendent of schools, and Camden Meyer, assistant superintendent.

Robert Stuart students dressed up during the day, which was also in honor of the boys of the school, according to Principal Jack Watts. A dance was held at the school during noon hour.

O'Leary Principal Carl Snow announced today that a "victory" sock hop is scheduled from 6 to 9 p.m. at the O'Leary gymnasium. Students from both schools are invited to the dance.

Absentee voting already underway

TWIN FALLS — Absentee voting is now underway in Twin Falls and will continue through election day, County Clerk Harold Lancaster reminded voters today.

He said the privilege of voting absentee has been provided for the convenience of persons who will be away on election day or for the invalids or otherwise infirm unable to get to the polls.

Lancaster said persons who abuse the privilege should keep in mind they are signing an oath which states they plan to be away on election day and those who vote absentee only for their own convenience are violating an oath.

The abuse of absentee voting, he said, creates inconveniences for others while providing a selfish convenience for those who will be in town and are capable of going to the polls on election day.

Most voters in the county are now familiar with the voting machines and will be able to vote easily and in a relatively small period of time at the polling places Nov. 7.

Lancaster said his office and other county officials around the state are anxious to provide the service for those who qualify for absentee voting.

More Taxes?

Congress finally adjourned without granting President Nixon authority to hold federal spending to $250 billion dollars during the year that began July 1. But it overrode his veto of a bill calling for four times as much as he wanted for stringent water pollution controls.

The result of these actions is to increase the likelihood of higher taxes as President Nixon warned. Unless the President is reelected and is given a working majority in Congress, higher taxes are certain. But Nixon plans to do everything in his power to hold down spending and avoid a tax boost.

Members of the House were willing to abdicate their responsibilities for curtailing excessive spending but the Senate, which has consistently opposed Nixon on important issues, refused to go along.

In effect, Congress said, "We enjoy spending the people's money and we don't know when to stop or where to cut."

Individually, every member of Congress knows there is waste and duplication in government. The President knows it. The taxpayer knows it. But there is no agreement on the places to cut.

As it stands, President Nixon will not be obligated to trim more than $6 billion dollars from current programs, an unpopular and highly controversial task, but he is going to try.

Wilbur Mills, the Democratic chairman of the Ways & Means Committee, led the fight for the spending ceiling. He acknowledged "We do not have control of spending in the present situation."

Pointedly, Mills asks the House: "Do you think that any of our people at home can have any confidence in the way we run this situation? They do not have it and you know it."

Every American is aware of governmental extravagance and is sick of mounting taxes.

Mills said the people want something done about it and are going to elect a Congress that will work to control inflation and to control federal spending.

We hope he is right. The future of the country depends upon drastic changes in the way Congress handles the people's money.

WASHINGTON — Back to the dirty work. It would be easier and more felicitous to sing the praises of that culinary miracle, the American pot roast, but one must pretend to sterner stuff. There is no way successfully to pretend that Nov. 7 is just another tedious Tuesday.

If Richard Nixon blows this one, Congress should pass a law prohibiting the publication of polls and, indeed, any attempts in the press or on radio and television to predict the result of a Presidential election. Nixon cannot lose — and yet there is that nagging suspicion that he would be hooted down if uttered by any ordinary observer of the sheep's innards. Unless Scammon has been bugging heaven, he's got to be wrong on that one. McGovern must do better, if only because of the innate perversity of the electorate. But barring a nationwide conspiracy to commit barefaced perjury against the pollsters, it's hard to see how the South Dakotan can do much better. Even his own state apparently is numbered among the undecided neighborhood.

Is McGovern the victim of a mass desertion by the voters, or was he never the viable candidate he seemed? Almost from the moment he announced his candidacy two years ago, California had been considered one of the few states in which he stood an excellent chance. Yet the latest California Poll, operated by the polling genius, Mervin Field, says Nixon is leading McGovern there, 50 to 36 per cent.

Moreover, Field's findings give Nixon a much bigger lead than reported in his poll of early August. At that time, Nixon was ahead by only eight percentage points — 40 to 41. By this date, almost every observer capable of adding two and two and getting four had expected McGovern to be closing the California gap.

Why, then, that nagging suspicion that Nixon still could blow it? Why — when he's even leading McGovern in New York state and conceivably could carry that Fun City fiefdom of John Lindsay, the borough of Manhattan? Why, when Nixon is ahead in every one of the 16 big states owning 62 per cent of the electoral votes? At this point, an honest referee would half the fight and credit Nixon with a technical kayo.

Well, I harbor the suspicion, so I must try to justify it. It is based on President Nixon's determination to withhold any meaningful explanation or defense of allegations by various newspapers and news magazines that the scandals involving the break-in at Democratic headquarters, the loose handling of campaign funds, and the GOP's espionage operation against McGovern lead directly to the White House.

Justifiably or not, the allegations have raised the specter of the Old Nixon, who lost the 1960 election to a Kennedy who, like George McGovern, was not universally loved by his party's Old Guard power brokers. Nevertheless, Nixon has stuck to his stand that he will not "dignify" the charges with a personal rebuttal.

With such a big lead over his opponent, the President obviously believes there's no profit in publicly acknowledging charges of skulduggery. And he's probably right.

BRUCE BROSSAT

On Postmortems

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the poll indications hold and President Nixon is re-elected next month, the Democrats give signs they will indulge in the greatest orgy of postmortems in their history.

In fact, the preparation of these spasms of self-analysis has already begun. The materials and themes are naturally in the "Privileged" category at this stage. But I can testify that some of the stuff will be harsh.

The tone will be a lot different than that which set in after Sen. Hubert Humphrey's defeat in 1968.

In those days, the clamorous antiwar leftists in or around the Democratic party wanted self-guilt to be the dominant note. When the party gamely undertook sweeping reforms to open up its processes, the strident leftists tried to turn the reform sessions into huge confessionals. The "shame of the war" and the "shame of Chicago" were the sins to be confessed loudly.

Somehow the party got past all that. It adopted an incredible array of reforms leading to wide participation by women, young folks, blacks and other minorities.

The true believers felt that, given these reforms and their general success in operation, given such issues as a continuing war, a flawed economy and a strongly alienated populace, they could not lose.

When the reforms helped to produce in Sen. George McGovern a presidential nominee widely perceived to be to the left of the broad middle, concerned old-style Democrats were told not to worry. McGovern's aides and certain key supporters said:

"It's a new day. You can say either that the old centrist politics is dead, or that the center has moved well over to the left."

Well, at least one postmortem artist is going to say that notion is the purest balderdash. If McGovern loses, and particularly if he loses big, the argument is going to be advanced that, in nominating him, the Democratic party moved away from the center in what amounted to a suicidal gesture.

Defeat will be read by many of the party self-analysts as proof that there is not to be an effective new coalition of the young, the poor and the black, as some McGovern purists still insist is possible.

To say that the great mass of votes needed for victory is still in the center is to repeat a tired old theme. But many disturbed Democrats are expecting the Nov. 7 election to provide a ringing reaffirmation of it.

The party's analysts are going to be saying that McGovern's prime failure (among many) and the Democrats' failure lies in reinforcing in this campaign the feelings millions of middle-range Democratic voters already had: That the party is seriously neglecting them.

The theme really is not new. We've all written that these voters think the party has turned its focus too narrowly to the poor and the black. McGovern himself knows it well, and imagines he is speaking to these alienated people through his tax reform and other proposals.

But the evidence suggests he isn't reaching them. The truth is that neither McGovern and his party nor President Nixon and the Republicans are offering the troubled center any kind of convincing sign that they can shape programs truly helpful to the poor, and still not grossly overburden millions upon millions who think they are already hanging by their fingernails.

The postmortems will say it: The Democrats need vast new infusions of social imagination and invention to gain that center. In picking McGovern, they chose a man whose new ideas spread fright, not hope.

RAY CROMLEY

Wives Suffer

WASHINGTON — We as a people have not done nearly enough to ease the terrible plight of the wives of the military men and civilians who are prisoners or missing in North Vietnam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

We read almost daily of their earnest attempts to secure mail from their husbands, to receive some word of prison conditions or to learn whether in fact their mates are living or dead.

But talk to medical men about the dreary, worried frustrating lives these women lead while they wait.

Doctors who have studied the problem report that even the most stable and mature such wife experiences severe emotional problems.

She must make daily decisions on her own, but constantly has the feeling she will be held accountable to her husband, when he is released, for whatever happens to the children. Yet the absence of the man in the family almost inevitably has a deleterious effect on their youngsters. The doctors say both boys and girls require a father for satisfactory progress through stages of development.

She has a continuous struggle with her self-esteem. Yet there are few acceptable ways for her to build up her own confidence.

She suffers from boredom, with the same routine day in and day out and no end in sight. A woman alone is awkward socially, at best, and almost any satisfactory social activity may burden her with a sense of guilt.

(She is having a good time while her husband is going through hell in prison.)

If her husband is missing in action, she is in even a rougher prison of her own. She has all the problems of a POW wife intensified by uncertainty over her loved-one's fate. She keeps harassing herself with these questions: Is her husband alive or dead? Will he ever return? Even if she is certain he is dead, there is considerable public pressure against her remarrying. There is always the chance, too, that if she does remarry, her missing husband may eventually turn up alive. These two pressures can destroy the chances that her remarriage will be successful. Yet she knows she is aging and lonely and cannot wait in this limbo for too long.

What is worst of all, perhaps, for the wife of a prisoner of war, is what is likely to happen emotionally when her husband does come home, the doctors say. Because of her worries and the impossible problems she now faces, she is likely to build up a sort of idealized dream about what life will be like when the family can all be together.

She may tend to believe all her difficulties will be resolved and that "everything will be perfect." Doctors say the life after reunion won't be perfect of course, human beings being human, and they worry that the reality (as contrasted with her dreams) will likely result in a tremendous emotional letdown.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Bloodstream

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my doctor that I have "triglycerides," and when I asked for an explanation in layman's language, he said it would require weeks of studying to understand that. I would cooperate with more confidence if I could get a proper explanation. I would appreciate any help. — M. S.

Triglycerides are fatty substances that accumulate in the bloodstream, and whose level should be kept within bounds because of the contribution of these fats to atherosclerosis (arterial hardening).

I'll agree with your doctor that it isn't easy to put it all in layman's language, but since there's a considerable similarity to the problem of cholesterol, I've tried to write an understandable explanation of triglycerides into my booklet on cholesterol.

So for what I can tell you about triglycerides, send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and ask for my booklet on "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly."

water, off and on, day and night. He stays on his low cholesterol diet pretty well, though. — R.L.V.

Well, it's dandy that he sticks to his diet, but that has nothing to do with the rest of it.

In the first place, an aspirin schedule like that isn't going to do much for his migraines, if anything, and I should think that after 52 years he'd try something else.

He may well have the type of stomach that becomes irritated by the constant aspirin. So he takes soda — which in turn upsets the normal chemical balance of his stomach juices.

His stomach cramps are not at all surprising under the circumstances, and if he keeps up that routine I'd expect his stomach distress to stay as bad as it is.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have a boy, 2, and plan another baby soon. I have been on "the pill" for two years. What effect, if any, will it have on my second baby? Do the pills make you add on two weeks, as I've been told?

I had a hard birth the first time, and have a feeling I will again. Is this true? My doctor said it was because our baby was too big for me. He was almost 9 pounds, and I am small-boned. — W. H.

The pill won't have any effect on the second baby. Whether you become pregnant right away is not predictable. Some women do; some don't.

What do you mean by "add on two weeks?" A longer pregnancy? Well, the pill won't cause that.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Unlike Senator McGovern, my opponent WAS able to stir up a sense of outrage in voters..."

The Market

Peace rumors continue to affect the New York Stock Market, first one way and then the other, but the impact is not as dramatic as it was several weeks or months ago. New economic strengths have been building up which influence the market.

And the overall effect of a ceasefire when it occurs may have already been largely discounted by the financial marts. The big board especially frequently anticipates important events, so that when they occur the effect on prices is minimal.

But no two situations are precisely alike and day-by-day occurrences such as the stock market's reaction to important developments which can be expected to affect the economy have been known to surprise most of the "experts." What will happen this time is anybody's guess.

And that's about all it can be at the moment, complicated as it is by the approaching election.

MR. SPECTATOR

History Was Made

Vice-President Agnew missed making history at the Twin Falls City-County Airport by about eight minutes.

As it was, he was a passenger in the second Boeing 727 jet in history to land on the new runway at the field. The first jet of that type to make it — just those eight minutes ahead of Agnew's plane last Monday — was filled with national newsmen so they had the honor of riding in on the first big Boeing 727 plane to land here since the new runway came into being.

However, to be perfectly fair about this entire thing — the newsmen were on the third 727 to ever land here and Agnew was on the fourth.

The first tri-jet to touch down in Twin Falls came in the year 1970 during the winter season and was a United Airlines plane from Minneapolis carrying a load of businessmen enroute to Sun Valley for a week of skiing.

Second 727 to come in here was in February (as we remember it) of 1971 and came in to pick up more than 100 farmers and their wives going to Moline, Illinois to tour the John Deere plant at that point on a trip sponsored by Gem Equipment Co., of Twin Falls.

So that's it — proving the local field is now capable of handling the bigger jets than the DC-9's used by Airwest and that the capability will increase to a greater extent when the instrument landing system is completed early next year and the control tower is erected before that year is out. Then when the new runway is lengthened some 1,200 feet it will be capable of handling just about any jet which will be economical to operate in this area.

And, just for the records, the first two 727 jets landing here on the old runway were United Airlines planes. The two bringing in Agnew and members of his party and the press team were from American Airlines — the first to use the new runway.

REGISTERED?

If you are not then you had better get the job done right away. Go to your neighborhood registrar or to the courthouse in the county where you live. You cannot vote unless you register.

And if there is any reason to believe you will be out of town election day, or being operated on or some such thing — you can vote absentee. All you have to do is go to the courthouse and tell them you want to vote absentee. They will let you vote — it's as simple as that.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

THE WEATHER

Ever notice this time of year how many people start talking about Arizona, California, Hawaii, Mexico or the Caribbean? Hawaii is a real nice place along about February — and it just happens the Times-News tour will go right at that time. So hang on and we'll have the particulars real soon. Hawaii in February — what a life!

Church accuses Nixon

By United Press International
Sen. Frank Church, campaigning in Lewiston, said Tuesday that Richard Nixon has become the "whirling dervish of American politics."

He said opponents keep saying that Sen. George McGovern often switches his positions, but he added that President Nixon "promised a balanced budget and gave us a hundred-billion dollar deficit instead."

He said Nixon was "the man who said he didn't want wage and price controls, and then invoked them; the man who campaigned to preserve the value of American money, and then devalued the dollar."

Speaking at a Lewiston fund raising dinner Tuesday night, second District congressional hopeful Ed Williams said the first step in the battle to halt inflation is to tell the American people the truth.

"An economic policy from Washington that encourages unemployment under the guise of stopping inflation is a cruel hoax on the working families of America," the Democrat from Meridian said.

"Too many advantages have been given to the giant corporate interests, and the working men and women have had to bear too much of the economic burden," he told the dinner gathering.

Stumping Parma and Nampa, Republican first district hopeful Steve Symms said recent criticism concerning the development of public lands by private enterprise was simply a "political smokescreen designed to confuse voters."

"It's time the voters knew the facts on this issue," Symms said. "I have never advocated selling off all the public lands."

"It's so hard to get the truth in this campaign that maybe it's time we rename Hells Canyon the McGovern-Williams credibility gap," he said.

In Aberdeen meanwhile, Republican Senate nominee James A. McClure said the promises of politicians to farmers and ranchers for 100 per cent parity has "been promised so long it has a dull ring."

The congressman from Payette, on the final leg of his three-week campaign tour through the state, said, "the farmers and ranchers are entitled to 100 per cent parity but it appears the only way to achieve this is to get the price paid for the products up."

McClure said he will seek committee assignments that will be "of the most benefit to the farmer and rancher in Idaho" if elected to the Senate.

Democratic senate nominee William E. Davis said Tuesday if elected he would appoint a research team to investigate the impact of reclamation and irrigation projects on resident farmers.

Campaigning in Moscow, Davis said the research should be conducted by a non-political unit.

Chile in dangerous period

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—President Salvador Allende said Tuesday night that Chile is passing through an extraordinarily dangerous and abnormal time. He said 33 acts of sabotage were committed during two weeks of nationwide strikes.

His opponents, Allende said, will not be permitted to endanger the peace of the country.

The strikes entered their third week today with no end in sight.

Some trade groups said they were discussing possible informal contacts with the government but no negotiations were scheduled in the crisis that has crippled business.

The army gave no indication when it will lift the midnight-to-6 a.m. curfew in Santiago and four other provinces. It ordered safe conducts renewed for another week, indicating possible extension of the curfew.

Thousands of opponents of the Allende regime remained home Tuesday, paralyzing parts of Santiago and other major cities, in a "day of silence" to protest the Marxist-led government's handling of the labor disputes.

Hostages rescued in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Police firing teargas charged the fifth floor of the Travis County jail late Tuesday and rescued three hostages held by prisoners in an unsuccessful escape attempt.

No one was injured. Order was restored about an hour after two jailers and a nurse were captured by four prisoners who tried to trade the hostages' lives for their freedom.

Sheriff T.O. Lang ordered his men to leave their pistols and shotguns downstairs and charge the fifth floor only with teargas. The hostages were being held with broken sharpened broomsticks at their throats.

"The police had no weapons, so they just had to grab the troublemakers and manhandle them," said Lang.

During the hour-long confrontation, 140 other inmates in the cell block, reserved for convicted murderers, robbers, burglars and other serious offenders, encouraged the escape try by banging on their cell doors.

Lang, who has been accused in the past of brutality in the jail, sent deputies into the streets to grab passersby to see the incident as "unbiased observers."

Deputies took B.C. Todd, the manager of a shoe store, and Russell Griggs, a social worker with the welfare department, to the fifth floor to see how Lang and his men handled the situation.

"They came and picked me up on the street and asked me if I'd volunteer," said Todd.

2 Nobel winners named

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — John R. Hicks of Britain and Kenneth J. Arrow of the United States today won the 1972 Nobel prize for economic science, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences announced.

Hicks and Arrow were awarded for "their pioneering contributions to the general economic equilibrium theory and welfare theory," the academy said.

The economy award is worth $100,000 like the other Nobel awards. But it is not one of the original prizes. It was instituted four years ago by the Bank of Sweden in memory of Alfred Nobel.

Hicks, of All Souls College in Oxford, England, and Arrow of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., will share the prize.

Hicks, born in 1904, was educated at Oxford and then taught at the London School of Economics from 1926 to 1935. He served as a lecturer at Cambridge until 1938 when he was appointed a professor at the University of Manchester.

He moved back to Oxford as a professor 1946.

Arrow, born 1921, took his masters degree at Columbia University, New York, in 1940 and his Ph.D. in 1951.

He served in the U.S. armed forces 1942 to 1946 then started his scientific career as a research member of the Cowles Commission in Chicago. Arrow became a professor of economic science of statistics at Stanford University in 1949 and moved to Harvard in 1968.

He served as an economic adviser to President John F. Kennedy in 1962 when he was a member of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Arrow is the third American to win the prize which has been awarded three times before. In 1970 Paul A. Samuelson was awarded and last year Russian-born U.S. economist Simon Kuznets won the prize.

He is also the eighth American to win a share in the 1972 Nobel awards. Americans have earlier won the awards.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again — Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast. Minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

All but one report funds

BOISE (UPI) — All but one of Idaho's candidates for the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives have met a deadline for submitting figures on their campaign expenses and receipts.

By federal law the candidates are required to submit the figures to the secretary of state 15 days before the general election. Candidates were given a one-day extension because the deadline fell on Monday, Veterans Day.

William E. Davis has yet to file his campaign statement. Rep. James A. McClure, Republican candidate for Idaho's vacant seat in the U. S. Senate, said in his statement that he has received $191,285 thus far in his campaign and spent $183,294.

Steve Symms, Republican candidate from the first congressional district, said he has spent $59,145, offset by receipts of $63,893.

Democratic congressional candidate from the first district, Ed Williams, said in a report he has received $37,448 and spent $18,383.

Conclave set today on Indochina peace moves

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lao-tian Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma flies to the United States today to confer with Secretary of State William P. Rogers on the latest Indochina peace moves.

The Laotian embassy said Prince Souvanna would fly to New York from Paris this evening and come to Washington Thursday.

Social service work coordination promised

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus announced Tuesday the office of the federal-state coordinator has stepped up its efforts to work closer with state agencies involved with social service delivery in Idaho.

Andrus said in the past there has been no real effort to coordinate the activities of the various departments involved in the social service system.

"Eliminating waste and costly duplication along with providing increased services to the people at the local level is the primary motivation for this action," the governor remarked.

His federal-state coordinator, Roy Haney, will direct the multiple agency effort.

News Of Servicemen

EDEN — E I Jarrett L. Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Haral, Eden, is at home visiting with relatives and friends.

Roach attended Valley High School and enlisted in the Navy in July, 1972.

He has just finished 14 weeks of fleet prep schooling, Memphis, Tenn., and will be stationed at Miramar, Calif., where he will be stationed before overseas assignments.

He is the grandson of Effie Hudson, Buhl.

Secretary week for Gem State

TWIN FALLS — This is Legal Secretaries Week in Idaho, and members of the Magic Valley Legal Secretaries are urging citizens to recognize the services of this group.

Gov. Cecil Andrus has proclaimed the week in honor of legal secretaries, pointing out the association of Legal Secretaries' function is to increase the skill, competence and usefulness of legal secretaries, not for their benefit alone but in order that they may better serve their employers and the people of the state.

Magic Valley association members are not planning any events but are suggesting persons who can attend the "Day In Court" program Saturday in Boise, sponsored by the Boise chapter.

A mock trial will be held under the direction of Judge J. Ray Durschi, senior district judge. A jury will be selected and attorneys argue their case. Featured speaker will be Frank Chaffant Jr., president of the Boise Bar Association.

Association members say legal secretaries seldom are able to attend court sessions because of their office schedules and many have never been in a courtroom to sit through a trial.

Dedication set Oct. 27

BOISE (UPI) — U. S. Mint Director Mary Brooks will participate in a legacy of parks dedication ceremony in Boise Oct. 27 to convey two separate pieces of property to the state.

One piece, consisting of two acres around the old assay office, will be presented to the Idaho Historical Society. The Assay office will be maintained as an historical monument.

The other piece of land will be conveyed to the city of Marsing, and consists of 200 acres of land being transferred to the city as a park and recreation area. The land is located along the Snake River.

Benefits boosted for vets

WASHINGTON (UPI)

President Nixon signed today legislation to boost educational benefits for Vietnam-era veterans by $2.5 billion over the next five years.

The measure will spell grants to eligible former servicemen to continue their full-time schooling by up to 38 per cent, retroactive to Sept. 1.

The estimated first-year cost of the program was $400 million.

Nixon signed the measure into law a day after his Democratic presidential opponent, Sen. George S. McGovern, criticized his economic policies for leaving 300,000 Vietnam veterans unemployed.

The new educational benefit schedule calls for payment to a single veteran to increase from $15 per month to $20, a hike of nearly 28 per cent.

For a married veteran, the increase would be 27 per cent, from $205 to $251 a month; if married with one child, nearly 28 per cent from $230 to $295; with an extra $18 a month for each additional child.

In addition, the measure provided for benefits to be paid one month in advance, instead of at the end of the month.

Checks going out will contain both October and November allotments, plus the extra September money if the veteran was in school that month.

Advisory post given TF lawyer

TWIN FALLS — Douglas D. Kramer, Twin Falls, has been named to a newly-created private resources advisory committee of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Ten private resources advisory committees are being established nationally to advise OEO regional directors on ways to stimulate the involvement of business and industry in poverty-related programs.

Kramer is a Twin Falls attorney and serves as Republican Party Central Committee chairman for Twin Falls County.

News Of Servicemen

GOODING — Sgt. Terry L. Mink is a member of a squadron which has earned the U. S. Air Force outstanding unit award.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Mink, Gooding, and a 1968 graduate of Gooding High School.

Sergeant Mink is assigned at the U. S. Air Force Academy, Colo. as a supply specialist with the 1878th Communications Squadron which received the award for exceptionally meritorious service.

TWIN FALLS — S-Sgt. Raymond E. Clark, and his unit at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S. D., have been honored for rescue and recovery work during the flash flood in Rapid City, S. D., in June.

The flood took at least 216 lives and damaged property beyond the $100 million mark. Ellsworth personnel assisted in initial emergency relief efforts and for the next month helped the city clean up.

Sergeant Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Clark, Twin Falls. He was a 1960 graduate of Twin Falls High School and attended the University of Idaho. He has served 15 months in Southeast Asia.

He is currently an inflight rescue technician with the Strategic Air Command's 28th Bomb Wing.

BUHL — Lt. Col. Edwin C. Hudson is chief of consolidated base personnel, Strategic Air Command, 488th Missile Wing, which has received an award for meritorious service.

The wing given for rescue and recovery work during and after the flash flood in Rapid City, S. D. June 3-10, was for U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit.

Colonel Hudson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hudson, Buhl. He is a 1951 graduate of Castleford High School, and earned his B. S. degree in 1955 from the University of Idaho.

Silent newsman released

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Carrying a brown paper bag with his prison number scrawled on it, newsman Peter Bridge left the jail where he had spent 21 days for refusing to answer grand jury questions. "I won in the end, I think," he said.

Bridge was the first newsman imprisoned for contempt of court since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled June 20 that newsmen could be compelled to answer grand jury questions concerning crime.

Superior Court Judge James R. Giuliano said Tuesday the Essex County Grand Jury accused the reporter for the defunct Newark Evening News of "a misguided reliance upon principle, especially when such reliance interdicts an attempt to obtain full disclosure of the facts."

Bridge, 36, said he would be willing to stick by his principles and go to jail for the same reasons again.

He walked out of the Essex County Jail Tuesday when Giuliano dismissed the grand jury and ordered Bridge freed. Bridge said he was notified of the move five minutes before his court appearance.

He was jailed Oct. 4 for a term to last as long as the grand jury. It finished its investigation of the Newark Housing Authority (NHA) 10 days ago, but law required that Bridge not be released for another 10 days so public officials named by the grand jury could have time to appear. The jury found there was no substance to allegations that organized crime had been involved in the selection of the NHA's director.

Dressed in a green blazer and black trousers, Bridge told newsmen, "The prosecutor won in court, I won in the end, I think."

He carried a brown paper bag with his clothes and personal effects inside and his jail number, 1238-C, scrawled in black crayon on the outside.

"My plans right now are to go home," he said. He is thinking about writing articles and perhaps a book about his experience.

Agnew helps, Mitchell doesn't, Republican campaign reports say

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has contributed to President Nixon's re-election campaign, but John N. Mitchell has not. Secretary of State William P. Rogers has chipped in, but Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has not.

These were only a few of the names gleaned from the hundreds of pages of Republican contributors made public Monday by the General Accounting Office (GAO).

The accounting, required by law 15 days before the election, showed that the Republican financial situation is still healthier than that of their opponents—but the Democrats have been gaining.

The reporting period covered the six weeks ending Oct. 16. During that time, Nixon's forces collected about $13 million and spent about $10.5 million. The committees for the election of Sen. George McGovern in the same period received about $9 million and spent about the same amount. But the record also shows the McGovern campaign had debts amounting to $2,862,578.

The GAO furnished a breakdown of Republican contributions Tuesday, but was not yet prepared with the listing of McGovern contributors. GAO employees said the national McGovern for President Committee report would run to 2,000 pages or more, in addition to the smaller committees.

Virtually the only surprise in the latest bundle of financial disclosures was the fact that the Democrats for Nixon Committee is running almost $600,000 in the red. That committee, headed by former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, as of Oct. 16 had $265,525.95 in cash on hand but owed $856,798.32.

Agnew contributed $1,000 to the finance committee. Rogers, the only current cabinet officer to ante up so far, contributed, with his wife, $5,000.

Other famous names on one or more of the Nixon committees included Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and later Secretary of Commerce under the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Gordon Gray, secretary of the Army under the late President Harry Truman; Dr. George S. Wise, chancellor of Tel Aviv University, and Mrs. Wise, who listed a New York address; Walter Knott of California's famous Knott's Berry Farm; Mrs. Herbert Hoover Jr., of Pasadena, and George S. Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears professional football team.

The entertainment world was represented by Fred Astaire, Gene Autry, Morton Downey and Ralph Edwards. The pian Nixon has called a "second father," Elmer Bobst of New York, has contributed at least $8,000.

The biggest contributors have included J. Paul Getty, sometimes referred to as the world's richest man; Jack J. Dreyfus Jr., chairman of the board of the Dreyfus Fund, who has contributed at least $15,000; Joseph S. Farland, U. S. Ambassador to Iran; John Hay Whitney, mortgage guarantors Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Rogan, among others.

Executives of the Loeb-Rhoades brokerage firm of New York were well represented. John L. Loeb gave at least $9,000; John Loeb Jr., gave at least $5,000; Henry A. Loeb gave at least $3,000, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Loeb III gave at least $1,000.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Krusch of Roanoke gave $3,281.21, and Mr. and Mrs. Joel Krusch of Roanoke gave $4,281.20. Both are executives of American Motor Inns. The Houghtons of Corning Glass chipped in, too: Mr. and Mrs. Amory Houghton with $5,000, James R. Houghton with $1,000, and Amory Houghton Jr. with $2,500.

Orange debris not Boggs sign

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—A piece of orange-colored debris floating in the Gulf of Alaska proved a false clue Tuesday in the 10-day-old search for House Majority Leader Hale Boggs and three companions who disappeared in a light plane.

The debris turned out to be only a pallet from a ship's cargo hold, ending two hours of suspense which started when an Air Force search crew spotted the debris about 30 miles off the Alaska panhandle. "We did not lower anyone down to the water, but the crew said to the best they could determine, it was an orange wooden pallet about three by one-half feet and other small pieces of wood," said Col. Earl Ray at Air Force search headquarters.

27 arrested on weekend

TWIN FALLS — Twenty-seven arrests were made during the holiday weekend deer hunting in the South Hills, Idaho Fish and Game Department officials reported today.

The majority of the hunters issued citations had improperly tagged or untaged deer in their possession, officers said.

Of the total arrests, 21 were for possession or transportation of untaged or improperly tagged deer.

The permit hunt opened Saturday with about 40 per cent of the hunters being successful, fish and game department records show.

Other arrests this weekend included one hunter apprehended in the forest area with a deer but no license and no tag or permit. Two were arrested for having deer but no permits; two others were arrested for taking more than their limit of deer and one hunter was charged with transfer of a tag.

Most of the violations involved party hunting, officials said, in which several hunters go into the field with one permit. These are difficult to prove unless the officers happen on the party and make the arrest, officials said. Two dead and abandoned animals were found and investigation is underway. Officers said 2,000 permits were issued in unit 54 alone, with hunting continuing in units 54, 55, 56 and 57. Many fawns were taken by hunters in unit 54, officers said.

No hunting accidents involving death or injury of hunters were reported during the weekend.

Receives funds

PAT SMEDLEY, education major at the College of Southern Idaho, received a $200 Magic Valley Alpha Delta Kappa Association scholarship. Presenting the scholarship certificate is David Perkins, CSI director of student services.

Campaign funds told

BOISE (UPI) — Willis Ludlow reported Tuesday he has taken in $7,224.55 so far in his campaign for Congress from Idaho's second district. Of these contributions, Ludlow reported, he has spent $5,897.84.

Used vehicle sale at Salmon

SALMON — Used vehicles for sale may be inspected at the Salmon National Forest from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays until Nov. 3.

The sale was announced by Roy N. Vernstrom, administrator of General Services Administration Pacific Northwest Region.

The sale includes a pickup, stake, brush chipper, mobile incinerator and house trailer, Vernstrom said.

Further information may be obtained from GSA Business Service Center, Federal Office Building, Seattle, Wash. 98104, telephone 442-5556.

Secretary of state raps proposal

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's constitutional amendment to force legislature will have to meet the legislature to reorganize the year around for two years in executive branch by Jan. 1, order to reorganize the functions of state government into 20 agencies.

Cenarrusa said the State of State Pete Cenarrusa said Tuesday. Cenarrusa said because of the politics involved in such an undertaking there is no way it could be accomplished in that short a time without year around sessions.

He made the comment in criticizing a proposed con-

He said the move is not to "reduce" the number of agencies but to "consolidate" their functions into 20 agencies. He said this will not eliminate any functions of government. Rather, he said, it eventually may increase the number of governmental functions.

Make reservations now on float trip

SALMON — If you plan to float the Middle Fork of the Salmon River next summer you will have to have a reservation. Reservations are now being taken by the U. S. Forest Service.

Richard Estes, "wild river" ranger who handles the Middle Fork program, said a reservation permit system is being instituted to assure river visitors an experience of "solitude."

"We feel one of the important ingredients in a wild river experience is at least a feeling of solitude as opposed to going down some other river with huge numbers of people," Estes said.

"This past season we exceeded what we felt was the overall capacity of the river during 14 days in July. This involved every camping site occupied which we felt was a complete over-use of the river."

Estes noted that during a 72-day season, June 26 through Sept. 6, 3,972 persons were counted on the river which is 722 persons more than the year before.

Under the reservation system, persons planning to float the river next summer will have to write Estes, with office in Salmon, for information.

"Through correspondence with this office the person will inform us of the date he wishes to go onto the river and we will reserve that date for him," Estes explained.

"We will reserve that date or if that date happens to be filled we will reserve the nearest date to the date they would like to go."

Estes said that the past season he found that more than 50 per cent of the river visitors made advance preparations. This broke down to about 93 per cent of the out-of-staters making advance preparations such as telling dates, requesting maps and other information.

Salmon River studied for national system

By BOB JOHNSON

Special to the Times-News

SALMON — The Wild and Scenic Rivers Act provides rules under which a river can be included in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

It must be a free-flowing stream with the related adjacent land area possessing outstanding remarkable scenic, recreational, geologic, fish and wildlife, historic, cultural, or other similar values.

The Salmon River, from North Fork to its mouth, is being studied for possible inclusion in the national rivers system.

Development and non-development are characteristic of the Salmon in this section. The major development is in the Riggins-White Bird area.

The areas showing the least development are the lower river and that section which splits the Idaho Primitive Area and the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area.

The Salmon River has been determined as eligible to be included in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

The Forest Service, which directs the study, has provided tentative classification for various sections of the river.

The classification should not be construed as a recommendation or proposal but can be used by study participants as an indicator for evaluation of potential beneficial and/or adverse impacts of major water resource development and classification alternatives.

From the mouth of the Salmon to White Bird Creek, a distance of 53.6 miles: A free flowing segment. Three stretches of relatively inconspicuous roads parallel the river for short distances; the longest being five miles. Shorelines and watersheds present an overall natural character, but in places land has been developed for agricultural purposes.

There are few habitations, but no concentrated residential improvements. This segment tentatively qualifies as a Scenic River area with possibly some segments qualifying as Wild River areas.

White Bird Creek to end of road east of Riggins, 57.9 miles: The river is closely paralleled by U.S. Highway 95 for approximately 33 miles and by well-traveled gravel road for approximately 25 miles. Shorelines have been developed for agriculture use, small communities and dispersed residential development. This segment tentatively qualifies as a recreational river area.

End of road east of Riggins to Big Mallard Creek: A free-flowing segment 42 miles in length. Two unsurfaced, low standard roads lead to the river. One road is virtually screened as viewed from the river; the other being fairly conspicuous as it traverses the north canyon slope. Conspicuous dwellings or groups of dwellings are found at one per six-mile density. This segment tentatively qualifies as a scenic or wild river area.

Big Mallard Creek to Corn Creek: A free-flowing segment 37.3 miles in length. Access is limited to trail, jetboat and float boat. Two private land parcels occupied by inconspicuous dwellings are within this segment. Forest Service improvements at Lantz Bar are conspicuous, but subject to modification. Watersheds are natural appearing. This segment tentatively qualifies as a wild river area.

Corn Creek to North Fork: A free-flowing segment 46.3 miles in length. A well-traveled gravel road parallels the river with 18 miles of paving in the last section. Shorelines have been developed in places for agriculture (pasture, orchard) use and dispersed residential use. This segment tentatively qualifies as a recreational river area.

The Salmon River flows through or forms a common boundary between Lemhi, Idaho, Lewis and Nezperce counties.

The estimated 1970 population of these counties totals 52,700 with a population density of 36 persons per square mile. The 1965 estimated populations of the largest communities within the study reach area: Riggins, 588, and White Bird, 253.

Most of the population of the counties included within the Salmon River study area is located outside the basin.

Major road access to the Salmon River area from the east is U.S. Highway 93 and on the west is U.S. Highway 95.

U.S. Highway 95 enters the basin west of New Meadows, follows the Little Salmon River to Riggins, continues down the main Salmon River to White Bird and leaves the basin near Grangeville.

Gravel roads parallel the Salmon River downstream from Spring Creek 28 miles and from Riggins upstream for 28 miles.

Within the essentially roadless segment from Corn Creek to near Vinegar Creek are two gravel roads which provide access to the river. One enters the river area at Little Mallard Creek on the Whitewater Ranch; the other enters the area near Mackay Bar. These roads enter from the north and provide access during the summer months only.

A gravel road enters the area between White Bird and the Snake River by way of Rock Creek south of Cottonwood, and a jeep road from the Lewiston, Craigmont and Waha region down Eagle Creek provides access to the lower Salmon River.

An inconspicuous primitive road parallels the Salmon River for approximately five miles in the vicinity of Eagle Creek and Wapshilla Creek.

There are public and/or private airport facilities at Mackay Bar, Riggins and Slate Creek. Airstrips exist at Campbell Ferry and Shepp Ranch.

Forest Service trails parallel the river from the end of the road at Corn Creek to Lantz Bar, from Bear Creek to Mackay Bar and from Crooked Creek to Sheep Creek.

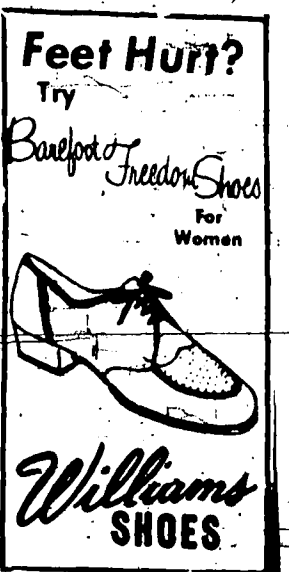

These trails are on the north bank of the river. "The River of No Return" is probably most famous nationally for its float and jetboating qualities.

The Salmon is a steeply flowing river with an average gradient of more than 11 feet per mile in the study section. Gradients range from an average of 14.8 feet per mile in the upper reach to an average of 9.7 feet in the lower reach between Slate Creek and the Snake.

From North Fork to the Snake, 76 rapids and falls, varying in length from a few hundred feet to over a mile, are encountered.

The Forest Service evaluation of the Salmon River from North Fork to its confluence with the Snake River notes the Salmon River generally has outstanding scenic qualities; there is an extremely wide variety of wildlife habitats; the Salmon River system contains an abundance of different fish species represented by both the anadromous and resident groups.

Nixon probing quietly in case

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Nixon is "quietly" checking into the possible involvement of White House staff members in the Watergate case, according to CBS.

CBS newsman Daniel Schorr reported on Monday evening that Nixon had ordered White House assistant John Dean to reopen his investigation into alleged links between administration staff members and June 17 break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex.

It is believed that the Dean inquiry was resumed after President Nixon was cautioned by acting FBI director Patrick

Gray that the agency had established more serious direct links to the White House than the President might know about, Schorr said in his televised newscast.

"One presidential aide, asking not to be named, told CBS News, 'Don't expect the President to admit anything before the election, but a lot of people in the White House are appalled at how far things got out of hand.'"

Nixon has said previously that no one now employed in the White House was involved with the alleged espionage and sabotage of the Democratic headquarters campaign.

According to Schorr, Dean interviewed White House aide Dwight Chapin and Donald Segretti, a California attorney who some reports alleged helped coordinate a nationwide system with the purpose of disrupting the Democratic campaign and to manufacture false and embarrassing campaign material.

"I have absolutely nothing to say. If anything is to be said, Ron (Ziegler) will say it," Chapin said when questioned during Nixon's New York campaign appearance.

A White House spokesman later refused to comment.

Dinner at Jerome

JEROME — Shriners and their guests are invited to attend the Wood River Shrine Club dinner dance Saturday at the Wood Cafe, Jerome.

The Wood River group invites other Shriners to attend the dinner beginning at 8 p.m. followed by dancing to live music.

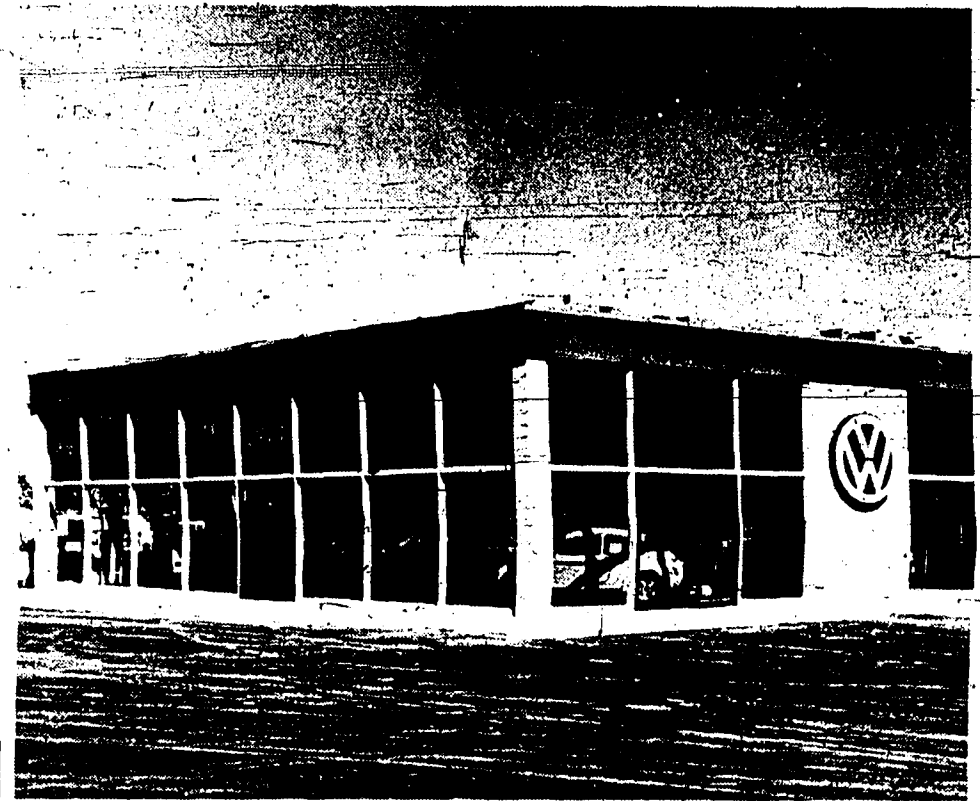

Plans will be discussed for the annual food caravan to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Salt Lake City. The caravan will leave Magic Valley Nov. 11.

Wait for boats

THE SALMON RIVER has 57.9 miles of highway and road from White Bird Creek to the end of the road at Vinegar Creek east of Riggins. Here three jet boats arrive to pick up a party waiting at road's end. Upstream from here the Salmon runs through the primitive area.

Africa's Kalahari region bushmen never take women on a hunt or allow them to touch arrows. They believe that to do either brings bad luck.

Look what we got ourselves into.

If you need an excuse to get out of the house this weekend, come to Blue Lakes Volkswagen. We're having a Grand Opening.

We've got a beautiful new building, and a completely new service department.

To celebrate, we're having a Grub-in-a-Bug contest. If you can guess the retail value of the groceries we've stuffed in a new beetle, you'll win all that food for your very own.

We'll have all the free refreshments you can eat, and all the new Volkswagens you can look at.

For starters, the '73 Super Beetle has a change you can actually notice.

If that's not exciting enough, our big 411 sedan has been redesigned and renamed. It's now the 412, and it's something to behold.

But be sure to look at the '72 VW's we still have left. Because every one comes with free service and maintenance for 1 year or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.*

All you pay for is the gas.

Just remember. The free service offer ends when the last '72 is gone.

So come visit the bigger and better Blue Lakes Volkswagen this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

We've gotten ourselves into something we're pretty proud of. Maybe we can do the same for you.

Springdale school to reopen Nov. 6

SPRINGDALE — Classes will probably not resume at Springdale Elementary School before Nov. 6, a week later than previous estimates. Robert Larsen, supervisor of the school district's buildings and grounds, said installation of a new sewage system and drilling of a new water well were progressing smoothly, but the projects could not be completed by next Monday, the tentative reopening date set two weeks ago by school administrators.

Springdale Elementary was closed Oct. 11 after the South Central District Health Department, Twin Falls, found intestinal bacteria in the water supply. The school's 211 pupils have been bused to Declo and Burley teaching sites since Oct. 16, while the school district builds new sewage and water systems under health department orders. Larsen said construction of the sewage system is the more time-consuming of the two projects. Although the concrete septic tank is nearly completed, installation of a pump to bring sewage from the school's basement to the tank and preparation of a drain field will take several days, according to Larsen. The school district decided to build its own sewage system after a commercial vendor said delivery of a septic tank would take three weeks. Rex Weech, a school-hired well driller, said he had reached a depth of 235 feet by noon Tuesday and expected to drill at least 50 feet deeper in reaching a water supply that would also permit sprinkler irrigation. He said the operation would take three or four more working days to complete. Parents and teachers have been cooperative in the emergency effort, according to Assistant Supt. Norman Hurst. He said some Springdale students are now being picked up along the normal bus routes. The busing plan initially called for all students to be brought to Springdale, where they were shuttled to Declo and Burley.

Projects under way

INSTALLATION of a new sewage system and drilling a new water well at Springdale Elementary School are progressing, but the project can't be completed by Monday as planned. Classes will probably not resume before Nov. 6. The 211 pupils have been bused to Declo and Burley teaching sites since Oct. 16.

Shop usage asked

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Use of the Hailey shoe shop as a vocational education center was proposed Tuesday night to the Blaine County School Board. Richard Jones, director of special services for the district, said presently eight students have need for such a facility. The matter was tabled for further study. Board chairman William Mallory said the idea "seems to have a great deal of merit" and is a possible means of reaching more students.

If the board decides to use the space, the abandoned building and equipment could be converted to offer training in leather crafts, shoe and small motor repair, and crafts which would tie in with the students' reading and math work, Jones said.

The special services director said he will compute cost figures and determine what grant funds may be available.

In other action, Walter Hoessel, on-site coordinator for the Northwestern University directed study for a new high school, said the study's steering committee is currently reviewing the interview format for a questionnaire to determine the community's expectations for schools.

A trip to Aspen, Colo., to study that district's schools was planned for today and Thursday.

Scheduled speaker at a general meeting of the study group, Nov. 9, is a school consultant who is a proponent of the plan or smaller schools with as diverse a curriculum and as much individual student attention as the larger schools.

The board also discussed planning improvements for the Hemingway Grade School playground by the district with the aid of the Rotary Club. Kenneth Flora, representing the Rotary Club, attended the meeting.

Approval was given a proposed study tour of Germany by Emory Dietrich's high school German students. One-way transportation from Hailey to London will be provided by Continental Oil Co., Trustee Mrs. Jane Kneeland commended Dietrich and his students for organizing the trip.

Following the regular meeting, the trustees went into executive session with Shirl Reay, president of the Blaine County Education Association; Ray Fleming, association member; Hoessel and Jo Bowman, secretary to the board. Items discussed in the closed sessions had not been made public Wednesday morning.

National report has no effect on Gem utilities

BOISE — A recent report by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners has no effect on Idaho utilities customers.

The statement was made by R. E. Larsen, director of the utilities division of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, after the national report said the late payment charge assessed by utilities against customers is actually an interest charge that "clearly is too high."

In the report the commissioners recommended that billings state the amount of annual rate and interest. "We don't have anything like that here," Larsen said. "No interest rates, no discount rates."

He explained that unlike several states, the Idaho PUC either telephones or sends a disconnect notice after "at least" 30 days from the billing date. Then, if the customer cannot meet payments after five more days, the service is disconnected.

"We've never really thought late payment charges, interest rates or discounts were that much incentive for customers," Larsen said.

The committee report said, for example, a late payment charge of 98 cents assessed against a customer who does not pay his monthly bill of $14.02 within 15 days, amounts to an 83.9 per cent annual interest.

The report also found that 71 per cent of the states allowed the use of penalties or discounts by utilities. The more popular form of billing was net-gross discount billing.

Under this method, for instance, a customer might have a net bill of $14.02. If he pays within 15 days, otherwise, he would have to pay the gross bill of $15.

Larsen said a similar net-gross system was in effect in Idaho until about 25 years ago.

"The commission felt unanimously the customer should pay for his service and that's it — no more, no less. So we did away with it in a hurry," he said.

"All that kind of operation does in the long run is make the customer mad and less cooperative."

Residents in Burley are billed on a discount system for their utilities, however. Larsen said this is possible because the city owns its own utility system and does not come under the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission.

He said municipally owned, mutual or co-op utilities systems are considered self-governed by the customers. For this reason they are not governed by the state agency.

Larsen said they are actually exempt by the law. He said there are several other municipal water systems and rural electrical systems owned by the users in the state, which are exempt from PUC control.

In Burley, all utilities are listed on one bill from the city, covering power, garbage, water and sewer.

The total amount to be paid depends on when the customer pays the bill. The statement says the customer pays a discount price if he pays his bill on or within 10 days of receiving it.

If the bill is not paid in that 10-day period, another amount is charged. For example one customer reported a total bill of $17.10 for all utilities. If paid within the 10-day period, the customer receives an 81 cent discount and pays a total of $16.29.

After 10 days the total $17.10 had to be paid. If not paid within 15 days the bill is delinquent. If not paid within 15 days of the delinquent date, utility service is subject to discontinuation.

TF road limit check slated

TWIN FALLS — Highway districts in Twin Falls County are asking the Idaho State Police to assist in checking harvest time load limits on county roads.

Keith Andersen, engineer for the Twin Falls Highway District, said his district is working with others in an effort to reduce loads of sugar beets, potatoes and other harvest products to within legal limits on county roads as well as state and federal highways.

Andersen said he plans to ask the ISP for roving port of entry service to check weight of the trucks at various areas on county roads during the harvest season. Single axle trucks are being heavily loaded in some cases and the county roads.

many of them 25 years old, are not built to take the weight, he said.

Andersen said this is one of the harvest time problems on county roads. Slow moving vehicles and farm machinery are more predominant on the county traffic scene.

Andersen urged farmers to mark their tractors and equipment with the triangular slow moving vehicle markers and to be alert to other traffic when pulling into or out of fields and driveways on slow moving units.

The highway districts are also asking the driving public to keep these seasonal problems in mind when traveling on rural roads and to keep alert.

Area teacher hospitalized

RICHFIELD — Muriel Flavel, 47, Richfield, was hospitalized late Tuesday afternoon following a one-car accident six miles west of Richfield.

Mrs. Flavel, a teacher in the Shoshone school system, was returning to her home in Richfield after school when the accident occurred. She told the officers she apparently dozed at the wheel and the vehicle left the highway. It came to rest in the borrow pit. She suffered leg injuries and facial cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Flavel was taken by ambulance to the office of Dr. R. G. Neher in Shoshone and from there to St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome where she underwent knee surgery.

Not injured

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — All 42 children aboard escaped injury Tuesday when an Ontario school bus struck a utility pole, Oregon State Police reported.

Officers said the bus, driven by Frank D. Lawrence, 57, Ontario, apparently went out of control when the driver bent over to move a musical instrument on the floor.

They said the vehicle struck the pole knocking down the line and a fence on Oregon Avenue east of Butte Road.

Police cited Lawrence for failure to maintain control of the bus.

Annual Filer bull sale set Friday

FILER — The annual Filer Fall Range Bull Sale will be held Friday at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds in Filer.

Grading of the 207 bulls entered will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday under the direction of Piero Piva, Challis; Wade Wells, University of Idaho, and W. E. (Bill) Ross, Jordan Valley, Ore.

Auctioneers for the sale will be H. Skinner Hardy, Bakersfield, Calif., and Clinton Tschirgi, Fruitland.

The sale will begin at 11 a.m. and will feature horned Herefords, polled Herefords, black Angus, red Angus, Shorthorns and Charolais bulls, according to Robert Hinderlinder, Boise, executive vice president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association. He will be assisted by John Olson, assistant secretary of the association, Boise.

Jerome man arrested

TWIN FALLS — A Jerome man was arrested and charged with first degree burglary Tuesday by Twin Falls Police.

Stephen Bryce Schray, 18, was taken into custody in connection with the Oct. 1 burglary of items from a pickup truck owned by John R. Marshall, Jerome. The vehicle was in Twin Falls when the items were taken.

Schray has been released after posting $300 bond. A preliminary hearing has been requested in the case.

Wendell man faces charge

GOODING — Ricky Lemmons, 18, Wendell, was arrested Tuesday morning and charged with first degree burglary.

The charges and arrest were in connection with the entry of a shed behind the home of Ted Isaacs, Wendell, according to Wendell Police Chief Dale Bunn and Gooding County Deputy Sheriff Jim Burke.

The burglary allegedly occurred Monday night, the officers said. Tool boxes, oil, antifreeze and gasoline were reportedly taken.

Burke said three juveniles are also involved in the burglary and petitions will be filed against them.

Lemmons was arraigned before Magistrate Charles Shaud Tuesday and was bound over to district court after waiving a preliminary hearing of the charges. He is being held in the Gooding County jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Hopefuls campaign in Rupert

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, and his Democratic opponent, W. F. (Bill) Whitton, continued their campaign for office Tuesday evening.

Peavey and Whitton both addressed a meeting of the Rupert chapter of the Idaho State Employees Association, stating positions on several issues which have arisen.

Peavey opened with an explanation of the Idaho Personnel Commission's recent recommendation that state employees receive a 4.5 per cent pay increase. The recommendation came at a Pocatello meeting of the Legislative Fiscal-Budget Committee of which Peavey is a member.

The district 21 lawmaker then commented on his Senate campaign. Attacking Whitton's claim that if elected he would improve on the incumbent's attendance record, Peavey said that the challenger would not sit on the finance committee and would not have the time-consuming duty of off-the-floor drafting of vital legislation.

In refuting charges he has "conflicting interests," and is supported by big business, Peavey said he has battled with Idaho Power Co. over the Swan Falls-Guffey reclamation project. He said he favored 100 per cent state participation in the project and opposed the final plan which dedicated money only to be used in southwest Idaho.

He said he incurred disfavor when he amended the surface mining bill to make it more acceptable to the public interest.

Restating his belief that state methods of acquiring computer services are non-competitive and favor IBM, Peavey said, "The governor and all his Democratic henchmen can't prevent me from going back to Boise and fighting unfair computer procurement practices."

He concluded by saying a state election law should be passed to provide full disclosure of campaign contributions and set up one committee through which all moneys would pass.

Whitton opened with a statement supporting Senate Joint Resolution 132 which would reorganize the state's present 268 agencies into no more than 20 departments. "A lot of duplication will be eliminated," he said. "For instance, there are 52 state agencies that deal with agriculture in Idaho today."

He said SJR 132 would probably not eliminate jobs but might raise salaries with the savings incurred.

State employees need more benefits that would not raise their taxable income, Whitton said. He brought up Peavey's attendance record when he produced a copy of Daily Data, a legislative report and said, "Many times when the finance committee chairman, Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, was on the floor, my opponent was not on the floor."

Whitton sided with Peavey in contesting the Swan Falls-Guffey project and said the measure will result in farm produce that will compete on the market with district 21 produce.

"It probably is a good plan to have total accountability of campaign contributions," Whitton said. He said, "I won't be led around by the nose by my own personal interests."

Implementation of grant eyed

SHOSHONE — Implementation of a $50,000 grant was discussed at a meeting of the regional board of the South Central Idaho Mental Health Center, Inc., Tuesday evening.

The purpose of the initiation and development grant is to complete a staffing grant application which has been in progress for about one year.

Don Barlow, center director, reported to the board that he is interviewing a potential staff

Positions to be filled include case aide, stenographer, statistical analyst and community education worker. Anyone interested in being considered for the positions should contact the nearest employment office to arrange an interview.

Barlow is currently negotiating for office space in the Twin Falls area.

When approved, the staffing grant will provide comprehensive mental services for the entire Magic Valley.

Turner ordered to show cause

SPOKANE (UPI) — Glenn W. Turner has been ordered to show cause in Superior Court Oct. 30 why he has not complied with a consent order he signed Sept. 24, 1971 promising to reimburse disenchanted purchasers of his self-motivation series, "Dare to be Great."

Assistant state attorney general John Lamp said Turner, of Orlando, Fla., had not returned $182,510 to some 80 purchasers who sought refunds.

Superior Court Judge Raymond Kelly, who ordered the hearing, will also ask Turner to show cause why "Dare to be Great" and other Turner companies should not be permanently enjoined from doing business in the state.

Lamp said the order could also mean a contempt of court ruling against Turner and a possible $25,000 fine.

Turner, whose "Dare to be Great" sales practices have been the subject of lawsuits in other states, including Utah, agreed in 1971 to refund certain purchasers up to $5,000 if they felt they had been victims of "unfair and deceptive trade practices" when they purchased the program.

The program itself is a series of cassette tapes and seminars.

ISU meets Montana State in Big Sky title showdown

POCATELLO — Pre-season predictions had Idaho State ranked fifth and Montana State seventh in the Big Sky Conference. The two predicted also-rans are undefeated in league competition and will play for undisputed first place in the Big Sky Saturday in Bozeman. Game time is 1:30.

Idaho State bumped off Idaho 35-7. The Vandals were the pre-season favorite in the league. Montana State defeated Boise State, the pre-season selection for runner-up, 37-10. Actually the Bengals and Bobcats have had parallel seasons. MSU lost its first three and gave up points in carload lots before reversing the trend and winning the last four while allowing only two TDs and 25 points.

ISU dropped its first two tilts before righting itself and starting on a four-game win streak. The Bengals have allowed only 34 points in four games. Actually, Idaho State has a chance by winning Saturday to have a five-game win streak for the first time since 1961.

Bengal Head Coach Bob Griffin read newspaper reports of the ISU win over Idaho that called the game a hollow victory because of several injuries to Idaho defensive players. "A hollow victory?" questioned Griffin. "We thought it was a great victory and anyone who thought different is not connected with Idaho State University. We won it without two of the people we thought were going to be our main offensive weapons." Griffin was referring to split end Tom Hoffmann and tight end Mike Hancock. Hoffmann played about three-quarters of the season opener against Wyoming before reinjuring a knee and hasn't played since. Hancock has had a series of painful muscle pulls that have kept him from playing more than half of two different games.

In reflecting on the win over Idaho Griffin refused to name individual standouts, preferring to say, "It was an outstanding team effort all the way, the players, coaches, trainers, everyone wanted it badly and contributed to the win. We played a decent, big, strong, Idaho team, but our kids wanted to go out and hit them and did. Actually, our score could have been higher. We ended the first half inside their 10 and in the second half tumbled on their two."

Looking ahead to Montana State, Griffin heaped the Bobcats with praise for the outstanding season they have had. "Montana State is excellent. Offensively they have people who make the big play. Zebbie McLean runs their team well and Sam McCullum is a fine pass receiver. They have a big running back in Wayne Edwards and a talented offensive line. Defensively they have a great line led by tackle Bill Killar, who may be the best defensive lineman now playing college football anywhere."

McLean has completed nine TD passes, all to McCullum, who has caught 25 aeriels for 366 yards. McLean has completed 36 of 95 for 493 yards. Edwards, a 206-lb soph. has rushed for 637 yards, while soph fullback Don Bagley has added 399 more.

Despite Griffin's disinclination to single out individuals, Tom Lee and Tom Toner played key roles in the win over the Vandals. Lee was selected as Big Sky back of the week after completing 14 of 26 passes for 266 yards and three touchdowns. Toner was conference lineman of the week after blocking a punt and two passes from his defensive end spot, and making or assisting 15 tackles.

Recalling Robinson's great base running, Leo said: "He upset a pitcher so bad he didn't know where he was half the time. He was an alert, smart baseball player. The catcher had to have a great arm when he stole. If I had to go to war, I'd want him on my side."

Prejudice too was recalled, as Dixie Walker who hailed from deep in Georgia when he arrived in the majors, told of his own feelings when Robinson joined the Dodgers.

Ex-cager sues Iowa IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—A former University of Iowa basketball player Tuesday filed a $5 million suit against four university doctors, charging them with negligence which caused him to go blind.

The Magic Valley Conference has decided to go ahead with plans to play its playoffs against Fifth District teams in the minidome despite an increase in rent.

Last year the four teams played two games for $1200. This year they were informed the rent for two games had gone to $1725. For a while some of the teams weren't too happy with the situation. But a check of last year's records found something else. The two games pulled a total gate of $3,100, giving each team about a $400 dividend.

Duffy Holt, athletic director at ISU, explained the reason for the increase.

"We (the athletic department) have no say in the operation of the dome," said Holt. "It is run by a committee of students and faculty and while I sit in on their meetings, I have no vote. We (the ISU athletic teams) have been paying $2100 to $2400 for using the dome. So one day I asked why we had to pay so much while the high school teams were getting in at the lower rate. I was told to cover the operational and maintenance costs of the dome.

"The dome is self-supporting, only the university's low rate on electricity is provided on a pro-rated basis plus and water hook-up."

"When I found out we were subsidizing some high school games, I said to heck with that," Holt smiled. "I told them maybe we shouldn't expect a better break than outside schools but we shouldn't have to pay more. That's how the increase came about."

Holt said the additional $500 would basically be concessionaires, all those people about four hours longer for the extra game," he pointed out.

But Holt's assertion that the Magic Valley and fifth district conference, composed of smaller schools in the sub 125 enrollment level basically, wouldn't have to pay that much hasn't been borne out. The fee asked remains at $1725.

However, if the schools each net $400 as they did last year, it still constitutes its biggest single football payday.

College of Southern Idaho opens its basketball season a month from today. Coach Jerry Hale believes an extra couple weeks couldn't hurt. He currently is nursing more wounded players than he's had in the past previous three seasons.

Darrell Groves, frosh, from Twin Falls, stepped on a basketball during a melee under the basket and sustained a badly sprained ankle. The doctor told him riding a bicycle would help speed recovery.

Meanwhile, the federal boys moved in for the Spiro Agnew visit and made some changes, one being a rope cordon along closest access from the parking lot to the gymnasium. This rope was put up at least 24 hours in advance of the visit and no one connected with CSI was informed.

So about dark Monday night Groves was pedalling around the campus. He was unable to see the rope across the sidewalk he was riding. The rope stopped the bike while Groves went head over heels onto the cement. How long he was "unconscious out there isn't known — probably not more than a half hour. But he was incoherent for about 12 hours thereafter. Fears of broken bones in the shoulder and neck area proved unfounded, although he is a badly bruised and aching young man.

Meanwhile, 6-10 Vince Volmut is experiencing severe heel problems, which Coach Hale fears could be Achilles tendon woes, one of the most damaging in an athlete's life. Sophomore forward Steve Swanson has a sprain so severe he might have been better off with a break.

From the scouting side, 6-4 frosh guard Ron Fryson improves daily and will be a local favorite. Willie Williams and Rick Sobers continue to impress as always. Coach Hale also believes three freshmen are coming rapidly and will be extremely helpful this year. Not the least of these is 6-3 Shelley grad Curtis Thompson.

Despite losing one of its two tall men for disciplinary reasons, Coach Hale says he figures out quite well on the boards. "We aren't very big but the overall jumping ability is excellent," he reports.

work-side by side. This nation to which he gave so much in his lifetime will miss Jackie Robinson, but his example will continue to inspire us for years to come."

In Versailles, Ky., "Happy" Chandler, the man who may have lost his job as commissioner of baseball when he went against the club owners and opened the gates for Robinson, recalled that historic decision.

"The only question I asked Mr. Rickey was 'Can this boy play?' said Chandler. "Then I said, 'All right, I'm not going to have it on my conscience that I deprived this young man of an opportunity to make a living in this sport or deprive the fans of America of a chance to see him play. I think my decision might have cost me the commissioner's job because all the fellow (owners) seemed to hold it against me."

"I've never regretted my decision to let Jackie Robinson play ball."

In the bar of the Social Order of Elks Lodge in New Port, Pa., Billy Cox, the Dodger third baseman at the time of Jackie's greatest years, said Robinson "was a helluva ballplayer, and he started it all for the black players, which was good. He was an inspiration to all of us."

On the campus of the University of South Alabama, the baseball coach Eddie Stanky said "Baseball has just lost one of the greatest players that ever put on a pair of spikes."

In Fallbrook, Calif. another teammate remembered more than the baseball days. Duke Snider, who played with Jackie all the years, said: "I watched him play (football) for Pasadena and UCLA. He was an idol of mine...He went through so much at the start of his career, the abuse he had to take. One thing stands out—there were so many different ways he could beat you. Jackie Robinson is probably the greatest competitor I have ever known."

Carl Erskine, whose pitching greatness was enhanced by the fielding Jackie did behind him, said in Anderson, Ind. "Emphasis is brought now more than ever to what he stood for. I know Jackie had tragedy in his

UCLA cops Sooners' rush lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—UCLA is using the Wishbone to pull apart the defense and carry the Bruins to the head of the class in rushing offense.

The Bruins ended Oklahoma's 14-week reign as national leader as UCLA perfected the Wishbone formation to pick up 2,672 yards in seven games this season for a 381.7 per game average.

Oklahoma's poor showing against Colorado last Saturday also cost the Sooners their lead in total offense, with Arizona State going to the top on a 497.3 yards average for six games.

Nebraska is the nation's scoring leader with 298 points in six games for a 49.7 average and Virginia Tech leads in passing offense with a 305.0 game average.

Celts stay undefeated

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Jo Jo White scored 28 points and Don Nelson hit two free throws and a basket late in the game to lead the undefeated Boston Celtics to a 105-97 win over the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night.

The Celtics started off fast and held a 54-37 halftime advantage. The Braves chipped away at the Boston lead and cut the deficit to 79-74 after three periods.

Buffalo tied the contest at 93-93 on a jump shot by Elmore Smith and went ahead when Smith scored on a tip-in with 3:43 left in the fourth quarter. Smith, the Braves' 7-foot center, picked up his sixth foul with 3:11 remaining and Nelson sank both free throws.

Nelson hit a 20-foot set shot to put Boston ahead for good, 97-95, with 2:49 left in the contest.

John Havlicek and Don Chaney added 14 points for Boston, now 8-0 for the season.

Bama's second place rating raises eyebrows of writer

By DAVID MOFFITT
UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI)—It's all so misleading. There's Alabama, now second behind Southern California, making a bid for a second straight perfect regular season and eyeing that mythical college championship that eluded the Crimson Tide a year ago.

Yet, the feeling persists that even if Alabama should go 11-0 again and, assuming someone slips up on Southern Cal and is voted the nation's No. 1 team, one of the Big Eight teams will burst that bubble in a bowl.

Don't get us wrong, Alabama has a sound running game with a lot of ball carriers, no great one like Johnny Musso, but a lot of good ones. The Tide also has a sound defense, although not quite as tough as some of the defensive units it has had in the past.

This combination, in a schedule that has brought the Tide face-to-face with only one nationally ranked team so far (Tennessee which Bama came from behind to nip 17-10 last Saturday), has given Alabama a 6-0 record and that No. 2 ranking.

Alabama has one real test, against 6th-ranked Louisiana State on Nov. 11, and one maybe test, against 12th-ranked Auburn on Dec. 2, standing between it and that second straight perfect season.

All five remaining games are at "home," three in Birmingham and the other two in Tuscaloosa.

The Alabama-Louisiana State game now is the biggest game in the South for 1972. It would appear that the winner gets the Southeastern Conference championship and an Orange Bowl date with the winner of the Nebraska-Oklahoma game—the same spot Alabama was in last year prior to its game with Auburn.

Our respect for Alabama as a potential national champion would increase with a win over LSU, but that still wouldn't convince us that Alabama can beat Nebraska in a bowl game.

Most Alabama fans will take offense at this, but Alabama was mighty lucky to beat Tennessee last Saturday.

Coach Bear Bryant told listeners afterwards that he went for a tie-producing (10-10) conversion kick with 1:48 left in the Tennessee game because "my coaches kept telling us we had plenty of time (to score again)."

But the fact is that at that moment, Alabama, which only minutes before was in danger of going down to defeat, was playing for a tie—an unwilling gamble on a two-point play for fear of the consequences.

Tennessee Coach Bill Battle thought the game would end in a tie after that. He had convinced himself "when they didn't go for two I was sure we wouldn't get beat," and planned to run out the clock.

That Alabama got the ball back on an untimely fumble by the Tennessee quarterback and then scored a winning touchdown was the sort of break that keeps an unbeaten string alive—but it doesn't leave you with the feeling that Alabama has the best college football team in the nation.

Alabama's offensive stars this year are in the line, especially 277-pound John Hannah and 245-pound Jim Krapf. It is because of people like Hannah and Krapf that Bryant has been able to get almost equal success from eight different runners.

The closest thing to an offensive backfield star has been quarterback Terry Davis. Davis' personal statistics haven't been much to look at—he's eighth in the Southeastern Conference in passing and ninth on the list of Alabama runners—but, as Bryant will tell you, he's the man who makes the Tide's wishbone go.

Baseball eulogizes Robinson

By United Press International.

Everyone remembered him. Remembered something about him. Remembered seeing him play. Remembered watching him steal bases, hit the ball, field the ball. On Tuesday everyone remembered Jackie Robinson, each in his own way, as the news of his death spread across the land.

In the White House, President Nixon said "Jackie Robinson was a man who brought a new human dimension not only to the game of baseball but to every area of American life where black and white people work-side by side. This nation to which he gave so much in his lifetime will miss Jackie Robinson, but his example will continue to inspire us for years to come."

In Versailles, Ky., "Happy" Chandler, the man who may have lost his job as commissioner of baseball when he went against the club owners and opened the gates for Robinson, recalled that historic decision.

"The only question I asked Mr. Rickey was 'Can this boy play?' said Chandler. "Then I said, 'All right, I'm not going to have it on my conscience that I deprived this young man of an opportunity to make a living in this sport or deprive the fans of America of a chance to see him play. I think my decision might have cost me the commissioner's job because all the fellow (owners) seemed to hold it against me."

Jackie Robinson is probably the greatest competitor I have ever known."

Carl Erskine, whose pitching greatness was enhanced by the fielding Jackie did behind him, said in Anderson, Ind. "Emphasis is brought now more than ever to what he stood for. I know Jackie had tragedy in his life. I think of the tragic times when he couldn't stay in a hotel, or eat with us in a restaurant, because of his color. He had to suffer through those indignities and in later years had problems with his son, but he overcame them all."

And there was Leo Durocher, who was his manager when Jackie came up and who was later in the Giant dugout, battling Robinson and the Dodgers.

From his Los Angeles home, the Lip said "he was a great competitor, he could do it all. He was under a lot of pressure when he came up, but he took it as gracefully as anyone. The players and he got along just fine. They all knew he was the first of many (black players) to follow."

Recalling Robinson's great base running, Leo said: "He upset a pitcher so bad he didn't know where he was half the time. He was an alert, smart baseball player. The catcher had to have a great arm when he stole. If I had to go to war, I'd want him on my side."

Ex-cager sues Iowa IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—A former University of Iowa basketball player Tuesday filed a $5 million suit against four university doctors, charging them with negligence which caused him to go blind.

James Speed, 23, who came to the university in 1969 as a highly touted junior college transfer, filed the suit in Johnson County District Court here. He claimed that the four doctors were negligent in caring for him when he entered University Hospitals Nov. 27, 1969, for removal of two teeth.

His suit alleges that malpractice by the four doctors led to a sinus infection and then meningitis that left him "totally and permanently blind" when he was discharged Jan. 5, 1971.

American loop umpires exonerated in bet case

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Baseball officials are investigating "certain aspects" of an incident involving the names of 11 American League baseball umpires found in the address book of a suspected gambler. But the gambling suspect says the baseball officials are wasting their time.

"I would never embarrass them guys," said Al Isella, arrested Sept. 25 when police raided his home and lodged gambling charges against him.

He said the address book "serves as my Christmas list." State's Attorney Samuel A. Green Jr., of Baltimore County told a news conference following a high-level meeting Tuesday that "There is no evidence of any wrongdoing on behalf of umpires, of the professional leagues."

Green said "certain aspects" of the incident are still under investigation by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office but neither he nor others involved in the meeting would comment.

Richard Butler, supervisor of umpires of the American League, Henry Fitzgibbon, security chief of the baseball commissioner's office and Maryland State Police Superintendent Thomas Smith attended the closed door session with Green.

Butler said he would recommend to Kuhn that none of the umpires be disciplined.

So far, none of the umpires have been identified and future identification is up to the commissioner. It is believed two of the 11 are dead and two more are retired from baseball.

Isella told Baltimore News American Sports Editor John Steadman that his friendship with American League umpires began about 15 years ago when he met several of them in a Baltimore area seafood restaurant.

Through them, Isella said he met more umpires and other sports personalities who frequented area restaurants, including one where he is maître d'e.

Isella said he was once convicted on a gambling charge but insisted he never used the umpires or any other sporting friends for inside information.

"If there is anything wrong that comes out of this then I'm willing to take 20 years in jail or give my year's salary to the Catholic Church. If I'm guilty of something wrong with umpires then the Pope is guilty," Isella said.

Isella, who faces charges stemming from the Sept. 25 raid, said he once gave tips at Rosencroft raceway to then-vice president Lyndon B. Johnson.

Oilers make two trades

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—In one of two major trades involving Central Division football teams Tuesday, the Pittsburgh Steelers sent wide receiver Dave Smith to the Houston Oilers in return for former All-Pro linebacker George Webster.

He shared his position this season with Frank Lewis, and has only caught 10 passes in six games for 98 yards. He was the Steeler's No. 8 draft choice in 1970 from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Smith, a 6-2, 205-pound three-year veteran who lost his starting job with the Steelers this season amid a "wealth" of talented Pittsburgh receivers, was the American Football Conference's sixth leading receiver last year with 47 catches.

The Oilers also traded starting wide receiver Charlie Joyner and regular linebacker Ron Pritchard to the Cincinnati Bengals for running backs Fred Willis and Paul Robinson.

S.D. claims fifth in row

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Diego Conquistadors, on the strength of a third period blitz and Jerry Chambers' 28 points, raced to their fifth straight American Basketball Association victory Tuesday night, beating the Carolina Cougars 123-109.

The expansion Q's utilized a balanced scoring attack and now have sole possession of the ABA's Western Division lead with a 5-1 record.

Delaware No. 1 on eve of major test

NEW YORK (UPI)—And so, the University of Delaware will go into its toughest game of the season this Saturday as No. 1.

Wilkins will help lowly Cavs

NEW YORK (UPI)—It takes some players a lifetime to fit into a team pattern. Lenny Wilkins did the job with one Cleveland Cavalier workout.

Wilkins, whose interest in pro basketball was renewed when he learned Cleveland made an honest effort to barter him to a west coast club so he could be near his family, came out of temporary retirement Tuesday night to kindle Cav hopes for a brighter future in the NBA.

The scrappy 12-year veteran scored 14 points in his debut. It wasn't nearly enough, however, as the winless Cavs lost their seventh straight game, a 123-90 clobbering by the New York Knicks.

"I knew I wouldn't be in top shape," Wilkins panted after playing 35 minutes. "But at least it makes the next game a little easier."

Wilkins said he had one week of workouts with the Seattle Sonics early in the pre-season grind and tried to keep in shape by playing some pickup games with college basketball stars.

Lenny's "comeback" was an instant success as he scored the first basket of the game against New York on a layup. He tallied seven points in the opening period to keep Cleveland in contention.

The defending national champion Blue Hens, who journey into Philadelphia this weekend for their long-awaited matchup with major college Temple (their only conqueror last year), reclaimed sole possession of the No. 1 spot in the small college football ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches with 20 first place votes and 333 points. How they come out against the Owls, may well decide the 1972 national championship.

Louisiana Tech, which tied Delaware last week, slipped back to second with 15 first place nods and 324 points after narrowly sliding past Bayou rival Southwestern Louisiana 20-16 last Saturday night.

Three of last week's top 10 teams suffered losses, causing a major shakeup beneath the two front-runners. North Dakota, stung with its first loss (22-17 by North Dakota) fell from third to 11th and was replaced at No. 3 by Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, which improved three notches.

Western Illinois, a 20-3 upset victim by Illinois State, fell from fifth to 17th and Drake, which lost its second game in three weeks, dropped from eighth right out of the top 20.

McNease, Withrow resign

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Assistant coaches Y. C. McNease and Gary Withrow quit the Texas-El Paso football staff Tuesday, following the lead of Coach Bobby Dobbs who resigned after Saturday night's 56-7 loss to New Mexico State. McNease, a former head coach at Idaho, was defensive coordinator for the Miners. He coached at UTEP for one year in 1965 and returned in 1971.

Withrow, in his first year at UTEP, coached the defensive line.

Dobbs announced last week that he would quit after seven and one half years if the Miners lost to New Mexico State. He was replaced Monday by offensive coordinator Tommy Hudspeth, a former head coach at Brigham Young.

"Without Coach Dobbs at UTEP I wouldn't feel the same working here," McNease said. "Therefore I think it's only fair to everyone involved that I resign immediately."

Lakers thump Kings 114-94

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Precise 'outside' shooting by Jerry West and Gail Goodrich led the Los Angeles Lakers to an easy 114-94 victory over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings in an NBA game Tuesday night. West hit 29 points and Goodrich added 19 for the Lakers, who shot 52.9 per cent.

Agnew talks at BYU meet

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew Tuesday told a crowd of more than 20,000 at Brigham Young University that students are "starting to listen" instead of breaking up campus political rallies.

Continuing his western campaign swing, Agnew flew into Salt Lake City, accompanied by Utah's senior senator, Wallace F. Bennett, and immediately went into seclusion with the elders of the Mormon Church, including President Harold B. Lee, N. Eldon Tanner, and Marion G. Romney. Also present were Republican candidates for office in Utah.

The meeting was closed to newsmen and photographers. Although the Mormon Church has never endorsed a presidential candidate, it always grants audiences to candidates on the national ticket during election year.

Earlier, Agnew spoke at the modernistic Marriott Center on the Brigham Young University campus in Provo, Utah. He said he has found in his campaign on college campuses that "civility is in the ascendancy and not on the decline. Young people are starting to listen rather than make chants and noises."

He added that students are exercising "their minds rather than their lungs."

In remarks prepared for an airport rally at Utica, N.Y., Agnew again severely criticized George S. McGovern's proposals for cutting the defense budget.

He said, "George McGovern has us on notice that he is ready and willing to cut the defense capability of the United States so drastically that what we think of as the last resort—nuclear war—will be the only alternative we have left to us."

He charged that McGovern "espouses a philosophy of isolation, a naive belief that in today's world we can really go it alone."

He added "the philosophy of George McGovern is repugnant to the spirit that has made America the hope and envy of the world."

Confused?

EASTER IN OCTOBER. Late fall weather has given Easter lilies in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henderson, Burley, the idea it's spring. These are two of several reported blooming in Magic Valley areas this fall. Normally a house plant, the lilies bloom in March or April, but in the garden they get an early start—or is it a late start.

Rumbles from 2 voting blocs

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) Political talk in Kansas this year centers on a Nixon landslide, but there are rumbles of discontent among two major voting blocs—farmers and organized labor.

The two groups could mean 300,000 votes, and few observers are willing to bet how they'll go election day.

Kansas polls show President Nixon leading Sen. George S. McGovern by about 40 points. But Democrats discount the polls and Republicans are campaigning hard to ward off apathy. McGovern workers are concentrating heavily on the rural vote.

In the final analysis, Kansas' seven electoral votes may hinge on thousands of farmers and laborers, making last-second decisions at the polls. Generally, an outsider might not realize the state was voting for President Incumbent Democratic Gov. Robert Docking hasn't mentioned McGovern, preferring to concentrate on "state issues for a state race."

Docking's opponent, Morris Kay, who captained the 1952 University of Kansas football team and then became an insurance agent, has had difficulty finding a handle to attack Docking, who has been called more conservative than the Republican legislature and has been elected to an unprecedented three two-year terms.

Supporters of both Nixon and McGovern are predicting their men eventually will win labor and farmers. But officials of both these groups have varying opinions.

If the farm vote is a toss-up, the labor vote is a mystery. Union officials in the state's three major industrial areas—Kansas City, Topeka and Wichita—said most union members were looking to their national leaders for guidance.

But many unions have refused to endorse either candidate, leaving the decision to individual members.

The state's largest union concentration is in Wichita, where the once booming aerospace industry is just recovering from a crippling recession.

Carl Courter, state AFL-CIO president and district representative of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said his 10,000 members in the Wichita area may not vote at all.

"They're not happy with Nixon because the wage and price lid hasn't applied to anyone but wage earners," Courter said. "But they also distrust and are disenchanted with McGovern. His defense cutback proposals could cost them their jobs."

"I suspect," Courter said, "that when our people get in that booth, their conscience will bite them a bit and they'll end up voting for the senator. But I'm sure there will also be some defections. No poll can cover that factor."

Egypt urges collective action against Israel

By United Press International—Egypt Tuesday urged all countries of the world, particularly the major powers, to join in collective efforts to help the United Nations put an end to Israeli occupation of Arab lands. It said failure to take such action would only encourage the "policy of using force."

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister Golda Meir said substantial Middle East peace negotiations cannot be held until Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and other Arab leaders get rid of the "illusion" that they can destroy Israel.

Arab newsmen in Sidon said a number of Israeli warplanes penetrated Lebanese airspace Tuesday and flew over the southern coastal town for several hours. They said "two of the planes broke the sound barrier over Sidon" and the explosion-like sound was heard in Beirut, 30 miles away. The Egyptian call for joint action came in a Foreign Ministry statement released in Cairo marking the United Nations' 27th birthday.

"Egypt appeals to all countries to join in collective efforts to enable the United Nations to restore its prestige and authority," the statement said. "Silence and failure to act on the part of these countries would only serve to encourage the policy of using force."

Singling out the big powers as holding special responsibilities and duties in this respect, the statement said:

"The Israeli aggressions on the territories of three U.N. member states (Egypt, Jordan and Syria) and on the Palestinian people is a living incarnation of the U.N. dilemma in all its dimensions."

"Parallel with this is the role the United Nations should play in the face of this physical aggression perpetrated by a country who is still a member of the world body."

Political observers in Cairo said the statement reflected Egypt's desire to give priority to a peaceful settlement of the Middle East crisis within the framework of the United Nations and with the help of the big powers.

Mrs. Meir told a Jerusalem press club lunch Israel could act two ways in attempts to bring peace closer: maintain its military strength and continue to seek negotiations.

"The Arabs will only make peace if they reached the conviction that another war will only have the same results as the previous armed conflicts foisted on Israel," she said.

"Only when the Arab leaders would disabuse themselves of the illusion that Israel could be destroyed—if not now; then later—would be there any prospect for substantial, promising peace negotiations."

"So long as Sadat and others nurtured the vain hope that Israel was not here to stay, peace talks seems illusory," Mrs. Meir said.

McGovern still thinks of win

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—It may be pure bluff or the optimism of the long-distance runner or just natural for a man long accustomed to the role of underdog.

But to those who see him every day, George McGovern seems genuinely convinced he will win the presidency.

External supporting evidence is rare. Instead McGovern clings to a fundamental belief that he is right on the issues, that President Nixon is wrong and that right will triumph.

The polls belie his trust. That great leap forward attendants looked for hasn't materialized. The aides say the polls are lagging behind a shift in public sentiment and are misleading because Nixon's overwhelming strength in the South obscures his thinner margins in the crucial northern states.

They find hope elsewhere. The campaign is still hungry for cash, but money is beginning to flow in $1.9 million last week, a record, with $350,000 generated by Tuesday's nationwide speech on Vietnam, twice what it cost for put on the air.

The crowds are big and enthusiastic, although peopled chiefly by young people. In Portland, Ore., Friday, McGovern outdrew Robert F. Kennedy's crowd at an outdoor rally four years ago. In the San Francisco Cow Palace, he outdrew John F. Kennedy's 1960 audience.

Stan Caplan, McGovern television time buyer, says spot checks on both coasts indicate that McGovern's television audience numbered 30 million. The Vietnam address was seen on four stations in some cities.

An even bigger network is being put together for a McGovern TV talk on the economy Friday night, and the candidate guesses that 45 million people will watch.

He plans five more half hours on national TV, each on a single issue. In the "must" states, he plans to conduct statewide telethons in which he fields telephoned questions from viewers.

Aware that his positions on some issues have worried voters, he welcomes the chance to confront their anxieties.

Wendell woman has 100th anniversary

WENDELL — Alpha Judd Elquist Molyneux celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary Saturday at Magic Valley Manor, it was announced today.

She married Alexander Elquist in 1895 at Grantsville, Utah, and moved to Oakley in 1906 where they settled the Land Ranch. He died in February, 1919. She married Alma Molyneux in 1930. He died one year later.

Mrs. Molyneux moved to Burley in 1938 and was a resident there until she moved to Magic Valley Manor, two years ago.

Her daughter died in 1924 and a son died in 1969.

Kimball Elquist, Battle Mountain, Nev., and Clarence Elquist, Oakley, are the only surviving children. She has 17 grandchildren, 46 great-grandchildren and eight great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Leslie Wallace, Wendell, was hostess for the birthday party and dinner that included guests from California, Utah and Nevada.

Minico student receives honor

RUPERT — Kay Moore of Minico High School has been cited as one of the outstanding high school students of English in the country.

The National Council of Teachers of English named her a 1972 winner in its annual achievement awards competition.

Last spring, the English department of the high school nominated Miss Moore to represent Minico High School in the competition. The school was allotted one entry from the junior class for every 500 students in the school enrollment, according to Mrs. Mardenne Nield, chairman.

After nomination, each student submitted samples of his best writing, including an autobiographical sketch, and wrote a one-hour impromptu essay. These materials were evaluated by state judging teams of college and high school English teachers directed by state coordinators.

The nation's schools participating in the program nominated about 7,200 juniors for the NCTE citations. Of that number, only about 870 finalists were chosen. They represent schools from 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American preparatory schools abroad.

In announcing the winners, Robert F. Hogan, executive secretary of the National Council of Teachers of English, said that the council recommends these students, now seniors, for college scholarships in 1973, should they need assistance.

The NCTE sends to all winners and runners-up certificates of recognition and also honors their high school English departments with certificates of merit, reports Glen Maughan, principal at Minico High School.

Miss Moore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moore, Hazelton.

Training set for Spanish

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The U.S. Labor Department has announced an $18 million contract to provide training for more than 7,200 jobless or underemployed Spanish-speaking persons in Utah and other states.

The program will operate in 38 cities most of them in the Southwest and West and under the sponsorship of Operation SER, which stands for service employment and redevelopment.

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson signed the contract at the Western White House and called it a "momentous occasion." "This contract will open the doors of opportunity to thousands of people," Hodgson said. "We are doing something that is really meaningful."

Also signing the contract was Richardo Zazueta, national director of Jobs for Progress.

Most of the cities where the program will operate are in California, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Utah and Nevada but also included Detroit, Gary, Ind., Chicago, Racine, Wis., Topeka, Kan., Scottsbluff, Neb., and Seattle, Wash.

Pershing carnival Friday at Rupert

RUPERT — The annual fall carnival will begin at 6 p.m. Friday at Pershing School and sponsored by the PTA. The public is invited.

A Halloween theme will be used, announced Mrs. Marie Loveland, general chairman. Other chairmen for the carnival include Mrs. Sharon Carlson, kitchen, and Mrs. Helen Craven, country store.

Special prizes will be awarded for the best Halloween costume. The judging will be at 8:30 p.m. and judges will be Mr. and Mrs. John Peavey and William (Bill) Whitton.

A variety of refreshments will be for sale instead of the usual chili supper.

Booths also will be in operation throughout the evening.

Rupert kitchen to close

RUPERT — The Rupert Canning Kitchen will close for this season on Friday, announced Mrs. Dixie Walker, manager.

Appointments are still being taken for canning of chili and pudding may be canned in small cans only, according to Mrs. Walker. No more cans are available for meats, fruits or vegetables, she added.

Residents may pick up their canning before 4 p.m. today, Thursday or Friday.

Stamp of approval

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A P. Giannini, founder of the Bank of America, the world's largest commercial bank, will be honored with a commemorative postage stamp next year.

His portrait will appear on a 21-cent stamp as part of the U.S. Postal Service's series of prominent Americans Giannini established the bank, then known as the Bank of Italy, in San Francisco in 1904. He died in 1949 at the age of 79.

National tree from Wyoming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This year's national Christmas tree will come from the Medicine Bow National Forest in southeastern Wyoming, the U.S. Forest Service announced today.

The tree, which will be the central feature of the annual Pageant of Peace exhibit on the Ellipse, just behind the White House, hasn't been selected yet. But officials said they would supply a 65-70 foot Engelmann spruce to Wyoming state officials who were selected by pageant arrangers to provide the 1972 tree.

Forest Service spokesmen said the tree eventually selected will be cut Nov. 17 and shipped here by rail for arrival about Dec. 1.

If the service had sold the tree to a lumberman, it could expect to get an "on the stump" price of about $5. Converted into lumber, a tree of the size picked for the pageant would be worth about $28-30. But there will be no charges involved in handling the tree which will be seen—decorated with hundreds of lights—by the hundreds of thousands who annually tour or drive-by the glittering Christmas display just south of the White House grounds.

Last year's national Christmas tree was a Frazier fir from the Pisgah National Forest in North Carolina. Trees have come from a different state each year since the Pageant of Peace was begun in 1954.

POLAROID GUARANTEES EVERY PICTURE YOU TAKE WITH THIS CAMERA

IF YOU DON'T LIKE IT, YOU CAN TAKE ANOTHER ONE FREE

MODEL 420 WITH FOCUSED FLASH

MODEL 420 WITHOUT FOCUSED FLASH

If you buy one of Polaroid's Focused Flash cameras during this special offer, every picture you take until next July will be guaranteed. It's true. Polaroid guarantees you'll be delighted with all the pictures you take — or you'll get free film to take them over again.

$51.88

with Flash

$46.88

without Flash

Here's how it works: You'll receive a booklet of coupons when you purchase your camera. Each one entitles you to return to Polaroid any color pictures you take and judge to be unsatisfactory for any photographic reason, for free replacement Colorpack film before July 1, 1973.

Polaroid can offer this unusual guarantee because they feel the Focused Flash Land cameras and Colorpack Land film make an almost foolproof combination. Focused Flash keeps your flash shots from coming out too light or too dark. An electric eye and electronic shutter automatically control your other shots. Indoors or out, there's never an exposure calculation to be concerned with.

There are four models to choose from, packed with features, and they all take guaranteed pictures.

Offer expires November 30, 1972. Void where prohibited.

Professor's probe lags

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court Tuesday denied a hearing to a University of Kansas professor who has been trying to obtain for his own research bullets, skin samples and other items associated with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The brief order leaves standing a decision against John Nichols, a Prairie Village, Kan., pathologist, on May 12, 1972, by the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Nichols, a professor at the university's medical center, was rebuffed by both the Navy and the U.S. Archivist. He then sued in federal district court in Topeka under the Freedom of Information Act.

District Judge George Tempel found most of the items were not "records" within the meaning of the law.

The 10th circuit court found the items acquired from the Warren Commission are exempt from provisions of the law.

The remainder, such as personal clothing and X-ray films taken at the autopsy, were acquired from the executors of the Kennedy estate, which placed restrictions on access to them. The agreement remains in effect during the lives of the late President's immediate relatives. The circuit court found the agreement binding.

Nichols told the high Court that the results of his

Memphis youth arrested

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—A 17-year-old boy has been accused of putting obscene notes and voodoo dolls in the mailboxes of suburban housewives in an attempt to coerce them into sex, police said Monday.

Officers said the youth was arrested Saturday by a detective who hid in the car of a woman who agreed to act as bait for a police trap. The youth had a stocking pulled over his head and carried an unloaded .32 caliber pistol, officers said.

Capt. Robert Cochran of the Homicide Bureau said at least three women had received obscene and threatening notes in their mail boxes and two of the women found dolls positioned in an obscene manner.

The youth, who was not identified under juvenile laws, was charged with attempted rape, carrying a pistol and disorderly conduct.

New program predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield believes Congress will end a long struggle between liberals and conservatives dating back to the end of World War II next year and enact national health insurance legislation.

"A national health insurance program is absolutely necessary, with medical and hospital costs skyrocketing," the Montana senator said Monday in an interview. He said medical insurance would be "the highest priority" of the 93rd Congress.

Pollution gets dogs

TOKYO (UPI)—The air in Tokyo is so polluted, a medical researcher said today, that most dogs have black lungs.
Dr. Kazuo Takemoto said autopsies performed on 2,000 stray dogs showed four of every five had black lungs — an indication of heavy pollution and five were suffering from lung cancer.

Kicked out.

New galaxy expands

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A gathering of astronomers was told Monday a galaxy has been discovered that appears to be expanding at a rate faster than the speed of light—theoretically an impossibility.
The meeting of the high energy astrophysics division of the American Astronomical Society also heard a description of "young galaxies" only one one-hundredth as old as most of the others in the universe.
Both discoveries leave astronomers with new puzzles to solve, the speaker said.

The fast-moving galaxy was revealed by Dr. Kenneth I. Kellerman, of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, W.Va.
It has been a fundamental law of physics that the speed of light, 186 million miles per second, is the fastest anything can move.
Recently, however, astronomers have discovered that quasars — mysterious starlike objects discovered nine years ago — seemingly expand and contract at faster speeds. Researchers feel that is probably impossible, however, and have been searching for explanations of the illusion.

Kellerman said that in addition to two quasars in which the phenomenon had been noted, there is now also a galaxy which gives the same appearance, and a fourth object, called the "B.L. Lacert."

Parable of The Hotel Man and the Bed bugs

Once upon a time there was a hustling young newspaper advertising salesman who called upon the operator of a small hotel in his town. He suggested that the hotel man begin a schedule of display ads to increase the use of his hotel for guests of local people who did not have overnight accommodations for out-of-town guests.

The local hotel entrepreneur agreed there was merit in the suggestion and that advertising to local people for this purpose could result in an increase in his hotel's occupancy rate.

He felt, however, that he could not afford "large enough" ads to do the job. He told the energetic and imaginative young space salesman that "nobody reads small ads."

The not-to-be-discouraged newspaper man thought for a moment and then said, "Mr. Jones, I know people do read small ads. In fact, I'm so convinced they do that I'm going to run a series of one-inch ads for you absolutely free."

This perked up the ears of the slightly reluctant inn-keeper who was still smiles when Mr. Ad-man said, "But, I want to write the copy in the ads myself." This didn't seem like a too unreasonable request so Mr. Jones responded with, "OK, but what are you going to say in my ads?"

"Nine words, Mr. Jones, is all I want in your ad. It will simply read: 'The Jones Hotel has the biggest bedbugs in town.'"

To which the now nearly apoplectic innkeeper responded, "You'll drive me out of business," and received the quick rejoinder, "Mr. Jones, you said no-one ever reads small ads."

Any resemblance to the caricature on the left to one of the Times-News admen is purely intentional. He suggested the idea for the parable.

The JONES HOTEL has the
BIGGEST BEDBUGS
in town.

The ad at left is a one-inch display ad. Cost for running in the Times-News 12 times is $75.31. Over 250,000 exposures.

Moral:

People do read small ads. Many a large business started with small ads and only because the small ads produced results were they able to become big enough to run larger ads. Don't put off telling people about your product or services just because you can't compete size-wise with larger businesses. Call today for a Times-News Classified or display account executive to help you set up a small-space advertising campaign.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although you now have the tendency to feel tired and as though something is holding you back from what you wish, your health actually is somewhat better. You are able to get an influential man to give you some essential backing, so you can achieve much that is of value to you in a project.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Study your home well and see what can be done to make it more comfortable, functional and charming. Some way-out fun should be forgotten completely. Stick to proven and wise pleasures and people.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You are able to get shopping done and keep appointments of importance in fine condition today. Get any health problem attended to quickly. Talk over with a partner how to become more productive.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Use only the finest methods for gaining increased income and don't follow some ally who is desperate and gets peculiar ideas. Listen to what an objective thinking adviser has to suggest, also. Read some tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Do some tall thinking about whatever is of a social nature in a m., and make better arrangements for such. Do not try to force kin to see things your own way. Use tact and you get right results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Refine into the privacy of your study and plan the future better. Avoid possible danger in the outside world. Your intuitive perceptions are fine, so be sure to follow them. First think, then act.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You are in the right mood for being with groups socially, so do just that and get good results therefrom. Making new friends is wise, provided they more or less go along with your own ideas. Show you are a fine conversationalist.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Although you want to make radical changes it is better to improve your present setup. Then you add to present benefits. Studying into some new and more lucrative outlet that is surefire is fine, though. Contact dependable people. p.m. is best time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You have personal worries that are best solved by going directly to those who are involved instead of talking to outsiders. Being more affectionate with kin brings fine results now. Take a more positive approach to life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If you exercise that ingenuity you possess, you find it will be easy to keep promises you have made now. It is possible to find a better site where you can express yourself more ideally. Take it easy in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You need not concentrate on work so much now as on pleasure that could become a part of your life in the near future. A higher-up appreciates your work and can now give you a big boost forward. Take heed of what mate has to suggest in p.m.

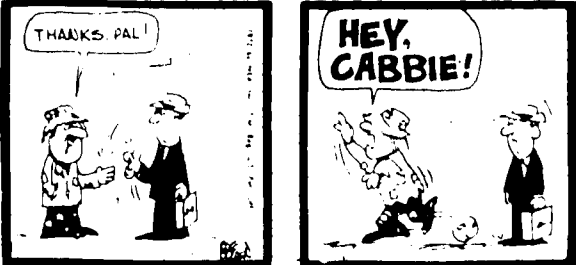

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Forget frivolity today and get out with new contacts who have very fine ideas and methods to discuss with you for advancement. See to it that you are very alert so you get the fine benefits you want. Show willingness to cooperate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Plan some time to listen to the ideas and advice of those who are well informed some time today. Do not lose your temper with those who disagree with you. They could be right, otherwise take under advisement. Grow.

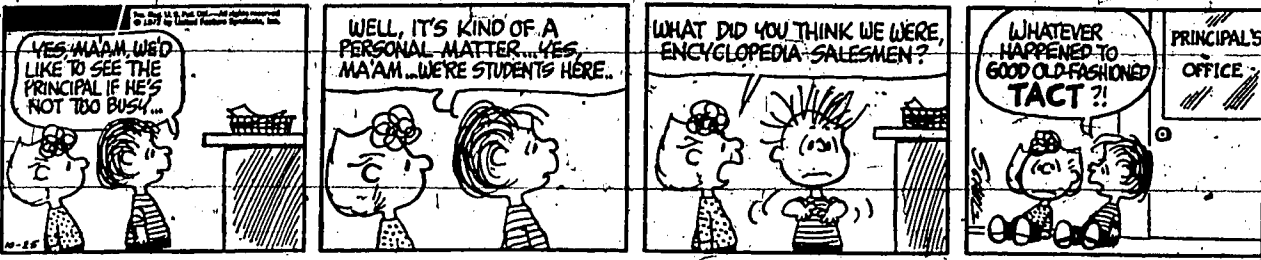

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those charming young people in whose lifetime many sudden and unexpected changes can occur, so teach early to be prepared and on the alert for such, since these can be steppingstones to greater success and happiness. Teach also not to be so emotional about cutting off old ties that are no longer very worthwhile. Any profession that requires an ingenious and resourceful mind like this is fine here. College, if possible. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

One mammal, only one, possesses a backbone partly outside its body. This beast is called a potted. Something like a monkey. Lives in Africa. Sharp spikes stick out from the aforementioned spine. To discourage backbiters. Fascinating little rascal. And extremely cautious. Has to be careful about what it leans back against.

WAS REPORTED that the average woman's waist measurement is greatest at age 52. This data has saddened some ladies. They've complained. For their sake, let it be told also here that the waist measurement of the most renowned female figure in North America, the Statue of Liberty, is 35 feet.

TO CONVERT kilometers to miles, hear this. Multiply the kilometers by six, then drop the last digit. Got it? Say the sign post shows it's 100 kilometers to wherever. You can figure it's 60 miles. Or say the speedometer shows you're zipping along at 80 kilometers per hour. That's just 48 m.p.h. Approximately, approximately.

QUERIES. Q. "Do seeing-eye dogs watch the traffic lights?" A. No, sir, they watch the traffic.

Q. "WHAT are the odds against snow in Los Angeles for Christmas?" A. About 60 to one, in fact.

Q. "HOW many of the state capital buildings have domes?" A. Just 41. And if you can name five of the nine without same, your old geography teacher would be proud of you.

THE MAJORITY of husbands, if asked at the hospitals whether they'd prefer to witness the birth of their offspring, decline the invitations.

Most, latest surveys reveal, still prefer to pace outside the delivery room.

TRACTORS It's when the farm tractor is rolling along over level ground that it's most apt to overturn. What, you find that surprising? Likewise. But the National Safety Council says its statistics prove most overturned tractor accidents happen on flat land.

QUOTATION No. 4672-B in our Love and War man's file of simple matrimonial facts is by none other than Lyndon B. Johnson. As follows: "Just before the wedding, I realized I didn't have a ring, so I went across the street to Sears and bought one."

AFTER AGE 6, fewer girls than boys drink milk every day. That's a statistical fact. Some scientific observers think it's one more indication that the female matures earlier than the male.

MUST REPORT, too, the generally recognized special ring to be worn on the third-finger-left-hand of the divorcee is a gold band with X's all around it.

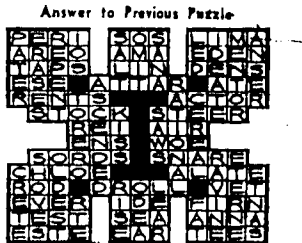

CAN YOU game that profession worldwide with the most practitioners? Too simple, no? It's teaching.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Alberta Fish, Romans exchange nuptial promise

TWIN FALLS—Alberta Fish and Daniel Romans were married in a candlelight ceremony Oct. 13 at the Carillon Reception Center.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fish and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Romans, all Twin Falls.

Rev. Ray Jones of the First Christian Church performed the double ring ceremony before cathedral baskets of white gladioli and blue and purple asters flanked by candelabra holding purple tapers and rimmed with blue satin streamers entwined with ivy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional silhouette gown of alencon lace featuring a four-tier skirt, lily point sleeves and cathedral train trimmed with mother of pearl laces. Her bouffant veil of bridal illusion was held by matching lace florets. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of blue chrysanthemums and purple asters encircling a lavender orchid.

Connie Smith served as maid of honor. Treena Fish, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Barry Heck was best man. Tom Fischer and Randy Romans, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers and candlelighters. Todd Romans, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Caryl Tinkner played wedding music on the organ. Background electric guitar music was played by Cecil Tarres and John Loder during a reception after the ceremony in the Carillon basement.

Pam Fish, sister of the bride, registered guests at a circular table skirted in blue and topped with a bouquet of blue chrysanthemums and purple asters.

Gifts were received by Jeritta and Janette Laughlin, cousins of the bride. Ruth Laughlin, Mary Gates and Sherry Clark, all aunts of the bride, displayed the gifts on the balcony.

The bride's table, skirted in white lace accented with blue satin streamers, was centered with a three-tier wedding cake decorated with blue and purple lilies and lace work and topped with two cherubs.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Bill Terry, Idaho Falls. Punch and coffee were served by Mrs. John Dobins, Rupert. Both are aunts of the bridegroom.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with blue satin and white lace and centered with goblets containing floating purple asters.

The bride was honored at a shower hosted by Pauline and Connie Smith.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of Twin Falls High School.

Contempt shown for women

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A prominent female physiology professor says the medical profession has a "kind of contempt" towards women patients.

Dr. Estelle Ramey of Georgetown University said in medical schools "women are usually used as the prototype for the whining, complaining crotch who has nothing wrong with her, but just comes in and takes up your time."

"The impression is very firmly instilled in neophyte doctors that a very large percentage of their female patients are not very sick when they come in," she said at a news conference Monday at the University of California.

Dr. Ramey said women medical students "are diverted to pediatrics, anesthesiology, psychology and virtually excluded from surgery."

Put a smile in your voice if you're saying "no" to a telephone solicitor for a charity. The volunteer at the other end doesn't like to make a pest of herself; she's just doing her job. No need to be sharp and nasty when you're saying no.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman with two children. My problem is my 17-year-old sister. I'll call her Brenda. Brenda is a senior in high school.

Brenda asked me if I would get some birth control pills for her. I told her nothing doing, she should behave herself and she wouldn't have to worry.

To my amazement, Brenda asked Mother to get them for her, and as unbelievable as this may sound, Mother got them for her. When Brenda told me this, I couldn't believe it, so I went straight to Mother and asked her if she was out of her mind. Mother said, "I would prefer that Brenda save herself until she marries, but if she is going to have sex, I would rather have her safe than sorry."

Daughters protest

Believe me, Abby, if I had asked my mother for the Pill when I was 17, she would have kicked me out of the house.

I don't know what's come over my mother. She is 50. Is it possible that she is going thru her change and has flipped her lid?

DEAR WORRIED: Your mother may be going through the change—but so is the world. I do not condone premarital sex, either, but when one considers the alternatives, your mother may have made a wise choice. Ask any mother whose daughter is about to become an unwed mother.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter recently attended a wedding. As the bride was leaving, she tossed her bridal bouquet and my daughter caught it, but it slipped thru her hands. The girl next to her FELL on it and claimed it was hers!

While my daughter and this other girl were arguing over who should have the bridal bouquet, the other girl's mother butted in and took her daughter's side.

In your opinion, who did the bridal bouquet belong to?

DEAR CURIOUS: If baseball rules were applied, it would be an error on the part of your daughter. If football rules were applied, it would be a fumble. In this case, I'd say possession is nine points of the law, and the girl who possessed it should keep it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are a young married couple with two children. We've been married for three years, but our marriage isn't the problem. The problem is that my husband has started taking flying lessons, and I am upset over it because we can't afford it.

The course is $800, which he doesn't have to pay for all at once. He pays for a lesson at a time.

He works eight hours a day, six days a week. Then he works for two or three hours every evening on our house, which we are building by ourselves. When Sunday comes he goes to the airport for two hours.

I say he should cut out the flying lessons because we can't afford it. My husband says, "Write to Abby and see whose side she's on."

I promised if you were on his side I wouldn't say another word about it.

RED BARON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: From your letter, I suspect it's not the money you resent so much as the time and energy your husband spends on his flying. If he's laying out money that puts you in a bind, financially, of course he should quit flying. But if that's not the case, and his only hobby takes him away from home for two hours every Sunday, don't nag him about it.

DEAR ABBY: Re that woman who found a library book on which she owed a $60.50 fine (it was three and a half years overdue!!). She was foolish to worry about it. All she had to do was bring it back and explain the circumstances. I doubt if there is a librarian in the country who would have charged her more than the cost of the book—if that.

Sculptor holds out hope of collecting on 'tiger'

DETROIT (UPI) — Donald Thibodeaux's tiger has him by the tail—as well as by the pocket book.

The Roseville, Mich., bumper shop owner spent four years sculpting a 900-pound metal Bengal tiger—the image of the Detroit Tigers baseball team.

It seemed like such a good idea. The Tigers had won the World Series in 1968 and by the time Thibodeaux was done welding, molding and casting his creation, the Tigers looked like they had another crack at the title.

So the sculptor put a price of $175,000 on his tiger and had it hauled to the front of Tiger Stadium late one night, where it was securely bolted to a one and a-half ton boulder set there by Thibodeaux and helpers.

The Tiger management appreciated Thibodeaux's work—but $175,000? That was well before Detroit battled the Oakland A's for the American League title and the city was feverishly anticipating another pennant.

Then came the playoffs—and the Tigers lost. So Thibodeaux came down to what he called a "rock bottom" $130,000.

"That John Fetzer (stadium and ball club owner) is real tight with a buck," says Thibodeaux, who is hoping to collect the $130,000 from a public campaign.

It hasn't been an exactly cheap venture for Thibodeaux. After all, there's all that steel, cooper, zinc, bronze, magnesium and other metals he combined with the four-years worth of his own part time energy.

Then there's the $96 a day he shelled out to rent private guards to keep the rowdies from turning his tiger into a kitten at night... while the real Tigers were getting ready for their declawing at the hands of Oakland. Now he's out of money and has to check the statue himself at night.

Offers have been few and far between, in fact non-existent.

South bid his hand with all the delicacy of a runaway rhinoceros, but South was an expert playing with an indifferent partner and South decided to take full charge and hope for the best.

The slam was a good one. Against any lead but a spade, South could discard his king of spades on a good diamond and guess in hearts. Against the ace of spades lead and spade continuation, South had at worst a finesse for his contract.

Expert South found a better play and made it on a squeeze!

East covered the second spade as cheaply as he had to. South ruffed and drew trumps, entered dummy with a diamond and led another spade to see if the queen might drop. It didn't, but

South was not at all discouraged.

He simply ran off the rest of his trumps leaving himself with three hearts and a diamond. Dummy's last five cards were the jack of spades, a heart and king-queen small of diamonds. West, who had to discard before dummy was forced to unguard his king of hearts in order to keep dummy's small diamond from being good.

Dummy's small diamond had done its work. South discarded it. Then he cashed dummy's king and queen of diamonds. East had to come down to two cards. He could not throw the queen of spades so he had to discard down to one heart.

This left each defender with just one heart. It didn't matter where the king was. It was sure to fall to South's ace.

Miss Benefiel, Watkins wed

MR. AND MRS. TONY WATKINS

TWIN FALLS — Virginia Benefiel and Tony Watkins were married in Oct. 7 rites in the Twin Falls Presbyterian Church.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Van Nest.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Benefiel, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Barbara Watkins, Filer, and Gerald Watkins, Morgan, Utah.

For her marriage, the bride wore a long white skirt and white lace blouse accented with a gold belt. She carried a bouquet of Tropicana roses, bronze pompons and gold chrysanthemums. She also carried a white lace handkerchief given her by her aunt, Mrs. Rick Eastin.

Deborah Balsch, Twin Falls, served as maid of honor. Randy Bean, Filer, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The couple was honored at a reception immediately after the ceremony in the fireside lounge of the church.

Mrs. Robert Houston and Mrs. William Bolster, both Twin Falls, cut and served cake.

After a honeymoon in Ketchum, the couple resides at Filer.

The bridegroom is employed by Smith Electric, Twin Falls.

Bare facts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has done so well in its new campaign to draw women into the service that it has run out of several items of women's clothing.

An Army official who normally takes any type of shortage quite seriously just smiled and said, "You might say we outstripped ourselves." About one-third more recruits are coming in than planned for this summer and fall.

The Army announced recently that it hopes to double the size of the Women's Army Corps WAC and will allow women to compete for all the non-combat jobs it has to offer.

$6 million asked from comic strip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $6 million damage suit has been filed against a comic strip by a firm which provides term paper help to college and graduate students.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Monday by Term Paper Library, Inc., based in Washington, D.C., against the authors of the Steve Roper comic strip, Publishers Hall Syndicate, and The Washington Post, which carries the strip.

Term Paper Library contended the comic strip depicted the term paper profession as engaged in "a low and unlawful enterprise" and as "criminal types."

The comic strip sequence cited in the suit dealt with the murder of a college professor by hoodlums hired by a term paper operator because the professor was lobbying for legislation to outlaw such businesses.

A Lovelier You

HOW TO INFLUENCE PEOPLE

By Mary Sue Miller

As the campaign was hot, so do the living room discussions. Voices rise to a shout, fists thump tables.

Yet no one was ever won over by an angry diatribe on any subject. This goes double when the speaker is a woman. Even a militant Ms. Lab. knows she is not at her winning best when she's mad.

The feminine persuaders of this world work on a low wave-length. When tackling a supercharged subject like politics, it is impossible to get ideas across with heated words. Anger destroys your ability to judge what anybody says, including yourself. Befuddled, you lose the debate to females as well as males.

Of course, one must be informed to win through. It is better to keep quiet than spout a lot of misinformation. In a country where the majority wins, all of us had best understand the issues.

By careful reading and sifting of your newspaper's editorials, by listening to both sides on TV and radio, you gather ammunition to back up your ideas. You may not sway a vote, but your hook will not lack bait.

When the going gets rough, bear up. Remember the candidate, thinking he had lost, went to bed and asleep only to wake up in the morning as Mr. President. There's many a slip, Lady, keep your cool!
