

Hanoi OK's final talks

PARIS (UPI)—The North Vietnamese peace delegation said today it was ready to confer with White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger on Tuesday—the date originally set for the signing of the Vietnam peace treaty in Paris.

Hanoi spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le said, "If Mr.

Kissinger shows a desire to do so we believe that Mr. Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy (senior negotiators) will be ready to receive him on Oct. 31."

Le left unanswered the question whether the North Vietnamese would be prepared to renegotiate part of the treaty text, which Washington has indicated it wants to do.

"We believe that the U.S. demands for a renegotiation of the text are pretexts to delay the signing of the already agreed treaty," Le said.

"But if Mr. Kissinger shows a desire to do so, we believe that Mr. Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy will be ready to receive him on Oct. 31."

Le spoke at a news conference in reply to correspondents' questions on whether the Hanoi peace negotiators would respond to Kissinger's call Thursday to meet one final time to refine some parts of the treaty.

Hanoi announced the full text of a peace agreement with the United States early Thursday.

The Northern negotiators smiled broadly and shook selected hands as they pushed through a milling crowd of newsmen, still stunned by the dramatic Hanoi announcement, into the 16th session of the Paris peace talks.

There they demanded—in the persons of petite Viet Cong Foreign Minister Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh and veteran North Vietnam negotiator Xuan Thuy—that President Nixon should order signing of the peace pact, as agreed, in Paris next Tuesday.

Mme. Binh declared South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu should quit. "If peace is to be achieved, the United States must stop backing the present warlike ruling group in Saigon and Nguyen Van Thieu must resign," she said.

Thuy said: "Let the Nixon Administration carry out immediately the accords agreed upon by (North Vietnam) and the United States."

The nine-point pact provides for a cease-fire, an exchange of prisoners and withdrawal of all American troops within 60 days of the signing ceremony.

Set 'em back

TWIN FALLS — Standard time comes back Sunday.

The sun will — seemingly — rise an hour earlier. And it will be dark by supertime, eliminating much opportunity for outdoor work after supper.

Daylight time, in effect since the last Sunday in April, ends officially at 2 a.m. Sunday. At that time the clock is turned back for most Americans.

But most Magic Valley residents will — provided they don't forget — set their clocks and watches back an hour before they go to bed Saturday night.

Plot suspect nabbed

KIRYAT SHMONA, Israel (UPI)—Police said today they have arrested a 22-year-old American tourist suspected of sending letter bombs to President Nixon and two of his cabinet members.

Police said Dennis Feinstein, who they said arrived in Israel several weeks ago, was jailed for 10 days by a magistrate court.

Nixon clamps spending lid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said today he will veto nine measures because they would exceed his budget by $2.75 billion over the next two fiscal years. He said he was taking the action despite advice that it would be "politically very damaging."

He repeated his pledge to hold federal spending to $250 billion and claimed the nine measures if enacted into law, would breach the budget by $750 million in the 1973 fiscal year and by nearly $2 billion in 1974.

The appropriations for the Health Education and Welfare Department, a measure which Nixon said included $535 million in over-spending. He vetoed an earlier version of the same measure which contained a budget busting $1.8 billion last August and said the latest version was as unwarranted as the first.

The public works and economic development Act of 1972 which Nixon said would unnecessarily add new federal programs which have been demonstrably ineffective in creating jobs and stimulating economic development.

A measure authorizing federal funds to support mineral research and training institutes in each of the 50 states and Puerto Rico, legislation which Nixon said was unneeded because of workable existing programs.

Thieu asks S. Viet vote

SAIGON (UPI)—President Nguyen Van Thieu said today there will be no peace in South Vietnam until he signs a treaty himself. He countered the Hanoi-Washington nine-point peace plan with a proposal for an internationally supervised referendum to decide the makeup of a new Saigon government.

Thieu told pro-government legislators who marched to his downtown Independence Palace to show support for the President that he favored a South Vietnamese referendum so the people could "voice their own wish."

The president said the United Nations or any combination of two or more countries could supervise the referendum.

He proposed that a government be formed between his administration and the Viet Cong according to the percentage each side received in the referendum.

Thieu has hinted at such a referendum for several weeks.

Nixon signs TF project

TWIN FALLS — President Nixon has signed legislation authorizing the Salmon Falls Division Reclamation Project.

A brief announcement from the office of Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, made public the signing today, a week after the bill was made law with the President's signature.

At stake for Twin Falls County is a project to bring new or additional supplies of irrigation water to 64,000 acres of land lying at a higher elevation than the Twin Falls Canal Co. High Line Canal, marking the border of the current Twin Falls Project.

Although the President's signature on the bill now officially creates the project actual appropriations still must be secured. The cost of the program is set at about $82 million.

The legislative history of the law includes a congressional subcommittee hearing in Twin Falls this past March. The House subcommittee of irrigation and reclamation of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs solicited testimony from a number of state and local officials, as well as area business men and farmers.

The original project bill passed the U.S. Senate in June, 1971. The House of Representatives passed the law Sept. 28, and the Senate re-passed the measure several days later.

The legislation which passed both houses of Congress calls for the construction of a system to pump Snake River water through a 47-mile system of canals.

Oakley offers subdistrict plan

By DAVE HORSMAN
Times-News writer

OAKLEY — Nearly 20 Oakley residents agreed Thursday evening to investigate a proposal calling for four Cassia school sub-districts and guaranteeing each a high school.

The group met in Oakley High School to consider alternatives in improving school facilities in Cassia County.

A Cassia school bond issue failed Oct. 17 primarily because of the negative vote from rural communities who want to maintain their high schools and opposed a provision in the issue which would have bused approximately 200 of their high school students to Burley.

Thursday night's plan was offered by Richard Swan, an Oakley High School counselor. He referred to a legal opinion referring to sub-districting paid for by the Oakley Valley Improvement Group.

Bellevue zoning opposed

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

BELLEVUE — Two residents voiced opposition and a third backed the proposed new Bellevue zoning ordinance during a public hearing Thursday evening.

The hearing was attended by about 15 residents and members of the City Council and city zoning committee. Following the meeting, Mayor James Pigg said the ordinance will be brought before the council Nov. 2 for action.

The eleven member zoning committee has been working on the ordinance since June, 1971. Stressing minimum requirements, the ordinance would establish four zoning districts — general residential, business, industrial and agricultural.

Specific provisions include setback requirements, zoning administration, and procedure for zoning enforcement and variance petitions.

Resident Jack O'Donnell said, "Anytime a man has lots he should be able to build what he wants on them."

China corn sale slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today announced another grain sale to China — 300,000 tons of corn — and pledged "a full, fair share" of the nation's prosperity for the American farmer.

Nixon revealed the corn sale in the fifth of a series of paid political radio broadcasts. He said sale — amounting to about $10 million dollars — was signed within the last few days.

The corn deal, 12 million bushels, was tiny compared to the grain sales to Russia — 250 to 288 million bushels worth a billion dollars. The only previously announced sale to grain sale to China was for 15 million bushels of wheat worth around $25 million.

Nixon said the grain sales to China "only scratch the surface of an immense-trade potential between our two countries."

He also told his audience that the sale feed grains to the Soviet Union — the biggest peace time transaction of its kind in history — "holds enormous benefits for all Americans" and will raise crop value for America's farmers by a billion dollars in 1972 alone.

Nixon said "helping farmers to do better had been one of the major commitments" of his administration. But he said the farmer is still falling behind in personal income compared to other Americans.

He said at the beginning of his administration he immediately set out to "turn that situation around."

Mr. T-N says

While the hunters are out in the country looking for pheasants, the birds will probably move to some sanctuary.

Divers aid slick probe

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Divers were called into the search for House Majority Leader Hale Boggs today to probe an area where an oil slick was sighted in Alaskan waters.

The slick, first sighted Wednesday near Cordova in Prince William Sound, was within the scheduled flight pattern carrying Boggs and three others when their plane disappeared Oct. 18.

The oil was seen by men flying a Bureau of Land Management plane called a "Grumman Goose."

Cenarrusa's father hurt

HAILEY — Joe Cenarrusa, 63, father of Idaho's secretary of state, Pete T. Cenarrusa was injured in an automobile accident late this morning in Hailey.

The older Cenarrusa was taken to the Blaine County Hospital, where no condition report was immediately available.

Investigating officers said Cenarrusa's car collided with a parked truck and trailer rig loaded with sheep on U.S. Highway 93 on the northern edge of Hailey.

The Cenarrusa car was proceeding south along the highway when it collided with the rig, which was parked along the west shoulder of the road.

Whites keep 31 blacks from school

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yelling, scuffling white parents surged through police barricades at a Brooklyn junior high school today and prevented 31 black and Puerto Rican children from attending classes. The children have not been in school since classes started six weeks ago.

Helmeted police fought with fist-swinging men and clawing women as they attempted to clear a path in front of the school for the obviously frightened children from Brownsville. A number of protesting parents were taken away in police vans.

After conferring with schools chancellor Harvey B. Scribner, the Rev. Wilbert Miller, a black Brownsville leader, agreed to take the children about a block from the school while police tried to clear the area.

While whites booed and screamed insults at him, Scribner told newsmen that the children would be taken into the school.

Judy Koretz, president of the parents' association at John Wilson Junior High, said the 31 children "will never be welcome" at the school.

Other parents, led by a woman with a bullhorn, chanted "Close the school! Close the school!"

The bus with the black and Puerto Rican children stopped about half a block from the police-encircled school. As Miller, escorted by four policemen in riot gear, approached the main entrance to the school, he was mobbed by 50 jeering, cursing whites.

"You don't belong here," a man shouted at Miller. Several women screamed "Don't let him pass." Other chanted "creep...creep...creep" as the minister walked by.

Police using nightsticks pushed the demonstrators back and escorted Miller back to the safety of the bus.

The bus then drove around the block and tried to pull up to the school from a different direction. A surging group of whites burst through police barricades and ran toward the bus, but 20 police guarding the bus held the crowd at bay.

Miller, fearing for the safety of the children, then agreed to back up the bus until police could either calm or disperse the crowd.

Military counts coup in Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—The military seized power in Dahomey Thursday, overthrowing civilian President Justin Ahomadegbe, according to Colomou Radio heard in Lagos.

It was the fifth coup since the poor West African republic gained independence from France in 1960.

The deputy commander of Dahomey's armed forces, Gen. Mathieu Kerekou, went on national radio to announce he was taking power. Kerekou played a key role in the country's last coup in 1967.

Kerekou said the government of the 55-year-old Ahomadegbe "had become a monster and the country was being run by political intrigue."

News reports reaching Lagos from the neighboring state said Kerekou was also commander of a paratroop unit stationed near Colomou, Dahomey's capital.

First indication the outside world received of trouble in Dahomey came when postal officials in Paris said telephone and telex lines to the nation of 2.5 million people were cut.

Hearing set on bugging

MIAMI (UPI)—A federal judge scheduled an emergency hearing today on a $2 million lawsuit seeking to stop federal prosecution of the Watergate bugging incident in Washington and the local trial of one of the suspects.

The suit was filed by New York attorney Henry Rothblatt, representing Bernard L. Barker. Barker is scheduled to stand trial in Miami Monday on charges of fraudulently notarizing a $25,000 check.

The lawsuit Rothblatt filed Thursday also seeks to stop the federal trial of Barker, Fran Sturgis, Virgilio Gonzalez and Eugenio Martinez on federal charges of breaking into the Democratic national headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex. The federal trial is scheduled to begin Nov. 15 in Washington.

U. S. District Judge Peter Fay scheduled an emergency hearing today on the two motions for injunctions against the trial.

Valley Obituaries

Adolph Kudlac — Adolph Kudlac, 62, Wendell, died Thursday afternoon at Magic Valley Manor following a long illness.

He was born Sept. 10, 1910, at Dwight, Neb. He attended schools in Nebraska and Montana. He lived in Billings, Mont., prior to moving to Buhl in 1926. In 1951 he moved to Wendell where he farmed for many years.

J. Robertson — TWIN FALLS — James A. Robertson, 63, former Magic Valley resident, died Wednesday at a Boise hospital.

Services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Albertson-Diekard Funeral Home, Buhl. Burial will be at Sunset Memorial Gardens, Twin Falls.

Mr. Robertson was born Dec. 3, 1908, at Elwood, Ind., and came with his family to Twin Falls in 1913. They moved to a farm near Filer, where he attended grade school and graduated from Filer High School.

He continued to farm in the area for about 15 years until he bought a farm near Buhl, where he lived for a number of years. He sold his farm in 1947 and moved to Boise, where he attended the Idaho State Barber College.

He apprenticed at the Mountain Home Air Force Base, and owned and operated his own shop in Reno for several years before returning to Boise, where he was involved in barbering until his retirement in 1967.

He is survived by a sister, Helen Burton, Boise; a brother, John G. Robertson, Burley; two nieces and two nephews.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 10 a.m. until time of services Saturday.

Seen... Two US men die in Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting surged to a five-year high today in South Vietnam despite talk that peace is near. A U.S. jet was shot down over North Vietnam today and two Americans were killed in battle Thursday.

The heaviest fighting broke out in the Central Highlands, 260 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. bombing raids continued over North Vietnam but were restricted to the area below the 19th parallel, 130 miles south of Hanoi.

Hanoi Radio said today North Vietnam's National Assembly has adopted a resolution demanding that the United States meet North Vietnam's Oct. 31 deadline for signing a truce. In Saigon, South Vietnam's National Assembly adopted a resolution backing President Nguyen Van Thieu's stand against any agreement that would bring a coalition government with the Communists.

Then 1,000 Thieu supporters walked to Independence Palace. About 300 of the marchers were admitted to the palace. A grave-faced Thieu told them, "Peace will come when I sign the agreement"—and not before.

Hollister club convenes

HOLLISTER — Mrs. Laird Noh, representing the League of Women Voters, was featured speaker at the Wednesday meeting of the Salmon Tract Homemakers Club.

Mrs. Noh explained the nine amendments to be voted on at the Nov. 7 election.

The club members met at the home of Mrs. Dave Kramer, with Mrs. Kent Johnson, Mrs. Robert Schroeder, Mrs. Walter Mueller and Mrs. Noh as guests.

Mrs. Gary Auderheide, vice president, was in charge of the business session and Mrs. Fred Montgomery and Mrs. C. J. Boss reported on the State Extension Homemakers Council meeting held in McCall. The door prize was won by Mrs. Kent Johnson.

Plans were made for the November County Council luncheon set for Nov. 13 at the YM-YWCA. Registration will begin at 10:30 a.m. and a nominal registration fee will be charged. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service.

Anyone wanting to display Christmas gifts or decorating ideas are asked to bring them. Mrs. Bruce Kunkel is in charge of the displays. The program will feature a special cake decorating demonstration by Mrs. John Nelson, who is instructing cake decorating classes at the College of Southern Idaho.

The Salmon Tract Homemakers Club is in charge of cleanup.

Dec. 11 was selected for the club's December Christmas party at 12:30 p.m. at the Colonial House.

The Nov. 15 meeting is at the home of Mrs. Kunkel. The lesson will be "Consumer Protection" to be given by Mrs. Auderheide and Mrs. Gary Nelson.

NJ aide convicted of bribe

FREEHOLD, N.J. (UPI)—New Jersey Secretary of State Paul J. Sherwin, top adviser to a governor who swept into office on an anticorruption platform, was convicted Thursday of conspiring and offering to receive a bribe.

William C. Loughran, a Republican fund raiser, also was convicted of the same charge by the jury of five women and seven men, and Michael J. Manzo, owner of a construction firm, was found guilty of conspiring and offering to give a bribe.

The three were charged with trying to get state Transportation Commissioner John C. Kohl to give Manzo's construction company special consideration on a $600,000 highway contract in return for a $10,000 contribution to the Republican party.

Witnesses testified that Sherwin attempted to influence Kohl. However, the company which submitted the low bid for the contract kept it.

Sherwin, 53, took a leave of absence from his job when he was indicted.

MacGregor denies secret fund exists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's campaign director, says there is a cash fund used for re-election expenditures but it is not "secret."

The General Accounting Office and investigators of the House Banking Committee have reported that a "secret" fund had between $350,000 and $700,000. The GAO alleged that the fund was illegal.

But MacGregor said Thursday that the fund had never been "secret" and that it contained "very much less than" $350,000. MacGregor said there were no improper uses of the funds since he became Nixon's campaign director July 1 and that he was assured that there had been no abuses before July 1.

Congressional investigators have linked the funds with $114,000 that turned up in the bank account of Bernard Barker, a suspect in the alleged burglary and bugging of Democratic national headquarters June 17.

The Washington Post and other publications have purported that "secret" funds were also used to sabotage the campaign of Nixon's Democratic opponents.

MacGregor in an interview on National Public Television said the funds were never used for such purposes. He said the money was carried over from Nixon's 1968 campaign.

"It may have been forgotten over a period of some three years from the close of the 1968 election until the start of the campaign season, 1971-72, but it wasn't really secret that there were funds on hand," MacGregor said.

Gem land owners changed

BOISE (UPI) — Two pieces of prime Idaho real estate were transferred today to state and local ownership.

The ceremony was held at the former USS assay office in Boise.

Mary Brooks, director of the U. S. mint, was on hand to present deeds to the properties which are being transferred under President Nixon's Legacy of Parks program.

The deeds included land on which the assay office stands and one to 20-acre Marsing Island on the Snake River.

Marsing Island, approximately 30 miles west of Boise, was formerly part of the Deer Flat National Wildlife Refuge. The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation is transferring the property to the city of Marsing for park purposes under legislation signed by President Nixon in 1970.

Hansen urges pension plan

MALAD — U. S. Rep. Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) said today that pension reform legislation is vital early in the next Congress to overcome what he called "a grave national problem caused by inadequate retirement security for the 80 million men and women who comprise our work force."

"There is a clear and pressing need to raise income levels of retired persons and to devise effective long-term systems to guarantee them a reasonable standard of living," Hansen said.

The Idaho representative speaking to a group in Malad, noted that reform of private pension plans has been the subject of extensive hearings by his House General Labor Subcommittee.

Poor judgment said crash cause

TWIN FALLS — "Poor judgment" on the part of a pilot has been blamed for the triple air fatality that occurred near Rogerson 21 months ago.

A report released in Washington by the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) said the pilot, Irl Clayton Duffy, Bellevue, continued flying into the area of a snowstorm without visibility.

The pilot lost control of the plane, the report said and the stresses that resulted caused the break-up of the plane and the death of Duffy, his son, Carson Duffy, and Howard Simms, Salmon.

The crash occurred Jan. 10, 1971 east of Rogerson, but the bodies were not discovered until ten days later. The trio had been on a flight from Jackpot, Nev., to Hailey when the crash occurred.

The poor weather that apparently contributed to the crash also hampered search and rescue operations, and when the crash wreckage was finally found, search officials said it had been overflown numerous times in the ten days of searching, but that inclement weather had prevented sighting.

World chess chief for rule changes

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Max Euwe, president of the World Chess Federation (FIDE), said today he was willing to try to change FIDE rules to make way for a revenge match between U.S. world champion Bobby Fischer and Russian Boris Spassky.

Euwe said that under present rules Spassky is not entitled to a second chance. Fischer is required to defend the title he took from Spassky last month against the winner of a candidates tournament no later than 1975.

But, Euwe told newsmen after a meeting at the Dutch chess federation "the situation of some years ago, when the loser was entitled to a revenge match could be restored or a rule could be adopted that the loser can have a revenge match if the new titlist agrees," he said.

Euwe said the rules could be changed only by a special FIDE congress but that he did not consider this a problem.

Both Fischer and Spassky are eager to play a "second match of the century," Euwe said. He said it was "strange" that the Soviet Chess Federation appeared to be lukewarm.

"Possibly Moscow no longer puts faith in Spassky but I think that is wrong," Euwe said.

PTA promotion plans outlined

TWIN FALLS — "Hey, PTA is kid stuff, try it!"

Parents of school children may be seeing this slogan everywhere in the next few weeks. The Twin Falls PTA Council is going to promote the PTA through kids bearing bumper stickers containing the slogan.

Roy Roper, vice president of the council, said it will run the program to sell the parent on PTA. To do it, he said, children have to become involved.

"The kids are going to have to tell the parents what they want us to do," Roper said. "Parents shouldn't sit at home, they should be out helping," he said.

Roper said it has to help to have the stickers posted all over the kids' notebooks and car bumpers. Parents are sure to take notice with every kid in the city advertising the PTA, he said.

The bumper sticker is part of a program to increase interest and renew activity in the Twin Falls area PTA.

The Twin Falls PTA Council is responsible for providing the school PTA units with information about the organization and what it does.

Roper said the council has fallen down on the job lately and has hindered the effectiveness of the units.

The PTA council is going back on a regular first-of-the-month meeting schedule, according to the bylaws, Roper said. The next step will be to get the local or school units back on a regular meeting basis, he said.

At present, they have one meeting at the first of the year, a carnival-dinner and a third meeting at the end of the school year to elect officers, Roper said.

The units should be meeting throughout the year to be effective, he said.

Roper said kids getting their parents interested is the answer to the whole problem. "Membership has to go up through the children," Roper said he hopes to have the bumper stickers available to students before November.

In a story in Thursday's Times-News, a sum for City PTA Council support was erroneously listed.

The Council receives $30 annually from each school unit, instead of 30 cents as stated in the story.

Mrs. Bernard Ruffing, treasurer for the PTA council, said $25 of that sum goes into a convention fund, to send Twin Falls PTA representatives to district, state and national meetings.

The remaining $5 is used for council expenses, she said.

TF attorney calls for flexible water plans

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — A Twin Falls attorney says any system for water appropriation in Idaho should be flexible enough to meet both present and future demands.

John Rosholt appeared Thursday at a seminar sponsored by the University of Idaho Water Resources Research Institute to discuss problems in stream water uses in the Thousand Springs area. A case concerning water usage is presently pending in Fifth District Court.

He said the test case would probably go to the Idaho Supreme Court.

He said such a case would decide if water must be diverted to be appropriated, and whether a stage agency can appropriate water. He said the question "whether 'beneficial use' of water is recreational recreation to appropriate water in Malad Canyon in the name of the state for public use."

"I don't think you want to create a situation which could foreclose the option of future development in Idaho," Rosholt said.

"The things that are important in 1972 may not be quite as important in 2000 and I think you want to be flexible," he said.

The test case arose after the Idaho Legislature approved a statute authorizing the State Department of Parks and Rec-HAILEY — Continental Oil Co. will not provide transportation for a Wood River High School tour to Germany as previously stated during a Tuesday night meeting.

Claude Porter, Hailey, Continental agent, said he has been working with his son, Blaine Porter, and Emory Dietrich, high school German teacher, to contract for commercial transportation for the tour.

During a Blaine County School District board of trustees meeting, it had been stated Continental Oil would provide transportation from the Hailey airport to London.

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The Oregon Journal Thursday endorsed George McGovern for president.

The newspaper said in an editorial that "millions find it impossible to vote either for President Nixon or for Sen. George McGovern without mixed feelings."

"That is the mood the Oregon Journal editors are in as we face the duty of endorsing one of the candidates."

"Yet the voter must make his mark alongside one name or the other and a newspaper must endorse one or the other."

Great Dry Run

Beyond confirming the cynical belief that politicians rank just a little ahead of confidence men in social usefulness, the question of political spying has to rate as the big-yawn issue of this election.

Buckets of ink have been spilled in speculation as to why this should be.

Why isn't the public shocked at the red-handed catching of spies in Democratic headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex? Why aren't people up in arms over evidence that the masterminding of espionage, even sabotage against Democratic candidates can be traced to the highest levels of the Nixon administration? Are Americans no longer capable of moral indignation?

Now the Republicans have counterattacked with charges of Democratic spying — even against themselves. We are reminded that Barry Goldwater was bugged in 1964.

The public's yawn only grows wider.

Maybe it's because nobody has answered one question that is rather fundamental to the whole thing. Nobody, in fact, has even asked it. To wit:

Just what is it that one party hopes to spy out in the other party's camp?

Secret lists of fat-cat donors?

But this makes it even more of a puzzle what spies hoped to find in the Democrats' headquarters, besides old bills.

A secret plan to win the hearts and minds of the voters?

But how could a party win the hearts and minds of the voters without letting the voters in on it?

Campaign strategy?

Surely anybody with normal intelligence can guess pretty accurately what issues the opposition is going to zero in on. Surely each party knows its own strengths and weaknesses and can assume that the other party knows them too.

Damaging personal evidence against a candidate?

Any number of other possibilities come to mind, but none seems very compelling. One is thus left with the feeling that the reason the public is not expected over widespread political espionage is that the public doesn't believe that anything of value is involved.

As Shakespeare might have put it: "Who steals my political secrets steals trash." — OAK

MR. SPECTATOR

Frank Brockway

Remember the Times-News story awhile back which detailed the apparent historic use of the overhang rock in the vicinity of Redfish Lake?

Well, F. C. Sheneberger walked into the office the other day and tossed the picture on our desk which we publish today. It is a snapshot of one Frank Brockway, a pioneer resident of the Stanley Basin country who died there in 1946. We believe he is buried in Stanley.

Nevertheless Mr. Brockway is interesting because he used to live in that overhang which hundreds of years before — perhaps thousands of years — served as home for the pre-historic bunch.

We don't know much about Mr. Brockway so if any of you readers do know, why not drop us a line and we will publish it in Mr. Spectator for all to see.

Meanwhile, we appreciate Mr. Sheneberger's visit and his providing the picture. He snapped it those long years ago during a visit to the overhang.

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

Percy And The Blood Pressure

CHICAGO — The self-imposed handicap that Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois carries into any race for the 1976 Republican Presidential nomination was exposed last week when he lunched at Chicago's elegant Casino Club with key Democratic supporters for his reelection to the Senate.

"Some assistants at the White House," Percy told his Democratic hosts, "have the mistaken belief that we are under a parliamentary system, where Republicans in Congress are required to follow the President." Percy quickly added that he had no intention of following anything other than his own conscience. The Democrats around the table, mostly liberal and mostly rich, beamed in approval.

Such campaign talk by Percy elevates blood pressure at the White House. President Nixon's political aides — and probably the President himself — cannot understand why Percy publicly criticizes them to woo liberal independents and Democrats who support him anyway. Such White House ire, in turn, irritates Percy into complaining about the White House.

Superficially, this has created heated competition over whether Percy's or the President's reelection campaign, each shown by the polls winning Illinois by 2-to-1, gets a bigger percentage of the state vote. But whoever is ahead Nov. 7, powerful forces close to Mr. Nixon are determined to obstruct Percy in the years ahead.

Actually, Percy is no doctrinaire liberal in his one-sided campaign against a little known Democratic Congressman from Chicago, Rep. Roman Pucinski. Before last week's Casino Club luncheon, Percy played the role of party regular in meeting with west suburban Republican committeemen. He hurried from the Casino Club to the north suburbs, where the Skokie Chamber of Commerce heard an impeccably conservative sermon decrying runaway Federal spending.

Nor is Percy the Senate's most irregular Republican. Although he has backed Mr. Nixon on only one-third of the issues, considered most important at the White House, that's much better than other liberal Republicans — Clifford Case of New Jersey and Jacob Javits of New York — who generate no such anger at the White House. The difference is Percy's insistence on criticizing Nixon policy during an election campaign.

Three weeks ago, Percy went on national television to attack the President's suffocation of the consumer protection bill. Last week, he bluntly criticized the President's handling of the Watergate bugging case.

In public, the Nixon political apparatus turns the other cheek. At the request of Percy supporters, Nixon campaign manager Clark MacGregor last week mailed pro-Percy letters to party regulars here. But after the consumer protection fight, White House aides privately passed word into conservative downstate Illinois of Mr. Nixon's intense unhappiness with Percy.

Indeed, Percy's closest backers in the Illinois Republican party cannot understand why, having cornered the liberal independent vote against Pucinski, he cannot curb his criticism of Mr. Nixon and thereby mend Republican fences for the future. Some have put the question to Percy, in precisely those terms.

The answer given them is a defense of his regularity and a contention that the Bourbons of Illinois have become reconciled to him. But that is strictly in terms of reelection to the Senate. Our check of the Bourbons here shows that Percy's independence from the White House has reinforced their blood-vow to fight his Presidential ambitions.

Liver Cirrhosis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would appreciate information on cirrhosis of the liver: how it affects you, what rules to follow if you have it, and how much does it shorten your life? — W. M.

Dear Doctor: Can the liver, once damaged because of excessive alcoholism, cure itself if the alcoholic forever abstains from drinking? — H. S.

Cirrhosis (inflammation and weakness, poor appetite, appear in the face, and palms of hand to say. That's hard to say, that's hard to say, that's hard to say.

But as it progresses, if not brought under control, the consequences are disastrous. At first the liver enlarges, later shrinks and becomes knobby.

Many functions of the liver are radically disturbed, including protein metabolism resulting in loss of weight, weakness, poor appetite, nausea, indigestion. Tiny spider-like blood vessels can appear in the face, and palms of the hands frequently are red.

Fluid accumulates, ascites or "dropsy," with a bulgy, fluid-filled belly, which may have to be drained.

How much it shortens life is hard to say. That's hard to predict in almost any disease, but complete liver failure, coma and death may take several years. Again, sudden death can occur from rupture of varicose veins around the gullet (esophageal varices). It's a nasty, savage, disease.

Alcoholism is a common cause of cirrhosis, compounded no doubt because hard drinkers usually have a poor and unbalanced diet, deficient in many essentials of nutrition. Cirrhosis can occur, however, in people who have never had a drop of alcohol. And more cirrhosis is being found following attacks of hepatitis.

Continued medical care is necessary, including periodic liver function tests which show whether or how progress is being made. Medications to get rid of fluid, and drainage in some cases, may be needed.

Given half a chance, the liver has remarkable powers of regeneration, but the patient must give up alcohol completely. The damaged liver cannot handle it.

Treatment usually includes a low-salt diet, but balanced as to other content — protein, carbohydrate, moderate fat. Sometimes in severe cases protein has to be restricted because the liver cannot metabolize it properly.

Whether, even with no more alcohol being consumed, the liver can "cure itself" is a moot question. Partial regeneration frequently occurs, but usually some scarring of the liver has taken place and that cannot correct itself.

But alcohol, after a person has had cirrhosis, is sheer poison, and foolhardy is a mild term for anyone who risks taking a drink after such liver trouble.

This is a too-prevalent danger. Too many patients, once they have passed the immediate dangers of cirrhosis, feel so much better they begin to think, "Just a drink now and then won't hurt me."

But it does.

PAUL HARVEY

Brain Factory

No intelligent stockholder would approve closing down the factory three months a year.

Factory maintenance costs would continue, unused facilities would depreciate, rent and taxes are year-round expenses, so much outgo would continue while all production would be cut off.

That just doesn't make sense for any factory.

Including a "knowledge factory."

Why do we vacate our schools in the summertime?

Most of your property tax increase in recent years has paid for new schools.

Yet most of those new schools stand idle and empty one-fourth of each year.

Of all proposed school bond issues this year, 53.3 per cent were voted down.

You can't blame the voters when they see already-established school facilities only three-fourths utilized.

In the old days, letting schoolchildren out for the summer made sense. They were needed to help with farm chores. And before air conditioning, classrooms in some regions were intolerable.

Neither justification exists any longer. Yet most school districts perpetuate this antiquated practice, but not all.

Nationally more than 100 school districts now have some form of all-year program.

And where a hundred are now staying open, the National School Study Calendar Committee reports a thousand others are thinking about it.

Taxpayers, exhausted, rebellious, are forcing educators to economize.

Under the year-round school program, teachers and students still get vacations, on a rotating basis.

But the facilities, remaining in year-round use, are able to produce one-fourth to one-third more "education" per year. Frequently this is sufficient to eliminate any immediate need for new buildings.

When St. Charles a suburb of St. Louis, Mo., ran out of money and had reached its limit of bonded indebtedness, a poll showed citizens 70 per cent in favor of year-round school.

They have it now.

They began making "full use" this year.

In Atlanta all high schools are now on a four-quarter system. It costs the city an additional $2 million a year but it has increased the number of available courses from 100 to 360. Students there are allowed to decide which three-quarters they wish to attend.

Starting this month the state of Texas allows state financing for any school district wishing to expand to four quarters.

A fringe benefit of no small significance is the constant availability of job-seeking school-agers, heretofore a summertime surplus.

From now on it's going to be difficult for any community to raise more money for more schools until it is making full use of the ones it has

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Impact Felt

WASHINGTON (NEA) — With crowds building, late money coming in fairly fast, and his own polls in key states showing close races Sen. George McGovern may be genuinely more hopeful about the election. But some friends say he is also preparing himself for defeat.

Naturally, no Democrat of consequence who openly backs McGovern is going to say anything for the record about McGovern's attitude. Yet the senator is a practical politician, and he knows his fight against President Nixon is still very much uphill.

Here's how one party source sees McGovern's mental approach today to the prospect of losing on Nov. 7:

"He is philosophical and even mystical about it. If he loses, I don't think he'll be too broken up at the end.

"He finds it disappointing the way things have gone, but he also feels that he will have done all that he could."

What exactly does that mean? Friends think it means that the South Dakota senator will be able to convince himself that he has had an unforgettable, healthy impact on the processes of change — not only in the Democratic party and politics generally, but in the nation.

You seldom if ever hear George McGovern use the phrase "the movement" to describe what he and others consider to be massive, continuing changes in American life today. Still he seems well persuaded that his candidacy rising out of nowhere on an evident tide of protest, represents a very positive contribution to the new forces at work.

Others, not unsympathetic to him, are not sure. They think only time will tell. If Mr. Nixon should bury him in a landslide, it could hardly be portrayed as a great forward push for McGovern's outlook. A strong finish, even if it does not bring him victory but only closes the gap, would clearly give far more significance to the McGovern effect."

While some influential Democrats thus think the jury is still out on how much impact McGovern will have personally, most would appear to agree with one top figure who says "the party will never be the same."

Its reforms, its new openness to blacks, women, youth, are believed to have broken a dam. Many Democrats look for still more changes in the years just ahead.

Nobody knows just yet how the party will be governed between presidential years by the vastly expanded, free-wheeling new national committee structure. Winner-take-all primaries like California's may be dead everywhere by 1976.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I have not decided for whom I shall vote. No one, so far, has really appealed to my deepest fears and frustrations!"

McGovern cautions Nixon on Thieu reactions

By United Press International
Sen. George S. McGovern, ignoring the possible adverse effect that a pre-election settlement of the Vietnam war may have on his presidential campaign, says he will give the administration his "full support and cooperation" if peace is achieved.

However, he urged President Nixon to prevent the South Vietnamese government from blocking ratification of the proposed nine-point peace plan. "I hope in all my heart President Nixon will not let Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu stand in the way of the settlement of this war," McGovern told a crowd of 15,000 at the University of Iowa Thursday. "I hope peace will at long last return" to South Vietnam.

Top Nixon lieutenants, meanwhile, urged the Democrats to eliminate the war issue from the campaign.

McGovern was in Detroit when presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger told reporters at the White House that peace in Vietnam is "within reach in a matter of weeks, or less."

The South Dakotan told reporters he had asked the White House to fill him in on the secret negotiations but declined further comment. He said he had not had an opportunity to study Kissinger's statement.

During his speech in Iowa, however, he said he was "haunted" by the knowledge that the war should have been ended four years ago under virtually the same terms announced Thursday. He said if the settlement does come about, students and political leaders who crusaded against the war would deserve the credit.

Sargent Shriver, campaigning in Columbia, S.C., labeled the peace accord an "election maneuver" on Nixon's part and a "triumph for George McGovern's campaign."

Shriver, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, also criticized the administration for not ending the war in 1968.

Shriver announced he had canceled his campaign appearance today in Detroit to attend the New York City funeral of baseball star Jackie Robinson. The Republicans urged their opponents to tone down future comments on the war.

Clark MacGregor, Nixon's campaign manager, said "The American people have the right to expect that the final stages of the peace negotiations can be conducted in an atmosphere free of partisan politics as possible."

"I call on both men (McGovern and Shriver) to stop taking cheap political shots until the Vietnam negotiations are completed. That would be a constructive contribution to the cause of peace with honor," he said.

GOP National Chairman Robert Dole sent a telegram to McGovern echoing MacGregor. "I am sure that you agree," Dole said "that the announcements ... underscore the need for keeping a discussion of war and peace in Vietnam above and beyond the routine of politics as usual."

Nixon made his first comment on the proposed peace pact while on a brief campaign visit in the Huntington, W.Va.-Ashland, Ky., area.

He said he was "confident" that the war would be settled and it would be on terms providing "peace with honor."

The President will deliver a paid political nationwide radio address on farm policy today at 12:07 p.m. EDT before embarking on a motorcade tour of Ohio Saturday.

In other campaign developments:

—The latest Gallup Poll per cent.

released Thursday showed that McGovern gained two percentage points but Nixon still holds a large lead of 59 per cent to 36 per cent.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again ... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Nixon heads poll

PRINCETOWN, N.J. (UPI)—President Nixon leads Sen. George McGovern by a 59 per cent to 36 per cent margin in the latest Gallup poll released Thursday.

McGovern moved up two percentage points in the poll, conducted from Oct. 13-18. It also indicated 4 per cent were undecided and 1 per cent supported other candidates.

"McGovern's gains can be explained in large measure by the fact that a large proportion of manual workers—a group which represents almost 40 per cent of the electorate—has shifted back to their traditional Democratic party allegiance," the Gallup survey said. "In the August survey, Nixon held a wide 63 to 28 per cent lead over McGovern among manual workers; in the latest survey Nixon's lead is marginal, 49 to 44 per cent."

The poll also said, "Since 1940, with the exception of the presidential campaigns of 1956 and 1944, the candidate behind in mid-October subsequently gained anywhere from three to 10 percentage points in the final two or three weeks of a campaign."

Gem candidates move in full swing

By United Press International
With 11 days remaining until the Nov. 7 general election, Idaho candidates for public office were moving in full swing Thursday.

Campaigning in Coeur d'Alene, Democratic senate hopeful William E. Davis challenged opponent James A. McClure to explain why he represented Idaho's First Congressional District only little more than half the time during the past two years of the 92nd Congress.

Davis, 43, on leave as president of Idaho State University, pointed out figures from the congressional record show McClure was present only 58 per cent of the time during the first session and only 58.9 per cent in the second.

"His average for the six years in Congress is the lowest among the state's congressional delegation," the Pocatello Democrat said.

He also noted McClure co-sponsored a bill last February which would unseat any Congressman failing to show up less than 70 per cent of the time.

"By his own bill, McClure would have been ousted from the House," Davis quipped.

In Preston, meanwhile, McClure renewed his pledge to block efforts by a federal executive pay commission to raise congressional salaries next year to $50,000.

"I will not only lead the fight against increased salaries," he told a gathering in the small southeastern Idaho community, "but I intend to ask Congress to strip away the $100,000 appropriation that keeps the Pay Commission operating."

The 48-year-old Payette Republican said rumors are circulating in Washington, D. C. that the commission establishing executive, legislative and judicial salaries will meet later this year to act on the pay increase recommendation.

He explained that once the President reviews the recommendation and presents his decision to Congress, it automatically becomes effective within 30 days if not rejected by either body of Congress.

"This would be just another example of this country's penchant for spending beyond its means with no thought for tomorrow," McClure remarked.

Elsewhere on the Gem State political front Thursday, Second District congressional aspirant Willis Ludlow loudly decried opponent Orval Hansen's joking offer to debate him after the election.

"A vital democracy depends on an open discussion of the issues," the Pocatello campus minister said. "For a United States congressman to undermine the process of representative government that he is supposed to be upholding is simply irresponsible."

Ludlow said it was easy for an incumbent to depend on his established position and his media advertising campaign.

"But," he added, "such a refusal to face his opponent and face the issues shows a basic disregard of the voter, which is partly why we currently see a crisis of confidence in our government."

In Pocatello, Hansen said he considers tax reform to be the number one priority in the next Congress and promised to push for an exhaustive review of the entire federal tax system.

"We need a new direction in tax policy, making it more conducive to vigorous economic growth and responsive to urgent social needs," the Idaho Falls Republican said.

BOISE (UPI) — This year's alfalfa seed crop in Idaho is forecast at 16,200,000 pounds or two per cent more than last year the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said.

Chile strike persists, no settlement signs

SANTIAGO (UPI)—A wave of small businessmen's strikes which President Salvador Allende said earlier took Chile to the verge of civil war went into their 17th day today with only faint signs of a settlement.

Allende conferred with military and police officials on dealing with renewed violence Thursday, which included one clash only a few blocks from the national palace. Police dispersed rock-throwing demonstrators with tear gas and clubs after the sharpest outbreak of violence in a week.

Negotiations between Allende and the strikers collapsed Thursday after both sides expressed optimism on chances of a settlement. Labor sources even reported "tentative agreement" at one point.

After the outbreak in the streets, Allende summoned the National Security Council to a special two-hour meeting.

Defense Minister Jose Toha said the violence was another of "grave attempt ... which is disturbing the government." He said the government will act "inflexibly" in dealing with violence.

Officials of retail merchants associations said their bargaining with Allende were deadlocked on demands for modifying the economic policies of the Marxist-dominated coalition Allende leads.

A spokesman for the Truck Owners Assn. said its conversations with Allende "were virtually dead and almost at the breaking point." The association said 24 hours earlier it had accepted a tentative agreement with the president. The truck owners struck Oct. 11 to protest a proposed federal trucking authority in a southern province.

Idaho grant

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Rep. James A. McClure announced Thursday Idaho's law enforcement planning commission has been awarded $742,000 for planning and administration activities directed at improving state and local law enforcement.

According to a news release from McClure's Washington, D.C. office, federal officials said the grant will enable the commission to make improvements on all elements of the criminal justice system.

Gem makes film rule

BOISE (UPI)—The state attorney general's office ruled Thursday that film making is a service and does not come under the control of the state purchasing agent.

"The making of a film includes such things as writing of scripts, camera work, lighting, editing and other skills involving judgment and professional ability."

Mud new problem for Soviet farms

MOSCOW (UPI) — Mud caused by heavy autumn rains is creating a new crisis for Soviet farmers trying to recoup from the worst agricultural year this century, diplomatic sources said today.

"Heavy rainfall following the dry summer is creating an awful lot of mud, making it tough to plow," said a western diplomat who is an expert in Soviet agriculture. "This doesn't augur well for next year's crops."

Western diplomats who recently visited farmlands in central Russia reported "mud seemed to be almost everywhere."

A severe winter and a scorching summer nearly ruined the nation's grain, potato and cabbage crops—the key-stones of the traditional staple diet.

Feeders decrease in Idaho

BOISE — The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service estimates that there were 177,000 head of livestock on feed in Idaho feedlots on Oct. 1.

This is nine per cent less than Idaho feeders had on hand a year ago.

During the July 1 through Sept. 30 quarter, placements and marketings were down from the same quarter a year ago. Placements were down 30 per cent and marketings were down 19 per cent.

During the Oct. 1 through Dec. 31 period, Idaho feeders expect to market 15 per cent fewer cattle than during the period a year ago.

Of the 177,000 head on feed, there were 76,000 head weighing more than 900 pounds, compared with 53,000 on the same date last year.

Steers comprised 76 per cent of the total cattle being fed, heifers 22 per cent and cows and other two percent.

setbacks seem to have curtailed panic buying, a spot check of Moscow shops indicated.

"There was some initial panic buying and hoarding when the severity of the potato and cabbage crop losses became known," one diplomat said. "But this seems to have been curtailed by official efforts to keep up supplies to state stores at standard prices."

The spot check showed fewer potatoes than usual in state-run shops and farmers markets but there were plenty for all customers (and no abnormally long lines).

Cabbages were abundant in the farmers markets but were selling for about twice their usual price. They were sold out in at least one state shop.

Recipe boosts bread

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new high-protein bread formula developed by government chemists can help lift nutrition levels for poor people in all parts of the world, the Agriculture Department said today.

Officials announced a public patent has been awarded on the process.

They said it can boost the protein content of white bread about 70 per cent and triple the concentration of lysine, an essential protein ended in human diets.

Ordinary enriched white bread contains about 8.7 per cent protein. But bread produced with the new formula has nearly 15 per cent protein, officials said.

"The bread can be a principal source of protein, both in developing countries and the United States, for children and adults whose diets are nutritionally deficient and who depend upon bread as a major food. In addition, protein-enriched bread can serve as a supplemental food for those who are well fed," a department statement said.

The public patent for the process — which shows how to successfully blend up to 16 per cent soy flour or any other high-lysine concentrate with wheat flour — was issued to two Agricultural Research Service (ARS) chemists.

They are Dr. Yeshajahu Pomeranz, stationed at Madison, Wis., and Karl F. Finney, Manhattan, Kan.

Officials said the ARS, an Agriculture Department agency, will issue non-exclusive licenses for the process to any qualified baking firms. There will be no royalties or profits to the inventors, a spokesman said.

In the past, attempts to mix soy flour or other high-protein concentrates with wheat flour have foundered because the proteins of wheat and soy flours are "incompatible" and the baking quality of the mixture is poor.

The key to the new process is the addition of extra glycolipids, natural mixtures of carbohydrates and fats.

Filer observes 'Spirit' week

FILER — Filer High School is observing spirit week to be climaxed by a football game tonight against Glenns Ferry. A parade will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the game set to start at 8 p.m. Student groups will enter floats for the parade, which will start at the high school and proceed north on Yakima Street. A football spirit queen will be selected by the team players and named just before the game.

Candidates for the title are Sandy Heaps, Margrit Jenny, Donna Rae Reichert and Betty Schnell. Students went to school in red and white clothing today to feature the school colors. Saturday a Sadie Hawkins dance will be held at 9 p.m. in the school with students to wear costumes appropriate to the occasion. Miss Heaps and Ron Jones are student co-chairmen for the spirit week activities.

Ceremony held for TF chapter

TWIN FALLS — The Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi conducted a ritual of jewels ceremony Wednesday evening. Honored were Mrs. Don Grubbs, Mrs. Don Fix, Sandy Gose and Sharon Stahlecker. The event was at the home of Mrs. Richard Standley. A business meeting was conducted before the ceremony with reports from the ways and means committee on the Christmas auction to be held in December and from the social committee on the Halloween and Christmas parties.

The service committee presented motion which was passed unanimously that $25 from proceeds of the cooked food sale and flower bulb auction to go to the new Xi Alpha Tau Exemplar Chapter being formed in Twin Falls.

The Halloween party is at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Skylane Mobile Home Park Recreation Center. The next meeting is Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. George Warbrug. Secret sisters will be revealed.

Favoritism rapped

TWIN FALLS — Robert (Bob) Geer today accused County Commissioner William Chancey of favoring "special groups" in his official capacity. Geer, a Democrat challenging incumbent Republican Chancey, said the commissioner "had constantly favored special groups in the county from the time of the construction of the judicial building until now."

Geer also said Chancey was "often rude with people who wanted to do business with the county."

But the challenger, in a brief interview today, declined to elaborate on the charges, saying he wouldn't identify which groups Chancey allegedly favored. Geer said "history shows that one party being in power too long often ends up badly," and added he "was not sure if experience that ended up being in office too long did not actually end up being bureaucracy."

Carnival tonight

TWIN FALLS — The Lincoln School PTA dinner-carnival is set for 6 p.m. tonight in the school cafeteria. There will be food and carnival games available for the family. The money received from the carnival will be turned back to the school in the form of teaching aids, or playground equipment.

Gospel Fellowship to organize in TF

TWIN FALLS — Do God and businessmen mix?

Yes, says a non-denominational world-wide organization, the Full Gospel Businessmen Fellowship International, which will be holding a chapter organization dinner meeting at the CSI Multipurpose building at 7 p.m. Nov. 4, according to Wayne Barney, meeting chairman.

International director James Howell, Boise, businessman, will be in charge of the program.

People such as Gen. Ralph Haines and dedicated christian men from all walks of life are giving of their time to do God's work. They welcome other businessmen into the fellowship who recognize Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord, and the Bible as the Word of God.

Demos Shakarian, a Los Angeles dairy farmer, who founded the Fellowship in 1950 with 21 other businessmen, said at the world convention this last August in San Francisco, "that there are now 900 chapters around the world, and over 700 in America, with over 300,000 members and many thousands more who enjoy the Fellowship in the Lord."

He also said, "God is using the Fellowship to bring the Holy Spirit movement and His gifts back to the people." He also attributes the remarkable growth of the charismatic move abroad — particularly in predominantly Roman Catholic countries — is credited with providing a ready audience for Fellowship missionaries!

Part of the Fellowship's popularity in the United States is linked to its interdenominational flavor. It is a non-profit corporation, and depends on the leading of the Lord and of men willing to follow that leading. Its success and blessing are attributable to the fact that God led in the beginning and has continued to lead as the FGBMFI has grown and spread around the world. Catholics, Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Assembly of God, and people from all denominations belong, Barney said. The Fellowship is in no wise competitive with the church, local, denominational, or universal, but rather complements the effort of each. It seeks only the advancement of the cause of Jesus Christ, having no ambition of its own other than to promote the work of the Lord.

The term "business man" is of broad interpretation when used as the basis of fellowship. It shows the confidence of the membership as the whole that God has many men in all walks of life who will respond to such a fellowship. Because of the sincere appreciation that the FGBMFI has for ministers of the gospel, their membership is welcomed in the Fellowship. Because it is a laymen's organization, however, ministers do not hold office in it, but rather are sought for spiritual guidance and advice.

Businessmen who may be interested in attending are invited to the meeting Nov. 4 and tickets can be obtained by contacting the Christian Bible Book store in Twin Falls, or Barney.

MR. AND MRS. STERLING LARSON leaving soon

TF couple sets Canada mission

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Larson, Twin Falls, will leave next week on an LDS Mission assignment to Canada.

They will leave for Salt Lake City Nov. 1 preparatory to entering the Mission Home in Salt Lake City Nov. 4. After five days in the Mission Home they will leave for the Alberta-Saskatchewan Mission with headquarters in Calgary. The call is for a period of 18 months.

During the past two weeks they have been visiting their sons and daughter and their families, Sterling Bryant in Salt Lake City, Keith in Scottsdale, Ariz., and DeAnna, Palo Alto, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Larson are the former owners of Twin Falls Business College and Idaho Falls Business College. Larson started both schools immediately after World War II. The Idaho Falls school was sold in 1955 and Twin Falls Business College in 1962.

During the time since leaving the business college Larson has operated an Arabian horse ranch in the Thousand Springs area in addition to working with Foreign Study League out of Salt Lake City. The Larsons visited high schools throughout the western and northwestern states, Georgia, and Florida, setting up the student travel study programs which are held through the summer vacation months. Six weeks each summer was spent in Europe with the Student groups.

They have left their affairs in Twin Falls in the hands of Robert J. Allred, who will be living in their home until they return in June, 1974.

Militant women to nail feminist theses on door

PASADENA (UPI) — Just as Martin Luther nailed his historic 95 theses to a church door in Germany, setting off the reformation, so a group of militant women plan to nail or tape a list of "feminist theses" to church doors this Sunday.

A group of four women, all ministers' wives, Tuesday nailed the theses to the entrance of the Southern California headquarters of the United Church of Christ.

Among other things, they challenge the tradition of referring to God as "Him" and restrictions in most denominations against women being ordained ministers. (The UCS does ordain women.) "Human beings were created in the image of God — male and female — and so "it is heresy to refer to God exclusively in the male gender," argued one of the theses.

The theses are the work of the women's task force of the United Church of Christ, but they are addressed to "all christian churches."

They plan to nail or tape the theses to the doors of a dozen UCC churches in Southern California this Sunday, which is celebrated as reformation Sunday, they said, and mail copies to other churches and church-connected women's groups across the country. The 15-member task force was created by the UCC regional convention last year. The group of four nailing the theses to the local church headquarters door Tuesday included Elisabeth Register, wife of Dr. Fred Register, the church's Southern California executive.

The theses complained that churches "exploit women through volunteerism," treat women as "chattel" in traditional marriage services and that "without women in its official ministry a church's leadership is stagnant at nearly every level."

CHURCHES

Fall presbyterial convenes at Nampa

KING HILL — The Fall Presbyterial began at 9 a.m. today at the Nampa Presbyterian Church, according to Mrs. E. B. Lawson, president of the King Hill United Presbyterian Women.

A memorial for Mrs. Martin Woodward was discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the UPW at the home of Mrs. Marie Lawson. The memorial would be candlesticks to match the cross in the church given in memory of Mrs. Woodward's mother.

Mrs. E. B. Lawson gave a prayer cycle report on the United Arab Republic and Cairo. The group decided to fill the goal sheets in the same way they were filled last year.

Mrs. Frank Jones gave a resume of "Nine O'Clock in the Morning" by Dennis Bennett. She displayed the completed T bandages which will be sent to a hospital on the mission list.

The group discussed the making of a quilt for relief supplies.

Mrs. E. B. Lawson, ecumenical mission chairman, reported on "Medical Missions," and presented "Spiritual Thoughts."

Mrs. Arthur Greer used "Wonderful Love" by Rane Eliezer, Malaysia, for the ceremony of the "Least Coin."

Mrs. Karl Carnahan, secretary, reported $2.58 in Least Coin money sent to the Presbyterial secretary.

Ceremony burning set Nov. 19

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone First Baptist Church will hold a mortgage burning ceremony at special services Nov. 19.

Announcement of the upcoming event was made by church officials here this week, in view of the recent payment made to pay off all indebtedness against the building.

Former pastor, the Rev. Paul B. Winkler, Arvada, Colo., will be present to speak at the services.

The new building was begun and near completion during the time he served as pastor at Shoshone. It replaced the old church built in 1901, which burned on Christmas Eve in 1963.

Film set

GOODING — "The Return" a color documentary filmed in the Middle East, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Gooding Church of the Nazarene.

The film retells the events leading to the final hours of the world's history. The drama begins with Israel, the stage where mankind's most profound performance may be played.

Speaking awards at Burley MIA

BURLEY — Ricky Rolls was winner of the 1972 speaking award at the Burley LDS Third Ward MIA speech convention Tuesday.

He spoke on "Growth in Scouting."

Books and "Excellent" ratings were received by Mary Denaughel, who spoke on "Reasons for Attending Church;" LaDonna Smedley, "Life's Values" and Kelly Hutchison, "The Evils of Marijuana."

Judges were Fern Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Walker.

A $5 class award was given to the "scouts for conduct, cooperation and reverence during the meeting."

Charlene Rolls introduced the program, which was under the direction of Betty Hiner. Beverly Bennett conducted. June Paskett and Deanne James were in charge of the music.

Nominating the candidates for awards were Nedra Aberus, Daniel Hiner, Terri Draper and Ricky Carter.

Film set in Gooding

TWIN FALLS — "Signposts Aloft," the new Moody Institute of Science film, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Lynwood Chapel, 1306 Filer Avenue E.

The film is the latest in the Moody series of "Sermons From Science," and has been acclaimed by aviation authorities as a "must" for every pilot as it could be the means of saving lives.

Wendell youth conduct service

WENDELL — Youth Sunday will be observed Sunday at the Wendell United Presbyterian Church with the youth conducting the morning worship service.

Following the service a coffee fellowship hour will be hosted by the young people to provide an opportunity for members of the congregation to observe displays and projects which will be on exhibit.

Among the exhibits will be a photographic display showing the variety of service projects undertaken by the youth in the community during the summer and fall.

The day will be concluded by the youth in an evening UNICEF collection effort in Wendell. From 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. young people will canvass at every door in town for the annual UNICEF fund in support of the United Nations effort to provide education and health services for the world's neglected children.

Last year's solicitation for UNICEF in Wendell resulted in a $91.50 contribution, and it is hoped that this year's amount can be doubled.

Citizens are urged to leave their porch lights on to welcome youth to their doors and to be prepared to contribute generously to the UNICEF collection boxes which they will carry.

The young people will gather at the church at 7 p.m. to begin the solicitation and again at 9 p.m. to turn in their money and enjoy refreshments and games.

Church pays advance taxes

BOSTON — One of the city's largest taxpayers, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, has cooperated with the city by paying in advance more than $1.5 million in property taxes.

The church, which serves as the international headquarters for the Christian Science denomination, presented $1.51 million to the city Sept. 29, more than $300,000 above what it paid last year.

The city asked a few large taxpayers to pay their taxes several months in advance to alleviate a potential fiscal crisis caused by the freeze of school aid funds by the State Board of Education.

For many years the church has paid taxes on all property which is not used for actual worship purposes. This includes The Christian Science Publishing Society building, the administration building and other property around the Christian Science Center.

Conclave set

TWIN FALLS — The semi-annual meeting of the Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church will be Sunday evening.

A potluck dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the business meeting will commence at 7:15. Business will include election of officers for 1973, review of the proposed 1973 budget and the first reading of new congregation bylaws.

Youth of the church are encouraged to attend the meeting instead of meeting with their regular church groups.

The Sunday 9:30 a.m. service will continue its study of Nehemiah. At the 11 a.m. worship service, Rev. Van Nest will speak on "Milestones of Faith." The choir will sing the hymn "Awake My Soul."

Missionary to talk at Baptist Church

TWIN FALLS — Rupert R. Nelson, missionary of American Baptist Churches to Thailand, will speak at First Baptist Church, Twin Falls, Sunday at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services.

Nelson has been speaking during the past week before American Baptist congregations in Magic Valley. He is an agricultural specialist in northern Thailand.

He works among Karen tribesmen, supervises the United Village School at Namlat, and established an agricultural experimental center near Chiang Rai.

Nelson holds the B. S. degree in agriculture from South Dakota State University and the M. S. degree from the University of Wisconsin. He also attended the American Baptist Seminary of the West, Berkeley, Calif.

PHILLIP LINDVALL

Church sets charismatic conclave

TWIN FALLS — Rev. Phillip Lindvall, Sunnyvale, Calif., will conduct a five-day "Charismatic Involvement Conference" at the Assembly of God Church here.

The conference will begin Monday and continue through Friday with sessions held at 7:30 p.m. each evening and at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday through Friday.

Sessions will cover "A Deeper Life," a holy spirit conference, prayer conference, Bible teaching and discussions on "Gifts and Fruits of the Spirit." Rev. Lindvall's topics during the morning session will cover emotional growth, guarantees of happiness, changes in disposition and demonism.

Further information is available from Assembly of God Church pastor, L. I. Lamance, 733-5349. The public is invited to attend all conference sessions.

Roger Franklin's Time for Living

Poignant letter haunts columnist

I have a letter on my desk that's been haunting me for two weeks. It's one of the most thoughtful letters I've ever received — that's why I want to share it with you.

You'll remember that in a recent column I asked my readers to tell me about their new or old ways of celebrating Christmas and Chanukah.

In response, Mrs. Elsie P. Ryther of Zeleski, Ohio, wrote, "Dear Mr. Franklin I enjoyed your column on 'Marking the Holidays'."

"It has always saddened me at Christmastime to see organizations go all out to give and do for the lonely and unfortunate, but the rest of the year they're generally too busy I decided to do something on my own, and the whole family became involved, and enjoyed it!"

"I went to the local rest home (Duluth, Minn.) and found there a woman, 82 years old, who'd been there for 17 years and never had a visitor or a phone call, and hadn't even been out of the home for 8 years. She was my target! In the beginning she was suspicious of my visits, but I phoned and saw her once a week. Three months later she phoned me.

"She had little conversation with others in the home, feeling she had nothing to contribute. I began including her in our family birthday and holiday dinners, and it was a joy to hear her relate stories about her voyage to the U. S. from Sweden, her life in North Dakota in the rugged old days, her marriage to an older man, and living in Montana raising wheat."

My four children loved her and called her Grandma. When we adopted a Chippewa Indian boy, she'd giggle, "Who'd think a childless woman like me would become Grandma to an Indian?"

"She loved him and the children, they learned kindness and patience for and from her."

She called my husband her son — he gave blood when she was ill. We did numerous things for her, none large or entailing money, mostly love and concern and a little time.

"The first birthday party she ever had was with us, and seeing her tears of joy was somewhat unnerving when we realized how little we'd done to make such happiness. But we were transferred to another city I could find nobody to visit or phone her. We sent her letters, school pictures, birthday greetings, small gifts to let her know we were always thinking about her. When our children married, their children visited and wrote her. She died four years ago, still a lively-minded woman, despite being bed-ridden.

"I can never express the beautiful rewards of having our extra Grandma. Occasionally, we were impatient, but we learned far more about elderly people and how a little love goes a long, long way. This is just my way of sharing something with you and your readers, the kind of thing one doesn't talk about too much — some people may think it's bragging."

Now you see why I couldn't resist putting this letter in my column today? It haunts me. Will it haunt you, too?

TF miss, Remmen say vows

MR. AND MRS. PETER REMMEN

TWIN FALLS — Jan Marie Ashenbrenner and Peter Remmen were married in a 3 p.m. ceremony Oct. 21 at St. Benedict's Priory.

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Patrick Meagher assisted by Brother Sylvester Sonnen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Ashenbrenner, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lee Remmen, Seattle, Wash.

The bride wore a gown of ivory brocade. She carried a bouquet of white baby roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Terry Lackey, Colfax, Wash., sister of the bride. Lori Ashenbrenner, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Lee Knight, Rochester, Minn., was best man. Paul Foster, Denver, Colo., was attendant.

Mrs. David Mead was soloist. She was accompanied by organist Robert Nora.

The couple was honored at an open house after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Mary Ashenbrenner, May Ashenbrenner, Teresa Ashenbrenner, Mrs. John Ashenbrenner and Joseph and George Ashenbrenner, all Nampa; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Anderson, Meridian; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Foster, Denver, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Knight, Rochester, Minn.

After an extended honeymoon in India, the couple will reside in Denver where the bridegroom is associated with an architectural firm.

Buhl Antique group plays in Pocatello

BUHL — The Antique Festival Fall Players will present Shakespeare for children at Idaho State University on Saturday, Nov. 4.

The Buhl-based group of young professionals will present "Witches, Fools and Fairies" subtitled "A Child's Introduction to Shakespeare."

The company is touring the state presenting scenes adapted for children from "Macbeth," "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Tempest." The Idaho Commission on the Arts and Humanities is contributing some assistance to the tour.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old, and my parents force me to attend church every Sunday.

I hate going to church because I see people there who I know are drunkards, gossipers, liars and cheats, and they are right there every Sunday saying their prayers and singing the hymns. I don't have any respect for hypocrites and our church is full of them, my own parents included.

I am only 13, so maybe my opinion doesn't count, but I don't see any sense in my going to church with a bunch of hypocrites.

ONLY A BOY

DEAR ONLY: Christ became a man at 13, and you are not too young to become a man either. One goes to church to learn about the Bible and the word of the Lord, altho God dwells in one's heart, and it's not necessary to "go" to church to communicate with Him.

A church is not a museum for Saints, its a hospital for sinners, so "Judge not, lest ye be judged," young man.

Hypocrites prevail

DEAR ABBY: I do not care for dirty jokes, especially in mixed company, but I never know how to act when I hear one. I'm a young married woman.

Should I keep my face straight and pretend I don't understand it? [That would seem rather foolish.]

Or should I politely laugh along with everyone else? I'm afraid if I make an issue of it and bluntly say I don't care for dirty jokes, people will think I'm a poor sport.

VIRGO

DEAR VIRGO: Don't permit ANYTHING which offends you to be said in your presence without challenging it. Silence implies approval. Respectable people will respect you, and don't worry about what the others think.

DEAR ABBY: My son and daughter in law have a darling two-month-old baby, and they ride all over on a motorcycle with the baby strapped to the mother's back.

My son and his wife wear heavy helmets in case they fall off or get into an accident, but the baby doesn't have anything on his head. I don't like to meddle, but I mentioned this to them, and they didn't pay any attention to me.

Now what should I do?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Mention it again! And this time explain to those foolish parents that they are exposing that child to possible injury or death! No one should ride a motorcycle unless he is protected.

And that goes for infants too!

DEAR ABBY: What are the requirements for adopting a Viet Nam orphan? I am a single male, age 45. I have a nice home paid for and have an adequate income to help at least one homeless child.

I am prepared to take a trip overseas if necessary. Thank you for any information you can give me in this matter.

ALABAMAN

DEAR ALABAMAN: Write to International Social Service: W. A. I. F., 345 E. 48th St., New York, N. Y. And good luck. You're beautiful.

Problems? Trudi Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 60700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a very tough hand. The slam contract is good but the fairly simple play of ruffing two clubs in dummy won't work after the defense starts with two rounds of diamonds. South must ruff the second diamond high.

He plays two rounds of trumps and finds that West still holds a pesky eight-spot. If he ruffs those two clubs he won't be able to get back to his hand to pull West's last trump.

You can enjoy yourself working out why this play fails. Now see if you can work out how South can make the hand.

He has to be lucky. He must find East with four clubs so as to develop what is known as a trump-squeeze against him.

South cashes dummy's ace and king of clubs, leads a spade to his queen and leads to the ace and king of spades and a third trump from dummy. This trump squeezes East.

East has to come down to three cards. If he holds a singleton club, South overtakes dummy's trump, leads a third club and sets up his last club. If East comes down to one diamond South lets dummy hold the trick, ruffs a diamond in his own hand and sets up dummy's last diamond as the 12th trick.

Lucky, but the sort of good luck only experts enjoy.

Luncheon, style show held by Twin-Ida unit

TWIN FALLS — Twin-Ida Chapter, National Secretaries Association held its third annual fall luncheon and style show Wednesday at the Colonial House.

Fashions from The Paris Co. were modeled by Phyllis Milatovich and Kathy Whitaker, Twin-Ida members, and Carolyn Wildman, Dianna Newton and Sheryl Olson.

Chairman for the event was Mrs. Marjorie Kroush.

Mrs. Bethel Marshall, CPS, division vice president, Boise, made her official visit to Twin-Ida and Cadoka Chapters at a joint meeting last week at Burley. Thirteen members from Twin Falls attended the banquet meeting. Entertainment was provided by the 1972 delegates to Boys' and Girls' State.

In relating his experiences and opinions at Boys' State, Brent Neilson stated that his pet peeve is people who don't get involved and people not showing respect for our flag and our country.

Plans are being made to participate in the Flea Market Dec. 2.

TF league meets

TWIN FALLS — Equality of education for all Idaho school children was discussed at a Twin Falls League of Women Voters unit meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. Ingrid Strobe, education committee chairman, said that "the League of Women Voters of Idaho believes that every child has equal educational rights. Idaho has a wide range in school district size and property value. Legislation is needed to provide additional funding for education.

Areas discussed and the name of the person chairing the investigation of each were district reorganization, Mrs. Vicki Moore; public school financing, Mrs. Anna Hayes; kindergartens, Mrs. Sue Pack; and vocational education, Mrs. Marilee Lampe.

Rupert couple exchanges promises

RUPERT — Linda Diane Bird and John Clark were married in a double ring ceremony Oct. 14 at the Ogden LDS Temple.

John Zundel, counselor, performed the marriage rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine D. Bird, Rupert, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Clark, Rupert.

A reception honoring the couple was held the same evening at the Rupert LDS Third Ward.

Guests were greeted before a beige venetian backdrop with beige, brown and orange valances and flanked by potted flowering trees. Orange grapes held the valances in scallops.

Wicker isle stanchion markers, wicker baskets with orange flowers and orange carpet completed the decor.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown of white organza over white satin fashioned by her mother. The bodice featured an insert of French lace at the waistline, bodice front and high neckline.

The long puffed sleeves trimmed in French lace were caught by wide bands of French lace and ruffles.

The full skirt with wide ruffles was trimmed in French lace. Her full-length veil of illusion was held by a camelot headpiece and she carried a colonial bouquet of Talsman roses, white carnations and brown baby's breath.

Mrs. Jeanette McReynolds, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Theresa Peterson was maid of honor and Julie Clark, sister of the bridegroom, and Colleen Bird and Aletha Bird, both sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Jim Clark served his brother as best man, and Ricky Peyron and Ed McReynolds were ushers.

Georgia Willard, cousin of the bride, North Edwards, Calif., was in charge of the guest book table. Dianne Barlow, Dawn Peterson and Kathy Price were in charge of gifts and Kay Spevak and Carla Skinner carried the gifts.

The buffet table was covered with full-length beige tulle over beige satin and centered with a five-tier spice cake decorated in orange and brown flowers and separated by Grecian columns. The base of the cake was three round cakes and the top held two white satin doves.

Mrs. Lena Henschel, grandmother of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake, assisted by Nancy Tupyl. Ann Giraud poured orange frappe. Others assisting were Kathy Anderson, Rosemary Stark and Cleo Simmons, aunt of the bride, Fairfield.

Round quartet tables were covered with floor-length beige tulle over beige satin and centered with hurricane candles in orange and brown floral candle rings.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Butler, Mrs. Alida Bird, Glora Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Al Henschel. Guests attended from California, Utah, Boise, Pocatello, Gooding, Twin Falls, Fairfield and Oakley.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Sun Valley. They will reside in Rupert.

The bride and bridegroom were graduated from Minico High School. The bride was graduated from Ricks College and the bridegroom attended Utah State University.

HALLOWEEN GINGIES

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup molasses
- 1 cup water
- 4 cups sifted all purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons ginger
- 1 teaspoon each nutmeg, cloves and cinnamon

Mix together thoroughly shortening, sugar, egg and molasses. Stir in the water. Sift together the flour and other dry ingredients. Stir into the mixture. Blend until smooth. Chill dough for several hours or overnight.

Drop rounded teaspoonful about two inches apart on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes, until just set. When touched lightly with finger, almost no imprint remains.

Frost while warm, if desired, with orange colored icing and let the children decorate like Halloween pumpkins with small chocolate chips, candy corn, etc.

EASY CREAMY ICING

- Blend together: 1 cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, orange or almond flavoring
- About 1 tablespoon water or 1 1/2 tablespoons cream, use enough to make easy to spread.
- Tint with a few drops orange coloring. Spread on warm cookies with spatula or pastry brush. Decorate.

Pearl ropes, silver or golden-looking ropes. They're all good for the fall and winter fashion scene. Ideally suited to the lifestyle of today they go with everything from pants to uninhibited party clothes.

 BURLEY 1243 HANSEN

Oakley studies subdistrict plan

According to Swan, a subdistrict is an implied school district and would therefore be subject to a law which demands that each school district contain a high school.

His proposal included a provision that each subdistrict contribute money for use in county-wide improvements, and a three year experimental program that would bus Burley High School students to Oakley on a volunteer basis to acquaint them with the advantages of a small school.

Keith Amende, Albion resident attending the meeting, questioned the acceptability of a subdistrict spending money on county-wide school improvements. He said bonding firms would probably not purchase bonds if the money was to be used "outside" the subdistrict.

In the discussion which preceded Swan's proposal, Mrs. Lynn Boren, secretary and treasurer of the Oakley Valley Improvement Group, said preliminary results of a poll taken in Oakley indicates that most residents favored deconsolidation if it is financially feasible. But most of those in attendance felt that deconsolidation should be reserved as a last resort.

Deconsolidation would entail complete disjunction from the Cassia School District, while subdistricting would allow financial independence under a central school board.

Amende, speaking of the Albion area, said, "We are not ready for deconsolidation. We don't have the assessed valuation to support even our elementary school."

Reports were given concerning small districts in the Magic Valley area that are functioning without the benefit of consolidation.

Three small districts in Twin Falls County were included — Hansen with an assessed valuation of $2.8 million and 322 students; Murtaugh with $3 million assessed valuation and 300 students; and Castleford with a $2 million assessed valuation and 297 students.

In the area covered by the Oakley Highway District, which would be a logical school district for the Oakley area, the assessed valuation is $3.8 million. There are about 335 students.

It was generally conceded at the meeting that some Cassia County school improvements are needed but that the Oct. 17 bond issue included provisions for many unnecessary changes.

A new Declo Elementary School, a school in Burley to replace Miller Elementary and relief of the student load on Burley Junior High were mentioned as essential projects in the county.

The meeting ended when Chairman Freeman Whittle asked Swan and Mrs. Anne Woodhouse to research Swan's proposal and report to a special meeting to be held in two weeks.

He said a final draft of the proposal should then be sent to other Cassia communities for their consideration and suggestions.

THIS HEREFORD BULL, owned by Wallace Hayes, center, Rockland, was named grand champion at the fall range bull sale at the Filer fairgrounds. Hereford steer named champion FILER — A Hereford steer owned by Wallace Hayes, Rockland, was named grand champion at Thursday's grading prior to today's fall bull sale at the fairgrounds.

The prize winning animal was selected from 13 grade A bulls. Reserve champion honors went to a Hereford owned by Ernest Olson, Logan.

Hayes received a trophy presented by Gene Davis, Bruneau, president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association which sponsors the annual fall sale.

Breeders from Idaho, as well as Washington and Utah, brought in the 201 head of bulls which were graded as 13 A, 55 A-84 B+ and 26 B, according to John Olson, Boise, assistant sale secretary. Jim Faulkner, Bliss, was sale chairman.

The sale got underway at 11 a.m. today with Herefords, red Angus, black Angus, Charolais and Shorthorns going through the ring. Skinner Hardy, Bakersfield, Calif., and Clayton Tschirgi, Fruitland, are sale auctioneers.

The Desert Gold CowBelles served lunches at the sale grounds. Judges were Piero Piva, Challis; Bill Ross, Jordan Valley, and Wade Wells of the University of Idaho.

This sale will bring the total proceeds from the spring and fall bull sales since 1962 to over the $4 million mark, according to Mrs. Tom Shouse, wife of the secretary-manager of the fairgrounds.

Bellevue zoning proposal scored

He disapproved of the additional costs of enacting the ordinance and having a planning and zoning commission when the City Council already exists.

The new ordinance would result in duplication, O'Donnell said, because the city currently has old ordinances on the books pertaining to building and these are not enforced.

Alderman Joe Bergin said provisions of the proposed ordinance are "livable" and designed to protect persons from neighbors encroaching on their rights. Last summer the council received several requests to place buildings up to the property lines, he said.

Pigg said the zoning ordinance has thus far resulted in no costs to the city as zoning committee members are serving on a voluntary basis. The planning and zoning commission was necessary to get a "wider scope of opinions" from the community, beyond the views of the elected officials, the mayor said.

If the ordinance is passed, the council will still take final action on any zoning matter as the planning and zoning commission will serve as an advisory group to the council, Pigg said.

Wendell public hearing slated

WENDELL — A public hearing for citizen discussion of the proposed Wendell sewer system will be held Nov. 9 at 7 p.m. in the city hall.

Hugh Hedges of Riedesel and Straubhar, city engineers, said the Environmental Protection Agency has requested the hearing before it can give approval to the plan.

Hedges said following the hearing the EPA will receive written comments from citizens for an additional two weeks before taking action.

William Duggan of the Wendell Development Corp. met with the City Council to request representatives of his group, the City Council and chamber of commerce meet and try to get the new city well into operation as soon as possible. No date has been set for such a meeting.

Claude Mull requested the city extend water lines in proximity to his property. The city previously piped water to the block where his property is located.

However, Mull sold part of the area and would now like the city to extend the lines further so they will pass the area sold and service the property he still owns. He estimated the cost at $600 to $700 to the city. The city approved the proposal.

Also approved was a request from Marshall Howden of the chamber of commerce for $200 for the Christmas lighting fund.

The second Wendell council meeting in November was changed from Nov. 23 to Nov. 21.

Jerome chamber reviews plans

JEROME — Members of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce heard a report from Mike Sullivan, president, on building plans of Moore Business Forms Inc., Thursday noon.

Sullivan told the chamber the business firm's building is scheduled for completion by May 15, 1973, weather permitting.

Jim Keith, manager of the Jerome Safeway store, reported the Safeway transaction on the site for the new store should be finalized this week.

State Sen. Don Fredericksen, D-Gooding, was a guest at the chamber meeting. He spoke briefly on constitutional amendment SJR-132 dealing with the reduction of state agencies.

He told the chamber members it is obvious to him the state has too many agencies and he believes 20 agencies can handle state business.

Jerome favored for office site

SHOSHONE — The City of Jerome is favored by members of Northside Communities, Inc., as a site for the regional Idaho Fish and Game Department office.

Delegates to a dinner meeting Thursday night at Manhattan Cafe, Shoshone, voted to join the city of Jerome in site recommendations.

John W. Campbell, Jerome, said water and sewer services will be made available to any of three locations.

Ted Chu, Gooding, Idaho Fish and Game Department, showed a film on Idaho golden and bald eagles. He said the Box Canyon and Snake River is "probably the heaviest nesting area for golden and bald eagles in the world."

A four-year study indicates eagles mainly feed on jackrabbits and seldom bother domestic animals, according to Chu.

Idaho Power Co. will cooperate in insulating certain power lines to help protect the birds from electrocution. Chu said there is a movement for strict enforcement of law protecting the eagle.

He also said a 940-acre ranch at Niagara Springs has been purchased by the fish and game department and will provide a three mile stream access. He said construction of a 50 acre waterfall and fishing pond is being planned.

Community reports were given by Ralph Lucke, Gooding, on a senior citizen building being constructed; Claude Bowman, Rupert, announced the upcoming farmers night and grassman of the year programs and the success of a Christmas City USA project.

Gregory Davis, Richfield, said construction of a $400,000 cheese plant south of Richfield will be complete Jan. 1; Roger Stoddard, Dietrich, reported on efforts to obtain a fire truck for Dietrich, and Marcus Koll, Wendell, announced construction of a senior citizen unit and a November school bond election.

Davis invited other Lincoln County communities to bring children age 6 and under to a lazy eye clinic to be conducted in November.

C. J. Price, Gooding, coordinator for the Wood River Resource Council, will speak at the Nov. 30 meeting, according to Mrs. Harrell Thorne, Northside Communities, Inc., president.

Nixon kills bills

—A bill to increase federal spending for airport development, a measure which Nixon said was too narrow in scope.

—A flood control act which Nixon said contained some desirable features which he would propose in other legislation in the next Congress but was objectionable because it contained ill-defined and potentially costly programs.

—A measure which would give some 1,500 deputy marshals a 38 per cent pay increase. Nixon said there was "no justification for this highly preferential treatment" for this one section of federal employees.

—The national cemeteries Act of 1972 which requires Congressional approval before any land belonging to the Veterans Administration larger than 100 acres can be disposed of. He said this feature conflicted with his program to assure that all federal property is being put to its best and fullest use and would impede the legacy of parks under which surplus federal properties are returned to local governments for recreational use.

—The Veterans Health Care Expansion Act of 1972 which Nixon said "would unnecessarily add hundreds of millions of dollars to the federal budget" by opening the Veterans Administration hospital systems to non-veterans.

—The Rehabilitation Act of 1972 which Nixon said would divert the vocational rehabilitation program from its basic objectives into activities which are essentially medical in character.

Oratorical contest set Nov. 2

FILER — The American Legion oratorical contest will be at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Filer American Legion Hall.

Six Filer students will present original speeches on some phase of the constitution and each contestant will deliver a three-minute extemporaneous speech.

The contest is sponsored each year for high school students by the Filer American Legion Post. Winners are eligible to compete at the district, contest and winners there will go on to state and national competition.

Gooding appoints chairman

GOODING — Gooding County Planning Commission met Thursday to appoint committees and chairmen to develop policies, goals and objectives.

Mike Reed was chosen to lead the range and geology resource committee; the human resource committee will be headed by Dr. Catherine Stapp, and government and finance committee chairman will be Robert Fields.

Jess Burns will head the committee for economic base, public and semi public improvements.

The agricultural resource committee head will be Richard Graves with Hap Erwin as leader of the water resource committee.

Final day

JEROME — Jerome County Auditor Virginia Ricketts said today is the final day for voter registration at the homes of registrars.

Mrs. Ricketts said after today all registrations will be processed through the county auditor's office at the Jerome County Courthouse.

The final day for absentee registration is Tuesday and absentee voting ends at 5 p.m. Nov. 6, Mrs. Ricketts said.

She said Saturday, Nov. 4, will be the final day for registration except that persons who voted in the general election two years ago will be allowed to re-register at the polls on election day Nov. 7, if they have not already done so.

She estimated that about 6,000 Jerome County residents are registered to vote. She said she expects a record turnout of voters at the general elections because of the number of people registered to vote.

Discrimination charge aired

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Human Rights Commission has received a sex discrimination complaint against Blue Cross of Idaho.

Connie Pluth of Boise, director of the Visiting Homemakers' Service, a non-profit organization, contended in a complaint Thursday that the Homemakers' Service applied in August for a group medical insurance plan with Blue Cross for its 24 employees, all of them female.

Mrs. Pluth said an agent with Blue Cross told them the company's underwriters had denied the organization a group medical employees plan with discount rates because more than 60 per cent of the employees were women. The agent was reported to say that if the homemakers' service had employed 60 per cent males, there would have been no difficulty in obtaining the group discount.

The complaint states that an investigation of the company's rates would reveal further sex discrimination in both Blue Cross' group and individual policies.

Mrs. Pluth alleged that on a group employee plan, for instance, a single female would pay several dollars more each month than her male counterpart for the same coverage. If the same male were to include his spouse, the rates would more than double, the complaint further claimed.

Deleted was a provision setting density at one family dwelling per lot and stating the area of the lot should not be covered by buildings in excess of one third of the total ground area.

Also excluded was a provision setting the number of animals allowed per lot and establishing standards of maintaining the animals in a sanitary condition.

During the Thursday night meeting Alderman John Pascoe said each individual problem with animals should be handled separately by the council with the assistance of the city marshal.

SIC meet slated

TWIN FALLS — Southern Idaho Conference school principals will meet at 10 a.m. Monday to discuss possible football playoffs.

Student council members from the 12 SIC schools also will be meeting in Twin Falls at the College of Southern Idaho. The event will be a workshop, according to Bill Jameson, public relations.

Remains critical

SHOSHONE — Raymond Cook, 51, Pocatello, remains unconscious and in extremely critical condition today in St. Anthony Community Hospital, Pocatello.

He was injured in a sidewalk altercation the night of Oct. 19 outside the Nebraska Bar on North Rail Street in Shoshone.

Lamont Marisky, about 40, Twin Falls, has been charged with disturbing the peace as a result of the incident.

Program on painting

TWIN FALLS — Clara Walton presented the program, "Acrylic Painting," at the Wednesday meeting of the Mary Davis Art Club at the home of Mrs. T. W. Hicks.

Helpful hints for beginners were given by Miss Walton.

It was announced by the president, Mrs. Elgin Wilson, that the yearbook cover contest will be judged at the December meeting.

Miss Walton will host the Nov. 15 meeting.

Trust suit funds set for MV

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley governments will receive approximately $3,450 as a result of an anti-trust suit settled Thursday.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Atty. Gen. W. Anthony (Tony) Park announced settlement of the lawsuit brought by the attorney general's office against 11 oil companies, alleging conspiracy to fix prices in the sale of liquid asphalt. The total settlement was for about $250,000.

The state will reap the biggest chunk, $213,724. The remainder goes to 13 cities, five townships, five highway districts, Idaho State University and Lewis-Clark State College.

The lawsuit was filed in U. S. District Court, but was settled out of court after numerous preliminary legal actions were taken.

A spokesman in the consumer protection division of the attorney general's office said today the Twin Falls Highway District would receive about .88 per cent of the settlement dollar value.

The city of Twin Falls receives .44 per cent of the money, while the city of Jerome will get a check for .14 per cent.

Figured from a total of $250,000 the Twin Falls Highway District's share comes to $2,000, the city of Twin Falls should receive $1,100 and Jerome $350.

Jean Millar, Twin Falls City manager, who had not been informed as of this morning of the amount the city would receive, said his office had assisted in making available documentation to the attorney general's office about purchases of liquid asphalt over the last decade and a half, the cost to the city and the method of purchase.

"We'll be fortunate if it's (the money returned) equal to the time and effort expended," Millar said today.

In making the announcement of the suit, Andrus said, "This settlement represents a victory for the taxpayer, since it is his money that was used to pay the higher prices which resulted from the attempted conspiracy."

Park added, "It has taken more than two years of litigation and negotiations to bring about the settlement but the result is well worth the effort expended."

The 11 oil firms named as defendants in the lawsuit are American Oil Co., Atlantic Richfield Co., Blackline Asphalt Sales, Inc., Chevron Asphalt Co., Continental Oil Co., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Husky Oil Co. of Delaware, Phillips Petroleum Co., Shell Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of California and Union Oil Co. of California.

Prospects appear good for pheasant opening

By STU MURRELL
Regional Conservation
Educator

Pheasant season opens at noon on Saturday, October 28th in Southern Idaho with the daily bag limit of 4 cocks. Prospects appear good, however, it may not be as good as last year when an estimated 542,600 pheasants were killed in Idaho. The 1971 kill was 24 per cent above 1970. The counties in Magic Valley will have a season running until December 10 with one hen allowed in the daily bag from December 2 through the 10th. What is the history of the pheasant in Idaho? It was originally introduced in the Kamiah area in 1903 and in the next few years was released in other parts of the state. For example, one of the first releases in Magic Valley was near Buhl in 1907 and consisted of 22 birds provided by a local sportsman organization. One of the largest original releases was 1,000 pheasants imported from Oregon in 1909 by the Idaho Fish and Game Department for 24 counties in the state. Some of these plants expanded rapidly in irrigated land in Idaho and the first season was held in 1916 in Ada, Canyon, Gem, Gooding, Latah, and Nez Perce counties. It was a 4 birds of either sex per day for the month of November which is quite similar to our present season.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department got into the pheasant raising business in a big way with the Lapwai Game Farm in 1924. There were 4,500 birds released in its first year of operation. The Jerome Game Farm started in 1935 by the Jerome Rod and Gun Club and was then purchased by the Idaho Fish and Game Department and has operated since that time with a capacity of about 15,000-17,000 pheasants per year.

It's interesting to study the various strains of pheasants used in these original releases. Bill Gnehm, Superintendent of the Jerome Game Farm for the past 33 years, states that when he took over in 1939 there were four kinds of pheasants being used for their stock. These were the Chinese ringneck from Southeast China, the Mongolian pheasant from Northern Russia, and the Black-neck pheasant from Southern Russia and mutant which was first bred in England. All of these freely interbred and our wild pheasants are a mixture of all these types. If you get a particularly large bird with very dark coloration, it probably leans toward the Black-neck which weighs up to 3 pounds and does not have any ring around its neck. On the other hand, a light colored bird, with pale blue rump patch, and weighing up to 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pounds probably comes from the Chinese ringneck sub-species. The Chinese ringneck pheasant is the current strain being used by the Jerome Game Farm for most of its releases since it has shown the most adaptability in surviving and retains excellent sporting qualities for hunting.

In addition, the Jerome Game Farm supplies some Japanese green pheasants for a current, experimental program in North Idaho to determine if these birds can become adapted in areas up there where the ringneck pheasant has not done well.

The initial purpose of the Game Farms when they began were to introduce pheasants into new areas as additional irrigated lands became available. Now, they are releasing birds in areas that are lacking in pheasant habitat and would not have any or little pheasant hunting such as in Latah County. They are put out right before or during the hunting season with the hope that hunters will take most of them because the pheasants would have very little chance of survival during the winter in these marginal areas.

Idaho hopes Seefried can swing win for homecoming

MOSCOW — "We hope to be ready for the Pacific Tigers this week for the Homecoming game and we have three things going for us: We have not lost a game in our new stadium, it is Homecoming, and we hope to have Rick Seefried at quarterback," University of Idaho Coach Don Robbins said in looking forward to the Saturday 1:30 p.m. game with the University of Pacific.

The Vandals ran into a top passing quarterback in Tom Lee of the Idaho State Bengals last week and dropped a 35-7 decision to the Bengals at Pocatello.

"This week the Tigers will be bringing another big team to Moscow. Their offensive line really outplayed the University of Washington defensive line when the Tigers were edged by the Huskies early in the season. The Pacific team has some outstanding running backs in Willis Harrell, a 9.5 sprinter, at tailback and Mike Mangrum at the halfback position. They have a fine option quarterback in freshman Bruce Keplinger, a 6'1" 175-pound athlete who has led his team to a 4-2 record. They run from the Houston Veer-Option and the Wishbone offense and will cause us lots of trouble with their fine ground attack," Robbins said.

Idaho is still suffering from the injury jinx, with six starters out on defense and one on offense. Defensively the Vandals have been hard hit with Steve Hunter, Rod Maynard, Kelly Courage, Lloyd Grimsrud, Alofa Lue Tauvaga, and Mike Newell suffering hurts. Robbins said Jerry Hall, senior halfback, might be ready for action this week if his ankle heals after suffering a severe sprain two weeks ago.

The only major change in the starting lineups for this week will be Randy Ammerman moving to the first slot at running back. Ammerman won the offensive award for his 64 yards rushing in 10 carries and scoring the Vandals only touchdown against the Bengals.

BSC hopes to even Montana accounts

BOISE — For the second straight week, the Boise State Broncos will play the part of homecoming guests, and Bronco head coach Tony Knap hopes that his team won't be classified as gracious guests when the game is over.

Last Saturday the Broncos went to Bozeman, Mont. to face the Montana State Bobcats in their Homecoming and the Broncos came out on the short end of a 37-10 score. This coming Saturday, Oct. 28, the Bronco crew goes back to Montana, Missoula this time, to face the University of Montana in a 1:30 p.m. Homecoming clash.

The Grizzlies of head coach Jack Swarthout will be coming off a 30-3 licking at the hands of the University of Hawaii in Honolulu while the Broncos are still smarting from their loss to Montana State. The Montana team has a 2-5 overall record and are 2-1 in Big Sky play.

They defeated Northern Arizona 40-17 and Weber State 12-7. They lost two weeks ago to Idaho State, one of the co-leaders in the league, by a 14-7 score. The Broncos are now 1-1 in the league and 4-2 overall.

"We've got just a few days to get ready and it looks like the players want this game," coach Knap commented. "We'll need to play very, very well to win this game against Montana and the players can't do it until they get emotional about it."

"Montana runs a beautiful wishbone offense and they're very big and quick on defense. The Broncos will have to come out snorting and storming," he said.

Only two

DETROIT (UPI)—Only two coaches in Michigan high school football history ever won more than 200 varsity games.

The late Ted Sowle won 209 and tied six in 236 decisions during a 28-year tenure at Grand Rapids Catholic Central, Algoma and Grant high schools. Oscar "Okie" Johnson won 201 and tied 11 in 310 games over 39 years at Muskegon Heights and Mount Pleasant.

The leading rusher for Montana is left halfback Jim Olson. He has carried the ball 81 times for 573 yards and four scores. The second leading rusher for them is full-back Buddy Walsh. Walsh has carried the ball 74 times for 251 yards and no scores.

Montana's top receiver is split end Glen Welch. He has grabbed 11 aeriels for 161 yards and no scores.

Five share lead in Sahara first round

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer and Lanny Wadkins, a pair of ex-collegians from Wake Forest, shot 65 and George Knudson, winner of the Kaiser International just last weekend, joined them at that six under par figure in a five-way tie for the first-round lead in the $135,000 Sahara Invitational.

The two other 65-shooters were Doug Sanders and Larry Ziegler.

Bright sunshine and a wind that didn't become blustery until late afternoon contributed to nearly ideal golfing conditions. Par fell like bowling pins on the two courses used in the tournament—the Las Vegas Country Club and the Sahara-Nevada Golf Club, both par 71s.

A stroke back of the five leaders at 66 were Jack Nicklaus and young Bud Allin of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Dick Lotz, the veteran San Francisco Bay area pro, Tom Watson, a newcomer to the pro tour from Kansas City, Mo., and Art Wall, greying 48-year-old Pennsylvanian, tied for eighth place by shooting 67.

Defending champion Lee Trevino was way back with a 70, one under par which never came close to making the leader board.

At 68 were Tommy Aaron, Jim Dent, Mike Reasor, Dave Marad, John Mahaffey and Rocky Thompson.

It looked like Wadkins had the lead all to himself when he finished in midafternoon with a card of 33-32-65. It wasn't long however before Palmer, who preceded him by about 20 years at Wake Forest, came in with his 32-33.

Then the smiling George Knudson who collected $30,000 for his Kaiser win strolled off the 18th green and said, "I'd like to repeat."

Nicklaus finished in a tie for 10th in the Kaiser and Palmer tied for 11th.

Palmer led in the first round of the Kaiser with a 66 and when reminded of that said, "I'm just going to hold on. Maybe things will get better this time as we go along. I made a lot of nice little putts out there today."

Palmer like Wadkins did not have a bogey on his card of 32-33. He sank a couple of birdie putts from 18 feet but had nothing longer.

Nicklaus who had nines of 34-32 for his 66 played in the same threesome with Palmer and said, "We enjoy trying to beat each other. I played well. I guess you can't find too much wrong with a 66."

Knudson sank the most sensational shot of the day for an eagle two on the 346-yard 13th hole.

"My caddy said it was 72 yards," he smiled. "I pitched the ball just by the hole and it hooked back in. I didn't have much of a gallery—just my wife and a few friends from Toronto. But what can you expect when Palmer and Nicklaus are playing together."

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is excellent for making well-founded plans for the remainder of the day and evening. Then in afternoon you can quickly place such a plan into motion and have a wonderful time as well as get very interesting results. Be romantic and entertain, or attend social events tonight.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Once you have worked out home affairs well, you can have a delightful day and p.m. at whatever most suits you. Take mate along to some group affair in the evening. This can bring about fine results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make sure you shop early and get your dwelling place in fine shape so you can entertain there in p.m. with perfect poise, ease. Find the right items to make home more charming as well as comfortable. Show you have good taste.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Count your money well and then get into the recreations you can easily afford and which will give you the greatest amount of pleasure. Find the data you need. Communications can be very satisfactory today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle personal ambitions well early in a.m., then work out monetary problems cleverly. Any information you have to add to your prosperity should be well studied. Otherwise, go after it at right sources.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know what your true aims are and go after them in a positive way, since you are dynamic and charming right now and can get results. The intimate side of life can also be improved appreciably. Show you have wit, humor.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can make those plans for the future more easily if you get suggestions and advice from a trusted friend. After your day's work is done, the evening can be most delightful from the romantic standpoint. Use finesse.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Morning is the best time to handle any outside or civic duties, since later you can be with congenials for the pleasures you like. Don't forget to shop, pay bills, too. Evening is ideal for study.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Listen to what others have to suggest in a.m., then go directly to some higher-up and get the support you need for a big venture. Making plans for travel is good, too. Much enjoyment can come from the social in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get busy at the responsibilities you have to handle early so you can improve your credit and efficiency, and then you have time for meeting new and important contacts. Try to please, mate more. Gad about together socially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Important you do what an associate expects of you during a.m., but then be off to whatever is most important to you. Cleverly take care of whatever promises you have made. Show you are fast, accurate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show more cooperation with an associate and make better arrangements for the future with him or her. You can then celebrate your agreement at mutually enjoyable recreational activities. Think constructively.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) First get work done that is important and then spend time at beauty or barber shop to improve appearance for any social affairs ahead. Find right items that will add color to your surroundings. Feel more cheerful thereby.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who early in life will feel important and will have the ability to think big so that he or she can become big. Also has the willingness and ability to work toward such aim, so be sure to encourage and give credit when and where credit is due. Don't neglect to point out any possible errors made, since this is a reasonable mind, but needs right handling. Religion is a must here early.

It's likely your granddad can tell you the world's leading expert on that theatrical entertainment known as burlesque was a fellow named Harold Minsky. Stated he: "The ideal feminine figure on display in skimpy costume should lapmeasure 37-25-35."

DINING OUT
How frequently should a fellow take his ladyfriend out for a restaurant dinner? Our Love and War man has an opinion on this, too. At least once a month. Once a week, if possible. Subject arises because a feminine client, whose husband hates cafes, wants to know how she might get the big boy to escort her on the town occasionally. Nothing to it. She can keep a burned leg of lamb in the freezer to haul out for dinner whenever that bistro mood strikes her.

A CUNNING customer inquires if any university teaches a course in the science of pogonotomty. Tricky, query. Know of none such. The Mellon Institute once conducted a lengthy study on the subject, know that. Pogonotomty is the mainly art of shaving. glould mention.

QUERY
Q "What states have lotteries now?"
A New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Michigan is getting ready to start one. And November voters will decide on lotteries, also, in Maryland, Washington State and Colorado.

APPROXIMATELY 85 per cent of the men in one particular profession are the sons of men who were likewise so employed. This line of work is distinguished by the fact that it has far more father-and-son performers than any other. Can you name the occupation? Most citizens so queried say medicine. Why I don't know. It's farming.

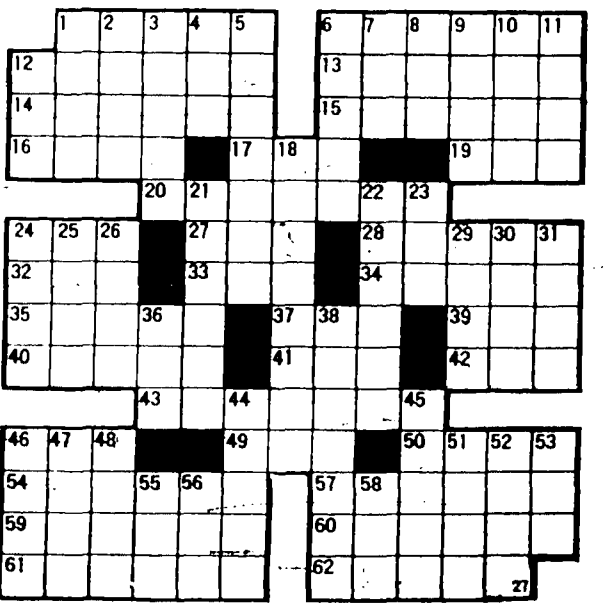

THAT the poor multiply faster than the rich is common knowledge. Less widely known is the fact that citizens of below-average intelligence do not produce anywhere nearly as many youngsters as people of above-average intelligence. Scholars say they cannot explain the why of this, but merely regard it as one more natural phenomenon.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange traded lower in slow trading Friday as investors took to the sidelines.

Shortly before 1:15 the Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.41 to 948.15. Standard and Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.18 to 110.81.

Declines led advances 661 to 605 among the 1,644 issues on the tape. The three-hour volume came to 8,750,000 compared to 13,490,000 shares on Thursday for the same period.

Analysts said investors were disappointed that the market failed to support a rally following presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's statement that "peace is at hand." Friday morning, the North Vietnamese indicated they would be willing to meet with Kissinger on Oct. 31 to sign the peace pact. Still, the market, some analysts said, was waiting for the final signing.

In the economic news, the leading business indicators rose 0.4 per cent in September but productivity slowed in the third quarter.

Glamour issues continued to move mixed. APA Services jumped 6 1/2, Walt Disney 2 1/2 and Levitz Furniture 7/8. On the other hand, Polaroid lost 4 1/2, Xerox 2 and Corning Glass 3/4.

Electronics and computer issues were also mixed. Airlines were mostly lower. Ralls, motors, steels, chemicals and aircrafts were mixed in fractions.

UPI WEATHER FORECAST

Chance of showers Saturday

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert area:
Continued fair through tonight with increasing clouds and a chance of showers Saturday. Lows tonight will be generally in the upper 20s and the highs Saturday in the middle 50s.

Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley:
Continued fair through tonight with increasing clouds and a chance of showers Saturday. Lows tonight will be generally in the upper 20s and the highs Saturday in the middle 50s.

Continued fair through tonight with increasing clouds and a chance of showers Saturday. Lows tonight will be generally in the upper 20s and the highs Saturday in the middle 50s.

The outlook for Sunday is variable cloudiness and chance of showers. A weak frontal system moved rapidly through southern Idaho Thursday producing a few light snow showers. Some of the coldest air so far this fall followed the front.

Maximum temperatures yesterday were in the 40s to low 50s and overnight lows were in the 20s to low 30s.

Fair skies will continue through tonight but cloudiness should increase again Saturday with a chance of some light shower activity as another frontal system, moving along the Canadian border, trails across southern Idaho. Lows tonight will continue in the 20s to low 30s and highs Saturday will be mostly in the 50s.

The extended outlook Sunday through Tuesday continues unsettled weather and a chance of some showers lingering through Sunday clearing and cooler Monday with increasing clouds again Tuesday. Temperatures should average below normal.

Business problems grow

BOISE (UPI)—Boise Cascade's newly appointed president and chief executive officer says Idaho businessmen can learn some important lessons from misfortunes of his company.

John Fery told local businessmen at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon Wednesday that growth of special interest groups—especially in the area of ecology—was a principal reason behind the company's business reversals in recent years.

Conditions which affected Boise Cascade unfavorably, he added, eventually will touch every businessman in one way or another.

"The last two years have been the stormiest in our company's history," Fery said.

"It would be of interest to all of you to know the nature of some of our problems and how we're trying to avoid them in the future."

He said ecological considerations and consumerism made Boise Cascade vulnerable in the areas of recreational home building, urban development, on-site home building and engineering and construction.

Fery succeeded Robert Hansberger as chief executive officer of the company. Hansberger resigned last week.

He did not say why Hansberger left the company except that "he resigned after 16 years at the helm to pursue his own personal interests."

He said that "the people of Idaho have a lot to be thankful to Bob Hansberger for."

Youth night at Filer

FILER — Youth night will again be observed Sunday evening in the First Baptist Church.

The 8 p.m. service will feature the music of the Good News Singers. Guest speaker for the evening will be Rev. Leo Reed, Nampa, who will speak on the country of Thailand.

Rev. Reed was awarded an around the world tour of all the mission fields for his 15 years of service to the American Baptist Church.

The choir will wear their newly-completed purple and white outfits. The group is working on a Nov. 26 concert, "Life," which they will present.

The church is still accepting Betty Crocker coupons toward the purchase of a bus to transport the choir, according to Rev. Ray Watson, pastor.

JOE HACKNEY, owner of the Hackney Agency in Twin Falls, presents his 'fair share' to United Fund workers Hazel Wilder, center, and Mrs. Rodger Pollard. Mrs. Wilder is a United Fund team captain for two teams and Mrs. Pollard is the local chapter chairman for the American Red Cross. Mrs. Wilder's teams which include many Red Cross workers were the first teams to complete their assignments.

MIA speech festival reported

RICHFIELD — "A Visit to Switzerland" was enjoyed by those who attended Richfield Ward MIA Speech festival Wednesday night at the church.

Phyllis Flavel and Delbert Tree, as an old Swiss couple, narrated the program that consisted of skits, talks and music taken from some phase of Swiss history of literature.

It was directed by Mary King, ward speech director.

An Original skit, "Lost in the Alps," by Boy Scout Troop 8, featured a real St. Bernard dog.

Colleen Fee played a piano solo and Anita Tree and Lynn Flavel played a piano duet.

Original skits were presented by Explorer Post 8, who dramatized the story of William Tell, and the Beehive girls, who visited Heidi and her grandfather in their home in the Swiss Alps.

Talks on Switzerland were given by Rex King, Brent Flavel and Valynn Gardner.

Last day to reserve

TWIN FALLS — Monday is the last day to reserve license plate numbers for 1973, according to Ron Taylor, assessor.

Drivers do have to remain within the last digit of their license numbers. For example, if a license ends in 9 the owner's new number must still end in 9, the official said.

Rupert chamber views blueprint

RUPERT — Rupert Chamber of Commerce members viewed the blueprint of the proposed chamber office during the luncheon meeting Thursday at Elks Lodge Hall.

John Cameron, building committee chairman, reported the building will be 24 by 60 feet and will face Scott Avenue. The building will include lounge, office, kitchenette, conference room, rest rooms and storage room.

There will be parking space and the building will be set back about 90 feet from the corner," according to Cameron.

The chamber has obtained a lease from the city of Rupert for $10 per year on a 10-year lease contract with the option of renewing the lease," reported Cameron.

Presently the chamber has about $10,000 in its building fund," Cameron said. "The proposed building will cost another $10,000 or $15 per square foot," said Cameron.

"We have 158 members and this would mean about $65 per member to raise the additional funds for the building project," Cameron concluded.

Larry Wright, a member of the building committee and a local building contractor, reported the new office will have concrete floor covered with carpet and will be paneled with light wood. The remainder of building inside would be covered with sheetrock with metal frames around the windows and glass doors.

The outside will be brick and lightweight concrete slab with lava rock imbedded. It will have electrical baseboard heating and refrigerated air conditioning. Sub-contracts will be let on the various divisions of the building, according to Wright.

Pete Ford, chamber president, announced a special board of directors will be called next week on the building project.

Members were reminded of the businessmen-farmer banquet at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 2 at St. Nicholas Parish Hall.

Suit filed over access to landing

BOISE (UPI) — The federal government has filed a lawsuit against Ron and Wendell, claiming that access to an emergency landing strip at Mountain Home Air Force Base is being farmed away.

In the suit, the U.S. attorney alleged the road is needed to maintain electric transmission lines used for instrument landing and for access by emergency vehicles for safety, rescue and fire control.

Valley school chiefs get vocational guidelines

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "It's time education started serving the students for a change," D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, told area school officials Wednesday.

In a joint presentation by the Idaho State Departments of Education and Vocational Education, guidelines for a comprehensive educational program for Idaho were given school superintendents and other officials of the Magic Valley School districts.

Engelking said the purpose of the new educational plan for career education is to combine the academic and the work.

It must be part of the education program at all levels from kindergarten through the university level and life, he said.

A complete program of career education includes awareness of the world of work, broad exploration of occupations, in-depth exploration of selected clusters of occupations and career preparation for all students, he said.

The final career preparation under the system would be either in the secondary school, the four-year college, the post secondary vocational-technical school or in other educational programs.

To accomplish this, the program outline says the schools should incorporate career education as a major activity throughout the curriculum.

While the basic guidelines for the career education program for Idaho were outlined, the education and vocational education department officials wanted comment from area educators and administrators at the meeting.

The guideline for the plan says career education must be a fabric of academic and occupational goals closely woven into a mutually supportive pattern. This pattern then becomes a comprehensive education program where the student is involved in learning to live, learn and make a living, it said.

The career education program would center around the six junior college districts in the state set up by the legislature.

Engelking said the universities have been dictating what the curriculum should be in high schools for many years.

But industry, the public and the student want something more, he said, "this career education." In the new system, only about one out of seven will require a college education.

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., criticized the timing of latest peace efforts in Vietnam when he appeared at Boise State College Thursday night.

The activity of Henry Kissinger in the last few weeks is almost indecent when you consider that 3 1/2 years ago those activities could have taken place," Tunney said when asked about Kissinger's report.

"It is the by-product of some magnificently intelligent, but totally cynical public relations man," Tunney told the audience of some 100 persons.

Coming this late in the presidential campaign, he said, it was "just too slick" a maneuver.

Appearing on the BSC campus as part of a "campaign '72" lectures series, Tunney said the United States has moved toward a "political community" in recent years.

Such a community, he said, is one where "no matter what you do everything is politicized."

America's long involvement in Vietnam has helped push the nation in that direction.

Both sides compromised on new peace agreement

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—Both sides won, lost and compromised under the terms of the new peace agreement announced Thursday by Hanoi and confirmed in large part by U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

The new accord which could be signed in the near future represents substantial give-and-take negotiating of the Viet Cong's severpoint plan presented to the Paris peace talks July 1, 1971, and President Nixon's eight-point peace plan which he announced Jan. 25, 1972.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnam lost their demand, repeated endlessly, that South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu resign immediately before any change in administrative power in South Vietnam.

But the United States also lost its insistence that only democratic elections in South Vietnam change the political picture.

Under the yet-to-be-signed agreement, Thieu is not prevented from remaining in power until the elections which may or may not overthrow him, according to interpretations by veteran observers at the Paris peace talks.

The agreement appears to leave Thieu in power in the areas that his administration controls, and the Viet Cong in charge of their areas.

The new accord calls for "an administrative structure" of three equal segments to carry out the peace agreement and organize elections. But the Viet Cong peace plan specified a three-segment "government" that would prepare general elections, hold a constituent assembly and draft a constitution.

The new accord does not use the word "government" nor does it give the "structure" such duties as writing a constitution. All the "structure" can do to organize elections and draw up lists of candidates.

Gone from the new agreement is the Viet Cong's demand that members of Thieu's administration but not Thieu himself can compose one part of the three-part "structure."

One veteran of the Paris talks said, "the three sided structure would be more of a negotiating vehicle" between the Viet Cong and the Saigon regime to try to settle their differences.

The United States won its demand for a cease-fire first, and troops withdrawal later. The Vietnamese Communists in effect demanded the reverse order.

But Washington had wanted to withdraw its troops six months after the cease-fire. U.S. troops, war materiel, bases and munitions and those of all of Saigon's allies must be pulled out 60 days after the cease-fire under the new agreement.

The United States' plan also outlined a cease-fire throughout Indochina. The new plan agrees only on a cease-fire in South Vietnam but provides for eventual withdrawal of foreign troops in Laos and Cambodia.

President Nixon's plan had insisted there be no infiltration of troops into Indochinese nations and each country's troops had to stay in their own point that "the question of Vietnamese troops (i.e., North Vietnamese) in South Vietnam will be settled by the two South Vietnamese parties without foreign interference in accordance with the postwar situation." But Washington won its demand that elections be carried out "under international supervision."

The new agreement includes some provisions not mentioned in the various peace plans laid on the Paris conference table during the four years of haggling.

Point six calls for "a joint military commission" and "international control commission" for South Vietnam.

Point four provides for the "two South Vietnamese parties"—a phrase never used before, meaning the Viet Cong and the present Saigon administration—to consult about forming village councils. Observers interpreted this to mean a stiff fight for power at the local level.

Analysis

The new accord only says the parties to the agreement must not use Laos or Cambodia to threaten other nations. No mention is made of Thailand and no provision is made for North Vietnamese troops to stay only in North Vietnam. Both sides' old peace plans had agreed on prisoner release simultaneously with U.S. troop withdrawal, and the new agreement includes this provision. The old peace plans also had agreed on peaceful reunification of both Vietnams.

President Nixon had called for an international conference on all of Indochina, but Washington settled in the new agreement for a conference only on Vietnam.

Hanoi won its claim to war reparations. President Nixon's peace plan had mentioned economic assistance only to South Vietnam.

The Communists won their

A quality product doesn't change just for the sake of change. A quality product retains its integrity. We're proud to say we sell and service a product like that. The Jeep CJ5.
The original 4 wheel drive utility vehicle and, we think, still the best for '73.

But don't think the Jeep CJ5 has been resting on its laurels. There have been some changes made. Inside, where it counts, things like axle joints, clutch linkage, and even the electrical wiring has been made more durable. In fact, under the skin improvements like these have been continuously added to the classic Jeep for over 30 years. No fancy face lifts, though.
Those classic CJ5 lines say one thing: "Jeep."
And that's a lot to say.

McGovern gains 2 points

PRINCETOWN, N.J. (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern gained two percentage points in the latest Gallup poll released Thursday but President Nixon still leads by a 59 per cent to 36 per cent margin.

The poll, conducted Oct. 13-18, also indicated 4 per cent were undecided and 1 per cent supported other candidates.

In the previous Gallup poll, conducted Sept. 29-Oct. 9, Nixon received the support of 60 per cent to 34 per cent for McGovern.

The latest poll was based on personal interviews in 350 localities with 1,220 registered voters.

"McGovern's gains can be explained in large measure by the fact that a large proportion of manual workers—a group which represents almost 40 per cent of the electorate—has shifted back to their traditional Democratic party allegiance," the Gallup survey said. "In the August survey, Nixon held a wide 63 to 28 per cent lead over McGovern among manual workers; in the latest survey Nixon's lead is marginal, 49 to 44 per cent."

The poll also said, "Since 1940, with the exception of the presidential campaigns of 1956 and 1944, the candidate behind in mid-October subsequently gained anywhere from three to 10 percentage points in the final two or three weeks of a campaign."

Aide says tax reform priority

POCATELLO — U. S. Rep. Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) said today he considers tax reform to be the number one priority in the next Congress and promised to push for an exhaustive review of the entire federal tax system.

"More equitable and efficient tax laws are urgently needed and will require basic reform of the federal income tax structure to ensure that each taxpayer is assigned a fair share of the burden," Hansen asserted.

Campaigning in southeastern Idaho, Hansen called for "a new direction in tax policy, making it more conducive to vigorous economic growth and responsive to urgent social needs." He added that tax laws should undergo continual revision to adapt to the nation's ever-changing economic conditions.

"Comprehensive tax reform must include a means to relieve pressure on skyrocketing property taxes which fall hardest on the elderly, persons on fixed incomes, farmers and small business operators," Hansen noted, adding that intensive studies are currently underway to determine alternative methods to the property tax for financing public education.

"Individuals have already benefited from tax reforms sponsored by President Nixon in 1969 and 1971 which reduced their federal taxes by $22 billion, including a $19 billion cut in personal income taxes and a $3.5 billion decrease in excise taxes," he commented.

IGOR SIKORSKY
... dies

Aviation genius succumbs

EASTON, Conn. (UPI)—Igor I. Sikorsky, a patriarch of modern aviation who revolutionized flying in both war and peace with the development of the helicopter, died Thursday of a heart attack at his home. He was 83.

Born in Kiev, Russia, Sikorsky was a deeply religious man who often said he was very proud the first practical use of his helicopter, to transport blood plasma to victims of an explosion in 1944, "was for helping man in need rather than by spreading death and destruction."

Influenced by sketches of Leonardo da Vinci, Sikorsky began experimental work on the helicopter in 1909 in Russia. His initial efforts failed and he abandoned the project until he resumed "further work in the United States in 1938."

That year he revised the idea of a rotary blade aircraft and used a seeming endless stream of design sketches and hand-written ideas to improve on his vision of a unique aircraft.

On Sept. 4, 1939, two weeks after the Nazi regime in Germany launched World War II, he successfully flew the VS-300 a Stratford, Conn. plant—a model that was the world's first practical helicopter.

The military saw the aircraft's logistical advantages and Sikorsky, a name synonymous with helicopters, began large scale manufacturing of the R-4, the world's first production model.

The son of a psychology professor, he was graduated from Petrograd Naval College, studied engineering in Paris, then the aeronautical center of Europe, returning to Kiev in 1907 for postgraduate work.

He achieved his initial success and recognition with the S-2, a fixed-wing aircraft of his own design. Modification of this model won an award at the 1912 Moscow Aviation Exhibition.

Rehabilitation division urged to help workers

BOISE (UPI)—Two advisers originally anticipated, Kaufman told a legislative committee today a rehabilitation division should be established within the industrial commission to assure physical rehabilitation of workers.

Attorneys Sam Kaufman and George Greenfield, both Boise, said they originally envisioned a program devoted entirely to vocational rehabilitation.

But they said a visit to Vancouver, B.C., to study the British Columbia Rehabilitation Center altered their thinking.

"The total problem has suddenly become more comprehensive and complex than was originally anticipated," Kaufman and Greenfield said in their 15-page report to the Workers Rehabilitation Committee of the Legislative Council.

"We now clearly find ourselves faced with the reality that vocational rehabilitation is an almost meaningless program unless it is correlated with a physical rehabilitation program which, on a comparative basis, is presently almost non-existent in Idaho," they said.

They said the experience of British Columbia indicates that retraining programs, per se, involving the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation are necessitated in only five to 10 per cent of the cases.

The primary effort of vocational rehabilitation should be devoted to job placement "after proper physical rehabilitation has been completed," they said.

Eventually, they said, the state should look at establishment of a rehabilitation center—possibly utilizing the former tuberculosis hospital at Gooding.

To establish a rehabilitation division within the industrial commission, the advisers said, would cost about $150,000 per year.
