

Nixon to sign big social security boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced today he would sign into law a landmark measure increasing Social Security benefits and payments for the aged, blind and disabled which will be paid for by higher payroll taxes.

At the same time, the President announced he would veto two bills passed in the closing hours of the Democratic Congress. One would have extended the "Older Americans Act" and provided additional services for older people. The other rejected bill would have established a separate government-financed research institute to study problems of the aging.

Of the Social Security measure, he said: "It gives me very great pleasure to sign HR1, landmark legislation that will end many old inequities and will provide a new uniform system of well-earned benefits for older Americans, the blind and disabled."

The vetoes were the 10th and 11th by Nixon on grounds the cost of the legislation would feed inflation and compel a general tax increase in the future.

The two rejected bills would have authorized spending of $2.2 billion over three years, although spending in the current fiscal year was estimated at $200 million. According to the White House, Nixon's overall veto action will contribute about $950 million toward his goal of cutting appropriations by as much as $8 billion to hold spending to $250 billion during the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

Because the Social Security legislation increases payroll taxes as well as benefits, the legislation will reduce the government's budget deficit for the current fiscal year by $900 million.

Nixon said he was disappointed that the bill contained no welfare reform provisions which he advocated but which died in the adjournment rush.

The President disclosed he had signed or soon would sign 60 other measures.

Although there had been speculation Nixon would veto the Social Security bill as an economy measure, the President was lavish in his praise of the legislation which he said included many proposals originally suggested by the administration.

The increase will total $5.3 billion a year to the benefit of nearly 8 million widowed and disabled elderly persons. The cost will be borne by 96 million American workers who have taxes deducted from their paychecks, and their employers.

The bulk of the cost of the extra benefits, $4.5 billion, will not take effect until 1974, but higher payroll taxes will start next Jan. 1, with the result that revenue will exceed costs in this first year by about $1 billion.

Nixon, who has pledged to keep government spending this year below the $250 billion level, can now apply that excess first-year revenue to help reduce an estimated $30 billion deficit in his 1973 budget.

Major improvements in the new law guarantee $130 a month to an individual and $195 a month to a couple for an estimated 3 million needy aged, blind and disabled persons, and allows widows to get 100 per cent, rather than the old 82.5 per cent, of a deceased spouse's Social Security entitlements.

To pay for the package, the present $468-a-year maximum payroll tax will climb to $631.80 a year on Jan. 1, and go to $702 in 1974 for a two-year increase of $234. The new taxes will also pay for the 20 per cent Social Security benefit increase already in law that took effect. The increased taxes will result from a boost in the present 5.2 per cent on the first $9,000 of income to 5.85 per cent on the first $10,800 of income, effective Jan. 1. A year later the rate will remain the same but will be applied to the first $12,000 of income.

Arab killers freed

By United Press-International
Three Arab guerrillas jailed by West Germany for their role in the Munich massacre won freedom today in Libya with the two Arab commandos who forced their release by hijacking a Lufthansa Airliner and threatening to blow it up.

The passengers and crewmen aboard the Boeing 727 flew back to Europe today but disagreed on whether their lives actually were in danger. The pilot of the plane said the hijackers who seized control of the plane over Turkey carried hand grenades and fastened explosive devices to the plane.

Walter Claussen, captain of the Lufthansa plane, said in Dusseldorf, West Germany, today that airport officials in Beirut had examined the luggage of all passengers before they were allowed to board the flight. But he said the Arabs produced hand grenades after the plane took off and threatened to blow up the craft if anyone tried to stop them.

Two men armed with hand grenades and identified in Beirut as members of a newly-formed organization called the "Arab National Youth Organization for the Liberation of Palestine" hijacked the plane, a Boeing 727, over Turkey and threatened to blow it and its passengers up unless West Germany agreed to free three jailed comrades awaiting trial for the murder of 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team in Munich last September.

Bonn released the three guerrillas, identified as members of the Black September group, and handed them over in the Yugoslav city of Zagreb. But the hijackers reneged on a promise to free their hostages and instead ordered the plane's crew to fly to Tripoli.

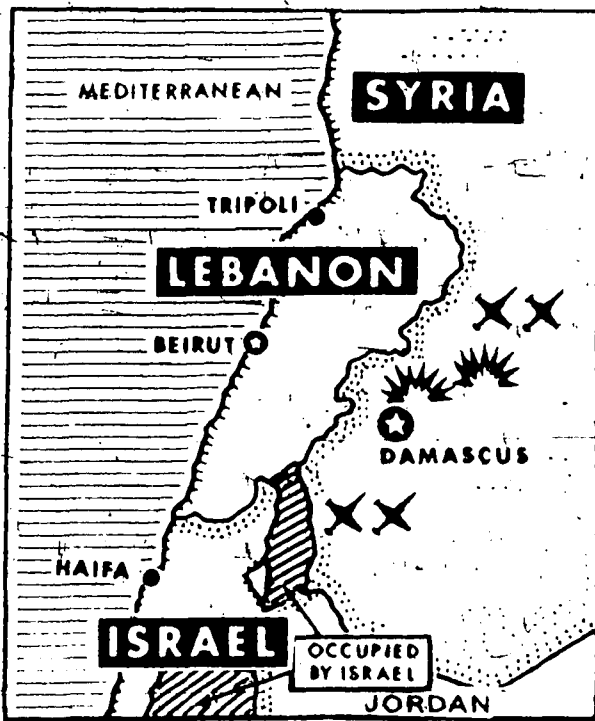

There, the freed guerrillas were hailed as "heroes of Munich" by Tripoli Radio, which quoted them, according to the Middle East News Agency (MENA), as pledging to continue their fight against Zionism.

The three guerrillas were survivors of an airport gunfight Sept. 5 near Munich which killed five of their comrades. Nine members of the Israeli team also died at the airport and two others were slain in the Olympic village earlier the same day.

The two hijackers, MENA said, slipped wordlessly away from Tripoli airport wearing gauze masks.

The hijacking took place over Turkey after the plane took off from Beirut bound for Ankara.

MENA said the 11 passengers, who were taken during the day to the Cyprus capital of Nicosia, then Zagreb twice and finally Tripoli, accepted a Libyan government offer of an overnight stay in Tripoli.

Retaliation

FOUR TARGETS near Damascus were raided by Israeli planes today, hours after release of Palestinian guerrillas demanded by hijackers of West German airliner. All craft returned home safely to base, Israeli officials said. (UPI)

Angry Israel raids bases

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli warplanes struck Arab guerrilla bases within 4-12 miles of Damascus today in retaliation for guerrilla hijackers winning the release of three Arab prisoners from West Germany. Syria claimed civilians were killed in the raids.

The Israeli jets struck bases within 4-12 miles of the Damascus city limits in the most concentrated strikes around the Syrian capital since the 1967 Middle East War. Later, a spokesman in Jerusalem said Foreign Minister Abba Eban summoned German Ambassador Jesco von Puttkamer to protest Sunday's release of the prisoners, the three surviving members of a guerrilla group that killed 11 Israeli Olympic team members in Munich last month.

In the meeting Mr. Eban protested the freeing of the Arab prisoners, the Foreign Ministry spokesman said. "The foreign minister stated in clearest possible terms the astonishment and disappointment of the people and government of Israel."

A military spokesman in Damascus said a number of civilians, including women and children, were killed or wounded in the raids.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Monday the nine-point cease-fire with the North Vietnamese will not be signed Tuesday despite Hanoi's insistence on U.S. approval by then.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger was "quite clear" when he said last Thursday that there would be no signing by the United States until there are further negotiations to clarify six or seven issues in the proposed agreement.

Kissinger said last week that one more meeting lasting three or four days was needed to wrap up the agreement. Ziegler said the White House remained "hopeful" that the peace agreement could be signed soon.

He told newsmen that Kissinger was in the White House today and gave no indication when the President's national security affairs adviser might be leaving Washington for either Paris or Saigon for further peace negotiations.

The draft agreement, which Hanoi insisted the United States sign by Tuesday, calls for a cease-fire in Vietnam 24 hours after the accord is signed. It also provides for withdrawal of all U.S. troops and release of American prisoners of war two months after the pact is approved.

North Vietnam renewed its call today for early signing of a cease-fire agreement ending the fighting in South Vietnam and questioned whether President Nixon might be delaying the ceremony for political reasons. Diplomatic sources in Saigon said President Nguyen Van Thieu and Hanoi would agree on a truce simply because both sides want the war to end.

The North Vietnamese position as stated repeatedly is that no further negotiations are necessary and that the agreement should be signed in Paris on Tuesday. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Sunday it could not be that soon because "there are a few matters to be made crystal clear," and presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger said last Thursday there must be another negotiating session.

There was no report from the White House today on Kissinger's activities and it was not known whether he was in Washington or had made another of his secret trips to Paris for further talks with Le Duc Tho, a member of the Hanoi Politburo, and Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator.

The State Department said Secretary of State William P. Rogers had no appointments today but there was no indication whether he was in Washington or Paris. The Communists said Saturday they thought he would fly into the French capital Tuesday for a signing ceremony with the North Vietnamese foreign minister.

UPI correspondent Arthur Higbee, reporting from Saigon, said diplomatic observers in the South Vietnamese capital were convinced both North and South Vietnam would agree to a cease-fire and abide by it simply because both want the war to end.

Higbee said that if either side did not want peace then it made no difference what any international supervisory commission would do. The observers said both sides wanted peace.

TF auto mechanics vote on union shop

TWIN FALLS — Automotive mechanics at three Twin Falls body shops voted Friday to join the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Mechanics at Workman Ford, Wills Motor Co. and Ace-Hansen Chevrolet voted to join the union, while a similar vote at Magic Valley International failed.

A fifth election, at Bob Reese Motor Co., was undecided, pending challenge of four of the votes cast.

A spokesman at Hansen, Ben Eldredge, said his firm had not been contacted by union representatives to begin negotiations on a contract for the mechanics, and said he thought no negotiations would begin until the disputed vote at Reese Motor Co. is decided.

According to several persons involved in the union bid, organizing had been going on for the past six weeks. The elections Friday were supervised by an official of the National Labor Relations Board.

According to George Ganz of the Idaho Employers Council, the disputed vote at the Bob Reese Motor Co. results from three challenges placed by the owners of the firm, and a fourth lodged by the union. He said the NLRB would adjudicate the dispute.

Attempts to reach Richard Russell, a union official, were unsuccessful.

Noted Salmon pioneer dies

TWIN FALLS — Otto A. Schnitker, 89, longtime Salmon Tract stockman and farmer, died Saturday evening at Hazel Dell Manor.

Mr. Schnitker was born in Colorado in 1883 and came to Twin Falls from Boise in the spring of 1900. He farmed in the area which is now South Park, and freighted to Salmon Falls Dam until it was completed. (Obituary, P. 2)

State center may operate Happy Day retarded school

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Child Development Center may soon take over the education of the trainable mentally retarded and physically handicapped Happy Day School students.

Discussions over a period of several days are expected to lead shortly to an agreement among school, Child Development Center and Social and Rehabilitation Service officials that the training of the handicapped students would be transferred contractually from the Twin Falls School District to SRS and its administered program at the Child Development Center.

At present there are eight such children at the Happy Day School.

According to School Supt.

George Staudaher, the school district receives three times the normal per pupil funding from the state for the training of the handicapped, and the district would sign a contract with SRS, turning the money over to the agency in return for the services which the school district now provides.

In addition to the Twin Falls discussions Don Frank, regional director of SRS said his office has received "feelers" from several other nearby school districts for similar contractual arrangements. Jerome, Gooding, and Kimberly have all contacted Frank's office, he said, in addition to less substantial discussion with the Buhl School District.

According to Frank, an agreement in principle is likely before the first of the year on whether to proceed with the Twin Falls program.

Frank and Staudaher both agreed the discussion is still only in the "planning stages," and questions of logistics have yet to be agreed upon. But they both endorsed the plan if the difficulties can be worked out. According to Staudaher, the State Department of Education must approve all the plans, and any teachers used for the work would have to be licensed by the state.

At present, there are three staff members at the Happy Day School—a teacher, an aide and a student helper.

Mrs. Gladys Coxen, the teacher, said she had not been fully informed of the discussions, but said she "knew it was in the hopper." In general, she said, the switch would be a favorable one from the point of view of the benefit to the students' education, if difficulties could be worked out. "We could take advantage of their staff," she said.

Paul Burnett, director of the Child Development Center said he would have to "look at it," before making a final decision on the advisability of the contractual arrangement.

He said the idea had been discussed over a week ago, but no firm decision had been made.

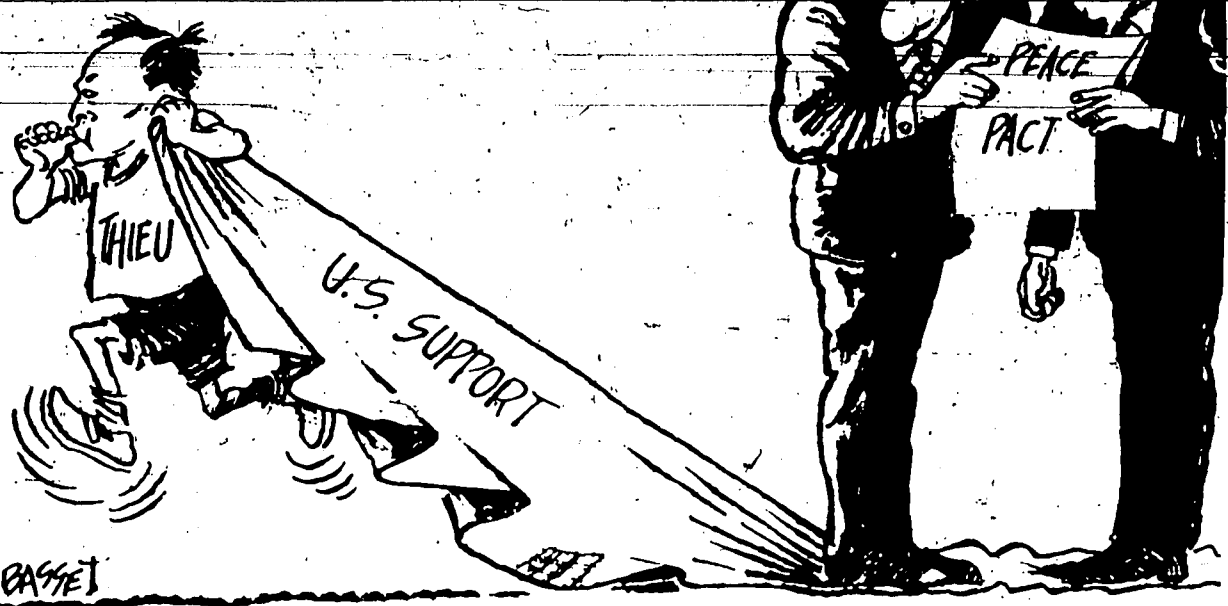

"Basically, the State Department of Education has responsibility for education," he said.

Problems that remain to be discussed include location of a site for the school and licensing of instructors.

Murderers set free

RANSOMED Palestinian guerrillas (from left) Ibrahim Badran, 20, Samer Mohammed Abdullah, 22, and Abdel Kadier El Dnawy, 21, were exchanged for German airliner and 20 persons held hostage. West German government agreed to exchange trio, arrested in wake of Olympic Munich massacre. (UPI).

Wendell chamber sponsors parade

WENDELL — The annual Wendell Chamber of Commerce Halloween costume parade will be Tuesday at 7 p.m.

All spooks, goblins and other characters are to gather at Marshall's and Mel's Big O Tire Store on South Idaho Street. Children will follow the fire truck to the parking lot of the Idaho First National Bank where costumes will be judged and treats will be distributed by members of the Wendell City and Rural Volunteer Fire Department.

Police Chief Dale Bunn is chairman of the parade and will be assisted by Jim Burke, Chuck Ireton and Lowell Shaeffer.

Young children should be accompanied by a parent or other responsible person as a safety precaution, Bunn said.

The chamber sponsors the parade annually to provide wholesome entertainment on Halloween as well as create goodwill toward merchants and avoid accidents and vandalism in Wendell.

Treats will be furnished by the Wendell merchants and prepared by members of the Wendell chapter of Future Homemakers of America under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Smith, advisor.

Question...

My daughter and her husband were receiving a Veterans Pension. He has disappeared. Will my daughter be required to have him declared legally dead to claim his pension?

Answer...

At one time this may have been required, but now the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, at his discretion, may pay the pension to the veteran's wife and child.

Payments made to a wife or child under this section shall not exceed the amount to which each would be entitled if the veteran died of a non service connected disability.

Failure of a veteran to reappear would not affect any of the family's entitlement to benefits except burial of the veteran's wife in a national cemetery. This permission would be denied because the veteran would not be available to indicate his willingness to be buried in the same plot at the time of his death.

Chicago trains collide

CHICAGO (UPI) — A northbound Illinois Central Gulf railroad commuter train crashed into the rear of a second train during the morning rush hour today, driving about 25 yards into the rear coach, and trapping dead and injured inside.

Within an hour Michael Reese Hospital, close by the 27th Street stop where the crash occurred, reported at least eight dead and about 95 injured.

This correspondent, on one of the trains, believed the dead would go well beyond that figure.

The ICG, a heavily patronized commuter service for passengers from Chicago's South Side and its suburbs, is electrified. Officials cut off the power around the wreck area—to safeguard passengers, some of them dazed, leaving the wreckage. The tracks are at ground level.

Traffic on nearby highways became jammed as scores of ambulances sought to reach the scene.

Most of the fatalities were in the rear coach of the lead train and the first coach of the second. Bodies dangled in the wreckage of both, which were knocked off the tracks by the impact, about 8:35 a.m. EST.

The first train was a Highliner, a double-decker designed primarily for commuter service. Firemen put up ladders to work at cutting into the wreckage to free victims trapped inside.

"We don't know if they are living or dead," one fireman panted. Some could be heard screaming for aid.

Pentagon Papers reporter speaks

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Neil Sheehan, a reporter for the New York Times who played a role in the publication of the "Pentagon Papers," will speak Nov. 13 at CSI.

The Times began publishing a series of articles based on the "Papers" June 13, 1971, but publication was temporarily restrained by the U.S. Justice Department as being harmful to national defense interests and national security.

It took a Supreme Court decision to let the newspapers continue publication of the articles.

Sheehan has been with the New York Times since 1964, and has reporting awards for his writing. He is based in Washington D. C.

US economy 'sound'

BOISE — U. S. Rep. Orval Hansen R-Ida., said Saturday the nation's economy is "out of the recovery stage and in full fledged expansion."

Congressman Hansen, candidate for reelection, said in Boise the Commerce Department report issued Friday shows the government index of leading economic indicators continues to register sharp gains.

He said the August increase has amounted to 2.6 per cent, making it the largest monthly gain in more than a decade.

The first complete Bible in English was published in 1535 by Miles Coverdale.

Britain eyes wage-price freeze

LONDON (UPI)—The government will impose a statutory freeze on wages and possibly some key prices unless it reaches agreement today with labor unions on voluntary controls, political sources said.

The sources said Prime Minister Edward Heath regards his talks today with industry and labor union leaders as a final attempt to negotiate a voluntary wage-and-price freeze to curb soaring inflation and bolster the British pound.

"Uncertainty must very soon be resolved, one way or another, and will be," said Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber in a radio interview with the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) Sunday night.

The sources said if the talks end without agreement, the government plans to include the broad outlines of plans for dealing with wages and prices during the next 12 months in Queen Elizabeth's speech opening Parliament Tuesday.

A 17-hour meeting between Heath and the heads of the Trades Unions Congress (TUC) and the Confederation of British Industry (CBI) ended Friday without agreement on the issue. The deadlock contributed to the pound's plunge Friday to an all-time low of 2.32 dollars, an effective devaluation on the 2.60 dollars rate fixed at the "Smithsonian" international monetary conference in Washington last December.

Barber assailed the TUC for resisting voluntary wage controls while insisting on statutory restraints on prices.

He described as "manifest humbug" the TUC's contention that wage restraints were unnecessary because employers could always reject demands for pay increases. Barber said unions have repeatedly forced employers to concede excessive wage claims.

Several union leaders criticized Barber for making his remarks at a crucial stage in the talks.

"I am astounded he should make comments of this kind in the middle of discussions," said Jack Jones, chief of the giant Transport and General Workers Union (TGWU).

Government officials said a "miracle" would be needed to reach agreement today on voluntary measures to restrict wages and prices.

Still Looking for a Way Out

COMMENT Critical Eye

Christian Science Monitor

On balance, this newspaper has stood on the side of private foundations in America. They have earned credit for their aid to the arts, for support of experimental education projects, for launching public television when government was too weak-willed or short-sighted to act.

But foundations aren't above criticism.

For a while, criticism of foundations was solely punitive. Congress, it will be recalled, took aim at their tax exempt status and even proposed they should be liquidated after a period of years. This criticism was largely motivated by pique that the foundations weren't accountable to anyone — especially not to Congress.

Now, healthier criticism is coming. It is coming from within the foundation community itself — most recently from highly respected 20th Century Fund.

Among the fund's proposals are several that not all the foundations themselves would like. For instance, a proposed limit of size at $500 million would compel the breakup of the massive Ford Foundation into half a dozen foundations. Perhaps this could be done if the resulting lesser donations were earmarked for special areas — such as education, the humanities, science, and so forth. But it is hard to see how this would necessarily result in greater effectiveness in grant-giving. There is no evidence that smaller foundations would be better managed.

The report also criticized foundations for committing only a small percentage — from 1 to 8 percent — of their grants to imaginative "experimental or activist" projects.

And more to the point, it said, "Not one-tenth, probably not one-twentieth, of their grants have any measurable impact upon the major social problems confronting the nation at the present time."

This is a stiff indictment. Of course, many kinds of research projects are such that no immediate public benefit may appear. And when one considers how low the percentage of workable ideas the management of almost any organization produces, especially government, the foundations' record may not be so bad.

Further, it is in the spirit of foundations that they be free to invest in "high rise" projects where the returns may be intangible or unmeasurable.

Nonetheless, foundations are under the gun. The self-examinations by other major foundations show an awareness of the hostile environment foundations now dwell in. In part this is due to a persistent anti-intellectualism that has surfaced in Washington the past couple of years.

It is also due to the fat-cat image which the very close foundation world projects. High salaries, limousines, subsidized lunches the foundation elite enjoys derive from the tax exempt status which also funds worthy study projects.

One could argue that the foundation managers are an elite like the diplomats and business leaders and university chiefs with whom they fraternize. But it would be wiser for the foundations to study themselves and seek ways to back more effective projects than to defend their privileged status.

The programs many foundations support are intellectually fraudulent or petty. If such foundations had to support themselves on the open market, on the basis of performance, they would go under. The read-out by the Twentieth Century Fund should help sharpen up the life of foundations which had grown too cushy in the absence of self-examination.

Military Japan

St. Marie's Gazette

The specter of a remilitarized Japan is enough to drive any whose memories include World War II up the wall. But that would be a grossly unfair interpretation to make of the decision by the Japanese cabinet to double the military budget within the next five years.

Japan's military expenditures were up sharply this year, but so were expenditures for welfare, education and public works. The economy continues to expand rapidly.

Listen: If You Have A Problem

By O. A. (GUS) KELKOR
Editor, Times News

Do you have a problem? A problem with liquor?

Of course not. It's always the other fellow who has the problem. Even if you drink through a funnel, it's still the other guy. Well, if you have communication with that "other guy" you might tell him — or her — that the first step toward the day when he — or she — can say "no" will be provided in Twin Falls next Friday evening.

There will be no embarrassing situations brought to pass, there will be no personal questions, there will be no forcing anything your way. All it will be is a meeting open to the public for the purpose of an open discussion of the Alcoholics Anonymous program. If you are a person who just cannot face your problem, why not send a friend to sit in for you so you will know what's going on and what is available?

The meeting is actually the first session of a three-day mini-convention of Alcoholics Anonymous. The Friday night session — starting at 8 p.m. — will be in the auditorium of the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School. The Saturday and Sunday meetings will be in the American Legion Hall. During the regular sessions some 200 are expected to attend. How many will be at the special Friday night meeting will be controlled by the problem people.

At that Friday session — like we said — you don't have to be wobbling to attend. All you have to be is interested. There will be speakers and an open discussion. All you have to do — if you do not want to engage in the conversation, is to sit and listen. From that time on what you do is up to you. There will be no arm twisting!

Officials of the mini-convention are nameless because names are not important in an organization such as Alcoholics Anonymous.

Just how far down the path of alcoholism do you have to go in order to qualify for membership in the organization?

Well, the answer they give is "not very far." In fact, the A. A. preamble states definitely that membership in the Fellowship is open to anyone who "has a desire to stop drinking." It is up to the individual to decide when he has had enough.

Time was when, virtually all A. A. members spoke of losing jobs and families, to say nothing of time spent in hospitals, jails and skid rows across the nation.

Today, however, the profile of A. A. membership has changed. Newer members come in speaking of days lost from work, rather than lost jobs. They still have families. They have never seen the inside of a jail lived in a fourth-rate hotel or slept in a hallway in skid row.

Yet they consider themselves alcoholics. They have felt remorse and shame for the things they have said and done to their families and friends — for the lies they have told and the excuses they have made.

They may not have had blackouts or taken the morning drink. They may not have had the shakes and the sweats in the long, lonely hours of the night. Yet they have, in some lesser degree, experienced many symptoms of alcoholism experienced in the skid row alcoholic.

There is no difference as far as A. A. membership is concerned. Both are alcoholics. However, the one who has stopped while he still has a job, family and position in the community is often referred to as an early bottom alcoholic. The alcoholic who has been hospitalized and jailed, lost family and job, is called a late bottom alcoholic.

These referrals to early and late bottom alcoholics, according to A. A. people in Twin Falls, are merely rough indications of how far the disease of alcoholism has progressed with an individual. Furthermore, this indication is usually made by that individual himself.

The difference between the two categories is that a taste of the horror of alcoholism has been more than enough to convince the early bottom alcoholic that he has a problem with alcohol.

The late bottom alcoholic needs a little more persuasion — hospitalization, jail, dismissals, divorce court and so on. Unfortunately, some alcoholics are never convinced. They are committed to a mental hospital with permanent brain damage. Or they die.

In large measure today's early bottom A. A. member owes his early recovery to the fact that the disease of alcoholism has been recognized at all levels as a national public health program. He may have been referred to A. A. by his doctor, psychiatrist or clergyman. His wife or a friend may have read about A. A. in a national magazine or the local newspaper. They may have seen a movie or television drama dealing with alcoholism and A. A.

He may work for one of the hundreds of companies in the United States that have programs to combat alcoholism among employees. Once an individual joins A. A. he can identify with the progression of other members — many of whom have endured more mental, physical and spiritual suffering.

If he is perceptive he will note that the disease gets worse and worse over the years. He will learn from others who have experimented that no period of abstinence — days, months or years — will enable him to drink safely again. He will learn from the experience of other A. A.'s that he can maintain his health, happiness and spiritual well-being by staying away from one drink one day at a time.

That's about the way it goes. If you want to arrest your problem you have a chance for that first step next Friday evening. All you have to do is to be at the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School at 8 p.m.

It's up to you — or you can stay home that night and have the morning drink the next day. But there is only one person who will lose. It's you!

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

A Hiss Case?

WASHINGTON — The most politically significant aspect of Clark MacGregor's uncharacteristically harsh assault on the Washington Post's coverage of the Watergate affair is the fact it was ordered directly from the White House Oval Office.

MacGregor, President Nixon's campaign manager, was pondering what to do next about the deepening swamp of charges when orders came from the White House Monday to attack. Not understanding the ground rules, an aide informed newsmen that MacGregor would be available for questions after his carefully drafted statement attacking the Post. Instead, the White House ruled out any questions at all. So, the usually genial MacGregor was viewed on national television making an angry, ad hominem attack on the newspaper, then stalking redacted from the room.

That was in keeping with overall White House strategy ever since Republican-financed spies were caught bugging Democratic headquarters at the Watergate June 17. The strategy don't get too excited about this little caper and fire back hard at anybody who criticizes us. With two weeks to election day, that strategy has become increasingly troubling to thoughtful Republicans.

Nobody believes that the Watergate indictments or the attendant charges of political subversion seriously threaten Mr. Nixon's landslide. Rather, his silent Republican critics fear the long shadow the President's see-no-evil, hear-no-evil reaction casts on his second term.

One prominent Midwestern state Republican leader has argued with the White House in terms instantly recognizable to Richard M. Nixon. The Alger Hiss case of a generation ago.

While freshman Congressman Nixon was escaping anonymity in his relentless pursuit of espionage charges against Hiss, President Harry Truman was pooh-poohing the entire affair. That gave Congressional Republicans an open pass for heavily publicized hearings that helped build the huge Republican victory of 1952.

By pooh-poohing the Watergate, this Midwestern state leader fears, Mr. Nixon opened up a politically profitable investigation in 1973 on which Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has now taken out an option.

Other Republicans worry about dangers less concrete but perhaps more serious. Some Nixon surrogate candidates note that while working-class groups tend to shrug off the political subversion charges, they cause dismay among thoughtful business and professional people. From this derives the worry that no matter how immense Mr. Nixon's landslide, his mandate will be badly tarnished.

Doubts are not confined to liberal Republicans. Conservative Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, Republican national chairman, publicly adheres to the Nixon strategy. But privately he feels White House handling of the Watergate affair is atrocious. "See what we've done about crime?" cracks the politically shrewd Dole in the Senate cloakroom. "We've moved it off the streets and into the executive branch."

Even John B. Connally, a full-fledged Presidential crony, tells intimates he would have stressed the moral outrage of the Watergate bugging had he been in charge.

ANDREW TULLY

It's Ghastly

WASHINGTON — Even allowing for the depressing fact that both candidates sometimes manage to make Warren Harding in retrospect look inspiring, this is a ghastly Presidential campaign. The hatred abroad in the land is almost unimaginable.

There is plenty of guilt on both sides, but it seems to me the most tragic manifestation of the country's paranoia concerns itself with the Vietnam War. In any drawing room, country club, or saloon these days you can find people who hope with a perverted hope that Richard Nixon will fail in his efforts to negotiate a peace settlement with the Communists.

"I hate Nixon," said a man over the brandy. "I pray every night that he doesn't settle the war. I don't want that SOB to get any credit for anything."

Heads nodded agreement around the table. They belonged to people who are fervent admirers and supporters of George McGovern. The consensus was that their candidate would still have a fighting chance to win the election if there is still fighting in Vietnam next Tuesday. I do not believe these are bad people. But such talk is a terrible reminder that given the right atmosphere we are all capable of turning ape.

Heaven knows Richard Nixon may leave much to be desired both as a President and as a person. But whether or not he is a paragon of virtue and charisma, whether or not he turns the electorate on, there is something pathetically tragic in the fact that some of us have so lost our moral bearings that we are praying against peace.

Certainly Nixon is aware that there's an election coming up. He's also aware that the war is a political issue. As the New Yorker's Dick Rovere said about Lyndon Johnson in 1964, Nixon sometimes acts as if he's determined to win unanimously. And a peace settlement signed on the dotted line before next Tuesday would wrap things up.

But we should give the man credit for a little horse sense. He's got to want to end the war, election or not, because any war is a ruddy nuisance to any President. Motive is immaterial on this one. The fact that Richard Nixon may be trying to end the war only to insure his reelection is an insignificant as the circumstance that George McGovern has made the war his No. 1 issue in his campaign.

The important thing is that both agree the war should be ended. McGovern people poke malicious fun at Nixon's pronouncement during the 1968 campaign that he had a "secret plan" to end the war. I suspect Nixon hoped to give the impression that he would settle the conflict within a short time after moving into the White House. That, unfortunately, is also politics.

But in fact Nixon did have a plan — the gradual withdrawal of American ground troops to show good faith and thereby persuade North Vietnam to sit down for serious peace negotiations. Had he revealed the details of this plan he might have lost the election to Hubert Humphrey, because Lyndon Johnson's abdication showed that the voters wanted peace yesterday. Again, politics. Or as John Kennedy once put it, "You can't do anything unless you get elected."

So yes, Nixon did fool the people. He had to know that his "secret plan" would take years to reach fruition and he refused to let the voters in on that knowledge, lest they refuse to give him the time he needed. One big black mark for Richard Nixon's lack of candor.

But praying that Nixon will fail to end the longest war in the nation's history? Come off it, America.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Sex Question

The following question is coming so frequently now that I think it definitely needs an answer. Whether these questions are coming because of increasing "sexual freedom" or because more girls are at last becoming aware of the danger is beside the point.

Dear Doctor: When a girl asked if it was possible to become pregnant without intercourse you said, "Yes, some girls wind up pregnant after heavy petting."

I was very surprised and now a little scared. I'm 16 and refused to have intercourse with my boyfriend, but we do quite a bit of heavy petting. Is it possible to get pregnant if the sperm just gets on your hands?

What percentage of girls have gotten pregnant that way? You also said that once the male sperm reaches the moist surfaces, it can travel some distance in search of an ovum. How much distance? How long can a sperm live once it is in the body? — W.R.

I have no idea what percentage of girls become pregnant from intimate petting; all I know is that people associated with homes for unmarried mothers tell me that it keeps happening always to the astonishment of the girl involved.

Sperm on the hands doesn't, of course, cause pregnancy, but if the sperm, while still viable, is carried to the vaginal tract, then it can

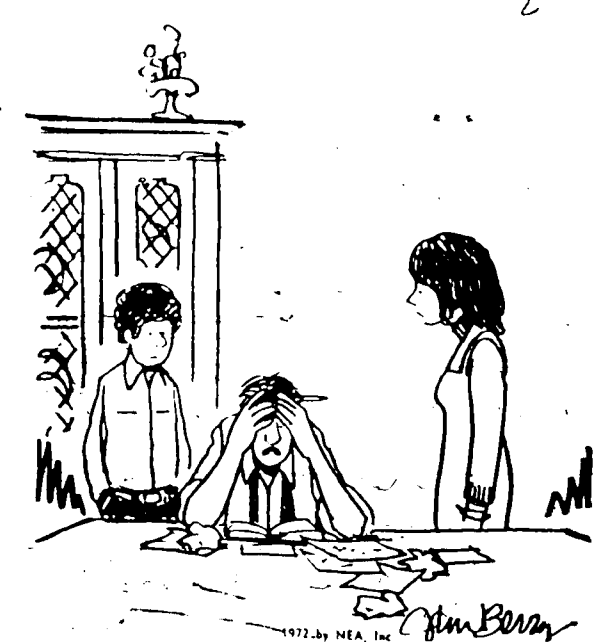

The sperm does not live long. Depending on temperature, available moisture, and other conditions, its survival is relatively brief. However, if it is still alive on reaching the vaginal tract, it lives and remains active for somewhere around 48 hours. It is a microscopic cell, much too small to be seen without a microscope. Under a microscope, it proves to have a sort of tail making it resemble a miniature polliwog. With that tail it can "swim" or move through surface fluid. It an ovum (egg) is present, or if one is released within the sperm's lifetime, and the two meet, then pregnancy results.

Exactly how far a sperm can travel is a little hard to say with exactness, but from evidence such as the occasional occurrence of a tubal pregnancy, it must at least be a number of inches. Quite conceivably it is much farther than that.

The important point is that it has happened, and continues to happen, and will continue to happen so long as girls don't know about it.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Boggs search longest

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The re-election campaign of Alaska's sole congressman, Rep. Nicholas J. Begich, missing 14 days in a light aircraft that also carried House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, resumed today on a modified scale.

The announcement that the campaign for Begich, a Democrat in his first term, was to be resumed came as the search for the legislators and two others aboard the plane became the longest ever conducted by Alaska's Rescue Coordination Center.

The center at Elmendorf AFB reported snow, icy rain and fog Sunday grounded most of the planes hunting for Boggs, Begich, aide Russell Brown and pilot Don E. Jonz. The twin-engine Cessna 310 disappeared Oct. 16 while on a flight from Anchorage to Juneau.

The bad weather was expected to lift partially Tuesday, the spokesman said, to allow aircraft to again intensively reconnoiter at the Anchorage end of the 550-mile route for some trace of the four men.

An "Alaskans for Begich" spokesman said the decision to resume the campaign—of which the flight to Juneau was part—was made after consultation with 40-year-old congressman's family, personal staff and a number of supporters.

Begich's Republican opponent, Donald Young of Fort Yukon, was accused by the spokesman of "making certain statements, seeking to take advantage of an unfortunate situation."

US reds convene in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Communist party held its first political rally in Illinois in 40 years here during the weekend.

The Saturday night event featured former UCLA professor Angela Davis as its guest speaker and boasted a crowd of 1,300 which gathered in a Loop hotel in celebration of the party's presence on the Illinois ballot this year.

The Communist party had not been represented on Illinois ballots since 1932 because of the refusal of its candidates to sign the state's loyalty oath.

A recent federal court ruling upheld that refusal and put the Communists on the ballot. This year's candidates, Gus Hall for president and Jarvis Tyner for vice president, addressed the rally along with Miss Davis.

"We won't make it in 1972," said Tyner, "but eventually we'll make it."

Tyner said, "There was no socialism before 1917. Now, one-third of the world is living under socialism."

"In the 1950's, Gus Hall had to spend seven years in Leavenworth for his ideas, but in the 1970s they couldn't do it to Angela Davis. A new system is being born, and the old system is dying," he said.

GOP hope in House said dim

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—House Minority Leader Gerald Ford has given the Republicans "little less than a 50-50 chance" of winning enough seats to give them a majority in the House.

But, said the Michigan Republican, who touched down in four states during the weekend to try to help swing doubtful voters, George McGovern is helping the GOP.

"Any candidate who adopts Senator McGovern's backway politics will be hurt," he said.

"The disgruntled blue collar working man who has been disillusioned by McGovern will vote Nixon."

Ford noted that the Republicans need to add 38 more members to their ranks to give them a majority.

Black pupils enter school as whites jeer

NEW YORK (UPI)—City Schools Chancellor Harvey R. Scribner escorted 31 black children into Junior High School 211 in Brooklyn this morning, as protesting white parents booed and jeered.

The children arrived for classes only moments after a Brooklyn city councilman said he served Scribner with a court order restraining the 31 children from entering the school today.

Councilman Monroe Cohen told newsmen at the school he personally served Scribner with what he said was a restraining order signed by Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice Harold McLaughlin.

Shortly after he spoke, however, the children, accompanied by Scribner and Human Rights Commissioner Eleanor Holmes Norton, passed through a line of police barricades and entered the school.

On Sunday, the state education commissioner ruled that the children must attend the integrated school despite the verbal and physical opposition of white parents.

The commissioner, Edward B. Nyquist, said, "One cannot view events which have deprived children of access to an education for seven weeks without the deepest concern and a profound sense of shame and outrage."

"Even more serious, perhaps, is the fact that these children of highly impressionable age had been subjected to humiliation and had been rejected in ways which might blight their spirits and minds for a long time to come."

Fire, smoke claim 3 aboard Saratoga

By MAX B. VANZI
SINGAPORE (UPI)—Fire aboard the U.S. carrier Saratoga engulfed a crew quarters in smoke Sunday, killing three sailors who were overcome before they could crawl free, an official spokesman said today.

U.S. embassy spokesman Robert Nichols said a small fire in a below-decks machine shop was brought under control quickly, but spoke from burning oil "mushroomed out and into the passageways" leading to the living quarters.

Off-duty seamen relaxing in their bunks after lunch were caught with smoke coming through every exit, Nichols said. He reported earlier the smoke entered the crew quarters through air vents but said later investigation showed most of it gushed in through the doors.

"It happened so fast that there just wasn't time for everybody to get out," Nichols said. "The ones who made it crawled out on their hands and knees. Some were barely able to get out," he said.

Twelve seamen were injured, none seriously, and six of them were treated and returned to duty, Nichols said.

He said the bodies of the three sailors will be flown to the United States.

None was identified pending notification of next of kin.

The carrier, here to give shore leave to the crew, was not seriously damaged by the fire and "can sail at any time," Nichols said. He said no sailing date was fixed.

The ship, doing war duty off the Vietnam coast, arrived Friday. Singapore is a regular port of call for the U.S. Navy.

Nichols said the No. 2 main machine room, where the fire broke out, was sealed from the rest of the ship, but said the smoke was sucked into the ship's ventilation system.

Mae calls Nixon 'Mr. Veto'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern pinned the title "Mr. Veto" on President Nixon today because of the President's rejection of 25 major bills during the 92nd Congress, on grounds they would be inflationary.

McGovern, speaking at a breakfast meeting with Connecticut Democratic leaders, contended the measures were vital steps to meet domestic needs and create jobs for the unemployed.

"Nixon has earned the title of Mr. Veto and what he is vetoing is you and your life," said McGovern.

The senator, entering the home stretch of the campaign, also claimed he and Nixon were at last in fundamental agreement on U.S. policy in Vietnam and said the President had even been begging for the end of the war.

Housing scandal brings suspensions in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—After a three month investigation, three Detroit area Housing and Urban Development (HUD) employees, 25 repair contractors and five management brokers have been suspended in the nation's biggest federal housing scandal.

The announcement of the suspensions came Saturday after "investigative efforts" which revealed an apparent falsification of documents and records submitted to HUD.

William C. Whitbeck, area HUD director, said the Detroit office has more foreclosures than any other HUD office in the nation as well as the greatest dollar loss.

"During the period of suspension, the repair contractors and the area management brokers are prohibited from doing business with any HUD office in the United States," Whitbeck said.

Roughly 20 per cent, or 10,687, of the FHA-foreclosed houses in the nation are in eastern Michigan, with 7,600 of those in Detroit alone. All are government owned, due to repossession after foreclosures on FHA-insured mortgages, making HUD the city's largest slumlord. In January of 1969 HUD's area office owned about 900 repossessed homes here.

Whitbeck, refusing to name the suspended employees pending civil service dismissal proceedings, said all the information on the individuals and firms suspended had been turned over the Justice Department for further investigation and possible prosecution. He said the employees had been doing appraisals and payment certification functions in the Detroit HUD office.

Hud's attempt to provide homes for low income families in Detroit has involved the spending of $10 million to $15 million annually since 1969 to repair the thousands of repossessed homes it has acquired, but Whitbeck would not provide an estimate of the amount spent for alleged wrongdoings.

"Our auditors and investigators found purchase orders were paid for which had been certified as having been completed although the work had not been done," Whitbeck said.

IRA prisoners tunnel way out

BELFAST (UPI)—Seven

members of the Provisional wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) tunneled and climbed their way to freedom Sunday from an army detention camp in the Irish Republic, camp officials said today.

In Belfast, gunmen firing from a car Sunday assassinated a Roman Catholic youth. Sniper fire Saturday killed a British soldier in Londonderry in other weekend violence in the province.

The two deaths brought to 621 the number of persons killed in three years of violence in Northern Ireland.

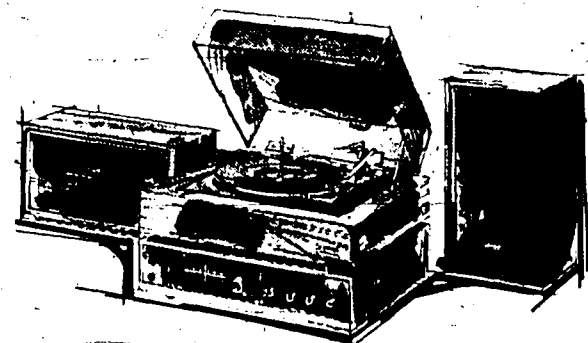

Officials at the army detention center in Curragh, 40 miles north of Dublin, said the seven escapees tunneled from one of their cells, then used ropes to scale the 15-foot high perimeter

Some of the men were serving prison terms in connection with weapons offenses. Others were awaiting trial following the Dublin government's crackdown on IRA activity in the south.

In Belfast, gunfire from a speeding car killed a 16-year-old Roman Catholic youth and wounded another youth as they strolled through the city's predominantly Catholic Cliftonville Avenue district, the army said.

A sniper's bullet killed Army Sgt. Thomas McKay, 29, in Londonderry, an army spokesman said.

Canada campaign at end

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's quiet federal election campaign is over and the votes pile into ballot boxes today in a test of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's 4 1/2-year-old government.

Trudeau's Liberal party held 147 seats in the 264-seat House of Commons when the election was called, giving it majority control and freedom from dependence on the votes of the three major opposition parties.

The Progressive Conservatives held 73 seats, the moderately Socialist New Democratic party 25, and the Populist Social Credit 13.

The main question was whether the Liberals will maintain majority control. A net loss of 15 seats would drop them to a minority position.

Only a surprising surge by the Conservatives would knock Trudeau out of power.

Lewis and Casquette have admitted that they are running to increase their standing and have no hope of forming the next government.

The Liberals appeared particularly strong in predominantly French-Canadian Quebec.

Davis, McClure obtain support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two different Washington D. C. groups have come out for the two U. S. Senate candidates in Idaho.

The League of Conservation Voters in Washington, D. C., endorsed Democrat William E. "Bud" Davis. The league is a "national, non-partisan environmental campaign committee."

Its support of Davis was announced "because of his stand on such issues as excluding new dams in Hells Canyon and protection of the Salmon River as a wild and scenic river."

The Americans for Constitutional Action Group endorsed his opponent, James A. McClure. The ACA called the first district congressman "highly qualified."

"McClure is a man of highest integrity and moral courage. As a United States senator, he will continue to fight courageously to preserve our constitutional form of government and the social, economic and political systems it provides and protects," the group's statement said.

U.S. Democratic senate nominee William E. "Bud" Davis said he felt honored by the recent endorsement of Field and Stream magazine.

In the November issue, Davis topped the list of only four U.S. senate candidates endorsed by the publication for their particular concern for environmental quality and protection.

Campaigning in Boise, the Pocatello candidate said, "Having been a westerner and a sportsman all my life, I feel honored that this nationally respected magazine would recognize my concern for the sportsmen of Idaho and would endorse my candidacy."

"My endorsement this month and Mr. McClure's earlier endorsing only further illustrate the difference between my opponent and myself when it comes to respect and concern for hunting and fishing in Idaho," Davis said.

Ethnic votes

PRESIDENT NIXON greets members of Lithuanian group during campaign swing through Ohio Saturday. Nixon has been concentrating on winning ethnic group votes in campaigning for re-election. (UPI)

Upsurge for McGovern claimed in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — George McGovern's popularity is rising in Pennsylvania for the first time since he began campaigning against President Nixon.

"There is definitely an upsurge in the state," said Democratic Gov. Milton J. Shapp, who recently contributed $15,000 and began intensive speech-making on McGovern's behalf.

Shapp cited polls showing the Democratic presidential candidate had reduced his deficit in Pennsylvania from 17 per cent to 9 per cent in the past two weeks. He attributed this to party unity.

"At first there were four factions," he said. "There were the McGovern people. There was labor, which was sitting on its hand."

"There was the party organization that was shocked by what happened in Miami. And there were the state candidates who were afraid of what effect McGovern would have on their own candidacy."

"Now, there are many people wearing McGovern buttons who originally shunned them," Republicans and Democrats alike acknowledge this change in the McGovern camp, but they are still far apart on the outcome.

"If you plot this surge on a graph you can see that we are going to wind up in an even race by election day," said Jack MacDonald, a McGovern spokesman.

"The deficit was cut from 17 points to 11 points by Oct. 10, and nine points by Oct. 14, and seven or six," MacDonald said, adding that he got these figures by comparing the McGovern and Nixon polls.

MacDonald said the "most realistic" presidential he had heard was that McGovern would carry the state by 100,000 votes.

"They're dreaming," retorted Mike Willmann, spokesman for the Nixon state campaign.

"This McGovern thing is nothing more than we expected — just dribs and drabs of Democrats returning to the fold."

Willmann said a Republican poll now gives Nixon a 500,000 vote edge in the state by election day. But he acknowledges that the figure was revised downward from 800,000.

McGovern's state strategy has shifted slightly since the campaign began. Originally, plans were for a "traditional" Democratic campaign focusing on the two major cities — Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The strategists said they needed a 100,000 edge in Pittsburgh and a 250,000 margin in Philadelphia to balance off the traditional Republican vote in rural area.

But some of the focus switched to the suburbs after Philadelphia's Democratic Mayor, Frank Rizzo, endorsed Nixon and Pittsburgh's labor leaders proved hostile.

"Although we've adjusted our figures downward in the cities," MacDonald said, "we've adjusted them upward in the suburbs by as much as 10 to 15 per cent."

Nixon helped his own cause in Pennsylvania when he came to Philadelphia at Rizzo's invitation to sign the revenue sharing bill. He followed it with an unscheduled motor trip through the city's plush suburbs.

"It was the greatest day of all the great days of my life," said Rizzo, who also got $52 million for Philadelphia in a recent visit to the White House. The mayor's endorsement of the President is expected to have a strong impact on election day.

McGovern has made seven campaign swings through Pennsylvania compared to Nixon's two "non-political" stops in Philadelphia and Wilkes-Barre. The senator will make several more appearances, including one at a "rock gala" Nov. 5 in Pittsburgh.

Top justices eat buffalo

MOHESE, Mont. (UPI) — The nine justices of the U.S. Supreme Court will soon be sitting down to a dinner of buffalo roast.

The National Bison Range near here says the 11-pound roast will be shipped Tuesday from Spokane, Wash., by air express to Washington, D.C.

Marvin Kaaschke, range director, said the meat was bought by James M. Brown, a former Montanan now a clerk from the Thompson Falls and Charlo, Mont., Lion's Clubs. Kaaschke said the clubs bought the three-year-old bull intending to re-sell it as a fund-raising project.

Situated in the Mission Range foothills, in a rural area with 63 times as many buffalo as people, the range is managed by the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife of the Interior Department.

With about 18,500 square miles available for forage, the range sustains about 315 buffalo, a population carefully correlated to the availability of forage.

Of these, a few are exhibited along with elk, mule and white-tail deer and big horn sheep.

The others live naturally on the range, even during the winter months, when they will refuse grain and hay brought to them, preferring range grass.

A few are specially marked to die naturally on the range, but most survive to be sold between the ages of 18 months to 12 years.

Special efforts are made to find buyers, Kaaschke said, who will provide natural habitats for the buffalo who are sold to the general public for an average price of $365.

Buffalo ranchers have given up on cross-breeding buffalo with cattle because the offspring, known as Catelo, are usually sterile, Kaaschke said.

Additives praised

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Food additives can be good for you. Not only that, you'd be badly off without them, according to Flora Bardwell, a Utah State University food and nutrition specialist.

Mrs. Bardwell and Prof. Gary Richardson, a USU food science expert, reported on the nature of natural and unnatural food additives at a session of the Women's Leadership Workshop now underway at the Logan campus.

Some additives are natural and some are created in the laboratory, Mrs. Bardwell said, "but actually, all additives, whether they come from foods or from other sources, are chemicals — as is the earth and all its inhabitants."

Prof. Richardson said the artificial sweetener cyclamate, which was taken out of soft drinks after an outcry about a possible cancer threat, would only be a risk if someone imbibed 50 gallons of soda pop in one day.

Use happy 'hobo' theme for children's gathering

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The happy hobo — now there's a clever, can't-miss theme for a children's party.

Small fry love not having to get dressed up, and you, the party giver, will find it easy to execute and inexpensive too. Just make "hobo packs" out of colorful gingham squares, fill each with an apple, a cupcake or — brownie and a covered container of potato salad, and tie to a wooden dowel.

The youngsters can eat their lunch in the hobo's camp — a blanket spread on the floor or out-of-doors, if the weather permits. And when the guests are ready to leave, re-tie the bandannas, tuck in a small toy and they'll go home happily shouldering their packs.

The suggestion comes from The R. T. French Company's Test Kitchens in Rochester, N. Y., along with these child-pleasing recipes for Hobo Hot Dogs and Rail Riders Potato Salad. Both are simple and sure-fire.

The bacon-wrapped wieners are basted with a smooth and appealing combination of peanut butter, jelly and prepared yellow mustard. The no-fuss potato salad is made with instant mashed potato granules. Chopped celery, carrots and cheese add crunch, color and nutrients.

This party meal is designed to provide servings from each of the Basic Four Food Groups all children need daily to stay healthy.

Abby

Abigail Van Buran

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old wife and mother. I've been a good tennis player. My husband tries hard, but he lacks coordination.

Whenever we've played tennis with friends, I've considered his pride and have never beaten him in a singles game before a crowd, for which he's been grateful.

For some strange reason, I recently decided to show him up, and beat him unmercifully before our friends. I don't know why, but I did it, knowing full well what I was doing to his pride.

Since then, nothing has been the same between us. No cross words were spoken, but we both know that I humiliated him intentionally, and he has not forgiven me for it. It's so serious that he hasn't made love to me in two months.

Damaged pride

I do love him, Abby. He's kind and attractive, and a woman couldn't want a better husband and father. Besides that, he's a wonderful lover, and I need a lot of love.

Now I am furious with myself. Should I apologize? I'm afraid to even mention that tennis game. How do I get things back to normal?

UPSTATE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Bring up the incident that's been gnawing at both of you, talk it out, and clear the air. Shame on you for intentionally humiliating him, but shame on him for having allowed you to lose to him in order to salvage his pride. He may be a wonderful lover, but he's a lousy loser.

DEAR ABBY: I need an answer soon. My 18-year-old daughter still wets the bed. She is very pretty and just announced her engagement to one of the finest young men in the community.

No one would ever suspect she has this problem. We have tried everything. Years ago the doctor said there was nothing physically wrong with her and she would outgrow it, but she hasn't. Is there anything we can do to get her over this in a hurry, or is it hopeless? She is planning a December wedding and she's afraid to get married.

DESPERATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: She should visit the doctor again for a complete examination. If she's physically sound, her problem could be emotional—and it's not hopeless. (P. S. She should tell her fiancé about her problem. He probably won't believe her, but at least he can't say he wasn't warned.)

DEAR ABBY: When we planned our daughter's wedding, we decided not to have any children at the reception. Then we went to the printer to have the invitations printed and asked him if we should mention anything about "no children" at the reception. He said, "No. Just address the invitation to Mr. and Mrs. and that will let them know the children are not included."

Now we are getting back cards from people accepting our invitation to the wedding reception and advising us that FOUR people are coming! We call them up and ask who the "four" are, and they tell us they are bringing their two children.

Abby, we love children, but not at the wedding reception. Please help us!

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again — Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend more than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast, minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours, even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved, too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin!

Oswald: "This doesn't make any difference to South. He simply plays out his diamonds and spades. It turns out that East holds four cards in both hearts and clubs and he has to throw away his protection in one or the other."

Jim: "The squeeze is called automatic because if West held the long clubs and hearts he would have been squeezed the same way, but if each defender was long in one key suit there would be no squeeze at all and South would pay off."

Shoshone Civic Club aids pool

SHOSHONE — Members of the Civic Club have pledged at least $100 toward the Lincoln County swimming pool fund.

The action came after Friday's meeting when Myron D. Johnson, from the Rotary Club, met with the group and explained the pool project and status of funds.

The program for the day was presented by Lee Childs, director of the Idaho Youth Ranch, Rupert.

Childs stressed the fact that boys there may not necessarily have had trouble with the law, but in many cases are boys who had not had a chance to develop in a manner that meets the dictates of society.

Childs also said there is no federal, state or county aid available to help with operation of the ranch. It is operated by donations.

The club members voted to send a memorial to the ranch in memory of the late Mrs. Snow Coffin, longtime member of the club.

Committees were appointed for the District Federated Women's Club convention to be held in Shoshone in the spring.

Mrs. Gilbert Pierson and Mrs. Reid Newby will be in charge of favors, with Mrs. Elmer Terry, Mrs. Wallace Fixsen and Penny Fixsen in charge of the centerpieces.

Members were reminded to study SJR 132 and vote on Nov. 7.

The November meeting will be on flower grooming and Christmas decorations, featuring Mrs. Ivan Mink.

Hostesses were Mrs. Clyde Hughes, Mrs. Gene Harris, Mrs. Ivan Hopkins and Mrs. William Kerner.

Ranger office moved

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls district ranger's office of the Sawtooth National Forest has moved to a new location on Blue Lakes Boulevard North. Lewis Munson, ranger, said his office will be open for business in the new location Monday morning.

Formerly located in the Sawtooth National Forest headquarters building on Addison Avenue East, the Twin Falls ranger district office is now located in the new Gafford Building, 1061 Blue Lakes Blvd. No. 1, on the second floor.

The building will also house a number of other U. S. Department of Agriculture offices including the Farm Home Administration, Federal Crop Insurance Agency, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services.

Munson said the move was made to give the district more space and to leave offices it previously occupied for use by the supervisor's staff.

All other ranger districts are located in separate buildings around the forest and the Twin Falls district was the only one previously sharing quarters with the supervisor's staff.

Doctors reassured that sweating both 'necessary and important'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Doctors are being reassured that it is both necessary and important for people to sweat. The competitive "keep dry" exhortations of the flourishing antiperspirant industry have raised widespread public doubts now rebounding on physicians. To steady them in the storm, "Surgery Gynecology & Obstetrics," journal of the American College of Surgeons, put it this way: "Normal physiologic sweating occurs to some extent from the whole of the skin surface and is essential for the control of body temperature."

such agents have brought about even a temporary amelioration of symptoms," they said.

In their experience surgery is "the only curative treatment." When hyperhidrosis shows only in the armpits, which doesn't happen often, the operation is now rebounding on physicians. To steady them in the storm, "Surgery Gynecology & Obstetrics," journal of the American College of Surgeons, put it this way: "Normal physiologic sweating occurs to some extent from the whole of the skin surface and is essential for the control of body temperature."

When it affects armpits and hands they recommended cutting that part of the sympathetic nervous system network which stimulates the over-productive sweat glands.

Their preference is to enter by way of the armpit. It permits an "excellent visualization of the sympathetic chain," simplifying the surgery. And "the incision is hidden and as the operation is frequently performed on young, sensitive women, this is an important consideration."

Complications have been and should be few, they said. "Their experience was with 42 patients, 31 of them women. All but two had "an excellent result." This "high success rate bears out the experience of many others," they added.

State aid to children increases 24 per cent

BOISE (UPI) — During the nine-month period from July 1971 to March 1972, state aid to dependent families with children (AFDC) increased its caseload from 5,293 to 6,580, a 24.3 per cent hike.

According to a research report released Friday by the Idaho Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, (SRS) the number of persons dependent on AFDC climbed from 18,554 in July to 22,464 last March, an increase of 23.1 per cent.

The report further stated Idaho is the only state in the northwest with a "sizeable" caseload increase during the nine-month period.

Other percentage changes showed Utah second to Idaho with a 9.9 per cent increase, Wyoming with an 8 per cent jump and Montana with a 5.2 per cent climb.

In its summary of findings, the SRS study showed the most frequently mentioned causes of family break-up among sampled cases in the state were incompatibility, husband's excessive use of liquor and immaturity of marriage partners.

According to the report, the most prevalent conditions causing the sample recipients to apply or reapply for AFDC assistance were:

- The need for medical attention;

- The lack of any employable skills and the need for income immediately following deprivation of support;

- The loss or reduction of employment;

- The loss of support or income caused by moving or other change in living arrangements made after the recipient became eligible.

The study further said about half the AFDC recipients in the sample regarded themselves as having no employable skills, adding this statistic "emphasizes the need for jobs and training programs to enable recipients to become self-supporting as soon as possible."

In order for a family to become eligible for an AFDC assistance grant, the report stated, there must be deprivation of parental support due to one or more of nine causes, the most frequent of which were divorce, desertion, unmarried motherhood and physical or mental incapacity.

ICC moves against 4 moving firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), a longtime punching bag for consumer advocates, now is taking a truculent stand of its own toward consumer abuses committed by the nation's 2,500 household goods movers.

"The honeymoon is over," ICC Commissioner Rupert L. Murphy, a crusty, third term Democratic appointee to the 86-year-old regulatory agency, said in an interview with UPI concerning the problems of policing the 2,500 concerns in an industry which moves a million American families a year across state lines.

The "honeymoon" apparently came to an end earlier this year when the ICC opened an investigation into consumer complaints against the four largest household goods movers in the United States — Aero Mayflower, Allied Van Lines, United Van Lines and North American Van Lines.

The investigation of Aero Mayflower ended in August with the ICC filing a "cease and desist" order against the company and revoking its authority for 15 days to carry certain types of goods. The other three investigations still are going on.

Critics claim that the penalty against Aero Mayflower was not stiff enough. Murphy disagrees. He says if the firm fails to comply with ICC regulations in the future, it will be threatened with the ICC's ultimate weapon — loss of its authorization to carry household goods.

The critics argue that the ICC has never used its revocation authority since it took over regulation of interstate movers in 1935.

"...I support Congressman Jim McClure for my Senate seat."

Following is the complete text of a statement made by Senator Jordan and released statewide on October 26, 1972. It is offered here again in case you have not seen it.

QUOTE!

The statement in a recent ad said:

"Senator Frank Church and Senator Len Jordan made a great team for Idaho in the U. S. Senate. Such teamwork is now in jeopardy..."

The inference that only Bud Davis can carry on that tradition of teamwork overlooks the most essential ingredient of the teamwork which is bipartisan effort.

The facts are that Senator Church has the respect and confidence of his fellow Democrats and I seem to have the respect and confidence of my fellow Republicans. Such a bipartisan coalition contributed largely to our success.

That is why I support Congressman Jim McClure for my Senate seat.

I believe that he too, will have the respect and confidence of his fellow Republicans. I know he is a man of goodwill and will give his sincere effort to carry on the bipartisan — I repeat bipartisan — tradition of accomplishment for Idaho.

The inference that Democrat Davis can deliver the Senate Republican vote better than McClure is too incredible for Idaho voters to accept.

The hour of decision is near. I ask you which team can better represent you in the Nation's capitol: McGovern/Davis/Ludlow/Williams or Nixon/McClure/Hansen/Symms. Whichever President you choose, my advice is VOTE FOR THE WHOLE TEAM.

Gem projects aided by Multi-Media

(Editors note: This is the second of several dispatches about motion pictures produced for state agencies.)

By RICHARD CHARNOCK AND GEORGE FRANK

BOISE (UPI) — A principal solicitor of the state's informational film business during the past year is a non-profit corporation dedicated to cutting out the middle man.

Known as Multi-Media Service Foundation, Inc., it was incorporated May 26, 1971, to promote the "well-being of mankind by charitable, scientific, education, literary and research endeavors."

Basically, its founders hoped to chop-out enough advertising agency, producer and other fees for film production to finance special educational projects.

State Sen. Herman J. McDewitt, D-Pocatello, president of Multi-Media, said the founders hoped not only to assist educational projects in Idaho but help to create a "new industry."

He said when Multi-Media was founded a number of large film producers were laying off some top talent. He said Multi-Media hoped to entice them to move to Idaho and live and work here.

Initially, he said, he spent a lot of his time setting up a production contract with NBC—a contract he says never formally was ratified.

Although prospects looked good for getting both state and private film production business, McDewitt said, they didn't quite pan out and Multi-Media virtually is inactive now.

Gordon Law was going to get it off the ground originally and then he left and then Barrett Rainey was going to get it off the ground," McDewitt said. "But he couldn't get enough business and he used up the money in salary, and finally he quit."

Law, formerly of the University of Idaho faculty, now is director of broadcast and engineering for the Federation of Rocky Mountain States in Denver. McDewitt said law suggested the name Multi-Media.

At one time, McDewitt said, Law hoped to get some educational television film business for Multi-Media from a federation—projected educational satellite program. This satellite—which could generate as much as $4.5 million in federal Health, Education and Welfare funds for the federation—originally was scheduled for 1973 but has been pushed back until 1974.

Rainey, now head of his own profit-oriented film-making company, is a former Boise and Washington, D.C., newsmen. He returned to Idaho in 1971 to become state administrator of communications—leaving that post to become executive vice president of Multi-Media last fall.

After I took the job (with Multi-Media) I began looking around at available film resources in the state—both public and private organizations," Rainey said.

"The more I researched published films previously done by out-of-state contractors the more convinced I became that an Idaho firm staffed by professionals could produce equal or better quality productions at a greatly reduced price within the state."

During his tenure, Rainey obtained three film orders for Multi-Media from state agencies. After he left he got another—since cancelled—for his own company.

Multi-Media's contacts with state agencies and the fact McDewitt, Law and Rainey are long time friends of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus prompted some questions from those inquiring into award of film contracts.

However, Andrus said he had nothing to do with Multi-Media's formation or subsequent activities. He said he was aware of the corporation, but in the same sense he would be aware of any "new industry" in Idaho.

McDewitt said he may have discussed the idea of Multi-Media with an Andrus aide and possibly even with the governor. But he said any connection between the organization and the chief executive ended there.

T.H. Eberle of Boise, secretary of the corporation, recalls no conversations with the governor about Multi-Media.

Twin Falls winner

SELECTED as Twin Falls Junior Miss during the annual pageant Saturday night is Debbie Skinner, Twin Falls. Ten young women from Twin Falls County vied for the title. This is a preliminary to the state competition at Moscow in January. Debbie Stastny, Murtaugh, was selected first runner-up and Karen Kelly, Twin Falls, was named second runner-up.

Wood River working for new choir, band clothes

KETCHUM — A fund raising drive for new choir robes and bank blazers is in progress at the Wood River High School.

Mrs. Paul Heuston told the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce Thursday that a group of interested residents and students are seeking $25 donations, with $18.25 to purchase one choir robe and the additional funds to go toward blazers.

Chamber president Billie Thompson recommended that the budget and finance committee review chamber funds to determine whether a donation would be possible.

Mrs. Heuston said the high school will host the State Music Festival this spring. Last year, Wood River was the only school its size at the Minidoka festival which did not have uniforms, she said.

About three dozen choir robes are needed and a label will be attached to each robe with the name of the donor. The school has some band blazers, but they are in disrepair, Mrs. Heuston said.

In other action, Tom McMahon, member of a chamber committee formed to improve the Ketchum Fire Department, reported the group had been placed on the Ketchum City Council agenda for Nov. 6. Ms. Thompson urged all chamber members to attend.

Present at the meeting was John L. Thibert, American Party candidate for the United States Congress from Idaho.

"The country needs to stand up for moral principles, instead of asking 'what the country can do for me,'" Thibert said.

A trend exists in this country, Thibert said, toward giving away "little by little more of our liberty" and responsibility in return for more comfort. "This country needs strength instead of comfort," he said.

Also speaking before the chamber was C. W. (Andy) Gardner, incumbent candidate for district 2 Blaine County commissioner. He said he had no conflict of interest between his business and the post of commissioner.

As a private citizen, Gardner said he has worked on numerous committees, all for the betterment of Blaine County.

Incumbent candidate for county sheriff, Democrat Orville Drexler, said he would like to continue at his post because, after eight years of service, he understood the county's problems and law enforcement needs.

Wrecks injure 4 from Jerome

TWIN FALLS — A Jerome man is listed in fair condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital with injuries suffered when his car overturned Saturday morning.

Roby W. Pruitt, 29, Jerome, was traveling north one mile south of the junction of U.S. 93 and State Highway 25 when he went off the right side of the road and over-corrected, causing the vehicle to roll over. He was thrown out. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance, according to Idaho State Police.

Three Jerome youths were treated and released from St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, following a one-car accident at 4:27 p.m. Saturday four miles north of Eden.

Robin C. Brady, 16, Jerome, the driver, failed to negotiate a curve and the car went off the right side of the road. Passengers in the car were Sue Harris, 15, and Mike Lytle, 15, both of Jerome. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $200 by Idaho State Police Officer Everett Waddell.

State Police reported several non-injury accidents over the weekend due to snowy road conditions.

Hailey workshop slated

HAILEY — A workshop for exceptional children and their parents has been scheduled for Wednesday evening in Hailey.

According to Duchesne Clark and Zelma Peterson, Blaine County School District, the workshop was presented at the state Idaho Association for Retarded Children convention in September and has received much acclamation throughout the state.

The workshop will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at the Wood River Junior High School all-purpose room. A special invitation has been extended to teachers, administrators and trustee board members from throughout the Wood River Valley.

Cooperating agencies in the workshop are the Magic Valley Child Development Center and Special Services District 3 in Blaine County.

Valley park development set

LEWISTON — Development of recreation and park facilities on the Snake River in the Magic Valley has been endorsed by the Idaho Bicentennial Commission.

The action was one of three pertaining to the Magic Valley which was taken by the commission during a meeting here Friday. J. M. Neil, executive director, said.

The action pertaining to the Snake River applied to the section from Milner Dam to Malad Canyon, which was regarded worthy of development of recreation and park facilities.

The other endorsements were:

— Designation of Malad Canyon State Park as an area which should be developed on schedule in order to be available as a point of scenic interest to visitors to Idaho during the United States Bicentennial year in 1976.

— Efforts to bring the Silent

City of Rocks near Almo in Cassia County under National Park Service administration as a historical monument or national historic park.

Neil said the commission is not engaged in generating funds but is encouraging various agencies and individuals engaged in development of points of scenic or historic interest to complete those tasks.

Oil furnace causes fire

RICHFIELD — An oil furnace caught fire and caused heavy smoke damage to the Larry Newlan home here Sunday morning.

Volunteer firemen put out the fire, reported about 6 a.m. Newlan, his wife and four daughters, and four other relatives, escaped from the home without injury.

Fire Chief Lyle Piper said Newlan told him he smelled smoke and checked the furnace about 5 a.m. He returned to bed when he decided the smell was nothing to worry about. He checked the furnace in the basement of the home about mid-morning and found the fire blazing.

Smoke damage was extensive throughout the house. The Newlan family is staying in the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Ross Swainston.

Fire Chief Lyle Piper said Newlan told him he smelled smoke and checked the furnace about 5 a.m. He returned to bed when he decided the smell was nothing to worry about. He checked the furnace in the basement of the home about mid-morning and found the fire blazing.

Kramer estimated local expenses at between $2,000 and $3,000. He said the reception raised less. He said final figures for both expenses and income had not been determined.

Demo hopeful commends Agnew

TWIN FALLS — Robert Geer, Democratic candidate for the Twin Falls County Commission, has commended Vice President Spiro Agnew for refusing to join a GOP fund raising cocktail party.

Geer said he was delighted the people of this area had an opportunity to see the vice president of the United States on his Oct. 23 visit, despite the fact he is "the Archie Bunker of politics."

"It is too bad the vice president's visit was hurt by the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee's desire to raise political funds at a cocktail party starring the vice president," Geer said.

"It is no wonder the vice president refused to attend the party when his name was used to sell expensive booze — $50 a ticket."

"Although it is a free country, it is no secret that cocktail parties are offensive to part of our population and it must have been unusually so to some for the party to combine the vice president's visit and cocktails to raise money for the Republican party," Geer said.

Geer said apparently his opponent did not share the vice president's feeling about using cocktails to raise money for the political cause as he and other members of the party returned the $50 tickets after the vice president declined the plan and then asked it be returned for local party funding after the event.

Geer said he doesn't mind running against tough competition but said he believes his opponent, William Chancy, should tell the people how much money the Republicans accepted that Vice President Agnew turned down.

Geer's opponent Chancy had no response to Geer's statements.

Twin Falls County Republican Chairman Douglas Kramer said today he was "pleased with Geer's apparent support of the Republican vice president."

"I'm particularly pleased that Mr. Geer would commend the Republican vice president of the U.S. and only hope that he has the courage to vote what he is publicly saying," Kramer said.

The Vice President contrary to Geer's statement, did attend the Republican reception.

He said Chancy had entered the reception "only briefly to be introduced to the vice president."

Kramer said the donations following the reception fell short of paying for the local share of the cost of Agnew's visit.

Hill City store sold

FAIRFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bennett are the new owners of the Hill City store. Mrs. Bennett will also act as postmistress.

The Bennetts are longtime residents of the region and Mrs. Bennett is a daughter of pioneers of Hill City, the late Mr. and Mrs. Nels Malcomson.

The Bennetts have a farm west of Hill City and in the past have spent the winter months in Wendell.

Mrs. Carroll (Marian) Dammien retired as postmistress and proprietor of the Hill City store after 23 years. Dammien retired from the Glenns Ferry Highway District after 21 years.

He has been maintenance man for the east end of Elmore County. The Dammien moved to Idaho from Minnesota. They have purchased a home in Boise and will move soon.

In the early days of Camas

Prairie, Hill City was a bustling town of about 250 people and had quite a few stores, saloons and a hotel. In later years there has just been the one general store and post office.

There are several grain elevators and the town is served by the Union Pacific Railroad. The town was noted for the number of sheep that used to be shipped from it.

The present town is headquarters and the residence for three or four large farm and cattle operators.

Many people visit Hill City the end of May to view the beautiful blue Camas lilies that bloom in the swamps south of town.

Ashton man sentenced

RIGBY — An Ashton man has been sentenced to the Idaho State Prison in connection with a 1971 traffic accident which killed two Magic Valley residents.

Rex Wade, 22, Ashton, entered pleas of guilty to two charges of involuntary manslaughter in Jefferson County District Court on Friday.

Judge Boyd Thomas sentenced Wade to serve 120 days in the state prison and placed him on probation for five years on both counts.

Wade was charged in connection with a collision about two miles north of Ucon on Nov. 24, 1971, which claimed the lives of William Rogers, 17, Rupert, and Kathryn Dawn Durfee, 18, Elba.

The two vehicles collided head-on on U.S. Highway 191, after the Wade vehicle crossed the center line, according to Idaho State Police.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to attend to those separate details and the odds and ends that must be done before you can have perfection in your daily dealings. Look at your diet and see if you are eating wisely. This is a fine day and evening for cleaning up your surroundings so they sparkle.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can get an early start and easily handle those important tasks ahead of you, whether at home or in business. Don't relegate correspondence to others. Efficiency is the keynote now.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure to handle well those routine jobs that are important to your livelihood. Do something about an obesity problem you may have. Show more initiative. Your creativity is high now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Although you may have pressing outside activities, take time to think out how to improve conditions at home. Remove any stumbling blocks to harmony. Make future plans with kid.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle those duties that will gain you the approval of higher-ups and co-workers. Talk over business matters with an expert and then strive to become more effective. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your home surroundings and see what can be done to have more comfort and efficiency there. Try to figure out how to cut down on expenses. Evening is ideal for entertaining friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan a new course of action for the days ahead that will insure your completing whatever you start and with fine results. Philanthropic work adds to prestige. Stay within your budget.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you like being at home with kin, this is a good day to go out socially and make new contacts that are vital to your welfare. Meet important personalities and obtain new ideas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have some subconscious aims and desires that need action to make them a reality, so stop just dreaming about them. Show devotion to those you like. Avoid one who is a troublemaker.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have many duties to perform in business activities, so get busy early and get your points across wisely. Go to higher-ups for their support regarding a civic matter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are inspired as to how to make greater progress, so carry through without further procrastination. You can benefit from the ideas of a new friend. Show your appreciation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put a new system in operation that will help you to live a more streamlined lifestyle. Show a fine spirit of cooperation with mate and come to a fine understanding. Be poised.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take care of those tasks that will pave the way to greater understanding with associates. Any civic work should be done conscientiously. Await a better day, if necessary. Avoid an argument.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a manner that will be most popular with others because of a desire to be of help to others and to cooperate with them in their ventures. "Long kisses are not essential to married happiness." That interesting statement is contained in an official pronouncement by an outfit called the Marriage Guidance Bureau of Great Britain. "Although some women feel their husbands' kisses are too short," this decree reads, "the exceptionally long kiss sometimes has a detrimental effect on wives. A kiss should be an expression of affection, not an athletic performance."

BIG TIP

Note it claimed in print the largest known tip to a waitress was $6,000 left under a dinner plate by that flamboyant prize-fighter of yesteryear Max Baer. This report is incomplete. Said gratuity was given, all right. But the occasion occurred in the Great Depression when the breach of primitive lawsuit was popular. Old Max gave the young lady that sizable sum after she threatened to take him to court.

PLEASE note, too, when good glass breaks, the cracks travel at a rate of 3,000 m.p.h., nearly a mile a second.

WHERE is the widow hereabouts who has survived the greatest number of husbands without divorce? — EXACTLY how old is the youngest mother of triplets nationwide? — WHO might be a candidate for the title of "youngest great grandmother" in the States? — IS THERE any husband and wife in this country who can claim to be the same age to the day as each other? — WHAT American woman has the largest number of living former husbands?

Raiders humiliate fading Rams 45-17

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders converted four pass interceptions and a fumble recovery into five touchdowns Sunday, with Daryle Lamonica connecting on three scoring passes enroute to a 45-17 rout of the Los Angeles Rams. It was the most points scored against a Rams team since the San Francisco 49ers also got 45 in 1965.

The victory was Oakland's fourth against two losses and a tie and kept the Raiders atop the AFC West while the loss was the Rams' second against four victories and a tie. Despite the setback, Los Angeles held on to the lead in the NFC West.

Joe Carroll recovered a fumble by Roger Williams on the opening kickoff of the game and four plays later Charlie Smith ran four yards for Oakland's first touchdown. That set the pace for three more first period scores as the Raiders jumped to a 28-0 lead. Lamonica connected on scoring passes of 30 to Fred Biletnikoff, 27 to Ray Chester and 31 to Mike Siani.

Clarence Davis ran eight yards for another Oakland TD. Phil Villapiano dashed 82 yards with a pass interception and George Blanda booted a 30-yard field goal for Oakland's other points.

The Rams scored on a 21-yard field goal by David Ray midway through the second quarter; a six-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Dick Gordon and a nine-yard run by Lance Rentzel.

Jack Tatum intercepted a Roman Gabriel pass at the 50 and ran it to the Los Angeles 37 to set up Oakland's second TD. Nennis Wilson grabbed a Gabriel pass at the Los Angeles 33 to set up the third score, and Willie Brown intercepted a third Gabriel pass to set up Oakland's fifth TD. The only Raider score on their own momentum in the first half came when Lamonica marched them 76 yards in six plays.

Steelers overpower Buffalo

BUFFALO (UPI) — Franco Harris scored three touchdowns and played key roles in two other Pittsburgh scores to lead the Steelers to a 38-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills Sunday.

The win kept the Steelers in a first place tie with Cincinnati in the American Football Conference Central Division.

Harris scored on an 18-yard run late in the third quarter following a Steeler interception and put the game nearly out of reach for the Bills, who were trying a third period comeback after being down 17-0 at the half.

O.J. Simpson ran 94 yards from scrimmage at 6:30 of the third quarter to make it 17-7. The Bills were moving again when Mike Taliaferro's pass was picked off by Mel Blount, who returned it 34 yards to the Buffalo 18.

On the next play Harris broke loose off right tackle to make it 24-7 Pittsburgh.

'Skins use rushing to beat Giants

NEW YORK (UPI) — Larry Brown, Washington's relentless bulldozer, chewed up 191 yards on the ground for a team rushing record and scored two touchdowns — one on a seven yard pass from Billy Kilmer — to lead the Redskins to a 23-16 victory Sunday over the New York Giants.

Brown's key run was a 38 yard touchdown dash down the left side with 1:26 remaining in the third period on the first play after Chris Hanburger stole the ball out of Ron Johnson's arms on the Giant 38. The touchdown broke a 9-9 deadlock and Washington dominated the rest of the game while boosting its record to 6-1.

It might be a costly victory for the Redskins because starting quarterback Sonny Jurgensen tore a tendon in his left ankle on Washington's 68 which gave him a total of second series in the first quarter and missed the rest of the game. Jurgensen suffered the freak injury after completing his first pass of the game.

DEER SLAYER, S. S. Robbins, 81-year-old cement finisher from Jerome, poses with the typical 11-point buck he shot in the Rockland country last week. Robbins, who never misses a deer season, met up with the buck about a quarter mile from camp.

Wadkins has first pro golf victory

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Young Lanny Wadkins burst into pro golf's winner's circle for the first time Sunday when he shot a 69 for a 72-hole total of 273, 11 under par, to beat charging Arnold Palmer by one shot.

Wadkins, a boyish 22-year-old who dropped out of Wake Forest University after three years and turned pro last fall had earlier rounds of 65-69-70-70, nine under par for the Sahara-Nevada golf club. Par for 18 holes is 36-35-71.

The brown-haired Wadkins, who is a solidly built 5 feet 9 inches and 165 pounds, trailed veteran George Knudson by three strokes at start of the last round, and overtook and passed the Canadian like an express train. Knudson faded with a horrendous 76 for 277.

Jack Nicklaus shooting for first prize of $27,000 to put him over the $300,000 mark for the year carded a final 68 for a total of 276. He took a double bogey seven on the 18th hole when he was out of bounds with his drive and hit a second one into a lake.

Palmer, 43, who hasn't won a tournament in 15 months, shot a 69 274.

Gay Brewer, the former Jurgensen tore a tendon in his left ankle on Washington's 68 which gave him a total of 275 and a tie with Hale Irwin, who had 69.

The $37,000 winner's purse was Wadkins' biggest check to date and increased his earnings

Fumble run lifts Chiefs past S.D.

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Rookie Robert West picked up a fumbled pass on the San Diego eight yard line and ran it in for a touchdown with 1:49 left in the game to give the Kansas City Chiefs a 26-14 National Football League win over the Chargers Sunday.

The victory, before a record San Diego home crowd of 54,533, enabled the Chiefs to stay half a game behind Oakland in the American Conference West with a 4-3 record while the Chargers are 2-4-1.

The Chiefs held a precarious 16-14 lead and had a third and four on their 42 when Dawson uncorked a perfect 50-yard bomb to Otis Taylor. He was hit by Ray Jones on the eight but West picked up the fumble and crossed the goal line untouched.

Second-half pass interceptions by linebacker Bob Bell and cornerback Nate Allen and three field goals by Jan Stenerud had put the Chiefs ahead.

Trailing 7-6 late in the third quarter, Bell sifted into the middle of a screen pass play and picked it off on the 17. Six plays later Ed Pololak skirted right end for six yards and a touchdown.

Early in the fourth period Allen grabbed off the desperation third and 19 pass by John Hadl and returned it four yards to the Chargers' 11. Stenerud kicked a 15-yard field goal four plays later to put the game out of reach.

The big factor in the Chargers' loss was the failure to convert any of their five field goal attempts. They had made eight of 11 going into the game.

Chargers' halfback Mike Garrett, a former Chief, scored both of the losers' touchdowns. The first came with 3:41 left in the first half. Hadl hit Garrett on a short screen pass. Garrett then broke three tackles as he stumbled into the end zone on the 27-yard play.

The second narrowed Kansas City's margin to 16-14 with 3:17 left in the game. This was a three-yard run which capped a 78-yard, 10-play drive. Fullback Ed Edwards ran for 31 yards and caught two passes for 20 yards on the drive.

Stenerud kicked his fourth field goal, a 37-yarder, with 31 seconds left in the game.

Cincinnati shellacks Houston

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Essex Johnson and Doug Dressler each gained more than 100 yards on the ground Sunday and Ken Anderson passed for 189 yards as the Cincinnati Bengals mauled the puncheon Houston Oilers 30-7.

The Bengals dominated the AFC contest to such an extent that they did not have to punt until the last period while setting a new team record for most first downs in one game, 29.

Johnson carried 16 times for 103 yards, caught three passes for 54 yards and dashed 17 yards around left end for the Bengals' second touchdown.

Dressler, used primarily as a blocker in the past, battered for 110 yards in 19 carries, hauled in five passes for 31 yards and scored the first TD on a four-yard run.

Champ wins final race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—George Follmer, an outspoken veteran from Arcadia, Calif., capped his best year in auto racing Sunday by driving his sleek white Porsche to victory in the Times Grand Prix, the final Can-AM race of the year.

The 38-year-old Follmer, who wrapped up the series title at Laguna Seca two weeks ago, took over the Roger Penske Porsche teammate Mark Donohue with 10 laps to go when Donohue had to pit for a change of a left rear tire.

Phipps-led Browns nip Denver

DENVER (UPI) — Quarterback Mike Phipps threw two touchdowns and dived one yard for a third score with 2:50 left to play Sunday to give the Cleveland Browns a 27-20 come from behind victory over the Denver Broncos.

Phipps had a two-yard pass to tight end Milt Morin in the second quarter and a 19-yard toss to third string wide receiver Paul Staroba in the final period for touchdowns. Don Cockroft, who converted all three extra points, had a pair of field goals including one for 57 yards to set a Cleveland record.

Denver quarterback Charlie Johnson threw 28 yards to Bobby Anderson and 19 to Floyd Little for Bronco touchdowns, and Jim Turner booted field goals of 32 and 43 yards and two extra points.

Denver made one last effort to tie the game but rookie safety Tom Darden picked off a Johnson pass at the five-yard line with 1:12 to play, ending the Broncos' hopes.

A capacity crowd of 51,656, who braved freezing temperatures and a 27-mile an hour wind to attend the "Floyd Little Game" left disappointed.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices continued to drift lower in moderate trading Monday. Brokers said Vietnam peace talks depressed the market somewhat as the Vietcong said it would continue the war unless the U.S. forces South Vietnam's President Thieu to accept the U.S.-North Vietnamese agreement or removes him from power.

Shortly before 1:15 the Dow Jones industrial average was down 4.37 at 942.05. Standard and Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.32 at 110.30.

Declining issues outstripped advances, 712 to 580, among the 1,656 issues on the tape. The three-hour volume came to 7,610,000 shares compared with 8,750,000 shares for the same period on Friday.

Analysts noted investors were disappointed the market failed to gain ground last week on constructive Vietnam news. One broker said the market had predicted the complications that have arisen over the signing of the peace pact.

In the economic news, a Wall Street Journal story said corporate profits rose 15.9 per cent in the third quarter, surpassing the first and second quarter gains.

Polaroid dipped 4 1/4 in the glamor section. The company said it knew of no reason for the drop. Wrigley dropped 4 1/4 after the firm reported what one analyst called "disappointing earnings" last week. Schlumberger lost 1 1/4 and Walt Disney 1.

Steels, motors, chemicals and rails were mixed in fractions. Aircrafts were mixed in fractions.

UPI WEATHER FORECAST

Wintery temperatures to warm

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert area: Mostly fair weather is forecast with warming daytime temperatures through Tuesday. Highs will be in the upper 40s to mid-50s Tuesday. Lows tonight are predicted in the 20s. The outlook for Wednesday is fair and a little warmer.

Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley: Daytime temperatures will be warmer through Tuesday. Lows tonight will be in the teens. Highs Tuesday are predicted in the upper 40s.

Synopsis: The major winter type storm that moved through Idaho Saturday is now located in the plains. This storm produced widespread snow across the Rockies with up to four feet of snow reported in the higher elevations. Many areas from Montana and the Dakotas down through Wyoming have reported up to five inches of snow.

A building high pressure area is pushing into Idaho today, and fair skies and warming daytime temperatures should continue for the next few days. Extremely cold air moved over Idaho last night and record low temperatures were reported at many stations.

Morning temperatures today ranged from the teens to the low 20s. In the mountain valleys sub-teens and sub-zero lows were reported. West Yellowstone, with 11 degrees below zero, was one of the coldest places in the nation. Daytime temperatures will return to the 50s by Tuesday. The lows tonight will continue in the 20s.

Chain stores trim beef prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retail beef prices dropped again in September as chain stores, under heavy jawboning pressure from administration officials, sliced their margins down from record-high August levels, an Agriculture Department report shows.

The report added that retail bread prices also edged down last month despite booming flour prices, forced up by the pressure of huge U. S. wheat sales to Russia, which carried the cost of bread ingredients to near-record levels.

Baking industry officials, who are pressing the administration for permission to raise wholesale bread prices, said the retail decline in September apparently stemmed from sharp competition in retail stores.

The agriculture Department's monthly report on farm-to-retail price spreads said the average retail cost of a typical market basket of farm foods in September dropped to an annual rate of $1.320, down 0.1 per cent from a month earlier in the first decline since April.

The cost was, however, 5.6 per cent above a year earlier.

Officials said the farm value of food in the market basket rose 1.6 per cent in September to $539, and was 14.3 per cent above a year earlier. But the farm-to-retail margin declined 1.3 per cent to 781, and was only 0.3 per cent above a year ago.

The report said September retail prices for fresh fruits and vegetables were down along with beef. But pork rose slightly to a new record high, and there were substantial increases for eggs and frying chickens.

Average retail beef prices, which hit an all-time high of $1.173 in July and then edged down to $1.158 in August, fell another 2.9 per cent to $1.129 in September, still 6.6 per cent above a year earlier.

Farm prices for 2.28 pounds of beef on the hoof — the equivalent of 1 pound on the retail counter — slid 2.3 per cent to 76.7 cents a pound in September, 1.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The retail store margin, which rose sharply in August, dropped 2.9 per cent to 36.2 cents a pound. This was second only to the all-time August record of 37.3 cents and was 19.9 per cent fatter than a year earlier.

Meat packer margins in September dropped 5.3 per cent and were 5.3 per cent below a year ago.

In August, farm prices had declined sharply but most of the drop was eaten up before it reached the consumer by expansion of the chain store margin. Administration price officials stepped in with public calls for narrowing margins which have now brought retail prices down to the lowest point since last spring.

Retail prices for one-pound loaves of white bread fell from 24.9 cents in August to 24.7 cents in September, 0.8 per cent cheaper than a year ago despite the fact that the farm value of wheat and other bread ingredients was up 17.1 per cent per loaf from a year ago. The farm value, at an estimated 4.1 cents per loaf, was just 0.1 cent below the all-time record set 25 years ago this fall.

Q — I would appreciate your reviewing BankAmerica Realty Investors. I bought a package deal $3,000 in bonds and 30 shares of common stock. I have never invested in anything but regular stock so I am a little leery of this. Is this stock listed on any exchange? — H. K.

A — The common stock is traded over-the-counter, currently at about $28. The bond, which is convertible into common at $21 a share, recently changed hands at $131. Thus, your original investment of $2,700 has appreciated 77 per cent in 27 months, almost triple the advance in the Dow Industrial Average for same period. For the year ended July 31, 1972, this real estate investment trust reported a 27 per cent gain in net income, covering interest costs 2.65 times.

With the bond trading now within 1 per cent of its conversion value, you might be wise to exchange for common shares. For one reason, the indicated return on the common is a generous 6.6 per cent versus 5.2 per cent currently on the bond. Furthermore the appreciation potential for the common is greater now that the bond has reached exchange parity. Conversion is advised.

Q — Can you advise me on one of the Shareholders Mutual Funds — Enterprise? I paid $10 and it is now about $7. — W. H.

A — In the days prior to the 1969-1970 bear market this fund was one of the hottest performers. The spectacular rise was based on a preponderance of OTC stocks in the fund's portfolio. Many of these were "letter" stocks — unregistered securities — for which values are difficult to pin down. With the bear market these speculative issues plummeted as did this fund.

Present management takes a more conservative approach and the fund's portfolio reflects this.

More than 65 per cent of the common stocks now held by Enterprise are listed on the New York or American Stock exchanges. The number of issues held has been sliced from about 700 to 250. I would suggest holding this fund for partial recovery.

Picabo man wins honor

BOISE — Nick Purdy, Picabo, is one of four district winners in the Idaho Grassman of the Year competition.

District winners for 1972 were chosen Friday in Boise, Hugh Hough, program chairman said.

Purdy, who was earlier chosen Blaine County Grassman of the Year, was chosen to represent the south central district in state competition. The state winner will be announced Nov. 6 during the All-Idaho Conference of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce.

Other district winners are LeRoy Henderson, Nezperce, northern; Oscar Field, Grand View, southwestern; and Walt Dimond, Montpelier, southeastern.

The 1971 winner was Gene Brumbaugh, Caldwell.

Hough said there were 22 county winners in the contest this year — the 22nd annual "recognition to people who are doing positive things for agriculture" and thus resulting in more butterfat, more beef and more wool.

Doyle Scott, administrative officer for the State Soil Conservation Commission, headed the list of judges.

Others were: Dr. J. J. Dahmen, Caldwell, University of Idaho Branch Experiment Station; Jens Jensen, Bureau of Land Management; Ab Taylor, Forest Service; Doran Peterson, U of I Extension Service; Lew Williams, Idaho Wool Growers Association; Don Worthington, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; Ralph Samson, Idaho Department of Lands; and Walt Rumsey, Soil Conservation Service.

Brazil pushing soybean crop production, world exporting

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With an eye on the bonanza American farmers have tapped in the growing world demand for soybeans, Brazil is booming production of the crop in an effort to claim a bigger share of the steadily-expanding market.

Once an "insignificant" producer, Brazil has now stepped up acreage enough to become the world's second leading exporter, though still ranking well behind the United States, Agriculture Department experts say.

And further increases in Brazilian acreage are planned under government programs geared to encourage growth, the department said in a review published today by its Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS).

Department officials are apparently divided on just how much of a threat the Brazilian growth poses to U. S. farmers in world markets.

W. Garth Thorburn, U. S. agricultural attache in Brazil who wrote the new review, termed the development "a challenge to U. S. dominance of world soybean trade."

Other experts here, however, said they saw no real threat because the United States still ranks so far ahead of Brazil in production and exports.

Thorburn reported that Brazil this year is planning to boost exports to about 10 million tons of soybeans.

The projected figures represent a 13 per cent gain over last year in Brazilian meal exports and a five-fold gain in bean exports.

In contrast, American bean exports for the 1972-73 marketing season are estimated at 13.5 million tons and meal exports are estimated at 3.6 million metric tons.

Thorburn said the Brazilian government has been pushing soybean expansion by a series of steps including campaigns to persuade farmers to boost acreage, adoption of a price support program, and offers of ample credit.

Brazilian officials apparently have decided, Thorburn said, that since only the United States and Brazil are significant exporters, and since they believe the world demand for soybeans is rising at about 10 per cent a year with no end in sight, "There is room for expansion in both countries without harming their markets."

Brazil's 1972 crop, harvested last spring, rose to an estimated 3.4 million metric tons, 60 per cent above 1971 experts estimate the continuing growth campaign could push output to at least 4 million tons in 1973 and to over 7 million tons by 1976.

U. S. production, however, is currently estimated at 36 million metric tons for 1972 and is expected to rise again next year.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — My wife and I are 75 and need extra income. We have been advised to sell some McCormick and Co. (OTC) shares and buy 200 American General Convertible Securities (NYSE). What do you think of this exchange? — B.B.

A — The suggested sale of McCormick, which yields less than 1 per cent, makes good sense for you. However, there are a number of alternative investments returning greater income than American General Convertible Securities Fund.

In fact the American General Bond Fund — under the same management — currently yields more than 7 per cent versus an indicated 5 per cent on the Convertible Securities Fund.

This particular exchange seems to be a good choice for you and your wife. For suggested income funds send stamped addressed envelope to Roger E. Spear c/o of this newspaper.

Q — I own shares of General Public Utilities (NYSE) and Lightoller (OTC). The dividend on the latter was discontinued a year ago. What is the outlook for these two stocks? — F.S.

A — Price action for GPU, as well as the entire utility group, has been sluggish over the past 20 months. With growth prospects for the industry limited by heavy financing requirements and the restrictive attitude of regulatory bodies toward rate adjustments, investors have priced the shares on an income rather than growth basis.

In the case of General, rate adjustments allowed in 1971-72 were only a fraction of the amount requested. Further more a 14 per cent increase in the number of common shares was reflected in first half earnings comparisons. An additional common share rights offering is in the works for December.

However, shares have minimal downside risk, offer a generous yield and have long-term appreciation potential from the heavily industrialized area served.

In the 1971-72 fiscal year Lightoller was able to turn operations around from a 72 cents a share deficit to a 71 cents a share of profit. Resumption of the dividend, omitted after the June 1971 year end, is a good possibility in the current year if operating improvement continues. Gradual price recovery appears probable.

Arstein appoints Gem aide

BOISE (UPI) — Agriculture Commissioner Oscar Arstein has announced the appointment of Jerry Williams of Downey to direct the commission's bonded warehouse division.

Arstein said Williams will move to initiate sorely needed improvements in the program.

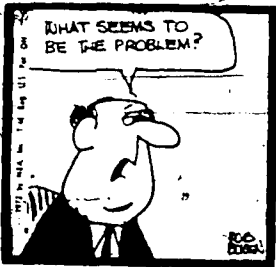

Williams, associated for several years with grain elevators in Burley, Downey and Colfax, Wash., said he hopes to make improvements in the bonded warehouse system in four major areas — financial statements, warehouse record keeping, producer withdrawals and bonding procedures analysis.

Archery boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archery is becoming increasingly popular as an all year sport, according to the author of a book of advice to the beginner.

Daniel Roberts, an archery club instructor, says in "Archery For All" the game is not expensive and doesn't require exceptional athletic prowess. It can be practiced indoors as well as in the open, says the book, which gives tips on techniques, clubs to join, courses to take and equipment to buy.
