WWI vets set Armistice rife

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (UPI) — The six with teeth play the bugles. The one with the tin can plays the cymbals. They all say they're too old for the four-mile parade marches.

But the World War I drum and bugle corps of Barracks No. 2186 will be out in force Saturday morning with enough pride to bust the buttons off their regular WW I uniforms, ready for their 13th annual "celebration of Armistice Day on Armistice Day."

There are 15 men in the Barracks No. 2186 corps, all veterans of World War I. It's the only such drum-and-bugle corps in the United States. Jack Greco is the youngest of the group. He's 74. Sam

Maidella is the senior member. He's 81. And Oral J. "Moose" Lacombe, the cymbal player, is the organizer. He won't give his age, but admits, "I'm in there someplace."

They call Greco the "re-tread" because he also served in World War II. The group was part of the local American Legion drum and bugle corps which went out of business in the 1950s. In 1960, when the Michigan Department of American Legion officers came for a visit, Lacombe and some of the gang sneaked into the legion basement, dusted off the old instruments, limbered up their "chops," and blasted out a serenade for the visiting officers.

Tension grips Mideast border

RAMATMAGSHIMIM, Occupied Syrian Territory (UPI) — Defense Minister Moshe Dayan promised military and financial support today to settlements hit in the Syrian shelling of the occupied Golan Heights.

The entire area was reported calm but tense following the worst round of fighting between Syria and Israel in 27 months of Middle East cease-fire.

Briefing newsmen on Thursday's action, a senior army officer said it was now up to Syria to make the next move, thereby determining future developments in the region.

Dayan toured this settlement, which along with another — Ein Zivan — bore the brunt of the Syrian shelling, earlier in the day. He was accompanied by the armed forces chief of staff, Lt.

Alaskan spa for generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is operating a luxurious health club and hotel in Alaska where top-ranking officers disport themselves at taxpayer expense and enlisted men act as servants, the General Accounting Office (GAO) said today.

In a letter to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the GAO, the auditing arm of Congress, confirmed a sergeant's story that 24 enlisted men were assigned to full-time duty at the Alaskan Chateau and Health Club at Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage.

The GAO said this was an apparent violation of military regulations barring government-paid personnel from employment in service clubs and preventing GIs from performing work that should be performed by civilians.

Proxmire said the matter was brought to his attention by Staff Sgt. Thomas G. Staudenmayer a year ago and he referred it to the GAO.

"We found Mr. Staudenmayer's information to be essentially correct," the GAO reported.

According to Proxmire, $179,000 a year of taxpayer money was used to pay 24 military servants at the chateau, which is barred to all except lieutenant colonels, colonels, generals and high-salaried civilian officials.

By RANDY LEBLANC
BOISE (UPI) — Final returns from the presidential election disclosed Thursday that Idaho gave Rep. John Schmitz a bigger percentage of its vote than any other state in the nation.

When the American Party candidate picked up 28,221 votes from Idaho in his quest of the presidency, he captured nine per cent of those cast in that state.

That beats Alaska by two per cent, Utah by three and Oregon by four per cent — the next three "strong" Schmitz states in Tuesday's election.

Nolan Victor, Twin Falls, state chairman for the American Party, believes the turnout for Schmitz is an important signpost for the future.

"You'll see a lot more of John Schmitz and the American Party in Idaho," Victor said, in an interview. "We're the only place they can turn now for conservative politics."

Victor said Tuesday's election results in Idaho showed "there's a definite conservative element" in the state. Although Schmitz ran third in Idaho he got more than 1,000 votes in eight of the 44 counties and beat Sen. George McGovern in three.

Victor said his party's growth is assured, both Vietnam buildup pressed

By United Press International
Both the United States and North Vietnam were reported rushing war materiel to South Vietnam today in anticipation of a truce that would bring a freeze on weapons. But there was no sign of parallel diplomatic moves towards peace by Washington and Hanoi.

In Paris, a U.S. delegate to the peace talks predicted that presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger will meet again soon with the North Vietnamese and that a final peace settlement will result.

The North Vietnamese were not so optimistic, asserting that "peace is not for tomorrow."

SAIGON (UPI) — White House peace envoy Gen. Alexander Haig conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu Friday, seeking to work out allied differences on a peace agreement with Hanoi in time to send home American troops at Christmastime, U.S. sources said.

Haig and Thieu talked for two hours at the presidential palace shortly after the general arrived in Saigon, his second trip here this month. U.S. and South Vietnamese officials declined to discuss details of the talks.

CAA board OK's work plan, move

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — The Community Action Agency board of directors approved yet another work program Thursday night, the third one of the fiscal year nearly half over.

It also received verbal assurances from a representative of the Seattle region 10 office of the Office on Economic Opportunity that the plan would gain official acceptance, something that has escaped the efforts of the agency through two previous drafts dating back to early this summer.

The board meeting for nearly three and a half hours, also approved a budget that creates two new high paying staff positions and contains a higher full-time equivalent salary for a janitor than it does for a community education aide.

In addition, the board hurriedly approved a shift of the agency's headquarters from the present St. Edward's School building to the structure that formerly housed the Twin Falls Business College.

SAIGON (UPI) — A South Vietnamese bishop said today his country's Roman Catholics firmly support President Nguyen Van Thieu in his refusal to sign the draft peace treaty with the Communists because they fear it would lead to an immediate wave of murders by the Communists.

"A treaty concluded now would never produce peace," Msgr. Phung Quang Thanh said. "On the very evening after the signing we would see crimes and murders committed by the Communists. We believe that peace can be signed only when in Idaho and elsewhere. He said it "will definitely gain strength" during the next four years that Richard Nixon is in the white house.

"You'll see more liberalism in the next four years than we've ever dreamed of," he said. "I think Nixon's program, which he described as 'something for nothing,' is scary because 'like heroin' it is tempting."

Victor also defended the John Birch Society during the interview, saying "those who are in control of the conspiracy have done a beautiful job of branding the John Birch Society as anti-American."

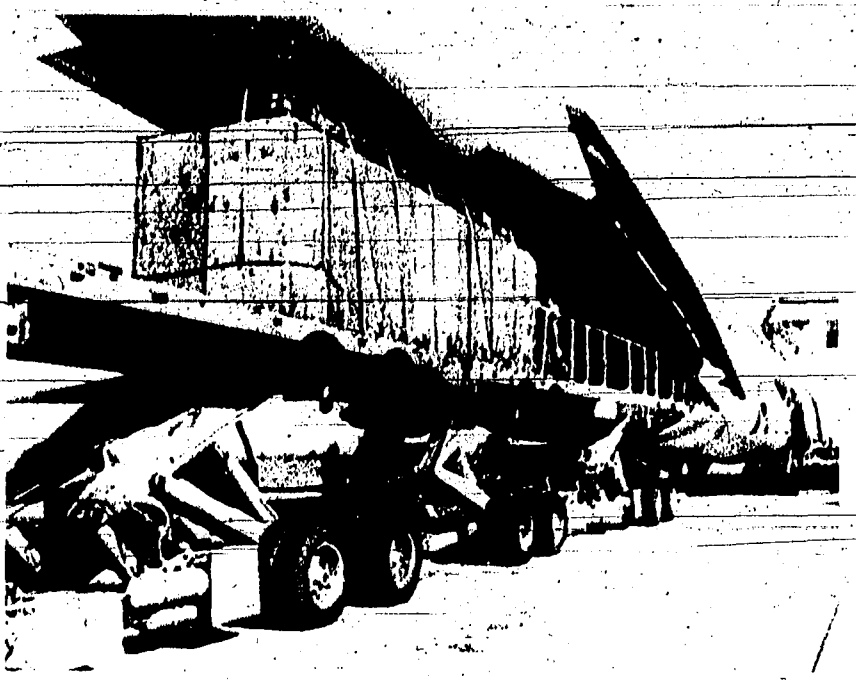

"This just isn't true," he said. "They've branded the John Birch Society what the Communist Party really is."

Final but unofficial returns from Idaho showed that Schmitz beat McGovern in Fremont, Jefferson and Madison counties. They show he polled 4,721 votes in Ada, 1,347 in Bannock, 1,312 in Blaine, 4,073 in Bonneville, 2,782 in Canyon, 1,406 in Jefferson, 1,044 in Kootenai and 1,209 in Twin Falls.

There are more than one million Catholics among South Vietnam's 17.5 million citizens, and their religious community is considered to be very influential in the framing of the country's policies.

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — President Nixon says that "at this time" the U.S. Attorney General's guidelines on the right of newsmen to protect the identity of their sources, is preferable to federal legislation.

In a letter to Robert G. Fichenberg, executive editor of The Knickerbocker News-Union Star, Nixon said, however, "he would not oppose proposed legislation on the subject."

Haig, Thieu meet on Vietnam truce agreement before President Nixon's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, meets again with North Vietnam's negotiators to work out final details, the sources said. Haig is Kissinger's chief assistant.

The sources said there was hope that the agreement could be put into effect in time to end the fighting in South Vietnam around the end of the year.

"We want to get the boys (now fighting in South Vietnam) on their way home as a Christmas present," said one of the sources.

Other sources said one of the points of allied disagreement is a provision not yet made public in the previously announced Hanoi-Washington draft agreement. That provision would reduce South Vietnam's armed forces from their current level of about one million men to 250,000 within three months and to 175,000 within six months after the agreement is signed.

Fear of reprisals strengthens Thieu

PARIS (UPI) — A South Vietnamese bishop said today his country's Roman Catholics firmly support President Nguyen Van Thieu in his refusal to sign the draft peace treaty with the Communists because they fear it would lead to an immediate wave of murders by the Communists.

"A treaty concluded now would never produce peace," Msgr. Phung Quang Thanh said. "On the very evening after the signing we would see crimes and murders committed by the Communists. We believe that peace can be signed only when the 15 North Vietnamese divisions will have been withdrawn home."

Msgr. Thanh, who is attending an International Catholic Missions Congress in Lyons, said, "We Catholics support without reservation President Thieu, especially when he refuses to sign the peace now."

Anti-war protests to return

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's landslide re-election will bring a significant shift to the antiwar movement and return demonstrators to the streets in Salt Lake City and other major cities throughout the nation, leaders of the peace movement said Thursday.

Spokesmen for the National Peace Coalition, the Student Mobilization Committee and Women's Strike for Peace announced plans for antiwar demonstrations in Salt Lake City and 18 other cities for Nov. 18.

"We expect a substantial shift of gears into the streets on Nov. 18," Fred Lovgren, national coordinator of SMC, told a news conference.

Gerry Gordon, national coordinator of NPAC, said the antiwar movement is "going back in the streets to expose the contradiction" between "the Nixon Administration's words of peace and its deeds of war."

Nelther Gordon nor Lovgren would predict how many people would turn out for the demonstrations. They said the rallies and marches would be legal and peaceful.

But Lovgren said that with the election over, he expected many students who had been involved in the presidential campaign to once again become involved in street demonstrations.

The three antiwar groups stressed that the emphasis of the demonstrations would be an attempt to put pressure on the U.S. Government to sign the cease-fire agreement with North Vietnam.

Gordon said Nixon's re-election should be seen "as a mandate to continue the barbaric bombing of the Indochinese."

He said that in 1968 Nixon promised peace but "the result was 'four more years' of war. We do not believe the American people will tolerate a re-run."

"If the hopes of the people are again dashed—if this hated war is continued—it will inevitably result in the massive resurgence of the antiwar movement."

Gordon said it had been the "mass pressure of the American people—expressed most effectively through the street demonstrations—that forced the United States to withdraw from Cambodia and from ground combat in Vietnam, "so mass pressure today can finally force a total end to the U.S. War against the peoples of Indochina."

Gordon said marches and rallies are scheduled in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Detroit, Houston, Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Portland, Salt Lake City, San Diego, San Francisco, St. Louis, Seattle and Washington, D.C.

Navy will equalize

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, chief of naval operations, called 80 to 90 of his top admirals on the carpet today and accused them of ignoring his efforts to promote racial equality.

One result, he said, was the rebellion of 130 crewmen—mostly black—of the carrier Constellation.

"Some of the very things I feared 28 months ago might come to pass did in fact, take place," Zumwalt said. The text of his statement to the private meeting with the admirals was made public by the Navy.

When he took command, Zumwalt said, he recognized the "potential explosiveness" of racial pressures and tried to correct the situation. But he told his top officers they failed to depart from "hallowed routine" and follow his directives.

He spoke to 80 to 90 Washington-based admirals—the Navy's top command staff—about 24 hours after the Navy gave in to demands of the rebellious Constellation seamen, who refused to continue their assignments on grounds of discrimination.

Zumwalt mentioned the Constellation along with the carrier

Kitty Hawk and other racial troubles on the USS Hassayama.

"Plainly stated," Zumwalt said, "we have tended to succeed wherever the establishment of a program met a need without a corresponding need to change or dismantle existing procedure."

But he added "we have tended to fall wherever a real change from the hallowed routine was required."

Geo-energy source for new power

BOISE (UPI)—An interim legislative committee has been told that geo-thermal energy has a great potential in Idaho and should be developed as a clean source of power.

The committee was also told Thursday at a meeting that possible court fights could develop between private land owners and the federal government over who owns the energy found miles below the earth's surface.

Sen. Ray Ribby, D-Flexburg, told the committee that there is a possibility that private land owners may challenge the federal government's claim to such energy.

Ribby said under federal law the government has the right to thermal energy, and control over its development.

"Maybe the federal government doesn't own the rights," he said.

The committee was told that Idaho has a tremendous potential for geo-thermal energy development, but more study is needed in the field.

Wine effort stops

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—Citizens for Free Enterprise have suspended efforts to put the retail sale of wine issue before the voters of Bonneville County.

Milt Adam, chairman of the committee, said after a meeting with the county commission Wednesday night the group has stopped gathering signatures for petitions and will not submit any more petitions to the commissioners.

Adam said the group collected nearly 8,000 signatures asking that the issue go on the general election ballot. The committee indicated they would rather save the residents of the county the expense of a special election now that the county commission blocked efforts to have the issue put on Tuesday's ballot.

Sniper kills

BY COLIN BAKER

BELFAST (UPI)—A single sniper shot and killed a British soldier in Belfast today, and the army said the shooting could have been retaliation for its capture of yet another officer of the militant Provisional Wing of the IRA.

The soldier was manning a vehicle check point outside a butcher's shop in the Roman Catholic Old Park Road. The sniper fired a single shot from the corner of an alleyway about 75 yards away. The soldier, hit in the head, died instantly. The gunman escaped.

He was the 627th person to die in three years of strife between Northern Ireland's majority Protestants and minority Catholics.

An army spokesman said the IRA might have been retaliating for today's seizure of Raymond Shields, who has been on the run for more than a year and is wanted in connection with several killings.

The army arrested him in a dawn swoop. It said he was the sixth high ranking IRA officer captured in 36 hours. Security officials predicted the IRA would strike back to disprove how much the arrests have hurt the guerrilla movement.

Escapes requested

MEXICO CITY (UPI)

Mexico will ask Cuba to send back the 13 fugitives involved in Wednesday's dramatic hijacking of a Mexican airlines jetliner, but extradition seemed doubtful.

"Mexico and Cuba do have an extradition treaty," a foreign relations office spokesman said today. But he said there was no guarantee the treaty would be followed.

Unofficial sources said Cuba has turned down six Mexican extradition requests in the last two years.

Interior Secretary Mario Moya Palencia indirectly lambasted Cuba Thursday for accepting the hijackers. "If all nations acted according to international extradition laws instead of protecting the perpetrators of these crimes, these things could be avoided," he said.

At stake was the fate of 13 young Mexicans who disappeared into the hands of Cuban officials Wednesday night. Five took over the Mexican Boeing 727 jet early Wednesday. Before they flew to Cuba they collected six prisoners, one a girl who had to be boarded with a stretcher, and two fugitive gang members.

They called themselves a leftist liberation front but the government has insisted they were common criminals. The six who were freed had been arrested only Tuesday. Police found them with large sums of money stolen during a series of robberies in northern Monterrey, Mexico.

Citizens' interest need told

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Widespread citizen interest is needed more now than ever with regional mental health services nearing reality for Magic Valley.

This was the dominant message of the "overview" of a mental health workshop which opened Thursday night at the Ascension Episcopal Church.

The three-day event, sponsored by the Twin Falls County Mental Health Association, concludes Saturday noon.

Dr. John Fabian, Seattle, Lutheran pastor and clinical counselor, is serving as guest leader for the workshop attended by representatives of many occupations dealing with all phases of mental health problems from drug abuse to marital counseling.

Don Barlow, Twin Falls recently hired program director to assist with obtaining the federal grant for the South Central Idaho Mental Health, Inc., pointed out the organization now has an office behind the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, financed by the planning grant.

He said citizen support and participation is vital to overcoming geographical barriers, county animosities and normal apprehension over such a complex subject as mental health.

Services now available in the eight-county Magic Valley area by other groups were listed during the dialogue following Dr. Fabian's opening talk in which he credited Sen. Tom Eagleton with "bringing the mental health problem out of the parlor to where it belongs — in real life."

Today's sessions were to deal with specific areas of need and tools for implementation of special services, 24-hour care, emergency treatment and education on mental health.

Informal listing by participants of resources and services already existing in the valley included Magic Valley Alcohol Rehabilitation Center in Twin Falls, Youth Ranch at Rupert, Harbor House and the Magic Valley Living Center, both Twin Falls, as providing 24-hour care.

Other listings — emergency treatment available at all eight hospitals in the valley, Hotline in Twin Falls and the Mini-Cassia area, Alcoholics Anonymous, physicians, clergy and police.

Special services — Child Development Center, Wood River Mental Health Clinic, Hailey; Vocational rehabilitation agency, guidance counselors in schools, probation and parole officers and counselors with agencies under Social Rehabilitation Services.

These counselors, it was pointed out, are available to the public for marital counseling, for example.

Among problem areas which surfaced — jails were termed "warehouses" for the mentally distraught since they are the only place officers can legally place disturbed persons without legal procedure.

Action steps will be summarized at the concluding sessions Saturday morning. Participants included law enforcement and parole officers, nurses, physicians, clergymen, service agencies, school psychologist as well as interested laymen.

Christopher Columbus was the first to introduce cacao beans, the source of chocolate, to Europe.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Idaho Power Auditorium.

Fewer jobless for TF County

TWIN FALLS — September unemployment showed a drop of nearly two per cent in Twin Falls County, with three per cent of the work force seeking jobs.

A Department of Employment newsletter reports also that "total employment took an unprecedented jump during September to exceed August's figure." Nearly 21,000 workers had jobs in Magic Valley's biggest county during the month, compared to about 20,000 during August.

The unemployment figure was the lowest recorded in the county this year. Of the out of work, nearly 56 per cent are male.

MV lunch unit meets

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley school lunch supervisors met here Thursday to discuss a 1973 workshop.

The workshop is scheduled in Boise in June, 1973. Various food service firms demonstrated foods and equipment during the meeting at the Rogerson Hotel.

Supervisors from school districts in Twin Falls, Gooding, Wendell, Piller, Jerome, Buhl, Burley and Kimberly attended.

TF Airwest outlet tops

TWIN FALLS — The Hughes Airwest office here topped all outlets in freight revenue gain for the last quarter.

Two officials of the airline from San Francisco presented local employees with a special plaque at a dinner for station crew members and guests Thursday evening. Making the presentation were Robert J. Donahue, director, cargo and charter service, and Martin F. (Bill) Schafer, senior director of marketing.

The plaque was accepted on behalf of other members of the station crew by Paul Shoaff,

Park needs listed

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for the National Recreation and Park Association says more parks must be created in areas closer to the population.

"The great need is for parks that can be reached by people without driving long distances," Dwight Rietle, executive director of the association, said Thursday.

Rietle keynoted the annual conference of the Idaho Recreation and Park Society here.

"We have not been doing this and there is a need for a great deal more park acres," Rietle said.

He urged the state and the cities to use their revenue-sharing funds for recreation and parks. He said especially that old parks should be rehabilitated.

Bunker Hill water requirements hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency has criticized water discharge requirements proposed by the state of Idaho for the Bunker Hill Co. at Kellogg.

John R. Quarles Jr., assistant administrator, wrote Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., that "the state consent decree does not set performance requirements as stringent as we believe can be achieved."

Quarles said Bunker Hill, in a consent decree with the state April 19, 1972, agreed to install new abatement facilities by Sept. 1, 1973, to reduce effluents going into the Coeur d'Alene River.

"We have continued negotiations with the company in an effort to obtain a consent decree specifying the exact effluent limitations to be maintained after completion of the abatement program," Quarles said.

He said his agency has not made a final determination itself on the precise effluent limitations that should be established.

Quarles said the EPA is proceeding under a new federal water quality control law toward granting the company a new discharge permit that will set strict limitations and supplement the state's consent decree.

Attorney license suspended

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has suspended the license of Robert C. Campbell, a Twin Falls lawyer, for soliciting legal practice — using a door-to-door sales pitch.

The high court acted on a recommendation of a three-member disciplinary committee headed by Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood.

The committee proposed a two-year suspension and the bar's board of commissioners concurred. The Supreme Court, however, suspended the license for only six months.

Story hour coordinator appointed

TWIN FALLS — Kathryn Galloway will be coordinator for the Saturday morning children's story hour at the Twin Falls Public Library.

The program begins at 11 a.m. and continues until 1:30 p.m. in the basement extension room. Guest story teller will be Zola Allred who promises some "stories old and new" for the children attending.

All children are welcome and the program is designed this week toward those from pre-school age up to 11 years old.

Good And Bad

Snowmobile owners will be happy to hear that:
"Compaction of residual annual accumulations of plant materials caused by snowmobiles results in highly beneficial conditions."
According to Dr. Dale Gleason, biologist at Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie, compaction speeds decomposition during winter months, providing a readier source of nutrients for the annuals that bloom in the spring, tra-la. This early greening in turn provides the first spring nutrition for grouse, deer and many small rodents.
Snowmobile haters will be happy to hear that:
"In addition to their noise and exhaust fumes, snowmobiles compact the snow. It is the last factor, mechanical compaction of snowfields, that can produce a stress upon subnivean (under-snow) organisms and thereby increase winter mortality rates."

So stated the "Proceedings of the 1971 Snowmobile and Off the Road Vehicle Research Symposium" held in East Lansing, Mich. Elsewhere, a Department of the Interior study has found that "compaction of snow from the use of vehicles... can cause a retardation in vegetative growth."
So what's a snowmobile lover, who also loves nature, to do?
Until the experts make up their minds, wisest course would be to stick to designated snowmobile trails rather than go wandering off into the pristine wilderness. Any ecological damage caused by the contraptions would thus be kept to a minimum and the sport, as well, would be safer.

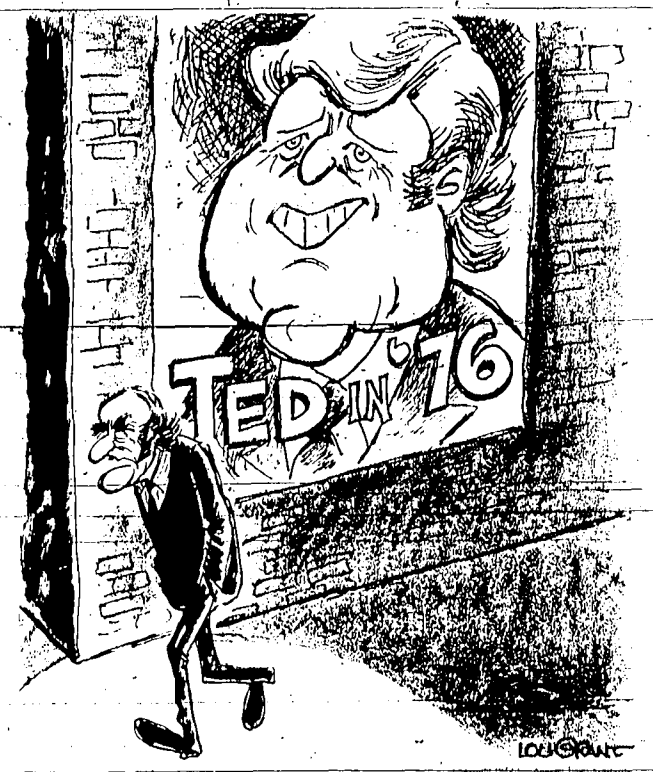

LOS ANGELES — Canvassers for Sen. George McGovern, disappointed by support for President Nixon they found in Mexican-American East Los Angeles, were stunned to learn the frequent reason: opposition to McGovern's amnesty for Vietnam draft-dodgers.
In talking to surprised McGovern canvassers, these Chicanos showed considerably more indignation over the supposedly white middle-class amnesty issue than injustices inflicted on migrant farm workers. With their sons having fought and died in Vietnam while college students enjoyed deferments, these Mexican-American parents are outraged over McGovern's amnesty call.
In such East Los Angeles households, the canvassers noted, the photograph of the family's Vietnam veteran in uniform is given an honored place.
Anti-amnesty sentiment is not the only middle-class virtue found among Chicanos here, certainly not unanimous in joining McGovern's constituency for change. Hopes that a solid Chicano vote would pin down the nation's most populous state have become sheer illusion. Mr. Nixon carried 30 to 40 per cent of the state's Mexican-Americans.
But this illusion was only part of a larger one — that California somehow is different from other heavily populated states and was McGovern country. In truth, reliable polls showed California was one of Mr. Nixon's best big states. And the California illusion, persisted in by high-ranking McGovernites until the bitter end, itself reflects the overall campaign's separation from reality.
For months, McGovern had been assured of his invincibility, here by supporters such as state Assemblymen Willie Brown and John Burton, his flashy, super-liberal state campaign leaders from San Francisco. In a Sept. 8 meeting at the Los Angeles Hilton Hotel Brown and Burton informed McGovern that "no matter how badly he was faring in old politics Eastern states, he was in wonderful shape in new politics California."
This was partly based on McGovern's superb precinct organization of last spring's California primary being rebuilt. It was not. Nor did expected McGovern money to finance voter registration ever arrive. When no funds came from Washington, Chicano leader Cesar Chavez's enthusiasm and work for McGovern flagged noticeably.
But the real source of McGovern confidence here was the feeling that California is more avant-garde liberal than Eastern industrial states. Blacks, Chicanos, college students, concerned liberal suburbanites and pot-smoking hippies would compose a hard core of McGovern supporters absent in Pennsylvania or Ohio.

Aerospace unemployment and long experience with Richard M. Nixon would add still more votes.
In fact, California was a good barometer of the nation. The key to victory here as elsewhere was the white working-man, particularly in the "switcher" precincts of the San Fernando valley and southeast Los Angeles County.
McGovern confidence here was

Censorship

The more than 300 editors and publishers from throughout the hemisphere who attended the annual meeting of the Inter-American Press Association in Santiago, Chile, in October hardly needed to be told, as they were by the owner of a Dominican Republic newspaper, that freedom of the press "has undergone an alarming deterioration" in the past year.
The meeting convened amid warnings that the Chilean government would not tolerate any attacks on itself or other "progressive" nations of Latin America.
In Chile, there is no official press censorship, but newsmen have been under increasing pressure. The government of Marxist President Salvador Allende Gossens has filed some 120 lawsuits against newsmen. Some have been jailed pending trial.
In Argentina, according to an Associated Press Survey, the antileftist government of Gen.

Alejandro A. Lanusse has incorporated press censorship into law.
In Uruguay, where press censorship has been practiced since 1967, a state security law enacted this year provides jail sentences for newsmen and others responsible for stories damaging to "Uruguayan prestige."
In Brazil, editors and broadcasters operate under what is called self-censorship, but newstands can be raided and publications seized. Movies, plays and books are heavily censored.
In Panama, a government-appointed censor decides what will be published in the dailies.
One bright spot is Mexico, where government ownership of the newsprint monopoly has led to a form of self-censorship over the years. Recently, however, papers have begun to criticize the government more openly and President Luis Echeverria Alvarez says he welcomes it.

About The Wankel

Industrial consultant Robert Brooks says, "The Wankel engine will be bigger than color television."
What in the world is the "Wankel"?
What's so different about the Wankel engine that a respected industrial consultant would compare its future to motor power to the change from black-and-white TV to color?
To many men and most all women, Wankel is so new we've not yet learned for sure how to pronounce it.
In shirt-sleeve English, the engine we've been using for most of a century has pistons, which go up and down.
The Wankel goes round and round.
The difference is most readily apparent in the miniaturized engines which power model airplanes.
The single cylinder in the glow-plug piston engine goes up and down — requiring a piston rod, connected to a crankshaft to develop the rotation motion.
The Wankel just rotates. Only two moving parts and almost no vibration.
In the model airplane engines, where the piston engine shakes, rattles and roars, the Wankel rotary engine purrs.
So "revolutionary" you'll pardon the pun — is this newest innovation in combustion engineering that variations on this basic design are now being adapted to big planes, trucks and cars and motorcycles and motorboats and snowblowers and chain saws.
And the right now Wall Street bandwagon is powered by a "Wankel" engine. Stocks of companies which are making components or developing adaptations have multiplied in value in recent months.
There's increasing conviction around Detroit that all cars will be equipped with Wankel engines within eight years.
There's educated speculation that General Motors will produce a rotary-engine car starting one year from right now.
There are immense expenses involved in tooling up for what amounts to a whole new industry, but investors are betting the Wankel will give our total economy new thrust.

Potential advantages, obvious to engineers, are less noise and exhaust pollution, the Wankel is an idea whose time has come.
multiplicity of parts in a piston engine will be lighter and cheaper and should be cleaner and could be more powerful.
Certainly quieter.
So if only because it creates less noise and exhaust pollution, the Wankel is an idea whose time has come.
others exhibited in public places, was practiced in fact — not carried on placards shouting peace and love or artificially proffered by the thrusting of flowers into strangers' hands.
A short few decades ago, freedom and opportunity were cruelly denied to blacks and other minorities (their numbers were then much smaller). But freedom was better understood as deeply linked with order.
Because in this age "order" was adopted by some Americans as a code word for harsh suppression of minority rights and opportunities. Its vital bond with freedom is broken.
Wherever I go, and I travel 50,000 to 75,000 miles a year to all corners of the land, I see on almost any given day more thoughtless, selfish, inconsiderate, disorderly human behavior than I saw in months in earlier times. Yes, there are far more people today, but that just isn't the whole story.
We like to blame the carnage on the highways on defective cars. There is a point there. But a thousand Ralph Naders couldn't produce safety out of the mind's selfish scramble which enslaves our roadways.
When we're not in cars, most of us these days travel in the great big bus in the sky. It's a marvel of speed and technical efficiency. But almost everything a human being has to do to get to an airplane, sit in it, get off of it, get his bags and go on his way involves a herculean clashing of elbows that is painfully demeaning.

Heart Attack

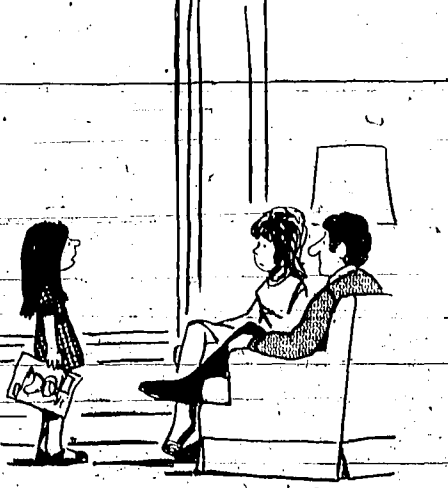

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am forever hearing, "If you have symptoms that seem like a heart attack, get to a doctor and quick!" I am wondering, what are the symptoms that a layman can consider severe enough to get him to a doctor? Is there always pain? — F. G. T.
The classic pain associated with the heart attack is more of a sense of oppressive tightness under the breast bone or upper abdomen. Often it runs to the shoulder or midback area and is accompanied by a shortness of breath and anxiety.
Some sweating is often experienced also.
A sharp pain, often mistaken for a heart attack, is not the classic symptom.
One of the most difficult things in the world to do is to explain a pain adequately, but I read recently a description of a heart attack pain written by a newspaperman:
"The pain... stretched across my chest from armpit to armpit. It was becoming crushing, as though my chest was being mashed down by a giant kneeling on me, growing heavier and heavier. I could no longer breathe deeply. I realized I was panting, taking shallow breaths like a tired puppy."
This seems to describe the classic symptoms quite well.

the "coffee habit," and drink too much.
Principal risk is that the stimulation makes them jittery.
Likewise dentists have some reservations about too much drinking of pop or any other sugar-sweetened drinks, because they bathe the teeth in the sugary solution too much.
Taken in moderation, there's no physical harm. My advice would be to agree that if your son wants a couple of glasses a day, you won't fret about it. That amount shouldn't harm him at all, and it ought to be worth something to both of you to put an end to the arguments.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 24 and a few weeks ago had a hysterectomy — only the uterus removed. Please explain the effects it can have on one's sex life. I was told that I could have a normal sex life. What effects may it have in later years? Some people tell me the operation changes a woman's life. — Mrs. L. A. D.
It has no effect on sex life and no effect on menopause (change of life) later on. Only if the ovaries are removed, too, then the "change of life" occurs at once, although there still is no change in sex life.
The one difference caused by the operation is that you no longer can have children. That's all.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me if cola drinks are harmful to your health. My son thinks he has to have a bottle the minute he gets up until he goes to bed. He has about three bottles a day.
He is 16 and high-strung and thinks I don't know what I am talking about. He still sneaks cola into the house.
A few months ago we made him quit and for about three weeks he was more calm and you could reason with him. Last year I had convinced him with an article about cola being harmful to the body, until a high school teacher told his class the article wasn't true, so it was the teacher's word against the parents. Give me your opinion. — Mrs. L. M. M.
My opinion? I think you're making too big a thing of it. The cola drinks contain caffeine, a stimulant, and some people get in the habit of drinking too much, just as some people get

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My lower eyelids are inflamed and sore. I have bathed them with boric acid and a mild salt solution. Neither has worked well. What should I do? — J.E.G.
It sounds like an infection of some sort. (Allergy is a possibility, too.) Better have your doctor, or an eye specialist, diagnose the trouble. Eyes are too important to risk with hit-or-miss treatment.

Kicking The Tires

Visitors to the Greater New York Automobile Show currently being held at the New York Coliseum can get rid of their frustrations or whatever by kicking the tires in a special display set up for that purpose.
As everyone knows, it's a tradition to kick the tires of a car you are considering buying, but few people know why. According to Goodyear experts, it began back in the early 1900s when clincher tires were used on cars.
This kind of tire was held or clinched to the rim by means of clamps, and you kicked it to see if it was properly attached and inflated.
Incidentally, tires had to be changed every 50 miles or so back in those good old days — which just possibly might have been an additional reason for kicking the darn things.

found. Among these are quarks, heavy leptons and the intermediate vector boson.
Don't ask what they are, if they are. But if you see one, give a holler. Just be sure it isn't a neutron, proton, positron, hadron, muon or meson. They've got enough of those.

Union leaders divided

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Top union leaders remained sharply divided in their election post mortems as they were over who to support for President, and it may be a long time before the schism wrought in organized labor by George McGovern's candidacy is healed.

A big question facing labor is how it will fare in another four years under a Republican President who union leaders consider basically anti-labor and pro-business.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who steered the federation to a neutral position in the presidential race, said with thinly disguised glee that voters soundly rejected McGovern because they couldn't stomach his "neo-isolationism."

"That's assinine," snapped a United Auto Workers official. "That's nonsense," added the spokesman for President Jerry Wurf of the American Federation of States, County and Municipal Employees. The UAW and AFSCME were among more than 40 unions which supported McGovern. Meany claimed that the landslide for Nixon while voters returned the Democratic Congress vindicated the AFL-CIO decision to concentrate on congressional races to prevent a Republican takeover of the House and Senate.

"In the face of a landslide, we saved the Congress," a Meany aide said.

China pleased by win

HONG KONG (UPI) —China clearly is pleased by the reelection of President Nixon. That is the overwhelming impression of diplomats and other Peking-based sources despite the absence of official comment by Chinese leaders.

Visitors to China before the election also gained the impression from low level officials and party cadres that China was pro-Nixon in the context of the presidential election because he is a known quantity and more important is the man who broke the ice between the two nations.

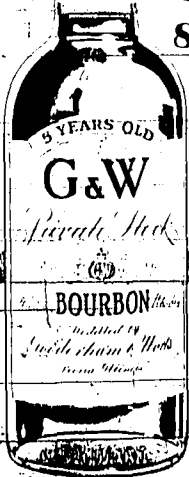

At this stage the Chinese want to push ahead with improvement of Sino-American relations. The Chinese believe Nixon is the man to do it.

Once the Vietnam issue is settled, the Chinese expect Nixon to put more emphasis on Sino-American relations. There seems to be some expectation on lower levels in China that, with Vietnam behind him, the President might come up with some bold action that would enable Peking and Washington to establish diplomatic relations.

Party here to stay

WASHINGTON (UPI) —John G. Schmitz, presidential nominee of the American party, says the party will run candidates for Congress in 1974.

The returns from the 1972 presidential election prove conclusively that the American Party is now on the U.S. political map to stay," Schmitz said Thursday. He did not say in which states candidates would be entered.

Schmitz polled 1 per cent of the vote, compared with 13 per cent for Wallace in 1968.

United Press International from Washington, Humphrey also said:

"Democrats actually won the election Tuesday, despite President Nixon's landslide reelection, by gaining strength in Congress and state legislatures and adding one governor and two U.S. senators.

Sen. George McGovern, defeated presidential candidate, was "perceived as a man somewhat separate from the Democratic party, true or not."

"There will be no massive purge" in the Democratic party but there may be some changes, and there may be a change in the national party chairmanship. "We do have a rebuilding job to do," he said.

Humphrey says Democrats won

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, veteran presidential candidate and a war horse of the Democratic party, said today the Democratic record in Congress in the next few years will determine whether the party wins the presidency in 1976.

Humphrey, 61, and considered too old to run for president again, predicted Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., his 44-year-old protégé who won a big reelection victory Tuesday—will be "in the picture" for president or vice president in 1976.

"I hope and pray that he will win the office I sought," Humphrey said. In a telephone interview with

Congress may collide with Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congress, fundamentally unchanged by the elections, appears to be on a collision course with President Nixon.

House Speaker Carl Albert served notice on the administration Thursday that Democrats "will continue to develop and strive to enact those legislative programs which will bring us nearer to the goal of a better life for all Americans."

But Nixon in a copyright interview with the Washington Star-News said, "This country has enough on its plate in the way of huge new spending programs, social programs, throwing dollars at problems."

The President pledged that the administration will strive for reform "not just adding more dollars—reform in the field of education, reform in the field of health, reform in federal-state relations, reform in all fields."

The first tests of the 93rd Congress, which convenes Jan. 3, are likely to come on efforts to pass legislation which Nixon vetoed last month as too costly and which he said would increase pressures for a tax increase he is sworn to resist.

The political makeup of the new Congress is relatively unchanged from the 92nd Congress. Democrats still have control, gaining two seats in the Senate and losing 12 in the House.

But Republican House Leader

Gerald R. Ford claimed "a winning combination for the President on most key votes in the House. We may well have a working majority while not a numerical one."

Organizations which customarily rate congressmen have reported that Nixon won virtually every battle in the House in the last Congress, but lost frequently in the Senate.

McGovern relaxes in Virgin Islands

ST. THOMAS, V.I. (UPI) —With his disastrous presidential campaign now history, Sen. George S. McGovern relaxed in the Virgin Islands today in preparation for at least two more years in the Senate.

McGovern and his wife, Eleanor, were staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kimelman, a wealthy land speculator who served as McGovern's campaign finance chairman.

McGovern recalled that his initial planning for mounting a presidential challenge was done at Kimelman's home here more than three years ago.

McGovern, who had to stand in line with ordinary tourists at Dulles Airport outside Washington Thursday while awaiting departure, took a swim shortly after his arrival and then dined with his wife and the Kimelmans.

He was expected to stay for a week to 10 days before returning to the United States.

members agreed, but noted the venereal disease epidemic in Idaho makes it necessary to establish an equitable method of distributing funds to school districts. In some districts, the average per pupil expenditure is $428 per year while in others it is more than $4,000.

The board will consider the report further during its Friday meeting.

In other action, a booklet outlining the rights and responsibilities of secondary students in Idaho was approved by the board.

The booklet, which will be junior high schools and high schools.

Earlier in the day, the state medical education director met with the board to outline goals and programs for the newly established medical education unit.

Dr. Fred R. O. Graeber said Idaho has neglected health education in the past but is catching up and must not educate only for Idaho.

countering the disease.

The program will include an education unit for teachers as well as the children.

Dr. Watkins said there were 14 reported cases of gonorrhea in Idaho the last week of October bringing the total for the year to 1,851—646 more than one year ago.

The board also received a report recommending reorganization of school administrative units to equalize the tax levy so the assessed valuation of property backing individual students would not vary so much in different districts.

Janet Hay, board member from Nampa, said reorganization of the administrative units will not

Viet air strike tempo increases

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers flew 180 strikes against North Vietnam Thursday in the heaviest raids since the White House cut back the air war Oct. 23. B-52 bombers flew 30 strikes in 10 missions averaging three planes each.

The stepped-up strikes inside North Vietnam and a four-month high of 261 strikes just below the north-south frontier were aimed at choking off the North Vietnamese effort to move more materiel south before a possible cease-fire and resulting freeze on weapons shipments.

Military sources said two South Vietnamese helicopters crashed today, killing 14 persons and injuring six. Mechanical failure caused a utility helicopter to crash 350 miles north of Saigon, killing nine persons. A Chinook twin-engine transport was shot down while carrying troops 270 miles north of Saigon. Five men were killed and six wounded. Gen. Alexander M. Haig, chief aide to presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, arrived in Saigon today and conferred with President Nguyen Van Thieu in what informed sources said was an effort to allay Thieu's fears concerning the cease-fire agreement already has worked out between Washington and Hanoi. At the same time Haig was arriving, a huge U.S. Air Force C-5A Galaxy transport was unloading helicopter parts on another runway as part of the U.S. effort to build up war materiel for the South Vietnamese before a possible cease-fire and resulting ban on more shipments of war goods. The 180 tactical jet sorties—one mission by one plane—against North Vietnam were the most since 220 such strikes were flown Oct. 21. On Oct. 23, President Nixon stopped all bombing north of the 20th parallel—which runs about 65 miles south of Hanoi and Haiphong—while maneuvers for a cease-fire proceed. The 261 missions flown in the northern five provinces of South Vietnam were the most since 280 such strikes on June 29. In the ground war, heavy SEOUL (UPI) — South and North Korea announced jointly today that they will stop propaganda broadcasts beamed at each other starting at midnight tonight.

It was the first direct and concrete move taken by the two halves of Korea in their effort to unify the land divided for 27 years.

The decision was taken last week in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang during a meeting of high ranking officials of the two Koreas.

Missionaries captured

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Two members of a North American missionary group missing since Oct. 28 were captured by North Vietnamese troops and taken out of the area, U.S. officials said today. They also identified two women missionaries killed at the same time.

The missing two were identified as Loyd Dudley Appel, 20, of Campbell River, B.C., Canada, and Samuel Mattix, 19, of Centralia, Wash.

Tremors show moon core hot

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — A long-shot impact of a large meteoroid on the lunar far side has given scientists the first evidence suggesting the moon still has a molten core.

"We may be seeing the dying ember of the primitive lunar core," said Dr. Gary Latham, chief seismologist for the soon-to-end Apollo moon project. "But we cannot say that with any certainty at this point."

Latham made the disclosure in an interview Thursday at his office at the University of Texas Marine Biomedical Institute. If confirmed, the presence of a hot fluid core in the moon would be a key to the scientific drive to understand the complicated story of lunar evolution. Latham emphasized that the data indicating the possible presence of a molten lunar center are preliminary and fragmentary, but he said, "It's certainly very suggestive of a presently molten core."

"I hope we'll be able to confirm or reject this core hypothesis in a month or so." The impact's vibrations were recorded July 17 by all four of the seismometers left on the moon by Apollo astronauts during the past three years. Because of normal delays in examining recorded telemetry reports from the instruments, Latham said the impact was discovered only last week.

The meteoroid hit with such force that its vibrations traveled through the center of the moon to the instruments on the side facing Earth. Latham said the odds were great against such an impact's occurring while the Apollo seismometers were still operating.

UN backing to Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agreement has been reached between the United States, Russia, Britain and France to support any attempt by both West Germany and East Germany to gain membership in the United Nations.

State Department officials, however, cautioned Thursday that they would not back the admission of East Germany to the United Nations unless it was accompanied by the application and admission of West Germany.

"They also made it clear that the wording of the four-power agreement did not constitute taking official diplomatic note of East Germany as a sovereign state but acknowledged that there was significant movement in that direction."

Theme given on Filer conclave

FILER — "Blessed is the nation that has chosen the Lord," was the theme of the meeting of the Filer American Baptist Women at the church. Mrs. Gene Kovar, president, read a poem "Three Things." Mrs. Clarence Edwards announced that, with two months to go, the love gift goal of $150 has already been exceeded and is now $193. Judson Circle will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Roy Watson with Mrs. Keith Peterson in charge of the devotional service. The Naomi Circle will meet Nov. 16 at the home of Mrs. Fred Wilson and Mrs. Watson will present the devotional service. Mrs. Arthur Hogg, spiritual growth chairman, introduced Rev. Ernest Hasselblad, pastor of the Castleford First Baptist Church, who spoke on the topic

"Justice" in light of the Scriptures. He said justice does not deal just with courts and trials but has to have a basis of our own personal relationship. The speaker said there are three levels of personal relationships, justice of which there are many forms of inequalities; justice, as it was described by Jesus as doing unto others as we would have them do unto us, and third, interaction in personal relationships. Rev. Hasselblad said there are over 500 passages in the Bible that deal with justice in a forthright way, and it is synonymous with righteousness and a straight relationship between God and man and between man and man.

Mrs. Gordon Larson, Mrs. N. L. Johnson and Mrs. Alton Lookingbill were hostesses. The general meeting of the Filer American Baptist Women will be Jan. 5.

Rock Creek Club meets at Murtaugh

HANSEN — The Rock Creek Worthwhile Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Melvin Tilley, Murtaugh. The hostess read the 23rd Psalm as the opening exercise. Mrs. June Yarbrough, Twin Falls, was a guest. Mrs. Glenn Gott was program chairman and presented contest games with Bonnie Ryan, Mrs. Tilley, Mrs. Vera McKinster, Mrs. H. E. Foster, Mrs. Bert Brown and Mrs. Yarbrough winning prizes. The next meeting is Nov. 29 at the home of Mrs. Grace McFarland.

Film slated

TWIN FALLS — "The Return," a film adapted from a national best seller, will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, Twin Falls. The film is taken from "The Late Great Planet Earth," by Hal Lindsey. It is based upon biblical prophecies and current events surrounding ancient and modern Israel. The public is invited to attend at the church, North Tropic and Shoup Avenue East.

Sermon listed

TWIN FALLS — The Christian Science Church sermon for Sunday will be "Mortals and Immortals." Services begin at 11 a.m. "The Truth that Heals," Christian Science radio program will be heard at 6:30 p.m. Monday over KTFI. The topic for this week is "Does Heredity Control You?" The Christian Science reading room is open from 1 to 4 p.m. weekdays at 115 Second St.

Spiritual Emphasis Week set

TWIN FALLS — Pastor Ernest D. Neufeld of the Lynwood Chapel Missionary Church announces Spiritual Emphasis Week will begin Sunday. Featured speaker will be Rev. Marvin E. Engbrecht, Lincoln, Neb. The meetings will be at 7:30 p.m. weeknights and 9:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sundays. Sunday school is at 10:45 a.m. According to Pastor Neufeld, "the meetings will include lots of good old-fashioned singing, music and fellowship. Everyone is welcome."

Revival slated

JEROME — Revival services conducted by Sam Kleinsparger, evangelist, will be conducted Sunday through Nov. 19 at the First Baptist Church, Jerome. Services are scheduled for 8 p.m., according to Barbara Stein, publicity chairman for the New Life Crusade.

TWIN FALLS — Coffee hours at St. Edward's Parish Hall will start Sunday after 8 and 10 a.m. masses. All are welcome to come and get acquainted. Religious items will be on sale.

Presbyterians set pancake breakfast

TWIN FALLS — First of Mrs. Van Nest will sing "We're Only Begun." Teenagers will meet Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the church dining room for a potluck dinner. A covered dish and table service should be brought. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stacy will show slides from their recent trip to Russia, Bulgaria and Rumania. Those in need of transportation may call the church office.

Charity theme for LDS groups

SHOSHONE — Members of the LDS Church Relief Society outline "Mother Training" will be stressing the Pauline scripture "Charity Suffereth long and is kind," during the remainder of the year. Topics will be "Developing Responsibility," "Moral Character Training," "Building the Self-Image," and "Children are to be Cherished." "Respect for Authority" and "The Challenge of Motherhood" will be discussed. "How to Live with Your Children and Enjoy It" will be discussed. In a continued study of the Articles of Faith by James E. Talmage, the spiritual living lessons for November and December are focused on theology regarding The Holy Ghost and encouragement for women to apply the values found in the Bible and Book of Mormon as a blueprint for daily living. Table manners and being a good neighbor are outlined for discussion in the homemaking lessons. The woman will be encouraged to plan mealtimes in a way that "eating will be more than satisfying hunger." Definite table manners will be outlined. Two more lessons in the new "Mother Training" will be taken up each month the scripture "Charity Suffereth long and is kind," during the remainder of the year. Topics will be "Developing Responsibility," "Moral Character Training," "Building the Self-Image," and "Children are to be Cherished." By Oswald & James Jacoby
The nothing play is a play that can lose or break even, but can't possibly win. Every one of us has made them on occasion.

Some nothing plays are more expensive than others and here is an example of a rather expensive one.

North's 10-point opening bid is not recommended and he wasn't at all happy when South bid game. South's game bid was an overbid in itself. A conservative bidder would have raised to two diamonds; a normal bidder would have tried just two no-trump.

South looked over the dummy unenthusiastically. There was one legitimate play for the contract and South tried it.

He won the spade in his own hand; led his deuce of diamonds and played dummy's eight. East took his king and returned a spade. Now South led dummy's queen of diamonds. If West had started with jack and one diamond the queen would bump the jack and South would have four diamond tricks.

As you can see the diamonds broke 3-3 and South had no chance. That is, he had no chance except that East came up with a nothing play. He let the queen of diamonds hold!

There was no way that play could gain. Once East ducked, his side could never take more than two diamond tricks.

South was grateful. He led a third diamond and claimed his contract.

Dirty cat

WINFARTHING, England (UPI) — Reginald Last said he lifted the hood of his car to check a strange sputtering noise Wednesday and found a large white cat perched on the top of the motor block.

"He must have traveled there for miles," Last said. "He was very dirty and a bit roughed up."

Valley Living

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My marriage would be perfect except for one thing. My husband likes to look at girlie magazines. It's the only thing we ever fight about. He's 36 and I'm 34, and I'm not all that bad.

I actually get jealous when I see him enjoying those pictures I can't help it. I know I can't compare with the well-endowed girls in the magazines and it makes me feel so inferior.

Abby, why would a man who is satisfied with his wife want to look at such pictures?

JEALOUS

Wife is jealous

DEAR JEALOUS: Immaturity? Hardly. Admiring beautiful undraped females has long been a source of pleasure among normal men. But because our Puritan "code of morals" has made nudity a "no no," grown men are made to feel like naughty little boys if they are caught enjoying it.

It does not necessarily follow that a man who likes to look at girlie magazines is dissatisfied with his wife. But the wife who makes her husband feel guilty for responding normally to an erotic picture could be cheating herself.

DEAR ABBY: What is this world coming to? Mothers putting their daughters on birth control pills at 14 and 15? Next month I am marrying an unwed mother with a little boy. She isn't on birth control pills, and as far as I'm concerned, she doesn't have to be.

I am 26 years old and have been around a lot. Before I met this little jewel, every time I took a girl out, after the first kiss she would say, "You don't have to worry, I'm on the pill."

I thought all the girls were alike, until I met this one, but she set me straight right off. I got fresh (all guys will try), and she said, "If you want an affair, go somewhere else because I'm holding out for marriage. I made one mistake, and I made a promise to myself, to God, and to my little boy, that I'll never make another!"

We're very much in love, but if she can wait to make it legal, so can I.

ARKANSAS SALESMAN

DEAR SALESMAN: The moral to that story is, experience is the best teacher, and judging from the cost, it ought to be.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is with my husband's people. I have been in this family for 35 years and every time there is a death in the family, his relatives show up at the funeral parlor with their cameras and they take a picture of the deceased lying in the casket.

They mail these pictures to all the out-of-town relatives who couldn't attend the funeral. They think they are doing them a big favor. When my husband's mother passed away recently, he made it clear that he didn't want anybody taking any pictures of her in the casket. She lived in another city, and my husband was sick, and couldn't go back for her funeral, so wouldn't you know a few weeks after the burial he gets all these pictures of his mother laid out in the casket! He was so furious he almost had a spell because he wanted to remember her as she was when she was alive.

Are we crazy for not wanting to see such pictures? Or are they? They've got us thinking that maybe we're the crazy ones.

Please put your answer in the paper as we want to buy about a dozen copies and mail them around. Thank you.

HATES THOSE PICTURES

DEAR HATES: To each his own, but I agree with you and your husband. And since his people know how you feel, they should respect your wishes.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69760, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Red forces grow, says general

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) — The Soviet Union is developing the world's mightiest military machine while negotiations encourage "euphoria and wishful thinking" in the West, the top American general in Europe said today.

Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, supreme allied commander in Europe, spoke of Soviet military capabilities and the dangers of détente in a speech to the Heidelberg Chapter of the Association of the United States Army.

"The Russians are on the move in many areas, particularly where they see or sense weakness, confusion and confusion," Goodpastor said.

Ketchum council hears challenge

KETCHUM — Deleted from an account of Monday's Ketchum City Council meeting was Councilman Gerald Sidwell's refutation of a charge made earlier against him.

Sidwell, during the meeting, challenged resident J. D. Pace on a statement made by Pace that a "gentlemen's agreement" was made between Sidwell and Russ Horn to "cut down the number of units despite court orders."

The statement was made during a public hearing on Oct. 30 on C and H Investments. Terming the statement a "blatant falsehood," Sidwell Monday demanded substantiation of the comment and a public apology to both the council and to him.

Pace did not offer testimony of substantiation during the meeting.

When that statement was made originally, Sidwell was out of town and was not able to present his position on the matter.

"In 1972, we face on the one hand the prospect of continuing negotiations with their accompanying aura of euphoria and wishful thinking," he said.

"And on the other hand we face growing Soviet forces—the strongest military power the world has ever seen—and a Soviet leadership ready and willing to use that power."

He said NATO must not reduce its forces unilaterally before or during the prospective negotiations with the Soviet bloc on mutual force reductions in Europe.

Gooding hospital toured

GOODING — Dr. James Bax, director of the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection, toured the Gooding TB Hospital Wednesday.

This agency and other state agencies are considering the possibility of using the facility to house offices.

Bax said "this was more than just a look. We would like to see the TB hospital put to use and we feel that it has definite possibilities and potential."

He said that he could make no commitment yet as to whether or not his agency would make use of the hospital. He said he would send representatives from his office for another tour of the hospital on Nov. 16.

Other agencies scheduled to send representatives on the Nov. 16 tour are the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services and Regional Mental Health Officials.

The tour will begin at 10 a.m. and a luncheon meeting will follow.

Montanan committed

JEROME — A Montana man arrested in Jerome Wednesday morning was under the influence of LSD, police said.

Officers said Thomas Joyce, 20, Butte, Mont., was arrested after he attempted to stop cars at the corner of Lincoln and Alder streets.

When he was taken to St. Benedict's Hospital, a sedative had little effect and Joyce was subsequently transferred to the security ward at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Officers said because he continued to be violent, a hearing was arranged and Joyce was ordered committed to State Hospital South at Blackfoot.

Jerome County sheriff's officers took Joyce to the hospital late Wednesday.

Wendell to continue with sewer project

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

WENDELL — Proceed as planned. That was the decision of the Wendell City Council Thursday evening, after considering the possibility of delaying the sewer project to take advantage of possible revenue sharing funds and additional funds available under the Clean Water Act.

The project, estimated to cost about $100,000, calls for enlargement of the present sewage lagoon, and piping effluent to land west of the lagoon to a site where a sprinkler system would be installed.

Hugh Hedges and Jack Straubhaar, Twin Falls, who serve as city engineers, for Wendell, met with the council

Thursday evening. They discussed feasibility of delaying the Wendell sewer project until additional information can be obtained on possible revenue sharing funds and securing federal funding under the Clean Water Act.

Hedges said the city's share of the sewer project could drop from $27,000 to $15,000 to $20,000 if the federal funds from those sources can be used.

He said federal funding possible from the Clean Water Act could amount to 75 per cent of the estimated cost of the project, which is $100,000. State funds would be between 5 and 15 per cent of the total, he said.

Revenue sharing money could be used for the city's operating cost and the operating cost money could be used to finance the sewer project, Hedges said. If this is possible, a bond election might not be necessary, he said.

Councilman Dale Gilbert and other members of the council agreed that "since we have to have it anyway we may as well go ahead as planned. Our problem has been we've kept pushing it back. If we delay it any further, we'll be more than two months behind."

The council had earlier planned to obtain 50 per cent federal funding, 25 per cent state funds, and provide the rest from local funds. No bond election date has been set. Straubhaar told the council that designs for the sewer project should be finished by Jan. 1.

In other action: A bid for gravel and street improvement by Peter Klewit and Sons, Twin Falls, in the amount of $2.85 a ton for 200 tons, was accepted. The firm was the only bidder. Work is scheduled to start in a week.

Mayor Eugene Sorens announced a revenue sharing meeting in Burley Nov. 16.

New location of Community Action Agency

CAA offices to move

That move will separate the CAA from the Head Start program, which will remain in the building owned by the Catholic Diocese, and will give the agency opportunity to sub-let part of its new facilities in an attempt to cut total rental costs.

The new work program approved at Thursday night's meeting will be submitted to federal officials in Seattle later this week for formal action. But on the basis of remarks made at the meeting by Chuck Van Pelt, a member of the Idaho office in Seattle, little problem is expected with the document. If the program is approved, it would mean unconditional agency funding for the first time since July 1.

The program approved sets forth goals in the areas of low income participation to develop low income housing projects, senior citizens projects, affirmative action plans, assuring that the companies the agency does business with abide by federal equal opportunity hiring practices, and an agency administration management system that seeks to "promote a better understanding of CAA, its programs, goals and functions among board staff and community members."

The work plan adopted Thursday night is the third attempt by the local agency to get approval from regional anti-poverty officials for a statement of goals and strategies.

But with the year now nearly five months complete, and the entire staff at the agency fired because of an open hiring dictate from the regional office, and work due to begin early next year on planning a work program for fiscal year 1974, it is considered unlikely by several board members that anything beyond basic reorganization of the agency is possible this year.

The "open hiring" question was one factor considered by the board Thursday night in a discussion of adopting a budget to accompany the work program.

Of four budget proposals submitted by executive director Bobby Russell, the board chose one that creates two new positions, a planner and a resource developer, both at an annual salary of $9,400, as well as one community organization specialist, paid $8,400 a year, three community education aides, with salaries of $4,300 each annually, and a property officer to be hired for $4,970 annually.

According to Mrs. Helen Carter, member of the board of directors, the new budget effectively eliminates the positions now filled by staff members at the agency.

The entire staff was "terminated" in a letter from Russell effective Nov. 30 to comply with an open hiring condition imposed by regional officials. Open hiring in effect throws all staff positions open for rehiring.

The board passed a motion at the meeting to give first consideration to all present staff members if they choose to reapply for new jobs, and also indicated they would extend existing fringe benefits for present staff rehired under the reorganization.

Decision on area hearing scheduled

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome Magistrate Russell Shaud has taken under advisement testimony given in a preliminary hearing for Gay Dean Standlee, 30, Hazelton.

Magistrate Shaud is expected to render his decision within the next week as to whether Standlee should be bound over for trial.

Standlee is accused of first degree murder in the death of his ex-wife, Sharyn Woodall, 26, and attempted murder in the wounding of her husband, Thern Woodall, 41, both

The incident occurred Aug. 17 at the home of Standlee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Standlee.

Following four days of testimony in the preliminary hearing, defense attorney James May argued there was no cause for a first degree murder charge in the death of Sharon Woodall, but rather voluntary manslaughter.

May also argued the charge of attempted murder in the gunshot wounding of Thern Woodall should be considered as assault with a deadly weapon.

The prosecution contended for the state that it was first degree murder and attempted murder, and asked that the court bind Standlee over on the two charges.

Testifying for the prosecution Thursday was Capt. Tim Qualls of the Twin Falls Police Department, who offered testimony on an FBI report on evidence submitted by the prosecuting attorney, Eugene Frederickson.

The defense called six witnesses Thursday, including Joan Wickell, ex-wife of Thern Woodall; Dean Schlund, a friend of Standlee; Glenda Snider and Gleys Johnson, sisters of Standlee, and Neil and Flora McCarter, who work at the Burley jewelry store where Sharon Woodall was employed for about five years.

Most of May's defense was presented during the four days of preliminary hearing, while the state was presenting its witnesses. The judge permitted May to bring his evidence forth, after the state had finished, so the witnesses would not have to be recalled and the hearing continued.

Filer man hurt

BURLEY — Donald F. McNabb, 49, Filer, suffered severe injuries Thursday night in a two-car accident at Cedar Crossing.

He was listed in fairly good condition Friday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

State police reported he was traveling east from Buhl at 7:49 p.m. and was turning left from U.S. Highway 30 to go to his home near Cedar Crossing when he collided with a westbound vehicle driven by Richard F. Uppiano, 44, Hagerman.

Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $3,000.

McNabb was cited for driving while intoxicated. He was operating a van-type vehicle owned by his employer, Paul Kalbfleisch, Filer.

Driver of the other vehicle escaped with minor injuries.

Lincoln school closed today

SHOSHONE — Schools were closed in Shoshone today to allow teachers to participate in the final work of the needs assessment study carried out a year ago in the school system.

Representatives from the Idaho Department of Education met with teachers where priority problems were studied. The needs assessment was conducted in conjunction with the state department through cooperation of the school, school board and patrons of the school district.

In addition to it being an "evaluation" of the Shoshone school system, the result is to come up with the needs and possible solutions to any problems within the district, according to school officials.

Shoshone plans veterans fete

SHOSHONE — A potluck dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Monday in honor of Veterans Day.

The dinner will be at the American Legion Hall, sponsored by the American Legion Post and Auxiliary. Girls and Boys stagers from Shoshone will report their trips last spring.

Auxiliary members will hold a short meeting after the dinner and officers will be installed for the coming year.

All Veterans, members of the legion and auxiliary and their spouses are invited to attend.

Burley bank merger okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a split decision, the Federal Reserve System Board of Governors has okayed a merger of the Bank of Idaho and the Cassia National Bank of Burley.

A subsidiary of Western Bancorporation, the Bank of Idaho now controls about 12 per cent of the commercial bank deposits in Idaho.

The decision approving the merger said the merger would increase the bank's share by about one per cent.

The Bank of Idaho has 25 banking offices and deposits of about $205 million. Cassia National has deposits of about $15 million.

The Justice Department said approval of the merger might have an adverse competitive effect in Idaho by eliminating the Bank of Idaho as a potential entrant into the Burley area. Burley now has four banks.

However, the Bank of Idaho said the Burley area is unattractive for a new office and the merger can improve competition in the area by making Cassia National a more positive force.

Buhl man files for bus route

BUHL — An application has been filed with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission by Emery Woodruff, Buhl, for a school bus route.

The application covers School District 412 in Twin Falls and Gooding counties.

The commission has allowed 20 days from the date of the notice, Nov. 9, in which persons may file written protests to the application. After that time the commission will act on the application. Woodruff seeks a motor contract carrier permit to transport school children and teachers to and from the Buhl schools and for other approved school activity transportation.

Persons protesting the application in writing, should list reasons why the permit should not be granted and should be submitted to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission in Boise.

Judge backs decision of Blaine aides

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Fifth District Judge Charles Scoggin Thursday backed a decision made earlier this week by the Ketchum City Council.

In the decision Monday, the council unanimously reaffirmed its earlier ruling that a building permit issued to G. and H. Investments had been suspended until the plans met floor space requirements.

The court hearing Thursday wrapped up the contest which encompassed two months and resulted in two civil suits and public hearings before the council.

Attorney for the plaintiff in the original suit, G. and H. Investments against the city of Ketchum, Stephen W. Boller, was directed to write a summary of findings.

The contention had stemmed from the council's decision on Sept. 26 to suspend G. and H.'s building permit for eight apartment units in southeast Ketchum because, with the inclusion of basement apartments, the building exceeded floor space requirements.

On a request from Ketchum City attorney, Willis Benjamin, Judge Scoggin, for the purpose of this individual case, stood by the council's position that a "basement was a basement and not living quarters."

On a further recommendation from attorney James Donart, representing the intervenors in the case, Judge Scoggin stipulated that a statement be made that the two lots are presently tied together in determining floor space under the building permit the plaintiffs now hold.

During the hearing Thursday, Donart, who represents jointly with attorney George Kneeland, adjacent property owners Tony Raebler and Mrs. George Kneeland, argued that G. and H.'s plan for five apartments instead of eight was a new plan on a different location and should be submitted under the recently passed zoning ordinance allowing only one duplex per lot.

Boller argued with the issuance of the original permit on Aug. 7 that G. and H. had gained a vested right for construction if they complied with the zoning ordinances.

Gem water board asks public views

BURLEY — Idaho Water Board officials addressed a small audience Thursday evening in their effort to get public opinion of a preliminary interim water report.

Gilbert Haycock, program manager for the Upper Snake basins of the five-planning regions, said the group might have to re-visit the area since fewer than 10 area residents participated in the meeting at the Ponderosa Inn.

The public, information meeting was the fourth of 12 scheduled in the state during November.

Pulling data from a soft-bound preliminary report on an interim state water plan, Haycock, and Marshall Elson, chief of the water board's reports branch, stressed that the report will form the basis for an interim plan which will be finalized next year will guide decision-makers until a state water plan is completed in 1976.

Public input and reaction to the preliminary report is essential in the development of a viable state water plan, according to Haycock.

The objective of the state water plan is to recommend programs for meeting the water needs of Idaho citizens to the year 2020.

The preliminary report states that "a major planning consideration is the assumption that the state water plan will be updated at least every five years and that the plan is to be used as a feasible guide and not a rigid document."

In the section dealing with the upper Snake region, the preliminary report says increased ground water pumping in the Oakley Fan and Raft River areas has resulted in substantially lowered water tables in the Snake River Plain aquifer.

"The available water supply is not adequate to meet projected needs for all water use functions in the region," according to the report.

"National Reactor Testing Station practices of injecting short-lived radioactive materials into the Snake Plain aquifer and burying long-lived radioactive solid wastes in the surface soils pose a constant potential to water contamination," the report says.

Flood potential developing along the Wood River where recreation facilities and homes are being built was also cited in the 205-page report.

A geothermal electric power plant near Bridge as outlined by Raft River Electric Co-Op is also mentioned. The plans call for as many as 32 separate wells in the area surrounding two natural hot springs.

The Bureau of Reclamation is conducting a feasibility study on the Oakley Fan division located along Goose Creek south of Burley, according to the report.

The project would involve providing supplementary water to about 80,000 acres of irrigated land and a new supply to about 60,000 dry acres. The supply would come from one or more of the following:

Water pumped from the Snake River; releases from Lynn Crandall Reservoir, if it is built, and ground water pumped from both within the Oakley Fan area and from the Snake plain aquifer north of the Snake River.

The cost of the project would probably exceed $140 million.

Carlos Randolph, superintendent of the Minidoka Project, said plans for replacement of American Falls Dam are in Washington, D. C. The preliminary report cites a "critical need" for its replacement.

The concrete of the dam has been inferior since 1904, according to Randolph. He said that recent Bureau of Reclamation orders restricting the water level of the dam, to the spillway crest, will cut down its storage capacity by 575,000 acre feet of water.

"We're going to use every means to minimize crop loss because of the water cutback," Randolph said, "but any succession of years such as 1961 could result in serious damage."

Haycock cited the possibility of raising the level of Palisades Reservoir in supplying supplementary water if the Lynn Crandall Dam is not constructed.

Copies of the preliminary report are available from the Idaho Water Resource Board in the statehouse at $3 per copy.

Magic Reservoir lower this year

SHOSHONE — Magic Reservoir contained 94,000 acre feet of water this week. Last year on the same date it contained 124,000 acre feet.

Manager of the Big Wood Canal Co., Leon Grivee, said there will be a damatic run of water about Nov. 15. The gates will be opened Nov. 14.

Directors of canal company have decided that winter stock water at Dietrich should be turned off since it is detrimental to the system.

American Falls Reservoir contained 1,047 million acre feet of water this week, compared to 1,330 million acre feet a year ago.

Winter water in the South Gooding tract will be turned off sometime in December.

The Big Wood Board decided after freezing the had effects far affect any good that is derived from running it all winter.

Squaw Valley mounting campaign for Olympics

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI)—Plans for staging the 1976 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley moved ahead on several fronts Thursday even while officials cautioned chances of getting the Games for the California ski resort were at best slim.

Shortly after Colorado voters turned down Denver as the site for the Games, action picked up in the Lake Tahoe area in a bid to get a favorable vote from the United States Olympic Committee for Squaw Valley, where the 1960 Winter Games were staged.

A group calling itself the North Lake Tahoe Olympic Organizing Committee quickly came into being and announced a special meeting for Friday to proceed with plans for presenting a bid to the International Olympic Committee.

First off, the Squaw Valley interests have to satisfy the U.S. Olympic Committee, which under the rules of the game will make the bid for America.

Lake Placid, N.Y., where the 1932 Games were staged, also is in the running.

Denver was awarded the bid originally because the IOC wanted to accommodate America, which celebrates its bicentennial in 1976.

Despite what many believe is an almost hopeless struggle, Squaw Valley interests plan a good fight to get the Games.

Wednesday night, the Placer County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution endorsing Squaw Valley's bid.

William Briner, the board's retiring chairman and the man in the forefront of the fight for Squaw Valley, said he also had moved by sending telegrams to the IOC and the USOC, alerting the Far West Ski Association, the League to Save Lake Tahoe, the Sierra Club and "other interested" groups.

Additionally, the staffs of California Governor Ronald Reagan and Nevada Governor Michael O'Callaghan were contacted in an attempt to have the governors appeal to President Nixon on Squaw Valley's behalf.

Since the federal government already has voted $15 million to help promote the Olympics in the United States in 1976, it is believed, by Squaw Valley backers, that President Nixon may make an appeal to the IOC through the U.S. Olympic Committee on behalf of Squaw Valley or Lake Placid.

Lord Killanin, president of the IOC, is scheduled to meet with his three vice presidents—Count Jean de Beaumont of France, Jontheer Hermann Karnebeek of the Netherlands and Willi Daume of West Germany—in Lausanne, Switzerland next Monday to receive Denver's official resignation as host site for the 1976 Games.

Presumably, the four also will decide the ground rules for accepting bids for the Games.

They could make a decision on their own, submit the problem to the nine-member executive committee or put it before the full IOC, which numbers 74 members.

Since there is no precedent to follow—no city ever has quit on a bid after first accepting it as did Denver—the whole question is up for speculation with numerous European countries and Vancouver, Canada also in the bidding to stage the 1976 Games. Those European sites most prominently mentioned are Grenoble, France, site of the 1968 Games, Stockholm, Sweden, Lahti, Finland, Sion, Switzerland, and Trentin, Italy.

Clifford Buck, outgoing president of the USOC, said that "if and when the IOC does announce it is receiving bids from qualified cities, the USOC board of directors will have the responsibility of making a judgement on which U.S. city to endorse and recommend to the IOC."

Meanwhile, a USOC official, in an interview with the San Francisco Examiner, said the way he sees it "the penks the Squaw Valley people would have to ascend to achieve their goal would appear to be insurmountable."

"No one can say what will happen," said the spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous.

Briscoe says he must KO foe to win in Argentina ring

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Middleweight champion Carlos Monzon and challenger Benny Briscoe of Philadelphia wound up training Thursday for their Saturday night title fight and then paid a joint courtesy visit to Argentine President Alejandro Lanusse.

Lanusse, a former military academy rugby star and heavyweight boxer, wished both fighters luck.

Arnold Weiss, Briscoe's man-

Colorado faction still fights

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Olympic Organizing Committee (DOOC) voted Thursday to advise the International Olympic Committee (IOC) it is withdrawing the bid of Denver to host the Winter Games in 1976.

The resolution will not be presented to the IOC until court action, which began only hours before the DOOC meeting Thursday, is cleared up.

District Judge Neil Horn issued a temporary restraining order against Denver's withdrawal at the request of Churchill G. Blackwell, Don L. Hermansen and James G. Disney.

Later, the plaintiffs' attorney, Harry Arkin, told the DOOC that the court order was sought to "obtain time to see if viable alternative action is available." The restraining order is in effect until Monday.

Arkin said he would be in Switzerland that day to meet with the IOC and ask for additional time to get other funding and keep the Olympics in Colorado.

W. Richard Goodwin, DOOC board chairman, told Arkin: "We appreciate your efforts, but 1976 is not that far away. Let's not reach the point where whoever gets the Games doesn't have enough time. If we could still hold the Games in Colorado, I'm all for it, but I don't think it's practical."

mous. "Of course it can't be a blunt 'no chance' for Squaw Valley. There may be no other way to turn."

Briner estimated that it would take a minimal of $1 to $2 million plus the $15 million from the federal government to get Squaw Valley in shape to handle the Games. A large part of the money would be spent on a 35-mile access road to the site so as not to duplicate the traffic jams of the 1960 Games when 40,000 people tried to reach Squaw over narrow mountainous roads.

agor, entered a formal complaint over the naming of an Argentine referee for the bout, Victor Avendano, a 1928 Olympic boxing champion who is contractually linked to Luna Park Stadium promoter Juan Lector.

Briscoe sparred three light rounds Thursday with Antonio Aguilar, South American middleweight champion.

"He has heavy hands, a dangerous right hook to the body in close, but I think Carlos will take him," Aguilar said.

Briscoe's handler, Quicell McCall, said Briscoe weighed 159 1-2 pounds Thursday and will make the weight comfortably. He was ounces heavier than Monzon's reported weight.

Monzon, who will be making his first title defense before a home crowd, was noticeably nervous when he showed up at the gym for his final workout.

Lincoln, Neb. (UPI)—The University of Nebraska football squad hopes to make Saturday a special occasion for Bob Devaney.

The nationally second-ranked Cornhuskers want to present their head football coach with his 100th win at Nebraska when they meet Big Eight Conference foe Iowa State, ranked 14th nationally, at Ames, Iowa.

Devaney, who is stepping down as head coach at the end of the season, has compiled a 99-19-1 record since first setting foot on the Nebraska campus 10 years ago. Adding five years at Wyoming, his career record is 134-29-6 without a single losing season.

Devaney also claimed his 100th career victory against ISU in 1969.

The Cyclones, 2-2 in the conference and 5-2 for the season after losses to Oklahoma and Kansas, are in fifth place in the Big Eight. Odds makers are picking Nebraska, which hasn't lost to ISU since 1960, by 21 points.

But Devaney has never been one to exhibit overconfidence.

For the first three days of the week his squad emphasized work on preventive measures against Iowa State's passing attack during workouts on natural grass fields in preparation for the Ames field. Rain forced a move inside on Thursday, but the defensive work continued.

"If they can move the ball on the ground, then passing is an integral part of their offense," Devaney said. "Even if their running game is going good, they'll throw the ball 25 times a game."

Devaney said the Cyclones have "some fine receivers and a fine thrower in George Amundson, so their passing attack depends on how well they can protect the quarterback."

Frazier, N.Y. edge Atlanta

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walt Frazier scored a season high 35 points, including 27 in the second half, Tuesday night as the New York Knicks rallied from a 23-point deficit to edge the Atlanta Hawks, 101-99.

Frazier scored 12 points, grabbed five rebounds and had four assists in the third quarter as the Knicks put on a brilliant shooting display that carried them from a 57-38 halftime deficit to just four points back of Atlanta entering the fourth quarter.

Stars rip N.Y.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Utah Stars got another balanced team-scoring performance Thursday night to defeat the New York Nets, 120-101, in the American Basketball Association.

Led by forward Wilhe Wise's 25 points, the Stars took an early lead and built it to a 25-point margin, 112-87, with 5:10 remaining.

New York, with three men scoring 16 points apiece, failed to generate any offensive drive and committed several key errors to stall its attack.

Squires win

HAMPTON, Va. (UPI)—Forward Julius Erving scored 34 points Thursday night and led a third-period rally as the Virginia Squires beat Indiana, 134-126, in an American Basketball Association game.

Down 59-37 at halftime, the Squires, led by Erving and shooting 64 per cent from the floor, outscored the Pacers 43-21 in the third period to break the game open.

You're looking at all the soft whiskies in the world crowded into one photograph.

Back in 1963 we introduced America to something new, soft whisky. In all this time no one has come close to matching that one-of-a-kind taste. They may be trying, of course. But that means spending years in doing experiments by the thousands. And spending dollars by the millions. Even then there's no guarantee of success. If you want a soft whisky you have a choice, Calvert Extra.

Raft River and Murtaugh sweep football playoff

Baylor dreams of upsetting Texas

POCATELLO — Raft River dropped Westside 20-6 and Murtaugh topped Grace 21-14 Thursday night to give the Magic Valley Conference a sweep over their fifth district counterparts in a football playoff in the mindgame.

Raft River, with Leon Paskett throwing for two touchdowns and running across the other, won its second straight game over Westside. The Trojans won 20-14 on Sept. 8 before Westside went on to win the fifth district crown and Raft River tied Murtaugh for the Magic Valley title. Murtaugh, with its three senior backs each scoring a touchdown, benefitted from three fumble recoveries and two pass interceptions to stymie the bigger Grace team. Both Magic Valley clubs wound up with 9-1 records.

In the first game, Murtaugh drove the opening kickoff to the one-foot line before Grace held and it wasn't until three minutes were gone in the second period that the Devils broke on the board. That came on a 50-yard pass and run play from Steve Stanger to Jack Hurd.

Grace's offense started clicking in the fourth period, the losers grinding out a 72-yard drive. The payoff came on an option pitch from Van Johnson to Steve Krogh who sailed the last 10 yards. Johnson added the two-point.

Murtaugh had to punt immediately after and Grace went to the air. Johnson lofted a pass toward Krogh but a Murtaugh defender got there in time to deflect — directly into the hands of Krogh who completed the 52-yard play. Little Lane Henworth stopped the all-important two-point run to preserve Murtaugh's lead.

Late in the game Murtaugh punted to the Grace 13 and four downs later Grace, with nothing to lose, saw a pass fall incomplete, setting the Devils up at the 15-yard line. Don Barkes, getting a key block from Rob Wright, sprinted in from the 12 on a quick pitch to nail down the decision with 1:04 remaining.

The second game was a matter of halves, Raft River having the best of it in the first period and Westside holding the statistical edge in the second. But Paskett's throwing plus key interceptions by Kent Cooper and Jody Willis — who also caught the scoring passes — gave Raft River the edge. In addition, Westside saw two touchdowns nullified by penalties in a tight statistical battle that showed Raft River with a three-yard total offense edge at game's end.

Once-buried Vikings can tie for lead by beating Detroit

BY JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

The Minnesota Vikings, prematurely buried a few weeks ago, can come to life again Sunday.

The Vikings, who got off to a horrendous start this season and were in last place in the National Football Conference Central Division just a few weeks ago, can move into a first place tie for the division lead Sunday if they can beat the Detroit Lions. And if past performance means anything, the Vikings should be in first place Sunday night.

Minnesota has nine consecutive victories against the Lions and has not lost to a Detroit team since 1967. The Vikings were easy 34-10 winners early this season in the first meeting between the clubs when Fran Tarkenton threw two TD passes, Dave Osborn scored three times and the Minnesota defense intercepted four passes.

The NFC Central race is the tightest in the National Football League, with 1-12 games separating the first and last place clubs. Green Bay, tied with Detroit at 5-3 for first place, is at Chicago (3-4-1) and the Bears can upend the Packers, Minnesota (4-4) could cause a three-way tie for first with a victory over the Lions.

"We said a couple of weeks ago that we were no longer in the contender class but would have to work on a game-to-game basis," said Bud Grant, the Minnesota coach. "We aren't thinking about getting help from anyone else ... we're thinking about helping ourselves. Detroit is ahead of us in our division. You help yourself by beating the leader ... and that will be our goal this week."

Games against the Vikings always seem to turn into long afternoons for Detroit quarterback Greg Landry. "I've never had a good game against the Vikings," Landry said. "I don't know what it is. It seems like whenever I play against them, something goes wrong."

The Vikings are seven-point favorites to give Landry some more headaches.

In other key matchups Sunday, the Pittsburgh Steelers play host to the Kansas City Chiefs in a battle of AFC division leaders. The Steelers, now 6-2, moved into the Central lead last Sunday with a crushing 40-7 route of Cincinnati while Kansas City cemented a hold on the Western lead with a 27-14 triumph over Oakland.

The Steelers have won four straight games and have been getting steady performances from quarterback Terry Bradshaw, rookie running back Franco Harris and wide receiver Frank Lewis. Len Dawson threw three TD passes against the Raiders last week and the Chiefs' defense stymied Oakland's running game. Pittsburgh is a one-point favorite.

Elsewhere, St. Louis is at Dallas, the New York Giants at Washington, Denver at Los Angeles, Oakland at Cincinnati, New England at Miami, New Orleans at Atlanta, Buffalo at the New York Jets, Baltimore at San Francisco and Philadelphia at Houston. Cleveland is at San Diego Monday night.

Coach to enter fray for team

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Philadelphia Blazers' Coach Johnny McKenzia said Thursday he was temporarily giving up coaching duties so that he could help get his World Hockey Association team a few more wins.

The Blazers currently are 2-11-4 in the WHA East, and McKenzia has seen limited action because of a broken arm.

In addition, Derek Sanderson, the Blazers' other big star, has been sidelined with a severe sprain in his lower back.

Both players came to the Blazers after jumping from the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League.

"The doctors have given me the go-ahead as far as my arm is concerned and I have one goal—to get myself in top physical condition so that I can help the team get into the victory column," McKenzia said.

U.S. entry won't run in wet race

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—The 10 horses gathered from seven countries for Saturday's running of the $150,000 Washington, D.C. International at Laurel were assigned post positions Thursday, but there was a good chance that two United States representatives would not fill them at post time.

Riva Ridge, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, and Cougar II will not start unless the 1-1/2 mile turf course, soggy after heavy rains Wednesday morning, dried to firm for the race.

Trainer Lucien Laurin sent Riva Ridge onto the turf course for a workout Thursday and the trainer was displeased with the colt's effort. Riva Ridge went a half-mile in 53 seconds and just could not handle the soft underfooting, Laurin said.

The trainer was just about ready to scratch the horse then and there, but he finally decided to test the colt on the grass course again Saturday morning. Unless Riva Ridge, who peger has raced on turf, shows he can handle the footing, Laurin said he would scratch him.

Attendance for the seven games of the World Series was 363,149, and the playoff series attracted 255,260.

In addition to the 27 full shares, the victorious A's voted one share worth four-fifths to clubhouse official Frank Cienzyk, one three-quarter share to Tim Cullen, a second baseman acquired in August, and six half-shares to Matty Alou, Ted Kubiak, Charlie Maxwell, Don Mincher, Gonzalo Marquez and Tom Corwin. They also made 19 cash grants to other personnel.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again ... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend more than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved by you. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

The upcoming doings in Waco between Baylor and Texas can no longer be considered just a football game.

And, standing in their way over there are the Texas Longhorns, symbolizing overwhelming success and honor bound to stay successful even if it means stomping all over those downtrodden unfortunates who are trying to break the caste system.

Headsy stuff. A few dance numbers and the right director and it would run forever. It's just the sort of thing that often produces an exciting football struggle.

Dartell Royal and his Texas Longhorns realize it. It was early in the week when Royal heard about Baylor fans in the midst of watching their Bears' 42-9 win over Texas Christian last Saturday, yelling, "Wo want Texas." "They just said what they were thinking," said Royal. "They just told it like it was."

It has become what the well-informed person of a few years ago called a happening. There is drama involved.

Here are the Baylor Bears, playing the role of the downtrodden unfortunates who for years have lived hand to mouth and now, having had a nibble of hamburger, figure they might as well have a run for the T-bone.

Nixon goals include domestic reform

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's second term goals after ending the Vietnam war are streamlining the federal bureaucracy, but embarking on no basic new domestic programs.

In a copyright interview published today with Gazette D. Harner, White House correspondent.

Director claims neglect

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho has neglected health education in the past, Dr. P. O. Graeber said Thursday, but in catching up, the state must now educate "only for Idaho."

The state medical education director outlined his goals, programs and philosophies for the newly established medical education unit before the Idaho Board of Education meeting in Boise.

Graeber said health education should receive more attention because the health industry is "the fastest growing segment of our economy."

"We should not be too concerned about educating only for Idaho," he said. "We are such a debtor state for so many health professionals that we are inconsistent if we advocate training some health specialists only for Idaho's needs and then turn around and vigorously recruit from other states," he told board members.

Graeber said every veterinarian, dentist and physician in Idaho has been educated in another state.

cent for the Washington Star-News, the President said he wanted to "reverse" a big government trend that began in 1932 under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"This country has enough on its plate in the way of huge new spending programs, social programs, throwing dollars at problems," Nixon said. "What we need is, basically, reform of existing institutions and not the destruction of our tried values in this country."

"Consequently, the next administration will be one of assistance, both military and economic, to South Vietnam and "some assistance also to North Vietnam on an economic basis."

The President said his proposals for welfare reform and to restructure the executive branch, which died in the last Congress, would be instituted to the extent possible "through action at the executive level unless and until the Congress acts."

On Vietnam, Nixon said, "I am completely confident that we are going to have a settlement." He said the United States would provide postwar Calif., with Nixon fully anticipating his re-election that occurred two days later.

Nixon said flatly that his Democratic opponent, Sen. George S. McGovern, was bent on "the day he was nominated."

"When a candidate takes basically an extreme position on issues, he inevitably splits his party and assures his defeat, even when it is a majority party," Nixon said.

Stressing his goal of leading the nation out of what he called a crisis of spirit, the President said with "proper support" in Congress he would accomplish "more significant reform than any administration since Franklin Roosevelt's in 1932; but reforms in a different direction."

Jean to resist efforts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Jean Westwood said Thursday she had no plans to resign as Democratic National Chairwoman and would fight efforts to oust her, following George S. McGovern's disastrous defeat for the presidency.

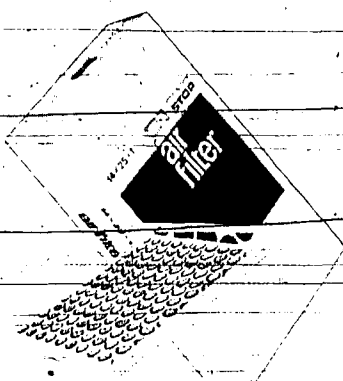

"The former Utah national committeewoman, at a post-election news conference, made clear she was aware that many Democratic party regulars were talking of replacing her as the first step in moving the party back toward the middle of the road."

She said McGovern, who hand-picked her for the job after winning the nomination, had assured her of his support to remain at the head of the party.

"I am here to report to you the Democratic party is alive and well and living in all 50 states and the District of Columbia," she said in a prepared statement. "And I am here to report that Jean Westwood is alive and well and intends to remain on the job."
