No bread shortage in Valley

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Shoppers may find some brands of baked goods missing on store shelves, but no shortage of bread is expected to result here from a western bakers strike.

Larry Fullmer, manager at the Albertson Food Center in Twin Falls, said today his store would stock a limited line of Wonder Bread products, but the representative of ITT Continental Baking Co., the manufacturers of the products, told him the company "could take care of us."

A spokesman at the Safeway store at the Lynwood Shopping Mall agreed with Fullmer, and said the strike would affect local stores in limiting the supply of Continental products, but he said other brands, including Safeway's own, would not be affected.

But a representative at Buttreys Foods, another Twin Falls outlet, said he had had "no contact" from anyone regarding a possible shortage of bread or bread products as a result of the strike.

The local picture is in contrast to reports from other western states areas which are being hit by bread shortage as the strike-lockout of 12,000 AFL-CIO Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union went into its third day.

Gary Peterson, branch manager for the baking company, confirmed the reports of store managers, saying his company was working with half its normal staff and producing half its normal line of baked goods products.

But, he said, the company had plans to be producing its entire line of products within a week, even if the strike-lockout continues that long.

Baked goods sold locally are baked in Ogden, Utah, he said, and shipped into this area. Currently, two lines of white bread, as well as other products are reaching the area, but production of "Hostess" cakes and similar products has been stopped temporarily.

Already sections of northern California experienced some shortage of bread and pastry supplies because of a week-old Teamster union strike against one of the west's largest bakeries.

The bakers, members of the AFL-CIO Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union, produce nearly half of the bread supplies of the West. They went on strike Saturday over a long standing demand for two consecutive days off each week.

The strike action against ITT-Continental was quickly followed by an oven shutdown at American and Interstate bakeries, where workers were barred from their jobs in retaliation against the walkout.

Industry sources said the strike-lockout would cause some shortages of bakery supplies, but they said it was too soon to predict how serious the shortages would be.

The work week issue is the only one in dispute, but the outcome of the strike will set the pattern for the baking industry throughout the country. Historically, the baking industry has insisted that its workers take one day off at a time during the week so that the public can be assured of receiving fresh bread on grocery shelves.

91 nations OK ocean waste curb

LONDON (UPI) — Ninety-one nations reached agreement today on a new international convention to control the dumping of wastes at sea. Agreement came after an all-night session.

The delegates from 79 countries and observers from 12 others argued final details into the small hours this morning. The conference, which began Oct. 30, was to have ended last Friday, but was extended after last-minute disagreement.

The convention, which must be ratified by individual governments, stipulated which substances could be dumped freely at sea, and which should be dumped only under strict control as to quantity and location. The agreement broadly follows American legislation which President Nixon signed into law on Oct. 20.

The sources said the treaty is "expected to prohibit the dumping anywhere at sea of heavy metals such as mercury and cadmium, both highly toxic."

The treaty would require subscribing nations to refuse navigation permits to ships carrying noxious wastes through their territorial waters if there were grounds for suspecting they planned to dump the materials, the sources said.

FBI irks passengers

MIAMI (UPI)—Thirty-one jetliner crew and passengers returned from Cuba Sunday night and one of the longest and most bizarre hijackings in history. Some of them were bitterly critical of FBI attempts to abort the hijacking with gunfire.

The return flight from Cuba was made aboard another jetliner flown to Havana after the hijacked Southern Airways plane skidded to a landing on bullet-riddled tires. Three passengers were injured jumping from the crippled airliner, which had criss-crossed North America while three black hijackers tried to collect $10 million ransom and speak personally with President Nixon.

The hijackers got a reported $2 million in ransom, which apparently was confiscated by Cuban officials after they landed in Havana.

The copilot, Billy Harold Johnson, 37, of College City, Ark., said he was shot in the left arm by the hijackers after FBI marksmen tried to prevent the plane from taking off from Orlando, Fla., Saturday night.

"This really provoked the hijackers. They ordered me to stand up in one of the seats so they could shoot me," said Johnson. "They told me they were going to kill me in front of everyone to make an example of the thing." Johnson squirmed between the cockpit seats for protection but was wounded in the arm. The hijackers then left him alone, he said.

A passenger, J. Frank Robinson, 47, St. Petersburg, Fla., said "everything was okay until then (the FBI shooting)." "Everybody kept his cool. But when that happened, none of us knew what was going to happen next."

The two, Henry D. Jackson Jr., 25, and Louis Moore, 27, both of Detroit, and a third man, Melvin C. Cale, 22, a fugitive from a Tennessee prison, were being held in Havana after the plane landed there Sunday following an arduous odyssey that took them back and forth across the United States.

"I believe they thought the law was too slow and hijacking was a faster way to get what they thought they deserved," Cale said of Jackson and Moore's attempts to win a suit they filed against the city.

The suit accused police of kidnapping and assaulting them in March, 1971, after they were arrested in a bar.

US sees new peace delay

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House said today that more than one additional negotiating session in Paris will be needed before a Vietnam cease-fire agreement can be wrapped up.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said both Hanoi and Saigon may insist on extension of the talks involving presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Ziegler refused to confirm or deny reports that Kissinger would go to Paris later this week for another session with L. Duc Tho, Hanoi's chief negotiator.

But, in an indication that a Vietnam cease-fire was not as near as the administration previously indicated, he said: "After such a meeting further consultations will be required with the South Vietnamese and perhaps with the North Vietnamese."

Ziegler's comments came as President Nixon strided a stay of more than a week at his Camp David, Md., retreat, to consider the Vietnam peace efforts and to work out details of his post-election reorganization of the bureaucracy.

Kissinger stayed in Washington to meet his chief deputy, Gen. Alexander Haig, on his return this afternoon from talks with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, before both flew to Camp David for Haig's first-hand report to the President.

Ziegler's remarks about the additional negotiations required for a settlement suggested that the negotiations had hit some snags. In confirming reports that a nine-point peace plan was imminent, Kissinger said on Oct. 26:

Ellsberg appeal rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today opened the way for an early resumption of the trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo Jr., under indictment in Los Angeles for theft of the Pentagon Papers.

The Court in a brief order rejected their bid for an open hearing on whether their right to a fair trial has been impaired by government eavesdropping. Justice William O. Douglas dissented to the action.

The Justice Department has acknowledged that a conversation of one of the defendants' lawyers was overheard through an unauthorized wiretap. But U.S. District Judge W. Matt Byrne Jr. and the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals—after being shown the intercept—ruled it had nothing whatever to do with the Ellsberg case.

Douglas on July 19 delayed the trial of the two men until their claim could be dealt with by the high court.

Ellsberg and Russo are charged with conspiracy, theft of government property and violations of the espionage act in connection with leaking the Vietnam papers to the press in 1971. A jury had been selected and opening statements were coming up when the Douglas order was issued.

Douglas said the government told him in oral argument that the telephones of neither the defendants nor their attorneys were tapped. But one or more conversations of an attorney were intercepted via a tap in the "foreign" field, not under a court order but only on authorization by the attorney general.

The Saigon newspaper Tin Song, believed to reflect the views of President Nguyen Van Thieu, said today Thieu's weekend discussions with White House peace envoy Gen. Alexander Haig "have not made any progress." American sources were more optimistic.

The American sources said Haig, who arrives in Washington today from Seoul, is carrying a letter for President Nixon giving Nixon conditional approval to sign an agreement with North Vietnam that would permit the return of U.S. prisoners of war and let South Vietnam settle its differences later.

The sources said Thieu told Nixon the American position could go ahead and work out a settlement with the Communists to help free American prisoners of war as long as it did not compromise South Vietnam's position.

There have been persistent reports that Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's No. 1 security adviser would return to Paris soon for a "last" round of negotiations with the North Vietnamese, but it was believed he would await Haig's return.

Kissinger spent a private weekend in New York attending the theater and a football game.

Phase II year old

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's Phase II program of flexible economic controls, which is one year old today, will not be ended "precipitously," according to an administration official.

Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson pointed out Sunday that Nixon has until next April 30, when the Economic Stabilization Act expires, to make a decision on whether to remove controls on prices and wages.

"My own view is that I have heard nothing to suggest that he is going to end the controls precipitously," Peterson said. "I think the very criteria he set up are the ones he is going to use to decide what to do in the future, so I would not expect an immediate decision on that and in any event, of course, it is his decision."

Nixon imposed rigid controls in a surprise announcement Aug. 15, 1971, and switched to the flexible Phase II program in November of last year. Here are some examples of how prices have fared since Phase II began:

—Pork chops, up 20 per cent.
—Flour, down 2 per cent.
—Property taxes, up 11 per cent.

—Prescription drugs, down 1 per cent.
—Girl's cotton dresses, up 11 per cent.

—Tubless tires, down 2 per cent.

Administration officials said in a year-end review they felt the controls had accomplished several significant goals despite jumps in prices of some items. The officials said prices had not risen as fast under controls as they did before the controls were imposed, and they said no one expected prices to stop going up at all.

Peterson was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers." The commerce secretary argued that the controls had been successful because "we are now leading the world with the lowest rate of inflation of any country."

Peterson said Nixon "most emphatically" wants in the long-term to return to a free system, but "he certainly doesn't want to let the conditions reoccur that caused him the problem in the first place."

Disaster probe opens

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—A four-man Coast Guard board of inquiry opens its investigation today into last week's collision of an 11,500-ton sea-going freighter with a drawbridge crowded with motorists.

At least 10 persons were killed when the freighter African Neptune toppled a 450-foot section of the Sidney Lanier Bridge Tuesday night. Rescue workers in Brunswick were waiting the arrival of a giant crane which they hope will speed recovery of debris from the Brunswick River.

Rear Adm. James W. Moreau, commander of the Coast Guard Reserve division in Washington, heads the four-man board of inquiry that will look into the accident.

Goldwater aids hunting victim

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—A Gladstone, Mo., youth injured in a hunting accident in western Kansas Saturday was flown to Kansas City by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., following Goldwater's response to a request for assistance while he was piloting his private jet home from Wichita.

The boy, Tommy Essman, 14, was shot while pheasant hunting near Goodland, Kan. He was transferred to Hays, Kan., where doctors determined he should be sent to Reseach Hospital in Kansas City.

The Federal Aviation Administration Flight Service in Russell, Kan., contacted the Kansas City Air Route Traffic Control Center and asked that any aircraft in the vicinity be messaged for assistance.

When the message went out, Goldwater's Lear jet was over Ponca City, Okla. Goldwater responded to the call, and was cleared for a direct flight to Russell, where he picked up the boy and his grandfather, Earl Dearing, of Kansas City, Kan.

Dearing said later he was unaware the pilot of the plane was the well-known conservative senator until a hospital employee informed him.

Ulster car driver shot

BELFAST (UPI) — British troops shot the driver of a hijacked car to death in a Belfast gun battle today, the army said.

A mobile patrol in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area spotted a car hijacked by two men earlier in Donegall Road and gave chase.

Suddenly a rifle poked from the window of the fugitive vehicle and two shots were fired at the patrol, an army spokesman said.

The troops fired back, the car swerved, a tire burst and the car crashed. One man fell dead from the car and a second fled up a side road.

A hostile crowd scuffled with troops as they tried to pursue the man who fled and to approach the crashed vehicle. One soldier suffered a cut on the head.

The death raised the overall fatality toll in three years of Northern Ireland violence to 620.

Roman Catholics said today they have formed a new paramilitary vigilante force to defend their homes from Protestant attack.

At the same time, authorities announced Sunday was the first violence-free day in Northern Ireland since Aug. 1 when British troops tightened their campaign against Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists in guerrilla strongholds.

But police cautioned both Protestants and Catholics to beware of a possible wave of assassinations in Northern Ireland following the Saturday killing of a Catholic shopkeeper.

The victim, Gerald Kelly, 60, was the province's 628th fatality in three years of violence and the 72nd victim of sectarian assassinations since July.

Quake jars S. Mexico

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — The National Earthquake Information Center here said early today it had recorded a quake with an intensity of 6.6 on the Richter scale but was unable to pinpoint its center "at this time."

James Lander, chief of the center said, the earthquake occurred at 9:43 p.m. EST Sunday, probably near the southern part of Mexico near the Guatemalan border. Lander said that although 6.6 on the open-ended Richter scale was a potentially destructive earthquake if it occurred within a metropolitan location.

Question...

My dearest friend has just lost her husband. How can I help her in her grief?

Answer...

Religious and medical experts appear to agree six ways you may help:

1. Assure your friend her situation is not unique.
2. Don't pretend nothing has changed — it has!
3. Encourage her to talk about her loss.
4. Remind her of the benefits her husband gave his family and the contributions he made to his community.
5. Don't try to do this alone. Enlist the aid of family, friends and professionals.
6. Remember your role is that of friend — not counselor.

Navy seeks shore posts for rebels

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Navy tried today to find acceptable jobs on shore for a group of rebel black sailors who staged an unprecedented walk-out last week from the crew of the aircraft carrier USS Constellation.

The personnel crisis on the carrier led the head of the service, Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, to deliver a tongue-lashing in Washington to a group of more than 80 top-ranking officers. With his words also aimed at others throughout the Navy, he blamed the trouble on the failure of commanders in the system to carry out his orders to eliminate racial discrimination.

The Navy said it would begin "counseling sessions" today for 123 dissidents, who have been assigned to three naval air stations in the San Diego area. The goal of the sessions, a spokesman said, will be "defining and solving problems, not explaining them away."

The rebel sailors complained of racial discrimination in job assignments, discipline, performance ratings and administrative discharges given sailors with poor work records.

The sailors did not escape punishment entirely.

Capt. Robert P. McKenzie, commanding officer of the North Island Naval Station, the Constellation's home port, held captain's mast sessions during the weekend to discipline 64 of the group, and similar proceedings were believed to be scheduled for the rest of the men.

The Navy would not identify the men involved, nor say what their punishments were. But in the non-judicial hearings, which are not recorded in a serviceman's permanent personnel record — the most severe punishment the captain can impose is to dock a man half a month's salary, payable over a two month period.

The incident drew fire from Adm. U. S. Grant Sharp, the retired former commander of Navy forces in the Pacific during the escalation of carrier-based air attacks on North Vietnam in the 1960s. The Constellation was part of the attack force.

"There is no place in the military organization for anyone who won't adhere to discipline," said Sharp.

Sharp's comments were made in an interview with the Los Angeles Times, which said they were believed to reflect "the view of hard-line Navy officers who are afraid to speak out against the liberalized policies laid down in Washington by Admiral Zumwalt."

Younger drivers sober?

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho State Police Superintendent L. Clark Hand says since 19-year-olds have been permitted to legally drink alcohol there has been no increase in arrests of drunken drivers in that age bracket.

The 19- and 20-year-olds have been allowed to drink legally since last July 1, Hand said, "that group has a low incidence of drunken driving arrests."

According to a state police study by Hand and Lt. Richard Foote, in the Jan. 1-Aug. 31 period of this year only 19 of the 19-year-olds were arrested for drunken driving. The survey said an arrested drunk driver is more than three times as likely to be over age 24.

Foote said, "As far as legalized drinking and drunken driving by 19-year-olds, we can't see any correlation."

Nov. 11 observance sought by veterans

BOISE (UPI) — Some veterans groups in Idaho think Congress took away the meaning of Veterans Day when it set the celebration for the fourth Monday in October.

There is a movement afoot to change the holiday back to Nov. 11.

Larry Evans, a Boise veteran of both world wars, says the major state veteran groups have formed a legislative council to come up with legislation to return Armistice Day to its real anniversary. Those groups include the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

Evans said since the government changed the name Armistice Day to Veterans Day and the holiday to October, "it's lost all meaning."

He said many veterans felt congress passed the bill to make Veterans Day the fourth Monday of October "just so they could go home for a long holiday weekend."

"They weren't really thinking of the true meaning of Armistice Day," Evans said.

Oklahoma, Illinois and Georgia, Evans said, all refused the congressional change and passed bills to revert back to Nov. 11.

1,100 GI's leave

SAIGON (UPI) — The number of U.S. servicemen stationed in South Vietnam dropped by 1,100 last week, leaving 31,100 American troops still in the war zone, the U.S. Command reported today.

Not included are 39,000 men with the U.S. 7th Fleet off the coast of Vietnam or the 69,000 marines on bases in Thailand and Guam.

President Nixon has ordered U.S. troop strength in Vietnam cut to 27,000 by Dec. 1.

The 1,100 men sent home last week included 900 from the army, 100 from the Navy and 100 from the Air Force.

Last week's total of 31,100 is the lowest number of American servicemen in South Vietnam since March 31, 1965, when there were 29,100.

The remaining troops include 18,100 soldiers, 1,700 sailors, 1,300 marines, 9,900 airmen and 100 coast guardsmen. In addition, there are 38,500 troops from other allied nations fighting in South Vietnam, mostly South Koreans.

Slaying suspect held

BOISE (UPI) — Gary R. Anabugh, 39, a suspect in the fatal shooting of a Boise man, was to be arraigned in magistrate court today on a charge of first degree murder.

Anabugh turned himself in to Ada County authorities Sunday night after he arranged a meeting with a sheriff's sergeant. Sheriff Paul Bright said Anabugh called his office about 7:45 p.m. and asked to talk to Sgt. Ed Barnes.

The suspect was sought on a first degree murder warrant in connection with the killing of Dominic Michael Scrima — 43, about 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

An autopsy at St. Alphonsus hospital revealed the victim had been shot once in the chest with a 22-caliber pistol.

The sheriff said Anabugh was seen on the outskirts of Boise shortly after the shooting, and an all points bulletin was issued for the car he was believed to be driving.

After a day-long search in the area by sheriff's deputies, Bright's office received a telephone call from Anabugh.

He agreed to turn himself in to Sgt. Barnes — apparently he had confidence in him," Bright said, adding Barnes and known Anabugh in the past through office work.

"He asked the sergeant to go to a telephone and give him a number where Barnes could be contacted," Bright said.

"He talked to the sergeant later and agreed to give himself up," but Barnes insisted another officer, detective Mike Roberts, be with him. Anabugh agreed.

The suspect, he said, agreed to meet Barnes on Franklin Road, and at 8:04 p.m. and was picked up by the officers.

Competitor takes aim Marbles play draws 150

TWIN FALLS — About 150 youngsters participated Saturday in a marble tournament at the O'Leary Junior High School playground.

Sponsored by the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club and the YMCA-YWCA, the tournament was held in age group divisions, and is so new even the players weren't sure of the procedure until they lined up at the chalk marked circle courts.

The event began at 1 p.m. with an elimination type program in which each loser was given a small bag of marbles. Winners stayed to play other winners until a single winner in each division was named.

The winner of Division A, for fourth, fifth and sixth grade shooters, was Jay Hartman. Winner among the first, second and third graders was Brian Anderson.

Charles Upton, YMCA executive secretary, presented each with a trophy. Winners of each grade group received a ribbon.

Hearings on waste rule set

BOISE (UPI) — A series of public meetings are scheduled for this month around the state on proposals for alterations in the state's solid waste management rules.

The changes, proposed by the Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health, include upgrading of standards so that no more community dumps will be allowed. All sites will be expected to meet requirements of a sanitary landfill operation.

Bob Olson, a solid waste management specialist with the department, said under certain circumstances a conditional use permit may be authorized for disposal sites which are operated below standards of a sanitary landfill.

Hearings are scheduled for Coeur d'Alene Thursday, Moscow Friday, Nov. 21 in Caldwell, Nov. 22 in Pocatello and Idaho Falls, and Nov. 30 in Twin Falls.

Date set for move

BOISE (UPI) — Feb. 5 is the target date for the move to the new Boise Public Library in the Salt Lake Hardware Building.

Vicki Armstrong, community services librarian, said four times as much room will be available in the new building, and for the first time, Boise's public library will have more than adequate space for its books.

The building, when completely finished, will have conference rooms and a 300-seat auditorium facing eighth street, available to outside groups.

Landing anatomy topic for pilot safety meet

TWIN FALLS — The University Medical School as well as the Naval Aviation School of Medicine. He is a licensed flight instructor, a retired lieutenant commander in the United States Navy and an honorary Blue Angel.

He will give a step by step review of the physiological input pilots must accept, interpret and act upon to make consistently good landings. A new U. S. Air Force film on short field landings will be shown.

Jack Van DeRiet, Boise, FAA accident prevention specialist, will conduct the session starting at 7:30 p.m. He said the meeting will also include a discussion of the medical aspects of flying, emphasizing "the pilot, not the machine."

This is the second of a series of aviation safety seminars to be held in Twin Falls.

Offices entered

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls sheriff's deputies are investigating an early morning break-in today at Reeder Flying Service Inc. at the Twin Falls City-County Airport.

A call to the sheriff's office shortly after 8 a.m. today reported the break-in had occurred sometime Sunday night.

John Reeder, son of the establishment's owner, said a small amount of money was taken.

Other sources said entrance was gained into the building through a door in the structure. The break-in was noticed when work crews reported to work between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. today.

WASHINGTON — As a first order of business in his second Administration, President Nixon will replace Richard Kleindienst as Attorney General — a move with profound symbolic overtones. The fact that former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell is now privately counselling Mr. Nixon to put a non-political lawyer of unimpeachable integrity in charge at the Justice Department is highly significant. It was Mitchell as Mr. Nixon's top adviser — tough, inflexible, arbitrary on civil liberties and Supreme Court appointments — who set the tone and style of the first Nixon administration. Now he wants a change.

Mitchell's confidential advice to the President makes good political sense. Nowhere is an Administration's style and tone established so clearly than at Justice, with its vast powers over law and order, business, labor and race relations and in setting the moral climate of any Administration.

Moreover, ominous shadows from the Watergate and attendant espionage scandals have shrouded the Administration since last June. The Watergate trial and Congressional investigations will make headlines for months as Mr. Nixon sets about organizing his second term.

To erase the Watergate taint, some highly placed Republicans outside the Administration are privately advising every White House and Nixon campaign official implicated in the scandal — the innocent along with the guilty — must be dismissed. Mr. Nixon is not willing to go along with such radical house-cleaning. But some new faces at Justice might be another matter.

As Mitchell views it, an unimpeachable Attorney General is essential to remove any political taint from the Administration's conduct during the Watergate trial and the Capitol Hill probes. That eliminates the highly political and highly controversial Kleindienst, sworn in as Attorney General June 12 after a bitter battle for Senate confirmation.

When the Washington Post reported Oct. 20 that Kleindienst might be eased out as Attorney General, he privately laughed it off to fellow Administration officials and advised he would be around for another year. Since then, however, he has been fighting to stay another six months. The decision, subject to change, is for Kleindienst to leave as soon as possible — preferably by the first of the year, certainly by the end of February.

Less certain is his successor. Mitchell's formula would eliminate two — prime contenders: Clark MacGregor, who succeeded Mitchell as Mr. Nixon's national campaign manager soon after the Watergate bugging, and White Justice domestic policy chief John Ehrlichman, who wants the job. MacGregor denies he has made any decision, but intimates reveal he has virtually decided on a lucrative job in private industry. Although they are close personal friends, Mitchell believes MacGregor's campaign role — even though it followed Watergate — would make him a political liability at Justice. Ehrlichman is still a contender. But if Mitchell's advice is followed he will be given some lesser Cabinet post.

A climate of political morality at the top of the Justice Department could also help blunt the edge of toughness and meanness that marked so much of the first Nixon administration. It would be a vital part of any serious effort by the President to hold at least part of the so-called "new majority" gained on Tuesday.

Indeed, one purpose of a high-level meeting at Key Biscayne planned for immediately after the election is to study ways to convert Tuesday's one-day majority into something more permanent. The AFL-CIO political ceasefire imposed by president George Meany after the conventions last summer, for example, is a true Mr. Nixon very much wants to continue. Apart from its help in critically important contract negotiations coming up, a new relationship between the Republican administration and labor is essential if Mr. Nixon is to hold some of the blue-collar vote that turned out for him in record numbers Tuesday.

But to achieve this, Mr. Nixon must solve a basic political problem: the symbol of pro-big business sleaziness in his first term. That symbol has been most unpleasantly clear in the Department of Justice.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Locked Jaws

Dear Dr. Thosteson: At times when my granddaughter yawns, her jaws lock. Last week it was an hour before she got relief. Her family doctor doesn't know what to do for her. — Mrs. H. M. S.

The first step should be to see the dentist. About 25 per cent of problems of locking or clicking of the jaws are due to faulty occlusion or "bite" — the teeth don't come together properly, and the jaw gets out of alignment to compensate for it. Result: the jaw joint can give trouble. Dentists can correct the biting surfaces to get rid of this trouble.

In other cases there can be a weakness of the jaw muscles on one side. Exercises moving the jaw, and biting against resistance frequently help. Finally, an X-ray of the jaw joint is in order, to make sure there is no deformity.

The situation should be checked soon, since recurring dislocation of the jaw can cause a stretching of the joint capsule of the jaw and lead to frequent discomfort as time goes on.

In older folks (which I assume your granddaughter is not) arthritic changes can be a factor in such troubles.

High blood pressure can be controlled. To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, get "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. To obtain a copy of this helpful booklet, write to him in care of this newspaper enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I couldn't plant spring flowering bulbs, this year, knowing that I would be bringing them into a world of ugliness!"

COMMENT Getting Addicted

A funny thing happened on the way to Phase III of the economic stabilization program. A lot of people have come to like the idea of a controlled economy. In fact, a Gallup Poll last March indicated that 53 per cent of the public favored stiffer government management of wages and prices. C. Jackson Grayson, Jr., the surprised chairman of the Price Commission, wrote that even a majority of businessmen seems to want (controls) continued.

The Pay Board and the Price Commission may be popular but there is a difference of expert opinion about their worth. Between January and August 1972, prices rose at an annual rate of 3.5 per cent — slightly less than the 3.8 per cent rise a year earlier. But the rate of inflation had been in steady decline for 21 months before controls were imposed first in August of 1972.

According to some economists, the controllers were simply riding an economic trend. If so, it may be coming to an end. Wholesale prices are holding steady but consumer prices spurted four-tenths of one per cent during September alone. And the price increases in the July-September period would produce an inflationary rate of 6.6 per cent if they continued for a year.

FOR THE RECORD, the economic stabilization program began Aug. 15, 1972, with Phase I, a three-month freeze of prices and wages. Phase II, the era of controls, was launched with the announced goal of cutting inflation to between 2 and 3 per cent by the end of 1972.

The Price Commission elected to accomplish this by regulating profit margins rather than actual prices. The Pay Board, meanwhile, established a "general pay standard" limiting wage increases to 5.5 per cent a year.

From the beginning, both agencies progressively narrowed the focus of concern. Today, they concentrate largely on big companies and big unions. Nearly half of all workers — including all federal government employees and all those earning less than $2.75 an hour — are exempt from control. The Price Commission controls the prices of goods and services which account for only 55 per cent of the Consumer Price Index.

There is considerable controversy among the controllers themselves about whether their mandate should be extended past the April 30 expiry date. Grayson is on record as advocating the demise of controls at the earliest possible moment. But Rocco C. Siciliano, a Pay Board member, believes business will be under the "heavy hand of government, from now on perhaps."

Neil H. Jacoby, another board member, has called not only for an extension but for a tightening of controls. "The strong public interest in the elimination of inflation requires that the general pay standard should be reduced to around 4 per cent," he says.

Rising interest rates and a bulging federal deficit — sure inflationary signals — indicate the controllers will face more serious challenges in 1973 than they did in 1972. Labor agreements covering 4.5 million workers will be up for renegotiation during the year. The sad but necessary prospect, in other words, is for more and stiff controls.

Quality Of Mercy

Portland Oregonian

There is no pat formula that sets out proper procedures for dealing with terroristic forays such as the airplane hijacking of a West German airliner Sunday as a device to secure the release of three Arab commandos accused of taking part in the Munich Olympic massacre.

Israel asserts that its hard line, no deals approach is the only approach that discourages terrorism. It notes that with the exception of the Lod Airport massacre and boarder attacks, terrorism is absent within its borders and the occupied territories.

Hence, it says the terrorists have in recent years confined their activities to attacks on Israelis abroad, to the hijacking of aircraft belonging to western countries and to sabotage attempts against industrial plants in Germany, Holland and Italy.

That may be so, but the Federal Republic of Germany does not consider itself at war with the Arab nations and so, in this instance of air piracy, felt it had to strike a balance between humanism and terrorism. It chose to save the lives of 20 innocent, uninvolved people at the cost of allowing three presumably guilty people to escape the criminal justice system.

Following the experience at Munich on Sept. 5 when, after following the Israeli lead on how to deal with the terrorists, 11 Israeli athletes were slaughtered anyway, it is understandable that the German government now desires to follow its own instinct, to choose in favor of mercy rather than in favor of more butchery.

Yet, the debate over whose approach is correct, Israel's or Germany's, is transient and probably futile so long as there are nations, such as Libya, who are anxious to give sanctuary to terrorists.

No To Yes

Christian Science Monitor
 Norwegians, who turned down membership in the European Common Market in a referendum six weeks ago, are now beginning to wish they hadn't.

A recent opinion poll shows a remarkable swing in favor of joining the market. Of those questioned, 55 percent supported market entry to 45 against. In the September referendum 53.6 percent voted against joining and 46.4 in favor.

It was generally expected that in time support for the market would grow, but few thought the swing of the pendulum would come so soon. Apparently the Danish referendum, held one week after Norway's and resulting in a strong majority in favor of entry, caused many second thoughts among Norwegian voters. Had the Danish vote been held first, the result in Norway could well have been a "yes" for entry. Last month's summit conference in Paris of leaders of the expanded market also heightened the Norwegians' impression of being left out.

One cannot help feeling that the Norwegians never really understood the issues involved in the referendum. This was due in large part to the strident campaign of the antimarket forces, who whipped up emotions in a way extraordinary for a people usually as placid as the Norwegians.

However, it will always be possible for Norway to reapply for membership, and, if the opinion swing is confirmed, that day may come sooner than seemed likely six weeks ago.

Apathy Wins

WASHINGTON — APATHY WINS IN LANDSLIDE? was the headline in Wednesday morning's newspapers.

I went to Apathy's hotel headquarters in hopes of interviewing the winner, but his aides said he was resting. "Did he have a tough night?" I asked.

"No, he's always resting. He sleeps a lot."

Refusing to be put off, I sneaked up to his room and without knocking walked in. Apathy was lying on his bed in his underwear.

"I'm sorry to break in on you," I said apologetically.

Apathy yawned, "I couldn't care less."

"You apparently are the big winner in this election. How do you feel about it?"

"All right, I guess. I really didn't care if I won or not. Frankly, I don't feel any different now than I did before the race."

"That's interesting," I said writing very fast. "What made you enter the campaign in the first place?"

"I was drafted," Apathy said. "Early in the year the pollsters and pundits indicated there was tremendous grassroots support for Apathy in this country. It started when people suddenly realized they might have four more years of Nixon. Then McGovern was nominated in Miami and that put the clincher on it. People came to me and said, 'Apathy, this is your year. Well, I didn't have anything else to do so I agreed to run.'"

"And you did well," I said. "Can you tell me a little about the strategy you used?"

"My strategy was not to do anything. I let McGovern campaign on TV, I let Nixon campaign on radio and I let Agnew and Shriver go all over the country. The more exposure they had the more Apathetic the country became. By Election Day I was 75 points ahead in the polls."

"But surely you did something to lure the country into a false sense of complacency."

"I'm not being modest when I say I didn't make a speech, issue a statement or spend one cent on my campaign. But I got all the press. The columnists and the commentators kept talking about Apathy in this campaign every day. Whorever people gathered to discuss the election, Apathy was the first thing mentioned. Both parties were knocking themselves out for their candidates, but I was the one who got all the exposure."

"I imagine," I said, "you became very nervous when the Watergate bugging scandal broke."

"My staff panicked; they wanted me to do something about it. They were afraid the American people would lose their Apathy after that. But I just told them to sit tight. I knew it was impossible to get the American people shook up about anything any more. And I was right. No matter what came out in the Watergate electorate stayed Apathetic, and I didn't lose a vote."

"Was there any time during the campaign when you felt you were in trouble?"

"The only time I had a scare was when technicians striking against CBS cut the cables before the New York Jets — Washington Redskins game on Sunday."

"For the first time everyone in the country was aroused and lost their Apathy and I was afraid they would remain infuriated until Election Day. But CBS gave them all another football game to watch and everybody went back to sleep."

"Apparently you've been given a mandate by the American people. What do you intend to do with it?"

"Nothing," Apathy said. "If I did anything I'd just shake people up." Mrs. Apathy came into the bedroom in her slip, drinking a can of beer. "How does it feel to be the First Lady of the land?" I asked her. She shrugged and took a sip from the can. "Beats the hell out of me."

ANDREW TULLY

The Cultists

WASHINGTON — It is painful to speak unkindly of a politician when he is down, but Sargent Shriver asked for it. His ringing Election Night declaration to the McGovern faithful that "you are the vanguard of the future," is exceeded in sheer badderdash only by the pronouncement by certain crazy cultists that the world is flat.

Call them reformists or rebels or kooks — the McGovern fanatics have no political future. In the badly shattered Democratic party, the future belongs to the regulars, or perhaps even to the party's right wing. The McGovern wing succeeded only in so manipulating the primaries that a minority candidate was nominated for the Presidency against the toughest and shrewdest politician since Franklin D. Roosevelt. It has nowhere to go but home.

From their firesides, the McGovern troops can watch the Dick Daley, the Ed Muskie, the Hubert Humphreys, the Scoop Jacksons and the Wilbur Millises reclaim control of the party's machinery. You can be sure that John Connally will be in there, too; although he never said he would turn Republican, and indeed, repeatedly emphasized his intention of rescuing the party from George McGovern.

Another Election Night statement suggest the direction the Democratic Party could take.

Alabama Governor George Wallace remarked that the Nixon landslide was "an indication that the people of this country are moving to the position that we thought ought to be the position." Before he was shot down by a would-be assassin, Wallace had polled more votes in the primaries than George McGovern, and thus can claim that he was "right from the start," to steal from McGovern's books.

Wallace's Presidential ambitions almost surely are an exercise in wishful thinking. But he must be reckoned with as he works toward his announced goal of "getting the Democratic Party back to being the party of the average citizen."

It was refreshing to hear George McGovern eschew the hackneyed appeal for all Americans to get behind their President. No defeated candidate ever means that slice of good-losing tripe. But while even die-hard Republicans privately might applaud McGovern's statement that "we do not rally to the support of policies that we disapprove," the South Dakotan's best friends should find it hard to swallow his assertions that he'll be in the thick of reorganizing the Democratic Party.

Nixon's former personnel chief, Frederick V. Malik, who switched over to the President's re-election campaign committee, returns to the White House today to lend a hand in sifting through the resignations and to help Nixon find new men for the old jobs.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues, when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H Ointment or suppositories.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet geologists found diamonds in a 60-mile-wide meteorite crater in northern Siberia, the Tass news agency said. The scientists who explored the "Popigalskaya Depression" concluded that the diamonds were created by high pressure and temperature during the fall of a cosmic body onto the earth. Tass said.

look forward to working with those who opposed us as well as those who supported us in the cause of peace abroad and progress and prosperity at home," Nixon said.

Nevada county plans aid fund

ELY, Nev. (UPI) — The White Pine County Commission will try to help Kennecott Copper Corp. finance up to $20 million worth of pollution control equipment.

A Nevada law permits municipalities to issue industrial revenue bonds to finance business development at no cost to the taxpayers. Kennecott has said it would spend $23 million in Nevada to meet air quality standards, and the $20 million represents that portion which meets requirements for revenue bonding.

Clark County commissioners recently agreed to issue industrial revenue bonds for pollution control equipment at Flintkote Co. in the Las Vegas area. Issuance of those bonds awaits a test suit in the Nevada Supreme Court to determine whether the industrial bonding law is valid. The White Pine County action will be pending until the decision is handed down in the Flintkote case.

W. H. Winn, Kennecott's Nevada Division general manager, said the company is interested in the county's issuing such bonds upon its behalf because of the more favorable interest rates available in the tax-exempt market over conventional long-term corporate bonds. Kennecott has advised the Nevada Environmental Protection Commission that, in order to meet federal and state air quality standards at its McGill Smelter, it plans installation of an acid plant to treat smelter gases, a 750-foot smokestack, a closed loop meteorological monitoring system and a reduction in production.

Power grab charged

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — A Montana official has charged that the Bonneville Power Administration is quietly making plans to transport electric power from southeastern Montana to the West Coast without the required environmental impact statement.

Fletcher Newby, director of the State Environmental Quality Council, said Friday the BPA started planning on the power project as far back as June 1971, but hasn't prepared an impact statement or informed state agencies of its plans.

Newby added that while attention has focused on plans to ship the power from coal fields in southeastern Montana to the Midwest, the BPA has been pinning its hopes for more power on the same coal fields.

Newby said the BPA plans to build transmission lines capable of carrying 500 kilowatts of power generated from Montana coal fields to the West Coast.

He said a BPA report lists three suitable routes for the lines.

Medical women

State auxiliary chief visits TF

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Frank Harms, American Falls, was a special guest at a meeting of the South Central Medical Wives Auxiliary Friday.

The meeting began at 10 a.m. at the home of Dr. Michael Phillips.

Mrs. Harms is the state auxiliary president.

Wives of doctors who are new to the area attending were Mrs. Donald Pica, Mrs. Patrick Desmond, Mrs. Rodney Swarthling, Mrs. John Adamson and Mrs. Stephen Green.

The Women's Auxiliary is a national organization of wives of members of the AMA. It is a non-profit, public service, volunteer organization founded in 1922 to assist physicians in their work of protecting the public health and providing the highest level of medical care.

Last year the Education and Research Fund of the organization made available $51 million to students studying for medical careers.

Mrs. Harms said nutrition will be one of the chief concerns of the auxiliary this year, with special attention to the problems of nutrition of the elderly.

Good Shepherd auxiliary elects

BUHL — Mrs. Don Schroeder, Buhl, was elected president of the Good Shepherd Auxiliary Idaho Unit during the 10th annual meeting Friday at the Clover Lutheran School.

Other officers include Mrs. Herman Martens, Eden, vice president; Mrs. Larry Schwarz, Hazelton, financial secretary, and Mrs. Edwin Lierman, a auxiliary nominating committee.

Rev. T. D. Johnston, pastor of the Clover church and pastoral adviser for the group, gave the opening devotions. Mrs. Lierman gave the welcome and Mrs. Charles Valentine, Kimberly, the response.

Mrs. Arthur Kaster, Hagerman, president of the Idaho unit, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Norman Kettner, Salt Lake City, president of the Good Shepherd Home Auxiliary.

Mrs. Kettner reported the home in Terra Bella, Calif., had 278 beds all filled and a waiting list of 459 names. She said the home at Cornelius, Ore., would be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1973 with 84 beds. A respite home at Apple Valley, Calif., has space for 20 persons needing care only on a part-time basis.

She closed with a prayer given by a resident of the Good Shepherd home for mentally retarded, saying, "Thank you Jesus for the things I've got and thank you for the things I haven't got. Amen."

In other business, the Idaho unit pledged $3,500 to the home for next year. Newly elected officers were installed by Rev. Johnston.

Refreshments were served by women from the Clover church. Following the meeting a handiwork and cooked food sale was conducted netting about $260 for the home.

Abby

Abigail Van Buron

DEAR ABBY: I have had something on my conscience for many years, and because I trust you completely, Abby, the idea of working thru you came to mind.

I am sending you a check for $50. Please cash it, and send the money to: The Reverend Robert Holbrook of the East Avenue United Methodist Church in York, Neb.

Please tell him that the money is for the Ladies Missionary Society. Here is my story:

I grew up in York, Neb., during the depression, and we never had a spare nickel for extras. My parents were active in church work, and on several occasions I would take a nickel or a dime out of the collection fund before it was counted. I doubt if the amount I took came to $10, and I'm sure it was never missed.

Medical wives

Our family left Nebraska many years ago, and altho I have prayed for forgiveness, I want to make restitution now.

Please don't disclose my name as it might embarrass my family. Very truly yours,

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Your instructions have been carried out to the letter. God bless you. It's never too late.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to remarry my ex-husband. Our children are 8, 6, and 5. We were divorced two years ago after almost 10 years of marriage. We've both learned a lot from our mistakes and feel this time we can make a go of it.

The first time we were married at the City Hall by a Justice of the Peace. The whole thing took 15 minutes and there was nothing spiritual or beautiful about it.

Now, I want to have a lovely church wedding with all the trimmings. Does that sound strange to you? I mean with a white gown and veil, which I know only virgins should wear, and altho I earned the right to wear it the first time, we couldn't afford it. My husband was (and is) the only man in my life, and I still feel entitled to wear white. Am I wrong? My husband says it's up to me. What do you say?

CHURCH BELLS OR NOT

DEAR BELLS: I say you're entitled! Let those bells ring out, and I wish you every happiness.

DEAR ABBY: I don't have a problem, but I do have a question. Why do some people think they have to pay for everything?

I make my living as a deputy sheriff, but I belong to several volunteer organizations because I love to help people. I am captain of a Rescue Squad and First-Aid crew, a member of the Civil Defense Disaster Team, I'm a member of the Volunteer Fire Department and chairman of the County Highway Safety Commission. I am also a first aid instructor for the Red Cross and Boy Scouts.

Whenever I've performed some kind of volunteer service, it really gets to me when somebody asks, "How much do I owe you?"

LIKES TO HELP

DEAR LIKES: Don't let it bother you. Most people think they should express their gratitude in dollars and cents. I'm reminded of a clergyman who wrote to say that his pet peeve was the bridegroom who asks, after the marriage ceremony, "How much do I owe you?" The clergyman said he was often tempted to reply, "How much was it worth to you?"

DEAR ABBY: I shall never forget the memorial service I attended for the slain Israeli Olympic athletes. The young rabbi delivered an eulogy worthy of an international literary prize. I also thought of the noble Scandinavians who left a gap in which there was no fair chance for Israel. Altho the Norwegians sacrificed the opportunity to win medals for athletic prowess, they deserved a medal for human decency and fair play.

MARGARET KISH, SALEM, VA.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 37700, L. A., CALIF. 90009 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Oswald: "The 'nothing' play is any play which can only cost you a trick. It differs from a bid percentage play in that a bid percentage play will win on occasion."

Jim: "I see you are leading up to a hand where there are three ways to play the trump suit in a slam contract. The bad percentage play is to lay down the ace and try to drop a singleton king. This will gain a trick for you the 13 per cent of the time that the singleton king is back of the ace. It breaks even the 13 per cent of the time that the singleton king is in front of the ace and it loses the 37 per cent of the time that the guarded king is in front of the ace."

Oswald: "The 'nothing' play occurs when you miss king-10-small as with today's hand. When actually played, South won the heart lead in dummy and played a low spade. East played the seven and South finessed the jack. West showed out and South had no way to avoid the loss of a trump trick as well as the ace of diamonds."

Jim: "Had South led dummy's queen of spades and won with the ace if East played high he would have been able to go back to dummy and finesse against East's 10-spot. The queen play would guard against the 3-0 break."

Modern parable about trucker, young woman

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
This is a modern parable which happens to be true. If it reminds you of Jesus' famous parable of the Good Samaritan, perhaps that indicates human nature really hasn't changed much in the past 2,000 years.

Not long ago, a man named Harold Martin, 25 years old, was driving a big truck along Interstate Highway 20 near Columbia, S.C.

The truck collided with another vehicle, turned over, and burst into flames. A lot of cars which had been whizzing along the interstate highway stopped. People got out and lined the highway to watch the excitement. They saw Martin lying half-conscious, unable to move, near the cab of his burning truck. But no one in the crowd of spectators—which included many able-bodied young men—would risk going to Martin's aid.

Woman Arrives
They were afraid, they explained later to police, that the burning truck might explode and they would be engulfed in a fiery holocaust. So they kept a safe distance away—and let Martin lie there, helpless.

Then a young woman, Mrs. Naomi Clinton of Camden, S.C., arrived at the scene of the accident. Her reaction also was one of horror—but it wasn't horror about what might happen to her.

"I saw that poor guy lying right by the truck," she told a reporter later. "The flames were really terrific, and everybody seemed to be just standing around talking about it and not doing anything to help him."

Saves Man's Life
"I didn't stop to think about danger. I just started down to that truck. Several people tried to stop me, but you can't see a human being need help and do nothing about it."

Mrs. Clinton grabbed Martin's shoulders and dragged him away from the burning truck to the side of the embankment leading up to the highway. A few men then came over and helped her carry Martin to safety.

An ambulance arrived shortly. Martin was taken to a Columbia hospital and he is recovering from third degree burns. Mrs. Clinton received treatment for singed hair and burns on her arms and neck.

On Interstate 20, it was a woman who had the guts to walk up to a burning truck and drag its driver to safety, while a crowd of men stood around fearing for their own hides.

Ex-dictator Juan Peron returns to Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Juan Domingo Peron, the charismatic leader of Argentina's still "shirtless" masses, returns from exile this week with the blessing of the armed forces that booted him from dictatorial power and the country 17 years ago.

But his will not be a triumphal return, political sources said, and the 72-year-old founder of the Fascist-like political movement that bears his name probably will not be given a chance to rouse a public multitude with his oratory as he used to do during his 10 years in power from 1945 until 1955.

In fact, Peron is not expected to remain long in his homeland. Perhaps he will be here only three days, the sources said. At the most, he will remain two months.

The Justicialista party, political arm of the Peronist Movement, he founded more than a quarter century ago, has nominated him for president in elections scheduled for next March. They will restore constitutional, democratic government to this South American nation after six years of military rule and economic mismanagement.

Peron will address the nation by radio and television, and at that time he is expected to decline the presidential nomination and name another as his choice for nomination by his followers.

President Alejandro Lanusse, an army general, will be addressing a gathering of Latin American labor ministers about the time of Peron's arrival on Friday. Pointedly, he will depart later in the day for the provinces to inaugurate public works and be away from the capital for at least three days.

Lanusse, although he was principally responsible for clearing the way for Peron's return, has bitter memories of the dictatorship. At the time, he was an anti-Peronist, an armed captain, and he was cashiered for rebellion and spent more than four years in prison under Peron.

A candidate endorsed by Peron would be expected to win on the first ballot by an absolute majority or, if not then, for sure, in the second

British patrols hire sprinters to catch youths

BEELFAST (UPI) — Sprinters dressed in gym suits and tennis shoes have been assigned to some British patrols to run down the leaders of rock-throwing Northern Irish youths, army sources said Saturday.

"The soldiers could not catch them because they were slowed down by their equipment so we decided to use runners instead," one source said.

The sprinters were recruited from among physical education instructors and soldiers with good track records in sporting events. They carry no weapons and work openly with troops patrolling urban trouble spots.

Sources said the runners have already nabbed two ringleaders in the Catholic Shallow area on the edge of Londonderry and expect other successes.

In another development, army spokesmen said the intelligence officer captured in Belfast Friday completely destroyed the command structure of the 3rd battalion of the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

A month ago they had 10 officers in the battalion. Now they have none," he said. "We have captured them all."

The officer, Raymond Shields, was the 100th IRA officer caught by the British since the start of a roundup on Aug. 1. Security officials said this drive could force the Provisionals to disband some of their units because of a lack of leadership.

Information leading to many of these arrests have come from informers within the Catholic community, the officials said. Others arose from undercover work by army agents assigned to the military reaction force.

Northern Ireland was relatively quiet Saturday with only one man reported injured in the sectarian violence between Catholics and Protestants that has disrupted the region for three years.

The wounded man, an off-duty private in the Ulster militia, said he was shot in the hand by men firing from a passing car as he walked near Belfast.

In another incident, a woman customer broke up a post office robbery by two armed men on the Springfield road. Police said the men fled when the unidentified woman attacked them with her umbrella.

Mexican guards held in escape

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — Seven prison guards were detained Saturday on suspicion of aiding the escape of a Los Angeles man charged with possession of more than 200 pounds of pure heroin and cocaine.

Police said the guards are being questioned about the escape of Federico Carrasco Gomez, a Mexican-American who was arrested with seven others Sept. 25 in his Guadalajara home with a shipment of drugs valued at millions of dollars.

Jorge Rubio Lazano, warden of the Jalisco state penitentiary from which Carrasco fled Friday, said the prisoner probably paid some of the guards to help him escape.

"That's the theory we're working on," Rubio said. "I don't see how he could have gotten out any other way." He said there were no signs of break anywhere and the prison and the way Carrasco escaped is still a mystery.

"We don't know anything definite at this moment," Rubio said.

He said the seven guards along with some prisoners who might have information about the escape are being interrogated Saturday by state investigators and agents from the federal attorney general's department.

"This is an international affair, because this guy was one of the biggest dope smugglers ever arrested in Mexico," according to the prison director.

Chile picks up news copy

SANTIAGO (UPI) — By order of the government, foreign news agencies operating in Chile are now required to provide the presidential palace with copies of all news dispatches sent abroad.

An advisory notice that the agencies would be required to do so was sent out last Thursday by Juan Ibáñez Elgueta, press secretary to President Salvador Allende.

The advisory said the palace would send a messenger to the agencies to pick up the dispatches twice a day, beginning Friday. Early Friday evening the first pickups were made. Saturday morning the palace messenger made his second collection of news copy.

The pickups are presumably intended to go on indefinitely. The government is obliging the agencies to provide the copy under a security law which dates back to 1937. Subsequent decrees based on the law date back to World War II, legal experts here said.

Ibáñez Elgueta, when questioned by phone by UPI as to why the government was imposing this regulation now, said the purpose was to help the Allende administration keep its ambassadors abroad better informed about what news was being sent abroad.

Chicago blacks failed Demos

CHICAGO (UPI) — The last of the big city machines is having the post-election shakes. It will probably never be the same again.

For the first time since Franklin Roosevelt, Chicago blacks did not vote the way the Chicago Democratic organization told them to. It was black votes which threw from office State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan who, until Tuesday, may well have been thinking of becoming the next mayor of Chicago.

And who, despite defeat, may well be still thinking so.

The governor-elect of Illinois is a Democrat, Daniel Walker, but a Democrat who came out of political nowhere two years ago, as the champion of everyone fed up with Mayor Richard J. Daley and his Chicago Democratic apparatus. There is a crowd of new and not so new Democratic faces coming to power or consolidating power in Illinois. But a good many of them—Walker, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, Secretary of State-elect Michael J. Howlett—do not owe full political allegiance to the man on the fifth floor of Chicago's City Hall.

The state's three top prosecuting offices—Illinois attorney general, U.S. attorney of the northern District, and Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney—are in the hands of Republicans, or soon will be. There is Republican lip-smacking in the state in anticipation of investigations and, possibly, indictments of Daley, lieutenant.

Daley, the cement of the machine, will be 73 when his unprecedented fifth term ends in 1975. It was rumored his wife, probably the one person he takes orders from, did not want him to run the last time. It is doubtful he will do so again.

For now, though, Daley is still boss—a word he detests as much as he does "machine."

He looked over the wreckage the morning after election and said, "It was a very unique and extraordinary day. We tried. I tried. I gave it everything I could. This is a game in which when you win you are humble and when you lose you stand up and have some guts. The Democratic party is not in any shambles."

Air passengers up

SAN FRANCISCO — Hughes Airwest reports continued records last month in its systemwide passenger volume and other yardsticks used by the airline industry to measure customer service.

Over-all it was the best October in the history of the company, Irving T. Tague, vice president and general manager, said Saturday.

Available seat miles jumped 17.5 per cent to more than 295 million from 174 million in October, 1971, or the second highest level ever — only exceeded by last August's 206 million.

Total miles logged by fare-paying passengers (one passenger traveling one mile) climbed 15.3 per cent to more than 91 million from 79 million.

Passenger boardings at the carrier's 74 airport-cities in the western United States, Canada, and Mexico increased 7.3 per cent 266,000 from 248,000.

Fatality road toll over '71

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's traffic fatality toll continues to climb at a better than seven per cent clip over last year, statistics showed today.

According to records compiled by Idaho State Police, 204 persons had become mere statistics on the state's thoroughfares through Friday night. The total this date a year ago was 276. The difference of 72 persons represents a 7.1 per cent jump over last year.

So far in 1972, Idaho's worst fatality month has been September. Forty-five persons died in driving mishaps during that 30-day period, including a state record 21 persons in a week-long stretch between Sept. 10-16.

Other high-rate fatality months have been May, 35, June, 36, and July, 37.

Idaho traffic safety and law enforcement officials are appalled at the "calamitous" rate at which driving fatalities are increasing.

"There's not much we can do or that money can buy if individual drivers don't stop being so complacent about their driving practices," says Pat Ehrlich, director of the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission. "They cut corners, cross over dividing lines — they don't seem to care what happens."

Mrs. Ehrlich said one of the problems with driving safety in Idaho is the increasing number of new drivers and cars on the state's highways each year, adding that driving skills haven't improved with the rise.

Club plans sale to pay insurance

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Emanon Club have been asked to donate items for a sale to raise money to pay the insurance on the community building.

The sale will be announced later by the ways and means committee and home made articles are being asked for the evening.

Members met Friday at the home of Betty Dossett. Mrs. Faye Sharp, president, conducted the meeting. A treasurer's report was given. Plans for the December meeting will include a gift exchange at the home of Helen Rose Anderson.

Twelve members and two guests, Bernice Kuykendall and Connie Bowers, attended. Mrs. Kuykendall won the white elephant. Assisting the hostess were Winnie Logston and Tena Dossett.

Heritage day set for Burley

BURLEY — "Salute to Our Heritage Day" will be observed in Cassia County Friday to promote appreciation of America and its creators.

Cassia County commissioners established the day by proclaiming Wednesday to complement the third anniversary of the Cassia County Historical Society.

The society will hold its annual meeting and election of directors during the day and has arranged appearances by two nationally recognized figures in commemorating the American heritage.

Louise Edmo, Miss Indian America XIX, will participate in several activities during the day, including a 7 p.m. anniversary dinner at Price's Cafe.

Miss Edmo, Fort Hall, is a member of the Bannock-Shoshone tribes and was selected as Miss Indian America on July 30 during All-American Indian Days at Sheridan, Wyo.

She represents more than 800,000 American Indians in her travels in the United States and abroad to further inter-racial understanding and the appreciation of Indian culture.

Aubrey L. Haines, a retired historian formerly employed by the National Park Service, will speak at the evening dinner.

A native of Portland, Ore., Haines joined the Park Service in 1930 to serve in ranger, engineering and historian capacities. The latter position represented a melding of his life-long interest in western history and many years experience in Yellowstone Park, and has resulted in his preparation of a history of the park.

In addition to the Yellowstone history, Haines has published books entitled "Osborne Russell's Journal of a Trapper" (1955) and "Mountain Fever: Historic Conquests of Rainier" (1962). He is currently engaged in a study of historic sites along the Oregon Trail.

Director values audience reaction

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Have you ever attended a sneak movie preview and filled out one of the opinion cards?

Ever wonder what happens to those cards?

Director Ronald Neame ("Sceogge," "The Chalk Garden," "Gambit") studies the pros and cons of audience opinion and passes them on to his producers. They, in turn, use them for publicity purposes.

"I value preview cards less than my own assessment of audience reaction," said the English director.

"I listen to the audience laugh, cough, whisper, the amount of shuffling and moving around. The most important reaction of an audience is absolutely silence. That means you really have them."

Neame once tape recorded the audience during a preview of "The Horse's Mouth" with Alex Guinness. He found it most constructive of all.

"I can tell when an audience is gripped, when the film lags, when the people in the theater become restless."

"I've learned never to have a sneak preview without announcing who the stars are. When I sneaked 'The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie' at a theater near the UCLA campus, the regular feature was of an entirely different genre from my film— therefore we had the wrong audience."

"I heard the reaction of the crowd when they read the credits of the unknown British cast. But because they were universally people they began to tune into the film. Within five minutes we had got them on our side."

Neame recently took "The Poseidon Adventure" to Minneapolis, Minn., to plumb audience reaction. The cards were 97 per cent "excellent" and the director was pleased that women liked the action film as much as did men.

"After a sneak preview a director generally changes only a few elements of his film, perhaps the balance of music, trimming the length of a scene by a line or two or making a slight cut here and there."

"If you find it necessary to change a great deal of the picture then you are in deep trouble and probably have a disaster on your hands."

"What I especially listen for is a laugh in the wrong place of a dramatic scene. That can ruin an entire picture. There are valuable little nuances in a film such as running a scene a few frames too long. I cut them."

"My worst preview was 'Brief Encounter,' a tender love story, shown at a theater in a tough waterfront area of England—full of sailors and roughnecks. They booed, they whistled, they whistled. I thought, 'This is a disaster. I've ruined my film.' But it was one of my most successful. It was simply a case of the wrong

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Strike affects Valley bakeries

Major bakeries usually do not deliver bread on Sunday or Wednesday, and industry sources said that to revamp the work schedule to a normal 5-day pattern would mean "our bread would be 48 hours old before it gets to market." But Roy Midyett, business agent of the union's local, and a former baker — said "the idea of 'fresh bread daily' is a public relations scheme of the industry" and that the housewife would have some difficulty detecting the difference between day-old and two-day old bread.

Midyett said the issue of consecutive weekend days off, controversial for decades, came to a head now because younger union bakers "don't want to wait for decades more before they're treated like most other workers in this country."

Last spring the union negotiated a contract with the entire industry, boosting pay scales from $4.88 hourly to $5.25 for journeymen bakers, with two more 35-cent hikes by 1974.

Graham backs Nixon

HONOLULU (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham has faith that President Nixon is leading the country toward morality and peace.

Nixon, the preacher predicted, will be putting a lot more emphasis on moral and spiritual affairs" during his second term in office.

In an interview Saturday, Graham, who endorsed Nixon's re-election bid, also said he expects "the long nightmare of Vietnam" to end soon.

Fresh challenge anticipated

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Editor, Times-News

TWIN FALLS — There are positions both interesting and challenging. Jean Colonna just completed one and expects to get another.

Colonna, whose wife is the former Phyllis Phillips, a Buhl native whose mother, Mrs. Maurice Phillips now lives in Wendell, has just completed an assignment for the French government which saw him in the position of an official (equal to that of lieutenant governor in Idaho) in Noumen, New Caledonia. That's a French territory in the far South Pacific.

Mrs. Colonna had spent two years with her husband in New Caledonia but returned to Idaho with their infant daughter, Jeanette, now six years old. The three of them leave Tuesday for a vacation period in Mexico — including Mexico City and Pacific coast resort areas — before coming back to Idaho.

Then Colonna goes to Paris to find out what his next position will be in government service. "If it is an assignment where the wife and child are permitted to go, we will join him. Otherwise we will have to wait. That's one of the difficulties in being married to a diplomat," Mrs. Colonna said.

The couple met in Chateauroux, France, where she was a civilian secretary with the Air Force and he represented the French government in connection with the Americans in that area.

Although Colonna, in his New Caledonia position, was connected with some 50 Pacific nations in things political and informative, he said that "politics will have to be left out of this interview." And so it was.

We did learn, however, that Americans are really liked down in New Caledonia. This stems from World War II when United States troops came there in numbers to protect the area. It was also the jumping off place for the battles of the Coral Sea and Guadalcanal. Several veterans who now reside in Magic Valley served on New Caledonia.

During wartime there were more than 2 million troops on the island, some 200,000 permanently. Airfields, hospitals and other installations were constructed and these are still in use.

You would think that such an exotic area would tend to encourage tourists to come on over. But this is not the case. Why? Colonna says it's because more than half of the world supply of nickel comes from there, and this is vital to the aerospace industry.

Elmore funds OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved a grant of $150,000 for an addition to the Elmore County Hospital at Mountain Home, according to Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

The award — made under the Hill-Burton act, which provides federal funds for local hospital facilities — will help finance a 25-bed addition to the long term care facility of the hospital, as well as minor remodeling.

Jerome plant rite Wednesday

JEROME — Dedication ceremonies for the $5.3 million Tupperware plant here are scheduled Wednesday morning.

Principal roles in the event will be taken by Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and John R. Anasley, president of Tupperware Manufacturing International, headquartered in Orlando, Fla.

The half hour ceremony is set for 10:30 a.m. outside the new plant, 1.5 miles south of Jerome on State Highway 70. A tour of the plant for the invited group of civic officials, business leaders, and members of the Idaho-Congressional delegation will follow the formal opening. The program will conclude with an informal luncheon at the Blue Lakes Country Club.

Tupperware officials said the plant will be opened to public tours on Sunday, Nov. 19, from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

In addition to Governor Andrus, Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho and Senator-elect James A. McClure, R-Idaho, have all been invited to attend the opening ceremonies.

Invitations have also been extended to city and county officials from Jerome, business leaders from Jerome and Jerome County, mayors of other Magic Valley towns, and civic and business leaders from the area.

The plant is manufacturing plastic homewares for distribution throughout the western United States. Construction began in October, 1971, and was completed earlier this year, with production beginning on a limited basis late this past summer. Production rate has increased steadily.

More than 450 persons are employed in the plant, most of them from the Magic Valley. The payroll has been estimated at more than $2 million annually.

The Jerome High School band will open the dedication ceremony with the National Anthem. Andrus, Governor Andrus, and Jerome Mayor J. A. (Jack) Russell will speak briefly. Phil Sanger, executive vice president of Walter Kilde-Constructors, general contractor for erection of the plant, will present the keys to Anasley.

Zorab Vosgarian, president, Zorab Vosgarian Associates, New York City, engineers for the project, will speak. Robert A. Bussiere, plant manager, will accept the building. Anasley will formally dedicate it, and then will join Joseph Hara, president, Tupperware Home Parties, in the ribbon cutting.

The invocation for the ceremony will be offered by the Rev. John Garbrandt and the benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Cosmos White.

The invited guests will be given an hour long tour of the plant between 11 a.m. and noon, prior to the luncheon at the country club.

Andrus asks new Demo chairman

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus "emphatically" called Monday for the replacement of Mrs. Jean Westwood as Democratic National chairman.

"I have discussed this matter on the phone with other Democratic governors," Andrus said, "and the reaction is the same."

"We have to try to bring the party back to broaden the base. This is nothing anti-Mrs. Westwood or to say that the results of the election were her fault."

"The Democrats did well in the governorship races and some of the legislative races in some states," he said.

But he said Mrs. Westwood was "so closely allied to with the top of the party ticket the Democrats must replace her as chairman if they are to broaden the base of their appeal."

For that reason, he said, his answer was "emphatically yes" to the question of whether Mrs. Westwood should be replaced.

"Although Democrats carried their White House victory down through the Congressional races in 1964," he said, "the situation faced by the Republicans then and the Democrats now was not too different."

"If you could give birth to Siamese twins eight years apart it would be comparable," the governor said.

He said the "sooner the better" when asked how soon Mrs. Westwood should leave her post as chairman. But he said he had no special preference in mind as to her replacement.

"I don't have an magic answer to that," Andrus said.

"The main thing is to broaden this base back out."

"The philosophy of the Democratic Party has narrowed considerably because of the standard bearer," he said. "I don't believe we as a party had that image as such but the standard bearer did."

Andrus disagreed with some portions of the Democrat state campaign platform this year after it was drafted at Sun Valley by a youth-dominated convention.

Youngsters went to the state convention because of a party reform program that opened up participation at the local level.

While they might not have been delegates under the old system and therefore would not have had as much influence on the platform, Andrus did not call for a change in the new system.

Group home organizers hold dance

HAILEY — Over 100 residents participated in a country barn dance Friday night sponsored by the Other Side of Time, group home.

The free dance was presented as a gesture of appreciation for the enthusiastic support the citizens have given the proposed juvenile home in Blaine County.

Although not planned as a fund raiser, the event netted about $60 which will be applied to the home's insurance expense.

Donated for the occasion were 18 cakes which were awarded to dancers and a smoked turkey breast, donated by the William Burts, brought $7.50 at an auction.

About start operations as a home for youth in need of alternate placement, the Other Side of Time can accommodate a maximum of six youths.

Mrs. Sally Donart, chairman of the organization said, "The small group home can be one of today's best answers to the problem of troubled youth."

"Children respond to a loving foster home environment and society gets twice the benefit at half the cost," she said.

Proposal due Jerome board

JEROME — The Jerome School Board of Trustees will hear a proposal tonight from Supt. John Campbell on a wrestling area for the school district.

The board will meet for its regular session at 8 p.m. in the superintendent's office.

Campbell is expected to report to the board on the auction of unused school equipment held Thursday which netted the district over $1,200. Campbell will propose that the storage area where the unused equipment was kept be turned into a wrestling facility.

Also on tonight's agenda, is discussion on two proposals that were tabled at the last meeting.

School trustees took under advisement last month a request by Campbell to discontinue deducting teacher association dues from teachers' paychecks. The matter came under heavy fire last month by teachers who wanted the deductions continued.

Also taken under advisement was a suggestion by Trustee William Kersey that the district look into "the possibility of acquiring land adjacent to the junior high for possible future expansion."

Veterans mark Armistice Day

GLENN'S FERRY — More than 100 persons representing three veterans' organizations attended a Veterans Day dinner here Saturday.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and Veterans of World War I, along with auxiliaries of the three organizations, attended the event.

Lyle Huffer, Fairfield, Fourth District commander of the American Legion, presented a state department award for work with youth and child welfare to Mrs. William Pratt, past commander of the Glens Ferry Post 57. Mrs. Pratt had sponsored Cub Scouts and had promoted a flag program in the school.

An award on Americanism and also was presented to Claude Schaeffer, present commander of Post 87.

Jill Parmley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Parmley, and Carol Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christensen, gave reports of their attendance at the 1972 session of Girls State at Nampa.

James Hbye, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hbye, and Ray Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hansen, gave their reports of their attendance at Bos State, Boise.

Roger Libbey, Burley, chairman for the 1973 state VFW convention, spoke to the group.

Members of the Veterans Council were introduced and commended for their work and accomplishment in remodeling the hall. Kent Giles was master of ceremonies. Mrs. David Ickes, Mrs. Charles Grow and Mrs. Howard Hansen were on the dinner committee.

Mrs. William Peterson and Gloria Hansen were in charge of decorations.

The FHA Club for Glenns Ferry High School washed and dried dishes.

Howard Hansen and Arthur Groer worked on clean up.

War Mothers seat officers at meet

TWIN FALLS — New officers of the American War Mothers of Twin Falls were installed Friday during a meeting of the membership.

Mrs. Anna LeClair served as installing officer. Those taking over new duties include Mrs. Mary Taylor, re-elected president; Mrs. Lora Vince, first vice president; Mrs. Ruth Linderman, second vice president; Mrs. Martina Romans, chaplain; Mrs. Emma Stone, treasurer; Mrs. Lora Doss, re-elected recording secretary; Mrs. Josephine Wurst, re-elected historian; Mrs. Beulah Bartlett, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Glanche Gordon, re-elected musician. Each officer was presented a white carnation. Susie Pratt and Lora Shumway served as pro-tempers for the installation.

A social hour followed with special entertainment with refreshment served by Mrs. LeClair, Emma Koderk and Nellie Horefs. The next meeting will be in December and will be a potluck dinner and gift exchange.

Parents day

HAILEY — A parents day is planned for Tuesday at the Wood River High School.

According to Principal John Barton, all parents and interested residents are invited to attend to familiarize themselves with the programs and facilities available at the school.

The day will begin with a general orientation session at 8:45 a.m. in the gymnasium. The session will be followed by an opportunity for parents to attend their children's classes on a shortened schedule.

A hot lunch will be available at noon, with private conferences with teachers conducted during the afternoon.

Barton said the event will "provide an excellent opportunity to open the doors of communication between parents and teachers." During each class session, the teacher will explain class goals and the teaching operation, he said.

Shirley Black fights cancer battle

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A few gray hairs sprout from the long, Auburn tresses spilling over the pillow, but the beaming smile is still there and so are the dimples that once made her the most famous little girl in the world.

Shirley Temple Black, the onetime child movie star who tried politics unsuccessfully but whose charm made her a successful diplomat, is fighting her latest battle — this time with cancer.

The discovery of the lump didn't put her off "cleaning the slate" in her latest endeavor of public service and she went to Moscow as a member of the U.S. delegation negotiating an environmental treaty with the Russians.

Then she checked into Stanford for a fullscale examina-

The malignant tumor that doctors removed from Mrs. Black's breast was about two centimeters in size. She discovered the disease in the early stage, she said, because of a doctor's advice 18 years ago to frequently look for lumps or unusual symptoms.

The discovery of the lump didn't put her off "cleaning the slate" in her latest endeavor of public service and she went to Moscow as a member of the U.S. delegation negotiating an environmental treaty with the Russians.

Then she checked into Stanford for a fullscale examina-

The diagnosis was clear. "After I spent the whole day getting my crying over with, I signed the papers," she said, and on Nov. 3 underwent the operation.

"I think it's probably the hardest thing a woman can do," she said. "Don't let vanity get in the way. It can start spreading and then you've had it."

Mrs. Black went into politics after a Hollywood career in which she starred in 24 movies that earned her $3 million between the ages of 6 and 12. Millions of mothers around the world tried to turn their daughters into little "Shirley Temples" with the curly hair and dimples seen cowering through films like "Little Miss Marker," "Curly Top" and "Dimples" in the Depression era 1930s.

Jerome MIA sets annual youth fete

JEROME — THE LDS Mutual Improvement Association (MIA) will hold its annual parent and youth night Tuesday and Wednesday.

The program is set each night at 8 p.m. at the LDS cultural hall.

The theme for this year's event will be "House Talk." There will be 10 wards participating from Jerome, Gooding, Hagerman, Fairfield, Hazelton, Hunt and Wendell. Stake drama director Mrs. Bill Barlowe said.

Part of the program will consist of five local girls singing and the Jack Kerswell family is expected to present a medley of songs.

The production will be performed in the round with black lights.

Blaine stake meet hears Utah leader

SHOSHONE — "Seventies and missionary work, what makes it work?" was the theme of a speech by Elder S. Dilworth Young in Shoshone Friday night.

Elder Young, the senior member of the first quorum of seventies of the LDS Church, Salt Lake City, addressed the Blaine stake seventies stake presidency, bishops and their wives at a banquet at the Shoshone LDS Church.

He told of the church's priesthood correlation program and the latest changes being made with regard to the Mutual Improvement Association. Reorganization of the presidency of the MIA is being announced in Salt Lake City this weekend, Elder Young said.

The new program will be functioning under the direction of the priesthood quorums of the church. He outlined the line of authority for missionary work in the church.

He also told of the full-time foreign missionary fund that has been operating in the church during the last five years. He said the fund has supported more than 1,300 foreign missionaries during the five years.

John Flade, Blaine stake mission president, was in charge of the program. Elder Thorsen, a full time missionary, sang a vocal selection. The closing prayer was given by Allen Gardner, Richfield, a counselor in the Blaine stake presidency.

Underdog Denver posts 16-10 upset over Rams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The underdog Denver Broncos handed the Los Angeles Rams a stunning 16-10 defeat Sunday with Charley Johnson throwing one touchdown pass and Jim Turner providing three field goals.

The Broncos looked like all-around champions as Floyd Little ripped through the Rams' defense for gains as long as 20 yards and defensive liner Paul Smith and Lyle Alzado sufficed the Los Angeles offense.

The Rams, favored by 10 points, got their lone touchdown at the opening of the second half when Roman Gabriel threw a four-yard pass to Jack Snow. The loss left the Rams with a 5-3 record and out their lead in the Western Division of the National Football Conference to a half game over second-place Atlanta. The Broncos now have a 3-6 record. Johnson marched the Broncos 80 yards to a touchdown with Jerry Simmons making the grab over the head of Dave Elmendorf in the end zone. The play covered seven yards. A few minutes later on an almost identical play, Simmons dropped the ball in the end zone. He had to leave and was later reported to have suffered a fractured collarbone.

Taiwan pair captures prize in world cup

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—Taiwan's Hsieh Min-nan and Lu Jang-huan snatched a two-shot victory over Japan today in an exciting finish to an otherwise dismal, disappointing World Cup at the Royal Melbourne Golf course.

The triumphant pair had a 54-hole total of 438, which is the highest winning score ever recorded in World Cup play. The tournament was reduced to 54 holes because of heavy rains which washed out the second round.

The only other time an over-par World Cup has been played was in Mexico in 1958 when Ireland returned a three-over 579 for 72 holes.

South Africa finished third at 444 while Australia and the United States tied for fourth — one stroke further back.

The U.S. team of Tom Weiskopf and Jim Jamieson really never posed a threat in this championship. They finished 19 over par, one of the worst performances registered by a U.S. team in the World Cup — an international tournament the Americans have dominated with 11 victories.

"The victory was the first for Taiwan — entered as the Republic of China — in the World Cup which began in 1953. Hsieh had rounds of 70, 69, 78 for a total of 217 to also win the international trophy for the best individual score in the tournament.

Japan's Takaaki Kono was runner-up for individual honors with a three-round total of 210 while South African Tienie Britz was third, a stroke further behind.

Hsieh and Lu literally leaped with joy upon completing their round and threw their remaining golf balls jubilantly into the small crowd around the 18th green after sinking their final putts.

Windy and cold conditions sent today's final round scores spiraling, but Hsieh and Lu secured the World Cup for their country when, after being even with Japan after 52 holes, both sank birdie putts on the 57th and 17th hole. The Taiwanese clinched the trophy at the 33rd hole when Lu rolled in a 25-footer for a birdie four and then Hsieh knocked in a tricky seven-footer for his birdie.

At that time the Japanese team of Kono and Takashi Murakami were on the 54th hole, and those two birdies at the 53rd proved decisive for Taiwan.

Kono, desperately striving for a birdie to the last, hit his second shot into a bunker and finished with a bogey five.

This cost Kono, who was sitting two shots behind Hsieh, the chance of winning the coveted individual title.

Both the Taiwanese players, hit the 54th green in regulation two-strokes, but Hsieh, protecting his lead in the individual title, took three putts from 40 feet for a bogey five. This gave him a final round of 78, seven-over par which included five bogeys and a double bogey in the last nine holes.

Host nation Australia, which was eight shots behind Taiwan at the start of the final round, moved to within one shot of the lead with only four holes to play.

But its chances were short-lived when Bruce Crampton took a disastrous triple-bogey six at the par three, 52nd hole. Crampton and his partner, Billy Dunk, both dropped a shot at the 54th to enable South Africa's Gary Player and Tienie Britz to move into third place with a combined total of 10 over par, 444.

All players experienced great difficulty in today's atrocious windy conditions. The lowest round of the day was posted by England's Tony Jacklin and Francisco Cerda of Chile. Both returned one-over par 72.

Buddy Baker nips A.J. Foyt for victory in Texas 500

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N. C., drove the finest race of his career to edge Texan A. J. Foyt by the length of his front fender in the Texas 500 Sunday at Texas World Speedway.

Foyt, of Houston, racing before a hometown crowd for the first time in his long career, finished second and Richard Petty of Randleman, N. C., finished third, two car lengths back, to capture a record fourth Grand National NASCAR championship.

Baker, Foyt, and Petty battled within 40 seconds of each other the entire 500 miles over the high-banked two-mile super speedway and it came down to the final 200 yards to determine the winner.

Baker and Foyt came out of the final turn on the last lap with their cars door-to-door, traveling at 190 miles an hour. Baker's 1971 Dodge edged in front by inches on the inside and was a full front fender ahead at the finish.

Baker averaged 147.059 for the 500 miles to break the track record of 144.277 set by Bobby Isaac in 1969. The victory was worth $12,770.

Foyt, the five-time U.S. Auto Club champion making a rare NASCAR appearance, won $7,345 for second, but he was more interested in beating the top stock drivers in front of his home state fans.

Petty, 35, clinched his fourth Grand National title over Bobby Allison on the 194th lap, becoming the first driver in NASCAR history to win it four times. The championship was worth $40,000 to him, much more than the third place money of $5,620.

Allison finished fourth, a lap behind, and was second in the 1972 Grand National battle. Fourth was worth $4,295, pushing his total earnings to $259,345, making him the leading money winner.

Petty, who won eight major races this year, earned $201,415. Petty, starting third in this race, took the lead on the first lap by ducking under Foyt, the pole sitter, on the first turn. Foyt pulled back in front on the third turn, but Petty took over again on the second lap.

Then Baker, who lost the pole to Foyt in a controversial qualifying Thursday, took over and it was a three-car race from then to the finish.

Baker led 123 laps, Petty 106 and Foyt 21. There were no accidents in the race and only four yellow flags, all for blown engines which spilled oil on the track.

Smith is winner in singles

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the current Wimbledon Champion today won his second major tournament in one week when he beat Tom Okker of the Netherlands 6-4, 6-3 in the men's single finals in the $63,500 Stockholm Open tennis tournament.

One week ago he won a Grand Prix tournament in Paris.

In the men's double final Okker got his victory when he paired with Marty Riessen of Evanston Ill. They defeated the Australian combination of Roy Emerson and Colin Dibley 7-5, 7-6.

Smith, who now scored his second win in this four-year-old tournament picked up $10,000, and 75 points in the Grand Prix tournament for his easy win.

Despite those 75 points, the 25-year-old Rumanian, who was eliminated by Okker in the semi-finals Saturday, has won the Grand Prix tournament this year.

a 38-yard field goal at 1:35 in the last period—Then Alzado occurred a fumble by Willie Ellison. The Broncos had the ball on the Rams' 25 and five plays later Turner kicked a 12-yard field goal to break the tie, and put them ahead 13-10.

The Rams could get nowhere against the Broncos defense and gave up the ball on the Denver 17 to pave the way for the final score, a 36-yard Turner field goal that made it 16-10.

Little was the leading ground runner, carrying 22 times and gaining 79 yards. Johnson connected on 11 or 23 passes for 21 yards and had two intercepted.

Gabriel threw 23 and completed 13 for 110 yards, also with two interceptions. The top Rams' groundgainer was Ellison, who had a heifer of 39 yards on 21 carries.

Nicklaus plays golf in Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus today played a goodwill 18-hole round with Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, U.S. Ambassador Robert Ingersoll and Ryuji Takeuchi, former Japanese ambassador to Washington, at the exclusive Koganei Country Club course.

The round was played without incident at the course in the Tokyo suburbs. There were no demonstrations of any kind although an anti-Tanaka cabinet demonstration was held in Tokyo during the past week.

A small number of newsmen turned out but they were permitted to watch the players tee off only at the 10th hole, where they started, and the first hole and their putting on the 18th and ninth hole greens.

No interviews were permitted at the lunch time after the four had holed out.

In a letter to Nicklaus, President Nixon said: "The friendly spirit which exists between our two countries in all areas of support has been reaffirmed many times over — by the American teams which have visited Tokyo and Sapporo for two recent Olympiads, by the annual tour of U.S. baseball teams to Japan, and once again only last month by the Pacific Master Golf tournament. I am sure that the upcoming Tanaka-Nicklaus round will be accepted everywhere as further evidence of the cordial relationship between America and Japan."

"If Prime Minister Tanaka is half as good on the greens as I have found him to be across the conference table, you will have an excellent match. My good wishes go with you, and please convey my warmest personal regards to the Prime Minister."

Blocked FG lets Vikings edge Detroit 16-14

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Bobby Bryant blocked Errol Mann's 33-yard field goal attempt as time ran out Sunday preserving the Minnesota Vikings' much needed 16-14 win over the Detroit Lions.

Fred Cox kicked two field goals in the final eight minutes to help the Vikings overcome three costly fumbles and a 14-10 Detroit lead.

Then quarterback Greg Landry drove Detroit to the Minnesota 25 and the Lions called time out with five seconds left to give Mann a shot at the winning field goal that Bryant blocked.

The victory, Minnesota's 10th in a row over Detroit, pulled the Vikings into a second place tie with the Lions, a game behind NFC Central Division leading Green Bay.

Detroit had rallied from a 10-0 deficit on a pair of Greg Landry to Larry Walton touchdowns.

But linebacker Roy Winston picked up a Charlie Sanders fumble at the Detroit 37 and returned it to the Lions' 17 with six minutes remaining to set up Cox's winning field goal, a 23-yarder.

The rally averted a possible sixth narrow loss by Minnesota after the Vikings fumbled twice inside the Detroit five-yard line in the first half and the Lions recovered another fumble at the Minnesota 35 in the third quarter to set up their go-ahead touchdown.

Tackle Alan Page and the Viking defense didn't allow the Lions a first down until 32 seconds remained in the first half.

Minnesota went into the locker room with a 3-0 lead on Cox's 41-yard field goal.

But the Vikings extended their lead to 10 points early in the third quarter when Reed capped an 80-yard drive with a winding 20-yard touchdown run.

Detroit closed it to 10-7 on Landry's 48-yard touchdown pass to Walton, who beat cornerback Bryant by a stride.

On the next Minnesota series Marianaro fumbled at the Viking 35 after catching a short Fran Turkenton pass, and Larry Hand fell on it. Ten plays later, on second down and goal from the 20, Landry fired a touchdown pass to Walton.

Tarkenton, who completed 15 of 26 passes for 121 yards, became the fourth player in NFL history to pass for a career total of more than 30,000 yards.

49ers rally to trim Baltimore

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Steve Spurrier's ninth and 10th touchdown passes of the season, the last coming on a 25-yard throw to Ted Kwalick with 5:20 left, carried the San Francisco 49ers to a 24-21 victory Sunday over the Baltimore Colts.

The Kwalick touchdown was set up by Johnny Unitas, in for his only play of the game, fumbled at the Baltimore 39.

Spurrier needed only five plays to get the score with Kwalick outjumping Jerry Logan in the corner of the end zone for the score.

Spurrier's other TD came on a seven-yard throw to Ken Willard as the 49ers took the opening kickoff 69 yards in 12 plays for a quick 7-0 lead.

An eight-yard run by Larry Schreiber, who totaled more than 100 yards in his best game of the year, and a 44-yard field goal by Bruce Gossett accounted for the other San Francisco points.

The Colts, 6 1/2-point underdogs, rallied to make it close in the final minutes when Sam Havrilak took a 52-yard pass from Marty Domres, wiggled his way out of Bruce Taylor's grasp and went another 10 yards for a 62-yard play. That cut San Francisco's lead to only three points and the Colts had one more shot with 1:47 left but they couldn't break through as they went down to their seventh loss in nine games.

The victory was San Francisco's fourth against four losses and a tie and moved the 49ers to within a game of the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football Conference's Western Division.

Baltimore's other scores came on an 80-yard kickoff return play and a five-yard run by Don McCauley.

On the kickoff return, Norm Bulaich ran the ball 62 yards to the San Francisco 16, fumbled and then Nelson Munsey picked up the ball on the three and ran it in.

Munsey's touchdown tied the score at 7-7 in the first quarter and Schreiber's touchdown gave the 49ers a 14-7 lead at the half.

Gossett's field goal increased San Francisco's lead to 10 points but the Colts got back to within three on McCauley's TD.

Then Kwalick's score put the game out of reach.

Brown-led Redskins top New York Giants 27-13

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Larry Brown slammed over for two game-deciding fourth period touchdowns in the dying seconds of the game and cracked the 100 yard rushing mark for the sixth time this season Sunday to provide the Washington Redskins with a 27-13 victory over the New York Giants.

Steelers beat Kansas City

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Linebacker Jack Ham recovered two fumbles that enabled the Pittsburgh Steelers to jump 10 points into the final six minutes of play Sunday for a 16-7 comeback victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Roy Gerela's 49-yard field goal which barely cleared the uprights put the Steelers ahead 9-7 with 5:10 remaining. Gerela, the leading scorer in the American Football Conference with 81 points, also kicked two other field goals and a conversion in the defensive battle.

Ham recovered a fumble by Ed Podolak on the Chiefs' 37 yard line to set up Gerela's go-ahead field goal. On the next series of plays, Ham recovered Jim Otis' fumble on the Kansas City 18 to set the stage for Franco Harris' seven-yard touchdown run.

The Steelers fifth consecutive victory raised their log to 7-2, the best start in the club's history since 1947. Pittsburgh returned its lead in the AFC Central Division.

The Chiefs surrendered first place in the AFC Western Division to the Oakland Raiders, who defeated the Bengals Sunday, 20-14.

The Chiefs' touchdown came midway in the second period when safety Jim Kearney intercepted Terry Bradshaw's pass and scampered 65 yards for a touchdown. Bradshaw was intercepted two other times.

With 14 seconds remaining in the game, the Chiefs threatened again, moving to the Steelers' seven, but were denied a score by a determined Pittsburgh defense.

Len Dawson, who was the Steelers' No. 1 draft choice in 1957, was constantly harassed by Pittsburgh's front four. Joe Greene, L. C. Greenwood, Henry Davis and Dwight White blitzed in and sacked the 37-year-old quarterback five times for a total loss of 53 yards.

Dawson also had difficulty in spotting his receivers because they were contained by the Steelers' secondary.

Boozer leads Jets to 41-3 victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Emerson Boozer lifted his league-leading touchdown total to 13 with two scores Sunday as he led the New York Jets to a 41-3 rout of the mistake-plagued Buffalo Bills.

Boozer plunged one yard for his first score and caught a four-yard pass from Joe Namath for another. Namath also passed 26 yards to Richard Caster for another TD and John Higgins also scored on a one-yard run. Steve Tannen's interception set up a nine-yard TD pass from Bob Davis to Jerome Barkum for the Jets' final touchdown.

The victory was the Jets' sixth against three losses while Buffalo dropped to 2-7.

O. J. Simpson fumbled on Buffalo's first play of the game and Larry Grantham recovered on the Bills' 10. Higgins carried to the one on the next play before diving over for the TD. Buffalo, with Simpson leading the way, marched to the New York two where the Jets' defense stiffened and John Lypoldt kicked a nine-yard field goal.

Early in the second period, New York's Chris Fargasopoulos returned a punt 34 yards to the Buffalo 29, and the Jets needed six plays to score, with Boozer diving over from the one for a 14-3 lead.

A 10-yard punt by Buffalo's Spike Jones gave New York possession on the Buffalo 16 and Bobby Howfield kicked a 23-yard field goal. But Buffalo was charged with defensive holding, and the Jets took it from the 10, with Namath throwing four yards to Boozer for the score.

Pack scores early to trim Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers scored two first quarter touchdowns following a fumbled Chicago punt snap and an 89-yard kickoff return by Ike Thomas and held on to beat the Bears 23-17 Sunday despite an inept performance on offense.

The Packers, holding on to first place in the Central Division of the NFC, improved their record to 6-3 although they did not complete a pass or drive more than 25 yards on offense until late in the third quarter.

Their victory was not assured until only three minutes remained when Chicago quarterback Bobby Douglass, trying to pass from his own 26-yard line, was hit by linebacker Dave Robinson, fumbled, and Green Bay's Alden Roche recovered at the 19-yard line.

Four plays later, Chester Marcol kicked his third field goal of the game, a 21-yarder. A last minute Chicago drive ended near midfield after Willie Buchanan made a desperate leap to knock down a potential touchdown pass to George Farmer.

Green Bay, which made only eight first downs in the game, scored early in the first quarter when John Brockington made two successive 12-yard runs, the second for a touchdown, after Chicago center Rich

Brown's first score with 1:03 left in the hard-fought struggle broke a 13-13 tie. He wound up with 106 yards in 30 carries against a Giant defense that boasted it would restrict the NFL's leading ball-carrier to less than 100 yards. Brown had gained 191 yards in 29 carries two weeks ago when the Redskins won 23-16.

His go-ahead touchdown carry culminated a 67-yard Redskins drive after the Giants had knotted the contest with 3:51 remaining on Pete Gogolak's 23-yard field goal.

After a Washington interception, the Redskins called time out and Brown drove over from the Washington four with just 20 seconds left for an insurance TD for the Redskins, who are now 9-1 with six straight victories. New York is 5-4 and has been eliminated from contention.

Brown's 106 yard total boosted his season total to 995 yards this year.

Brown also spearheaded a Washington touchdown thrust of 87 yards in the third period that gave the Redskins the lead for the first time. He carried seven times for 37 yards in that effort.

Cowboys post win over Cards

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys used the consistent running of Calvin Hill and Walt Garrison and a splendid touchdown catch by Ron Sellers to score on their first four possessions Sunday and breeze to a 33-24 win over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The running of Hill and Garrison helped drive Dallas 80, 88 and 64 yards three of the first four times the Cowboys had the ball and also allowed them to cash in on a fumble recovery at the Cardinal 26.

Dallas' win kept it within a game of the Washington Redskins in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division.

Toni Fritsch kicked three field goals of 27, 14 and 50 yards and Dallas got touchdowns on a six-yard run by Hill and a 41-yard pass from Craig Morton to Sellers who made a fine catch at the goal line to open up a 23-10 Cowboy halftime lead.

Charlie Waters got Dallas' only second-half touchdown by picking off a Gary Clark pass and running it back 28 yards for the score. Fritsch clipped in another field goal of 30 yards.

St. Louis struck in the second quarter on a 61-yard pass from Cuozzo to tight end Jackie Smith, but the game was out of reach before Cuozzo threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to John Roland and Leo Hayden scored on a one-yard run in the fourth quarter. Jim Bakken contributed a 34-yard field goal for the Cardinals.

Warfield has leg injury

MIAMI (UPI)—In their debut for a return trip to the Super Bowl, the Miami Dolphins Sunday may have lost the services of their premier wide receiver, Paul Warfield, for at least a couple of games.

Warfield, blocked while running a pass pattern midway in the third period in the game against the New England Patriots, went down with an injury to his left ankle and knee.

The early diagnosis was that the veteran pass catcher, who led the American Football Conference last year in touchdown catches, had suffered a sprained left ankle and a bad bruise on his left knee.

Dolphins shutout Patriots

MIAMI (UPI)—The unbeaten Miami Dolphins turned Mercury Morris loose for three first half touchdowns Sunday and swamped the New England Patriots, 52-0, giving Miami Coach Don Shula his 100th regular season victory in 10 years of coaching.

Shula becomes the ninth coach in professional football history to reach the 100-victory plateau, but the only one to do it in 10 years.

Morris scored twice in the first period on identical four-yard runs around left end, then turned right end six yards for a touchdown in the second quarter. In between, Garo Yepremian kicked a 16-yard field goal and fullback Larry Csonkar capped an 88-yard drive with a three-yard scoring burst which opened the second period.

Quarterback Earl Morrall hit wide receiver Marlin Briscoe with a 16-yard scoring strike with 5:45 left of the third quarter. Briscoe next hauled in a 51-yard scoring pass from reserve quarterback Jim Del Gaudio with 13:10 left in the final period. Del Gaudio fired a 39-yard spring bomb to Jim Standish with 2:34 left to complete the scoring flood.

Punkett was intercepted twice and his substitute Brian Dowling, once by the Miami defenders who led the NFL statistics.

Atlanta topples Saints

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Atlanta Falcons used the running of Art Malone and Dave Hampton and the passing of Bob Berry to open up a 30-point lead with a point-a-minute offense Sunday and then let their reserves mop up in a 36-20 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

The Falcons scored 19 points during the second period on a 16-yard run by Hampton, a two-yard keeper by Berry, a 37-yard field goal by Bill Bell and a safety when Mike Lewis trapped Archie Manning in the Saints' end zone.

The Falcons, now 5-4, jumped into an early lead when Malone went over from a yard out, 4:11 into the game after John Zook ran a New Orleans fumble back to the Saints 20-yard line.

The Saints cut the margin to 7-3 with 1:09 left in the first period on a 19-yard field goal by Happy Feller, but weren't to score again until midway through the third period after a 15-yard Berry to Ken Burrow pass had given the Falcons a 33-3 lead with only 4:29 gone in the third period.

Dempsey boots 6 field goals

HOUSTON (UPI)—Philadelphia's Tom Dempsey kicked six field goals, one shy of the National Football League game record, to offset two second half touchdowns by the Houston Oilers Sunday and give the Eagles an 18-17 victory over Houston.

Dempsey, 6-1 and a flabby 255, kicked field goals of 33, 53, 22, 12, 38 and 20 yards and missed one attempt of 22 yards.

Eddie Bell is injured

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wide receiver Eddie Bell of New York was taken from the field on a stretcher after a collision with Buffalo's Linzy Cole during pregame warmups for Sunday's Jets-Bills game.

Cole and Bell, running full speed in opposite directions, collided near midfield and both were down for nearly 10 minutes. Cole was helped from the field but Bell needed to be carted off on a stretcher.

There was no immediate announcement as to the extent of the injuries.

Dempsey's field goals lift Eagles past Houston 18-17

The NFL record of seven was set by Jim Bakken of St. Louis in 1967 against Pittsburgh.

The Oilers, held to a 38-yard field goal by Skip Butler in the first half, stumbled to life in the second half on touchdown runs of three yards by Dan Pastorini and a 30-yard sprint by Paul Robinson. But a 43-yard field goal attempt by Butler with 16 seconds left was wide to the left and Philadelphia hung on to win the contest between the two teams with the worst records in the WFM.

Raiders defeat Bengals

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Oakland halfback Charlie Smith and his understudy, Clarence Davis, shredded the Cincinnati defense for 100 yards and one touchdown apiece Sunday as the Raiders stormed from behind to beat the injury-weakened Bengals, 20-14.

Smith, who gained 140 yards in 25 carries, sent the Raiders ahead, 10-7, in the third quarter when he booted off the left side on an eight-yard touchdown run, capping a 74-yard drive. Davis picked up 44 yards in nine attempts and fullback Marv Hubbard hammered out 96 yards in 11 carries.

Veteran George Blanda, who booted field goals of 24 and 22 yards, kicked his second goal of the game in the final period and Davis climaxed an 87-yard drive with a one-yard scoring plunge to raise Oakland's margin in the American Football Conference game.

The Bengals lost relief quarterback Virgil Carter, and middle linebacker Bill Bergey, on injuries in the last half, but managed to come alive for a 72-yard touchdown drive late in the final period.

Ken Anderson, who started at quarterback but was ineffective in the early going, returned after Carter sustained a back injury and connected with Chip Meyers on a 39-yard scoring pass for Cincinnati's final touchdown.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to accept delays philosophically and to work quietly to put your affairs on a more secure structure. Don't enlarge your overall aims and ambitions at this time. It's necessary to know you are exact in what you do for others so doublecheck on what is expected.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Show that you are exact in the handling of personal duties, and don't procrastinate any longer. Try not to disappoint a friend in distress who looks to you for assistance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try not to pressure good friends who seem to have an uncompromising attitude and are busy. Take care of your own affairs instead. Good hard work improves personal aims. Keep steady.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget the personal and engage in those important outside tasks that need your immediate attention. You can push through on career matters tomorrow, but make right preparations now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have a new project in mind that requires getting the right ideas and data before it can be put in operation successfully. A new ally could take advantage of your tire career.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are able to take care of bills and other obligations easily today, so be sure to do just that. Don't rely on attachment so much since this is a busy period. Avoid one who lickers.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You think that some associates are not keeping up with promises made, but this is not the case. Tomorrow the picture changes. Make sure you carry through nicely on your end of deals. Have faith.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Handle those duties in a new way so that they are not so difficult. Show that you are an ingenious person. Co-workers are worried and not cooperating very well now, but have patience.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Important you don't spend above your means for the good time you feel like having. Give kind words of advice and encouragement to mate who is depressed. You can help relieve worried state.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you are too blunt with others today, you may have more trouble than you bargained for. Plan to listen more to others instead of talking so much. You can gain helpful knowledge.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to indulge in new interests which could prove to be worthless, so get busy with regular duties instead of taking any risks. Check reports and statements for possible errors.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to make more money, but make sure you use ethical methods. Talk things over with an expert who is conservative and get right advice about whatever it is that puzzles you.

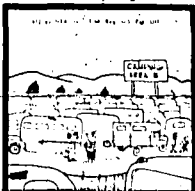

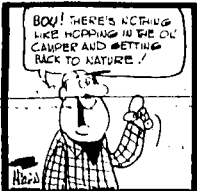

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although you think that others are out of tune, it may be that you are also, so use patience and this becomes a good day. Improve your health and appearance. This will perk up your spirit.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who may require special training. Your progeny could easily be one of the psychic type of people who instinctively seeks shelter but needs to be brought into the mundane world early so that the career can become successful, especially in artistic or cultural fields. There could be fame in this child.

What's the most poetic part of a woman's anatomy? Her hair, says one literary scholar. "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations" lists 42 lyrical references to same. By random contrast, it only makes 23 mentions of the feminine bustline.

BIG MONTH for explorers, November. Was in November that Daniel Boone was born. Likewise frontiersman George Rogers Clark. This was the month, too, that Cmdr. Richard E. Byrd initially flew over the South Pole. And that fellow called Zebulon Pike first sighted the Colorado mountain now of the same name.

MISTER, do you own as much as $11,500 equity in your home? Don't answer, it's none of my business. Merely wish to point out that's the median equity among house purchasers today.

TOOLS Researchers say the modern wife has an average of 97 tools in her home. DID YOU know that George Washington at Mt. Rushmore wears three Ponderosa pine trees for a boutonniere? ... RARE IS the gourmet who can vouch for the fact that skunk meat tastes absolutely delicious.

WHAT our Language man is trying to find out now is how a "billy club" came to be called that. ... WOULDN'T do to overlook the report that you have about 140 miles of tubing in your kidneys.

Q. "ASK your Love and War man which tends to be the more modest, a boy or a girl." A. Easy, it's the boy, he says. Consider Adam and Eve. It was Adam who noted, "I was afraid because I was naked." Eve didn't say word one.

BOXERS Among those seven breeds of dogs most likely to bite people, the canine experts also list boxers.

ARGUMENT continues as to which country's cowboys are the best horsemen. A life-time student of the issue insists the stockmen of Hungary probably rate that credit.

HERE'S ANOTHER oldest living American. One Charlie Smith, by name. Said to be 1301 lives on in Barrow, Fla. Mr. Smith holds an 1855 bill of sale from a New Orleans slave market which he says records his age then as 12. Investigators for the Guinness Book of Records still decline to claim anybody anywhere ever lived as long as 115 years. But don't believe they've met Charlie Smith.
