Deformed monkey embryo: blighted?

Link between potato, birth defects probed

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Scientists and industry spokesmen are reacting with skepticism to preliminary British scientific reports that a form of potato blight may contribute to birth defects.

Scientists working for both the federal government and the University of Idaho extension service agree that the general area of research is uncharted, and they are planning a "major" effort to move into the area with scientifically controlled studies, but they also agree the two major studies reported thus far suffer from a lack of scientific rigor.

Richard Ohms, a University of Idaho Extension Service scientist, said today the form of blight being used in the studies is what is termed "late blight" — "Phytophthora infestans" in clinical terms, a disease that has not been reported in Idaho potato fields.

A spokesman for the National Potato Council said today there has been no noticeable effect from the reported studies on the industry nationwide, and said people are "sceptical about what he termed the 'sensationalism of some papers.'"

Both the New York Times, in its Sunday, Nov. 12 editions and Newsweek, in its publication dated Nov. 20, provide summaries of the research conducted thus far — two reports on the European side of the Atlantic Ocean.

The first published study was done by Dr. James H. Renwick, a scientist at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. Dr. Renwick reported in May there was a correlation between the incidence of potato blight and the incidence of two birth defects, spina bifida and anencephaly, the first affecting the lower end of the spinal cord and bringing on paralysis and early death, and the second preventing proper fusion between the brain and the upper skull and also resulting in early death to the child. But the Renwick theory only noted a statistical correlation, and involved no laboratory work.

The second study, released last month by another Briton, Prof. D. E. Foswillo of the Royal College of Surgeons, reported the first experimental evidence of the linkage between the blight and birth defects, in a study of marmoset monkeys. According to Newsweek, two groups of pregnant marmoset monkeys were studied, one of which was fed a diet supplemented with blighted potatoes and another control group, given a normal diet. The group that received a blighted potato diet produced four defective offspring of 11 births, and the control group produced normal babies.

Late blight, Dr. Ohms said, is caused at least in part by damp, cool climate, and is found in the midwest, Florida and along the eastern seaboard, but not in Idaho, where the climate apparently will not support it.

Idaho potato blight, termed "early blight" — has not been used in any studies reported thus far, Dr. Ohms said.

Ohms went on to say that there is "no concern at all in Idaho, we don't even have the organism," but said he is at work on additional research "to test organisms and their ability to cause birth defects on mice."

"We have early blight," Dr. Dexter Douglas, a federal scientist agreed. "Alternaria Solani" not involved in the studies.

Dr. Douglas, a U.S.D.A. pathologist at work at the Aberdeen Testing Station, agreed with Ohms that there is no late blight in Idaho, but also said the research in England "definitely shows some possibility of birth defects in the consumption of potatoes."

But Douglas said he is also engaged in research studying the possibility of birth defects resulting from blighted potatoes, but said his research was "investigating the possibility of other diseases in the 'vicinity of the blight' being involved."

Douglas said the presence of blight causes the potato to produce a reaction, a defensive protection in the organism near the site of infection, and his research is presently seeking to determine whether the reaction produced automatically by the potato may be contributing to the results discovered by the British workers.

"This has to be definitely considered," Dr. Douglas said, "we are aware of it and working in the area and we are concerned with it." He predicted "a major emphasis" in research on the problem in the next several years.

But, he cautioned, the tentative results reached in the British studies have been exaggerated.

Doyle Burns, executive director of the National Potato Council in Denver, Colo., agrees with the scientists that the situation has been "blown out of proportion," but also acknowledges that research is necessary in the area.

"We've been aware of this ever since last spring," Burns said, "and we have done preliminary investigative work. And while we're not a medical authority, we can't find a real basis of fact for what he (Renwick) has done. Burns said the scientist has "simply related problems that develop in the unborn fetus to late blight."

And Burns was also critical of the British for releasing their preliminary findings, saying "I think they were premature even releasing it at this point. There may be a problem and I think we ought to look into it."

But he said there has been no noticeable concern caused within the industry as the result of the studies reported to date.

By United Press International
Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger will fly to Paris Sunday for further negotiations with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho on an agreement to end the war in Vietnam, informed sources reported today in Washington. Tho arrived in Paris today with a demand the agreement be signed quickly.

The Washington report said Kissinger and Tho were expected to meet on Monday. Kissinger has said that the agreement could be wrapped up in one more negotiating session although further consultations probably would be necessary in Saigon.

Kissinger was flying to Camp David today for further talks with President Nixon and the Washington report said he would return to the capital before flying to Paris.

The White House remained optimistic on an early cease-fire agreement although both the North Vietnamese and South Vietnamese appeared to have hardened their positions Thursday in the regularly scheduled Paris peace talks.

Hanoi said it would not accept changes in the proposed draft cease-fire agreement, Saigon said there must be provisions for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops.

In an arrival statement at Le Bourget airfield when he flew in from Hanoi, Peking and Moscow, Tho said: "On the U.S. proposal, I am coming to Paris to hold negotiations once again with the U.S. side in order to settle rapidly the conclusion of the agreement."

Diplomatic sources in Paris said the Chinese and the Russians urged him to show moderation in his dealings with Kissinger.

Tho called on the United States to abide by the provisions of the draft accord already agreed, but did not specifically rule out changes.

"On this occasion I reaffirm our determination to abide by the provisions agreed upon between the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the United States," Tho said.

In the brief arrival statement Tho demanded the United States call off immediately its heavy bombing strikes. "If the United States really desires a settlement of the problem through negotiations, it should put an immediate end to such actions and abide by the provisions agreed on between the two parties," Tho said.

Nguyen Van Le of the North Vietnamese mission in Paris said Thursday the meeting between Tho and Kissinger would be held in response to what he said, were insistent requests for another such meeting from the United States.

Train crash kills TF man

KIMAMA — Everett A. Stagemeyer, 52, Twin Falls, was killed instantly near here Thursday morning in a truck-train collision.

The accident occurred at about 9:45 at the railroad crossing just north of the Highway 24-800 W. intersection in Lincoln County.

Stagemeyer was hauling gravel for road construction between Kimama and District on Highway 24, Idaho State Police said.

An eyewitness told State patrolman Delon Jones that his car and Stagemeyer's heavy truck were travelling south. The witness had stopped his truck north of the railroad crossing to clean mud from his outside mirrors.

He said the 1963 tractor-trailer driven by Stagemeyer passed him and started to slow down after a train whistle was sounded.

But Stagemeyer apparently did not see or hear the train and drove slowly across the tracks according to the witness. The train struck the tractor on the right side and threw it about 35 yards east of the crossing. The railroad engine stopped about one mile down the tracks according to state police.

The victim remained in the tractor wreckage and was pronounced dead at the scene by officials.

An inquest into the death is pending and state police are investigating the incident. Jones was assisted by the Lincoln County sheriff, Thomas Conner, and coroner Dr. R. G. Neher in Thursday's investigation.

3 area men missing on overdue Gem flight

TWIN FALLS — Three Twin Falls county men were reported aboard a light plane missing and overdue on a flight to Lewiston.

Federal Aviation Agency officials in Boise confirmed the plane was overdue and said a flight plan was filed through the Burley FAA office stating the craft was en route to Lewiston.

It was reportedly piloted by Nolan Rehn, 32, Kimberly, with passengers including R. G. Zebell (Zeb Bell) former radio announcer, and his father-in-law, Dean Hicketta, Jerome.

FAA officials said a search is underway in Oregon, under the direction of Oregon Aeronautics officials.

Brad Foltman, search and rescue coordinator for the Idaho Aeronautics Administration said a search had not been authorized in Idaho pending a thorough check of details of the flight.

It was reported the men had changed their plan for a flight to Baker, Ore., where Bell was to attend a radio convention.

The pilot, Rehn, 32, is married and the father of two children. He and his uncle, Reuben Nab, owner of Mary Carter Moore Paint Co., Twin Falls, are owners of the plane.

Reports here indicated the plane landed in Boise and left there at 1:49 p.m. Thursday planning to land next in Baker and has not been heard from since leaving Boise.

Bell, a former employee of KLIK radio in Twin Falls, is now employed by the Northwestern Mutual Ins. Co.

Charges fly in student deaths

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)

Police and National Guard troops today sealed off the Southern University campus, site of a confrontation in which two black youths were killed Thursday. Students and authorities blamed each other for the deaths.

Gov. Edwin Edwards declared the Louisiana capital in a state of emergency and called up 700 National Guardsmen. He said there had been a "run on ammunition" in Baton Rouge and threats against his life.

Police accused black demonstrators of throwing tear gas and fragmentation bombs from the administration building they occupied and said one of the bombs was responsible for the two deaths.

Students said they had no bombs. They said a law officer must have killed the youths with a shotgun blast.

A coroner's report was inconclusive.

Sheriff's deputies and state police were called to the Southern campus Thursday morning by school officials who complained protesting students took over the administration building. When the officers arrived, there was an outburst of tear gas.

The two youths fell dead as they ran from the building. A third student was wounded, not seriously.

Coroner Hypolite Landry of East Baton Rouge said both men died of multiple injuries, mostly to the head, caused by "lead fragments." But Landry said he could not determine whether the fragments were buckshot from a shotgun or shrapnel from a bomb.

Edwards, surrounded by 10 bodyguards at a news conference, said sales of ammunition and firearms in the capital were ordered suspended.

"Civil liberties are suffocated at times like these," he said. "We have understood that a group of 10 students have banded together with the intention of killing me." He did not elaborate on where he got the information.

Edwards ordered the campus closed until after Thanksgiving. For three weeks students on three black university campuses in Louisiana have demonstrated, filed petitions, marched and in one case broken windows and furniture to back demands for more voice in school affairs, better food and living quarters and the resignations of administrators.

Students from out of town who live on campus were allowed to spend the night there, but anyone who left after Thursday's shooting was not allowed back on campus. Some of the students who already were on the campus left during the night carrying autos.

US blacks fear plot on births

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)

A recent study conducted in Philadelphia and Charlotte, N.C., shows that many blacks believe white America will try to decrease their numbers with planned population control, it was reported Thursday.

Dr. Castellano Turner, a black University of Massachusetts psychologist, told an annual meeting of the American Public Health Association meeting his survey covered 1,600 blacks in the two cities.

Respondents to the survey were asked if they agreed with five statements. In final results:

—58.2 per cent agreed that birth control clinics in black neighborhoods should be operated by blacks.

—62.6 per cent agreed that "as blacks become more militant, there will be an effort to decrease the black population."

Rogers talks with Swiss on hijackers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers has met with a Swiss diplomat to stress the desire of the United States to begin negotiations with Cuba on ways to discourage air piracy.

Rogers met for 10 minutes Thursday with Ambassador Felix Schnyder of Switzerland and asked him to inform Premier Fidel Castro that the United States is eager to negotiate directly or indirectly on the aerial hijacking situation.

Switzerland has traditionally represented the United States in its dealing with Havana.

Schools lose federal moneys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge has told the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to cut off federal money to school districts still practicing racial segregation.

In a written opinion issued Thursday, U.S. District Court Judge John H. Pratt ruled that efforts made by HEW and the department's Office of Civil Rights toward voluntary compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act "have been unsuccessful in the case of many state and local educational agencies which continue to receive substantial federal funds in violation of the statute."

In ruling that the federal government "has not properly fulfilled its obligation" to eliminate public school segregation, Pratt ordered HEW officials to confer with the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, the plaintiffs in the suit filed in October, 1970.

Pratt said the two parties must draw up an order within 30 days for him to sign compelling HEW to begin enforcement proceedings against school systems not in voluntary compliance with the federal law.

He dismissed the HEW argument that enforcement of the federal statute as "discretionary" with heavy reliance for compliance placed on the individual school districts.

Mud cleanup stalls

BIG SUR, Calif. (UPI) — Rain stalled cleanup operations Thursday night in this rustic coastal community buried beneath tons of mud, ooze and rocks, some as large as automobiles.

Walls of mud from a mountainside denuded by summer fires and softened by heavy downpours sloshed across the tiny village Wednesday, stranding motorists, collapsing buildings and wrecking cars and trucks, but caused no deaths or injuries.

More rain was forecast for tonight.

Mud slides closed nine miles of scenic Route 1 along the Pacific Ocean. The area extended from two miles north of Big Sur to seven miles south of the community of artists, hippies and the wealthy.

The California Highway Patrol said the highway would be closed "at least until the weekend."

It was feared the highway was washed away in places under weight of the avalanches.

Hurricane hit by the second series of mudslides in a month was Big Sur village. A garage, store, post office and chapel were swept away.

Area residents said the massive slides were the most severe to ever hit the village isolated beneath a coastal mountain range.

TWIN FALLS — James W. Stallings, 68, Twin Falls, died Thursday afternoon at his home of a short illness.

He was born July 29, 1904, in Vella Rica, Ga. He married Eleanor D. Davey July 1, 1922, in Butte, Mont.

He came to Twin Falls from Phoenix, Ariz., in 1952, and in that year formed Vacuum Cleaners of Idaho.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, James D. Stallings, Ft. Bragg, Calif., and Bob Wesley Stallings, Twin Falls; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth (Ruth) Burgess, Campbell, Calif., and Mrs. Royal (Eleanor) Lambert, Bountiful, Utah; four brothers, Charles W. Stallings, Toll House, Calif.; Raymond P. Stallings, Dallas, Tex.; Henry B. Stallings, and Ralph D. Stallings, both El Paso, Tex.; two sisters, Mrs. Kate Rainwater, and Mrs. Nell Greps, both Phoenix, Ariz.; 15 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by one brother.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Monday at White Mortuary Chapel. Rev. James B. Hughes will officiate.

JUDY ULRICH REED

Hazel Sweetley

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Hazel Browne Sweetley, 86, Belmont, Calif., former long-time resident of Twin Falls, died Wednesday in Belmont.

She was born in Spokane, Wash., in 1886, the daughter of John J. Browne, leading founder of Spokane.

She came to Twin Falls as the bride of Judge Everett M. Sweetley in 1907. He was a lawyer for the Twin Falls Land and Water Co. The firm initiated the irrigation system from which the Twin Falls area grew.

Educated in Spokane and in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Sweetley was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa after her graduation from Washington State College at Pullman.

During her 50 years in Twin Falls Mrs. Sweetley was active in community affairs. She was a long-time member of the library board and served as its president.

She was a charter member of PEO Chapter A1 and served as chapter president. She served the Red Cross during World War I; the Twentieth Century Club, the DAR and AAUW.

Mrs. Sweetley is survived by two daughters, Jean Sweetley, Stockton, Calif., and Anna Sweetley, Belmont, and by one son, Marlin Sweetley, New York City, N. Y.

Graveside services will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Twin Falls Cemetery by Rev. Albert Allen.

Funeral Services

TWIN FALLS — Rosary for Judy Ulrich Reed will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Reynolds Funeral Chapel with Mass being celebrated at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Edward's Catholic Church. Burial in Sunset Memorial Park.

MALTA — Services for Sylvester Hutchison will be conducted at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Malta Ward LDS Church. Final rites in the Malta Cemetery.

TF man dies

TWIN FALLS — James Hayes, 77, was found dead in his home at 171 South Blue Lakes Blvd. late Thursday, apparently of natural causes.

He was found by Dr. Gregory Kadlec, police reports indicated. Officers said he had apparently been dead from two to three days.

Decision upheld

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Supreme Court unanimously upheld Thursday the two-year prison sentence imposed on a Vietnam veteran who was arrested on drug charges and later rehabilitated himself.

In a unanimous opinion by Chief Justice Henry McQuade, the high court held that the two-year sentence imposed on William Ogata, formerly of Jerome, was imposed for lawful reasons and did not represent an abuse of the district court's sentencing discretion.

It also pointed out the sentence handed down by District Judge Henry S. Martin of Idaho Falls was for less than the maximum prescribed by statute.

Ogata was convicted of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, heroin.

Valley Briefs

TWIN FALLS — The Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club will hold a barn dance for members in a real barn on the Henry Stevers farm southeast of Twin Falls at 8 p.m. Friday night. Mrs. James Guthrie and Mrs. Ace Hansen are the program co-chairmen.

TWIN FALLS — The Christian Science Church sermon Sunday will be entitled "Soul and Body."

Services begin at 11 a.m. "Thanksgiving Every Day" is the topic of the Monday night program at 6:30 p.m. over KTFI.

Wednesday evening services are at the church, 160 Ninth Ave. E., at 8 p.m.

Bureau may ban drug sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs has proposed restricting sales of nine "highly addictive" barbiturates linked to 1,771 suicides and deaths in 17 months.

The bureau said the barbiturates are more dangerous than heroin.

"Withdrawal from the use of these drugs can be fatal and, in many instances, withdrawal symptoms are more severe from a barbiturate habit than from heroin addiction," BNDD Director John F. Ingersoll told a news conference Thursday.

Ingersoll identified the barbiturates as amobarbital, butabarbital, cyclobarbital, heptabarbital, pentobarbital, probarbital, secobarbital, talbutal and vinbarbital.

These are the so-called generic or chemical names of the compounds, not the names under which they usually are prescribed or sold. The chemical name might appear in a listing of ingredients, Ingersoll said.

Ingersoll listed only five brand-name drugs which contain compounds from the list: secobarbital (secobarbital), talbutal (amobarbital and secobarbital), amytal (amobarbital), neumbital (pentobarbital) and butisol (butabarbital).

BNDD said the barbiturates cited by Ingersoll fell in the category of "sedative-hypnotics" and were used frequently as general anesthetics or in treatment of acute convulsions, tension and insomnia.

"They are highly addictive and create a high psychic and physical dependency," Ingersoll said.

The BNDD director asked the Food and Drug Administration to place the nine barbiturates under the same controls for cocaine, morphine, codeine, methadone and amphetamine. These controls permit BNDD to set manufacturing quotas, prohibit issuance of refillable prescriptions, prohibit export or import and ban public sale without federal authorization.

In a 101-page report to the FDA, Ingersoll said the nine barbiturates were involved in 1,771 suicides and deaths plus 3,475 overdose and injury cases in 32 states in a 17-month period ending May 1.

The report said the "barbiturates were the principal drug of abuse, outranking even heroin," in a survey of nearly 2,000 arrest cases in Chicago, Los Angeles and New Orleans.

"We have found that these drugs are extremely dangerous," Ingersoll said.

Suit filed against RR

TWIN FALLS — A train and car accident nearly a year ago at the Curry Crossing west of Twin Falls has resulted in a damage suit of more than $200,000 against Union Pacific Railroad.

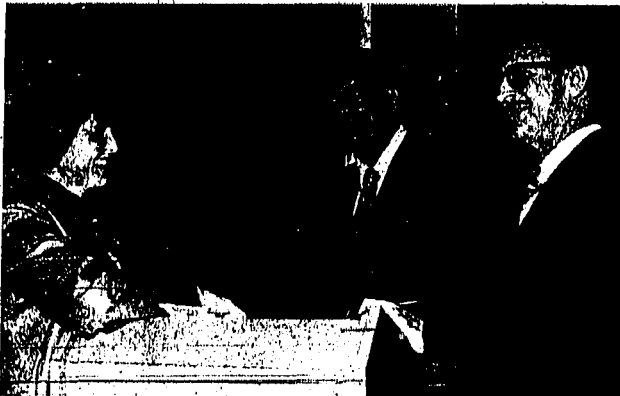

The suit is brought in Fifth Judicial District Court by Carl M. Mills and JoAnn Pendergrass, parents of the late Linda M. Mills, killed in the accident.

Also killed was her infant son, Willie Loni Mills. The parents and grandparents are asking $100,000 damages for each death and $1,352.27 in funeral and ambulance costs.

The two were passengers in a vehicle driven by George Roy Compher, Buhl. The vehicle collided with a Union Pacific train at the crossing following a snowstorm Dec. 29, 1971.

Plaintiffs in the case charge negligence on the part of the railroad in connection with the accident.

Area pilots learn human error cause of accidents

TWIN FALLS — General aviation flight is much safer than riding in an automobile but in either case human error causes most accidents.

Charles C. Cole, Oklahoma City aviation physiologist of the Federal Aviation Administration's Civil Aeromedical Institute, told more than 100 area pilots Thursday evening that 86 per cent of aviation accidents are because of human error.

And of this number, 56 per cent occur during landings.

The aviation expert, speaking at an aviation safety seminar at the Shield's Building, College of Southern Idaho, said research in all accidents in airplanes is directed to find out "what goes on behind the wheel of the plane."

He discussed, in depth, medical aspects of flying. Records, he said, show 1,270 were killed in general aviation accidents during the last reportable year (1971) while 9,900 pedestrians were killed.

Compared to aviation deaths, there were 1,470 killed at grade crossings and a total of 850 were killed in bicycle accidents.

General aviation planes now number over 130,000 while there are only 2,875 air carrier planes in operation.

There are 29,811 airmen in the northwest states (Oregon, Washington and Idaho) and in this same area there is one flight examining physician for each 81 pilots.

"Knowledge and education mean safety," Cole said. "When you fly, the airplane should have all your attention and you should never fly after having consumed alcohol in any amount or while under the influence of drugs, even though prescribed by a doctor."

The three hour session included showing of two slide presentations and three motion pictures, all on various aspects of flight.

Harry Merrick, manager of Joslin Field, was chairman at the session and Jack Van De Riet, Boise FFA accident prevention specialist, assisted.

Land inclusion opposed

LEWISTON (UPI) — The North Idaho Chamber of Commerce has voted to oppose inclusion of any more land in the state in the wilderness system.

The action came at the closing session of the chamber's annual four-day meeting this week.

The chamber noted more than 2.6 million acres of National Forest land in Idaho are already classified as wilderness of primitive areas and thus are not available for the harvesting of trees.

In its resolution, the chamber said the Forest Service is currently studying the undeveloped areas of the state for possible inclusion in the wilderness system and said it felt resources must be utilized for the best effect on the economy of the whole state.

Top lodge official visits Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Lincoln Chapter 42 Order of Eastern Star met Wednesday evening for the official visit of Mrs. Glenadene Keister, worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Idaho.

A luncheon was given in her honor by the past matron's club at noon, and a banquet for all members preceded the special evening meeting.

Mrs. Ray Coles, president of Past Matron's club, presented a gift to the honored guest at the luncheon. Honorary membership and a monetary gift accompanied by a candle (which is her emblem of the year) were presented to her by the chapter.

Mrs. Elmer Terry received an appointment to grand chapter as assistant grand warder. She is local worthy matron this year.

Chapters represented at the meeting included Halley, Paul, Richfield, Burley, Twin Falls, Meridian, Soda Springs, Gooding, St. Anthony, Piler, Buhl, Jerome, West Yellowstone.

Guy Simmons, Jerome, was introduced as a 58 year member of OES.

Seven members of Jobs Daughters, Bethel 61, Shoshone, sang two of the worthy grand matrons songs. They were Kristy Burkett, Honored Queen; Nancy Borden, senior princess; Colleen Jones, junior princess; Carla Hahn, Julie Guthrie, Linda Webb and Tammy Carraway.

Serving committee included Mrs. Dorothy Clayton, Mrs. Frank Finlayson, Mrs. Ray Clayton and Tammy Carraway.

The regular meeting for November will be on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Masonic temple.

Damages asked in traffic mishap

TWIN FALLS — Damages of $100,000 and medical and telephone expenses are asked in a suit filed in Fifth Judicial District Court here.

Alfred R. and Verla Jensen and John R. Jensen are asking damages from Leon Wright, Jane Doe Wright, Leona Wright through her guardian ad litem, Leon Wright, and James Couch Jr., as the result of injuries sustained by John R. Jensen, a minor, in a traffic accident June 27, 1972.

The suit charges Couch with driving a vehicle, owned by Wright, in a reckless manner so as to cause the accident which resulted in the injuries of his passenger, John R. Jensen.

The accident occurred two and one half miles south of Stanley on U. S. Highway 93.

Those Wage-Price Controls

WASHINGTON — You can put it down as definite that price and wage controls will be continued next year.

That far-reaching decision has been made by President Nixon and his top economic advisers.

The Administration will ask the new Congress, convening Jan. 3, to extend for at least two more years the Economic Stabilization Act — which empowers the President to impose controls on prices, wages, rents, etc.

Key factors behind this backstage decision are:

— Disturbing indications that inflation is again flaring up.

— Expiration in 1973 of a number of major union contracts, with the certainty of demands for sizable pay and benefit hikes.

— White House authorities are privately increasingly concerned over the persistent upward cost-of-living trend in the last few months. Despite controls, wholesale prices and interest rates have gone up — with inevitable ensuing retail rises.

— Particularly disquieting is that this has occurred notwithstanding the President's tough policy of determinedly curbing Federal spending — including the vetoing of multi-billion dollar appropriation bills.

— "It is quite evident," a high economic official told this column, "that certain additional restraints are called for. Just what they will be is still under consideration. But you can be sure that prompt and forceful action will be taken to 'cool-it.' The President is determined to prevent the economy from again becoming overheated. Whatever is necessary to accomplish that will be done. That's positive."

Some 5 million workers will have direct stakes in the union contracts expiring in 1973 — the largest number since World War II.

Involved in this explosive rash of negotiations will be some of the biggest and most militant labor organizations — Teamsters, United Auto Workers, Machinists, United Rubber Workers, electrical unions.

All have a long history of waging stormy battles to enforce demands.

Union insiders are hinting of recourse to a crafty strategy to circumvent Phase Two controls — now in effect on wage scales. Instead of seeking sizable pay boosts that run counter to those controls, laborite negotiators will shift their emphasis to other demands, such as shorter work week, more and longer vacations and holidays, job security, expanded medical care, etc.

While costly, such fringe benefits presumably would come within Phase Two limitations.

Significant tip-off on the Administration's unannounced plan to continue price and wage controls next year was dropped by Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson at a meeting of the distinguished Business Council at Hot Springs, Va., late last month.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

About Warts

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 9-year-old daughter had three verrucas burned off her feet three weeks ago. Now another is starting in another area.

She does a lot of swimming and I figured that is where she got them, but I have heard of people who hadn't been in a pool for a year and I wonder how they got theirs.

Are they catching as I've always been led to believe? If at a pool, can a disinfectant or something kill the germs? Or are verrucas caused by a virus, which I've also been told?

Our doctor says there is nothing you can do except burn them out, and I wonder if other remedies have been found. — Mrs. E. R. O.

Verruca is a technical name for wart. It's as baffling under either name.

You are correct that they are caused by a virus of some sort, but nobody has been able to pin down exactly what virus it is, or how to prevent it from spreading. I don't know of any valid evidence that swimming pools have anything to do with it.

Probably they spread from person to person. How? Who knows? Studies of children in institutions reveal many more with warts than among other children. The same studies indicate that warts last about two years and then disappear with no more explanation than was afforded in their appearance. They just do.

Worst place to have a wart usually is on the sole of the foot. That's the so-called "planter wart," so named not because it is a different kind of wart, but because it happens to be on the sole, or "planter" part of the foot. It's a lump and it hurts to walk on it, whereas the same wart somewhere else wouldn't be painful. Just unsightly.

There are more favorite remedies for warts than there are for hiccups, and that's saying something. Some of these "sure cures" work; a lot of them probably derive their "effectiveness" from the fact that people have monkeyed around with all sorts of remedies for a couple of years, and the "sure cure" is the one they happen to be using when the warts, in their own sweet time, decide to go away.

One simple procedure is to scrub the wart gently with a nail brush every day. Rubbing with a shiny quarter has had good results — they say. Maybe the moderate irritation helps establish immunity.

Castor oil or linseed oil applied to the wart is supposed to work. It never did for me, though. Ditto for slices of onion, potato or other edibles.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told that green potatoes are poisonous. Would it be all right to eat them after the green part has been pared away? — Mrs. C. H.

When part of a potato is green it can be poisonous, containing an atrophine-like substance. Cut away the green part and the rest of the potato is safe.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does a "Class I" in a Pap test report mean? What should be done? — J. L. J.

It means everything was normal, and nothing needs to be done. Just have the routine test when it comes up next, in six to 12 months, on whatever schedule you follow.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail; but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

'I'm not taking any more chances!'

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

SOS Was Ignored

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Gordon Allott left Washington in early autumn to campaign in Colorado for a fourth term, he was armed with polls showing him far ahead and this comforting reassurance from the White House: If you need help from President Nixon, just say the word.

Allott scarcely suspected he would need help against little-known Republican — turned — Democrat Floyd Haskell. But when late polls showed Haskell gaining rapidly and Allott standing still, Allott's operatives said the word in the form of an SOS to Mr. Nixon: Come quick.

Indeed, such a Nixon trip was tentatively scheduled on the campaign's last weekend. But, in the end, it did not fit in (a big snowfall in Colorado, Presidential operatives mutter). So, Gordon Allott, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee with an inflexible record of loyalty to Mr. Nixon, perished without any Presidential rescue expedition.

That treatment of Allott is one source for real anger by Republican politicians in the wake of Mr. Nixon's 49-state sweep. Not since Lame Duck President Eisenhower stood aside during the 1958 Democratic landslide has an incumbent President been so exasperated by his own party's members. Though publicly restrained in typical Republican fashion, party leaders are privately outraged in denunciation of their triumphant President.

That outrage seems intense enough to threaten Mr. Nixon's second term in ways he does not appreciate. Republicans in Congress promise to ignore White House entreaties on tough legislation. Some even confess hopes that Mr. Nixon's haughty chamberlains will be implicated in investigations of the Watergate scandal.

In effect, Mr. Nixon's acquiescence in Republican defections has magnified his lame duck quality. "From now on, I'll be paddling my own canoe," a hitherto Nixonite state chairman told us. "The price of an invitation to dinner at the White House is too high to pay."

If this feeling persists, the strategy of the 1972 Nixon campaign will have backfired. To avoid mistakes of the past, his managers radically — and wisely — reduced his time on the campaign trail, and that meant wholesale rejection of requests from state candidates.

PAUL HARVEY

To Success

"Here's to success!" What are you talking about, Paul Harvey? Are you — American or something?

It's not just me saying it. I scan every week many newspapers and the trend is undeniable — successful men and women are coming back in style.

Life magazine which made a religion of defying common men is joining the applause for uncommon Bobby Fischer.

Time magazine has a rich man on the cover?

The fastest growing of all magazines is one called Success Unlimited.

And each community's media are focusing local interest on local men of accomplishment.

After a generation of preoccupation with the underdog, is the underdog again to have his day?

The Southwest Placement Assn. is comprised of college, industry and government job recruiters. They've just heard a top sergeant talk from Bob Wilson, president of Collins Radio. He told them to stop thinking in terms of who reads a job and a job, to stop thinking "numbers" and to start thinking "people."

He dared to suggest that American industry should, indeed must, discriminate!

collectively be doomed to mediocrity.

He says we must resume rewarding and encouraging those individuals who make the greatest contribution.

Mr. Wilson says an athletic team, an industry or a nation needs the superstars — the high-performers who carry the ball for the rest of us.

He says instead of criticizing and being jealous of the outstanding few, we should be eternally grateful for their leadership. And he says schools which eliminate grades dull the appetite for excellence.

A society which subsidizes idleness and penalizes productivity soon becomes unproductive.

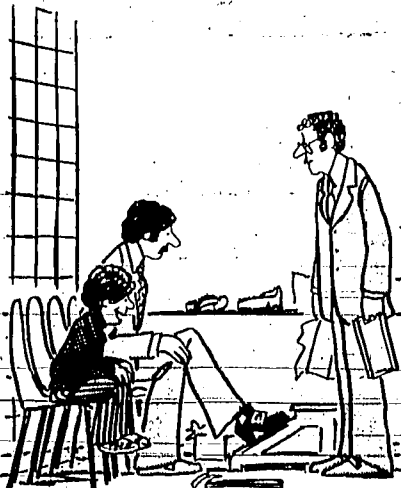

He says a society which concentrates on dividing what wealth it has is neglecting its greater opportunity to create new wealth.

What has alerted Mr. Wilson — and perhaps the others who are now trying to redirect our aim — is this: Of the world's total work force, America's 6 percent share is proportionately small. We can survive the competition only if we as individuals "outperform" them.

And that, says Mr. Wilson, requires careful discrimination in the selection of which individual can best get each job done.

As Brother Oral Roberts would say, "Amen and amen!"

BERRY'S WORLD

"WOW! Could I get some Pilgrim shoes for Thanksgiving, too?"

Happy Homecoming

The 31,410 Americans who died on our highways in the first seven months of 1972 were people just like you. Four out of five had never been in an accident before. Many of them were sitting on their seat belts, their best insurance against death or serious injury in a collision.

Thanksgiving will be no happy event for the families of those who will never arrive. Their holiday will be remembered for the sound of sirens, for the vigil for a son or daughter they will never see again. The banquet will wait. Lives will be altered tragically and permanently.

The National Safety Council estimated that 750 motorists died without reaching their destinations over the Thanksgiving weekend last year. Thousands more were disabled, many for life. And tragically, we are wildly careening toward a record number of traffic fatalities and injuries in 1972.

We can break this chain of human loss if everyone takes a few seconds to buckle up their safety belts. We need not suffer the 59,000 deaths and 3.8 million disabling injuries predicted for 1972.

Seat belts lessen or prevent injuries and save lives. They keep you from flying into the windshield in a crash or sudden braking. Or being thrown onto the road where chances are thirty times greater that you will be killed than if you stayed in the car. They help you maintain control of your car in an emergency and avoid the multiple impacts that cause one of every five traffic deaths.

It is a simple act of love as well as self-preservation to buckle up and keep your name out of the obituaries. And to make sure that your passengers are buckled up too.

Play the percentages. Whether you are driving one or one hundred miles. Give yourself a chance to enjoy this Thanksgiving. And make it a happy homecoming for those waiting for you too. What better way to show you care?

Free World Tool

Five years ago, French publisher and politician Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber shook up his fellow Europeans with his book, "The American Challenge," in which he warned that the countries of Western Europe had to integrate economically — or become subservient to American industrial might.

Today, he is calling upon the leaders of both Europe and the United States to recognize that they have a "golden opportunity" to end East-West rivalry and to "emancipate the Communist people with new weapons of peace."

In an interview in Business Week magazine, Servan-Schreiber recalls that the Marshall Plan rapidly built up the European market after World War II. The United States, he contends, is ready to do the same thing with the Communist world — "subsidize the market to start it, to make it take off."

He predicts that the multinational corporation will be the tool for opening up the Communist countries of the East.

The Communists, he says, prefer to do business with large companies rather than a lot of different, small ones. Most of the time they want to work with American multi-national companies because they are large and diversified and can work on many projects with one management team.

But the "American Challenge" is no longer purely American, he says. The great multinational corporations challenge all nations and their political sovereignty. The sheer power of these economic giants has outstripped the ability of states to control them.

At the same time, he sees a growing antagonism toward multinational corporations as a dangerous development. Such corporations can be the instruments "for improving the standard of living more efficiently than anything else in history," he believes, and can serve as the dynamo to spark progress in the Communist bloc and the Third World.

"We can emancipate the Communist people with these new weapons of peace," says Servan-Schreiber. "Once the average Russian has an improved standard of living, the Soviet Union will be open to change. A free market implies a free mind."

MR. SPECTATOR

Cost Of Security

Skyjackings — and the threat of them — are costing money.

Even in Twin Falls the City-County Airport will be drawn into the web. First will be installation of a metal detector gate in the immediate future and then there is a strong possibility carry-on luggage of passengers will be searched. This is now done at the Boise airport.

But regardless of the plans for the future in Twin Falls such steps will be absolutely necessary. It is unfortunate, but this "look and find" situation will apparently become as much a part of air travel as is buying a ticket.

And the money? Well, take a look at the airport at Salt Lake City. We do not know how many policemen or security officers were involved in previous plans, but as of today there will be eight more policemen and 11 more security officers on the airport force. And headquarters for the use of the officer-security force, plus necessary two-way radio equipment which ties together all arms of the law, is being completed at a cost of $206,000.

This cost, plus the salaries of the security and police officers, is being picked up by the City of Salt Lake. Security costs will not be this high in Twin Falls but the expenditure of some money is a certainty. The problem is not alone for Twin Falls. The additional costs are being eyed by Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Boise and Lewiston.

And, Mr. Spectator might point out that the next time you take a commercial plane trip just be glad someone is looking out for your safety.

Car booby trap kills reservist

HELFAST (UPI) — A booby-trapped car exploded early today in Enniskillen, 80 miles from Belfast, and killed its police reservist owner. He was the 633rd person to die in three years of religious and political strife in Northern Ireland.

A British army spokesman said the automobile exploded in a parking lot after the policeman, who was coming off duty, switched on the ignition.

It was the second killing in two days and coincided with a visit by British Prime Minister Edward Heath, who arrived Thursday in Belfast to talk to political and religious moderates about the Northern Ireland crisis. As he neared the end of the visit, Heath told Protestants any attempt to declare independence from Britain would trigger a "bloodbath."

Army engineers 'serve interests'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The president of the National Wildlife Federation rocked a convention of water users with the charge that the Army Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation seem to be serving special interests rather than the general public.

N. A. Winter, an Arizona businessman, spoke Thursday at the 40th convention of the 18-state National Water Resources Association, being attended by nearly 1,000 farmers, engineers, irrigators and water resource planners, many of whom depend on the agencies for their way of life.

Winter said there is a "growing schism between conservationists and the developers of water resources."

"The division I am talking about appears to be generated by both the policies and the performance of water development agencies and organizations," he said.

As a chief example, Winter said the draft environmental statement for the Bonneville Unit of the Central Utah Project fails to adequately evaluate the actual impact of the project on fish and wildlife resources. He also pointed to the statement for the Teton Dam in eastern Idaho.

"The bureau, in this case, even claims a recreational benefit for replacing 17 miles of blue-ribbon, self-sustaining trout stream with a fluctuating put-and-take reservoir," he said. "We feel alternatives did not receive adequate consideration."

"In all candor and honesty, I must confess that such actions and projects severely shake our confidence in the capability of these agencies to act truly in the public benefit rather than for special privileged interests."

Also speaking was an Oregon publisher representing a group seeking "solutions for state and national environmental problems within feasible economic limits," who said the environmental movement has generated extremism and hasty actions with unfortunate results.

"Environment is a golden word on the American political scene," said Philip N. Bladine, past president of the Western Environmental Trade Association. "Under its aura there have been a great many ill-conceived and unsound programs which seriously endanger the public welfare."

An example, he said, is the ban on DDT. An infestation of Tussock Moth has killed an estimated 80 million board feet on 200,000 acres of timber in Oregon, Washington and part of Canada and could spread even further within those areas, severely affecting the local economy and forest environment.

"If DDT is not utilized there is great concern that the infestation will spread to a half million acres in 1973 and '74," he said.

US would reduce UN share

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador George Bush told the United Nations budget committee Thursday the United States wants its yearly assessment reduced to 25 per cent of the organization's budget and the Soviet Union's raised to at least half as much.

Bush said that in 1970 the United States contributed about 40 per cent of all financing of the world organization—assessed and voluntary.

"Forty per cent," Bush said. "Four dollars out of 10, or 40 out of every 100. And the U.S.S.R., what was their contribution? Seven per cent."

On the basis of ability to pay, he said, the Soviet Union should have contributed at least half as much as the United States.

Bush entered the debate on the move ordered by Congress to drop the annual U.S. assessment from its present 31.52 per cent to 25 per cent after a Soviet diplomat accused the United States of making a profit on the United Nations.

Argentine troops quell disorders

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — About 60 non-commissioned navy officers rebelled early today, but surrendered two hours later in what some sources called the first outbreak of trouble since exiled former dictator Juan D. Peron said he was coming home.

Officials said Buenos Aires itself was quiet with 30,000 troops on the alert with shoot-to-kill orders in order to deal with any disorders inspired by Peron's return later today.

The sources said the rebellion — officially described as an "internal problem" — occurred when the non-commissioned officers overpowered four officers after a brief firefight, took them as hostages and fled in four vehicles from a navy mechanics school.

This correspondent heard what sounded like gunfire at the school, located in the Nunez district of the capital, but officials did not comment on whatever happened. A spokesman said only that naval commanders met in emergency session to deal with it.

Navy sources said infantry and marine units surrounded and captured the 60 non-commissioned officers after about two hours.

They said the 60, described as "leftwing Peronists," put up no resistance.

The incident occurred as Buenos Aires awaited the return of Peron after 17 years — and in an atmosphere made jittery by a dispute over the number of his followers allowed to go to the airport to greet him.

Lanusse said only 300 of Peron's supporters could go to Ezeiza airport to welcome him home after his 17-year-long exile in Latin America and Europe.

US bans turtles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal officials today ordered major restrictions upon the importation into the United States of small turtles. They estimated about 230,000 persons annually catch a disorder known as salmonellosis from the reptiles.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said regulations designed to cut the importation of live turtles, tortoises and terrapins less than four inches long and their eggs would be published in the Federal Register Saturday. They will become effective in 30 days.

It is estimated from 800,000 to 1.5 million of the 15-million small turtles sold in the United States annually are imported. Most of the turtles are sold as pets.

Salmonellosis, a bacteria which can cause abdominal pain, nausea, fever and diarrhea and may require hospitalization, has been traced to the imported turtles.

Court upholds Hughes

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Supreme Court Thursday upheld a lower court order which keeps Robert Maheu from exercising any control over the Nevada operations of billionaire Howard Hughes.

The court, in a 3-2 ruling, however, said that part of a preliminary injunction is void. That part directed Maheu to turn over all correspondence, books and records to the Hughes Tool Company.

Maheu was fired in December 1970 from his $512,000 a year job as head of the Hughes operations in Nevada which included seven gambling clubs, a television station, and millions of dollars of other property.

Maheu later filed a $50 million suit against Hughes and the tool company in connection with his dismissal.

The main question before the Supreme Court in the present case was the return of records taken by Maheu when he was ousted by officials of the Hughes Tool Company.

District Judge Howard Babcock of Las Vegas issued an order directing Maheu to return all the papers of the Hughes Tool Company.

American Baptist Church holds convention in TF

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Ernest Coupe, Jerome, was re-elected area president of the Intermountain Area American Baptist Churches of the Northwest at the convention held this week.

The convention, which opened Thursday at the First Baptist Church, ended Saturday afternoon with special dedication and remembrance services.

Rev. Robert J. Smith, Twin Falls, was re-elected area minister. Katherine Franklin, Kuna, was elected president of the American Baptist Women of Idaho.

Convention theme for the conclave which drew some 200 people from area churches was "The Key to the Future." Paul Szeto, pastor of the Seattle Chinese Baptist, was guest speaker Friday and Saturday.

TWIN FALLS — George Myers, missionary recruit to Ethiopia, will speak at the First Christian Church Services Sunday at 9:45 a.m. and again at 8 p.m.

At morning worship hour Job's Daughters Bethel No. 43 will attend with Debra Fuller, honor queen, and Mr. and Mrs. James Beal, guardian and associate guardian.

Youth groups will meet at 7 p.m. Mrs. George Walton will speak on "Fashion Techniques" for junior high school girls, and Mrs. Albert Wegener on "Your Wardrobe" for high school girls.

Junior and senior high school boys will hear William Walker, Idaho State highway patrolman, on "Your Personal Life."

He said, "We must become aware of God and awareness must become individually personalized."

Mrs. Paul W. Lewis showed slides of Thailand and spoke on the country's laws and customs. She outlined the needs of the people of Thailand and told how Baptist members can help meet them.

Friday's sessions spotlighted the "Key '73 Program" by a panel discussion. Rev. Harry Granger, Emmett, spoke on "Becoming aware of our Influence," and Rev. Roy Watson, Filer, discussed "Developing an evangelistic life style."

Rev. Granger served as master of ceremonies at the Friday evening banquet in the YMCA building. The Madrigal Singers from the Twin Falls High School presented musical entertainment.

Rev. Charles Sanders, American Falls, was in charge of the devotional service for Saturday morning's session and Ruth Turner and Teddy Snow presented special music.

Skill sessions took up the morning time. James LaGrone, Castleford, president of the American Baptist Church of the Northwest, assisted by Roy Haley, Castleford, led the session on "Better Church

Week to conclude

TWIN FALLS — Spiritual Emphasis Week at Lynwood Chapel Missionary Church will conclude with revival services by Rev. Marvin E. Engbrecht, Lincoln, Neb.

The programs will be at 7:30 tonight and Sunday at 9:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

"The King's Brass will play for tonight's services and the Dale Krumm Family will be featured musicians Sunday," according to Pastor Ernest D. Neufeld.

Thanksgiving rites set

TWIN FALLS — Congregations from several Twin Falls churches will meet Thanksgiving Eve, Wednesday, for an annual community Thanksgiving service.

The traditional gathering will be at the First Church of the Nazarene, 410 Sixth Ave. N. at 7:30 p.m.

The welcome and call to worship will be given by Rev. Joseph Chastain of the First Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Cosmas White, OSB, of St. Benedict's Priory will give the sermon. He will be introduced by Rev. Les Brown of Valley Christian Church.

Rev. Robert Van Nest of the Presbyterian Church will give the invocation. Old Testament readings will be by Rev. James Hughes of the First Baptist Church.

Pastor Eugene Tjarks of Our Saviour Lutheran Church will provide the responsive reading. Rev. Albert E. Allen of Ascension Episcopal Parish will read from the New Testament.

Thanksgiving prayers will be offered by Capt. Dale Villen, Salvation Army.

The offertory will be conducted by Rev. Herbert Morris, First United Methodist Church, and president of the ministerial association.

Co-chairmen are Rev. Allen and Rev. White.

Mood of concern abroad in church, leader says

By DALE STEWART
Times-News writer

BURLEY — A mood of concern is abroad in the church, Bishop Jack Tuell of the Portland area, United Methodist Church, said here Wednesday.

Bishop Tuell addressed a meeting of United Methodists from Burley, Paul, Rupert and Twin Falls at the Burley church, during a series of visits to churches in the Magic Valley.

Bishop and Mrs. Tuell were guests at a reception at Twin Falls United Methodist Church Thursday evening.

With 19 of 45 United Methodist bishops newly elected this year, Bishop Tuell said, the concern with issues such as drugs, crime and social problems was demonstrated when wives of the new bishops asked to share their views on those matters with the men during an orientation session earlier this year.

"We are not so concerned with the old images of how things are done but concerned as human persons, as Christians, with the world and seeking to find answers to these problems," Bishop Tuell said.

He said it will require greater leadership to meet and solve problems faced by society.

The bishop said the change in view from inward examination to a "new willingness to look outward and ahead" was probably inevitable.

Bishop Tuell said there are several factors binding persons of faith together — the fact that all live in a world crying out for help, concern and justice; that church members share a common ministry, and that they worship at a common altar.

In response to a question, the bishop said the United Methodist's legal council had ruled that only a clergyman may be elected bishop. That, he said, makes it unlikely that a woman may be elected bishop in the near future, although it may someday occur.

Replying to another inquiry, Bishop Tuell said the ecumenical movement — for union of several major Protestant churches — "is in the doldrums." He said the move met few theological barriers, but has encountered emotional responses to social or organizational problems which have been troublesome.

Rev. C. Keith Mills, Caldwell, district superintendent, accompanied Bishop Tuell on his visit to the Magic Valley area. The bishop's visit to Idaho is a part of a tour of his area, which includes Washington and Oregon churches.

Jerome rites set

JEROME — Union Thanksgiving Services sponsored by the Jerome Ministerial Association will be Sunday at 8 p.m. in the United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Dean Hill, president of the association and minister of the First Christian Church, will preside. The Rev. Norman Archer, Church of God, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon, "Giving Thanks to God."

Prayer of Thanksgiving will be offered by the Rev. William Barrett, First Presbyterian Church, and the offertory prayer by the Rev. Sheldon Slagel.

The responsive reading will be by the Rev. Floyd Young, Church of the Nazarene, and the scripture reading by Elder Kenneth Brown, Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Rev. John Garbrandt, host pastor, will proclaim the benediction. Special music will be by Keith Johnson, vocalist, First Presbyterian Church.

Ceremony set

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone First Baptist Church will hold their mortgage-burning ceremony in conjunction with worship services at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Former pastor, Paul B. Winkler, Arvada, Colo., will be guest speaker for the event. He was the pastor in Shoshone at the time the new building was begun and much of the work done toward completion. Rev. Mr. Winkler is a native of Twin Falls.

The new church was begun in 1984 after the old church was burned in December of 1963. The old church dated back to 1901.

Prior to the worship service on Nov. 19, a potluck dinner will be served at the church. All members of the church and friends are urged to attend the dinner and service.

Yule mass at factory

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI will celebrate a midnight mass Christmas Eve for workers in the Direttissima railroad car factory outside Rome, the Vatican announced today.

The factory is located near the Sant' Oreste railway station about 35 miles north of Rome.

This will be the third Christmas Pope Paul has left the Vatican to celebrate midnight mass. In 1966 he journeyed to Florence to be with citizens of that flood-stricken city, and in 1968 he flew to Turin to be with the Italian boot to celebrate mass in the giant Italsider steel works.

Lectures slated

TWIN FALLS — The first of a series of six "Know Your Religion" lectures will be Saturday at the Twin Falls LDS West Stake Center at 8 p.m.

Laird quits defense job

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said today his work in the nation's defense has been deeply satisfying but his convictions have led him to announce his resignation after four years in office.

"We turned our nation and the world away from confrontation and towards negotiation," Laird said.

Laird told the Associated Press Managing Editors' Convention he wanted to be remembered for turning the Catholics plan clothing drive

TWIN FALLS — Catholic churches will be receiving centers for the clothing, bedding and other materials Nov. 19-25 for the 24th annual Catholic Relief Services Thanksgiving Clothing Drive.

Special emphasis is being placed on the need for lightweight clothing, men's trousers, infant wear, piece goods and remnants, and bedding materials.

In addition to distributing the clothing-to-needy-men, women and children in some 70 countries, Catholic Relief Services uses the materials in thousands of sewing cooperatives where the clothing is re-styled in local fashion and sizes.

United Fund nearer goal

TWIN FALLS — United Fund volunteer workers have collected more than $83,000 toward the goal of $114,000 and are optimistic about reaching the goal, Chairman Fred Prazler said today.

The latest contributions of $100 or more have been tabulated from ten firms and agencies in Twin Falls.

These include Idaho Power Co. and Idaho Power Co. employees $100 each; Amalgamated Sugar Co., Elks Club, Albertson's Food Store, United Oil of Idaho, Farm Service Inc., Ruddle, Roth, Evans and Evans, Long Valley Farms and Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Employees.

Contributions of $20 or more have been made by James Hawley, George Brown, Dr. Michael T. Phillips, Archie Lamb, Jerry Benton, Stanley Phillips, Ellen Broke, Mildred Neumann, Hugh McMillen, D. R. Young, Henry Crow, W. R. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Harris, Mrs.

Churches will hold services

TWIN FALLS — All area churches of Christ Scientist will hold Thanksgiving Day services Nov. 23.

"Thanksgiving," the sermon-lesson at First Church of Christ Scientist, 160 Ninth Ave. E., will begin at 11 a.m.

As there is no clergy in the Church of Christ Scientist, the services will be conducted by Lloyd Holmquist, first reader, and Fred Van Engelen, second reader.

A biblical passage will keynote the service, "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

A commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this passage, "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

Mrs. Richard Reed will sing "Sing with Grace in Your Hearts" by George Frederic Handel. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Blaine Shaffer, organist.

Air line winds up in black

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United Air Lines will wind up 1972 in the black, marking its first profitable year since 1969, President Edward P. Carlson said Wednesday.

Carlson refused to speculate on the size of the profit. But he said he expected the airline industry's recovery from its recent recession to continue in 1973.

According to Carlson, United's passenger loads will approach 54 per cent of its available seats, a jump of almost five points over 1971, and its highest point since 1968.

Filer will host BYF convention

FILER — The Filer Baptist Youth Fellowship will host the BYF state convention Nov. 24-26 with the theme "Focus on Life."

The theme is based on the Scripture "My purpose is to give life in all its fullness," John 10:10.

Featured speaker for the sessions will be Mel Taylor, pastor of the Community Baptist Church, Layton, Utah. Mrs. Helen Henderson, Twin Falls, will speak on "When Life life gets out of focus," and Phil Burkhardt, counselor at the Pocatello Senior High School, will discuss "Vocations and Avocations."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 40-year-old woman, but there are times when I feel like 10, and then again I feel like 100.

My ex-husband has been in prison for four years. We have a son, 12 years old, and they love one another even tho they have been separated since the boy was eight.

My family (parents, sisters, and brothers) think I am wrong to take our son to visit his father in prison. They say when the boy sees how easy the law is on criminals, he might decide it's not such a bad life after all.

All I know is, prison life doesn't look easy to me. Besides, it does so much for my ex-husband's morale when he sees the boy, I hate to discontinue those visits. My son looks forward to seeing his father, too.

Son visits

I'll leave it up to you, Abby. Should I listen to my family or not? My present husband says I should take the boy to visit his dad and to tell my family to mind their own business.

DEAR UNDECIDED: I like your husband's attitude. That's exactly what I would have advised you to do.

DEAR ABBY: My poor, sweet, young daughter in law is half out of her mind because our son has left her.

Why did he leave her? Because she continually checked up on him and nagged him. Well, why wouldn't she check up on him? He is never where he says he will be, and she has caught him with other women several times. And she nags him because she loves him and doesn't want him running around with other women.

This lovely, intelligent daughter in law is crazy about our son, and he loved her, too, before she started nagging him. Now she wants to call him up and apologize for having nagged him and checked up on him. I told her she was nuts and she should have thrown him out a long time ago.

He tried to tell her that 95 per cent of the married men cheat on their wives. It's natural because men like a change. My husband who works in an all male business took a survey and found out that only 20 per cent of the married men cheated on their wives!

Abby, what do you think she should do? Even if he is our son, I think she should kick him out for good.

MISSOURI MOTHER IN LAW

DEAR MOTHER: I think your daughter in law should quit discussing her marital problems with you. She needs some professional objective advice from an impartial party. Since she hasn't asked for my advice, I'll not offer any. But I think you should bow out.

DEAR ABBY: I am not writing this just for myself. I am writing it for all the fat girls in the world, because I am sure they all feel the same way.

When I start liking a guy, I am told I don't stand a chance because I am fat. Okay, I'm fat, and I know it, but why should that make such a big difference to a guy? I think personality, character, and what a person is really like on the inside is what is important.

Maybe guys are embarrassed to be seen with a fat girl, but if he really loves her, her looks shouldn't make that much difference. Beauty is only skin deep, you know.

FAT AND LONELY

DEAR FAT: It's true, "looks" are not as important as personality and character, but most people are attracted to those whose appearance they find pleasing. It's unfortunate that so many worthwhile people are not approached and drawn out because of their "looks." But since it's a fact, why not accept it and do something about it?

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 63700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Attends convention

WENDELL — Elaine Ambrose is attending the annual Sigma Delta Chi national convention this week in Dallas, Tex.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Ambrose, Wendell, Sigma Delta Chi is an honorary for professional journalists and political science columnists. Miss Ambrose is vice president of the University of Idaho chapter.

She is a senior at the university, majoring in journalism. She serves as president of Delta Gamma sorority.

Auction held

TWIN FALLS — Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a Nov. 15 meeting at the home of Mrs. George Warberg.

After a short business meeting, members and their guests participated in an annual Christmas auction with Mrs. Warberg auctioning home made items. Proceeds from the auction will go to charity.

"Girl of the month" was awarded to Mrs. Ray Maxfield. Refreshments were served by Sharon Stahlecker and Mrs. Maxfield.

A Christmas party is planned for Dec. 8. The next regular meeting will be on Dec. 13.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — "Things that go" was the theme for Cub Scout Pack 66 at the Nov. 15 meeting at the Presbyterian Church. A new cub, Dana Day, received his Bobcat pin and bear in a special candle ceremony. The next pack meeting will be Dec. 20, in the church.

Author visits schools

TWIN FALLS — Most of the Twin Falls grade school and junior high school pupils are dreaming of a trip to Mexico today.

Mrs. Noma Creed, media-center director for the school district, said the enthusiasm for Mexico began Wednesday when Jane Fredricks, author of a new children's book—about life in Mexico, visited all of the schools in a daylong series of programs about her new book, "Back from Bahia de los Muertos."

Mrs. Fredricks also attended a book autographing party at the Twin Falls Public Library Wednesday afternoon. Many youngsters and parents met with the writer during the afternoon.

Mrs. Fredricks, the daughter of Idaho pioneer parents, has been a teacher in the Boise Independent School District and is married to a Boise attorney, A. T. Fredricks. Her three children are grown, giving her time for travel and writing.

She has roamed the Baja herself and is able to capture the feeling of life in Mexico. Her book involves a 14-year-old boy, Daniel, and a Mexican boy of the same age, Pedro.

The story involves everything from a tragic motorcycle accident which cripples Daniel to his adventures with an old treasure map showing the location of a lost mine known as the Bahia de los Muertos—bay of the dead.

Mrs. Fredricks and her illustrator, Mrs. M. Katherine Myrto, a Boise teacher, used color slides of the area to illustrate their talks.

A copy of the new book has been ordered for each elementary and junior high library in the district, Mrs. Creed said.

Library adds books

FILER — The book "Snake River Country" by Gulick has been presented to the Filer Library by Mrs. E. E. Haug as a memorial to the late Guy H. Shearer.

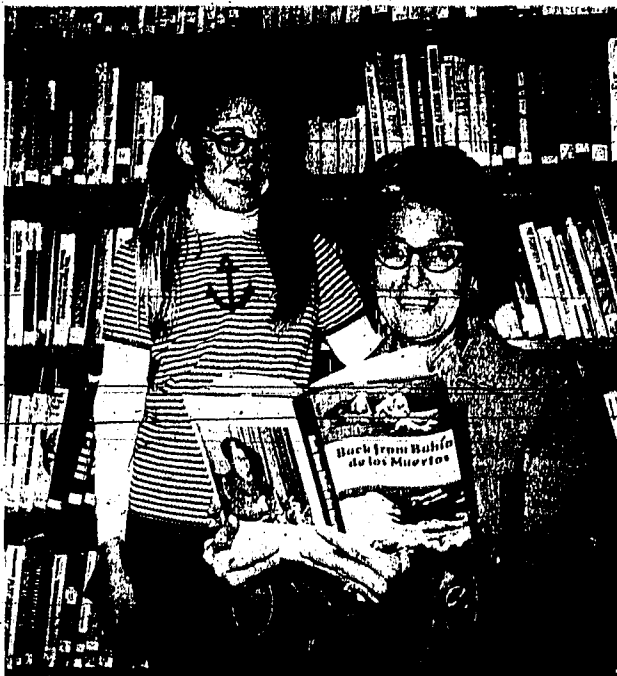

Two brochures "Know Your America" prepared and distributed by the American Legion, and also two copies of "Let's Be Right in Flag Etiquette" have been placed in the library by the American Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. F. E. Albin, librarian.

A total of 25 new paperback books have been added to the library this past week, including fiction, non-fiction and westerns, said the librarian.

Reciprocal cards for use in other libraries may be purchased for $5 at the library.

Total circulation of books for October was 482. Library hours are from 3-6 p.m. Monday, Friday and Saturday.

It's a waste of time, flavor and money to peel fresh mushrooms. Rinse them quickly in clear, cool water, drain promptly and blot dry if they're to be sautéed or broiled. Or wipe each one with a wet paper towel instead of washing them.

Books signed

WRITER-TRAVELER, Jane S. Fredricks autographs a copy of her new children's book, "Back from Bahia de los Muertos" for Nancy Jones, 11, Washington School. The copy will go into the school's library. Mrs. Fredricks visited all elementary schools Wednesday during national Children's Book Week. She also attended an autographing tea at the public library.

Valley Briefs

UM Women meet

KIMBERLY — Mrs. Ralph Simmons was re-elected president at the Wednesday meeting of the United Methodist Women at the Kimberly United Methodist Church.

Other officers re-elected include Mrs. Grace McFarland, vice president, and Mrs. Leale Lowe, treasurer. Mrs. Joe Day was elected secretary.

Committee chairmen appointed were Mrs. Marion Wall, Christian social concerns; Mrs. Ralph Nelson, missionary education; Mrs. Lavilla Legg, spiritual growth; Mrs. Eugene Krueger, membership; Mrs. Harold Hays, local church activities; Mrs. W. C. Klutz, courtesy; Mrs. Orville Allen, new nominating committee member.

A pledge service was given by Mrs. Lowe.

A report was given on the success of the turkey dinner.

The budget as proposed by the treasurer was adopted.

The group voted to pay $100 to the church budget and $100 on their conference claims.

It was also reported that Mrs. Walter Slaughter Jr., had made an undershirt for the table to be used at wedding receptions. A note of thanks was sent to her.

Mrs. Nelson read letters from Norman Case, missionary in the Philippines, and from the Malaysian missionary.

The Murtaugh United Methodist Women invited the Kimberly group to share a week of prayer and self denial service at the Murtaugh church Dec. 7. The meeting will begin at 12:30 p.m. with a fellowship dinner. A program will follow.

A brief circle meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Naylor following the Murtaugh services.

Mrs. Wall, youth chairman said several magazines and cards have been mailed to students. She has received some notes of thanks in return.

A fellowship dinner has been set for Nov. 19. Mrs. Don Kilborn is chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Persons will show pictures of their recent European trip.

Reports on the annual conference at Portland were given for the program, by Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Simmons.

Four conference projects included support for three Rogue River parishes, the home for aged at Salem, Ore., Youth Service, Inc., a home for needy girls, and three scholarships for minority group girls.

Hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Naylor and Mrs. John Nelson.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again — Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain? You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend more than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

TWIN FALLS — Directors for the Idaho Swine Breeders Association were elected at the group's annual meeting here Wednesday.

New directors include Gale Wrigley, Burley; Clair Daniels, Gooding; Justin Mills, Twin Falls; Leon Mellie, Burley; Vernon Lassen, Filer; Wilford Gebauer, Paul; Clark Mills, Twin Falls, and Robert Kildow, Paul.

The directors elected Justin Mills to serve as president; Kildow, vice president, and Wrigley, secretary-treasurer. Clair Daniels was elected state director for the association.

The group discussed the carcass show and sale to be Feb. 13-15. The live show will be Feb. 13 at Independent Meat Co., Twin Falls, and the carcass show on Feb. 14, also at Independent Meat Co.

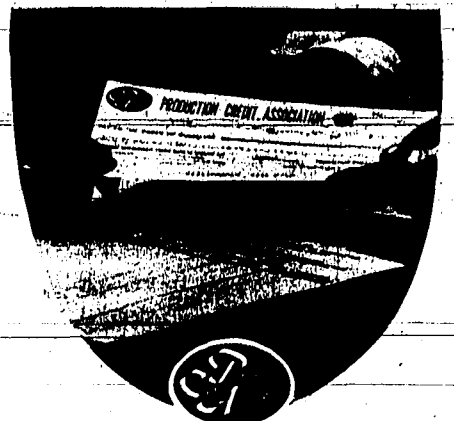

The 4-H and FFA judging will begin at 10 a.m., Feb. 15 at the Filer fairgrounds. It will be followed by the purebred sale starting at 1 p.m.

The carcass show is open to all breeders and market swine may be entered for a $3 fee. Entries must be made before 8 p.m. Feb. 13.

Refreshments and a program will be featured the afternoon of the live show, according to Justin Mills, sale chairman.

Judges for the live show will be Wade Wells of the University of Idaho and Joe Wilhelm, swine breeder from Kuna. Otto Florence of the Independent Meat Co. and Dr. John Miller of the U of I will judge the carcass show.

BOISE — The Idaho Potato Commission has employed a new executive director, Gordon C. Randall, former Boise Cascade official.

Randall has accepted the administrative post and was formally hired at a special meeting, Bill Webster, commission chairman, said Wednesday.

"The membership of the commission feels that Idaho's growing potato industry needs capable leadership," Webster said. "We have been looking for a high caliber man, and we feel that Gordon Randall has an ideal combination of experience and ability to face the challenges of the executive director's position. We are delighted that he has agreed to accept the job."

Randall, 42, is a native of Spokane, Washington and was educated in Washington and California schools. He has a B. A. degree from the University of California at Berkeley. He joined the Boise Cascade Corporation in 1957 after working for Container Corporation of America in the San Francisco Bay area.

His experience with Boise Cascade included construction and management of shipping container plants in Washington, Burley, and Denver, Colorado, as well as corporate staff and administrative positions in Boise, Idaho.

Sugar firm pay record

DENVER (UPI) — Great Western Sugar said Wednesday its initial payment to Sugarbeet growers of 1972 of $75.0 million was an all-time record.

George E. Wilber, Jr., president of the Denver based firm, said the payoff was nearly $14 million ahead of 1971. He said the money was paid to some 4,200 growers in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Montana and Wyoming for beets delivered through Nov. 4.

Wilber said the price per ton, $14.35, was also a new high.

Bridge barrier lifted for Amish traveler

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (UPI)—A bearded Amish farmer en route from Maine to Pennsylvania with his wife and four children in a small horse-drawn wagon crossed the Hudson River Thursday after an overnight wait for permission to use Bear Mountain Bridge.

Ironically, it was a radio station—part of the modern technology the Amish reject—which helped arrange the crossing.

Ell Garber, 39, his wife and four children spent Wednesday night in their small, wooden wagon in a rest area on N.Y.

202. because of a state law banning livestock from the bridge, which crosses the Hudson just west of here.

The Amish religion allows its members no modern conveniences and calls for a strictly simple life. Garber said he spent the last year homesteading in Maine to escape the industrialized society that was creeping up on the Amish community near Harrisburg, Pa., where he used to live.

The year in Maine, he said, was an attempt to "get away from the influence the people (the modern Amish) seemed to be getting into. We're more old order minded. There are a lot of us who are not satisfied."

The devoutly religious Amish, found mainly in eastern Pennsylvania, shun the industrial way of life, using no electricity nor such modern conveniences as cars, tractors or power tools.

But it was Peekskill radio station WLNA which came to the family's aid. Scott Witt, station news director, contacted bridge authorities and also arranged for a truck and horse trailer to meet the Garbers at the bridge. The truck was to take the two horses across and then return for the wagon.

Garber arrived at the bridge earlier than the appointed time Thursday to meet the truck and bridge authorities decided to let him pass, despite the law.

Hard Luck Joe looked over the dummy with what was supposed to be intelligent appraisal. He remarked, "I'm sure glad I didn't bid seven."

Joe has all sorts of bad habits at the table but talking instead of thinking has to be one of the worst.

Then he won the club in dummy; led a trump and stuck in his queen. West took his king and led a second club. Joe won that in dummy also and led a second trump.

East followed with the five-spot and Joe went into a soliloquy. "With my luck, I'm bound to make the wrong play," he moaned. He pulled out the 10; put it back and finally played his ace. West's jack dropped and even Joe had no further problems.

"I guess my luck has changed," he exulted. Joe had been mighty lucky but he hadn't needed to depend on luck. Joe had a safety play at his disposal. He should have played the ace of spades the first time. The jack would have dropped and Joe would have just knocked out the king and gone about his business.

Suppose an honor had not appeared. Joe would have gone back to dummy; led a trump and made the appropriate play from his hand. Suppose West started with king-jack-small? Joe would have been entitled to complain about bad luck. There would have been no way to make the contract.

Attack would black out US

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Every

community in the United States must prepare to suffer a major electrical power blackout in event of nuclear attack, "even in areas of the country where no enemy nuclear weapons have exploded," a top Pentagon official warned Thursday.

John E. Davis, director of the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency, said instructions already have gone out to civil defense officials throughout the country on a new "power off" policy, requiring major changes in emergency planning.

In a speech prepared for a group of electrical power industry advisors to the Interior Department, Davis also urged private industry to set up technical study groups seeking ways to avert such blackouts.

Davis said his warning and his recommendations were based on recent discoveries about the effect of lightning-like pulses of electricity called "electro-magnetic pulses" or "EMP" unleashed by a nuclear blast. He called the effect a "major new threat."

These pulses—capable of crippling radio and television stations, electrical power plants and power-switching stations—could be generated by the hydrogen bombs either in or areas where power generators and/or distribution lines were rendered inoperable by the direct effects of enemy nuclear explosions, Davis said.

one of the planning assumptions of the U.S. civil defense program has been that during a nuclear attack the flow of electric power to American consumers would continue, except in communities or areas where power generators and/or distribution lines were rendered inoperable by the direct effects of enemy nuclear explosions, Davis said.

Sentence upheld

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's Supreme Court, unanimously upheld Thursday the two-year prison sentence imposed on a Vietnam veteran who was arrested on drug charges and later rehabilitated himself.

In a unanimous opinion by Chief Justice Henry McQuade, the high court held that the two-year sentence imposed on William L. Ogata, formerly of Jerome, was imposed for lawful reasons and did not represent an abuse of the district court's sentencing discretion.

It also pointed out the sentence handed down by District Judge Henry S. Martin of Idaho Falls was for less than the maximum prescribed by Statute.

Ogata was convicted of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, heroin. He appealed from the prison sentence arguing a sentence of probation should have been imposed.

After his arrest in Idaho Falls, Ogata overcame his addiction and became a student in good standing at Idaho State University.

Proposals made for use of former Gooding TB hospital

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — The Idaho Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services (SRS) presented ideas for its use of the Idaho State Tuberculosis Hospital Gooding, at a Thursday meeting.

The proposals were made by Don Franks, region 5 director of SRS in a gathering of Idaho agency representatives and legislators following a tour of the hospital.

"Once the TB hospital is utilized by one agency, the door will be open for others, but someone has to take that one large step. We are prepared to do that," Franks said.

An executive committee was formed at the meeting which will draw up proposals from various agencies for use of the facility and "map out the avenues to get it started."

Members are Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle; Don Barlow, Boise, region 5 program director for mental health; Merl Eden, area supervisor of vocational rehabilitation, Twin Falls; Robert Saxvik, Cassia County legislator; Grant Richins, Burley, chairman of the SRS advisory board, and Dr. Wayne Carter, Jerome, South Central Idaho Health District.

The committee's proposal will then be presented to the legislature and the state land board.

"We have developed a rehabilitative service program for region 5 and now we're looking for a home for it," Franks said.

The current facilities in Twin Falls are too small and hazardous, Franks told the group. He said his department could utilize 10 to 15 thousand square feet or about one floor of the hospital.

The SRS program for region 5 would include work evaluation and a child development program. The work evaluation portion would begin with about six staff members and 15 participants.

The participants would live at the hospital for the period of their evaluation, to determine skills and capabilities. The participant would then receive job training from existing agencies.

The child development program would assist school systems and would focus on the trainable retarded and help with understanding behavior problems. Both programs can begin immediately, according to Franks.

Franks said he hopes to realize his goals within a few months but that the move by other agencies would probably be gradual as the need for space arises.

Other agencies eyeing the facility are the environmental protection and health agency and the mental health department.

According to Don Barlow, program director for region 5 mental health, a satellite office is needed for Gooding and Lincoln counties on an outpatient basis for counseling and therapy. Only two or three rooms of the TB hospital could be utilized, he said.

Robert Desautels, Boise, assistant administrator of EPA told the group that a mail-in laboratory for southern Idaho could be housed in the hospital.

Dale Rich, Boise, of vocational and rehabilitative services, said his agency would have no use for space in the hospital but could use the services provided by the SRS evaluation program.

Taxpayers are now spending $40,000 a year for upkeep on the hospital site with no return for their money, Franks said. If the state continues the upkeep of the facility and routes the money to SRS that agency could operate it, he said.

Sen. Richard High, Twin Falls, and Rep. Ravenscroft, both present at the meeting, assured Franks that the state would continue upkeep.

Child development aide addresses Rupert meet

RUPERT — Mike Bringham, director of the Mini-Cassia Child Development Center, addressed the Rupert Chamber of Commerce at the regular luncheon meeting Thursday.

The Rupert based Mini-Cassia center is a satellite of the Child Development Center in Twin Falls. He said six other centers and three other satellites are operating in the state.

The Mini-Cassia office is assigned three instructors, a speech and hearing therapist and a secretary in addition to Bringham.

Bringham said back-up services from Twin Falls are also available. The center is designed to help children who are mentally retarded or who have problems in social adjustment, he said.

"We try to help the children before and after they enter school," Bringham said, "including ages 3 to 16 years."

He said the center has a major testing program conducted by a speech pathologist, a psychologist and a special educator. The center works closely with the school districts, he said, especially in preparing pre-school children for education.

In explaining the need for the center, Bringham said six million people in the United States are retarded and this figure is increasing at a rate of 200,000 annually.

About 20 per cent of the entire population is affected in some way by mental retardation, he said.

Only 1.5 per cent of the mentally retarded cannot be trained, he said. Another 89 per cent are considered mildly retarded and can gain much self sufficiency through training.

An early identification program providing pre-natal counseling and child treatment until age 3 is vital in combating mental retardation, he said.

Referral of children to other learning environments is an important part of the center's program, he said. The center recently referred one boy to the Cub Scouts.

The center, located in the old armory at 12th and D streets will stage an open house in a few weeks, Bringham said.

Revenue sharing report heard at Burley meet

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — More than 125 Magic Valley residents heard reports on revenue sharing during an Elks Club dinner here Thursday night.

The occasion was sponsored by the Association of Idaho Cities, to clarify city, county and state positions as to revenue sharing.

Ed Simmerman, executive director, AIC, presided and introduced three speakers. Karl Tueller, an official of the state Planning and Community Affairs Agency, said $30.2 billion will be returned to state and local governments in the next five years through revenue sharing. The Department of Treasury is responsible for the dispersal and has set up a revenue sharing agency for this purpose, he said.

Tueller stressed the revenue sharing act clearly rules out the use of revenue sharing funds as a match for other federal aid. The act also stipulates the states maintain their funding of counties and cities and cannot cut back state aid because of revenue sharing funds received by local governments.

Revenue sharing is not entirely new to Idaho, Tueller said, adding $16 million in gasoline and highway taxes was funneled back to counties and cities in 1972. He said some reports will be required due to revenue sharing.

Moneys received in December will require a report by March 1, 1974, as to how much was spent and where it was spent. Beginning Jan. 1, 1973, a prior report will be required, Tueller said. This will state what the recipients intend to do with the money when they receive it. Interim and annual reports may also be required. He said publication in a local newspaper of a report delineating the money's use will be required.

There must be a "clear audit trail" as to where the money goes, he said.

Clarence Planting, president of the Idaho Association of County Elected Officials, outlined the eight priority areas for county and city use of the revenue sharing money.

These include public safety (law enforcement, fire protection and building code enforcement); environmental protection (sewage disposal, sanitation and pollution abatement); public transportation (transit systems and streets and roads); health recreation, libraries, social services for the poor and aged and financial administration.

Planting said revenue sharing was not brought about to reduce taxes. It was initiated to allow cities and counties to provide programs they have not been able to afford.

"Use the tax levy and also use the revenue sharing moneys for areas in which you do not have the authority to levy," Planting said.

Planting said an even tax pressure should be applied to the taxpayer rather than a fluctuating one. If the revenue sharing money were used to reduce taxes then there would be a drastic decline in taxes were the act not renewed in five years, he said.

Planting added there must be a trust fund set up in which to deposit the revenue sharing funds. He suggested the fund be called The Fiscal Assistance Trust Fund. Money can be accrued under the revenue sharing act but they must be spent within a 24 month period. An extension can be requested, Planting said. He said any interest gained on the trust fund must be returned to the fund. Planting warned some counties have not returned questionnaires sent to them by the Department of Commerce. He urged them to return the questionnaires as soon as possible as the revenue sharing payment to the county otherwise may be delayed.

Ray Holly, assistant director of the AIC, also spoke emphasizing the cities and counties should maintain proof of their tax efforts as this effort is a primary factor in determining the amount of revenue sharing funds allocated each agency.

Damages sought by Buhl plant

TWIN FALLS — Cascade Commodities Corp., Buhl, filed suit in Fifth District Court here Thursday asking $770,000 damages from 20 Buhl residents.

The suit names Russell Lyon and 28 other residents of Buhl and the General Insurance Co. as plaintiffs in the damage suit. These defendants were the plaintiffs in a year-long litigation against Cascade Commodities which ended recently when the Idaho Supreme Court ruled the firm, a rendering plant in Buhl, had a right to operate so long as it did not constitute a nuisance.

The supreme court action lifted an injunction against the firm which had been issued by Fifth Judicial District Judge James M. Cunningham and allowed it time to test deodorizing equipment and to operate as long as it did not create offensive odors.

Judge Cunningham issued a temporary injunction against the plant early in 1971 after the 20 residents brought action charging odors from the plant were so offensive they were unable to open their doors or windows and were forced to abandon use of their lawns, patios and outdoor enjoyment in the vicinity of the plant.

Plaintiffs later testified the odors continued and the court ordered the plant closed.

Cascade Commodities argued before the high court they were in the process of installing intricate odor removal equipment but the court order brought their entire business to a stop before they could complete installation and testing. The supreme court vacated the closure order saying the plant could install, and test equipment and operate, if it did so without offensive odors.

Cascade Commodities, in the action filed Thursday, ask $270,000 representing loss of $15,000 per month in profits during the time the plant was closed; $500,000 loss of markets, business and credits by the lengthy closure of the plant and attorney fees.

Lloyd Webb, Twin Falls, represents the firm as legal counsel.

Mel Carter, one of the owners of Cascade Commodities Corp., said the plant is still closed and will take considerable money and new equipment to get it open again.

He said the owners are anxious to reopen the plant.

Winners listed

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Duplicate Bridge Club met at Episcopal Hall Wednesday afternoon.

North and south winners were Mrs. H. E. Burgess and Mrs. M. V. Cook, first; Mrs. Mary Kienlen and Mrs. Julia Brown, second; Mrs. Harold Bulcher and Mrs. Floyd Broadhead, third; Mrs. L. J. Robertson and Mrs. H. M. Wycoff, fourth.

East and west winners include Mrs. H. M. Proctor and Mrs. Earl Nielsen, first; Mrs. M. Guerry and Mrs. Tom Marzocco, second; Mrs. J. T. Shelby and Mrs. R. R. Watson, third; L. E. Hack and H. M. Wycoff, fourth.

Award winners

MRS. REBECCA Wilson Smedley, left, received the businesswoman award, and her husband, R. B. Smedley, the businessman award, from Ernest Blauer, right, during the Burley Chamber of Commerce Farmer Businessman banquet Thursday night. The farmer plaque was presented to Oleen Lewis, Deelo, and Gerald Conrad honored as grassman of the year. They are not shown.

Blaine man hurt near Shoshone

SHOSHONE — A driver, whose vehicle crashed into a concrete side railing of a bridge Thursday night and moved the concrete nearly four inches, escaped with minor injuries.

Officers said Sam Jake Smil, 28, Sun Valley, was hospitalized in Twin Falls following the accident three miles north of Shoshone on U.S. Highway 93 at 9:45 p.m.

State Patrolman Leslie Simpson said Smil failed to negotiate a curve and crossed the highway hitting the left side of the concrete bridge over Big Wood River. The vehicle traveled across the bridge, went off the left side of the roadway and dropped down a steep embankment and came to a stop facing south.

The driver was taken to the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist and officials there said he was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Wendell route complete

SHOSHONE — Work on Interstate 80N is virtually complete between Wendell and Tuttle, except for seal coating, Idaho Department of Highways officials here report.

The project will be completed next season with the final seal coating, but is open to traffic with final installation of backlopes, fencing and signing which is now underway.

On State Highway 2 from Kimama west, the subgrade, pipe installation and other preliminary work is now complete and the contractor is hauling and placing cinders on the roadbed.

In the Burley-Rupert area, three projects are underway. On Interstate 80N from Idaho to Sweetzer and from Coterrel to Idaho, work now involves installation of pipe, drilling and blasting rock and general construction in the southbound lane between Coterrel and Sweetzer.

Structures on the I 80N throughout the two sections are being installed as a second project. Minor traffic interference is expected while the contractor is excavating for placement of concrete footings.

The third work project in that area involves construction of two concrete bridges over canals on State Highway 24, extending of two minor structures and replacing two pipe culverts on State Highway 27 between Oakley and Burley and widening of two other structures and replacing another on State Highway 25 between Barrymore Junction and Rupert.

On those, the contractor is presently removing and replacing the pipe culverts on Highway 27 with temporary detours expected. The projects on both Highways 24 and 25 have been completed.

Work in the King Hill area involves improvement at a railroad underpass on I 80N. Drilling and blasting of rock on the roadway portion with a temporary railroad detour, are now in effect. Work on the railroad bed is completed for track installation.

The Shoshone district is now calling for bids on two 908 foot steel and concrete bridges over Snake River in the vicinity of King Hill on I 80 N. Bid opening is set for Dec. 5.

UCLA basketball team seeks 7th championship

NEW YORK (UPI)—College basketball's recurring theme "Can't Nobody Here Beat UCLA?" gets tuned up for yet another chorus Saturday as Johnny Wooden's Bruins open the 1972-73 campaign in quest of (ho-hum) a seventh-straight title.

Once again—there's—quite a flock of hopeful challengers to UCLA's throne, but few sages would dare predict the Bruins' demise this time around even if the law of averages would seem to dictate it. Like the New York Yankees in the '50's and the Green Bay Packers in the '60's, you just don't bet against UCLA in "the big ones."

If, however, anyone is to break the monopoly on the college scene this season, Florida State, Maryland, Minnesota, Marquette, Furman, Louisville and South Carolina are among those given the best chance. Regardless, once you get past the inevitable No. 1, the rest of the top 20 figures to be quite a lively affair.

Taking it from east to west, here's a breakdown of how the '72-73 season shapes up:

EAST

With forwards Mel Davis and Ed Searcy in the lineup, St. John's can stay on the court with anyone. Alas, that won't be the case at least until Christmas as Davis is still out with a knee injury suffered last season and Searcy is battling scholastic difficulties.

That leaves the New York City pickings to Manhattan and coach Jack Powers brings up the best crop of freshmen the Jaspers have seen in years. Headed by 6-11 Bill Champion, a former all New York City High School pick, Manhattan figures to be the darkhorse in the East.

Another former All-New York schoolboy, 6-4 swingman Phil Sellers, has put optimism on the rise at Rutgers. Sellers should team nicely with 5-11 John Sonogoyi to give the Scarlet Knights their best backcourt since the Bob Lloyd-Jim Valvano NIT team of 1967-68.

Providence, with six players back from last year's 21-6 club including playmaker Ernie DiGregorio and 6-8 Marvin Barnes will again be seen as will Fordham, which returns all-East standout Kenny Charles.

Penn should again rule the Ivy League despite the loss of three starters. Back for the Quakers are 6-8 Phil Hankinson and 6-6 center Craig Littlepage. Only weakness for coach Chuck Daly appears to be the backcourt.

MIDWEST

The memory of last year's court-side fireworks between Minnesota and Ohio State lingers on and the fact that both schools figure to vie again for Big Ten and possibly midwest honors only adds fuel to this heated-up rivalry.

Minnesota, under its controversial coach Bill Musselman returns what may be the strongest front line in the nation this year in 6-8 Jim Brewer, 6-9 Ron Behagen and 6-7 Clyde Turner. Brewer and Behagen were two of the principles in the fracas that left Ohio State's Luke Witte bloodied and bruised.

Both 6-11 Witte and 6-3 backcourt ace Alan Hornyak are back for the Buckeyes and that alone should make them a power to be reckoned with in the Big Ten. Michigan, with super-soph Campy Russell joining last year's sensation Henry Wilmore in the front court, is the conference darkhorse.

As long as Al McGuire remains at Marquette, the Warriors figure to be among the nation's top 20 teams and this year is no exception. While Jim Chones and Bob Lackey are gone, McGuire has found at least one able replacement in 6-9 Maurice Lucas who averaged 28 points and 16 rebounds as a freshman last year. Also, Marquette can count on the coach's son Albie and highly rated Marcus Washington to operate one of the nation's best backcourts.

'UCLA's 45 game-winning streak may never come to an end.'

In the midlands, Missouri, with 6-7 All America forward candidate John Brown is the early line favorite with Kansas and Kansas State in the Big Eight while Oral Roberts, displaying its "run and gun" offense behind 6-sharpshooter Richie Fuqua, is the best of the independents.

Florida State surprised nearly everyone last year by reaching the NCAA finals. This time around such a performance should surprise no one. The Seminoles are loaded. Joining last year's awesome cast of 6-11 Lawrence McCray, 6-10 Reggie Royals and 6-4 Ron King, is 6-8 Henrie "The Glide" Clyde, rated the best junior college player in the country last season.

Traditionally, the athletic season at Alabama comes to a halt after New Year's day but not so this year. There's a new sport in town now at Tuscaloosa and even Bear Bryant will have to take notice. The Crimson Tide returns southeastern conference player of the year Wendell Hudson and has added 6-5 Charles Cleveland, the SEC, freshman of the year of '71. Kentucky, even without Adolph Rupp on the sidelines for the first time in 42 years, will be strong again as well as defense-minded Tennessee.

Maryland got a taste of what winning tournaments is all about last year when it captured the NIT and now the Terrapins would like to shoot for it all by winning the NCAA. They've got what it takes. Juniors Tom McMillen (6-11) and Len Elmore (6-9) are a year older and a year wiser and 6-8 Owen Brown may be the best sophomore forward in the UCLA.

South Carolina, with 6-3 Olympian Kevin Joyce and 7-0 Danny Traylor may not equal last year's 25-5 mark but should nonetheless be on a par with past Frank McGuire-coached teams.

Louisville looks to be once again the class of the touch Missouri Valley Conference while Furman, adding 7-1 Fessor Leonard and 6-9 Clyde Mayes from its sensational freshman team of last season, may be the nation's biggest — and most exciting — surprise talent that makes many observers believe UCLA's 45-game winning streak may never end.

The University of San Francisco and the Dons haven't seen the top 20 since, but this year could be different. Four or five starters return from last year's club which was 20-8 and won the West Coast Athletic Conference, the best being 6-4 guard Phil Smith, rated better than K. C. Jones from the Russell-led NCAA championship team.

Long Beach State returns all America guard Ed Ratliff plus 7-9 Nate Stephens and 6-8 Leonard Gry up front and that alone should make the Forty-Niners the biggest threat to UCLA in the West. Also, up from the freshmen team is 6-3 Ernie Douse, a former all city high school pick from New York.

Brigham Young, with Glen Potter moving in to replace Stan Watts as head coach, is the favorite again in the western athletic conference as 6-11 Kresimir Cosic, the Yugoslavian standout center, is back.

Can anyone here beat UCLA though? Well, let's just say that if Johnny Wooden wanted to, he could quite possibly apply for a franchise in the National Basketball Association and field a representative team right from the start. Can any other coach make that statement?

Tenace receives award

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gone Tenace, a man who once appeared the least likely candidate to share a power hitting record with Babe Ruth, was named Thursday as the October winner in the monthly balloting for the 23rd annual S. Rae Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" Award.

Tenace powered the Oakland A's to a seven-game World Series victory over Cincinnati with a .348 performance in which he slugged four home runs and drove in nine runs, including two in the A's 3-2 triumph in the finale.

The four home runs tied a Series record held by Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Duke Snider and Hank Bauer.

The 25-year-old catcher from Lucasville, Ohio hit only 225 during the regular season and cracked just five home runs in 82 contests.

Tenace won easily in the voting by the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters, gathering 83 first-place votes and 263 total points.

WHA helps Raiders

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — President Gary L. Davidson Thursday confirmed the World Hockey Association is assisting in the operation of the New York Raider franchise and denied there are any internal financial problems.

"Rumors that the club is in receivership or insolvent are untrue and without substance in fact," Davidson said. "There are personal problems facing the team's ownership, and we are helping to solve them."

Davidson said WHA administrator James W. Brown is in New York at his instruction and will be working with the Raiders.

Supersonics are fined for NBA rule violation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, Thursday fined the Seattle Supersonics $10,000 and awarded their 1973 first round draft pick to the Philadelphia 76ers for violation of league rules in the signing of John Brisker.

It marked the first time in the history of the NBA that one team was penalized a first round draft pick for violation of NBA by-laws.

The commissioner's decision is based on a by-law from the NBA constitution which prohibits one team from approaching a player on another team, or his lawyer, without approval from the other club.

Brisker, a husky forward, was a supplemental draft pick of the 76ers in July of 1969 but joined the American Basketball Association instead and spent the last three years in that league before deciding he wanted to switch to the NBA.

Under terms of the 1969 supplemental draft, Brisker was the property of the 76ers, and according to Kennedy, Seattle broke the rules when they approached him about joining the Supersonics without first getting the consent of Philadelphia.

Kennedy pointed out Thursday that he had warned Seattle owner Sam Schulman repeatedly that efforts to contact Brisker without the consent of the 76ers was in violation of league by-laws but that his warnings were ignored.

Brisker's attorney, however, approached the NBA with the claim that his client had been unfairly treated by having had his name added to the NBA's supplemental draft list in 1969, and in order to avoid the possibility of further litigation, the NBA's Board of Governors agreed to let Brisker sign with any club he chose.

Kennedy, though, decided to take action against Seattle anyway since he felt the Supersonics had willingly violated league rules by tampering with Brisker.

"In the matter of Brisker Seattle demonstrated a willingness to comply with the rules only as long as it could gain its objective without violating the rules," said Kennedy. "Once it found that impossible Seattle unilaterally declared the rule invalid, ignored the fact it had taken advantage of the rule whenever it suited its purpose and behaved as though the rule never existed."

Warriors top 76'ers

OAKLAND (UPI)—Rick Barry scored nine of his 11 points in the third period to break open a tight game Thursday night and trigger the Golden State Warriors to a 128-100, National Basketball Association victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

The win boosted the Warriors' record to 12-4 and pulled them to within 1-2 games of the idle Los Angeles Lakers in the Pacific Division. Philadelphia lost for the 17th time in 18 games.

The 76ers kept it close all of the first half and were trailing by only 62-61 early in the third quarter before Barry and Nate Thurmond powered a 22-9 outburst that gave the Warriors a comfortable 84-70 advantage. Barry scored five points in that spurt and also picked up seven of his 10 assists in the third period. Thurmond had six of those 22 points and collected six of his game-high 13 rebounds in the decisive quarter.

Reserve Joe Ellis scored all 14 of his points as the Warriors outscored the 76ers 38-28 in the final period to make it a runaway.

The 128 points represented a season-high for Golden State. Cazzie Russell led Golden State with 21 points. Jeff Mullins canned 19 and Thurmond added 10.

Fred Carter topped the 76ers with 22 points. John Block added 20 and center Leroy Ellis totaled 16 points and 12 rebounds.

Squires defeat Stars 131-127

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Clutch foul shooting by Virginia in the final minute cut short a Utah rally to give the Squires a 131-127 American Basketball Association victory Thursday.

Julius Erving scored 35 points to lead the Squires while Cincy Powell led Utah with a career high 42 points.

Virginia blew a 16 point third quarter lead to trail Utah 124-122 with about two minutes to play. Mike Barr tied the game at 124-124 with about a minute and a half to go.

Jim Eakins, who sat out most of the game, made a foul shot with a minute to play to put Virginia ahead to stay. George Erving then hit a field goal for Virginia and made two free throws to make it 129-124.

Powell rushed back with a three point goal to bring Utah to within two points with 16 seconds left but immediately fouled Barr who sank two free throws to put the game out of reach.

It was the third straight loss for Utah while Virginia snapped a two game losing streak.

Frazier sparks New York win

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walt Frazier's two field goals early in the fourth quarter triggered a seven-point burst that stopped a New York skid and enabled the Knicks to defeat the Houston Rockets, 119-100, Thursday night.

New York held a 23-point margin at 82-59 midway in the third period, but Don Smith got hot for the Rockets with an 11-point spurt as Houston began whittling down the Knick advantage.

New York was ahead by only 97-89 in the final session when Frazier pumped in two jumpers, rookie John Gannelli hit from the corner and Bill Bradley deposited a foul shot to boost the Knicks lead to 15 points at 104-88.

Earl Monroe paced the Knicks to a 63-49 halftime lead with a 17-point effort. He finished with 24 points. Bradley added 22 to the Knick attack, while Frazier and Dave DeBusschere netted 19. Jack Marin had a Houston high of 22

Patriots suspend Garrett for year

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Right from the start Phil Bengtson said he expected everyone to follow the rules. Now he's added a touch of shock therapy to get the point across.

Bengtson and General Manager Upton Bell of the New England Patriots announced Thursday they have suspended running back Carl Garrett without pay for the duration of the season. The move will cost Garrett about $15,000.

Bengtson, who helped the late Vince Lombardi build the Green Bay Packers into a powerhouse, took over as coach of the Patriots Monday night after John Mazur resigned in the wake of the team's worst loss ever, 52-0, to the Miami Dolphins.

He told a news conference in Boston Tuesday he had "a few reasonable rules that I expect everyone to follow."

Garrett was suspended when he failed to show up for a practice session Thursday. A spokesman for the Patriots said the team's No. 1 running back and second leading pass receiver had missed practice "a number of times" since the season began. He was fined heavily for missing three days of practice before the Patriots played the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"Phil Bengtson and I feel that for the good of the club we must take this disciplinary action at this time," Bell said in a brief statement Thursday.

Bell added that he had "no intention" of trading Garrett.

Garrett led the team in rushing with 418 yards on 104 carries and three touchdowns. He also caught 24 passes for 350 yards.

Bell said there "can be no exceptions" in adhering to the rules and regulations set down by a football club.

Big cat

WHILE PHEASANT HUNTING east of Jerome, Pete Fabela, Eden, got a surprise when a 40 pound Canadian lynx jumped out and hissed at him. He shot the cat with his shotgun at about 15 yards. The Canadian lynx brings about $22 per pelt and is quite rare in Idaho. About 25 are taken by trappers each year in the state. It differs from the bobcat by two inch tufts on its ears, particularly long legs with big feet and short tail with a completely black tip.

Miami can grab division Sunday

MIAMI (UPI) — The unbeaten Miami Dolphins meet the New York Jets Sunday in an American Football Conference clash which puts the Eastern Division title on the line and squares off a number of significant "bests."

As the Dolphins attempt to sew up the Eastern title and extend their unbeaten season to 10 straight, a sellout 80,010 in the Orange Bowl and television viewers will see the two best offensive clubs in pro football. Kickoff time is 1:05 p.m. EST.

With quarterback Joe Namath leading the league in touchdowns passes, 15, the Jets have totaled 3,180 yards of offense in a 5-3 showing this season. But the New Yorkers will be going against the best defense of both conferences and the second best offense, which is only 77 yards behind the Jets' total.

"This game will match two of the finest fullbacks in the game," said New York coach Weeb Ewbank, referring to his own John Riggins and Miami's Larry Csonka.

Close behind these two for attention are running backs Emerson Boozer of the Jets and Miami's Mercury Morris. Boozer leads the AFC in touchdowns, 10 running and three pass receiving, and Morris is second with nine, all on the ground.

Miami beat the Jets at New York 27-17 in the fourth game of the season, but the Jets had four men hobbled by injuries then. This time, the injury advantage has shifted.

The Dolphins list premier wide receiver Paul Warfield and Lloyd Mumphord, their kick-covering, field goal-blocker, as doubtful participants. Ailing running back Jim Kiick and defensive tackle Manny Fernandez are also not up to snuff.

Earl Morrall, who replaced the injured Bob Griese in the fifth game of the season, will quarterback Miami. Morrall remembers the Jets well. He was the victim of Namath's "guaranteed" victory against the Baltimore Colts in Super Bowl III, which was also played in the Orange Bowl.

Ewbank doesn't see much difference in the Dolphins with Morrall instead of Griese guiding.

"Morrall is a very steady quarterback," the New York coach said.

Many hunting seasons are in full swing right now and I thought an article on hunting etiquette might be helpful, particularly for beginning hunters.

Large numbers of our younger shooters have not had the opportunity to become acquainted with older hunters or had their fathers teach them proper hunting manners. This is an important part of the sport of hunting and certainly proper manners can make a day much more enjoyable for the hunter and his partners.

What are some of the do's and don'ts in the sport of hunting? One "don't" that has happened to me on numerous occasions is to ask another hunter to accompany you on a trip and he ends up inviting other friends or relatives to go along too. This may be all right if he asks your okay before doing so but many times an area may best be hunted by only two hunters, maybe your gear may be suitable for only a two man hunt, or you just don't want too many people to know about the place you had in mind to hunt.

Another "don't" is to take or tell your friends to an area another fellow has been nice enough to show you on a previous trip. You should only go back to it with your friend and you'll keep the good will of your hunting partner while doing so. Good hunting spots are hard to find and can rapidly be overhunted if too many people know about them. Large groups of hunters always scare me but they can be effective for drive situations such as late season pheasant hunting. One of the first things I do in such a bird hunting group is wear fluorescent orange hat so other hunters in the group can easily keep track of me. Of course, this kind of wearing apparel is taboo in a duck blind but makes little difference in your hunting effectiveness in a large pheasant hunting group.

Don't ever shoot toward another hunter no matter how far away he is since large bird shot can travel much further than you realize and even fine shot can ball up and go a considerable distance. It is also bad manners to shoot a bird out from in front of another hunter that is obviously in a better position for him to shoot it.

One of the quickest ways to insult another hunter is criticize his dogs hunting ability. It may be the poorest hunting dog around but hunters take great pride and joy in man's best friend and are very sensitive about them. Never shoot at a low flying bird above a bird dog since a stray shot may hit them. I once shot my dog with one stray pellet while shooting at a dove flying a good 20 yards above him.

Don't crowd in front of other hunters' working a cover area but find another place to hunt or move in behind them or to one side if it doesn't interfere with their hunting. This is particularly true for decoy hunting ducks. Nothing makes me more angry than having some slob move in by my decoys and hunt off them or end up spooking my birds by sky busting.

Gun safety is of paramount importance in hunter etiquette. Watch where you point that muzzle at all times. Looking a gun down the barrel is usually a quick way to lose a hunting partner, whether or not it goes off. Always unload your gun before getting into a vehicle or visiting with a group of hunters in the field.

Open the action so everyone knows your firearm is safe.

BSC surrenders trophy, money

CALDWELL (UPI) — Boise State College has given up its championship trophy and $18,000 proceeds from the 1972 Camellia Bowl football game, the Caldwell News-Tribune reported Wednesday.

Sports editor Bob Hooker said the voluntary surrender of the Camellia bowl trophy, won from Chico, Calif., State 20-28 last Dec. 11 at Sacramento and money derived from the game resulted from violation of eligibility stipulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Hooker said he interviewed Tom Hansen, Assistant Executive Director of the NCAA, by telephone and learned of the action because of the Eric Guthrie eligibility case.

Guthrie, a football star for the Broncos and a BSC baseball player, told a newsmen last June while working out with professional British Columbia Lions of Vancouver, B.C., that he had signed a professional contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1967.

He subsequently was assigned to the Pirates' farm at Salem Va., playing in one game before being released after a two-week stay on the ball club. Boise State athletic officials claimed from the outset that the college never knew of Guthrie being a pro baseball player when BSC signed him to an athletic grant.

Regarding possible forfeits of all football and baseball games in which Guthrie participated, Hansen indicated that matter was in the jurisdiction of BSC, Big Sky conference and non-league opponents of BSC in the years involved — 1968-1971.

Hansen said the NCAA action pertains only to post-season games and that Boise State's voluntary surrendering the trophy and money is due only to participation in the Camellia Bowl game last December.

He said that "Giving up" does not imply Boise State's admission of guilt in the matter.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Any argument or discussion over money or property matters could result in adverse conditions, so be sure to make a point to show your trust in and your affection for those with whom you come in contact. Make it plain that you are not in any way ridiculing them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you act too hastily, you could easily alienate one who is vital to your future progress, so take it easy and be wise. Show courtesy to all people. Use extreme care in travel.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use the services of real experts so that you get ahead faster and stop feeling so closed in. A hunch you have is not particularly good. Use best judgment and you come out the winner.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to build more harmony between you and friends instead of criticizing them so mercilessly. Make sure you keep promises made. Show that you are more than scrupulous in all that you do.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 31) Take care of career and civic duties awaiting your attention, but don't upset a higher-up whose ideas don't coincide with yours. You can improve your image considerably right now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan time for improving new friendships you have made, but be careful not to argue with them. An opportunity to obtain information you need is present. Do so in a most tactful way.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Being conscientious in the handling of obligations facing you brings fine results now. Give more time to get out of a bad mood. Avoid one who is so talkative it brings on a headache.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Not a good day to bring up any bone of contention you may have with others or it could result in a severance of connections. Civic affairs could be depressing now. Handle them another time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are responsibilities to meet today, so forget going off on a pleasure tangent, which would be expensive. Add vitality through health treatments. Avoid those who waste your time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you want to have a good time, make sure you don't spend beyond your means and take all the pleasure out of it. Get busy on a fascinating project and receive the benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You cannot improve the harmony at home if you use unreasonable methods. Find something good to build on. There are far more favorable conditions than you are willing to concede.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Carelessness in motion of any kind could be a threat to the happiness of others as well as yourself. Take time to compose yourself in moments of stress. Show devotion to loved one.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Instead of worrying about those money matters, do something constructive about them. Study them objectively and then work on them without delay. Listen to what an expert has to suggest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those nervous young people who has to learn to control temper if the fine prospect of success possible in this chart is to manifest itself. Make sure you see to it that the diet is good, and the spiritual food is also right. The forte here could be in research, whether in the laboratory or in government work.

Say a consumer thinks he has been gypped, so sues the merchant. Traditionally, the courts side with the seller, quoting that ancient common-law doctrine "caveat emptor" meaning "let the buyer beware." This legal wrinkle has been pretty rough on some home purchasers whose new houses have fallen apart after they've moved in. All right, here's the news: Am told when it comes to housing transactions, the "caveat emptor" rule is set aside in numerous states, thus to permit the hoodwinked buyer to sue the contractor. States such as Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Washington, Texas, New Jersey and South Dakota, for instance. The other night an attorney I know said morosely, "If I have to give up personal injury cases when no-fault insurance passes, I'm going into the business of suing housing contractors. That's where the future is, my friend."

FEET
Among those several ways in which girls now differ considerably from their mothers, list also the fact they tend to have far bigger feet on the average.
YOU KNOW those famous Kimberley diamond mines of South Africa? Many is the fellow who has labored 30 years in those pits without ever seeing a diamond.
BEST DRIVERS of all are married women between 16 and 25. Better than any other age group of either sex. A federal study shows that.

WHEN A HUSBAND gets in some sort of a jam, he tends first to talk about it with his wife. When a wife gets hung up on some sort of personal trouble, she's apt first to discuss it with a friend. Not of her own sex.

AMONG 14-year-old girls, where does Deborah rank as far as popular names go? A. It's No. 3. Right behind Linda, which is No. 1, and Mary, No. 2.

NEXT TIME you find yourself in a less than friendly debate, keep an eye on your opponent's fingers. Students of the mind say if said party clasps same, that's a sign a lot of unconscious self-restraint appears necessary to keep from getting physical.

1972 music clinic, concert set for Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — An estimated 400 high school band and choral students will gather in Twin Falls Saturday for the 1972 music clinic and concert.

Del Slaughter, director of the Twin Falls High School band department, said there will be 20 band students and about 50 choral students from Twin Falls.

The annual event is sponsored by the Music Educators of Idaho and the Twin Falls event will include young musicians from 23 area high schools.

Among clinic directors will be Robert Downs, Brigham Young University, who will direct the clinic for girls' chorus groups; Jerry Vovig, Capital High School, Boise, mixed chorus groups; Donald Threlkeld, Weber State College, Ogden, Utah, for the bands and music instructors from area high schools.

Schools participating include Buhl, Burley, Camas County, Carey, Castleford, Declo, Filer, Glenna, Ferry, Gooding, Gooding State, Hagerman, Hansen, Jerome, Kimberly, Minico, Murtaugh, Oakley, Ratt River, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Valley, Wendell and Wood River all in the fourth district. Frank Charlton, Twin Falls

High School principal, is clinic manager, assisted by Slaughter, clinic chairman; Sharon Rowell; Murdaugh, girls chorus chairman; James Cutler, Wood River, mixed chorus chairman and Michael Chesley, Burley, band chairman.

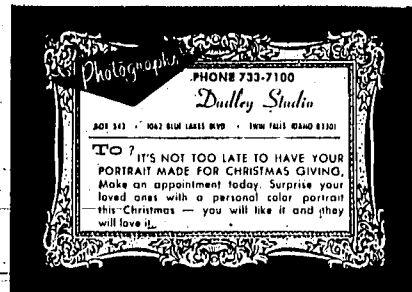

The clinic concert will be given in the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

Also news? Call Mrs. Wallace Taylor, Times-News community correspondent, at 824-2321.

Saturday night. All participating students will combine their talents for the evening concert with a combined finale featuring "Amiable" by Ralph Vaughn choruses and bands in "O How Williams."

Sings

BILLY BLACKWOOD, 19, appearing with the Blackwood Brothers gospel singers Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium, is one of the youngest professional gospel musicians today.

Singers appear in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Blackwood Brothers, nationally known gospel singers, will appear in Twin Falls Wednesday at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the First Church of the Nazarene, Twin Falls.

The gospel quartet has been recording for RCA for 20 years and has sold three million albums. Members of the quartet first came to national prominence in 1954 and 1956 when they were winners in the CBS Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout show.

They have been featured on the NBC Dave Garroway show and Tennessee Ernie Ford's ABC show. They have also had their own syndicated show on over 60 U. S. television stations.

Their latest TV network appearance was on the ABC Johnny Cash show with Billy Graham.

In 1967, 1968, and again in 1970, they were winners of the Grammy award for the best gospel album for those years from the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. In 1970 they won the Dove award for the best gospel album from the Gospel Music Association.

Accompanying the quartet in its Twin Falls concert will be the Blackwood Singers.

Tickets for the program will be available at Magic Valley Christian Supply, Fox Floral and at the door.

TF club sets flea market

TWIN FALLS — Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had a pledge dinner for new members Wednesday at George K's restaurant.

Following the dinner, a pledge ritual and meeting were conducted at the home of Marilyn Hempleman.

Final preparations were made for the flea market which will begin at 9 a.m. Dec. 2. Chapter members and their husbands will set up tables for the flea market on Saturday with a pizza party at Me-N-Ed's afterward.

Carol Lookingbill presented the cultural for the evening.

Clover club plans party

CLOVER — The Christian Couple's Club will hold its annual progressive supper and pinocle party tonight.

The supper will begin at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jagels and the card party will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lutz.

All young married couples are welcome and are invited to join the group.

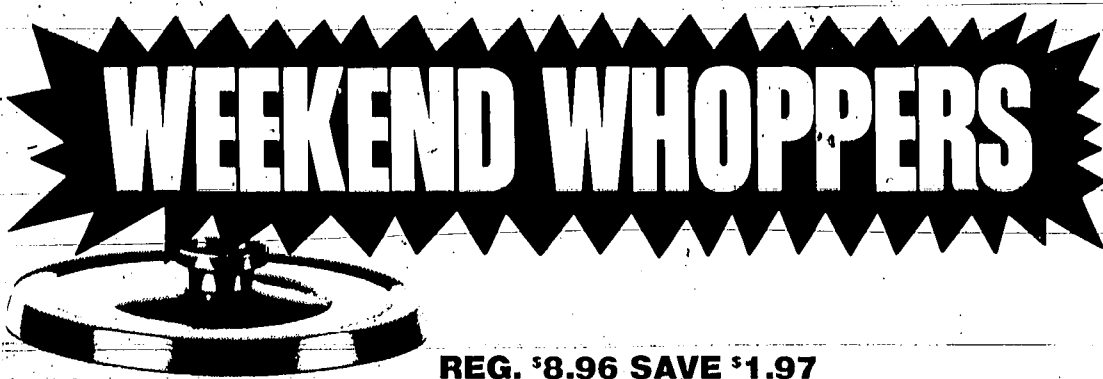

6.5 million farms in the United States in 1929 averaging 147 acres have been combined into 2.7 million averaging 389 acres.
