

TF Council airs treatment project

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A public hearing on the ecological impact of proposed secondary sewage treatment for Twin Falls turned into a review of the entire project Monday night.

Don Zuck, area sportsman and city resident, was the only taxpayer appearing to discuss the project. He quizzed the City Council about protecting the Snake River to the fullest possible extent and protecting city taxpayers against a financial obligation to take care of industries.

In the planning stage for some four years, the project has taken these factors into consideration, city officials told Zuck.

James Voeller, Pocatello, project engineer, said the system is designed to serve the city and Idaho Frozen Foods. He said other industries were given an opportunity to join the project and will be encouraged to do so in the future, paying their share of the expense.

Not only does Idaho Frozen Foods pay about 70 per cent of local costs, but it pays maintenance and operation costs on this basis once the system is installed. He said under new health standards and pollution control measure, the federal government and state will provide between 85 and 90 per cent of the total cost of the project.

Voeller said the project total cost will be about $2.9 million and there will be no need for a bond issue as the city has its share of the funds available through fees charged over a period of years on sewer and water rates in anticipation of the improvement.

Dr. Stephen Lincoln, councilman, told Zuck the city feels it must cooperate with industry in sewage treatment programs or the future industrial growth of the area will be curtailed.

He said the Amalgamated Sugar Co. was included in the original planning state but was found incompatible because of the type of wastes.

Independent Meat Co. will be joining the system in the future for at least part of its waste disposal, it was noted.

Independent Meat Co. is currently making an extensive study, City Manager Jean Milar said, and will determine future connections with the system on completion of the study.

Voeller said the plan for the facility is as advanced as possible under present water quality standards and said these change frequently and municipalities may be required to meet a different type of standards 10 or 15 years from now with more advanced and sophisticated design not yet known.

In other business, the City Council postponed action on bids opened Nov. 10, to determine if the vehicle bids can be purchased from the 1973 budget.

A multi-channel broadcast and recording unit for the police department was turned down because the bid exceeded the amount budgeted.

Other low bids included Ace Hansen Chevrolet, $3,291.58 on three sedans for the police department, $3,515 for a one ton truck for the parks department, and $2,621.02 and $2,712.01 on two half-ton pickups; Schlefman Tractor Equipment, $2,243.75 for a turf tractor for the golf course, and Magic Valley International, $4,900 for a 10-yard dump truck for the street department.

Israeli, Syrian units battle on key heights

By United Press International 1967 Six Day War.
An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Israelis shot down six Syrian MIG21s in their greatest victory since July 8, 1969, when they bagged seven without a loss. He said 14

Syrian tanks were knocked out by Israeli tanks and artillery in the 10 hour battle that ended at 6 p.m. (11 a.m. EST).

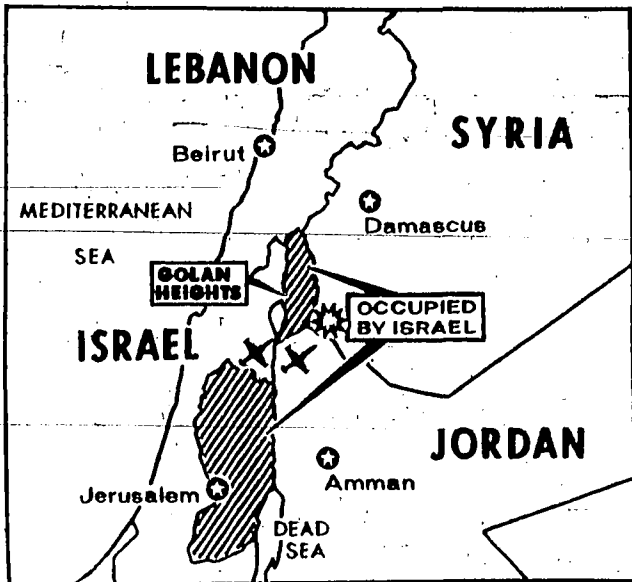

A Syrian military spokesman in Damascus said 14 Israeli tanks and five artillery em-placements were destroyed and two Israeli planes shot down in the battles that were the most serious in 27 months of Middle East cease-fire.

The battle—the second since Nov. 9—was still raging at nightfall, military spokesmen on both sides announced. The situation was so serious that Israeli Defense Minister Moshe

Dayan sped to the border area to tour army positions and civilian settlements.

The daylong battle was touched off when Israeli warplanes attacked a Syrian army position and three Arab guerrilla bases seven miles inside Syria in reprisal for guerrilla raids against Israeli settlements.

Rosenbaum takes post

TWIN FALLS — James Rosenbaum officially accepted the position of administrator of the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Monday night.

In a letter submitted to the hospital board of directors, Rosenbaum said he will accept the position offered him last month to fill the vacancy of Mrs. Irene Oliver.

Mrs. Oliver is resigning effective Dec. 1 and the appointment of Rosenbaum also takes effect at that time.

In other business, the hospital board heard a preliminary budget report from the auditing department.

Rosenbaum said it appears the hospital has met all requirements of the President's phase 2 program as to holding the wage line and can now go ahead with plans for the 1973 wage schedule and other budget planning.

A plan for revising hospital credit and collection systems will be reported on in the Dec. 11 meeting, it was announced. Hospital board members have urged administration to make an all-out effort to reduce the uncollectable billings each month.

R. W. Pierce, Buhl, building chairman, reported remodeling work is on schedule and will probably finish by the first of the year.

Dale Conner was thanked for his service on the board and his successor, Clinton Quigley, Castleford, was sworn in as a new member by county commission chairman William L. Chancey. Conner resigned because of the press of personal business.

Re-appointed were Herb Thorne, Murtaugh; Joe Savage, Kimberly; Mrs. Beth Shields, Buhl, and Mrs. Margaret Giese, Twin Falls.

The board also approved the addition of three new doctors to the medical staff on recommendations of the hospital credentials committee. These include Dr. Donald Pica, internist; Dr. Dennis Venzon, pathologist who will work with the pathology department, and Dr. John Affleck, surgeon.

Kissinger, Tho confer

GIF-SUR-YVETTE, France (UPI) — White House aide Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiators Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy met today in this village outside Paris for their second round of talks aimed at ending the Vietnam war. The Hanoi negotiators drove up in two black Citroen cars with a French plain-clothed police escort at 2:40 p.m. (8:40 a.m. EST) and Kissinger arrived 15 minutes later, leading a convoy of some 30 newsmen who followed him 15 miles from Paris.

The two sides entered a white stucco red-roofed villa belonging to the French Communist party to begin their negotiations.

Kissinger has said one more round of negotiations would be enough to wrap up the cease-fire agreement, but there were mounting indications from Saigon of President Nguyen Van Thieu's dissatisfaction with the course of events.

There were hints that he might dispatch an envoy to Paris to look in on the negotiations and there were hints that he might be sending a personal letter to President Nixon once more outlining his opposition to certain terms of the agreement.

Kissinger arrived in a black Cadillac embassy car and waved to some 50 newsmen gathered by the wall around the house, formerly owned by French artist Fernand Leger.

The newsmen shouted questions but Kissinger only smiled as he drove through nine-foot-high green metal gates.

Wearing a gray suit and carrying a white raincoat, he got out of his auto to shake hands with Vietnamese officials, then turned, smiling brightly, and pointed to the milling journalists.

Kissinger had a uniformed police motor cycle escort of four men, along with the newsmen who tailed him.

Living cost up during October

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher prices for clothing, used cars and health insurance pushed the cost of living up 0.3 per cent in October, the government reported today.

At the same time, the purchasing power of the average wage earner took its first dip in five months.

However, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said prices declined last month for beef, some fresh fruits and vegetables and gasoline.

The Consumer Price Index for October stood at 3.4 per cent over October, 1971.

The 0.3 per cent increase in the CPI last month was less than a 0.4 per cent advance in September and about average over the past year.

Over-all food prices went up only 0.1 per cent, smallest increase in that category since May when a 0.1 per cent decline was recorded.

Declines in beef and some other food prices last month were offset by sharp increases for pork, coffee, dairy products, eggs and sugar.

The rate for restaurant meals rose 0.2 per cent, smallest increase in eight months.

But the cost of services went up 0.4 per cent, the biggest advance since last January.

The report said more than one-third of the increased cost of living in October was due to a 1.1 per cent jump in the price of clothing, including a 1.6 per cent hike for women's and girls' apparel.

Used car prices went up 1.4 per cent while new car prices increased 0.5 per cent, less than normal for October.

The BLS said average weekly earnings of factory workers remained unchanged in October at $139.13.

on training children.

PUC sets flat Metropac rate

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Public Utilities Commission has ordered imposition of a flat rate and a time limit for Metropac customers of Mountain Bell Telephone Co. in the Magic Valley.

The commission's decision will affect approximately 3,800 telephone users in 14 cities and towns in Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties, according to K. G. Mann, Mountain Bell manager.

Because subscribers will need time to adjust their calling to the new rate treatment, however, the PUC stayed its imposition until next Feb. 1.

In place of the present various rates for each class of service for each exchange the Metropac rate for the Twin Falls or Magic Valley area will be $3.60 per month for 180 minutes.

Subscribers will be charged 5 cents per minute if they exceed 180 minutes per month, the PUC said.

Mountain Bell wanted to charge $3.60 per month for 120 minutes of residential use and $7.20 per month for 240 minutes of business service with all excess minutes of use to be charged at the rate of 7 cents per minute.

The PUC said toll service rates are the same at present both for residential and business subscribers and Metropac service is a substitute for toll service.

"Therefore, the rates for the residential and business subscriber for Metropac service should be the same," the PUC said.

The commission said to change from unrestricted calling to 120 minutes of use per month is too restrictive. Therefore, it approved a maximum of 180 minutes for both the residential and business subscribers.

In support of its petition for restricted calling, the company said it has spent $1.11 million to date to provide Metropac service and if this service is allowed to continue on an unrestricted calling basis an additional $717,650 investment will be required in the next two years.

CSI asks funding increase

TWIN FALLS — The CSI legislative package was unveiled in "Sesame Street" format to college trustees Monday night.

The College of Southern Idaho, along with its sister, North Idaho College, has printed an extremely simplified illustrated booklet designed to argue the case for the community colleges to money-conscious legislators.

The colleges are asking for:

1. An increase in state funding for academic programs to 50 per cent from the current level of about 36 per cent. (Vocational programs are already 100 per cent funded.)

2. Nursing programs at the two colleges would be funded at about a 90 per cent level by state funds. They would be treated as a different category from other academic programs because, the booklet says, they cost about $500 per year per student more than other academic programs.

All nursing programs would be paid by the state, with the exception of administrative expenses. According to Dr. James Taylor, college president, the nursing program was given initial funding of $50,000 from the state, but no state support since.

He estimated that the CSI nursing program would require $130,000 from the state next year, with the same amount going to NIC's program.

Under these two requests the CSI academic support (including nursing) would jump from $764,887 to $1,206 million, up 57 per cent.

3. CSI again asked for $2.3 million to build a vocational building. The same request was given low priority both last year and this year by the State Building Fund Council.

Dr. Taylor said today CSI will present its case directly to legislators despite the rebuff by the Building Fund Council.

4. Vocational support for CSI would jump from $599,000 in the current year to $884,000 next year — up 44 per cent. The vocational program at NIC would rise from $338,000 to $463,000.

Dr. Taylor said today the college plans to seek legislative changes in two other areas.

He said the college seeks legislation to permit the college to receive its appropriation as a lump sum, coming in at the beginning of the school year.

The college now receives its apportionment in two payments, following a ruling by Atty. Gen. Tony Park that the lump sum payments of the past were illegal.

Second, the college is planning to request a limit on bond elections be increased from the present five per cent of the district's assessed valuation.

Dr. Taylor said the college would press to have its limit increased to that of school districts, or 15 per cent of the assessed valuation.

Taylor stressed today, however, that the district "has no immediate plans" for a bond election.

TWIN FALLS — Damage was estimated at $1,000 to a car while its driver suffered minor injuries here Sunday in a one-car accident.

Mrs. Florence Kawamoto, 31, told officers she turned a corner from Shoup Avenue onto Washington Street North and pulled the car too quickly to avoid an oncoming vehicle on Washington Street. Her car swerved from the roadway and crashed into a tree at the lobby Bopp home. Officers said streets were slick at the time of the accident.

All six are in their 70s now and three of the women are widowed.

The reunion started, Cornman said, when "one of my sisters had a big hunting lodge in Minnesota and sold it and bought a car and just started gathering them up."

Light break through

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Bureau of Standards today reported a "breakthrough" in measurement of the speed of light which it said opens the possibility for a 1000-fold increase in the number of frequency bands available for communications.

Involved is laser light, a particularly pure form of electromagnetic radiation which promises vastly more channels than the limited number of radio and microwave frequency bands now so strictly allocated for communications purposes.

The breakthrough, as NBS called it, came when scientists at the bureau's Boulder, Colo., laboratories measured the speed of light more accurately than ever before.

TF councilmen annex, zone Rodeway Inn site

TWIN FALLS — City councilmen here Monday night annexed a 10-acre site north of town for the new Rodeway Inn, but noted street right of way is unresolved.

The city's planning and zoning commission had recommended holding up the annexation until all the street right of way between the Rodeway Inn site and the Bill Workman Ford property had been acquired.

Workman has refused to give his share of the right of way for a street between the two properties, it was reported

Monday night. Rodeway Inn, represented by L. James Koutnik, has given its share of the right of way, and Koutnik said officials have budgeted for their share of improvement costs when needed for the street.

City Council members agreed it is not fair to penalize the construction of the new motel pending negotiations with the other property owner.

Koutnik said his firm's contractor wants to begin groundbreaking the first week in December and feels if work cannot begin by that time it will have to be postponed until spring.

In another ordinance, the council zoned the property as commercial local.

The Rodeway Inn is to be located on property purchased from John Breckenridge and located across Blue Lakes Boulevard from the Holiday Inn. Breckenridge has also given right of way for the street through the remainder of his property.

City Manager Jean Millar said he met with Workman as late as Monday afternoon and Workman has refused to give right of way unless the city will absorb him of any of his share of street improvement costs.

Millar said this would be in direct violation of the city's new street ordinance and will probably mean condemnation action to acquire the right of way.

Councilman Mike Gray said he wanted it understood the Rodeway Inn would be obligated for its share of improvement when the street is completed, regardless of developments on acquiring the Workman property.

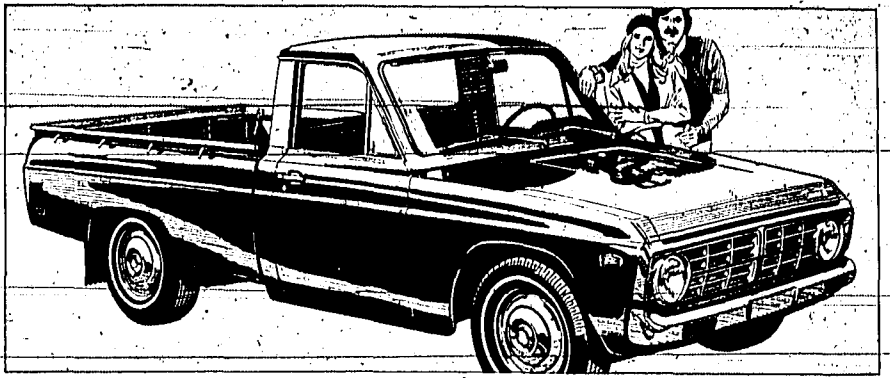

The council heard several requests for water and sewer service outside of the city limits and agreed to provide the service if the developers will pay for installation of water lines and sewer pipe.

Globe Realty asked for services to property across from the Municipal Golf Course where they contemplate development of a 40-unit condominium housing program. They have also requested annexation.

The developer would have to install about one-half mile of sewer line and about the same amount of water line to connect with city installations.

Warren Barry asked for reconsideration of his request for city installation of a water line to serve a development site south of the city. He has agreed to install his own sewer line and pump but said he could not afford the water line as well.

He had planned drilling wells, but FHA financing requires use of municipal utilities where available, he said. The city turned down the request.

TF aid payments dip in September

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County aid to dependent children payments for September show a drop of 17 per cent over the previous month, officials reported Monday.

Theo Murdock, eligibility director for region V of the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services (SRS), said records showed a total of $112,574 had been paid for family support during August, while the figure dropped to $93,403 during September.

During the same period, the number of families eligible for the payments showed a five per cent decline, from 671 to 542.

Murdock attributed the decline in payments, which a recent survey had shown growing rapidly, to three factors, including a mandatory 10 per cent reduction in payments, added emphasis on eliminating questionable grants, and a specialized "intake process" to keep tighter controls on grant awards.

He said the effort toward tighter control would eventually be expanded throughout the eight county region, but present staffing had limited the effort largely to Twin Falls County thus far.

The eight county region showed a decrease in ADC payments of $28,622 during September, only $9,000 more than Twin Falls County alone.

Peggy Laley, eligibility examiner who has responsibility for investigating complaints against assistance recipients, said she receives an average of ten phone calls and letters a week alleging violations of law and regulations. On the average, she said, about 65 per cent of the complaints are found to have some basis in fact.

She said she had received cooperation from other state departments of government as well as employees in investigating some of the people receiving grants.

Most of the complaints, she said, are filed against those receiving ADC, public assistance's most controversial program.

And, she added, "not all the complaints are really serious." Her routine, she said, is to "try to find out the most specific information I can and then go ahead and follow through," with the investigation.

Thus far, she said, in addition to readjusting some grants, she has signed three criminal complaints against persons receiving funds, and two have been brought to court.

Murdock also said "intake workers," who process original requests for public assistance grants, were also being given more time to process the applications, resulting in a more thorough review.

"We've got specialized people in the intake project," he said, "and we're trying not to push great numbers of people through."

Judge airs TF traffic problems with council

TWIN FALLS The man who says he hears more traffic complaints than anyone in town met Monday night to discuss these problems with city council members.

Reed P. Maughan, magistrate court judge in charge of traffic cases, said when an accident occurs and a citation is issued or when a motorist turns from a lane not marked to prohibit a turn, but finds himself with a citation, the complaint is aired in his court.

Maughan told the Twin Falls council the North-Five-Points intersection is especially bad as a motorist in the inside lane is not told he cannot turn down Shoshone Street, but may be involved in an accident if he does so. He recommended signs be placed some distance ahead of the intersection.

At both East and West Five-Points, he said, the confusion is obvious especially to out-of-town motorists. He also questioned the saw-horse type traffic regulating system at either end of Main Avenue where it becomes a one-way street for about a block. Several city intersections are blocked by trees and hedges and many others are blind because of parking cars, trucks and campers at the curbs up to the intersection.

City council members said they are working on cutting trees and hedges away from intersections and in some cases this requires special negotiations with property owners.

The Idaho Department of Highways is currently working on re-design of the five-point intersections, Mayor John Christoffersen said, and work should begin next year on reconstruction of the West Five Points intersection. This will eliminate the present temporary barriers at the ends of Main Avenue, he said.

Kimberly, City Council members, Donald Taylor and M. L. Ledbetter, also met with the Twin Falls council as guests.

The council approved the appointment of Debbie Spriggs to the Youth Advisory Board. Councilman Paul Ostyn recommended Miss Spriggs. He said the board had been attempting to appoint a young man to keep the board in balance but it seems the young men are not interested in serving and Miss Spriggs had requested the job.

The resignation of Carl Berg, member at large, from the city's Highway Safety and Traffic Committee was accepted and Dan Obenchain was appointed to fill the vacancy. Berg resigned because of business conflicts.

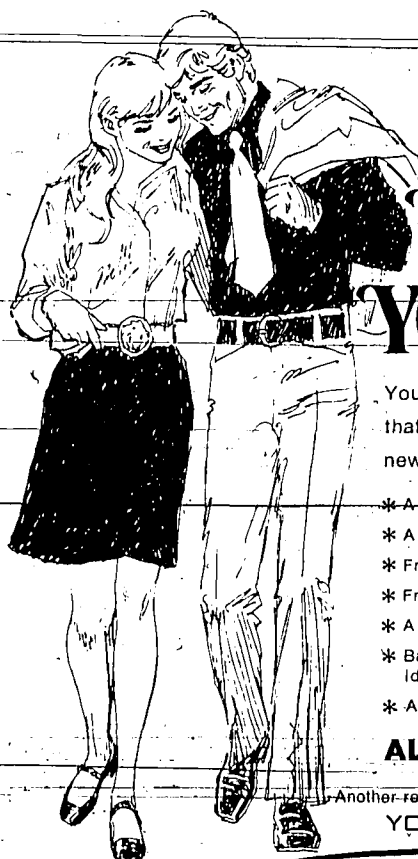

The council also approved a new agreement with Trans Magic Airlines with a 30-year lease to be renegotiated at anytime on 30 days notice. The new lease for use of airport facilities calls for a minimum $3-million liability insurance coverage and several other slight changes, it was reported.

Man fined

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man has been fined in magistrate's division of district court for "placing debris on a public road."

Art Lee Nicholson, 20, was fined $50 plus court costs amounting to $7.50 by Magistrate Reed P. Maughan Friday.

Sheriff Paul Corder said his department gets "numerous calls" about trash-dumped on the highway, and added this was the first arrest in recent months for the offense.

Let's Get Going

We fully agree with Gov. Cecil Andrus that there should be no further delay in steps necessary for replacement of the dam at American Falls.

The Governor, pointing out the Bureau of Reclamation has said it will be at least six years before that stage is reached, declared that "he's not going to buy that." No thinking person will buy it either.

Like the Governor, we have been concerned with the apparent foot dragging in the project, in as much as the dam is dangerous in its present condition and has been dangerous for a long period of time. We would suggest the officials in charge get a move on. If American Falls Dam goes out there will be hell to pay — and it would be a tragedy for downstream farmers including those in our own area. We shudder to think of the consequences.

The Governor also suggested that all members of Idaho's Congressional Delegation make it a point to inspect the dam and learn of the project. We're for that too. A timetable must be set — and soon!

MR. SPECTATOR

Gasoline Alley

Well, folks, thanks to the scores of people who wrote in to say they really missed Gasoline Alley and wanted it back — we are going to get it back.

Mr. Spectator can't tell you the exact date right now but the Gasoline Alley crowd will be back on the "funny" page before too long.

Really, when we printed Mary Cook's query as to what happened to Gasoline Alley — as we called for an expression from those who agreed or disagreed with her — we had no inkling that the response would be so terrific.

And let us make one thing clear right now — every one who wrote us a card or a letter wanted Gasoline Alley!!

Most of the notes were signed, some were not. We can't print them all here, of course, because there just isn't the space, but we will give you some quotes from some of them because they are informative to say the least.

A Wendell resident wrote: "I am one of your readers who would very much like to see Gasoline Alley again. I could very well do without Short Ribs, Winthrop and Wizard of Id."

A Jerome couple: "We used to read the comics when they were good ones. All you have left now is Oop. When Gasoline Alley went that was the last straw."

A Twin Falls woman: "We have to write our son in Boise to keep up with what is going on in Gasoline Alley."

A Hailey resident: "Who reads Gasoline Alley? Well, I do and I have for more than 50 years. I remember the day Skeeze was found on Uncle Walt's doorstep and found not married. I grew up with the Omaha World and Gasoline Alley was a big part of interest to my father and also me. The Times-News can forget about politics for the next three years (Ah, what peace that would bring) but the day they leave out Mr. Spectator and Dear Abby and now Gasoline Alley they can write me off too."

From Hazelton: "I just don't like those new comics. I want the old ones back."

From Rupert: "We're with Mary Cook. We have been considering changing papers since you dropped Gasoline Alley. I have a suggestion, — instead of replacing the old comics why not replace whoever selects the Times-News new comics?"

From Bellevue: "I wonder who reads the stupid comic strips. How about bringing back Gasoline Alley, Dick Tracy and the other good ones?"

From Hailey: "I'm glad I get a chance to voice my opinion. I can do without Nancy, Wizard of Id and Short Ribs — but not Gasoline Alley. What happened to Kerry Drake?"

From Filer: "Please continue Gasoline Alley. I have enjoyed it for more than 50 years."

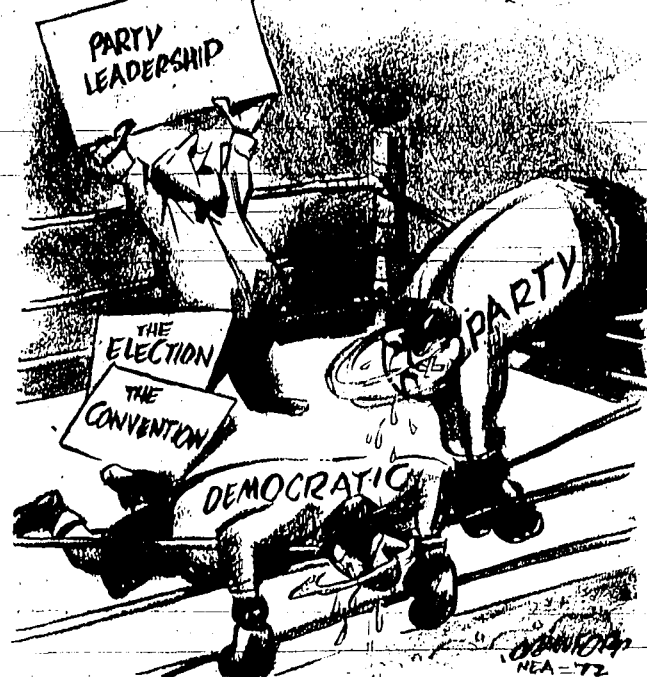

From Jerome: "I thought no one would ever complain about your funnies. Please get Gasoline

About The New Warsaw Pact

If You Please

WASHINGTON — Before we declare flying machines illegal and sell Pan-Am to Zambia for three bullocks and a comely maiden, I suggest the Republic launch a nationwide search for judges who see themselves as chief officers of the court and not members of defense counsel.

Reference, if Your Honor pleases, is to the recent hijacking of a Southern Airways jetliner complete with 27 passengers and four crew members by three vicious nuts who obviously should have been slashed in straitjackets and chained to a prison wall months ago.

However, let us contemplate how American justice, so-called, dealt with the trio, identified by the FBI as Henry Jackson and Lewis Moore of Detroit and Melvin Cale of Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Jackson and Moore were arraigned last Oct. 13 in Detroit of "forcible rape." (There's another kind?) They were freed on $500 bond, a sum any mendicant could raise in five minutes. Three days later, they were arrested again on similar charges. Their bond was continued pending an Oct. 30 hearing, and they were turned loose again on the city's female population. Not surprisingly, they failed to appear at the hearing.

Cale was convicted of grand larceny, a crime which is not to be confused with selling a used car, and sentenced to five years in the can. Subsequently, he was permitted to serve his time on a "work-release" program. Naturally, he escaped.

So, Jackson, Moore and Cale took over that Southern Airways jet and terrorized its passengers and crews for 28 long and nightmarish hours before ultimately surrendering to Cuban authorities in Havana. What else? Surely, none of us nonjudges would have expected them to turn shoe salesmen, although admittedly there was a chance they'd wind up at Harvard to study sharpshooting under a Ford Foundation grant.

I will tell you what is wrong with our judicial system, Jack: Too many of our judges, if not a majority thereof, have been influenced by the horde of bleeding hearts who wander around the country preaching that vicious criminals are really St. Francis of Assisi in multi and if we install them in a 10-room apartment on Park Avenue with plenty of free girls and booze they will become a credit to the community, only occasionally committing a rape or a mugging to reduce their hostility index.

Judges who have to run for office must be careful not to offend these wet-pants liberals, whose theories are forever appearing in print or proclaimed on TV and who thus wield more power than their numbers would suggest.

Likewise, those who seek appointment to the bench must consider that the political officeholders who do the appointing also are sensitive to the exhortations of the permissive crowd and therefore take care not to give the impression that they would be too beastly to murderers, rapists, kidnapers and airplane hijackers.

When I'm elected dictator,

the first thing I'll do is usurp jurisdiction over the judge-appointing racket, nationwide. I will ask every would-be judge what his decision would be if he was confronted by a creep who had recently raped and dismembered a crippled, 80-year-old female. He would get the job only if he replied that he would sentence same creep to 24 hours on the rack, plus life imprisonment with no parole and no "work-release."

Intelligence

WASHINGTON — The U.S. State Department has been in a swivel for the past several months. It has been unable to get any information as to what the intentions of the United States are. An emergency meeting of high-level State Department officials was called the other night at Foggy Bottom and from what our sources told us, it was very tense.

"Gentlemen, the Secretary is very disturbed. He feels it is impossible to make foreign policy for the United States when he has no idea what the enemy is thinking."

"You mean Hanoi?" someone asked.

"No, dammit, I mean Kissinger," the official said. "How can we set up any counterthrusts when we have no idea what Kissinger plans to do? I don't mind telling you, gentlemen, our intelligence on the White House stinks."

"The only solution," said an assistant secretary, "is to plant our own man in the White House. We could equip him with the latest radio equipment, and he could transmit to us every day, by code, what Nixon and Kissinger are up to."

"It's too dangerous," the chief of intelligence operations said. "We've already lost three agents in two months. They seem to know everything we're doing."

"What about planting a woman on Kissinger? Maybe we could find out something that way."

"It won't work," said the intelligence officer. "The last woman we tried to plant on him fell in love with him, defected and is now writing a book about him. She took all our photographs of Kissinger."

An assistant secretary asked, "Why can't we get someone in the White House to defect and come over to our side?"

"We've been working on that," the intelligence officer said, "but it's almost impossible. The Defense Department is in the same shape we are, and they have a lot more money to bid for defectors than we do."

"I've never heard of a situation like this," another assistant secretary said. "We know what's going on in Peking, we know what's going on in Havana, we know what's going on in Cairo, but we have no idea what's going on 10 blocks from here."

"Has anyone checked with the CIA lately?"

"They know as much as we do," the intelligence officer replied.

"You mean they haven't even been able to get a man into the White House?" someone asked.

"The only way they've been able to follow Kissinger's movements is by monitoring 'Voice of America.'"

One of the lower high-level officials finally spoke up. "I know this sounds farfetched, but what if the State Department asked for diplomatic relations with the United States? We could set up an embassy here with an American ambassador."

"What good would that do?" someone asked.

"Well, it appears that the White House usually briefs ambassadors of foreign countries before they brief us. If we had an American ambassador stationed in Washington, Nixon might tell him what he's up to and the ambassador could transmit the information to us."

"That's not such a crazy idea," an assistant secretary of state said. "If we had our own embassy in Washington we could give a dinner party for Kissinger and probably learn what's going on."

"I'll take it up with the Secretary this afternoon," an executive assistant said. "In the meantime, no matter what you hear and no matter how inconsequential you think it is, report it right away. Perhaps, if we have enough clues from different sources, some pattern will emerge as to what their foreign policy is, and then we'll beat the S.O.B.s at their own game."

Unable to deal with this from Moscow, it now seems certain that the Kremlin has given Communist-East Europe full rein to make economic and commercial deals with the U.S. which would have been profoundly heretical a few years ago.

Thus, the new trade pact with Warsaw opens up Poland to "shared ownership" of plants and equipment that can be built there with private American capital. These production plants would be operated with "shared" management for profits also to be "shared" by the American enterprise and the Polish government.

Asked to reconcile this free enterprise-Communist partnership in the production of goods for profit, one Polish negotiator replied laconically: "We are too poor to stick to Marxist orthodoxy."

Hidden beneath that comment, in the view of Nixon administration experts, is the candid admission that Moscow's planned economy for its Eastern European allies — no longer 100-proof satellites — has come to the end of the road. In short, Moscow is saying to Poland: Stick with us on foreign policy but go your own way in everything else.

The way the negotiations came about reveals the passion for speed. The Polish government was prepared to send its top-level trade team here early next year to hammer out the new agreement after a preliminary session in Warsaw with Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson last August.

But White House political operatives, eyeing the huge Polish-American vote, saw a marginal plus in starting the negotiations before the election. A cable went to Warsaw proposing the talks for the first week of November. Thaddeus Olechowski, Polish minister of trade, was at that moment in Moscow for a meeting of COMECON, the Communist economic bloc. He immediately rearranged his schedule and flew to Washington. After four days face-to-face, Peterson and Olechowski, a skillful Westernized Pole who speaks five languages, signed the new agreement Nov. 8.

Preceding the signing, U.S. negotiators were amazed how fast one potential problem after another disappeared.

Thus, the question of Poland obtaining new American licensing for advanced technology, potentially a source of grave trouble, was swiftly bypassed. The licensing question is critical, because once a relatively backward nation obtains the license for new productive techniques it no longer needs a Western partner.

Thus Poland's agreement to finance licensing proves Warsaw is thinking in long terms indeed about new industrial cooperation with the U.S.

Contaminated

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Some 30 years ago my wife was operated on for her thyroid. She began taking thyroid pills.

Last year a FBI was taken and it showed contamination. The doctor told her to stop taking the thyroid pills as her blood was contaminated.

What does this mean? When will it become normal? What are the ill effects of contaminated blood? — U.S.F.

The FBI (protein-bound iodine test) simply showed your wife's blood was "contaminated," but only in the sense that something was interfering with the chemical analysis sought. It does not mean she is "contaminated" in the sense that we normally think of and use that term.

Certain medications, iodine for example, are possible contaminants that can throw off test results. Even iodine from iodized salt or mixed vitamin-mineral preparations can cause this "contamination."

Most likely, her doctor has ordered her off her thyroid medicine so that he can get the reading he desires in a subsequent test. Four to six weeks is the usual period of abstinence before the new test can be made — minus the "contamination."

It's a case of a word meaning one thing in medical talk and quite another in everyday conversation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am desperately trying to breastfeed my 5-week-old son but I don't have enough milk. Is there anything I can do or take to increase the milk supply? I envelope.

want to nurse him so much, but the way things are, he is not getting half the milk he needs. S.M.

Assuming that you aren't starving yourself, there is no known method of arbitrarily increasing milk supply. Suckling — the process of feeding the baby — is the only way.

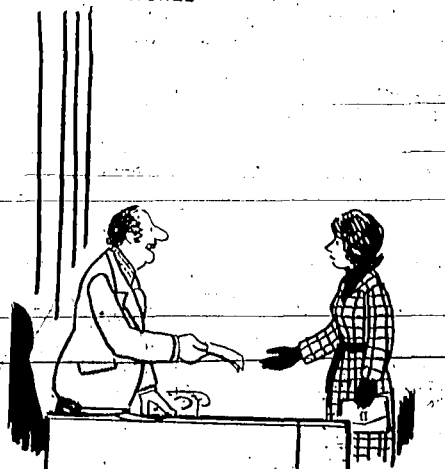

I'm all in favor of breastfeeding, so do your best, but consult your doctor about supplementary feeding with a formula, which can be done, and has to be at times, because some women just can't produce enough milk.

The baby's nutrition is the important thing. Chief clues to whether he is getting enough are weight gain and his general behavior.

Note to G.K.: I don't know of any evidence that these "bust-builders" creams do any good whatsoever, and suggest that you save your money. Anyway, you're young enough to expect considerable development in the next few years.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

Paddling case refused

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a "spare the rod and spoil the child" case, the Supreme Court refused Monday to hear arguments that paddling public school students without parental permission is unconstitutional.

Without comment, the justices turned down an appeal by two Dallas fathers and their sons who had unsuccessfully challenged the practice in Texas as "cruel and unusual punishment."

Texas law allows a principal or an assistant principal to impose "moderate corporal punishment" on a pupil without prior consent of the parents. Teachers, however, may paddle a student only on receiving written approval of the parents and in the presence of an adult witness.

The challenges were initiated in federal district court in Dallas by Marshall Ware and his son, Douglas, and by Andrew Oliver and his son, Roderick.

According to attorneys for the Dallas school district, the Ware youth had twice been paddled by an assistant principal at Sunset High School but that his father "had always assumed that school authorities would spank Douglas when they wanted to."

In the case of the Olivers, the son had been paddled by a teacher for violating safety rules in a woodshop class at Zumwalt Junior High School. Subsequently, the same teacher slapped the boy when the youth cursed him during an argument.

Taylor ruled that it would be improper for federal courts to intervene with the operation of local schools. He noted that the punishment usually consisted of "hitting the student on his buttocks one or several times with a paddle" and "there have also been incidents where the punishment has been administered with a tennis shoe."

The Supreme Court has invariably shied away from intervening in cases involving school discipline such as dress codes and regulations on the length of boys' hair.

The Court also: —Ruled 6 to 0 that computer program systems are not patentable under present law but strongly recommended that Congress look at the technological problems in the billion dollar industry.

Nixon fears stagnation

THURMONT, Md. (UPI) — An aide to President Nixon says the chief executive ordered a reorganization of the government because he feared his administration might stagnate unless it was infused with new ideas.

"There is a tendency after a landslide victory for an administration to go downhill if there are not new ideas," Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Monday.

There may be familiar faces in new settings in Nixon's second term as a result of the shake-up Nixon is planning in the relative seclusion of his Camp David retreat.

Ziegler said that although some Cabinet members—he cited only Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird as an example—plan to leave government, others would prefer to stay but change to other jobs.

"The President has some imaginative ideas on how to use these good men who do not want to leave public service but

FBI head rests

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI) — Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III was resting today in the Lawrence and Memorial Hospital following an attack of abdominal pains at his nearby home.

Justice Department spokesman John W. Hushen said Gray was undergoing "observations and tests."

Hushen said initial reports indicated that surgery was necessary to remove an "intestinal obstruction," but it was decided Monday to defer an operation until the tests were completed.

Gray was at his home preparing for an evening speech in Boston when he was stricken Sunday.

Probers focus on racial row

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A congressional subcommittee, assured by Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt that Navy discipline was not being relaxed, focused its attention today on a disturbance aboard the aircraft carrier Constellation where 123 sailors, mostly blacks, staged a walkout.

The three-man House Armed Services subcommittee opened its investigation of clashes aboard Navy ships Monday in Washington, where Zumwalt, Chief of Naval Operations, defended his program of humanizing the Navy, denying it amounted to permissiveness or attracted Navy discipline.

The hearings are closed to the public, but during a mid-afternoon break Zumwalt firmly told reporters, "I have absolutely no problem about the statement of whether or not there is permissiveness in the Navy. There is absolutely none."

Neither Zumwalt nor subcommittee members would answer questions about specific incidents such as the protest on the Constellation. The transcript of the probe will remain secret until completion of judicial and administrative actions against those involved in the demonstrations.

But Chairman Floyd V. Hicks, D-Wash., said at the start of the hearings that on the

Lawsuit dropped

MIAMI (UPI) — Bernard Barker, a defendant in the Watergate political espionage case, dropped his $2 million damage suit against the Dade County state attorney Monday instead of delivering a pretrial statement.

Barker and his attorney, Henry Rothblatt of New York, appeared in response to a summons to give a pretrial statement in the damage suit. Any such statement could have been used against Barker when he goes to trial in federal court in Washington next year in connection with the June break-in at Democratic headquarters.

The suit against state attorney Richard Gerstein was an apparent attempt to block Barker's trial in Miami on charges of fraudulently using his notary public seal on a check linked to Republican party campaign funds.

Barker was convicted and given a 60-day suspended sentence on the notary fraud charges. He is appealing the conviction.

Demo chairman softens stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Jean Westwood apparently has softened her earlier position that she would fight efforts to remove her by party leaders distressed by the landslide loss of presidential candidate George McGovern.

The Utah woman, handpicked by McGovern for the party post after he won the Democratic nomination last summer, said Monday that her future as chairman "is subordinate to considerations about the future of the party."

For two weeks following McGovern's trouncing by President Nixon, Mrs. Westwood had been saying that she would fight for her job and would not serve as a "scapegoat" for McGovern's defeat. But in her Monday statement she said it was the safety of the party's reform rules that she was interested in.

"I will resist with all my strength any effort to roll back the progress we have made," she said.

It also appeared today that a proposed deal to unite the party had fallen through.

Reports circulated Monday that McGovernites would be willing to see Mrs. Westwood give up the party leadership in favor of George Mitchell, a Portland, Maine, lawyer who

Hughes readies sea mine plans

REDWOOD-CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Howard Hughes, a pioneer of aviation, is turning to the sea in a highly secret venture to mine the ocean floor's vast mineral wealth.

The latest project of the mystery billionaire reportedly centers on construction of a huge underwater barge, from which tractors will be sent out to harvest minerals.

The mining equipment is being developed by Lockheed Missiles and Space Company, Inc., using technology that helped put Americans on the moon.

The pioneering assault on the ocean is being made by the Ocean Mining Division of Hughes Tool Company.

The ocean mining division is not among assets of Hughes Tool Co. currently being sold in a public stock offering. The oil tool business was the foundation of the Hughes empire that at various times has embraced aviation, movies, airlines and other concerns.

Paul G. Reeve, general manager of the division, said that "considerable work has been done on exploration for and processing of so-called ocean nodules—lumps of minerals."

A deep ocean mining vessel named the Hughes Glomar Explorer was launched at Chester, Pa., on Nov. 4.

Canvassers set

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Canvassers expects to meet Wednesday morning to begin canvassing votes cast in the Nov. 7 general election, Secretary of State Pete T. Conrads said today.

Conrads said, however, the board may have to continue its meeting until later after the initial gathering as required by law.

He said not all members of the board may be available for the meeting. He said that, as of Monday morning, four counties still had not sent in their abstracts of votes cast in the election.

Ethel visits grave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ethel Kennedy, accompanied by six of her children, her maid and two family dogs, went to Arlington National Cemetery Monday to pay respects to her late husband, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, on what would have been his 48th birthday.

Mrs. Kennedy knelt for about 10 minutes beside her husband's grave and then walked to former President John F. Kennedy's grave, where she knelt for about three minutes.

Michael, Kerry, Christopher, Max, Douglas and Rory Kennedy were with her.

Plans being set for touring art exhibits stops in Idaho

BURLEY — Artrain is coming to Idaho in May, and plans are under way for stops by the touring art exhibit in four of the state's cities.

The six car train, a project of the Michigan Council for the Arts, is filled with masterpieces representing nearly every area of man's artistic endeavor. Displays include original paintings by Picasso, Renoir and Matisse, ancient and classic sculptures from Egypt, Greece, Africa and the Far East and many thematic audio presentations including "man creates" and "creative innovators."

The art about the train is valued at more than $500,000. A workshop was held in Burley Saturday to begin the extensive preparations necessary to accommodate the train and its priceless cargo.

Suzanne Taylor, executive director of the Idaho State Commission on the Arts and Humanities and Reginald Reeves an Idaho Falls attorney and member of the commission were on hand to welcome Artrain staff members and Idaho delegates who will co-ordinate the exhibit's month long stay in the state.

The cost of bringing the train to eight western states between January and August of 1973 will approximate $293,000, according to Glib Gardner, arts and humanities project director for the Federation of Rocky Mountain States, the federation, comprised of Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah, will pick up $150,000 of the tab through a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, Washington, D. C. The individual states, including Arizona and Nevada, will make up the difference, each paying $10,000.

According to Gardner, some states plan to take the money from their art program appropriations, some will raise it from a combination of the art program funds and local business contributions and some are taking it on as a state Jaycee fund raising project. He said Idaho has chosen the last alternative.

Bob Copp and Steve Grundmeyer, chairman and project director of the Idaho Falls Jaycees were present at the meeting and will act as general managers of the statewide Jaycee effort. Gardner said the actual cost of running the train during the eight month period will total $100,000 with the other $40,000 used for indirect costs, such as returning and up fitting the cars.

The train will stop in each city for four or five days; he said, then spend two or three days in moving to the next location. The field of Idaho cities considered for an Artrain visit has been narrowed to five, according to Gardner, with another cut to be made. Those being considered are Twin Falls, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Moscow and Boise. But he said, Boise and Moscow are virtually guaranteed visits with the contest remaining among the other three.

Local Artrain teams suggested in a promotion brochure include a community chairman and directors for activities, education, facilities, promotion and services. An Artrain education co-ordinator will come to each area one week prior to the train's arrival to direct and confirm plans for student tours.

Koreans voted today

SEOUL (UPI) — South Koreans voted today on a new constitution which would strengthen the powers of the presidency at the expense of parliament and allow President Park Chung-hee to prolong his own term of office indefinitely. Most observers said there was little doubt voters would endorse the new constitution. Park ordered the referendum shortly after declaring a state of national martial law, banning all political activity, suspending parts of the current constitution and dissolving parliament. He said he was compelled to do so by both domestic and external circumstances. About 15.7 million persons were eligible to vote, but Park's plans will win approval if a simple majority of persons who cast ballots supports revision of the current constitution. A cold wave gripped most parts of the country as polling stations opened and officials said the vote turnout was low for this reason during the early hours of the day. But it was a public holiday and they predicted a high poll. No incidents were reported. No pre-voting campaigning for or against the new constitution was allowed but radio and television stations repeated appeals to voters to cast ballots.

Bandits shoot boy

DALLAS (UPI) — When bandits helped the grocery operated by Charles Langley's mother, he did not have a chance to be frightened. They had shot him without saying a word within moments of entering the store. The 13-year-old, 5-foot-2 seventh-grader lay in a hospital today while doctors try to determine the best time to remove the bullet which lodged one inch above his heart. "I'm a little scared," Charles said Monday. Charles was listed in good condition at Baylor Hospital, but late Sunday—during the robbery—his mother thought he had been killed. "They didn't have to shoot him," Mrs. Langley said. "There was just no reason. He just lay there on the floor with blood pouring out through his blue great shirt." Charles said he had nothing to do Sunday, so he decided to go down to the drive-in grocery where his mother had been working about a month. He wanted to help her wait on customers and sweep and mop the floor. "Two men came in and we got up just like they were regular customers," Charles said. "One of the men—the short one—just pointed a gun at me and fired. They didn't say a word." Charles fell and clutched his chest, hoping to hold back the blood. But he kept his wits. "I played unconscious so they wouldn't shoot me again," he said. "Then I heard them say it was a holdup, for my mother to give them the money."

E. Germany admitted to UNESCO

PARIS (UPI) — East Germany joined the U.N. Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) today to emerge from 27 years of isolation from the community of nations. West Germany was among 130 nations acclaiming East Germany's membership. Edward Moldt, East German vice minister for foreign affairs, expressed his government's gratitude and stated his determination to fulfill UNESCO objectives and work towards an understanding among nations. UNESCO was the first major international body and first U.N. agency East Germany ever joined.

Lonely vigil

Feds to recover misspent funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Office of Education has renewed its campaign to recover allegedly misspent federal funds intended for needy school children by ordering eight more states to return $10.2 to the federal Treasury. But privately, federal education officials hope the states won't have to repay the money and won't be penalized for the past spending errors of local school districts. Instead, states might be told to increase future spending on poor school children by the amounts they allegedly misspent in the past. The spending errors were charged under Title I of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act, which has provided nearly $10 billion worth of special reading, math

Astronauts rehearse countdown tonight

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — With their rocket "ready to go," Apollo 17's astronauts rehearse their part of the countdown tonight for launch Dec. 6 on America's last planned journey to the moon. The towering Saturn 5 rocket and its three-module spaceship passed a long, realistic countdown test Monday night by simulating blastoff on schedule at 9:53 p. m. EST. "It's been a very nominal and uneventful test," reported launch director Walter J. Kapryan. "Everything looks like we're in real good shape. We're ready to go." Because the Saturn was filled with more than 1 million gallons of explosive propellants, astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt waited until the fuel was drained before rehearsing their part of the countdown. The supercold liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen propellants were drained during the night under the light produced by a battery of 130 searchlights surrounding the ocean-side launch pad. The atmosphere was hazy and from a distance the 363-foot space machine had a strange orange glow to it as it stood on the ocean side firing pad during the night. Cernan, Evans and Schmitt plan to follow their launch day timetable tonight, aiming toward another mock launch at 9:53 p. m. Their schedule called for them to don their spacesuits 3 1/2 hours before launch time, leave their quarters at the Kennedy Space Center at 6:47 p. m., board their spacecraft at 7:13 p. m., and then run through a series of communications and instrument checks.

2 American jets lost in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command today reported the loss of two American F4 Phantom jets over North Vietnam in the past 24 hours. The two crewmen of one plane were killed and the other two were rescued from the Gulf of Tonkin. One of the planes was shot down by a Communist antiaircraft missile. A total of 1,057 American planes have been lost in the air war over North Vietnam in the past eight years and 909 fighters have been killed, missing or captured, according to unofficial figures. The toll since the air war resumed around the clock April 6 is 132 fighters lost over North Vietnam and 124 planes downed.

The first Phantom was hit Monday night by a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile. The pilot coaxed his crippled plane out over the Gulf of Tonkin and a helicopter fished him and his bombardier-navigator out of the sea unhurt 80 miles southeast of Hanoi. The second plane crashed of unexplained causes while returning to its base at Udorn, Thailand, from a mission over North Vietnam. The plane crashed 40 miles east of Udorn. A command spokesman said he did not know whether the plane had been hit by North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire. The pilot had not reported any damage. Viet Cong gunners bombed the big air base at Da Nang with nine 122mm rockets today in an attack that killed a civilian and wounded 12 others. In the air war, bad weather again restricted American jet fighter-bomber raids against North Vietnam to fewer than 50. A sortie is one mission by one plane. However, B52 heavy bombers which fly above the weather carried out a near-record 12 missions of about three planes each over the North, or about 36 sorties for an overall total of about 80 for all U.S. planes. All were below the 20th parallel as they have been since Oct. 23 on orders from the White House during cease-fire talks. Twelve B52 missions against the north is one short of the 13 missions flown there Aug. 12, Oct. 31 and Nov. 4.

Biracial commission, FBI investigate deaths

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A biracial state commission was named Monday to find out how two black students at Southern University were killed during a showdown with police Thursday. The FBI has already begun its own, separate investigation of the incident. "They already have 40 FBI people in here investigating," said Sheriff Al Amis. "They're going to talk to everyone involved." Louisiana Attorney General William Guste, saying the state's "image and self respect" were at stake, announced the 12-man state commission, which includes two students. "An incident such as this affects not only the individuals involved but every citizen, every educational institution, our law enforcement system and the very fabric of our society," Guste said. "In short, Louisiana's image and self-respect as a state—which has as its motto, 'Union, Justice and Confidence'—is at stake."

Separate funeral services for the two students were set. Leonard Brown, 20, will be buried Wednesday in his hometown of Gilbert, La. Denver Smith, 20, of New Roads, La., will be buried Thanksgiving Day.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year. There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin. Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain? You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet. Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset. When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Gem staters see Fisher premiere

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News
POCATELLO — Hagerman's
Opal-Fisher was joined here
Friday night by actor Robert Redford and director Sydney Pollack.

The appearances marked the premiere showing of the motion picture, "Jeremiah Johnson," acted by Redford, directed by Pollack, and partly based on the novel, "Mountain Man" by the late Vardis Fisher.

The showing brought in more than $4,000 for the Vardis Fisher Memorial Fund, which is to be used to provide financial help to aspiring young writers from the west. Tickets were priced at $5 and up.

Mrs. Fisher had made the arrangements to have the first showing in Pocatello. A second performance is scheduled for Dec. 2 in Boise. The film will then be released for general circulation, opening in Los Angeles in time to be eligible for the current year's Academy Awards.

One possible award winner in this film could be Will Geer, the old character actor who portrays the mountain man who teaches Jeremiah — Robert Redford — the tricks of the trade. The words and antics of the old "griz" hunter delighted the first-night audience.

The cinematography and the costuming could also be considered for awards. The picture itself is a better-than-average adventure story, with less explicit gore than a good many modern movies and with no explicit sex scenes. It carries a PG rating — parents should probably not send children who are bothered by pictures of corpses or by flashing scenes of bloodshed. The camera does not linger on the blood, however.

Although the story line is only loosely related to that of Fisher's novel, the film does capture much of the spirit of the Hagerman author's writing. It brings out such familiar Fisher themes as the contrasts between cunning and brute force,
the horror of death, the time-consuming painful activities demanded of those who live in primitive conditions, the attraction — and the dangers — of nature, and man's pre-occupation with religious and supernatural fears and beliefs.

There are many scenes of what might be considered a prototypical Fisher theme, that of a man building a home for himself and his family.

There are many excellent acting performances in the supporting roles. In fact, Redford, the star, has to juggle to hold his own with the less well-known performers. But Redford, too, does good work, especially in scenes where he must do his acting with his eyes and his physical attitudes, speaking no words.

Redford and Pollack arrived late for the showing, coming to Pocatello by chartered jet. They and Mrs. Fisher each spoke briefly to the waiting audience, then the film began. A few moments into the picture, some of the spectators became aware that the star was standing at the back of the theatre watching the show.

He stayed there for about half an hour, then left to get ready for a post-movie reception for the holders of the most expensive tickets.

Premiere showing

ON HAND for the premiere showing of the motion picture, "Jeremiah Johnson," based on the novel, "Mountain Man," by the late Vardis Fisher, are, from left, Robert Redford, who plays the lead role; Sydney Pollack, director; Mrs.
Opal Fisher, Hagerman, and Perry Swisher. The premiere was held in Pocatello, with a second performance scheduled Dec. 2 in Boise.

Hints

An apple crop of 149-million cartons is forecast for 1972. It's slightly less than last year's harvest.

Crown and button mushrooms are almost identical. Both names apply to caps with about 1/4 inch of stem attached.
Buttons may be smaller versions of crowns. A six-ounce can of whole caps or crowns contains about 18 mushrooms.
A four-ounce can of mushroom buttons contains 17.

A Lovelier You

STORM COAT FOR YOUR SKIN

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely asks: What can I do to prevent dry, chapped legs? I am plagued by the condition every winter. My legs already feel sensitive and sometimes itch like the end of a sunburn. I use body lotion to no avail.

The Answer: This is a common complaint and not confined to legs. It is particularly prevalent
among sun worshippers and people of mature years. Both overexposure to sun and the aging process reduce the skin's natural oil and moisture supply to a point where dryness becomes acute. Flake, itchiness and a wrinkled
appearance are the follow-up, unless care is extra knowledgeable.

When bath oil and body lotion, usually effective remedies for dry conditions, are lost on you, analyze your soap. Toilet soaps should be rich in oils and moisturizers. Otherwise a soap can interfere with the desired action of oils and lotions. As a helpful instance, a "therapeutic soap" contains a blend of oils, proteins and carbohydrates. It thus complements the oil-moisture formula of a good bath oil.

You might investigate a two-phase bath concentrate.
The bottle holds oil at the top and moisturizer at the bottom. Shaking together achieves a two-in-one soft body bath. If you use a proper soap!

A few weeks of such care should bring about improvements. Still you need a "storm coat" to protect those legs from cold, bad weather and artificial heat. Outdoors that means warm stockings and high boots on bad days; heat and humidity control indoors (the latter benefits your face too).

South would have a most difficult rebidding problem
after North's one-heart response if he did not have a forcing reverse bid at his disposal. He wouldn't want to try raising hearts to three, a two-heart bid would be inadequate; a two no-trump call unsound with the glaring weakness in spades and a jump rebid in clubs
would indicate a six-card suit or longer.

After the reverse bid, the six-club contract was reached because North decided to trap his partner.

At first glance it would appear that the slam depends on a 3-3 diamond break, but it did make because one opponent held four cards in each red suit and would up being hopelessly squeezed.

East won the spade lead and led back a trump. South won in his hand; ruffed his last spade and ran off the rest of the trumps while discarding two hearts from dummy.

He didn't know if diamonds would break or if a squeeze would develop. All he knew was that in either eventuality he would make his slam and there was no other line of play.

East had to make a total of four discards. The first two were spades. That was easy. The next was a trifle tougher, but he did let a heart go. When it came to the fourth and last one he was a gone gossling. He had to unguard one of the red suits and the slam came home.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if there is such a thing as a man losing his manhood? I hope you won't think I am stupid, but I am 59, and my husband is 60, and we have not had sexual relations for over 12 years.

When I asked our family doctor about it, he said it's possible for some men to lose their manhood at 40. Is this true? We asked a couple who have been close friends for a number of years if their sex lives had come to a halt, and they said their sex lives were better now than when they were younger. The man is 63 and the woman is 61. Are they lying?

Manhood at stake!

I am in good health and so is my husband. I am no sex maniac, but I really do believe my husband could do better by me if he tried. But how can I be sure he is capable of it? I don't want to make demands he can't fulfill. Keep this confidential, please

BOSTON READER

DEAR READER: It's not normal for a healthy man to lose his manhood at 40. He should be examined physically again. If he's physically sound, his problem could be psychological. Be sure he covers all the bases. He has many good years ahead of him—and so have you!

DEAR ABBY: This is a message to office employees, secretaries, and mine in particular.

I came to this office as a much younger man and now hold a responsible executive position. My secretary was here when I started, and along with other employees, she addressed me by my first name. Once an employee calls the boss by his first name, it's almost impossible to ask for a "Mister" without creating a chill that affects office efficiency.

My secretary is capable, but more than once she has embarrassed me by using my first name. Because I deal with some distinguished people, I try to answer my own phone, knowing that it's possible that my secretary may say, "Harry, it's for you?"

There are circumstances when it's terribly touchy to suddenly ask to be called "Mister" after one is addressed by his first name. That's the situation I find myself in.

Perhaps my employees will see this, and understand that they can't go wrong with a "Mister," but you can cause embarrassment and controlled irritation with a first name. In my contact with other executives, I am never favorably impressed with an office staff who refers to the boss as "Harry." CALL ME MISTER IN MID-MISSOURI

DEAR MISTER: Since you had what it took to go from a "Harry" to an executive, lay it on the line, and tell your staff that "Harry" is okay in inner-office conversation, but outside the "family" you'd prefer to be called "Mister."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl and have a question I hope you won't think is too dumb to answer. How do you get a boy to notice you? NOT VERY PRETTY

DEAR NOT: No question is too "dumb" to answer. You get a boy to notice you by noticing HIM. When he becomes aware that HE has been noticed by YOU, he'll notice you. And don't worry about being "not very pretty." A very wise man once said, "Beauty is a gift." Charm must be cultivated. A beautiful woman is one I notice. A charming woman is one who notices ME.

CONFIDENTIAL to "unmarried, pregnant, and between two fires." Since you state you are morally against abortion, and your only problem is whether to keep the baby or put it out for adoption, I urge you to go to an organization called BIRTHRIGHT. They are very much concerned about women in your plight and will help you to make a decision you can live with. God bless you.

Burley team speaks

BURLEY — The Teacher Corps team assigned to Overland Elementary School addressed the chamber of commerce at its regular luncheon here Monday.

Mrs. Twylla Hunt, team leader, introduced the four teaching interns and delivered a brief address outlining the goals of the program.

The Teacher Corps is a national teacher preparation program funded by the federal government, according to Mrs. Hunt. She said it started nationally in 1965 and came to Idaho this year under the sponsorship of Idaho State University.

Although it is designed to contribute to and draw from every facet of a community and its schools, according to Mrs. Hunt, Teacher Corps has as one of its primary objectives the preparation of competency based teachers who earn their bachelor degrees through a two-year course of practical teaching and modular study.

Mrs. Karen Ferro, Burley, was the first of the interns to speak. She commented on her activities during the first six weeks at Overland.

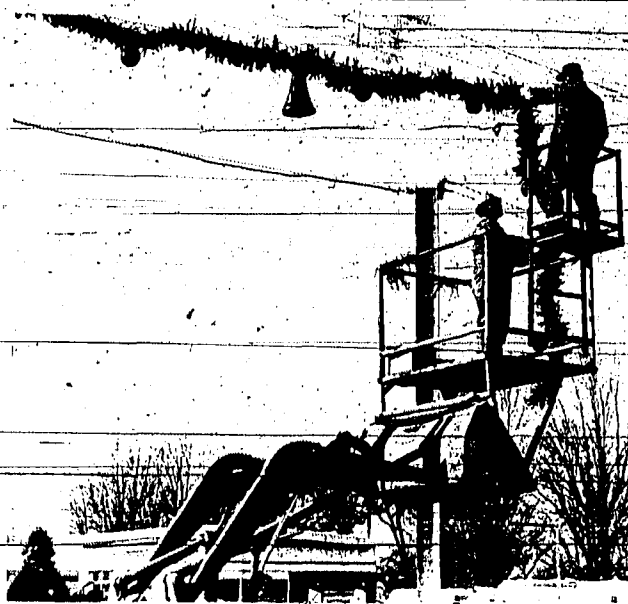

Individualized reading with ten fourth grade, and reading and phonics with second grade pupils have been professionally rewarding, she said.

A balanced program that will permit the slow learner to progress at his own rate and the gifted child to expand his interests is a big part of Teacher Corps preparation, according to Mrs. Linda Durfee, another intern.

Ester Leija, the third to speak, said she had concentrated on working with fast and slow mathematics groups during the six week period.

The only male intern at Overland, Andrew Sandoval, attributed his joining the Teacher Corps to his wish to help Mexican-American children.

He said reading groups in the third grade had been his project during the past few weeks.

Festive lights

CITY CREWS were hard at work Monday putting up the Christmas lights along the downtown area in Jerome. With the four and one-half inches of snow which fell over the weekend, the Christmas spirit was in the air.

Burley councilmen ask help in drafting job

BURLEY — City councilmen decided to seek professional help in drafting job specifications for an electronically assisted accounting machine during their regular meeting Monday evening.

The finance committee, including councilmen James Roper, Ted Smith and Cloyd Taylor, was assigned the task of contacting data processing specialists who will aid in preparation of accounting machine specifications that will ensure competitive bidding by vendors.

Results will be presented at the Dec. 4 council meeting. The council deliberated at length concerning a proposal that would have solicited bids immediately, calling for their opening on Dec. 7 and delivery of the machine by Jan. 1.

Another alternative was offered when Roper suggested that the city "share" a computer on a part-time basis for billing, payroll and budget preparation purposes. The plan eliminated the need for purchase or lease of a machine.

Roper, Smith and Taylor were also asked to meet with city fire chief, Oda Williams, to study the responsibilities of his position. Williams recently announced his planned Jan. 26 resignation, and the council is undecided as to the qualifications needed in a replacement or replacements.

Williams works in several capacities in addition to fire chief, including building and sewer inspector and gas fitter examiner. The councilmen thought the duties should be divided between at least two city employees.

The council agreed to supply city engineers in a survey of land owned by Thomas Howarth near the municipal airport and accepted Howarth's offer to deed unwanted property to the city.

According to city attorney Bill Parsons, Howarth wants to pinpoint his land holdings and erect a fence to discourage theft from the marina that he operates on the Snake River bank.

A resolution authorizing $50,000 in tax anticipation notes to be issued in $10,000 increments until additional income was adopted by the city officials.

They also voted to donate the city's half of a radio base station, eight radio units and a walkie-talkie to Mini-Cassia Search and Rescue Inc. on a minimal cost annual lease basis.

An ordinance establishing a citywide 25 mile-per-hour speed limit with the exceptions of Overland Avenue and Main Street and a resolution prohibiting parking and providing left turn lanes on four blocks of 16th Street between Miller and Hansen avenues were approved by the council.

In other action, the council: — Agreed to discourage the use of land near the northwest edge of the city, a site formerly owned by Swift's Packing Co. as a holding area for livestock.

— Heard a financial report from Earl Simpson, golf pro at the municipal links. Simpson said there was a $4,000 increase in the course's income and noted that of 300 season passes issued this year, 85 were purchased by students of high school age or younger.

— Reviewed a budget report by Treasurer Jim Ash. Ash also suggested means of revising the city's budgetary process, including projecting revenue before expenses, departmentalizing revenues, and capital projects budgeting.

Easy win predicted for Texas gambler

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The easiest bet Amarillo Slim ever won will be rafting down the Salmon River in November, says one professional river boatman.

Elwood Masoner, Twin Falls, river guide for White River Adventures, said that running the Salmon River in November is one of the easiest of the year.

Masoner, who has made over 100 trips down the Salmon in the last 20 years, said he and several other boatmen think running the river in November is no challenge at all with an experienced boatman.

T. A. Preston Jr., better known as Amarillo Slim world champion gambler from Texas, and his river guide Jero Chapman, Boise, started their trip down the Salmon from the Flying B Ranch Sunday.

The two are making the trip as Slim's part of a bet that he couldn't make the trip down the "River of No Return," in November, accompanied by only one other person.

Making the trip, with the gambler from the Texas town of the same name, and Chapman is a raft carrying a photographer and a third raft with a rescue crew in case it is needed.

Slim loses the bet if he accepts either their help or the help of a helicopter making a daily check on the party's progress.

"I'd use a woman's padded bra for a life preserver and run the river for less money than Amarillo Slim," Masoner said.

One of Masoner's friends, another pro, said he would go along and use a basketball for a life preserver.

Masoner said he didn't want to take anything away from the river, but with an experienced boatman it is actually easy now. Masoner ran the river last Oct. 16 with three other people in one raft and had his easiest trip ever. At the time he "wondered where the excitement went."

Commenting about the treacherous ice supposedly in the river, Masoner said the weather hasn't been cold enough to form any dangerous ice thus far this year, much less any ice bridges.

Masoner said, on the 30 mile trip from the Flying B Ranch down the Salmon, the two men shouldn't come across any rapids that would pose any personal danger.

He said the water isn't stacking up at the rapids. "There is plenty of water for them to boat the river."

The water actually "slows down this time of the year," Masoner said, so someone running the river in a boat can miss any obstacles or even pull into shore.

The most dangerous time of the year to run the river is in the spring, Masoner said.

The trip itself only takes about eight hours from the Flying B Ranch, under normal water conditions, Masoner said. It could actually be made in one day.

The professional guide said Amarillo Slim and his guide could be in danger only if they are careless and if neither knows what they are doing.

But Chapman is experienced, even though he isn't a pro, so he will know what he is doing, Masoner said.

As for the money, Masoner quipped, "If I could find bets that easy to win, then I could give up working for a living."

There isn't an experienced boatman who isn't envious of the trip. I would give my eye teeth to be along," Masoner said.

Wendell vote set today

WENDELL — The Wendell school bond election voting will continue until 8 p.m. today at the high school library.

The school district is asking for approval of a $555,000 bond for construction of a new high school gymnasium and additional classrooms for the junior high.

Bureau of Mines in controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Elbert F. Osborn, who became director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines two years ago amid controversy over the agency's enforcement of coal mine safety laws, may be on his way out as the center of another controversy.

This time it deals with whether or not the bureau, a part of the Interior Department, should have anything to do with mine health and safety at all.

Like other top officials in the administration, Osborn has tendered his resignation pro forma to President Nixon as the President prepares for his second administration.

Sources in the bureau administration there is considerable speculation Osborn will be dropped from the $7,500-a-year job, partially due to differences with higher Interior officials.

One national publication (The Wall Street Journal) said that last week that Osborn "is sure to depart."

If that happens, the catalyst may be a comment Osborn made Nov. 10 in Hazard, Ky., that he was about ready to suggest that the administration and enforcement of the 1969 Federal Coal Mine Health Safety Act be transferred out of the Interior Department to the Labor Department.

"We're about ready to ask for it officially," Osborn was quoted as telling a meeting of Eastern-Kentucky coal operators.

EPA rejects application

GOODING — The Environmental Protection Agency has rejected a Wood River Resource Area application for funding for a solid waste management study.

According to resource, conservation and development project coordinator, G. J. Price, the management study was not funded because the EPA felt there were "major deficiencies" in the application.

These included insufficient explanations of in-kind commitments, lack of explanations in the narrative, lack of evidence for means of local funding and insufficient listing of tasks and objectives. The EPA also stated that the proposal was too consultant-oriented with not enough local staff support.

Dell Taylor, the newly appointed planner-in-charge of comprehensive planning for the WRRRA, will submit a new application for funds.

The WRRRA will receive $10,000 for FY 1974, of which Blaine County will expressly receive $3,000 of the HUD "701" funding grant. The WRRRA will use the grant for a comprehensive plan, Price said.

In a report from Ray Mickelson of the State Planning and Community Affairs Agency which administers the HUD funds, the WRRRA was informed that its participation in the grant would have to include more than just in-kind services and that any increase in the comprehensive planning budget would have to be financed locally, Price said.

$5,000 bond set for Burley man

RUPERT — Ruben Curiel, 22, Burley, was arraigned in Fifth District Court here Monday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Magistrate LeRoy Blacker set bond at $5,000 and granted a request for a preliminary hearing by defense attorney Golden Bennett, Twin Falls.

The hearing has been tentatively scheduled for Nov. 20.

Curiel was arrested Sunday morning in Burley after Jesse Pena Jr., 22, Paul, was shot in the stomach about 12:45 p.m. during an altercation across the street from the Mr. Lucky Bar in Paul.

Jesse Ray Parker, Paul,

Pena's brother-in-law and owner of the bar, filed the complaint which led to Curiel's arrest.

According to Minidoka County Sheriff Theo Johnson, the incident started with an argument inside the bar and erupted into the later outside shooting.

Pena was taken to Minidoka Memorial Hospital and was later transferred to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls, where he was reported in fair condition this morning.

Investigating officers said the weapon used is believed to be a .22 caliber pistol that has not been located.

IPUC 'landmark' decision scheduled

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — A "landmark" decision concerning cooperative, non-profit trucking firms and their bids for common carrier licenses is due next year by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

The precedent-setting test case of the issue surfaced here last week when the IPUC met to take testimony from the Green and White Trucking Co., Paul, a cooperative non-profit marketing association which applied for a common carrier permit early in 1972, and a dozen commercial trucking firms that contest the granting of a permit to Green and White.

The contestants include Garrett Freight Lines, Pocatello; Beckley Trucking Corp., Caldwell; Bronco Trucking Co., Burley; May Trucking Co., Payette; Compton Transfer and Storage, Boise; Leo Handy Truck Line, Heyburn; Kent Brothers Transportation, Marsing; and American Falls; Darwin Feller and Ralph Feller, Caldwell; Consolidated Freightways, a

Delaware based company, and Browning Freight Lines and the Wycoff Co., Salt Lake City.

Green and White was incorporated in November of 1971. All its 150 stockholders and members belong to the National Farmer's Organization and it is headquartered in the district NPO office in Paul, although it is formally classified as an entity and separate from the NFO.

Members paid $100 per share for stock in the company.

Three trucks and trailers are presently hauling for the firm, but a spokesman said plans call for a fleet of ten.

Attorneys and spokesmen for Green and White are quick to point out that all members of the trucking company are also members of the NFO, but that all NFO members are not necessarily members of Green and White.

And most of them echo Green and White president, Joe Taylor, Norland, who said, "We really don't want in the freight hauling business, but we must be able to move our agricultural commodities when commercial truckers cannot provide transportation to fulfill our contracts."

According to one NFO official, who asked to remain anonymous, the primary reason for Green and White's common carrier application is the need for a wider range of commodities permitted as back-haul or secondary freight by the trucking firm.

Although Green and White presently holds IPUC and Interstate Commerce Commission private hauling permits, which allow the transport of raw agricultural commodities to and from state and national sites, spokesmen say it is difficult to line up raw products for the return trip and thus defray and justify the cost of the primary haul.

If the common carrier permit is granted to Green and White, the list of items that could be hauled within the state by the firm would be expanded to raw and processed agricultural commodities, (excluding frozen, dehydrated or canned products), dry bulk fertilizer from the supplier to the farm and building materials.

The permit would also stipulate that the freight be in truckload lots.

In addition to questioning the ability of Green and White in meeting the financial and service requirements of a public-oriented company, the contestants and their attorneys say a cooperative, non-profit trucking firm cannot legally operate as a public utility due to its very nature.

The requirement that a non-profit organization distribute at least 20 per cent of its net profit margin to its members constitutes a rebate under public utility conditions, according to one attorney for the contestants.

This would give an undue economic advantage to the cooperative trucking firm, he said.

He also said a bylaw governing "every non-profit, cooperative firm states that non-member business will not be greater than member business. This is not concurrent with the concept of a public utility, he added, which must be able to meet reasonable service requests, whether they are member or non-member.

Contestants also claim that Green and White would not have the burden of assuring profits and paying dividends.

Nearly every source in the Green and White affair asks assurance of anonymity before comment, reportedly because the issue is still very much up in the air and may see many more IPUC hearings before a decision is made.

Ralph Wickberg, a member of the IPUC, said Green and White has been ordered to file a brief defending its common carrier application by Jan. 9.

The contestants will then file an answering brief by Feb. 9, followed by the opportunity for Green and White to file a rebuttal brief by Feb. 23. The final case will then be submitted to the commission, according to Wickberg, which will arrive at a decision within 30 to 45 days.

Wickberg, while shunning the tag of "landmark" concerning the case's disposition, did say it would be a "new and unique" decision.

Brown powers Washington to triumph over Falcons

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Larry Brown celebrated cracking the 1,000 rushing barrier Monday night by running for one touchdown and catching a pass for another score to power the Washington Redskins to an uphill 24-13 victory over the Atlanta Falcons and their seventh straight triumph. The victory on the nationally televised Monday night contest kept the Redskins a game ahead in their division title fight with the Dallas Cowboys and dropped the Falcons into third place in their struggle for a playoff spot with the Los Angeles Rams and the San Francisco Forty-Niners. Quarterback Bill Kilmer and the Redskin opportunistic defense provided the winning counterpoint to Brown's performance as Washington rallied from a three-point deficit in the second half to overhaul the Falcons. With Kilmer hitting on spot passes to Roy Jefferson and Charlie Taylor, Washington drove 90 yards to a go-ahead touchdown the first time it had the ball in the third period. The payoff was Kilmer's 18-yard touchdown shot to Brown alone in the end zone.

Later in the same period, Washington's Brig Owens snagged a midair fumble on the Atlanta 12 and Kilmer immediately fired a touchdown pass to Jerry Smith to put the Redskins in front 21-10.

Atlanta's Bill Bell and Washington's Curt Knight matched field goals in the final quarter.

Brown wound up for the night with 82 yards rushing on 26 carries to boost his 10-game season total to 1,075 yards.

The underdog Falcons moved to a seven-point advantage in the first period when Ken Reaves picked off a Kilmer pass to give Atlanta possession on the Washington 45. Three plays later, Bob Berry pitched a 36-yard scoring pass to Jim Mitchell.

Muhammad Ali is 7-5 favorite over Foster

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Muhammad Ali, as he has been doing for more than a year and over a dozen fights, marks time against light heavyweight champion Bob Foster tonight when the two meet over 12 rounds at the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel.

"Let's face it," Ali said on the eve of the fight, "I have everything to lose and nothing to gain by fighting Foster, but I'm the man the public wants to see, so I keep on fighting."

What Ali is fighting for tonight is a $250,000 guarantee, which would give him a ring bankroll this year of over $2 million. He's also fighting to keep in shape while hopefully waiting for heavyweight champion Joe Frazier to give him a return crack at the title.

Ali, as might be expected, is the favorite, but at odds of only 7-5, down from 12-5 earlier mostly because the former heavyweight king has been experiencing breathing problems in Stateline's high, thin air.

Monday, Ali and his manager, Angelo Dundee, made one last pitch to the Nevada State Athletic Commission to permit the use of oxygen between rounds, but they were turned down. Nevada views the use of oxygen during a boxing match the same as it does the use of a stimulant.

Foster, who has fought before in the heavyweight ranks, is a solid puncher, capable of taking his man out with one blow. Obviously, he bases his chances on the ability to land a shot on Ali's chin.

Ali has predicted, but without much enthusiasm, that he will win the fight inside of eight rounds.

A crowd of 2,200 is anticipated with a live gate of $160,000. Foster has been guaranteed $125,000, so most of his guarantee and Ali's will come from the closed-circuit television pot.

While Ali has made every effort to concentrate on the fight at hand, all he has talked about in the days leading up to the Foster match is Frazier, the man who beat him at Madison Square Garden on March 8, 1971.

Frazier recently signed to meet George Foreman in

Parseghian chides Bryant for choice

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame chided Alabama's Bear Bryant Monday for bypassing an Orange Bowl rematch against Nebraska—even though Bryant's decision allowed Notre Dame to make the trip to Miami instead.

"I'm a little surprised," Parseghian said. "The challenge, as far as I'm concerned, is to go back and play the team that beat you."

"Two years ago, we were in that spot, with a choice between the Orange Bowl and the Cotton Bowl, and we elected to go back to the Cotton Bowl and play Texas, which had beaten us the year before. We chose the best competition."

"This time, we were not in the driver's seat. Alabama was. They were in position to select who they wanted to compete against and in what bowl they wanted to play."

Alabama, which is undefeated, will play Texas in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day at Dallas. The Crimson Tide had an unbeaten regular season last year, too, but was smothered 38-6 by Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. This year, Nebraska will be Notre Dame's bowl opponent.

"From everything I have heard and read," Parseghian said, "I believe they did not consider Texas to be as difficult an opponent (as Nebraska). Notre Dame has an 8-1 record, losing only to Missouri, but must play unbeaten and top-ranked Southern California in its final regular season game Dec. 2 at Los Angeles.

Parseghian said he was not yet ready to decide how to rate the present team with his eight previous ones at Notre Dame, but said this year's team had played better than expected.

"We're very fortunate," he said. "When we started out the season, very few people picked us in the top 20, and most figured we would have a 6-4 season at best."

Erving keeps team on top

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's apparent that Julius Erving's return to the American Basketball Association has kept the Virginia Squires in the fight for the Eastern Division lead.

Erving ranks No. 1 among ABA scorers with a 31.0 average. His potent point-making punch also gives Virginia the best offensive unit in the league with a 119.0 game scoring average.

Restraining order is issued in Hull case

CHICAGO (UPI)—A Cook County Circuit Court judge Monday issued an order restraining former Chicago Black Hawks hockey star Bobby Hull from playing with the Winnipeg Jets until the World Hockey Association posts a $2.5 million bond with U.S. District Court in Philadelphia.

Hull's attorney, Lawrence Elger, said Monday 10 teams of the WHA had promised to post $250,000 each for the bond but so far only two had complied.

Judge Francis T. Delaney entered the restraining order when member teams of the new WHA failed to post the bond by noon Monday as requested by U.S. District Court Judge A. Leon Higginbotham.

Higginbotham on Nov. 8 enjoined the National Hockey League from prosecuting or initiating any litigation to enforce the reserve clause of Hull's old contract with the Black Hawks.

Bruin, Minico players are named to SIC squad

Twin Falls linebacker Mark McKain was named to the Southern Idaho Conference first team. The Bruins had Brady Barbour on the second defensive unit and the Minico Spartans had four second teamers on the all-league team selected Monday by conference coaches.

Highland swept the individual honors and Borah placed the most men on the 44-man outfit. The team was selected as coaches tried in vain to finalize a 1973 schedule and the loop principals set up guidelines for application for league membership. The coaches will meet in Twin Falls Dec. 11 to finalize the football schedule.

The principals, noting membership interest shown by Bonneville of Idaho Falls, set up a procedure for admitting new schools. The formal written application, signed by the district superintendent, must be filed with the SIC at its annual meeting, held each spring in conjunction with the A-1 basketball tournament. A decision could be made at that time. However, the new member then would have to sit out one full school year before entering competition. This stipulation was made in the interests of scheduling.

Other officials also noted that new members in the east could cause problems. It was noted the best system would be admittance of two at once. This would necessitate a stand by Twin Falls which then would have to move to the western division — and other west division teams on whether they would accept the additional travel involved.

The conference all-star team saw McKain as the only first teamer, the coaches going to a four-four defense since 17 linebackers were nominated. Other positions had only one or two men over the required four needed to fill two teams.

Minico's winners were Gerald Blair at offensive tackle; Mike Hayden at offensive guard; junior Richie Donner at halfback and defensive tackle Bob Gerten. Barbour was named to the second team defensive secondary.

Highland coach Jim Koetter was named coach of the year while back of the year honors went to Ram Larry Kemp and lineman award was won by Dave Chandler 3-2 over Borah's Terry Hutt. Seven others were nominated for the linemen award. Highland's Bill Thiemann also was selected as the specialty man for both place kicking and punting. Highland's Frank Green also nipped Borah's Tom Cafferty 11-10 for quarterback starting honors.

USC is overwhelming pick in UPI balloting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rose Bowl-bound Southern California, fresh off its 24-7 victory over Pacific Eight rival UCLA, was once again the overwhelming choice of the United Press International Board of Coaches as the nation's No. 1 college football team in the eleventh week of balloting.

The top-rated Trojans received 31 first place votes again this week for 346 points to easily outdistance Alabama which had three first place votes and 305 points.

The No. 2 Crimson Tide, under fire for passing up an Orange Bowl rematch with Nebraska in favor of a probable easier matchup with Texas in the Cotton Bowl, had matched the Trojans with their 10th straight victory, 52-13 over Virginia Tech.

Michigan, also 10-0 after squeezing past Purdue 9-6, retained the No. 3 spot with 265 points while Oklahoma, awaiting its Thanksgiving Day Big Eight showdown with Nebraska, was fourth with 240 points. The defending national champion Cornhuskers were again fifth and also had the final first place vote.

Texas was again sixth but Sugar Bowl-bound Penn State moved up a notch to seventh and Ohio State advanced a place to eighth. That dropped Louisiana State, last week's No. 7 team, down to ninth. Auburn completed the top 10.

Only 18 teams received votes this week with a heavy concentration around the first nine teams, but there were some changes in the final eight.

Notre Dame was again eleventh but Tennessee moved up one slot to 12th, Colorado improved two places to 13th and Arizona State jumped four places to 14th. Utah State was 15th, Missouri and North Carolina tied at 16th and Iowa State pulled down the final spot.

For Missouri, conqueror of Notre Dame, Colorado and Iowa State in the last four weeks, it was the first time in the ratings this season. The Tigers also gave Oklahoma its stiffest challenge (aside from the loss to Colorado) before succumbing 17-6.

Sugar Ray Robinson retains interest in boxing world

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sugar Ray Robinson insists that he has only a passing interest in boxing today but he isn't fooling anyone.

In the next breath, he will flash his charismatic smile and give a precise evaluation of Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier. A layman can only sit and listen.

"I think it will be different the next time Ali and Frazier fight," the former middleweight and welterweight king said. "I think Ali will win."

"A boxer will beat a club fighter nine out of 10 times. It's that simple. All I wasn't ready the last time they fought. Frazier has been doing the worst thing he could possibly do now—stay inactive."

"Ali came to see Robinson before his first bout with Frazier in March, 1971. Ali was coming off a retirement of 3 1/2 years and wanted the old master's advice."

In 1952, Robinson said he was ending a ring career that started in 1940. He returned as a boxer two years later and fought until 1965.

"I told him (Ali) not to go up against Frazier then but he didn't listen to me," Robinson offered. "He'd lost his balance and you don't get your balance back from road work. You need work, boxing. I remember when I first came back I couldn't get it together."

Only seven years after his second—and final—retirement, the popular ex-champion, now 51, is three years into a new career as the non-paid head of the Sugar Ray Robinson Youth Foundation. He estimates there are 5,000 youngsters in his program.

It is not the image he portrayed during his ring career. He earned $4 million as a boxer and spent most of it, once taking an entourage of 20 on a trip to Paris.

"I haven't changed, though," he smiled. "Of course, I don't spend as much money but I don't have it to spend anymore."

I've always loved children and now I have the time to spend with them.

"People are quick to criticize but you have to remember I was born in poverty and was used to having nothing. When it all came to me, I couldn't cope with the situation."

The man who is recognized by many as one of the greatest fighters, pound for pound, in history is convinced "kids today are no different than they were when I was a boy."

"The conditions are different, of course," he continued, "but the kids are the same."

In 1946, Robinson won his first title, beating Tommy Bell for the vacant welterweight crown. He earned his last championship a dozen years later by whipping Carmen Basilio for the middleweight crown.

Yet he says he's happier now than ever before.

"I have a purpose," Robinson said. "I'm trying to help all kids, black and white, purple and green, but I'm particularly interested in hard core cases, the kid who drops out of school."

Indians sell two hurlers

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians announced Monday the sale of pitchers Steve Hargan and Lowell Palmer to their Oakland City Class AAA affiliate.

Hargan 30, a member of the Cleveland varsity since 1965, was 0-3 for the Indians last season. He also spent time in the minors at Portland where he compiled a 4-7 record.

In 1967 Hargan, a right-hander, was tied for the American League lead in shutouts (6) and was named to the All-Star team. The following year he had surgery on his right arm and except for an 11-3 showing in 1970, never regained his winning form.

Carlton Fisk sweeps ballots in race for AL rookie honors

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carlton Fisk won bigger than Richard Nixon.

Fisk today was named American League Rookie of the Year for 1972 by acclamation, sweeping all 24 votes of the Baseball Writers of America Committee.

The Boston Red Sox catcher, who will be 25 the day after Christmas, became the first player in the history of the award to be a unanimous choice in the American League, a feat matching National League winners Frank Robinson (1956) and Willie McCovey (1959).

Fisk, a member of "Kasko's Kiddy Korps" a year ago, fulfilled the dream potential spoken of for him as he hit a solid .293, including 22 home runs and 61 runs batted in.

But it wasn't only his bat that was invaluable to the Red Sox. So fine a manipulator of the "tools of ignorance" behind the plate was Fisk that he was chosen by AL managers and coaches as the recipient of the Golden Glove award as the top fielder in the league at his position.

The native of Bellows Falls, Vt., is only the second catcher to win the award in the AL. The New York Yankees' Thurman Munson took the prize in 1970.

After appearing in 14 games for Boston in 1971, in which he hit .313 in 48 at bats and clouted two homers, Fisk came to spring training as the third-string catching candidate behind Duane Josephson and Bob Montgomery. Fisk quickly took over the starting job, and became a major factor in the Red Sox' pennant drive, which just fell short in the hectic AL East race.

By All Star time, Baltimore manager Earl Weaver was convinced of Fisk's ability, selecting him to the AL squad, and the Sox youngster came through with a hit in the classic game.

Before Fisk, several players had come close to unanimous AL Selection—notably Harvey Kuenn in 1953, Tony Kubek in 1957 and Munson in 1970. Each fell short by one vote.

The Rookie of the Year award once covered both leagues, but was instituted on a separate-league basis in 1949.

Irish star wins NCAA track meet

HOUSTON (UPI)—Neil Cusack, a member of the Irish Olympic team who attends East Tennessee State, won the 34th NCAA cross-country individual championship today in 28:23.0 for the six miles.

Cusack, who said he felt at home in the murky 40-degree weather on a muddy track, finished 100 yards ahead of Douglas Brower of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

Cusack's East Tennessee teammate, Irish Import Edward Leddy, was third, while Glenn Herold, the Big Ten champ from Wisconsin, was fourth and Dan Murphy of Washington State was fifth.

Times of the other-placers were not immediately available while officials were trying to figure out the complicated team standings from among the 325 competitors in the field.

Cusack and Leddy finished seventh and eighth a year ago in this meet, while Murphy was fourth. Defending champion Steve Prefontaine of Oregon has graduated.

Matte asks Colts for release

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Baltimore Colt running back Tom Matte said Monday he has asked the team to place him on the waiver list because his services "are apparently no longer of any value to the team."

Colt General Manager Joe Thomas refused.

Matte was placed on the "move" list earlier this year because of leg injuries and an ulcer condition. He has not been activated.

Matte, a 12-year player from Ohio State, said "the situation goes against all the principles by which I have conducted myself as an athlete. I have been informed I can no longer participate in practice and will never again be an active player with the Baltimore Colts unless there is an extreme emergency."

Seagram's 7 Crown.

It's America's whiskey.

All across the land, more Americans drink and enjoy 7 Crown than the leading Scotch and Canadian combined. And they do so for one reason: the taste. A consistent lightness and smoothness that has convinced millions of Americans that they can Say Seagram's and Be Sure.

Thank you, America, for making our whiskey your whiskey.

That single girl who possesses a cigarette lighter which she always keeps in perfect working order can be expected to make an excellent wife. So advises a student of feminine character. No argument. Still, our Love and War man would like to point out that a girl who possesses a cigarette lighter that never works is apt to marry at an earlier age. Not much else, says he, so swiftly attracts to a young lady the helpful attention of eager gentlemen.

HOW MANY?
Q. "How many high school football players hurt their knees or ankles every year?"
A. About 140,000.
Q. "How many recessions since World War II?"
A. Five. In 1953-54, 1957-58, 1960-61 and 1969-70.
Q. "How many Americans will kill themselves today?"
A. Figure 50.

WHEN I WAS a small boy, I read in one of William Randolph Hearst's Sunday supplements about a dolphin that rescued a 2-year-old little girl who fell over the rail of a steamship in the Indian Ocean. Said dolphin reportedly swam under the child, then carried her piggyback to shore many miles away. Bunk! thought I. Recently the small boat of a South African woman tipped over in shark waters. She bled from leg cuts. Sharks moved in. Suddenly two dolphins zipped close, one on each side, to convey her toward the beach. Not once nor twice but thrice, when she started to go under, they sandwiched her upwards again. This account is documented well enough to suit me. Apologies to that reporter who several decades ago most probably got it right.

MARIJUANA
Our Chief Prognosticator says he has reason to believe marijuana may soon be bought legally by prescription to treat migraine headaches, high blood pressure and even epilepsy.

DON'T KNOW HOW the medical fellows found this out, but they tell us now the average man's skull can be depressed about .10 percent in width before it cracks.

ELECTRONIC TESTS pry even the best of the professional singers rarely can hold a note on exact pitch longer than a tenth of a second.

HOW MANY youngsters do you plan to have, young lady? What, only two? So you are among the 58 per cent of the girls today who say two are enough. Exactly 21 per cent would like three. And 17 per cent think four or more would be dandy.

Long term farm policies sought

HARTFORD, Conn. — The National Grange has announced policies to promote a viable agriculture and farm commodity program in the United States.

The programs to serve the interests of both producers and consumers were supported by delegate action at the 106th annual session of the National Grange meeting in Hartford. Jack Silvers, chairman of the Agriculture Committee and Master of the Washington State Grange, said the scheduled expiration of the 1970 Agriculture Act emphasizes the need for agriculture legislation on a more permanent basis.

He said planning only one to four years in advance leads to inefficient investment practices, unnecessary uncertainty and, consequently, higher costs of production. A solution to these problems would be a long-term agriculture act with an assurance of some minimum funding.

The Grange also supports a continuation of income support program either through price support, supplemental payments or some combination.

It also recognizes that for some commodities, effective supply control features are essential.

The national rural group called for measures which would enable farmers to receive parity of income from their farming operations for labor, capital and management. It also continues to support the strategic reserve concept as a protection to both growers and consumers.

The Grange feels that when the government asks farmers for more production to meet potential demand or emergencies, the government must be prepared to underwrite the risks and assure growers fair prices.

The Grange recommends extension of the Agriculture Act of 1970 with annual adjustments to equate supply and demand. Agricultural Committee Chairman Silvers said the diverted land feature of the present act should include provisions for the application of conservation practices on such lands and also provide for limited grazing.

Silvers said the family farm is the backbone of the nation's economy. He warned that if a few giant conglomerates are allowed to control the production of food and fiber, consumers would be at their mercy and this would threaten the economic stability of the nation.

The Grange also reaffirmed opposition to any proposals or actions which would weaken or fragment the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The delegates voted to send a telegram to President Nixon opposing any proposals which would transfer the Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service, Rural Electrification Agency, Economic Research, Rural Telephone Bank, Farmers Home Administration and other farm related agencies from the USDA.

The Grand Award Winner of the 1972 National Grange Sewing Contest is Mrs. Ethel Shuff of Wagoner, S. C., member of the Edisto Grange. The announcement was made tonight by Mrs. Alta Peck, director of women's activities for the National Grange at a dinner honoring Grange women.

Jones for his comforting message. Mrs. Beulah Chisham, Harriet Nursing Home, the ladies of the United Methodist Church, The Christian Ladies Mission service of Twin Falls, for their loving and caring for the family of Lula Smith.

SAFELY HOME

I am home in Heaven, dear ones. I am so happy and so bright. There is perfect joy and beauty in this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over. Every restless longing passed. I am now at peace forever. Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly trod the valley of the shade? Oh, but Jesus' love illumined Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me in that way so hard to tread. And with Jesus' arm to lean on, Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely. For I love you dearly still. Try to look beyond earth's shadows. Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There's a love still waiting for you. So you must not idly stand. Do not mourn, white life remem'ring. You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed, He will gently call you home. Oh, the rapture of that meeting. Oh, the joy to see you come!
