

Law gives students CSI vote control

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News managing editor
TWIN FALLS — Because of changed election laws, there is a good chance that College of Southern Idaho students can control election of college trustees.

Two of five trustee seats will be up for grabs at a trustee election scheduled for Dec. 19. Already one student has filed nomination petitions.

(Related story, P. 11)
The unusual prospect of student control of an Idaho college stems from changes in election laws which will permit most CSI students to vote, combined with the usual voter turnout at college trustee elections.

At the last trustee election, according to CSI board secretary H. L. VanSlyke, only 209 votes were cast.

In contrast, CSI has over 3000 students, most of whom now qualify as electors.

Should a large portion of the students vote, with expected low community participation, the students clearly would control the election outcome.

Changes in the law affecting the CSI election include:

— Reducing minimum age for an elector from 21 to 18 years.

— Eliminating earlier requirements that an elector be either a parent of a child living within the district beneath 18 years of age, or a personal or property taxpayer.

Most CSI students are over 18 years of age. Most are not parents or taxpayers.

According to Robert Alexander, CSI attorney, the college will conform to the new laws.

He said one complication is that a student must have established residency prior to entering school, because law prohibits students from acquiring residency once a student.

The CSI administration, unaware of the changes in election laws, had rejected one petition from a student Tuesday on grounds that its signers failed to meet all the old requirements, including parenthood or tax payment.

This requirement should eliminate only a minority of CSI students, as most formerly lived within either Twin Falls or Jerome counties that make up the college district.

According to Gerald Meyerhoeffer, CSI director of admissions, 81 per cent of the college's students are from within the district. That would make it likely that CSI could muster over 2,000 eligible voters.

CSI students, and those at the only other junior college in the state, North Idaho College, suddenly find themselves in a unique position among students in the state.

Students at state four-year colleges have no chance to elect trustees. Their board of trustees is the Idaho Board of Education, appointed by the governor.

Private college trustees are normally elected by other trustees. According to VanSlyke, a petition presented by Stanley Wachstetter, a trustee candidate and a student, was refused at first because its signers did not meet the old elector requirements.

Wachstetter later added more names including enough to qualify under the old requirements, to be accepted Tuesday.

VanSlyke said today the college had not been informed of the changes in the law, and had used the old elector's oath form, with changes only in the minimum age.

CSI attorney Alexander said today, however, that the forms were outdated and would be changed prior to the election.

Burning banned by Gem agency

BOISE — Stagnant air over Idaho has led to a ban on open burning over the state.

The Department of Environmental Protection and Health said today poor dispersion conditions may cause an increase of air pollutant levels, particularly in valley areas.

The condition is caused by high barometric pressure and low wind speeds. National Weather Service officials say it may last for another 48 hours.

EPA officials have advised major industries throughout the state to take appropriate action.

Vietnam talks in 3rd day

PARIS (UPI) — White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger met for three and a half hours today with North Vietnamese negotiators. With the talks apparently reaching a climactic stage, President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam increased his diplomatic representation in Paris.

Kissinger returned today from Brussels where he met with President Suharto of Indonesia then drove to the village of Gif-sur-Yvette 25 miles south of Paris for the third day of talks with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy. Indonesia has been mentioned as one of four nations to oversee any cease-fire.

Just after 6 p.m. (noon EST) Kissinger and his delegation left the Communist Party-owned villa in Gif-sur-Yvette just after 6 p.m. (noon EST) for the trip back to Paris and Tho and Thuy drove off five minutes later. They had begun their talks at 2:30 p.m. (8:30 a.m. EST).

It was their third session in as many days, aimed at securing a cease-fire in Vietnam and laying the basis for peace.

As the talks got under way, Asian diplomatic sources disclosed that Tran Kim Phung, South Vietnamese ambassador to Washington, had arrived in Paris unannounced. He met Kissinger today before the third session started.

Thieu's special foreign policy adviser is expected here Thursday.

The sources said Thieu apparently want to add muscle to his diplomatic representation in Paris during what could be the final round of talks. He was known to oppose certain provisions of the draft cease-fire and said a truce would not be effective unless he signed it.

Kissinger also conferred for 45 minutes with Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam at the U.S. Embassy residence and with Ambassador William J. Porter, who leads the American negotiating team at the weekly Paris peace talks. The session this Thursday was cancelled because of the American Thanksgiving.

The South Vietnamese envoy left the residence swiftly to avoid newsmen. He was accompanied by his delegation's No. 2 man, Nguyen Xuan Phung.

Hopefuls face tight schedule

TWIN FALLS — There will be a tight schedule for anyone hoping to unseat an incumbent trustee of the College of Southern Idaho.

The election will be held Dec. 19 — just one month after the date was set by the CSI trustees.

More immediately, anyone running for the post must file nomination petitions by Dec. 1. The first public notice of the election will be the day before the nominating petitions are due, on Nov. 30. Further legal publications of the election will take place on Dec. 7, a week after the petition deadline.

In addition, Idaho statutes require notice of the election be posted in three public places by Dec. 7, also after the deadline for petitions.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, said Tuesday he "didn't think any one knew about it," referring to the pending election.

The board approved the election timing Monday.

Two of the five CSI trustee seats will be up for election.

The seat currently held by Trustee John R. Coleman will be open. The seat will carry a 6-year term.

Coleman has announced he will seek re-election.

The second seat will be that held by John C. Hepworth, who was appointed to fill the uncompleted term of the late James H. Shields, Jr.

Hepworth's seat will carry a two-year term. Hepworth has said he will seek re-election.

Hepworth is opposed by a CSI student, Stanley Wachstetter. (Related story, P. 11)

Petitions, bearing the names of five electors, must be filed with the secretary of the CSI board, H. W. VanSlyke.

Strike call in Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Railway labor leaders Wednesday called for a 24-hour strike against the British railway system beginning at midnight to protest against supervisors moving an experimental train despite a union ban.

The walkout, which is expected to disrupt train services throughout Britain, was approved in a six-hour meeting of the union's executive committee.

The strike call came after railway inspectors moved an experimental advanced passenger train (APT) in the face of union demands that it remain stationary until a new wage scale could be negotiated.

Louisiana youth dies

STANLEY (UPI) — Jon Jeffrey Sisson, 15, Baton Rouge, La., died of carbon monoxide poisoning while on a hunting trip Tuesday.

Sisson and his brother, Norman, joined a group of Colorado friends who came to Idaho to hunt on the Yankee Fork.

Sisson was riding in the back of a camper when the hunting party decided to travel to Loon Creek to hunt. A bent tail pipe sent carbon monoxide through the floor of the pickup into the camper — killing him.

Nixon 'new look' unveiling soon

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon plans to begin unveiling the "new look" administration for his second term within a couple of weeks.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters Tuesday that plans for the changes, which he described as "extensive," will be completed by mid-December or before. He said that although no final decisions have been made yet, the President already had narrowed his choices and would begin announcing some of the new faces for his next four years in office before then.

Helicopters, running shuttle service between Washington and this secluded mountain retreat, have brought about 25 Cabinet members and other top-ranking government officials here for conferences with the President over the last eight days.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson, NATO Ambassador David Kennedy and Republican Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona were invited up today for individual sessions.

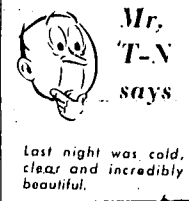

On Friday, after a Thanksgiving holiday with his family, Nixon has scheduled meetings with Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and Secretary George Romney of Housing and Urban Development. With these sessions, he will have met individually with all members of the Cabinet except Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, who has been out of the country.

In addition, he has met with about 15 other White House aides and ranking administration officials.

Tuesday, Nixon talked with Deputy Defense Secretary Kenneth Rush, his old law professor at Duke University, about who would succeed retiring Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Nixon also met Tuesday with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had been rumored as a possibility for the top Pentagon post. But Rockefeller took himself off the eligible list several weeks ago, saying he would remain governor, and a White House official confirmed he was not being considered for any Cabinet post.

Blaine decision appealed

HAILEY — An appeal to the Idaho Supreme Court has been filed in the Silver Creek case by attorneys for Picabo Livestock Inc.

Notice of appeal was filed with the clerk of the district court in Blaine County Tuesday afternoon by Edward Benoit, attorney for Bill Purdy, owner of Picabo Livestock.

The appeal is to the amended judgment of Nov. 18 against the Picabo Livestock Inc., defendants in an action brought by the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association, et al.

The judgment opened the waters of Silver Creek to public use although they cross the Picabo Livestock Inc. property, and granted use of the water for fishing, hunting and other recreation so long as those using the famed fishing stream do not cross dry-land-owned-by-the Picabo Livestock Inc. to utilize the creek.

The notice filed here Tuesday states the appeal has been filed with the Idaho Supreme Court for review.

Judge Charles Scoggins, Gooding, senior judge of the Fifth District, issued the amended judgment Nov. 18.

Golan front quiet today

TEL AVIV (UPI) — The armed forces chief of staff said today Israel's latest attacks into Syria were "bigger, stronger and tougher" than any since the 1967 Middle East War. He called them an effort to preserve the 27-month-old cease-fire.

Lt. Gen. David Elazar made his remarks in a radio interview during a tour of the Syrian front, where the two nations Tuesday fought their fiercest battle of the truce along the Golan Heights.

The region was quiet but soldiers remained on alert and unauthorized civilians were banished.

(Syria said a formation of Israeli warplanes violated Syrian air space today and were driven off by ground fire. Israel usually carries out reconnaissance flights after a major action.)

"Yesterday's pounding was bigger, stronger and tougher than at any time in the past," Elazar said when asked if it was the biggest Israeli effort against Syria since 1967. "The Syrian spokesman's announcement on what losses they suffered really borders on a joke."

"The action on the Golan Heights yesterday (Tuesday) was part of the fight for the maintenance of the cease-fire along the Syrian border," Elazar said.

"The cease-fire can continue along both sides of the border or not at all. There can't be a one-sided truce with violations and free options for the terrorists to plant mines" after infiltrating from Syria.

The radio said Elazar asserted that "the Syrians found out that the Israel defense forces react toughly against terrorist action and attacks against civilian settlements."

There was no doubt, the general said, that the Syrians intention was to hit civilian settlements. He said four of the six Syrian MIGs that were shot down were all headed toward Israeli territory for bombing missions.

He said Syria's announcement that three Israeli planes were downed in dogfights was "a joke," adding that the Syrians impressed him neither with their effort or effectiveness.

Workers at Nerom Gogolan, the kibbutz (collective farm) hardest hit by the Syrian shelling, situated four miles from the frontier, began clearing the debris from shattered buildings while children emerged from their shelters after 22 hours underground.

"It was terrible," said Terry Tehranian, 11, of (4 Rena at.) Allston, Mass., a British-style helmet dangled from his left hand. "At first we were laughing because it was nothing. Then it got so loud down in the shelter and then we knew it was real."

"We all dropped to the floor."

US remembers Kennedy death

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — With a light snow falling, friends, relatives and ordinary admirers of John F. Kennedy made the annual pilgrimage to his grave today on the ninth anniversary of his assassination.

More than 60 persons, mostly young and mostly white, gathered at the eternal flame topping the grave of the 35th President shortly after 8 a.m. EST when Arlington National cemetery opened.

They watched as Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, mother of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, was driven to the site by her son James in a monogrammed black Jaguar.

She knelt briefly in the falling snowflakes in 32-degree weather, then gently placed a few blue and white flowers atop graves of Kennedy and two infant Kennedy children buried alongside him.

Five minutes later, Evelyn Lincoln, Kennedy's personal secretary during his years in Congress and the White House, came to the graveside, remained about a minute and left half a dozen red roses.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who usually makes an early morning appearance at his brother's grave on Nov. 22, is in Europe with his wife Joan. Mrs. Onassis was not in Washington either. Mrs. Rose Kennedy, Kennedy's mother, was vacationing in Florida.

John Kennedy, assassinated during a motorcade through Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, would be 55 now.

In Hyannis, Mass., near the Kennedy family home, a Roman Catholic mass at St. Francis Xavier church marked the ninth anniversary of the assassination.

None of the Kennedy family, however, was in the Hyannisport compound Tuesday. The Kennedy family has attended the church in Hyannis for many years.

In Dallas, a brief ceremony was planned today at the site of the modern, concrete Kennedy Monument in downtown Dallas, three blocks from where Kennedy was assassinated. Mayor Wes Wlao said the ceremony would consist of a brief speech, a prayer, and music performed by a high school band.

Officials at Parkland Hospital, where Kennedy died during emergency surgery, said the operating room used would be closed for the day in tribute to the slain President.

Artists' union to appeal order

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) said today it would appeal a court decision blocking some of its newsmen members — including Walter Cronkite and Eric Sevareid — from joining a sympathy walkout against Columbia-Broadcasting System.

AFTRA had ordered its members, including actors and actresses, to begin respecting the picket lines of the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

But CBS won a court injunction just before the deadline, preventing newsmen with individual contracts from walking off their jobs. AFTRA then reversed its walkout order and told all its 1,000 members to remain on their jobs until the injunction could be appealed later today.

"While the court order applies only to people with individual contracts all of our people will continue to work until further notice," said an AFTRA spokesman.

About 1,200 IBEW members, including cameramen and technicians, went on strike Nov. 3 in a dispute over the handling of certain equipment.

In a three-page opinion, Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Hyman Korn said that "AFTRA, by its actions, has directed its members not to honor their contracts...to aid another union."

Though Korn noted CBS supervisory personnel could be on-the-air newsmen, he said such an event would "clearly not afford CBS a salable commodity equivalent to their recognized professional staff."

AFTRA said its decision to honor IBEW picket lines came after its contract with CBS and other networks expired last Wednesday. Until then it had been prevented from such action by a no-strike clause.

The Writers Guild of America, which represents CBS staff members who write the news, ordered its members last week to stay on the job, citing a no-strike clause in its contract with CBS.

State men appeal for public help

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A 12-member state commission investigating the deaths of two "Southern" University students last week made a public appeal for evidence Tuesday.

"Any individual who may have movie film, still photographs or other information concerning the incident is requested to contact Jack Yelverton of the state department of justice," said Louisiana Attorney General William Guste.

Funeral services were scheduled today for one of the students killed, Leonard Browne, of Gilbert, La. The other victim, Denver A. Smith, of Morganza, La., will be buried Thanksgiving Day. Both men were 20.

The panel was created to find out exactly what killed them, whether shotgun blasts from police or a bomb that might have been carelessly thrown by other students.

The FBI was conducting its own, separate, investigation.

The state commission said it will hold only secret sessions and members will not make individual statements on the probe.

"A report will be issued for publication by the chairman at the end of all sessions so that the news media and the public will be informed as to the progress of the hearing," commission members said in a prepared statement.

The investigating panel, which includes six blacks and six whites, will begin hearing witnesses Monday, according to Guste, chairman of the commission.

The panel will include two Southern students who have yet to be named. Both, however, will be black. The investigators also include Turner Calledge, former executive editor and a member of the board of the New York Times, and Revis Orquie, black New Orleans attorney and former member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

Some students said sheriff's deputies firing tear gas at them killed the two youths with shotgun shells. But Sheriff Al Amis said his men's guns were loaded only with tear gas.

Jet replaces sleigh for trip to grandma's

By United Press International

Americans no longer get out the family nag and sleigh to travel over the river and through the woods to Grandma's house on Thanksgiving.

Many travel to family reunions across the continent or jet to tropical or wintry resorts. Thanksgiving has remained a family holiday ever since its first celebrants sat down and feasted together to show appreciation for their survival in a new world.

In Plymouth, Mass., police were asked to guard a replica of the Mayflower after threats it would be burned on Thanksgiving Day.

The Mayflower II was built in 1957 in England and sailed across the Atlantic. It was built to specifications based on the original Mayflower which brought the Pilgrims to America in 1620.

David Freeman, director of the plantation, said the threatened burning of the ship was allegedly to be connected with the "Day of Mourning" scheduled Thursday by representatives of 12 Indian tribes. He said there was no evidence Indians had anything to do with the threats.

Indians said they would mourn for "the horrors inflicted upon the native American" and would "mourn the loss of Indian life, land and culture."

Banks, stock exchanges, schools, government offices, including post offices, courts and most businesses will be closed.

One Thanksgiving tradition, Macy's parade in New York, will be telecast to an estimated 70 million viewers all over the country.

President Nixon and his family will eat a traditional Thanksgiving Day dinner at Camp David, Md.

A UPI survey showed that Thanksgiving dinners—turkey with all the trimmings—would cost about the same this year as in 1970 and 1971.

But in New York, celebrants may have some trouble getting the traditional meal because of labor disputes. A Teamsters strike against liquor distributors has cut off all liquor deliveries to the city, and supplies in liquor stores are dwindling. Waiters, waitresses, chefs, cooks and pastry cooks were on strike against most of New York's top restaurants. And a strike against specialty baking houses, which normally supply restaurants and stores, has left the supply of rolls and specialty baking items in short supply.

In Paris, the luxurious George V hotel will serve its version of Thanksgiving dinner to visiting Americans Thursday. The menu will list: "House of Conservative Thick Pea Soup, stuffed turkey, sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, Florida salad and pumpkin pie."

A thought for the day: American statesman Daniel Webster said, "Let our object be our country, our whole country and nothing but our country."

Man bid high on bottle

News tips 733-0931

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mario Ruspoli, the top bidder in a world wide auction using satellite communications, paid $11,000 Tuesday for a jeroboam of Chateau Mouton Rothschild 1870, the highest price ever paid for a bottle of wine, according to the auctioneers.

Ruspoli would answer no questions, not even to reveal where he lives. He would say only that he had coveted the jeroboam—roughly a gallon—for a long time.

The auction house of Sotheby Park-Bernet conducted the Los Angeles end of the auction, with auction headquarters in Paris. Bidding also came from London. The three auction sites were linked by satellite communications so prospective buyers could hear the bidding. Slide photos of the bottles for sale, 142 lots of them, were flashed on screens in London and Los Angeles.

Ruspoli put in his bid from Los Angeles. A spokesman for Sotheby Park-Bernet said it was the highest price ever paid for such a bottle of wine.

The oldest bottle on sale, a Napoleon sherry 1769, brought $340 from a Paris buyer.

TF panel asks plan priority

By DALE STEWART
Times-News city editor

TWIN FALLS — A recommendation that top priority be given development of a comprehensive plan was adopted Tuesday night by the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission.

The action, which concluded a meeting lasting two and a half hours, will be forwarded to the City Council.

Included was a call for establishment of a planning staff for the city. The action followed a discussion of planning problems which the commission believes require attention as Twin Falls develops. Among them are animal controls, vehicle parking on streets and sign problems.

The commission also recommended residential medium density zoning for a 52-acre tract for which annexation is sought and two amendments to the city zoning ordinance following public hearings on six items.

The 52-acre tract, across Grandview from the Municipal Golf Course, is planned as the site of about 200 condominium units, according to Dick Willis, Boise. He told the commission negotiations are in progress for sale of 10 acres from the tract to the Elks Lodge.

Completion of the development will take about five years, Willis said, if work begins in the spring of 1973 or sooner and if arrangements for extending sewer and water service can be made with the city.

The land involved extends north from the Union Pacific branch line to a trailer court, and about a quarter of a mile west from Grandview.

The recommended zoning ordinance amendments provide:

— For elimination of public hearings before the zoning commission on conditional use applications, since such hearings by the City Council are mandatory. Zoning commission hearings on those applications would be held on request of the council if the change is approved.

— Permitting condominiums in residential low density and residential medium density zones. In low density zones, not more than two dwelling units per lot would be allowed, and not more than 12 units per acre would be allowed in medium density zones.

The commission also recommended rezoning from residential low density to residential professional a portion of the Hazel Del Manor property to permit expansion of facilities. The action had been tabled in October because of a question about the legal description of the property.

Approval of an application for conditional use permitting construction of additional apartments in a commercial local zone at 343 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. was recommended. B. K. Terry, sought the permit, told the commission the apartments would be located north of Lynwood Manor and would complete planned development on that site. The recommendations now go to the City Council for consideration.

The commission tabled a proposed amendment to the mobile home park ordinance pending changes in the wording. The change sought would have allowed either a 25-foot or a 15-foot strip around a mobile home park, with the narrower strip allowed if a decorative fence of wood or masonry was installed.

Commissioners questioned whether the amendment would eliminate the three foot height limit on shrubs and fences at corners, as provided in the present ordinance, and whether the fencing should be placed on the outer or inner perimeter of the strip.

Chairman John Rosholt called for subcommittee reports, opening the discussion of various problems and the need for a comprehensive plan to aid in guiding development. The discussion also touched on the need for citizen opinion in setting priorities.

The commission will seek more specific instructions before continuing a study by a subcommittee of animal controls and whether the zone in which keeping of animals is prohibited should be extended.

Rosholt called for nominations to a citizen committee to study problems created by proliferation of signs, and agreed to serve as the zoning commission representative on that panel.

Meet at CSI

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Water Resource Board members in Twin Falls Tuesday will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Shields Building of the College of Southern Idaho.

The meeting was originally scheduled for the Holiday Inn but has been changed to room 118, Shields Building, CSI, and is open to the public. Board members will present a preliminary report on the final Idaho State water plan.

Exchange aide visits

TWIN FALLS — Francis Egbert, Twin Falls, district director, addressed the Exchange Club Tuesday noon. Egbert outlined his duties in that office and encouraged club members to live up to the club's slogan of building and reaching out by increasing membership. He said service clubs should serve their fellow men, communities and nation.

Rick Carro, of BIC Loans, was welcomed as a new member.

Club officials sold a film on the National Football League will be shown at the Nov. 28 meeting. Members and prospective members will be welcomed at the meeting at the Turf Club.

Library aide meets trustees

TWIN FALLS — Marilyn Jardine was introduced to Region IV librarians and trustees at a regular meeting at the Regional Reference Center in Twin Falls Tuesday.

Miss Jardine is the newly appointed regional library assistant who will be coordinating library work in the surrounding eight county areas. She comes to Twin Falls from Olympia, Wash., and has had extensive library experience in Idaho.

She replaces Charleen Orr who has accepted employment in California.

Arlan Call, regional director, also welcomed Mrs. LeRoy Packam, Fairfield, trustees from the newly formed library district in Camas County.

The group discussed the possibility of changing or trading book collections with libraries in other regions of the state in order to have a better selection of fiction available to patrons. Miss Jardine requested that books belonging to the state and region be returned more frequently to the reference center to help out this situation.

The group listed specifications and qualities that they would like to see incorporated into a "Dream Library."

Call distributed fabric carrying bags to the librarians that can be used for carrying "Mini-masters" to and from the libraries as each is checked out. The Mini-masters are small reprints of famous paintings that are framed and available at all region libraries. These may be checked out just like books, Call explained.

Increased interest was shown in book marks that have been distributed by the Idaho State Library featuring individual horoscopes. Librarians requested that more such book marks be printed.

Traditional meal for president

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and his family will eat a traditional Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner at Camp David, Md.

The White House said today the meal will be prepared under the direction of Ron Jackson, chief of the White House mess.

The feast will include roast turkey, bread dressing and giblet gravy, with whipped potatoes, green peas and onions and hot dinner rolls. Salad will be fresh cranberries with minted pears, and dessert will be pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

Humorous guest artist joins opening success

By MRS. JAMES KINNEY
Special to the Times-News

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Symphony Orchestra opened its 14th season Tuesday night at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium with a pops concert.

Under the baton of Del Slaughter, who has directed the symphony for the past 10 years, the program numbers were chosen to appeal to many in the audience, — has melody and movement that would win over any listener.

Mrs. Del Slaughter, concert mistress and first violinist, was featured in the lovely "Gypsy Legend" by Mantovani. This is really a violin solo with orchestra accompaniment. Mrs. Slaughter played with exquisite artistry.

Other members of the orchestra were featured in selections throughout the evening, giving evidence of the talent found in this area. "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" is marvelous jazz music, and Larry Curtis on the saxophone was terrific. David Tippet playing trumpet and Janie Vincent with her oboe were also expert in their solo passages in this Richard Rodgers selection.

One of the most fun, novelty numbers of the evening was the "Pops Hoe-Down." This piece is a real toe-tapper, made famous by the Boston Pops Orchestra. The oldtime fiddle music and the special sound effects produced by the percussion section were cleverly executed.

One surprise was the new talent displayed by Roger Graefe. He has always been a fine string bass player, but his ability with the harmonica gains him new honors.

With all the gay, joyous music performed, the audience was in a perfect mood to be captured by the charms of guest artist Warren Burton.

popular taste, making for easy, relaxed listening for young and old alike.

The glory of a fine orchestra is its string section, and the strings sang their way through selections from "Camelot" and "The Sound of Music," as well as music of Tchaikovsky, Mantovani and Mancini with expressive, well rehearsed ease. The brass and woodwind sections of the orchestra also were excellent.

The first selection, the R. Vaughan Williams Suite "English Folk Songs" was chosen as tribute to the centennial of the birth of the composer. This was the most "classical" music heard during the evening.

However, this suite, although unfamiliar to

City due funds

TWIN FALLS — City officials in Twin Falls say the city will be richer by about $50,000 in the next few weeks.

Jean Miller, city manager, said today he has received notification of a $50,000 reimbursement payment owed the city for some time. The money will be a matching fund grant for the purchase of Dierkes Lake for which the city has already paid the full $100,000.

The application under the Department of Housing and Urban Development was submitted some time ago.

Another grant will be forthcoming as a result of an agreement by the City Council this week. This will be a 50 percent grant for a $57,550 improvement project for Drury and Harmon Parks.

The council voted Monday night to accept the agreement with the government, through the Idaho Department of Parks, for $28,725. The money will be used for restroom construction and covering the Eighth Avenue Lateral through Harmon Park.

The city's share of the project will be in the way of furnishing equipment and labor.

Car-cycle collision hurts rider

TWIN FALLS — Stephen Paul Groves, Twin Falls, 21, was treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and released after suffering injuries in a motorcycle-car accident.

City police reported the accident occurred at 5:15 p.m. at the intersection of Blue Lakes Boulevard and Heyburn Avenue.

The cyclist was traveling north on Blue Lakes Boulevard when a car driven by LuAnn Stites, 16, Twin Falls, traveling east on Heyburn Avenue, turned left onto Blue Lakes and collided with the cycle.

Groves was thrown to the pavement by the impact. Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the motorcycle and $400 to the sedan driven by Miss Stites.

Officers cited Miss Stites for failure to yield right of way.

Concert tonight

TWIN FALLS — The Blackwood Brothers, country music favorites, will perform at the College of Southern Idaho tonight.

Time for the concert, which is open to the public and sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene, is 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Club given charter

JEROME — The Jerome Toastmistress Club received its charter Monday night at a dinner meeting at Wood Cafe.

Mrs. Olin Baker, Burley, assistant supervisor for International Toastmistress Clubs for the Snake River area, made the presentation to Edith Nancolas, president.

Officers were installed by Mrs. LeRoy Arrington, Twin Falls. They include: Miss Nancolas, president; Mrs. Lola Orchard, vice president; Mary Marshall, secretary, and Mrs. Eugene Hite, treasurer.

Mrs. Mary Grace Cox spoke on "Toastmistress Gold" and Mrs. Florence Noland was toastmistress. Table topics based on the Thanksgiving theme were conducted by Mrs. Hite, with the award going to Eleanor Burkhardt.

Guests attended from Burley, Rupert and Twin Falls.

Fight Ahead

Influential members of the Democratic party would like to erase as easily as possible the traces of the stunning defeat of Senator George McGovern by President Nixon.

Those governors who were successful in the national elections despite McGovern's rout want his hand-picked National Chairman, Mrs. Jean Westwood, to resign forthwith. Mrs. Westwood, the first woman ever to head a national party, has said she would fight efforts to oust her and believes she has sufficient support to win if the issue comes to a vote at the national committee meeting December 9.

However, she faces formidable opposition and the party will suffer from an open fight. Already, members of the executive committee of the Democratic Governor's Caucus have called upon her to resign. They could adopt a formal resolution demanding her removal when they meet in St. Louis December 3.

Governor Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, one of the leaders of the ouster drive, said he didn't think it would come to that, suggesting Mrs. Westwood, "a gracious lady," might change her mind and retire without making a fight of it.

That may be wishful thinking on Bumper's part, although the handwriting clearly is on the wall and Mrs. Westwood is on the way out, if only to serve as a sacrificial lamb for the party's mistake in nominating the weakest candidate in its history.

McGovern, anxious to keep a position of leadership despite his smashing defeat, pleaded with party leaders to mark time until the election results can be fully appraised and urged the committee not to be "too quick" in demanding change.

His voice isn't likely to carry much weight with the Democratic Governors, who feel the election results speak for themselves and that it is time to start a new drive under new leadership toward a majority for 1976.

The office of National Chairman is important chiefly as a symbol and it is the symbol of McGovernism the party regulars want to rub out. It might indeed be best for the party if Mrs. Westwood resigned without a squabble. As Governor Bumpers said, that would be "the gracious thing for her to do."

However, McGovern's anxiety to blame his defeat on George Wallace's refusal to endorse him promises further bitter debate. Many Democrats blame McGovern's platform of immediate surrender in Vietnam and his Populist reform proposals for alienation of voters who ordinarily would have supported the Democratic ticket.

The Real Cease-Fire Urgency

WASHINGTON — The four powers picked to supervise the Vietnam cease-fire are under heavy pressure from the Nixon administration to complete the selection of their military contingents and place them on 72-hour notice for duty in South Vietnam.

Each of the four-nation contingents is expected to average about 1,200 officers and men. Altogether, then, the four countries — Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia — will have a supervisory force of around 5,000. However, each of the four countries has serious reservations about certain aspects of their policing duties, particularly the safety of their men in a situation fraught with obvious peril. The size of the total force strongly indicates that there is no remote possibility of the four-nation force stopping all or even most violations of the cease-fire — when finally signed by Washington and Hanoi. Rather, experts here believe the force will be split into small groups and positioned in headquarters locations between the South Vietnamese army and Hanoi's estimated 110,000 front-line troops, scattered in many widely-separated areas.

The danger that this policing force, despite the cease-fire, will be caught in military actions between the opposing troops is obviously grave. Of the four countries, Canadian officials have sought assurances for the safety of its contingent. But with Mr. Nixon pressing hard for the force to be put in place at precisely the time of the cease-fire, takes effect, safety guarantees would seem to be utterly impossible.

NIXON'S EGGHEAD

President Nixon has tentatively decided on Irving Kristol, a distinguished liberal-intellectual, to be a high-level White House aide — a decision with deep implications for the White House and the Democratic party.

No formal position has been defined for Kristol, but he is expected to perform roughly the role of Dr. Daniel P. Moynihan just before his return to Harvard in 1971 — a broad-gauged adviser on domestic policy without operational responsibility. To thoughtful Republicans who have lamented the absence of intellectual content at the White House since then, Kristol will be a welcome addition.

But it is bad news for old-fashioned liberals fighting to reclaim the Democratic party from McGovernism. A professor of urban values at New York University and co-editor of the quarterly Public Interest, Kristol deserted the Democrats this year and endorsed President Nixon, writing in an Oct. 13 Wall Street Journal essay that the destiny of the Democratic party is in the hands of a movement committed to "the politics of irresponsibility." That essay became required reading by the White House staff, with routine FBI checks on Kristol following soon thereafter.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

The Democrats

WASHINGTON — The Democrats, moving quickly to try to find their way back from disaster, clearly need to spend a lot of time musing at the philosophical level. They have lost their way.

That may sound an odd thing to say about a political party that gained two U. S. Senate seats, added one more governorship, and lost only a handful of House seats. Pretty sturdy there, all right.

But they are the nation's majority party, and yet they have lost the biggest prize of all, the presidency, four out of the last six times and nearly lost the race just before that.

Thus we have the spectacle of a party that has been in sufficient position of strength to lead often in governorships and to hold the Congress for all but two short spans since 1930, which nevertheless has been having trouble at the presidential level for most of the last 24 years.

There surely can't be much comfort this time in noting that Sen. George McGovern's percentage of the vote wasn't all that far behind Hubert Humphrey's of 1968, and that President Nixon picked up most of Gov. George Wallace's 1968 strength.

The fact is, when there is any measurable chipping away at the major parties by lesser forces, it seems to be the Democrats, the supposed top dogs, who generally suffer the worst inroads.

Somewhere in all this is a deep lesson for the Democrats now scrambling to recover. Have they lost the capacity to develop a message with effective national appeal? The evidence says they have.

The fundamental element may be that they haven't come up with any really good new ideas for a long time. The old New Deal thing of big program-big money was beginning to wear out in Harry Truman's day. Lyndon Johnson never got much political credit for his 1965 splurge of Great Society legislation because (1) it was partly discounted as old New Deal stuff long overdue, and (2) it struck a lot of people as just more of something that wasn't working very well.

The Democrats' great political advantage in the 1930s and early 1940s was that they moved mightily to broaden the nation's middle and lift it up toward more livable levels.

But, having done that, they've lost the knack of appealing to this great, sprawling thing they helped to create. They have an image of themselves as the party of the downtrodden, and they want to keep it. Still, the question for them today, and the realistic ones know it, is this:

How do you keep on helping the downtrodden, especially when so many are black and racial animosities get woven into it, and seem not to be both neglecting and overburdening (financially) the millions who helped up the ladder into that broad middle?

The Democrats' utterances of recent vintage suggest they don't have the faintest idea.

PAUL HARVEY

Guillotine

Air show air crash kills 22; immediately there are public demands that air shows must be discontinued forever. Oh, for heaven's sake. That's like urging the guillotine as a cure for dandruff.

It was the worst such tragedy ever. Ever. When that disabled F-46 Sabre Jet crashed into a Sacramento, Calif., street, then bounced, a ball of fire, into an ice-cream parlor.

Many of the two dozen dead were youngsters attending a little league football celebration.

It was horrible. It taxes the faith of the most devout to rationalize the anguish of a child.

Now, weeks since—that mishap, we are still hearing demands that these flying carnivals must be abolished once and for all.

Whose idea is this? It's been said, "When the news is good we go to sleep; when it's bad we go to pieces."

I don't believe it's "we" who are that emotionally volatile. I suspect such eggs are laid by the news media who jump any direction for a cause celebre.

Blood is the favorite grist for the modern media mill, and, of course, every pundit must be against it.

The high performance (or low performance) aircraft which converge for such events are a greater hazard to their pilots but, until the Sacramento tragedy, such events have been singularly safe for spectators and bystanders.

Frankly, I don't know whether air shows are worth perpetuating, but it's distressing to see such a decision predicated on a single malfunction, however terrible its result.

Let's face it: Some men will fly upside down whether anybody's watching or not.

From the barnstormer looping the Stearman to the Blue Angel maneuvering with superhuman precision — some men will always seek to fancy up their product.

But let's face this also: Most of the spectators who flock to the airfield on circus day get their kicks from the near misses.

They'll tell you they don't want anybody hurt and most really think that.

But if they just wanted to watch airplanes fly they'd encircle every airport every weekend and few do.

They're there to watch daring men dare death and the closer the margin the more they cheer.

So far this year: three at Transpo, then there was the Eacendillo, Calif., stuntman who fell from a kite; and a Blue Angel in North Carolina blew a tire and hit a truck but nobody.

So far this year four fliers have been killed at air shows. No spectators.

Statistically you're safer in the grandstand at an air show than you are in your car on the way home.

Surely we can mourn the loss to those California families without penalizing tens of thousands who had nothing to do with it by taking away their weekend liberty.

European Security

Eight years ago Poland proposed a European security conference, which is about to get under way in Helsinki, Finland. It begins with considerable misgivings by Britain, France and the United States, though Washington gave its tacit approval after the Soviets agreed to ease their perpetual pressure on West Berlin.

The Russians are jubilant, for they have been the motivating force behind the conference for years. Before the ministers began gathering in Helsinki, Moscow was touting the conference as a milestone in international relations.

It could become that, if the Russians are serious about reducing tensions in Europe. The principal issue among many is the balanced reduction of forces, including Soviet troops throughout Eastern Europe.

MR. SPECTATOR

It's Hard To Believe

It's really hard to believe. There's a person living in Twin Falls whose idea of how to drive an automobile is just a little distorted.

Last Sunday, after a stint with a Buhl resident discussing a story for next June's history edition of the Times-News, we started to drive back toward Twin Falls. It was snowing slightly, was just getting dark and the road was covered with a deep layer of slush.

A car with four people in it — and a 2T license — followed Mr. Spectator for some distance and then roared around, deliberately plowed through the deep slush, then cut sharply in front.

The slush completely covered Mr. Spectator's windshield and, trying to keep the car going straight (we were going 40 miles an hour because of the dangerous road conditions) while we got the windshield wipers going was a task. When the windshield was clear we had wandered to the edge of the road and a few inches more would have found us in the ditch.

The four in the passing car had turned to look at us — and were waving. There is no doubt the "cut in" was deliberate.

All we hope is that one of these days the driver of that car takes it off the road. We don't need drivers like him so it is our hope that someday he will take himself off the highways for good — either through an accident involving himself or by taking poison.

FOOTLOOSE OLYMPICS

It may be many months before a decision is made as to where to hold the 1976 Winter Olympics. Colorado voters dealt a fatal blow to plans to stage them in that state.

The Colorado vote was another straw in the wind that may be telling the world that Americans are losing interest in the whole Olympic idea.

The games have died before and they could die again. America's Avery Brundage recently retired president of the International Olympics Committee, tried to drive the first nail into the coffin when he said at Munich that the winter Olympic games had become too professional and that he hoped they would be given a decent burial at Denver.

Colorado voters agreed with him.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Angina Pectoris

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Six years ago I had a heart attack and after seven weeks (was released from the hospital and on my way to recovery.

Last winter I noticed I was getting short of breath if I walked a mile or so. The doctor had me take tests at the hospital and I was released. The doctor said my trouble was anxiety and a little angina pectoris, and now I should not work so hard.

I work around the house as well as shopping and gardening, and I love to do it. My doctor gave me nitroglycerine pills to take when needed. If I cut the grass or do some similar activity, I get a little short of breath and get like a seizure in my arms and chest, but I take a nitro and it is relieved for a while. I also take pills for my heart and nerves.

I asked the doctor if there were any other pills I could take that are better than nitro, and I have tried a couple but do not know if they are better.

What I would like is some kind of a pill that would let me do my daily work without the discomfort. I am 69 and hope to live to be 100, but am discouraged over no improvement and I sure don't want to be a vegetable doing nothing. — C. R.

Your case, sir, doesn't sound nearly as severe as plenty of angina cases I've seen — but you've also got to understand what ails you and recognize that you'll have to live within your limitations. Certainly no reason to expect to become "a vegetable," though.

In a nutshell, at 69 your heart can't meet all the demands you are putting on it. You get short of breath and have chest discomfort when you've asked your heart to support more exertion than it can handle.

When you ask for a pill to let you remain as active as you were when you were younger, you are asking too much. For most people nitroglycerine has proved to be the best and most satisfactory to give your heart a boost temporarily when you have overexerted. But use whatever one works best for you.

I've written about angina pectoris numerous times, but there are so many specific questions coming in about it that I have also written a booklet devoted entirely to angina — what causes it, what it does, how to stay active in spite of it, various medications, and so on.

The booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris," is back from the printer now, and available in return for 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Write to me in care of Times-News for the booklet.

One of the most important tricks of staying active with angina is to learn how much you can do without distress — how much you can do without overexerting. If you have trouble before you've quite finished cutting the grass — then stop half way through for a rest. Or, alternatively, take a nitro tablet to help you through the last part.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 17, underwent surgery for a hernia on one side. All his physical activities are now curtailed and he has been cautioned by his doctor to be careful not to develop a hernia in the same area or on the other side.

Although he has never been athletically inclined, he did enjoy bowling, attended a weight-lifting class, did our gardening and had a part-time job that entailed some lifting of cartons.

I do not want him to grow soft and flabby or to live in fear, and would appreciate some advice concerning physical activities in the future. — R. Z.

For two or three months after surgery he should be careful of any activity that puts a strain on the lower abdomen. Weight-lifting certainly should be eliminated.

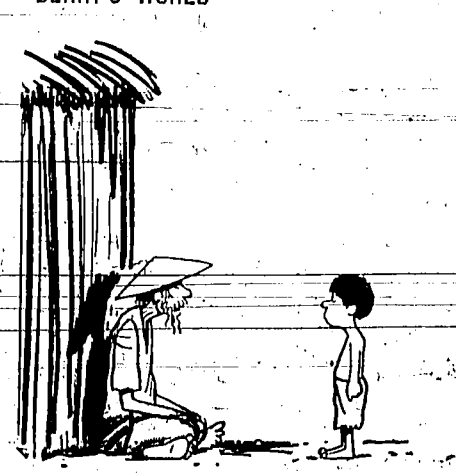

Lifting the cartons would depend on their weight. If it can be done easily, all right. Bowling and gardening would be permissible. When the operation site is well healed, most reasonable activities can be resumed.

How long did his doctor say to limit his activity?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a Pap smear detect VD? — Mrs. A.M.

No. — That's not what it's designed for.

BERRY'S WORLD

"What happens during a period of peace? How should I know?"

Idaho, 13 more states fail medical aid order

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said today that 14 states and jurisdictions still have not begun the routine medical examination and treatment of needy children in Medicaid families that was ordered by Congress in 1967.

Although HEW was criticized sharply by welfare activists and some congressmen for delay in implementing the 1967 legislation, it issued orders to the states last year requiring them to begin health screening of poor children by Feb. 7, 1972.

However, today's HEW report on state compliance with federal Medicaid rules said these jurisdictions still had not begun the screening by October: California, Idaho, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Virgin Islands, Washington State, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Most other states that have started screening still lack full scale programs, the report added.

In addition to risking loss of federal Medicaid funds, states that fail to provide screening for children also face a loss of federal welfare aid for needy families under legislation signed Oct. 30 by President Nixon.

The Social Security amendments of 1972 provide for reducing the federal share of aid to families with dependent children by 1 per cent if the state fails to inform adults in welfare families that child health screening and treatment services are available or fails to provide such services. The provision is effective July 1, 1974.

The $7.5 billion a year federal-state Medicaid program provides medical care for welfare and other needy persons. Among the preventive health services states are required to provide for Medicaid children under age 21 are routine dental, eye and hearing examinations and treatment. Arizona and Alaska do not participate in Medicaid.

HEW estimates that by 1974 the states will be providing medical screenings for 7 million needy children and dental screening for 6 million children at annual additional federal-state cost of $200 million. The cost will be borne on the same matching basis as the national average for medical costs — 54 per cent federal and 46 percent state.

Congress passed a screening requirement in 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act to promote preventive health care for poor children and reduce skyrocketing welfare costs. President Johnson signed the law in January, 1968.

A pamphlet distributed by Virginia's Medicaid program informs needy families that screening services are available at local health departments. "More than one-half of the chronic, handicapping conditions in children can be prevented or corrected by early health care," the pamphlet says. "Therefore, see that your children receive these Medicaid screening services."

Secrecy shrouds probe

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The proceedings of a congressional subcommittee investigating racial and disciplinary problems aboard the aircraft carriers Constellation and Kitty Hawk were tightly wrapped in secrecy today.

The committee heard testimony behind doors guarded by sentries armed with rifles, and neither congressmen nor witnesses would talk to newsmen.

The members of the committee "have said absolutely nothing, and they said they're going to keep it that way," remarked a spokesman for the Fleet Naval Air Force. Public comment might prejudice the Navy's disciplinary actions against crewmen of the two carriers, he said.

The House Armed Services subcommittee hearings were to continue today.

Tuesday the committee, headed by Rep. Floyd V. Hicks, D-Wash., heard from Capt. J.D. Ward, skipper of the Constellation.

An unprecedented walkout by black members of the Constellation's crew was a major factor in calling the hearings, intended to determine what role a possible breakdown in discipline or racial discrimination played in the Navy's personnel troubles.

The hearings began Monday in Washington. Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, chief of naval operations and architect of the Navy's recruit-attracting policy changes, testified there had been no breakdown in discipline due to permissiveness because "there is no permissiveness."

A group of black crewmen, charging racial discrimination in job assignments and performance ratings, staged a sit-down strike at sea on the Constellation. Ward put into port and the men were allowed to leave the ship, which returned to sea.

Within days, Ward put back to port, postponing the carrier's training maneuvers, in an attempt to deal with the black crewmen. He met with them on a pier beside the carrier, telling them their problems would be dealt with if they returned to the crew.

The 123 dissidents refused to return to the ship, saying they wanted their complaints taken care of first.

They were given jobs on shore and brought before captain's mast disciplinary proceedings. A handful were discharged under honorable conditions, and the majority received small fines, demotions or extra duty.

Hicks said the committee would also hear testimony from crewmen of the Kitty Hawk, which like the Constellation has its home port in San Diego.

Twenty-one black sailors from the Kitty Hawk were charged in connection with a riot aboard the ship in the Vietnam war zone in which 46 sailors were injured.

Wilson, 52, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor for his battlefield exploits on Guam during World War II, took over the Pacific command on Sept. 1.

While there is still a lot of work to be done to solve racial problems, Wilson said, "We are already seeing some results. For instance, there is very little argument any more over haircuts."

Fast train study due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress will consider next year a $5.5 billion program to start 400 mile per hour train service in the Washington-Boston corridor.

Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., said Tuesday they would introduce legislation in January to provide funds for track improvements to carry the high-speed trains.

The initial outlay, they said, would be $825 million.

If their program is enacted, the senators said, there will be service at an average speed of 150 miles an hour between Boston, New York and Washington by 1976.

Race problems Marine target

HONOLULU (UPI) — The Marine Corps' top man in the Pacific, Lt. Gen. Louis H. Wilson, says the corps has "deep racial problems" but steps are being taken to ease and eventually cure them.

Wilson, who commands the more than 60,000 men who make up the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, is concerned about recent racial incidents in the services.

"I know we have deep racial problems in the Marine Corps," he said in an interview in his office, "but communication is the answer and we are working on it."

He said he feels most of the problems are caused by "hard-liners on both sides who won't

GI steward probe asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a critic of the military, asked today for a broad investigation of the use of enlisted men as personal servants by high ranking officers.

Proxmire said he had accumulated evidence that enlisted men are routinely assigned "to clean house, cook, act as butlers, do laundry, drive wives on errands and work as bartenders at official and unofficial parties in the quarters of certain senior flag and general rank officers."

He asked for an investigation of the situation by the General Accounting Office, the auditing arm of Congress.

Navy brass, Proxmire said in a statement released in Washington, prefer Philippine nationals as servants. They classify them as stewards, but they actually act only as personal servants. The other services, he said, call their servants aides, but they perform the same functions.

Specifically, Proxmire asked the GAO to find out how many officers stationed in the United States are assigned personal servants and how many stewards and aides are so employed. He asked for the statutory justification of using enlisted men as personal servants and an analysis of the ethnic and racial makeup of the Navy's stewards.

Proxmire painted this picture of the life of a high ranking officer:

"They get up in the morning to put on clothes pressed by stewards, shoes shined by stewards, all laid out in proper order. They eat at home with food cooked by stewards and then are driven to work or elsewhere by these same men."

In the meantime, the stewards clean the house, go shopping, answer the phones and the front door and prepare the evening meal. At night, they serve drinks and clean up after the meal. Of course, they are available for any errands that may come up."

Proxmire said this picture says two things. "First, our military is pampered and soft. Second, it gives the lie to the Department of Defense statements that the military budget is at rock bottom."

Proxmire said there were at least three good reasons why the military should stop supplying personal servants to its general officers.

"They receive sufficient pay to hire their own servants if they want them."

"Since most servants, at least in the Navy, are either blacks or Filipino, the practice smacks of racism."

"The use of Philippine nationals opens the United States to a charge of imperialism."

Ellsberg requests mistrial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Attorneys for Daniel Ellsberg have asked for a mistrial on the grounds Vice President Spiro T. Agnew publicly called publication of the Pentagon Papers a crime similar to the Watergate bugging incident.

Agnew's remarks were "highly inflammatory" and "prejudicial," lawyers for Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo argued Tuesday.

Ellsberg and Russo are accused of conspiracy, theft of government property and offenses against the espionage act in making public the secret Defense Department study of the war in Vietnam.

Lawyers met Tuesday with U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne to discuss resumption of the trial, suspended since July while a wiretapping issue was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Defense attorneys demanded the jury—which was empaneled but has heard no testimony—be dismissed and a new one picked because the jurors, free from courtroom control and discipline since early August, would be contaminated by prejudicial news accounts.

Prof starts term

BOSTON (UPI) — Harvard University Prof. Samuel L. Popkin, contending it is his "scholar's privilege" not to answer federal grand jury questions concerning the Pentagon Papers, has begun serving an 18-month contempt of court sentence.

In turning down a plea Tuesday to put aside the sentence, U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. said that when a privilege such as that claimed by Popkin "comes into conflict with the grand jury's duty to run down fully a crime, those rights must yield."

Popkin was cited for contempt after he failed to answer grand jury questions in October, 1971. The grand jury, sitting in Boston, had asked him about his friend Daniel Ellsberg and about other matters concerning the papers. "For me to answer these questions would betray my personal and scholarly ethics," Popkin said in a statement before entering the Norfolk County House of Correction in Dedham Tuesday. "If scholars are to be questioned without restrictions about their sources, grand juries will become the government's instrument to limit the free flow of information about government to the public."

"This is intolerable in a democracy, and I could not justify any part I might take in setting this precedent."

RALPH NADER

Congress coverage assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says only 12 per cent of the newsmen and women accredited to cover Congress actually works on Capitol Hill on any given day.

"That is a very insufficient amount" to cover an organization as big and as important as Congress, Nader said Tuesday at a National Press Club luncheon.

Nader said about 1,200 reporters are accredited, but only about 150 are on Capitol Hill in an average day.

He also criticized television for its "lack of aggressiveness" in covering hearings. Some committee chairmen, especially in the House, will not allow proceedings to be televised either live or for later playback on news programs.

Party fund space out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department has decided against providing a space on personal income tax forms for checking off $1 to finance presidential campaign contributions.

"We didn't want the agent who pulls the return to know which party a person contributed to," a Treasury spokesman said.

Instead of checkoff space on the income tax return, taxpayers will be furnished separate forms.

Following the Treasury Department announcement Tuesday, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the decision violated the spirit of the 1971 Internal Revenue Act.

The law provided that taxpayers could check off $1 for presidential campaigns as a means of reducing the potential influence of corporate and union officials who sometimes expect favors in exchange for donations.

Koreans approve new constitution

SEOUL (UPI) — South Koreans overwhelmingly approved a new constitution Tuesday granting President Park Chung-hee almost complete power for an unlimited period of time. The law came into force today.

The government said nearly complete referendum results showed 13,071,387 of 14,300,000 voters endorsed the constitution. Park said he wanted in order to bring stability and prosperity to South Korea.

The result was a foregone conclusion since Park allowed no opposition campaigning to the new constitution, banned all political activity, dissolved parliament, closed universities, suspended part of the old constitution and declared a nationwide state of martial law before the vote.

Nevertheless, observers called the result a personal triumph for Park since he obtained approval by more than 90 per cent of the voters.

Under the new constitution, Park may succeed himself as many times as he wants with the presidential term extended from four to six years. He also can dissolve parliament and take wide-ranging measures to suspend civil rights.

The constitution weakens parliament and establishes a new system for electing presidents—changing from direct popular vote to balloting by a body called the "National Conference for Reunification," which voters will choose.

Another clause in the new constitution imposes on the president the duty to seek a peaceful reunification of South and North Korea. Talks on this already are underway.

Government officials said a presidential election will take place about Dec. 17, following the formation of the "National Conference" early next month.

Observers said there was little doubt delegates would elect Park to serve another term.

Premier Kim Jong-pil, while campaigning for the new constitution, said it was designed to enable Park to continue in office and lead the country more effectively.

After the vote was announced, Park said the result showed national unity.

"I regard the overwhelming support given the new law as an expression of a strong national will for peaceful reunification, for prosperity and for a new future on our own," he said.

Air Force drops bombing charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force, contending further action was not warranted, has dismissed charges brought by an enlisted man against Gen. John D. Lavelle and 23 other Air Force men over the unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam.

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. announced his decision Tuesday on the complaint filed 18 days earlier by Sgt. Lonnie D. Franks, the serviceman who revealed the illegal air strikes earlier this year in a letter to Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa.

"The allegations were thoroughly reviewed," the Air Force said in a statement. "No new information was presented which would warrant further action."

Franks said when he filed the charges Nov. 3 he hoped the action would insure that "no high-ranking American military officer will ever again conduct his own secret war and that no subordinate will be expected to violate the law and his conscience by obeying the order of his superior."

Testimony given to a congressional committee showed that Lavelle last winter ordered bombing raids on North Vietnam that went beyond the "protective reaction" guidelines laid down by the administration. U.S. airmen at the time were under orders to bomb only if the action was taken to protect American reconnaissance planes and their crews.

Some of the unauthorized raids were conducted while secret negotiations were under way between the United States and North Vietnam, the testimony showed. Witnesses said Lavelle directed his subordinates to report the raids to higher headquarters as falling within the guidelines.

Lavelle, a four-star general who commanded the 7th Air Force in Southeast Asia, was relieved of his command and returned at the two-star rank of major general.

Franks' charges contended Lavelle and his subordinates violated a lawful order from Washington by ordering or participating in the unauthorized raids.

The other 23 men charged by Franks ranged from a major general down to a technical sergeant. They were assigned either to the 7th Air Force or to the 432nd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Udorn, Thailand, at the time of the raids.

Their number included Maj. Edward Elias, one of the prisoners released by Hanoi in September, and Capt. Steven Ritchie and Charles D. Debellevue, the first Air Force aces of the Vietnam War.

China assails US in UN vote

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — China accused the United States of using toxic and chemical weapons and gases to "barbarously slaughter" the Vietnamese, then joined France in abstaining Tuesday on a United Nations vote to prohibit such weapons.

The General Assembly's main political committee vote on the resolution was 93-0 plus the two abstentions. The resolution now goes to the full Assembly.

Not only did Chinese delegate Lin Fang assail the United States on the use of toxic and chemical weapons, he accused the Soviet Union of continuing to produce biological weapons and said Portugal used chemical weapons against African guerrillas in its overseas territories.

The charges came as the 132-member committee debated the problem of chemical and bacteriological weapons. Lin indicated that his government abstained on the vote because it did not consider the resolution strong enough.

Keeps fit, wins votes

US bomber down, crew missing

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command today reported the loss of a $15-million F111 swing-wing fighter-bomber, the fourth American jet downed in three days. The two F111 crewmen were missing.

The command also said B-52s carried out 15 raids Tuesday night and today against North Vietnamese targets, a record number of strikes by the big Stratoforters.

The three other downed American jets were F4 Phantoms. The command said one was downed over North Vietnam, another over Thailand and the third over Laos. Of the six F4 crewmembers, the command said, one was missing, two killed and three rescued. The loss today made it the fourth F111 downed since they returned to action in Indochina in late September.

Because of difficulty in tracking the low-flying F111s, the command said it could not pinpoint where it went down.

The 15 missions by the big B-52s, with each mission averaging three planes each, were the greatest number by the planes for the entire war. The previous heaviest B-52 raids were 13 missions flown Aug. 12 and again Oct. 31 and Nov. 4.

Altogether, the B-52s carried out about 100 strikes during the day, the command said, all of them well below the 20th Parallel limit set by President Nixon last month as a gesture to North Vietnam during the current peace negotiations.

Although the big bombers hit generally targets all over Indochina, the command said the missions today established a new mark for North Vietnam raids.

Many of the other raids Tuesday, flown through soupy weather conditions, were carried out by F111s, which have radar guidance systems enabling their crews to fly "blind" where less sophisticated aircraft cannot.

Officials guard Peron

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The government took extra security precautions today to protect former president Juan D. Peron after announcing it had received reports of an assassination plot against him.

One measure, the government said, was the dispersal of supporters of the 77-year-old former dictator from the street in front of the house where he has stayed since returning from exile last week.

The government did not specify who planned to kill Peron. A communique from the office of President Alejandro Lanusse said: "Information in the hands of official security and intelligence organizations obliges the taking of special precautions to safeguard Mr. Juan Domingo Peron."

It said "elements" — not otherwise identified — had infiltrated a Peronist youth organization in order to assassinate Peron if they disagreed with any action he takes.

Members of the Justicialista party — Peron leads — called the government announcement a pretext to isolate Peron from his followers.

Lanusse scheduled a news conference later today and observers said he was likely to discuss the national election next March and Peron's possible role in it.

Lanusse, who also commands the Argentine army, allowed Peron to end his exile last week, 17 years after his ouster at the end of a decade of dictatorial rule.

But whether Lanusse would allow Peron to take direct part in the elections was not known. Peron is barred from seeking the presidency under a residency law but he could nominate a member of his own party to run for the office — if the military government allows it.

Senator Proxmire outruns reporter

KENOSHA, Wis. (UPI) — Like Gen. William Sherman marching inexorably through Georgia, Sen. William Proxmire continued his footrace filibuster through Wisconsin today.

God go with him. I'm staying home to rest my aching feet. My brush with Proxmire's physical prowess started when I was assigned to spend part of Tuesday with him during his 1,200 mile jog through Wisconsin.

When I met the senator at 6 a.m. I was wearing torn sweatpants and a windbreaker. He had on a suit and tie with ripple-soled running shoes dyed black to match his suit.

"Are you going to run with the senator?" asked the clerk at the hotel as she eyed my scruffy appearance. I suddenly became acutely aware of my thermal underwear peaking through my sweatpants.

It was downhill after that. We started to run. I say run because the 57-year old senior senator from Wisconsin doesn't jog. He moved his lean angular body through the dark streets at what could best be described as a mad dash. My 28-year old bulging frame rumbled alongside for almost three-quarters of a mile.

Already I knew I was out of my league.

First of all Proxmire talks when he runs. All I wanted to do was make sure I had enough wind left to take a drag of my cigarette when the whole thing was over. Proxmire wanted to ask me questions.

That was when I told my first lie.

"Senator, my car is right around the corner and I don't want to leave it here," I wheezed. "I'll pick it up and meet you at the plant gate."

I peeled off into an alley and slumped onto the nearest to Kenosha. I was determined to go with him, but before we got even a couple of jogging steps from the hotel I told him

'All I wanted to do was make sure I had enough wind left to take a drag of my cigarette when the whole thing was over.'

garbage can, gasping for breath. I hitched a ride to the plant gate and stood around while Proxmire greeted workers arriving at the plant.

"Hi, I'm Bill Proxmire, your senator." Over and over again. The workers gladly shook his hand and many glanced at his sparse scalp implanted with some new hair.

Proxmire's recent decision to undergo a hair transplant triggered a rash of stories in Wisconsin newspapers, complete with before and after pictures.

"Not bad Bill, not bad at all," said one elderly lady as she surveyed his head.

I had just caught my breath when Proxmire said he was off to a newspaper for an interview. Lie number two — "I've got to get back to the hotel and file some copy for this story," I said.

"Meet you back there for breakfast" he shouted over his shoulder as he took off.

After breakfast, Proxmire was ready to run the 10 miles

I didn't want to leave my car in Racine and I would meet him up ahead.

Proxmire ran and I trailed behind in my car. It was very revealing.

For example, Proxmire runs backwards a lot. He'll hear somebody yell at him and he turns around to shout back, all the while continuing to trot backwards.

Proxmire ran six miles without stopping. He waved a lot and got out of the way of passing trucks with the aplomb only a senator on the move could display.

He stopped after six miles to talk to six high school students grouped along the road waiting for him.

But Proxmire didn't waste any time. Soon he was off again, running alone along a highway on his way to who knows where.

I honked at him to say goodbye, but he didn't hear and I headed back home to soak my feet in hot water, stopping briefly for just one more little lie — telling the guys at work how far I ran.

Strike ended, prisoners gone

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — State police entered Concord State Prison today to end a nonviolent, day-old strike by inmates and found that 14 of the prisoners had escaped.

A spokesman for state police said a car stolen Tuesday night from a restaurant parking lot near the prison was believed taken by some of the escapees.

No roadblocks were set up, the spokesman said, because the prisoners "were long gone before we got there."

Walter Williams, acting warden, said bars in at least one window in the East Wing were cut.

More than 120 state police entered the prison soon after midnight and herded 204 inmates of the wing into their cells. State Police Commissioner John Kehoe said no force was used.

It was not discovered that there had been an escape until the prisoners were back in their cells.

No damage, other than the sawed bars, was apparent. A spokesman for the Corrections Department said the inmates remained peaceful, but did "a lot of shouting and milling around."

The strike began Monday when the inmates refused to enter their cells for the 10 p.m. lockup. They again refused to be locked up Tuesday night.

Williams said the strikers met with him and complained of a system scheduled to go into effect next week whereby the 600 inmates would be locked in their cells whenever they were not working or attending classes.

Women's group asks abortion act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women's Lobby, Inc., wants Congress to pass a national abortion act and bring housewives under Social Security. The women's rights group said Monday it would take the issues to the 93rd Congress, which convenes in January. The lobby's president, Carol Burris, said the organization also would push for a child care program, an increase in the minimum wage, and legislation to assure women have equal rights in any pension vesting plan Congress considers. The child care program was passed by Congress last session but vetoed by President Nixon. The proposed abortion bill would prohibit states from passing laws banning abortion. The lobby's spokesman said housewives should be covered by Social Security just as their working husbands are.

Book Review

By LUCILLE ROUTH
Twin Falls Librarian
TWIN FALLS — Walt Moray, well known author of the books, "Gentle Ben" and "Kavik the Wolf Dog" has again chosen the northwest as the setting for his newly published book, "Scrub Dog of Alaska."

In the mining community of Aurora, Smiley Jackson, a sled-dog trainer, considered himself an expert in choosing pups and training them to run in the Alaska sled-dog races.

When Jackson threatened the scrub of the litter with an ax, as the wolf-gray scrub showed no promise that he would ever make a good sled dog, he was forced to leave to scrounge around for his food and shelter from the severe Alaskan winter storms.

Free running packs of dogs were a constant threat to his life and challenged his very survival.

When the very end of his existence seemed certain, he was befriended by a lonely 14-year-old, David Martin, the son of Fred and Colla Martin, who ran one of the longest trap lines in the area, and Harvey Scott, a prospector and trapper.

For the first time since he was a very small pup, Scrub was not half-starved and constantly on the prowl for something to steal. He grew into a strong handsome intelligent dog.

It didn't take Smiley Jackson very long to recognize "his dog" and demand his return.

Winter storms moved in. Snow sweeps across the frozen earth to add to the drifts already formed, that make life even more difficult.

David finds himself suddenly transplanted to the modern city of Anchorage, to live with relatives, after his mother and father are caught in one of the winter storms and are found frozen.

Scrub is a "lead dog" for Smiley Jackson in the big "Anchorage Fur Rendezvous" that drew the greatest teams from Alaska and beyond, to compete for the cash prize of thousands of dollars.

The story moves at a fast, fascinating pace as each chapter unfolds an exciting and unexpected event. Walt Moray uses his knowledge and feeling for animals to write "Scrub Dog of Alaska" that is found in the Twin Falls Children's Public Library.

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — The mallman mentioned to a couple of teenagers Monday that he had to slog through knee deep water on School Street, flooded by nearly three inches of rain. So the youths, Joe Belyea and Tim Lane, borrowed a 14-foot metal boat and paddled the mallman the length of the street.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for 25 years, and he is the dearest thing on this earth to me. I have tried in every way to be a good wife, but I have failed him in the most important way of all. For some mysterious reason I have not been able to give him children.

I was never able to get him to consider adoption. He hasn't complained, but I can see the hurt in his eyes when he sees his friends with their children and grandchildren, and my heart aches so.

What can I do to make it up to him?

HURTING

What's to 'make up'

DEAR HURTING: If you've had a good marriage (and you obviously have), what is there to "make up?" Don't assume that YOU weren't able to give HIM children. I perhaps HE wasn't able to give YOU children. It's history now, so stop grieving for something you never had. God in his infinite wisdom gives and withholds both happiness and tragedy. Accept this decision, and don't question it.

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I feel I can ask this question. I have reasons to believe my 9-year-old son may be ahead of himself in his sexual development.

Please don't think I have a dirty attitude about sex, because I haven't. My question: Can lightly tickling a boy's neck, arms, and legs arouse him sexually? From what I have observed I think it can and it disturbs me.

A relative (a maiden lady of 55) delights in tickling our boy whenever she is near him. He seems to enjoy it immensely as he sits close to her whenever she is here, probably anticipating it. She makes a kind of game or joke of it.

I don't approve of exciting (consciously or otherwise) a young boy in this manner, and for reasons I won't mention here, I think that is what is happening.

Can this actually happen to a normal boy, age 9? If I am on the wrong track, please tell me. I don't want to make a fool of myself. Please tell me what you know about this sort of thing. Thank you.

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your concern is well-founded. Sexual responses are not uncommon in 9-year-old boys (and young-er). I advise you to tell your relative to keep her hands to herself. And if she doesn't understand why, be more specific.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for eight years to a man who is nearly perfect. He's a good provider, a wonderful father and an excellent lover, but he positively refuses to go out in public with me.

He has no reason to be ashamed of me. After three children I still wear a size 10. I'm no raving beauty, but I keep myself looking nice and wear clothes well.

I am at a loss to know why he has refused to take me to dinner or a show in the past three years. He used to take me out for dinner twice a year—on our anniversary and Christmas, but no more.

The children and I always go alone, on vacations, to church, visiting, whatever.

Abby, what could be wrong? The only time we ever spend together is in bed. But that's not enough. He's a fine looking man and I would be so proud to be seen with him, but no amount of teasing, begging or nagging will move him.

Any help you can give me on this problem will be appreciated. Or should I just give up and keep quiet?

SOMETHING MISSING

DEAR SOMETHING: Something is missing all right. An explanation from your husband. It's almost as tho he were "hiding" from someone. If I were you, I would not give up neither would I keep quiet.

TO "CONFIDENTIALLY": Your daughter is over 21 and shouldn't need parental consent to go on a skiing trip with a group of her friends. Don't assume that everyone who goes skiing is necessarily "he-ing" and "she-ing."

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

A NOSE FOR BEAUTY

By Mary Sue Miller

More women are being convinced of the fact that cosmetics can and should be used to modulate wayward features. The idea has gained acceptance with the introduction of contour creams, powder cakes and gels.

Still two shades of an old familiar — a cream or fluid base — serve very well. Always have. However you choose to do it, you require two shades — a basic one that matches your skin tones and a darker shade for contouring, about two degrees darker. Moreover, the consistencies of the two must be compatible. For instance, a cream cream or gel works well with a cream base. But contour powder cakes need a matte finish base.

Now, how do you use the stuff? Let's use it to revamp the nose that is overlong or too broad.

First smooth the basic shade onto your entire face and throat. Then, using the contour shade, swathe the bone of a long nose from the top of the bridge to the underside of the tip. Fill both sides of a broad nose from the edges of the center bone in a wide triangle to cover the nostrils.

Next blend in all directions. Be sure to feather the edges so that there is no line of demarcation. Excepting where contour powder cake is used, a dusting of translucent face powder "sets" your makeup and gives a filmy effect. Surface the entire face, flick off excess with downward strokes. The nose goes undetected, you simply look lovelier.

South's three-diamond call was a reverse bid in spite of the fact that he had bid his suits in order. The order itself does not constitute a reverse bid. It is when you shut out the lowest bid of your suit that you are reversing.

With a minimum of near minimum opening, South would have just rebid two spades. His hand was strong enough to get higher.

This three-level reverse is actually a game force, since the two-over-one response has guaranteed at least 10 points.

Since this reverse was a game force, North was able to rebid to three spades only. South continued to four and North showed his desire to get to a slam by cue-bidding five clubs. South liked the slam idea and accepted the invitation by bidding five hearts, whereupon North went to slam.

Almost any reasonable line of play would bring the slam home but South took the best one from a percentage standpoint.

He won the club in dummy; played the queen of trumps to see if trumps would break better than 5-0.

After both opponents followed he led a diamond to his ace and a second back toward dummy. This insured the contract if diamonds broke 4-2 and kept several options open in case they divided 5-1.

Actually they broke 4-2 and it was all over but writing down the score.

Bean rates reduced on gulf shipments

GOODING (UPI) — Idaho Bean Commissioner Tom Morrison, Gooding, said Tuesday railroad rates on movements from the Magic Valley to U. S. gulf ports have been reduced 11 per cent.

He said the reduction should prove to be a major improvement in the Gem State's export access to the important Caribbean market.

He said Robert Henry, a transportation consultant who works for the Idaho bean industry, negotiated with Union Pacific and other railroads for six months to obtain the lower rates.

A Union Pacific assistant traffic manager in Boise, D. A. Dorn, indicated a special effort would be made to put the reduced rates into effect as soon as possible — which could mean within 40 days.

Jerome center advances

JEROME — Construction is nearing completion for the new Animal Medical Center in Jerome.

Construction of the new facilities began in September and is expected to be finished some time this month.

The center, which is located southwest of Jerome near the junction of Idaho Highway 79 and Interstate 80N, is being constructed by Dr. Jerry Jackson 29 and Dr. Stephen Dixon, 32. Jackson is the son of Dr. Ivan Jackson, veterinarian, Twin Falls.

The facility, which is the second one in Jerome, contains over 7,000 square feet and will be equipped to handle both large and small animals.

Both Jackson and Dixon graduated from Washington State University, Pullman, Wash., in 1966.

Soil aides at meeting

JEROME — Supervisors of Northside Soil Conservation District attended the 30th annual convention of the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts in Pocatello last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Chujnacky, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Plath, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Golay and Dan Weatherwax heard speakers discuss current resources and conservation issues in Idaho and new methods to meet emerging soil problems.

Idaho's land use policy and policies of streambank protection were also considered.

TF student seeks CSI board post

TWIN FALLS — A College of Southern Idaho student is seeking a post on the five-man CSI Board of Trustees.

The student, Stanley E. Wachtstetter, Twin Falls, filed his nominating petition twice Tuesday before it was accepted by college officials.

According to Wachtstetter, his first petition was rejected by College Secretary H. L. VanSlyke because the signers were not either parents of children in the district or taxpayers.

Wachtstetter resubmitted his petition later in the day containing names of five persons meeting VanSlyke's standards. According to the candidate, revisions in the election law has removed the parental or taxpayer requirement.

Wachtstetter is running against incumbent trustee John Hepworth for a two-year term. Hepworth was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late James Shields.

Hepworth has announced he would seek reelection.

A second trustee post, for a six year term is being sought by incumbent trustee John R. Coleman. Coleman, who has announced he will seek reelection, is unopposed to date.

The 27-year-old freshman, an ordained minister, said today there were three major issues in his campaign.

1. He cited the "tremendous waste" at CSI. He gave as an example the system designed to permit students at the library to plug earphones into circuits carrying local radio programs, or selected lectures.

He said the same result could be achieved with less cost by cheap transistor radios or cassette tape recorders. The electronics system permits a teacher to record a lecture in each classroom.

According to Wachtstetter, the system is little used. He said recently a teacher, prompted by students who said they had never seen the system work, tried to use his classroom system, only to find it didn't work properly.

2. Mismanagement on campus, particularly in the library, which has been tolerated by the trustees.

Wachtstetter said "the whole system of the library is backwards."

For example, he said, there is a shortage of periodicals; fiction is filed by title rather than, as customary, by author, and the library does not use the Dewey Decimal System. He said students learn to use the Dewey system for 12 years, then resume using it when they advance beyond CSI.

3. Board relations with faculty and students are poor, Wachtstetter said. An example, he said, the board has refused to develop a tenure system. He said tenure is used throughout the educational system from grade school to graduate school, but not at CSI.

He said teachers can and have been fired without the necessity of showing cause "Because of personality conflicts or because someone the administration doesn't like the way his hair is combed." Each teacher is rehired each year, he said.

According to Wachtstetter, "The teachers teach scared." "As one teacher told me, there is no such thing as a good teacher who's scared. Your teaching is bound to be bad when you are teaching under stress."

He said it would be more costly if the college continues on its present course — if lawsuits are levied and teacher unions formed.

Wachtstetter said he had been approached by "a member of the administration" — which he refused to identify — who "discouraged" his plan of running for office. "He pointed out that my campaign would be useless, that I wouldn't have time to accomplish things I wanted to accomplish, and in general attempted to discourage me."

He said he was not threatened nor received implied threats from the administrator.

Wachtstetter said he had no "radical" plans should he be elected. He said he could not make campaign promises because one member of a five-man board could not always get his way.

He said he thought President James L. Taylor "is basically okay." Wachtstetter received his bachelor of theology degree from Conqueror's Bible College, Portland, which he followed by one semester at Purdue University's Indianapolis Campus.

He is a freshman at CSI, seeking to meet teaching requirements.

Minidoka school aides plan bid on vehicle

RUPERT — Minidoka school trustees decided to call for bids on a 12-passenger van during their regular meeting Monday evening.

The multi-purpose vehicle would be used to transport students, such as the debate team and school personnel. Minidoka Supt. Dr. Darrell Hatfield estimated the cost of the van at $4,000. Bids will be opened Dec. 18.

The board members also voted to allow selected district teachers to participate in an inservice training program in special education at the University of Oregon during January and April.

The Special Education Instructional Materials Center at the university will pay 30 individuals from Alaska, Idaho, Oregon and Washington during their attendance at the program, designed to aid the participants in training local teachers on techniques of teaching special education courses.

Minidoka has nominated George McDonald and Bill

Martin, West Minico Junior High; Maudie Ratliff, Washington-Elementary, and Ross Johnson, Paul Elementary, for participation in the program.

Mrs. Helen Craven, Rupert, was hired by the board as lay coordinator for the Teacher Corps program at Pershing Elementary. She will receive $900 in school district administrated federal funds for her work.

As lay coordinator, she will act as a liaison between the school and the community in promoting the Teacher Corps program.

In other action, the trustees:

— Reaffirmed a contract with the Idaho Youth Ranch for the education of boys screened by a joint committee.

— Approved the planned attendance of Alan Hale, Minico High, at the National Music Educators Convention in Portland during February.

— Approved the attendance of Vern MacNeil at the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers Convention in Chicago during December.

Agreed to inquire in the area concerning liability insurance for the school district.

— Endorsed the policy of allowing schools principals to screen and edit school newspapers.

Wendell school bond defeated

WENDELL — A Wendell school bond election for construction of a new gymnasium and additional classrooms was defeated Tuesday by a 13-vote margin.

There were 902 votes cast — 313 no and 589 yes. A two-thirds majority was needed for passage for the $555,000 bond and there was only a 65 per cent majority.

According to Supt. Lawrence LaRue the school district may try again in six months because the vote was so close but before any decision is made a public meeting and a discussion with board members will be held.

A bond election six months ago for $525,000 for the same purpose was defeated by a one vote margin.

Increase in the bond was due to rising construction costs.

Closed

ARCO — The visitor center at Craters of the Moon National Monument will be closed Thanksgiving Day, S. J. Zachwieja, acting superintendent, said today.

The closing will allow the monument employees to observe the holiday with their families. The monument road will be open, weather conditions permitting, he said.

Recreation zone ruling due today

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

HANSEN — Robert Hamby will know later today whether he can develop for recreational uses 320 acres of land south of Hansen now zoned agricultural.

The Twin Falls County commissioners are expected to make a decision by late this afternoon in the zoning request that drew nearly three dozen people to a public hearing Tuesday and produced a series of charges and counter charges.

At the end of the meeting held in the district court courtroom in the county judicial building, the public hearing itself came under attack, when Garnet Kidd, Hansen, told the commissioners, "Justice has not been done. I recommend another hearing."

Hamby, in the initial statement of the hearing, told the commissioners the land, six miles south of Hansen off South Hill Road, was not "qualified for agriculture," and said there was a chance to "develop a beautiful spot for Twin Falls County."

Another man hinted there was the possibility of an "Olympic size swimming pool that could benefit the county with revenues to the county," and added Hamby wanted the zoning change to "outdoor recreation" for water so "he can apply for recreational loans, perhaps with the county itself."

Kidd said, "The day is here when we're going to have to recognize the population growth, and recognize these people who want to go out. The more places we can have for these people to go out, the better off we are."

But several other people disagreed with Hamby and his supporters.

One of them, Neil Larsen, who operates a dairy near the property proposed for rezoning, said Hamby has "developed mostly a junkyard" on the land he owns nearby.

Others accused the recreational development was a stepping stone toward liquor by the drink. I don't think we need liquor by the drink near Rock Creek," said Ed King.

Hamby has a beer license for a nearby establishment he operates near the Rock Creek community.

"The proposals were also attacked on grounds of danger to the environment, safety and planning."

Mrs. Robert Reinstein asked the commissioners, "I would like to know what he (Hamby) has done for the environment. Is he interested in it (the proposal) for recreation or for himself?"

Commissioners Merl Leonard and William Chancy drove to the site of the proposed recreation area late Tuesday afternoon, where they met again with both Hamby and Larsen.

Rupert plans submitted

RUPERT — Richard Maggard, chairman of the Rupert Parks and Recreation Committee, submitted plans for a new recreation office Tuesday evening to the Rupert City Council.

Maggard said the committee "strongly recommends" the new facility before "we must keep our children in town."

The building specifications call for a 24-by-28 foot structure at a cost of $7,943. The figure represents the material cost of $4,543, contracted labor at $2,300 and office furnishings at $1,000, he said.

The park near the intersection of H and 11th streets would be a logical site for the structure, Maggard said. Mayor Wendell Johnson said the council will take the proposal under consideration.

Bids for chain link fencing and lighting equipment for Big Valley Park were opened by the council. Anderson Lumber Co., Rupert, submitted the low and accepted bid for the fencing at $7,450.

Six other firms entered bids including Volco Builders, Burley, $7,571; Mountain Sites Fence Co., Salt Lake City, $7,660; A. C. Houston Co., Twin Falls, $7,707; Stewart Decatur, Security Systems, Covington, Ky., $9,093; Sears Roebuck and Co., Twin Falls, $11,238, and Cascade Equipment Co., Eugene, Ore., $22,092.

Five companies submitted lighting equipment bids. The decision to award the bid was delayed until city electrical engineer Elmer Schenk determines all specifications are met.

After lengthy deliberation, the council authorized participation by parks and recreation director Mike Rinard in the American Legion Baseball program next summer. Several councilmen hesitated in their approval because they felt coaching duties would interfere with his city work.

Rinard guaranteed them an occasional Wednesday afternoon would be the only demand on his time as a city employee.

Amos Hall, president of Rupert American Legion-Post 10, said all funding for the baseball program would come through financial sponsorship of local merchants.

In other action the council: — Voted to refund $432 to the Minidoka School District. The district was recently improperly billed for irrigation of memorial field with culinary water.

— Agreed to partial refunds of irrigation charges to sites with no city irrigation pipe line. The ditch irrigated sites will be billed according to 1972 rates, amended to provide a $13 minimum charge.

Warning

TWIN FALLS — Lt. Roy Thomas, Idaho State Police, today warned motorists tickets are being issued drivers with frost obscured windshields and rear windows.

He said to avoid a citation and for their own safety, drivers would do well to take an extra minute or two before leaving home or the parking lot to scrape off the frost on these cold mornings.

A number of citations have been issued by state officers during the past few weeks, he said.

Truck, train collide

BURLEY — A truck loaded with processed potato products from Burley's Ore-Ida plant was damaged extensively in its collision with a train Tuesday.

The driver, Jess M. Squire, 32, Kuna, was not injured and had the composure to say, "I looked the (train) engineer in the eye and gunned the truck across the tracks before the train caught the back end of my trailer."

The incident occurred about 12:30 p.m. at the Ore-Ida railroad crossing on Highway 30 approximately 2.5 miles west of Burley.

The truck, owned by Boise-Winnemucca Stages, Boise, received damage estimated at $50,000, according to Cassia County deputy sheriff Don Taylor. The train switch engine sustained $7,500 in damages.

Excavation error interrupts service

GOODING — An excavation error was the cause of phone service interruption to Gooding and Wendell Tuesday.

According to Lee McCracken, Twin Falls Mountain Bell service foreman, a cable was cut between Wendell and Gooding by excavating equipment Wednesday morning. Lines were repaired by 7 p.m., McCracken said.

Mountain Bell workmen had been called out also on Monday afternoon when Kimberly service was cut for several hours by run-off water seeping into an underground splice.

Driver not injured

JESS M. SQUIRE, 32, Kuna, driver, was not injured Tuesday when his truck collided with a train in Burley. The truck, loaded with processed potato products from Burley's Ore-Ida plant, was damaged extensively.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

What is the purpose of the psychiatrist's couch? Simple. It requires a patient to recline in such a position that said patient cannot look at the doctor's face. This permits that mental expert to carry on the treatments while he scratches his ear, rolls his eyes or nibbles his fingernails, whichever. Sigmund Freud devised the couch notion. He hated to be stared at.

THAT THE AVERAGE American man has 18 ties in his closet has been reported. Should be noted, too, they're mostly red, blue, brown and green, in that order. That's how many pairs of socks the average man has, also. Exactly 18.

ENGLISH GIRLS in general are just a little shorter than American women. About 70 per cent of Great Britain's females are 5-feet-3-inches or under.

QUERIES
Q. "When did jukeboxes first come out?"
A. In 1933. Big hits that year were "It's Only a Paper Moon," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "Stormy Weather."

Q. "I KNOW June marriages have the lowest divorce rate. But marriages of what month have the highest divorce rate?"
A. January, February and March. It's a tossup.

Q. "I SAY California grows more turkeys than any other state."
A. Grows more pounds of turkey. California's birds are larger. But Minnesota grows the greatest number.

THE FRENCH telephone dial has a Q. Ours doesn't. The Danish telephone dial has no W. Ours does.

LOVE AND WAR
If both you and your matrimonial mate come from broken homes, odds run only 12 to 1 in your favor.

THE BEST SALES-CLERKS seem to score lowest on intelligence tests. Peculiar but true. Hiring experts say their studies show the I. Q. tests work in a handy manner to pick typists, stenographers, bookkeepers. But they're not worth much in selecting sales help. Such tests of the top dollar volume producers in several department stores checked out miserably low.

Ali KO's Foster in 8th

SIC, Ostyn winners

BRUIN AWARD WINNERS at the fall banquet flank head Coach Norm Thomas. Mark McKain, left, was the only Bruin named to the all-conference first team defense. Steve Day, joining brother Eric Day, was the Paul Ostyn award winner.

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Muhammad Ali, scoring almost at will, knocked out light heavyweight champion Bob Foster Tuesday night at 40 seconds of the eighth round of their scheduled 12-round bout.

Ali, 221-14, decked his 180-pound opponent six times before he landed a long, looping right which ended the bout.

Ali sent Foster crashing to the canvas four times in the fifth round and twice in the seventh before landing the key blow.

Foster countered gamely with his feared left hook and jabs to the body but his only obvious damage was a cut over Ali's left eye which was opened up in the fourth.

In the seventh, Foster landed a series of four hard combinations. Ali feigned he was in trouble and staggered about the center of the ring.

Then he unleashed the lethal right which put Foster down for the final count in the eighth.

Foster, Albuquerque, N.M., tried to get up but could not. He had been unmarked until he was knocked out.

The cut over Ali's left eye made blood trickle down to his chin. The former heavyweight champion, only slightly bothered by the cut, wiped away the blood with his glove.

Ali was ahead on the cards of all three judges. Judge Bill Stremmel scored it 35-27, giving Ali every round. Judge Wally Rusk had it 35-28 with two rounds even and Judge Tony Smorcin scored it 34-28, giving Foster one round with one round even.

During the first two rounds, both fighters exchanged jabs.

In the third, Ali picked up the action and appeared to toy with the lighter Foster as he slipped one slapping jab after another into the light heavyweight's face.

In the fifth—the round in which Ali said before the fight he would knyo his opponent—Ali came out fast and quickly decked Foster with a hard right. Foster got up quickly and, in a furious exchange in the corner, Foster shot a pair of hard rights to Ali's head but could not get away from his pressing opponent.

Another right staggered Foster and a short left to the jaw put him down for a second time. After an eight-count, another left put Foster down for a third time.

A series of short left hooks put Foster down the fourth time in the round and he was saved by the bell.

Foster managed to stay away from his heavier opponent in the sixth round. But in the seventh, Ali's pounding fists scored two more knockdowns.

A crowd of 2,000 fans who paid between $75 and $150 crowded the plush show room of the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel Casino. Hundreds more who could not get in passed their time playing slot machines and cards in the nearby casino.

The bout was shown on closed circuit television. Ali was guaranteed $250,000 and Foster $125,000. The live gate was about $165,000.

Ali, who was fighting about four pounds over his usual weight, showed no ill effects of the 6,300-foot elevation. Foster, accustomed to the high elevation of New Mexico, had hoped to stay away from Ali long enough for the altitude to take effect but it didn't happen that way.

Beating injury, Day wins award

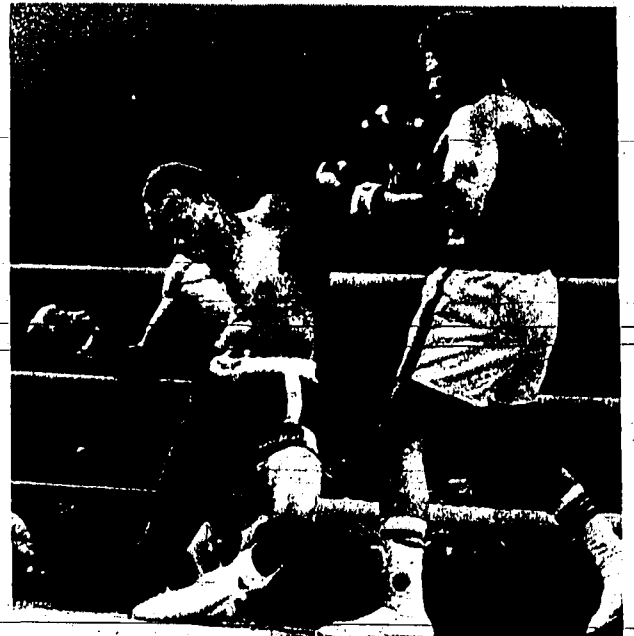

TWIN FALLS — Steve Day, who overcame a crippling injury sustained in an automobile accident and played varsity football despite a limp, won the Paul Ostyn Award Tuesday night at the Twin Falls fall sports banquet.

The award, started in 1959 when Ostyn was coach of the Bruins, goes to the hardest working player with the greatest desire to win.

Others honored in football were quarterback Mike Sturgill as the offensive back; Mike

Beck and Tony Kevan as offensive linemen; Mark McKain, Twin Falls' first team all-conference linebacker, and Brady Barbour, second team all-league safety, were the defensive back co-winners and nose guard Ross Deahl was given the defensive lineman award.

The banquet also honored the Twin Falls girls volleyball team which won its second straight district title and the Bruin cross-country team which placed second in state.

BOB FOSTER'S knees double as he falls for the last time, 40 seconds into the eighth round from a series of lefts and rights thrown by Muhammad Ali during the scheduled 12 round North American Heavyweight title bout. A fierce left hook up close finished it for Foster after a series of knockdowns that started in the fifth round. (UPI)

Final blow

Indiana tips Memphis as Denver drops Utah

By United Press International

Indiana's ability to beat Memphis is one reason the Pacers are on top of the Western Division and the Tams are occupants of the Eastern Basketball Association.

The Pacers beat Memphis for the fourth time this season, a 121-120 decision Tuesday night, as George McGinnis scored 42 points, including the winning basket in the final second.

McGinnis was a one-man show in the second half as Indiana recovered from a 59-49 intermission deficit behind the Pacer forward's 29 points in the final 24 minutes. Freddie Lewis aided the Indiana cause with 31 points while Lee Davis paced the Tams with 36.

Denver and San Diego remained tied for second place, a game behind Indiana, as the Rockets beat Utah 106-100 and the Conquistadors edged Dallas 105-101.

Byronn Scott scored 24 points and Warren Jaball and Marvin Roberts added 19 each for Denver to bring the Rockets their fourth win in the last five games. Willie Wise was Utah's top scorer with 23 points.

In the only other ABA action, San Diego made up a five-point deficit with a six-point spurt near the end of the third quarter and dominated the fourth period to beat Dallas. Larry Miller scored 23 points for the Q's and Rich Jones led the Chaps with 21 points before fouling out with 4:05 left in the game.

Celtics drop Milwaukee to take Atlantic lead

By GARY KALE

UPI Sports Writer

The Boston Celtics are accustomed to being No. 1, but the Milwaukee Bucks aren't used to rapping on the ceiling to dislodge an upstairs tenant.

Boston won the battle of division leaders Tuesday night as the Celtics clobbered the Bucks 116-102 behind John Havlicek's 27 points to keep a slim margin over New York in the Atlantic sector. Milwaukee dropped a half game behind first place Chicago in the Midwest Division after the Bulls scored a 113-105 victory over Houston.

Milwaukee, apparently still disturbed over its one-point loss to New York Saturday when the Knicks scored the last 10 points of the game, couldn't get untracked against the Celtics as they were bounced out of the Midwest lead for the first time since Nov. 1970.

Boston scored the first six points of the game and at one stage led by 20 points as Havlicek poured in key baskets every time the Bucks were within striking range. The Celtics led 64-40 at halftime, but were slightly outplayed after intermission as Milwaukee matched Boston's 20 points in the third quarter and outscored the winners, 24-23, in the final period.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 33 points for the Bucks, who were hampered by 16 turnovers in the first half.

In other National Basketball Association action, New York pounded Portland 108-80, Kansas City-Omaha defeated Phoenix 101-96, Detroit downed Atlanta 113-110 in overtime, Baltimore rapped Buffalo 125-88 and Cleveland stopped Seattle 98-88.

Jerry Sloan tallied a season-high 31 points for Chicago as the Bulls won their 10th decision in the last 12 games. The Bulls led in the third quarter, provided the winning cushion. Jimmy Walker led the Rockets with 30 points.

New York won its 11th home game in 12 starts this season as forwards Dave DeBusschere netted 25 points and Bill Bradley tallied 22 against Portland. The Blazers' Sidney Wicks was held to 12 points, all in the first half. Rookie Ollie Johnson paced Portland with 17 points.

K.C.-Omaha, finally giving Coach Bob Cousy a seasonal winning log, won its fifth straight behind NBA scoring leader Nate Archibald's 37 points. Little Nate tallied four points in the last 1:11 and his 11 assists set a league record of 10 or more assists for 10 consecutive games. Charlie Scott's 23 points were high for Phoenix.

Bob Lanier scored five of Detroit's nine points in overtime and netted 34 for the game as the Pistons dropped Atlanta into a first-place tie with Baltimore in the Central Division. George Trapp's basket tied the game at 104-all after regulation time, but Lanier's three-point play unknotted a 108-all score in the extra session for the victory. Lou Hudson led the Hawks with 28 points.

Baltimore overcame an eight-point intermission deficit to beat Buffalo. Phil Chenier scored 14 of his game-high 27 points for the winning Bulls in the third quarter. The best the Braves could offer was Dick Garrett's 16 points.

Last place Cleveland moved to within three games of the Central lead as Austin Carr ripped in 31 points and Larry Wilkens added 27. Spencer Haywood, hitting on half his 30 shots, netted 32 points for Seattle.

Big Sky downs Idaho scholarship requests

BOISE (UPI) — The Big Sky Conference Tuesday rejected a request to increase the number of football scholarships at the University of Idaho.

The State Board of Education has asked for the special privilege for Idaho after the university requested permission from the State Board to withdraw from the athletic conference.

Carl McIntosh, conference president, said the request was for a privilege over and above what the other schools have, to increase from 62 to 75 the number of scholarships for the 1973-74 school year.

The conference also decided that all the league schools will give up what they got for Boise State's participation in the Camellia Bowl.

Boise had to forfeit the $11,000 it received when it was disclosed that quarterback Eric Guthrie had played a professional baseball before entering the school.

The conference agreed that "There was no culpability on the part of Boise State" and the $7,000 shared by league members would be repaid by each school rather than only Boise.

McIntosh also said the conference agreed to have each campus review the situation and report next time on the possibility of an intercollegiate athletics program for women.

No Olympic funds from California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Tuesday said he would be "very hesitant" about committing state funds to finance the 1976 Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley.

However, the Governor told a news conference he would not oppose any privately financed effort to bring the Olympics to Squaw Valley, site of the 1960 Winter Games.

In answer to a question on how he felt about having Squaw Valley host the Olympics again, Reagan said the state is still paying "about a quarter of a million dollars a year" to maintain its facilities created for the 1960 Games.

"I don't believe that the taxpayers should be asked to embark on another such program," he said. "I would be very hesitant and go very slow about the state involving itself again in a venture of that kind."

A committee of Squaw Valley and Lake Tahoe area residents has been formed to formulate a bid for the Games. The International Olympic Committee has said it will accept new bids to host the Olympics now that Denver has dropped out as the site.

Big bet?

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Fifty pounds of Oklahoma peanuts versus 50 pounds of Nebraska pork chops will be riding on the outcome of Thursday's Oklahoma-Nebraska football game.

Oklahoma Gov. David Hall said Tuesday he has an "understanding" (he declined to call it a bet) with Nebraska Gov. James Exon that if Oklahoma loses, Hall will give him 50 pounds of peanuts from Garvin County, Okla.

If Nebraska loses, he said Exon will give him 50 pounds of "dressed pork."

Delaware is '72 UPI champion, Idaho State ranked in top 20

NEW YORK (UPI) — "They asked us for an encore and we gave them one."

So said Delaware coach Tubby Raymond Tuesday after his Blue Hen football team was named National College Division champion for the second successive year by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Delaware, which also won the UPI national title in 1963 in addition to last year, swept through the 1972 season with a perfect 10-0 record and received 21 first place votes and 334 points from the 35-member coaches board in the final ratings.

Louisiana Tech, which also finished undefeated (11-0) had the misfortune of putting its perfect season up against the defending champion which never surrendered the No. 1 spot from the very first week of the season. The second ranked Bulldogs received 12 first place votes and 318 points as they headed for their Grantland Rice Bowl post-season matchup with Ohio Valley Conference champion Tennessee Tech.

Delaware's offense which was led by senior halfback Roger Mason (802 yards rushing in nine games) outscored its opponents 35.5 to 8.1 while in the rushing department, the Blue Hens gained an average of 287.9 yards while yielding just 64.7. Dennis Johnson, a 6-5, 265-pound tackle, anchored the defense which also picked off 25 interceptions.

Ironically, 1972 was the first time in four years that Delaware did not lead the nation in either rushing or total offense. However, in addition to being named UPI's national champion, Delaware also was named recipient of the Lambert Cup (symbolic of college division football supremacy in the east) for the fifth straight year.

Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo and South Dakota, which received the remaining two first place votes in the final balloting, finished third and fourth respectively. The remaining top 10 teams in order were: Tennessee State, North Dakota, Ashland, Tennessee Tech, Grambling and Carson-Newman.

The second ten was led by Bridgeport, which finished the regular season with the nation's longest winning streak of 20 games. After that it was Livingston State, Drake, Idaho State, Northwestern Louisiana, North Carolina Central, East Texas State, Missouri Southern and Western Carolina and McNeese State tied at 19th.

Bryant defends bowl choice

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Alabama Coach Bear Bryant refused direct comment Tuesday but aides made it clear he felt Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian was indulging in name-calling by accusing the Crimson Tide of looking for a soft bowl opponent.

Parseghian was critical Monday of the Tide's decision to bypass an Orange Bowl rematch with Nebraska and play instead against Texas in the Cotton Bowl — Nebraska beat Alabama, 38-6, in the last Orange Bowl.

"What turns me about the whole thing is that if we at Notre Dame had ducked the competition like Alabama is doing, we really would have been blasted," Parseghian said.

An aide said Bryant "did not want to get involved in that kind of name-calling."

"There's nothing to be gained by debating our bowl choice," the aide said.

Alabama seniors vote to select a bowl and they apparently decided earlier in the season that the Cotton Bowl would be their choice if they were invited.

Bryant said earlier the week leading up to the decision to go to the Cotton Bowl was one of the most "bitchy weeks I've ever experienced."

"It sort of reached a climax last Tuesday night when one of my friends called me and snapped 'You're holding up the whole world,'" Bryant said.

"So I went right over to the residence hall and asked John Hannah and Steve Bisceglia if they and other seniors still went along with our earlier decision, and they did, and soon it was all over the world that we would play Texas in the Cotton Bowl."

On Monday, Bryant recounted a conversation he had last week and, although he mentioned no names, the friend he referred to was obviously Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney.

"One of my good friends called me and said 'Let's get together,'" Bryant said. "I told him my players don't want to play you."

"He said 'remember 1965?' I said to him, if you were in my place would you play you? and he said, 'no.'"

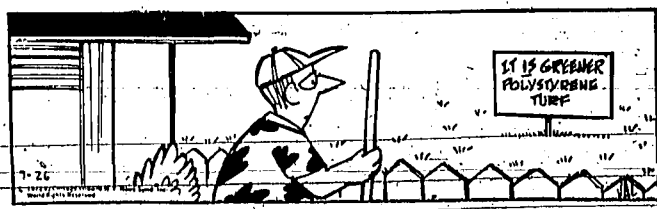

In 1965 Bryant's team, with an 8-1-1 mark, played Devaney's 10-0 team in the Orange Bowl, defeating the Cornhuskers 39-28.

"I don't think we need to be talking too much about the bowl right now, however, because it won't matter very much what we do on Jan. 1 if we don't win on Dec. 2 (against Auburn)."

Quarterback Terry Davis said, "When I said we wanted a change of scenery, I was really just speaking for myself. Miami is a great place but you only get to make a limited number of bowl trips and I wouldn't want to spend them all at the same place if I had a choice."

"Of course, the most important thing is to play well enough during the year to have a choice."

Touring Gem solons set Mexican visits

BOISE (UPI) — The agenda for legislators attending the annual western conference of the Council of State Governments this week in Tucson, Ariz., features two side trips to Mexico. Idaho lawmakers who planned to take in the conference numbered 15 — five of them "lame ducks" who will not be serving in the next legislative session.

Monday night conferees were supposed to travel by bus to Nogales, Sonora, Mexico for a shopping tour and dinner. Coming up Wednesday, those interested in deep sea fishing and other attractions can go by rail to Mazatlan, Mexico for a "post-meeting" outing that ends Sunday.

Legislative council director Myran Schlechte said there is nothing unusual about scheduling side trips in connection with this type of conference.

Taxpayers bear none of the costs of the side trips, he said. However, attendance at the conferences themselves makes such side trips available to legislators at a cost much cheaper than they would pay if they paid their own way all the way from Idaho.

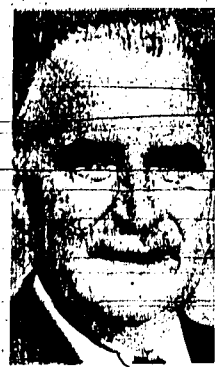

Schlechte said the side junket to Nogales — 125 miles south of Tucson — probably was financed by a host committee or the host state for the conference. But a part of the dinner meal in Old Mexico could come out of the lawmakers' $7.50 per day out-of-state food allowance, however, he said.

Idaho taxpayers are paying for travel expenses to and from Tucson of all Gem State legislators attending the conference. They also pay the hotel and motel costs and up to $7.50 per day per lawmaker for food.

The legislators are foregoing their normal $25 per day payment for special interim legislative business on this trip, but they are getting $35 to cover registration fees. Schlechte said any meals covered by the conference registration fee would be deducted from the $7.50.

He said "not one penny" of the Mazatlan trip will be paid by the taxpayers if any Idaho lawmakers decide to take it. He added that "there'll be no extra reimbursement" if there is any extra charge for the Nogales junket.

Court orders retrial

CHICAGO (UPI) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Tuesday reversed the convictions of five of the "Chicago Seven" defendants, criticizing the "deprecatory and often antagonistic attitude" of Judge Julius J. Hoffman during their turbulent 1969-1970 trial.

The 7th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled the government could retry the five — U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson said he would confer with the Justice Department in Washington before any decision was made.

"We conclude that the demeanor of the judge and the prosecutors would require reversal, if other errors did not," the Appeals Court's 121-page decision said.

The convictions of David Dellinger, Rennie "Rennie" C. Davis, Abbie Hoffman, Jerry Rubin and Thomas Hayden were reversed by Tuesday's decision, which held that their constitutional rights may have been violated at the trial.

The "Chicago Seven" were charged after the riotous 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago with conspiring to cross state lines to incite riots. The conspiracy charges were dismissed by the federal court jury in Hoffman's court, but the five were found guilty of individually crossing state lines to incite riots.

At the termination of the nearly five-month-long trial, Hoffman criticized the defendants and their attorneys — William M. Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass — for their behavior during the stormy trial, and imposed on all of them contempt sentences ranging from two months and 18 days to four years and 13 days. But the Appeals Court held that Hoffman's behavior from the bench constituted part of the turmoil of the proceedings, which came to be known as the "Chicago Seven" or "Conspiracy Seven" trial.

It asserted that Hoffman's "deprecatory and often antagonistic attitude toward the defense is evident in the record from the very beginning. It appears in remarks and actions both in the presence and absence of the jury."

Dellinger, in New York, said, "I am pleased that we won our case (sic), but if one puts it in perspective, it's a drop of water in the ocean until all the political prisoners in Saigon and other prisoners gain their freedom also."

UN unit adds E. Germany

PARIS (UPI) — East Germany joined the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) Tuesday with the support of West Germany. It was the first U.N. agency to admit East Germany.

Admission of East Germany one day after it applied for membership reflected the recent easing of tension between West and East Germany. East German vice minister of foreign affairs Ewald Moldt said his country's admission "will have a favorable impact on the détente in Europe which led to a number of important treaties."

UNESCO had 130 members before East Germany was admitted. UNESCO is an independent agency affiliated with the U.N. and designed to promote international assistance in education, science and culture.

Until recently, East Germany maintained no diplomatic ties with any non-Communist nation except for commercial arrangements. Its admission to UNESCO had been opposed because diplomats believed such a move would be a tacit recognition of East Germany as an independent state separate from West Germany.

But conclusion of a treaty between West and East Germany, scheduled to be signed by Christmas, apparently resolved major differences between the two Germanys and permitted Tuesday's admission of East Germany to the U.N. affiliate.

Stone yields mementoes

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus found an advertisement for sale of quality "men's shirts and drawers" in a newspaper for 35 cents Tuesday but unfortunately could not take advantage of it.

Andrus also found ads for sales of mustache cups and 50-cent pairs of suspenders on sale for 25 cents. But alas, these, too, he had to pass up.

All the advertisements were in the Idaho Statesman, a daily newspaper published in Boise. There was only one catch: the date on the newspaper was May 22, 1894.

Andrus took this newspaper and several others from a copper box found in the cornerstone of the Old Soldiers Home in Boise a structure that is being torn down. They were put there in 1894 when the building was dedicated.

Contents of the box were examined by the governor in a brief statehouse ceremony attended by Arthur Hart, director of the historical museum, and Jamie Shintani of the Disabled American Veterans. Henry Vanderhoef of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, C. L. Bevington of the American Legion and Jack Musser of the Veterans of World War I.

In the box Andrus found a book from the Masonic Lodge, the original legislative act establishing the soldiers' home, a list of donors who raised the money to buy the land for the home, souvenirs of Grand Army of the Republic conventions, a picture of then-Boise Mayor James Elinney and a picture of the Idaho exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair of 1893.

There also were an 1891 copy of the state Constitution; lists of legislators and other public officials of the day and the 1890 annual report of the University of Idaho.

Copies of the Lewiston Teller, the Boise Sentinel and the Idaho Democrat also were in the cornerstone.

Andrus said that the Idaho Democrat newspaper of April 20, 1894, contained an ad from Falk Mercantile offering $1.10 for each silver dollar brought in to the store.

Newsman loses

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Newsman William Farr lost another attempt Tuesday to avoid the jail sentence he faces for refusing to disclose the source of a news story during the Manson trial.

A court of appeal denied Farr's petition for a writ of habeas corpus, clearing the way for the 37-year-old newsman to be returned to jail.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older held Farr in contempt of court for refusing to disclose the source of a news story and ordered him to jail last week when Farr again refused to reveal his source.

Plant pact signed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Alliance Tool and Die Corp. announced Tuesday the signing of a $7 million contract with the Soviet Union to build a tableware factory in Kiev, Russia.

The agreement was reached Nov. 14 in New York City following lengthy negotiations between Alliance and Stankoinport, a division of the Russian ministry of foreign trade.

The pact is a "turnkey" contract, which calls for the construction and outfitting of the plant, to prepare it for actual production of the tableware.

The agreement includes an option for construction of a second similar plant.

Still under discussion is the possible construction of a $16 million facility for the manufacture of silver-plated flatware and hollow ware such as coffee pots, tea pots, and trays.

Company officials said about 10 per cent of the contract will be paid for in hard currency, while the remainder will be financed under an Export-Import Bank credit arrangement made possible by last month's U.S.-Soviet trade agreement.

The pact is the first Soviet-American manufacturing contract utilizing the Export-Import Bank credits, a company spokesman said.

Caste setup hit

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi told Parliament's Lower House Tuesday amid cheers from the lawmakers that the caste system is causing India "incalculable damage."

"Whatever was its justification at the time of its origin at the dawn of history, it is doing incalculable damage to this country," she told the Lok Sabha.

Mrs. Gandhi said that she would again confer with state chief ministers on how to give effective protection to Untouchables, "the people the late Mahatma Gandhi called Harijans, or children of God."

Americans arrested

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI) — Jamaican police Tuesday announced the arrest of eight Americans, one of them a woman, in a raid on two private boats carrying nine tons of marijuana.

The raid was carried out Monday, a spokesman said, as the two U.S. vessels were sailing from Montego Bay. Agents of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and the U.S. Coast Guard participated in the raid with Jamaican police, he said.

The value of the marijuana if sold in the United States was estimated at $3 million.

The Americans arrested on the boats were charged with conspiracy to smuggle marijuana and were held without bail in Montego Bay. They were scheduled to appear for hearing on the charges Wednesday in a magistrate's court.

The Americans arrested aboard the two vessels were identified as William Sutton, 25, of Boston; David Ward, 28, of Chicago; William Jude Goldrick, 25, of Providence, R.I.; Ron Rodeman, 26, of Torrington, Wyo.; Arthur Davey, 31, of Weymouth, Mass.; Richard Dickey, 42, and William Hellesen, 25, of Provincetown, Mass.; and Pamela Spicer. Police did not have an address for Miss Spicer.

New terms pronounced in '66 mass slayings

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Criminal Court Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald today resented Richard Speck to eight consecutive terms of 50 to 150 years for the July 14, 1966 slayings of eight Chicago nurses for which he had once been under sentence of death.

Speck would be eligible for parole review in 11 years and 3 months on the first count, but the judge urged that any parole officials take Speck's entire medical and mental history into account before acting.

The prosecutor had urged that Speck, who was resented because the U.S. Supreme Court threw out the death penalty, be imprisoned for 100 to 300 years for each of the murders.

Clad in a black suit and tieless, Speck sat during the arguments with his left elbow resting on a counsel table, his head resting on his left hand, turned partly away from the courtroom — the same courtroom where he was originally sentenced to death.

Among the spectators were relatives of four of the eight nurses slain July 14, 1966, in their Chicago town house dormitory. They wept at points during the arguments of public defender Gerald W. Getty and prosecutor Robert A. Novelle, assistant Cook County state's attorney.

US equipment delivery unit will remain in Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pentagon officials said Tuesday they expect the American military post-war presence in Vietnam to be limited to 100 or fewer troops, who will be prohibited from advising or training South Vietnamese.

Officials told United Press International these men most likely would form a Military Equipment Delivery Team (MEDT). They said it probably would be modeled after one now assigned to Cambodia, which consists of 77 U.S. military personnel headed by a one-star general.

The team's primary job would be to provide a congressionally required accounting for U.S. military aid supplied to Saigon, they said.

The officials, who asked not be identified, said the team's presence in South Vietnam apparently would be allowed under terms of the cease-fire being negotiated in Paris, unless there are major changes during the current round of secret talks.

"The way it reads now, we'll be back to about what we now have in Cambodia — in concept, although not necessarily in size," one official said.

Establishment of an MEDT in South Vietnam after the war would be a marked departure from the Military Assistance Group (MAG) the Pentagon originally had planned for Saigon.

Both types of organizations operate under the direction of the U.S. ambassador and are attached to the U.S. Embassy. But MAG personnel can act as advisors and provide training in the use of military weapons while an MEDT mission can do neither.

Members of an MEDT keep records on U.S. arms shipments, provide the reports required by Congress of the disposition of military aid, and attend to logistics matters.

Although tentative cease-fire plans would prohibit additional arms buildup by either side in South Vietnam, they would permit the replacement of existing weapons on a one-for-one basis.

NY said winning

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor John V. Lindsay said Tuesday the nation's largest city was winning its "war against muggers."

There were 59,587 robberies reported in the city during the first nine months of 1972, a decrease of 8,580 over the same period last year, Lindsay said.

In a joint news conference, Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said crime statistics for the first nine months of 1972 indicated that "people are definitely safer on the streets of New York than they were a year ago."

But Murphy reported that during the same period, homicides were up 16.4 per cent, rapes were up 38.1 per cent, and assaults increased 11 per cent.

Calf killed

SHOSHONE — A 500-pound calf was killed when it was struck by an automobile driven by Calvin Brauburger, Richfield.

The accident happened east of Richfield on the country road Monday. Deputy Sheriff Bill Anderson said.

The driver was not injured, the investigating officer said.

US income rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Commerce Department report showed today personal income of Americans climbed $15.2 billion in October, the largest increase since the spring of 1971.

The report said, however, that more than half of the jump was due to higher social security benefits. Personal income other than the social security increase was up $7.2 billion, compared to $6.8 billion in September, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $902 billion.

Personal income includes wages and salaries, business earnings, income from property and securities, and social insurance and welfare benefits.

The $15.2 billion increase was the largest since the $20 billion increase of June, 1971, which also reflected a boost in Social Security payments.

Holiday turkeys disease carriers

TWIN FALLS — Dr. Wayne Carte, medical director for the South Central District Health Department, has warned housewives to be careful in the preparation of holiday turkeys.

Dr. Carte said turkeys are the chief culprit in large food-borne disease outbreaks.

Quoting from the September, 1972 issue of CDC Veterinary Public Health Notes, Dr. Carte said "Associated with the approaching holiday season are visions of turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie. In the midst of turkey preparations lurk three villains — various salmonella species, staphylococcus aureus and clostridium perfringens."

Dr. Carte said turkeys are frequently contaminated with disease — causing bacteria when they enter a kitchen. If the turkey is purchased at the market frozen and the housewife thaws the 20 pound bird the way she would a 3 pound chicken, she begins preparing the turkey when it is not completely thawed.

Many times the housewife will wrestle the frozen bird and remove the giblets that are frozen inside and then stuff the partially frozen turkey. He said the frozen cavity with stuffing provides such complete insulation that sufficient heat never penetrates the center of the bird to destroy disease organisms which may be present there.

Turkeys must be thawed, thoroughly cooked and later handled in a manner that will prevent recontamination to be safe, Dr. Carte said. He also said that the possibilities for food-borne illness increase when a number of different people prepare turkeys for hundreds of people.

Dr. Carte said turkey should be cooked, using a reliable meat thermometer until the internal temperature of the breast in the thickest part reaches at least 170 degrees, with 180 degrees being the minimum recommended temperature if the thermometer is placed in the thigh of the turkey.

He also said turkeys should never remain in an unheated oven — such as for overnight holding — and cooked whole turkeys should never be refrigerated without having the bulk size reduced.

County clears trailer court

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County commissioners Monday approved a zoning variance that paves the way for a 40-space trailer court north of Twin Falls.

The action by the commissioners was contingent upon the condition attached by the county zoning and planning board when it approved the variance — that a fence be constructed around three sides of the court.

There is also an "agreement" that the owners of the proposed court, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Huck, Hansen, make arrangements with Twin Falls City officials for use of city sewer services.

Huck said today the capacity for the trailer court is between 40 and 45 spaces, to be built on nine acres of land one and a half miles west of the College of Southern Idaho campus, bordered by Pole Line Road and Grandview Road.

In other official action, the commission postponed until a later date the request of a Kimberly man for rezoning of land near the city limits of Kimberly.

James Bowden told the commissioners he wants to construct apartment houses near the small town, but is being "given the run around" by city officials who have requested he delay his project until city officials can straighten out their town's sewer system.

The commissioners said they would arrange a meeting with city officials in Kimberly. Health Department officials and an attorney before making a final decision.

Court overturns Burley judgment

BOISE (UPI) — A seller who makes a unilateral mistake cannot rescind or modify the agreement unless the buyer has knowledge or reasonable grounds to know about it, the Idaho Supreme Court said Monday.

In a unanimous decision written by Justice Robert E. Bakes, the court reversed a summary judgment granted plaintiff Max J. Cohen of Burley and remanded the cause to the trial court with instructions.

Cohen owned four lots in Burley which he sold to Kenneth H. Merrill Sr. and Jack Schild through real estate broker J. A. Martin of Burley.

Later, Cohen initiated an action to reform the contract in Fifth District Court, claiming he did not intend to sell the "cave property," one of the four lots described in the sales contract executed by the parties.

The district court cancelled a portion of the contract and returned the cave property to Cohen. The remainder of the contract was left in force because the other three lots since had been resold by Merrill and Schild to the First Security Bank. Schild and Merrill appealed to the high court claiming the lower court erred in granting summary judgment for Cohen and not granting summary judgment in their favor.

They contended that rescinding a portion of a land sale contract while reforming the remainder was not a proper remedy in this case.

The supreme court remanded to the matter to district court for a determination as to whether the parties submitted the case on the deposits or whether they submitted it for summary judgment. The court held that granting of summary judgment to either party was prohibited because there still are material facts at issue that must be resolved.

The supreme court said the trial court should determine whether the buyers had reason to know of the seller's mistake.

Plaintiffs change in bar action

BOISE (UPI) — An amended complaint has substituted two plaintiffs in a Federal Court lawsuit challenging admission procedures of the Idaho State Bar.

Ernesto G. Sanchez, Caldwell, and John Hurst, Boise, have replaced William F. Gigray III and Paul J. Buser as plaintiffs in the action.

Buser and Gigray withdrew as plaintiffs because they are employed by the Attorney General's office and the Attorney General may have to serve as defense counsel for the Idaho Supreme Court.

The suit asks judicial review of the bar admission procedures.
