Dinner cooking

RE-ENACTING FIRST Thanksgiving at Plimoth Plantation near Plymouth, Mass., fish and turkey are prepared for dinner by (from left) William Dawson, Ron Grohelle and Etta Wolfenden. In contrast to peaceful celebration in 1621, extra guards have been placed around replica of historic Pilgrim settlement this Thanksgiving since threats that activities would be disrupted today were made. ## Thanksgiving just another day for GIs in war zone

HUE, South Vietnam (UPI) — On the war front, there are only three days — yesterday, today and tomorrow — and Thanksgiving is no special day. "We only have three days up here — yesterday, today and tomorrow," said Marine Staff Sgt. Richard L. Helm, 29, of Des Moines. "And Thanksgiving just takes its turn."

Helm and the other U.S. military advisers on this war front may eat turkey, if army cooks can get them in time from Saigon. Otherwise, as an Army captain put it, "It's just another day, one of the 365."

Certainly, the GIs at the northernmost front of the war will not gather in one room to eat, then perhaps relax and watch a football game on television. What happened Wednesday gave them an extra reason for not relaxing.

About 1,900 rounds of mortar and artillery fire struck on or near positions "around the destroyed city of Quang Tri, killing 16 Vietnamese.

Even if they do not consider it a special occasion, the military commanders do.

Officials said they plan to send a turkey — one weighing a relatively light eight pounds — to U.S. Marines at the northern Huong Dien headquarters. At one or two other northern bases, troops will eat turkey dinners and at the former Imperial capital of Hue, all three U.S. Army dining halls will try to serve turkey.

If the turkeys do not arrive in time, the cooks said, they will try to serve something else.

At smaller units inside Quang Tri and to the northeast, American advisers will eat steak.

One man on the northern front, Ranger Capt. Dale R. Nelson, 26, of Lockport, N.Y., was surprised when he discovered what day it was.

Kissinger, Viet skip lunch, continue talks

PARIS (UPI) — High-level American and North Vietnamese negotiators "skipped lunch today and held their longest talk session in a determined drive to reach agreement on a Vietnam ceasefire."

White House aide Henry A. Kissinger and his Hanoi counterparts, Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy, were still talking in the villa at Gif Sur Yvette after five hours. Monday and Tuesday they met for two four-and-a-half-hour sessions and Wednesday talks lasted four hours.

As the day wore on, Kissinger's own original deadline of "three to four days" for the completion of the talks neared. Subsequently, however, he said he would stay in Paris as long as necessary.

Twice today the talks broke up briefly. On the second occasion Kissinger and Tho, accompanied only by an interpreter, walked together in the garden of the villa owned by the French Communist party where the talks are taking place.

Wrapped in overcoats against the winter weather, the two talked privately for 10 minutes. Tho gestured to emphasize his points and occasionally the two men laughed loudly.

nam's President Nguyen Van Thieu arrived from Saigon.

Conference sources said the adviser, Nguyen Phu Duc, carried instructions to urge acceptance of Saigon's demands in the secret talks between Kissinger and the Hanoi envoys.

His arrival coincided with government-owned Saigon Radio which accused President Nixon's top adviser of trying "to create a legend for himself" through the peace talks. Observers said the attack underscored reports of Thieu's concern over the terms of a possible peace agreement.

Mideast oil pact arranged

BEIRUT (UPI) — Kuwait oil authorities and foreign companies today reached agreement in principle under the new "participation" agreement, the Iraqi News Agency said.

The agreement was reached in talks between Kuwait Oil Minister Abdel Rahman Atiki and a delegate representing British Petroleum and Gulf Oil. No details were made public.

The two sides reached agreement — in principle, and final agreement is expected to be announced after another meeting to be held in Kuwait between the two sides later this week," the Agency said.

Four gulf oil producing countries — Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi and Qatar — last month endorsed a plan for participation in companies operating on their territory, and delegated Kuwait to start the new price negotiations.

The participation plan envisages an immediate 25 per cent share by the countries in company operations. This figure is expected to go up to 51 per cent by 1983.

US loses B52, 2 more planes

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command said two U.S. Air Force spotter planes crashed in South Vietnam today bringing to seven the number of American planes lost in combat in Indochina in the past four days. One of those downed was a giant B52 Stratofortress that "probably" was hit by a surface-to-air missile, the command said.

Fighting continued heavy throughout South Vietnam, as both sides tried to hold or take control of as much territory as possible before any cease-fire.

All told, according to the South Vietnamese command, 270 Communists were killed in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today at a cost of at least 13 South Vietnamese killed and 55 wounded.

The combat losses of the U.S. planes in the past four days resulted in the deaths of two Americans. Eleven crewmen were reported "rescued" and three are missing, the command said.

A C47 propeller-driven plane was reported downed in Thailand Wednesday but not because of hostile fire. Two crewmen were killed and eight injured.

The two spotter planes lost today were an O2 Skynaster shot down by an SA-7 Strella heat-seeking missile about 63 miles northwest of Saigon and an OV10 Bronco that crashed on takeoff near Da Nang, 370 miles north of Saigon because of apparent engine failure. Both pilots escaped unhurt.

The U.S. command in Saigon reported B52s flew 12 missions over North Vietnam during the 24 hour period, ending at noon today.

UPI reporter Edward Bassett in Da Nang said a CH47 Chinook helicopter which had been used to ferry orphans to an American-sponsored Thanksgiving dinner was hit by two rounds of Communist machinegunfire but no one was hurt.

In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. tactical fighter-bombers continued to pound targets below the 20th Parallel, flying 90 sorties in the 24-hour period ending at 5 p.m. Wednesday, the command said. It was the most strikes in a week by fighter planes but well below the 300 tactical jet raids flown Oct. 14.

In addition, the command said, U.S. Marine "Sea Cobra" helicopters from the amphibious transport dock USS Cleveland in the South China Sea flew strikes against floating supply targets about 70 miles north of the so-called Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

TF County aide dies

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Commissioner Heber Loughmiller died early today at the age of 52.

Loughmiller, who had served 8 years on the commission, had been stricken by two heart attacks earlier this year and had undergone open-heart surgery before his heart failed him at 1 a.m. today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Loughmiller today received praise for his service.

"Local government has really lost a strong supporter ... a strong advocate of local control at the local level," according to Commissioner Chairman William Chancey.

Loughmiller had been a farmer and rancher about four miles north of Hollister most of his adult life.

He was born in Mayetta, Kan., on Sept. 13, 1920, but moved to the Twin Falls area at the age of 15.

He attended schools in Kansas and Twin Falls. He married Inez Graff in Denver, Colo. She preceded him in death in March, 1966.

He married Virginia Shillingburg Velly in Twin Falls County in September, 1966. She survives him.

(See obituary, p. 2)

He had been appointed to the three-man county commission office in 1965 to fill the term of Warren Lowery who died in office at the end of 1964.

Loughmiller, a Republican, ran for election at the next general election winning a two-year term, followed by a four-year term in 1970.

He was known as a fiscal conservative on the commission, but according to

HEBER LOUGHMILLER ... attack fatal

Chancey, "never" was an obstructionist.

"He always tried to get the most for the dollar. But when the time came for expenditures he would support it," Chancey said.

"I lost a good friend ... he will surely be missed."

Commissioner Merl Leonard said today "I have a great respect and admiration for him, and have enjoyed working with him these past two years."

"He always had an open mind. He would look at a question from two sides and do what was most beneficial to the public. I think his philosophy was conservatism ... a middle of the road conservative."

"His loss will not only be felt by his family, but by the whole county," he said.

The vacant commission post will be filled by appointment by Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Security meet presses ahead

HELSINKI (UPI) — With East and West standing together, ambassadors from the United States, Canada and 32 European nations hammered out details today and plunged toward the differences blocking their way to a European Security Conference.

Diplomatic sources said private meetings between the United States and the Soviet Union already had begun, together with causes of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) nations. They said that the major progress toward a security conference, at this stage at least, would take place in these informal sessions — not around the formal conference table in Helsinki's Dipoli conference center, where preparatory talks toward a security conference are being held.

Romania, the maverick of the Soviet block, had objected to making Toettermann permanent chairman. They argued instead that the chairmanship should rotate.

Long distance toll boost OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has tentatively authorized American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to increase long distance phone rates by $15 million — about 2 per cent a customer.

FCC Commissioner Nicholas Johnson, who voted against the increase, said it would touch off a wave of local and intrastate phone rate increases across the nation. The majority opinion will be released later.

Johnson called Wednesday's 5-2 vote giving tentative approval of the ATT increase an "unsupportable outrage."

In applying for the increase, ATT said it did not know exactly how much rates would be increased but believed the hike would be "less than 2 per cent." ATT said some rates would go up as much as 8 per cent while others would rise by only 1 per cent.

The increase was the second for ATT in 22 months.

A rate hike of $250 million in January, 1971 was the first in 17 years.

"We are encouraged that the FCC has now recognized — after two years of consideration — that higher earnings are required to assure sound financing of the very construction programs — $8.5 billion this year alone — that we must undertake to meet the public's communications needs," ATT said in a statement.

An ATT spokesman said the company has gross operating revenues of $10.3 billion for the first nine months of 1972 and a net income of $2.25 billion. The rate of return on long distance investment was 7.7 per cent for the period, the spokesman said.

Voting for approval were FCC Chairman Dean Burch and Commissioners Richard Wiley, Robert E. Lee, Charlotte Reid and Benjamin Hooks. Dissenting with Johnson was H. Lee.

Johnson said the action was "merely helping a politically powerful corporation — perhaps the world's largest — to acquire a billion more from hard-pressed American consumers."

But Hooks said to deny the increase "is obviously a crowd pleaser ... but is irresponsible government in terms of sound utility regulation."

The commission gave ATT 30 days to present plans for implementing the higher rates. An ATT spokesman said they would probably not take effect until early 1973.

Both the $145 million increase granted Wednesday and the $250 million hike approved in 1971 are interim measures pending the outcome of a complex investigation into telephone rates.

The investigation began when the first increase was tentatively authorized.

Inmates 'freed'

CORRECTIONS officer Don Avila shows how 20 inmates broke glass on cell doors to open lock with key to free another 180 men in the east wing of the Concord Reformatory, Concord, Mass. The inmates took keys from guards to free other inmates but it was not disclosed how they obtained keys to free themselves. (UPI)

Prison unrest goes on

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — Corrections Commissioner John Boone, criticized by some legislators for his penal reforms, said Wednesday unrest probably would continue at Concord Reformatory for a while, "but we feel we will be the better for it."

His statement came a few hours after state police for the second time that day entered the prison to force inmates back to their cells. No violence was reported on either occasion.

During the first period of unrest, which began Monday night and ended Wednesday morning when police entered the E building, 14 prisoners escaped from the maximum security jail.

One has been recaptured. In the afternoon, state police armed with shotguns, clubs and tear gas again entered the jail when some prisoners broke out of their cells and released others.

Boone told a news conference in late afternoon that, "You will probably see us with some unrest for some time, but we feel we will be the better for it."

The commissioner, who has been called permissive by some legislators for reforms he has introduced, said he is investigating why two guard towers at the jail were reportedly unmanned when the escape occurred.

Pomerelle open, others wait snow

TWIN FALLS — Only one southern Idaho ski area will be operating for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Pomerelle will be operating on a seven day a week basis with lifts starting at 9:30 a.m. The area reports two feet of snow at the top of runs with 11 inches of packed base at the bottom and 10 inches of new snow since Monday.

The road is reported in good condition but snow tires or chains are required. Two snow plows and a five-man crew will be on duty on a 24-hour basis this winter to provide adequate road maintenance and assure continuous operation of the area.

Other resorts in the area are waiting for additional snow before opening. Soldier Mountain has a tentative opening date of Dec. 10 and Sun Valley will open Dec. 16.

Magic Mountain has two feet of snow with opening pending another good storm. Ski runs are being packed for good opening conditions as soon as weather permits.

Also open in Idaho this weekend is Grand Targhee at Driggs. The area reports three feet of snow at the top and a 24 inch packed base. The road there is listed as good but snow tires or chains are recommended.

Grand Targhee will also operate on a seven day week basis but only the intermediate chair lift is running at this time.

Finding 10 abandoned refrigerators her goal

MIAMI (UPI) — She has found two abandoned refrigerators. If she can find eight more authorities feel that maybe Mrs. Earline Clark can repay society by saving another youngster from suffocation.

Judge Jack Turner sentenced Mrs. Clark to two years probation Monday for contributing to the death of a child. She had left a discarded refrigerator in her back yard last July and 3-year-old Ulysses Simpson Davis crawled in. The door shut behind him and he suffocated.

Both the defense and prosecutor Terence McWilliams asked for leniency after Mrs. Clark pleaded guilty.

McWilliams said if Mrs. Clark could find 10 of the appliances which become deadly when abandoned, he would recommend that the probation be dropped.

"If she finds 10 old refrigerators, that might save one child's life and that's what the statute was intended for—to save children's lives," said McWilliams. Turner agreed.

So the 34-year-old Mrs. Clark started to prowling backyards and vacant lots. In the first few minutes of her search she hit it lucky—she found two old refrigerators and reported them to police.

Rezoning for tract approved

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County commissioners approved Tuesday the rezoning of land adjacent to the proposed K-Mart construction area in Twin Falls.

The land, on Eastland Avenue between Elizabeth Boulevard and Addison Avenue lies south of the land on which K-Mart will construct its new store.

Glenn and Alvin Jenkins asked the commissioners to rezone the area from residential agricultural to general commercial.

Bid taken for truck

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County commissioners Wednesday accepted Magic Valley International's sealed bid for a new county truck.

The bid was for the net price of $3,397, including allowances made for a trade-in.

The truck, a three quarter ton pickup, will be used by the county weed bureau.

Inmates' menu lists chicken

TWIN FALLS — Thanksgiving dinner for the county jail inmates today consisted of roast chicken, dressing and the usual trimmings.

Mrs. Deena Halmark, county jail cook, said there were chickens on hand and so prisoners were served chicken instead of turkey but all other holiday dinner items were featured.

There were 24 prisoners in the jail for the holiday, sheriff's officers said.

At the city jail, prisoners, if they were still in custody at the city quarters at dinner time, were scheduled to have a turkey dinner catered from a downtown cafe.

Bolivian 'siege' declared

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — President Hugo Banzer declared a state of siege in Bolivia early today and announced the arrest of some extremist leaders believed to be at the "center of conspiracy."

Troops were stationed in the industrial area of northern La Paz and at key points elsewhere in the city.

Banzer, a right-wing army colonel, declared the state of siege after a meeting at his home with his cabinet and the head of the armed forces.

The decree said, "The government, protecting the security of the nation and social peace, is required to establish the exceptional measures contained in our legal system."

JAMES LOVELL, Jr. quits space

Astronaut planning to retire

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — James A. Lovell, who spent more time in space than any other American astronaut, said Wednesday night he is preparing to leave the space program.

"I am looking at several possibilities, but nothing before the end of Apollo 17," said Lovell, who is now deputy director of the Science and Applications Directorate at the Manned Spacecraft Center (MSC).

Apollo 17 is scheduled next month.

Freedom decline charged

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pater Bridges, the Newark, N.J., newspaper reporter who spent 21 days in jail for refusing to answer questions of a grand jury, told newsmen Wednesday they should arouse the public against the decline of freedom of the press.

Bridges, the first newsmen jailed after the Supreme Court ruled representatives of the press do not have the constitutional right to refuse to answer grand jury questions, addressed the Chicago chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalistic society.

His topic was the problem of protecting newsmen who decline to reveal their sources of information.

"I newsmen do not have a right to protect their sources," Bridges said, a threat exists "not only to the free press but to every citizen of the United States."

Bridges called a statement made last week by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut, who referred to Bridges as a self-appointed martyr of an unworthy cause, "inaccurate" and "unfortunate."

Teton impact said positive

MOOSE, Wyo. (UPI) — The draft environmental impact statement of the Interior Department on the proposed wilderness area in Grand Teton National Park says any impact "would be primarily positive."

The National Park Service has proposed that 115,807 acres of the park be designated as wilderness under the Wilderness Act. An additional 20,850 acres is proposed as a potential wilderness.

The statement says, "Environmental impact resulting from the proposed Teton Wilderness will primarily be positive in that accrued benefits are cultural, social and scientific."

The Teton Range would be preserved in an undeveloped natural state, the department said.

"Adverse effects include increased management costs, curtailment of research projects involving permanent installations, and possible rationing of use," it said.

The department said a conflict may result between the proposed wilderness area and the proposed expansion of the Jackson Hole Airport, "which would have both beneficial and adverse effects."

Hearings were held March 10 of this year on the proposal which would place new restrictions on human use in the proposed wilderness area which encompasses about 37 per cent of the total 310,350 acres in the park. The proposed area includes the famed Teton Range and much of the lower slopes along several lakes that front the range.

In The Cards

When it comes to the burning issue of taxes, it happens you can lead the public to reform but you can't make them vote for it.

Among the more interesting results of Nov. 7 were the defeats dealt out by voters in four states — California, Colorado, Oregon and Michigan — to proposed constitutional amendments that would have curtailed property taxes.

The across-the-board rejection is a surprise in that if there is one tax which both payers and leviers have found increasingly unsatisfactory in recent years, it is this one.

Since the founding of the republic, the property tax has been the mainstay of local government, particularly education. Nationally, the public schools receive 52 per cent of their revenue from this single source.

Which explains the major problem. As costs of local government and particularly of schools, have skyrocketed, so have property tax rates.

As times and the economy have changed, the property tax has taken on regressive characteristics. Its original basis was ability to pay, since in earlier eras real wealth was largely in the form of tangible property. Today only about a third of the citizenry's holdings is in this form. The result is that the tax now falls more heavily on the moderate to low-income citizen, particularly the elderly, whose homes represent their major or total worth, than it does on the more affluent with fluid assets.

Additionally, in far too many communities the assessments on which the tax is based are unequal, frequently amateurishly determined in the first place and long overdue for updating. But a comprehensive reassessment is a tedious, expensive and controversial chore which few communities are eager to undertake.

Against all arguments against the property tax, however, one massive fact stands out: It is highly productive, even in its present strained state. In 1970, it raised something like $35 billion. In rejecting changes in this situation, voters may have been saying they preferred to live with the devil they know rather than take on a new one. Other taxes would have to be introduced or increased to compensate, the prime candidate being the income tax. And voters understandably may feel they are already familiar enough with that one, thanks to Washington.

An increase in state income tax was, in fact, tied to the Michigan proposal. Yet Ohio, which introduced an income tax last January, noticeably easing the school and municipal financial bind, voted two-to-one against a repeal referendum. Which may only show that you can't look at Michigan and tell how Ohio will vote, or that it doesn't take long at all to get used to new devils.

Particularly interesting, and perhaps significant, is that the votes in the four states run counter to the trend of recent court decisions. Starting with the California state supreme court action a year ago, more than a score of state and lower federal courts have questioned the constitutionality of the property tax as the source of school financing. The argument is that the quality of education should not depend upon the widely varying wealth of individual school districts.

One case, from Texas, has reached the U. S. Supreme Court and is awaiting spring decision.

Thus it may well be that the issue is already out of the hands of the voters. They may not yet think that thorough reform of the property tax is an idea whose time has come, but one does not have to look far down the road to see something coming.

Thanksgiving

Is Thanksgiving just for giving thanks for the things that come thru God? But also to the friends and loved ones who sleep beneath our loved home sod.

Health and happiness and food, All the things that God hath wrought and, thanks to departed heroes, For the freedom that they bought

"SLEEP YE WELL," Sleep ye well, oh men and women, Folk of every race and creed, All who heard their country calling, and have answered to its need. "Sleep ye well"

Sleep ye well, in strange lands lying, Or beneath thy loved home sod, Let us pause on this Thanksgiving, thinking you, and thinking God. "Sleep ye well"

Now in these evil seas around us, Fear and hate stalk hand in hand, But the legacies you've left us, Truth and Freedom, these must stand. "Sleep ye well"

In the struggle past and present, Did we lose — and will we gain? But if we hold the things they died for, then they have not died in vain. "Sleep ye well"

Bombs of hydrogen and atom,

Energies released from hell, Power to aid man or destroy him, How we use them — time will tell. "Sleep ye well"

Thru the grade school, and in college, Men are taught the Golden Rule, But, while taught, tis seldom practiced, Man will always act the fool.

But should we only thank the warrior, Who on battlefields did die? Or thank all who fought for freedom, and, like warriors silent lie? — Fathers, mothers, sweethearts, brothers, and brave women dressed in white. Men of science, news reporters, All who died for human right. "Sleep ye well"

So, on this day of great Thanksgiving, Let us to them homage pay, And oft recall the things they died for, Thru all time, not just today. "Sleep ye well"

Sleep ye well, oh men and women, Judge not harshly our mistakes, We will try — continue trying, 'Til the tombs their silence break. "Sleep ye well"

Purge: The Conservative Oligarchy

WASHINGTON — The extent of irreparable losses in the successful beginning of a long-range campaign to purge the bipartisan conservative oligarchy that has controlled the House for more than a generation.

The campaign was covertly planned and conducted by the National Committee for an Effective Congress (NCEC), long-active supporting liberal candidates in general elections but now deeply involved in primary elections for the first time. Of 21 senior and powerful House conservatives of both parties put on NCEC's "cowpasture list," 14 will not be back.

Not all those scalps can properly be claimed by NCEC. Nevertheless, their two-year drive to send the Congressional barons back to the cowpasture has deep short-range and long-range implications.

For the next Congress, the absence of 14 senior conservatives easily neutralized the 13 House seats gained by the Republicans. Indeed, the White House privately believes the new House will be less receptive to President Nixon's desires. For the years ahead, Operation Cowpasture's impact is even more ominous to conservatives. Encouraged by the success of 1972, NCEC plans to keep pressuring this year's survivors as well as other Congressional oligarchs. In short, the day is over when a right-wing committee chairman could exercise power on Capitol Hill while guaranteed a safe one-party district at home.

This was precisely the intention of Russell Homeny, NCEC's national director and a blooded veteran of New York's Democratic reform wars, in secretly drawing up the cowpasture list two years ago. Convinced that Congressional barons are invulnerable in general elections, Homeny concluded they must be assaulted in their own primaries.

Homeny's operation was at its best in purging right-wing Rep. John McMillan of South Carolina, impregnable barrier to home rule for the predominantly black District of Columbia. NCEC helped recruit, advise and finance the Democratic primary campaign against him by state Rep. John Jenrette — all covertly.

Had Jenrette's alliance with a New York-based liberal action group been disclosed, he would have been doomed in his rural tobacco-growing district.

After a stunning primary upset over McMillan, Jenrette was defeated by a conservative Republican Nov. 7. That same fate awaited NCEC-subsidized primary victors over two Western conservative Democrats, Reps. Wayne Aspinall of Colorado and Walter Baring of Nevada. But that does not disturb Homeny who feels the liberal cause has considerably less to fear from three powerless freshman Republicans than the entrenched trio of McMillan, Aspinall and Baring.

Diabetic Dog

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a dog seven years old and she has diabetes. I give her insulin shots every day.

She also gets sores on her skin and I took her to a clinic. Can a human catch any diseases from dogs? I apply medication daily to her sores but they come up some other place. Could I catch anything from applying medicine on the sores? — L. H.

Yes, there are diseases people can acquire from animals. This kind of disease is called a zoonosis. (And of course, there are diseases which are not transmitted from one species to another.)

Among the "catching" diseases are ringworm, and other fungus infections, the common bacterial infections such as strep and staph, some kinds of worms, salmonella, certain viruses (including rabies) and parasites (including trichinosis).

Diabetes, of course, is not a disease that passes from one person to another, or one animal to another, so you need have no fear about that. However, humans with diabetes are subject to various skin problems, including boils, and although I am not a veterinarian, it seems reasonable to suppose that diabetes may be part of your poor dog's problem.

The recurrence of the sores would suggest that the exact germ or organism causing the sores has not been identified, and it might be wise to have some cultures or smears studied in hopes that a medication can be applied that will do more than just make the sores move from one place to another.

But as to you, there's no danger of catching diabetes, of course, but some precautions would be in order to protect you from catching whatever organism is causing the skin sores — which may or may not be risky for you.

Avoid petting the dog too much. Apply the medication with a pledge of cotton, and wash your hands frequently and thoroughly after either petting or medicating her.

I can't, without knowing more than I do, say positively that the sores she has could be transmitted to you, but it is within the realm of possibility — so be careful. Meantime, I would welcome any counsel from veterinarians who may have an idea for us.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Someone told me that celery could cause brain deficiency when eaten by females. Do you think this is true? — S. S.

That's utter nonsense, of course. I might have some question, though as to the brain power of anyone peddling any such story.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am curious what might happen. Black people have a disease, sickle cell anemia. Now when there is a biracial child, what could come of this? — E.J.B.

Well, sickle cell anemia is by far more prevalent in black people, but it is not confined just to them. Further, it is not all blacks carry the sickle cell trait.

Keep in mind that carrying the trait is not the same thing as having the disease; the trait can (but not always will) be passed on if one parent carries the trait. When BOTH parents carry the trait, then children carry it, (but not always will) have the disease.

To answer your question as best I can: there would be one chance in four of a child inheriting the trait if one parent carried it.

If eventually the child with the trait married another person with the trait, there would be a possibility of offspring with the disease. Sickle cell anemia is not totally dependent on color, you see, even though, for whatever historical reasons, it is primarily a disease of blacks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My eyes water all the time and at times swell up, get itchy and crust.

I went to an eye specialist once and he told me it was the weather, but this occurs all year around. Hot towels three times a day ease it but, don't cure it.

It used to start up when I drank orange juice or used yam for knitting. Now it's all the time. I can't put on make-up because that seems to irritate eyes.

What do you think it could be and how can I cure it.

— D. McA. Orange juice? Wool yarn? Cosmetics? It has all the earmarks of it ("eyemarks") of allergy — probably allergy to several different things, which is quite usual among people with hypersensitivities. It may even be nail polish.

If they were my itchy eyes, I'd go to an allergist for tests.

BRUCE BISSAT

It's Still Dark

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Nothing Sen. George McGovern said in the aftermath of his defeat suggests he learned very much from it, or indeed that he understands very much at all about the real nature of politics in the large.

Evidently he still sees the 1972 campaign as a great morality play in which Good (McGovern) surely would have triumphed over Evil (President Nixon), had not the drama been upset by distracting offstage noises, principally the May 15 shooting of Alabama's Gov. George Wallace.

Purely as an aside here, it does not seem to have struck McGovern what sad commentary it is upon the Democrats as the nation's majority party to argue that they can win the presidency only when there is a third party effort, such as Wallace might have mounted to assist them in hooding down the opposition. But the apparently ineradicable flaw in McGovern's political understanding is his persistence in viewing politics fundamentally as a test of moral principles.

Politics in reality is the arena in which men confront each other in the inevitable human conflict over what to do, how to get it done, and who to entrust with the great tasks of making society function and, hopefully, advance.

The political arena is not a church where immutable truth is heard and accepted. It is a low-meeting hall where, differences are voiced, at least some of the conflicts resolved, and leaders chosen to take the participants from discordant conflict to some kind of effective action.

Most often, conflicts are resolved by mutual accommodation made by the spokesmen for conflicting interests. The word for this, of course, is compromise.

But moral principle, by definition, is pure. To compromise, to be in fact political, is thus automatically to be immoral.

This is not a cynical view. It does not commit politics to immorality. It does not bar politicians from giving voice to their own, their party's, or their country's moral ideals.

What is being argued here is that politics is man's natural battleground for resolving his inescapable differences, and

ROBERT ALLEN

"Fonda" Law

WASHINGTON — It isn't being called the "Jane Fonda bill," but it is aimed squarely at the ultra-militant actress and other leftists who have junketed to North Vietnam to propagandize it scound.

Declares Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the Internal Security Committee and author of the crackdown legislation:

"This measure came within a hair of being passed by the House in October shortly before adjournment. It actually got a decisive majority, but failed approval because it was considered under suspension of the rules which requires a two-thirds vote. I will reintroduce this bill on the first day the new Congress convenes (Jan. 3), in complete confidence that this time it will be enacted.

"This is a problem that calls for urgent action. It is essential that the government have the power to deny passports where their possession would seriously impair the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States, or be inimical to the security of the United States. Every week that passes without such authority exposes the country to dire danger."

Chairman Ichord's measure is designed to plug a gaping hole in the Internal Security Act of 1950 which enabled actress Fonda and other Vietnam sympathizers to thumb their nose at the U. S. government and make propaganda junkets to Hanoi.

The bill adds a new section to the Act authorizing the "President to restrict travel by citizens and nationals of the United States to, in, or through any country whose military forces are engaged in armed conflict with the military forces of the United States." Violation would be punishable "by a maximum fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for 10 years; or both," and loss of eligibility to hold public office.

Because of lack of such specific authority and penalties, the Supreme Court, Ichord points out, "limited the government's power to deny passports under existing law."

Purpose of Ichord's measure is to plug this legal loophole. He and a bipartisan majority of the Internal Security Committee, most of them lawyers, are confident it will do that and be upheld by the Supreme Court. The "Nine Old Men" rendered the limiting edict before their make-up was significantly changed by the appointment of Justices Harry Blackmun and William Rehnquist.

Peron to tour cities by train

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Alejandro Lanusse reacted coolly Wednesday to moves by followers of onetime strongman Juan D. Peron to place his name on the ballot in next year's presidential election.

Peron went ahead anyway with plans which make him look like a candidate.

Asked what he thought of efforts to make a candidate of the 77-year-old Peron, who returned from 17 years in exile last week, Lanusse replied: "Even if there is a unanimous stand by all political factions—and I do not consider that a possible hypothesis—the armed forces also must give their opinion."

Lanusse told a news conference he considered Peron's return a "positive" factor in the country's political life but did not elaborate.

Under a regulation drawn up by the military government, Peron is barred from running for president because he was not a resident of Argentina on the Aug. 25 deadline.

But Peron already has pieced together 20 political groups into an "Executive Commission for National Unity" to press for relaxation of some election rules, including the one on residence.

Peron sources said he was not likely to seek the office himself, but would instead nominate a candidate for his Justicialista party.

Nevertheless, officials and

Georgia boiler blows, 2 dead

CLAXTON, Ga. (UPI)—A boiler explosion shattered the huge Claxton Poultry Co. early today while a cleanup and maintenance crew of from 15 to 20 men was working inside.

Police said two bodies were removed from the rubble and five other workers were injured. Rescuers worked by searchlight in a search for other possible victims.

Authorities said they had not been able to determine exactly how many men were working in the plant at the time of the explosion. The estimates varied from 15 to 20.

The blast occurred at 12:40 a.m. in one of the gas boilers at the plant, which employs several hundred persons in the daytime but keeps only a maintenance and cleanup crew on duty at night.

Dick Doak, one of the night crew, had detected trouble in one of the boilers and "smelled gas." He was on the telephone to his supervisor when the boiler exploded.

"Before I could hang up the phone, the entire city of Claxton shook," Doak said. He was hospitalized with severe head injuries.

Four other workers, Nathaniel Mayner, Leroy Hagan, Robert Gillis and William T. Dekle, were hurt.

Police dispatcher W. W. Strickland said the boilers were run by natural gas, but somebody thought they smelled chlorine gas out there.

USS Kitty Hawk rocked by riot

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI)—Crewmen aboard the USS Kitty Hawk, which docked here Wednesday from Vietnam, said it took club-swinging Marines to control a bloody, 15-hour race riot occurred aboard the carrier last month.

Newsman were barred from boarding the huge ship and the crew was instructed not to discuss the disturbance in which 46 persons were injured, according to the Navy.

However, sailors on shore liberty gave anonymous accounts of a series of all-night brawls during which about 100 black and white sailors "used knives, forks and chains and anything else they could get their hands on" as weapons.

The Navy's terse account of the incident said that 40 whites and six blacks were injured. Four persons had to be flown to shore for medical treatment.

"It was getting too hot to handle," said one sailor. "I heard that the captain ordered that guns be brought out, and to shoot if necessary. I heard shouts, screams, swearing and chairs being broken."

The carrier sails today for its home port of San Diego, where it is scheduled to arrive Nov. 28.

Sailors interviewed said a nightclub fight in the Philippines started the trouble when the ship was returning from war zone duty and increased when orders came to turn around and return to Vietnam to help fight the North Vietnamese offensive.

Several crewmen said discontent ran high, helping to trigger a series of events which escalated into a full-scale riot that started in the mess hall and lasted all night and into the following day.

Negroes probe student deaths

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Fourteen prominent Negroes, saying they have no confidence in a state investigation into the killings of two black Southern University students, announced a probe of their own Wednesday.

The group, calling itself the "Black People's Committee of Inquiry," included State Rep. Julian Bond of Atlanta, City Councilman D'Army Bailey of Berkeley, Calif., and Owusu Sadauki, president of Malcolm X University of Greerboro, N.C.

School officials announced earlier Wednesday Southern would stay closed for the rest of the year because of the violence a week ago.

The school was to have reopened after the Thanksgiving holidays but Dr. J. Leon Nettterville asked that it be closed until Jan. 3 because of needed repairs to the campus.

Tension in the Louisiana capital, class time already lost and other reasons.

Gov. Edwin Edwards complied with Nettterville's request, but lifted a state of emergency put into effect last Thursday during the confrontation between police and students in which the two youths were killed.

They died of buckshot wounds to the head, but sheriff's deputies and state police who were trying to get protesting students out of the administration building when the deaths occurred, said they fired only tear gas.

Edwards appointed a 12-man state commission, including six Negroes and two college students, to find out what killed the students, but the Black People's Committee of Inquiry said the state commission is not the group that should do the investigation.

"The governor and the local officials—they are the ones I think should in fact be investigated themselves," said committee members Alex Williamson, a political science professor for the Atlanta University system.

Hijacker arrested

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—A bachelor, who said he wanted to hijack a plane to Portland, Ore., to see his real father for the first time, was disarmed and arrested Wednesday with the help of a jetport porter.

and when porter Harold Hardeman clamped the weapon to the floor with his foot, the potential hijacker was subdued.

Police gave Hardeman the credit for reporting Patokar while the suspect was standing in the main terminal building.

Hardeman rushed up to an Orlando patrolman on duty at the McCoy Air Force Base airport and told him he and Mrs. Nancy Barry had seen the man retrieve a pistol that had dropped to the floor.

Sgt. Charles Gibson said Ronald George Patokar, 28, of Orlando drew his gun when three officers approached him at a National Airlines gate.

Gibson said he knocked Patokar's pistol to the ground

Americans celebrate today

By United Press International

Americans celebrated in a variety of ways today's 351st anniversary of the first Thanksgiving.

Many participated in public festivities; others involved themselves in providing for the needy. Almost everybody sat down to the traditional holiday dinner.

President Nixon led the nation in expressing the mood of America.

His Thanksgiving proclamation said "...in an age of too much fashionable despair, the world more than ever needs to hear America's perennial harvest message: 'Take heart! Give thanks! To see clearly about us is to rejoice; and to rejoice is to worship the Father; and to worship Him is to receive more blessings still.'"

Nixon and his family were spending the day at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md.

Their dinner menu called for roast turkey with dressing and giblet gravy, with sweet potatoes, green peas and onions, hot dinner rolls, a salad of fresh cranberries and minted pears topped off with pumpkin pie with whipped cream for dessert.

The meal and that which most Americans will enjoy is a modern version of the first Thanksgiving dinner in 1621 attended by the Pilgrims and their guests, the friendly Indian clan of Chief Massasoit.

But at the site of that gathering in Plymouth, Mass., representatives of 12 New England Indian tribes plan a "day of mourning." They said they would protest "the horrors inflicted on the native American" and "mourn the loss of Indian life, land and culture."

Elsewhere people opened their hearts and hearths to the less fortunate.

Families in Colorado Springs, Colo., offered their hospitality to stockade prisoners from Ft. Carson who will be given eight hours freedom for the holiday. Guards will accompany those charged with serious crimes.

Iowa Gov. Robert Ray and his family will host 13 elderly persons with college and high school girls helping out.

The faithful in Chicago may attend any of several ecumenical services before returning to Midtown churches will distribute food baskets to the needy.

Stained glass window art revived by Mexican

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — A young Mexican muralist has thrown a new light on the ancient and hitherto obscure art of the vitreux (vitrail).

Between the 10th and the 16th centuries when the art of the vitreux, or stained glass window, hit its peak, lead joints and supports crisscrossing the glass canvas interrupted continuity.

Since the artisans, who copied works of artists according to strict church regulations, painted upon the surface of the glass, little light from outside filtered through to the interior. This is the reason why medieval cathedrals were such dark places.

Jose Antonio Ferrara Haney, 33, of Monterrey, Mexico, whose 15-square-meter "vitreux-mural", "The Discovery of the South Sea", recently went on exhibit here, has invented a technique that could revive the vitreux as an art form.

Essentially, Ferrara's technique is to glue thousands of pieces of colored glass to a transparent glass "canvas" or pane. The artist cuts the colored glass into the sizes and shapes he wants. The pieces then are inlaid on the pane with acrylic resin-based glue that refracts and increases the natural light.

"With the materials we are now using," said Ferrara, "the vitreux can be integrated into modern architecture. No longer is this form of artistic expression limited to churches."

The discovery of the South Sea, depicting the Indians' conception of Vasco Nunez de Balboa's deed in 1513, will decorate the lobby of a round-shaped, 20-story apartment building on a rocky promontory in the Bay of Panama.

Ferrara, who never attended art school, left Monterrey at the age of 18 for Mexico City where he opened a small shop, specializing in glass fixtures for lamps in the fashionable "Zona Rosa." He made his own glass at a workshop-kiln a few doors away.

In 1968 he began experimenting with acrylic resins. Other artists had used cement to stick the pieces of colored glass to a variety of backings. But cement eliminates the translucent quality of glass.

The Ferrara technique provides the artist with a canvas—can project his ideas with absolute freedom. The only limiting factor with the vitre-mural is the brittle quality of the colored glass the artist cuts to achieve his forms.

The artist-artisan, who says he plans to move on to glass-metal combinations in structural art, explained his preference for glass.

Salmon Slim lives again

BOISE (UPI) — It took more than a decade but Salmon River Slim lives again.

The cause of the resurrection is a Texas Gambler named Amarillo Slim who is making a trip down the Salmon River to collect on a $31,000 bet made over a poker table.

His trip has brought back to life a Lanky, Western character named "Salmon River Slim."

A.B. "Bill" Jonasson of Boise, a former state commerce secretary, recalled with a chuckle Tuesday all the editorial fire aimed at him by Idaho's weekly newspapers when he created the character.

He did it to promote tourism in Idaho and the state's country editors took a dim view of it. Slim lasted less than a year. That was in the 1950s.

"They thought we ought to put a Tuxedo on him," Jonasson said. "They said if we have a western character to promote Idaho why not use Sacajawea."

"And now, this guy 'Amarillo Slim' is going down the Salmon River, Slim's river," he said, in the happy tone of a man vindicated after a decade and a half of criticism.

"I thought Salmon River Slim would create attention," he said, adding, "Really the guy who gave us the most trouble on it was the guy we used as a model, Perry Swisher."

"No, I'm not sure we want this much attention," he said of the new headlines created by the modern-day Slim.

While it is "good publicity" for Idaho, Jonasson said, he wonders if it is necessary at a time when the U.S. Forest Service has found traffic on the Middle Fork so heavy it must regulate it.

"As long as we have these untapped natural resources the people are going to come here whether we want them or not," he said. "I believe in multiple use but too many people can ruin anything."

He said he admires the new Slim's headline — attracting ability.

"I think this is quite a publicity stunt that is going on," Jonasson said.

Avoid yule pain in wallet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Avoid yule pain in the purse or wallet. Right now the stores are filled with inviting Christmas merchandise. And so are some sidewalks. Most merchants are honest but there is a small percentage who practice deceptive selling methods.

In the wary shopping days for this Christmas season, here are some hints for shopping from the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York.

—Be a sophisticated shopper. If a bargain looks too good to be true, check it out carefully for quality and workmanship.

—When buying toys don't forget that some require batteries to operate and the batteries may not be included in the package.

Avoid disappointment Christmas morning. Check for batteries.

—Never let yourself be rushed into buying anything by high-pressure salesmen. Take your time and make up your mind carefully.

Jet designers search for smokeless engine

NEW YORK (UPI) — Someone up there—about 35,000 feet up—is trying to make the atmosphere about as clean as a smokeless jet engine will allow. In the air, and on ground-level at airports, it should be a lot quieter, too.

The "someone" constitutes the major U.S. scheduled airlines, grouped in the Air Transport Association, which has just issued a progress report. Although commercial aircraft contribute a scant 1 per cent to total air pollution, ATA and jet designers have been conducting a joint smoke-noise research program for 15 years.

ATA president Stuart Tipton said that by the end of 1973, 64 per cent of the combined U.S. airlines fleet will be flying with engines originally designed or modified to produce minimal smoke, compared with less than one per cent only three years ago.

Haitian minister seeking asylum

SANTO DOMINGO, D.R. (UPI) — Luckner Cambronne, former Haitian minister of defense and interior and organizer of the infamous Ton Ton Macoutes, has sought asylum in the Colombian embassy in Port-au-Prince, the Haitian ambassador to the Dominican Republic said Wednesday.

Cambronne, at one time thought to be the strong man in the government of Haitian President-for-Life Jean Claude Duvalier, was dismissed without explanation from his two cabinet positions Nov. 15.

The Haitian ambassador to this neighboring nation, Clement Vincent, confirmed with his statement Wednesday the reports of Cambronne seeking asylum that began circulating here several days ago.

Cambronne, 39, was the organizer of Haiti's infamous semi-military force, the Ton Ton Macoutes, during the 17-year regime of the late President Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier.

When the elder Duvalier died in April 1971 and his 20-year-old son succeeded him, Cambronne was given the two cabinet positions that gave him control of both the army and the police. He also had almost dictatorial powers in the Haitian border region with the Dominican Republic.

Brandt wants talk

BOON (UPI)—West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called Wednesday for "a comprehensive Atlantic dialogue" among the United States, Canada and their European allies.

He said this would help solve the problems of sharing defense costs in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) as well as the United States' own monetary problems.

Addressing the opening plenary session of the Atlantic Assembly, made up of about 200 legislators from 14 NATO member countries, Brandt said:

"I look forward not to a weakening but to a constructive further development of relations with our American partners. And I think we shall be dealing with an America which in the future will pay more rather than less attention to European matters."

Brandt said new prospects now being opened up by talks on European security and East-West troop and arms cuts in Europe also can point the way to "long term" solutions of economic questions and intensification of the dialogue across the Atlantic.

TF men to attend pageant

TWIN FALLS — Tom Shouse, Filler, and Gene Hull, Twin Falls, will attend the Miss Rodeo America pageant at the Frontier Hotel, Las Vegas, Nov. 26-30.

Hull, who is a political science instructor and debate coach at the College of Southern Idaho, will serve as one of the judges to select contestants on personality.

He is in charge of the Miss Rodeo Idaho competition at the Twin Falls County Fair each year, and this is the second year he has been invited to serve as a judge at the Miss Rodeo America pageant.

Shouse, the secretary-manager of the Twin Falls County Fair, is on the board of directors of International Rodeo Management.

Critics charge influence peddled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The head of the President's re-election campaign, Clark MacGregor, takes a job with an aircraft engine firm fighting an antitrust suit.

The general counsel of the Food and Drug Administration, William Goodrich, leaves to join a food industry firm and is replaced by Deter Hutt, a personal friend who has been representing industry clients before the FDA and now must regulate them.

Clarence Palmby, an assistant Agriculture Secretary, discusses a big wheat deal with Russia only a few days after using as credit references officials of a firm which he eventually joins, and which benefits from the wheat deal.

Every year about 200,000 persons connected with the government quit to go back into private business. Most of the switches occur with little or no notice. But critics charge that what sometimes happens is that an industrial concern simply buys a former government official's influence.

Anyone who has a pipeline to the White House or a key government agency by virtue of his government job can be a valuable asset for a corporation doing business with the government.

Ralph Nader says bluntly that when a former government official takes a job, for example, as a Washington representative for a corporation he simply is accepting a bribe.

As Nader sees it, government officials eyeing lucrative private jobs can increase their worth to a corporation by the way they influence the policy of an agency, through special treatment they give to some problem involving the corporation.

In some cases, he says, government employees maneuver themselves into certain jobs for the sole purpose of increasing their contacts within the bureaucracy, for use when they return to private industry. Those who see nothing wrong with the government-industry job switching argue that it is indefensible to assume wrongdoing simply because an influential government official takes a job with an industry which was involved with the government.

According to this argument, the government profits much more than industry might by tapping industry's talent pool to help run the government—that means officials serve for years in government posts at salaries far below what they could command in private industry.

The Justice Department has prosecuted less than a dozen conflict of interest cases in the past five years. But the criminal code is specific about former government employees using their influence.

Former members of the executive branch, for example, cannot appear on behalf of their new boss in any governmental hearing on an issue in which they personally were involved while they were working for the government.

Grandpa saved boys, drowned with boots on

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI)—Motorcyclist Evol Knievel said Tuesday that he hoped the drowning of his father-in-law would emphasize to duck hunters the dangers of wearing boots while in their boats.

"If this tragic event makes one father say he won't get into a boat with his boots on or let his son in with his boots on, it'll have been worth it," the daredevil driver said in an interview with UPI.

Knievel, his two sons and John C. Bork, 63, Butte, Mont., went duck hunting Sunday on the frigid and turbulent Madison River in a 13-foot rubber raft.

The raft capsized after Bork noticed it was heading toward a log. Bork drowned after showing Robbie Knievel, 10, toward a log. The motorcyclist saved his son, Kelly, 12.

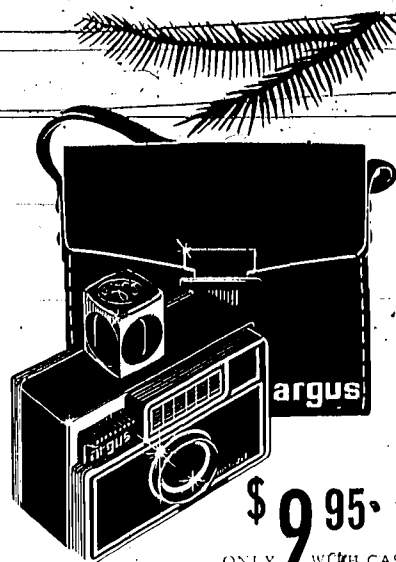

"It was an unfortunate thing," Knievel said. "Both John and I knew that we shouldn't have gone out on the river wearing boots. He came along to make sure the kids would be okay."

"He knew I didn't know how to handle a boat," Knievel said neither he nor his father-in-law was wearing his life jacket because "it's impossible to shoot a rifle or a shotgun with one of those things on."

Praising his father-in-law's knowledge of the outdoors, Knievel said, "John knew the current was taking us to that log, and we would overturn so he headed for shore. If we hadn't, neither of the boys would have made it out alive." He said Bork had his lifejacket with him when the boat rolled over "but he couldn't hang onto it when he got trapped in branches."

Comment on road asked

TWIN FALLS — Public comment is being invited concerning environmental impact on the proposed reconstruction of four miles of FAS Route 2739 in lower Rock Creek Canyon, south of Hansen. The Twin Falls County Highway District proposed the reconstruction under a federal secondary highway program, scheduled to begin in 1974.

It involves four miles of existing paved but narrow and winding roadway from a point 7.5 miles south of Hansen, south to the existing high standard paved roadway.

Keith Andersen, engineer, Twin Falls Highway District, said this is the early preparation for the improvement. The work involves the old roadway, the first to be paved which is now below the standards of later projects in the upper canyon area.

When completed it would give the area a good paved roadway from the Third Fork of Rock Creek to Addison Avenue.

The road, Ralph Olmstead, president of the highway district, said, serves a number of ranches and farms in the area. It also serves an important year-around recreation area of Rock Creek Canyon.

The design and construction details, he said, provide a maximum protection from soil erosion, stream pollution and other environmental disturbances.

Persons wishing to comment on the project's environmental aspects should contact the Twin Falls Highway District, P. O. Box 605, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301.

Andersen said the highway district hopes to coordinate paving of the upper five miles of the canyon road with the contract for reconstruction of the lower area.

The U. S. Forest Service is scheduled for a 100 per cent construction and placing of 60 per cent of the gravel base for the upper five miles from the end of the present oil to the Magic Mountain Ski area next summer.

Andersen said the highway district will work with them on the project and will apply the paving after the forest service has completed its project.

Andersen said on the lower project, funding will be from the federal and county levels, but work will be supervised by the Idaho Department of Highways.

When completed the entire 28 miles from Hansen to the recreation areas will be paved for year-around use. Heavy summer and winter travel on the road and continuous winter snow removal will be aided by the improvement, he said.

Pageant aides set

RUPERT — Judges for the Nov. 25 Minidoka County Junior Miss Pageant have been selected, according to pageant co-chairman W. F. (Bill) Whitton.

The judges include 1971 Miss Idaho and first runner-up Miss America Karen Herd, Mrs. Joe Hackney, Twin Falls dance instructor; Mrs. Pat Holman, physical education instructor at Boise State College; Mrs. Ray Howsden, Jerome High School home economics teacher, and Mrs. Karen Kreps, a member of the Emmett Jay-C-ette Club.

Whitton said all the judges are from outside the county to insure impartiality and fairness.

Over $500 has been collected from local merchants and individuals in providing a scholarship fund for the Junior Miss winners, he added.

Whitton said he hopes to maintain a Junior Miss program with the quality of the 1971 pageant, which earned the district a trophy for excellence.

Fourteen contestants will participate in the pageant beginning at 7:30 p.m. It will be held in Minico High School and is open to the public.

Countdown slated

APOLLO 17 commander Eugene Cernan checks his spacesuit in preparation for the final countdown rehearsal Tuesday night. Cernan, Ronald Evans and Harrison Schmitt are scheduled for launch Dec. 6 on the final moon flight planned by the U. S. (UPI)

Astronauts interrupt plans to celebrate days

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 17's astronauts will interrupt preparations for launch to the moon Dec. 6 and celebrate Thanksgiving in their spaceport quarters with a traditional turkey and baked ham dinner.

The pilots' families will not be here for Thanksgiving but Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt will be joined for the evening meal by their backup astronauts and training personnel.

The three moon pilots Wednesday worked out in spacecraft trainers while the mission control center in Houston monitored the drill. Cernan and Schmitt practiced moon takeoffs and Evans rehearsed lunar orbital rendezvous operations.

Thursday will be a day off for the crewmen and they plan to watch television football games before eating the Thanksgiving dinner.

Besides turkey and ham, the menu includes dressing and cranberry sauce, candied sweet potatoes, asparagus, a relish tray and assorted fruits and nuts. The meal will be prepared by chef Robert Laird, chef steward Lewis Hartzell and steward David Wilbon.

At the launch pad, technicians removed test equipment from the Saturn 5 rocket Wednesday. Most ground crewmen were scheduled to take Thursday off.

Little work is planned for Friday, Saturday or Sunday and on Monday, technicians will prepare to start the countdown Dec. 1.

The Apollo 17 expedition is the nation's sixth and last scheduled moon-landing mission. Cernan and Schmitt will explore the Taurus-Littrow region of the moon for 75 hours while Evans orbits the moon.

Lincoln ASC ballots due back Dec. 1

SHOSHONE — It's time for Lincoln County farmers to vote for ASC community committeemen.

Eugene Alexander, chairman of the county ASC committee, said ballots were mailed Nov. 15, and they must be properly voted and returned to the county ASCS office by Dec. 1, in order to be counted.

Votes will be tabulated publicly by the county committee at 2 p.m. Dec. 5, at the County ASCS Office. Anyone regardless of race, color, creed, sex or national origin may view the counting.

Each ASC community will vote its own slate of nominees. Following are the slates of nominees for the three communities in the county:

Richfield: Forrest Armstrong, C. J. (Jerry) Johnston, Loyd Lee, Hoyt Pugh, Glen Ross and Tim Sanders.

Shoshone: Paul Bancroft, Cal Bateman, Ernest Boesiger, Gordon Braup, Eldon Guthrie, and Clifford Sautzman.

Dietrich-Kimama: Walter W. Bowman, Charles Hisaw, John McGhee, Eddie R. Nixon, Steve Shaw and Monte Sorenson.

Each farmer may vote for not more than three candidates in the ASC election. He may select up to three of the candidates listed, or he may write in his choices on the lines provided at the bottom of the ballot.

In each of the three ASC communities in the county, three community committeemen and two alternates will be elected. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes becomes chairman; the second highest, vice-chairman; third-high, regular member; and fourth and fifth highest become first and second alternates who serve on the community committee if regular members are absent or if a permanent vacancy occurs. All election ties will be settled by lot.

Community committeemen are elected for one-year terms, to begin Jan. 1. Alexander said, "It's important that farmers elect representatives and qualified farmer-neighbors for community committee posts. These community committees elect the county committee and choose its officers. They also help keep farmers in their communities informed on how individual farm operations will be affected by farm programs administered by the county committee.

Any farm owner, tenant, or sharecropper, of legal voting age, may vote in the election if his farm is eligible to participate in any of the ASCS programs administered in his community.

Beet pay hearings slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five hearings will be conducted next month to find out what the public thinks sugarbeet workers should be paid next year.

The Agriculture Department said that under the Sugar Act, producers must pay wage rates determined to be fair and reasonable by the agriculture department in order to qualify for price support payments.

Another condition of payments is that processors of sugarbeets pay prices the Agriculture Secretary determines to be fair and reasonable.

The public hearings will be Dec. 4 at Ann Arbor, Mich.; Dec. 6 at Fargo, N.D.; Dec. 8 at Billings, Mont.; Dec. 11 at San Francisco and Dec. 13 at Mercedes, Texas.

Comments show farm group thought

Farm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Against the backdrop of a drive for a tight budget, an increasingly urban look to Congress, and the expiration in one year of the current farm bill, here is a capsule look at comment from all over in the farm trade:

From the newsletter of the Vegetable Growers Association of America: "Probably the most important single farm issue in the decade of the 1970s is who will control farming... the only real alternative farmers have is to jump into the battle for control, with their own organizations and cooperatives, and assert themselves in groups to compete for their share of the action."

The National Council of Farmer Cooperatives forecast "reduced government role in farm programs. More emphasis upon market-oriented programs as a new farm act is developed... trade expansionist agreements with both Eastern and Western nations... continued expansion of U.S. agricultural export programs."

From the Grange's "Dateline: Rural America," quoting its national master, John W. Scott, as favoring "continued inflation control measures."

Scott said Grange members should choose a legislative approach "which relies more on the marketplace than on government for farm income and which is most likely to serve farmers best taking into account the need to export a considerable part of the national grain production."

The "Beef Business Bulletin" of the American National Cattlemen's Association says, "The Nixon mandate means the beef industry can expect farm policies and programs to continue about as present — with intensified but cautious efforts to move further toward a market-oriented agriculture and away from government controls."

The National Broller Council said it reads Agriculture Secretary Earl Butte's mood this way: "He wants more authority to make quick decisions for adjusting production of cotton, wheat and feed grains to market demand... (He) feels Congressional guidelines hamper his ability to adjust to market needs."

The National Farmers Union quoted its president, Tony Dechant, as expressing dismay over the 1973 cotton program, which he called a "doublebarreled loss" for cotton farmers because of lower prices from a surplus, and reduced cotton acreage allotments "with no meaningful compensation... offering the vague prospect of maintaining income through other commodities will be of little comfort to the producer who cannot readily convert his production or to those who have already planted diverted acreage to long-term cover crops."

The Farm Bureau news, quoting its women's committee chairman, Mrs. Haven Smith: "Everyone of us should be working to maintain the opportunity for American agriculture to continue to operate under the competitive enterprise system."

Gem inspection pact set

BOISE (UPI) — State Agriculture Commissioner Oscar Arstein signed an agreement with the U.S. Agriculture Department Wednesday for state-federal enforcement of the federal wholesome meat and poultry inspection acts.

The agreement calls for compliance staffs of the state and federal departments to monitor intrastate and inter-state sale, storage and transportation of meat and poultry products, both edible and inedible.

Ralph Keill, a Washington, D. C., official of the program review and compliance staff, represented the federal agency at the signing ceremony. Integration of the two departments' compliance programs will eliminate duplication and provide Idaho meat and poultry consumers with a trained staff of one federal and four state compliance officers, Arstein said.

The compliance program is designed to prevent unwholesome, adulterated and deceptively labeled meat and poultry products from entering consumer food channels.

Idaho is the 35th state to sign a compliance agreement with the U.S. Agriculture Department.

Sugar firm sends checks

SALT LAKE CITY — Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. has mailed checks totaling $30.03 million to beet growers in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Utah as the initial payment on the 1972 crop.

Beets are purchased under a participating contract which provides additional payments as sugar from the crop is sold.

The payment made today was on 2.08 million tons of beets delivered up to Oct. 31 in Washington and Oregon and Nov. 5 in Idaho and Utah.

Checks mailed to growers in Idaho today totaled $8,774,278. Payments are based on "the sugar content of individual grower deliveries and on net returns from the crop as the sugar is sold by the company."

Bean crop larger

BOISE — Dry bean production forecast for Idaho on Nov. 1 is unchanged at 2.09 million hundredweight, from a month earlier.

The Idaho Crop and Livestock reporting service said production at that level is 3 percent above 1971 and 6 percent above 1970 production. Harvest was reported in the cleanup stages as of that date, although slowed by poor weather late in October.

Bean yields per acre were placed at 1,850 pounds compared with 1,840 in 1971 and 1,880 in 1970.

For the nation, the 1972 dry bean crop was estimated at 18.3 million hundredweight, 13 percent more than in 1971 and 6 percent above the 1970 crop. The 1971 crop was 16.1 million cwt. and the 1970 crop was 17.2 million cwt.

National figures for bean yields indicated 1,299 pounds per acre, compared with 1,209 in 1971 and 1,221 in 1970.

Top per acre yield for the nation was expected to be Washington at 2,000 pounds, with Idaho second.

MV support urged for dam funding

TWIN FALLS — It would behoove water users of the Magic Valley area to urge their congressional delegates to support immediate funding of the American Falls Dam project.

This was reported Wednesday by Al Peters, manager of the Twin Falls Canal Co., and Merl Leonard, county commissioner and American Falls reservoir board member.

The two were commenting on the Bureau of Reclamation's decision to cut one third of the storage capacity of the reservoir at American Falls, pending replacement of the dam.

The structure has deteriorated to such a stage that bureau engineers feel it cannot safely be filled to its 1.7 million foot capacity and storage will be reduced by 554,000 acre feet until it can be replaced by a new dam.

Peters said this means irrigation companies obtaining their total source of water from storage rights in the reservoir will have a one third loss assured.

Gooding area farmers, who receive their water through American Falls Reservoir District 2, have only the storage water from the reservoir for their supply and will be short by one third in full water years. Should another short water year occur such as 1961, there would be a much larger reduction necessary.

The Twin Falls Canal Co., with most of its rights from the natural flow of the Snake River, would be in a relatively secure position, Peters said, but other companies and districts are not so fortunate.

Even if funding were immediate, he said, it would require some time before the new dam, just below the present one, could be constructed and ready for storage.

Peters and Leonard said it is estimated the new dam, with the same capacity as now afforded, would cost about $44 million.

This is the figure increased from an estimated $22-million about a decade ago. As long as the project is delayed these costs will continue to spiral, Peters said.

Plans for the structure are completed and ready for contract letting, Leonard said. Only the funding from Congress is needed and Idaho congressional delegates should be concerned because of the economic importance to this area.

Leonard said every $1 in reclamation produces $10 in business which gives a general idea of the importance in this area of adequate irrigation water.

Discussion of the bureau's order on the dam was held in the 40th annual convention of the National Water Resource Association in Utah last week.

Both Peters and Leonard attended. John Rosholt, Twin Falls attorney, was re-elected Idaho's director on the national association board. Representatives attended from 17 states and from nearly all canal companies and irrigation districts in Idaho. Discussions and group meetings covered such topics as water rights, irrigation losses, environmental matters, state water planning and pending legislation.

Building under way

Cold hinders progress

JEROME — Construction of the main plant of Moore Business Forms at Jerome has been slowed by bad weather. Construction of the plant began in late October after a $700,000 contract was let to Mitchell Construction Co.,

Pocatello. The construction firm has been making a great deal of headway in construction of the plant with two cinder brick walls now in place and two others now under construction. A spokesman for the firm said they hoped to complete the laying of the cinder blocks by the first of the year as long as the weather doesn't slow them down too much.

The main problem for laying the cinder blocks is freezing weather.

The Jerome City Council has annexed the plant into the city and is providing water and sewer facilities to the plant.

When it is finished the plant is expected to employ about 250 persons of which 70 per cent will be young men.

Also slated for Jerome County is the expansion of Tupperware to almost double its present size and employing another 360 persons. Construction of phase 2 for Tupperware is expected to begin some time in late February.

Zone change rejected by TF aides

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County commissioners Wednesday turned down a request for a zoning change that might have led to a recreational development.

Commissioner Merl Leonard said the decision, made only after review by the county planning and zoning commission, a public hearing Tuesday and a Tuesday-afternoon visit by two commissioners to the property, was due to "incompatibility."

There are certain things that have to be worked out," Leonard said, but he declined to elaborate.

The public hearing Tuesday, coming on a request by Robert Hamby, Hansen, to rezone 320 acres near the Rock Creek community, drew a large crowd of citizens in opposition to the plan, as well as a similarly-sized group backing the rezoning request.

Hamby claimed recreational development was both needed and wanted in the county to meet the activities of the county's many outdoor recreation associations, while his opponents, most of whom own nearby property, charged his planning was "haphazard," his project would interfere with their own livelihoods, and his long range goal was the establishment of a "liquor by the drink" establishment.

The half-section of land, seven miles south of Hansen, is currently zoned for agricultural uses. Hamby had requested a rezoning to outdoor recreational uses.

2-car crash

HANSEN — Two persons were treated and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a two-car crash near here Wednesday evening.

According to preliminary state reports, the mishap occurred at the junction of Addison Avenue East and State 50 near the Hansen Bridge, at about 8:30 p.m.

Officers said a car driven by Jeannie L. Cagle, 18, Rupert, eastbound on Addison Avenue East, failed to yield the right-of-way to a car on Highway 50 driven by George Prindville, 24, Boise.

Prindville and a passenger in his car, Carletta Prindville, 28, Boise, were taken to the hospital.

Miss Cagle was injured, but not treated at the hospital.

Gambler wins $31,000 bet

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Amarillo Slim, the world's champion poker player, walked out of the icy waters of the Salmon River Wednesday to win a $31,000 bet that he couldn't make a rugged 29-mile stretch of the "River of No Return" in a rubber raft.

"You tell 'em I won," said the rail-thin Texan. "I expect some people in Las Vegas are not going to be happy to see me," he said, referring to gambling cronies who bet him he couldn't shoot the rugged rapids.

Slam, whose real name is T.A. Preston, flew here by helicopter after the river trip through the wilderness. He was clad in a red wet suit as he told newsmen, "I've made other crazy bets. Once I bet I could outrun a race horse for 100 yards. I did."

Slam, who last June won the world poker title in Las Vegas, flew to Amarillo, Tex., today for a Thanksgiving dinner after spending five days on the river with guide Jerry Chapman. He had planned to take his 8-year-old son on the venture, but decided against it.

"I don't recommend that anyone make the trip down the river at this time of year," he said. "I would like to come back to Idaho under better circumstances."

Veteran river runners along the Salmon conceded the raft trip in cold weather had its dangers, but some said Slim's journey—with an experienced guide—was not all that daring.

Area firm gets bid

SHOSHONE — Successful bidder for 10,000 tons of crushed rock for Shoshone Highway District No. 2 was the Rock Creek Construction Co., Kimberly.

The bid called for 10,000 tons of 3/4 inch crushed rock at $1.70 per ton. This amounts to $17,000.

No injuries in chain collision

TWIN FALLS — No one was hurt in a four-car chain collision a mile west of Twin Falls on US 30 Wednesday evening.

Preliminary state police reports say a car driven by Vivian J. Hughes, 52, Filer, struck the rear of a westbound column of vehicles that had stopped behind a car driven by Wayne A. Pufahl, 26, Twin Falls, who was waiting to make

The Hughes vehicle struck one driven by Janet Hepworth, 18, Buhl, which in turn was pushed forward into the waiting car driven by Judy A. Haght, 21, Filer. The Haght vehicle in turn slammed forward, damaging the Pufahl vehicle.

State police said damage to the four cars would total about $1,650.

Filer children get 'spirit'

By MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News writer

FILER — The early Pilgrim children probably were no more excited than were Filer Elementary School children getting ready for their special Thanksgiving celebration.

To illustrate some of the preparations which the Pilgrims had made for their first Thanksgiving feast in 1623, the teachers decided to let students make butter and popcorn for the program Tuesday at the school. Shaking a jar of cream until it turned to creamy butter was a great delight to the children, many of whom had never seen real butter made.

The two classes of more than 65 students were divided into four groups and told to sit in circles on the floor. The quart jars of four-day old sweet cream were then passed from one child to another, with each giving his heartiest shakes.

By the time most were only on their second turn of shaking, the cream had turned to butter, which was then washed in cold water and salt added.

The cream, which had been donated by Smith Dairy, Buhl, O. D. Sackett, and Grant Hall, was kept at an 85 degree temperature previous to shaking, according to Mrs. Joyce Harding, teacher intern, who said even the adults were surprised at how quickly the cream turned to butter.

On Tuesday morning, the homemade butter was used on popcorn which had been donated for the event by Elmer Schroeder, Buhl, and which was served as a refreshment at the close of the program.

The story of the first Pilgrims was portrayed by first and second grade members for the benefit of the third and fourth grade who came as guests.

Girls wore white paper aprons and hats over their dresses, with the Pilgrim men wearing black buckled hats. Feathered headdresses were made for the Indians who accompanied Chief Squanto to the celebration.

Jerry Flander played the part of Gov. William Bradford, who proclaimed the first Thanksgiving on July 30, 1623. The feasting lasted for three days. The Indians had brought deer, wild turkeys, clams and wild plums to add to the feast which the Pilgrims had prepared.

Other delicacies included corn bread, pumpkin pies, cakes and puddings for that first feast from which our modern Thanksgiving derives. The date for Thanksgiving varied for several hundred years until it eventually came to be celebrated in November and in 1941 was set at the fourth Thursday of the month.

The children were shown a movie about Chief Squanto, the Pilgrim's good friend, who showed the early settlers how to plant corn at the proper time, how to weave baskets, how to hunt wild game and catch fish. Mrs. Vera Wylie, second grade teacher, led the group in singing a number of Thanksgiving songs, with Mrs. Russell Hall at the piano.

The buttered popcorn and small cornucopias filled with candy corn, were served from a refreshment table gaily decorated in holiday colors.

Plan rapped

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise State College professor accused the Idaho Water Resource Board Wednesday night of paying only lip service to water quality, lakes and streams in its interim state water plan.

Jack Warwick, BSC professor and a Sierra Club member, said the plan should be called a "plan for consumptive use of water for power and irrigation."

"I don't think you have given equal value to water quality, lakes and streams," Warwick said. "I heard the words, but that's all."

George Yost, Emmett, vice chairman of the board, said a lot of water is under federal study. He specifically mentioned wild river studies on the Salmon, Bruneau, St. Joe and several others. An assistant director of the board, Wayne Haus, said consumptive uses were emphasized because of the lack of instream data.

Haus said that in southwestern Idaho there was more mention of water projects because that is where the projects have been proposed.

About 65 persons attended the meeting at which the water board unveiled the interim state water plan.

New Wendell ordinance set

WENDELL — The Wendell City Council has decided to draw up a new ordinance reducing city liquor licenses from $375 to 25 percent of the state fee, approximately $125. The action at Tuesday night's meeting resulted from a request by Bill Bunn and Otto Lemke that the fee be reduced because of higher operating costs since the original ordinance in 1946. They also claimed that the population of the area has decreased.

Mayor Eugene Soares read a letter from the EPA and Health Department stating that the city can continue to use the city dump if it receives prior permission by the department.

Councilman Vernon Mason reported that at a meeting in Boise the agencies suggested using revenue sharing money for sanitary landfills.

"Our dump is in real bad shape," Soares commented.

The council took under advisement a suggestion by Dale Gilbert that the city designate a truck route on city streets.

In other council action signs were authorized for city equipment, a call for bids for furnace oil was made and $1,500 was paid as part of the $2,250 city share of a lease on the fire department building.

Soares informed the council that a revised cooperative maintenance agreement between the city and the state highway department concerning an access road would be arriving for the council's approval.

City liquor licenses were approved.

Indiana man visits Jerome

JEROME — Mike Hickey, South Bend, Ind., has been in Jerome for the past two weeks under the Vista program.

Hickey is working with Volunteers in Service to America and has spent the last two weeks getting acquainted with residents of the Jerome area.

He is a graduate of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich., with a degree in general business.

Before coming to Jerome, Hickey lived a year in North Platte, Neb., working with people of limited means. During his tenure there, he motivated the community to promote a hot lunch program and was helpful in securing a community center.

Hickey is in Jerome to determine the needs of the area. He has contacted city officials, ministers and the Head Start program as well as many others. He explains that his goal is to help people help themselves.

Hickey said he is sponsored by the Community Action Agency of Twin Falls. He plans to spend a year in Jerome County and especially likes to work and live in small towns.

Santa visit planned

JEROME — The Christmas holiday officially gets under way this Friday night for Jerome residents with the first visit of Santa Claus.

Santa Claus will arrive aboard a city fire truck in downtown Jerome at 7:30 p.m. Friday night and will turn on the Christmas lights in the downtown area.

Santa will also be on hand to chat and pass out candy to the children. This will be the first of four visits he will make to the Jerome area between now and Christmas.

Jerome merchants have also announced that several stores will be open until 9 p.m. on Dec. 1, 2, 8 and 9 and every evening thereafter through Dec. 23 with the exception of Sundays.

Special program

THE FAMILIAR story of the first Thanksgiving was enacted by members of the first and second grades at the Filer Elementary School at a program Tuesday afternoon. Children made their own butter and popped corn for the celebration and program.

Hearing slated

KETCHUM — A hearing has been scheduled here Dec. 8 by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission on an application for motor carrier passenger service in the Ketchum-Sun Valley area.

The Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce is seeking a motor common carrier permit to transport persons and their luggage, including skis, over regular routes within a five-mile radius of Ketchum.

The service would include Ketchum, Sun Valley and Elkhorn, according to PUC officials.

Also sought is permission to provide charter service over irregular routes within a radius of 75 miles of Ketchum.

The hearing is set for 1 p.m. Dec. 8 in the Tamarack Lodge conference room at Ketchum.

Jerome asks bids on patrol cars

JEROME — The Jerome City Council Tuesday night agreed to draw up specifications and call for bids on a new patrol car for the police department.

Councilman Marshall Everheart, who is in charge of the police department, informed the council that the department had budgeted for a new patrol car this year but due to some rather high unexpected expenses in the department there wasn't enough money in the budget to purchase the car.

Chief of Police Howard DuBois told the council that his department was having trouble with both patrol cars noting both cars had transmissions overhauled this month.

He said that one of the cars had to be warmed up each morning for almost ten minutes before it had enough power to push itself.

"We just got the cars back from the shop and hopefully the problems have been solved, but what else will go wrong and when is hard to say," DuBois said.

The council instructed Everheart to draw up the specifications for the new patrol car and accept bids after the first of the year when it can be added to the new budget.

The council heard a report from the Jerome Zoning Commission meeting of Nov. 17 on a public hearing to annex and rezone three acres of land north of Jerome. The report stated that because no protests were heard they have made the following recommendation to the council.

That two acres of land just north of Tenth Street belonging to A. W. Handy be rezoned residential I and annexed into the city. Also that an acre of land owned by Farrell Johnson on East Avenue I be rezoned residential II and annexed into the city.

The council held a first reading on two city ordinances which comply with the zoning commission's recommendations.

The zoning commission also referred to the council a petition by Hugh Taylor against Mr. and Mrs. Art Doramus on North Fillmore. The petition asks that the city take steps to remove the three diesel trucks which the Doramuses operate from their home. The Doramuses, who deliver raw milk to Utah in three large tanker trucks, were given a short period of time a month ago by the City Council to move the trucks out of the residential area.

Mayor Jack Russell, acting on a recommendation by the zoning commission, instructed the chief of police to contact the city attorney to draw up a legal letter to cease and desist and to serve this paper at once.

In other business the city fathers denied a building permit to Bernard F. Clark to move a trailer house onto a lot at 417 East II St. The council in denying this permit stated it would be against the present city ordinance which does not permit two family dwellings on such a small lot.

The council suspended the rules Tuesday night and passed an ordinance which removes a strip of land by the Jerome Cemetery and along the Union Pacific Railroad track from within the city limits.

It was brought out at the meeting that the land was inadvertently annexed into the city along with Moore Business Farm property. The land in question belongs to Union Pacific Railroad and Amalgamated Sugar.

Assist center

Earthly cares occupy Chinese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading Chinese scientist says his country has no plans to send men to the moon because it is too busy with earthly cares.

"We have a philosophy on the problem of space," Dr. Chien Wei-chang told a news conference Tuesday at the National Academy of Science. "Since all people on earth are very busy, why should we be in a hurry to send a person to the moon?"

"At the same time, we welcome and congratulate work done by American scientists and also congratulate them on your successes."

Chien is considered an authority on jet propulsion. He worked at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., until returning to China in 1949.

He was secretive about China's plans for future space research, saying only that the details of Peking's next satellite would be made known immediately after launch. To date, Peking has successfully orbited two satellites, one on April 24, 1970, and the other on March 3, 1971.

Chien was a member of a group of Chinese scientists led by Dr. Pei Shih-chang, 72, who spent two hours Tuesday touring the tracking facilities at the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md.

The scientists who are touring the United States until Dec. 15, are the latest exchange delegation to visit America since President Nixon's journey to Peking in February. A delegation of Chinese doctors toured the United States in October.

The scientists also will visit New York, Boston, Detroit, and San Francisco.

In Gaza, where CARE conducts food and self-help programs, staff members sold empty food containers and used the proceeds to buy industrial sewing machines for a group of Arab women organized into a cooperative.

Quake ripples South America

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — An earthquake rippled across the top of South America today, its force being felt in both Colombia and Venezuela. Officials in both countries said it apparently caused only light damage and no casualties.

The epicenter of the quake was about 225 miles southwest of Bogota in the Colombian interior, according to a report from the Geophysical Institute of the Andes in the Colombia capital. It was registered at 5:45 a.m. Two minutes later it was recorded by the Geophysical Institute of Caracas, 650 miles northeast of Bogota, which also fixed its epicenter in southwestern Colombia.

The quake registered 5 points on the open-end Richter scale in both the Bogota and Caracas observatories.

The epicenter of the earthquake was in the Colombian province of Huila, and officials there reported by telephone four hours after the quake that there were no reports of casualties but that the early morning tremor had caused widespread panic among residents. There are no large cities in the sparsely populated state.

The only significant damage was reported in the village of Algeiras, where the quake caused a portion of the church to collapse.

The same region of Colombia was devastated by an earthquake in February 1967.

In Bogota, the force of the earthquake caused some buildings to sway, and some residents rushed into the streets in their nightclothes. Police said there was no damage in the capital. There were no reports of damage, casualties or panic in Venezuela.

Utah transit plan moving closer

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The dream of a metropolitan transit system serving the entire Wasatch Front is being nudged closer to reality by the Utah Transit Authority and Weber County.

Representatives of the UTA, operator of the Salt Lake County bus system, and Weber County commissioners met with the Wasatch Front Regional Council and operators of four Ogden bus lines earlier this week to discuss the move.

The UTA is seeking to purchase Ogden Bus Lines, Wasatch Lines, Metro Lines and Lakeshore Lines, to incorporate them into the start of the system.

William D. Oswald, UTA secretary and legal consultant, said the Salt Lake City-based system and the four Ogden lines would create a transit authority stretching from here to Brigham City.

"Right now we are negotiating the purchase of Metro, Ogden and Wasatch," Oswald said, "but we also want an option to buy Lakeshore at some later date."

He said the purchase would be made "with an eye toward adding additional service to Utah County and into Tooele."

Oswald said a letter has been drafted to send to the operators of the four Ogden lines. "We meet with the operators Monday, but their purchase offer was not acceptable to us. This latest move outlines our total plans and asks them to submit another proposal."

Metro serves routes between Ogden, Brigham City and Thakol; Ogden covers the metropolitan Weber County area; Wasatch has runs between Ogden and Hill AFB; and Lake Shore operates between here and Ogden.

Oswald said, "Any unified system would continue to be a bus operation. We don't have the necessary population density for a fixed-route system in the area yet."

He said following the Weber County voters Nov. 7-31 margin in favor of merging with UTA, we will work as "fast as possible to get a specific proposal on another special election ballot in March or April."

Laos peace aired

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma said today U.S. bombing of Laos could continue after a Vietnam cease-fire. He said there was "no hope" for peace in Laos before settlement of the wider war.

Souvanna said he had a commitment from the United States to continue its bombing in support of the Laotian government if a Vietnam cease-fire did not include Laos.

"As long as the North Vietnamese are here, we cannot afford to stop the bombing," Souvanna told UPI in an interview. "If there is no cease-fire in Laos, it means we will continue the fighting, and the bombing will continue."

The Laotian prime minister, who has made withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops one of his conditions for a cease-fire, said the Communists were attempting to push back his forces throughout Laos.

"The other side has launched an offensive against us on every front," Souvanna said. "They may have stepped up their attacks to press us to accept their conditions."

"We have no hope for peace as long as the Vietnam question is unsettled because the (Communist) Pathet Lao is following North Vietnam in this matter," the Prime Minister said. "Their proposed peace program is exactly like the North Vietnamese program."

According to U.S. estimates, there are now about 60,000 North Vietnamese troops in Laos. Souvanna said that in the event of an over-all cease-fire in Indochina, the big powers would have to guarantee a North Vietnamese withdrawal from his country.

Narcotics agent faces charges

CLARKSVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — A free-lance narcotics agent, who posed as a long-haired hippie to seek out youthful drug pushers in north Georgia, has been indicted for kidnapping and rape, it was disclosed today.

Harry Ray Shouse, 25, of Adel, was charged on the basis of warrants sworn out by three boys and a 17-year-old girl, all from Pennsylvania. They contended they were "arrested" by Shouse and an unidentified man, the boys placed in jail and the girl taken to a motel where she was raped twice.

Gov. Jimmy Carter took a personal interest in the case after a letter from an attorney representing the youths.

District Attorney V. D. Stockton of Habersham County said the alleged incident took place last August and Shouse was indicted Nov. 16.

Shouse had served as an "undercover agent" for three north Georgia sheriffs at the time and participated in more than 50 drug cases, reportedly being paid as much as $125 a week to spot drug pushers, then call in authorities.

The "arrest" of the four youths came while they were returning to Pittsburgh from a vacation at a family hotel in Florida.

Pittsburgh attorney Norman G. Haywood wrote Carter that the boys were jailed here for three days and the girl was taken to a motel "by Shouse and his accomplice and forcibly raped" twice.

Haywood wrote that the girl was never charged but was taken to the "chief of police and the mayor of Tallulah Falls, Ga., both of whom condoned the arrest and did nothing whatsoever to prevent the persons impersonating officers from retaining this female in their custody, nor did they attempt to prevent the events which transpired, specifically the rape of the female."

Tallulah Falls Police Chief Tom Fountain said Shouse brought the girl by his office and said she was offering to give evidence against drug users. He said they also went to the mayor for advice but when Shouse said there were no charges against the girl, "I said you'd better let her go then." Fountain said he had employed Shouse one day but let him go "because we found out he was a crook."

Drunk driving arrests double

BOISE (UPI) — The number of drunken driving arrests from July through October has doubled from that of last year, the Idaho Alcohol Safety Action Project reported Wednesday.

Of the 1,677 such arrests made during those four months, 31 per cent were made by the Alcohol Emphasis Patrol, a group of special Idaho State Police officers trained specifically to detect and apprehend the drunken driver.

In conjunction with the rise in such arrests, figures show that the total number of blood and breath-alcohol specimens tested by the Laboratories Division of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health has tripled over the same period last year.

Project Director L. Cotty Lowry said the increase in arrests and tests is reflected in an increase in background investigations on convicted drunken drivers made by the ASAP pre-sentence investigators, and in an increased enrollment in the court alcohol schools.

CSI opens play at home Friday

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles, with a question mark in the height-depth department, entertain three strong junior college teams in a pair of season-opening basketball doubleheaders Friday and Saturday night.

Assisting CSI in inaugurating the season will be two strong Arizona teams, Scottsdale and Central Arizona, and long-time rival Ricks College.

Since CSI and Ricks will meet twice during the season, this will not be a tournament with winners advancing.

Ricks meets Scottsdale at 7 p.m. Friday with CSI going against Central at 9 p.m. The Idaho teams will swap opponents Saturday night.

"I have seen or know of several of the boys that the Arizona schools will bring here and they are comparable in talent to what we have," says Coach Jerry Hale, embarking on his most ambitious and toughest pre-Christmas schedule ever.

The key for CSI will be Vince Volmut, the 6-10 sophomore center, who has been very erratic in his play ranging from excellent to poor. Volmut must be good because if he isn't the Engles' height drops in a hurry.

Willie Williams, 6-5, would move to the post and that probably would bring 6-3 guard Rick Sobers to the wing. For a starting five the Eagles can be tough. Williams and 6-6 sophomore Steve Swanson, who appears healthy again after ankle and leg troubles, will go at the forwards.

Sobers, who could be the best guard CSI has ever had, and newcomer Ron Fryson, a 6-4 New Yorker will go at guards.

The scouting reports on the other teams are solid.

Scottsdale has Lawrence Williams, 6-5, who was named high school player of the year in Los Angeles last season, plus Tom Jones, 6-6, and Gordy Violet, 6-4, both New York stars. Coach Hale rates Violet with his guards, and he believes he has two fine ones.

Scottsdale also has size in Dave Godfrey and Mike Davis, both 6-7 and two men rated among Ohio's best prospect last season, 6-3 Elbert Crump of Columbus, and Robert Lucas, 6-4.

The tip on Scottsdale talent comes in one statement. Coach Ivan Duncan accepted the job this season after serving as assistant coach at Long Beach State the past couple of years.

Central Arizona, from Coolidge, is coached by Carlyle Dean, formerly Treasure Valley coach and this region's NJCAA director. Coach Dean will bring Dave Henning, a 6-6 star, who averaged 16 points and 11 rebounds per game last year.

One guard is Stan Semple, 6-3 who played on the same team as Volmut in high school. Coach Dean rates Roosevelt Daniels, 6-7 Montgomery, Ala., product as having a chance to be the best he's ever coached.

The other Central veterans are Randy Rose and Irvin Parrish, a 6-8 center from Fort Wayne, Ind.

The rundown on Ricks isn't as complete, basically because CSI doesn't have to play them until later. But Coach Hale said he understands the Vikings will have a 6-9 forward, who was redshirted last year, and two sophomores off last year's Weber and Utah State frosh clubs.

"Ricks always has a fine ball team," Coach Hale concluded. "I think these could be the best four ball games we've ever held here."

Mets' Matlack is voted NL Rookie of the Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Rookie of the Year earns his accolade by being consistent and it was consistency that earned the National League Rookie of the Year award for the 1972 baseball season for the New York Mets' Jim Matlack.

Matlack, 6-3 and 200 pounds, never missed his turn on the mound for the Mets, posting a fine 15-10 mark with an era of 2.32, fourth best in the NL.

In his 10 losses, the left-hander suffered from a poor Met batting attack, and many observers feel that with a few more runs, Matlack might have matched Tom Seaver's 20-game season.

Consistency is the name of the game, Matlack said in his Katonah, N.Y. home after learning that the Baseball Writers Association of America committee of 24 had given him first place on 19 ballots.

"I'm pleased, of course," Matlack said. "Early in the season, when I was 3-0, someone mentioned the award to me then, and I did think about it off and on. When the season was over, I knew I'd done the best of any rookie pitcher, but I thought perhaps the writers might go for a guy who played every day."

The rookie of the year broke into organized ball with Williamsport of the Eastern League in 1966, when he was 17. He appeared in only two games, but in 1968 spent the full season with Raleigh-Durham of the Carolina League, finishing with a 13-6 record and striking out 189 in 173 innings.

After three years with Tidewater of the International League, with records of 14-7, 12-11 and 11-7, he was called up by the Mets in late 1971, but lost three and won none.

His arrival in spring training this year was crucial for him, since the Mets were counting on veteran Jerry Koosman as their No. 1 left-hander. Matlack, however, got off to a fine 6-0 start before the Met hitting was shaken by the loss of Rusty Staub and injuries to Tommie Agee and Cleon Jones.

Placing second to Matlack in the writers' voting was catcher Dave Rader of the San Francisco Giants, who got four votes. The remaining ballot went to Matlack's teammate, outfielder John Milner.

Celtics crush Blazers 126-107

BOSTON (UPI) — Center Dave Cowens fired for 33 points as the Boston Celtics crushed the Portland Trail Blazers Wednesday night 126-107.

The Celtics will hold a half game edge over New York in the Atlantic Division when they meet the Knicks in Boston Friday night.

Both teams shot poorly in the first period and play was sloppy, as the Trail Blazers committed eight turnovers. Boston gave over the ball five times but led 24-21 entering the second period.

Cowens dropped 10 points in the first five minutes and 13 points over all in the second period. Portland generated its best offense of the night but trailed 60-51 at halftime.

Cowens set the pace in the third period with 10 points for the Celtics. Boston opened up its relentless running game to outpace Portland 40-27 in the period.

The Celtics bench mopped up the fourth period and rookie Paul Westphal guided the team with seven points in the closing minutes.

Captain John Havlicek followed Cowens with 20 points. Don Nelson added 16 points to the score.

Sidney Wicks led the Trail Blazers with 23 points and was followed by Willie Johnson with 19 points.

Bird season ends

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's open season on forest grouse, the blue, ruffed and spruce species, ends Sunday, the Idaho Fish and Game Department said.

However, the open seasons for Hungarian and chukar partridge, and bobwhite, valley, mountain, and gambel quail, will continue most places through Dec. 31.

Exceptions are Benewah and Kootenai counties, where the season ended Nov. 19, and Fremont, Madison and Teton counties where the season ends Sunday.

The long season for Hungarian and chukar partridge and quail in parts of the Salmon River drainage and the Snake River drainage runs through Jan. 21.

Daily bag limits are 10 Hungarian and 10 chukar partridge and 10 in the aggregate of quail. Possession limits are 20 Huns, 20 chukar and 20 in the aggregate of quail.

Helmets don't stop loud noise

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (UPI) — Neither padded crash helmets nor new noise control regulations will protect snowmobilers from the danger of hearing loss, a Central Michigan University scientist reports.

Dr. Fred Bess of the CMU area of communication disorders released studies two years ago that established that the noise from snowmobiles could cause permanent hearing impairment. New studies indicate helmets provide no protection from that noise.

Snowmobile noise is worse than most other recreational vehicles, Bess explained, because the snowmobile exhaust is directly in front of the operator, making the noise output at ear level significantly louder and usually far in excess of safe limits.

Boise meets Vandals for Gem Bowl trophy

BOISE — The Boise State Broncos will try to keep the "Gem Bowl" Saturday afternoon when they host the Idaho Vandals.

Kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m. with a sell-out crowd of over 14,500 expected in Bronco Stadium, for the last game of the year for both teams.

Even though this is just the second varsity football game ever played between Boise State and Idaho, it is fast turning into a very fine rivalry. At stake is the traveling trophy, the Gem Bowl, which Boise State now has in its trophy case.

Vandal coach Don Robbins would like nothing better than to pack it back to Moscow with him late Saturday afternoon.

Coach Knap and his Broncos have different ideas. The Broncos are now 7-3 on the year, 3-2 in the Big Sky, and have won their last three games in a row. Their last victory was against Northern Arizona by a 39-12 score in Flagstaff, and evened Boise State's road record at 3-3.

The Idaho Vandals will be seeking revenge for that 42-14 loss at the hands of Tony Knap's Broncos from a year ago. Idaho is 3-7 on the year and 1-3 in the Big Sky. They lost last Saturday to another Bronco team, Western Michigan by a 27-16 score.

Idaho was leading in that game 16-13 going into the final period of play but two Western Michigan scores in the last period put the game out of reach.

"I have a lot of respect for Idaho," commented Boise State head coach Tony Knap. "They are big, strong and on a given day they can play a lot of football."

"We're expecting them to come down here to Boise jacked-up and ready to play," he added.

"We're playing well now and it should be a fine football game. Everyone out there on the field against Northern Arizona played well and now, of course, our sights are on the Idaho Vandals."

Senior Bernie Rembert is the Vandals' top rusher with 530 yards and an average of 4.7 yards per carry. He has scored four touchdowns. Running back Jerry Hall is the next best rusher for coach Don Robbins. Hall, a senior from Warren, Ohio, has 346 yards to his credit and a 4.2 average and two scores.

Junior quarterback Rick Seefried is the key to the Idaho offensive attack. Even though he has been plagued with injuries this season, Seefried has a very respectable pass completion average of 500 per cent completing 47 of 94 attempts for 610 yards and five scores.

Idaho has put together a fairly balanced offensive attack. They have gained 138.6 yards a game on the ground and nine scores for the year, while gaining 143.8 yards via the airlines in 10 games and eight touchdowns for the season.

Coach Knap will be countering with an offense which is averaging 207.4 yards on the ground per game and 14 scores for the year.

ISU is picked to win Big Sky

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho State University, with all five starters returning, has been picked the favorite to win the 1972-73 Big Sky Conference basketball crown, ending five years of domination by Weber State College.

Conference head coaches and sports information directors gave ISU 14 first place votes to three for Weber State and one for Boise State College.

This year's Bengal team will be led by forwards Ev Fopina, second in scoring last year with 21 points per game, and Edison Hicks, top rebounder in the league with an 11.8 average.

Bengal coach Jim Killingsworth also has five other men back from last year's 14-12 team, plus three junior college transfers, including 6-11 Dan Spilfer from Rowland Heights, Calif.

Weber State, which represented the Big Sky in the NCAA Western Regionals last year, has lost Bob Davis, the conference's leading scorer and sixth best rebounder, plus all-conference forward Don Knobbe.

The Wildcats, under the direction of second-year coach Gene Visscher, will be led by all-conference guard Brady Small and center Rick Cooper.

Idaho State received a total of 140 points in the balloting, followed by Weber 109, Montana State 86 and Montana 75.

Rounding out the bottom four were Boise State 66, Gonzaga 55, Northern Arizona 47 and Idaho 35.

Big Sky football ends on Saturday

BOISE — Only one conference game and one non-league game are on the Big Sky Conference football schedule this week.

All but three of the Big Sky schools closed out their schedule last Saturday.

This week the Idaho Vandals travel south to Boise State to face the Broncos on Saturday while Weber State is in Logan, Utah, today to play a Thanksgiving Day game with Utah State.

In the only conference game last Saturday, Boise State defeated Northern Arizona 39-12 in Flagstaff, Ariz. Other games for Idaho schools saw Western Michigan drop Idaho 27-16 and Idaho State edge Drake 24-21.

The two Montana schools split as Tulsa defeated Montana 10-7 and Big Sky Champions, Montana State, defeated Fresno State 10-6.

In Big Sky statistics, Steve Hunter, Idaho, has taken over the punting lead with 31 kicks for 1,471 yards and an average of 47.5 yards per punt.

Dropping from first to second place in that department was Idaho State's Steve Beller, who is averaging 40.8 yards a boot.

The total offense leader continues to be Boise State's Ron Apte, with 153.1 yard average per game, followed closely by Idaho State's Tom Lee at 149.6 yards a clash.

The Bobcats' Wayne Edwards remains the top rusher with a game average of 76.3 yards a game, followed by Rene Garnett of Idaho State at 70.2 yards a game.

Tom Lee leads all passers in the conference with 158.8 yards, Ron Apte is second with 138.6 yards per game.

Bronco receivers Don Hutt and teammate Al Marshall are battling it out for the top receiver in the league. Hutt has 51 catches for 720 yards and Marshall has 50 for 881 yards. Both have had eight touchdowns

Hull restraint lifted

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Illinois Appellate Court lifted a restraining order on Bobby Hull Wednesday, permitting him to resume playing for the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association after sitting out one game.

"There's nothing foreseeable that can prevent him from playing," said Jerome Torben, one of Hull's attorneys.

A Circuit Court judge in Chicago had issued the restraining order Monday, barring Hull from playing until the WHA posts a $2.5 million bond ordered in Philadelphia by a federal judge who found the reserve clause in his old contract with the Chicago Black Hawks to be invalid.

The ruling Wednesday ended the second, court-ordered layoff for Hull, who was one of the top stars in the established National Hockey League until he accepted a $2 million-plus offer to jump to the new WHA this year.

He sat out several games at the start of the season, awaiting the federal court ruling in Philadelphia. He then played through this past weekend, but sat out Tuesday night's game, a 3-2 victory for the Jets over the Houston Aeros, on the advice of his attorneys after a Judge Francis T. Delaney of Cook County Circuit Court in Chicago issued his order Monday.

I think our going according to the law had a lot to do with our winning the appeal," a happy Hull said in Houston. "When we were told by the courts to do certain things, we did them. But it was tough."

The $2.5 million bond was required in Philadelphia as security in case Hull's Chicago NHL contract later found valid by a higher court. But WHA officials said a mail strike in Canada prevented them from gathering the necessary documents by Monday's deadline.

The Black Hawks may appeal Wednesday's decision to the Illinois Supreme Court, the state's highest court.

Man sentenced for killing 3

LONDON (UPI) — Victor Eeles was so enraged with his next door neighbors because of their constant harassment and noise that he went next-door and killed them.

On Tuesday, a judge sentenced Eeles to three years in jail.

Eeles, 36, was found guilty of manslaughter in the deaths of his neighbors, James and Constance Prescott and their 27-year-old daughter Marjorie.

He testified during his trial that he shot the Prescotts to death with a target pistol after they had subjected him and his family to three years of "living hell" in the duplex the families shared in the English Midlands village of Olton.

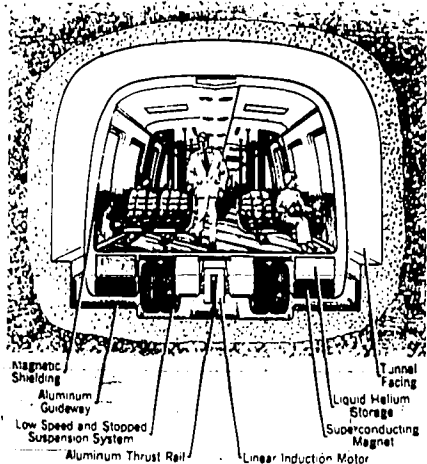

Eeles told the court the Prescotts banged on the walls and doors and played their record player into the late hours. He said they shouted insults at him and his wife when they complained, pushed pieces of rubbish through his mail-box and threw garbage into his garden.

The judge, Sir Desmond Ackner, said he accepted the defense argument that the Prescotts had a history of mental illness and "took a positive delight in tormenting their immediate neighbors, and none were more immediate than you or your wife."

The judge said he was "satisfied that the cumulative stress over three years upon a man of your personality—a kindly, quiet, reserved man, who tended to bottle up his emotions—caused in you a state of hysteria which the doctors have found."

"But I am also satisfied that there was not a total impairment of your mental responsibility and that some residue of your responsibility rested with you for this crime," the judge said.

Apply for summer federal jobs now

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, says now is the time for young people to apply for possible summer jobs with the federal government.

The Idaho senator urged interested persons to make immediate plans to take civil service competitive examinations to apply directly to agencies for those positions, where examinations are not required.

No applications for exams can be postmarked after Jan. 26, Church said.

"Last year," he said, "There were approximately 130,000 people eligible for about 12,000 temporary summer jobs. There will probably be even more applicants this year, making it imperative that early application and examination be taken by as many Idahoans as possible."

Church said full details and application forms are contained in Civil Service Commission Announcement number 414.

Wyoming lawyers endorse no-fault

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — A form of no-fault auto insurance has been endorsed by members of the Wyoming Bar Association.

A two-year study was made of the measure which is designed to provide immediate payment by a person's own insurance company in case of accidents. It also would retain a person's right to sue for damages.

Members of the association attending a legislative meeting in Casper also endorsed a broader base for jury panel selection, a jail inspection and standards bill, and a measure providing for the use of indeterminate sentences in criminal cases.

The members also recommended raising the salaries of district judges and supreme court justices to $30,000 a year with another $2,000 per year for the chief justice.

It can get you a chance to eat Thanksgiving dinner in jail, with the other inmates — even with other shoplifters. It can do more. It can get you a police record which you'll carry the rest of your life, which may keep you out of college, or from getting a job.

Many young people think shoplifting is a lark, something lots of people do. It's not. It's a serious offense. Let's face it, it's STEALING. It's playing Russian roulette with your future. We want you to have a very nice Thanksgiving and to enjoy your Thanksgiving dinner, but not with the jailer.

Signup for ditch water

TWIN FALLS — Residents of Twin Falls who use ditch water for irrigation of lawns and gardens must indicate by Dec. 31 if they wish to leave or enter the city's irrigation system.

City Manager Jean Millar said today the city will accept any petition for withdrawal from the system or any new requests to join until Dec. 31, and will then prepare the coming year's irrigation program based on those persons in the district as of that date.

Now one year old, the Twin Falls irrigation system would probably be short-lived if it operated in the future as it did in the first year, Millar said.

The city cleaned ditches, put some underground and completed other parts of an extensive maintenance program and then found many small groups of water users petitioning to leave the system which left it with limited operating funds.

"This year we will set a deadline (Dec. 31) and hold the residents to their commitments at that time for the coming irrigation season," he said.

Millar said changes are also being made to enforce regulations of the system. Many persons who indicated they did not wish to use the water and paid no assessments, sneaked open the headgates at various times to irrigate at their neighbors' expense, he said.

These and other problems will be ironed out during the coming season, the city manager said.

Inmates work

MANILA (UPI) — About 1,000 inmates of the National Penitentiary at nearby Muntinlupa have volunteered to work on construction of a flood control channel in the central Luzon province of Bulacan.

Officials said the inmates sought approval to take part in the work after learning that the flood-control project needs hundreds of men for job.

Ex-ambassador doubts peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, says the United States would be "a long way from peace" in Indochina if North Vietnamese troops were allowed to stay in South Vietnam after a "cease-fire."

Human Events, a conservative weekly publication, quoted Taylor as having reservations about some aspects of the draft plan worked out by U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators, although Taylor did not attack the administration for accepting the tentative agreement.

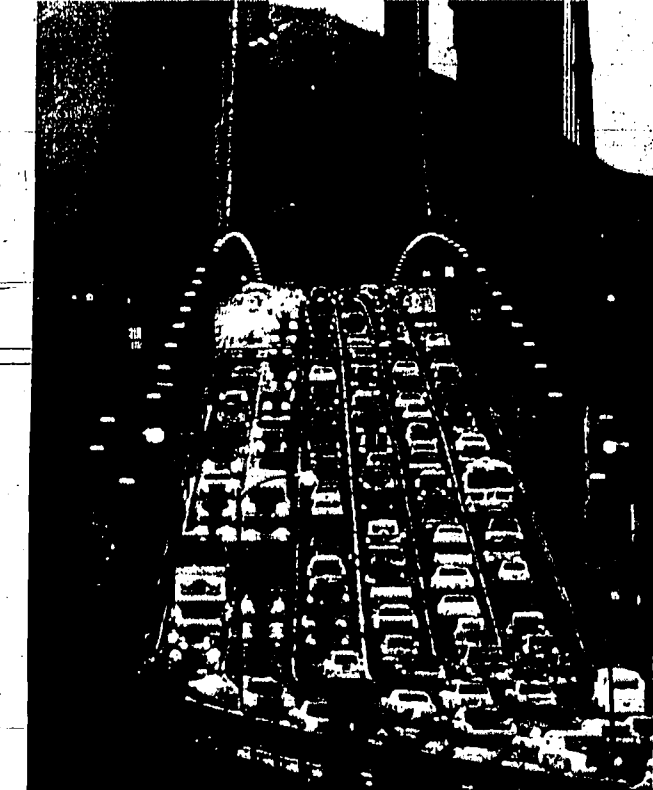

"He said what was 'really important' was what comes out of new talks now going on in Paris between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho."

The newspaper said Taylor was bothered by absence in the draft plan of a requirement for removal of North Vietnamese troops.

"We're a long way from peace in Southeast Asia if the North Vietnamese forces are left with arms in their hands in South Vietnam," he was quoted.

Taylor said any agreement should be very precise.

"I'm very leery of these understandings after the way we were burned by the understandings of 1968 (when

CIA accused by Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI) — An influential Soviet newspaper accused the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) today of providing heroin to dissident groups in Europe.

It said improved relations between the United States and China, which it called "one of the biggest opium producers in the world," made the "CIA Opium War in Europe much easier."

Literary Gazette, the official weekly newspaper of the Soviet Writers Guild, made the comments in today's issue.

The CIA "policy of heroin" has been underway for five years in Italy, West Germany and France, the newspaper said.

"In almost every big town, in universities and clubs for young people, the CIA installs its opium agents (very often they're pretty girls) among the potential young dissidents."

"After each strike or demonstration, these dissidents are being recruited by the CIA. Later the opium girls meet them. They go to parties; dances, night clubs. Later sex and narcotics do their business."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I have 600 shares of Seatrail Lines (NYSE) at an average cost of 94. What should I do with these shares? — T. M.

A — Seatrail's comparatively recent entry into shipbuilding has upgraded the profit potential for these speculative shares. The company's construction facility at the Brooklyn Navy Yard is one of the most advanced in the industry. With the exception of erecting the hull, all labor may be done indoors.

The yard is presently working on three 225,000-ton oil supertankers. The $172-million contract is 43 per cent government subsidized. Domestic shipbuilding is making a comeback as a result of government subsidies and low-interest loans.

Dollar devaluation has effectively reduced the competitive edge long enjoyed by foreign yards. These factors coupled with the growing natural gas shortage point to a more profitable future for U. S. shipbuilders.

Unfortunately, Seatrail's immediate outlook is clouded by its major areas of operation, chartered and containerized shipping. Overcapacity on the North Atlantic trade routes will probably abate gradually.

Seatrail has introduced an innovative land-bridge container service capable of cutting six days shipping time to the West Coast.

Costs involved in initiating this service were reflected in the 46 cent-a-share deficit incurred for the fiscal year ended June, 1972. In addition a 30 cent-a-share loss was reported — on noncollectible notes received from the sale of vessels.

Keeping in mind the negative aspects, shares, nevertheless, have long-range growth potential and should be held.

Q — Would you please let me know if I should hold EMI Ltd. am 81 and have 200 shares at 54. — J. R.

A — While this is not a particularly suitable investment for a senior citizen, you would be well advised at this juncture to hold for recovery. Earnings improved in the fiscal year ended June 30, reflecting a return to profitability for 70 per cent owned Capitol Industries.

In addition to being the world's largest recording company, EMI has diversified into movie production and has recently proposed merger with a British hotel and catering company, supplementing this area of operations.

Q — We hold shares of Ampex, Inc. (NYSE) and wonder what you would advise on this company. — C. M.

A — While Ampex is a very high-risk issue, operations could break even this fiscal year. Backlog of orders reached a record of $100 million going into the October quarter.

However, a 29 cent-a-share deficit was reported in the first quarter on a per cent decline in volume. Lower sales reflected the sale and discontinuance in fiscal 1972 of several marginal operations.

Guardian angel

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Truck driver A. L. Porter was rolling along MacArthur Boulevard about 3:30 a.m. when his headlights caught the blue-and-white bundle on the street.

He slammed on his brakes when he saw it was crawling toward the sidewalk.

Porter jumped out of his truck and picked up blonde, blue-eyed Lynn Sally, a two-year-old who went for a stroll from her nearby home in the middle of the night. She was crawling across the busy street in her blue-and-white pajamas when the driver spotted her.

A cab driver notified police, who took the child downtown and cared for her until her frantic mother, Mrs. Patty Sally, called at daybreak Tuesday to report the youngster was missing from her bed.

Idaho PUC sets hearing on future power needs

BOISE — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission will hold a public hearing next month to determine how Idaho electric suppliers plan to fill future energy needs.

The impact of research development programs on customer rates will also be considered.

The hearing, ordered by the PUC on its own motion "in the public interest," will be Dec. 4 at the Downtown Motel.

beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Testimony on present and future research-development programs will be heard by the commission from companies serving in Idaho. The companies include Idaho Power Co., The Washington Water Power Co., Utah Power and Light Co., Pacific Power and Light, and Citizens Utilities Co.

PUC President Harry L. Nock said the commission is aware that the U.S. faces an electric energy shortage at "some future date" and that expanded research and development is needed to avert it.

"We recognize that the future well-being of all Idaho citizens, including agricultural and business interests, will be adversely affected unless there is a viable solution to the problem," Nock said.

Ultimately, he said research and development costs must be "reflected in rates charged to consumers."

Therefore, in order to equitably distribute such costs to present and future customers, it is of the utmost importance that the commission be advised of current and pending plans and programs."

Nock said the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners has urged "prompt action" by state regulatory agencies to review the research-development programs being conducted by the companies under their jurisdiction.

"The Idaho commission has called the hearing on its own provide the state's electric motion to make sure that customers with the electric research and development energy they will need in the programs are adequate to future," he said.

First ransom hijacker living legend or not?

SEATTLE, (UPI) —With $200,000 cash strapped to his chest, he jumped out the rear exit of a 727 jet into the murky night to become the first of the ransom skyjackers, a legend known as "D. B. Cooper."

The question today is whether D. B. Cooper is a living legend or a dead one — "screwed into the ground-up-to-the-elbows," as the chief of security for the Federal Aviation Administration in this region believes.

It was a year ago this Thanksgiving Eve that the mysterious Cooper, whoever he may be, pulled his infamous hijacking. Brandishing what appeared to be a homemade bomb in a carrying case, he hijacked a Northwest Orient Airlines 727 shortly after it took off from Portland, Ore., for Seattle.

He demanded $200,000 in $20 bills and four parachutes and when these were put aboard at the Seattle-Tacoma international airport, he allowed the flight's 36 passengers and two stewardesses to disembark unharmed. Then he ordered Capt. William Scott, the pilot, and flight officers W. "Bob" Rataczak and H. E. Anderson and stewardess Tina Moulou to "take off for Mexico."

He demanded the plane fly at about 10,000 feet and at about 200 miles per hour and he prescribed a route that held it over the lowlands of Western Washington and Oregon.

When the plane landed at Reno for a "refueling stop" 3 1/2 hours later, the hijacker, the money, one parachute and the "bomb" were gone. The four crew members were unscathed.

The FBI is convinced the hijacker bailed out over southwestern Washington, most likely in the Lake Merwin area between the snow-mantled cone of 9,677-foot Mt. St. Helens and the Columbia River. Supporting this theory are the facts that the ramp of the rear exit was down when the plane landed at Reno and reports by the crew that they felt the craft lurch with a slight change of altitude at the time it was over that area.

Since then, this area has been scoured by searchers, including a contingent of more than 300 soldiers from Ft. Lewis sent there on "maneuvers." The bodies of two murdered women have been found, but not a sign of Cooper.

Nor have any of the $20 bills given the hijacker turned up at any bank or clearing house, and the serial numbers were noted before the bills were gathered from four Seattle banks for delivery to the 727.

Max Shaffer, chief of security for the Seattle FAA region, has been as close to the mystery as anyone.

"I'm inclined to go along with the FBI's theory that he's dead," said Shaffer. "I feel that one of these days some hunter in Oregon or Washington is going to find the skeleton of this man screwed into the ground up to the elbows."

He pointed out that although the hijacker seemed to be familiar with the procedures for bailing out, conditions for a jump were far from ideal. He wore oxfords, not jump boots; he was clad in a business suit, not a jump suit; the night was very dark, and it was raining.

"I'd certainly hate to jump from a 727 even under ideal conditions," Shaffer added.

The area into which he is believed to have jumped is thickly forested. As a young logger named Steve "Meatball" Grountman said in Nick's Tavern at Aerial: "You could walk past someone 20 feet away and never see them unless they yelled."

Yet, the crew reported that the hijacker appeared to be "very relaxed."

The folks who live around the 12-mile lake are convinced that Cooper dropped in among them, but their opinions are divided on whether he survived or "is hanging up in some tree as crow bait."

Many contend the incident was planned too carefully to have gone awry, but that's pure guess work. Even so, a lot of odd things happened around Lake Merwin on Thanksgiving eve and the night before.

For example, Jess Hatfield heard a thumping on his rooftop, and in the community of View, a small plane was reported to have landed at an isolated strip near the home of Mrs. Melvin Anderson. Emil Nelger's wife recalled the plane circling overhead.

And at La Center, five miles west of View, Mrs. Donald Haun remembered a small plane landed on a strip adjacent to the Haun's blackberry ranch the night before the hijack. The craft took off with the aid of automobile headlights, returned about 45 minutes later and then both the car and the plane left. Was that a rehearsal?

The night of the hijack, the Hauns, like just about every one else in and around La Center, were attending a wedding in the Evangelical Church.

And for some, inexplicable reason, an organized search for Cooper did not get really going in this area until the Saturday after Thanksgiving. The soldiers' helicopters much of the time were unable to penetrate the mist that shrouds the foothills and farmland around Lake Merwin. The 300-foot maximum depth of the Lake made a thorough search of its cold waters impractical.

Meantime, the FBI has checked out every possible clue — letters purportedly written by Cooper to newspapers and television stations; cigarette butts found in the forest, because the hijacker was a chain smoker, and even a Seattle area skydiver who resembles the composite of Cooper drawn from description says Cooper is "white with an olive complexion," 6-foot-1, 170-175 pounds, and in his mid-40s. His dark hair was cut short and neatly combed. He wore tinted glasses with dark frames and in addition to a dark suit, was clad in a white shirt with narrow black tie and a dark trenchcoat.

Regardless of whether he got away with the $200,000, several other persons were able to cash in on the episode, some with dire regrets.

And a Portland night club singer named Tom Bresh wrote and recorded a record called "D. B. Cooper, where are you?" with short-lived success.

At Aerial, Anna Friday penned and published a whimsical little book entitled "Skyjacker's Guide—Or Please Hold This Bomb While I Go To The Bathroom." It was illustrated by her cartooning brother-in-law, Bill. One of his cartoons shows a sleeping, contented bear with parachute shrouds dangling out of his mouth.

And then there is the case of former newsweek writer Karl Fleming of Los Angeles. He paid out $30,000 for an exclusive interview with D. B. Cooper for the new weekly "La," of which he is editor. That case comes up in federal court in Seattle Nov. 27 with William J. Lewis,

Cuba, was reported to have been for $2 million, although couple of Bremerton, Wash., real estate developers charged with conspiracy to defraud Fleming.

Since the Cooper hijacking, there have been 21 extortion hijacks of airplanes. In these a total of $12,712,000 has been demanded, Shaffer said. Only the $200,000 paid Cooper and $303,000 extorted May 5 by Frederick W. Hammelmann not been accounted for. The latest hijack, which wound up in

Three extortionist hijackers have been killed by FBI agents. They were Marilyn S. George at New York on Jan. 26, and Dmitri K. Alexied and Michael D. Azmanoff at San Francisco on July 5. A third man at San Francisco.

Thirty-one persons have been involved in the 22 attempts. Five are under arrest in Algiers and the $1 million they got has been returned. Hammelmann surrendered in Honduras and is serving a life sentence.

Party brass tarnished

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Communist party newspaper Pravda discovered something rotten in the Soviet republic of Georgia and some party brass got tarnished.

It started last month when a Pravda reporter started looking into the affairs of a man named Montselidze, the director of a Georgia pipeline factory. The reporter said he got an eyeful. "They are building dachas (villas) and crystal palaces whose architectural values and high cost a computer couldn't describe," Pravda's man wrote. "Montselidze built a house like in a fairy tale," he added. "He surrounded it with a wall as high as a tower. He built a courtyard decorated with marble and selted 350 square yards of forest."

How did Montselidze get that much money? According to Pravda, he tried an oldie in explaining it—that he inherited it.

Then someone else put it down to luck. He said a magician multiplied his savings so he could build a dacha. Pravda did not say who gave that reason but insiders speculated it was D.G. Abutidze, deputy minister of Georgian local industry, who also was cited in Pravda's article.

Things stayed that way until the Georgian ruling Central Committee read the Pravda piece.

Then this weekend, came an explanation.

The key was laid set aside for gardening societies—groups of factory workers given communal property where they can grow vegetables in their spare time.

"Certain dishonest persons" used this opportunity to join these societies and build private dachas and homes, said the Georgia newspaper Zvezda Vosloka Dawn of the East.

The officials usually used construction materials, machinery and even manpower from the local communes. They first surrounded the land with high fences, forbidden by commune law, then began the "illegitimate construction" behind them.

"Strange persons and relatives who had nothing to do with the collective gardening society were included," Zvezda Vosloka said. "Instead of including workers, only top officials were included."

In one commune of 32 members, none was a worker. Of the 40 members of Montselidze's pipe factory commune, only six were workers. —As in all Soviet tales of corruption, the moral shines through — the worker will triumph. Montselidze was fired and Abutidze lost his deputy minister post. And the "crystal palaces?"

They are being turned into rest homes for the district's working people.

Departures up

CANBERRA (UPI) —Nearly 3,000 immigrants left Australia last July, an increase of 200 over July, 1971, the Census and Statistic Bureau reports.

The figures reflect a general trend of increasing departures of immigrants for their homelands in the past three years. For the fiscal year 1971-72, 32,000 former settlers have left, an increase of 400 over the previous fiscal year. Immigrants arriving in Australia this July totaled 9,000, the bureau said.

She won

GABBS, Nev. (UPI) — Dorothy Wilson gambled for her job as justice of the peace and won.

She and Bill Wyer each received 146 votes in the general election for the judicial post.

Rather than go to the trouble of a runoff, they told County Clerk Rena Bailey to toss a coin and they would accept the outcome.

Mrs. Bailey flipped an 1884 silver dollar to decide the outcome of the race.

West, Soviet plans differ

HELSINKI (UPI) —The Western allies and the Soviet bloc have drafted broad-outlines for the security of Europe in the 1970's. Both sides want Europe to become a zone of lasting peace, but they differ widely on the type of peace they envisage.

The diplomatic battle for the future of Europe will be waged at the forthcoming all-European Security Conference which 32 European nations, the United States and Canada are charged to set up in preparatory negotiations opening here Wednesday.

The Communist countries have established a common front which calls for a sweeping non-aggression declaration by which all European countries, along with the United States and Russia, would pledge themselves to acknowledge the post-war frontiers of Europe—including all the territorial gains made by Russia at the end of World War II—and open up an era of closer economic and technological co-operation.

The West does not dispute Europe's borders of today and is favorably inclined toward expanding co-operation with the Communist bloc. But it wants security to be underpinned by concrete undertakings that would lower the barriers within Europe.

The multi-nation talks here are largely the result of Soviet pressure. The West restated the idea of a European Security Conference for years and even now approaches it reluctantly and with suspicion.

The Soviet Union seems to have a vital interest in the consolidation of Europe as it is now, because its post-war frontiers suit its requirements, because Moscow controls the East European nations and above all, because the Kremlin wants a secure back for any possible conflict with China in the Far East. The latter consideration has assumed more vital proportions in recent times, while the pacification of Europe has at least partly been achieved by the recent rapprochement of Russia and West Germany and by the Inter-German understanding.

For the West the problems are of a different nature. There are serious fears, based on experience in the past, that a sweeping peace declaration such as Moscow wants could create a false sense of security in the allied countries, undermine their cohesion and weaken their defense posture. Allied leaders see considerable and real dangers in this development.

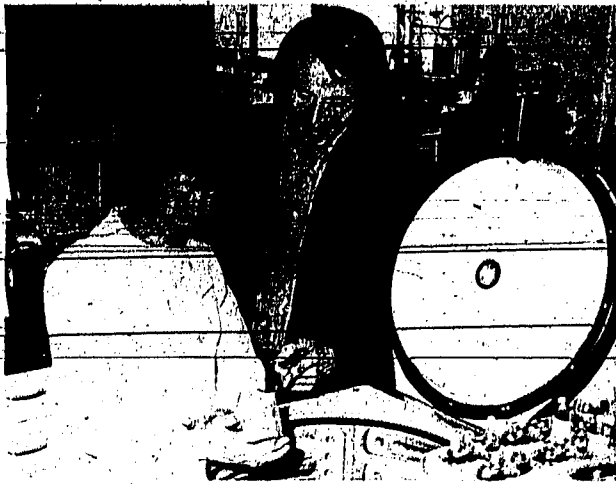

They therefore intend to pressure at least for some concessions from the Soviet

Analysis

Union which would terminate Moscow's claim to the right of interference in other countries whose socialist regimes the Kremlin considers endangered.

The allies also look for greater freedom of movement between the two parts of Europe, and aim at what they call "confidence building measures," including exchange of information on troop maneuvers and a freer flow of information to reduce the east-west barriers.

The Soviets are very suspicious of these designs. But they are also anxious to participate in some of the West's technological progress which would benefit Russia if agreement were reached.

Helpful CSI student

Student benefits hospital

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital officials say the talents of a young College of Southern Idaho student has saved them about $900 on a piece of vital equipment.

Steve Patterson, student in the CSI Vocational College, worked with the hospital to assemble an electronic speed indicator which the hospital laboratory now uses to calibrate the centrifuges of lab machines used in making chemical and other tests.

Patricia Neale, lab technician, heard about the machine while attending a clinical meeting in the midwest last year. The equipment is designed to check the machines for important and exact adjustment.

She said the equipment would cost more than $1,000 to purchase, but was available in kit form for only about $100 providing the technical assistance needed to assemble it could be found.

AN ELECTRONIC speed indicator which will keep laboratory machine centrifuges properly calibrated is tested by Patricia Neale and Steve Patterson. Mrs. Neale, laboratory technician at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, introduced the idea and Patterson assembled the equipment from a kit to save the hospital about $900.

Divorce in a book

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A man whose "divorce kit" business was closed down by the state bar association is back in business — as the publisher of a $29.95 book entitled "Nevada Divorce."

Del Brandon, who said Monday his book is being distributed all around the country by his Del-Mar Publishing Co., created a controversy earlier this year when he began selling the "divorce kits" for under $80 — compared to the $250 or more in attorney's fees for an uncontested divorce.

Contracts awarded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among federal contracts awarded Tuesday was almost $5 million for a national Aeronautics and Space Administration contract to Morrison-Knudsen, of Boise, U. S. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, announced.

The $4.7 million contract calls for all equipment, tools, services, and materials required to modify and expand facilities for assembly and check-out of unmanned spacecraft at Kennedy Space Center, according to N. A. S. A. officials.

In another grant announced Tuesday by the First District Congressman, The pharmacy school at Idaho State University was awarded $57,891.

Children give reasons for liking Thanksgiving

United Press-International — Is Thanksgiving one of your holidays because it means a change of dinner tables—that is until it's your turn to host? Or are you one of those fast-tiding persons who value Thanksgiving for what it's supposed to mean—a day of giving thanks and of prayer? Or would you rather just ignore it?

Whatever your feelings toward this traditional fall holiday, let's take a child's-eye view of it.

A pre-Thanksgiving survey at three Los Angeles elementary schools showed that children between the ages of 4 and 7 have very definite feelings about the holiday and what it means. A 4-year-old said, "Last time my Grandma came over and I saw her for the first time, but some other people came over too." When asked if she liked that, she said "I liked my Grandma but I didn't like those other people because they ate too much—and made—my Mommy very tired."

Another young lady said, "I like Thanksgiving because people stop fighting and start loving each other. People are always friends at Thanksgiving, even my Mommy and Daddy."

Another commented, "Thanksgiving is when we can give food to people when they come over to my house." A bubbly 6-year-old said, "I like Thanksgiving because I don't have to wait to give my parents presents." When asked why she gave her parents presents at Thanksgiving she replied, "Because they are always giving me something and I love them for it." After pondering a bit she added, "Besides that's what Thanksgiving means."

One young man said that Thanksgiving was his birthday and that "God gave me to my Mommy and Daddy so I could give them love and when I'm finished they can give me back to film."

Norwegian actress may be nominated for Oscar

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — For the first time in the long history of the Academy Awards a Norwegian actress may be nominated for an Oscar.

And deservedly so. Her name is Liv Ullmann. She stars in "The Emigrants" with such enormous impact that one is haunted by her beauty and versatility.

Liv is fair skinned, blue eyed and blonde haired. Her figure is fully feminine without exaggerating its qualities. Everything about the native of Oslo is understated. But the totality is breathtaking.

As in the case of such other Scandinavian stars as Greta Garbo and Ingrid Bergman, there is a subtle air of mystery to the girl.

She is not quite shy, nor withdrawn. There is about her a quiet restraint which stirs excitement. Her English is almost flawless.

"We have already completed the sequel, really the second part, of 'The Emigrants.' It is 'The Settlers,' and tells the story of the Swedish immigrants who settled in Minnesota in the last century. I am not Swedish myself. But they were a hardy people to survive the great distances and obstacles that faced them."

Liv is better acquainted with the Swedes than most actresses. She starred in five of Ingmar Bergman's pictures: "Hour of the Wolf," "Shame," "The Passions of Anna," "Unto a Good Land" and "Persona."

Her co-star in all but one of them was Max von Sydow who plays her husband in "The Emigrants."

"Bergman's films are respected and seen throughout the world," Liv said. "But he is too often misunderstood. Audiences become sophisticated and try to read things into his films that do not exist."

"He appeals to the emotions. People should not try to read intellectual meanings into his films."

Bergman also appeals to Liv's emotions. For a time — perhaps even yet — they were more than director and actress. But the lovely Norwegian skips nimbly past this part of her life.

So far this year only Liza Minnelli (Cabaret) and Tuesday Weld (Play It as It Lays) have been singled out for attention in the 1972 Oscar competition.

'August' termed history word

MOSCOW (UPI) — A collection of underground reviews of Alexander Solzhenitsyn's latest novel, "August 1914," circulating here has both praise and criticism for the work but says it answers the need for a "truthful word about history."

The 117-page document on the 1971 Nobel Prize winner's novel, made available to Western correspondents by dissident sources, gives a rare insight into the moods and thinking of Soviet dissident intellectuals.

It was reproduced by typewriter in the traditional "samizdat" (literally self-publication) method of the Soviet underground.

There is both praise and criticism of the book describing the disastrous Russian defeat at the hands of the Germans at the battle of Tannenberg in East Prussia.

But the anonymous author of the introduction says one thing on which all critics agree: it answers "the need for a truthful word about history, about man, about the fatherland—a world permeated with living anger and living love."

The introduction notes that none of the reviewers is a well-known critic (Western observers believe the names are pseudonyms) and adds: "Nevertheless, these are not the efforts of dilettantes. They are as interested as the author of the novel in the fate of Russia, in their love for the Russian People, its literature and its world."

The object of the reviews, the introduction says, is to "show the face of Russian reading society" to the outside world, to show that even under current conditions the Russian writer can "get an echo from his audience, a reflection in the mirror of his readers."

It is a good forum, according to the introduction, because "this is the first literature in the world, the literature of Samizdat."

Explaining how the reviewers managed to get copies of the novel, which, like all but the first of Solzhenitsyn's works is unpublished here, the introduction says it was not only difficult, but dangerous.

"It is secretly brought from abroad and retyped on typewriters or duplicated by other means."

Truman said MacArthur panicked

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Harry S. Truman realized from the outset that his decision to fire Gen. Douglas MacArthur during the Korean War would be unpopular, but because he "panicked," Truman's daughter said Tuesday.

Margaret Truman Daniel said her father foresaw that his decision would touch off a public furor and chose to say little or nothing in the weeks that followed, not interfering in a big welcome home for MacArthur.

In an interview on NBC-TV's Today about her new book based on Truman's private records, Mrs. Daniel said MacArthur was relieved because of the "shaky" military situation that threatened to explode into World War III. She said Truman felt that MacArthur's unauthorized statements threatening a U. S. invasion of China indicated "he was a man who sort of panicked."

MacArthur was relieved from his command of United Nations and U. S. forces in Korea on April 11, 1951, touching off nationwide protests and even producing demands in Congress for impeachment of responsible U. S. officials. Truman chose not to seek re-election the following year.

Asked for Truman's views on Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, Mrs. Daniel said, "We all liked him immensely," but added:

"Basically, he didn't like people ... He didn't understand the man in the street."

Truman, on the other hand, felt he could upset Thomas E. Dewey in 1948 "if he could be seen by enough people and talk to them." She said Truman's campaign was so short of funds in 1948 that "we barely got the train out of the station from time to time."

Mrs. Daniel's book is titled simply "Harry S. Truman." In excerpts published by Life Magazine Sunday, Mrs. Truman disclosed that her father balked at becoming President Franklin D. Roosevelt's running mate in 1944 because he did not want to enter the White House "through the back door" if the ailing Roosevelt died.

Ginger ale pushed as soft drink

NEW YORK (UPI) — Devotees of Scotch and gin sometimes look down their noses at those who prefer ginger ale as a mixer over club soda or tonic. Makers of ginger ale couldn't care less.

That's not just because they also make club soda and tonic. Led by Norton Simon, Inc.'s Canada Dry division, the ginger ale makers have expanded the sale of ginger ale as a plain soft drink beyond what anyone dreamed was possible. They have been helped somewhat by the medical profession, which often prescribes ginger ale for both surgical and medical patients.

TWIN FALLS — Training in diesel mechanics at the College of Southern Idaho Vocational School has been aided by a gift from Ford Tractor.

The Western District, Ford Tractor Division has donated to the college this year, diesel injection pumps, and two power trains for use in class work. The pumps are valued at $2,500 and will be used for students to assemble and disassemble during maintenance training work.

Eighteen of Stanford's heart recipients, including the new patient, are still alive.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

The contention that women tend to fall in love more frequently than do men again is confirmed. One Dr. Albert Ellis analyzed the romantic lives of 500 coeds. Exactly 71 per cent said they were in love at the moment. One in five said that between the ages of 12 and 18 she had been in love with at least three different lads. College men queried in the same survey admitted for fewer romantic attachments in their teen years. And only about 50 per cent claimed to be in love at the time of the poll.

IT'S NOT an absolute proven fact that one out of every six traffic fatalities is a suicide. But a team of Houston doctors, who have made an extensive study of killing crashes now believes such to be the case.

THAT ABOUT SEVEN out of every 10 American houses now are painted white has been reported. Am asked what color is next in popularity. It's gray.

QUERY Q. "What's the safest vehicle on the road?"

A. The school bus, happily. Doesn't mean they don't crash, sure enough. I zipped past a just-overturned school bus on the freeway the other day. Terrifying sight. There was a death, too, but not among the youngsters. Every tenth school bus that gets into a crackup turns over, statistics show.

NOBODY BUT a bridge player will savvy this sad line uttered by a young lady whose obstetrician had just informed her she was going to have twins. "Oh, it's just like Pete to double me when I was vulnerable."

Tree cutting restricted

TWIN FALLS — Christmas tree cutting in the Sawtooth National Forest will be restricted this year to two weekends in the South Hills and three weekends near Ketchum. Lewis Munson, Twin Falls district ranger, said 500 permits will be issued this year from the Diamond Field Jack Snowmobile area and they will be issued only on Dec. 9 and 10 and Dec. 16 and 17. Persons must cut the tree the day of the permit issuance and permits are available only at the Diamond Field Jack parking lot. The trees are to be used for personal use and cannot be cut for resale. Permits will be issued one per family at a cost of $1 each. No trees can be cut outside of the area covered by the permit. Lodge pole pine and alpine fir only will be cut this year. Cutting in the Ketchum area will be permitted Dec. 2 and 3, Dec. 9 and 10, and Dec. 16 and 17 only. There will be no pinon pine cutting allowed by the Bureau of Land Management in the Almo area this year, officials said. All of the available trees have been cut. Permits will be sold for $1 at the mouth of Baker Creek north of Ketchum.

Better way

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Scientists at the National Bureau of Standards laboratories have discovered a more accurate way to measure the speed of light — more accurate by about 15 thousandths of 1 per cent. The scientists at the NBS labs have announced they determined the speed of light 100 times "more accurately than any previous measurement. Although the difference is infinitesimal, it becomes significant to researchers dealing with interplanetary measurements. The refinement could mean as much as 850,000 miles considering light travels some 5,875 billion miles per hour, the scientists said. The measurement was obtained from Dr. Kenneth M. Evenson's work with laser beams.

Puerto Rico rejects plan

By PHIL NEWSOM. UPI Foreign News Analyst. Almost overlooked in President Nixon's landslide election victory was the surprise outcome of the voting in Puerto Rico which rejected both extremist demands for independence and the campaign to make Puerto Rico the 51st state. Instead, Puerto Ricans voted overwhelmingly for Rafael Hernandez Colon, 36, to take over as governor Jan. 2, and to return the Popular Democratic Party (PPD) to office after a four year absence. The vote was a reaffirmation of Puerto Ricans' satisfaction with their unique commonwealth relationship with the United States under which they enjoy U.S. citizenship but pay no U.S. income tax. It also was a sharp rejection of an Aug. 28, 1972, resolution adopted by the United Nations' Special Committee on Colonialism in effect declaring Puerto Rico to be a U.S. colonial territory entitled to independence. The resolution was sponsored by Cuba which also gives at least moral support to two pro-castro terrorist groups in Puerto Rico. In the Nov. 7 election the independence party won less than four per cent of the vote and failed to elect a single member of congress. In naming the personable Hernandez to be the island's youngest governor ever, the voters also rejected incumbent Gov. Luis A. Ferre and his New Progressive party. The 68-year-old Ferre had been an outstanding advocate of statehood for Puerto Rico although in four years in office had done little to implement it. Among opponents to statehood there is a fear it would mean assimilation of the Puerto Rican culture and the imposition of English as the official language in the schools. It also would mean that Puerto Rico would lose its present exemption from federal taxation. This tax relief is regarded by the Popular Democrats and by many independent economists as the key to the success of "Operation Bootstrap", the program which, under the leadership of former Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, lifted Puerto Rico from poverty. Munoz is Hernandez's political mentor. "Operation Bootstrap" is credited with creating more than 100,000 jobs after its inception in 1950 in some 2,000 factories attracted to the island by tax exemptions and cheap help. Hernandez says he is aware of Puerto Rico's continuing need to attract industry but he also believes the island's critical economic and social needs require some overhaul of the tax structure. He says the island is short 110,000 housing units and needs a program of public and private construction to yield 30,000 new units each year. He says he believes it can be done. Although the election was fought out on clear-cut issues, it also was a race between two attractive personalities with Ferre representing a father image and Hernandez youth in the Kennedy style.

Sewing workshop set in TF

TWIN FALLS — Sewing for the man in your life is just as much fun as sewing for yourself, says Mrs. Lou Ann Gilhooly, fashion specialist.

Mrs. Gilhooly, ARMO Co.'s fashion sewing consultant, will be in Twin Falls to assist women in tailoring men's jackets, pants and ties.

She will conduct a program at the College of Southern Idaho Monday at 8 p.m. in room 128 of the new vocational building on campus.

New techniques offered by ARMO in sewing men's jackets includes the new fusible interfacings, turning out a professional-looking lapel roll without pad stitching and getting a custom fit with ARMO's jacket-pattern will be covered in the one night program.

Mrs. Gilhooly uses actual jacket pieces to show, from start to finish, how easy it is to tailor a professional looking jacket.

Everyone attending the program will receive a booklet, "Sew Menswear," at no cost.

Mrs. Gilhooly is a graduate of Colorado State University with a bachelor of science degree in fashion merchandising.

She earned a fellowship to the Kansas State University where she received her master's degree. She now travels in 11 western states for ARMO Co., working with educators, retailers and consumers.

ASAP active in 35 states

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The television screen flickers into life. A young girl begins to sing:

"I want to dance. I want to love. I want to breathe..."

Then the voice fades away to be replaced by the deep baritone of a man who says the girl will do none of these things because "yesterday Janie died on an endless road in town — killed by a drunk driver."

In San Antonio, Tex., teams of police cruise the streets looking for drunk drivers. When a drunk is stopped the police use a videotape to show the man when he sobers up how he acted when he was drunk.

Movie actor Dana Andrews confesses on television that he once was a drunk driver, but now no longer drinks. In Fairfax County, Va., police using mobile vans with breath and blood testing equipment double their arrests for drunk driving on weekends.

In South Dakota a special counseling program for drunk drivers is set up on an Indian reservation.

In each instance, the people were part of a program funded by the Transportation Department's National High Traffic Safety Administration NHTSA to test new ideas for keeping "problem drinkers" off the road. Known as the Alcohol Safety Action Program ASAP, and financed with $82 million in federal funds, the program is operating in 35 states.

In Washtenaw County, Mich., officials opened a program to treat hard-core drunk drivers with a drug known as disulfiram, which makes a problem drinker violently ill if he takes alcohol.

Albuquerque, N. M., used the funds to set up a videotape program to film drunk drivers. In Nassau County, N. Y., money was spent to operate patrol cars which would only monitor "places where drinking and driving were likely to occur such as taverns," reports Alex Gritz, a program director for the NHTSA's office of Alcohol Counter Measures.

In Charlotte, N. C., money was spent on public education — "everything from newspaper ads to bumper stickers and shopping bags were offered in state liquor stores with warnings against drunk driving," Gritz said.

Advice on buying

WASHINGTON D. C. — The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Services has released tips for buying and serving high quality celery.

The release says "Look for fresh and crisp celery. The stalks should have a solid, rigid feel and leaflets should be fresh."

The service also advises that stalks should be light to medium green in color with mostly green leaflets and that celery should have a glossy surface.

It is recommended that celery be stored in a moisture proof bag in the refrigerator and that it be used within three to five days.

Crisp texture, fine flavor and low calorie content make celery a good vegetable choice, hot or cold. These serving suggestions are offered.

Marinated celery salad: Cook one bunch celery in two cups chicken broth until fork tender. Drain. Marinate overnight in one cup French, garlic or Italian salad dressing. Serve on a bed of lettuce topped with chopped chives or green onions. Serves six.

Celery saute: Melt one-fourth cup butter in saucepan. Add four cups celery cut in one-half inch thick slices. Stir and cook four minutes. Add one-fourth cup soy sauce, one teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and salt to taste. Cook two minutes. Serves six.

LOOKING happy as a new world record holder should, Mrs. Ronald B. Pruitt, Houston, accepts her jumbo of Chateau Mouton-Rothschild vintage 1929. Mrs. Pruitt paid $9,600 for the single bottle at a recent auction in Houston. The previous record was $9,200 for a similar bottle sold earlier this year. The bottle was purchased as a Christmas gift for her husband. (UPI)

AN IDEAL THANKSGIVING

By Mary Sue Miller

Once upon a time an American family drove to Grandma's house in the country to spend Thanksgiving Day. They gave thanks not only while at Grandma's, but during the entire trip as well.

For example, they were thankful to note as they drove down their street, that no man or any other animal had defecated their lawns, sidewalks and gutters with paper, beer cans, broken glass or any other litter.

And they were thankful when they stopped at the red light, that the driver behind them did not pollute the silence with his hideous horn only a few seconds before the light turned green.

And they were thankful when they swung onto the highway and found that the air, free of poisonous pollution, smelled sweet as they breathed deeply. And found that no billboards screened off their view of majestic hills, lacy waterfalls, and groves of unscarred birches.

And when they turned onto the old road, rumbled over the wooden bridge, and saw that no detergent foam, dead fish or junked autos clogged the mossy rocks below, they were again thankful.

That Ideal Thanksgiving was once upon a time, in the year 2000. But we can make it come twenty years sooner, if we all work at it. And then we will be truly thankful.

Program set for children, adults

TWIN FALLS — SITKA, a festival, ecological films, program in art and environmental education for children and adults, is planned in Twin Falls.

Frank and Jane Boyden, founders and directors of the Neskonim Coast Foundation, will present a film relating to the development of the SITKA program at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the CSI Art Cottage, according to Mike Green, art department at CSI.

The program will be open to the public free of charge. Imagine a program featuring boat trips, an outdoor film festivals, ecological films, lectures on marine biology and movies ranging from W. C. Fields, Buster Keaton, Charlie Chaplin and Laurel and Hardy.

It will include works by young contemporary filmmakers, raku pottery sessions, use of movie camera's drawing in grand scale on sand, improvisational music and theater, spontaneous projects like making and launching a hot air balloon and the study of geology, marine and plant life.

According to Green, "What we have is a program of sheer joy in learning and living."

Medical fund

TWIN FALLS — A fund has been started for the victims of last week's Oregon plane crash, Dean Vickers said Tuesday.

The fund will be known as the Zeb Bell-Dean Ricketts Medical fund. Contributions may be sent or brought to Vickers Saddlery, 259 Shoshone St. S. Inquiries may be made by telephoning 733-7096.

New record

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — Twenty-one freshmen at Westminster College claimed a new record recently — 518 continuous hours in a rocking chair in a fund-raising drive for a children's hospital in Pittsburgh.

Student spokesman Steve Nardorzi said the freshmen had raised $183 so far. He said the old record the students used in shifts was bought at an auction for $4.50.

Ski fitness course set at TF 'Y'

TWIN FALLS — With the ski season just around the corner, the Magic Valley YMCA, starting Monday, will be offering course in ski fitness.

The eight session program will be conducted on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the YMCA-YWCA facility, 1751 Elizabeth Blvd.

Instructor for the course will be Mrs. Virginia Undheim, skier and physical education instructor at O'Leary Junior High School. Mrs. Undheim indicated that the course will consist of six different types of exercises each evening, all of which are designed to "get you in shape for the ski season."

program will accommodate adults, and will be an excellent method for teen-agers to train for the skiing.

The cost is $8 for YMCA and YWCA members and $10 for non members.

Chuck Upton, YMCA director, quoting from a recent article said, "Many skiers come from sedentary professions and too often are in poor physical condition for such a strenuous sport as skiing. The sport will be far more enjoyable, if pre-ski conditioning exercises are practiced to develop sufficient strength, agility, flexibility and endurance to carry on the activity easily and skillfully."

The class will be limited to 30 participants.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: If I were to set down all the things for which I have to be thankful this Thanksgiving Day, I could fill this page. But I would like to share with you a few unpublished letters. And for these, I am truly thankful:

DEAR ABBY: Because you answered my letter I have regained some of my confidence in people in general. I had my doubts about an answer from you; I guess you showed me.

You wouldn't believe what a difference your few words of advice have made in me. I am much more sure of myself now, and maybe that was the trouble all along. I think I must have just wanted someone to listen to me.

Holiday memories

I have decided to try very hard to become a happy, carefree person and enjoy what is left of my senior year in high school. Now that I am meeting people halfway, I find they want to be friendly as much as I. Thank you so much, Abby. And may God bless you, too. Peace. Love, GINNY

DEAR ABBY: Thru your column, I discovered ALANON—the organization which helps the families of alcoholics learn how to live with an alcoholic.

My husband was an alcoholic for many years, but he wouldn't admit it to himself, so of course he had no reason to go to a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Thru my association with ALANON, would you believe my husband agreed to attend an A. A. meeting, and now he is sober and has been for seven months?

Don't tell me miracles can't happen. It happened to us. May God bless you. MORE THAN GRATEFUL IN L. A.

DEAR ABBY: I am a Vietnamese woman. I read your column every day in Stars and Stripes. I want to thank you for the help you have given me with learning to read English. Many other Vietnamese people find that reading your column is a good way to improve their English in an interesting and easy way.

I never studied English in school. I have a basic knowledge of French, but thanks to your column, I can have many more words of English.

I will be proud if you print this, and let everybody know you have helped me and lots of other Vietnamese people. Thank you, Dear Abby.

NIHIEU: DANAG, SOUTH VIETNAM

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column signed "TOO LATE." It was from a woman who had time to go everywhere but to visit her elderly parents who sat alone night after night. Only after they died did she realize how selfish she had been, and she went to visit their graves and wondered if God would ever forgive her.

Well, thank God, I am not too late because I, too, was too busy to visit my elderly parents, but that letter woke me up, and now I am trying to make up for my selfishness. Bless you for printing it. NOT TOO LATE IN SEATTLE

DEAR READERS: If you have no special "grace" for your Thanksgiving meal, please use mine:

"O, heavenly Father:
We thank Thee for food and remember the hungry
We thank Thee for health and remember the sick.
We thank Thee for friends and remember the friendless
We thank Thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.
May these remembrances stir us to service
That Thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen"

Have a happy, healthy Thanksgiving. ABBY

Hints

Want a larger piece of ice than can be made in the conventional ice tray? Use a thoroughly cleaned milk carton and freeze in your freezer.

Fasten a shoe bag to the back of the front seat of the auto. It's a good place to put baby's bottles, or toilet accessories.

To color drinks use ice cubes in which pieces of maraschino cherries, orange, grapefruit have been frozen in.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Prisoners in the stockade at Ft. Carson will be the guests of local families today for Thanksgiving dinner.

Maj. Artis B. Mosley Jr., Base corrections officer, said the prisoners would be farmed out for eight hours to residents in the Denver, Pueblo and Colorado Springs areas.

He said inmates charged with serious crimes would be accompanied by a guard from the stockade, but that soldiers in jail only for being absent without leave would be unescorted.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"To reverse, or not to reverse," thought Hamlet to himself. The Melancholy Dane was too ethical a player to soliloquize out loud during the bidding.

Then Hamlet decided to respond one diamond rather than one heart. He had almost enough for an immediate jump response, but decided that slow bidding would work best with his 17 high-card points.

When the fair Ophelia rebid to one spade, Hamlet was able to force with two hearts. Ophelia jumped to four diamonds and after checking for aces by use of an old Danish form of Blackwood, Hamlet contracted for the diamond slam.

It was a very wise move. There was no defense against six diamonds since Hamlet was able to ruff his deuce of hearts for his 12th trick.

The game was team-of-four and at the other table the final contract was six no-trump. West opened the jack of spades and while declarer tried desperately to develop a squeeze there was no way to work it out and he had to go down one trick.

Hamlet's decision to reverse had not necessarily led to the right contract, but had certainly made the rest of the bidding easy.

Nixon hurries to task

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is expected to waste little time turning his landslide election into legislative action.

Aides say the President believes that the Democratic-controlled 93rd Congress is likely to be no more cooperative with his domestic programs than the 92nd and thinks he must move quickly while memories of his landslide are fresh in the minds of congressmen.

Nixon has previously remarked that he usually can have his way in foreign policy. Congress and the country traditionally unites behind the President when he is dealing with other countries. Despite the widespread opposition to the war in Vietnam, Congress never limited his authority to act in this field.

But domestic policy is another thing. Here his aides feel his overwhelming victory will help for a while but likely will be dissipated as time passes and various political currents are brought to bear on specific proposals.

The period before his inauguration Jan. 20 will be one of intensive planning of the second Nixon administration. The President earlier this week flew to his retreat at Camp David for more than a week of contemplation and planning sessions with top assistants.

Much already has been made about his plans to pare the federal bureaucracy down to size.

But beyond this, proposals are anticipated for reorganizing the entire administrative branch of the government, combining several Cabinet departments and eliminating some of their functions.

In addition, he plans to push forward his revenue sharing program, expanding it far beyond the five-year $30.2 billion program already enacted. This would turn huge sums of federal money over to state and local governments to use on problems that previously had been handled by Washington.

Truman's daughter tells all

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harry S. Truman reluctantly accepted the 1944 vice presidential nomination despite reverberations that he eventually would succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt as chief executive by the "back door," his daughter disclosed Sunday in a Life magazine article.

In an excerpt from her forthcoming book, Margaret Truman Daniel said that her father revealed to her that he did not want the second spot on the ticket—because he knew that Roosevelt was near death.

He made the disclosure in a letter to his daughter mailed 10 days prior to the 1944 Democratic convention. It read:

"Yes, they are plotting against your dad. Every columnist or bright prognosticator is trying to make him VP against his will. It is funny how some people would give a fortune to be as close as I am to it and I don't want it."

"...Hope I can dodge it. 1800 Pennsylvania is a nice address but I'd rather not move in through the back door—or any other door at 60 (his age)."

Mrs. Daniel said the comment about the back door "made it clear that Dad had been told what almost everyone in the White House circle knew—that Franklin D. Roosevelt was a sick man. For someone with my father's knowledge of American history, this created a very unpleasant prospect."

"It was obviously on his mind when he remarked to a reporter: 'Do you recall what happened to most vice presidents who succeeded to the presidency? Usually, they were ridiculed in office, had their hearts broken, lost any vestige of respect they had had before. I don't want that to happen to me.'"

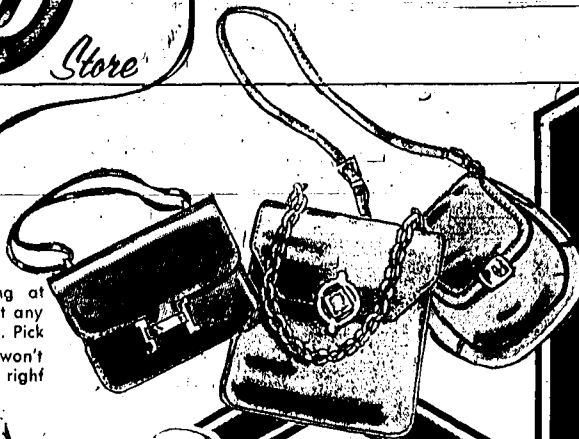

At another time, Mrs. Daniel said her father referred to Roosevelt's health. "It doesn't seem to be any mental lapses of any kind, but physically, he's just going to pieces."

Turkey prices higher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today Thanksgiving holiday turkeys are bringing growers higher prices, despite sharply increased production.

In a summary of the poultry and egg situation, the department also said prospects for somewhat lower production of eggs early next year will provide prices to farmers "well above the depressed levels of a year earlier."

Broiler prices will be somewhat less in December, but will rise after that to "moderately above the previous year," the summary added.

Turkey prices "have moved above a year ago despite substantially larger supplies and will continue higher in coming months," the report said. Turkey meat production is 7 per cent above a year ago. Early 1973 will see substantial increases, "with the trend to year-around turkey consumption," the department predicted.

The rate of turkey hatchings has increased for 1973 marketing, the report noted, and turkey breeder flock owners plan to keep slightly more breeder hens for the 1973 hatching season.

The department said turkey supplies on Nov. 1 totaled 472 million pounds, down four million from a year previously.

No carving

NOT EVERYBODY enjoys carving a big bird on Thanksgiving Day, so the production line of frozen turkey dinners worked full speed at the Morton Frozen Foods division of ITT, in Crozet, Va., one of the largest producers of frozen TV dinners in the country. The firm also produced more than 4 million frozen pumpkin and mince pies for the holiday season. (UPI)

Cranberries now popular as ever

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The story goes that Pilgrims ate cranberries in their first Thanksgiving feast.

That tradition of adding cranberries to the holiday menu had a severe emotional setback years ago, but now, the tart berries and their sauce are more popular than ever.

Americans consume about a pound of cranberries per person each year, either as cranberry sauce with holiday turkey and trimmings, or as juice or juice blends.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates the current crop will produce 2.025 million barrels. Each barrel has approximately 100 pounds of fruit and brings the farmer $12 to $13.

Last year's record crop was 2.265 million barrels. The amount has gone down because of somewhat smaller fruit size this year and as a result of freeze damage to the cranberry bogs.

The cranberries are snapped up by housewives mostly during the holiday season, but the Sept. 1-to-Dec. 31 general harvest period also produces much for freezing and processing.

The grower cooperative, Ocean Spray, which controls all but about 15 per cent of the market, encourages housewives to buy an extra pound and freeze the berries for use later in the year.

The expanding market for cranberry juice, or combinations with apple or prune or grape juice, is brisk but still only a fraction of the cranberry sauce volume.

One expert wondered, rather wistfully, if only cranberry wine had become the "pop wine" of the "now generation," the market would zoom.

The market faltered in 1959, after the secretary of health, education and welfare announced the weed killer used by cranberry growers, aminoflotoz, could cause cancer in experimental animals.

The weed killer was banned from use in the berry bogs and the growers destroyed much of their crop. That was just before the heavy holiday season. The government saved growers' financial wounds with direct payments of $8.6 million to make up for their lost product.

The growers turned to other, certified-safe weed killers and worked to pick up the strings of the market. With controls on acreage and studies of the market, the cranberry recovered.

Cranberries are grown in bogs, mostly in Massachusetts and Wisconsin, but in smaller amounts in New Jersey, Washington, Oregon and a few other states.

The bogs used to be natural and the fruit wild, back in Pilgrim times, but now the bogs are controlled by pumped water and the growing and harvest are closely watched.

And growing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Californians' total tax bill is now above $42 billion a year, according to the Californian Taxpayers Association.

Meal refunded

HOUSTON (UPI) — The U. S. Treasury Department has refunded a $10 meal for Donny Firsching's two pet rats.

The rats consumed half a $10 bill the 11-year-old boy left too near his rat cage. The remains were sent to the Treasury Department with an explanation. Monday Donny received a government check for the money he earned at a summer job.

Poet gets wish

CHICAGO (UPI) — Thanks to "politics, publicity and prayer," exiled Romanian poet Vasile Postelnicu's death wish has been granted — one last visit from his daughter.

Postelnicu, critically ill with terminal cancer in Columbus Hospital, was informed by Romanian officials Monday that his daughter, Mrs. Donna Vircol, 33, and her 3-year-old son, Alexander, have been granted a 30-day permit to visit the United States.

"She could arrive in Chicago as early as today," a hospital spokesman said. "We are praying that he will live to see her."

Informed of the decision by Romanian officials to relent and allow his daughter to visit him, Postelnicu, with tears in his eyes said: "God wanted me to die happy... I thank God that I will see my daughter before God takes me." Then he was placed under sedation.

Postelnicu has bitterly criticized communism in his writings and speeches.

Postelnicu fled Romania in 1941, leaving behind his wife, their daughter, then 3, and a son, Dorin, 8 months. He lived in Germany, Austria, and Canada before coming to the United States. While in Germany, Postelnicu was put in a Nazi concentration camp during World War II because of his political beliefs.

Mrs. Postelnicu joined her husband in the United States in 1968, and their son, an engineer, came in 1970. Both were to have returned to Romania, but did not.

A professor of modern language at Mankato State College in Minnesota before cancer disabled him, Postelnicu came with his wife to Chicago to spend his last days under the care of an old friend Dr. Alexander Ronnett, also a vocal anti-Communist exile who was with Postelnicu in the Buchenwald concentration camp.

The professor, who has made his own funeral arrangements, desperately wanted to see his daughter. His friends launched a campaign to get her here.

However, Romanian officials refused to grant a permit until Monday.

Whoops, there

ALMOST everything was shipshape, except for a new member of the USS Sanctuary crew slipping on a wet gangway as the crew hurries for the first watch. The vessel is the first in the U. S. fleet to include crewwomen, other than nurses, aboard. (UPI)

Navy ship has first mixed crew

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The crewpeople of the USS Sanctuary forswore no "sex" problems when the Navy hospital ship weighs anchor next month for the high seas.

Randee Heath, 19, seaman apprentice, Orlando, Fla., said she "loves" the concept of a mixed-crew — the first ever in the U.S. fleet.

"It makes for better atmosphere," she said. "It's fun and a novelty. We're just like brothers and sisters."

Seaman Heath is one of about 40 women currently assigned to the Sanctuary, a hospital-dependent support ship that was recommissioned in a colorful ceremony Saturday.

When the ship sails for its shakedown cruise next month, women will be working alongside the men — standing watches, swapping decks, painting stacks, and cooking chow.

Whatever they do, the Navy will be watching. If no problems arise during the pilot program, the way will be open for women to serve aboard other Naval non-combatant vessels.

Ensign Rosemary Nelson, Walla Walla, Wash., the first woman officer in a ship's crew, said she didn't think her gender would pose problems.

"The real story is with the enlisted women," said Miss Nelson, 24, "They don't have their rank to protect them."

James Walczak, 24, Toledo, Ohio and a Hospitalman 3-C, said he had no objection to female sailors "if they do their work."

Lt. (JG) Ann E. Kerr, 26, Aptos, Calif., and the first "line officer" to be assigned shipboard duty said the mixed crews make the Navy "realistic."

"Most of the women have been accepted gracefully," she said, adding that morale was high and the crew "looks better."

Walczak said women — a traditional bad luck symbol on ships of olden days — could generate difficulties.

"But we must respect each other," he said. "If they conduct themselves properly... well... there are a lot of ports so there shouldn't be much of a problem."

Expert beekeeper blind

FORT BENTON, Mont. (UPI) — Charles Larson is an expert beekeeper, master at handling the small honey producers in the fashion required to achieve top colony production.

Despite his skill he admits, "I have been stung a few times."

But Larson, blind since 1964, is quick to observe that "every beekeeper gets stung once in a while."

Not wanting to live on welfare, and with a family to support, he went to Wyoming in 1965 and worked with a friend until he learned how to extract honey from hives and how to raise bees.

He learned his lessons well. His firm, "Big Sky Honey," produced 24,000 pounds of honey last year.

His family tends about 600 bee colonies, using 1,200 boxes and has from 10 to 50 colonies in each bee hive.

Larson uses special guides on his power saws when he builds the boxes to make them the right size.

With help from his family, he renovated the building they are using so that "I would know just where everything is," the honey man said.

Larson sells all of his comb honey in surrounding towns, but ships a large quantity of the liquid product and beeswax back to the Midwest.

He added the price of honey is expected to go up soon and "it looks like the market will be good next season."

High flight plan tested

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — A magnetic levitation system designed to allow vehicles high-speed flight above an aluminum guideway underwent its first successful test in the United States Monday.

The concept, when fully developed, would enable trains to reach speeds of 300 miles per hour while floating a foot above the tracks.

A 14-foot-long vehicle weighing 600 pounds lifted from a test track Monday and "levitated" successfully for 250 feet at the Stanford Research Institute. Scientists at the facility 30 miles south of San Francisco called the experiment a "real milestone" that matched Japan's successful levitation of a vehicle by a similar system five weeks ago.

Using supercooled magnets and coils, the system utilizes natural magnetic repulsion of similar polarities to give the lifting effect.

"The vehicle is carried along the guideway on its four wheels until the magnets on its lower surface cause current to flow in the aluminum guideway below," SRI said. "These currents build up magnetic fields that repel the magnets on the vehicle, pushing the vehicle off the ground."

SRI is developing the system under a contract with the Federal Railroad Administration of the Department of Transportation.

If you buy one of Polaroid's Focused Flash cameras during this special offer, every picture you take until next July will be guaranteed. It's true. Polaroid guarantees you'll be delighted with all the pictures you take - or you'll get free film to take them over again.

Here's how it works: You'll receive a booklet of coupons when you purchase your camera. Each one entitles you to return to Polaroid any color pictures you take and judge to be unsatisfactory for any photographic reason for free replacement Colorpack film before July 1, 1973.

Polaroid can offer this unusual guarantee because they feel the Focused Flash Land camera and Colorpack Land film make an almost foolproof combination. Focused Flash keeps your flash shots light or too dark. An electric eye and electronic shutter automatically control your other shots. Indoors or out, there's never an exposure calculation to be concerned with.

There are four models to choose from, packed with features, and they all make guaranteed pictures.

Offer expires
November 30, 1972.

The Polaroid Camera Girl will be here Friday, November 24 from 5 P.M.-9 P.M. and Saturday, November 25 from 11 A.M.-4 P.M. to take your picture. Come have your picture taken FREE.
