

Kissinger, Viet envoy continue negotiations

PARIS (UPI) — U. S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger conferred for about one hour today with North Vietnam's chief peace negotiator in a meeting neither scheduled nor announced in advance because the two negotiators did not want it publicized.

Vietnamese Communist sources said the meeting was held at Kissinger's request. Neither side gave any details of the meeting.

In Washington, President

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho would meet again Saturday in a continuation of their daily meetings that began Monday.

Ziegler said the usual procedure for announcing times for the meetings in advance was not followed for today's session because the negotiators did not want any publicity on it. Kissinger also called on French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann today, Ziegler said.

Earlier, both sides had said no meeting was scheduled today. It would have been the first hiatus in this latest round of negotiations, which began Monday in an effort to find an acceptable peace formula.

Newsmen who trailed Kissinger said the meeting today took place in a villa owned by the North Vietnamese delegation and located two blocks from its mission in suburban Champs Elysees.

The newsmen said Kissinger slipped out of the rear exit of the U. S. embassy residence in Paris, went to the villa and stayed about one hour.

As the negotiators left, a television network correspondent remarked to Kissinger: "It's getting harder and harder to find a place for a secret rendezvous, isn't it, Dr. Kissinger?"

Kissinger, he said, replied: "It certainly is."

Kissinger has been meeting with Tho and Xuan Thuy at suburban Gif Sur Yvette, 15 miles from Paris since Monday.

Earlier today, a Viet Cong spokesman said the continued support of South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu by the United States is blocking a peace settlement.

"We wonder if the United States really wants peace, since it keeps supporting Thieu, the Viet Cong spokesman said.

"Thieu is opposed to peace. There has been no change in our demands that Thieu must go."

Kissinger and the Hanoi envoys conferred Thursday for more than six hours.

Plane, woman seized

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — A man believed armed with a pistol seized a stewardess inside an empty Air Canada plane at Rhein-Main airport Friday and demanded the release of Czechoslovak nationals jailed in Germany for air piracy, police said.

Police surrounded the plane on the strip at Germany's biggest airport.

Neither police nor airline officials had details on who the man was nor specifically which convicted hijackers he wanted released in return for the stewardess' safety.

The man said he wanted "Czechs." A number of Czechoslovaks have been sentenced in West Germany for hijackings.

"We believe he has a pistol and police have surrounded the plane," a police spokesman at the airport said.

He said the Air Canada plane had no other occupants at the time the incident occurred. He said it appeared the woman was either checking over the plane between flights or was taken on board by her assailant.

An Air Canada spokesman described the man as about 50 years old who spoke German with a thick East European accent.

He identified the craft as Air Canada's flight 607, a DC-8 that was due to fly from Frankfurt to Montreal via Shannon, Ireland, Friday afternoon.

The incident occurred only about four weeks after Arab guerrillas hijacked a Lufthansa airliner over Turkey and succeeded in forcing Germany to release three Arabs held on charges they participated in the Munich Olympics massacre of Israeli athletes.

Man chokes at dinner

BUHL — A former Buhl resident, Walter Owen Harnar, 64, visiting relatives in Buhl for the holiday, died Wednesday night after choking on food.

Harnar was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by the family after choking. He died later in the evening. The Albertson-Dickard mortuary said cause of death is listed as asphyxiation. County Coroner Cloyce Edwards said he was not called and did not investigate the death.

Raid costs Navy jet; Viet ground war slows

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command today reported the loss of a Navy Corsair jet which crashed into the sea after making a bombing run against North Vietnam. It was the eighth American plane downed in combat in four days.

The pilot parachuted into the South China Sea and was rescued uninjured.

Earlier an American observation plane was shot down. In the ground war the South Vietnamese command reported only 55 Communist attacks throughout the country in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, the lowest number since Sept.

28. The attacks included the 13th consecutive day of shelling against South Vietnamese marine positions north of Quang Tri and heavy fighting in the Central Highlands, the Saigon region and the Mekong Delta.

Both sides have been re-equipping in haste and stepping up the combat level in order to have as much equipment on hand and as much territory under control as possible in the event of an in-place cease-fire and accompanying freeze on new shipments of weapons. The Navy jet that crashed Thursday night had earlier made an unsuccessful carrier-landing attempt. The command did not disclose the name of the carrier. The 7th Fleet said Lt. Cmdr. Dave Edwards was returning from a combat mission over North Vietnam shortly after 10 p.m. in dark, misty weather and belly-landed on the deck. Military sources said his landing gear collapsed. The Navy said Edwards managed to flight his craft into the air again.

Edwards headed toward the U.S. air base at Da Nang but 30 miles short of his goal the plane went out of control and Edwards parachuted to safety. In the ground war, North Vietnamese gunners poured 1,530 rounds of mixed artillery and mortar fire into marine positions north of Quang Tri, 404 miles north of Saigon.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev is expected to visit the United States sometime next April as the guest of President Nixon, diplomatic sources said today.

When Nixon visited Moscow last May, he invited the entire ruling-trio which also includes Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny. The invitation to the troika was a matter of protocol and all accepted.

It was obvious that only one of them would actually make the visit and Brezhnev, as the first among equals, would be the first Soviet leader to visit Washington since the late Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's trip in 1959.

Like Khrushchev when he was President Dwight D. Eisenhower's guest, Brezhnev will be received with all the honors due a chief of state although Podgorny is titularly chief executive while Brezhnev's title is general secretary of the party.

But the chief executive here is a collective body over which Podgorny presides. It consists of the chairman, 15 vice-chairmen, a secretary and 20 members.

Brezhnev is one of the members—the sole state position he holds. In that capacity, he can be temporarily designated chief of state for needs of protocol.

In related developments, other authoritative sources denied recent rumors widely circulated abroad that Brezhnev has been seriously ill.

It also was announced that the general secretary would visit Hungary at the end of the month. He is expected in Budapest on Nov. 27.

Israelis hit guerrillas

By United Press International Israeli and Arab guerrilla forces fought a one-hour battle in south Lebanon in the first such action in 10 weeks, both sides reported today. A guerrilla spokesman said the Israelis arrived by helicopter to engage guerrillas.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli spokesman said one of its troops was wounded while several guerrillas were "hit."

The Palestine news agency said in Beirut that four guerrillas were wounded. It also mentioned "casualties" on the Israeli side but did not say how many.

It was the first reported clash inside Lebanon between Israelis and guerrillas since mid-September.

The Israeli military command said its infantrymen were patrolling "not far" inside Lebanon when the clash occurred. It said the troops withdrew shortly afterwards.

But the Palestinian news agency said fighting went on for at least one hour.

Arab newsmen in the region said the Israeli force concentrated its attack on a guerrilla base.

In a statement carried by the guerrilla Palestine News Agency the spokesman said a number of Israelis were "hit" in the clash.

"An Israeli helicopter landed troops at 3:30 a.m. in an area between the south Lebanon villages of Ibl el-Saqi and Khreibeh," the agency said. "The intruding troops were attacked by our forces in the area, and the fighting lasted one hour. The enemy was soon evacuating its casualties in a helicopter."

A Palestinian statement earlier said four guerrillas were wounded in the encounter with the Israeli unit.

Newsman in the area said two guerrillas were killed and others wounded in the fighting. There was no official confirmation of the incident from the government in Beirut. Israeli military sources said its troops regularly patrol both sides of the border in announced actions.

At mid-morning, United Press International reported 206 persons had died in traffic accidents across the United States; eight were dead from fires; plane crashes killed three and 10 died from other causes.

The holiday toll stood at 252.

Legalize pot, Gem unit asks

BOISE (UPI) — A Moscow filed an initial initiative petition with the secretary of state Friday to legalize the private use of marijuana in Idaho.

James Calvert, university station, Moscow, filed a petition bearing the names of 20 persons asking that sanctions against private use of pot in the Gem state be removed.

He asked the secretary of state to obtain a ruling on the sufficiency of the petition so a drive could be started to obtain the 24,512 voter signatures needed to put it on the General Election ballot in 1974.

In a cover letter, Calvert said the petition will be circulated by the "Idaho People's Party," formerly known as "The Peace and Freedom Party."

The proposal, if enacted into law, also would require the judiciary to review the cases of persons imprisoned or on probation for offenses which would no longer be a crime.

NATO urges expansion

BONN (UPI) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) today to expand its seapower frontiers into the South Atlantic and Indian Oceans and to speed up studies on forming a single NATO army.

At its final session, the NATO advisory body passed a series of military recommendations designed to strengthen the organization in advance of any East-West negotiations on troop reductions in Europe.

One recommendation concerning Soviet maritime forces urged NATO to give the organization's military commander authority to plan for the protection of Europe's shipping lines in the Indian Ocean and the South Atlantic, including surveillance and communications.

At present, NATO's southern sea frontier ends at the Tropic of Cancer off the coast of North Africa.

The recommendation was based on an assembly report which said a new Soviet threat to shipping in the southern seas had made that frontier "illogical."

The assembly's recommendations have no binding force upon NATO or its 15 member governments and Western diplomats said the new sea frontier proposal would draw opposition because it implies the need for NATO to cooperate with South Africa on naval logistics and communications.

Laird knows successor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who is leaving the administration in two months, says he knows the identity of his successor at the Pentagon but refuses to reveal who it is.

Administration sources, meanwhile, said Thursday they are "97 per cent sure" that the new defense chief will be HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson. Laird, who was asked about his successor during an interview in the Washington Star-

News, said he already knew who his replacement would be. But he declined to go beyond that.

The sources said that Richardson, former undersecretary of state, will take over for Laird.

Postal service ready for yule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service says it is ready to handle the Christmas mail crush and confidently predicts that the once-a-year onslaught will be processed promptly.

"We do not expect a slowdown" because of the heavy Christmas load, Herbert Wurth, a spokesman for the government's mail delivery system said Thursday. "We can give prompt service if mailers get their goods on the path promptly."

According to Wurth, the old Post Office Department hired thousands of temporary workers to process the Christmas mail crunch.

The new semi-independent service will be able to handle 90 per cent of the load with regular employees thus speeding up service, he said. The remaining 10 per cent will be turned over to "casual" employees hired especially for the holiday season.

Wurth said air mail offers the best hope for prompt delivery — 95 per cent of it within 24 hours in 600 cities and the balance the following day.

Finland recognizes Germany

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finland formally recognized East and West Germany today, becoming the first Western country to recognize East Germany and the first major country to establish ties with both Germanys.

The decision was taken at a cabinet meeting.

Immediately after the meeting foreign minister Ahti Karjalainen dispatched similar worded telegrams to West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and his East German counterpart, Otto Winzer.

Swedish Foreign Minister Krister Wickman said earlier his government would recognize East Germany before the end of the year and Denmark and Norway also have indicated they will do so.

"We have the honor to inform your excellencies that the government of Finland has decided to recognize the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic," the Finnish telegrams read. "I ask you, Mr. Ministers, to convey to your government the hope of the government of Finland, that the already existing good relations between our countries will be further developed and strengthened."

The Finnish government proposed the establishment of diplomatic relations with both the German states in September, 1971, Finland and Germany are technically still in a state of war.

Finland also wants both Germanies to recognize Finnish neutrality.

Although there have been no diplomatic relations, both the German states have been represented in Finland for years by trade missions enjoying diplomatic status.

A 24-year-old treaty between the Soviet Union and Finland prevented Helsinki making any unilateral move of recognizing only West Germany. When Finland finally moved to recognize both the German states it was understood it was made with the tacit agreement from the Kremlin.

Talks between Finland and East Germany ended earlier this fall with an agreement to establish relations and in the beginning of this month talks started with West Germany. These talks continue.

Norwegians press 'sub' hunt

OSLO (UPI) — Aircraft and navy vessels using depth charges, radar and at least one anti-submarine missile are searching a Norwegian fjord looking for what some witnesses insist is a foreign sub lurking there.

Whatever the object is, it has touched off a case of security jitters. Defense chief Gen. H. F. Zeller-Gundersen said navy commanders have received orders to use their own judgment in attacking any object they find. Two British helicopters joined the search at one point and an arsenal of modern weaponry and equipment was committed to the hunt.

The mystery object first appeared 13 days ago and witnesses reported two more sightings Thursday, with one man telling authorities he spotted a "greenish yellow light" in the fjord, located in western Norway and linked to a 124-mile-long channel big enough for submarines.

Another witness told police Thursday a "dark object" surfaced for about seven minutes then disappeared again.

But military officials said the long winter darkness in the area makes it possible for submarines — if that is what it is — to escape visual spotting for much of the time.

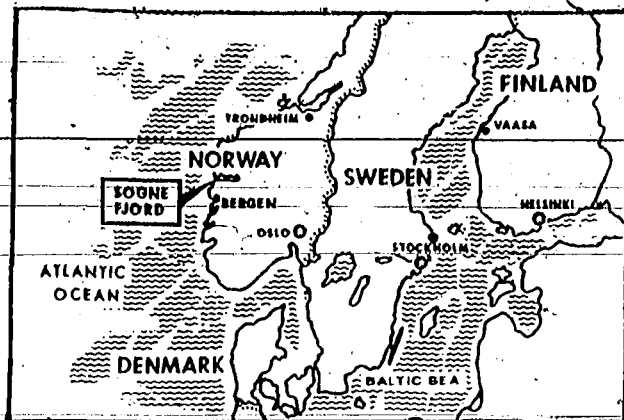

Norwegian military spokesmen said radar and sonar soundings made contact with "something," but they stopped short of calling it a submarine.

After one such contact Wednesday, the military said, a frigate launched several depth charges and fired one anti-submarine missile. Later, a communique said the object was not a submarine.

It also said two British helicopters taking part in the hunt left Thursday for their home base and added that the search will continue with Norwegian ships and planes. Why a submarine would spend any time in the fjord was another mystery, although some newspapers guessed it was mapping the 3,000-foot deep channel or even installing underwater navigational equipment for future use.

Norway is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO and only recently the site of some of the organization's largest war games.

Vietnamese lose chance for cease-fire gains

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Whatever advantage the North Vietnamese hoped to gain from a cease-fire agreement signed before the American elections now obviously has been lost.

Furthermore, President Nixon can point to his enormous election victory as a popular endorsement of his foreign policy, including his handling of the war in Vietnam.

It's not a whole new ball game but the President has, within limits, been given more time in which to try to improve the terms of the agreement whose outlines were disclosed by both North Vietnam and presidential adviser Henry Kissinger on Oct. 26.

On that day, Kissinger declared: "We believe peace is at hand."

Nixon Faces Pledge
He suggested one more negotiating session over a period of a few days should wind it up. It now appears that assessment may have been overly optimistic.

And although a further delay may be a disappointment to Americans, it could have a drastic effect on the fighting front.

As reports of an imminent cease-fire have spread, South Vietnamese forces have shown an increasing reluctance to be among the last to die.

Facing the President, as it has through the last four years, is his pledge that any U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam must be with "honor" and that an independent South Vietnam will be left with at least a fighting chance of survival.

Along with the question of South Vietnamese troop morale in the event of continued long-drawn-out fighting, is a whole series of uncertainties both before and after any cease-fire agreement finally is initiated.

One concerns the North Vietnamese continuing will to fight and whether in the event of failure of the cease-fire negotiations they are able to mount a major winter offensive. American assessments doubt the latter but those assessments have been wrong before.

Another is whether a cease-fire and limitations on replacement of troops and materiel really can be enforced.

Through 10 years of fighting U.S. forces never were able to halt or keep accurate track of Communist reinforcements and supplies coming down the jungle-covered Ho Chi Minh Trail along the spine of Laos. There is little real reason to believe it can be accomplished now.

Enforcement then of cease-fire agreements in those respects must depend upon the goodwill of the North Vietnamese.

The same can be said of continued guerrilla warfare and reported U.S. attempts to persuade the North Vietnamese to withdraw some 35,000 men back across the 17th parallel and out of the northernmost "I" Corps.

Beyond all this is the attitude of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu who opposes both a tripartite coalition government and the agreement that most North Vietnamese forces will remain "in place."

Jackson airport plan ignites controversy

JACKSON, Wyo. (UPI) — Business interests in the Grand Teton National Park want the local airport, the only commercial one in a national park, expanded so jet aircraft can fly into this rugged recreational area.

Environmental groups, however, are against the idea, saying a jet airport isn't needed. As a result, both groups are awaiting the release of a "required" environmental impact statement for the area.

The Jackson Airport Authority earlier this year approved a $2.2 million expansion program for the facility to accommodate medium-sized jet aircraft.

Congress has already appropriated the money to extend the existing 6,400-foot runway to 8,000 feet, widen and strengthen the runways and build parking aprons and parallel taxiways.

The expansion is supported by the Jackson Chamber of Commerce, the Jackson Hole Ski Corp. and Frontier Airlines, who all say it would bolster the region's economy.

The environmental groups, including the Sierra Club's Wyoming chapter and the Wyoming Outdoor Coordinating Council, contend the expansion is not worth the price of damaging the local ecology.

"Commercial jet service has never done anything but to degrade the environment surrounding airports," Ned Bennett, a board member of the outdoor coordinating council, said.

"The main objection always has been a lack of planning and possible damage to the economic base of the community, Jackson's wilderness characteristics."

The businessmen, however, predict the expanded airport would bring in more business and promote economic growth. The airport authority also says the jet planes would pollute less than the Convair 580 turboprops that presently operate out of the airport.

Bennett said the environmental effects on the area are hard to put down on paper.

"We feel that the environmental impact will be very hard to state because things like biological impact studies take two to 10 years to prepare."

'Doublecrossed'

BEIRUT (UPI) — Three Arab guerrillas who survived a gunfight with West German troops during the Olympic Games massacre in Munich which killed 11 Israeli athletes and coaches said today they did not intend to kill their hostages.

The newspaper An Nahar published the interview and photographs of the three, identified as Ibrahim Badran, Abdel Kader Dnawy and Mohammed Samir Abdullah.

Badran said he threw the hand grenades which killed the Israeli athletes in a helicopter which carried them to a West German air base. The three said they were forced into the killings by a West German "doublecross."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Talks in the month-long West Coast dock strike recessed Thursday and were scheduled to resume today.

However, the spokesman refused to predict when a final agreement would be reached.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The washing machine as we know it has been attributed largely to one patented by H.E. Smith in 1858. By 1929, 1.5 million washing machines were being produced annually in the United States, with a total value of $71 million. By 1971, 91.9 per cent of American households (57.6 million families) owned washing machines.

Want To Eat?

Pause and reflect next time you bite into a water-recess sandwich or run the mower roughshod over the grass. You could be brutally destroying what might have been a rewarding relationship.

"Scientists everywhere in the world, amazed by the results of careful laboratory experiments, find themselves coming to the conclusion that plants have emotions similar to those of human beings, that they respond to affection."

Thus writes author and historian Peter Tompkins in Harper's magazine. He calls it "the most far-reaching revolution of the 20th century."

And indeed it would be, if even a fraction of recent reports are true.

The modern interest in the subject began about 1966, when Cleve Backster, a lie detector expert with the CIA, discovered by chance that plants react violently to danger or the threat of danger. Not only that, but he later found that plants are telepathically sensitive to human thoughts, reacting instantaneously even if separated by thousands of miles from a person they are attuned to.

Earlier in the century, an Indian physiologist demonstrated that plants are stimulated by caffeine, get falling down drunk with alcohol and are tranquilized by chloroform.

Now another researcher reports that plants are excited by talk about sex. Chemist Marcel Vogel speculates that ancient fertility rites, which involved a lot more than just talk, may have been authentic stimulants to newly seeded fields.

As the ancients also observed, music appears to have an effect on plants.

Plants, says Vogel, appear to have feelings quite as sensitive as those of human beings.

If a person thinks derogatory thoughts about one plant while praising another plant, the first can be made to wither and die. But love can keep a leaf, plucked from its parent plant, green indefinitely.

But it is on Scotland's cold North Sea Coast, says Tompkins, that perhaps "the most amazing recent experiment with plants" is being carried out. On sheer love, 65 different kinds of vegetables, 21 fruits and 42 herbs have been made to bloom from a half-acre of barren sand and gravel — in midwinter.

Well, some people have communicated with the dead and ridden in Venusian flying saucers. Unfortunately, the proof they offer has, usually been less than overwhelming.

For if it is wrong, as millions believe, to kill any form of animal life, even a gnat, would it not also be wrong to kill a plant that only wants to live and let live?

If it is a sin to eat a cow, whose emotional life even Hindus don't take seriously, would it be no less a sin to drop a silently screaming ear of corn into a pot of boiling water?

Backster no longer willingly harms the plants he uses in his experiments, says Tompkins. Obviously, though, he has not given up eating.

MR. SPECTATOR

Queenie Is Gone

Mr. Spectator received a most interesting letter the other day from Mrs. Roger Nass, who lives on Route Two, Eastland Drive South in Twin Falls. She has a problem because Queenie is gone. But let's read her letter. It goes like this:

"The almost six years we lived in Hawaii we spent no little time fondling—mainland—America. People who have lived their entire life in the middle of the Pacific Ocean and learn about mainland America through the newspapers and over the airwaves have a one-sided mental picture—the bizarre, the violent, crimes, murder and muggings.

"Many people couldn't believe we'd walk down the street alone at night, or even in the daytime. They couldn't believe that our house was never robbed, that we didn't lock our car door driving through town, that I had never witnessed the awful stories they related and found it easy to say that those were isolated cases. We told them that all the mainland is not like that.

"Just six months a resident of this great state of Idaho. Now I drove to town, dropped off a tire to be fixed, stopped at the postoffice to mail a box of Campfire candy to a sick friend in Hawaii; stopped at Sears and Safeway before picking up the tire.

"It was then I realized someone had taken our three-year-old Brittany from our Toyota land-cruiser.

"This act might not equal a murder or mugging but to this family of four it is a very sad day. Although I cannot conceive how any human being could open a car door and take someone's pet—it is just not in my power to comprehend.

"I realize full well all Idahoans are not like the individual and yet my feelings for this great state have changed considerably.

"Our only hope now is that whoever took Queenie between 2 and 3:15 p.m. last Friday will realize they have not acquired just a dog but a family member. Please give her the tender loving care she's used to, the bacon grease on her dog food and her choice of the children's beds at night.

"She loves to sit in the front seat each trip to town, and look out the windshield.

"Of course, more than anything, we'd like Queenie home."

REMEMBERING

We remember not too long ago when we went down the Middle Fork of the Salmon in the last rubber raft to make the trip that year. Too bad we didn't have a good publicity agent like the gambler who took the jaunt this year.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

Inflation is so bad that when a teen-ager drove his jalopy into the station and asked for a dollar's worth of gas, the attendant sprayed a little behind his ear.

SUGGESTION

It has been suggested to Mr. Spectator that there are those who would like to find some sort of fund which could be made available to the two men hurt in that recent plane crash—and the family of the pilot who was killed. No member of the family has suggested such a step, but the suggestion was made by an individual who just thought financial help could be used. So if you feel inclined this way, why not drop a line of encouragement with a gift. Where you send it would be up to you, of course, but why not direct to the hero of the crash who walked those long miles to get help? That's W. Dean Ricketts of Jerome. We're sure he would put such gifts to good use of those involved.

Welfare: Official Hand-Wringing

WASHINGTON — Although New York City must always be considered unique, its latest welfare scandal is an example — in hyperbole — of what is wrong with today's administration of relief in most urban centers across the land. Quite simply, it is that welfare administration is so permissive as to have become a national outrage. In Fun City, as in so many other big cities, the reaction to this outrage consists mostly of official hand-wringing.

The latest development in

New York's underworld of relief is the discovery by city officials that single persons supported in hotels by welfare money use the hotels as bases of operation for crime, market places for dope pushers and addicts and the terrorizing of residential neighborhoods. This is no small problem, because the city sends into residential neighborhoods every month about 2,500 welfare recipients who are single, and nearly half of whom are drug addicts, persons with criminal records and discharged mental patients.

Consider the records of the 20th Police Precinct on the Upper West Side. They show that 15 per cent of all robberies in the district are committed in one hotel with 180 single welfare recipients as tenants. Two women were murdered in another welfare hotel several weeks ago and a few days later police found a body dangling upside down in an air shaft.

There is the Kimberly Hotel. It is so heavily populated with customers are mugged and robbed by their friendly salesmen, but are hardly in a position to complain to police. Possibly the community could view the situation with a certain equanimity if criminals were the only victims. Unfortunately, as The New York Times reports, these vicious slobs have made whole neighborhoods virtually uninhabitable by law-abiding citizens. "These hotels just destroy the neighborhood," said Murray Siegel, executive vice president of the West Side Chamber of Commerce. "They prevent local businessmen from operating and keep residents from enjoying their community."

One businessman who operates a shop with his wife describes the Kimberly as "a den of iniquity, full of pimps, prostitutes and pushers. The corner at night is covered with hangers-on and decent people cross the street." As many as 30 and 40 drunk or hopped-up "poor people" gather to booze, shoot the breeze and harass strollers.

A shopkeeper in another area said he closes at 7 p.m. because customers tell him they're afraid to venture outside after that hour. Welfare cases congregate outside the hotels and demand handouts. People fork over a contribution because, as one put it, "I'd rather be alive than dead."

Admittedly, the New York

situation is not amenable to simplistic solutions. Curiously, however, it has not occurred to the welfare authorities even to make a stab at sanitizing these districts. To wit, no one has suggested that welfare recipients who are able-bodied be forced to earn their relief dough by taking jobs for the city. If a mendicant is healthy enough to push drugs or mug passersby he is able-bodied enough to sweep a street or pick up litter with a pointed stick. The creeps probably wouldn't be worth their hire, but their labors would keep them out of mischief for a few hours every day.

I'm a dreamer, of course. Officialdom points out that the city is "obliged" to house, clothe, and feed every individual who claims he needs relief. And every time some boulder like me suggests what President Nixon calls "workfare," he is denounced as a cruel and unconscionable scoundrel determined to kill off the poor by forcing them to turn working stiff.

Just so. But I know some honestly employed folks who live in apartments and houses renting for a lot less than the $119 to $150 per month it costs New York City to house its professional loafers. Regarding workfare for relief weirdos, I suspect the average ditch digger might advise them: "If you hate it, you'll hate it."

Eye Pupils

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause the pupils of the eyes to dilate in an 18-year-old girl? She is taking no medication and does not use drugs. The pupils do not always stay dilated. Sometimes they are normal and then dilate. She does wear contacts. — Mrs. D.

The dilation and contraction of pupils is entirely involuntary and caused by stimulation of the sympathetic nervous system. Outside sources such as the absence or presence of light bring these forces into play, respectively dilating or contracting the pupils.

In some persons, this involuntary mechanism is more sensitive than in others.

Other factors can lead to pupil dilation, for example, staring at distant objects. With all of the drug experimentation going on among our young people these days, parents are naturally alert to such drug-use symptoms as dilated pupils, but it is unwise to jump to conclusions from such inconclusive symptoms.

The fact that this is a periodic condition in your daughter could be a quite normal situation. Contact lenses can be ruled out as a factor, incidentally.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After taking birth control pills for 14 months I decided I wanted to become pregnant again. It has been four months now without success.

I had a severe infection after the birth of my first child. Could I have become sterile from the infection or "the pill," and does it take six months or more for the pill to wear off? My menstrual cycle is regular. — Mr. R. M.

It may (or may not) take several months to reestablish fertility after the pill is stopped — and anyway, sometimes perfectly normal people have tried longer than four months before pregnancy occurred.

Neither the pill nor the past infection would necessarily alter your menstrual pattern. However, that history of infection could be significant, so if you don't succeed soon, you'd better check with your doctor. The aftermath of the infection could have caused changes (such as closing the Fallopian tubes).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had surgery several months ago for a breast tumor that was malignant. The pathology report said no evidence of spread. I also had 20 cobalt treatments.

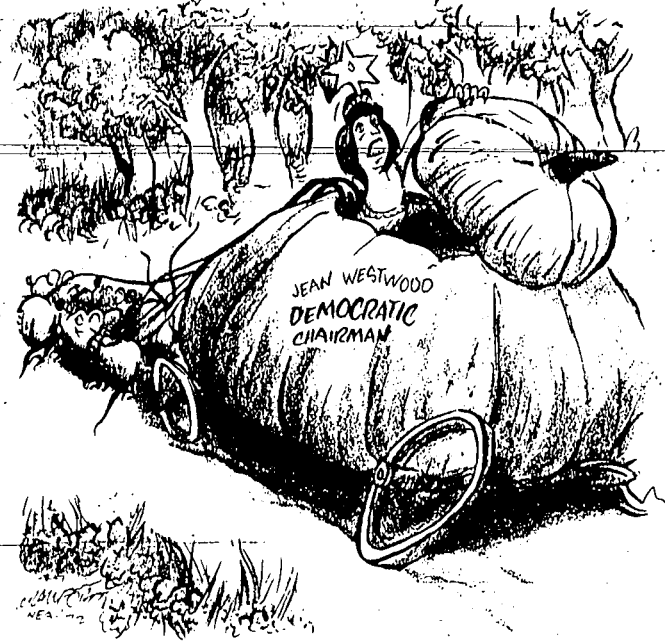

I have now discovered a lump in the other breast. It is the same type of lump as the other, in the same location, directly under the nipple.

If this is also malignant, does this mean they are related or spreading, or could there be another lump elsewhere that is sending cells to the breast? — T.

I fervently hope that by the time you read this you have already been examined and know whether the new lump is malignant or benign.

It is quite possible that the new lump is a simple cyst — I have known of just such a situation, a lump in each breast, one malignant, one not.

Soviet-China

WASHINGTON — Although little known to the U.S. public at large, venomous strife just short of armed conflict is raging furiously between Russia and Red China.

The two Communist giants are unsparing in their excommunications and defamations. Each is attributing the basest motives and most heinous crimes to the other.

While this savage vendetta is being waged largely in print and by word of mouth, its sinister significance and ominous portent are of supreme importance to other countries — particularly the U.S., which, ironically, each is accusingly lumping with the other.

To the Russians, the U.S. is the "imperialist lackey" and willing accomplice of heretical China; and to China, the U.S. is the "war-mongering stooge" and "colonialist ally" of the renegade Soviet Union.

That the U.S. obviously can't be both is amply disregarded in their fierce recriminations.

Their hundreds of millions of despotically-ruled minions know no better because they have no way of learning the truth. Both in Russia and China all media are iron controlled; nothing is published or broadcast without official sanction.

So in each of these huge Communist empires, the other is the vilest of villains and the U.S. is its willing and equally base accomplice.

This is the somber situation portrayed in an unnoticed report published by the Senate subcommittee on "national security and international operations," headed by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Consisting entirely of published material from Chinese sources, the document is profoundly disturbing and merits far more public and official attention than it has so far received.

This is bluntly stressed in a brief foreword by Sen. Jackson, who in addition to being chairman of this subcommittee is also a ranking member of the powerful Armed Services Committee. Last summer, virtually single-handed, he put through Congress an amendment to the five-year interim agreement on strategic weapons specifically requiring that the U.S. have parity with Russia in any new strategic arms accord. This provision was vehemently opposed by all the leading Senate doves — notably Sens. George McGovern and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

In his foreword, Sen. Jackson spells out two clearcut premises:

"1. China has been delivering a simple message: that the Soviet Union has replaced the United States not only as China's main enemy, but as the principal threat to the security and independence of the smaller nations of the world."

"2. This does not mean that Peking has wholly abandoned its customary view of the United States. Chinese leaders still call the U.S. a 'superpower,' but one which must now contend with the USSR for 'world hegemony.'"

RAY CROMLEY

Ponderousness

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's problem is that the government has become too large and too complicated for any one man to manage.

On leaving office as deputy secretary of Defense, David Packard, told associates it was impossible to get the department's vast civilian and military bureaucracy under control. The same problem exists at Commerce, State, Health, Education and Welfare, Labor and Agriculture.

"Mr. Nixon is, of course, not the first president to be frustrated by this problem. Presidents Kennedy and Johnson were deeply disturbed by their inability to get a handle on the bureaucracy. They complained that permanent civil servants in the major departments had come gradually to follow independent courses without regard to policy of the administration in power. It was Democratic or Republican."

President Kennedy made a determined but only partially successful attempt to insert his own men at key points throughout the system. Mrs. Nixon, less aggressive in this regard, found he had relatively little control over major departments at the working level, and so drew more of the decision-making directly into the White House. In the past four years he has built a sizable staff at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue loyal to him, subject to immediate transfer or firing and responsible directly to his own key aides.

But the result of this build-up has been the development of a White House staff so large, and involved in so many detailed tasks, that internal coordination has become increasingly difficult. There is growing worry within the staff itself that the left hand is not certain what the right hand is doing. Members, in fact, are known to have gone to friends in State and Defense to find out what others on the President's personal staff were doing.

Mr. Nixon's problem can best be understood by looking at foreign economic policy, which could be the thorniest problem he faces these next four years. The serious consequences of our continued unfavorable balance of payments (insofar as it is due to lagging exports) shows up in higher unemployment. We are becoming perilously dependent on international sources for raw materials. Rising barriers threaten to cut off more world markets.

Despite the attempt at White House coordination, foreign economic policy is so poorly organized as to invite chaos. For one thing, it is split among State, Treasury, Agriculture and Commerce departments and several independent agencies, often working at cross purposes.

Witness the bungles in the important Soviet grain negotiations. Also note that in the very period the White House was making better relations with Moscow a major priority, with special emphasis on trade and economics, the State Department research division dropped or transferred a third of its Soviet specialists, including all of its Soviet trade-economic experts.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Oh, for heaven's sake—stop STANDING there and go ahead and HAVE a turkey sandwich!"

Officers Indian guests

FT. ROBINSON, Neb. (UPI) — Eighty Indians, prevented from eating Thanksgiving dinner in the fort where Chief Crazy Horse was killed, dined instead in their cars Thursday with the local police as their guests. The Indians, in a protest organized by the American Indian Movement, converged on the 315-acre state park in a 31-car caravan to have Thanksgiving dinner at the spot where, 90 years ago, Oglala Sioux Chief Crazy Horse was killed with a cavalry bayonet while trying to escape.

Woman stabbed over turkey

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Barbara Mills, 50, was stabbed to death at a friend's home during an argument over a portion of turkey at Thanksgiving dinner. Police said Mrs. Mills and other members of the group were seated at the dinner table when the brawl began over a slice of white meat from the turkey. They said Mrs. Mills pulled out a razor blade and began slashing at a man at the table. The man stabbed her in the chest with a knife. The man, whose name was not made public by police.

Disease victim aided

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Five weeks ago, doctors sent John Goforth home from the hospital, saying they could do no more for him. For a year, the 51-year-old used car salesman had been fighting amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, a disease which attacks the nervous system and which killed baseball player Lou Gehrig. The fight drained Goforth's savings. So when he learned that neurologist F.H. Norris of San Francisco, an authority on the disease, may be able to prolong his life, Goforth could do little about it. A week ago, Wichita banker Leon Greene heard about the situation and started a fund. By Thanksgiving Day, the people of Wichita had contributed enough to send Goforth to San Francisco to see Norris. He could not even say thank you. The disease destroys muscular control, and degenerates and hardens portions of the spinal cord. It also has paralyzed Goforth's vocal cords. Goforth, confined to a wheel chair, and his wife Ellene, leave for California Sunday.

Thanksgiving sidelights

Thief helps workers

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The thief who stole the turkeys from the University of Florida Catholic Center Wednesday inadvertently wound up doing the area's migrant farm workers a favor.

Vista volunteers had thought they would have to call off a dinner they had planned for about 40 farmworkers when the two turkeys and the trimmings were stolen from the center's kitchen.

But when residents here heard of the problem they responded by donating turkeys, cranberries, pies and everything else that goes with Thanksgiving. The generosity and response of the people has been just

50 kin join fete

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — It was not your usual Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Betty Kester and her family.

There was turkey, of course — three 20-pound cooked birds. And to go along with the turkey there were mountains of potatoes, a 20-pound ham, seven pies, three cakes and a couple of cases of wine. The reason for the feast was tremendous," said Father Michael Gannon of the Catholic Center. "Now we've got more food than we had before." He said the leftover food would be delivered by nearby migrant camps and distributed to those unable to attend the dinner at the student Catholic Center.

Crew dines

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — The crew of the carrier USS Kitty Hawk sat down together for Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings while the ship headed home to San Diego and a decision on whether the Navy will court martial 21 sailors as a result of a bloody race riot.

European conference success depends on non-use of veto

HELSINKI (UPI) — Every nation at the European Security Conference is likely to have a veto. Success depends on no one using it.

Surprisingly, Western diplomats with long experience of Soviet vetoes think the chances are pretty good.

The veto will be the other side of the coin of "consensus," which is likely to be the method of decision-making used at the conference, according to diplomats here who have just begun preparatory talks on the conference.

"Consensus" means that a decision will be adopted if no one strongly objects to it. Any nation with strong objections—and there are 34 highly independent nations represented here now—can veto it.

For example, if the diplomats think the security conference should approve a clause on, say, non-aggression, they would agree—without a vote—to put this on the agenda of the conference. Provided, that is, that no nation objected to it. If any one nation vetoes it, then the clause dies.

Analysis

Russia wants the conference to arrange more East-West trade and to ratify the present boundaries in Eastern Europe. The west wants the conference to limit the Brezhnev Doctrine and take steps toward "free movement of people and ideas."

What is to keep each side from vetoing the other's plans? The diplomats said they are trusting to politics and common sense.

First, they said, there probably will be lots of horse-trading. If Russia wants Western trade and technology, for example, it will have to make life easier for Western businessmen in Russia. That means an end to the usual spying on businessmen and the easing of restrictions on exports and imports.

Second, they said, most of the Western proposals—like the "free movement" one—have a nice, ear-catching ring to them. If the Soviets turned them down too bluntly, they probably would take a propaganda defeat—and might risk torpedoing the conference altogether.

Since the Soviets first suggested the conference, most Western diplomats believe the Kremlin would be loathe to let it die.

Peron tours city

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Former President Juan D. Peron took a sight-seeing ride under police guard around the Argentine capital Thursday, his first look at the city after 17 years in exile. There were no incidents during the 30-minute outing.

Security also was strict around Peron's home. A sister-in-law, former world flyweight boxing champion Pascual Perez and 50 flower-carrying women admirers of his wife Isabel were all turned back at a police checkpoint 200 yards away.

Peron returned from Spanish exile one week ago, a self-described "agent of peace" whose admirers want him to run for president in the national elections scheduled next March.

But he is barred under a residence law from seeking the presidency and Peron sources said he might instead designate a candidate to run for his Justicialista party.

But at a meeting Monday night, Peron pulled 26 major political groupings into an "Executive Commission for National Unity" which said it would seek changes in electoral law, including one which would make Peron eligible to run for president.

Peron ruled Argentina for a decade until his ouster in 1956.

American POW describes guards as humane

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — American prisoners got along well with their North Vietnamese jailers—playing games, joking, swapping family anecdotes and gardening—according to a released POW.

The Los Angeles Times Thursday printed the first extensive interview with Navy Lt. (j.g.)

Norris Charles, a full page of Charles' reminiscences of life in a North Vietnamese POW camp, as told to Steve Jaffe and copyrighted by Jaffe.

Charles and two other prisoners were released two months ago in a move Charles said "was just to show the American people that if the war is ended, the North Vietnamese will release all the POWs."

Norris said one of his first surprises came as he floated to earth below his parachute after his plane was knocked out of the sky by a missile that exploded about 90 feet away, and he found his captors were not hostile.

"As they ran up to me, they were laughing. I could see no animosity on their faces. I think their apparent happiness was a combination of jubilation and pride of conquest. They take pride in shooting you down, but they're not hostile really, even though we bomb their houses every day."

Charles described the POWs as well fed, getting three nourishing meals a day even on days when camp routine is disrupted by U.S. bombing raids.

"One of the most important things in the life of a POW" he said is that on six holidays—the American holidays of Christmas, Easter, July 4th and New Year's day plus Vietnamese Tet New Year's Day and North Vietnam's national day—the prisoners are given large festive meals.

He arrived at his camp on New Year's day, he said, to a meal of "baked eggs, a nice salad, duck and a whole bunch of other stuff. I couldn't believe it. It was like something in the movies, but hardly what I expected in an enemy prison camp."

Charles said that although he was questioned twice, there was never any attempt to force him to answer questions. If he refused, "If they asked you something—you thought—was reasonable to answer, you would just say so and they would make you stand there."

"There was no animosity between prisoner and guard. The guards watching over us were very human and humane."

One guard ran for help when a flier, whose arm was broken in his parachute jump, complained of pain, and brought a medic "who stayed up all night with him, sat by him with all the other guys in his room," Charles said.

Charles said that although he

Negro leader makes threats

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The field director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) said Thursday night "there will be some hell" next week at Southern University in New Orleans, sister campus to Southern-Baton Rouge, where two students died in campus violence last week.

Speaking to a rally of 200 blacks gathered on the steps of the state capitol, SCLC field director Joseph Hammond said the unrest would spread throughout the nation because of the deaths of the two students in, disruptions last week. The school has been closed until Jan. 3.

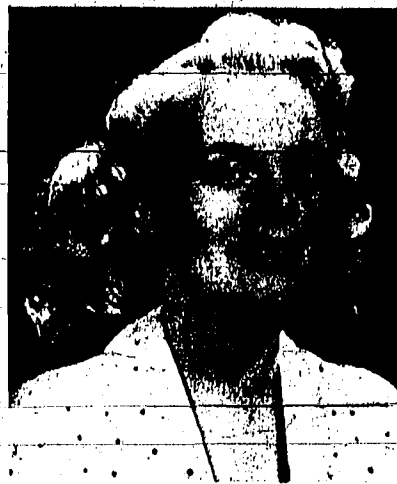

"Bullets killed the body but they won't kill the spirit," he said. "We won't forget they murdered our brothers. They will face us Jan. 3 and come Monday there will be some hell at Southern University at New Orleans."

"There will be stuff going on all over the country until they indict the murderers."

The rally, which was sponsored by a group called "the concerned parents and interested citizens," came just hours after Denver Smith was buried in Morganza, La.

Smith and Leonard Brown were killed last week during a confrontation between students and police on the Southern campus. Both youths died of buckshot wounds to the head, but police officers have said they did not fire their weapons. The school was ordered closed by Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards.

"We don't need a whole lot of circuses," Hammond said. "We need to take care of real business. We need to continue the business the students started before brother Smith and brother Brown got killed."

MARIE WILSON
... smart dumb blonde

Actress loses bout with cancer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Marie Wilson, the busty actress who was smart at being a dumb blonde and made the scatterbrained 'My Friend Irma' a hit of the 1940s and 50s, died of cancer Thursday in the arms of her third husband. She was 56.

Miss Wilson fought her battle with cancer for five years — quietly and with simple dignity, said her husband of 21 years, television producer writer Robert Fallon.

Her health worsened in the past two years, he said, and she asked to be discharged from Mt. Sinai Hospital last week "so that she could die at home."

She specialized in portraying wide-eyed well-meaning, blonde bubbleheads, aided by her own little girl voice, kewpie doll face and 39-inch bust.

Off camera, she was quiet spoken and thoughtful, with a zest for learning and self improvement.

Born in Anaheim, Calif., she came to Hollywood at the age of 17, flunked a reading for 'L. B. Mayer' at MGM and became a $75-a-week bit player at Warner Bros. in 1937.

Her break came in 1942 when she was signed to play Ken Murray's glamor foil, an idiotic blonde, in "Blackouts."

The vaudeville production ran seven years. Miss Wilson appeared in 2,332 performances and perfected her command of the character that was to be her mainstay.

India bans US military flights

NEW DELHI (UPI) — U.S. diplomats said today the Indian government has banned U. S. Military Airlift Command (MAC) flights after 23 years despite American protests.

The action, they said, was taken last month.

Until the ban, C-141 transport planes landed twice each week in New Delhi on round-the-world flights which carried U. S. military personnel, American diplomats on official business and diplomatic pouches and supplies for U. S. diplomatic missions.

A U. S. Embassy official said the Indian government had wanted to stop the flights for some time and took the opportunity to do it when U. S.-India relations turned sour.

He said Foreign Secretary T.N. Kaul contended in negotiations on the issue that India was simply withdrawing from the United States a privilege enjoyed by no other nation here.

Last April, the government grounded the official plane used by the then U. S. ambassador, Kenneth B. Keating. A plane used by the U. S. defense attache here also was grounded. Both aircraft have since been removed from India.

The government said at the time the planes were not needed because all key areas of the country could be reached by commercial flights.

Navy discharges black dissenters

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Navy is discharging nearly a quarter of the 123 black dissenters whose rebellion on the aircraft carrier USS Constellation along with other racial incidents on Navy ships in the Pacific brought on a congressional investigation.

A three-man House subcommittee was to resume hearing here today into racial conflicts on the Constellation and the USS Kittyhawk, which was sailing here from Pearl Harbor.

A Navy spokesman revealed Thursday that 16 of the Constellation rebels have already been discharged from the Navy and said 13 more will be out within 10 days.

Some of the men were discharged under "early out" provisions for those near the end of their enlistments, some on the grounds of "personality conflict" for those unable to adjust to military life and others as conscientious objectors, a spokesman for the Pacific Fleet Air Force said.

Thirteen were given honorable discharges and three got general discharges "under honorable conditions," the Navy said.

All but one of the 123 dissenters have gone before captain's mast disciplinary hearings. Those not discharged were given "nonjudicial punishment" such as demotion, extra duty or payment of small fines.

The lone remaining sailor has not had his hearing because he is in the hands of city police on a drug charge.

Rancher kills five 'wetbacks'

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI) — A south Texas rancher who returned to his ranchhouse and spotted five strangers eating food in his kitchen shot and killed all of them with a rifle, police said Thursday.

All of the victims were male Mexican aliens.

"After he shot them he spent the night with the bodies still in there," said deputy sheriff Florencio Rendon. "He waited until the next day to report it."

Police charged rancher Kenneth Adami, 60, an ex-convict, with murder and held him in the county jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

The victims were not identified immediately. Authorities said one of them apparently was from Leon Buana Huato, Mexico.

"There were indications the man shot the aliens from outside the kitchen," said Rendon. "He just stood outside and shot them. They were all in that room, almost on top of each other, shot about the back, the front and the face. Apparently he used a very high-powered rifle."

Rendon said the shooting occurred Wednesday. He said the next day Adami reported the incident to a border patrolman who contacted the sheriff's office.

Justice of the Peace Ernesto Salinas, who set the bond, said the men must have been killed in rapid succession.

"I can't figure out why they didn't run," he said.

Salinas said Adami's ranch "is a big one" used mainly for cattle raising.

Adami was convicted in 1966 of murdering August Dobie of nearby Freer, Tex., the nephew of the late poet-author J. Frank Dobie, and served a two-year prison sentence. The Dobie murder occurred in the vicinity of the ranchhouse.

Gas blast investigated

CLAXTON, Ga. (UPI) — A gas explosion that destroyed the Claxton Poultry Co. early Thanksgiving Day killed two men, injured five, and caused approximately $1 million damage that left 400 employees without work.

State fire inspectors were to begin sifting today through the ruins of the firm in a search for the cause of the blast.

The dead were identified as Tillman Barnett of Collins and Ernest Smith of Claxton, both in their late 50s. Injured were Dick "Oakdo" Doak, William Dekle, Nathaniel Mayner, Leroy Hagan and Robert Gillis, all of Claxton.

Doak, who is in satisfactory condition in a Savannah hospital, 50 miles away, was foreman of a cleanup crew and was advising his supervisor of a gas leak at 12:40 a.m. EST Thursday when the plant exploded.

Maintenance supervisor Benny G. Gilreath said Doak had called him to complain he was having trouble with a boiler and that he smelled gas.

"I told him to clear out of there fast," said Gilreath. "That's when the phone went dead and 10 seconds later I felt and heard the blast."

Eleven workers who were cleaning and sterilizing the production line for today's processing, escaped unhurt.

The explosion went off near two 2,500-gallon boilers, fed by natural gas and diesel fuel, which heated the water used in scalding the 80,000-100,000 chickens processed during a normal shift.

Officials of the company, one of Claxton's two major employers, said it might take a year to repair the sprawling five-acre complex.

Mayor Perry DeLoach said about 1,000 area residents will be hurt by the loss, including poultry producers, feed store operators and other suppliers dependent on the plant's operations.

"What makes this plant so valuable is that 80 per cent of the workers are men and 65 per cent of them are black," he said. "It gives them a job which is something a lot of communities can't provide. This is a big blow to us."

DeLoach said there are about 2,700 residents in the south Georgia community.

AF to triple number of women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force, declaring it is ready to move away from the tendency to concentrate women in so-called women's jobs, has decided to triple the number of women in its ranks.

The new recruits will be allowed to work in fields traditionally restricted to men, including missile repair and gunsmithing. But unlike their sisters in the Navy, women Air Force officers will not be allowed to qualify as pilots.

In the past, Brig. Gen. Jeanne Holm, the director of Women in the Air Force (WAF), said Wednesday, women have clustered in clerical jobs in the service.

"In the future," she said, "we are going to insist on breaking women out of these cultural patterns."

"I'm not saying women are going to be treated exactly like men because women aren't men. The Air Force believes that people should be treated as individuals and that due recognition must be given to the fact that there are sex differences."

There are now 17,000 women in the Air Force. The plan calls for boosting their number to 48,000 by 1978. This would be an increase from 2 per cent to 6 per cent. Five years ago there were only 5,700 WAFs.

Beginning Jan. 1, Gen. Holm said, all but five jobs will be opened to enlisted women for the first time. The five jobs are all related to flight. Women officers will be eligible for all jobs but those of pilot, navigator and missile operator.

Presently, 113 of the 242 Air Force job classifications are closed to enlisted women. Women in the Army are banned from 48 jobs involving combat and "unusual hazards or strenuous physical demands."

The Navy allows women to take all jobs, including stoking boilers, with the single exception of flying combat planes. The Navy does allow women to fly transport planes.

It doesn't require any great bidding skill to get to three, no-trump with the North-South cards. The bidding in the box shows the simple, straightforward way to get there.

With two five-card suits, North opens with the higher ranking one. You don't go out of your way to reverse, to show strength. A reverse bid shows strength and when you reverse with touching suits — like, diamonds and clubs — it indicates that the club suit is longer.

North's hand is strong enough for a forcing jump bid in his second suit and South rebids to three no-trump. South might have given a preference to three diamonds but the last thing South wanted was to get past the three no-trump level.

South let the heart lead come around to his hand and promptly tried and lost the diamond finesse. East led back a heart to his partner.

West took his ace and thought for awhile. It was obvious to West that South still held the high heart. West could see that South was going to be able to collect four diamond tricks and it South happened to hold the queen of clubs he would make the rest of the tricks.

In duplicate play, West might well have taken his ace of spades and held South to one trick. But this was rubber bridge. West led a heart in the hope of beating three no-trump in case his partner held the club queen. South won and cashed the rest of the tricks.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Wow, this is a problem like I'll bet you've never had before! My fiancé, who I haven't known very long but I know well enough to marry, "surprised" me with a set of rings which he and his mother picked out. I'm crazy about the guy, but I don't like those rings. They are absolutely nothing like I would have picked out if I had been along. They are so ornate and gaudy. All I wanted was a simple solitaire diamond and a wide golden band. I guess the problem is that when he gave them to me I was so thrilled [not with the rings, but at being officially engaged] I said I "loved" the rings.

Tell him the truth

Now what am I going to do? Am I stuck with these rings? Or should I wait until he's in a good mood and ask him if he can exchange them for another set? He must have spent a fortune on them.

ENGAGED AND DISAPPOINTED

DEAR ENGAGED: Tell him the truth. But don't wait too long.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman, married for 20 years, and I have had this problem ever since I can remember.

Nobody wants to listen to me! They just want ME to listen to THEM! It seems that whenever I am talking, somebody interrupts me. I make it a point never to interrupt people when they are talking, but I am interrupted all the time. In fact, I'm a very good listener. Abby, I can be right in the middle of a very interesting story and the person to whom I am talking will suddenly turn to someone else and start up a conversation. It is simply infuriating. I am not dull or stupid. I read a lot and have much to contribute to a conversation.

What on earth is the matter with people? Nobody, but absolutely nobody, wants to listen to me. All they want to do is talk themselves. This happens to me even on the telephone.

NOT LISTENED TO

DEAR NOT: If absolutely nobody listens to you, there must be a reason for it. Do you speak distinctly, clearly and in an audible voice? How much do you talk? And do you go into a lot of extraneous detail? Some people can listen to a point—then they become weary. You claim to be a very good listener. Listen to yourself sometimes. If you are interesting, and pause occasionally to give others a chance to talk, you should have no problem.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please check with your protocol experts and advise me if it would be in good taste to enclose a card with the wedding invitations indicating that the bride-to-be is registered in a certain jewelry store? I thank you.

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Unless one is asked, to suggest by card or any other way where a gift may be purchased is extremely poor taste.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HAD IT UP TO HERE: I don't recommend "jacking a husband out of the house"—why provide him with a perfect excuse for sleeping elsewhere?

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to: ABBY, BOX 8790, L. A., CALIF. 90068 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Flame in church

HOWARD E. ADKINS, right, holds mortgage to Shoshone Baptist Church to candle during burning ceremony Sunday. Bennie Ray Webb looks on.

Shoshone Baptists burn mortgage

SHOSHONE — The mortgage on the Shoshone First Baptist Church was burned during special services Sunday evening.

Construction on the building began seven and one half years ago. The retirement of the mortgage is three and a half years ahead of maturity date.

The overall cost of the building was little more than $75,000, and almost all of the labor was donated by members of the congregation and their pastors. The attractive brick building located in the northeast section of the city replaces an old lava rock building dating back to 1901 which burned on Christmas Eve of 1963.

The Reverend Paul Winkler,

Arvada, Colo., who initiated beginning of the new structure while he was pastor in Shoshone, arrived by plane shortly before the service Sunday evening and was featured speaker.

Theme of his talk was "The Kingdom of God is not Food and Drink" and he called upon those present to worship God in spirit and in truth.

Regret was expressed by members of the church that the Rev. James Holt, immediate past pastor, was unable to attend.

Others participating in the mortgage burning ceremony included Bennie Ray Webb and Howard Adkins as narrators; Mrs. Bennie Ray Webb, Mrs.

Omer Shook, Mrs. Paul Bancroft, Mrs. T.V. Strunk, Mrs. Frank Shaffer, Mrs. E. C. Hahn and Steven Kelley.

Musicians were Mrs. Howard Adkins, violinist and Mrs. Garland Blair, piano accompanist.

Baptist area pastor Robert Smith, Twin Falls spoke briefly. Other guests attended from Gooding, Nampa, Twin Falls, Jerome, Burley, Richfield, Salem, Ore. and a number attended from other churches in Shoshone.

Letters were read from Bishop LaMar Duffin, LDS Church, Shoshone and the Jerome Baptist Church.

Moderator Webb conducted the service. He and Adkins initiated activities of the past year which raised enough funds to pay off the mortgage.

Co-chairmen of the events were Mrs. Luella L. Kinsey and Mrs. L. M. Hatmaker.

Mrs. Kinsey prepared the original ceremony which was on lilies.

A potluck dinner was held at the Fellowship Hall under direction of Mrs. Ray Webb and Mrs. Shook, officers of the Baptist Women's Mission Society. The Rev. Wesley Johnson, pastor of the Shoshone Assembly of God church gave the prayer at the dinner.

Flowers for the church services were a gift from Mrs. Ailene Tidwell, LaFayette, Tenn., a former member of the congregation.

Speaker

JEROME — Guest speaker Sunday at the Jerome United Methodist Church will be Rev. C. Keith Mills, superintendent of the Snake River district.

Rev. John N. Garbrandt said that Sunday morning worship service will be at 11:10 a.m. and at 2:30 p.m. that Sunday. Rev. Mills will preside at the annual church conference to be held in the social hall.

Rev. Mills is a graduate of Denver University and Yale Divinity School. He has served churches in Callister and Eagle, LaGrande, Ore., and Nampa. He is in his fifth year as superintendent.

Utah professor to speak in TF

TWIN FALLS — Marshall D. Isaacson, professor of English at Weber State College, Ogden, Utah, will speak to the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International Dec. 2.

Isaacson will address the group in the CSI multipurpose building at 7 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from the Magic Valley Christian Supply or officers of the organization.

Isaacson, born an Orthodox Jew, was converted to Christianity at age 16 and is now a member of the LDS Church.

He was addressed LDS members in over 200 church wards and has traveled through 26 countries.

Fellowship members will also hear from a Methodist minister.

The purpose of the fellowship is to help bring about a unified approach to the love of Christ, according to Wayne Barney, Twin Falls, chairman.

Methodists in south eliminate segregation

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI) — Mississippi's United Methodist Church moved to eliminate racial segregation when the all-white Southern Conference voted overwhelmingly to merge with its black counterpart.

The church's white conference in the northern half of the state was expected to take similar action at a meeting next week.

The two white conferences and two black conferences in Mississippi were the only United Methodist conferences in the nation which had not merged under the church's constitutional requirement to eliminate racial barriers. The general conference had met July, 1973, as the deadline for the mergers to be approved.

The all-white Mississippi Conference, representing more than 103,000 church members in the southern half of the state, voted 294-67 approval of the merger plan drawn by a joint study committee. The proposal was adopted earlier this year by the state's two black conferences.

Jerome Catholics have new priest

JEROME — The Rev. Father Francis DeNardis is the new minister of the St. Jerome's Catholic Church. He replaces the Rev. Father Bernard McBride.

Father DeNardis was born in Jarbridge, Nev. He studied at St. Edward's Seminary, Seattle, Wash., and graduated with a bachelor's degree.

Teaching and coaching at the former St. Teresa's Academy, Boise, was his first assignment.

Father DeNardis spent five years at the Holy Ghost Mission, Montpelier, and eight years at Hailey and Sun Valley where he served Our Lady of Snows, Sun Valley, and St.

Charles, Hailey. He spent two and one-half years at St. Anthony's parish, Pocatello, before coming to Jerome.

The 7,000-square-foot structure is being built on church property west of the church. The cinder block and brick building is estimated to cost approximately $80,000 and will face south and is designed with two levels.

The building will contain six classrooms, a banquet room that will accommodate 400 persons, a kitchen and a multipurpose room where church organizations will meet.

US missed bus in health insurance, leader says

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The founder of the World Health Organization said Wednesday the United States has "missed the bus" twice in opportunities to institute a national health insurance system but now has a third chance.

Dr. Karl Evang, recently retired director-general of Norway's health services, said his country has had a national health system since 1911 and that the United States is long overdue to follow.

"As rich as it is, the United States will need a health care system where the economic deterrent is removed or at least reduced," Evang said.

He said he foresees a decreasing role for free enterprise in health care in this country, chiefly because of the inflationary trend in health costs.

Evang said the United States had two opportunities to institute a national health insurance system, the first an effort by President Franklin D. Roosevelt during the late 1930s which was interrupted by World War II.

The second time, he said, was during the early 1950s when President Harry S. Truman appointed a Commission on Health Needs of the Nation. He said that effort failed when President Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected in 1952.

Evang declined to predict which of eight or nine bills submitted to Congress this year for a national health insurance system would win. They range from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's plan to utilize a government-run insurance corporation to a Nixon administration proposal to use the private insurance industry.

Evang said that although Scandinavian countries have some of the best health care systems in the world those nations should not be compared with the United States.

He said in Norway, which has a population of about 4 million, there are no large cities, no ghettos, no races other than Caucasian and because of its climate, there are fewer disease-spreading insects to increase infant mortality.

Tax structures also are different, he said. Evang said the United States spends about 7 per cent of its gross national product on health care while the figure in Norway is 14 per cent, which also includes social services.

"In the U.S., it's left to the individual to spend his cash as he wishes," Evang said. "But in Norway we have higher taxes but far more social services."

Obliging

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Deputy marshal Bruce Eastley said he thought he was seeing things when he spotted a man sipping from a bottle of burgundy as he propped his feet on the front row railing in Municipal Court.

Eastley said he approached the man, identified as 33-year-old unemployed welder George Harris, to ask him to remove his feet from the railing and found the bottle of wine was half empty.

"I just think he wanted to be arrested in the worst way," Eastley said, "and I had to oblige him."

Eastley hauled Harris in on a charge of drinking in public. Harris was in the courtroom to appear before Judge Arthur Elssinger on an earlier charge of being drunk in public.

College starts escort service

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Students at the University of Colorado will begin a volunteer escort service for coeds in an attempt to cut down on the number of rapes that have occurred near campus recently.

Students willing to drive and walk coeds across the campus at night following late classes or from the CU library to sorority houses and dormitories began signing up Wednesday.

The program, which also calls for installation of high-intensity lighting on campus grounds and self-defense classes for coeds, is the result of an increasing number of rapes in the university area.

One of the girls was fatally shot.

Jerome taxes little lower

JEROME — Jerome County residents will pay about 1 1/2 percent less in their real and personal taxes this year.

Jerome County Treasurer, Carl Stephens, reported Wednesday that real and personal tax notices mailed to Jerome County residents represented a total billed amount of $1,711,060.82. He said the sum is about $11,000 less than for the previous year and indicates about a 1 1/2 percent reduction.

The treasurer reported that for 1972, real property is listed at $1,847,088.78 and personal amounts to $83,964.04 for a total of $1,931,052.82.

For 1971 the figures were $1,857,583.35 in real, $85,450.57 for personal, for a total of $1,943,033.92, for a reduction of $10,981.10 between the two years.

Stephens said that Jerome County taxpayers have two methods by which they can pay their taxes. "Persons wishing to pay in two installments can make payments by Dec. 20 and by June 20, or those wishing to pay the entire amount due at one time must do so by Dec. 20," Stephens said.

An increase in valuation, the Jerome School District's bonds being retired, the new airport levy and fluctuations in levies of local taxing units were the for principal points of interest in evaluation of Jerome County's 1972 tax picture, according to Stephens.

He said that taxes due local units of government could change his totals, which are "raw" amounts and are subject to alterations by cancellation or addition. However, Stephens said the alterations would not have a marked effect on the totals.

The treasurer said that in the city of Jerome, taxes for 1972 amount to $157,675.65 compared to $131,740.70 for 1971 representing an increase of $25,934.95.

On Hazelton, 1972 totals for real and personal property amount to $13,030.78 compared to $14,281.72 for the previous year.

For the city of Eden $8,047.12 represents the total for 1972 compared to $7,508.18 for 1971.

Stephens said that for county government, there has been a gain of $18,197.96 which resulted by an increase in valuation although there was a levy reduction.

He said that the county figures in 1972 real property was listed at $308,624.68 and personal at $14,042.97 for a total of $322,667.65.

In 1971 sums for county government were $320,814.58 for real property and $14,555.11 for personal for a grand total of $335,369.69.

The regional airport tax revenue based on 1972 tax notices will be $7,454.55.

For the junior college, the 1972 amount is $159,195.56 compared to $151,994.74 for 1971 for a gain of about $7,200.

Stephens said that while the levy for the college was reduced a gain in district valuation accounted for the increase this year.

Figures for the three highway districts in the county all show increases.

Jerome Highway District's gain amounted to $8,021.20 and the revenue increases for Hillsdale Highway District is $2,504.79. The gain for Good Roads Highway District is $288.44.

Illuminating

NEW YORK (UPI) — Only four years after he had built his successful electric incandescent lamp in 1878, Thomas Alva Edison introduced his first commercial electric lighting when his Pearl Street station here lit 400 lamps (both are and incandescent) for 65 customers. By 1970, there were more than 210,000 employees engaged in manufacturing over $6 billion worth of lighting equipment annually.

Fathers rewarded

TEL AVIV (UPI) — The Israeli army has decided to reward proliferate fathers.

A military spokesman said today that under a new ruling from headquarters, men will be exempt from reserve army duty if they have six or more children.

Israeli men serve three years active duty and are committed to the reserves until they reach the age of 55.

Hospital construction costs up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A full-time operator for an "automatic sump pump" added $143,000 to the cost of a hospital in the Southeast.

Another hospital construction project spent $100,000 for unneeded tower crane operators because of a union agreement requiring two operators for each crane.

Electricians are paid $7 to $10 an hour around the clock to watch lightbulbs burn because they must be present when temporary lighting is on at construction sites. Operating engineers are paid $7.50 to $10 per hour for a full day's work, which consists of starting compressors and welding machines at the beginning of a day by pressing a button, and stopping them at the end of a day with a flip of a switch.

A General Accounting Office (GAO) report cited these practices Wednesday following a year-long inquiry ordered by Congress into the increasing costs of building federally-subsidized hospitals.

The GAO, contending, that wages for skilled workers involved in construction were increasing at a faster rate than the cost of construction materials, said rising labor costs were a major contributing factor to rising hospital costs.

The AFL-CIO Building Construction and Trades Department, in a letter to the GAO included in the report, said the agency had been "grossly misleading and destructively backward." The department contended that productivity in the construction industry was now outstripping wage gains.

But the GAO said labor costs have been rising because contractors who try to fight strikes "have been pressed by project owners to settle quickly to complete construction."

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again — Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Youths help in Jerome

JEROME — Three University of Washington students will be in Jerome working with Dr. Jon Wilmoth as part of the MEDEX project.

The young men will be in Jerome from Saturday through Dec. 3 and will work with Dr. Wilmoth in his office observing and learning his patient procedures in all phases of family medical practice.

Names of the three are not known at this time but they are members of a class of MEDEX, professionals who can help doctors increase their productivity.

Dr. Wilmoth said the MEDEX project is designed to respond to two contrasting characteristics of American medicine — the serious shortage of trained manpower to deliver primary health care and the large and almost untapped manpower in former military medical corpsmen.

He said the MEDEX are selected after a specially designed recruiting effort and an intensive interview-selection process.

All of the MEDEX must either have served on independent duty or have received advanced training that qualifies them for independent duty.

"MEDEX is an important and unique innovation in the delivery of health care," Dr. Wilmoth said.

He said the program offers the creation of new civilian health professionals to meet a widespread need. Those taking part in the program will be placed in civilian physicians' practice for one year on-the-job training.

After training, the physician may hire the MEDEX to aid in his practice, thereby adding a pair of skilled hands that will function under the physician's constant supervision and relieve a physician of certain tasks that can be performed by the MEDEX, Dr. Wilmoth noted.

Soviets push negotiations

HELSINKI (UPI) — The Soviet Union let it be known today that she is in a hurry to begin full-dress negotiations with the West on firm European security arrangements.

The Kremlin wants to jump the hurdle of procedural wrangles at the 34-nations talks which opened Wednesday.

Making its view known through its official Tass news agency, Moscow said procedural discussions should not overshadow the real purpose of the Helsinki meeting.

East and West have differing ideas on the purpose and the objectives of the projected European Security Conference. The West, which has come reluctantly to the conference table, wants to make sure in advance it is not going to be taken for a ride.

The Russians, who have pressed for a conference for 18 years, have now taken the line they want to proceed with all speed to full-dress negotiations on the future of a European settlement. They made known they want the formal European Security Conference to be arranged "as soon as possible."

Philippines ask US extradition

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippine government announced today it has asked the United States to help extradite several Americans who have been implicated in an assassination plot against President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad identified one of the American suspects as Lawrence Truckman of California. Tatad said intelligence authorities traced Truckman in Hong Kong where he was reported to have escaped from Manila after the discovery of the assassination plot.

"We have asked the American government to help us extradite Truckman and some others whose names I am now not able to disclose," Tatad said. "The American government assured us full cooperation in this matter. The ambassador (Henry Byroade) has been in touch with the president."

The Information Secretary said evidence in the possession of Filipino authorities indicated that $149,260 was put up "as a liquidation fund to hire foreigners as well as Filipinos to carry out this plot."

Tatad said at least two persons involved in the plot, a Filipino and a "non-Asian foreigner" had been arrested while trying to flee the country.

He said the government has captured a long-range aircraft, an ocean-going seacraft, a bullet-proof van, and a sniper equipment including a rifle and electronically guided explosives.

Tatad said all those involved in the plot, including the Americans who may be extradited to the Philippines, will be tried by a military tribunal created under the martial law proclamation in the Philippines.

He said although the Philippines and the United States do not have an extradition treaty, the Philippines was nonetheless requesting for extradition of the Americans "within the framework of our existing relations which have been most friendly and in the light of the fact that we are making this request in the interest of state security."

Lost coin

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Roth dipped into his pocket, pulled out a coin about the size of a quarter and slipped it into the parking meter.

When Roth, 60, an executive for a financial company, searched through his change a little later, he realized the coin he had deposited was a rare, 1864 two-cent piece worth about $30.

He was carrying the coin, Roth said, because someone else in the office had one and we wanted to compare" before giving it as a gift to his daughter.

Roth put the coin in the meter Nov. 15. The next day, he called Raymond D'Agnes, head of the city's parking meter division, and explained his predicament. D'Agnes ordered all the parking meters on the block opened ahead of schedule.

Workers examined thousands of coins and the usual number of slugs. Finally, they dug out the two-cent piece Tuesday and returned it to Roth Wednesday.

In exchange, Roth gave city Finance Administrator Richard Leisohn 25 cents for the meter plus a nickel penalty which is required by law.

Munson speaks at AAUW meet

TWIN FALLS — Lewis Munson, Twin Falls district ranger, U.S. Forest Service, was guest speaker at Tuesday meeting of the American Association of University Women.

Fayesther Waegelin was program chairman.

Munson spoke on "Environmental Education." He discussed the plans and assistance furnished by the U.S. Forest Service which are available to the classroom teacher for use in helping children become more aware of their environment.

He said children study and examine different types of plant life, such as trees by a method of contrasts. They learn why certain soils produce certain types of plant life. They become aware of the interdependence of the plant and animal life cycles.

Members of the AAUW were reminded of the table for the flea market Dec. 2 at the Presbyterian Church gymnasium. Donations to stock the table may be left with Phyllis Culver, Marie Gyer or Edith Miller.

Students won't control election

TWIN FALLS — Stanley Wachtstetter, candidate for College of Southern Idaho trustee, denies the implication that College of Southern Idaho students will control the trustee election, he said Thursday.

He said that there is a potential vote of 3,000 electors at the CSI campus, but that there is also a potential 24,000 votes in Twin Falls County alone.

Wachtstetter said that while he is responsible for launching a one-man campaign to see the elector's oath changed to conform with state code, thus opening the door for college students to vote, he also is responsible for bringing the election to the attention of the people.

The candidate's statement results from a story in Wednesday's Times-News implying that CSI students can control election of college trustees.

He charged that the CSI Board of Trustees seems to be pushing this election through before the people have a chance to study the issues.

"I am appealing to the common man," says Wachtstetter. "I hope the people will look at my qualifications and the fact that I am working for them, not just that I am a student. I am trying to see that the people are informed."

He said "My opponent is a lawyer, yet he never questioned the elector's oath, which was against the law. If he did, why didn't he inform the people or Mr. Van Slyke. It is clear my opponent is not doing his job on the board of trustees, or else he is intentionally withholding information."

"Personally, I feel," Wachtstetter continued, "the board has degenerated into a rubber stamp of approval for Dr. Taylor's plans. While I have always admired Dr. Taylor, I was disappointed in his statement that he didn't think anyone knew about the pending election."

He said, "If elected to the board, I would oppose that type thinking and would see to it that the people did know about elections."

"Wachtstetter said he has already brought more information concerning this election to the people in the last few days than the whole board of trustees has given the people in past years."

"I do hope more than 200 people will vote in this election," he said.

Minidoka building bid awaited

RUPERT — Minidoka County Commission Chairman Wayne Hollenbeck said final approval of a bid for construction of a city-county law enforcement building will probably come Friday.

The commissioners had planned to meet Wednesday to reconsider three bids for the facility submitted by Uhlman Construction and Nelson and Co. Twin Falls, and Wright Construction Co., Rupert.

Wright Construction was the apparent low bidder at $225,671. Hollenbeck said the Wednesday meeting was called off because county attorney Larry Duff could not attend.

A decision concerning the bids, opened Nov. 10, has been delayed because the lowest bid figure was substantially above the $160,000 estimated cost of the building and could not be met by presently budgeted county funds.

Hollenbeck attributed the increased cost to higher building material prices.

But additional matching federal funds are available for the project, according to Hollenbeck, and construction will begin as soon as possible.

Plans call for the law enforcement building to be located immediately north of the present county jail on the city block occupied by the county courthouse.

The structure will house city and county law enforcement officers and jails and a county-wide communications center.

2 'brave' fliers home for holiday

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Two McConnell Air Force Base fliers, shot down over North Vietnam last week, returned home Thanksgiving Day to greetings of "Welcome home our brave men" and a sign that said "Hello members of the North Vietnam Hiking and Yodeling Club."

Maj. Norbert Maier, an electronic warfare officer, said the only thing he remembered about bailing out of an F105 Thunderchief was panic.

Capt. Ken Thaele, the pilot, said he blacked out after hitting the eject button.

Maier said he survived the incident with "a few aches and bruises but I'm all right."

Thaele's face was scratched and bruised. This was not the first time he has been shot down in Southeast Asia. It happened once before in Laos in 1968.

"I remember there was a fireball, and I knew we had to eject," he said of his latest experience. "I squeezed the trigger and apparently I was unconscious during the ejection. The next thing I knew I ended up on the ground."

Their rescue was hampered by bad weather and heavy gunfire.

"We didn't realize the bad position we were in," Maier said. "The weather was marginal all the time we were on the ground, yet they (rescue helicopters) pressed in. The Sandys (armed helicopters) kept them down and the Jollys (rescue helicopters) came right in and rescued us."

Career talk set

PAUL — CSI President James L. Taylor will discuss career aspirations before a Minidoka County PTA meeting Wednesday.

The meeting will be at the West Minico Junior High School at 8 p.m.

The program is one of a series sponsored by the "county-wide" PTA effort, first introduced here last year by Gene Snapp, principal of Memorial and Lincoln schools.

The Taylor speaking appearance follows a Rupert City survey this spring which indicated high interest in career or vocational development assistance for young people.

The Wednesday meeting is open to the public without charge.

New store

RUPERT — A new Sproule-Keltz Co. Department store is planned for Rupert.

An application for a building permit for a 120-foot by 104-foot structure near Third Street and Scott Avenue was filed this week.

Construction of the $120,000 building may begin within the next few days.

Plans in the office of City Engineer Ron Klebe show the site for the store building between the Safeway food store and the Tooling Building, which presently houses Rupert Abstract Co.

Contractor for the structure is listed on the permit application as Northwest Industrial Construction, Inc.

Klebe said a representative of that firm will be in Rupert next week to examine the building site and perform preliminary preparation work.

An official of Empire West, Salt Lake City, firm and reportedly the owner of the property in Rupert, declined comment on the project in a telephone conversation Wednesday.

UF totals pass $88,500 mark

TWIN FALLS — United Fund totals in Twin Falls have passed the $88,500 mark, campaign public relations officer Robert Veeh said today.

He said he expects the final figures to bring the total to around $95,000 which would give the UF agencies a much better opportunity to carry out all of their programs than last year.

"We have already passed last year's $83,000 mark by a sizable amount, and it still looks good," Veeh said.

Veeh said it will probably be Dec. 15 before the workers complete all of their contacts and before some of the out of town home offices of major companies respond to the mail contacts made.

Some large firms have not yet reported, he said, and the one-day clean-up Tuesday indicates many of these will be reporting in shortly.

The goal this year was for $114,000 but Veeh said the United Fund Council would be happy with anything over $90,000.

Navy jet downed in bombing run

A U.S. 02 Skyraider observation plane was shot down Thursday near An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. Another observation plane, an OV10 Bronco, crashed after takeoff from Da Nang Air Base Thursday, due to unknown causes. The pilots of both planes were rescued.

Nine waves of U.S. B52s bombed supply depots within 10 miles of the North Vietnamese port of Vinh, 164 miles south of Hanoi, with hundreds of tons of explosives. Three other formations of B52s hit targets in the North Vietnamese panhandle near the port of Dong Hoi. Fifteen waves of B52s carried out raids in South Vietnam, six of them at Communist troop concentrations within 40 miles of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese military command today reported only 65 Communist-initiated actions in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m., the smallest number in nearly two months. Twelve were ground battles, the rest were shelling attacks.

South Vietnamese militiamen called in artillery and air strikes against a Viet Cong unit 33 miles northeast of Saigon.

Thursdays near Go Dau Ha district town, along the Cambodian border. Military spokesmen said 38 Communists were slain without loss to the government side.

Bodies of 25 Communists killed by air strikes were found Thursday afternoon 18 miles south of Da Nang, spokesmen said.

South Vietnamese marines came under a 900-round artillery barrage Thursday six miles northeast of Quang Tri. In a clash that followed, 11 North Vietnamese and three marines were wounded and 38 marines were wounded.

In neighboring Cambodia, military sources said hundreds of government troops engaged in a clearing operation 21 miles south of Phnom Penh on highway 2 have been surrounded by the Viet Cong and cut off from reinforcement.

Reinforcements tried to reach the embattled troops early today but were driven back by the Viet Cong, who have occupied the highway at a point 18 miles south of the capital.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening so long as you sidestep the urge to get into arguments or disputes at your residence or with other members of your family or make unfortunate commitments where your property is concerned, so put on a warm and understanding smile and use all that generated energy to delight others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are full of energy and can enjoy recreations this Saturday that have been difficult for you to do for some time. Keep poised when others are trying to pressure you in some way, though. Give a little party at home tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Spend a happy day at home with kin and friends and avoid those who are unfriendly to you, or demanding associates. Make some improvements to home that add to its beauty and charm. Dress attractively.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) There are a number of duties to be handled that can make your home more charming, or bring you pleasure in the future. Do whatever will make you a more dynamic person. Entertain some in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Forget expensive pleasure and do the things at home that are important, will make kin happier, bring more comfort. A clever adviser has fine ideas for you. Accept the best of these.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can easily enjoy hobbies and have a good time provided you do not disturb kin or associates. Take time to improve your appearance in some way. Show others you are an excellent conversationalist.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A fine day to attend to private matters, but be very careful while your driving. Show advisers you appreciate them. Follow your intuition so you know how to make your life more successful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You now know what your position is with good pals and how to get mutual projects rolling nicely, so don't let money anxieties bother you. The evening is fine for personal matters. Add much to present happiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid the personal and get into those career and civic matters that are vital and can improve your image immensely. Make sure you build up your credit. Don't lose out where it counts the most.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal day to find the right people with whom to have an alliance in the near future, so get an early start on this. Fussing over what you can do nothing about would not be wise and could cause you to lose out in vital opportunities around you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listen to what new acquaintances have to say and avoid intimates as much as you can, since they are not in a good mood now. Build up ego of mate and much good comes of this. You have not been very affectionate of late.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An associate will now give you the cooperation you want for some plan you have, but avoid bigwigs who are not in a receptive mood now. Follow every regulation that applies to you. Show you are a logical thinker.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to study further into those new ideas you have before putting them into successful operation. Not a good day for travel or starting on a trip of length. Handle responsibilities that are important though it is a Saturday.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those delightful young people who can see the overall picture of any situation very clearly and should be encouraged to put some big and comprehensive plan to work quickly instead of deliberating so much that even the enthusiasm for it will be lost. Then success in life can start very quickly and early, otherwise very little will be accomplished. Much creativity and independence here. Higher education is a must. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

It's common knowledge that California sprouts more religious sects than any other state. But it's also a fact that California brings up more atheists. Should say the entire West Coast. Research shows it has the country's largest population of theological skeptics.

HOW MANY CALLS a day should a salesman make? Depends on what he has to sell no doubt. But one such professional of world renown contends he must introduce his presentation to at least eight potential buyers every day to be successful.

WHAT DO WOMEN like most? After a Los Angeles surveyor checked out that query, conclusion was the girls appear to be most addicted to lovemaking, earrings, automobiles and handbags. In that order.

TASTE That issue in your mouth called the hard palate has taste buds, too. They're sensitive in particular to bitter and sour stimulants. Many tight-fitting dentures completely cover the hard palate. According to the National Institute of Dental Research that's why food doesn't taste the same to a lot of people who wear false teeth.

IF YOU ARE 47 years old, you were born the year the first motel opened in San Luis Obispo, Calif. Wait, maybe it wasn't the first auto lodge, don't know. But it was the first to call itself a "Motel." That's where the word started.

UNDER THE LAW, death comes when the heart stops. In actual physical fact, however, the brain lives on just a little while, the organs even longer. And technically, the legs remain alive for as much as two hours after the pulse ends.

ARE YOU SENDING out as many as 75 Christmas cards this year? That's known to be a reasonable average. Incidentally, one out of every 10 cards you get, it's said, will come from somebody you neglected to put on your own family card list.

BASEBALL. Again am asked how many times a baseball revolves on its way from the mound to home.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Oklahoma scores late to upset Cornhuskers

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Fumbling Oklahoma spotted Nebraska a two-touchdown lead, then came from behind to upset the Cornhuskers 17-14 Thursday on Rich Fulcher's 41-yard field goal with 8:14 left to virtually clinch the Big Eight championship.

The victory for the fourth-ranked Sooners, headed for a Sugar Bowl meeting with seventh-ranked Penn State, gave them a 5-1 record in the conference — with a game left Dec. 2 against Oklahoma State — and a 9-1 overall mark.

But that game is considered just a formality following the nationally-televised upset over a Nebraska team which had not lost a conference game since 1969 and was favored by a touchdown to win this one.

Both Nebraska touchdowns were set up by Oklahoma fumbles, but after the Cornhuskers pulled ahead 14-0 midway through the third quarter, Oklahoma took command.

Quarterback Dave Robertson's passes to freshman split end Tinker Owens, the brother of Steve Owens, the 1969 Heisman Trophy winner at Oklahoma, helped take the Sooners 76 yards for their first touchdown near the end of the third period.

Joe Washington circled end from the one-yard line for the touchdown.

Early in the fourth quarter, Oklahoma held Nebraska deep in its own territory and forced a punt which gave it the ball at the Cornhuskers' 36-yard line.

Oklahoma moved to the 10, then got a first down at the one on a pass interference call when Owens was knocked down trying to make a catch at the goal line.

Grant Burget punched over from there, tying the score 14-14.

Five plays after the following kickoff, Nebraska quarterback David Humm fumbled and Lucious Selmon recovered for Oklahoma at the Cornhuskers' 27-yard line.

Fulcher, who had missed two long field goal attempts earlier in the game, kicked the winner when the Sooners were able to gain only two yards in three plays.

The victory was preserved as Ken Pope, whose first quarter fumble led to Nebraska's first touchdown, intercepted two passes by Humm in a desperation catch attempt in the final four minutes.

Both Nebraska touchdowns came following Oklahoma fumbles on punt returns.

Pope dropped an attempted fair catch in the first period, Jeff Moran of Nebraska recovered at the Oklahoma 49-yard line, and Bill Olds scored on a 14-yard draw eight plays later.

Early in the third quarter, Joe Wylie fumbled while running back a punt and Jerry List recovered for the Cornhuskers at the Oklahoma 24.

It took Nebraska just six plays to score with Dave Goeller slumming over from the one.

Fifth-ranked Nebraska, which has won or shared the Big Eight title in seven of the last nine years, gained only 181 yards total offense in the game, a sharp contrast to last year when the Cornhuskers nailed down the national championship with a 35-31 victory over the Sooners.

Oklahoma gained 327 yards.

The defeat left Nebraska, which will play Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, with an 8-2 record for the season, its last under Coach Bob Devaney, who announced earlier this year he was retiring.

Longhorns crush Texas A&M 38-3

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Quarterback Alan Lowry ran for two touchdowns and passed for another Thursday night to spark sixth-ranked Texas to a 38-3 Southwest Conference victory over Texas A&M. The victory sent the Longhorns into the Cotton Bowl against Alabama with only one loss on their record.

Texas, held to only 14 yards total offense in the first quarter by a freshman-laden Aggie defense, exploded to a 14-3 halftime lead then ran away with it in the second half.

Lowry scored on runs of three and six yards, and passed 30 yards to tight end Julius Whittier for another — Lowry's first touchdown pass of his college career and Whittier's first scoring catch.

Halfback Tommy Landry scored from five yards out for the Longhorns, and wide receiver Jim Moore returned a punt 61 yards behind a solid wall of Texas blockers in the fourth period to turn the game into a rout.

Kicker Billy Schott, who stretched his string of conversions to a school record of 28 without a miss, also connected on a 20-yard field goal.

A&M completely dominated the game in the opening period, rolling up 82 yards to only 14 for Texas.

Soccer style kicker Pat McDermott kicked a 45-yard field goal in that surge for the Aggies' only points of the night.

Lowry, a defensive halfback

Awesome offense

Sooners' coach calls victory 'greatest ever'

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Oklahoma's success in stopping him played a key role in the game.

Afterward, Rodgers said, "I feel I could have done more than I did."

"If anything hurts my chances for the Heisman," he said, "this is it."

Devaney said the loss obviously was a bigger disappointment than the Cornhuskers' 23-23 tie with Iowa State two weeks ago, and quarterback David Humm or Nebraska said the games were similar.

The Sooners' victory, which virtually clinched the Big Eight championship, also puts the spotlight on their Sugar Bowl game against Penn State instead of the Nebraska-Notre Dame Orange Bowl game.

"This victory," said Fairbanks, "makes the Sugar Bowl one of the most important instead of the Orange Bowl."

Bob Devaney, a loser in his final regular-season game as the Nebraska coach — he announced earlier this year he would retire at the end of the season — said there was "no question" Oklahoma was the better team.

"They deserved to win," he said. "No question about it, the best team won today."

Johnny Rodgers, the Nebraska flanker and leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy, was limited to only 99 yards on kick returns, pass receptions and rushes, and

Utah St. tips Weber St. 20-17

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Mickey Doyle, filling in for injured Tony Adams, ran for one touchdown, passed for a second and kicked two field goals to account for all his team's points in Utah State's 20-16 Thanksgiving day win over Weber State.

Doyle, who has stood in Adams' shadow for three years, threw a six-yard scoring pass to tight end Frank Anderson with 4:20 left in the game to put the Aggies ahead for good.

National total offense leader Adams left the game in the first quarter with a severely sprained ankle. He returned with USU trailing, 16-13, in the fourth quarter, but completed only three of seven pass attempts as he was unable to move on the injured right leg.

Adams moved the Aggies into scoring range in the first quarter before being knocked out of the contest on a sweep around his left end. Doyle came in to boot his first field goal 38 yards out to give USU a 3-0 lead with 7:50 remaining.

Doyle put USU ahead, 6-0, on a 28-yard three-point, but Jim Larsen tied the score on a 49-yard scamper in a Weber drive that took only three plays late in the first period.

The Wildcats surprised Aggie fans by moving ahead, 13-6, in the third quarter, following a fumble recovery on USU's 19-yard line. Three plays later, Rick Hojak broke around the left end on a 17-yard scoring run and Ross Torgerson kicked the extra point.

Doyle brought the Aggies back, moving 81 yards after the kickoff and climaxed the drive by carrying the final two yards himself and kicking the PAT.

Weber State moved ahead again in the fourth quarter with Torgerson's 35-yard field goal, only his second three-pointer of the year, to make it 16-13 with 11:48 remaining.

Adams returned to the game following the field goal, but left for good after two attempts to move his club were hobbled by the twisted ankle.

Doyle returned to complete three straight passes—the final to Anderson for the go-ahead score.

The senior from Sheridan, Wyo., connected for 11 passes in 20 attempts for 193 yards, but had two interceptions.

Halfback Tommy Landry scored from five yards out for the Longhorns, and wide receiver Jim Moore returned a punt 61 yards behind a solid wall of Texas blockers in the fourth period to turn the game into a rout.

Kicker Billy Schott, who stretched his string of conversions to a school record of 28 without a miss, also connected on a 20-yard field goal.

A&M completely dominated the game in the opening period, rolling up 82 yards to only 14 for Texas.

Soccer style kicker Pat McDermott kicked a 45-yard field goal in that surge for the Aggies' only points of the night.

Jean Killy skis first pro race

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI)—Jean-Claude Killy, the Olympic triple-gold medalist who retired from amateur competition nearly five years ago, skis his first professional race Saturday.

Killy is "entered in the Samsonte Pro Ski Classic, the first stop of the young International Ski Racers Association (ISRA) tour."

Killy, 29, was quietly confident when he announced his return to active competition in Denver Wednesday.

"I am stronger than I have ever been this early in any ski season," he said.

Instead of gold medals, Killy will be after $20,000 in prize money to be divided among the winners of the meet. More than $400,000 from a variety of commercial sponsors will be split among the tour skiers during the 11 stops in the next six months.

In professional competition skiers race in pairs but work against the clock until the field is eliminated to 16. The finalists then race two-by-two over two courses with the time differential of the two courses determining the winner, and eliminating the loser.

Killy has raced the pro style since he won gold medals in slalom, giant slalom and downhill racing at Grenoble, France, in 1968, but not for prize money.

The Frenchman should be challenged by American Spider Sabich, 27, who collected over $50,000 in ISRA prize money last winter, was the tour champion and won back-to-back victories in last year's Samsonte Classic at Vail, Colo.

Sabich and Killy met before, in Grenoble, where Sabich finished fifth in the slalom for America's best finish of the Games in skiing.

"I've waited a long time for Killy and I'm anxious," Sabich said. "I will be looking for him over my shoulder at the starting gate."

Hugo Nindl, 30, the Austrian who finished runnerup to Sabich in money winnings last year with $28,825, will be back to challenge.

Other top pros back this year include Harald Stuefer, 24, Innsbruck, Austria; Terje Overland, 28, Rjukan, Norway; Lasse Hamra, 27, Trondheim, Norway; Billy McKay, 25, Vancouver, B. C.; Peter Duncan, 28, Mt. Tremblant, Quebec; Hans Bjorge, 26, Oslo, Norway; Kurt Recher, 26, Eisenerz, Austria; and Duncan Clumant, 26, Silt, Colo.

A-State shoots for WAC title

DENVER (UPI)—Arizona State, given a second shot at the Western Athletic Conference title through the generosity of the rest of the league, needs a win over arch-rival Arizona Saturday night for an unprecedented fourth straight WAC crown.

ASU suffered a 45-43 loss at the hands of Wyoming in its league opener, and because the Sun Devils played one less game than the other contenders they had to spend the season hoping the rest of the league would lose at least two games apiece.

That same Wyoming team and Brigham Young took care of that last week. Wyoming dropped Arizona 22-14 and Brigham Young edged Utah 16-7.

If ASU wins Saturday, the Devils host the second annual Fiesta Bowl, with rugged Big Eight foe Missouri the challenger. If it loses, Arizona

Brigham Young or Utah could win the bowl berth, depending on the outcome of their games.

Brigham Young travels to disappointing New Mexico and Utah hosts Colorado State as the WAC season ends. Texas El Paso lost to CSU 35-22 last week, sewing up last place in the league for the second straight season in its finale, and Wyoming closed the campaign with the win-over Arizona.

SF stuns Dallas 31-10

—IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Steve Spurrier converted four long third-down plays in a 94-yard scoring march to start the second half Thursday which broke the back of the Dallas Cowboys and sent San Francisco to a 31-10 victory and the lead in its division race.

Linebacker Skip Vanderbundt also helped highlight the San Francisco win by scoring twice—once on a 76-yard fumble recovery and again in the game's final moments on a 21-yard pass interception.

It was the first loss ever for Dallas in Texas Stadium following 10 wins in their new home. It was the Cowboys' first loss ever on Thanksgiving Day, after five victories and a tie on the holiday and Forty Niner Coach Dick Nolan's first win over Dallas since leaving the Cowboys six seasons ago.

San Francisco built a 14-10 lead at the half despite being clobbered in the statistics, but did some work of its own to put together the game-breaking drive at the start of the third period.

Spurrier kept the drive alive by making good on third down situations when San Francisco needed 9, 11, 12 and 8 yards. That last third-down play was a touchdown pass from Spurrier to tight end Ted Kwalick.

San Francisco's first touchdown in the first half came when Dave Wilcox blind-sided Dallas quarterback Craig Morton, forcing a fumble, which Vanderbundt picked up and ran 73 yards. Ken Willard got the other Forty Niner first half score on a one-yard run six plays after Bruce Taylor intercepted a Morton pass.

Bruce Gossett added an 18-yard field goal in the final period for San Francisco, which moved a half game in front of Los Angeles in the NFC's Western Division. Los Angeles can regain a share of the lead with a victory in New Orleans Sunday, which would set up a first-place meeting between the Forty Niners and Rams the next week.

Dallas' only touchdown came on its second possession of the game, a seven-yard surge by Walt Garrison. A 31-yard pass from Morton to Ron Sellers highlighted that drive.

But the Cowboys did little else right the rest of the game, getting only close enough for a 23-yard field goal by Tony Fritsch near the end of the first half.

The Dallas loss put the Cowboys a game and a half behind the Washington Redskins in their race for the NFC East crown, but Dallas' 3-3 record still left the Cowboys in good shape to make the wild card spot in the Super Bowl playoffs.

San Francisco played errorless ball all day while Dallas lost two fumbles and Morton threw two interceptions.

San Francisco trapped Dallas quarterbacks nine times—with three of those coming against Roger Staubach in the fourth quarter. It marked only the second appearance for Staubach in a game since suffering a shoulder separation during the preseason.

Spurrier completed 16 of 24 passes for San Francisco for 177 yards.

The five-year Forty Niner quarterback was a master of the third-down situation all day. Not only did he hit four-of-four such situations in the key touchdown drive, he hit Gene Washington with a big third-down pass to keep alive the Forty Niner drive that put San Francisco in the lead in the first half.

And he also hit two of two third-down plays in a drive which led to Gossett's fourth-period field goal.

Unknown takes lead in Heritage Golf Classic

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI)—Little known veteran golf pro Bob Erickson shot a five-under-par 66 Thursday to grab a one-stroke first round lead over young Jack Lewis in the opening round of the $125,000 Heritage Classic.

Erickson, a 47-year-old Michigan native who has finished far down the list during his more than 10 years as a playing pro, played the Ocean Course, the easier of the two courses being used for the first two rounds of the Heritage and posted three birdies on both sides plus a front-nine bogey to become a surprise leader.

Lewis, a 25-year-old South Carolinian who used to play golf at this island resort long before he turned pro, also played the Ocean Course Thursday and scored a 67 which he insisted "would have been a lot better if I hadn't been putting poorly."

Nine golfers were at 68 and another five at 69 and everyone of the 156 starters who broke 70 Thursday did it on the Ocean Course.

"I don't think there is any doubt that the Harbortown Course is three or four strokes tougher than the Ocean Course," said Lewis, noting that Bobby Nichols, with a 70, was the only golfer who managed to break par on the par-71 Harbortown layout.

Erickson, a former watchmaker, said he didn't return to the tour as a regular until about three years ago and the best he has played since then was two years ago in the U.S. Open, when he was tied for the lead at the end of the second round.

"I haven't done especially well this year," he said. "However, I have made the cut in five of my last six tournaments and I felt my game was coming around to the point where today's score really didn't surprise me."

Included in the large group of 69 shooters were 23-year-old Lon Hinkle, who just turned pro two weeks ago, and George Shortridge, who returned to the tour this year after an eight-year layoff because he couldn't afford the cost.

Defending champion Hale Irwin, who had predicted that scores would be lower than usual here this year because of the excellent condition of the island golf courses, shot a 3-over-par 74 at Harbortown.

Last year, when the entire tournament was played at Harbortown, Irwin won by a stroke with a 5-under-par total. Both courses are being used for the first two rounds this year in order to enable the golfers to finish before dark. Friday, they'll switch courses with all of the first round leaders playing the tougher Harbortown Course.

This year's top two money winners, Jack Nicklaus and Lee

Trevino, are not playing here this week and neither is Arnold Palmer. George Archer, third on the money list and thus the top money winner here, finished far back in the pack Thursday with a 73 on the Ocean Course.

Others shooting 68 Thursday included Don Iverson, Romero Blancas, Phil Rodgers, Bob Rosburg, Dave Marr, Allen Miller and Larry White. The 69 shooters were John Mahaffey, Frank Beard, Ras Allen, Jim Dent and Vinny Giles, the lone amateur playing in the tournament.

Erickson, who lists his latest address as being Columbia, S.C., has made the cut in only six of the 23 previous tournaments he has played in this year. His best finish was a tie for 20th in the Quad Cities tournament and "his biggest check this year, from Quad Cities, was $918."

Nine golfers were at 68 and another five at 69 and everyone of the 156 starters who broke 70 Thursday did it on the Ocean Course.

ISU coach Griffin speaks at Jerome

JEROME—Bob Griffin, head football coach at Idaho State University, will be the featured speaker at the fall sports award night Monday.

The awards had been scheduled for Nov. 21 but because of a band concert on that night the assembly was changed to Monday at 8 p.m. at Jefferson school cafeteria. The program is being sponsored by the Jerome Booster Club.

Griffin, 31, a native of Milford, Conn., was an outstanding quarterback at Southern Connecticut State College from 1960-62 and as a senior was picked for the Football Scholar Award after three years on the dean's list. He was at Holy Cross High School in New York from 1963-65 and an assistant coach of the University of Rhode Island from 1966-69.

In 1970 he compiled a 9-1 record at Bishop Hendricks High School, Warwick, R.I., and in 1971 he moved to Pocatello to become quarterback coach and offensive coordinator at ISU.

Girls volleyball, cross country and football teams also will be honored at the assembly.

Landry, Lions trim Jets 37-20

DETROIT (UPI)—Quarterback Greg Landry scored his second touchdown, Albie Taylor broke loose for another in the last three minutes, and the Detroit Lions trimmed the New York Jets, 37-20, Thursday in a Thanksgiving Day football game.

Landry, scoring twice on the ground, passed for another touchdown as the Lions improved their record to 7-4, a half game out of the lead in the National Football Conference's Central Division. It was the Lions' ninth straight win against an American Football Conference team.

Joe Namath, not showing his best style and luster, brought the Jets back to a 20-20 tie on a 33-yard touchdown pass to tight end Rich Caster with 38 seconds left in the third quarter.

But Errol Mann broke that tie with a 33-yard field goal, his third of the game, before the Lions broke it open.

Landry, who had already scored on a sneak from a yard out, struggled over from the six yard line with 2:57 left to play. His ninth touchdown of the year set a new team record for touchdowns by a quarterback.

Taylor broke loose for a 38-yard scoring run with 1:49 left after it appeared he had been stopped at the line of scrimmage. His run came after reserve linebacker Charlie Weaver intercepted Namath's 22nd and last pass of the game. The TD gave Taylor 123 yards in 15 carries for the game. Bobby Howfield kicked field goals of 13 and 24 yards for the Jets but missed three which might have changed the game. John Riggins scored on a one-yard run and gained 105 yards in 24 carries but was hurt late in the game and never returned.

Namath completed nine of his 22 passes for 165 yards, but the majority of that came in the third quarter. Cliff McClain, the replacement for injured regular Emerson Boozer, picked up 122 yards in only 10 rushes.

New York, falling to 6-5 in the Miami-dominated Eastern Division of the AFC, now is in trouble for the wildcard berth going to the best second-place team.

Dolphins healthy for Cards Sunday

MIAMI (UPI)—Miami Dolphins Coach Don Shula said Thursday all of his players, with the possible exception of wide receiver Paul Warfield, will be ready to play the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night in the Orange Bowl.

Warfield injured his ankle and arch two weeks ago and has been replaced by second-year receiver Otto Stowe.

Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and defensive back Lloyd Mumphord had been sitting out workouts this week, but are both expected to be ready

Monday night. Both are nursing bruised shoulders.

Although the Dolphins have clinched the AFC Eastern Division title and the playoff berth that goes with it, Shula said he would try to keep the Dolphins' undefeated record going.

Michigan, Buckeye tilt has started word war

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Dennis Franklin, one of 29 Ohioans listed on Michigan's football roster, was told recently it seemed like all Ohio players went to Michigan.

"Only the good ones," he replied.

Perhaps a poor choice of words for young Franklin, the sophomore quarterback for the third-ranked Wolverines who is a native of Massillon, Ohio. The unbeaten Wolverines from Ann Arbor, Mich., meet eighth-ranked Ohio State here Saturday and Franklin's quote is displayed prominently on the bulletin board in the Bucks' dressing room, showing the tone of the annual Michigan-Ohio State clash.

Saturday, this central Ohio city of about half a million will become the football capital of the nation.

In one day's edition of one of the city's newspapers during the pre-game week, the classified ad section carried 20 requests for a total of 36 game tickets.

Newspapers in Ohio devote much news space to the Buckeyes, too, but there is one, put out once a year, which backs Michigan in the annual game with the Buckeyes.

The newspaper is published by Benny Agelow, a public relations man who is a graduate of Michigan.

It's called the "Continuation Bowl News" and this year's headline reads "Wolves continue dominance over hapless Bucks."

The "news" front page also says: "published in Bucyrus, Ohio, where everybody loves the Wolverines."

Most of the residents of that community of 12,300 "hate the Wolverines" and resent that line in the "News."

"They are very upset, of course," said Dick Edmonds, sports editor of the Daily Bucyrus Forum Telegraph. "This is a predominantly Ohio state area."

The "Continuation Bowl News," refers to Franklin, the much-quoted Ohioan, as "Michigan's exciting option threat quarterback..." and stories carry such headlines as: "Michigan Legislature Debating Acquisition of OSU Campus," and "League Adopts Bamboo Downs Markers," an obvious reference to OSU coach Woody Hayes' snapping a pair of downs markers over his knee in last year's loss to Michigan.

But Michigan is a word Hayes himself will not say.

His references to Michigan are "those people up north" or "that team up north."

Outdoors

By STU MURRELL
Idaho Fish and Game Dept.

Waterfowl hunting is getting into full swing in Idaho with about 492,000 ducks and 14,000 Canada geese recently reported on certain counting areas in the State.

This number of ducks is comparable to the numbers counted at the same time last year and the Canada goose figures were 28 per cent above last year's count. These trend census figures show we are heading for another excellent waterfowl year in Idaho, similar to 1971 in which Idaho hunters shot almost 700,000 ducks.

It behooves the waterfowl hunter to be able to identify his birds for several reasons. The most obvious is the law enforcement angle since Canvasbacks are completely protected this year as are Cormorants and many other species such as Grebes that resemble ducks.

In addition, knowing your ducks can result in selection of drakes to protect the basic breeding stock and result in a bag of the more preferred birds as far as edibility. Waterfowl identification is difficult even for the experts but the following are some tips on identification of various species which may help the hunter. A good waterfowl identification guide is a must for the wildfowler.

The Canvasback male is fairly easy to identify with its almost solid, white back and long sloping bill and forehead on a red head and neck. All diving ducks, including the Can, fly with a much more rapid wingbeat than most of the dabbling ducks such as the Mallard. The female Can is a generally brown bird and much more difficult to identify. However, there is one characteristic that helps to identify both sexes of the Can. They fly with their large head held at a downward angle. The Redhead and Scaup can be easily confused with a Canvasback and if there were any question in my mind I would let them all go.

The Mallard and Pintail are two of the most common dabbling ducks that are here in good numbers and one excellent eating. If a sportsman can identify these two species, he will be selecting good ducks and will have no problems with mistaken identity on protected species. The first criteria is let them get in close enough to clearly see their markings. This is a good way to estimate proper range too.

The Mallard drake is a large duck, has a green head and definite dark patch on the lower neck that forms a straight line across the breast. Whenever possible, shoot drakes since there is a surplus of these that are available in the spring breeding population each year.

The Mallard hen and drake can also be identified by the blue speculum (patch on the edge of the wing) bordered in white. One duck that is easily confused with the Mallard hen is the Gadwall. It can be identified by the sharply defined black and white patch on the speculum.

Pintail drakes are long necked, white colored birds with a long, sharp tail from which they get their name. Both the female and male have a thin, white line on the edge of their wings and a bronze speculum. The best identifying mark is the long, narrow neck and head.

Another good eating but small bird is the Green-Winged Teal. It commonly zooms about at low levels in small bunches and is often past before the hunter can get his gun into action. The drake has a reddish brown head with green eye stripe and both sexes have a bright green speculum edged in white on the upper side.

The Cormorant is a larger, black appearing bird which resembles a goose but has a long, square tail and sharp, hooked bill. It is common along the Snake River and is completely protected. Grebes are small diving, birds with a sharp bill and rarely willing to fly.

Snow geese can be distinguished from swans by their black wing tips, shorter neck, and smaller size. The hunter is allowed one Ross goose in his daily bag and these can be identified by their small size, similar to a drake Mallard, and lack of a dark, grinning patch on the side of the bill which the Snow goose has. There is some confusion on goose limits.

A hunter is allowed 3 geese, only two of which can be Canada's. Therefore, he could shoot 3 Snows, or 2 Canada's, and 1 Snow, or any combination that does not include more than 2 Canada's or one Ross goose.

Phoenix downs Detroit 128-122

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Charlie Scott scored 42 points to lead the Phoenix Suns to a 128-122 come-from-behind win over the Detroit Pistons Thursday night, snapping a five-game losing streak.

Twelve of Scott's points came during the Suns' 43-point third quarter when Phoenix overcame a two-point halftime deficit to move ahead 99-85. Scott also had seven assists during the quarter.

Connie Hawkins, the Suns' second top scorer with 19 points, got eight during the third-period spurge. Hawkins finished with 11 assists and seven rebounds.

Curtis Rowe was high scorer for the Pistons with 26 points, followed by Bob Lanier with 22.

Detroit's largest lead was 10 points, 46-36, with 7:22 remaining in the first half. Hawkins and Gus Johnson triggered a rally which saw Phoenix close the gap to 58-56 at intermission.

The Suns went ahead to stay on two free throws by Scott with 9:36 left in the third quarter. The closest Detroit came after that was five points in the closing seconds.

Virginia beats Cougars 116-106

HAMPTON, Va. (UPI) — George Irvine pumped in a career high 32 points and Julius Erving added 30 more Thursday night to lead the Virginia Squires to a 116-106 win over the Carolina Cougars in an American Basketball Association game.

The Cougars, the ABA's Eastern Division leaders, held the game close until the final four minutes, when hot shooting by guard Mike Barr and Irvine, a third year man from the University of Washington, broke the game open for the Squires.

Tom Owens, a product of the University of South Carolina, scored a career-high 29 point to pace the Cougars, while Billy Cunningham poured in 17 and Mack Calvin 16.

Neil Johnson, coming off a knee injury, scored 15 points for the Squires, while Barr had 12.

The Squires, with the win, pulled within two games of the Cougars in the ABA East.

Virginia took an early double-figure lead in the first half, but Carolina bounced back to narrow the margin to

Plant start set

COVILLE, Wash. (UPI) — The Aluminum Company of America is scheduled to start construction of its $50 million magnesium plant at Addy in northeastern Washington in April.

That was the gist of an application Wednesday by the company for an investment tax referral.

Alcoa, in its application, estimated about 270 new jobs would result from the installation of the plant about 20 miles south of here in the chronically high unemployment area of northeastern Washington.

The firm said it estimated costs of the plant structures at $19.6 million and new equipment and machinery at $31 million.

When Alcoa first announced its plans two years ago it estimated the total cost of the project at $25 million and felt it would employ between 100-150 persons.

G-P divestiture of assets asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission announced the terms of a consent order Wednesday that would force Georgia-Pacific Corp. to divest itself of about a fifth of its assets.

Georgia-Pacific, with headquarters in Portland, Ore., is the nation's biggest softwood plywood producer and the FTC said it acted to prevent a monopoly or substantially lessened competition.

Noting that Georgia-Pacific had purchased 16 firms in the South, the FTC called on the company to divest itself of a variety of forest products firms and 500,000 acres of timberland.

Under the order, Georgia-Pacific would set up an independent corporation called Louisiana-Pacific Corp. and transfer to it roughly 20 per cent of its assets.

The transferred assets would account for 20 per cent of Georgia-Pacific's profits and have a net book value of at least $150 million, the FTC said.

Georgia-Pacific stockholders would receive one share of Louisiana-Pacific stock for every four held in the senior company, the FTC said.

Among the divestitures the FTC listed four softwood plywood plants, 40 sawmills, two pulp mills, several lumber manufacturing facilities, a particle board plant and more than 500,000 acres of timberland in the south and Pacific northwest.

For five years, the FTC order restricts the acquisition of larger timber holdings in the South. And for 10 years it can be no acquisition of softwood plywood companies without prior FTC approval.

However, Georgia-Pacific may purchase certain percentages of Louisiana-Pacific's plywood production over a decade, if the new firm approves.

Georgia-Pacific produces almost twice as much plywood as its nearest competitor.

North Carolina's flue-cured tobacco crop this year will be the smallest in 56 years, say farm experts.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Even as stock market forecasters see fair skies in the coming year, Wall Street warns investors to beware of approaching weather.

The market does ease off a bit between now and the year's end, but the low P/E issues will fare much better than those selling at high P/E levels, the firm says.

Stress the psychological impact of the Dow's major move breaking that old barrier of 1,000, the public is now willing to buy the good investment blue chips which the performance guys have veered away from for so long.

W. E. Hutton & Co. suggests the other market indices have long ago passed their 1,000 marks. Hooper of the Institutional Investor and only public leadership, as opposed to the institutions, is pushing the Dow to its new high, the company says.

Investment Counsel, Inc. says a recent presidential election has tended to confirm its long-held view the United States is moving toward social, economic and financial stability. We believe this environment, by encouraging further corporate earnings growth, will be helpful to the stock market in the coming year, the firm adds.

The stock market rebounded from post-election profit taking to reach a new high before settling back again, says Standard & Poor's Corp., adding the swing from high-fives to more conservative values is continuing. In reaction, investor confidence and ample availability of buying power hold promise of a significant further advance, the company says.

The stock market is getting a lot of good advertising from the Dow's recent closing above 1,000, according to Lucien Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. All this publicity is bound to bring the public back in, says Hooper, who feels the market is going to have a highly speculative tone, at least for the near term. The Dow has a good chance of hitting 1100 by the end of January, he adds.

FHA aide assumes MV post

JEROME — Anthony M. Humbach has returned to Jerome as county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration.

Humbach began his duties in the Jerome County office this week. He succeeds Paul I. Sullivan, who is now supervisor in the Twin Falls office.

Also starting work in the office is Helen Nielsen, assistant clerk.

"Humbach" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Humbach, Jerome, and graduated from high school here. He holds a degree in agriculture from the University of Idaho and has been with the FHA for six years.

He is married to the former Nancy Jewett of Hailey.

Gem firm expands

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise-based Howard Corp. has announced plans to absorb an Oregon company.

Katrak Vehicle Co. will acquire Oppel Harvester of Meridian and Planet Jr. of Los Angeles from Howard. Howard in return will get 50 per cent of the stock of Katrak.

Silver

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman Wednesday quoted silver at 182.7 cents per fine ounce, up 1.12 cents.

Watch lines

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UPI) — The nation's drivers, often plagued by indecision and confusion on unfamiliar roads, need not be subject to a guessing game.

Drivers can tune-in to the basic "Morse Code of Highway Safety" pavement markings with broken lines for passing zones and solid lines for no passing, advises John Manley of Potters Industries, Inc.

Recent federal changes in traffic control devices will further assist. Uniform international symbols will replace words on signs and new yellow centerlines will clearly mark "two-way" roads. White lines will indicate traffic moving in the same direction.

Ecuador seizes 19 tuna boats

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — So far this month, Ecuador has seized 19 U.S.-owned tuna boats and collected nearly $100,000 in fines for violations of the Latin American nation's disputed 200-mile territorial waters.

After the Ecuadorian Navy captured six of the U.S. boats Wednesday, the State Department issued a statement saying the seizures are a "problem we are all familiar with which has not been resolved."

"Our embassy routinely protests each seizure," Charles W. Bray, a department spokesman said.

Ecuadorian authorities in Guayaquil said all six of the boats captured Wednesday arrived at Salinas Bay and the crews were scheduled to appear in court today. Three other tuna boats seized Tuesday were released after paying about $200,000 in fines.

Apparently Ecuador is trying to round up as many clippers as it can before they head home, said August Felando, general manager of the American Tunaboot Association here.

"I guess they feel they can do whatever they want to with us," Felando charged that the seizures are a money-raising effort because the Navy collects 70 per cent of any fines levied against seiners fishing inside the 200-mile limit. The U.S. government recognizes only a 12-mile limit, and reimburses the fishing boat owners for the fines paid to Ecuador.

"My personal opinion is that when you have a law that permits the Ecuadorian Navy to collect 70 per cent of the fine for itself, it provides an incentive for them," Felando said.

Since the escalation of the "tuna war" Nov. 12, 14 American vessels have been seized to bring the total to 19 for the month and 23 for the year. Fines on the latest 14 boats totaled about $920,000.

Meeting place

PRESIDENTIAL adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese politburo member Le Duc Tho met earlier this week in this two-story stone-and-stone-villa located about 15 miles south of Paris and owned by French Communist Party. They met again this week in their new round of private talks aimed at ending the Vietnam war, informed sources said. (UPI)

Dallas man sentenced

DALLAS (UPI) — Danny McCrary, 19, Wednesday was sentenced to two years in prison on a parole violation, the first legal action in Texas against a nomadic Texas family suspected of committing 22 murders in the western United States.

McCrary and four other members of his family were held in California last month on suspicion of committing the murders, including seven in Texas during a journey in the West Coast in 1971.

California authorities said McCrary admitted to them that he, his father, Sherman McCrary, 45, and brother-in-law, Carl Raymond Taylor, 38, participated in the murder of a Mesquite, Tex., couple in October of 1971. Danny waived extradition to return to Texas to face a charge of violation of his parole.

A district judge Wednesday in a hearing on the parole violation revoked Danny's parole on a prior breaking and entering conviction, and sentenced him to two years in prison. Probation Officer Harvey Fountain testified that McCrary had not reported to him since June, 1971.

McCrary had said in California, law officers reported, that the three family members kidnapped Forrest Raymond Covey, 20, and his wife, Jena Donnell Covey, 19, Oct. 17. He said they were taken to a barn in Hunt County and that he heard shots, which he said killed the two persons. Their bodies were found Oct. 24 in the barn.

Sherman McCrary and Taylor are serving prison terms in California for armed robbery. Danny's mother, Carolyn, 45, and sister, Ginger McCrary Taylor, 22, and Danny were held in Santa Barbara, Calif., on charges of harboring a fugitive.

Early this week, murder charges in the Covey case were filed against Danny in Hunt County. Bond was set at $50,000 each on the two murder counts. Hunt County District Attorney Larry Miller said he was not ready to file the murder charges, but was forced to because there had been a chance that McCrary would go free following the parole violation hearing.

Future CSI deaf programs aired

TWIN FALLS — Future vocational programs for the deaf at CSI are now being considered by a Magic Valley advisory committee.

The committee will advise the college of the needs of the deaf community educationally and help plan long-range programs for deaf students who will enter CSI's vocational programs.

Serving as advisers are four deaf members, Keith Anderson, owner of a small appliance repair shop, Twin Falls; Sharon Hensley, housewife, Jerome; Ron Jones, vocational rehabilitation specialist, Gooding; and George Wilding, owner of Wilding Print Shop, Rupert.

Hearing members of the committee are Gary Major, coordinator-MDTA at CSI; Jim Palmer, counselor for the deaf, CSI and Steve Platts, Idaho State Department of Employment, all Twin Falls. The committee met Nov. 16 to discuss ways of contacting the deaf community to identify their educational and vocational needs.

Director of the CSI Vocational School, Orval Bradley, spoke to the group on the functions and purposes of the committee. He said that a possible goal will be to help develop a program "specifically geared to deaf students."

Bona fide training should let the deaf student learn at his own pace, integrate with the hearing students and utilize supportive services, Bradley said.

The committee will meet next on Dec. 1 at the CSI Vocational School.

Former member gives testimony

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI) — A former Hell's Angel dying of cancer testified Wednesday that two prospective members of the renegade motorcycle club died of strangulation after a night-long drug and alcohol party.

William "Whispering Bill" Pifer, 41, said at a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court for four suspects that one died after he "flipped out" and the other was killed so there would be no witnesses.

The hearing was for William J. Moran, 59, San Pablo, Calif.; Edward J. Carter, 24, Richmond, Chester M. Green, 29, Richmond, and William M. Mitten, 32, Alameda. Moran and Carter were charged with murder while Green and Mitten were charged with being accessories.

The victims were Thomas Shull, 24, and Charles Baker, 30, two transient motorcycleists from Georgia. They died in the spring of 1971.

Pifer, given only five weeks to live and suffering from cancer of the larynx, testified after being granted immunity. His appearance on the witness stand was videotaped for use in a possible Superior Court trial.

The bodies of the victims along with that of a woman were found in an alleged Hell's Angel "burying ground" on a ranch near Ukiah in Northern California.

Pifer said that during a party at the Hell's Angels' clubhouse in nearby El Sobrante Shull "flipped out" from drugs and alcohol as well as from pressure put on him in initiation games.

Pifer said club members tried to hold Shull down, to knock him out and to stuff barbiturates down his throat and banged his head on the floor before they hog-tied him and placed him in a bedroom. He was found dead later.

Baker, according to the witness, became "hysterical" when he watched the assault on his friend.

London stands fast on issue

LONDON (UPI) — The government stood fast today despite a firm rejection of new immigration rules favoring citizens of European Common Market countries over those of the old British Commonwealth.

An opposition Labor party motion rejecting the new rules was carried in the House of Commons Wednesday night by 275 to 240 votes, wiping out the government's overall 26-vote majority in the Commons.

Prime Minister Edward Heath, turning aside Labor cries of "out!" "out!", said the government would "in due course" place new immigration rules before the commons to replace those which were rejected.

The vote was the Conservative government's first major parliamentary defeat since it came to power in June 1970. But it was not a crucial constitutional one on which the government would be expected to resign. Heath is not obliged to call a general election until the end of his government's five-year term in 1975.

Government sources said the administration would introduce other proposals substantially the same as those rejected. Under the original measure, citizens of the Common Market countries would be able to take up employment in Britain without seeking work permits.

Most Australians, Canadians, New Zealanders and other Commonwealth citizens would be subject to the same restrictions required of Americans and other aliens seeking jobs in Britain.
