Reds hurl big barrage at S. Vietnamese drive

SAIGON (UPI) — The North Vietnamese hurled 2,084 rounds of mortar and artillery fire against South Vietnamese Marines driving further north into Quang Tri Province in their northernmost drive since the Communist spring offensive almost eight months ago, front dispatches reported today.

UPI correspondent Donald A. Davis, reporting from the battle zone, said the more than 2,000 rounds were fired between 9:45 p.m. Sunday and 11:35 a.m. today, bombardments which showed the Communists were no longer hoarding ammunition as they did when it appeared a cease-fire was imminent.

Earlier, about 500 Communist troops attacked a 700-man South Vietnamese force about seven miles north of Quang Tri City. The Communists destroyed one government tank, damaged two others and pushed government troops back one-half mile.

About 36 hours later, the South Vietnamese counterattacked, backed by American air strikes and naval gunfire and drove back to their original line.

"We don't think they (the Communists) have got the combat power to stop us there unless they rearrange some units," one Allied source said.

Davis said most of the fighting in Quang Tri Province centered around the farming and fishing village of Vinh Hoa Phuong. The village—which has mostly been destroyed—nestles among the sand dunes on the South China Sea coast seven miles north of Quang Tri City.

South Vietnamese marines started a push two weeks ago to try to recapture the land between Quang Tri City and the Cua Viet River, which runs west to east about 12 miles north of Quang Tri City.

The marines had pushed about seven miles northward—1-2 miles farther north than they had been since the Communists overran the province last May 1.

The Communists hit the marines with 1,200 rounds of artillery and mortar fire between 7 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. Sunday (6 a.m. and 10 p.m. Saturday EDT), then followed it up with a ground attack.

The marines—with about 600 reinforcements and American air and Navy gunfire—had regained the one-half mile they lost by dawn today.

Marine casualties were listed as 15 killed, 68 wounded and 15 missing. There was no immediate count of Communist dead but military sources said the North Vietnamese suffered heavy casualties.

In other action: —U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth

Bunker met with President Nguyen Van Thieu for 15 minutes in the presidential palace today, but the results of the meeting were not disclosed. The men were believed to have discussed the status of the Paris peace talks.

—It was also learned that Thieu sent his closest adviser—Hoang Duc Nha—to Paris to confer with other South Vietnamese officials. Nha is the only South Vietnamese who set in on all the talks between Thieu and President Nixon's two envoys—Henry A. Kissinger and Gen. Alexander Haig.

—The newspaper, Tin Song (Live News), which is partially owned by Nha, predicted the Paris talks will "have great developments in the coming days." The newspaper also said Nixon's decision to receive a South Vietnamese envoy at Camp David was a victory for Thieu.

Nixon, Kissinger study peace moves

By United Press International
President Nixon summoned security adviser Henry A. Kissinger to Camp David today for a third round of discussions since suspension of the secret talks in Paris. Nguyen Co Thach, North Vietnam's Deputy Foreign Minister, flew back to Hanoi from Paris for further instructions.

There was a series of diplomatic meetings to study the impasse which apparently hinges on South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu's demands for withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South and Hanoi's refusal to do so on grounds they are Vietnamese, not foreign, troops.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker conferred in Saigon with Thieu while Thieu's closest adviser, Hoang Duc Nha, flew to Paris to confer with South Vietnamese officials. Saigon reports last week said Thieu would ask that Nha sit in on the Kissinger-North Vietnamese talks which are to resume Dec. 4.

Camp David, but both sides had no comment on Saigon reports Thieu was seeking a personal meeting with Nixon. Duc went to Paris early last week for briefings by Kissinger on his talks with Hanoi Politburo member Le Duc Tho.

The latest round of private Kissinger-Tho Paris negotiations, which began a week ago, were suspended to permit such diplomatic negotiations. Kissinger conferred with Nixon in New York immediately upon his arrival from Paris and again Sunday.

Despite the bleak outlook, the Saigon newspaper Tin Song, which is partly financed by Nha and sometimes acts as Thieu's mouthpiece, predicted the Paris negotiations would make "great developments in the coming days," especially with the arrival of Nha.

Communist diplomats said they would neither confirm nor deny reports that Hanoi would refuse to bow to South Vietnam's demand that a cease-fire can come only if North Vietnam withdrew home all its troops based in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. Thach refused to discuss the reasons for the suspension of the talks when he boarded the Aeroflot jetliner in Paris. Thach arrived in Paris Nov. 17 with Tho, the chief peace negotiator.

CAA wins approval of program

TWIN FALLS — With a new lease on life and a new headquarters, the Community Action Agency went back to work today.

Board Chairman Royal Slotten said today he had received official notice from regional anti-poverty officials that the agency had been funded and its work program approved for the remainder of the fiscal year.

The effect of the action is to make the agency operative, with an approved work program, for the first time since the beginning of the current program year, although the agency is still on probation.

away. The move is being accomplished with mostly volunteer help.

— The entire staff, exclusive of executive director Bob Russell, has been "terminated" effective Dec. 1, the result of Russell's interpretation of the "open hiring" term of probation dictated by regional officials. As a result, the agency will exist in name only unless new staff can be hired, or regional officials permit continued staffing by present personnel until new personnel can be hired. Russell said today he would request permission for a "skeleton staff" until Dec. 15.

Cassia crash kills Gem man

RAFT RIVER — Carl Leroy Olsen, 24, Blackfoot, died Sunday morning in a one-car accident eight miles west of the Raft River Store.

The accident occurred on Interstate 15W.

A passenger in the car, Henry M. Rivera, 24, Pocatello, suffered multiple lacerations. He was listed in good condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital today.

According to Idaho State Police Officer Leo Davis, the accident occurred about 1:30 a.m. but was not discovered until 7:15 a.m. when Rivera — signalling from the back seat of the car — caught the attention of several hunters.

The hunters, Robert Myers, Dennis Cole and Layne Hall, all Jerome, notified authorities.

Davis said Olsen apparently "either lost control of the car or went to sleep." Olsen, a student at Idaho State University, Pocatello, was headed east. He had been visiting friends in Burley. The car, totally wrecked, was found in a field. It had rolled over three times before coming to rest on its wheels.

Olsen was pronounced dead on arrival at Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley.

Davis said the battery was thrown from the car, leaving the wrecked car without lights. Apparently, Rivera had attempted to signal several other cars but without success since there were no lights. Rivera had been sleeping in the rear seat of the car and was trapped in the wreckage by his injuries and the demolished car.

The car was 214 feet from the south shoulder of the highway.

Olsen's death was one of four occurring over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend. The Idaho traffic fatality toll now stands at 315 for the year, compared to 294 for the same date in 1971.

The agency has until March 1 to compile a "multi-year planning document" for submission to regional officials, a blueprint for the local effort against poverty for the next several years.

— The agency also must produce by April 1 a work program for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1973, without which the CAA may not exist.

— The personnel expected to play a major role in stitching together the two programs, a technical assistance and resource developer and a planner, both paid $9,400 annually, have not been hired, and won't be hired until some time after Dec. 1, when the personnel committee and the executive committee begin processing applications to fill the new staff.

— The board chairman, Slotten, has also informed the board of his "resignation," although he has said he would accept reappointment. Slotten, who has been chairman of the agency's board of directors for 22 months, said today he would present his resignation to the next meeting of the board, Dec. 12.

Kennedy, panel propose Hanoi visit to gather PW aid data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., wants to send a team to Hanoi to seek information about American prisoners and plans to aid refugees in the post-Indochina war period.

Kennedy's Senate refugee subcommittee accepted an invitation last summer from North Vietnam for the visit, staff aides reported. But Kennedy is reported still negotiating with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who is described as feeling such a trip could interfere with a peace settlement.

The peace talks between Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security affairs adviser, and North Vietnamese representatives are scheduled to resume in Paris Dec. 4.

No member of the Senate itself would make the trip, the subcommittee aides said. They said plans called for sending a nine-member team to Indochina, including three Senate staff members, five doctors and a representative of the organization Travelers Aid. Six members of the team would go to North Vietnam and three to the countries to the south.

It would be the first time a congressional committee has tried to obtain official first hand knowledge about American POWs and refugees inside North Vietnam.

Dale Dehaan, the refugee subcommittee's counsel, said Sunday the plan called for the team to spend two to three weeks in Indochina and for the six-member delegation to spend one week in North Vietnam.

Dehaan said that if the State Department had its way, "they wouldn't want us to go at all."

"We're trying to reach an understanding with state that this mission is helpful to them, to the Congress and to the White House in terms of the post war rehabilitation of Indochina, but the timing of it is still a problem," Dehaan said.

However, there is no legal way the administration could stop the group. Rogers' approval would be only a formality.

Capitol Hill sources said Kennedy had held numerous talks with Rogers since September about the timing of the trip and had planned to dispatch the team shortly after the election but that Rogers reportedly had balked at that suggestion.

The doctors selected as members of the team serve as consultants to the subcommittee. They are headed by Dr. Joseph English, president of the New York City Hospital Corporation.

Game license residency ruled upheld in opinion

BOISE (UPI) — A six-months durational residency requirement for resident state fish and game licenses is constitutional and enforceable, Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park said Monday.

In an opinion for Blaine County Prosecutor Stephen W. Boller, Park said a state may treat a class of citizens differently without offending equal protection of the laws so long as "the classification is not made on an arbitrary or capricious basis and so long as it reflects a policy based on reason."

bona fide residents who have lived in the state less than six months are treated differently from residents who have lived here for more than six months with respect to the cost of a license.

He said the net effect of the six-months residency law is to "group bona fide residents who have not lived in the state for six months with non-residents."

"We do not see where the classification, here, can be said to be arbitrary and capricious and without any rational basis and we know of no case which has held these kinds of durational residency requirements invalid," Park said.

"Idaho does not attempt to deny anyone a fish and game license based upon a durational residency," Park said.

Gem aide quits

BOISE (UPI) — Dr. Robert R. Lee announced Monday his intention to resign as director of the Idaho Water Resource Board, a post he has held for the past six years.

Lee, first and only director of the board since it was created as the result of a constitutional amendment, said he intends to go into private business in eastern Idaho.

He did not disclose what the business would be but a staff member said it would be in Rexburg. One of the more controversial state officials the past few years, Lee recently came under fire as a result of a confidential management audit of his agency by the executive branch of government.

Neither Gov. Cecil D. Andrus nor the water board would show the performance audit to the news media but leaks by those who did see it indicated it was critical of Lee's performance.

Romney quits HUD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Romney announced today his resignation as secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to create a non-governmental "body of truth-seekers and communicators" who could help enlighten the public on real political issues.

President Nixon accepted the resignation, which Romney had said previously he would submit after the election.

At a news conference, Romney said the "real issues" were not discussed during Nixon's successful race for re-election because both the President and his Democratic challenger, Sen. George S. McGovern, feared that to do so would cost them votes.

Quoting from a wide range of commentators and philosophers ranging from Walter Lippmann to Thomas Jefferson, Romney said under present political conditions a candidate cannot win if he is "right too soon."

"I'm a living example of the fact that you can't afford to be right too soon and win," he said. "If you go back to my record on Vietnam you will see I was right. But even the press didn't understand my position well enough to report them so I was washed out."

Romney became the first major member of Nixon's official family to have his resignation accepted by Nixon since the President's Nov. 7 re-election victory.

Romney said he would leave as soon as his successor is confirmed.

The White House has said it also will honor Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's desire to step down and there have been indications other Cabinet changes will be a part of the governmental shakeup Nixon is planning.

Sclerosis victim to try cure

AN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A three-cent pill is the last hope for a man who flew halfway across the country Sunday in a bid to stop a disease that is killing him.

The pill, called guanidine, is the only known treatment for the slow and painful death that is overtaking John Goforth of Wichita, Kans.

Teenage Miss to study

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Elisa Marie Galbraith of Clinton, Pa., the new Miss Teen-Age America, will use her $10,000 college scholarship to major in retailing at William and Mary University.

"I want to enter the fashion merchandising field," the 16-year-old blue-eyed brunette said after winning the pageant Saturday night. She was selected from among 51 contestants.

Miss Galbraith, daughter of Army Maj. and Mrs. James Conner Galbraith, broke into tears at the announcement.

She added the title to two others she has won this year—Miss Autumn Leaf Festival and Miss Brookville, Pa.

Miss Galbraith, whose mother is a former model and whose father is stationed in Korea, sang selections from "Fiddler on the Roof," as her talent presentation.

All four finalists were brunettes. The first alternate was Mary Ellen Loftus, 17, of Shawnee Mission, Kan.; the second alternate was Joan Marie Lambert, 17, of San Antonio, Tex.; and the third alternate was Laurel Ann Smith, 15, of Sacramento, Calif.

In addition to the four-year college scholarship, Miss Galbraith was guaranteed $5,000 earnings for personal appearances during her year as queen of America's teen-agers.

Miss Loftus won a $4,000 scholarship and 50 shares of stock. Miss Lambert won a $2,000 scholarship and 15 shares of stock. Miss Smith won a $1,000 scholarship and 10 shares of stock.

Irish army alerted

DUBLIN (UPI) — The Irish government today followed up a night of pro-Irish Republican Army demonstrations in Dublin by cancelling all police leaves and placing the army on standby alert to prevent the violence of Northern Ireland from spilling across the border.

IRA leaders called for mass agitation and nationwide strikes to force the release of imprisoned IRA leader Sean MacStiofain before he starves and causes the government to resign.

Thousands of supporters surged around a Dublin hospital until early today demanding the release of MacStiofain, leader of the extremist Provisional Wing of the IRA. Hundreds of police guarded against any more efforts by followers to rescue him.

"The government has imported the war from the six counties (Northern Ireland) to the Republic," one IRA chief told a crowd today. "If (Prime Minister Jack) Lynch wants to declare war on us here, we accept the challenge. He will not win."

A government-appointed doctor said MacStiofain could die at any time within the next 12 days from a hunger and thirst strike he started when arrested nine days ago. An IRA spokesman said he would be dead within 48 hours.

In Belfast, gunmen ambushed a Roman Catholic eye specialist driving his two teen-age sons to school, killing one of the boys. The father, Dr. Peter Gormley, 52, and the other son were wounded in the gunfire that punctured their car on a busy street in the Shankhill area, police said.

The youth was the 64th person killed in three years of sectarian violence between Catholics and Protestants in Northern Ireland.

With its police and army alerted, the Irish Republic stepped up security across the country and created roadblocks to check cars entering and leaving Northern Ireland for arms.

The move coincided with the Irish government announcing details of a new bill aimed at stamping out the IRA and other illegal organizations. Under its provisions, the testimony of a senior police officer is all that will be needed to convict a suspected member of an outlawed group.

Government sources said the bill was almost certain to win approval in parliament and become law. It became necessary because of the difficulty in getting witnesses to testify against suspected IRA activists, they said.

Dublin lawyers and IRA sources said the measure could open the way for wholesale arrests by the police.

"We now expect to be arrested at any moment," one IRA leader said.

The situation in the republic degenerated Sunday when an IRA gang tried to shoot their way into the hospital where MacStiofain is being held and thousands of IRA activists clashed with police in the streets.

KING HUSSEIN... escapes

Hussein plot crushed

BEIRUT (UPI) — A Beirut newspaper quoted King Hussein of Jordan today as saying his security service recently crushed a plot against his regime. But he did not mention an assassination attempt the newspaper reported in an earlier edition.

The newspaper An Nahr said Hussein told it Libya and the Palestinian guerrilla movement were behind the plot, which Hussein said involved only one army officer.

The newspaper reported Sunday that the 37-year-old monarch was slightly wounded nine days ago when a Jordanian air force pilot fired a rocket at his personal helicopter outside the royal palace in Amman.

The Jordanian government announced Nov. 18 that Hussein was admitted to an army hospital for treatment for fatigue. He was released a few days later.

An Nahr also said Sunday that about 300 civilians and military officers were rounded up after the attack because investigation linked them together in a plot to kill Hussein and seize power.

But the king identified only one officer, Major Raaf Al Hindawi, acting commander of the Fourth Armored Brigade, as a plotter. An Nahr said Hindawi was arrested and confessed details of the plot.

"The resistance movement, with Libyan help, bought Major Hindawi and gave him the impression that he would be backed by an alleged secret organization within the Jordanian Army," Hussein told the newspaper.

Castro's cabinet promoted

MIAMI (UPI) — Seven members of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's cabinet have been promoted to vice premier and given special areas of responsibility in a government reorganization announced by Havana Radio.

The move revamps the country's administrative setup all the way down to the local level. Its effect on the government's underlying structure was not yet clear.

Havana Radio in a broadcast monitored in Miami Saturday said the changes were adopted Friday at a meeting of the cabinet, acting on a suggestion from the politburo of the Communist party of Cuba.

At the top of the revised organizational chart is a new body—the Cabinet Executive Committee. It is made up of the seven new vice premiers plus Castro, his brother Raul and President Osvaldo Dorticos.

Under the executive committee is the full cabinet including heads of 27 ministries and other agencies such as the National Fishing Institute and the National Agrarian Reform Institute.

There were no new faces in the government and no cabinet member was fired, but some ministers now find themselves reporting to vice premiers placed over them.

Raul Castro, formerly the only Cuban vice premier, is now "first vice premier" and continues as armed forces minister, the broadcast said.

Six of the seven new vice premiers are officers in the Cuban army, following a trend toward military influence in the government in recent years.

Captured papers tell Hanoi shift

SAIGON (UPI) — Nearly a week before the Oct. 8 "breakthrough" in the Vietnam peace talks announced by Hanoi, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong were notifying their military units that a cease-fire was pending. Communist documents disclosed.

The documents apparently indicate that the sudden shift in North Vietnam's insistence on ouster of President Nguyen Van Thieu as a pre-condition for a cease-fire had been contemplated for quite some time before White House peace envoy Dr. Henry A. Kissinger learned of it Oct. 8. Kissinger listed that as the date of the big "breakthrough" during his Oct. 26 news conference.

Other Communist documents made available to UPI today by American sources show that: —Local units were told on Oct. 21, five days before Radio Hanoi disclosed the proposed truce agreement, that the Communists expected Kissinger to "be in Hanoi Oct. 22."

—The bombing of North Vietnam would be "stopped effective Oct. 24." President Nixon ordered the bombing limited to a point south of the 20th parallel Oct. 23.

—A cease-fire would be jointly announced by Radio Hanoi, Radio Moscow and the Voice of America Oct. 27.

—The truce agreement would be signed Oct. 30 or 31 and take effect within 72 hours.

A Communist Central Office of South Vietnam (COSVN) directive dated Oct. 15 indicates that Viet Cong military units in the field were being informed of the general outline of the terms of the proposed cease-fire agreement almost as soon as Thieu himself learned of them.

The COSVN directive described the terms as "a very great victory of our people." South Vietnamese government sources say Thieu first learned of the proposed terms Oct. 14.

Some of the Communist documents were classified "absolute secret" and recipients were ordered to burn them after reading and familiarizing themselves with the contents. Under no circumstances, the documents said, were copies to be made.

Documents originated with both COSVN, which U.S. sources say takes its orders from the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary government, and the B3 Front—headquartered astride the tri-border of Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam—which takes its orders directly from Hanoi.

The document that listed the proposed Kissinger trip to Hanoi Oct. 22 originated with the Da Nang City Party Committee, which takes its orders from the B3 Front. A COSVN document listed the expected date of Kissinger's arrival in Hanoi as Oct. 24.

Documents dated in advance of the Oct. 8 "breakthrough" were circulated by local Communist agencies in both South Vietnam's northern provinces and the Central Highlands, indicating that word of an impending cease-fire was fairly general knowledge among Communist field units long before allied units had any indication of an early end to fighting, or before even Kissinger knew of it.

An Oct. 5 document circulated by the Communist District Party Committee for Pleiku Province said:

"According to the information from the higher echelons, the situation in South Vietnam has clearly led to a political solution to settle the war."

The previous day, Oct. 4, the Communist Current Affairs Committee of Quang Nam

Advertising sales and dues from 155,648 members are primary sources of income for AMA programs. Cutting back the programs will save $840,000.

Enters finals

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Idaho's entrant in the Miss Rodeo America contest, Iola Anglin, Tendoy, Miss Rodeo Idaho, began competition Sunday.

Miss Anglin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anglin, won the state title during the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo last summer. She is currently a student at Montana State College. The competition continues through Thursday.

Exiled poet gains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Vasile Postescu apparently has found strength in happiness.

Postescu, an exiled Romanian poet who is dying of cancer, sat up in bed Sunday to hold his grandson.

Dr. Alexander Rennett, Postescu's personal physician and lifelong friend, said sitting up was "almost unbelievable for a man in such grave condition."

Postescu was reunited Friday with his daughter, Mrs. Dana Vircol, 33, following widespread publicity of Postescu's dying wish to see his daughter and government.

His daughter was 3 years old when Postescu fled Romania in 1941, and the outspoken anti-Communist and professor at Mankato State College in Minnesota had seen his daughter only once since then.

Publicity of Postescu's wish to have his daughter at his deathbed ended weeks of fighting international red tape, and Mrs. Vircol and her son, Alekinder, 15 months old, finally were granted travel permits by the Romanian government.

Analysis

Province announced a truce in the offing and called for a three-phase campaign.

The committee said the first phase of its "plan for a general uprising to be initiated when a political solution (truce) is found" would go into effect that same day, Oct. 4, and continue until the cease-fire was signed.

Phase one called for preparation of rosters of "tyrants" to be killed, seizing and holding of additional territory, and making plans for destruction of government controlled areas not held by the Communists.

Phase two was to begin on the date the cease-fire agreement was signed and continue until the time it went into effect. During that phase, Communist military units were to encircle government outposts and "kill tyrants."

The third phase, to begin when the truce took effect, called for demonstrations by the populace to welcome Communist military units into villages and hamlets, demonstrations demanding ouster of Thieu, installation of a coalition government and presentation of petitions by the populace to a proposed International Control Commission asking that each area be recognized as under Communist control.

Canyon lands sale reported

BOISE (UPI) — The first sale last week of subdivided land in Hells Canyon could set up a new crisis in the battle to preserve the nation's deepest gorge for the public, the Idaho Statesman newspaper said.

Lem Wilson, Grandjeville, the paper said, sold eight recreation home lots for $45,000 last week. Wilson and four other landowners there have accused the U.S. Forest Service with slashing purchase value of their land, and chances are good more property will be sold for development unless owners agree with the government on land values.

The Forest Service has $4 million to buy up land in the Hells Canyon, based on an average $300 per acre, but the service is now bound by professional appraisal that set land values at only $150 to $165 per acre. Five landowners would not sell at that price.

Message conveyed

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Billy Graham today conveyed a message of goodwill and friendship for India from President Nixon when the American evangelist met Prime Minister Indira Gandhi for 30 minutes.

A spokesman of the Prime Minister said that the American President in his oral message expressed his desire to improve relations with India.

Graham said he found Mrs. Gandhi "charming and beautiful"

Escape attempt foiled

BOISE (UPI) — Bobby Beason, 19, an inmate of the Idaho State Penitentiary, failed in an escape attempt Saturday when he was spotted before he could scale a prison yard wall.

The Idaho Falls man was sentenced to the penitentiary in December, 1971, on a second degree murder conviction. Emergency duty officer Garland Drewrey said Beason was wearing civilian clothes under his prison outfit and had with him a grappling hook when a guard caught him.

This was shortly before the 9:45 p.m. lockup, he said. Beason had left a recreation building despite rules requiring inmates to stay inside.

Members of the Prison Employees association, meantime, were attending a meeting at the Boise police clubhouse two miles away, Drewrey said.

"Some of them left to attend to this matter and they returned to their meeting."

2 Idaho cowboys in finals

BOISE (UPI) — Two Idaho cowboys and six from Oregon are entered in the National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City, Okla., now through Dec. 10, including veteran calf-roper Dean Oliver, Boise.

Oliver earned more than $24,000 on the Rodeo Cowboys Association Circuit this year and was third in his specialty. Royce Smith, Challis, who finished fifth in bareback bronc riding on the circuit winning $16,320, will also compete. The top 15 in each category enter the finals.

Three top Oregon cowboys, bullriders Larry Mahan, Salem, and John Quintana, Creswell, and calf-roper Leo Camrillo, Donald, are also competing in the event.

WASHINGTON — The country is still largely unaware of it, but there is a new youth "revolution" stirring — not on college campuses. This "revolt" is primarily among working youth, and it is basically a spreading rebellion against the "New Left" and "New Politics" which blackened and bloodied the late 1960s with mindless turbulence and berserk violence on and off campuses. So far, this profoundly significant new movement among young people, notably workers, is still in the process of emerging. But already its nature and intent are strikingly clear. This youth "revolt" is a constructionist in concept, outlook and objective.

It is flatly and explicitly against the terrorism and negativism of the confrontationist activism of the 1960s. Its viewpoint and motivation are molded by the shattering and destructive experiences of the past decade and by the promising realities of the '70s. Inherently, this new youth movement is, in effect, an intriguing political development. Equally meaningful is that the philosophical core of this new youth movement is an intense commitment to democracy — in direct and positive contrast to the previous willful leftist and radicalism. Leaders of this new youth movement are rebels against the "New Left" and "New Politics" of the affluent liberal intellectuals who instigated and led the riotous and destructive revolt of the '60s that deeply outraged and alienated the masses of middle America. As one of the new youth leaders expressed it: "If the intelligentsia of the 'New Left' and 'New Politics' paid as much attention to the opinions and aspirations of the American workingman as they do to the college student, there wouldn't be so much suspicion and distrust of those so-called deep thinkers and pundits. When large numbers of people, who feel directly and personally threatened by vicious crime in the streets, are told that is because they are racists, you can be sure that's going to turn them off in a big way."

In the opinion of the new young leaders, that is exactly what is happening all over the country and why working youth overwhelmingly voted for President Nixon and against McGovern and his doctrine of radicalism and extremist philosophy. Political leaders of both parties are watchfully eyeing the new youth movement. One reason is that initial analyses of the recent election returns indicate these youths definitely played an important role in President Nixon's sweeping landslide victory. A telling instance of that was Frontlash, a nonpartisan registration project that operated closely with laborites in 22 states and obviously had considerable impact in getting out the vote for Nixon and against his radical South Dakota opponent.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. White Fingers

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have three fingers on my right hand that, every time they get a little cold, turn white and feel much colder than the other fingers. If I hit something or hold something tight, the same thing happens. After a few minutes the blood returns. I first noticed it about nine months ago. What can be causing such a thing? I haven't gone to a doctor because it doesn't seem serious. What could it possibly be? — Mrs. R. L.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "Controlling Your Blood Pressure." I would also like to know if high blood pressure can be caused by taking birth control pills. — Mrs. D. M.

The pill may cause high blood pressure or aggravate it, if it is already present in a small percentage of users — about 2 to 3 per cent. Stopping the pill lets the pressure revert to its former level.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a friend in her early 60's who has a growth on the corner of her nose. It looks like a mole, but it keeps getting bigger and bigger. She has had it for two or more years and it is red, and she says it troubles her very much. Could this growth be cancer? What could she use to make it dry up? She has tried alcohol, mercuriolate and liniment but no luck. — S. C.

The thing meets two of the "seven danger signals," so it could be cancer — "a sore that does not heal," and "a lump."

Of course the thing could be a cyst, or a benign tumor, or some such thing, but don't you think it is high time that you urged her to have it examined by a doctor?

If she can't "dry it up" in two years of fooling around with this and that, and if it "troubles her very much," go to her doctor?

Dear Sir: Would like your views on the vitamin E cure for diabetes. — B. G.

Vitamin E doubtless has its uses. And I can listen to some of the way-out claims for it without blowing a fuse. But when someone claims it to be a "cure for diabetes," that's going too far.

Or he might find indications of a glandular deficiency, and treat that.

Or for another possibility he might find pressure in your neck from a cervical rib or from one of the muscles in the neck, with pressure on nerves causing the trouble.

But as for what you can do for yourself protecting those fingers from cold is about all. Finding the underlying cause is a task you'll have to leave to your doctor.

Better TV

Christian Science Monitor
The first good television documentary on American history done for celebrating the second anniversary of the American Republic has been produced, not by any one of the major American television networks, but by Britain's BBC!

This is a fact which hit American airwaves last week: Americans will be further reminded of the state of their own television as the excellent BBC series "America" unfolds on NBC. Even though ABC and CBS are also planning major programming keyed in one way or another to the bicentennial, "America" will inevitably be repeated. It will be repeated because no American network has produced anything of comparable quality to the BBC series — including NBC's other bicentennial series "The American Experience."

The BBC has been in the quality business for a long time. The present cycle of excellent productions opened with the fabulously successful "Forsyte Saga." Since then "Auntie BBC" has turned out Lord Clark's superb series "Civilisation," plus "The Six Wives of Henry VIII," "Elizabeth R.," "The First Churchills," and others.

The BBC rolls out such programs and the world takes them for granted, using many on their own TV networks. The market appears unlimited. American stations replay them over and over. Even the Russians buy them — selectively, of course. As of now, the BBC dominates the international production of high-class television, although Americans have recently seen Italy's acclaimed series "The Life of Leonardo da Vinci."

The explanation is partly that through the years the BBC has developed perhaps the largest single reservoir of talent in the broadcasting world. With their superior fluency in the English language and with their theater expertise pre-dating Shakespeare, the British have more materials ready to hand.

The larger reason is that the commercial American networks are interested in the big money which can only come from a mass audience. Their fare is geared for advertisers, and advertisers are usually not attracted to a smaller audience, although the major corporation sponsoring this series is allowing the programs to run with no commercial interruptions.

The Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) in the United States is prevented by its very charter from producing programs itself, but in theory it could commission — from one of its major production centers — the sort of documentary which the BBC does so well. In practice it doesn't have enough money and is unlikely to get enough as long as it depends on an annually renewable or cancelable handout by the Congress and the administration.

The Nixon administration is trying to reduce the amount of programming aired nationally by PBS. It favors more programming by local stations. A few of these — major ones like New York's WNET-13 or Boston's WGBH — produce excellent national documentaries and other programs. But most of them cannot. The White House may distrust PBS, but it takes a network to hire either a Lord Clark or a Robert MacNeil for high-class entertainment or general news.

It should be humiliating to American broadcasting that the story of the American Revolution is being told, of necessity, by the losers, not the winners, of the Revolution. It is a fact — to be pondered.

ANDREW TULLY

Lot Of Nonsense

WASHINGTON — A lot of nonsense is being talked these days about how the centrists of the Democratic Party are going to reclaim the party from George McGovern but then keep the McGovern "reforms."

This suggests that the Ed Muskies, Hubert Humphreys, Teddy Kennedys, Scoop Jacksons et al are willing to concede the 1976 Presidential election to any Republican candidate capable of mounting a stump. It is saying that the reforms, which alienated millions of Democrats, plus a sizable chunk of Big Labor, are just fine and need only a grease job and a windshield wiper to make them respectable.

Not ruddy likely. In the first place, McGovern broke the first commandment of politics — he lost the election and lost it big. The legatees of the party are not about to let themselves be influenced by a candidate who didn't even make a race of it against a President whose popularity has never been equated with that of, say, a Franklin D. Roosevelt, or even a Harry Truman.

As an aspirant for titular leader of the Democratic Party, McGovern's credentials are not quite as solid as those of Alf Landon, who carried twice as many states in 1936 — namely, two. In party councils, Landon was never heard from again, which was too bad but also coldly logical.

Moreover, Landon at least was a "good" Republican. The Muskies and Humphreys et cetera might sympathize with George McGovern, but whether they admit it or not they do not consider him a "good" Democrat. In the regulars' book, this eminently decent man permitted a clutch of way-out lockeys to persuade him to sell the party down the river for a mess of radical potage.

And the McGovernites should kid themselves not. The regulars blame the McGovern reforms both for accommodating the South Dakotan's nomination and for losing the election. Thus, to put it mildly, they do not like the reforms and they will do everything possible to revise them out of existence.

They do not like the reforms because the reforms reflected the grossly inaccurate theory that the Democrats could beat Nixon by fawning their attention on the poor, the young, the black, the women and the unorthodox. This theory was false simply because in the process the McGovernites excluded Big Labor, the middle-aged, the ethnics and the generally conservative blue-collar workers.

Thus, five will get you ten that the quota system will go. Not at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Democratic National Committee and probably not even during the coming year, but they will go because they were based on snobism in reverse. There were quotas for everybody except those who elect Democratic candidates to the Presidency.

In the process, the quota system produced the spectacle of a Democratic convention seemingly dominated by a teardrained, bearded rabble, by shrieking and untidy femlils, by radicals like Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin. A believable report has Larry O'Brien, former DNC chairman, telling pals that television should have been barred from the Miami Beach convention hall "because it made us look like a bunch of freaks."

Handouts

Politicians prescribe what's good for you without knowing you or your tolerances. No doctor would do that.

A physician recognizes the physiological variations which make each of us so different from the other that one man's meat is another man's poison.

We have different allergies, different tolerances. So the more experience a physician has with these human variables, the more careful he becomes about what to prescribe. He's learned that the penicillin which cured Jack killed Jill.

But politicians presume to urge on us remedies which may be good for some, bad for others.

Both Republicans and Democrats in their respective party platforms favor some form of guaranteed annual income for everybody — enough money on which to live reasonably comfortable, whether you work or not.

Those in favor insist it will give dignity to the poor.

Those opposed contend that "they'll just drink it up."

And they're right.

It's been tried — this guaranteed annual income — in a town called Outlaws Bridge, N.C.: 242 families in that rural community received money from the federal government with no strings.

When The Wall Street Journal sent Nell Maxwell to Outlaws Bridge for a progress report, he found — some.

Tobacco farmer Jim Korney, with his first government money, bought a car. He needed one. His old '64 Ford pickup had 109,000 hard miles on it.

He bought a new vinyl-top LTD.

Then there's a truck driver for Quinn Wholesale — good driver — quit. He said his guaranteed wage check was plenty "why work?"

One local housewife asked officials to stop her husband's guaranteed wage payments. She said when the check came he cashed it and stayed gone until it was all spent on whiskey and women.

She asked that the checks be stopped so he'd have to go back to work and "straighten out."

Not all recipients misused the money.

Mrs. Bertha Roxby, widow, 71, caring for a retarded son, says, "I believe God sends this money as an answer to my prayers."

This program adds to her Social Security check an important additional $40. With the extra income, she got out of debt, carpeted the living room, put new linoleum in the kitchen, accumulated enough savings for burial expenses.

Death Revived

Portland Oregonian

The passage by the voters of California of Proposition 17 a hastily written constitutional amendment that would nullify a state Supreme Court decision declaring the death penalty to be "cruel or unusual punishment," leaves hanging in the air the question of just whom among the state's many criminals the voters want executed.

Since the proposition gained the ballot from signatures collected in every corner of the state by law enforcement officers and district attorneys (at taxpayers' expense), it would seem that the prime target may be those who slay policemen or prison guards. But no one is sure because California does not lack eligible criminals convicted of monstrous crimes.

Aside from the arguments for or against capital punishment, what is disturbing about the California decision is that the Bill of Rights, due process and equal protection of the Constitution have been affronted by the majority. It is the tyranny of the majority over the minority that is at issue here, and this is precisely what the framers of the Bill of Rights had hoped to prevent.

In Oregon or California, the voters amend the state Constitution at most elections, but they do not amend the basic rights in the federal document. If they do so vote, that vote is subject to the test of the courts.

The legal obstacles to amending the federal Bill of Rights are the principal protections against capricious public opinion, irrational public emotions or the desires of those in power to squelch those out of power. They were designed to protect against the kind of hasty reaction Californians have taken.

The highjacking of airliners, the political assassinations, the murdering of Olympic athletes and acts of psychopaths have all generated support for the use of the death penalty as a deterrent or punishment.

But the most exhaustive studies recently completed on airline hijackers reveal the singular fact that to paranoids and suicidal schizophrenics the threat of death is not a deterrent but a stimulus. And as for political terrorists, death is often the glory they seek.

To rational people, death seems the ultimate penalty, but to many criminals it is the easy way out, preferable to a life term in a cage. Efforts to revive the death penalty in California are misguided and if successful will cost more innocent lives than will be saved. — DWE.

Israel, US arms costs high

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In 1970 the United States' per capita expenditure on defense was $370, but the figure was only second in the world. The title of the highest per capita expenditure in the world went to Israel—$477 for every man, woman and child.

The statistics come from a 50-page world military expenditures report compiled by the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and made public Sunday.

The survey said the Soviet Union was third in per capita arms expenditures with $270, followed by Sweden with $139.

The analysis noted it was not possible to compile precise statistics for many countries which do not make figures public or which use different accounting methods.

It pointed out that during a recent year estimates of the Soviet military budget varied from $40 billion to $84 billion. Calculations of China's outlays as a portion of its gross national product (GNP) ranged from 5 to 15 per cent. The report took the middle ground, estimating China's expenditures in 1970 at $10 billion, or 8.3 per cent of its GNP, and the Soviet military budget at $65 billion, or 6 to 8 per cent of its GNP.

The American budget was $77.8 billion, or 7.5 per cent of the U.S. gross national product for the survey year.

This year, the report said, U.S. defense spending has dropped to $76.5 billion, or 6.4 per cent of the GNP, the lowest proportion devoted to defense since before the Korean War, which started in 1950.

Figures for Russia and China for the last two years were not available.

The study also revealed that the United States spends more than one-third of all the money expended on defense throughout the world. U.S. outlays during the past decade ranged from a high of 42 per cent of the world total to a low of 35 per cent last year.

The largest portion of national wealth is devoted to military expenditures by the nations of the Middle East and Indochina, the survey showed. Topping the list in 1970 for the second year in a row was South Vietnam, which spent 34 per cent of its GNP on defense.

Israel was second with 25.1 per cent, followed by Jordan with 20.5 per cent and North Vietnam with 20 per cent. Other nations which put more than 10 per cent of their GNP into military expenditures were Laos, Cambodia, North Korea, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Albania and Iraq.

Wallace still eyes presidency

MIAMI (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace confirmed Sunday he probably will never be able to walk again, but said his paralysis would not be a factor in his possible candidacy for the presidency in 1978.

Wallace said he has not made any decision about running for President, but "I'm still interested in 1978. My doctors tell me I'm going to be physically able to do what I want to do by 1978 or even sooner.

Wallace, wounded last May in an assassination attempt at Laurel, Md., said he has not yet decided whether to seek re-election as governor of Alabama, but he indicated he would like to stay in office.

"I would be physically able to be politically involved from now on," he said. But he added, "I recognize there's not much chance I'll walk again. I'm paralyzed from the waist down."

Calley airs clemency plea

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — A three-man clemency review board from the Army's main prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., begins hearings today to consider the possible release of Lt. William Calley, Jr.

The 29-year-old Calley was convicted in 1971 and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment for the mass murder of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

The board, composed of Lt. Col. Harvey C. Johnson, Capt. James E. Brawner and Capt. Ray V. Smith, will conduct interviews to determine such factors as Calley's behavior in confinement, his physical, mental and emotional health, and his prospects for rehabilitation.

The panel's findings will go to the commander of Ft. Benning for review and then to the Secretary of the Army. The report could include a recommendation ranging from Calley's unconditional release to the continuation of his present status.

A psychiatrist and a social worker conducted lengthy interviews with Calley Nov. 19-20 in a preliminary, routine step to the main hearing.

The widely-publicized case included an intervention by President Nixon, who ordered the former platoon leader confined in his officers' quarters under house arrest. He has remained there since.

Another completely separate approach is being taken to free Calley by the soldier's attorney, George Latimer, in the Army Court of Military Review.

The court has scheduled a hearing for Calley Dec. 4 at Falls Church, Va., as part of his automatic appeal privilege.

And Nixon, as commander in chief, has said he will make a final review of the case if Calley exhausts all his appeal avenues.

Britons like Nixon, prince

LONDON (UPI) — President Nixon ranks with Prince Philip as the most admired man in Britain, a Gallup poll said today. Two years ago, Nixon was fifth and in 1971 he drew three per cent of the vote.

The poll, commissioned by the newspaper Daily Telegraph, said both were cited as the most popular man by nine per cent of the Britons surveyed.

Queen Elizabeth, who last week celebrated her 25th wedding anniversary with Philip, was cited by 25 per cent of those surveyed as the woman they most admired.

EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again. . . . Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Astronauts in last lap

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 17's astronauts begin their final week of scheduled training today, by rehearsing the precise procedures that will lead to their descent to the moon in two weeks.

Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt are scheduled to set out on the final Apollo expedition Dec. 6. They consider themselves ready to go now, but training coordinators have scheduled brush up work for the rest of the week.

Today's schedule included a lunar descent simulation in spacecraft trainers with flight controllers at the mission control center in Houston directing the exercise as if it were real.

The three astronauts relaxed in their quarters Sunday and the Kennedy Space Center launch crew also had the day off. The ground crewmen concentrated today on preparations for the start of the countdown Thursday morning.

Walkout OK asked

NEW YORK (UPI)—The union representing on-the-air newsmen and performers at CBS-TV will try Tuesday to get court approval for a walkout.

The union, the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA), ordered its members to honor picket lines set up by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) last week. But a New York judge issued a temporary injunction barring those CBS newsmen and engineers preparing Apollo 17 for flight appeared high despite the fact, that many will be out of work as soon as Apollo 17 leaves earth.

There was a sign on a gantry work platform near the Apollo 17 lunar module which said, "This may be our last, but it will be our best."

"We came up with this sign to let the crew know they don't have to worry about our letting down," said Richard Kupczyk, a spacecraft foreman for the Grumman Aerospace Corp.

Grumman builds the lunar module lander and the company's 600 workers will leave after the mission.

"There's been no letdown in morale although some of us may worry about what's next," Kupczyk said. "It's disheartening to leave the lunar module project. I love it and I'd like to press on with something in the same vein."

"We all hate to see the job ending, but we'll be right in the swing of things as prelaunch activity picks up."

Blacks still angry over the deaths 11 days ago were convinced police were to blame. About 300 persons, mostly Negroes, chanted "murders! Murders!" Sunday at a memorial service for the two slain students.

As black people of this state, we must say, 'Give us liberty or give us death, because if we don't, they'll kill every damned one of us,' civil rights worker Joseph Hammond told the crowd.

JOSEPH HAMMOND ... warns of more unrest

Student death probe launched

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A state commission trying to find out whether a student's bomb or a policeman's shotgun blast killed two black students at Southern University called its first investigative session today, in private.

US probes Hughes

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A task force of federal agents is investigating the alleged swindling by "insiders" of millions of dollars from Howard Hughes' Nevada operations, according to the Oakland Tribune.

The newspaper said Sunday the agents were also looking into the possibility that underworld figures siphoned off money from Hughes' gambling operations and kickbacks of 15 per cent were paid by entertainers 40 executives who booked them into Hughes' five Nevada hotels.

In a dispatch from Las Vegas, the Tribune said the investigators, including 20 from the Internal Revenue Service, have been checking on funds that vanished from Hughes' Nevada ventures since last Sunday's gathering, held on the steps of the Louisiana Capitol, was the second memorial for Denver A. Smith and Leonard D. Brown, both 20, who were killed by buckshot during a campus clash with police Nov. 16.

A third gathering, a "memorial march" from the campus to the Capitol, a distance of about three miles, was planned for today. The deaths came after three weeks of student unrest at three mostly black colleges in Louisiana, and Gov. Edwin Edwards said he ordered the number of security guards at Southern's New Orleans campus increased today, the first day of classes since the violence at Baton Rouge.

The Tribune said it learned the task force may seek grand jury indictments early next year but a full five-part inquiry will not be completed for several months after that.

The thrust of the investigation—here is to determine whether there were any federal violations, such as income tax evasion, in the alleged disappearance of vast sums through the manipulation by insiders of Hughes' various enterprise, the newspaper said.

Hughes Tool Co. has filed a $9 million federal court suit in Salt Lake City that charged five individuals and five companies with conspiring to sell Hughes mining claims at prices far in excess of the value of the properties.

Almanac

By United Press International Today is Monday, Nov. 27, the 332nd day of 1972 with 34 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening star is Jupiter. Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius. American historian Charles Beard was born Nov. 27, 1874.

On this day in history: In 1901, the War Department authorized creation of the Army War College to instruct commissioned officers. In 1945, President Harry S. Truman named Gen. George Marshall special representative to China.

In 1956, President Dwight D. Eisenhower issued a statement denying differences over the Suez Canal had weakened the American-British-French accord over NATO.

In 1962, all 97 persons aboard a U.S.-bound jet were killed when it crashed in Peru.

A thought for the day: British author Rudyard Kipling said, "The silliest woman can manage a clever man; but it needs a very clever woman to manage a fool."

PW's said due Christmas packages

NEW YORK (UPI) — A spokesman for the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam disclosed Sunday that North Vietnam will permit American POWs to receive both Christmas presents and cards this year.

Mrs. Cora Weiss, co-chairman of the committee, said the North Vietnamese government promised in a telegram delivered Sunday to allow each American prisoner to receive a single package, weighing up to 11 pounds.

The only stipulation, according to the telegram, is that packages must be sent "in conformity with the already set regulations of shipment," which includes routing them through Moscow.

"Packages sent any other way will not be accepted," Mrs. Weiss said.

In addition, she said, the POWs also will be permitted to receive a "Christmas-New Year's card" as well as "their regular monthly letter."

Mrs. Weiss said "this announcement brings the stark reality that prisoners will spend another Christmas in Hanoi when they could have been home had President Nixon signed the peace agreement which he claimed was acceptable and which was to have been signed on Oct. 31.

"Had the accord been signed then all American captured personnel would have been home by Christmas and certainly by New Year," she added.

"The delay in signing and the prolonged negotiations indicate no progress is being made for the return of American POWs."

Mystery sub let slip out

OSLO (UPI) — Prime Minister Lars Korvald said Sunday night his government allowed a foreign submarine lurking in a fjord for 14 days to slip out of Norwegian waters, an escape military sources said was meant to prevent any major diplomatic incidents.

Officials did not identify the submarine, but high navy sources said it was Russian—undoubtedly a conventional sub of the "F" or "W" class. The F type is a conventional attack submarine while the W type is an older-generation guided missile sub.

During the hunt for the submarine in a 124-mile-long fjord in western Norway sea and navy forces used radar and sonar equipment and depth charges without success, then announced the vessel was allowed to leave.

"I think we can say the submarine crew had a rather miserable time," Defense Minister Johan Kleppe said Sunday after the announcement that the submarine was gone.

Defense officials blamed difficult geographic conditions for the submarine's escape from the Sognefjord. But military sources said the real reason was diplomacy.

They said discovery and capture of the submarine would endanger efforts to reduce international tensions, especially in light of current moves to bring East and West together at a European security conference.

Defense officials said in a communique that they did not establish the sub's identity. "We do not want to engage in speculation about the nationality of the vessel," Kleppe said.

But navy sources said there was no doubt about its nationality.

Mini-Cassia center aids children

RUPERT — Many Minidoka and Cassia County children have received help from the Mini-Cassia Satellite Child Development Center since its opening in March.

The center is designed to treat children who are mentally retarded or who have problems in social adjustment.

Its staff includes director and social service worker Mike Bringhurst, three instructors or therapy technicians, a speech therapist and a secretary.

Since the Mini-Cassia center is a satellite of the Twin Falls Child Development Center, it also has all the technical facilities of the parent station at its disposal.

Idaho's seven Child Development Centers and four satellite centers were a part of the Department of Public Health until July 1, when they came under the authority of the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services.

The Rupert-based center presently has an enrollment of 3 children, although the number changes every week as the children are evaluated. The children, ranging in age from 3 to 10, attend, eight-week sessions.

Following each session, parents are called in for a conference and are consulted concerning evaluations made by the staff. Progress reports are compiled every four weeks, according to Bringhurst, a child leaves the center when "we feel he can be helped more in another situation, such as elementary school special education or the Cub Scouts."

Bringhurst also said the center works very closely with schools in the two-county area. The schools refer children to the center and receive test results as they are compiled, he said.

The center acts as a supplementary agent to the schools, according to Bringhurst.

Salaries for the Mini-Cassia CDC staff, were paid by the state when the center opened in March, but other necessities, such as housing, were to be provided by local communities.

Residents from both Minidoka and Cassia counties were involved in the work that made the center a reality.

William Strasser, as head of the building committee, was instrumental in securing the Harlow Hoopes VFW Hall, in Rupert, better known as the old armory, as the site of the center.

Dr. John Head, Rupert, was appointed as chairman of the board of directors for the Mini-Cassia project.

Bringhurst, noting the decisiveness that is frequently evident between the Snake River divided counties of Minidoka and Cassia, said, "we think it (the Child Development Center) will help make the river a little less wide."

Alabama center of stolen car racket

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Alabama is the center of a thriving stolen car racket, the result of a state code that requires no proof that a person owns an automobile.

With the lack of a car title law, a person can get a license tag just by asking for it. One doesn't have to show a thing on paper. Some counties even will mail tags to out-of-state addresses.

And because there's no salvage law either, a person can buy a junked car, take off the identification plate, steal a car like the wrecked one, put the ID plate on it and get a tag for it in a title law state.

"In Alabama we have some of the best car thieves anywhere," said Capt. Tom Posey, who heads the state's auto theft division. "The bad part is the innocent purchaser has to pay for it."

John O'Rourke of the Birmingham office of the FBI said Alabama's lack of title and salvage laws "makes it extremely easy to arrange for a fictitious title and registration and so on."

Each year thousands of cars are either stolen in Alabama or stolen elsewhere and brought into the state. Alabama's failure to tighten its regulations has drawn complaints from coast to coast.

Last year a New York state legislator said he was able to get an Alabama tag through the mail for a car reported stolen by police. And this year a California man is suing Alabama because an Alabama registered car he bought turned out to be stolen.

Errors raise Medicare gripes

TWIN FALLS — A clerical error in doctors' billing procedures may be costing Medicare beneficiaries additional fees.

John K. Carlton, manager of the Twin Falls Social Security office, reports.

There has been a recent increase in the number of complaints from elderly citizens that doctors are billing for more than the allowed Medicare charges for medical services.

These complaints are valid when the physician has accepted "assignment" under Medicare.

Billing by assignment is one of the two basic ways of submitting medical bills to Medicare and provides that the payments go directly to the physician.

The other method requires the patient to submit his own Medicare claim based on an itemized bill which describes the services rendered.

Beneficiaries may become aware of this overcharge from the actual doctor bill or from the Explanation of Medicare Benefits form received in the mail from Social Security.

Each case of such an overcharge should be reported to the nearest Social Security office. This can be done anonymously, if desired.

Social Security will arrange for an educational contact with the doctor and obtain a refund for the Medicare patient if an overpayment was made, Carlton said.

Of course the refund is not possible if the patient prefers to remain nameless.

Several legislators, led by state Sen. Pat Vacca of Birmingham, are trying to change all this. They want the legislature next year to pass laws aimed at slowing the traffic in stolen cars.

He said opposition to a title law comes mostly from new car dealers who say they don't like the paper work that would be required under such a law.

Vacca also is pushing for a salvage law, which would require identification plates to be removed from wrecked cars and sent to state authorities.

News Of Servicemen

HAGERMAN — Sgt. Charles R. Chick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Chick, Hagerman, took part in a recent exercise to test long-haul communications system designed to provide emergency telephone, teletype and data relay communications service in a tactical situation.

Sergeant Chick, a communications equipment repair specialist, and approximately 1,000 other members of the 3rd

Mobile Communications Group of Tinker AFB, Okla., participated in the two-week operation to prove the reliability of the tropospheric scatter — sometimes called troposcatter — system.

The test was run across a distance of 1,154 miles between the Oklahoma City headquarters and Phoenix, Ariz. The two terminal units and seven relay units operating in between covered the distance by bouncing ultra-high frequency signals back and forth off the six-mile-high ceiling of the earth's troposphere.

The sergeant, a 1964 graduate of Hagerman High School, received an A.A. degree in 1970 from the College of Southern Idaho.

His wife, Lorraine, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lytle, Twin Falls.

Sgt. Chick runs test

RUPERT — Airman Mary A. Barratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Barratt, Rupert, has graduated at Lowry AFB, Colo., from the U.S. Air Force military procurement specialist course, conducted by the Air Training Command.

The airman, now trained to procure essential Air Force supplies and services, is being assigned to Travis AFB, Calif., for duty with a unit of the Military Airlift Command which provides global airlift for U.S. military forces.

Airman Barratt is a 1972 graduate of Minidoka County High School.

BPA asks 3 bids

PORTLAND (UPI) — Bonneville Power Administration has invited bids on three separate projects for approximately 19,000 tons of tower steel.

BPA specifications call for 500-kilovolt double-circuit towers to be used on the Columbia River section of the Grand Coulee River line. It eventually will be the highest capacity line ever constructed by BPA.

The towers were designed by BPA and are undergoing tests in England for strength and design features.

Utah's elevation ranges from 2,600 feet above sea level in the southwest to 13,000 feet-plus in the mountain ranges.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just heard you speak to a packed ballroom in St. Petersburg, Fla., for Goodwill and I want to thank you for saying, "I've been doing volunteer work all my life!"

Oh, Abby, how I pray that because YOU do it, others will be inspired to do it, too.

If everyone, young, old, rich, poor, educated or not, would give one day a month (or even an hour), it would make such a happy difference in their lives as givers and would also enrich the programs of civic, religious and "helping" organizations tremendously.

Florida is well known for its retirement advantages—yet all over St. Petersburg men and women are sitting alone in self-pity, because they are just plain bored. [As they say, "waiting to die." That's pathetic, considering how much easier they could make life for someone who is "waiting to live."]

Inspiration for volunteers

And since when is "age" an excuse for not giving time or talent? Many star volunteers are in their 60s and 70s.

Today, so many of our young people are talking "LOVE." Well, kids, how about putting the "bod" where the mouth is? Nursing homes, hospitals, mental institutions, rehabilitation centers, etc., could use volunteers.

Abby, you mentioned that Goodwill needs volunteers to write letters for the handicapped, take them shopping, to doctors, or therapy, and even to an occasional movie or for a drive. Volunteers can answer the telephone, write, address envelopes, or teach simple English pronunciation to those with speech defects. The list is overwhelming.

I could go on and on. I only wanted to thank you from the bottom of my heart for encouraging people to do for others.

INSPIRED

DEAR INSPIRED: Your letter is far more inspirational than what I said in St. Petersburg. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I'm having problems with my husband. I am 23 and he is 26, and we've been married for five years and have three children. He knows I don't like it when he makes a fuss over other girls, but he does it just to make me jealous.

Another problem is that he forces himself on me and if I struggle he ties me to the bed with ropes. If he wasn't my husband this would be classified as rape. Abby, things just can't go on like this. When he's nice, he's sweet as sugar, but when he's mean he frightens me half to death.

He also has a seizure disorder which he is being treated for. We are on welfare, because of his sickness, but he cashes his welfare check and gives all the money to me, so I can't complain about that. Can you help me?

LOTS OF PROBLEMS

DEAR LOTS: If you haven't discussed your husband's seductive behavior with his doctor, you should. The Welfare Information Service can put you in touch with a Family Service Agency. They offer family counseling, and the fee is nominal. If you can't persuade your husband to go with you—go alone, but DO go.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WILLIAM R. HEROLD—who wants to translate my booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," into French: please write to me and send me your address.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 62700, L. A., CALIF., 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Oswald: There are two ways for South to play today's hand. The first is the conservative way. South looks over dummy and sees that the heart suit is wide open against him. He tries to cash the first nine tricks, but when diamonds fail to break he can only collect eight.

Jim: "A more enterprising South decides that since West didn't open a heart he probably won't find a heart shift if let in early. South wins the club in dummy and plays his eight-spot so that West won't be sure that East's three-spot play had not been made from queen-three-two. Then South leads the four of spades from dummy and sticks in his 10-spot. West is in with the queen and if he is gifted with second sight will shift to the king of hearts and beat South two tricks.

Oswald: If West is just a normal good bridge player he will lead another club. Now South will have two chances to collect nine tricks. All he will need is a break in either spades or diamonds. The diamonds haven't shifted around any so they don't break, but the spades were divided nicely and the game makes.

Jim: "South may even wind up with 10 tricks on this line of play if he runs spades. West may just part with a diamond when the fourth spade is led."

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM CROWTHER

Couple honored at Richfield

RICHFIELD — Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis Crowther were honored at an open house at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Richfield Nov. 19.

The bride, Sherrie Ann Henderson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Henderson, Taylorsville, Utah. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Crowther, Richfield.

The couple was married Nov. 10 at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple by President Edward H. Sorenson.

Attending the ceremony were parents of the bride and bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Osmond Crowther, Fountain Green, Utah; Bishop and Mrs. Ken L. Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lucero, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Williams, Mrs. Don Butler; Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, and Dennis Heaton.

A wedding breakfast was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the David Williams home after the ceremony. A reception was held for the couple Nov. 10 at the LDS Church, Taylorsville.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown of polyester crepe that featured an empire waistline, stand up collar, and leg-o-mutton sleeves, all trimmed in rows of fine lace. Her bridal veil was caught in a crown of lace petals adorned with pearls and sequins.

Attending the bride was Lo Ann Ashment as maid of honor and Marilyn Williams, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor, both Salt Lake City. Best man was Dale Crowther.

Pocantello, brother of the bridegroom.

To receive guests the newlyweds stood in front of a large aqua and white heart, lighted with twinkling lights and flowers, flanked by bouquets of aqua and white gladioli, mums and carnations.

The three-tier wedding cake was topped with white satin wedding bells in the center of a lace heart and featured white swans and aqua and white flowers and lace scallops. The cake was baked by Mrs. Kirk Curtis and served by Mrs. Bernard Mitchell and Mrs. Eli Lucero. They were assisted by Karen Henderson, Leanne Crowther and Maurine Heaton. Judy Rapp registered the guests.

Sally Cook registered the gifts that were accepted by Jill Crowther and Kathy Henderson. Levin Crowther and Kim Henderson were ushers.

Guests attended from Provo, Utah, and Idaho.

Cake was served at the open house by Mrs. Ed Schilsler and Mrs. Max Behr, cousins of the bridegroom, and Jill Crowther, the bridegroom's sister, all Richfield. The home was decorated with a small white Christmas tree made by Mrs. Jerome Roessler, sister of the bridegroom.

Showers for the bride were given by Judy Rapp, Marilyn Williams, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Lucero.

The couple resides in Sandy, Utah, where the bridegroom is employed by Hercules Inc., Magna, Utah.

Jerome Scouts tour hatchery

JEROME — Jerome Girl Scout Troop No. 145 Friday took a tour of the Idaho Power Steelhead Hatchery in the Snake River Canyon.

The troop, under the leadership of Mrs. Dale Hammond, toured the hatchery Friday morning and was given a guided tour by Harold Ramsey, superintendent of the hatchery.

Ramsey took the girls on a ride on the special electric fish feeder and showed them the incubator room where the steelhead eggs are hatched. Mrs. Hammond said the tour is part of the Girl Scout regular activities of visiting different places of interest in the Magic Valley area to earn badges.

She noted the girls are now working on Christmas gifts for their parents.

Last week the girls made over 35 Thanksgiving favors which were used on the trays.

CUT FLOWER CARE: Whether you receive flowers for birthdays, anniversaries or just sentimental reasons, you'll want to get more mileage from them.

Florists include a small package of cut flower preservative that works, and a lot of home owners use their own formula: one teaspoon of lime or lemon juice, one teaspoon of household bleach, and one teaspoon of sugar to each quart of water.

The bleach kills off micro-organisms which help induce rot, the sugar acts as food for the flowers and the role of the lemon or citrus is not clear.

Sometime back this department mentioned an unusual but effective flower preservative tested at Michigan State. There were two soft drinks — Sprite and 7-Up.

The citric acid and carbonation in the soft drinks control the development of micro-organisms that can block water-conducting vessels of roses and other cut flowers.

The state college horticulturists recommend mixing one part water with each part of soft drink and adding a half teaspoon of chlorine bleach to each quart of solution.

Many florists arrange flowers in warm water — 110 degrees. Warm water moves into the stem faster than cold water.

If your husband brings home some cut flowers and they immediately begin to wilt, don't place the blame on your florist. He wouldn't stay in business long if he consistently sold stale flowers.

Roses are notorious for wilting quickly. If yours wilt, take a sharp knife, slice off a half-inch from the stem end, and place stems in a vase of hot water — 110 degrees or so. Florists call wilting "going to sleep" and the cause is usually a lack of oxygen.

Never keep flowers near fresh fruit or potatoes. Many florists even make the mistake of keeping cut flowers in the same cooler as their greens. Greens (ferns, huckleberry, etc.) give off twice as much carbon dioxide as cut flowers and may cause a flower to "go to sleep" from a lack of oxygen.

Forget aspirin, copper pennies and other remedies as they do not prolong the life of cut flowers.

EAT YOUR PARSLEY: A restaurant owner writes: "We cut sprigs of parsley on dishes. For some reason 9 out of 10 people do not eat this herb. What is there about this plant that people will not eat it?"

I wish I knew! Parsley is full of vitamins. I can't see why people treat it like they would spinach. I think it takes a little educational program to get people to eat their sprigs of parsley. Tell your fickle friends that many use parsley tea to keep their bodies active.

MOSS ON TREES HARMFUL? I've been asked if that greenish moss on the trunk of trees is harmful. Moss will rot shingles, but it does no harm to trees. It's a common sight to see trees in woods covered with algae and moss, but it's nothing to worry about.

In fact, such trees are nature's weather vanes. The green moss is usually more abundant on the north side of the tree because the heat of the sun in that direction is not strong enough to dry out the bark.

Moss and algae like areas that are damp and where very little sunlight penetrates. If you don't like the looks of the moss or algae you can eliminate it by spraying with the fungicide maneb, two tablespoons to a gallon of water.

Maneb is sold in garden stores under brand names as Dithane M-22 and Manzato. Personally, I like to see moss growing on a tree. This green plant has probably saved lives since it has no doubt helped lost people in woods tell which direction is north.

QUESTION BOX

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. E. of Twin Falls: "Please settle an argument for us. My husband sprays roses and other plants (even fruit trees) any time he feels like it. I tell him not to spray if it looks rainy as the rain will wash the materials off. He says it makes no difference. Does it?"

This question comes up often and for all practical purposes, once a spray mixture is applied and has dried thoroughly on the foliage, rains won't have much of an effect.

Of course, if you sprayed recently and it rained immediately, much of the residue would wash off. If you sprayed thoroughly up to the point of runoff from the leaves, on a dry sunny, slightly windy day the foliage could dry in a half hour.

But if you sprayed on a cloudy humid day, it might take several hours or more for the foliage to become thoroughly dry. After the spray has dried on the foliage, even a hard rainfall will not wash the material off.

Many materials used today usually keep their effectiveness for two to three weeks.

A.E. of Murphy: "We have a black oxheart cherry tree planted seven years ago, and it has never blossomed or bore fruit. Two others planted at the same time have had cherries for the last three years. What's wrong?"

Sweet cherries are very temperamental, more so than apples. Sometimes a soil type will have a marked effect on how it grows. Even if it's only 15 feet from other trees, the soil could be a little more poorly drained, causing the one tree to grow poorly.

Also, sweet cherries are slower to come into bearing than most apple varieties. Although the trees have been planted for seven years, some trees take longer. You might have a rootstock sucker which takes longer than the black oxheart.

However, when it does come into fruiting you'll know it's "wild" or common fruit because the cherries will be small and not too edible.

Another wild guess: Sometimes the lack of proper pollination from another variety can cause the failure of fruit set. All of this is another way of saying "I'm really not sure why your tree acts the way it does."

Upholstery should be given overall general cleaning as frequently as is demanded by type and amount of use. It may be cleaned professionally or you may do it yourself, using a commercial preparation.

BLM plans use of old Indian lands

DENVER (UPI) — The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has proposed the controlled use of more than 4,000 acres of land in Montezuma County inhabited by cliff-dwelling Indians before the birth of Christ.

The proposal, however, may bring objections from miners who have filed 89 claims on the land that surveys have found to be rich in uranium, vanadium and copper.

State BLM Director Dale R. Andrus said that the federal government has temporarily suspended the land, located in Sand Canyon, outside Pagosa Springs, Colo., from entry under general mining laws.

posals to withdraw the public land is approved by Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton that the land will be used for recreation that will not disturb its archaeological value.

The land in question was first inhabited by Indians more than 10,000 years ago, according to the University of Colorado. Archaeologists also have said the area is rich in ancient utensils and weapons used by the Indians.

The ruins were inhabited at one time by Indians who called themselves the Anasazi and who lived among the brilliant red sandstone cliffs. This Anasazi also lived at Mesa Verde and in cliff-dwellings near Los Alamos, N.M.

Ship positions for Moon flight

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The aircraft carrier Ticonderoga, the Apollo 17 pickup ship, left Friday to position itself for the moon flight rendezvous.

"Tico" picked up the Apollo 16 astronauts in May and returned their spacecraft here. The Ticonderoga was the first large carrier to serve as a pickup ship. Helicopter carriers had that duty earlier.

The Ticonderoga's mission was to pick up Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Dr. Harrison Schmitt. Their launch was scheduled Dec. 6.

Apollo 17's mission was planned as the most ambitious lunar landing of the series. The astronauts planned to spend a record 75 hours in the Taurus-Littrow region of the moon.

Plane lands on highway

PRINCETON, Ill. (UPI) — When he realized early Saturday he was running out of fuel, George Clegg told his three passengers to sit tight—he'd pull over on Interstate 180.

Bug Clegg had to land first to do that.

Clegg, 34, Canton, Ill., and three men had flown to Chicago Friday night from Pekin in a Cessna 172 single-engine plane. Early Saturday, they left Chicago's Midway Airport for the flight back.

While trying to avoid bad weather, the plane went low on fuel and at 3 a.m. Clegg was looking for a place to put down. No airport was handy, but Interstate 180 near Princeton was.

So Clegg landed, safely. State police from Rock Island showed up and found the plane abandoned on the side of the highway. Clegg and his passengers had gone for help.

US interstate system four-fifths complete

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate highway system, the most ambitious and expensive project of its kind in the nation's history, is four-fifths complete, the government announced Saturday.

Of the planned 42,500 miles in the system, 33,796 are now open to traffic, according to Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

There are still 8,704 miles to go, Volpe said. Of that total, 3,742 are under construction but the remaining 4,962 are still at some stage of pre-construction planning.

During the 12-month period ending Sept. 30, Volpe added, another 1,404 miles were completed, reflecting "the steady progress being made in constructing this, the safest and best-engineered highway network in the world."

Of the 4,962 miles still in the planning stage, 3,632 are undergoing engineering or right-of-way acquisition; another 506 have been subject to public hearings and the balance — 824 miles — is still no farther than the paper stage.

Of the mileage completed, Volpe said, 27,383 miles are in rural areas while 6,413 are in urban locations. That represents 70.6 per cent of the total planned urban construction and 79.5 per cent of the expected rural road building.

Volpe's report did not list a target date for completion of the system, that depending on tax revenues and the level of spending allowed by the administration.

The first all-metal aircraft, a torpedo plane for the Navy, was built at the Ford Airport in Dearborn, Mich., in 1922.

US lowers sights after Apollo 17 astronauts return from Moon trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will lower its sights after Apollo 17's astronauts return from the moon and Americans will be restricted to within a few hundred miles of Earth for the next 10 to 15 years.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) does not plan to abandon the moon forever, and Administrator James C. Fletcher predicted that the United States will establish a lunar base in the 1980s. He said that a manned expedition to Mars still is possible before the end of the century.

Fletcher, in a wide-ranging interview, also said it was possible that American and Russian scientists could be working side by side in the 1980s in a large Earth-orbiting space station, and perhaps even work together on the moon.

For the next few years, however, the realities of the government's budget pinch have taken hold. There will be a brisk resurgence of Americans in Earth orbit for eight months in the Skylab space station, then U.S. manned spaceflight will be dormant.

Only a brief cooperative spaceflight venture between the United States and Russia in 1975 will interrupt an American-in-space gap of at least four years.

NASA is concentrating what resources it has on the development of a combination airplane and spaceship called the space shuttle. It is designed to lower the cost of doing business in space and open Earth orbital flight routinely to scientists and engineers with little or no astronaut training.

The shuttle is scheduled to make its first test flights into Earth orbit in 1978. The shuttle will serve as a launcher for nearly all America's satellites, military as well as civilian. It is the key to NASA's space effort for the 1980s and beyond and Fletcher said it would be "irresponsible for us not to press on for something that we know will be beneficial."

In any event, the United States is now committed to manned Earth orbital flight for at least 10 years. The equipment to land on the moon explore Venus, Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn this decade.

Manned flight is scheduled to return to Earth orbit next spring with the Skylab project. It is, the NASA administrator said, "our first move in the direction of exploiting near space."

Skylab is a large orbiting laboratory now undergoing final testing at Cape Kennedy. It will be America's first space station and is designed to see how well man can live and work in weightless space for long periods.

Three three-man crews are scheduled to spend a total of five months in the 190,000-pound assembly over an eight-month period last year. They will live in a two-level cabin, with as much room as a small house and the comfort of a naval ship.

Apollo veteran Charles "Pete" Conrad will command the first Skylab mission. He, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz are scheduled to be launched May 1, 1973—a day after the Skylab is launched unmanned into a 270-mile high orbit. They will remain aboard the station for 28 days and then return to an Atlantic Ocean splashdown in the Apollo command ship that carried them into orbit.

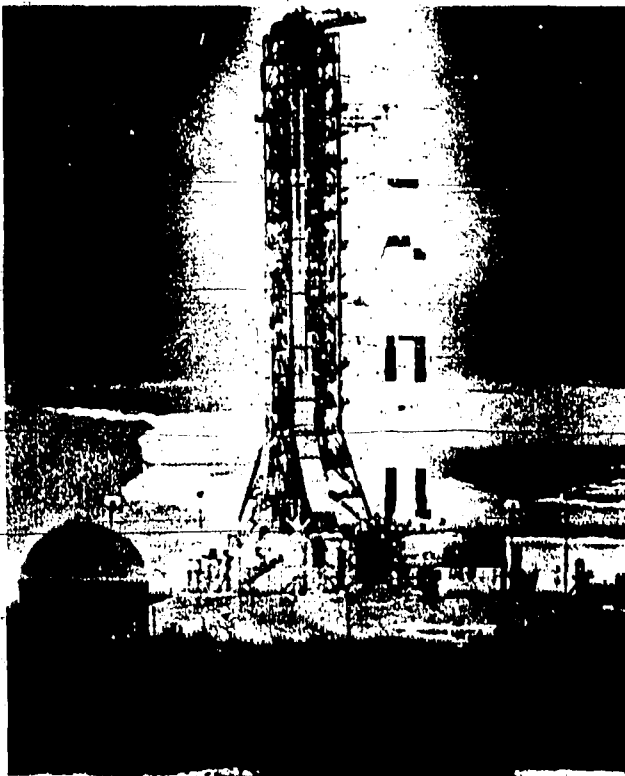

Alan L. Bean, another moon pilot, will command the second Skylab mission with Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma. They are scheduled for launch July 30 and plan to remain aboard Skylab for eight weeks.

project, however, is vulnerable to funding cutbacks and agency officials fear that any significant delays forced by national monetary problems could kill the program.

"Whether it will be stretched out in a major way, or—even worse to contemplate—whether it will be stretched out so far you couldn't do it, is hard to say," Fletcher said. "I'll certainly try hard not to let that happen and I don't see it happening in the near future."

no longer will exist after Apollo 17. It would take several years to design and build improved lunar landing apparatus and Earth orbit to moon orbit shuttle ships, all of which would have to be carried into space by the space shuttle.

"We're not going to give up on what happens in the solar system, but we're going to try and get that information with the unmanned flights," Fletcher said. NASA is planning a whole series of automated probes to

SATURN ROCKET with Apollo 17 spacecraft atop glistens in the early morning Florida sunrise at Cape Kennedy. Astronauts Ronald E. Evans, Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt will ride the spacecraft on the last scheduled exploration to the Moon Dec. 6. (UPI)

Awaits trip

Questions on Moon smarter

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The news of Apollo after 3-1/2 years of moon exploration is that scientists are on the verge of understanding the history of another body in the solar system for the first time.

The implications to earth science are great because the story of lunar development going back in time begins around the point 3 billion years ago where earth's record stops.

Before Apollo 11's astronauts landed on the lunar Sea of Tranquility in July, 1969, the moon was a puzzle. There were almost as many ideas about its makeup and development as they were scientists thinking about it.

Some thought the moon's vast, arid seas were water-lain deposits instead of the lava beds they turned out to be. Others still thought men would be swallowed by oceans of dust. There were space agency safety engineers who feared the lunar soil would catch fire when exposed to oxygen atmosphere of a landing craft.

"We said some awfully dumb things about the moon before we got there," said Dr. Noel W. Hinners, chief scientist for the Apollo project.

Now, with the moon project about to end with the flight of Apollo 17, there still are many unanswered questions about the moon. But the questions are far more sophisticated than they were before Apollo 11.

"A lot of what we are saying now is probably nonsense, but we're saying things now based on specific knowledge rather than pure guessing," said Dr. Gerald D. Wasserburg, professor of geology at the California Institute of Technology and a principal Apollo sample investigator.

Excitement leaves after Dec. 6

COCO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Mayor Lee Caron feels some of the excitement will be taken out of Cocoa Beach when the community gives its last farewell to moon travelers. And after the Dec. 6 launch of Apollo 17, Brevard County will again have to tighten its belt.

"I don't think there will ever be the excitement that the Apollo shots created, but it will still be Space City, U.S.A.," said the silver-haired nightclub comic.

With the curtain coming down on the Apollo show, Caron said, "we're becoming a more cosmopolitan community." While many once thought the last launch would leave behind an economic disaster area, Brevard County has found a new friend, the tourist.

The manager of one motel, which couldn't pay its bills two years ago, described his business as "fantastic, dynamic."

Bill Houghtaling, innkeeper at the Cape Colony Inn, said his motel enjoyed 100 per cent occupancy most of the summer and that all the motels in the area reported their business was up about 30 per cent over the year before.

James W. Sloan, director of tourism for the Brevard Economic Development Council, credited the opening of Walt Disney World 70 miles to the west with filling this area's motels.

"Despite all the wonderful things those people (Disney) can do, they can't build a beach on the ocean," he said. "When people come down to Disney World from the Midwest, they also want to see the ocean and we've got the closest beach."

When the first big cutbacks in the space program came in 1970, Sloan said, "nobody in his right mind was building a house in Brevard County." "But we're very optimistic now," he added. "Our economy is more self-sustaining than it was three years ago." Sloan said he expects announcements within the next year from two major hotel chains to build four new motels in the county.

Most Gem solons oppose tax increases

(Editor's Note: This is the first of several diaphanous previewing some of the issues confronting the 42nd Idaho Legislature. Today: tax increases.)

By RICHARD CHIARNOCK
BOISE (UPI)—By and large, those who will serve in the 42nd Idaho Legislature are opposed to tax increases of any sort next year but there are some notable exceptions.
Of those responding to UPI's pre-legislative questionnaire, 57 per cent said flatly there is no way they can go for any tax increases at the state or local levels.
"With a stronger economy increasing tax revenue from the present tax base and with the assail of revenue sharing from the federal government it should be possible to fund the state without any increase," said Rep. Angus Coadle, R-Preston.

Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, agreed, saying he believes the structure at present is sound and that it generates a seven to nine per cent increase each year.

"This should more than take care of our needs — especially when our population increased only six per cent this year," Budge said.
While the views of these two southeastern Idaho legislators seemed to be indicative of a majority in the new legislature not everyone answering the questionnaire saw it that way.

Some definitely favored a general tax increase. Others wanted specific increases for specific purposes — such as highway construction — and still others were willing to go along with boosts if a need could be shown.
"Yes," answered Rep. elect Norma Dobler, D-Moscow, one of the freshmen, "to provide necessary services (such as education, especially vocational education) treatment facilities for children and youth with mental or emotional problems."
Reps. Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, and Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, called for a hike in the gasoline tax.
"The only tax which would need clarification is the eight and one-half cent gas tax,"

Andersen said. "I would vote for the one-half cent increase if the federal matching funds would assist us immensely."
"Otherwise," he said, "it should go back to eight cents."
Miss McDermott proposed a one-half cent increase in the gasoline tax — dedicating two cents to the cities and one cent to a north-south highway.
She also called for eliminating "inequities in the existing tax structure."
"Before raising taxes, non-essential expenditures should be eliminated," she said. "The legislature should pass a constitutional amendment to permit cities and counties to lower real property taxes by having alternative methods of taxation available if approved by a vote of the local people."

Rep. Marion Davidson, D-Bonners Ferry, said he would favor a tax increase "only as a last resort, if, after considering the total budget and the total anticipated revenue, the needs of the people are not met in the areas of education and health."
"There is only one fair tax, graduated income tax," replied Sen. Art Murphy, D-Mullan. "If it is shown that we must have additional revenue, I would support such a tax."
"I have a lottery bill ready for introduction which would pick up a few million," Murphy added.

Boyfriend killed, TF girl raped

VERNAL, Utah (UPI) — Police and sheriff's officers searched eastern Utah today for two men wanted for shooting a young man, burning his body, and raping his girlfriend.
Utah County Sheriff Arden Stewart said every available officer, including police from the Uintah and Ouray Indian Reservation, hunted for the killers of Greg Nickell, 21, Vernal.
Stewart said the victim was shot about 1:30 a.m. Sunday at a scenic overlook on U.S. Highway 40 three miles west of Vernal where he was parked with Ranelle Stanger, 18, Twin Falls, Idaho.
Utah County sheriff's officers said Miss Stanger was taken to Uintah County Hospital at Vernal, treated and released. They said her condition was "very good."
Stewart approached Nickell's car, the sheriff said, tapped on the window and told Nickell there had been an auto accident.
When the victim rolled down the glass, the assailant fired a shot from a pistol.

Stewart said Nickell threw his body across Miss Stanger and the gunman emptied a pistol into his back. The man climbed into the car and drove off, followed by another man in a second car.
They went to a lonely country road about 20 miles southwest of Vernal, forced Miss Stanger from the car, made her disrobe and the gunman raped her.
The pair then set fire to Nickell's car with his body inside.
The sheriff said the two drove around for several hours on back country roads. The other man assaulted the girl, and they finally dumped her from the car near Duchesne. She ran to a farmer's house a quarter of a mile away and notified authorities.
Stewart described the men as in their mid 20s or early 30s and said they were driving a tan or gold 1965 Ford four door sedan.
He said Nickell's body was badly burned and was sent to the State Medical Examiner for an autopsy.

Visits in Filer

DR. ERNST Jenny, Baden, Switzerland, was able to come to Idaho to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with his daughter, Margrit, left, who is spending a year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent and family as an exchange student. Janie Vincent, right, is the same age as Margrit.

Swiss man, daughter together for holiday

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer
FILER — Thanksgiving is a family time and proved to be so for a Swiss man and his daughter even though far from their home in Switzerland.
Dr. Ernst Jenny, engineer with the Brown-Boveri BCC Co., Baden, Switzerland, arrived from New York Thursday in time to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his daughter, Margrit Jenny, and 44 other guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent and family.

Miss Jenny has been at the Vincent home since last August, and will graduate next spring with the other seniors of the Filer High School.
Her father, as a representative of Brown-Boveri Co., was in the states on a business trip, and decided to take a few days from business to visit his daughter and her new family.
The firm for which Jenny works has 90,000 people connected with the company in Europe of which 20,000 are in Switzerland where Baden is company headquarters.

The firm, which is similar to General Electric in America, manufactures electronic equipment, generators, power stations, turbines, locomotive equipment, electrical furnaces and electrical household appliances.
It also has a number of research plants and laboratories.
The company's second largest plant is in Germany. The largest units made go to the United States which is still the world leader, according to Jenny, followed by sales to Russia and Germany.
The turbojet for the Cumberland power plant of the Tennessee Valley Authority, the most powerful unit in operation in the world, was made by the firm.
Dr. Jenny has made many trips to the States but this was his first visit to Idaho although he had flown over the southern portion of it while on a tour of Yellowstone Park, Bryce and Zion canyons, and other parks.
He first came to the United States in 1950 and traveled in the middle west and to the West Coast on business. In 1953 his fiancée came from Switzerland and the couple was married at Wantagh, Long Island.
In 1959 Dr. Jenny took a summer course at MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology), and in 1961 and 1969 was in the states on business trips and tours of nuclear power stations in the east.
This year Dr. Jenny has been touring places where steam turbines are situated and has recently been at Lake Michigan; Charleston, W. Va.; Richmond, Va.; Cumberland, Tenn.; Tampa, Fla.; and Wilmington, N.C.
In Grand Rapids, Mich., he visited briefly with Gail Okkoner, an American girl who stayed at the Jenny home last summer on an exchange program.
Dr. Jenny said he likes the United States very much and thinks our people and the Swiss are very similar in nature, and in general get along very well. Switzerland is a democracy like the United States.
The engineer said he and his family would like to thank all those in Magic Valley who have done so much for him and Margrit, and for giving her the opportunity and the wonderful experience of living here for a year.
Dr. Jenny left Sunday afternoon to return to New York City, and on Wednesday will return to his home in Switzerland.
Margrit speaks German, French, English, Latin and Italian. Switzerland is one-sixth the size of Idaho but has ten times as many people.
It has four official languages with 60 per cent of the people speaking Swiss German, 30 per cent speaking French, about 10 per cent speaking Italian and a very small group speaking the old Romantich or Latin.

Election meet set in Jerome

JEROME — Election of officers for the Jerome County Central Committee of the American Party will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Wood Cafe.
Jim Payton, co-ordinator for the eight Magic Valley central committee chapters, said the meeting is open to anyone interested in joining or knowing more about the American Party.

He said he will show a film on the Council on Foreign Affairs and said some discussion will be conducted on party policies and the party's platform in the last election.
Payton said the American Party is vigorously opposed to any restrictive gun control laws and also feels the federal reserve system, now privately controlled should be put back under federal controls.

Snow covered Gem roads hazardous

BOISE (UPI) — Ice and snow made driving dangerous on many of Idaho's major roads today and tire chains were recommended for safe travel on at least one mountain pass.
By road, this was the report from the State Departments of Highways and Law Enforcement:

TF Demos in no hurry to recommend successor

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Democrats are in no hurry to recommend a successor for county commissioner Heber Loughmiller, and Republicans may not even try.
Loughmiller, 52, a veteran of eight years on the commission, died of a heart attack Thanksgiving Day. His successor will be named by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.
Vincent Smazal, chairman of the Twin Falls Democratic Central Committee, said today the committee would not convene until late this week or early next week to make its recommendation for a successor to Loughmiller. That recommendation will be forwarded to Andrus.

But Smazal said he expected only one name would be forwarded to the governor.
Douglas Kramer, chairman of the Twin Falls Republican Central Committee, said he has no plans to convene a meeting of his party, and does not anticipate a meeting to discuss the vacancy on the commission unless he receives a "direct request from the governor" for a recommendation.
Loughmiller, a Republican, was himself appointed to the Commission to fill the term left unexpired by the death of then-Commissioner Walter Lowery. Lowery was a Democrat, but the governor at the time, Robert Smylie, was a Republican, so a Republican, Loughmiller, was named to the seat.

Now, with the governor a Democrat, Smazal said today "I think we'll have a Democrat on the commission. Both Merl Leonard and William Chancey, the two other commissioners, are Republicans.
Loughmiller's death leaves Andrus with his second chance in less than a year to name a Democrat to a Magic Valley Commission seat formerly held by a Republican.
John Fox, chairman of the Blaine County commission, and a Republican, was killed in a farming accident earlier this year.

Tuesday dinner

JEROME — The Magic Valley Chapter of the Idaho State Employees Association will have its annual get-acquainted dinner for area legislators Tuesday night.
Wayne King, Magic Valley Chapter president, said the dinner will be at 7:30 p.m. with a social hour beginning at 8:30 p.m. at Wood Cafe, Jerome.

He said the Magic Valley Chapter is host for the dinner, an annual event, so state employees can meet with the legislators of the Magic Valley.

Postponed

HAILEY — A meeting of the Wood River Resource Area Council of Governments originally scheduled Wednesday has been postponed until Dec. 6.
Sen. Don Fredericksen, chairman of the council of governments, announced the new meeting date. He said it will be at 8 p.m. in the Blaine County Court House.
According to Fredericksen, the meeting was changed because another meeting was scheduled for the same date and time.

Housing groups score rural shortage in US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal public housing is so stacked against rural America as to have created as "wasteland" of counties without a program at all, two housing actions groups contend. "If looked at in terms of population distribution, the to the degree of urbanization. "Another dimension of this gap between need and program is reflected by what we have dubbed the 'wasteland' — these counties which have no public housing program at all. The study found that, one third of a century after enactment of the that area there are more than 13 poverty-level households for every public housing unit and almost 14 households in housing which is crowded and/or lacks plumbing facilities, for every public housing unit."

The Mountain States include Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada.

The conference will explore such topics as "The Rural Housing Crisis," "Exposing the Mythology of Housing," and "Getting Action from the Federal Government."

Federal and Congressional employees will take part in workshops. Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., will speak at a Tuesday dinner. Leon Keyserling, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, will speak at a Wednesday luncheon.

The report by the Rural Housing Alliance and the Housing Assistance Council said a quirk appeared in the study of public housing.

Sugar beet harvesting completed

NYSSA, Ore. (UPI) — The Sugar Beet harvest in the Nyssa District of the Amalgamated Sugar Co. was completed Friday with the harvest of seven acres near Payette.

Nyssa plant manager Raymond Larson said the tonnage is up for 1972 but the sugar content is down slightly.

Because of good harvesting conditions, Larson reported a new record was reached on several days when 46,000 to 47,000 tons were delivered. On a normal day, 37,000 tons were delivered to the factories.

public housing program clearly remains an urban-focused one," the report by the Rural Housing Alliance and the Housing Assistance Council, Inc., said.

The two groups help poor areas go after federal money and housing assistance and they focus attention on problems in rural housing. The alliance is supported by the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Ford Foundation, and the council operates on OEO money. Both emphasize the rural areas' needs for public housing with federal help.

"The amount of public housing in the United States bears little relationship to the need for it," the report said. "The disparity between the presence of public housing and the need for it is closely related United States Housing Act, almost half of the nation's counties, containing nearly one fifth of its population, still had no federally assisted public housing," the report said.

The two housing groups said their study showed the counties called the "most urban" had 65 per cent of the nation's population and nearly 75 per cent of the public housing units. The least densely populated counties, with perhaps 23 per cent of the population, had only about 16 per cent of the housing units.

The council and the alliance will examine the topic in detail this week at the second National Rural Housing Conference, scheduled for Nov. 28-30 at the Ramada Inn in Washington. Sponsors will include farm labor, migrant, and minority groups, as well as such organizations as the National Farmers Union, National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, United Auto Workers, and League of Women Voters.

Geographically, "the Mountain States are the worst" in providing public housing for rural areas, the report said. "In

No rail car shortage so far from Soviet grain purchases

WASHINGTON — Despite dire predictions, the shipment of grain to the Soviet Union has not resulted in massive shortages of railroad freight cars, H. P. Kappel, director, closed car utilization, car service division of the Association of American Railroads, said today.

Kappel said he could not "indulge in sweeping promises" about the months ahead, however.

"There are a lot of variables involved," he explained. "The pipeline from the United States to the Soviet Union is a long one. Any foulup, anywhere along that long journey, can make itself felt all the way back to the starting line."

But the AAR spokesman said, events have already gone past the point in time when "some so-called knowledgeable observers" predicted the railroads would be in serious trouble.

"It hasn't happened," he said. Kappel said most railroaders are optimistic about their ability to meet this year's demand for freight cars without major trouble and without short-changing year-round customers.

As a reason for the optimism, he said the industry has been "working and worrying" over the car supply problem for a long time and "this year the efforts of past years are starting to pay off."

He said the industry's approach to improving car supply has been "two-pronged" — involving expansion of the capacity of the freight car fleet, coupled with improvements and innovations in car utilization and distribution.

He reported the railroad industry's net investment in freight cars totaled $7.6 billion in 1971 — up 95 per cent over 1961. And he pointed out that new cars being bought are bigger and better than the cars they replace — so much so that the aggregate carrying capacity of the fleet has increased by 8 per cent despite a drop in the actual number of cars.

Speaking of improvements in car distribution, Kappel said such individual railroad efforts as run-through trains, unit train service, incentive rates to speed car turn-arounds, the leasing of extra cars, operation of entire trains of empty cars to areas of need and the use of improved information systems.

He said a great benefit to the AAR Car Service Division — which seeks to improve car distribution through the use of movement directives and other measures.

Late FG iets New Orleans upset Los Angeles 19-16

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Happy Feller kicked a 23-yard field goal with six seconds left to play Sunday to give the New Orleans Saints a 19-16 upset victory over the Los Angeles Rams who had tied the game two minutes earlier with a field goal of their own.

The win was only New Orleans' second of the year and the loss dumped the Rams from first to third place in the Western Division of the AFC. It was also the second time in two years that the Saints scored a last-minute victory over the Rams in the Sugar Bowl.

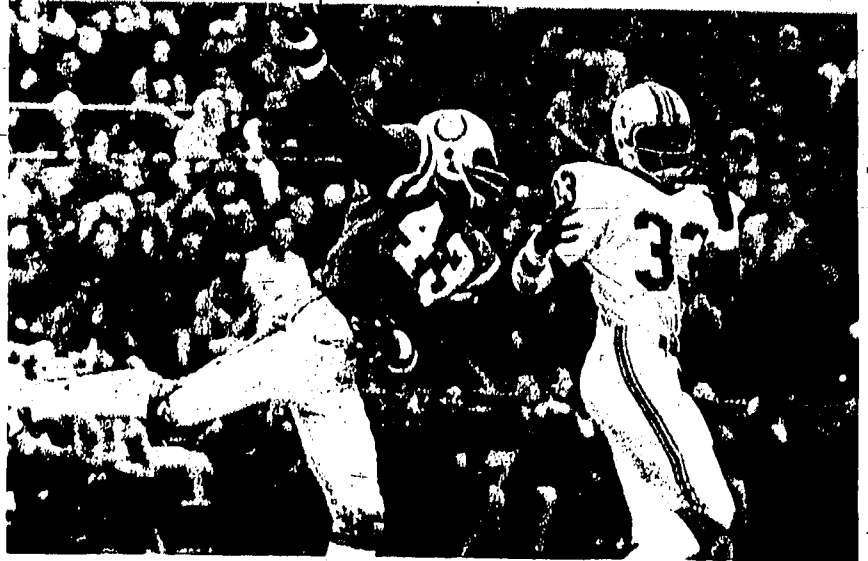

Feller also kicked a 46-yard field goal for the Saints and quarterback Archie Manning ran five yards for one touchdown and threw 23 yards to Bob Newland for another.

Feller missed the extra point try after the second Saints touchdown. The Rams scored on three Jim Ray field goals, the last of which tied the score at 16-16 with 2:06 left to play, and a five-yard touchdown run from rookie Jim Bertelsen. Ray missed three other field goal attempts.

In the first game of the 1972 season, Manning plunged over from the one-yard line on the last play of the game to give the Saints a 21-20 win over the Rams.

The Rams opened the scoring with 4:58 to play in the first period on Ray's 48-yard field goal but Manning's five-yard run in the second quarter and Feller's extra point put the Saints in front 7-3. Ray brought the Rams to within one with a 31-yard field goal with a minute and a second to play in the first half.

A 34-yard attempt by Feller in the second period was blocked by Rams' linebacker Marlin McKeever who also blocked Feller's extra point try in the third quarter.

Rookie leads Steelers over Minnesota 23-10

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Rookie Franco Harris, surpassing 100 yards rushing for the sixth time and the fifth game in succession, scored one touchdown and set up another Sunday to spur the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 23-10 victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

The victory raised the Steelers' mark to 8-3 and enabled them to remain tied with Cleveland for the lead in the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

Harris, who gained 120 yards in 17 carries, ran 12 yards for a first period score on a play set up by Ralph Anderson's recovery of Bill Brown's fumble. In the final period, Harris scumpered 67 yards on a draw play to the Minnesota one and Terry Bradshaw plunged over for the score. Roy Gereln, who kicked a 17-yard field goal, missed his first conversion attempt after 107 successful conversions.

The Vikings scored early in the first period on a 24-yard field goal by Fred Cox. The Vikings' Carl Eller recovered Bradshaw's fumble on the Steeler 26 to set up the score.

New York trounces Philadelphia 62-10

NEW YORK (UPI)—Norm Sneed threw three touchdown passes and Ron Johnson ran for two more in the first half Sunday and the New York Giants went on to roll up their highest point total in history with a 62-10 trouncing of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Giants added 24 points in the second period as Sneed passed five yards to Joe Orduña. Pete Gogolak kicked a 25-yard field goal. Sneed passed 29 yards to Tucker and Ron Johnson plunged a yard.

The rest of the game the only question was how high the score would go as New York completely dominated it even though three defensive regulars, Athas, Carl Lockhart and Reed, left the game with injuries.

The Eagles' scoring came on Tom Dempsey's 13-yard field goal in the first period and Reeves' 77-yard pass to Hal Jackson in the second period.

Falcons rally to top Denver 23-20

ATLANTA (UPI)—Bob Berry passed for one touchdown and set up two others and Art Malone scored twice Sunday as the Atlanta Falcons came from behind to defeat the Denver Broncos 23-20.

Denver, whose fired up defense held Atlanta without a first down until midway in the second quarter, jumped off to a 13-0 lead before the Falcons got their offense untracked. Defensive end Claude Humphrey, against whom successive 15-yard penalties were called setting up a Denver field goal, started the turnaround when he sacked Denver quarterback Charley Johnson in the end zone for safety.

Humphrey also recovered a fumble which started Atlanta on the way to its go-ahead touchdown a short while later.

Berry had one of his better days, completing 13 passes of 16 attempts for 191 yards.

Malone scored on two one-yard runs in the second quarter and Berry passed 27 yards to Wes Chesson in the third period. The touchdown pass to Chesson, the first TD reception by the second year man from Duke, provided a margin after reserve quarterback Steve Ramsay brought the Broncos back within striking distance on a 34-yard scoring strike to Rod Sherman in the final period.

Sharks topple Raiders

NEW YORK (UPI)—With six different players scoring single goals the Los Angeles Sharks defeated the New York Raiders 6-2 Sunday afternoon.

Alton White, recently traded from New York to Los Angeles, scored the third and winning goal at the 13-minute mark of the first period.

Brian Morenz opened the scoring for New York at 6:07 of the first period, scoring a short-handed goal on passes from Jamie Kennedy and Kent Douglas. Los Angeles tied it up two minutes later when Gary Veneruzzo worked with J.P. LeBlanc and Ralph MacSweyn at 8:40.

Pete Slater, then put the Sharks ahead, combining with Tommy Seibles on a power-play goal while New York's Kdn Black was in the penalty box.

Rider sets lap record

SYDNEY (UPI)—Australian rider Bryan Hindle, driving a Yamaha 350, won the first round of the Pan-Pacific motorcycle series Sunday, beating American Ron Grant (Suzuki 750) when he set a new lap record at Oran Park, near Sydney.

Hindle clocked 16 minutes 53.48 seconds for 20 laps of the 1.2 mile circuit - 6.68 seconds in front of Grant.

New Zealander Ginger Molloy (Kawasaki 750) finished 8.9 seconds back for third place.

Hindle, who last year became the only Australian to beat 10-time world champion Giacomo Agostini, led the American Daytona 200 winner Don Emde (Harley-Davidson 750) from the start.

Hamilton defeats Ottawa

HAMILTON (UPI) — The Hamilton Tiger Cats, led by rookie placekicker Ian Sunter, defeated the Ottawa Rough Riders 23-8 Sunday to take their two game total series 30-27, and earn the right to represent the Canadian football league's Eastern Conference in next week's Grey Cup game against the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The Tiger Cats, who trailed Ottawa 19-7 after the first game of the series, will meet Saskatchewan in Hamilton Dec. 3 for the CFL title. Saskatchewan earned a berth in the final by defeating Winnipeg 27-24 last week.

Hansen is winner in road race

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Stockbroker Jerry Hansen drove a Corvette to victory in Sunday's finale of the 1972 American Road Race of Champions, his third win in two days and his eighth career Sports Car Club of America championship.

The 34-year-old Hansen, from Bloomington, Minn., won the A sports racing and Formula A races, Saturday in a cold, driving rain, giving him three of the four class A championships for big-bore machinery.

His 28.4 second victory Sunday in the A Production race was his eighth championship in six years. Both that and the three championships during the course of one three-day ARRC are records for SCCA drivers.

Hansen won two championships last year, in A sports racing and Formula A, but failed in his try for the A production event.

Nick Eagles of Bethel Park, Pa., and Bill Morrison of Chicago, both upended their Corvettes on the straight at the 2.5-mile Road Atlanta course during the A Production event, scattering parts across the track and slowing drivers behind them. Both drivers were reported in satisfactory condition in an Atlanta hospital.

Two-time ARRC winner Bob Sharp of Wilton Conn., added two more trophies to his collection Sunday with victories in C production and B sedan.

Other winners in Sunday's competition were Bob Wheeler in Super V, Warren Agar in A sedan, Allan Barker in B production, his fourth straight championship in that class, and Bob McQueen in D production.

Wayward pass

Jim Plunkett was constantly harassed by the Colt defense, but did pick up 101 yards through the air.

So impotent was the Patriot attack that Plunkett could lead his troops no closer than the 33-yard line, and that threat was nuffed out by a fumble.

The hapless signal caller was also victimized by Colt middle linebacker Curtis who rambled 21 yards with a pass interception for Baltimore's last score.

Baltimore opened the scoring on the first play from scrimmage in the second quarter. Laird returned the New England punt to the Patriot 40, and Domres took immediate advantage of the good field position by lofting a 40-yard bomb to Havrilak who sprinted between two defenders into the end zone.

The Pats were unable to generate a drive after the ensuing kickoff, and once again it was the Colt rookie Laird who set up the second score by returning Pat Studstill's punt 34 yards to the New England 22.

A Statue of Liberty play, with rookie Lydell Mitchell doing the running, netted 14 yards to the 8 yard line, and two plays later the Domres-to-Havrilak tandem clicked again, from 3 yards out putting the Colts up 14-0.

A New England drive after the kickoff pushed the ball to the Colt 33, but running back Josh Ashton fumbled and Baltimore tackle Fred Miller scooped up the ball and returned it to the Colt 43.

Baltimore overwhelms Plunkett, Pats 31-0

By DEAN REYNOLDS

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Marty Domres passed for three touchdowns and Mike Curtis ran an interception back for a fourth score as Baltimore overwhelmed the New England Patriots Sunday 31-0 to win its first home victory of the 1972 season.

The Colts exploded for 17 points in the second quarter, both set up by long Bruce Laird punt returns.

Domres, heir apparent to Baltimore legend John Unitas, hit on 11 of 26 passes for 98 yards, making his flurry of short throws count. He hit Sam Havrilak for touchdowns of 40 and three yards, and Tom Mitchell from three yards as the Colts gained sole possession of third place in the AFC Eastern Division.

Sportscaster dies at 58

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wendell Smith, television sportscaster and former newspaperman who was largely responsible for Jackie Robinson being signed as the first black major league baseball player, died Sunday. He was 58.

Since 1964, Smith had been a sportscaster for WGN television in Chicago. He also worked for the old Chicago's American and WBW-TV here and was a sportswriter for the Pittsburgh Courier.

It was while with the courier that he lobbied for bringing Robinson up to break the color barrier in major league baseball. Robinson, who died last month, once said he would not have made the major leagues without Smith's efforts.

Smith himself was one of the first black members of the Baseball Writers Association. He also led the campaign for equal treatment of black baseball players in housing and meals during spring training and road games.

Kilmer guides Redskins to win, playoff spot

By SAM FOGG
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington's defense and two touchdown passes by Bill Kilmer provided the momentum Sunday for a 21-16 Redskins victory over Green Bay, setting up a playoff slot.

The victory, eighth in a row for the Redskins, boosted their record to 10-1 and insured them of at least the "wild card" slot in the National Football Conference playoffs, no matter what happens in the final three games.

It also raised their division lead over the Dallas Cowboys to two games. A Washington victory or a Dallas loss would give the Redskins the Eastern title.

The setback dropped the Packers into a tie for first place in the Central Division. Kilmer came through in the clutch after the Packers pulled within a point, 14-13, on MacArthur Lane's six-yard touchdown run with 12:39 left in the contest.

The Washington quarterback responded by piloting the Redskins 83 yards for a key touchdown, hitting on five of five passes in the drive. The payoff came on his five-yard toss to Charlie Taylor in the corner of the end zone.

Kilmer wound up the day by completing 14 passes on 21 attempts for 149 yards.

The Washington defensive unit blocked one Green Bay field goal attempt, contributed a touchdown-producing interception and smothered the Packer's passing game.

With Green Bay ahead by a field goal, Pat Fischer set up a go-ahead second quarter touchdown by intercepting a Scott Hunter pass to give the Redskins possession on the Packer 37. Charlie Harraway contributed a 24-yard burst and Larry Brown drove over from the 2.

HILTON HEAD-ISLAND, S. C. (UPI) — John Miller shot a 71 over-par 211 Sunday and still managed to wind up with a one-stroke lead at the end of the round delayed third round of the Heritage Golf Classic.

Miller, who lipped about 10 putts over the first 12 holes while posting five bogeys and no birdies, had a little more success over the final holes and wound up with a 75 for the day and a total of 2-over-par 211 that enabled him to finish a stroke better than second-round co-leader Forrest Fezler and tour newcomer Lon Hinkle.

Fezler, 6 under at the start of the round like Miller, shot a 5-over-par 76 Sunday while Hinkle, making his first appearance on the PGA tour since earning his playing card, had a 72 to match Fezler's 212 total.

Jerry Heard, who lost four strokes in three holes when he dropped out of the lead with a bogey-double bogey-bogey string, was the only other player in the 73-man field to be even with par after three rounds. Heard wound up with a 73-213.

The third round of this $125,000 tournament was originally scheduled for Saturday but was postponed until Sunday.

because of a driving rain that flooded the greens. The final round is scheduled for Monday.

"I sure hope we have better weather Monday than we had out there today," said Miller.

This course is too tough for severe weather. It really should have been about a par 71 out there with that cold and wind.

It's the type of course where you have to make a lot of different shots, but it was so cold you couldn't get the wrist action needed."

The final two rounds of the Heritage is being played on the Harbourtown course where only one of 70 golfers — Bobby Nichols — broke par in the opening round but where Fezler shot a 66 on Friday.

Only two players were able to break par Sunday: Ed Sneed and Jim Jameson and they barely made it with 70s. Sneed wound up with a 214 and Jameson with a 215.

The top two money winners on this year's tour, Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino, are not playing here this week and neither is 1969 Heritage champion Arnold Palmer. The No. 3 moneyman, George Archer, failed to make the cut and fourth-place Greg Jones had a 73 Sunday for a 218.

Heritage defending champion Hale Irwin had 75-219.

There were eight golfers at 1-over-par 211 including Allen Miller, no kin to John, who was tied with John for the lead at one point but who bogeyed his last three holes.

The Heritage is the next to last tournament on this year's PGA schedule. The tour ends next week with the Disney World in Orlando since a later tournament in the Bahamas was cancelled.

Lee Wykle, one of those in the 214 group, said it was about 20 degrees colder on the finishing holes along the waterfront at this resort island off the South Carolina coast than it had been earlier, in the trees.

"This has to be the toughest course I've ever played on," said Wykle, who has been on the tour only eight months.

"I was playing great but couldn't get my putts to go in," said John Miller, who insisted he should have had a 70 or a 71 and have the tournament in the bag. "If the weather is like this on Monday, I'll be lucky to shoot a 72, and one-stroke lead isn't very safe."

Bowl teams defeated by rivals

By United Press International
Just to show the balance Big Eight Conference teams have to endure, three bowl teams were knocked off by conference rivals last week.

First, of course, was Nebraska, suffering a 17-14 setback Thanksgiving Day to Oklahoma. But since both of those teams are bowlbound—Nebraska to the Orange and Oklahoma to the Sugar—that game was only an appetizer for Saturday's main course of upsets.

Liberty Bowl-bound Iowa State was hammered by Oklahoma State, 45-14, and Fiesta Bowl-bound Missouri absorbed a 28-17 licking by Kansas.

Oklahoma State (6-4) now can wind up in no worse than a tie for third in the conference race and the Cowboys could tie Oklahoma for second if they beat the Sooners this week.

In his first year as head coach, Dave Smith has guided Oklahoma State to its first winning season since 1959.

The Cowboys, who had hoped Liberty Bowl officials would wait until Saturday before choosing, wrecked Iowa State with 21 points in the fourth quarter. Sophomore fullback George Palmer gained 155 yards on 31 carries and scored two touchdowns.

Arizona St. fulfills prediction

DENVER (UPI) — Arizona State, just like everyone predicted before the season began, won an unprecedented fourth straight Western Athletic Conference football title Saturday and the host spot in the Dec. 23 Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

But the Sun Devils deviated from the pre-season script a little by waiting until the final game of the season to win it. Arizona State played one less game than the other contenders — the Devils didn't schedule Colorado State — and a league opening 45-43 loss to Wyoming put its title streak in jeopardy.

Saturday night, the nation's leader in total offense and scoring put on a display of how it was done by whipping intrastate rival Arizona 38-21 and rolling up 555 yards total offense in the process.

Junior quarterback Danny White threw a pair of touchdown passes, running back Brent McClanahan ran for two others and Woodrow Green added a fifth to power the victory. Bill Demory threw three passes for Arizona's scoring.

In other games on the last weekend of WAC football, Brigham Young dropped New Mexico 21-7 and Utah whipped Colorado State 62-36. Wyoming and Texas El Paso, which finished last for the second straight year, ended the season a week earlier.

BYU and Utah, tied for second, and fourth place Arizona all had shots at the Fiesta Bowl berth, opposite Missouri if Arizona State faltered.

Athletic Director Dave Strack accepted the resignation immediately and said the search for a successor would start Sunday.

"There is no timetable set for Weber's replacement, but hope-

Arizona football mentor resigns

TUCSON, ARIZ. (UPI) — University of Arizona football coach Bob Weber, who failed to meet an ultimatum to produce a winning season, resigned Sunday.

Weber's Wildcats finished the current campaign with four wins and seven losses, capped by Saturday night's 38-21 defeat at the hands of Arizona State. Weber started the season with orders to produce a winner or leave.

It was his fourth straight losing year at the Wildcat helm. He joined the staff in 1967 as an assistant and became head coach when Darrell Mudra resigned.

In his four years, Weber's teams won 16 games and lost 26.

In submitting his resignation, Weber said, "This past year we had great expectations, and we failed to reach our goal. Under these circumstances, I submitted my resignation today."

Raiders topple crippled KC

OAKLAND (UPI) — Daryle Lamonica's 12th and 13th touchdown passes of the year and a pair of field goals by George Blanda carried the Oakland Raiders to a 26-3 victory over the crippled Kansas City Chiefs Sunday and to within one triumph of their sixth division title in the last seven years.

Lamonica's passes were of 14 yards to Fred Biletnikoff and 19 yards to Ray Chester. Blanda booted field goals of 27 and 25 yards and Charlie Smith ran two yards for Oakland's other TD.

After Stenerud got his field goal, the Raiders marched 60 yards in 12 plays with Biletnikoff for a 16-3 lead and late in the second quarter, Gerald Irons intercepted a pass by backup quarterback Mike Livingston to set up Lamonica's touchdown throw to Chester.

The Chief's, who won the AFC West last year, came into the game without the services of wide receivers Otis Taylor and Elmo Wright and then lost defensive tackle Buck Buchanan, middle linebacker Willie Lanier, running back Ed Podolak and quarterback Len Dawson in the first half.

A 40-yard field goal by Jan Stenerud in the second quarter prevented a shutout as the Chiefs went down to their sixth loss in 11 games. The Raiders improved their record to 7-3-1 and now can clinch the AFC west with one more victory in three remaining games.

Buchanan went out with an injury on the second play of the game and Lanier followed him a few minutes later. That left a gaping hole up the middle and the Raiders used it to gain more than 250 yards rushing.

Carter revenges Chicago Bears 13-3

CHICAGO (UPI) — Virgil Carter, who called the Chicago Bears management "chicken" just before they got rid of him three years ago, showed his old teammates enough quarterbacking finesse Sunday to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 13-3 victory.

Carter connected on a 26-yard scoring pass to Essex Johnson and also engineered drives of 62 and 20 yards which wound up with field goals by Horst Muhlmann of 14 and 39 yards.

It was Carter's first starting assignment of the season. Ken Anderson has taken over the regular Bengals quarterback assignment, but Coach Paul Brown showed a touch of sentiment by going all the way with Carter Sunday in snow-swept Soldier Field.

He was matched against Bobby Douglass, the blond giant who shouldered Carter out of a chance to be the Bears' starter in 1969. Carter responded then by calling the Bear coaches "chicken" and was shuffled off to Buffalo at the season's end, showing up shortly afterwards in Cincinnati.

Carter proved a point over Douglass and the Bears Sunday since the best Bobby could do was pass the Bears close enough for Mac Perceval to poke through a nine-yard field goal in the third quarter.

In fact, Bear Coach Abe Gibron gave up on Douglass and put John Huarte in for one of his rare appearances at quarterback in the last two minutes.

The Bengals snapped a three-game losing streak and stretched their season record to 6-5 in the American Football Conference. The Bears dug their way deeper into the collar of the National Football Conference, grinding to their fourth straight loss and a season record so far of 3-7-1.

Carter connected on 12 of 20 pass attempts for 120 yards with two interceptions and Johnson, his running work horse, ran for 77 yards.

Douglass completed only six of his 20 passing attempts, good for 101 yards but with two interceptions.

Neither team stirred up much excitement except for a brief interval in the second quarter when Carter led Cincinnati to their only touchdown in a 64-yard march that took up six plays.

The end came when Johnson took a popper from Carter over the middle on the 10-yard line, hopped over Bear defenseman Jerry Moore and took it in the rest of the way.

Despite the low score, the Bear defense still managed to give up a possible 14 points one came when Ron Smith couldn't hold on to an interception just before Johnson's touchdown. Then, in the third quarter, Charley Ford appeared to have a Carter pass in firm possession and a clear path to the goal line but he dropped the ball.

Cleveland defeats Buffalo 27-10

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A strong Cleveland defense and the passing of Mike Phipps Sunday sparked the Browns to a come-from-behind 27-10 victory over the Buffalo Bills. It was Cleveland's sixth straight win.

After spotting the Bills a 10-0 lead in the first six minutes of play, the Browns defensive unit kept Buffalo from moving the ball into Cleveland territory until the final minute of the game. Defensive end Nick Roman got the final Cleveland touchdown by rambling 36 yards with an intercepted pass with 13:48 left in the game.

The Browns were held to only 19 yards offense in the first quarter before a 27-yard pass from Phipps to Frank Pitts set up a 33-yard Don Cockroft field goal with 6:41 left in the half.

The Browns tied the score six minutes later after taking a punt on the Buffalo 41. A 16-yard pass to Chip Glass took the ball to the Buffalo 14 and Leroy Kelly took a 13-yard scoring pass from Phipps with 4:35 seconds left in the half.

The Browns moved ahead 17-0 after recovering a fumble by O. J. Simpson on the Buffalo 28-yard line with 8:32 remaining in the third quarter. After Bo Scott lost three yards, Phipps hit Scott with a 30-yarder that took the ball to the one-yard line. Ken Brown circled end for the go-ahead touchdown with 6:12 left in the period.

Cockroft booted his 18th field goal of the season from the 42-yard line with 5:41 left in the game to end the Cleveland scoring.

San Diego tops Houston 34-20

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Sid Edwards scored on touchdown runs of 31 and 1 yards and a stubborn defense kept Houston out of touchdown range until the closing four minutes as the San Diego Chargers breezed past the Oilers 34-20 Sunday in a battle of NFL also-rans.

Relatively unknown second-year man Jesse Taylor ignited the San Diego win when he blocked a Dan Pastorini punt and fell on it for a touchdown with only 1:33 gone in the game.

Edwards' scoring runs put the contest out of reach as the Charger defense refused to allow the Oilers beyond San Diego's 38 until just 3:12 remained to play.

The loss made Houston's record 1-10 and bound the Oilers to last place in the AFC Central Division. San Diego, now 4-6-1, was eliminated from contention in the AFC West with Oakland's win over Kansas City.

Edwards' 1-yard scoring run came with only 1:08 left in the first half and put the Chargers on the verge of a fourth-straight game to reach at 20-3. Recently activated wide receiver Mike Carter was the key man in the 49-yard scoring drive as he ran 24 yards on a reverse and caught a 10-yard pass from John Hall to put the ball on the Oilers' 15.

His other score came late in the third quarter on a draw play after San Diego had moved from its 46.

With his team trailing 34-6 late in the game, Pastorini finally launched a 74-yard, 11-play scoring drive which was capped by a 3-yard pass to Ken Burroughs.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES The daytime finds you with many delays in gaining a new plan of action. You are able to think conditions out carefully with much conversation with experts and arrive at intelligent conclusions by which you have a more orderly and efficient life in the future.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Don't permit a depressed co-worker to slow you down in the morning and you will be able to accomplish a great deal. Later take any treatments that give you added energy. Improve surroundings.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) The afternoon is best for taking health treatments. Be sure to handle work duties before going out and having a delightful time. Dress in good taste and show that you have poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Although conditions at home need improvement, don't nag kin about them. Make constructive plans for making them better. Entertaining friends is good, but don't retire too late.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Keep busy shopping, making appointments, and carrying through with work that is important. An associate can be disappointing in the morning, but later is very cooperative.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Show others that you are steady and can handle your duties most efficiently. A monetary expert can give you fine ideas how to become more successful and add to your income.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) You may feel very frustrated early in the morning, but if you attend to duties all clears up nicely. Take health treatment before going out tonight. Show others that you are at your best.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Take the time to study and mentally solve a problem that has been a puzzle to you. You are able to help a good friend who is in trouble. Do so. Have fun with congenial tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Realize that you are as much to blame for a misunderstanding with a good friend as he is. Take the initiative and all works out fine. Severing relations would be bad. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) You have a definite course to follow in a career matter, so make plans early and then carry through to the letter. A higher-up may seem unfriendly but this is an illusion.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Study all pertinent facts and figures before attending an important meeting or you could lose out if not prepared. Listen carefully to any ideas given to you by others. Be alert.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Contact those who are most expert in your field of endeavor and you will know how to advance more quickly. You may be moody but still can show mate much affection now. Perk up.

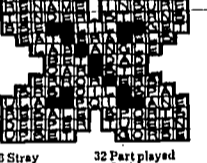

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) If you don't criticize others so much, you find you can make this a most pleasant day. You have new ideas to discuss with an associate. Await the afternoon to do so for best results.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who likes to repeat almost word for word what others have said. Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange fell back Monday under profit taking. Trading was fairly active.

Shortly before noon, the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue-chip stocks was off 10.16 at 1,015.05. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.69 at 110.58.

Declines dominated advances, 892 to 440, among the 1,600 issues on the tape. Turnover came to more than 8,600,000 shares, compared with 6,700,000 shares traded in the comparable period Friday.

The sharp drop was a combination of profit taking following the sharp rise of the market in recent weeks, the negative Vietnam news and the renewal of inflation worries among investors.

In the economic news, October's machine tool orders rose 1.5 per cent from September and were double the orders in October. On Friday, the Federal Reserve increased margin-buying cash requirements to 65 per cent from 55 per cent.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR
Q — I hold 222 shares of Keystone B-4 bond fund. It pays good dividends and I wonder if I should keep adding to this. How safe is it? — R.L.

Q — I have 331 shares of Keystone B-4 bond fund which have increased somewhat in value and have paid a good return. Should I continue to hold or cash in these shares? — F.S.

A — With 40 years in operation, this fund has a considerable head start on the many newcomers to the field. Because some 75 per cent of the funds portfolio is invested in straight bonds, the rate of capital appreciation is necessarily slower than in a common stock fund.

In the 5-year period ending 1971, asset value, including dividends, had increased 34 per cent and in the nine months through September 1972, another 8 per cent.

There is an element of speculation involved in this particular fund in view of the quality of the bonds held. Average rating on the straight bonds held is low-medium quality, BA-rated by Moody's or BB according to Standard and Poor's system.

Approximately one-third of the portfolio consists of convertible bonds which also entail a degree of risk. However, the risk is tempered by the broad diversification of the portfolio which encompasses more than 100 issues.

I would favor holding but not adding to this commitment. Other income fund recommendations are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Roger E. Spear, care of this newspaper.

Q — I am 75, have been selling common stocks and buying utility preferred shares. At this time I have six different issues. Because of new preferred issues, earnings have gone down and I have lost confidence. Is my lack of faith justified? — C.M.

Dividend declared

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Directors of Utah Power and Light Co. approved the quarterly dividend to 31.9 cents per share on common stock Friday, an increase of 1.9 cents over the previous quarter.

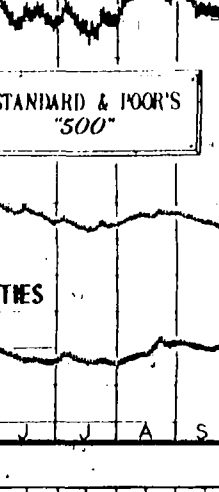

Directors also approved dividends ranging from 29 to 89.1 cents per share on various preferred stocks. Dividends are payable on all shares Jan. 1, 1973 to shareholders of record Dec. 1.

Dividends total almost $4 million, of which more than $3.1 million are going to common stockholders. The annual dividend rate is now running at about $2.07 per share.

Patriotic will

LONDON (UPI)—Paul H.M. Oppenheimer made out a will in 1940 specifying certain bequests, including the balance of his estate for the reduction of the national debt.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Since the economy this year has grown at a pace well beyond its long-term ability to expand, investors may well wonder how long this frantic rate can continue, Argus Research Corp says. But while the current upswing may be half spent by post-World War II standards, "business gains this year have not created the excesses that frequently foreshadow a downturn," the firm adds.

Man honored

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A 13,300-foot peak in California's Sierra Nevada range has been named "Mount Jepson" in honor of pioneer botanist Willis Linn Jepson.

Arctic wolves attack

Arctic wolves attack only weak members of caribou herds.

Recent advances

Recent advances of the market, from a technical standpoint, "leave little to be desired," according to E. F. Hutton. The final trading hour has been marked by renewed buying, and investor interest has spread to sectors that had
