

Kimberly mulls sewage line

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

KIMBERLY — If all the red tape can be cut, it appears likely that in the next year or two the city of Kimberly will connect its sewer system with that of the city of Twin Falls by means of a natural drainage trunkline.

The proposed connection is still in the planning stage and anything can happen considering the constant fluctuation of regulations among the city, state and federal agencies involved, but, at least, the Twin Falls City Council and the Kimberly City Council have reacted positively to the move, providing financial arrangements can be made suitable to both parties.

Kimberly's present sewage treatment plant is nearly 20-years-old and has been declared unsuitable by both the Idaho Department of Health and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

"We're on the edge of a bad situation," says Kimberly Mayor Von Nebeker. "Right now, we're loaded to the limit. We have several parties wanting to come into Kimberly, but we can't take them because we can't handle the sewage."

After monitoring the Kimberly plant in 1970 and 1971, the Idaho Health Department noted that the facilities were not producing a secondary effluent, as required, and added that in some samples less than normal primary treatment was being performed. Odors from the plant have resulted in numerous public complaints.

Other criticisms of the plant included a cracked anaerobic digester, and out-of-level weir and a faulty chlorination chamber which was providing only eight minutes detention time as compared to the one hour required.

Also, the SPA declared the drainage ditch, into which treated sewage is now pumped, unsuitable.

After studying the problem, engineers have come up with five alternatives to the present Kimberly facilities:

1. Add a secondary treatment facility and connect by a trunkline north to the Snake River.
2. Build a totally isolated "lagoon" system requiring four ponds of approximately 25 acres each.
3. Build a similar system using sprinklers instead of ponds, but still requiring 100-125 acres of land.
4. Upgrade current treatment and run a trunkline south to Rock Creek.
5. Build a trunkline to tie in with current Twin Falls sewer system.

Jerome man dies in US 93 crash

ROGERSON — Clyde L. Good, 66, Jerome, died Tuesday night in a two-car accident seven miles north of the Nevada-Idaho border on U. S. Highway 93.

Good was killed about 7:45 p.m. when the car driven by his wife, Iris Corrine Good, 66, was struck head-on by a car driven by Roger S. McLean, 30, Jerome. The Good vehicle was southbound at the time of the accident.

Idaho State Police said the incident occurred when the northbound McLean vehicle went out of control and spun around several times in the middle of the highway, finally striking the Good car.

Mrs. Good is listed in fair condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. McLean and his son, Jonathan McLean, 2, were treated and released. Jane McLean, 31, is listed in fair condition.

Good's death raised the state's death toll today to 319 or 24 more than at this time a year ago.

Saigon envoy, Nixon confer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon agreed to see a special Saigon emissary today to try to reassure South Vietnam that the Thieu regime will not be sold out in a U.S.-North Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

A Nixon-Thieu summit was reported highly doubtful.

The special agent of President Nguyen Van Thieu, whom Nixon was said to have been less than enthusiastic to see at first, was bringing with him a personal letter to Nixon — possibly proposing a summit meeting between the two leaders.

The White House had no immediate comment on the fresh summit speculation, growing out of a suggestion today by Thieu's foreign minister that "a meeting between the two heads of state is always necessary in order to coordinate their policy."

However, officials in recent days have made clear that Nixon has no plans whatever of seeing Thieu to hear personally his reservations about the cease-fire agreement that Nixon's negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, has been working out privately with North Vietnam.

The next round of the Kissinger negotiations with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho is scheduled to begin in Paris Monday.

High administration officials said today a final agreement could be nailed down as early as Dec. 15, although that probably would not be in time for any American POWs — to be released as part of the draft agreement previously reported — to be free before Christmas.

The main sticking point, as far as Saigon is concerned, is the presence of North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam and absence of any language in the tentative agreement to call for their withdrawal, whereas there is specific reference to U.S. withdrawal.

Columnist Victor Zorza, a veteran writer on Asian affairs, wrote today in the Washington Post that North Vietnamese troop withdrawal was now the only unresolved issue, and suggested that it may be resolved next week by "unwritten understandings."

Nixon interrupted his heavy consideration of domestic matters — particularly makeup of his second-term Cabinet — to leave his Camp David retreat to see Duc at the White House.

Nixon arranged to take a helicopter from the Maryland retreat this afternoon for the 3 p.m. EST meeting.

Americans among air crash dead

MOSCOW (UPI) — The U.S. Embassy said today four Americans were aboard the Japanese Airlines (JAL) plane which burst into flames and crashed Tuesday evening shortly after it took off for the trans-Siberian flight to Tokyo and that none were listed as survivors.

An airlines spokesman said at least 58 of the 76 persons aboard died. Another 15 persons, mostly Japanese, survived and were placed in Moscow hospitals where officials reported most of them were in good condition. Another three persons were listed as missing.

The four Americans were identified by the embassy as M. Brettler of New York, believed to be head of an international trading organization; Norman Sackheim of Wheeling, Ill.; Charles Gerbic of San Francisco, and I. Asher. Two of them boarded in Copenhagen and two in Moscow, the embassy said.

The crash was the second such disaster at Moscow airport in six weeks. Soviet officials only today permitted Japanese officials to approach the scene of the crash, 13 hours after it occurred.

First reports said only one foreigner, a New Zealander identified only as B. Smith, survived.

The crash occurred about 400 feet from the end of the runway at Sheremetyevo airport after the plane took off in what officials described as "not very bad weather," then plunged to the ground.

"There was a huge explosion as it hit the ground," said an Air India official who saw the crash.

Three Japanese mechanics who saw the takeoff reported seeing two flashes of flame dart from the airplane as it gained altitude. There was no radio contact with the plane's captain before the crash.

It was the second crash since June involving a Japan Air Lines plane. A crash in New Delhi killed 90 persons in June. It also was the second such disaster at Moscow since mid-October. An Aeroflot IL82 jet went down during landing Oct. 14, killing 178 persons in the worst of all civilian aviation disasters.

"We cannot yet determine the cause," JAL president Shizu Asad said in Tokyo.

Replacement for AF dam backed

BOISE (UPI) — Replacement of the American Falls Dam was called for today by a Bureau of Reclamation official.

Ed Sullivan, regional reclamation director, told the Idaho Water Resource Board meeting here that his agency believes the dam — which is deteriorating — should be replaced.

Sullivan said it would cost "very little more" to replace the structure at the same height and storage capacity of the existing dam than it would to make repairs.

Replacement would cost some $30 million, Sullivan said, and would take about five years after Congress approved the proposal and appropriated funds for it.

Sullivan said the new dam would be located 100 yards downstream from the present dam and would not involve any stoppage of present water uses.

Earlier this fall, bureau officials lowered the maximum elevation at which water storage behind the dam could be maintained. They gave as their reason the deteriorating condition of the concrete portion of the earth and concrete dam.

Reduction of storage capacity behind the dam would affect the amount of water available below the dam for irrigation purposes.

Environmental impact of the projected Swan Falls-Guffey dam on the Snake River in southwestern Idaho would be minimal, Director Robert R. Lee told the board.

Lee presented the board a report from the Utah State Foundation which said trash fish dominate the reaches of the Snake River.

He said there would be some loss of quail habitat but there would be little big game winter range loss.

As presently figured, he said, the dam would have little impact on the birds of prey sanctuary. But he said consideration must be given to a change of land use status which would then affect the sanctuary because the eagles nest in the upper portion of the canyon.

This report now must go to the Federal Power Commission which, in turn, must prepare its own environmental impact studies.

Lee said so far as costs are concerned, the staff believes the rising cost of the project would be offset by the rising costs of other power alternatives.

He said a report on water quality would be presented later by the Idaho Power Co. which plans to build the dam as a joint venture with the state.

BLM man takes post at Burley

BURLEY — Nick J. Cozakos has been named the new district manager for the Burley district of the Bureau of Land Management.

Installation ceremonies for the 45-year-old Salt Lake City native were conducted in the district office conference room this afternoon.

Strikes cut back

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. officers reluctantly ordered a cutback in fighter-bomber strikes on both sides of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) today as heavy rains cut visibility to near zero, field reports said. Meanwhile, the U.S. command made an upward revision of the death toll.

Cozakos has served as the range specialist in the Utah state office of the BLM since 1967. He also managed the state fire program for three years. A 20-year veteran of BLM service, he has served as chief of resources in three Utah BLM districts and participated in range surveys on the Arkansas Red and White River area.

Commenting on his goals for the Burley district Cozakos said, "We want to complete the BLM planning system for the district which will involve better management under the multiple use principal."

His wife, Vera, is presently in Burley, but will return to Salt Lake City until housing is found. His son, Jim, 18, attends Utah State University at Logan and his daughter, Mary Frances, 15, attends high school in Salt Lake City.

Union leader labor post nominee

CASPER WEINBERGER
new HEW chief

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon today picked a New York City union leader, Peter J. Brennan, to be labor secretary in his new look second term administration. Brennan will succeed James D. Hodgson.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler dispensed selection of Brennan, president of the New York Building Trades Council, in the second of a series of announcements of the makeup of the new Nixon Cabinet.

More announcements are expected Thursday and possibly during the weekend.

The selection of Brennan came on the heels of an unprecedented neutral stance in the presidential election by many leaders of organized labor at the urging of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

The President gave his first indication of reassignments Tuesday by nominating three administration veterans — Elliott L. Richardson, Caspar W. Weinberger and Roy Ash — to new assignments.

Richardson was moved from secretary of health, education and welfare to defense secretary. Weinberger, who now directs the Office of Management and Budget, was named to succeed Richardson at HEW. Ash was selected to follow Weinberger at OMB from his post as head of the Advisory Council on Government Reorganization.

Administration sources said that Nixon believes he can keep his cabinet officers from becoming prisoners of their own bureaucracies by switching them from one department to another.

The only two cabinet members apparently leaving are Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Housing and Urban Development Secretary George W. Romney. Ziegler reiterated Tuesday Laird's long-standing intention to resign. Romney announced his resignation Monday.

After announcing more cabinet appointments today, Nixon planned to return to Washington to discuss the Indochina peace talks with Nguyen Phyl Duc, a personal emissary from South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu. Nixon was expected to remain at the White House until leaving Thursday for a long weekend at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Weinberger accepted his fourth high-level post in the administration and Richardson took his third.

ROY L. ASH
... budget choice

Biennial budget session sought

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy called Wednesday for a return to biennial budgeting in Idaho State government.

Murphy told a news conference he will ask the next session of the legislature to pass a law providing for a fiscal session in odd-numbered years and a general legislative session in even-numbered years.

He said he will recommend that either session be openable to matters pertaining to the other by a two-thirds vote of the legislature, or by a gubernatorial declaration of emergency.

"It would substantially reduce the length of the sessions," Murphy said, adding it could lead to a better review of fiscal matters by all lawmakers and not just the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee.

In addition, he said, it would eliminate the need for year-round budget operations by state agencies and thereby result in a financial savings at departmental levels.

"I recognize the reason the constitutional amendment (providing for annual sessions) went through was that it is difficult to project ahead 24 to 30 months (the states financial needs)," Murphy said.

But he said the budget, still could be reviewed and opened up if necessary.

IRA guerrillas attack Britons

BELFAST (UPI) — Guerrillas of the illegal Irish Republican Army (IRA) attacked British troops with anti-tank rockets for the second day today.

An army spokesman said a single rocket fired at an army post in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district of Belfast missed and struck an adjoining textile mill used as a barracks for troops.

No one was injured, the army said, and the rocket caused only slight damage to the building. Rockets attacks and other violence Tuesday killed four persons and wounded 24. An army spokesman said authorities believed the weapon was similar to the Russian-made RPG2 rocket launcher abandoned by three men who ran into an army vehicle check in Londonderry Tuesday after a day of coordinated rocket attacks against police and army posts.

British troops went on maximum alert today, warned to guard especially against more attacks by Soviet anti-tank RPG2 rockets—the same kind used by the Viet Cong in Vietnam.

Military authorities said it was obvious the IRA has received "significant" supplies of modern arms. But they declined to speculate on their source.

"Okay," one officer said, "they surprised us. But now we are ready..."

The fighting in Belfast,

Londonderry, five other places in Northern Ireland and at points along the 300-mile border with the Irish Republic killed a policeman, a soldier and two IRA guerrillas.

Gunner Paul T. Jackson, 21, who died when a bomb exploded in a Londonderry supermarket, was the 100th British serviceman to die this year.

Four more persons, two soldiers and two civilians, were wounded late Tuesday in a firefight which broke out in Belfast between Protestants and Roman Catholic factions. British troops fought both sides, an army spokesman said.

The other 20 persons wounded during the day were hit during rocket and bomb assaults.

Astronauts practice tough lunar landing

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — With launch one week away, Apollo 17's astronauts practiced one more time today the last and toughest lunar landing in the Apollo program.

Command module pilot Ronald E. Evans also visited the ocean-side launch pad and inspected a film cassette he will remove from a scientific experiment during a spacewalk 200,000 miles from earth.

The countdown for the blastoff next Wednesday night begins Thursday morning and the space agency said final preparations were going well with all work on schedule.

The only potential obstacle was a labor dispute and negotiators for a moonport contractor and 60 workers scheduled a meeting later today to try to resolve the issue.

Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt plan to land between two 6,500-foot mountains on the Taurus-Littrow region of the moon while Evans remains in orbit.

Chile's Lanusse stays in office

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Military rulers decided Tuesday night to keep President Alejandro Lanusse in office until next May, after the installation of a civilian government scheduled for election in March.

Originally, the government planned for Lanusse, architect of the plan to return the nation to civil rule and the authority responsible for the return of former president Juan D. Peron from 17 years of exile, to step down Jan. 1 in favor of Carlos Alberto Rey, the commander of the air force.

Levies said key to tax increase

TWIN FALLS — Higher property taxes in the Magic Valley this year are generally from higher levies, and not increased property value. According to Ronald Taylor, Twin Falls County assessor, his office has had many complaints about the higher property taxes this year.

He said many of the people think it is the fault of the treasurer's office, auditor's office or assessor's office when it is not.

Taylor said the property taxes are up because the levies are higher from the local taxing units in the county.

He said assessed value of property in the county has not been increased for several years unless improvements or additions are made to the property.

Vehicle safety dates delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has postponed the effective date of more than 25 new auto safety standards.

The only major standard to escape postponement, according to a nonprofit highway safety organization, is a requirement for air bag safety devices on 1975 model cars. The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety noted Tuesday in making the disclosure, however, that the auto industry has challenged the proposed air bag rule in the courts.

The president of the IIHS, William Haddon Jr., said the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration "eased a revised schedule of its projected rule-making activity into a public docket" with no prior announcement.

The federal safety agency confirmed after the IIHS announcement that it had delayed for some two years two of the proposals — to set a 95-mile an hour speed limit on highway driving (postponed until 1975) and to provide tire buyers with "qualitative information" to help them choose which are the best tires for their cars (put back until 1974).

The agency had said earlier its schedule for proposed safety standards was intended as a guideline and was subject to change.

Haddon said other postponements included delays of:

—Almost two years on amendment to a safety regulation which would give consumers a rundown of performance of cars' braking performance on wet pavement. The rule was to be effective Jan. 1, 1973.

School survey slated

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls League of Women Voters has been asked to distribute questionnaires for a public opinion survey concerning attitudes relating to the financing of Idaho's public schools.

The survey is being prepared by the college of education of the University of Idaho at Moscow. The survey is part of Idaho's School Finance Study. It is being set up to study and make recommendations for improvement of Idaho's school financing. The results of the survey are to be presented to the Idaho Department of Education and the Idaho Legislature.

The survey is to be made on a random sampling from the telephone book in 15 Idaho counties. The LWV will be distributing 63 questionnaires in Twin Falls County, and additional ones in Jerome and Lincoln counties, according to Norma Hughes, publicity chairman.

The questions will deal in such areas as property taxes, school finance formula, funding laws, Kindergartens, distribution formula and sparsity factors.

The surveys are to be returned by Dec. 20. It is hoped that everyone receiving the questionnaires will fill them out and return them.

This is an opportunity for Idaho citizens to voice their opinions on how education should be financed.

YMCA basketball signup dates set

TWIN FALLS — Signup days for Magic Valley YMCA Biddy and Junior Basketball will be Dec. 2, 9 and 16 from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

Saturday's session will be at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School gym, while the Dec. 9 and 16 sessions will be at the Presbyterian Church gym, at 209 Fifth Ave. N.

According to Chuck Upton, YMCA director, biddy basketball is for boys in first through third grades, and junior basketball is for fourth through sixth graders who are not members of a Twin Falls recreation department basketball program.

The purpose of the two leagues is to give boys a knowledge of the game and some playing experience, he said.

Through donations made by Twin Falls businessmen and other individuals the YMCA is able to furnish scholarships for boys who are financially unable to afford a YMCA membership and the league fee, Upton said.

Biddy and junior basketball games will begin after Jan. 1.

Resentment Comes To A Boil

WASHINGTON — Resentment is now coming to a slow boil among congressional Republicans over what they regard as President Nixon's insulting indifference to the party's congressional wing during the long, secret sessions at Camp David to draft his drastic reorganization plans. The rising hostility, in truth, stems partly from the President's spectacularly successful reelection campaign during which many Republican candidates felt ignored by the self-centered — and highly effective — re-election campaign conducted from the Oval Office. Such hostility, which was reported in detail last week, may well be sprinkled with sour grapes. But the presidential aloofness and remoteness from the congressional wing of his party, now so evident in the recesses of Camp David, has no such ingredient.

If this process is allowed to continue, one predictable though shocking possibility is that Mr. Nixon's wholesale reorganization of his executive branch of government will encounter a wall of Republican resistance on Capitol Hill. Just such a forecast is now being made privately by a powerful Cabinet member.

With the new Congress firmly in the grip of the Democrats, anything short of total Republican support for Mr. Nixon's still-unfinished reorganization plans could prove fatal. Yet, the President has still not confided even the broad outlines of his reorganization to a single congressional leader of his own party.

In private conversations with White House aides, this tendency to take his own party for granted as a sort of royal prerogative has angered some of Mr. Nixon's leaders in Congress. One leader has warned the White House that Republican members of Congress would be "far more independent" than the old in dealing with lame-duck President Richard Nixon.

Likewise, Rep. John Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the House Republican Conference, told NBC's Bill Monroe on the "Today" show last Friday that a "far greater degree of consultation" between the White House and Congress is now essential. Congress is, he said, "particularly sensitive" these days about its declining prestige, as the executive branch grows stronger.

Yet, despite these veiled warnings of trouble ahead, Mr. Nixon has not yet received a single Republican leader for serious 1973 strategy talks, either at the White House or the presidential retreat at Camp David. Except for a happy birthday call to Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Republican Senate leader, there is reason to believe the President has not even spoken to his legislative lieutenants. Moreover, Republican congressional leaders have been scanning the President's appointment schedule with meticulous care these last two weeks; they have yet to find a single visitation to Camp David by William Timmons, chief White House lobbyist, or any of his staff—vivid evidence that Mr. Nixon is ignoring his legislative leaders on the take-off of his reorganization schemes. They know, however, they will be expected to save him from a crash landing.

The hazard of a crash landing is real. Congressional committee and subcommittee chairmen ferociously guard their watchdog powers over the executive branch department and agencies under their control.

Yet, as we write this, the President has made not the slightest effort to keep such congressional powers as Rep. Chet Holifield of California, Democratic chairman of the critically-important House Government Operations Committee, and Rep. Frank Horton of New York, the committee's senior Republican, informed of the secret Camp David deliberations.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Starch Eater

Dear Doctor: I am a woman 22 years old with three children. I eat an eight-ounce box of laundry starch each day.

I have always eaten it off and on, but for the last four months it's gotten to a box in a day and it's like I'm on dope!

If I don't have any at home I get real nervous until I get to the store and open the box for a taste even before I get back home.

My weight has jumped from 138 to 156 in the last two months. What's the matter with me? — Mrs. L. F. B.

Any abnormal appetite such as yours comes under that heading.

Not too strangely, the condition is often associated with anemia, and no wonder.

The eating of starch at the expense of other foods such as proteins, fruits and vegetables is bound sooner or later to have its effects.

Treatment of anemia usually ends the craving, although in your case, from your description of it, a lot of will power will be required also.

Starch contains about 1,600 calories to the pound, so do I have to say more about your weight gain? You may also have a low blood sugar which also would produce a desire for carbohydrates. This could account for the escalation of your starch hunger.

It too could be corrected by more protein and a better balanced diet.

You should not feel the least bit hesitant about seeing your doctor.

Tell him about your starch habit and he will help you onto a better diet. You will also be able to get a reading on your blood situation, which ought to be investigated.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend once told me if you shave, your hair will grow back like a man's. Is it true? — J. L.

No. Not unless you are a man, that is.

Dear D. Thosteson: Do you recommend surgery or stripping varicose veins? What are the results? Are there any after effects? About pregnancy? Will this cause new ones to break out? — Mrs. E. S.

There are a couple of your questions that aren't quite clear to me. Surgery or "stripping" are the same thing. The "stripping" is accomplished by making two small incisions, one above the varicose vein, one below, and then drawing or "stripping" the vein out lengthwise, so only two small scars remain afterward.

No particular after effects. But getting rid of the varicose veins cannot, of course, guarantee that other veins may not become varicose later on. Pregnancy, because it often partially obstructs the flow of blood through the leg veins, can contribute to formation of more varicose veins.

Best precautions are not to gain too much weight, and to avoid tight garments (girdles, pants, garters) that impede circulation.

It's best to rely on your doctor's judgment, as to whether varicose veins are bad enough to warrant stripping, but when veins get that bad, there is no other effective treatment.

Sparing The Rod

Last year some 24,000 paddlings of Texas students were officially recorded. Two high school boys thus chastized and their fathers brought suit to have the Texas law allowing "moderate corporal punishment" declared unconstitutional. The Supreme Court of the United States, in effect, said "bosh" to the appellants by refusing to hear the case.

Only a few days before the Texas decision, an unruly high school student in Brooklyn slapped a teacher in the latest of a series of incidents which teachers said put their lives in jeopardy from teenage gangs and intruders.

The next day after the slapping, 50 teachers walked off the job, calling for more security patrols and protection. The group of teachers returned to their classes the following day but a fight is brewing over whether they shall be paid for the day missed.

Members of the Board of Education condemned the walkout as "irresponsible." This same board had done nothing about any of the previous incidents in which teachers were browbeaten.

Common sense would seem to rule in favor of a paddling when needed, rather than permissiveness that allows physical attacks on teachers.

A spokesman for the Dallas School District, against whom the suits were brought, commented: "We have always felt we have the right to administer corporal punishment and that our policy is legal. We don't think it is the best method of discipline, but it has to be available. In some cases, it is the only thing that will work."

District Judge W. M. Taylor held: "The evidence has not shown this policy to be arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or wholly unrelated to the competency of the State in determining its educational policy."

Although some teachers may have abused the practice, Judge Taylor said this did not show "that the policy itself is unconstitutional."

Dallas School Superintendent Nolan Estes said "We're delighted. We think the policy is a good one."

It may not be the best policy but it beats the Brooklyn policy all hollow.

Fast Start

Winter is off to a fast start, and there will be much discussion from now on as to whether it is colder than usual at this time of year, or whether it merely seems so because temperatures in recent winters have been abnormally high at this point.

Apparently to date the former is a fact. Weather bureaus in many cities report that temperatures in recent days were considerably lower than seasonal averages.

Another factor intrudes here, as it frequently does — terminology of seasons. Officially or by the calendar, winter does not start until Dec. 21.

But if winter has not already arrived in at least half the country, autumn is trying valiantly to provide a reasonable imitation.

MR. SPECTATOR

Ready For Fishing?

There's good news for sportsmen in the water seen cascading down that chute into Oxbow Lake under the watchful eye of Wendell Smith, Idaho Power Co. environmental affairs director.

For flowing with the water from a tank truck were 17,500 catchable rainbow trout — all about 10 inches long — the utility recently released near its McCormick Park in the Hells Canyon development.

The release was Idaho Power's 10th in a row to provide winter sport for fishermen when other waters are closed or inaccessible. Since the annual plants began in 1962, the company has put more than 180,000 trout into the development lakes in cooperation with the Idaho and Oregon fish agencies.

The releases have paid off for the anglers, with some of the skillful — or lucky — ones landing rainbows measuring more than 20 inches by the time the fish were caught a year or two after they were planted.

Mr. Spectator just thought you would like to know about this — because when you winter fish you want to catch trout. Here's your chance!

RAY CROMLEY

The Nixon Trip

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Curiously enough, President Nixon's visits to Peking and Moscow have dealt severe blows in a roundabout way to the Japanese Communist party, at least temporarily.

The Nixon trip led to that of Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, which led, in turn, to a marked improvement between Communist China and Japan's most conservative capitalists.

So far have these dealings progressed, in fact, that the Mitsubishi group, historically one of Japan's big-five semimonopolistic Zaibatsu, have now been termed as "friendly" firms with which China will deal. Their representatives have been personally welcomed by Chou En-lai.

Peking has in practice abandoned its attempts to blacklist those Japanese companies with trading interests in Taiwan. Further, in one way or another, the Chinese have made it clear the investments of Japan's major industrial firms in Taiwan are in no danger from them. In fact, through one hint or another, Peking has been at pains to assure the Japanese they do not plan a military invasion of Taiwan, and that any union must come through peaceful political means.

The Chinese government, by contrast, of late has seemed to ignore the interests of the Japanese Communists.

The Soviet Union, spurred by improving relations between Japan and China, has made a concerted drive for closer contacts with Japanese and American first-line businessmen.

In their eagerness for ties with the United States and Japan, neither Moscow nor Peking has insisted that Tokyo break off its close military alliance with the United States.

These moves have left the Japanese Communist party with its anti-American and anticapitalist platforms crumbling — and with nowhere to go.

The signs were visible even before the Tanaka visit to China. Though the Japanese party is one of the oldest in Asia, and it was founded by the Comintern, its 50th anniversary celebrations this summer were marked by the absence of representatives from the Soviet and Chinese parties.

The Russian and Chinese moves have convinced Japanese Communist leaders they have been sold out to the national interests of the Russians and Chinese.

The party had been making some progress in recent years (after the debacle of 1955). Ad hoc coalitions between the Japanese Socialist party and the Japanese Communists in local polls had put their candidates into the governorships of all major cities.

But Communist attempts to broaden the front have failed and the socialists are approaching other groups to increase their own chances for power, with indications the Communists could be left out in the cold in the future.

ART BUCHWALD

A Junket

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when our congressmen and senators are traveling all over the world "investigating" things of utmost importance to the United States. There are some sportsmen, also known as taxpayers, who consider these trips junkets and a method of our lawmakers taking their wives on a much-needed vacation. But they are wrong.

Our legislators are dead serious when they take a trip abroad, and the nation receives great benefits from these overseas junkets.

I was at the airport the other day and ran into Sen. Ezra Bickering who was with his wife and a group of other senators and their wives, waiting for a plane to take them to the Caribbean.

Sen. Bickering was holding an underwater face mask, flippers and a snorkel in his hand.

"Where are you going, Senator?" I asked.

"Well," he replied, "as you know, I am chairman of the Senate subcommittee on snorkeling, and we are going to investigate snorkeling conditions in our Caribbean Defense Area."

"I didn't know snorkeling was a serious problem in the Caribbean," I said.

"That's where you have been misinformed. We have information that the Cubans have been snorkeling in our waters."

"They have?"

"With Soviet equipment," Sen. Bickering said. "An underwater mask with a Russian trademark washed up on the beach at St. Croix three weeks ago. We intend to hold hearings at this beach and get to the bottom of it."

"But surely if this is true the U.S. Navy can deal with the problem," I said.

Sen. Bickering became a little huffy. "My committee is charged with drawing up legislation for snorkeling. The American people must be informed of the laxity of our snorkeling laws and they also must be alerted to the dangers of foreigners snorkeling in our waters. This is not a joy ride, boy. This is serious business."

"I can see that, Senator. If it is true that the Cubans have been snorkeling in American waters, what do you intend to do about it?"

"We're not certain," Sen. Bickering said. "That is why, after we hold our hearing at St. Croix, we're going on to Jamaica, Barbados and Martinique."

"We want to see how other countries are dealing with their snorkeling problems. Once we gather enough information we hope to draft a snorkeling treaty with all the Caribbean countries."

"It sounds to me," I said, "as if you're going to be pretty busy for the next months."

"There isn't a man on my committee who wouldn't rather have taken a vacation instead. But when I raised the question on the snorkel gap in the Caribbean and what it could mean to us in terms of the Monroe Doctrine, they all canceled their plans and agreed that this trip had first priority."

"But won't you have any fun at all?" I asked.

"I doubt it. We'll be snorkeling all day and holding meetings in the evenings. I may try to give the committee members a day off for shopping, but only if we get our work done."

"Why are you taking your wives?"

"They can entertain the wives of foreign snorkelers while we're in session."

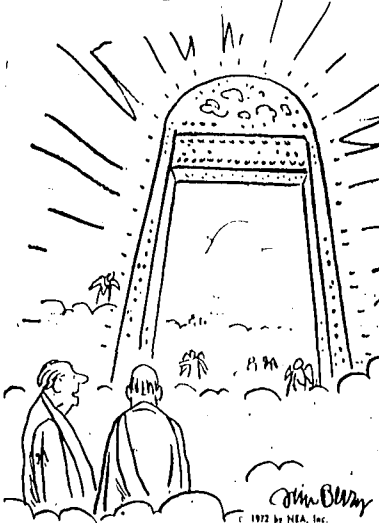

"One last question. Will you hold any hearings on 'scuba diving'?"

"No, Sen. Drakebill heads the subcommittee on scuba diving. He's there at Gate 24 waiting for a plane to take his committee to Tahiti."

Revenue sharing said city chance

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — President Nixon told the nation's mayors in a statement Tuesday that revenue sharing finally gave them the opportunity to solve their own problems and "it is up to you to score."

The statement was read to mayors and other municipal officials from all 50 states by Mayor Sam Massell of Atlanta, president of the National League of Cities, at the 49th Congress of Cities.

In addition, the Resolutions Committee of the congress adopted policy statements calling for gun control legislation and intensified efforts to halt skyjacking.

Nixon's three-page letter told the municipal leaders they would start reaping the fruits of the five-year, $30 billion revenue sharing program next month when the first checks are sent out.

"This new money can mean that state and local governments finally have a chance to put the ball in play and take the offensive to solve their own problems in their own way," Nixon said. "Now that you have the ball, it is up to you to score with it...."

"By proving quickly and decisively that the revenue sharing principle really works, we can block any attempts to vitiate this principle on the part of those who still believe that Washington bureaucrats know better than the people at the grassroots."

"Some solid initial successes for general revenue sharing would also be the most persuasive argument which we could present for prompt congressional action on our further agenda to revitalize the federal system...."

One approved resolution said there were "indications of a serious reduction in the federal programs now assisting state and local government." It asked that revenue sharing "remain a vehicle for fiscal relief of cities" and that the program not become "merely a reshuffling of federal funds."

USSR seeks double meet

HELSINKI (UPI) — The Soviet Union today proposed a foreign ministers conference on European security to be called in Helsinki in June of next year with its decisions be endorsed by a summit meeting.

The Soviets made these proposals at the 34-nation Helsinki talks which are to prepare for the conference.

Soviet Ambassador Victor Maltsev, opening the debate, set out Russia's working program in a brief speech.

According to an unofficial translation of the Russian text the Soviet envoy suggested that the talks deal with "principles of relations between states in Europe" and a broadening of economic, scientific, technical and cultural relations between them, as well as with environmental problems.

He also suggested the creation of permanent organization for security and co-operation in Europe.

Europe. The West has already made known it is opposed to such a new top organization to control relations in Europe in the future.

"Our delegation thinks the conference should take place as soon as possible in 1973, for instance in June, and the place should be Helsinki," the Soviet envoy said.

Maltsev listed the following three points for the agenda of the conference proper:

—Assuring the European Security and dealing with the principles of relations between states in Europe.

—Broadening of equal trade relations, economic, scientific, technical and cultural relations as well as cooperation in the domain of preserving the environment.

—Discussing the problem of creating a permanent organ for security and cooperation in Europe.

Students charged in school shooting

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Three 16-year-old Pontiac Central High School students described by police as "dissatisfied with their school system" have been charged in connection with a schoolyard shooting of five students.

The three, whose names were withheld because they are juveniles, were arrested Tuesday as police investigated a Monday shooting spree which left one student hospitalized in fair condition following removal of a bullet-damaged kidney.

One youth suspected of doing the shooting surrendered to police after he was identified by several student witnesses from school yearbook pictures. He was held at the Oakland County Children's Village on $10,000 bond, charged with assault and attempt to commit murder pending a Dec. 13 hearing before a probate judge.

Reagan OK's tot classes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan signed a bill Tuesday paving the way for 3-year-olds to enter public school in California.

The $25 million bill, designed by State Schools Chief Wilson Hiles to "revitalize" early childhood education, calls for public preschool education to begin in the 1975-76 school year for children who have reached the age of 3 years, 9 months.

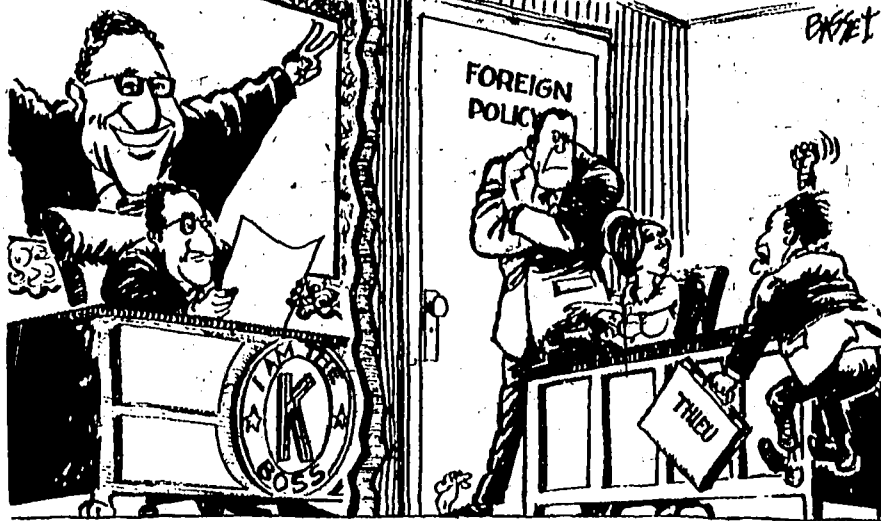

But the legislature will be required to reapprove the provision beginning public schooling a year younger before it goes into effect. Youngsters of 4 years, 9 months at the start of the school year can presently enroll in kindergarten.

The measure will emphasize innovative teaching techniques in kindergarten through grade three starting in the 1973-74 school year, with a goal of providing tailor-made instruction for every child.

It is designed to put more emphasis on reading and math, closer evaluation of student program, more classroom freedom for pupils and increased use of parents and aides to help teachers.

Cong say S. Viets pressed

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Viet Cong accused the Nixon administration Tuesday of influencing the South Vietnamese government to oppose the peace terms reached by North Vietnam and the United States.

The accusation came in a commentary by Gialphon Press Agency broadcast today by China's official New China News Agency.

"The Nixon administration is playing a farce in delaying the signing of the agreement on ending the U.S. war of aggression and restoring peace in Vietnam, and instigating the puppet Nguyen Van Thieu to oppose the terms agreed upon by the government of the United States," it said.

"On U.S. orders, Thieu has stepped up repression and persecution in the areas still under the U.S.-puppet control, secretly murdered those in urban centers who struggle for peace and national concord and barbarously carried out massive killing of patriots and peace advocates illegally detained by him."

Aides score police actions

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Three Negro military officers who teach ROTC at all-black Southern University testified Tuesday that police who advanced on students a week ago, in a clash that killed two youths, were unorganized, belligerent and fired directly at students.

"They were acting as individuals without any apparent leadership," said Navy Lt. James Bowen. "Their guns were pointed directly at the students."

The testimony was given to an unofficial panel of prominent blacks, mostly from outside Louisiana, who are investigating the buckshot deaths of two Southern students Nov. 6.

The panel gathered evidence Monday and Tuesday and then adjourned, saying its conclusions would be released in about two weeks.

Meanwhile, the state's official investigating group, a 12-member biracial committee headed by Attorney General William Guste, took the day off today. Guste said during private testimony Monday and Tuesday, about 95 persons testified. More witnesses have been called to testify Thursday. Bowen, Navy Cmdr. Harold Walton and Army Maj. Leon Jackson, all military science professors at Southern, told the all-black panel they saw sheriff's deputies and state police rush the school's administration building in an effort to flush out the students.

Magee acting up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Quentin convict Russell Magee, who has spent all but six months of the past 16 years behind bars, ranted and whistled and tried to walk out of court Tuesday while jury selection in his murder trial got underway.

Jury selection is expected to last about four weeks. Among the prospective jurors questioned Tuesday were:

—A barker at a topless-bottomless bar in North Beach who wanted to serve but had already decided Magee was guilty.

—A retired hotel employee who wanted to bring her bird along if the jury was locked up because the pet had just learned to talk.

—A divorcee who lives with her bail bondsman boyfriend and didn't want to serve because she would be separated too long from her 5-year-old child.

Magee, 32, is charged with murder and kidnapping in the 1970 Marin County courthouse shootout that left a judge and three other men dead. Black radical Angela Davis, a former UCLA philosophy professor, was tried and acquitted of similar charges earlier this year.

Newdams opposed in Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — A majority of Idahoans appear to object to another dam on the middle Snake River but are open-minded on the question if sufficient need can be shown, a survey indicated Tuesday.

L. E. "Erny" Johnson of E. Johnson & Associates, Boise, presented the finding as one of several in a report to the Idaho Water Resource Board.

Johnson said he found strong objection, especially in northern Idaho, toward building another dam on the middle Snake.

Yet he said there also appears to be a great deal of indecision on the subject of dams and many are open to the question of sufficient need can be established.

— In other findings based on the study he reported:

- More than 70 per cent believe water pollution is a problem in Idaho, with the Clearwater region the most outspoken on this point.
- 52 per cent of the state's farm population believes more sagebrush land should be put under irrigation in Idaho as compared with 46 per cent of the general public statewide.
- Nearly one-half of the people support contributing some or all of the proposed additional 484 miles of stream to the national wild and scenic rivers act.

Union fails to reverse decision

NEW YORK (UPI) — The union representing performers and newsmen at CBS-TV failed Tuesday in an attempt to reverse a court injunction blocking some of its members from honoring picket lines of striking technicians.

Appellate Supreme Court Justice Theodore Kaufman denied a motion by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) to stay the injunction obtained last week by CBS.

However, Kaufman ordered AFTRA and CBS to submit briefs on the matter and set a tentative hearing for Dec. 6.

"Pending the new court action the situation for AFTRA people remains the same, they will stay on their jobs," said a spokesman for the union, which represents 1,200 CBS employees.

The injunction was obtained by CBS last Tuesday an hour before an AFTRA walkout deadline and prevented newsmen with individual contracts with the network, including Eric Sevareid and Walter Cronkite, from respecting International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) picket lines.

'Blue laws'

UTICA, N. Y. (UPI) — New York state's "blue laws" forbid the sale of virtually anything on Sundays except perishable food.

Last Sunday, members of a citizens group which demands the enforcement of blue laws, went into several stores and bought, among other things, toilet paper and gloves, said Mrs. Clara Davis, a leader of the group.

For selling such items, the managers of four chain stores were arrested, police said.

Jean Peters acts again

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jean Peters began work Monday in her first acting role since she married Howard Hughes 15 years ago.

Miss Peters was supported in secluded luxury during her marriage to the secretive billionaire. The marriage ended in divorce in January, 1970, and with Hughes' blessing she married movie executive Stanley Hough. She began working Monday on the videotaping of "Winesburg, Ohio," taken from Sherwood Anderson's novel.

Black panel takes testimony

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A Southern University student leader Tuesday told an all-black commission investigating the deaths of two black students during the Nov. 10 "champus" clash that students had permission to occupy the administration building shortly before police stormed it with tear gas.

"There wasn't any fear at all," Nathaniel Howard, one of the protest leaders, said. "No doors were blocked. No one ever asked us to leave the building."

Southern President G. Leon Netterville said he was going to see about (the arrests of some students). We requested permission to remain until we got an answer and he approved it," the student said.

Howard's statements came as the "Black People's Committee of Inquiry" began its second day of unofficial hearings into the deaths of Denver A. Smith and Leonard D. Brown, both 20. The dead students were killed by what the coroner believes were buckshot pellets.

Across town behind locked and guarded doors, the state's official 12-member biracial commission, headed by Attorney General William Guste, spent most of the morning taking testimony from Dr. Netterville. Guste said all testimony would remain secret, but released a statement saying the panel had "made great strides and was very satisfied with the progress at the conclusion of (Monday's) hearing."

Guste said about 85 persons have been interviewed.

WELLS, Nev. — A horse cutting clinic will be conducted in Wells Dec. 9 by Jim Simpson, Jerome.

The clinic will be a new feature of the 1973 Parade of Stallions at Wells, according to Jim Simpson, chairman.

It will include a demonstration of cutting techniques and personal instruction for those who wish to bring their own horses.

Simpson will be assisted with the clinic by Noel Skinner, mounted on the Appaloosa stallion, "Vegas Chips" owned by the L-K Ranch, Kaysville, Utah. The stallion's services have been donated to the "Kings Row" auction.

Thayne Lancaster, Filer, will also conduct a clinic at the horse meet on conditioning, halter and showmanship.

Other events include a noon potluck buffet luncheon, the parade at 1 p.m., with announcer Thayne Lancaster, and the first annual Kings Row Stallion service auction at 6 p.m. with auctioneer Jake Reed, Spring Creek, Nev. A demonstration on how to start a green colt in one hour or less will be given by Don Oberg, Santaquin, Utah.

Entry forms for the affair can be obtained by writing to 1973 Parade of Stallions, P. O. Box 1385, Elko, Nov. 89801.

ASC election ballots due in office Friday

TWIN FALLS — It's time for Twin Falls County farmers to vote for ASC community committeemen, Carl Boyd, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said today.

Ballots were mailed Nov. 21, and must be properly voted and returned to the county ASC office by Friday to be counted, Boyd said.

Votes will be tabulated publicly by the county committee at 1 p.m. Monday in the ASCS county office. Anyone regardless of race, color, creed, sex or national origin may view the counting.

Each of the seven ASC communities will vote its own slate of nominees. Separate slates of nominees and voting instructions have been mailed to every known eligible voter in each community.

Each farmer may vote for not more than three candidates in the ASC election. He may select up to three of the candidates listed, or he may write in his choices on the lines provided at the bottom of the ballot.

ASC community committeemen are elected for one-year, to begin Jan. 1. Boyd said, "It's important that farmers elect representatives and qualified farmer-neighbors for community committee posts. These community committees elect the county committee and choose its officers. They also help keep farmers in their communities informed on how individual farm operations will be affected by farm programs administered by the county committee."

The major ASCS programs in Twin Falls County are rural environmental assistance program; wheat and feed grain programs; sugarbeet program; wool program; commodity and storage facility loan programs; beekeeper indemnity program.

'Outmoded' Kimberly sewage treatment plant

TF and Kimberly sewer system joining aired

While projected costs for the construction of the various systems range from $430,000 for the lagoon system to $266,000 for the sprinkler system, varying maintenance costs act to equalize the total user fees to Kimberly residents.

Monthly user fees are estimated to run between $3.70 and $3.50 for all systems for the first three years after construction and from $2.70 to $2.50 thereafter.

These are preliminary cost estimates only, but, no matter what alternative is finally chosen, the cost to Kimberly residents should in no case exceed the current $4 fee, according to John Straubhaar, consulting engineer, of J-U-B Engineers, Inc., Twin Falls.

The decision to pursue a tie-up with the Twin Falls sewer system is based on what officials on both ends see as natural advantages.

First, both the EPA and the state health department favor a linking of municipalities into a central treatment facility.

"Economically, it's the thing to do," says Twin Falls City Manager Jean Milar. "Whenever you can avoid a duplication of services, it's a saving to the taxpayer."

Second, Kimberly could scrap its currently outmoded treatment plant.

Third, the proposed trunkline would provide sewer facilities to the south and east of Twin Falls as residential and industrial construction expands in that direction, as it is bound to do. Fourth, it would not require the purchase of expensive farm land in the Kimberly area.

As envisioned, the trunkline to Twin Falls will proceed in a northerly direction from Kimberly following natural drainage, according to Straubhaar.

A 15-inch pipeline will be installed as far as Kimberly Road and thereafter an 18-inch line will run along Kimberly Road to Elizabeth Street, connecting with the Twin Falls system at the intersection of Addison Avenue East and the Perrine Coulee.

The cost of construction of the proposed trunkline is estimated at $330,000 to $350,000. After that Kimberly will pay user fees to the city of Twin Falls based upon gallons of flow.

Application has been made by Kimberly to the EPA for a grant which will pay 75 per cent of the construction costs, if approved. In addition, the state health department will likely pay 10 to 15 per cent of the construction costs.

This leaves an estimated $33,000 to $49,500 to be raised by the city of Kimberly through the issuance of revenue bonds, which requires an election.

The bonds would be retired through a percentage of user fees and would not increase fees to Kimberly residents, according to Straubhaar.

Costs to the city of Twin Falls for treatment of the additional sewage will run about eight per cent above current levels, according to City Manager Milar, well within the capacities of the existing treatment facilities.

There will be no additional costs to Twin Falls residents. Kimberly will pay the increase out of its user fees.

Everything is still in the planning stage and actual construction of the trunkline faces several impediments. The city of Kimberly is now drawing up a payment proposal which must be approved by the Twin Falls City Council. Rights-of-way for the laying of the trunkline may require legal delays.

In addition, EPA and state health department funding is uncertain. According to public health engineer Jerry Yoder, EPA faces a possible funding shortage and will likely operate on a priority basis, with Kimberly's position yet to be determined.

The same goes for state health department funds.

"It will be at least six months and probably longer before a grant offer is made," says Yoder.

Kimberly is due to make a formal proposal to the Twin Falls City Council soon, possibly at the meeting on Dec. 4. Until the details are worked out, Kimberly must rely on its currently outmoded system.

"We want to finish as fast as we can," says Mayor Nebeker.

2 incumbents seek CSI posts

TWIN FALLS — Two incumbent board members have formally filed for reelection to the College of Southern Idaho Board of Trustees.

John Hepworth, a Buhl attorney, and John Coleman, a Twin Falls lawyer, formally submitted their filing petitions at the college Tuesday, three days before the Dec. 1 filing deadline.

Hepworth, who is seeking a two-year term on the board, was active in the original election that established the college district eight years ago. He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late James H. Shields.

Coleman, running for a six-year term, has served on the board since the school's inception.

The trustees' action brings to four the number of announced candidates for the Dec. 19 election. Earlier, a student Stanley Wachstetter and former student body president Leon Wright had filed their candidacy papers.

Wachstetter, in declaring his candidacy, charged the current board of directors of being a "rubber stamp" for college

Hepworth declined to respond directly to the charges, although he said, "It's very good others are showing interest. I think it's very healthy and I hope it continues, frankly."

Two years ago, the last trustee election drew a total of 209 votes cast in Twin Falls and Jerome County, according to business officer Herbert Van Slyke, in charge of the election at the school.

And Hepworth also gave his strong support to the job being done by Taylor and the administration at the school.

"I have great confidence in our administration," he said, "and I make no pretense about being able to run the daily operations of a junior college."

"I'm very proud of what has been accomplished, and it will continue to be good whether I am on the board or not, frankly," the trustee said.

And although the college has requested that the state take up an increasing load of the funding burden for academic programs, Hepworth said he would have reservations about 100 per cent state funding of the programs.

'Hall of Fame' honors slated

TWIN FALLS — Two Magic Valley men are among five in Idaho named to the "Water Guardian Hall of Fame" by Idaho water users.

Charles Marshall, Jerome, and the late Glenn Simmons, who lived in Burley, will be honored Thursday in Boise by the Idaho Water Users Association Inc. at an awards dinner.

Len Jordan, retiring U. S. Senator from Idaho, Harold Nelson, Boise, and the late Lynn Crandall, who lived in Idaho Falls, will also be inducted into the hall of fame.

The awards are given in recognition for the men's efforts in conserving, utilizing, and protecting Idaho's water resources.

Marshall is an irrigation farmer as well as owner of business ventures associated with agricultural products.

He is an officer in several canal companies and has served the state of Idaho as a Water Resource Board member since 1964.

Simmons, until his death, lived in Burley. He worked with the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation for 38 years. Most of this time was spent in Idaho and in the upper Snake River Valley.

His last six years were spent as the superintendent of the Minidoka Project with water storage and release responsibilities on the Snake River from Jackson Lake to Milner Dam.

Additional awards were given are the "Water Guardian 1972" and "Water Guardian Company 1972."

Several hundred delegates are expected to attend the three-day annual conference of the Idaho Water Users Association.

Strike causes reduced variety

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Local supermarkets are offering a reduced variety of baked goods as the result of a West Coast baker's strike.

The strike against ITT Continental Baking Co., now in its third week in West Coast states, has resulted in reduced shipments locally of cakes and variety items, but according to market managers, has had only a minimal effect on the flow of staple white bread.

ITT's area manager, Gary Peterson, who two weeks ago predicted the strike would have a diminishing effect locally as more and more production lines were reopened, has moved to Ogden, Utah, a company distribution point, for the duration of the strike, according to a local spokesman.

The assistant manager at Albertson's Food Center in Twin Falls, Greg Roland, said today the store was "getting just white breads, and we're starting to get a few cakes."

But, he added, there is virtually no variety in the Continental goods being delivered. The shipments he is receiving at the store, he said, "are usually enough to get us by."

Dale Ford, Shelby's manager in Twin Falls, agreed with Roland, saying "We're out of a few items that Continental bakes, but they're still able to supply the main bread."

Ford added his store was receiving "a few fruit pies and Twinkies," but had not been getting any chocolate items.

Buttery's Stores are being affected only in their stock of "variety items," according to assistant manager Bill Bower.

Condition critical

BOISE — Darla Ruzicka, 15, Wendell, is still listed in critical condition today in a Boise hospital following an automobile accident Saturday.

Hospital officials at St. Alphonsus Hospital said she is still in the intensive care unit after being transferred from Gooding Memorial Hospital Monday.

'Interim' water plan outlined

By RICHARD G. HIGH Times-News managing editor
TWIN FALLS — A traveling team outlined Tuesday night the 265-page "preliminary report" of the Idaho Water Resource Board's "Interim" state water plan.

The traveling members of the water board's staff, buttressed by federal representatives, spent more than two hours flipping through neatly lettered colored charts, a color movie-halling the water as Idaho's "vital essence," and eight-foot-high maps to summarize the contents of the "preliminary" interim report.

The audience of about 60 persons was then asked to express itself. But unlike reported earlier informational meetings by the water board traveling team, there was limited substantive discussion. Particularly, the meeting lacked the earlier heated exchanges between environmentalists and persons supporting development.

The tenor of the few remarks Tuesday generally supported development of water resources.

A few people got the chance to fill out questionnaires designed to relay citizen opinions to the water board.

Unfortunately, according to Warren Reynolds, economics chief of the board's staff, the board was running short of copies, so only a few could be handed out.

Earlier, Reynolds discussed the competing uses that the board's staff had attempted to take into consideration in its report.

Policy issues requiring resolution include:

Development vs. preservation, public land use, the future of Bear River negotiations, wild and scenic rivers, the Middle Snake, threats of diversion, the Winters doctrine (which gives Indian reservations the right to use as much water as is needed for their agricultural or industrial development.)

The Reservation Doctrine (requiring use of enough water to develop federal lands, and in-stream water uses (including needs for fish, and questions of minimum flow).

Reynolds stressed the problems facing the Upper Snake River Basin, repeatedly discussing the land development and recreational pressures on water in the Sun Valley - Ketchum area.

He said there was a "wave of people" coming into the Sun Valley area, which "certainly" will see "greater impact" on water resources in that area.

He said one problem is the 35 per cent reduction in storage capacity at American Falls Reservoir.

He said the 600,000 acre-foot reduction in storage there will require earlier drawdowns from the Jackson Lake Reservoir in Wyoming and Pallasades Reservoir in Idaho.

During questioning, Reynolds said efforts to present a balanced report between development and environmental viewpoints were hampered because of a lack of preliminary work and earlier studies on environmental and recreational topics.

"The fact is that there just has not been planning studies on recreation, water quality and fish and game aspects of Idaho."

As an example, he said, the Idaho Fish and Game Department had only recently established a planning branch.

Fog disperser

CALDWELL, N.J. (UPI) — Auto air conditioning in the winter may sound about as unnecessary as carrying coals to Newcastle, but it can be of real service to the driver.

"The quickest way to clear up fogged windshields in your automobile is to turn on the air conditioning system," advises Thomas J. Nagle, who heads Scovill's General Hose and Coupling operation here.

He adds that a shot of dehumidified cool air will clear every window in the car within 30 seconds at any time of year — if you have the courage to turn on your air conditioner when it is below freezing outside.

Power outage

TWIN FALLS — An unidentified motor vehicle hit a power pole guy line last night at 156 Austin St., causing a power failure in the northwest section of the city.

Police report the vehicle, possibly a white Chrysler last seen on Addison Avenue West, struck the guy line to the power pole causing the overhead wires to come together and burn out.

According to an Idaho Power Co. official 892 customers, including Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, were without power for 11 minutes.

An additional 890 customers were without electricity for 34 minutes, and 60 customers were blacked out for an hour and 32 minutes before repairs were completed.

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital's services were interrupted only momentarily by the failure. The hospital's emergency generator went into operation within nine seconds of the blackout.

Solons oppose increase

Editor's note: This is the third of several dispatches, previewing some of the issues confronting the 42nd Idaho Legislature. Today: School finances.)

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Those who favor 100 per cent state financing of the public schools have their work cut out for them at the next session of the legislature.

If answers to a pre-legislative questionnaire from UPI offer any guidelines lawmakers who favor such funding, those who do not and those who are undecided are about evenly split.

But responses to the questionnaire do offer a definite answer to the question posed by the state board of education when it called for a $27 million increase in state aid next year.

Only 14 per cent said they felt they could go along with an increase of that size—and even some of those said they would have to be given ample justification.

Answers to the survey made it pretty clear the legislators are concerned about the tax burden carried by their constituents and in no way want to add to that burden. Some even are leery of shifting the burden from one area to another.

"I favor the concept," Rep. Marion Davidson, D - Bonners Ferry, said of the 100 per cent funding proposal, "but the state should move into this area gradually."

Rep. Angus Condie, R-Prentiss, was even more cautious. "At this point in time it appears it is wise to wait until the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled on this question (whether property tax funding of schools is constitutional)," he said.

"I cannot accept 100 per cent funding until I see the legislation," Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, said. "What will be its revenue structure? What effect will it have on local government in the way of taxes, and controls?"

Rep-elect Norma Bodler, D-Moscow, said she favors the concept and would vote for it by "raising either sales tax or income tax." She said this would allow some property tax relief and "better equalization of educational opportunity in relation to tax burden."

But Rep. Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, said that while "all of this sounds great" the legislature must remember "You and I pay no matter how it is accomplished."

"Elimination of the property tax sounds great but I haven't found anyone who can figure out where the tax needed would come from," Andersen said. "The state can't support the schools unless the taxes are shifted—but from where?"

Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, had an answer for that one. "With revenue sharing monies available there seems little need for additional taxation," Murphy said.

"Yes, I favor 100 per cent funding because I think it is the fair way to fund education," Sen. H. Dean Summers, R-Boise, said, adding he would accomplish this "by plugging the loopholes in the present tax structure."

But Rep. Lloyd Dunn, R-Georgetown, said he does not. "In theory I favor local participation of about 50 per cent in the funding of public schools," Dunn said.

Utah manhunt called off

VERNAL, Utah (UPI) — Authorities have called off an intensive search in the Bookcliff mountains of eastern Utah for two men wanted for killing a 21-year-old Vernal man and raping a young woman.

But Uintah County Sheriff Arden Stewart said he would maintain roadblocks and question all strangers in an attempt to catch the men who shot Greg Nickell and burned his body.

For two days the manhunt centered in the hills near the little mining town of Bonanza 50 miles south of here, where a car matching the description of one driven by the killers was reported.

"We covered the area pretty good from the air and land both," the sheriff said. "I'm now quite sure they're not down there."

Stewart said an autopsy report showed Nickell was shot twice in the head, once in the neck, and once in the rib cage. Four .22 caliber bullets were recovered from his charred body.

Nickell was slain early Sunday while parked at a scenic overlook on U.S. Highway 40 with Ranelle Stanger, 18, Twin Falls, Idaho.

His car was taken to a remote country road and set on fire with his body inside. The girl was raped by both men before being turned loose near Duchesne.

The sheriff said he had picked up several suspects for questioning, but Miss Stanger did not recognize any of them.

Blaine adopts defense plan

HAILEY — The Blaine County School board, meeting in regular session Tuesday evening, tentatively adopted a civil defense plan.

The plan outlines action to be followed by school personnel in the event of a disaster. The plan will be submitted to the Idaho Department of Education for approval.

The board heard reports from acting Supt. Ray Jefferson and study co-ordinator Walter Housel who attended the recent Idaho Trustees Association meeting. Jefferson discussed the final report of the department of education committee on school finance and re-organization.

In other business, the board approved the district's financial audit for the year 1971-72 and approved publication of the district policy manual.

Requests involving transportation of students in the Eagle Creek, Smiley Creek and Carey areas were discussed.

Feds try to avoid jury trial of Seven

CHICAGO (UPI) — The government asked Monday that contempt of court charges be imposed against the Chicago Seven defendants and their lawyers be reduced.

U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson asked U.S. District Court Judge Edward T. Gignoux to dismiss "all but the most flagrant" contempt counts.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman had found the seven defendants and their two lawyers in contempt following a tumultuous, five-month trial on charges of conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Hoffman handed down sentences ranging from two months and 18 days to four years and 13 days.

All seven defendants were found innocent on conspiracy charges, but five were found guilty of crossing state lines to incite rioting. Last week the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned the riot convictions, but left the door open for a retrial.

Last May, the appeals court also ordered a retrial of the contempt charges, specifying that Hoffman could not be the judge. But Gignoux recently approved a motion by Thompson to limit maximum jail terms for contempt to 177 days to avoid the necessity of jury trials. Under law, a contempt sentence longer than six months requires a jury trial.

The government wants to avoid jury trials so it will not be forced to reveal wiretap evidence used in gaining the riot convictions.

Thompson's motion Monday

asked the court to dismiss all but eight of 24 contempt counts against attorney William M. Kunstler and all but five of 15 counts against attorney Leonard I. Weinglass.

For the seven defendants he asked the court to let stand: 11 of the original 32 contempt counts against David Dellinger; five of the original 23 against Rennie Davis; three of the original 11 against Tom Hayden; seven of the original 24 against Abbie Hoffman; six of the original 15 against Jerry Rubin; three of the original seven against Lee Weiner; and three of the original 10 against John Froines.

Thompson said under the counts he sought to retain, both lawyers and four of the defendants could be sentenced to the 177 days if found guilty.

Sweet revenge

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — A jealous husband was arraigned on charges of ripping telephone receivers out of public phone booths, officials said today.

Walter P. Harper, 32, told Marin County sheriff's deputies he vandalized the booths because his wife ran off with a Pacific Telephone Co. employee.

Inmates want long hair, mustaches

DETROIT (UPI) — A Michigan prisoner has filed a suit to allow male inmates to wear long hair, beards and mustaches.

The suit claims that requiring short haircuts and shaves in the prison is discriminatory and against historical tradition.

"Long hair, beards, mustaches and goatees are as ancient as Methuselah," the suit said.

The suit filed Nov. 15 by George Nawrocki, an inmate of Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson, and made public Monday, named the state department of corrections as plaintiff and asked for a reversal in grooming regulations immediately.

"Women are not compelled to cut their long hair while in prison so why should discriminatory standards be used against men," the suit said.

The class action suit was assigned to U.S. District Judge Cornelia Kennedy, the court's only woman judge.

The United States produced 340,000 tons of nails in 1971.

Librarian appointed

RICHFIELD — Appointment of a new librarian for the Richfield Library District was made at a special library trustees meeting Monday afternoon at the library.

Mrs. Burl Atkins was appointed to fill the vacancy that will be created when Mrs. Ken Dixon moves from the community in January.

The choice was made from a list of ten persons who applied for the position.

Mrs. Atkins will begin work at the library this week for a training period before her official duties begin.

Board Chairman Mrs. Clifford Dayley stated that the board was pleased with the library position and asked that the board secretary write thank-you letters to all applicants.

Mrs. Dixon has worked as librarian since the spring of 1968 just a few months after the district was formed.

Circulation of books and services at the library have increased during this period and now library services of all kinds are offered all Richfield residents through the Region 4 Reference Center Library in Twin Falls.

Large print and ultra print books, talking books, phonograph records, films and both mini and full size art prints are available to patrons, Mrs. Dayley said.

She reported the first talking book machine was placed in a Richfield home this week.

The patrons will be eligible to get talking books through the state library in Boise. This is a free service to the blind or physically handicapped of Idaho, she said.

Library hours are from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday and Thursday.

Sailplane fliers have made nonstop flights up to 875 miles.

Appaloosa horse owners file suit

DENVER (UPI) — Two horse owners have filed a $101,295 suit in U.S. District Court charging the Appaloosa Horse Club, Inc., and its secretary with discrimination because it cancelled their horses' registration papers.

Laurence E. Ellis of Loveland, Colo., and E.H. Lane III of Virginia filed their suit Monday, saying the club rescinded the registrations two days before they were to race in the 1972 World Wide Appaloosa Futurity Race at Albuquerque, N.M.

George Hatley, the club secretary, withdrew the papers contending the horses lacked sufficient color to be classified as Appaloosas.

The two owners say that without the papers, the worth of their horses is substantially reduced, that they cannot be exhibited or raced in Appaloosa events, and that they have only nominal value for breeding.

Ellis said the market value of his horse, Miss Saber Charge, is $20,000 with the registration papers but only $1,000 without it.

Lane contends his horse, Woodline, is worth $25,000 with the papers and $2,000 without.

In their suit, the two men asked that the club be forced to recognize the horses as Appaloosas and allow them to race or pay the full market value of the animals.

Ellis also is asking for $60,000 in punitive damages from Hatley and the club. Lane wants $75,000 in punitive damages.

Anti-skyjacking aired by pilots

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Anti-skyjacking procedures emerged as one of the main agenda items of the week-long 22nd biennial meeting of the board of directors of the Air Line Pilots Association.

The session got under way at the Sahara Hotel Monday with a report by ALPA president John O'Donnell.

"We have marshalled the attention of world bodies, our legislature and the regulatory agencies," O'Donnell said. "Though we have seen our efforts rewarded by awakening action in Congress and at the international civil aviation organization level, we have not yet seen adequate solutions developed and implemented to end skyjackings and extortion threats to our industry and our lives."

He said the entire industry and segments of the world community were in a complete state of "inaction and lethargy" though there has been "much conversation" about the problem.

"One is coming effectively to grips with the problem," he said. "Strong action is imperative."

On Wednesday O'Donnell and Capt. Tom Ashwood, chairman of ALPA's international flight security committee, will present a report on proposed ALPA action concerning flight security.

The proposal, if approved by the directors, includes a complete course of action.

Copper magnates meet

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Four of the world's leading copper-producing nations are attending a special conference here to combat "economic or commercial aggression" against their sales of the red metal.

The Inter-Governmental Committee of Copper-Exporting Nations met against the background of court action by the Kennecott Corp. against payment on Chilean copper shipments to France and Sweden.

Technicians from Chile, Peru, Zambia and Zaire conferred at the opening session of the week-long meeting Monday. Ministerial-level deliberations will begin Wednesday, with a speech by President Salvador Allende.

Copper is Chile's main export, accounting for more than 80 per cent of its hard currency earnings. The four committee members control 60 per cent of the world's copper exports.

The committee was formed in 1966 and ordinarily meets every two years. Conferees at the panel's regular session in Paris last month called the Santiago conference to study "establishment of a permanent mechanism of protection and solidarity against economic or commercial aggression aimed at a member nation."

Kennecott secured the embargo on payment in France of a Chilean copper shipment and has started similar action in Sweden. The U.S. firm acted to press its claim for indemnification for copper properties nationalized in July, 1971.

Award winners

MAGIC VALLEY COACHES of the year for football were honored by the Fourth District Coaches association Tuesday night. Jim Johnson, left, earned the A-2 and A-3 classification prize in guiding his Murtaugh Red Devils to a 9-1 year and a victory in a post-season playoff against Grace. Ed Peterson won the A-1 and A-2 prize for coaching the Jerome Tigers to a 9-2 record, including nine straight wins.

Majors, Switzer, Stolz mentioned as key candidates for Michigan State

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Sources in and around Michigan State Tuesday listed Iowa State Coach Johnny Majors, Oklahoma assistant Barry Switzer and MSU assistant Denny Stolz as three of the main contenders for the head football coaching job left vacant by the retirement of Duffy Daugherty.

Athletic Director Burt Smith continued to refuse to name the people under consideration, saying only the selection process is "right on schedule." Smith wants to name the new coach prior to the Spartan football banquet Dec. 12.

"On the weekend of Dec. 8, we will have three or four of the top prospects on campus," he said. "We will make the final decision soon after that."

The Lansing State Journal quoted sources in Des Moines and in Tulsa, Okla., as saying Smith met with Majors during a trip he made last weekend to interview prospects.

Majors, reached in Ames, said "I will make no comment on anything like that this week. I have no comment whatsoever, I'm not interested in discussing that."

The Cyclones have a game Saturday with San Diego State and will appear in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 18 and Majors said those games are "very important to me and the players."

Stolz has been known to be under consideration for the post and Switzer's name surfaced in several reports in Lansing and Detroit Tuesday.

Smith said he will make one more trip this weekend to talk to a potential successor to Duffy Daugherty, who resigned. He would not confirm talking to either Switzer or Majors.

"Both teams still have games left and any comment on that would have to come from them," he said.

Smith stopped in Norman, Okla., on his trip last weekend and it originally had been believed he talked with Oklahoma head Coach Chuck Fairbanks, a graduate of MSU. Fairbanks refused to comment on the reports Monday.

Majors has turned the Iowa State football program completely around, taking the Cyclones to their first bowl game ever last year and gaining them national ranking for the first time. Switzer has been the assistant coach in charge of the offense at Oklahoma since Fairbanks took over in 1967. Stolz is defensive coordinator at MSU, having been on the staff here for two years since leaving Alma College.

Strock is virtual winner of national collegiate total offense championship

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Strock of Virginia Tech closed out a brilliant career last Saturday against Wake Forest that all but cinched the total offense and passing championships, according to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Services.

Strock accumulated 3,170 yards in 11 games this season for an average of 288.2 yards per game and is far ahead of runnerup, Tony Adams of Utah State—George Amundson of Iowa State is the only man with a mathematical chance of catching Strock and he'll have to total an almost impossible 971 yards against San Diego State to do it.

In passing, Strock finished with a 20.7 completion average and only Mike Boryla of Stanford still stands on outside chance of beating that figure.

He'll have to complete 83 passes against Hawaii to beat out Strock. Not very likely.

Pete Van Valkenburg of Brigham Young took over the rushing lead as he raised his season average to 138.8 points per game. Close behind are Bob Hitchens of Miami, O., (137.0) and Wood Green of Arizona St. (136.3).

Harold Henson of Ohio State leads in scoring with 12 points per game but Southern California's Mike Rae can still catch him if he scores 39 points against Notre Dame.

Nate, Kings Top Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Nate Archibald, National Basketball Association's leading scorer, tallied 32 points, 18 of them in the third period Tuesday night, to lead the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 92-91 win over Chicago, knocking the Bulls out of first place in the Midwest Division.

The Bulls had the lead throughout the first half, which closed 45-39 for Chicago, but couldn't withstand Archibald's third period surge when he scored 12 points to put the Kings in front.

Archibald, also the league leader in assists, added 11 in that department during the game.

National collegiate football king to be decided Saturday

By United Press International
This is the weekend the UPI 1972 college football national champion is decided, and it might go right down to the last minute of the last quarter before the final verdict is known.

Southern California is currently ranked No. 1 and Alabama is No. 2, but both teams face tough foes Saturday who are capable of upsetting the two leaders and throwing the final ratings into a free-for-all.

Southern California, unbeaten in 10 games, entertains 10th-ranked Notre Dame (8-1) at Los Angeles and Alabama, also unbeaten in 10 contests, plays ninth-ranked Auburn (8-1) at Birmingham, Ala.

The Notre Dame-Southern Cal series has been highlighted by upsets in recent years.

Twice in the last eight years Southern California has spoiled Notre Dame's chances for an undefeated season. In 1964 Notre Dame had won its first nine games but lost to the Trojans, 20-17, and two years ago Notre Dame again was beaten by Southern Cal in its last game, 38-20, after winning its first nine games.

In 1968 the Trojans won their first nine games only to have

Notre Dame battle them to a 21-21 tie in their last game of the regular season.

The Alabama-Auburn series has been just as tight over the years. Alabama defeated the Tigers, 31-7, last year but the two clubs have split the last four games and the series stands 19-16-1 in favor of the Crimson Tide.

Our regional forecasters don't foresee either Southern Cal or Alabama losing their finale, but if both should happen to get beat then look for Oklahoma, ranked No. 3, to join the race for No. 1 honors next Monday.

Our regional forecasters this week are Fred McMane of New York (the East), David Moffit of Atlanta (the South), Charlie Smith of Kansas City (the Midlands), Mike Rabun of Dallas (the Southwest) and Joe Sargis of San Francisco (the Far West).

The East
Navy 27 Army 22—The Cadets have the better record, but the Middies play stiffer competition.

Boston College 22 Holy Cross 14 Eagles bottle up Joe Wilson.

The South
Alabama 31 Auburn 14—Second straight perfect season for the Crimson Tide, but only Notre Dame can make 'em No. 1.

Georgia Tech 14 Georgia 10—The Yellow Jackets have the better offense.

Florida 21 Miami (Fla.) 14—Nat Moore makes the difference.

LSU 24 Tulane 7—Bengals due to get fired up.

Tennessee 35 Vanderbilt 0—No contest.

The Midlands
Oklahoma 24 Oklahoma St. 7—The Sooners have too much at stake to lose this one.

The Southwest
SMU 17 TCU 8—Mustangs finish best season in four years to tie for second in Southwest Conference.

Baylor 18 Rice 16—Baylor coach Grant Teaff completes first season of rebuilding with a mild upset victory.

The Far West
Southern California 35 Notre Dame 27—Trojans prevail in a wild one.

Stanford 35 Hawaii 14—Cardinals care enough to close out disappointing season on winning note.

San Diego State 28 Iowa State 7—Aztecs wrap up 10-1 season.

Cougars drop Utah 120-109

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) —Ted McClain scored 12 of his 18 points in the last period to lead the Carolina Cougars over the Utah Stars 120-109 Tuesday night.

Utah overcame a 13-point lead in the second half to take the lead 89-88 early in the fourth quarter. Joe Caldwell scored to put the Cougars back on top and then McClain hit two straight layups to make it 94-89.

With less than a minute and a half remaining, McClain hit a pair of free throws, then stole the ball from Utah's Jimmy Jones and fed teammate Steve Jones for a layup to make it 116-107.

76ers snap loss spell

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) —John Q. Trapp, Kevin Loughery and Leroy Ellis powered Philadelphia to a 101-94 victory over the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night, ending the 76ers' six-game losing streak and giving Roy Rubin's team its second National Basketball Association triumph in 23 starts this season.

Loughery scored 17 of his 23 points in the second half. Trapp fired in 18 of his 21 points during the same stretch, and Ellis contributed 20 points, 10 in each half, as Philadelphia rallied from a 10-point deficit early in the third quarter. The 76ers grabbed the lead for good with three and a half minutes left in that period on a drive by Loughery, making it 70-69.

Ski group sets young development

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI) — Bob Beattie, former U.S. Olympic ski coach and commissioner of the National Standard Race (Nastar), said today that a national ski program will begin this winter to train and develop an estimated 20,000 American ski racers in the 18-year and under age bracket.

Beattie also is coordinator of the Pepsi-Cola Junior Nastar program that will operate at 80 ski locations and present youngsters with an opportunity to compare their speed and ability against national standards.

USC, two Big Eight schools put two men on all-America

CHICAGO (UPI) — Undeclared Southern California, the nation's top-ranked team, Nebraska and Oklahoma placed two men each on the All-American team selected by the Football Writers Association of America.

The 24-man team announced today is headed by Nebraska flanker Johnny Rodgers, generally conceded to be the leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy as the nation's top player. Nebraska also placed defensive lineman Rich Glover.

The Southern California players selected were tight end Charlie Young and defensive lineman John Grant. Oklahoma was represented by running back Greg Pruitt and center Tom Brahoney.

Florida State's Gary Huff was picked at quarterback.

Two sophomores were named to the 24-man squad—placekicker Ricky Townsend of Tennessee, who has made 26 straight extra points and 10 of 14 field goals, and defensive back Randy Rhyno of Georgia Tech.

The team also includes three juniors, all defensive players, lineman Bud Magrum of Colorado and linebackers Warren Capone of LSU and Randy Gradishar of Ohio State.

The complete team:
Offense:
Quarterback: Gary Huff, Florida State
Running backs: Greg Pruitt, Oklahoma; John Grant, Oklahoma
Wide receivers: Steve Holden, Arizona State; Johnny Rodgers, Nebraska
Tight ends: Tom Brahoney, Oklahoma; John Grant, Oklahoma
Placekicker: Ricky Townsend, Tennessee
Linebackers: Warren Capone, LSU; Randy Gradishar, Ohio State
Defensive back: Randy Rhyno, Georgia Tech
Florida State's Gary Huff was picked at quarterback.

Florida State stars top east picks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gary Huff of Florida State, who has passed for 48 touchdowns and 2,893 yards this season, and his favorite target—wide receiver Barry Smith—Tuesday topped a list of nine more players named to the East squad for the Dec. 30 Shrine East-West game.

Joining Huff at quarterback for the East will be Mike Wells of Illinois, who led the Illini to a late season surge of victories after missing the first four games because of injuries.

Otis Armstrong, Purdue's fine running back who rushed for more than 3,300 yards in his Boilermaker career, and Steve Jones of Duke, who has averaged more than 100 yards rushing per game over his three-year career, also were named to the East team, which now boasts as much scoring punch as any coach could hope for.

Safety Brad Pelt of Michigan State, 255-pound offensive tackle Paul Seymour of Michigan and 275-pound defensive lineman Dave Butz of Purdue were others named Tuesday.

That gives the East squad a total of 12 players named thus far with the remaining 16 to be announced next week. Previously named were linebackers Tom MacLeod of Minnesota, Mike Fulk of Indiana and Gail Clark of Michigan State.

The East will be coached this year by Carmen Cozza of Yale, Bo Schembechler of Michigan and Bob Blackman of Illinois.

West coaches are Dee Andros of Oregon State, Rudy Feldman of New Mexico and Bill Yeoman of Houston.

Don Fouts of Oregon and Ty Paine of Washington State are the West's quarterbacks and Shrine game general manager Ted Balliet called the matchup with Huff and Wells "one of the greatest we ever had and surely the best since Craig Morton vs. Roger Staubach."

Rip Engle of Penn State, player selection chairman for the East, called the acceptance of Huff and Wells "a real coup for us." Engle said Huff turned down an offer from the North-South game.

School aid funds due

BOISE (UPI) — The State Department of Education is anticipating some $200,000 in federal funds for handicapped children programs and has asked local school districts to plan programs in that area.

The money is expected from Title VI funds under the Education of All Handicapped Act for the next school year.

Dr. John Comba, director of special education, said the purpose of the grants is to assist local school districts in the initiation, expansion and improvement of programs and projects for the education of handicapped children at all levels.

"This includes the mentally retarded, hard of hearing, deaf, speech impaired, visually handicapped, seriously emotionally disturbed, crippled and other impaired children who require special attention," he said.

Comba said the department would give high priority to school districts with program requests calling for the inclusion of handicapped children not presently receiving service, improvement of instruction in existing services for handicapped children and services for low incidence handicapped conditions.

He added that letters of intent must be submitted to the Department of Education by Dec. 22. The department will conduct a workshop Jan. 23-24 to provide technical assistance to school districts in writing formal requests.

Three applicants who failed the August bar exam brought the suit against the Idaho Supreme Court, its individual members, the Idaho State Bar and officials of the bar.

Only 37 of the 86 persons who took the August examination received passing grades on it.

Congress appropriated $4 million for the purchase based on a price of about $300 an acre to acquire land to preserve the scenic area for recreation. The land had been appraised at $150-165 an acre but owners were reported getting offers of $300 an acre from private interests.

One owner reportedly subdivided his 28 acres and sold eight lots of 20,000 square feet each for a total of $45,000.

Gem court drops Lincoln appeal

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court Tuesday dismissed an appeal from Fifth District Court concerning the legality of dividing the interest in a sheep company in Lincoln County.

The appellants, Benita, Peto and Dolly Ogden, brought the suit after defendants Joe and Ben Ogden had certain disagreements. All the parties are shareholders in Ogden, Inc.

The plaintiffs sought to divide the assets of the "closely held corporation."

The Supreme Court ruled that the district court's order was unappealable.

On appeal, the plaintiffs contended that the district court erred in determining that a physical division of the properties of the company was not economically feasible.

Gem PUC retains Carver as expert

BOISE (UPI) — John A. Carver, former Boise attorney and member of the Federal Power Commission for six years, has been retained by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission as an "expert" consultant for its study of electric utility research-development programs.

PUC President Harry L. Nock announced that Carver, now a University of Denver law professor, will testify at a public hearing on the utility programs to be held by the commission in Boise, Dec. 4.

Carver is recognized as an expert in electric utility matters, Nock said.

The PUC said earlier in calling the hearing that expanded research and development by the electrical industry is necessary to avert a future electric energy shortage in the United States.

Carver, who practiced law in Boise for 10 years after World War II, served as administrative assistant to U.S.

Nampa boy, 10, killed

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Gregory Allen Hoppins, 10, died Tuesday night when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car on Lake Lowell Avenue.

Police said the accident occurred shortly after 6 p.m.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hoppins of Nampa.

Police identified the driver of the car as Keith R. Owens, 16, Nampa.

Officers said the boy was apparently riding in the center of the street. The street was not lighted and the bicycle did not have a light.

No citation was issued, police said.

OSHA 'weapon'

BOISE (UPI) — Provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act offer a powerful weapon to the United Farm Workers Union, according to a Farm Bureau spokesman.

"I predict UFWU will know every OSHA violation as it applies to agriculture backwards and forwards and even ways to create violations," Lewis F. Lepper told the State Horticultural Society Tuesday.

"Certainly this can be a powerful weapon to slow down production or, even worse, to force private enterprise in agriculture to go out of business because of costly requirements or unbearable fines," Lepper said.

Boise robber chats

BOISE (UPI) — A tall Negro with a goatee and mustache robbed the 7-11 Store at Broadway and Rossi of $61 early today and then stuck around and chatted with his victim for nearly an hour.

City Detective Hugh McNichols said two or three customers came and went while the holdup was in progress but none of them realized a robbery was occurring.

He said one customer "suspected" something was wrong, however.

McNichols said the robber pulled a revolver on clerk Dean Lyons about 5 a.m., took his cash on hand and then stayed in the store "talking" to Lyons for about 50 minutes.

He said the robber finally left the store on foot.

Gem roads slick

BOISE (UPI) — Many of Idaho's major roads were snow-covered and slick today and new snow fell on some mountain passes.

By road, this was the report from the State Departments of Highways and Law Enforcement.

out with ample room for the hips, shoulders and legs. Plus look at how it's equip-car we guarantee tremendous gas mileage but better yet look at this price.

Rock Creek Park advances

By JOYCE CARPENTER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Ed Woods, Twin Falls County Zoning administrator, said Rock Creek Park should be ready for public use sometime in 1973.

The Twin Falls Twentieth Century Club has spearheaded development of the park with a large cash donation and donation of much time as well as labor and materials.

Other civic organizations also have contributed much to the park's development with donations of money and labor and materials.

Woods said original plans for the park called for completion sometime this year but the late wet spring delayed work to the point where an extension of the state grant was applied for and received.

The park, estimated to cost $50,000 for development, is being funded by federal and state funds and local money. The 50 per cent state and federal funding is being administered through the Idaho State Parks Recreation program.

Local funding is being supplied from the one-half mill county park levy and through donation of funds, labor and materials by local organizations. Woods said that a dollar value is placed on labor and material contributions for matching fund purposes.

Construction of the park was initiated in the fall of 1971. The site was formerly a wrecking yard. A wrecked car salvage firm removed all of the old auto bodies at no charge in return for the money derived from their sale as scrap metal.

After removal of the car bodies, the National Guard and Army Reserve cleaned up the residue and hauled other trash and rubbish. The area was then graded and leveled.

Woods said a swampy area was drained by laying tile and a well with pump and maintenance house was installed. The well will provide both drinking water and water for irrigating the park.

An attempt to plant grass was unsuccessful, due to an excess soil salt level believed to be caused by a high water level due to summer irrigation. Woods said a trench will be dug in an attempt to solve the problem and a different variety of grass will be planted.

The playground area is being laid out.

Woods said the next priority for the park will be planting trees and shrubbery. Donations of shrubs and trees are being sought from clubs and individuals.

The Twin Falls Twentieth

Century Club is spearheading the drive for the donations. According to Woods, trees and shrubs which are small enough to be moved easily can be accepted from individuals who wish to have them removed from their property.

He said each such donation would have to be considered individually.

A final improvement at the park will be decreasing the steepness of the road leading down from the top of the canyon. Woods said additional land has been purchased at the top of the canyon to provide space for turning around and to accommodate those who have trailers and other large vehicles to drive up and down the road to the park.

He said the additional space should provide for safer access to and from major streets near the park.

Woods said "We feel it is a tremendously good project. It tends to improve the environment. We think in the long run it will help improve the quality of the water in Rock Creek."

He said the park is being developed as a family-type picnic area and will not be for overnight camping.

Reception set

TWIN FALLS — A reception for Mrs. Irene Oliver is planned for Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Turf Club.

She is retiring Dec. 1 as administrator of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. The reception is jointly sponsored by the hospital auxiliary, hospital board and medical staff.

TF home club elects officers

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Ernest Ihler was elected president of Country Pals Home Extension Club at a meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Elwood McCauley.

Other officers elected include Mrs. Grace Pearson, vice president; Mrs. George Thomas, secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Harper, treasurer. Mrs. Glen Debban was appointed teller for the election.

A letter from Mrs. Pat Maughan, extension home economist, was read. It listed coming events including arrival of the Vogue-Buttrick suitcase in Twin Falls, Jan. 30; a sewing workshop, Nov. 28, and leader training for go-ahead meals and freezer breads, Jan. 23.

Plastic fruit covered with three cornered beads and arranged in a fruit bowl and a cardboard Christmas tree trimmed with balls and tinsel to hang on the door were Christmas ideas presented by Mrs. McCauley.

Two members were reported ill and cards were signed to be sent to them.

Mrs. Pearson won the white elephant gift.

The next meeting is a potluck and gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Glen Debban at noon Dec. 21.

Bethel No. 19 elects marshal

TWIN FALLS — Georgiana Massey was elected marshal of Bethel No. 19, International Order of Job's Daughters, at a meeting Monday evening.

Honored Queen Julie Massey presided at the meeting.

Those introduced included Carol Dougherty, supreme representative to South Dakota; Becky Brown, supreme representative to Colorado; Mrs. Frances Shoemaker, past guardian of Bethel No. 22; Idaho Falls; Mrs. Virginia Jensen, past guardian of Bethel No. 19; Mrs. Marian Langdon, guardian of Bethel No. 19, and Carl Kobel, associate guardian of Bethel No. 19.

A report on the sale of Christmas wreaths was given. Sales prizes were awarded to Holly Langdon, first; Jenny Skinner and Linda Jensen, second, and Katie Waegelin and Carol Ann Upton, third.

Miss Waegelin gave the librarian's report on "Women's Liberation."

"Joble of the Meeting" was Karen Shotwell and Susan Rosenof was "Birthday Girl."

The honored queen announced a party from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Dec. 8 at the home of Miss Waegelin for members of the Bethel.

New officers will be installed Dec. 28 at the Masonic Temple.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A high school girl signed, "Four Eyes," wrote complaining because she had to wear glasses. "And to make matters worse," she added, "someone wrote me a note, saying, 'Guys never make passes at girls who wear glasses.'"

You sought to comfort her with your own verse, "Guys will make passes at girls who wear glasses, providing the dames have good looking frames."

Your reply puts you in first-rate company, as Christopher Morley wrote a two-line postscript to that famous verse:

'4 Eyes' better

"But glasses can always be checked
"By a girl who's about to be necked."

In case you have further correspondence with "Four Eyes," please remind her that a young man's character, disposition, and behavior are much more important than whether he wears spectacles. Likewise, any male worthy of her attention will judge her by her essential qualities rather than by her optical equipment. Greetings,
G. P. IN ANN ARBOR, MICH.

DEAR G. P.: You're right! I once fell in love with a shy college man who wore glasses. I can still remember how my heart pounded when he walked to my door and removed his glasses, because then I knew he planned to kiss me goodnight. (P. S. I married the man.)

DEAR ABBY: Each morning (Monday thru Friday) a young neighbor honks his horn at an early hour as he leaves for work. I presume it is intended as a cheery goodbye signal to his wife.

This honking disturbs us and others in the neighborhood. We are elderly and not in the best of health. We don't wish to alienate our young neighbors, but how can we let them know this honking disturbs us?

MATTISON STREET, FRESBURG, N. Y.

DEAR MATTISON STREET: After this hits print, you may not have to.

DEAR ABBY: The man who reduced his wife to tears when he suggested that instead of a family vacation, the money be spent for "a face lift for mother" may not have deserved the rebuke you gave him.

Perhaps he had stood around the bedroom day after day listening to his wife complain (during menopause, no doubt) about how terrible she looked and how depressing it was to see her wrinkled, sagging face in the mirror, and he thought a face lift would make her the happiest woman in the world.

Maybe he deserved to be chastised for making the offer at the dining room table in the presence of the children without first having done a little personal exploring, but nobody's perfect.

No, I didn't make the same mistake. But I might have.
MR. AVERAGE

DEAR MR.: I agree, his offer was lovely, but his timing was lousy. And that's why I chastised him.

DEAR ABBY: A tip from another veteran letter carrier for "Afraid of Dogs":

I carry an umbrella, rain or shine. When harassed by a dog, I simply open it in his face and Fido retreats in confusion because he can't figure out what it is, especially, if I get fancy and rotate the handle and flap it open and shut a time or two.

If he attempts to circle me, I ease the umbrella behind me with the grace of a bullfighter and keep the shield between me and the dog.
EUGENE

DEAR EUGENE: Beautiful! Your suggestion may start a boom in the umbrella business.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Opening lead—♠ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The ultra modern young experts have developed a lot of new leads. Some may be good, all are complicated, and, with one exception, worth very little to their users.

Today's hand illustrates this one really good new lead. It is the lead of the queen from a suit headed by king-queen-10 when the contract is no-trump.

The lead can't really hurt because if partner does not hold the jack he treats the lead as if it were a normal lead from a queen-jack suit. It is only when he holds the jack that he does something special and plays the jack. He can't go wrong because he knows what his partner's lead has shown.

Today's hand shows this lead at its best. East doesn't know if his partner has led the queen from king-queen-10 or queen-jack, but he drops the three-spot to discourage his partner.

South false-cards with the seven. Without this convention West would wonder if East's three were played from jack-three-deuce. With this convention he knows that South holds the jack.

He considers continuing with the king in hope that South started with just jack-small in spades, but shifts to the 10 of hearts.

South wins in dummy and leads a club and it is up to East to hop up with the king and lead a spade to his partner. If he does, the defense will collect six tricks and leave North and South complaining to whatever gods are supposed to protect declarers.

Party planned

TWIN FALLS — Past Oracles Club planned the annual Christmas party during a Monday afternoon meeting at the home of Julia Samples.

Mrs. Samples served a delectable luncheon to members of the club.

The Christmas party will be at the home of Dorothy Treadwell at 1 p.m. Dec. 18. There will be a gift exchange.

The white elephant gift was received by Lillian Arma.

When the Christmas tree begins to shed needles, it's time to discard it—for safety's sake.

Discrimination

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The federal war on poverty was accused Monday of sex discrimination.

The National Organization of Women charged that the agency has passed up qualified women in favor of men for executive jobs in the San Francisco Economic Opportunities Council.

It cited two cases, involving promotions to housing services manager and another post, in which qualified women were allegedly "overlooked" and less qualified men hired.

Make way for 'easy pants' trend

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make way for "easy pants" in the spring.

They're nothing like hot pants since they're longer—(to the shapetop) and looser (never skintight).

They don't resemble bellbottoms since they're all the same width from top to bottom.

Such pants were seen in the Kimberly collection during opening sessions of the four-day American Designer Showings in New York.

The easy pants showed up in other designer collections on view for fashion reporters. The look isn't as baggy as the old loose pants men wore years ago (and are coming back). But they have a mighty comfortable look to them—not spanning any part of the anatomy, not even the seat.

Another pants silhouette that continues from this fashion season is the palazzo pantsuit. This is the wide, wide pant look and it seems destined to stay in the picture.

What was new in the Kimberly collection: knit cocktail suits glinting with metallic threads, the sexy palazzo pajamas in a large herringbone knit with a satiny sheen—worn with the new glamour trappings of sleek headbands, platform sandals and loads of pearls.

The Kimberly collection starred free-form silhouettes in dresses, suits and costumes. Fullness was seen but not a tentlike fullness. It was more the body skimming kind. The looser outlines included smock tunic tops, jackets with tiered suggestion of fit.

The collection also featured what Bob Brown of the line called "an astonishing feat."

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgment is in effect in the morning. This could lead to trouble unless you are careful when making comments. In the afternoon and evening you are able to make long-range plans, enjoy those close to you and to show appreciation for your blessings. Use your fine mind to advantage.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good day to talk over leisurely with associates what should be done to make joint relationships more satisfying. Evening is fine for establishing more harmony at home. Use tact.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may want to start on a trip in the morning, but this would not be wise, since you have important matters to discuss with others first. Take exercise and enjoy the day's festivities.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take some time to plan your activities wisely and then carry through successfully. Tell closest ties what you expect of them, but do so tactfully. Make this a memorable day.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate your efforts on home and family today and this becomes a most enjoyable day. Don't argue with an associate. Much harmony can be established now. Relax at home tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Spend time with good friends today even though it may mean traveling quite a distance. Plan some time for handling important correspondence. Travel with utmost care and be alert to danger.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good day to think over financial arrangements you want to make for the future and then put them down on paper tonight. Don't forget to give thanks for your blessings. Renew your faith.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to get together with persons you really like and have a good time, while counting your blessings and giving thanks. Find the right social outlets and become a more popular person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study a plan you have in mind for making the future greater for yourself and then discuss it later with the right people. Make this a happy day. Show more devotion to loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You will be able to make new and worthwhile friends today. A good day to join a new group that can accomplish a great deal. Show that you are aggressive and that you like people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find the best way to gain the favor of those who count a great deal in your life and make this a most wonderful day. Show true devotion to friends. Much good can come out of this.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to start a whole new set of conditions in your life and you are able to do just that provided you act quickly. Prove to mate that you are loyal. Show that you are thankful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use your good hunches to come to a better understanding with others, especially those who mean much to you, either in business or personal affairs. Make conditions at home better.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who can become quite successful in life because of the fine artistic and cultural talents in this child. Be sure to direct education along lines that will help your progeny become a true artist. There will be a fine balance here, where arbitration is concerned. The political life is also good.

Q. "What's PPM?"
A. That's parts per million. The computer experts measure pollution in PPMs. Take that pollutant known as vermouth. A shot glass of same in an 8,000-gallon tub of gin would make a martini contaminated by one PPM.

HAPPINESS
Again pollsters have been digging into that thing called

States resort to lotteries for 'painless' funds

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Faced with taxpayer revolts against higher income, sales and property taxes, an increasing number of states are resorting to lotteries as a

Mars site decided by photos

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — When Russia or the United States sends exploration craft to Mars the landing site will be determined by a map of the planet's north pole developed from photos taken by the Mariner 9 satellite.

Both nations have expressed interest in landing in the Martian north polar region, according to Harold Masursky, chief scientist at the U.S. Geological Survey Center of Astrogeology here.

American space probe planners are studying the center's new map of Mars to determine where to land the 1975 unmanned Viking explorer, Masursky said Monday.

"The Russians are not even close" to matching U.S. efforts to map the red planet, he said, and "if they land in that area it would be based on our pictures."

The big question to be answered by the new map of the north polar region, made public this week, is "how much water ice is there on Mars?" the geologist said.

The presence of water on Mars was revealed by photos from Mariner 9, which orbited the planet for more than 10 months and sent back photos.

The photos showed dry canyons and gullies which appear to have been caused by water erosion, but all the water is now believed frozen, in the polar caps, along with carbon-dioxide based dry ice.

India will release prisoners

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India will release the Pakistani war prisoners captured on the western front Friday, the Foreign Office announced today.

It said all the 540 prisoners will be handed over to Pakistani officials at the Wagah border post, about 300 miles northwest of here.

Pakistan announced Monday it will return all 617 Indian prisoners of war Friday at Wagah.

The Foreign office said the Swiss Embassy has been requested to send a representative to Wagah to be present during the repatriation.

Both India and Pakistani announced they were releasing a first batch, of military prisoners of last December's war.

After the Friday exchange of prisoners Pakistan will have sent back all Indian prisoners it claims to have captured in the war.

But India will continue to hold nearly 90,000 Pakistani prisoners, comprising combatants, irregulars and civilians who surrendered in East Pakistan.

Wolves threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federally approved plan to preserve the few hundred eastern timber wolves remaining in the United States threatens instead to make them extinct, the Fund for Animals Inc. has charged.

The conservation organization Monday described a plan worked out by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and approved by the U.S. Forest Service and Interior Department as an unsatisfactory compromise between those seeking to preserve the animal and those who would like to eliminate it.

The eastern timber wolf is listed by the government as an endangered wildlife species and now is found only in Minnesota and Canada, the organization said. The government estimates the number of wolves at 500 to 1,000 but others put the figure at 350 to 400.

"painless" way of raising money. Maryland voters approved a state lottery in a recent referendum. That makes eight states which have climbed on the "lottery bandwagon." New Hampshire was the first.

New Hampshire's lottery was launched in 1964 with tickets priced at 50 cents each, and weekly drawings for prizes. About half the take from ticket sales is parceled out among winners. The other half helps finance the state school system. With various modifications, the New Hampshire system subsequently was adopted by New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Michigan. Now Maryland.

In at least a dozen other states, lottery proposals are in various stages of planning or legislative study, and it's a good bet that several of them will be getting into the gambling business soon. Although lotteries are not a magic cure-all for the crisis in state finances, they can bring in substantial sums of money. New York state has raked in a profit of about $170 million on its lottery since it began five years ago.

New Jersey took in $100 million for its schools during the first 18 months of its state lottery. It expects to increase the take considerably next year because it has begun having lottery drawings on a daily basis.

Opponents of the fast-growing trend toward official lotteries assert that these operations differ very little from the illegal numbers racket. The tickets are relatively cheap, the payoff is a large percentage of the ticket buyers are poor people who can ill afford to waste even 50 cents a week on a long-shot dream of getting rich overnight. Proponents of lotteries reply that they are simply tapping, for wholesome social purposes such as education, money that would otherwise be siphoned off by — underworld — gambling syndicates through the numbers racket. By legalizing betting that large numbers of people seem determined to do anyway, proponents argue, state lotteries reduce the income and power of organized crime and eliminate a major source of police corruption. It is doubtful whether these pro-and-con arguments really decide the lottery issue in any state. The big thing that makes lotteries attractive to state officials is that they offer a way of increasing revenue without raising taxes. And a lot of taxpayers favor them for the same reason, even though they personally might never buy a lottery ticket.

Too close

SYDNEY (UPI) — Janice Cottee has a problem. Amorous dolphins. She said today that one dolphin recently became so "fresh" he refused to remain in the pool with it.

"I know dolphins are close to humans," said Miss Cottee, an English dolphin trainer, "but I don't like them getting that close."

Not needy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — stay on land, can go without food for as long as a year and without water for months.

Senator sees work outside

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Retiring U. S. Sen. Fred R. Harris says he will continue to work for change, and feels he can be more effective outside the Senate than in it.

The Oklahoma Democrat, sporting a recently acquired long-handle mustache, and his wife Ladonna opened a "Good-bye, Thank You" tour of the state Monday at a luncheon with long-time friends and supporters.

Harris said he would concentrate on his "new populist" program of redistribution of wealth, land reform, "tax justice," decentralization of economic power and "the breakup of shared monopolies."

"These are views I have come to painfully and slowly as a result of positions you have put me in," Harris said.

Harris, a former national party chairman and briefly a presidential candidate, said the Democratic Party must "talk about economic class lines and make free enterprise work for all."

Singapore imposes drug laws

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Singapore today announced pending drug laws that provide penalties ranging from the flogging of convicted drug traffickers to jail sentences of up to 10 years on a first offense for those convicted of smoking marijuana.

When the laws now before Parliament go into effect, foreigners suspected of using drugs will be stopped when entering Singapore and will have to submit to a urine test. If they refuse the test or if the test is positive, entry will be prohibited.

Anyone providing marijuana to persons under 18 years old can be imprisoned for 30 years, fined the equivalent of $18,000 and flogged 15 times with the "rotan," a reed-like whip that cuts the flesh.

Floggings have been administered as part of criminal sentences for years here, but usually have been reserved for the most serious offenses.

Monument honors Khrushchev

MOSCOW (UPI) — An artist whose work Nikita S. Khrushchev once scorned as "amoral" and "painted with a donkey's tail" has nearly completed a monument for the former premier's grave at the request of Khrushchev's family.

Khrushchev met the artist—Ernst Neizvestny—in December, 1962, when the sculptor escorted the then premier around an exhibit of his and several colleagues' paintings. Khrushchev's outspoken reaction to the abstract paintings touched off a crackdown on liberal art.

Soviet. It's amoral. It looks like it was painted with a donkey's tail."

Neizvestny listened respectfully and tried to explain the principles of modern art, but he only infuriated Khrushchev more by mentioning the artist's right to express himself.

Four years later, when Khrushchev was living as a pensioner in involuntary retirement, Neizvestny wired him birthday greetings. A reconciliation then began.

The Khrushchev family approached Neizvestny several months ago and asked him to do a permanent monument for the grave in Moscow's Novodevichy Cemetery, where he has been buried since his death in September, 1971.

The grave now is identified only by an ordinary headstone and a traditional blown-up photograph of Khrushchev, showing him in a gray jacket and white shirt.
