

District health budget approved

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — South Central Idaho District Health Board members Monday approved a $351,497 budget for 1973.

That is an increase of $9,370 in county participation.

The budget, approved following a public hearing at which no comments were offered, includes $180,228 from county participation in the eight Magic Valley counties of the district. Another $13,000 is provided by the city of Twin Falls for special health services rendered city residents.

This brings local revenue from tax levies to $193,228, compared to a total $170,958 last year from the counties and $13,000 from the city of Twin Falls for $183,958.

Dr. Wayne Carte, medical director, said the remainder of the budget comes from the state participation, $97,129, the same as provided last year, and from clinic receipts, preventive medicine programs and in federal grants for the family planning, social rehabilitation services and the P. E. P. (a state employment program) amounting to $42,604.

Dr. Carte said by making some fine line cuts in various departments and retaining parttime personnel where fulltime personnel had been hoped for, the department will budget $9,000 for building funds this year.

In addition, Dr. Carte said he has been able to come up with $25,000 with which to begin remodeling of the American Legion Hall for a new district headquarters.

The district must vacate its present city hall space by the first of 1974.

The county shares of the budget will be raised through a tax levy which will provide a $1.76 per capita amount from each of the counties.

The counties various shares include Twin Falls, $73,162; Minidoka, $27,529; Lincoln, $5,350; Jerome, $17,020; Gooding, $15,129; Cassia, $29,780; Camas, $1,274; and Blaine, $10,061.

The levies will include a 1.21 mill levy in Twin Falls County, down to a .35 mill levy in Camas County.

Dr. Carte said the budget he requested, based on a $2 per capita assessment in each county would have provided $26,000 for building funds.

This is not possible under the 1972 budget based on the $1.76 per capita assessment.

With the additional $26,000 in his proposed budget, he said, the district could have completed the remodeling of the American Legion Hall into office facilities, estimated to cost $50,000.

Instead, he said, the district can call for bids with the stipulation only half of the cost be paid the first year with the remainder to be budgeted for in the following year.

US growing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau estimated today the American population reached 209,296 million Oct. 1, up 159,000 from Sept. 1.

The population was up 1.7 million from Oct. 1, 1971, or 0.8 per cent.

Census Bureau officials said the September increase included a natural gain-excess births over deaths of about 131,000, plus net immigration of 27,000.

Vietnam sessions recessed

PARIS (UPI) — The Vietnam peace negotiators agreed to a 24-hour pause today in their efforts to reach an accord ending the Vietnam War. There was no explanation but diplomatic sources remained optimistic and Hanoi dispatches indicated South Vietnam still expected an early cease-fire.

White House aide Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's special counsellor, Le Duc Tho, met Monday in what diplomatic sources said could be the "final" round of negotiations leading to peace. There were predictions an accord could be signed by as early as Dec. 15.

The two sessions ended with both sides smiling broadly and the Florida White House said another meeting would take place today. However, the North Vietnamese said the next session would be on Wednesday and U.S. spokesmen confirmed the change of plans.

French press reports of the Paris talks remained optimistic, and another expression of optimism came today from Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., who predicted during a 24-hour visit to Saigon that a Vietnam peace treaty would be signed within a month and U.S. prisoners begin heading home.

The world can look forward this month to an end of this tragic episode," Percy told reporters after meetings with South Vietnamese government officials and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Frederick Weyand, the U.S. troop commander in Vietnam.

Despite Percy's optimistic outlook reports from Hanoi indicated the North Vietnamese were preparing for a resumption of full-scale American bombing attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong area should the Paris talks fail. In recent weeks U.S. bombers have remained below the 20th Parallel 60 miles below Hanoi, and U.S. B52 strikes today were at Dong Hoi, barely 40 miles above the Demilitarized Zone border.

Neither side would say why the meeting was rescheduled or which delegation asked for the change. During Kissinger's last round of Paris talks Nov. 20 to 25, one planned session was canceled so the negotiators could consult their governments.

The South Vietnamese peace delegation in Paris issued a statement saying the Viet Cong planned to massacre as many Government officials as possible in the period immediately before the cease-fire.

A communiqué said: "According to captured documents, the village and hamlet officials elected by the population must all be exterminated."

Subzero readings grip Valley area

Subzero temperatures seized the Magic Valley in a chill grip today and little relief appears in prospect.

At Stanley and Galena, the mercury tumbled to 42 degrees below zero this morning — possibly the coldest place in the United States.

The official low reading for the continental US was minus 40 at Butte, Mont., today. Other valley readings weren't that cold but most points reported sub-zero marks.

Some light snow fell overnight, with half an inch reported from Bliss eastward through the Twin Falls area. Highways were snow covered, icy and slick throughout the Magic Valley and southern Idaho.

Slight moderation in temperatures is forecast, with more snow predicted for Thursday and Saturday.

The Murtaugh schools, closed Monday because of blowing and drifting snow, were open today and officials said they should have no problems unless more snow falls.

Hansen schools also closed early Monday afternoon because of slick roads and blowing snow but were open again today.

Drifting snow was reported in Blaine County, but schools were open in that district. Highways throughout the area from Fairfield east to Burley and south to the Nevada and Utah state lines were reported icy and snow covered.

The Ketchum ranger station reported a temperature of 16 degrees below zero at 8 a.m. today, up a degree from the minimum for the previous 24 hours. Most other reporting stations in the Magic Valley had temperatures of slightly below zero.

In Twin Falls all schools are open, though streets are snow covered and icy. Some new snow fell early this morning.

Eighteen inches of new snow has fallen on Magic Mountain, south of Hansen, since Sunday.

Twin Falls Highway District crews are still plowing snow from roads in the county.

Minidoka and Cassia County schools were all open Monday and are open today. Two inches of snow fell in the Mini-Cassia area Sunday and one inch of new snow has fallen since.

More beef price hikes said ahead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers will face a new round of beef price increases in the first half of 1973, Agriculture Department economists predict.

However, experts added today that overall gains in grocery prices in the first 6 months of next year should be limited to about 3 per cent.

This compares with a 4 to 4.5 per cent increase predicted for the full year 1972.

Retail beef prices, which reached a record average of over $1.17 a pound for all cuts combined last July have since edged down and were under $1.13 for October.

But looking into next year, economists writing in the current issue of an Agriculture Department magazine, Farm Index, predicted prices will move up in the January-June period as rising consumer demand keeps pace with rising production.

Pork prices in the first half of 1973 probably will remain near the record levels of this fall, while fish will average well above a year earlier.

For other major commodities, the experts said:

—Only small increases are likely for dairy products.

—Egg prices will be sharply higher than this year's depressed levels, but will remain below 1970.

—Poultry should be only a shade above the first half of 1972.

—Citrus fruit prices will be below a year earlier, but prices for other fruits will be higher.

—Bread and other bakery products will cost more because of higher wheat prices.

Robbers hold up 2 TF firms in 10 minutes

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls businesses were robbed by armed assailants last night within ten minutes of one another.

According to police, an unknown subject, described as 16-20 years old, approximately 5 feet 6 inches tall, small build and brown eyes, held up the Seven-Eleven grocery at the corner of Addison East and Locust Street at 7:47 p.m. escaping with approximately $100 in cash.

Ten minutes later, at 7:57 p.m., another unidentified man held up the attendant at the Arctic Circle Drive-In at 761 Main Avenue East.

The robber was described as 6 feet tall, thin build, age unknown. Witnesses said he had a "yelling sounding" voice.

The exact amount taken from the Arctic Circle has not been determined but was a "small amount of currency," according to police.

Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls said both robberies remain under investigation. He said no weapon was displayed in the Arctic Circle robbery and that the barrel of a gun was visible in the Seven-Eleven theft.

Asked if there appeared to be a connection between the robberies, Qualls said there was "no connection at this point." Qualls also stated that it was not known how the robbers escaped.

Qualls said snow and freezing weather was a "factor against us" in the investigation of the robberies. He added there was no indication of whether or not the robberies were carried out with weather conditions in mind.

Countdown smooth

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Preparations for Wednesday night's fiery launching of the three Apollo 17 astronauts on their trip to the moon rolled through one of the smoothest countdowns ever today.

"Basically, our feeling is that the few problems that we have come up with are acceptable," said chief test supervisor Bill Schick. "By far this flow has been one of the smoothest."

While astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt slept late in their spaceport quarters, scientists put the first travelers to board the Apollo space craft — five tiny mice — into their traveling quarters.

The California desert pocket mice, about the size of peanuts and weighing a third of an ounce each, were sealed inside tubes with supplies of seeds for food. They will ride in the command ship with the astronauts for the trip of more than a million miles through space.

At the launch pad, ground crewmen began installing flight batteries in the 36-story, three-stage Saturn 5 launch vehicle as the countdown leading to the 7:53 p.m. MST Wednesday blastoff went into the minus 28-hour "terminal" phase.

Trustee election plan challenged

TWIN FALLS — CSI trustee candidate Rudolf Barchas said today the college's trustee election is being held in an illegal manner.

He said it should be postponed if legal questions cannot be answered before the Dec. 19 election date.

Barchas said Idaho law makes no provision for separate trustee election races. Instead, he said, all candidates must run at large for the same seats, with the top vote getters named winners.

He said the college, instead, has set up two separate elections for two trustee seats.

Barchas urged the college to request an opinion from the Idaho attorney general to clarify the matter. Should the college not request an opinion, he said, he personally would request one.

CSI attorney Robert Alexander said today the separate trustee terms were necessary because the two seats open are for different length of term.

He said one seat is for a full term of six years, while the other is for the remaining two years of the term of the late James Shields.

"We felt, under the circumstances," Alexander said, "the candidate should have the right to determine which one or both of terms he wanted to run for." So when the petitions were prepared, there was a set made for the unexpired two-year term and a set for the six-year term.

Alexander said there is no plan to ask for an attorney general's opinion on the matter.

UN attention swings around to Middle East

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The focus of attention at the United Nations swung back to the Middle East with U.S. Ambassador George Bush and 15 other speakers waiting their turn in today's session to outline their government's policy on the crisis.

Diplomatic sources said Bush would plead for moderation in handling the crisis.

They said Bush would advise the 152 members of the U.N. General Assembly, now engaged in their annual debate on the Middle East, against adoption of a proposed resolution non-aligned nations are now circulating.

The draft resolution deplors Israel's failure to comply with past resolutions or to respond favorably to initiatives undertaken by Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring, the special U.N. peace envoy to the Middle East.

It also declares any changes in the status or structure of Arab territories occupied by Israel for the past five years illegal and urges all countries to refuse to recognize such changes.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoa told Jarring last week that if the wording of the 1967 resolution were changed, Israel would withdraw its support of the measure.

The 1967 resolution, unanimously approved by the Security Council, is so vague in its wording that the Arabs interpret it as an order for Israel to withdraw from all the occupied territories and Israel construes it to mean it may retain part of the area it conquered five years ago.

Bush was listed as the third speaker today, preceded by representatives of Spain and Oman and followed by delegates of Hungary, Greece, Romania, Iran, Indonesia, Kuwait, the Soviet Union, Belgium, France, Poland, Czechoslovakia, China and Cyprus, time permitting.

The Assembly wants to wind up the Middle East debate by Thursday before voting on any resolutions, but committee chairman Radha Krishna Ramphul of Mauritius has at least 48 speakers awaiting their turn in the general debate.

Viet troops destroy 9 tanks at Quang Tri

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese paratroops with artillery and allied air support destroyed nine North Vietnamese tanks today near Quang Tri City, field reports said.

U.S. jets knocked out three bridges in North Vietnam Monday and major fighting was reported today along South Vietnam's Central Coast and in the Central Highlands. In the highlands Monday, ground fighting escalated in two provinces following reports that the Viet Cong ordered increased efforts to seize as much territory as possible prior to declaration of any Vietnam cease-fire.

UPI Correspondent Kenneth F. Engle, reporting from Da Nang, 370 miles northeast of Saigon, said he was told the nine destroyed Communist tanks near Quang Tri were part of a North Vietnamese

Parents, ads drug cause

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Slick advertising, profit-hungry manufacturers and pill-taking parents are the real culprits behind the explosion of the drug culture among the young, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today.

Nelson, opening two days of hearings into home remedies for coughs and colds, contended promotion of these over-the-counter drugs is "nothing short of scandalous."

He said Americans pay some $1 billion for home remedies every year, hoping to cure everything from stuffy noses to obesity.

"These products are at best mostly useless, while many are harmful and even dangerous," he said in an opening statement.

"Most of the drug companies' promotion and advertising of these products is simply a generous mixture of false claims and outright nonsense. While the drug companies deserve to be exposed and censured and the law needs to be tightened to control their advertising, the public itself must share the blame for the fact that we have become a nation of irrational pill-poppers."

"We want a pill for every ache and pain, for nervous tension, for anxiety and we want a pill even to relieve us of the ordinary stresses and strains of daily living."

"In short, we have become massively addicted to taking drugs whether we need them or not. The result is that we have created a drug culture and many of the youth of America are simply doing what they learned from their parents."

Nelson is chairman of a small business monopoly subcommittee that has been examining the BELFAST (UPI) — Soldiers shot and killed two men and wounded a third during gun battles with snipers in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district Monday night and today, the army said.

The deaths brought the toll for almost 3 1/2 years of violence in Northern Ireland to 651 dead, five of them in the last four days.

An army spokesman said the first battle came late Monday night when an army Saracen armored car came under fire. Soldiers fired back and some time later comrades brought the dead body of a man to the city's Mater Catholic Hospital.

Fighting was renewed this morning when two snipers on the flat roof of a house opened fire on two army posts in Berwick Street. Troops returned fire and after army reinforcements arrived, sealed off the area.

Searchers found a wounded man and the body of another in the area from which the sniping had come, a spokesman said.

Three other men, two Protestants and a Catholic, died in weekend gun battles in predominantly Protestant East Belfast.

Australia sees China

CANBERRA (UPI) — The New Australian Prime Minister Edward G. Whitlam today disclosed moves to establish diplomatic relations with China, one issue that brought him to power.

At a nationally televised press conference after being sworn in as prime minister, Whitlam said he had initiated moves toward relations with Peking through Australian Ambassador to Paris Alan Renouf.

Renouf has arranged to meet the Chinese ambassador to Paris Huang Chen on Thursday. Cables have gone to him suggesting the terms for full diplomatic representation by each country in the other.

He said the terms were based on the Canadian formula of recognition whereby Canada "noted" Peking's claim to Taiwan.

Whitlam said he hoped to visit Peking in October, 1973.

He said there would be a ministerial meeting between Japan and Australia in Tokyo in October, 1973 and "it would seem appropriate for me to visit Peking before or after that meeting."

"Whitlam said he wanted to develop a more independent and progressive Australian stance in foreign affairs."

"A change of government however does provide a new opportunity for us to re-assess a whole range of Australian foreign policies and attitudes," he said.

Court rules booze, sex films mix out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that state alcoholic beverage authorities may prohibit live entertainment and films depicting sexual conduct in bars and other places where liquor is sold by the drink.

The Court reversed a three-judge federal panel in Los Angeles which had ruled that regulations on this matter by the California Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control were an unconstitutional infringement on free speech.

But Justice William H. Rehnquist, who wrote the 6-3 opinion, said the California rules did not come in the context of "censoring a dramatic performance."

"While we agree that at least some of the performances to which these regulations address themselves are within the limits of the constitutional protection of freedom of expression, the critical fact is that California has not forbidden these performances across the board," the opinion said.

"It has merely proscribed such performances in establishments which it licenses to sell liquor by the drink." The opinion relied on the 21st amendment, which repealed prohibition in 1933.

The broad sweep of the 21st amendment has been recognized as conferring something more than the normal state authority over public health, welfare and morals.

Rehnquist said, citing 1936 and 1964 Supreme Court opinions.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

Among the targets for this week's hearings will be such popular cold-fighters as Contac, Dristan, Allerest and Coricidin products for which Nelson said medical science has found "no convincing evidence" of benefit.

In fact, he said, these products may cause undesirable side effects—particularly if the patient has heart disease, diabetes, high blood pressure or thyroid disease.

TF zoning measures approved

TWIN FALLS — City Council members adopted three new ordinances and placed another on first reading following a public hearing on five zoning matters.

The council received no comment on the five issues covered by public hearings.

An ordinance was adopted under suspension of the rules to eliminate the need of public hearings before the city's zoning commission on applications for conditional use.

This will streamline zoning procedure and eliminate duplication of effort of the zoning board and City Council, Michael Gray, member of the council and zoning group, said.

Another ordinance adopted Monday night will allow Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Terry to construct an additional 16 units at Lynwood Manor. The addition will be located on the north of the present complex.

The ordinance grants a conditional use to allow the apartments in the commercial-local zone.

Another ordinance approved will allow Dr. R. A. Drake and Harold Drake to expand senior

Gem PUC mulls cost proposal

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission will take under advisement whether research and development costs can be considered an operating expense by utilities, following a hearing in Boise.

The commission heard Monday from power utilities serving customers in Idaho during a hearing to determine plans for providing adequate power supplies and for financing research by power companies.

The Idaho Power Co., along with Pacific Power and Light, Washington Water Power, and the Utah Power and Light companies testified at the five-hour Boise hearing.

John A. Carver, Jr., a former member of the Federal Power Commission, testified that money "prudently" spent by utilities for research and development of new sources and forms of energy should be recovered in their rates.

"In my opinion," Carver said,

BLM head backs policy proposal

BOISE (UPI) — An administration proposal to lay out national policies for administering public lands has been endorsed by the national director of the Bureau of Land Management, Burton W. Silcock.

Silcock told the Idaho Cattlemen's Association in Boise Monday that the proposed legislation, the National Resource Lands Management Act, is needed because "the national resource lands are going through a turbulent period, a time when new demands are rising daily."

He said the legislation declares it national policy that these lands will be managed

Decisions pend

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County commissioners postponed until mid-December decisions on two requests for zoning changes Monday.

In the first public hearing, the commissioners heard objections from a number of area farmers to a proposal to rezone from agricultural to commercial general nine and a half acres of land west of the Hansen Bridge.

Don Harney had requested the zoning change, he told the commissioners, for the construction of a lumber yard.

The county planning commission had recommended approval of the rezoning, but the commissioners postponed the decision until Dec. 14, largely to consider questions brought by farmers about crop spraying operations and to await a zoning report being prepared at the Idaho State University.

In the second hearing, the commissioners put aside until the middle of December a request from Bernard Craig to rezone eight and a half acres on Grandview Drive from residential agricultural to industrial.

Craig wants to install a tractor salvage business on the property.

Rezoning bid ruling delayed

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County commissioners put off for several weeks Monday a request for rezoning by CUI International, a Twin Falls rendering operation.

The commissioners, after hearing from about six persons in a public hearing that lasted nearly an hour, told the CUI officials their decision would be made Jan. 22, 1973.

CUI, which formerly operated under the name of Idaho Hide and Tallow Co., wants to rezone its property from the current industrial management 1 to industrial management 2.

According to county zoning administrator Ed Woods, IM2 carries with it the implication of a nuisance factor in the firm's operation.

Paul Sachter, CUI district manager, told the commission his firm wanted to initiate a boning operation, incorporating freezers in the plant, and said there would be no additional nuisance if the expansion were permitted.

But several Twin Falls residents, including one man who filed suit 12 years ago to shut down the plant, the manager of a Twin Falls cinema and two attorneys, appealed to the commissioners to deny the zoning change.

They said there should be no expansion of any type until the

He said the district has received $12,500 from the state which was allocated to equalize budgets for the 1972 year.

In addition the district had accumulated $12,500 and was holding it in the event it lost its court case with Twin Falls County which would have reduced the 1972 budget.

The $12,500 would have provided for essential services and salaries, he said.

By combining these two figures, the district can go ahead with building renovation, he said, and be able to have housing by Jan. 1, 1974, the deadline given it by the city.

Dr. Carte said he will ask the city of Twin Falls, new owner of the American Legion Hall, for 15 years of rent free occupancy of the building in return for the $50,000 remodeling program. The district will then pay only maintenance costs during that time.

The American Legion post has offered to donate the hall to the city and the city has no money for renovation.

Board members asked Chairman William Chancey to name a committee to meet with the city to see if a plan can be worked out whereby the district would have some equity, possibly half ownership, in the building at the end of the 15 years.

Chancey named Dr. Charles Parker, Jerome; Dr. Stephen Lincoln, Dr. Carte and himself to the committee.

Dr. Carte said he had talked to one contractor who would be willing to accept his proposal for half of the costs the first year and said on this basis the district would be able to call for bids.

Cycle contest results told

TWIN FALLS — The first given five points. The English trial event for motorcycles in Magic Valley was conducted Sunday on a course north of the Snake River.

Racers competed in non-trial machines, novice and expert divisions. The English trial provides cyclists challenging obstacles for competition with scores compiled at the end of the obstacle courses.

The competitive event was developed in England to challenge the riding ability of cyclists over obstacles or natural terrain.

The course is divided into sections, some long and some short. Each rider builds up a five score depending on accomplishments on each course.

If he "babbles" (touches the ground with his feet) it counts as a point the first time, two points the second time and so on.

For dropping the machine, killing the engine or falls, he is Winners of the novice division were Dick Capps, first, and Bill Baker, second, both Twin Falls, and Denny Schwartz, Sun Valley, third.

In the expert class, Chuck Carpenter was first and Tom Huff, second, both Twin Falls, and Drew Ryder, Parma, third.

About 18 contestants took part in the first event, sponsored by a group of motorcycle enthusiasts who have no formal organization.

WASHINGTON — The ambiguity behind President Nixon's selection of Elliot Richardson as his new secretary of defense is revealed by his simultaneous choice of a conservative Texas oil man as any significant role in picking William Clements, a 55-year-old oil-drilling company president from Dallas with no previous public service but intimate contacts with the Texas Republican establishment. The message to hard-liners on Capitol Hill is unmistakable: don't worry too much about Richardson and the bright-eyed young liberal aides he brings over to the Pentagon from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). If he goes wrong, Bill Clements will be there to set him right. Indeed, when the White House leaked a hint of Richardson's switch to Defense, it added that a conservative — as yet unnamed — would balance him in the No. 2 Pentagon post. To old-timers at the Pentagon, this sent Richardson off on the wrong foot even before his nomination was announced. To have any chance at running the Defense Department in an orderly manner, the secretary must at least have the unchallenged authority that Melvin R. Laird enjoyed the last four years. But the President's decision to name the Richardson-Clements combination reflects some uncertainty at the White House over what is wanted from the Pentagon leadership the next four years; a more liberal facade? Or tough-minded promotion of new weapons programs against increasing congressional hostility? Richardson was by no means hard-liner Laird's first choice for the job. Laird recommended Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York (who did not want it,

John B. Connally (who did not want it either) or Deputy Secretary Kenneth Rush (now named under secretary of state). Laird never mentioned Richardson. But Mr. Nixon, viewing Richardson as perhaps the administration's best governmental manager, asked him to move from HEW. He accepted Nov. 20. Though he lacks ex-Congressman Laird's generation-long intimacy with the defense appropriations process, Richardson became expert in handling Congress over the last four years. Considering how cool the Nixon-Laird relationship has grown, Richardson is also likely to have easier access to the Oval Office. Even those conservative White House aides who grumbled about Richardson's liberal policies at HEW feel a liberal at the Pentagon might be appropriate to deal with the deepening human relations problems inside the armed services. Moreover, they hope he can win support from liberal Republican senators who have been defecting on key defense matters. Nevertheless, Richardson's appointment has caused singular disquiet in the defense community — on the armed services committees of Congress, among middle-level national security officials in the White House, in the Pentagon itself. Their nagging doubt: will Richardson really push hard for unpopular defense items?

The Conclusion

Such is human nature that when the voyage of Apollo 17 passes into history, even those who have been most critical of the space program may experience a feeling of nostalgia — and perhaps even pride — about having lived through one of the most exciting and significant eras in human history. Appropriately, the last manned American mission into deep space for possibly decades to come will be both the most spectacular and the most scientifically rewarding flight of the entire Apollo series. Among the "firsts of the last" will be the first nighttime launching, scheduled for 9:53 p.m. EST on Dec. 6. If conditions are clear, the tail of fire of the mighty Saturn V rocket will be seen by millions within a 500-mile radius. The two members of the Apollo 17 crew who will land on the moon on Dec. 11 — moon-voyage veteran Eugene A. Cernan, commanding, and geologist Harrison H. Schmitt — will stay for a record 75 hours and make three outside excursions of seven hours each. (The third member, Ronald E. Evans, will remain in moon orbit in the Command Module).

Schmitt, incidentally, will be the first scientist-astronaut to have participated in a space flight. Also to be recorded in the log of Apollo 17 will be some 26 experiments and investigative tasks the astronauts will conduct, nine of which, in this last-chance endeavor, will involve scientific instruments never flown before. Like their predecessors, the astronauts will probe into the moon's history, seeking more clues as to its origin and that of the universe itself. Another 200 pounds of lunar rocks and soil will be brought back to earth. These, along with an accumulating mass of data from instruments left on the moon, will keep scientists busy for years and help to bridge the gap that is foreseen between Apollo 17 and man's next venture to the moon or another planet.

It is difficult to believe that it all began a short 15 years ago, on Oct. 4, 1957, when the first Sputnik shocked the world into the realization that a new age had dawned and that a "new ocean," as John F. Kennedy later described it, beckoned mankind.

Though it is history, it is difficult to believe that the successful landing of men on the moon and their safe return to earth was accomplished by Apollo 11 on July 20, 1969, a little more than nine years after President Kennedy enunciated the goal.

It is difficult to believe that when Apollo 17 splashes down in the Pacific on Dec. 19, 1972, this brief era will have ended.

But it will not be the end. As Eugene Cernan said recently, "It's just the conclusion of the beginning."

Skylab, the manned earth-orbiting laboratory, lies ahead, as does the development of reusable shuttle rockets and the first joint U.S.-Soviet venture. An American space probe continues to wing toward Jupiter and beyond. Mariner 9, still in orbit around Mars, has photographed that planet's entire surface. An instrument landing on Mars, designed to seek evidences of life, is scheduled for 1976.

Aware that he will be the last Apollo astronaut to leave the moon, Cernan reflected on what he would do and think at that moment.

"I'll probably stand there and look back at the earth. I will contemplate the fantastic series of events that brought man to the moon. And I'll look at the planets and the stars, and I'll dream of man one day going there, too."

The Apollo saga will be ended. But not the dream.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Chest Pains

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having chest pains. The doctor said it was the heart muscle. Would you explain more about this, and is it something to be alarmed about? Just how does it affect the heart? — M. L. T.

Well, some patients understand a lot about the way a heart operates, and some know very little about it, and a doctor has no way of knowing which is which. I guess yours took it for granted that you knew.

The heart muscle is what makes the heart beat. Each contraction of this special muscle pumps blood through the chambers of the heart.

If the heart muscle is damaged or weakened (by a heart attack, by narrowed arteries limiting blood supply to the muscle, or by any other means) or if the heart muscle is overworked, it can cause pain of the type known as angina pectoris. Literally, about pain.

If for example, you get cramps in the legs or elsewhere from too much exertion, then you stop exerting and the pain stops. But the heart, of course, can't stop working. It has to keep on, pain or no pain.

Fortunately, the heart muscle is made of very durable tissue, and can stand a great deal of hard work. It has to! So it isn't necessary (or possible, of course) to let it stop working entirely. But you do have to ease the burden temporarily. There is also medication (primarily nitroglycerine) which can give the heart a temporary lift at such times.

I wouldn't say that angina is something to be "alarmed" about, but the condition very definitely does demand attention. Let your doctor guide you on medication, but for your part of the problem, you MUST understand how your heart works. You must also learn how much you can exert yourself without overloading the heart muscle.

My newest booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris," seems made to order for people like you, and I suggest that you send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to me, in care of Times-News for a copy.

There are many degrees of angina, from mild to severe, just as many other health conditions vary in intensity. Severe angina can be a very serious condition. But people with mild or moderate angina live with it for many years — but they must know how to take care of themselves, and how to avoid unnecessary strain on the heart muscle. That's a rather brief description of the trouble, but after reading the booklet, you'll know a great deal more about what to do and what not to do.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am told there are doctors who take off cataracts from the eyes with needles, no surgery. Is this true? — N. H.

There is a new technique which uses a very rapidly vibrating needle-like instrument that liquefies the lens of the eye (the cataract) so it can be sucked out. The error is in thinking that this is "not surgery." It still is surgery.

Just A Little Sad

Editor, Times-News:

Today, should have been a brighter day for me as last evening (Nov. 27) officers for Bickel PTA were elected and I was given the opportunity and privilege of installing these new officers.

As secretary of the Twin Falls PTA Council, I had attended the Nov. 2 meetings of Bickel PTA this year. And even bought a membership from that unit though I no longer have a child at the school. I do intend to uphold my obligation as a dues paying member.

Instead, today is a little sad for me even though the labor and anxiety involved to help the Bickel PTA retain its charter and have officers once again are at an end for me. The sadness remains to find the school where I once served as president and once as secretary of that local unit, in a position where two separate groups can't even muster enough members between them to equal the number of years of existence of the one organization we all, at one time, worked for. That's the PTA.

Yet, at this time last year, Bickel had 143 memberships in the PTA. They were all working together for a common cause. What happened since that check for the 143 membership dues of $85.80 was sent to the state PTA office? That is all that is required by the state and national PTA. It's 60 per cent of the membership dues or 60 cents of each $1 paid.

Of that $85.80 sent to the state PTA office only $14.30 left Idaho. In addition to the portion sent, the Bickel unit as well as other PTA's in Twin Falls, paid the PTA council dues of $30. These dues to the council were voted on and agreed to several years before I ever became a resident of Idaho, which was 1955.

Combining the total dues for state, national and PTA units, a total of $115.80 did leave the Bickel unit.

What about the income? That's derived at Bickel from the PTA family fun night (a little over $1,000 was deposited last year after that fund-raising event). The 50-cent-per-theater ticket book sales that is returned to the local PTA — amounting to $114.50 — and the 40 cents per membership dues that remains in the local unit stayed here. Does that add up to 60 per cent of the revenue raised, locally going for state and national support?

How much money actually remains in the local unit after the dues portions are paid depends upon how the local budget is set. Just what the officers want to spend is up to them and the membership. If Bickel parents or PTA members heard the budget presented last year (or any other year) they could have objected. But they did not. Expenditures include a past-president's pin, a gift to the school, refreshments, needs of the school patrol and Camp Fire groups — and many other items. You members decided how your money was going to be spent.

And so it is indeed a sad day for me to discover that the small amount of money that had to be paid for dues last year has brought about the existence this year of two separate groups at Bickel school. I know that this past year I personally spent out of my own pocket more than the amount of $85.80 — yes, even more than that $115.80 amount — in traveling to and from my volunteer work for the PTA, my church, the 4-H, Job's Daughters and the Heart Fund.

It is a day of sadness, a day of frustration to me.

RAY CROMLEY

Schooling Lack

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If we are not to see third, fourth and fifth generations of the same families on welfare, this nation had better find out what is different about poor families and how to assist and encourage them to help themselves. The record to date is not good.

If guiding this generation of families out of poverty proves too difficult a task, perhaps we can learn, at least, how to help their children break out of this prison.

There are, of course, many theories on how this could be done. More promising, however, is a five-to-six-year study paid for by the U.S. Labor Department and carried out by Ohio State University to determine the characteristics of potential recipients of family assistance payments. The study is not the definitive word on the problem, but it is a first step.

The Ohio State research indicated that poverty correlates with lack of education. Lack of education, in turn, correlates with a low level of education of the father or head of household and with a childhood spent in an area where educational opportunities were limited.

Those who had fathers with a low level of education, but who nevertheless were able to break away from the poverty circle, were the youngsters who, one way or another, managed to gain more years of schooling than their fellows.

In these cases, vocational training and more formal academic education were both strong pluses.

A relationship was found between premature withdrawal from high school and broken homes or early marriage.

The Ohio State research team also found:

— That for women at least, the poor are less likely than the nonpoor to have lived with both parents when they were teenagers.

— A relatively high percentage of poor families are large in size and have no male breadwinner.

The poor tend to be in worse health than the nonpoor.

The studies further suggest to the Ohio State team that, at least in the case of 45-59-year-old men in poor families, the problem of poverty may be less a matter of unemployment and more a lack of earning power.

Three out of five men, 45-59 years of age, white or black, living in poverty in families with at least one child, worked 50 to 63 weeks a year in the group and period surveyed.

Another 21 per cent worked 27 to 49 weeks. Ten per cent worked one to 26 weeks and 9 per cent did not work at all.

The median workweek was roughly 40 hours; but 10 per cent of the poor blacks and 20 per cent of the poor whites worked at least 3,000 hours in the year covered, which adds up to fifty 60-hour weeks in the year.

MR. SPECTATOR

Changing Times

You have to read it to believe it. Within the last day or two there have been a couple of side-light stories which have caught my eye.

One came out of Washington D. C. and the other came out of Los Angeles. Opposite sides of our nation! Why interesting?

From Los Angeles comes the big story of "do it yourself" divorces. You buy a divorce form, fill the thing out and then file it. The entire transaction costs about $50 against the price range of $600 to some $1,000 if you hire a lawyer.

At first, the courts were concerned but now, according to the story, they are leaning to the new system. One top judge in the state said that in the case of divorces which did not involve a lot of side issues he didn't see why the "cheap" way isn't the way to go.

Now some 20 per cent of the divorce cases in California are the "do it yourself" type. It's a big money saving for the uncomplicated couple just wanting to get unhitched.

Then the other story — out of Washington.

One Dr. Robert Shaw, an official of the Kefauver Society of Washington, announces licking postage and other stamps may be dangerous to a person's health — especially during the Christmas card mailing and gift wrapping season.

We didn't think it would come to this. We knew some people were against smoking, against sex — even against building any more dams on the Snake River — but this warning to not lick any more stamps is of concern.

Guess we will all have to keep our tongue in our mouth.

But to close it off — we would point out that the Kefauver Society is a semi-secret consumer organization whose avowed purpose is to protect consumers from the laxity of the agencies who claim to protect the consumer.

MUTED JINGLE

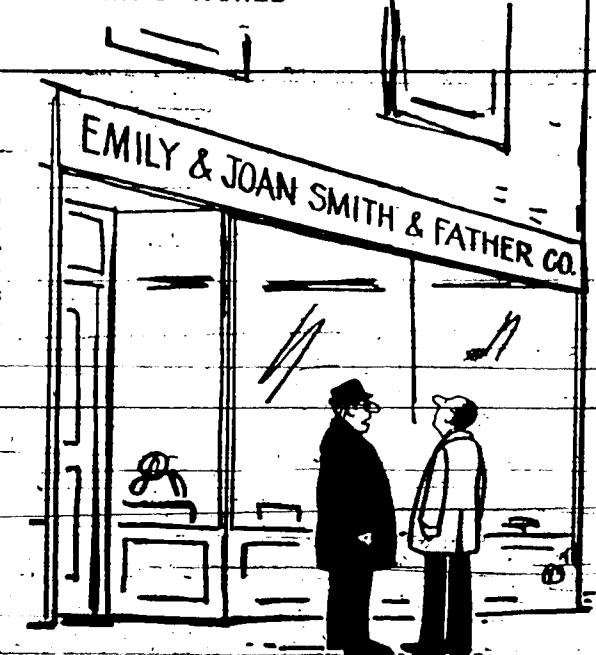

No coin shortage will develop during the Christmas shopping season. It has been several years since the Mint was unable to meet the seasonal demand at Yuletide.

But it was not always thus. Some years ago banks were forced to ration small coins to their commercial customers as shoppers swung into gift buying.

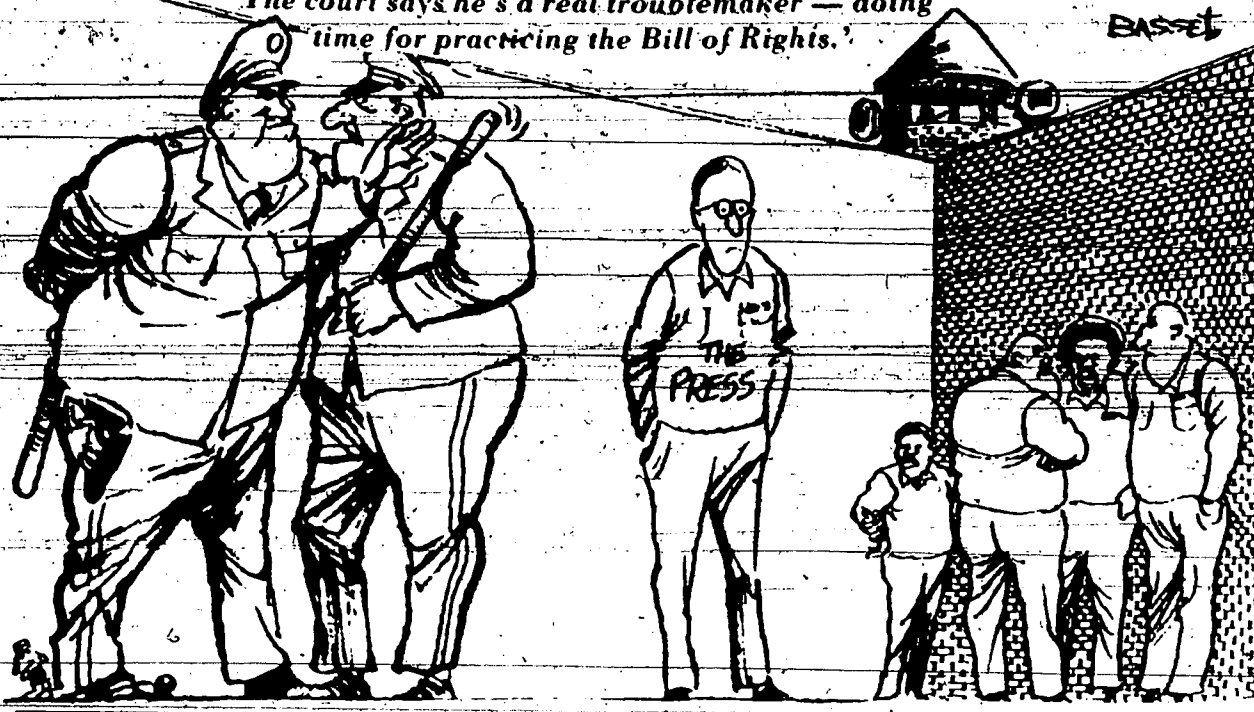

Two factors have eliminated the possibility of coin shortages: doubling of production by the Mint and dropping of silver from coins. There is little hoarding of new coins now that their intrinsic value is minimal.

Accurate figures are not available, but coin collectors today must be holding several billion dollars worth of silver coins. Their silvery jingle will not again be heard in the marts of trade, but the sound of their replacements will never be muted by shortages.

King slayer trial sought

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — According to a new petition filed in federal court James Earl Ray was the victim of a "legal lynching" by two attorneys and an author who took advantage of his plight for monetary gains.

The petition was part of a bulky package of legal documents filed Monday in an attempt to gain Ray a new trial in the 1968 assassination of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"In short," the petition said, "Ray's guilt was determined by the judge, the defense counsel, and outside pressures, but not by a jury or the admission of Ray himself."

"Political and extrajudicial pressures, not due process, determined the result. It was, in effect, a legal lynching."

Ray pleaded guilty in criminal court at Memphis on March 10, 1969, to the rifle-slashing of King in exchange for a 99-year sentence. King was shot to death on April 4, 1968, as he stood on the balcony of the Lorraine Hotel at Memphis, where he had gone to assist blacks involved in a garbage strike.

The habeas corpus petition filed Monday claimed Ray is being held in violation of his constitutional rights because of action of two of his former attorneys, Arthur Hanes Sr. of Birmingham, Ala., and Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., as well as those of William Bradford Huie, author of a book and magazine articles about Ray.

First Hanes, and later Foreman, entered into contracts with Huie and Ray regarding literary and movie rights to the Ray case.

"The two attorneys and Huie were insistent that Ray was guilty," the petition said, because "an innocent James Earl Ray was in irreconcilable conflict with a salable item."

"The market would not buy a story about a man who got arrested for a crime he did not commit," the market wanted to know who had done the foul deed.

By the time Ray's trial date approached, Ray had fired Hanes and taken on Foreman.

Boost looms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says next year's defense budget will have to be increased $4 billion in spite of an expected U. S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Laird told newsmen Monday that increased costs in manpower and expenditures in connection with negotiations for European security would account for most of the higher budget.

"I would not want to give you a figure at this particular time," Laird said. "As you know our expenditure rate is approximately $76 billion, and I would anticipate a figure slightly over $80 billion, for the next fiscal year."

Laird spoke at a news conference before leaving for Belgium where the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) meetings are being held.

Wallace advises on Demo reforms

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace wants the Democratic National Committee to get "in step with the people" when it meets Saturday in Washington.

In a four-page letter to committee members, Wallace urged Monday that the group "change the reform rules so we can have nominees that are not the product of reform clauses, but spokesmen for the thinking of people."

Wallace said that during 1972 he tried "in every way to guide our party toward a victorious platform and a course in tune with the people. Yet my efforts were rejected by the Democratic leadership (at the national convention), but not by the people."

"This means we must get the Democratic leadership in step with the people," Wallace did not mention Democratic chairwoman Jean Westwood by name in the letter.

Connally Demo again?

HOUSTON (UPI) — John Connally, former treasury secretary in a Republican administration and the man who headed a "Democrats for Nixon" campaign this year, has indicated he will not leave the Democratic party. In fact, he may be getting ready to become active in the party once again.

Connally said Monday he will do everything he possibly can to get Robert Strauss elected as the chairman of the Democratic party.

Connally and Strauss are conservative Texas Democrats and longtime friends. Strauss is actively seeking the job now held by Jean Westwood of Utah, who was appointed by Sen. George S. McGovern.

Connally never resigned from the Democratic party even though he became President Nixon's treasury secretary and was instrumental in formulating the Nixon economic policies.

He also worked for Nixon's re-election and many believed he would try for the GOP presidential nomination by 1976.

At a news conference Monday Connally indicated he plans to remain within the Democratic party. He also suggested that he will try to bring persons back into the party that were alienated by McGovern such as blue collar workers and southern conservatives who defected to Nixon this year.

Connally suggested one way to accomplish this task is the election of Strauss to replace Mrs. Westwood.

"Bob Strauss is a wise, able man who is committed to the Democratic party," Connally said. "He displays, in my judgment, the reasonableness that the party has to have. He is a man who believes that the party has to be rebuilt by including people in it and not excluding people from it."

Andrus likes O'Brien as interim chairman

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus says he is willing to support former national chairman Lawrence O'Brien as an interim chairman of the Democratic Party.

At a news conference Monday after his return from the Democratic governors' caucus at St. Louis, Mo., Andrus said he voted for ouster of Chairman Jean Westwood.

"At the conference, the Democratic governors called for Mrs. Westwood's resignation and then voted 18-8 with six abstaining to recommend former party treasurer Robert Strauss as her replacement."

Andrus said he voted against Strauss.

"This is no time to polarize on either end of the spectrum," Andrus said. "For a 12-month interim period I would support Larry O'Brien."

He said Mrs. Westwood represents the left extreme in the party and Strauss represents the opposite extreme.

"We don't want to read anyone out of the party," he said. "We need to broaden our base of support."

Andrus said the party cannot get support of the "Archie Bunkers" and "those who bowl every Saturday night" unless it takes a "more normal stance."

Idaho's Democratic National Committee woman Carolyn Selander said her two choices for chairman are O'Brien and Charles Manatt, chairman of the party's western regional committee.

She said she felt Strauss had done a wonderful job as a party fund raiser but she indicated he was not the man to head the party at this time.

Calley attorneys claim 32 errors

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (UPI) — Attorneys for Lt. William L. Calley have told a military review board there were 32 errors in the court martial that found him guilty of murder at My Lai.

Calley was sentenced to life imprisonment March 31, 1971, for the slaying of at least 22 villagers at the South Vietnamese hamlet March 16, 1968. There were allegedly more than 100 civilians killed when Calley led his troops into the village searching for Viet Cong.

The three-member review board heard six hours of arguments Monday in considering Calley's conviction as required by the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Some of the defense points were contradictory or impossible because the lawyers said they wanted to cover every possible legal dispute. This led the defense, for example, to say that Calley's sentence for murder should be reduced while arguing at the same time the conviction for murder was illegal.

Although the presentation was made Monday, none of the points were new. They appeared in the 461-page brief of the defense and in the 247-page brief of the prosecution filed with the review board last summer.

Most of the points raised by the defense were intricate legal issues involving the authority of the court martial to try the 23-year-old officer, the manner in which charges were made and the inadmissibility of some testimony.

But George W. Latimer, Calley's civilian attorney, also argued, "It was the policy, dictated from on high, to try to convict and punish the participants in the alleged My Lai incident in order to cleanse the Army of any guilt."

Flames kill two men

TWO truck drivers were killed in a flaming collision of a gasoline tanker truck and a tractor of another rig that exploded in flames near Dandridge, Tenn. Rescuers were unable to get close to the wreckage for about five hours. The Tennessee Highway Patrol listed the victims as William R. Milton and Donald B. Ewing, no ages or hometowns available. Interior secretary to pursue Indian looters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton has promised congressional investigators the government will "pursue vigorously" the persons who took equipment or records from the Bureau of Indian Affairs headquarters last month.

Morton also told a House Interior subcommittee Monday that political repercussions were considered in the administration's handling of the seven-day occupation of BIA offices by hundreds of Indian protesters.

The protesters caused damage estimated by BIA officials in excess of $1 million and also took art pieces as well as records from the building.

The subcommittee opened three days of hearings designed to determine who in the administration made the decision not to force the Indians out of the building and not to stop them from carrying away records and equipment.

Morton said that "we agreed to prosecute anyone for trespassing but we did not agree to permit theft of property." He said the FBI is investigating the Nov. 28 incident and intends to pursue vigorously anyone involved in thefts.

"We expect arrests will be made," Morton said. "That's why the FBI can't come up here and testify at this hearing."

Manila storm kills 100

MANILA (UPI) — Officials said today tropical storm Therese wiped out whole villages and killed nearly 100 persons Sunday when it whipped through the southern Philippines. Another 2,200 persons, it said, were made homeless.

The province of Misamis, on the island of Mindanao 480 miles southeast of Manila, was hit hardest with winds reaching typhoon speeds and strength.

Authorities said Therese blew out into the south China Sea early today and was losing strength.

Sen. Emmanuel Pelaez, who represents eastern Misamis, said he received reports that entire villages were "wiped out" by the storm.

The Philippine Red Cross said the coastal town of Salay apparently was hit hardest with 69 persons, most of them fishermen, reported dead there. It said 200 persons in the town were homeless and another

1,998 persons were homeless in Balingasac, another coastal town in the province.

The Red Cross said some bridges were reported down in Southern Cebu and reported damage to the banana crop on Bohol.

Pelaez said there appeared little or no damage to the provincial capital of Cagayan de Oro, a city of more than 125,000, but said at least five persons died in Gingoog, the province's second largest city.

Europe debate ends in security system call

HELSINKI (UPI) — The meeting to outline guidelines and ground rules for a proposed European security conference were representatives of the smaller or nonaligned bloc—Cyprus, Malta, Austria and Finland—as well as Spain and Hungary.

Spain's ambassador Nuno Aguirre de Carcer said everything decided about European security would directly affect the Mediterranean "and vice versa." He said countries bordering the Mediterranean should receive assurances that the conference would hear them.

Cyprus said the conference should turn its attention to the situation in the Middle East. "Security in Europe, means as well, reduction of tension in the Mediterranean area, which links three continents together and which has been a region of conflict for centuries," Cyprus said.

Ambassador Heinrich Pustirschmidt-Hardenstein of Austria reflected the position of small and the nonaligned nations by calling for respect of the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all states on the continent.

There appears to be no basis at this time to believe the F111 is mechanically or structurally unsound, the Air Force said. "Every effort is being explored to determine the cause of the four recent losses, and if deficiencies are determined to exist, appropriate action will be taken."

US Air Force says F111A plane sound

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force says the F111A jet fighter is a sound plane and should not be withdrawn from use in Vietnam despite the loss of four in combat.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Min., who asked that the planes be grounded until the cause of the combat losses could be determined said the Air Force decision was "totally unsatisfactory."

The Air Force responded in a Nov. 21 letter to Proxmire's request. Copies of the Air Force reply were released Monday after they were declassified.

There appears to be no basis at this time to believe the F111 is mechanically or structurally unsound, the Air Force said. "Every effort is being explored to determine the cause of the four recent losses, and if deficiencies are determined to exist, appropriate action will be taken."

Syrian army alert for Israel hit

By United Press International A Beirut newspaper said today Israel will launch a large-scale attack on Syria within the next day or two and that the Syrian army has been placed in a "maximum state of alert."

An Nahar, which also claimed Syria has recently received new supplies of Soviet defense weapons—including SAM-6 surface-to-air missiles — quoted Palestinian commando sources as saying "the (Palestinian) resistance movement is expecting an Israeli attack on Syria within the next 24 or 48 hours."

The paper said "some commando organizations Monday received special reports from their intelligence centers in Syria saying that Israel is preparing to deal a new blow to Syria." An Nahar said the attack will be aimed at Syrian military positions and added: "The Syrian Army stands in a maximum state of alert and all leaves for military personnel have been canceled."

Another Beirut newspaper, Al Hayat, reported Monday that "the situation along the ceasefire lines between Syria and Israel deteriorated sharply over the weekend and a new explosion seems imminent." It quoted Palestinian guerrilla sources as saying the Israelis had massed three armored brigades and built helicopter landing sites in Mount Hermon and two areas of the occupied Golan Heights. "The situation is very tense," the paper said, quoting reports from the area.

The source's comment on the Soviet weapons delivery coincided with the An Nahar article, which said "Syria recently received new supplies of modern Soviet defensive weapons, especially the SAM-6 mobile missiles supplied to Egypt before the withdrawal of Soviet experts from that country last July."

The source told Creatham the situation in the heights has been calm since the last fighting there Nov. 25 but that the Arabs are threatening new outbreaks.

Apollo 17 landing site said geologist's dream

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 17's landing site in the northeastern corner of the moon's front face seems to be an answer to geologists' dreams.

It is loaded with scientific potential. It may have some of the oldest rocks on the moon and some of the youngest. It may harbor samples from deep inside the moon and it may tell geologists more about the processes that sculptured much of the lunar surface.

"Some of those interpretations have got to be correct, and if less than half of them are correct, I think Apollo 17 has got the potential within its site of three times the return of Apollo 15," said Apollo 17 commander Eugene A. Cernan. Apollo 15 is considered the most productive of the five previous landings.

Apollo 17's landing area is called Taurus-Littrow after the Taurus Mountains and the old crater Littrow to the north. It is located at 30 degrees 44 minutes east and 20 degrees 57 minutes north on moon maps, near the southeastern edge of the great circular sea of Serenity. It is the easternmost area to be explored by man.

"It's a valley in the true sense of the word, a flat floored valley that's about 7 miles (4.3 miles) wide in the general area where we will be operating. On both the north and south lie quite steeply two major mountain fronts.

"We're referring to these as the north and south massifs after the French term for large block mountains. These go up from the valley floor to elevations of 6,000 or 6,500 feet. So they're quite high and they're only a mile or so from the landing area. So they'll be spectacular.

"The floor of the valley is covered with a dark mantle deposit of some kind. A number of lines of evidence suggest it is very fine grained and resembles volcanic ash deposits. There are numerous craters on the valley floor, not nearly as many as there are on other landing sites, but there are still numerous craters that will allow us to examine the bedrock of the valley—the material below this dark mantling deposit.

"Now one of the more spectacular features, and I would say least understood at this point, is a light colored deposit that streaks northward from the south massif. It has the characteristics of some kind of debris slide, an avalanche deposit."

The apparent land slide will give Cernan and Schmitt an opportunity to sample the south mountain. It is that mountain which geologists believe might be made up of rocks older than 4 billion years and possibly dating back close to the lunar beginning 4.6 billion years ago.

If the dark deposit on the valley floor is volcanic ash and cinders, it would be younger than the youngest rocks yet brought back from the moon—3 billion year-old lavas.

Dr. Noel W. Hinners, chief Apollo scientist, said the Apollo 17 landing site is the first selected solely on the basis of photographs and findings from earlier landing missions.

"It's the only site that was not in the original set of candidate sites before Apollo 11 flew," Hinners said in an interview in Washington.

In addition to the possibilities of the site holding some of the oldest and youngest moon material, Hinners said the volcanic deposit—if that is what it is—must have come from deep within the moon and have brought up samples from great depth.

ASTRONAUT Edward White floats in space and looks toward Earth more than 100 miles below during spacewalk from Gemini craft on June 8, 1965. Project showed that men could work outside spacecraft and they could survive in weightless world of space for at least 14 days. Information was needed in preparing for Apollo projects. (UPI)

Instruments can tell Lunar 'air' composition

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — There are two instruments aboard Apollo 17 that should tell scientists for the first time the makeup of the extremely thin atmosphere around the moon.

Earlier missions have shown the moon does have gases around it. But that lunar atmosphere is only one trillionth as dense as earth's and for practical purposes, the moon can be considered surrounded by a vacuum.

Nevertheless, it is important to scientists to know what gases are there, where they came from and how they move across the lunar surface.

Eugene A. Cernan and Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt will set up an instrument during their first surface excursions that is designed to identify the gases at the surface and measure their concentration.

The Apollo 17 command ship piloted by Ronald E. Evans carries an ultraviolet radiation detector which will measure most gases as they rise above the moon.

As a result of these two experiments, there's a very good chance the Apollo 17 mission will give us a rather complete picture of what the lunar atmosphere, composition and density is like," said William G. Fastie, Johns Hopkins University physicist in charge of the orbital experiment.

Dr. John H. Hoffman, principal scientist for the surface experiment, a mass spectrometer, said the major source of the thin atmosphere is probably the solar wind which blows a steady stream of electrically charged gases into space.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Camera buffs will have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity when Apollo 17 peers into a moonless sky on the final lunar landing expedition.

It will be almost like daylight when the five booster engines push the 363-foot machine off its launch stand at 9:53 p.m. EST Dec. 6. It is the first and last planned night launch of the world's mightiest rocket.

Before blastoff, the space agency said searchlights illuminating the black and white rocket will produce 225 foot candles of light. After liftoff, the Saturn will emit about 7,500 foot candles.

Amateur photographers using nonadjustable cameras probably will be unable to obtain a satisfactory picture during the prelaunch phase but will be able to obtain images at liftoff.

For cameras with adjustable lenses in clear weather, the agency recommends an exposure after liftoff of F4.5 with a shutter speed of 1-50 and ASA25 film, or F5.6 at 1-50 for ASA-64.

For motion pictures, the agency recommends exposures at 18 frames per second of F4.5 for ASA25 film, or F11 for ASA160.

Emblem Greek god

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The official Apollo 17 mission emblem is dominated by Apollo, the Greek god of the sun.

Apollo 17 is the end of the nation's moon landing project but astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt chose to emphasize not the finality but the beginning of a new age of spaceflight.

In their emblem, Apollo gazes toward Saturn and a galaxy which symbolizes the astronauts' belief that man's goal in space someday will include the planets and even the stars. Suspended behind the image of Apollo is an American eagle.

Four red bars on the eagle's wing represent the bars in the American flag and three white stars above the bars represent the three space pilots.

Last mission costly

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Apollo 17 mission is the last and most expensive in the moon landing project.

The expedition is costing $450 million, up $5 million from the price tags placed on the flights of Apollos 15 and 16. The first lunar landing mission, Apollo 11 in 1969, cost $356 million.

The difference in cost is due primarily to the increase in scientific instruments and additional equipment such as a moon car placed on later flights.

According to the space agency, the Apollo 17 command and service module cost $65 million, the lunar module lander $50 million, the saturn 5 rocket $185 million, the lunar surface and moon orbit science instruments $45 million and operations $105 million.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Put sparkle in your holiday parties with this French Riviera punch. Place a block of ice in your punch bowl. Add 1-fifth each of cognac, pale sherry and sauterne and 2 quarts of champagne.

DEAR ABBY: I get so tired when I read what some women write to you and complain about. Let me give you a sample of what my life has been like.

When I was a year old, my mother ran off with another man. My father boarded me out, and when I was 12 he remarried again, and I went to live with him and my stepmother. That marriage was no good, either. My father was a big drinker and used me sexually, so I got married at 14 just to get away from home. I had three miscarriages and one live child from that marriage, then my husband left me for another woman. I was only 21. Then I married again and I thought my luck had changed, but no sooner did we have a decent house and nice furniture than we got burned out and lost everything. No insurance.

Love makes difference

Last March, I was raped by two men on my way home from work and they broke my glasses. Then my husband got laid off from work, and on the way to pick up his unemployment check some kid in a jalopy hit him and totaled our car.

Right now I am in the hospital having a hysterectomy. Every word of this is true, but there are plenty of people who are worse off than I am because I have a man who loves me and I love him. LUCKY IN OHIO

DEAR LUCKY: Bless you. Matching your experiences in one lifetime would be a job for Job.

DEAR ABBY: I thoroly enjoyed reading your column concerning what some nurses in various hospitals around the country prefer to be called. However, there is a group among registered nurses that prefers to be recognized by a title not reflected in your column. We are known to family, friends, professional peers, and patients as "Mr."

And we represent about two per cent of the R. N. population of the nation. RALPH A. GEORGE, R. N.

DEAR RALPH: You mean that two per cent of all the registered nurses in the U. S. A. are MALE? Good night, Nurse!

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse, and I was irked by the letter signed "IRKED NURSE IN N. J."—she didn't like being called "nurse" by her patients.

How about the nurse who refers to her patients as "The gallbladder in bed 6," or "The prostate in bed 9?"

I think the impersonal manner with which some nurses treat their patients today is disgraceful. LOVE BEING A NURSE

A Lovelier You

SANTA WILL WEAR RED

By Mary Sue Miller

"A Lovely writes: I want to buy a red dress to wear Christmas Eve and at Christmas dinner. But I hesitate. My hair is flame red (natural) and my skin is quite pink. Do you think I dare risk it?"

The answer: A redhead looks marvelous in red, if the shade is right and her makeup is right. When hair borders on the flame—that means with bright, burning highlights—complementary reds in clothes have deep, rusty undertones. Hair necessarily bears an auburn cast before true, bright red can be safely worn. Even then, blue-red is usually a wiser choice.

In any case, the fabric wanted gleams, very softly, like velvet, dull satin or silvery knit. A print with splashes of red on a dark green ground might prove a beautiful compromise.

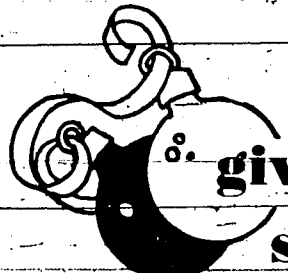

Now for makeup. First off, take pains to blank out excess pink in the skin. Do it with either an opaque foundation or a sheer one applied over tanning underbase. Hold eye shadows to the subtlest tints—mauves and taupes. Pastel peach, blossom pale, for your lipstick and nail enamel.

Lastly there's more to color than personal flattery. Why do you think that in spite of his red nose Santa wears red? To express the gaiety of the gayest season, that's why. Go ahead, risk it!

Fifty ways to ideal skin and natural makeup for young adults—ages 13 to 19—are detailed in my booklet, MODEL TIPS FOR TEENS. Happy holiday shopping

JEROME — Wise shopping will not only help you get the most for your dollar, but will lead to fewer instances of product dissatisfaction.

This is the advice given by Jerome County extension home economist.

It's probably impossible to totally eliminate buying merchandise which may need to be returned, but you can minimize it, and save yourself the time and annoyance of complaints and returns, she says.

Here are some suggestions to raise your shopping IQ:

—Do your homework. Read consumer articles and information in newspapers and magazines. Consumer guide books and periodicals are available in public libraries. Some give general advice and shopping guidelines. Others have specific information about certain products and can be especially valuable when you're considering a major purchase such as a sofa.

—Familiarize yourself with the stores in your area. Compare their prices, general quality, and operating policies. Check with friends to learn which firms they would recommend based on their experiences.

—When choosing between items of a similar nature, check the labels for brand names or company identification. Should something about the product prove to be unsatisfactory, and you have to return it, you may have more recourse than with products from unknown sources.

While the better known lines are sometimes more expensive—often reflecting extra product research, better quality—and post-purchase responsibility—they may save you money in the long run.

Again, ask friends for recommendations based on their satisfaction.

—Check, too, for guarantees on the merchandise. Some manufacturers offer a year of more guarantee on their merchandise. If the item does not live up to the guarantee, proof of purchase and the hangtag or label stating the guarantee will be helpful in obtaining a refund or replacement of the item.

—Be on the lookout for poor workmanship when buying clothing or household linens. Skipped stitches and uneven stitches can mean that the article will not last as long as it should. Seam allowances should be at least one-quarter of an inch for knit fabrics and five-eighths of an inch for woven materials.

—Look for solid construction when buying children's clothes. Jeans and pants should be reinforced at the knees with material on the inside, rather than added-on patches which often become loose after a few washings. Seams should be double or triple-stitched in stress areas.

Make a few easy tests on garments to assess their construction and durability. Zippers should open and close smoothly and lie flat without any bulges. Open and close snaps to test whether they're too tight, they may rip loose from the fabric. And, pull gently at seams—they should not stretch or pop open. If they do, report this to a sales clerk so that a less observant customer may be spared from buying and returning the defective item.

Examine buttons and buttonholes to evaluate the quality of the article you're buying. They should match up. Frayed buttonholes will get worse fast, crooked ones will strain and bunch up the fabric. Better quality clothing has interfacing behind buttonholes to give added strength.

A few extra minutes invested in wise shopping will generally pay off in long-term product satisfaction, according to the home economist.

Good keeping

TWO CHRISTMAS confections, wonderfully rich and fruity, boast an uncommon ingredient, instant mashed potato granules to make them moist and good keeping.

Good keeping Yule cookies too good to keep for long

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Oh what a delicious tradition is the making of Christmas cookies.

The colorful confections, wonderfully rich and spicily scented, are as much a part of the Yuletide season as is Santa Claus. Perfect for serving to family and guests during the holidays, an assortment also makes a welcome gift. And since we all like to add to our collection of recipes for these goodies, The R. T. French Company's Test Kitchens in Rochester, N. Y., have created two that are sure to become favorites.

Fruited Brown-Sugar Bars and No-Bake Noels are each distinctively different but both share an uncommon ingredient — instant mashed potato granules to make them delectably moist and good keeping.

The bars start with a crisp "crust" layer and then the fruit-filled, brown sugar meringue is added and the cookies are returned to the oven for another half-hour. A combination of crushed vanilla wafers, chocolate morsels and nuts makes the candy-like Noels.

FRUITED BROWN SUGAR BARS

1/2 cup butter, softened
1 1/2 cups firmly-packed brown sugar

1/4 cup evaporated milk or cream

1 1/2 cups sifted flour

1/4 cup 1/2 of 5-serving envelope

French's instant Mashed Potato granules

4 egg whites

1/2 teaspoon baking powder

1 can 13 1/2 oz. flaked coconut

1/2 cup mixed candied fruit

1/2 cup chopped nuts

Confectioners sugar, if desired

Candied fruit, if desired

Beat butter until fluffy. Beat in one-half cup of the brown sugar and the milk. Add one and one-fourth cups flour and potato granules; beat just until mixed. Press into bottom of ungreased 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add remaining brown sugar, beating until stiff.

peaks form. Stir together remaining one-fourth cup flour, baking powder, coconut, fruit and nuts. Fold into egg white mixture. Spread over partially baked cookie crust. Return to oven and bake 25 to 30 minutes longer. Cut with sharp knife while still warm. If desired, sprinkle with sifted confectioners sugar and decorate with candied fruit.

Makes 36 cookies.

NO-BAKE NOELS

1/2 cup water

1/2 cup milk

1 tablespoon butter

1 teaspoon salt

1 cup 1/2 of 5-serving envelope

French's instant Mashed Potato granules

4 cups sifted confectioners sugar

1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs (24 wafers, crumbled)

1 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels

1 cup chopped nuts

Flaked coconut

Chopped nuts

French's Cake Decorators

Combine water, milk, butter and salt in saucepan; bring to a boil. Stir in potato granules with a fork or whisk; whip briskly. Stir in sugar and wafer crumbs; mixture will be thin; chill.

Add chocolate morsels and nuts. Shape into small balls; roll in coconut, nuts, or cake decorators. Makes about four dozen.

South won the diamond lead with dummy's king and led a low heart. East played the eight and South won the trick. He played his ace of diamonds, ruffed his last diamond in dummy and threw East in with the ace of trumps.

East led the five of clubs and after a slight amount of thought, South played his seven-spot. West took his ace and shifted to a spade, but the defense had all the tricks they were going to get. South rose with dummy's king, led a club to his king and since East's queen of clubs had fallen, South was able to return to dummy with the 10 of trumps and get rid of his last spade on dummy's club jack.

Do you see why South elected to play the seven of clubs? It wasn't because East held the queen and got the ace. It was because when South reviewed the bidding he remembered that East had passed in second seat.

East had shown up with the ace of hearts and was marked with the queen of diamonds. If he didn't hold the king of spades, South was sure of his contract. If he did hold the king of spades, he couldn't also hold the ace of clubs but might hold the queen.

Therefore, when South played the low club he had given himself the best chance to make his contract.

Diabetics learn at center

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Diabetes is usually not a terminal disease, but for many American's the disorder signals a "psychological" death blow to the patient's life style.

Dr. Dana H. Clarke, Regional Diabetes Center spokesman, said, "Often depressed, diabetic patients resign themselves to a sedentary existence revolving around daily insulin injections. The fear of negative reactions from physical exertion reduces their activity to a minimum."

Clarke said this type of traumatic withdrawal from life is unnecessary. "We analyze the diabetic's social and psychological adjustments to the disease, trying to inculcate a positive attitude and a high degree of confidence about managing diabetes."

The professor of internal medicine is one of a team of University of Utah doctors running the center at the city's Holy Cross Hospital.

Since they began their one-week, live-in program at the hospital last February, about a dozen patients per week have participated in the course funded by the Intermountain Regional Medical Program.

Clarke believes the center is a form of preventative medicine.

"It teaches proper techniques of caring for diabetes before complications set in," he said.

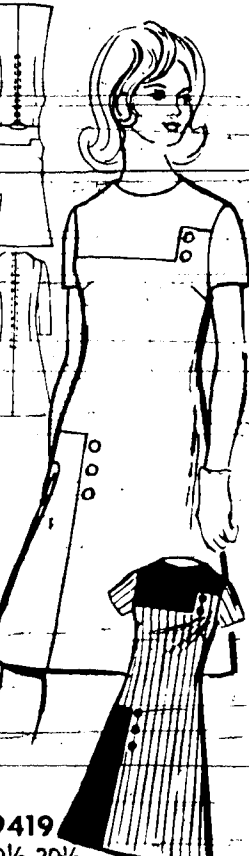

"Not only do patients usually lack knowledge of proper diabetes regulation, but they and physicians are often resigned to varying degrees of poor control."

He said diabetics should have a whole new perspective about their disease by the end of the course, with as good an education about the management of diabetes "as some physicians receive in medical school."

"There is a vast difference between trying to control diabetes in a hospital where everything is done for the patient and having the patient manage his own problem with a minimal amount of supervision," Clarke said. "The learning experience is having them do it for themselves. They must do it for the rest of their lives."

Long shipping strike ends

NEW YORK (UPI) — A five-week strike by 10,000 merchant marine deck officers which crippled the economy of the Hawaiian Islands and stalled shipping on the West Coast was settled Monday.

A spokesman for the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots said some 40 vessels idled by the dispute were immediately released.

Details of the agreement were not released, pending notification and ratification by the union membership, the spokesman said.

The strike against Pacific Maritime Association, employers' organization on the West Coast, began Oct. 24 and severely affected commerce in Hawaii, which is almost totally dependent upon surface shipping for consumer goods and other materials.

Hawaii was still reeling from the West Coast dock strike of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union last year and had not fully recovered economically when the deck officers stopped working — leaving island residents with the prospect of not being able to buy Christmas trees, among other items, for the holidays.

All "non-essential" items were left sitting on West Coast docks, including 500,000 telephone directories which were supposed to arrive by Dec. 1.

At least one firm announced bankruptcy and scores of others were in dire financial straits, many laying off employees to stave off imminent collapse.

The agreement was reached under supervision of the New York regional offices of the Federal Mediation Service.

The five-week long talks, according to the union spokesman, centered "on the whole contract."

The merchant marines walked off their jobs in order to secure a 5.5 per cent pay hike and other benefits. Their pay currently ranges from $1,500 to $3,000 a month.

A three-year contract between the two parties expired June 15 and the mates had been working without a contract until the walkout.

Matson Navigation Co., one of two major suppliers to Hawaii, said after the settlement: "Within four days, we expect to have a departure for Hawaii from all four West Coast gateways. These four sailings will lift over 85,000 tons of merchandise and all of it will be here (in Hawaii) by Christmas."

Youth heading homeward

BOARDING plane at Omaha International Airport, Washington, D.C., to return to Vietnam is Nguyen Van Ai, 12, who suffered severe burns to forehead, both hands, and right knee when his home was razed during military action at his village. Two sisters and father died in attack. Ai was brought to United States in 1970 by Committee of Responsibility — a group of physicians and laymen — for extensive surgery at Children's Hospital in nation's capital. (UPI)

US forces decrease

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. command spokesmen said Monday troop strength in South Vietnam fell to 25,500 Americans last week, the lowest level since February of 1965.

President Nixon had set Dec. 1 as the deadline to have no more than 27,000 troops in Vietnam. He did not order a new withdrawal schedule after that goal was met.

A spokesman said there was no announced plan for a continued withdrawal of troops, but that the figure could continue to decrease or even increase so long as it doesn't break Nixon's troop limit order.

The command said 2,500 servicemen were sent home during the week ending last Thursday. Leaving were 1,300 Air Force, 1,100 Army and 100 Navy personnel.

Pennsylvania initiates free treatment plan

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — With young Kevin Marshall standing at his side, Gov. Milton J. Shapp Monday signed into law a $250,000 program to give free treatment to hemophiliacs that resulted from Kevin's parents' desperate efforts to keep their son alive.

"I'm simply overwhelmed," said Mrs. Bonnie Marshall, who was once faced with going on welfare to qualify for her hemophiliac son's treatment.

"I never dreamed this was going to be the result of what I did," she said. "Now I know Kevin is going to be helped along with hundreds of other children."

The new law will provide free medicine for Pennsylvania's 800 hemophiliacs. Shapp, a millionaire who has since contributed $1,250 to the National Hemophiliac Foundation, said "Mrs. Marshall deserves tremendous credit for her persistent efforts in making state government responsive to this program."

Hemophiliacs, sometimes called "bleeders," suffer from a condition in which their blood will not coagulate.

The Marshalls, of suburban Camp Hill, went to the state for help months ago after they had exhausted their savings and private donations to pay for Kevin's hemophilia treatments. State officials told them that Kevin's father, Francis, would be forced to quit his $7,800-a-year job and go on welfare to qualify for free treatments.

When Mrs. Marshall protested, Shapp personally arranged to help Kevin. Public pressure also forced Pennsylvania to speed up plans for a comprehensive program for hemophiliacs.

The program, scheduled to begin in March, will establish treatment centers throughout the state that will dispense the expensive "blood product" needed by hemophiliacs.

The state will "repay" these centers by recruiting donors to replenish blood supplies.

Aide says toy hazards eliminated from wares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In response to charges of government laxness in the enforcement of federal toy safety standards, a top Food and Drug Administration official says there are few toys with hidden hazards left on store shelves.

Malcolm Jensen, the FDA's product safety director, said in a UPI "Washington Window" interview Sunday that "the great difference between the toy market this year and the toy market last year is the hidden hazards are pretty much eliminated."

Jensen, who said parents bear much of the responsibility for wise selection of Christmas toys for their children, added that "any adult who exercises reasonable caution this year will buy safe toys, and that's a pretty proud statement."

A Ralph Nader-sponsored research group released a report Friday alleging that "the total inadequacy of FDA's enforcement system" was largely responsible for the continued existence of hidden hazards in toys such as pins embedded in collars or squeaker devices that can be dislodged and swallowed.

The Nader researchers surveyed 19 metropolitan areas and reported they found 382 toys still on the market that had been banned as unsafe by the government.

"I think some consumer advocates do the public a very great disservice," Jensen said "by letting them know that if the government did its job and if the producers did their job, there would be no injuries, and that simply isn't true."

Jensen admitted that with 5,000 domestically-produced new toys on the market each year, the FDA's surveillance staff is hard pressed to effectively monitor all of them.

"For me to guarantee you or the people that we have gotten all hidden hazards would be valueless, but we've done a lot. I can assure you," he said.

Failure to agree cost job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The resignation of Richard M. Helms as director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) stems largely from "a serious and continuing policy disagreement" with White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger, the Washington Star-News said Monday.

Staff writer Oswald Johnston quoted "informed sources in the intelligence community" as the basis of his story on the Kissinger-Helms rift.

The White House in Key Biscayne confirmed Sunday that Helms would be leaving the CIA post but may be named to a position involving the foreign policy field.

The Star-News reported: "But insiders already are voicing skepticism that any job outside the intelligence field could be anything but a comedown for Helms, who is believed to have been anxious to stay on as CIA chief."

"A key element in this view is the belief within the intelligence community that Helms has lost the confidence of the White House — Kissinger especially."

Johnston quoted an unnamed source as saying: "Kissinger felt that Helms wasn't so much trying to support the administration as playing politics on his own — trying to keep his constituency together in the intelligence establishment."

Gooding council backs joint plan

GOODING — The Gooding City Council will draw up a resolution backing joint city-school recreation facilities. The action was taken at a council meeting Tuesday evening at the request of James Muscat, school superintendent.

The school and city will submit a proposal to the Idaho Parks and Recreation Department for funding of three tennis courts with a total cost of $12,587, not including the lights. Money would be granted at the 50 per cent level from the state government. Also included in the project is a lighted softball diamond estimated to cost $26,185.

Muscat told the council that he had been told by the Idaho Parks and Recreation Department that there was a "good chance" of receiving 50 per cent state funding for the project.

John Wilkins met with the council to request that city water be made available outside the city limits for a proposed 50 acre subdivision. Wilkins said that he would pay for materials and whatever else is needed to bring the water to the area. He said he needed to know if water pressure could be maintained at an acceptable level.

Construction would begin next fall, he said, with a minimum of eight homes and a maximum of 20. The lots would be sold in two-acre minimum sizes.

The subdivision would be located four tenths of a mile west of the city limits. The houses will be served by septic tanks.

Mayor Harley Crippen told Wilkins that the city would request that the city engineer study the feasibility of the project.

The problem of city sewer hook-ups to homes outside the city limits was discussed. Mayor Crippen said the Department of Health will not approve applications for private sewage treatment if the department feels the homes are within the reach of city facilities.

Crippen said it is not economically feasible for the city to install a lift station and other needed equipment to service the expected small number of applicants for city service.

The possibilities of annexation were discussed, but no action was taken.

In other council action City Atty. Cecil Hobday explained progress on the negotiations for the new American Falls Dam. Hobday, who is attorney for American Falls Reservoir District No. 2 and the Wood River Canal Co., said the situation is complex because there are 35 space holders some owing different amounts on the old dam and some who have paid-off what they contracted to pay for the original dam.

He said the problem now is what to do until a new dam is built and who will pay for it if and when construction begins. He told the council that a feasibility report by the Bureau of Reclamation is supposed to be due Dec. 14.

The council authorized the reading of city water meters for several months and estimating water use for the remaining five months. The meters will be read approximately every other month.

TF man faces charges

TWIN FALLS — Paul J. Bjornson appeared in magistrate court Monday on charges stemming from an armed robbery Nov. 20 at the Union Bus Co. Depot.

Bjornson, a 24 year old Twin Falls man who was arrested Friday afternoon by Twin Falls police, appeared in the chamber of Magistrate Reed Maughan on one charge of robbery and another charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

The charges stem from the early morning robbery Nov. 20 at the Union Bus depot in Twin Falls, in which the station clerk Roy Gwinn was shot and injured. He was treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and released two days after the shooting.

Maughan did not set a date for Bjornson's preliminary hearing at the Monday morning appearance, but continued the case set Friday at $20,000.

Twin Falls Police are still investigating the armed robbery. It was originally reported that two men participated in the holdup.

"Any secondary boycott, in my opinion, is unconstitutional and should be treated so," Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, said. "These agricultural products demand seasonal workers, labor disputes are unique to any other labor agreement or negotiation."

Some legislators answering the survey said they needed more time to study the agricultural boycott situation before taking a stand on the issue.

Permit protest aired by Ketchum, SV aides

KETCHUM — A protest has been lodged against the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce's application for a motor common carrier permit.

In a letter to the chamber, Sun Valley Stages, Inc., Kirkman Brothers Inc., and Boise School Bus Co., Inc. notified the group of their intention to protest the matter and to appear at a public hearing on the application.

The Idaho Public Utilities Commission (IPUC) has scheduled a hearing for 1 p.m. Friday at the Blaine County Courthouse, Hattley.

Monday, chamber officials declined to comment on the protest prior to the hearing.

The letter stated that: "The public convenience and necessity do not require the issuance of the permit to said applicant."

Presently, adequate companies hold authority to operate in the proposed area, the letter stated, and these companies are "ready, willing and able to perform the service within their authority in the subject area."

The protesters further stated that they have adequate equipment available "at all times to perform the service of transportation of persons and their luggage in all of the area mentioned" in the application.

The letter also disputed the chamber's qualifications as a non-profit organization, to hold authority for the operation of common carrier service in Idaho.

Funds for payments on two 16 passenger buses, maintenance and operation were earned in August through a chamber sponsored "Fund-a-Bus."

According to the IPUC, the chamber seeks a motor common carrier permit to transport persons and their luggage, including skis, over regular routes within a five-mile radius of Ketchum, including service to between Ketchum, Sun Valley and Elkhorn.

The application also requests permission to provide motor common carrier charter service over irregular routes between points within a 75-mile radius of Ketchum.

Computer plans aired at Burley

BURLEY — Burley may join with the Blaine County cities of Rupert and Heyburn in acquiring a computer on a joint cost and use basis.

Burley City councilmen decided to approach the other city councilmen with the idea during a regular council meeting Monday evening.

The possibility of a joint effort was one of many alternatives facing the councilmen as they investigated means of securing additional computer services for the city.

The finance committee, comprised of councilmen James Roper, Ted Smith and Cloyd Taylor, outlined the alternatives, which included the raving of a machine presently owned by the city which would permit appropriation and budget accounting in addition to its present use in payroll preparation.

Hugh Park, a representative of the Burroughs Corp., said improving the existing machine would cost approximately $2,000. Roper said the committee had also investigated the purchase of a computer for Burley use only. He cited computer specifications which were recently let for bid by Caldwell.

The bid specifications could easily be used as a basis for Burley's needs, according to Roper. Park said the lease of such a machine to Burley on a ten-year basis would cost approximately $323 per month.

Park appeared to discourage the multiple use and cost sharing idea for computer services. He quoted figures that totaled $2,400 per month in providing for the necessarily larger computer.

Senior housing project begins

GOODING — Construction of a five-unit Gooding Senior Citizens housing project has begun.

The units are located across the street from the Gooding Senior Citizens Center which is in the War Memorial Hall.

The $59,900 FHA loan for the project includes four one-bedroom units and one two-bedroom unit plus a laundry facility.

Contractors, Clark and Becker, Gooding, are excavating for the foundation which will be poured as soon as the weather warms up.

Applications for the housing may be submitted at Muffley Realty, Gooding. Applicants will be screened on the basis of need, according to Gooding Senior Citizens Housing Association President Tom Miller.

GOODING — The Wood River Resource Area Watersheds Committee has requested the WRRAC Council of Governments to ask for a memorial from the state legislature. The memorial would concern replacement of the American Falls Dam as soon as possible.

The watersheds water, rivers and canals committee chaired by Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, has also requested a local study of the Leabo diversion on the Little Wood River and the concrete flume north of Shoshone, which are flood control devices.

It has also been requested that the Big Wood Canal Co. study possible enlargement of the present Richfield diversion.

Area council approves law

KETCHUM — Ordinances pertaining to dog fines, a street renaming, and kayak sales and production were adopted Monday night by the Ketchum City Council.

After readings at three consecutive meetings, an ordinance amending an earlier ordinance on dog fines was approved, establishing a graduated scale for repeated offenses occurring during the same year.

For such offenses, the fine will be $5 for the first offense; $10 for the second; $25 for the third, and $50 for the fourth offense. A $3 impoundment fee will also be charged for each day a dog is confined.

In the second ordinance, Olympic Drive was renamed Corrock Drive in honor of Olympic skier, Susan Corrock. Also adopted was an ordinance adding a new subsection to uses permitted in a business district to include retail sales and production of kayaks. However the ordinance provides that the production area be limited to not more than 1,200 square feet and be confined to the rear of the building.

The ordinance will enable usage of the old Sabala Cleaners for kayak sales and production. Councilman Gerald Sidwell cast the only negative vote on the ordinance.

In other action, the council voted to take under advisement a bill for $319 submitted by Tony Ryssel Construction for repairs on gas lines incurred while the company was working on city sewers.

The council also acted to convey property to adjacent property owners on the alley in block 82, south Ketchum, which was vacated in 1936.

Youth petitions filed in Ketchum

KETCHUM — Thirteen juvenile petitions were filed Monday in connection with four separate incidents of theft and vandalism within Ketchum during recent weeks.

According to the Ketchum Police Department, all 13 juveniles involved in the cases were males, with the majority from Ketchum.

The petitions were filed in the juvenile court division of the Blaine County Magistrate Court. Hearings have not yet been scheduled.

A department spokesman said four arrests stemmed from the Friday evening rolling of a truck filled with fire wood down an incline, causing it to overturn. The truck sustained about $200 in damage.

Two juveniles were arrested after a car was rolled off a hill

Nov. 18 and collided with a garage containing a $50,000 vintage car. About $600 in damage was done to both cars and the garage.

Following about one week's investigation, seven juveniles were arrested in connection with the theft Nov. 24, of $30 from the coin change machine at the Tub Laundromat.

Six juveniles were arrested after the Nov. 18 theft of about $200 in cash and $50 in cigarettes from a cigarette machine in the Christmas Tree building.

The machine, valued at $400, was destroyed in the theft. A portion of the cash and cigarettes were recovered by department officers.

Investigation is being continued into the incidents, the department spokesman said.

Labor laws, boycotts aired

Editors: This is the seventh of several dispatches previewing some of the issues confronting the 42nd Idaho Legislature, today: the farm labor law and boycotts.)

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — When members of the 42nd Legislative session were asked what should be done about threatened agricultural boycotts, many flatly said they were illegal and should be treated as such.

In an answer to another question — 50 per cent of those replying to a United Press International survey said they were satisfied with the present farm labor act passed by the 1972 legislature.

Some lawmakers said secondary boycotts of agricultural products should not be allowed while others called boycotts in general a "national problem."

"Reasonable and fair treatment of all parties concerned should make these threats unnecessary," Rep. Israel Merrill, D-Blackfoot, said in answer to the question of boycotts.

But newly elected Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, said "any boycott deprives someone of their individual liberties and, as with strikes, are never a solution to the problem. Secondary boycotts are and should remain illegal."

Agreeing with Wheeler, Rep. Wayne E. Tibbitts, R-Lorengo, said, "agricultural boycotts benefit no one, especially the producer and consumer.

"Lettuce and grapes are costing the consumer as much now as compared to three years ago. Who pays?" he asked.

"Any secondary boycott, in my opinion, is unconstitutional and should be treated so," Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, said. "These agricultural products demand seasonal workers, labor disputes are unique to any other labor agreement or negotiation."

Some legislators answering the survey said they needed more time to study the agricultural boycott situation before taking a stand on the issue.

Of the remaining 50 per cent on the question of the farm labor act — some said they need ed more time on this question, others flatly said they did not have an answer, while 13 per cent said change was needed.

"The present act is a compromise between the agriculture and labor, and while it was not satisfactory in the view of either side, I hope we can live with it," Jackson said.

Sen. Art Murphy, D-Mullan, said, "It seems okay to me. It was good enough for the special committee appointed by Governor (Cecil) Andrus and the entire legislature."

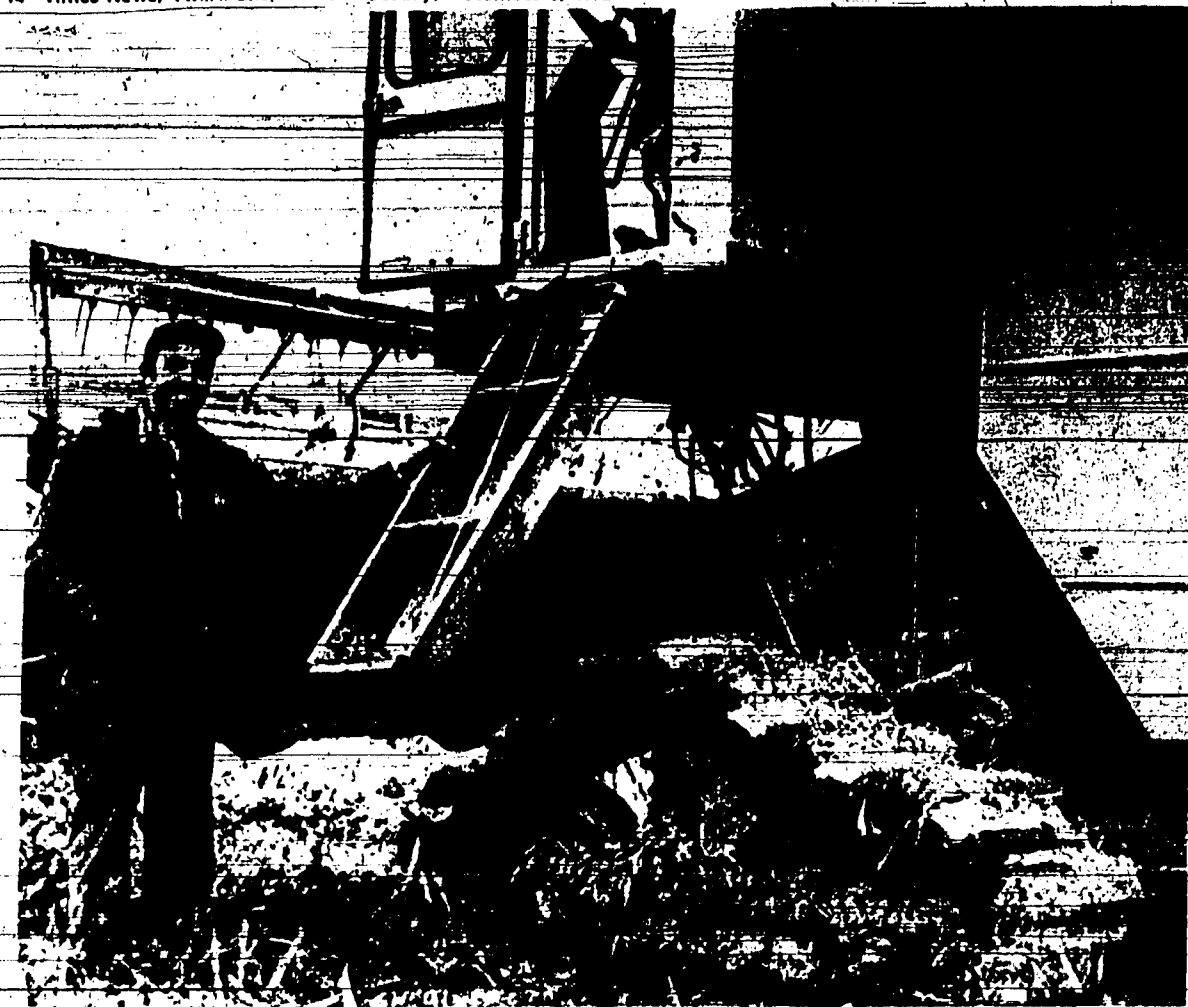

The governor appointed the committee composed of labor and management representatives during the last session of the legislature after he vetoed a bill to extend the act which covered such labor problems the year before. The committee drew up a compromise farm labor act and it passed both houses of the legislature.

"Idaho is an agriculturally oriented state. We should and must protect this perishable crop to see that it gets to the market place. If it takes a stronger labor law to do this, we should do so," Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, said.

One legislator said he thought the state law governing farm labor was adequate, but encouraged enforcement of existing federal laws prohibiting secondary boycotts.

HOUSTON (UPI) — The first Russian flagship to dock at a United States port since World War II will take on 11,000 tons of wheat Tuesday. Russian and U.S. diplomatic officials will participate in a ceremony Wednesday before the ship leaves with the shipment authorized by the recent multimillion-ton wheat agreement signed by the two countries.

Frank J. Hemmen, manager of the Cargill, Inc., Grain Elevator, said another Russian flag ship will arrive Wednesday for a 14,000-ton wheat shipment. "We're told that this is the first Russian flag vessel to call on a U.S. port since the Lend-Lease days of the war," Hemmen said.

EPA chief hits 1978 water quality deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William D. Ruckelshaus, Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), has charged that Congress acted irresponsibly when it set a deadline of 1978 for achieving nationwide water quality standards.

"The 1978 goal can't be achieved by any means," Ruckelshaus said during a television interview on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday. "It is physically impossible to do it."

Ruckelshaus, who defended the administration's decision to reduce by $5 per cent the amount of funds earmarked to fight water pollution, pointed an accusing finger at Congress.

"We've had years now of the federal government promising more than it can deliver, and this is just an example of that," he said. "Just because Congress says it's got to be done, doesn't mean it can be. I can't help it if Congress set that deadline—it's a level of achievement that can't be done. Congress ignored President Nixon's veto last month and approved the wide-ranging water clean-up bill. The law sets a national goal of clean waters by 1983 and authorized nearly $20 billion to do that job. Nixon claimed the dollar total was inflationary.

Ruckelshaus, under orders from Nixon, announced last week that $6 billion of the $11 billion authorized for the program over the next 18 months would be slashed, touching off outrage among environmentalists.

Swine growers elect

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho Swine Association annual meeting, attended by more than 60 members, elected Joe Wilhelm of Kuna president.

The meeting was arranged by the Southwest Idaho Swine Producers Association. Wilbur Plager of Lafayette, Ind., told the group "there is no business you can get into today for less investment and better return in a faster time period." But he said it takes work. "If you think you will be successful raising hogs sitting in a swivel chair and pushing buttons, forget it."

A New Plymouth farmer, Gene Witter, was named Pork All-American for the year. He will attend the pork council meeting early next year.

Gem farmers asked to assist campaign

POCATELLO — Secretary of Agriculture Earl I. Butz has called on the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation to help eradicate hog cholera.

In a telegram to IFBF president W. Dale Rockwood, Butz said: "I declared a hog cholera emergency because of increased numbers of outbreaks of this disease. Our goal is eradication of hog cholera. Success depends directly on the understanding and support of American farmers."

While your state may not be affected at this moment, swine in all states are at risk as long as hog cholera remains in the United States," Butz said.

Rockwood said Idaho has not had a case of hog cholera since Feb. 24, 1967.

Even though Idaho is designated hog cholera free at this time, he said, farmers and ranchers are being asked to be on the lookout for any sign of the disease.

Gabriel leads Rams to 26-16 upset of 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sore-armed Roman Gabriel, rising to the occasion, threw a pair of touchdown passes and David Ray booted four field goals Monday night to lead the Los Angeles Rams to an upset 26-16 victory over the San Francisco 49ers and revive their NFC-West playoff hopes.

Gabriel, despite tendonitis in his right elbow, threw scoring passes of 26 yards to Bob Klein and 39 yards to Willie Ellison and Ray booted field goals of 32, 12, 19 and 42 yards as the Rams climbed into a second-place tie with San Francisco, each with 6-5-1 records.

The Atlanta Falcons, who play San Francisco next week lead the NFC-West with a 7-5 record.

Gabriel's scoring pass to Klein 9:10 into the second quarter gave the Rams a 10-9 lead and Ray's second and third FGs increased Los Angeles' margin to 16-9 by the half.

In the third quarter a 27-yard pass interference call on Bruce Taylor set up the Rams at the San Francisco 47 and three plays later Gabriel connected with Ellison for a 23-9 edge.

Spurrier, who completed 27 of 46 passes for 257 yards, marched the 49ers 81 yards in 16 plays to get that one back on the final play of the third quarter and then Ray booted his fourth FG for insurance points midway through the fourth period.

Spurrier's touchdown passes were of six yards to Ted Kwalick and nine yards to Gene Washington.

Gabriel did not throw as often, hitting on 11 of 26 for 175 yards, mostly because Ellison and Jim Bertelson were able to penetrate the San Francisco defense with short but effective running plays. The Rams picked up 139 yards rushing while San Francisco managed only 50 yards on the ground.

The Rams defense picked off three Spurrier passes and one of them figured in the scoring. With Los Angeles leading by only a point late in the second quarter, Gene Washington slipped on the slick turf and Jim Bettles intercepted to set up an FG by Ray. Then, with a little more than a minute left in the game, Nettles again intercepted Spurrier to kill San Francisco's chances during a desperation drive.

S. Carolina wins easily

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Olympic star Kevin Joyce scored 18 points and blunted a second half comeback threat by Nevada-Las Vegas to lead South Carolina to a surprisingly easy 76-49 victory Monday night.

The win was the first of the season for the Gamecocks following a loss to powerful Tennessee over the weekend.

Purdue blasts St. Joe's

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue raced to its second straight basketball rout in three nights Monday with a 115-79 victory over St. Joseph's of Indiana.

Coach Fred Schaus used every player on his bench after his starters jumped into a quick 14-3 lead in the opening minutes.

Midway through the first half it was 33-15 and the Boilers led 55-35 at the half.

John Garrett, a 6-11 sophomore center, led Purdue with 21 points and Rick Rusinger tossed in 18 in relief.

Florida St. wins 87-70

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Second-ranked Florida State led every player on his bench after Eastern Kentucky with 14 straight points late in the first half Monday night and roared to an 87-70 victory over their much smaller opponents.

During one stretch of less than five minutes in the first half, the Seminoles outscored the Colonels 19-2 to seal the victory.

Ken Buchanan stops Korean fighter early

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Buchanan of Scotland, who lost his lightweight title in this same ring just over five months ago, came back with a vengeance Monday night and stopped Chang Kil Lee, of Seoul, South Korea at 1:43 of the second round at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Johnny LoBianco, the same man who ruled that Buchanan could not continue in his fight against Roberto Duran and awarded the title to the new champion from Panama here last June 26th, this time had to restrain the flashy Scot from causing any further damage to the dazed and stunned Lee. The loser previously had won 19 straight fights and was billed as the oriental junior welterweight champion. Buchanan staggered Lee in the center of the ring with right hand and then followed up with lightning quickness and peppered the Korean with a left-right combination that dropped Lee in a neutral corner. Buchanan went for the kill and every punch he threw landed with authority and power and LoBianco fought his way between the two men to stop the fight just seconds later.

Buchanan, seldom a man who shows emotion, threw punches wildly in the air after LoBianco had stopped the fight in obvious elation over his stunning early success. Buchanan had vowed since his loss to Duran that he will win back the title he once owned right here in New York.

Buchanan was scheduled to meet Duran last month but the fight was cancelled when the champion decided he would defend back in Panama. The contract is still pending and the two fighters will meet again, probably this summer.

It was Buchanan's 45th victory in 47 fights and his 18th by knockout. The former champion weighed 135 1/2 while Lee came in at 136.

Lee's countryman, Hyun Rim, was beaten by Walter Seeley on a unanimous in the first of the two scheduled 10-rounders.

Carolina blasts Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Billy Cunningham scored 28 points and Joe Caldwell limited Dallas' leading scorer Rich Jones to just four points as the Carolina Cougars defeated the Chaparrals 132-110 Monday night.

Cunningham paced the Cougars to a 62-44 halftime lead and Carolina, which increased its east Division lead over second place Virginia, was never headed.

BOSTON (UPI) — Larry Pleau led a four-goal assault in the first period Monday night as the New England Whalers trounced the Ottawa Nationals 12-2 in a World Hockey Association game.

Pleau scored a goal and two assists in the period and added another assist in the third stanza while linemate Tim Sheehy scored twice in the game as the Whalers vaulted into a first-place tie with the idle Cleveland Crusaders in the WHA East.

Ohio State tops Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — sixth-ranked Ohio State, trailing by eight points with 5:18 left in overtime put the Buckeyes, now 2-1, ahead for good at 77-75 and they wrapped it up by scoring the final four points.

Notre Dame, 0-2, led 37-29 at the half and held the edge almost until the end. But Ohio State moved within two points, 67-65, with an 8-2 scoring surge and finally tied it with 2:33 left in regulation play on Dan Gerhard's 23-foot jump shot from the top of the key.

Michigan defeats Oregon St.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Henry Wilmore scored 28 points Monday night to lead Michigan to a 68-57 win over Oregon State.

Junior Guard Richard Plante, the Beavers' leading scorer, did not play because of an unconfirmed case of the flu.

Sam Whitehead led Oregon State with 18 points, while Ron Jones had 10.

The Beavers lost any chance they might have had midway through the second half when their two big men, Neil Jeronson and his replacement, Steve Erikson, both fouled out.

Iowa shocks Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Iowa, with all five starters scoring in double figures, shocked seventh-ranked Kentucky 79-66 Monday night.

Candy LaPrince and Neil Fegebank led a second-half Iowa spurt that broke open a 40-40 halftime tie. LaPrince scored eight of the first Iowa points in the second half, while Fegebank got 12 of his 14 points in the last half when the Big 10 visitors stretched their margin to as much as 15 points.

Purdue coach resigns after winning season

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Bob DeMoss, who has spent 26 of 45 years on the Purdue University campus as a Boilermaker player and coach, resigned as football coach Monday after a 6-5 season.

It's gotten to the point where football was taking 100 per cent of my time and my family deserves better than that," he said.

DeMoss, whose Boilermakers ended the season with a 42-7 triumph over arch-rival Indiana, accepted a Purdue offer to become assistant to Athletic Director George King Jr., and King announced an immediate search for a new coach.

For his three years as head coach after he was hand-picked by his predecessor, Jack Mollenkopf, in 1969, DeMoss had a 13-18 record.

Before this season started, it was known that DeMoss had been told he had to produce a winning season or else.

But King insisted at a news conference Monday at which the decision was announced that there was no pressure whatsoever on Bob in his decision-making process from the trustees, President Arthur G. Hansen, our athletic affairs committee or myself."

The 1972 season was a strange one. At the start, Purdue lost three in a row, raising to eight straight the number of defeats over two seasons. Then they perked up as the Big Ten Conference race opened, and soon Purdue was one of only three teams in the Big Ten to win at least one game.

But the Wolverines edged the Boilermakers and ruined their chances late in the campaign.

DeMoss went to Purdue as a freshman in 1945 from a high school in Kentucky and won the starting quarterback role immediately. He played under Coach Cecil Isbell and had a successful four-year career, setting Purdue records for total offense and passing. He had a passing record of 101 completions for 2,759 yards.

Except for one year as a professional, DeMoss has been at Purdue ever since. In 1950 he joined the coaching staff as quarterback coach. Later, he became head freshman coach and then was backfield coach for 13 years before Mollenkopf turned over the team to his care.

"I made my mind up to talk to George about my deliberations on Friday afternoon, and he was understanding," DeMoss said. "It's gotten to the point where football was taking 100 per cent of my time. My family deserves better than that."

"I haven't even been to visit my son, Gary, in college at Miami of Ohio yet and he's already a junior," DeMoss added. "My family and my university come first with me and I feel that they will both benefit by my decision to leave coaching."

King said he was glad DeMoss decided to stay at Purdue.

"We desperately needed a football man on our administrative staff," said King, former Boilermaker basketball coach, "and we couldn't find a better man for the job."

King said, "We'll be devoting all our energy to finding a new coach the next few weeks. The man we hire will be a top-flight coach and a class guy."

DeMoss said, "This has been the toughest decision of my life."

"Maybe next week or next month or next year I wouldn't have made this decision, but I couldn't take any longer to decide because I want Purdue's new head coach to do a good job recruiting this winter."

Johnny Majors is mentioned for SMU

DALLAS (UPI) — Johnny Majors, whose name has been mentioned each time a coaching vacancy has occurred for the past two years, was mentioned again Monday on the list of "possibilities" for the job now open at Southern Methodist University.

SMU fired Athletic Director and Coach Hayden Fry last weekend despite the Mustangs' 7-4 season, prompting a show of bitterness from both Fry and his players.

Fry said he had been told by school president Dr. Paul Hardin, that while considering the action, SMU officials consulted members of the Dallas Cowboy staff as to the kind of job they thought Fry was doing.

Hardin promptly denied the Cowboys were involved in Fry's dismissal.

The committee which will pick SMU's new coach went to work Monday in an attempt to get the job done quickly so the new coach can take full part in the annual recruiting wars.

"We want to talk to four or five of the best men in the whole country," said Hardin.

Reports indicated four of the men involved were Majors, of Iowa State, Lou Holtz of North Carolina State, Dave Smith of Oklahoma State and Oklahoma assistant coach Barry Switzer.

Majors' Iowa State club, which slumped at the end of the year to a 5-5 record, has his team in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 18 against Georgia Tech. He is also being mentioned as a possible replacement to the retiring Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State.

Although it appeared Fry's firing was inevitable no matter how well his team performed at the end of the season (SMU won its last three games), there was general criticism of the timing used by the school.

Fry was advised of his dismissal 24 hours before the team played its final game.

Following the SMU victory over TCU Saturday, Fry said Hardin had told him "some members of the Cowboy staff said that we had done a poor job of coaching."

Fry said he meant no disrespect to the Cowboy coaches. He said he was just repeating what Hardin told him.

Hardin denied the Cowboys were involved.

Winner will be announced

NEW YORK (UPI) — With Nebraska and Oklahoma boasting three of the leading candidates for the award, the Heisman Trophy winner will be announced Tuesday.

The announcement will be made at the New York Downtown Athletic Club at 1 p.m.

Johnny Rodgers of Nebraska and Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma, two of the most elusive runners in the nation, are considered the top contenders for the division ourselves by winning award, presented annually to the top football player in the nation.

We're either going to do it or not. You can't ask for a fairer chance than that."

Also in the running for the coveted honor is middle guard Rich Glover of Nebraska. Van Brocklin said he preferred seeing San Francisco win Monday night since that would drop the Rams two games behind "and turn our first-time title race into a two-gone to a interior lineman and defensive player."

The Atlanta coach indicated

Atlanta begins preparations for showdown against 49ers

ATLANTA (UPI) — "This is not only opportunitly week, it's manhood week," Atlanta Coach Norm Van Brocklin said Monday as the Falcons began preparations for next Sunday's showdown with the San Francisco 49ers.

The Falcons, 7-5 after beating Houston 20-10, will either lead the Forty-Niners (6-4-1) and Los Angeles (5-5-1) by half a game in the tight NFC West race if the Rams should win Monday night, or trail San Francisco by half a game if the Forty-Niners win.

"We don't need anyone else to do our work for us," said Van Brocklin. "It's simply a case now of winning the game on the field."

San Francisco never changes its offense or its defense," he said. "They keep doing the same things. They are good enough that they don't have to change. We know San Francisco and know what they will do."

Sunday's game is in San Francisco. In the first meeting this year between the two teams in Atlanta, the forty-Niners won 49-14.

That first game was just one of those things," said Van Brocklin. "You can expect an entirely different sort of game Sunday."

Van Brocklin said he was convinced that Steve Spurrier will be at quarterback for the Forty-Niners next Sunday.

Chargers coach files protest

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A protest against the officiating in the Oakland Raiders' 21-19 win over the San Diego Chargers was filed with the league office Monday by Chargers coach Harland Svare.

He told the sportscasters' sportswriters association that two penalties instead of one should have been called on the next-to-last play of the game, which gave Oakland the American Football Conference western division title.

Referee Dick Jorgensen called a five-yard accidental face masking penalty against the Raiders' Dan Conners, and Chargers kicker Dennis Pardee subsequently missed a 51-yard field goal.

Svare contends Conners threw his helmet and cursed the officials, which should have been a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct assessment. Head linesman Ed Marion threw another flag, but Jorgensen said later it also was for the face-mask violation.

Neither coach had much to say about the call after the game was over, but the players were vocal.

"They told me on the field there were two penalties," Chargers tight end Patulis Norman said. "I asked if we get yardage marked off for both of them and was told we do. If I get fined for saying this, that's okay."

The National Football League has a rule against criticizing the officiating.

Norman said he talked to Marion later and told him, "I don't believe you're telling the truth."

He said Marion would not deny it.

"I didn't say much," Conners said afterwards. "I just called him (the official) a —."

Oakland defensive back Jim Warren said afterwards that he convinced the officials Conners was just throwing his helmet because he was jubilant about the win.

The Chargers also released their injury report. Svare revealed that defensive tackle Ron East underwent surgery Monday night for torn knee ligaments.

Dan Devine settles into head job at Green Bay

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dan Devine was driving along in his car when he turned on the radio and recognized the voice he heard immediately.

He should've. It was his own.

This was a year-and-a-half ago shortly after he had given up what had all the earmarks of a lifelong job as athletic director and head football coach with the University of Missouri to take over as general manager and head coach of the Green Bay Packers.

Much was made of the fact that here was Dan Devine coming fresh out of the college ranks to take over the two top jobs with a professional club. That doesn't happen very often. Usually a man either plays professionally or comes in as an assistant, then works his way up.

But Devine came in cold and he was coming into a place and into a job where one of his predecessors, the late Vince Lombardi, had grown into a legend.

Did he think he could ever possibly take this man's place? Did he feel he could bring the Pack back? Why? How? When?

The truth is nobody will ever replace Vince Lombardi at Green Bay. Phil Bengtson could have told Devine that. But it's also true Devine has restored some of the Packers' previous dignity, particularly among themselves, and even if he isn't another Vince Lombardi, and never will be, the effect essentially is the same because Green Bay is back on top again and conceivably could keep on going to the Super Bowl.

Devine remembers how he was bombarded with questions when he first came to the Packers. He remembers how he was riding along in his car that evening a year-and-a-half ago and how he heard himself being interviewed.

"I was really tired of listening to myself make statements, but that was and still is really part of my job," he says. "I tried to explain that to my squad, the part of my job was to answer questions somebody would ask me. I hadn't even coached a down yet, and suddenly I had become an expert on pro football and the Green Bay Packers. Quite frankly, I couldn't take much more that night I was riding alone listening to myself being interviewed. I was making myself sick. So I turned the radio off."

That is something the late Vince Lombardi might have done. He wasn't that enchanted with interview sessions.

Devine also plays more or less the same type football Lombardi did. In a nutshell, do what you do best and keep on doing it. Stay with your ground game. The sweep is the dominant factor. Throw only when you have to.

You walk into the Packers' dressing quarters now and there are still some signs there Lombardi put up.

Like "We can't spell success without you," and "There's no laughter in losing," but the fact is Devine made sure to establish his own identity after taking over the Packers, and although the name Lombardi still comes up from time to time, and no doubt always will, Devine and the late Lombardi are nothing at all alike.

To begin with, Devine doesn't appeal to his players' emotions the way Lombardi did. For another thing, soon after he took the job, Devine dealt away some of the so-called Lombardi players and brought in his own.

He sent quarterback Don Horn to Denver — Lombardi always was high on Horn — in the first deal he made, and it worked out fine for the Packers because they acquired the Broncos' first draft choice, who turned out to be John Brockington.

Others who Devine sent packing were Donny Anderson, Jim Grabowski, Travis Williams and Lionel Aldridge. All bore the Lombardi stamp.

Most of Devine's deals have been good ones.

He got MacArthur Lane, unhappy in St. Louis, for Anderson, and Lane is one of the big reasons the Packers are atop the Central Division in the NFC right now. The former Cardinals' running back has been doing a tremendous job blocking for Brockington and is the leading pass receiver on the club as well as the second leading rusher.

Lane likes being with the Packers, and although he never played for Lombardi, he sees some of Lombardi's influence still with the club.

"You know how the sweep works, well it's just been handed down from Lombardi to Bengtson to Devine," he says.

"These guys love to run, a sweep. Being a Packer, you always thing of Lombardi. His name always seems to come up some way."

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again — Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever, doc-

Those students who go to college to get an education are in the minority, definitely. Among the men, the majority go to help themselves get jobs. Among the girls, the majority go to find husbands. Oh, you already suspected that? Likewise. But studies by the U. S. Office of Education confirm it.

THE GOURMETS with oddball appetites have enjoyed the following food combinations as a matter of record: Hot pan gravy on chocolate cake. Fruit cake afloat in split pea soup. Cream and ginger ale. Swiss cheese in a sandwich of angel food cake. And vodka poured over corn flakes.

—WHY I DON'T know, but women are far more apt to dislike their given names than men are, surveys show. As previously reported, Beulah and Bertha are a couple of those most disliked names. Others are said to be Rose, Hazel, Ethel, Mable, Gertrude, Myrtle and Pearl.

BREAD

Best of the bakers, it's said, can tell you the moisture content of bread dough within 2 percent just by kneading it. . . . ORIGINALLY, all writing moved from right to left, all of it. . . . UNDER THE RULES of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, any member rider who writes a bad check is out, that's it. . . . THERE'S ALSO such a thing on the market as sweet potato ice cream. . . . IN VENICE, it's the best man, not the groom, who customarily places the ring on the bride's finger.

LOBBIES of only about half the banks in this country are scanned by hidden cameras. Odd, too. Those instruments work to catch the robbers. Exactly 14 out of 16 relatively recent robberies in Baltimore were solved with photos from hidden cameras. So were 70 out of 93 robberies in Detroit. And 14 out of 15 robberies in Pittsburgh. And a full 29 out of 29 robberies in Washington, D.C.

ALPINE

No young mother who thinks it too much trouble to nurse her own infant should forget the female elephant. She nurses her offspring for five years.

COLDEST FIVE DAYS of the year in this country ordinarily hit from February 5 through 9. Records dating back to the turn of the century show that:

IT'S STILL CLAIMED 16 out of every 100 citizens have never been to dentist. Hard to believe. Only two out of every 100 citizens have never been to medical doctors, that's known.

GET IT RIGHT: Doesn't hurt a watch to turn its hands backward. A rat won't instinctively desert a ship before some ill-lated trip. And no one star in the U.S. flag stands for any particular state.
