

Fewer US jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped last month from 5.5 per cent to 5.2 per cent, the lowest in 27 months, the government said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said the number of persons with jobs held steady at 82.5 million in November after rising steadily for more than a year, while the number of unemployed workers dropped by 300,000 to 4.5 million, the fewest since September 1970.

The BLS said the reduction in joblessness all occurred among adult workers, divided equally between men and women.

Average weekly earnings of rank and file workers declined

$1.12 in November to $138.01 because of a 12-minute decline in the average work week to 37.1 hours. The average work week in manufacturing, however, rose by 12 minutes to 40.9 hours, the longest in four years.

After hovering around the 6 per cent mark for 19 consecutive months, the unemployment rate has now fallen nearly a full percentage point since May. It dropped to 5.5 per cent in June and held virtually steady at that point until falling in November to 5.2 per cent, the lowest since the jobless rate was 5.1 per cent in August 1970.

President Nixon originally set a goal of reducing unemployment to 4.5 per cent by the middle of 1972, but more recently the administration has been pointing toward getting it down to 5 per cent by the end of this year. The November drop puts the administration within striking distance of the target when the December report is issued next month.

The BLS said jobless rates for most groups of workers declined substantially in November.

Apollo alters course

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Firing their main spaceship engine for the first time, Apollo 17's astronauts today steered away from a lunar collision course onto a safe, accurate path for a farewell rendezvous with the moon.

"Ho, ho, there we go," said command module pilot Ronald E. Evans after the big powerplant fired a two-second burst 12:03 p.m. EST. Apollo 17 was more than halfway to the moon at the time.

The maneuver added 7 miles an hour to the spaceship's 2,766 mph speed. That was enough to switch Apollo 7 from a course that would have hit the moon to a path that will take the astronauts an estimated 61 miles in front of the sphere when they brake into orbit.

Evans, Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt were awakened at 9:33 a.m. to this comforting report from Robert A. Parker, at earth control: "You guys look absolutely super. No problem at all."

Schmitt, before going to bed for the night, reflected briefly as a scientist on all the awesome sights he had seen: "One philosophical point, if anything comes out of it, is that somebody probably 3 1/2 billion years ago or so could have looked at the Earth and described patterns not too dissimilar.

"And it was within those patterns that life developed. And I certainly think all of us feel it has not stopped doing that progression and we're probably see it do things that even you and I can't imagine it doing."

He also wished, he said, that they had a poet on board one of these missions so he could describe the things we're missing.

Lanting named speaker

REP. WILLIAM LANTING still Gem speaker

BOISE (UPI) — House Speaker William J. Lanting, R-Hollister, won a razor close race to retain his legislative post Thursday.

Rep. H. Ferd Koch, R-Boise, won the job of house majority leader.

Lanting beat Koch 26-25 to win renomination from the Republican caucus. Then Koch was chosen to back him up as majority leader by a unanimous ballot.

Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, ousted Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, as assistant majority leader. Rep. Russell Fogg, R-Idaho Falls, won the job of GOP caucus chairman.

On the Democratic side of the aisle, Rep. Melvin Hammond, D-Boise, beat Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, for the job of minority leader. Rep. Bruce Sweeney, D-Lewiston, was named assistant minority leader and Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, caucus chairman.

Lanting first became speaker of the house after then Rep. Pete T. Cenarrusa, R-Carey, resigned to take appointment as secretary of state in 1967. He subsequently was re-elected.

Koch said in his job as majority leader he will push toward moving the first regular session to an early conclusion.

Hijackers' bid foiled; 7 killed

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Five men and two women armed with rifles and a hand grenade tried today to hijack a tourist-packed Ethiopian Airways jet but were shot to death by security guards in a shootout high above the Ethiopian countryside, airport officials said.

One of the male hijackers exploded a hand grenade, injuring eight persons, including a U.S. oil company executive and an American university professor, Radio Ethiopia said. Airport spokesmen said two security agents and a crew member were wounded.

Listed in grave condition at Addis Ababa's American Adventist Hospital were S.V. McCollum, Houston Texas, executive vice president of the Tenneco Oil Co., and Dr. Roderick Hilsinger, of Temple University, Philadelphia, the radio said.

Witnesses said the hijacking attempt occurred about 15 minutes out of Addis Ababa en route to Paris. They described the hijackers as "in their 20's and appearing to be Ethiopians."

They said one of the male hijackers pulled the pin of a hand grenade and was about to throw it towards the passengers when he was shot.

The grenade "fell into Hilsinger's lap but he jumped up and threw it away from us," one passenger said. The grenade exploded in the after section of the Boeing 707, blowing a hole in the fuselage but the pilot was able to land safely at Addis Ababa.

Two crew members and two other passengers, including Paul Muller of Zurich, Switzerland, were slightly injured by the grenade blast that ripped a hole in the Boeing 707's fuselage and knocked out one of its engines.

Other passengers included R. R. McCall, of New York City, Texaco's eastern hemisphere general manager, and D.O. Nelson of San Francisco, president of Chevron, Oil Company's overseas division. Others hospitalized included stewardesses Aster Zereta and Litma Massarin and London ornithologist Rodney Searlight, a hospital spokesman said. He said all were suffering from shrapnel wounds caused by the grenade blast.

Vietnam sessions continue

PARIS (UPI) — White House aide Henry A. Kissinger met President Georges Pompidou today shortly before his fifth meeting with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho, and French diplomatic sources said the Vietnam peace negotiations appeared near their end.

Kissinger started talks with Tho at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST) in a mansion belonging to an American jeweler in the fashionable Neuilly sur Seine suburb.

The U.S. diplomat arrived first at the villa and when Tho arrived accompanied by his aide, Xuan Thuy, the American walked down the steps, shook hands with both, and escorted them into the house.

Earlier, Kissinger spent 75 minutes at the Elysee Palace.

The newspaper Le Monde said there were indications the political solution already had been reached and the negotiators were discussing application of the peace accord in a separate dispatch from Saigon, Le Monde said "a cease-fire might be announced in the coming days."

Kissinger talked for 30 minutes with Pompidou at the Elysee Palace immediately after he had a 40-minute discussion with a high government official, Pierre Juillet. Juillet is a personal friend of Kissinger and is known to be close to Pompidou.

Kissinger met for lunch Thursday with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann. France is host nation for both the Kissinger-Tho talks.

HST still reported critical

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The failing heart of Harry S. Truman "is showing the signs of considerable irritability and stress," his doctors said today. The 88-year-old former president slept fitfully and was in critical condition.

"His heart condition is not as good this morning as we had hoped it would be," said John Drevets, a Research Hospital spokesman. President Truman has improved in some areas but shown no improvement in others.

Truman, weakened by age and lung infection, was fed intravenously. He was given oxygen to help him breathe.

"His heart is showing the signs of considerable irritability and stress," Drevets said at a medical briefing. "He remains in critical condition."

Physicians monitored Truman's heart constantly. They said recovery depended on whether his heart is strong enough to battle the complications of age and infection.

Truman's vital signs are relatively stable, though the temperature is fluctuating, but only slightly, a hospital spokesman said.

Doctors said the nation's 33rd chief executive did not sleep well Thursday night and early today.

Valley revenue checks mailed

TWIN FALLS — Nearly $1 million in revenue sharing funds will begin reaching Magic Valley counties, cities and towns early next week.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Thursday the first entitlement payments under the federal revenue sharing program would be put into the mails in Washington D. C. today.

The checks which will come to Idaho will total $10.5 million, of which the state government will receive $3.5 million and local units of government the remaining $6.96 million.

The payments are retroactive for the period from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1972. The first amounts to be turned back to states, cities and towns under the five-year program to return local taxes to local sources.

Hansen said the amounts of revenue sharing funds being sent from Washington were based on revenue data for local governments obtained from a special survey completed by the U. S. Census Bureau. Some of the amounts vary from original estimates.

Twin Falls County, the largest of the eight county governments in the Magic Valley, will receive the largest single revenue sharing check from Washington, $210,610. Hollister, a Twin Falls County town of fewer than 100 people, will receive $133, the smallest check to reach the Magic Valley.

The city of Twin Falls, the largest city in the Magic Valley area, will receive $156,116, according to the figures released. That sum is larger than any other city, or any county will receive exclusive of Twin Falls County.

Cassia County will receive $78,139 in the first check, while Minidoka County, which is slightly smaller in terms of population, will receive $103,832. The difference is apparently an adjustment for the tax burden currently shouldered by county residents in Minidoka County.

The offered amounts of revenue sharing follows, broken down by counties, cities and towns:

Blaine County $27,586; Bellevue $2,619; Hailey $6,304; Ketchum $6,858; Sun Valley $2,572. Camas County $8,469; Fairfield $750. Cassia County $78,139; Burley $54,854; Declo $1,508; Oakley $1,672; Malta $396. Gooding County $68,741; Bliss $618; Gooding City $13,628; Hagerman $1,813; Wendell $3,395. Jerome County $63,064; Eden $2,194. Hazelton $4,836; Jerome City $33,710. Lincoln County $34,601; Dietrich $388; Richfield $1,806; Shoshone $5,671.

Minidoka County $103,832; Acequia $543; Heyburn $3,308; Minidoka Village $165; Paul $5,203; Rupert $18,408.

Twin Falls County $210,610; Buhl $22,210; Castleford $536; Eller $3,464. Hollister $133; Kimberly $5,681; Murtaugh $470; Twin Falls City $156,116.

Magazine to suspend publication

NEW YORK (UPI) — Life magazine, pioneer weekly in photojournalism in the United States, will suspend publication with the year-end double issue dated Dec. 29, it was announced today.

Continuing losses were given as the reason for the demise of the weekly that began publication in 1936.

The suspension of publication was announced by Hedley Donovan, editor-in-chief of Time Inc., and Andrew Heiskell, chairman of the board.

The two executives said that Life ran up "very substantial" deficits in 1969 and 1970 and smaller deficits in 1971 and 1972.

"As our projections for 1973 look shape, however, it showed a resumption of heavy losses and the indication for 1974 were even more unfavorable," their announcement said.

The immediate Life staff numbers 320 people, and approximately 350 more elsewhere in Time Inc. are employed in publishing Life," the statement said. "An employment committee has been formed to provide assistance in placing as many employees as possible in Time Inc. and elsewhere."

In a statement, Time Inc. said the magazine had changed its circulation strategy and reduced its production from 8.5 million to the present 5.5 million copies and increased the per copy price.

The statement said the impact of these moves was undercut by "a very heavy increase in second class postal rates." The executives said advertising improved slightly in 1972 over the previous year, but then dropped off and circulation rates fell below expectations.

"Time Inc. is proud of the high editorial quality sustained by Life during these difficult years, and of the skill and devotion of the publishing staff," Donovan and Heiskell said.

Sunshine Mine opens

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — More than seven months after 91 hardrock miners perished in Idaho's worst disaster, the nation's largest and richest silver-producing mine reopened today.

Federal, state and local officials agreed on one thing—the Sunshine Mine isn't the same mine it was before the May 2 disaster—and neither is the community.

"It's one of the safest mines in the hardrock industry," Larry Marshall, Regional Representative of the United Steelworkers Union, said. "The safety of the mine has been improved 100 per cent."

"We've performed every suggestion put to us by the Steelworkers, the Bureau of Mines and the state," said Marvin Chase, Vice President and General Manager of the Sunshine.

Lavern Melton, local union official and a Sunshine employee, said, "the men seem to be willing to go back."

"There seems to be good faith between the company and the union now," Melton said, adding, "it hopes it turns out to be so."

Weather officials predict fair skies

KIMBERLY — Weather officials here said today the biggest news weatherwise is that improvement is on the way.

Lloyd Graybill, US Weather Bureau, Kimberly, said there is a clearing trend and an end to snowstorms at least for a few days. The clearing will mean colder nighttime temperatures, however.

Snow Thursday night added up to only one to two inches around the valley, Graybill said, with Jerome getting two inches and Twin Falls about a half inch.

Blaine County areas reported an inch and Fairfield received one and one-half inches and reported a minus 11 degrees for last night's low.

Roads continue icy and snow covered but all are open and drifting has subsided, ending most of the problems for road crews. All schools are open and bus routes are reported snow covered but in good condition. Residents in the northeast section of Twin Falls experienced some power fluctuations and brief interruptions in power Thursday night.

James Johnstone, maintenance superintendent for the Idaho Power Co., said the problem was a technical one and not directly related to weather.

However, the cold weather increased power demands this time of year. In an effort to balance the loads, the company shifted a line from the Twin Falls substation to the East Gate substation and in doing so ran into a technical problem which reduced voltage for a period of a few hours, Johnstone said.

Mid-East battle is on

BEIRUT (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas and Lebanese army units clashed in South Lebanon today while Israeli troops

massed on the other side of the border in preparation for an attack, the Palestine News Agency (Wafa) said.

The reports were not confirmed by government sources in Beirut.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said in response to reports from Beirut of Israeli troop movements at the Lebanese frontier that this "is an open area and everybody can see what is going on."

A statement by the Military Leadership of the Palestine Revolution said Lebanese troops attacked guerrilla units in the southern and eastern sectors of the border.

Dying boy to join astronauts

HONOLULU (UPI) — Kevin Steen, 12 years old and dying of cancer, will see his major dream come true when the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga picks up the Apollo astronauts in the Pacific.

He'll be flown from his home at Carefree, Ariz., to the carrier so that he can greet the moon travelers on their return to earth Dec. 19.

The boy will be the guest of Rear Admiral John L. Butts Jr., commander of the manned space recovery force in the Pacific.

Kevin has been a space enthusiast for several years.

He will fly to Honolulu Dec. 13, and spend two days touring the island as a guest of the Navy. Then, on Dec. 16 he will join Admiral Butts on a flight to Samoa and go aboard the Ticonderoga to await the arrival of the astronauts.

Butts invited Kevin aboard the recovery ship two months ago when he heard the story of the youth's long battle with cancer and his interest in the space program.

Bormann fate clue uncovered

BERLIN (UPI) — A West Berlin police spokesman said today construction workers may have unwittingly uncovered a clue to the fate of Martin Bormann, Adolf Hitler's deputy who has frequently been reported alive somewhere in South America.

The spokesman said workers laying cables in the ruins of the Lehrter Railway station close to the Berlin Wall found two skulls and a thigh bone near the spot where a vague post-war report said Bormann had been buried.

The spokesman said police asked the prosecutors office in Frankfurt, West Germany, to send Bormann's dental records here for comparison with the skulls.

Detroit to bus pupils

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld a ruling to desegregate Detroit's public schools by busing between the mostly white suburbs. But the court said the metropolitan plan could not be implemented until the suburbs are granted court hearings.

In a unanimous decision, a three-judge appellate panel upheld the key rulings of U.S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth. At the same time, the court said Roth made some mistakes in attempting to put the metropolitan plan into effect.

The court said the mistakes must be corrected by bringing the Detroit desegregation case back to Detroit for more court proceedings.

The court upheld Roth's rulings that the Detroit school system has been segregated—mostly black—through the official action or inaction of the Detroit Board of Education and the State of Michigan.

Roth also ruled that to try to integrate Detroit's schools through busing only within the city would not work and that only a plan to include the mostly white suburban schools could bring racial balance.

The court rejected Roth's June 14 order that created a panel to draw up a metropolitan integration plan that would involve about 800,000 students in Detroit and 52 suburbs. About one-third of them would be bused to and from schools in the nation's most massive busing program.

The Court of Appeals said that Roth was wrong in ordering the plan without allowing the suburbs a fair chance to state their case in court.

CSI faculty said 'dissatisfied'

TWIN FALLS — A survey of College of Southern Idaho faculty members suggests several areas of widespread dissatisfaction with the college, a college trustee candidate said Thursday.

Leon Wright, candidate for a six-year trustee term, said he had personally contacted about one-fourth of the college's faculty members in the course of the informal survey.

He said the survey revealed a definite "morale problem" among faculty members.

Key grievances Wright listed were:

1. Dissatisfaction with the CSI library operations.
2. Need for faculty tenure.
3. Sentiment that CSI athletic program is overemphasized with out-of-state recruitment rather than developing local athletes.
4. Administration discrimination against women instructors.
5. Resentment at the small voice given faculty members in the operation of the college.

Wright recommended that the trustees — and not the college administration — investigate the complaints. He said the investigation should be held after the Dec. 19 trustee election.

According to Wright, "I'm basically attempting to try to understand a little more about the problems of CSI — instead of just campaign rhetoric."

Wright said the faculty members contacted were interviewed on the basis of availability, one particular day "those who were in their offices."

He said he is compiling a similar survey of student attitudes. He said early survey results show students are "very complacent."

'Bus Stop' cast gives smooth first showing

By CRAIG MORRIS
Special to the Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Opening night theatergoers were treated to a smooth performance of William Inge's play, "Bus Stop," by the Magic Valley Little Theatre Thursday.

The play tells the story of several people temporarily stranded at a small-town cafe when their bus is delayed by a blizzard.

Nancy Blackburn's portrayal of Cherie, the second-rate night club singer, is excellent. Cherie is what she is without apology, but Mrs. Blackburn permits the basic innocence of the girl to show through the brassy exterior while maintaining a believable character throughout the play.

Bo Decker, Cherie's naive pursuer, is played with great competence by Lonnie Hodge.

Bo is the natural man whose highs and lows relate largely to whatever happened to him most recently, and whose high opinion of himself has not yet been brought into proper perspective by humility.

He has a small ranch in Montana and a little money in the bank to offer, he can't believe there is anything better.

Art Frantz turns in another fine performance such as the people of Twin Falls have come to expect as a result of previous efforts of his. He is Dr. Lyman, the erudite drunk who, while fleeing oge woman, can't wait to get involved with another.

He picks as his target the teen-age waitress at the cafe, bombarding her with poetry and quotes from the classics. His drunkenness proceeds with the play, climaxing in an impromptu rendering of the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" which has been organized to help pass the time, in which he suddenly realizes what a pitiful old lecher he is.

But, the revelation does not make him sober, it makes him sick. He exits to the bathroom.

The waitress is played by Kris Lehrman. She is the wide-eyed innocent. She is swept along on the tide of the doctor's rhetoric, not even realizing she is being propositioned.

She sees only the good side of everything, and when it is finally pointed out to her that it was not her mind the doctor was after, she is flattered that such a talented man would want to make love to her.

Elma is a difficult part to play credibly; Miss Lehrman does it well.

Excellent supporting performances were turned in by Connie Lytle as Grace, the owner of the cafe, and Buzz Langdon as the bus driver. Carrol Dowd is the local sheriff, a man of compassion as well as a representative of the law.

A surprisingly effective performance is that of Brent Blackburn as the laconic Virgel Blessing, Bo Decker's sidekick. Virgel is a man wise beyond his limited background; Blackburn gives the role understated eloquence. Blackburn also directed the play.

The set, which was loaned by the Buhl High School, is excellent. So real is it, in fact, that the audience was invited to the lunch counter for intermission coffee rather than to the lounge of the YMCA.

TF meet set

TWIN FALLS — A regional training meeting of the Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation and Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services is scheduled here Monday.

Representatives of the two agencies from southwestern Idaho will attend the meeting at the Idaho Power Co. auditorium, starting at 9 a.m. Purpose of the training session is to exchange information about rules, regulations and procedures governing operation of the two agencies.

The meeting here is one of four planned across Idaho, according to Thomas L. Moreland, vocational rehabilitation supervisor of training and personnel.

TF Airwest meets new security regulations

TWIN FALLS — Hughes' Airwest in Twin Falls meets all current federal stepped up anti-hijacking regulations.

Paul Shoaff, Twin Falls Hughes' Airwest manager, said today, a magnetometer and profile screening devices have been installed at the Twin Falls City-County Airport for about a month.

He said Twin Falls was one of the last of the Hughes' terminals to get the anti-hijacking devices because the equipment is expensive and Twin Falls is one of the smaller terminals.

Overall, the airline will have to make no changes in its security procedures to meet the government's new regulations. Its security has been doing 100 per cent screening in the past, a national Airwest official said.

In response to the government ordered emergency action to counter hijacking with tighter luggage screening and guard stationing, the official said, "There isn't much that we're going to change."

All 74 of Hughes' airport terminals have the magnetometers and profile screening devices.

TF church blaze aids area fireman training

TWIN FALLS — Burning of the former Our Savior Lutheran Church on Second Street North has provided several days of training for area firemen.

Francis Horejs, assistant fire chief in charge of training programs, said the building was burned Tuesday to give firemen an opportunity to experience fire fighting under extreme cold weather conditions.

Mop-up activities Wednesday and Thursday and a review of the burn provided additional training information.

Horejs said firemen from Gooding, Kimberly, and the vocational education classes for firemen were invited to participate as were rural fire departments from Twin Falls County.

Write-ins raise total

TWIN FALLS — CSI business manager H. L. VanSlyke said today the write-in candidates in the 1966 CSI trustee election should be counted as candidates.

The write-ins, John N. ... won election ... William ... that election, ... said Two other write-in candidates were involved in the election, VanSlyke said.

The Times-News earlier reported that there were only five candidates in that election, the number of trustee seats open then. The newspaper had not included the write-ins in the total.

TENSE & FATIGUED?

ABBIE HAS HELP FOR YOU!

He said about 11 members of the Twin Falls Fire Department, most of them new employees, participated. "We had an excellent result," the assistant chief said. "Fire nozzles and other equipment froze up as they do on many of the wintertime fires we experience. This gave the crews an opportunity to work out the problems and better understand what to do under actual conditions."

Another important training phase, he said, was use of ventilation in the fire. This is especially important to fire control and a large building such as the old church is needed to show ventilation procedure, Horejs said.

Opening Doors

The federal government has a persistent habit of making most of its important decisions behind closed doors. It is a bad habit in a free society, one which Congress tried to break with passage of the Legislative Reorganization Act in 1970.

One of the primary provisions of that law was to open congressional committee meetings to the public. The record since 1970, however, indicates it has had little effect.

In 1970, 41 percent of the committee meetings in both the House and Senate were closed to the public. In 1971, 36 percent were held behind closed doors and in 1972, 40 percent. While individual committees have improved their performance, the overall practice of secrecy remains virtually unchanged.

It is no defense to note the executive branch also conducts a large segment of its business outside public scrutiny. This has been a sore point in Congress for years which dislikes executive officials claiming executive privilege when asked to testify on public business.

That should have been example enough to cause Congress to open its own doors wider. When the lawmakers further ignore their own legislation to that end any further complaints about the executive branch will be looked upon as hypocritical.

MR. SPECTATOR

Those Old Friends

Old buildings are like old friends. Time passes, they pass and soon only a memory remains.

So it is in Twin Falls. Gone are many buildings which were so much a part of the community we just assumed they would last forever. Newcomers do not miss them because they never knew them. Others, living here in years past, do miss them.

Remember those were once among us? Gone now is the Wiley Drug Co. building. Gone is the unique and highly decorative Lind Auto Co., building. The Perrine Hotel — the first real big and strictly modern hotel in town — is gone. Gone too, is the stately building which stood at the corner of Shoshone Street South and Second Avenue South — remembered by its older name of the American Hotel. Gone is the Idaho Theater building where the "Dickens" used to show and even stage shows were presented. Gone is the Roxy Theater — converted into a store or stores. Gone is the Park Hotel where the postoffice now stands.

And now the church building at the corner of Second Street North and Fourth Avenue North is being torn down. It has served long and well — the Presbyterian Church, the Baptist Church, the American Lutheran Church and the Our Savior Lutheran Church — each in turn.

Now it is being destroyed. The picture taken by Mr. Spectator shows it as it looked earlier this week.

There are others — many others — which have disappeared. This, of course, is called progress.

But really, is losing old friends progress?

Do Not Sell SALT Short

WASHINGTON — The U. S. must "stop negotiating with itself" in the momentous SALT II deliberations on strategic arms limitations now getting underway in Geneva.

Too much of that was done in the SALT I negotiations which led to the five-year interim agreement on strategic weapons President Nixon signed during his summit meeting in Moscow last spring. The utmost care must be exercised not to fall into this dangerous trap in the SALT II parleying.

That's the blunt admonition of Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a ranking member of the Armed Services Committee and leading congressional authority on strategic arms.

He voiced these forceful views in an unpublished speech before the Military Committee of the NATO Assembly meeting in Bonn, Germany. The Assembly is made up of legislative representatives of the NATO countries, and Jackson was asked to speak as the author of a far-reaching amendment Congress added to the SALT I strategic arms limitation accord.

This provision specifies that any treaty agreed on in the SALT II negotiations must be "based on a numerical balance between the U. S. and Russia in intercontinental strategic weapons systems, exclusive of U. S. forces in Europe."

While Sen. Jackson's forthright comments were unreported by the media, they were being closely studied in NATO and other chancelleries — with good reason.

As a top member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and one of the most influential leaders of the Senate, the veteran West Coast legislator is in a position to exercise a decisive voice on the fate of any pact reached in the SALT II negotiations.

Jackson strikingly demonstrated this in putting through his amendment to the SALT I interim agreement over the opposition of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and other militant doves.

It is no secret that while Jackson favors the SALT II deliberations, he is keeping a close eye on their course, and his unpublicized but highly significant address, in effect, served notice of that on the Administration. He clearly cautioned, "Go ahead and negotiate, but watch your step."

In advising that the "U. S. stop negotiating with itself," Sen. Jackson explained that what he meant was that in the SALT I deliberations the U. S. was too much concerned with "what we believed would be acceptable to the Soviet."

"Negotiability became the central criterion by which much of what we thought and proposed was evaluated," he said. "That was foolishness. The essence of negotiation is the reconciliation of conflicting interests and values through accommodation."

"To discard in advance propositions that are meritorious but believed to be unacceptable to the other side is to abandon the effort to persuade the adversary of the wisdom of one's position — to say nothing of abandoning the effort to influence. I am hopeful that enough people involved in the SALT I deliberations have become aware of the foolishness of filtering our positions before presenting them and that this will be remedied in SALT II."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Sciatica

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes sciatica and what can be done to correct it? I have a severe pain from the right side of the pelvis down to the right knee. It started about seven months ago, and I have applied heat and hot baths but it still pains me. — E. W.

Sciatica gets its name from a nerve that runs down the back of each leg — the sciatic nerve. Chance is that applying heat to the place where you suffer the pain won't do a bit of good. Or will do very little. It may relax tense muscles, but it won't get at the root of the trouble.

Why? Because the pain that you feel along that nerve usually emanates not from the place where you hurt, but at a point higher up along the nerve. Most generally it is at the point at which the nerve emerges from the spinal column, in the lower back. Arthritic changes in the bones of the spine, or some injury, or sometimes inflammation from another cause affects the nerve.

To get rid of the pain, that pressure on the nerve has to be relieved, and applying heat or liniment or massage or such things on the leg doesn't do anything to help what has gone wrong in your back.

After seven months of that pain, I think your only wise course is to have your doctor (or perhaps an orthopedist) see what is bothering the nerve. Doubtless he will want an X-ray of the spine.

Some sufferers unfortunately go on for years trying different home remedies that don't, really, have the faintest chance of succeeding. Lament on the leg, where the hurt is, is putting the medicine in the wrong place.

Quite often patients with sciatica will have the pain when in one position, and not in another — the pain may come when they are lying down but not when standing, up, or vice versa.

This can be a valuable clue. Some shift in the bones of the spine exerts the pressure. If the patient can be kept out of that position, the pressure is prevented. Hence back braces, or girdles of one type or another, can be very useful in preventing sciatica.

The important point, of course, is to discover which is the proper position, and that is why X-rays are usually required for a successful attack on sciatica.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My baby is eight months old and, until a few months ago, she had no tears. Even now when she cries her eyes will well up but rarely produce enough to create a tear.

My doctor doesn't seem very concerned since some liquid does form. I can't help but feel it is abnormal. — Mrs. S. D.

It's not abnormal at that age — you do notice some moisture, and it doesn't take very much to do its job of bathing the eyeball.

Incidentally, moisture or tears will form in a child's eyes if he is hurt, or if the eyes are irritated, but if the crying is just an attention-getter, tears quite likely will not be present.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am today 79 and lost my daughter from cancer when she was 52. I was a very ignorant young girl and married a soldier in Hungary in 1919. He is long dead, but the doctors said he had gonorrhea. Was that the reason of my child's death? That thought haunts me all the time. — E. Z.

For such comfort as it may be, you can rest assured that that had absolutely nothing to do with your daughter's death.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answer in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy, write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 35¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Stuff That Dreams Are Made Of

PAUL HARVEY

Soviet Style

It's the "why" of the Soviet wheat deal that's significant.

When Russia, in a period of months, stops growling and starts smiling; lets us blockade Russian ships in Haiphong Harbor and proceeds with a summit meeting anyway; shakes hands over things they've heretofore refused even to discuss; starts buying grain from us and paying cash, is the Red Bear really housebroken — or just performing tricks for food?

Russia has 240 million people with never enough food. It was food riots which toppled the czar.

Food riots would have toppled Stalin in the 30's except for the violence of his repression.

Soviet crop failure in 1963 cost Nikita Khrushchev his job in '64. And today's Soviet leaders are similarly threatened by Soviet Russia's malignant menace: hunger.

This year's Soviet grain harvest was 30 percent depleted by weather, by shortages of tractor parts, by bureaucratic bungling and by foot dragging by discontented farm workers.

George Melloy of The Wall Street Journal believes the Soviet situation to be so desperate that President Nixon could have driven a harder bargain for that billion dollars' worth of wheat; that he might have demanded peace in Vietnam.

He tried. Both sides were under the gun in those May meetings.

The Soviet leadership lives with the ever-present possibility of insurrection. The U. S. leadership faces an inevitable opportunity for "overthrow" every four years.

Deadlines were approaching both for them and for us.

President Nixon settled for a wheat market to benefit our farmers and a peaceable-sounding strategic weapons treaty.

The Russians got a reprieve from the threats of acute hunger on their home front.

A monolithic government is rarely as secure as it appears from the outside.

Russia keeps a tight rein on Soviet citizens — travel and residence restrictions, job assignments and, ultimately, the secret police.

As Soviet citizens inevitably begin to learn more about the outside world, Soviet leaders figure they have to jail the historian who champions civil rights, tighten travel restrictions for foreigners and Russians; arrest dissidents; increase scrutiny of party members.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Ted Kennedy

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The idea may bore the American people, but the quest for the presidency always begins the moment a given election is over. So, for the Democrats, everybody already knows it's Ted Kennedy against a weak field. To lose the big party prize, he'll have to kick it away.

Because Ted will have the big clout: much of the party's probably over-publicized doings in the next couple of years will in fact be pretty secondary stuff.

You'll read about, or see on television, the battle for party control, a lot of stir about a new party charter and other reforms to be piled on top of those instituted in 1971-72, and "interim convention" to draft major policy positions.

Every wispy bit of conflict will be brought your way, and your living room screen will show the various Democratic leaders scratching their ears in unguarded moments.

But you can forget most of it. And you can ignore, also, any high-flown talk from young militants about "taking to the streets again" because George McGovern got clobbered this year. The demagoguery bit has lost its snap.

What will count is how

One clandestine source says, "Soviet mental asylums are filled with those who have dared to oppose Kremlin policy."

Any protracted period of acute hunger and those asylums would overflow — perhaps overwhelm.

President Nixon is not unaware of Russia's vulnerability. And there is nothing new about food as an inducement for international cooperation. It was a Soviet scientist, Ivan Pavlov, who thus disciplined dogs to behave.

Kennedy performs and what he says from now on.

He'll be leading a Senate inquiry into the 1972 Watergate bugging affair and additional matters alleging Republican spying and sabotage against 1972 Democratic presidential and other campaigns.

The nation will watch to see not only what evidence he dredges up, but whether he acts with responsibility and restraint. If his behavior is professional, his 1976 nomination prospects will get a further boost, which at this point they hardly need.

With most Americans gone from Vietnam and very likely some sort of cease-fire or other agreement with Hanoi in effect in the not-distant future, Kennedy likewise will be observed closely for his response to this altered situation.

On the domestic front, health care has been his prime interest. Can he promote and perhaps push to enactment the kind of huge program he favors without appealing to voters as "another of those big spenders" that so angered and frustrated millions in 1972?

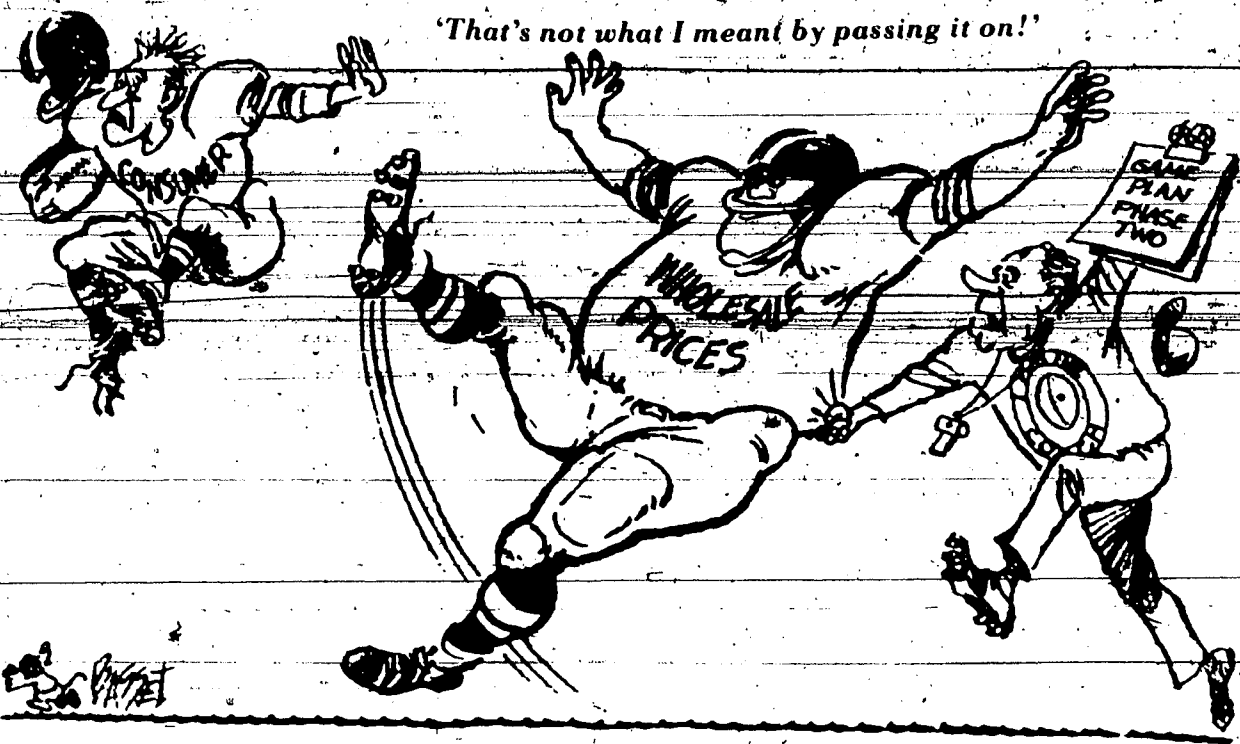

Most of all, can he, in his years from present age 40 to 44, persuade countless Americans that he has become a man of sober judgment?

Newsman privilege opposed

Editor, Times-News:

What makes newsmen so special?

In this day when the law is fraught with technicalities making law enforcement so technical that judges can't even tell peace officers what to do or how to do it in certain situations, we now have newspaper reporters crying about their constitutional rights being violated because, like every other citizen, they are being compelled to testify.

The only privilege I am aware of (allowing a witness the right to refuse to testify), is designed to protect something considered more valuable to our society than a conviction in the criminal case at trial. Examples include:

1. A sinner's confession to his priest. (To protect the religious purpose of confessionals.)
2. A client's confession to his counsel. (To protect a defendant's right to a fair trial.)

3. A defendant's admission to his spouse. (To protect the marriage.)
4. A patient's discussion with his doctor. (To insure proper medical treatment.)

Now we have a newspaper reporter wanting an absolute privilege to protect his source of information. The issue is: Which is more important?

1. Bringing criminals to court for prosecution?
2. Protecting a reporter from giving his source of information. Thereby diminishing his chances for the "next exclusive?" (This, I might add, would presumably include every type of writer, even if he was only writing his first paperback novel.)

I agree with one judge's conclusion that there could hardly be a less likely group to receive this privilege than priests, doctors, lawyers, writers, reporters and commentators.

The occasions are rare indeed where a reporter's "exclusive" on confidential information stirs up the public and rights a wrong being committed. However, such reporting assurance helps keep people honest and informed. Opportunities for abuse of this privilege by opportunists and criminals far outweigh the rare occasion that a court compels a reporter to reveal a source and even rarer is the probability that a court compelled revelation will result in people generally refusing to tattle on someone else that they don't like.

Safety hints given

Editor, Times-News:

As of Jan. 1, 1972, it is estimated that at least 28,000 people are killed annually on the highways of America, in car accidents.

Many more are injured. In 800,000 at an estimated cost of $8 billion. This report was taken from the Times-News as a final 1971 figure. I'm glad I wasn't one of them, ain't you? We might just be the next one though. Who knows?

Here are a few preventive rules we all should practice:

1. Keep your car in good condition.
2. Obey sign and speed limits.
3. Respect the other driver but never trust him or her.
4. Never lock your brakes on slick roads but rather pump them gently.
5. Keep your mind on your driving instead of problems of the day.

Next and final hint, never drink anything stronger than coffee.

Remember we can never enjoy a happy Christmas looking over the mangled remains of our loved ones. At the present rate, this year may set an all time record for traffic accidents. Let this be our New Year's resolution that we will do our best to make the year 1973 a record low. This we can do if each of us drives wisely. That way, when we view our loved ones we can be assured that they know that we are looking at them.

The fear of God and our love for others are the main ingredients for a happy Christmas. May this be a happy one for you. Remember the most accidents are caused by a faulty nut on the steering wheel.

Gem solons fill 42nd session leaders' jobs

BY RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Sen. James Ellsworth, R-Leadore, and Rep. William J. Lanting, R-Hollister, won key leadership posts Thursday when the 42nd Idaho Legislature opened a three-day organizational session.

Many other major jobs changed hands.

Ellsworth was voted president pro tempore of the senate after winning the republican nomination without opposition. Lanting beat Rep. H. Ferd Koch, R-Boise, 26-25 for the crucial GOP renomination as speaker.

Ellsworth and Lanting held the same posts in the 41st session.

Republicans have controlled both houses of the legislature since the 1960 general election. This time they control the senate 22-12 and the house of representatives 51-19.

Sen. Phil Batt, R-Wilder, was named majority leader of the senate, succeeding former Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, who gave up his legislative seat to make an unsuccessful try for the GOP congressional nomination in the first district.

Sen. John V. Evans, D-Malad, was re-elected minority leader. Sen. David Bivens, R-Payette, was re-elected assistant majority leader and Sen. C. C. Chase, D-St. Maries, was chosen assistant minority leader. Senate caucus chairmen are Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View and Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan.

Koch, after losing the speakership race by one vote, won the job of house majority leader without opposition. Former Rep. Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, majority leader of the 41st Legislature in the house, did not run for re-election to the legislature.

Both Koch and Lanting vowed to work together for an effective session.

Rep. Melvin Hammond, D-Rexburg, beat Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, for minority leader of the house.

The vote was not announced. Former Rep. William J. Murphy, D-Wallace, minority leader of the second regular session of the 41st Legislature, resigned earlier this year to become administrative assistant to the governor.

Hammond was assistant minority leader of the house at the last regular session.

Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, ousted Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, as assistant majority leader. Rep. Russell Fogg, R-Idaho Falls, won the job of GOP caucus chairman.

On the Democratic side of the aisle, Rep. Bruce Sweeney, D-Lewiston, won the post of assistant minority leader and Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, the job of Democratic caucus chairman.

Transit, SST fund bid due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe says that his successor will continue attempts to tap the highway trust fund for mass transit and that the SST may be revived.

Volpe, named ambassador to Italy by President Nixon Thursday, will be succeeded by Claude Brinegar, 45, a Union Oil Co. executive.

In appraising his four-year record for reporters, the former hod carrier who built a $500 grubstake into a multimillion dollar construction company, said he would like to have done better.

Volpe cited what he considered his three worst failings—to win congressional approval of the supersonic transport, to get Congress to authorize highway funds for mass transit and to reduce the highway death toll.

Shorter session?

BOISE (UPI) — Senate President Pro Tempore James Ellsworth, R-Leadore, said Thursday he has been assured that revenue projections for the state will be available early in the 42nd session of the legislature.

That should make this session considerably shorter than the

Lanting victor in House vote

He said he wants the house to get its work done in a hurry and get a revenue estimate available by the time the lawmakers convene for the regular session in January "so the joint finance committee can get about cutting the budget to meet the revenue."

Nomination by the majority party is tantamount to election as speaker of the house. The GOP controls the house 51-19 at this session of the Idaho legislature.

Voting in caucus was by secret ballot and took more than 30 minutes.

Lanting expressed pleasure at being renominated by his caucus and said the race was so close neither he nor Koch could say for sure who would win the election prior to the caucus.

He praised his opponent, saying he was a "gentleman throughout the race" and said each had assured the other two weeks ago there would be no vindictiveness after ward regardless of who won.

Lanting said he planned to run the house along the same format as in the 41st Legislature with minor committees meeting on alternate mornings and the four major committees meeting each afternoon.

Because of the Republicans' large majority this time, however, Lanting said the ratio of Republicans to Democrats on the committees probably will have to be changed.

Idaho students request reviews

BOISE (UPI)—University of Idaho students sent a resolution to the state board of education meeting in Boise Thursday requesting their faculty review its own ranks more effectively.

The resolution did not go far enough for one student, Kenneth Marcy of Sandpoint, who prepared a petition asking the board to form a committee of four students and three faculty members to review faculty performance.

The board referred his petition to a committee studying tenure policy.

Students also had a say in increasing the health service fees at two Idaho universities.

Student health fees at both the University of Idaho and Idaho State University will be increased by $5 next year.

At the University of Idaho, there will be an additional $1 use fee charged for each visit to the health center. The $1 use fee was proposed by the Moscow students and the board approved the action with one reservation.

The board stipulated that if health service records indicate the use fee curtails use of the health services then the board will increase the health fee to completely pre-pay health expenses.

The Pocatello campus also will have additional health service fees but they will come as nominal charges to cover laboratory expenses.

During the afternoon, the university presidents expressed feelings of foreboding when the talk turned to budgets.

Expressing alarm at the $2.1 million general fund appropriation for higher education, U of I president Ernest Hartung said:

"It is not going to be worth going to school in Idaho on these budgets."

Allies seek negotiation with Soviets

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The Western allies called today for fullscale negotiations with the Soviet Union on troop reductions in central Europe to begin by next autumn.

The Western position was outlined in a communique agreed upon at the closing session of a two-day winter meeting of foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Exploratory talks on troop reductions — formally known as mutual and balanced force reductions (MBFR) — are expected to start Jan. 31, to see if full negotiations are possible.

The ministers stressed the view that force reductions should not operate to the military disadvantage of either side, but "should enhance stability and security in Europe as a whole."

The communique said the MBFR talks and a European Security Conference, long sought

Israel rejects UN resolution

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Diplomats predicted passage by perhaps 90 votes today when the U.N. General Assembly votes on a compromise resolution dealing with the Middle East crisis.

Israel and the United States, among other nations, expressed misgivings about the resolution sponsored by 19 members of the non-aligned bloc. But diplomats said its overwhelming passage was assured.

Amendments worked out by Britain and France and introduced Thursday by British Ambassador Sir Colin Crowe apparently removed clauses from an earlier proposed resolution which led Israel to threaten a boycott of future U.N. Middle East peace efforts.

But an Israeli spokesman said the amendments still do not make the measure acceptable to his government.

"It is still a one-sided resolution which Israel cannot accept," he said. "It is hostile to Israel and favors the other side."

Israeli officials previously had said that if the Assembly took any action to alter the text, or change the approach, of the guideline resolution adopted by the U.N. Security Council on Nov. 22, 1967, Israel would withdraw its adherence to that measure which remains the only agreed basis for U.N. Middle East peace efforts.

The Israeli spokesman did not comment on whether the latest resolution, as it now stands, affected his government's threat of boycott.

Arsonist sentenced

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The defense lawyer says Seaman Jeffrey G. Allison's conviction for setting the $7.5 million fire aboard the attack carrier Forrestal was "tempered with mercy."

Allison, 18, could have received a life sentence on the charges stemming from the July 10 fire, which damaged the ship's war information room.

But military judge William F. Neely after a brief deliberation Thursday found Allison guilty of arson, sabotage, hazarding a vessel, willful damage to military property and possession and distribution of LSD and mescaline.

Neely ordered a dishonorable discharge for Allison, but held the prison term to five years.

Sailors refuse panel invitation

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The 21 sailors accused of rioting aboard the carrier Kitty Hawk will not appear before a congressional committee even though invited and if forced to appear some would invoke the Fifth Amendment, a defense attorney said Thursday.

It would be inappropriate for them to appear before the committee," said Milford J. Silverman. "I think the congressmen realize this and will not assert their subpoena power."

A three-man House armed service subcommittee, which enters its third day of closed hearings into the racial trouble today, boarded the giant carrier Thursday and spent three hours touring the scene of the disturbance Oct. 12-13.

They ate lunch, chatted casually to several crewmembers, talked at length with three others but said little after their visit. Their only comment was to complement the ship's cook.

Heavy fighting rages in S. 'Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — The heaviest fighting in nearly a month raged the length of South Vietnam today but bad weather forced a step-out back in U.S. air raids against North Vietnam, allied spokesmen said.

The U.S. and Saigon commands reported 83 Communist-initiated attacks in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, the highest number since Nov. 12 when 87 were reported. Seventy of the attacks reported today were by shellfire alone without troop contact.

The U.S. command said 40 jet fighter-bombers flew missions against North Vietnam in the 24 hours ending at 5 p.m. Thursday, fewer than half the number reported Wednesday. Spokesmen said adverse weather conditions limited the jet strikes.

In addition, B52 bombers which fly above the weather flew only five missions in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), the six-mile-wide buffer zone between North and South Vietnam. But an additional 14 waves of B52s bombed in South Vietnam's northernmost Quang Tri Province just south of the DMZ.

Their mission in Quang Tri was twofold: to destroy Communist supplies flowing south in the event of a cease-fire and weapons freeze, and to support South Vietnamese forces endeavoring to recapture as much of the province as possible before such a cease-fire.

South Vietnamese marines northeast of Quang Tri City, 435 miles north of Saigon, reported North Vietnamese gunners unleashed 1,400 rounds of mortar and artillery shells against government positions Thursday. In minor skirmishing the marines reported killing seven Communists at a cost of two of their own men dead and 23 wounded.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a woman who was concerned about a 14-year-old girl who wanted the Pill.

I agree with your advice that the girl obviously needed some counseling. However, I can't believe that you have not been informed about Family Planning clinics or Planned Parenthood, who offer help to any person of childbearing age without requiring legal residence or discriminating as to race, religion, national origin, maternity, or marital status. Services are given free to those who cannot pay.

In the future, please urge your readers with questions about the Pill or other contraceptives to contact their local Family Planning clinic for the professional help they need, whether it be counseling or supplies.

Planned parenthood

"If more persons would use these facilities available to them, there would be more planned babies with a welcome place in this world and less unwanted babies with small chances for a happy future." STEADY READER, SEATTLE

DEAR READER: And I can't believe that a "steady reader" has not noticed my frequent references to Planned Parenthood and Family Planning clinics. I mention them so often, I've been accused of being on their payroll!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a strange experience the other evening.

We went back to the little town where we used to live because some old friends had invited us to spend Friday and Saturday with them there. On the way to these friends [we were a little early] we made a stop at the home of another couple. We had known them. They seemed glad to see us and asked us to stop for Sunday supper and spend the evening with them.

We stopped back and when we went to their house both their cars were in the garage and lights were on in the house, but the shades were drawn. We rang the bell and knocked on the front door, but we couldn't raise anybody. When we went around to the back door, there was a big SUCKER sticking in the latch!

We left without delay. Now what do you think of that?

STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: Unbelievable!

DEAR ABBY: Don't let anyone tell you it's not against the law to open another person's mail.

FEDERAL CRIMINAL CODE

TITLE 18—UNITED STATES CODE

Section 1702 OBSTRUCTION OF Correspondence Who ever takes any letter, postal card, or package out of any post office or any authorized depository for mail matter, or from any letter or mail carrier, or which has been in any post office or authorized depository, or in the custody of any letter or mail carrier, before it has been delivered to the person to whom it was directed, with design to obstruct the correspondence, or to pry into the business or secrets of another, or opens, embezzles or destroys the same, shall be fined not more than $2,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

I read a letter recently in your column where the writer stated that if a person received mail at their place of employment it was not illegal for the "boss" to read the mail since it had been sent to his address. You thanked the writer for writing and said, "We learn something new every day." However, before your readers go out and practice what they have just "learned," I suggest they first stop at their nearest law library and read the excerpt quoted above from the United States Code.

DEAR L. C.: I appreciate your writing. But I was right about one thing—we DO learn something new every day. And today we have learned something even "newer."

Opening lead — A K

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When a match point duplicate player sees that he is in a normal contract he usually forgets about safety plays and concentrates on giving himself the best chance to make a lot of tricks.

A match point player would grab the spade lead, run off four rounds of diamonds in order to get some discards from his opponents, lead a low club from dummy and finesse his queen.

Assuming that his opponents discarded perfectly on the diamonds and that West led a heart after getting in, the match point player would probably be set. We said probably because he could still make the contract if he knew just what to do.

The rubber bridge player would play his hand in an entirely different fashion. He would ask himself, "How can I be sure of making this contract and winning the rubber?"

Then he would come to his hand with a diamond and lead a club toward dummy's jack. With West holding the king of clubs this would give South three club tricks. Put the king in the East hand. South would only collect two club tricks but he would have time to get a second spade also since a heart lead from East would not hurt him.

National Council claims US in deep moral crisis

DALLAS (UPI) — The General Assembly of the National Council of Churches Wednesday night declared the United States in a "deep, moral crisis."

The assembly, the council's legislative body, also recommended a "process of demilitarizing American society."

The resolution passed after two hours of debate at the group's convention.

A part of the resolution calling for amnesty for conscientious objectors who refused to serve in Vietnam was not approved by the assembly.

The amnesty provision had been adopted Saturday by the general board of the National Council of Churches, but those calling for its deletion said it would be "unnecessary duplication of the position of the general board, an executive committee."

The draft resolution blamed the "deep moral crisis" mostly on American actions in Vietnam.

It called for "a substantial reduction of excessive armaments and strenuous efforts to repair the increasingly frequent breaches in the nation's historic commitment to Democratic principles and processes."

Otherwise, the draft resolution said:

"Defense industries should be encouraged through appropriate incentives to engage in production for peaceful purposes, thereby channeling substantial human and material resources from war preparation to the preservation of human life and the improvement of its quality."

Twelve, will be the principal speaker. Sessions Saturday evening will be for priesthood members, with a general session to be held at 10 a.m. Sunday.

CAREY — "You are the one" was the theme carried out at the Blaine Stake YWMA girls and mothers conference held Saturday at the Carey LDS Church.

Workshops, a film, entitled "One, and a program, emphasized that each girl was important and each girl was a "Child of God."

Stake YWMA president Donna Rose Rainey, Hailey, was in charge of the event and conducted the general session. She was assisted by her counselors, Mrs. Eleanor Nishimoto, Dietrich, and Mrs. Nadine Ivie, Bellevue, and members of the Blaine Stake YWMA board.

The program consisted of talks on the value of the girls achievement program by Mary Rainey, Hailey, Peggy Hunt, Carey, and Becky Parke, Hailey. Musical numbers included a vocal trio by Laura Packer, Peggy Brower, and Kim Faulk, all Hailey, and a double quartet composed of Kathy Bowers, Lynn Flavel, Anita and Lettie Tree, Janeen and De Ann Dixon, Leanne Crowther, and Joanne Riley, all Richfield.

A presentation, "Yours Personally", was given by Mrs. Ivie, and girls from the Carey ward.

Workshops for the girls were conducted by Pam Hunter, Phyllis Flavel and Juanita French. Girls discussed various phases of the YWMA activities. The mother watched demonstrations on making broomstick and hairpin lace, men's ties, Christmas ornaments and decorative fish made from ribbon.

Revival set

BUHL — The winter revival at the Buhl First Church of the Nazarene will be conducted Sunday through Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Don Cook, Boise, will be the speaker. Rev. Cook will also speak at the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service.

On Saturday there will be a get acquainted pancake and waffle supper to give the congregation a chance to meet Rev. Cook. Serving will begin at 7 p.m.

On Dec. 17 the Gallileans, a singing group from Boise, will be in charge of the Sunday School hour and participate in the morning worship service.

Two celebrations slated at Jerome

JEROME — Two separate religious celebrations have been set for today and Tuesday at St. Jerome's Catholic Church.

The Rev. Francis DeNardis announced this week that the church will celebrate mass at 7:30 p.m. today.

The celebration is a day given over to honoring what almighty God has done in preserving our Blessed Lady free of all sin from the first instant of her conception and throughout her entire life," he said.

He said that the feast and celebration day is known to Christians as the "Feast of Our Lady's Immaculate Conception."

The Rev. DeNardis also announced that persons of Mexican and Spanish descent are invited to a fiesta mass at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The mass will commemorate in joyful celebration the day Our Lady of Guadalupe made her appearance to Juan Diego in Mexico City 400 years ago," he said.

Accompanists are Mrs. Rider, organ, and Claudia Wing, piano.

In the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services for the second Sunday in Advent the theme will be "God's Love Enfolded." Music will be provided by Mrs. Callie Smith, soloist, and the adult choir.

Event set Sunday by Filer Baptists

FILER — The Good News Singers of the First Baptist Church, Filer, will present their annual Christmas concert at the church Sunday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Gordon Larson, director of the group, announced they will be singing carols by candlelight as well as several new Christmas songs. Among them are "Tidings of Peace," "Oh, come Little Children," "Ring the Bells," "Noel," and "Birthday of a King."

The public is invited to the program by Pastor Roy W. Watson and Mrs. Larson. A nursery will be provided in the educational building.

Those in the choir are Ruth Britton, Grace and Laura Butts, Shirley and Randy Evans, Camille Allen, Dawna and Debby Ransom, Gaye, Jim and J. C. Steelsmith, Rick Tipton, Tom and Rose Mitter, Hayden

Watson, Mike and Dianna Tucker, Linda Rupprecht, Richard Melton, Debby Kovar, Jeannie Holloway, Larry Andrews, Norman Wright, Roger Iverson, Judy Davis and Tammy Slatter.

Ingathering

KING HILL — The Annual thank-offering ingathering was held Sunday at the King Hill United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. E. A. Lawson, United Presbyterian Women's president, Mrs. Jack Craig, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Karl Carnahan, Mrs. Nathan Miller and Mrs. Charles Finlayson took part in the ceremony.

Warren Cash of the Edgemead Treatment Center, Mountain Home, was the guest speaker.

Una misa en espanol

TWIN FALLS — Se ofrecera una misa especial el martes por la noche, Diciembre 12, para celebrar la fiesta de Nuestra Sra. de Guadalupe.

La misa tendra lugar en 7:30 de la noche en la iglesia de San Eduardo, en la esquina de Sixth Ave. E. and Second St. N.

La misa se ofrecera en espanol que diran el sermón en ambos espanol e ingles.

El principal celebrante de la misa sera el padre David Kuntz, editor del Registro de Idaho. Padre Kuntz ha sisido hasta recientemente el capellan en la Universidad del Estado de Idaho en Pocatello. El ha pasado tres años en las misiones de Cali, Colombia, America del Sur.

Y tambien el reverendo Cosmas White O.S.B., capellan del Colegio de Southern Idaho; el reverendo Robert Grant, asistente de la Parroquia de San Eduardo, asistiran al Padre Kuntz y tambien el Obispo Sylvester Treinen y el Padre Thomas Lafey, el Padre de la Parroquia de San Eduardo.

Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe fue designada patrona de la America latina por el Papa San Pio X en el año 1910 y como patrona de los Americanos por el Papa Pio XII en 1945.

La misa celebrara la aparicion de la Virgen Maria a un Pobre

Indio, Juan Diego.

La Virgen Maria se aparecio cuatro veces durante el año 1601 a un indio, Juan Diego en el monte tepayac a las afueras de la Ciudad de Mejico. La Virgen Maria dijo a Juan Diego que instruyese al Obispo Zumarraga de su deseo de que una iglesia fuese construida en ese lugar. El obispo cumplio el requisito dos años mas tarde despues de convencerse de que la aparicion era verdad, con la evidencia de una milagrosa pintura de la virgen en el manto de Juan Diego.

El manto con la pintura ha sido preservado y guardado como reliquia en la baslica de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe que es centro de devocion y peregrinacion en Mejico.

Es interesante el apreciar que la Virgen Maria se aparecio en Guadalupe 300 o 375 años antes de las publicadas apariciones en Paris a Catherine LaBoure, la milagrosa medalla en 1832, a Santa Bernadette en Lourdes en Francia en 1858 y a los tres niños de Fatima en Portugal en 1917.

Dworshak Dam gates opened

OROFINO, Idaho (UPI) — Flow through the gates of Dworshak Dam on the North Fork of the Clearwater River in north-central Idaho has been increased to 9,000 cubic feet per second to help dams further down the Columbia system produce more power.

The Army Corps of Engineers said Tuesday afternoon it had opened the gates to allow the increased flow because of a power shortage in the Pacific Northwest, caused by unseasonably cold weather.

Gary Willard, acting chief of the Corps' engineering staff at the giant dam which is nearing completion, said the increased flow will raise the lower Clearwater River nearly two feet in places.

He said it would last about five days and by that time the 63-mile-long Dworshak Pool should reach the lower level of its winter drawdown.

Willard said the Corps had planned to lower the pool by 10 feet to take care of any possible winter flooding.

Computer use not hampered

TWIN FALLS — Burroughs Corp. representative Hugh Park said today he had not intended to discourage multiple use and cost sharing for computer services for Burley, Rupert and Heyburn.

Park said Tuesday the project cost could total $2,500 per month. The Times-News had said this "appeared to discourage" the cost-sharing idea.

Park said he wanted to point out the problems involved in the sharing endeavor. He said the idea is good, theoretically, but there are "many problems of implementation."

Park said his figures were strictly an estimate and not based on any systems analysis.

Pedernales gift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife Lady Bird have given their central Texas ranch home to the nation for use as a historical site.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today the Johnsons would continue to live in their ranch house along the Pedernales River and use the land and buildings they donated.

But their gift will allow the federal government to develop the ranch area as an attraction to Americans wanting to see a President's home and a working ranch.

The gift, by the Johnsons and their business associates, includes the home, buildings at the LBJ Ranch headquarters, and about 201 acres, used for the home, crops and grazing.

The rolling hill country of the area is home for mostly scrub brush, much wildlife, some ranching and such farming as the raising of peaches.

TFFD warns of holiday hazard

TWIN FALLS — Christmas time with additional electrical loads and indoor and outdoor lighting, gift wrappings and decorations means additional fire hazards.

Fred Higgins, Twin Falls Fire Department, said home owners and parents should take extra precautions to make certain a fire does not mar their Christmas holiday.

Some simple rules, he said include keeping the Christmas tree in a stand which holds water to keep it from drying; checking tree lights to make sure no bare wires or loose sockets could start a fire, and keep burning candles away from trees or other evergreen decorations.

Children should not play too close to the tree or near other lighted decorations and should not play with matches or lighters.

All wrapping paper should be put in a closed container as soon as it is discarded. The tree should be taken down the week after Christmas to prevent excessive drying, Higgins said.

Cold winter weather also brings on a number of home fires, Higgins said. Overheated fireplaces and furnaces result in a number of fire calls and often create problems for families who find their heating systems burned out in cold weather.

Higgins said residents should check and clean furnaces regularly and should leave the job to the experts who know proper and safe repair or maintenance procedure. Chimneys should be checked and combustible trash should be kept away from heating systems.

Persons should never use gasoline or other combustible material to start or quicken a fire. If room heaters are used they should be placed with adequate space around them and electrical units should be used only if wiring is adequate to carry the load.

Nixon keeps promise to twins

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — The Leonardini twins, Judith and Ruth, were three years old when their mother took them to see the vice president of the United States that May afternoon in 1958.

When Richard M. Nixon noticed the twins, he ordered his motorcade to stop, got out of his limousine and picked up the chubby little girls, one on each arm.

Nixon chatted with Mrs. Leonardini, she recalled this week, and told her that when the twins graduated from high school he would make sure they received college scholarships in the United States.

Nixon kept that promise Wednesday.

A UPI dispatch on the interview with Mrs. Leonardini was called to Nixon's attention at his retreat in Camp David, Md. The dispatch was accompanied by the photo of the twins in Nixon's arms in 1958 and another picture of them taken recently.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon remembered the promise and instructed the State Department to follow up on it.

"The President recalled the occasion and said: 'This will be done,'" Ziegler said. He said the State Department has been instructed to have a representative of the U.S. embassy in La Paz interview the girls, determine their interests and make appropriate arrangements for their scholarships.

Ziegler said the scholarships would be granted under the Mutual Education Exchange Act of 1961, which provides for qualified foreign students to continue their education in the United States.

"Our mother has always reminded us of President Nixon's promise," said Ruth.

"Ever since then, we've been planning to study in the United States," Judith said.

The photograph sent all over the world showing Nixon holding Judith and Ruth in his arms is framed on a wall of the four-room Leonardini house in the lower middle-class neighborhood of La Bandera.

The La Paz visit was perhaps the least eventful of Nixon's tour. Disorders broke out later in Lima and Caracas where anti-American crowds attacked the Nixon motorcade.

The family had heard nothing from Nixon since May 5, 1958, but Mariano Baptista, editor of the newspaper Ultima Hora, brought the story to the attention of U.S. Ambassador Ernest Siracusa this week.

Judith and Ruth, now 18, graduated from high school Nov. 23.

Survivor back to mine

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — About seven months ago, Tom Wilkinson and Ron Flory, both 29, caked in dirt and dried sweat, staggered into the arms of their loved ones.

They made history by surviving seven days deep in the bowels of the Sunshine Silver Mine, while 91 of their comrades suffocated in what was to become Idaho's worst disaster ever.

Seventy-nine other miners made it out the main shaft after a fire was discovered deep in the mine May 2.

Both men vowed not to return to mining. But this week, Wilkinson, out of work, changed his mind and reapplied for work at the Sunshine, the nation's largest and richest silver producer.

"I'm anxious to return to work as a stop miner," Wilkinson said after confirming he had reapplied. "Everybody's got to work and it's better than lying around, which is what I've been doing."

Wilkinson and Flory had survived seven days by staying close to the fresh air they found at the 4,800-foot level, and praying.

For food, they ate the lunches of their dead fellow workers.

In September, both men enrolled in heavy equipment school at Weiser, Idaho.

Wilkinson said he worked a short time at a trailer factory, but has been unemployed since that time.

Flory, meanwhile, was scheduled to graduate from the same construction school this Friday.

It isn't known when the Sunshine will be reopened.

Supreme Court rules on suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Thursday that white tenants residing in a housing complex are entitled to carry to the courts complaints of management discrimination against nonwhite applicants.

Most test cases in the housing field are brought by blacks. But Thursday's ruling, in a San Francisco lawsuit, arose from complaints by a white as well as a black tenant in the Parkmerced Apartments.

They alleged that they lost the social benefits of living in an integrated community. They also claimed they had missed business and professional advantages that would have come with association with minority groups and that they had been "stigmatized" as residents of a "white ghetto."

The complaint said the management discriminated against nonwhite rental applicants by making it known that they would not be welcome at Parkmerced, by manipulating the waiting list and by using discriminatory acceptance standards.

The complaint was originally filed against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., owner of the 3,500-unit complex of apartments and townhouses. The company afterwards sold the property to the Parkmerced Corp.

Grizzly, predator problems shared

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Federal officials indicated a willingness Wednesday to share their authority with state game and fish directors to help solve grizzly bear and predator problems.

It's part of the new federalism of the administration to return authority to the states, Spencer Smith, director of the Bureau of Sports, Fish and Wildlife, said. "We support that move."

Fish and game directors from the 11 western states wanted to take the responsibility for predatory animals now delegated to Smith's agency by the 1931 Predatory Control Act.

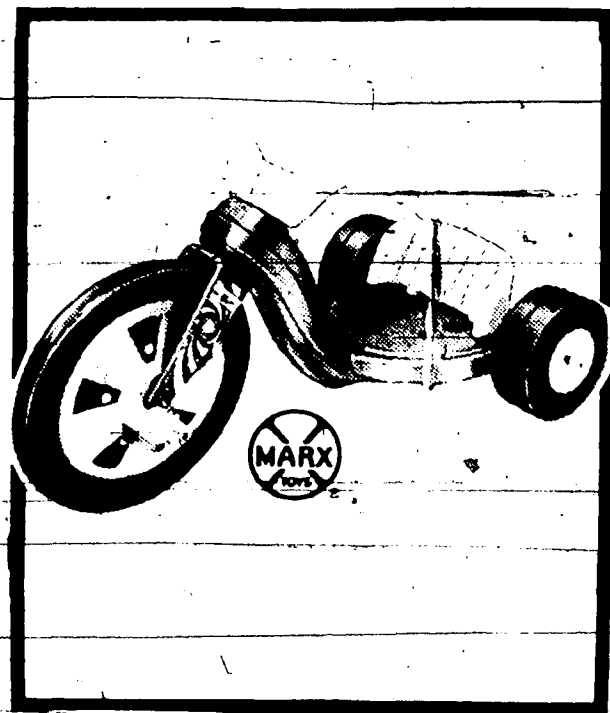

A committee of directors from Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and Colorado indicated they wanted to be involved in the study and management of grizzly bears in the Yellowstone Park area.

A study by Dr. Frank C. Craighead showed that the National Park Service management of grizzly bears will lead to their extinction. But studies by Glen Cole, Dr. Robert Linn and other national park service scientists showed NPS policies are not hurting grizzlies.

All four members of the directors' committee agreed that Craighead was "one of the outstanding world experts" on grizzly bears.

But they indicated more study was needed, and wanted to bring in several federal and state agencies to work on what the committee believes would be at least a five-year study.

Revenue sharing aired in Minidoka

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Additions to Minidoka County's courthouse and hospital were listed by county commission chairman Wayne Hollenbeck Thursday as his personal priorities for expenditure of revenue sharing funds.

Hollenbeck discussed revenue sharing as it affects Minidoka County and the law enforcement building presently under construction in Rupert in a luncheon address to the Rupert Chamber of Commerce at the Elks Lodge.

While stressing that suggestions for revenue sharing priorities from Minidoka residents are needed, he said his personal choices included adding wings to the north and south sides of the county courthouse and building better nursing facilities for the elderly at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Noting that proposals for a new courthouse have been turned down twice by voters, Hollenbeck said the cost of maintaining and improving the present structure has been considerable.

Offices that should be housed in the courthouse (including those of the probation officer, zoning administration and health district) are "spread all over the city of Rupert," according to the county official.

He said a better nursing home is needed "where the elderly can live and prosper with dignity." Approximately $400 per month is spent on each person under nursing care, he added.

Minidoka County will receive $236,000 during the first year of revenue sharing, and the figure may reach as high as $1 million in the future, Hollenbeck said.

He warned that federal sources have discouraged the use of the money for lowering the tax level and have backed the advice up with a formula that decreases revenue sharing checks as the tax level is lowered.

The formula is a three-cornered multiplication table based on population, per capita income, and tax effort or level.

The county should not undertake long-term projects with the revenue sharing funds, he said, because the obligations would become serious tax burdens if the federal government should discontinue the rebates.

Hollenbeck listed eight areas in which the revenue sharing funds must be spent according to federal orders. They include public safety, environment protection, transit systems, health, recreation, libraries, social services and financial administration.

The need for a new law enforcement facilities gained urgency two years ago when federal officials ordered a new county jail, according to Hollenbeck. The orders also called for 24-hour supervision at the jail, entailing the employment of extra personnel.

"We knew we could not pass a bond proposal," he said, so the commissioners started stockpiling surplus money in the general fund.

When approximately $80,000 had accumulated, a Boise architectural firm was employed and drew up plans for a structure costing $160,000.

The plans and applications for federal aid were submitted to the state in April, Hollenbeck said, but action was delayed through bureaucratic oversight at the state level.

When federal money was finally approved for the project, building material costs had risen considerably and the estimated cost of the building was increased to $225,000, he said. But additional federal aid was requested and the approval came quickly this time.

Hollenbeck said several residents had questioned construction activity going on south of the present jail, when plans called for the new structure to be located immediately north of the jail.

Parking lots will be established in the southern area, he explained, with traffic entering from Seventh Street and exiting on Eighth Street.

Chamber president Pete Ford in a comment following Hollenbeck's address, said approximately $3,200 has been spent thus far on a new chamber of commerce building.

Filer bank

Filer plans new bank

FILER — Construction of the new Filer office of the Idaho First National Bank will begin immediately according to an announcement today by bank officials.

Twin Falls contractors Neilson and Co. have been awarded the contract for the new building which will be located at the intersection of Fair Avenue and U. S. Highway 30.

The property is located adjacent to the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds and across Fair Avenue from the Fair Way Shopping Center.

According to Barney Carlson, branch manager, the new bank is to be situated on the site so as to retain as many of the large cottonwood and elm trees as possible.

Additional landscaping is planned around the perimeter of the building. Boise architect, Edgar B. Jensen designed the new structure which will be built of brick masonry structural walls with a wood frame roof. The plan provides for large roof overhangs for maximum sun control. Extensive use of window areas will give natural lighting and an open feeling within the bank.

The new $175,000 modern bank building will have 3,500 square feet of floor area. Plans provide for five teller locations and a drive-in window for the convenience of motor bank customers.

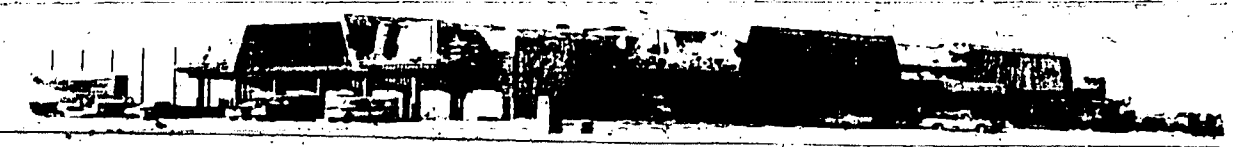

The completion date is scheduled for early spring 1973.

NEW Filer office of the Idaho First National Bank is scheduled for completion in early spring. The building is located at the intersection of Fair Avenue and U.S. Highway 30 and is directly across Fair Avenue from the Fair Way Shopping Center.

The basic structure, covering 60,000 square feet of floor space, was originally scheduled for completion by Dec. 12.

Gem solons to study occupational safety

(Editors: This is the tenth of several dispatches previewing some of the issues confronting the 42nd Idaho Legislature, Today: The Occupational Safety and Health Act.)

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — If some state senators and representatives had their way there would be no federal or state Occupational Safety and Health Act to govern Idaho business and industry.

"I say do away with the whole damn act," Rep. Wayne

Tibbitts, R-Lorenzo, said. "What happened to our national constitution that reserved all police powers to the states?"

Many lawmakers replying to a United Press International survey concerning the issues of the upcoming 42nd session of the State Legislature said Idaho should adopt its own Occupational Safety Act enforced by state inspectors.

Sen. C.C. Chase, D-St. Maries, said, "The federal inspectors have been unreasonable and overbearing. The state would be closer to the problems and more understanding."

The federal act became law in 1970. The act, according to Congress, was designed to assure safety to every working man and preserve human resources. It sets safety standards for business and industry.

The state should definitely take over the federal OSHA for the simple reason that under the federal program, the inspectors are both judge and jury," Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, said.

Fines are levied on the spot with no chance for remedial action by the business. This is the rule now," he said.

Some legislators favored the federal act for various reasons. Some say if the state adopted its own act there would be a duplication of efforts and cost. Others feel that Congress passed the act, now let it live with it.

The feds wrote the safety book, published it and are now selling it," Sen. James Sticheff, D-Sandpoint, said. "Why should we pay the sales commission?"

He said "funding this program is about as sensible as building new railroad depots all over the state now that Amtrak scheduled only one Idaho city for a passenger stop."

But Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, who last year supported state administration of the act, said he has had second thoughts about this approach.

He said if the state were to administer it, it would be an added cost to the State Department of Labor.

Jackson said after talking with members of business and industry they are not so against OSHA as they often were a year ago. "He said business and employees realize the act's merits and are cooperating with an accepting federal inspection."

H. Dean Summers, R-Boise, said the federal inspectors are going to be there anyway so state inspectors would be a duplication. He said the situation is similar to the meat inspection program of a few years ago.

Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, said she supported enactment by the state of its own act.

"I still am of the opinion that the administration of such regulations, if required, should be a state responsibility."

Arrest made in TF shooting

TWIN FALLS — Police have arrested a second Twin Falls man in connection with the robbery and shooting at the Union Bus Depot on Nov. 20.

Charged with one count of robbery and one count of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder is James "Skipper" Robinson, 23.

Robinson was picked up at 5 p.m. Thursday when he returned to his job at Nu Life Carpet and Upholstery Cleaners, 1409 Kimberly Road.

Police report that Robinson offered no resistance to the arrest.

He is being held at the county jail pending arraignment today.

Bond has been set at $20,000.

Earlier, police had arrested Paul J. Bierman on robbery and assault charges in connection with the bus depot incident, in which the station clerk, Roy Quinn, was shot.

Nu Life reported that Robinson had been employed by them for one day. He was hired as a laborer through the employment office, the firm said.

No arrests have been made in connection with the two armed robberies in Twin Falls Monday night, Tim Qualls, chief of detectives said today.

He said investigation is continuing.

Burley youth hit by auto

BURLEY — Eight-year-old Rodney Baumgartner, Burley, was taken by ambulance to Cassia Memorial Hospital after he was struck by an automobile Wednesday afternoon.

He was treated and released at the hospital.

According to a report filed by Burley policeman Fred McCoy, the incident occurred at 3:05 p.m. at the intersection of Overland Avenue and 8th Street.

The boy was hit as he walked eastward in an Overland Avenue crosswalk. The automobile was driven by Dale Butler Adams, 27, Oakley, who was headed south on Overland.

McCoy said a citation will probably not be issued because of icy road conditions at the time of the accident.

Bellevue unit cancels meet

BELLEVUE — Lack of a quorum caused cancellation of the Bellevue City Council meeting Thursday night.

New meeting plans will be announced at a later date.

Jerome hours set

JEROME — Postmaster Dale Vining said today that the Jerome Post Office will maintain regular hours on Saturdays-Dec. 9 and 16.

Vining said the post office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. in order to help Jerome residents with their Christmas mail.

He said services will be available Dec. 23 if needed.

Albion renews license

ALBION — Beer license renewals for the Old Buggy Inn and the Albion Country Store were approved during a special City Council meeting here Wednesday evening.

The license applications failed to pass during a regular council session Tuesday after a motion for renewal by Councilman VaDell Mahoney died for lack of a second.

Mayor ODeen-Redman called the special meeting after city attorney Herman Bedke said the denial of the license renewals might require justification in court.

Apparently neither of the applicants had violated any city ordinances which might result in revocation of the beer permits. Mahoney repeated his initial motion for approval of the licenses, which was seconded by a councilman J. Nielsen.

In other action during the Tuesday meeting the city officials:

- Granted a $25 per month gas and oil allowance to city marshal Ed Robinson.
- Approved Robinson's request for city maintenance equipment including a heater, tractor chains, sewer tank enzymes, meter glass and hands and citation books.

Area hospital approves plan

JEROME — Members of St. Benedict's Hospital foundation have given approval to a proposed $350,000 modernization plan for the hospital, according to the hospital's administrator.

Leo Felder said Thursday that construction work will begin in April, 1973, and should be complete by January, 1974.

Felder explained six major areas of improvements would be involved in the program which would include:

- expansion of the present laboratory, X-ray and emergency departments;
- installation of non-combustible ceiling tile to meet federal standards;
- replacement of hollow core doors, also to comply with federal safety standards;
- an improved fire alarm system;
- new electrical equipment, to comply with new electrical codes; and
- installation of a sprinkler system in the long term care unit to comply with fire safety requirements.

Felder said the cost of the sprinkling system would be about $25,000 and said the unit is a government requirement for the facility.

He said that the $350,000 would be spent for remodeling only, and would not be used for any addition to the present hospital.

The modernization plan was prompted by increased usage of the hospital services as well as federal requirements, Felder said.

"We are feeling the strain, our load has more than doubled since 1966, and we are forced to upgrade our facilities to effectively provide superior medical care services."

Fish and game grant slated

WENDELL — Rep. Orval Hansen has announced a $205,436 grant to the Idaho Fish and Game Department to acquire land at Niagara Springs south of Wendell.

The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation made the grant award.

Hansen said the acquisition involves 940 acres parallel and adjacent to 3.3 miles of the Snake River.

According to Idaho Fish and Game Department biologist Robert Bell, Jerome, there are no immediate plans for development of the property. There are several possibilities which the department will explore, one of which would be a 50-acre wildlife refuge similar to the Hagerman refuge.

He said ponds and lakes could be constructed on some of the property.

KeKe is a sparrow hawk that was shot in the wing last year and which my family and I nursed back to health. His is a story too often told that usually ends in death for the crippled bird or animal that has been carelessly shot. Dan Poppleton, Conservation Officer at Rupert, brought KeKe to me in August of 1971. He had a broken wing near the tip but otherwise was in good shape as I found out when he got his talons into my hand for the first time.

It is illegal for anyone to keep a protected bird in Idaho without a special permit from the Fish and Game Department. This article is in no way intended to encourage people to keep wild things as pets.

We clipped the ends of his wing and tail feathers so he wouldn't catch them in the large wire cage I made for him. The sparrow hawk's normal diet consists of insects and small rodents or birds. He was very hungry the day we got him and ate 17 grasshoppers at his first meal. It was interesting to watch the manner in which he ate them.

The grasshopper was held in one claw and with a flick of his beak he nipped off the head and let it drop. He then proceeded to eat down through the body of the insect which included everything but the tips of the wings and lower legs. Mice were consumed in the same manner with a start at the nose and everything was taken but a few tufts of hair lying around. Something I didn't know was the fact that he needed small pebbles for proper digestion. We noticed he scratched around a lot in his cage so he put some dirt and abaseball sized rock in with him.

He would eat the small pebbles and regurgitate them with the undigestible parts of his previous meals such as the hair and teeth of mice. This is common in all hawks and owls. He also used the larger rock to sharpen his bill and took dust baths in the dirt. It was real fun to watch him take a bath in the water we provided. He would stretch his long legs, jump about and really throw the water.

KeKe loved to sit on the windowsill and look out through our picture window. He had a variety of calls, all of which we learned meant something different. His alarm call when he saw something that frightened him or when I had to pick him up to put him back in his cage was a loud ke'ke'. My wife was a special friend of his and he greeted her each morning with a soft mewing sound in his throat and could cock his head back and forth as she talked to him.

We kept him until his molt occurred in the spring of 1972. His wing healed but at a crooked angle and we let him go in May with serious doubts as to his ability to survive on his own. When we let him go, all the black birds, magpies, and robins nesting on our place attacked him for intruding into their territory. My family and I left on our summer vacation shortly afterward and when we returned he was nowhere to be seen. In September we spotted him near our house, marveling at his survival. We have watched him catch grasshoppers and mice since that time.

The third week in November was snowy and very cold and we saw him sitting near our house, barely able to fly. Food was hard to come by for a crippled bird and he evidently grew weak from hunger. We brought him into the house and fed him a mouse and pheasant leg. He seemed content to roost near the heater for the night. The next morning a very interesting thing happened.

We had noticed a young, male sparrow hawk which was often seen with KeKe outside. This hawk spotted KeKe inside and flew rapidly past our window trying to get KeKe to come out. KeKe ran excitedly back and forth emitting his call and finally the other bird flew and hit the window but recovered. I then let KeKe go again and we have been watching him regularly.

The latest episode in this drama happened last week when my wife saw KeKe sitting on a power line and held a dead mouse in her hand for KeKe to see, calling his name. He made a dive at her and snatched it in mid air from her fingers.

We have hundreds of eagles, hawks and owls shot each year even though they are completely protected in Idaho. Fish and Game personnel constantly see these crippled birds in the field or have them reported to them by concerned people.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packers Coach Dan Devine isn't looking for any favors from the Minnesota Vikings. Sunday despite the fact that many of the Vikings' failures this year can be directly attributed to their generosity.

Some things have happened to Minnesota that you can't believe," Devine said in looking back on the Vikings' 7-5 season. "They never happen when they play us."

Devine was referring to mistakes the Vikings have made this year — the kind of mistakes Minnesota teams have been immune to in the past and the kind of mistakes that were turned around when the two teams met here earlier this year.

The Vikings have given up the ball 36 times on fumbles or interceptions and taken it back 31 times. Green Bay has lost the ball only 17 times and has 30 takeaways for one of the best ratios in the National Football League.

The takeaways for the Packers have resulted directly or indirectly in nine touchdowns and seven field goals — a total of 84 of Green Bay's 251 points. Four of the eight interceptions off Green Bay quarterbacks came in the game against the Vikings earlier this year, however, and Minnesota turned two of the interceptions into tie-breaking touchdowns for a 27-13 victory.

The game will match two of the league's top defenses. The Vikings rank second in overall defense in the NFC and Green Bay ranks fourth. The Packers, however, have given up fewer points — only 199 — while Minnesota has proven to be more vulnerable at the goal line than in past years, allowing 209 points.

Frosh leads Sooners over Stetson 84-76

WINTER PARK, Fla. (UPI) — Aldan Adams, a 6-10 freshman, poured in 29 points Thursday night to lead Oklahoma to an 84-76 win over Stetson.

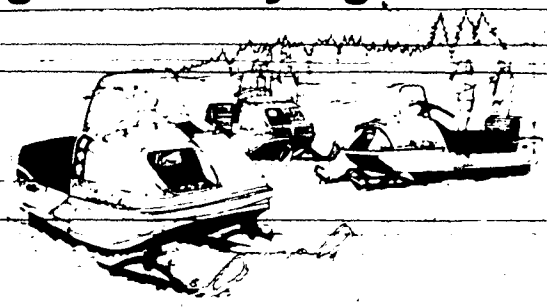

Billy Williams of Stetson scored 25 points to lead the Hatters and Stetson forward Billy Seitz led both teams in rebounds with 12.

Oklahoma led by eight points at halftime and held on for the win with both teams playing evenly at 41 points each after intermission. Oklahoma is unbeaten in four games and Stetson still is looking for its first win after three outings.

Paterno accepts Lambert Trophy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Penn State's Joe Paterno may have accepted his last Lambert Trophy as coach of the east's best major college football team Thursday as he brushed aside the rumor that has him moving up to the head coaching job with the New England Patriots of the National Football League.

Pete leads Hawks over Bulls 94-89

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pete Maravich scored six points in the final two minutes to send the game into overtime then added four points in the extra five minutes to total 39 for the contest and lead the Atlanta Hawks to a 94-89 triumph over the Chicago Bulls Thursday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Atlanta victory knocked the Bulls out of first place in the NBA's Midwest Division, leaving them half a game behind the Milwaukee Bucks and moved Atlanta within half a game of a first place tie in the Central Division. The Bulls led throughout the first half and Atlanta got in front only in the overtime session after Maravich scored from short range with 0:53 left and again with 0:18 remaining in regulation time to tie the score at 86-86.

All three schools were honored as the best eastern football teams in their respective Eastern Collegiate Athletic Association divisions.

Paterno, whose eighth-ranked Nittany Lions play the third-ranked Sooners from Oklahoma on New Year's night in New Orleans, was no stranger to the Lambert party, having won this award five of the last six years.

Tubby Raymond, coach of the University of Delaware, the small college champions, was on hand too, to receive the Lambert Cup for the fifth straight year while Bob Curtis, the young second-year coach of undefeated Franklin & Marshall, accepted the Lambert Bowl.

All three schools were honored as the best eastern football teams in their respective Eastern Collegiate Athletic Association divisions.

Paterno said he was "delighted and honored to be the eastern champs. Before we start our season we start thinking about two things. To win all our football games and to win the Lambert Trophy."

"Now we hope we will carry the eastern mantle with honor and dignity."

After losing their opening game against Tennessee, Penn State rolled up 10 straight victories behind their quarterback John Huftnagel.

"We have a very young team that has improved every week. We've come on a great deal towards the end of the season. I think John Huftnagel is the best quarterback in America, bar none. He's played 28 games for us and we've won 26 of them."

Huftnagel was an honorable mention choice on UPI's All-America team.

"I want to say it was a joyous experience to be associated with this team," said Paterno.

Carl Schaubkowitz, an offensive guard with the Nittany Lions and one of four captains, added his feelings on playing Oklahoma. "Well, I guess I can't really stand here and say we're going to blow Oklahoma right out of the stadium but I know we won't embarrass ourselves and eastern football."

"I know last year when we were going to the Cotton Bowl coach Paterno was telling everyone how good Texas was and how bad we were. This year he's been telling everybody how good Oklahoma is and how bad we are. The only difference this time is that he means it."

While Paterno keeps putting everyone on, he remains silent on his future. Penn State or the Patriots? The guess is that he'll say goodbye to the Lambert Trophy and start shooting for the Super Bowl.

Miller hits back at commissioner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, Thursday struck back at Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and accused him of acting in bad faith by breaking a "gentlemen's agreement" not to make public facts of the current owner-player negotiations.

Miller called Kuhn's revelation of the owners' position during the recent baseball meetings in Hawaii the "act of a rank amateur." He said Kuhn's statement on Nov. 29 was "disruptive and designed to psyche the public."

Kuhn said at the time he was merely acting as a "coordinator" in relaying the owners' compromise position on the reserve clause.

The owners had proposed that a player could become a free agent if he was not offered a $30,000 contract after five years in the major leagues and $10,000 in his ninth year.

We are striving to avoid a repetition of the strike that hit baseball last season and inferences that players would be mistaken in not accepting the owners' proposal is fraudulent," Miller said. "Only about five of the 900 players on major league rosters would actually be affected by this measure. When you consider that the average career of a major league player is about 10 years, very few players will last long enough to achieve that salary scale."

Miller said Kuhn was remiss for speaking out about his own quoted belief that people want to read about baseball trades instead of labor disputes in the sport.

When negotiations began two months ago, we agreed to conduct ourselves in a professional manner, with the understanding that our discussions would not be made public, Miller exclaimed. "We never thought of making our proposals available to the press while discussions were being conducted."

Then Miller, for the first time, made known these Association demands.

If a player completes five years of professional baseball—three in the major leagues—and he is not offered an average salary of $32,000, he could negotiate with another club.

If a player has been in baseball seven years—five in the big leagues—and is not offered 1 1/2 times the average rate, he can bargain with another team.

If a player has nine years of service—seven in the majors—he should be entitled to double the average wage, or else be allowed to negotiate with another club.

Miller stressed that some players could be satisfied with salary arrangements but wish to play for another club because of other reasons. In that case, the Association proposes that following the seventh, 12th and 17th years of major league service, the player be allowed to deal himself to another team.

Cal Poly meets ND in Camellia

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, trying to shake off the loss of two of its top players, takes on the high-scoring North Dakota University Sioux in the 12th annual Camellia Bowl Saturday.

At stake in the regionally televised contest at 22,000-seat Hughes Stadium is the NCAA college division's western region championship.

The Mustangs, 8-0-1, will face the Sioux without their top defensive lineman, Little All-Coast End Tom Chantler, and their best offensive lineman, guard Fred Stewart. Chantler is sidelined with an arm injury suffered in a car accident last weekend. Stewart was declared ineligible for the bowl game.

However, the California team will have its two best running backs in the lineup. Fullback Mike Thomas led the Mustangs in rushing this year, gaining 619 yards, or 4 yards a carry, and scoring nine touchdowns. Tailback Rick Gliniak rushed for four touchdowns and 442 yards in 112 carries.

North Dakota, who averaged 38 points a game in winning nine of ten contests this season, is led offensively by tailback Mike Deutsch and quarterback Jay Gustafson.

Deutsch, a 220-pounder who has caught the eye of professional football scouts, tied for the college division rushing leadership this year with 970 yards on 259 carries. He scored 27 touchdowns.

Gustafson's statistics are equally impressive. He passed for 1,817 yards and 17 touchdowns. He completed 35 per cent of his passes.

The lone blemish on Poly's 1972 record was a 24-24 tie with major college opponent Fresno State. Dakota's only defeat came in the last minute of play at the hands of North Dakota State, 22-17.

The teams had one common opponent, Montana State. The Sioux beat Montana 48-28 and the Mustangs did likewise 34-7.

Michigan State narrows coach list

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State athletic director Burt Smith said Thursday he has narrowed the field of candidates for the head football coaches job at MSU to "approximately five persons."

Smith asked if he still wants to name the new coach prior to the Spartan football banquet next Tuesday, said "I hope so." "If we can get some things ironed out we can do that," he said. "There are some things we have to work on and that's all I can say right now."

The athletic director declined to name any of the candidates. Smith said he has cancelled plans to bring the top candidates to campus this weekend for a final look and that he may or may not be travelling to meet with one or more candidates before the final decision is made.

Virginia edges Indiana in ABA

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Forward Julius Dr. J. Erving pumped in 41 points, including 24 in the third period, Thursday night to pace the Virginia Squires to a 132-129 American Basketball Association win over Indiana.

Erving, a 6-foot-7 second year man, danced and darted through the Pacers' defense in the third period as the Squires built a three-point halftime lead to a 109-98 three period margin. Erving's 24 third period points were a Squires' club record.

But Indiana surged back in the final period, behind the shooting of George McGinnis.

Scott leads Suns over 76ers 117-102

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Phoenix Suns, behind a late scoring spurge by Neal Walk and Charlie Scott, defeated the Philadelphia 76ers, 117-102, Thursday night.

The 76ers, playing their first of six home games here, trailed throughout most of the game, but made threatening gestures several times before Walk and Scott closed the door on them.

Trailing 89-83 after three quarters, Philadelphia stored the first five points of the final stanza to close within a single point. But Scott, a former American Basketball Association star, popped in three straight baskets to put the Suns out of reach.

Walk, picking up the momentum, also pumped in three consecutive shots and ended up as the game's leading scorer with 27 points. Scott had 25.

The game also marked a homecoming of sorts for Phoenix's Connie Hawkins who led the defunct ABA Pittsburgh Pipers to that league's first championship. Hawkins led the Suns with 12 rebounds.

Kevin Loughery led the 76ers with 25 points while John Block contributed 23 markers and 12 rebounds.

The victory ended a nine-game road losing streak for the Suns, who are now 12-10. The 76ers suffered their 25th loss against three victories.

Eagles drop Walla Walla

WALLA WALLA — The College of Southern Idaho, getting second half points and rebounding from Willie Williams, went on a 14-point breakout midway through the final half Thursday night to defeat the Walla Walla Warriors 73-63.

The Eagles, held to a tie at halftime, made the move after Walla Walla, headed by Harris and Kevin Goetz, had cut an 11-point deficit to four. With the score favoring CSI 33-49, Curt Thompson hit twice, Rick Sobers three times and Williams once all from the field, and with five minutes left in the game the Eagles moved ahead 63-49. Walla Walla reduced that to eight points in the closing minutes after CSI, on a Darrell Groves bucket, had crested at 70-53 with 1:54 remaining.

CSI stays in action Friday night, playing the University of Idaho frosh at Moscow. Game time is 6:15 p.m. mountain time.

Rebounding gave CSI fits, particularly in the first half, as the Warriors had second and third shots many times. However, they hit only 35 per cent during the span and that steadied the Eagles, who shot 45 per cent.

But CSI hit extremely well in the second half, particularly in the first 15 minutes. Walla Walla couldn't get the ball down, six of its 20 points in the same span coming on second and third shots.

Grabs rebound

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S Kresimir Cosic (11) grabs a rebound under the arms of Michigan's Ken Brady (15) in Uniondale New York's new Nassau Coliseum. Brigham Young upset, 13th ranked Michigan 83-77.

Arizona tips USC, Kelly scores 10

TUSCON, Ariz. (UPI) — Freshman Al Fleming scored 21 points, 10 in the second half, to lead the University of Arizona to an upset 71-69 victory over 15th-ranked Southern Cal Thursday night.

The Wildcats pulled out in the last three minutes of the half to a 35-29 lead, but Southern Cal came back to cut the lead to two points four times in the closing minutes of the game.

The closest the Trojans got in the second half was one point, 63-62, with five minutes to go as Gus Williams scored six of the Trojans' 10 points to pull away from a 61-52 deficit.

Fleming then converted a pair of free throws. With 1:05 left, the Trojans again cut the lead to two points, 69-67.

Then, on an intentional foul as Arizona was trying to stall, Wildcat freshman Jim Rappis added two free throws with 11 seconds left. And on the ensuing in-bounds play, Don Lambert of USC scored. The gun sounded before the ball could be put back in play.

Fleming had nine of 14 shots from the field, hit three of three from the free throw line and had 13 rebounds to lead both teams in that department.

Beyond Fleming in Arizona scoring were Eric Money with 12 and Tom Lawson, Lynard Harris and Rappis with 10 each.

Clint Chapman paced Southern Cal with 17, followed by Dan Anderson with 11 and Monroe Nash, Williams and Vic Kelly with 10 each.

Arizona shot 52.7 per cent from the field, with 29 out of 55

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doc-

Pomerelle open, Magic is closed

TWIN FALLS — Only one ski area is operating this weekend, another is closed by too much snow and others are still closed because of lack of snow in the Magic Valley.

Skiers in the area will be able to ski at Pomerelle, south of Albion, or will have to travel to such more distant points as Utah, Grand Targhee, or Bogus Basin.

Pomerelle reports 13 inches of packed snow at the lodge and 14 inches of new snow during the week. Drifts at the top of the mountain measure up to 10 feet in depth, resort officials say. The road to the area is plowed but icy and slick. All persons using the road are required to have chains or studded snow tires. All runs are packed except Punchbowl which is open powder.

Magic Mountain, scheduled to open this weekend, is closed by two feet of new snow this week and blocked roads which have prevented packing the ski slopes and making other opening preparations. The resort will open for the season Dec. 16.

Soldier Mountain is hoping to open Dec. 16, depending on additional snow fall to cover ski runs.

Sun Valley's opening is scheduled Dec. 16, but more snow is also needed there. The resort reports one and one-half feet of snow on top but light cover on lower slopes.

Rotarun is planning to open Dec. 22, also depending on snow fall. Sawtooth National Forest reports indicate other ski reports received from around the state show Bogus Basin, near Boise, is operating on a limited basis because of light snow cover. Only Lifts 1 and 4 are operating and roads are icy and slick.

Grand Targhee reports 30 inches of snow at the lodge and 40 inches at the summit. The road is plowed and sanded but snow tires and chains are recommended. The area operates seven days a week and is located 12 miles northeast of Driggs.

Skyline, near Pocatello, is planning to open Sunday, depending on weather conditions.

Michigan is upset by Brigham Young

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Kresimir Cosic scored 27 points, including a pair of tie-breaking free throws with 4:07 left Thursday night, to give Brigham Young an 83-77 upset victory over 13th-ranked Michigan in the first college game ever played at the Nassau Coliseum.

Cosic hit two free throws to snap a 75-75 tie after being fouled by Michigan star Henry Wilmore, who fouled out on the play.

A disappointing crowd of 4,437, including a Yugoslavian cheering section for Cosic, saw Michigan surge to a 44-35 lead at the half. But BYU, with Cosic and Brian Ambrozich leading the way, rallied to tie the game at 61-61 with 10 minutes to go.

Michigan moved out to a four point lead at 73-69 on a pair of jump shots by soph sensation Campy Russell, who finished with 23 points. But consecutive baskets by Mori Sarkalahti and Doug Richards tied the game.

The victor was Brigham Young's second in three games while Michigan dropped to 1-1. Richards finished with 18 points for BYU while Wilmore had 18 and Ernie Johnson 17 for the Wolverines.

Minico juniors beat Gooding St.

RUPERT — The Minico State Redskins out of the undefeated ranks 64-54 Thursday night.

Gooding State, which has won three straight, stayed in the game in the first half but Minico blew away with a 22-point third period. The press hurt the Redskins badly during that spell.

Minico sophomores also won the preliminary.

Weber St. defeats Redskins

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Second string forward Ken Gubler pumped in 19 second half points to lead Weber State to a 81-70 win over Utah in a non-conference basketball game Thursday night.

The Wildcats, defending Big Sky champion, lovecame a stellar performance by Utah freshman center Mike Sojourner to defeat the cold shooting Utes.

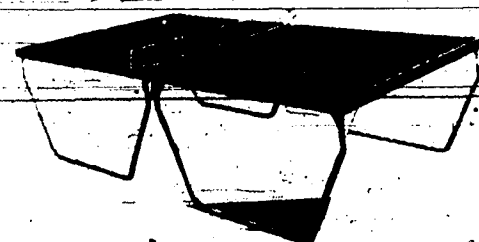

Weber went ahead early in the game and led all the way to the final buzzer, with one exception, when Utah tied the score 38-38 early in the second half.

Gubler saw little action in the first half, missing on his only shot, but he hit six of seven from the field and seven consecutive free throws in the second half to finish high man for the visiting Wildcats. Center Rich Cooper was next for Weber with 18.

Sojourner hit a game high 21 points, and snagged 17 rebounds to keep the Utes close early in the second half, but a 39.3 per cent shooting performance by his teammates killed the Utes.

Utah tied the score 38-38 five minutes into the second half on two foul shots by guard Bernie Tomlin, but Weber dropped in three straight baskets to move ahead by six and their lead was never threatened again. Tomlin was Utah's second highest scorer with only nine.
