

US air raids into 5th day

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States carried its marathon air assault against North Vietnam's heartland into the fifth day today despite mounting air losses. Hanoi Radio reported three more B52s and an F111 fighter-bomber shot down today and said it had used MIGs as well as missiles against the American planes.

The U.S. Command reported that two more B52s were shot down Thursday near Hanoi, along with a pair of Navy A6 Intruders. This brought to eight the number of B52s the Command has reported lost since the massive air assaults began last Monday. Hanoi claims it has shot down 34 planes, 15 of them B52s.

So far the Command has listed 43 Americans as missing and 13 rescued. Hanoi has broadcast the names of 16 fliers, most of them B52 crewmen, who it said were captured. Some of the fliers were reported wounded, two too seriously to attend Hanoi's exhibition of the captives for the foreign press.

Radio Hanoi said in a broadcast monitored in Saigon that the "North Vietnamese Air Force has participated in the downings of U.S. planes." A U.S. spokesman said that while there has been "some MIG21 activity" it has not been "significant." The word "significant" is generally used when hostile activity results in damage to American men or materiel.

The Command spokesman said MIG bases in North Vietnam have been among the targets for the renewed raids. He also admitted that the runway of Hanoi's Gia Lam civilian airport, never before struck in any of the American bombings of North Vietnam, had been "cratered" by bombs.

He declined to speculate as to how MIGs were able to operate with their bases under attack.

The Indian government announced today in New Delhi that American bombs on Thursday struck the Indian chancery in Hanoi. There were reports earlier that the Cuban and Egyptian embassies had been hit in Hanoi and that a Soviet, a Chinese and a Polish ship were hit in Haiphong, with three Poles killed.

A Hanoi Broadcast Thursday said bombs hit the "Hanoi Hilton," an American prisoner of war camp in Hanoi and that some persons had been wounded but did not make clear whether these were Americans or Vietnamese.

Hanoi's Bach Mai Hospital, one of the largest there with 1,000 beds, was reported earlier to have been hit in the bombing. Today the Swedish Ambassador, in Stockholm for Christmas, received radio reports from Hanoi that it was destroyed by B52 bombs this morning.

CHRISTMAS GIFT from more than 500 children brightened the holiday season for Guy Allie, crossing officer at Washington School, Thursday afternoon. All 500, who donated a nickel, turned out to present their friend with a gift certificate of more than $22. Allie, a member of the Twin Falls Police Department, has helped protect children at the North Five Points intersection during school years the past three years.

Hanoi holds PW safety

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — The White House said today the United States is holding Hanoi "responsible and accountable" for the safety of American POWs during U.S. air attacks on North Vietnam.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made the comment in response to reporters' questions about a Hanoi report of damage during a raid to a prison camp where some POWs are being held.

Ziegler said the White House had no information to confirm the Hanoi report. He then said: "There can be no question about the fact that the United States holds Hanoi responsible and accountable for the proper treatment of the United States' prisoners of war held by the North Vietnamese under the provisions of the Geneva agreement," Ziegler said.

The North Vietnamese said in a Hanoi broadcast that during one of the numerous raids on Hanoi this week, the so-called Hanoi Hilton prison camp — where many POWs are believed held — was damaged and some persons wounded. The broadcast did not say specifically that POWs were hurt.

The administration contends that despite the intense American bombing, it is intransigence on the part of North Vietnam that is holding up a peace agreement.

Victory forecast

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam's top military strategist, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, today predicted ultimate victory over U.S. forces in South Vietnam. Giap, who outlined North Vietnam's plan for victory in the South while the Communists were still fighting the French, said Communist troops are scoring big victories and will win the war.

Giap's 30-minute speech was summarized by Radio Hanoi in a broadcast monitored in Saigon.

Giap, who rarely makes public speeches, made the address to celebrate the 28th anniversary of the founding of the North Vietnamese Army and the 28th anniversary of North Vietnam's fight.

Consumer prices continuing climb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices rose 0.2 per cent in November, the smallest monthly increase since August, the Labor Department said today.

About two-thirds of the increase in the cost of living came in higher prices for food, clothing and residential gas, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said.

Food prices continued to be the biggest factor in the increase. Grocery store food prices, which usually show a big drop in November, went up 0.5 per cent, the department said.

Beef prices, which normally decline, rose and fresh vegetable prices also increased more than usual. After adjustment for seasonal variation, consumer prices rose 0.4 per cent in September and 0.3 per cent in October. The adjusted November increase was 0.3 per cent.

Nonfood commodities were up 0.2 per cent, more than half resulting from price increases for fall and winter apparel.

The cost of services advanced 0.2 per cent. The price of medical care was up 0.1 per cent after an unusual 0.7 per cent rise the previous month. Residential gas rates rose sharply, the BLS said, and other household services were higher.

At month's end, the consumer price index was 3.5 per cent above a year earlier and stood at 126.9.

This meant that a typical shopper's basket that cost $10 in 1967 cost $12.69 last month.

Yule services mark holiday

Special church services, family gatherings and winter sports activities will mark the Christmas weekend in Magic Valley.

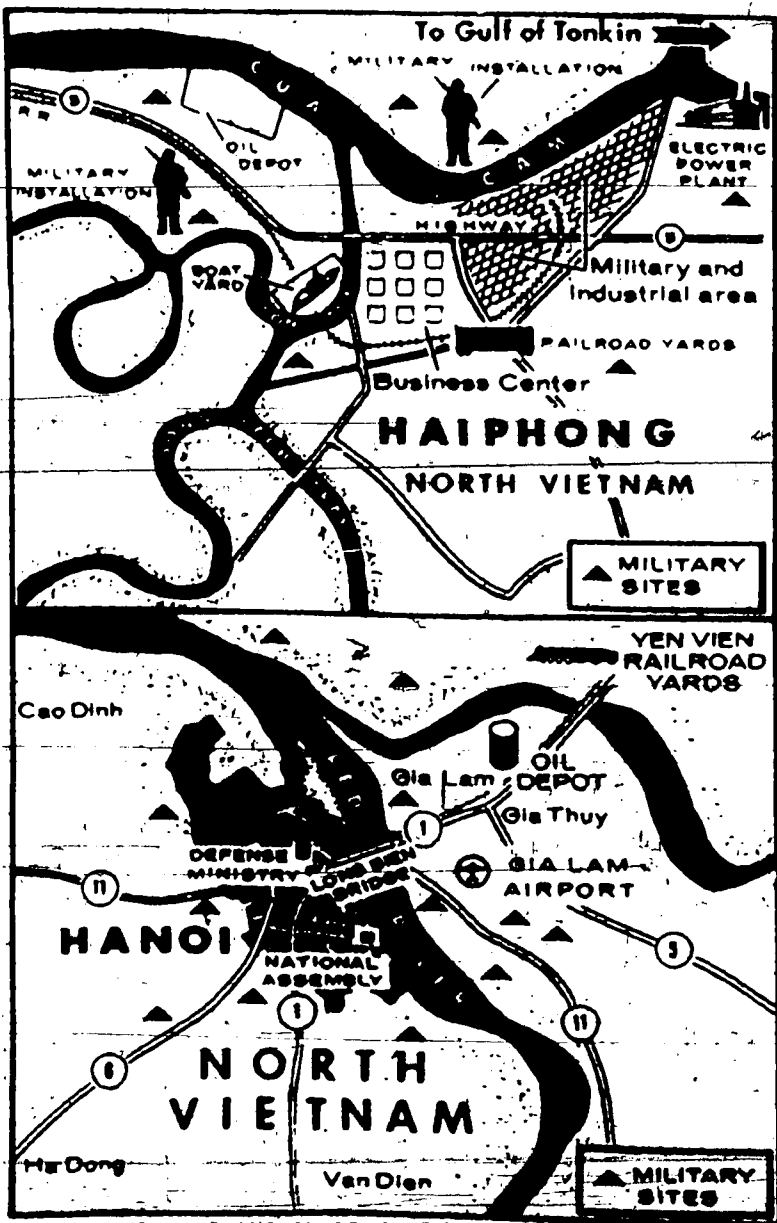

Most churches plan special services for Sunday with their annual children's programs Sunday morning. Several will have special Christmas services on Monday but others will have no Monday observance.

Last minute Christmas shoppers will have an opportunity to buy that gift as late as Sunday night. Some of the major department stores will be open until 11 p.m. on Saturday and until 6 p.m. Sunday, while others will be closed Sunday but open until either 6 or 9 p.m. on Saturday.

Most merchants say they have had a good holiday shopping season this year but have not had time to check their sales against those of a year ago.

Ski resorts in the area are all open on a daily schedule and while those to the north are still short of snow all report facilities are operating and there will be plenty of holiday fun for everyone.

HST condition slips slightly

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Harry S. Truman's heart beat irregularly and his blood pressure fell severely today, alarming doctors so much that Truman's wife, Bess, was called to his bedside and the 88-year-old former president was for a time considered in critical condition.

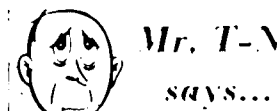

"I have no doubt that if I had had to make a report at about 8:30 or 8:45 a.m. this morning I would have had to say he is in critical condition," said Research Hospital spokesman John Dreves, following a news briefing delayed almost an hour by Truman's worsened condition.

"By the time the briefing came, the condition appeared to be passing or at least improving," he said.

"Truman was still considered in 'very serious' condition which, according to Dreves, means 'he is very close to critical at any time.'"

"For a period of time this morning they were very concerned about him," Dreves said. "His blood pressure decreased and his pulse increased. He experienced cardiac instability." more

W. Oregon braces for fresh storms

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Flood waters covered roads and forced evacuation of about a dozen persons along the Oregon coast Thursday, but by today water was receding.

The National Weather Service posted high tide and storm warnings, however, as another Pacific front approached.

In eastern Oregon high winds blew down timber around John Day, blocking several side roads. U.S. 26 was blocked by a slide at Picture Gorge near its junction with Oregon 19 about 30 miles west of John Day, state police reported.

Army engineers alerted flood fighting teams in Portland, Eugene, Albany, Corvallis and Salem.

Most serious flooding in Oregon Thursday was in Tillamook County, where U.S. Highway 101 and State Highway 5 were closed for several hours by thigh-deep water.

Prime rate hiked

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six per cent money returned to the business world today as two of the nation's largest banks raised their prime rate for business loans to 6 per cent.

First National City Bank of New York lifted its rate from 5 1/2 per cent and Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh raised its rate from 5 1/4 per cent.

Both moves followed an announcement from London that the Bank of England's minimum lending rate would jump a full percentage point today.

In announcing the jump to 6 per cent, Mellon National Bank said it was abandoning for the present its floating prime rate formula. Mellon National and several large banks that have been operating on an automatic floating prime rate formula in recent months had said they would abandon the formula if it appeared it might compel them to proclaim prime rates higher than 6 per cent.

Autopsy requested

TWIN FALLS — An autopsy has been requested in the death of Dorothea C. Ambrose, 19, Jerome.

Miss Ambrose's body was found Wednesday afternoon by county sheriff's deputies 150 to 200 feet down in the Snake River Canyon near the end of Washington Street North.

The young woman apparently died instantly from the fall off the rocky cliff Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

Sheriff Paul Corder said he requested an autopsy as a result of further investigation in the case. No other details were available.

Twin Falls County Coroner Cloyce Edwards said no inquest has been called pending investigation by the sheriff's office.

Survive crash

SAN FERNANDO, Chile (UPI) — Two survivors of an Uruguayan military plane that crashed with 47 persons aboard more than two months ago high in the snow-covered Andes were found alive today. Police said the two reported 14 others were still alive at the scene.

The Fairchild turboprop plane, with a Montevideo rugby team among its passengers, crashed Oct. 13 on a flight from Uruguay to Santiago, Chile. Search planes from Chile, Uruguay and Argentina combed the mountainous area where the plane was last heard from but found no trace of it and called off the hunt.

The two survivors, identified as Uruguayans Roberto Canessa Urtá and Fernando Parrado Dogay, appeared today on foot at a river bank near the village of Los Maitenes about 155 miles from Santiago. They could not cross the river, police said, so one of them wrote a message and tied it to a stone, throwing it to a rancher on the other side.

All valley ski resorts open

TWIN FALLS — All ski resorts in the area are now open, all having received new snow during the past week.

Most resorts received around eight inches of new snow this week and all are now in daily operation through the holidays.

Sun Valley has 18 inches of snow at the top of Baldy Mountain and 18 at the Roundhouse with nine on the valley floor. Eight inches of new snow has fallen this week and main runs only are open along with some bowls.

The roads are generally good with some icy spots.

Soldier Mountain has 15 inches of snow on the top of runs and 10 inches at the bottom. About a foot of snow has fallen in the area since Sunday. The road is plowed but snow covered and snow tires are recommended.

Pomerelle reports 48 inches of snow at the top of ski runs with drifts up to several feet higher at the top of the mountain. The area has 46 inches of snow at the lodge and eight inches of new snow since Sunday.

The road has been cleared but has an icy base and vehicles are not permitted to travel the mountain road without snow tires or chains. All runs are packed and the area operates seven days a week.

Magic Mountain also received seven to eight inches of new snow this week with about 48 inches at the top and 30 at the bottom of ski runs. All runs are open and packed and the area operates daily Friday through Jan. 1 except Christmas Day.

Buses leave for the area daily from Jerome at 8:20 a.m. and Newton's in Twin Falls at 9 a.m., including Sundays.

Rotarun has opened for the season with a 10-inch base and six inches of new snow during the week. Roads are in good condition but icy during morning hours. The area is operating rope tows only until more snow falls. It is open daily except Christmas Day through Jan. 1.

Snowmobiling is reported fair to poor in the Halley and Ketchum areas, and good in the South Hills. There is no snowmobiling as yet in the Fairfield area.

Kidnapers release ransomed girl, 22

DALLAS (UPI) — Alice Amanda "Mandy" Dealey, the debutante daughter-in-law of the president of the Dallas Morning News, was released unharmed today by "foul talking" kidnapers who held the newlywed blonde three days, threatened to kill her and then collected $250,000 ransom.

The 22-year-old beauty, wife of Joe M. Dealey Jr., 25, was picked up by an FBI agent and Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones before dawn on a street corner in the posh suburb of Highland Park.

"I'm all right," whispered the 5-6, 135-pound blonde. Officers started a manhunt for "two or three" kidnapers. Dealey said his father, Joe M. Dealey Sr., president and chief executive officer of the A. H. Belo Corp., which publishes the Dallas newspaper, paid the $250,000 ransom. It was made through a secret "drop" at a deserted shopping center. The woman then was released.

"Needless to say, there was a lot of crying, a lot of hugs and kisses," said the socialite's husband.

"This is going to be the best damn Christmas anybody ever wished for."

He then gave his wife her holiday present early — it was a single strand of pearls which he draped around her neck. They then kissed.

Dealey and Mandy were married six weeks ago in a gala ceremony and they honeymooned at Dragon Bay in Jamaica.

TF panel offers board bond plan

TWIN FALLS — A citizens committee presented its proposal to build a new grade school and junior high addition to Twin Falls school trustees Thursday.

Board Chairman John Wolfe said the board would consult its architects and give its decision on a bond issue "as soon as possible."

He thanked the committee for its work. Gary Custer, chairman of the citizens' group, recommended a bond election be called for late February. He said this timing would give the board a month to prepare its proposal and a month to present the plan to school patrons.

The citizens committee had been organized by the school trustees to develop a plan after determining community priorities for new school construction.

The committee met repeatedly, sorting through numerous proposals including plans drafted by Supt. George Staudaher and by school architects.

The committee drew on portions of those plans and discarded other portions while drafting the final proposal presented Thursday.

The committee proposal, by Custer's estimate, would cost between $1.8 million and $2 million — considerably below the original figure discussed by the school administration and architects.

The school district is limited to its current $3.3 million bonding capacity in any such construction issue.

The plan submitted by the citizens committee called for:

1. Construction of the 24-room elementary school on land owned by the school district north of the high school.

2. Construction of a four-room addition and new physical education facilities at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

3. Construction of a new facility for the Happy Day School for trainable-mentally retarded students.

4. Purchase of up to 40 acres for eventual use for a new junior high school, and possibly, for a second elementary school.

5. The plan called for optional demolition of the 13-room older section of Lincoln School and four classrooms at Washington School.

Custer said the district would have the option of keeping the old structures, giving a net increase of 29 teaching stations.

Should the district not be able to operate so many new classrooms, or if the state highway department should proceed with plans to widen Blue Lakes Boulevard in front of Washington School, a combination of Washington or Lincoln school classrooms could be eliminated, giving a net classroom increase as low as 12-rooms.

Earlier, school officials had expressed concern that the district — without additional sources of revenue — might not be able to support the $12,000 per year required to man and maintain each additional classroom.

The plan, Custer said, provides for this possibility.

Custer asked the trustees to retain the citizens group to assist in promotion of the bond issue.

Tells plans

GARY CUSTER, chairman of a citizens' committee studying school construction priorities for the Twin Falls schools, presents the committee's proposal to school trustees at a special meeting Thursday. The plan called for construction of 29 new elementary and junior high teaching stations.

Matching spruces tree thief target

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff's officers here believe someone in the surrounding area is enjoying an unusually beautiful Christmas tree. They would like to know who it is.

A seven-year-old blue spruce, one of two which decorated the front lawn of the Robert Norris home three miles east of Twin Falls on Kimberly Road, disappeared Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

Sheriff's officers would like to know if anyone saw the tree being removed or carried away or if attempts have been made to sell the six-foot spruce.

Mrs. Norris notified the sheriff's office Wednesday morning saying when she and her husband looked out their front window there was only one tree where there had been two the night before.

Yule tales due

TWIN FALLS — The use of drums and the flannel board will be incorporated into telling two of the best loved tales of Christmas Saturday morning in the weekly children's story hour at the Twin Falls Public Library.

"The Little Drummer Boy" and "The Night Before Christmas" will be featured in the program designed for pre-school children.

Danny Thornton will be coordinator for the program which begins at 11 a.m. in the children's department.

Funding charges rebutted

BOISE (UPI) — The dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Idaho said State Sen. Dean Summers, R-Boise, "should get his facts straight before commenting on funding at U of I."

Dr. A. M. Mullins, speaking at the Boise Rotary Club Thursday, said Summers' remarks last week to the Boise Exchange Club were "far-fetched" and "without substance."

Summers criticized farm exemptions and said the U of I was overfunded to a point "that we have eight or nine professors teaching poultry to three or four students."

Mullins said teacher-student ratios were much higher and that faculty members to the College of Agriculture drew salaries averaging about $2,000 less annually than do those in similar positions and rank in other western state universities.

He said too many urban residents' concepts of agriculture are too narrow.

The dean said agriculture is not a declining industry in Idaho.

money for predator control techniques such as trapping, denning, and shooting before the situation gets out of hand," Bible said.

Bible pledges control funds

ELY, Nev. (UPI) — Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., promised Thursday to support efforts to increase funding for predator control programs in the West.

He attended a meeting of sportsmen and livestock operators who told him a ban on the use of poisons to control coyotes and other predators has caused a sharp rise in the number of coyotes in many areas.

They said it is having an adverse effect on small wildlife and birds as well as sheep and cattle. They said the increase in the number of coyotes could lead to a rabies outbreak which would endanger human beings and livestock.

Cattlemen said they expect to suffer large losses next year unless new control efforts are adopted. Sportsmen said chukar, sagehens and other small gamebirds and wildlife are being threatened by the increasing coyote population.

"We need to provide more money for predator control techniques such as trapping, denning, and shooting before the situation gets out of hand," Bible said.

Tom Hovenden, Boise, said feeders are operating on a free market and "aren't crying" because there is still a worldwide shortage of beef animals and prices are expected to remain good for top quality beef.

He said the importing of cheaper cuts could affect the overall price picture, but that demand would continue for American feedlot products.

He cited last week's jump from $32 to $40 for fat cattle as an indicator of this demand. He said this is the sharpest increase in price since controls were removed following World War II.

Hovenden said cattle feeders also are experiencing increased costs. Referring to the feed situation compared to two years ago, he said barley has raised from $40 to $50 to $70 a ton.

Trash haul day late
TWIN FALLS — Monday will be a holiday for the Parks and Sons sanitation service workers and as a result trash and garbage collections will be one day late.

Joe Coon, Twin Falls City sanitation officer, said the pickups normally made on Monday will be on Tuesday because of Christmas. This will put the schedule one day late, with Friday's collections on Saturday.

Coon said he has not been advised as yet about the New Year's Day schedule but it will probably run a day late also.

John Rau of New York won the national team championship with Ely Culbertson, Billy Barrett and John Carpenter in 1930 when he was less than 25 years old. He overbid a trifle then and still overbids a little in rubber bridge today.

His four-heart call had little to commend it except courage, but with skillful play and a little bit of luck he brought it home.

He won the spade lead, ruffed a spade, led the jack of trumps, let it ride after West played low, led a second trump to dummy's queen, ruffed another spade with his last trump and played the three of clubs. West took his ace and after East signaled with the nine, West continued with the jack.

Johnny ruffed in dummy, played the ace of trumps to pull West's king and cashed dummy's last two spades.

East discarded three diamonds as did South. This left East with the ace of diamonds and queen-six of clubs.

At this point East claimed the rest of the tricks.

Johnny said: "Making four."

West said: "You've already lost a trick."

"Right," said Johnny. "But I am only going to lose two of these last three. East's six of clubs is a sure loser."

Last Isn't Heard Of The Draft

WASHINGTON — The last won't have been heard of the draft by a long shot — even though it legally ends next June 30.

That's only the date the induction authority expires.

The basic military draft law will continue on the statute books — and will do so indefinitely — until formally repealed by Congress. That is not in the cards; there is no intention to abolish this act.

The same applies to the Selective Service System, an induction, Congress would have to pass a new law authorizing it — thus reactivating the basic draft law.

The annual draft lottery likely will be limited to 50 numbers. Those youths will be required to take physical exams and be classified. Should a national emergency arise and Congress authorize induction, they would be the first called up.

Until then, they can rest easy and go about their affairs.

Pretty much the same worry-free outlook prevails for the six-month period between now and June 30.

There will be very few if any draftees of those becoming eligible Jan. 1. Of those born in 1953 and who have been assigned lottery numbers, it is virtually certain one will be inducted before the draft of 1973 — when they cease to be eligible. Of those who become eligible next year, only a few thousand at the most, Pentagon manpower authorities estimate, will be drafted.

Says Assistant Defense Secretary Rogers Kelley: "If there is a call-up, it won't be very large. Not many will be summoned. If none are drafted in the first quarter of the year, then it's just about certain no one will be inducted in the second quarter — when that authority expires."

If a draft is necessary, it will total not more than 10,000 — at the most.

So far, around 50,000 were inducted this year. Present combined strength of the armed forces is 2.3 million.

Still under consideration is a reduction of this troop level for economy purposes. There is considerable support for that by budget-balancing advocates in the President's inner councils.

A cut in military strength would do a lot to ease the Army's and Navy's problems to recruit an all-volunteer establishment.

Student Citizens?

Why didn't more CSI students vote in Tuesday's trustee election?

CSI President James L. Taylor estimates that only about 200 students voted. If correct, his figure suggests a lower percentage of students chose to vote than did the general electorate in Twin Falls and Jerome counties.

About eight per cent of the students apparently voted, compared to about 10 per cent of the general electorate.

The estimates necessarily are very rough. Nevertheless they reveal remarkably low interest by student voters.

One of the arguments often advanced in support of colleges in general and the CSI in particular is that college training helps prepare an involved, well-informed citizenry, able and willing to shoulder the burdens of society.

One would expect such a concerned student citizenry to take an active interest in public affairs. That interest should be doubly engaged in an election in which college students help determine and direct the governance of their own college.

Granted, there are mitigating factors. A minority of students faced the prospect of financial penalties if it voted. Too, the election fell on an examination day which may have discouraged some.

Despite these factors, the CSI students showed they didn't care very much about the governance of the college.

The danger they and CSI face now is this:

What would happen if taxpayers of the junior college district should ask, "If you don't care about the college, why should we?"

Hopefuls none will respond in such a negative fashion. More likely they will ask another question: "What changes should be made at CSI to help it better meet the challenge of shaping a creative, involved citizenry. How can the college do its job better?"

The student-citizen's first report card was marked with an 8 per cent — failing on any grading scale.

Yule Fires

A Christmas tree is a lovely thing. It sparkles in the eyes of children and grownups alike. But it can also be a lethal thing — if it catches fire. And that hazard, which might lead to tragedy, can be minimized by a few simple precautions.

Trees or wreaths are less flammable when fresh. The danger increases as the days pass. They should be brought into the house as short a time before Christmas as possible, and removed soon afterward.

To keep a tree fresh longer, trim the base slantwise, at least an inch above the previous cut, and mount the stand in a tub containing water.

A simple solution of nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid to a gallon of water, sprayed or brushed over trees or wreaths, will help to make them fire resistant.

Wrapping paper should be kept from proximity to the tree. The swift flare of a burning tree can touch off nearby flammables with startling rapidity. Keep a bucket of water, a hose or a fire extinguisher handy.

The joy that is Christmas has often been turned to grief by a fire that could have been prevented. Preparedness can make regret unnecessary.

Getting Pinchy

WASHINGTON — Sources in New Delhi suggest Prime Minister Gandhi is beginning to find India's association with Russia may be somewhat like riding on the back of a tiger. This discovery, they believe, is what is propelling Mrs. Gandhi toward rapprochement with the United States.

The India-Russia friendship pact and Soviet backing for India in the war with Pakistan over Bangladesh were interpreted as a major victory for New Delhi, and insure that India would be by far the most powerful nation on the subcontinent, lower American influence in Southern Asia, make it possible for India to stand up to China.

Soviet aid, moreover, was to make India independent of the West and the United States in particular.

Today Mrs. Gandhi is apparently discovering the Soviet Union wants a payoff.

One Soviet move and another leads to the conclusion Moscow now wants a strong say in how India develops economically. The Soviet leaders seemingly are attempting to get New Delhi to arrange things so that what India produces and what it consumes will mesh closely with Soviet production and Soviet needs. The Indians reportedly have already agreed to take Soviet economic needs into account when making national plans and the Russians have promised to do the same.

Some Indians influential in the Gandhi ruling group believe that the way things are going, this couldn't in effect, make India an economic satellite of Moscow on the Eastern European model.

The Russians also are reportedly impatient with the speed at which India is moving toward socialism. By this means and that, the Russians, it appears, are pushing for rapid and complete nationalization of India's sugar, textile and drug and pharmaceutical industries, not the partial, piecemeal nationalization now apparently under way in some of these fields.

What bothers the Indians particularly is that, when they resist Soviet pressures and seek to move on their own independent path, Moscow (if the Indians are accurate in their intelligence) stirs up the local Indian Communist groups, which then organize student unrest and anti-government agitation.

Some Indians have also pointed out to the Prime Minister that economic and technical aid from the Soviet Union is not all that it seems. At a time when Soviet technical experts are advising Indian farmers, Moscow is sending her own agricultural experts to the United States to learn from American farmers. Russia is buying wheat from the United States to meet Moscow's deficiencies at the same time the U.S.S.R. is sending wheat to India.

RAY CROMLEY

"End Run"

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Nixon aides are convinced this new Congress will be so rough to deal with that they expect little success in pushing through major White House domestic programs — certainly in anywhere near the form the President wants.

Specifically, they expect Congress to turn Mr. Nixon down cold on meaningful laws to reorganize the Cabinet and streamline the present hit-and-miss conglomeration of government departments and agencies.

The problem on the Hill, say Nixon men, is that formal reorganization of major departments and agencies requires a reorganization of powerful Senate and House committees. This would necessitate a reshuffling of position and power in Congress on a wide scale, stir up months of behind-the-scenes struggle for position.

The delicate power setup in the Senate and House of Representatives has been created through the years by gradual advances in seniority and a multitude of individual and intra-party struggles. Once this balance was upset, the infighting for position would be terrible to behold and could result in lasting bitterness.

The President's men believe they can get around this congressional roadblock, first, by the creation of new and less controversial agencies by executive order subject to congressional veto, and second, by setting up within the White House a series of task forces modeled after the National Security Council and the new Council on Economic Policy.

The President is leaning heavily on these councils, or task forces, chaired by White House staffers or by men given an additional White House title.

For Mr. Nixon has in the past four years learned a basic trick of government: Once named a presidential assistant, an official can cut across departmental and agency lines in a way he can never do as head of a powerful department. Further, an interdepartmental committee, properly constructed, can exercise the planning and decision-making functions of a super agency.

The functioning of the National Security Council has proved to Mr. Nixon that such committees can provide an orderly way for collecting and funneling ideas, programs and recommended decisions to the President in a way which strains out a great deal of emotion and special pleading.

But Mr. Nixon would like to go further and shake up the existing departments radically. Because of the large number of entrenched programs, the number of entrenched bureaucrats manning them and the strong reluctance of Congress to cancel projects which are no longer worth what they cost, a major reorganization is probably the only possible way to achieve the wholesale abolishment of programs which have outlived their usefulness or which have never lived up to expectations.

About Nursing

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does breast feeding cause the bust to sag in later life? A friend and I were discussing it, and I told her I was considering breast feeding.

Her mouth fell open and she said, "Oh, you wouldn't. Why, by the time you are 35 or 40 you'll look like an old cow, with a big bust that hangs down to your waist."

I'm not big busted now and have read in a magazine that breast feeding does not harm the bust. The article also gave some reasons why breast feeding is so good. Among others it gives the baby antibodies to protect it from diseases.

I have seen a lot of women who did not breast feed their children, but they hang or sag terribly. What do you think? — Mrs. A. L.

I thoroughly agree with you and with the article you read. There are all sorts of good reasons for breast feeding, and they include the emotional as well as physical health of baby, and to some degree mother.

Breast feeding does not permanently alter breast size so as to cause sag later. True the breasts enlarge temporarily during pregnancy but return to former size afterward — other things being equal.

The breasts will droop if there is weight loss or a loss of supporting tissues as a woman grows older. Some experience this; others don't. Breast feeding isn't the factor that governs it.

There are, indeed, plenty of women who have breast-fed their babies and are not droopy, and there are others, as you have seen, who never did any breast feeding but have become droopy anyway.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 16, sleeps on a soft mattress and springs. He complains of backache.

I can't convince him that a hard mattress would be much better for his back. Now he wants a water bed.

He thinks that would be best. He is not a sound sleeper. What do you think of the water bed from a health standpoint? — G.M.B.

I have never slept in one and have little information with which to form a judgment, except that an orthopedist friend of mine did sleep on one and found it uncomfortable.

I have no doubt others find them comfortable or they wouldn't be using them.

The simplest answer for your son, I think, would be to try a plywood bed board between his mattress and springs and see if that has any effect. Unsturdy mattresses can cause back pains.

Persistent backache is not to be considered lightly, and so, if it persists, it would be wise to have an X-ray of his back and look for other causes than a weak mattress.

As far as the water bed goes, if he insists and you can afford one and if your floors will support the weight, then let him use one and find out.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a person takes too much sugar, does drinking water remove the danger to your health by dissolving the sugar? Example: If I eat a candy bar, then drink a glass of water, is it as though I didn't have the candy bar? (I know the calories still count.) — L. M.

Dissolved or not, the sugar's still there. In fact, whatever you eat, the stomach churns it into a liquified state anyway.

You are entirely right, of course, that the calories still count — which is why people on reducing diets should avoid sugar in their coffee. That's a mistake some dieters make, thinking that liquids won't add as much weight as "solid" foods. Sometimes the liquids add even more.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

MR. SPECTATOR

Times Do Change.

Our head is hanging in shame. Darrell F. Sweet, who hangs his hat out on Route One, Twin Falls, sauntered into our office with a couple of envelopes.

"Want to see something?" he asked.

Being naturally nosy we took a look. Both were from the White House. There was a card in each of them. The first showed a reproduction of a painting showing the capitol building in Washington D. C. as it looked in 1798. It was under construction then. The second card reproduction of a drawing, was done in 1839 and showed the capitol as it looked when completed.

Beautiful!

So what made us hang our head? Well, the one card had been mailed to Mr. Sweet in 1971 and the other in 1972. They were Christmas Cards from President Nixon.

Which reminds us that we did get an invitation to attend President Nixon's first inauguration — but couldn't get there because no money was in the envelope and we didn't have any either.

Now, come to think of it, we didn't get an invitation to the inauguration next month. Or a Christmas Card, either.

Which, as we said, causes our head to hang — in shame, that is!

'Shield' pleas rising

By ROBERT STRAND
United Press International
Three newsmen have been jailed and three others face incarceration for refusing to reveal confidential material. As a result, pleas for "shield laws" are rising rapidly in state legislatures and Congress.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., says hearings on "government censorship of the press" should get top priority when Congress convenes.

Congressional reaction was strongest to the brief jailing of John F. Lawrence, head of the Los Angeles Times bureau in Washington, because he withheld from a court tape recordings his reporters made during an investigation of the Watergate affair.

But four other newsmen have similar problems, and a fifth, William Farr, a Los Angeles Times reporter, has spent 26 days behind bars for refusing to tell a judge who gave him information concerning the Charles Manson trial. Under terms of his sentence, Farr can be kept in jail for life, unless he talks.

Around the nation, several more similar conflicts are brewing between newsmen and judges, grand juries and government agencies. The controversy was brought to a boil last June by a U.S. Supreme Court decision that news media have no right under the First Amendment to decline to answer grand jury questions.

For them it is a matter of ethics, and newsmen argue that if they can not keep their sources secret, they soon will lose the sources. As a result, the public would be deprived of important facts.

On the other side of the controversy it is argued that reporters are not different from other citizens. It is asserted they should provide all information available to assist the administration of justice.

In Tennessee, State Sen. Calvin Cannon said of a reporter in a local case recently dismissed, "I'd like to put him in jail myself, and leave him there till he rots."

Such positions often have been taken by lawmakers, and newsmen retort this is because the conflict almost always arises in situations with political overtones.

The Massachusetts Legislature recently twice killed proposals to shield the press by granting it the privilege of confidentiality. The votes were close, and were influenced by the printing of the Pentagon Papers.

Press shield laws exist in 17 states, and in most other states the issue will come up in next year's legislative sessions.

However, several of the current reporter-jail cases developed in states with shield laws that did not cover their particular situations. Some laws are old, and have not been modernized to include radio and television reporters.

In Congress 24 proposals were introduced after the Supreme Court decision. New versions will be offered the next session.

They range from a one-sentence bill by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who affords newsmen "absolute immunity from testifying, to a complicated proposal of Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn.

Bid rejected

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A taxpayers' suit to force the release of newsmen William Farr on grounds his imprisonment caused illegal expenditure of public funds was rejected Thursday by the state District Court of Appeal.

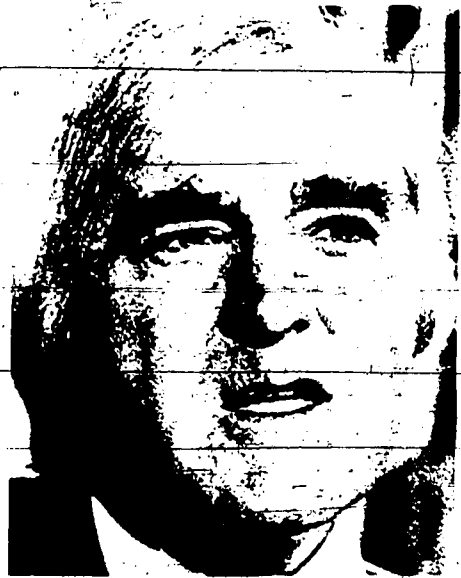

It was yet another loss in Farr's legal attempts to get out of jail where he is serving an indefinite term for contempt of court.

He was imprisoned nearly four weeks ago for refusing to tell a Superior Court judge where he obtained information for a story about a plan by the Manson family to murder celebrities.

Farr's attorney, Mark Timm, said his next step would be an appeal to Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas who handles cases from the 9th Circuit District.

Atom device set off

YUCCA FLATS, Nev. (UPI) — An underground nuclear device, packing the punch of from 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT, was detonated Thursday at the bottom of a 2,260-foot vertical shaft at the testing grounds here.

Enters plea

SEVEN-TERM Rep. Cornellius F. Gallagher Jr., D-N.J., pleaded guilty in federal court in Trenton, N. J., Thursday to charge of evading $74,000 in U. S. income taxes. Sentencing was deferred until Gallagher confers with government agents on other tax matters. Six other tax charges against Gallagher, 51, will be dropped. (UPI)

Proxmire assails budget chief pick

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says the appointment of Roy L. Ash, former president of Litton Industries, to head the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is an example of a "too cozy" relationship between government and defense industry.

Asked Thursday whether he felt President Nixon should withdraw the appointment, Proxmire replied, "Of course I think he should."

"There is no question about the fact that the relationship has been too cozy, too close," Proxmire told newsmen. He added that, "Not only is he (Ash) at the heart of the defense industry, but his abilities as a manager are seriously questioned on the basis of the performance of the Litton shipyards." Litton is a major defense contractor.

The head of the OMB does not have to be confirmed by the Senate.

Proxmire, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, made the remarks at the conclusion of four days of hearings into weapons procurement programs.

Proxmire estimated that billions of dollars are being wasted yearly on cost overruns, overpayments to contractors, and inefficiency.

"I think the hearings showed," he said, "there are great areas of waste, extravagance and mismanagement in our defense establishment that can be improved."

Los Angeles Times gives tapes to federal court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Los Angeles Times turned over to federal court today tape recordings of an interview with a key government witness in the alleged bugging of the Democratic national committee after the witness said he had no objection.

The development cleared the way to the dropping of contempt of court charges against the Times' Washington bureau chief, John R. Lawrence, who had refused previously to comply with a court order to release them.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl C. Silbert told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that he had spoken with the witness, Alfred C. Baldwin III, and Baldwin's attorneys, and they had no objection to the tapes being handed over to the court.

Lawyers for seven men indicted in the June 17 break-in of the headquarters had insisted they should have access to the tapes.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Should a wife withhold sex to punish her husband? Well, that is what my wife has been doing lately and I am sick of it. Whenever we have a little spat, I always apologize whether I think I'm wrong or not, but she refuses to accept my apologies. I get over being mad in 30 minutes, but it takes her anywhere from two to three weeks!

I don't drink or mess around with other women. If I did, I might deserve this kind of punishment, but she gives me the cold treatment for every little thing.

What do YOU think about a wife like mine? HAD IT

Unfair punishment

DEAR HAD IT: She's unfair, unwise, and unfulfilled. But more significant, sex is obviously no pleasure for her or she wouldn't deny herself a treat in an effort to punish you. When you are on good terms why not discuss it with her and try to improve the situation?

DEAR ABBY: My husband was the "quiet type"—the last person in the world anyone would suspect capable of infidelity. Nevertheless, he was.

I later learned he had been having an affair in our home, right in our own bed! I discovered this when I came home unexpectedly and found them there. Only one who has been thru this can know the anguish I felt.

After I filed for divorce, three of my neighbors told me that for the last year they had seen this young woman entering and leaving my home many times after I had left for work.

I wanted to scream, "Why didn't you tell me? You could have spared me all this!"

Then I realized that they probably thought they were doing "the right thing" by keeping quiet. Abby, had I been told, perhaps it could have been ironed out by counseling; or just knowing would have caused me to file for divorce and been spared the humiliation of walking in on such a scene.

I pray that at least one neighbor who is aware of such goings on will read this and tell the wronged spouse, so he won't be subjected to what I experienced. Thank you.

THE LAST TO KNOW

DEAR LAST: I would not advise anyone to inform on his neighbors. There is too much margin for error. The "wronged spouse" usually knows that something is amiss, and a report from the neighbors would serve only to humiliate.

DEAR ABBY: Hilda, my neighbor's daughter, became engaged and her aunts gave her a shower, which was a huge success. She received more than 50 beautiful and expensive gifts [I saw them myself].

A week later, the wedding was called off. Hilda made no secret that the boy asked for his ring back.

Her mother told me that Hilda was sending out notes saying, "Thank you for the shower gift. The wedding has been called off. If you can't come by and pick up your shower gift, let me know and I will get it back to you."

A whole month has passed and I have received no such note. Since I live right next door, all she'd have to do is TELL me, and I'd go over and pick up my gift. I think she is waiting for me (and others who gave her a gift) to tell her to keep it, which I am not going to do!

As far as I know, not one person who gave her a shower gift has had a note from Hilda, nor has she returned one gift. I gave her a pair of good pillows which I could use myself. What should I do? ANGRY IN BUFFALO

DEAR ANGRY: Tell Hilda she needn't bother to send you a note—that you've come for your pillows.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 8770, L. A., CALIF. 90088 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

THE LATCHSTRING IS OUT

By Mary Sue Miller

Latchstrings are out and borders overflow with the special delights of the season. Lovelies everywhere prepare to welcome visitors. The open door is a universal expression of good will at the Christmas season.

In Europe, holiday foods vary with countries. Brought to America by settlers from many lands, our favorites are a happy blend of many traditions.

Hot mince pies and flaming plum pudding come to us from England. The chocolate Yule log—that delectable buche de Noël—has its origin in France. Italy's contribution is the beautiful, dove-shaped panettone. Beloved by children, anise cookies follow a long line of German spring-erles, made in much prized wooden molds.

But what of the bird? The turkey is our very own, native to America and now finding a place on the tables of Europe. It seems our holiday feasting has come full circle.

What a happy idea, this sharing of traditional pleasures with untold numbers. We do share so many—the tree, Santa, the children's glee, the open door, the welcoming hand.

Our latchstrings are longer than we sometimes realize, a friendly tie across the miles. Surely we would not have it otherwise. Peace and good will inspire the season and the heart. May your latchstring be endless!

Methodist women name committees

KIMBERLY — The Wednesday meeting of the United Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service was opened with a prayer and devotionals by Mrs. W. C. Klutz.

Mrs. Ralph Simmons, president, named special committees for the year.

The chairmen are Mrs. Grace Durr, cards and napkins; Mrs. Layla Legg, upper rooms; Mrs. Don Kilborn, mystery daughters; Mrs. Kenneth Naylor, Mrs. Leslie Lowe, Mrs. Bruce Luloff and Mrs. Ron Ballard, weddings; Mrs. Hugh Sanderson, Mrs. Mable Helton, Mrs. Grace McFarland, Mrs. Dale Kirkpatrick, the Browse 'n Buy, and Mrs. Marion Wall and Mrs. Orville Allen, funerals.

A letter from Rev. William E. Lineberry, district secretary missions, called for extra giving to world service.

It was decided to give $200 to the church budget. It was reported that the penny jar was full. An artificial floral arrangement will be purchased for the altar. Mrs. Leslie Lowe, Mrs. John Nelson and Mrs. Ballard were appointed to the floral committee.

Mrs. Delbert Remaley resigned from the nominating committee. She was replaced by Mrs. Naylor. Mrs. Allen, chairman, presented the name of Mrs. Bryan Harris as a third member.

Mrs. Ralph Nelson, mission education chairman, reported on the planned withdrawal from Africa of two missionary couples. It was suggested that Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thomas could be invited to speak at the church when they return from Rhodesia.

The heads of circles have sent $15 to the Idaho Youth Ranch for the boys' Christmas.

Mrs. Klutz called attention to note paper that has been ordered for sale. About 25 calls were made during the month. Mrs. Kenneth Pierson, chairman of the canteen at the blood drawing, thanked the group for cookies furnished.

Mrs. Wall reported she sent Christmas cards to the youth away from home and it was suggested that "Upper Rooms" also be sent to them.

Mrs. W. C. Klutz was program chairman. Mrs. Lowe played background music. Mrs. McFarland played the part of a radio announcer in the program.

Mrs. Legg and Mrs. Ballard were hostesses.

US committed to settle Vietnam War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said today the United States is firmly committed to negotiating a Vietnam settlement.

In spite of further massive U.S. raids on North Vietnam in the wake of the announced deadlock in the cease-fire negotiations, Department spokesman Charles W. Bray III said in response to questions about protests to the new bombing: "I hope it is clear to everyone — universally clear — that we are prepared to proceed with a negotiated settlement."

He said Henry A. Kissinger had made this clear.

Bray was asked about condemnation of the raids by Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and his suggestion that U.S.-Russian relations could be affected. Bray declined comment on grounds he had not seen the full text of Brezhnev's statement.

Bray also said he would have no comment on reports that the diplomatic missions of Egypt and Cuba may have been damaged by recent attacks on Hanoi.

He did say Poland had lodged a stiff protest over damage it said was caused to a Polish ship during a raid on the port of Haiphong, with the reported death of three seamen.

The United States has not acknowledged hitting the ship but Bray said of the Polish protest, "If the facts in the note are correct, it would be a matter of regret."

As for the negotiations, both Washington and Hanoi are accusing each other of stalling, with much of the world left confused over which side is more responsible for the breakdown.

Dental workers file suit

TWIN FALLS — A group of dental technicians filed suit in District Court here Thursday challenging the constitutionality of state law governing dentistry. The technicians also are seeking $500,000 general damages from the board of dental examiners and the state.

The Idaho Association of Public Dental Technicians, Inc., and several individual technicians, including Lee Barnes, Twin Falls, filed the action against the Idaho Board of Dental Examiners, its executive Clair S. Hanks and the state of Idaho.

The suit alleges that "the above defendants, together with other persons as yet unknown at this time to the plaintiffs, have compiled dossiers on the plaintiffs and have paid and organized stooges to go to the individual businesses of the plaintiffs to entrap said plaintiffs in alleged violations of law."

The action filed also charges the "harassment and the singling out of plaintiffs as herein outlined is infringement of their liberties and is a fishing expedition to find something to stop plaintiffs from attempting to practice their profession."

The plaintiffs seek $500,000 in general damages, as well as an additional $25,000 exemplary damages from Hanks.

In addition, the action asks for a temporary restraining order against "harassment, entrapment and intimidation of the plaintiffs and from sending stooges to the businesses of the plaintiffs in an effort to entrap them into an illegal act."

But the action goes on to ask that the entire section of state law governing dentistry, Chapter 9, Title 901-933, be ruled unconstitutional on several grounds:

— The law which restricts certain practices by dental technicians allegedly restricts them in their vocation, and "appropriates from the plaintiffs the right to freely contract and that said contract and that said prohibition is an unconstitutional exercise of the police powers of the state, on an arbitrary and capricious basis, without adequate showing that such relates to the health, safety or morals of the citizens of the State of Idaho.

— that the laws are "broad and ambiguous," making it impossible to determine "which acts are illegal";

— that the laws are "special legislation designed to favor the Idaho Dental Association";

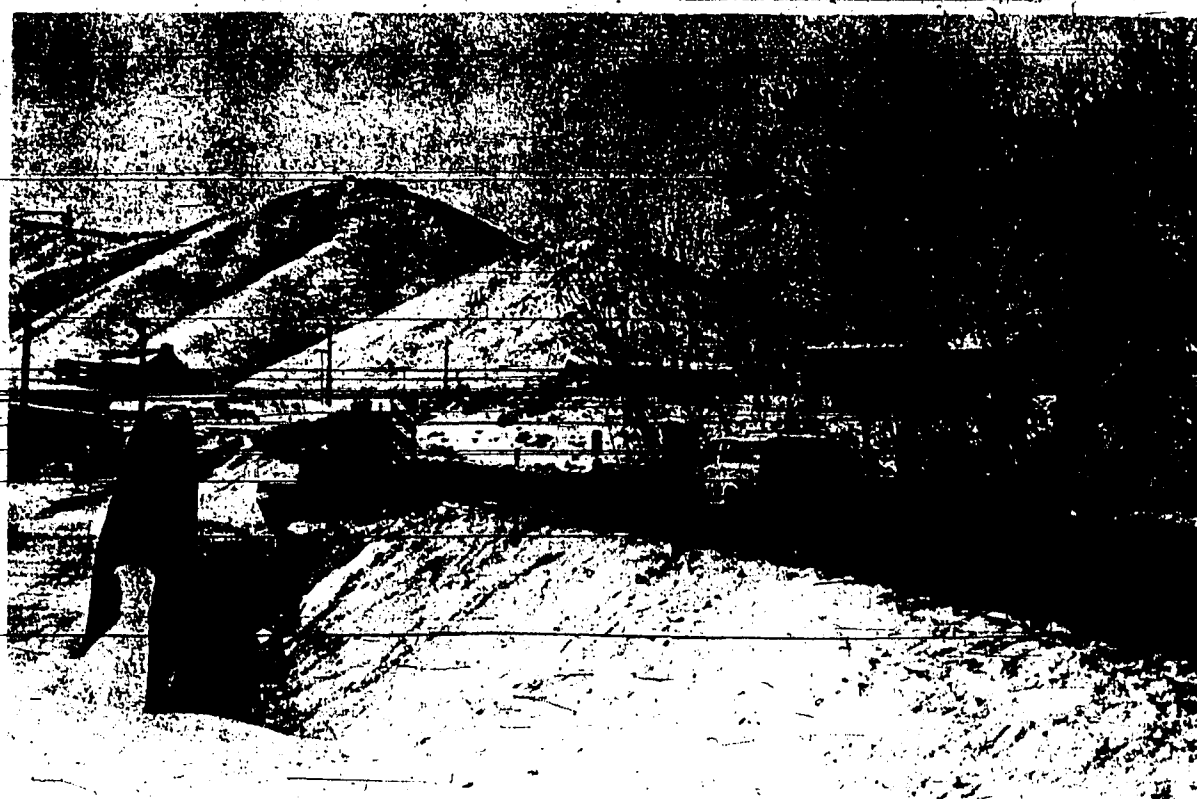

— that the law encroaches on the rights of the public "to freely contract for goods and services with whatsoever person or institution said public may desire;

— that the statutes violate the Idaho Constitution, as well as the 14th amendment to the U. S. Constitution "and further prohibits plaintiffs from pursuing their selected vocation and appropriates valid property rights of plaintiffs without due process of law."

The action filed also demands a trial by jury, the court records show.

The suit is the latest in a lengthy legal battle between dental technicians and dental profession.

One of the plaintiffs in the current case, Lee Barnes, was enjoined from performing certain services in a District Court ruling in Twin Falls 18 months ago. The ruling was subsequently affirmed by the Idaho Supreme Court.

Camas to lose railroad station

FAIRFIELD — This Camas County seat may be the next town in the Magic Valley to lose its railroad station.

The Union Pacific Railroad has asked the Idaho Public Utilities Commission for permission to close its station here because "public convenience and necessity no longer require its operation."

PUC officials said Wednesday a limit of 20 days — until Jan. 9 — has been set for filing of written protests with the commission, stating why the request to close the station should be denied.

In its application, the railroad said work performed by the agent at Fairfield can be handled just as conveniently for patrons and with more efficiency by agency forces at Shoshone" by collect telephone calls from patrons.

Fairfield is 59 miles from Shoshone by rail, on the branch line serving Hill City.

In the past two years, the railroad has sought and received permission to close its stations at Ketchum-Sun Valley, Kimberly, Wendell, Eden and other Magic Valley points. Service to shippers has been provided through the line's stations at Shoshone and Twin Falls.

Union Pacific's request to the PUC cited declining revenues, and increasing expenses, making operation of the station less feasible. Wheat, cattle and lumber in carload quantities are the principal commodities handled by the line at Fairfield, UP said.

Blaine hearing pending

HAILEY — A preliminary hearing is pending in Blaine County Magistrate Court for Bruce Alan Gill, 24, Ketchum, charged with first degree burglary.

Gill was released Thursday from the Blaine County Jail on his own recognizance and was given until Jan. 4 to consult an attorney.

The Ketchum man was arrested Wednesday in Ketchum in connection with a burglary of Sturtevant's clothing annex in the village center, according to the Ketchum Police Department.

The Mormon Church holds that man's status on earth is determined by his actions in a pre-existence with God.

Warm Springs Bridge reality

KETCHUM — A new Warm Springs Bridge is a reality in Ketchum.

Initiated this fall, work on the new two-lane structure has been essentially completed with final approach work scheduled for next spring.

The 67-foot-long, 30-foot-wide concrete span replaces the adjacent one-lane bridge which had been posted with a 10-ton load limit.

According to Ketchum City Councilman Vern McClellan, the bridge alone cost $40,000 under a contract with Ralph Thornton, Burley. Approach and grading work is anticipated to total another $20,000 to $30,000, he said.

Under a prior agreement with the city, Blaine County has donated $10,000 to the project. Mayor Kenneth Richey said the remainder will be financed for a five-year period through a local bank, with repayment to be made out of the city's general fund.

Right-of-way was purchased from Ben Hurling for $2 in exchange for the city's promise to screen his adjacent property from the roadway.

Next spring, McClellan said the crown on the top of the hill will be lowered, reducing the roadway slope from the present almost eight per cent grade to about five per cent, and the approaches will be surfaced.

Last March, voters turned down a $160,000 bond proposal for a new bridge by a vote of 166 yes to 157 no. However, Richey said the proposal included right-of-way costs and about one mile of roadway.

Public safety and welfare as well as heavy winter traffic loads on the bridge caused the city to go ahead with the project, Richey said.

McClellan said construction was facilitated by the "excellent cooperation" received from utility companies in re-locating their lines.

Fire chief elected

KETCHUM — William (Bill) Brand has been elected chief of the Ketchum Fire Department.

The selection was made during the volunteer department's annual elections and will be forwarded to the mayor for his consideration in an appointment to the post.

Brand has been involved in assessing the needs of the department and setting up a private donation fund. During the election, present fire chief

Charles Atterbury, who has held the post for ten years, was voted an honorary chief distinction for life.

Department officers elected included: assistant chiefs, Tommy Mallane and Pete Walling; deputy chiefs, Mel Evans and Bob Caskey; captain, Brent Brunner; lieutenants, Ike Thomas and Ed Alf; and chief of apparatus, Carl Roessler.

Revenue sharing explored

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County commissioners and the county's elected mayors met in "friends and neighbors" session Thursday to explore possible cooperation on revenue sharing.

The general consensus of the meeting was that cooperation among the governing units, if there was to be any, should begin first with developing a satisfactory sanitary landfill system in the county, and secondly, to hire a "prosecuting attorney" for the cities of the county, similar to the statutorily created office in the county courthouse.

Revenue sharing checks received in Twin Falls County ranged in size from $210,610 for the county to a much smaller $133 accruing to Hollister.

Hansen Mayor Harold Miller told the commissioners "the cities are part of the county and the money should be spent on everyone. The county could help spend money on the cities."

Miller also said Hansen had declined prosecuting some cases, due to lack of funds for a lawyer.

Buhl Mayor Ted Pence agreed with Miller that legal work budgeting was difficult to accomplish at the beginning of the year, when a city had no idea of what it would need.

But the two men agreed that a lawyer retained as prosecutor for the various cities in the county would be helpful.

The mayors also agreed that developing the proposed sanitary landfill system was a top priority in the county and urged the county commissioners to cooperate on helping to work out a system.

Kimberly Mayor Von Nebeker also told the commissioners and other mayors he had "heard" that a larger water main at the county fairgrounds could result in lower insurance premiums, while Commissioner William Wiseman told the group some of the money could be used at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Wiseman served as chairman of the hospital board prior to his appointment to the commissioner's post.

Twin Falls Mayor John Christoffersen, also present at the meeting, complained that the federal government "on the one hand gives you revenue sharing, and then goes to ask for more fire protection and security."

The effect, Christoffersen said, is to obligate some of the revenue sharing funds before they arrive.

Attending the meeting were Commissioners Merl Leonard, William Chancy and William Wiseman; Christoffersen, Twin Falls City Councilmen Tom Nelson and Ann Cover and city manager Jean Miller, Pence, Nebeker, Filer Mayor Dan Kauffman and Hollister Mayor Charles Shepherd.

Jury finds TF man, 29, guilty

TWIN FALLS — A verdict of guilty was returned Thursday night for John Stanley Dayley, 29, Twin Falls, charged with the Shelby's Market robbery Sept. 25.

A Fifth Judicial District Court jury returned the unanimous verdict shortly before 2 p.m. following two hours of deliberation.

Dayley was charged with the robbery of the market and with resisting an officer. He was found guilty on both counts. Judge James M. Cunningham conducted the trial which began Tuesday.

Dayley, who was wounded by police officers following the robbery of the store, had been hospitalized and housed in the county jail since the filing of charges shortly after the robbery. The trial was delayed pending improvement in the defendant's condition. He has been released on his own recognizance.

Judge Cunningham set Dec. 26, probably at 1 p.m. as the time for pronouncing sentence.

The defendant had entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity and during his testimony said he believed he had consumed a cup of coffee drugged with LSD shortly before the robbery occurred. Judge Cunningham denied the plea of innocent based on insanity after hearing testimony from two psychiatrists, and ruled Dayley should stand trial for the crime.

Marathon air war continues

"Many physicians and nurses were killed," the report to Ambassador Jean-Christophe Oberg said. The report said the hospital was hit between 4 a.m. and 6 a.m.

In Paris, the Communist newspaper Humanite published a dispatch from its Hanoi correspondent reporting that the B52s were being shot down by a new type of Soviet Surface-to-Air Missile (SAM). But military sources in Saigon suggested that instead the North Vietnamese might be using proximity fuses which would cause a SAM to explode near a B52 without actually hitting it.

The U.S. Command said all crewmen aboard the planes last Thursday were missing, but it announced a new policy of refusing to say how many men are aboard a lost plane. So far it has reported 43 American fliers missing. Hanoi has listed at least 16 captured fliers by name. Several of them were wounded.

North Vietnam has denounced the raids as saturation bombing against heavily populated areas and has said hundreds of civilians have been killed and thousands made homeless through the destruction of entire villages and portions of the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. As many as 100 B52s and upwards of 500 or more fighter-bombers have taken part in the raids in what is generally regarded as the most massive aerial assault in history. The B52s, each carrying 25 to 30 tons of bombs, usually fly in formations of three and drop their bombs from great altitudes in a pattern that destroys anything in a swath half a mile wide and a mile and a half long. Hanoi Radio has said this type raid conducted by as many as 100 B52s has hit the heavily populated Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Announcement of the damage to the Indian chancery in Hanoi came from New Delhi where Deputy Foreign Minister Surendra Pal Singh told parliament there had been damage to the building but that "officers and other members of the staff are reported to be safe."

He said India was protesting strongly against the attacks. It was the second time the Indian Chancery had been hit. Splinters struck it last Oct. 11 in an attack which killed the French envoy in Hanoi.

Yule neurosis

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — California Health Director J. M. Stubblebine, a psychiatrist, said Thursday that the Christmas season is marked by greater emotional stress and more acts of violence than any other time of the year.

He urged those suffering from "Christmas neurosis" to seek the comfort and support of friends, family, and possibly mental health facilities.

"It is a time when emotions are loosed and memories come flooding back, a time of happiness but, for some, a time of deep sorrow."

"The one thing a sad and depressed person should not do at this time is to surrender to despondency."

N. Viet lists names of fliers

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam today listed the names of 10 men it said were American fliers captured this week.

A Hanoi Radio broadcast of a Vietnam News Agency (VNA) report said eight of them were presented to the press Thursday in Hanoi and two others were too severely injured in parachuting to appear.

Those who did appear, the broadcast said, "were wearing red-and-grey striped pajamas. Some of them were still wearing bandages over their eyes, on their faces or their arms, a pathetic mark of the abominable crimes which had led them to the Hanoi Hilton."

(VNA has adopted the slang the fliers themselves use for North Vietnamese prison camps).

The broadcast listed the following "in the order of presentation" at the news conference:

"Richard Edgar Johnson, U.S. Air Force major, serial number 54-56896, navigator of a B52 based at Guam, shot down Dec. 18 over Vinh Phu.

"Michael Robert Martini, U.S. Air Force lieutenant, serial number 573-64-7878, navigator of a B52 based at Guam, shot down Dec. 20 over Haiphong.

"Carl Thomson Wieland, U.S. Air Force captain, serial number 266-74-1442, piloting an A7C based on the carrier America, and shot down Dec. 20 over Haiphong.

"Kenneth Hill Higdon, lieutenant, serial number 567-54-5545, piloting an A6A based on the carrier Enterprise, shot down Dec. 20 over Haiphong.

"Paul Louis Grangar, lieutenant, serial number 501-52-2129, co-pilot of a B52 based at UTapao (Thailand), shot down Dec. 20 over Ha Bac.

"Gordon Ross Nakagawa, U.S. Navy lieutenant commander, serial number 558-48-76-8 (rpt 558-48-76-8; number garbled in transmission), piloting an A6A based on the carrier Enterprise, shot down Dec. 20 over Haiphong.

"Lynn Richard Beens, U.S. Air Force captain, serial number 529-64-9069, B52 navigator based at Guam, shot down Dec. 21 over Hanoi.

"H-Terry (rpt H-Terry, name garbled in transmission, possibly Terry Holt Kenneth) U.S. Air Force captain, serial number 420-56-8385, B52 pilot based at Guam, shot down Dec. 20 over Vinh Phu.

"Two other U.S. aviators, Roy Madden, technical sergeant, serial number 556-48-5019, gunner of a B52 based at Guam, shot down Dec. 20 over Vinh Phu, and William Woul Arcuri, U.S. Air Force lieutenant, copilot of a B52 based at Guam, and shot down Dec. 20 over Vinh Phu, were absent because they had been injured while parachuting."

Six of the names and ranks were broadcast earlier in Vietnamese, without further description.

Special MV holiday activities outlined

Sun Valley reports the traditional Christmas Eve torchlight parade on Dollar Mountain will feature some 200 ski instructors, patrolmen and skiers. When the event began 37 years ago, resort officials said only 12 skiers took part.

As the last torch reaches the bottom of the hill, carol singing begins followed by the arrival of Santa and gifts for all the children. The resort is filled to capacity for the holidays despite sparse snow cover on lower ski runs.

School children and teachers will have a 10-day vacation returning to schools on Jan. 2 or 3, depending on the school and many families will be leaving to spend the holidays in other areas.

Lt. Roy Thomas, officer in charge of the Idaho State Police in this area, said his department anticipates unusually heavy traffic Friday and again Monday night.

He said the officers will be on duty in force both periods and will be doing all possible to assist the motorists and encourage safe and courteous driving.

Lt. Thomas said motorists are urged to allow themselves plenty of time for their trips to arrive without having to drive beyond the safe speed for highway conditions.

Although most highways are now in good condition, some icy conditions early in the morning can be expected, highway officials say.

Changing weather conditions during winter months can bring about changes within a few hours, Lt. Thomas warned.

"Take a little extra time to make sure you get where you plan to be for Christmas instead of in a hospital," he urged.

For many employees of retail stores, Monday marks the end of long hours of work for the past several weeks and most will be returning to normal hours as of Tuesday.

Angel story supported

By KENNETH LUCOFF
BETHLEHEM, Israeli-Occupied Jordan (UPI) — The New Testament says an angel sent by God announced the birth of Christ to shepherds in a field near this town 1,972 years ago. The Greek Orthodox church said Wednesday it has found archeological evidence to support that Christian belief. But it said the evidence shows the shepherds received the word on land the Greek Orthodox church holds sacred — and not on two pieces of nearby land which Roman Catholics and Protestants revere. All three areas are called shepherds fields. Archbishop Constantine told newsmen excavators unearthed a 5th century church that is nearly completely preserved in a cave about one mile east of Bethlehem. A mosaic floor also was uncovered.

the true field. He said a new church will go up near the cave, leaving the cave intact and accessible. "In my opinion, it's the true site," Constantine said. "We knew that there were ruins and we wanted to be certain through excavation finds — the signs and the mosaic floors — that this was the true shepherds field."

Family worship service Sunday

TWIN FALLS — The First Presbyterian Church will observe a Family Worship Service at 11 a.m. Sunday in the sanctuary.

Mrs. Michael Phillips will direct the program, which will be presented by the children of the church school. The Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. Charles Airhart, will sing "The Animals of Christmas."

The Chancel Choir will sing the Christmas Anthem, "Adoration of the Shepherds" under the direction of Mrs. Robert Van Nest. James Hall will sing the tenor solo.

people will assist in the ceremony.

The Chancel Choir will sing several anthems, including "Glory to God in the Highest" with solos by Mrs. David Mead and Brenda Bonnett; the English Carol "How Far Is It to Bethlehem?"; and a duet featuring Mrs. Mead and Mrs. Van Nest entitled "Little Lamb, Who Made Thee."

The public is invited to both services.

There will be no 9:30 a.m. service in the Fireside Lounge this Sunday only.

Following the Family Service the children will receive treats. Junior high young people will usher at this morning service. The traditional Christmas Eve Candlelight Service will be held at 11 p.m. Sunday. Everyone will be given a small candle and Christmas Carols will be sung. Senior High young view, these findings provide clear evidence for the identification of the Christian holy site known as shepherds field mentioned in early Christian sources," he said.

The field is mentioned in Luke in the New Testament.

The archbishop said the Byzantine era church was the oldest found on any of the three shepherds fields, proving that the Greek Orthodox site was "The other denominations, the Catholics and later the Protestants, said their places were the correct fields from where the shepherds saw the star," the archbishop said.

"We did not make this excavation really to prove that this is our place and our place is the correct one, but as the excavation carried on, from what we found, I think that this is the correct place," he said.

Bishop sustained at Richfield ward

RICHFIELD — Delbert L. Tree was sustained as the new bishop of the Richfield LDS Ward during a sacrament meeting at the church Sunday night.

Also sustained were Dallas Ward, first counselor, and David Newey, second counselor, and Mark E. Bowers, executive secretary. Bishop Ken Dixon was released after serving three years as bishop of the Richfield ward. Also released were Mark Bowers and Wendell King, as counselors, and Gary Brownlee as executive secretary.

Bishop Tree and his family moved to Richfield a year ago from Coalville, Utah. He has had several years experience in the bishopric of the Park City ward in Utah, and served as YWMA president since coming to Richfield. Blaine Stake President Oral G. Steward, Carey, conducted the reorganization of the bishopric. Both the outgoing and new bishop spoke briefly. Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Tree also spoke.

Berkeley Ward gave a piano solo. Bret Dixon was graduated from Primary and received a certificate from his father.

Prayers were offered by Perry Jones, ward clerk, and Lynn Tree.

Christmas comes to TF

TF ministerial group plans 2-week project with daily prayer service

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Ministerial Association Key 73 Committee has planned a two week emphasis on prayer and repentance, beginning the day after Christmas.

The project includes a daily prayer service at least in restaurants, and the telecasting of the program, "Faith in Action," Jan. 6, on KMTV.

The objectives of the Key 73

Committee are to bring to Twin Falls the Key 73 evangelistic thrust which presently involves more than 150 Christian denominations and groups in the U.S. and Canada. Phase I of Key 73 is "Bringing Our Continent to Prayer and Repentance" which the local committee is presently implementing with the "Noon Prayer Call."

The Noon Prayer Call will begin in Twin Falls Tuesday with a brief prayer service at noon at the First Methodist Church. Services will follow daily at noon through Jan. 6.

The schedule includes First Christian Church, Dec. 27; First Baptist, Dec. 28; First Presbyterian, Dec. 29; St. Benedict's Priory, Dec. 30; at regular worship services, Dec. 31; First Assembly of God, Jan. 2; Episcopal Church of Ascension, Jan. 3; First Nazarene, Jan. 4; and the Rogerson Roundup Room, Jan. 5, for a no host luncheon.

Rev. Eugene Tjarks of Our Savior Lutheran Church, who organized the Noon Prayer Call project, said, "The prayer services which have been planned will be no longer than 10 minutes in length, but will give inspiration to the people of Twin Falls to witness to their Christian faith throughout the 1973 year. As the two hands of the clock point upward, I hope many will lift their hands in prayer to God."

The two weeks of prayer will be concluded with the television program "Faith in Action," which will be aired on KMTV, Jan. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

The program will be telecast nationally at that time to launch the Key 73 emphasis. Churches are being urged by the local committee to follow up with discussion groups on the program.

Santa Claus has bad day in Bovill

BOVILL, Idaho (UPI) — was bitten on the leg by a Tuesday wasn't Santa Claus' day in this small northern Idaho community.

George Pingel, an employee of the Idaho Department of Highways, put on a beard and red suit Tuesday morning to carry on a tradition of delivering sacks of candy to the community's children.

Shortly after the former city policeman began his rounds he was bitten on the leg by a German Shepherd dog.

Undaunted, he continued on his rounds until a short time later he slipped on some ice and sprained the ankle on his other leg.

Pingel, who will be off work for about three days recuperating from his injuries said, when asked if he planned to continue as St. Nicholas, "I've had it."

Buhl plans for Key 73 project

BUHL — "Calling Our Continent to Christ" is the theme of a dynamic and promising program of evangelism that is sweeping the nation.

This program, known as "Key 73" is being developed and participated in by 130 denominations and religious organizations.

In Buhl, the program is being sponsored by the Inter-Church Council. The first phase of the program to be observed is the "Noon Call to Prayer."

This will be started with Fire Chief Primo Gabardi ringing the bell on top of city hall each day at noon from Tuesday through Friday, Jan. 5. Residents of the community are urged to stop for a few moments to pray in penitence and commitment for our nation, our community, for the work of our churches, and for themselves.

During this period, the sanctuary of St. John's Lutheran Church will be open for the noon hour for any who wish to enter and pray. There will not be a leader for a worship period, simply the opportunity for individual worship.

The second activity of "Key 73" in Buhl will be a program of training for lay evangelism. A series of lessons will be presented in the Fellowship hall of First Christian Church, to prepare individuals for evangelistic calling. This phase, also sponsored by the Inter-Church Council, will begin at 8 p.m., Jan. 9 and continue each Tuesday evening for four weeks.

The training sessions will include films and discussion, to enable people to learn to be witnesses and share their faith in Jesus Christ with others. Members of all churches in Buhl are invited to participate in these training sessions.

Episcopalians set children's service

Steeler wounded to be activated for Oakland

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Chuck Noll, whose Pittsburgh Steelers have been riddled with injuries before their American Football Conference playoff game against the Oakland Raiders Saturday, said Thursday he is confident his club will rise to the occasion.

"We have a young team and we've had to prove ourselves right down the line," Noll said. "We've played hurt the last three games and our guys have done what they had to do and I think they'll do it again Saturday."

Injured guards Sam Davis and Bruce Van Dyke worked out for the first time this week

Thursday and Noll said he expected they would be ready to play Saturday.

"Everybody will go except Frank Lewis (broken collar bone) and Mel Holmes," Noll said. Holmes suffered a leg injury Wednesday and was the only Steeler who did not practice Thursday.

Defensively, Noll said Dwight White, the all-conference end, was showing improvement with his injured knee.

"A lot depends on our defense," Noll said. "They've come up with the big play all year. They've forced turnovers and interceptions and they've carried us the last few weeks."

Noll credited the vast improvement of his defensive secondary with much of the Steelers' success this season.

"Bud Carson, our defensive backfield coach, has done a sensational job," Noll said. "We added a little more experience back there this year and we went from bottom to top in pass defense."

Noll called Oakland, "an explosive club" and said the Raiders are capable of coming up with the big play at any time.

"Oakland is going to come in here with a little different attitude than they did in the first game of the season," Noll said, referring to the Steelers' 34-28 triumph. "We surprised them a little the first time, but I think they were too concerned about the Pittsburgh Steelers then. It's going to be different Saturday."

"The Raiders run the ball very well. They have a strong offensive line and one strong running back in Marv Hubbard and two guys who can break it on you in Charlie Smith and Clarence Davis. Added to that, they have the number one receiver in the conference in Fred Biletnikoff and probably the best tight end in the league in Raymond Chester. All three of their receivers are capable of going all the way."

"Defensively, they're a good solid unit. They have great pursuit and agility and they can get to the quarterback."

Ruling makes 1000-yarder of Morris

MIAMI (UPI) — Without running another foot, Mercury Morris Thursday became the second man in the undefeated Miami Dolphins backfield to reach 1,000 yards rushing for the regular season.

The action also added nine yards to the Dolphins' total rushing mark which topped a record of 2,885 yards set by the Detroit Lions in 1936. The new record established by Miami now stands at 2,960 yards.

The nine yards for Morris came on a disputed play which occurred late in the second period when the Dolphins were playing the Buffalo Bills in the Orange Bowl Oct. 22. On the play, Miami quarterback Earl Morrall lobbed a pass toward Morris in the flat behind the line of scrimmage. The throw was tipped and a Buffalo player fell on the ball. Morris never got possession.

Miami claimed the ball was an incomplete forward pass, but officials ruled that it was a lateral and awarded the ball to Buffalo. Statisticians charged Morris with a nine-yard loss on a rushing attempt.

"We have been informed by the commissioner's office which reviewed film and statistics of the game that the play was incorrectly scored," said a Dolphin spokesman. "The commissioner's office has ruled that the lost yardage should have been charged to Morrall

Baltimore players displeased with dismissal of Sandusky

BALTIMORE (UPI) — "I hope he gets rid of me."

That was the reaction of defensive giant Bubba Smith of the Baltimore Colts to general manager Joe Thomas' firing of head coach John Sandusky, and other Colt players reacted generally the same way to their coach's abrupt dismissal.

Thomas fired Sandusky, who had handled the Colts since Don McCafferty was fired after the fifth game, and his full five-man staff Wednesday as part of his quest for new blood and a return to championship form.

"It's a crying shame," said

Smith who had been sidelined during the season with a knee injury. "They didn't give John a shot at it. Why didn't they give him one more year? I hope he (Thomas) gets rid of me."

"We'll never have a winner here," Bubba added. "He will more likely than not hire a flunky to run the team. Wherever John goes, I hope to go with him."

"I want to call him (Sandusky) and tell him he and I are a team," said Smith, the All-Pro end who sat out the season with a knee injury.

Outspoken Colt center Bill Curry, vice president of the Players Association, said, "I never know what that guy's going to do. I thought John did a very fine job. I thought of all the people put in difficult situations, his was the most precarious of all."

"I'm expecting other changes, particularly among the veteran players," Curry said. "You know there will have to be changes and I can only deeply regret it."

Curry hinted he may be one of the veterans given his walking papers.

"I'm thankful for the kindness of Baltimore people who made playing in Baltimore a pleasure. I'll never forget them," he said.

Veteran quarterback John Unitas, just back from a hunting trip and benched since early in the season, said of the general manager's unemotional action, "That's his modus operandi."

Lilly may be able to play

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry predicted Thursday that allstar defensive tackle Bob Lilly will start in the playoff game Saturday against San Francisco. Landry's prediction was made while Lilly spent the day in traction in a hospital.

"We can't really plan one way or another," Landry said. "When a back is stiff, you don't know if you'll recover in 24 hours or a week. I still think he'll be ready. I'll be surprised if he isn't."

Lilly was hospitalized Wednesday afternoon with severe muscle spasms in his back. He spent the night in traction.

"If he can play, he'll start," Landry said of Lilly, who has played the last 168 regular season "Cowboy" games. "He doesn't need to work any more. A lot of times in 48 hours you can be completely back in good shape."

The only thing the doctors told me was his back had stiffened up considerably," the coach said. "Like the virus cases (which struck quarterback Craig Morton and running back Calvin Hill last week) we're using all the medical treatment we can. That's the quickest way to get him back."

Lilly left the Cowboys' practice field Wednesday on crutches, unable to stand upright and in intense pain. Landry said it would be early Friday before the Cowboys learned whether Lilly will play against the 49ers Saturday in San Francisco.

Minico invades Burley tonight

The Minico Spartans, running undefeated in Idaho and leading the Southern Idaho Conference, will travel to Burley Friday night to highlight five-game schedule.

The five games mark the last before Christmas as the area will have no high school action Saturday.

In other action, Jerome will be at Nampa, Glens Ferry at Hagerman, Borah's juniors at Wendell and Camas County at Hansen. None figures into any conference standings.

But the spotlight always returns to Mini-Cassia land when the Spartans and Bobcats play. Minico, with its defense and center Craig Hepworth the key cogs, rates as the favorite, if there is such a thing in this hate series. Burley is running 2-3, a factor discomfiting to Bobcats fans but a direct reflection on the tougher schedule that Coach Ivan Davis laid out for his charges.

Coach Davis warned Bobcat fans in advance of the season that due to a heavy reliance on juniors, Burley would not get off to a fast start. He also picked up eight non-league games against SIC foes and right now six of those games are scheduled against the top three teams in the SIC standings. But there has to be some disappointment in the Bobcat team as the big men haven't been able to shore up some outside inexperience as effectively as expected.

Minico has been using a lot of men heretofore — and winning, largely because of the two enumerated reasons. However, Coach Gary Swan believes it is time to get a semblance of a full-time playing unit, on that can build the cohesion needed for an expectedly rough eastern division SIC slugfest.

Jerome leaves the area to play Nampa, a team which waxed them earlier in the season. Jerome has improved, but so has Nampa. Dave McCabe, a 6-5 senior forward, debuted last weekend and immediately drew raves from opposition coaches that he was among the best in the land.

Jerome is hoping to keep up its scoring tempo, found in the past two games after some poor shooting earlier.

Two teams who also have had trouble getting points will collide when Glens Ferry comes to Hagerman. The Pilots opened with 53 points in beating Buhl but since then haven't cracked 47. Hagerman, after opening twice in the 30s, now has climbed past 50 twice.

In the final northside-southside A-4 test of the year, the Camas County Musers will be at Hansen. Camas County won the first meeting 53-41 but neither coach was particularly pleased with his team's play.

That will take the teams into the week off where only four games are slated. Burley will travel to Boise for a rematch Friday and host Highland Saturday. Jerome will participate in the NNC tournament in Nampa Friday and Saturday.

Hob Vogel, a veteran of 10 years who announced earlier this year he is retiring, said if he was in Thomas' position "I would totally clean house, because it certainly wouldn't be good to start our next season with people who didn't like him. I don't think he has an alternative."

"But I do feel for the coaches who will have to uproot their homes and go somewhere else, although I know they will have no trouble landing jobs," Vogel said.

Dan Sullivan, an 11-year guard still trying to decide whether to play another year or retire said Thomas is "cleaning the house of (former owner Carroll) Rosenbloom and will bring in an entire new group of coaches and players so he can boastfully say, 'I have built the Baltimore Colts.'"

"Moore, what's so special about our new lightweight plastic half-gallon?"

"It's as easy to handle as our price."

Richfield, running its record to 5-0, couldn't shake Rockland over the first half but then ended any doubt that may have existed with a 26-point third quarter.

The Tigers took a 10-point lead early in the game but over the next 12 minutes couldn't increase it much. They led 28-16 at intermission.

But Richfield started pressuring Rockland's guards for some turnovers and stoked up its fast break to quickly break the game open in the third period. During the stretch Steve Bower hit 11 points and Rick Brown added eight.

Richfield kept pulling away in the third period but Rockland went to a slowdown offense to cool off scoring.

In the first game, Jerry Ivie hit six points as Carey stunted

Dieterich in the first quarter with a 15-9 lead. But Weiss turned hot in the next eight minutes. The 6-0 center picked up a couple of fast break buckets and worked the offense boards for eight more points as he scored 12 of his points in the break out.

By intermission Dieterich was up 30-21 and stretched that to 44 going into the final quarter.

Accident, safety focus Gem eyes on American Falls Dam

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News

AMERICAN FALLS — "Does it take a woman paralyzed for life to get some action on this?" The angry young man who said that lives and works on a farm on the northern shore of the American Falls Reservoir. He was a spectator at Tuesday's tour of the American Falls Dam by most of the highest elected officials of the state.

He was referring to an automobile accident that occurred three months ago on the narrow roadway across the top of the dam. An Aberdeen woman was injured and is still hospitalized.

Since then, government officials have begun to take an interest in building a new dam and a new highway across it.

There had been a spate of interest several years ago, when the Bureau of Reclamation pointed out that the dam was deteriorating and suggested not only building a new one but also building it 10 feet higher, to hold more water. That drew angry opposition from the Fort Hall Indian Reservation.

Such an act would flood out the Fort Hall Bottoms, thus taking still more land from the Indians as well as destroying some of the most fertile soil in Idaho.

The Bureau of Reclamation dropped the plan and was not heard from again until Tuesday, when it issued a report saying the dam must be replaced for safety reasons.

Those reasons were vividly illustrated by officials who lead Gov. Cecil Andrus, Sen. Frank Church and Rep. Orval Hansen, along with congressman-elect Steve Symms and a group of other persons through the dam Tuesday.

Most of the tour was through a corridor that was 37 feet below the water line. Engineers drilling from that corridor to get a test core from inside the dam had gone down only five feet before striking a geyser of water inside the dam.

Next month, Sen. Church is to become chairman of the subcommittee that is in charge of initiating legislation to build dams. He said money must be found for this project, and he said he expects to take action on the matter early next year.

"I anticipate no trouble from the Senate," he said, predicting Senate passage of such a bill next year. "I cannot speak for the House."

The estimated cost of a new dam is $32 million.

There is also pressure to build a wider highway across the dam. The present road is only 18 feet wide. When the bus on which the officials crossed the dam encountered a loaded potato truck, they had less than two feet of space while passing. That illustrates the danger.

Gov. Andrus said building the new road is a state responsibility, and he said recommendations will be made early in 1973 by his office.

The farmers in the area are also concerned about plans to impose a load limit on the present road. "We have to get our wheat across before they put in the load limit or it's going to take us a long time. It's really going to hurt the best farmers."

A load limit would require either more trips or the long round-about trip via Blackfoot, a distance of 60 miles or more in order to travel five or ten miles.

American Falls people have been trying for seven years to get a new dam and a new road. Some think the accident finally brought it to a major place in public attention.

Others, including newspaper publisher Robert Crompton, believe the credit should go to Gov. Andrus for doing things such as his tour to focus attention on the American Falls Dam.

New protective rules for wild horses asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture and Interior departments Wednesday proposed new regulations protecting wild horses and burros and banning the killing of these animals by anyone except authorized government agents.

The proposed regulations would provide jail terms of up to one year and fines up to $2,000 for anyone turning wild horses or burros into pet foods or any other commercial products. Similar penalties could be imposed even for harassing the wild animals.

The regulations were drafted to carry out terms of the Wild, Free-Roaming Horse and Burro Act, designed to halt the extinction of wild horse herds by commercial hunters. It was signed into law by President Nixon a year ago.

Officials said public comment on the proposed rules may be submitted to the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) until Feb. 5, 1973. Under the regulations, the two government agencies are directed to "protect, manage and control" wild horses and burros on national forest and BLM lands. The protection covers all unbranded and unclaimed animals roaming designated parts of the federal lands and also covers the herds when they range onto nearby private lands.

Federal officials would have authority to kill off "surplus" wild horses or burros if herds build up beyond the levels needed for a "thriving natural ecological balance"

Zinc off?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. elect James A. McClure has written a letter to the Cost of Living Council appealing for the removal of zinc from the restraint of the Economic Stabilization Program.

McClure said that price controls on zinc are undermining the goals of the Nixon Administration's economic program. He said the industry has petitioned the council for relief.

Hardly anybody seriously claims facial features reflect talent. Still, extensive studies of photographs show the enormous majority of great men have possessed larger than average noses. Puzzling.

LATEST REPORTS from jewelers reconfirm the ancient claim that 11 per cent of all engagement rings are for wives already married more than 10 years. Takes that long for numerous couples to afford those dandy diamonds, clearly.

ALSO, IT HAS been determined through scientific study that the male frogs of Australia and the female frogs of Georgia understand one another's croaks almost perfectly. Believe that's a good thing...Basic.

HOLMES ASKED

Why can't somebody give us a list of things that everybody thinks and nobody says, and another list of things that everybody says and nobody thinks? This rhetorical theory was put forth by the great Oliver Wendell Holmes. All right, start with these: Nobody says half the evangelists are phony, but just about everybody thinks so. And nobody thinks all deserted wives are to be pitied, but virtually everybody says so. Any others?

ON ONE BUFFALO hunting stint that lasted for about a year and a half, Buffalo Bill Cody killed 4,280 of those sorry beasts. With a 50 caliber Springfield rifle. This comes up because a client asks if he were just a wild west showman or a real slaughterer. He was both.

IRRESISTIBLE SCENT

The maiden cecrobia moth emits a scent so potent it can turn on male moths at great distances. Now that's what the perfume makers would like to come up with. For single girls. Their laboratory experts work on it night and day. And why not? Still, such a chemical creation, should it come about, might tie up traffic. If it's as irresistible as that moth's scent, every man within a radius of a mile would be compelled helplessly to converge on any young lady wearing same. Fascinating fantasy, that. I envision Mama Cass, doused in said juice, strolling through the Super Bowl at the two-minute warning.

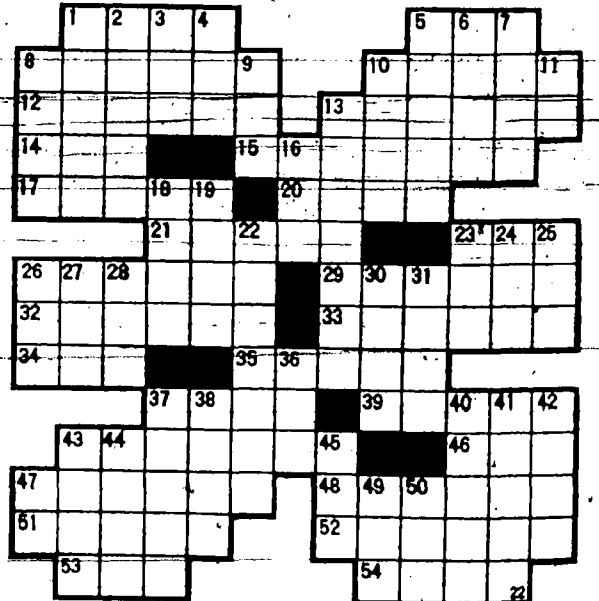

Q. "BIGGEST snowflakes ever were said to be some Siberian monsters the size of footballs. How about the biggest raindrops?"

A. There's no record of any raindrop larger than a fifth of an inch in diameter.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Snapping a four-session slump, the pre-holiday stock market moved higher today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost more than 27 points earlier this week, was up 3.39 at 1003.39 shortly before noon. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was ahead 0.28 at 115.39. Advances declined, 668 to 532, among the 1,595 issues crossing the tape.

The two-hour turnover amounted to more than 5,130,000 shares.

Many analysts said the slight gain could be attributed generally to selective buying by some investors. They did not describe the gain as a rally, however, because there is not much buying.

Most of the news in the background did not appear encouraging. The bombing in the Vietnam War — a drag on the market all week — intensified. Also, some banks raised their prime rates to 6 per cent, and the consumer-price index rose at the same level in November as it did in October.

The market will be closed Monday, Christmas day.

McCrory was the most active issue, up 6 1/2 at 31 1/2 on 88,800 shares. Rapid American has made a tender offer for one million McCrory shares at $32 a share. Rapid American was ahead 1 1/2.

Mountain Fuel Supply was second most active, up 3 at 85 on 64,900 shares. It lost more than 8 Thursday. Continental Telephone was third, up 1/4 at 25 1/4 on 62,700 shares.

Prices were slightly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. U.S. Filter was the most active issue, unchanged at 16 1/2 on 70,600 shares. W.W. Grainger was second, off 1/4 at 36 1/2 on 20,000 shares. Great Basins Petroleum was third, up 1/4 at 3 on 17,500 shares.

American Telephone & Telegraph and Comsat both were delayed in opening on the Big Board. The Federal Communications Commission withdrew its objections to their joint proposal to let Comsat provide domestic satellite service solely to AT&T.

Aside from Mountain Fuel Supply, other oils were mixed. Natamias gained 1. Superior Oil surrendered 2.

Motors were higher. Ford gained 1 1/4, and General Motors and Chrysler 1 apiece.

Xerox gained 1 1/2 in the mixed glimmers.

Electronics and Computers headed in both directions. IBM rose 2, Honeywell 1 1/2 and Digital Equipment 1.
