

TF boys become true believers

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls boys had a surprise conversation with Santa Claus on Christmas Day. Today, they're true believers.

Michael VanAusdein, 8, and his brother, Kurt, 10, sons of Mrs. and Mrs. Robert VanAusdein, had received toy walkie-talkies on Christmas morning.

At about 7:30 a.m. as the boys were trying out their sets, Michael said to his brother, "I can't hear you."

A voice suddenly spoke out of his set: "Can you hear this?" It asked.

"Yes," replied the startled 10-year-old.

"This is Santa Claus. How do you like your walkie talkies?"

"Fine," replied Kurt.

"Where do you live?" Santa asked.

"In Twin Falls, Idaho."

"Merry Christmas to Twin Falls and to you" Santa said, ending his conversation.

The father, Robert Van Ausdein, who witnessed the conversation, said today the boys have no doubt there is a Santa Claus.

"Last year the oldest one wasn't quite sure," VanAusdein said, "But they pretty well do this year. That clinched it."

There has been no explanation for the mysterious conversation.

Nation mourns HST after death at 88

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Harry S. Truman, 88, the 33rd American President, died today. The heart of the fiery man from Missouri failed at the end of a 22-day battle against age and disease.

Death came at 6:50 a.m. (MST) as Truman lay in a deep coma in a sixth floor room of Research Hospital, fighting with his usual courage to stay alive.

The honorable Harry S. Truman, 33rd President of the United States, died at 7:50 a.m. (CST), the official medical statement said. "The cause of death was a complexity of organic failure causing a collapse of the cardiovascular system."

Bess Truman, 87, the former chief executive's childhood sweetheart whom he married more than half a century ago, was at their mansion in nearby Independence, Mo., when her husband died. She was at his bedside almost 12 hours Christmas Day.

The funeral will be held later this week. In the meantime, the body will lie in state at the Truman Memorial Library in Independence.

(Related stories p. 2, 7)

Truman picked his own epitaph. He said his life could have no better meaning than the words he once saw inscribed on a frontier grave: "Here lies Jack Williams. He done his damndest."

And Truman said this is the way he wanted to be remembered: "I did what had to be done."

Age simply caught up with Truman, who made some of this nation's most important decisions of this century — the atomic bombing of Japan, the Berlin Blockade, the dispatch of U.S. troops to Korea and many more.

Truman's funeral will be held Thursday at the Truman Library. His body will lie in state one day, Wednesday, for public viewing. The funeral will be a private ceremony, his family said.

Truman outlived most of those with whom he shared a place in history — Stalin, Churchill, De Gaulle, MacArthur, Eisenhower and even Thomas E. Dewey, whom he defeated for the presidency in one of the most stunning upsets in American political history.

The only contemporary Truman did not outlive was Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China, who became 79 today. Truman waged a bitter war with Mao over Korea, but both men lived to see relations between their nations begin to thaw.

"The people of the United States, and especially the press of this country, have lost a great friend," said Ronald Jessee, a family spokesman.

Ruined city being razed

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)

Demolition crews today began tearing down the ruined houses in this earthquake ravaged city. A spokesman for the fire department said a 320 square block area had been designated "contaminated" and would be leveled to become the tomb of those who died in the temblor.

Looting was widespread in what remained of Managua and authorities were doing very little to stop it in a city largely destined for further destruction, this time by the hand of man. But the looting now was mainly gleaming of items left from the wholesale looting of Christmas Day.

Clouds of dust and smoke fumes hung over Managua this

Blaine slide danger told

KETCHUM — Warming temperatures and five inches of new snow have brought a warning to cross country skiers and snowmobilers in the Ketchum area.

District ranger Tommy Farr said snow slides pose a danger in all back country area and persons should avoid all steep canyons and hillsides until further notice.

morning and small fires still burned in various parts of the city where thousands died. Fire Department Lt. Miguel Gonzalez said some of the fires apparently were set by looters to distract official attention so they could steal more.

Gonzalez said roughly an area of 40 blocks by 8 blocks will be razed because the thousands of dead buried beneath the rubble pose a threat to the living. "We are going to have to put lime over everything and burn it and dynamite it," he said. The air was heavy with the stench of death and authorities feared epidemics if the bodies are not buried soon.

Among some of the principal buildings that will have to be destroyed are the 18 story modern Central Bank Building, which is leaning like a modern Tower of Pisa, the 16 floor Social Security Building and the Blood Bank Building, a modern structure that was badly damaged. Others included one tower of the centuries old cathedral and the Palace of Justice.

Fire trucks were on the streets with limited water supplies but they were virtually powerless to do anything against fire. Gonzalez said that apparently some of the fires were set by looters to distract attention from the authorities while they broke into buildings elsewhere. He said the fire department lost seven trucks in the initial earthquake damage.

The city was almost a ghost city except for some people in the main squares and communication centers. A few were moving around to pickup personal belongings and furniture but most of the city was empty.

UPI Correspondent Martin McReynolds said the government was encouraging them to get out of town if they have transportation but there was no sign the government was using force to drive them out.

A communications center was set up in the parking lot in front of the former government communications building in the heart of the downtown area. There were desks and telephones in the open so survivors could call friends and relatives in other cities, in the United States and in other Latin American countries.

Hammett test hole started

HAMMETT (UPI) — A 16-man crew has begun drilling a 6,000-foot test hole on private land seven miles north of Hammett in search of gas and oil.

Al Griffith, Fort Worth, Tex., contracted with the Roden Drilling Company of Casper, Wyo., to make the test.

The fifth drilling by the Roden Company in Idaho, this will be the deepest attempted in southern Idaho, Griffith said.

Darrell Johnston, a drilling engineer for the company, said drilling has revealed some pockets of natural gas in the Payette area that excited interest. But so far, he said, exploration has produced dry

Banks hike prime rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major banks including Chase Manhattan Bank, Chemical Bank, Manufacturers Hanover Trust and Marine Midland Bank today followed the lead of other major banks, raising their prime lending rate 6 per cent, up from 5 3/4 per cent.

In making the announcement, Chase said, "This move is consistent with the upward trend throughout the short term credit market."

Bottler Birrell dies

TWIN FALLS — John Walker Birrell Jr., president of the Seven-Up Bottling Co. in Twin Falls died Christmas Day at his home after a short illness.

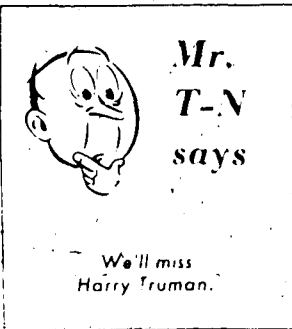

Birrell came to Twin Falls in 1947 to join his brother, Roy Birrell, in the soft drink bottling business. In January of this year he purchased full ownership.

Mr. Birrell was well known for his work with the city and state bowling associations and tournaments and was active in the Hire the Handicapped organization in this area, employing a number of handicapped persons in his bottling plant.

Mr. Birrell was a former president of the Utah-Idaho Bottlers Association, and conducted the state convention in Twin Falls in 1969.

He was a member of the Twin Falls Elks Lodge, and was active in the LDS Church. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Seventh Ward LDS Church.

Standlee plea made by judge

JEROME — Fifth District Court Judge James Cunningham today entered a plea of innocent on behalf of Gay Dean Standlee, 30, Hazelton.

Standlee stood mute before the court and refused to enter a plea, prompting Cunningham to enter the plea on his behalf.

Standlee is accused of first degree murder in the death of his ex-wife, Sharyn Woodall, 26, Silverton, Ore., and of attempted murder in the wounding of Theral Woodall, 41, in August.

Standlee's attorney, James May, Twin Falls, had asked the court for a continuance until he could get the transcript from the preliminary hearing. Cunningham denied this request and asked that Standlee enter his plea.

US forces resume Hanoi air raids

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Command announced today U.S. bombers had resumed their raids over North Vietnam after a 36-hour Christmas halt, and the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris said B52s were hitting Hanoi, Haiphong and other cities.

The Christmas halt in the bombings that the Communists said hit North Vietnam with 40,000 tons of bombs last week — double the explosive power of the atomic bomb that fell on Hiroshima — was believed ordered by President Nixon in hopes the Communists would return to the peace table.

At the Pentagon, Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said if the bombing continues for several weeks "it could very well destroy the military targets around Hanoi." He refused to say what these were or to say how many there were except that there were "a number" of them.

"We're striking throughout North Vietnam, including the Hanoi-Haiphong area," Friedheim said. "All of our aircraft are taking part in those strikes."

Friedheim refused to give any assessment of the bombing damage or the number of missions flown, except to say "there has been a significant effort and there has been considerable effect."

Neither the U.S. Command in Saigon nor the Florida White House in Key Biscayne would comment on this report, and the U.S. Command would not say whether the bombing resumed today was aimed at the Hanoi-Haiphong area or was as intensive as last week's bombing — the most intensive of the war.

During last week's raids the U.S. Command gave few details of the bombing.

Forest Service slates more effort in field

OGDEN — Cutbacks in personnel in the Forest Service regional office here will allow increased manpower and expanded programs in district and supervisory offices of the region.

Bill Dunbar, chief of personnel, Ogden, said today the reduction of about one fourth of the 440 jobs in the Ogden Regional office, announced Sunday by Regional Forester Vern Hamre, will be handled over a period of time.

Dunbar said voluntary retirement and transfer of personnel will be used to reduce the regional force to about 330 persons giving national forests in the region including Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Wyoming the benefit of additional manpower and dollars. This will allow improved range management, timber management, assistance in improved campgrounds and other recreational facilities and services, he said.

One of the major factors of the study, Dunbar said, was the needs of the new Sawtooth National Recreation Area which was created this year.

The shift of manpower toward the working divisions of the forests will include some land appraisal personnel to assist with land use and appraisals in and around the NRA.

Death claims Truman

"While we lost a friend, two great ladies lost a husband and father. I know that in your coverage during the next few days that you will show them the same consideration and respect for their privacy you did during his lifetime," Jesse told newsmen.

Lyndon B. Johnson, now the only living former president, eulogized Truman in a statement from his LBJ Ranch in Texas.

"A 20th Century giant is gone," Johnson said. "Few men of any times ever shaped the world as did the man from Independence. President Truman presided over the destiny of this century during one of its most turbulent eras, never flinching in the face of crucial national choices. His decisions changed the course of human events throughout the world."

"He had his critics and detractors, but history is just and Harry Truman will live on in the memory of free people as one of the greatest men to lead freedom's cause."

A Truman family spokesman said: "It is the wish of the family that in lieu of flowers, friends make memorial donations to the Harry S. Truman Library Institute, Independence, Mo., or the charities of their choice."

Jesse said Truman probably would be buried "in the courtyard, near the rose garden" of the library he established in 1957.

Truman was 467 days short of reaching his dream of living to age 90.

Music store burglarized

TWIN FALLS — The front window of Claude Brown Music and Furniture Co., 143 Main Avenue East, was broken Saturday night and two display instruments taken.

According to police reports, the theft was reported early Christmas morning. Missing from the front window displays were one electric bass and one electric guitar, valued together at $652.00. The window replacement will run about $200.00.

A thought for the day: British novelist Elizabeth Caskell said, "I'll not listen to reason... reason always means what some one else has got to say."

Demolition crews raze Managua

Many people were wandering the streets with bags slung over their shoulders full of piece goods and other things they had stolen.

75Some local radio broadcasts urged people to "break into all the stores you want to but don't break into houses where people are sitting around watching their only possessions."

During a meeting of a rescue committee Monday night authorities indicated most people would be removed from Managua but that a hard core of 10,000 would remain in or near the city as a government work force.

During the meeting the government took under consideration a proposal to use force if necessary to get people to leave their former homes but there was no evidence any force had been used.

Mrs. Boswell

HEYBURN — Marie Ethel Boswell, 70, Heyburn, died Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident.

She was born July 14, 1902, at Mt. Carmel, Penn., and married Edward Boswell, Aug. 6, 1923, in Cleveland, Ohio. The couple came to Burley from Gooding about 25 years ago and have lived in Heyburn for the last seven years.

Mr. Boswell preceded her in death on June 30, 1970.

Survivors include two sons, William E. Boswell, Fairfield, Calif.; Daniel W. Boswell, Heyburn; four daughters, Mrs. Burford (Mary Lou) Harrell, Burley; Mrs. Don (Dorothy) Oless, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. Albert (Nancy) Gondenberger, Aberdeen; Mrs. Frank (Lois) Saldana, Heyburn; and 19 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday in the McCulloch Funeral Home Chapel with Bishop Ray Bailey officiating. Interment will be in Gem Memorial Gardens.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and evening and prior to services Thursday.

L. J. Hoffa

BUHL — LeRoy John Hoffa, 63, Buhl died Monday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of a brief illness.

He was born Aug. 10, 1909, in Pennsylvania and in the early 1930's came to American Falls. He later moved to Twin Falls where he worked as a mechanic for Glen Jenkins Chevrolet. In 1937 he moved to Buhl, and on June 10, 1939, he was married to Erna Dean Heffelfinger at Elko, Nev.

He was a partner in Magic Valley Motors, and in 1970 he purchased Roy's West End Garage, which he was operating at the time of his death.

During World War II he worked as an aircraft mechanic at Gowen Field, Boise, and as a supervisor on pipeline construction in Yukon Territory for the US Army Engineers. He was active in the Civil Air Patrol and served as its commanding officer for a time. He was a member of the Lutheran Church and the Buhl Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to his widow he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Terry (Sandra Rae) Lechner, Buhl; one son, Daniel LeRoy Hoffa, Boise; his mother, Mrs. Sally Hoffa, Escondido, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Chester (Jeannette) Loveberg, Escondido; one brother, LaVern Albert Hoffa, Sutherlin, Ore.; and one grandson.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday at St. John's Lutheran Church Buhl, by Rev. R. J. Scholz.

Friends may call at the Albertson-Dickard Chapel Wednesday until 8 p.m. and Thursday until noon. Memorials may be made to the St. John's Lutheran Church Memorial Fund.

Concluding rites will be at Sunset Memorial Park, Twin Falls.

World sends help to quake victims

By United Press International From MacDill Air Force Base, Fla., a procession of U.S. Air Force cargo planes lumbered off the runway carrying relief supplies for earthquake victims in Nicaragua.

Other U.S. military planes, carrying water purification units, plasma, anti-tetanus serum, tents, stretchers, cots and water trailers, departed Howard Air Force Base in the Panama Canal Zone for the quake area.

Spain sent a team of doctors. Britain sent medical supplies and plasma. Japan sent money. Neighboring Central American republics and other nations of Latin America sent supplies and rescue workers.

These were among the international relief efforts being mounted today for the victims of the Nicaraguan disaster.

President Nixon, spending Christmas in Key Biscayne, Fla., talked twice by telephone with Nicaraguan leader Anastasio Somoza, the Florida White House said Monday. A spokesman said the President expressed the sympathy of the American people and gave his assurance that all possible assistance would be rendered.

In Washington, a special disaster assistance task force was set up at the State Department to handle U.S. assistance efforts. It was headed by Russell McClure, coordinator of foreign disaster relief for the department.

Jorge Cardenas of the Nicaraguan Red Cross telephoned Sam Krakow, director of international activities for the American Red Cross (ARC) Monday, transmitting a list of needs including, 3,000 tents big enough for five or six persons, 5,000 water containers, 50 portable generators, 3 million meals and 5,000 flashlights.

The ARC asked Americans interested in helping to contribute cash to their local chapters for Nicaraguan relief.

ARC's field director for Panama, Kelly West, and other ARC officials from Washington and Atlanta were sent to Nicaragua.

The Florida White House also said two fully staffed U.S. Army field hospitals arrived on Sunday and Monday in Nicaragua and are now operating.

The 518th Engineering Company was scheduled to leave Monday from the Canal Zone.

A 25-man U.S. disaster survey team and a 41-man medical assistance team arrived in Nicaragua earlier from the U.S. Southern Command in Panama.

A Royal Air Force plane left Britain Monday with medical supplies and plasma. The British government and private charities have allocated more than $90,000 for emergency aid.

Fatty count

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More than 60 million Americans are overweight, reports the University of California Medical Center.

Japan jolted

TOKYO (UPI) — A mild earthquake jolted northern Japan today. The government's meteorological agency said the quake had an intensity of 2 on the Japanese scale of 7 in Tsukidate, Miyagi Prefecture, and of 1 in Sendai, Miyagi Prefecture, about 150 miles north of Tokyo.

Aid call answered

GENEVA (UPI) — An emergency appeal by the International Red Cross for aid for the victims of the Nicaraguan earthquake is finding world-wide response, but effective aid is still hampered by communications problems, a Red Cross spokesman said today.

He said the International League of Red Cross Societies and the newly created United Nations Relief Disaster Office (UNDRO) are coordinating the international aid operation but finding the lack of rapid communication a major problem.

The spokesman said the most urgent needs were for medical teams, tents, electric generators, blankets and medicines.

The spokesman said the number of dead was still unknown but the latest information was that some 2,000 were killed in Managua with tens of thousands homeless.

Men marry old

LONDON (UPI) — In 1970 there were 18 men in Britain who got married at the age of 90 or over, but only one 90-year-old woman says an official report.

Nixon orders national mourning time for HST

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon today eulogized former President Harry S. Truman as "a man who will be remembered as one of the most courageous presidents in our history" and ordered a national mourning period.

Nixon designated Thursday, Dec. 28, to be a national day of mourning and recommended that Americans assemble on that day in places of worship to honor the memory of the former President who died today in his Missouri home.

In a special proclamation, Nixon directed that the flag of the United States be displayed at half staff at the White House and on all buildings, grounds and naval vessels of the United States for a period of 30 days from the day of Truman's death.

"Our hopes today for a generation of peace rest in large measure on the firm foundation that he laid," Nixon said in a statement.

A spokesman also said the President and Mrs. Nixon had sent a personal message of condolence to Mrs. Truman.

Hope's Last Trip

Bob Hope and his 75-member entertainment troupe are making their annual Christmas pilgrimage to overseas bases. The only thing unusual about it is this year may be his last.

The comedian says it will be the finale to a tradition which began in 1945 and has endeared itself to the hearts of millions. Undoubtedly many times during those years Hope expected each trip would be his last.

But as a new Christmas approached and found American GIs once again on duty in lonely outposts around the world, the call to entertain beckoned once again and Hope answered.

Even now the man who has brought so much cheer to so many in a multitude of place leaves himself an out. "If some kind of emergency arises, I may burst out again," Hope said in announcing this would be his last trip.

All, including those who have enjoyed firsthand the Hope monologues and pretty girls on desolate stages, join with the comedian in hoping future calls to duty will not be necessary.

Bit of Comfort

Although it has been kept down to about 3 per cent over the past 12 months, the dismal fact remains that the cost of living index (CPI) has soared by 26 per cent since 1967, and only the most unregenerate optimist expects anything but continued inflation. The situation fortunately, is not necessarily as dismal as the figures. The reason, points out F. Lee Moore Jr. in Money magazine, is that the CPI, the government's basic "market basket" of certain goods and services, measures changes in prices but seldom takes into account changes in the quality of the goods and services it keeps track of.

Consider one simple example, he says. Motor oil is up 70 per cent on the CPI since 1966. But because of technological advances in both oil and automobile engines one quart of oil now goes up to three times as far as it did in the mid-1950s.

Most of today's cars require oil changes only every 4,000 to 6,000 miles, compared with the 1,000- to 2,000 mile intervals recommended 15 years ago. Thus the per-mile cost of oil is actually down by more than 40 per cent.

House paint prices, for another example, are 2 per cent higher than they were in 1964. But the usual purchase today is an acrylic water-base paint that lasts 25 to 40 per cent longer than the typical oil-base paint of the early 1960s. It also covers better and is more convenient to use, since brushes or rollers can now be washed in water.

According to the CPI, sheets have gone up by 20 per cent since 1964. In fact, most buyers have switched to polyester-cotton combinations that cost about 50 per cent more than all-cotton sheets but last at least twice as long and require no ironing.

On the CPI, daily hospital service charges are about six times as much as they were in 1960. But in many cases, new antibiotics and vaccines have reduced or eliminated the need for hospitalization.

For instance, mastoiditis, a painful ear infection, was once dangerous and often required major surgery. In 1940, treatment cost about $338. Today it is under $35.

The moral, says Moore, is that consumers should avoid the easy but mistaken assumption that price rises always threaten living standards. They should take headlines about the rising consumer price index with a grain of salt—a commodity, incidentally, that still costs just about what it did in 1960.

Nixon's Small New Supercabinet

WASHINGTON — Obscured by his wholesale bureaucratic purge, President Nixon has quietly buried half his cabinet and fashioned a radical new instrument for running the domestic side of the government: a small White House staff and embodiment of Nixon's reorganization schemes spurned by Congress.

This structure has not been announced and may never be formally unveiled.

In overall command will be White House domestic policy chief John Ehrlichman and Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, wearing a new second hat as presidential assistant. Its members, dividing domestic policy areas, are: Shultz for economics; Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Caspar Weinberger for human resources; Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz for natural resources; Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) James Lynn for community development.

It is no coincidence that these policy areas are identical to new cabinet departments proposed by Mr. Nixon in 1971 and turned down flat by Congress. Nor is it coincidence that old departments abolished by the 1971 reorganization plan — Interior, Labor, Commerce, Transportation, for example — are now given second-class status.

Thus, working in stealth while Congress recessed, Mr. Nixon has rebuilt the government to make sure domestic policy and operations will now be tightly controlled from the White House.

That control derives partly from obliteration of distinctions between White House staff and cabinet. While Ehrlichman's huge domestic policy staff at the White House is now disbanded, his top aides are scattered among cabinet departments. Likewise, assistant and under secretaries are now picked by the White House, a precedent-breaking step. Still uncertain is whether Butz, Weinberger and Lynn will join Shultz as White House staffers.

More important than this commingling are the four supercabinet members themselves; all are intelligent, tough and energetic. None has ever held elective office or sought publicity. Above all, they will cause Mr. Nixon no trouble; none has his own constituency to interfere with the President's grand design of scaling down the federal government.

A case in point is Lynn, the new Secretary of HUD. His predecessor, former Gov. George Romney of Michigan, antagonized the White House by pushing racially integrated housing and promoting more money for the cities. Lynn, a Cleveland lawyer without political experience, has no such divided loyalties. As under secretary of Commerce, he impressed the White House with his dependability and low profile.

But, critics say, Lynn knows nothing about urban needs. "That's all right," a top presidential adviser explained to us. "Jim Lynn is in there to stop programs, not start them."

Weather Happening

WASHINGTON — Something is happening to the weather in this country and it's causing tremendous anxiety amongst the people. In the days before television, nobody really cared that much about weather. You got up in the morning and looked out the window. If it was raining, you put on rubbers — if it was snowing, you put on boots. If it was a lousy day, you always figured that tomorrow the sun would shine.

But now, thanks to the miracle of television, people worry about the weather all the time. We are told not only what weather to expect in our neck of the woods, but also what's happening in Billings, Mont., and Pitchfork, Newfoundland.

This not only causes traumas in most American households, it also polarizes the country.

For example, the other night a group of friends were watching the weather on the local news. The jolly newscaster was standing in front of a map of the North American continent chuckling as he informed us that we could expect rain, sleet and fog for the next 48 hours. Had he let it go at that, nobody would have been too upset, but he decided to go into a long explanation about what caused it.

Using his pointer he said, "As you can see, there is mass of cold air coming in from Canada."

"Canada always keeps sending us cold masses of air," my friend Harry Dalinsky said. "If Nixon has any guts he'll tell them to knock it off or else."

"Or else what?" Collins Bird asked.

"We'll send them masses of cold air that will make their masses of cold air look like a trade wind," Dalinsky said.

"I wouldn't fool with Canada when it comes to cold air masses," Bird said. "They have a cold air superiority over us of five to one."

The announcer continued his chalk talk.

"This cold air mass from Canada is expected to meet with this warm air mass coming up from the South, which will cause the rain, sleet and fog that will arrive in our area tomorrow morning."

"There is your problem," said Carey Winston. "It isn't cold air coming from Canada that is causing the trouble, it's the warm air from the South. They shouldn't allow the South to send up warm air at the same time Canada is sending down cold air."

"Nixon isn't going to make the South stop sending up warm air, not after what they did for him during the election," Jim Symington said.

"He has always maintained," Dalinsky agreed, "that the exporting of warm air should be left to the individual states."

The weatherman was still talking away. "The Midwest can expect heavy snow which is blowing in from the Rockies."

"I'll bet you the people in the Midwest are really mad at the Rockies," Collins Bird said.

"They shouldn't have settled so near the Rockies," Carey Winston said. "I have no sympathy for them."

"Why do you say that?" I asked.

"Because the Midwest sends us all their bad weather. They get furious because they have all that snow dumped on them, so they want to dump it on someone else," Winston replied. "I'll start feeling sorry for people who live in the Middle West when they stop dropping their snow on us."

The announcer continued. "The thunderstorms are expected in Texas and Oklahoma."

"They'll probably get a tax depletion allowance for them," Symington said.

"Now," said the weatherman, "let's look at our satellite map of the United States. As you can see, there is a cloud cover over the entire United States except for Key Biscayne, Fla., where the President is spending his holidays."

My wife said, "It figures."

A Good Case

WASHINGTON — No. I do not choose to join those among my conservative friends who charge that Columnist Bill Buckley has been seduced by some radical chic Circe and thus beguiled has persuaded himself that a little marijuana is good for you.

In the first place, while coming out for "decriminalization" of the pot user, Buckley reminds us that "pot is a psychic poison to some people," even as he quite sensibly suggests that the kid found smoking a joint should not be incarcerated in some ammoniaic dungeon to learn a criminal trade.

Which is to say that, as usual, Buckley has mounted a good case, the substance of which is that there is a national precedent for dealing gently if at all with the consumer and, more importantly, the mere possessor of cannabis. He refers us to the days of Prohibition when the speakeasy proprietor was prosecuted and the patron was not. He notes that as a rule the John goes free while the prostitute is haled before a judge.

Writing in The New York Times, Buckley cites the case of a college kid convicted of possession and dispatched to New York state's notorious Attica prison. That, of course, is cruel nonsense. It is not yet time to manufacture more criminals; supply still exceeds demand.

Nevertheless, I don't believe even Bill Buckley can sell the various legislatures on letting pot users go scot free. The dope scare is still too much with us, and there is always the argument that a child might think at least twice before smoking his first joint if he knows it could lead to an unwanted association with a cop. Put another way, most of us do wish to persuade our young NOT to use marijuana or hashish. Similarly, we cigarette smokers would keep our children from the habit.

So is there a solution that will spare our young the ugly experience of a jail term? I think yes. Since this is not a basically vengeful country, I suggest that most lawmakers would buy a penal system similar to that employed to keep automobile drivers from running amok.

Give the kid a ticket if he's caught using or possessing pot. If convicted, fine him Double the fine for a second offense and keep increasing it for subsequent offenses — but no jail sentences. Money still talks, and few young people can afford monthly contributions to the public till. As in traffic violations, the law also might make provision for the loss of "points" for every violation. Require the offender to report weekly to his probation officer for a day's work scrubbing the floors of city hall. Or something.

Meanwhile, a final verdict on pot effect on the human body and mind is urgently needed. Almost every expert has admitted that pot can be harmful to some people and probably to all who use it. The question remains: how harmful?

Well, cannabis is not an addictive drug physically; that is to say smoking pot or hashish does not make the body dependent on its continued use. But some tests have shown that use of either can lead to a psychological dependence, a feeling that one owes one's psyche a pleasurable kick. To no parent's surprise, I'm sure, the same tests suggested that an habitual cannabis user tends to lose his inclination to do a day's work. At the wheel of a car, the user often is consumed by a "superman" feeling which makes him a danger to others' lives and limbs.

Science is not infallible, but it should not be beyond the wit of the laboratory boys to come up with a definite judgment on pot's toxicity, as compared say to alcohol's. Fines instead of jail sentences to be sure; but first let's spell out the dimensions of the crime the user is committing against himself so he'll know why he's being fined.

Arteritis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain artery-itis? My doctor says it is different from arthritis. In what way? Is there a cure? I'm 40 and have had this trouble 11 years. The arteries are affected on my left temple and above the eye. — J. S.

It's arteritis — and distinctly not arthritis, arthritis being an affliction involving joints, while arteritis involves arteries. Best description of it would be "inflammation of the arteries," and yours evidently is the form of it known as temporal arteritis, with arteries around the temple being primarily involved.

Technically, arteritis is one of the group of ailments known as collagen diseases, which perhaps isn't of much help to you. The collagen diseases involve the connective or supportive tissues of the body. Frankly, we don't know nearly as much about the collagen diseases, as we would like to know or as we need to know. In fact, the cause of the collagen diseases is not known — including arteritis.

Essentially, what we know is that these diseases exist, and we know pragmatically that drugs of the cortisone type can lessen the discomfort and reduce the tendency to recur. Such treatment has to be on a long-term basis.

In passing, arteritis can involve such symptoms as loss of weight, rheumatic-type pain, and fever. In view of the present state of knowledge — or lack of knowledge — the best advice I can offer, in fact the only advice I can suggest, is prolonged use of cortisone or its derivatives, and while you didn't say, I would assume that your doctor already has been doing this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It is my understanding that there is no treatment for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis. If a cure is found, would it be general knowledge in medical circles rapidly? Or would there be some special group that would have up-to-the minute news of it? — Mrs. F. R.

Such a breakthrough with this disease would be national news, not to say international, and you won't have to look to any special group to hear about it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: are the following true or false?

1. One should drink water BEFORE having orange juice, otherwise the orange, being an acid drink, will harm the stomach.

2. No one should drink water or other liquids at dinner or any other heavy meal. The stomach liquids can digest foods better without the liquids. — W.M.

Neither one makes any sense.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Discards Popular

The Prescott, Ariz., Salvation Army accidentally has discovered a recycling method of disposing of clothing too ragged to wear. Give it to teenagers. They'll wear it proudly.

A Salvation Army spokesman explained, almost apologetically, they tried to throw away tattered clothing. "But kids started coming in and asking for it all the time," he added, "and now we're selling all of it we can get our hands on."

At only slightly reduced prices, at that. "It's too much in demand," explained Maj. Crosby.

Classrooms may soon look like ragpickers' conventions, and parents obviously will think this is carrying ecological conservation too far. Until they realize their clothing bills have dropped.

So why not in Twin Falls? The Salvation Army has a "thrift" store here. They might be taking the first step toward a million — bucks that is!

One of the benefits overlooked by persons who complain about the cost of drugs is the expensive research program profits from medicines and drugs must help pay for.

Millions of the costs of cancer research projects are provided in this manner. Scientists in many laboratories are working as never before to achieve a cancer breakthrough.

But fewer hopeful discoveries than in the past are being reported. Perhaps this is because false hopes have been raised so many times in the past that no one wants to report a new discovery until all the doubt has been eliminated.

Nixon landslide second to LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's landslide reelection victory—now officially tabulated—falls short of the most one-sided presidential election in U.S. history.

Official vote canvasses from the 50 states and the District of Columbia showed Monday that Nixon did not quite break former President Lyndon B.

Johnson's 1964 record of 61.6 per cent of the total popular vote. Nixon's percentage was 60.9, just .1 higher than Franklin D. Roosevelt's landslide in 1936.

In numbers of votes, however, the tally showed that Nixon won the 1972 election with a record-breaking 47,186,390 votes, nearly 4 million more than Johnson's 43,129,484 in 1964, the previous popular vote record.

Sen. George S. McGovern got 29,169,585 votes, 18,186,390 less than Nixon. His percentage of the total popular vote was 37.7.

Rep. John Schmitz, the American party candidate, ran third with 912,022 votes, 1.1 per cent of the total. Seven other candidates, led by Dr. Benjamin Spock of the Peoples' party, got a total of 216,532 votes, or .3 per cent of the total.

The total turnout was 54.8 per cent of the Census Bureau's estimated 139,563,000 voting age population. That was the lowest turnout since 1948, when 51.3 per cent of the voting age population went to the polls.

In carrying out with 521 electoral votes on election day, Nixon also came in second to a Democrat, Franklin Roosevelt got 523 electoral votes in 1936, carrying 46 states. Nixon's recorded electoral vote will be 520 because one of Virginia's electors last week cast his ballot for John Hospers of the Libertarian party, who got 1,537 popular votes.

McGovern got 17 electoral votes, 14 from Massachusetts and three from the District of Columbia.

The popular vote totals of the other six candidates:

Spock—70,972 in eight states.
Linda Jenness, Socialist Workers—60,795 in 13 states.
Louis Fisher, Socialist Labor—44,385 in nine states.
Gus Hall, Communist—23,209 in 11 states.
E. Harold Munn, Prohibitionist—8,789 in 2 states.
Evelyn Reed, Socialist Workers—6,392 in three states.

All of the presidential figures are based on official vote canvasses, the last of which were not completed until West Virginia certified its results on Friday afternoon, Dec. 22. National vote totals published before then were, of necessity, based on unofficial figures.

Search pressed

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — Search vessels criss-crossed the stormy Gulf of Alaska today searching for survivors amidst the floating debris of a Liberian cargo ship that carried 33 Korean crewmen.

Navy C130 aircraft spotted an oil slick, some debris and all four capsized lifeboats of the bulk carrier Pacover Monday in heavy seas 750 miles south of Kodiak Island.

One search plane remained at the scene during the night, along with two commercial vessels.

Filipinos hunt plane

MANILA (UPI) — An armed forces spokesman said today an air force C47 and its crew of seven is missing in the southern Philippines and believed shot down by Moslem rebels.

The government described the situation in the area as "tense," the first time it has used that word in reporting what is happening in the area.

The armed forces spokesman said the C47 was reported missing during a mission Christmas eve while dropping flares to help a besieged eight-man government detachment on Tonquil island 630 miles south of Manila.

Spokesman said the C47, the military version of the DC3, was ordered into action after 100 armed rebels tried to overrun the detachment.

The spokesman said at least seven outlaws, including their leader, identified as Hadji Iyucob, were slain in the ensuing battle.

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 26, the 361st day of 1972 with five to follow.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Capricorn. Adm. George Dewey, the American naval hero of Manila, was born Dec. 26, 1837.

On this day in history:
In 1885, James Nason of Franklin, Mass., was awarded a patent for the invention of a coffee percolator.

In 1917, the federal government took over operation of the nation's railroads for the duration of World War I.

In 1941, Winston Churchill became the first British prime minister to address a joint session of the U.S. Congress.

A thought for the day: British novelist George Eliot said, "Blessed is the man who, with nothing to say, abstains from giving in words evidence of that fact."

HST symbol of common man's potential for US

By United Press International
The abilities of "Harry S. Truman" were anything but common. But to his countrymen and the world he came to symbolize the potential, when history demands it, of the common man.

The "man of Independence" molded the destiny of the United States and the world with unprecedented decisions—the atomic bombing of Japan, the Marshall plan, the Berlin blockade airlift, the dispatch of U.S. troops to Korea—and many more.

"I did what had to be done," he once said.

That is the way the fiery little Missourian wanted to be remembered.

Fate permitted Truman to outlive most of those with whom he shared a place in history—Stalin, Churchill, de Gaulle, MacArthur, Eisenhower and even Thomas E. Dewey, whom he defeated in the 1948 presidential elections in one of the most stunning upsets in U.S. political history.

He once said that a man could have no better epitaph than one he saw inscribed on a frontier grave in Arizona. It said:

"Here lies Jack Williams; He done his damndest."

Truman truly was a man of Independence. It was his way of life as well as his hometown.

He was vice president the day that Franklin D. Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, and found himself holding the reins of the mightiest nation in the world in one of the most critical periods in history.

Truman won re-election in 1948, defeating Dewey in what most call the biggest political upset in history.

Truman was the 33rd president of the United States and the 32nd man to hold the office. He served until Jan. 20, 1953.

'Pray for me,' Truman asked newsmen after inauguration in 1945 the day Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower succeeded him in the White House.

During his years of decision and consequence, not only for the nation but the world as well, he gave the order to drop the atomic bomb that ended the war with Japan in the Pacific.

He gave the go-ahead for the development of the hydrogen bomb, called Russia's bluff in Berlin and ordered an airlift to keep the city supplied with food and medicine despite a Soviet blockade.

His most difficult decision, Truman said, was ordering troops into Korea in a "police action" that kept Communist troops from advancing past the 38th parallel.

He enunciated the Truman Doctrine to keep Russia out of southern Europe, supported the Marshall Plan for keeping Russia out of Western Europe, presided at the birth of the United Nations and was a key mover in creation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Truman devised the Point Four plan of technical assistance to underdeveloped nations, serving not only as commander-in-chief of the U.S. armed forces, but as the chief executor of the nation's foreign policy.

Truman had enemies. He was the object of an assassination attempt during his presidency. He had many critics who disagreed with him, quarreled with him and ridiculed him at times. But nobody ever accused Truman of not making decisions.

History will remember, too, that he referred to the Alger Hiss case as a "red herring," that he once seized the steel industry in an action which the Supreme Court ruled illegal, and that he unceremoniously fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur during the Korean conflict.

In point of public reaction, these three decisions probably were the most unpopular things he did during the seven years and nine months he served as president. But, Truman never publicly wavered in the belief that they were the right things. Truman also was a political leader, the devoted head of the Democratic party while President and its elder spokesman—but occasional caustic observer—afterward.

He rose from precinct captain in brawling Kansas City, through county office and the U.S. Senate to the most important public office in the nation. He loved politics and played it well.

He was a colorful public figure, too. He wore gaudy sports shirts on his vacations in Key West, Fla., he played the piano, he wore steel-rimmed glasses, he spoke with a peppery, Midwestern twang, and he took long walks in the early morning hours.

He hurled invective at some of his critics, once referring to a columnist as an "s.o.b." He wrote a letter while President threatening a music critic with bodily harm for being unkind to the singing voice of his daughter, Margaret.

The music critic had hit Truman where it hurt most—in his family. For Truman was a devoted family man, and he would not tolerate any aspersions on his wife, Bess, whom he called "The Boss," or on his daughter.

And Truman, a Baptist, was a religious man. He once said in a television interview, after he had left the White House, that religion had sustained him in many of his more difficult periods.

Policy review

FORMER PRESIDENT Harry S. Truman outlived most of those with whom he shared historic events. In this Oct. 15, 1950, photo, Truman visits with Gen. Douglas MacArthur (who died in January, 1964) on Wake Island as they met to review Far Eastern policy. (UPI)

Truman was vice president on the morning of April 12, 1945. At 7:09 that night, he was president, having been sworn in at a hastily improvised ceremony in the cabinet room of the White House.

"Pray for me," he asked the newsmen.

On his 61st birthday, May 8, 1945, he proclaimed victory over Germany, ending the war in Europe. But just 95 days after he had taken office, mankind entered a new era which outmoded the type of warfare that had defeated the Nazis.

The Atomic Age was born July 16, 1945, with the explosion desert at Alamogordo, N. M. It was christened on his decision to use the new weapon on Japan in order to speed an end to World War II.

The United States held a monopoly on the weapon, but Truman offered to turn over its secrets to the world for control under an international body—only, however, if there were "fool-proof" safeguards.

Russia rejected this condition, while working diligently to perfect an atomic weapon of its own. On Sept. 23, 1949, Truman announced to the world that the Soviets had succeeded.

The following January, he authorized U.S. scientists to go ahead with development of the hydrogen bomb. But, only a short while after Truman left office, the Russians caught up on the H-bomb, too.

This narrowing of the nuclear gap between the United States and Russia was only one of the major setbacks to the free world during the Truman administration. There also was the fall of China to the Communists, a development for which Truman was scorchingly blamed by his foes.

The charge that Truman lost China became one of the big issues of the 1952 presidential campaign, which the Democrats lost after 20 years in power.

Truman acted swiftly on Korea. He used his executive authority and did not ask Congress for a declaration of war. He ordered air, sea and ground support for the South Koreans.

He placed the aggression before the United Nations for action.

The decision of Korea had been made fundamentally three years earlier.

On March 12, 1947, Truman enunciated to Congress a basic change in foreign policy.

This was what has become known as the "Truman Doctrine."

It meant specifically that instead of abstaining from world politics in peacetime, the United States became an active participant.

On June 5, 1947, Gen. George C. Marshall, whom Truman had appointed Secretary of State, made a speech at Harvard University in which he outlined a plan for U.S. assistance in the economic recovery of Western Europe.

It became known as the Marshall Plan.

On April 4, 1949, the Atlantic Pact, establishing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, was signed in Washington by the foreign ministers of 12 nations.

Harry S. Truman was born May 8, 1884, in an unpretentious frame house in the little southwestern Missouri town of Lamar. He lived a normal farm-boy life, performing his chores and attending school.

Between chores and school, Truman learned to "play" the piano—at his mother's insistence—and became an accomplished amateur musician.

Since his parents could not afford to send him to college, he went to work after graduating from high school. He worked for $3 per week in a drug store. Then he worked in the circulation department of the Kansas City Star, was timekeeper for a construction gang, and worked as a bank clerk.

He enlisted in the National Guard. And when the United States entered World War I, he was commissioned as a first lieutenant and later became captain of Battery D, 129th Field Artillery, 35th Division.

Returning from France, he held a major's commission in the reserve and later was a reserve colonel.

On June 28, 1919, Truman married his childhood sweetheart, Bess Wallace, the daughter of one of the oldest and most prominent families in the area.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are rare, some are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever available without prescription: doctors dispense again and again—Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain-reliever doctors recommend more than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast, minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours, even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin!

Celebrate Saturday

BOISE (UPI) — For the third time in 11 years New Year's Eve will fall on Sunday night and many Idaho residents will do their celebrating a day early.

Hotel, motel and restaurant owners are warning New Year's partygoers to plan celebrations Saturday night if they expect to have gatherings some place beside their own homes.

This is the third time in 11 years we've had New Year's Eve fall on a Sunday night," said John Pengilly, manager of the Downtowner. "As a result, we won't be able to have any parties at which hard liquor is served."

Pengilly said the 1972 law allowing service of liquor on Sunday only applies to receptions held in conjunction with a convention, or related gatherings.

In past instances we've still had New Year's parties — even though they're held on the wrong day — and just consider them warm-ups for Sunday night celebrations," Pengilly said.

Idaho liquor enforcement director Dick Cade has indicated enforcement of laws will take place just like any other Sunday.

No hard liquor is sold or served in Idaho on Sundays.

According to Cade, there's no special dispensation provided in the law when holidays fall on Sunday.

Saturday night parties will be able to continue until 1 a.m. Sunday, because Idaho law enforcement officers consider that first hour Sunday as Saturday night business.

Most liquor stores close at 7 p.m. Saturday. Beer and wine can, however, be sold through grocery stores or taverns on Sunday.

Mind Your Money

The holiday season is also called the "fire season."

Cold weather, extra heating, parties, drinking, careless smoking, exhaustion — all lead to more danger from fires in homes. This year some 6,000 people have died in their homes — victims of fire and smoke. Fires have also burned up or damaged nearly $1 billion worth of homes and furnishings.

The bulk of deaths and dollar damage, according to Richard Bright, fire expert at the National Bureau of Standards, "could have been prevented if the victims' homes had been protected by an early warning smoke-detection system."

Until recently, however, these smoke-detection systems were quite costly because they were installed through regular electrical wiring.

Now you can get good protection that cost as little as $35 to $45 and as easy to install as a picture on the wall. They operate from house current through a plug-in wall outlet through batteries.

One type detects smoke with a photoelectric cell. When smoke reaches a critical point, it breaks a circuit in the cell and an alarm is sounded.

Another type works through an ionization process which picks up combustion particles (ions) coming from a fire. Manufacturers of each type claim theirs is superior to the other.

In general, the ion type seems to pick up quick flame fires (such as drapes ignited from a fireplace spark) a bit quicker than the photoelectric type.

The photoelectric detector seems to pick up long-smoldering fires (such as cigarette butts on carpets or cushions) somewhat faster than the ion detector.

Actually, either type of detector can give the average homeowner or apartment dweller more than adequate protection.

According to government fire expert Bright, the only kind of detection device that really isn't

Green Thumb

Are plants "human"? Every day I'm asked: "Do plants really respond to prayer, music and human kindness? Does it help to talk to plants? Do they react to love, hate and understanding?"

My answer to all these questions is YES. When people say they "have a Green Thumb" they're showing that plants have something akin to emotion. These people say "I can put a stick of wood in the ground and it will root for me."

You'll find that these gardeners really love plants and go out of their way to make them respond.

On the other hand, the other group which means: "Nothing grows for me. I touch a plant and it dies." — these people usually show no love for plants and that's why their plants don't.

Dr. George Washington Carver, the Negro agricultural chemist and educator, used to talk to his peanut plants, and he claimed it helped him discover over 300 peanut byproducts.

Luther Burbank, the plant wizard once said, "I've often talked to my plants to create a vibration of love."

A Presbyterian minister, Rev. Franklin Leehr, wrote a book, "The Power of Prayer on Plants." One nugget we gleaned from it: "Plants will grow when prayed for, used or will be retarded in growth if you curse at them."

The minister used 150 people and 27,000 seeds and seedlings in 700 experiments in 3 years of testing to get information for his book.

A dentist friend sent us musical records he made. He says that music grows better plants and this is backed up by various institutions which found that plants like some music better than others.

Acid rock music kills some plants, while peaceful music makes them grow. The plants prefer stringed instruments to horns and female voices to male.

All of this backs up Luther Burbank's notion that plants own a sensitive nervous system and are capable of feeling and expressing the universal emotions of love, hate, fear, pain and pleasure.

If you think plants react to what people say, please write and tell us. We want your reactions to this notion.

Meanwhile, if any of our readers want to talk to their plants or pray to them, make sure you pick the right kind of plants. Those plants ones you see much of today won't respond, regardless of how you treat them.

Some of them look mighty real!

Hanging baskets: Florists and greenhouse operators have found that one of the hottest items they handled last year was the hanging basket. A 10-inch hanging basket retails for around $6, so if you want to save a few bucks, why not make your own basket this spring?

You can buy plastic containers with chains, ready for hanging. Use a loose soil. Good items to consider are: Cascade petunias, ideal for hanging; other petunias will grow, too.

Ferns, especially the sprengerii, is a dandy. Fuchsia and impatiens are excellent in the basket, as are vine geraniums, lantanas, common nasturtiums, flowers, begonias, coleus and vinca vines.

For the shady spot, just about all of the above will grow except the geranium. Even petunias will take some shade.

Philodendron Blooms: A reader asks if it's rare for a large leaf philodendron to blossom. She has one in her office which has bloomed for the last three years.

It's not common to have a philodendron blossom, but there are a few exceptions, do when conditions are just right.

Rubish mulches for petunias: Tests at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station show that some materials we now throw away can be used to give you more flowers.

By using two thicknesses of newspapers as a mulch for petunias, it was found that the plants were not only larger, but mulching also increased the number of flowers.

Plants growing in pots with paper materials produced from 50 to 80 per cent more flowers than the plants growing in the unmulched gardens. Plants that received a mulch of grass clippings, slit manila paper bags, or salt hay, produced three times as many flowers as plants without any mulch.

It was also noted that mulches of grass clippings, newspapers and salt hay produced plants with fewer nematodes.

Azalea care: A good many readers of this department have good luck carrying their azaleas over from year to year. This item needs a bright window, ample water and a cool night temperature.

During the day give it 72 degrees F. and then move it to the sun-porch at night. Shedding of foliage is due to dry soil, hot dry room or a lack of light.

Feed it some vinegar (1 teaspoon to 2 qts. of water) every three or four weeks to maintain acidity.

After blooming, keep on watering it, then in shirtsleeve weather it can go outdoors for the summer.

Growing herbs: Want to start an herb garden indoors or outdoors? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my guide, The Herb Book. It's packed full of good information.

QUESTION BOX

Question of the week: F.R. of Twin Falls: "I have lost two Norfolk Island pines within the past six months. What causes the lower branches to die off?"

The Norfolk Island pine (Araucaria excelsa) is a popular houseplant, and since these plants look like trees, they are used for table — size Christmas trees.

This tropical evergreen reaches a height of over 200 feet. In your home it is not likely to reach over five feet.

Give them a semi-sunlight window, not direct light. Sun can cook them. Best temperature is around 70 degrees or less.

Over 20 causes leaves to turn brown. You also lose leaves if the soil is poorly drained or overwatered. Best soil mix is equal parts sand, peat and loam, with some perlite or vermiculite added.

This plant likes an occasional syringing to keep its feathery, needle-like foliage nice and green. When new leaves come out, apply a liquid feeding to the soil.

Repeat only when its container is jammed with roots. Yellowing of leaves can be due to a lack of nitrogen or too much sunlight.

You can start a new plant by cutting off the top and rooting it in plain tap water, moist sand or perlite. Side shoots will root easily, but for some reason they do not form a nicely shaped tree as tops do.

By the way, you can tell the age of your Norfolk Island pine by counting the tiers or rows of branches. Each whorl or tier represents a year's growth.

H. J. of Rupert: "We have a spot which gets a lot of shade. Is there any shrub we can plant there?"

Why not try coralberry (Indian currant), 3 feet high, and white flowers in May-June. Or the evergreen hollyhock one and one-half to two and one-half, red berries and green leaves.

Snowberry (4 ft. high) and snow white berries, pink flowers in June. Sweet honeysuckle, 8 to 12 ft. pink flowers in May.

Hills of Snow, hydrangea, grows 4 ft. high, with white flowers, up until fall.

If you can get some plantain lily (Funkia or Hosta) it does well in shade, producing large waxy, variegated leaves, useful for flower arrangements.

Flowers have a heavenly aroma. Ferns will also do well in the shade. And if you want annuals with a splash of color, grow fibrous or tuberous begonias, coleus, day plants (Impatiens) and in light shade, try the salvia.

A. thought for the day: President Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "We, too, born to freedom and believing in freedom, are willing to fight to maintain freedom."

Scientist crusades on births

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. William Shockley, Nobel laureate as co-inventor of the transistor, has shifted energies from physics to a crusade against birth of growing numbers of those he calls the intellectually unfit.

His views have caused him to be called a "racist" by critics, and his lectures have been broken up by youths in Ku Klux Klan robes. His name has been damned with obscenities spray painted on his car and on campus walls.

Shockley, 62, teaches electrical engineering at Stanford, and has no memory of writing his note of Dec. 23, 1947, when the transistor was born.

"I hope you can break away and come," the note told colleagues in the Bell Telephone Laboratory, to see "some effects."

Actually, Shockley says the critical date was Nov. 17, 1947, when a half-page entry in a notebook of Dr. Walter Brattain, a co-inventor, "lit the fuse." Dr. John Bardeen is another co-inventor.

A flashing light on a drop of electrolytic solution on a piece of silicon produced a voltage on the silicon surface, which was detected. This meant real promise, and another researcher suggested the next experiment in the chain.

Two great contributions of the transistor were not then fully foreseen, Shockley says.

One was its value as a counterpart of a nerve cell in the construction of computers. Shockley now predicts a time when ordinary citizens will plug personal information into shared communal memory banks.

The other is the tape recorder which Shockley uses everywhere. He says it will alter human behavior the way writing did. People will be more precise in their statements, he believes, and truth will gain "increased importance."

Shockley does some work on electromagnetic theory and was scheduled this quarter to teach a course on solid state research, but no students showed up.

"I presume that none were advised to do so by their advisors," he says.

But his most consuming interest is eugenics theory, a field in which he lacks formal academic training.

He believes that heredity rather than environment is the overwhelming factor in human intelligence—and that the median Negro I.Q. is substantially below the median white I.Q.

In Shockley's view, the relatively high birth rate among ghetto blacks and other groups threatens "downbreeding" of the human race, and is creating millions of low intelligence babies destined for lives of frustration.

Shockley has suggested a "voluntary sterilization bonus" of cash incentives for sterilization of low-I.Q. Americans who do not pay taxes. Another Shockley suggestion was a massive program of artificial insemination of mentally deficient women to improve intelligence of their offspring.

Shockley calls these suggestions "thinking exercises," and insists that he is "not advocating it, I am advocating thinking about it."

Since 1966, Shockley has campaigned unsuccessfully to get the National Academy of Sciences, of which he is a member, to sponsor a study to appraise one of his theories.

This is his conclusion that among Caucasians, genes account for 80 per cent of I.Q. differences, leaving less than 20 per cent to environmental effects and testing errors.

The general reaction of the scientific community, including geneticists, has been that his theory and data are unworthy of serious study by the academy. His main, notable support comes from Arthur R. Jensen, a University of California educational psychologist.

When Shockley sought to teach a course on genetic factors at Stanford, the proposal was rejected by the university committee responsible on grounds that he is not qualified. The American Civil Liberties Union now is aiding him in his fight for the right to teach the course.

Japan's problems popular kind

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan enters 1973 with problems most countries would like to have.

Wallowing in money, prosperous beyond their wildest dreams, the Japanese must somehow find a way to make their success acceptable to the rest of the world.

Long gone are the dark days when Japan crept out of World War II 27 years ago almost bankrupt, her cities and factories bombed to rubble.

In 1972, the economic colossus built on the ashes of Hiroshima and Tokyo turned out 6.2 million motor vehicles, and about 95 million tons of steel.

With a Gross National Product (GNP) of $242.3 billion in 1971, Japan trailed only the United States and the Soviet Union. She had left every other Asian country far behind.

Gone also were the days when the Japanese were called mere copyists and makers of cheap merchandise.

Her excellent cameras, desk calculators and TV sets flowed into the markets of Europe and America like a flood. Japan made more than $5 billion in trade with foreign countries in 1972, almost half of it with the United States.

There were angry complaints. American businessmen charged Japan had easy access to markets in the United States, and jiggered the rules to restrict entry of American products into Japan.

Asian trade partners like Thailand, South Korea and Taiwan charged that Japan's huge trade surpluses were bleeding them white.

By autumn of 1972, Thai students were staging boycotts against Japanese goods. America and the European Common Market were threatening legislation and quotas to limit Japan's share of the market.

The United States also was threatening to put on pressure for another revaluation of Japan's currency, the yen, whose price was increased by 16.87 per cent in December, 1971.

In foreign affairs outside the economic sphere Japan had surprisingly few problems.

Egypt faces discussion

BEIRUT (UPI) — For the Arab world, the key to a solution of the Middle East crisis—whether in 1973 or in some future time—lies in the answer to the question: "What does Israel want?"

Egypt is ready for what the United States calls a "process of discussion" with Israel to defuse the tension in the Middle East.

The Egyptians are scared to death of the thought of negotiations," says a western diplomat. "But President Anwar Sadat has little alternative."

Sadat, according to the diplomat, knows that in face-to-face negotiations with Israel "he would come out with the short end of the stick. So he wants a referee."

To continue, the sporting analogy, the Egyptian team is in the stadium waiting to go out on the field. But neither the referee nor the opposing side has turned up.

Two years have passed since the guns fell silent along the Suez Canal, ending the late Gamal Abdel Nasser's "war of attrition" that cost Egypt dearly in men and equipment.

In those two years, Sadat has sought unsuccessfully to obtain from the Soviet Union the long-range bombers and rockets that his military commanders deem necessary for fighting Israel.

Then last July he decided his efforts were wasted. Bowing to army pressure, he expelled the 15,000 Soviet advisers his military commanders hated so much.

"When I took the (expulsion) decision on July 8 it was not just to expel the Soviet military personnel but to liquidate completely and forever the Russian presence in Egypt," Sadat later told a secret meeting of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only legal political party.

Even so, he had to tone down his attitude three months later and send Premier Aziz Sidky to Moscow on a peace-making mission.

On the question of long-range weapons, the Soviet answer was the same for Sidky as it had been for Sadat and as it would be for a later military mission—no deal.

"We are beaten. We are defeated," Sadat has said privately.

The Egyptians are disillusioned and bitter about the Soviets. "To us now the Soviet Union is just another country," said one official. "In the detente between the United States and the Russians, we are the losers."

Sadat has other problems. In November he stopped an armed forces coup with the arrest of 110 officers and a complete shake-up of the military command. He knows also that any order for battle with Israel might be met with outright refusal.

Still, it is not just Arab rhetoric when a responsible Egyptian says "perhaps we should fight and lose. Perhaps in some circumstances suicide is the most honorable course."

Sadat is not the only Arab leader threatened by his armed forces. Both President Hafez Assad of Syria and King Hussein of Jordan put down military revolts in November.

Hussein, like Sadat, is ready for the "process of discussion" that would lead to peace with Israel.

Assad is caught in the cleft stick of Syria's need for peace and the fact that Syria is the host to most of the 20,000 Palestinian commandos in the Arab world.

The commandos were chased from Jordan in 1970 and are banned from operating out of Lebanon. At a recent meeting in Beirut, the commando leaders emphasized they are even against United Nations resolution 242, on which most peace initiatives in the Middle East have been based.

That resolution was passed in November, 1967, after the war and calls upon Israel to withdraw from occupied Arab territories.

The commandos and their backers—notably Col. Moammar Khadafy of Libya—hope forlornly for an Arab unity that will force the West into forcing Israel, in turn, to accept life in a non-denominational Palestine dominated by Arabs.

At year's end, ministers of economy from a dozen Arab states met in Cairo to consider a report on how the Arab Middle East can force its desires on the West.

The report concentrated on oil and its bargaining power. Energy experts have said that in four or five years' time, the United States will need Arab oil to make up some 35 to 40 per cent of its oil needs.

To the Arabs who do not possess the oil, this appears a powerful bargaining counter.

The possessors of the oil—principally Saudi Arabia—do not go along. Saudi Arabia, in fact, has proposed it should begin investing in the commercial end of oil exploitation.

If the Arabs themselves owned the distributing end of the oil business, as Saudi Arabia is proposing, then an oil boycott of the West would be self-defeating.

In the meantime Sadat waits for the outside initiative that will get the ball of peace moving.

One western diplomat said Sadat was in the position of "Waiting for Godot." Perhaps the diplomat mixed up his literary metaphor. In the play of the same name, Godot never arrived.

SUN VALLEY — Learning to master Baldy Mountain in one week or having a good fall filmed by Warren Miller may seem unlikely to non-skiers.

But "It Happens in Sun Valley."

With a new book by the same name, "Learn to" and "been there and back" skiers have some company through a cartoon chronicle of a couple from a tropical climate learning to ski at Sun Valley.

The cartoons and story line are a joint effort of JoAnn Algiers, Ketchum City councilwoman and secretary of the Sun Valley Ski Education Foundation, and her father, Norman Algiers Jr.

A product of two years work, the book follows the characters from collecting the correspondence course in skiing from zip code outpost 83353, to practicing technique on moguls to transferring to the bigger slopes of Half Dollar and Baldy.

Computer replaces nurses in Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Faced with a shortage of registered nurses, heart specialists at the University of Alabama Medical Center turned to a computer, not only to relieve the shortage, but to improve care of patients after open heart surgery.

The system, now in use in a four-bed unit, was developed by physicians and engineers in the University Medical Center's Department of Surgery. The system is the only one of its type in day-to-day clinical use in the world, although similar computers are being used in research projects.

The computer not only maintains a constant watch on patients in the Cardiovascular Intensive Care Unit, but will feed blood or plasma to the patient if a need is indicated by a reading of vital signs.

Louis C. Sheppard, an associate professor and engineer in the department, designed the system with the aid of Jack Acton, a research associate who designed and built the special electronic sections.

Sheppard says the key to the system's success is its programming, based on information fed into it by Dr. John W. Kirklin, chairman of the department and one of the nation's most respected heart specialists, and Dr. Nicholas T. Kouchoukos, an associate professor.

The computer "carries out many patient care functions automatically," Sheppard says. "There are other similar computers, but those are being used in research projects only. This one works for the patients 24-hours daily, seven days a week, all year long."

"It's just like other computers," he says. "The difference is in the way we employ it. We used existing technology and applied it to hospital needs. The computer performs measurement functions on the patient, monitoring the blood pressure, heart rate, temperature and other vital signs."

If the measurements drop below the optimal levels, the system automatically pumps fresh blood into the patient.

Sheppard said the computer can take the same readings on all four beds in 15 seconds that would take 9 nurses 15 to 30 minutes for each patient, and the computer is able to take continuous readings.

This leaves the nurse free to give more direct, personal care to the patient, or to help with other patients during times of crisis," he said.

A major benefit of the computer system is the reduction of recovery time, Sheppard said.

With the automated beds, 75 per cent of heart surgery patients are able to be moved to regular care areas within 24 hours, compared to pre-automation periods of up to three days," he said.

In a typical month, seven non-automated beds and twice the nursing staff would be needed to do the job of the present four automated beds," Sheppard said. "The capacity will soon be expanded to eight beds."

Discontented young workers stir 'revolt'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new industrial revolution apparently is under way. Young workers in the western world are revolting against the very things their forebears fought to get.

So far, the revolt has found its most dramatic expression in the recent strikes at General Motors plants in Lordstown, Ohio and elsewhere. Discontent of the young workers, however, has been observed in several lands. Its revolutionary impact is so far advanced that union leaders, government officials and managements of many of the free world's biggest companies are trying to find ways to cope with it.

In a nutshell, it's a wide-scale revolt against prosperity, against well-paid but boring, dead-end jobs and even against the "work ethic" that has dominated areas of the civilized world for thousands of years.

To management, the revolt poses serious, even critical problems. If good wages and short hours won't motivate people to work hard and do a good job, what will?

No promising answer yet has been found. Companies continue to experience huge losses because of absenteeism, high turnover, worker indifference, some outright sabotage and strikes that are called for reasons that would have been incomprehensible to business men or even to workers and union leaders only a few years ago.

At Lordstown, for example, GM workers brought up 169 assorted grievances and demands. Some obviously were pure whimsy like the demand that the company give every employee a 25-pound "female" turkey at Christmas. Other demands, or at least rather than formal, were more revealing. Young workers said they couldn't understand how the foreman should have the right to ask them why if they wanted a day off.

Absenteeism at Lordstown had soared to around 13 per cent and foremen trying to maintain continuity were frustrated. But the workers were more frustrated. One reaction of GM management was that assembly line jobs were boring because they were too slow. Work norms were speeded up. That aggravated the rebellious attitude of the workers.

The same phenomenon has been noted in many plants in the United States and Europe. What it is a revolt by workers against past values seems clear. When he launched the mass production assembly line with the then fabulous wage of $5 a day, the late Henry Ford said that what the American worker wanted above all was "a job that doesn't require him to think." That seems to be exactly what today's young workers do not want.

Even that idea is far from the whole story. Lester Korn, Los Angeles management consultant, told the United Press International a revealing story.

On a recent trip to New York he encountered a cab driver in his late 20s who was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School. The cabbie had quit a $20,000 job with a top management consulting firm to drive a cab for $150 a week because that was all the money he needed.

Compare that with the statement of a Lordstown worker to reporters: "The company never could understand that we don't want a day's work plus overtime. We want 40 hours and that's it."

Caribbean attraction

Jamaica hours away

JAMAICA — Green, jungle, white sand beaches, towering mountains, luxury hotels and comfortable inns all combine to make Jamaica an unusual attraction in the Caribbean.

The diversity factor is easy to prove. No other island can claim a 150-mile strip of blue sea and white sand virtually dedicated to the tourist.

The lure must be magnetic, for Jamaica has almost 500,000 annual tourists. Once a winter paradise for millionaires, today Jamaica is an all-year destination, with a price range equally appealing to those of modest means as well as the super-rich.

The north shore, Jamaica's most popular destination for tourists, ranges from Montego Bay eastward to the Ocho Rios area, and beyond to Port Antonio.

The first truly resort-type hotel opened its doors in Montego Bay, Jamaica's tourist "capital," in 1924. Today, well over 100 hotels and inns dot the 135 mile drive from Montego Bay eastward to Port Antonio.

Over 50 hotels are located in the Montego Bay area, certainly the most lavishly-endowed tourist development on the island. There are a host of attractions nearby, including visits to 18th Century Rose Hall, where the notorious Annie Palmer reputedly murdered her three husbands.

Two million dollars were spent on the restoration of Rose Hall, and if the "White Witch of Jamaica" no longer is in residence, today's visitors consider it one of their favorite haunts.

The capital city, Kingston, lies in the southeastern part of the island, and has approximately 500,000 residents in its environs. As a business center its tourist attractions are limited, but Kingston itself provides an excellent base for touring the nearby area.

This winter, Pan American World Airways will serve both Kingston and Montego Bay with direct-daily flights, including a new non-stop service from Chicago which will bring the sun-filled attractions of Jamaica only a few hours flying time from Twin Falls.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's decision to resume heavy bombing of North Vietnam is opposed by a more than 2-1 ratio of the senators it polled, Congressional Quarterly (CQ) said Saturday.

In a copyrighted article, the Capitol Hill digest also said a solid majority of 73 members of next year's Senate would be willing to vote for legislation ordering the President to stop the war.

The CQ said its poll showed 45 opposed to the resumption of the bombing, 19 in favor and 9 with no opinion. On the issue of legislating an end to the war, it said 45 were in favor, 25 opposed and 3 undecided, with 27 members of the new session not reached for comment. Though CQ noted a growing sentiment for disengagement from Vietnam, it said senators "generally were unwilling" to accuse the Administration of deliberately misleading the public on the issue.

Auto use of space fuel goal

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Converting the fuel used in Apollo spacecraft for use in automobiles is an aim of a new research and development program announced by officials at the Boulder facility of Beech Aircraft Corp.

Frank E. Hedrick, Beech president, said the company will build a prototype container system to show the practical application of liquefied natural gas as a fuel source for autos, trucks and buses. It then would be used for environmental testing by government agencies and industrial fleet operators.

Hedrick cited the program as an example of the spinoff benefits from the space program that can be used to solve problems in the future, such as an expected fuel shortage.

Easter Seal Center needs hearing aids

TWIN FALLS — The Easter Seal Speech and Hearing Center is starting a search for abandoned hearing aids.

Many people who need a hearing aid call the center but the Easter Seal Center does not have enough money to buy new ones, according to Mrs. Merle Stoddard, director.

Mrs. Stoddard asks anyone having an unused hearing aid to please donate it to the center.

Mrs. Stoddard said Jack Warberg of Telex donated a hearing aid this week.

Valley students to rodeo board

KING HILL — Terry Parish, son of Mrs. William Carnahan, King Hill, has been elected president of the College of Idaho Rodeo Association.

Plans are being made for a spring rodeo in April, and work is being done around raising projects for the Caldwell rodeo. The Boise State College Rodeo Club is also raising funds toward the project.

The C of I Rodeo Association was organized in 1972 with 17 members. Other officers for 1972-73 are Daryl Santos, Battle Mountain, Nev., vice-president; Sue Billington, Twin Falls, recording secretary; Jo Ann Rayburn, Payette, corresponding secretary; and John Blaye, Twin Falls, treasurer.

MAGIC VALLEY AWNING CO. ... MORE THAN JUST AWNINGS!!

Whether your need lies in skirting, awnings, car parts, or having your mobile home roof resealed, Magic Valley Awning will be able to handle your demands. You can be assured that you are dealing with a reputable Local Firm which believes in servicing what they sell and install.

In the picture above Bill McClure is standing in front of just one example of the custom aluminum work done by this company. This carport was done for Keith Sligar, owner of Northwest Crane, Rigging & Transport Co. It has a span of 20 foot but models are available up to 22 foot span without a supporting beam. Mr. Sligar was very pleased with the ability of his carport to withstand considerable pressure with all the snow and ice we received this past few weeks without a center post.

The bottom portion of the picture is an example of the versatile skirting which is installed by Magic Valley Awning Co. The skirting comes available in 15 different colors and with water lines taped with a heat tape and skirting installed it almost eliminates any chance of pipes freezing. Plus skirting can save $10 to $20 per month on the heating bill, more than enough to pay for the skirting.

The firm is located at 563 Addison Ave. West and the phone number to call for an estimate without obligation is 734-4900.

Idaho saddened by death

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho state officials were saddened today by the death of former President Harry S. Truman but said he will enter the annals of American history as one of the country's greatest leaders.

"America has lost a great man," Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said. "His wife and family have every right to be proud of the mark he has left on the world."

The Governor said as history unfolds Harry Truman will be depicted as one of the truly great presidents of America.

When Truman's train stopped at Boise during the 1948 campaign for the presidency, State Auditor Joe Williams, then postmaster in Boise, was asked to introduce him from the platform.

Today the photograph of Williams and Truman side by side hangs in the auditor's office in the state house.

"I probably knew him as well as anyone in the state," Williams said. "I have always felt that Harry Truman will be written into history as one of the greatest presidents."

Truman had the ability to make the right decision at the right time even though he was under great pressure, Williams said.

"No President has had to make so many big decisions and with so little time," Williams said.

He met Truman for the first time at a Democratic National convention. He said he was particularly struck by the former president's "down to earth" approach to problems. He said Truman came from "grass roots" America and that had a lot to do with his affection for the common man.

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon remembers the time Truman was in Idaho in 1962 helping Democratic candidates.

She said Truman came to Idaho Falls and then the former President and the candidates drove at night behind a state police escort to Blackfoot at what Miss Moon described as a "fast clip."

"We drove at between 80 and 100 miles per hour all the way and those were the days before we had free ways," she said.

"I have always been impressed with him," Miss Moon said. "He had a 'grass roots' understanding of people and government."

The treasurer said Truman was one of the greatest men America has had and "history will record this fact."

Attorney General Tony Park called Truman a "Man of great courage who was not afraid to grapple with the most serious crises."

"Perhaps his greatest attribution was his unique bond with the common man of this country," Park said. "It is already assured that he will go down in history as one of the country's greatest presidents."

Park said Truman has been an inspiration to him since he was a little boy. He said he admired him because he came from humble origins and rose to the highest post in the land.

Valley Comment

Harry Truman

Mrs. Fred Gilbert, Filer:
I think he was the greatest person we ever had. I can't think of anything specific right now, but I liked the way he handled the end of the war. I just liked the way he was President."

Paul Fee, Twin Falls:
"I thought he was a great man. I liked his decisiveness. He didn't take a lot of time messing around. He just made up his mind and did what he wanted to do."

C. E. Anderson, Twin Falls:
"I thought he was a fine man. He did a lot of good things that weren't recognized until it was too late. He handled things in a presidential manner. When he had to make up his mind he did it."

W. W. Frantz, Twin Falls:
"He appointed me postmaster here in 1948. I thought a great deal of that man. I liked his eagerness, by that I mean if he had something to do or something to say he said it. When he spoke he meant every word of what he said. I voted for him, I'm a Democrat, you know, and I'm quite an admirer of him."

Pete Youngberg, Twin Falls:
I think he was a good president, especially in the way he made decisions, like ending World War II. I didn't vote for him because I didn't think so then, but I think he'll be a real great president. Historians will judge him well."

Police investigate TF vending machine thefts

TWIN FALLS — Thieves committed a rash of vending machine thefts in Twin Falls Christmas eve, opening or attempting to open at least 11 machines, mostly soda pop vendors.

According to police reports, the thefts were first reported at 1:40 a.m. Christmas morning. Police began checking with local service stations and turned up almost a dozen of the petty larcenies.

Not all attempts to break into the outdoor vending machines were successful. In some cases the machines were damaged but no money was removed.

Police are continuing investigation into the thefts. No estimate of the amount of money actually taken is available.

The local businesses hit by the thieves, according to preliminary reports were:

Don's Conoco Service, 361 Main Ave. W., money taken from outdoor vending machine.

Neil's 66 Service, 464 Main Ave. N., unsuccessful break-in, machine damaged.

Vern's 76 Service, 507 Main Ave. W., money taken from vending machine.

Gerry's Chevron Service, 542 Main Ave. N., unsuccessful attempt to rob vending machine. Machine damaged.

Monoco Gas, 169 Addison Ave. W., money box emptied in outdoor vending machine.

Kemper and Mattice Texaco Service, 404 Shoshone St. W., coin box broken into, money taken.

Sam Thomas, Chevron Station, 465 Addison Ave. W., unsuccessful attempt to rob vending machine. Machine damaged.

Gas for Less, 202 Washington St., vending machine opened, money taken.

Magic Wand Car Wash, 341 Addison Ave. W., some money taken, attempts to break into change machines unsuccessful, vacuum cleaners damaged.

Best Buy Auto Sales, 601 2nd Ave. S., coin box on soda vending machine emptied.

Preliminary police reports indicate that Holiday Inn Gulf Service, 1390 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., may also have been victimized, although this has not been confirmed.

MV ski resorts operating daily

TWIN FALLS — Ski reports are all operating on a daily basis in Magic Valley this week with conditions ranging from fair to excellent.

Magic Mountain reports three inches of new snow as of Monday, with excellent conditions on a total depth of three and one half to four feet of snow. Buses run at 9 a.m. daily from Newton's Sports Center.

Soldier Mountain now has 23 inches total depth with runs packed to about 12 to 14 inches at the top and skiing is fair to excellent. Buses run daily from Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding.

Pomerelle also reports several inches of new snow with excellent conditions. Latest reports indicate about 18 inches of snow at the lodge with up to four feet of snow at the top of runs.

Sun Valley has 14 inches of snow at the top and at the Roundhouse with only a light covering on the lower runs. Skiing is reported good on upper runs and poor at the lower elevations.

Tax deadline set tonight

TWIN FALLS — Personal property tax payments can still be mailed tonight and if postmarked Dec. 26 will beat the deadline and avoid interest and penalty payments.

Ruth K. Jones, Twin Falls county treasurer and tax collector, said the payments must be made before 5 p.m. in her office or mailed before midnight to be acceptable under state law.

The county this year will be collecting about $366,000 in personal taxes which includes trailer houses, improvements on leased lands, and other non-real estate property.

Boise hearing slated

BOISE (UPI) — The question of whether the department of Social and Rehabilitative Services should be enjoined for failure to pay reasonable sums for care of nursing home patients will be heard at a hearing Jan. 17 in Federal District Court.

U. S. District Judge Ray McNichols scheduled the hearing in the suit, which was filed Wednesday by a number of Idaho hospitals.

Department Director Dr. John Marks said Thursday that funding for nursing home care in the hospitals is inadequate because of the level of legislative funding.

Area Scouts tour Hawaii

JEROME — A year of hard work and determination has resulted in a Christmas trip to Hawaii for members of Jerome Explorer Scout Post 36.

The trip started about a year ago when the boys decided to do something different and came up with the idea of taking a Christmas vacation trip to Hawaii.

The money to help finance the trip was raised by the boys themselves, through post projects and working on their own. Some of their projects included the raising of five acres of sweet corn and red potatoes which they harvested and sold in the Ketchum-Sun Valley area.

The troop sponsored one of the largest fireworks display ever held in Magic Valley on July 3.

They spent the summer hauling and stacking hay for different farmers in the Jerome area.

Robert Jensen, Explorer leader, said the boys, half of whom are Eagle Scouts, left Boise Monday morning and go to Honolulu then on to the island of Hilo, where they will tour the island by car for two days.

From there the troop will leave from the port of Kona to go to the island of Kauai, the garden isle, then to Oahu.

Jensen said the troop plans to tour live volcanoes, the Grand Canyon of the Pacific, the Royal Hawaiian Shipwreck Slide, where the boys can climb to the top and slide down into a clear pool. Waikiki Beach and many other spots are on the agenda. There will be lots of time for swimming and sunning on the different beaches, according to Jensen.

While the boys are in Hawaii they will camp in the state parks and will be the guest of two different LDS wards located on the islands.

The group will attend the LDS Church services on the island of Kauai as well as visit the LDS Church college, temple and the Polynesian Cultural Center at Laie.

One of the high points of the trip will be a two-day cruise on a naval vessel.

Officers making the trip are Frank Larson, president; Leon Peterson, vice president; Fred Larson, secretary-treasurer, and Bruce Ford, historian.

Others going include the advisers Steve Dixon, John Darrington Walt Thueson and Jensen.

Other troop members include Rex A. Thomason, Nolan Peterson, Kenneth Sorensen, David Hadlock, Jon Adamson, J. D. Tolman, Ray Amoureux and Rick Griffith.

The troop is scheduled to return on Jan. 5.

New Congress faces same old familiar problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new Congress looks at old problems starting next month, including a rekindled Vietnam war that appeared on the verge of settlement when the 92nd Congress went into the history books on Oct. 18.

Most of last year's 335 lawmakers will be back when the 93rd Congress convenes next Wednesday (Jan. 3) but there will be 69 new faces.

The issues will be equally familiar — tax-reform vs. tax increase, free or nearly free health insurance, welfare, housing, highways, the environment and busing.

The White House has already said it will push anew for most of the Nixon proposals that the last Congress either rejected or ignored. Meantime Democrats, who continue to control both the House and Senate, have vowed to try to reclaim Congress' role as the third co-equal branch of government.

If no truce has been achieved in Vietnam a month from now, there will be an early — and probably unsuccessful — congressional effort to legislate an end to the war.

The Senate last year pushed through several "end the war" resolutions only to see them defeated in the House and a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats. Most of the same southerners are back and Republicans have added 13 new seats to their old House strength of 179, retaining many conservative, pro-administration seats.

The big legislative questions marks again involve domestic issues.

The President still wants welfare reform. But Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, says that issue has been put on the back burner while his panel concentrates on tax reform, which Nixon says he will not seek.

Mills pushed Nixon's welfare reform bill through the House in 1971, only to see it dismantled in the Senate. That was more than a year later and the White House itself had cooled by then toward its own proposals. John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's chief domestic affairs spokesman, said after the election that the administration probably would now seek tougher work requirements in welfare reform.

Mills said tax reform might tie up his panel for six months or more. Reformers pressured Mills into this promise last year when they relented in their efforts to close so-called "loopholes" that would produce new revenue and avoid a tax increase. Nixon wants the federal government to help relieve local property taxes and won approval last year of his general revenue sharing program which is aimed in that direction.

Ehrlichman said Nixon now will push for special revenue sharing programs — education for instance, which would replace current aid programs with a flat, no strings grants to local and state governments.

Nixon has pledged not to increase taxes but says Congress might force an increase if it continues to spend more than his budget proposals. Nixon wanted a $250 billion spending ceiling this year but Congress balked. That fight will resume with the President impounding funds voted by Congress if he considers such action necessary.

Democrats, who have fought the same battle in the past with Presidents of their own party, see a greater challenge in Nixon. Some Democrats claim he has made Congress a whipping boy when it refused to go along with White House proposals.

Other economic matters facing Congress include Nixon's intention to seek a continuation of wage and price controls, tariff revisions to relieve a balance of payments deficit and enactment of tax credits for parents who send their children to private schools.

Nixon also has said he intends to revive the busing issue. His plan for an 18-month moratorium on any new court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance in public schools was talked to death by senate liberals.

Congress last year did pass the toughest antibusing bill yet enacted. It said court-ordered busing could not be implemented until all legal appeals were exhausted. This satisfied neither Nixon or congressional antibusing forces. The latter will push again for a constitutional amendment to ban busing to achieve racial balance.

Tied to the busing fight will be efforts to pass massive general aid to schools. The big, landmark Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 is up for renewal next year and will be the vehicle for the general aid proposals.

Some legislators want to pump more money into basic grant programs because of scattered court rulings that use of local property taxes for education is unconstitutional.

Pound may be extinct

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The British pound, the French franc and the Italian lira may someday be as extinct as the Confederate dollar.

In their place may stand a single European currency.

It won't happen tomorrow, but it could come to pass by 1980, if the European Common Market has its way. The odds are strong that it will — especially since a summit meeting of the nine market nations in October endorsed the idea of a single currency.

The plan holds obvious advantages for American tourists trying to keep their money straight during a nine-countries-in-eight-days tour of Europe. More important, it is a key to the Common Market's crucial next step — its transformation into a single economy.

The Common Market is not a Common Market yet but only a customs union. Beyond that, it is only six separate economies — soon to become nine — which try to cooperate as much as possible.

Market officials say it is necessary now to build a truly unified European economy if the Common Market is to become an industrial superpower on the American scale. The program to achieve that is called "economic and monetary union."

In the words of British Economist Paul Barreau, this implies a common "economic policy, budgets and fiscal measures, monetary policy and central banking operations."

And most of all, a common currency.

The reason is simple. In a truly Common Market like the United States, a banker in New York can loan a million dollars to a factory in California and know that the money will have the same value when it is paid back since both states use the same currency. Europeans cannot do this.

European industry can grow now, according to the experts, only with much more cross-frontier cooperation and all-European firms. This means that factories and bankers must deal in many different currencies but because rates of exchange shift constantly, no one can plan with confidence.

For instance, if a multinational company wants to transfer funds from Germany to France, it is possible that, between the time of decision and the time of transfer, the funds could be worth up to 2.5 per cent more or less. In such a situation, planning — much less accounting — is a problem.

US farm population drops

Tuesday, December 26, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 19

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A statistical quirk in a still-unpublished government survey will produce results appearing to show a slight increase in the nation's farm population this year.

But privately, Agriculture Department experts believe the number of Americans celebrating Christmas on farms this year probably is down again to the lowest level since about 1835.

The department's annual estimate of farm population in April, not yet officially published, will show about 9.5 million persons living on farms, or about 4.6 per cent of the total population.

This would be about 57,000 above the 1971 farm population estimate of 9,425,000 persons, also 4.6 per cent of total population. The indicated increase is the first shown since 1955 when the 19,078,000 estimate was up 59,000 from the previous year.

However, one Agriculture Department population specialist said the increase shown for 1972 probably is a result of a chance "sampling error" which statisticians know can occur within predictable limits in all sampling surveys.

The procedures used in the department's annual farm population sampling can allow a variation of 250,000 persons, the expert explained. He said all signs indicate that despite the 1972 survey results, the farm population probably did not go up this year and likely declined slightly.

Agriculture Department records show, however, that the rate of decline in the farm population has been slowing in recent years. Between 1960 and 1961, for example, the number of people living on farms dropped by 832,000. From 1970 to 1971, the decline was only 287,000.

Current estimates of farm population of about 15 million. The same number of farmers in 1973 have provided enough food to serve Christmas dinners to a total population of about 208 million.

The 9.5 million Americans living on farms in 1972, according to these estimates, were feeding a total U.S. population of about 15 million.

Rogerson, has been elected a member of the American Angus Association, according to Lloyd D. Miller, executive secretary. The association is based at St. Joseph, Mo.

BOISE (UPI) — The potato crop in Idaho is estimated to be about two per cent larger than production last year, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The service said the crop should be about 78,795,000 cwt. Storage and handling charges should be deducted to arrive at net price to the grower. All prices are based on U.S. No. 1 grade.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a practical joker. Before I realized what a nut he was, I nearly had a couple of heart attacks. When we were married a short time, we had our first argument and I stormed out of the house to go to the grocery store. When I came home I found him all sprawled out on the kitchen floor with the dog's leash around his neck. His eyes were rolled back and his tongue was hanging out as tho he had hanged himself. When I screamed and fell on him, he got up, laughing! I didn't speak to him for two days.

Again (after another disagreement), he put a lot of pillows in our bed and covered them in the shape of a man. Then he poured some catsup on top of it to look like blood, and in the middle of the man he stuck a butcher knife. When I walked in and saw it I nearly fainted, then my husband came out of the closet laughing!

Jokes to punish

Tell me, do I have a poor sense of humor, or should this man be locked up?
LENNY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I see nothing wrong with your sense of humor, but your husband is obviously using these little jokes to punish you.

DEAR ABBY: A doctor's home is about to be broken up by a little homewrecker who is on her third try for a doctor. I know, because my husband was one of the doctors she tried to get.

She is a nurse and my husband confessed to me that he had succumbed to her charms a few times last summer while I was out of town.

This woman nearly broke up a 30-year marriage a few years ago when she and her boss (a doctor old enough to be her father) got into an automobile accident. He claimed he was taking her home, but the accident occurred miles out in the country.

Now this woman has been slipping around with a young doctor whose wife isn't aware of what's going on, and nobody wants to tell her. There are small children involved.

I told my husband I think I should tip off his wife. He says I should mind my own business. What should I do?
KENTUCKY CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: I'd say my husband's prescription.

DEAR ABBY: We have a son who will be 8 years old soon. Almost all his friends have bicycles, and Jeff wants one very much. Jeff is a nail biter, and we have told him he could not have a bike until he quits biting his nails—and the day I had to cut his nails for him I would let him pick out any bike he wanted.

Today I got a letter from my parents saying they bought a bike for Jeff's birthday! I am not positive, but I feel certain they knew of our deal with Jeff.

If we do let my parents give Jeff the bike, what about our deal with him? Our pediatrician says not to make too much of Jeff's nail biting—it's just a nervous habit, and we should be glad it's not something worse.

What is your opinion?

DEAR PROBLEM: If your parents knew of your deal with Jeff, shame on them. In any case, tell them about the deal and insist on their cooperation.

And, in the future, take your pediatrician's advice. In addition to Jeff's "nervous habit" of nail biting, he could develop a feeling of unworthiness, guilt, and shame, which would compound his problem.

Hagerman pair set open house

HAGERMAN — Mr. and Mrs. John S. Townsend Sr. will be honored Wednesday at a reception on the occasion of their 46th Wedding Anniversary.

Open house will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Hagerman United Methodist Church. The family cordially invites friends and relatives to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Townsend were married Dec. 27, 1926, at the local Methodist Church. Mrs. Townsend is the former Sybil Parks.

Sons and daughters are John S. Townsend Jr., Blackfoot; Edgar R. Townsend, Moscow; Mrs. David (Gwen) Thorne, Tooele, Utah; Mrs. Lee (Charlotte) Allen, Palmer, Alaska; and Mrs. Ed (Lenora) Pepin, Anchorage, Alaska.

They have 18 grandchildren. The Townsends ran a dairy farm near Hagerman for many years while their family was growing up.

In the summer of 1957, they went to Alaska to visit relatives. The visit lasted 13 years as Mrs. Townsend accepted a teaching position at Elmendorf A.F.B., Anchorage, and Townsend was employed by the city of Anchorage.

They returned to Hagerman Valley 19 years ago.

Proceeds given

Wood River Grange party

SHOSHONE — The Wood River Center Grange annual Christmas party was held Saturday with 75 members and guests attending.

Mrs. Reid Newby was in charge of the program, which included songs and recitations. Fruit cakes were given as gifts and Santa Claus made a visit with treats for all children present.

A monetary gift, donated from adults in the grange, went to the Idaho Youth Ranch.

Mrs. Donald Sandy, women's activity chairman, was in charge of serving refreshments.

Governor offers eagles

BOISE — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has offered to give to zoos throughout the Nation, 13 huge eagles, often called by the Indians "Kings of the Wind."

Andrus made the offer in letters addressed to the governors of the 49 other states. The birds, Andrus said, are "healthy, but handicapped eagles, all victims of careless or vicious gunmen."

Seven of the 13 are disabled," he said. "Many are amputees, missing parts of wings and feet. All can hop and jump about, and some can even fly, but their ability to hunt has been destroyed. If an eagle cannot hunt, he dies.

Hospitals reluctant to admit alcohol patients

(This is the second of a three-part series of alcoholism written by UPI's family news editor.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI) — "The reluctance of hospitals to admit patients with alcohol or other drug problems is often based on the misconception that...special facilities are required for their care. The truth is they are not."

The American Hospital Association, preaching this to its members, for nearly 25 years, finally has hit the jackpot. Many hospitals have stopped giving drunks a cold shoulder. Hospital programs vary in this era of new policy toward alcoholics.

Roosevelt Hospital's Alcoholism Service in New York provides both in-patient and out-patient service. The program, headed by Dr. LeClair Bissell, is considered a model for other hospitals. The average stay for in-patients is 13 days. Medical (detoxification) and psychological treatment are provided. A scatter-bed system mingles alcoholic patients with regular ones. AA meetings are attended by discharged patients and those under treatment.

Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge, Ill., runs a 30-day multi-faceted program which begins after detoxification.

Films and therapy are utilized. An associated program involved teen-age children of alcoholics. At Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, a social worker-psychiatrist team takes over from the emergency room upon the arrival of an alcoholic. Rehabilitation plans are worked out.

Mendocino State Hospital in Talmage, Calif. has a large center that in a year admits up to 3,000 patients. After detoxification, the patient is given his choice of seven treatment routes that stress different areas of therapy, both vocational and psychological.

St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C., operated by Uncle Sam, runs a program utilizing group therapy, vocational training, AA.

The Georgian Clinic in Atlanta is testing a program of night treatment for alcoholic patients who work during the day.

Northwestern Hospital in Minneapolis recently opened a 28-bed alcoholism center whose innovative radial design stimulates desocialized alcoholics to associate with one another in a centralized lounge.

Beth Israel Medical Center in New York City has a program funded through the New York City Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services and the New York

State Department of Mental Hygiene. There is a 25-bed detoxification center; an outpatient clinic for 500; a therapeutic recovery house with educational, therapeutic and counseling services.

Sinai Hospital in Baltimore has a newly established screening system in the emergency room that spots alcoholics and directs them into group therapy under professional psychiatric counseling. Johns Hopkins Hospital of Baltimore provides after care at four half-way houses which bridge the gap between hospital discharge and return to the community.

Memorial Hospital in Long Beach, Calif., is the first in Southern California to establish a non-governmental treatment center to serve alcoholics in the Los Angeles area. Stress is placed on the one-to-one relationship with recovered alcoholics on the staff. AA conducts orientation sessions and Alanon Family Group meets in the center to orient families to the problems of treatment and care of the alcoholic.

Missouri Baptist Hospital in St. Louis maintains a self-care unit for alcoholics. This hospital, through the work of Dr. Joseph Kendis, was one of the first to admit patients with the diagnosis of alcoholism.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Continuing with our series of bad plays and bids by life masters in the fall nationals we come to one by a nameless South that certainly constituted a delightful Christmas gift to his opponents.

North's two-diamond call was not the old fashioned rock crusher most players are used to but merely a good hand with length in the major suits. Actually his hand was far stronger than it might have been in the system he and his partner were using so that his only hesitation after West jammed the bidding by his five-diamond call was between five and six spades. Since his side missed two aces, the five-spade decision was certainly the correct one.

West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the queen of clubs.

South won; led a trump to his queen and went into a trance when West showed out. He could have played a second trump and claimed but life master South was in a fog and somehow or other had credited East with a third trump. So he played an extra round of trumps and could not claim any more.

The hand was still a cinch since hearts were going to break nicely but by now, South's dream world was one of nightmares. He led a heart from dummy and after East played low, South produced the 10-spot.

East made a surprise trick with the jack and East and West had their Christmas present of a top score.

Shoshone gives services

SHOSHONE — Christmas has been made a little more meaningful for patients at the Wood River Convalescent Center by "gifts of service" from community people.

Mrs. Leola Davis, activity director for the center, said among the services rendered have been special music.

Joylean Johnson, of the Lincoln school played the piano and sang, having been given transportation there by Mrs. F. N. Stowell; Austin Webb played the piano for the group; a game period was conducted by Mrs. Mamie Peak, Mrs. Hazel Powell and Mrs. Lela Gardner; T. V. Strunk and the Old Time Fiddlers band played one afternoon and M. J. Dille was featured with his "one-man-band."

A number of groups have gone to the center caroling, Mrs. Davis points out, and thanks all who have helped in any way.

Aids swim pool plans

SHOSHONE — Funds raised from the sale of an afghan made by Mrs. Mae Adams amounted to $69.50, earmarked for the county swimming pool project. The Grosse Drug Store furnished yarn for the afghan, and it was on display there for several weeks. Donald Runberg was winner of the afghan, Gilbert Pierson, owner of the drug store, said.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the second consecutive session, the market moved higher on the New York Stock Exchange today as investors got over their initial disappointment with the breakdown of the Paris peace talks and resumption of U.S. bombing over North Vietnamese cities. Trading was moderate.

Shortly before noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 selected industrial issues was up 5.99 at 1,005.04. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained .32 to 116.15. The advance was not broad, with advancing issues leading declining issues, 603 to 543, among the 1,514 on the tape.

Two-hour volume came to more than 4,400,000 shares, compared to 5,130,000 shares in the same period Friday.

The exchange observed two minutes of silence in respect for former President Harry S. Truman who died today.

Gulf Oil was the most active issue, up 1/4 to 27 on 82,600 shares. Boise Cascade was second, up 1/4 to 10 1/2 on 51,900 shares. The company said Bendix would buy a Boise Cascade unit for about $64.1 million.

Matsushita Electric Industries was third, up 1/4 to 31 1/4 on 49,300 shares.

Mountain Fuel Supply jumped 4 points. The company said Tuesday a well in southwestern Wyoming produced a significant flow of natural gas.

Horizon Corp., the fund developer, was active and off 1. The company reported a sharply lower second quarter net.

'Skins see Brown as edge on Dallas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Redskins, who spent Christmas Day with visions of the Super Bowl dancing in their heads, know they will have one edge they didn't have last time against the Dallas Cowboys in Sunday's climactic NFC title match.

Tough, elusive Larry Brown, who sat out the Redskins' 34-24 loss to the Cowboys on Dec. 9 with leg injuries, will be ready for Sunday's battle against Dallas in Robert F. Kennedy Stadium that will decide the NFC berth in the Super Bowl.

The Cowboys will be attempting to return to pro football's biggest attraction for an unprecedented third straight season while the Redskins and their controversial coach, George Allen, will be trying to make it for the first time ever.

Washington's 16-3 playoff win over the Green Bay Packers Sunday was their first playoff triumph in 30 years and it was the first for Allen as a head coach in four tries.

Brown, who led NFC rushers with 1,216 yards, even though he played in only the first 12 games, says he's physically at only 90 per cent, but that's better than 100 per cent for most backs.

The Packers couldn't tell he was 10 per cent below top efficiency Sunday when he squirmed and wiggled his way to 101 yards in 25 carries despite missing the last two minutes of the first half when he limped off the field.

The scabback, who has a hearing aid in his helmet and was once thought to be too small for pro ball, came back to play the second half with a strained knee and the Packers couldn't contain him.

Brown, who takes a fearful beating in most games because he's only 5-11 and 195, said, "It wasn't until about 7 p.m. on Sunday night that I could really sit back and appreciate what we had accomplished. Until then, I was just recuperating and still catching my breath. I'm probably about only 90 per cent but I'll be ready for the Cowboy game. You've got to play in the playoffs."

With Brown in the lineup, quarterback Billy Kilmer can play what he calls "Redskin football." That's also George Allen's football. Allen is a defensive specialist and Charlie Harraway, Brown's running mate, says the coach devotes "about five minutes a day" to the offense.

While Allen concentrates on having his defense stop the opposing offense, Allen wants his own offense to play it safe, conservative and not to take any chances that could lead to mistakes. And that's why he likes Kilmer at quarterback.

Kilmer, a bachelor who has somewhat of a flamboyant reputation off the field, quipped about the Dallas game, "I'm glad we're playing football on New Year's Eve; it will keep me off the streets." Kilmer was even brash enough to say publicly that Washington's No. 1 fan, President Nixon, was hurting the Redskin cause by psyching up their opponents.

But there's nothing brash about Kilmer on the field. The quarterback, who passed on first down against Green Bay the first two times the Redskins had the ball, puts the ball in the air to keep the defense honest and lets Brown do the rest with his aggressive running.

The Redskins beat Dallas, 24-20, in their first meeting with Brown in the lineup and they think that was more than just a coincidence.

Defense, of course, is Allen's

Morrall-led march quieted discontent in Miami crowd

MIAMI (UPI)—As the Miami Dolphins' attack sputtered in the first half Sunday, you could hear the buzzing among the 80,010 fans in the Orange Bowl.

"Why doesn't he try Griese?" said one woman. "I don't see why Griese's not in there," said a man. "He's not even warming him up," complained another.

But midway in the fourth quarter, 28-year-old quarterback Earl Morrall shut everybody up by directing the Dolphins on a determined 80-yard scoring drive. It meant a satisfying, if less than artistic, 20-14 win over Cleveland in the AFC playoff opener and Morrall retained his title as "the Earl of Miami."

And since Miami Dolphin Coach Don Shula is more interested in winning than in art, Morrall will start next Sunday against Pittsburgh in the AFC title showdown at Three Rivers Stadium.

"Earl will start in Pittsburgh," was Shula's flat statement Monday.

Shula did admit to a temptation to go to the younger Bob Griese against Cleveland as he watched Morrall complete only three of nine first half passes for a net gain of 10 yards. His completions totaled 21 yards, but he lost 10 yards when he was nailed twice trying to find a receiver.

Morrall hit three of four passes in the second half, winding up with six completions in 13 attempts for 74 yards.

Griese, who dislocated and broke his ankle Oct. 15, was activated more than two weeks ago for the New York Giant game, but because his injury has not quite healed, his only appearance was a brief one in the season finale against Baltimore when the game was already won.

Both Shula and Griese have

Noll got Christmas present, hoping for New Year's treat

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—What does Chuck Noll want on the Seventh Day of Christmas?

"Oh, is that really a question?" Noll laughed into the telephone Monday.

The Seventh Day of Christmas is New Year's Eve, and that's the day Noll's Pittsburgh Steelers play the Miami Dolphins for the American Football Conference championship in Pittsburgh.

"Actually, I got just about everything I want for Christmas," the 40-year-old candidate for AFC "Coach of the Year" honors said. "It's really been a great holiday."

"Things have been good for me—like Saturday," he said, referring to the minor Christmas "miracle" which allowed the Steelers to defeat the Oakland Raiders in an AFC playoff with five seconds remaining on the Three Rivers Stadium clock.

The play, perhaps the most controversial in NFL playoff history, was on a pass deflected by the Raiders' Jim Tatum, which bounded seven yards back up field into the arms of rookie Franco Harris. Harris made a shoestring catch, shot past a defender, and ran 30 yards into the end zone. The Raiders, including Coach John Madden, contended the ball actually hit the shoulder pad of intended receiver "Frenchy" Fuqua.

The touchdown came less than a minute after the Raiders' Ken Stabler was pressured out of his passing pocket and raced 30 yards for a score which put Oakland ahead 7-6.

"You bet I went to church Sunday after that one," Noll said lightly.

Madden, who said he was informed NFL officials approved the touchdown after viewing a television replay monitor in the press box, alleged that field officials wouldn't have altered the call because Steeler fans who had rushed onto the field "might have killed them."

League officials said the decision was made on the field. Noll said he understood "the officials called upstairs to see what they thought and then called in on the field."

"I saw it on a replay and it looked perfectly legal to me," Noll said. "And the fans were not angry, just happy."

Noll was informed Monday he pet project and he'll be retooling it this week to stop Dallas' versatile attack. All the talk after the Green Bay game was about the "quarter" defense in which the Redskins used a five-man defensive front to limit John Brockington to nine yards in 13 carries and smother the Green Bay running game with a total of 78 yards rushing.

There was quite a furor in the second Dallas-Washington game over Allen's charge that he thought the crackback block Lance Alworth threw at Jack Pardee was illegal. The charge annoyed the Cowboys because Chuck Howley was sidelined for the season in that game by Charley Taylor's crackback block.

But Dallas brushed off Allen's charge as one of Allen's psychological tricks.

"That was just a smoke-screen by Allen to cover up the fact that Washington lost the game," Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said.

A record crowd of 53,140 that included Henry Kissinger, Senator Edmund Muskie, Joe DiMaggio and Mrs. Ethel Kennedy watched the Green Bay-Washington game that was the first pro football playoff game in the capital city since 1942. Another sellout crowd is expected for the Dallas game and that is bound to start another controversy this week about the local TV blackout.

But Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, rejected an appeal from President Nixon last week and Supreme Court Justice Warren Burger turned down a last-minute legal appeal Sunday morning, so the Washington fans who can't get tickets will have to be content to listen on the radio or try to pick up a Baltimore television station.

insisted that the youthful but experienced quarterback who led the Dolphins into the Super Bowl last year has not been ready. But now Shula says the time may be coming.

"Each week Griese is getting more and more time to heal and get back in the groove," Shula said Monday.

Shula pointed out that the Dolphins' offensive frustrations Sunday were not necessarily Morrall's fault. He said receivers were having trouble getting open and the underrated Brown front four was giving the Miami offensive line fits at times.

"One time Jim Kiick tripped over a linebacker," Shula said. "Other times the protection just flat broke down."

One can't feel too sorry for Shula. His dilemma is who to start—this year's AFC passing leader or last year's AFC passing leader.

N.Y. outlasts Pistons 113-110

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Bradley, Dave DeBusschere and Walt Frazier combined for 73 points, and the New York Knicks held off a brilliant Detroit Pistons' rally Monday night to win their 12th consecutive home game, 113-110.

With 6:44 remaining in the game, the Knicks led 103-80, but Dave Bing, who had the game high of 35 points, hit for eight of them during a 21-4 Detroit spurt that reduced the Pistons' deficit to 107-101 with 2:58 to play.

North rallies to beat South 17-10

MIAMI (UPI)—The North came from behind with two touchdowns in the final period Christmas Night in the Orange Bowl to win a game of turnovers 17-10 over the South in the annual Shrine College All-Star football clash.

The Southerners were the victims of their own mistakes, coughing up the ball seven times to the Yankee defenders. California's Bill Armstrong intercepted a pass thrown by South quarterback John Made-ya of Louisville and ran it back 27 yards to set the North in position at the South 10-yard line for a tying touchdown. Wisconsin's fireplug-sized runner Rufus Ferguson, who won the North's most valuable player award, collected it in four straight cracks at the line, going over from the two with 13:50 left in the final quarter.

The South turned the ball over again moments later when the University of Miami's Chuck Foreman fumbled at midfield and Villanova's Kevin Reilly recovered. Purdue quarterback Gary Danielson marched his Yankees to the South 14 from where Bob McCall flitted untouched on a weak-side left run for the winning score with 7:39 left in the game. Marvin Roberts of Michigan State booted his second conversion.

Roberts also kicked a 23-yard field goal in the opening minutes of the game, a score that was set up by Purdue's Gary Bingham who stole a south pass thrown by Joe Ferguson of Arkansas and ran it back 37 yards.

And it was Bingham who saved victory for the North by recovering Foreman's second fumble of the game with 58 seconds remaining three yards in front of the North's goal.

Foreman was the South's leading rusher and gained his team's most valuable player award despite his costly fumbles.

Ferguson, who suffered three first-half interceptions, put together a 59-yard drive in 11 plays that led to the South's only touchdown with 6:10 remaining in the second period. Ferguson hit on four of nine throws, tossing an 18-yarder to David Knight of William and Mary for a touchdown.

Madden seething over fluke defeat

OAKLAND (UPI)—John Madden, still seething two days after his Oakland Raiders were knocked out of the National Football League playoffs by the most controversial play in years, said Monday he was positive his team "was had."

After spending part of Christmas Eve viewing films of the final seconds of the Oakland-Pittsburgh game during which time Franco Harris of the Steelers scooped up a deflected pass and scored the game-winning touchdown, the Raider coach said he was positive defensive back Jack Tatum did not touch the ball. If Tatum had not touched the ball, the pass should have been ruled incomplete with the Raiders holding a 7-6 edge with just five seconds left on the clock.

Instead, referee Fred Swearingen, after consultation with NFL officials in the pressbox, ruled Tatum had indeed deflected the ball into the hands of Harris and that the touchdown stood for the Steelers' 13-7 victory, Saturday.

"What Jack did was give him (Frenchy Fuqua, the intended receiver) a good shot from behind as the ball hit him on the shoulder pad," Madden explained. "And then, after the ball went to Harris, they clipped Phil Villapiano (Raider linebacker)."

"But there was no way they were going to call it the other way with all those people out on the field. They couldn't have any other decision with all those wild people on the field. Something would have happened. Those people might have killed them (the officials)."

Madden also insisted that NFL officials in the pressbox established precedent by making the touchdown decision from the television instant replay.

"The officials told me they didn't know what happened," Madden said. "And they were going to check upstairs to see what it was. The referee went in to use the dugout telephone and when he came out, he called it a touchdown."

Oakland writers said Steeler Public Relations Director Joe Gordon told reporters in the pressbox that the NFL officials had made the decision from the replay. However, NFL officials denied it.

"The decision was made on the field," said Val Pinchback of the NFL.

Line

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Harrah's Tahoe racebook Monday listed the Miami Dolphins as 2 1-2 point favorites over Pittsburgh and Washington a 3 1-2 point choice over Dallas in the NFL playoff games next Sunday.

Warfield didn't overlook Browns

MIAMI (UPI) — Some of the Miami Dolphins may have taken the Cleveland Browns a little lightly, but not Paul Warfield. He knew better.

Lucky thing for the Dolphins he did. It enabled them to run off their 15th straight victory, stay on the track to the Super Bowl and bring them right up to next Sunday's AFC finale with Pittsburgh by coming from behind in the last quarter to beat the battling Browns, 20-14.

Warfield was traded to Miami by Cleveland in 1970 for a first round draft choice, which turned out to be Mike Phipps. An all-league wide receiver at the time of the trade, Warfield continued living in Cleveland.

When the Browns beat the Dolphins 28-0 after he joined Miami, life around his home became a little difficult for Paul. "People just let me know they didn't think the Dolphins were capable of handling a club like the Browns."

A week ago, Warfield said he wasn't letting any emotionalism get in the way of his preparations for the game with Cleveland.

"I lied when I said that," Paul admitted after Sunday's victory.

"Before the game, I didn't want to talk about how much it meant to me but it was special."

"Every night this week," said the slender receiver, "I slept a couple of hours less than I usually do. And the sleep I had wasn't very restful. I couldn't get the Browns off my mind for five minutes all week."

The lost sleep didn't seem to bother him when the time of reckoning came — eight minutes to go and the Dolphins behind 14-13.

Warfield accounted for 50 of the 80 yards that brought the Dolphins into the end zone for the winning touchdown, on two receptions and an interference penalty against him that moved the ball to the 8-yard line. Jim Kick scored from there and the defense sealed it in the final minute with a fifth interception of a Phipps pass.

Miami, with the best rushing record in NFL history, was flat for the game with the Browns. could it be the Dolphins had bought some of Cleveland's poor mouthing?

Cleveland owner Art Modell, for instance, had said before the game "I hope we can get through the national Anthem."

Warfield wasn't fooled by that.

"They came in trying to lull us to sleep, saying they were just happy to be here, and all that," said Warfield. "Well, back in 1964, when I was with the Browns and we played Baltimore for the world championship, we were in the same position as the Browns were this time."

"All we heard all week was how great the Colts were. And we laid it on them 27-0. You've got to be leary of teams that low-rate themselves."

Milwaukee outscrapes Omaha by 104-99

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored five straight points after the Kansas City-Omaha Kings had roared from behind to tie the game with five minutes left, propelling the Milwaukee Bucks to a hard-earned 104-99 victory Monday night.

Abdul-Jabbar repeatedly worked inside in the late going, scoring 10 of Milwaukee's last 17 points. The 7-2 center led all scorers with 32 points.

The Kings sped from an 89-83 deficit to tie the game at 95-95 on a bucket by Don Kojis with 5:02 to go. But Abdul-Jabbar hit with 3:58 to play and came back with a three-point play at the 3:28 mark to lock up the victory.

Nate Archibald led the Kings with 20 points and 18 assists.

USC's Davis gets award

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Anthony Davis, the University of Southern California's sensational sophomore running back, was named winner of the W.J. Voit award today as the Pacific Coast's outstanding player of the year.

Davis was to receive the 22nd annual Voit award at the Tournament of Roses football writers luncheon here.

The 5-foot-9, 185-pound tailback led the Pacific Eight Conference in rushing with 1,034 yards and in scoring with 108 points. He ran for six touchdowns and a total of 368 yards, including three kickoff returns totaling 218 yards, in number one-ranked USC's 45-23 win over Notre Dame Dec. 2.

Tournament play dominates college ball

By United Press International
Christmas week is tournament week in college basketball—16 major holiday festivals will get underway Tuesday, Wednesday or Friday.
The first two tournaments starting today are the prestigious ECAC Holiday Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden and the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

The ECAC, a five-day affair, will have two firsts this year in its 21st start. Ten teams will participate—the first time this many squads have entered the festival—and for the first time two all-black colleges—Grambling College and North Carolina A and T—will play in a tournament at Madison Square Garden.
Grambling kicks off the tournament against St. John's in the first game of an afternoon doubleheader today, with North Carolina A and T meeting Manhattan in the second game.

Boston College will face pretourney favorite Michigan, ranked in a tie for 17th by virtue of its 5-1 record, and South Carolina, 19th at 5-2, will oppose Villanova in the nighttime doubleheader.

Tennessee and Niagara draw first-round byes and will face the winners of Tuesday afternoon's doubleheader on Wednesday afternoon.
The Gator Bowl is a two-day tournament involving four teams—Florida, Miami of Ohio, Rutgers and host Jacksonville.
Seven more Christmas festivals will begin action Wednesday. Leading the list is the All-College Tournament, being played at Oklahoma City, Okla. Three of the top 20 teams are entered, including sixth-ranked Long Beach State, Brigham Young, tied for 14th, and Florida State, tied for 17th. Other teams entered include Mississippi, Penn State, St. Francis of Pa., Texas A and M and host Oklahoma City.

Fourth-ranked Maryland will see action in the Maryland Invitational at College Park, Md., on Friday and Saturday, and No. 14 Indiana plays in the Sun Carnival Thursday and Friday.

Eighth-ranked Pennsylvania and 10th-rated Vanderbilt are in action this week, but not in tournaments. Pennsylvania visits Cincinnati Wednesday and San Francisco Friday, while Vanderbilt has a single game, at home against Memphis Saturday.

Third-ranked North Carolina State, ninth-rated Southwestern Louisiana, and No. 12 Providence take the week off.

UCLA still unanimous choice in UPI ranking

By United Press International
With only 10 teams standing in the way of a college winning streak record for UCLA, the Bruins once again were the unanimous choice of United Press International Board of College Coaches Monday as the nation's top ranked basketball team.

Victories. The University of San Francisco holds the major college winning streak of 60 straight.
UCLA garnered all the first place votes on the 30 ballots cast for 300 points to give it a huge margin over second place Marquette (239).
North Carolina State with 193 points moved up from the fourth position to the third spot this week on the strength of a pair of victories over tough Davidson and Georgia.

Redskins owner also ranks as one of team's biggest fans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You wouldn't want to meet a bigger sport than Edward Bennett Williams, one of the country's top trial lawyers and president of the Washington Redskins.
He's not the type to nickel and dime you.
If he likes something and wants it, he goes out and pays top dollar.
Now you take his football coach, George Allen, who has the Redskins only one jump away from the Super Bowl.
When Edward Bennett Williams told George Allen how much he wanted him to handle his team two years ago, he didn't merely tell him, he SHOWED him.
He gave Allen a seven-year contract as general manager and head coach at $125,000 per. He also threw in a fancy place for Allen and his family to stay in plus a car and a chauffeur. So he wouldn't feel neglected, Allen also got an option on the Redskins' stock, all the ice cream he could eat and permanent possession of any and all rainbows in the general vicinity of Washington.
In return for all this, Edward Bennett Williams occasionally is allowed to set foot in the Redskins' clubhouse — if he behaves himself. Or so the local joke goes.

The Redskins' boss, their REAL boss, has heard the gag and it makes him smile, too.
"I'm a lawyer," says Edward Bennett Williams. "I have a 35-man law firm to run. I don't have time to run a football team, and I don't have the inclination to. George is the man I want to run it, and he does. I still make the major policy decisions. Presidents of other organizations want to run the day-to-day operation. I don't."
In the two years Allen has worked for him, Williams says they've never had so much as a single disagreement. What's more, Williams feels Allen is worth every nickel he's getting.
"If you want something good, you've got to pay for it," says Williams. "I never got anything for nothing. Certainly nothing worthwhile. I have no regrets about the deal I made for George. He's unquestionably one of the two or three best coaches in the world. I've never seen a harder or more dedicated worker. He works, works, works, and his job is always on his mind. He thinks of nothing else.

"People ask me to compare him with Vince Lombardi, who had the same job before he died. It's difficult comparing Allen with Vince. Everybody knows how I felt about Vince Lombardi. I had a great love affair with him. He was a wonderful human being. He and George had this one common denominator — total devotion to the job.
"Lombardi did have a different philosophy when it came to building a football team. He was willing to wait. George is not willing to wait. Some people say he mortgages the future. I don't think he has, or we have. If we accomplish what we're trying to accomplish, I mean win the championship, then we'll be in a good position to trade."
— When the Redskins captured their first post-season game in 30 years Sunday by polishing off the Green Bay Packers, 16-3, one of the happiest persons among the record crowd of 53,140 at Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium here was Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's advisor, taking in the action from President Williams' private box.

Other major tournaments starting Wednesday include the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., with fifth-ranked Minnesota, the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia, the Palmetto Invitational at Charleston, S.C., and the Poinsettia Classic at Greenville, S.C.
The week closes with seven two-day tournaments starting on Friday, topped by the Sugar Bowl Classic at New Orleans. No. 1 UCLA goes for consecutive victory number 52 against Drake Friday, with Illinois meeting Temple in the other contest.
Second-ranked Marquette is also in action, as the host team in the Milwaukee Classic. Rice, Wisconsin and Yale complete the field.
Other two-day affairs starting Friday include the Charlotte Invitational at Charlotte, N.C., the Lobo Invitational at Albuquerque, N.M., the Motor City tournament at Detroit, the Oral Roberts Classic at Tulsa, Okla., and the Queen City Invitational at Buffalo, N.Y.

Q — Earlier this year I purchased 1,000 Mammoth Mart and 700 Richford Industries. My costs for these American Exchange issues were 9 and 9 1/2 cents respectively. Do you believe these are worth holding for recovery? — L. M.

A — Both firms have run into profit problems in recent months. Richford reported a deficit in the September quarter and Mammoth Mart earned only 2 cents per share in the first half ended July 31.

Former solon eye donor

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Former Oklahoma Gov. and U.S. Sen. James Howard Edmondson joined an eye bank 16 years ago when he was a Tulsa county attorney with the intention of donating his eyes upon his death.

Edmondson died of a heart attack Nov. 17, 1971, and his donation was kept confidential. Now his widow, Jeannette Edmondson, says it's time to let people know.

"I think it would be good, because maybe it will encourage someone else to give," she says. "It is a good program."

"I just remembered he carried that card all the time," Mrs. Edmondson said. The donation was decided again the day Edmondson died.

Dr. Mark Johnson was here. My son came up and asked if I wanted it done, and I said yes."

Mrs. Edmondson said her late husband began carrying the card in 1956. The card told of his agreement with the eye bank.

Mrs. Mell Knoetgen, director of the Lions eye bank in the University of Oklahoma Medical Center, said the donation is usually kept secret. The donor's family is not told where the eyes go and the recipients do not know where they come from. Since only one eye can be transplanted into one person at a time, Edmondson's eyes went to two people.

Actually, only the cornea, the outer membrane or window pane of the eye, is transplanted. It is grafted to the eye of the recipient with delicate sutures finer than a human hair.

Mrs. Knoetgen said such transplants are performed for persons whose cornea has been punctured or scarred by accident or disease such as an ulcer. It might be a person who gets a piece of steel in his eye or like the 3-year-old girl whose cornea was damaged by the end of a burning cigarette.

Mrs. Knoetgen said time is a critical factor. After death the maximum is 4 to 5 hours for removal.

The entire eye is removed from the donor and replaced by an eye-shaped plastic insert. The eye is placed in a container, surrounded by ice, for transportation and storage. The surgical transplant must follow within 24 to 36 hours.

Physicians have a statewide program in which they remove the eyes as a public service, she said. The eye bank is maintained by the Lions Club.

Transportation is provided by the Oklahoma Highway Patrol and Oklahoma City Police.

In the case of the latter company, the Boston Baby division has been primarily responsible for the sluggish earnings. For this reason expansion of these outlets has been slowed.

New Mammoth Mart units are being opened at a rapid pace; 58 are currently in operation and another 6 are scheduled to open by the year end. Shares should be held for their recovery potential.

Richford operates in three distinct fields producing zippers, packaging and building products. Restructuring and start-up costs in the zipper division have penalized results although sales through Sept. rose 15.5 percent. Sale of this issue is recommended.

Q — Could you please elaborate on the safety rating of U.S. Postal Service bonds? Is the U.S. government obligated to make payment? — E. G.

A — The only U.S. Postal Service debt obligation now outstanding is a $250 million Series A bond due in 1997 and carrying a 6 1/2 percent coupon. It is not guaranteed by the U.S. government. These bonds are considered to be of the highest quality, with security second to that of Treasury issues.

Q — I bought Funk Seed (OTC) when it was offered a $24 late in August. It has dropped to the mid-teens. What are the prospects for recovery? — V.D.

A — Share price recovery began early in November and reflected improved stock market tone as well as upturning operating results. For the nine months through September, this international seed developer reported a 39 percent increase in earnings on a 5 per cent rise in sales.

Formerly a wholly owned subsidiary of CPC International, Funk Seeds is now 25 per cent owned by that firm. While recovery should continue, the relatively modest multiple accorded these shares indicates their limited market appeal.

Girls plan funding event

36 Rupert marchers plan European trip

RUPERT — Minico High's Micadettes are going to Europe — and fund-raising projects to finance the trip are in high gear. Thirty-six of the girl marchers have registered for the performing tour thus far, with the cost of travel for each estimated at $1,200.

The Micadettes were recognized by Gov. Cecil Andrus this month as Idaho's student ambassadors to the Austrian Fine Arts Festival. The group will spend six weeks in Europe this summer, performing before audiences in Vienna, Innsbruck, Frankfurt, Munich, Venice, London and Athens.

They were nominated for the honor by Study Guild International, a Salt Lake City-based organization that promotes world-wide fine arts programs and exchanges.

The girls will earn three-hours of college credit for their efforts, in addition to gaining invaluable exposure to the European continent through lectures and tours. Adult advisers will accompany the drill team, at the rate of one adviser for every six girls.

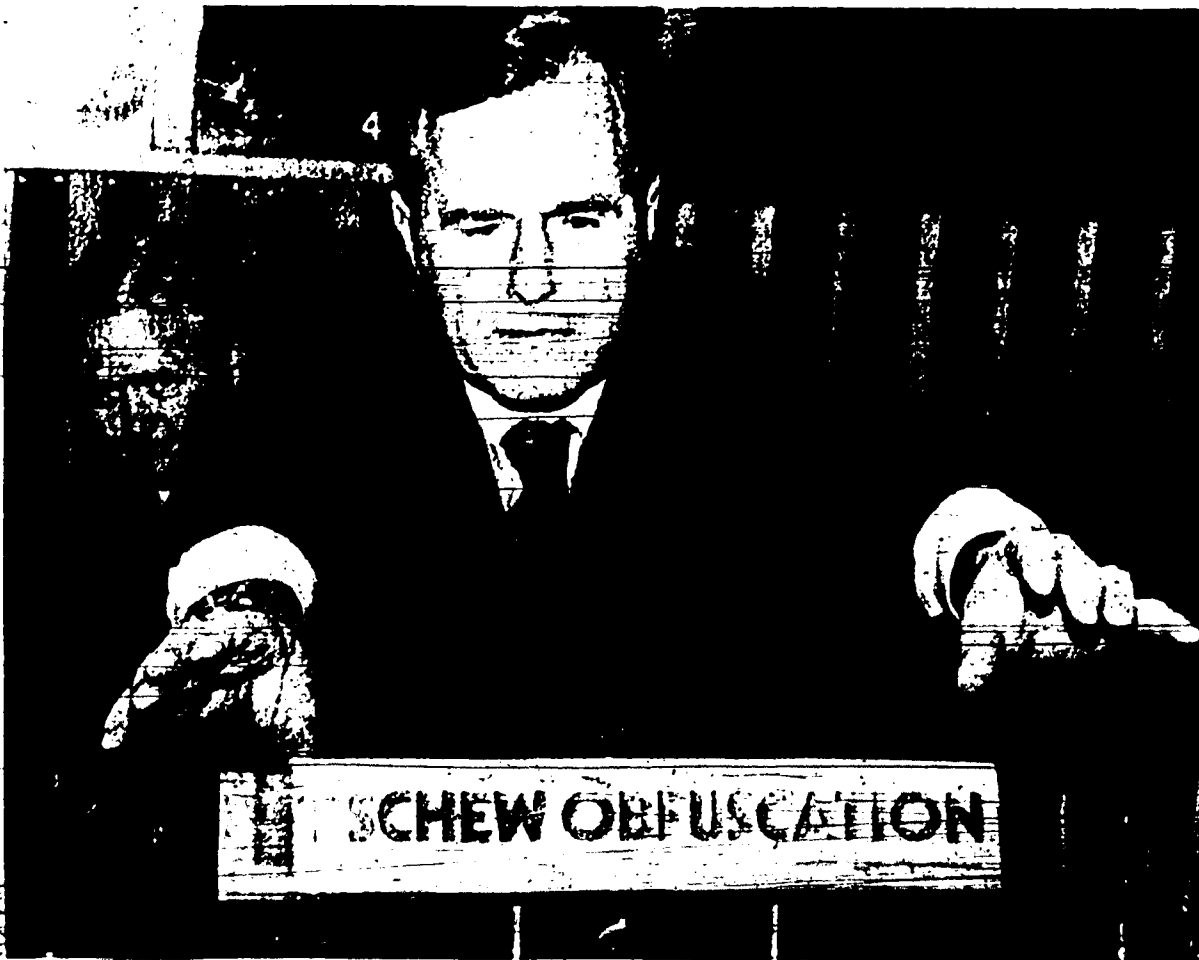

But the group must pay its own way and fund-raising is all important now. Parents and local businesses have pledged financial support of the trip, but much of the money will come through student projects.

An orange sale, baked goods sale and the sale of scrap paper have already been initiated.

A 1000-pound steer has been donated by Bill Harding, Rupert, and will be given away at the district basketball tournament in Rupert March 1.

A Christmas dance for vacationing college and high school students has been scheduled for Dec. 28 at the Rupert Elks Lodge. Free drinks and pizza will be served.

GEORGE BUSH, US Ambassador to the United Nations, gets some laughs when he slips a bumper sticker over his nameplate slot. The phrase means to abstain from confusion. Bush will shortly leave the UN to assume the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee. (UPI)

High Voltage Batteries

18-Month Guaranteed Battery

12⁵⁰ exchange

Straight-thru-the-partition cell connectors deliver more initial starting power than an otherwise identical battery with up-and-over cell connectors.

24-Month Guaranteed Battery

19⁵⁰ exchange

Delivers extra power when you need it, when standard original batteries won't come through!

36-Month Guaranteed Battery

23⁵⁰ exchange

Because power is sent to the battery terminals over the shortest possible route, resistance is cut down!

42-Month Guaranteed Battery

27⁵⁰ exchange

If your battery is 2 1/2 years old or older, it is probably dying! Don't chance it this winter.

48-Month Guaranteed Battery

31⁵⁰ exchange

Faster, more dependable starts. Extra-strong translucent polypropylene case resists cold.

5 Year Guarantee
Sears Famous DieHard Battery

34⁵⁰ exchange

The DieHard delivers the extra power you need to start your car when most other batteries won't.

Guarantee
If Muffler fails while original purchaser owns the car, it will be replaced upon return, free of charge. If the defective muffler was installed by Sears, we will install the new muffler with no charge for labor.
