

Honor guard members salute Truman casket

Truman bid last farewell

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — In a simple funeral fitting for the common man he was, America said goodbye today to Harry S. Truman.

After the 20-minute last rites, the nation's 33rd President was buried in the ground he loved, near the rose garden in the courtyard of the Truman Library.

Bess Truman, his aging widow and helpmate for more than half a century, was there to say a final farewell to her beloved Harry. And about 220 relatives and close friends who knew and loved him as companion and neighbor, said goodbye, too, at the plain, private service.

There was no pomp because Truman disdained it. There were no eulogies. There was only prayer.

(Related stories, p. 20)

"Most merciful Father, who has been pleased to take unto Thyself the soul of Thy servant, Harry, grant to us who are still in our pilgrimage, and who walk, as yet by faith, that having served Thee with constancy on earth, we may be joined hereafter with Thy blessed saints in glory everlasting," said the Rev. H. Lembecke Jr., pastor of the Independence Trinity Episcopal Church.

Before the last rites in the library auditorium, thousands of the common folk — rich and poor, famous and unknown, workers wearing dungarees and aprons and men and women carrying babies — filed slowly and silently by his mahogany casket in tribute.

In death, as in life, Truman's desire for simplicity prevailed. He believed that man provided his own dignity and that pageantry was not needed.

His state funeral, embellished only with military flourishes, taps and a 21-gun salute, still was a modest tribute from a grateful nation to a courageous leader. A memorial service is planned next week in Washington's National Cathedral as a final gesture to the tough, little Missourian.

Some of the old doughboys who served under "Captain Harry" in Battery D during World War I were at the funeral. They stood with the stiffest military posture that age would allow.

The casket was covered with red, white and blue carnations — Truman's favorite flower. He was buried in his favorite blue pin-striped suit and wore his famed wire-rimmed glasses.

This was the chosen prayer for the funeral: "I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord. He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live. And whoever liveth and believeth in me, shall never die."

Earlier, Truman had picked his own epitaph. He said his life could have no better meaning than the words he once saw inscribed on a frontier grave: "Here lies Jack Williams. He done his damndest."

And Truman said this is the way he wanted to be remembered: "I did what had to be done."

State asks TF bridge

TWIN FALLS — Construction of an $8.4 million replacement for the Perrine Bridge has been approved by the Idaho Board of Highway Directors.

The replacement of the aging and weakened 776-foot-high, 1,400-foot-long bridge has been sought for some time. Funds for its replacement are contingent upon legislature approval of the Highway Department's proposed budget, and upon fast action by the 93rd Congress in enacting Federal aid highway legislation.

The bridge replacement would be financed by 78 per cent Federal highway funds and 22 per cent State highway funds, beginning with Federal aid funding for fiscal year 1974, according to the Idaho Highway Directors.

The proposed new Perrine Bridge will be a four lane structure with divider between opposing lanes of traffic. Plans call for it to be located immediately east of the present structure. The old bridge will be removed.

The bridge was abruptly closed to loads above 22 tons moving at reduced speed limits after the 1969 discovery that overloading had damaged the structure. Emergency repairs had been made; then, but the bridge loads were maintained at the 22-ton limit.

Highway Department crews man weigh stations on both sides of the bridge to enforce the load restrictions.

Governor Cecil Andrus issued an emergency proclamation as a result of the present Perrine Bridge's deteriorated condition in March, 1971. He urged the Secretary of Transportation to give top priority to replacement of the structure.

The present Perrine structure was opened in 1927 at a cost of $630,000. It was bought by the State in 1940 for $482,000.

Guerrillas seize Israeli embassy

BANGKOK (UPI) — Four Palestinian guerrillas seized the Israeli Embassy today and threatened to blow it up along with six hostages unless Israel released 36 Palestinian prisoners. But tonight they agreed to free the hostages in return for safe conduct from Thailand.

Chief Marshal Dawee Chulasapaya announced the guerrilla decision to accept safe conduct and a police official said that in return the guerrillas had agreed to release the six Israelis held inside the embassy building for more than 10 hours under a threat of death.

Dawee made no mention of the hostages when he emerged with Egyptian ambassador Mustafa El Tawi from the embassy after a face-to-face meeting with the guerrillas but the police official said the hostages would be freed.

Dawee, a ranking member of the military controlled government, entered the Embassy with Egyptian Ambassador Mustafa el Tawi and won the guerrilla promise to leave the country. He said he and Deputy Foreign Minister Chantchai Chumhawan would accompany the guerrillas when they left Thailand. Other officials said that El Tawi would also make the trip, and that the guerrillas would be allowed to keep their weapons.

Police officials said arrangements were being made for a special flight to take the guerrillas out of the country. They said the most likely destination was Cairo.

Dawee made the announcement in front of the Embassy and then after further consultations in a temporary command post across the street, he, Chantchai and the Egyptian ambassador returned to the embassy building. With them they carried two bottles of liquor.

US bombs rain on Viet capital

SAIGON (UPI) — Swedish diplomatic reports said American B52s and fighter-bombers hit Hanoi at noon today in the heaviest daylight bombardment of the war, and the Soviet news agency Tass reported that parts of the North Vietnamese capital had been "erased from the face of the earth."

There were hints in the government-controlled press in Saigon that the North Vietnamese might have had enough and that the raids might be halted above the 20th Parallel in the next few days in order to resume the peace talks in Paris. But the Communist Vietnamese in Paris were still issuing defiant statements.

The U.S. Command reported growing American losses of planes and men in the massive aerial assault but had no word on today's bombing activities. U.S. military sources said strikes against the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial heartland continued today and Communists reports said there were three Hanoi raids today.

The command reported the loss of two more B52s and the shooting down of a Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter over Laos, bringing to 14 the number of the $8-million strategic bombers lost in the air war that began on Dec. 18.

Hanoi Radio said a North Vietnamese air force plane, presumably a MIG, shot down a B52 some 70 miles southwest of Hanoi on Wednesday. A Hungarian report said three B52s were shot down by fighter-planes.

The North Vietnamese delegation in Paris issued a special statement today saying the American attacks have ravaged areas of Hanoi and Haiphong with the force of an earthquake, killing "thousands" of people. It said North Vietnamese gunners had shot down 71 U.S. aircraft, including 31 B52s, in nine days.

The U.S. Command and the Pentagon gave no reports of any damage to civilian areas and insisted that the planes dropped their bombs only on military targets. The only reports of what actually was happening in the greatest aerial assault of the war came from Communist news agencies and neutral diplomats in Hanoi.

The Hungarian news agency MTI reported today that a blazing B52 shot down over Hanoi Wednesday crashed near the presidential palace and that several crewmen died in the flames. It said the wreckage demolished a few buildings but no Vietnamese were killed.

Canada's Pierson dies

OTTAWA (UPI) — Lester B. Pearson, former Canadian prime minister who won the Nobel Peace Prize for helping arrange a cease-fire in the 1956 Suez crisis, died Wednesday at the age of 75.

Dr. P. M. Burton, Pearson's private physician, earlier in the day had confirmed that Pearson had cancer of the liver. Time of death was 11:40 p.m. EST.

Pearson's health had been uncertain since the summer of 1970 when he had a cancerous eye removed. He had been in

US to alter hot dog labels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Surrendering to consumer pressure and a court order, the Agriculture Department has announced plans for a second major round of labeling and content reform for hot dogs.

The first step in response to rising complaints over one of the nation's favorite foods came three years ago. In 1969, officials ended a long dispute by ordering a 30 per cent fat content limit on hot dogs and other cooked sausage products.

Now, officials say new proposals which may take effect early next year will junk current rules under which a hot dog containing water, sweeteners and curing agents can still be labeled "all meat." A federal court had ruled the "all meat" wording was misleading to consumers.

Also repealed would be rules allowing a hot dog containing up to 3.5 per cent nonfat dry milk to be labeled simply "frankfurter."

Coffee possible heart ill factor

BOSTON (UPI) — A team of researchers has found that coffee may be a factor in causing heart attacks.

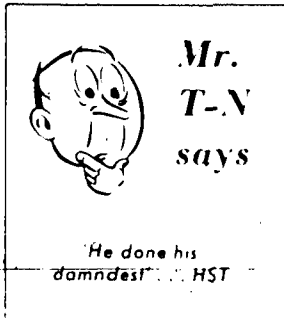

"The team found that people who drink more than five cups of coffee a day are twice as likely to suffer heart attacks as people who drink no coffee at all," a spokesman for Boston University Medical Center said Wednesday night.

The researchers, headed by Drs. Hershel Jick and Dennis Stone, studied records of 276 heart patients at hospitals in the United States and other countries.

They compared them to a control group of 1,100 hospital patients with similar backgrounds who suffered from other ailments.

"They found that all of them varied very little in their medical history — a number of both groups smoked, for instance — but when they additionally compared their coffee consumption, that's where there was a really substantial difference."

Shoot-to-kill orders given in quake area

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Gen. Anastasio Somoza ordered troops to shoot to kill today in enforcing a dusk-to-dawn curfew in the earthquake-destroyed center city in an effort to "restore Nicaragua's honor, our only salvation."

Officials said National Guardsmen bullets killed at least two persons, including a 4-year-old boy, after Somoza warned over an emergency radio broadcast that his troops had been ordered to kill looters. National law was declared Saturday but not enforced until Wednesday.

Nicaraguan officials said at least 3,000 persons were killed in the three major tremors early Saturday. Estimates of the death toll range up to 10,000 but the total may never be known because many bodies are still buried under tons of rubble.

About three-quarters of the 600,000 population was not the

Viet Cong deny Thieu recognition

PARIS (UPI) — A high-ranking Viet Cong leader said today President Nixon's order to bomb North Vietnam will not force the Vietnamese Communists into recognizing President Nguyen Van Thieu as the leader of South Vietnam.

Dinh Ba Thi, deputy chief Viet Cong peace negotiator, admitted in an exclusive interview that the U.S. air war was causing heavy losses to North Vietnam's civilian population. But he said it will not slow down Hanoi's assistance to the Viet Cong's military forces in South Vietnam.

Thi said the Hanoi and Viet Cong position remained unchanged in spite of the U.S. air strikes—the United States must sign the cease-fire and peace agreement as it was drafted in secret talks last October between presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi envoy Le Duc Tho.

Thi said Thieu was a major obstacle to the conclusion of a definitive peace agreement. "Thieu must go," he said.

Thi, the highest Viet Cong delegation member in Paris in the current absence of delegation chief Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, said the breaking off of the latest talks between Kissinger and Tho Dec. 13 and resumption the air war five days later dealt a bad blow to the chances of peace. But he said its only result was a black mark on U.S. prestige.

"We are categorically opposed to the absurd U.S. attempt to make us accept the sovereignty of the Saigon regime over all of South Vietnam," Thi said.

He said such sovereignty would be "an attempt to impose on us a U.S.-directed administration, ignoring the fact that in the South, there are two administrations and two armies"—those of Saigon and the Viet Cong.

Thi charged that in the latest unsuccessful private talks the United States sought to minimize the role of the planned National Council of Reconciliation.

War aftermath

FOUR crewmen were killed and two injured when this B52 bomber crashed Wednesday near U Tapao, Thailand, B52 base after being damaged during mission over Vietnam. US command reports more than 1,000 jet fighter-bombers and 147 waves of B52s struck North Vietnam between Dec. 18 and Christmas Day. (UPI)

Defense director sued by Argentine

DALLAS (UPI) — William P. Clements, President Nixon's choice for deputy secretary of defense, is being sued for libel by an Argentine businessman who helped the Texas oilman's Sedco Inc., set up one of the largest oil drilling contracts in history.

Antonio A. Diaz filed the $15 million suit against the multinational corporation and its board president, Clements, 55, Wednesday.

Diaz, whose interests include news communications holdings in South America, said Clements made "grossly defamatory" statements about Diaz during a news conference Dec. 18 in Dallas.

Clements had charged that news reports that his drilling company was involved in a conspiracy to hide $7 million in profits on the Argentine oil well contract were "unfair and misleading."

Diaz had filed a civil suit in 1966 claiming Clements and three other officials and stockholders of Southwestern Drilling Co., a subsidiary of Sedco, had attempted to defraud him. The suit has gone through one trial and two appeals and apparently is due for another trial in federal court in the spring.

Chileans to face nightmare

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Survivors of the Uruguayan military plane crash in the Andes two months ago chartered a jetliner today to fly home to reply to rescuers' reports of cannibalism.

Their dramatic return to civilization, praised by joyous relatives as a miraculous Christmas gift, has now become a nightmare.

Chilean professors and theologians searched for the answer to whether cannibalism was ever justified. The government and opposition press argued editorially over publishing reports of the case.

Cesar Charlone, Uruguayan charge d'affaires, said the 13 remaining survivors and their families would leave for Montevideo later in the day aboard a special Lan-Chile jetliner.

Three survivors have already returned to the Uruguayan capital.

Charlone said the survivors would make "an official and final statement" in Montevideo on the cannibalism.

"They are not going to hide anything," he said.

Before departing, the 13 remained in seclusion at their suburban hotel. They refused to answer telephone calls and newsmen's questions.

S. Viet officers corrupt

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Information Minister Keam Reth has announced a renewed anticorruption campaign to try to stop military commanders from pocketing an estimated $2 million-a-month being paid to nonexistent troops.

Reth said paymaster records show about 300,000 men in the armed forces, including militia, are paid an average equivalent of $20-a-month.

But, he said, the government estimates the actual number of men under arms at only 220,000, and recent checks have indicated the figure could be as low as 180,000. American military officers say it is closer to 150,000.

Reth said the campaign will be based on "education instead of punishment." He did not elaborate.

It is common knowledge that some military commanders pad their payroll lists with "phantom" soldiers and pocket their pay. In other cases, men are hired to stand in for the phantom soldiers on pay day; they get two-thirds and the commander one-third.

A month ago a lieutenant colonel was accused of taking $150,000 destined for 1,444 "ghost troops." Cambodian military sources say members of the U.S. embassy's Military Equipment Delivery Team-Cambodia (MEDTC) have started conducting spot inspections of Cambodian army bases on payday, to help try stamp out the corruption.

Under the new campaign, unit commanders have been told that "every soldier listed in the payroll must be present with a military ID card before getting paid." Reth said soldiers also would be required to prove they had received training before getting their money.

According to sources in the military, corrupt commanders require only that the men "know how to salute" when receiving their pay envelopes.

Parole violator surrenders

TWIN FALLS — A 20-year-old Washington man walked into Twin Falls police headquarters Wednesday and turned himself in for parole violation.

According to Tim Qualls, Twin Falls chief of detectives, Michael Robert Moser, 20, Everett, Wash., told officers "I want to turn myself in, I'm wanted for parole violation."

Moser was booked into the city jail on voluntary safekeeping. While he remained in jail, police investigated and learned that Moser is also wanted in Everett, Wash., on a grand larceny warrant charging embezzlement.

Moser was transferred to the county jail awaiting action by Washington authorities.

Nixon saves 300 from selection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 300 young men may have been saved from the draft, at least temporarily and perhaps permanently, because President Nixon made Thursday a day of mourning for the late President Harry S. Truman.

A Selective Service System spokesman said the closing of all federal offices for the day meant that Armed Forces Examination and Entrance Stations would also be shut and unable to process the approximately 300 men who had been told to report for induction Thursday.

It was to be the last day of inductions for 1972. Therefore, Selective Service headquarters in Washington told draft boards around the country to shift the men into the group liable for the draft in the first three months of 1973.

However, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has already said there will be no draft in January and no draft calls for other months have yet been issued. If they are issued, men with the lowest 1972 lottery numbers will be called first.

About 52,000 men were drafted in 1972 — the smallest number since before the Korean War. Laird has said less than 10,000 men will be drafted in 1973 before the draft dies on June 30.

Scouts receive property

TWIN FALLS — Dr. Joseph W. Marshall, a Twin Falls physician, has donated property valued at $10,000 to the Snake River Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Dr. Marshall, a past president of the Snake River Area Council of BSA, donated a lot of about an acre to the scouting group. The property is located near Redfish Lake in the Stanley Basin.

Marshall is presently a member of the national executive board of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He serves as chairman of the national council's health and safety committee.

According to Snake River Area scout executive Darl S. Gleed, the property will go into the council's trust fund.

Gleed said he was not sure the property would be sold but thought that it might be because it is located in a public subdivision and would not be suitable for use as a scouting facility.

If the property is sold, Gleed said, the principal will remain as a permanent part of the trust and interest generated by the principal will be used at the discretion of the council to support scouting efforts throughout Magic and Wood River valleys.

Burglar enters TF shop

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls pawn shop was broken into sometime during the night Tuesday but only a small amount of change was taken.

According to Twin Falls Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls, Jack's Pawn Shop, 1517 Kimberly Road, was broken into during the night. Qualls said entry was gained by forcing open a side door.

The thief or thieves took only a small amount of change, Qualls said. No currency was taken.

The case remains under investigation.

TF man arrested on charge

TWIN FALLS — Jesse Larry Baker, 23, Twin Falls, was arrested by Twin Falls police Wednesday on a charge of first-degree burglary.

According to Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls, Baker has been charged in connection with the theft of two musical instruments from Claude Brown Music Co. Monday night.

Qualls said city police officers operating with a search warrant, recovered an electric bass guitar and an electric guitar valued together at $652.00 from a local residence.

Qualls said investigation is continuing which may connect Baker with 11 other local burglaries.

No further details were available.

Convicts unionize

MONROE, Wash. (UPI) — The convicts at Washington State Prison believe a man sentenced to hard labor should be paid. They want their own labor union and a minimum wage of $1.75 per hour.

A prison-circulated petition seeking permission to organize Local 1 of the Inmates Union has been sent to the governor, prison officials and the AFL-CIO.

Convicted forger Charles K. Agers, 26, said Wednesday he also had a number of letters from state and national labor leaders on the matter.

But the convicts weren't getting much sympathy.

"I hesitate to give you any substantial amount of encouragement," said George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

Hughes may go public

LONDON (UPI) — Elusive billionaire Howard Hughes may abandon his obsession with privacy—a trait that has made him the world's most famous recluse, one of his closest aides said today.

"I guess he thinks that life has been passing him by a little," said John Eckersley, who flew with Hughes from earthquake-devastated Nicaragua where Hughes had been holed up in the Intercontinental Hotel. They arrived Tuesday in circumstances which already have provoked anger from members of Parliament.

"He (Hughes) is going to change that," Eckersley said. "He is hoping to live more of a life if people will let him."

The news from Eckersley was the first indication in years that the 67-year-old tycoon may be thinking of changing the style of life which has kept him an isolated, invisible man for a quarter of a century.

Hughes' aides said the London trip had been planned before the Managua quake, but was accelerated by it. They said their wealthy employer planned to stay in Britain "at least six months."

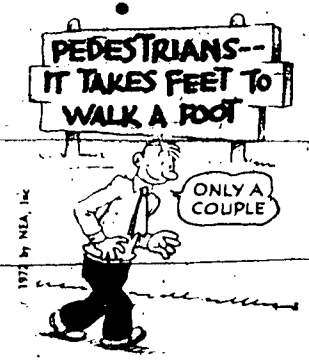

Hughes today was characteristically sealed off from the outside world. Three locked doors guarded the ninth floor of the Inn on the Park, a fashionable modern hotel opposite Hyde Park, where Hughes and his entourage have a 12-room suite.

Hotel officials said the entire floor was out of bounds to visitors. Newsmen were permitted as far as the main door, accompanied by hotel staffers, but conversations at the door went like this:

"Can I speak to Mr. Hughes, please?"

"Mr. Hughes is not here. There is no Mr. Hughes here."

Confusion marks TF agency mourning

TWIN FALLS — Both patrons and employees of city and county offices were slightly confused today.

City offices which were scheduled to close according to an announcement by Mayor John Christoffersen were open as usual. County offices, which the board of county commissioners planned to keep open Wednesday, were closed.

Gov. Cecil Andrus proclaimed today a day of mourning for former president, Harry S. Truman, and asked all state and other public offices to close.

City Manager Jean Milar said it was his understanding the mayor planned to have business as usual in city offices and as a result he instructed all city employees to report for work. He said he read in the newspaper late Wednesday the city hall would close but it was too late to change the order. County commissioners said Wednesday morning they did not plan a day of mourning for county offices and there would be business as usual.

However, the clerk of the Idaho Supreme Court contacted Fifth Judicial District Judge Theron W. Ward saying the high court understood the governor's proclamation to mean all offices which could should close.

Judge Ward said this included the courts and relayed the message to the county commissioners who then changed their plans and closed the county offices.

Federal offices were consistent. They announced plans to close and closed. This included the post office. Banks and business firms were open for business as usual.

Idaho buys 80 tiny gonorrhea incubators

BOISE — Chickens are not the only things being hatched in incubators.

The Idaho Department of Environmental Protection and Health has purchased 80 small incubators to keep gonorrhea germs warm and happy.

According to Dr. John A. Mather, director of the Preventive Medicine Division of DEPH, the incubators and a special growth medium are being used to grow cultures to be tested for gonorrhea, the most common type of venereal disease in Idaho.

The incubators have been delivered to some physicians and laboratories throughout the state. Their principal use is in the detection of gonorrhea in women who are infected but without symptoms.

Mather commended the doctors who have volunteered to participate in DEPH's venereal disease control program. "Without this kind of cooperation from Idaho's private physicians," he said, "there's not much hope of slowing the epidemic very soon."

The doctors cooperating in the program are being asked to test women they examine, especially those who are unmarried and between 15 and 30 years old.

"Many infected women in this age group provide a reservoir for the disease," Mather said, "because over 85 per cent of females with gonorrhea have no apparent symptoms and usually don't realize they're infected."

"If we can locate enough infected women and treat them, we will eliminate many of the carriers and go a long way toward controlling the gonorrhea epidemic in Idaho."

Funds go to salaries

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI) — The mayor of Blackfoot has announced that some of the revenue sharing funds coming to his city will be used to upgrade salaries for fire and police personnel.

Mayor Delwin Daniels said $44,000 for 1972 has been received recently and that it will be put in to the 1973 budget. The city expects about $90,000 in revenue sharing money next year.

Hunger Hangs On

For a brief time it seemed as if the specter of famine would soon become a thing of the past. At long last, science and perseverance had triumphed over history and tradition.

There would be enough to eat, and some to spare for the years when the harvest wasn't so good. Phrases such as "The Green Revolution" and "miracle" rice were frequently heard.

But something happened. In the Philippines and South Korea, there was too much rain; in Burma, Cambodia, Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand there was too little. In the South Asian region, it was a combination of too much too soon and too little too late.

In many countries of western Africa, optimism consists in believing that starvation is coming tomorrow rather than today. In sum, the elements have triumphed again.

It is apparent that the main source of succor will, as usual, be the United States. Only the United States has both rice and wheat to give, or sell, and mostly the countries that need aid cannot pay, especially at the high rates now prevailing due to the grain deals with the Russians and the Chinese.

Some will go through the technicality of buying grain with their own currencies, a procedure that in effect means the United States will be giving it away. Japan can help out with some rice, and Washington should encourage Tokyo to follow its example — to follow the humanitarian instinct instead of the business instinct.

The shortfalls are depleting not only the so-called buffer stocks in most of the affected countries but also the mood of national confidence that had prevailed until only a few months ago. The recovery must therefore take place in the fields as well as in the minds.

German Problem

The problem in trying to ignore the dangers of inflation is that they make their presence increasingly painful as time goes on. In time, the pain may be excruciating, as for instance the onset of a depression.

West German Chancellor, Willy Brandt, now that his test at the polls has been successfully overcome, no longer can evade his nation's foremost economic problem. There was a tendency to pretend inflation was not a problem during the campaign, and the opposition was unable to generate sufficient discussion about it.

With prices rising 6 per cent or more in an economy nearly fully employed, Brandt faces some difficult choices. His council of economic experts has proposed a tax increase to cool the inflationary push. A cut in government spending also has been proposed.

Complicating the task is the revaluation of the German mark. That tends to work at cross purposes to the fight against inflation, by improving import sales and hindering exports. If less German goods are to be sold overseas, plant activity could begin to slow down and unemployment increase.

Rising unemployment could reduce inflationary pressures, but that is not the means of control any political leader prefers.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Candidate's Wife

Every once in awhile we hang our head in shame. Recently, it's getting so the old head is hanging more than it is standing on top of our shoulders.

But be that as it may, we are sorting through one of the desk drawers and came across a poem which we received, and really should have used during the recent general election campaign — that's the one Jim McClure and other of our friends won.

Well, the poem is good — so rather than hold it another two years, we have decided to give it to you today. It was written by Mrs. Studie S. Hager of Kimberly. Here it is — better late than never — "The Candidate's Wife."

When he announced he was the one The country needed, most, to run, She doubted it a valid notion,

But, loyally, pledged full devotion. They travelled miles and miles together — Good roads and bad, all kinds of weather

And voters marvelled at her feat Of always looking fresh and neat. At every meeting she would show A radiant face, her eyes aglow, Would cheer and clap, like other folks,

At all his campaign barbs and jokes; And she would coach him, late at night,

On how to keep his image right. Then, finally, at the victory dinner, When he was lauded as the winner, She beamed as truly good wives can.

On hearing: "He's a self-made man."

THE QUESTION

Will you tell the court how far you were from the spot where the shooting took place?" asked the defense counsel.

"I was exactly fourteen feet, three and one-half inches," replied the witness.

"How can you be sure of the exact distance?" asked the lawyer.

"I measured it because I was sure sooner or later some fool would ask that question."

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

ABOUT THE SYSTEM

Mr. Spectator received a note from C. C. Moseley, president of Grand Central Industrial Centre, Glendale, Calif. He asks the question:

Is something radically wrong with our educational system? Despite public financial support, amounting to an increase of nearly 800 per cent since 1950, the system is producing 800,000 dropouts yearly, plus 35 million functionally illiterate adults.

The politicians' shrill, tiresome pleas for more money (to get votes for themselves) will not cure the problem. The dismal failure of the educational system calls for a complete overhaul and housecleaning, hopefully producing more vocational graduates and more literate graduates who will be employable and thus reduce the welfare rolls.

ANDREW TULLY

Richard Nixon On The Spot

WASHINGTON — It is now possible to report, from rather close to the horse's mouth, the murky background of North Vietnam's announcement on Oct. 25 of an "agreement" with the United States on a cease-fire. Hanoi, quite simply — and in the tradition of Communist negotiators — was putting Richard Nixon on a spot.

Matters were progressing pretty well between Henry Kissinger and North Vietnam's

Le Duc Tho. They had hammered out a tentative accord on the terms for a cease-fire and there was every indication that the language of this tentative agreement could be lauded and tightened during a few more meetings between the chief negotiators.

That is to say, the President and Kissinger still had serious reservations about some of the language, notably that dealing with the disposition of North Vietnam troops in the south and protection of President Thieu's Saigon government. They also wanted to clarify the status of the proposed "conciliation" commission to make sure the commission was not endorsed as a provisional government.

But Hanoi wanted the tentative accord signed and sealed as it stood. It wanted to keep the language vague in order to give the Communists room for political maneuvering once the shooting stopped. North Vietnam's politicians knew Nixon's reelection was assured and that once he was returned to office he would be tougher to deal with. Therefore, they hoped to force the President's hand. Aware that Nixon would find a cease-fire settlement before election attractive, they hoped he would buy it before the balloting. But in any case, they were determined to make public a "settlement" favorable to Hanoi which they believed Nixon would find it impossible to reject after his reelection.

In short, their game plan was to raise the hopes of the American people and dare Richard Nixon to dash them. So suddenly, and without consultation with Washington, they announced the tentative accord as a "settlement" on Oct. 25.

The move left Nixon and Kissinger with no alternative. They had to confirm the tentative accord, and they did so. But while Kissinger quite properly reported that some details remained to be ironed out in future sessions, he also blundered. Perhaps unwilling to dash American hopes, he told a news conference that the differences over the pact's language could be settled in a matter of days and concluded that "peace is at hand."

In fairness to Kissinger, he believed he was telling the American people the truth. He had been assured by Le Duc Tho that the differences were minor and could be negotiated without any sweat. Given the joyous international uproar over Hanoi's announcement of the "settlement," he must have felt his appraisal of the situation was justified. Anyway, he could hardly have disowned the tentative accord. It existed. One high administration official close to the situation claims that Kissinger was more Machiavellian than he appeared. The "peace-is-at-hand" bit, he says, was an effort to put the onus on Hanoi if negotiations collapsed. This official says unequivocally that Kissinger's use of the phrase was intended as a warning to the North Vietnamese that if they refused to negotiate the accord's differences Washington would make it clear to the world that they had sabotaged the deal.

Unfortunately, things did not work out that way. Although it is obvious that Hanoi is the villain, the world — and numerous members of the U. S. Congress — couldn't care less. As Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Majority Leader, put it, they were satisfied with the Oct. 25 "settlement." So the world and the American loyal opposition poured condemnation on President Nixon's head for his resumption of full-scale bombing of North Vietnam.

What these critics want is an end to American involvement in the war. Period. Mansfield spelled it out: "It is long since past time to stop worrying about saving face and concentrate on saving lives and our own sense of decency and humanity." Whatever the merits of the case, Hanoi's Oct. 25 gimmick of announcing a "settlement" has done its job for the Communists.

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

The Hard-Hat

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor-designate Peter J. Brennan's attitude toward the federal bureaucracy, President Nixon and his country emerged when, on a walking tour of the Labor Department, he discovered a shocking lack of American flags and presidential photographs.

Turning to an aide, Brennan snapped out an order: Every office in the department will prominently display a photograph of Richard M. Nixon. In the intervening two weeks, Labor Department bureaucrats who have seen Presidents come and go have scurried about seeking Nixon photographs. In due time, presumably, Brennan also will remedy the absence of American flags.

The incident not only warmed flinty White House aides but reinforced confidence there that Brennan is the right man for an important political mission: keeping blue-collar workers who voted for Mr. Nixon in his New Majority. Thus, in a second-term cabinet of clerkish organization men, the emotive, volatile Brennan is cast in a resplendent role.

That role is misunderstood by liberal Republicans, who grumble that Brennan, a New York City building trades labor leader, is unqualified to administer the Labor Department bureaucracy. Even some administration officials have secretly advised the AFL-CIO to surround Brennan with competent technicians to prevent Brennan boo-boos from embarrassing his labor constituency.

Such criticism ignores the radical Nixon government reorganization. Like Commerce, Interior and other old-line departments, Labor is being emasculated — its power transferred to a new supercabinet. But whereas the Secretaries of Commerce and Interior now become limousine puppets, Brennan definitely will not.

A major reason is Mr. Nixon's fascination with him. The President, a loner who relates to few people, is unusually animated in private chats with Brennan. At the Dec. 18 dinner for past, present and future cabinet members, Mrs.

White House insiders feel the President sees in Brennan what he perceived (mistakenly, they now say) in Spiro T. Agnew when he selected him for Vice-President in 1968: the archetypal self-made man with unshakable beliefs in the value of national patriotism and the work ethic. Mr. Nixon shares those beliefs. More important politically, he believes working people do too.

RAY CROMLEY

Kissinger

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Henry Kissinger's report on the peace talks with Hanoi indicates that, despite his experience, he does not understand Communist negotiating techniques or objectives.

This is strange. For Kissinger himself, on several occasions in the past in talking of the Soviet Union, has described Red strategy with precision and understanding.

From this reporter's experience in negotiating with Asian Communists, it is clear the North Vietnamese and Americans have quite different aims. We negotiate to end a war. To Communists, as the top party man in a major Asian country told me some years ago, negotiations are a continuation of war and set the stage for future victories.

"You Americans," he said, "think of war and peace as separate operations. To us, peace is a continuation of war. The terms of any peace treaty must therefore include points which make it possible for Communists to achieve what was impossible before."

The North Vietnamese, in a number of private conversations with foreign associates, have stated that the talks are a means of giving the United States the fig leaf it requires for getting out of the war.

The concept of a cease-fire, itself, was an effort to arrange something on paper that would meet American requirements for saving face. Hanoi was perfectly willing to agree, desperately attempting a providing that nothing practical would be done to enforce the cease-fire or to prevent the North Vietnamese from an arms buildup.

If the United States requires, for domestic reasons, a truce team to supervise such an arrangement, Hanoi is quite willing to agree, provided only that conditions are set to insure that in practice the teams will be ineffective.

If Kissinger is not happy with the wording, Hanoi is agreeable to changing the sentences to make Americans happy — so long as the end result is the same.

In fact, such ineffective truce teams would have a certain value to Hanoi. So long as international truce teams were the final authority on violations, and so long as they were in no position to know what was going on, no one could say with certainty that the cease-fire was being broken. There would be endless arguments while truce breaking continued unabated. It would be extremely difficult under such conditions, to use American air power.

North Vietnamese strategy of late was aimed at keeping Kissinger believing only a few minor details stood in the way of agreement. Those hopes relaxed the United States. Key areas in North Vietnam were not bombed. Hanoi was given a breathing spell in a crucial period. A North Vietnamese buildup in the South was facilitated.

There was misinterpretation in Washington also on how the North Vietnamese viewed the elections. The thinking in high places was the Hanoi would be extremely difficult to deal before November for fear Mr. Nixon would insist on much harsher terms after re-election.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Leg Pains

Dear Doctor: I read in your column that "growing doesn't hurt anybody." Well, my five-year-old son has been having pains in his legs every once in a while at night.

He'll wake up crying and I have to rub his legs before it subsides and he goes back to sleep. This has been happening for about two years.

I took him to the doctor and he took X-rays of his legs and said nothing showed up and it was probably just "growing pains." Should I take him to a specialist of some kind? — Mrs. J. D. S.

I'd be willing to bet that your doctor smiled at you when he said that, didn't he?

If there is such an ailment as "growing pains," I have missed the literature describing it.

No. Growing does not cause pain. You have joined an army of millions of mothers the world over who have become midnight masseuses to ease the overstrained muscles of their active youngsters. Not even children with all of their boundless energy and seemingly indestructible bodies can escape the fact that overworked muscles will complain.

You will probably notice that his leg pains follow days of extra vigorous exertion, perhaps on days when little friends or relatives have spent the day at your home or after a family reunion or an outing.

Rubbing his legs, as you have already learned, is one of the time-honored and effective means of relieving the discomfort. Heating pads often help, too.

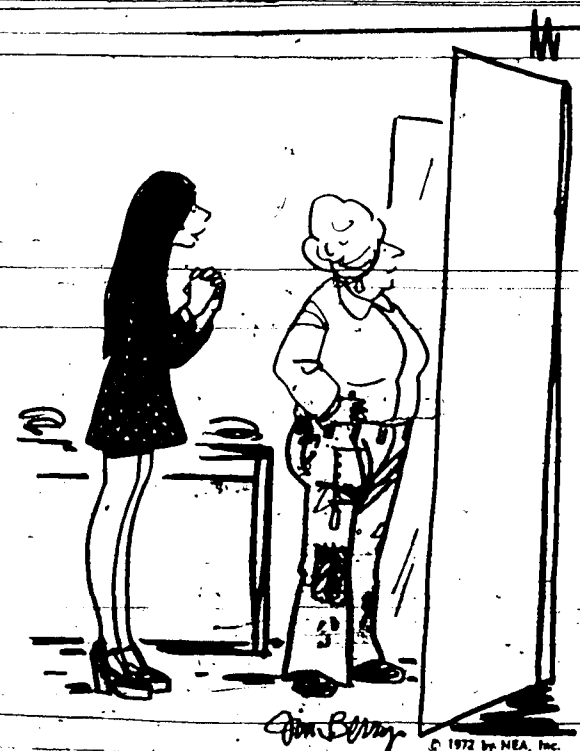

If such pains continue or occur during days of less vigorous exercise, you might do well to visit an orthopedist or a podiatrist. Often faulty foot mechanics call for specially built shoes that take care of such problems.

But I suspect that you are simply blessed with a normal, active child who happens to get more active some days than others.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: They say that men should not shovel snow as it can cause heart attacks. They say this does not pertain to women. Why — when they are much more delicate? — F. J. Generally speaking, women are not more delicate than men. Men have a higher incidence of heart attacks than women. They may be unaware of impending trouble until under the stress of shoveling. Women are also subject to heart attacks under such exertions, usually more so after menopause.

I think one reason, though, for the snow-shoveling being directed to men rather than to women is the fact that, in the scheme of things, men are more commonly assigned this type of family chore and, being men, they assume their strength and reserve is unlimited.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Notice how beautifully they're faded? The patches and stains are all in the right places. Oh, those blue jeans are you!"

Bad crime rate least in 12 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious crime increased one per cent in the United States during the first nine months of 1972, the smallest increase since the FBI started issuing quarterly reports in 1960, Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said today.

There was an increase of 6 per cent in serious crime during the same period in 1971, the Justice Department report said.

Kleindienst said 83 major cities recorded actual decreases in serious crime during the January through September period this year, compared with 52 cities during the same period in 1971.

The attorney general said the statistics reflected "the concentrated and cooperative efforts of all levels of government—federal, state and local."

Kleindienst also gave these statistics:

—Violent crime increased 3 per cent during the first nine months of 1972, compared with a 10 per cent increase for the same period in 1971.

—Property crimes showed no increase during the 1972 period, compared with a 6 per cent increase last year.

—Cities with 100,000 or more inhabitants reported a 3 per cent decrease in serious crime, while crime in suburban areas increased 4 per cent. Suburban areas crime increased 11 per cent during the same period in 1971. Crime in rural areas increased 6 per cent during the first nine months of 1972.

The report said serious crime in the District of Columbia dropped 27 per cent during the nine-month period. Violent crimes in the capital were down 23 per cent.

Kleindienst said cities with a decrease in crime included Akron, Ohio; Albany, N.Y.; Allentown, Pa.; Arlington, Va.; Austin, Texas; Berkeley, Calif.; Birmingham, Ala.; Boston; Bridgeport, Conn.; Cambridge, Mass.; Charlotte, N.C.; Chicago; Cleveland, Ohio; Columbia, S.C.; Columbus, Ga.; Columbus, Ohio; Corpus Christi, Texas; Dallas; Dearborn, Mich.; Des Moines, Iowa; Detroit; Duluth, Minn.; Elizabeth, N.J.; El Paso, Texas; Evansville, Ind.; Fall River, Mass.

'This land is my land'

Howard Hughes hides in London

LONDON (UPI) — Billionaire Howard Hughes is somewhere in London, everyone agrees, but no one was saying where.

Most British newsmen said they thought he was holed up in a sealed-off top floor wing of the luxury Inn on the Park hotel overlooking Hyde Park.

And though hotel officials denied it, tight security arrangements around the wing indicated it was indeed the latest hideaway in Hughes' career of dodging publicity.

The 67-year-old Hughes slipped into Britain just before midnight Tuesday, arriving in his private jet at Gatwick airport after an earthquake in Managua caused him to leave the Nicaraguan capital.

At the airport, official sources said, Hughes received the kind of VIP treatment accorded royalty and diplomats—even though his U.S. passport had expired.

Immigration officials checked his papers aboard his plane so he would not have to pass through immigration gates like other passengers and four Rolls-Royces picked him and his party up at the terminal.

House of Commons sources said the treatment given Hughes might spark criticism in Parliament. New rules recently laid down bar special treatment at British airport for anyone but royalty and official guests.

The newspaper Daily Express today gave Hughes aide John Eckersley's report on how Hughes escaped from the earthquake that struck Managua last Saturday.

"We were in our hotel, when the building started to shake. A little later during a bigger tremor there was a tremendous bang as though someone had smashed a giant hammer down on the building," Eckersley said. "Pictures fell down and furniture started rolling about. I thought someone had taken hold of the world and given it a good shake."

"I ran down to see how Mr. Hughes was. He was cool—so cool. Everyone was saying we must evacuate immediately but he said no," Eckersley said.

Hostilities resume in N. Ireland

BELFAST (UPI) — British army troops shot a gunman dead Wednesday night in the first killing in Northern Ireland since a Christmas cease-fire by political and religious extremists involved in the province's 3-1/2 year conflict.

Fourteen other persons were wounded in bombings and shootings during a 48-hour period which followed the resumption of hostilities.

British spokesmen said troops shot and killed Eugene M. Devlin, 22, in the town of Strabane on the border with the Irish republic. Another man with him was wounded when an army patrol opened fire after challenging the two men to stop.

lics and army troops.

An army spokesman said troops found an M1 carbine and a .303 caliber rifle near Devlin and the other man.

The Strabane killing climaxed a resumption of violence that spluttered on and off since the Christmas lull.

Thirteen other persons were wounded in incidents Tuesday and Wednesday in what police described as violence "on all sides."

Among those wounded were a man and a woman passing a cafe in Portadown, 25 miles south of Belfast, when a bomb planted in the cafe doorway exploded. They were struck by flying debris.

Cafe employees and customers had fled when they saw two masked men plant the bomb. Police were still evacuating the surrounding area when it exploded.

Attack ordered

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos Wednesday ordered a large scale counter-attack to retake villages occupied by foreign-trained secessionist rebels in the southern Philippines.

Authorized government sources said the government offensive in unspecified places in Mindanao and the Sulu Archipelago, 460 to 600 miles south of Manila, was expected "in the next few days."

Information Department Secretary Francisco S. Tatad confirmed reports that "some Mindanao barrios villages have fallen under control of insurgents" allied with the Communists.

Reports probed on SST plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of a conservation organization said today that no country has the moral right to create a supersonic transport (SST) that would deplete the world's supply of oil and pollute its environment.

"Oil will have too many far more important uses throughout all the future we can envisage," said David R. Brower, president of Friends of the Earth. "This generation does not have the moral right, and should not have the gall to waste its oil on SST's, who ever builds them."

Brower testified before a joint economic subcommittee hearing, called by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to investigate reports that the administration plans to revive the SST, which was killed by the last Congress.

Administration witnesses refused to testify, although Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe has said publicly that no SST money will be included in the upcoming budget.

However, numerous opponents appeared to testify.

"We deplore the indications that the administration now wishes to try mouth-to-mouth resuscitation of an albatross that should be given a decent burial and forgotten," said Brower. "Organizations devoted to the protection of the environment here and abroad have a heavy enough burden without having to refight battles, properly won at substantial cost, with such frequency."

"As we have tried to make clear before, the supersonic transport is economically unsound. It produces an intolerable level of noise, whether flying supersonically or subsonically."

"It adds to atmospheric pollution, unacceptably at lower elevations and possibly catastrophically at its higher altitudes. It threatens an unconscionable drain on the world's vanishing stores of fossil fuels, oil in particular."

Brower urged Congress to ban all SST takeoffs and landings in the United States and its possessions.

He said that the 500 SSTs that the Boeing Company proposed to build before the program was killed would use up an extra 2 million barrels of jet fuel per day to maintain its extra speed over the same number of passenger miles produced by the Boeing 747.

"That happens to equal the predicted drain on North Slope oil that the proposed trans-Alaska pipeline would carry," Brower said, adding that if all that oil were refined into jet fuel, then the convenience of the jet set would cost the world the entire Alaska discovery in less than two decades.

NY plans action

NEW YORK (UPI) — As of New Year's Day, the Animal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will desex all animals adopted from its New York facilities.

Charles Haines, president of the chapter, said, "Primarily, we hope to keep the animal population in New York City within reasonable bounds. It would be far better if there were fewer unwanted animals in the city. Much of the blame for this is the result of street corner and backyard breeding fostered by irresponsible owners."

Planet Mars comes to life

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The planet Mars is beginning to "boil" inside—the result of heating from radioactive decay—which may well lead to the production of an atmosphere similar to that of Earth, a professor of planetary science said Wednesday.

Dr. Bruce Murray of the California Institute of Technology told the annual winter meeting of the American Physical Society that findings of the Mariner 9 space probe show that Mars is just coming alive.

He said the decay of radioactive heat has started a boiling process within the planet which creates volcanoes and fracturing of the crust.

Murray said the process may well produce the carbon dioxide and water that make up an atmosphere.

Dr. Robert P. Sharp, another Cal Tech scientist, said features of the surface of Mars as seen by Mariner 9 are probably relatively recent in the geological sense.

Mars may have experienced episodes of profound environmental change, Sharp told the meeting at the University of Southern California.

Most interesting times may still be ahead. The discovery of large scale volcanism on Mars was very significant.

The Mariner studies also have shown the permanent deposits of water ice at the south pole, and possibly at the north pole, he said.

N. Korea elects leader

TOKYO (UPI) — North Korea elected Premier Kim Il-sung president today under a new constitution apparently written to provide for an era of coexistence and reunification with South Korea.

The official Korean Central News Agency, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, said Kim was elected at a session of the People's Assembly. It said he will retain the title of premier under which he has ruled the country since 1948.

North Korea's new constitution, adopted by parliament, describes the country as socialist and said its capital is Pyongyang.

This dropped the contention in the old charter that Seoul, the South Korean capital, was the capital of all Korea and that Pyongyang was merely a temporary capital until unification of the two Koreas was achieved.

Pyongyang has served as the North Korean capital since the end of World War II. The previous constitution called North Korea—officially known as the Democratic People's Republic of Korea—a republic.

Detroit officer killed

DETROIT (UPI) — One plainclothes policeman was killed and another critically wounded Wednesday evening in a shooting linked to one earlier this month in which four officers—members of the same controversial undercover unit—were wounded.

Police named two men wanted in the earlier incident as suspects in Wednesday's shootout.

The shooting occurred on Detroit's Northwest Side in a neighborhood where they were investigating a tip involving a robbery and shooting suspect, police spokesmen said. They spotted their assailants lurking in a shadow between two homes.

Hitler aide's remains found

BERLIN (UPI) — A West German district attorney said Wednesday a preliminary examination of a skeleton found in a West Berlin railroad yard Dec. 8 indicated it was that of Martin Bormann, Adolf Hitler's top deputy in Nazi Germany.

However, the evidence was discounted by other investigators.

Wilhelm Metzner, Frankfurt public prosecutor in charge of the long Bormann investigation, said he now believes Bormann died at the end of World War II.

Changes expected in 'Phase III'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials indicate "Phase III" of President Nixon's economic program may see the dropping of rent controls next year and changes in the profit margin rule disliked by business.

They also indicate food price regulations will escape major tampering when the administration's economic stabilization program is redesigned.

Hints of what government economic controllers have in mind for 1973 emerged in briefings for newsmen by leading federal economic policy makers Wednesday.

President Nixon already has said he wants some form of continued stabilization authority when the present Economic Stabilization Act expires April 30, and officials emphasized that Nixon will have the final word on the shape of the redesigned wage-price controls.

The administration has been gathering suggestions from business, labor, consumers, congressmen and its own stabilization officials for the past two weeks. A sense of the thinking of most participants was revealed by the briefings.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said prolonged rent controls have a "negative effect" on tenants as well as landlords.

"We ought to be on the way out of the rent control business," Stein said.

Stein and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz also suggested that reducing coverage of the controls would improve the efficiency of the government stabilization program and eliminate essentially nonproductive paper work for many businesses.

A senior official of the Cost of Living Council, who asked not to be identified, said the business profit margin rule "has got to change."

This regulation, widely criticized in the business community, limits profit margins (profits as a percentage of sales) for companies who boost prices to the average of the best two of the last three fiscal years.

Businessmen have argued that this base period is no longer realistic. More important, most observers concede that the rule encourages wasteful spending by companies who are bumping against their profit margin ceilings.

With a sigh and a shake of his head Donald Rumsfeld, executive director of the Cost of Living Council, told reporters there were three problems to be faced during the next phase of controls: "Food, food and food."

The stubborn rise in food prices, spurred by heavy consumer demand and the fact that prices at the farm level are uncontrolled, has been the biggest headache for the economic controllers.

Murder charge filed

CHICAGO (UPI) — Seven-year-old Johnny Lindquist died last August after lying in a coma for 34 days from a beating allegedly inflicted at home because he had asked to be allowed to return to his foster parents.

On Wednesday, a Cook County grand jury indicted his parents, William and Irene Lindquist, on charges of murder.

While Johnny lay in the coma, his foster parents, Robert and Florence Karvane of Tigerton, Wis., were at his bedside, and their attorneys waged court battles in efforts to gain custody of the child. But Johnny, whose story attracted national attention, never regained consciousness.

"I said in Chicago, it will all come out," Karvane said from his Tigerton home after hearing of the murder indictments Wednesday.

At 8 p.m. on channel 451, Life, Health and The American Woman Patricia Neal, who won a remarkable battle with death seven years ago, narrates this hour about staying alive. The medical crises of 11 women are examined, each with an optimistic ending. All will live longer, happier lives because they sought early treatment.

Movie on channels 2b, 3 and 11 at 7 p.m. Jerry Lewis tempts his usual slapstick with dark humor in "Hook, Line and Sinker." He's an insurance salesman, told he has only a few months to live, and sets out on a world wide spending spree with credit cards. Location scenes filmed in San Diego (2 hours)

Cities promise better life

By DAVID SMOTHERS
UPI Senior Editor

The New Year holds a very modest promise of hope for the big cities of the United States.

City life, for many, will continue to be often miserable, sometimes frightening. Individual neighborhoods will, quite likely, keep on deteriorating as they did in 1972. Urban renewal planners will renege on their pledges in some cities. The economic base may keep on trickling away in others.

But some cities may at last begin to start holding their own.

The big reason why is that many of the people who live in the cities are beginning to care. They are not as frightened, nor feeling as helpless, as they were a year ago.

Another reason is that the flight to the suburbs seems to be tapering off, if for no other reason than that most who could afford to move have already done so.

A few of the glittering urban development plans have come off the drawing boards at last and some show signs of actually working.

There are many who take a dim view of revenue sharing and other federal programs advertised to aid the cities. A popular conclusion among the experts is that the cities, and also the states, will have to do most of the job themselves.

1973 will probably see increased emphasis on police and fire protection, experiments with metropolitan area government, and hopes that new fangled mass transportation programs will save some cities from being dismembered by their highways and freeways.

This is a rough consensus of what urbanologists, city officials and planners, and put-upon citizens told United Press International reporters in a nationwide survey.

Dr. William Grigaby, Professor of City Planning at the University of Pennsylvania, said, "In many ways, the cities are getting better. Even in certain areas where we think things are still bad—like pollution and traffic—a large proportion of people are getting involved in the problems. I think we've turned the corner with some of them."

"People have developed a will to solve these problems. In many cities, these problems are less than they were 10 years ago. We're turning the corner because they affect everyone, so you can generate the political support to solve them."

"But if you focus on the problems of race and poverty ... they are still close to crisis proportions."

A resident of New York City's West Side Manhattan said, "The main way to improve the city is to change the people. This is a very imperial city. People live in big buildings and it's not conducive to chatting over the backyard fence. There is an air of paranoia that pervades the city. No one does more than they have to. People are afraid when you accidentally bump into them on the street."

Reba Winer, who owns an antique and gift shop in mid-city Pittsburgh and whose store has been broken into about a half dozen times, said, "I adore the city and wouldn't want to live elsewhere. It's what I know. I love it and I hate it because of what's happening to it—the violence and the crime and the fear and not being able to be at ease whether outside or inside.

'I adore the city and wouldn't want to live elsewhere'

"As much as I love the city, I could leave it with no compunction because of what is happening. I don't know when we'll be touched (robbed) next. You shouldn't have to live that way."

M. Carl Holman, president of the Washington-based Urban Coalition, said he is most concerned about "the psychology of abandonment—the feeling that nothing is really going to work. There are no big national signs that are hopeful, but there are some small workable things being done in the cities."

"We've got to start showing some things work, to put aside the defeatist psychology," he said. Regarding the exodus to the suburbs of well-heeled householders seeking a refuge from city troubles, Holman recalled the words of Joe Louis as he prepared to meet an elusive foe: "You can run but you can't hide."

Lawrence Susskind, director

reported on what Los Angeles is doing about what has been regarded as its own, peculiar problem.

Los Angeles has been the butt of more cracks about smog than any spot in the nation. Even the astronauts got into the act by reporting they could spot old L.A. from space because of the smog blanket. Frank Sinatra joined the club, moving to Palm Springs because he said he was choking on the stuff.

The director of the Los Angeles County Air Control Pollution District, however, reports that smog in Los Angeles is steadily decreasing in all its variations. Robert Chass predicts that eye and throat irritation from smog will not be a problem within a matter of a few years and that the country will be virtually smog-free by the year 1980.

Claim settled

WASHINGTON (UPI) —It was 85 years ago that Alexander Graham Bell's claim to invention of the telephone was settled following two years of hearings before the U.S. Patent Office. This occurred nine years after Bell, a resident of Salem, Mass., received Patent number 174,465 in 1876 on what then was called "telegraphy."

Most city officials surveyed found, naturally, occasion to point with pride and a few had some reason to do so.

UPI reporter Jack V. Fox

Arson suspected in NG fire

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Investigators include arson as one of the possible causes of a fire which destroyed the headquarters of the California National Guard.

The blaze also caused "extensive" damage to the $10 million headquarters building of the Department of Motor Vehicles, which housed the guard and the state Military Department.

of threat to its armories and other installations."

Ames' statement said he "does not rule out the possibility of the headquarters fire being the result of an overt act." A spokesman told newsmen there was "no conclusive proof" arson or sabotage was the cause.

State and local fire investigators said they had not determined the cause of the fire, which broke out in the guard headquarters shortly before midnight Monday. But they included arson as a possible cause.

Ames said personnel and installation records and emergency plans were lost in the fire. However, he reported the headquarters had been relocated to a temporary site and was "fully operational."

Perrine replacement heads list

TWIN FALLS — Replacement of Perrine Memorial Bridge and two other Twin Falls projects head the 1973 construction program for Idaho Highway Department's Second District.

Approved projects were announced today by the department for the district, which covers the Magic Valley and part of central Idaho.

For all Idaho, the estimated cost of interstate highway work is $31 million, plus $20 million for primary, secondary and urban highway systems.

State highway engineer E. L. Mathes said carrying out the full program will depend on approval by the state legislature of the department's proposed budget and on early enactment of federal aid highway legislation by the 93rd Congress.

The scheduled work is based on a premise that all federal aid apportionments will be released to the state, Mathes said. No federal aid highway act was passed before the 92nd Congress adjourned.

The largest project in the district is the replacement of the Perrine Bridge over the Snake River Canyon north of Twin Falls at an estimated cost of $8.4 million.

The new span would be located immediately east of the existing bridge, which is still carrying traffic although underweight limits were imposed several years ago due to deterioration of the steel structure.

The other two major Twin Falls projects are the rebuilding of .8 of a mile of Addison Avenue carrying U. S. Highway 93 and the reconstruction of the West Five Points intersection.

Both those projects and the Perrine Bridge replacement are among the listed projects dependant on federal aid funds.

Other interstate highway projects in the district for 1973, either new construction or continuation of work started in 1972, include:

- Construction of an additional two lanes of I-80N from Coterrel to the Sweetzer interchange, 23.4 miles.
- Construction of 4.7 miles of I-80N between the east and west Bliss interchanges.
- Both are federal aid projects.
- Construction of rest area facilities is planned at Hollister on US 93; at Cedar Draw on U. S. 30 and at Timmerman Hill on U. S. 93 and State Highway 68.
- Other projects in the district include:
  - Bridges over Fourth of July, Champion, Beaver and Frenchman Creeks on U. S. 93, north of Galena Summit.
  - Extension of a culvert and correction of highway profile on U. S. 93A in Mackay.
  - Paving of 6.6 miles of State Highway 46 from Johnson Hill to the junction with State Highway 68.
  - Acquisition of right of way for widening 1.7 miles of State Highway 79 at the south edge of Jerome to the I-80N interchange, a federal aid project.
  - Paving of U. S. 93 from the Junction of State Highway 74 to U. S. 30.
  - Widening and sealing of 1.2 miles of State Highway 74 south of Twin Falls.
  - Paving shoulders and sealing 8.9 miles of U. S. 20-26 from Shoshone to Richfield.
  - Construction of 10.6 miles of State Highway 24 from Dietrich east, a federal aid project.
  - Continuing work on 6.1 miles of State Highway 24 west of Kimama.
  - Installing traffic signals at Overland and Twenty-First Street in Burley on State Highway 27, a federal aid project.

Sober newsman tripped up by GM's CTT system

By EDWARD S. LECHTZIN
UPI Auto Writer

DETROIT (UPI) — Even a sober newsman can be tripped up by General Motors' latest attempt to separate the drunk driver from his car.

Most of the newsmen who tried GM's Critical Tracking Task (CTT) system Thursday were unable to pass on the first attempt. If they had been behind the wheel of a real car, instead of a simulator, the car would not have let them start it.

UPI Auto Writer Edward S. Lechtzin failed the first time. However, having learned how the 10-second drunk test worked, he had no further difficulty.

That's the key to the system. Once a driver has learned the device, it should allow him to start the car except when he can't go through motions similar to steering a car on the road.

The CTT is only the latest of a long line of devices which the automakers hope will keep the drunk driver — who accounts for half of all fatal accidents — off the road. GM engineers won't predict if the CTT will ever be put on production models in its present form or how much it might add to the cost of a car.

It's only an experimental model now and will get its first on-the-road testing in early 1973 with a group of volunteers who will have the use of 10 cars equipped with the system. First, they'll learn how it works on a simulator, then "drive" cars equipped with it for a couple of weeks.

Finally, under hospital conditions and with cars that couldn't be started even if the "driver" passes the test, the volunteers will have a party — getting purposely drunk to see if the device would keep them off the road.

The experimental system makes use of the car's steering wheel and requires the driver to pass the 10-second test by controlling the movement of a needle on an instrument panel before he can start the car. It's reminiscent of a penny arcade's road game where a model car has to be kept on a revolving and winding roadway to rack up a big score.

The only score on the CTT is permission to start the car.

One of the main problems in developing drunk test devices for cars is designing one that can pick out the intoxicated motorist without penalizing the sober one.

Red Cross seeks 'quake aid

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The American Red Cross officials have asked persons wishing to aid victims of the Managua, Nicaragua, earthquake to send donations to their local Red Cross agency.

The Red Cross said clothing, food and other donations of supplies are being discouraged because of the difficulty in handling, shipping and dispersing items.

Red Cross national public relations director, Phil Gaddis in Atlanta said, "When national headquarters learns what is needed, requests would be made to the public."

Time for Living

Rogers Franklin

A few weeks ago I passed a state highway garage while a work crew was painting it. Something unusual about the workers caught my eye. True, they wore the familiar hard hats, but I saw gray hair.

Looking closer, I realized that this was not the traditional hard hat — it was green, bearing the emblem of a hand with a green thumb. These men were Green Thumbs.

I learned that they were part of a federal job-relief program for the elderly rural poor. Sponsored by the National Farmers Union, the program started five years ago and has providing worthwhile jobs for thousands of people who could not find work.

What do they do? Green Thumbs participate in public service projects — they help beautify our highways, build new parks, aid in conservation and community betterment programs.

For example, they've planted more than four million trees, helped restore historical sites like Utah's Brigham Young State Park, and the Church of the Presidents Museum in New Jersey.

That's not all. Green Thumbs, along with workers in the companion Green Light program, also help the aged, shut-ins, and handicapped. They work in schools as teachers' aides, lunchroom aides.

But this is not just for men. Although Green Thumb attracts primarily men in work on highways, Green Light, a companion project, is geared to women.

It, too, is growing rapidly. But both programs are open to men and women. Green Lighters, who work two days a week, focus on boosting present community services.

All workers earn $1.85 an hour, up to $1,600 a year. Green Thumbs work three days a week.

At last count, there were about 4,000 workers in both programs in 24 states and in Puerto Rico. The more recent projections are being discouraged because of the difficulty in handling, shipping and dispersing items.

Strip mining faces tough new opposition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strip mining — which has devastated much of Appalachia and now threatens western coalfields — faces renewed and strengthened opposition when the new session of Congress opens next week.

Although House-passed anti-strip mining legislation died in the waning days of the last session, it received impetus from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who included it on his list of must legislation for next year.

Strip mining occurs when topsoil is scraped away by bulldozers to expose coal and other minerals for extraction.

The process is now the principal means of extracting coal, taking over from underground mining in 1971.

Although coal reserves have been partially depleted in the Appalachian Mountains, vast reserves remain untouched in North and South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming and in the corn belt.

Indication of the intense interest in getting a bill to President Nixon early in the 93rd Congress, and in setting the Senate as the primary battleground, came in a series of actions since the last Congress adjourned.

Mansfield, along with Sens. Frank Moss, D-Utah, and Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., responded sharply to a Nov. 22 letter from Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton. In the letter, Morton attacked a pending "Sense of the Senate" resolution calling for a moratorium on leasing of federal land in Montana for strip mining until a federal law is passed.

It would be unwise to declare a moratorium on all leasing when there is continuing need for coal, and such a constraint would simply shift operation to private lands which are not subject to federal regulations," Morton said.

The three senators called Morton's statement an "arrogance of the executive branch" and chastised him for his assurances that the Interior Department would safeguard the land against abuses.

"Your reliance upon the regulations of the department to do a 'proper job' as you put it to 'guarantee environmental acceptable mining' is not supported by actual performance," they said, citing a General Accounting Office (GAO) report which said such enforcement was lax.

While Mansfield, Moss and Metcalf appeared upset over lack of executive action to halt abuses, they were unable to bring to the floor a strong bill which passed the House on Oct. 11 by a surprisingly strong 265 to 75.

That bill would have given the Interior Department the power to ban strip mining in areas it deemed unsuitable for reclamation; prohibited such mining on slopes of more than 20 degrees unless the operator could prove in advance that he could do acceptable reclaiming; and authorized the secretary to tion by the first of March a surface mining bill."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Six months ago a married couple we know split up. The wife sold all the furniture, so we bought their large new refrigerator, and I let her have my older, smaller one.

Five weeks later this couple went back together again. The wife had told her husband that we had agreed to return their refrigerator if they ever decided to reconcile. [This is not true.]

Well, we didn't want to make a big stink, so we agreed to return their refrigerator and take our old one back.

I had theirs delivered, and when ours arrived I was horrified! The wife had painted, "I AM UGLY" on the door of the refrigerator in bright blue enamel!

I called her up and asked her about it. She said, "Go to it, you fat b——!"

'Fridge' crisis

Abby, we didn't have to sell her refrigerator back to her. We did it as a favor to her. Now, we've been getting vulgar letters and crank phone calls from her, and when we pass her on the road she makes obscene gestures. [She's 22 years old.]

The police suggest we sign a complaint against her. We are easy-going people and don't want to cause trouble. We just want to be left alone. Don't say, "talk to the husband." He's henpecked.

MRS. M.

Any suggestions?

DEAR MRS. M.: If she's annoying you, by all means sign a complaint. The poor woman sounds disturbed to me.

DEAR ABBY: Something has bugged me for a long time. Maybe you can put me straight on it.

It irritates me when my grown, married children who have their own homes just walk right in without knocking or calling—and sometimes without even speaking.

I would not do that to them as I respect their privacy enough to knock on their door.

Am I just a selfish person to resent this invasion of my privacy? And why do grown children do this?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: It's habit. Since your home was once THEIR home, even tho they have their own homes now, they feel that what's yours is still theirs.

If you are bugged by their lack of consideration for your privacy, why not lay it on the line and get it over with?

DEAR ABBY: I have an experience I would like to share with other frustrated parents.

When our kids were in high school we were quite strict. There were places they couldn't go, and things they couldn't do. They gave us the old line, "Everybody else is." We spent many uneasy hours wondering if perhaps we were depriving them of some harmless fun, but we stuck to our guns.

Now our children are grown and have families of their own, and each of them has come to me and said, "I'm glad you held us down when we were kids. If we didn't go along with the other kids we were chicken, but if Pop said "No," that settled it, and we were off the hook."

I asked, "Then why did you gripe so much because you couldn't do what the other kids could do?" They said, "Well, sometimes we didn't think we ought to, but we half wanted to. We would have done it if you had let us—and if we got in trouble, we would have blamed you, because you let us do it. Thanks, Mother, for not letting us get in trouble."

MRS. C. IN LISBON, N. H.

DEAR MRS. C.: Well said.

A Lovelier You

A MONEY-MINDED MISS TEEN

By Mary Sue Miller

Answer me this, Miss Teen: When you set out to buy clothes, what's your main objective? Most girls answer that their aim is style, color and becomingness.

Well those goals are all to the good, but not the end all. Fabric workmanship and fit rate high as considerations. Unless all three pass muster, you will not get your money's worth out of a purchase in service or pleasure.

At any given price the quality of material varies. What you want is the best buy at the price. Be sure to read tags for fiber content, performance and care. Remember that easy-care fabrics save upkeep effort and/or money.

Good workmanship presupposes generous seams, adequately finished against fray; firmly bound buttonholes; concealed zippers, unless the "hardware" kind and meant to show; well-made trimmings — question the shoddy or freaky.

The best chance of a good fit comes when you patronize departments catering to your figure type — junior, misses, tall. Juniors suit smallish, young figures. Misses are made for taller, more mature figures. Talls are for girls over 16 years looking for 6-foot dates.

Even when you are in the correct department, not all garments fit perfectly. Do watch for the little "misfit" — a gaping neckline, too wide or snug shoulders, waistlines that miss yours, bustlines that droop or draw up. Any such render a fashion unbecoming and uncomfortable.

Last question: Is it a fad or a fashion? You don't have to answer if you're so rich you don't care.

East overruffed with the seven-spot. Remember, South had used up the nine earlier in the play. Then East led a fourth spade and West was able to score his king of trumps on an over-ruff to set South two tricks.

Let's see what South did wrong. To start with, he should have played his ace of diamonds at trick two. That would have produced an honor from West whereupon South should have played his king of clubs; a club to dummy's ace—a ruff of a third club and the play of a second trump.

This same line should have been followed after East was obliging enough to lead back a club, and finally, if South had just held back dummy's nine of trumps for the ruff of the last heart he would still have made his contract.

Search begins for Idaho's 1973 'Mother of the Year'

TWIN FALLS — Helen Henderson, Twin Falls, 1971 Idaho Mother of the Year, said the search for the 1973 Mother of the Year has begun.

Idaho's Mother of the Year is chosen from names sponsored by church or civic organizations throughout the state and submitted to a selection committee made up of prominent church, civic and education leaders.

The person selected by the judges to represent Idaho will attend the annual meeting of state mothers the week prior to Mother's Day. This year's meeting will be in Denver, Colo.

The Idaho Mother of the Year will be eligible to enter the American Mother of the Year contest. Mrs. Lola Clyde, Moscow, was the 1972 Idaho Mother of the Year.

Application blanks for nominating a mother are available from Mrs. C. H. Higer, 1001 E. 1st St., Emmett, Idaho 83617. The completed blanks must be returned to her not later than March 1, 1973.

Mrs. Henderson said entrants must meet qualifications set forth by the committee.

No. 1. Must be qualified to represent mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to the role.

No. 2. Successful mother and homemaker as evidenced by character and achievements of her children.

No. 3. Must embody traits highly regarded in mothers.

No. 4. Must be a member of a religious body.

No. 5. Must have a sense of responsibility in civic affairs and be active in public service to society.

No. 6. Must not be a divorcee.
No. 7. Youngest child must be over 15 years of age.
No. 8. Adopted children with her own children, or alone, may qualify.

Mrs. Henderson said the purpose of the American Mother's Committee is to develop and strengthen the moral and spiritual life of the American home, to give to the observance of Mother's Day a spiritual quality which highlights the standard of ideal motherhood and to conduct a search each year for the selection of a state Mother of Idaho from nominees sponsored by one or more organized groups.

"It is hoped that many communities in Idaho will sponsor a candidate for the honor," she said.

Belgium recognizes E. Germany

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Belgium Wednesday became the first member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to announce it has agreed to establish diplomatic relations with Communist East Germany.

Similar agreements by other NATO members were expected shortly.

The Netherlands opened talks with the East Germans Wednesday and Denmark has asked the East Germans to open talks next month.

The Big Three Western powers—the United States, Britain and France—announced earlier this month they plan to "open contacts" which may become full relations, although not before next spring.

A government announcement here said Belgium and East Germany "have decided to establish diplomatic relations and to exchange ambassadors."

But a government spokesman said Belgium's act conformed to a NATO communique issued Dec. 8, saying that "the German people today live in two states" but recognizing West Germany's ambition to work toward "unity through free self-determination."

A NATO spokesman said this meant "diplomatic relations without diplomatic recognition." In other words, the NATO governments will do business on all levels with East Germany while recognizing it only as one of two German states—not a state in its own right.

It was this tortured diplomatic formula that formed the basis for the treaty signed Dec. 21 between East and West Germany. By agreeing to this formula, the NATO nations followed the lead of their Bonn ally.

The Belgian spokesman said East Germany made its first approach for negotiations on Nov. 29. On Dec. 6-8, NATO foreign ministers met here and freed Belgium's hands.

Most admired

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon, for the fourth consecutive year, is the man Americans most admire in the world today, followed by the Rev. Billy Graham and Harry S. Truman, the Gallup Poll indicated Wednesday.

The poll was conducted Dec. 8-11 and included interviews with 1,008 persons 18 or older at 300 selected localities across the nation.

Nixon, landslide winner in the Nov. 7 presidential election, held a wider margin over the field this year than he did in the past three, the survey said. Graham also was No. 2 for the fourth straight year.

A newcomer to the list was Dr. Henry Kissinger, Nixon's foreign affairs adviser, who placed fourth.

Truman, who died Tuesday, figured prominently in the poll's "Most Admired Man" list since its inception in 1946. He placed among the top 10 in 22 out of a total of 27 surveys, heading the list in 1948 and 1949.

In fifth place was Sen. Edward Kennedy, followed by Spiro Agnew and Pope Paul VI. Two other newcomers to the list were George McGovern, ninth, and Willy Brandt, 10th.

Many scientists protest firing of health chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 1,000 government scientists have sent a letter to President Nixon in protest of the unprecedented, forced resignation of Dr. Robert A. Marston as director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), a spokesman said Wednesday.

"As physicians and scientists at NIH we deeply regret the unprecedented forced resignation on Dec. 8, 1972, of the director of NIH," said the letter from the NIH Inter-assembly Council of the Assemblies of Scientists. "This is the first time in the history of the NIH that its director has been made to resign shortly after a presidential election."

Associates said Marston wanted to remain on the job as chief of the largest biomedical research center in the world.

Marston, like several thousand other top government officials, submitted a requested pro forma resignation to the White House after the Nov. 7 election to give Nixon an opportunity to reorganize the bureaucracy during his second term. Marston was told earlier this month that his resignation would be accepted.

NIH has a $2.1 billion annual budget for research grants and fellowships and health manpower education.

"We know the President is going to call the shots and it is not to our benefit to antagonize him and it wouldn't be to the benefit of health either," Dr. Robert Adelstein, a spokesman, said in a telephone interview. "This is a respectful thing to bring our concern to his attention more than anything else."

Adelstein, a research section chief with the National Heart and Lung Institute, said about 1,000 scientists from most of the 10 NIH institutes are represented by the Inter-Assembly Council.

"It is not fair to say all the scientists here are up in arms but I think a lot of them are upset by what was done," Adelstein said.

The NIH medical researchers, like some private medical groups, are worried that Marston's successor will be primarily a manager without either the interests of basic research or the support of national health organizations.

"We express our strong hope that his successor will be chosen not only for his skills as an administrator but for his stature in the fields of basic and clinical research," the letter said.

Marston, whose successor has not been named, has agreed to remain at NIH "in one capacity or another" at least until next summer.

Other top health officials in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) who have resigned since Nixon's victory include Dr. Merlin K. DuVal, assistant secretary for health; Dr. Vernon E. Wilson, administrator of the Health Services and Mental Health Administration, and Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld.

Congress facing basic health care decisions

By DON PHILLIPS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress must make some basic early decisions about health care, and before it adjourns two years hence there may be vast changes in the way Americans receive and pay for health care.

The question is almost predestined to become one of the major confrontations between President Nixon and the 93rd Congress.

Battle lines already are well defined in two areas—health insurance and health maintenance organizations (HMO), the group health plans that provide a full range of health care to subscribers.

But a more immediate and basic decision will be thrust on the new Congress by the expiration June 30 of 14 existing health acts, including the Hill-Burton Act on hospital construction aid and federal programs on drug abuse, alcoholism, mental retardation, family planning, migrant health, medical libraries and information programs for physicians.

Normally these programs would be extended almost automatically, the only decision being how much money to provide them. But reports are circulating on Capitol Hill that Nixon wants to restructure the health care system by downgrading some programs and allowing others to expire.

States would assume the responsibility, using funds from Nixon's special revenue sharing programs.

The definite word on Nixon's plans may not come until he submits his budget to Congress in late January. But sources on both Senate and House health subcommittees feel the mass exodus of administration health officials may be paving the way to change.

Merlin DuVal, assistant HEW secretary for health, Robert Marston, director of the National Institutes of Health, and many of their subordinates have announced their resignations over the past few weeks.

A source on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's Senate health subcommittee also noted that the Senate last session passed legislation extending 9 of the 14 health programs, but that the administration managed to kill them in the House, apparently to set up changes in 1973.

Health insurance might well spark the biggest battle of the 93rd Congress.

A spokesman said Kennedy would re-introduce as soon as Congress convenes his plan for compulsory health insurance coverage of every person in the country, financed by a new federal tax, with a generous benefit package.

It remains to be seen what sort of health insurance package the administration will offer, but it likely will be patterned after the one proposed in the last Congress to provide increased protection through private insurance companies.

Instead, said a spokesman for Rogers said, it would be better to provide direct government programs for those who need them—and government plans through private companies for the bulk of the population, with extra coverage available to anyone who wanted it and could afford it.

"If we do it that way, we could look on the insurers like public utilities and regulate them," the spokesman said.

In addition, he said, there must be some sort of national program to cover massive bills brought about by catastrophic illnesses.

Both Rogers and Rep. William R. Roy, D-Kan., said they would reintroduce their HMO bills this year.

Analysis

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., chairman of the House public health subcommittee, feels the final legislation will fall somewhere in between.

Rogers feels the government must step in to help those who can't afford insurance such as the elderly, and those who can't easily get medical care such as those in rural areas. But he also feels the private insurance industry can't be junked entirely.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic drugs. Some are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever available without prescription—doctors dispense again and again—Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Lie detector test use asked

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A University of Utah psychologist says lie detector tests should be used to speed up the judicial process and protect individual rights for both the innocent and guilty.

Dr. David Raskin, a specialist in psychophysiology, said polygraph tests are more accurate than eyewitness evidence.

Such examinations, he said, would aid in exonerating innocent persons, and hold dividends for the guilty as well. More than 50 per cent of those who have committed a crime confess when confronted with polygraph results, and consequently get speedier trials and lighter sentences.

This would be impossible since no one can be forced either physically or legally to take a polygraph test.

He said test results should be treated like fingerprints, x-rays and other scientific tests now readily accepted by courts. Objections to the tests based on individual rights to privacy and liberty have been misinterpreted, Raskin said, and it is "more of a guarantee than a deprivation of rights."

Dr. Raskin said polygraph examinations would aid the defense in determining the veracity of a client's testimony, thus permitting more efficient use of time. Also, courtroom witnesses would be under new pressure to testify truthfully.

He said the taxpayer would benefit as a result, since shorter court proceedings reduce the public cost of judiciary processes.

NIH has a $2.1 billion annual budget for research grants and fellowships and health manpower education.

"We know the President is going to call the shots and it is not to our benefit to antagonize him and it wouldn't be to the benefit of health either," Dr. Robert Adelstein, a spokesman, said in a telephone interview. "This is a respectful thing to bring our concern to his attention more than anything else."

Adelstein, a research section chief with the National Heart and Lung Institute, said about 1,000 scientists from most of the 10 NIH institutes are represented by the Inter-Assembly Council.

Nine areas get aid on physicians

DENVER (UPI) — The announcement came a day late for Christmas, but the residents of nine doctor-scarce communities in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and the Dakotas could not have asked for a better present.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced Tuesday the towns, which were designated as having "critical" doctor shortages, will receive federally-sponsored doctors beginning in July.

Dr. Abel Ossorio, regional director of HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration, said the communities would receive medical personnel from the National Health Service Corps.

Ketchum jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department today added Ketchum, Idaho, and two other small communities to its list of small labor markets with substantial unemployment.

The latest government report on the nation's overall unemployment showed a 5.2 per cent rate for November.

The Labor Department's Manpower Administration said unemployment in Ketchum, and Georgetown and Winnsboro, S.C., however rose above the 6 per cent level—the mark used to determine a classification of substantial unemployment.

At the same time the department dropped Grand Rapids, Mich., from its list of major cities with unemployment of 6 per cent or more, and also dropped six smaller communities from its list of smaller labor markets.

There are now 45 cities on the major list, the lowest in nearly two years. And 830 communities are on the smaller labor market list.

TF residents mistake cops for robbers

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls residents have been mistaking the cops for the robbers, but Police Chief Frank Barnett compliments them on their vigilance.

Twice Wednesday city residents reported suspicious activity to the police department, and the suspicious activity turned out to be city detectives doing their jobs.

In the first instance, which occurred Wednesday between noon and 1 p.m. according to Chief Barnett, detectives were spotted climbing over a fence and going to the rear entrance of a local residence.

The detectives were in the process of making an arrest, but the resident who saw them didn't know that. He or she reported suspicious characters going to the rear of the residence, and also supplied a description of the unmarked police car.

When the call came over the police radio, Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls, who was involved in the arrest, picked up the microphone in his car and told the desk sergeant, "You can disregard that one."

In the second instance, Barnett said detectives were accompanying a burglary suspect to a site where stolen merchandise was hidden when two youngsters, one with a pair of binoculars, observed them.

The boys ran home and called police to report that they had seen men stealing power saws and other equipment from near a building in Rock Creek Canyon. They furnished descriptions of the detectives and their car.

Chief Barnett said he would like to compliment those who called in for their observations and that they took the time and trouble to call in.

"The next time it might be of great value to us," Barnett said.

Barnett said similar incidents had happened in the past, but not frequently. "It's been a long time," he said.

Cassia inquest slated

BURLEY — A coroner's inquest into the death of Marie Boswell will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the Cassia County courthouse.

Mrs. Boswell, a Heyburn resident, died Saturday from injuries sustained in a Burley automobile accident at the intersection of Eighth Street and Normal Avenue. She was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Lois Saldana, Heyburn.

Mrs. Saldana and her daughter, Mashell, also a passenger, were treated and released at Cassia Memorial Hospital after the accident.

Mrs. Boswell, 72, was pronounced dead approximately one-half hour after arriving at the hospital. She reportedly received massive chest injuries.

The Saldana vehicle collided with a pickup truck driven by Delain D. Horne, 18, Rupert, in the accident.

Horne, alone in the truck, was headed south on Normal Avenue and Mrs. Saldana was traveling east on Eighth Street when they collided.

Several sources indicate that Horne might not have heeded a stop sign at the intersection.

Results of an autopsy performed by a Twin Falls pathologist have not been released.

Destroyed by fire

FIRE-GUTTED walls of The Better Hall, a Burley food and meat market, are shown destroyed by flames early Wednesday morning. Estimates of the financial loss in the conflagration have not been released.

CONCRETE BEAM, weighing 15,000 pounds and representing several thousand dollars in community donations, is guided into place in the roofing structure of the new year-around swimming pool in Twin Falls. The building, at the north side of the YM-YWCA building on Elizabeth Boulevard, is progressing as rapidly as funds will permit.

Pool progresses

Pool roofing under way

TWIN FALLS — Giant pre-cast concrete beams are being swung into place in the roofing of the new YM-YWCA indoor swimming pool in Twin Falls.

Charles Upton, executive director of the YMCA, said the construction is proceeding at a good rate with Ullman Construction Co. as contractor, but additional funds are needed to keep the work going.

The contract was bid on a basis of building in stages as money is available, Upton said.

At present the Y has $125,000 in funds and pledges. This will cover preliminary stages and in April and May the Y plans another capital fund drive to bring total revenue to $250,000. This will make the pool operable, Upton said, but will not finish it.

An additional $50,000 will be needed to tile the deck and parts of the pool and to complete the locker rooms and ceiling tile.

Upton said the 25-by-25-foot pool which will be available on a year-around basis to the community, has been excavated and cemented. Walls of the building are now partially up and the roof structure is being put in place.

Twelve of the large concrete beams will be put in place, each weighing 15,000 pounds and representing several thousand dollars in Community contributions. Upton said workers have also completed the mechanical room excavation and foundations are laid.

Workers were on the site this morning in spite of the snowstorm, he said.

Stamps replace Ada commodities

BOISE (UPI) — Low-income residents in Ada County must be certified to participate in the food stamp program that will begin Jan. 2, state officials announced Wednesday.

Food stamps will replace the distribution of food commodities as the low-income food supplement program for Ada County. The last distribution of food commodities was Dec. 22.

Robert Sobelson, director of the food commodities for the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, made the announcement about re-certification for eligible persons.

Sobelson said persons previously certified to receive food commodities must be re-certified as eligible before they can purchase food stamps at one of the nine participating banks.

Applicants for certification must present proper identification and proof of income, he said.

Sobelson said eligibility certification will be done at the Ada County SRS office.

The stamps can be exchanged at retail grocery stores for certain food items worth several dollars more than the purchase price of the stamps, he said.

Search continues

MALAD, Idaho (UPI) — Civil Air Patrol pilots were scheduled to make one last-ditch effort today to locate a plane carrying five persons, missing on a flight to here 11 days ago.

Utah CAP coordinator Dick Raleigh said flyers from the state would attempt to beat a fast moving storm front today, flying search patterns over areas in northern Utah and southeastern Idaho.

Navy CWO Joe Andrews, his wife and three children, disappeared in a heavy storm Dec. 17 on a flight from Nebraska to Oregon. Andrews was scheduled to land at Boise but radioed to Rock Springs, Wyo., that he was diverting to Malad because of bad weather.

Snowmobiles and private citizens have joined CAP units from both states in the search, which has been hindered by winter weather.

Raleigh said Wednesday's search was the first when higher peaks were visible. He said the pilots would be up again today, weather permitting.

Idaho officials have said the lack of results does not mean that the craft is not down in the state.

Snow cover, drifting snow, the white color of the plane, unknown conditions of the craft and the terrain features were all listed as major factors in reducing chances of spotting the wreckage.

A spokesman for the Idaho CAP said, "Further searching at this time would be unlikely to produce results." The approaching storm is expected to drop heavy amounts of snow in the mountain areas.

Andrews was stationed at Norfolk, Va. He was reportedly scheduled to report to California for additional schooling.

Aid asked for fire victims

TWIN FALLS — A young Twin Falls mother and her two children are facing the problem of starting a new home.

Ruth Blubaugh, whose husband, S4 Paul J. Blubaugh is stationed in Vietnam in the U. S. Army, is trying to re-establish her family after fire wiped out their home, furnishings, personal possessions and Christmas gifts.

The young couple was buying a home at 445 Second Ave. W. The wife and children are temporarily residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Dickson, 443 Fourth Ave. W.

Mrs. Dickson said the fire Tuesday night started when the 4-year-old boy, Gerald, picked up a lighted Christmas candle after the mother left the room briefly, and the candle ignited the drapes and spread rapidly to the nearby Christmas tree.

Mrs. Blubaugh had time only to get the children out of the house and to a neighbor's home where the fire department was called.

Mrs. Dickson said members of the LDS Church have brought clothing and her daughter has been able to return to her job at the Four Seasons Supply.

Several persons have brought clothing for the little boys, ages 4 and 2 and some children have even shared their Christmas toys to replace those lost in the fire.

Doug Raper, news director of KEEF, began a fund campaign to help finance the burned out family and money is being sent to P. O. Box 346, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Dickson said the American Red Cross is attempting to bring Blubaugh home and insurance adjustors are working to determine how much of the loss is covered.

She said the young couple may rebuild if they can, but at this time they need a place to live and everything from bedding and dishes to furniture.

SV ski race series set

KETCHUM — A variety of competition will be open to Nordic skiing enthusiasts this winter through a citizen's race and tour program.

According to John Beaupre, program chairman, the race series was organized in conjunction with Sun Valley Ski Education Foundation, with proceeds from entry fees to benefit the new Junior Nordic Racing Team.

Points will be awarded to place finishers toward an overall championship at the end of the season. Race details and entry times and place will be posted locally prior to each race.

Saturday, the Sun Valley New Year's Cross Country race will be conducted at noon on the Sun Valley Golf Course.

Participants will be divided into five classes, including all time open, hot shots — 18 years old and younger, old fogeys, squirts — 12 years old and under, and novices.

All interested residents may enter at the Orehouse, the Wooden Spoon or the Nordic Ski School, located in the Tennis Pro Shop in Sun Valley.

The Silver Boom Relay will be Jan. 14 on a five kilometer — about three mile — loop course at the Sun Valley Gun Club. Relay teams of four members will compete, with each individual running the loop once. Starting time is 11 a.m.

Tentatively scheduled for Jan. 27 is the annual Mountain Marathon Tour, along a 23-mile course from Galena Lodge to Ketchum, paralleling U.S. Highway 93.

The individual tour will be unlimited and hot drink stations will be provided along the route. No age limit has been imposed. The race begins at 10 a.m.

Feb. 17, the second annual Reidy Memorial race has been scheduled for the Sun Valley Golf Course. The individual cross country race will be on a five-kilometer course with a mass "vasloppet" start.

Idaho 'first'

BOISE (UPI) — House Speaker William J. Laning R-Hollister, will become the first Idahoan to serve as chairman of the Council of State Governments, Jan. 1.

Laning was elected chairman elect Dec. 9 to replace Rep. Charles J. Conrad of California.

Plead innocent

RUPERT — Two Rupert residents pleaded not guilty in Fifth District Court Tuesday to charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

Kerry Hayden, 21, and Scott Sheen, 22, were released on their own recognizance after court appearance on the misdemeanor.

Miss Hayden was taken into custody by Minidoka County deputy sheriffs and a state parole officer after they found packets of suspected marijuana in a Minidoka home she occupied at 410 South and 100 West.

Sheen was arrested later in connection with the same findings.

Public defender Herman Bedke was appointed by Magistrate LeRoy Blacker as counsel for the two.

No date has been set for the next court appearance of the pair, but Magistrate Blacker suggested that it would come in the latter part of January.

Minidoka aides plan budget

RUPERT — The Minidoka County commissioners devoted most of their time to 1973 county budget planning in their meeting Wednesday.

County auditor August Bethke said the budget figures should be complete by Jan. 8.

In other business, the county officials voted to raise building permit fees in the county to meet standards outlined in the 1970 Uniform Building Code. Under the adopted schedule a permit for a $20,000 home will cost $74. The fee would be approximately half that amount under the old rates.

Also approved was the installation of electrical feeders and a load center in the county courthouse. The county will purchase the load center and Dalky Electric Co. Rupert, will supply the installation labor and other materials.

The agreement with Dalky includes a stipulation that the costs will not exceed $2,300.

Eludes tackle

South downs North 27-15 in Blue-Grey

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Ken Phares of Mississippi State scored one touchdown with an intercepted pass and set up another score with another interception Wednesday night as the South scored a 27-15 victory over the North in the 35th annual Blue-Gray football game.

On the third play of the game Phares, 6-0, 185-pounds, picked off a pass by Tony Adams of Utah State and raced 34 yards for the game's first score.

In the fourth quarter, Phares picked off another pass by Dennis Morrison of Kansas State to set up another Gray score. Bill Sadler of Texas set up another score with Christian scored after a pass interference call gave the South the ball on the one.

Phares, who was named the South's outstanding defensive player, had help from his Mississippi State teammate, Frank Dowsing, who stopped a Blue drive on the two with an interception in the third quarter.

Ken Garrett of Wake Forest also scored for the South on a one-yard run, and Martin Williams of Rice kicked field goals of 21 and 23 yards to boost the South's total.

The North began a first period scoring drive when defensive end William Windauer of Iowa dropped on a Gray fumble on the Blue 49. Adams later found Doug Winslow of Drake open in the end zone for a 16-yard scoring toss.

The North scored again late in the game.

St. Johns tips Tennessee 56-55 in Holiday Festival

NEW YORK (UPI) — Larry Jenkins sank three foul shots in the last 28 seconds of play Wednesday to give St. John's a 56-55 victory over Tennessee for a berth in the semi-finals of the 21st annual Holiday Festival basketball tournament.

St. John's will meet pre-tourney favorite Michigan in the semis Thursday night. Manhattan met Niagara in the second game of Wednesday's doubleheader with the winner to face South Carolina in Thursday's other semi-final game.

Jenkins, a senior guard, snapped a 53-53 tie with 28 seconds left by sinking both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation. Following Jenkins' free throws Tennessee called time out and got off a shot with 11 seconds left which missed the basket and was rebounded by the Redmen's Tony Prince.

Jenkins was then fouled again with five seconds remaining and sank the first shot of a one-and-one to give St. John's a three point lead, 56-53. With only four seconds to go, the Redmen let Tennessee's Rod Woods drive unmolested for a layup as the final buzzer sounded.

Tennessee, which led at the half, 32-31, fell behind by six points, 48-42, midway through the second half.

Landry will delay quarterback pick

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday he would wait one more day to decide which quarterback — Roger Staubach or Craig Morton — would start in the NFC championship game Sunday against the Washington Redskins.

"The measurement here is do you use the player who got you into the playoffs (Morton) or the guy who got you into this game (Staubach)," Landry said.

"I will pick the man who is right for this game, and that is a tough decision."

Neither of the quarterbacks in question cared to stir up a controversy over the matter.

"I've been through this decision before and I guess I can go through it again," said Morton, who came on during the pre-season to replace the injured Staubach and lead the Cowboys to their seventh straight post-season playoff berth.

"I don't want to promote any kind of controversy. I'm pleased with my play this year. I think I've played well in getting us in the playoffs."

By coincidence, Wednesday was the day the year-long vote among Cowboy fans for the most popular player on the team was announced, and Morton was the winner over Staubach by approximately 4,000 votes out of over 60,000 votes cast.

"Life is full of pleasant surprises," said Morton. "It is a nice reward for the season. Things work in funny circles."

Staubach, who came into the playoff game against San Francisco last Saturday to rally Dallas to a 30-28 victory, had led in the fan voting all season, but was passed by Morton in the final week.

"Craig and I are not competing for his job (Sunday's starting assignment)," said Staubach. "We may compete later. But right now we want to do what is best for the team."

Landry said Staubach had come down with a touch of the flu, but that doctors had caught it quickly and that the former Heisman Trophy winner was working regularly with the team.

He said the illness was not expected to be a factor in his decision.

Landry said his delay in announcing the quarterback was not intended to put more pressure on Redskin workouts during the week, although the Dallas coach said different defensive theories are usually necessitated for the two Dallas quarterbacks.

"You have to be concerned with containment more when Roger is in there," said Landry. "He won't always stay in the pocket."

Landry said the comeback win over San Francisco, while being a tremendous emotional victory, "kind of drains you."

"But our confidence was built up in this one," he said.

Landry also said he thought Washington should legitimately be classified as the favorite in the championship game, the fifth NFC title game in the past seven years for the Cowboys.

"Washington won the Eastern Division championship and we didn't," Landry said, "so they should be the favorites."

Washington had been made a three-point favorite for the game.

Landry said defensive tackle Bob Lilly, who could play only one quarter against San Francisco because of muscle spasms in his back, had been taking part in workouts, although he had not put forth strenuous effort.

Iowa St., Missouri win

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Effective outside shooting against zone defenses propelled seventh-ranked Missouri and Iowa State to victories Wednesday night in the first round of the Big Eight Basketball tournament.

Mike Jeffries spurred the Tigers to a 98-78 victory over outclassed Colorado and the Cyclones' Bill Benson helped gun down Nebraska 75-64.

Missouri, winning its ninth game without a loss, riddled Colorado's zone, rolling up a 34-16 lead in the first 13 1-2 minutes. Jeffries, especially effective in the first half when he scored 11 points, finished with 14, while John Brown was high with 22. Felix Jerman and Al Eberhard tallied 17 each for the Tigers.

Colorado's record dipped to 3-4, although freshman Dave Logan scored 17 points for the Buffaloes.

Allen plans deflation defense against Dallas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Redskins coach George Allen has adopted a deflation policy for his defense against the Dallas Cowboys in the National Football Conference championship playoff Sunday. Instead of his "quarter" defense, he's going back to the "nickel" one.

Allen caught the Green Bay Packers by surprise last Sunday when he removed his middle linebacker on almost every running situation and used a fifth defensive lineman, Manny Sistrunk, to provide added help.

In the upcoming confrontation with Dallas, Allen will return to the "nickel" defense used by most pro teams. This consists of removing a linebacker for a speedier defensive back in passing situations.

Allen's strategem worked against the Packers, who went down to defeat by a 16-3 margin, their only score coming on a second period field goal by Chester Marcol.

Green Bay was limited to 78 yards rushing with their top runner, John Brockington, netting only 8 yards on 13 carries.

Sistrunk wound up being voted a game ball for his performance.

But to Allen, the Dallas offense presents a different problem.

"You can't use a five-man defensive line against a diverse offense like Dallas has," he explained.

Redskin defensive end Verlon Biggs agreed.

"Dallas has perhaps as good a running attack as Green Bay," he commented, "but they also have a tremendous passing attack."

The five man line is great if you want to make the other team throw because it's strong with the run and weak with the pass. You can't be weak against any areas against the Cowboys.

Grizzly Bear team to beat in Holiday

GLENN'S FERRY — Defending champion Grizzly Bear of Boise showed it was the team to beat in the first round of the annual Glens Ferry Lions club holiday outlaw tournament.

Grizzly Bears, with Dave Wagon hitting 30 points, ripped Watson's of Mountain Home, 67-30. In other action, Joe Podrabsky's 12 points helped Red Barna defeat Simpson 52-31 although the losers J. Abbott hit 15.

Tom Basabe hit 12 to lead Gridley's past Wilson Motor 41-33. Tom Hancock had 11 for Wilson. The Glens Ferry entry, paced by Tim Tripple's 12 and Bob Shrum's 11 points, dropped Duffy Realty of Boise 48-38. Rulon Christensen had 10 for Boise.

Action continues with four games starting at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Glens Ferry high school gymnasium. The four losers will meet in the first two games with the championship semi-finals following. The title will be decided Friday night.

Fins want Olympics

TAMPERE, Finland (UPI)—The City Council voted Wednesday to ask the International Olympic Committee (IOC) to consider Tampere as a possible site for the 1976 Winter Olympics if the Finnish government helps finance the project.

The council said the government would have to pledge at least $3 million before an application could be submitted.

The council plan called for most of the major Olympic events to take place at existing facilities in the city. Ski jumping would be held at Lahti, about 100 miles to the southeast, and Alpine events anywhere in Central Europe.

"When planning the games we do not want to take former Olympics as our model," said Tampere Mayor Pekka Paavola.

Paavola said the city would not have to raise taxes to support the games because they would use existing facilities.

The vote on the proposal to submit a bid for the games was 9-2 with one abstention. The opposing votes were cast by Communist councilmen.

Applications for the games must be submitted to the IOC before Jan. 15.

The 1976 Winter Olympics had been slated for Colorado until voters there turned down money for the games in a referendum held Nov. 7.

USSR cup team nips Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Russia's World Cup hockey team nipped the Phoenix Roadrunners of the Western Hockey League 5-4 in an exhibition game before a packed house of 12,104 Wednesday night.

Viacheslav Anisin scored twice for the Russians, his second goal in the third period giving the Russians a two-goal lead.

Murray Heatley, with his second of two goals for the night, cut the margin to a single goal with less than four minutes remaining in the game. The Roadrunners had a late power play opportunity to tie the score but were turned aside by goalie Vladislav Tretiak.

Boris Mikhailov and Vladimir Shadrin, with first period goals, and Aleksandr Yakushev, with a third period tally, were the other Russian scorers.

Brent Meeker scored in the first period, 19 seconds after Heatley's power play goal, to give the Roadrunners a brief lead. Bob Mowat scored in the second period for the runners.

Paterno says Oklahoma great team

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Penn State Coach Joe Paterno said Wednesday the Nittany Lions' Sugar Bowl opponent, Oklahoma, was one of the two great football teams in the country.

Paterno made the remark after watching his eighth-ranked Lions run through their second day of practice outside Sugar Bowl Stadium.

"There are only two great teams in college football today—Oklahoma and Southern Cal," Paterno said. "Sure there are several good ones, but there are only two great ones. We'll have to hustle our ears off to beat them."

The second-ranked Sooners will be making their second straight Sugar Bowl appearance Sunday, having beaten Auburn, 40-22, last New Year's Day.

Year's best

Steelers lag at practice

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—If all things are indeed equal between the Pittsburgh and Miami offenses and defenses, two Steelers who lolled around at practice this week may be the determining factor in Sunday's American Football Conference Championship.

Placekicker Roy Gerela and punter Bobby Walden both finished second in the AFC at their respective chores.

Gerela, the all-time leading Steeler scorer with 119 points, kicked 28 out of 41 field goals this year. The soccer style kicker was 17 for 19 inside the 30 yard line, and finished four points ahead of Miami's Garo Yepremian. Yepremian kicked four less field goals but kept the pace with extra point conversions.

Walden has kicked the longest punt in the NFL this season, a 72-yarder against the Oakland Raiders in the season opener at Pittsburgh.

He averaged 43.8 yards during the season and was particularly effective in clutch situations deep, in his own territory.

His Miami counterpart, Larry Sieple, averaged 39.9 yards on 36 kicks, having been injured for part of the season. Had he retained that average and played regularly, Sieple would have ranked tenth in the AFC.

"You can't tell now, but kicking might be the thing on Sunday," Walden said following practice Wednesday.

The Dolphins blocked a punt by Don Cockcroft early in their 20-14 playoff victory over the Cleveland Browns last week, but that doesn't concern Walden.

"Well now, they might block it and they might not," he said. "That's what I've got ten men in front of me for."

"I've had two blocked this year, though, but I think in the case of the Browns game, the Dolphins just picked something up in the films."

The pressure of the game, Walden said, would not affect his kicking.

"I've been telling myself in tight situations all season long, don't lose the rhythm."

Gerela also discounts the pressure of the Steelers first AFC title game.

"It's been that way all season long—in Dallas, Minnesota, Kansas City, Cleveland," he said. "We've been under pressure in all of those games, and came through."

"I'm telling myself that this game will not have any more pressure because if I don't my leg might freeze up."

Gerela has kicked a 49-yarder this season, two yards longer than Yepremian's best boot. The kick came in a close contest with the Chiefs. But Gerela still believes Yepremian is among the best from long range.

Running sweep

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Runners were supreme at Michigan State University in the 1971-72 school year as Big Ten titles were captured in cross country, indoor and outdoor track—the first such sweep of wins since Illinois did in 1947.

Quakers upset

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The University of Cincinnati Bearcats, scoring consistently on a Pennsylvania defense that had been the nation's stingiest, upset the Quakers, 71-65, Wednesday night and handed 11th-ranked Penn its first loss in 19 regular season games.

Lloyd Batts led the Cincinnati offense with 18 points, while the Bearcats' Derrek Dickey and Dan Murphy each scored 13 points. Penn's Ron Haigler was game high with 20 points.

The Quakers and Bearcats swapped the lead constantly with Cincinnati managing a 32-29 lead at intermission. Cincinnati led by nine points with about five minutes left in the game. Pennsylvania shaved the Bearcats' lead to four, but was unable to come all the way back.

Cincinnati is 5-2 for the season, while Pennsylvania is 5-1.

Group supports AF Dam

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Wildlife Federation has gone on record supporting the rebuilding of the American Falls Dam in southeastern Idaho.

The group also supported the public ownership of certain Snake River islands.

Robert Thomas, Coeur d'Alene, president of the federation, in a letter to the Bureau of Reclamation said the dam replacement "would give us some concern if the present height were to be increased and result in the flooding of additional lands."

However, he added, that the economic loss caused by failure of the dam would constitute a "major disaster."

Harris wins Rookie of Year title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pittsburgh's Franco Harris, who emerged in mid-season to become one of the most feared runners in the league, came within one vote of unanimous selection Wednesday as United Press International's 1972 American Football Conference Rookie of the Year.

Harris, the Steelers' No. 1 draft choice out of Penn State last season, was named on 38 of the 39 ballots cast by a panel of pro football writers, three from each conference city. Defensive tackle Otis Sistrunk of Oakland received the lone vote not cast for Harris.

The 6-foot-2, 230-pound Harris erupted on the pro football scene in mid-season. Despite his No. 1 selection, Harris, who played in the shadow of Lydell Mitchell at Penn State, was listed as the No. 3 running back behind Frenchy Fuqua and Preston Pearson and as a return specialist when the season opened.

He got his opportunity midway through the season when both backs came down with injuries and became the most talked-about runner in the AFC. In October he embarked on a spectacular six-game tear that saw him equal a league record set by Cleveland Brown great Jim Brown.

Harris surpassed the 100-yard barrier in six consecutive games and might have broken Brown's record had not the Steelers' two starting guards been hobbled by injuries for the last two games of the season.

Despite his slow start and finish, Harris gained 1,056 yards this year, falling just short of the rookie record set by Green Bay's John Brekington, last year's National Conference Rookie of the Year.

Harris seemed to be the man of the hour whenever the Steelers were in trouble. Time and again, he either scored or set up the decisive touchdown as the Steelers marched to the Central Division title, their first such victory in 40 years of National Football League competition.

Harris' spectacular play gave rise to a new phenomenon in Pittsburgh — "Franco's Italian Army"—a group of rabid Steeler fans who attend games with red, white and green Italian flags flowing in honor of their hero.

The rookie fullback's father is a retired black army sergeant who married an Italian girl he met while serving in Italy.

Sistrunk, the only other player to receive a vote, was a bargain pickup for the Raiders. Signed as a free agent by the Rams, he was unable to crack the Los Angeles starting lineup and was picked up in a trade by Oakland. The 6-4, 255-pound Sistrunk quickly deposed veteran Carleton Oats and became a regular in Oakland's fine front line.

Freshman wins for Manhattan

NEW YORK (UPI)—Freshman John Hurley, who was in the game only because three regulars had fouled out, sank the first shot of a one-and-one foul situation with 28 seconds left Wednesday to give Manhattan a 62-61 victory over Niagara and a spot opposite South Carolina in the semifinals of the 21st annual Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament.

Earlier, in a similar ending, Larry Jenkins sank three foul shots in the final 28 seconds of play to lift St. John's to a 56-55 triumph over Tennessee. St. John's will meet Michigan, the pre-tourney favorite in the semifinals Thursday night.

In a morning consolation game, North Carolina A&T defeated Grambling 96-73. James Outlaw scored 25 points and his backcourt partner William Harris added 18 to spark the Aggies' triumph.

Manhattan, which trailed by 12 points 39-27 at halftime, lost starters Charlie Mahoney, Henry Seawright and Mike Moore on fouls in the second half but rallied behind the shooting of sophomore George Buccini to tie the game at 59 with two minutes left to play.

A basket by Tom Reilly with 54 seconds left put the Jaspers ahead 61-59 but little Al Williams, who accounted for 10 points down the stretch, tied the game for Niagara again at 61 with 43 seconds remaining.

Manhattan, after calling a timeout, set up for one shot and Hurley was fouled with 28 seconds to go. He sank the first shot but missed the second and Niagara had time for one last play. The ball went to Williams who drove to the right of the key but under heavy pressure his shot was off to the left as the final buzzer sounded.

Bill Champion paced Manhattan with 18 points and Mahoney tallied 12 before fouling out early in the second half. Buccini got all eight of his points in the second half, all of them coming in a space of three minutes near the end of the game. Williams led Niagara with 16 points.

Fast flying, running Chukars tough to hit

BOISE — While most chukar hunting ends December 31 throughout Idaho, the season runs through January 21, 1973 in portions of the Salmon River drainage and Hells Canyon, it was announced today by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Most hunters agree that speed on the ground and downhill flying make chukar partridges tough to hit. These exotic game birds have two basic characteristics. They almost always run uphill and when they fly, they almost invariably fly downhill. It is said that no hunter can run fast enough uphill to catch up with chukars and that pellets from an ordinary shotgun do not travel fast enough to catch up with them plummeting downhill.

Quaker tournament opens

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Pat McFarland scored 22 points and Mike Bantom 19 as St. Joseph's bounced Rhode Island, 89-64, Wednesday night to close out the first round of the ECAC Quaker City basketball tournament.

In the opener of nighttime action, Jim Crawford, Bob Jones and Bill Taylor combined for 52 points to lead LaSalle to a 77-72 victory over Southern California.

Two earlier games saw John Williamson score 21 of his 27 points in the second half as New Mexico State rallied for a 61-56 win over Princeton and Jack Wodjowski tossed in four free throws in the last 20 seconds to preserve Duquesne's 71-66 win over Georgia.

Winners facing off Thursday night in the semifinals will be LaSalle against New Mexico State and St. Joseph's against Duquesne.

St. Joseph's rolled to a 45-29 halftime lead against Rhode Island and was up by as many as 28 points at 76-48 in the second half.

The Rams stayed with the Hawks for the first 13 minutes of the game but St. Joseph's outscored them, 14-2, to take a commanding lead with 7:30 left in the half.

The victory was the Hawks' fourth against three defeats, while Rhode Island is now 2-6.

Crawford's field goal with 3:22 left put LaSalle ahead to stay at 66-64. The Explorers then added six consecutive points for a 72-64 lead and the Trojans could not close the gap.

Southern Cal led 39-38 at halftime, and the game stayed close until LaSalle broke loose to gain its sixth victory against two losses.

ISU wants away win at Boise

POCATELLO — There's one record in the Idaho State basketball record book that Coach Jim Killingsworth would like to see erased immediately.

It's ISU's record of never having beaten the Boise State Broncos on their home court — Bronco Gym.

The record gets put to the test Saturday at 7:30. The game will be broadcast over KWIK Radio and the Bergal Network with Larry Ackenrode announcing.

Boise's record is 5-3 and one of the losses was 87-64 to Idaho State in the Pocatello Mindome. Just as ISU's record in Boise is non-winning, so is Boise's in Pocatello.

State's record is 5-2 and the Bengals are on a two-game win streak over tough Hardin-Simons and Wyoming. Boise's last game was a 98-61 loss at powerful Washington.

Both Killingsworth and Boise Coach Murry Satterfield have several options open to them in selecting a starting lineup. Both clubs have versatile performers who can play several positions and both have players who do a good job of coming off the bench.

A's drop Cepeda, Brown and Horlen

OAKLAND (UPI) — The World Champion Oakland A's reduced their 40-man roster by three players Wednesday by handing infielders Orlando Cepeda and Larry Brown and pitcher Joe Horlen their unconditional releases.

All three were played on waivers and when no other club among the other 23 in the major leagues claimed them the A's cut them free to make their own deals.

Cepeda, once one of the most feared hitters in the majors, came to the A's last June 29 in exchange for pitcher Denny McLain and managed only three hitting appearances before going into the hospital for another knee operation.

Brown, three years younger than Cepeda at 32, was purchased from the Cleveland Indians in April of 1971 and filled a utility role with the A's. When Dick Green went on the shelf with a bad back shortly after the start of the 1972 season, Brown filled in at second base. He batted only 183 in 47 games and then followed Green into the hospital with a herniated disk.

Horlen was signed as a free agent last April 19 after the Chicago White Sox, for whom he had played for 11 seasons, cut him loose. The 35-year-old righthander appeared in 32 games for the A's as a middle inning reliever and spot starter and posted a 3-4 won-lost record and a 3.00 earned run average.

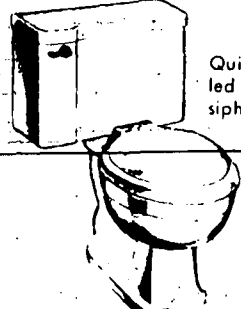

In a separate announcement, the A's said they had signed third baseman-catcher Jack Bastable, their eighth pick in last June's free agent draft. Bastable, a switch hitter, will be assigned to Oakland's Southern League farm club in Birmingham.

Bastable also was a member of the University of Missouri football team. He signed following last weekend's Fiesta Bowl game.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES You are eager to produce results of a practical nature at this time. Various decisions you've made the past two days now have a good chance of being successful, provided you put them in effect with force and gain the aid of an influential person. Avoid making snide comments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Come to a fine agreement with both creditors and debtors so that your life is less worrisome in the future. Use a different approach with mate and get better results. Stop being a fuss-budget.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Discuss the future more intelligently with associates and get rid of opposition trended your way. Join with close ties at the recreations that are mutually enjoyed. Come to a better understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Complete duties that you left undone because of the holiday just past and then figure out how to make the new year more profitable. Co-workers have excellent ideas. Listen carefully and benefit.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have an opportunity to have a good time with congenials so drop your routine work for awhile and enjoy yourself. Engage in favorite hobby that renews your vigor. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how to improve conditions at your home so that there can be more harmony and comfort there in the future. Get rid of a situation that is causing most of the trouble. Give more care to diet.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have good ideas for improving your regular routines. Discuss them with trusted associates. Take care of correspondence. Make plans to put your living on a more streamlined basis.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You need to add to present income, so contact experts and get their ideas for doing such. Take steps to make your belongings more valuable. Improve any real estate you have and add to its equity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can now improve your own state of affairs and bolster the ego of others. Open new doors of opportunity for yourself by attending social affairs you enjoy. Think positively. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan this day for quiet analysis of your present position in life and how to get ahead in the future. Make the right arrangements. Evening is fine for showing more devotion to mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A clever friend does not approve of the manner in which you are going after your ambitions, so ask for advice and profit from it. More sociability is the keynote now. Attend the social tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can do much to get career affairs improved, so get started by getting in the right frame of mind. A public project is fine for making quick headway. Evening is ideal for the social side.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are very enthused on how to gain your aspirations cautiously and wisely. Follow through on the plans you have in mind. Listen to advice you get from experts and benefit. Relax at home tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those practical minded young people who will have great determination and will not be stopped once the mind is made up. Be sure to give the finest ethical and spiritual training possible so that the activities will be channeled in right directions. There is much personal attractiveness here.

Lot of dice in ancient Egypt were right-handed, but all modern dice are left-handed. A police detective told me that. Opposite sides of honest dice total seven, as you know. What few know is that the counter-clockwise count of the numbered sides on dice make them left-handed.

TOOK ABOUT 13,000 men to build 138 miles of railway between Callao and Oroya in Peru. But that's not the point. The point is about 11,000 of them died on the project. That 12-year engineering job, finally finished in 1893, was the deadliest in modern history.

THE CRYING SCENE

Q. "What does an actress do when she is supposed to cry in a scene but can't?"

A. Breaks an ammonia capsule under her nose. Hidden in a handkerchief maybe.

Q. "HOW OFTEN do you find a marriage in which the wife is more than 10 years older than the husband?"

A. Figure about one marriage in every 100 around here.

NO STRUGGLING cartoonist should forget that even Mickey Mouse was a failure at first. In 1927, when Walt Disney introduced Mickey in the silent cartoons "Plane Crazy" and "Galloping Gaucho," he flopped. It wasn't until the sound boys put a voice to Mickey in "Steamboat Willie" that the mouse started to roar, as it were.

BEST YEAR

Ask an elderly bachelor and spinster which was the happiest year of their lives, and they'll name some time before age 25. Put the same query to an elderly husband and wife, and they'll tell you some year between ages 25 and 45. The survey-takers have proved this, repeatedly. Still, I don't understand it. So far, the happiest year of my life is this year. Little too personal, that comment. But the notion seems out of joint that the best year of life was some year a long time ago. If it doesn't get better, we're doing something wrong, no? Think so.

FTC orders transfer of company's assets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal regulatory agency Tuesday ordered partial transfer of the assets of the nation's largest lumber company — a move that will affect ownership of hundreds of thousands of acres of forest lands in the west and numerous lumber facilities in the Pacific Northwest and in the southwest.

The Federal Trade Commission ordered the Georgia-Pacific Corp. of Portland, Ore., to transfer 20 per cent of its assets to a new concern to be called the Louisiana-Pacific Corp.

The FTC issued a consent order requiring the split in order to restructure the softwood plywood industry by creating a "new and viable national entity, thereby enhancing competition on a nationwide basis."

The FTC said the new Louisiana-Pacific Corp. would become an independent firm on Jan. 5.

The federal regulatory agency said Georgia-Pacific was the largest producer and distributor of softwood plywood, producing almost twice as much as its nearest competitor. It said over past years GP had bought 16 firms in the South that could give it a virtual monopoly in the field.

A consent order carries the force of law although it does not mean that Georgia-Pacific has admitted any violations of the law.

Current Georgia-Pacific stockholders will get one share in the new firm for every four shares of Georgia-Pacific they hold.

The new firm will have a book value of at least $50 million under the consent order and will cover assets that have earned 20 per cent of GP's profits. Numerous Georgia-Pacific employees will be transferred to Louisiana-Pacific but no GP board members will be allowed to sit on the new company's board after elections are held.

The FTC said Louisiana-Pacific would take over the following GP assets:

- Two pulp mills in Alaska and Calif.
- Four softwood plywood plants, two in Texas, and one each in California and Louisiana.
- Five lumber remanufacturing facilities, one in La., and four in California.
- One particle board plant in

La. — 500,000 acres of timberland scattered around the Southwest and Pacific Northwest.

— 30 saw mills including operations in Chilco.

Economic focus on airport now

NEW YORK (UPI) — For a century the economic life of the average American community revolved around the railroad depot and the freight yard. Today it revolves around the airport — a far greater degree than is generally realized.

The railway freight yard still is important but often as not the passenger depot is deserted most of the day. But the airport is a bustling community that provides jobs, merchandise and service sales and pulses with vitality around the clock.

In the larger metropolitan areas, the airport is surrounded by motels, restaurants, movie theaters, service businesses, and small to medium sized industries dependent in some way on aviation. There also are banks, supermarkets, customs brokers and other sophisticated businesses.

The Air Transport Association lately has embarked on a nationwide study of the economic importance of the airport to the local community. The program has been underway only a few months and it will take years to complete. It was begun in comparatively sparsely populated South Dakota but most surveys finished so far deal with the major cities.

The South Dakota study was an eye opener. It revealed the presence of good airports had brought in factories that account for 12 per cent of all the manufacturing employment in South Dakota.

The ATA study is no armchair survey. Teams are sent into communities to ask many people a wide range of questions. Emphasis was put on direct employment created by the airport and the results often have been surprising. Who is the biggest employer of workers at a single location in the Los Angeles metropolitan area? The international airport. The same is true in Kansas City and New Orleans.

Washington's National Airport was discovered to have 1,400 workers, earning $78 million a year. It was the third largest employer in Virginia at a single location. It generated $3 million in state and local taxes paid by its employees. Retail and service sales around the airport were $22 million a year and the greater part of Washington's half billion dollar a year convention business came through the airport.

These figures look small compared with the $7 billion a year Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports generate for metropolitan New York. The direct payroll alone is $1 billion for 78,000 workers. Airlines spend $2 billion a year on services and supplies at New York. The hotel and other tourist service sales come to another $1 billion. And this $4 billion generates another $3 billion of various kinds of business throughout the metropolitan area, the ATA calculated.

Clearing skies return tonight

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert area:
Clearing skies will produce cooler temperatures tonight. Fair weather is expected for Friday. Lows tonight will be in the mid 20s and middle to upper 30s on Friday.
The outlook for Saturday is for increasing clouds with a chance of precipitation by Saturday evening.
Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley:

Partially clearing, skies and colder temperatures are forecast for tonight. Weather will be mostly fair Friday. Lows tonight will be in the subteens and highs Friday in the upper 20s.
The outlook for Saturday is for increasing clouds and a chance of snow.
Synopsis:
Skies were mostly cloudy over southern Idaho yesterday and a few rain showers fell in the southwestern valleys. Temperatures were a little cooler due to the cloud cover but averaged near normal.

A weak frontal system accompanied by a low pressure system aloft will move through southern Idaho today bringing snow to the valleys and heavier snow over the southern mountains. Temperatures will continue with a slight cooling trend.

Fair weather should return to southern Idaho by Friday. Meanwhile another storm system in the Pacific is developing rapidly and could bring more precipitation to southern Idaho over the weekend.
Temperatures during the extended period should continue near normal.

Conservation subsidy plan wiped out by economy move

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI FARM EDITOR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a surprise economy move, the administration has wiped out a conservation subsidy program which had been pumping "cost-share" payments, often running near $200 million a year, into the farm economy since 1936.
In addition to eliminating the longstanding Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) the government economy axe also has terminated the small, year-old Water Bank Program (WBP).
For 1973, Congress had authorized a combined total of $235.5 million for the two programs — $225.5 million for REAP and $10 million for the WBP.
The Agriculture Department had announced plans to use only part of the authorizations in tentative allocations totaling $150 million — $140 million for REAP plus $10 million for the water bank.

Last Friday, however, officials notified agriculture field offices that both programs were terminated as of the close of business that day. No public announcement of the abrupt action was made until Tuesday.
Precisely how much will be saved in 1973 remained uncertain, because state and county officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) were told to honor commitments made to farmers through Dec. 22. No official here yet has any estimate of how much had been committed to 1973 REAP, and WBP agreements before the cut-off.
The flat language of the announcement terminating the program indicated, however, that the administration has no intention of reviving the programs in 1974, although congressional farm leaders are virtually certain to seek to provide new funds.

Kenneth E. Frick, ASCS administrator, said in an interview that "several thousand" jobs, mainly in county ASCS offices, might be eliminated by the termination of the REAP program.
Congressional protests against the termination already are beginning to boil. Aides said Chairman Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., of the Senate Agriculture Committee planned to send a "vigorous protest" directly to President Nixon as a first step in seeking reversal of Tuesday's announcement.
The announcement that the REAP is canceled capped a dispute going far back into the history of the 36-year-old program. For many years, under administrations of both parties, some executive branch officials have sought to reduce and sometimes eliminate the program.

Peanut price support grows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Use of the word "peanut" as a synonym for small is becoming a sour joke to the administration.
The cost of the government price support program for peanuts — the kind you eat — has climbed out of the "peanut" class. And according to a recently published government study, costs will continue marching up indefinitely unless Congress amends the current peanut support law.
From $17 million in 1960, the Agriculture Department's peanut program costs rose to $44 million in 1965 and $66 million in 1970. This year costs are forecast at $105 million, and the recent study predicts they will hit $200 million by 1980 and $300 million by 1985.

Department officials said no final decision has been made on whether the administration will formally ask Congress next year to revise the law which locks in growing costs by a combination of minimum acreage allotment and support guarantees. But congressional sources said they expected moves from — or backed by — the administration to put a lid on the rising peanut costs.
Under existing law, growers are guaranteed price supports at a minimum of 76 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity price on a minimum national planting allotment of 1.6 million acres as long as they continue to accept federal production controls.

These twin guarantees contain two built-in cost escalators.
First — with the minimum planting allotment in effect, farmers have been steadily boosting per-acre yields. These have gone from 1,232 pounds an acre in 1960 to an estimated 2,209 pounds this year, thus increasing the amount of peanuts eligible for support. By 1985, experts estimate the yield will be up to 3,000 pounds.
Second — the 75 per cent of parity minimum support means the actual dollars-and-cents support price is moved up steadily, since parity is based on farm costs which have escalated in recent years and promise to keep rising in the future. From $193.50 per ton in 1959, the support price has risen to $285 in 1972 and could reach $500 by 1985, experts estimate.

Peanuts taken over by the government under the support program are crushed into oil and meal and sold at low prices, or exported at prices sharply below the domestic support. The Agriculture Department normally sells peanuts for oil-meal crushing at less than half the support price paid to farmers.

Snake water level stands near 1971

IDAHO FALLS — The Snake River water report for Dec. 26 shows no great variations in stream flow or reservoir contents from figures reported a year ago.
The report is issued weekly by Arthur L. Larsen, Snake River watermaster.
Reservoir contents in acre feet for Dec. 26 and the same date a year ago are given for Jackson Lake, 614,800, 620,800; Palisades Reservoir, usable, 992,000, 908,700; Island Park Reservoir, 81,900, 81,100; American Falls Reservoir, 1.09 million, 1.28 million; Lake Walcott, 60,850, 54,000.

Stream flow figures in cubic feet per second are given for Moran, 386, 476; Heise, 3,710, 3,600; Shelley, 5,950, 6,050; Neeley, 18,100, 4,460; Snake River near Mindoka, 10,100, 8,290; Snake River at Milner, 11,800, 9,040.

Precipitation in inches for last week, Dec. 1-24 and normal for December are given for Island Park 1.51, 2.96, 3.48; Moran, 1.32, 3.09, 3.38; Palisades, missing, 1.80, 1.39. Snow depths for 1972 and 1971 are listed in inches for Island Park, 28, 52; Moran, 24, 36.

Last farewell

Common people honor Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — The common people of Harry S. Truman never forgot remembered him in death.

All night Wednesday they stood in an ever-lengthening line, rubbing their hands and stamping their feet against the freezing cold, waiting for a glimpse of their fallen friend and neighbor.

They came by airplane and car from big towns and hamlets to pay their last respects to Truman whose body lay in a mahogany coffin atop a catafalque in the library filled with mementoes of his years as president.

"I used to ride my bike by the Truman house and he would wave to me," said Marlan Wanbaugh, 14, a student at the William Chrisman Junior High School where Bess Truman, 87, used to learn her lessons. "He was always so friendly."

"Mr. Truman was an honorable citizen," she said, "and Independence people have a great respect for him. He was really something."

The mourners, dressed in blue jeans and business suits, passed into the library, around the catafalque and out again at the rate of about 1,300 persons per hour.

At one point, near midnight, the line of mourners snaked for more than a mile from the steps of the library, down the driveway and south until it was backed up to a highway overpass and still they came — like Dwight Buckingham of Kirksville, Mo., or the Paul Schaefer family of Cincinnati. There was no impatience among the mourners despite the cold. They traded reminiscences about Truman — of the time they had seen him last and of his years in the White House.

He joked with me and my husband a lot," said Mrs. Ted Kalthoff. "One time my husband was putting in grass plugs. Both he and Mrs. Truman came over and said they just had to see what we were doing. Mr. Truman said, 'Somebody sent me a bunch of that stuff once and I threw it out because I didn't know what it was.'"

Clarence Kelly, police chief of Kansas City, called the 88-year-old former president who died Tuesday "a splendid citizen. He was very friendly to police — always talking about how important they were."

To Marlon Fizer and his wife, the wait to see the casket was unimportant. To Fizer, Truman was a leader who merited respect in death.

"We're both Democrats," said Fizer, pointing to his wife. "We drove 90 miles to pay our respects. I wore my Truman tie," he said, opening his coat to display a tie of avocado green with blue donkeys on it.

Crewmen report on Kitty Hawk trouble

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Black crewmen describing a race riot aboard the carrier Kitty Hawk said Wednesday they saw white sailors attacking the ships executive officer who is part black and part Indian.

At one point, they said, executive officer Cmdr. Ben Cloud stripped off his shirt, gave the black power salute and said to blacks coming to his rescue, "I'm with you."

The description of the October rioting came at a Navy pre-court-martial hearing for Airman Apprentice Terry V. Avinger, 18, Philadelphia, and at a separate news conference held by four black sailors accused of participating in the disturbances.

The four said at the news conference that fighting broke out only when blacks began defending themselves against attacks by white Marines and sailors.

Seaman Apprentice Willie Faison, 24, Los Angeles, the final witness at the preliminary hearing, testified that he saw a group of whites strike Cloud.

Faison said he and a group of blacks then went to the aid of Cloud.

"We tried to help Cloud, who was on his back," the sailor testified. "When we got there, the whites fled."

The Navy said Cloud denied being attacked by blacks or whites during the riot which left 46 men injured.

The hearing is to decide what type of court-martial — general or special — Avinger will face.

News Of Servicemen

RUPERT — Army Pvt. 1-c. Paul E. Patterson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Patterson, Rupert, was recently assigned to the 4th Field Artillery in Heilbronn, Germany.

'72 yule sales may set record

NEW YORK (UPI) — Christmas 1972 may have been a sales record-setter according to estimates by credit companies and retail stores.

Official figures compiled by the Department of Commerce remain to be tabulated, but reports indicate total sales across the country may well have topped last year's by more than 10 per cent. Government economists had predicted increases of around 5 to 7 per cent.

Midway through the Yule shopping season, the Diners Club made a study for the purposes of its credit card business. Diners Club Chairman Newell Lusby said it looked then as if the national total of sales in retail outlets for December would be $177 billion, up from $162 billion last year.

Spokesmen for New York department stores estimated on the day after Christmas that the Yule sales in the metropolitan area were up nearly 10 per cent from last year. Women's Wear Daily, in a roundup published Christmas Eve, said Detroit stores also reported sales up 10 per cent from last year. Cleveland, Los Angeles and Chicago stores were reporting gains as high as 8 per cent. Good gains also were reported by Women's Wear Daily in the Atlanta, St. Louis and Philadelphia markets.

The National Retail Merchants' Association (NRMA), which makes weekly spot checks of retail sales on a regional basis, said Christmas shopping got off to its fastest start in the Northeast, which is not unusual. The NRMA said by far the majority of the stores checked reported good gains over 1971 each week with weather conditions the most important factor in day by day sales.

Navy invokes act to claim stock

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy says it has invoked the War Powers Act of 1941 to claim $1.7 million worth of stock in the Gap Instrument Corp., Hauppauge, N.Y., to keep the firm operating as a Navy supplier.

"The Navy is getting the equipment they want and we're surviving as a result of it," said Gap executive vice president Walter Soboleski in a telephone interview Wednesday.

The deal was worked out in 1971 as a means of helping Gap through a period of cost overruns. The Navy claimed 17,414 shares of preferred stock to make it the largest single stockholder in the company.

The arrangement, the Navy said Wednesday, was considered a method of making a loan to Gap with the nonvoting, nondividend stock as collateral.

Ketchum man held

KETCHUM — A Ketchum man was arrested on a misdemeanor drug charge by Ketchum Police Department officers Tuesday afternoon.

Arrested for possession of marijuana was Michael Patrick O'Brien, 22. He has been released from the Blaine County jail on $250 bond.

Reforms planned on hot dogs

In a companion step, which had been disclosed earlier, the department said its new hot dog reform plan would also ban the use of meat and poultry byproducts such as lips, snouts and spleens in frankfurters and other cooked sausages bearing ordinary labeling. If byproducts are used in something that looks like a hot dog, the product would have to be labeled "imitation" in letters as large as those used for the word "frankfurter."

The new plan would set up two name categories for frankfurters, bologna and other similar cooked sausage: —Category One would contain only "skeletal muscle meat," including up to 15 per cent poultry, plus necessary processing ingredients such as water, sweeteners and curing agents.

—Category Two could contain the same ingredients as the first group, but also could contain limited amounts of binders such as nonfat dry milk or soy protein.

New Year's party set by women

TWIN FALLS — A New Year's party was planned when members of the Women of the Moose met Tuesday evening.

The event is set for Saturday at the Moose Home, with Chris Carlson and his band providing dance music beginning at 9 p.m.

It was announced the Idaho State Ritual winners will enroll new members at the mortgage burning party set for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 6 at the Moose Home. All past governors and past senior regents are invited to attend. Admission for those attending will be a paid up dues receipt.

Mrs. Gene Tyner served as pro tem for the junior graduate regent. Mrs. Ruby Borhn gave a report on the social service money making project.

It was reported the children's Christmas party was a success, with 53 youngsters attending. Report was also given on the lodge adult party.

The next meeting is set for Jan. 9.

1972 consumer protection laws passed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backed by a growing body of laws and rules, the federal government took action in 1972 to protect the consumer in areas ranging from cosmetics to credit rating to cough syrup.

Not that the government has yet provided total protection for the average consumer. Many programs are barely under way and Congress again will wrestle with others, including minimum warranty standards and no-fault auto insurance.

But the consumer has come a long way in the eyes of the law, since the passage in the 1960's of regulations governing truth-in-packaging, truth-in-lending, flammable fabrics, child protection and toy safety, and other legislation.

The 92nd Congress in its waning days passed the Consumer Product Safety Act, which President Nixon called "the most significant consumer-protection legislation passed by the 92nd Congress."

cut the toll of household accidents that now kill 30,000 Americans a year and permanently disable 110,000 others.

Senate critics filibustered to death another key bill to create an independent consumer protection agency that could intervene at all levels of government on behalf of aggrieved consumers.

That bill, plus no-fault auto insurance and a bill to take fine print out of warranties, will come up again in the new Congress. Prospects for all three are brighter this time.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, helped encourage two big automakers to set voluntary warranty standards. American Motors has issued a warranty that covers every part of a new vehicle except for tires for one year. Ford is providing a 90-day warranty for labor and parts on used cars at authorized garages.

In its most significant action of 1972, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) banned the use of hexachlorophenol in cosmetics. This chemical is absorbed into the blood over a period of time and it is feared, may cause brain damage or even death.

The FDA also persuaded the cosmetics industry to voluntarily provide lists of manufacturers, products and the formulas used in them, and the industry's file of consumer complaints. The agency believes these lists will make it easier to remove from the market dangerous cosmetics, such as an eye shadow or skin lotion that is found to cause rash.

Mrs. Knauer already has persuaded several cosmetic firms to print the ingredients on the labels of their products—an important safeguard for persons with allergies.

The FDA also began a 10-year review of the 100,000 to 500,000 over-the-counter patent medicines. Expert panels were set up for such categories as coughs and colds, analgesics and sleep aids. The first report, on antacids, is expected early in 1973.

This project is a sequel to the FDA's 1962-72 review of all prescription drugs, an effort that led to the removal of 1,500 drugs from the market.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson's Senate monopoly subcommittee began hearings in December on over-the-counter drugs. One doctor acknowledged at the outset that hot chicken soup may be as effective as some highly advertised medicines in fighting colds.

In another action involving the drug and medicinal industry, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) started issuing complaints following its investigation of advertising by three major makers of analgesics.

The FTC action calls for "corrective advertising" as well as affirmative disclosure if the analgesics contain caffeine and aspirin.

The FTC's most significant 1972 actions for consumers came in the innovative area of corrective advertising. Earlier, it ordered the ITT Continental Baking Co., to spend 25 per cent of the firm's advertising budget for one year to correct ads about Profile Bread.

The FTC also obtained similar consent orders from Ocean Spray Cranberry Inc., to spend 25 per cent of its ad budget for corrective ads about a cranberry juice cocktail, and from Sugar Information, a trade association of refineries, for agreed-upon wording of its ads.

The FTC told 16 makers of cough and cold remedies and 12 manufacturers of television sets to furnish documentation for claims made in their advertising.

The FTC also began enforce-ing standards for carpets and rugs from legislation that grew out of a real home fire in Ohio several years ago. The agency laid the groundwork for enforcement of flammability standards for children's sleepwear.

In other actions, the FTC issued guidelines for private vocation and home study schools, use of the word "free" in advertising, and the decorative wall paneling and feather and down industries; complaints against door-to-door magazine salesmen; and the nation's No. 1, 2 and 4 sellers of encyclopedias; and rules for posting the octaine content on gasoline pumps at service stations.
