Red pullback demanded

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam negotiator Pham Dong Lam demanded today that North Vietnam withdraw all of its military forces from the South and recognize the South as a fully independent nation — a demand Hanoi has repeatedly rejected.

The restatement at today's weekly semi-public session of the Paris talks of President Nguyen Van Thieu's undiminished conditions for peace was an indication of the further hard bargaining lying ahead for Dr. Henry A. Kissinger when he meets Hanoi's Le Duc Tho on Monday.

Washington administration officials already were warning against undue optimism and Ambassador William J. Porter, the chief U.S. negotiator, said in a solemn speech today: "I am not inclined at all to underestimate the problems which exist and which will face us still for some time." He did not endorse the Saigon demands in his statement.

Porter spoke of "this new year of negotiations" and of looking ahead "to what the year may bring" — as if the peace talks could continue through the year. He said, "We would see this year as marking the concluding phase of this protracted conflict" and of the negotiations.

The widely publicized Majestic Hotel meeting was considered by diplomatic observers as a holding operation pending the new Kissinger-Tho confrontation. After a "stop-over" in Peking, where he held talks with Premier Chou En-lai, Tho left for Paris today via Moscow.

The meeting of the North and South Vietnamese, the Viet Cong and the U.S. delegation on the Avenue Kleber was one of two East-West meetings being held today. U.S. and Hanoi experts met at suburban Gisors-Yvette, south of Paris, for the third day in a row to push work on various protocols to go with an eventual peace treaty.

Today's four-way meeting was the first since Dec. 23 when the Communists walked out in protest against the U.S. bombing campaign against the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The Communist Vietnamese, in rejecting the Saigon demands, called them a "U.S. maneuver to split Vietnam into two states forever and demanded that Washington sign without delay the Oct. 20 peace draft accord.

North Vietnamese negotiator Nguyen Minh Vy said the United States has failed in its attempt to impose its own peace terms on Hanoi by unleashing the "most ferocious bombing in the history of U.S. aggression against Vietnam from Dec. 18 to Dec. 30."

Renew talks

Demands on raids ignored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional demands for an administration explanation of why the bombing of North Vietnam was resumed have fallen on deaf ears at the White House.

Congress reassembled Wednesday for a new session with its members almost as uninformed as the public on the purposes of the heaviest air raids in the history of the war. Even the most well-informed on military affairs, such as Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., confessed they were in the dark.

Both Republicans and Democrats seemed in agreement that the administration must furnish some information about the strikes to key committees. Jackson suggested an address by the President to a joint session of Congress.

So far, President Nixon's only move has been an agreement to send Henry A. Kissinger, the chief Vietnam peace negotiator, to Capitol Hill Friday for a get-acquainted chat with freshman House Republicans.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler warned Wednesday that attempts by Congress to end the war through legislation might actually prolong the fighting by "raising doubts in the enemy's mind about the U.S. position."

The House foreign affairs subcommittee on Europe tried to call hearings for today, on strained U.S. relations with its European allies caused by the bombing, but a spokesman for the committee said the State Department refused to furnish a witness until Jan. 12, and then only behind closed doors.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Kissinger to meet them in private Tuesday, but both declined.

In both houses, meanwhile, moves were continuing to rekindle opposition to the war, with the aim of producing legislation quickly to end the bombing, force withdrawal of remaining U.S. troops from the area and obtain the release of American prisoners of war.

But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield confessed that chances were slim that funds for the war could be cut off before July, since major defense spending bills never are ready for floor action until well into the summer.

Hailey buys TV translator

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News writer

HAILEY — The city of Hailey has entered into the television translator business.

After over an hour of discussion during a special meeting Wednesday night, the Hailey City Council voted unanimously to purchase a two-channel, $2,000 translator operation from Rex Shirts and Floyd Patterson.

The translator had gone off the air as of Wednesday because of lack of funds. Without purchase, service restoration was anticipated this morning.

Mayor Lawrence Heagle said he didn't favor the city going into the television business. However, terms the translator "a public service," he said the elderly and shut-ins were entitled to television service.

Councilman Neal Nyblund also expressed disapproval of assuming the translator but said the purchase "was the fastest way to get it (the translator) back on the air."

Mayor Heagle appointed councilman Claude Porter, resident William House and Jack Davies, who represented Shirts in the sale, to a committee to determine operation and maintenance procedure for the system.

Threat diverts airliner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Trans World Airlines today ordered a TWA 747 jumbo jet enroute from Madrid to New York diverted to Denver after an extremist demanding ransom claimed a pressure bomb had been placed aboard the aircraft.

The plane was scheduled to arrive in Denver at 1:15 p.m. EST (3:15 p.m. EST).

The plane, flight 903 with 218 passengers, a crew of 15 and three TWA employees aboard, had been scheduled to land at Kennedy Airport at 12:25 p.m. EST. It was ordered diverted after an anonymous person phoned the airlines' Madrid office and threatened to blow up the craft unless the company paid $775,000.

A TWA spokesman said the plane had sufficient fuel to reach Denver.

The higher altitude at Denver — 5,300 feet — was expected to prevent the pressure bomb from exploding if such a device actually were aboard.

Bank status report due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Comptroller of the Currency William B. Culp today notified national banks that a statement of condition was required for the year ending Dec. 31, 1972.

Frankie Wille, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., said that insured state banks had also been notified that a report of condition was due for calendar year 1972.

Cassia mishap costly

By DAVID HORSMAN, Times-News writer

ALBION — The New Year's Day Pomerelle ski lift failure that injured 19 persons may be costly for the resort.

According to Roger Jones, Pomerelle president, initial damage to lift equipment during the mishap amounted to from $3,000 to $5,000.

The damage occurred when an oil line fitting broke, causing the lift to lose power.

After the power loss, three independent braking systems failed, permitting the fully-loaded lift chairs to careen backward down the mountain.

Additional costs will come from new equipment being installed at the lift, Jones said. The equipment reportedly will cost $3,000 to $5,000. Other costs include lost lift receipts during the 7-10 day repair period.

Perhaps the greatest cost, he said, will be the long-term economic impact. "It's going to hurt us," he said, "but I don't know how much."

When an airplane blows up, Jones said, you don't quit flying, he said. Jones would not comment on the possibility of lawsuits by the 19 persons injured.

Jones said an additional braking system may be added "as an extra safety factor."

He said the funds spent for new safety equipment would be "above and beyond U.S. Forest Service requirements."

He repeated his earlier statements that the resort lift would "meet and exceed" forest service safety standards before it is re-opened to the public.

Crash kills 1

HANSEN — One woman was killed and a man was being treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after a two-vehicle collision about 10:00 a.m. today on the Hansen overpass.

It was the first traffic death of the year in Idaho.

Twin Falls County Coroner Cloyce Edwards said the woman was pronounced dead at the scene eight miles east of Hansen on Highway 30 when the pickup truck in which she was a passenger apparently collided with a farm truck.

The injured man was the driver of the small foreign-made pickup truck, the coroner said.

He said the pickup appeared to have collided with a farm truck and no one else apparently was injured.

State police are investigating.

Panel requests aviation help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential commission today claimed the nation's aviation system is "in serious trouble" and recommended a multi-billion program to "cure it, including direct government aid to airplane manufacturers."

The commission also proposed —

- Sharp decreases in allowable aircraft noise.
- Creation of an undersecretary of transportation for civil aviation.
- Establishment of a national land bank for new airport construction.
- Allowing supervisory transports to land in the United States as soon as noise and pollution standards are met.

The two-year study was conducted by the President's Aviation Advisory Commission whose nine members represented the public, government and industry. The commission placed the cost of its recommendations at up to $103 billion.

According to the study, aircraft noise is "the most explosive problem facing aviation today." Attempts so far by the aviation industry to cut aircraft noise "are insufficient to win public acceptance," the report said. It urged the airlines to get up immediately "steeper takeoff and approach procedures for aircraft to speed engine retrofit programs, and to 'retire from service' by 1980 any airlines unable to meet federal aircraft noise standards.

Benefits, bite up for '73

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For almost everyone who works, the new year brings a substantial increase in taxes as much as $163.00 for many.

The Social Security tax, the fastest-growing federal tax and second only to the income tax in the amount it brings in, is going ineffective Jan. 1 and will rise again on Jan. 1, 1973.

It is paid by 99 million U.S. workers — almost all except military and civilian government workers, who have their own retirement plans. For many low-paid workers its bite exceeds the income tax.

The new tax rate is 11.7 percent of wages — half paid by the worker and half by his employer.

That tax rate applies to all of a worker's earnings up to $10,800 a year. In another year, the amount of income subject to the tax will rise to $12,000.

That means a maximum tax for any worker of $831.00 for 1973 and of $702 for 1974 for workers and employers.

In comparison, the maximum tax this year was $468. The tax rate was 5.2 percent and withholding ended after the tax had been taken from $9,000 of earnings.

The increase will finance two big liberalizations of benefits enacted by Congress in 1972.

One was a 20 percent across-the-board increase which took effect in October. For the American in eight — 20 million people in all — who receives a pay and green Social Security check on the third day of each month.

The other enriched the Social Security system a second time for many aged, disabled or dependent survivor beneficiaries.

The liberalizations included raising a widow's benefits to the level her husband would have received — if he had survived her, increasing benefits by 1 percent a year for those who delay retirement beyond age 65, improving minimum payments for those with low pre-retirement earnings and increasing the amount people can earn in retirement without reducing their benefits.

The 1972 law made the system inflation proof. Whenever the cost of living rises 3 percent, the benefits will rise that much. The amount of earnings subject to the tax will increase automatically.

Over the past five years, benefits have increased by more than 70 percent.

Because people felt they were getting something for their money, there has been little taxpayer resistance to the tax increases over the years.

Reds down 17th B52

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Command said the 17th B52 bomber of the war was downed today and reported the loss of another $15 million swingwing F111 jet in last month's raids over the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

The command announced, which did not specify how either aircraft was downed, came as U.S. warplanes took advantage of clearing weather to step up attacks south of North Vietnam's 20th Parallel bombing boundary that runs 85 miles south of Hanoi.

Spokesmen said all six crewmen aboard the stricken B52 bailed out and were rescued from the Tonkin Gulf today after the pilot guided the $8 million plane out over the water. The two F111 crewmen, whose plane crashed "west of Hanoi" Dec. 22, are listed as missing and "cause of the downing was not known."

The B52 crew "noticed heavy fumes in the cockpit" just before bailing out, spokesmen said. Air Force and Navy helicopters plucked the men to safety from waters near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

Another 15 B52s were downed over North Vietnam during President Nixon's 12-day bombing campaign of the Hanoi-Haiphong area that was suspended Saturday. The first combat loss of the war of the huge jets was last Nov. 22.

To date, a year's announcements brought to 29 the number of U.S. warplanes the command says were downed in the Dec. 18-30 aerial blitz of Hanoi and its chief seaport. At least 84 American airmen are listed as killed, wounded or missing in the raids.

Spokesmen said today they withheld news of the loss of the F111 jet during an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the two-man crew. It was the second F111 downed in the Northern raids.

In ground action in South Vietnam, the Saigon command said today North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces stepped up their attacks Wednesday and early today to the highest point in more than two months. A command spokesman listed 116 enemy-initiated incidents "between dawn Wednesday and daybreak today."

Premium hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some 22.5 million aged and disabled persons will receive a 50 cent increase in their monthly medicare doctor bill premiums July 1, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced Wednesday.

The increase — from $5.80 to $6.30 — is necessary to pay the costs of expanding medicare health insurance for the first time to 1.7 million disabled persons and chronic kidney disease sufferers of all ages, because of increasing use of physicians' services and a trend toward more expensive services, HEW Secretary Elliott L. Richardson said.

During fiscal year 1972, medicare paid more than $2.2 billion to cover the costs of medical services, an average of $113 for each beneficiary.

While medicare doctor bill coverage remains optional, legislation enacted last fall by Congress requires automatic enrollment of the aged and disabled after March, 1973, unless they say they don't want it.

Major storm in midwest clogs roads

By United Press International
A major winter storm tore through the Midwest today, transforming interstate highways into writhing lines of snowbound cars, triggering a flurry of auto accidents and triggering power failures.

Three men were killed and one was injured Wednesday when a pickup truck collided with a trailer truck in freezing rain near Ottawa, Ill.

A blizzard howled through eastern Nebraska, stopping traffic on major highways leading into the metropolitan Omaha and Lincoln areas and causing at least one death.

Winds of up to 52 miles per hour hurled tons of snow through eastern Nebraska, reducing visibility to zero and creating massive traffic jams. At least one storm-related traffic death was reported.

The trip between Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., normally takes 40 minutes, but snow-clogged roads and stalled cars turned the trip into a five-hour ordeal Wednesday. Snow piled up to seven inches at some locations and was whipped into drifts by the strong winds. Catholic schools remained closed today in Omaha as a result of the storm and school officials were expected to make a decision today as to whether public school students should be given the day off.

The Nebraska State patrol warned motorists to stay off Interstate 80, the state's main east-west highway, between Omaha and York. A four-mile-long traffic jam built up in U.S. 75-73 south of Omaha.

Near-blizzard conditions were reported in Iowa, forcing the municipal airport at Des Moines to shut down.

One of the worst ice storms on record left some 30,000 homes and offices in Kansas City, Mo., without power and sent hundreds of persons to homes of friends or relatives or to churches and schools to keep warm. Power company employees worked through the night in an effort to restore power.

Traffic moved at a crawl, when it moved, as heavy snows clogged roadways in southeastern Minnesota.

RAILROAD tracks hanging in the air mark spot where rain-swelled Corace River swept away a bridge during southern Italy's current rainstorms. Police say at least 14 persons have died in mudslides and flooding with thousands left homeless. (UPI)

Belfast police battle robbers

BELEFAST (UPI) — Police fought a gun battle with three bank robbers in a Belfast suburb today, wounding one of the men and capturing the other two, police said. There also was a shootout between British troops and gunmen at a Belfast social club.

The robbers grabbed a sack of money and were backing out of the building with the bank's assistant manager as hostage when spotted by two policemen on the street in Carridge. Both groups started firing and one of the gunmen fell before the others surrendered, police said. The assistant bank manager was unhurt.

A pre-dawn army raid on a social club provoked a shootout in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district earlier today. The soldiers, who arrested four men in the club, said a stray bullet fired by a gunman hit a civilian in the shoulder and that they wounded a sniper.

The civilian was shot as he stood by the lighted window of his home watching the soldiers being fired upon. An army spokesman said the man turned on his lights and a lamp in his garden when the soldiers sought safety in his yard.

The soldiers smashed the lamp and asked him to turn off his interior lights, which were spotlighting them, but he refused, an army official said. A few moments later he was hit.

In Dublin, Irish Premier Jack Lynch met with his key ministers today before flying off to the United States in an effort to halt private American donations to the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Government sources said he would press for this and to be stopped in a series of meetings and on at least two television programs during his six-day visit.

A government spokesman said Lynch would meet with President Nixon on Friday for 20 minutes and attend a ministerial service for the late President Harry S. Truman.

Despite today's news violence, Protestant and Roman Catholic churchmen put aside their religious differences to join in condemnation of killings blamed on religious hatreds.

Pension reform bill in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill designed to assure at least a partial pension for most of the 40 million workers covered by private pension plans was reintroduced in the Senate today.

A similar measure cleared the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee last September but was referred to the Senate Finance Committee where it died.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., in remarks prepared for the bill's introduction, pledged to fight in the Finance Committee to preserve the new bill.

However, pension reform supporters in the Senate acknowledge that any bill seeking to regulate pension plans through the tax laws must originate in the House Ways and Means Committee and be approved by the Senate Finance Committee. The Constitution requires that all tax legislation originate in the House.

Among other things, the Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., would require that a private pension plan pay a worker a full pension if he has worked for 15 years.

Humphrey, McGovern win Senate seats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — That decision, ratified today by the Senate Democratic Caucus, made it unnecessary for Democrats to make a choice between Humphrey and McGovern for the vacancy.

McGovern gave up his seat on the Foreign Relations Committee to move over to Foreign Relations. It was reported that Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., would be given a place on Interior, a committee whose work is important to McGovern and Abourezk's home state of Nebraska.

Since there was only one Democratic vacancy on the committee, that of defeated Sen. William B. Steing Jr., D-Vt., the Senate Democratic Steering Committee decided to expand the committee by one member.

Guggenheim heiress dies of overdose

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An heiress to the Guggenheim copper fortune died in her San Francisco apartment because of an overdose of sleeping pills, authorities said Wednesday.

The victim was Mrs. Nancy Guggenheim Williams, 37, author, ballet teacher and daughter of the late Harry P. Guggenheim, longtime U.S. ambassador to Cuba and publisher of Newsday.

Her grandfather was Daniel Guggenheim, copper mining tycoon.

Police were called Tuesday, when her maid found a note pinned to the apartment door saying, "Addie. Don't come in. I'm in bed. Just call the police."

Officers found a nearly empty bottle of sleeping pills near the body.

TWIN FALLS — Reid S. Hayes, 32, Twin Falls, was arrested by Twin Falls Police Wednesday on a charge of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor child.

Hayes remains in the Twin Falls County jail on $2,000 bond.

According to Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls, the alleged offense for which Hayes was arrested took place in 1971.

Newsman appeals to court

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Newsman Peter Bridge has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review his contempt sentence for refusing to reveal confidential sources, before a grand jury.

The appeal announced Wednesday asked the high court to review a New Jersey appeals court decision holding Bridges in contempt for refusing to answer questions put to him by an Essex County grand jury investigating alleged corruption in the Newark Housing Authority.

The Sept. 12 state contempt decision followed a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that newsmen have no constitutional right to protect their confidential sources from grand jury inquiries.

Bridge was jailed for three weeks after a series of courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court, refused to stay his jail sentence.

Bridge had been reporting on the housing authority for the now-defunct Newark Evening News when the grand jury summoned him.

Blaine snowpack, water subnormal

HAILLEY — Less than average snow depths for January have been recorded in the Big Wood and Little Wood River drainage areas. According to the Jan. 1 snow survey released by the Blaine County Soil Conservation District, snow depths and water content fall from 25 to 35 per cent below the 15-year average.

The survey was conducted by Soil Conservation Service employees Reuben Bradshaw, Douglas Bishop, and Larry Hooker, with the aid of the US Forest Service.

With an elevation of 9,000 feet, Baldy recorded 28 inches of snow. Water content was six inches, 67 per cent of the 15-year average.

On Jan. 1, 1972, Mt. Baldy listed 48 inches of snow; in 1971, 61.9 inches; and in 1965, 85 inches of snow.

The second highest point in the survey, Galena Summit — elevation, 8,795 feet — showed 34.6 inches of snow on Jan. 1, the survey stated. The water content was 15 inches, 76 per cent of the 15-year average.

The snow depth on Galena Summit compared with 57 inches in 1972; 58.9 in 1971, and 110 inches in 1965.

Other sampling points on the survey showed the following snow depths on Jan. 1, compared to Jan. 1, 1972:

Coolidge Summit — 40.6 inches compared to 38 inches in 1972; Soldier — 15 compared to 33.7; base of Galena — 29 compared to 33.8 and Grahams Rangle at North Fork — 19 inches, compared to 31.6 inches in 1972.

With comparison figures not available for 1972, the following snow depths were shown for Jan. 1: Mascot Mine, East Fork, 21.8 inches; Swede Peak, 25.7; Garfield, 13.1; and Muldoon, 11.8 inches.

Milwaukee employes on strike

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Nearly 12,000 city, county and school board employes went on strike early today despite last-minute mediation efforts to get them to remain on their jobs.

The strike began at 12:01 a.m. but it wasn't until the first light of dawn that the full impact of the walkout was felt as many governmental services were either eliminated or cut back.

McCall snow said dry

MCCALL, Idaho (UPI) — Water content at the Rock Flat Snow Course and the Brundage Mountain Course is much less than last year at this time.

Resource Forester Robert C. Bryan says the Jan. 1 water content at Rock Flat was 5.25 inches, 20 per cent less than last year. At Brundage it was 11.5 inches, 35 per cent less than last year on Jan. 1.

Snow depth at both places was also less than last year.

Social Security tax, benefits climb in '73

They have been sharp. When Social Security started in 1937, the maximum tax was $30 each for a worker and his employer, and by 1961 the maximum tax was $98.52.

Some critics think the system has advanced too far. Some economists see it as inflationary, increasing the cost of goods, as businesses have to pass along heavier taxes and also increasing the spendable incomes of beneficiaries.

As payroll deductions and costs mount for businesses, they're reluctant to add new workers, preferring to pay overtime to the existing work force. Thus, the higher taxes impede efforts to reduce unemployment.

The tax structure always has been criticized as most burdensome on poor workers.

Over 20 million workers with income so low they are exempted from paying income taxes still must pay more than $1.5 billion a year in Social Security taxes.

A family man with four children earning $5,000 in 1973 will have to pay no income tax but $292.50 will be deducted from his paychecks for Social Security — almost three weeks of pay. Another worker earning 10 or 20 times as much will have to pay only twice as much in Social Security taxes.

But benefits are tilted in favor of the poorer worker when he retires. Each dollar he put in the system will buy him far more in retirement income than the dollar contributed by the well-off worker.

The 1972 change providing for automatic benefit increases to match the climb in living costs promises to make the system more of a genuine retirement income program than it has been.

Statisticians have figured out that a young man taking a $12,000 job this year at age 22 and receiving an annual pay increase of 5 per cent will be entitled to $2,360 in monthly Social Security benefits when he retires at age 65 in the year 2015. In terms of 1972 dollars, that amount would be equivalent to $739 a month.

Identify ski gear, police ask owners

TWIN FALLS — Skiers were asked today by Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls to place identifying marks on their ski equipment to help recover stolen items.

Qualls, Twin Falls Police Department, said skis, poles and ski racks should be marked in some identifying manner and the owner should record where and how he marked the items and keep this record in case of theft.

Marks should be of a nature which would require sandpapering or filing to remove which would indicate to police they had been changed, Qualls said.

During winter months, he said, the police department receives many reports of ski equipment thefts from ski areas and from parked automobiles or homes.

The thefts will continue, he said, during the next few months. Many times officers feel they have located a pair of stolen skis but since there are many identical models it often is impossible to identify them and the skis cannot be recovered and the thief benefits.

If there is an identifying mark the owner can give officers or if it appears the identifying mark described by the owner has been filed away, officers can tie up the equipment until a more extensive investigation is made.

Frequently ski equipment is recovered in other towns or for persons in other towns and in these cases some definite identification is essential, officers are to impound the stolen items, he said.

Devoted To The Citizens Of Magic Valley

Thursday, January 4, 1973 Al Westergren, Publisher PHONE 733-0931

Official City and County Newspaper Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and OPT Pursuant to Section 4010 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which local notices will be published.

Going By Air

The importance of Joslin Field to the economy and to citizen convenience in this area is shown by new all-time passenger boarding and airmail transportation records set during the month of December by Hughes Air West.

In both instances, it was the best month in the history of the airline. During December there were 3,172 passengers boarding Air West jets at the Twin Falls City-County Airport. It was the first time the number had climbed above 3,000 and airline officials said most were Magic Valley residents.

Although the ailing was struck during the first two and one-half months of 1972, the passenger total for the year at 21,650 was still the second greatest in history. Officials said it would have exceeded 27,000 had there been no strike.

The passenger record does not include thousands of people who flew into Twin Falls from other points. Actual records are maintained only of those leaving from the local field. The same holds with airmail shipments.

City and county officials are to be complimented for their successful efforts in keeping Joslin Field a first class facility. And the upgrading has not stopped. With federal participation an instrument landing system -- a prime safety factor -- is being installed and construction of a control tower is expected later this year.

Joslin Field is Magic Valley's connecting jet-age link with anywhere in the world. That it is being utilized is evident by the new records announced by Hughes Air West.

Oblivion

One workhorse word that deserves to be put out to pasture for a lengthy rest is "surrogate."

The first commentator who wrote that President Nixon was using surrogates to campaign for him -- meaning substitutes or spokesmen or representatives -- said something fresh and different, though he may have confused a lot of people who always thought a surrogate was a kind of judge or court.

But then other writers picked up the word and proceeded to beat it to death. As writers do with fad words, (Remember poor old "charisma"?)

The process apparently isn't over. One columnist has just suggested that since Mr. Nixon sent surrogates to the campaign with such success, he ought to send surrogates to the inauguration while he takes it easy at Camp David. Nobody would miss him.

And writers really ought to find a surrogate for "surrogate." Nobody would miss it, either.

MR. SPECTATOR

Forum On The Tube?

Last Monday we inserted an editorial which originally appeared in the Journal and Courier of Lafayette, Ind. In that editorial that newspaper called for protection of those involved in broadcasting -- protection under the First Amendment.

The Times-News goes along with this thought. Newspapers are protected by the First Amendment to the extent we can practically print what we please and if we are wrong then we will be answerable for it in the courts and in the marketplace. Broadcasting stations -- TV stations -- do not have this protection. Like the editor of the Journal and Courier, we think they should.

Now, as long as we are on the subject, there is one thing that has disturbed us so far as operation of a TV station is concerned. When you don't like what they say or what you see there is really little use in writing a letter to the station.

When you don't like what a newspaper is doing you write a letter to the editor and, unless it is in very bad taste, it gets printed as a Letter To The Editor so all subscribers and others reading the newspaper can see it. Not so on most TV stations. If you want to voice a protest there you might just as well forget it.

Some stations are now using station editorials on subjects of general interest with the offer that those with conflicting views can answer and be seen. This usually means just one answer -- if it means anything at all. People not trained in talking through the tube just don't warm up to appearing publicly. Result -- no conflicting views are aired.

Why wouldn't it be better for TV stations -- like newspapers -- to offer some "Letter To The Manager" comments? These letters could then be read over the TV station, at good viewing time, by a professional announcer. With a limit of say two minutes a letter, it would be possible to offer the public an area where they could "sound off" without embarrassment that their personal appearance and a ease of nerves might cause.

We realize that some TV stations do offer "Comment" time to persons of note. But the average citizen has no such opportunity. His only opportunity is in the "Public Forum" of a newspaper where letters from anyone will be printed, with very few exceptions.

The image of a TV station, we believe, would be enhanced by such a program. Then those who do not like what is going on in the community or what is coming over the air would have the opportunity to express their views like they do in a newspaper.

Otherwise, we must admit, we do like what TV provides -- practically all the time.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

There's a new remedy on the market for baldness. It's made of alum and persimmon juice. It doesn't grow hair, but it shrinks your head to fit what hair you have.

WASHINGTON -- On the issue, it does not seem overly fashionable Georgetown to deny the assumption that discrimination in housing remains a national frivolous to report on an equal rights to members of the conspiracy afoot in chic, Nixon administration.

Anonymously, over drinks and dinner, Presidential appointees have taken to complaining that they have become victims of Georgetown's traditional snobbery. It seems the bustling creators of the capital's most expensive neighborhood are reluctant to rent or sell property to "republicans" identified as playing on the Nixon team.

Ironically, the realtors are snubbing administration people at a time when Georgetown's stylish image is threatened by an invasion of long haired and generally bedraggled hippie-type youths of both sexes. Only a few of these kids live in Georgetown, but they clog the two main shopping streets -- Wisconsin Avenue and M Street -- especially on weekends, and on Saturday nights the neighborhood looks more like New York's East Village than the private domain of wealthy New Dealish lawyers and impeccably accoutered diplomats.

Indeed, many of the old, traditional shops are closed on Saturdays because of their owners' concern over mass shoplifting. As one of the merchants told the New York Times the other day, Saturday is not the real Georgetown. "On Saturday, any Washingtonian with any sense doesn't come to Georgetown," said Dorcas Hardin, who has operated a boutique for more than 20 years.

Another bit of irony may be in the offing. Georgetown is in a tizzy over efforts by the Inland Steel Corp. and other developers to build a high-rise, industrial-THE place to live, I think we have an obligation not to let Georgetown down.

At any rate, it is a fact that Nixonites are finding it impossible to rent or buy in Georgetown. Both houses and apartments are in such demand that a property owner or agent can afford to pick and choose his prospects. Given Georgetown's inflexible snobbery and rigid liberalism, it is not surprising that its neighborhood's salons and saloons that one of Nixon's millionaires will buy the whole waterfront and turn it into the residential area, with parks and small squares, that Georgetowners want. "That would be nice," said a realtor. "I think I could find a few properties for Republicans if that should come about."

About Drugs

Some time ago I printed a letter from a heroin user as his explanation of why he had turned to drugs. He listed the shortcomings of his parents, the establishment, the church and so on.

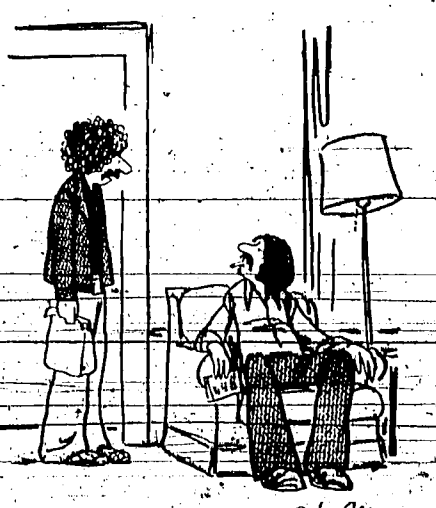

I wish I had the space to print even a sampling of the replies -- including two or three that pummeled me. For instance: "As I read the words of the anonymous writer, I heard a cry in between the lines: HELP! A cry for help. Your response which I displayed -- surprised -- served only to make that cry louder. I found you reply unprofessional, no kindness nor understanding in your reply. This was an opportunity for you, Doctor, and you blew it!"

On the other side, and more numerous by far, were ones toned like the following:

Dear Dr. Thosteson. Would running every night, as an exercise, be harmful or beneficial to a person with bad varicose veins but no other known medical problems? C.

Leg activity (walking, running or whatever) is beneficial for a person with varicose veins.

White House Dinner

WASHINGTON -- The White House in its running feud with The Washington Post, has kept Mrs. Dorothy McCordie, a Post reporter, from covering the President's social events. It is believed that the ban will be in effect at least until after the inauguration.

This is not the catastrophe one might think it is, mainly because social events at the White House write themselves, and you really don't have to be there to cover them.

There is actually a forth which reporters fill out after each affair. This is it: President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon gave a dinner party last night in honor of the prime minister of the United States and his wife. Included on the distinguished guest list were Supreme Court Justice Secretary of State and Mrs. Ambassador and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. of the Oil Company who gave $2 million to the Republican Party, Mr. and Mrs. of the Insurance Company who gave $1 million to President Nixon's campaign, and Mr. and Mrs. of the Automobile Company, who donated $500,000 to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. Mr. is being considered as ambassador to Also attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. of Industries. Mr. is under indictment in California for violations of the antitrust law. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. of the Pharmaceutical Company Mr. is trying to merge his company with the Drug Corporation.

The guests dined on Soupe aux Poissons, Boeuf Commine il Faut, Salade Haricots Blancs and Souffle Billy Graham. During the dinner the Air Force strings played songs from "No, No, Nanette." After coffee the President rose to toast the prime minister of the U.S.S.R.

He said, "In all my travels around the world I have never been in a more interesting country than the United States. I remember the first time we got off the plane at your wonderful capital of and how the crowds at the airport.

"The country of has shown by its actions that it is a true friend of the United States. Not only have you supported us in our Communist aggression, but you have proven that you can make it on your own, as long as you have the military strength to survive.

Your nation has sent us many fine people who have become worthwhile American citizens. I need only mention who invented the cure for and, left we forget the women, Mrs. whose ethnic pie and cakes have become famous throughout our land. Mr. Prime Minister, I welcome you to the United States and to you and your people."

The prime minister responded to the toast by thanking the President for his hospitality. He then went on to say that the only flaw in the friendship between the two countries was the United States' stiff and unfair tariff on the said he hoped this tariff would be lifted soon and he thanked the President for all the planes and tanks he has agreed to give for its support of Mr. Nixon's Vietnam policies.

AMA Expose

The American Medical Assn. is throwing open the windows, letting the whole neighborhood hear talk about things discussed here before only in whispers, if at all.

The self-expose of the AMA. A hundred American doctors, a year, commit suicide. A hundred a year! That's equivalent to wiping out the entire graduating class of the average high school.

Take all the doctors killed by car accidents, plane crashes, drownings and homicides -- and more than all those put together kill themselves.

Probable reasons: alcoholism, drugs, mental problems. Who says? The American Medical Assn. The heretofore ultraconservative association of physicians which has been confessing, publicly, surgical errors, sick doctors and dumb doctors. Last January I wrote, "In one year you might not recognize the old American Medical Assn. You and I had seen the AMA's arteries hardening before its leaders did. Membership was declining. Public respect for doctors and doctoring was eroding. It took a vigorous new president, Dr. Wesslop Hall, to overthrow the establishment."

Pay hike questioned

BOISE (UPI) — The Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee will hear budget requests from four state agencies today including the Fish and Game Department.

The committee is meeting here this week in a pre-legislative round of hearing on budgets for various agencies. The other three to be heard today are for the Mountain State Ranger Institute, the Office of Child Development and the State Housing Agency.

Wednesday, members of the committee questioned the legality and fairness of a five per cent salary increase for 1973-74 authorized by the Idaho Personnel Commission Dec. 15.

State Sen. John Peavey, R-Hagerman, told the committee that if the commission authorized the raise to take care of inflation, "one to take care of the lower paid employees."

The commission okayed the raise for classified workers but the authorization was made without the understanding that the additional $2.9 million needed to make up the difference would be absorbed within agency budgets.

Those budgets are yet to be enacted by the legislature which convenes next week.

Peavey said he "didn't think it was fair" that under provisions of the percentage increase those making these salaries would make so much more and those making the small salaries would get the small raises.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, questioned the legal right of the commission to authorize the hike for the 7,500 state employees classified under the merit system.

Richard Barrett, state personnel director, said public hearings were conducted with all agencies along with the Idaho State Employees Association and those involved agreed the raise was best, adding, the commission was limited to an authorization of no more than 5 1/2 per cent increase by the federal wage control guidelines.

The commission contacted Barrett to return later with information justifying its pay raise action and data showing approval of the raise by lower-paid workers.

The personnel commission asked for a total budget of $681,638.

In other committee action:

The Lava Hot Springs Foundation requested an appropriation of $186,125, down from the present fiscal year total.

The Department of Aeronautics asked for $115,857 compared to a present operating budget of $203,160, a 15 per cent cut.

The Industrial Commission asked for a budget 12 per cent higher than the present budget. The new request is for $402,710.

And the State Public Employees Retirement System requested $53,773, a 6 1/2 per cent over the current year.

The Jordan-Riviera Club got its name from the River Jordan of Asia because it begins in a fresh water lake (Tah Lake) and ends in a dead sea (the Great Salt Lake).

Price freeze plan hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top administration farm official today rejected new congressional proposals for a 45-day freeze on retail beef prices as "a prescription for disaster."

The best long-range answer to adequate consumer beef supplies at reasonable prices, the official said, would be to step up domestic production by authorizing farmers to graze cattle on millions of acres held idle under government farm programs.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics for the Agriculture Department, made the comments in an interview after Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and a group of other consumer-oriented lawmakers introduced a 13-bill package of new consumer legislation Wednesday. The bundle included bills freezing retail meat prices for 45 days at November, 1972, levels and permanently repealing authority for import controls on beef.

Paarlberg said beef cattle prices have risen substantially since November and retail prices probably have risen or soon will rise. So a freeze at November retail levels would either force a price rollback or a standstill in the face of rising wholesale beef prices, he said.

"The result would be retail counters would be cleaned out. We'd have to have some form of rationing, and people would be lining up in stores. We'd have low prices but no beef—a prescription for pure disaster," Paarlberg said.

Under present federal regulations, live beef cattle prices are free to fall or rise without control. The government does control margins of meat packers and retail food chains, but these businesses are free to pass cattle price hikes on to consumers as long as they comply with the margin-limit rules.

Rosenthal, in announcing his legislative package, noted that President Nixon suspended all beef import quotas for the last half of 1972 and officials have announced, the suspension would be continued in 1973.

Revamp plan due

BOISE (UPI) — The State Land Board will meet at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday and can be expected to consider a motion to revamp the board, giving administrative activities to the land commissioner.

The motion by State Auditor Joe Williams was presented at a December meeting, and Williams requested it be discussed at the January meeting.

Williams, a member of the commission, said he has been trying to get such a change made for 12 years and is optimistic about the possibility the change will be adopted.

"I think we'll get it done," Williams said. "I think we have a progressive land board and I think they'll do it."

"If it happens not to be on the agenda," he said, "why, I'll bring it up anyway."

Church picked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, was elected Wednesday to the U.S. Senate Democratic steering committee.

The committee makes decisions on the Democratic membership of all Senate committees. It also nominates the chairman of each committee for publication by the Democratic caucus.

On the committee Church replaces Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, who retired from the Senate at the end of the 92nd Congress.

With the convening of the new Congress, Church will rank in the upper one-fourth of the Senate in terms of seniority.

No-hijack plan starts Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first phase of the government's strict new anti-hijacking program goes into effect Friday and appeals to passengers "to keep your good humor" and a dispute over how the first hijacker of 1973 managed to board an airliner with a gun.

Under emergency procedures issued last month by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, all airports ground the national "ground screen" all passengers boarding an airliner, and inspect all carry-on baggage, including handbags carried by women.

By Feb. 5, armed guards must be stationed at each airport boarding gate, and passengers will be physically searched if necessary.

The Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the nation's major airlines, urged air travelers to speed up the boarding procedure by:

- Keeping carry-on baggage to a minimum
- Arriving at the airport early to allow time for the metal detection test
- Unrapping luggage "as you near the inspector"
- The ATA also urged passengers "to keep your good humor remembering that the inspectors are doing their duty and doing it for your protection."

Anti-bomb bid hinted

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian government may propose a formal resolution in the House of Commons "deploring" American bombing of North Vietnam, External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday.

Sharp also told a news conference the government had expressed its opposition to the bombing in communications with the United States "at all levels."

The minister met briefly with members of a delegation of groups opposed to the bombing and said, "I made it clear that there is no difference between the view of the Canadian government and that of the delegation on the bombing."

Plant halt sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader says construction of nuclear power plants in the United States should be halted until questions about their safety are settled.

Following Nader's statement Wednesday, spokesmen for the nuclear power industry defended the safety record of such plants.

"The danger of catastrophic nuclear power plant accidents is a public safety problem of the utmost urgency in the country today," consumer advocate Nader said at a news conference.

He said the Atomic Energy Commission's "own safety experts" have substantial misgivings about the agency's official assurances of reactor safety.

Nader was joined by Dr. Henry W. Kendall, nuclear physicist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who said a nuclear power plant accident could put lethal doses of radioactivity into the atmosphere, affecting areas as far as 75 miles downwind from the site.

There have been no major nuclear reactor accidents as yet, Kendall said. But he said AEC officials estimated that the odds are "one in 1,000 for each reactor" that there will be a "break" in pipes inside reactors.

Georgia inmates release hostages

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — A group of 14 maximum security prisoners released four guards unharmed Wednesday after threatening to cut off the head of one of their hostages if a list of demands were not met.

The inmates held the guards at knifepoint for seven hours while negotiating with state Prison Commissioner Ellis MacDougall. The drama ended after MacDougall promised no disciplinary action would be taken against the prisoners and agreed to consider a list of 14 demands.

MacDougall turned down initial demands by the inmates to talk to Gov. Jimmy Carter, newsmen, and a member of the Georgia Prisoner Observer Committee.

The episode forced officials of the state Department of Offender Rehabilitation to postpone a planned overnight visit today at the prison system's Diagnostic and Classification Center at Jackson by state officials and newsmen.

Carter had planned to lead a group of 56 lawmakers, judges, and reporters who were to spend a night behind bars to talk with prisoners and get an idea of prison life.

"We will definitely reschedule the visit," a department spokesman said. "Gov. Carter is all for it. But right now there are so many of our key officials at Reidsville, that we couldn't continue our plans at Jackson."

The prisoners' demands ranged from replacement of the prison administration to permission to grow their hair long.

Warden Jack Caldwell said the guards, identified as Lt. Bruce McLeod, Wilkes Dreggers, Richard Higgs, and G. M. O'Donald, were not armed because prison regulations forbid weapons of any type inside prisoner areas.

A prison spokesman said "a few knives" were taken from the inmates after the guards were released. Except for a pocket knife taken from a guard, the weapons were homemade.

The prisoners barricaded themselves in a 40-cell area by jamming a door with a mop handle after overpowering the guards, but officials said no damage was done to the captured prison area.

12 Washington cops relieved of duty in probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve Washington police officers, including the chief of the department's Community Relations Division and the heads of two district vice squads, were relieved of duty Wednesday as the result of a year-long probe of gambling payoffs.

Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson, in a brief announcement, said the 12 would face departmental charges later. A federal grand jury reportedly is preparing criminal indictments to be filed against some police officers by the end of the month.

The Washington Post reported Thursday that a former police officer, under indictment for conspiring to make false arrests had provided much of the evidence for the action through tape recordings. The former officer, Harold F. Crook, was the head of the third district vice squad.

The Post quoted an unidentified assistant to Wilson as saying "it is the darkest hour for the police department since Jerry has been chief."

Wilson was not available for comment. A year ago Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., charged there was widespread corruption in the Washington Police Department and demanded an investigation. He withdrew the request after a shakeup occurred in the department resulting in the suspension of six officers and Wilson assured that the charges would be vigorously investigated within the department.

A short time later eight officers, including the six who had been suspended, were indicted for allegedly conspiring to make false arrests.

Cesar Chavez workers sue Teamsters Union

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cesar Chavez farm workers union filed a $128 million suit Wednesday against the Teamsters Union and California growers and shippers, alleging they had agreed to "sham" contracts that conspired against minorities.

At a news conference in Salinas, where Chavez has been trying to organize lettuce pickers in rivalry with the Teamsters for nearly three years, the labor leader announced a new drive and expanded lettuce boycott.

"We're not going to commit any violence," Chavez said. "The Teamsters have the growers. We've got the workers."

The federal court suit named more than 105 individuals and companies it said had conspired against blacks, Chicanos and Filipinos with contracts signed in July, 1970.

The union, which asked for "not less than $28,440,000 in real damages and $100 million in punitive damages, said the pact was signed despite the fact "a substantial majority" of the farm workers were represented by Chavez' United Farm Workers, AFL-CIO.

The federal court suit came a week after the California Supreme Court ruled that Chavez and his union could picket growers and shippers even though the Teamsters contract was valid.

The state court said picketing was permissible because the growers signed the five-year pact without attempting to determine whether their field hands supported the Teamsters.

The farm workers union asked the court to prohibit growers and shippers from enforcing their pact with the Teamsters and from refusing to bargain with Chavez' organization.

Egypt students protest Middle East situation

CAIRO (UPI) — Police armed with clubs and tear gas today evicted scores of students involved in a five-day sit-in at Cairo University to demand greater freedom of expression and protest the arrest of 50 of their colleagues.

Students were reported also making public their disenchantment with the continued no-war no-peace situation in the Middle East.

The campus agitation spread into Cairo streets Wednesday when hundreds of students armed with stones and rocks battled riot police using tear gas and nightsticks.

Police were under orders to use force if necessary to clear the university compound of the striking students.

The eviction followed a government decision late Wednesday to close all universities and colleges until the start of the mid-year holiday Jan. 11.

The order affected seven universities, four of them in Cairo, and dozens of other educational institutes with a total enrollment of nearly 200,000.

The students are demanding more freedom of expression and democracy as well as protesting the arrest of 50 other students and their disenchantment with the Middle East situation.

Police and students surged back and forth for hours in the clashes, until the students were forced back into the campus. Many of them were allowed later to leave university grounds individually.

By nightfall, the situation in the university area was calm, but nearby streets were strewn nearly ankle deep with rocks and stones.

A preliminary police report said there were some injuries but few of them serious.

The ruling prompted Education Minister Shafiq Eddin Wakil to summon university presidents to a meeting late Wednesday. The decision to close universities was taken at the meeting.

Nuclear team head resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. G. C. Smith said today he has resigned as head of the U. S. team negotiating with the Soviet Union to reduce nuclear arms.

Smith declined to comment on the reasons for his resignation or when he actually stepped down. He reportedly left about Dec. 31.

The White House will be making a statement, Smith said.

Smith, 58, was appointed director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency in 1969.

Smith was Assistant Secretary of State for policy planning in the Eisenhower administration and a State Department adviser for atomic affairs in the Truman administration.

He was dismissed in December after a four month delay in starting testimony. U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne first questioned the bloc of citizens en masse, asking if there were personal reasons they could not serve. Fifteen pleaded hardship.

Hopeful jurors excused

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Twenty-three men and women were excused from jury service on the opening day of the second Pentagon Papers trial Wednesday on grounds ranging from hardship to preconcived the removal and publication of secret files on American policy in the Vietnam war. After a few hours it became evident that it would require at least as long to get a new jury as the three weeks spent last July picking the first one. It was dismissed and a mistrial declared in December after a four month delay in starting testimony.

U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne first questioned the bloc of citizens en masse, asking if there were personal reasons they could not serve. Fifteen pleaded hardship.

Park survey at Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Members of the Shoshone City Council approved a bid for a complete survey of city park property at a meeting Tuesday evening.

A bid of $710 to $780 from Michelson-Crister and Associates was accepted. The survey will include furnishing metes and bounds descriptions with boundaries marked by pins and a topography plat.

Interim appropriations for a temporary budget were passed for the three-month period, January through March.

Included are $18,000 general fund; $2,000 library; $800 recreation; $11,000 streets and street lights; $4,000 waterworks; $2,500 sewer revenue, and $26,000 sewer construction.

Approval was given to a five per cent cost of living increase in salaries for fulltime and seasonal fulltime city employees.

Mrs. Reid-Newby was appointed city treasurer. The appointment was made after the council learned that Nancy Hindlock was unable to accept the position of city treasurer because of conflict of interest with the registrars position. Mrs. Newby succeeds R. W. Grove who retired.

The council authorized withholding $5,000 from the total of $63,644.04 due Hartwell Excavation Co. for sewer installation. The money will be held until the system is given final approval by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Of the total, $41,408.32 was paid Dec. 28, 1972. Authorized for immediate payment was the balance of $17,145.72.

Bond No. 1 for the sewer was redeemed for the amount of $5,000 and an interest payment of $21,352.69 was made.

In other business, the council accepted a municipal audit letter with the audit to be provided by Thomas P. Mahan, CPA.

Purchase of three uniform shirts for the police department was authorized and a call for bids for a bookkeeping system and necessary equipment for financial records of the city was authorized.

Workers lift lines

HOUSE MOVING involves a number of problems including traffic and utility line protection. Bruce Miller, house mover, takes the old Dr. R. A. Drake home through North Five Points. It is being taken from the north end of Shoshone Street to the Hazel Del-rest home property, Miller said. The house was moved with fireplace intact.

Jerome council rejects cat bill

JEROME — The Jerome City Council suspended the rules at a meeting Tuesday evening to adopt a tentative budget of $146,390 for part of fiscal 1973.

A breakdown of the appropriation is $10,950 in the general fund; $750, fire department special fund; $29,961 highways, streets and roadways; $3,838, parks and recreation; $4,480, irrigation; $13,394, sewer; $7,607, sanitation; $4,720, library; $11,250, water department.

A complete budget is being prepared.

Maynard Miller was appointed to a three-year term on the gas board.

Other council appointments include 12 Hoy-Craig, five-year term, library board; Clifton Sheppard and Harney Kleinkopf each to a three-year term on the zoning commission.

The request to call for bids for a new police car made by Councilman Everheart was delayed to give council members time to study specifications.

Rupert council hears costs on three LIDs

By DAVID HORSMAN Times-News-Writer

RUPERT — Rupert City councilmen heard an engineer's report Tuesday night concerning estimated costs of local improvement districts in the city.

The estimates were requested of Jim Voeller, Hamilton and Voeller, Pocatello, after several residents expressed an interest in storm sewer construction in their areas.

Councilman W. Whitton has proposed that the city use revenue sharing funds in supporting the projects.

Voeller's report gave estimates for three areas in the city — a north zone between 16th and 12th streets and a northwest zone comprised of a northern area between 11th Street and the alley separating Fifth and Sixth streets and a southern area between First Street and the same alley between Fifth and Sixth Streets.

The total cost estimates for curb and gutter pavement widening and storm sewers in the north zone was $182,916, with the city paying $12,000 for intersection improvements.

Estimated costs for the same construction in the northern and southern areas of the northwest zone were $479,920 and $215,441 respectively.

The city would pay $46,986 in the northern area and $26,664 in the southern area for intersections. The total cost for all three projects was $878,277.

Voeller estimated that the average cost for each property owner based on a 50-by-140-foot lot or 7,000 square feet would be 15 cents per square foot or $1,050.

Mayor Wendell Johnson said the cost estimates would be distributed to interested residents for their use in drafting petitions for the LIDs.

City Atty Bill Goodman said in more than 60 per cent of the residents in each area sign the petition the city can assess them for the cost of the intersections.

In other business, the Rupert officials agreed to consider annexation of the property facing H Street from the west between Schodde Drive and 15th Street. The idea of annexation came about when Walter McCann, a resident in the affected area, asked permission to connect with city sewage lines.

The councilmen with the exception of Whitton thought the area should be annexed, since it benefits from most civic facilities.

A Lovelier You

WHY HOARD YOUR PERFUME?

By Mary Sue Miller

Scene: A bus. Cast: Ms. A. and Ms. B., young lovelies and good friends. Ms. A. speaks: I've just put my Christmas perfume away. I'm going to save it. Ms. B. responds: I've already opened mine. Why not use it and enjoy it?

Why not indeed? You are gifted with fragrance for enjoyment. Your own mind the giver. When a handsome male plays Santa with perfume, it is because he enjoys the aura. And you had best take the cue to surround yourself with the stuff.

Begin by touching perfume to the pulse pits at the throat and wrists. That way the scent is warmed, intensified, and wafted upward. Tucked into a handbag, a perfumed cotton ball refreshes the interior. Do carry a flacon of perfume with you to renew a scent when it fades. Four hours is about renewal time.

Cologne, a dilute of perfume, has some special uses that may have escaped you. A tip that comes from Good Queen Bess recommends a few drops of cologne in the final rinse water of gloves, handkerchiefs and lingerie. For head-to-toe coverage, spray cologne into the air and walk through the mist. That's a fashion model's discovery.

Develop your own uses for fragrance. But never, never hoard it. All essences eventually deteriorate, although unopened. Hoarding is waste, not a saving.

Wrong Partner Bids the N.T.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The greatest football player in the world can't run for a touchdown if he finds himself flat on his back with a couple of linemen on top of him. Similarly, it doesn't matter how brilliant you are at dummy play, you can't make your contract if you are set before you gain the lead.

The South hand almost cries out for a two no-trump response to partner's diamond opening. The hand looks like one for no-trump play.

If you do play no-trump, a heart or club lead will be right up to an ace-queen combination. Your only four-card suit is clubs and no one really wants to play a balanced hand at a club contract.

All that is specious reasoning. You don't want to play in no-trump against a spade opening and opponents tend to lead their best suit and yours.

When we watched this hand played in a rubber bridge game, South didn't think about the spade danger. He responded two no-trump. North raised to three and the defense started with five spade tricks.

If South had just responded two clubs, North could have gone to two no-trump. South would have had to suffer as dummy but he would not have suffered a loss. No power on earth could keep North from collecting at least nine tricks.

the caboose of the unveiling is the New York Couture Business Council Fashion Press Week — the organization's 30th year for such things. Events in the spring picture started in October — when designers showed in their workrooms to buyers from out-of-town. In December came the second stage of letting the fashion cat out of the bag. That was the American Designer Showings for fashion reporters.

At each stage new things appeared among some of the old things — "old" by virtue of having been unveiled back in October for the buyers.

Pre-natal aid OK'd

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal judge has ruled that expectant mothers can apply for public aid before their babies are born.

A policy of the Illinois Department of Public Aid that prevented mothers on welfare from applying for aid for additional children until after the children are born was ruled unconstitutional by U.S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin Tuesday.

In his ruling, Austin said the department's policy goes against a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling that requires state welfare agencies receiving federal funds to conform to federal welfare regulations.

The ruling means pregnant women already receiving welfare can begin receiving additional aid as soon as a doctor certifies their condition.

Austin's ruling was on a complaint of a pregnant Chicago woman who charged state welfare officials denied her money for pre-natal care.

Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I named our son John Allen Jones II after my husband. We used "the second" because we didn't want to call the baby "Junior." We were later told that "the second" should not be used when a boy is named after his father. It is used only when a boy is named after another relative bearing the same name. We know several people who have used "the second" when naming a son after his father. Have all these people made a mistake or has the rule changed?

In this state [Tennessee] we have one year in which to make a change in a name without any difficulties. Please tell us whether we should change "the second" to "Junior."

NEEDS TO KNOW

Change names

DEAR NEEDS: Change your son's name from "the second" to "Junior." A child bearing the same name as his father is Junior. If a child bears his grandfather's name, which is different from his father's name, he is "the second." If grandfather, son and grandson all have the same name, the father of course is "Junior" and the grandson is "the third."

The use of "the second" indicates that the bearer of the name is a cousin, nephew, or grandson of the original holder of it.

DEAR ABBY: We are two girls who are having a big argument. She's 17 and I'm 14. She's a virgin and I'm not, and she says a guy can tell whether a girl is a virgin or not by the way she walks.

Say a girl doesn't walk any differently after she's gone all the way with a guy than she did before.

WAITING IN COLORADO

DEAR WAITING: You can't tell if a girl is a virgin by the way she walks. But you can sometimes tell by the way she TALKS.

DEAR ABBY: The other day I was with a young friend who told me (with no shame whatsoever) that she was using her husband's telephone credit card given to him by his firm to be used for business calls only. She bragged that she made long distance telephone calls to her parents and friends all over the United States and thinks nothing of it. And she said her husband said it was okay.

This young woman has four children and she would be furious if one of her children "stole" anything. Yet that is exactly what she is doing. I can't understand some parents. No wonder their children don't respect them.

I am sure her husband would lose his job if his firm ever caught on. Or, do all businesses expect a certain amount of pilfering?

NO NAME, NATURALLY

DEAR NO NAME: I'm sure they don't. Your friend is not only dishonest, she's stupid. Somebody should tell her husband to wise up, get his credit card back and get a travel. Companies check up on that sort of thing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED IN CEDAR RAPIDS: My doctor said: "Tell the 49-year-old lady with the 52-year-old husband to keep her guard up. She is not beyond the age of child-bearing."

Problem? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6970, L. A., CALIF. 90046 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Group insures funding

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY—The South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association (SIRPDA) ratified a bylaw amendment here Wednesday that will insure federal funding eligibility for its member counties.

The four-county organization, comprised of Cassia, Minidoka, Jerome and Twin Falls counties, took the action after receiving a letter from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which directed SIRPDA to reorganize its executive board to include at least two-thirds elected official membership or hazard the loss of federal funding.

SIRPDA presently receives two-thirds of its finances from HUD, administered by the Idaho Planning and Community Affairs Agency. The other third is provided through proportional assessments of the member counties.

The executive board was expanded from 13 to 17 members by the adopted amendment. The elected official membership on the board had formerly approximated 62 per cent, but under the revised bylaw, the figure will never be less than 70 per cent.

The increased elected official membership was achieved by requiring that the representative of all cities within each county (exclusive of the county seat) be elected officials and adding an elected representative from each county seat.

Other board members include a county commissioner from each county, a representative-at-large from each county, and a representative of all the soil conservation districts within the association.

In connection with the reorganization, Paul Mayor Robert Larsen was recently appointed as representative of Minidoka County cities other than Rupert and Heyburn. Mayor Harold Hurst was named the Minidoka representative-at-large.

After the amendment vote, SIRPDA vice chairman John Van Orman, Jerome, asked member advice as to methods of increasing attendance and participation in SIRPDA functions.

Although some suggested that additional financial responsibilities might prompt more interest and attendance, most said participation would grow as important projects are undertaken by the young organization.

Barker favors agencies merger

BOISE—Sen. John M. Barker, R-Boise, indicated approval Wednesday for merger of Idaho Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services and Environmental Protection and Health.

Barker, chairman of the Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee, said his initial reaction to the proposal, reported to be part of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' forthcoming state of the state address, was favorable.

His final determination, Barker said, would have to await any specific legislation that might be proposed.

Barker said he and other legislators served on a committee several years ago to seek to consolidate youth programs, adding, "We've been trying to do something like this for three years."

Barker also said a proposal to merge the two agencies, if accomplished, could result in more federal matching moneys for the state for social programs, as state officials in Boise have claimed.

The legislator said federal programs make available funds for "umbrella agencies" that Idaho currently does not receive because of its state organization.

The Buhl Republican said the committee he heads would give early consideration to legislation proposing a merger of the two agencies.

An article in the Boise Statesman Wednesday reported Andrus would make the merger proposal and predicted that Dr. James Bay, currently head of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health, would be picked to head the new agency.

Filer council re-elects leader

FILER—Richard Schweitzer was re-elected president of the Filer City Council at Tuesday evening's meeting in the city hall.

Other appointments include Mrs. Frances Wells, clerk; treasurer, E. M. Rayburn, attorney; John Glandon, maintenance manager; Richard DeVall, assistant maintenance manager; Roger Hinton, chief of police; James DeVall, fire chief; Gilbert Chandler, street commissioner; Schweitzer, water commissioner; Russell Sheridan, sewer commissioner; Charles Crawford Jr., sanitation commissioner and police commissioner; and Edgar Larson, building inspector.

Jerre Beau, of the Filer

Library Board presented the library budget which will be included in the city budget in February.

Gilbert Chandler was re-appointed to the library board as City Council representative.

The council adopted an interim budget for January. The annual budget hearing will be at 7 p.m. Feb. 6 in the city office.

The council adopted a motion to have a sanitation pickup charge beginning Jan. 15.

The charge will be $1.50 per month for residential areas and $3 per month for commercial.

Filer has not charged for sanitation pickup previously. Bill Green and Ronald Haynes demonstrated the use of a radar gun for control of traffic.

Shooting victim taken to Boise

TWIN FALLS—Hospital officials here today reported Anastacio Arambula, 30, injured in a Saturday night shooting at the Chateau, has been taken to Boise.

He was listed in fair condition with a bullet lodged in the spinal canal when taken to St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise Wednesday afternoon. Officials at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital said he will undergo neurosurgery there.

Others hospitalized following the Saturday night shooting and an early Monday morning stabbing at the Chateau have been released from the hospital, officials said.

Utah firm buys Lincoln paper

SHOSHONE—Ray Walker, publisher of the Lincoln County Journal, announced this week the sale of the newspaper to Standard Examiner Publishing Co., Inc., Ogden, Utah.

The decision to sell the Journal was made on the advice of Walker's physician, he said.

The publishing corporation, a subsidiary of the Standard Corp., publishes the Ogden Standard Examiner, a daily and Sunday newspaper of 46,000 circulation, and also the Jerome North Side News and Gooding County Leader.

Managing editor of the Lincoln County Journal will be Mrs. Robert (Darlene) Gaskill, owner of the Renegade which has ceased publication. Mrs. Gaskill was associated with the Lincoln County Journal and has been a resident since 1961.

She is president of the American Legion Auxiliary and has been a member of the Lincoln County Art Guild. She also belongs to the Shoshone Civic club.

Her husband, on the staff of the engineering division of the Idaho Department of Highways, is a member of the American Legion and is former post adjutant. Both are active in the Shoshone Booster Club.

Employed at the Journal to assist with the publication is Mrs. Clarence (Helen) Magoffin, who was associated with Mrs. Gaskill for several months in publishing the Renegade.

Alan P. Meicher, Jerome, is working with the women at the Shoshone office this week in putting out the first paper under the new ownership.

Actual printing of the paper will be done at the Jerome office.

Walker has owned the paper since August, 1971, having returned to Idaho from Virginia. He has not announced his future plans. He has been an active member of Shoshone Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

Hailey aides approve TV translator purchase

Earlier in the meeting, Mayor Heagle said one estimate indicated about $2,400 a year was needed for operation, barring electrical storms.

The motion for purchase contained a provision that the $2,000 price would include all equipment, rights, FCC licenses, easements, property rights and power lines to the VHF translators located near Hailey, repeating channel 3 from Idaho Falls on channel 7 and repeating channel 11 from Twin Falls on channel 6, free of all encumbrances.

Authorization was given by the council to place $500 in the escrow account at Ensign, Davies and Ensign until all transactions are closed on the purchase, then the remainder will be paid.

City Atty. Stephen W. Boller said the translator can be classed under recreational and cultural activities and the city had the authority to expend funds for its cost and maintenance.

The 16-year-old translator had previously operated on a voluntary subscription basis. Mayor Heagle said the service had about 60 customers paying $2 per month.

In other action, the council tabled plans for constructing a dog pound until spring.

Councilman Porter said starting the project during the winter was "unfair to the city and unfair to the contractor."

He said he would rather postpone construction to get a complete job done "when weather conditions are more favorable."

Councilman Nyblad recommended that bidding procedure be initiated on the project.

During the meeting, the council received a rough estimate of $2,000 for concrete block work on the structure, excluding fencing. From contractor Martin Goodman, the pound is expected to be located near the sewage treatment plant.

At an earlier meeting, the council expressed favor of devoting the city's revenue sharing funds, about $6,500 for dog control including a pound and related dog control equipment.

Wednesday's meeting was concluded with preliminary work on the city budget. (Continued on p. 13).

No-fault insurance plan aired at Jerome

JEROME—Pros and cons of the proposed no-fault insurance legislation in Idaho were aired Wednesday during the Jerome Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

Guest speakers were Robert Paine, Twin Falls; John Hepworth, Buhl, and Lloyd Webb, Twin Falls, all attorneys and members of the Idaho State Bar No-Fault Committee.

Also speaking was LeRoy Craig, Jerome, co-owner of Prescott-Craig Insurance and a member of the Idaho Association of Independent Insurance Agents.

Moderator and program chairman was William Hart Paine, explained the committee's eight proposals to be presented during the 42nd Idaho Legislature.

"He said the no-fault insurance is for automobile insurance only and does not cover property damage or the pedestrian who is hit by an automobile."

Paine said under the proposed plan the policy owner loses his right to sue for damages except when loss of body functions occur.

Craig said the no-fault auto insurance eliminates the necessity of proving fault in an accident in order to collect for losses which result.

Under the proposals the policy owner's insurance company would pay his losses for costly medical care without a long delay.

Medical bills and lost income resulting from inability to work, he said, would be paid as they occur.

Craig said all owners or registrants of an automobile in Idaho must carry an insurance policy providing the basic protection of the plan.

"If it is not made compulsory we will still have many people electing to buy or not buy insurance and this lack of consistency along with uncompensated victims will cause dissatisfaction with the plan. It is suggested those in violation of this requirement be considered guilty of a misdemeanor," Craig said.

Craig said whenever medical expenses reach or exceed $500,000, or in the case of total or permanent dismemberment, the public would retain the right to sue if costs incurred in an accident exceeded $2,500.

Under $2,500 the victim's own insurance company would pay without regard for the individual at fault.

The proposal says payments by insurance companies would have to be made within 30 days or penalties would be imposed against the insurance company.

pure "no fault" plan would eliminate this basic concept.

"Let's face it. You don't get something for nothing and you won't get no-fault insurance without some additional cost," Hepworth said.

He agreed some changes are needed in the present insurance system in Idaho, explaining most people either have no insurance protection or do not have the coverage they think they have.

Hepworth cited several cases where people have been completely incapacitated but the medical bills amounted to only about $200.

Under the no-fault insurance system, these people's medical bills and loss of time on the job would be compensated for by their own insurance company but how about compensation for the remainder of their life when their usefulness has been denied them by another driver who gets off scot free?" Hepworth asked.

Webb explained the proposals which will be presented the state legislature by the Idaho Trial Lawyers Association. Webb said under his proposal the public would retain the right to sue if costs incurred in an accident exceeded $2,500.

Under $2,500 the victim's own insurance company would pay without regard for the individual at fault.

The proposal says payments by insurance companies would have to be made within 30 days or penalties would be imposed against the insurance company.

Andrus grants Arstein leave

BOISE (UPI)—Commissioner of Agriculture Oscar C. Arstein has been granted a leave of absence by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, while the federal government challenges his tax returns.

In a letter to the governor Wednesday, Arstein said he was advised by the federal government that he was being challenged by the Internal Revenue Service with regards to his 1967 and 1968 federal tax returns.

"In fairness to you and your administration, I feel I should request a leave of absence until the matter has been resolved, which I am confident it will be," Arstein wrote.

Arstein is a former member of the State House of Representatives from Rupert and was an early appointee in the Andrus Administration.

He replaced Stanley Trentham as commissioner.

Rail line trustees ask US to pay repair bills

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Trustees of the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad asked the government Tuesday to pick up the tab for new equipment and for repair of long-neglected facilities.

The trustees also threatened to shut down commuter lines unless the Penn Central is "adequately compensated" by government transportation authorities.

In a gloomy interim report to the federal judge who is overseeing reorganization of the nation's largest railroad, the trustees said the Penn Central did not have enough cash to finance needed capital improvements.

"Without government financial assistance for improvement of the railroad, a reorganization of Penn Central cannot be achieved by 1976," the trustees told U.S. District Judge John L. Fullam.

The trustees listed increased freight revenues and elimination of unprofitable passenger lines as essential elements in a plan to put the Penn Central on a private-income basis by 1976.

They said the improved facilities were needed to handle a projected increase in freight volume.

"The more aggressively Penn Central has taken leadership in the piggyback field, the more evident have become the inadequacies of its plant and the extent of its undermaintenance for many years," the trustees said.

They said taxpayers' money would be needed to "maintain and improve a plant so that it can provide the levels of speed and reliability of service which shippers are demanding today."

The trustees are expected to announce within the next few weeks how much money will be required from the government. The figure is expected to run in the billions.

They said they had "no real choice but to propose that passenger service be discontinued unless the public authorities desiring public service pay adequate compensation."

"The move to shut down commuter lines could affect Penn Central's contracts with Amtrak, the national rail passenger service, and transportation authorities in Pennsylvania and New Jersey."

It was the 11th consecutive year the value of mineral production had set a new record.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said in a report Tuesday that all sectors of the mineral industry registered gains in output value last year with the greatest gain in fuels and the smallest in metals.

Domestic output of crude oil grew by 10 million barrels in 1972, from 3.45 billion barrels in 1971 to 3.55 billion in 1972.

Hepworth leads Jerome over MH

IDAHO FALLS — Lanky Craig Hepworth scored nine points — six of them on three-point plays — in the fourth period Wednesday night to send the Idaho Falls Tigers 51-41.

Minico, which now hosts Twin Falls Friday night, pulled away in the last period after Idaho Falls, headed by Dale Baldwin, stayed within three to five points most of the time and at one point in the second quarter owned a four-point margin.

Hepworth got five of his game-deciding points from the foul line as Idaho Falls, particularly after Nickerson went out on fouls, was unable to cope with the 6-7 Spartans senior on the boards.

Minico took the lead for good just before the halftime buzzer for a 24-22 advantage. It stayed within two points until Nyle Keller hit for the Spartans. After a Nickerson free throw, Hepworth hit twice from the line for the first five-point lead. By the end of the period, however, Baldwin had hit twice to reduce the advantage to three. Val Christensen opened the fourth quarter with two free throws and Hepworth added two more to shove Minico up by seven.

Hepworth's first three-point play increased that to eight after an Idaho Falls bucket. Roger Rowberry and Baldwin reduced that to five but Hepworth's second three-pointer pulled Minico away again and Bill Hedrick's two free throws with 1:17 remaining just about clinched it.

Idaho Falls, missing a couple of free throws help six its own desperation rally, made it 49-43 with 41 seconds left. But after a couple of missed shots and turnovers, Christensen's steal and resulting crippler with five seconds left established the final count.

Minico won the first game 55-49.

JACK NICKLAUS favored

Jack Nicklaus favored in Glen Campbell open

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 1973 PGA golf tour starts today with the 72-hole $135,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open and to no one's surprise, Jack Nicklaus is the man to beat.

Coming off his record $900,000 year in 1972, Nicklaus is getting an earlier than usual start in his annual quest for dollars and honors.

Nicklaus, of course, does not take his game for granted and that's why he makes fewer mistakes than the other pros as a rule.

"I still feel there is room for improvement in my game," he said during a time-out. "I'm still young enough to have a young man's desire for improvement. I certainly hope to have a better year than last."

back in 1945 in a playoff with Ben Hogan and took it again in 1950.

Both times Snead won, the tournament was played at Riviera Country Club and it is back again at the same layout for 1973.

Riviera is a par 35-36-71 course of championship caliber with narrow fairways and some very interesting greens. The 15th hole is a rugged par four, 442 yards, dog-leg right and has a two-tiered green which makes putting an extra challenge. The sixth has a sand trap on the green and instead of putting a golfer may find himself forced to chip if he gets on the wrong side of the trap.

Palmer, 43, is shooting for his fourth L.A. title. He won in 1963-66-67.

Palmer still has his army of fans but he has, to take a back seat to Nicklaus, who won't be 32 until Jan. 21. Palmer failed to win a tournament last year, while Nicklaus won seven.

When Nicklaus took the Walt Disney World Open by nine strokes last month he ran his yearly earnings to precisely $320,542.

Last year, he was stymied in his quest for a modern grand slam when Trevino beat him in the British Open. Nicklaus won the Masters and the U.S. Open before that, Gary Player later took the National PGA.

Nicklaus, a college kid from Columbus, Ohio, with great amateur credentials, made his pro debut in the 1962 L.A. Open and bombed. He finished in a tie for last place and picked up $33.33. He went on that year to recover with two titles including the U.S. Open.

The former Ohio State star never did like the Rancho Park course where the Open was played mostly for 20 years.

With the switch to Riviera, he was lured into an early start this year.

He usually made his first start of the year in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am, which he won in 1972 in mid-January.

NFL backs off on TV blackout

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The National Football League backed off from its television blackout policy Wednesday and said the Jan. 14 Super Bowl game between Washington and Miami will be broadcast in the Los Angeles area.

It will be the first time in the seven-year history of the Super Bowl that fans in the immediate area of the game will be able to see it on television.

The lifting of the television ban was in line with an announcement by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle last October that the blackout would be lifted if all 90,182 seats were sold out 10 days before the game.

A league spokesman said the NFL office was notified Wednesday morning that the last 24,000 seats — 12,000 allotted each to the Washington Redskins and the Miami Dolphins — had been sold or otherwise allocated.

The remaining tickets for the game had been sold earlier.

The Los Angeles Rams, as the host club, had been allotted 30,000 tickets and they were quickly sold. Each of the remaining clubs was allotted 800 tickets. The other tickets went to television sponsors, news media, the commissioners of five, the players association and similar groups.

The NFL decision to lift the blackout for the Super Bowl was welcomed by Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

"I believe the equal rights provision of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution guarantees every citizen of California the right to see a game broadcast from a publicly owned stadium," Hahn said.

However, he noted that the legality of blackouts still has not been resolved and will have to be settled at the federal court level.

Attorney Ellis Rubin of Miami Beach claimed victory in his long fight against the blackout of major football games.

"In 1970, I requested Mr. Rozelle to lift the local TV blackout of Super Bowl V here in Miami," Rubin said.

"He refused and vowed that no TV blackout would ever be lifted."

"Now, two years and three super-jogs, 11 law suits and a Senate Commerce Committee hearing later, he has finally lifted the blackout of Super Bowl VII in Los Angeles."

ABC buys Summer Games TV rights

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Olympic Organizing Committee for the 1976 summer games announced Wednesday that it had sold exclusive U.S. television rights to the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) for $25 million.

Roger Rousseau, president of the committee, denied it had dealt unfairly with ABC's rival the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) and claimed that NBC never seriously went after the television rights in the first place.

Rousseau stressed, "We have adopted an open-door policy with the press, a policy that will be ours until 1976. But complex negotiations made us use the utmost discretion because we were involved in millions of dollars."

"The actual contract was only signed this morning," the Olympic head said.

He said the agreement represents the biggest contract in the history of the Olympics or in sports telecasting of any event.

Rousseau said that the Munich Games received only $13.5 million for the same rights from ABC so "this shows an increase of almost 100 per cent."

No announcement was made regarding other world rights for television which are expected to bring in several more million dollars.

Rousseau traced the history of the negotiations as far back as August 1972, when a three man committee was formed to negotiate the sale of broadcast rights.

According to Rousseau, only one American network, ABC sports, took up the invitation and immediately started negotiating. It was only two months later that NBC and CBS showed interest, but by then ABC had the "inside track," Rousseau said.

Rousseau said "I want to stress that the ABC Sports offer was accepted because they moved fast, they were persistent and because of their formidable experience in broadcasting international sports competitions, but at the same time, I do not underestimate the experience of the other networks."

Roone Arledge of ABC said, "We are confident that the 1976 games will see the greatest coverage ever of an Olympic event and since we have done four out of the last six Olympics I know we can do the job."

Miami to start Griese

MIAMI (UPI) — Washington Redskins Coach George Allen doesn't have to wonder any more Bob Griese will start at quarterback for the Miami Dolphins in Super Bowl VII.

Unlike Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who waited until late in the game week to announce whether Roger Staubach or Craig Morton would start against Washington last Sunday, Allen announced his decision 10 days in advance.

"I don't believe in going to the wire with an announcement of this type," said Shula of his choice of Griese over the 38-year-old Earl Morrall. "You don't play games with people the stature of a Morrall or a Griese," Shula said.

Morrall, picked up on waivers from Baltimore last off-season, stepped in for Griese Oct. 15 when the younger quarterback broke and dislocated his ankle.

Morrall led Miami to 11 of its 16 victories this year until yielding to Griese in the second half of Miami's AFC championship win over Pittsburgh Sunday.

"I have tremendous personal feeling for Earl," said Shula. "Nothing but respect and admiration for him as a man. But I also have to sit down and evaluate the situation, and then do what is in the best interests of winning this ball game."

"I feel Bob now is healthy, as he demonstrated in the second half against Pittsburgh," Shula said.

"Since he is healthy, I believe we will be strongest as we originally started, with Bob No. 1 and Earl No. 2," the coach said. "That was the idea when we brought Earl here in the first place."

Shula made his announcement after the Dolphins' first workout for the Jan. 14 game in Los Angeles.

Shula also said only two of the Dolphins are injured — cornerback Tim Foley, who underwent an operation for a shoulder separation Monday and is definitely out and tight end Mark Fleming.

Fleming missed the workout Wednesday with a sore back but said he will be ready to play against the Redskins.

Roberts will stay as Saints coach

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — John W. Mecom Jr., president of the New Orleans Saints, said Wednesday he intends to keep J. D. Roberts as the team's head coach in 1973.

"This decision has been the product of considerable thought and research," said Mecom, who added he had talked to several other pro football team owners and 47 members of the 1972 Saints team in making up his mind.

"I learned that some building projects had been set back two or three years when the head coach was replaced," said Mecom, who replaced Coach Tom Fears with Roberts midway through the 1970 season.

"Our coaching staff during the past season was undermanned. There will most assuredly be high caliber people hired to not only fill our coaching staff and provide assistance in those areas where we might be lacking, but we shall also regularly augment our personnel department."

The Saints won two games, lost 11 and tied one last year.

Mecom said that the personnel department needed a larger staff "with a view towards having the ultimate in information about both college players and those who have been playing in the NFL and who might become available for trade or who might appear on the waiver list."

"The youthful millionaire owner of the Saints said the 1972 team "suffered an insurmountable loss" when starting guards Jake Kupp and Del Williams had preseason knee injuries that kept them off the playing field most of the regular season.

"I firmly believe that the progress being made in our rebuilding program under J. D. Roberts has been satisfactory," he said.

"I am enthusiastic at the prospects of the forthcoming player draft, while realizing that several trades may have to be consummated to enable us to acquire a better share of young talent we are seeking," Mecom said.

Pac 8 has caught Big 10, plus some

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — In the aftermath of the 59th Rose Bowl game, one thing is certain. The Pacific-8 has caught up with the Big Ten and then some.

For Rose Bowl watchers, it's quite a turnaround from the late 1940s and 1950s when the Midwest dominated the West Coast with two strings of six straight wins.

Monday's 42-17 romp by national champion University of Southern California over Woody Hayes and Ohio State was the fourth victory in a row for the Pacific-8 here and the fifth in 14 games since 1960.

It also was the most points ever scored against Hayes in his 22 years at Ohio State and the worst defeat suffered by a Big Ten representative since Wisconsin beat Wisconsin 44-0 in 1960.

John McKay, the USC coach, started the Pacific-8's string of four straight in 1970 when his Trojans beat Michigan 10-3.

After Stanford scored upsets in 1971 (27-17 over Ohio State) and 1972 (13-12 over Michigan), the Big Ten decided to dip away with its no-repeat rule. That conference's self-imposed ban against redshirting might be the next to go, although Hayes has no indication that on his sixth trip to Pasadena.

"I don't know how I stand on that," the controversial Ohio State coach said. "I like to see my players earn their scholarships. How can I tell if a player will be better in one more year or not? It's a gamble I don't know if I'd want to take."

McKay, whose teams now have gone to five Rose Bowls in seven seasons, won't say the Pacific-8 is better because of its recent successes in the New Year's Day classic.

Diplomatically, he says, "Our victory didn't mean the Pacific-8 was a better conference than the Big Ten. You can't rate conferences on one game."

Perhaps, but it must be pointed out that the Big Ten won 12 of the first 13 meetings with the Pacific Coast after entering into an exclusive agreement to come to the Rose Bowl starting in 1947 but now has just two wins in its last eight tries.

Bengston fired by San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Two more links with former coach Sid Gillman were dropped by the National Football League San Diego Chargers Tuesday and apparently another is being considered a trade of quarterback John Hall.

Fired Tuesday were Phil Bengston, the director of personnel and equipment manager Tom Denman. Hall, meanwhile, said he and coach Harland Svare have reached an agreement whereby he will be traded.

After being appointed head coach on a full-time basis Dec. 26, 1971, Svare fired all the assistant coaches. They had been appointed by Gillman over attempts but also was the leader in interceptions.

"I've enjoyed working with John," Schmelker said, "but we do have different philosophies of football. I don't think I can change the habits of 10 years of pro football in three months. John has been fighting me all the way."

"No, maybe that isn't the way to say it. I don't think I've been fighting me, but he's skeptical of what I'm doing. That's natural. He's wanted another coach (Gillman) for 10 years and he believes in the old way. I respect him for that."

Hall said he, Svare and owner Gene Klein met after the final game of the season and agreed he should be traded.

"We discussed the ways to go and agreed it's time for me to move on," he said. "There's no doubt about it."

Speculation is he would go to Green Bay, which needs an experienced quarterback, the Packers' stress running as Schmelker is trying to do. Indications also were that the Chargers were attempting to obtain quarterback Bill Muskin from Detroit, but Lions owner William Ford has been strong in his desire to keep two class quarterbacks.

Interconference trading begins Jan. 22.

ABC buys Summer Games TV rights

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Olympic Organizing Committee for the 1976 summer games announced Wednesday that it had sold exclusive U.S. television rights to the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) for $25 million.

Roger Rousseau, president of the committee, denied it had dealt unfairly with ABC's rival the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) and claimed that NBC never seriously went after the television rights in the first place.

Rousseau stressed, "We have adopted an open-door policy with the press, a policy that will be ours until 1976. But complex negotiations made us use the utmost discretion because we were involved in millions of dollars."

"The actual contract was only signed this morning," the Olympic head said.

He said the agreement represents the biggest contract in the history of the Olympics or in sports telecasting of any event.

Rousseau said that the Munich Games received only $13.5 million for the same rights from ABC so "this shows an increase of almost 100 per cent."

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Colts have the perfect world for the present situation between Johnny Unitas and the Baltimore Colts.

The word "impasse" means a predicament affording no obvious escape.

What it all boils down to is the Colts wish 35-year-old Johnny Unitas would take his football and go home quietly and peacefully.

Johnny Unitas isn't about to leave. He still has a pretty good piece of change on the books with the Colts, better than $400,000 in deferred money owed him, and if you talk to him about next season and ask him whether he feels he can play, he says:

"Why not? I don't see any reason why I couldn't. The last few games I played, I moved the club, threw the ball well and did every thing I had to do."

Johnny Unitas is giving it to you straight. He was moving the Colts, finding his receivers and tossing the ball well in the games he played the early part of the season.

But then things changed. Joe Thomas, the Colts' general manager, felt they never would go anywhere anymore with Unitas at the controls. He wanted a younger quarterback for Baltimore, and designated 25-year-old Marty Bamers to take over.

Bamers got the job on a platter, so to speak, and when Unitas did get in for a few plays in the Colts' final home game of the year, it was something of a foregone conclusion the fans were seeing him in a Baltimore uniform for the last time.

Undoubtedly that is true, but Johnny Unitas isn't finished playing football yet.

For all intents and purposes, I suppose you'd say "I'm retired," says the Colts' 37-year-old man, who many used to call the greatest quarterback ever.

"Joe Thomas hasn't given me so much as the time of day," says Unitas. "He said after the season was over we'd sit down and talk, but I haven't heard a word from him. I'm not concerned about it, though."

Johnny Unitas doesn't really have to be. He has three avenues open to him. He can: A, play out his option with the Colts, which would mean a 25 per cent cut in his $105,000-a-year salary, or,

B, take the money the Colts owe him and run, or,

C, wind up with another ball club in a trade.

And "C" is what you would expect if Johnny Unitas wound up the Washington Redskins' quarterback next season? Not necessarily. No. 2 quarterback, but maybe their No. 1 man, with Sonny Jurgensen moving somewhere else.

That circumstance is more than a longshot possibility. It's a strong likelihood because Unitas is exactly the type

Deer cannot be stockpiled, can increase to limit of food

Deer cannot be stockpiled like cans of beans on a shelf. Any animal population, deer included, can only increase up to the limit of the supply of food, water, and cover available on their ranges. If the surplus animals of both sexes are not removed by hunting, nature will remove them harshly and wastefully.

So said Len Hoskin of the Nevada Fish and Game Department recently.

Deer winter ranges generally are the limiting factor on deer numbers, according to Errol Nielson, big game supervisor of the Idaho Fish and Game Department. "Game populations don't grow in thin air," he added. They prosper or decline with reference to their habitat.

Sportsmen regard the high abundance of animals as the thing they want most. High animal abundance is likely to be Surveys indicate only a fifth of the college students consider marijuana more dangerous than liquor. DID I TELL you seven out of every 10 movies flop at the box office? SOME MEN, certainly, couldn't survive without beer. Specifically, astronauts. That's what they called liquid oxygen. ON THE MARKET now is a butter-flavored popcorn salt, but it's better on buttermilk. DO NOT KNOW now the Swahili natives regard their fathers. Know only that in their lingo the word "papa" means "shark".

LISTEN NOW, please, to this observation on the ladies by that savvy gentleman James Jones, novelist: "My experience with women -wenches, princesses and others- has been that no woman can ever be dominated by any male she doesn't want to be dominated by."

FOCUSING RANGE of your eyes at age 40 is about a quarter of what it was when you were 10, it's said. Those little muscles tighten up, sir.

LIQUOR IS FLIGHT Q. "How much does an airline make on the liquor it sells for $1.50?" A. About $1. Incidentally, most all the airlines have quietly dropped that old rule which only allowed two drinks per passenger. Our flying club cars are picking up a little more loose change these days.

Q. "HOW old is a pup before it cuts its permanent teeth?" A. From four to five months, maybe. Until then, keep every thing, including the lawn furniture, on the mantle. That's sound advice.

PERSONAL NOTE The lady friend's new refrigerator has an automatic ice maker. Every now and then you hear it go thud, rattle and hiss as it dumps the cubes and fills up the trays with water again. I no longer get up in the dark with my flashlight and guff to catch the prowler. Look awhile to get tuned into it, though. Calls to mind the old ice box in my mother's little eatery, Kay's Kitchen, in Bremerton, Wash. Wign it came on intermittently, the shudder shook the place. For awhile after we moved out of there, I used to be freaked awake a couple of times before each dawn by the surprising silence in the night. Ferie.

ATHLETES WHO should know still insist these five places, in order, are the healthiest big cities nationwide in which to live: 1-San Diego; 2-Miami; 3-Denver; 4-Atlanta; 5-San Francisco. Next five healthiest, they claim, are: 6-Seattle; 7-Minneapolis-St. Paul; 8-Dallas-Ft. Worth; 9-Buffalo; 10-Cincinnati.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although there is some friction on the surface, much can be achieved by sticking close to ideals by which you govern your life. Make today's activities forward worthwhile plans. If you want others to go along with your views, be pleasant and sociable with them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Important you are tactful when dealing with higher-ups, take care you are not smart-alecky, if you want right results. Show perseverance to make big headway. Avoid one who has strange ideas.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do more study on that plan you have, as it could go awry at the wrong moment. Get all that knowledge you need from newcomers who have the answers. Avoid one who makes you feel inadequate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show you are practical in handling all those obligations ahead of you. Your mate may be in a rather sad mood, so do your utmost to cheer this person. The evening can then be very pleasant.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Feel your partners out on most points, but don't get into any arguments, then you know just where you stand. Use diplomacy with one who opposes you. Losing your temper could be bad.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Become more energetic where your work is concerned and get better results, but don't expect others to do likewise. Not a good day to buy that new wardrobe, but fine for window shopping. Think and act constructively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Show you are a perfectionist and get more benefits, better results in the future—being encouraging toward one who is in trouble can be very helpful and your duty as a humanitarian. Instill new confidence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Getting home fixed up and establishing greater harmony with those who dwell with you is best today. First get business matters well handled, though. Attend some party in the evening that is a delight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have many errands, jobs to do and should not waste a moment of today, so get busy early and get them all out of the way. If you need advice from associates, secure it. Show you're an efficient, capable person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Fine day for making improvements to your home so it becomes more comfortable and valuable as well. Look to experts for the advice you need on how to progress faster in your field of activity. Relax in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know exactly what you want where personal and business matters are concerned, so be sure to get the cooperation of key persons. Improve your appearance so that others are more impressed with you. Do some entertaining at home in p.m.

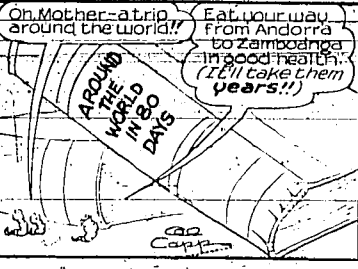

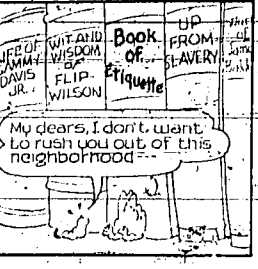

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) First get those plans worked out that you want to place before bigwigs soon, then enjoy some recreation. Being practical is very important right now. Show you know what it is you really want.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Broaden your thinking so you know exactly how to attain advancement both in the business and the social world. Get out to gatherings with a real purpose in mind. Recreation should be secondary.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those strong-willed young people who will study any course of action while young and choose the best, then plow through it tenaciously and in a practical way, until it is understood and success ensues. Permit to have many playmates early, otherwise your youngster will develop an overly serious attitude that could cause others to avoid him or her later, and thus lessen the success and happiness possible in this interesting chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.

Air crash fatalities up in Magic Valley area

By GEORGE WILEY — 10, 1971. TWIN FALLS — Air crash fatalities in the Magic Valley area, increased by two over those of 1971, but the figures are somewhat misleading. According to Darrrel Manning, director of aeronautics for the state of Idaho, there were no fatalities in Magic Valley proper in 1971. However, he was incorrect. Three persons died in a crash near Rogerson on a flight from Hanley to Jackpot, Nev., on Jan. 10, 1971. Manning said five persons died in aircraft fatalities in Magic Valley in 1972, all in the crash of a Sun Valley Airlines plane near Fairfield Feb. 20. Manning said the total number of aircraft accidents in Magic Valley in 1972, including everything from a bent wing tip to a fatality, was five. He said there were no aircraft accidents in Magic Valley in 1971. Again, he did not include the Rogerson crash. Manning did not have figures broken down for the Magic Valley area on accidents per number of pilots or planes. He said there are about 255 private planes registered at Magic Valley airports. He had no figures for the number of registered pilots. According to Manning's figures, one licensed pilot out of those were 55 airplane accidents in 1971 and estimated that for 1972 there would be a total of about 48, pending complete investigations. There were no accidents reported at Twin Falls City safety record equivalent to pilots, there would have been about 8,300 auto accidents in Idaho in 1971, instead of 20,000, Manning said. On fatalities, Manning said one pilot out of every 961 in Idaho was involved in a fatality in 1971. One out of every 95 licensed automobile drivers was involved in a traffic fatality in 1971, he added. Manning said there were slightly more than 4,000 registered pilots in the state in 1971. He said the 1972 figure was about the same, but he did not have the exact figure available. On the national level, Manning said, only bicycles proved a safer method of transportation than private air travel in 1971. Traveling by airplane was the most safe method of all, he said. "If four people die in a plane crash near Kansas City," Manning said, "people in Idaho read about it. If our people are killed in an auto accident in Kansas City, no one in Idaho reads about it." Plane crashes are just more unsettling and interesting to people.

Firemen seek discarded trees

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Firefighters Union Local 1556 are continuing their Christmas tree burning project this week with discarded trees now being collected. Residents with trees they wish collected are asked to call the fire fighters at the Twin Falls Fire Department, 732-1361. The trees will be picked up for a small donation which the firefighters plan to use for a special "burn out" fund. This fund will be used to assist families left homeless or otherwise in difficulty through home fires. Phil Clough, fireman, said the trees will be placed in a pile and burned at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 12. Known as the "Burning of the Greens" program, the project is expected to be conducted annually by the firefighters union. All interested children are invited to attend the Friday night bonfire and refreshments will be furnished by the fire fighters auxiliary. These will be donated by local merchants or the fire fighters, with all donations for tree collections going into the burn-out fund.

Home for cultist

GENEVA (UPI) — Swiss officials said today Switzerland itself will soon try to find another country ready to accept American drug cultist Timothy Leary now that he has been unable to find a new home. Leary had been ordered to leave Switzerland by Dec. 31 but had nowhere to go. "We know that he has tried to find a country willing to grant him residence but that he failed," Justice Ministry offi-
