

Nixon proposes voluntary control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today junked his Pay Board and Price Commission, substituting a largely voluntary set of wage-price guidelines in the third phase of his economic controls program.

Under the Phase II system which has been in effect since the 90-day wage-price freeze ended Nov. 19, 1971, businessmen have been permitted to pass cost-increases along to their customers in the form of higher prices provided they did not increase their profit margins as a percentage of sales. That provision has drawn the most opposition from business which generally approved the control system. The statute under which Nixon imposed the controls expires April 30 and action by Congress will be needed for the Phase III program.

Organized labor has been sharply critical of the controls, contending that they restrained wages while permitting prices to soar. As the administration was putting the finishing touches on its new proposal it was joined by a report that wholesale prices last month registered the sharpest rise in 21 years, mostly because of skyrocketing prices for food. The President expressed confidence that inflation could be checked under the revised plan and that 1973 and 1974 could become "the best years our economy has ever experienced."

Nixon described the Phase III program as a transition between the controls that have been in effect since Aug. 15, 1971, and a completely free economy.

restriictions on areas that have been especially troublesome — food, construction and medical care.

"Special efforts will be made to combat inflation in areas where rising prices have been particularly troublesome especially in fighting rising food prices," Nixon said in a message to Congress.

"Our anti-inflation program will not be fully successful until its impact is felt at the local supermarket or corner grocery store."

Nixon said 1972 "was a very good year for the American economy," and added, "I expect 1973 and 1974 to be even better. They can, in fact, be the best years our economy has ever experienced — provided we have the will and wisdom, in both the public and private sectors, to follow appropriate economic policies."

"But as has been the case since controls were first imposed, there will be no other restrictions on the price of unprocessed agricultural products. The President chose to leave these products exempted. In spite of the sharp rise in farm products in more than 25 years last month.

Rent controls also were removed under the third-phase formula, but Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said: "I hope and expect landlords will be reasonable in their behavior." He noted that 70 per cent of all rents already are decontrolled.

"Other special actions which will be taken to fight inflation include continuing the present mandatory control over the health and construction industries and continuing the present successful program for interest and dividends," Nixon said.

He asked Congress to extend for one year beyond its scheduled April 30 expiration date the statute on which economic control regulations rest. But the Phase III regulations took effect immediately and will continue until April 30 even if Congress balks at extending Nixon's legal authority.

The Pay Board and Price Commission were semi-autonomous panels established in November, 1971, to administer the Phase II controls which followed a 90-day wage-price freeze.

The Price Commission consisted of seven members, all appointed by the President to represent the public, headed by C. Jackson Grayson.

The Pay Board began as a 15-member group including five members representing labor, five business and five the general public. All but one labor member walked out in protest of board policy and Nixon reduced the membership to seven.

The administration said the new voluntary guidelines would differ very little — at least for the time being — from the Phase II controls.

Businesses would continue to be permitted to raise prices to reflect increased costs provided the boosts did not increase the firms' profit margin as a percentage of sales.

A new alternative was added: A company may boost prices to reflect added costs without regard to profit margins provided overall boosts did not exceed 1.5 per cent per year.

The pay guidelines established by the Pay Board were retained "unless and until they are modified."

Gem tax cut offer looms

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will propose a statewide across-the-board seven-mill property tax decrease when he addresses a joint session of the legislature Friday with his budget proposal for the coming fiscal year.

Sources in the Statehouse say the property tax cut will mean a statewide savings to taxpayers of $8,000,000 annually. The governor intends to make up the loss in taxes by getting the money from the state's general fund.

"The proposed cut will not mean a state tax increase," one source said.

The seven-mill cut will come from the eight-mill county school levy, one source said, making it necessary for the state's three chartered districts (Boise, Emmett and Lewiston) to participate in the proposed tax reduction program.

The reduction in particular is aimed at senior citizens who have fixed income and are being forced into sub-standard housing because of rising property taxes, one source said.

The cut is being directed at the eight-mill county school levy because the three chartered districts in the state do not have the 30-mill limit on maintenance and operations levy, and could increase property taxes to make up for the proposed seven-mill across-the-board decrease.

One source said the seven-mill reduction will increase in value annually as the state's tax equalization program progresses.

Andrus will address the legislature at 1 p.m. Friday.

Viet peace gain hinted

It would be nice if some household budgets could expand as easily as those of government units.

PARIS (UPI) — Vietnam negotiators held the biggest secret meeting of their current peace talks today while simultaneously, at the regular weekly session, the Viet Cong accused South Vietnam of preparing a major new offensive.

Dinh Ba Thi, chief of the Viet Cong delegation at the weekly talks, also denounced any attempt to partition Vietnam. Pre-conference statements by other delegation leaders, however, were markedly more moderate than in past weeks.

Both the U.S. and Saigon delegates urged an end to statements that might jeopardize the private talks between White House aide Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Lu Due Tho, who were meeting in a Paris suburb for the fourth consecutive day. The two men were joined by diplomatic "technicians" who have been working on cease-fire details to accompany an eventual accord.

The technical experts joining the secret talks made it the biggest meeting since the 23rd round started Monday. They were not present in the previous sessions but met privately at other locations.

Before today's 174th regular talks session began, Thi told newsmen: "We wish to denounce the intensification of the war by the Saigon administration, which, with the support of the United States, is making preparations for operations aimed at encroaching on zones liberated by our forces. Naturally, our liberation forces will not allow this to happen."

Thi charged that South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu "wants the perpetual division of Vietnam and the recognition of his integral rule over South Vietnam."

News reports in Paris said the question of Thieu's sovereignty and the status of Vietnam as one country or two was one of the major issues in the secret talks.

The North Vietnamese negotiator at the weekly talks, Nguyen Minh Vy, called on the United States to "stop its policy of war and aggression and sign without delay the Oct. 26 draft agreement." He made no mention of American bombing attacks—a regular subject of complaint in the past.

Heyward Isham, the U.S. delegate, told newsmen he will be the interim head of the U.S. negotiating team following the departure of Ambassador William J. Porter Wednesday to a new State Department post in Washington.

Airline strikes threaten

MONTREAL (UPI) — Airline pilots warned Wednesday they would strike to back up demands that nations adopt firm anti-hijacking measures. The United States and Canada proposed sanctions against nations which harbor hijackers.

In another development during a meeting of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), the 25,000-member International Transport Workers Federation said it would support any measures the pilots take.

Capl. Ola Forsberg, president of the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations (IFALPA), told delegates to the meeting that "the buck must stop here." The ICAO legal committee is looking for ways to enforce international pacts against air piracy and other air violence.

Battle blaze

FIREMEN BATTLE thick smoke and erupting flames to get to a fire which damaged the Twin Falls Equipment Co. building, 402 Washington St., Wednesday. Firemen said the building will probably have to be replaced. Fire started in the center portion, when diesel and fuel oil used to treat concrete forms spilled and was ignited by the furnace. Economist appointed panel head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Thursday announced the appointment of John T. Dunlop, longtime Harvard University economist, as director of the Cost of Living Council.

Dunlop, 58, dean of arts and science at Harvard, will succeed Donald Rumsfeld who has been nominated U.S. representative on the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

At the same time, the President announced plans to set up a 10-member labor-management advisory committee of the Cost of Living Council.

STRESS CHART

Psychologists have come up with a stress chart which assigns relative values to life's activities. An assignment of 100 is made to the most stressful activity. Using ratings of from 1 to 100, a mortgage loan over 100 is rated 110, and a 100,000 100,000 is rated 100.

TF County budget up; 'line held' on levies

By DAVID ESPO Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County commissioners Wednesday approved a $6,101,911 1973 tentative budget they said would hold the line on county property taxes.

The tentative budget is an increase of 6.5 per cent over a figure of $5,692,203 a year ago, apparently signaling a pause in the relatively high rate of increase for county budgets the past two years, when the figures rose 7.6 per cent in 1972 and nine per cent in 1971.

The proposed budget does not include any revenue sharing funds.

The new budget, unveiled late Wednesday morning, includes an increase in the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital allocation of $376,000, nearly 10 per cent, and a 50 per cent reduction in the county's poor fund from $400,000 to $199,000.

A spokesman at the hospital said today the increase in funds at the hospital will cover a five per cent across-the-board employee pay increase, and included $75,000 for replacement of equipment and $125,000 for capital improvement.

The county's taxpayers pay about $180,000 of the total hospital budget, but the commissioners must adopt the total figure by law.

The reduction in the poor fund was made possible, according to the commissioners, because of the state's assuming part of the medical care costs for the state's poor, and partially because, in one commissioner's words, "the doors aren't wide open any more."

The new budget includes stepping up allotments for the election budget to help retire the county's $180,000 debt for a 10 per cent raise in pay. At the time they were told that the Internal Revenue Service "tied the hands" of the commissioners.

according to the commissioners. The budget includes a five per cent pay increase for all county employees, except for the sheriff's deputies, who will receive slightly more, an average of 5.5 per cent.

The larger increase for the deputies results at least in part from an unprecedented meeting between about a dozen deputies and the commissioners earlier in the week, when the law enforcement officers' asked for a 10 per cent raise in pay.

Indochina targets hit

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. B52s bombed four countries, of Indochina Thursday while fighter-bombers made the most concentrated strikes in eight weeks in North Vietnam below the 20th parallel, the U.S. command reported.

North Vietnam's army newspaper accused President Nixon of "conditioning the public to further hit-and-run strikes or a trisitive blitz" of the northern heartland. Radio Hanoi said the port of Haiphong was hastily improving its air defenses.

UPI correspondent Kenneth

England reported that Communist rockets bombarded a South Vietnamese army camp located in a former U.S. marine base three miles south of Da Nang. There were reports on damage or casualties from the nighttime rocket attack, he said.

In Saigon, the U.S. command said three Americans were killed and eight wounded in action last week, while two others died of non-hostile causes. The South Vietnamese command reported 920 Communist battle deaths in the same period—the first time they had fallen below the 1,000 mark. The U.S. command also said there were 144 fighter-bomber strikes into North Vietnam, south of Vinh, between Dong Hoi and the Demilitarized Zone when 270 such strikes were reported.

Fourteen formations of B52s—at least 42 of the big bombers—hit Communist supply dumps south of Vinh, between Dong Hoi and the Demilitarized Zone and along routes to the Ban Karai Pass, a major access to the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos. Seventeen flights of B52s bombed Communist troops and supplies in South Vietnam, with seven of the strikes in Communist-controlled areas of northernmost Quang Tri province and three near the former Michelin rubber plantation, 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

The U.S. command said B52s bombed Laos and Cambodia in the 24 hours ending Thursday morning. It is believed that two flights of B52s struck in each country.

Butz defends high prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said today that food prices would be a little higher this year, but that farmers would not be entirely to blame.

Butz also said wheat sales to Russia last summer were not made "at the expense of housewives," despite claims by the American Bakers Association that short supplies of wheat would drive up the prices of bread and flour this spring.

"The feedgrains we're selling to Russia will not cause shortages here," Butz said in a television interview, NBC Today.

Butz said the Agriculture Department had made three important moves this week to try to increase grain and meat supplies for consumers, but he said the effect on the food price rise would not be apparent in markets for several months.

In the meantime, Butz said of food prices, "There is some indication they will be a little higher this year than last year."

Although there was a sharp increase in farm prices last month, Butz said farmers still get only 40 cents of every food dollar. He said upward pressure on consumer prices was partly due to Americans "eating twice as much food per person as we did 20 years ago."

The moves, announced Wednesday, were apparently in response to Labor Department statistics released Tuesday which showed December wholesale food prices had made the sharpest jump in a quarter of a century. Under the three measures:

—Wheat growers will no longer be required to "set aside," or idle, a portion of their land to qualify for basic 1973 federal price support loans and supplemental price support payments. Officials said this could return nearly 15 million acres to production. Farmers must still idle some land to obtain "extra-diversion" benefits, but officials believe few will.

—Farmers may graze livestock on "set aside" acreage at any time.

—Officials ordered nearly 400 million bushels of grains, currently locked up in extended storage farm support loans, made available to markets in coming months.

Fuel shortages slash classes, transport runs

By H.J. HELLER
United Press International
Fuel shortages and cold weather combined Wednesday to cut services to schools, factories and transportation companies across the nation. One city had to snuff out an eternal flame because of diminishing supplies of natural gas.

Extreme cold in northern New England, the northern part of the Midwest and other regions forced refineries to limit production of jet and diesel fuel to meet the rising demand for heating oil in homes and hospitals.

Jet and diesel fuel come from the same manufacturing techniques used in providing oil to keep people warm and the shortages were considerably different from classical winter problems generally caused by frozen harbors and backed up tank car traffic.

In Washington, D.C., the Air Transport Association said the companies supplying airlines at J.F. Kennedy international Airport in New York with jet fuel were stripping the bottom of the barrel.

Many railroads have ordered speeds reduced for freight trains to conserve diesel oil and the American Trucking Association said it was considering recommendations for slowdowns or other methods to conserve fuel.

In Bellefontaine, Ohio, an eternal flame burning since Memorial Day 1971 was purposely snuffed out Wednesday because of a natural gas shortage. "It's rather funny to see the 'eternal flame' burning gloomier approach to the question when customers are in need of gas," said Firman Knipp, an official at Dayton Power and Light.

Representatives of fuel-oil supply and companies in New England, where the temperature has been down in the teens the past few days, met with officials of the Federal Office of Emergency Preparedness to discuss the potential fuel shortage.

Federally authorities say fears expressed were anticipatory rather than real what could happen rather than what is happening now.

But oil dealers look a real clamoring for oil in the question.

Herbert Sostek of Gibbs Oil Co., in Revere, Mass., said demand is catching up with supply and if this cold weather keeps up there will be a real clamoring for oil in the past seven days.

In Northern Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota officials agreed on the tightness of the fuel situation.

Brief case theft told

TWIN FALLS — Ray Chubb, Jerome, told police today a brief case was stolen from his pickup truck Wednesday night while it was parked beside the Tuff Club.

Chubb said the brief case contained drafts for various cattle companies and a personal check book.

Chubb told police the drafts would be impossible for anyone to use and of no value to anyone other than himself.

Burglars take money

TWIN FALLS — Brent Smith, Twin Falls, told police Wednesday his residence was burglarized of $80 in cash.

"According to police reports, Smith stated forced entry was made into his home on Second Avenue West and the money was taken from a footlocker. Smith told police the house was 'trussed up' but nothing else was taken.

Man fined on weapon charges

TWIN FALLS — Ventura Verdugo-Casteneda, a Mexican national, was found guilty Wednesday in Fifth District Magistrate Court of carrying a concealed and dangerous weapon.

Casteneda was arrested on the charge Dec. 6. After finding the defendant guilty, Judge Reed P. Maughan imposed a fine of $100 and remanded him to the custody of the Twin Falls County sheriff until deportation back to Mexico.

Casteneda was defended by Monte Carlson of Webb, Pike, Burton and Carlson, acting as a public defender. An interpreter was used throughout the proceeding.

When War Ends

Nobody should be surprised that the Vietnam peace talks grind on in the same ragged, agonizing, seemingly aimless way the war itself has struggled along.

All sides haggle, gnawing on petty details, like drunken knights trying to talk themselves into slaying a dragon. From inertia and lack of compassion has come such a criminal laziness that it seems at times that nobody really wants the war to end.

What will the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong do to maintain their revolutionary zeal without a war? Where else can they find such a prominent place in history and life? How much worse is it to be a battered but gallant underdog than a safe but anonymous drone?

What can the South Vietnamese government expect from peace other than more — and more difficult — trouble? Why end it just when things are going well? If the South Vietnamese face condescension and impatience from their allies now, what could they expect with the war over?

What can the United States do after the war ends to explain why we did not win? (Americans not liking ties, we play the extra bloody innings on and on.) What will we talk about when the only war we have no longer exists? Will we really be able to do anything to cope with all those domestic problems everybody says we have been ignoring?

How safe and secure a war this has become. It is a war where there are not even any battles, only deaths, a war where there are not even any victories, only survival. So Americans, perhaps, dread the end of the war because it will mean we have to add things up, look somewhere for results and make an accounting for ourselves. And it is not likely to be an accounting anyone will feel good about.

Hardly any Americans, after all, are even getting wounded in the fighting of the war these days — never mind the thinking about it — and we are only conveniently involved. We are always on offense, planes dropping the bomb after bomb that tears up the few pieces of Vietnamese ground not already torn up; that occasionally hurls a piece of ripping metal or plastic into the body of an enemy; that unforgivably enters the statistical summary of the war.

It is as if we were perpetuating the life of a dying unloved old relative, doing as much as we have to but not as much as we could, making sure the process is as painless as possible for us.

"This conscience does make cowards of us all," said Hamlet. "We are left now watching a dove instead of a hawk make the lazy circles in the sky." ("Peace is at hand," said Henry Kissinger, when nobody had ever said "war is at hand," or wanted to.) Some wars have ended with exclamation points; others with question marks. This one will end only with infinite ellipses, trailing drops of rain.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Burger Defined

A hamburger can be either a delightfully tasty morsel or an abomination.

The American appetite consumes millions of both. So that the public may appreciate what it is buying, the state of California has taken upon itself the task of defining a hamburger.

A new law says restaurants no longer may advertise a hamburger unless the patty consists of chopped fresh frozen beef, contains no more than 30 per cent fat and does not contain water, binders or extenders. Anything else must be defined as an "imitation" hamburger.

The imitation variety is further defined as possessing additives "only in amounts that the products' characteristics are essentially that of a meat patty," the law states. A product not meeting this requirement will have to go by some other name.

That other popular American delicacy, the hot dog, has come under federal standards in the recent past, although they are more ambiguous than the California specifications for hamburgers, real or imitation. In the case of hot dogs and hamburgers, a rose by any other name is not the same.

Which reminds me — I'll have to ask Mrs. Spectator if those things I eat at home now and then are, in fact, hamburgers and within the law.

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

We have three dogs that must be given away, due to our recent move. We have a female Brittany-Spaniel, one year old; and a female Cocker-Poo, five months old and a spayed female German-Shepherd, two years old. All three dogs are very healthy and very good with children. They are also well behaved indoors or out. If you are interested please call 734-4360.

We have three part-Australian Shepherd puppies to give away. One is a male. They will make good stock dogs. One is pure white and others are mostly partly white. They are cute, loveable and ready for new homes. Please call 829-5529 at Hazelton.

WHO'S CRAZY NOW?

One of the reasons why experts on mental illness sometimes disagree in court is that the legal definition of insanity doesn't make a great deal of sense from a medical standpoint.

"Insanity" itself is a legal term. It describes a mental disorientation so complete that the person afflicted does not know he is committing a crime. The medical term is "psychosis," meaning, roughly, mental and emotional derangement so serious that in many situations the victim has lost control of his actions.

Legal and medical views were not too far apart when the legal definition was formulated more than a century ago. But the legal definition has remained virtually unchanged, while medical knowledge, though still far short of a complete understanding of the psychoses, has made vast progress.

A psychopath or even a psychotic person who commits a crime may know what he is doing, and may be aware that it is wrong, and yet may be literally unable to refrain from doing it. Is he insane?

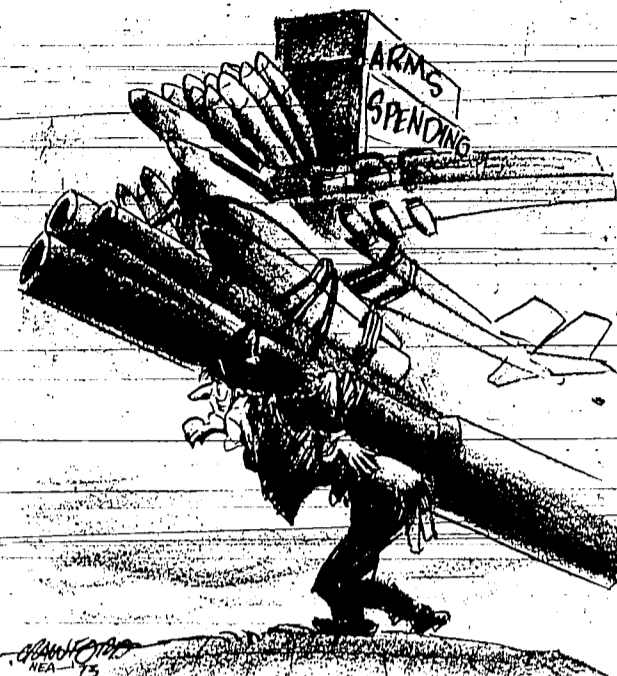

He isn't, as long as the law defines insanity as not knowing that he is doing something wrong.

Retirement Pay

WASHINGTON — Advocates of recomputation of military retired pay are partly to blame for that unfavorable report of the special House Armed Services subcommittee.

They rejected any compromise; adamantly stood pat on all or nothing. That's the harsh accusation buried in the subcommittee's report and unrecorded in press accounts about it. But careful reading of the published document makes clear that the five-member panel (3 Democrats, 2 Republicans) put much of the onus for barring recomputation on its partisans.

This unpublicized factor is listed as one of the subcommittee's major critical findings, as follows:

"There is no consensus among those supporting recomputation on what would constitute a feasible compromise. None of the military organizations which supplied testimony viewed the administration's proposal (HR 14524) or the Hartke amendment as an acceptable permanent compromise. The minimum acceptable legislation for those groups was generally permanent recomputation for all those in service prior to 1958."

This charge is reiterated in other sections of the report, as follows:

Page 17654 — "One of the findings (No. 10) of the subcommittee study is that there is no consensus on what would be a feasible compromise on the issue of recomputation."

Page 17455 — "The subcommittee found that the organizations and individuals advocating recomputation did not agree on any of the proposed one-time compromises as a satisfactory solution to the problem. They generally did not agree among themselves as to what formula would be most desirable if a one-time recomputation were tried."

When asked to state what legislation would be the minimal acceptable compromise to their organization, most of them stated that it would have to be permanent recomputation for everyone on active duty before June 1, 1958. Most of them characterized the administration's proposal as only a "step in the right direction."

Unquestionably adding weight to the subcommittee's charge is well as report as a whole) is the bipartisan panel's unanimity.

There was no dissenting report — nor comments. The five committeemen were in complete accord in fully turning thumbs down on recomputation as unwarranted and too costly, and also in pointing a severely censorious finger at supporters of of the Senate's 17-standing committee have joined a Misaurer suit, as friends of the court, which challenges Nixon's right to hold back Federal highway funds — Congress told him to spend.

Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina, perhaps the Hill's foremost Constitutional scholar, is going about unlearning that the impounding process "is contemptuous of the role of Congress in our tripartite system... The power of the purse belongs exclusively to Congress under the Constitution." Ervin is right. The President "logically can't spend a dime unless Congress has authorized its spending and then appropriated 10 cents."

But Nixon also has a case. There is nothing in the Constitution that says a President has to spend the money Congress has appropriated. There also, of course, is nothing that prohibits Congress from enacting legislation forcing the Chief Executive to spend appropriated funds. However, Article 2 of the Constitution says — the "Executive power" shall be vested in the President, and that poses the question of whether Congress legally may infringe a President's power of wisely spending the public's money.

Obviously, Sam Ervin believes Congress jolly well may do just that. Whatever the outcome of the highway case, he will press for legislation this year expressly prohibiting Presidential impoundment.

At the same time, there is evidence Nixon is not too sure of his case. Late last year he asked Congress to let him make whatever cutbacks he chose to hold the budget to $250-billion for the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

The House voted him that power, but the Senate debated the proposition to death. Nixon's legal bangles then said the White House had the power anyway.

The hearings demonstrated that a so-called compromise such as the administration bill (HR 145347 or the Hartke amendment) would be unacceptable to recomputation proponents as a permanent solution and would only increase pressure for later increases. Finally, the cost of recomputation would mean putting an unacceptable squeeze on the rest of the defense budget, or reducing other programs, or both.

The Congress has met its obligation to our military retirees, and that fact must now be recognized."

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-Tx., chairman of the full Armed Services Committee who appointed the subcommittee, says he has no plans to further consider recomputation in this 93rd Congress.

If there is to be a new initiative on the issue, it will have to come from the Senate — either in another Hartke amendment or other legislation.

"Col. Chapman: That is correct, sir."

"Stratton: So from your point of view, the recommendation of this committee that we accept the Hartke amendment, for example, or the recommendation of this committee that we accept the administration's view (HR 14524) would not really settle this problem. It would only be as you say, a step in the right direction?"

"Col. Chapman: That is correct, sir."

"Stratton: And we would have the same arguments you presented here so eloquently today before us again, would we not?"

"Col. Chapman: I would expect that you would, yes, sir."

"Stratton: From your organization, as well as others, I would suppose — in other words, that we have not kept the faith."

"Col. Chapman: Yes, sir, I think that is correct."

The report implies the subcommittee might have been favorable to a "feasible" compromise — without giving any clue as to what would have been deemed "feasible."

This intimation is just left hanging in the air.

The whole burden of the report is that recomputation partisans firmly opposed any compromise, offered none for consideration, and as a consequence the subcommittee did nothing.

Under the subtitle "Congressional Yearning for Permanent Solution," the report says:

"Many members of Congress expressed to the subcommittee their earnest hope that an economically feasible solution could be found that would solve the recomputation argument once and for all so that it would not continue to plague the Congress. Some members of Congress who testified urged the subcommittee to solve the problem permanently, although they were unable themselves to suggest or recommend such a solution."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Ear Surgery

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, 17, was told by an ear specialist that she has a perforated ear drum and the only thing that would correct it is an operation.

A test shows some loss of hearing in that ear.

The ear frequently becomes infected and at times drains. However she has no pain.

She is very upset about having this operation, so would you please explain what they do and whether it is painful? Is it a common operation? Is an operation at this point the only solution? Will the ear become worse as she gets older or will the hole heal over by itself?

A. T.

I don't see what your daughter's objection is unless, simply, she is afraid it will hurt. She should realize that an anesthetic will be used, so she will not feel anything.

A perforated ear drum sometimes heals spontaneously, and if it happens to heal smoothly, that's fine.

But in her case it is safe to predict that the drum never is going to heal, and the reason for this prediction is that she has these recurring bouts of infection. They will prevent healing, meaning the perforation of the ear drum is an invitation to further infection.

Surgical repair is not at all unusual for such a situation, and a small tissue graft is commonly used to close the perforation.

Already the infection has damaged the middle ear enough to cause some hearing loss. What you — and she — can expect is additional loss of hearing as infection continues. It is, indeed, possible that the infection might spread to other areas, for instance, the mastoid region.

She has so much to gain by having ear surgery, and so much to lose if she doesn't, that I cannot see why she hesitates. There is no reason to be afraid of being hurt.

Perhaps if she asked the specialist point blank, "How much pain will there be?" and he says, "You won't feel anything," that will put an end to her fears.

"I'm sure there's still light at the end of the tunnel. The trouble is, we can't seem to find the tunnel now!"

TF chief asks Blue Lakes work, joint building

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Chief of Police Frank Barnett Wednesday urged improvement of Blue Lakes Boulevard North and construction of a combined police and sheriff's office building.

Speaking before a noon luncheon meeting of the Twin Falls Rotary Club, Barnett said Blue Lakes Boulevard is one of the most hazardous streets in the state of Idaho.

He said he had to see the construction of the new Perrine Bridge without an accompanying widening of Blue Lakes. He said the Boulevard is already carrying too much traffic for its size.

Barnett said Blue Lakes is part of the state highway system and as such is under the jurisdiction of the Idaho Highway Department. He said the earliest the state has said it could begin work on the street is five years.

"We need immediate improvement on North Blue Lakes Boulevard," Barnett said. He said the number of accidents on the street indicate it needs the most improvement of any street like it in the state.

In calling for the construction of a new combined police and sheriff's building, Barnett said present facilities are outmoded. He said it would be silly, in his opinion, to ask the taxpayers to construct separate buildings for the police and sheriff's departments.

In the long run, he said, a combined facility would mean less cost to taxpayers.

Turning to crime and traffic statistics, Barnett said there was a reduction in car and house burglaries in Twin Falls in 1972, but there was a slight increase in business burglaries.

However, Barnett said, business losses due to burglary were down. "They are hitting the till for petty cash or breaking into cigarette and pop machines," he said.

Barnett said most other major crimes showed little decrease. He added, he personally thought the statistics are as accurate this year as they ever have been and bear out trends reported in major cities.

"Traffic accidents in the city fell off slightly, Barnett said. He added this was especially encouraging, considering the increase in vehicles and traffic."

Barnett said accidents involving women drivers were up over a year ago. Accidents on city streets decreased, he said, while accidents in parking lots increased.

He said that there was one traffic fatality in the city during 1972, the same as in 1971. The heaviest period for accidents remained "noon to 4 p.m. Fridays," Barnett said.

Barnett said the Idaho State Peace Officers Association has been lobbying for a mandatory certification bill for police officers in Idaho. He said he advocated the measure, since under present practice some localities require certification and others do not.

"We have at present the machinery and the facilities for this," Barnett said. "Without a mandatory standard we will never be a profession."

Barnett also advocated taking the police academy at Idaho State University out of the hands of the Law Enforcement Planning Commission except for funding.

Noting that this step was also called for by the peace officers association, Barnett said, "I do not believe it is right for the governor or the other commissioners to be getting the training for police officers."

He said the present planning commission has four members out of 20 who are actively engaged in law enforcement.

Barnett also said he hoped the state legislature would act to make junk auto dealers register their vehicles and turn in license plates to be destroyed.

Presently, junk vehicles can be sold in Idaho without a title, he said, and this has led to hot car rings buying wrecked cars and substituting the tags for those on similar make stolen vehicles.

Barnett also backed a uniform pay bill for Idaho prosecuting attorneys. This would tend to improve the type of attorney who runs for prosecutor, he said.

Many counties are presently getting students straight out of law school who only stay long enough for a little training, he added.

Turning to the Twin Falls City Police force, Barnett said there are now 38 employees, including dog catchers and secretaries. He said this compared with the average per population for Idaho and the national average of 1.7 officers per 1,000 population.

Barnett said he has presented to the City Council a request to hire one more man for the detective division. This request resulted from the number of

Solons seek Hanoi visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four congressmen, who include two supporters and two opponents of President Nixon's Vietnam policies, are trying to get permission to visit North Vietnam next month.

Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey Jr. of California, who ran against Nixon in Republican primaries last year, announced the proposed trip Wednesday. He said the other congressmen were war critic F. H. "Pete" Stark, D-Calif., and Nixon supporters R. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., and O.W. "Bill" Young, R-Fla.

McCloskey said the "balanced" party hoped to visit Hanoi in early February. McCloskey said he wanted to learn what effect the recent bombing campaign had had upon the North Vietnamese populace.

Montgomery said his primary interest in going would be "to inspect the prisoner of war camps and talk with American servicemen being held captive."

"If I feel that there is even the slightest possibility of the trip interfering with the peace negotiations then I will reassess my plans to go," Montgomery said.

Whittling resisted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Aside from the Defense Department and the Postal Service, President Nixon has had little success in trimming the size of the federal bureaucracy over the last year, a congressional report showed today.

The Joint Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures said the federal civilian payroll stood at 2,779,624 at the end of November, a decrease of 48,867 from a year earlier.

But the decrease came entirely from the Defense payroll, with the elimination of 41,158 civilian jobs, and from the Postal Service, which eliminated 46,338 jobs.

Other government agencies added 32,629 employees during the year, the report said.

The federal civilian payroll in October, the last month for which figures are available, was $2,708,568,000.

Mercury's surface like moon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — The surface of the planet Mercury is probably much like the surface of the moon, according to a pair of studies done by scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The findings, presented in a paper in a recent issue of Science Magazine, said the surface of the planet was studied by telescope and a spectrometer used to analyze the makeup of the surface. The MIT scientists said the soil on the planet contained high quantities of iron and titanium.

HE MAY TELL YOU that a "working wall" is an exterior wall... where you replace wall paper and a small window with a beautiful fireplace, bookshelves, bric-a-brac, etc... add decorative beauty and comfort at nominal cost.

PERHAPS IT'S AN INTERIOR WALL... that now becomes a better "divider" between work and relaxation areas... a wall that houses TV, Stereo, Books, Desk for Mother's household budgeting... or for student studies...

AND THEN MAYBE... it's a "when guests arrive" wall... one that adds to sleep space by night... makes an extra bedroom out of the family room!

COULD BE JUST HALF-A-WALL by day... one that conceals TV, Books, and etc. while serving as a snack bar... then helps close off the kitchen or dining area when reinforced with a folding partition.

IF YOU NEED a working wall... just put Anderson Lumber to work!

Sniper's family blames US Navy

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A young man from the Kansas plains had been driven to a hatred of whites, his family said. Police today questioned his friends and acquaintances in their search for another black man who perhaps drove him to a murderous, sniping spree atop a downtown hotel.

The body of Mark James "Jimmy" Essex, 23, will be shipped to his hometown of Emporia, Kan., today, back to the place where his family said he had known a "better world" of racial integration.

Essex will be buried Saturday. Essex, a Navy dental technician, received an unenviable discharge for "character and behavior" disorders in 1971. He had been court-martialed for over-staying 20 days on a leave.

"The Navy was his own private hell," his sister, Penny, 19, said. "He had a rough deal in the Navy. The Navy turned out to be very prejudiced with Jimmy."

"I think it was just this racist society that drove my brother to do what he did. He wanted a better world, a better place to live in and a better place for his three nephews."

Renee Green, who dated Essex when they were in high school, said she was convinced there was another, more dominant sniper.

"I don't think the shooting was Mark's original idea," she said. "I just can't imagine it."

Police Wednesday questioned a Black Muslim friend of Essex who matched the description given by Bemish. However, the friend — who was not identified — was released.

Essex' best friend in New Orleans was Ulysses "Pouchie" Stamps, 21, who lived next door to the Black Muslim in Harvey, La., the same New Orleans suburb where Essex rented a room. Stamps said Essex often visited with the Muslim, playing cards and listening to music.

But Stamps said when the Muslim last October adopted the strict Muslim tenets of no aged playing, no listening to music and no drinking, Essex "stopped bumming with him." Stamps said he never saw Essex after that.

The rifle Essex carried was linked by ballistics to previous snipings New Year's Eve at the central New Orleans police parking lot in which a 19-year-old black cadet died. Shortly later another policeman was wounded when he investigated a warehouse break-in, and again it was the same rifle.

Labor criticizes Nixon, Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Organized labor has criticized the 92nd Congress and President Nixon for compiling a record of unkept promises, unmet needs and unheeded calls for change.

The AFL-CIO said in a 134-page booklet released Wednesday entitled "Labor's Loom" that the 92nd Congress is faced with "an almost endless array of critical problems" that need immediate attention.

AFL-CIO legislative director Andrew J. Biemiller, who wrote the booklet, cited health care, the economy, taxes, trade and consumer protection legislation among the many issues confronting the just-convened 92nd Congress.

Biemiller said the new Congress "will have to directly face many issues that its predecessor chose to ignore or on which it failed to take action" or which were vetoed by President Nixon.

Lemhi River overflows

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The Lemhi River which feeds into the Salmon River overflowed its banks Wednesday as sub-zero temperatures caused slush ice to back up and prevent normal water flow.

The ice backed up in the Lemhi about a mile preventing water or ice into the Salmon and forced water over the banks at several places on both sides of the river.

About 15 homes at the North end of the Salmon were in danger of being flooded, officials said.

Burglary listed in TF

TWIN FALLS — Beverly Smit, 202 Falls Ave. W., Twin Falls, told police Tuesday her apartment was burglarized and $200 in cash was taken. According to police reports, Mrs. Smit left on vacation on Dec. 31 and when she returned Tuesday, she discovered the money missing.

Spy defendant pleads guilty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House consultant E. Howard Hunt Jr. pleaded guilty today to all charges against him in the Watergate bugging trial.

The judge accepted the plea after rejecting Hunt's effort to plead guilty to only three counts.

After accepting the second plea, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ordered Hunt held under $100,000 bond until a pre-sentencing investigation is completed.

Hunt had initially tried to plead guilty to conspiracy to break into Democratic national headquarters, actually breaking into the Watergate building office, and to listening via bugging devices to telephone conversations of some Democratic officials.

After Sirica refused to accept that plea — omitting reference to three other charges relating to actually placing bugging devices in the offices — Hunt pleaded guilty to all six counts of the indictment against him.

Hunt's attorney, William O. Bitman, pleaded with Sirica to lower the $100,000 bond, saying "I don't believe he will be able to meet" the amount. He asked that it be lowered to $25,000 or, at most, $50,000.

Sirica said, "I deny your request and you can take it to the court as appeals if you want."

Lawyers for the other six men charged with political espionage — obviously worried Hunt might later be called to testify against their clients and that his admission of guilt could hurt their case — hinted they might move for a mistrial if Hunt's request was granted.

Before the testimony in the case had begun Wednesday, Hunt's lawyer, William O. Bitman, stunned the packed courtroom when he arose to say his client wished to switch his plea from innocent to guilty on three of the six counts of conspiracy, burglary and bugging with which he had been charged. The other three charges presumably would be dropped.

A guilty plea could bring Hunt, an ex-CIA agent and former $100-a-day White House consultant, from 12 to 25 years in prison and fines of up to $20,000.

Bitman said the decision had been made by Hunt alone. He cited the death of Hunt's wife in a Chicago plane crash last month, the fact he has four children between the ages of nine and 22 at home, and his client's health among the reasons for his not wishing to proceed with the trial.

Prosecutor Earl J. Silbert told Sirica the government had agreed to accept a guilty plea from Hunt but said he had made it "perfectly plain" to Hunt that one condition was that he would be called before a grand jury to testify.

FCC ends inquiry into kids TV commercials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After two years of study and a stack of testimony, the Federal Communications Commission has concluded its public inquiry into a controversial proposal to ban commercials on children's television shows.

Wins pepcil

TWIN FALLS — Wayne DeSpain has been awarded the blue pencil for the best speech at a meeting of the I. B. E. Ergine-Tonstman's Club, according to the club reporter.

His topic was "100 Years or More — Tom Dahlin — was the other speaker."

Ken Shew was table topic master; with Bill Foster as toastmaster. Dwight Shaw was general evaluator.

In ending its hearings Wednesday the commission offered few clues as to how soon it would decide the question, although FCC Chairman Dean Burch said he hoped it could be done as soon as possible.

There was some speculation the panel may stop short of an outright ban, but come up with some method for closer regulation and control over programming aimed at youngsters.

One impact of the two-year inquiry has already been in the broadcast industry. The National Association of Broadcasters, with the start of the New Year, told the hosts of children's shows they could no longer bid salemen for sponsoring products at the same time. And that decision already is about to result in one casualty:

said according to Larry Harmon of Las Angeles, the man who created "Bozo the Clown" and turned the character into a big business.

Harmon complained about a rule issued by the NAB effective Jan. 1 which forbids the host of a children's show from doubling as a pitch man for products advertised on the show.

In the case of Bozo, Harmon said, TV stations across the country who have used their Bozo franchisees to entertain children and try to sell them everything from bread to roller skates are beginning to cancel out.

Demo vows to resist GOP senators' power

BOISE (UPI)—Democrat Senate leader John Evans, D-Malad, says his minority party will not be snowballed into making wrong decisions by the Republicans who hold a 23-12 majority in the upper house.

"We are watching very closely," Evans said, "to protect the interests of the taxpayer."

Evans made his comments following a Democratic challenge of a concurrent resolution which would have granted raises to top attaches in the House and the Senate.

"What you saw today (Wednesday) is an indication of what is to come during this session," he said.

The Republican controlled Judiciary and Rules Committee introduced the resolution which asked for raises for the secretaries and other legislative employees. The resolution, if passed, would have meant about $5,000 in increased salaries during the 60-day session.

Democrats in the Senate held up any action on the measure after requesting more information on the number of employees and the amounts of the raises.

Evans said when one party has a large majority, control, it sometimes forgets to inform all members concerning legislation and other matters of general concern.

"This is not good," Evans said. "When there is an even balance between the parties, there is more cooperation because parties do not use power to get things done."

The Republicans agreed in the afternoon caucus not to grant the pay raises. Republican Caucus Chairman Walter Varbrough, R-Grandview, said the Democrats' opposition did influence the GOP members.

At the same time, House Democrats discussed behind closed doors of the party caucus Wednesday proposed increases in attaches' salaries, but took no formal action pro-or-con.

Caucus Chairman Harold D. Craigmont, said the caucus put the matter into the hands of the minority leader and a subcommittee.

In other news Wednesday, Democrat Sen. James Stotcheff of Sandpoint called for the reduction of staff in the legislative auditor's office.

Peavey measure hits panel snag

BOISE (UPI) The Senate Resource and Environment Committee Wednesday held off on introducing a bill designed to ban non-returnable containers following discussion of the measure.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, was held up pending a draft of the statement of purpose and a fiscal note.

Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lewiston, who operates a wholesale business in private life, questioned whether the bill would help eliminate litter as Peavey claims.

Peavey said his measure is "similar to the law now in effect in Oregon." Mitchell said "This is Oregon's bill," adding that there still was no proof that it was completely effective in that state.

Mitchell said that he was getting a 72 per cent return of aluminum cans for recycling and that the average of 50 per cent return, although the refund is only one-half cent per can.

Peavey's bill would call for a five cent deposit on containers and would bar pop tops on cans.

Griner said the committee "go far" in concurrence as far as updating the standards and it hopes to have the revised code in a final form within two months.

Office powers scored

BOISE (UPI) — Democrat Sen. James Stotcheff of Sandpoint called for the reduction of staff in the legislative auditor's office and said that office may be as powerful as either house of the legislature.

Stotcheff has introduced a measure that would strike a clause in the Idaho Code requiring that the budget fiscal committee appoint a legislative auditor.

"No single committee should have this type of staff," Stotcheff said. "They should reduce their staff to about seven persons or less and become an arm of the whole legislature and not just the House-Senate Budget and Fiscal Committee."

He said the way it is now there are three arms of the legislature — the house, the Senate, and the budget fiscal committee.

"The budget fiscal committee meets in the interim between legislative sessions. The same members are on the Joint Senate Finance and the House Appropriations Committee."

"The strongest of these three branches of the legislature may be the budget and fiscal committee," the Democrat said.

He said the auditor's office now has increased to 20 staff members. He said the auditor's office and the state budget bureau duplicate many of their efforts.

"When the office was created it had a budget of $30,000 and that has increased to about a half-million dollars," Stotcheff said.

But Legislative Auditor James Defenbach said the budget for the current fiscal year is only $331,684.

Defenbach said the only comment he had on the proposed legislation was "this office is a creature of the legislature and it is certainly the right of legislators to introduce this type of legislation."

House panel delays printing

BOISE (UPI) — The powerful Printing Committee delayed the printing of two of the first three bills introduced in the House Wednesday at the first regular session of the 42nd Idaho Legislature.

Members delayed printing of one bill to restrict the second regular session of each legislature to fiscal matters pending a clarification of what they considered to be ambiguous language.

They delayed printing temporarily of two others—one for state administration of any federal or state no-fault auto insurance program; and one for authorization for recreation distributed to receive real or personal property from cities because they considered the fiscal impact notes inadequate.

At a later meeting, the committee agreed to print the third bill.

At the same time, the committee voiced strong feelings that all bills should carry adequate fiscal impact notes and they recommended the leadership advise all house members.

The proposal by Reps. Melvin Hammond, D-Rexburg, and John Sessions, R-Driggs, to restrict the second regular session to fiscal matters first caught the committee's scrutiny.

Several house members said they thought the language in the bills was ambiguous.

Rep. John Reardon, R-Boise, was sent to the Attorney General's office for legal advice, and reported later that an attorney said there was a possible conflict in the language that could lead to a court test—if the bill were passed in that form.

He suggested returning the bill to its sponsors for correction.

Rep. Wayne Loveless, D-Pocatello, a lawyer, said he felt there are ambiguities in the measure. He said the bill as written could open the door to consideration of all bills at any

Relief bill held

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee voted Wednesday to hold a bill to give relief to property tax payers in Idaho until Gov. Cecil D. Andrus makes public his own tax plan.

Sen. James Stolcheff, D-Sandpoint, sponsor of the bill, moved that the committee defer any action on the proposal until "the governor comes out with his own plan for property tax relief."

Andrus will present his budget message to the lawmakers later this week.

Members of the committee said the impact of the Stolcheff bill to limit taxation to one per cent of the value of dwellings in any given year would cost the counties about $15 million in taxes each year. Members said the estimation was "very rough."

In other action, the senate committee voted to table a measure designed to exempt certain non-profit organizations in the state from paying sales tax.

Stream act due review

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Resources and Environment Committee and the House Resources and Conservation Committee will meet jointly next Wednesday to discuss the possible repeal of Idaho's 1971 Stream Channel Alteration Act.

Sen. J. Marsden Williams, R-Idaho Falls, said legislation may be introduced to repeal the law.

Williams, chairman of the Senate committee, made the statement during a discussion of proposed legislation exempting lakes and reservoirs from the law.

School bill to printer

BOISE (UPI) — The first of a series of bills to be introduced during this session of the Idaho Legislature dealing with school district consolidation was approved for printing Wednesday by the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee.

The bill would allow school districts to annex areas in a 50 mile radius rather than a present 10 mile area.

The measure would allow some smaller districts to transport students or be included in a larger urban school district.

A sub-committee for the State Board of Education has been studying several possibilities for school district consolidation in the state.

In other action, the committee approved for printing a memorial to eliminate the post of director of medical education in the office of higher education.

Sen. James Stolcheff, D-Sandpoint, sponsor of the measure, said the position was not needed and the $36,000-per-year salary for the post, now held by Mr. Fred Graeber, Boise, could be returned to the state general fund.

Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lewiston, a member of the committee, said the deletion of the position would not harm any of the regional medical programs that Idaho currently participates in.

"We'll certainly hear from the office of higher education," committee chairman Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, said.

Senator questions pre-filing setup

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, has criticized the new pre-filing system initiated in the closing moments of the last session of the legislature.

The Senate rule allows lawmakers to pre-file bills with the office of the Senate president prior to the opening of the session. The system has been praised by some legislators for speeding up the process of introducing bills.

"Mrs. Klein told members of the Local Government and Taxation Committee Wednesday doesn't do anything that couldn't be accomplished by preparing the bills prior to the session and introducing them during the first day of the session.

Twenty bills and resolutions were pre-filed in the Senate. President Jack Murphy's office before the session began.

"The only thing I can see accomplishes is to give legislators a little publicity before the session starts," Mrs. Klein said. "Plus there is an added cost. I am in favor of going back to the old way."

Death sentence given

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee voted to hold up Wednesday and "let die" a proposal to extend tax exemptions to operations conducted by the owner or under contract.

Members of the committee said a directive has been or will be issued by the state tax commission to correct a situation that the bill attempted to do.

DEAR ABBEY

For the last several weeks, I've been stepping out on my regular grocery store... that is, I've been having an affair with Swensen's Mkts. in Twin Falls. Swensen's Mkts. aren't much for looks; they're not handsome, but they treat me sooooo nice! Swensen's have such good prices on fresh meats and vegetables and they have the best specials and they're real friendly. Anyway, what I want to know is: Do Swensen's really love ME, or is it my money.

A. SHOPPER

DEAR A. SHOPPER,

I have it from a very good source that Swensen's Magic Mkts. love all their customers, new and old. On the other hand, Swensen's have never been known to look upon a customer's money with disdain or casual interest. It is said, Swensen's love is so great that their love for one customer is not diminished by their love for all the others. (Whew.) Anyway, Love is where you find it... Abbey.

Trio presents TF club program

TWIN FALLS — The Bellini Trio presented the program at the January meeting of the Twin Falls Music Club, an affiliate of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The "Crusade for Strings" program was heard by members and their guests at the Twin Falls YM-YWCA building.

Members of the trio are Mrs. Robert Bellini, piano; Mrs. Henry Comer, cello; and Mrs. Del Slaughter, violin. Mrs. R. A. Saitiff introduced the trio.

The program was followed by a reception, with Mrs. Elva Knowles and Mrs. John Gibney as hostesses.

Mrs. Leslie Hazen read the collect and benediction. Mrs. Richard Reed, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Youtz, presented the hymn of the month.

The club observed the 75th Anniversary of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and Mrs. Frank DeLuca, president of the Twin Falls club, asked each member to make a silver Founder's Day offering.

The club is accepting memberships for the 1973-74 memberships from now until the May membership luncheon. The earlier membership cut off date will facilitate publication of the club yearbook.

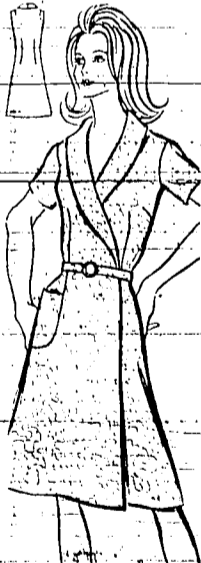

Mrs. Gordon Beckstead is membership chairman. Those interested in becoming members may contact her at 733-1950, Mrs. Robert Wilson, 733-1898, or Mrs. Frank DeLuca, 733-3531.

Mrs. Donald Youtz was named chairman of the nominating committee. She will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Comer, Mrs. Jerry Haynes, Mrs. John Gibney and Mrs. Robert Phillips.

Plans are being made to present drama scholarships to the College of Southern Idaho to two high school seniors and two college freshmen.

The next meeting is the White Breakfast honoring past presidents, with Mrs. A. D. Nye in charge of the program, "Parade of American Music." The event will be Feb. 12 at the Holiday Inn.

Magic Valley Favorites

MRS. PEARL LANCASTER
Box 12, Wendell

GINGERSNAPS
2-3 cup shortening
2-3 cup dark molasses
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons ginger
1 egg
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda

Mix shortening, sugar, molasses, salt and spice together. Heat in a heavy kettle until all ingredients are melted.

Cool to lukewarm, then add beaten egg. Add flour and soda. The dough will be stiff.

Roll to the size of walnuts and place on a greased baking sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes about four dozen.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

TF recital slated Sunday

TWIN FALLS—Lawrence M. Curtis, principal clarinet with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, will give a recital on clarinet and saxophone Sunday.

The program will begin at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium, on the Twin Falls campus. The public is invited and admission is free.

Assisting in the program will be Margaret Vincent, who has been Curtis' piano accompanist for three years, and soprano Martin Mead, who will be heard in two selections.

Curtis is assistant professor of music at CSI and was graduated with honors from San Diego State College. He has a master-of-music degree from the University of Redlands.

He studied privately with Vincent Donatelli, principal clarinet with the RKO Studio Orchestra, and Kalmen Bloch, principal conductor for Dittante productions the last three years and was conductor for the recent local production of the opera, "Carmen."

Curtis is principal clarinet with the Magic Valley Symphony and the Twin Falls Municipal Band. He gives a recital yearly and often plays for local groups.

Music to be performed Sunday will be sonatas by Alex Wilder and Francis Poulenc and "The Shepherd on the Rock," a trio for soprano, piano and clarinet.

After intermission, Curtis will perform on alto saxophone in concert, by Glazounov and Ibert and a trio rendition of Gershwin's "Summertime."

Recital set

COLLEGE of Southern Idaho director of bands, Lawrence M. Curtis, will give a recital on clarinet and saxophone at 3 p.m. Sunday at the CSI Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

North wants to be in game and without a club convention would simply jump to three no-trump.

West would open the king of diamonds and after losing a spade finesse South would wind up down two tricks and complaining about bad luck.

The Stayman convention gives North a chance to look for a spade fit. He bids two clubs. South goes to two spades in response and North takes him to the spade game.

South loses the spade finesse, but this does not stop him from collecting the spade game.

A Lovelier You

TO DRAMATIZE GRAY HAIR

By Mary Sue Miller

If your hair is gray, do wear one of fashion's new spring grays. Otherwise you miss a beauty bet.

Ranging from pale to deep, gray fashion shades are complementary. Their special elegance perfectly backgrounds the gray head. Generally speaking, gray fabrics of a much darker or lighter tonality than that of the hair make for dramatic effects.

First gray, for example, best gets off silver hair, dove gray points up steely locks.

Of course, the hair must be equal to the fabric. Come to think of it, drab, indeterminate or yellow shades of gray hair are at odds with any fashion color.

A gleaming tinted rose, silver to steel, keeps gray tresses up to form. When the hair's health flags, conditioning treatments are also in order. An occasional application of hair-dressing and vigorous brushing never fails to supply polish.

It could be that with gray attire the skin needs sparkling. For the purpose try an apricot tinted transparent face color under a natural beige fluid foundation. This lends both fair and dark skins a warm, natural glow.

The with-it eye shadow is the color of mushrooms, a subtle mixture of earthy beige and cloud white. Add transparent lip color in a pure red.

That way something magical comes of gray hair and gray fashions.

SGT. AND MRS. EDWARD ROSS

Sister Night held by TF OES chapter

TWIN FALLS — Tuesday night was Sister Night at the Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, Order of Eastern Star, with members of Magic Chapter No. 82 as guests.

Worthy patron and worthy matron, Mr. and Mrs. Al Robinson, conducted the meeting.

Introduced were Mr. and Mrs. Harbld Brown, worthy patron and worth matron of Magic Chapter No. 82, and Marian Langdon, chairman of the home interest and benevolent committee.

The program was entitled "A Friendly Meeting in Star Town." Officers of Chapter No. 29 presented the program. Members of the chorus were Clara Briggs, Willie Rider and Adeline Grabert. Members of Chapter No. 82 were escorted to the Circle of Friendship town and presented a flower.

Chairman of the serving committee was Opal Stevens. She was assisted by Louisa Montgomery, Emma Steffen, Joe Stevens and Grace O'Harrow.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A woman who was married for 46 years wrote a long story about how hard her husband was to live with. She asked you whether she should choose divorce or suicide, and she signed herself "Suffered Enough."

You told her divorce was preferable. Are you married to a divorce lawyer, Abby?

DEAR NOSY: No. Are you married to an undertaker?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nearly a year to a nice guy who has lots to offer, but I want out. Buddy and I were married because we thought I was pregnant. It turned out I wasn't.

Just advising

At first I was happy. Then I started to miss going out with other guys and having fun. Before I got married I had lots of boy friends and now I miss all that.

Buddy hasn't mistreated me, and I really do like him, but I don't love him, and I can't see staying married to someone I don't love for the rest of my life.

I talked to my pastor and he told me to "grow up," which was no help at all. What I really want is a divorce, but on what grounds? And how should I break the news to Buddy? I hate to just walk out.

DEAR WANTS: If Buddy doesn't know what's on your mind, level with him — and right now! No "nice guy with lots to offer" would want to stay married to a girl who doesn't love him and wants out. This is a matter for both of you to decide. He may be as glad to get rid of you as you are to get rid of him.

DEAR ABBY: Because you appear to be an intelligent woman who has managed to combine a successful marriage and family with a career, I am hoping you can offer me some encouragement.

I am a 24-year-old, reasonably intelligent woman. My husband is a young professional man who is presently establishing himself in business. We have a beautiful baby, 6 months old.

I have two years of college credits and want to return to get my degree. When the baby is a year old I plan to take a light course to begin with, and will be away from home only three mornings a week. My husband is 100 per cent for it, but my parents think I am crazy.

My mother tells me if I go back to college it will be the ruin of my marriage. My father feels a woman should be allowed to go to college only in order to find a rich husband, after which she should stay home and have a baby every year.

I don't feel that I am in any way jeopardizing my marriage. In fact, I think I'm "protecting" it. After all, how many husbands who are getting ahead in the world want to come home to wives who can't talk about anything except toilet training and the price of ground chuck?

I know I'm doing the right thing. All I need is some encouragement from you.

BACK TO COLLEGE.

DEAR BACK: You have it. Your parents may mean well, but they're off the beam.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST ASKING" IN CLEVELAND: Yes, I carry on my person two cards. One indicating that immediately upon my death, my eyes shall go to someone who can use them, the other, my kidneys. No matter what else I leave behind, these, I think, will be the most precious.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 89100, L. A., Calif. 90089. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hawaiian ceremony conducted

EDEN — Barbara Kane Kinsell and S. Sgt. Edward Worley (Ted) Ross were married in a double ring Hawaiian ceremony Dec. 27 in the Buhl First Christian Church.

Rev. Harrie Young, minister of the Buhl Christian Church, and Rev. Kenneth Himple, pastor of the Twin Falls Tyler Street Baptist Church, performed the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell-Kinsell, Weiser, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ross, Eden, former Twin Falls residents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father and her mother, wore a holoku, a Hawaiian floor-length gown. The gown and train were made of ivory peau de soie and featured Juliet sleeves.

The gown was fashioned with an angel-wing back and self ruffle encircling the hemline, train and neckline. She carried her Rainbow Bible.

Flowers for the wedding were flown in from Hawaii. The bride's hairpiece was a double lei of crown flowers.

Around her neck, she wore a malle lei intertwined with a Niihau shell lei borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. Robert Perdue, Kapaa, Kauai, Hawaii, with whom the bride had been visiting for two months prior to the wedding.

The Niihau shell lei came from Niihau, a privately owned island whose only full blooded Hawaiians may live.

Marilyn Adair, American Falls, was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Elizabeth Bungarner, sister of the bride. Lucette Kinsell, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Pam Woods, Weiser, was flower girl.

The bridegroom was dressed in traditional Hawaiian wedding style in white dress pants, a white tucked long-sleeve shirt and a wedding sash of red satin. He wore a malle lei intertwined with a kufu nut lei.

Duane Watson, Twin Falls, was best man. Groomsmen were Dan Wilson, Twin Falls, and Jeff Harper, Buhl, cousin of the bridegroom. Jamie Harper was ringbearer.

Terri Kinsell, sister of the bride, and Keri Ross, sister of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

The bride placed an orchid lei around the neck of her mother and the bridegroom's mother and kissed each on her way down the aisle.

The Chuck Harpers, Weiser, presented vocal music. Mrs. Karen Cornwell, Weiser, organist, accompanied them.

The couple was honored at an Hawaiian style reception after the ceremony in the church.

Mrs. Jay Depew, Twin Falls, cousin of the bridegroom, attended the guest book which was made of Hawaiian tapa cloth.

Mrs. Cal Harper, Buhl, served the bridegroom's cake and Mrs. Betty Pollard, Hansen, served coffee. Both are aunts of the bridegroom. Mrs. Jeff Harper served the Hawaiian punch.

Mrs. Bruce Edwards, Bend, Ore., aunt of the bride, served the four-tier, heart-shaped wedding cake. The cake was decorated with anthuriums carrying out the theme of the church decorations, which were also of anthuriums, a tropical flower.

The reception table was decorated with plastic leis, ti leaves, shells, (iki) candles, monkey pod serving dishes and goblets. The accessories were of the traditional tapa design.

Flaming flower candles enhanced the punch-bowl. The bride brought pupus, the Hawaiian hors d'oeuvres from Hawaii. They were poi, coconut, yick-lung, fresh pineapple and won ton chips.

The couple chose their wedding date to coincide with the 52-Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Worley, Buhl, grandparents of the bridegroom.

The couple will reside in Fort Collins, Colo., where the bridegroom will continue his senior year at Colorado State University. He will be graduated in June with a B.S. degree in management information systems and will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

Following graduation, he will attend the school of military science for officers, Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

MR. AND MRS. JOEL CALDWELL

Couple recites promises

HAGERMAN — Corn Lou Ziegler and Joel Caldwell were united in marriage in an evening service Dec. 27 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church, New Plymouth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ziegler, New Plymouth, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caldwell, Hagerman. Father Andrew Schumacher of St. Augustine's Catholic Church, Moscow, performed the ceremony.

The bride's floor-length gown of polyester crepe was styled with a mid-waistline, belt finished in back with a bow. A decorative deep V of gathered nylon ruffle with a center of lace and light blue velvet-ribbon accented the bodice.

The gathered sleeves were finished with a cuff and a repeat of the same nylon ruffle trim. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a white cap with pearls and blue accents.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white lilies and roses with baby's breath and light blue and silver ribbon.

Maid of honor was Janet Rodjekohr, Lincoln, Neb. Bridesmaids were Pat Marler, Boise, and Mary Ziegler, New Plymouth. Dianna Marler, Boise, served as flower girl, with Bradley Mabe, Buhl, as ringbearer.

Best man was Gary Jenkins, Boise. Ushers were John King, Boise, and John Ziegler, New Plymouth.

The four-tiered applesauce cake with blue accents, was designed by the bride and made by her sister, Roxalie Cramer.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Floyd White and Mrs. Emma Linder, who cut the cake. Mrs. Helen Collins served coffee. Mrs. Tom Jenkins served punch and Cindy Whitte cut the bridegroom's cake.

A wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park is planned. The couple reside in Gooding where the bride is a home economics teacher and the bridegroom is a high school mathematics teacher.

There IS something you can do to help Government controls fight inflation. It's something all of us can do in the fight against higher food prices. Let's use more of the many nutritious foods which are plentiful and lower in price. When you serve one of these, you save money right now. Also, you help to speed the day when costs will go down on other foods. Of course, we're not saying that you should stop serving things your family likes best. We offer full lines of all kinds of food products so that our customers have a wide choice. We invite you to enjoy your favorites as often as you wish. We do point out, though, that when you serve an "inflation fighter" food such as turkey or chicken or an appetizing dish made with ground beef or fish or cheese or eggs, you help yourself and others in the fight against higher prices. Also important, you will probably find that your family enjoys the change in menu!

Lodge at Hansen elects

HANSEN — Mrs. John Brown was elected oracle at the Royal Neighbor Lodge meeting Tuesday night at the Woodman Hall.

Mrs. Leo Roberts was elected vice oracle; Mrs. Ruth Wright, chancellor; Mrs. Mary Taylor, recorder; Mrs. Betty Pollock, receiver; Mrs. Grace McFarland, marshal, and Mrs. Elsie Henry appointed as assistant marshal.

Mrs. Minnie Bedow was elected inner sentinel; Mrs. Bertha McCarty, 1st outer sentinel; the five graces, Mrs. Thelma Stanger, faith; Mrs. Vernon Ball, courage; Mrs. W.F. Anderson, modesty; Mrs. K. E. K. Dudley, unselfishness; Mrs. Ora Simpson, endurance.

Other appointed officers are Mrs. Jessie Calico, flag bearer; Lena Bohrn, drill captain; and Mrs. Arthur Adamson, musician.

Letters from Mrs. Hugh Sanderson, wintering in Yuma, Ariz.; Mrs. Irene Johnson, Tacoma, Wash.; and Mrs. Esther Zuck, Bellingham, Wash., were read.

A report was given on the success of the first in a series of benefit card parties held Saturday night at the Woodman Hall, a joint fund-raising project by the Modern Woodman and Royal Neighbor lodges.

It was voted to remember shut-ins with treats and visitations at Easter time as bad weather postponed the usual Christmas project.

The semi-annual audit will be held this month at the home of Mrs. Mary Taylor, with Mrs. William Rude, Filer, as special auditor.

Officers will be installed at the Jan. 23 meeting at the Woodman Hall.

Mrs. Elsie Henry and Mrs. Ruth Wright were hostesses at the Tuesday evening event.

Power tools stolen from TF workshop

TWIN FALLS — Durrell Jensen told police Tuesday that a workshop behind his residence had been burglarized of about $1,730 in power tools and other equipment.

According to Twin Falls Police reports, Jensen found the items missing Tuesday after his father alerted him that a window had been broken out of the workshop.

Jensen uses the workshop at 404 Washington St. S. for storage of equipment used in the operation of D. W. Jensen Construction Co.

Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls said the items listed as missing by Jensen included:

- One silver Black and Decker belt sander, value $150; three 50-foot extension cords, $30; one silver Stanley vibrator sander, $100; one Delta 10-inch table saw, grey in color, $700; one bench grinder, $100; one grey Sears and Roebuck Hobart welder, $500; various hand tools, hammers and chisels and so on, of assorted brands, some with the initials DWJ stamped on the side, estimated value $150.

The case remains under investigation.

High speed autotrains, electric cars seen as energy crisis answer

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Murray Bates has been elected chairman of the Twin Falls Harbor House board of directors. It was announced today.

Mrs. Corine Stafford will serve as secretary. Members voted to go ahead with plans to complete the basement area of the new home of Harbor House with the $2,000 federal arts and crafts grant.

The basement area will provide recreation and training facilities for residents of the home.

DETROIT (UPI) — High speed autotrains and electric urban cars may be the way to increase the number of private automobiles and travel in the United States in the face of a feared "energy crisis."

The two modes of transportation are offered as alternatives to the prospect of gasoline rationing and higher fuel costs.

They were advanced Tuesday maintained and improved. Only 27 years remains until the new century begins with an expected 300 million people and 200 million private vehicles using nearly 150 billion gallons of petroleum each year — as much as the entire world used in 1950, he said. The total energy demand for automobiles — to build, run and maintain — is now estimated at 20 per cent of the total U.S. energy budget each year.

The American public "will continue to expect and demand a first priority on personal mobility and private vehicles when it comes to a choice on the type of transportation they're going to use, he said."

Sonic booms damaging Death Valley rocks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sonic booms may be damaging rock formations in Death Valley National Monument, where Air Force hot-rodgers like to swoop their jets low over the desert floor to claim they have flown below sea level.

About 550 square miles of the monument is below sea level, and apparently many pilots find the urge to zoom near the desert floor irresistible, says George B. Hartzog, who resigned recently as director of the National Park Service.

Hartzog blew the whistle on sonic booms a few years ago, when the possibility arose that the loud noises might be causing damage to some irreplaceable cliff dwellings and rock formations in national parks.

The Air Force agreed late in 1971 to avoid any national monument or park that Asahel Bryce let Reed listed as a "fragile environment."

Since that agreement, the Park Service says, there was "a marked diminution of flights" over such affected areas as Mono, Yosemite, and other national parks.

But this agreement apparently hasn't worked in the case of Death Valley.

"We have a particularly difficult problem in Death Valley (with) the hot-rodgers in the Air Force who like to make a practice of being able to tell their friends they flew a plane below sea level," Hartzog complained before he left the Park Service.

First WAC joins

TWIN FALLS — Catherine E. Wiggins, Castleford, was sworn in Wednesday as the first woman in the WAC reserve in Magic Valley history.

Spec. 5 Wiggins, who has three years of prior service to her credit, will not have to attend basic training because of her past military service. She will work in the personnel section of Co. D, 21st Engineers, the Twin Falls Reserve unit.

A spokesman at the unit said there were several openings in the company for WACs, and added that if they already were skilled in a military occupation, they would have to attend only eight weeks of basic training, not the additional occupation training other recruits attend.

Spec. 5 Wiggins was sworn into service by the company commander, Capt. Clyde Carlson.

TF fire destroys building

TWIN FALLS — Estimates of loss in a Wednesday morning fire at the Twin Falls Equipment Co., 402 Washington St., were being determined today.

Assistant Fire Chief Francis Horjcs said fire began in the center of the frame and sheet metal building when a furnace ignited diesel and fuel oil workers were using to treat concrete forms.

The old Twin Falls Equipment Co. building was leased to the E and G Excavating and Rotarooting Co. at the time of the fire. Firemen said several employees of the firm were at work when the fire broke out but were not injured.

A hose on a hand pump broke, Horjcs said, spreading the fuel over the floor and adjacent to the furnace where it burst into flames.

In addition to the building damage and damage to supplies and equipment of the contracting firm, a quantity of new kitchen appliances including refrigerators, dish washers and stoves were destroyed or were heavily damaged.

These were owned by M and Y Electric, Twin Falls, and were being stored in the rear portion of the building.

Three engines and 12 men answered the alarm at 10:20 a.m. and returned to quarters by 12:50 p.m. Horjcs said the building will probably have to be replaced. A large hole was burned in the roof above the furnace.

It is owned by Vern Teasley, Twin Falls.

Shoshone chairman named

SHOSHONE — Glenn L. Sorenson, a hold-over county commissioner, has been named to serve as chairman of the board for 1973.

He succeeds C. F. Chatfield as chairman. Chatfield was sworn in this week after his reelection for another term in November.

Others accepting on this include Ward Mills, county commissioner, and Sheriff B. J. Anderson. Mills is serving his first term as county commissioner, having been elected to fill the post formerly held by Burrel Williams.

Pros. Atty. Howard E. Atkins, re-elected in November, also took the oath of office for a new term as deputy from various offices in the county.

A noon luncheon was held Monday by courthouse employees at the Manhattan Cafe honoring retiring commissioner Williams and retiring magistrate court judge O. M. Wilson. Judge Wilson is stepping out of office after 11 years as magistrate and probate judge. Williams served 12 years on the Board of County Commissioners.

Jerome aides ask rezoning

JEROME — A complete rezoning of Jerome will be recommended by the Jerome Zoning Commission to the City Council on Jan. 16.

The rezoning recommendation was decided Tuesday night following a public hearing on a proposal to rezone and change the city ordinance in an effort to confine trailer houses to one area of the city only.

Over 45 persons, most of whom were trailer house owners, were in attendance at the hearing to protest the proposal.

Following the protests the commission acted on a motion by Mike Sullivan which recommended the City Council defer their decision on the proposed ordinance pending a complete rezoning of the city either by professional planners or by naming a blue-ribbon committee separate from the zoning commission.

The commission also will recommend that professional planners or the committee be given the assistance of the city attorney in an effort to determine the definition of what constitutes a mobile home or trailer house.

Sullivan's motion also said that if the city should adopt the zoning proposal that the present building code be amended to include mobile homes.

The report to the council will also inform them that the general consensus of those attending the hearing was that any changes in the zoning or ordinances be submitted to the electorate.

TF 1973 budget shows increase

The sheriff's budget shows an actual dollar decrease, from $193,665 to $192,556, resulting from an accounting shift in handling the prisoner meals.

The commissioners removed about $20,000 from the sheriff's budget for the prisoner meals expense, and placed the amount in their own operation budget, which rose about $19,000.

Airport contribution from the county pegged at $120,000 a year ago, was tentatively listed this year at $70,000. The commissioners said the decrease in allocation resulted from the termination of a two-year capital improvements program at Joslin Field.

The commissioners budgeted an increase of over $17,000 for parks and recreation for the coming year and said a large part of it would be laid aside for the proposed recreation site at Rock Creek.

The solid waste fund shows an increase of $49,000 over a year ago, largely because the county must meet federal sanitary landfill requirements, according to the commissioners.

They said the solid waste mill levy would rise slightly to meet the increased expense, in contrast to the other levies, which they said will either remain the same or decline to raise revenue for the new budget.

The public health budget, not controlled by the commissioners directly, will rise this year from $52,000 to $73,500, an increase of over $21,000, part of which will be laid aside for a new headquarters for the district health office.

The allocation for the county fair will rise, partially because of anticipated increased revenue this year over last.

The budget of the treasurer's office will fall by about $10,000 for the year, Treasurer Ruth Jones said the decrease results from less money needed for new equipment this year over last year.

The commissioners said the new budget would probably result in decreased tax mill levies, partly because of the modest increases in the size of the budgets approved, partially because of the increased assessed valuation in the county and partly because the assessment ratio will rise one quarter of one per cent this year.

State law requires that the county assess property taxes at 20 per cent of assessed valuation by 1982, and the result will be a one quarter of one per cent increase in the rate this year over last, bringing the rate to 16 per cent.

The tentative budget will operate the county until a final budget can be adopted, which state law requires to be completed by the second Monday in February.

School audit shows deficit

RUPERT — A recent audit of the Mindoka School District that showed a $51,601 deficit was termed "very good news" by Supl. Dr. Darrell Hatfield.

The opinion was prompted by the fact that the district was $252,527 in the red last year.

Hatfield said the $200,000 deficit reduction was reported by Mrs. Helen Dickinson, a certified public accountant who checked the books and met with Mindoka trustees Monday night.

The decrease "was well beyond the expectations of everyone," he added.

Mrs. Dickinson wrote in her audit report, "The significant increase in cash and fund balance... has been due to careful administration, strict budget observance and strong financial responsibility."

"A lot of belt-tightening was done and hopefully no program was damaged seriously with a one-year holdback on funds," the superintendent said.

The trustees announced last year that every effort would be made to lower the deficit and the purse strings would be pulled as tight as possible in the process.

Hatfield offered a detailed explanation of the big deficit cutback. Although the school district received less revenue than expected during the past few years, income exceeded expectations last year by $126,988.

The extra money was generated by an influx of approximately 200 students in the 1971-72 academic year.

"Without these students we would have had about $23,000 less revenues than budgeted for," Hatfield said. The added students brought in nearly $70,000 from the state foundation program through concurrent funding eligibility.

The increased student load also qualified the district for a three mill emergency levy which brought in approximately $60,000. A $27,000 rebate was received for the 1970-71 driver education program.

A contingency fund of $60,000, budgeted for the 1971-72 school year was also applied toward the deficit. Another $13,857 was not expended from that budget.

Blaine sets budget drop

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

HAILEY — A budget drop of about $114,200 over 1972 has been proposed by the Blaine County commissioners.

The 1973 tentative budget of $808,397 constitutes about 12.4 per cent decrease over last year's $822,597.

However, the 1972 budget included a $248,000 allocation for the new jail, the county was required to budget for the full amount, but the majority of the funds were reimbursed by state and federal grants.

About $40,000 of this year's tentative budget will be covered by revenue sharing funds.

The figure includes $20,000 for a tandem axle truck for summer road work, designated in the road and bridge fund.

A $30,000 fund was established this year, for final costs on the new county jail, with about $10,000 of the figure reimbursable by law enforcement planning commission funds.

The new budget category will be held as a contingency fund and may or may not be used during the year.

Commission chairman C. W. (Andy) Gardner said "excessive county growth" was creating extra work loads and burdens on county services and agencies.

This year's tentative budget was designed to "adequately take care of the separate offices and organizations within the county and at the same time be equitable and fair with the taxpayers," Gardner said.

The chairman said revenue sharing funds will be used, when possible, for capital improvements. With the county's increased assessed valuation no mill levy increases are anticipated, he said.

A hearing on the proposed budget will be conducted Feb. 12. At that time the commissioners may lower, but not increase, the budget.

Most overall increases in the tentative budget stem from about 5.5 per cent cost of living increase for deputy office clerks.

As set in April, salaries for the treasurer, clerk and assessor were raised from the present $660 per month to $675 per month.

The sheriff's salary was raised from the present $700 per month to $800 per month.

Planned revenue sharing purchases, which are required to be included in the budget, showed as on-paper increases in the road and bridge and solid waste funds.

Road and bridge was increased from last year's $223,000 to a tentative $252,051.

About $50,000 was allocated as the county's share on a new East Fork Bridge as compared to last year's allocation of about $38,000 for the new Bullion Bridge.

The need for more personnel was reflected in the solid waste budget, rising from last year's $14,800 to a tentative $34,313.

Salary provisions were upped $6,500 this year to fund an additional fulltime attendant-guard at the Ohio Gulch landfill and parttime personnel at the

Minidoka tax levies stable

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Minidoka County's proposed 1973 budget shows current expenses that nearly double the 1972 total, but residents may see a reduction in tax levies.

"Even though the budget appears to be much, much higher, it is because matching federal funds and revenue sharing are involved," county clerk August Bethke said.

"The tax levies will be no higher than they were last year," he added.

County commission chairman Wayne Hollenbeck was even more optimistic about the chances for tax relief. "I believe our levies will be a little less. As far as the taxpayer is concerned, it looks like he will pay a little less for county government operations."

Current expenses total $401,766 in the 1973 temporary budget, as compared to $453,198 last year.

The proposed budget shows its biggest jump in the building and ground appropriation. The figure is set at $430,500, nearly four times the 1972 amount of $119,700.

But contained in the buildings and grounds amount are $123,000 in federal matching funds for construction of the city-county law enforcement building and $175,000 in revenue sharing funds.

Some of the revenue sharing money may be used to add wings on the county courthouse, an improvement that Hollenbeck advocated recently.

The general items appropriation shows a decrease to $662,500 from $674,400 last year and it includes $8,000 in matching funds for radio equipment in the law enforcement building.

Other proposed current expense figures include (the 1972 amounts are in parentheses): sheriff, $59,422 ($47,936); clerk, auditor and recorder, $48,705; assessor, $34,312 ($27,395); magistrate court, $34,610 ($35,140); county agent, $15,190 ($14,312); commissioners, $13,900 ($14,000); coroner, $3,000 ($2,900); district court, $13,135 ($10,590); janitor, $8,800 ($7,600); jail, $4,500 ($4,500); zoning, $10,530 ($6,785); civil defense, $2,050 ($2,070); veteran's service officer, $4,340 ($4,210) and public defender, $8,500 ($7,500).

Bethke said the budget includes a pay increase of at least 5.5 per cent for county employees. The pay raises will not result in mill levy boosts due to an increase in the county's assessed valuation, he said.

Other budget categories include (1972 amounts in parentheses): fire control, $21,870 ($21,700); fair board, $34,190 ($37,455); health, $40,860 ($29,313); hospital bond, $28,000 ($29,000); junior college, $30,000 (same); hospital maintenance, $36,000 (same); parks and recreation, $11,263 ($11,606); revaluation, $14,712 ($14,302); pest control, $200 (same); ambulance, $6,500 ($7,200); sanitary landfill, $51,117 ($37,490); and hospital general, $54,000 ($54,000).

The health and sanitary landfill departments show a large increase because of the inclusion of revenue sharing money in these areas, Bethke said.

Sanitary fill budget will have $25,000 in revenue sharing money and the health category will have $13,000 in additional money from revenue sharing.

The general schools' figure, $187,552 in 1972 will be added in February when it is announced by the state board of education, Bethke said.

County appropriation for the airport authority was recently certified at $10,553, a drop from last year's $11,500.

Cassia drafts budget

BURLEY — Cassia County Clerk Frank Kearns said today the county commissioners have completed a 1973 tentative budget and figures will be published Monday or Tuesday.

The tentative figures will serve as a guideline for the final 1973 budget to be drafted in February. Hearings will be conducted to allow public comment on the proposed budget. The figures can be lowered on the basis of public sentiment, but they cannot be raised.

County Clerk Frank Kearns said the temporary budget should be completed by Monday or Tuesday, whichever time it will be published locally.

The budget will show increased appropriations for nearly every area of county funding according to Commissioner Weldon Beck. He said there will not be an across-the-board percentage pay increase for county employees.

Rather, the lower pay scales will receive a proportionately larger increase than the higher salaries, he said, in an effort to raise the average salary of county workers and reduce the salary span between the highest and lowest paid employees.

Beck mentioned that county payments to the public defender Herman Bedke and Pros. Atty. Gordon Nielson will definitely be increased.

Meet set

JEROME — The steering committee of the Jerome County Planning Council will meet at 8 p.m. tonight at the home of chairman Tom Mahan.

The meeting will be for the purpose of appointing members to the city planning committee which will assist the Jerome City Council in its planning for the orderly development of the town.

Kimberly aides hear reports

By JOCELYN CLOWARD
Times-News Writer

KIMBERLY — Traffic accidents increased 140 per cent in Kimberly during 1972 as compared to 1971 figures.

The statistics were part of a report given by Police Chief James Campbell at the Tuesday night meeting of the City Council.

Campbell also reported an increase of 60 per cent in criminal offenses and 71 per cent in misdemeanor citations. "This reflects the rapid growth of Kimberly," Campbell said. He submitted his annual budget request for $26,000, an increase of $3,318 from last year.

Councilmen also heard Joe Haynes, JUB Engineers, Twin Falls, report that the proposed joining of Kimberly sewer lines with those of Twin Falls is "in the final stages of agreement."

The council gave Haynes approval to continue negotiations with the Twin Falls City Council and to submit Environmental Protection Agency and Idaho State Health Department forms for fund application.

A second revenue sharing check was received. Attorney William J. Langley, Twin Falls, advised the council to put the check in the interim budget, which was adopted by the council by use of an interim appropriation ordinance. The council agreed to abide by Langley's advice.

Edythe Widmer, city clerk, requested permission to charge off uncollectable bills. The council then voted to offer the bills to a collection agency on a percentage basis.

"We need to do our duty by the taxpayers who do pay their bills," Mayor Von-Nebecker said.

Langley was also instructed to let bids for a tractor and loader for city use. Mrs. Widmer read a letter from Ageless Senior Citizen Inc. requesting a $500 contribution for a bus for senior citizens who are without means of transportation.

Langley advised the council that under the Idaho Code, such a contribution would be illegal. The council then voted against the request.

George Neuman, recreation department, submitted a request, which was agreed to by the council, for a budget of $800, the same as for 1972.

$5,300 for a secretary who will also serve as a deputy administrator.

As present administrator David Vhay will spend more time on planning, a fund of $2,000 was set up for planning salaries and supplies.

Prior to the budget hearing the commissioners will meet with the Blaine County Hospital board and the hospital administrator to review the county's hospital budget. Presently the budget is set at a tentative $38,408, compared to $28,000 last year.

This year several funds erroneously placed in various budget categories were transferred to the special budget, contributing to an increase from last year's $46,710 to a tentative $71,303.

The fund covers allocations for insurance, legal publications, costs, retirement funds and tuition fees.

Additional costs were added this year including $4,800 for architectural services on the jail; $7,800 for surveying fees for plating and rearviewing, and $842 for Tulsa arrest insurance.

TF couple asks damages Ignored against Weed Bureau

CAA retains director

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls couple has filed a $1,500 damage suit against the Twin Falls County Weed Bureau and others.

Jose Bengochea and Melva Gayle Bengochea, husband and wife, claim that in the summer of 1971 the Weed Bureau sprayed a caustic chemical on land on an adjoining farm and that the spray drifted upon a bean crop and sheep on their property, causing damage to the bean crop and injury to the sheep.

Named as defendants in addition to the Weed Bureau are Wallace Savage, supervisor of the Weed Bureau; Twin Falls County William Chancey, William Wiseman and Merle Leonard, commissioners; and U.S.F. and G., an insurance company.

The Bengocheas allege that the drifting spray was a result of negligence on the part of the Weed Bureau. They contend that as a result of that alleged negligence they lost Top Crop beans and Code 55 beans, plus six head of sheep and 12 sick lambs, the lambs requiring $60 in medicine. The Bengocheas also claim that the insurance agent for the county and members of the county commission reneged on promises to settle the matter out of court.

They state that if their claim against the Weed Bureau and the county commissioners is barred by reason of no claim, then the claim is against U.S.F. and G. Insurance, as the insurance company originally caused them, they contend, to believe that court action would not be necessary.

BOISE — US Highway 93, serving central Idaho, lacks attention from Idaho officials, Rep. E. V. McEwan, R-Ketchum, said Wednesday.

McEwan said Gov. Cecil D. Andrus commented at length on improvements for US 93 in his State of the State message to the Idaho Legislature Monday, but "completely ignored US 93 again this year."

This route serves the Twin Falls and Ketchum areas, which are one of the fastest growing in Idaho, McEwan said. "But little or no money is being spent and no contracts are in process for repair and improvement of that highway," he said.

BOISE — The South Central Community Action Agency turned down a resignation offer from its board chairman and ousted a board member in action here Tuesday.

Royal Slotten, the chairman for the past two years, offered to resign "to allow the board to elect a new chairman."

His action was in keeping with federal orders that the tri-county anti-poverty agency declare "open bidding" in filling its staff positions.

All staff workers were fired and nine were rehired in restructuring the agency positions.

Since the orders, issued by regional Office of Economic Opportunity officials, did not formally pertain to volunteer board members, Slotten's gesture also constituted a request for a vote of confidence.

Although the board members expressed complete support of Slotten in turning down his resignation, Mrs. Gene Reichard said he should stay on for practical purposes.

An election of board officers is scheduled for February and Slotten will not be eligible, according to agency bylaws, which limit the holding of the post by one person to two consecutive one-year terms.

A board member representing low income people in Twin Falls County was replaced at the request of the organization which appointed him to the position.

Robert Salinas lost his post after Gary Kreft, chairman of the Community Improvement Association charged him with poor attendance and representation.

"We are asking that you, the board, enforce your bylaws," Kreft said. The agency's rules, call for dismissal after two excused meeting absences.

Slotten refused to order the removal, explaining that Salinas had called him last spring and had asked to be excused from the meetings for an extended period because of nighttime employment.

Salinas called again in December and said he would start attending, Slotten said. The matter was settled when the board agreed the CIA, having selected Salinas, could oust him in favor of another member.

Roy Weatherbee, a CIA alternate to the board, was named as the replacement.

In other action, the board heard a report from the reorganization committee Chairman Harold Blauer outlined the proposed committee duties and recommended that the agency's bylaws be amended to meet OEO requirements for selection of tri-county board members from the private sectors of the counties.

Under present policy each county elects two private sector members at a public meeting from those in attendance.

The new requirement calls for the private members to be selected from two county organizations designated by the low income and elected official board members.

Slotten was informed by Slotten that the agency's probation has been extended to Jan. 26 for the agency compliance with project plans for this year.

confirmed a contract with Robert LaCroix, formerly of the Idaho OEO, for technical assistance in developing CAA strategies and long-term anti-poverty programs.

Shoshone plans Scout breakfast

SHOSHONE — Plans for the annual Father and Scout breakfast were made Tuesday by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce.

Meeting in the Manhattan Cafe, the chamber voted to serve the breakfast in the Lincoln school 6:30 a.m. Feb. 11. Douglas Hansen is general chairman for the event.

New chamber president, Reid Newby, appointed Robert Miller, Ray Silvers and Francis Bergin to the membership committee. Dennie Everett will serve on the notification committee.

Following a report by Harrell Thorne, chairman of the chamber Christmas decorating contest, the group voted to establish a rule to prevent the same individual winning the top prizes in consecutive years, with the identical exhibit.

Meeting with the chamber were representatives of the new owners of the Lincoln County Journal. Blake Patterson, Gordon Glassmann, Alan Mencher, and Mrs. Robert Gaskill, Shoshone.

They explained new ownership and policies for the publication.

State league meet opening in Nampa

NAMPA — Legislative action plans will be taken up by the state board of the League of Women Voters of Idaho here today through Saturday.

Attending from the Magic Valley are Mrs. Marjorie Slotten and Aylene Brown, both Twin Falls.

Mrs. Joy Buersmeyer, Boise, state president, said proposed legislation dealing with education, human resources, housing, environmental quality and constitutional revision will be discussed in relation to the league's positions on those matters.

The board will discuss proposed education bills prepared by the ad hoc committee of the Idaho Department of Education dealing with distribution of funds, district organization and funding levels.

Also planned is an analysis of the league's effort to achieve 90 per cent registration of eligible voters in Idaho prior to the 1972 election.

Mrs. Slotten, voting rights chairman for the league, said "The voter participation in Idaho in November was outstanding, with the official abstract showing 88 per cent of the eligible voters registered and 80.1 per cent of those registered actually cast ballots."

Plant visited on zone plans

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County commissioners visited a rendering plant Tuesday that is requesting a zoning change to install a baling operation.

Following the visit, made by all three of the commissioners, Chairman William Chancey indicated the county's decision on whether to grant CUI International's request would hinge on whether the plant gained approval from state and federal agencies.

At a public hearing held over a month ago to discuss the requested rezoning, area residents said the current operation at CUI International, formerly Idaho Hide and Tallow Co., was not meeting pollution standards.

The commissioners put off their decision on the request at the meeting until Jan. 2.

Zoning administrator Ed Woods said at the time of the public hearing that CUI's request for rezoning from Industrial Management 1 to Industrial Management 2 implied a nuisance factor in the operation of the plant.

A CUI executive told the commissioners at the public hearing in December that the installation of the baling project would include freezers which could eliminate some of the odors from the area surrounding the plant.

gun theft probed

FILER — Chief of Police Roger Hinton, Filer, said Wednesday the 12 guns taken from the Junior Rifle Club building in Filer sometime prior to Monday night represent nearly $1,000 loss.

He said the theft included nine guns owned by the club and valued at $50 to $75 each and two special rifles and one pistol, valued at about $200 each owned by the club's instructor Ralph Bean.

One of the guns was a rare 37 Remington, Hinton said.

In addition, about 1,200 rounds of ammunition, mostly 22 shells, were taken by the burglars.

was noted at the trustee meeting Monday night.

Supt. Kenneth Black was rehired on a three-year contract, and school trustees approved an industrial arts project proposed by instructor Jack Martin for students to build a model house 8 foot by 8 foot this spring.

Opinions sought

HAGERMAN — A questionnaire will be sent to all Hagerman school patrons for their views on the construction of a new grade school. It was announced Wednesday.

Dancing, badminton class set

TWIN FALLS — Badminton and square dancing classes will be opening at the YMCA beginning this week.

The badminton class, for both men and women, opens tonight at 7:30 p.m. with persons interested in signing up for the class asked to attend the first session. Regular play begins Jan. 17.

Another class begins Friday at 7:30 p.m. for persons interested in square dancing. Classes continue each Friday with Wilford Allison, Jerome, as caller.

Persons interested in learning to square dance or in learning more advanced and different steps are asked to attend the first class session for registration.

Additional information is available from the Y, 175½ Elizabeth Blvd., or by calling 733-4384.

Luncheon held by TF club

TWIN FALLS — Dorothy Prochnow said Mrs. Sam Porter and Mrs. Alice Prescott arranged the table decorations for the annual luncheon meeting of the Magic Valley Saintpaulia Club.

The meeting was at the Holiday Inn. All officers and committee chairmen were re-installed. Roll call was answered with New Year's resolutions. Dues were paid.

Games were played and Mrs. Prescott received a birthday anniversary gift from her secret pal.

Speaker set

TWIN FALLS — John G. Schmitz, 1972 American Party presidential candidate, will speak in Idaho Falls Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Schmitz, a former US representative, will appear at the civic auditorium at the high school. His subject will be "Feel It Like It Is."

Anyone wishing transportation or further information may call 733-4299.

Money lost

TWIN FALLS — According to Twin Falls Police reports, Kirt Hellesen recovered a lost wallet from the Orpheum Theater Tuesday and found $100 in cash missing.

Hellesen, Twin Falls, told police he lost the wallet in the Orpheum Monday night. He called the manager of the theater Tuesday and learned the wallet had been found by janitors.

When he went to pick it up, he found the cash had been reposed.

Payment asked in suit

TWIN FALLS — L. James Koutrak, as trustee in bankruptcy of C.H. Barth Co., Inc., has filed a suit in P.O. District Court seeking $15,000 plus costs, interests and fees.

The suit names as defendants Gene Glick and Grace Glick, husband and wife.

The suit calls for payment on a promissory note the Glicks allegedly executed payable to C.H. Barth Co. prior to the time the firm went bankrupt.

Social planned by group

TWIN FALLS — The Xi Alpha Tau met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Dick Sayers.

Mrs. Darrell Burnett conducted the meeting and Mrs. Neil Allen presented a lesson on civic improvement.

A social for the month was planned for members and husbands. A bowling party followed by pizza was set for Jan. 20.

Mrs. Murray Bates introduced a guest, Mrs. Darryl Bates.

The Valentine Dance was discussed and so was Founder's Day in April.

Beverly Richardson won the gift from the estate.

The next meeting is Jan. 23 at the home of Miss Richardson. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sayers and co-hostess Sandy Togan.

Mrs. Stoddard speaks to Women of Moose

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Merle Stoddard of the Easter Seal Center was guest speaker at a Tuesday evening meeting of the Women of the Moose.

She was introduced by Mrs. Ruby Bohrn, child care chairman for the organization.

Mrs. Stoddard, who will be teaching a class about "Prevention of Learning Disabilities" at the College of Southern Idaho beginning Jan. 17, spoke about helping children who have trouble developing their natural abilities in hearing, speaking, moving and learning.

Mrs. Dick Simmons and Mrs. Charles Reeves were enrolled as new members.

Minico, Bruins to test Highland

The hyphenated word of the week for Magic Valley's two Southern Idaho Conference members, Twin Falls and Minico, is Byron in the Woods, leader of a dangerous pack of Highland Bruins and the results of those two meetings will have a major influence on the eventual conference champion.

Minico kicks it off tonight by hosting the Bruins while Twin Falls draws the more difficult task of trying to tame Highland in Pocatello. But Minico will get its turn at that later in the year, too.

On Friday night, Twin Falls will be at Idaho Falls while Saturday evening Minico entertains Pocatello. Neither can overlook those two foes.

But Highland is a key situation. Twin Falls, Minico and Highland still have to play five games among themselves and that makes it tough to stay in the tie with Borah, heavily favored in the east, and Capital—although those who are slated to play Thursday night.

In the Woods, the SIC leading scorer by average now and the defending champion, keys almost everything Highland does. He is too quick to stop consistently one-on-one. And he shoots often and well enough that he will get his points.

The key seems to be that Byron has developed into a fine assist man and stopping the auxiliary points he provides would bring Highland's 70-point per game average into a beatable realm. But that too is easier said than done.

Basically, Highland isn't an overpowering team physically. But it has fine mobility and possesses good shooters. Also, Coach Ron Kress has his Bruins in a pressure defense most of the time.

Both Twin Falls and Minico have thus far shown they have guards enough to beat downcourt pressure. Both will be taller, though not a great deal except at center.

And in both games, it will be the one-two (Minico-Twin Falls) defensive teams in the conference against the SIC's best scoring team.

Idaho Falls is more a ball control team this season with a heavier emphasis on defense. Twin Falls will be looking at one of the many fine junior guards around in Dale Baldwin, who is averaging 13.0 per game and ranks in the top 10 in field goal and free throw shooting.

Loss Nickerson leads the Tigers on the boards, inside defense and shooting foul shots.

In Pocatello Minico faces an up and down team that has scored extremely well and followed up with a poor shooting night.

It's early season rebounding death has been commented by the return of 6-6 Curt Winland, who also is scoring in double figures.

Greg Hess is the top Indian scorer, but also its poorest shooter with a 26 per cent average.

The Indians will be able to give Minico trouble on the boards but the Spartan defense will test Pocatello's ball-moving ability.

Researcher hits artificial turf

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (UPI) — A research project by the physician of the West Virginia University athletic teams Wednesday disputed a claim by the maker of an artificial football surface that knee and ankle injuries are reduced by its use.

Dr. K. Douglas Bowers Jr., Morgantown, said he compiled statistics on the number of such injuries before and after the school installed artificial Astro Turf, produced by the Monsanto Co.

Bowers, in a paper printed in the January issue of the West Virginia Medical Journal, compiled his statistics from the spring of 1967 through the spring of last year.

West Virginia installed the turf during the summer of 1969.

According to Bowers, Monsanto published a report in April, 1968, claiming up to an 80 per cent reduction in football knee and ankle injuries through the use of its Astro Turf as compared to grass.

"Their explanation for the claimed reduction was that on Astro Turf, cleats do not penetrate the surface, thus eliminating foot lock and thereby preventing transmission of stress to ankle and knee," Bowers said.

In his article, however, Bowers said:

"The conversion to artificial turf of Mountaineer Field has not resulted in a significant decrease in the number of knee and ankle injuries at WVU. Knee injuries occurring on artificial turf at Mountaineer Field have been as severe, if not more so, than those which occurred on the old natural surface. Factors such as friction and impact absorption may play an important role in the production of injuries on Astro Turf. New problems have been created with the use of Astro Turf."

Bowers said more research needs to be done before any further claims about the superiority of artificial playing surfaces are made.

Giants draft Nelson

Kevin Nelson, a graduate of Twin Falls High School last spring and currently on a baseball scholarship at College of Southern Idaho, was drafted Wednesday by the San Francisco Giants.

Nelson, who pitches, plays outfield and first base, was listed as a pitcher by the Giants in announcing his name in the third round of the annual free agent draft.

However, Dick Wilson, who spent three summers in Twin Falls as manager of the Magic Valley Cowboys and scouted Nelson for the Giants, never ruled out the youngster's versatility. Nelson shows power and hits for average and could be used in several places.

The other Idahoan selected in Wednesday's draft was Jeff Hill, an outfielder from Lewiston, by Los Angeles.

Twins owner to fight for pinch hitter rule

CHICAGO (UPI) — Minnesota Twins owner Calvin Griffith said he is "going to fight like hell" for passage of the designated pinch hitter rule when he and other major league baseball owners assemble today and Friday in emergency session.

Griffith's strong sentiments appear to be shared by less than a majority of his peers; a quick sampling around the league revealed. Whatever support exists for the designated pinch hitter proposal is mainly in the American League, where it originated.

And even there it seems to hinge upon who has the best pinch hitters.

"I can see why Calvin Griffith would like the pinch hitter rule voted in," said General Manager Dick O'Connell of the Boston Red Sox. "Maybe such a change would be to the advantage of some teams now. Tony Oliva can't play every day for Griffith, and I'd like to have him as a designated pinch hitter, too."

The owners also will vote on a proposal for interleague play. But this, the sampling showed, has much less chance of being adopted, if only for the practical reason that most clubs already have printed tickets and announced their home schedules. The owners are unwilling to go the expense and fuss of a major revision.

Also on the agenda and likely to be assigned the most pressing priority is the pocket-book issue of how to deal with expected new demands from Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association.

The owners are expected to go to great lengths to prevent a repetition of last season, when a 13-day players' strike cost them about $175,000 each.

Phillies name Bannister No. 1

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies kicked off the regular phase of baseball's free agent winter draft Wednesday by selecting shortstop Alan Bannister of Arizona State University.

Bannister, 21-year-old infielder from Buena Park, Calif., was previously picked by the California Angels after graduating high school in 1969, but he elected to gain his education rather than play pro baseball at that time.

The 24 "teams" selected in inverse order of finish with the world champion Oakland Athletics selecting last.

The Texas Rangers picked infielder Bradley Falk of Hagerstown, Md., and the San Diego Padres decided on David Wehrmeister of Lagrange, Ill.

A total of 12 pitchers were selected in the opening round with infielders making the next strong move.

The Milwaukee Brewers, picking fourth, went after the right to sign outfielder Michael Robinson, Kirkland, Wash; the San Francisco Giants picked John Andrews, a shortstop from Lincoln, Ill; the Cleveland Indians elected to go for pitcher James McCutchen from the University of Texas, and the Montreal Expos drew pitcher Thomas Ford of Detroit.

California picked eighth and selected Randy Smith, a pitcher from Three Rivers Junior College, the Atlanta Braves named pitcher Michael Kirkpatrick of Bucks County (Pa.) Community College; the Kansas City Royals went after pitcher Martin Branch of San Diego, Calif; the St. Louis Cardinals said they were negotiating with Larry Storti, a second baseman from Long Beach, Calif., and the Minnesota Twins picked Joe Honz, an outfielder from Bridgeport, W. Va.

The New York Mets, picking 11th, took pitcher Jimmy Johnson from the University of Arkansas; the Yankees picked catcher Greg Kane, the Chicago Cubs went for Wayne Denson, a third baseman, the Baltimore Orioles asked for outfielder Cleve Reed from Lancaster, Calif., and the Los Angeles Dodgers took Samuel Moore, a pitcher from Jackson, Miss.

Seven of the next nine players selected were pitchers. The Boston Red Sox went for Lloyd Thompson, a third baseman from Albuquerque, N. M.; the Houston Astros selected Bob Nickeson, the Detroit Tigers chose Steve Trella, a pitcher from Anaheim, Calif; the Cincinnati Reds drew Gary Lucas, a pitcher from Riverside, Calif., the Chicago-White Sox named Elmer Velverton, a pitcher from Wilmington, N.C.

The Pittsburgh Pirates picked Paul Nelson, a pitcher from Sacramento (Calif.) City College, and Oakland chose Mike Norris, a pitcher from San Francisco.

Idaho St. JV's lose Cory Kidd

POCATELLO — The Idaho State JV basketball team starts the 1973 portion of its season on Saturday against Brigham Young's freshmen.

The task isn't made any easier for the young Bengals by the loss of the team's leading scorer, forward Cory Kidd.

Kidd, who was averaging 12 points a game and 9.5 rebounds, elected during the Christmas holidays to leave school on an LDS mission.

Coach Phil de la Porte will have a tough time figuring out a starting lineup that doesn't have Kidd in it.

The center will be Lon Frazier (11.5 ppg) and the other forward will be Frank Krahn (9.0). At guards may be Matt Strannigan (10.3) and Rick Cateight (11.3).

Strannigan could move to forward with Dergritius Pye (7.0) filling the vacancy at guard. Or any one of Greg Utley (1.5), Kendal Meier (3.0), or Dave Welch (8.8) could play forward.

The Milwaukee Brewers, picking fourth, went after the right to sign outfielder Michael Robinson, Kirkland, Wash; the San Francisco Giants picked John Andrews, a shortstop from Lincoln, Ill; the Cleveland Indians elected to go for pitcher James McCutchen from the University of Texas, and the Montreal Expos drew pitcher Thomas Ford of Detroit.

California picked eighth and selected Randy Smith, a pitcher from Three Rivers Junior College, the Atlanta Braves

Sonics fire Nissalke, lose under new coach

By United Press International

Following the theory it's easier to fire the coach rather than the players, the Seattle SuperSonics find themselves with a new coach today and another loss on their record.

The Sonics, who bounced Tom Nissalke and replaced him with assistant Bucky Buckwalter Wednesday, showed no noticeable improvement in their play a few hours later when they dropped a 96-88 decision to Baltimore. Seattle, after being held to 30 points in the first half, did manage to overcome a 23-point deficit and tie the game with 5 1/2 minutes left to play. However, Baltimore regained its composure and outscored the Sonics, 14-4, in the next four minutes to hand Seattle its 33rd loss in 46 games.

Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association, Kansas City-Omaha edged Chicago, 102-100; Phoenix nipped Detroit, 123-121; Boston ripped Houston, 128-107, and Los Angeles routed Philadelphia, 120-96.

Mike Riordan scored 20 points and Phil Chenier and Wes Unseld tallied 18 each for Baltimore which increased its Central Division lead to two games over Atlanta. Spencer Haywood's 17 points paced the feeble Sonic offense.

Nate Archibald, who scored 52 points Tuesday night in a losing effort against New York, connected for 37 to lead Kansas City-Omaha past Chicago. Four of Archibald's points came on a pair of twisting layups in the final two minutes as the Kings won for the second time in the last 11 games. Bob Love's 36 points topped Chicago.

Charlie Scott poured in 37 points, including a club record 20 in the first quarter, to help Phoenix beat Detroit.

New Mexico State accepts suspension

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — New Mexico State University Athletic Director Lou Henson said Wednesday the school accepted a two-year probation from the NCAA but would appeal the suspensions of two players, including high-scoring John Williamson.

The NCAA announced earlier Wednesday that New Mexico State was one of four schools being placed on probation. The ruling bars the school from post-season basketball competition and television appearances.

The NCAA said basketball players Williamson and 7-foot Roland Grant were paid more than $2,500 through a representative of the school's athletic interests in bonuses and advances for jobs they didn't perform.

"We accept the two-year probation," Henson said. "But we are going to appeal the case of Grant and Williamson on the grounds that they did not do anything knowingly and therefore should not be held responsible."

Henson is also head basketball coach at NMSU.

According to the NCAA's ruling, Henson said, the players could stay at school on scholarships, but could not play basketball at New Mexico State or any other NCAA major college school.

Rentzel arrested for drugs

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lance Rentzel, Los Angeles Rams football player previously found guilty of indecent exposure, was arrested Wednesday on charges of possessing marijuana for sale.

Rentzel was taken into custody by narcotics detectives at the football player's Hollywood home, police said.

The arresting officers, armed with a search warrant, found "half a pound of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia," detectives said. Rentzel was jailed on a charge of possession of marijuana for sale and freed several hours later on $5,000 bail, police said.

Vandals meet two non-league foes

MOSCOW — The Idaho Vandals will take time out from their Big Sky Conference schedule to face three non-league foes starting tonight.

The University of Portland will provide the first opposition when they invade Memorial Gymnasium for a 7:30 p.m. contest. The Idaho freshmen will return to action for the first time since before Christmas for a 5:20 p.m. preliminary game, meeting the strong North Idaho College Cardinals.

The Vandals will split in their weekend series of conference games, power on the conference favorite, Idaho State, 97-55 on Friday and then come back for an impressive 72-67 win over Boise State on Saturday.

"We face three tough non-league foes in a row this week and on the weekend. The first one, the Portland Pilts, have a well disciplined team with some fine talent. Ric Parks is currently leading them in scoring with a 15.2 average.

However, his running mate at guard, Floyd Banks, has played in one less game and has 140 points and a 16.4 scoring average. Up front, Doug Lauricella, a 6'9" sophomore, has been improving and has a 9.5 scoring average, while Quentin Braxton, a 7'7" sophomore who just became eligible, has worked into the starting lineup as a starting forward," Anderson said.

Following the Thursday game at Moscow, the Vandals will face Seattle Pacific at Seattle on Saturday and Puget Sound at Tacoma on Monday.

Club offers Forman $1.5 million

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Beehive Boxing Club announced Wednesday it will offer George Forman $1.5 million to defend his heavyweight title against Muhammad Ali here, if he succeeds in beating undefeated champion Joe Frazier in Jamaica Jan. 22.

Jim Carroll, club promoter said, "We are prepared to offer a guarantee of $1.5 million to the victor of the fight. It is not proceeds, whichever is greater, if he will defend his heavyweight championship against Ali this year."

Carroll said he is negotiating with the 15,000 seat Salt Palace as the site of the proposed fight.

CSI tops Utah on fast break

BY LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

College of Southern Idaho, fielded a tireless and fast break Wednesday night and ran off an 80-66 victory over University of Utah freshmen.

The Eagles now travel to Ricks Saturday night for the first of two games that will decide which of the two gets the independent berth in the regional tournament.

Coach Jerry Hall got some bad news in the middle of Wednesday night's game when steady Willie Williams became ill and had to leave the floor.

The first diagnosis was putting a question mark on Williams' participation in the "must" Ricks battle.

CSI was unable to shake the lethargy first displayed Tuesday night against wireless TVCC and Coach Hale made a wholesale switch early in the first half. The bench kept the Eagles up a little.

But in the second half the first line still could do no better than an even match until Sobers jerked off three straight rebounds and turned them into fast breaks and Fryson stole a pair.

Fryson wound up the break most of the time, hitting 14 of his 26 points in the final eight minutes.

Utah had a pair of sharpshooters in Doug Terry, who gunned the Utes up 6-0 at the outset, and Dean Porter, who wound up with 26 points.

After Terry's early assault, CSI was behind for the first seven minutes. Trailing 10-7, Sobers and Carl Thompson sparked a sudden surge that saw the Eagles hit 14 straight points and boom into a 21-10 lead.

But in the closing 1:40, Utah hit eight points and cut the halftime deficit to 33-29.

CSI stayed just ahead through the first three minutes of the second half but then Porter got hot and, with 13:42 left, gave Utah the lead at 43-41. The Utes led it 45-43 before Sobers and Fryson shoved CSI ahead.

After Porter tied it at 47-all, Sobers hit three points and the Eagles led for good. However, Terry's shot seconds later pulled Utah back to within one.

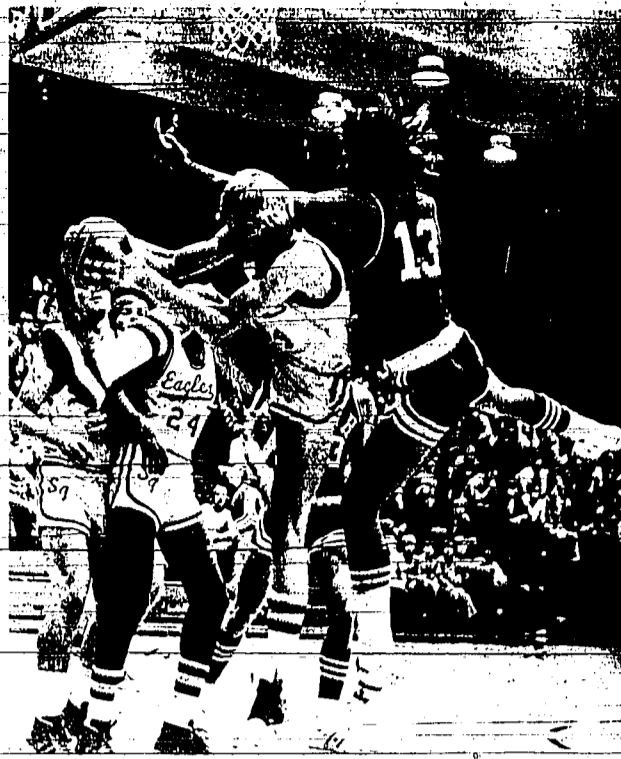

Utah then went to a zone defense and Thompson and Vince Volnutt scored inside.

After Weyneth Anderson replied for Utah, CSI started running. Fryson hit twice and Williams once on a steal, and at that point left the game.

Two buckets by Sobers made it 68-55 and after a Terry goal, Sobers hit once and Fryson three straight times to explode it to 76-57 and the Eagles coasted home.

22 MV games scheduled

Meetings of undefeated teams in Magic Valley's two A-1 conferences seem to capture the spotlight for this weekend's 22-game high school schedule.

Oakley, undefeated for the year, and Murlough, unbeaten in loop play, meeting in a Magic Valley Conference Tussle with sole possession of the league lead riding on the outcome.

On the northside, the mauler is Cassia County at Gooding State, although undefeated Richfield will be at Dietrich and can't afford to look past the Blue Devils.

The Burley Bobcats, one down in the EC, faces a big game in Idaho Falls, playing the highly-regarded Bonanza Bees. Also leaving the district will be Bliss, the Bears going to Rimrock for a northside meeting of wireless clubs.

The Big Six Conference comes in for its full slate of the year. Defending champion Gooding will be at Shoshone for a battle, the two having lost only three games between them.

Wood River, still running well with only one defeat, will be at Glens Ferry in what will be a chess match between coaches. Filer travels to Wendell where the Trojans boast two big wins last week and might be ready to break all expectations.

Castelford and the Vikings get together at Valley for a non-league go, the only one of the night.

In the Magic Valley league, Hausen, hoping its top rebounder-scorer Byron Stanger is off the flu-list, will be at Declo.

Hagerman will be at Raff River, the Trojans also coming off a couple of good showings and victories.

On Saturday night, the Buhl Indians, still having trouble with the one-quarter swoosh, will be at Jerome where the Tigers, coming off that home win over Gooding, might be showing signs of picking up the promise made by Coach Billy C. Emerson earlier in the year.

Gooding, within that victory over Jerome of having a solid shot at a third SCIC title, puts those title hopes on the line at Wood River. Filer will be home to non-league and snakebit Kimberly.

In the Little Five Conference, Glens Ferry will invade Valley while Shoshone goes to Wendell, the latter one being the game of prominence at the moment as both teams are undefeated.

Gooding State will travel to Carey while Rimrock comes into the area to play the Tigers at Richfield. Dietrich will be at Bliss.

Two NCAA schools get basketball suspension

CHICAGO (UPI) — The NCAA placed four schools including New Mexico State and Western Kentucky on probation Wednesday but deferred action on the controversial case of Southwestern Louisiana.

New Mexico State and Western Kentucky each was placed on two-year probation in basketball competition for violations involving recruiting and illegal cash payments to athletes.

Centenary College of Shreveport, La., was put on indefinite probation in all sports for violation of the NCAA's 1.6 rule and Howard University of Washington, D.C., was placed on a one-year probation for using ineligible players on its soccer team and stripped of its

Wilt, West named on All-Stars

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West of the champion Los Angeles Lakers were named Wednesday to play in their 13th National Basketball Association All-Star at Chicago, Jan. 23.

Little Nalo Archibald, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings brilliant backcourt leader, was the top vote-getter for the West in balloting by writers and broadcasters from the league's 17 cities for the mid-season NBA Classic.

Archibald and West will be the starting guards for the game. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Milwaukee was voted the opening center and the forward slots will be filled by Rick Barry of Golden State and Spencer Haywood of Seattle.

Chamberlain, Sidney Wicks of Portland and Charlie Scott of Phoenix were the other members of the eight-man team in the balloting.

Six more players will be selected by the Western Conference's nine coaches. Each team in the conference must be represented in the All-Star game.

West, who drew 16,271 points out of a possible 17, and Chamberlain, with 11,293 points, now have tied former Boston Celtics star Bob Cousy for the most times selected as All-Stars.

Archibald collected 16,704 points as a near-unanimous choice. Haywood drew 15,537; Abdul-Jabbar, 15,000, and Barry, 14,204, as starters. Wicks had 10,503 and Scott 5,068.

The East starters are center Dave Cowens of Boston, forwards John Havlicek of Boston and Dave DeBusschere of New York and guards Walt Frazier of New York and Pat Maravich of Atlanta. The other three players collecting top votes in the balloting are forward Lou Hudson of Atlanta, center Wes Unseld of Baltimore and guard Lenny Wilkens of Cleveland.

Rebound taken

South, is asking for a permanent injunction.

Now Mexico State was penalized among other reasons because two basketball players, Roland Grant and John Williamson, were paid more than $2,500 through a representative of the school's athletic interests in bonuses and advances for jobs they didn't perform.

Williamson is one of the nation's leading scorers.

Brown said the Western Kentucky violations involved recruiting promises to six prospects of cash, clothes, cars, laundry and dental and medical care. The school also was charged with providing tryouts for prospects.

Centenary's indefinite probation, one of the strongest penalties the NCAA can impose, centered on five basketball players who did not meet the NCAA's 1.6 minimum grade point average.

The most celebrated of the five was Robert Parish, a highly sought recruit last year.

Indians squeak by Montana

PUEBLO, Colo. (UPI) — Cal Tatum sank a pair of free throws with 30 seconds left Wednesday night to lift Southern Colorado State College to a 72-70 win over Montana.

Tatum, who had 28 points, gave the Indians a 72-70 lead with his clutch free throw shooting. Tom Peterson, who took game honors with 31 points, also sank a pair of important charity tosses when he hit two with just over two minutes left and SCSC leading by only one point, 67-66.

Tatum and Peterson were the only SCSC players in double figures as the Indians won their ninth of the season against one loss, and seventh straight game in a row.

Those prognosticators who tell us what it's all going to be in the year A.D. 2000 say an overnight stay in a semi-private room in the hospital then will run about $630, if increases keep up at their present rate. Wait, that's not so remote. Try it in your mid-twentieth century; you'll be just about at retirement age then, sir, when hospital costs get significant, too.

HALF THE COEDS get married within 19 months after they leave college. ONLY A FORTYTH of all identical twins are mirror twins, the rarest kind. THOSE CITIZENS BLIND in one eye only outnumber those citizens blind in both eyes by four to one. MEN SUFFER 42 per cent more injuries than women. AND PLEASE NOTE, 160, East St. Louis isn't in Missouri; East Chicago isn't in Illinois.

BUDS ON TREES

So you thought the buds on trees were born in the spring, did you? Not at all. Not even in the winter are they born. They just lie dormant then. It's in the previous summer they get their start. Tree buds—like numerous works of art and business—are usually born almost a year before you see them bloom.

Q. "JULIE ANDREWS, is that her real name?"
A. She started out as Julia Wells.

CITIZENS-FOR CITIZEN during December, roughly twice as many people in New York as in Texas, blow their noses in any given hour, that's known, too.

AMONG OF R.I. and Wai man's mentors was the great Arnold Bennett who observed "Make love to every woman you meet, if you get 5 per cent on your outlay, it's a good investment."

A NERSE TOLD me the other night her doctor had decided to forego surgery, psychiatry, gynecology, so on, to specialize in the "human." Interesting. "In examining an x-ray," said she, "He can deliver a hippin in such a manner that it will give a patient hope, satisfy any lingering doubts about the seriousness of the ailment, and assure prompt payment of the bill."

HE WAS a five-married attorney in Illinois. And when he died, in accordance with the instructions in his Last Will and Testament, his tombstone listed the names of his three wives followed by the simple sentence: "He defensed them."

THERE WAS a time when not just a few circus horses, but all well-trained riding horses dropped to their knees, like camels, to receive their riders. That was before A.D. 420 when the stirrup was invented.

WAS NOSE other than old Henry Ford himself who sold the first used car in this country. For $1000. He had driven it about 1,000 true miles.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY 12, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only by showing the social side of your nature and the ability to smile and encourage others do you prevent a difficult situation—Do what you can to relieve others of their burdens. Show your best control in any crisis. You have charm that needs to be expressed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are tempted to go through with a plan too quickly in the morning since you feel your funds are inadequate, but slow down and think wisely instead. Then you will know what to do. Be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan the future quietly and intelligently in the morning. Help those who have been in difficulty lately. Show that you are a true humanitarian. Do some bookkeeping at home tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't rely on your friends for advice or help today, since they are busy. By evening you can handle own problems wisely. Not a good day for social pleasure. Await a better day for such.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) The fact where influential persons are concerned or in any of your dealings with others. Try not to be demanding with others. Avoid one who does not respect you as you deserve.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have fine ideas and want to make radical changes right away, but this would be disastrous. Plan how to add to present outlets wisely instead. Become more efficient in present routines.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do the work that is important today, but forget new duties that could tax your energies right now. Mate is not in a good mood, so use tact and all is fine. The wrong word could bring trouble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It is wise to check on what opponents are doing in the morning so that you don't get caught in a trap. Later take steps which will enable you to win out. Handle civic obligations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use both diplomacy and precision in handling today's work and dealing with others. Make some improvement to wardrobe. Evening is fine for taking health treatments for increased energy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle routine work efficiently and then you have plenty of time for the recreation you enjoy. You have creative ideas that require research to make them operative. Discuss them with an expert.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are not satisfied at home a real problem could develop. Handle an outside problem cleverly. Later take kin out to a nice restaurant for dinner and have an enjoyable evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of your regular routine early before you give attention to a problem at home. Use tact and it is soon solved. Communications are best put off until a better day. Relax tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning should be spent ridding yourself of financial worries and then you can do much to please associates more. Evening is fine for coming to a better understanding with kin and friends.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those charming young people who likes to jump into things hastily and could be hurt in the process. Teach to think first and act wisely, and then the child will become a successful one after this lesson has been learned. You progeny has an uncanny way of going to right bigwigs to get backing and advice when most needed. Give good religious training. "The Staffs impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Steam energy not minerals

BOISE (UPI)—Attorney General Anthony Park told an interim committee Tuesday that in his opinion the federal government should not classify geo-thermal energy as a mineral.

At present, the federal government classifies geo-thermal energy as a mineral and reserves all rights to the energy on federal lands conveyed to state or private ownership.

Park told the Geo-Thermal Energy Committee that the state should fight the federal government for the ownership of the steam energy, but he added he was not sure Idaho should enter into a law suit in California, determining the ownership point.

The attorney general said in the future when the state conveys ownership of land it should reserve the right of ownership of geo-thermal energy under that classification and not under mineral rights.

Park said the attorney general's office was unable to conduct a conclusive study on geo-thermal rights. But he said the office will dig deeper into the matter in view of the possible problems that could arise over ownership and regulation of the energy.

"We might set the stage for a law suit in Idaho to determine ownership," Park told the committee. "Rather than piggy-back on a California case."

Park said his office could write the federal government protecting its ownership of geo-thermal energy on lands conveyed as mineral rights.

Asked if the Idaho Land Board had discussed the ownership problems in the geo-thermal energy, Park said:

"When the land board becomes aware of the problems it will become very active."

"The attorney general said in his opinion the state should have the right to regulate geo-thermal energy on state owned land and land that has conveyed to private or other ownership."

MV state employes oppose proposal

JEROME—A large percentage of Magic Valley state employes are opposed to the twice monthly payment proposed for state employes.

Ivan Mink, director of the Fourth District State Employees Association, said today that a poll was taken of a majority of state employes in Magic Valley which showed that 95.9 per cent were opposed to the payments with 41 per cent in favor.

Mink said that state employes from all state agencies in the valley were contacted for their opinions.

He said the poll was prompted by several statements released last week by state auditor Joe Williams saying that his office has a 25 to 1 communication from state employes in favor of his plan to pay them twice a month.

Mink said he did not think the auditor's office survey was fair. "Let's face it, the only people his office would hear from are the ones dissatisfied with the present system and who want action to change it, while the majority of the state employes who are satisfied with being paid once a month are not writing to Williams to complain," Mink said.
