Funds usage told

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus wants all the inventory tax phase-out money to go either to the public schools or the state's general fund, his budget director said today.

Budget Director D. E. (Skip) Chilberg said the chief executive would present a number of options for doing this when he meets with the Legislative Leadership Wednesday morning.

Chilberg said he (Chilberg) would discuss the matter with house and senate Democrats at a caucus later today.

In his budget message last Friday, Andrus projected the inventory tax phase-out funds scheduled for disposition to local units of government in fiscal 1973-74 will amount to $13.7 million.

He estimated that $7.5 million of this money was over and above what these units would have received had not the 1967 legislature voted to phase out that tax and replace the lost revenues with some of the state's sales tax receipts.

Accordingly, he recommended that $7.5 million of this anticipated inventory tax phase-out money for next year be put into the state's general fund to balance his $170 million budget.

School districts stand to get 40 per cent of the $6.2 million, which would be left with local units of government under Andrus' proposal.

However, Chilberg said the governor wants all the $6.2 million to go to the schools. He said counties, cities and other local units of government can make up their losses through federal revenue sharing moneys.

He said Andrus will suggest a number of alternatives to the legislature to channel the $6.2 million into the schools. He said it can go through the present formula which is based on the business, inventory, livestock and timber products that generated the inventory tax receipts at the time of the phase out.

Or, he said, the money can be doled out through the school foundation formula which distributes funds on the basis of children and needs rather than on inventory and cows.

In response to questions from newsmen, Chilberg admitted the governor's plan limits what the other units of government can do with their federal revenue sharing moneys next year.

"That's true," he said. "But it's not as blatant as it looks."

Extension of powers probable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will get a one-year extension of his wage price control powers, and if Congress should mandate stronger controls the White House probably would veto or ignore them, a key congressman said today.

House Banking Committee chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said efforts would be made to force Nixon to clamp stronger controls on the economy particularly in the area of interest rates but "I don't think you can force him to."

"He (Nixon) has no power to make laws, but we (Congress) have no power to enforce laws," Patman said in an interview.

"Of course, if he should ignore the will of Congress and the economy should turn sour, he would be guilty of malfeasance of office, and that's never a complimentary thing to say about anybody."

It appeared obvious that

Patman and other Democratic critics of Nixon's relaxed wage-price controls would use the same strategy they say they used originally in giving a reluctant Nixon the power to control the economy — grant the powers and count on the pressure of public opinion will force Nixon to use them.

Democratic congressmen have been steadily unloading criticism on Nixon for his decision to relax mandatory controls on the economy except for the food, construction and health industries, making it clear that Republicans will get the full blame for any economic troubles.

House Speaker Carl Albert said Monday Nixon took a "serious economic gamble" and "if the year ahead witnesses a return to accelerated inflation, President Nixon and the Republican party must be prepared to accept the responsibility for that result."

TWIN FALLS — John C. Hepworth was elected chairman of the College of Southern Idaho Board of Trustees Monday night.

John R. Coleman, the other resounding victor in last month's election, was elected vice chairman of the board.

Robert S. Blinstock Jr. was elected clerk.

TWIN FALLS — An agreement covering inclusion of the Kimberly City sewer system with the Twin Falls secondary treatment program is expected to be approved soon.

City Manager Jean Milar reviewed the current proposed agreement Monday night for the Twin Falls City Council and members informally approved the provisions.

Milar said it will now be submitted to the Kimberly City Council for formal approval or minor revisions and then voted on by the Twin Falls Council.

The proposed agreement is the result of a number of work meetings and negotiation sessions between the two cities in recent months.

Milar said one point in question has been the "hooking point" or point at which the city of Twin Falls would receive and accept the Kimberly effluent.

This is proposed on Kimberly Road at the southeast boundary of Twin Falls.

He said the trunk line bringing the Kimberly flow to the Twin Falls system will follow the low levels between the two cities, reaching Twin Falls somewhere near Kimberly Road.

The proposed fees are basically $150 per million gallons of flow paid to the city of Twin Falls for collection and treatment.

Another $300 per million gallons would be required for trunk sewer line installation and $150 per million gallons for plant redemption. Twin Falls would charge a 3.6 per cent rate of plant maintenance costs once the program is operating. This would continue after plant redemption and trunk sewer line costs have been covered.

Milar said the system would be designed to carry industrial as well as residential wastes from Kimberly for a 20 year projected growth period.

This would mean when the Kimberly sewage output reaches the equivalent of a 6,000 population output, the contract agreement would be reconsidered by the two cities.

In other business, Monday night, city councilmen approved a proposal from Milar to call for bids for the 1973 airport improvement project on Feb. 2.

Advertising will begin Thursday and conclude Feb. 1 with the bid opening at City Hall the following day.

No signing due, US says

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)

The White House virtually ruled out today a Vietnam cease-fire agreement before President Nixon's second inauguration on Saturday.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters the President is not going to address the nation on the subject of Vietnam the week commencing reports from Saigon and elsewhere that signing of a ceasefire was imminent. Ziegler later said Henry A. Kissinger, the chief Vietnam negotiator, expected to return to Paris this week to resume talks with Hanoi. Le Duc Tho

There were reports from Saigon that the cease-fire agreement might be reached on Friday, the eve of the inaugural and that Nixon would make an announcement to the nation.

Ziegler adamantly refused to discuss the current status of the negotiations, except to say that they still were in progress.

The subpress reporters by unanimous consent that Kissinger would not be returning to the "hot" peace table this week on Monday, he said. Kissinger would be returning in the week's end.

Ziegler did not completely rule out any discussion of Vietnam in the President's inaugural address after he is sworn in on the steps of the Capitol on Saturday, but it was clear from Ziegler's comment that a ceasefire agreement would not be announced this week, despite the reports to the contrary from Saigon as well as some other foreign capitals.

Ziegler said that Kissinger would be working in Washington this week.

Ziegler told reporters at a midday briefing "There are reports out of Saigon and many capitals of the world speculating on the situation. I will only tell you that the negotiations, while they are in progress, we have a mutual agreement with Hanoi not to discuss the substance of the negotiations.

We intend to adhere to that asked whether there would be settlement of the Vietnam conflict through negotiations and we are not going to do anything to deter from that objective." Ziegler was then asked whether there would be any word to the contrary between now and the inaugural on peace in Vietnam. He replied with a terse "No."

Violence halt goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lawyer for Watergate defendant James W. McCord Jr. said today his client broke into Democratic headquarters last year because he believed he could help thwart violence against President Nixon and other Republican officials.

During a brief recess in the trial, attorney Gerald Stier told newsmen the gist of McCord's defense would be that he did not believe he had not done anything illegal because he felt he was acting to prevent a greater crime.

McCord was one of the five men arrested in the pre-dawn hours of last June 17 inside the Watergate building offices of the Democratic National Committee. He and G. Gordon Liddy are the only two still on trial of seven men originally charged in the alleged political espionage operation.

Five defendants pleaded guilty after the trial began to charges of conspiracy, but guilty, wiretapping and larceny directed at high level Democrats.

Alex said his defense of McCord, a former CIA agent who was chief of security for President Nixon's campaign organization at the time of the Watergate intrusion, would rest on a concept that acting to prevent harm to others was not illegal.

"If my guy was laboring under the reasonable belief that there was imminent danger to others, then it's not illegal," Alex told reporters. "We hope the evidence will show he had reason to believe just that."

Alex said he hoped to show that McCord was acting to prevent violence against Republican officials.

Mr. T-N SAYS...

A cease-fire doesn't necessarily mean an immediate peace.

World's outlook brighter

By United Press International

The world reacted with optimism and relief today to President Nixon's order halting acts of war against North Vietnam and some government and officials even speculated it meant a cease-fire was imminent.

Peace is near, said a commentator of the semi-official Japan Broadcasting Corporation in Tokyo.

"We sincerely welcome the decision to completely halt the bombing of the North," said a spokesman for Premier Kakuei Tanaka. The spokesman also said he believed a peace agreement was near.

In West Germany, the governing Social Democratic party of Chancellor Willy Brandt called the bombing halt "good news."

"This decision," party spokesman Lothar Schwartz said, "strengthens our conviction that serious efforts to bring peace to this part of the world (Vietnam) are being made at last."

Air raids stepped up

SAIGON (UPI) — Only hours after President Nixon ordered a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam, United States warplanes stepped up bombing raids against the Ho Chi Minh complex in Laos and against Communist positions in South Vietnam, American military officers said Tuesday.

The highest number of 152 raids against targets in South Vietnam in a month was reported.

A war communique issued by the U.S. command said 24 B-52 plane raids were flown in South Vietnam in the 24-hour reporting period between dawn Monday and dawn Tuesday, the highest number since Dec. 17.

Military sources said conventional fighter-bombers that had been hitting North Vietnam up to 10 p.m. Honor time Monday night switched their attacks to the Ho Chi Minh supply trail.

complex in Laos. Ground fighting picked up from one end of South Vietnam to the other, but military spokesmen said there appeared to have been no move up to late Tuesday by the Communists to grab territory in anticipation of a cease-fire. They said no ground attacks were reported on population centers.

Aircraft losses and American casualties continued to mount in South Vietnam despite the halt in the north.

The U.S. command said two American soldiers were wounded when their AH-1 Cobra attack helicopter was shot down Monday near the French Michelin rubber plantation 40 miles northwest of Saigon. A South Vietnamese fighter-bomber crashed in the same area because of engine failure, and its pilot was killed, military sources said.

Soviets approve European study

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies have agreed to participate in the American-sponsored study for East-West troop cuts in Central Europe, diplomatic sources reported today. But they said there were many Russian reservations.

Notification of the Communist nations approval is expected to be sent to North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) members within the next few days. The proposal is still under study by Warsaw Pact members.

The proposed study is to open in Geneva Jan. 31. Its task will be to determine whether a full-scale conference can be called late this fall to begin formal negotiations on "mutual, balanced force reductions" (MBFR) in Central Europe. This would involve a partial pull-out of Russian as well as American troops.

The Russians will be going reluctantly and with many reservations to the talks which the United States has been seeking for several years past.

Some of the Western nations including Britain also are less than enthusiastic about the move, although they will participate in the study. France has said it would stay out altogether.

The United States administration, under pressure from Congress to whittle down the number of U.S. troops in Europe, has rejected unilateral troop withdrawals and insisted that any pullback should be carried out only in concert with Russia.

Little has so far come out of the Warsaw Pact consultations on the Communists' planned approach to the imminent probe on troop cuts. Diplomatic sources said they had aligned their policy and strategy and that the Soviets will act as spokesman for the Communist bloc.

Communist participants will include Russia, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Romania is seeking some representation.

This summer the city and county will install an overlay payment on freeways to provide a stronger covering. The contract will require Federal Aviation Agency approval and will be jointly let by the city and county with the city authorized to execute it.

Eight ordinances were placed on first and second reading Monday night, all updating and revising city license fees.

Bids will also be opened Feb. 2 for the covering of the Eighth Avenue lateral where it crosses Shoshone Street. Milar said the contractor will install the pipe in two sections, closing only one half of the street at one time.

City officials approved a bid from Beymer Paving Co. for $83,875 for providing crushing and hauling and stockpiling of gravel for the city's 1973 street program.

Milar said six firms submitted bids with the Beymer bid the lowest. About $21,000 worth of the gravel will be used for the local improvement district work and the remainder for repair and maintenance.

Gravel will come from the Champ Gray pits south of Hansen.

Milar also announced agreement has been reached with the owner of a wrecked auto holding lot on North Main for relocation of the facility, and presented a traffic accident map and analysis report.

The report, of which only one copy is available, will be passed from councilman to councilman for their personal review. Milar said the engineering department prepared the report and with the cooperation of the police department will use it to correct accident hazard points in the city.

Council members denied a request from Volvo Builders for deferral on a curb and gutter installation in conjunction with the addition of a small office area to their building on Highland Avenue.

TF auto service center wins OK

TWIN FALLS — City Council members here Monday night took one zoning application under advisement and granted another following public hearings.

The council approved an application for conditional use in a commercial-local zone in which Curtis E. Smith requested permission to operate an automobile reconditioning center at 1007 Addison Ave. E.

Smith said he would propose a building with about five bays in which he would work on used cars, washing, polishing and generally making them suitable for resale.

He said he has a contract with many auto agencies and plans to work for individuals in the new location.

Smith said there would be no large number of vehicles parked on the property and the work would not be of a noisy or undesirable nature.

Another application, this one from Southland Corp., asking conditional use in the same zone and same general area for self-service gasoline pumps at the 7-11 store, 1445 Addison Ave. E. was taken under advisement.

Company officials said they have had good luck with such sales at their Washington Street and Filer Avenue Store and their customers are requesting the additional convenience of a gasoline outlet in that area.

Chief of Police Frank Barnett questioned the firm's compliance with the supervision provisions of the city ordinance.

Company officials said the pumps are controlled from within the building and the purchaser must go in and make a purchase from the store attendant who then turns on the pumps.

City Attorney William Langley agreed this would constitute supervision although only one person was on duty at the store at the time.

The city postponed action on creating a new Local Improvement District for the 1973 street improvement program.

City Atty. Langley said the fiscal agent has been unable to meet with the city to provide needed information and will probably not be available this week.

The city is attempting to complete legal work on the district in time to let a contract by early spring so work can be completed during the coming paving season.

City Council members re-appointed O. A. (Gus) Kelcey to the Twin Falls City-County Airport Advisory Board. The appointment is for the coming four years and was requested by the advisory board.

An accident report covering city employees for the last six months of 1972 was presented by City Manager Jean Millar showing only one worker still under workmen's compensation although back on the job.

Millar said the city receives the workmen's compensation and continues the salary of the injured during the time they are away from work.

Millar said the accident review board studies each accident and works with the departments to prevent recurrence.

Panel starts review

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Zoning and Planning Commission started to wade through the Comprehensive Land Use Plan for the county Monday night.

According to Ed Woods, county zoning administrator, the session was mainly "housecleaning." He said most of the meeting was spent making definition-of-terms clear, such as "what is a feedlot or a dumpground."

He said the land use plan, designed for the county by Ross Fasolino, Poratello, will be studied line by line in sessions every Monday and Wednesday night until the plan is covered.

Woods said the meeting was attended by representatives of each town in the county and several interested citizens.

Accident damages sought

TWIN FALLS — Lawrence P. Barber has filed a personal injury suit in Fifth District Court against Lori Rasmussen, Marvin L. Daniels and Rudy Hesko.

In the suit, Barber alleges that he was riding his motorcycle on Highway 93 on May 2, 1971, and attempted a proper left hand turn three-tenths of a mile north of the Perrine Bridge.

He claims defendant Daniels, who was driving a car belonging to Miss Rasmussen, was negligent in his failure to observe Barber's attempted left turn and smashed into him.

Barber then alleges that, as he lay in the highway, a northbound car driven by Hesko was negligent in failing to stop. The suit claims Hesko ran over Barber and continued down the highway without stopping.

In the action Barber seeks $1,463.30 for medical costs to date and motorcycle repairs; $100,000 in general damages, including permanent facial injuries and loss of full use of the left shoulder; costs of suit; further costs as the court deems proper.

Barber is represented by Hailey attorney Stephen W. Bolter.

Oil firm files suit

TWIN FALLS — A suit has been filed in Fifth District Court on behalf of United Oil of Idaho Inc., seeking more than $1,000 from Mel Harris and MHT Inc.

The action was filed for recovery of a $1,007.49 payment for goods and services allegedly owed United Oil by the defendant, plus appropriate interest, $750 in legal fees and further relief as the court deems proper.

Attorney for United Oil is John H. Coleman of Pury, Robertson, Daly and Larson.

Bound over

TWIN FALLS — Michael P. Pickon, 24, Twin Falls, was bound over to Fifth District Court Friday on a charge of issuing checks without funds.

Pickon was arrested Jan. 4 for allegedly writing a bad check on Dec. 22, 1972. He remains in the county jail on $1,000 bond.

Nuclear Power

effect" of strategic arms limitation negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Those talks would have no effect on China because that country is not a participant. Up to now it has not been deemed necessary to include China in the category of nuclear power in the sense that it could marshal sufficient numbers of strategic nuclear weapons for either defensive or offensive purposes.

That assessment may undergo a change in light of more recent intelligence reports. If the SALT talks suddenly appear to be hanging in limbo, China's emergence on the scene could be the reason.

This Is The Time

A month ago we suggested that citizens should not get all "uptight" over proposals which would see vast changes in zoning regulations in Twin Falls county.

We pointed out that at this stage the proposals were just proposals and it would be a long way down the road before all of them — or any of them — were in the books. Now the Planning and Zoning Commission members are involved in a study of the suggestions. It is the initial step toward ultimate acceptance or rejection by county commissioners. They have the final say in the matter.

Members of the planning and zoning commission are to be complimented for the way they have taken hold of the entire matter and are getting it before the public. Although zoning commission members will do the bulk of the studies, it could well be the suggestions from private citizens which will prevail.

Suggestions and questions are now being asked from all citizens. Zoning commission members are hoping the suggestions — and the questions will be many and of an exploring nature. It is only by cooperation of the many that the suggestions — those to which will be ultimately adopted — will work.

The suggestions, of course, are not mandatory. They are, at this state, just suggestions. But the time is now to get on a firm base.

We are confident the zoning commission members will do a good job. They are all substantial community members. They are not inclined to jump before looking. The same goes for the county commissioners.

Therefore, the remaining question mark is the average citizen. If they do not participate in the open discussions then they will lose their right of praise or protest. The zoning officials have announced their meeting are open to everyone.

We will watch the public response with interest. This is not the time — as we said — to get "uptight." It is the time for your opinion to be expressed — just what you want, just what you are against.

"And Now, a Brief Pause for a Station Break"

Fire The No-Good

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is a way to save $1 billion a year in defense without decreasing our military strength.

Similar cuts percentage-wise could be made in the budgets of most other major departments in the federal government with no decrease in efficiency.

The savings would add up to more than $2 billion a year.

Administrators say these results could be achieved by selectively cutting civilian employees by 10 per cent. Some administrators would put the figure much higher.

Every key administrator in the government surveyed by this reporter agrees there is this much deadwood.

In most instances the experts estimate that with this 10 per cent gone the efficiency of the offices involved would actually increase substantially — without the remaining 90 per cent having more work to do. In some cases, the 90 per cent remaining would have less to do.

This paradox is "simple" to explain. The 10 per cent are bottlenecks. They slow the work. They delight in red tape. They snafu projects. And they hold down good men and good ideas.

This is not to suggest most government employees are do-nothings. The number of able, efficient government workers is extraordinarily large. The problem is that it is next to impossible to remove inefficient, mediocre workers in the numbers necessary for efficient operation.

Outgoing Defense Secretary Melvin Laird explained the problem vividly in a talk with this reporter. As things are now, he says, when you cut a tenth of your civilian personnel, you don't remove the bureaucrats you want to eliminate. What results is that you fire too many of the new young able people you have brought in most recently in order to beef up your department for the future. It is a losing game.

The problem is defense (and in most other agencies of the federal government) is the system called bumping. In most cases, when you remove a man from his job (for incompetence or whatever), he then usually has the right to bump (take over the job of) someone with less seniority in his line of work.

The bumped man then has the right to bump the next level down, and so on through the system. Thus the man you want to fire isn't fired. Someone somewhere down below him loses his job instead.

Since the agency has always been deemed to be off-limits politically, it would be a bad slip if the President were to name a successor whose experience suggested he was less a qualified social insurance expert and more an out-and-out political appointee.

But, actually, that is the shallow, obvious aspect of the matter, easy to judge. There is a deeper issue.

Ball has headed the Social Security Administration for nearly 11 years, and for roughly an equal time before that he was deputy commissioner of SSA's predecessor agency. His entire working career falls within the social insurance realm.

Does this kind of service make a man go stale and leave him empty of new ideas?

There is a school-of-thought that would say yes, automatically. The proponents of this view contend that turnover at the top level should occur fairly frequently. The argument can be guessed. Change assures regular infusion of fresh ideas, new energies, flexibility. Men of long tenure, it is suggested, cannot fill this need.

The argument has undeniable plausibility. The woods are full of executives and administrators whose energies flag and whose imagination runs thin. Rigidity and complacency often set in all too quickly. Against this very real prospect, change — even systematic change — looks like a sound rule.

Yet there is a strong counter-argument put forth steadily in the field of public affairs. Its core is that there are always men with a great capacity for self-renewal, continuing growth, and adaptability to altered circumstances and problems. Such men not only can meet new challenges, but have a way of searching them out.

Here again, the contention has undoubted force. The corporate and government landscape is well dotted with figures whose long service in top posts is a consequence not of power but of demonstrated abilities maintained through markedly changing times.

Proponents of this point argue, incontestably, that to dispense with or shift such leadership from its proved realm is to waste rare human resource; to deprive a society of commanding individuals who serve its institutions as a keystone holds an arch together.

Does Robert Ball deserve such an accolade as this? There are a good many men in the U.S. Congress and many practiced observers of public service performance who believe he does.

He has presided over Social Security during its transformation from an agency of modest scale to one of enormous size and increasing complexity, and seen it hailed as the best of bureaucracy. In 1965, he laid over it the huge framework of the Medicare program, a task reasonably pictured as one of the greatest peacetime administrative assignments in history. He is a tireless innovator who knows his field as he knows the lines in his hands.

In 1972, Congress handed SSA new challenges for 1973 and 1974. Everything in the record suggests Ball was the map above all to meet them. His expertise is unmatched, and at 58 his powers and talents seem undimmed. He is a public servant of genuine distinction. In casting him out, President Nixon has made a gross error in judgment.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What about these artificial sweeteners? Why should they be used only "by people who have to restrict their intake of ordinary sweets?" Mrs. S.S.A.

The pure food laws require such a statement on items containing artificial sweeteners because, after all, sugar is a food. The artificial sweeteners do not provide any nourishment.

The physiology does not, of course, specify why a person "has to restrict intake of sweets." That leaves it open for those who restrict sweets in order to lose weight.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is smoking bad for someone who has asthma? — B.M.

Are you serious? Of course it's bad.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please explain what apoplexy is? — Mrs. E. R. C. Apoplexy is an older term, now being used less and less, for a stroke, or "C.V.A." C.V.A. means cerebral vascular accident — that is, something that goes wrong with one of the vessels leaking blood; or a clot, shutting off blood flow through one of the many vessels.

The seriousness depends on the location and degree of damage.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am male, 33, and a diabetic who has just recovered from a prostate operation.

X-rays show I have a rather large gall stone, but because of my age and general condition, my doctor believes it advisable to postpone an operation for stone removal until absolutely necessary. — A. M. D. Given your, age, recent operation and your present physical condition, I'd say you have a very discerning doctor. Go along with him.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am taking birth control pills. Is it possible to become pregnant during the seven days in between taking the pill? — L. No.

What is angina pectoris? Is it dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about angina pectoris, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful booklet, "How To Handle Angina Pectoris." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope, and 25c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We are a group of women who belong to TDPS which means Take Off Pounds Sensibly. Some of us eat eight ounces yogurt a day but have heard that this is bad, because of too much bacteria. Is this true? Mrs. H. H. No. Yogurt contains no harmful bacteria.

The men and women leaving, therefore, may be some of the ablest workers in your shop. Thus, under present regulations, a 10 per cent cut in civilian could result in a serious decline in efficiency. This need not be if Congress will change the laws. The same problem does not exist in the uniformed military. After the most recent cutbacks ordered by Congress, this reporter had a series of talks with key administrative officers in the Pentagon. Without exception, these men were pleased with the results. The cutbacks gave them a chance to remove those officers with less potential. In the military, there is no bumping system.

PAUL HARVEY

The Bullpen

No American statesman ever sought the Presidency as overtly as did Dick Nixon. Methodically and meticulously he groomed himself and his public image.

Now, seeking to simulate his success formula, at least a dozen worthy opponents are warming up in the bullpen.

There's nothing wrong with a politician aspiring to the Presidency. The bush-league ballplayer who wants a job in the majors goes after it.

In academia it's standard operating procedure for professors to promote their own interests with writing and research.

In the executive suite it's done with needle and knife and late lights.

It's all right. In every area of competitive human affairs we're all kept moving by the guy behind who's always trying to pass. Nowhere is this contest more fascinating than in big-league politics.

Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois established himself as an administrator; then as a lawmaker, now he's seeking to identify with international affairs.

He's argued that his week in Saigon was research, but his public utterances about peace prospects while there were obviously designed to make sure you knew he was there.

I'm not being critical; in national politics, rule one is stay in the news. Rule two is identify with people, their grievances, their desires.

Identification with the cause of peace is a supergame.

Texas' John Connally is burning none of his bridges. He will stay a Democrat. For now, anyway. The man who headed Democrats for Nixon will remain identified with this Administration while leaving the door open for nomination by either party.

That position is at once enviable and precarious. It's a long walk on a swaying rope. Handsome Sen. Frank Church of Idaho will begin early in the new year a highly newsworthy investigation of the impact of U.S. corporations on foreign policy. David will be throwing rocks at Goliath. Guess who'll get the cheers. And Sen. Church estimates his investigation "will last three years."

Alabama's Gov. George Wallace from a wheelchair continues expertly to mesmerize voters, publicly advises the Democratic Party to "get in step with the people."

If it does, he'll be available to lead the countermarch.

Black Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts has said he may seek the Presidency; he means the Vice Presidency. And fellow New Englander Sen. Edward Kennedy says he will not seek the Presidency; he means he employs that public relations army to make sure the Presidency seeks him.

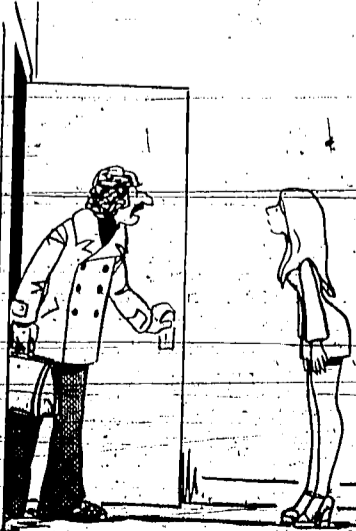

California's Gov. Ronald Reagan travels abroad, seeking an additional dimension to his silhouette. New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wants to. Each of these and Spiro Agnew has a four-year-plan of his own.

What worked for Richard Nixon takes planning and patience. John Lindsay tried to skip ground school and he crashed on takeoff.

Now, if this makes a political run for the roses sound like an ego trip, so be it. But in the process, and without much heraldry, politics has been immensely upgraded.

Despite some holdovers, today's politicians are more self-made than machine-made. If you'll allow me one more metaphor, we have some real, fine thoroughbreds prancing around in the paddock seeking your favor.

Now and then, real nice things happen.

We had such a happening just the other day. It came in the form of a brief letter and a check.

Sometime ago we complained no invitation had been received to attend the inauguration of President Nixon. Then we did receive an invitation, with an attached note permitting us to enter the standing room area. We were flattered, of course, but promptly announced we could not attend. Why? Lack of funds!

This brings us to the letter and the check. It came from Claude and Mona Brown of Twin Falls.

"Enclosed is our contribution so you can go to the President's inauguration. Anyone who rates an invitation should be able to go. Now if the rest of your subscribers feel the same we should be able to read 'first-hand' all about the event."

For goodness sakes. What a wonderful thing to do. The $5 check they sent, of course, will be sent back, because (we hate to admit it) they were the only ones who thought it would be nice to speed us on our way.

But the thought is wonderful. And it proves to us — and should to you — that there are nice people still living around these parts.

JUPITER

The voice of Jove, or Jupiter, sometimes reached the ears of mortals in ancient days. Some didn't heed, some misunderstood, and some were deceived by counterfeiters. But those who understood the true voice, and heeded, were wise. Or so old myths contend.

Today there are no gods enjoying the lusty capers on the slopes and crags of Mount Olympus. Not even Jupiter.

Jupiter is the fifth planet in the solar system, and by far the largest. According to one theory, it once was teamed with the sun as a double star. But it is so sun now. If a human were to visit it, he would have to be prepared for the rigors of a temperature at least 300 degrees colder than that outside his house this minute.

Astronomers do not know a great deal about the surface of Jupiter. What they see when they look through their telescopes is its strangely luminous atmosphere made up of noxious vapors. What is underneath they can only surmise.

Writer raises questions about TF electrocution

Editor's note: The following article of opinion is reprinted by permission of the Idaho Mountain Observer, of Boise. Idaho Power Company officials have been asked to reply. According to the Observer, the writer, from Twin Falls, is a senior majoring in electrical and computer engineering at the University of Illinois.

break down the protective insulation on a street light circuit—and cause a lethal potential to appear on parts of the lamp that normally carry no current. The purpose of the ground wire is to overload the circuit in such a case, calling attention to the situation so that repairs can be made. The most important factor causing the lethal potential on the wire was that the electrical ground (technically known as a "made electrode") was faulty (i.e. in technical terms, a quantity known as resistance to ground was excessively high, so that if the ground wire became electrically "hot", whether through insulation breakdown by lightning, moisture, wear, etc., rather than overloading the circuit, cutting off the power and thus calling attention to the problem, the ground wire would carry a lethal potential endangering the public.) The hypothesis that the insulation was originally damaged by lightning is irrelevant, since the ground wire is a safety device in case the insulation is damaged by any means. It should be noted here that if lightning was the cause of the insulation breakdown, it damaged power equipment, but despite any impressions created by the Times-News, it was man's electricity, not nature's, that was responsible for the electrocution.

attentive tool users and responsible electric utilities. The article acknowledged that the ground was faulty, blaming the failure on dry soil near the pole. The pole in question is located in a residential lawn. If this soil is the power company to explain its performance in this area: Do the "made electrodes" used to ground street lights—and transformers conform to the requirements of the National Electric Code? Are they tested for resistance when installed and periodically afterward? What were the previous resistance tests of the pole ground that killed Miss Atkin? Did these tests indicate more effective grounding was needed? Is the only reason insulation is not used on the vertically running ground wires the slight extra cost?

Opinion

TWIN FALLS—Five 15-year-old Twin Falls girls were playing tag early today on their way home from a high school picnic, high school picnic.

One girl brushed a power pole and screamed.

A second tag-player ran up to touch the pole. The second girl died at the pole.

Paltee said a ground wire, running down the side of the pole apparently was carrying the current that electrocuted 15-year-old Christine Atkin, Twin Falls.

—Twin Falls Times-News

dry enough to disable a power company ground, then the many poles located in alleys, installed through asphalt or concrete paving or other locations where the soil moisture content is apt to be much less, would seem to have useless grounds. This would mean that these ground wires constitute not an electrical safety but quite a hazard since other failures could make them "hot" undetected.

It is important to recognize that the death was due primarily to the failure of a safety device, the ground wire, and not lightning. The distinction is important if future accidents of this type are to be avoided. For if the public believes that the cause was lightning, then the accident would fall under the "act of God" category; hence, preventive measures would be impossible.

The principle of grounding is a common one—to most of us so technical terms used for exactness should not be allowed to obscure the picture. Street lamps are grounded for

If the electrical grounds are not tested several times yearly for resistance, I think it would be appropriate for Idaho Power Co. to test all "made electrodes" in Twin Falls and publish the findings before and after any alterations are made. It would also seem prudent to make it standard maintenance policy to check the resistance to ground of all made electrodes associated with circuits they suspect of being hit by lightning. According to the Times-News, Idaho Power Co. knew the street light circuit that was responsible for the fatality had been struck by lightning for it replaced several bulbs, including one on the pole associated with the death. The power company spokesman is certainly correct when he stated that insulation failure after lightning strikes is "very difficult to guard against."

What isn't so easily explained is why insulation failure evidently is not checked after a lightning strike, especially when the company has acknowledged the danger. The ground resistance measurement along with a continuity of ground wire test would provide a good check.

It is important to note that the importance of good grounds applies beyond people coming into accidental contact with grounding wires. The electrical wires coming into your home are grounded as are distribution transformers, those large, black, cylindrical devices mounted on power poles. It is absolutely essential that these transformers are well grounded. If the insulation of the transformer breaks down, or if certain wires on the pole break and cross each other the circuit is disabled safely on the pole provided a good ground is installed. If the ground fails, thousands of volts (most likely 2,400 volts) could be delivered to your living room, very possibly causing a fire or delivering a severe shock to those operating electrical equipment since such large voltages play havoc with 117-volt equipment. You could be certain that Idaho Power Co. spokesmen would lament the dryness of the soil and several officials would come by your motel, visit you in the hospital or call on your surviving relatives, as the case may be, to "express regret."

The possibility of this unfortunate situation can be reduced nearly to zero if this utility is forced to comply with nationally recognized standards.

Although Idaho Power Co. must bear primary responsibility for the accident, for it is its equipment that proved unsafe, the accident suggests that both the City of Twin Falls and the Times-News could learn something from it.

In most cities if house wiring is done contrary to the NEC, the city can refuse to allow its operation until the installation complies with the code. If city governments typically take on the responsibility of checking residential wiring in the interest of public safety, should they not also periodically check to make sure the electric utility's equipment is maintained properly? Fines could be assessed to encourage compliance with nationally accepted standards.

It is therefore necessary for

Latest bomb halt linked to possible Vietnam truce

By STEWART HENSLEY

UPI Diplomatic Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon now appears at last to have nailed down a ceasefire agreement and formula for establishing peace in Vietnam.

That was the interpretation in Washington of his decision to halt all bombing as well as to stop any new mining of harbors in North Vietnam.

High administration officials, although disclaiming knowledge of the details of any agreement, acknowledged that Nixon must be very sure that he has a ceasefire agreement with Hanoi that offers a reasonable basis for peace.

They noted that having been badly burned by premature White House declaration Oct. 26 that "peace is at hand," the President this time would want to be doubly certain that the position was firm before announcing a halt in the bombing.

Officials here would not admit to knowledge of the specifics of the amended agreement which presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger worked out in Paris last week. But they pointed out that on the basis of past experience it could be assumed the ceasefire agreement would contain three elements to satisfy the United States and at the same time take account of the necessity for face-saving in both Saigon and Hanoi.

These elements would be:

A firm commitment by Hanoi to release all American prisoners in return for a ceasefire and American withdrawal. Hanoi would abandon its efforts to make release of POWs conditional on the Saigon government of President Nguyen Van Thieu freeing so-called political prisoners it holds.

A generalized formula for re-establishment on some basis, presumably temporarily, of the so-called demilitarized zone separating the North and South which now is in the hands of the North. The formula would have to be such that the South could interpret it as acknowledging there were two independent Vietnams while, at the same time, the North would not have to openly abandon its assertion that there is only one Vietnam, with a rebel government in the South.

An agreement on mutual reduction of forces, reached privately, to cover the eventual removal of the 145,000 North Vietnamese troops in the South which Hanoi has never admitted were there.

The amended agreement also is believed to contain specific provisions for an international force of about 2,000 to police the truce instead of the mere 250 which Hanoi originally was willing to agree to.

Nixon, in a private briefing of Republican leaders last week, said he would not accept an agreement unless it went beyond the release of American POWs.

He was said to have remarked that failure to establish the basis for a firm ceasefire and "bugging out" and abandoning responsibilities.

The original skeleton agreement reached in October provided that within 60 days of a ceasefire, an international conference would be held — including all the major powers concerned — to set up procedures to guarantee a peace agreement.

Nixon presumably believes he has a ceasefire deal which will endure for at least two months, at which time U.S. prisoners will be out and further responsibility for the agreement handed over to an international conference.

That would insulate him from any charges that he had abandoned Saigon after getting American prisoners out.

Analysis

Court to rule on air

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a lower court decision prohibiting introduction of atmosphere-polluting facilities into undeveloped areas having relatively clean air.

The Court will hear arguments later this term on an appeal by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) of the ruling, which was issued Nov. 1 by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The opinion will have an important impact on the air pollution programs of all 50 states.

The lawsuit was brought in federal court here by the Sierra Club, an environmentalist organization, which alleged that EPA was not carrying out the 1970 Clean Air Act.

Just before EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus was required to approve or disapprove state implementation plans under the act, District Judge John H. Pratt barred approval of any which showed "significant degradation" of clean air.

He gave Ruckelshaus four months to determine whether the state plans complied with his order and two more months to publish new regulations for non-complying states.

The Appeals Court affirmed this without comment.

On Nov. 7, Ruckelshaus turned down all the state plans, since none guaranteed against significant deterioration of existing air quality in any part of the state.

On Nov. 30, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, stayed the effect of the appeals court decision pending disposition of EPA's appeal.

The appeal said the lower courts misconstrued the law and if the decisions are allowed to stand they "will significantly impair efforts to alleviate air pollution in heavily polluted metropolitan areas."

"If heat and power sources to serve those areas cannot be located elsewhere, the problems and costs of reducing pollution in them will, at best, be multiplied several fold," EPA told the court.

Elko mine not linked to Sunshine company

ELKO — The Silver Star mine property near Elko, Nev., is not now under option with the Sunshine Mining Co., Kellogg, a Sunshine official said today.

Marvin C. Chase, vice president of the Sunshine Mining Co., Kellogg, said in a letter that information in an article published Dec. 31, was "not released" by the Kellogg company.

"Sunshine Mining dropped its option on the Silver Star property in October of 1972," he said.

"It appears that someone has been making these releases for reasons of their own."

Chase said, "The quotes attributed to me were made at Sunshine's annual meeting on May 2nd, 1972. Since that time, there have been no other releases," he said. "With the exception that Sunshine did cancel its agreement."

High court agrees on school rulings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule later this year whether a federal judge has the power to order a city school system merged with suburban county schools in order to achieve greater integration.

At issue is a precedent-setting order affecting Richmond, Va., schools and two adjacent counties. A U.S. district judge ordered them combined but the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overruled him.

The Supreme Court in a brief order announced that oral arguments would be heard later this term to be followed by a written opinion.

The Court took these other actions: —Decided to hear government's appeal from a lower court ruling which ordered the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to junk any state plan that failed to guarantee against any air pollution of rural areas now free of contamination.

US fund paid for bonuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's lawyer said Monday government loans to the Grumman Corp. for production of F14 Tomcat fighters may have been used to help pay Christmas bonuses to the company's employees.

J. Fred Buzzhardt, the Pentagon general counsel, said the bonuses were considered "a normal part of operational expenses" for Grumman to which "the government has advanced $54 million at 6.75 per cent interest."

He said the Navy was "aware that the bonuses were being paid" and there was nothing wrong with taxpayer money being used for that purpose, since bonuses are "a traditional method of compensation" to Grumman's employees. He said he did not know how much of the $5 million in bonuses was paid with government loan money.

Buzzhardt was called before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee to explain how the loans could have been made to Grumman despite a law passed by Congress last year limiting such transactions under the Defense Production Act of 1950 to $20 million.

Buzzhardt, denying any violation, said the loans were not made under the 1950 act, but an earlier statute permitting advance payments to contractors up to the amount of their contract.

Sen. Harry Byrd Jr., D-Va., subcommittee chairman, said if the Grumman loans did not break the law, they at least ran counter to the intent of Congress, which was to clamp down on unrestricted government lending.

US proposes gas rationing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the federal Environmental Protection Agency, today proposed gasoline rationing in the Los Angeles area in the summer months to fight smog.

Ruckelshaus also proposed mandatory vehicle inspection programs, anti-smog devices for automobiles, conversion of fleet vehicles to other fuels such as natural gas and additional controls on stationary sources such as incinerators.

The smog controls proposed by the EPA would apply not only to Los Angeles but all of Orange and Ventura counties in Southern California and parts of Riverside, San Bernardino and Santa Barbara counties.

Ruckelshaus acknowledged at a news conference the rationing proposals were sure to bring a strident public outcry. Public hearings are set to begin within 30 days on the EPA and other proposals. The report by Ruckelshaus was "forced by a suit filed in U.S. District Court by cities of Riverside and San Bernardino ordering the EPA to make known its clean air standards plan for the Los Angeles area by Jan. 15, 1973.

Similar studies have been ordered in other areas across the nation.

One of the other most drastic provisions of the EPA plan was that all 1971-74 cars and trucks in fleets of 10 or more would be required to convert to run on low-polluting fuels such as natural gas at an estimated per vehicle cost of $500-$800 for the conversion.

A thought for the day: U.S. writer Washington Irving said, "A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use."

Corona jury ordered to try again

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — The judge ordered a deadlocked jury to try again today to decide whether Juan V. Corona killed 25 farm workers in the worst mass murder in U.S. history.

The jury of ten men and two women was told to make another effort to reach a verdict after reporting at a hearing held Monday in state prison that it was stalemated eight to four on a verdict.

Superior Court Judge Richard Patton sent the panel back to Solano County Courthouse by bus from Vacaville State Prison, located 2 miles away, to conclude its fourth day of deliberations.

He asked for a progress report at 1 p.m. today.

The court moved to the prison so Corona, who was hospitalized there during the weekend with a flare-up of his heart problems, could attend the session. It was held in a visitors' room lined with vending machines and the judge used a cafeteria table as his bench.

Corona, 38, a Mexican farm labor contractor from Yuba City, Calif., is charged with murdering and burying 25 men hands to death and burying their bodies in orchards along the Feather River in northern California in 1971.

The jury received the case last Thursday after a four-month trial at which the prosecution called 17 witnesses to substantiate its circumstantial case and the defense rested without calling a witness.

Car makers fail repair payment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., says auto makers recalled more cars than they made last year and should be required to pay for repairs when safety-related recalls are issued.

Present law only requires manufacturers to issue a recall when a safety defect is noted, Nelson said Monday. He said auto firms often do not pay for repairs but are not required to do so.

But Nelson said manufacturers did not pay costs when Corvairs were recalled to fix heaters that leaked fumes.

when Volkswagens were recalled to repair windshield wipers, and when Alfa Romeos were recalled to fix defective brake fluid reservoirs.

Nelson cited statistics from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration that showed that 75 per cent of cars were fixed when the manufacturer paid the costs but only 7.6 per cent of Corvair owners responded when they had to pay repair costs.

The Wisconsin senator said 1,750,735 cars were recalled in 1972—compared to the nine million cars produced domestically.

Disclosure bill planned by solons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., and Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., planned to introduce a bill today to require members of Congress to make an annual public disclosure of their finances.

They said disclosure would alleviate public distrust of Congress.

"More and more Americans view the Congress not as a responsive institution of self-government or an effective check upon the executive branch, but as a giant trading block at which favors are dispensed to the wealthy and powerful in derogation of the public interest," Stevenson said.

Their bill would require members of Congress and congressional employees earning over $22,000 to file public statements on the amount and source of their income, gifts worth more than $100 and a list of their assets, debts and transactions worth more than $5,000.

SS wage lack told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For what must have been the thousandth time in a 35-year career, Robert M. Ball explained Monday why people receiving Social Security pensions are penalized if they earn much money in wages.

It is a sore point Congress and the Social Security system, which Ball has headed for the last decade—are inundated by mail from people over 65 with the same complaint: they paid Social Security taxes all their lives and now they find they cannot receive full pensions if they choose to continue working beyond age 65.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, the 16th day of 1973 with 349 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Capricorn.

Famed American designer and woodcarver Samuel McIntire was born Jan. 16, 1757.

On this day in history:

In 1833, the Pendleton Act went into effect, providing for the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

In 1920, the 18th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution became effective, prohibiting the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors.

In 1942, screen star Carole Lombard, her mother, and 20 other passengers were killed in a commercial airliner crash near Las Vegas. Nev. Miss Lombard was the wife of actor Clark Gable.

In 1970, organized baseball was charged with violating antitrust laws in a federal court suit brought on behalf of St. Louis Cardinals player Curt Flood.

changed the world." He pleaded with his listeners, members of the Senate Committee on Aging—not to change it.

To allow recipients to work beyond 65 and still collect full pensions, he argued, would be to increase benefits for need among the elderly least in need of more—those who are able to work.

It would cost $3 billion, he said, resulting in heavier payroll taxes.

"Social Security," said Ball, "is not an annuity. It is insurance against the loss of earned income."

"It is one of those simple social inventions that has

Gas rationing in LA scorned

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "I don't think you are going to be able to stop people from driving automobiles in this city," said Mayor Sam Yorty.

"Silly and asinine," fumed a television newscaster on the air.

"Impossible: You can declare martial law or something like that, but can you imagine? It would be worse than prohibition," said the chairman of the state Air Resources Board, A. J. Haagen-Smit.

Southern California, which more than any other region of the United States has built a freeway, got the word from the federal government Monday.

The government intends at least on paper to clean up smog by forcing residents of a six-county area around Los Angeles to give up most driving. The weapon: gasoline rationing from May to October—the peak smog season—intended to force auto usage down as low as 18 per cent of the present level.

The reaction, in one way or another, could be summed up as: "They can't do that to us." They probably won't.

Most officials said they doubted the rationing plan would ever become law.

Ruckelshaus pointed out that there will be public hearings at which Southern Californians can voice their protests.

Soviets set car on moon

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet union's unmanned Luna 21 probe landed a Lunokhod-2 robot-mooncar on the moon's surface today, the news agency Tass reported.

Tass said the vehicle transmitted television pictures of the lunar landscape.

Luna 21 was launched eight days ago, ending nearly a one-year Soviet respite from lunar exploration.

The 1,848-ton craft will remain stationary until Thursday, Tass said, then will continue work after recharging its chemical power supply with the help of a solar battery.

Aboard Lunokhod-2 was what the agency described as a "corner reflector" made by French engineers. It said the reflector could continue experiments in laser location of the moon under a Soviet-French pact on cooperation in exploration of outer space.

Female pilots selected

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI)—One of the Navy's first women fliers was barely in the service when she let the brass know she doesn't agree with their restrictions on distaff pilots.

"I would like to be carrier-qualified and I would like to fly jets," said blonde Joellen Drag, 22, of Castro Valley, Calif., one of eight women selected by the Navy as its first female pilots. "And I would not object to flying combat missions."

The Navy announced that its training program for the women will include single and multi-engine prop planes and helicopters, but not jet aircraft or carrier landings since current law prohibits women from flying combat missions.

Miss Drag was sworn into the Navy Reserve recently by her father, retired Navy Cmdr Theodore F. Drag, at ceremonies held beside a T-34 Mentor trainer at Alameda Naval Air Station. Her mother, a former Marine Corps sergeant, watched proudly.

After administering the oath, Drag broke tradition by kissing his daughter.

The new enlistees, who had her blonde hair in bangs and wore boots, said she had wanted to be a professional horse show jumper but decided instead to volunteer for the flying program when it was announced.

The other women fliers are Lt. (jg.) Judith Ann Neuffer, Wooster, Ohio; Lt. (jg.) Barbara Ann Allen, Chula Vista, Calif.; Ensign Kathleen Lou McNary, Plainfield, Ill.; Officer

Miss Partin, Bach exchange promise

BUHL — Susan Diana Partin and Mark David Bach were married in a 2 p.m. rites Dec. 30 at the Carillon Reception Center, Twin Falls.

Leonard H. Ehl, pastor of the Bühl Church of Christ, performed the double ring ceremony before a white velvet floored backdrop centered with wedding bells and blue satin bows and flanked with candleabra holding lighted tapers. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Partin, Buhl, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bach, Buhl.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line silhouette gown of Alencon lace and silk organza, featuring a scalloped sweetheart neckline with victorian sleeves and a redingote skirt of organza. The skirt had an overlay of scalloped lace and a straight draped back. Her long cathedral veil was edged in matching lace.

She carried a cascade of blue carnations and white roses on her first Bible.

Mrs. Dennis Berrett, Pocatello, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Terri Turdy and Sue Owen, both Buhl.

Gary Keith, Buhl, was best man. Ushers were John Fields and Paul Bach, Buhl.

Barbara Burbank was soloist. Organist was Mrs. Charles Langley.

A reception honoring the couple after the ceremony was attended by about 100 guests.

The table was covered with lace over blue and centered with small baskets of blue and white chrysanthemums. The

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY I am pregnant for the first time and a neighbor of mine is trying to talk me into having my baby the "natural" way. She said she took this course at the "Y" in her sixth month, and learned some breathing exercises and muscle control, and had her baby without taking even an aspirin! She said there was some pain, but not nearly as bad as she thought it would be. Also, her husband took the course, too, and he stayed with her during the labor and delivery, which made it a shared experience.

I am undecided as to whether to have my baby the natural way or not. My husband says I'm crazy to suffer any pain at all if I can avoid it, and I'm inclined to agree with him.

Decision is yours

On the other hand, if your husband is right there and sees what you have to go thru, it might make him appreciate you more. Please be honest. My doctor says it's up to me.

DEBBIE

DEAR DEBBIE: It is up to you to decide whether you want to grin and bear it, or take an anesthetic. [The proponents of the "grin and bear it" method swear by it.] As I see it, childbirth will be a truly "shared experience" only when a couple has twins—the wife giving birth to one and her husband giving birth to the other.

DEAR ABBY All my life I have been worried about what other people think, but now that I've reached middle age, I have decided not to be bothered by these bugaboos, and I must say it's a great feeling.

I recently married for the third time. It all happened very fast, but I'm sure this time I've found the right man. Instead of sending the conventional formal marriage announcements, we had our marriage license photographed and printed, and we sent copies to our friends to let them know we are married. We certainly enjoyed the different reactions.

Some people thought we had sent them our original license, and even mailed it back to us. Others thought we just wanted to prove we weren't "shacking up" (which isn't a bad idea nowadays to prove it—I mean!). One man thought someone was trying to force HIM into marriage and it gave him a good scare. A few thought it was in "poor taste," but most of our friends said they always suspected I was nuts, and I finally confirmed it.

What do you think?

LOIS IN SONOMA

DEAR LOIS: It's different.

DEAR ABBY: You would be doing a lot of hard of hearing people a tremendous service if you would explain the following in your column: The hard of hearing wear hearing aids to amplify the sound, so when people discover that one is wearing a hearing aid, why do they start to SHOUT?

Shouting into a hearing aid amplifies the sound to such a penetrating pitch it makes the wearer extremely nervous, and drives him up a wall. Thank you.

WEARS ONE

DEAR WEARS: Here's your letter, and I hope it pears.

Problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90049. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

The four level transfer response to an opening no trump bid was invented around 1951 by David Carter of St. Louis and independently by Otto Willner of Stockholm. Willner also extended it to the three level and Richard Frosel of Minneapolis extended it down to the two level.

In 1955 Oswald Jacoby took Frosel's idea, amplified it and developed the Jacoby transfer bids that are now in general expert use in every part of the world.

The basic principle of the Jacoby transfer is that a two diamond response to a no trump opening says nothing about diamonds but guarantees that responder holds at least five hearts. In similar manner the two heart response guarantees at least five spades.

Today's hand shows the Jacoby transfer at work. North's two diamond bid tells South to bid hearts. North's rebid to three hearts invites a game contract and South is delighted to accept the invitation.

Four hearts makes easily and would also make if North were declarer, but the transfer bid gave North a chance to invite game. Without the transfer bid North would probably have contented himself with two heart response and game might not have been reached.

Health district gets move extension

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — South-Central Idaho Health District board members were given a three-month extension Monday night on vacating their office space in city hall.

Health board members and county commissioners William L. Chaney, Twin Falls; Claude Bernard, Jerome; and Nelson King, Gooding, met with the Twin Falls City Council Monday night and asked for a delay in the announced date of Jan. 1, 1974, by which the health district laboratories and offices are to vacate the second floor space in city hall.

They asked for one year or six months minimum which was reduced to three months as a final compromise and they must now vacate the area April 1, 1974.

Chaney said this would give the counties time to prepare some financing by the time the 1974 budgets are adopted.

In a meeting Monday afternoon in the Twin Falls County Courthouse, Fifth District County Commissioners' association members heard a plan presented by Dr. Wayne Carle, medical director of the district.

He asked each county to appropriate a $1 per capita amount from their revenue sharing money for 1972 and 1973 to help build a 150,000 new health center building.

This $1 per capita would provide $102,000, Dr. Carle said, and the district has about $25,000 from sewer inspections and fees it could use for the building program.

If the district still owed about $25,000 at the end of 1973 it could be budgeted by the counties with no heavy cost burden, he said.

Dr. Carle said he has received estimates of $20 per square foot of space from several contractors and believes the building could be built within the proposal he presented Monday.

He has met with most of the counties earlier to ask them to budget some revenue sharing money for the health district.

Commissioners from about five of the eight counties said they have already budgeted their portion of the costs from revenue sharing money.

Walden County, for example, set aside $17,000 or $1 per capita for the county population.

Commissioners there said they put the amount in their 1973 budget as of this week with the idea, if it was needed it would be available but other counties did not approve the plan the money would not have to be spent.

Claude Bernard, Jerome County, voiced opposition to the plan, saying his county has already budgeted all revenue sharing money to be received this year and said his county is opposed to building a building in another county.

"We wouldn't object to lending to another county, but using our money to help build a building in someone else's county is something else again," he said.

Chaney, chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission, said his county which would pay the largest share, $41,000 feels this is the way to go as the district must have a home.

He said the county has land available behind the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where the building could be located.

Commissioner Merl Leonard, Twin Falls County, said the county might wish some consideration for the land value in paying their per capita share.

Weldon Heck, Cassia County, chairman of the district organization, said his county also has land behind their hospital and would donate it. He agreed the district headquarters should be located in Twin Falls, center of the district population, but he said Twin Falls County should be willing to give the land.

John Clark, Cassia County, said all of that county's money is committed but the tentative budget has not been adopted and some last minute changes could probably be made if the other counties wished to take action now.

Several suggestions were made to rent for one year and make more definite plans for construction in 1974.

Beck appointed Chaney, Bernard and King to meet with Twin Falls City and see if a delay in the Jan. 1, 1974, deadline could be obtained and to look into exact regulations on revenue sharing money use and possibly into available rental facilities.

Beck said he would call another meeting in about 10 days in Jerome to hear a report from the committee.

Most commissioners expressed support of a new building plan rather than remodeling of the old American Legion Hall in Twin Falls, an alternative. This would cost about $50,000 and when complete would be shared with the American Legion and owned by the city of Twin Falls. There is not sufficient parking within less than a block of the building, Dr. Carle said.

City council members told the Monday night delegation they have been given two years notice for vacating the city hall offices and they could not wait another year or six months. City engineering department personnel needs the space now, it was pointed out.

TF airport funds given

TWIN FALLS — A check for $30,000 in state airport improvement participation was personally presented Monday by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Gov. Andrus stopped briefly at the Twin Falls City County Airport on a flight back to Boise. He was accompanied by Darrel V. Manning, Idaho director of aeronautics.

"I wish it were more," the governor said, in presenting the money to Mayor John Christoffersen and County Commission Chairman William L. Chaney.

This is the state's recognition of the importance of air transportation in the Magic Valley. We feel any and all improvements to the Twin Falls airport help the entire air transportation system of the state, Andrus said.

The governor said the investment landing system at the airport "will greatly increase the utility of the airport by both private and commercial planes. Among other things, this will lower the minimums for landing in foul weather and will result in fewer flyovers."

He said state is anxious to help sustain passenger service and general aviation use at the local field. He explained the $30,000 is for the 1972 improvement work at the airport and helps cover land purchase, engineering and installation of improvements.

He noted a year ago the state provided $100,000. The state's revenue is derived from the user's tax on fuel at airports throughout the state.

A group of city and county officials and a number of Democratic party officials were at the airport Monday morning to greet the governor and Manning.

Gooding ok's 5% pay hike

GOODING — Gooding City Council authorized a five percent pay increase for all city employees in a meeting Monday night.

In other council action, the rate for a meter hookup and installation was increased from $30 to $100 in order to meet costs to the city for labor and material.

The increase will make the charge comparable with other cities' charges, according to councilman Earl Greenwood.

An increase in the advance deposit for city water for businesses was also discussed. The council recommended amending the present ordinance to increase the rate to a maximum of $50 at the discretion of the council.

Also $5,000 was transferred from the sewer department to the water department to pay the water department for funds used for sewer bonds and $4,000 also was transferred from the general fund to the street fund to take that department out of the red.

Total expenditures for streets during 1972 was $69,512 compared to a revenue of $66,901. A balance of $9,018 left streets with $26,000 in the red necessitating the transfer.

Mayor Harley Crippen informed council members that the city was watching the ice conditions on the Lathle Wood River for possible flooding, and that the river was "jammed up from the east to the west side of town."

A city employee checks river conditions once each hour for rising waters. Crippen said that sandbags and dynamite are ready, if necessary.

Mrs. Ray Hendrix and Tom Morrison have been appointed to serve on the newly formed city planning commission. Mrs. Phil Becker, Fred Locke and Eugene Gibbons have also been asked to serve.

Mayor Crippen will meet with Jesse Burns of Idaho Power to discuss converting city lights from incandescent to mercury vapor.

The airport term lease has expired, according to councilman Valda Gray, and a new lease is being considered which will raise the rent. The city currently leases 172 acres at $6 per acre.

Mayor Crippen will attend the Idaho Traffic Safety Conference in Boise Feb. 26 and 27.

KETCHUM — The City Council put a brake on building permit requests Monday night until a definite statement on sewer treatment plant usage could be obtained.

Mayor Kenneth Richey recommended action be deferred on the applications until after an executive council meeting with city engineers scheduled for Jan. 24.

City building inspector John Jacobs requested the meetings include permits approved by the council but which have not received his final approval making a total of 60 to 70 housing units involved.

After Monday night's meeting, Richey said questions to be settled on the Ketchum sewer treatment plant, which is shared on a 50-50 basis with Sun Valley. We present usage compared to capacity and Ketchum's percentage of usage.

During the meeting Richey said, "Everyone has a different philosophy" on the "questions" there has got to be some rule of thumb," he said.

STATE participation of $30,000 in the 1972 Twin Falls airport improvement project was personally presented Monday by Gov. Cecil Andrus. Receiving the state money were Councilman Winston Jones, Mayor John Christoffersen, from left, Gov. Andrus and at right County Commissioner William L. Chaney.

Roberts asks investing plan

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Times-News writer

BOISE — Rep. William Roberts, R-Idaho, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has suggested investing a portion of Idaho's revenue sharing money in water and education.

He said a pending lawsuit involving the taking of school endowment funds for state, patch purposes, without adequate compensation might be indirectly settled by putting revenue sharing money into the school endowment fund, where it would draw interest for the use of the schools in future years.

We have already been up the river, he said, and that fund is used to provide loans for small local and private water development projects.

Roberts did endorse one of Gov. Cecil Andrus' proposals for using the money to widen the farm-to-market highway to the American Falls Dam.

The legislature, he expects that revenue sharing will turn out to be either a temporary program or else a program replacing the present system of grants for special projects.

Ketchum puts brakes on building

The mayor said he believes one problem stems from when the survey was made in 1964 for the sewer district and treatment plant that officials did not foresee multi-family and condominium dwellings.

In other action, the council tabled discussion on a recommendation by Jacoby that building permit fees be doubled. After the meeting, he said the additional funds could be used to improve the fire department and to meet other problems created by increased development.

Presently, he said, a few of about $200 is charged for a $30,000 home.

The council also directed the city attorney to draw up an ordinance to adopt the Uniform Fire Code at the request of Fire Chief Bill Brand.

He said the primary purpose of a fire department is to prevent fires and secondly to extinguish fires.

The last three fires fought by the department could have been prevented if the fire code had been in effect, he said.

Provisions in the code particularly needed by Ketchum, Brand said, include requiring a permit for hydrant use to allow supervision by the department and requiring large complexes and plant facilities under construction to install hydrants so that any portion of the building could be reached by 100 feet of hose.

In further action, the council adopted an interim appropriation ordinance allocating $25,000 for city expenses and salaries until the annual appropriation ordinance is passed.

He tabled a plan for renaming certain streets until city engineers can be consulted to determine costs on the move.

Concluded the regular meeting with an executive session to discuss city personnel and to work on the 1973 budget.

Rezone meet

JEROME — The Jerome City Council will hear a recommendation tonight on a proposed rezoning of the city.

The recommendation will be from the Jerome Zoning Commission which adopted the proposal last week following a public hearing at which over 50 people attended to protest a proposal to limit the placement of trailer houses to one area of the town only.

The commission at the public hearing acted on a motion by Mike Sullivan, to be presented tonight, that recommended the City Council defer its decision on the proposed ordinance pending a complete rezoning of the city.

The council will meet in regular session at 8 p.m. at the city hall tonight. The meeting is open to the public.

State school funds outlined

BOISE — Gobling's State School would receive a 1973-74 appropriation of $972,009 if Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' budget request meets with legislative approval.

In his executive budget presented to the legislature last week, Andrus proposed that the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind be given an increase of $20,192 over its estimated 1972-73 expenditures of $1,051,817 for the school, nearly $50,000 would come from federal programs, while the remaining $972,211 would be raised from general fund and other state sources.

Federal programs show a $5,000 increase in the proposed budget over the current year.

Andrus' budget also includes a request for $40,000 for maintenance of the vacant tuberculosis hospital in Gooding. The state maintains the building year around.

Andrus' request for funding for the hospital is the same as a year ago.

Installation set

BOISE — A Castleford 1646 will be among the new members sworn in to terms on the Idaho State Water Resources Board Wednesday.

Don Krueger was named treasurer on the board last week by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus. The new members will be formally installed in a 10 a.m. Wednesday ceremony in the governor's office.

Other members of the board are Franklin Jones, Boise; Ferris M. Munz, Montpelier; and Joe Nettleton, Murphy. Kunz and Nettleton were re-appointed.

All of the appointments are for four-year terms, with the terms expiring Jan. 1, 1977.

Jerome approves tentative budget

JEROME — Jerome County Commissioners Monday set a tentative budget of $526,200 for 1973.

The figure, about six per cent over the 1972 budget of $494,850, does not include Jerome County revenue sharing funds which total $120,000.

The total budget, with the revenue funds, would be $646,200 or about 25 per cent over the previous year.

County Auditor Virginia Ricketts said a major increase in the budget is for the sheriff's department which has $20,500 increase over the past year for a total of $40,087.

The federal revenue sharing funds will be used for numerous improvements to update the heating and cooling systems and for capital outlays at the Sanitary landfill.

A public hearing on the tentative budget is set for Feb. 12.

Inquest not set

KETCHUM — The coroner's inquest has not yet been scheduled into the shooting death Sunday morning of Dennis John Smith, 25, Ketchum.

According to Blaine County prosecutor, Stephen W. Boller, a date will be set as soon as results from drug and alcohol tests taken on Smith are received.

The tests have been sent to Denver, Colo., for analysis.

In the case, which Ketchum Police Chief Dennis Haynes said was believed to be justifiable homicide pending the results of the inquest, Smith was allegedly shot and killed by James Scott, 43, Ketchum, after Smith allegedly broke into Scott's home at about 3 a.m. Sunday Monday. Smith's body was flown to Ellensburg, Wash., for funeral services.

Minidoka hires six new teachers

RUPERT — Minidoka school trustees hired six teachers and accepted the resignations of three others, in a meeting Monday night.

Kathy Lee Armstrong, a graduate of Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, will teach third grade at Heyburn Elementary. She will receive $3,257 for the remainder of the academic year.

A Lewis and Clark State College graduate, Danny Morton, will finish the year as fourth grade teacher at Lincoln Elementary. She will receive $3,257 for the remainder of the academic year.

A Lewis and Clark State College graduate, Danny Morton, will finish the year as fourth grade teacher at Lincoln Elementary for a salary of $2,975.

Rosa D. Reilly will teach the migrant class at Pershing Elementary. She is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles. Her salary is undetermined until her college transcript can be evaluated.

Utah State graduate Allen Peck will teach fourth grade at Heyburn Elementary for $2,913 this year.

Special education classes at Acquia will be assigned Lynn Welch, a graduate of Eastern Washington College. She will receive $3,810 plus $192 for special education instruction.

Mrs. Angie Carroll, a teacher trainee under the B-2 program with South Idaho University, will work with first and second graders at Paul Elementary. The contract calls for a salary of $750 during the second semester.

The board approved the resignations of Mrs. Angie Jensen, migrant teacher at Pershing; Mrs. Josephine Durfee, fourth grade teacher at Heyburn; and Mrs. Mary Balsiger, fourth grade instructor at Lincoln Elementary.

The resignations were submitted for health and personal reasons.

In other action, the trustees agreed to call for bids for the granting of East and West Shiner junior high schools. Bids will be opened at the next meeting on Feb. 19.

The school officials took the action after Brown and Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, the contractor for the junior highs, refused to do the granting by Dec. 31, 1972.

The trustees claim that the construction contract included the granting work. "We will sue Brown and Mitchell for the expense of getting the granting done," Minidoka Supt. Dr. Darrell Hatfield said.

Bids will also be called for in extending the bus garage at Paul. They will be opened Feb. 19.

The extension will allow two-stall bus maintenance at the garage after a 9-foot by 40-foot section is added on the west side.

The school trustees also approved the sale of a school bus to Crawford Salvage Co. Heyburn for $200 and a 1966 passenger car to Willard Warren, Paul, for $20.

Required all school district administrators and extended the contracts of the superintendent and assistant superintendent to June 30, 1976.

Agreed to join the Idaho A. S. School Association. According to Dr. Hatfield, the association represents the 20 largest school districts in the state, including nearly 60 per cent of the students.

The organization will promote the general welfare of its members. The initial goals of the group will include the promotion of statewide school reorganization and the adoption of proposals recently drafted by the state board of education's ad hoc committee.

Annual dues paid by members ($250 for Minidoka) will go toward the hiring of a fulltime lobbyist in the state legislature, Hatfield said.

Approved sick leave for remainder of the school year due to an operation.

UCLA eyes 60 straight, can move to within one

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA's mighty Bruins can move to within one victory of equalling University of San Francisco's all-time record of 60 straight with a pair of wins next weekend but the Bruin coaching staff is worried about No. 50.

"USF is a very fine ball club," UCLA assistant coach Gary Cunningham told the Southern California basketball writers Monday.

"They can shoot from the outside, they're a strong rebounding team, they run well and they're strong on defense. I'm very impressed with them."

Cunningham, who scouted the Bruins face the 11th-rated USP Dons here Friday night.

Dons' 109-92 romp over Loyola of Los Angeles at San Francisco last Thursday night added to their record against Loyola and converted many points off their fast break.

Defensively, they play both zone and man-to-man effectively. After facing the 12-1 Dons, UCLA, which is 12-0 this season and 4-0 in Pacific-8 play, is at Pauley Pavilion against Providence Saturday night.

Providence will come West with a 10-1 record. The Bruins won two conference games last weekend, 82-67 at Stanford and 69-50 at California.

"We were pleased with our defense but we weren't overly pleased with our offense," Cunningham noted. "Still, it's nice to win two on the road."

Page, Hadl to replace injured in NFC-AFC tilt

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — San Diego quarterback John Hadl and Minnesota defensive tackle Alan Page were named Monday to replace injured All-Stars in Sunday's AFC-NFC Pro Bowl contest.

Hadl will replace Joe Namath of the New York Jets and Page, the player of the year in 1971, will play for Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys.

Under the Pro Bowl rules, injured players are replaced by the person who finished next in line for balloting at that position.

Hadl finished in a third place in balloting for the AFC's quarterback behind Namath and Oakland's Daryle Lamonica. Hadl was tied with Earl Morrall of the world champion Miami Dolphins, who replaced injured Bob Griese early in the season and played a major role in the Dolphins' unprecedented undefeated season.

But Morrall, whose only role in the Super Bowl game was to hold for kicker Garo Yepremian, told Pro Bowl officials that his wife is late in having a baby and said he would rather return home than play in the Pro Bowl.

Hadl is an 11-year veteran who played his collegiate ball at Kansas. Earlier this season Namath said if he was a coach and could have any pro quarterback to lead his team he would choose Hadl.

The team physician for the Jets said Namath could not play because of an injury.

Page, a six-year veteran who was injured early in the season but finished strong, will play for Lilly who is being forced out of the game by the same back injury that knocked him out of the playoff contest against the San Francisco 49ers.

Davis will play again

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — USC star running back Anthony Davis, who suffered leg injuries in a weekend car accident, said Monday there is "no question" that he will again play football and baseball for the Trojans.

Davis held a news conference from his hospital wheelchair and told newsmen he could not remember the accident happening.

The California Highway Patrol said Davis apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his sports car and crashed into a light standard.

Davis, 20, best known for the six touchdowns he scored against Notre Dame last season, suffered a punctured kneecap in his right leg and a partially severed Achilles tendon in his left ankle in the crash Saturday.

Hayes pleads innocent

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — A plea of innocent was entered today for Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes of a misdemeanor charge arising from a camera-shooting incident with a photographer in the Rose Bowl.

Hayes was not required to appear for the arraignment and the plea was entered by his attorney, Andrew R. Edwards.

Art Rogers, a photographer for the Los Angeles Times, claimed Hayes pushed Rogers camera back into his face while he was trying to take pictures on the field shortly before the opening kickoff of the New Year's Day game with the University of Southern California.

Rogers filed a citizen's complaint, saying his eye was injured, and the Pasadena prosecutor issued the misdemeanor battery complaint.

Eagles dominate ISU frosh, 86-60

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News sports editor

College of Southern Idaho, its guard line again providing 44 points, took command in the early minutes Monday night and rolled over the Idaho State frosh 86-60.

The Eagles, running their record to 14-1, will leave Thursday for a weekend series against North Idaho JC at Coeur d'Alene Friday and Saturday. Those games could well be a preview of this year's regional finals.

Following the game, Coach Jerry Hale said frosh forward George Schuffano had left the team and school to return to the east. He said the Lyndhurst, N.J., youngster felt he was unable to adapt to western living and he wanted to play closer to home.

ISU, boasting three Magic Valley men in its starting lineup, played without sophomore Brent Cutright, expected to be a key player.

Carrying a gun requires license

Idaho fish and game law requires that a person hunting or taking game or carrying an unlicensed rifle or shotgun in the field or forest of Idaho must have a valid hunting license.

There are certain exceptions. One of these is that no one under the age of 12 years is permitted to carry an unlicensed rifle or shotgun in Idaho or to hunt at any time.

Federal law requires that each person 16 years of age or older who hunt ducks or geese must have in his possession a federal migratory stamp of current issue.

The stamp must be signed in ink with the holder's name. However, the duck stamps issued during 1972 for the 1972-73 waterfowl season remains valid through the current season.

Persons 70 years of age or over who have been residents for at least 10 years are exempted from licensing requirements but a valid free permit is available from the fish and game department.

It is unlawful to hunt, shoot at, kill or attempt to kill any game animal with a 22 caliber rifle using rimfire cartridges.

Shotguns may be used to hunt any big game animal with no restrictions on shot size. Pistols, except .22 caliber, may be used on big game.

Nixon telephones congratulations

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon, who did not hide his support for the Washington Redskins in the Super Bowl, telephoned Coach Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins Monday to personally convey his congratulations.

Nixon, who warmed the bench as a substitute during his days at Whittier College, is an avid football fan who fancies himself somewhat of an expert in the game. Unlike many other politicians, he does not hesitate to make his favorites known.

Wildlife meet set

The Idaho Wildlife Federation will convene at Twin Falls for its 30th annual convention March 23. President Bob Thomas of Coeur d'Alene announced recently.

Convention theme will be "Land Use Planning" and the program to address federation members will be Roger Hanson of the Rocky Mountain Center on Environment in Colorado.

10,000 greet Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — Police blocked off a section of a busy street beside Miami International Airport Monday to make way for thousands of Miami Dolphin fans gathering to welcome home the new world football champions from Super Bowl VII.

Police estimated 10,000 people would crowd into an eastern Air Lines parking lot beside the runway where the Miami team's charter jet was due at 8:25 p.m. EST.

When you're 17-0," he said, "you can't talk about being unhappy in any arena."

Park, finance panel clash over fund limit

BOISE (UPI) — Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park told the Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee Monday it did not have the legal right to limit inter-account billings and expenditure of those funds.

Park's comments followed extensive questioning by committee members on why the attorney general's budget reflected a $137,486 increase over his appropriation for the current fiscal year.

"Our office never viewed this as a limitation," Park said, referring to the $79,000 estimation of general inter-account billings in his appropriations compared to the $26,486 which showed up in the estimated expenditure for the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Park added, "Nor do we think the committee has the right to limit this."

The attorney general's office requested under a continuation budget just more than a $100,000 increase for the 1973-74 fiscal year. His current budget is $671,876.

Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, co-chairman of the committee, said the legislature had limited the attorney general's office to $79,000 in inter-account billings and it ended up spending $26,486.

"The difference should have gone back into the general fund," Roberts said.

Roberts questioned where in the statutes it gives agencies the power to spend more of these inter-account billings than specified by the legislature.

Park said if he had been limited to the $79,000 he would have either spent it in the first four months of the fiscal year or spread them over the period.

"This would have caused havoc," he said.

The attorney general said if he did not provide the legal service for agencies they would have to get their own attorneys and that would cost the state money.

He added that he had a constitutional right as the state's chief legal officer and he would protect that responsibility even if he had to go to court.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the committee, said Park requested 33 employees for his office and before this fiscal year is over he already has 68.

"Does this request mean anything?" High asked.

"Yes it does... things come up," Park said.

Park said, for example, he has entered into a program with the state department of social and rehabilitation services to collect money from fathers who fail to pay child support.

He said these additional programs require additional staff, but the state receives money in return for the efforts.

Control lack hit

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for the attorney general's office told members of the Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee Monday "lack of judgment and poor management procedures caused personnel problems in the Bureau of Drug Control's regional office in Pocatello."

David Blackwell, administrative assistant in the attorney general's office which is responsible for the Bureau of Drug Control, said the poor judgment and management was on the regional level and not in the attorney general's office.

The problems in the Pocatello office have resulted in two resignations, the firing of one agent, and the requested resignation of two more.

Blackwell said better screening and examinations of potential employees may solve such problems in the future.

Library tax studied

BOISE (UPI) — The House Revenue and Taxation Committee referred to its ratification study subcommittee Monday a proposal to enact a real estate transfer tax to fund the state library.

State Librarian Helen Miller, who admitted taking the idea from the tax committee's 100 percent public school funding proposal of last year, said it would raise between $100,000 and $500,000 per year.

She suggested the state tax such transactions at $3 for the first $1,000 and $1 for each succeeding $1,000. She suggested the state retain the first $2 and put it into the library fund.

Vandals lose

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — The University of Puget Sound Loggers outscored Idaho by a 20-4 margin midway in the second half Monday night and went on to post a 56-36 basketball victory over the Vandals.

Sophomore Fred Cam led the Loggers with 16 points. Carl Peterson clipped in with 10 points and 16 rebounds and Sam May had 11 points and hauled down 14 rebounds.

Chris Clark led Idaho with eight points and Ty Fitzpatrick had six. Roger Davis of the Vandals scored just four points but picked off 14 rebounds.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Loggers, who led 20-15 at the half.

Gold bill in WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho's Junior Senator introduced his first bill in the U.S. Senate Monday to give Americans the right to buy and hold gold.

Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said he introduced the bill on three different occasions during the years he served in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"The American people have forfeited so much of their personal liberties to Washington over the years that an all-powerful central government is almost taken for granted," he said.

"Any reason for denying Americans the right to buy gold has long since passed. Yet, as with many laws, the bureaucracy opposes repeal simply because it fears any change in the status quo."

Equal fund measure hit

BOISE (UPI) — A member of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee said Monday a bill to equalize school funding in Idaho may be the first step to do away with the three chartered school districts in the state.

The measure, designed to raise to 30 mills from 22 the amount levied in school districts in Idaho, was unanimously voted out of the senate committee Monday and introduced on the senate floor.

The measure is also designed to put the state's school funding scheme in line with the courts, avoiding later challenges.

"I fear this could be the first step to end the chartered districts," Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise, told United Press International. "If this is the first step — which I hate to believe — I would oppose it vigorously."

The charter in the three districts allows them to levy additional mills from property tax for educational purposes, Cobbs said. If this were ended it would "be a disaster to education in Boise."

Cobbs, who voted for the introduction of the measure, said the committee would have come under criticism if it had not introduced the measure because of the long hours put into the proposal by the State Board of Education's ad hoc committee studying school funding.

"I think the people of Boise and the other chartered districts are proud of their educational systems," Cobbs said. "If we lost the charter and had to cut back to 30 mills it would cut in half the funds available to schools."

The other two chartered districts are in Lewiston and Emmett.

Cobbs said it would be as easy to let all school districts in the state have the charter benefit, rather than taking away the three that now exist.

Jerry Evans, chairman of the ad hoc committee, said the committee had "wrestled" with the problem of charter district but could not come up with a solution.

He said the bill may solve 95 percent of the school funding equalization problems and the other five percent will have to be solved another day.

Other provisions in the measure would allow school districts five years to return to the 30 mill levy if they are presently over that amount.

The bill would also require the separation of the costs of transportation and general education. Presently, according to Evans, school districts are taking the costs of transportation "off the top."

Presently, he said, there is no way of knowing how much money is going to transportation.

Evans said if the legislation is passed "there will be little challenge from the courts."

Presently, there are court cases challenging the property tax method of supporting schools, because some wealthy districts have a higher quality of education.

Gem tax credits Mortgage controls proposed

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee Monday tabled a bill which would have restored the "double deductibility" feature in Idaho's income tax.

The 1972 law eliminated federal income tax payments as deductions in computing state income taxes.

Chairman Warren Brown, R-McCall, said he had been informed by attorneys that the measure could not originate in the Senate and must come from the House. All revenue bills originate in the House.

The last session of the legislature imposed the new law with the understanding it would raise about $2.6 million more in taxes. That included $1.6 million in individual income tax and $1 million in corporate taxes.

In effect, the measure would provide for interest rates greater than 10 percent on certain real estate loans.

Mortgage controls proposed

BOISE (UPI) — The House Business Committee called Monday for introduction of legislation that, in effect, would put small loan companies into the second mortgage business.

As written, both the lender and the borrower have to agree in writing to bring loans secured by an interest in land under provisions of the Uniform Consumer Credit Code.

State Finance Commissioner Tom McEldowney told the committee more second mortgages are coming under the UCCC by this means.

A proposal from his office would put loans secured by an interest in land under provisions of the consumer credit code if the interest rate exceeds 10 percent.

Action asked Ponce de Leon

BOISE (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee called for introduction Monday of a bill which is designed to expedite decisions by magistrates.

The proposal would bring magistrates under a section of law which cuts off pay for district judges if they have heard final arguments on a case and not settled it within 30 days.

Fight looms over rights amendment

BOISE (UPI) — Just about a year ago the Idaho legislature became the third in the country to ratify the 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which gives equal rights to women. Now, some lawmakers feel that action was a bit hasty.

The House Judiciary Committee Monday proposed that Idaho rescind its ratification of the amendment.

Freshman Rep. Ralph Gines, R-Nampa, said, "I'm not sure the legislature had the time or took the time to study the amendment and what it does."

Gines said he had many calls from women in his district. "They are concerned about what it does—whether it would have some adverse consequences to the rights of women and the family structure," he said.

Agreeing with him was Rep. Wayne Loveless, D-Pocatello. "I have had nothing in my area create more comment than this," he said.

Loveless successfully moved a resolution to be introduced to rescind the ratification.

But while the committee moved to introduce the resolution, some legislators including the only woman on the committee vowed to fight the action.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, called the action "very ill-considered."

Miss McDermott, an attorney, said she understands there is precedent for the Congress both to accept or reject a subsequent action of a state in such a matter before formal ratification.

But Loveless, also an attorney, said the "constitutional research has been done" and Idaho can rescind its action if the required 38 states have not yet ratified it.

But Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, an attorney, said she will oppose the measure if it ever reaches the Senate.

"I'm strongly opposed to it. In my thinking women should have the same freedom as any other person and as individuals to go into an occupation or profession each one prefers."

Forecast ban eyed

BOISE (UPI) — A senate memorial recommending a halt to predictions and results of presidential elections by radio and television networks until the polls close across the nation was introduced in the Idaho Senate Monday.

The Memorial, which petitions the U.S. Congress and the Federal Communications Commission, said there are variations in the time the polls across the country close and such predictions and results could "have a drastic effect on national presidential elections."

The memorial, which was also directed at the major television and radio networks, said the American people "deserve and should be granted the assurance of a free, democratic election process."

Contest lid asked

BOISE (UPI) — A Fish and Game Department proposal to outlaw contests on harvest of fish and game except for those with awards of $25 or less was held for further study Monday.

Members of the House Resources and Conservation Committee said they felt the legislation was "unnecessary."

They said if the main purpose was to protect salmon and steelhead the department has the power to enforce fishing and hunting regulations and the commission can set bag limits.

Later, repay social obligations that are important. Avoid one whose thinking is negative. LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Handle civic affairs well and show you are an absolutely A-1 citizen. You have to get new equipment if you are to handle some vocational work particularly well. Don't labor under an unnecessary handicap. SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) This is the right day to get some new idea rolling that will bring you added income, revenue. Make new and efficient associates who can be most helpful to you. Drive away fear and be more sure of yourself. SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Study those monetary responsibilities well and handle them with intelligence today. Don't neglect taxes and insurance. An expert can give right pointers about new investments you are considering. CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Use tact and courtesy in dealing with partners today since they are in a very peevish mood. Show you are objective where needed changes are concerned. A little firmness is wise here. AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) There is plenty of work ahead of you and this suits you to a T since you like nothing better than to be gambitally employed. Describe your plan to co-workers so they understand it and can work along with you intelligently. Remain tonight. PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Having a good time is fine today provided you do not bring people together who do not like each other, so stick to companions. Some creative idea you have needs a little revision for more success with it. Work some tonight. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those very cooperative young people if you teach early not to be so sensitive and self-absorbed that others will barely want to say hello to your progeny. If you make sure the diet is right, this can be very helpful. There is a good mind here that needs the right kind of education, which should be slanted toward such things as banking, selling, engineering, beauty culture, etc. Not very good at sports. "The Stars smile, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Fine man, Confucius. Did he wear an awfully picky enter. It's said he divorced his wife because she didn't cook to suit him. He liked his meat cut perfectly square. No matter how good the rice, he complained it was never white enough.

OUR LANGUAGE MAN says the Polynesians use the word stomach frequently where we would use the word heart. Like, "I love you with all my stomach." Or "It is my stomach that felt better." Or "Come on, have a stomach." Like that.

THOSE matrimonial surveytakers who ask such intimate questions recently found out that 17 out of every 100 mothers still married had conceived their first baby before the wedding ceremony.

THE SHINY SHOES

Overweight men who go to their jobs in business suits tend to have shinier shoes than the thin fellows. Such is the claim of the hidden-camera researchers. But they say they don't know why. Believe it's because overweight men usually sit down, hold their shoes in their hands, so take a little more time to polish them, while the wiry boys simply stand on one leg, bend over, and buff away. That's a guess.

Q. "ASK YOUR Love and War man if it's possible for me love my wife and hate her all at once."

A. He says no, but you can do both alternately. Our L. and W. man says love and hate cannot be aimed simultaneously at the same target. Just as gratitude and resentment cannot be felt at exactly the same time by the same person. He's thinking about hiring a hall to discuss this further.

EGGPLANT, I GUE!

On that list of dishes most disliked by the average man, eggplant now ranks No. 4. As previously reported, buttermilk is No. 1, beans No. 2 and oysters No. 3.

THAT IS THAT weapon most apt to be used by a suicidal teenage boy is a bottle of pills. Do you know what the suicidal teenage boy is most likely to use? Correct, the car.

AM I ASKED Stephen Foster's most popular song. That would be "Old Folks at Home." He made about $15 on that one. But frittered it away.

YOU CAN'T BE sure which generation you belong to by which of the "State Fair" movies you remember. In 1932, that film starred Janet Gaynor, Lew Ayres and Will Rogers. In 1945, the leads were Jeanne Crain, Dick Haymes and Charles Winberger. And in 1967, those thespians were Pat Boone, Ann-Margret and Tom Fellew. Which do you recall?
