Paternalism end vowed

Addresses nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, looking past Vietnam to a new era of world peace, took the presidential oath for a second term Saturday and promised to substitute stern self-reliance for the government's "condescending policies of paternalism" at home and abroad.

Federal troops and police kept thousands of antiwar protesters under strict guard throughout Washington as Nixon, standing coolly in a chill north wind on the Capitol steps, delivered a spartan inaugural prescription of hard work, pride in country and old-fashioned individualism for the next four years.

The President drew the loudest applause from the shivering crowd when he declared that "America was built not by government, but by people — not by welfare, but by work — not by shirking responsibility, but by seeking responsibility."

Nixon mentioned Vietnam only in passing and without any reference to White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger's new negotiating session in Paris next Tuesday with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho. He said at one point that "America's longest and most difficult war" was drawing to a close.

He declared "we stand on the threshold of a new era of peace in the world" in which the United States would bring on its new relations with the Soviet Union and China but would "expect others to do their share" in "defense of their freedom."

Domestically, the President paraphrased a line from John F. Kennedy's inaugural address of 1960 when he said: "Let each of us ask — not just what will government do for me, but what can I do for myself?" He promised to transfer more responsibility from the government to the people.

A couple of demonstrators shouted "Killer! Killer!" when Nixon, his left hand resting on two family Bibles, repeated the 35-word oath to "protect and defend the Constitution" after Chief Justice Warren E. Burger at one minute past noon.

Someone yelled "stop the war!" after Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was sworn in. Both outbursts were clearly audible in the midst of the throng jamming the East Plaza of the Capitol, but neither Nixon nor Agnew gave any sign of noticing.

Later, during Nixon's triumphant ride down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House at the head of the inaugural parade, about 100 jeering protesters massed at an intersection a block away from the Treasury and tossed apples, oranges and other debris in the direction of the President's limousine.

Nixon, standing alongside his wife through the open roof of the car, turned toward the demonstrators, raised both arms in a "V" sign and halfway lunged for some passing fruit that fell wide of its mark. The limousine was never hit as Secret Service agents scrambled to intercept the flying debris.

Thousands jeer Nixon Viet stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite signs that peace is near, an estimated 60,000 persons rallied at the Washington Monument Saturday to condemn President Nixon's Vietnam policy on his second inauguration. It was the biggest antiwar showing here in almost two years.

No incidents of serious violence were reported. Washington police said they arrested 19 men, one woman and two juveniles during the day. One of the men was charged with carrying a concealed knife and four men were charged with possession of narcotics in addition to disorderly conduct.

A relatively small number in the predominantly young, white crowd also carried the protest to the U. S. Capitol during the inauguration ceremonies there. Two demonstrators shouted "killer" three times while Chief Justice Warren E. Burger administered the oath of office to Nixon and some others hoisted banners denouncing the President as "The Mad Bomber." Police generally ignored the protesters although one group was asked to leave when they shouted "stop the war" following the prayer after Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took the oath.

Although the President gave no indication that he noticed the actions at the Capitol, he could not help but see other protesters who stood along the Pennsylvania Avenue parade route later.

CSI hope hit

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer
BOISE — The need for a science education building at Boise State College has apparently dimmed CSI's chances for any state building money next year.

The recommendations of the state permanent Building Fund Advisory Council, made to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and passed on by him to the legislature, exclude any requests for CSI, but urge the expenditure of $1.8 million for a new structure at Boise State.

CSI has been requesting about $2.1 million for a new vocational building for the past two years. The 1971 legislature approved $42,000 in planning money for the building, but failed the following year to approve any building funds.

(Related story, p. 8)
Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council recommendations spread out $5.04 million in available funds among educational institutions, social and rehabilitation buildings, health agency structures, additions to the new penitentiary, public lands and work in the Capitol mall area, as well as public works and a contingency fund.

William E. Howard appointed

Howard new TN manager

TWIN FALLS — William E. Howard, has been named general manager of the Times-News, Al Westergren, publisher, announced today.

Howard has been with the Times-News since February, 1972, and prior to becoming general manager was assistant to the publisher.

He was born in Pocatello and graduated from the University of Southern California. He was previously associated with the Daily InterLake, Kalispell, Mont., and came here from Los Angeles, Calif.

Currently a member of the Idaho National Guard, he is also a member of the Twin Falls Rotary Club.

He and his wife, Cheryl, reside in Twin Falls.

Boisean accident victim

BLISS — Frank Neal Dickson, 30, Boise, died instantly in a one-car accident one and one-half miles west of here at 11:30 p.m. Friday.

According to investigating Gooding County sheriff's officers, Dickson was driving a 1966 Chrysler east on Highway 30 when he apparently lost control of the car, which was traveling at a high rate of speed.

It traveled over a 15 foot embankment and rolled over several times.

Officers said Mr. Dickson was pinned in the vehicle for a short time before enough help arrived to remove the body.

Nixon makes round

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, not much for dancing as a rule, celebrated his second inauguration Saturday evening by taking his wife Pat on the rounds of five balls in his honor.

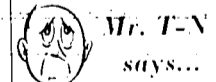

Accompanied by their two daughters and son-in-law Edward Cox, they went first to a formal affair at the Kennedy Center, one of the four sites where traditional dance music was on tap. The fifth event was a rock dance for young people who helped in Nixon's triumphant re-election campaign.

The second stop was at the historic federal Pension building at 3rd and G Streets N.W., part of a complex of federal structures, where about 500 orderly peace demonstrators carrying candles were gathered in a peace vigil outside.

It was only the second time Nixon had taken to the dance floor since he entered the White House. He spent a quiet evening on his first inauguration, thanking supporters and saying hello to old friends.

The 37th President of the United States was escorting his wife, Pat, and other members of the family to all five balls held in his honor.

Black-tie balls were arranged for the Museum of Natural History, the Kennedy Center, the Museum of History and Technology, and the Pension Building. Various Cabinet members headed for each site, including Martha Mitchell, and her husband, former Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

Pain stays after her ordeal ends

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The ordeal is over, but not the pain — for city policewoman Martha "Marty" Green, responsible for the capture of a young and husky would-be hijacker early Saturday.

"I hurt and I have a headache," the 5-foot-6, 120 pound policewoman said Saturday while resting at her home. "I have a cut over my right eye and a slight injury over the left eyebrow," she said. "I have two fingers that are cut and bruised and my knuckles are swollen and stiff."

The heroics of the 35-year-old policewoman ended in the 1 a.m. MST capture of Dennis Durkin, 17, of Pittsburgh, The 6-foot-1, 150 pound soldier, absent without leave from Ft. Knox since Jan. 6, had commandeered an Ozark Airlines DC9 at Stapleton Field six hours earlier.

David Yaeckel, 46, an Ozark mechanic from Dallas, Tex., was held hostage at gunpoint by Durkin during the ordeal. Mrs. Green, a former stewardess on the police force about two years, was chosen for the job of winning the gunman's confidence after he had asked for a woman companion for his proposed flight.

She had made five trips to the plane before getting close enough to grab Durkin and pull him down the stairs leading to the plane.

4 bandits withstand NY siege

NEW YORK (UPI) — Armed with an arsenal of rifles and ammunition and surviving on camping food, four young men holding nine hostages for the second day kept hundreds of police at bay Saturday night. The bandits declared they would outlast the police siege or "go out in a hail of bullets."

The gunmen already had killed one policeman and injured two others. One of the desperadoes was seriously wounded, but they refused to negotiate with police despite attempts by Black Muslim ministers and civil rights lawyers to persuade them to come out.

The hostages, three women and six men, both customers and employees of the store, were reported in good condition.

Late Saturday night, a black doctor who was let inside the store reconnected a telephone and the gunmen were in communication with police again, but there was no indication this would lead to new developments.

A police armored personnel carrier was stationed in front of the store, located in the decaying neighborhood where many scenes from the film "The French Connection" was shot. Other police swarmed over an elevated train platform and behind cars parked along Broadway, a busy shopping street in the neighborhood.

More peace hints fly

By United Press International South Vietnamese government sources said Saturday Vice President Spiro Agnew may fly to Saigon Jan. 23, possibly with a copy of Vietnam peace agreement for signing by President Nguyen Van Thieu. In Washington, President Nixon said "we stand on the threshold of a new era of peace."

The Saigon sources said plans for Agnew's trip are tentative, depending on whether a firm agreement is reached between Henry A. Kissinger and the North Vietnamese in Paris Saturday to work out details for negotiations resuming Tuesday.

The White House refused to comment on the Agnew report. President Nixon's deputy peace envoy, Gen. Alexander Haig, held another meeting with Thieu in Saigon Saturday, then left for Korea en route back to Washington. Haig had three meetings with Thieu totaling four hours and five minutes over five days. He also conferred with leaders of Cambodia, Laos and Thailand in Paris, U.S. and North Vietnamese legal and language experts held another session Saturday to work out details for use in the event a peace agreement for Vietnam is signed, the American spokesman to the peace talks said. In his inaugural address in Washington, Nixon made only passing reference to the Vietnam war, giving no indication when the cease-fire being forecast in a matter of weeks or days would come. But at the outset of the comparatively short speech, he said: "As we meet here today, we stand on the threshold of a new era of peace in the world."

In Saigon South Vietnamese government sources said the North Vietnamese are insisting that the final treaty be signed by heads of state. The plans could be altered by events at the upcoming Paris negotiations, they said. The newspaper Tin Song (Live News), financed by Hoang Duc Nha, Thieu's nephew and closest personal adviser, said Gen. Haig's half-hour meeting with Thieu Saturday was "the last meeting between the American representative and the Republic of Vietnam to solve the last differences in the draft treaty." Tin Song also said Agnew would visit Saigon,

S. Viets stymie Red Saigon push

SAIGON (UPI) — American war planes and South Vietnamese infantrymen stalled a Communist push on Saigon Saturday in the biggest single battle in months. Fighting had been broken off by Sunday and both sides were pulling back — the Communists deeper northward into the tangled jungles of the Michelin rubber plantation and the South Vietnamese infantry southward to make room for heavy allied air strikes, military sources said. Deep in the Mekong Delta 100 miles southwest of Saigon, 63 rounds of mortar and recoilless rifle fire hit the village of Hoa Bau at sundown Saturday, the South Vietnamese command said. It said six people were killed, including five civilians, and 40 wounded — 29 of them civilians. Thirty dwellings burned down. The big rubber plantation battle died down Saturday night. Military sources said the two North Vietnamese regiments were pulling back deeper into the overgrown rubber tree groves of the Michelin plantation to escape air and artillery strikes. At the height of the fighting Saturday, a South Vietnamese officer exclaimed, "We have them stopped. The fighting is close — very close."

Students, police clash

PARIS (UPI) — Leftist students throwing Molotov cocktails and beer bottles fought with club-wielding riot police for more than four hours Saturday along the Champs Elysees, the Place de l'Opera and around the St. Lazare railroad station. The riots in Paris, and others in Marseille were called the most violent since the student demonstrations of May, 1968. The demonstrations started outside the gray-stone U. S. embassy on the Place de la Concorde at the bottom of the Champs Elysees. Beginning anti-Vietnam War demonstrations in defiance of a police ban, they later turned into anti-police riots. A police official told UPI between 300 and 400 persons were arrested in Paris alone. Scores of rioters were also detained in the Mediterranean port city of Marseille. A phalanx of 100 of the specially-trained Republican Security (CRS) riot police, carrying shields and tear gas canisters, broke up the demonstration at the Concorde. From there they spilled along the rue de Rivoli bordering the famed Tuileries Gardens, down the Boulevard des Italiens, to the Place de la Opera, and in an opposite direction up the mile-long Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe. On the Champs Elysees Saturday afternoon shoppers fled for shelter as the demonstrators showered bottles and rocks on police.

3 charged in killings

GRANDIN, Mo. (UPI) — Three men were charged Saturday with the extortion slaying of Grandin banker Robert Kitterman, his wife and 17-year-old daughter. Authorities said the trio had been camping in a wooded area where a fake bomb and currency were found. Dallas Ray Deloy, 33, Lloyd Duane Cowan, 21, and Jerry Reder, 22, all of nearby Van Buren, Mo., were charged with first-degree murder and were held in the Butler County jail at Poplar Bluff, Mo. Kitterman, 43, and his wife, Bertha, 38, and their daughter, Roberta, Wednesday were found shot to death and tied to trees in a wooded area just outside of Grandin. Authorities found at the suspects' campsite a device with a battery and railroad flare in a money sack from the bank. They also found money in a blood-stained blue pillowcase under a log, along with a .32-caliber Colt automatic. Police would not say how much currency was found. The three Kittermans were each shot in the head and slumped at the foot of the trees to which they were tied. Roberta's head was resting on a purple satin pillow. All three suspects were arrested Friday at the home of Donald Rogers, who lives next to an auto body shop he operates in Poplar Bluff.

It Is Curious

Builders are howling about a cut-back in federal subsidies for low-income housing.

Farmers are worried about a hold on federal disaster aid loans, especially those in the Midwest who are only now bringing in a harvest delayed by 1972's wet weather.

Congressmen are fuming at President Nixon's announced intention to spend only as much money as he thinks should be spent, no matter how much Congress appropriates.

Yet no certain connection can be found between spending or deficits and the Consumer Price Index, which we take as the measure of inflation.

In the 43-year period from 1930 through 1972, government outlays increased by a ratio of 72 to 1, the public debt by 27 to 1, but prices by only about two and one-half to one.

At the same time the national income is now 22 times as high as during the worst depression year of 1933.

The federal budget was never offered as a cause or a reason for seeking increases before the now abolished Price Commission. Every instance reflects higher costs of production, which are mainly unavailable. Agricultural products tend to reflect the supply situation, as well as rising expenses in production and distribution.

There are economists, of course, who will argue that all these rising expenses are ultimately attributable to federal fiscal policy.

But others do seem to have a point when they feel that it is curious that the administration seems to show little concern over the tens of billions spent on warfare and defense.

In this connection, the word "inflation" is never mentioned.

Jobless Statistics

Statistics show the unemployment figure at the lowest rate in many months. But the figures may not be a totally accurate picture of the U.S. unemployment situation.

even as it eliminates old ones. But a person having difficulty finding work today is not likely to locate it any more easily next year or next month, because of the rapidly changing nature of U.S. employment.

Teenage employment remains a knotty problem. The jobless rate among teenagers is the highest of any age group.

MR. SPECTATOR

Bikini In The Window

Just when winter storms seem to be having their heaviest assaults against us — and winter depression settles in — especially in regions like Idaho's mountain areas which gather more than their share of the season's vagaries — the first breath of spring makes a premature appearance.

It is almost spring fashion time and some of the early arrivals already are on display. It might sound strange, but the sight of a bikini-on-display in a frozen store window somehow lifts the spirits.

Never mind that its use is still many weeks away, except for the few who plan late winter vacations — like those going to Hawaii in the Times-News Magic of Hawaii group.

The changeover in stock rooms from heavy wool clothing to scantier attire is the first sign that whatever the conditions of the moment, a turn toward balmy climes is approaching.

That bikini in the window is enough to make the viewer turn philosophical.

A BIG THANKS

Dear Mr. Spectator: We wish to sincerely thank everyone who helped with their kind expressions, in so many ways, to a wonderful daughter and sister, Mrs. Afton Crane, whom we love so very much.

A THOUGHT

Grin and bear it. You can lighten a problem's weight, if you brighten up and smile. There is more power to a punch delivered in high spirits than one delivered in low spirits. — Douglas Fairbanks, American actor.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's official physician, Maj. Gen. Walter Tkach, is an old and valued friend, but as a male who is putty in the hands of the medical profession I am delighted to learn that the President has successfully defied Walt's orders.

Nixon runs in place every morning, a token gesture to the vigorous life. But whereas he once ran 400 paces, he recently has cut that in half. Tkach remonstrated in vain, it is understood. Even when the good doctor suggested a compromised of 250 paces, the President stood firm. It was his opinion, said Nixon, that 200 pieces were enough for a busy man.

I am sure Walt is right. Exercise helps blood circulation and lowers fats in the blood and is therefore important in preventing heart attacks. But it is nice to know that we have a leader who is strong enough to stand up to his doctor, and assume responsibility for the consequences. Obviously, Richard Nixon is not afraid of his doctor. Perhaps more important, he stands on principle.

There are those who will say that even a President should not be permitted to indulge a whim. They will ask what difference does 50 paces make if it pleases your doctor. They will say the doctor knows best, and any actuary will agree.

But Nixon's stand warns the cockles of this subversive — and probably fatty — heart. There is in fact a great deal of difference between 200 paces and 250 to the person who is jogging them off.

It is the difference between enjoying, or at least tolerating, exercise, and finding it a cranking and perhaps exhausting bore. It is the difference between what the patient wants to do and what the medical world says he should do.

Nor is this a small thing. I had a friend who was bullied by his doctor on the subject of boiled eggs. The friend preferred his eggs boiled three minutes. His doctor ordered that they be boiled only two and a half minutes, and my friend, thinking thoughts of coronaries, surrendered. He hates the taste of eggs boiled only two and a half minutes, but he still eats them in that state every morning.

My friend is both strong-willed and discriminating in all other matters, but on the subject of boiled eggs he is not only craven — but a traitor — to haute cuisine. Everybody knows that only a three-minute egg is fit to be eaten. It should not be boiled two minutes and 59 seconds or three minutes and one second. Three minutes, precisely, are required to produce a balled egg whose white is firm and its yolk yielding.

We make the mistake constantly of dismissing as a petty detail matters of the utmost importance to civilization and community ethics. It is all right with me if a man prefers to insult his insides with a four-minute egg, so long as he refuses to settle for a three-and-a-half-minute egg or an egg that has been barbarously boiled for four minutes and 10 seconds. After all, principles in little things are about all we have left these days.

Besides, it is imperative that a President stand firm on such little things. Right though Walt Tkach may be about exercise, there is reassurance in the knowledge that Richard Nixon, who might be persuaded to cede Rhode Island to the Russians on the ground that it's only a little state.

After all, the United States didn't become a great nation by overlooking the moral significance of the small print. It wasn't the size of the tax on tea that made the colonists mad.

Russian Carrier

WASHINGTON — There is conclusive evidence Russia is in the process of making a significant major addition to its steadily expanding naval might: its first aircraft carrier.

This momentous departure for the Soviet, which in the past has deprecatd carriers, is under construction at the Nikolayev Nesenke shipyard on the Black Sea. It was at this big installation that the Red's two helicopter carriers were built — the 15,000-ton Moskva and Leningrad, now both operational with half decks for anti-submarine helicopters.

The first aircraft carrier, with a full flight deck, is around 800 feet in length and between 30,000 and 35,000 tons. That is approximately the size of the old U.S. Essex-class carrier.

The indications are the vessel will be completed in the fall of this year and undergo sea trials in 1974. Presumably it will become operational some time in 1975.

Obviously, in preparation for that, the Russian navy is flight testing a vertical take-off jet fighter for use on the carrier. Until now, V-STOL type planes have been the sole province of the Soviet air force. But with the navy flight testing, vertical take-off and landing jets, it is evident they are to be used on the carrier to eliminate catapults and planes with folding wings.

While avoiding such complicated and expensive equipment, use of V-STOL craft means a considerably reduced flight range.

Western military authorities view Russia's construction of the aircraft carrier as further forceful evidence — if any were needed — of the Kremlin's policy of extending its military might and influence far beyond its own borders.

Until the early 1960s (at the time of the Cuban missile crisis) the Soviet navy was almost entirely confined to defense of the nation's far-flung coastal waters. Since then there has been a drastic change in concept.

As a consequence, Russia is now a world sea power second only to the U.S.

In one short decade, the Reds have built a powerful armada of heavy missile cruisers, helicopter carriers, and numerous other large and small modern fighting ships.

Examples: A new class of heavy missile cruisers with the Kara already completed and operational and others under construction; the Moskva and Leningrad anti-submarine helicopter carriers just above a new type ship-to-ship missile vessel capable of operating on the high seas.

The Nauchka, as it is known, is around 230 feet long, displaces 700 to 800 tons, is diesel-powered and has a speed of more than 25 knots. At least 10 have already been built in a Leningrad shipyard.

Principal armament is two triple launchers for SS-N-9 surface-to-surface missiles, mounted amidships. Details of this new weapon are not fully known.

PAUL HARVEY

It's Fragile

They put freedom to a vote in the Philippines and it wasn't wanted.

Our generation has watched the curtain of darkness descend over the earth, assuming it to be a conspiracy by tyrants to shackle us with restraints.

President Ferdinand Marcos imposed martial law in the Philippines last September, offering the usual excuse — the preservation of orderly government against anarchists seeking its overthrow.

Then in January this year he conducted a plebiscite among 35,000 citizens' assemblies asking them whether they wanted his rule by decree to continue or wanted government restraints lifted.

They voted overwhelmingly for "dictatorship." Recognizing that freedom is a fragile flower — that "government by the people" easily becomes unmanageable, they chose government by the government.

Mention "freedom" — two-thirds of the world's people have no idea what you're talking about. And in nations which now enjoy more or less of it there will soon be much less. Sweden, Zambit.

Frequently the first free institution to feel the shackles of restraint is the news media.

In Africa's most-populous nation, Nigeria, there is no official censorship, but fear of arrest and detention without trial so inhibits news scribes that the result is the same.

Such is the fate of several western and southern African nations. In all Africa, only tiny Gambia is truly "free."

There is no formal censorship of foreign newsmen in Spain or Greece but their domestic news media is increasingly straitjacketed.

Britain is almost totally free of any formal censorship — but a government committee there is presently urging — rewriting the Official Secrets Act thus to inhibit investigative reporting. Nonprofit Freedom House undertook to define a standard for judging where "freedom" begins and ends, determined that civil and political liberties are always forfeited by degrees and usually, first, in the interest of economic security.

In the United States, for example, your freedom to make a meaningful individual choice in what insurance to buy is uninhibited by law — yet you are required by law to buy Social Security insurance. And so freedoms go.

Back Pains

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has been having back trouble and went to an orthopedic specialist who said he had a pinched nerve. This doctor also had some blood tests taken. One test showed my husband had too many red blood cells.

The doctor advised him to go to an internist who specializes in blood. Could you tell me what would help? — Mr. R. U.

Pay my respects to the orthopedist. Physicians sometimes are accused of looking for, and finding, only ailments in their own specialty, and overlooking items outside their specialty.

I suppose that there is a natural inclination to look for the things one specializes in, but I have, over the years, noted that most doctors are aware of this and try not to mislead themselves.

In your husband's case, the orthopedist did indeed find a pinched nerve, but he apparently felt that it was not the cause, not the sole cause anyway, of that back trouble, hence the blood tests.

"Pinched nerves" usually, if they are causing pain, signify pain of a type that is distinctive to a physician. The pain usually radiates along the affected nerve.

In your husband's case (I have to do some guessing, of course) the "back trouble" may be in the nature of low back pain, rather than a radiating pain.

The finding of red cells can be significant in such cases. Chronic prostate infection is a likely cause. This can produce low back pain.

Likewise excessive red blood cells can result from various disorders of the urinary tract — kidney stone, infection in kidneys or bladder, ulceration of a tumor in the urinary tract, or from polycythemia or other blood disorders.

Telling your husband to see an internist about this makes the most logical kind of good sense. Depending on what he finds, the ultimate solution may lie in treatment by a urologist.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 15, and have a terrible problem. I have a mistake. It's not really very noticeable.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he's unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Wilderness area studies started

TWIN FALLS — Studies on the five proposed wilderness areas of the Sawtooth National Forest and surrounding areas are already in progress, forest officials explained Friday.

Five areas in the Sawtooth and adjoining Challis forests have been selected for further study for possible wilderness classification in a nationwide review of roadless forest areas.

Robert Hoag, Sawtooth recreational officer, said because of the groundwork necessary in setting up the Sawtooth National Recreation Area, studies began some time back in the five high mountain areas selected by the secretary of agriculture and chief of forests for further study.

"In fact, some of these studies are already nearly completed," Hoag said during a review of the areas Friday.

About a dozen persons attended two briefing sessions regarding the possible wilderness areas Friday at the Sawtooth Forest office here.

The areas designated for further study and possible later designation as wilderness include the White Cloud area, high mountain range covering some 220,000 acres; the Pioneer Mountains, of about 73,000 acres; Boulder Mountains, about 55,000 acres, and the Smokey Mountains of 30,060, all in the Sawtooth National Forest, and the Hansen Lakes Region, actually in the Challis National Forest but under jurisdiction of the Sawtooth because of inclusion in the Sawtooth National Recreation Area Boundaries.

Most of the White Cloud and Boulder areas are also within the Sawtooth National Recreation Area.

Hoag said the studies will continue along with studies and reports by the Bureau of Mines and National Park Service. Several public hearings will be scheduled as the studies progress and, Hoag said, the forest service is anxious for as much public involvement as possible in the planning of future use of the scenic high mountain areas.

The final decision on wilderness classification rests with Congress.

Mining would be permitted within wilderness areas but no logging and no roads would be allowed. Motorized vehicles of all kinds would be prohibited with only hiking or horseback riding permitted to high lakes and scenic peaks.

Hoag said information and maps will remain in the Sawtooth office in Twin Falls and persons are encouraged to come in and review the information at any time and to ask questions of forest service personnel.

Viewing selves

WATCHING VIDEOTAPE recording of day's events and themselves in action are special education students from Magic Valley who took part in Winter Sports Day at Robert Stuart Junior High School Saturday. Team and individual sports and athletics occupied the day.

Winter sports day held in TF

TWIN FALLS — Special education students from the Magic Valley area were treated to a Winter Sports Day Saturday at Robert Stuart Junior High School in Twin Falls.

About 60 students took part in the event, including a group from the Burley-Rupert area.

The students, ranging in age from 8 to 18, began their activities at 10 a.m. with bowling at the Bowling Dome and then moved back to Stuart Junior High for basketball.

In the afternoon, the special problem students were instructed in gymnastics, including work on high and low balance beams, a mini-tramp and a trampoline. There was also a tumbling event.

When it was over, the children gathered to watch themselves on television. The videotape of the day's activities drew giggles and exclamations of surprise from the students.

Paul Epperson, a member of the State Board for the Special Olympics, which sponsored the event in conjunction with the public school system, said the purpose of the program was to give the special education students socializing and to enhance their self-images; to give kids from the Burley-Rupert area a chance to use equipment they might not otherwise have access to; and to give special education teachers instruction in what the kids could do.

Epperson said there are about 200 students in the Magic Valley area who could benefit from such activities.

All ski resorts have more snow

TWIN FALLS — All ski resorts in the area now list an abundance of snow with the northern areas receiving up to 31 inches of new snow this week.

Sun Valley reports 47 inches of snow at the top of Baldy Mountain, with 31 of this new during recent storms. The U.S. Forest Service report now shows 46 inches at the roundhouse and 31 inches on the valley floor.

Roads are snow covered and snow tires are required.

Soldier Mountain reports 24 inches of new snow bringing depths to 56 inches at the top of the slopes and the packed base to 33 inches. The road has been plowed but snow tires are required.

Magic Mountain has received ten inches of new snow since Sunday with the new snow reported light powder on a 40 to 50 inch packed base. Snow tires or chains are also required here and persons driving in the canyon without snow tires or chains are subject to citation.

Pomerelle reports 12 inches of new snow this week with a 24 inch base at the lodge and 25 inches at the top of runs. The road is plowed but snow tires or chains are required. The area expects to be operating the chair lift this weekend.

Rotarun lists a 30 inch base with 21 inches of this new snow.

Roads are good but snow tires are recommended. Night skiing continues Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. with the resort open Saturday and Sunday for regular skiing.

Snowmobiling is listed as just good in Hailey, Ketchum and Fairfield because of the large amounts of new soft snow. It is reported very good in the South Hills.

TF man, 26, sentenced for rape

TWIN FALLS — Cleve Starry, 26, Twin Falls, was sentenced to two 10-year terms in the Idaho State Penitentiary Friday on two charges of rape.

Starry had been found guilty of the two counts by a Fifth Judicial District Court jury Jan. 11. He was also charged with one count of burglary but was ruled innocent on this charge.

District Judge Theron W. Ward who pronounced sentence said the two terms are to be served consecutively.

Starry was charged with forcibly raping a 14 and a 15 year-old girl on Aug. 24, 1972.

Judge Ward also ordered a 10-year sentence for Jesse Larry Baker, 23, Twin Falls, found guilty of burglary in the first degree. He was charged with breaking into Claude Brown Music Co. Dec. 24, 1972.

Valley Briefs

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Farm Bureau Board of Directors will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the county office. According to Gene Walker, the board will discuss legislative matters, membership and the banquet.

BUHL — Craft Classes for Buhl Senior Citizens are scheduled for 11:30 Monday at the Senior Citizen's Center, 113 Broadway No. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service.

Man held on check charge

TWIN FALLS — Dean T. Krieger, 38, Twin Falls, was arrested Friday night on a felony bad check warrant.

Krieger was arrested by Twin Falls Police and sheriff's officers on a warrant charging him with issuing a check without funds in the bank.

He was released from custody at the county jail Saturday morning on $2,000 bond.

Bankers meet in Jerome

JEROME — Magic Valley Bankers' association met Thursday night at Wood Cafe with more than 40 bankers attending.

No-fault insurance was discussed followed by a talk from LeRoy Craig, Jerome, of Prescott, Craig Insurance agency. He said he did not favor complete or strict no-fault insurance, but anticipates that Idaho may have to adopt some type of controls to prevent federal interference.

Released

TWIN FALLS — A Hagerman woman was released on her own recognizance Saturday morning after being arrested on a bad check charge.

Magistrate Reed P. Maughar released Connie Louise Manning, 33, with the understanding that she appear in court for a hearing on Monday.

The woman was arrested by Twin Falls Police officers about 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Bankers meet in Jerome

JEROME — Magic Valley Bankers' association met Thursday night at Wood Cafe with more than 40 bankers attending.

No-fault insurance was discussed followed by a talk from LeRoy Craig, Jerome, of Prescott, Craig Insurance agency. He said he did not favor complete or strict no-fault insurance, but anticipates that Idaho may have to adopt some type of controls to prevent federal interference.

The Jerome First Security bank hosted the dinner, according to Roy Hubert, Shoshone, president.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 15 in Gooding with the Bank of Idaho as host.

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, Jan. 21, the 21st day of 1973 with 844 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Civil War Gen. Thomas Jonathan Jackson, known as "Stonewall Jackson," was born Jan. 21, 1824.

On this day in history:

In 1861, Jefferson Davis resigned from the United States Senate, 12 days before Mississippi seceded from the Union.

In 1908, New York City enacted the Sullivan Ordinance which held smoking by women illegal.

Viet policy condemned

(Continued from p. 1) The rally at the Washington Monument grounds, which began in early afternoon as the inaugural parade was in progress, was the culmination of three separate demonstrations held earlier at the Union Station Plaza a few blocks from the Capitol, Arlington National Cemetery and the Lincoln Memorial.

U.S. Park Police estimated that at least 60,000 protesters were between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington monument at 1:30 p.m., making it the largest turnout for an antiwar demonstration in Washington since one April 24, 1971, when police put the crowd at 250,000 or more.

Sizeable antiwar protests also took place Saturday in some European cities and in Asia. Among the biggest were those in Paris, where thousands of students clashed with police, and in Stockholm, where about 3,000 marched through downtown streets.

Name dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, in taking the oath of office for his second term, omitted his middle name, Milhous.

Agnew goes first

WASHINGTON (UPI) — His hand on a family Bible held by his wife, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took the oath of office just before noon Saturday to begin his second term as second officer of the Nixon administration.

Taller than any of the other principals in the inaugural ceremony, the 54-year-old vice president took the oath — as did the president eight minutes later — from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger. Agnew's part of the ceremony began at 11:50 a.m. EST and was over in two minutes.

Work, US pride asked

The traditional parade, with the "Spirit of '76" as its theme, featured 55 bands, 35 floats, 14 equestrian units and other marching units depicting American history from Plymouth Rock to the Apollo moon landing missions.

Nixon's big day closed with not one but five inaugural balls around town in his honor — the last major event in the three-day extravaganza now estimated to cost $3.5 million, the most expensive inauguration in history.

In his address, the President set the tone for his second term when he said that "abroad and at home, the time has come to turn away from the condescending policies of paternalism — of Washington knows best." In foreign affairs, he said, the United States will honor its treaty commitments, oppose efforts by any country to impose its will on another by force, work for nuclear arms curbs and "do our share in defending peace and freedom in the world."

But, said Nixon, "the time has passed when America will make every other nation's conflict our own, or make every other nation's future our responsibility, or presume to tell the people of other nations how to manage their own affairs."

Flags at the Capitol were still flying at half-staff in memory of Harry S. Truman, who was President when Nixon began his political career as a staunch anti-Communist. In his speech Saturday, a quarter-century later, the President dedicated his second term to a world of peace in which "each respects the right of the other to live by a different system."

Nixon said he would "encourage individuals at home and nations abroad to do more for themselves and decide more for themselves." Domestically, he said, this means "government must learn to take less from people, so people can do more for themselves." Saying it was time "for all Americans to renew our faith in ourselves," the President perhaps mindful of the demonstrators in town to protest his Vietnam policies criticized "those who find everything wrong with America and very little right with it."

Said Nixon, "Let us be proud that in each of the four wars in which we have been engaged, including the one we are now bringing to an end, we have fought not for the selfish advantage but to help others resist aggression."

Nixon, who sat by a roaring fire in the Lincoln Room of the White House until well past midnight, making personal changes in his speech, departed from the text at the end Saturday to deliver what he called a private prayer.

Pausing a moment and lifting his eyes, Nixon said, "As I stand in this place so hallowed by history, I think of others who stood here before me. I think of the dreams of America. Each one recognized he needed help far beyond himself to make these dreams come true. I ask your prayers in getting God's help in making these dreams come true, and that together we may be worthy of our task."

Address reaction divided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans said Saturday President Nixon's second inaugural speech was inspiring. But Democrats criticized its lack of specifics.

Nixon's pledge of peace, self-determination and decentralization of government generally won acceptance.

But Democrats cited a lack of specifics and failure of Nixon to seek a better rapport with Congress.

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts quipped, "There was more praying than words by the President."

Predictably, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford were lavish in their praise of the address. Ford called it "an inspiring message" and Scott said the address "set the tone Americans are looking for to bring a lasting peace."

California Gov. Ronald Reagan said he was "delighted" by Nixon's call for decentralization of the government and said that move "was decades overdue."

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who attended the ceremonies although he is confined to a wheelchair, told reporters, "There were several areas in the speech that I agreed with."

"I liked the general tone of the speech," Wallace said. "It was all right, it was fine."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said the speech confirmed his fears that Nixon was getting ready to trim domestic programs.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., both presidential candidates a year ago, said they were concerned by the lack of any presidential reconciliation with the Democratic Congress.

"It looks like we're off to a difficult start as far as the Congress is concerned," Jackson said. Similarly, Muskie said Nixon deliberately "did not choose to use the speech to assure us on our differences of the past."

"The same confrontation is in prospect," Muskie said.

Some good news given CSI

Changes asked

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

BOISE — The first two weeks of the Idaho legislature have brought good news for the College of Southern Idaho.

In his budget message to the legislature a week ago Friday, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the lawmakers the state's economy was sufficiently strong to allow him to rescind his order for a 1.5 per cent federal fund spending holdback for higher education.

Early this week a budget bureau staff member said the rescission would apply to the state's two junior colleges, CSI and North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene.

The total amount of money withheld from CSI is nearly $15,000 money that was appropriated a year ago by the 1972 legislature, but withheld because of the governor's executive order last summer, and now freed by the rescission of that order.

Andrus held his decision to include junior colleges in the higher education category was made with the full realization that they were funded separate from the state's colleges, but he noted "they are higher education."

While the executive branch has helped the junior college in the past two weeks, the Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee has introduced legislation designed to eliminate major irritants that plagued college officials this year.

Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the committee, said one of the bills would specify that a candidate for junior college boards of trustees would run for a designated seat on the board, and not in an at-large election.

The second legislation to be drafted, Barker said, would ensure annual disbursement of state funds to junior colleges, eliminating the possibility of semi-annual disbursement.

The two junior colleges became involved in a dispute with the state earlier this year when college director D. E. (Skip) Chilberg notified college officials the state would begin making disbursement payments every six months instead on yearly, as had been the case.

College officials protested, saying the action was tantamount to "changing the rules," and also said the school would lose six months interest on its disbursement check from the state treasury.

An attorney general's opinion upheld the state budget director, and college president Dr. James Taylor hinted at a "friendly" supreme court case to test the legality of the state's move, the matter rested there.

The legislation being proposed would eliminate the confusion, and guarantee CSI and any other junior college an annual check.

The second legislation could eliminate the confusion that arose during the school's trustee elections this past year.

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General Anthony Park has introduced legislation which would amend the 1971 Idaho Consumer Protection Act. The proposed amendments, he said, include two new sections which would regulate door-to-door sales and telephone solicitations, and the practices of persons who prepare income tax returns for a fee.

New school group aimed for action

BOISE — A new association of school districts is really "an action group," according to the Minidoka School District superintendent.

because some areas were growing faster than their current indebtedness would enable them to expand the school system.

Dr. Darrell Hatfield, in Boise for a superintendents' association meeting, said Friday the new group, composed of 16 school districts across the state, including Minidoka, Cassia and Twin Falls, would lobby for legislative action on four fronts: — The concept of school district reorganization; — Equalization of school funding from the state level; — Increase the bonded indebtedness capacity of school districts from its present 16 per cent of a district's assessed valuation to 20 per cent; — State support of a statewide computerized information system providing data on payroll, personnel and other information useful to the individual school districts, as well as the Idaho Department of Education.

Hatfield said the state should increase its support of the information system in proportion to its use of the information.

He also said the reason for the need in increased bonded indebtedness capacity was

Hagerman funds asked

BOISE — The Idaho Fish and Game Department wants to spend $75,000 to upgrade the state fish hatchery at Hagerman.

In addition, it is asking the legislature to allow the expenditure of $2,000 for a gas pump at the Twin Falls regional agency office.

The requests are part of a total $216,000 package the department presented to the State Building Fund Advisory Council, and has been approved by the council for legislative consideration.

The construction would be financed with dedicated fish and game department funds resulting from licenses issued by the department, according to public works commissioner Max Boesiger.

But any construction would be supervised by his department, as permanent building fund construction is.

Included in the fish and game requests are several improvements in the Hagerman state hatchery:

Raceway floor improvements costing $41,000; Efficient treatment costing $19,000;

Access road blacktopping amounting to $15,300.

Other major projects on the fish and game construction request list are improvements at hatcheries at Mackay, Ashton, American Falls, Clark Fork, Eagle and Grace, as well as agency offices in Clearwater and Salmon.

Any expenditure of the funds must be approved by the legislature.

GOP heads set course at midweek

BOISE (UPI) — Republican leaders should be ready to chart a fiscal course for this session of the 42nd Legislature by midweek, Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, said Saturday.

Brown said a joint revenue projection subcommittee of the House and Senate should be able to give at least a preliminary report to caucuses by Wednesday.

A public hearing to get reports on economic trends is scheduled Tuesday night.

First, Brown said, the subcommittee will make a final revenue projection for the current fiscal year and then it will determine what funds are expected from present tax sources in the next fiscal year.

"One of the biggest problems when we get this all together is to decide what to do with receipts to appropriations and inter-account billings," he said.

A decision on that may come at a meeting scheduled for 4:00 a.m. Monday, Brown said.

Budget agency into '75 work

BOISE — While Republican legislators have been critical of the 1974 executive budget, the bureau that produced it has already taken the first steps for 1975.

State Budget Director D. E. (Skip) Chilberg said his staff is spending about an hour a day familiarizing itself with the procedure for drawing up an executive budget.

The one prepared for the legislature that convened last week runs nearly 200 pages, and includes actual expenditures for two years ago, estimated expenditures for the current fiscal year, and the governor's request for appropriations for the fiscal year which begins in July, for over 120 state agencies. Chilberg said that in addition to the staff orientation, budget personnel are at work designing the agency appropriations requests that will be sent to the various parts of government at the beginning of May.

He said he is also holding meetings with members of a Joint Finance-Appropriations subcommittee to discuss any possible needed changes in state laws regarding government, as well as what the legislators would like to see in next year's budget presentation.

Chilberg's office is staffed with seven budget personnel, and one treasury budget staff specialist on loan to the state, as well as himself.

Hijack death bill drawn

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation to make aircraft hijacking a crime punishable by death will be introduced by the House Judiciary Committee.

Rep. Ed Rice, R-Boise, who talked the committee into introducing the measure, said 17 states already have similar legislation. He noted Idaho already has had one such case in the past year and said the public needs protection from such actions.

Under the proposed bill, anyone is submitting, both hijacking and assault with intent to commit aircraft hijacking would carry the death penalty.

A further provision of the bill would make it unlawful to carry a firearm, explosive of any type or other lethal or dangerous weapons aboard a commercial or charter aircraft. The penalty for this would be a maximum fine of $5,000 or five years in prison or both.

The bill also would make it a felony to threaten aircraft or airline company personnel.

Confinement OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate Friday passed a bill which would allow judges in one county to order confinement of convicted persons in another county.

The measure is designed to coordinate a four-county effort for the use of a regional jail in Wallace.

Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-

Mullan, said the regional jail was recently completed and the law is needed to facilitate negotiations in the counties of the housing of prisoners.

He said the legislation should be passed quickly because the regional jail is already in use.

The measure was passed unanimously by the senate and sent to the House.

Equipment fund asked

BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has asked the legislature to use some of the state's non-recurring revenue sharing funds to buy equipment for the growing State School.

In a message sent to the House Thursday morning, Andrus asked that $35,000 of $10 million in non-recurring revenue sharing funds be spent for unspecified equipment at the state school for the deaf and blind.

Of the $10 million accruing to the state, Andrus asked that $7,652,000 go for the construction of buildings on the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council priority list.

Wrap Your Home in QUIETNESS with energy-saving insulation

Recently revised specifications for FHA and HUD housing require substantially increased amounts of insulation; plus storm doors and windows for our area. Exact specifications are available from your local FIA office, but efforts to improve comfort standards while conserving energy are obvious.

An extra bonus for families whose homes meet or better these standards is quietness. Proper insulation has a way of muffling outside sounds of this noisy world.

With the new insulation standards you can be well on your way to a change to flameless electric heat. Even should you not convert to the cleaner energy, you will find added comfort, energy savings and quietness as a return on your investment.

US target for Chinese IB missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — explained later that his China is expected to have an operational intercontinental ballistic missile in 1975 which would be capable of striking the United States, U.S. intelligence sources said Friday.

The sources also said there are indications China has begun deployment of intermediate range missiles which presumably could be targeted against such neighbors as Japan.

The disclosures followed a statement by Sen. Stuart Symington D-Mo., who said at a Jan. 9 meeting of the Senate Armed Services Committee: "I was shocked to find out how close another power is to becoming a super power in the dussies. This, to me, reduces the practical effect of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (with the Soviet Union)."

Symington commented during the confirmation hearing of Elliot L. Richardson, President Nixon's nominee for defense secretary. The senator

Britain's labor unions oppose wage, price curb

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's labor unions Friday proclaimed "total opposition" to Prime Minister Edward Heath's anti-inflation wage and price curbs, but said they do not want to carry it to the point of a general strike.

Union leaders announced they will boycott the wage and price boards, modeled on those in the United States, which the government plans to set up to act as watchdogs in "Phase Two" of its continuing battle against inflation.

Labor policy toward the continued, though mandatory, restrictions announced by Heath Wednesday was decided at a meeting of the economic committee of the Trades Union Congress (TUC), which represents more than 10 million British workers.

"The committee expressed total opposition," a spokesman said.

Alan Fisher, head of the National Union of Public

Employees, said it was decided there is "no question" of a general strike.

Once again a storm of selling wiped thousands of dollars off the paper value of many British stocks, though less than the estimated $2.35 billion sliced off there Thursday. Later the stock market staged small recoveries.

The pound, too, was weak on foreign exchange markets.

A TUC spokesman said the organization's General Council will meet Wednesday to draw up an alternative policy to that announced by the government.

Asked if the unions will cooperate with the government, boiler-makers' leader Dan McFarvey said "No. It is just not on."

Jack Jones, leader of the 1.7-million-member Transport and General Workers Union, Britain's largest labor union, said TUC policy still demands mandatory curbs on prices and rents but none on pay.

Public Employees' leader Fisher said "The government's policy is simply perpetuating low pay for some groups of workers."

The government's package called for a maximum of $2.35 a week plus four per cent for pay increases for the rest of the year.

It banned all price increases for manufactured goods, except when they can be justified by higher costs.

But it rejected curbs on fresh food prices, arguing it is impossible to control these.

Solon represents snowmobilers

By DWIGHT JENSEN Times-News writer

BOISE — Rep. Israel Merrill, D-Blackfoot, says he is not convinced that snowmobile operators are getting an adequate chance to state their views in relation to proposed snowmobile legislation.

Merrill serves on the House Resources and Conservation Committee, which this week heard a report from Idaho Parks Director Steve Bly and his assistant, Bill Hagadorn.

They are co-chairmen of a task force that is studying the use and control of off-road recreational motor vehicles, such as snowmobiles and trailbikes.

Merrill said the members of that task force seem to be environmentalists, ranchers and government officials, and that the snowmobile operator does not appear to be represented.

Bly and Hagadorn said legislation will be presented to the committee later in the session. Merrill said the task force was established in anticipation of the day when federal controls might force those vehicles off of federal land they now use. The idea is to preserve both the environment and the recreation.

Merrill also suggested that present Idaho laws requiring registration of these off-road vehicles are not being properly enforced. He said he is certain there are more vehicles of that type in the Bingham County area than are registered with the state.

He said, "Organized promotional groups want some directions to take. They foresee the day when they'll be kicked off federal land. They would welcome some direction so they won't interfere with fish and game and decimate the landscape." But he said the snowmobilers themselves ought to have some say in what the directions will be.

Rep. Paul Worthen, R-Boise, accused snowmobilers of not policing the environment behind them, and suggested that officers of snowmobile associations might be appointed special officers to enforce registration and clean-up laws.

Singers needed

REHEARSALS for Feb. 20 concert of the Magic Valley Symphony Orchestra are now under way. The concert will be presented in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium. Among a choral group preparing a special rendition of Faure's "Requiem" are Roger Gracie, Virginia M. Riggs, Yvonne Keltner, and Helen C. Allen, from left.

Chorus slated

TWIN FALLS — The Feb. 20 concert of the Magic Valley Civic Symphony Orchestra will feature a choral presentation of Faure's "Requiem."

Helen Allen, rehearsal director, said vocalists are rehearsing for the special presentation and urged persons with interest in vocal performances to attend rehearsal to join the choral group.

Both student and adult voices are being accepted, she said, and more are needed. Rehearsals are held each Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. in the high school music wing and on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in the Episcopal Church of the Ascension on Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Workshop slated

TWIN FALLS — An aerospace workshop will begin at CSI at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Shields Building.

Col. Robert Schreckenberg, Air Force Reserve, will direct the course, which is designed to give a general knowledge of aerospace and its impact on society. Field trips to aerospace facilities, and lecturers from government and civilian aerospace installations will be included.

The course may be taken on a credit or non credit basis.

Further information may be obtained from Marvin Glasscock, director of continuing education, CSI, 733-9554, Extension 221.

Mind Your Money

Q — Some time ago you wrote about ways to cut down overall operating costs for your car. You said the best time to trade a car in is every four years (or 40,000 miles).

The way I figure it, you're better off buying a car and keeping it eight years. It's even cheaper to buy a three-year-old car and keep it until it's eight years old. I used the Department of Transportation "Estimated Cost of Operating an Automobile."

A — Using the figures of depreciation, repairs, gasoline, insurance and others supplied by the Department of Transportation, you may be right. But people in the business of leasing cars disagree.

They say that DOT doesn't include any figure for "time and aggravation." The more your car has to go into the shop, the more time you waste, and, of course, you're without transportation.

I got my figures from Peterson, Howell and Heather and Rollings International Inc. Both are major auto-leasing companies that handle a total fleet of nearly 150,000 cars used by various businesses.

These companies figure that the frequency of repair begins to rise after 40,000 miles and, they claim, a car's trade-in value drops.

As for buying good, solid used cars, I'm all for that, too. But you should buy a two-year-old car, keep it until it's four years old or close to 50,000 miles. Then go back and buy another two-year-old.

It may cost somewhat more than the three-year-old car kept until it's eight, but you will endure less time wasted on repairs.

Q — How much health insurance should any one person have? I retired last year and my teachers' association has a plan that pays up to $100 a week for 52 weeks. It costs $5.50 per week. — Ms. MW., Leesburg, Pa.

A — You need insurance that will cover basic hospitalization and surgical costs. This is a minimum.

If you're under Medicare, you have this basic coverage. You need "major medical" coverage to handle any long-term monumental hospital bills.

Try to get them to cover you for the threat of a really major medical expense from $15,000 to $20,000 or so. Then get as high "deductibles" as you can stand financially.

The more the deductible, the less you pay and the more you can afford the coverage for some major calamity.

It sounds like you might be considering an "income protection" type of insurance.

These plans are quite expensive and really aren't worth the money most people sink into them.

Put that $5.50 a week into a savings account and let it build up to cover contingencies.

You can get a free booklet on health insurance by writing: Modern Health Insurance, 277 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Q — Some time ago I read in one of your columns that the government would pay a percentage of the monthly mortgage payments on a house. The amount depended on the person's income. Where can I get more information on this? — CW2 C. L. G., APO, San Francisco, Calif.

A — It's called the "Housing Opportunity Allowance Program (HOAP)" and is worked through the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and participating savings and loan associations.

If your savings and loan association isn't familiar with the program, ask the management to make an inquiry through the nearest FHLLB office.

(Peter Weaver welcomes questions from readers for possible use in his column. Please send letters to him in care of this newspaper. Copyright 1972-73 Los Angeles Times

Influenza claims 341 lives since New Year's

ATLANTA (UPI) — Influenza, above the epidemic level for the second straight week, has claimed at least 341 lives since the first of the year, the National Center for Disease Control (NCDC) reported Friday.

The continuing increase in flu and pneumonia mortality across the country strengthened belief that the London flu, a new virus strain, may become a major U.S. health problem this winter.

Dr. Robert Rubin, the NCDC's flu expert, said that while flu-related deaths are on the increase nationwide for the second week in a row, the number of deaths for the period is still below the figure recorded for the same weeks of 1972, when Hong Kong influenza swept the country.

For the week ended Jan. 13, the NCDC said, the number of flu and pneumonia deaths above the number normally expected totaled 257. The week before, the comparable figure was 84, representing nearly a five-fold increase over the previous reporting period.

The NCDC said most of those killed by the flu are elderly and chronically ill.

Outbreaks of influenza were reported in 25 states, with the London virus identified in 23. States reporting flu cases were Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, Nevada and New Mexico.

Epidemics of the London flu were reported in the metropolitan areas of Boston, Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C. The disease was on the wane in Baltimore, one of the cities first hit by the flu in December.

The NCDC said the greatest number of flu cases were reported in the Middle Atlantic and Pacific regions. California earlier this week listed 144 deaths due to pneumonia of the flu, and health officials said they expected more in the weeks ahead.

But this country's experience with the London flu apparently could not be compared in severity with the epidemic raging in the Soviet Union.

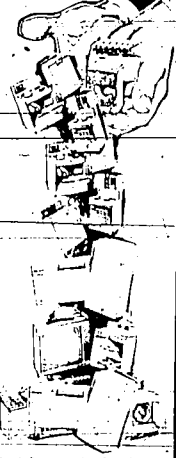

The World Health Organization (WHO) said 70,000 new cases of influenza are being reported daily in Moscow and 30,000 in Leningrad. WHO said the virus responsible for the illness appears to be similar to the London flu.

Good garbage

LOWELL, Mass. (UPI) — Garbage is a natural resource? Well, that concept becomes reality in Lowell where plans call for the nation's first, full-scale operating plant to recover reusable metals and minerals from solid waste.

The garbage into resource project, costing $2.2 million, will be ready to operate in two years. The plant is expected to pay its own way once functioning.

Social Security changes told

All of the new rights and benefits to the retired, survivors and disabled under the 1972 Social Security legislation will be clearly explained in a 10-part series to be carried in this newspaper beginning Monday.

The newspaper series and a 96-page book, "What You've Got Coming in Medicare and Social Security," are by Bruce Blossat, Chief Washington Correspondent for Newspaper Enterprise Association. Blossat followed the legislation through the many months of deliberation in Congress and his series and book were carefully checked and approved at Social Security headquarters in Baltimore.

Primarily, the new laws bring retirement, survivors' and disability benefits in better balance with living costs, correct some inequities that have crept in, and make benefits adjustable periodically to future changes in price-wage levels. It raises from the old limit of $1,680 to $2,100 a year that a retiree of beneficiary can earn per year without loss of benefits. Monthly wage limit is increased to $175 from the previous amount of $140.

There are many, many more benefits available upon application and "What You've Got Coming in Medicare & Social Security" shows you clearly just how to apply for them, how to get help on special problems and how to deal with any difficulties that may arise.

Watch for the first of the 10 parts of the newspaper series, and use the coupon below to order your copy of the 96-page book, "What You've Got Coming in Medicare and Social Security." The book costs only $1.00 (plus 25 cents for postage and handling) and can be worth more than its weight in gold if you follow its instructions carefully to get what you've got coming from Medicare and Social Security!

Please print your name, address and Zip Code, include your check or money order for $1.25 for each book ordered. Make checks payable to Times-News, Social Security Book. Allow three weeks for delivery.

Evil spirits blamed for mass hysteria in Singapore

SINGAPORE (UPI)—The mass hysteria then. General Electric Co. said today The company said things a witch doctor, an Indian appeared quiet today and the mystic and a Buddhist monk exorcists went home.

Since last Saturday, plant manager John Dugan said 40 spirits blamed for an outbreak of mass hysteria among women employees were taken home, some screaming hysterically, after reporting seeing ghosts in the GE factory, located in two stories of an industrial area to be taken home after collapsing from hysteria induced by their belief in evil spirits.

The television and appliance plant has been closed three times since last Saturday by similar outbreaks of hysteria.

GE called in Bomohs (Malay witchdoctors) who burned incense and sprinkled magic water, a Buddhist monk and an Indian mystic to fight off the spirits. The Bomoh was called in Thursday but failed to halt down off and on. But today Dugan said the ghosts were hopefully put to rest. There were no interruptions in the afternoon shift of about 1,000 mostly 18 to 19-year-old girls. Medical experts said they were at a loss to completely explain the outbreaks of mass hysteria. They said it occurs mainly among female Malays either from rural or low income backgrounds.

Leftover egg whites should be refrigerated promptly in tightly covered containers and used within a day or two.

Time for Living

Rogers Franklin

For more than 20 years a family friend we've enjoyed knowing is Lucille, a teacher of remedial reading in a nearby public school.

The other afternoon Lucille dropped in to report that she's finally made The Grand Decision — she's going to retire at the end of this school term and move straightway to a condominium apartment in south Florida.

"Just think," she gloated, "I'll finally be near my son and daughter and their families. Until now we saw each other only on vacations. But from now on, it will be an everyday joy."

After she left, I began wondering: Will it be the opposite? One woman I know moved 900 miles to be near her son and daughter, too — and it proved tragic.

There's the matter of identity, too. All over the place I hear youth in squads declaiming about their "search for identity." That's fine. But let them remember that older people likewise have a sense of identity — and it's apt to be far stronger than theirs because older people have brought far more to it.

They've got an identity they've spent something like 50 or 60 years on. Yet too often I've seen older mothers and fathers sit with their offspring as if they have no identity whatever — as if they're merely a family appendage.

How do all you readers feel about the subject? Given the choice, would you move nearer to your children — or away from them? I'd enjoy hearing from you! Write to me in care of this newspaper.

Three ISU classes to start soon

TWIN FALLS — Sufficient enrollment in three Idaho State University continuing education classes has been obtained and classes will begin during the coming two weeks.

The classes include G-126, psychology of the problem child which will be taught on Monday and Wednesday nights in two sections; G-491, education in the community, on Tuesday nights and education 611, school finance which begins Thursday Feb. 1.

Persons interested in joining the classes may do so by attending the first meeting.

A fourth course, education 331, materials and methods of teaching elementary school arithmetic, will be offered next Tuesday night with instructors in room 102 at CSI. If 14 or more persons register, the course will be given.

Additional information is available from Marvin Glascock, CSI, 733-9554.

MOSCOW (UPI) — A neighborhood of apartments using solar energy for air conditioning is being built in Ashkhabad, capital of Turkmenia, the Tass news agency said.

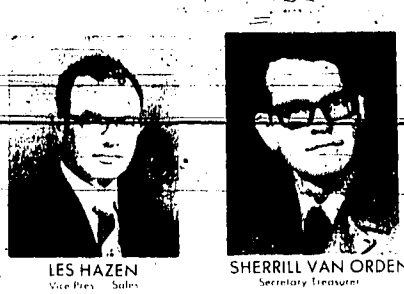

Turkmenia, in Soviet central Asia, is the nation's hottest republic. Summer temperatures reach 115 F in the towns and 175 F in the desert.

The first three-story building, containing nine apartments, has been completed. The machine section of the absorption unit is installed in the basement.

Kooky Club names aides

TWIN FALLS — The Kooky Kookers 4-H Club met Thursday at the home of Brenda Sayers, to begin work on their project, "Snacks and More."

Officers for 1973 will be Holly Kramer, president; Lisa Giesler, vice president; Brenda Sayers, secretary; Nancy Donnelly, reporter, and Liz Harrison, historian.

Not long ago I heard about a vote that was taken in a large retirement village. The residents were asked if they wanted to live closer to their children. The vote was overwhelmingly no.

What they preferred, they said, is to keep everything on a visitor's basis. That's one reason they had moved to an adult retiree village.

Does this sound inhuman to you? It doesn't to me. I think all of us need freedom, and what is retirement if not the one time in all our life that we can use the freedom — exclusively — for ourselves — for our own desires, wishes, needs?

Granted, we never stop being a parent — but after years of giving and caring, isn't it high time we began to care primarily about ourselves?

Bidding next step toward new Perrine Bridge

TWIN FALLS — When bids were opened March 20 for a new Perrine Bridge, that will be the latest in a series of steps over almost six years.

The bid opening has been scheduled in Boise by the Idaho Department of Highways.

But after the bids are opened for the new bridge — estimated to cost more than $8 million — much work will need to be done before traffic crosses the four-lane span sometime late in 1975.

Construction of the 1,500-foot long bridge will take more than two years. The main span will be a graceful arch 993 feet long with a rise of 210 feet. Girder spans on the south end will extend 292 feet and others on the north end will extend 215 feet. More than 6,000 cubic yards of concrete and nine million pounds of steel will go into the 78.5 foot wide structure, the roadway which will be 480 feet above the Snake River.

It will carry two lanes of traffic each way with a concrete median separating the opposing traffic flows, shoulders and a walkway across the entire span on each side.

The first step toward construction of the new bridge over the canyon north of Twin Falls came in 1967 when a ridge over the Ohio River at Point Pleasant, W. Va., collapsed. That spurred passage of a federal and highway act of 1968 providing for bridge inspections and training of bridge inspectors.

In the fall of 1969, the Idaho Department of Highways hired the Seattle engineering firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff to inspect the Perrine Bridge, completed in 1927. The inspection found the structure in fair condition considering its age.

When an effort was made to determine if the Perrine Bridge could be widened to provide a four-lane crossing of the Snake River, it became apparent almost half the structure of members of the bridge would have to be strengthened to carry more than the original design load of one 25 ton vehicle traveling in each direction.

When this work was found not feasible, it was recommended that — due to the age of the bridge and the years that modern loads had been encroaching on the safety factor — a load limit of 22 tons be imposed in the interest of safety.

Since a new crossing of the canyon north of Twin Falls had to be established, a traffic study was made to determine the most desirable location. Early in the study, it became apparent that a crossing at the Perrine Bridge site — one of four areas evaluated — was the most desirable and that projected traffic use required a four-lane bridge.

A preliminary design study, including cost estimates, was finished in September, 1970. Part of that study was geophysical exploration of the area using shock waves from explosive charges to determine foundation material that might be found along the canyon rim and in the canyon.

Seven structure types were examined with three considered economical and suited to the site. The deck-arch structure, located immediately east of the existing bridge, appeared to be most feasible.

A suspension bridge and a truss span similar to the existing Perrine Bridge were also considered.

For the steel structure, a new material which "weathers" to a deep rust color was chosen because it would complement the canyon colors and also eliminate the need for painting.

The next major problem became finding the money for the bridge. That was estimated at $7.5 million in 1970.

The new bridge would be on the primary highway system and could be funded from that source. But since Idaho's combined federal and state primary highway funds amount to $10 million for the year for the entire state, use of these funds would require deferring improvements in other areas.

The U.S. Department of Transportation turned down a request for emergency relief because use of that fund required the bridge to be permanently closed.

A request for funds from the special bridge replacement fund was made. It included a statewide study showing the Perrine Bridge with the top replacement priority in Idaho.

Similar lists from the other states were reviewed by the Department of Transportation before approval for funds from that source came in August, 1971.

The special bridge replacement fund provides a per cent federal aid money and 25 per cent state funds. Replacement of the Perrine Bridge was considered of such priority that preliminary work for the new crossing was authorized before approval for federal participation was received.

Use of federal aid primary funds was approved in February, 1970, and all work from then until August, 1971, was financed from that source.

Once the type and general location of the new bridge was established the question became — "Can the design, foundation investigation and mapping be fitted into the Idaho Highway Department's work schedule?" The answer was no.

Department drilling crews were scheduled on other work for several months. In addition, it was estimated that nearly all department bridge design personnel would be needed on a project of this size. This would diameter. It will weigh a calculated 2,030 pounds and have a three inch hole through the center for the keeper bolt. While most people consider rock a solid mass, the compression of the canyon rock in this case was calculated at three-quarters of an inch in the north footings when the bridge is in place.

In a canyon, consideration must be given to preventing falling rock from striking and damaging the bridge members. Some of the rock will be anchored by concrete facing to prevent this.

On a structure of this nature, it is absolutely necessary to have accurate measurements between the foundation points. After highway department crews spent many hours establishing points, measuring baselines, turning angles and checking their calculations, they found in measuring between a point on the south rim and north rim with an electronic instrument they were accurate within one-eighth inch.

This article and illustrations were prepared by Times-News writer Melba Thorne and Idaho Highway Department personnel, notably E. L. Kidner, assistant district engineer, Shoshone.

mean that all other structure work would have to be deferred during such a design.

It was decided to select a consulting engineering firm to make layouts for foundation drilling, monitor drilling work, make necessary laboratory tests and compile a foundation report, and design the structure.

Highway department survey crews would perform the mapping and necessary control work.

After review, the firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff was chosen in December, 1970.

The first job was to make a layout so drilling could be performed at the bridge site. While this was going on, highway department crews extended elevation controls down both sides of the canyon and completed mapping the cliff areas inside the canyon.

Jensen Construction and Drilling, Springville, Utah, was awarded a $62,000 drilling contract April 20, 1971. This was completed in July, 1971.

In the meantime an environmental impact statement was prepared and approved by 10 local, 16 state and 10 federal agencies. A public hearing on the project was conducted June 15, 1971.

Once foundation drilling was complete, design could not begin until basic information had been compiled.

Early in the fall of 1971, the consulting engineers began design work. Fifteen engineering and design specialists were assigned to the job until it was completed in August, 1972.

While the bridge was being designed, the highway department planned approach roadways and visitor overlooks and negotiated for purchase of necessary right-of-way.

When the design was complete, all 130 plan sheets

Snake canyon different place

TWIN FALLS — Engineers who have done preliminary work on the new Perrine Bridge have found the Snake River Canyon an interesting place to work.

Some have taken lunch breaks beneath a 10 foot high sprout of poison ivy. They have enjoyed a walk up a rock slide on the south side of the canyon west of the present bridge.

One Idaho Highway Department man walked up to a large, head high boulder and rested his hand against it. To his amazement, the huge rock began rolling down the slope toward the bottom of the canyon.

New bridge will look like this when built

Pomerelle lift check completed

ALBION — U. S. Forest Service officials completed three days of inspection at Pomerelle ski resort Saturday but have not approved re-opening of the lift.

The chairlift was the site of a New Year's Day mishap which hospitalized 19 persons.

Pomerelle manager Ron Malfara said inspections have "pretty much" been completed. The federal officials conducted a "sandbag" test Saturday. Sixty lift chairs were loaded with an average of 375 pounds each and the lift was activated to test the braking mechanism.

The load test went "well" as far as Pomerelle officials are concerned, Malfara said.

"They (the forest service men) probably have a list of things for us to do before the lift is approved," he said.

The paperwork leading to final approval might take another two or three days to complete, the ski director said.

A fourth braking system, has been added to the chairlift, Malfara said.

Approximately 60 skiers took advantage of the rope tows in operation at the resort Saturday. Malfara said a tracked vehicle was used to haul 10 skiers at a time to the top of the slopes.

Woman held

SHOSHONE (UPI) — Lincoln County sheriff's officers arrested a 43-year-old woman early Saturday and charged her with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder after a stabbing incident.

Sheriff Bill Anderson said his office received a call at 5:30 a.m. from the Richard Blincoe ranch 40 miles east of Shoshone. Ranch hand Sam Spenser, 42, had been stabbed twice, once in the back and once in the upper front part of his body.

His wife, Delores, was accused of stabbing him with a knife while he slept. Spenser was listed in serious condition at Mindoka Memorial Hospital in Rupert.

Mrs. Spenser was being held in the Jerome County Jail and is to be arraigned Monday.

Sheriff Anderson said the incident allegedly arose over family problems.

Education receives $3,030 million of the total $5 million available in the recommendations, with $1.8 million being urged for the Boise State structure.

According to Rep. Emery Hedlund, D-St. Maries, chairman of the advisory council, "We felt Boise State took a greater priority. We had building requests for $27 million and we had to establish priorities."

Max Boesiger, commissioner of public works, said the council also had to consider non-educational requests. With only slightly over $5 million available to it in total building funds, and requests for about five times that amount, he said, the council felt it could approve only about $2 million for education.

Any recommendations by the advisory council must be approved by the legislature before the money may be spent.

The council's recommendations included:

- Capitol Mall: remodel St. Alphonsus Hospital property, $350,000; construct additional central utility plant facilities, $1.26 million; remove obsolescent building and structures, $50,000.
- Education: Boise State College science education building $1.8 million; University of Idaho College of Law equipment, $100,000; Lewis Clark State College heating plant, $9,500; Lewis Clark College boiler system $25,000; State Youth Center gas fired heating system, $102,000.
- Health: regional laboratory at Idaho Falls, $89,250; remove obsolescent buildings at State Hospital South; $30,000.
- Penitentiary, $500,000.
- Public lands, $70,500.

Even though the council's recommendations are for the coming fiscal year, Hedlund and Boesiger both said there would be no funds available for construction until fiscal 1975.

Trucks jackknife in Cassia storm

BURLEY — Two semi truck-trailers and at least eight cars, went off Interstate 80 during a blizzard Friday night about 50 miles southeast of Burley.

According to Idaho State Police reports, there were no injuries in the snarl ups, but the interstate was closed most of the night because of jackknifed truck trailers.

ISP Corporal Gordon Mills said Saturday the accidents occurred along a two-lane strip of the highway from 10 to four miles north of the Jumper rest area.

Mills said one single trailer rig and a double trailer rig jackknifed across the road during the storm, which lasted from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Driving was extremely hazardous, Mills said, due to heavy snow and a ground blizzard. He said several motorists followed him through the storm and that he was able to see only by turning on his blue top lights and picking up the reflection off highway delineators.

An ambulance dispatched to the scene had to turn around and return to Burley, Mills said, adding that the ambulance was not needed as early reports of injuries proved premature.

"You couldn't even get a wrecker in there," Mills said, "because other cars would run into it."

Car hits youth, 17

BURLEY — George Hatt, 17, Burley, was listed in good condition Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital after being struck by a car driven by Michael Garner, 18, Burley.

Burley Police said the accident occurred at the intersection of Park Avenue and 17th Street. The youth was struck by a car driven by Michael Garner, 18, Burley, who was driving south on Park Avenue and Hatt was walking west across the street, police said.

No citations have been issued.

RUPERT — The Rupert Chamber of Commerce heard a telephoned legislative report from district 21 lawmakers in a meeting Thursday.

Donald Chisholm, chairman of the chamber's legislative committee, questioned Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, for nearly half an hour as members of the civic group listened with the aid of public address speakers.

Chisholm had taken a bill before the Idaho capitol to determine the chamber's attitude toward repeal or replacement of the American Falls Dam. Better than 60 per cent of those attending favored a new dam.

After hearing the poll results, Peavey said he had sponsored a memorial in Boise Wednesday that requests Congress to replace the dam as soon as possible.

Antone took a poke at Gov. Cecil Andrus for not submitting guidelines to the recently formed bi-paritisan committee that will study state government reorganization.

The chief executive should contribute to the planning since he "pushed" reorganization, Antone said.

Weight added to lift Hotel blaze kills 2 men

WEISER, Idaho (UPI) — Firemen put out the final flames Saturday of a fire which killed two elderly persons and injured nine others as it destroyed the once plush Washington Hotel.

The dead were identified as Harley Bonfer, about 90, and Lon Shellhaus, about 80. Both were residents of the hotel.

The fire, accompanied by an explosion, apparently broke out on the second and third floors of the five-story building. Cause of the blaze is unknown and damage estimates are not yet available.

"I smelled smoke and heard an explosion," said Jake Ferreira, who was reading in bed when the fire broke out at 12:30 a.m. "I heard a woman screaming, but I couldn't get to her."

Ferreira said he ran up and down the second-floor hallway yelling and pounding on doors.

Many of the residents were forced into the sub-freezing weather with only their night clothes on. Some were taken to the Elks Club and Senior Citizens Center across the street.

The nine injured were taken to the Weiser Memorial Hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation.

Ron Holmes, a musician in the hotel's lounge, said someone yelled, "Everyone get out, the place is on fire."

Holmes ran outside and saw the baby sitter, who was watching Holmes' two sons, standing by the fifth-floor window of his hotel apartment.

"I got to the second floor and the flames and smoke were everywhere, but I kept going," he said. "I thought I was on the fifth floor but I couldn't see. I felt the numbers on a door and realized it was only the fourth floor — so I kept going."

Firemen used a ladder and "cheery-picker" to rescue the baby-sitter, and Holmes and the children.

Six pumpers from the Weiser, Ontario and Payette fire departments took 12 hours to put out the fire.

March at Buhl

BURL — The March of Dimes Mothers March is scheduled for Monday evening in the Buhl area, according to Mrs. Guy Pehrson, chairman.

Contributions to the March of Dimes are used for furthering research on birth defects, intensive care of newborns and genetic counseling.

Seventy-five per cent of the money collected in Magic Valley are used for local children who are born with birth defects.

The foundation assists with hospital expenses for children requiring care at the Primary Children's Hospital or the Shriners Hospital in Salt Lake City.

About 25 per cent of the contributions are sent to the national foundation.

Members of Xi Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi are in charge of obtaining collectors for the campaign.

Valley freshman solons not bored

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer

BOISE — House Speaker William Lenting feels that part of the reason for the early slow pace of legislative session is inexperience of freshmen members.

Magic Valley's three new lawmakers apparently aren't concerned. One of them, Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, said that in spite of the slowness of the session, "if anybody is bored, it's because he's not looking for anything to do."

Olmstead does admit, however, that he was warned before he arrived in Boise to begin his first term as a legislator, that there would be moments of "frustration and boredom."

So far, he said, he has concentrated on his committee assignments, and is attempting to familiarize himself with the state branding laws in anticipation of the attempt to get them reclassified during the session.

With seats on three House committees, including Agricultural Affairs, Judiciary Rules and Administration and Revenue and Taxation, Olmstead said he is "pleased," although surprised by his seat on the judiciary committee.

In addition to trying to become familiar with what's going on," he said, "I have to learn the language," problems he doesn't find with his other two committees.

Rep. Lee Barron, R-Corral, a second Magic Valley freshman, said his main concern at present is a bill to allow the bonded indebtedness of a school district to reach 20 per cent of its assessed valuation, up five per cent from its present 15.

He said Mountain Home's school population is growing faster than its assessed valuation, creating a situation where there is no legal way to build new schools to accommodate the children.

In spite of that, Barron said, "I haven't made up my mind on the bill, although I'm basically committed to things that would help local entities."

Barron also is afraid of local units of government relying on revenue-sharing funds to run current operations.

"Making any local unit of government rely on revenue sharing puts their taxing power in jeopardy," he said, because "suddenly the taxpayer would have to take on the increased load "when revenue sharing is terminated."

The third freshman legislator from the valley, Sen. James Yost, at 24 the youngest state legislator in history, is prepared to be patient.

"Basically I think it's a slow procedure," he said, "I think part of my saying that is that I don't know the procedure as well as I should."

Most of his education, Yost said, comes either in informal discussions with other legislators, in caucus, or in committee meetings.

With a seat on the Judiciary and Rules Committee, Yost this week carried his first piece of legislation on the floor of the Senate.

It sought to correct an oversight in the rewriting of the criminal code in the past several years, by making lewd conduct a felony under certain conditions.

The bill passed, 29-0, and after its passage, Yost received notes of congratulations from other senators.

Gooding sets fete for senior citizens

GOODING — A Senior Citizen Center potluck dinner is scheduled for Monday at noon at the War Memorial Hall.

Pianist Zella Pace will provide the entertainment. Following the dinner a board of directors meeting will be held.

A crafts demonstration of hairpin lace will be presented Tuesday by Manota Admire. She requests that anyone interested bring a loom, yarn and large crochet hook. The demonstration will begin at 2:30 p.m.

The Senior Citizen Boutique will be open every Tuesday from noon to 5 p.m.

Burley BLM aide moved

BURLEY — Charles Chuck Bate, fire control officer in the Burley Bureau of Land Management district since 1966, has been transferred to the BLM's Boise office.

He will assume state-wide responsibilities Monday as a member of the bureau's fire protection staff.

Claire Baldwin, presently assigned to the BLM's Salmon district, will replace Bate in Burley.

A Dietrich native, Bate joined the BLM in 1961, serving four years in the Shoshone office before taking a year's training in fire control at the inter-agency fire center in Boise.

During his Burley service, the fire expert addressed local school classes and traveled to the San Carlos Indian Reservation in Arizona to teach native Americans.

Commenting on the responsibilities of his promotion, Bate said, "I'll be more involved in training on a state-wide basis. There will be some fire suppression training on the Department of Interior overhead team in a five-man crew dispatched to large fire problems."

Two valley postmasters announced

Appointment of two Magic Valley postmasters was announced Saturday.

U. S. Postal Service officials said they are Mrs. Mary Jane Kelly at Eden and Mrs. Florence W. Kay at Heyburn.

John G. Rost, Boise, sectional center manager and postmaster, installed Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Kay.

Both women were appointed under the new merit selection basis established for the postal service.

Mrs. Kelly entered the postal service in 1963. Prior to becoming postmaster she was officer in charge at Eden.

Mrs. Kay entered the postal service in 1965 and was officer in charge at Heyburn prior to being appointed postmaster.

Jerome lists bureau aides

JEROME — Del Hitt, Jerome, assumed the chairmanship of the Jerome Community Farm Bureau Thursday night.

Hitt, who was elected, replaces Jack Bell as chairman. Other officers include Herminah Stammerjohn, vice chairman, and Shy Patterson, secretary-treasurer.

The county officers will be voted on this Tuesday, night during the regular meeting of the Jerome County Farm Bureau, according to Gordon Hollifield who is County Farm Bureau president.

Hollifield said that he will submit the name of Linda Montgomery for Secretary-Treasurer and Pat Callery for the women's chairman, for approval by the board. He noted that a vice president will have to be elected.

Directors are Evert Arhns, Dell Hitt, Harold Grant and John Adkin, each serving a two year term. Holdover directors whose terms expire at the end of this year are Marlin Block and Bud and Bud Patterson.

Jerry Callen has been named as livestock chairman, according to Hollifield.

Albert Luher, Farm Bureau insurance agent and manager for Twin Falls and Jerome, spoke to the members on the no-fault insurance plan presently before the legislators.

Luger said that the Farm Bureau is opposed to the no-fault plan. He explained that in his opinion it took too many rights away from the people and that Idaho now has one of the lowest insurance rates of the other states and no-fault will mean an increase in these rates.

Bob Sexton, district 3 fieldman, read the position the Farm Bureau has taken on several legislative bills and some of the bills that will be introduced by the Farm Bureau.

Hitt spoke briefly on the spending of tax money for the regional airport noting that it was a waste of money when a regional airport cannot be obtained without the help of Twin Falls.

It was announced at the meeting that the annual Farm Bureau dinner dance will be held Friday at Wood Cafe.

Guest speaker for the event will be Idaho Farm Bureau president, W. Dale Rockwood. Hollifield said tickets will be available at the door.

Heyburn man found guilty

RUPERT — Larry Schneider, 22, Heyburn, was found guilty of robbery in a jury trial here Friday.

He was charged with the Dec. 4 holdup of the Ponderosa Inn. Apprehended by a Burley policeman soon after the crime, Schneider had taken nearly $150 in cash.

The jury deliberated for more than an hour after hearing testimony from Earl Harrison, the policeman who caught Schneider; David Nelson, another Burley officer, and Sherry Widmier, a night auditor at the Ponderosa.

Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood ordered a presentence investigation in the case and scheduled a Jan. 20 sentencing date.

Schneider could receive a maximum sentence of life imprisonment on the robbery finding, according to Mindoka Pros. Atty. Robert Nielsen.

Nielsen complimented the Burley Police Department, saying they did a "fine job" in the disposition of the case.

The chief executive should contribute to the planning since he "pushed" reorganization, Antone said.

Gov. Andrus recently proposed that the committee be funded with $140,000 from the state's revenue sharing money.

Peavey questioned the governor's 1973 budget proposals. With a projected revenue of $154 million from existing tax sources ($20 million more than last year), the maintenance of a 1.9 per cent holdback in 1972 general funds seems senseless, according to the senator.

Antone has released $600,000 of the holdback money for higher education, which proves some mistake on his part, Peavey said.

The holdback cost Mindoka taxpayers $18,000 in additional school funding, according to Antone.

Peavey said no one knows the "total intent" of the governor's budget message. The proposal that $6.2 million in inventory tax phaseout money be given to the counties and used exclusively for education represents a "new concept in county aid to schools," he added.

Peavey also questioned Andrus' proposal that the cities and counties make up their loss in phaseout money with revenue sharing funds.

"This program (revenue sharing) is not necessarily biennial, ongoing, and the local governments might not always have the federal funds to replace phaseout income."

"Another recommendation by the governor would reduce the eight mills presently levied by the counties for state education to one mill.

Peavey said this claimed tax relief would cost the counties revenue sharing money in the future. Revenue sharing allotments to local governments are based largely on tax effort.

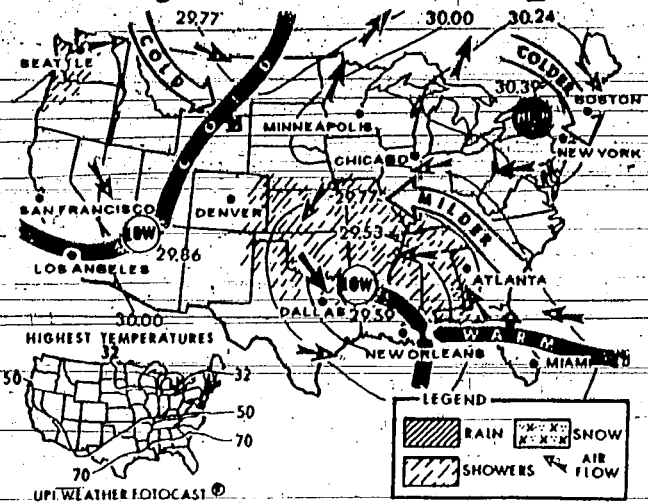

Asked his opinion of biennial budgeting for the state rather than the current annual meet every Tuesday to review budgeting (Andrus supports the proposed legislation and prepare questions for Thursday conversations with Peavey and Antone.

Following the phone call Chisholm said the chamber's legislative committee would meet every Tuesday to review the proposed legislation and prepare questions for Thursday conversations with Peavey and Antone.

Newsprint price hike announced

MONTREAL (UPI) — International Paper Sales Company Inc. today notified its U.S. customers it is raising the price of its newsprint by $5 a ton, from $165 per ton to $170, effective Feb. 17.

The present price increase does not affect our Canadian customers, a spokesman for International said. "Their prices were raised a little while ago."

International's newsprint price increase follows a similar move by Consolidated Bathurst, another major paper producer. Consolidated recently announced a price increase of $5 per ton to its U.S. clients and similar increases to Canadian customers, effective Feb. 1.

Spokesman for both companies said the increases were due to a rise in the cost of materials, higher labor costs and operating expenses.

A Consolidated spokesman said the $5 increase "is not really enough to compensate for rising costs."

Geologist opens TF service

TWIN FALLS — L. J. Ettinger has opened a consulting geology service here.

Ettinger is doing business as Southern Idaho Geological Services.

A native of southern California, Ettinger, located in Twin Falls after working in Idaho for more than a year.

Of that time, six months were spent in the Clayton area as consulting geologist for a mining venture. He has also worked for major mining firms in the western United States, Australia and the Middle East.

Ettinger holds a master's degree in geology from the University of Arizona and a juris doctor degree from the University of California at Los Angeles.

He has registered as a professional geologist in Idaho and plans to operate his service from his residence at the Grandview Trailer Villa.

Ettinger said he will perform geological assignments dealing with minerals, water or in other fields.

Aide named chairman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon named White House aide Lewis A. Engman Friday to be chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

The appointment, which had been expected, will make Engman the successor to Miles K. Kirkpatrick, whose resignation was accepted earlier this month.

Engman, 37, is a former Grand Rapids, Mich., attorney. Engman has been serving as assistant director of the Domestic Council.

In announcing the appointment, Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Engman had specialized in antitrust actions for the Domestic Council. Antitrust is a primary responsibility of the FTC.

Bank's gains listed

BOISE — The Farmers National Bank of Boise recorded substantial gains in 1972, according to J. P. Hamilton, president.

Hamilton said for the first time in its 55-year-old history, total deposits exceeded $10 million with capital and reserves exceeding $1 million.

He reported total assets of $11.7 million, total deposits of $10.6 million and equity capital of $1.052 million. During 1972 deposits grew 21 per cent. He attributed the exceptional growth in 1972 to a new branch which opened at Wendell in July, 1972, along with increased customer confidence.

The bank is owned and controlled by residents of Twin Falls and Gooding counties. John Blick, Castleford, is chairman of the board of directors.

Other board members are Dave Nicholson, Hagerman; Walter Olson, James W. Hart and J. P. Hamilton, all Boise.

Construction of a branch bank at Wendell is expected to be completed by early spring. Hamilton said the bank would then be able to offer new and expanded financial services to residents of Jerome and Gooding counties.

Grinsted promoted at Filer

FILER — Carl Grinsted has been promoted to assistant manager of the Filer office of Idaho First National Bank.

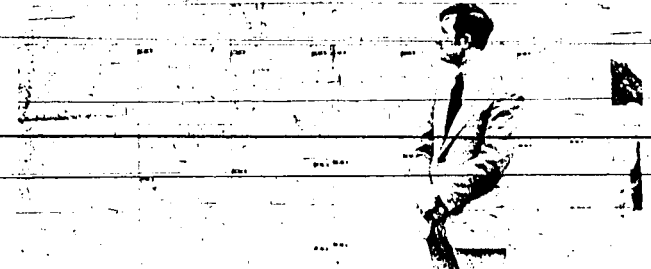

After completing two years active duty in the Army, Grinsted began his banking career as an executive trainee in the bank's Rupert office in April, 1969. He advanced to loan officer in March, 1971, and transferred to Filer. He held that position at the time of his recent promotion.

Grinsted graduated from Kimberly High School in 1962. He attended Idaho State University where he earned his B.S. in government in 1967. He has subsequently continued his education through an extensive course of study with the American Institute of Banking.

Deposit, loan gains told by Idaho First

BOISE — The Idaho First National Bank reported substantial gains in both deposit and loan volume for 1972, according to the annual report.

Year-end deposits totaled $689.57 million, representing a growth of $124.4 million over the previous year resulting in an increase of 22 per cent in total deposits. As of Dec. 31, 1972, loans and discounts were reported in the amount of $423.16 million. This figure represents a growth of $70.91 million over the previous year for an increase of 20 per cent.

Thomas C. Frye, president, stated "It was the result of a strong economic growth throughout the state that produced substantial deposit volume and a good loan demand which brought us the greatest single year's growth in the history of the bank."

Operating earnings for the year were $3.88 per share and after security gains they totaled $3.77 per share. This was a growth of 5.4 per cent for operating earnings and a 7.4 per cent overall gain.

The bank's annual report gave credit to agriculture as being the number one industry in Idaho. The Idaho First National Bank is the eighth leading agricultural lender among all banks in the United States. This category ranks first in the bank's total lending activity, Frye said.

Continued momentum in construction for single and multi-family dwellings brought substantial mortgage loan activity to Idaho, and the bank's annual report showed total real estate loans exceeding $111 million.

According to official sources, The Idaho First National Bank is the seventh largest employer in the state of Idaho. The bank employs more than 1,400 people with an annual payroll exceeding $11.5 million.

Strip mine control for states asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Henry M. Jackson of the Senate Interior Committee, proposed federal strip mine control legislation Thursday devoid of slope limitations and placing primary regulatory power with the states.

Jackson said controversial slope limitations included in a House-passed bill last year would effectively bar most coal surface mining.

Strip mine actions are intended to protect us from the specter of a ravaged land," the Washington Democrat said. "Yet, we must also produce the energy needed for our homes, farms and factories."

A warning to investors worried about INFLATION

Inflation has already slashed away nearly 2-1/2 of the dollars 1940 purchasing power. William McChesney Martin Jr. a former Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, warns "We have engaged in fiscal stimulus which is so far in excess of any reasonable requirement that it borders on the irresponsible."

Dr. Franz Plick, world-famous monetary authority, warns: "The U.S. dollar... has now entered the stage of terminal disease," and that bankruptcy is "inevitable."

And Harry Bywater, whose book HOW YOU CAN PROFIT FROM THE COLLAPSE IN VALUE OF STOCKS accurately predicted the first dollar devaluation in 17 years, and the record gold price, warns: "The alternatives are narrowed to either runaway inflation or a full-scale depression."

Your Inflation Defense

You are NO longer helpless in the face of crushing monetary disaster. While inflation and recurring monetary crises are destroying the assets of less knowledgeable investors, you can secure your life savings. Even during runaway inflation and severe depressions, a few foresighted investors manage to prosper. And you could be among the prosperous few. Our new booklet, The Case for Silver—How to Protect Your Assets Against Inflation, by Louis E. Carabini, President of the Pacific Coast Coin Exchange, shows you:

- Why silver is a valued hedge against inflation—proven effective for nearly 2,000 years
 - 3 powerful forces at work today which are speeding America towards further monetary crises
 - Why the peculiar nature of the supply and demand for silver makes sharp gains for silver seem inevitable regardless of monetary crises
 - 2 common mistakes in silver investing and how you can easily avoid them
 - How a new silver investment—the Pacific Coast Coin Exchange Protected Margin Account in silver coins can protect your assets against inflation.

Beef price increases said likely to continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spearheading a new round of retail food price increases, average consumer beef prices jumped 2 cents a pound to over $1.14 a pound in December and probably will rise further this year, an Agriculture Department official reported Friday.

The December hike was due to a jump of nearly 12 per cent over November levels in farmers' prices for beef cattle. Supermarket operators avoided a dramatic hike in retail prices by sharply narrowing their margins on beef, but still left part of the sharp gains to be passed on to consumers.

Preliminary figures disclosed by Don Paarlberg, the department's director of economics, showed the December retail beef average was the highest since the $1.16 a pound reported last August and the all-time record of $1.17 set last July.

Paarlberg said in a statement that retail prices for choice-grade beef, under pressure from limited supply and strong consumer demand, reversed a three-month downtrend in December. From a November average of $1.12 a pound for all choice beef — ranging from hamburger to steak — preliminary surveys returns indicate a December average of $1.43 a pound, he said.

Paarlberg said further hikes are likely, despite increasing beef production and lifting of all beef import controls. Beef consumption will be up two to three pounds per person this year, but "with higher incomes people will bid up the price," he said.

Paarlberg gave the preliminary retail beef figures for December, and later furnished the other December estimates, stressing that final figures will not be given until a regular monthly report due in about two weeks.

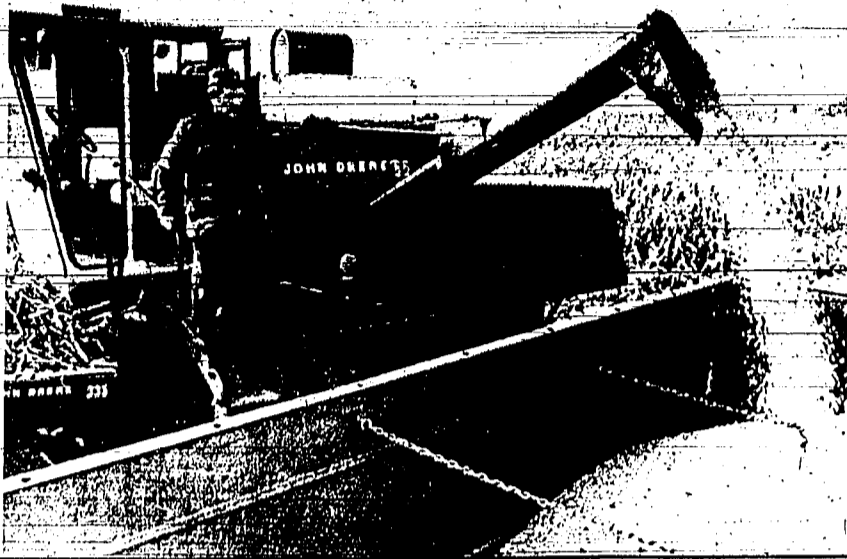

He also predicted that retail egg prices, which broke out of a two-year depression at the end of last year, probably will continue at December levels before declining seasonally in early April.

But consumers should remember, Paarlberg said, that in 20 years the price farmers get for beef cattle has increased only 8 per cent while retail prices are up 30 per cent.

"And for people who like to reminisce about the so-called 'good old days,' I would remind them that eggs were selling for 68 cents a dozen in 1920 compared with 62.2 cents per dozen last month," he added.

Farm returns for 2.28 pounds of choice grade live cattle — the amount required to yield one pound of retail beef — went from 66.6 cents in November to a preliminary average of 74.4 cents in December. This was the highest cattle return to farmers since the record 77.5 cents last July.

While the farm value of the equivalent of one pound of retail beef rose 7.8 cents in December, the farm-to-retail price spread was slashed by 5.8 cents, thus leaving only a two-cent hike to be passed on to consumers.

Cold day in field for some

MID-JANUARY is a cold time to be picking corn, but many Illinois farmers are still at it, being delayed in harvest operations by wet, cold weather during fall and early winter.

Dave Dwyer, Belleville, Ill., said it was 10 degrees above zero when he started work on the morning when photo was taken, and only heat in combine cab was body heat. (UPI)

Wider potato markets for Idaho may evolve

MOSCOW — The situation this crop season may open new market doors to Idaho's potato processors and fresh potato shippers.

That is the opinion of Robert Sargent, University of Idaho extension agricultural economist. He bases his opinion on the fact that most fall potato producing areas of the United States harvested a below normal crop. Consequently, potato stocks from the usual suppliers in the producing states are not adequate to meet the needs of their traditional customers.

On the other hand, Idaho farmers harvested a good potato crop this fall. Consequently, they are in the unique position of having potatoes available from the 1972 fall crop. This could open new market doors to Idaho potatoes," said Sargent.

However, he said there is an element of caution in an otherwise optimistic picture. He said Idaho has built a reputation for quality potatoes, so in this period of short U. S. supply, Idaho's record for potato quality should be maintained.

More snow needed

SHOSHONE — Only added snowfall in the higher elevations will ease farm irrigation problems, according to Leon Grieve.

Grieve, manager of the Big Wood Canal Co., said as of the middle of January, snow pack is about one-third normal.

He said the reduced snow pack, plus a directive from the Bureau of Reclamation lowering storage level at American Falls Dam, are factors which are causing the canal company some concern over whether or not there will be adequate irrigation reserve for next summer.

Grieve said there is no cause for alarm at this point, however, and "it is not unusual for a build up of snow pack to occur during the last half of January."

Snowfall of the past few days is cause for rejoicing not only at the Sun Valley resort, but by ranchers in the entire area, Grieve said.

Dealers report inventories held at low levels and growers, reluctant sellers.

Small reds and pinks showed grower selling slow and in limited amounts. Small reds were unchanged to 25 cents higher at 10.00, and pinks steady at $9.50-10.00 per bag.

Disclosure of market data asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging secretive Russian grain buyers used a weakness in American law to purchase U.S. wheat at low prices last year, Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., introduced legislation Thursday to require fuller disclosure of plans for future big grain deals.

Soviet officials, following a small wheat harvest last year, purchased some $1.2 billion worth of American wheat, feed grains and soybeans. Critics said the Russians, by keeping silent about the full extent of their needs until almost all their orders had been placed, were able to buy the grain before the impact of the purchases drove U.S. prices up.

Football season ends in pro bowl today

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — The Pro Bowl, showcase of professional football, will bring together 80 of the best players in the final game of a season that began seven months ago and 330 miles away.

The stars of the American Football Conference will be going after the NFL's first sweep, triple crown or hat trick whatever is appropriate for this sport—against the National Football Conference All-Stars.

Kickoff will be at 3 p.m. CST in Texas Stadium, the partially roofed home of the totally delirious Dallas Cowboys.

For the first time since the AFL and NFL merged (this was the third season since the leagues were united), the AFC defeated the NFC in inter-conference play. And one week ago the AFC entry in the Super Bowl, Miami, did in the NFC entry, Washington, 14-7.

To capture all three prestige categories in the rivalry department.

Tommy Nobis, the Atlanta linebacker who has played his share of games in Texas, is one of many who feel the rivalry is still there.

There is also a matter of money. The winners get $2,000 apiece and members of the losing squad receive $1,500.

The game will mark the end of a football season that began way back on June 24, 1972 with the Coaches All-American game in Lubbock, Tex.

T.F. tops Burley, falls to Poky

The Twin Falls Bruins blew Burley out of contention with a torrid 29-point second quarter and then outlasted the Bobcats in a race horse second half for a 65-55 victory. The win snapped a three-game losing spell for the Bruins who bowed to Pocatello 61-59 Friday night.

Burley took a pair of three-point leads in the second quarter but Hovey hit twice and Jip Shew, once in the final minute to send the Bruins ahead 14-11 to stay.

Charlie Brown hit six points and Jim Lash four to set Twin Falls afire in the second period and Shew ran in with live straight and Bob Durham, playing well despite being perhaps the most ill Bruin on the court, wound up the burst that made it 32-13. Burley cut that to 15 as Tracy Nielsen hit twice and Hovey hit four and Jesser and Shew one bucket each to wind up the half.

CSI splits series at N. Idaho

COMBINE D'ALENE — Buck Sobers' two free throw with 17 seconds left nailed down a 66-63 victory Saturday night and gave College of Southern Idaho a split of a weekend trip to North Idaho. The Cardinals won Friday night 68-67.

Both games were remarkably similar as seldom more than a couple-three points separated the two — on the court the regional junior college tournament could well be decided early in March.

Tigers topple Senators 72-52

GOODING — The Mountain Home Tigers won their eighth game in a row Saturday night over the Gooding Senators 72-52.

The loss was the first for the Senators in their new gym.

Gooding held a slim lead in the first half mainly on the outside shooting of Jones. He scored seven field goals in the first half.

In the third quarter Mountain Home led the score at 43-33 and scored six unanswered points.

Clark C. surprises Richfield

RICHFIELD — Clark County surprised the previously undefeated Richfield Tigers 51-41 Saturday night.

The Tigers had posted 10 wins for the season before the loss. Richfield jumped to an early lead in the first quarter and led by two at the intermission.

Mountain Home shot 48 percent from the field to the Senators' 36 percent.

Cooper, Dennis and McGinnis cop minidome track victories

POCATELLO — Twin Falls senior Bruce Cooper, defending state 440-yard dash champion, won the quartermile and Bruin Pat Charlton turned in a fine 4:33 mile effort in the first high school indoor track meet at the Minidome Saturday night.

Cooper was joined by the winner's circle by Wendell's Kip Dennis who took time-out from his starting basketball assignment to win the high hurdles in a good 15.3.

Carey tops Bliss for 72-33 win

BLISS — Carey won their first game of the season Friday night defeating the Bliss Bears 72-33.

Jerry Ivie led Carey scoring with 29 points. Ivie scored 14 points in the third quarter and made all his points in the only two periods he played.

BYU beats Utah St.

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — A crowd of 11,114 watched Brigham Young University cut loose with four easy lay-ups in the first half to break away to a nine point lead which they never lost, whipping the Aggies 79-69 Saturday night.

Croner hits 26 for Camas

CAREY — Matt Croner scored 26 points to lead Camas County past Carey 73-62 Saturday night.

Wolverines topple Indians

WOOD RIVER — The Wood River Wolverines, playing without two starters, defeated the Buhi Indians 53-39 Friday night.

Bullets topple Seattle

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Archie Clark and Phil Chenier went on a scoring spree in the fourth quarter as the Baltimore Bullets ran past the Seattle SuperSonics for their sixth straight NBA victory, 126-106.

Oakley remains unbeaten

OAKLEY — The Oakley Hornets broke on top and went on to defeat the Hansen Huskies 71-38 Saturday night and became the only undefeated team left in Magie Valley.

Alabama beats Auburn 76-64

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Four players, headed by Ray Odums, hit in double figures Saturday night to lead Alabama to a 76-64 victory over arch-rival Auburn that kept the Crimson Tide unbeaten in Southeastern Conference play.

Missouri tops Kansas 75-72

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Mike Jeffries hit a 25-foot jumper with four seconds left in overtime Saturday night to lead Missouri to a 75-72 victory over Kansas team and give eighth-ranked Missouri its first Big Eight, Conference win of the year.

Louisville streak ended

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis clamped down tight on Louisville's offense and shot well from the field to snap the Cardinals' winning streak at four Saturday night with a 61-51 Missouri Valley Conference victory.

Vanderbilt rallies to win

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Vanderbilt forward Terry Compton hit for 16 points Saturday night as the Commodores bounced back from a nine-point halftime deficit to defeat Mississippi State 76-69 in a Southeastern Conference basketball game.

Pistons bent Bulls 112-94

DETROIT (UPI) — Willie Norwood and Don Adams each hit season highs and Dave Bing added additional firepower Saturday night in leading the Detroit Pistons to a 112-94 National Basketball Association victory over the Chicago Bulls.

Title opponents open wait period

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Both Joe Frazier and George Foreman did their early morning roadwork Saturday and then hopped in their headquarters here with nothing much else to do but think about their heavyweight championship fight on Monday night.

Frazier got to bed a little later than usual Friday night when he went to watch the opening of his band at a local restaurant. "I just wanted to come by and say hello," said Frazier, "but I've got to get back and hit the sack."

The champion, who seems more relaxed than ever before, despite the big fight drawing closer and closer, left for his hotel at 11 p.m. (EST): He was up at dawn and on the road. Foreman, who drives on work, did his running too, and there was a chance that he might go to the gym in the afternoon to limber up. The ring at the National Arena has been taken down as both fighters completed their boxing on Friday.

Frazier and Foreman appeared — fit as they sweated through their final full-scale workouts yesterday. Frazier, minus the belly fat that was present three weeks ago, expects to weigh in Monday morning at 10 a.m. (EST) at around 210 pounds.

Foreman, who never appears to be out of shape, is a solid body of muscle. His weight

Kevin Nelson, taken in the third round by the San Francisco Giants in the recent free agent baseball draft, is waiting for the upcoming season at CSI to decide his possible professional future.

Nelson, who graduated from Twin Falls high last spring, seems basically to be considered a pitcher in the way the Giants selected him. He was selected through scout Jim Lyke who had him No. 1 on the list — and probably as a pitcher. But Kevin talked with Dick Wilson, well known in this area for his long association as manager of the Magic Valley Cowboys, a couple of times during the high school and Legion season.

"I thought after talking to him (Wilson) that I might be drafted last summer," Kevin said, "but I wasn't. Then Mr. Lyke saw me in the state Legion tournament and some of the fall CSI games and he put me in for the free agent draft."

Satterfield has come to pass. Coach Satterfield has been threatening or promising, as the case may be, to get out of coaching for the past few years. He did once, you'll recall, then came back to accept the Borah job for a second time.

The report is that Coach Satterfield quit in mid-season for one reason — perhaps one of several for all we know — but this one figured into his thinking. That would be to give Doran "Bus" Conner, a Heyburn graduate and Murray's assistant, a chance to show himself over the last half of the season and perhaps pick up the permanent assignment.

In the for what it's worth department, the rumor says Ed Knecht will be resigning as University of Idaho Athletic director at year's end to go into some other field. And that current basketball coach Wayne Anderson will get that position with the ease job opening up.

And there is no truth, we're told, that Coach Jerry Hale of CSI will become the new head man at Boise State. However, BSC isn't the only but the smallest college Coach Hale's name has been linked to. One puts him moving as part of a three-coach shift.

"I'm still here," says Coach Hale. "I haven't talked to anybody about any job."

Prefontaine and shotputters avenge losses in Olympics

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Oregon's Steve Prefontaine, a disappointment in the Munich Olympics last year, easily beat an outstanding two-mile field that included Gold Medalist Lasse Viren and Frank Shorter in 8:27.4 Saturday in the Sunbelt Invitational.

At the finish, the 21-year-old Webfoot senior from Coos Bay, Ore., was half a lap in front of runner-up Marty Liquori, the former Villanova mile star who was sidelined last year with a foot injury.

Finland's Viren, who won the 5,000 and 10,000-meter runs at the 1972 Olympic games, was never a factor, finishing sixth.

Prefontaine, who was fourth at Munich in the 5,000, led from the start to finish before a near-capacity sports arena crowd.

He held a lead of about 15 yards over marathon gold medal winner winner Shorter of the Florida track club when he completed his first mile in 4:15.8. He put the field away for good when he zipped through the first quarter-mile of the second mile in 62.2 seconds.

Liquori, competing for the New York Athletic Club, nipped former Oregon State star Tracy Smith for second. Both were clocked in 8:38.8.

Peter Kaul of the Pacific Coast Club was fourth in 8:40.2. Shorter was ninth in 8:40.3.

There was no time for the bearded Viren.

Arizona freshman Carl McCulloch from Sacramento, Calif., whipped a strong 60-yard dash field in 6.1 seconds. Olympic veteran Chuck Smith was second in 6.2, followed by Ivory Creckett, who was also timed in 6.2.

World indoor shotput record holder Al Feuerback of the PCC won his event with a heave of 69 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Two-time Olympic silver medalist George Woods, also of the PCC, was second at 67.3. Poland's Wladyslaw Komar, the winner at Munich, had a mark of 61.5 1/2 for fourth before leaving the competition with a bad leg.

Meet officials said Feuerback's toss would be submitted as a world indoor record, since his mark of 69.4 1/2 at Pocatello, Idaho, last year had not been recognized officially.

Olympic gold medalist Randy Williams beat world record holder Bob Beamon in the long jump with a leap of 26-1 1/2. Beamon, who won at Mexico City five years ago, went 25-8 1/2.

Other winners included Lance Babb in the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.2 seconds, Renato Braun of Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo in the high jump at 7-2. Fred Newhouse of the Philadelphia Pioneers in the 60-yard run in 1:31.1, and Wes Williams of the San Diego Track Club in the 500-yard dash in 58.7 seconds.

Jerome batters Filer 58-36

FILER — The Jerome Tigers took command early in the second quarter and outlasted Filer from then on for a 58-36 victory Saturday night.

The victory kept Jerome tied with Gooding at 3-1 in the South Central Idaho Conference.

Filer, which figured to be a rough foe at home, took a tight 10-0 lead in the first period but from then on it was all Jerome. The Tigers hit the first four points of the second quarter. After Filer hit a free throw, Rich Watson scored off a steal and Steve O'Toole hit seconds later to send Jerome up by nine points. By halftime the Tigers were in full control 33-18.

Jerome took the play away from Filer on the boards and its harassing man-to-man defense had the Wildcats smothered.

Filer won the preliminary 51-45.

Sooners upset Kansas State

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Freshman Alvin Adams scored 15 points in the second half Saturday to pace Oklahoma to an 81-69 upset victory over Kansas State in a regionally televised basketball game.

The Sooners held a slender 34-33 lead at halftime, and were behind only once in the second period, 36-34.

Adams poured in nine points in a two-minute span late in the game to boost the Oklahoma lead from 66-67 to 77-67. He tallied 19 points in the game, the same as Kansas State's top scorer, Steve Mitchell.

It was Oklahoma's first victory in Big Eight conference play and Kansas State's first loss. KSU is now 11-3 overall and Oklahoma holds a 10-4 record.

Tennessee nips Kentucky 65-64

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Tennessee, with Mike Edwards leading the way, fought its way into second place in the Southeastern Conference basketball race Saturday with a 65-64 win over Kentucky.

Edwards got 22 points for the game followed by Rodney Woods with 17 and John Snow with 12.

Jim Andrews led the Wildcats with 20 and Kevin Grevey had 19 for the game.

Kentucky is now 3-2 in the SEC and 8-5 overall while Tennessee stretched its record to 4-1 in league action and 6-5 for the season.

Coin flips establish order for NFL's collegiate draft

DALLAS (UPI) — National Football League owners Saturday finalized plans for the 1973 collegiate player draft with St. Louis, Denver, Minnesota, Cincinnati, San Francisco and Dallas winning coin tosses to favorable drafting positions.

The draft will open Jan. 30 in New York with the Houston Oilers, owners of a 1-13 record, getting first chance at the wealth of college talent available this year.

New England will pick second, Philadelphia third and New England fourth.

From there the drafting order for the first round will be: St. Louis, Philadelphia (from San Diego), Buffalo, Chicago, Denver, Baltimore, New England (from Los Angeles), Minnesota, New York Jets, Atlanta.

Cincinnati, Cleveland (from New York Giants), Chicago (from Kansas City), San Francisco, Detroit, Dallas, Green Bay, Cleveland, Oakland, Pittsburgh, San Diego (from Washington) and Buffalo (from Miami).

The draft is conducted in the inverse order of the order of finish during the 1972 season. When more than one team has finished with the same record, a coin toss is necessitated to determine the team that will pick first in the initial round.

There were six such ties this past season, and the Cardinals, Broncos, Vikings, Bengals, Forty Niners and Cowboys won the coin flips.

Not all teams will pick in the first round, however, since some have traded away their draft choices. The Redskins, for instance, will not have a draft choice until the fifth round because of the trading habits of Coach George Allen.

Cleveland's Nelson plans retirement

CLEVELAND (UPI) — After 10 years of split-second decision making on the professional football field, it took a doctor to make one of the biggest decisions Cleveland Browns' quarterback Bill Nelson had ever faced — to get out of the game while he could still walk.

Nelson, 32, announced his retirement as a player Saturday and at the same time severed his relations with the Browns. He said he would seek employment as a coach with another club. He is leaving the game on the advice of team physician Dr. Vic Ippolito.

"I listened to what Dr. Ippolito had to say and he suggested that I quit," Nelson said. "I guess I've kind of been hoping someone would say something. I wanted the decision made for me, I suppose."

But that's not the end of Bill Nelson in Cleveland if Browns' owner Art Modell has his way. Reached in Dallas where he is attending the National Football League meetings and the Pro Bowl, Modell said he would try to change the gimpy-kneed signal-caller's mind.

"I want to talk to Bill Nelson upon returning to Cleveland Monday, at which time I'll have something further to say," added Modell, who was stunned to learn that Nelson had announced his retirement.

But Head Coach Nick Skorich was not surprised by Nelson's decision. He wanted to keep him around, despite the fact Nelson was prompted to say, "I think, too, that the Browns wanted me to retire and not stick around as a coach."

"It's possible we would keep him (Nelson) around as a quarterback tutor on a limited basis," Skorich said. "There are other possibilities, too, like scouting."

Marquette beats S.C.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Seventh-ranked Marquette, led by Larry McNeill and Maurice Lucas, snapped a two-game losing streak by beating South Carolina 71-54 Saturday night.

McNeill had 22 points and Lucas 20 to power the Warriors, who had been defeated by Notre Dame and Minnesota in their two previous games.

Marquette led only 30-25 at the half, but the Warriors outscored the Gamecocks 10-4 in the early going of the second half to open a lead which South Carolina could not close.

Hansen-led Pilots top Kimberly

GLENN'S FERRY — Big Ray Hansen pumped in 23 points and took down 15 rebounds Saturday night to lead the Glenn's Ferry Pilots past Kimberly 64-49.

Hansen got most of his points inside as the Pilots took the lead in the first period and never trailed. Sharing the spotlight with Hansen was sophomore Mark Shelby who scored eight points but sparked the offense with his generalizing and passing.

Glenn's Ferry won the preliminary.

Ohio State nips Iowa

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Allan Hornyak scored 20 points and sank four clutch free throws in the final 40 seconds to give Ohio State a 75-72 Big Ten victory over Iowa Saturday night.

Hornyak, who had been held to only two baskets in the second half after scoring 10 points in the opening 20 minutes, gave Ohio State a 73-72 lead with 40 seconds to go and then iced the game with two more charity tosses with six seconds remaining.

The Buckeyes went into the contest without head coach Fred Taylor who was hospitalized Friday for observation after suffering chest pains.

Irish collect fifth straight

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Notre Dame raced to its fifth consecutive basketball victory and evened its season slate at 6-4 Saturday by trouncing Dayton, 94-68, in a game that was never in doubt from the opening minutes.

The Irish built their effort around a tough defense that held Dayton's co-captain, Don Smith, who has been averaging 25 points a game, to six points.

Meanwhile, all Notre Dame starters scored in double figures, with junior guard Jerry Brokaw leading the way with 20 points. J.D. Grigsby, was high for Dayton with 18.

Jacksonville nips Fla. St.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Unranked Jacksonville overcame a five-point deficit in the final four minutes behind clutch foul shooting by Leon Benbow and Henry Williams Saturday to edge 10th-ranked Florida State, 70-66, in a rugged, spirited contest.

Benbow hit three straight long jumpers to give the Dolphins, now 13-2, a 61-60 lead with 3:10 left, after the Seminoles had grabbed their biggest lead of the afternoon at 60-55.

The Dolphins wrapped up the game at the foul line with seven free throws as the taller Seminoles fouled repeatedly to try to get the ball.

Benbow scored 23 points to pace the Jacksonville attack while Williams added 16. Florida State (11-4) was led by 6-10 Reggie Royals with 23 and Benny Clyde with 15.

Maryland sinks Navy

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Third-ranked Maryland stomped back after a poor first half to reel off 11 straight points here Saturday night and hold off a small but aggressive Navy team, 76-67.

Navy outshot the Terps in the first half to take a 35-32 lead.

But Maryland, led by Tom McMillen with 19 of the 33 points in the second half, went ahead for good 40-39 on a field goal by Len Elmore early in the half as Maryland outscored the Midlens, 17-4.

Declo stuns Devils

DECLO. — The Declo Hornets, welcoming back Keith Schrenk and putting four men in double figures, surprised the Murtaugh Red Devils 69-62 Friday night.

The defeat shoved the Devils two games behind undefeated Oakley in the Magic Valley Conference and came despite a sparkling outside shooting display by Perkins that netted 23 points.

Mallory got Declo off on the right foot, hitting 10 of his 21 points in the first quarter and 17 in the first half. Rob Riding and Schrenk rang in with seven each in the second period while Declo was building a nine-point advantage.

The Hornets pulled into the 14-point lead after three quarters before Perkins started hitting in earnest. He potted 11 points over the final eight minutes as Murtaugh tried to rally.

Declo rallied from a 12-point deficit to win the preliminary 52-49.

Wolverines favored in mat meet

SHOSHONE. — The defending champion Wood River Wolverines are favored to repeat Tuesday in the annual Big Six Conference wrestling tournament at Shoshone.

Conference coaches figure that if the Wolverines don't take the title, the next best chance falls to the Filer Wildcats.

The meet will be runoff in four sessions, all Tuesday. They will go at 1, 3 and 5 p.m. with the finals at 7:30 p.m.

Participating in the tournament will be Wood River, Filer, Wendell, Glens Ferry, Gooding and Shoshone.

Half of the field will compete in the Little Five Conference meet in Wendell Jan. 30.

Purdue upsets Michigan 63-62

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Frank Kendrick put a five-foot jumper over the outstretched hands of Arnie Johnson with three seconds to play Saturday to enable Purdue to upset Big Ten leader Michigan, 63-62.

A desperation hook shot by Ken Brady went in from near-midcourt but the ball hadn't left his hand when the buzzer went off, allowing Purdue to protect its one-point final margin. The 17th rated Wolverines slipped to 3-1 in the Big Ten and 10-4 overall. The Bollmanakers now have a 3-0 conference mark in their 103 contests.

Nielsen hits 27, dominates boards, Burley rips Broncos

BURLEY. — Tracy Nielsen went on a one-man wrecking spree Friday night in leading the Burley Bobcats past the Blackfoot Broncos 62-53.

Nielsen crammed through 27 points, had 15 rebounds and blocked about 12 shots as he completely intimidated the Broncos inside. That gave Burley a big edge in shots attempts, 63-41, and negated the fact that Blackfoot shot 40 per cent against 48 for the Bobcats.

Burley, with Ellenberger leading a 21-assist parade with six, got good scoring from everyone and welcomed back Bob Randleklev from the injury list. He helped in rebounding and inside defense.

Minico coasts past Skyline to reclaim conference lead

RUPERT. — The Minico Spartans put three players in double figures and easily defeated the Skyline Grizzlies 62-40 Friday night.

Coupled with other action in the Southern Idaho Conference, the Spartans regained sole possession of the league's top spot.

Minico led throughout the game and held a 13 point lead at the half.

Skyline played without the second leading scorer, Gill, who had the flu.

Coach Gary Swan substituted freely for the Spartans in the second half. From the free throw line Minico was eight out of 12 while Skyline hit 16 out of 10 attempts.

Rogers sparks Gooding into 56-46 win over Glens Ferry

GOODING. — The Gooding Senators, led by Doyle Rogers with 18 points, beat the Glens Ferry Pilots 56-46 Friday night.

Gooding led by five at the start of the second quarter but were tied 25-25 by the Pilots at the half.

In the third quarter Rogers and Patterson each scored four points for Gooding to give the Senators a four point lead. Dan Jones went five for six from the free throw line and Ron Wilde scored seven points in the fourth quarter, to insure the Gooding win.

The Senators converted 22 out of 33 from the free throw line. Glens Ferry defeated Gooding in the junior varsity game.

Undefeated Oakley drops Raft River

MALTA. — The undefeated Oakley Hornets, taking advantage of Raft River cold shooting from the floor, ran off with their 11th straight victory 52-37 Friday night.

Raft River, with men missing from illness, injuries and for academic reasons, hit only 27 per cent from the floor and fell out of it rather early.

The Hornets, now with a two-game cushion in the Magic Valley Conference chase, went ahead by 10 in the first period and jumped that to 28-13 by intermission.

Oakley won the first game 56-35.

Richfield defeats Redskins

GOODING. — Richfield, playing without leading scorer Steve Bowers, defeated the ailing Gooding State Redskins 58-41 Friday night.

Bowers hurt his leg in practice earlier in the week. All starters for Gooding St. were feeling the effects of the flu.

Richfield led early in the game and took a four-point margin at the half. Hunter and Hollins kept Gooding State close in the first half.

Gooding St. came within four in the third quarter before Richfield began to pull away to a comfortable margin.

Robinson, freshman replacement for Bowers, and Tree each scored three field goals in the fourth quarter to lead Richfield. At one point in the last quarter Richfield led by as much as 21 points.

Wood River rolls past Wendell

HAILEY. — Wood River led throughout the game and scored an easy victory over the Wendell Trojans 64-48 Friday night.

Wood River, however, could have scored a costly win. The Wolverines lost two starters to injuries. Joe Packer and Bill Aldinger both suffered leg injuries within one minute of each other in the third quarter.

Coach Fred Trenkle said early indications were that Packer would be lost for the season.

Wood River scored 30 points in the first half while holding Wendell to 12 points.

The Wolverines made 20 out of 25 from the free throw line while Wendell scored only six free throws.

Camas County drops Dietrich 66-58

FAIRFIELD. — The Camas County Musers pulled away in the third quarter and protected their lead with free throw sharpshooting in the closing minutes to defeat Dietrich 66-58 Friday night.

Dietrich, giving away a decided height advantage, battled the Musers evenly through the first half, trailing only by one. But in the third period the Musers, headed by Matt Croner's 23-point scoring, outscored the Devils 20-14.

The Musers went into a delay game with a 10-point lead about three minutes from the

Crampton carries lead into Tucson final round

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — 209. Australian Bruce Crampton, playing the best golf of his career, held the lead after three rounds of the $150,000 Dean Martin-Tucson Open Saturday with a putting display that left him 10-under par for a 54-hole total of 206.

Three strokes behind was Rod Fensell, the Los Angeles Open winner, who had a 70 for the week's Phoenix Open winner shooting for his second straight triumph.

Sitting with a three-day total of 210, six-under par, were Richie Karl and George Archer, co-leaders for the second round with Bobby Nichols. Nichols turned in a one-over par 73 Saturday to leave him five-under and five behind Crampton.

In the third round Karl shot a five-under 67 while Archer had an even par 72 over the long and flat Tucson National course.

Joining Nichols at 211 was Mary Fleckman, who shot a 69, while at 212 were Jerry Heard (68), Gay Brewer (69), Labron Harris (70) and Frank Beard (71).

At 213 were George Hixon (71), Charles Coody (72) and Forrest Fezler (71). Coody had a chance to help himself to a higher finish but double bogeyed the 18th.

Lee Trevino, the pre-tourney favorite looking for his first check of the new PGA year, shot a third round one-over 73 and was far back at 215.

Bunn's 28 points spark BSC past Great Falls by 81-63

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise State Broncos picked up their second win in a row under new head coach Bus Connor Saturday night defeating the College of Great Falls Bronco's 81-63.

Senior forward Greg Bunn, Hurley put 28 points to lead all scorers in the game and pace the Broncos to victory before the 2,000 fans in Boise.

The Broncos held a slim 34-32 lead at the half but in the four-minute period early in the second half they blew their lead to 45 points, scoring 13 unanswered points.

BSC led by as many as 20 points in the second half 66-46 with 5:30 remaining in the game.

The Argonauts jumped to an early 5-0 lead at the beginning of the game, but the Broncos retaliated with 10 straight points to capture the lead at 10-5 with 15:46 remaining in the first half. The Argonauts led by as many as four points late in the first half 30-26, but the Broncos tied it up and took the lead.

Bunn dumped in three straight buckets.

Boise State now has a 7-4 record on the year while the College of Great Falls is 12-4.

Idaho bows to WSU and Oregon State

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Oregon State, using its height advantage, controlled the momentum of the game to beat Idaho 77-59 in a non-conference basketball contest Saturday night.

The Beavers hit 50 per cent from the field, behind the shooting of Sam Whitehead with 20 points, and moved ahead of the Vandals 49-34 early in the second half after scoring 14 straight points.

Whitehead got help from Charles Neal with 19 points and Cliff Jones' 12.

Idaho outrebounced the taller Beavers 45-40 but Oregon State kept the Vandals at bay on offense, plugging up the keyhole.

Steve Ton scored 14 points to top the Idaho scorers. Ty Fitzpatrick added 10, the only Vandals in double figures. The Vandals hit only 32 per cent from the field, shooting over the Beavers.

OSU is now 10-5 while Idaho drops to 4-9.

Washington State got even for an earlier defeat by Idaho and roared back in the second half Friday night to take a 78-61 victory.

Mike Dolven led the Cougar attack with 22 points, hitting 9-15 from the floor and 4-4 at the line. Morris Griffin was the second high scorer for the Cougars with 13.

Ty Fitzpatrick led the Vandals with 16 points and Roger Davis had 15 for a losing cause. Davis led both teams with 15 rebounds.

The two clubs played even ball through the first half, with the score tied five times. With 1:34 left in the initial half, Griffin and Dolven hit four unanswered buckets in a row to give WSU a 40-32 lead.

After intermission, Washington State moved out in front, 52-44, with 14 minutes left. But the Vandals came back with four points and came the closest they could that half with the Cougars leading 52-48.

With Dolven, Griffin and Rich Steele hitting important baskets, WSU pushed its lead and controlled the game the rest of the way.

Wendell defeats Hagerman

WENDELL — The Wendell Trojans rallied in the second half to top the Hagerman Pirates 59-49 Saturday night.

The Pirates led at the half 21-19 but Wendell came back in the second half for the 10-point victory. Hagerman was ahead at one point in the first half 18-9.

In the fourth quarter four of Hagerman's starters fouled out. Wendell beat Hagerman in the junior varsity game.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — All-America Ed Ratleff scored 17 points and center Nite Stephens added 16 to pace sixth-ranked Cal State Long Beach to a 68-51 win over Creighton Saturday night.

Stephens, who transferred to Long Beach after playing his sophomore year at Creighton, took his old teammates apart for 16 rebounds.

The Bluejays, now 9-5, played a deliberate game in the first half but the 49ers led at the intermission 26-19. Gene Harmon, who led the Bluejays with 22, had 16 of his team's points in the first half.

Leonard Gray ended with 11 for Long Beach, which is now 14-1 for the season. Ralph Bobik had 14 for the losers.

Washington tops Montana

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI) — The Washington Huskies, led by 6-2 guard Louie Nelson, smothered the University of Montana 77-59 Saturday night in a non-conference basketball game.

Washington controlled the backboards and outshot the Grizzlies in the runaway performance, although the Mountaineers stayed within five points through the first half before the Husky juggernaut picked up speed.

The Huskies, paced by Nelson and forwards Reggie Ball, Jeff Hawes and Gene Broom, swept to a 13-point lead six minutes into the second half.

The Ducks, unable to penetrate the zone and cold from the outside, were behind 21-14 with seven minutes to play in the half. But Oregon found the range during a stretch of 2:31, outscoring the Broncos 12-2 and taking a 26-23 lead.

The Ducks led at the half, 37-34.

Oregon, still harried in the second half by Cal Poly's zone and plagued by the turnovers it caused, eventually pulled away.

Hawks defeat Cleveland

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Hawks blew two big leads but came back strong late in the fourth quarter to take a 98-84 National Basketball Association victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers Saturday night.

A partisan crowd of 6,517 watched Atlanta open up a 40-36 lead, then wade through the second period only to see Cleveland take a 52-51 halftime advantage.

Oregon nips Cal Poly

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — The Oregon Ducks overcame their own sloppy play and the tough defense of Cal Poly of Pomona to beat the Broncos Saturday night, 73-63.

The Ducks, unable to penetrate the zone and cold from the outside, were behind 21-14 with seven minutes to play in the half. But Oregon found the range during a stretch of 2:31, outscoring the Broncos 12-2 and taking a 26-23 lead.

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Dave Roberts won a battle with the airlines but it nearly cost him the pole vault title in the Idaho State University Indoor Track and Field Invitational Saturday night.

Roberts, the two-time defending NCAA champion from Rice, nearly missed his connection in Denver when airline pilots refused to allow his poles onboard the plane. After a quick conference phone call with company officials and ISU meet directors he was allowed to board but arrived late at the meet.

The Rice senior rushed into the Minddome 30 minutes after the meet started and had time for only one practice vault before his event started. He missed his first two tries at 16-6 but cleared the bar on his third and last try at that height.

Roberts went on to win the pole vault for the third time in the Invitational with a vault of 17-0 and newly cleared 17-6.

UCLA's Francouls Trancanelli, a French Olympian was second at 16-6.

John Gregorio of Colorado State took the three-mile in 13:43.3, an exceptionally fast time for the 4,000 foot altitude over All America cross-country specialists Richard Slincy of Northern Arizona and Scott Bringhurst of Utah. Slincy was timed in 13:43.4, a step behind Gregorio, and Bringhurst trailed in 13:45.3.

In the meet's other top race, Jamaican Olympian Carl Lawson held on to edge Dr. Delano Meriwether in the 100-yard dash after Meriwether closed a huge lead. Lawson opened off the starting blocks.

Lawson, a student at ISU, won the 100 in a slow 9.7. Meriwether was second in 9.74 and University of Utah football flanker Steve Adam third in 9.86.

Pat Williams, a teammate of Lawson at ISU, won a last 430 in 49.3. Tom Laurie of Colorado State was second in 49.7 and Doug McKenzie from Spokane Community College third.

UCLA's Rick Fletcher took the high jump with a leap of 6-11 and Brigham Young's Aaro Alarotu was second at 6-9. Ken Lundmark, a Swedish student at BYU competing unattached, also cleared 6-9 but had more misses at lower heights and finished third.

In the mile run, Jim Johnson of the Northwest Track Club won in 4:03.4. Idaho State's Bob McGee took the 600-yard run in 1:11.5, and Ken Elmer won the 800 in 1:54.3. Elmer is a Canadian Olympian running for the British Columbian Provincial Track Club.

Frank Schell

From D. P. Hazelton: My mother has in her possession an Indian Head penny dated 1908. The front side has an Indian Head with "United States of America" and date beneath the head.

The back has the words "One Cent" in the center of a wreath. It is in good condition. Approximately how much is it worth? Thank you very much.

P.S., are wheat back pennies worth anything?

Answer: The Indian Head cent is a regular issue of United States money and those dated after 1900 are worth very little. In common condition, that is, circulated condition, they bring from 20 to 25 cents apiece. In the better grades on up to around $5 if uncirculated (new). They are not scarce and can be bought in any quantity you wish to purchase.

All the Lincoln cents from 1909 until 1959 have the "wheat" reverse, and with the exception of a few dates before 1922, they are easy to purchase and worth very little over face value.

The 1908 Indian Head was also struck at San Francisco, in a limited quantity. Look under the wreath, on the reverse. If there is an "S" mintmark, the coin is worth around $12.

From R. T. Gooding: I have a token I would like to know the value of. It is a deep gold color, and about the size of a 25 cent piece.

On one side is the name "Chief Joseph" and an Indian's picture. On the reverse side is written "The Nez Perce Tribe" and a picture of a trout. It is in very good condition.

Answer: Some time ago a group of Indian chiefs and their tribes were commemorated on a set of medals like the one you have.

There were a number of these sets made, and the whole set sold, as I remember, for around $3. They do not have any collector value - and can still be purchased.

As I recall, some gas company also gave these away. The medals are made of bronze, or a mixture of alloy.

From F. T. Burley: I have a very old and quite rare 10-cent piece I am interested in finding out the value of. It is larger than our dime now and on one side is a woman's head, with a lot of hair tied back with a ribbon.

There are 13 stars around this head and the date is 1830. The back of the coin says "United States of America" around the edge, with an eagle holding something in his beak.

Under the eagle is a big "10" with a "C" next to it. It has a small hole in it, right above the head of the woman. A coin collector friend told me he thought it was worth quite a lot of money.

I would like to hear from you about it. I am prepared to sell it if it is valuable.

Answer: You have a "Turban Head" dime, struck from 1829 to 1837. The 1830 is not particularly scarce, except in uncirculated condition. The hole in your coin means it was probably worn as a charm, either on a necklace or on a bracelet.

In any event, the hole makes it quite valuable, since it is a common date. This coin sells for around $650 in Very Fine Condition.

The "Something" in the beak of the eagle on your coin is a ribbon, bearing the legend "E Pluribus Unum," and if the legend is worn off, as in your case, it would sell at about $150, if it were not for the hole in it.

I am afraid your friend has misinformed you.

The column wishes to thank Rocky Metz for the Ketchikan taken he gave us last week. The tokens read "T. J. Reid, Ketchikan, Idaho" and is "Good for One Drink or Cigar."

If any of our readers has any knowledge of this gentleman, we would appreciate your dropping us a card.

Leaders okay study of safety

BOISE (UPI) - The State Labor Commissioner and the state AFL-CIO president say they would be agreeable to an interim study before Idaho moves into administration and enforcement of occupational safety and health (OSHA) legislation.

Labor Head Bart Brown and AFL-CIO Chief, Robert MacFarlane, recalled Friday during a meeting of the House State Affairs Committee, success of similar studies in the fields of workmen's compensation and rehabilitation.

Brown told the committee he was not there to discuss whether Idaho likes OSHA or wants it because, he said, "we have it."

"It's here, and it looks like it's going to stay," he said of the present federal act.

State enforcement of OSHA, he said, "would allow a positive approach to obtain a safe and healthful work place. What you have under the federal law in a negative police act."

Following the meeting, members discussed possibilities of turning the question over to an interim committee for a professional study to assure a thorough approach to the problem.

How do doctors relax? Those professional people who tell you how to stay healthy, must relax and stay in good rig themselves.

How do they do it? You might be surprised to learn gardening is the most important hobby among doctors.

In an American Medical Association survey it was found that 47 per cent (137,000) of the doctors use gardening to keep their health and sanity.

Among doctors, gardening tops all other hobbies and sports.

When that famous English physician, Sir William Osler wrote: "No man is really safe or happy without a hobby," he knew what he was talking about.

Doctors know that gardening is good therapy and they prescribe this hobby for themselves and their patients. Take a tip from doctors - take up gardening.

It's just what the doctor ordered for good health in a world filled with tension and frustration.

Does it pay to buy hybrid plants over the non-hybrids? Hybrids cost more but in the long run it usually pays to spend a little more. Let me explain what a hybrid is.

A hybrid is any plant that is the result of two different parents. With a hybrid you get the best characteristics found in two distinctly different parents, plus a factor called "hybrid vigor," a term not even plant breeders completely understand.

Actually, the word "hybrid" comes from the Latin "hibrida," meaning offspring of a tame sow and a wild boar.

But a much more useful animal hybrid is the mule, the offspring of a jackass and a mare. Combining strength and vigor, the mule has been invaluable to mankind, both on the farm and in pioneering.

It costs money to produce hybrid seed. Take petunias, for example. The parent plants are grown in greenhouses where pollination can be carefully controlled.

Each flower of the seed parent must have the pollen (male) removed by hand to avoid self-pollination.

A few days later each flower is hand-pollinated with pollen collected from the other parent. Several weeks after pollination, each capsule of seed (one per flower) is hand harvested at just the right stage of ripeness. With the average petunia variety, seed capsules from 2,000 flowers are needed to produce one ounce of seed.

Next time you browse in a seed store or scan a seed catalog, keep one point in mind - good seed is the cheapest item you can get in the cost of growing a crop. Hybrids cost more but in the long run, I feel they are worth it.

If you're lucky enough to have birch trees, perhaps you might want to try starting some from seed.

Here's how a reader does it: "When the catkins ripen in the fall, gather a good amount, since not many seeds in a single catkin will germinate. Crush catkins and plant in moist humusy soil, not too deep.

I plant them in plastic containers with no drainage and keep them moist at all times. It takes several weeks and when seed does appear it's so tiny they can be mistaken for weeds. So use a sterile mix (such as vermiculite, or perlite, plus a little peat).

Grow slowly, about six to eight inches the first year. I plant them in a good spot in my garden until they are big enough to be on their own - usually about two to three feet in height."

Some house plants like an acid soil, and these include such favorites as azalea and gardenia. To get the acid effect, food those plants a little vinegar.

Add two tablespoons to a quart of water and irrigate your plants with this. Also, you can help a lot of woody plants root better from cuttings if you provide an acid medium for this.

In fact, most cuttings root better in an acid than a neutral or alkaline medium. Old-time propagators frequently added vinegar to water applied to the cutting beds.

House plants do their best when humidity is about 50 per cent. While the proper humidity in the home is from 35 to 40 per cent the air indoors often goes as low as 12 per cent, which is about 8 to 11 per cent lower than the average humidity in the Sahara Desert.

Humidity in a greenhouse is around 60 per cent - which often explains why plants start to turn brown around the edges soon after being moved from the moist greenhouse to a home.

Increase humidity by placing plants on a tray of gravel kept constantly moist. Plants grouped together fare better than those left standing alone in a dry room.

A kitchen or bathroom usually has more humid air than other rooms in the house. Did you know that every time you mop the kitchen floor (one that's 8 x 10, you release about two and a half pounds of water (or two and a half pints) vapor into the air.

House plants, constantly give off moisture, good for themselves and for you, too.

Question of the week: D. E. of Twin Falls: "We are going to put in a lawn this spring. We heard that ryegrass is even better than bluegrass for seeding. Is that true?"

We can't downgrade Kentucky bluegrass because it seeding mixtures for years (in They claim that the new many areas) and it still is good. There is a new ryegrass we're hearing a lot about - called, Pennfine.

This perennial ryegrass is fine-leaved and cuts cleaner than other ryegrasses. In fact, some golf course superintendents regularly overseed greens with perennial ryegrass (the type).

They claim that the new varieties have a characteristic called "movability" - which is why the new ryegrasses such as Pennfine are starting a mild revolution.

They mow "clean," have a dense turf, low growth (called decumbency) and are tolerant to diseases such as snowmold and leafspot.

We haven't grown the new perennial ryegrass, but talked with a homeowner who has a lawn made of Pennfine and he says it makes a nice green carpet, which doesn't turn brown or fray as some ryegrasses tend to do.

If you're going to order some ryegrass lawn seed, don't buy the old fashioned varieties.

D. E. of Truckland: "In a recent column you made a statement about potted chrysanthemum plants with which I heartily disagree. You said that after the mum plant has finished blooming, cut it back and place it in a cellar way."

"What you should have said was to cut it back to about six inches and place it where it's cool and light. If you put a mum plant where it does not get plenty of light, then it will put forth the most fragile kind of growth."

Another thing - you should mention that most potted mums are commercial type mums and need many more weeks of growing time when transplanted into the garden.

"Anyone living in an area where frosts come late, the florist's mum would have time to bloom - if frozes come early, then the plants will be nipped."

Only garden type mums prove satisfactory if you want blooms before freezing."

Green Thumb note: I should have mentioned in a cellar way with light and when I said it should be cut back, I should have mentioned to about six inches.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) - Staff members at James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children, recently performed a rare operation to remove the fetus of an identical twin from the abdomen of a 6-week-old boy.
A routine examination by the family physician of an Anderson, Ind., couple's son, revealed a rigid area within the child's stomach.
The boy was X-rayed and development showed a spinal column inside the stomach, and the form of a fetus.
At Riley, Dr. Jay Grosfeld, surgeon-in-chief, led his staff in removing the fetus through surgery which he said "was much like excising a tumor."
The highly unusual birth, called "fetus in fetu," is said to have occurred only about a dozen times in recorded history.

Musical groups date CSI

TWIN FALLS - Two musical groups including Flash Cadillac and the Continental Kids, a leading rock group of the '50s will appear at the College of Southern Idaho Wednesday.
The first performance will be at 7:30 in the Fine Arts Auditorium with another show at 10 p.m. Tickets for the show are available from Helen's Record Shop.
In addition to Flash Cadillac and his group, Boone's Farm, a four-piece billing themselves as "a countryified city band" will also perform.
Flash Cadillac and the Continental Kids are typical of the rock groups of the '50s. They played their first fraternity party following a week's practice and from there moved to Hollywood where they were "discovered" by the Great American Amusement Co. and began appearing at colleges around the country including UCLA where they are credited with the best received concert ever held there, and USU where they are practically ensnared.
They are signing a record contract with Epic and are continuing their college concert tours.
The Boone's Farm group has played together only about a year with their first album on Columbia Records released last summer and while it has not set any new records, the four of other greats didn't do it with the first album either.
Much of the material they have written is now being recorded by major pop, rock and even country and western artists.
The public is invited to attend the concert and tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Flash Cadillac and the Continental Kids Studies show... NEW YORK (UPI) - The have confirmed the finding that National Health Education Committee reports that large-scale, well-controlled studies have shown that there is a marked reduction in the recurrence rate, hospitalization and death rate of patients who have suffered from myocardial infarction if they are controlled on long-term anticoagulant therapy for at least two years.

OUT OUR WAY

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Here's what actor George Sanders, that great Love and War man of yesteryear had to say about the American woman: 'She expects all the small services to be performed by the man. He has to spend an inordinate amount of his valuable time opening doors, shutting windows, carrying in logs for the fire, fighting cigarettes, and if he's extremely adroit, drying the dishes. However, he can definitely enjoy the girl if he can endure the work.'

YOUNG LADY: expect that infant daughter of yours to double her weight in her first three months, then triple it in six months. MOST LIKELY homicide victim is the divorced or widowed man. FIGURE about 200 bones in the body of a middle-aged grow-up, about fourtimes that many bones in the same body before its birth. TWO-OUT of five home owners don't love any mortgage money. DIAMONDS, rubies, sapphires and emeralds are never found in the same beds.

QUERIES FROM CLINIS Q. 'What are the chances for a blind man to marry?' A. 'Pretty fair. Politicians, say a majority of politicians, they would marry blind-men if and when it certainly is known that many a blinded veteran came home after World War II to wed highly attractive young ladies.'

Q. 'If THE CARS parked each year in this country were parked end to end, how far would they stretch?' A. 'Almost but not quite all the way around the world at the equator.'

Q. 'WHAT WAS the greatest age difference between a president and his first lady?' A. 'That was 80 years John Tyler, 54, and Mrs. Tyler, 24.'

APPLE A DAY It appears as though there's some sort of natural tranquilizer in apples. A nerve tonic. Researchers at Michigan State University undertook a three-year study with 1,000 students. Half were fed at least one apple a day, the other half weren't. Later a computer figured out that the apple students suffered significantly fewer headaches, nervous disorders and bouts with insomnia.

ADMIT IT'S PRETTY ridiculous, but that old law is still on the books in Oregon that prohibits a girl from getting into a car with a man unless there's a chaperone there.

INSPIRATING! brought a new suit today. You know what the letter wrote on the alteration slip? 'From him? What gall!'

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS was not the favorite pet of Spain's Queen Isabella, contrary to frequent report. Her favorite pet was an opossum brought back to her from the Americas.

Editor at Watts to speak

CHARLES SMITH

TWIN FALLS — Charles E. Smith, editor and publisher of the Voice of Watts newsletter, will speak at the Holiday Inn at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The public program is one in a series of lectures sponsored by the Truth About Civil Turmoil (TACT) committee of Magic Valley.

Smith, whose topic will be "More Dangerous than a Riot," will also address students and faculty of the College of Southern Idaho at 2 p.m. Thursday.

He was recruited in the 1960s into several groups in Los Angeles, Calif., which claimed to be promoting freedom and civil rights. According to Smith, many Americans, both black and white, have been deceived by revolutionary groups that operate behind a facade of slogans and high sounding phrases.

"The United Nations was supposedly formed to promote peace and extend freedom," says Smith, "yet the world has been embroiled in continual warfare and revolutionary activity, and over a billion people have been enslaved by the communists since the world body was founded."

"By its own record," he adds, "the United Nations has proven itself to be far more dangerous than a riot."

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Navy is again looking for Gigi the whale, hoping the AWOL leviathan will check in by radio and reassure her fans.

So far, there is only silence from the Pacific, where Gigi — if she is still alive — should now be migrating southward with other gray whales to Baja California. Gigi attracted nationwide attention last March, when she became known as "the apprentice whale." Captured shortly after birth, she was raised in a tank at Sea World by Navy and other marine research scientists.

She grew to 14,000 pounds, too big for a tank, and was carried offshore on a barge and dumped in the ocean.

She appeared bewildered at first, swimming around in circles — looking for the walls of her big "new tank," some observers thought — and there were fears she might not adjust to life in the wild.

An argument developed between Navy and other scientists over whether Gigi could survive, since she had been deprived of a normal whale childhood and the opportunity to learn what wild whales must know to stay alive in the cruel sea.

Gigi appeared to give grounds for such fears for a while. She hung around the Southern California coast for a couple of months, and since she was accustomed to human beings hand feeding her would swim right up to piers and beaches. Her handlers had released her in March, hoping she would join the other whales of her species on their migration north.

In May, Gigi disappeared. Before release, she was fitted with a radio transmitter attached to her back, so scientists could track her.

Stressed pork

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Agricultural scientists have cut waste fat on pigs by between 15 to 20 pounds in the past 22 years, while keeping the porker at the same size.

But, the California Farm Bureau reports, while reducing the excess weight, pigs have developed "pork stress syndrome," a fatal illness.

Harrison Thanks Automotive Buyers!

TWIN FALLS — Theisen Motors' owner Emmett Harrison said today he is supremely happy Mercury has continued as the number one passenger car in Twin Falls County.

Not only has Mercury been the top seller this year, Harrison said, but Theisen Motors has outdid its competitors for the last ten years.

Harrison said he wished to extend his gratitude to the people of Magic Valley for the confidence and loyalty they have shown Theisen Motors and the Mercury-Lincoln line of automobiles.

Theisen Motors Service Manager, William Roemer, said he attributed much of last year's fine showing in Mercury sales to the excellent service department.

"I think we have the finest automobile specialists in Magic Valley, if not the entire State of Idaho," Roemer said.

"Look at the caliber of personnel," Roemer added, "and you'll agree. Charles Armstrong, master of the tune-up; Ron Eppers, front end alignment and brake expert; Emmett Bartlett, electrical and air conditioning wizard; Dennis Kirsch, transmission and air-conditioning genius; Merrill Lewis, automotive magician; Jack McCormick, crackerjack electrical and rear axle specialist; and Roger Alexander, unequalled lubrication expert. You won't find a more qualified department.

"Plus, let's not forget White Jones, customer relations manager," Roemer added. "He has contributed greatly to our overall customer service."

John Blansch, Theisen Motors parts manager, said his parts inventory has increased nearly 20 per cent. He also noted that the parts department has added to its staff to accommodate a significant growth in business.

"Even with as large an inventory of parts as we carry," Blansch said, "if we don't have a particular part in stock, which we nearly always do, we can make a phone call and have it here in a matter of hours."

Wilbur Brown, body shop manager for Theisen Motors, said Theisen's naturally repairs more Mercurys than any other car because there are more Mercurys sold in Twin Falls County than any other make.

"We do a job quicker," Brown said, "because we have all the parts. And Atry Bolyard, our paint specialist, guarantees he can match any paint and color on any make of automobile."

Every one of Theisen Motors department managers said they would not mind to personally take credit for the tremendous popularity of Mercury in Magic Valley, but Emmett Harrison said he thought it was all departments.

"I think it's a combination of the excellent service which Magic Valley residents rightly deserve and should expect," Harrison said, "a large parts department that eliminates all chance of your automobile being tied up for repairs for days on end, plus unsurpassed excellence of facilities."

"Not only this," said Harrison, "but we carry over 100 new cars in stock at all times, and we have one of the largest used car inventories in the Northwest."

"Then consider the friendly atmosphere and salesmen that have been with us for many years. Also, we offer local bank financing with the lowest bank rate possible, an excellent location with space to make looking for a new car a pleasure.

"This is why Mercury is known and accepted as absolutely the finest buy in Magic Valley," Harrison said. "Mercury is Magic Valley's most loved car."

Harrison said he felt this was due to Theisen Motors being accepted for its particular brand of service, skill and care in doing business.

"We will continue to provide excellent service to Magic Valley residents," Harrison promised, "not only in the gracious manner which people have come to expect from Theisen Motors, but with a little extra touch of hospitality. We put ourselves in our customer's shoes."

Jules Harrison, Theisen Motors new car sales manager, confessed the firm has been a little short of some models in the past few weeks, but he said this is no longer a problem.

"We now have a complete stock on any model you may desire, and at the price you want to pay for it," he said.

1972 Good Year For Idaho Automobile Dealers!

Today Idaho Automobile Dealers Association announced there were 20,698 passenger cars sold in the state of Idaho for the year 1972. This was compared to a high in 1971 of 19,002 and 1970 of 18,253 passenger cars.

There were 1869 passenger cars sold in Twin Falls county for 1972 with 1632 sold in 1971 and 1510 for the year 1970.

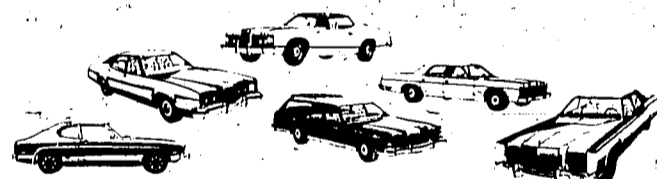

Out of 1606 Mercury's sold in the state of Idaho, Theisen Motors sold 525 of that total. This put Theisen Motors way out in front of all competition selling over 35 percent of the new cars registered in Twin Falls County.

Following is a complete comparison chart that will show the complete figures:

The Easiest Place In The World To Buy A Car

Center doors open wide

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — For many senior citizens the meals they buy for 50 cents each at the Senior Citizens Center are the best they get each week. But they get something even more important than a well balanced meal. For many, going to the center on Tuesday and Thursday for a noon meal is their most important social outlet.

For the past month or so the center at 421 Second Ave. W. has been serving a hot, well-balanced noon meal on Tuesdays and Thursdays for all who want to come.

W. B. McGowan, who admits he can no longer "pass for 39" and is in fact 86, said he visits his daughter for dinner once a week but going to the Senior Citizens Center is something different.

Here he visits with other "old timers" who remember and enjoy discussing the same early day events he recalls.

His eyesight is not good so he needs transportation to the center and usually gets help from a fellow citizen in getting his meal from the kitchen.

David Mitchell, a member of the board of directors for the center, and his wife are frequent diners and they make others feel welcome and help where they can.

Mitchell is also a senior citizen who believes in getting things done. He has helped clear debris and old shreds from the building and is attempting to interest others in the community in the senior citizens program.

The old house which was purchased by the Senior Citizens Agency for $2,000 down with federal rent money, making the payments, frequently accommodates 45 to 50 persons in the old living-dining room area.

If 60 show up, Agnes Wishart, who does the cooking, said meat portions are made smaller and rolls, vegetables or more salad fills in.

She tries to prepare things the senior citizens would not bother fixing for themselves or could not afford.

Tuesday the menu consisted of meat loaf, buttered corn, cole slaw, scalloped potatoes, hot rolls, cookies and plenty of coffee.

While it would seem men who live alone would be more likely to take advantage of the prepared meals, it is not always this way. Many widows or single women enjoy the meals and stay to visit or play cards.

Each Thursday a card party is held after the noon meal.

Those who do not play cards gather in small groups and visit. A fireplace is always lit and a piano is available if someone wants to play a favorite tune.

In a small building behind the main house, a pool table and card tables provide a special recreation center for the men.

As Mitchell says, the work the senior citizens do around the center and the donations can be used for credit toward federal matching funds to help improve and operate the center.

Tables for the meals were purchased slightly damaged for $2 to $4 per top and $9 per set of legs.

"For about $11 to $13 we may have $30 tables because many of the men donated time to put the tables together," he said.

Some senior citizens who are physically able don't work to keep the home and yard looking neat. Some of the senior citizens who have adequate financial means donate money for items they feel are needed and these donations help make the 50 cents meals possible.

There are many things the center needs. Community organizations could make a worth while contribution and at the same time show appreciation to those who settled and developed Twin Falls, says Lorna Bolton, director.

At the present time a service club or group is badly needed to provide vehicles and drivers for the meals-on-wheels program. This involves taking hot meals to the senior citizens who cannot leave their homes or who live too far to walk and no longer drive.

Prepares rolls

"COOK FOR 45 to 50 senior citizens each Tuesday and Thursday, Agnes Wishart prepares rolls for the serving line. Those eating in the center pay 50 cents for a hot meal."

Take home meals

MEALS-ON-WHEELS on a small scale provides meals for persons unable to come to the center. Here Leonard Wiseman picks up meals for his wife and himself, with Ardis Rose, volunteer, helping place the meals in portable oven. A service club to drive meals to those who have no way of picking them up would help the center program.

Educational endeavor

CHECKING over a new book they just obtained from the library are two members of the Big Spenders, Mrs. V. V. Telford, vice president, and Mrs. J. G. Gibbs, president. Studying the stock markets has not only become a hobby for members of the Big Spenders, but also a great education, according to Mrs. Gibbs.

MV women dabble in market

TWIN FALLS — "It is just as important to know when to sell as when to buy."

This maxim of the Big Spenders Investment Club with members from Twin Falls and Kimberly, is an important part of their discovery during the past three years of the ups and downs of United States stock markets.

Mrs. J. G. Gibbs, president, speaking to the group at the January meeting said, "We wanted to know what the stock market was. We found that we learned even more. We have been more conscious about the national scene since we began investing and have seen the effect of political and social events on the market."

"Elections, the Vietnam war, and loss important incidents have all had an effect on the market since we first organized," she said. "Instead of just buying and selling, we are receiving a market education."

The club, one of several Magic Valley investor organizations, meets once a month to consider its investments. Each member contributes $15 per month to an investment voted upon by all.

In order to make wise market decisions and, "to make some money," members hear regularly from local brokers and consult also with an out-of-state broker.

Members study the market individually, selecting information on national and local companies for reports to the group each month.

During the January meeting, information was presented on an airline, a do-calculation process and a weight reduction concern.

Market reviews

REVIEWING market reports can be great fun if you are a member of the Big Spenders. Here Mrs. Glen Jenkins, treasurer, and Mrs. Cliff Falls review some of the latest reports that will be discussed during the group's next meeting.

Members heard reviews of market reports in national publications including magazines, newspapers and company newsletters.

The group's attempt to build a "balanced portfolio" has resulted in their owning shares in a variety of businesses including motors, oil, conglomerates, fibers, health concerns, chemicals, insurance, real estate, pharmaceutical supplies, farm implements, mining, foods and retailing.

Other members of the Big Spenders are Mrs. V. V. Telford, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Edger, secretary; Mrs. Glenn Jenkins, treasurer; and Mrs. Wayne Parish, all Twin Falls.

Doris Mrs. W. E. Tenter, Mrs. Harold O. Hove and Mrs. C. S. Fells; all Kimberly.

The club makes investments each month. It may also choose to sell. The treasurer then contacts a broker with the group's decision.

"Often we've tried to realize a profit too soon," Mrs. Jenkins said. "Some of us have pinned but we've had fun while learning financial ins and outs."

The Big Spenders also socialize while investing. A dinner each October uses investment earnings to treat husbands, and a December luncheon is paid for with lines paid by members for absences from regular meetings.

A regular financial report is run off each month by the treasurer, showing current investments, quotations, gains, loss, ratio, bank balance, per cent member worth, and a cumulative individual investment figure.

"We started in the worst time possible," Mrs. Telford said. "The market dropped seriously right after we organized in 1970. Now we feel that our stock shares are going to go up and that we may be able to realize our investments."

Enjoy outing

SENIOR CITIZENS, some on limited incomes, could not prepare a hot meal for 50 cents and most would not bathe. Here they gather at the Senior Citizens Center for a well balanced meal and a social get together on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Ardis Rose, volunteer, pours coffee at one of four tables. She says the center needs community support to help reach the persons who need it most.

Senior Citizens meet

half dozen of any one pattern. Some are small left over items from sets and only take up cupboard space. One electric stove, well used, cooks all of the food for the 45 to 50 who dine at the center during the two special days. This is hot and often there is no place to warm rolls while other items are being prepared. Mrs. Bolton said she has found in working with the senior citizens that the community owes them a better situation than most have. "Young people with some time to donate or organizations capable of sponsoring special benefits should visit the center and see what we are doing and what we need," Mrs. Rose said. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hudelson drive to the center frequently and stay for cards. Leonard Wiseman, who lives on West Heyburn, drives to the center and takes two meals home with him in a portable oven. "I have to do the cooking at our house," he says, "and this is a lot easier than doing it myself." On days the shopping bus picks up citizens for downtown or shopping center tours, it drops the passengers off at the center for lunch and there is always a large group.

Mitchell has some future plans. "I would like to see the day we get a dish at the door and those who could afford the 50 cents would pay and those who could not would eat with us anyway. We also need a small bus or van. Many persons who should be here are not. They no longer drive and are too far away to walk. With a small bus we could make pick ups around the city and bring them here for lunch and the enjoyment of eating and visiting with other people," he says. "The social enjoyment they get is often better for them than the well balanced and filling meal," he said. Two sewing rooms have been set up in the center and can be used for quilting or crafts. Finished products will be sold at the Bon Marche where space has been given the Senior Citizens to display and sell items. Funds, especially from the quilts, will help defray cost of sewing material. The center has only two sewing machines at this time and hopes to buy or obtain others.

It is a cheerful place where the senior citizens relax and do as they please. The Senior Citizens Agency wants it to develop just as the senior citizens wish and to meet what ever needs and desires they have.

Couple recites VOWS

TWIN FALLS — GERALD ANN CONNOLLY and CHRYL ARLO HULLDESTON were married in 1:30 p.m. rites Jan. 7 at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Helena, Mont.

The bride is the daughter of Jane Wiodor, Helena, Mont., and Tom Connolly, Reno, Nev. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Huddleston, Helena, Mont., former Twin Falls residents.

The bride wore a long empire-styled gown of white crushed velvet. Her fingertip length nylon tulle veil was held by a nylon organza flower and trimmed with seed pearls. The gown and veil were made by Joan Hazard.

She carried a nosegay of red roses and white pompon chrysanthemums tied with white satin streamers.

Georgene Nick was maid of honor.

Best man was Brent Huddleston, Helena, Mont., brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Tim Connolly, Helena, Mont., brother of the bride, and Hal Fraser, Twin Falls.

The couple was honored at a wedding breakfast hosted by the bride's father at Jorgerson's Inn and at a reception at the Colonial in Helena after the ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. CHRIS A. HUDDLESTON

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over red. The three-tier cake was iced in white and trimmed with red roses. It was topped with two white doves and wedding rings.

The reception was followed by a potluck dinner at the home of the bride's parents. Guests attended from White Sulphur Springs and Anaconda, Mont., Idaho and Nevada.

January wedding planned

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Jeff T. Anderson, Twin Falls, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Eric N. Korte, Boise.

Korte is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erich Korte, Boise.

Miss Anderson is a senior at the University of Idaho, majoring in history and anthropology.

Korte is a 1972 graduate of the University of Idaho, holding a B.S. degree in communications. He is associated with KAH educational TV, Boise, as producer, director.

The couple plans a late January wedding at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Sun Valley.

'Bare' fashions prevail

ROME (UPI) — Designer Mila Schon, all but bare, the breast in her Rome high-fashion collection for spring and summer. She used brief halter tops, low cut strap tops, and open work that zigzagged revealingly across the front of a semi-sheer black blouse worn without a bra.

At the other extreme, however, her models wore gown versions of little girl Mary Jane strap shoes on stacked heels for evening, a high-heeled oxford for day.

Miss Schon, a favorite designer of Milan's wealthy wives, said in notes introducing her showing Wednesday night that its lines were based on the letter Y—wide shoulders, narrow waist and hips. She also spelled out the line with wrap jackets and dress tops.

The clothes, shown in mirrored, marble ballroom in the Grand Hotel, were wool, silk, shantung, georgette and linen, often in their natural off-white colors.

Fabiani, who pioneered high fashion ready-to-wear clothes in Italy, designed a series of woven cashmere coats in vivid colors in a collection he said looked forward to autumn and winter.

Club meets

TWIN FALLS — Country Pals Home-Extension Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Maurice Allen.

Mrs. Frieda Ehlers opened the meeting. Guests were Mrs. A. E. Allen and Mrs. Dean Moore.

Mrs. Irene Childers won the white elephant gifts.

The meeting was cut short for presentation of lessons on knit slack fitting by Mrs. Patricia Mangian, Twin Falls County home extension agent.

Mrs. Allen served refreshments.

Winners

HANSEN — The Jolly Twelve Pinocchio Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Vera Hall.

Mrs. Thelma Stanger won high. Mrs. Helen Parsons won second high and Mrs. W. F. Anderson won third. Mrs. Grace McFarland won a door prize.

Guests were Mrs. Stanger, Mrs. Larson, Mrs. William Allen, Mrs. Jack Nuckols and Mrs. Grace McFarland.

Inaugural gown

MRS. NIXON'S Inaugural Ball gown, designed by Adele Simpson of New York, was a princess dress in turquoise blue silk organza over turquoise and silver silk lame. The all-over embroidery was very fine diamonds and pearls traced in silver threads. The dress featured a V-neckline and long sleeves. The neckline, sleeves and hemline were outlined with sparkling jewels.

Idahoans attend inaugural fete

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A number of Idahoans were among the thousands of Americans who came from every section of the country for the inauguration of President Nixon.

People in Washington have been aware of the inauguration for several months with the building of the platforms in front of the capitol, parade viewing stands lining sidewalks between the capitol and the White House, and signs of 'Inaugural Parking' appearing everywhere on Capitol Hill.

Idahoans in Washington for the inauguration include Hon. and Mrs. Len B. Jordan, Lieut. Gov. Jack M. Murphy who is representing Gov. Cecil Andrus, State Sen. Dean Summers; Mr. and Mrs. Manley Arant, Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett Dickens, Bob Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. James McClary and Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Sullivan, all of Boise; Mr. and Mrs. John Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Joseph and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adams, Idaho Falls; Mrs. Helene M. Coffey, Burley; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Kramer; Carolyn Seibel and Mr. and Mrs. James Sinclair, Twin Falls; Mrs. Phyllis Laird, Dubois, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kerbs, Blackfoot.

Several hundred Idahoans now living in the nation's capitol will also be attending many of the inaugural events.

Representatives Orval Hansen and Steve Smyth and Sen. James McClure entertained all the Idahoans in Washington with an open house buffet in the Senate Office Building Saturday immediately after the swearing-in ceremony.

Official inaugural events began with the vice president's reception early Thursday evening at the Smithsonian Institute. Later that night at the John F. Kennedy Center a variety show "Orbit to the States" was headed by Bob Hope.

Friday was the Salute to America's Heritage, honoring the contribution of America's ethnic groups to our cultural life.

Friday evening at the Kennedy Center were three concerts — American Music concert in the Opera House; Youth Concert in the Eisenhower Theatre, and the concert in the Concert Hall with Van Cliburn and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini reviews for a few of the new books recently received at the library.

"Convention, M. D." by Frank Slaughter. Combining all his skills as a writer with his expert knowledge of medical technology and the problems of medical practice, the author has produced a first-paced novel showing a side of the medical profession the patient never sees this time including murder.

"Home late, a Story of Old Age" by Dorothy Robinson. The author uses some techniques of fiction and an imaginative rendering of factual experience in dramatizing the wild, funny, and cruel disassociation of reality.

"Dust on the Sea" by Edward Beach. A fast novel, blending action, adventure, and the personal agonies of men in wartime.

"Treasurehouse" by James Morrison. Sam and Nell Barnes are two happily adopted kids, growing up as brother and sister, and discover at a fairly advanced point that they are very much in love.

"The Navigator" by Donald Bragdon. A superb addition to the "Rivers of America" series.

This is an account of the Nagara in history, geology, linguistics and ecology.

"I Never Had It Made" by Jackie Robinson. In this honest, hard hitting autobiography, Jackie Robinson discovered that he still remained a black man, despite his successes in the white world.

"Delayers and Dynamiters" by David H. Grover. When Harry Orchard confessed in 1906 that he had rigged the dynamite bomb that killed Frank Steunenberg, he set in motion more than just his own murder trial.

"The Search for a Soul" by Jess Stearn. This book delves into the psychic lives of the best selling novelist, Taylor Caldwell. A skeptic about reincarnation, Mrs. Caldwell agreed to undergo hypnosis.

"The Quality of Hurt" by Chester Himes. An autobiography that retains the 45 years of hurt this man felt.

"Sleep, Our Unknown Life" by Richard Deming. After 35 years of research, scientists still do not know for sure what sleep is and why we need it. Why do people walk and talk in their sleep, or dream? This is what this book is about and much, much more.

FUNNY BUSINESS By Roger Bollen

TWIN FALLS Some shaggy dog stories are true. A hunting trip in the Twin Falls area became as long as the proverbial joke for Mundu, a 5-year-old, 110-pound Japanese Akita (dog).

His saga began at Thanksgiving and ended nearly December after efforts of Dr. C. I. Manners, Blue Lakes Veterinary Clinic and Julie Sloat, Twin Falls Animal Shelter, members of the Twin Falls Police Department and airline personnel.

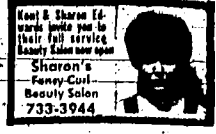

Mundu's troubles began when he cost his master, Buss Helm, Fresno Calif., $50 for removal of porcupine quills during a deer hunting trip in central Idaho. Then on Thanksgiving Day he disappeared from near Twin Falls. Helm, an agricultural inspector for the Fresno agricultural commissioner, asked for help from the Twin Falls agencies.

Mundu was found in the Twin Falls area, an alleged dognapping victim, and was crated up for the four-hour flight home. However, his adventures were not yet over. Because of bad weather, he missed airline connections in Salt Lake City, and was then flown to Fresno via Los Angeles and San Francisco.

His grateful owner, in a letter this month to Twin Falls Mayor John Christoffersen again thanked Mrs. Sloat, Dr. Manners and local police for their assistance.

"You are to be congratulated for having such fine people representing the city of Twin Falls," Helm said. "This visitor to your community certainly appreciates what they have done for me and my dog. I will long remember the kindness of the people there in helping me recover him."

As for the next hunting trip to Idaho, Helm said in an interview with a Fresno newspaper, The Fresno Bee, "I think I'll just keep him tied up in camp, but I'm afraid that as a watchdog, he's the one who will bear watching."

Mothers March scheduled in TF

Twin Falls—The annual Mothers March for birth defects in Twin Falls County is scheduled to begin this week. Mothers March contributions are used to support research and medical services at medical centers and teaching hospitals throughout the nation. Genetic counseling, screening for genetic disorders and public health education about vaccines that can prevent congenital rubella and RII blood incompatibility are areas the Mothers March is concerned with according to Mrs. Robert Becker, Twin Falls Mothers March chairman.

She said—Prenatal care programs for "highrisk" mothers and nurseries for the critically ill newborn are two of our expanding areas of concern.

Mrs. Becker said that about 150 volunteers will canvass neighborhoods seeking contributions to the Mothers March. She noted that five neighborhood volunteers are ill and consequently more volunteers are needed. Those interested in helping may contact Mrs. Becker for more information.

Mothers March volunteers will be identified by March of Dimes badges and informational materials.

TF woman nominated for Gem honor

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl who has never had a real date. I have been fixed up a few times, but I've never panned out.

Well, this one guy started to come over and hang around. He's sort of weird. He's 24, not bad looking, and does construction work. He comes here and keeps looking at my mother. She is a widow, 39 years old, and is a nice looking woman, but she has her own friends and isn't interested in this kid. He keeps making cracks, like, "Older women are more experienced."

I don't know what to make of him. My mother says I should encourage him a little, but I don't believe in leading a guy on unless I intend to put out, which I will not do because I believe in God and virtue and I don't want to be shopped by the time I'm married.

So what do you suggest? INEXPERIENCED

He's not your style

DEAR INEXPERIENCED: The kind of "experience" this weirdo is looking for is definitely not your style. Stick to your principles and don't waste any more time with the likes of him. You're more apt to find your type of fellow hanging around church. Seek, and ye shall find!

DEAR ABBY: My life is a nightmare with my jealous husband. We have tried everything from marriage counselors to psychiatry, but to no avail.

He does not trust me out of his sight and it is all so foolish because I have no interest in any other man and never have had.

My only hope seems to be a chastity belt. Can you please tell me where to send for one? I am 53 and my husband is 70 and he has been like this for the last three years.

This is a serious request. Please rush your answer. Whatever the price, it will be worth it. Thank you. GOING CRAZY IN BLUE EARTH, MINN.

DEAR GOING: The only chastity belts I have ever seen are in museums.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single girl, 24 years old, and people are always telling me how beautiful I am, mainly because I have a good figure. (I'm 36-25-30). No single girl wants to pal around with me because if a guy is anywhere around, I'm the one who gets the attention. Married women don't trust me either although I've never dated a married man in my life.

Abby, what I need is a man, but a guy takes one look at me and figures with all I've got going for me I must have been with lots of guys. (I've been with a few, but not that many).

I am so lonesome, you wouldn't believe it. So where do I look for friends? Not at work. The females are so jealous they would tear me apart like wolves. Not at bars because men get the impression that I'm good for a one-night stand, and that's not what I want. I'm going crazy, I need friends! Sign me. THE LONELIEST GAL IN TOWN

DEAR LONELY: You seem much too preoccupied with your looks. Beauty has never been a liability, so if girls mistrust you and men misjudge you, you'd better take a good long look at your packaging. If you look, dress and act like a lady with all you have going for you, you will be the busiest gal in town, not the loneliest.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the nurses who work in obstetrics. I just had my fourth baby, and all four times I was fully conscious. The only time a nurse spoke to me was to give me an order, "Mother, drink this! Mother, turn over! Mother, bear down!" Meanwhile, the nurses are talking to each other. They babble endlessly about the cute new intern, what they did last weekend and the latest hospital gossip. No one bothered to say a kind word to me, and needless to say I kept praying that my doctor would arrive before my baby did.

Women in labor are not deaf, and at a time like that they desperately need a few comforting words and some friendly conversation.

I hope you will print my letter because many of my friends have told me that the same thing happened to them. NEW MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Consider it done. All right, nurses: Talk to the mother, not to each other!

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls mother of five has been nominated for the Idaho Mother of the Year title.

Mrs. Mary McClusky, wife of Dr. David McClusky, has been selected for the honor by the Twin Falls Rotary Club.

While she has participated in many of the activities common to mothers — Cub Scouts, PTA and Sunday school teaching — Mrs. McClusky is best known in the community for her continued interest in youth.

She was instrumental in forming the local chapter of American Field Service exchange student program and served as its first president.

Through efforts of the chapter many foreign students have come to Twin Falls to reside with area families and attend school, while area students have experienced life in other countries.

She was chairman of the family liaison committee for three years in the American Field Service program and has visited three of the past exchange students in their own countries.

Mrs. McClusky feels this program "surely helps bring countries closer in world understanding."

With her husband, Mrs. McClusky was responsible for setting up the first medical and first aid quarters at the Boy Scout camp for this area, Camp Bradley.

For the past five years she has served on the board of directors of the Idaho Youth Ranch, Rupert, and has just been elected to another three-year term.

She has worked on the United Fund agency relations committee and presently is financial chairman for the United Fund organization.

Among her family-related activities have been serving as assistant Sunday school teacher at the First United Presbyterian Church, Cub Scout and Boy Scout projects and PTA where she has maintained membership for 25 years.

She headed a committee to raise funds for the high school stadium, in addition to more routine jobs as room mother and membership chairman. She is active in the Presbyterian Women's group, currently serving as treasurer of the memorial fund scholarships and has served on many committees and headed a number of programs for the church women's group.

Mrs. McClusky also has given many hours of service to civic projects. She served as chairman of the consumer committee for downtown Futures Unlimited and worked with other community leaders for two years on the design committee for the downtown mall.

Dr. and Mrs. McClusky donated the large Austrian pine tree which graces the town square in the mall between J. C. Penney and the Idaho Department stores.

Currently she is lay coordinator for the Corps Teacher program at Bickel school under Idaho State University. She is a continuing member of the Idaho Partners of America and served one year in Boise on jury duty in US District Court.

Mrs. McClusky is a past officer of the Twin Falls Music Club, holds membership in Chapter No. 82, Order of Eastern Star; Daughters of the Nile, Iris Temple 40; Chapter AO of the PEO Sisterhood; Twentieth Century Club and the YWCA.

She served two years on the Twin Falls City Parks and Recreation Commission. She has been a board member of the Magle Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, is a past president of the South Central Medical Auxiliary and now heads the health careers committee for Southern Idaho.

Her oldest son, David, is a freshman at Northwest University Medical School, Chicago, his mother's hometown. He has B.S. and master's degrees from the University of Idaho and served in the Air Force.

Robert McClusky served in the Navy and was graduated from CSI. He is now training to be a commercial air pilot.

Mary McClusky attended the University of Idaho, majoring in elementary education, and now works as an X-ray technician in Chicago's Wesley Memorial Hospital.

John McClusky attended Utah State University and now is studying commercial art. He worked summers for the US Forest Service at the lookout near McCall during his college years.

Mrs. McClusky said all of her children have worked to help with their college expenses.

The youngest, Karen, a senior at Twin Falls High School, has worked the past one and one-half years at the Twin Falls Public Library. She plans on training to become a medical technologist at the University of Utah.

The McCluskys have one grandchild, Dr. McClusky is formerly of Buhl where his father was a pioneer physician. His mother, the late Louise McClusky, was a runner-up for the mother of the year title.

SUCCESSFUL BENEFIT

TWIN FALLS — Magle Valley country music musicians did themselves proud this past week.

Sponsored by the Southern Idaho Country Music Association, musicians presented a two-night benefit with the major portion of the proceeds going to Mrs. Charlie (Afton) Crane, who has renal failure (failure of kidneys to function properly in purification of the blood).

With a seating capacity of somewhere near 1,000, the CSI Fine Arts Center Auditorium was filled to capacity both nights. Many major events at the auditorium fail to fill it for even one night — to say nothing of two.

It's always a good feeling to see so many people turn out for an event that will help a neighbor. It was also a good feeling to see how many community leaders supported the event including Mayor and Mrs. John Christoffersen.

One family from Jerome commented after the second show that they attended the first show and liked it so much they came back for the second.

One small boy, about 4 years old, tugged at the coat tail of one of the musicians after the performance and said, "You were terrific."

A young Twin Falls girl was overheard saying, "I'd sure like to be able to sing like Candy Freeman."

Comments like these and a full house for a worthy cause represent the full wages received by the participating musicians — and they feel they were well paid.

DUCK SPECIAL

For years now I have heard of the Oriental duck dinners Magle Valley hunters host, but had never attended one.

That is, not until this past week. Some friends invited me and I looked forward to it for a couple weeks. They told me we would have things like duck soup, sweet and sour duck, almond duck, etc.

The thought of eating duck didn't do that much for me, but they assured me it was real good and I would enjoy it.

To my surprise it really was good. About 135 people were there with about that many ducks prepared and catered for the event.

Seems as though employees of several-sect companies in town put their marks near the end of duck season, have one of the local cafes prepare them and then get together for one good party.

The hunters provide the ducks and local restaurants prepare them in many, many ways and provide all the accessories.

After checking a bit I find this duck dinner business is really quite the thing. One local cafe opens its board for appointments Oct. 1 and by Oct. 2 this past year was completely filled with a long waiting list in case of cancellations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross McNurlin spearheaded the event, with Chuck Green giving the welcome and introducing members of the dance band, Henry Fiscus, Rudy Williamson and Bob Knight.

Although many of the wives complained that their husbands were away from home so much duck hunting getting ready for the big gala, it all seemed to work its way out when not one of the 135 attending went away hungry.

Teachers told of program

TWIN FALLS — A program emphasizing the three main points of the Teachers Corps was presented the Delta Kappa Gamma group Saturday at the Holiday Inn.

Guest speakers were introduced by Dortha England, program chairman. Ellen Morical, team teacher of the Teacher Corps program, spoke on "What is the Teacher Corps?"

LaNore Bunce, a teacher in the Filer School District, explained how the program affects the cooperating teachers. Vera Wylie spoke on how the program involves the student.

The Teacher Corps is community involvement education and is presently in its first period of a two year cycle. Mrs. Robert Tickner is the team leader for the Twin Falls area.

The program is being conducted in 10 target areas in the state.

Music for the brunch was furnished by Ruth Turner and Claire Theener.

Preheat the oven to the correct temperature for at least 10 minutes before you begin baking cookies.

Allow adequate room for heat circulation when you bake cookies. Use sheets or pans at least two inches smaller in length and width than the oven rack. Shiny sheets bake browner cookies.

The Idaho-Oregon area produces about 20 per cent of all onions available in the United States from September through March. About 90 per cent of the onions, or 360 million pounds, are sweet Spanish varieties. Among them are many that have a diameter of more than five inches.

A 6-inch-long banana that weighs 3 1/2 ounces contains only 65 calories. It contains a good supply of six vitamins and a high supply of potassium, needed for heart circulation. It also contains calcium, phosphorus and 100 per cent available iron. Bananas are 99.9 per cent fat-free.

States quietly promote sex classes

WASHINGTON (UPI)— In spite of considerable hostile public opposition, some states quietly are promoting sex education in public schools to curb increasing rates of illegitimate births, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare told Congress Tuesday.

"Despite the problems, a number of state agencies have moved in the direction of prevention of even the first illegitimate birth," said HEW's third annual report to Congress on services to welfare families.

"Their efforts have taken the form of joint programs with the public schools in the general field of family life education, the report said.

Although it said "community controversy may then be aroused... education in family life, the problems of relations with the opposite sex, the implications of marriage, and the like is useful, especially for young people whose home background does not give them such information and an understanding of community standards."

States that specifically commented on sex education activities in reports to HEW were Colorado, Idaho, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Utah and Washington.

Utah has a film prepared for school children but uses it sparingly in order not to arouse community opposition," the report said.

Other states have organized "family life education" programs for teen-agers and have circulated films about teen-age pregnancy among schools, it said.

Citing "a broad trend toward more births out of wedlock," HEW said the prevention of illegitimacy is too big a job for welfare agencies alone.

"The development of broad community concern, with the school especially involved in prevention programs, is encouraging and offers hope of some reduction in the incidence of illegitimacy," the report said.

Congress was told that 28 per cent of all fathers of welfare children receiving Aid to Families with dependent children (AFDC) are not married to the mother and about 80 per cent of AFDC families are headed by a single parent, usually the mother.

"There are indications, moreover, that rearing an illegitimate child is less of a stigma than it once was," HEW said. "Girls with children born out of wedlock, especially white girls, are more inclined than before to keep the child than to place it for adoption."

Week's Recipe Winner

GERALDINE COOK

Route 1, Box 119, Paul

CHEESE CAKE
(Lower calorie)

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 Package (2 envelopes) low calorie vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1/2 cup light cream
1 carton (8 oz.) whipped cream cheese
2 eggs, at room temperature, separated
4 teaspoons vanilla extract
4 teaspoons granulated sugar substitute, not concentrated
1 tablespoon lemon juice

3/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 cup heavy cream whipped
Cinnamon to taste
Sprinkle gelatin over one-fourth cup cold water. Put pudding mix in saucepan and gradually stir in light cream. Put over low heat and cook, stirring, until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in softened gelatin.
Beat in cheese with spoon and put back over low heat and stir until cheese is melted. Remove from heat and add egg yolks, three teaspoons vanilla and one teaspoon sugar substitute and beat well with spoon. Add lemon juice and rind and cool to room temperature.

Beat egg whites with two teaspoons sugar substitute until stiff. Whip heavy cream with remaining sugar substitute and vanilla. Fold egg whites and cream into cooled pudding. Pour into nine-inch glass pie pan and sprinkle with cinnamon. Chill two hours or until firm.
