

Secret Gem audit raps former aide

BOISE (UPI) — A secret management audit released by the Idaho Senate today called for the consolidation of the Idaho Water Resource Board and the Department of Water Administration.

The audit, which was conducted by the Department of Administrative Services and held secret by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, was highly critical of former water resource board director Dr. Robert Lee.

Lee resigned the IWRB directorship earlier this month to join an irrigation company in southeast Idaho.

Among the complaints lodged against him were lack of leadership, severe morale problems with staff, lack of cost-conscious management, philosophies and a clear breach between the IWRB director and environmental groups and agencies.

The present IWRB director is openly associated with development interests, the management analysis said.

The audit said the study team unequivocally recommends the transfer of the support (research, planning and development) functions of IWRB to the Department of Water Administration.

The report recommended that the consolidation and transfer of staff be accomplished through a contractual agreement between IWRB and the Department of Water Administration, presently headed by R. Keith Higginson.

The consolidation could be accomplished under present water law, by board action, without need for constitutional amendment, the report said.

The report said there was duplication of staff and legal responsibilities between the IWRB and the Department of Water Administration. It also cited duplication with the Idaho Water Resource Board staff.

The report generally praised the staff of the IWRB, but added that they had little communications with the reported that there is a near void of administrative leadership and control in the IWRB and this has led to severe morale problems.

In our opinion, the report said, the present IWRB director's apparent policy to it alone on water matters and management has resulted in needless waste of state funds and is indefensible, particularly during times of acute financial crisis, such as the state is currently experiencing.

SALUTING CASKET of grandfather, former President Lyndon Baines Johnson, is young Patrick Lyndon Nugent, during ceremonies in Capitol rotunda in Washington, D. C., Wednesday. Services for 36th President were conducted today in Washington, followed by burial on his ranch in Texas. (UPI)

LBJ on final trip to Texas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The city of Washington said its final farewell today to Lyndon Baines Johnson. The body of the former President — eulogized as the "tall man with giant character" — was taken home for burial in the Pedernales River country of Texas he loved.

Thousands of everyday Americans paid their respects to the dead 36th President as he lay in state at the Capitol rotunda. Hundreds of dignitaries and friends — and former foes — led by President Nixon then attended funeral services in the capital city's final tribute to the 36th President.

As funeral speaker, W. Marvin Watson, a longtime adviser to Johnson, said of his lifelong friend, "History will record that in the seventh decade of the 20th century, America had Lyndon Johnson when he was needed."

At the conclusion of the one-hour funeral, Johnson's body was taken through quiet city streets filled with bright sunshine and cold shadow to Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland for return to Texas aboard the same plane on which he took the presidential oath Nov. 22, 1963.

At the rites at the National City Christian Church, the pastor, Dr. George H. Davis, said in invocation, "We have come here to celebrate sunrise. Often we have walked to the mournful sound of muffled drums. We come here to celebrate to the glorious trumpets of God."

Davis took as the theme for the sermon to his former parishioner the Old Testament words, "When after the death of Moses, the Lord, God, called forth Joshua to lead the nation."

He said the former President had many of the qualities of Moses — "the hardness of discipline ... sitting on top of a volcano you didn't create, trying to control it."

Watson, whose voice broke at the end of his eulogy, said "He was a tall man of giant character and when he committed himself, he committed himself totally. And he asked his countrymen to do the same."

"In victory, he taught us to be magnanimous. In defeat, he taught us to be without hate — to learn to rally, to accept the challenge and to try again."

Johnson's widow, Lady Bird, sat erect and unflinching in a pew across the aisle from Nixon and his family as black opera star Leontyne Price sang "Take My Hand, Precious Lord" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Police said 40,000 Americans passed by Johnson's flag-draped coffin as he lay in state in the vaulted rotunda of the Capitol where he began his political career in the 1930's as a protégé of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Joining President and Mrs. Nixon at the funeral was Mamie Eisenhower, widow of another President.

Johnson's widow, Lady Bird, was accompanied by her daughters, Luci and Lynda, and their husbands.

Also in the first row Johnson family pew was Johnson's 5-year-old grandson, Lynn Nugent, who as the body was carried from the Capitol, cast a poignant farewell salute.

The boy paid similar respect twice Wednesday to his grandfather — first when Johnson's body was placed aboard the plane in Texas for the flight to Washington and again when the casket was carried off the jet.

When the left rear tire on Harmon's auto blew out, the northbound vehicle escaped control, overturned, and landed in a field along the highway.

Mrs. Harmon was thrown from the vehicle. She died instantly, Hovel said. Her son was also thrown out. He was taken to St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome for treatment.

Harmon's speed was estimated at 60 miles an hour at the time by officers.

Citations are pending, state police said. Mrs. Harmon was the fifth person to die in traffic accidents in the Magic Valley since Jan. 1. Her death raised the Idaho toll to 13, compared to 7 on the same day in 1972.

Views conflict on channel law

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer

BOISE — A legislative committee heard conflicting testimony at a public hearing Wednesday night over a controversial two-year-old stream channel protection law.

The current legislature has before it six individual amendments to the present law including one for outright repeal, several that would exempt specific types of waterways from the purview of the act, and another that would transfer final authority for the granting of channel alteration permits from that state to the county level.

One of the proposed amendments, according to director of water administration R. Keith Higginson, would strengthen the state's hand in dealing with attempts for stream channel alteration.

A Spokane, Wash., lawyer, Glen Harmon, who lives in northern Idaho, laid a joint resources and environment committee of the Senate, and resources and conservation committee of the House that the current bill was passed two years ago, "without sufficient advance study."

Congress due huge budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will submit to Congress on Monday a federal budget totaling between $268 and $280 billion for the 1974 fiscal year, administration officials said today.

The budget will be the first explicit affirmation of Nixon's reported intention to wipe out a number of the "Great Society" programs left over from the Johnson era, including the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), which conducts the war on poverty.

Nixon already has made it clear in his inaugural address and statements after the election that he wants to reduce the federal government's role in the daily lives of Americans.

Control agencies assailed

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today the international agency being formed to investigate cease-fire violations is a "useless and helpless organization" and that South Vietnam's best guarantee of peace is a strong army.

"The ICC is a useless and helpless organization," he said. "We have sent piles and piles of complaints after so many years but nothing has been done." Thieu told 600 South Vietnamese information of

US ends Vietnam troop movements

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first steps to end its costly and frustrating 12-year crusade in Indochina, the United States has stopped troop shipments to Vietnam, ordered the clearing of North Vietnam's mined harbors and prepared to aid American prisoners of war.

The actions, started immediately when the cease-fire took effect, will virtually stop the flow of U.S. military personnel to Vietnam and that only a few "specially skilled personnel" will be sent during the 60 days.

The U.S. Navy was ordered to prepare mine sweeping task forces to be sent to clear North Vietnamese harbors Saturday night when the cease-fire goes into effect. The mines were put in place in May when Nixon ordered a bombing campaign against North Vietnam.

Plans were advanced to receive U.S. prisoners. American negotiator Henry A. Kissinger said Wednesday the first prisoners would fly out of Hanoi aboard a U.S. Air Force jet within 15 days after the cease-fire agreement is signed and that they would be released in four equal segments about 15 days apart over the 60-day period. Lists of the Americans held captive are to be provided during the signing of the accords in Paris Saturday.

In addition, the United States and North Vietnam announced that a force of 1,100 men from Canada, Hungary, Indonesia and Poland will police the peace, starting their move into South Vietnam within 48 hours after the truce. The announcement said an international conference to which both the Soviet Union and China have been invited would be convened within 30 days to oversee provisions of the accord. The probable site of the meeting is Vienna.

"Nothing will be served by attempting to assign the blame for this tragedy," McGovern said. "There is blame enough for us all, and we must all help bear it."

Auto flips in Lincoln, kills Bellevue woman

SHOSHONE — A Bellevue woman was killed and her small son seriously injured in a one-car accident south of Shoshone Wednesday evening.

The victim was Mrs. Donna Harmon, 29. Her son, Tracy, 6, was transferred to St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise today with head injuries. He was reported in critical condition.

The accident occurred seven and a half miles south of Shoshone on US Highway 20.

Tracy Harmon, 6, grandson of the victim, was driving the vehicle. He was released following treatment of minor injuries at St. Benedict's Hospital at Jerome, Idaho, State Police Officer Richard Hovel, Twin Falls, said the accident occurred about 7

Body found

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff's officers were investigating the death of a man, reported to be about 30 years of age, late this morning.

Sheriff Paul Conder said the body was found in an automobile about two and one half miles south of Cedar Crossing.

Coroner Cloyce Edwards and sheriff's officers were at the scene at press time.

Thomas Edison to Hall of Fame

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Thomas Edison's daughter sat at the desk in her father's library and pressed a switch. A replica of the original incandescent light burned brightly.

Edison invented the incandescent light, the phonograph record, the motion picture camera and had patents on 1,093 other inventions.

Wednesday, he became the first member of the Inventors Hall of Fame, and President Nixon has signed a resolution establishing Feb. 11, Edison's birthday, as National Inventors Day.

Ten people gathered Wednesday in the spacious room that was Edison's library for a short, low-keyed ceremony. Madeline Edison Sloane, 81, daughter of the inventor, walked to the ceremony from her home five blocks away in Lowell Park.

On the library desk was a book entitled "Who's Who in Engineering—1925." On the wall behind her was a sample demonstration phonograph record, dated Dec. 12, 1925, to be played on the machine he invented.

The library is part of a complex of buildings that served as Edison's laboratory from 1887 until his death in 1931.

She read a hand-written statement in appreciation of the honor. Mrs. Sloane pointed to a cot near the desk in the carpeted library and remembered the many nights her father slept there. The library's walls are lined with three tiers of books and is reached by a winding stairway.

F.B. Newbry

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Florence Brooks Newbry, 80, died Wednesday at a Weiser nursing home. She was a former Twin Falls resident.

She was born at Farmington, Wash., Feb. 2, 1892. When she was 5 years of age the family moved to Camas Prairie in North Idaho where they homesteaded near the town of Ho, now Craigmont. In 1908 they moved to Milner and in 1909 to Hazelton.

On Dec. 6, 1911, she was married to Charles T. Newbry at Hermiston, Ore. The couple celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary in 1972.

Mr. Newbry died Jan. 5 of this year. Mrs. Newbry belonged to the First United Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

Lava heats sea water in Iceland

VESTMANNAYJAR, Iceland (UPI) — New streams of glowing lava rolled into the harbor today raising the water temperature to 111 degrees Fahrenheit.

"The sea water is so hot, it is hard to keep the engines properly cooled," the engineer of a pilot boat said as the boat made an inspection tour of the Heymoy harbor area, the third largest on Iceland and a center for the important fishing industry.

Clouds of steam billowed over the town, making dangerous to land at the tiny airstrip on the island off the Iceland coast.

Retired instructors set legislative goals

TWIN FALLS — Improved medical service and no-fault insurance are principal legislative goals of the National Retired Teachers Association and American Association of Retired Persons in Idaho.

Kenneth L. Hill and Roy Watson, Boise, co-chairmen of the joint legislative committee of the organizations, discussed them Tuesday at a meeting of the Magic Valley (South Central) Retired Teachers Association.

Hill and Watson said it is important that area legislators be aware of the interest of members of the organization through letters, telephone calls or personal visits.

Musical numbers were presented by Marc

Neiwrth, pianist, and Mike Dixon, vocalist, both Kimberly High School.

Edith Nancolas, president, appointed a nominating committee to present a slate to be voted on March 16 for the coming biennium: Elizabeth Molyneux, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. E. H. Ragland and Mrs. H. W. Van Slyke, all Twin Falls; and Mrs. Shirley Young, Jerome.

Election and installation will be on March 16. Hostess committee used a winter theme with white poinsettias, snowman and greenery on the tables. Mrs. Genevieve Swan was chairwoman, assisted by Mrs. Polly Campbell, Mrs. Helen Tubert, all Twin Falls, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rowland, Filer.

Action should stand

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls legislator told Twin Falls Rotarians Wednesday the state's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment probably would not be rescinded.

Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, made the statement at the first Legislative Luncheon of the year.

Lincoln and four other county legislators spoke by phone to the club.

Lincoln said he has been assured that once the state had ratified an amendment it could take no further action.

"I don't think it will get to the floor," Lincoln said of a proposal to rescind the earlier ratification.

The amendment, which must be ratified by two-thirds of the state legislatures in the nation, would eliminate discrimination by sex.

Other legislators taking part in the program were Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl; Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls; Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl; and Rep. Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls.

House Speaker William Lanting was attending a leadership meeting. Olmstead said.

Sen. Barker, chairman of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee, said his committee is awaiting copies of a US Supreme Court decision on abortion before considering legislation to replace the state's existing abortion statute.

The court had ruled that laws such as Idaho's were unconstitutional.

Sen. High said the budget proposed by Gov. Cecil Andrus would not provide enough support for students attending professional schools out of state.

Under the Western Interstate Compact on Higher Education

(WICHE) tuition to out-of-state professional schools is paid by the home state.

According to Sen. High, the force curtailment of the program. He said the program would have to be closed to first-year graduate students.

He said the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee has questioned whether there is a connection in the $250,000 missing from the WICHE program and the $250,000 the chief executive has approved for a medical program for the Boise area.

Deduction

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee Wednesday voted to introduce a bill which would allow taxpayers in Idaho to deduct from taxable income total medical and dental expenses paid for in behalf of any other person.

Sen. Vernon Brassey, R-Boise, bill sponsor, said he knew of one family in which the married brothers and sisters contributed $700 a month to pay for hospitalization of another family member. None of the contributors could deduct any of the expense.

Mental health aide for Valley chosen

TWIN FALLS — Phil Grover, a psychologist from Topeka, Kan., has been hired by the state to provide mental health services in the Magic Valley area.

Don Barlow, program director of South Central Idaho Mental Health Inc., said today Grover will work closely with existing agencies in providing psychological testing and doing referral work.

There are few mental health resources in this area and all agencies must coordinate services to meet the needs of the community, the official said.

Grover will travel one day per week to both Jerome and Gooding counties to provide services. Marriage, family and individual counseling will be available, as well as psychological testing and evaluation.

He also will work with the South Central Mental Health Center in developing a comprehensive community mental health program. His office is located at 626 Shoup Ave. E.

Grover has had experience in crisis intervention and drug counseling and holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Chicago and master's in clinical psychology from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, where he is working on his doctorate.

Last concrete into dam

OTOFINO, Idaho (UPI) — The last bucket of the more than 6.6 million cubic yards of concrete in Dworshak Dam is slated to be poured Friday afternoon.

Army Corps of Engineers officials and officers of Dworshak Dam Contractors, a combine building the giant dam on the North Fork of the Clearwater river in North Central Idaho, said a brief ceremony will be held at the site to commemorate the action.

Concrete pouring of the dam began in May, 1968, with the first efforts going toward patching cracks in the steep canyon walls. Since that time a block of concrete 717 feet high, 3,300 feet long and 550 feet wide at the base by 35 feet wide at the top has been poured, backing up a reservoir 53 miles long.

However, officials said there is still more work to be accomplished before the dam is dedicated May 20.

He Was A Man

Lyndon Johnson was no gentleman - but he was a man. That was what a television commentator said of him.

To us, Lyndon Johnson was, above all else, a politician not accepted as the elder statesman of his party who did not accept him will live to regret it.

President Johnson's tragedy was that he became President at a time when heroes were out of fashion. He knew triumph and disappointment - As he said, a President's problem is not doing what is right but rather knowing what is right.

This, then, was the path he followed. It was not always an easy walk but walk it he did. He was blamed for much of the war in Vietnam, when the blame should not have been put on his shoulders. When he was convinced that the war could not be won the way he thought it should be, he chose not to run for the office he held. His reelection was sealed and could have been delivered had he wanted it.

Why? Because he had more friends than enemies. And these friends among his associates in Washington and among the citizens of the nation - knew him for what he was.

He was no false front - no stuffed shirt. His niche in history is assured because of the compassionate legislation he backed. His Cross was the civil rights legislation. He was the Southerner who became the champion of the Blacks.

He was the man who one day, at the Twin Falls Airport, took time to shake the hands of members of the Kimberly High School Band who met his plane. The Twin Falls High School Band - rather the powers that controlled it then - refused the invitation to go to the field.

He was demanding, stubborn, and insisted that his program be carried out. He did not always win, but he never gave an inch until he decided to leave the Presidency ahead of his time.

His was the story of the poor American boy who reached the top. He had known hunger, he had known poverty and he had known hard work on his way up.

Now Lyndon Johnson is dead. He will rest in the soil of Texas from whence he sprung. His friends will miss him. The minorities of our Nation thank him for what he did for them.

Like we said - he came along and he did what he thought was best, what he was able to do, for this Nation of ours. But, also as we said, he was on-top at a time when heroes were not popular.

WASHINGTON - A prominent Midwestern judge thinks the time has come to sharply curb federal judges who, having lifetime tenure, are high-handedly exercising virtually limitless authority. Chief Justice Norman Arterburn, of the Indiana Supreme Court, in a letter to Sen. Harry Byrd (Independent-Va.), strongly endorses his constitutional amendment which, in effect, would limit the terms of all federal judges by requiring them to be reconfirmed by the US Senate every eight years. If denied such approval, they would be retired with full pay.

He underwent a drastic change of mind for a profoundly significant reason. "It appears to me," the distinguished Indiana jurist wrote Sen. Byrd, "that more federal judges and particularly members of the U. S. Supreme Court have overstepped the bounds of constitutional law, got into the legislative field, imposing their ideas as to public policy and goal legislation on the people of the country." Chief Justice, Arterburn makes it clear he is especially outraged by the extremities of the U. S. Supreme Court. "I prefer particularly to acts of the U. S. Supreme Court," declares Chief Justice Arterburn, "in changing the Constitution as of a certain time - denying retroactivity without going through the amending process provided in the Constitution. I think it is a violation of their oath of office."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Body To Science

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been trying without success to find out where I may go to will my body to science so somebody may benefit from the various parts of my body that will no longer be of use to me - R. B. Dear Doctor: I know how to leave my body to medical research, and it is acceptable to my close relatives and church, but there seems to be a difference of opinion on its value. I will leave mine to the medical school but not unless it is a really worthwhile idea. There are three worthwhile uses for bodies left to science. 1. Parts may be used for transplants (i.e. kidneys, eyes, etc.) only the corner is used, bone for grafts. 2. If the person had a rare or puzzling disease, an autopsy may put at rest questions disturbing the family. But it is rare, indeed, that something of value is not learned by physicians, researchers and other members of the health team, including students. 3. There is a continuing need for bodies by medical schools. There is no way to study the human body nearly as good as dissecting one. Teams of from two to six medical students are assigned to a body. Other bodies are needed for postgraduate study in the various specialties, and for paramedical studies such as occupational therapy, physiology, dentistry, and others. So yes, it's a very worthwhile idea, and the need still exceeds the supply. How many newspaper articles have you read that said, "Notified that a kidney was available, the patient went into the hospital. There are two principal ways in which the body can be left to science. My mother will be 80 this year. She has poor circulation but otherwise is well for her age. When I visited her this year she said she had been having treatments from a dermatologist for keratosis on her face. Does this have anything to do with her poor circulation?" If M. P. None at all. A keratosis is a sort of horny thickening of the skin in one spot or another, and since these spots sometimes can be pre-cancerous, it is wise to have a dermatologist or other physician attend to them.

Private Records

A taxpayer cannot prevent her accountant from surrendering her income records to the Internal Revenue Service by arguing that the records might incriminate her. This is another opinion confusing to laymen just issued by the Supreme Court.

IRS claims its personnel is kept low because it depends on the honesty of the taxpayer. With so many taxpayers on withholding this could make sense. The taxpayer has little choice. But it could be argued that on its face this latest Supreme Court decision will promote bureaucracy.

The instructions given the taxpayer by the IRS are filled with the jargon of bureaucracy, bringing more and more taxpayers into contact with accountants for interpretation. There is an implied confidentiality here. Income is usually associated with privacy. What the Supreme Court has said is, not always.

It's another of those opinions which the lower courts will have to resolve for themselves, thus producing future appeals to the high court. Said Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. in the majority opinion: "Situations may well arise where constructive possession (by the taxpayers) is so clear or the relinquishment of possession is so temporary and insignificant as to leave the personal compulsions on the accused substantially intact."

And situations may well arise where the opposite is true.

Heaven Forbid

WASHINGTON - Heaven forbid I should be caught dead endorsing the basic philosophies of Supreme Court Justices William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, but they lost a legitimate argument to their colleagues the other day.

The Court did its proper duty in ruling unanimously that black defendants in state criminal trials are entitled to have prospective jurors asked whether they have any racial prejudices. But in a partial dissent, Douglas and Marshall vainly held that a judge should also ask prospective jurors if they had a bias against beards. The other seven justices concluded that a judge's refusal to inquire about such a prejudice was not a "constitutional violation."

Involved was the due process clause of the 14th Amendment, and I suggest that given the times in which we live Douglas and Marshall had a valid point.

It is a fact of life that some people - sometimes including their own friends - take a dim view of folks who opt for hirsute adornment of their features. Because a beard has become the badge of many so-called "radicals," not to say individuals with whose politics Middle America happens to disagree, the nose who sneezes the word is often viewed with distaste. A rather large proportion of the public tends to dismiss him with terms like "weirdo."

Or, as Douglas aptly put it, prejudice against hair growth symbolizes for some people "an undesirable life style characterized by unreliability, dishonesty, lack of moral values, communalistic tendencies and the assumption of drug use."

The general public may be right about some or even all these judgments, but that's irrelevant in a courtroom. Quite aside from the fact that a lot of bearded males parade a markedly scorned as to approach the tedious, I do not wish even a dope pusher to be convicted, merely because he was unwise enough to appear for trial with a beard.

If the guy is innocent, or even if he is guilty, I want the jury to judge him on the evidence, not on his appearance. Thus, I agree with Marshall that makes no difference to a defendant whether he has been prejudged for skin color or hair length.

The idea, after all, is to give a defendant as fair a trial as possible. It is no good arguing that there is no constitutional issue involved - We live in the times that prevent, but at the times we would choose, and there is no gaudy saying the fact that our times have produced new prejudices that could affect a defendant's trial. Bias is bias, and I should not like to see the national president of the Elks tried by a jury containing an individual who hates all Elks.

Included in such a case I'm sure any judge would carefully interrogate the would-be jurors to uncover any Elk-haters, and I can only hope that most judges likewise are on the lookout for beard-haters. Unfortunately, even some judges are paranoid about hair growth.

The Gamble

WASHINGTON (NEA) - President Nixon is gambling that if he can control just several thousand major firms, he can regulate inflation. He is gambling further that he can, in fact, control those several thousand concerns.

In private talks, this reporter has been surprised at the spread of economists, conservative and liberal, in and out of the administration, who believe the Nixon theory has some logic.

The influence of the major companies is, of course, considerable. First, in the percentage of total national production they control in a number of key fields.

Second, in the strong competitive position held by the larger firms. As a top administration economist puts it, if an influential company holds its prices down, very few firms can afford to raise prices appreciably.

Third, in the psychological example these big publicized companies set. The theory is that the "small boys" will see that the "big boys" are practicing price restraint, and come to believe the government's price and wage controls are effective and that the administration men must have some real clout (or the "big boys" wouldn't stay in line).

By the above logic, however, it is clear that if control of these few thousand major firms does not succeed, or if the success is mushy, Phase III will fall flat. Therefore it is wise at this time to determine what power Mr. Nixon has over the nation's major industrialists and their marketing organizations.

Basically, Mr. Nixon has four weapons: - The bulk of these super companies depend directly or indirectly and rather heavily on government contracts, either military or civilian. Here then is a very strong pressure point if Mr. Nixon's men have the will to carry through.

The big companies are especially vulnerable to repeated checks of their books, their operations, their methods of setting prices and to investigations of collusion. They are so few in number the government can afford this repetitive checking. They are vulnerable to the publicity which surrounds government-instituted court cases and to the bad press which follows government announcements of illegitimate price boosts. Harassment of a large company skirting the law can be very effective. But here again, effectiveness depends on the will of administration enforcers.

As has been widely publicized, the government can step in at any time and order price rollbacks. The major value here is the shock to industry as a whole - if the administrators have the will to step hard and fast. It is recognized that if major U.S. firms make a concerted rush for higher prices, an attempt to roll back prices across the board will be futile.

MR. SPECTATOR

Time To Get Ready

GROUNDHOG DAY FEB. 2

We thought we should warn you plenty in advance so you can get out from under the covers and look for Mr. Groundhog a week from Friday.

That's the day - so they say - when the little fellow comes up out of his "hole home" and stands upright. If he casts no shadow then spring is just around the corner. But if he sees his shadow then there should be six more weeks of winter - at least.

In Idaho, because of a lack of Groundhogs, we probably will look at Rock Chucks, which live in numbers along the Snake River Canyon rim and who run over a lot of the course down at the Blue Lakes Country Club. But in any event don't say we didn't warn you plenty in advance. We almost forgot to mention it but he looks for his shadow at noon - so you should be up and moving about by then.

SHOCKED

Mr. Spectator received a note from Mrs. Blanche Hernandez of 501 Fifth Avenue North. The other day she looked out the window and there on her lawn were two robins. Really! Her comment: "Must be that the weather is the crazy one."

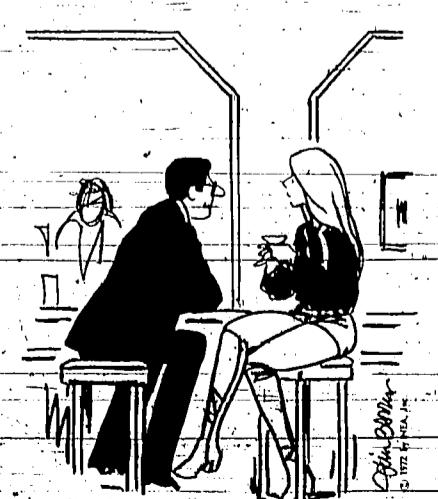

AN EVENT

Did you know that they have discovered a skull-and-leg bones in Kenya estimated to be at least 2.6 million years old? It raises more uncertainties about the origins of man. In fact it might now be some sort of fact that man's birthday may have been 1.5 million years earlier than generally believed. Actually, the fossil record for what is believed to be modern man's line of evolution is fairly complete going back at least two million years and some specimens date back 5.5 million years. So with that, why not enjoy your old age?

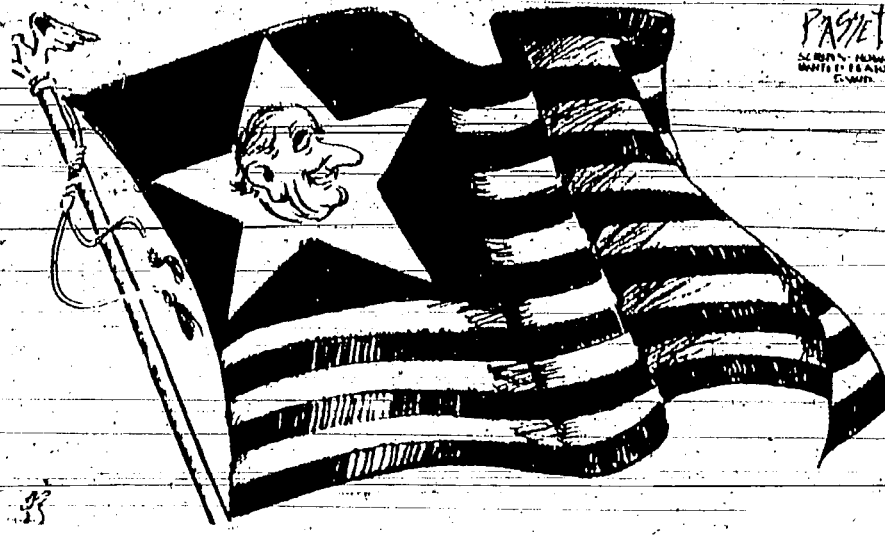

TODAY'S CHUCKLE:

Probably the biggest advantage of success lies in the fact that you don't have to listen to good advice any more.

BERRY'S WORLD

Hill battle continues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The end of the war in Vietnam does not mean the beginning of peace between President Nixon and Congress.

The legislative warfare will continue but the main battles will now come on the domestic front.

The Vietnam peace agreement removes, however, what Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield calls the "most vital area of division and dissent" that has poisoned relationships between Congress and the White House.

Overall, Mansfield feels that the peace "will better his Nixon relations with Congress but the domestic problems will remain."

The first of these problems mentioned by Mansfield is the insistence by Nixon to impound selected funds approved by Congress.

There are other problems, such as cutbacks in agriculture programs, housing, the dismantling of the office of economic opportunity, and others.

And one of the biggest battles could come over the so-called "peace dividend" — the $1 or $2 billion a year now being spent on the war.

"I would imagine there would be some peace dividend," Mansfield said, "but I do not know how much" would be channeled into domestic programs.

Mansfield expects some of it will be used for a program of rehabilitation for Indochina and others on Capitol Hill will insist that the dividend remain unspent and be used to cut the budget deficit.

But there are many others on Capitol Hill, especially among liberal Democrats, who will demand that the "peace dividend" go into the domestic programs Nixon is cutting back or into the freeing of the impounded funds.

Another battle carried over from the war could come when Nixon asks for military and economic aid plus the money for what is expected to be a "massive rehabilitation" program in Indochina.

TF man held on battery

TWIN FALLS — Gaylen L. Carson, 20, Twin Falls, was arrested Tuesday by Twin Falls police on charges of assault and battery.

Carson is accused of hitting a Twin Falls man and a woman with a cue stick on Jan. 4. Bail has been set at $150.

Wins round

BOISE — (UPI) — An administration proposal to merge the departments of health and welfare cleared its first hurdle in the legislature Wednesday when a house committee voted to introduce it.

There was no opposition to the move to send the legislation across the desk to the printing committee when it came before the house health and welfare committee.

Measure reversing decision proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. Frank Church has a hand in legislation to reverse the Administration's decision to end low-interest public loans for rural electric and telephone service.

He said Wednesday the Nixon Administration announced plans to replace the government loans for FEERA's with private loans much higher in interest costs.

He said FEERA's were responsible for bringing electricity and phone service to much of the countryside at moderate rates.

He termed the Administration's action "just one more in a series of decisions designed to make rural America bear the brunt of its efforts to cut federal spending."

The legislation, which he is co-sponsoring, would direct the administration to make loans each fiscal year in the full amount appropriated by Congress.

Japan wages

TOKYO (UPI) — Wage increases granted by Japanese firms during the annual spring labor negotiations this year averaged 9.302 yen (about $30) per month per worker, according to the Japan Federation of Employers' Associations.

It said Wednesday the Nixon Administration announced plans to replace the government loans for FEERA's with private loans much higher in interest costs.

He said FEERA's were responsible for bringing electricity and phone service to much of the countryside at moderate rates.

Panel rejects opinion

BOISE (UPI) — The house judiciary committee refused to accept Wednesday an attorney general's opinion that Idaho cannot rescind its ratification of the equal rights amendment and called for more advice.

In an opinion requested by Rep. Patricia J. McDermott, D-Porterville, Assistant Atty. Gen. Donald E. Kemekrehn said two relevant cases he studied indicate that "ratification by a state is a final action which cannot be repealed or revised."

"We have found no other authority on the constitutional question you have presented," Kemekrehn wrote Miss McDermott.

"We must therefore conclude that once a state acts through its legislative process to ratify a proposed amendment to the United States Constitution, it has cast its one vote and exhausted its power to affect the course of the proposed amendment."

"Subsequent attempts by the same state legislature to retract or appeal its prior ratification would be of no legal effect," he said.

Idaho was among the first states to ratify the 26th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution after congress put it before the states last year.

Then, at the start of this legislative session Rep. Ralph Gines, R-Nampa, talked the judiciary committee into introducing a joint resolution to rescind that ratification — saying a lot of people have changed their minds. A hearing on that resolution is scheduled for Feb. 5.

In an extraordinary committee meeting, called while the house still was in session, Chairman E. Don Copple, R-Boise, gave copies of Kemekrehn's opinion to the members and asked what they wanted to do.

Rep. Maurice Clemmerts, R-Nampa, suggested it is unfair for the committee to re-examine members of the legislature on the matter and said perhaps other opinions should be sought.

Rep. Ed Rice, R-Boise, made the successful suggestion that the committee seek a protocol opinion from the Congress in Washington. D. C. Loveless said he would go along with this but he got the committee also to continue its plans for a hearing.

Reds admit Viet goal missed

LONDON (UPI) — Communist diplomats, in their first assessment of the Vietnam settlement, concede with surprising bluntness that the peace settlement in Vietnam looks very different from what the communists had set out to achieve.

Ideologically, politically and strategically, the aftermath of the Vietnam battle looks as uncertain to the Communists as it does to Americans and other Western experts.

The end of the war is welcomed universally — it has, however, brought neither tears of joy nor of grief to the eyes of Hanoi's allies.

From initial responses, it is clear that both Moscow and Peking are glad it is over. Vietnam had become costly and counter-productive.

Moreover, the Vietnam war lately became a disturbing element in Chinese and Russian global strategy and policy.

Both had been seeking for their own pressing reasons a rapprochement with the United States for some time past, but had felt inhibited by the impact of their own years of propaganda against American "imperialism" in Vietnam.

The cost also has been heavy, though nothing compared with the American expense in life and money. The war has unked Hanoi's big allies for years and the propaganda value of support to the fellow communists evaporated as Peking and Moscow began for everybody to see to flirt with Washington.

The cry for American withdrawal has long been muted by unspoken fears among the major Communist rivals of the power vacuum the American pullout is likely to cause in the far east.

The ideological split between Moscow and Peking also had put a different complexion on Hanoi's struggle.

The two Communist super-powers find themselves, now that the war has come to an end, faced with the problem of openly and sharply conflicting interests for influence and power in Asia.

Their differences, strong even while the war was in progress, are likely to become deeper, more accentuated and more acute.

Hanoi, which took their arms, aid and money, rarely took their advice. On the few occasions when it did pay attention to it, it did so with the utmost reluctance and grudge.

In the immediate excitement following the end of the war, little attention has so far been put on what will happen in Hanoi, whose disillusionment is hardly likely to strengthen the regime or bud into a passionate love relationship, with its reluctant friends.

Reds admit Viet goal missed

Vietnam fighting shows no let-up

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. warplanes striking throughout South Vietnam and the heaviest Communist shelling in nearly a month spelled no let-up on either side today with an official Vietnam cease-fire less than three days away. Neither U.S. nor South Vietnamese officials made any secret of their intent to keep fighting until the cease-fire takes effect at 8 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. MST Saturday).

"Until Sunday we'll do anything we want," said a Vietnamese official. "There has been no change in mission," said a ranking U.S. officer. UPI correspondent Alan Dawson said North Vietnamese gunners fired 4,000 artillery and mortar shells on South Vietnamese paratroops and marines in a cease-fire sunset Wednesday and sunrise today near the destroyed city of Quang Tri, 435 miles north of Saigon. It was the heaviest shelling this month anywhere in South Vietnam.

U.S. command spokesmen said 298 jet fighter-bombers and 90 B-52 bombers hit Communist positions in South Vietnam in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today. It was the first time the fighter-bomber raids dipped below 300 since President Nixon halted the bombing of North Vietnam Jan. 15.

In other fighting, military sources said North Vietnamese 82mm mortar shells killed two men and wounded five in a 30-round attack today on a government position 25 miles northwest of Saigon near Ben Cat.

Rumors of around-the-clock curfews for South Vietnamese cities as the cease-fire approaches have been spreading for days and the first such curfew was announced today. To no one's surprise, it was for Binh Dinh Province in the Coastal Highlands, which statistically has always been the least "pacified" of South Vietnam's 44 provinces.

Orders from the province chief, Col. Hoang Dinh Tho, were posted throughout the province keeping all people without curfew passes, meaning nearly everyone, at home from 8 p.m. today until 8 a.m. Sunday.

Stars are born

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Three astronomers have discovered what appears to be a nursery field of stars in the process of being born, dominated by a monstrous "cold star" bigger than the solar system.

New stars appear to be condensing out of a cloud of dust and gas, known as W3, located 10,000 light years away, according to the scientists from California Institute of Technology.

Astronomers believe stars emerge from clouds of gas that condense, whirling inward and shrinking to the point where interior heat induces nuclear reactions—which power the star's energy giving rays.

Some believe planets, such as the Earth, are built from the accretion of gas, dust and other debris left over after the star begins to burn.

US will rebuild North Vietnam

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said today Western nations are ready to contribute as much as $10 billion to an American-sponsored postwar aid and construction program in Vietnam. The program, they said, would involve both North and South Vietnam, with some aid also going to Cambodia and Laos.

West Germany, Britain, France and smaller West European countries are prepared to contribute, although the sources said the bulk of the money will come from the United States.

Japan was reported planning a $2 billion rehabilitation fund. The sources said the Soviet Union and China also were ready to make aid for reconstruction in Southeast Asia available but it appears their aid would go chiefly to North Vietnam.

It is hard to envisage an international aid operation with East and West participating, the sources said, although this could make planning and allocation more practical.

So far, there have been no firm commitments by Western countries, but talks are expected to start shortly. Prime Minister Edward Heath, who meets President Nixon in Washington on Feb. 1 and 2, will discuss problems connected with the end of the Vietnam war.

British participation in a forthcoming international conference to guarantee the Vietnam settlement and any aid contribution are likely to play a big part in the Heath-Nixon talks.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt promised reconstruction aid for both parts of Vietnam last week and opposition leader Rainer Barzel supported him.

Mexican officials may grant Haitians asylum

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Authorities said today they will consider asylum requests from three Haitians who won the release of 12 political prisoners and obtained $70,000 in ransom by releasing two U.S. diplomats they held in Port Au Prince.

The Haitian government paid the ransom to the three kidnappers, one of them a former Port Au Prince agent they released on the steps of the Aircraft U.S. ambassador Clinton E. Knox, 64, one of the State Department's highest ranking black career diplomats, and Consul Ward Christensen, 53. Neither man was harmed.

The kidnappers and the freed prisoners arrived in Mexico City late Wednesday.

The three held Knox and Christensen at gunpoint throughout the night Tuesday and demanded freedom for 31 political prisoners and $200,000 ransom in exchange for their release. They settled for 12 prisoners, $70,000 and transportation to Mexico.

They intercepted Knox at the gate of his private residence as he returned home from work in his chauffeur-driven car.

Marcos assumes complete power

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos administered the oath of office today to his martial law cabinet and ordered a more intense campaign against crime, especially a recent wave of kidnappings.

Marcos reappointed his old cabinet secretaries, all of them civilian, and dictated them into office at a simple ceremony at his presidential Malacañang Palace.

Under the new constitution, Marcos assumed the powers of both president and prime minister indefinitely until he decides to call new elections.

ment and an indefinite continuation of martial law. Marcos also has authority to make law by decree.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad, in a speech before military surgeons, defended Marcos' assumption of almost complete power as a means to cure the corrupt "old society" in the Philippines.

"The president did not grab power or assume the position of dictator," Tatad said, "but like a surgeon performed his duty without being disturbed or distracted by internal or external forces to save the patient."

Murderer lectured, sentenced by judge

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — District Judge Charles C. Anderson sentenced a convicted murderer to 101 years in prison Wednesday, but told the man he would have preferred the sentence was death in the Texas electric chair.

"If I had the right I would see that you would never be released in society again," Anderson said. "The state does not give me the authority to pronounce the sentence on you that I would like to."

Throughout the lecture, the convicted man, John E. Swift, 24, gazed at the ceiling in the courtroom, apparently trying to ignore what Anderson was saying.

Swift was convicted earlier in the day of the murder of Kearney, Tex. banker J.C. Hally. The jury deliberated only 30 minutes.

Korean ferry runs aground

SEOUL (UPI) — A 70-ton ferry boat carrying more than 100 passengers ran aground and sank in dense fog off South Korea's southwestern tip today, police said.

A spokesman said 12 bodies were recovered with another 26 persons listed as missing. A rescue operation was continuing.

The ferry Hansung-ho ran aground and went down off Mokpo, 200 miles southwest of Seoul, police said.

Andrus releases audit of agency

 Earlier this week, Murphy was directed by the Senate in a voice vote to secure the report after Sen. Reed-Bridges, R-Soda Springs, told members the management study would help lawmakers in certain decisions concerning the board.
 Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has refused to make the report public since it was put together last summer by the Department of Administrative Services.
 In a letter to Murphy, Andrus said, "I strongly believe that a report designed to strengthen a department's eficiency and service to people should be used for that purpose alone—not to generate sensational headlines."

 Murphy sent a letter to Acting Director of Administrative Services Robert Lenaghep Tuesday demanding a copy of the management study.
 The matter was referred to the governor's office.
 "Pursuant to your request to the Office of Administrative Services and referred to me, I have delivered to your aide, the management study," Andrus said in the letter.

He said the management study was "conducted in good faith," with no intent to impugn the reputation of character of any of the individuals involved.
 "A study of this nature is conducted to seek improvement and may appear negative," the Governor said, "releasing it is therefore unfair for those who are mentioned within."
 The Governor closed the letter by saying he had maintained the confidentiality of the study's contents and public dissemination of the document did not meet his approval.

Request OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — After a brief discussion, the house approved 64-0 and sent to the senate Wednesday a joint memorial asking Congress to replace the American Falls Dam as soon as possible.
 Rep. Steve Antonio, R-Rupert, one of several sponsors of the proposal, pointed out that the dam is deteriorating and that the reclamation bureau does not believe it meets safety standards.
 Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, said the dam provides the only crossing of the Snake River in that area of the state for a distance of some 80 miles.

Committee given Gem revamp plan

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
 BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Ed Rice, R-Boise, put before the House Agriculture Committee Wednesday an eight-page bill to reorganize the executive branch of state government into 14 agencies.
 A move to introduce the measure was set back after Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craig, pointed out the administration had no chance to look at it.
 It therefore was held for consideration again on Friday.

 "This is something that can be started right now," Rice said in an interview after the committee meeting. "We don't have to have a big expensive study."
 But he said reorganization will have to be what he termed "a continuing thing."
 Under a constitutional amendment ratified by the electorate last Nov. 7 the Legislature must regroup the executive branch of state government

Lottery bill reported out

BOISE (UPI) — A resolution proposing a constitutional change allowing state-operated lotteries in Idaho was reported out of the Senate State Affairs committee members. Lotteries have been banned in Idaho under the constitution as it was drafted and approved in 1890.

City referendum bill clears House

BOISE (UPI) — A bill to give all cities in the state the rights of initiative and referendum but increase the number of voter signatures on the petitions survived a stormy ride in the house Wednesday.
 Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, steered the measure to passage, 48-20, despite contentions the signature increase would make it almost impossible to put the rights into operation.
 A former American Falls mayor, Wheeler said city governments are those closest to the people in the United States.
 "If no city council member will sponsor a piece of legislation can it be that good?" Wheeler asked.
 At present, the initiative and referendum rights are limited to cities having a population of 15,000 or more. To get a special election petitions bearing the names of 25 per cent of those who cast ballots in the last election must be presented.
 Wheeler's bill eliminates the population requirement but stiffens the petition requirement to 25 per cent of the registered voters instead of just 25 per cent of those who cast ballots.

 Rep. Wayne Tibbitts, R-Lorenzo, said this amounted to doubling the signature requirement.

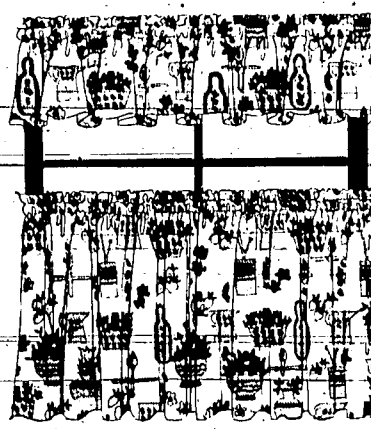

Funds available

BOISE (UPI) — Applications for loans to farmers who need operating capital this year are being accepted at field offices of the Farmers Home Administration.
 State FHA Director Donald Winder says that nearly $3.5 million of the third quarter allotment for Idaho is available to eligible applicants.

Rural housing project urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Rural Housing Alliance (RHA) Tuesday urged the Administration to provide "parity of parity" for the rural poor by reopening a housing subsidy program.

Clay L. Cochran, RHA Executive Director, said in a letter to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Buttz that a recent freeze on new subsidized housing credit - applying on its face to both rural and urban building - actually discriminates against rural areas and small towns.

Cochran pointed out that in urban areas, subsidized housing starts will continue at current rates for 18 months despite the freeze on new applications because there is a large backlog of old requests on hand. But no such backlog existed in the Rural Housing Program operated by the Farmers Home Administration and there will be practically no assisted rural housing starts after next April," RHA experts said.

Cochran told Buttz the Administration should, as a minimum, give poor rural homesteaders the same treatment being given the urban poor by providing continuation of new subsidized housing starts over the next 18 months at the same annual rate achieved last year - 70,000 units. This would require authorizing the Farmers Home Administration to resume approval of subsidized single-family and rental housing loans, farm labor housing loans, and several grant programs, Cochran said.

"The least the administration can do is to bring parity of parity to low income rural families by giving them the same type of interim assistance urban families are receiving," he said.

Beware

WEST POINT, Calif. (UPI) - "Beware of Rooster" is what the sign should read on Grant Sullens' chicken coop.

Inside is Weirto, a 22-pound rooster which has killed two cats and crippled a dog that bothered him.

The rooster, about three times as large as a normal one, is the end-product of eight years of chicken-breeding by Sullens, a high school senior who plans to sell his flock and go to college.

The strain of "super-chickens" was produced after the teen-ager crossed seven varieties and raised 5,000 of the birds.

Military alerted to receive as many as 400 POW patients

AGANA, Guam (UPI) - Vietnam conflict two years ago. Also on alert is the naval air station, just 10 minutes drive from the Navy hospital.

Provisions also are being made to accommodate a large contingent of medical specialist patients, some of them possibly by this weekend, military sources said today.

The Navy hospital here has a normal capacity of 300 beds, but can be expanded to accommodate as many as 650 patients.

In addition there is an annex which accommodated nearly 900 patients at the peak of the Medical bag stolen

TWIN FALLS - A Twin Falls orthopedic assistant reported a stolen medical bag to Twin Falls police Tuesday.

Sam Austin told police the bag was removed after his car was forebly entered. He said it contained special instruments and tools but no medical drugs.

He estimated the value of the stolen goods at $224.

Medicare coverage extended

(Fourth in a Series)

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington
Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(N.E.A.)—For the first time in its short history, the Medicare program designed originally to help pay hospital and related costs for ailing elderly Americans is being broadened to include some people below the age of 65.

Beginning in July, 1973, Medicare coverage will be extended to persons regardless of their age, who were getting disability payments under Social Security for two years or more by that date. There is a key reason for this extension. The 17 million severely disabled people presently covered by Social Security require seven times as much hospital care and three times as much doctor care as the rest of the U.S. population.

Social Security authorities before too long will provide further direct information for those persons who may qualify under this 1972 change in the law.

Most people affected won't have to take any action right away. But some widows 50 years or older who have been severely disabled for the past two years have not filed disability claims, as they could, under Social Security. Instead they have been drawing survivors checks as mothers caring for young or disabled children. To become eligible for Medicare, they must see their Social Security office and apply instead for disabled widows benefits.

Also after July 1, 1973, Medicare will be available to people under 65 who need hemodialysis treatments or kidney transplants for chronic kidney disease. This affects only some 11,000 people a year, but the aid will be helpful because dialysis treatments are very costly.

Other changes in Medicare clearly "extended care coverage" (post-hospital care in a nursing home), to provide guaranteed coverage for a certain number of days of care, depending on the specific illness. Up to now, considerable confusion has existed about the nature and extent of care under this provision.

Medicare of course has two parts — hospital insurance and so-called medical insurance, covering doctor bills and some other charges. Enrollment for hospital insurance is automatic for qualified persons reaching age 65.

However, those wanting medical insurance had to take positive enrollment steps at specified times. Under new laws, enrollment for this coverage, too, will become automatic in 1973, unless a person chooses not to be so enrolled.

People who "opt out" of medical insurance can change their minds and get into the program. So can persons who have been ineligible because they earlier failed to enroll within prescribed three-year limits (now abolished). But all those not enrolled automatically must follow established enrollment procedures.

Previously, persons reaching 65 but not qualified under Social Security or Railroad Retirement were ineligible for hospital insurance. Beginning next July 1, they'll be able to enroll for such insurance under the same terms applying to people who enroll for medical insurance. If these people do enroll under this new feature, they must also sign up for medical insurance. They will be asked to pay the full cost of this total protection, and charges will rise as costs for services advance.

A huge array of changes in the law are designed to establish better means for controlling health service costs of all kinds, and for measuring the quality and necessity of services.

Elder man said fair

TWIN FALLS — A Eiler man was in fair condition Wednesday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following surgery for injuries received a week ago.

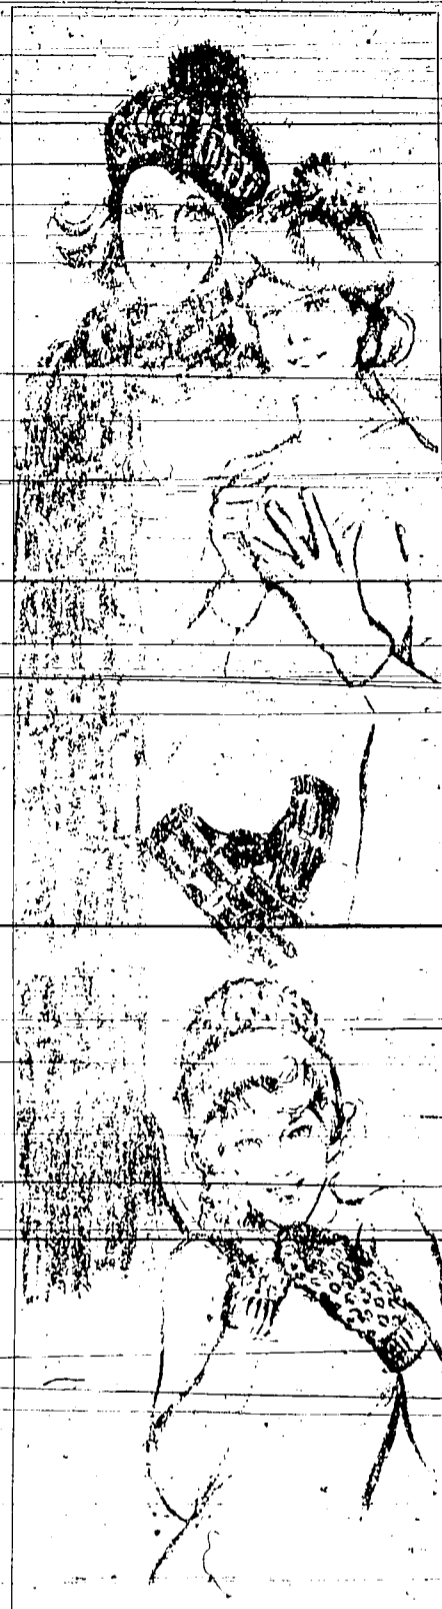

Paul Larick, 75, underwent surgery Tuesday for facial injuries and fractures from an accident on Jan. 17 near the US 30-Highway 93 junction east of Eiler.

Minnie Larick, 50, Larick's wife, was more severely injured in the accident, which occurred when the Larick car skidded on a patch of black ice and left the road, smashing into a tree.

Mrs. Larick was transferred to St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise on Friday to be under the care of a neurosurgeon.

She reportedly remains in critical condition with a fractured skull and other injuries.

Mitosis is a long, drawn out process making more cells by division and making more Swensen's Mkts. is about the same process. We divided up the money and divided up the Swensens, and then divided up some more money (that's pretty small division by now) and then the bank divided up some of its money (sigh) and finally we ended up with another Swensen's Mkt.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please warn girls against hitchhiking rides with men. Girls who get into a car with a strange man are just begging for trouble, but there is another side to it which few people consider.

My husband has a problem he has been trying to overcome for six years. It's a compulsion to expose himself to young women. He is not a rapist; he only does this to get a thrill from their reaction. He has never touched a girl, though many have encouraged him to go further. One of these girls reported him to the police and he is now facing the possibility of having to leave me and our three small children for a jail term on a charge of indecent exposure.

I am not condemning his actions, but he has finally faced his problem and is getting psychiatric treatment. He is a good husband and provider, and the children adore him and so do I. I plan to help him thru this crisis, but I need help from everyone else of my sex.

Risky business

Abby, please ask girls not to hitchhike with strange men. They may be giving someone who is trying to go straight an opportunity to stray again, and the price is paid by his family.

WORRIED FOR MY HUSBAND

DEAR WORRIED: I agree, hitchhiking is a risky business for all concerned. While I appreciate your understanding attitude and your empathy to your husband, he cannot shift the responsibility for his compulsion to the girls who are foolish enough to hitchhike with him. He is doing the right thing in facing up to his problem and getting psychiatric treatment. But public sympathy is more on the side of the hitchhikers than the man with such a problem.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sleeps all over the bed. He rolls on top of me or pushes me off the bed in his sleep. He sleeps so soundly it's impossible to wake him up if I ask him to please roll over, he does—on me!

The next morning he doesn't remember a thing. All his life he's had a full-sized bed to himself, and he's accustomed to sleeping that way without giving anybody else a thought. We have been married for two years and I haven't had a good night's sleep yet.

We are buying new bedroom furniture and I want twin beds. He says he isn't ready for that yet, and he wants a king-sized bed. What is your advice?

SLEEPYTIME GAL

DEAR GAL: Compromise. Get the twin beds with a single headboard. That way you'll each have your own mattress. And if you can get the kind that "saw" apart, by all means do. I have an idea you may need them.

DEAR ABBY: Another miserable holiday season has passed, and I made a New Year's resolution that rather than be in the middle of another power struggle between my parents and my in-laws, my husband and I are going to take a trip somewhere and not spend Thanksgiving and Christmas with either.

We started to "alternate," spending one Thanksgiving with one set of parents and Christmas with the other. The biggest problem was my mother. She felt that if she couldn't have all her children with her every holiday, she was neglected. My in-laws were willing to accept the every-other-year decision.

Last Thanksgiving was the last straw. After driving 300 miles to spend Thanksgiving with my mother, she said, "I wish you'd come for Christmas, too. Next year I may be dead, and then you'll be sorry you didn't."

Now, how could I go to my in-laws for Christmas and enjoy myself with that kind of goody?

HAD IT IN IOWA

DEAR HAD IT: I don't know. But why punish your in-laws because your mother is selfish?

Mordred continued with the jack. Lancelot won that trick and discarded a low spade. Then he led out seven rounds of trumps and the ace of spades.

That ace of spades cooked Mordred's goose. He had to unguard his king of clubs in order to hold two hearts and Lancelot made the last three tricks with dummy's good heart and the ace and queen of clubs.

Not at all, said Lancelot. You could have led the king of clubs of trick two and set me.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Lancelot the prince knight and bridge player looked at his partner Duff and the worst player of the roundtable. They were vulnerable and a five-diamond bid would insure the rubber, but there ought to be a good play for six or even seven.

Lancelot decided to forget about the grand slam and rather than confuse Duff and Lancelot leaped right to six diamonds.

The Wily Mordred, sitting West, opened the queen of hearts and Lancelot had the doubtful pleasure of looking at the worst possible dummy.

DEAR ABBY: I sure hope that lady who said she and her husband didn't have any sex relations for more than 12 years doesn't find out like I did that SHE was going without, but her husband wasn't. My husband was being "served" by a waitress for six years, and all the time I felt so sorry for him. I thought he lost his manhood because he had had a prostate operation. We're divorced now, so it doesn't matter anymore, but some wives can be too trusting.

TF teacher writes drama textbook

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls teacher is the author of a new speech and drama textbook for junior high students.

Written by Fran Averett Tanner, now chairman of speech and drama at the College of Southern Idaho, the book, "Creative Communication," was published this month by Clark Publishing Co., Pocatello.

Aimed specifically at junior high school students, the text incorporates creative theater, speech and oral interpretation and presents a variety of activity projects for the students.

Illustrations throughout the book are by Forrest Newlin, a former ISU assistant professor of drama who is now theater designer and technical director at Kansas State College, Emporia.

Mrs. Tanner, a 1955 high honors graduate of Idaho State University, has also taught at Everett College, Wash.; Boise State College, and at ISU's adult education center in Twin Falls.

In her present post as professor of speech and drama at CSI she directs plays, coaches forensics and teaches speech, interpretation and drama classes. She is currently serving as president of the Interpreter's Theatre Alliance and is the Idaho representative for the Rocky Mountain Theatre Conference.

While at ISU she was active in theater and received the university's Outstanding Actress Award. She was president of Alpha Omicron Pi, national social sorority, and held various offices in Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity, Spurs, Octagon, Silver Tassel (now Mortar Board), Kappa Delta Epsilon and Lambda Delta Sigma.

After graduating from ISU with a B.A. degree in drama, Mrs. Tanner received a Fulbright scholarship for a year's study of theater in England. While at the British Drama League she earned an associate of the drama board degree, which qualified her to teach drama in Great Britain. In 1958 she earned a master of arts degree in speech at the University of Washington, and she has done additional graduate work at the University of Denver.

She is also the author of "Basic Drama Projects," originally published in 1966 by Clark Publishing Co. and revised in 1972. A textbook that has been adopted for use by more than 2,200 high schools and junior colleges. "Basic Drama Projects" has sold more than 120,000 copies in the U.S., Canada and several foreign countries.

Active in community affairs, Mrs. Tanner was selected as one of the Outstanding Young Women of America in 1967 and received an Outstanding Educator of America award in 1971.

She and her husband, Marion, reside in Hansen. He is the owner of Tanner's Manufacturing Jewelers, Twin Falls.

Queens feted

TWIN FALLS — Three month queens were crowned at a meeting of Idaho TOPS Chapter No. 3 Tuesday at the home of Nellie Horejs.

Crowned were Brenda Overman, Stork Club, and Wanda Mori, division 4. Judy Bement, Stork Club, and Roberta Dunlap, division 4, were runners-up.

Minerva Smith, IJ Simmons and Esta Barlogi received KOPS charms. Perfect attendance gifts were awarded to Minerva Smith, Ardith Berney, Viola Coontz, Roberta Dunlap, Mildred Eslinger, Patty Hodkins, Ilene LaPray, Cecelia LaPray, Arlene Robbins and Joyanne Stone.

Isabelle Holmes served as mistress of ceremonies and Arlene Robbins gave the invocation.

A Lovelier You

NEW FASHIONS, LONG VIEW

By Mary Sue Miller

Are you a fashion-watcher? It's a rewarding pastime. You soon learn to spot the best of upcoming fashions and what best suits you.

Just to start you looking in the right direction, here are a few daytime spring and summer fashions with a promising future:

- Length: Hemlines never around-the-knee. Minis make the young casual scene again.

- Shape: Mostly slim and very soft. Softness derives from fluid fabrics and uncontrived cuts.

- Dresses: The short-waist-in-all-fabrics and colors is IT. Sweater dresses, chemise-like or belted, gain attention. Matching jackets are having a revival.

- Sweaters: Classic sets, pull and cardigan. In cashmere, if you have a rich uncle. Sweater blouses display dolman sleeves, ribbed waists and a deep plunge at the neckline.

- Body Shirts: On the "wanted" list are the classic and the raffish.

- Pants: Legs range from neat and straight in white ducks to billowing bottoms in palazzo.

- Skirts: A plethora of pleats, flairs and fullness. Watch straight, slim skirts contend for leadership. Watch peasant dirndls, too.

- Suits: Long jackets in soft suits, jackets and shirts of different colors or tints.

- Coats: Skinny with shirred or drawstring waists. Tents with short sleeves.

- Colors and Fabrics: Navy is basic; pinks are small pastels; never paler or prittier. White and more white. Fabrics: knits, linen and linen look, crepes, jerseys, sheers, pongees, twills, lacy tweeds.

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leather, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Peggy stars in valley ice concert

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News writer
SUN VALLEY — Vaudeville with a zing, wrapped around a tight core of diverse talents. That's the Peggy Fleming Show, "A Concert on Ice," scheduled to open in Sun Valley Friday and to continue through Monday.

The press was given a special preview of the show as the troupe performed at Harrah's, Lake Tahoe, Nev. Following the Sun Valley appearance, the show will travel to Europe.

The show combines skating and non-skating acts with a cast of about 20 personalities, welded to the concert theme with the background blend of a 17-piece orchestra.

For the Sun Valley performance, the show will be set in the sound, staged on the show's portable ice rink which is fed by its own refrigeration system.

Miss Fleming's skating glides from the modern dance step of the opening number, through the mood-softening "Song Sung Blue" featuring blue shaded costumes, to the more traditional "Swan Lake" when she is joined by Paul Sibley and "A Concert on Ice" is converted into a symphony on ice.

Pairs skaters, Cathy Steele and Willy Bietak, cut a brisk, enthusiastic performance with Eric Walto providing the comic gymnastics and proving that carpet is as suitable as ice for skating.

Sun Valley regular Walt Wagner's mellow sound with rock peaks met cheered audience approval, clipping his usual 33-minute long "McArthur Park" to an intense several minutes. Another Valley regular, Mike Neun, caught a good response with longed-in-cheek, strummed humor!

The Willis Slaters blended the program with a smooth song riddle.

Seven shows are scheduled for the Continental Conference Room of the Sun Valley Inn: two on Friday evening at 7 and 9 p.m.; two on Saturday at 7 and 10 p.m.; two on Sunday at 5 and 9 p.m.; and one on Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are available for unreserved seats which will be occupied on a first-come-first-served basis. They can be purchased through the "Concert on Ice" office in the administration offices of the Sun Valley Lodge (telephone 622-4111, Ext. 2137) or at the following branches of First Security Bank of Idaho: Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Burley, Jerome, Gooding, Halley, Ketchum, Sun Valley, Rupert, Caldwell, Nampa, Payette, Weiser, Blackfoot and Montpelier.

"A CONCERT on Ice" starring Peggy Fleming is scheduled to open in Sun Valley Friday and continue through Monday. Seven shows are scheduled for the Continental Conference Room of the Sun Valley Inn.

Mental health funds frozen, board told

TWIN FALLS — All mental health center money has been frozen by the Nixon administration, the regional mental health board was told Tuesday night.

Elsie Ho, Regional 10, National Institute of Mental Health, told the Region 5 Mental Health Center advisory board that "you should encourage as much citizen participation as possible in assessing needs of your area and designing programs which are workable."

She stressed the need to develop local sources of revenue within the guidelines of both state and federal reorganization of program funding and administration.

"We encourage committees to do exactly what you are doing in planning mental health services," Ms. Ho said.

Also meeting with the board to discuss programs and funding for the community mental health centers grant the group is writing was Dr. Virgil Sterling, Idaho's regional mental health administrator.

He discussed implications of the proposed merger of the Social and Rehabilitative Services and the Department of Environmental Protection and Health.

Regional administrators have been encouraged to integrate services and develop coordination between agencies, he said.

He said the work going on in this region is laying a good groundwork for both mental health services and for cooperation between all agencies providing human services.

Board members agreed to support the concept of reorganization to cooperate with other agency advisory boards in making the transition as smooth as possible.

Dr. Phil Grover, who will be working as state psychologist for the area mental health center, was introduced. He will serve as a consultant to area agencies and also provide direct counseling services for interested individuals.

Steve Dow, psychiatric social worker, will work in Rupert under supervision of the Gateway Mental Health Center, Pocatello.

Annette Abernathy, of the region 5 drug team, discussed the workshop to be presented Friday and Saturday at the Twin Falls Episcopal Church. She encouraged board members and interested citizens to attend.

Don Barlow, program director for the regional mental health program in Twin Falls, reported on a state directors meeting in Boise and discussed ideas for coordination of services on a regional level.

Staff members reviewed their progress in writing the grant and encouraged board mem-

Lawyer referral service listed

TWIN FALLS — Formation of a statewide lawyer referral service sponsored by the Idaho State Bar was announced today by John M. Sharp, Idaho Falls, bar president.

Under the service, persons wishing to consult with a lawyer are given the name of a lawyer willing to consult with them. Then, for a fee of not to exceed $16 for the first half-hour, the lawyer will consult with the person.

The service is designed to stimulate more community interest. Community groups that are interested in hearing about the center program may call 734-5442.

prospective client, to determine what his course of action should be.

After the initial interview, if the lawyer is hired, he will charge his usual fee for professional services.

"We have found that many people just don't know a lawyer," Sharp said. "In this way, the Idaho State Bar can act as a go-between in matching a prospective client with an attorney willing to handle his case."

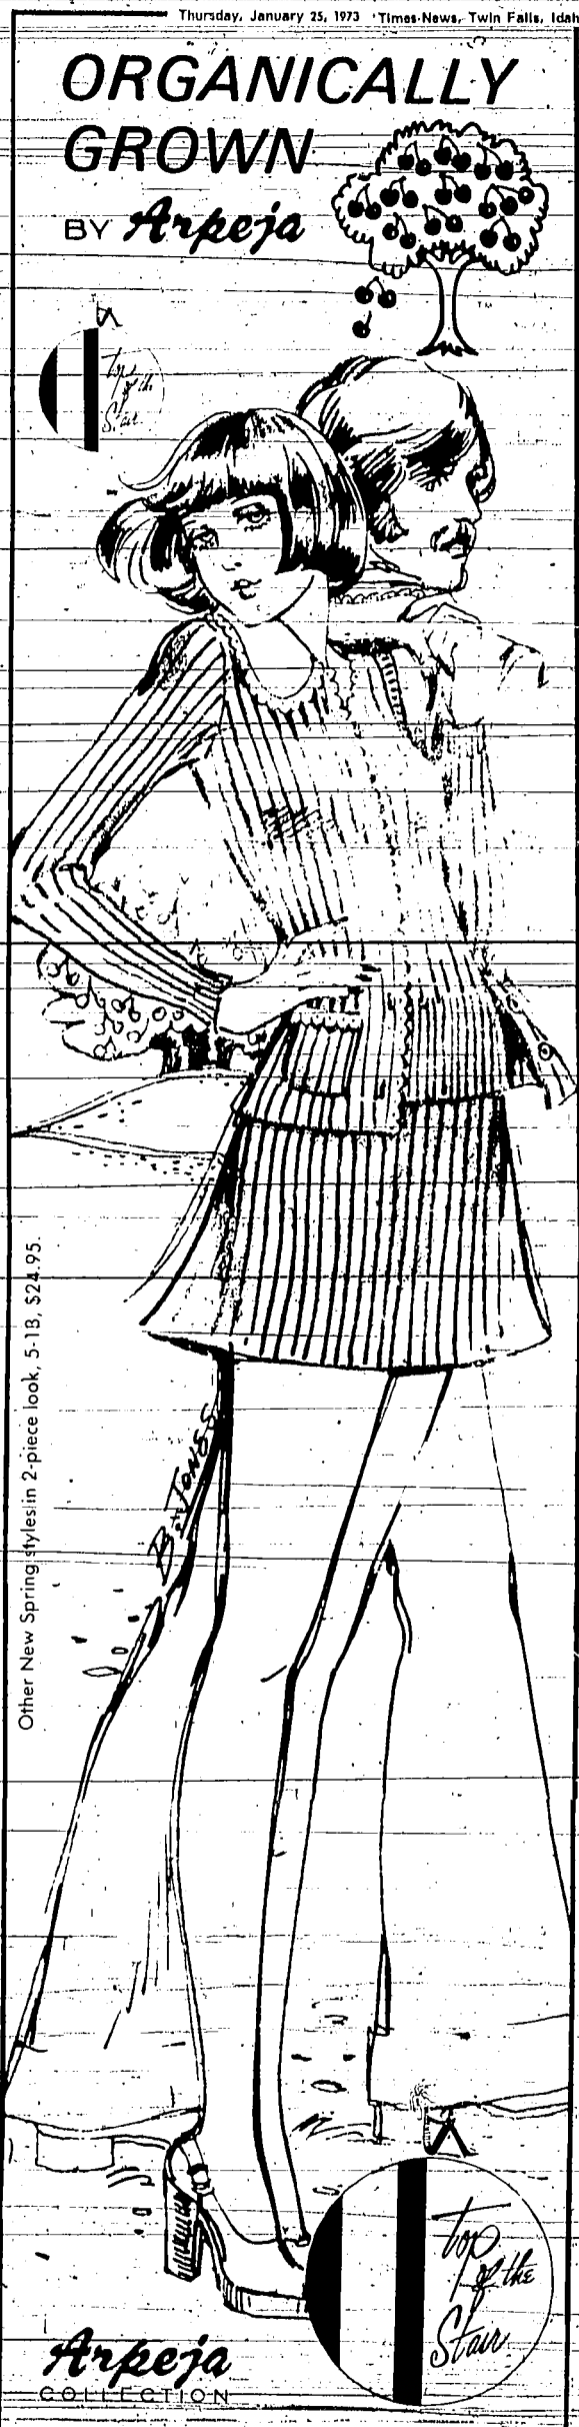

Persons wishing to consult with an attorney may contact the office of the Idaho State Bar in Boise at Phone 342-8958.

Viet prisoners not included

PARIS (UPI) — The United States is about to recover its war prisoners and get out of Vietnam. But all except perhaps a token few of the estimated 145,000 to 200,000 North Vietnamese troops the US army fought to drive out of the South will stay there after the cease-fire.

Western diplomats say perhaps the biggest gamble the United States took in negotiating a settlement was its tacit agreement to allow the bulk of Hanoi's troops to remain in the South.

Throughout the peace talks both secret and semi-public the issue of the Hanoi troops in South Vietnam was a major roadblock to agreement.

In fact, the North Vietnamese negotiators stubbornly refused and still refuse to admit there are any Northern troops in the South at all. At the end of October, after chief U.S. peace negotiator Henry A. Kissinger declared peace was "at hand," South Vietnam's President, Nguyen Van Thieu made a last-ditch bid to block agreement until Hanoi pulled out its troops.

President Nixon is said to have refused to allow this issue to hold up a settlement.

Diplomatic sources say the United States apparently is counting on a number of factors to diminish the potential Communist threat to the Thieu regime:

The stationing of international observers from Canada, Hungary, Indonesia and Poland to watch for cease-fire breaches.

Hanoi's reported pledge to respect the DMZ as a temporary border between the two Vietnams.

The huge quantities of arms delivered by the United States to South Vietnam in the past three months.

The Hanoi government's presumed desire not to lose the financial aid the United States has promised for reconstruction in the North.

Above all, Western diplomats say, there are many indications Hanoi this time also is anxious to end the fighting, at least for the immediate future.

Schools close today

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley schools are closed today to honor President Johnson.

Some schools will remain closed tomorrow because of the flu epidemic and some areas, not hit so hard by the flu, will re-open.

Supt. George Staudaher said the Thursday closure of Twin Falls schools is in President Johnson's honor and that the schools will remain closed Friday because of the flu.

He said absenteeism had reached 15 per cent on Wednesday with over 700 students absent. Administration offices will also be closed Thursday and Friday, Staudaher said.

Classes will resume on Monday, he said.

Gooding Supt. James Muscat said he does not know yet whether Gooding schools will re-open on Friday. He said a decision whether or not to re-open Gooding schools would be made after word is received from health authorities this afternoon.

Reports indicate that more students are ill now than when the schools closed earlier this week, Muscat said.

Jerome schools are closed today in honor of President Johnson, but will re-open Friday, according to school officials.

Cassia County school officials plan to re-open schools Friday after today's closure honoring President Johnson.

According to Mindoka school officials, Minico High and East Minico Junior High will remain closed tomorrow, but other Mindoka schools will re-open following closure today in President Johnson's honor.

Blaine County school officials could not be reached to learn whether schools there will be open tomorrow. All are closed today honoring President Johnson.

Jerome Farm Bureau elects

JEROME — Gordon Hofffield was retained as the president of the Jerome County Farm Bureau Tuesday night.

New officers elected included: Marlin Block, vice president; Lawie Montgomery, secretary-treasurer; and Pat Callen, women's chairman.

New directors elected were Don Atkinson, Del Haatt and Everett Aherns.

Testimony over law conflicts

Saying he represented the Cœur d'Alene Lake Front Property Owners Association, Harmon said his group would have "no objection to a repeal and a fresh start after a full study."

Another witness from Cœur d'Alene said the bill was "obviously unconstitutional," and said the legislature had "created a monster" that should be repealed.

But environmentalists urged the lawmakers to stand firm. Robert Minter, a biologist, told the committee it should "disregard any amendment which would repeal or weaken the original law."

Janet Ward, representing an environmental study group, said the law was protecting the state's fishing resources and urged the legislators to fund the Department of Water Administration to enable it to enforce the law.

Representatives of the mining industry in northern Idaho also spoke at the public hearing. Al Teske, representing the Idaho Mining Association, said that "substantial amendment" was needed to clarify the current law. A representative of the Becka Mining Co. detailed his firm's difficulties in obtaining a stream channel alteration permit in northern Idaho.

The public hearing, the second of the current session of the legislature, was held before a crowd of about 200 persons in the Statehouse at its outset. Hug-inson briefed the group on the impact of the current law and then discussed the proposed amending legislation.

He told the crowd that in the first 18 months since the law has come into effect his department has received 2,155 requests for permits of which 2,133 have been approved.

About two thirds he said had come from north of the Salmon River with a large percentage stemming from a need for timber access roads in northern Idaho.

Hugenson said the intent of the law was to enable the state to control stream channel alterations for the maintenance of water quality and fish and wildlife habitat of the waterway and their environs as well as protect the aesthetic value of the areas.

Last week at a committee meeting of the same joint committee, he urged the legislators to consider whether they intended to permit or prohibit channel alterations with the original law.

Hofffield presented a report on the ad hoc committee and its recommended changing in school financing.

The committee has made 10 different recommendations 15 of which would move all of the financing authority to the state level. The one exception will provide for rapidly growing school districts the authority to levy up to three mills for their increased enrollment.

Hofffield said one of the proposals would increase the participating levy from the present 22 mills to 30 mills to be levied on the state average assessment ratio.

The state constitution says that no more than 30 mills can be levied on property by the state. The 30 mills proposed and the present 22 mills are in my opinion unconstitutional. The state should not have the right to tell local school districts to levy more than the 30 mills which is provided in the state constitution," Hofffield said.

It was unanimously agreed by the present state house bill to pass by the legislature last year should be repealed. The bill gives the local school districts the authority to amend their budgets during the year.

Hofffield said a proposal to amend the bill is now being considered, which if passed would require the school district to give the patrons of the district a week's notice of the proposed change in the budget and would require a public hearing be held before the change could be implemented.

He explained that even with the amendment the County and Community Farm Bureau still are in favor of having the whole bill repealed.

A letter from Monroe Hays, Twin Falls, chairman of the Idaho Farm Bureau tax committee asked for support on the Farm Bureau's stand that taxes should be collected at the county level and not at the state level in regards to school financing.

The letter stated that the general attitude of the legislators and executive leadership in Boise was to collect the taxes at the state level and then return them to the local districts.

Hays asked that Farm Bureau members contact their legislators on the matter.

Health unit sites studied

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer

JEROME — South Central Idaho Health District officials are still seeking a new home.

Board members meeting in Jerome Wednesday afternoon reviewed three alternative plans presented by Dr. Wayne Carte, medical director, and agreed to meet Feb. 27 for a personal inspection of the three sites.

Plans under consideration include remodeling of the American Legion Hall; construction of a new 6,000-square-foot building on Twin Falls County-owned land behind Magic Valley Memorial Hospital; and possible purchase of a five-acre site on Falls Avenue West, now owned by the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Dr. Carte said latest developments on the American Legion property include an offer from the health district to offer to the health district. He said the amount for which it could be purchased is still under negotiation.

The building has been appraised at $51,000 by the legion. Dr. Carte said it would require $50,000 to $60,000 to remodel the structure.

One drawback in using the legion property is the lack of nearby parking space. Dr. Stephen Lincoln, Twin Falls City Council member and health board member, urged the board to consider accepting the legion building as a gift with the provision space be retained in the building for American Legion functions.

He said he believed the city of Twin Falls could help arrange parking within one block or less from the building. The health district would have to lease the parking, he said, but it could probably be made available.

Dr. Carte presented preliminary plans for a new building, which he said could probably be built for $150,000. He said at the requested $1 per capita additional contribution from each of the eight counties in the district, and about $25,000 the district has on hand nearly all of the cost could be covered in 1973 with the remaining $25,000 or so covered by 1974 budgeting.

Dr. Carte also said he has been assured prospects are good this year for obtaining Hill Burton matching money on a small project of this type.

The Seventh Day Adventist property, near the College of Southern Idaho, would provide a good location and adequate room for expansion, he said because of the five acres of land involved.

This would also represent about $150,000 in cost to the district, he said. By purchasing the property, the school building now there could be remodeled for immediate use and added to in the near future to meet the district's 5,000-square-foot requirement, he said.

Dr. Carte said the district would need about $20,000 to bring the building up to standard to meet immediate needs. This would allow the laboratories to be located in the basement and offices and examination rooms in the three main floor classrooms.

Dr. Carte said the district does not have clinic rooms now but these are badly needed and could be provided in the next phase, an addition to the building.

The health district has been located for a number of years in the Twin Falls City Hall but was asked last year to find a new location by Jan. 1, 1974. This deadline has been extended to April, 1974.

William Chancy, chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission and of the district health board, was urged by John Clark, Cassia County commissioner, to tell the group by Feb. 2 what price if any the county will attach to land behind the hospital, which is considered as a building site.

He said Cassia County will give land to the district if they wish to build behind the county hospital there and he believes Twin Falls County should make the same offer.

The next regular board meeting will be Feb. 28 in Jerome, either in Woods Cafe or the county courthouse.

1-day training meet scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Available training and other winter recreation administrative points will be covered in a one-day training session Friday for US Forest Service personnel.

The training program is also open to other involved winter recreation such as county road crews, ski patrol members and snowmobile club members.

Robert Hoag, staff recreation officer for the Sawtooth National Forest, said the emphasis will be on avalanche problems and will help forest personnel recognize potential avalanche hazards and provide information on how to organize and conduct a search and rescue program in the event of an avalanche.

Hoag said about 30 forest officials and employees will participate from throughout the Sawtooth.

The program begins Friday at 9 a.m. at the bottom of Elkhorn at the Sun Valley ski lift. The first event is for snow rangers in local ski areas and will cover ski lift inspections, tips and compliance problems.

At 10:30 a.m. the group will meet at the Ketchum ranger station for a review of search and rescue policy.

Farfield Ranger District personnel headed by Larry Weeks will present a search and rescue plan.

A special session at 11 a.m. will cover helicopter skiing permit operations, safety and problems involved.

Snowmobiling administration problems will be discussed by Lewis Munson, Twin Falls district ranger, and Weeks. Both will report on county cooperation in snowmobile areas in their districts.

Cross country skiing problems, administration, closure, non-licensing and uses in relation to snowmobiling and helicopter skiing will be discussed prior to a noon luncheon break.

During the afternoon, the group will inspect the search and rescue cache for avalanche work at the Ketchum ranger station and will inspect a proposed snowmobiling parking area at Baker Creek road junction.

Winter recreation area planning for snowmobiling, cross country skiing and other recreation use will be discussed as will avalanche hazard recognition.

A report on winter survival by Arthur Selin, Twin Falls, will conclude the training session.

Hazelton meet set Friday

JEROME — The annual Bean Blight Control Association meeting will be Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the Frontier Hall in Hazelton.

Jerome County extension agent W. G. Hill, Priest said Wednesday that during the past year no bean blight was found in Magic Valley.

"This is the second year since the control program was started in 1965 that we have been free of bacterial blight in beans," Priest said.

He noted that in addition to the meeting a program on bean marketing and production will be presented.

Glyde Butcher will review the work done in 1972 by the Idaho Department of Agriculture and disease control Charles Gree, agronomist for Rogers Bros. Seed Co. will discuss the trends and practices in marketing snap-bean seed, the county agent said.

Also speaking will be Marshall LeBaron for the Kimberly experiment station who will lead a discussion on cultural practices in bean production.

Bill Dean, University of Idaho research pathologist, will discuss the plans for bean research in Idaho.

Helicopter skiing continues at SV

TWIN FALLS — US Forest Service officials said here today they do not expect helicopter skiing to be discontinued because of the tragic Monday avalanche accident north of Sun Valley.

Mrs. William Janss, wife of Sun Valley owner, was killed and three were trapped and injured in an avalanche near Trail Creek Summit in the Pioneer Mountain range.

Robert Hoag, staff recreation officer for the Sawtooth National Forest, said the avalanche was a result of freak conditions and both the forest service and the helicopter skiing directors had done all possible to insure safety of the skiers prior to the avalanche.

He said several blasts of dynamite had been discharged in the area and it had been skied and by all standards the area was safe.

The Forest Service, he said, could ban all helicopter skiing on forest lands, but he said this would be an unrealistic approach at this time.

Forest service officials issue permits for helicopter skiing on forest lands, Butch Harper, forest service, is in charge of avalanche control for Bald Mountain at Sun Valley and assists in surrounding areas.

Each helicopter trip includes a mountain guide who is trained in avalanche work. Areas are shot in advance of each trip, sometimes for several days when avalanche conditions prevail.

Helicopter skiing is also popular in other parts of the Rocky Mountains.

Engineer resigns

BOISE (UPI) — Ellis Mathis, state highway engineer since 1961, has resigned effective in March, the Idaho Board of Highway Directors has announced.

Board Chairman Howard Thompson said Mathis advised the board last November of his desire to take early retirement from state service sometime early this year.

A replacement for Mathis is under study.

Potato school slated in TF

JEROME — A potato school will be in Twin Falls Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 at the Holiday Inn.

According to W. G. Hill, Priest, Jerome County extension agent, the program runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days.

On Jan. 31, storage maintenance, bruise susceptibility, weed control, fertilization, aphid control and irrigation will be discussed.

On Feb. 1 the program will include functions of the Idaho Potato Commission, statistical reporting, soil testing, pathogen free seed results, potato scab research and results of the planting survey carried out during 1972, Priest said.

Spenser hearing set

SHOSHONE — Mrs. Delores Spenser, 43, will appear at 10 a.m. Monday before Magistrate Nancy Badgley, Shoshone.

Mrs. Spenser is charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

The time of preliminary hearing was announced by officials Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Spenser is accused of stabbing her husband, Sam Spenser, 42, early Saturday morning. She has been held in the Jerome City jail since her arrest Saturday because Lincoln County does not have facilities for women in its jail.

The $2,500 bail set for Mrs. Spenser earlier this week was not posted.

Assault charge dropped

BURLEY — An assault charge against Christina Judd, 40, Declo, has been dropped, Cassia Pros. Atty. Gordon Nielson said today.

Mrs. Judd was arraigned on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after the Nov. 26 shooting of her husband, Lawrence Judd, at a home one-half mile north of Declo.

Judd underwent surgery at Cassia Memorial Hospital following the shooting.

Nielson said the charge was dropped at the request of Judd.

Blaine gives verdict

KETCHUM — A Blaine County juror, Wednesday returned a verdict of justifiable homicide with no criminal act involved in the death of John Smith, 25, Ellensburg, Wash.

Smith, a native of Ellensburg who had been living in Ketchum four months prior to his death, was shot at close range in the early morning hours of Jan. 11 at the Ketchum residence of James Scott, 43.

Smith allegedly broke into the home about 3 a.m., and Scott shot him with a 12-gauge shotgun.

The inquest, conducted by Coroner Bruce Babke, was two hours long, but the six-member jury only took 11 minutes to reach the verdict.

Entered into the testimony record were results of tests taken on the dead man. Babke said they indicated Smith was intoxicated at the time he was shot. The test also showed, he said, there was a minimal drug content in his blood.

Smith went to Central Washington State College where he received a master's degree in August of 1972. He also attended Sacramento State College.

New Safeway store slated in Jerome

JEROME — The first step in the construction of a new Safeway store in Jerome was completed Tuesday with the final purchase of the property.

Pete Martin, vice president of Safeway Stores, Inc. and Sall Lake City division manager, said today that the purchase and title registration of land for the new store was completed Tuesday. The property is located in the 200 block on West Main.

Safeway first announced they were going to build a new store in May of last year and have been in the process of purchasing the land these past months, Martin said earlier this month they had encountered several difficulties in the purchase of the land but would not explain what the problems were.

Construction of the new store is expected to begin as soon as possible and will be located along the back of the property facing onto Main Street with a 70-car parking lot in front of and to the west of the building, Martin said.

"All of the existing structures on the block will be razed except the two service stations on the corners. The property owners have 60 days in which to vacate the property," he explained.

The restaurant owned and operated by Sam Wong will be relocated in a new modern building next to the new Safeway store. Parking will also be provided for the restaurant.

Survey work will begin immediately on the new site with demolition of the old businesses, most of which have been vacant for some years, now.

Martin said the new store will contain the newest food merchandising facilities available, including new modern frozen food and dairy display cases in attractive colors, expanded meat display cases, meat storage and packing equipment, refrigerated produce display and storage equipment.

Checkout facilities will be the latest type developed, to speed up checkout time and make shopping easier for the customers, said Martin.

Newest style "basket" will be provided for shopper convenience and the latest type rotisserie will be featured, Martin said.

He noted that cooked meats and chickens will be available individually or by portion so the customer may purchase favorite parts only.

The interior will be well lighted and decorated in the newest color combinations to complement the type of merchandise being displayed; avocado green over the produce; interior violet over the beverages; red-orange over the meat; warm brown over the seafoods and poultry; and deep gold over the dairy section.

The existing Safeway building will be available for sale or lease after the new Safeway Store is open for business, Martin said.

Poison ban end asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Western sheepmen charged today a ban on the use of poisons to kill coyotes that prey on sheep was unfair and should be lifted.

Vern Vivion, president of the National Wool Growers Association, urged President Nixon to permit Interior Department wildlife officials to use the chemicals to help reduce sheep losses.

The association, holding its annual convention here, also urged Congress not to pass legislation to make the ban permanent.

But 40 environmental and conservation groups joined in urging Nixon not to lift an executive order he issued nearly a year ago to prohibit use of the poisons on public lands of the West.

The conservationist organizations said the ban had been both "conspicuous and energy" and should be kept in effect.

"As experience has shown, there are effective alternatives to the use of poisons for the control of specific animals known to be causing damage," they said in a telegram to Nixon.

Spokesmen for the wool growers said they supported research to seek effective alternatives for poisoning but that none exists now. For that reason, they said, the use of poisons should be continued until substitutes are available.

Ed Smith, Montana sheepman and unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor in the last election, said ranchers should be allowed to continue using compound 1080, a deadly

Wyoming senator draws USDA fund cutoff plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Escalating the battle between Capitol Hill and the White House, Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., says he intends to cut off the Agriculture Department without a cent to spend July 1.

Because of the administration's "unconstitutional" refusal to spend about $1 billion in funds for some popular farm programs, McGee told a news conference Tuesday, he will block passage of a bill to fund the Agriculture Department in the fiscal year that starts July 1.

"That means zilch—no money," he said.

He said his Senate agriculture appropriations subcommittee would set even committee hearings on President Nixon's farm budget for fiscal 1974.

The December action also cut off spending for conservation and pollution control subsidies, farm emergency disaster loans, subsidized rural housing loans and rural sewer and water grants.

Two Appropriations Committee Republicans—Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii and Milton R. Young of North Dakota—forewarn a compromise between McGee and the administration.

Young sidestepped when asked if he agreed with McGee's tactic. "I think he expresses the sentiment of a great many members of Congress," he said. "No one disagrees with economy, but good programs have been ended without consultation with Congress."

DISCOUNT PRICES & SUPER SAVERS!

Here's What "Discount With A Difference" Means

Our Discount with a Difference program offers money-saving prices on the wide variety of high quality meats, produce and other foods which helped to build Safeway's reputation. When we converted to discount, we made sweeping changes in operating methods. Those changes, which included new pricing methods and the elimination of unnecessary merchandising expenses, reduced our cost of doing business. Our savings were immediately reflected in substantial price reductions. We introduced our every day low level prices which helped to make the discount program so popular and effective. With low prices in effect all week long, there was no longer need to postpone shopping until the week end. Low level prices gave our customers added incentive to buy from us all of their food needs. With shopping spread more uniformly throughout the week and throughout the store, our whole business became more efficient. We streamlined ordering, stocking and price marking. We increased check-out efficiency and lessened the possibility of error at check-out. Savings in our costs of doing business continue to be reflected in the prices of things we sell. Shop Safeway for the finest foods and a low total food bill. That's Discount with a Difference.

Detroit assistant named to Ram job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles "Chuck" Knox, a young football coaching assistant with 19 years' experience to the professional ranks, look over as head man of the Los Angeles Rams Wednesday and promised to use "hard work and discipline" to get a winning team.

Knox, 40, who built the line that protected quarterback Joe Namath with the New York Jets; replaces Tommy Prothro, who had three years to go on his five-year contract.

Ram owner Carroll Rosenbloom said Prothro would be paid off on his contract but denied that the figure was $30,000 a year.

Knox will have a three-year contract at undisclosed terms.

Both the owner and the new coach exchanged compliments at a Beverly Hills hotel news conference.

"Needless to say, I am very flattered and honored at being selected for this position," said Knox, who went to a small Pennsylvania college and never played pro football. "This is the finest ownership in professional football and Carroll Rosenbloom is the finest owner. He is dedicated to winning."

For his part, Rosenbloom said "an exhaustive search" convinced him that Knox is the "best man in the land to head this football team."

Knox said he will start to select his assistants on Thursday, and also review films of the Ram games last season.

He said that he did not think he would be playing "a large role" in the upcoming draft of college players because in his job with the Detroit Lions last season he did not scout college games.

He called Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel "a fine player" but he and Rosenbloom said the Rams are interested in acquiring another experienced man at the position. They said John Hadl of the San Diego Chargers is a prospect but indicated the asking price for Hadl may be too high.

On his own football philosophy, Knox said, "I believe you must coach with enthusiasm. I think the players are going to reflect that. I don't believe you coach walking around with your hands in your pocket. I believe the head coach must be motivated and that will motivate the players."

"I want to get a winning edge which means you must outwork other people in terms of dedication, hard work, and sound preparation. I believe in discipline and a curfew for players."

Prothro was criticized in many quarters for his stoic attitude toward the game and his unemotional approach.

Knox served as assistant offensive line coach with the Detroit Lions for six years through last season under Joe Schmidt.

Providence posts win

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Providence College, behind the scoring of Ernie DiGregorio and the rebounding of Marvin Barnes, overcame a stubborn University of Massachusetts quintet to earn a 91-78 decision Wednesday night.

DiGregorio's 24 points and Barnes' 18 rebounds provided the Friars with the necessary push to earn their 11th victory in 13 decisions.

Fordham tops Army

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Charles, Paul Griswold and Darryl Brown paced a surge at the start of the second half to break open a tight game, and propel Fordham to a 77-68 victory over Army Wednesday night.

Each scored four points as the Rams, ahead by only six points at halftime, outscored the Cadets 12-4 at the start of the second half to take a 14-point lead and coast to their 11th victory in 13 games.

Trade can't keep Matte in football

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Veteran running back Tom Matte says he is "leaning toward retiring" rather than report to the San Diego Chargers who were denied the 12-year veteran by the Baltimore Colts Wednesday.

"As of right now, I am strongly leaning toward retiring," Matte said Wednesday night. "I have a firm here in Baltimore, and I've been offered a position with them. It's likely I'll stay here."

The 33-year old former Ohio State signal caller was swapped by Baltimore to the Chargers for an eighth round draft pick.

Colts general manager Joe Rouns continued a gradual housecleaning that has seen veterans John Unitas and John Mackey precede Matte to Southern California.

Matte said he had spoken with Charger head coach Harland Svare by telephone and "conveyed my thoughts to him at the present time."

Matte, catapulted into fame in the 1965 season when he took over the quarterbacking chores of the Colts after Unitas and number two man Gary Cuozzo were injured, said he had nothing against San Diego, but "Baltimore is my home now."

"Eleven out of my 12 years have been wonderful," he said. "I've enjoyed the great support of the Colt fans and the city in general."

But Matte refused to close the door entirely on his playing career. He indicated, however, that he did not know what might induce him to continue playing.

Matte saw limited action this past season, spending much of the time on the taxi squad as the Colts concentrated on their youth movement enroute to a disappointing season.

Asked if he would like to stay in football in another capacity, Matte responded that he "had always wanted to play some role in the game," but said he would definitely not be interested in a coaching job.

During his colorful career with Baltimore, Matte gained 4,619 yards rushing on 1,200 attempts, caught 249 passes for 2,856 yards and scored 57 touchdowns.

Alabama ends Florida streak

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Eleventh-ranked Alabama used a balanced attack led by Southeastern Conference scoring leader Wendell Hudson Wednesday night to subdue Florida 37-24 and break the Gators' six-game undefeated streak at home.

Leading in scoring was Florida's Tony Miller with 25 points. The only other Gator in double figures was Chip Williams, who poured in 12 points.

Alabama, the Southeastern Conference leader, was led by Hudson who had 17 points. All five of the other Alabama players who saw action were in double figures.

City cage meet ends

I. D. Store-Cable Vision, paced by the apert scoring of Dave Livingston and Ron Bradley, downed the Times-News 64-60 in overtime to win the city basketball championship.

The new champs, led by 15 early in the second half before falling into a tie.

Stockgrowers' Commission took the consolation prize.

City Recreation Director Chad Browning said all other play for the week would be suspended.

Duke rallies by Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Duke's Blue Devils, led by senior guard Gary McNamee who scored 10 of their last 19 points, rallied from an eight point deficit in the final period to drop the University of Richmond, 70-66, Wednesday night.

The Blue Devil rally began with a little less than nine minutes to go, with Richmond leading 59-51. Duke outscored the Spiders 17-5 in the home stretch as Richmond could hit on only one of five foul shots and made only two field goals.

Stars defeat Chaps 111-103

DALLAS (UPI) — Willie Wise hit two sit right layups with just less than six minutes to play Wednesday night to interrupt a Dallas rally and center Zelmo Beaty cleaned up from there in bringing the Utah Stars a 111-103 win over the Chaparrals.

Utah, the ABA's Western Division leader, led every second of the contest, but was in danger of losing its lead midway through the final quarter.

The Chaps had closed a 12-point deficit to only two chiefly on the work of center, Rich Jones and guard Larry Jones.

At that point, however, Wise hit a driving layup and 20 seconds later he stole the ball and drove for another unassisted shot which blunted the Chap charge.

Junior bowlers crowned in largest city meet

Young bowling stars were crowned over the weekend after the largest city junior bowling tournament yet conducted. A total of 27 teams, 42 sets of doubles and 84 singles entered the event at Magic Bowl, the field competing in bantam and junior-senior divisions.

BOWLING CHAMPIONS in the seventh annual city junior tournament display their trophies. The winners in the girls division from left are Diana Miller, scratch all events; Lacey Thornton, bantam-handicap all events, and Julie Ochsner, senior scratch all events. Not pictured in bantam-handicap all events winner Claudia Van Patten. The all-event winners in boys division were Cole Klassen, scratch, and Bob Irwin, handicap, in the junior-senior division and Jerry Miller, scratch bantam winner. Bill Staples, not pictured, won the bantam-handicap all events.

The Strikers, composed of Robert Jennings, Robert Sicher and Mark Sicher, won the bantam team at 1744. The Pin Pickers, Don Dean, Mark Williams and Jim Fleenor, were second at 1600 while Dan, Joe and Roy Gwin, the Pin Splitters, had third at 1671. The girls title went to the Orange Quingurods, Julie Ochsner, Lacey Thornton and Carol Beglan, at 1768. Top division girls team was Jan and Pam Rutherford and Claudia Van Patten at 1,682 while the Junior Wonders, Kelly Randall, Len Williams and Bob Irwin, top the boys at 1754. Bantam doubles champs were Jerry Miller and Jon McGregor at 1,139 and Joe Gailley and Rock Ellerwirth, 1,117. Girls winners were Kim Byrne and Lori Tewart with 1,119. Junior-senior division girls doubles title went to Jayne Devine and Gail Joy at 1,188 while the boys prize was won by John Irwin and Steve Egbert at 1,253 with Bob Irwin and Dean Dorland second at 1,224. Lacey Thornton took the bantam girls singles at 591, three pins ahead of Carol Beglan. The boys top four were Joe Gwin 637, Bill Staples 615, Craig Beutler 614 and Jim Fleenor 612.

In the senior division, Jayne Devine led the girls at 624 while Jerrine Taylor was second at 620. Ed Hoover topped the boys at 682, followed by Gary Tewart 614 and Steve Fullmer 636.

All events bantam winners were Lacey Thornton, 1739 handicap, and Julie Ochsner, 1046 scratch for girls and Bill Staples, 1814 handicap, and Jerry Miller, 1399 scratch. Junior-senior division girl handicap champ was Claudia Van Patten at 1778 with Diana Miller winning scratch with 1236. Bob Irwin won boys handicap with 1881 and Cole Klassen won scratch with 1583. Phyllis Nield had a 153 game and Julie Ochsner 413 series for the best in the bantam girls and Tracy Beutler at 181 and Jerry Miller, 480, led the boys. Jerrine Taylor and Jayne Devine tied for high game in junior-senior competition at 177 with Gary Tewart leading the boys at 223. Series winners were Jerrine Taylor at 479 and Tewart at 501.

Strong debut

DETROIT (UPI) — Lymwood "Schoolboy" Rowe made his pitching debut in the big leagues an auspicious one. Rowe started his major league career for the Tigers with a 3-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox in 1933.

Denver has first win at Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Warren Jabali pumped in 10 of his 26 points Wednesday night to give the Denver Rockets the lead for good with less than six minutes to play for their first victory ever at Kentucky since the American Basketball Association was formed with a 96-87 win over the Colonels.

The Rockets led throughout much of the game and took a 55-45 lead into the dressing room at intermission. Denver was held to 36 points in the third quarter while Colonel center Artis Gilmore poured in 15 of his 23 points to get Kentucky back in the game at the end of the third period, trailing only 71-70.

Salt Lake put on deadline

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee said Wednesday it would not delay its decision on selecting the host site for the 1976 Winter Olympic Games, giving Utahns seeking the games just nine days to come up with federal funding. Mayor E. J. Garn said U.S. Olympic Committee director Clifford Buick approached the IOC about Salt Lake City's request for an extension beyond the Feb. 4 presentation deadline, "but the IOC said there will be no delay." Garn said he has scheduled a meeting with the Utah Olympic Steering Committee "to determine what our course of action will be — whether to go ahead or give some other U.S. site a chance."

Burley-Minico game tops slate; flu shelves Gooding, Twin Falls

Burley meets Minico at Rupert Saturday in the feature and Camas County is home for what could be the pivotal weekend in the Northside Conference race. Those games, with Twin Falls and Gooding postponing their weekend play, are part of a 10-game schedule for Magic Valley teams.

Burley and Minico will continue their schedules despite school closure for illness and absenteeism while Twin Falls and Gooding, also closed, suspended all extra curricular activities Wednesday on order of their superintendents.

Gooding, already has rescheduled its dates, traveling to Buhl Tuesday and meeting Wendell Feb. 5. Twin Falls has to reach agreement with Jerome and Minico. It has two possibilities for midweek games with Jerome but getting a mutually satisfactory makeup date with Minico will be rough. It might have to slip the season over into the early part of tournament week.

Minico is playing twice a week throughout the rest of the year and playing Wednesday-Saturday or Thursday-Saturday games in the SIC. Twin Falls has one midweek with Highland.

"We would just as soon have the forfeit," says Coach Gary Swan with a smile. "We're the ones with a good chance for the SIC title and we already have our home gate in the bank."

Twin Falls Coach Don Haynes noted "this is the healthiest our basketball team has been in three weeks. But the layoff might be a good idea to prevent changes of relapses. We had one of those and it was rougher than the original illness."

The coach had all the varsity at practice Tuesday and Wednesday for the first time since playing at Minico.

Minico had the bug last week but Coach Swan says basically the team is pretty fair although some are still not up to full strength. Burley Coach Ivan Davis doubts whether 6-6 Tracy Nielsen will be available for anything more than spot duty. "He's very sick," Coach Davis says Wednesday night. "It came close to being pneumonia." Burley also lost a couple of players from the team for what the coach described as "personal reasons."

Camas County, having the advantage of being home, plays host to its two chief conference rivals in Gooding State Friday night and Richfield Saturday. A sweep by the Musers would put them within a stone's throw of the title. A loss, particularly to Richfield, would leave the matter still up in the air.

Jerome, with Twin Falls gone, still faces a big weekend as the Tigers must go to Mountain Home where the Tigers currently are the hottest A-1 team in the state with an 11-game win streak. Coach Billy Emerson's crew has been coming on well of late, particularly in defense and rebounding. They'll be giving away considerable size underneath.

The flu bug, of course, will have a lot to do with the because relapses have been cancelled a pair last week, will continue among the travel to Wood River while the Magic Valley Conference, which missed two starters last weekend, will be at league play, Shoshone, which Glenns Ferry.

Spain only player selected for baseball's hall of fame

NEW YORK (UPI) — Warren Spahn made the Hall of Fame on his first try, but the others will have to wait at least another year—and there may be cries again for baseball to ease the restrictions.

Spahn's election Wednesday and the rejection for 1973 of former stars like Whitey Ford, Ralph Kiner, Robin Roberts and the late Gil Hodges raised questions about the rigid qualifications for the Hall by the Baseball Writers Association of America, and even Spahn said he was sad to be the only one picked.

"I'm delighted with the honor," he said. "I'm only sorry there aren't other players here with me."

"But," he added, "that's why it's such an honor for any player to get it."

The selection of the 51-year-old Spahn, winningest lefthanded pitcher in major league history with 363 victories, all but seven of them with the Braves, was a foregone conclusion.

But he was only the seventh "modern" player in five years voted to the Hall by the writers, and observers had expected them to add a couple of others with him—particularly since the veterans committee admitted so many old-timers in recent seasons.

In 1971 alone, for example, the vets' committee inducted seven players, and another special group has been choosing players from the old Negro leagues.

Roberts, who won 236 games for the Phillies, perhaps expressed the sentiments of the losers when he admitted he was "quite disappointed" he was not elected on his first attempt.

"I had thought I might make it, what with all the speculation," Roberts said from his home in suburban Philadelphia. "Maybe next time."

It takes 75 per cent of the ballots or 265 of the 350 this year and Spahn made it easily, getting named on 316 Ford missed by 30, with 255, while Kiner, Hodges and Roberts followed.

"I'd have wanted 10 years—I have no regrets," joked Spahn, who would have been eligible for enshrinement two years earlier but for brief, promotional pitching appearances with the Mexican City Tigers of the Mexican League in 1966 and Tulsa of the Pacific Coast League in 1967.

Crampton doesn't feel he can win three tourneys straight

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Bruce Crampton, the good natured Aussie who found his putting touch at Phoenix and Tucson, doesn't give himself much of a chance of making it three in a row starting today in the Crosby National Pro-Am, but he'll be out there battling three tough courses and the weather along with 171 others.

"The pressure is tremendous when you've won two tournaments," Crampton said before his teeoff at Pebble Beach, "and I honestly don't think I can win again, but I'll be trying."

What makes it difficult is that the Crosby is one of those tournaments where the weather, along with the naturally tough courses, makes it difficult to score well.

"I've always played Pebble Beach well," Crampton said, "but that doesn't mean I've always scored well. Last year in the U.S. Open here I played about as well as I can but I finished three strokes behind Jack."

Jack, of course, is Nicklaus, who won the Open with a two-over par 290 six months earlier. Nicklaus won the Crosby in a sudden death playoff with young John Miller, so he plays the Crosby seaside courses about as well as anyone around.

While Crampton starts off at Pebble Beach, Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper, making his 1973 debut, are at Cypress Point. Rod Funseth, winner of the Los Angeles Open to launch the $1 million 1973 PGA tour, opens on Spyglass Hill.

In the Crosby format, each pro plays a round on all three courses before the cut is made to the low 70 and ties for the final round on Pebble Beach. The top prize in the $180,000 tourney is $30,000. Second is worth $20,500 and third is $12,800.

There are 172 amateurs, many of them from the various entertainment fields, in the competition, too. Each pro is paired off with an amateur and the cut from that field is to the low 35 teams and ties. The Pro-Am purse comes to $25,000, making the total Crosby pot $205,000.

Nicklaus, who won more than $300,000 last year, is the favorite, as might be expected. Jack made a rare start in the Los Angeles Open four weeks ago and won $1,975. He went home to rest the last two weeks while Crampton, the top money winner thus far this year with $60,030, went on to take the Phoenix and Tucson opens.

In Magic Valley Conference, the piece-setting Oakley Hornets will entertain Declo, which already has spoiled a couple of team's chances. The two runner-up teams, Castleford and Murtaugh, face teams below them in the standings. Castleford will host Raft River, hoping to avenge a surprise loss earlier in the year, while Murtaugh will be at Hagerman. Hansen steps out of the conference to test the Bulldogs at Kimberly. The teams are one-one thus far.

With the spotlight focused on Camas County, the Northside Conference offers Dietrich at Richfield with a possibility there of a form-reversal. Dietrich was considered a prim contender but its rebounding scoring has fallen a bit short. Richfield, undefeated in the league, still is coming off that loss to Clark County, its first of the year. A key could be the leg injury to Steve Bowers. If Bowers can go full steam Dietrich's way is considerably tougher. Carey will be at Rimrock with the winner advancing a spot farther away from the loop cellar.

In SIC play Saturday, Wood River will be at Filer where it will be last call for the losers. In the Little Five, Glenns Ferry travels to Shoshone while Kimberly will be at Wendell. Valley goes to Declo for a non-league battle.

The long Magic Valley Conference game sends Hagerman to Hansen while on the Northside, Richfield is at Camas County, Rimrock at Gooding State and Bliss at Carey.

Southeast loop wants to end small school vote domination

ATLANTA (UPI) — The prestigious Southeastern Conference indicated Wednesday it will throw its full last year, we're going to have support behind a move to force to have a special meeting the "NCAA" to divide into two within the next 60 days to take action on the new NCAA rules.

The problem last year when the prestigious Southeastern Conference indicated Wednesday it will throw its full last year, we're going to have support behind a move to force to have a special meeting the "NCAA" to divide into two within the next 60 days to take action on the new NCAA rules.

schools will no longer be able to set grants-in-aid limitations on the big football powers. Dr. Boyd McWhorter, commissioner of the SEC, said he is convinced that the division in the national organization will come at a special meeting this summer.

"We were unable to get this done at the regular NCAA meeting in Chicago two weeks ago, but I believe this was because there were so many other matters on the agenda," said McWhorter. "If, as I expect, reorganization is the only subject of the special meeting, I expect it will be accomplished."

The Southeastern Conference opened its annual meeting here Wednesday. But the meeting will be a lot of talk and little action because league bylaws prohibit voting on any matter not circulated at least three weeks prior to the meeting.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES You can gain much headway today by carefully studying an important item you have in mind. See where it fits into the jigsaw puzzle of your life. You can also gain the goodwill of those you wish to be allied with in the future by doing something that pleases them very much.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle business and other important obligations well and make big headway right now. Listen carefully to what mate has to suggest. Cooperate willingly and make your lives more hunky together.

AURUS (Apr. 20 to May 30) Talk with associates and find out how to make your joint project more successful. You can now handle a civic matter in a clever way. Put that fine plan you have to work. Show that you have poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have much work ahead of you so don't delay giving it your prompt attention. Pay more attention to your diet and have better health. Avoid one who wants to take you away from the practical.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You want to enjoy yourself but you must stick to the tried and proven, otherwise you could get into trouble. Show thoughtfulness for mate. Courtesy doesn't cost anything. Use more of it.

LFO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You need to improve fundamental affairs and now is just the time for that. Although kin may seem demanding, it is only because they love and believe in you. Don't go off any tangents at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use all that extra energy you have to make routine work more efficient and derive more benefits from it. Don't neglect to handle important correspondence. Evening is best spent at home-with-mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Plan how to have a larger income and be more comfortable throughout the rest of the winter. Fix your budget so that you can save more money. Cut down on expenses wherever you can. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Take stock of yourself and see how to improve your state-of-health and increase your personal charm. Engage in the social affairs that will bring you the data you need. Be tactful at all times.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Prepare well now for making greater advancement in the business world in the near future. Your hunches are good and should be followed for good results in dealing with others. Be cheerful.

APRIL (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get together with good friends so that you can have not only a good time, but gain the information you want and need. Listen to what a determined friend has to say. This can be very helpful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can get into civic and vocational duties and make big headway right now. Pay an important bill and build up your credit. Show mate much affection in the evening. Think kindly. Act kindly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have certain ideas that should be discussed with those of experience before you try to put them in operation. Handling correspondence now is wise. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those magnetic young people who know exactly what goal to strive for and how to go after it. Make sure you teach right traits so that your progeny will be a capable person and a respected citizen. Give the right discipline which will help develop a strong character, plus good discipline training. Sports are a fine outlet here.

OUT OUR WAY

Start with the Latin word "firmare" meaning "to confirm." In old Rome, the "firmare" was the official signature of any business establishment. The trademark. Eventually, conversationalists simply called it a "firm." Which is why that word is now used to designate a company. So reports our Language Mail.

BELL Telephone laboratories continue to work on a dial-by-voice phone. Just announce the number. The mechanism translates, theoretically, we had some such 50 years ago, sort of an operator. A particularly handy instrument for the blind, this labor-saving innovation, if it ever gets operational. Years ago the science boys worked on instrumentation for an elevator that would go like that, but it has not appeared.

FIGURE 60 per cent of the college educated women are working, 40 per cent of the high school graduate girls are working, and 31 per cent of those young ladies who hadn't gone beyond elementary school are working. Those statistics were turned up in a Columbia University study.

THE SUN generates about two calories per pound. The human body, about 10 calories per pound. Still, in just a single second, the sun sends out more energy than man has used up since the start of civilization. It's the inconceivable size of the thing.

HURRICANES During the last 10 years, most of the big bad hurricanes have hit into the Gulf Coast. In the previous 25 years, they seemed generally to romp up and down the Atlantic Coast. And in the 40 years before that, there were simply fewer of them, far fewer. The weather boys are trying to make some sense out of this pattern. No luck, so far.

YOU live in a Chinese restaurant. Rice is served. You contemplate the agonizing hours some sneaky oriental stooped over it. To plant, to cultivate, to harvest. Knee-deep in water, sometimes in mud. And oh the heat, the sweat. Wrong! Rice is the most mechanized crop of all. Harvested, at any rate. It's untouched by human hands from the time it's planted until the time it shows up on the supermarket shelf.

No Senate action on Viet accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nixon told the leaders "thank God for those who stood, thank God for those who gave their lives, thank God for those who suffered and for them all. We are damn proud of them."

But he added "I'm so relieved, I don't care what the agreement is called."

Nixon briefed about 25 congressional leaders at the White House Wednesday in an emotional, two-hour and 20-minute session at the end of which Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said "there wasn't a dry eye in the House."

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, long a critic of Nixon's Vietnam policy, commented "it's later than I hoped, but it's good."

Scott said he would propose that church bells be rung around the country Saturday when the peace agreement is signed "as an act of reconciliation among all the people."

"I would hope that those who criticized the President would be now conciliatory to him," he added.

Mansfield predicted the settlement would better Nixon's relations with Congress "in the most vital area of division and dissent but the domestic problems will remain."

He described the mood at the White House meeting as "solemn, relieved, thankful and the most common expression was 'at last'."

'Great victory' hailed

MOSCOW (UPI) — North Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong hailed the cease-fire agreement as a "great victory" Wednesday and said his country would "march ahead in the cause of liberation of South Vietnam and the reunification of the homeland," the Tass news agency reported.

Dong's comments came in a speech at the Presidential Palace in Hanoi prior to Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh's departure for Paris to sign the peace agreement, the Soviet agency said.

The Tass dispatch quoted Dong as saying, "The attainment of the agreement on ending the war and restoring peace in Vietnam is a great victory of the Vietnamese people in their long and hard-fought victorious struggle for freedom, independence and peace."

"At the same time, we shall carry forward this struggle, by relying on the agreement and other documents to be signed, in order to complete the revolutionary cause of the Vietnamese people," the Tass story said.

"We shall continue to carry high the banner of peace, friendship and democracy so as to march ahead in the cause of liberation of South Vietnam and the reunification of the homeland."

"Dong said the agreement was also a "great victory of the Vietnamese people on the military, political and diplomatic fronts" and for the "solidarity of the fraternal Socialist and other countries which come out for peace in Vietnam."

Radio Hanoi announced the Vietnam cease-fire Wednesday in a terse 115-word communique from North Vietnam's Foreign Ministry.

Snow this evening, cold tomorrow

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert area: The outlook for Saturday is for mostly fair and a little warmer. Occasional light snow this evening will decrease to scattered showers. Colder tonight. Fog patches are possible in the lower valleys Friday morning. Skies will be partly cloudy and temperatures will continue cold Friday with snow shower activity confined to the mountains. Overnight lows will be 10 to 20 and highs Friday will be mostly in the 20s.

The outlook for Saturday is for mostly fair and a little warmer. Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley: Occasional light snow is forecast for this evening. Temperatures will become colder and fog patches are possible in the lower valleys Friday morning. Skies will be partly cloudy, and temperatures will continue cold Friday with snow shower activity in the mountains.

Lows tonight will be 5 to 15 except below zero in the higher valleys. Highs Friday will be mostly in the 20s. Saturday is expected to be fair and a little warmer.

Synopsis: A cold front pushed into western Idaho today producing nearly 20 inches precipitation in the extreme western valleys. This front will pass through Magic Valley this evening and the Snake River Valley late tonight. Precipitation amounts will be light in the valleys and heavier in the mountains, with heaviest amounts occurring over the extreme eastern and southern mountains. The air mass following the frontal system is rather cold and unstable with sufficient moisture to cause snow shower activity over extreme southern and eastern mountains into Friday.

Viet war series of miscalculations

By JOHN HALL. — WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Vietnam war in its one sense a series of tragic miscalculations by both sides of each other's resiliency. If it is indeed now coming to an end, it is because both the United States and North Vietnam have rid themselves of the delusions of simple military victory.

Unquestionably, in the view of U.S. government analysts, President Nixon's momentous decision May 8 to bomb and mine Hanoi and Halphong and bomb them again during the Christmas holidays — relieved the Hanoi government of any remaining thoughts that they could wait for the force of public and world opinion to force a U.S. exit on their terms.

And equally without question, U.S. policymakers abandoned any hopes they may have harbored that raw military pressure would force North Vietnam to accept an end to the conflict on terms entirely acceptable to South Vietnam.

In short, the formula for peace — stripped of all its protocols and semantical qualifiers — was that neither side won and both stood only to lose if the chance for a negotiated peace were missed again.

That was the engine that propelled Henry A. Kissinger, the White House emissary, and Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's negotiator, through four short hours of negotiations in Paris that completed the cease-fire agreement and sent Kissinger speeding back to Washington with the terms that Nixon announced to a nationwide television audience.

What each of the adversaries may have gained or lost at the bargaining table in the critical weeks since Oct. 26 should emerge today in some detail when the texts of the agreement are published and Kissinger briefs newsmen here.

But the unpleasant business of final compromises appears to have included the following: —South Vietnam lost its appeal that all North Vietnamese forces should leave its territory. The United States consistently made clear in proposals by President Nixon in January, 1972 and again on May 8, 1972, that it was proposing a "standstill cease-fire" which would permit the North Vietnamese forces to remain where they were. Since, by the U.S. count, there were about 145,000 North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, and South Vietnam possessed an army of over 1 million men, Washington considered this to be a tolerable risk.

—South Vietnam got less than it had wanted in recognition of the existence of two separate, violently opposed states. Vague wording in the agreement accorded the separate states North and South Vietnam and did not call for the withdrawal of at least 145,000 North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam, and did not turn the Demilitarized Zone into a firm boundary between the two states.

The Nixon administration, despite Thieu's objections, refused to consider changing the agreement to force the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces.

But because of Thieu's stubbornness, Nixon sent Kissinger back to Paris in an effort to obtain a better deal for the South Vietnamese ruler, to give his government a "fighting chance" to survive and allow the United States to exit with honor.

Wearily, the negotiators returned to the bargaining table for talks that continued from Nov. 20 to Dec. 13 before they finally broke down. A dejected Kissinger, who less than two months earlier predicted "peace is at hand," told newsmen, the talks had turned into "a charade."

The step that followed was one of the gloomiest chapters in the war for all concerned. President Nixon ordered a massive retaliatory bombing of the Hanoi-Halphong area. Between Dec. 18 and 29, the United States — using B52 strategic bombers in mass attacks on the heartland of the North for mount a sustained offensive for a long period following an American withdrawal or both — the decision was greeted enthusiastically at the Pentagon.

"They are trying to drag out the negotiations, using the talks to gain sanctuary in North Vietnam," one official said.

Others said the raids were aimed at obliterating Hanoi's ability to wage war.

All along, Pentagon officials claim, he has followed a "carrot and stick" approach to both North and South Vietnam.

Toward Hanoi, the carrot was the promise that serious negotiations could end the war quickly; the stick was the U.S. air and seapower. Toward Saigon, the carrot was continued U.S. military and financial aid, in return for acceptance of peace terms the United States considered honorable; the stick was the threat that this support would be withdrawn if President Thieu proved recalcitrant.

The question is: Did it work? An answer may not emerge for months.

The first hurdle will be the critical 60-day period beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday when the cease-fire will go into effect, the North Vietnamese will release all U.S. prisoners of war and the United States will withdraw its remaining force from the South.

During that period Vietnam will be a powder keg. Acts of aggression by any of the parties could touch off counter-measures that would unravel the entire package.

And after the 60-day period ends, assuming the success of the cease-fire, a more severe time of testing for both North Vietnam and the United States could come. Eventual North Vietnamese infiltration across the DMZ is considered inevitable. The United States, no longer bargaining for the release of its prisoners, might be tempted to respond in kind, particularly if the South Vietnamese government appears to be on the verge of succumbing to the Communists.

The hope is that the same mutual balance of fear that produced the settlement — the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam an ambiguous status. The South Vietnamese could consider it a border, while the North Vietnamese regarded it only as a temporary line.

Analysis

North Vietnam failed to establish with finality that its proposed National Council of Reconstruction and Reconciliation would actually be the forerunner of a coalition government in Saigon. The United States and South Vietnam insisted it was an organ to supervise subsequent elections in South Vietnam, but again vague wording in the agreement left its actual role to be worked out.

North Vietnam and the United States struck a compromise on the international supervisory force which is to oversee the cease-fire. The United States had wanted a force of 5,000 men from Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia to observe the cease-fire with complete mobility and freedom to report. Hanoi had wanted a limited force of 250 men with little freedom of action. The final force was understood to be in the order of 3,000 men.

'The US will... recognize... the Republic of South Vietnam as the sole legitimate government...'

It already is clear that the United States is preparing to assert that the 12-day bombing of Hanoi and Halphong during the Christmas holidays — the heaviest raids of the war — were responsible for North Vietnam's decision to negotiate seriously and to concede, however ambivalently, some measure of sovereignty to Saigon.

"The people of South Vietnam have been guaranteed the right to determine their own future without outside interference," Nixon said in announcing the agreement. He said the settlement "meets the goals and has the full support of President Thieu and the government of the Republic of Vietnam as well as that of our other allies who were affected."

It was Thieu who balked at the October settlement that had been prematurely announced in Hanoi and Washington. He violently objected to that settlement because it did not recognize the existence of two political questions about Vietnam from the military questions that led to the first real breakthrough in the negotiations, when Hanoi on Oct. 8 agreed to negotiate the military cease-fire first and the political questions afterwards.

Formula for peace: Neither side wins, both stand to lose if no peace found

But, by the same token, many close observers of the Vietnam war claim it will never really be over and the United States never free of it — until the political questions are settled: namely, can a coalition government be formed in Saigon pointing to eventual unification with the North.

Nixon, in his address Tuesday night, again eschewed any such talk.

"The United States will continue to recognize the government of the Republic of Vietnam as the sole legitimate government of South Vietnam," he said.

One possible way out is that Vietnam, like the question of North and South Korea, may be allowed to smoulder on the backburner for years.

The Nixon administration has spoken strongly about its desire for a lasting peace in Vietnam, not just a Korean-style armistice.

At the very least, administration officials clearly hoped that the present agreement would last — despite the fact that there would be undoubtedly minor miscalculations from time to time until U.S. troops could get out and American prisoners returned.

The United States by Tuesday night was already alerting Canada, Poland, Hungary and Indonesia to be ready to send its observer forces to Vietnam on short notice.

And within 30 days of the formal signing of the agreement — expected by the end of the week — an international conference would be convened. It would bring together the United States, Soviet Union, China, France, Britain, North Vietnam, South Vietnam, the Provisional Revolutionary Government of Vietnam (Viet Cong) and other nations.

In some senses, experienced diplomats believed, the international conference would then assume responsibility for future developments in Indochina — Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Russians commend signing

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government said Wednesday the cease-fire agreement opens the way to setting up a stable peace and a Vietnamese solution to their own problems.

The government newspaper Izvestia said in a commentary headlined "Important Steps" that the signing "opens up possibilities for establishing a stable peace in Vietnam and the settling of their problems by the Vietnamese people themselves."

The Izvestia commentary said "the task now is to strictly observe and fulfill the agreement reached. The Soviet people believe the just cause of the Vietnamese people will triumph and that a stable peace will come to the long-suffering land of Vietnam."
