Burley flier home

YOUNGSTER WELCOMING returning American prisoner of war at Alameda, Calif., Naval Air Station, Saturday receives kiss from Air Force Capt. Larry J. Chesley, 31, Burley, who had been prisoner almost seven years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Verl Chesley, Burley, and two brothers, were in California for his arrival. Flight was diverted to Alameda because of fog at Travis AFB. Chesley will report to David Grant Medical Facility at Travis. (UPI)

20 due release today

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — A CH-53A helicopter medical evacuation plane left Clark Air Base for Hanoi at 11:59 a.m. (8:59 p.m. MST) Saturday to bring 20 Air Force and Navy pilots shot down in 1966-67 back to freedom.

The 20 prisoners, whose release was linked to the recent visit to Hanoi by Presidential security adviser Henry Kissinger, were due at Clark, 50 miles north of Manila, at 6 a.m. 3 a.m. MST Sunday.

A Pentagon support team left Clark for Hanoi earlier aboard a C-130 transport to make final arrangements for the release of the men.

The reception team, which left here at 9:19 a.m. (6:19 p.m. MST) Saturday in a C-130 Hercules transport aircraft, was expected to arrive in Hanoi about 1:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. MST) Sunday. Shortly afterwards a grant C-141 jet transport was scheduled to arrive in Hanoi to pick up the prisoners and fly them back to the Philippines.

These were reports here as the advance reception team took off that one of the 20 prisoners, originally scheduled to be released in the group, would be held back so that another prisoner, not scheduled to be released, could be flown to the United States to be with an aging member of his family.

"We understand this is the situation," said an Air Force spokesman, but he could furnish no further details. In the first increment of prisoners released last week, the North Vietnamese added Navy Cmdr Brian D. Woods, 40, of San Diego, Calif., to the original list of 12 prisoners so he could be with his ailing mother.

The release of the 20 prisoners Sunday was announced by the North Vietnamese last week as a gesture of goodwill after the three-day visit to Hanoi by U.S. Presidential adviser Dr. Henry Kissinger.

The Vietnamese earlier agreed to calls for the release of 594 living American prisoners of war throughout Indochina in four increments over a 60-day period. The release of the prisoners is to coincide with the withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam.

Future health office

Legion hall purchase OK

TWIN FALLS — A site procurement committee of the South Central Idaho Health District Friday afternoon approved purchase of the American Legion Hall for $22,500.

The bid, although $3,000 below the bid of private interested parties, was accepted by an American Legion post committee.

William L. (Bill) Chancey, health board chairman and member of the site committee, said his committee was informed earlier in the week the original sale price of $15,000 had been withdrawn after increased interest in the building from several other sources.

The bid, Chancey said, now needs only to be approved by the full district health board when it meets Feb. 20, and to be paid for by the eight counties of the district.

George Haney Jr., realtor and Legion member, who represented the Legion in the transaction, and Chancey both said the American Legion turned down a higher bid in the interest of doing the best in the way of community service.

The building will provide office space, laboratory and clinic area for the health district, they said, and will also be available for continued use by the American Red Cross bloodmobile unit.

Had it been sold for warehouse or similar use this would not have been possible. Legion officials also held down the price to the district to help counties meet the cost of purchase and remodeling.

Dr. Wayne Carte, health district medical director, said he is happy with the selection and it will provide adequate space. He said he has contacted the mental health services to ask if they are interested in using some of the space in the building.

Under an earlier proposal, the Legion had asked for retention of space for meetings and activities but under the outright sale this will not be necessary.

Dr. Carte said office space can then be made available for mental health providing they can come up with some of the remodeling costs in lieu of rent. (Continued on p. 21)

March 3 target for adjournment

BOISE (UPI) — Co-chairmen of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee Saturday set a target date of March 3 for final adjournment of this session of the state legislature.

Sen. Richard Hugh, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, said they will begin fashioning a general fund budget in committee next Monday, and should have bills ready for introduction by Thursday.

Neither would say what he thinks will be the overall appropriation figure for the general fund, but Roberts said $161 million is "the absolute top."

"We can adequately meet the needs of the state on less than that," Roberts said.

(Related stories, p. 7, 8)

Some members of the committee privately said they believe the final sum will be between $158 million and $159 million, and that more or less than that would lead to warfare between house and senate. The co-chairmen declined comment on this report.

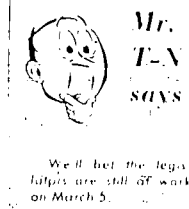

"We have to have about 50 hours of committee time to put this together," Hugh said, adding the joint committee can prepare for the introduction by Thursday if members are not tied up in floor action.

Roberts agreed and vowed that it will not be our committee that holds up final adjournment.

"We are going to do everything possible to meet a target date on adjournment of the 3rd of March," Roberts said.

He said he believes this legislature will provide tax relief with some of the $8 million in recurring federal revenue sharing funds to be given the state. His own preference, he said, is to repeal the $10 head tax and replace it with $2½ million to $3 million in revenue sharing monies.

"It provides relief to the small taxpayer as well as the large taxpayer," Roberts said. "You're not finding utilities and big business getting the lion's share as you would under the governor's proposal for property tax relief." (Continued on p. 8)

Cease-fire punctured

SARGON (UPI) — Only hours after North and South Vietnamese officers agreed to urge an end to cease-fire violations, the level of fighting Sunday abruptly picked up.

While the four-party Joint Military Commission (JMC) issued its appeal to the troops in the field, the Saigon command reported 167 trace violations by the Communists in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. Sunday.

Welfare payments increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of persons receiving welfare in September, 1972, rose by more than 16,000, according to statistics released Saturday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service said the nation's total welfare cost was $1.6 billion for the month, a drop of $30.3 million from the preceding month.

The decrease in total costs was attributed to smaller expenditures during the month for medical assistance, primarily Medicaid, and for the needs of all areas, despite the increase in the number of welfare recipients.

Bridge wreck jams traffic

TWIN FALLS — Idaho State Police were investigating two accidents on or near the Perrine Bridge late Saturday night.

The accidents caused traffic to back up on both sides of the bridge over the Snake River. Officers indicated one of the accidents, involving a motorcycle, resulted in injuries, but the extent of those injuries was not immediately learned.

CSI, Idaho rights panel clarify positions on campus bias finding

TWIN FALLS — Positions were further clarified late last week concerning a finding by the Idaho Human Rights Commission of "reasonable cause" to suspect sex discrimination at the College of Southern Idaho.

CSI President James L. Taylor told the college student newspaper, "Horizon," that the college would respond to questions by the Human Rights Commission. While Taylor acknowledged there was no legal requirement to respond to the HRC, he told student reporter Stanley Wachstetter CSI would not "hide behind the law."

The "Horizon" article, which appeared Friday, quoted Taylor as saying "It is within the province of the attorney to interpret the law. But if you try to hide behind the law, some of the public might interpret that to mean we had something to hide." CSI attorney J. Robert Alexander had earlier indicated that the college did not have to respond to the HRC interrogatory.

Taylor also told the "Horizon" that Terrell Castaneda, the former French teacher who filed a complaint with the HRC alleging sex discrimination, was not retired in the "best interests of the institution." Taylor told the student paper that an accusation of a $1,600 pay differential between males and females was "totally erroneous."

Taylor did admit to the "Horizon" that beginning male custodians at CSI earn up to $90 per month more than female counterparts. He said the difference in pay could be attributed to a difference in job description. He said the women did lighter work.

Taylor said concerning the Castaneda case that the agency should not possess the privilege of finding guilt without trial. "The fact is, the previous hearing was only for side. The institution has not as yet presented its. The paper quoted Taylor.

HRC attorney director Fred Grant said Saturday the commission had made no determination of guilt. He said the money had found "reasonable cause" to hold a public hearing on the Castaneda charges.

Grant said it was true that no attempt had been made to notify CSI officials of the earlier meeting on Jan. 13. But, he said, Ms. Castaneda was not notified either. He said she attended only because she called the commission and asked to attend.

Magistrate court gets parking ticket hassle

By BOSSIE JONES Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The first parking citation to be contested or come before magistrate court in Twin Falls County appeared Friday.

J. James Koutnik, area businessman, has entered a plea of innocent to charges of improper parking, involving parking in a reserved parking space on a downtown parking lot. He posted a $2 bond before Judge Daniel Meehl at 5 p.m. Friday.

Koutnik is contesting the city's policy of reserving space on the downtown parking lots which were provided through the second phase of the downtown improvement project. He is asking for a court trial before Magistrate Judge Daniel Meehl.

Fred Plankey, representing Koutnik, said his client is contesting the parking fine on a basis of the unfair situation in which the taxpayer is paying police costs for enforcement of a personal privilege that of the reserved parking space.

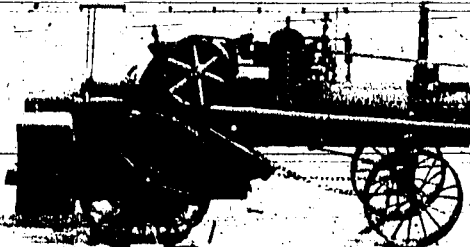

In his statement, Koutnik said it is not the fine, but he feels it is totally unconstititutional and immoral to lease out public parking lots in the middle of the choicest downtown parking area to accommodate a small group of employees and store owners.

These parking spaces were for all of the people of Twin Falls, not just for the small handful of fat cats who can afford $5 a month fee and let the rest of the people who want to shop wander aimlessly up and down through the mall and parking lot area," Koutnik said.

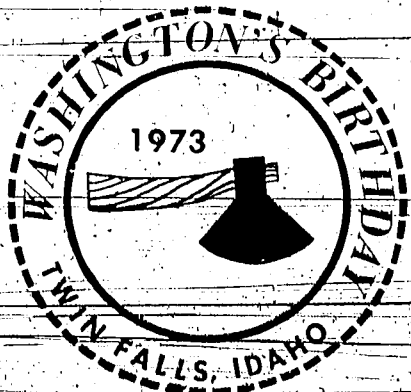

He said Beth Wickham Real Estate registered the complaint against what is reportedly his automobile parked in the firm's reserved space.

Koutnik said it is not right Mrs. Wickham could send him to jail for 90 days or cost him a $300 fine if he is convicted of the misdemeanor. Koutnik said he plans to ask for a trial before the judge rather than a jury trial.

CAA march

TWIN FALLS - Volunteer contributions are being accepted by the Community Action Agency in Twin Falls to send delegates to Washington, D. C., Tuesday in a CAA march.

Bob Russell, local administrator, said funds will be accepted at the CAA Tuesday, although delegates will already have gone.

It is hoped a senior citizen and a board member and possibly two to three others who have benefited from the CAA program in Magic Valley can make the trip to illustrate to Congress and the President the benefits of CAA programs which are no longer being funded.

Purpose of the "march" Russell said, is to appeal for continuation of such "people" programs as CAA which appear to have fallen victim to the presidential economy move.

Woman laments abortion ruling

"PEACE... IT'S WONDERFUL"

I want to inform the public of what they can do since the Supreme Court has overridden the states in liberalized legalized abortion laws.

Some sort of competition with the UP, as well as connections, would be created by the Santa Fe should it obtain the Rio Grande-Western Pacific route from Colorado through Salt Lake City and on to San Francisco.

And it might be interesting to speculate on which might happen to the UP's Ogden-San Francisco line. It parallels the Western Pacific most of that distance.

in light of the complexity of those steps and considering the competitive nature of railroads as transportation firms, any definite action is probably several years away.

Calley appeal planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's highest military court will get a chance to rule on the conviction and sentencing of 1st Lt. William L. Calley, Jr.

Defense attorneys for the 29-year-old officer said Saturday they would take his case to the Army's Court of Military Appeals, following a ruling by the Army's Court of Military Review upholding Calley's 20-year sentence for the massacre at My Lai in March 1968.

The Army's Court of Military Review upheld the conviction and sentence Friday, almost five years after the massacre and two years after Calley's conviction.

He committed an atrocity (and) the approved sentence is not too severe a consequence of his choosing to commit mass murder," the court said.

Capt. J. Houston Gordon, Calley's 26-year-old attorney, said he would petition the U.S. court of Military Appeals, comprised of three civilian judges and often dubbed the supreme court of the armed forces.

However, the higher court is not Calley's final recourse. President Nixon has already said he will review the case after all other appeal channels have been exhausted. Nixon or the Secretary of the Army could reduce the sentence further or overturn the conviction entirely.

The sentence was reduced in an earlier review from life to 20 years.

Calley remains confined to his quarters at Fort Benning, Ga., pending the outcome of his appeals. President Nixon ordered that Calley be removed from the stockade until the final outcome of the appeal process when he intervened in the case two years ago.

L. PATRICK GRAY named as last

Gray FBI post choice

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon Saturday nominated his longtime political associate, L. Patrick Gray III, to be director of the FBI and continue in the post he assumed on an acting basis after J. Edgar Hoover's death last May.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also announced the President selected G. Bradford Cook, general counsel of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), to be commission chairman and picked John R. Evans, a congressional staff member, to be a member of the SEC.

Gray is the first FBI director to require Senate confirmation. Gray already has instituted a number of controversial changes in the FBI structure. Some longtime associates of Hoover, who headed the bureau from its inception almost 50 years ago, have complained that Gray lacks experience in law enforcement.

ert C. Byrd predicted there would be "formidable" opposition to Gray in the Senate. The number of West Virginia senators said Gray engaged in partisan political activity during Nixon's successful race for re-election last Fall.

The FBI directorship was the last major post to be filled for the second Nixon administration.

Gray, 56, retired from a 20-year career in the Navy in June, 1960, to join the personal staff of then Vice President Nixon, who was preparing for his first run for the White House.

Ziegler said he was confident that Gray would be confirmed by the Senate despite some grumbling by congressional Democrats that Gray's ties are too close to the President.

Gem land use planning sent to interim panel

BOISE — The Senate Resource and Environment Committee sent Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' administration proposal on land use planning in Idaho on the road toward an interim study committee Friday.

Sen. David Bivens, R-Idaho, suggested that five representatives and five committee members should be appointed to study the proposal between legislative sessions. The move effectively kills the bill's chances for passage for the current session.

Peavey attacks industry claims

BOISE — Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, accused unnamed container industry spokesmen of "deliberate distortion" in public statements in remarks he made on the floor on the Senate Friday.

Reading from a prepared statement, Peavey, the sponsor of a controversial measure to outlaw non-returnable beverage containers, said he wanted to "alert the members of the Senate to the piece of fiction which has been given to them."

He was referring to an article which appeared in an Oregon newspaper, copies of which were circulated among the senators.

Peavey said in his remarks the figures contained in the article were made public by the container industry spokesmen, and "seemed to demonstrate that the number of bottles and cans found in roadside litter since Oregon's bottle bill went into effect had actually increased, rather than decreased."

Peavey cited subsequent statements by Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, who said the bill is "working to Oregon's great satisfaction," and praising it as a "rip-roaring success."

Peavey's measure, which he has withdrawn after a five-week battle in favor of a requested interim study committee, was the subject of considerable controversy earlier in the session.

TF County veterans get funds

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County veterans and their dependents received $71,288 in federal and state funds Friday.

According to the Idaho Veterans Affairs Commission, the federal funds include pensions, compensation and insurance awards. State funds were for direct assistance to eligible veterans under the Emergency Relief Program.

Of about 110,000 veterans in Idaho, about 6,402 reside in Twin Falls County, according to the commission. In Twin Falls County, Willard Swartley, county service officer, assisted veterans in securing these benefits.

Coverage trimmed in exemption bill

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee Friday voted out for amendment a bill which would cancel all ad valorem property tax exemptions for organizations which discriminate on the basis of race, religion or natural origin.

Sen. Phil Batt, R-Wilder, said he had talked to members of the state attorney general's office and found the original proposal was "too broad" and took in religious groups, already covered under other statutes.

Earlier this week the attorney general's office issued an opinion saying it was illegal for organizations who discriminate to receive property tax exemptions from the state.

The measure will go the 14th order of business of the Senate floor where it will be amended.

Jail term meted in airline case

DENVER (UPI) — Ronald Lee Illingworth, convicted last month of transporting explosives aboard an aircraft, has been sentenced to six months in jail by a federal judge.

Illingworth also received a four-and-one-half year probation, provided he meets certain conditions.

A U.S. Customs agent arrested Illingworth Nov. 19 at Stapleton International Airport after he told a ticket agent he was carrying dynamite in an attache case.

He was arrested as he tried to board a United Air Lines jet for Des Moines, Iowa.

U.S. District Judge Alfred Aron said the probation would be revoked if Illingworth drank, flew on commercial aircraft or handled dynamite during the period. He must also obtain psychiatric treatment after his release from jail.

Crime handgun penalty asked

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate passed Friday a bill which would impose additional penalties on criminals who carry hand guns when they commit crimes.

After the bill passed 19-16 Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, told senators he may call for reconsideration of the measure.

Under the bill which was tagged as "anti-gun legislation" by several senators, criminals would face an additional 5 to 15 years in prison if they were found carrying a gun while committing a crime.

Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, said the measure had "nothing to do with control of firearms," but would merely discourage criminals from carrying guns when they committed certain felony crimes.

But Sen. Dane Watkins, R-Idaho Falls, said, "I don't want to be associated with anti-gun legislation."

He said if the measure passed this session of the legislature would be known for passing anti-gun legislation. He said he could favor the proposal if it included all weapons rather than just guns.

The bill has been sent to the House following Friday's Senate vote.

Abortion regulation proposed

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Loveless, D-Pocatello, says he plans to ask the House Judiciary Committee Monday to introduce a memorial to Congress on abortions.

He said the memorial will ask Congress to propose a constitutional amendment reaffirming the right of states to regulate abortions and thereby nullify the recent U.S. Supreme Court Ruling which struck down several states' abortion laws.

Retirement credit goal of measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. Frank Church says he is co-sponsoring a bill to allow repatriated POWs to count each day in captivity as two days in service towards their retirements.

"The effect of the legislation," he said Friday, "will be that those who were prisoners the longest will receive the greatest benefits."

The legislation also would provide that former prisoners be paid a per-day benefit for their time in captivity.

Panel balks at fund plan

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

BOISE — The Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee balked Friday at approving a junior college requested proposal that would insure the schools' annual lump sum disbursement of state funds.

Sen. Dick Smith, R-Rexburg, former president of the Idaho Board of Education, said the measure would mean the state's two junior colleges would be "treated very differently" from other state agencies as well as higher educational institutions, which he said receive quarterly funding checks.

Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, committee chairman, told the senators the schools had requested the bill when they became involved in a dispute with the state budget office earlier in the school year.

Budget director D. E. (Skip) Chilberg notified the two schools, College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls and North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene, that they would no longer receive the annual disbursement they had been getting in past year.

Representatives of the two schools complained, claiming the decision amounted to switching the ground rules for state funding.

But an attorney general's opinion said the budget director entitled to make the funding decision. The attorney general's ruling, dated at the time of the attorney general's ruling of a court appeal, perhaps reaching to the Idaho Supreme Court.

Smith told the committee Friday it was "a physical impossibility" to ask the state to provide annual lump sum disbursement for all agencies, because it would be always borrowing the money.

The committee will discuss the bill again next week.

In other action, committee members voted out onto the floor without recommendation a bill granting non-certified public school employees sick leave and changing from eight days a year to one day a month the amount of sick leave granted to all the employees.

They also held in committee two other bills, one of which would have required the Department of Environmental Protection and Health board to give funds to private community comprehensive mental health centers in health districts where the state is not providing similar services.

The measure after the committee received information showing that salaries being paid to professionals of the Eastern Mental Health Center, a private organization, are higher than in state-operated centers.

Dale Hlger, president of the Mental Health Association of Idaho said the effect is to place the Idaho Falls facility in "direct competition" with the state.

March 3 windup date set

Both houses of the legislature conducted their second Saturday meeting of the session, but cleaned up their business before noon.

Three new measures were introduced in the senate and seven were approved by that body. The house passed five bills and introduced eight new proposals.

Debate in the house centered on a bill exempting hospitals from liability — except in cases of gross negligence — for emergency treatment of injured persons. The bill finally passed 43-18.

Rep. Ray Infanger, R-Salmon, urged adoption of the proposal — calling it a "Good Samaritan" bill. He and Rep. Russell Fogg, R-Idaho Falls, told the house "the life you save may be your own" if members approved the bill and sent it to the senate.

But Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, said the measure lowers standards for the hospitals of Idaho and warned that "you're not helping anyone with this legislation — you're giving negligent hospitals a license to maim and cripple and kill."

Another controversial bill sent to the senate — by a vote of 38-25 — requires bids on all purchases by highway and good-road districts which exceed $2,500.

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, said this is an unnecessary restriction on the district commissioners and one that will cost them money.

But Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, said "this little extra trouble and little extra expense is warranted to preserve integrity in some districts needing it."

Senate panel due abortion measure

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

BOISE — The Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee will get its first formal look Monday of drafted legislation restricting — but not longer prohibiting — abortions in Idaho.

The special five-man subcommittee has been working on the legislation since the full committee was told several days ago that the current state law would likely be ruled unconstitutional if it were tested in light of recent US Supreme Court rulings.

The draft proposal circulated to the committee members divides the length of pregnancy into three trimesters, and applies increasingly strict regulations to each of the phases of pregnancy.

During the first trimester, until the 13th week of pregnancy, a woman may have an abortion following a physician's counseling and with her own and her husband's consent, if the husband is available to provide his consent.

The bill also provides that the operation may be performed in a hospital, physician's regular office or clinic.

The second trimester's regulations, which apply through the 24th week of pregnancy, hold that abortions must be done in a hospital, and apply similar counseling and consent provisions.

During the third trimester, after the 24th week of pregnancy, abortions would be prohibited in the state, except for the exemptions which exist under current law, which include circumstances in which the life of the pregnant woman is threatened or the fetus would be unlikely to survive following delivery or in birth.

In addition, the bill specifically provides that no hospital may be forced to permit abortions, and enables any medical doctor, nurse or assistant to refuse to participate in the operations on moral or religious grounds, merely by notifying the hospital in writing of the objection, but without mention of the cause.

The drafted legislation notes in its purpose clause the "immediate danger of widespread and undesirable abortion practices within the state," and says the law is written without the legislature "condoning or approving abortion or the liberalization of abortion laws generally."

Service tax cut studied

BOISE (UPI) — Bills that would give a tax break to national guardsmen and reservists are being held for further study by lawmakers in the House.

While one bill would grant guardsmen a tax exemption on the first $3,000 in income from their guard service, the other bill would give other military reservists the same exemption. However, legislators are questioning the fiscal impact on the State of Idaho.

When the bills were first introduced by the judiciary committee, sponsors said the impact would be about $10,000 for guardsmen or possibly $80,000 for inclusion of the reservists as well.

But Idaho's Adjutant General, Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, indicated to the committee the impact on state revenues would be more than that — maybe $200,000.

Bennett told the Revenue and Taxation Committee that the proposal is designed as an incentive for young men to join the guard now that they are no longer pressured by the draft.

He said about two-thirds of those affected by the proposed legislation earn under $1,000 per year in guard pay.

Bennett told the committee he was uncertain whether the legislation — which he said came out of judiciary and rules — would without his knowledge — is a "panacea."

Flower boxes set example

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Ours is one of the happy city stories," says Peggy Mann Houlton. Mrs. Houlton's story could be called "Save it with flowers." It concerns her family, their desire to stay in her native New York City, to live in a house instead of an apartment, and what happened when they bought a brownstone in "the center of a nightmare block."

What happened could be the example citizens could follow in any other slum area in any city, she said. Start as simply as the Houltons did—with window boxes and through a chain of events end up happily in a block that's become a greenery showpiece, practically crime-free, the subject of a book, "Coward," by McCann (Geopagan).

It's called "The Street of the Flower Boxes." Mrs. Houlton writes for magazines and has produced some 20 children's books using her maiden name of Peggy Mann. Her husband, Bill, born in London, is a writer also and vice-president of a national public relations firm. They have two children, Jennie, 10, and Betsy, 7. Jennie is now a regular on a daytime television serial, "The Doctors."

The author said their whole "happy street" story started with pursuit at the start of the 1960s of a house they could afford—and that meant if they stayed in New York, scouting a rundown, slum-like area. Through a friend they heard of a house on West 94th Street and eventually purchased it for the incredibly low (for New York) price of $17,000. It took another $10,000 of complete renovation to make the four stories of the vintage-1800 house habitable.

When the Houltons moved in, the block was bursting at the seams with Puerto Rican and black families in tenements, many of them former brownstones chopped into small apartments.

The area was full of prostitutes, pushers, addicts, derelicts, gang warriors and feuds.

But it also was part of a 20-block area destined for a government urban renewal program which would put new, high-rise apartments on the avenues and turn the street brownstones back to single family dwellings.

In addition to decent housing, the goal was ethnic and economic integration of poor, middle class and wealthy living at peace in a small area. As the "pilot" family for what might be done nationally, the Houltons ran into their first problem with flowers—they planted two boxes of ivy and petunias in their front arwayway.

Promptly, the flowers were ripped out by Carlos (not his real name), a leader of a suburban gang on the block. The Houltons patiently replanted and offered Carlos 25 cents a week to water the flowers.

Pretty soon Carlos was taking other children past the Houltons' and saying, "I'm the

Thinking Day set Thursday

TWIN FALLS — The Girl Scout Thinking Day and Song Festival will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Presbyterian Church.

Each of the nine troops participating will present a song or a dance from another country. Some of the songs and dances scheduled are "Mexican Hat Dance," "Virginia Reel," "The Seven Step or Hop" and "Queen Mary Call Me Mutton Chops!"

Local Girl Scout officials said that one day each year Girl Scouts and Girl Guides everywhere join their thoughts as a powerful prayer that all men shall be friends. Thursday was chosen as it is the birthday of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of the Girl Scout movement.

The public is invited to the program and refreshments will be served.

Restrictions on Shoshone listed

TWIN FALLS — City engineering department officials have announced traffic restrictions will be in force during the coming week on Shoshone Street.

The restrictions will be necessary in connection with the replacement of pipe carrying the Eighth Avenue Lateral at the intersection of Shoshone Street and Eighth Avenue East and North.

Ed Kibbe, engineer, said it will be necessary to close at least two lanes of Shoshone Street at a time during the removal of the old lateral pipe and placement of the new. Contractors for the project are Preece Morgan and Fairbanks.

Kibbe said it is hoped the street can reopen late in the week. Crews will move to the work site on Tuesday.

Barricades will be set up to warn traffic on black's distance in each direction from the intersection on Shoshone Street and on Eighth Avenue. Motorists frequenting Shoshone Street may wish to select alternate routes, Kibbe said.

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

Steeple fall

L.A. CORUNA, Spain (UPI) — Spanish film director Claudio Guerin died Friday after falling from a church steeple while directing a scene of the film, "Devil's Country," the official news agency Cifra said. He was 34.

Guerin fell 100 feet from the steeple of St. Martin's church in the village of Noya, on the coast near the northwestern port town of La Coruna.

He died while being taken to a hospital.

A production spokesman said they would carry on making the film as a homage to Guerin. "He believed work was the best tribute," the spokesman said.

Governor critical

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Aides to Winthrop Rockefeller Friday announced the condition of the former Arkansas governor, suffering from cancer, has become critical.

Rockefeller, 60, one of five grandsons of the legendary U. S. industrialist John D. Rockefeller, is hospitalized in Palm Springs, Calif.

Albright would not elaborate. Rockefeller was first hospitalized last September at Manhattan's New York Hospital after removal of a cyst that was confirmed malignant.

Navy to build base on Puget Sound

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a decision with major strategic implications, the Navy Friday announced it will build its sole base for the new Trident missile-firing submarine near Bangor, Wash., on Puget Sound.

Navy Secretary John W. Warner said the Trident, with its long-range missiles, would operate initially from the Pacific Ocean, thus broadening in the future the ocean area of operations of the deterrent submarines.

Because the primary base for missile-firing submarines is now at Charleston, S.C., on the U.S. east coast, the Navy's decision will mean the Soviet Union must spread its anti-submarine forces across two oceans in the 1980s.

The Trident is a nuclear-powered, missile-carrying submarine. Ten of them will be built to replace the oldest 10 Polaris submarines, built in the 1950s to launch Polaris missiles.

Warner also announced plans to expand operations at Bangor by homeporting an additional six Poseidon missile-carrying submarines there before the end of this year. The South Carolina naval base is already the home port for 20 crews of these ships, which are deployed overseas.

In picking the West Coast location for the Trident base, the Navy turned down a number of sites surveyed in South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida.

Warner said the present Bangor Annex Naval Torpedo Station would be expanded to create the submarine base. He said the site on Hood Canal, 10 miles north of Bremerton, Wash., "permits easy deepwater access to the Pacific Ocean."

The Navy's timetable now calls for the base to be ready to support the first Trident submarine when it becomes operational in late 1978.

Warner said the Navy plans to build 10 Tridents eventually, and all would be based at Bangor.

Warner said the base would employ approximately 3,000 military and 3,000 civilian personnel. Construction would have a total payroll of about $7.5 million per month.

Warner said the estimated cost of the new Trident base was about $50 million.

The Navy decision followed two years of study which included surveys of harbor and channel conditions, climate, environmental impact, availability of adequate government-owned work force and the presence of land.

Successful retirement doesn't come naturally — we must work at it.

The experts have always said it's never too early to start planning your retirement. Couples still in their forties are advised to begin evaluating their finances, health, housing, leisure, and other factors. Even if you're already retired, there are a few tips that spell success.

(1) Know exactly what your finances are. For most of us, retirement necessarily means reduced income. Consider your cash outflow. What do you spend in interest charges for credit accounts, banking services, car maintenance? Is it all worth it? What expenses can you prune down or actually eliminate? The chances are you'd never even miss them once they're off your list.

(2) Get a complete health checkup. It's particularly vital to start retirement with a complete understanding of your health, your limitations. Even if you don't get a complete bill of health from your doctor, you'll be better for knowing exactly what to expect from your body in the coming years.

(3) Do you really need your car? This, of course, depends on where you live, nearness to family and friends, your day-by-day activities. The family car can be our biggest household cost. The Federal Highway Administration says an average car over a 10-year period will cost $13,553 to purchase and maintain — or 13¢ cents per mile for the estimated 100,000 miles it will travel. The biggest drain is depreciation; on the average, depreciation chips off 30% of your investment the first year, 60% the second, 45% the third year.

(4) Replace all outdated or defective major appliances — before retirement. Certainly do this before you move anywhere. Decide in advance whether to junk the ancient washing machine before trucking it to a new home, or you're settled into a fixed budget.

(5) Housing and leisure. These two are often intertwined. One New Jersey couple I know used to drive back and forth on weekends to their boat docked at a lake 15 miles away. When they decided to sell their home, of course they bought a house on the lake. Incidentally, this happens to be

Trouble seen on dropping subsidy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A small boy, his head swathed in a fuzzy wool handkerchief, sat beside an anxious woman on the crowded bus. "Mamma, mamma, tell me, do I look like a cosmonaut?" the boy repeatedly asked. "Leave-me-alone," the woman snapped. "You're a little fool, not a cosmonaut." A lady nearby retorted: "Why do you speak like that to the child? Look at him, he hasn't got anything."

The newspaper in Moscow said today the mother replied by removing the handkerchief. An aluminum saucerpan capped the boy's head. "We're on our way to the third clinic," the mother said. "The first two couldn't get it off."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — bank? He said the elimination of income supplements would hit hardest the small family farmers... forcing thousands of his new farm program which would gradually phase out multi-billion dollar price supplement crop subsidies. Nixon announced his plan Thursday. It would replace present subsidies, expected to reach $2.5 billion for grains and cotton this year after peaking at $3.5 billion last year, with a new system of annual payments compensating farmers only for acreage the government decides must be idled in any given year to avoid surpluses. In years when markets are so good that no rental for land idling, or set-aside is needed, payments would drop to zero. "In essence it's a call for abolishing all farm programs... (and) could destroy our family farm system," protested Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn. Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said the Nixon proposals in part were "nothing more than calling for a return to the old Ezra Taft Benson soil bank? He said the elimination of income supplements would hit hardest the small family farmers... forcing thousands of details of Nixon's plan, and perhaps could be persuaded to accept partial movement toward its goal. "But the trouble is that many farm bloc members of Congress don't want to go in that direction at all," one highly placed aide said. Administration experts estimated that if Nixon's new plan were in full effect in 1973 with farmers likely to idle up to about 25 million acres, government land retirement payments might reach $1.5 billion. This would be about $1 billion less than the $2.5 billion actually scheduled for the year.

Nixon outlined the proposal in the natural resources message he sent to Congress Thursday. He said it would put the United States in a strong position to negotiate for expanded export markets in world trade talks later this year. Similar blasts were expected from farm groups like the National Farmers Union and National Farmer's Organization which want stronger government minimum-support protection rather than the phase-out over "a reasonable transition period" suggested by Nixon. And House Agriculture Committee sources predicted a majority of that panel's members "won't want a phase out."

Congressional sources predicted the administration would be willing to compromise on A bicycle dealer named William D. Alexander in 1900 became the first person to drive an automobile on the streets of Atlanta.

Mind Your Money

BY PETER WEAVER — If you have trouble getting a credit card or opening an account with a store, you may be suffering from a "creditability" gap. We're a country of borrowers with billions being lent out every year. Yet many consumers have trouble getting credit. For example, lenders are often leery of extending credit to blacks (depending on their address), divorced women (not divorced men), the young and the retired.

Lenders claim these minorities often do not have enough of a track record to show that they're capable of borrowing and paying back without a hitch. Don't despair. There are ways almost anybody can build up a solid credit rating.

Most lenders agree that a person who has borrowed cold cash and has paid it back with no late payments will get a good credit rating. The fact that you might pay your utility bills and rent on time doesn't count. These are necessities that borrowers will always pay off first even if they have to let other bills go. Opening up a charge account with a major chain store or getting a bank credit card are fair indications of credit-worthiness but not as good as faultless repayment of a cash loan.

The first thing you need, of course, is a steady job and some sort of bank or credit union account. Once you've established these minimum requirements, you can start shopping for credit. If you're turned down by local stores, you should apply for a loan with your bank or credit union. If you borrow, say, $500 from a bank or credit union, it might charge 10 per cent interest for one year. This means your loan will cost $50.

It's not always easy to borrow from a bank and not everybody can belong to a credit union. You may have to borrow from a finance company at higher interest rates. The average finance company loan costs around $15 per $100 or 15 per cent. This would put the cost of borrowing $500 for one year at $75.

You should immediately put your borrowed money in a savings account which will pay around 5 per cent interest. By leaving your money in the account for a year, you'll earn $25. Subtract the $25 from the amount it cost to borrow the money. You'll get a net figure of $25 if you borrowed from a bank or credit union or $50 if you borrowed from a finance company.

This is your net cost for setting yourself up with a positive item in your credit rating and, of course, you will also have a nice savings account of $500 which will be earning $25 a year.

Once you've taken the pains to establish this kind of credit image, make sure creditors know about it. You should definitely pay a visit to your local credit bureau (store credit managers know where it can be found) and insist on seeing your credit report. It's your right under the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

If you were previously denied credit because of a negative report, the visit won't cost anything. Even if you have not been denied credit, you should still insist on seeing your report. You may have to pay a small fee but it's worth it.

During your credit-bureau interview, make sure all your positive credit information has been noted in the report. Make them list your paid-up loan, any bank or credit union account, your job, national credit cards and local charge accounts.

Don't let any negative items slip into your polished credit rating. Always pay your bills and loan payments several days ahead of time so they won't be delayed in the mails. Never lie about your record. They'll catch you and you'll be branded as a liar and poor credit risk.

Boys talk business

R. D. MCKINNEY, vice president of Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., discusses loans with Boy Scouts Tim Walker and Brian Jensen, Kimberly. The scouts are borrowing money to pay registration fees at the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farragut State Park Aug. 1-7.

Bank loans finance trip to jamboree for scouts

TWIN FALLS — Bank loans will enable members of Scout Troop 65, Twin Falls, to attend the 1973 Jamboree at Farragut State Park.

Thirty-eight Scouts from the troop, sponsored by the First Christian Church, are planning to attend the jamboree, according to Scoutmaster Keith Jensen.

But when the troop needed $2,400 of the total fee of $3,000, and there wasn't time to earn the money, they turned to R.D. McKinney, vice president of Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co.

"We arranged for the boys to take out notes for the amounts needed at a minimum interest rate. Each Scout must pay a $75 fee for the jamboree," which he must earn. Now those Scouts who have notes with the bank will have to pay them off before they leave for the state park in north Idaho. But they are determined to do so.

Jensen said the Scouts will also need to earn money for food and supplies for the trip to the jamboree and home again. They will be gone from July 26 through Aug. 16. Jensen and Neil Wirsching, assistant scoutmaster, will accompany the troop.

"We paid the first part of the $75 registration fee, $15 per boy," Jensen said.

That payment was made from the troop bank account. Then the troop was billed early for the remaining $60 for each Scout because the available slots for boys at the jamboree were filling rapidly.

McKinney is a "graduate" of Troop 65 as a Life Scout in 1930. He believed it was a good idea to make loans available to the members of the troop. "As an orphan, the Boy Scouts provided me with invaluable associations," he said. "I owe them a great deal. The moral training I received as a Scout was influential in my later life."

"The boys who are borrowing are all eager to go to the jamboree and showed a conscientious attitude about paying the notes off in six months' time. They were very appreciative," he said.

Reporter to testify on House bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William T. Farr, a Los Angeles Times reporter who spent 46 days in jail rather than reveal his sources for a news article, will testify next month before a House subcommittee considering bills to protect a newsman's confidential sources.

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., said today Farr would support a bill Waldie introduced under which reporters could not be compelled to disclose sources of published and unpublished information.

Waldie said Farr's testimony March 7 at a hearing of a House Judiciary subcommittee would offer "a frighteningly dramatic example of what has happened to just one newsman attempting to simply do his job in today's current climate of attempted intimidation and repression."

Farr was jailed for civil contempt for refusing to reveal the source of material for a story he wrote for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner during the Sharon Tate murder trial.

Supreme Court Associate Justice William O. Douglas ordered Farr released Jan. 11 "in the interest of justice", while the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit reviews his case.

Waldie is among members of Congress and at least three reporters scheduled to testify Tuesday when the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights opens hearings on legislation to shield reporters from forced disclosures.

At least 20 bills have been introduced in the wake of last year's Supreme Court ruling that nothing in the Constitution prevents newsmen from being compelled to testify.

Waldie said Farr has spent this life's savings in adhering to his conscience and in support of one public's right to know. It is for us now to seek an understanding of what democratic principle was so important and precious in Bill Farr's mind that he was willing to go to jail to preserve what really was not his personal right, but our right."

Pins given volunteers

CASSIA Memorial Hospital Pink Ladies presented pins and bars for volunteer service hours to 27 members Thursday, including, from left, Mrs. Rowena Warr, Oakley, 1,000 hours; Mrs. Eula Clark, Oakley, 1,000 hours, and Mrs. Genette Butters, Burley, 4,500 hours. Mrs. Warr also received a pin signifying her duty as a past president of the organization.

POWs had decent care

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — The commander of the hospital where the first 142 released POWs were taken said today the prisoners must have been given decent care and adequate food, judging from their good health.

Col. John W. Ord, 49, a native of Baker, Ore., said at a news conference the returned POWs who arrived Monday were in "really good" mental and physical condition.

He said they were able to feed their "extremely enormous" appetites with only one man showing any ill effects.

Thursday night, Ord said, the men even had a candle light dinner, featuring steak and cornish game hen and their first alcoholic beverages beer and wine.

"I'd like to say generally the condition of the men is really good," Ord said. "That applies to their mental condition, their physical condition, their dental condition, in all areas their condition was found to be good."

All of the returnees were housed at Ord's hospital, where they were given a battery of medical tests and processed before their onward flights to the United States this week.

PETS' FRIEND

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has ordered 12 makers of pet food to furnish documentation for certain advertising claims. The agency says it is not suggesting that the companies are guilty of violations of any FTC regulations. It is merely gathering information as part of its continuing program to determine what substantiation exists to support major claims. Typical of the claims the FTC wants substantiated: "Dog Food has nearly 9 per cent more protein than other leading brands, is completely nutritious and is good for a dog's stamina, growth and digestive system." And on cat food — a claim that a brand of canned food "meets 100 per cent of a cat's daily nutritional needs."

Shanghai world's biggest city

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Shanghai has moved ahead of Tokyo and New York to become the world's biggest city with a population of 10.8 million, the U.N. Demographic Yearbook said Wednesday.

The 816-page report also included for the first time data on abortion.

The survey also disclosed such facts as that in seven countries, men have a longer life expectancy than women, that the life span in some nations is only 25 and that the New York borough of Manhattan has a population density of nearly 68,000 persons per square mile.

For the first time, the yearbook contains data from China, which was admitted to the United Nations in October, 1971.

The report, the most comprehensive compilation of world population data ever gathered, is published annually by the United Nations. It sells for $18.50 in paperback and $28 in hardcover.

The yearbook said that Tokyo ranks second as the most populous city with 8,041,000 persons. New York is third with 7,895,000, but if New York suburbs were included, it would rank as what the United Nations called "the largest urban agglomeration on record" with 11,572,000 persons.

The survey said Peking, with 7,578,000 inhabitants, is fourth in population followed by London, Moscow, Bombay, Seoul, Sao Paulo and Cairo.

The yearbook puts women ahead of men in most countries as far as life expectancy is concerned. Only in Sweden, Norway, Iceland, the Netherlands and Denmark can men expect to reach age 70. Sweden has the highest life span expectancy for both sexes: 76.5 years for women and 71.9 for men.

Only 22 nations listed abortion statistics but the data indicated that Denmark, Hungary, Singapore, England, Wales and Scotland have the most liberal abortion laws.

Pakistan, Jordan, Cambodia, India, Sri Lanka (Ceylon), Upper Volta and Nigeria were the only countries where men outlive women. In the West African nation of Gabon, the life expectancy for men is 25 and 45 for women.

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Singapore police booked more than 2,000 vehicles for smoking exhausts from July to September, 1972. This was nearly 630 less than in the corresponding period of 1971.

Pinball headed to shopping centers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Electronic game-playing on computerized "pinball" machines is headed into big shopping centers—and maybe big time business.

From a standing start last June, this urge to outsmart a smart computer at space-age games is expected to generate $1 million in sales over the next six months.

For a nominal charge the shopper needing a breather can play "Pong" for instance, which has a television-like screen with a net in the middle. A blip of light—the ball—darts over the net. There are two simulated paddles the player controls with levers.

The path of the ball across the screen is determined from where it is hit by a mini-computer capable of 14-million calculations per second, according to the manufacturer.

Pong is one of a family of such games built by Syzygy, a new company growing rapidly in the electronic industry's hatched-on-the-San Francisco Peninsula.

The Syzygy games involve sophisticated electronics, mini-computers, laser beams, liquid crystals and other complex technology.

An amusement arcade, with Pong, Computer Space and other such diversions, has been opened by the company at the Orange Mall, a large shopping center in Los Angeles. Another is scheduled to open soon at Oakridge Mall in San Jose, and more are planned.

From the start of last June, Syzygy has grown in a hall year to where it expects $4 million in sales over the next six months. Nolan Bushnell, 29, and S. Edz Dabney, 33, both engineers, invented the game Computer Space and it was a quick success. They sold that game to Nutting Associates, and used the royalties to form Syzygy Co., their own manufacturing and distributing firm. They were joined by Al Alosa, 25, who worked with them previously at Ampex Corp. Syzygy has 37 employees and is building a 25,000-square foot factory in Santa Clara. Bushnell calls the business "leisure applications of technology." The name Syzygy is from a scientific word used in astrology and implying interaction.

Israel may banish missionaries

JERUSALEM (UPI)— Israel may take steps to banish Christian missionaries from the Holy Land for trying to convert some successfully to Israel's way from Judaism, a government official said Friday.

According to groups backing a proposal to oust the missionaries, between 5,000 and 6,000 Israelis a year have been converted to Christianity by missionaries since the 1967 Middle East war.

The government official said Prime Minister Golda Meir's cabinet will discuss the status of missionaries, including their possible banishment, at its regular meeting Sunday.

"We don't take to missionaries and proselytizing," the official said of the estimated 1,000 missionaries in Israel. "We have to be rid of this problem somehow."

An Interior Ministry spokesman said approximately 10 missionaries were expelled last year while others left "after we gave them hints that they are not welcome."

The past week has seen three attacks against missionaries, arson attempts against the Mount of Olives Bible Center and the Mount Zion Press plus an explosion at the home of the local leader of Jews for Jesus.

The woman leader, Shira Lindsay, formerly of Dallas, Texas, denied trying to convert Israelis. She said she and her group are just Jews who found Jesus and the teachings of the gospel and have come to Israel because of this belief. Eight members of the militant Jewish Defense League were arrested in the arson attempt. But the JDL leader, Rabbi Meir Kahane, denied they were responsible even though his group opposes the missionaries.

Kahane staged a one-day hunger strike Thursday at the Walling Wall, Judaism's holiest shrine, in protest against missionary activity. Unless the government does something, he said, "there will be violence."

"I don't like soul snatching," Kahane told newsmen. "If you lose a Jew in Auschwitz or through conversion, it's still a soul lost to our people."

Filer's adult physical education class popular

FILER — Tuesday evenings are set aside for a number of young Filer couples to attend the adult physical education class at the Filer Elementary School.

The class is one of the new adult programs offered area residents under the Teachers Corps program. Other classes include sewing, knitting, powder puff mechanics, men's physical education and exercises for older people.

Although most of the couples enrolled in the Tuesday class include young married couples, several of the pairs are made up of young women who wanted to attend but whose husbands' jobs kept them away from home on some nights so they enlisted a friend for a partner.

Mr and Mrs. Kenneth True are instructors for the course which includes sitting-up exercises, mat exercises, volley ball and basketball. Five new classes in the adult program are scheduled to begin March 15. They include golf, women's physical education, cake decorating, interior decorating and guitar playing. There are 54 adults now enrolled in classes in the programs at the school, according to Mrs. Roy Watson, coordinator for the steering committee.

Mansion backed

BOISE (UPI) — Chairman William Roberts, R-Ruhl, Saturday said he believes the House Appropriations committee will appropriate $600,000 from non-recurring federal revenue sharing monies for a new governor's home.

"We've got to face the fact that something has to be done in providing a place for him," Roberts said, echoing criticism by others of the present mansion in Boise.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, chairman of the finance committee, said he has not seen the plans for the new executive residence. But he said that "we're all agreed we've got to do something about getting decent facilities for the governor."

Site chosen for facility

(Continued from p. 1) The health district has been given until April 1, 1974, to complete quarters in the Twin Falls City Hall to allow for relocation of the city engineering department and expansion of other city department offices.

Chancey said the district can take possession of the Legion Hall by May 1, giving the Jaycees and Junior Achievement Program which now use the building, time to relocate.

Dr. Carte said if the board approves the purchase Feb. 28, it will probably authorize the architect to begin preparing plans for remodeling so these can be ready for bids by May 1. This should give a contractor time to complete remodeling by the moving deadline.

Chancey, who is also chairman of the Twin Falls County commissioners, said Twin Falls County's share of remodeling costs will be taken from revenue sharing. The medical director had asked for a $1 per capita per county levy to provide $102,000 for purchase of a new home and remodeling of construction.

Chancey said the Twin Falls County share will be made available without budget difficulties. Most other counties have also indicated they will take similar action.

Although it was built in 1910, originally as an armory, the building has been termed sound and in good condition. It includes a main floor where office and clinic space are planned, a large basement area to be remodeled for laboratories and one small second story room.

Prior to approval of the Legion Hall Friday, the site committee also considered the old nursing home at the former county hospital, and Seventh Day Adventist Church property on Falls Avenue.

Parking arrangements for the Legion Hall, one of the drawbacks for the property, will be worked out with the city, Chancey said. Employees can park on the lot adjacent to the city hall two blocks away and the old Bill Workman used car lot will be available to the public, he said.

Serving with him on the site committee were Clyde Peterson, Wendell, Dr. Charles Parker, Jerome, Dr. Stephen Lincoln, Twin Falls, and Dr. Carte.

Leave to meet son

MR. AND MRS. Verl Chesley, Burley, had automobile Friday for trip to Boise airport and flight to Travis AFB where they were to meet their POW son, Larry, Saturday.

Reserved park space contested

(Continued from p. 1) City officials said Friday there are 150 leased parking spaces in the city for which the lessees pay $5 per month. There are six off-street parking lots in the central downtown area providing a total of 300 spaces of which 92 are leased. In addition there are 16 leased lots in one separate parking area in the downtown vicinity and two other adjoining area lots all of which are leased to make the 150 total.

Koutnik was allegedly parking in a space leased to Beth Wickham and located on the 85 stall lot behind the Bank of Idaho. This lot contains 16 leased spaces.

City Manager Jean Milh said the city did not purchase the property on which the parking spaces are located and did not spend taxpayer money for the improvement.

Returns from the metered stalls and those offered on a monthly rental basis are used to pay off the "mortgage" on the lots.

Improvement of the lots amounted to about $150,000 of the $600,000 phase 2 project, Milar said. Meters on the lots charge a rate of five cents per hour and are one, two and four hour meters.

Milar said the number of leased spaces was determined by the City Council and all are leased on a one-month basis and the lease or city can terminate the lease at the end of any month. They are leased on a 24-hour basis and are not open to the public at any time.

The city has, he said, in November and December when the peak holiday shopping is underway, received complaints about lack of public spaces but most other times of the year there appears to be adequate space on the lots and streets.

Milar said there is also some problem of downtown employees parking in the metered spaces and feeding meters throughout the day.

There is generally unused parking space within two to three blocks of the city center, but downtown shoppers and workers prefer to park adjacent to their destinations, he said.

Burley teacher given top award

By DAVID HORSMAN Times-News Writer
BURLEY - Mrs. Ray (Ruth) Reid, Burley, has been selected to receive the Valley Forge Teachers Medal Award by the Freedom Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa.

understanding of the American way of life. Presentation of the award will take place after April 1 at a site to be selected by Mrs. Reid.

Mrs. Ruth Reid... top teacher honorary chairman of the organization. Awards in nine general categories, including education, are presented annually by the Freedom Foundation on George Washington's birthday.

Mrs. Reid is perhaps best known locally for her work as head teacher at Opportunity School, Burley, where she developed a unique program for trainable handicapped children during the past 12 years. In teaching 11 to 13 handicapped children per year between the ages of 7 and 18, she "tried to prepare the students for the society they would enter at age 21."

Search resumes in Elko area

ELKO Nev. (UPI) - The search for a small plane missing 11 days in the Elko area resumed again today after a wreck sighted Friday turned out to be the wrong crash.

A spokesman at the Elko Airport said the wreck, although the right color and in the right area, has been identified as an old wreck.

Heavy and ground crews have searched the area daily despite bad weather. The Washoe Jeep Squadron joined the search midway through the week.

CAE officials say the search is concentrated in the Ruby Mountains at about the 11,000-foot level. The plane was last heard from as it checked in near Wells.

Northside group sets meeting

SHOSHONE - The Northside Communities Organization will have a dinner meeting at 7:15 p.m. Thursday at the Manhattan Cafe in Shoshone. Officers for the coming year will be elected.

Barbara Newell will present a program on historical societies and the preservation of antiques.

The election of officers was scheduled for the January meeting, but was postponed because of inclement weather.

County adopts trimmed budget

TWIN FALLS - County commissioners Friday adopted a budget which trims only $10,000 from the tentative $6.17 million budget.

The budget as adopted Friday calls for a total county expenditure including the $4.2 million Magic Valley Memorial Hospital budget, of $6.16 million as compared to $5.67 million last year.

While the budget is up eight per cent over the 1972 figure, County Auditor Harold Lancaster said it now appears if assessed valuation figures hold up as they are expected to it may be possible to reduce the tax levy slightly from last year.

During week-long hearing, only two persons appeared before the commissioners. One objected to the county recreation budget while the other only asked questions.

County Commissioner William Wiseman said he agreed the county parks and recreation budget was excessive and moved for a reduction of $15,000. No second was given his motion and another motion reduced it by $10,000. This was the only change from the tentative budget figure.

Chancey said the parks and recreation budget will be $600,000 less than last year's. He also announced an agreement has been signed with the Bureau of Land Management and Salmon River Canal Co. for completion and operation of recreation facilities at Salmon Dam. County participation funds were included in the budget, he said.

The county commissioners budgeted an additional $42,540 in revenue sharing money but made no specific designations in the final budget as to specific items it will cover.

The sheriff's budget is down slightly but it reflects removal of the prisoner meals program to the commissioners budget and increase for another

2 Rupert girls hurt in mishap

MINIDOKA - Two Rupert girls were injured in a school bus accident Thursday afternoon south of Minidoka. Robin Bailey, 17, and Mary Hohute, 14, suffered head injuries when the bus in which they were riding slid on an ice-covered curve, throwing the girls across the aisle. Both were treated and released from Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Aide at Rupert resigns

RUPERT - Mike Rinard, Rupert parks and recreation director, has submitted a letter of resignation to city officials.

He asks that the resignation be effective Feb. 28. Rinard said he will leave Rupert to join his father in a Lewiston optics manufacturing firm.

Since taking the city position in January, 1972, Rinard has become "one of the leading recreation directors in the area," according to Rupert Mayor Wendell Johnson.

Rinard replaced Terry Duffin who left to take a position with the Idaho Office on Aging. Johnson said the resignation would be accepted at the regular City Council meeting Tuesday.

The city parks and recreation committee will be asked to evaluate the Rupert program and recommend a replacement for Rinard, the mayor said.

Rinard said, "The people here have been great to work with. I regret very much leaving Rupert and Minidoka County."

George visits by boat

TWIN FALLS - George Washington visited Twin Falls via boat Saturday. In fact, he was paraded through the streets of the city with a brand new pickup towing his boat.

The pickup used to tow the boat was loaned to the Twin Falls Merchants Association by John Chris Motors and the Glastron Boat by Century Automotive Machine.

At least 50 Twin Falls merchants will participate in the gigantic sale. Those participating should have a sign in the front windows of their establishments designating them as being a part of the Monday sale.

George's parade Saturday traveled down through the Main Street and mall area of Twin Falls, out to West Five Points, then to the Blue Lakes Shopping area. He would up his travels with a visit to the Lynwood Shopping Center, Gibson's Discount Center and Shelly's market.

Accompanying George Washington on his boat trip were his two grandsons, Michael and Kevin Bittner, Twin Falls.

Fair today with increasing clouds

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Hupert area:
Fair today and tonight with increasing cloudiness Monday with a few light showers in the afternoon. Highs today and Monday 35 to 45; lows tonight, 20s. Probability of precipitation 10 per cent or less.
Cumas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley:
Mostly fair today and tonight, increasing cloudiness Monday with a few showers developing by late afternoon. Little change in temperature.

Highs today and Monday in the 20s, lows tonight zero to 10 below.
Synopsis:
Responsible for cloud increase in the western valleys tonight was a weak Pacific cold front stretching through eastern

Washington and Oregon. This system produced scattered areas of precipitation over Oregon, Washington and northern and western Idaho. However, chances of precipitation for southern Idaho will be confined to the central mountains with partly cloudy skies over the valleys.
With the frontal passage early today, fair conditions will return. In the upper Snake River valley fog or low clouds will continue during the night and morning hours for the next several days. Little temperature change is expected in the next few days. Highs most in the 40s in southeastern Idaho, to 25 to 35 in southeastern Idaho. Overnight lows mostly 25-35 in the western valleys and 15 to 25 in the east.

Bankers selected on panel

TWIN FALLS — Four bankers have been selected to serve on a committee to study the future of banking activities in Twin Falls.
Howard B. Fitzpatrick, president of the Idaho Bankers Association sponsors of the week's observance, said the Twin Falls committee will include Harold O. Hove, Twin Falls Bank and Trust, chairman; Ken Nowman, First Security Bank; Jack Ramsey, Idaho First National Bank; and Maurice Clifton, Bank of Idaho.
Theme of the special week's observance April 8 to 14, will be "See Idaho Grow — Banks Make It Happen." Purpose of the event, Hove said, is to call attention to banks and their contribution to the wholesome growth and development of the state and its communities.
During the week, Hove said, tentative plans call for open houses, tours and free gifts at various banking institutions.

2 reasons why the price of SILVER may rise steeply

Two powerful forces are at work today which make a steep rise in the price of silver inevitable.
First, the demand for silver surpassed new production for each of the last 20 years. And for each of the last 11 years the demand for silver surpassed new production by more than 100 million ounces. This excess of demand over supply is exerting a strong, steady upward pressure on the price of silver. During the 1960s the price of silver rose 95%.
Second, soaring federal budget deficits; record balance of payments deficits, and 37 years of inflation have brought the dollar to the brink of collapse. How is it possible now to buy gold for only 80 cents and silver for only 15 cents? The alternatives are narrowed to either runaway inflation or a full-scale depression.

Twin Falls Detweiler Temperatures bid lowest for plant

TWIN FALLS — Detweiler Brothers Co., Twin Falls, is the apparent low bidder on a water treatment facility at Miles City, Mont.
The firm bid $1.78 million to construct the facility, Don Zuck of Detweiler Brothers said Friday.
Thomas, Dean and Hoskins, Great Falls, is the architect-engineer firm for the project.
Zuck said work will begin immediately and is to be completed in 400 days. The plant is designed to treat water from the Yellowstone River for culinary purposes for Miles City.
Stevens was joined by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, in expressing hope for "prompt enactment" of legislation to permit the wider right-of-way. The senators presumably will introduce such legislation later to amend the Mineral Leasing Act of 1920, which limits the right-of-way to 54 feet, far less than 200 feet the Alaska Pipeline Service Co. says it needs.

Alaskan pipeline law change hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton says the administration may have to ask Congress to change the law so construction can proceed on the controversial Alaskan oil pipeline.
And the state's two Senators Thursday urged their colleagues to pass such legislation overturning a federal court decision that threatens to block construction of the nearly 800-mile-long pipeline hotly opposed by conservationists as a threat to the fragile Alaskan environment.

The pipeline was halted last week by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which ruled that the proposed pipeline right-of-way was wider than a 73-year-old federal law permits.
The court, ruling in a suit brought by several environmental groups, did not address itself to the question of whether the environment would be damaged.

During a White House news briefing, Morton said the administration was still studying the decision and the options left open to it. It would be a week or 10 days, he said, before any decision could be reached about whether to ask that the law be changed or appeal to the Supreme Court.
Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, said in a Senate speech that the U.S. Court of Appeals had "ducked the issues" by holding that a proposed right-of-way for the pipeline would be wider than allowed by law.

The court did not even consider environmental issues raised by the Wilderness Society, the Environmental Defense Fund and Friends of the Earth in their court suit opposing the project.

GP obtains Idaho firm timberland

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Georgia-Pacific Corp. Thursday announced purchase of all of Boise Cascade's timberlands in Northern California, amounting to about 225,000 acres, containing principally redwood and Douglas Fir.

Georgia-Pacific, a Portland-based firm, also said it purchased Boise Cascade's lumber and log inventories at Fort Bragg, Calif., adjacent to the timberlands.
R.B. Pamplin, Chairman and President of G-P, said, "We have requested permission from the federal trade commission to purchase Boise Cascade's two redwood sawmills, its particle board plant, 700 per cent of the stock in the California Western Railroad Co. and other related facilities at these operations." No purchase price was given.

McCulloch brings in major oil well

LOS ANGELES — A significant oil well was tested and completed recently in the Duchesne County portion of the Uinta Basin of Utah, according to McCulloch Oil, Inc.
McCulloch president, C. V. Wood, Jr., said the well flowed at a rate of 1,216 barrels of 42 degree gravity oil and 1.42 million cubic feet of gas per day.
The well was drilled to a depth of 12,020 feet. It is the first completed by McCulloch as the operator in the development of the prolific Bluebell Altamont Fields in the Uinta Basin. McCulloch is currently drilling an additional 10 wells, with a total of up to 32 development wells planned.

The Altamont and Bluebell fields are located 100 miles east of Salt Lake City. According to Wood, the Wasatch formation is potentially productive over an area of approximately 250 square miles. The fields produce from the Wasatch formation at depths ranging from 7,500 feet to 17,400 feet.

TF man acquires business

TWIN FALLS — Doug Klinge, Twin Falls, is now the owner and operator of Steam-Way carpet cleaners.
Klinge has purchased the firm from Eddie Englehart and will be operating throughout Magic Valley.
Klinge said Steam-Way is a highly successful method of cleaning carpets and furniture and the process is especially successful on new velvet furniture fabrics. In addition to conventional carpet and upholstery cleaning, the firm also handles ceiling tiles; roof-top air conditioner cleaning and is capable of cleaning grill and stove hoods for restaurants.
The firm also has a full line of janitorial services and will handle commercial or household carpets and furniture.
In addition to his wife and himself, there are five employees and three machines including one complete new unit available to serve the area.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — Douglas D. Vollmer, Twin Falls, has received certificate in real estate with specialization in appraisal from the University of California at Los Angeles.
TWIN FALLS — Floyd Miller Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. James Tarter, all of Twin Falls, attended the convention of OK Tire and Rubber Co. representatives in San Antonio, Tex.
TWIN FALLS — Affiliation of Mrs. Dorothy Showers, with Mangel Realty Co., Twin Falls, was announced Saturday by Nettie Mangel of that firm.
Mrs. Showers will be a sales representative dealing in general property sales. A native of Twin Falls, she returned to this area in 1971 when her husband Lt. Col. C. E. Showers, retired from the Air Force and they purchased a farm near Filer.
Mrs. Showers is the daughter of Mrs. Walter Day and the late Mr. Day, who was a real estate man in Twin Falls some years ago.

Jerome mart work proceeds

CONSTRUCTION of new Bob's Superette grocery in Jerome is expected to be completed early this spring. Roof is now being placed on cinder block structure owned by Bob Robinson, Jerome, to replace former Sawtooth Market, partly destroyed by fire in April, 1972. Estimated cost of the structure is $10,000. It is located on the same site as the market it replaces. Cold weather has hampered construction, but the pace has picked up the past few days.

Kellwood firm declares 45th straight dividend

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Fred W. Wenzel, chairman of the board of Kellwood Co., Friday announced the 45th consecutive quarterly dividend since the formation of the company.

The dividend of 18 cents per share of common stock, is payable on March 6 to shareholders of record as of Feb. 15.

Wenzel said the company is in the process of changing its fiscal year, and from Oct. 31 to April 30.

The current period, beginning Nov. 1, 1972, and ending April 30, 1973, will be a six-month year with the results reported to shareholders late in June or early in July. The new annual meeting of shareholders for fiscal year 1973 will be held the latter part of August.

The change in the fiscal year will allow Kellwood to make financial projections required for planting and expected by its shareholders and the financial community. Additionally, it will remove the annual closing from an active fall season and produce economies resulting from taking inventories at a more natural point.

Kellwood operates a poultry plant in Twin Falls.

TF firm packing Valley-grown catfish

TWIN FALLS — Sun Valley Processors, Inc., is packing Magic Valley grown channel catfish for distribution in the former Bertie's Poultry plant here. John U. Crandell, marketing director for the firm, said about 15 persons are presently employed by the firm but he anticipates expansion in the number of employees, the area served and the product lines handled.

By May, Crandell said, he anticipates employment to be near 50, with product lines for packing being expanded to include onion rings and salt water fish and shrimp.

Presently, however, the firm is packaging channel catfish under the Idaho Royal label for distribution in the Magic Valley, Texas, California and midwestern states.

Fish for processing in the plant are raised by John Kemper, manager of Royal Catfish of Idaho, on the former Blue Lakes Branch.

Crandell said the two firms are starting to look for new sources of natural hot water through a farm pond leasing program to expand production and to allow farmers and owners of hot water wells to become involved in the expanding catfish raising industry.

Crandell said catfish can be grown best in water of 78 degrees. Water at that temperature is available from natural sources at many locations in the Magic Valley. Plans are being developed to obtain brood stock, fingerlings, feeding and processing machinery through affiliation with a Texas firm operated by Don Carr of Eagle Pass, Tex., president of Catfish Farmers of America, Crandell said.

Catfish are raised from egg to market size, 10 to 14 ounces in weight and 12 to 14 inches long in seven to eight months, Crandell said.

Kemper is a director of the Catfish Farmers of America, having been elected to that post at the organization's national meeting in New Orleans, La. Also attending it was Tom Schooley, president of Royal Catfish.

SALT LAKE CITY — Deposits of First Security Corporation affiliate banks of $1.25 billion rank 55th among the nation's 100 largest banks, according to American Banker, daily newspaper of the banking industry.

Idaho FHA allotment increases

SPOKANE (UPI) — The manager of the Spokane Transit System said Thursday two locations in the Spokane Valley are being considered as sites for satellite parking facilities for express bus service to the downtown area.

Robert W. Harder said the locations, both near Spokane Valley Freeway interchanges, would be used for the development of parking areas for between 350 and 400 cars.

However, the development of such sites hinges on cooperation with the state highway department, and Glen A. Yake, Spokane Assistant City Manager for Engineering, said he is negotiating with that department to implement the plans.

DAVID CAPPS moves to TF

Radio man sets March move to TF

TWIN FALLS — David N. Capps, president of Inland Radio Inc., licensee of KEEP radio station in Twin Falls, will move to Twin Falls in mid-March.

Capps will become general manager of KEEP, and Walter Ross will continue as station manager.

Capps comes here from Pendleton, Ore., where he has been general manager of KTIK. Inland Radio comprises a five station group including stations KSRV, KTIK and KEEP with other stations in Bend and The Dalles, Ore.

Union leader warns

ATLANTA (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leon Woodcock Friday warned against taking an approach to improved working conditions in the nation's auto plants based on the assumption that assembly line workers are subhumans.

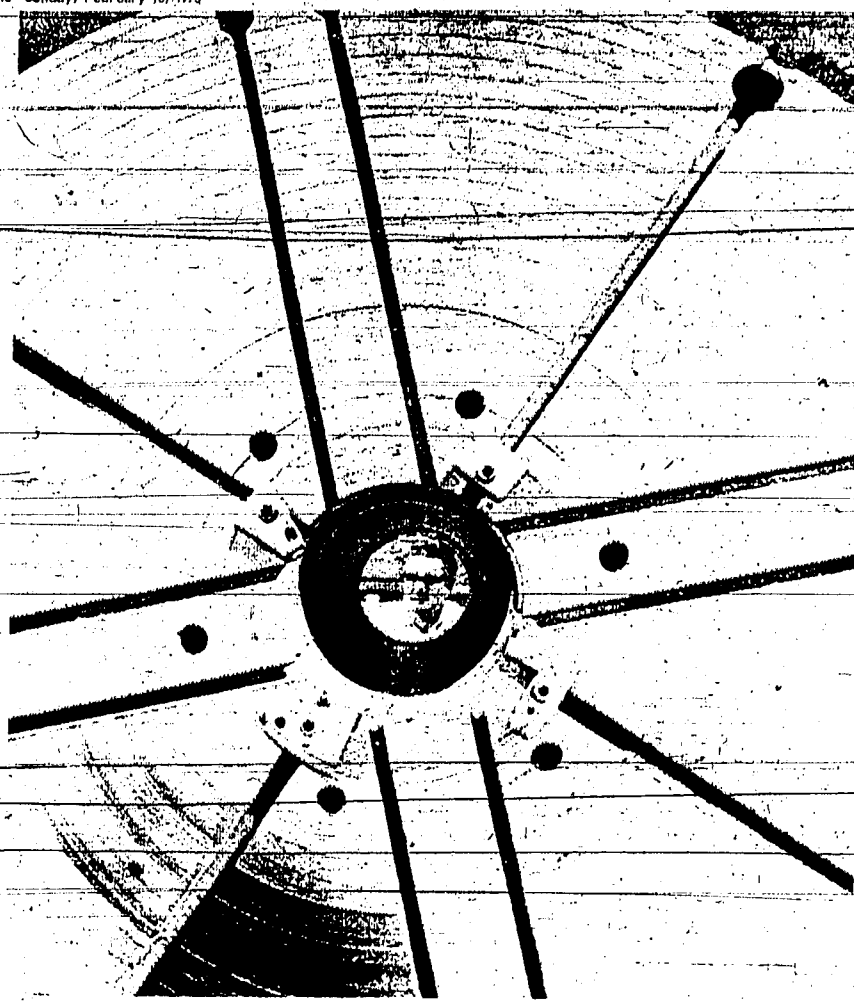

"Sure, work is dull and monotonous," he told more than 800 delegates at the close of the union's first production workers conference. "There are a lot of academics who are writing a lot of nonsense about it, who don't have any answer," he said. "But they like to create a professionalism which would give more jobs to some people who have never done any real work in their life."

He said any man or woman doing "useful" work "is entitled to be honored and not degraded, which is what's going on in this day and age."

He said there is "an elitist approach grounded on the assumption that these assembly line workers are subhumans we are dealing with. I resent that."

Woodcock said noneconomic issues of health, safety and working conditions within the nation's auto plants would receive "overriding priority as far as the UAW is concerned" when contract talks open this summer with the "Big Three" automakers.

He said the two-day conference made it clear UAW members want something done on those noneconomic issues. Recommendations from the conference, along with resolutions adopted by the skilled trades members of the union, will be presented to a special collective bargaining convention in Detroit in late March.

Wearers ponder future of POW bracelets now

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — They call them "metal prayers." Millions of persons are wearing them and thousands are wondering what they are going to do with them now.

They are the POW-MIA bracelets about 5 million persons in the United States bought and swore to wear until the persons whose name is inscribed on them came home.

Now, with the prisoners being released, there is the question of what to do with the bracelets.

Mrs. Ellen Ewing, associate editor of the Inland Catholic Register, newspaper, Friday suggested the bracelets be melted down and be converted into a "monument to lasting peace."

Each of us who purchased a bracelet made a personal commitment to the serviceman whose name was inscribed on it that it would be worn until that particular man, whether prisoner of war or missing in action, came home.

"Mrs. Ewing said she began putting out feelers among the POW wives shortly after the cease-fire was announced concerning her suggestion for building a monument.

"The POW-MIA bracelets assumed tallman status in the prejudice to cease-fire. Most wearers had a gut-feeling that not to wear their bracelets would jeopardize their ser-

SS aide denies Nixon pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secret Service Director James J. Rowley said Friday he ordered Robert H. Taylor transferred out of the White House detail for routine rotation and denied there was any pressure from President Nixon's staff.

Authoritative sources told UPI correspondent Helen Thomas earlier this week that Taylor, who has been in charge of protecting Nixon since his successful 1968 campaign, had been ousted because of a rift with presidential assistant H.H. Haldeman.

Rowley issued a statement Friday "in the interest of establishing an accurate record" as a result of what he called "recent numerous news reports of an alleged rift between a member of the Secret Service and a member of the White House staff."

Rowley said Taylor "has not been discharged nor was such action ever considered." He added "at no time has any member of the White House staff either requested or implied to the Secret Service that Mr. Taylor should be removed or transferred."

The sources said friction developed between Haldeman and Taylor during last fall's presidential campaign over the issue of crowd control, when Taylor insisted on tight security and Haldeman wanted Nixon to have freer physical access to the public.

These sources said their differences reached a peak during President Lyndon B. Johnson's funeral in Washington Jan. 25, which Nixon attended. Taylor was reassigned Feb. 9.

Other reports said Taylor threatened Haldeman with arrest during a Nov. 3 confrontation at Providence, R.I., over Haldeman's order that restraining ropes be lowered to permit a spectator demonstration at the airport.

The White House previously had denied a Haldeman-Taylor rift and characterized Taylor's involuntary removal as a promotion.

Rowley said Taylor had been put in charge of the service's Foreign Dignitary Protective Division for guarding visiting foreign heads of state and other dignitaries.

"Mr. Taylor's transfer was initiated by me in keeping with our policy of rotating supervisory personnel," he said.

Michigan solon may turn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Republican Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr. of Michigan, who broke with the administration over the Vietnam war, may become a Democrat, his office says.

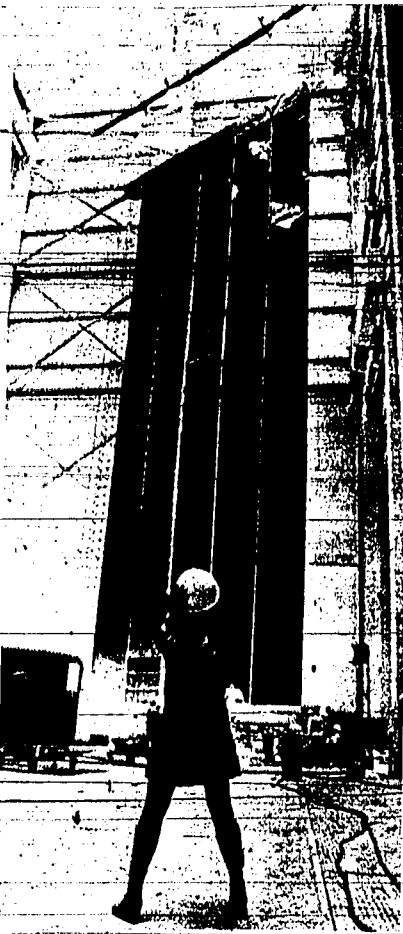

David Burnell, Riegle's aide, said the 35-year-old congressman has been giving "serious private and personal consideration" to changing parties.

Burnell said the reason was "concern over Republican issues over a number of years and not any recent event."

Riegle last year was one of the strongest Republican supporters of the presidential candidacy of Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey Jr., R-Calif.

Riegle has in the past denied speculation he would switch parties, saying he wanted to work to make the Republican Party better.

An 18-story building could be fitted beneath the permanent roof of the Houston Astrodome which is 208 feet above the playing field.

What is it?

WOULD YOU BELIEVE a basketball court hanging from a clothes line in Burbank, Calif? Of course not. How about a huge solar array panel that when unfurled in space with three similar structures would be able to absorb enough energy from the sun to power an orbiting space station? That's what it is. Developed by Lockheed Missiles and Space Company for possible future applications by NASA, the panel is 90 feet high and 30 feet wide. (UPI)

S. Vietnam continues to release communists

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam will continue to release Communist prisoners of war despite its threat to halt POW exchange unless 320 government soldiers were freed by the Viet Cong in the Central Highlands, military sources said Friday.

The sources said South Vietnam planned to release 700 more Communist prisoners at Quang Tri Saturday.

A South Vietnamese command spokesman had said Thursday that the government would release no more than 4,000 Communist prisoners unless the Communists kept their promise to free 320 government soldiers in Pleiku Province in the Central Highlands, but the 320 had been scheduled for release last Monday.

South Vietnam has freed at least 3,614 Communist prisoners and another 200 were due for release at Quang Tri. In exchange South Vietnam has gotten back 711 POWs. Plans last weekend had called for freeing 7,000 Communist prisoners and 1,020 South Vietnamese in the first increment of the exchange.

Maj. Gen. Gilbert Woodward, U.S. delegate to the joint Military Commission, maintained that exchange of Vietnamese prisoners was not linked to release of American prisoners. He said the cease-fire agreement linked the freeing of American POWs only to the withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam.

However, the Communists at the time interpreted the agreement otherwise last Monday and delayed freeing of 97 Americans for 12 hours.

Cenarrusa due livestock honors

TWIN FALLS — Pete T. Cenarrusa will be one of six area residents to be honored at the annual dinner of the Southern Idaho Livestock Hall of Fame.

The event, scheduled for the Ponderosa Inn, Burley, at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 26, will attract an estimated 700 people.

The honorees are selected by the board of the Hall of Fame for their contributions to the livestock industry. The dinner is the 18th and during that time a total of 80 have been honored.

Cenarrusa, who is Idaho's secretary of state, is the son of Basque parents and was born in Carey on Dec. 16, 1917. As a youngster he learned the Basque language and was unable to speak English until he became a student in the Bellevue school system.

After graduating from the Bellevue High School he attended the University of Idaho where he was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and was a boxer on the Vandal's first national championship team.

This major was animal husbandry and after earning his B.S. degree he taught agriculture and science in Clunbidge and Carey schools. At both schools he initiated the first courses offered in agriculture.

After the outset of World War II he enlisted in the U.S. Navy and was later commissioned a naval aviator with the U.S. Marines. By the end of the war he had flown dive bombers and Corsair fighters in combat and just before retiring from the Marines he flew the P-39 Cougar jet. He holds the rank of major in the reserves.

Returning to civilian life, he purchased a farm at Carey and entered the sheep business. In the next four years he also taught institutional on-the-farm training with the Veterans Farm Administration.

His public career started when friends urged him to run for the state legislature. He was elected and served nine consecutive terms in the Idaho House. As a legislator he chaired the appropriations and agriculture committees and was chairman of the first legislative council. For three consecutive terms he was speaker of the house.

In 1967, he was appointed by Gov. Don Samuelson to fill the unexpired term of the late Secretary of State Edson Deal. In 1970 he was elected for another four-year term.

He was one of those aiding in the formation of the second food control observation district in Idaho. He also is a charter member of the Blaine County Soil Conservation District and has served on the board of the trustees of the Public International Livestock Exposition. He has been president of the Carey Chamber of Commerce.

He is an honorary State Farmer, Future Farmers of America. At the present time he is associated with his son, brother and brother-in-law in the range sheep business and also maintains sheep operations in Idaho, Nevada, California and Washington.

His wife, Freda, also came from a family engaged in the livestock business. His son, Joe, is a graduate of the University of Idaho. Cenarrusa holds a commercial pilot's license with instrument rating and owns his own plane which he uses in his travels.

High output seen

GARLAND, Utah (UPI) — Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. officials predict the firm's Garland factory will produce more sugar this season than during any other year in its 70-year history.

Rowland M. Cannon, company president, told the Bear River Valley Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday, the Garland plant should process more sugar beets this year than ever before — producing more than 90 million pounds of sugar.

"We have been operating here for 70 years," Cannon said, "and we sincerely hope to be here at least 70 more years."

He said the local plant is developing a new technique to prevent damage to beets in storage.

The innovation uses plastic coverings and forced air circulation to maintain proper conditions in sugar beet storage piles, and is currently used experimentally only in Utah.

Denver bean markets said little stronger

DENVER, Colo. — Trade demand in bean dealer markets was good during the week of Feb. 7, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Markets were generally rated as firm to little stronger. With the rail car supply short, emphasis is on truck shipment. Some bullish reaction was seen to the Santo Domingo sale of last week and the USDA announcement that it intends to buy as much as 53,007 hundredweight of beans, which dealers think will be mostly pintos.

Idaho had a good volume of pinto sales at 9.50-9.75.

Trade demand is great northerns in Idaho slowed and trading was light at 14.50-14.75. Growers were not eager sellers. In small reds and pinks, Idaho

Predator damage protection backed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A member of Idaho's congressional delegation has urged early hearings on a bill to protect the livestock industry from predator damage.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, wrote to Rep. Lenore K. Sullivan, chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Wednesday, asking for early and favorable action on the proposed Animal Damage Control Act.

He told Sullivan that the bill would expand programs of research and provide assistance to aid states in controlling predators by means other than poison.

The measure was prompted by an executive order that last year banned the use of chemical toxicants for predator control purposes.

"This legislation is vital to the cattlemen and woolgrowers in the Western United States who are facing hardships because of the unprecedented growth of predators, especially coyotes," Hansen said.

Transport routing study set

BOISE (UPI) — A Study is to be initiated by the state to evaluate an alternative method to transport agricultural cargo from Idaho to consumers in the orient.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Dale Rockwood, Pocatello President of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation, announced the study Thursday.

Andrus said the Intermountain West always has been handicapped with high transportation costs because of its location. The tentative title of the effort is "a study of the technical, environmental and economical feasibility of hydrogen-powered aircraft for transporting agricultural cargo from Idaho to the orient."

The study is the result of a suggestion made at the annual meeting of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation at Coeur d'Alene in November.

Grain price skid record downtrend

DENVER, Colo. — The week of Feb. 9 decline of prices in grain markets was a record downtrend.

According to the Agricultural Marketing Service Grain Market News, ordinary wheat that week ranged from .31 to .51 cents lower; 12 per cent protein was down .40-.45 cents and 13 per cent down .50-.65 cents.

Thirty per cent of reporting elevators said they were withdrawn from the market since terminals were not active bidders.

Producer sales during the week were few. The bulletin speculated that the decline might be because of an announcement that the CCC is going to sell wheat of an unknown volume; the withdrawal of exporters from the market; the prospects for a big crop this year; transportation problems, and heavy congestion at gulf ports.

Hard winter wheat tumbled .39-.44 cents during the week. Kansas City markets were off .26-.34 cents for the week. For Worth markets closed .28 lower. Omaha declined .24 cents. At Portland, ordinary for export closed down .15-.17 cents.

Denver corn closed .04-.05 cents lower. At Kansas City, corn dropped off .18 cents per cwt. Large quantities were sold

Milk yield up

BOISE (UPI) — Milk production on Idaho farms during 1972 was seven per cent higher than the previous year, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Annual production of milk per cow was a record high of 10,671 pounds or 127 pounds more than the old record set a year earlier.

The state's milk cow herd increased from an average of 147,000 cows in 1971 to an average of 155,000 in the past year.

Bruins bow to Skyline after topping Pocatello

IDAHO FALLS—Junior Brad Chapple, averaging just six points again, waxed hot for 10 in the third quarter and floor in the night in sending the Skyline Grizzlies past the Twin Falls Bruins 57-44 Saturday night. The defeat followed a tight 53-48 victory for Twin Falls over Pocatello Friday but also proved that the Bruins remain in a shooting slump. The Bruins wound up with a 14-6 record and were 19-6 in the Southern Idaho conference.

Twin Falls opened hot, jumping into a quick 10-4 lead as Bob Durham hit six points and Charlie Browne and Eric Hovey two each. But it was a false start. Durham continued to be the most consistent scorer, ending up with 18, but for the most part Twin Falls' shooting was terrible. Skyline took the lead for keeps early in the second period and stretched out to a 29-22 halftime advantage as Junior Carey Ellis pumped through 13 of his 18 points. Early in the second half, Durham and Kim Nielsen brought Twin Falls back to within one at 29-28, but then Chapple took over. He hit two free throws, Hovey countering with a Twin Falls field goal. Gill then hit a free throw and Chapple followed with a three-point play and a bucket the next two times down the court. That was enough to doom the Bruins, although in the final couple of minutes Durham hit six points to close the gap with 40-36. The teams exchanged buckets to start the fourth period, but then Ellis, Street, Chapple, and Ellis again ripped off eight straight points to make it 50-38 with 5:03 remaining. Twin Falls sophomores won the opener 50-48.

Scoring for Bruins

GOING LEFT-HANDED, Twin Falls' Bob Durham caps a short drive up the middle for two points against Pocatello's Bill Winn (25). Durham tanked 17 as Twin Falls won 53-48.

Nelson lifts Kimberly to overtime win over Wendell

KIMBERLY—Rick Nelson pumped life back into Kimberly by scoring five points in the last 23 seconds of regulation play and the Bulldogs then turned to the foul line to defeat the Wendell Trojans 72-67 Saturday night. Nelson's five points, following a free throw by Howard, came when Wendell appeared to have an undefeated Little Five Conference season in hand. But during that last minute, just as throughout the overtime, both teams kept themselves in trouble with silly fouls.

Wendell went into a delay game with 3:10 left and a two-point lead, thanks to a cripple by McCloud. Kip Dennis slipped inside to make it 59-55 and with 49 seconds remaining, the Trojans should have been coasting 61-55. Then Howard hit his free throw. Kimberly got the ball back and Nelson took it inside where he converted a three-point play. Wendell then missed a one-and-one and Nelson came back with seven seconds remaining to tie it.

Tigers top Bliss for 16-3 season

RICHFIELD—Richfield crushed Bliss, 77-39, Saturday night to finish second in the North Side Conference. Charles Tree led Richfield with 19 points as his club wound up the season with a 16-3 record. Ron Geer was high for the Bears with 12 points. Richfield, with nine players in the scoring column, shot to a 17-4 quarter lead and was never in danger.

Howard, after blowing a cripple off the overtime tip, showed Kimberly ahead with a short baseline jumper and Hudson hit two free throws. But Wendell stayed in a tie when Gough hit a free throw and Sisson got a field goal with 1:30 left. Alan Stevenson drove the baseline for a cripple to give Wendell its last lead at 67-65 with 1:07 remaining, but Hudson tied it from the line nine seconds later. Just 18 seconds after that, Reeves broke the tie from the inside. Stanger and Nelson wound it up with free throws.

Glenns Ferry nips Shoshone by 47-44

GLENN'S FERRY—Shoshone failed to cash in on Glenns Ferry turnovers in the final minutes allowing the Pilots to capture a 47-44 victory Saturday night. The win was the sixth of the season for the Pilots, who have lost 14. Leading by a point with about three minutes to play, Glenns Ferry lost the ball on turnovers four straight times down the floor, but Shoshone couldn't cash in on the opportunities and the Pilots eventually extended their lead on free throws. Ray Hanson hit 42 points and Steve Strum added 10 for Glenns Ferry. Kinghorn led Shoshone with 17, and Sorenson chipped in with 14. Sorenson fouled out with five minutes to play in the game and Hansen was waved to the bench with two minutes left. Glenns Ferry led, 27-25, at halftime but Shoshone was ahead, 37-35, at the end of the third period. Glenns Ferry won the jayvee game, 52-50.

Vikings nip Devils on late Beem shot

MURTAUGH—Steve Beem hit a bumper from the corner with two seconds left Saturday night to propel the Valley Vikings past the Murtaugh Red Devils 52-51 in a non-conference season finale for both. Beem's deciding bucket came, just nine seconds after junior Roba Wright had sent the Devils ahead by one. Valley was the picture of consistency in scoring, hitting 33 points each period. They led at the end of the first quarter, were tied at halftime and trailed by 12-39 going into the final period.

Minn. gets back into title race

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Clyde Turner topped six Minnesota players in double figures Saturday night as the fourth-ranked Gophers avenged an earlier loss to 10th-ranked Indiana, 82-75, to move within range of a second straight Big Ten title. Minnesota's fifth consecutive victory heightened the Gophers' record to 6-2, half a game behind first-place Purdue in the Big 10 conference. Indiana is now 7-3. The Gophers scored 33 points in the final nine minutes of the first half, 12 by Turner, to take a 49-39 lead after a frayed start. Indiana pulled within four points twice in the second half, 59-55 and 65-61.

Marquette tops Detroit

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The fifth-ranked Marquette Warriors overcame a second-half cold spell to roar to a 77-55 win over the University of Detroit Saturday night. The Warriors built a 45-28 halftime lead, but went without a point for the first 5:07 of the second half. Detroit closed the gap to just nine points at 45-36 but the Warriors came back and outscored Detroit 14-2 to open a 21-point lead, 59-38. Alie McGuire led the Warriors with 17 points and Larry McNeill added 16. Gerald Smith was high for Detroit with 18 points. The win raised the Warriors' record to 20-2, the seventh consecutive year an Al McGuire-coached Marquette team has won 20 or more games. Detroit is now 14-7.

Iowa drubs Wisconsin

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—The Iowa Hawkeyes found the mark late in the first half Saturday night to break open what had been a close game and set the stage for a 100-76 drubbing of Wisconsin in Big Ten basketball action. The Hawkeyes outscored Wisconsin 20-5 late in the first half to open up a 20-point lead which the Badgers were never able to overcome. Guard Chubby Lapinski paced the Hawkeyes with 18 points, while Reggie Vaughan added 16. Kevin Kunnert and Rick Williams had 14, Jim Collins added 14 points and 16 rebounds, and Larry Parker had 11 points.

Idaho State splits with Montana teams

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI)—The Montana Grizzlies celebrated the school's 80th birthday Saturday night with a 65-55 Big Sky Conference victory over Idaho State University. The Grizzlies pivoting zone defense shut off Big Sky scoring leader Ev Fopma with 15 points while Montana's Mike Murray hit 23 and Ken McKenzie 22 points. The Grizzlies took charge midway in the first half and held a 32-25 advantage at intermission. The second half saw sophomore center McKenzie go on a scoring spurge that put the Grizzlies in front, 46-32, with 4 minutes to play. The Bengals shifted to a full court press, cutting the margin to five points at 48-43 with 10:30 left to play, but Montana weathered the storm. Two technical fouls were called on Montana coach Bud Heathcote, one of them less than three minutes into the game. The Bengals are now 4-4 in the league and 15-7 overall. Montana is now 6-5 in Big Sky play, and 12-7 for the season. Idaho State University's Ev Fopma stole the show with a brilliant shooting performance to lead his Bengal teammates to a 89-80 win over the Montana State University Bobcats Friday night. Fopma, a 6-9 senior center, pumped in 15 of 18 shots, and added four free throws to finish the game with 34 points. The 34 point outburst enabled Fopma to hold on to his Big Sky Conference scoring lead. Idaho State hit their first seven shots of the game and Montana State was never to take the lead, as the visiting Bengals hit a phenomenal 59 percent for the contest. Montana State hit 47 percent. Montana State did hold a narrow field goal lead of 36-34, but Idaho State's clutch foul shooting gave them a decisive 21-4 free throw edge. ISU aimed 21-of-26, while the Bobcats managed only eight of 12. High for the Bobcats was 6-9 senior forward Scott Koelzer of Bozeman with 24 points. Jerry Sabins had 15 for Idaho State while Edison Hicks added 11 and hauled down a game-high 10 rebounds.

Jerome tops Buhl, cops top tournament seed

BUHL — The Jerome Tigers polished off the Buhl Indians 76-43 Saturday night and then won the coin flip that gave them the No. 1 seeding in the fourth district class "A-2" basketball tournament which opens at the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium Tuesday night.

With the victory Jerome tied the Gooding Senators at 0-2 for the South-Central Idaho Conference championship and necessitated the coin ceremony. The result means that Jerome will play Buhl in the opener at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the tournament with Gooding going against Filer in the nightcap. Wood River, third in the SCIC, draws the first-round bye and will play the winner of the Gooding-Filer game Wednesday. That game will follow the Wednesday opener, pitting the two first-night losers.

Jerome didn't have much trouble in storming past Buhl. The Tigers, with Roger Chubb being the SCIC individual scoring title with a 34-point night, jumped off to a 16-11 lead and mushroomed that to 36-25 by intermission.

Buhl managed only six points in the third quarter and from then on Jerome cleared the bench and put 11 men in the scoring column.

Jerome won the preliminary 66-62.

Blackfoot defeats Wood River 64-46

BLACKFOOT — The Blackfoot Broncos proved too much for the Wood River Wolverines Saturday night, scoring a 64-46 win.

Wood River was tied with the Broncos 19-15 at the end of the first quarter and trailed by only one at the intermission.

In the third quarter Blackfoot built a 14-point lead and held a comfortable margin the rest of the way.

Rooney converted eight free throws and ended the night with 18 points.

Duke defeats Notre Dame

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Gary Melchoni scored 19 points to lead Duke over Notre Dame, 86-74, in an intercollegiate basketball clash Saturday night.

The Blue Devils broke open an early 18-point lead, 30-12, but Notre Dame rallied to cut the margin to seven points, 40-33, at the half.

The Irish came within one point of Duke five times in the second half but could never overtake the Blue Devils.

Tennessee wins

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — The Tennessee Vols stayed out in front in the Southeastern Conference basketball race Saturday night with a convincing 85-71 victory over Georgia. Tennessee led all the way, but the Bulldogs pulled to within three points at 61-58 in the second half. The Vols again took command at that stage.

Baseball talks still stalemated

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the first face-to-face meeting between the two sides in nine days, the baseball owners and players met Saturday in a day-long bargaining session without making any visible progress but they agreed to resume the negotiations again Sunday.

The session ended at 2:10 p.m. MST when the representatives of the owners left the offices of the Major League Baseball Players Association. A spokesman said there was "no progress" but said the owners would have no official statement. He said the two sides would get back together again at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Marvin Miller, the executive director of the MLBPA, also said the players would have no official statement on Saturday's session, indicating there were no breakthroughs in the stalemate that is rapidly reaching the crisis stage. The March 1st official opening of spring training only 11 days away.

Miller described the Saturday meeting as an "informal" session.

Joe Torre, the player representative of the St. Louis Cardinals who attended the meeting, said, "the only thing the owners and the players agreed on is that we won't say anything as we declined comment on the status of the negotiations."

On Friday, the representatives of the 24 major league clubs rejected the owners latest offer and asked that the spring training camps open while the negotiations continue. Miller and John Gahehin, the representative of the owners, then agreed to the Saturday session. Gahehin quickly rejected Miller's request that the camps be opened while the negotiations continue and told the players' representative that the owners are determined not to open camps without a contract.

The two league presidents, Joe Cronin of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National League, have already ordered that no camps open before March 1st without a contract. It's a foregone conclusion that they won't open after that date, either, without a contract.

Miller has indicated the players may go to court and charge an illegal lockout if the players don't open the camps on March 1.

One owner summed up to the owners' general feeling about opening the camps without a contract by saying, "forget that." He added, "it costs each club about $200,000 to open spring training and what's to prevent them from calling a strike again. That would mean all the money would be down the drain."

The players haven't taken a strike vote this season and Miller hasn't been making any strike threats but the players did go on strike at the start of last season.

THIS GROUP of eight elk was spotted from the air during helicopter survey on the East Fork of the Salmon River by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Salmon area deer range worsening

SALMON — Big game surveys undertaken by the Idaho Fish and Game Department indicate elk reproduction ranges from poor to good in the Salmon region with range conditions deteriorating.

The surveys were made by helicopter and on the ground. Trappers taken in December indicate most of the mule deer range in the Salmon region to be in poor condition and deteriorating.

Bill Davidson, regional game manager, said "the range is in this condition because of general low forage production potential, coupled with poor grazing management in some units and excessive mule deer number in others."

Based on data collected this winter and surveys to be made in the spring on range conditions, management decisions will be made.

Davidson said the department was not after a census of all animals. The purpose was to classify a representative portion of elk and barchon sheep populations to obtain the ratio of males, females and young.

We know that the production of the young of the year is a function of the general health of the herd," Davidson said. "The general age structure of a herd is the result of the range condition the herd operates on."

The department classified a total 1,176 elk which consisted of 60 per cent cows, 24 per cent calves and 16 per cent bulls.

Calves per 100 cows varied from a low of 13 calves per 100 cows to a high of 60.7 calves per hundred cows, or poor to good.

There were 400 highborn sheep classified in the Middle Fork of the Salmon and certain areas on the Salmon River.

Lambis per hundred ewes varied from a low of 23 in the Middle Fork to a high of 125 lambs per hundred ewes on the Mt. Bogert herd.

About 42 per cent of the rams seen in the Middle Fork were head rams.

Davidson said the survey information will be used to relate to the general range condition on the various herd units and harvest being obtained.

The area were 1,867 deer in the Salmon region which consisted of 17 per cent males, 57 per cent females and 31 per cent fawns.

Fawns per 100 females varied from a low of 11 to a high of 67.

Crampton assumes San Diego lead

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Australian Bruce Crampton fought off challenges from former Oklahoma State stars Griger, Jones, Bob Dickson and Dave Eichelberger Saturday, shooting a four-under-par 68 to grab the third round lead by a stroke in the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

The 37-year-old Crampton, already a two-tournament winner this year and No. 1 on the money list with $63,390, started the "third round" two shots behind Jones but caught him on the turn and then moved ahead to stay with three birdies on the back nine at the Torrey Pines south course.

Crampton's 34-hole score was 205, 11 under par, and that put him ahead of Jones, who had a third round 71, and Dickson, who shot a 69. Eichelberger, who had a two-under 70, was another three strokes back at 209.

Local favorite Billy Casper had an even par 72 and former Colorado football star Hale Irwin checked in with a 73 to be at six-under 210 while Chuck Gortney and Dwight Gooden each had 68s and were tied at 211.

seven shots off the lead, were Dave Hisey, Dave Stockton, Labron Harris, John Toppel, Andy North and defending Williams champ Paul Harney.

Crampton went out in 34 and came back the same way for 68. He picked up birds on the second, ninth, 10th, 13th and 14th holes and had just one bogey on the par three 11th.

Dickson shot a 32 on the back nine to get into a contending position, picking up birds on the 9th, 13th, 16th and 18th holes, while Jones, who had a two-stroke lead starting the round, missed numerous birdie putts, several of them by inches.

Fon Kite, who shared the first round lead, had a 76 in the third round and was tied with a large group at three-under 213.

Hawaiian Open winner John Schlee took a 74 and was at one under 215 while Lee Trevino had an even-par 72 and was at 217.

Big schools see need for revision

CHICAGO (UPI) — Twenty-three representatives of 10 major college athletic conferences and independent universities met Saturday to discuss proposals for reorganization of the National College Athletic Association and agreed there was a "necessity" to revise the organization.

No action was taken, except to decide that each conference representative would present the various proposals to conference meetings in the near future and representatives would convene again in Chicago April 13-14.

The next meeting was scheduled to "attempt to provide input" on reorganization proposals to the meeting of the NCAA Council April 29-May 1.

The council at that time was expected to review all proposals for reorganization, including a presentation from its own special committee, at a special NCAA convention scheduled Aug. 6-7 to vote on the subject.

The NCAA committee met earlier this week and agreed schools now classified as major football would be able to remain that classification and membership would be divided into three categories with each institution determining in which division it would participate exclusive of football.

The NCAA convention in January voted down proposals for reorganization, participating in the various major institutions and the NCAA to prepare new plans for a vote this year.

One owner summed up to the owners' general feeling about opening the camps without a contract by saying, "forget that." He added, "it costs each club about $200,000 to open spring training and what's to prevent them from calling a strike again. That would mean all the money would be down the drain."

The players haven't taken a strike vote this season and Miller hasn't been making any strike threats but the players did go on strike at the start of last season.

Redskins topple Carey Panthers

GOODING — The Gooding State Redskins easily defeated Carey 66-50 Saturday night.

Gooding St. went on top 22-14 in the first quarter and led by 12 at the intermission.

In the third quarter Carey rallied to come within six but the Redskins held Carey to 10 points in the last quarter to preserve the victory.

Jerry Ives, Carey's sophomore standout, topped all scorers with 26 points.

Carey beat Gooding St. 49-39 in the junior varsity game.

Creighton surprises Houston

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Creighton shocked eighth-ranked Houston 78-77 Saturday on a 35-foot shot by Gene Harmon at the final buzzer.

The Bluejays, who led 40-39 at the half, hit 51.4 per cent of their field goal attempts while harassing the favored Cougars with a full court press which forced 38 Houston turnovers.

Harmon, a muscular 6'6 forward, hit 20 points to pace the Bluejays.

Louis Dunbar scored 23 points to pace Houston, which shot 51.5 per cent from the field.

Dwight Jones and Steve Newsome each hit 12 for the Cougars, while Harmon was helped by Charles Butler's 16 points and 14 each from Doug Bookins and Ted Wuebben.

New Mexico shocks BYU

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Eighteenth-ranked New Mexico upset 16th-ranked Brigham Young 76-66 Saturday to tie the Cougars for the Western Athletic Conference lead.

The Lobos' defense shut off the inside against the Cougars throughout the game and the visitors moved to a 37-29 margin as they scored nine straight points while halving BYU scoreless late in the first half. New Mexico led 44-34 at intermission.

Long Beach streak to 63

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Third-ranked Cal State Long Beach, with All-American Ed Ratleff leading the way with 24 points, posted its 63rd straight home court victory by defeating Pacific, 85-64, Saturday.

It was the 49ers' 21st win in 22 games this season and left them with an 81 record in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association with three league contests to play.

Sophomore Resene Pondexter came off the bench to score 19 points and burly Leonard Gray added 14 for Long Beach.

Illini thump Ohio Staters

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Nick Weatherston scored 28 points Saturday to pace Illinois to a 79-68 Big Ten victory over Ohio State and place him second in Big Ten scoring with a 26.0 season average.

Illinois traded 6-5 three minutes into the game when Jeff Dawson connected for four straight buckets and took the Illini out in front for good for their eighth win at home without a loss this season.

The Illini took their biggest lead two minutes into the second half on Dawson's 20-foot jump shot.

Tar Heels rip Florida State

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sixth-ranked North Carolina behind the combined 51-point effort of Ed Stail and George Karl, defeated Florida State, 91-79, in the nationally televised second game of a doubleheader Saturday and virtually eliminated the Seminoles from NCAA post-season tournament competition.

In the first game of the Madison Square Garden twin-bill, Huben Montanez hit on 15 of 17 field goal attempts and scored 32 points to lead Duquesne to a record-setting 17-85 rout of St. Peter's.

THE IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE - ON THE MALL IN DOWNTOWN TWIN FALLS

Women welders use imagination

IRON SCROLL work being welded here by Rryona Stephens, one of the members of a women's welding class at the College of Southern Idaho vocational school, will be used to support a swag lamp. In the 15-hour course the women learn safe and proper use of acetylene torch and how to sculpture with metal.

TWIN FALLS— Women welders are bringing a new aspect to the trade in classes at the College of Southern Idaho vocational school.

A class of 13 women and two men has just completed a 15-hour welding sculpture course in which welding has become a new art form. Frank Schell, welding instructor, said it is the most enjoyable class he teaches each year. He hopes to expand it next year to a full semester course.

Women's "JIB" in reverse was practiced by the class this year. Billed as a "women's welding" course, the class this year admitted the two men who insisted they wanted to learn welding sculpture. Schell said he did not think the college should discriminate against the men so they were admitted.

Training consists of safe and proper lighting and use of the acetylene welding torch. Instead of working on heavy equipment, the women are creating art items. Each class member completes at least one creation during the course and these range from wall plaques and metal figurines to hanging lamps or planters.

Schell said the best students are those with no previous art training but with good imaginations and a desire to learn.

Scraps from other vocational classes are available and many "junk" items are converted into attractive finished products through the women welders' imaginations, Schell said.

Some of the items made by this year's class included an owl figurine, a sailing ship, hanging lamp and several other wall ornaments and sculptures.

Schell said he hopes to expand the course for next year to 64 hours of time which will stretch it over an entire semester. This will give time for the study of welding theory and possibly an introduction of arc welding and more of the trade.

Those taking the present art type course would not be able to go to work in a welding shop, Schell says, but who knows if the full semester course is completed, women may be welding pipes instead of decorator items.

Enjoyable course

WELDING instructor, Frank Schell, puts finishing touches on a wire rack type structure during women's welding class at CSI. He said working with the women (and two men) students in the welding sculpture class is one of his most enjoyable courses. All types of scrap items and steel and bronze welding rods are used.

Special figurine

FEATHERING an owl is not as simple as it may look. Darlene Curtis, one of the women welders in a special welding sculpture class at CSI, used scrap material and tiny pieces of steel sheeting to form feathers and fringe on owl figurine. Mrs. Curtis' selection of an owl was one of the most ambitious undertakings of the class.

Home decorating

THE START of something beautiful begins as Clarico Glasscock cuts holes in a piece of metal that will use in a piece of metal sculpturing to decorate her home. While most members of the women's welders class would not be accepted for jobs in a welding shop, they know something of the trade as well as art.

TF man creates scale models

By DAVID WOODHEAD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A stationary steam engine is given a momentary warming up.

A tiny throttle on an undersized mount is opened full. Someone's hand gives a gear a start. And a pigmy traction engine, connected to the stationary engine only by quarter-inch tubing, powers a pigmy threshing machine, coughs consistently, and demonstrates the potential of pressure. Steam power is not dead — it's only been miniaturized.

The exhibition is displayed compliments of Dick Diamond, a 65-year-old retired welder from Kansas, who braces brass with steel to produce a monument to steam. Diamond is a welding wizard, possessed of 15-years experience at Detweiler Bros., as a combination welder-piper, fitter, boiler man, supplemented with 16 additional years spent developing his welding process in his own business venture at 142 4th Ave. W.

The shop has recently been sold and his business now, with the exception of an occasional repair job for a friend, entails the scaling of equipment with movable parts. The machine that works is his fascination — if the result doesn't move, it does not interest Diamond.

His almost occupational pastime pursues the notion that a model-making hobby ought to do more than simply generate scaled facsimiles that sit on a shelf and collect dust. The devotee's real pride is derived from seeing his creation imitate the motions of the machine it resembles.

The first of his dwarfed endeavors is a "scale" model of the case steam engine. This is the locomotive traction engine run on fields rather than tracks and powered by steam. The real full scale model uses wood or oil to heat the water. Diamond's diminutive model has an alcohol burner to make steam of water.

The small engine is the product of over a year's efforts. From blueprints obtained from Popular Mechanics, Diamond has built everything from scratch. Even the tiny screws that hold the metallic frame together are handmade. Every gear and every wheel have been shaped in the shop behind Diamond's house on 530 Second Ave. North. All but a few of the engine's components are exact working replicas of the bigger model.

Although Diamond conveniently makes use of his rebuild stationary engine to power his model, the pressure it lends is really quite unnecessary. The tank on the replica holds about a pint of water; enough potential steam to push the engine all around the floor.

When the traction engine was completed it represented a marvel all its own. When set in motion it furnished its spectators with a gala form of steam at work. But Diamond wished to add something more motorized and practical to his display. Working only from a picture, as no blueprints were available, he reproduced a similarly scaled model of the Oliver threshing machine.

The innards of the thresher are imperative due to Diamond's inability to locate any detailed plans of the machine's construction. But the wheels on the outside correspond to those of the larger model and mimic their movements. When a belt to the steam engine is strung to the thresher, the power of the initial model conducts the performance of the second. The idea is to broaden the miniature engine with the same types of practical jobs as the original. And the real traction engine is used to deliver the energy needed to power a thresher.

Together the case steam engine and the Oliver Thresher create a display that is impressive enough to gather scores of onlookers as it did when exhibited at Price Hardware on Main Avenue downtown. One marvels not only by the evident workmanship of its maker, but also its operative demonstration of pressurized power.

All in all, it's been a total of more than a year and a half of persistent working that has at last produced the scene of metallic motion. It adds up to a reasonably extensive project that has been hard to put down. Standing now, completed and functional, it is an article of pride to Diamond and a thing of beauty to observers.

Reflecting the past pleasures of lilliputian-like handicraft, Diamond pictures also a fresh future of new ideas. His attention now is directed towards building a scaled model of a gas engine. And afterwards what shape and form will his welding torch mold? Visions of models of trains and even planes clutter the imagination. Given enough time, Diamond's diversion might even erect a whole miniature world of miniature machines.

Current Cues

By HELEN WALKER
TWIN FALLS — No laundry would be complete without the proper use of laundering aids.

Your personal preference will determine what you use, but knowledge of what to expect may be a factor in achieving satisfactory results.

Hard water can be a problem. If water is truly soft (0-3 grains) either soap or detergent gives excellent results but in harder water over 3 grains detergent will give better results.

However, if water hardness is over 10 grains as it is in many places in Magic Valley, the use of one-quarter to one-third cup non-precipitating water conditioner should be added to the wash and rinse water. Precipitating water softeners are not recommended because they form a residue which clings to fabrics and is hard to remove.

More detergent may be required for hard water, larger loads, heavy soil or greasy soils. Experiment, if your clothes aren't clean try increasing the amount. Detergent box instructions are for "normal" conditions and washer sizes and other conditions vary. Sometimes it is desirable to use a bleach to whiten fabrics or remove stains.

There are three types of bleach.

Liquid chlorine which can be used on most fabrics except silk, wool, spandex and some resin-treated fabrics. Never allow undiluted chlorine bleach to come in direct contact with the fabric.

If your washer has a bleach dispenser, follow the manufacturer's directions, otherwise always dilute the bleach as recommended on the bleach container. Improper use of liquid chlorine may damage fabric, appearing as rips, holes, or tears, and often several launderings after it has been improperly used.

Granular chlorine — its action is similar to the liquid form and can be used on the same types of fabrics. However, this type does not require dilution before adding to the washer. Follow manufacturer's recommendations.

Oxygen-based bleaches may be used on all types of fabric. They are intended as preventive bleaches to aid in the maintenance of whiteness, and for best results should be used consistently.

Enzyme additives are natural protein chemicals that break down the soil structure for easy removal. They are very effective on stains such as blood, milk, grass, etc.

Suggestions for using:

DICK Diamond, Twin Falls, a retired welder, displays his pygmy threshing machine powered by a 3/4 scale model of a Case steam engine. Quarter inch tubing is used to transfer the power from the engine to the thresher. All parts for his shop and the steam engine and thresher represent about one and one-half years work.

Rebekah yearbooks given

FILER — Minerva Lorain, noble grand, distributed her yearbooks to Miriam Rebekah Lodge members Thursday evening at the IOOF Hall.

A report on the building fund was given by Walt Schenkel of the IOOF prior to the business meeting. The ways and means committee announced a rummage sale will be held the middle of March.

The IOOF oyster supper for the Rebekah members will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 24 in the lodge hall.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Lux, Mrs. Florence Cobb and Mrs. Orley Human.

Among honor guard

JEROME — Former Jerome resident, Ruth DeRosalia, was the honor guard during the welcoming ceremony for Elliott L. Richardson, the new Pentagon chief. The honor guard was made up of representatives from the five branches of the Armed Forces. Mrs. DeRosalia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mogenson, Jerome. She has served in the Navy for the past three and one-half years. She works at the Pentagon.

MR. AND MRS. JACK GRIFFITHS

50th anniversary reception slated

HAZELTON — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffiths will be honored with a reception Feb. 25 to mark their 50th Wedding Anniversary. The reception hosted by their sons, will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffiths, Hazelton, from 2 to 6 p.m. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend. The couple's sons and their families are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffiths, Hazelton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffiths Jr. Their grandchildren will also attend. They are Mrs. Bob Bloxham, Pocatello; Cheryl and Gerald Griffiths, Hazelton, and Doug and Ted Griffiths, Burley.

AAUW plans meeting

TWIN FALLS The participants Fayester Waegelin, Oriette Sinclair, University Women, Twin Falls, Marjorie Summerfield and Dorothy Kolar. Mary Helen Perry will conduct the meeting which is open to anyone interested. No-host dessert and coffee will be served. For reservations call 734-4213.

'Litter' contest outlined

TWIN FALLS — Entries in the litter prevention contest are due Friday according to Mrs. B. A. Jackson, Twin Falls, regional chairman.

Mrs. Jackson said the contest is open to all fifth and sixth grade students in Idaho. Those desiring to compete should submit a rhyme, verse or jingle based on the slogan: "Idaho is Too Great to Litter," to their classroom teacher. Classroom winners will be selected and a school district winner will be chosen March 1 from the classroom winners.

The district winners will be judged by a committee of three and a regional winner will be selected. The six regional winners and one parent will receive an expense paid trip to Boise where a state winner will be chosen.

The Magic Valley area is included in region 4 for purposes of the contest. The region is made up of Camas, Blaine, Cassia, Mindoka, Lincoln, Gooding, Twin Falls and Jerome counties.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will present each regional winner an inscribed plaque. The state winner will receive a $25 U.S. Savings bond.

The contest is being sponsored by the Idaho Beautification Council in cooperation with the Idaho Broadcasters Association and the Idaho Department of Education.

Mrs. Jackson said the Twentieth Century Club has been sponsoring an anti-litter campaign in Twin Falls for the past three years. Club members feel that children should be encouraged and educated concerning litter prevention. This year, the club has distributed Johnny Horizon anti-litter packets to all fifth grade classes in Twin Falls.

MARILYN YORK plans rites

Jerome miss, York set date

JEROME Mr. and Mrs. Mondford Adams, Jerome, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Marilyn Jeanne York, to Winston Collier Stokes. Stokes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stokes, McCall.

Miss York was graduated from Jerome High School in 1967. She attended the College of Southern Idaho and was graduated from Twin Falls Business College in 1969.

Stokes is a 1960 graduate of McCall-Donnelly High School. He served four years in the Air Force and attended the University of Maryland, London, the University of Idaho and is presently a senior majoring in geology at Boise State College where he is also employed.

The couple plans a March 17 wedding at the First United Presbyterian Church, Jerome.

TF TORCH unit tours in Nampa

TWIN FALLS — Teen group viewed the Ramsey Organization for Retarded Children (TORCH) recently toured the Idaho State School and Hospital, Nampa.

The tour was part of a two-day tour of Nampa sponsored by approximately 120 TORCH members and adult advisers from Idaho communities. Each group viewed the Ramsey Training School with classes in season in the VTL sheltered workshop and two living areas.

The purpose of the tour was to give TORCH members a first-hand look at training programs and living facilities for the mentally retarded at ISSH.

Mrs. Rosemary Levi of the ISSH Auxiliary described the auxiliary's fund raising project for an interfaith chapel at the school. She asked TORCH groups to consider the chapel as a fund raising project.

George Dilley, vocational counselor at ISSH, spoke about the role of vocational training for the mentally retarded.

MV Symphony concert slated

TWIN FALLS — Solist for Magic Valley Symphony Orchestra concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the CSI Fine Arts Center will be Martin Wright, pianist. He will play "Piano Concerto No. 1" by Mendelssohn, with orchestral accompaniment.

Wright, 17, a high school senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright, Jr., Murtaugh. He began his work on the piano with Mrs. Lova Watts, Murtaugh, and for the last six years he has studied with Mrs. Teala Bellin.

He is a member of the symphony, playing trombone. He also sings, and in the spring he will be appearing as a vocalist with the Idaho State Symphony in Porterville.

For a number of years he has been musically active in Magic Valley. At school he is a member of the band, pep band, chorus and Madras singers. He plays in the Twin Falls Municipal Band and took the part of Zuniga in the Magic Valley production of "Carmen".

He is currently president of the Murtaugh Junior Music Club, a member of the student council, manager of the annual staff and has served the school music department as student director for four years.

For five years he has participated in district music clinics and has served with the clinic band in 1971. In 1972, he was selected for both all-state chorus and band, again being a solist in the band.

He is an honor student and has received many scholastic achievement awards as well as many music awards. Among the latter is most outstanding musician. He has received many superior ratings in Magic Valley festivals, and four superior ratings in the 1972 regional festival.

In the 1972 district festival he was named most outstanding haritone vocalist. In the regional festival he was named best festival on piano and brass instruments. He received the 1971 Dilettante scholarship to the BYU summer music clinic, and is listed in Outstanding American High School Students.

Wright represented his school at Gem Boys State and at a Civitan Youth Seminar. After graduation from high school, he plans to attend Brigham Young University where he will major in piano and voice.

A mixed chorus of adults, high school and college students, accompanied by orchestra and organ, will sing Faure's "Requiem," and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Wilhousky. The orchestra will open the program with Overture to "Candide" by Leonard Bernstein.

Mrs. Albert E. Allen is choral director and will sing the soprano solo in "The Requiem." Mrs. Robert Van Nest is rehearsal accompanist. Dr. Richard F. McClure will play the organ.

Families will be admitted on patron tickets, and general admission tickets will be available at Warner's and Garth's downtown and at Sullivan's in the Lynwood Shopping Center. These must be purchased in advance.

Hansen woman welcomed

HANSEN — Mrs. Fred Hansen, a new member, was welcomed at a meeting of the Friendship Club Thursday at the home of Mrs. Herbert Wright.

Another new member, Mrs. Ruth Strubberg, was unable to attend.

The opening exercise was given by Mrs. Mable Arment and Mrs. Oyle Wolk. The exercises were about valentines and fashions in 1925.

Mrs. Wall Mrs. Arment and Mrs. Burton Hartman were appointed to the yearbook committee.

The March 15 meeting is at the home of Mrs. Naylor instead of the scheduled meeting at the home of Mrs. Blake Froehlich.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"I'm through with Swiss teams," complained the unlucky expert. "Look at the hand that cost me in 4 place the other day."

I chose to open my bid with 1♠. My partner from then on was smart enough to restrain myself and stop at three spades. West opened his singleton diamond. East took his ace and gave West a ruff. West led the deuce of hearts at which point my partner proceeded to make a brilliant series of plays to make his contract.

He went right up with the ace, led the ace of clubs continued with the queen of clubs, and discarded his 10 of hearts.

A nice way to cut communications, wasn't it? We seem to give West another diamond ruff and South made his three-spade contract.

"Very nice, indeed," he replied. "But worth nothing. At the other table North decided to open one no-trump. South responded with a Jacoby transfer two hearts and eventually North played in four spades.

East opened the 10 of clubs. When West got in with the ace of trumps he led a heart. North took his ace of hearts, drew trumps, discarded South's last heart on the good club and made an overtrick.

Our friend was unlucky but he caused his own bad luck when he refused to open one no-trump.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The longer I read your column, the more convinced I am that you should not be giving advice to people.

A woman wrote in and said that she had two children, one was illegitimate and the other was legitimate. She said her mother bought presents for the legitimate child and treated him nice, but she looked thru the illegitimate one like he wasn't even there, and even refused to recognize him as her grandson. And YOU told the girl that her mother must be sick!

Abby, I think YOU'RE sick! The Bible teaches us that an illegitimate child is a bastard, and that is why the grandmother objects to him, in case you can't figure it out. You should not condone sin.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., READER

Casting stones

DEAR READER: If you want to quote the Bible, there are many references to "forgiving," judging not, casting the first, and being kind to one another. Why should a child be punished for the circumstances of his birth?

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress in a good restaurant. We have a nice spacious checkroom for people to check their coats and packages. SO WHY DON'T THEY?

There is no charge. It is an accommodation for the customers. Some give the checking room girl a quarter or maybe 50 cents, but even that is not necessary.

The restaurant is well heated, so it's not necessary for the customers to sit with their coats on while they dine. But for some strange reason they all pass up the checkroom, go to a table, then they take their coats off and pile them onto a chair. Then they shove some of their packages under the table and chairs, and clutter up the table with more packages until the place looks like a disaster area after a hurricane.

With such a cluttered table, it's awfully hard to serve, and if something is spilled, the customer is always right, so the waitress has to pay the cleaning bill.

Abby, please be a pal and print this. Last holiday season was just murder!

DOT IN CHICAGO

DEAR DOT: Here's your letter, and let's hope the folks get the message.

DEAR ABBY: Your response to the boy of 14 who was stranded because his father was jailed was rather one-sided to say the least. Maybe the man was drunk and maybe he wasn't. In any case, you passed up an excellent opportunity to shed some light on a situation which is a national scandal.

As a physician who has spent literally thousands of hours in busy emergency rooms in several hospitals across the country, the account of this man's dilemma is only too familiar. I have found that most policemen have almost absolute confidence in their diagnostic abilities. If an officer declares a subject to be drunk, he might as well be, because he is doomed to be treated as such. I base this conclusion on the fact that I do not know of a single case of a policeman initially bringing a "drunk" to a hospital in order to verify his opinion. On the other hand, I recall several dozen occasions when officers have rushed persons from jail to hospital in a critical state—or dead. It is reasonable to assume that some of these could have been saved if they had been brought to the hospital in the first place.

Many medical conditions, from prolonged sleep loss to brain tumor, closely resemble drunkenness. In this state any one too sick or too disoriented to submit to a chemical test for intoxication stands a good chance of being branded "drunk." It may help someone somewhere to state that it is possible—as just one example—to have a little beer and a lot of diabetic coma. The coma can be fatal.

CONCERNED M. D. IN ALABAMA

DEAR CONCERNED: You are not alone in your concern. Watch this column for more on this subject.

National finalists

Valley Briefs

TWIN FALLS - Magic Chapter No. 82, Order of Eastern Stars, will have a regular meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Masonic Temple.

TWIN FALLS Twin Falls American Legion Auxiliary will have a dinner and meeting at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Colonial House. The meeting will honor special members and guests.

TWIN FALLS Primrose Rebekah Lodge No. 76 will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the IOOF Hall for a regular meeting. Officers need not wear formal.

TWIN FALLS - The Past Oracles Club will meet at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Frieda Evans.

JEROME - The Jerome Barracks of World War I and Auxiliary 1192 will have a pancake luncheon at the Jerome American Legion Hall at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

TWIN FALLS - Lend-A-Hand Club will meet at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday with Erna Frandsen, 1404 4th Ave. E., for a potluck dinner.

TWIN FALLS - The OAO Dancing Club will have a dinner dance Saturday at the Twin Falls Elks Ballroom. Dinner will be served from 4:30 to 9:30 p.m. Music will be by Dale Plott's orchestra. The committee in charge includes Dr. and Mrs. James Stafford, chairman, assisted by Dr. and Mrs. John McNeess, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harder and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Brizee.

TWIN FALLS - Shadrook Club will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Mungler. Mrs. Ned Olmstead is co-hostess. A food and or grab bag auction is planned.

JEROME - The regular meeting of the Jerome area chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Methodist Church Hall. This chapter includes all northside interested persons, members or non-members.

TWIN FALLS - Unity Club plans a men's dinner at 7 p.m. Friday at the Colonial House. The March club meeting will be a potluck dinner with Marjorie Deters at 12:30 p.m. March 14.

TWIN FALLS - The Country Women's Club will meet with Mrs. Genevieve Bird at noon Wednesday for a potluck.

JEROME - The Idaho Nurses Association, District No. 1, will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at St. Benedict's Hospital. Dr. Wayne Carte and Lucille Jacobsen from the Twin Falls health department, and Don Barlow of the regional mental health department will speak. A regular business meeting is planned for discussion of convention plans and certification.

3 TF students finalists

TWIN FALLS - Twin Falls High School has three finalists in this year's National Merit Scholarship contest, according to Mrs. Chris Charlton, counselor.

The finalists are Diane Fouts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Fouts; Tim Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norris, and Mary Ann Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Ward. Janice Senman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Soman, was a semi-finalist in the contest.

Mrs. Charlton said the finalists will be considered for 2,000 scholarships. They are among 14,500 finalists competing for 1,000 one-year

$1,000 scholarships and 2,000 $1,000 renewable scholarships. To be eligible to enter the contest, students must be enrolled at an accredited institution.

Mrs. Charlton said that last year Twin Falls High School had one semi-finalist and no finalists in the contest conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Career Day set at TFHS

TWIN FALLS - Kenneth Kall, Twin Falls High School counselor, said plans are about complete for a Junior Career Exploration Day set for Feb. 21.

He said the junior class and the Twin Falls Rotary Club have co-operated in planning the day. A committee of five from the Rotary Club including Carol Dowd, Vern Berg, Richard Stivers, Earl Nelson and Dr. Dan Hymore, all Twin Falls, worked with junior class officers.

The junior class officers are Bob McDonald, president; Landy Haynes, vice-president; Tammy Caspersen, secretary, and Caryl Tickner, treasurer.

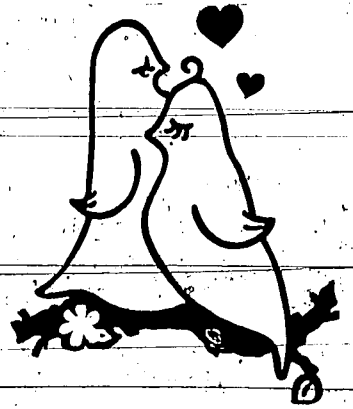

Kall said specialists in the areas to be considered will conduct three presentations during the program. The presentations are scheduled for 9, 10 and 11 a.m. to enable juniors to attend three interest areas of their choice.

Career areas to be covered include automotive technology, building trades, business office, conservation, cosmetology, electronic and business technology, farm related occupations, food service, health occupations, horticulture, merchandising, protection and real estate and insurance.

Kall said that it is hoped that the students will have an interest in some of the areas and be able to become better informed about the opportunities and requirements for a career in their field of interest.

A similar program has been conducted in the past for seniors and if this first program for juniors is successful, he expects that it will be continued.

Hansen club sets luncheon

HANSEN - Excelsior Social Club members discussed plans for the spring luncheon March 15 at a Thursday meeting at the home of Mrs. Raymond Butler. Mrs. Butler gave a valentine poem for the opening exercise. Members discussed favorite valentines.

A thank-you note was received from the Idaho Youth Ranch for a contribution made by the club. Mrs. Florence Hutchison, a former member, was a guest.

Mrs. Melvin Switzer thanked the club for kindness shown her during her illness.

Losers in the 1973 roll call contest will take care of the place cards, the decorations and the white elephant.

All former club members will be invited to the spring luncheon.

The location will be announced later.

Mrs. H. H. Thorne was program chairman and game prizes were won by Mrs. L. C. McFarland, Mrs. Rudolf Martens, Mrs. J. C. Poe and Mrs. Florence Hutchison.

The next meeting is March 1 at the home of Mrs. Thorne, with Mrs. Helen Dodge as program chairman.

Concert slated
Thursday

TWIN FALLS — Joe Longstreth and John Escosa, duo-harpists, will present a concert at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Thursday.

They will appear under sponsorship of the Magic Valley Community Concert Association in the third concert of the season.

Both men have varied backgrounds in all fields of musical experience in the United States and Europe. Both are accomplished pianists and both were introduced to the harp at the Wainwright Music Camp, La Grange, Ind.

They did not meet and collaborate until both were proven individual successes. Following a chance introduction, they decided to combine their talents in the recording of traditional and original Christmas carols in 1963.

The success of this venture and the subsequent demand for personal appearances stimulated their entry in the concert field.

Horoscope

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This can be a day of preparation for expanding your present activities far beyond their current boundaries, or for planning anything important. It is very good also for deciding on and studying the philosophy or religion that suits you and brings contentment.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you handle any duties of any nature properly today and thereby gain the favor of higher-ups, also where religious activities are concerned. State your aims to close ties. Gain their cooperation.

FABRIS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Accompany some good friend to a place where lofty ideas are being discussed and become inspired for the days ahead. Take time to do what will make others feel happier, more content. Avoid gossip.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Give most of your attention to home and family today and improve conditions, establish greater harmony there. Find right means to start an uptrend in your business life. Show you know exactly what you are doing.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you get out to the services that are inspiring and can help you make finer plans for the future. Visiting or calling key people on the phone and discussing ideas with them is wise. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study whatever possessions you have and plan to increase them in the future, or improve them. Listen to the advice of a most practical individual you know. Follow it and grow.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your life well today and see what needs to be done to realize your fondest dreams more quickly and well. Get into the social side of life in p.m. and make headway there. Try not to retire too late tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan now to get rid of whatever is obsolete and replace with the new and useful. Show an adviser that you appreciate any assistance given. Add to the goodwill you now enjoy from others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your personal aims are of greatest importance to you now, you can do whatever is necessary to gain them easily and well. Go out and be sociable, but try to help others as much as you can. Avoid troublemakers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take advantage of any opportunity to increase your prestige with the general public today. Discuss your civic ideas with a higher-up and gain support for them. Be loyal to him.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Write letters that will give you the data you need and work on talents that are exclusively your own. Make detailed plans now for some trip you have in mind. Count the cost carefully. Avoid extravagance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take time out for deep concentration so you can get some inspirational idea for the future that will be most helpful. Adopt a different attitude toward others and get better results. Forget something that is too costly for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Think out that problem with another carefully and then contact the individual and reach an excellent understanding. Long discussions with others bring fine rapport. Take it easy tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY - he or she will be one of those delightful young people who likes to be of service to others, and should be encouraged in this humanitarian quality since it can bring many favors in return and make the life happier. Pay particular attention to the early and teach right health habits. There is a fine ability at words and the education should be slanted along lines of teaching, writing, research, medical, or acting fields, especially.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

"All males among the lower animals are normally chivalrous toward their females, never fighting with them except under rare and unusual conditions," contends Dr. Amram Scheinfeld. "Certainly men are generally reluctant to fight with women." "But the more primitive the man, the more rigid the restraint," he says. "That's the point." "The exceptions are found mostly among civilized men."

GESTATION PERIOD of a mama blue whale is just about half as long as that of a female elephant. Curious. Generally, the larger the animal, the longer the pregnancy. And that's usually something. Her tongue alone can go four tons. That's as heavy as the whole elephant, most likely.

THE COLLEGE GIRLS go for oranges, tomatoes, broccoli, and cabbage. The college lads don't. Studies repeatedly show that. Ascorbic acid is what those foods contain. Why girls seem to crave it, but men don't, that's still unknown. Only grub rich in said acid which the men seem to like better than the women is the chili pepper.

LOVE AND WAR

What's needed around here is a brief course on how to strike up a conversation with members of the opposite sex, that's clear. Pollsters passed out questionnaires to numerous lads at the University of Minnesota, asking if they had sufficient opportunities to meet girls. A third of those young men said no. The survey was conducted in classrooms wherein the men and the coeds alternately sat side by side. Our Love and War man is troubled. He feels that a man, who sits next to a girl for an hour every day but still can't strike up a conversation, needs special training. A remedial flirtation seminar, maybe. Something.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "How many bowlers average as high as 190?"
A. Approximately one in 100. Just about five in 100 average under 125.

Q. "HOW MANY couples get married every day in this country?"
A. About 4,500.

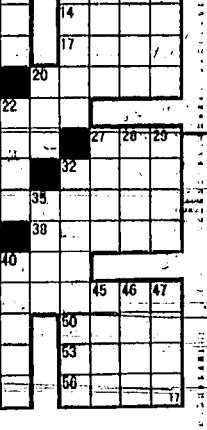

Q. "WHAT ARE the latest statistics on how long the average man keeps his car?"
A. Six years if he buys it new, five if it's bought used.

WOMEN IN GROUPS appear to enjoy cozy little places, but men together tend to prefer more elbow room. In fact, men in crowded quarters are apt to get testy, impatient, even angry. Researchers underwritten by Ford Foundation funds found that out. So what? It becomes particularly significant in jury rooms. An all-male jury packed into a small courthouse cubicle to deliberate, it's said, is likely to come up with a severe intolerant verdict. Women jurors, it's thought, are less apt to be so affected.

BURLEY — Human officials, Thompson took her commission earned must and her two children into the reward for two state employ- station after the break-down, and made arrangements for her east of here. husband to get to a service station and purchase replacement parts for the car.

Gordon Conine and Charles Thompson, both Burley, received certificates of recognition Thursday for their timely aid to a stranded Salt Lake City family in December.

John Bender, commissioner of the Department of Law Enforcement, presented the certificates in behalf of Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Conine and Thompson are weighmasters at the Cotterel station. On Dec. 30 they were instrumental in pulling the Duane Winterroth family back on the road home after their car broke down near the weigh station.

According to a letter written by Mrs. Winterroth, to state

Certificates presented

10 per cent of US POWs died

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Of the 650 acknowledged U.S. prisoners of war in Southeast Asia, 69 or 10.3 per cent died in captivity compared with a 30 per cent death rate among American POWs in Korea, according to the Pentagon.

In releasing the figures Thursday, defense officials cautioned that the comparison may be misleading. There are grave doubts the communists have identified everyone who died in captivity in Southeast Asia, particularly since no fatalities were reported for POW camps in Laos.

The 10.3 per cent death rate covers all prisoners acknowledged in North Vietnam, South Vietnam and Laos. The figures were supplied by the Communists.

In Korea, 7,100 U.S. servicemen were captured. A total of 2,730 died before they could be set free. That works out to a death rate of 38 per cent.

Reporter brother fails to see POW

MCGUIRE AFB, N.J. (UPI) — The only relative on hand to greet returning prisoner of war Navy Lt. Corin Doremus was not allowed to see him Thursday because he came to the air base as a newsmen.

Warren Doremus, 46, brother of the POW and an employee of a CBS-TV affiliate in Rochester, N.Y., said a Navy captain told him he could not greet his brother, saying "they had good reasons."

But a Defense Department spokesman in Washington explained that Doremus was prevented from greeting his brother under guidelines established for the news media.

The spokesman said Doremus had chosen to be at the base as a newsmen, but at the last moment tried to switch to a next-of-kin. Doremus would, however, be permitted as next-of-kin to greet the flyer at the hospital.

Money Box

Frank Schell

From J. H. Twin Falls: Dear Sir: I have a coin that I would want to know how old it is and how much it is worth. I think it is at least two hundred years old. I found it in South Germany. The man on the coin is William Clark. On the front it says "OFM" and on the back it says "OFM." On the back there is a drawing of a telescope. I sure wish you could tell me what I want to know, and if you can I thank you very much. Will you write back to me to tell me what I want to know. Thank you and good-bye.

Answer: As a general rule, Indian Head Cents dated from 1900 to 1909 (the last year) have little value. They run from thirty cents up to a couple of dollars — depending upon condition. A United States cent dated 1868 would also have to be an Indian Head cent, since they were made from 1859 until 1909. The only United States cents which show the Eagle were struck in 1856, '57 and '58. Perhaps your coin is an 1858? If it is dated 1868, with those designs on it, it is probably a Civil War token, of which many thousands were made to take the place of legal cents during a shortage of coins. If you will send this particular item to the column, we will examine it and let you know what it is that you have. Please send insured, with sufficient money to pay for insurance back to you.

Answer: You are a very young coin collector, aren't you, J. H.? I am sorry to have to tell you that the article you have is not a coin, but a medal, obviously struck to commemorate William Clark, who explored the West with Meriwether Lewis. You have heard of Lewis and Clark, haven't you? Ask your teacher to tell you about them. William Clark was born in 1770 and died in 1838. The "OFM" is a trademark of some private Mint which made the medal. The medal would not have much value and was probably made in the last twenty years. If you have any more questions, feel free to write again.

From A. J. T., Paul: I have an old Indian Head Penny, date is 1906. This coin is in good condition. Does it have any value. I also have another old penny — date is 1868. This has the eagle on one side and a wreath on the reverse side. Is this of any value? If so, where do I send them?

From J. J., Rupert: I have a copper-looking coin a little larger than a nickel. There is a woman's head on it, with her hair piled on her head. Around the head are the words "Wilhelmina Loningin Der Nederlanden." On the other side a large "5" with a flower of some kind and the date 1948. Under the number is the word "Cent." Can you tell me anything about this coin?

Answer: You have a regular 5-cent piece from the Netherlands, struck under the reign of Wilhelmina, who was queen from 1890 until 1948. The coin is made from bronze, and had a collectors value, brand new, of about fifteen cents. It is not a scarce coin.

Change lowers morale

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) — "Army Secretary Robert P. Froyhke says the dollar devaluation weakens the morale of the U.S. Army in Europe and strengthens the economic arguments of those pressing for unilateral withdrawals from Europe.

"But I think the majority in Congress still realize it is important to world peace that we maintain our forces over here in Europe," he said.

Froyhke made his remarks in a speech and a question-answer session Thursday night before the Heidelberg chapter of the U.S. Army Association. The Army circulated excerpts of his comments today.

Froyhke also predicted the Women's Army Corps (WACs) would be dissolved in the near future and women soldiers integrated into the general army in twice their present numbers.

Asked whether the U.S. balance-of-trade deficit and the related dollar devaluation would affect the argument over unilateral U.S. troop withdrawals, Froyhke said:

"It's a political question. But I do think it is obvious that devaluation has hurt the morale of our troops and that it is true that the balance of payments has hurt the U.S. Economy.

"You put those two together and it certainly does not help the situation," Froyhke said, adding that he thought the majority of Congress would stand firm behind the maintenance of U.S. troop forces in Europe.

Better environment

Engineers Week begins

TWIN FALLS — Engineers Week has been proclaimed in Twin Falls beginning today with engineers calling attention to the many improvements their profession provides.

In issuing a proclamation for Engineering Week in Twin Falls, Mayor John Christoffersen urged residents to consider the many advantages provided through modern day engineering.

As an example, he said, the new Perrine Bridge will soon span the Snake River north of Twin Falls, adding to a better environment and a welcome addition for travelers, businessmen and residents of the area.

Theme of the 1973 Engineers Week this year is "A Better Environment Through Technology."

Dale Riedesel, Twin Falls, is president of the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers and Ron Dehlin, Idaho Department of Highways engineer, is president of the Magic Valley Chapter.

The two explained the 1,500-foot-long bridge structure will be completed by late 1975 across Snake River, just slightly upstream from the present bridge.

It is landscaped to complement the beauty of the basalt rock in the canyon. New type steels developed by metallurgical engineers to form their own rust colored protective coating will blend into the rugged topography of the canyon.

The consulting engineering firm of Howard, Needle, Tamen and Bergendorf put together a team of 15 engineers and designers who devoted a full year's effort to complete the design and plans.

The firm provided liaison with contractors, suppliers and transportation officials to insure that the new bridge meets all safety and traffic standards and is economically the best design.

The environmental impact statement for the project was approved by 35 agencies and a public hearing held to provide local input, Riedesel said.

He said the survey and engineering crews faced their own rust colored problems including rattlesnakes, poison ivy, falling rocks and many inquisitive onlookers during field work.

The size of the bridge members and the canyon made the project a challenging one, he said.

Highliners Club meets

TWIN FALLS — The Highliners 4-H Club met Thursday for a get acquainted evening at the home of Mrs. Chris Flinn, leader.

The club invited any boy or girl 10 years of age and older interested in joining a horse 4-H group to call Tom Turner, assistant leader at 734-8818.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting March 22.

Delay worries Thailand

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The longer a cease-fire is delayed in Cambodia and Laos and the closer Communist forces push to the Thailand border, the greater the concern in Bangkok.

Thailand's concern is fueled by the fact that only about 80 miles separate northern Thailand from southern China, that both China and North Vietnam have aided anti-Bangkok rebels in the north and that Thailand's commitment to anti-communism has been as total as any nation in Asia.

"The Thais are firm believers in the domino theory and they fear that in the event of a collapse in Laos especially, they themselves probably would be the next to come under attack."

Especially they demand guarantees for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces from Laos and Cambodia and adequate policing to insure the withdrawals actually are carried out.

It therefore was with relief that the Thais received assurances that sufficient U.S. air power would remain in the region to turn back any large-scale violation by the North Vietnamese of a cease-fire agreement and that they would count on a continued American military presence on Thai soil indefinitely.

Included in this military presence, according to the reports from Bangkok, would be American fighter-bombers and B52s, but no American combat troops.

Manpower involved would come to about 40,000 men.

Thai table tennis team visited China last year and a Thai trade delegation attended the Canton trade fair.

The Thais have reopened a world war II mountain road to Burma both as a means of improving the economy and of combatting Communist infiltration in the north.

Communist insurgents in the north are estimated at around 8,000, a 10 per cent increase over a year ago.

Most of their aid is said to come from China but with North Vietnam supplying some training and arms.

Communists scold

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist party criticized inept management of business and industry Friday and threatened punishment for those failing to meet their responsibilities.

"You will not escape punishment 'no matter how high their positions,'" Pravda's criticism followed the recent publication of official figures showing the Soviet economy in 1972 failed to meet its goals in all major indicators: national income growth, industrial production, labor productivity, personal income and agricultural output.

"Sometimes important jobs are headed by people who are not competent, who are inert and unable to instill in the collectives an atmosphere of genuine creative work, unity and true responsibility for the fate of state programs and socialist commitments," Pravda said.

The editorial said "instead of mobilizing internal resources for improving production, sometimes all efforts are concentrated on correcting the state programs." By this, Pravda referred sarcastically to attempts to ease the work load.

Pravda also said "attempts to fulfill and overfulfill programs at any cost, even at the expense of quality, should not be tolerated."

Little cigar makers agree to ban ads

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The makers of "Winchester" little cigars have agreed to stop advertising the product on radio and television, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Friday.

His announcement of the decision by the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. followed threats of legislative action to ban "little cigar" broadcast commercials, and a Federal Trade Commission recommendation that the product be treated just like cigarettes for purposes of a ban on radio and television advertising.

Magnuson said the company agreed to withdraw the commercials after a week of discussions with the Senate Commerce Committee, which he chairs.

"Winchester" was the largest single advertiser of "little cigars," and the Reynolds decision was likely to prompt others in the field to follow.

"Little cigars" had been attacked as nothing more than cigarettes in disguise, and critics said they should be covered by the two year old ban on broadcast cigarette commercials.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, had introduced legislation to ban them, and the FTC last month recommended that the legal definition of cigarettes be changed so that "little cigars" would be covered and automatically included in the broadcast advertising ban.

"We are gratified," Magnuson said, "that Reynolds at our request, has unilaterally agreed to remove their advertising of Winchesters from radio and television as soon as possible.

"We are hopeful that the broadcasting networks will assist the company in disposing of their contract time in a way that will minimize any losses that might otherwise occur."

What you're saying . . .

Advance fees for Doctors?

Following a letter printed nationally in Dear Abby, in which a Twin Falls woman complained about demands for payment prior to obstetrical treatment, the T-N decided to ask what people thought.

The Question: Should doctors require payment in full prior to delivering a baby. What has been your experience with your own children?

Shirley Eaker, Kimberly:
"I have found that doctors will make acceptable financial arrangements. They did in our instance and from talking with other mothers it's true then too. If a doctor knows you have a good credit rating, which is easy to check, he will make arrangements. A lot of doctors lose a lot of money if they don't make such a demand."

Shirley Eaker, Kimberly

Cherie Goodale, Buhl

Cherie Goodale, Buhl:
"Well, maybe half in advance. If you move away it's hard to get money back from a doctor — if he didn't deliver the baby and you already paid in advance."

"Yes (we were required to pay in advance) and we moved from John Day, Oregon. The doctor said he'd send the money, but he didn't. My husband got it back when he went through John Day."

H. H. Burkhardt, Twin Falls:
"If people can pay it, it's perfectly all right. If they can't they should be given a chance to make time payments."

H. H. Burkhardt, Twin Falls

"Prices are getting higher all the time. My wife had a set of twins in 1929 and I think they charged us $75. They charged us $25 extra for twins."

"It's my belief that no conscientious, sincere doctor would refuse service to anyone in need, whether it was childbirth or another health matter."

Henry Woodall, Twin Falls

Henry Woodall, Twin Falls:
"No, but I think there should be definite financial arrangements made commitments, promises."

"No (we were not required to pay in advance). In fact, most of the doctors that I know, if not overcommitted with patients, would take the patient regardless of financial condition. I know that they frequently give care to patients when they know chances of collecting fees are very remote. They do this from a humanitarian point of view."

Edna Rains, Twin Falls:
"Yes, in this respect, that it can be paid on a monthly basis as the patient goes to the doctor. After all, the doctors have to have their money too. They work for a living the same as I do. I want my money at the end of the week, don't you?"

Edna Rains, Twin Falls

Celestia Dennis, Jackpot

Celestia Dennis, Jackpot:
"No, I don't. Too many young people are just getting a start and they don't have that much."
"No (we didn't pay in full in advance), we paid when we could and as much as we could. I know that my children — one son has a daughter — weren't required to have money right at the time."

TF doctor discusses prenatal payments

By JOCELYN CLOWARD
Times-News writer

Dr. Willard H. Clark made the statement quietly and forcefully this week. Dr. Clark's office had been one of four in Twin Falls which allegedly told an eight-months pregnant Mrs. Darlene Tate they would not accept her as a patient unless she "paid her bill in full in advance."

Mrs. Tate had written to columnist Abigail Van Buren. Her letter subsequently appeared in the nationally syndicated column, Dear Abby, which was published in the Times-News Feb. 9.

Dr. Clark's office was called this week as the Times-News checked with those doctors named by Mrs. Tate.

Dr. Clark's office manager, Mrs. Louise Adamson, was incensed by the charge.

"We take care of more of these people than anybody," she said. "In November Dr. Clark was out of town and in the process of moving. When she gave us her due date (Mrs. Tate's baby girl, Geri Lynn, was born Dec. 15 at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital) we knew he couldn't help her as he would be gone."

"The doctor feels that he would like to talk with you personally rather than by phone," she said.

And so for the first time in many months I went to see a doctor.

Having suffered long waits in medical offices myself, I felt sheepish when asked to go right into Dr. Clark's office. I felt the waiting room patients' glares as I walked past them without registering.

His office was cramped, though orderly. A medical library lined the walls. My attention was caught by an "in-out" basket with one addition, "take home." I wondered whether a busy physician would really have the energy for paperwork at home.

Dr. Clark was calm about his office's being named. He was relaxed and unhurried while talking, though a baby's scream could be heard through the office walls.

"Let's move him to the end of the hall," Dr. Clark told a nurse. The baby continued to scream, although more faintly.

"I want you to have some background material," Dr. Clark told me. "Our ideas about patients who are in financial need go back at least 15 years."

"A problem like the one Mrs. Tate has had," he said, "has its roots in the policy of 15 years ago when a physician was hired by Twin Falls County commissioners to treat indigent patients."

"I worked for the county as the county physician when I first came to this area 15 years ago. It was a half-time job, and I gradually built up my own practice in addition to it."

Before the county physician doctors treated those without funds, "out of the goodness of their hearts," he said.

The commissioners, Dr. Clark said, often were asked to decide whether or not a patient was "indigent" or a "deadbeat." There was much resentment, too, he said, when a patient had to appear before the commission to have his case judged.

"One problem," Dr. Clark said, "used to be that a patient who had to go to a county physician resented doing so. The feeling was that you had fallen to the bottom, that as a patient who couldn't pay, you expected to get third-rate care."

"I felt it at that time," he said, "that such a system created ill will. A patient should not be a 'captive' of any one doctor, he said, even though his bill is being paid by the county or other sources."

"These patients often felt, whether rightly or wrongly, that they were being treated arrogantly and unfairly."

The concept of county medical assistance began to change then. The commissioners agreed to allow indigent patients to choose from area doctors.

"I stayed on in an advisory capacity," Clark said, "to see that county funds were not abused. There is not now a county physician," he said.

Federal funds now take care of most patients without adequate financial resources, he said. Younger people just over 18 can be assisted by Medicaid and those 65 years and older by Medicare.

"Evidently, this young woman doesn't qualify for those particular programs."

I asked Dr. Clark what a pregnant woman who could not pay the full prenatal and delivery bill in advance should do.

"Any patient who wants prenatal care and delivery has a choice of planning ahead for money. Most people are not prepared anymore to pay lump sums as we used to require after delivering a baby. Our whole credit system is based on monthly payments. People usually manage all their payments and purchases by the month, so doctors are asking the same."

"Obstetrics is a poorly paying field. Perhaps 50 per cent of these patients are not paying their doctor's bills, or are having a hard time paying."

"I have about three patients per week involved in bankruptcies," he said. "Also, many doctors now feel that pregnancy is a matter of choice since many birth control devices and pills are available."

I asked Dr. Clark again what would happen to an eight-months pregnant mother-to-be like Mrs. Tate, who applied to his office for help.

"I have never turned down an OB patient who has attempted to set up a payment program and has made an attempt to carry through that program," he said.

DR. WILLARD H. CLARK
... a poorly paid field.

"A doctor-patient relationship is one of faith."

"I feel that a woman doesn't have faith in me if she doesn't pay me. It puts all the burden of faith on me."

Patients who don't pay their bills are the first to sue their doctors, he added.

"I would try to see a patient with financial problems," Dr. Clark said, "although in October, November and December, I was taking no new OB patients, regardless of who they were, because I could not be available to treat them and to deliver their babies."

No patient is denied admission to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Clark said. A doctor is always on call there.

"We also have for women in labor, a rotation delivery schedule. Even if the doctor on

"We doctors have working relationships for periods when we can't continue to treat our own patients. We refer them to other doctors who take them as a personal favor to us."

"If this young woman had made an appointment to see me I could have referred her to another doctor," he added.

As the interview ended, I tried to make a businesslike exit from Dr. Clark's office without looking any of the waiting patients in the eye.

I don't remember if the baby was still crying.

ABC's political unit gets Caroline Kast in top spot

Caroline Sue Kast has been named assistant manager for ABC News' political unit, it was announced today by William Sheehan, ABC News Senior Vice President.

Miss Kast had been key precinct supervisor for the political unit from 1966 to the present. She will report directly to John Thompson, manager of the political unit.

In announcing the promotion, Mr. Sheehan said, "One of the most important aspects of ABC News' domestic coverage is political reporting. Sue Kast's important contribution to the on-going task of amassing, coordinating and evaluating election data has helped us to maintain a record of early, accurate projections in key contests on the state, Federal and Presidential levels.

"Her promotion is a reflection of our confidence that she can take on added responsibilities at the managerial level."

The ABC News political unit has overall responsibility for compiling the key precinct data used by the election night decision desks to project winners in important races when only a small percentage of the vote has been tabulated.

Sue Kast's activities cover a wide range and include general coordination of the key precinct system, selection and evaluation of sample precincts in all 50 states, demographic and statistical analysis, and preparation of election studies of ABC's key precincts and the voting results.

Her work involves extensive travel and meetings with state, county and city election officials, as well as liaison with the League of Women Voters volunteers who serve as the more than 3000 key precinct reporters who telephone vote counts to ABC News' election headquarters. These tabulations provided by the league volunteers are then used not only for projections, but to clarify voting patterns for ABC's news analysts and political scientists.

During each election night, Miss Kast serves as ABC News' manager of the key precinct control desk.

From 1962 until 1966 she was regional manager of administration and personnel for C-F-J-R, Inc., a computer consulting firm. She first became associated with ABC News' political coverage when she served as a member of the C-F-J-R computer team's working on the 1964 general election and the 1966 California primary.

Prior to 1962, Miss Kast had been an editorial assistant for the American Diabetes Association working on the American Diabetes Journal, a publication for physicians, and the ADA Forecast, aimed at those persons suffering from the disease.

She is an alumnna of Mount Holyoke College and Hood College and has studied at the University of Bridgeport.

Miss Kast was listed in "Outstanding Women in Communications, 1970-71) and has been nominated for inclusion in the World Who's Who of Women.

She is a member of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and the Advertising Club of New York, and serves on the board of directors of English-in-Action, a volunteer organization which teaches conversational English to foreign student and professional persons.

A native of Munice Ind., Miss Kast resides in Manhattan.

J. G. Kirkman, president of the Twin Falls Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, announced the church would open business offices in Twin Falls.

The offices will be in the Woods Building, located at Main Avenue and Second Street West. The rooms were formerly occupied by Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Kirkman said that Stake business had been performed at the homes of the various officers.

Twin Falls was brought to the attention of motorists by being included in the annual log book issued by the Old Oregon Trail Association. The log book will be sent to an estimated 25,000 motorists. The distribution will be through hotels, auto agencies and tour posts in all parts of the nation. Text of the information was prepared by the roads and advertising departments of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. The information said that Twin Falls was known as Fred W. Meech suffered the fracture of his left wrist in a fall on the steps of the Ascension Episcopal Church Sunday morning. Extent of the injury was not determined until Monday even when a physician was consulted.

John W. Graham was elected to serve a year as President of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club. He succeeded Frank L. Stephan. Other officers elected at a night session included Merlin G. Stanley, vice-president; Ralph B. Smith, treasurer; I. H. Masters, district trustee; Kenneth Beach, Alvin Harbour, E. D. Kinney, W. T. Leslie, C. C. Larson, L. E. Smith, W. J. Young, all directors. At Christmas, 18 boys and two girls in the Industrial School at St. Anthony were presented with gifts from the local club.

Gov. C. C. Moore informed officials at Buhl that the state of Idaho had received title to 7994.41 acres of land in the Bailey land district. This land, which is in Twin Falls county

Two Boy Scout troops, bringing the total in Twin Falls to nine, were organized. With S. K. Goodkond as Scoutmaster, a troop was organized at the Methodist church with a membership of 12.

A troop sponsored by the Christian Church was also organized with C. E. Allen as Scoutmaster. Membership totaled 16. First activity planned was to be a hike.

Miss Margaret Scilley and Miss Valene Rowberry went to Buhl where they visited friends for a few days.

Among residents of Amsterdam who motored to Twin Falls for the day were Miss Jesta Kunkle and Lucile Kitchell. A visitor in Amsterdam was Miss Lila Skinner from Twin Falls.

Government officials announced that about 140,000 acres of forest land in Cassia County, with some of it in Twin Falls county, would be opened to entry by preference right claimants including discharged officers, soldiers, sailors or Marines who file within the time provided by law.

J. H. Swan was notified that he was awarded first prize in the 1923 Delicious Apple contest nationwide. The announcement was received from Stark Brothers-Nursery and Orchard Co. He received an award of $16 as a result of the win.

There were 120 guests as D. F. Detweiler, owner of the Detweiler Coal Co. of Twin Falls, entertained friends and patrons at a turkey dinner at the Perrine Hotel. Tables were spread for all the guests in the hotel lobby as well as in the dining room. Appreciation of the occasion and praises for the host were voiced by several speakers including Dr. Charles E. Wittling of the Methodist Church; Dr. W. W. Burke of the Christian Church; T. K. Hackman, J. A. Cron, S. H. Bolton and L. Wick.

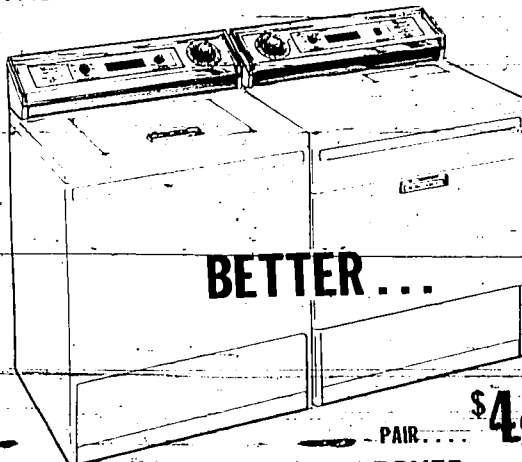

The Lavering Theatre of Twin Falls was selling tickets for the presentation of the smart musical comedy hit "Irene," featuring Dale Winter. There was to be a special orchestra along with wonderful girls, wonderful gowns. Prices ranged from $1 to $3 plus tax.

An "old fashioned" Christmas dinner was served over the holidays at the Perrine Hotel at a cost of $1.

Wonderful World of Disney now firm through 1875-76

Firm production plans for "The Wonderful World of Disney" through the 1975-76 season were announced today by Don Durgin, president, NBC Television Network, and E. Cardon Walker, president, Walt Disney Productions.

The announcement confirms production schedules of the Sunday night series for the next three seasons, covering the years 1973, 1974, 1975 and 1976. "The Wonderful World of Disney" begins its thirteenth year on NBC-TV next September. That date also marks the twentieth consecutive year of production for a Disney anthology series on television.

Walt Disney Productions has also extended to NBC-TV, options to broadcast the series during the 1976-77 and 1977-78 seasons.

In making the announcement, Mr. Durgin said: "We take great pride in our long and rewarding affiliation with the Disney organization and 'The Wonderful World of Disney' series.

Mr. Walker said: "We are highly pleased at the continuing public acceptance for this series which is the longest running prime time show on TV today. During the 1972-73 season, 'The Wonderful World of Disney' has enjoyed some of the largest total audiences in its history. Thus far this season, 'The Wonderful World of Disney' has placed in the Top Twenty shows 13 of the first 16 weeks to date, breaking to Top Ten on six separate occasions. Our most recent two-part episode entitled 'The Mystery in Dracula's Castle,' broadcast on January 7th and 14th, placed fifth and fourth, respectively, in the Nielsen National survey. On January 21, '50 Happy Years' the program honoring the Disney organization's golden anniversary of entertainment, received a 20.7 rating, ranked fifth among the week's programs, and was the show's highest rating of the year. For the 1972-73 season, 'World of Disney' is the fourth highest rated program of all NBC-TV series."

Said Walker in conclusion, "The unique nature of Disney animal adventure, animation and wildlife programs requires extensive lead time in production. As production for the 1973-74 season is already nearing completion, we are pleased to have reached an agreement with NBC Television which allows us to begin planning and production activities another two years in advance."

The late Walt Disney first entered the medium in 1954, the season his Davy Crockett stories became world famous. The popular series of nature stories, cartoons, comedies and adventure dramas, formerly entitled "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color," had its premiere on NBC-TV in September, 1961.

Why are Twin Falls school children . . .

Last year the Twin Falls schools spent only 77 per cent of the state average on each child'

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News managing editor
TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls schools are among the most impoverished in Idaho.

Most parents probably will have difficulty believing that so little money is spent on their children in one of the most wealthy and progressive communities in the state.

But the facts, according to the Idaho State Department of Education, are these:

— Of the 116 school districts in Idaho, only two spend less per student than is spent in Twin Falls. The other 113 Districts spend more.

— Of all the school districts in surrounding Magic Valley, none spends less per pupil than does Twin Falls.

Of all the "large" school districts in the state, none spends less per pupil than does Twin Falls.

In short, the ultimate consumer of education in the Twin Falls area, the student, is short changed.

Although there are few clear-cut links between the number of dollars spent and the quality of education, it is generally agreed that more money helps while less money hurts.

According to Twin Falls Supt. George Staudaer, the district would be able to implement needed programs if it could increase its income.

"The first thing we would like to do is to expand our career education program in the world of work, for either professional persons or the blue collar worker. I'd like to see career education begin right in the first grade."

Staudaer believes the Twin Falls schools are of high quality despite the low per-pupil expenditure.

Much of the reason, he says, is the overall efficiency of the district as a larger district.

To support his view, he said, the high school seniors taking the ACT (American College Test) prior to entrance to college score significantly higher than both state and national average.

"If these figures are accurate, we're above the average," he said. "The money

How much the education of Twin Falls children is set back by the low level of support is an open question. The only agreement is their education is handicapped "somewhat."

How did the Twin Falls schools ever get in such a fix?

The answer lies in the archaic, piecemeal system of educational funding in Idaho. Besides being archaic and piecemeal, the system is biased against districts such as Twin Falls.

State laws governing school finance are so entangled that they rival the worst of the federal red tape spewed forth during the heyday of the Great Society. When these laws are applied to school districts as different as Twin Falls and Three Creek, the result is unfair treatment to many Twin Falls children.

There are three keys to the problems of the Twin Falls schools:

— Unequal tax base;
— artificial limits on local taxation, and — the state "equalization" formula.

Tax Base

Because most of the county's farmland lies outside the Twin Falls school district's boundaries, the property tax base inside the district is relatively low.

The property tax base supporting each student in the Twin Falls district would raise less money per student than the same tax elsewhere.

The 30-mill tax would raise only $143 per child in Twin Falls, but would raise as much as $345 per child in the Murtaugh district, or a whopping $3,705 in the Three Creek District.

With the exception of the Minidoka school district, Twin Falls schools have the lowest property tax base per child in Magic Valley.

Ceilings

The low property tax for Twin Falls is bad enough. But it is compounded by ceilings on taxation.

Under state law the maintenance and operation tax levy is limited to 30 mills. The 30-mill limit applies, no matter how large or small the local tax base.

What this means in practice is that the Twin Falls school trustees are barred by law from raising as much money through local taxation for each pupil as can be raised by neighboring districts.

So Twin Falls can raise less than half as much per student as Murtaugh can or about one-tenth sixth as much as can neighboring Three Creek.

(The only loophole in the tax ceiling has not helped the Twin Falls schools much. By law, following a majority vote of outlaws, an additional tax levy can be passed for a one-year period.

Twin Falls school officials oppose the use of the year-to-year override levy. They say there would be no guarantee that voters would not suddenly drop the levy, leaving the district committed to ongoing programs without money to pay for them.

Equalization formula

About half of the money spent by school districts in Idaho comes from state funds. Most of this state money is funneled through an equalization formula designed to compensate for inequities among school districts.

The way the formula is intended to work is fair enough: The necessary costs of the school district are computed by the state.

The state finds out how much money the local districts can reasonably raise through local taxation and other sources. If a district falls short of its needs, the state attempts to supply additional funds to meet those needs.

From the Twin Falls standpoint, problems arise at two places in the formula as currently administered.

1. In the state determination of need, the state says that small, thinly settled school districts need more dollars per student to provide an adequate educational program.

For example, a small high school would need a great deal more money for each student than a large high school — such as at Twin Falls.

High schools with fewer than 100 students would need 70 per cent more per student than in Twin Falls, under the current formula.

Since the state money tends to go where the "need" is greatest, it tends to go to the small schools instead of the larger schools, and Twin Falls loses out.

2. The second factor of importance is the level of local taxation the state formula considers in determining the local revenue.

Most districts in the state tax at least the 30 mill levy. But instead of using the 30-mill level of taxation as its base, the state uses a lower figure, 22 mills.

The problem here — from Twin Falls' standpoint — is illustrated in the following example.

Suppose two school districts, each operating the same size school units (thus eliminating the effects of the "sparsity factor"), tax at 30 mills each.

One of the districts has an assessed valuation twice as high per student as the second student.

Up to the point of the 22 mill tax the state formula will add enough additional money to the poor district to bring its total income to the level of the rich district.

But for every mill beyond the 22 mill level the rich district raises twice as many dollars as does the poor district.

This would mean that the poor district would have to tax at a level of 30 mills to match the total income of the rich district which taxes at only 30 mills.

In practice this means that both rich and poor districts tax at the 30-mill ceiling, and the rich district has more money to spend on its children than does the poor district. The equalization is only partial, and the poor district such as Twin Falls suffers.

The Outcome

Where does all this leave the

Some small high schools receive half again as much money per child as does Twin Falls

... impoverished

Twin Falls schools?

During the last school year, the Twin Falls schools spent only .77 per cent of the state average on each child.

Despite the fact that the Twin Falls district's assessed valuation supporting each student was far less than the state average, state funds pupil was $268.59 last year, but Hansen schools got $309.57 and Kimberly schools got $292.71.

Besides Twin Falls, other districts receiving less than the state average in the county are Buhl, $243.33; Filer, $222.15; Three Creek, $5.55; Castleford, $247.86, and Murtaugh, $228.45. Should the state school districts would have gained another $160,000.

Buhl, $47,255; Filer, $30,257; Three Creek, $2,101; Castleford, $60,971, and Murtaugh, $10,736.

The two districts that would have lost, Kimberly and Hansen, would have lost $17,480 and $20,194 respectively.

The same situation exists generally among other school districts in Magic Valley.

Among the 13 school districts in Magic Valley outside of Twin Falls County, ten received less than the average per student amount distributed in the state. Only three districts receive more than average.

Districts getting less than their per-student share are Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Wendell, Bliss, Jerome, Valley, Shoshone and Richfield. Districts getting more are Hagerman, Dietrich and Minidoka.

The Valley picture shows that there is much more of a community of interest among both rural and urban districts than is generally believed by school officials and legislators.

Three-fourths of all schoolchildren in Magic Valley attend school in districts which get less than their per-student share of state funds. Only one-fourth get more than their share.

Certainly the Twin Falls County and Magic Valley experience suggests that most children would benefit from any movement toward true equalization of state school funds.

Less support per pupil

'Of the 116 school districts in Idaho, only two spend less per student than is spent in Twin Falls. The other 113 districts spend more.'

received "equalization funds" instead of being more than average were LESS than average.

State foundation funds (including transportation funds) going to Twin Falls totaled $250.83 per pupil, compared to the state average of $268.59.

But the Twin Falls schools are not alone in getting less than their share of state funds. Other districts in Twin Falls County share the same problem, but to a lesser extent. Only two of the eight school districts in the county received an average amount of state aid per pupil last year.

The average state aid per funding be distributed on a per student basis, without regard to other factors, six of the eight county districts would benefit, and only two would suffer.

Under such circumstances, the county as a whole would have received an additional $28,454 above what it received from the state last year.

Projected to expected levels of funding for the next fiscal year, the county schools as a group would gain in the neighborhood of $350,000 if funds were distributed on a per-student basis.

Per-student funding would have brought the Twin Falls schools an extra $107,028 last year. Four other county

Trouper Martha Raye returns on Tuesday

In 1965, neglecting her career, Martha Raye began entertaining troops in Vietnam. In 1969, when Miss Raye gave up a Las Vegas engagement for a stint in Saigon, Nick Condos, then her personal manager of 20 years, commented: "If the war keeps up much longer we'll both be broke."

Well, the war is over, Miss Raye is back, and on Tuesday, Feb. 20 she will treat television viewers to the memorable Martha when "Ed Sulivan Presents the TV Comedy Years," saluting a host of television's comedians and comedienne of the past and present, is presented as a special broadcast on the CBS Television Network.

As a veteran of two previous wars - she entertained troops for two years in World War II and made three trips to Korea - Miss Raye has dedicated herself to the Armed Forces. A trained nurse as well as an entertainer, she spent four to five months every year from 1965 to 1972 nursing in Vietnam, wounded twice - once her jeep was overturned by terrorists, leaving her with five cracked and broken ribs; the other time she was hit by shrapnel - Miss Raye has received two Purple Hearts.

She has received numerous honors for her work among the troops, including a special citation, presented by Gen. Westmoreland, US Commander in Vietnam, for giving blood on the battlefield and then serving as a nurse for the next 17 hours.

At the Academy Awards in 1968 Miss Raye became the first woman ever to receive the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award in recognition of her efforts.

She is now, and has been for some time, national vice president for P.O.W.-M.I.A. (Prisoners of War-Missing in Action).

Aside from her military interest Miss Raye is still the same clown, with the famous mouth who appeared in such films as "Waikiki Wedding," "Give Me a Sailor" and "Monsieur Verdoux." The sometime sidekick of Milton Berle on the old "Texaco Show," the star of her own 1953 "Martha Raye Show," the 1967 Broadway lead of "Hello, Dolly," and recently one of the stars of Broadway's "No, No, Nanette," Martha Raye has truly proved herself a trouper.

"60 minutes"

"60 MINUTES," CBS News' television magazine series, has been named a winner of a 1973 George Polk Memorial Award.

The series, broadcast Sundays on the VBS Television Network with Correspondents Mike Wallace and Morley Safer as co-editors, was honored as an outstanding television news documentary. It was cited for "often courageous accounts and evaluations of news events and news subjects."

The award will be presented at a luncheon at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York City on March 22. The George Polk Memorial Awards are sponsored by the Journalism Department of the Brooklyn Center of Long Island University to honor the memory of a correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System who was killed in Greece in 1948.

Income Tax Refunds are ready-made savings.

Your income tax refund is ready-made savings—ready to be tucked away as a nice lump-sum payment on tomorrow. It's probably what you've had in mind all along, isn't it? Getting this far without missing the money, and then making sort of a giant step toward whatever it is you're saving for.

One of the easiest ways to make sure you really do it, of course, is to take your refund check and turn it into a Series E Savings Bond. (Or maybe several Savings Bonds!)

Series E Bonds earn 5½% interest, compounded semiannually, when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Your money is guaranteed safe—Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen. And, speaking of income tax, you may defer the payment of Federal tax on your E Bond interest until you cash your Bonds or they finally mature. (And the interest is exempt from state and local income taxes!)

So don't miss such an ideal opportunity to add to your savings.

Turn your tax refund check into growing Savings Bonds dollars today. You'll be doing something nice for your future.

Take stock in America.

Green Thumb: Driver kills 'insecticide'

By GEORGE ABRAHAM
AN ODE TO THE SKUNK:
Last week I saw a human punk run over a skunk — deliberately. He didn't know it but he killed one of man's best pesticides. Skunks in summer months have a diet made up mostly of beetles, grubs, grasshoppers, crickets, mice followed by an earthworm or two for dessert. Skunks have never mastered a defense against the automobile, but they can capably handle themselves in just about every other situation.

Skunks are "loners" and can live as happily in the middle of suburbia as in the country. A skunk is shy and retiring, and absolutely fearless. He waddles along on his flat feet completely confident that he can chase any foe away with his bazooka gun loaded with strong musk. This scent, which smells like a combination of rotten egg, the inside of a motormah's glove and the bottom of a bird cage, is a liquid containing butyl mercaptan.

They put this (a little of it!) in bottled gas so you can detect a gas leak. A skunk will not resort to chemical warfare unless he's in trouble. He has two muscular glands beneath his bushy tail. To fire his artillery he turns his hind quarters toward the enemy, constricts muscles which surround the scent glands and with amazing accuracy it can hit a target at a distance of 15 feet.

In case you've never been fired upon I'll tell you what it's like as I once trapped skunks when I was a boy. The liquid stings if it gets in your eyes, although it will not cause harm to skin of eyes. Skunk smell clings unmercifully, but it you use detergent soap and water, with lots of Clorox and elbow grease you can get rid of the aroma.

If your dog tangles with a skunk, try the trick my mother used: Wash the animal thoroughly with tomato juice or tomato soap, allow to dry, then give a bath. No smell's left at all. Plan a bath for yourself, too. Note: I may be a skunk for saying this, but I don't mind the smell of skunk at all. In fact I like it! and I like skunks, too.

'Of punks and skunks'

that is, the 4 legged kind which eats bugs in my lawn.

SHRUBS BLOOM INDOORS. If you want fresh flowers at no cost, cut some branches from your shrubs for indoor show. Soak them in a tub of warm water for a few hours to moisten the buds. Some gardeners wrap the buds with damp burlap for several days. Keep branches in a cool spot — 40 to 65 degs until buds develop.

Then move to higher temperature to speed flowering. Do NOT force branches too fast, or flowers will be small, color poor and only a portion of the buds will develop. After buds swell, move to bright window for good color development.

Some shrubs are tougher to force than others. Try forsythia, redbud, apple, crabapple, cherry, spirea and Japanese Barberry, to name a few. In fact, try forcing anything growing — lilac, dogwood, magnolia and see what you get!

H O M E G R O W N TOMATOES: We can write about tomatoes anytime of the year and not bore readers. That's how popular tomatoes are! People are planting more tomatoes and other vegetables and home gardeners are demanding more things from the plant breeder. For example, the home gardener wants a tomato that will produce fruit over the entire season, one that can be staked up and will continue to grow and produce more fruit until frost. Commercial growers want just the opposite. They want a plant that will grow up so far, pinch itself to a stop, set one heavy crop of fruit, then quit, designed to fit in with today's mechanical harvester.

"The home gardener eats with his eyes," Dr. Muir of Cornell says. But this can be misleading. The ripest apple is usually the wormiest and tastes bad. Years ago, a tomato was bred which yielded ten times the average count of Vitamin A, also extremely high in Carotene wonderful for human health. What happened? The variety died out because the fruit was a poor greenish-red color — not the red, red that home gardeners love to see in a tomato. That's why orange skins are dyed orange — to hide the green skin.

What's the best tomato variety? There's no such thing. Grow 2 or 3 types. We'd like to suggest to greenhouse budding plant growers they make up special 12-plant packs with 4 plants each of any good early, midseason and late tomato, so the gardener does get harvest from the Fourth of July until early October or so. The same goes for cabbage.

TIP ON FREEZING TOMATOES: Firm, ripe tomatoes are prepared by peeling, stewing until just done, cooled quickly (set stainless steel saucepan in which they have been cooked into a large pan of ice and water) and then packed ordinary containers. There's not the danger of spoilage in canning and the taste is excellent. Let's have your tips on freezing.

QUESTION BOX QUESTION OF THE WEEK: E. B. of Twin Falls: "Recently I purchased greenhouse plants for a planter box in my living room. Only a few days after they were put in the planter only a few stayed green. The leaves on some started turning yellow. Should the plants be set in with pots, or without? The box is eight inches deep, seven inches wide, and two and one-half feet long. What's wrong?"

A common mistake is to plant tough foliage plants with fussy ones. For example, the snake plant or sansevieria, will take a lot of abuse, but a rabbit-track plant (Maranta) can't take much watering. Hairy, thorny, or wax-leaved plants need less water than do smooth, thin-leaved plants. Plants growing in a plastic or glazed container do not dry out as quickly as plants in a clay pot. A good rule of thumb: when the soil moisture feels dry to the touch, apply water.

Modern day florists like to set the pot and all in a planter, and surround each pot with moist peatmoss. If a plant dies in a pot you simply pull out pot, and replace with another plant. This way you never disturb the other plants, and each plant can be watered individually.

So you knew George?

ANSWERS

1. If you said true, you are off just 100 years, George was delivered on his birthday, Feb. 22, 1732.

2. True. Not only that, he was appointed county surveyor after he had just one year's experience.

3. On this question you win no matter what you say. Historians generally agree that there is no evidence to support the famed cherry tree truth-telling test. On the other hand, we at the Times-News think that George unquestionably did not lie about cherry trees. We also are skeptical of big kids who don't believe in Santa Claus.

4. True. George survived to become President.

5. True again.

6. False, this time. There may have been reason for others to be jealous, for young George at age 23 had been appointed as Virginia Governor Dinwiddie as commander in chief of the Virginia forces, with the responsibility of defending the mountainous frontier of the state.

7. True. In case you were wondering, she was the widow of a Col. Daniel Parke Custis.

8. True. He was then 43 years old.

9. True. But this did not stop him from drawing sumptuous "expenses." His high living was subject of much criticism among colonials.

10. False. Washington was strongly opposed to "political factions" and said so. He felt they would disrupt the national unity and destroy any chance at effective government.
