Gold price hits peak, $ holds

LONDON (UPI) — Gold set another new record price today, but in Europe's foreign exchange markets the price of the dollar changed only by fractions.

Trading was quiet and restrained in most European money centers, a far cry from the near-chaos of the past two weeks, which culminated in the 10 per cent devaluation of the dollar.

The dollar lost a little ground in Frankfurt today, but gained fractionally in London and Paris. It was slightly lower in Zurich but almost unchanged in Brussels and Amsterdam.

Other European money centers remained quiet. In Frankfurt trading remained light, with the American currency changing hands at a median rate of 2.9600 marks, the same as Friday. Dealers described trading as "very quiet."

Mr. T-N says

Today's a holiday for who?

In London, the price of gold was fixed at $73.70 an ounce, Friday's close and the first time since devaluation the record highs established at the two-price fixings each day since the dollar was devalued. Today's record was 32.5 cents higher than last week's high. The dollar lost a little ground in Frankfurt today, but gained fractionally in London and Paris. It was slightly lower in Zurich but almost unchanged in Brussels and Amsterdam.

In London the pound dropped to $2.4275, down half a cent on Friday's close and the first time since devaluation the figure has slipped below $2.43. "Strike action threatened by various unions as a protest over phase two of the British

Smiling reunion

AFTER TEARS of a joyous reunion were spent, Mr. and Mrs. Verl Chesley Burley took time for pictures Saturday with their recently freed son, Larry, at Travis Air Force Base, Calif. Larry was a prisoner in North Vietnam for nearly seven years. (Photos for Times-News by Chesley family.)

Mental activity helped pass time

BURLLEY During each fall for the past seven years, in a mind-created bout with endless minutes as a prisoner-of-war, Larry Chesley has escorted his nephew Troy to school and joined him in classes.

complete with a roster of friends that would likely attend the parties. "He has a fantastic memory for dates," said Mike Chesley, a 25-year-old Burley band instructor who returned Sunday night from a California reunion with his brother. Mike and another brother, Bill, 32, who is employed by McCaslin Lumber Co. in Burley, told of their reunion with Larry in a telephone interview. Larry Chesley was 27 years old and an Air Force lieutenant when he was shot down by anti-aircraft fire over North Vietnam in 1966. After nearly seven years as a POW, he is back on U.S. soil as a 34-year-old captain. It was Bill's 10-year-old son that Larry went to school with in his imagination. The thoughts of home and commonplace occurrences helped pass the time during Larry's long captivity. Mike said his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Verl Chesley Burley, are still with Larry at Travis Air Force Base near San Francisco but will probably come home soon. "Larry's mental health is much better than we expected," Mike said. "He is just as sharp as the day he left."

when he ejected from his F-4C fighter plane "a few miles above the demilitarized zone" in North Vietnam on April 16, 1966. Major Samuel Johnson of Texas, who was flying with Larry, fractured an arm in two places when they were shot down, Bill said. Bill described Larry's injury as "an inverted vertebra — one vertebra over another." He said Larry might stay at Travis for two weeks, according to base doctors. (Continued on p. 11)

Abortion measure drafting ordered

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee gave a tentative nod today to a measure which would put Idaho in line with a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortions during the first six months of pregnancy.

The measure — by a vote of the committee — will be sent to the legislative bill drafter and then returned to the committee for final scrutiny before being sent to the Senate State Affairs Committee for introduction.

Sen. Leon Swanson, R-Nampa, head of a subcommittee which has been working on the proposal for two weeks, told the committee today, "We deliberately built into our law all the restrictions we could."

Among other things, the measure would require the husband's consent before an abortion could be performed on his wife. It also outlines where an abortion can be performed. It would require that a physician perform all abortions and would outlaw them during the last three months of pregnancy unless the woman's life was in danger or such pregnancy would terminate in birth or delivery of a fetus unable to survive. The measure also says that a hospital or a doctor can not be compelled to perform such an operation if it is against their religious or moral beliefs. A subcommittee was appointed two weeks ago when the HEW committee was told that Idaho's law on abortions appeared to be unconstitutional in light of the recent Supreme Court ruling.

The subcommittee met with Assistant Attorney General Kent Taylor, physicians and hospital representatives and put together a rough draft of a bill to put maximum controls on abortions. The measure also sets up penalties for persons who perform abortions illegally. It sets a $5,000 fine and one to five years in prison for women who are convicted of terminating their own pregnancy other than through birth.

Team off to Viet war zone

SAIGON (UPI) — Truce-keeping teams headed into a combat zone for the first time today and South Vietnam released more Communist war prisoners. But the Saigon command reported the most Communist cease-fire violations in 17 days.

The Joint Military Commission (JMC), the four-power body charged with policing the truce and arranging POW releases, prepared today to send its first investigating team into a combat area. The team was to leave later today for Sa Huynh, a town about 290 miles north of Saigon that was the scene of heavy fighting the first day of the cease-fire.

A command-spokesman said fighting was still going on there.

JC fund bids 'reasonable'

BOISE The co-chairmen of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee said Saturday the state's junior college request for 50 per cent state funding of academic programs was "reasonable." But Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, declined to say whether they thought the two schools would receive the $2.07 million they requested for the coming fiscal year. High said that while the junior colleges, College of Southern Idaho at Twin Falls and North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene, now receive 36 per cent state support, public schools receive about 70 per cent, with higher education and vocational education getting all their money from state sources. He predicted that junior colleges would be receiving as much as 70 per cent state support in two to three years, and said when that happened, it might be possible to write that level into the state law. Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, agreed with what High termed "the possibility of 'meshing' the anticipated level of funding in a few years with a law, but said the level would have to be worked to gradually.

'Sesame Street' due in Valley

By DAVID ESPO, Times-News writer
BOISE — Magic Valley children — and grownups — will be able to see "Sesame Street" and "Electric Company" this spring when the planned Twin Falls educational television station goes on the air. The Twin Falls station will have no original broadcast or production facilities, but will show national educational programming as well as Idaho productions originating in Boise. According to CSI president Dr. James Taylor the station, which CSI operates, will consist of a translator which will pick up the television signal and beam it out to area viewers. Several weeks ago, Taylor said the station should be operational by Mid-March. The only personnel necessary is a technician to monitor the operation of the translator. The college president has refused to make public the source of funding being used to hire the technician until after the station is on the air. But other sources say it is coming from within the media industry in the Magic Valley. The programming available to Magic Valley viewers will begin weekly mornings with "Sesame Street," and then move on into "instructional" shows, designed for classroom use in the public schools, according to Jack Schaeffe, station manager at Boise educational station, KATV. Evening programming, beginning at 6:30 p.m., will consist of TVET shows aimed at children, as well as shows aired later at night for an adult audience, including "Firing Line" the interview discussion show with columnist

William F. Buckley, Bill Moyers Journal and motion pictures. In addition to the national programming, Schaeffe said, there are a number of shows produced in Idaho. They include, during the legislative session, a five-times-a-week evening report, consisting of a five- or six-minute account of the day's developments and an interview with a legislator or some other person involved in state government. Also aired during the session is a weekly half-hour show, "Legislative Issues." Other shows produced in Idaho include Idaho Wildlife, done with the cooperation of the Fish and Game Department; "4-Fall," a current events show; "4-Sports," which deals primarily with individual sports.

Youth rescued

YOUNG SKIER John Gay, 11, Bronxville, N.Y., "lowered more than 50 feet to ground from four chairs jammed on ski lift at Mt. Peter in southern New York. One man was killed when he was thrown from the lift, two were injured and 35 were stranded for about four hours in subfreezing temperatures after bolt snapped in cold. State police said that allowed cable to fall from position, jamming chairs at top of tower. (UPI)

Costello dies in bed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Costello, an immigrant who became known as "prime minister of the underworld" and survived attempts to assassinate and deport him, died Sunday in a hospital bed. He was 82.

A spokesman for Doctors Hospital where Costello died refused to reveal the cause of death. However, Costello had been suffering from throat cancer for several years. He entered the hospital 10 days ago.

In 1951, Costello's hands on nationwide television kept viewers rooted before the screen while the mobster, in his raspy voice, testified before the Senate investigations (Kefauver) subcommittee. The stocky, nattily dressed Costello refused to have his face revealed.

So the camera focused on his mobile, manicured hands. Costello availed most questions and claimed to have no knowledge of organized crime. He admitted he had been a bootlegger and bookmaker, but said he had reformed.

At one point, Sen. Charles Tobey asked Costello, "You must have in your mind some things you have done that you can speak of to your credit as an American citizen."

"Paid my taxes," Costello replied.

In 1954, Costello was sentenced to five years in jail for income tax evasion.

Born in southern Italy as Francesco Castiglia, Costello came to the United States when he was four and lived at first with his family in an East Harlem tenement. He moved into the rackets as a teenager in Greenwich Village. By the early 1930s, Costello reportedly was making millions of dollars a year from gambling and bootlegging.

In 1937, a gunman yelled, "This is for you, Frank," and fired a shot at Costello. The bullet grazed his head. The assassination attempt reportedly stemmed from a power struggle between Costello and Vito Genovese for control of the Mafia in the United States.

His citizenship was revoked in 1950 on the grounds he had fraudulently obtained it. The government attempted to deport him but Costello took his case to the Supreme Court. In 1963, the court ruled he could not be deported because offenses he was accused of occurred after he became a citizen.

A gray-haired man who favored platinum money clips, custom-tailored pin-striped suits and hand-painted ties, Costello lived quietly in recent years with his wife, the former Loretta Geisler, in an apartment near Central Park. He seldom was seen in public. Although he frequently was arrested on a variety of charges including assault, carrying a gun, conspiracy and tax evasion, Costello served a total of 7 1/2 years in jail. Once, he was arrested and charged with vagrancy while eating a gourmet lunch at a fashionable New York restaurant.

Costello's body was taken to the Frank E. Campbell Funeral Chapel in Manhattan.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

CAP search to end

ELKO, Nevada (UPI) — Nevada Civil Air Patrol officials say the search for two missing Utah men will probably end today, unless a solid lead develops.

The craft carrying the pair from Cedar City, Utah, to Boise, Idaho, disappeared Feb. 7 near the Ruby Mountains, north of here. No sign of the craft has been located by Sunday in a search hindered by winter storms.

Missing on the flight are Robert Metherall, 46, assistant to the Utah director of the National Park Service, the pilot and Ronald Trussell, 34, Bryce Canyon National Park chief ranger.

Tom O'Dell, CAP spokesman, said Western Air Rescue usually ends official operations after seven days, "but this search has been plagued by such bad weather that we've gone beyond the normal deadline."

He said he thought the operation would end today. O'Dell said the aerial search has been hampered by more than one foot of new snow in the mountains north of here since the plane went down. He said locating the plane now would be difficult.

Twelve CAP pilots joined the search Saturday. They are being aided by two ground units, operating in the foothills of the Rubies.

Millionaire ill

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Former Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, hospitalized here two weeks ago for possible cancer of the liver and pancreas, remained in critical condition today at Desert Hospital.

Rockefeller has been convalescing at his winter home here following surgery in New York last fall for removal of a malignant cyst. Aides to the 60-year-old millionaire said Sunday that Rockefeller was hospitalized Feb. 9 for treatment of a chest condition which may be related to the cancer he already suffers.

Prostitution now issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some members of the National Organization for Women (NOW) want to abolish all laws against prostitution.

This was among 56 pages of controversial proposals up for vote today by nearly 2,000 feminists attending NOW's 6th annual conference. Many of the proposals were expected to be changed or rejected.

The prostitution resolution was written by a NOW task force, which said its purpose was "not to make a judgement that prostitution is morally good, but rather a judgement about the appropriate use of the criminal justice system."

"A woman becomes a prostitute for several reasons," it said, "among these being a breakdown in positive reinforcement for her early creative and constructive efforts; an overemphasis on her sexuality as a vehicle for male attraction and finally her economic distress."

The resolution cited coercion of women to become prostitutes, customer brutality, pressure to work with a pimp, police payoffs and entrapment by police.

There is no evidence to indicate that liberalization of such prohibitive laws will encourage women to become prostitutes, it said.

But the task force did not recommend licensing of prostitutes. It said licensing would persecute those women afraid to register, put government "in the business of making money off the sale of women's sexual services" and make a "false promise" to customers that the prostitute is free of venereal disease.

S. A. Gillett

TWIN FALLS — Stephen A. Gillett, 91, pioneer sheepman and homesteader in the Castleford and House Creek areas, died Sunday morning at Hazel Del Manor of natural causes.

Mr. Gillett was born July 30, 1881, in New Lenox, Ill., and moved to Corinne, Utah, at age 18. He drove two head of horses and two head of mules from Corinne to Magic Valley in 1907.

For several years he was village clerk at Castleford and for two years was the justice of the peace there. He moved to Hazel in 1954 and then to Buhl in 1956.

In 1903 he married Stacia Gates in Corinne. Mr. Gillett was married to Mary Edna Tippin in Twin Falls in 1916; she died in 1956. He was married to Rose Becker in Buhl in 1956, and she died in 1966. Mr. Gillett then was married to Marguerite McGinnis in 1966.

He was a member of the Castleford United Methodist Church.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Gillett is survived by two sons, Earl Gillett, Twin Falls, and William C. Gillett, Coeur d'Alene; a daughter, Mrs. Doris Nadeau, Riverside, Calif.; a brother, Robert I. Gillett, Twin Falls; 7 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by two sons, Buhl and Mahlon Gillett.

Funeral services for Mr. Gillett will be conducted Wednesday at 11 a.m. in the Twin Falls Mortuary Chapel. Final rites will be in Sunset Memorial Park. Friends may call Tuesday and until time of services Wednesday.

Session's pace seen picking up

BOISE (UPI) — The first session of the 42nd Idaho Legislature should really begin moving this week.

The committee of the House and Appropriations Committee says bills allowing money to state general fund agencies should begin appearing on the floors of the Idaho Senate and House later this week.

A bill outlining an interim study of state government is scheduled to come before House members today.

Another measure putting Idaho in line with a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing abortions during the first six months of pregnancy is expected to come before the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee today. It is expected to make it to the floor of the Senate later this week.

A bill making aircraft hijacking a capital offense is on the third reading calendar today. The hearing for state-operated kindergartens was called for by members of the House Education Committee after the bill passed the Senate by a 20-15 vote.

Patrons in local districts, according to the bill, would be able to vote on whether they wanted kindergartens in their schools. The bill says that if the vote failed patrons would have to wait at least a year before voting on the matter again.

Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, co-chairman of the Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee, said the first general fund appropriation bill should reach either the Senate or House by Thursday.

The reorganization bill calls for a 14-member committee to study reorganization of state government. Under the proposal the committee would work for a year to study how to reduce the number of agencies in state government and report its findings to the next session of the Legislature.

The reorganization, which would reduce the number of agencies to not more than 20, was approved by voters in the form of a constitutional amendment during the November general election.

The bill, which differs from a proposal of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus — calls for a study committee composed of eight Republicans and six Democrats.

Andrus introduced a 12-member committee composed of six Republicans and six Democrats.

Another bill scheduled to come before the Senate would require drivers to surrender their licenses if charged with manslaughter, negligent homicide or driving while under the influence of intoxicants or drugs.

Today, the House is expected to deal with a measure which would make it illegal to smoke at public meetings.

Johnson said last week he still had questions about the points that were raised in opposition to the bill during the Senate floor debate. Some senators claimed that the money required to fund the program from the state general fund would "dilute" the school funding formula.

Committee chairman Kurt Johnson, R-Idaho Falls, had predicted that the public hearing would be called, and had also said amendments would be attached to the measure before it got to the floor of the House for debate.

Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee, who had opposed various kindergarten measures in past years, but supported the current proposal, appeared before the House Education Committee members to present the arguments for the bill "in detail," he said.

Tot class hearing set

BOISE — Public hearings will be conducted Tuesday on the legislative proposal allowing state supported kindergartens on a local district option.

The 2 p.m. hearing will be in the Statehouse.

The measure passed the Senate by a 20-15 vote this past week, but a move to get the bill out of the House Education Committee later in the week failed on an 8-5 vote.

Committee chairman Kurt Johnson, R-Idaho Falls, had predicted that the public hearing would be called, and had also said amendments would be attached to the measure before it got to the floor of the House for debate.

POW benefit boost sought

BOISE (UPI) — This House Transportation and Defense Committee introduced a memorial Saturday, asking Congress to give returned prisoners of war additional retirement benefits for the stress they suffered.

"As a nation and as individuals we recognize the hardship endured by those men held in captivity as a result of the conflict in Southeast Asia," the memorial said.

"There can be no doubt that the mental anguish endured and the physical conditions imposed during this period of captivity resulted in significant stress for the men thus confined."

It noted that veterans now are extended retirement benefits based on the actual time devoted to serving their country and for the years in captivity.

But it said, "because of the additional stress imposed" prisoners of war should be credited at an additional rate rather than the normal actual number of years.

Both parties have members of their state central committees named following the election of precinct committeemen at the August primary which is 22 months before the state convention.

Also at the meeting, the committee approved a new party rule which for bids elected and appointed officials in the party from endorsing candidates of another party.

Gem GOP asks May primary

BOISE (UPI) — The Republican state central committee meeting in Boise Saturday asked the Idaho Legislature to set primary elections for the fourth Tuesday in May and require party registration.

Douglas Kramer, Twin Falls, chairman of the rules committee, said national GOP committee rules require that delegates or persons selecting delegates must be elected in the year of the party's national convention.

Kramer said if the primary election date is not advanced to May, the party will be required to select delegates to state conventions at open caucuses.

Prodigal Dollar

Wall Street Journal Various euphoric comments to the contrary, the problem of the dollar was not solved by the 10 per cent devaluation relative to certain major currencies that Secretary Shultz announced late Monday.

The administration has just introduced a budget that is only non-inflationary if it gets the benefit of every doubt. There is a lesson in all this, but so far we see little evidence that the administration has learned enough to correct the faulty assumptions that caused the trouble.

Of the dollars that went abroad to pay for this outburst of consumption, some $7 billion didn't come back. And that is no good explanation as any (far more basic in our view than devil theories about evil speculators) of why the dollar became a surplus commodity in overseas money markets.

For a while, it was a happy arrangement for American consumers to be able to ship green paper abroad and get Volkswagens and Hondas in return. But someone had to pay the bill eventually, not with green paper but with sweat.

Assuming that the Japanese yen floats upward, as everyone expects, the higher value of the yen and mark are likely to add some marginal inflationary pressure to the US economy that it can't afford at this time.

There are direct methods that do work, for a time, to change the balance of trade - import quotas and surcharges, for example. President Nixon hinted yesterday such moves may be under consideration when he said the devaluation was only a temporary measure and new trade legislation is needed that would give us the power to "bargain harder."

Russian Problems

Christina Science Monitor One of the more intriguing, and surprising, results from the reopening of China to Americans has been the wide-eyed enthusiasm of columnist-aristocrat Joseph Alsop.

but has also managed somehow to mobilize the enormous vitality of the Chinese people behind a national revival. We do not mean to gloat over Moscow's problems, but there is something salutary about problems. Countries, like individuals, can sometimes learn more from failures than from successes.

The above makes more noticeable and interesting the contrast with Russia where 1972 produced an agricultural disaster. It may well be followed by another in 1973 due to lack of snow which is said to have largely ruined the winter wheat crop.

They are much less difficult to deal with now, much less arrogant, much less unlikable. Why? They too, like other men, have problems. They don't know all the answers. They have had failures. Their biggest failures are in food production and retail trade.

TF Doctor's Wife Replies to 'Abby'

Dear Abby, As with most misunderstandings, there is usually another side to the story and I think it might have been wise to remember this before publishing the letter from "Desperate in Twin Falls."

Next, she decided to try another doctor by telephone. One of the doctors she mentioned was my husband. When checking with the girls who work in the office, they said no one called with "Desperate's" troubles.

first visit and a payment is to be made on each visit thereafter until the total bill is paid. I think this is reasonable but replies are "Well, I didn't want to get pregnant in the first place and now he expects me to pay $225 to deliver this baby!"

A doctor is criticized constantly. If he has a nice home and drives a nice car, etc., he is gouging the public; if he doesn't have these things, well then, he must be a terrible doctor!

No Requiem for Great Society

WASHINGTON (NEA) - It is probably accurate to say that there is not a man in Washington, or anywhere else, who truly can gauge the wisdom of President Nixon's well-advised ax-wielding on a flock of programs mostly characterized as new, experimental, and directed toward helping the poor, the minorities, the crumbling cities.

Some scholars of government, who specialize either in analyzing the budget with some detachment or the interrelationships of the White House and the departments (or the White House and Congress), say flatly that almost nothing is really known about the value of these new, controversial programs.

Some scholars of government, who specialize either in analyzing the budget with some detachment or the interrelationships of the White House and the departments (or the White House and Congress), say flatly that almost nothing is really known about the value of these new, controversial programs.

One involved could demonstrate conclusively that he had any idea whether or not these programs had accomplished anything. Cronin said, in fact, that he found some people associated with the programs making claims for their continuance on "grounds other than hard knowledge."

Middle East Key

WASHINGTON - Egypt is the key to a Middle East agreement - not Jordan. That was the consensus of both U.S. authorities and King Hussein during his White House and State Department discussions last week.

There has been no armed clashes on their borders since Hussein expelled the Al Fatah and other militant Palestinians; the bridges between the two countries are open and last year more than 180,000 Arabs, about half of them Jordanian, the rest from other lands, used them to visit Israel; considerable trade and other economic relations exist between Jordan and Israel.

eventuality due to President Sadat's increasing domestic difficulties - recurring student disturbances, seething unrest among the military and intellectual and professional elements, and widespread deterioration of combat planes and other costly armaments left by the Russians when they were expelled last spring.

OEO abolition debated regarding need, gains

Editor's note: In his annual budget message to Congress in January, President Nixon slashed funds for dozens of programs. In a seven-part series, for release over a two-week period, UPI presents in detail the budget cuts the President wants in the fields of welfare, manpower training, farm price supports, the Office of Economic Opportunity, health, water pollution control and in Army Corps of Engineer projects. This is the first in the series.

By ARNOLD B. SAWISLAK
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The words of President Nixon:

Aug. 11, 1969: "I believe that the goal of full economic opportunity for every American can be realized. I expect the Office of Economic Opportunity to play a central role in that achievement."

Jan. 29, 1973: "Common sense tells us that it is important to save tax than to save bureaucratic reputations. By abandoning programs that have failed, we do not close our eyes to problems that exist; we shift resources to more productive use."

Six months after he designated the OEO as the "cutting edge" of social experimentation for the federal government, Nixon sent Congress a budget of $965-million for the anti-poverty agency, an increase for the same activities of nearly $100 million over the last year of the Johnson administration.

Last month, three years later, Nixon admitted, no budget at all for OEO and said, "The continued existence of OEO as a separate federal agency is no longer necessary." The budget shifted about $418 million in OEO programs to other agencies and chopped off $285 million in community action agency funds. That, it said, will have to be financed in the future by local governments. Abolition of OEO, scheduled for June 30, 1973, is being debated on two levels: The first is the question of whether a separate anti-poverty agency within the federal government is necessary. The second is whether OEO's programs — especially Community Action

'The continued existence of OEO as a separate federal agency is no longer necessary.'
— President Nixon, January

Project activities really were helping end poverty and should be continued.

The administration's answer to the first question is "no," and it can be explained in two ways. First, Nixon has proposed a reorganization of the existing federal departments that would create a new "superdepartment" dealing with "Human Resources" — including anti-poverty works. The second is that the basic theory behind creation of special operating agencies to do specific jobs is regarded as a Democratic party device, dating back to the Roosevelt New Deal.

Of the "cutting edge" mission assigned by Nixon to OEO in 1969, the administration now says the anti-poverty "research and demonstration" function will have "more direct impact" if it is carried on within the operating agencies.

The argument in favor of OEO as a separate agency centers on the idea that poverty is a special, high-priority problem and that the old line departments are too hidebound and snarled-in-red-tape to give the poor proper attention. Even without the big operating programs OEO had at its peak — Head Start, Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps — the existence of a separate agency within the White House as an "advocate for the poor" is represented as essential to keep poverty from being swept under the rug again.

It also is argued that the old line departments, always sensitive to congressional and White House criticism for wasting money, never will experiment with new ideas to help the poor, such as the guaranteed income concept and performance concept in education — both field-tested by OEO in recent years.

The other part of the debate involves the programs it operates or finances. Because the major operating programs that OEO originated long since have been transferred to Health, Education and Welfare, and the Labor departments, OEO now has only six major activities, five of which Nixon proposes to "spin off" to other agencies when the anti-poverty office is killed.

The sixth is Community Action, of which the administration says "Evidence is lacking that the Community Action agencies are moving substantial number of people out of poverty." But, it says, if communities want to continue these agencies, they can finance them with revenue sharing funds.

Of the programs to be shifted, Legal Services is supposed to be put into an independent government-chartered corporation; health and nutrition services will go to HEW; aid to migrant farm workers to Labor; and community economic development to the Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

Research and development activities would be carried on in Labor, HEW and Housing and Urban Development. Funds for all would be reduced.

Although the President and Congress clashed last year about control of the proposed new Legal Services Corporation, the program has more friends — than enemies and probably will survive.

Community action is another matter. Even in cities where mayors have come to value such agencies as useful links between government and the poor, it does not seem likely that they would get revenue sharing funds ahead of police, fire or sanitation departments or instead of local tax reductions.

Critics in the administration and elsewhere — say this is just as well. They object to such quasi-official agencies both on principle, claiming they tend to weaken the authority of elected government; and in practice, when community action groups engage in confrontation, peaceful or otherwise, to gain their ends.

Supporters of community action argue that it has been one of the major elements in cooling the inner cities, since the riots of the late 1960's and that without organization, the scenario of that period may be re-enacted.

Palme maintains view on US role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Swedish Prime Minister Olaf Palme said it was possible Sweden had a "soft spot" for North Vietnam, a frequently voiced American criticism of the Stockholm government. He said he attributed it to the "natural solidarity of the small countries" horrified by a world dominated by the super powers.

The American failure to uphold the Geneva Accords of 1954 was "the fatal mistake" a step that led to the other "mistakes," Palme said.

The Swedish leader was interviewed on NBC's "Speaking Freely."

Palme said North Vietnam was "fighting for the national independence of a small country, and he added that probably no country in the history of the world had been so hit, so ravaged by war" as North Vietnam.

The prime minister said he doesn't mean we are considered the Vietnamese "so sympathetic to the kind of likeable as a people" but "that regime" that rules the north.

New fetter for press forged by Gem solons

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Another fetter on the free press and your right to know is being prepared by the 42nd Idaho Legislature.

Friday, the House approved 58-0 and sent to the Senate a bill removing the jail sentence for minor traffic infractions on grounds such offenders should not be treated as "criminals."

Another, not-so-well known feature of this proposal makes it unlawful to publicize the results of blood tests taken from motor vehicle accident victims.

This means that a newsman could be jailed for up to six months and, if the judge desired, fined up to $300 for indicating to the public this way that some driver in a fatal accident was drunk.

Recently, a prominent resident of Boise died in a traffic accident and newsmen, obtaining results of the blood test conducted afterward, published the results.

Had this bill been on the books at that time the reporter who wrote the story could be put in jail for telling the public what he found out.

As written, the bill does not impose restrictions just on public officials — demanding they keep their mouths shut except for statistical purposes but on the news media as well.

This is not the first attempt by Idaho or other legislature of Idaho to place or try to place restraints on the newsmen. A joint House-Senate revenue projection subcommittee allowed reporters to attend its hearings. But when the subcommittee got down to the nitty-gritty work of weighing the evidence and making decisions — decisions which could affect each taxpayer — the doors were closed and the newsmen excluded.

They say now it was just an oversight but the house judiciary committee, in making its original decision to send the equal rights amendment rescission to the floor for action, did so in the House lounge. That's a place off-limits to all but legislators.

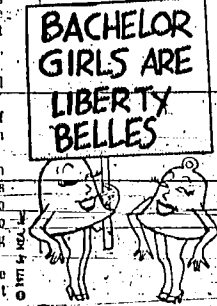

Legislators are not alone, of course, in their efforts to smush the press. A district judge in Canyon County in recent months ordered a litigant not to talk to the news media about efforts to change conditions in a nursing home.

At Pocatello, a district judge started contempt of court proceedings against a newspaper editor because he ran an editorial — a generalized one — on rape the day before a rape trial.

That case finally was dropped, but not before the paper agreed to pay some of the costs for a change of venue for the trial.

Prague air crash kills 77

PRAGUE, (UPI) — A Soviet Tupolev-154 airliner with 84 passengers aboard caught fire and crashed at Prague airport today, Western airline officials said.

The officials said there were 15 known survivors among the passengers. The crew, except for one stewardess, also survived the crash, the officials said.

Czech officials imposed a news blackout on the disaster and refused all comment.

A Czechoslovak airline pilot who took off from Prague shortly after the crash said in Copenhagen, "Just a few minutes before we were to take off the crash occurred. We were diverted to another runway. As we took off we could see smoke and fire at the end of the other runway. It was a pretty horrible sight."

A hostess aboard the Copenhagen-bound plane said "ambulances and fire engines were racing to the scene. The crashed plane was ablaze."

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK carried an on-line statement confirming the airliner went down, but made no mention of survivors.

"We confirm the report. No other information is available at present," CTK said.

The plane, which can carry up to 158 passengers, was on a regular flight from Moscow to Prague and there were 84 passengers on board, the Western airline officials said.

The officials quoted eyewitnesses as saying the plane caught fire as it approached the runway and crashed just inside the airport perimeter.

The witnesses said the plane broke into three parts as it landed. Wreckage was scattered over a 400-yard area, they said.

The last major air disaster in Czechoslovakia was in November, 1967, when a Bulgarian Tabso passengers plane crashed near Bratislava, killing 82 persons.

CARACAS (UPI) — The government announced Sunday a 2.2 evaluation of the bolivar and said it would hike oil export prices soon to compensate for the impact of the devaluation of the dollar.

The new exchange rate, which goes into effect at midnight and announced by Finance Minister Luis Enrique Oberto, is 4.30 bolivars to the dollar. The old rate was 4.10 to the dollar.

It is the bolivar's second devaluation in 14 months and the move came six days after President Nixon decided to devalue the dollar by 10 percent.

Murder scene

SANTA CRUZ County, Calif., Assistant Sheriff Lee Davis examines evidence near tent where bodies of four long-haired youths were discovered Saturday. Tent is in thickly wooded area of state park about four miles from Santa Cruz. Thirteen persons have been found dead in county since Jan 9. (UPI)

Deputies probe 4 more murders

FELTON, Calif. (UPI) — The latest in a string of murders, four youths found shot to death in a tiny thatched cabin of the secluded Garden of Eden, had just wanted to live "away from it all," the brother of one victim said Sunday.

The youths were killed by a small caliber weapon investigators said. The slayings brought to 13 the number of known murders in Santa Cruz County since Jan. 9.

The area would continue today. "We must be the murder capital of the world now," said Peter Chang, Santa Cruz County district attorney.

Jeffrey D. Card, 22, discovered the body of his brother, Brian, 20, and the three unidentified victims Saturday afternoon when he visited their shelter hidden in the damp gloom of Henry Cowell Redwood State Park.

The youths were apparently sitting down for a macaroni meal when they were shot. Jeffrey told investigators a .22 caliber rifle was missing from the cabin.

"That's how they wanted to live, away from it all," said Jeffrey, of Boulder Creek, who built the shelter last summer.

A spokesman for the Santa Cruz County coroner's office said x-rays revealed the wounds were made by a weapon similar to the one that killed Fred Perez, 72, while he was gardening last week.

Arrested for gunning down Perez and killing five others was Herbert W. Mullin, 25, described by authorities as an outstanding student whose personality changed when he returned to drugs. When Mullin was arrested last Tuesday, a .22 caliber rifle was found in his car which investigators said killed Perez.

Santa Cruz County Sheriff Douglas James refused to comment on whether Mullin was a suspect in the latest slayings.

James said he "didn't know" if the victims knew Mullin and replied "no comment" when asked if drugs were found on the scene.

"We understand they weren't working," said undersheriff Leland Davis. "Their sole occupation was getting food."

"There appears to have been some kind of scuffle," Davis said. "But it was impossible at first glance to estimate how long they had been dead. One victim had mold on his hand."

Mullin was charged last Thursday with the execution-style slayings of five persons at two remote cabins Jan. 24 and Jan. 25, and with the shooting of Perez, a fisherman.

The butchered bodies of three coeds were found in nearby mountains in recent weeks and several others have disappeared.

Police were also investigating the discovery of two headless women found 40 miles away as possibly being two coeds who disappeared in Santa Cruz Feb. 5.

Pope calls 1974 synod

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI has called a Synod of Bishops for October, 1974 to discuss the problem of communicating the Gospel in the modern world, the Vatican announced today.

In selecting the subject the Pope passed over a suggestion that the next Synod discuss the problems of the family in the modern world—a potentially explosive topic which could have included the controversial subjects of birth control and divorce.

The Pope's next synod, the world's Roman Catholic bishops came in a letter, dated Feb. 3, from Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Jean Villot to the general secretary of the Synod Council, Bishops Wladyslaw Rubin.

The Council had asked the Pope last October for another synod, to be held in 1974 and suggested two topics—the problems of the modern family and the problems of missions in the contemporary world. The Pope chose the latter.

The Synod would be the first since 1971 when the world's bishops met to discuss the priesthood. The theme for the 1974 Synod will be "Evangelization of the contemporary world."

lition of the Contemporary World."

Vatican sources said last October the council had asked the Pontiff to designate "the problems of the family in the modern world" as a theme for the next Synod. This would have brought the controversial subject of birth control again before the world's bishops.

The synod of bishops, established at the suggestion of the Second Vatican Council, calls for a regular meeting of the world's Roman Catholic bishops to discuss problems facing the church.

In the past they had been held every two years, but some charges that the last synod had not been well enough prepared led the Pope to extend the time between them to three years.

The first synod was called in 1965 and held two years later. The 1974 Synod will be the fourth.

Villot's letter said, "taking into account the desires of several episcopal conferences, and in particular, proposals made by the Council of the secretariat of the synod of bishops, the Holy Father chose as the subject of the meeting 'the Evangelization of the contemporary world.'"

Vacation land sale boom draws US eye

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has decided to study the boom in vacation land sales because such development could harm the still unspoiled regions of the country, Chairman Russell E. Train of the Council on Environmental Quality said today.

Train said the study has been authorized by his agency and by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The tremendous growth potential in this industry, when contrasted with the current low level of planning and controls in most rural areas, could spell environmental degradation at an unprecedented scale in some of America's most beautiful landscapes, Train said.

In a speech prepared for the American Outdoorsman Conference at Clearwater, Fla., Train called the development of land use guidelines "the No. 1 environmental problem facing the nation today."

"The problems of land use are rapidly reaching crisis proportions," he said. "There is no environmental problem more serious than our land use dilemma."

President Nixon, in his environmental message to Congress last week, called for a land use policy to be implemented by the states.

Train said states which fail to develop adequate land use programs, under the administration proposal, would lose from 7 to 21 percent of federal funds for highway construction, airport building and land and water conservation.

It is the premise of the Nixon administration's approach that without sanctions in land use legislation, prospects for truly effective state land use control will be compromised," he added. "The legislation needs sanctions, tough sanctions or it will never work."

Demos ask amnesty

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Youthful Democrats, meeting in Baltimore today, adopted a 10-page policy statement highly critical of the Nixon Administration and asking amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters.

In the policy statement, the National College Young Democrats also called for an even-handed Middle Eastern posture, an end to administration impounding of funds appropriated by Congress and an in-depth probe of the Watergate bugging affair.

The delegates also elected new officers with Richard Sirota of Cornell University taking over as president and Thomas Gensel as vice president.

Abe Holt of Pfeiffer College was named administrative vice-president, Thomas McNally of Georgetown University was elected secretary and Barry Goldstein of George Washington University won the treasurer's post.

All the new officers were elected without opposition.

US force dips

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. troop strength in Vietnam dropped today to 14,180 men—the lowest total in 10 years, the U.S. command said.

Since the Jan. 28 Vietnam cease-fire, withdrawals have averaged 405 men a day. If they continue at this rate, the last man will leave March 27—the 60-day deadline for pulling U.S. troops out of Vietnam under terms of the truce.

The United States continues to maintain troops in Thailand—49,000 at last report. Another 39,000 U.S. servicemen are aboard 7th Fleet carriers and gunships in the Tonkin Gulf and 20,000 men are stationed on Guam.

Salgon has 1,100,000 men under arms. It claims 300,000 North Vietnamese troops are in South Vietnam, although U.S. officials put the figure at about half that. Estimates of Viet Cong strength vary widely but run to about half the estimated North Vietnamese strength.

Jury ponders Kerner charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal jury deliberated for a third day today in the racketeer stock bribery and conspiracy trial of U.S. Appeals Court Judge Otto Kerner and his co-defendant Theodore J. Isaacs.

The jury met eight hours and 15 minutes Sunday, bringing the total deliberation time to 14 1/2 hours. Deliberations resume at 9 a.m. today.

Kerner, 64, former Illinois governor, and Isaacs, 62, are charged with 19 counts involving their dealings in racketeer stock while Kerner was governor from 1961 to 1967. Isaacs was state revenue director during the time.

The stock in Chicago-area race tracks at bargain prices in return for favors to these tracks as well as other favors.

Kerner testified in his own defense during the seven week-old trial. Isaacs did not testify.

Kerner was on the witness stand for a total of nine hours over a period of four days. He emphatically denied the testimony of William S. Miller, former Illinois racing board chairman, who was indicted but not brought to trial because he agreed, to testify against Kerner.

The defendants admitted they bought stock jointly and profited about $300,000 on the deal.

They denied, however, that the stock constituted a bribe.

Mushroom recall ordered by FDA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has ordered the recall of 29,500 cans of mushrooms produced by an Ohio firm after one institutional-sized can was found to contain the poison that produces botulism.

Users of large-size cans of mushrooms, such as pizza parlors, in the Midwest where the product has been distributed were cautioned by the FDA to be alert to the brand names and codes of the lots being recalled.

FDA officials reported late Saturday that the United Canning Co. of East Palestine, Ohio, discovered a swollen 6 pound, 9 ounce No. 10 can on its warehouse shelves. Subsequent laboratory tests showed the can contained deadly botulism type B toxin, which produces botulism.

The FDA said none of the 534 other cans of the lot still in the warehouse showed botulism contamination. However, the remainder were being recalled.

Mandatory age asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Wilham D. Hathaway, a freshman member of Congress from Maine, believes Congress should adopt a mandatory retirement age of 70.

"They have a mandatory retirement age in other government posts, they have it in private industry and for the same reasons," Hathaway said Sunday in a UPI Washington Window interview.

Hathaway, 47, a Democrat, upset Republican Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, 73, last November. He said her age was a "critical" factor in the campaign.

Calley to appeal to civil court

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr.'s civilian attorney, who has charged Calley was made a scapegoat by high-ranking military brass, says the civilian court next in line to review his murder conviction will probably realize that.

The Army Court of Military Review Friday refused to overturn Calley's conviction, or to reduce his sentence for the murder of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

"The next step takes the case up to the United States Court of Military Appeals," said defense attorney George W. Latimer.

"That is a civilian court. If there is any command control in the steps of the prosecution of Lt. Calley, that court is more apt to give them consideration than is a military court."

Latimer argued in his appeal to the Court of Review that "It was the policy dictated from on high, to try and convict and punish the participants in the alleged My Lai incident in order to cleans the Army of any guilt. Latimer, who was one of the first judges to serve on the Court of Military Appeals, said he was disappointed at the Court of Military Review's refusal to overturn the 23-year-old lieutenant's conviction, or to reduce his sentence.

"I was disappointed they didn't cut his sentence any, and they didn't rule with us on some issues. They didn't seem to think there was any error prejudicial to the rights of the accused," Latimer said.

"I thought there were some rather important questions that his rights were impaired."

Attorneys argued during the appeal to the review court that there were 32 errors in the conduct of Calley's trial that warranted overturning the conviction.

Latimer said he did not believe there was any command attempt to influence the judges on the Army review court in their decision.

Tests show mechanics unqualified

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After testing thousands of automobile mechanics, an industry-backed group reported Saturday that an overwhelming majority failed to show enough skill to qualify as all-around experts at their jobs.

A total of 7,099 mechanics volunteered to take four tests late last year, at the invitation of the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, with the promise that they would be certified as general automobile mechanics if they passed all the tests.

The institute said only 1,369 or 17 per cent got high enough scores to win the general certification.

In addition to those who took all the tests, another 6,400 were tested on a more limited basis.

Last month, before the results were in, the institute changed its approach and decided to grant certification in specific areas, in addition to the general category. Under that policy, an additional 6,902 mechanics won certification for passing one or more of the tests.

Guerrilla dumped in grave

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — A body reported to be that of Col. Francisco Caramano Dena was dumped Saturday into a crime grave as government troops chased the surviving members of Caramano's guerrillas through the rugged southern mountains.

Caramano, the leader of the "constitutionalist" side in the 1965 Dominican civil war which was ended by American intervention, was killed Friday in a firefight with regulars.

He had disappeared in 1967 from his post as Dominican military attaché in London, and had since been reported in Cuba preparing to lead a Dominican insurrection.

McGovern seeks funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S. D., is asking 640,000 persons who contributed to his unsuccessful presidential campaign to donate for his bid for re-election to the Senate in 1974.

A New York fund-raising firm, Rapp, Collins Stone and Adley, sent out the McGovern's solicitation letters this week.

"I intend to continue speaking out, in the Senate and across the nation, for the goals we sought in 1972. To do that, I must also win re-election to the Senate in South Dakota next year," McGovern wrote.

"We did not win the election," he said, "but the principles we stood for were right and the methods of citizen participation we used must eventually lift the conduct of American politics.

"May I call on you now, as one who supported my presidential effort in 1972, to contribute whatever you feel you can to my re-election effort to the U.S. Senate?"

Sen. Rapp, president of the company, said the 640,000 were McGovern donors during the primaries as well as the presidential campaign. They contributed an estimated $14.5 million.

There was some controversy after the Nov. 7 election over whether McGovern would give the Democratic National Committee access to the names. The list is in the custody of Rapp's firm but actually is stored in a computer in Chicago.

Thieu plans strategy

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu met Saturday with about 300 leaders of political, religious and other groups to form an organization for fighting political battles with the Communists, a government spokesman said.

Present at the meeting were Vice President Tran Van Huong, several cabinet ministers and about 50 Senators and deputies, the spokesman said.

Sen. Tran Quang Thuan, representative of the An Quang Buddhist faction, also was present. The An Quang is South Vietnam's largest Buddhist group.

However, Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh and former vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, two of Thieu's major opponents, were not at the meeting.

The government spokesman said Thieu did not plan to meet with Minh or Ky "for the time being."

Lunokhod runs on moon

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia's Lunokhod 2 moon robot trundled 1.5 miles—its longest single traverse—during maneuvers Friday night in the Sea of Serenity, the Tass news agency said Saturday.

The eight-wheeled buggy covered 2,763 yards during a communications session with ground controllers.

"It reached a site (about 3.5 miles from where the robot landed) on which it will carry out comprehensive explorations of the lunar surface," Tass said.

The night journey took Lunokhod in a southerly direction, Tass said.

"All along its route the moon vehicle measured the physical-mechanical properties of the ground and the intensity of magnetization of lunar material," Tass said.

"According to the telemetered information, the on-board systems of Lunokhod 2 functioned normally throughout this long journey."

Ground controllers guided the robot with the aid of televised panoramic pictures of the terrain, navigation measurements and maps of the landing site.

"Lunokhod 2 arrived on the moon Jan. 16 in the Luna 21 mothership. Its predecessor, Lunokhod 1, spent 10 months and 17 days exploring the Sea of Rains before it froze during a lunar night.

4-H leaders attend training sessions

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County 4-H leaders will attend special county training sessions Tuesday through Friday.

Most of the sessions have been scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. in the agent's office, 634 Addison Ave. W. with a session on foods Feb. 22 at the Idaho Power Auditorium beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Dick Fuehrer, extension agricultural agent, said leaders are especially asked to attend the Tuesday morning session as it will cover 4-H forms, the year's activities and awards which 4-H members may work toward.

Other special interest training sessions are scheduled for various times and dates during the training period. Leaders will be told the full schedule during the Tuesday morning meeting.

AIRMAN COURTNEY graduates

TWIN FALLS — Airman Jessefer W. Courtney, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Turner, Twin Falls, has graduated with honors at Chanute AFB, Ill., from the material equipment inspection specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Courtney was trained to perform inspections on missile, aircraft and other Air Force equipment to detect flaws or defects.

A 1971 graduate of Twin Falls High School, the airman attended Boise State College.

His wife, Sandra, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Lanfear, New Plymouth.

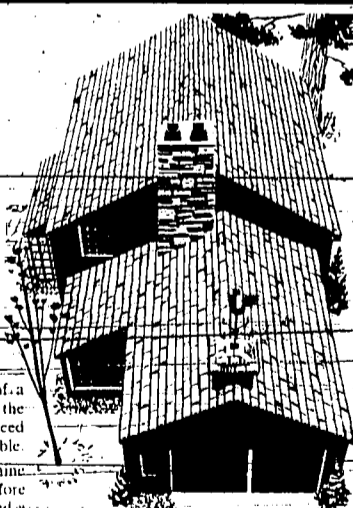

BUHL — Airman Tom A. Patton, son of Mrs. Ila M. Vothoubek, Buhl, has graduated at Lowry AFB, Colo., from the U.S. Air Force weapons mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The airman, who was trained to load and inspect the weapons used in Air Force fighter aircraft, is being assigned to Cannon AFB, N.M., for duty with a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides air support for U.S. ground forces. Airman Patton is a 1972 graduate of Southern High School, Cherokee, Kan. His father, Roy B. Patton, resides in Cherokee.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those "ear piercers" at a department store, so naturally I was interested in the letter from the shopper who was appalled by the screams of a terrified child whose mother held her down while her ears were being pierced. I, too, am firmly opposed to piercing the ears of a frightened, unwilling child.

My only screamer was a two-year-old whose father told me that if I didn't pierce his daughter's ears, HE would do it himself with a pair of pliers! Visualizing the possibility of infection and a ragged, uneven job, I foolishly pierced the child's ears, and her screams could be heard all over the store.

Since then, I always tell the child it will "pinch" a little, and unless the child herself submits willingly, I refuse to do it.

Ear piercer unwilling

I also tell the mother that if there is any fuss after the first ear is pierced, the child will go home with one earring in her ear, and the other one in Mommy's hand. This is usually enough to discourage the most enthusiastic mothers.

MRS. E. W. D.

DEAR MRS. B.: I received many letters protesting the practice of piercing little girls' ears, but a Maryland physician writes: "What's all this fuss about piercing a little girl's ear? It's nothing compared to the barbaric practice of routinely circumcising little boys. The claim that it is necessary for hygienic reasons is absurd. I was a victim of this ancient, hygienic rite and I resent it to this day. If my parents were alive, I would sue them!"

Well, doctor, they're lucky they're no longer here. It might KILL them.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a cigar smoker from way back, and for years I have been trying to find a source for a quality cigar, but so far I've been unsuccessful. I am looking for one that would sell for 50 cents to $2. The cigar George Burns smokes on TV appears to be the kind for which I am looking. You are my last hope. How can I find out what brand it is, and where to get it?

D. W. H.

DEAR D. W. H.: Let's let George do it. Confidential to George! Please write to me [care of L. A. Times] and tell me what George Burns smokes. And who's your pusher?

DEAR ABBY: I met a fellow who wants to marry me, but one thing turns me off: He has neglected his teeth something awful. How can I get him to a dentist without hurting his feelings?

TURNED OFF

DEAR TURNED: Don't pussyfoot. Say: "Darling, I love you, but before we see a preacher, you MUST see a dentist!" And keep after him until he does. [P. S. Don't worry about his feelings. His health is more important.]

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this is kind of childish, but I still like to be surprised on Christmas morning.

I've been married for three years, and every year my husband and I have the same argument. He asks me what I want for Christmas, and I always say, "Surprise me!" Then he says he would rather get me something he is sure I want, and we have this same hassle all over again.

I do a lot of "hinting" during the year, but he never seems to catch on. If you tell me I'm wrong, I'll come right out and tell him what I want, but if you say he's wrong, I'll pin your answer to his nose next year.

LIKES SURPRISES

DEAR LIKES: How's your husband's batting average? If you are pleased with his gifts, continue to let him surprise you. But if his taste is from hunger, either throw broader hints, or tell him what you want.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "North's three-diamond call is not a sign of insanity. It is a 'splinter bid'."

Jim: "The splinter bid is a modern invention. Specifically it provides that when you bid one more than necessary to force in a new suit you are forcing to game in partner's last bid suit and showing a singleton in the one you are bidding. Two diamonds would have been a one-round force, so three diamonds is a splinter and forces the bidding to continue to game or higher in hearts."

Oswald: "This splinter bid makes it easy for South to give a picture of his hand. He jumps to four hearts to show a good heart suit, but not much in high cards and certainly no first round control in any other suit. In other words, he is very happy with game, but has little slam interest."

Jim: "North has just two aces so he knows there is no slam and passes."

Oswald: "Without the splinter bid North and South might still stop at just four hearts, but they might also get to five. Five won't make because the defense will probably find the club suit. That is bad luck, but bad luck follows players who get beyond game."

MRS. JAMES A. IMLAY

Judy Sinclair wed in Chicago

TWIN FALLS — Judy Sinclair and James A. Imlay were married in morning rites Feb. 10 in the Little Chapel on the Hill, Chicago, Ill.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Imlay, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Imlay, Clearfield, Utah.

The double ring nuptials were performed by Rev. Frank W. Sanders before lighted candles and an altar decorated with red and white rosebuds.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown featuring rows of white lace over white satin. The gown featured a tight waistline with a square neckline and bishop sleeves.

Her Juliet cap held a full-length veil of imported illusion forming a mantilla. The veil was made of Chantilly lace. She carried a cascading bouquet of white rosebuds on her mother's white Bible and carried a white lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Marietta Coiner.

The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at Martindale Feb. 9.

The bride and the bridegroom both attended Utah State University, Logan, where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority and he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. They will reside in a Chicago suburb where the bridegroom is employed by Redman Warehousing Corp.

Mrs. Brent H. Johanson, Carson City, Nev., twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Mark Imlay, Clearfield, Utah, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The couple was honored at an evening reception at Senese's Restaurant.

The tiered wedding cake was heart-shaped and iced in white. It was topped with wedding bells and doves and rested on pillars of champagne glasses.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were Walt Sinclair, Stanford, Calif., brother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Imlay, Clearfield, Utah, parents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Timothy Abraham, Hammond, Ind.

The bride was honored at showers given by Chicago and Indiana friends.

The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at Martindale Feb. 9.

Spirit of '76 brought vision

TWIN FALLS — The "Spirit of '76" brought new vision into our land, banishing most of the country's royal British heritage for a new democracy with fresh customs and mores.

Socially, George and Martha Washington proved a perfect choice as first couple. Both were raised in southern aristocracy where hospitality was a lesson of childhood.

Our baby nation took well to Martha's hand as mistress of America and hardly a day went by when the Washingtons sat alone at dinner.

Whether based at Mount Vernon, New York or Philadelphia, the big social events of the year included celebrating George Washington's birthday. Make the father-of-our-country's birthday a special event in your home. Serve a special menu to your family.

SPRIT OF '76

- 1 can (24 oz.) vegetable juice
- 2 teaspoons lime juice
- 1/2 teaspoon chopped mint leaves
- 1 bottle (7 oz.) club soda, chilled
- Combine vegetable juice, lime juice and mint. Chill. Just before serving, add soda.
- Serves eight.

Valley Briefs

GLENN'S FERRY — A 4-11 style review will be held Feb. 25 at the Glenns Ferry Junior High School. Twenty-eight different garments will be modeled. Mrs. Ken Wicks will be the narrator. The review is open to the public.

GLENN'S FERRY — Two Glenns Ferry students were named on the dean's list at the University of Idaho. Phyllis A. Russel and Franklin K. Clark earned the honor in the college of letters and science. Clarence S. Miller, Fairfield, earned the honor in the college of engineering.

GLENN'S FERRY — Members of Xi Alpha Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi are canvassing in Glenns Ferry for the Heart Fund drive. They will continue through Friday and ask the help of all citizens. They state that there are 600,000 heart attack victims yearly and one American dies every 48 seconds from heart disease.

GLENN'S FERRY — A quiz on sewing the labels was given and assignments made when members of the Healthy Cookie Cutters met Friday at the home of LuAnne Plott, leader.

Kathy O'Keefe was welcomed as a new member. Jeannine Peterson conducted the business meeting. Pledges were said and roll call and minutes were read by Marla Burgess, secretary. Susan Baker gave the treasurer's report and Pam Moseley the reporter's report.

Demonstrations were given by Marla Burgess and Susan Baker. Lessons were presented by Mrs. Dale Plott, LuAnne Plott and Jeannine Webb.

The members decided to hold meetings each week. Refreshments were served by Valerie Kerr.

TWIN FALLS — The second annual Employer-Employee Appreciation Banquet will be Tuesday at the Turf Club.

The banquet is sponsored by the Twin Falls High School DECA Club. DECA Club is a major function of distributive education, a high school subject that prepares future leaders for marketing and distribution.

Special guests invited to the banquet are John Christoferson, mayor of Twin Falls; Anthony Maucione, state director of distributive education; George Staudner, school superintendent and Frank Chaffin, Twin Falls High School principal.

The welcome will be given by Debbie Pool. Special awards will be presented and Maucione will speak on distributive education. Special displays will be set up by Bruce Wilson and Michael Lee.

S. Idaho Hall of Fame cites Jerome dairyman

TWIN FALLS — R. Lyons Smith is one of six selected this year to join the Southern Idaho Livestock Industry Hall of Fame.

A resident of Jerome, Smith will be among those honored at the annual dinner for the 1973 honorees at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley, at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26. At the present time he is general manager of the Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc.

Smith has been engaged in the dairy business all of his adult life. His influence in this field has not only greatly affected the economy of the entire Magic Valley but has been felt in the entire Western United States.

As a young man he attended the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho at Pocatello. After this, he secured a job with the Jerome Cooperative Creamery. It consisted of grinding ice at 7 a.m. and then going out to pack the ice cream cabinets in the stores and cafes.

Lyons worked throughout the plant dumping and weighing milk, grading cream and helping make cheese and ice cream. The cheese production in 1931 was only a few hundred thousand pounds but grew until in 1973 the Association will produce 10 million pounds.

In 1936 he became office manager in Twin Falls and in 1941 became the Twin Falls branch manager. In 1959, Lyons became the general manager. Under his supervision, he began to consolidate all of the production facilities in Jerome and under his guidance in 1962 a new cheese, fluid milk and ice cream plant was built and the name of the organization was changed to Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc.

A former Twin Falls resident, Smith served as mayor in the early 50's. At the present time, he is a director and on the executive committee of the Challenge Foods Co. of Los Angeles, hence making his influence felt on a national level. He is also a member of the St. Benedict's Foundation Committee and a member of the Human Resources Committee of the Jerome Planning Council.

Few people realize that the dairy breed of cattle not only furnish dairy products but also produce 20 per cent of the meat consumed and the organization that Smith is general manager of has a loan program wherein they advance up to $5,000 for producers to expand and Lyons has used his influence to get new people started in the dairy business.

This association also takes an active part in youth organizations. They give an award for fitting and showing of dairy animals to 4-H and FFA boys and girls and this is given at all fairs in Magic Valley.

In the Idaho Cooperative County Youth Program, 15 students are sent to the American Institute of Cooperatives. This year the meeting will be held in New Orleans, La. Smith has attended many of these and said Idaho youth have been outstanding and have brought nothing but honor to this area for their leadership and the talent that they have exhibited at these meetings.

Smith has been most sympathetic to any youth program and has always had time to help young people with any problems or questions they might have concerning the dairy industry.

To again demonstrate his influence outside this area, it is interesting to note that last summer milk was being shipped from the Los Angeles area to the Magic Valley, processed in the Ida Gem plant and shipped back to California in the form of cheese and butter.

In 1966 Smith was invited to speak at the National Milk Producers Federation annual meeting in Washington, D. C. concerning the Idaho Dairy scene.

Leading cause

NEW YORK (UPI) — One-sixth of all illnesses are in the digestive diseases category, reports the National Health Education Committee.

Such diseases are the leading cause of hospitalization and for inability to work due to illness. Over 30 per cent of all cancer deaths are due to cancer of the digestive organs.

Subsidized housing loan clamps eased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The short-run impact of an administration suspension of new subsidized rural housing loans has been eased by a series of moves in recent weeks.

When the moratorium was first announced in January, experts at the Agriculture Department's Farmers Home Administration (FHA) tentatively estimated it would eliminate roughly 30,000 of the 70,000 subsidized rural home mortgage loans originally planned for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

Later, however, officials agreed to modify their initial regulations with new provisions allowing processing of loan applications where borrowers or builders had been given commitments — even verbally — by FHA officials before the cut-off was announced.

Word of the modifications was sent to local FHA offices and some members of Congress, but publicity was kept to a low level by avoiding any formal public announcement from FHA headquarters.

As a result of the changes, FHA spokesmen now estimate that combined subsidized and non-subsidized rural housing loans by the agency in the current fiscal year will total $1.926 billion, just $133 million below the pre-moratorium target.

Dinner Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — The annual Twin Falls County Farm Bureau dinner is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Rogerson Hotel.

All county Farm Bureau members and their wives are invited. Main speaker will be Kenneth L. Cleatham, American Farm Bureau Federation.

Early sign-up for '73 asked

TWIN FALLS — Early sign-up for wheat and feed grain programs is advised by Kent Kirk, executive director of the Twin Falls County office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Sign-ups will be accepted through March 16.

With recent changes, most farmers with a wheat allotment or feed grain base will benefit by signing up in this year's program, Kirk said.

Two options are offered to earn both wheat certificate payments and feed grain program payments.

The wheat certificate options include:

— Signing up at the county ASC office before March 16, maintaining the conserving base and reporting plantings of wheat and other crops by July 1. There is no limit on the amount of wheat to be planted.

— Electing to set aside land for an additional set-aside payment. Eligibility depends on wheat plantings in 1972 and this year.

Feed grain program payment options include:

— Setting aside an acreage equal to 23 per cent of the feed grain base with no limit on the amount of plantings. Payment rates are 32 cents a bushel for corn and 26 cents a bushel for barley times the established yield times 60 per cent of the feed grain base.

No set-aside required but a limit of planting to the 1972 feed grain acreage. Payment rates are 15 cents a bushel for corn and 12 cents a bushel for barley times the established yield times four per cent of the feed grain base.

Kirk said this year farmers may, on request, be allowed to graze pasture or harvest hay which has been set aside and still receive payments, although payments would be reduced 30 per cent of the average set-aside payment rate.

Increased planting of soybeans asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department official today urged feed grain farmers to step up planting of soybeans to provide expanded supplies for meat production at home and abroad.

Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the agency's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said in a statement that some feed grain growers can make more money by planting beans than by idling acreage under the 1973 feed grain program.

For example, Frick said, a farmer with a 100-acre corn base who idled 25 acres to qualify for federal supports last year, now can use those 25 acres for soybeans while still drawing a somewhat reduced feed grain payment.

In the hypothetical example, Frick said, the grower could produce 75 acres of corn and 25 acres of soybeans. If he "locked in" a price of $3.75 a bushel on the soybeans by selling a futures contract, total returns on the beans including the prorated payment obtained under the feed grain program would be $4.72 a bushel.

The farmer taking this option would get $3,184 gross income from the 25 acres planted to soybeans (including the feed grain payment) as opposed to $1,392 in gross income from feed grain payment if the acreage is idled, Frick said.

The Agriculture Department official's unusual statement was part of an administration drive to persuade farmers to boost soybean plantings.

POW return rests upon cease fire

VIENTIANE (UPI) — The Communist Pathet Lao said Saturday they will not free American prisoners of war until there is a cease-fire in Laos.

Soth Petrasay, a spokesman for the Pathet Lao here, said Communist officials have prepared a detailed accounting of its prisoners. He said both sides in Laos were prepared to exchange their prisoners, but only after a negotiated cease-fire takes effect.

"If they were captured in Laos, they will be returned in Laos," Soth said.

The Communists and the Laotian government have been discussing a cease-fire for a week, with little apparent success. The Vietnam peace agreement did not apply to the fighting in Laos except to define the role of foreign troops.

U.S. embassy officials said that the Pathet Lao statement was their first concerning American prisoners in Laos since the Vietnam agreement was signed.

North Vietnam, at the urging of the United States, has turned over a list of seven American military men and two American civilians held prisoner in Laos. The United States lists more than 300 men as missing in Laos, mostly pilots down on bombing missions.

U.S. officials have asked Hanoi for a more detailed accounting. Soth's statement appears to contradict earlier U.S. statements that the Americans captured in Laos would be freed under terms of the Vietnam cease-fire and probably released at Hanoi.

Soth declined to discuss details about prisoners under Pathet Lao control or to say whether any Americans in addition to those on the North Vietnamese list were being held.

In moves toward reaching a cease-fire, Prince Souvanna Phouma, the Laotian Prime Minister, met for an hour Saturday with the special Pathet Lao negotiator, Phoumi Vongvichit.

'Mock' session

NINE ROBED women, all executive board officers of the National Organization for Women, conducted a "mock" session of the U.S. Supreme Court Friday to protest the urgent need to appoint women to the court. The action took place across the street from the court building shown in background. (UPI)

Catholics 18 percent of world

MATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican's new statistical yearbook said Saturday there are an estimated 659 million Roman Catholics in the world, or 18.4 percent of world's population.

The Vatican counts as Catholics all persons who have been baptized in the church, without reference to whether or not they practice their religion.

The new volume, prepared by the Central Statistics Office in the Vatican Secretariat of State, is updated to Dec. 31, 1970. A preface says the figures cannot be considered 100 percent accurate because of the difficulty of obtaining information about "churches of silence" in such places as China, North Korea or the Soviet Union.

It is the first time the Vatican has put on public sale a complete rundown of all Catholics. The priests include 148,804 men who belong to religious orders. The rest are so-called "secular" priests attached to dioceses.

The Roman Catholic population is divided into 191,398 parishes — of which 39,431 have no priest — and 79,217 mission stations or quasi-parishes. Of these, however, only 8,149 have a resident priest.

The statistical yearbook said there are a total of 419,728 priests, or one to every 64,000 Catholics. The priests include 148,804 men who belong to religious orders. The rest are so-called "secular" priests attached to dioceses.

Also listed are 309 deacons, 79,406 members of male religious orders who are not priests, and 1,004,304 nuns or sisters.

During 1970, the yearbook said, the number of secular priests declined by 1,922 to a total of 270,294, a decline of seven per cent.

North America and Europe both had a decline of 9.2 per cent in the number of secular priests, while Africa increased by 26.3 per cent and Asia by 26.1 per cent.

Art exhibit opens at Elkhorn Gallery

SUN VALLEY — An art exhibit, "Sports," will open Wednesday at the Elkhorn Gallery in the mall at Sun Valley.

The art will depict the artists' impressions of our great sporting heritage and events. The show is sponsored by Johns-Manville Corp. and the Illustrators West Society.

Well-known artists from the West Coast will exhibit paintings. Techniques and subjects will be as varied as the artists themselves, but everyone will find this one of the most exciting visual experiences of fine art in the country.

The exhibit will be open from Wednesday until March 10. This

Nixon extends olive branch

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Meany's differences with Nixon and the Republicans are too basic and longstanding to be papered over lightly.

The 78-year-old labor leader, even more of a pragmatist than Nixon, is willing to seek accommodation with the President on terms favorable to labor, but union insiders say he isn't about to embrace Nixon or the Republicans too closely.

The President's immediate aim is to get labor's backing for his Phase III economic controls and for his limits on federal spending.

His long-run goal is to coax Meany, other labor leaders and rank and file union members into the Republican party, or at least to get them to give the GOP "as consistent support" as they gave the Democrats until last year.

Salmon River plan outlined

By ROBERT JOHNSON
Special to the Times-News

SALMON — Four possible management alternatives for the Salmon River have been outlined in a study by the Forest Service.

The area involved is from North Fork to the Salmon-Snake River confluence.

Public workshops on the alternatives have been scheduled March 1 in McCall, March 2 in Riggins, March 6 in Spokane, March 8 in Lewiston, March 13 in Hamilton, March 14 in Salmon, March 16 in Pocatello and March 20 in Boise.

The primary objective of the Salmon River study is to evaluate the long-range alternative uses of the river and adjacent lands to determine whether the river should be maintained in a scenic environment and included entirely or in part in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

The Idaho and Salmon River Breaks Primitive Areas are contiguous to about 62 miles of the Salmon River. These primitive areas are presently being studied to determine their suitability for preservation as wilderness and for other forms of management.

The management alternatives for the two primitive areas and the Salmon River have been closely coordinated because of their interrelationships and influences on one another.

It has already been determined that the Salmon River from North Fork to the Salmon-Snake River confluence is eligible for inclusion in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

The various river segments can be classed under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act or they can be unclassified and available for land and water resource development.

The three classes of river areas under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act are wild river areas, scenic river areas and recreational river areas.

The first alternative proposes that the entire river segment from North Fork to the Snake River be classified as follows: Hammer Creek to the Salmon River mouth, scenic river area; Long Tom Bar to Hammer Creek, recreational river area; Corn Creek to Long Tom Bar, wild river area; North Fork to Corn Creek, recreational river area.

The two primitive areas would be classified as wilderness superimposed over the wild river area in part of the Corn Creek to Long Tom Bar area and the recreational river area in part of the North Fork to Corn Creek area.

The second alternative proposes that the entire river segment from North Fork to the Snake River be classified the same as the first alternative, except that a wild and scenic river corridor along the river is proposed between the Idaho and Salmon River Breaks Primitive Areas.

Hammer Creek to the Salmon River mouth would be classified as a scenic river area. Long Tom Bar to Hammer Creek would be classified as a recreational river area. Tepee Creek to Long Tom Bar would be classified as a scenic river area. Corn Creek to Tepee Creek would be classified as a wild river area. North Fork to Corn Creek would be classified as a recreational river area.

A third alternative proposes that the river segments from North Fork to Riggins and from Hammer Creek to the Snake River be classified. The river segment from Riggins to Hammer Creek would not be included in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

A wild and scenic river corridor between the two wildernesses would be the same as the second alternative. The river segment from Hammer Creek to the Snake River would be classified as a scenic river area.

Long Tom Bar to Little Salmon River would be classified as a recreational river area; Tepee Creek to Long Tom Bar would be classified as a scenic river area; Corn Creek to Tepee Creek would be classified as a wild river area; and North Fork to Corn Creek would be classified as a recreational river area.

The fourth alternative proposes that the Salmon River would remain unclassified and available for hydropower and/or out-basin irrigation development purposes.

Residential, commercial and industrial development on privately owned lands would not be impaired.

Provide assistance

New group formed in TF

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A group of Twin Falls men have started a program to patrol highways to assist stranded motorists and accident victims.

Ray Ainsworth, district commander of the National Radio Highway Patrol Emergency Service for the state of Idaho, said Thursday the group has been in operation about two months and has so far provided assistance to about 35 motorists and accident victims.

While Ainsworth said the group is strictly a voluntary assistance organization, he acknowledged that local authorities have cautioned members of the group to make sure they are not taken for law enforcement officials and have advised them to alter signs on their vehicles referring to "National Radio Highway Patrol STATE OF IDAHO."

Ainsworth said some of the signs have been changed and the others will be.

L. Ray Thomas of the Idaho State Police said Thursday he had talked to Ainsworth about the signs, which he thought might mislead the public into thinking the group performed a law enforcement function.

"In no way are they to be confused with law enforcement officials," Thomas said. "They say they're there to give assistance to people on the highway and that's fine."

Ainsworth agrees. "We're not police officers," he said. "We don't want to do their type of work. We're strictly here to help the motorist and the public, not to make like police officers."

Sheriff Paul Corder is also quick to point out the group performs no official function. "They are in no way a police unit," Corder said.

Corder said amber top lights on the radio patrol vehicles are "only a caution, not a light for stopping."

While Corder has not determined who is responsible, he said his office received a complaint last week of a citizen's band radio unit stopping a car.

"Ainsworth said he does not believe any member of his group was responsible for the alleged stopping incident. He said any member caught impersonating a police officer would be turned over to authorities.

"We're here to obey the law and help motorists," said Rodney Starr, a lieutenant in the radio patrol organization.

Ainsworth said the organization is affiliated with the Radio Highway Patrol National Inc., Emergency Service and Community Watch based in Chickasha, Okla. He said reports of all assistance given are submitted to the national organization monthly.

Currently, Ainsworth said, there are five members in the group and four vehicles equipped with citizen band radios. He said altogether group members average 30 to 40 hours of highway patrol a week, all at their own expense.

He would like to see the group grow to 40 or 50 members. After reaching 10 members, he said, the group can apply for federal funds through the national organization.

According to deputy commander Grant Pagnire, in addition to giving assistance to stranded motorists, members also report all observed crimes and drunk drivers. While Pagnire said the main job of the group is to "report only," he noted they are also available to assist police and fire department officials in emergencies, if requested to do so.

Ainsworth said no member of the group has a police radio monitor in his vehicle. He said none of the members carry any firearms. Nor are there any sirens on the cars.

"In order for one of our cars to call the police," Ainsworth said, "we'd have to radio the base, then phone the police from here." The central radio receiver belongs to Ainsworth. He operates it out of his home on Heyburn Street.

Asked if the amber flashing lights used by members were meant to resemble police vehicles, Ainsworth said they were not. He said the lights were necessary to prevent accidents, while giving assistance on highways.

He also said written reports, somewhat in the style of police reports, were made to protect group members if called to testify in court and to inform the national organization.

Ainsworth said the group hopes to get uniforms for members in the near future. The uniforms have been ordered, he said, but funds are not yet available to pay for them.

Currently, all of the group's financing comes out of members' pockets. There is no charge to motorists for assistance.

Ainsworth is hopeful of receiving financial help as the organization grows. "Starting out it's costing us money, a lot of money — when we get going we'll be in better shape."

As the organization grows, Ainsworth said, he hopes to expand operations into the search and rescue area. All current members, he noted, have had some first aid training, either in the military or through the Boy Scouts, and it is planned that more advanced training will be obtained.

Ainsworth said the group would also like to help motorists in ways other than patrolling. Perhaps by providing coffee and doughnuts to tired motorists at highway rest areas during the summer holiday weekends to help cut down on the number of accidents.

POW aided youth

"He will come home but will undoubtedly go back to the hospital for treatment," Bill added.

Larry is wearing eyeglasses now, Bill said. He did not wear them before his capture.

Bill said Larry plans to go to Ogden, Utah, from Travis, where he will see his daughter, Debbie, 11, and son Donnie, 9. The children were aged 4 and 2, respectively, when Larry last saw them. Larry's marriage was dissolved during his captivity.

Asked about Larry's plans for the future, Bill Chesley said, "My guess is he will stay in the Air Force. He only has four or five years before he can retire and he is up for a promotion to major this summer."

Mike Chesley said Larry did not want to comment on his treatment as a POW at this time because he does not want to jeopardize the release of other prisoners.

There is no resentment evident in Larry's attitude, Bill said. His brother's primary interest was the welfare of his family, Bill added.

Larry had no problem adjusting to his new freedom, the brothers said. "They (POW's) pieced things together about the outside world," Bill said, "although the North Vietnamese pretty much kept all news away from them."

According to Veri Chesley in a conversation before he left to meet his son at Travis, Larry had requested pipe tobacco and instant coffee in his letters to the family from his North Vietnamese prison.

Although Larry is a member of the LDS Church and did not smoke or drink coffee prior to his capture, Chesley said the requested items were sent.

During his first telephone conversation with his parents, Larry told them he traded the tobacco and coffee for milk, a much more valuable commodity in his estimation.

Import surcharge aired, rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has considered and rejected the placing of a tariff surcharge on imports as a means of improving the American trade balance, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has reported.

Shultz, President Nixon's chief economic spokesman, said Sunday the administration favors more flexible tactics.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and one of the most influential members of Congress on fiscal matters, has proposed a 15 per cent across-the-board tariff surcharge on imports.

Mills said Nixon should

Hailey meeting slated

HAILEY — Sage grouse and antelope biologist for the State Fish and Game Department — Robert Autonrieth — will be guest speaker at a Community Environmental Workshop Wednesday evening.

The sagebrush community will be discussed during the first half of the session by Kenneth Kinnean, project director.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Wood River Junior High School, Hailey, multipurpose room. All interested residents are invited to attend.

Sponsored by the Sun Valley Creative Arts Center, the workshops are financed under a federal — Environmental Education grant.

3 Blaine residents arrested

KETCHUM — Three persons were arrested on drug charge during a raid early Saturday morning on a city residence by Ketchum Police Department officers.

According to a department spokesman, Joseph Stockton Brady, 28, Ketchum, was arrested for possession of a controlled substance and on a prior warrant of possession of a controlled substance with intent to manufacture.

He has been released from the Blaine County Jail on a $1,000 bond.

Each charged with possession of a controlled substance were Patricia Kathleen Gibbons, 23, and Teresa Kay Boggs, 23, Ketchum.

Both have been released on $250 bond.

Women pilots' pride recalled

By RITA SHADIC
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The expanding war in the Pacific put them in the air, the atomic bomb grounded them.

But between Nov. 17, 1942, and Dec. 20, 1944, 1,074 members of the Women's Airforce Service Pilots flew 60 million miles as part of the American war effort.

Now less than a few of those who flew military planes, including the B26, on non-combat but often dangerous missions take umbrage at the publicity the Navy is getting with its new flight training program for women.

"It is a fantastic thing that there is never any mention of the Women's Airforce Service Pilots," Mary Ellen Keil, 57, Columbus, said.

The new program, she says, "won't prove anything. That was done 30 years ago when they found out women were just as capable."

Miss Keil, now a school teacher who pilots a private plane in Angel Derby and Powder Mill Derby events, remembers the program was controversial at the time, but "was accepted

"because the war in the Pacific created a great need for pilots."

"They simply wanted to see if women could handle the job," she said. "If they could, then more male pilots could be released for combat missions. This in turn would decrease the Air Force's demand on the cream of the manpower pool."

"The women were trained alongside men and met the same requirements, but what they did not get was military status. They were considered civil service employees."

"They loved heavy targets behind their planes to help train combat pilots, they ferried aircraft from factories to bases and they photographed formations of planes. The women were allowed on all non-combat missions except gunnery and formation flying."

"There were many hair-raising situations," Miss Keil recalls. "In those days transcontinental flying was rather dangerous. There were no radar aids, and sometimes on those target missions, they missed the target and hit the plane."

"Thirty-seven women were killed during training or on duty."

"The WASPs, she said, were found to be medically, mentally, and psychologically as capable as men in handling assignments, but in two years the program was abandoned — "partly because of the invention of the atom bomb."

"The women pilots were offered non-flying jobs in the military, but most of us left because we wanted to continue flying," Miss Keil said.

Miss Keil said the pilots didn't try to fight the termination of their military flying jobs.

"Everyone was just kind of elated back then. We had such stardust in our eyes that we were given a chance to serve. We were happy just for the chance to fly."

"And there wasn't such a thing as a woman's liberation movement in 1944," she said, "so we just all took our pride and went away."

Ice on TF bridge causes accidents

TWIN FALLS — Icy spots on the Perrine Bridge caused two accidents Saturday night within minutes of one another, according to Idaho State Police.

In the first accident, Frank Hessin Jr., 21, Twin Falls, was rittin his motorcycle on the bridge when he skidded on the ice and lost control. Hessin was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

In the second accident Jimmy Palmer, 25, Twin Falls lost control of his vehicle on an ice patch and skidded into the bridge railing, causing about $700 damage to his vehicle. Palmer was not injured.

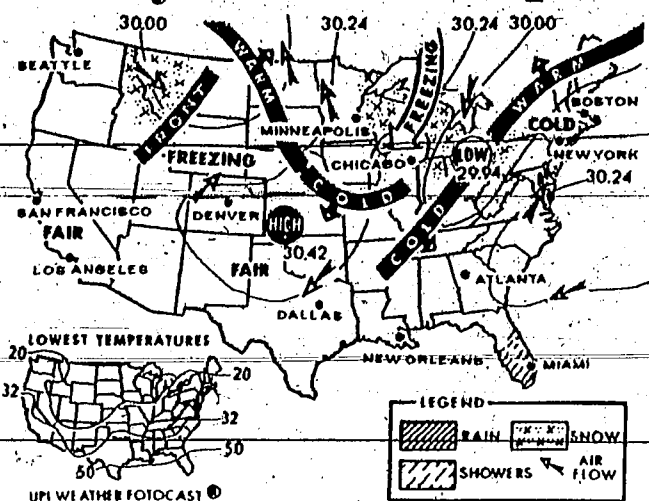

Both accidents involved a single person, police said. The time given for both was 10:23 p.m. Traffic was backed up for slightly less than an hour while debris was being cleared from the narrow two-lane bridge.

Devaluation may boost US exports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the long run, last week's devaluation of the dollar should mean stronger foreign demand for American farm products and expanded export sales, administration farm officials say.

But one top administration economist said in an interview that, over the next few months, the devaluation could pose new problems for livestock and poultry producers by strengthening domestic prices of their key raw materials — feeds like soybean meal and feed grain.

U.S. Production of soybeans reached a new record last year. But domestic and foreign demand, fueled by strong consumer demand for meat and other livestock products, has risen even faster. As a result, soybean meal has been selling at twice the levels of a year ago, and prices are expected to remain strong at least until the 1973 crop is harvested.

Don Paarberg, director of U.S. exports for the Agriculture department, said in an interview that devaluation would tend to strengthen

Medical puzzle

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although the precise cause of muscular dystrophy has not yet been determined, it appears to be the result of an inborn error of metabolism, the lack of some specific enzyme or enzyme system essential for the conversion of foods into tissues and energy. So says the National Health Education Committee.

Variable clouds appear again

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert area. Variable cloudiness is expected tonight and Tuesday morning with a chance of scattered snow showers. Clearing weather is expected Tuesday afternoon. Highs will be near 40 tomorrow, and lows tonight will be the 20s.

Camas Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley. Variable cloudiness is expected for tonight and Tuesday morning with a chance of scattered snow showers. Clearing weather is expected Tuesday afternoon. Highs tomorrow will be in the 30s and lows tonight 10 to 20.

A large high pressure area covering the western states brought general clearing to the southern Idaho area yesterday and last night. A few areas of fog formed in eastern Idaho valleys during the night but this fog is now dissipated. A weakening frontal system will continue eastward from the Pacific Coast into southwest Idaho tonight and into southeast Idaho on Tuesday. It will be quite weak by the time it reaches the southern Idaho area.

Some variable clouds are expected with a slight chance of scattered showers. High pressure following the front is expected to bring clearing again later Tuesday.

Wall Street Chatter - First span beams due

NEW YORK (UPI) — The intermediate downward trend of the market list "is still in force," TRO Inc. says. For the next few weeks, the decline should continue with a tentative zone of support found at 900-920. "At current levels, doubtful holdings should be sold and cash retained for a better buying opportunity ahead," the technical letter advises.

The dollar crisis "hit the market when it was down, so it did not hurt so much," and most members of the financial community see the devaluation move as resolving rather than complicating, according to W. E. Hutton & Co. The Nixon-Shultz move is, in itself, bullish in that it should make it easier for Americans to sell abroad, and more difficult for foreigners to sell in America.

In a letter entitled "Warning Service," Indicator Digest says "The market is at a suspenseful point..." The question is really whether the current phase of declines is a normal correction of an overbought market (140 Dow Industrial points since October), or is this trend indicative of something more serious? If the Dow average slips through 900, this "would signal further extension of the intermediate downward," the letter says.

E. F. Hutton's prognosis calls for a further market decline, but possibly punctuated by a short covering or bargain hunting rally. Technically, none of the popular indices has diverged from each other which could have been read as a possible bright indication. And fundamentally, there is some doubt that the devaluation of the dollar, solved anything.

Richard Petty defeats Baker for Daytona win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Richard Petty drove his Dodge to an unprecedented fourth Daytona 500 victory Sunday when Buddy Baker, after leading most of the race, blew the engine of his Dodge only 15 miles from the finish.

Petty was holding a narrow third-place lead when Baker's Dodge faltered in a cloud of smoke on the backstretch. Bobby Isaac brought his Ford in second, a slip behind Petty, and Dick Brooks was third in a Dodge.

Petty and Baker, once teammates, hooked in a torrid battle for 85 miles before Baker's engine failed. Petty, averaged 157.205 miles an hour, although the first 13 laps were run under the caution flag, to dry the track after a morning of flame on the first turn.

Petty and Baker were left to duel when the only other serious contender, Cale Yarborough, fell out with a blown engine in his Chevrolet 112 miles from the end.

"Boy, I'll tell you, we had trouble all week long," said Petty. "The boys worked on the car so dang good. We really couldn't believe it after all the trouble we had."

Baker, who started on the pole in the Harry Hyde-prepared Dodge, was in the lead when Yarborough's car blew in a ball of flame on the first turn.

Baker, who started on the pole in the Harry Hyde-prepared Dodge, was in the lead when Yarborough's car blew in a ball of flame on the first turn.

Defending champion A. J. Foyt finished fourth in a Chevrolet followed by James Hylton in a Mercury and Baker sixth.

Baker and Yarborough had duled for the lead most of the day with Petty nestled comfortably in third place.

Andy Granatelli and Petty's STP pit crew staged a wild celebration in victory lane with Petty and Granatelli taking a champagne bath.

"I had the race won and the damn thing blew up," said Baker. "We run a good race but you've got to complete 500 miles, not 499. It was real tough. It just went boom."

A few brief showers fell during the race but the drivers said the track was in good condition.

BOISE (UPI) — Directors of Gem State Securities Corp. have recommended a two-for-one stock split payable June 11 to stockholders of record May 25, 1973.

The proposed split is subject to approval of shareholders at the annual meeting April 23.

Richard Anderson, president, said consolidated net earnings for fiscal year 1972 were $24,484 with consolidated revenues of $1,370,654.

Hughes won't appear

ELKO, Nev. (UPI) — Billionaire Howard Hughes does not have to testify in a $142 million suit brought by Las Vegas publisher Hawk Greenspun.

District Judge Joseph McDaniel Friday granted a Hughes Tool Co. motion preventing Greenspun from taking a deposition. Instead, the judge ordered the company, wholly owned by Hughes, to produce company vice president Raymond Holiday for a deposition. McDaniel said it was possible he was involved in the company decision to record a deed of trust which resulted in the suit.

Greenspun filed suit to remove a lien on 2,070 acres near the Las Vegas Country Club. The suit contended Hughes Tool Co. clouded and encumbered title to the property through a fraudulent conspiracy.

District A-2 starts tournament Tuesday

The fourth district A-2 basketball tournament heads off the first big week of Idaho's winter and most important season.

The A-2s will go to the firing line starting Tuesday night at the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium. On Wednesday, the sixth district A-1 (southside) schools start battling at Murtough high school and the northside A-1 schools begin Thursday at Gooding high school gymnasium. The A-1s ring in Friday night with Burley at Twin Falls while Mimco sits back to host the winner Saturday.

The A-3 tournament will go at Shoshone again, starting Thursday, but the pairings won't be available until Monday afternoon due to a tie in the final standings of the Little Five Conference.

But if they played four different A-2 tournaments over the next few weeks, they might be a different winner every time. So topsy-turvy is that alignment that stems from a 9-11 record (Jerome) finished ahead of and appears to be favored over a team that is 14-5 and defeated the Tigers twice (Wood River). Meanwhile, Gooding looks like a good chance to claim its third straight title, but the Senators haven't beaten Jerome yet. Filer appears the other bet: The Wildcats have some talent but so far haven't been consistent from quarter to quarter, let alone game to game.

So that leaves Buhl, laboring and pressing under 2-11 year, as the least likely to succeed, which probably means the Indians can just as well win it, too.

All the A-2 schools have one thing in common — inconsistency in scoring. Gooding is perhaps the best for getting around its average. But because of all the season variables, the Senators can't be heavy choices.

Area wrestlers ready for event

Magic Valley's best class A and B wrestlers, hardened under some unexpected knocks in the state tournament last weekend, wind up their season at 7 p.m. Monday in the Fourth District Coaches Association all-star wrestling tournament.

The event is slated for the Jerome High School gymnasium and a total of 48 matches on two mats will be fought.

101 pounds, Sherbine, Wood River, vs. McNeil, Mimco, and Weigle, Jerome, vs. Reblich, Glenns Ferry.

109 pounds, Yturbe, Buhl, vs. Jones, Mimco, and Burkes, Wendell, vs. Harper, Mimco.

115 pounds, Jefferson, Wood River, vs. Anderson, Burley, and Hulet, Wendell, vs. Anderson, Burley.

122 pounds, West, Declo, vs. Mortenson, Mimco, and Hata, Shoshone, vs. Robinson, Burley.

128 pounds, Winn, Shoshone, vs. Hatt, Burley, and Schmidt, Buhl, vs. Harper, Mimco.

135 pounds, Brothwell, Wood River, vs. Fessenden, Mimco, and Darrington, Declo, vs. Deal, Jerome.

In the first round, the class A district champion will meet the class B runner-up while the B titlist goes against the A second-place man. They will advance from there in winner and loser brackets to arrive at a one through four placement.

Wood River's Rocky Sherbine will be the only state champion on display, a surprise since the area seemed to have a few more capable of taking Idaho's highest award.

141 pounds, Stutzman, Buhl, vs. Anderson, Mimco, and Blass, Filer, vs. Ramsay, Burley.

148 pounds, Matthews, Declo, vs. Cox, Jerome, and Thonietz, Buhl, vs. Diehl, Jerome.

156 pounds, Rhodes, Buhl, vs. Thomason, Jerome, and Robinson, Raft River, vs. Graham, Mimco.

170 pounds, Griff, Filer, vs. Cochran, Jerome, and Eslinger, Kimberly vs. McKan, Twin Falls.

188 pounds, Baker, Valley, vs. Reddick, Jerome, and Matthews, Onkley, vs. Garrett, Burley.

Heavyweight, Courtney, Filer, vs. Jones, Burley, and Heather, Kimberly, vs. N. Cochran, Jerome.

Former champions to wrestle will be Mark McKan of Twin Falls and Tim Matthews of Declo, who won as juniors at state but had to settle for runner-up designation this time around. The area did have three other runners-up in Paul Garrett of Burley, Tony Jefferson, Wood River, and Ron Griff, Filer.

Griff ran into an oddity, beating a two-time champion in the semi-finals and then losing a decision to another defending state titlist.

The first-round pairings for tonight's matches include:

141 pounds, Stutzman, Buhl, vs. Anderson, Mimco, and Blass, Filer, vs. Ramsay, Burley.

148 pounds, Matthews, Declo, vs. Cox, Jerome, and Thonietz, Buhl, vs. Diehl, Jerome.

156 pounds, Rhodes, Buhl, vs. Thomason, Jerome, and Robinson, Raft River, vs. Graham, Mimco.

170 pounds, Griff, Filer, vs. Cochran, Jerome, and Eslinger, Kimberly vs. McKan, Twin Falls.

188 pounds, Baker, Valley, vs. Reddick, Jerome, and Matthews, Onkley, vs. Garrett, Burley.

Bullets outlast Milwaukee 96-93

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Archie Clark climaxed a 25-point effort with a pair of game-clinching free throws with five seconds left as the Baltimore Bullets defeated the Milwaukee Bucks, 96-93, and raised their Central Division lead to six games Sunday.

Clark added a season-high 14 assists in the nationally televised game which wasn't decided until the final minute.

Elvin Hayes, who scored 21 points and pulled down 18 rebounds, broke a 91-all tie with a basket and a free throw with 1:01 left.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who was held to 18 points for Milwaukee, pulled the Bucks within 94-93 with a bank shot with 16 seconds left. Clark was fouled by Terry Driscoll with five seconds left and the Bullets ran out the clock.

Clark's two perfect foul shots clinched the Bullets' sixth win in their last seven games.

Denver throttles Utah

DENVER (UPI) — Bearded guard Warren Jabal wrecked the Utah Stars Sunday with 41 points, five steals, seven assists and eight rebounds in leading Denver to a 109-90 triumph over the ABA West leaders.

Teammate Julius Keye, who wound up with 13 points and 13 rebounds, scored eight points in the final 38 seconds and hit a three-pointer with 13 seconds to play.

Denver capitalized on Utah mistakes and opportunities at the free throw line. The Stars committed 29 errors and were called for 37 personal fouls.

Chicago defeats sluggish Rockets

HOUSTON (UPI) — Chet Walker scored 23 points and Bob Love hit 21 to lead the Chicago Bulls to a 110-99 victory over the sluggish Houston Rockets Sunday.

The Bulls, who have beaten the Rockets in all four of their meetings this season, took charge in the second quarter by holding the Rockets to 16 points and taking a 11-point halftime edge, 63-42. Houston looked tired after Saturday night's 127-111 victory over Phoenix.

Chicago took the lead permanently 27-26 on a basket by Walker with 1:17 to go in the first quarter. The Bulls, with Love hitting 12 points, pulled to a 17-point lead after 4:11 of the third period. Houston cut it to seven late in the third quarter and again in the fourth quarter but could not come any closer

Carolina trounces Memphis

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — Mack Calvin poured in 27 points and Billy Cunningham added 20 points and 17 assists to guide the Carolina Cougars to an easy 107-77 triumph over the Memphis Tams Sunday.

Carolina led the entire game and outscored Memphis 41 to 25 in the final quarter to gain its biggest lead at the game's end.

Cunningham, in addition to his 17 assists and 20 points, accounted for five of Carolina's 16 steals and grabbed eight rebounds. Memphis stole the ball only six times and gave up 26 turnovers to 15 for Carolina.

Cowens lets Celts edge Superonics

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Dave Cowens tipped in a missed shot two seconds left in the game to give the Boston Celtics a 106-105 NBA victory Sunday over the Seattle Superonics.

Boston trailed Seattle 99-94 with five minutes remaining in the game when they scored two unanswered points to take a 104-99 lead. Seattle then came back to score six straight unanswered points to take the lead with 37 seconds remaining, 105-104.

Boston then missed a shot, with Seattle gaining control, forcing Boston to take a deliberate foul with 12 seconds remaining. But Seattle, unable to take a clear inbounds pass, took a time-out. However, the second try also proved fruitless as the pass went astray with Boston gaining control.

After Boston took a time-out with 6 seconds remaining, Don Nelson missed a shot from the top of the key and in the ensuing scramble, Cowens tipped in the game-winner.

Leading Boston scorers were Jojo White with 20, Don Chaney with 23 and Dave Cowens with 13. Game-high honors went to Seattle's Spencer Haywood with 34, and Seattle's Fred Brown hit for 20.

Pistons demolish Kings

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons tied their biggest victory margin and broke a four game losing streak Sunday, defeating the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 144-100 in a National Basketball Association game.

The Pistons opened with an 8-0 lead and led 36-21 at the end of the period. They streaked to a 72-48 halftime lead and led by as many as 52 points in the fourth quarter.

Kansas City played without league-leading scorer Nate Archibald for most of the game. Archibald played only the first 15 minutes and was held to five points, well below his 33.8 average.

Dickson outlasts Crampton for win

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Bob Dickson, the former U.S. and British Amateur champion, won his second pro title in five years Sunday, beating Bruce Crampton in a head-to-head duel to take the top prize in the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

It was the 26-year-old former Oklahoma State star's first win since the 1968 Hagl Open and he grabbed it with a closing even par 72 when Crampton, gunning for his third victory of 1973 and seemingly in command, bogeyed three of the last four holes and finished with a four over par 76.

SIGNALING, SOMEWHAT like an umpire ruling a runner safe, Bruce Crampton puts a different meaning on the sign — he missed. The action was on the eighth green during the final round of the Andy Williams Open and the putt was for a birdie and a two-stroke lead — Bob Dickson, however, outlasted Crampton for the tournament victory. (UPI Telephoto)

Optimism is seen in baseball discussions

NEW YORK (UPI) — A tiny ray of optimism shone through the stalemated bargaining session between representatives of major league baseball players and owners Sunday despite comments of "no real breakthrough" from one side and "little progress" from the other.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players' Association, emerged looking drawn after a rare second straight 2 1/2-hour meeting with John Gaherin, the owners' representative, National League president Chub Feeney, American League president Joe Cronin, St. Louis player representative Joe Torre and players' legal counsel Dick Moss.

Gaherin shunned away from questions about whether the talks had been profitable. Miller only said "at least we're talking."

"We've been here since 1:30 p.m. (EST). We met most of the day yesterday and we plan to meet Monday," Miller said. "But there's been no real breakthrough to report — only the fact that both sides are anxious to avoid a further delay of spring training."

"We are making every effort to resolve this dispute quickly, and there has been little progress," Gaherin said as he and Miller parted Sunday. "But we've agreed not to discuss any of the issues until they are resolved."

"We want a three-year contract," one owner said last week. "If we delay the reserve clause issue for a year, what's to stop them from going on strike next year?"

Texas Tech looks like sure bet for loop crown, NCAA's

By MIKE RABUN, Staff Sports Writer — It was eight years ago that Texas Tech was running away with the Southwest Conference basketball championship when it was learned the Red Raiders were using an ineligible player.

position to have their best finish in a dozen years. Arkansas stands a reasonable chance of moving into at least a tie for second place before the race is over since it catches both Texas Tech and SMU at home.

Ed (a senior, 6-4 combination guard and forward) has got to play hard for us. We didn't even know he was on the court in the first half."

It is going to take something just as drastic this season to keep Tech away from the conference crown and out of the NCAA playoffs.

Thanks to Tech's comeback win over Rice last Saturday, combined with Texas Christian's startling upset of Southern Methodist, the Raiders would have to lose three of their remaining four games to be deprived of a playoff berth.

Wakefield did not score a point and got only one rebound in the first half but in the second half he hit on six of seven shots from the field for 12 points and got five rebounds.

Montreal topples Toronto

TORONTO (UPI) — Veteran Jim Roberts and rookie Steve Shutt scored within 26 seconds of each other early in the second period Sunday to pace the Montreal Canadiens to a 2-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs in a nationally televised NHL game.

Directs putt

Second place in the Andy Williams event was worth $19,300 but Crampton had to share second with local favorites Phil Rodgers and Billy Casper and Grier Jones.

Dickson seemed to take himself out of contention when he bogeyed the seventh and eighth holes but Crampton bogeyed the seventh as well and both made the turn in one over 37 with the Australian a shot in front.

The 19th-ranked Jack Sohville Dolphins, 83-74 midweek losers at Florida State, raised their record to 19-4 Friday with a 95-86 win over Illinois State.

Tennessee holds slim lead in Southeastern conference

ATLANTA (UPI) — Don't look now, but the Tennessee Vols are starting to slip a little fast-break into their famed control offense.

Alabama, 9-3 and 16-1, must play four of its six games on the road; Vanderbilt, 10-4 and 17-5, plays two on the road, including a Monday night visit to Alabama; and Kentucky, 9-4 and 14-7, has three of five at home.
