Gem school funds gain

BOISE (UPI) — In an unprecedented move, the Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee Monday moved to the top of the list the appropriation for public school funding in Idaho.

Historically, that budget is one of the last considered by the committee.

In another surprise move, the committee voted for a $12-million increase in public school funding with 75 per cent of the increase going to non-administrative salaries in the state's 15 school districts.

The committee voted $57.8 million for the public school appropriation, of which $8 million will come from federal revenue sharing. The total did not include an estimated $3.8 million to start state-operated kindergartens in Idaho.

Aside from the $3.8 million for kindergartens, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus had asked for around an $11-million increase for public education.

The Joint Committee appropriation compares to $10.8 million available from the state's general fund this fiscal year.

The committee also voted to include $5.5 million as the state's share in the teachers retirement program.

"I thought it was justified because education has received less than $7 million increase on an average over the last two years," committee member Sen. John Peavey, R-Tupert, said following the committee vote. Peavey said teachers salaries in Idaho now rank 48th in the nation.

The appropriation measure will be sent to the House for introduction.

Committee co-chairman Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, urged the committee to take up the public school funding budget.

He said that "will set the budget within narrow margins and determine how much we will have for tax relief."

It took the committee six votes to arrive at the $57.8-million figure.

Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, made a motion to hold the budget until the House took under consideration a bill to create kindergartens with the approval of district patrons. That motion failed.

The Senate passed the kindergarten bill last week, but the measure ran into trouble when it was sent to the House Education Committee, where members called for a public hearing.

In other legislative action Monday, the House passed a bill to merge the departments of health and welfare after more than an hour debate.

Rep. Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee, steered the measure to passage, telling House members it would save $300,000 in expenditures and attract $2.2 million more in federal aid.

Release menaced

SAIGON (UPI) — Release of 7,000 more Communist POWs will be released starting Thursday.

list of 100 South Vietnamese government civilian employees they hold. Now they have updated that to 200.

"We will continue to demand that military POWs be released first, as we have proposed," the spokesman said.

Peace-keeping teams moved into combat zones for the first time today with the Joint Military Commission dispatching officials to Sa Huynh on the South China Sea where reports persisted that a Communist posture offensive had all but cut Vietnam in half.

"But the Communist side refused to discuss continuation of the release of military POWs," the spokesman said. "They proposed that we begin the release of civilian detainees."

The spokesman said that South Vietnam holds only 5,000 political prisoners, despite earlier reports that the number is more like 20,000.

The South Vietnamese spokesman at today's military briefing for the press said that at meetings of the JMC subcommittee on captured persons, the Saigon delegate proposed to begin the second phase of the exchange in which

"So far they gave us only a forecast."

Fighting across Vietnam fell sharply today. But the level of combat remained high enough to indicate field forces are not heeding the appeal issued Saturday by the U.S.-North and South Vietnamese-Viet Cong Joint Military Commission to obey the Jan. 26 cease-fire order.

Laotian battles ending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The warring factions in Laos have agreed to sign a cease-fire Wednesday, authoritative U.S. sources said today.

About 250 American planes have been engaged in daily raids of this sort. At times these included as many as 50 of big American B-52 bombers.

Government monitors said statements to that effect were made by Premier Souvanna Phouma, head of the Royal Laotian government, and Prince Souvannavong, leader of the Communist Pathet Lao, and broadcast by the Laotian radio in the capital, Vientiane.

The cease-fire will include a halt to these raids. Word of the possible truce came shortly after a visit to Vientiane last Friday by Deputy U.S. Assistant Secretary of State William H. Sullivan.

Official sources here said they had few additional details. They said some conditions may have been attached by the Communists to the agreement but said this was not yet clear.

Sullivan, who at one time was U.S. ambassador to Laos, has been working closely with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger on the Vietnam situation, as well as peace efforts in the rest of Indochina.

In the Vietnam cease-fire, Hanoi and Washington both pledged to their utmost to persuade the Communist and non-Communist sides in Laos to conclude a similar truce within a month.

He went to Vientiane Friday after accompanying Kissinger on the latter's visit to Hanoi. Officials here said they expected more concrete information and further details of the reported agreement later in the day.

Reports concerning the anticipated truce followed about a week of very heavy raids by U.S. war planes based elsewhere in Southeast Asia in support of the embattled forces of the Royal Laotian government.

The United States has considered a cease-fire in Laos as extremely important to assist in supporting the Vietnamese truce.

Good price hits peak, dollar firm

LONDON (UPI) — Gold set another new record high today, and with the exception of London the dollar firmed in Europe's money markets.

In West Germany the dollar touched its ceiling rate. In light trading the Bundesbank had to sell dollars to prevent its price from going up further.

In London the American currency weakened. The pound sold at $2.3325, up one-half cent on the overnight level of $2.3275.

The rate was 2.9556 marks, exactly the ceiling level at which the Bundesbank must intervene to prevent it from rising further.

London bankers said the market was now a lot more settled after last week's crisis.

Today's rate was a new high since the American devaluation. It compared with Monday's closing price of 2.9650.

In London gold was fixed at $76.10 an ounce, another in the ever-climbing run of record highs since the dollar devalued. This was 72 1/2 cents above Monday's closing price. Gold now has risen more than $7 an ounce since Feb. 9.

The dollar went slightly higher on the French money market, with the commercial dollar quoted at 4.6675-4.6725 francs compared with Monday's 4.6575.

18 POW's head home

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Eighteen freed American POWs released early by Hanoi, flew to family reunions in the United States today but a fellow former prisoner remained behind after suffering a malaria attack.

The other 18, wearing new uniforms, saluted a crowd of well-wishers at Clark, spilled broadly and climbed aboard their giant four-engine C-141 Starlifter flying hospital for the 17-hour, 10,000-mile trip to California. The plane took off at 12:02 a.m. MST.

An Air Force spokesman said Crecca's condition was "not serious" but that he was advised "for the time being, not to travel."

"In just a few hours, we'll be crossing that Golden Gate," said Navy Cmdr. James G. Pirie, 37, in a deep southern accent. "And it will be a mighty welcome sight, I can tell you."

It was a bitter disappointment for the Air Force pilot

Pirie, shot down on June 22, 1967, lists his hometown as Tuscaloosa, Ala., but his wife Barbara Ann and sons James, Bradley and David, live in LeMoore, Calif. He was the only one of the 18 to speak at the short farewell ceremonies.

Mr. Pirie said, "We all appreciate the warm welcome at Clark. The whole shooting match given us, we can't say enough."

Alexander said he planned to talk to Grant again today, but he said he could see no justification to spend taxpayers' money answering the HRC interrogatory or sending a representative to Boise.

CSI president James I. Taylor told the student newspaper "Horizon" last week that the college would answer the HRC interrogatory and would not "hide behind the law" in refusing to answer the HRC queries simply because the commission could not command it to do so.

However, Taylor made no effort Monday to convince the

Nixon sets radio talk

The speech will be the second in a series of broadcasts Nixon has decided to make in advance of "special messages" to Congress.

CSI ignores rights panel

By GEORGE WILEY Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho trustees voted Monday to make no formal response to "reasonable cause" findings of sexual discrimination by the Idaho Human Rights Commission.

The board accepted the recommendations of CSI attorney J. Robert Alexander that CSI make no answer to a questionnaire from the HRC and refrain from sending a representative to a public hearing scheduled in Boise on Friday.

The action by the CSI board means that the HRC will make its decision whether or not to take court action in the case on evidence presented by former French teacher Terrill Castaneda, who filed a complaint with the commission after her contract was not renewed by CSI last spring, and upon any independent investigation conducted by the HRC.

The HRC ruled Feb. 5 that it had found "reasonable cause" to believe sexual discrimination occurred in violation of Idaho law.

Attorney Alexander told the board Monday night that the HRC is basically an investigative body with no

Strong US farm income seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Net farm income in 1973 will hold only slightly below last year's all-time high of $19.2 billion, but a sharper drop could follow in 1974, Agriculture Department economists warned in a cautiously-hedged annual outlook report today.

C. Kyle Randall, chairman of the Department's Outlook and Situation Board, said the forecast for 1973 could easily improve, and described his advance look at 1974 prospects as a tentative and speculative morning line.

Randall, summing up the agricultural outlook in a text prepared for delivery to an opening session of the Agriculture Department's 51st annual National Agricultural Outlook

Conference, said: "Our basic forecast is for farm prices and income to continue strong at least through 1973 and possibly part of 1974. However, meat animal prices are expected to be turning down in the second half of this year, and to continue downward in 1974. This raises at least the strong possibility of a break in farm prices and incomes in 1974 compared with 1972 and expectations for 1973."

Beyond 1974, our forecasts suggest farmers' prices and net farm income will stay below the levels of 1972 and 1973 due to rising supplies and some expected weakening in exports. However, both prices and incomes would likely compare favorably with recent years except 1972 and 1973."

Only Agriculture Department economists reporting on the outlook for individual products, said farmers' prices for beef and pork, poultry and feed grains are likely to slide down from current levels in the second half of this year. Randall, in his overall summary, said retail beef and veal prices for consumers in the first half will be "well above" last year, but may level off in the last six months of 1973.

Repeating earlier forecasts by department economists, Randall said grocery prices this year will jump six per cent or more above 1972, with most of the rise coming in the first quarter. "Some respite from the sharp increase appears likely for the second quarter, and a gradual increase ... is in prospect for the balance of the year," he added.

Randall said last year's record farm income figure, some $3 billion above 1971 and $2 billion above the previous record set in 1947, would be "a hard act to follow." But he said 1973 would be nearly as good — near $10 billion, the second best farm income year in history. And he added that if demand for U.S. grains abroad looks up, the picture could be even brighter.

Women urge end to prostitution laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Organization for Women (NOW), entering what Betty Friedan described as the second stage of its campaign to end prostitution laws, today urged an end to all prostitution laws, civil rights for lesbians and a $2.50 minimum wage for everyone.

These resolutions were adopted almost unanimously during the final session of NOW's 6th annual conference — which ended with a suffragette-style march to the White House.

Mrs. Friedan, who helped popularize the women's liberation movement 10 years ago with her book "Feminine Mystique," told the members they already have "broken the barriers of sex discrimination." She said they now should begin work together with men on future causes.

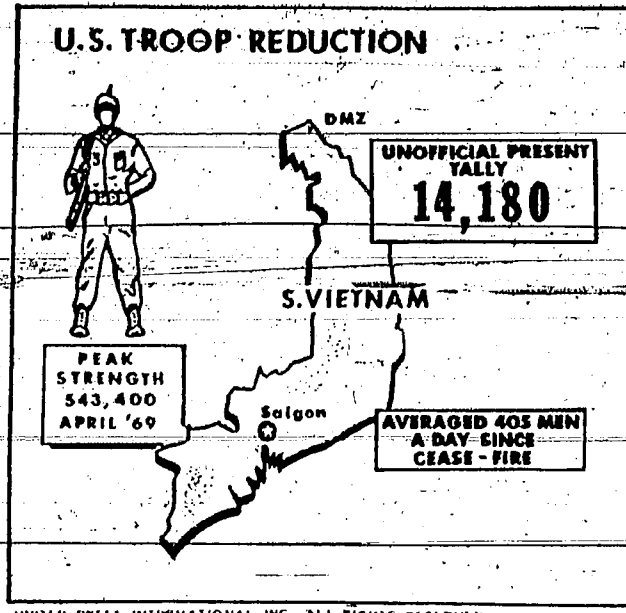

"We have come through Stage One of the sex role revolution the women's movement for equality," she said. "We are strong enough ourselves to see men not as bread winners, not as sex objects, not as enemies, but human beings, our brothers."

Although NOW has male members, the conference declined to endorse a resolution to sponsor a special meeting for men next fall in New York City.

NOW called for an end to prostitution laws because "there is no evidence to indicate that liberalization of such prohibitive laws will encourage women to become prostitutes." But it said it does not consider prostitution "morally good."

The resolution said it does not support licensing of prostitutes because many would be afraid to register; the government would make money from the sale of sexual services and customers would be given a "false promise" that the prostitute is free of disease.

The lesbian resolution vowed to seek an end to discrimination in housing, employment, credit and finance, child custody and public accommodations on the basis of "sexual orientation." A cheer went up when it passed.

Nixon blames demand for high cost of food

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — President Nixon told labor leaders Monday it will be next summer before the public can expect relief from rising food prices.

The President told the AFL-CIO Executive Council that the demand for food, especially meat is, outrunning the supply and thus pushing up prices, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported.

"He feels that because demand is increasing as it is, that this is a problem that will be with us for at least another six months," Ziegler said. "But he feels it is a problem which in the last half of this year will begin to level off because of the steps that will be taken to increase supply."

The men were not immediately identified, but the embassy staff said they took the shouts of "free our soldiers" as a reference to the 90,000 Pakistani prisoners of war still held in India after the Indo-Pakistan war.

Earlier Monday FDA recalled Poppa Fabbri Brand Pizza and other products with mushrooms distributed in New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois by Fabbri Family Food Inc., of Ossinike, Mich.

The Stouffer products recalled were frozen green beans and mushrooms, frozen escalloped chicken and noodles, frozen tuna noodle casserole and frozen cream of mushroom soup.

In a joint announcement, FDA and Stouffer's urged anyone who may have bought the products since Feb. 7, 1973 to return them to stores where they were purchased.

They said there was no certainty that botulism existed in the products but they may contain mushrooms from United Canning Corp., of East Palestine, Ohio, which were reported Saturday to have the toxic bacteria, and therefore "all must be considered suspect."

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — A tattooed 25-year-old one-time star pupil who dropped out of college to turn on with LSD has been named as the chief suspect in 11 recent slayings in this quiet seashore area.

When courts open today, Herbert W. Mullin, already jailed as a suspect in seven murders, will be formally charged with killing four youths found in a blood-spattered mountain shelter during the weekend, authorities said Monday.

Santa Cruz County Sheriff Douglas H. James described Mullin as a "one man crime wave." He urged there may be more murder victims in the mountains.

JAMES said a posse would search the rugged, damp trails for more corpses near where the four long-haired young men were found shot in the head with a small caliber weapon Saturday.

Ballistics tests showed the latest victims were killed by a weapon similar to those found in Mullin's car when he was arrested last week after reportedly fleeing a home where a 72-year-old fisherman was shot to death, James said.

He said a court "log order" prevented release of other details.

Mullin was charged last Thursday with killing the fisherman, Fred Perez, and with shooting a mother and her two young boys and a suspected marijuana dealer and his wife.

Gunmen invade Indian embassy

LONDON (UPI) — Three men wielding pistols, a dagger and a sword and shouting "free our soldiers" burst into the Indian embassy today and tried to hold staff members hostage.

Police stormed the building 10 minutes later and exchanged about a dozen shots with the gunmen. Two of the invaders were killed and a third arrested.

77 die in Soviet air crash

PRAGUE (UPI) — Western airline officials said today the death toll in the crash Monday of a Soviet-built Tupolev 154 tri-engine jet could have gone much higher if the plane had come down on a highway near the Prague airport.

The crash killed 77 of the 100 persons on board—all identified as Russian, Czechs and Cubans—and injured 10 more. Three persons, the pilot and two of his crewmembers, walked away unhurt from the wreckage.

The plane narrowly missed crashing down into a busy highway and western air officials said that undoubtedly cut the death toll.

"For a moment," said one official who saw the crash, "it looked like the plane would hit the highway skirting the airfield. If it had, it would have been an even bigger disaster."

The highway runs along the eastern edge of the airport and links Prague with the industrial mining town of Kladno.

The three men who walked away from the burning wreckage, western airline men said, appeared in good shape and "remarkably composed."

Viet Cong, S. Viets talk

PARIS (UPI) — In a bid to break their deadlock, the Viet Cong today asked South Vietnam to hold high-level political talks in a neutral spot in South Vietnam, possibly the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between the two countries.

Otherwise the negotiations can be held in Paris, Viet Cong negotiator Dinh Ba Thi said.

The two sides met for the fifth time today to try to arrange a conference on the political future of South Vietnam, as stipulated by the Paris peace agreement.

The meetings are designed to arrange a conference, probably at foreign minister level, in which the two sides can agree on the formation of a council to organize elections.

However they have deadlocked over the site of the talks and the question of guarantees to Communist delegates if they take place in Saigon.

The told newsmen after the two and a half hour meeting: "Today, in order to break the deadlock concerning the site of the political talks, we have made a new initiative. Let us choose a place between the two zones controlled by either side to turn it into the site of a conference."

"A conference to settle the internal problems of South Vietnam should be held inside South Vietnam," Thi said.

FDA recalls food

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and Stouffer's Food Co. of Solon, Ohio, are recalling four frozen food products that may contain mushrooms with botulism.

Terminating the recall an "extra precaution," an FDA spokesman said Monday the Stouffer's products could be located anywhere in the country and some "may have reached consumers. We do not know how widely distributed the affected products may be," the spokesman said.

Senators press test ban treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thirty senators urged President Nixon today to negotiate a total nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union. The senators' "stale" insistence upon on-site inspections which has blocked an agreement for 10 years. The proposal for a suspension of underground testing by both countries and for agreement on a comprehensive ban was made in a resolution offered in the Senate today. If adopted, it will have only advisory effect. But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., compared the introduction of the resolution to a similar action by 34 senators in 1963 which offered President John F. Kennedy "a clear statement of opposition to the test ban treaty." The result, Sen. Kennedy said, was agreement on a treaty which outlawed all, but underground testing. "This year will mark the 10th anniversary of the partial test ban treaty of 1963, but it will also mark the 10th anniversary of our failure to achieve a permanent halt to all nuclear weapons tests," Kennedy said. He said while every administration since then pledged to seek a comprehensive treaty, none offered a new proposal to break the stalemate over inspection.

"We stand with the same stale proposal at Geneva that we put forward a decade ago," Kennedy said. "Some of the resolution's co-sponsors sided with Kennedy in calling obsolete the U.S. demand that some on-site inspection be provided to verify compliance with a total test-ban treaty. Others argued only that advances in satellite observation and seismic monitoring techniques made inspection less important."

Review refused

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the conviction of Sirhan B. Sirhan, serving a life sentence for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1968. In a brief order, the high court rejected Sirhan's appeal from a decision on July 26, 1972, by the California Supreme Court upholding the conviction. The shooting took place in a kitchen area of the Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles following Kennedy's victory in the Democratic presidential primary in California. The appeal conceded that Sirhan "was captured at the scene wielding a still smoking gun." But it said "significant physical evidence" has been uncovered to show that he did not fire the fatal bullet.

'March' on Washington draws CIA criticism

TWIN FALLS — Cecil Gailey, erone hard feelings and cause confusion. Gailey said in the Community Improvement past the CIA has found it more difficult to sit down with the congressional delegates and discuss the issues than to march on Washington, D. We have refused to march before and we see no reason to march now." He also criticized the CAA administration in Magic Valley saying the march will only

Court refuses Nader request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today against consumer advocate Ralph Nader, who has been seeking to upset the merger of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) and the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. In a brief order, the Court affirmed a Dec. 6 decision by U.S. District Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld in Hartford, refusing to let Nader reopen the antitrust case. Nader was joined in his suit by Washington attorney Reuben B. Robertson III.

TF school district Wednesdays 'open'

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls public school system has initiated a policy of discontinuing school activities on Wednesday evenings. Supt. George Staudaher said Monday he has had requests from people throughout the community to keep one night during the week free from school activities. While Staudaher said the schools would not be locked up on Wednesday evenings, he did say he has asked principals to schedule all activities, from PTA meetings to ball games, on other nights of the week. "We're just going to leave this one night free for the people of Twin Falls," Staudaher said, "so they can have their kids." Staudaher said the new policy would have no effect on the number of activities scheduled in the schools. He said the move would not affect programs run by the recreation department and other organizations which make use of school facilities. School principals on all levels, Staudaher said, are in agreement with the free night policy. He said he thought the move would make a lot of ministers happy as they would have no conflict with the school system when scheduling Wednesday church events. Asked why Wednesday was chosen as the free night, Staudaher said there have been fewer events on Wednesdays than other nights and it is the middle of the week.

WASHINGTON — The strong probability that Dr. Henry Kissinger's latest visit to Communist China will sweeten relations between Washington and Peking carries with it an ominous risk: always suspicious Moscow may read far too much into the new U.S.-Chinese talks.

Sloppy CSI Probe

The Idaho Human Rights Commission has raised serious questions about the operations of the College of Southern Idaho.

The commission has found "reasonable cause" that CSI engages in sexual discrimination in its employment practices.

The charge is serious, and should be of major concern to the college and its patrons.

But without attempting to prejudice the case before the commission, equally serious questions should be raised about the operations of the Idaho Human Rights Commission itself.

Following the charge of former CSI Assistant Professor Perrill Casteneda that sexual bias was involved in the decision not to renew her contract, an investigation was launched by the Human Relations Commission.

The investigation, handled primarily by commission staff member Jesse Berain, proceeded over an extended period as Berain attempted to develop information about the college's policies.

Berain presented the results of his investigation to the Human Rights Commission during a closed session on Jan. 13.

Mrs. Casteneda was present and answered questions from commission members.

No CSI representative was present.

Based on Berain's information and Casteneda's statements, the commission approved a series of "findings of fact" in the case.

Following its findings of fact, the commission then decided there is reasonable cause to believe CSI discriminates in its employment policies. The commission decided to press the case in a formal, public hearing, bringing the matter to public attention.

It would appear that a crucial step was the hearing at which commission members received information on the case from its staff and Mrs. Casteneda, developed its "finding of fact," found cause that CSI discriminates and proceeded to set the public hearing.

Clearly the meeting was no minor procedural matter. It amounted to a full preliminary hearing of evidence which led the commission to decide to press the case.

Then why was the College of Southern Idaho not invited to attend?

If Mrs. Casteneda was permitted to be present in the closed session, why then was not the college also permitted to be present?

If her statements were relevant, then why would not the college's be so?

Fréd Grant, the new director of the commission, said in Twin Falls Saturday that Mrs. Casteneda had been present only because she chanced to inquire, and had been told the hearing was to be held. In turn, she was permitted to air her views when she chanced to be present.

On the other hand, apparently, nobody at CSI had chanced to inquire if such a hearing was to be held, so nobody chanced to be present to give information the college might feel pertinent.

This is a pretty chancy way to hold a hearing.

Elementary fairness would require that if one side in an adversary proceeding can present its case, then so can the other side.

There may be reason to question some of the commission's "findings of fact." Surely it would have been better for the commission to hear those questions raised as early as possible, preferably before it decided there is cause to press the case.

If there is sexual discrimination at CSI it should be vigorously eliminated. CSI women, like women elsewhere, should be given "equal pay for equal work."

It would be an ironic disservice to the state, the college and women in general if blunders by the Human Rights Commission should undermine its effectiveness in eliminating sexual bias.

"Welcome Home! You're Just in-Time To Put the Trash Out!"

Lord of the Mice

What works in the medical laboratory does not always work in the clinic.

Said another way, a medicine which cures a disease in animals may not cure the same disease in humans.

However, medical science has established that monkeys are much like man physiologically; and mice and men are psychologically — socially — similar.

So when our nation's National Institute of Mental Health sought to create a microcosm of the total human society, it populated its "separate world" with mice.

What happened to them relates to you.

They call Dr. John Calhoun "Lord of the Mice." For five years he has been "playing god" in a separate world of his own.

He turned back civilization's clock and started over. He created an Eden on earth — for mice. A Utopia in which there was plenty of everything — plenty of food, perpetual fair weather, temperate climate; freedom from all natural enemies; total isolation from disease germs. A paradise for mice.

This mouse colony had everything a mouse could need and, at first, everything a mouse could want.

A formal and detailed report on what happened to the mouse colony is included for scholars in two current publications — a British publication, "Proceedings of the Royal Society of Medicine," and the international journal, "Technological Forecasting and Social Change." Space limitations allow no more than a synopsis here.

This Garden of Eden for mice was first populated with four couples in space adequate to comfortably accommodate 160. During the first two years the mouse population increased from the original eight to 2,200.

As the confines grew crowded, some mice began to segregate themselves into groups of about a dozen each and to reject others. The rejection of others turned to violence toward others. The rejected reverted to sexual aggression.

From this preoccupation with sex, per se, the social order disintegrated and was destroyed.

That is to say, any instinct for "law and order" was negated by equal passion until a time when the social order had degenerated completely.

After that there was a conspicuous loss of sexual interest. Ultimately, the mouse population became passive and lost all interest in sex.

Dr. Calhoun observes that their needs were supplied; there was a total absence of stress — except for that stress which the inhabitants themselves generated within females.

More Mass Transit

WASHINGTON — It is a fact that in this land bequeathed us by lunatic governmental policies at all levels, some commuters can fly to Washington from their homes in New York suburbs faster than they can get to their job in Manhattan.

The major reason for this state of affairs is called the highway lobby. Composed of road builders, cement and tin-can makers, truckers, bus lines and others, it has made of the country a maze of super highways, freeways, parkways and the like.

The lobby spends a lot of money on political campaigns and therefore has muscle on Capitol Hill, which is translated into periodic appropriations for more and more highways.

In the meantime, the urgent need for more mass transportation facilities in our cities and their bedrooms has been ignored until in some areas massive traffic breakdowns are a daily occurrence. Almost literally, it has become impossible for some cities to get their people to work on time in the morning.

Now there is hope. Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar has picked up the policy of his predecessor, John Volpe, and put the Nixon administration on record in favor of busting the hitherto inviolable — and notorious — Highway Trust Fund.

Brinegar wants the national legislature to authorize transfer of $1.1 billion from the fund and allot it to mass transit spending.

rapidly warming its relations with both Moscow and Peking, the U.S. is in a position to play one off against the other — "to divide the commies" as one high official puts it.

Washington's own advantage. This, any sudden indication that Mr. Nixon is playing games with one of the Communist powers at the expense of the other could act immediately to "de-stabilize" to use the vernacular of Nixon aides — U.S. relations' with the suspicious power.

It is precisely such "de-stabilization" — a possible byproduct of Kissinger's warring visit to Peking with no parallel visit to Moscow — that now worries top policymakers here.

Even without "de-stabilizing" the new harmony between Washington and Moscow, some experts here have been saying privately for months that the odds are at least 50-50 in favor of a Soviet strike against the growing Chinese nuclear arsenal.

If the Kremlin has actually pondered such a military strike, any hint that Washington and Peking were coming closer together, at Moscow's expense, would obviously make it more likely.

The analogy used here takes the form of a question: How would Washington policymakers react if Mexico were about to reach a second

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Sugar Low

Dear Dr. Thosteson I have all the symptoms of hypoglycemia. I have had a glucose tolerance test that was normal for the first three hours, then fell to 37 milligrams. My doctor told me to eat a candy bar when the symptoms appear.

I also stopped menstruating when I was 16. I have had tests of the pituitary and adrenal glands but they are apparently functioning.

I have had everything from psychiatric counseling to shock treatments with no help. I have been on tranquilizer which has helped, but when I stop taking it, the symptoms return. Do you think I have hypoglycemia?

Many a case of nerves, sudden weakness, jitters, blackouts and such symptoms has been traced to hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar.

It's a deceptive ailment, since it isn't continuous. It comes in sporadic periods when the blood sugar falls to too low a level, and sometimes when it falls too fast. That's a patient may feel all right most of the time, but still be plagued when these episodes occur.

That's why I recommend a six-hour sugar tolerance test for it. For three hours, or even longer, the sugar level may stay up — and many times later on. The reading of 37 in your case is a severe drop, and indicative of Hypoglycemia.

It is true that a candy bar (or other sugar) will bring relief immediately, but the trouble is that it affords no protection from the NEXT episode of low blood sugar. In fact, it may bring it on sooner.

The reason lies in the pancreas: the sugar incites the pancreas to release more insulin, which helps you use up sugar.

Some patients, trying to combat hypoglycemia, get on a sort of up-and-down roller coaster. They stop an attack with sugar, but bring on the next one sooner.

The goal is to find some way to prevent these attacks from occurring in the first place. The better idea is to eat more protein, which releases its sugar content more slowly and keep the level in the blood more constant, instead of permitting an abrupt dip. In some cases, between-meal snacks may be very helpful.

You'll find instructions on that in my booklet, "Help for Hypoglycemia (Low Blood Sugar)," and you can get the booklet by sending 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of Times News.

strike nuclear capability against the U.S.? That is precisely the chilling prospect in China which now confronts Moscow.

It is certainly not the administration's purpose to wage psychological warfare against Moscow by attempting to threaten intimacy with Peking at Moscow's expense. To the contrary, "de-stabilization" of relations with the Soviet Union is regarded with horror.

Thus, Kissinger's agenda in Peking is actually loaded with mundane items: admitting American newsmen routinely, more cultural exchanges, more trade and, most important, a U.S.-Chinese deal to help keep the peace in Southeast Asia.

That means seeking an agreement not to feed Hanoi weapons in the highly critical phase when the 60-day period covering the exit of all U.S. troops expires.

Kissinger was sent to Peking to make one other major point: contrary to critics convinced that Mr. Nixon's only purpose in the long Vietnam negotiations was to cover an "honorable" U.S. withdrawal, the President genuinely believes political stability can be established there — if China helps.

What he dimly perceives is postwar reconstruction for all Vietnam in which Peking will have a significant role along with Washington.

ART BUCHWALD

Stronger than Lek

WASHINGTON — "All right, students, let's have a little quiet in the classroom. Today we will discuss the American dollar and what has happened to it within the last week. Are there any questions?"

"What caused people abroad to lose faith in the American dollar?"

"There are many theories. One is that the Italian lira was in trouble, so Italians sold their lira and bought dollars with them. Then they took the dollars to Switzerland and sold them for Swiss francs.

The Swiss bankers were very perplexed about this, so they notified their Arab sheik oil clients that the Italians thought the dollar was in trouble.

"The Arab sheiks sold their dollars for German marks. Israel's intelligence picked this up and Israel started buying gold.

"Multinational companies such as IFT, General Motors and General Electric got wind of what the Israelis were up to and started dumping their dollars on the market in exchange for British pounds.

"The British, who couldn't understand why anyone would want British pounds, sold their dollars for French francs. The French, suspecting a trick, started buying Japanese yen.

"In order to keep their OWN money from being raised, the Germans and the Japanese had to keep buying American dollars.

"The situation got so serious that Germany and Japan told the United States that unless it did something about the dollar, they would both go to war with America again — and lose.

"This would be too much for the United States to take, so the President decided on a 10 percent devaluation of the dollar. Are there any other questions?"

"What is the advantage of devaluing the dollar?"

"We can sell our goods abroad which will cut down our balance-of-payments deficit. If our things are 10 percent cheaper, foreign people will buy them.

At the same time, it will cost 10 per cent more to buy things from abroad which will discourage Americans from purchasing imported items."

"But if we stop buying things from countries abroad, why will they buy anything from us?"

"That's a good question. Next?"

"Will the lack of confidence in the dollar have any effect on the American tourist?"

"Quite a bit. One day, if the dollar is doing well, you may be able to buy a bowl of soup. But if the dollar is doing badly, it's quite possible you may starve to death. I'd advise all tourists to carry a bag of diamonds with them, just in case no one abroad will cash their dollars."

"Why do Administration officials say that the devaluation of the dollar is a good thing?"

"What would you say if YOU had to break the news to the American people?"

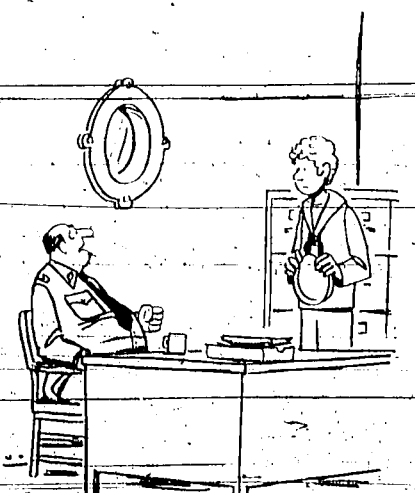

"Is the American dollar the weakest currency in the world?"

"No. It is still stronger than the Albanian lek, the Ceylonese rupee, the Burmese kyat, the Cambodian riel, the Tibetan sang, the Honduran lampira, the Iraqi dinar and the Laotian kip."

"When will the American dollar become strong again?"

"As soon as Germany and Japan WIN a war."

Nixon, labor nearing trade law compromise

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — President Nixon and organized labor may be nearing a compromise on trade legislation to curb imports in order to ease the nation's trade deficit and strengthen the recently devalued dollar.

The President met Monday with top union leaders to discuss, among other things, his proposals for flexible tariffs to limit imports that are hurting U.S. firms and destroying American jobs, and which produced a record $6.4 billion trade deficit last year.

Following the 40-minute meeting, AFL-CIO President George Meany said Nixon was taking a very practical approach to the trade question.

He said the labor federation might be willing to soften its insistence on the Burke-Hartke bill authorizing import quotas to protect American companies and jobs, placing limitations on overseas investments and putting heavier tax burdens on overseas income of U.S. firms.

"I think he wants an option to tell them (other nations) that if they lock out American products they are not going to be able to sell here in the United States," Meany told reporters.

Nixon's tariff proposal is a departure from his previous insistence on free trade and a move closer to labor's demand for protectionist legislation. But so far, the White House has given little detail on the plan and the President only skimmed over it in his meeting with the AFL-CIO Executive Council and 35 other union presidents in Miami Beach.

Meany provided some details which had been given him in a briefing in Miami Beach last week by Treasury Secretary George P. Schultz and Secretary of State William P. Rogers immediately after Nixon devalued the dollar by 10 per cent.

The White House considers labor support vital to passage of trade legislation.

Meany said Nixon wants authority to negotiate trade agreements with other nations, and have wide options to deal with trade problems, such as reciprocal trade agreements which have direct and indirect duties or barriers on American goods.

"He wants to negotiate with these countries with authority from Congress to apply different methods of negotiation, to block them off if they are blocking us off to impose countervailing duties if they are subsidizing (their industry), to stop dumping," Meany said.

Meany said the AFL-CIO would stick with its support of Burke-Hartke for the time being and make no decisions on whether to support the administration proposal until details of the bill are actually drafted and released.

TF cattleman defends current livestock prices

By ALVINE HARRIS
Twin Falls Cattleman

In the February 11, 1973 issue of the Times News, there was a partial survey of food prices in the Magic Valley and an inferred reason for these prices.

This inferred reason was that the farmer was getting rich and therefore the wholesaler had to raise his prices, in turn causing higher food prices.

After some research, which any interested consumer could do if he wanted to know the truth, I have come up with some rather interesting facts that show who is to blame for high food prices.

All these facts came from government reports, Times-News Articles, The Drivers' Journal, and the Idaho Cattleman's News Letter.

The figures on trucks, pickups and tractors came from local dealers. The poultry information came from our personal records.

Facts, all figures are based in 1951 to 1972 averages.

In 1951 an hours labor bought 1.7 pounds of beef.

In 1972 an hours labor bought 3.31 pounds of beef.

Food prices: Housing, 61 per cent, $1.40 per pound; Medical treatment, 128 per cent, $1.99 per pound; Transportation, 64 per cent, $1.49 per pound; Life Magazine, 400 per cent, $4.36 per pound; Average National wage (including agriculture), 136 per cent, $2.07 per pound; average National Wage, (excluding agriculture), 150 per cent, $2.19 per pound.

60-hp power tractor, 58 per cent, $1.50 per pound; Pickup, 118 per cent, $1.90 per pound; and 2-ton truck, 100 per cent, $1.75 per pound.

If we paid for meat at the percentage of increase we pay a doctor to deliver a baby today over 1951, we would pay $3.11 per pound.

It is important to pay the doctor for delivering new life, but don't you think the producer who supplies food to keep this new life going deserves a fair shake?

Here is another chart that shows cattle and hog prices from 1951 to 1972 and percentages of increase.

Cattle price, $29.69-33.40, 125 per cent; Hog price, $10.00-26.00, 30.00 percent; Average retail beef, price per pound, 87.38-114.30 1 per cent; average retail pork price per pound, 57.08-32.02, 12.2 per cent; and Disposable personal income per capita, $1,468-3,767, 150.0 per cent.

I sure wish the "on the hoof" price of cattle had increased the 30-1 per cent retail beef price had alone the 150 per cent per capita income figure, but no, just 12.5 per cent.

As for Mr. Bower's assumption, in the February 11th issue of Times-News, that the price of poultry is following beef up and is not due to feed cost increases and disease: It is pure BUNK.

Unvaccinated chicken cost 10 cents last year, this year because of New Castle and Merks Disease vaccination they cost us 23 cents a 22 per cent increase.

The mash to feed them has increased 20 per cent in the last eleven months.

The cost of Lay Mash for the layers has increased 37 per cent in the past seven months.

Mr. Bower should know what he is talking about before he speaks.

The consumer, of which I am one, is always complaining about the farmer getting rich and this is the reason for high food prices. The consumer, as the above percentages show, should realize that he is the one that is causing most of the high prices in this land.

Why? Because Mr. "Consumer" is also Mr. "Labor," and Mr. "Labor" is the one that is always striking, one way or another, for higher wages; which in turn causes prices to go up across the board to take care of the wage increases. One just as well realize that high wages and low prices do not fit in the same economic ball game.

Secretary Butz is quoted in the Jan. 28th Times-News as saying that farm food producers are expected to work for 20 per cent less than the rest of the population.

We as farmers do not want a 500 per cent or even a 50 per cent increase (even though either of these would be great). We would be happy with the 20 per cent Secretary Butz was talking about. That would give us only 32.5 per cent increase on cattle and approximately the same for other farm products over the same 20-year period.

I can't anyone really and truthfully say this is unfair or unreasonable.

Opinion

Of every dollar the shopper spends on meat, forty-seven cents of it goes for labor to prepare and sell it. At least thirty people are used in this area. They all expect, and should get, remuneration for their services, but they are consumers and every raise in pay they get adds to the prices of all food stuffs.

The following example is in approximations, but is sufficiently close to make the point.

We buy a 400-pound cow for $240, put about $65 of feed and doctor bills in it and sell it at 1,000 pounds for $334. This leaves about $30 gross profit.

Out of this we have to pay such things as labor, insurance, feed, machinery investment, interest and gas and oil. This makes a net profit of about $15 per head. This figure could go up to $35 depending on feed prices, etc.

Now with the OSHA and EPA standards to meet this will have to be taken from the $15 to $35 net profit, and yet the producer has to make enough to support his own family.

With friends like Dr. Bax, head of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health in Idaho, who says he does not care how much it costs us, or who it hurts, we are going to comply with standards; "WHO NEEDS ENFMIES???"

Watch the price of meat and every other food item rise.

Both the wholesaler and retailer should rightly receive 25 per cent each Gross Profit, in order to stay in business. With 50 per cent out for profit and 47 per cent out for labor this leaves only 3 per cent of the consumer dollar for the producer.

Here are some labor, and service increase percentages and their equivalents in terms of the 1951 average retail beef price:

Head meat cutter, 175 percent, $2.40 per pound; check-out clerk, 211 per cent, $2.72 per

Women's rights face key votes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The next few days may be crucial for the women's rights amendment to the Constitution.

Key votes were set in Vermont, today; Maine, Wednesday; and in Indiana and Washington in the near future.

The amendment has already passed the Vermont, Indiana and Washington houses, and approval in those states' Senates would push the number of states that have ratified it to 30—eight short of making it a part of the Constitution.

Observers say that if the Maine House approves—and the vote is expected to be close—the state Senate there would approve within the month.

Seven states have turned down the amendment in one or both chambers of their legislatures, and negative votes in five more states probably would kill it.

Connecticut, however, is scheduled to reconsider its rejection of the amendment sometime later in this session.

Georgia and Ohio house committees are holding hearings now. The amendment is not believed to have a chance in Georgia, and a noy vote is not likely in Ohio for several weeks.

The Florida legislature will take up the amendment in a regular session April 2. Gov. Reubin Askew included it on the agenda of a special session last fall but withdrew it when controversy arose.

The sharp opposition to the amendment that has developed this year under the leadership of Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, a conservative Illinois Republican leader, caught advocates by surprise.

But they regrouped during conventions of the National Women's Political Caucus in Houston, 10 days ago and the National Organization for Women (NOW) in Washington this weekend, but whether their renewed efforts will be enough remained to be seen.

The vote in the Senate in Washington was described as "tiffy" in Indiana "50-50," and in the Maine House "close." In Vermont, the House ratified by a vote of 120-28; the Senate Judiciary Committee approved by a 5-1 vote, and Gov. Thomas P. Salmon favors the amendment.

Solons hear testimony on reporter protection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee was urged today to approve legislation that would shield reporters from forced testimony about confidential sources before state and federal courts; grand juries and other governmental authorities.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and two newsmen representing the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, warned that protection was urgently needed to maintain the flow of "inside" information to the news media.

"The press in America must be able to protect its sources so as to continue to expose corruption and lawlessness in high places, in and out of government," Cranston said in a prepared statement.

"The subcommittee on constitutional rights intends to call more than three dozen witnesses during six days of hearings. Testimony was expected from many members of Congress, news media executives and reporters and government officials including Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst.

The so-called absolute privilege legislation introduced by Cranston and others in the House and Senate is strongly backed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association and broadcast media groups.

2 antibusing factions call names, pull hair

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — A meeting between two feuding antibusing organizations Monday night erupted into a name-calling, hair-pulling melee.

The fight was between opposing factions of the National Action Group (NAG)—one faction led by Irene McCabe of Pontiac and the other by Barbara Coleman of Dearborn.

Mrs. McCabe, generally acknowledged as the founder of the antibusing movement in Detroit's suburbs, was jeered by Coleman forces when she took the podium at a meeting room in the Satellite Bowling Alley.

She said that she sent a special delivery letter Jan. 21 declaring Mrs. Coleman's NAG group "null and void" because she got repeated complaints from antibusing mothers in Dearborn that Mrs. Coleman was not properly representing the antibusing movement.

"I had complaints from her entire chapter board that the chapter was falling apart," Mrs. McCabe said. "I didn't act on it right away because everyone has their problems."

When Mrs. Coleman stood up to defend herself, a man, Joe Crawford of Wyandotte, called the Coleman forces "heathens." A defender of Mrs. Coleman, Linda Van Steelsing, of Redford, jumped up and said, "It's better than being a liar and a cheat like her (Mrs. McCabe)."

At that point, Crawford's wife Ann made a bee line for Mrs. Van Steelsing but was waylaid by two men and Olivia Shtatis of Redford Township, who pushed Mrs. Crawford against the wall and ripped off her wig. Mrs. McCabe left the room about the same time.

Demos split over Gray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic leadership of the Senate has split over the confirmation of L. Patrick Gray III as director of the FBI.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Monday that he is likely to support Gray, but Democratic whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia charged in a floor speech that Gray has been "openly partisan" since he has been acting director.

Byrd said for a half century U. Edgar Hoover "maintained meticulous nonpartisanship" in his duties as FBI director.

That Gray was a poor administrator, spent too much time out of Washington, and in his "most publicized decision," was accused of publicized decision," was accused of endangering lives by ordering FBI agents to shoot out the tires of a hijacked airliner as it was taking off.

Byrd is a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee which will conduct hearings on the Gray nomination and make a recommendation.

"Considering the vast intelligence network that is under the control of the FBI, with thousands of computerized dossiers gathered by the FBI, it is obvious that the FBI can reach so far into the lives of all Americans that no administration—Democratic or Republican—should have direct political control of that agency through a compliant and politicized director," Byrd said.

House GOP passes Gem commission

BOISE (UPI) — House Republicans used their majority muscle to pass 45-24 Monday a bill creating a 14-member governmental reorganization commission weighted in their favor 8-6.

While the votes for the bill were predominantly Republican there were some cross-overs. Reps. Wayne Tibbitts, R-Lorenzo; Paul Worthen, R-Boise; C. L. (Butch) Otter, R-Caldwell; Carroll Dean, R-Notus; and James Elgin, R-Caldwell, voted against it.

Rep. Lester Hartvigsen, D-Malad, cast the lone Democratic vote for the proposal.

Tibbitts told the house in advance he would vote against the measure — saying he opposed it in the last campaign and that all four counties he represents voted against proposed reorganization.

He referred to a constitutional amendment ratified by the people last Nov. 7 requiring the legislature to reorganize the executive branch into no more than 20 agencies by Jan. 1, 1975.

None of the other cross-overs explained their reasons on the floor.

Minority Leader Melvin Hammond, D-Rexburg, opened the attack on the bill calling the political composition of it a "political thing."

He said reorganization was proposed as a non-partisan move to strengthen government and to do it objectively requires a non-partisan approach.

Refusal OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee gave its initial approval today to a proposal giving hospitals and medical personnel the right to refuse to perform sterilization operations.

The committee agreed to have the measure printed and brought back to its members for further consideration.

Its provisions include allowing hospitals to refuse to use its facilities for such operations, and permits its staff similar refusal if against their religious or moral convictions.

Lie test bill to House floor

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation to prohibit the detector tests as a condition of employment or continued employment moved a step further in the lawmaking process Monday.

The House State Affairs Committee sent the bill to the floor with a recommendation it be amended to exclude governmental employees.

Robert Mac Parlone, state president of the AFL-CIO, said the amendment was suggested because of the needs of law enforcement agencies.

Mac Parlone urged the committee to consider the bill seriously, saying he felt such test requirements are an invasion of personal privacy.

highways. Several members questioned whether the bill specifically makes such actions unlawful and subject to penalty.

They did send to the floor with approval a concurrent resolution calling for an interim study by the Legislative Council of public employee bargaining.

Also sent out with "do pass" recommendation was a bill establishing petition procedures for local table wine elections.

Merger bill passes House

BOISE (UPI) — After a one-hour, 20-minute debate, the House approved 49-20 and sent to the Senate Monday a bill to merge the departments of health and welfare into a single agency.

Chairman Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, of the health and welfare committee steered the measure to passage, telling the House it will save $300,000 in expenditures and attract $2.25 million more in federal aid.

In addition to merging the two departments the bill also puts the Youth Training Center at St. Anthony under control of the surviving agency.

The Department of Environmental and Community Services.

Approval of the bill marks the second time the proposed merger has reached the House floor. The first bill, suggested by the administration, ran into heavy fire and was pulled back into committee for redrafting.

A new bill — this one — rep. John Rendon, R-Boise, opened attack on the new bill. He suggested the House kill it and then put the matter into the interim commission to be appointed to undertake governmental reorganization.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, sent portions of a letter that he received from Dr. James A. Bax, administrator of the present Department of Environmental Protection and Health.

Stream bill due

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Resource and Environment Committee approved Monday for introduction a bill which would make changes in the Idaho Stream Protection Law.

Proponents of the measure said the changes were "compromises," while opponents said it would strip the act of its powers.

The introduction came when the full committee accepted the draft of a bill by a subcommittee, which worked for two weeks at sorting out proposed amendments to the law.

Sen. David Bivens, R-Payette, said the bill "is close to getting the compromise desired."

But Sen. Robert Kinghorn, D-Pocatello, said, "This goes too far. We don't have much of a Stream Protection Law left."

An effort to hold the bill until the Director of the Department of Water Administration, Keith Higginson, had a chance to review it, failed. Higginson, who administers the law, was away from Boise Monday.

Gem fire marshal proposal passes

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate Monday passed over scattered opposition a bill to create a State Fire Marshal's Office in the Department of Labor.

But later in the day, Sen. Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise, put the Senate on notice that he may call for reconsideration of the measure today.

The measure passed the Senate 16-17.

Sen. A. L. White, D-Orofino, who carried the measure, told the Senate that presently there is no centralized statistical center to collect information concerning fires in the state.

White said a fire marshal could collect the information and make inspection of businesses and other facilities in the state, thus decreasing the loss of life and property due to fires.

Sen. David Bivens, R-Payette, said the fire marshal's office would turn into another "super-agency," and the proposed $30,940 budget for the first year would increase into a $300,000 budget in the coming years.

"We ought to go slow when creating another agency," Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, said.

But Sen. John Evans, D-Malad, said there is a need for a fire marshal in the rural areas of the state because the smaller towns do not have people trained in fire prevention and arson.

Under the plan, White said, the State Fire Marshal would utilize deputy sheriffs and fire chiefs as deputy fire marshals, thus cutting the cost of operating a State Fire Marshal's Office.

Riot bills approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate passed two measures Monday which would allow employees at the State Penitentiary to handle disturbances by inmates.

Under present law the sheriff's department is called when there is a disturbance at the prison, located on the outskirts of Boise.

One of the measures would allow correctional officers at the prison to be designated police officers, while the other measure would allow the director of the State Board of Corrections to suppress all emergencies at the institution.

SB1101, which passed 24-2, would also extend the director's power to all facilities maintained by the Board of Corrections.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS—Mini-reviews have been released by Twin Falls Public Library officials for some of the new books recently received at the library.

"Only Two Can Play This Game" by John Galsworthy. A love story that is representative of the new awareness that is revitalizing content and form in contemporary expression.

"Black Writers of America" by Richard Barksdale. A comprehensive collection of Afro-American literature from the 18th Century beginnings to present time.

"Augustus" by John Williams Jones. We see Augustus as his daughter, Julia, the love goddess, saw him. In the end we perceive this rather withdrawn man as he saw himself.

"Josh" by Ivan Southall. A description of a boy's struggle to survive in a world whose rules he does not understand. It is rich in humor and peopled with unforgettable characters.

"As Long As The Rivers Run" by Sam J. Slate. This is the story of a little known episode in the American history; the attempt to establish their own nation within (and as a part of) the United States.

"The Battle of Torpedo Boats" by Bryan Casper. The stories of their battles whether waged by the Allies or by the Axis powers are filled with drama.

"Cover Up" by Seymour Hersh. This ultimately is not a book about a missile and its aftermath, but goes beyond My Lai 4 to deal with the army as an institution which makes such events inevitable.

"Van Gogh" by Pierre Cabanne. The author traces the various stages of the artistic development of Van Gogh's life.

Widely illustrated with a broad range of Van Gogh's paintings, including some that are little known.

Heat oil, add garlic, onion, celery, basil and oregano. Cook until brown. Add tomato paste and three cans water. Add salt and pepper and ground beef. Cook for two or three hours over very low heat. Add a little water if it gets too thick.

Cook spaghetti in salted boiling water for about 10 minutes, or until tender. Place cooked spaghetti on platter, cover with sauce and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese.

'Splinter Bid' Slam Force

Blackwood, North shows two aces and South wants to be in seven provided North can produce the queen of hearts as part of his hand.

An old gadget invented by Ely Culbertson back in the thirties, plus some modern improvements make it possible to ask about that card.

South's six-diamond call is the grand slam force and tells North to bid seven with two of the three top honors in hearts. Needless to say, North complies with the request.

Seven makes easily. South wins the spade lead; plays three rounds of trumps and shows his hand, explaining that he will ruff one diamond and discard two others on clubs.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

ACCORD SYSTEM

Here we have the same North hand as shown yesterday but a stronger South hand. The bidding starts the same way with North bidding the splinter three diamonds to show his very strong heart support.

This time South is in no hurry. North has forced to game so South simply bids three hearts to make sure that there will be no problem about the right suit.

North has shown his strength and simply continues to game. For all he knows, South may have a hand.

Now South erupts in to

DELIGHTFUL DIETING

By Mary Sue Miller
(Second in a series of five columns on how to Take It All Off)

You can lose two pounds a week up to 20 pounds before spring wardrobe time by adjusting your intake to about 1200 calories daily. But it is not done by slipshod or faddy methods. For instance, you must not cut out your food.

bread, let's say, but you must cut down on all such fattening items. Unless a reducer's program is safe and sane, hunger pangs, fatigue and lowered resistance will pursue her until she falls by the wayside.

These horrors are prevented by the simple expedient of using correctly balanced, nutritious and satisfying menus. Try those below and see for yourself.

The luncheon and dinner menus listed together should be used on the same day for calorie and nutrient reasons. Allowance—200 calories for breakfast and 178 for skim milk—a day's total hovers around 1100 calories.

1) Lunch: Cup-beef bouillon; broiled, lean hamburger patty; 1/2 slice Bermuda onion and tomato; raw apple. Dinner: Appetizer, mixed green salad with diet-e's Italian dressing; 1/2 baked chicken breast; 1/2 cup brown rice, dressed with skimmed chicken essence; 1 head steamed broccoli; lemon garish; 1/2 cup vanilla ice milk. 2) Lunch: Beef frankfurter on toasted roll; cupped sauerkraut. Dinner: Five shrimp, cocktail sauce; vegetable plate with poached egg, carrots, beets, baby onions, broiled mushrooms; wedge hard cheese, two crackers. Note: Cold or hot beverage at lunch, demitasse at dinner; between meals 1/2 pt. skim milk per day.

Delightful, as we promised. Better chip column for reference.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just read about the married woman whose girl friend found an ideal husband thru Parents Without Partners, and she was so envious she wanted to try for a new one herself.

A warning: Parents Without Partners is a well-meaning organization but some married men go as guests of members and have a field-day with the single ladies. I know this for a fact as my own husband admitted he has attended meetings in three states. Several women fell for his line only to find out later that he used an assumed name and is very much married. He told one lady his wife was killed in a car crash. Another one he told he was divorced. The last one he told he was never married.

I rang up our local P. W. P. and told them to watch out for my husband, and they thanked me. Now he is barred.

I am thinking about looking for a new mate myself, but I sure wouldn't try P. W. P. My husband told me if all the married men dropped out, they'd fold up.

PHOENIX

Husband's field day

DEAR PHOENIX: Liars can be found everywhere, and P. W. P. is no exception. However, character references, which are carefully checked, are required for membership. P. W. P. is neither a lonely-hearts club nor a dating bureau, but they have much to offer the single parent.

Let's hear it from a member.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a member of Parents Without Partners for three years, and I wish more people knew what this wonderful organization IS—and what it IS NOT!

First of all, it is NOT a "lonely-hearts club," or a "husband hunting" ground. Only about 10 per cent of the members marry someone they have met in the organization. I have watched many men and women come and go, bitter and disillusioned because they have joined P. W. P. to find a mate.

I joined this group for my children. So we could go places and do things with others in the same boat. This is the good that P. W. P. does that no one ever talks about. They have fantastic group discussions concerning problems from raising children to divorce, to dating, to marriage. They have family outings, picnics, plays, and camp-outs, and all the work in this group is strictly on a volunteer basis.

The purpose of this organization is to teach serious-minded people how to raise a family without a partner. And when they learn that, they are ready to look for one.

I am sorry to say that not many stick around long enough to gain all the benefits because when they don't find another partner right away, they leave the organization to "hunt" in other places.

P. W. P. has taught me how to battle loneliness; how to stand on my own two feet and raise a family without a partner in a marriage-oriented society.

MOTHER OF THREE
DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I received a most unusual Christmas present from a cousin with whom I have exchanged Christmas gifts for many years. It was a note which read:

"Dear Bill: You have owed me $20 since June 1964, so instead of buying you a Christmas present this year, I am marking your bill 'PAID IN FULL' . . . Season's greetings, Your loving Cousin, Joe"

Abby, what do you think of a guy like that!

BURNING IN BRADENTON

DEAR BURNING: I think cousin Joe is more practical than sentimental.

Problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest!

Utah airman 'resurrected'

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — "I feel that I have spent six years in hell and that I have been resurrected and I'm going to start a new life..."

So said Air Force Maj. Jay R. Jensen, 42, of Sandy, Utah, one of six American prisoners of war who met today with newsmen — less than 24 hours after they had arrived on their "Freedom Flight" from Hanoi.

The six men expressed their thoughts as they met in a small room in a building next to the hospital where they are staying. The men appeared calm, alert, very healthy and with a keen sense of humor.

"Some of the guys became real comedians — they would make a fool of themselves just to make the guys laugh," said Air Force Capt. Edward J. Mechniebler, 30, of Dayton, Ohio.

Navy Cmdr. James G. Pirie, 37, of Birmingham, Ala. said "Last night was my first time with a knife and fork in six years. I didn't have any trouble."

Other comments included: "We did compare notes on the women we'd like to marry...you know, things like a nice figure, cute face, not a Hollywood type but preferably blonde and athletic with some intelligence. A girl socially adept. Tell her to call me," said Air Force Capt. Michael C. Lane, 30, of New Haven, Conn.

Air Force Capt. Herbert B. Ringsdorf, 32, of Elba, Ala., said, "I have decided there is no way I can catch up on six years in just a few months, so I won't even try to make a concentrated effort on that. I'll just let it go along to me."

Ringsdorf said he had just had a tooth pulled before being interviewed. "That thing had been bothering me for two years and I wanted to get it over with right away," he said.

Pirie said that when he called his wife shortly after his arrival she "said she had millions of things to say but she couldn't think of anything."

Jensen, who sported a neatly trimmed moustache, was asked whether he was fully informed on anti-war activity in the United States.

"We know that there has been a lot of controversy, a lot of mixed emotions and feelings over the war, and we plan on not making a decision upon this," he said. "Of course, we were for the war to begin with and as far as we know we're still for the war and until we have been proved otherwise, we're not going to change our minds."

"But we are going to look into the history of what's happened since we've been shot down very closely," he added.

Air Force Capt. Kevin J. McManus, 30, of Falls Church, Va., said he and his wife Mary Jane were together for only four days after they were married. He was shot down three months later and hasn't seen or talked with his wife since.

"She never cooked me a cup of coffee," he said. He said that when he called her they spent most of the time on the phone laughing over a disagreement that they had when he volunteered for a second overseas tour in the Indochina theater. "She was so furious that she took off her wedding ring and put it on the piano," McManus said.

McManus and Mechniebler were classmates at the Air Force Academy, they served in England together, they were shot down together while flying a two-man F4 Phantom jet, and they were released on the same day.

"We can't get rid of each other," McManus said. "We've been together so long."

Jensen commented on the spirit of the group of 20 men who were imprisoned together. "There is certainly an esprit and a bond that will bind us together for a long time," he said. "However, our immediate plans are to get as far away from each other as possible. We know each other even better than our wives do."

He's free man again

"THUMBS-UP" SIGN is given by Navy Lt. Cmdr. Joseph C. Plumb, Mission, Kan., to Vice Adm. Damon S. Cooper on Plumb's arrival at Clark Air Base, Philippines, on Sunday after almost six years as prisoner of war in North Vietnam. Plumb was shot down May 19, 1967. (UPI)

Proxmire charges report 'whitewash'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Monday with attempting to "whitewash" the results of French studies showing that DES implanted beef adversely affects the reproductive cycle.

DES, short for diethylstilbestrol, has been prohibited by the FDA for use in animal feeds for fattening purposes, although Proxmire said it can still be used as an ear implant for fattening cattle. The FDA said DES may cause cancer.

Proxmire, in a statement, said 1971 and 1972 French studies indicate that a feed containing 20-per cent of the flesh of calves implanted with DES rendered adult female rats sterile.

Proxmire said he asked the FDA to verify the French studies.

"Although the agency admitted that the Canadian government was taking pains to verify the French studies after having banned implant use, the FDA made it clear that they had no interest in doing the same," Proxmire said.

"The FDA reply indicated that the French tests were not relevant to implant use as sanctioned in the United States because the restrictions are more stringent in this country," Proxmire said.

"This simply means that if present testing techniques discover no residues of DES in implanted slaughtered animals implants will continue to be used," Proxmire said.

Persons who were born in a foreign country and who claim United States citizenship through a parent or parents and want a determination of the matter should also submit applications. They are available from the same offices.

US drug control asked by Wisconsin senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., believes there is a vast overuse of drugs in the United States and that there should be sweeping reforms to give the federal government control over all testing and advertising of medicinal drugs.

Nelson, a leading congressional authority on drug laws, said Sunday he advocated reforms "to protect the American people against poorly tested, unsafe, ineffective, improperly used and monopolistically-priced drugs."

As chairman of the Senate Small Business Monopoly subcommittee, Nelson has held extensive hearings on prescription and nonprescription drugs.

He said he would offer his reforms in seven bills to amend the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. His proposals would:

- Require the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to approve in advance all advertising and require drug salesmen to present an FDA-approved document about a drug before making a sales pitch.
- Provide for publication of a list of all drugs available in the United States, identifying them both by generic and brand names, and accompanied by related information such as side effects and costs.
- Give HEW authority to require batch-by-batch certification of all drugs on strength, quality, purity and tests.
- Prohibit distribution of sample drugs without the written request of the physician.

Prison funds granted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has made a $250,000 award to the Idaho Department of Correction for building a modern penal complex.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said the fund is the balance of the LEAA commitment of $500,000 which has been matched with $250,000 in state funds and $84,500 in fiscal 1972 funds to help build the new complex. It is to include a medical-dental clinic and a multi-purpose building.

Hansen also announced a $250,000 planning grant was approved for the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission. The funds, he said, may be used for improving elements of the criminal justice system.

Mercy recommended

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Jacob Javits says draft evaders are "guilty and deserve punishment," but thinks a federal court or agency should be set up to consider individual appeals and temper justice "with mercy."

Speaking in a televised interview Sunday, Javits said, "There's no condoning the evading of service. We cannot accept the idea that any citizen can opt out of any war he wants."

He added, however, that evaders should get "justice tempered with mercy."

Later, Javits said his office was drafting a proposal that would establish an appeals court to hear pleas for amnesty. However, the President himself would have to approve any favorable decisions made by the court.

board that it should answer the interrogatory or send a representative to the Boise hearing.

In an unusual development, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Kelly of Jerome appeared before the board to request that the board take action against CSI's academic dean.

The Kellys alleged that CSI academic dean Paul T. Smith had "dive-bombed" their house in a plane on more than one occasion.

After heated argument, chairman Hepworth told the couple that the board was not the proper agent to hear the complaint. He suggested they file a complaint with the Federal Aviation Agency or other appropriate body. Hepworth said he had talked to Smith and that Smith denied the incidents.

In other action Monday night, the CSI board informally agreed to a request from the Times-News that CSI records be made available to the press.

President Taylor told the board he had refused a Times-News reporter's request for information related to the HRC case because of the coming hearing which placed CSI in a sense "on trial."

Taylor told the board he had not intended to inhibit the freedom of the press in refusing the information.

"If I have been in error in refusing the requests of... (the reporter) I stand to be corrected by this board," Taylor said.

Board Chairman John C. Hepworth told Times-News managing editor Richard G. High that he felt sure the newspaper's intent was not to disturb the functioning of the college.

After some discussion board member Rev. John N. Garrabrandt said "I would move that the president be made the director for public information and public relations officer for the college." The board approved Garrabrandt's motion. President Taylor then asked the board jokingly if his new positions were salaried.

Chairman Hepworth asked that requests for information be directed to Taylor.

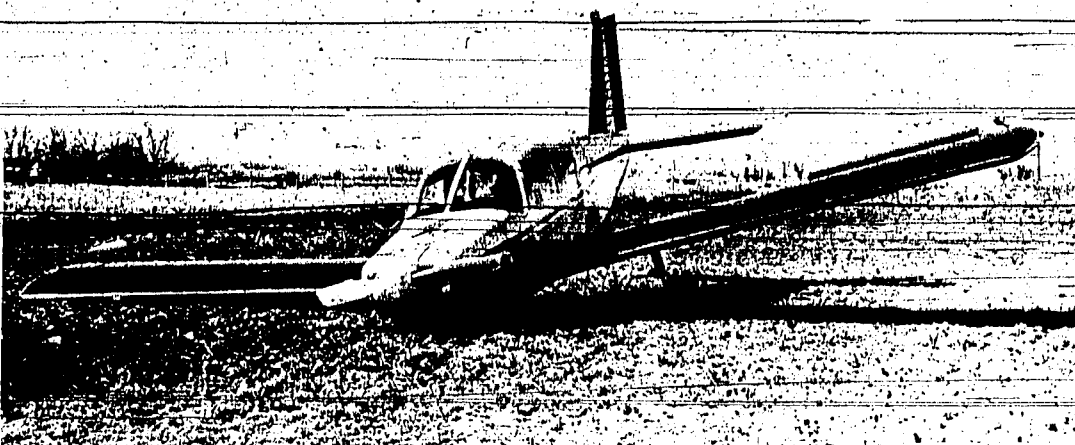

"He's the clearing house for you, Dick," Hepworth said, "and he will cooperate within reason."

In other action, Rev. Garrabrandt asked that the previous minutes be amended to show one dissenting vote in the request for resignation of former assistant business manager Lloyd LeClair. The request was approved.

The board also heard a presentation from student body president Kit Christensen on a recent student evaluation of faculty. Board member Robert S. Blastock Jr. commended Christensen for the effort.

"Your knowledge should be passed on. You have done a lot of work. I'm impressed with it," Blastock told the student body president.

In his report, Taylor told the board he was pleased with his recent reception before

Pilot walks away unhurt from Jerome crash

Pilot not hurt in plane crash

JEROME — The pilot of a light plane which crashed into a field east of Jerome Monday walked away unhurt.

Jerome County Sheriff Eliza Hall said Jim Clay, an out of state pilot was flying a single engine Cherokee 235 Piper experienced engine trouble as he was passing over Jerome, enroute to Washington. He requested permission to make an emergency landing at the Jerome airport. He was in the process of making his landing, the sheriff said, when the engine threw a rod and he went down a few yards short of the runway. Clay landed his plane in a field on the Heiss Charolais ranch. The officer said he had made a perfect landing until he hit a small irrigation ditch which flipped the plane on its nose and resulted in extensive damage to the landing gear.

Course set

TWIN FALLS — The third in a 20-session course in intensive care nursing will be Wednesday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital auditorium.

A discussion on respiration, resuscitation and blood-gases will be presented by Dr. Harold Wiedemann, hospital anesthesiologist, followed by a demonstration of inhalation therapy equipment by George Burger, registered inhalation therapist, Boise.

In addition to nurses enrolled in the course interested registered and practical nurses are welcome to attend.

Fire destroys Jerome home

JEROME — Fire destroyed a home on East Avenue in Jerome late Monday.

The Jerome Rural Fire Department battled the blaze for over two hours before declaring it out. Exact cause of the fire is unknown but firemen said some wiring on the north side of the building may have been the cause.

Heavy winds at the time whipped flames to the driveway where a motorcycle was parked. It also burned but was extinguished before it exploded.

Officers said traffic jams caused by onlookers and firemen's private vehicles resulted in a tie up which prevented power and gas from members from reaching the fire for 15 minutes.

The home was owned by a Jerome woman and it was rented to Dale Perme. The Perme family lost all of their furniture and possessions in the fire. The house was a small frame one story building. The family was at home when the fire started but it spread too rapidly for them to remove furnishings, firemen said.

Cassia plans Malta project

BURLEY — The Cassia School District has applied for federal funding of an "experimental education project" in Malta.

Assistant Supt. Norman Hurst told Cassia trustees Monday night the project is to build the "self concept" of students. He said parents, counselors, teachers and students will work as a team in a community effort to promote the students' understanding of themselves and their roles in society.

The project is still in the planning stage, he said, but has gained preliminary approval for the first year funding. The first year's program would be in Malta and during a three-year period it would expand to Burley and the entire district, Hurst said.

It would be financed under Title III, Elementary and Secondary Education Act. A school psychiatrist and social worker would be hired, Hurst said.

Calvin Heiner met with the trustees to question their 1972 budget and levy. He said the district budgeted $1.05 million but adopted a levy to bring in $1.27 million.

"If you need $1.27 million, you should budget for it and sell the budget to the taxpayers," he said.

School finance director Matt Warr said it is difficult to budget for the exact amount to be received through levies and state funding as the budget is set in April, state funding announced in October and levies set in November. No action was taken.

Heiner said projected funding should not affect a budget. The budget should reflect the district's actual needs and not the amount of revenue the district expects to receive.

Ketchum approves license

KETCHUM — The Ketchum City Council conducted an unusually brief meeting Monday night.

Approved was a beer and wine license for John Davidson, River Street, contingent on his receipt of a building permit for a restaurant.

Action was postponed until March 5 on bids for city insurance for the year.

Anderson-Blake Insurance, Twin Falls, presented a bid of $3,357 during the meeting to insure city facilities, equipment and personnel at the present coverage, with an added $1 million liability umbrella.

Overdose cause of Blaine death

KETCHUM — Apparent heroin overdose with complications has been ruled in the January death of Joseph J. Rino, 24, Ketchum.

Blaine County Coroner Bruce Rathke made the ruling Monday after receipt of autopsy and laboratory test results taken in the case.

On the evening of Jan. 4, Rino was found unconscious at

Blaine adds 1 officer

KETCHUM — The Ketchum Police Department has been increased to six officers.

According to Ketchum Police Chief Dennis Haynes, the addition of one officer to the previously five man department, was necessitated by an increased work load and a greater number of calls handled by the department.

The new officer, Bill Sanders, has been a Mountain Home Police Department officer for the past two years and, prior to that time, worked at the Idaho State Penitentiary, Boise.

He has graduated from the Peace Officer's Standards and Training Academy and holds a basic peace officer's certificate.

Gooding 4-H delegate set

GOODING — Sandy Mohwinkle has been selected to attend the national 4-H Congress in Washington, D.C., next month.

Miss Mohwinkle, a senior at Gooding High School, won the honor through her work on a horse project with the Gooding 4-H Club. She had previously won an award in 1972 for the most outstanding 4-H horse project in Gooding County.

Miss Mohwinkle is active in the Gooding High School drill team and the Rodeo Club, among other activities.

'Death' penalty studied

BOISE (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee reported to the floor without recommendation Monday legislation to require imposition of the death penalty upon conviction of first-degree murder.

Designed to fill the breach created by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling outlawing the death penalty in certain instances, the measure should come up for a vote by about mid-week.

As written, the bill requires prosecution on a charge of first-degree murder of anyone accused of murder while under sentence for murder.

This could bring about the death of a killer, upon conviction, who kills while in prison for murder.

Meantime, the committee voted to introduce legislation requiring insurance companies to offer up to $100,000-$300,000 for bodily injury or death in any one accident and up to $50,000 for property damage in any one accident for uninsured motorists.

The committee introduced a memorial asking congress to amend the constitution so that the several states have the right to regulate abortions and a concurrent resolution welcoming home Idaho's Vietnamese prisoners of war.

But the committee decided to look into a possible interim study before taking further action on a bill providing for only temporary severance of the parent-child relationship when the parent is mentally ill or mentally incompetent.

Social workers testified against the bill at a hearing — saying they felt it would be detrimental to the rights of the child.

Rep. Wayne Lovelace, D-Pocatello, principal proponent of the measure, said he wants to stop permanent termination because of the "liberal" way the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services is construing the law today.

No exemption?

BOISE (UPI) — If the Boise Elks Lodge loses its property tax exemption, the fraternity will have to curtail funds it spends on charity programs in the community, says Exalted Ruler R. Harold Jamison.

"The organization contributes $30,000 per year to such programs as the Elks' Rehabilitation Hospital, care and entertainment of veterans and youth programs, said Jamison, "regardless of race, color, creed or national origin."

Legislation now in the Idaho Senate would remove the tax exempt status of the Elks Lodge in Idaho.

State Attorney General W. Anthony Park recently ruled that fraternal organizations which practice race discrimination in membership may not be exempt from paying property income or sales tax.

Jamison said the Lodge pays taxes on all rental property, but takes exemptions on space actually used for nonprofit activity.

Senate defeats 1 of 14 bills

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate, returning from a day off Sunday, dealt with 14 bills Monday and defeated only one of them.

The defeated measure would have allowed juveniles arrested of drunken driving the right to decide if they should be treated as adults or juveniles.

Although the measure was defeated 12-20, Sen. Phil Batt, R-Wilder, Senate Majority Leader, told the Senate he may call for reconsideration Tuesday.

A House bill authorizing cities to issue revenue bonds for water and sewerage systems and repaying them solely from the service rendered passed the Senate 27-0. Some of the other measures which passed the Senate were:

A House bill to provide school district employees with one day a month sick leave each month rather than eight days a year.

A measure which provides a procedure for summary administration of an estate in which a surviving spouse is the sole beneficiary.

A measure which creates the Idaho Training Facilities Authority as an independent public body with the authority to issue bonds, borrow money and invest in other governmental obligations.

TF County Courthouse repairs under way, completion soon

TWIN FALLS — Repairs to the water-damaged Twin Falls County Courthouse should be completed by the end of the month, according to insurance adjuster Larry Stonely.

The courthouse was extensively damaged Nov. 4 after two juvenile inmates in the fourth floor jail ripped up plumbing in their cell, rupturing a water line which leaked for two hours before being spotted.

The juveniles used pipes from the ripped up plumbing to bore through the back wall of their cell and escape. They have since been recaptured.

Damage to the courthouse occurred on all four floors with only minor damage to the second floor. On the fourth story wooden floors were buckled and swollen by water which stood an inch deep for most of a day. Walls and ceilings in the parade offices on the third floor were cracked and peeling and floor tile was also loosened.

On the ground level, offices of the county commissioners suffered damage to walls and ceilings.

Stonely said Friday that total costs for repairs would probably reach about $4,500. According to county commission chairman William Chaney, a contract for $2,420 was let to Bartlett Bros. Painting for repair of walls and ceilings.

Stonely, adjuster for GAB Inc., Twin Falls, said work remaining to be done includes refinishing ceilings in the commissioners' offices and replacement of floor coverings in the third floor probation officers' suite.

Stonely said paint sticking to walls and ceilings has been a problem, particularly in the commissioners' offices. "When the courthouse was built," said Stonely, "they put calcimine over plaster and it's hard to refinish with modern materials."

Paint applied to the commissioners' offices did peel in some spots, Stonely said, and the work is being redone. Stonely said the necessity to redo work in the commissioners' offices was not the result of poor workmanship. "When you get an old building like this, you just have to try to see what will work. Sometimes, you have to try again."

Stonely said he thought on the whole the courthouse was quite well built. While he thought there were difficulties making the original materials compatible with modern materials, he said the building is "not in bad shape."

The amount of water in ceilings, walls and floor acted to delay some repairs, Stonely said, until it had dried out. He said a bid had not been let on floor coverings in the third floor probation offices.

He said bidders have been asked to recommend materials and methods for repair of floors before carpeting. However, he added it has not been determined whether carpeting, linoleum or tile will be used in the repair.

Arnie's army can celebrate now that leader posts win with help of glasses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Putts no longer go astray now that Arnold Palmer is wearing glasses. Palmer, without a victory on the pro golf tour for 18 months, finally evoked that old victory yell from "Arnie's Army" when he won the Bob Hope Classic on Feb. 11. It was a long time coming, about as long as it took Palmer to get adjusted to wearing glasses. "My estimate of distance is much better today," Palmer says, "and I went back to my old putting style because I can read the greens easily and gauge that line between ball and cup. The Bob Hope win was very encouraging and has added zip to my outlook. For a while, I began wondering when I would ever win another tournament. And the harder you try, the more you press."

nations and a doctor suggested he wear corrective glasses to help him measure distances. Palmer opted for contact lens for minimum obstruction, but later decided to wear regular glasses or contacts as the occasion warrants. "No question, the glasses are helping me," Palmer said. "I wasn't avoiding wearing them because of pride, they just were a nuisance. During bad weather, glasses tend to fog up. I finally tried the wrap-around type, but the body heat simply mists them just when you're ready to swing for distance." Palmer admits the gap between his Westchester Classic triumph in July, 1971, and the victory in California earlier this month "takes a lot out of you. You wonder if you're washed up at 43 and should you quit right now. It was beginning to bug me. But now the mail is arriving in bag loads and those days of woe have turned into something joyful."

Tennessee slips by Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Eddie Voelker scored a layup on a steal with eight seconds remaining Monday night to give the Tennessee Volunteers an 87-83 victory over Southeastern Conference rival Florida. Until the steal, the Gators had a good chance for at least a tie to send the game into overtime. Florida had controlled a tip with 57 seconds left to play and was trying to slow the pace for a sure basket. On a pass from Mike Letterman to Chip Williams, Voelker—who had just entered the game—swiped the ball, going in for an uncontested layup. It was the only basket Voelker scored. Len Kosmalki hit two free throws with no time left to tie the victory for the league-leading Vols. "The Vols had taken a 43-39 halftime lead on the shooting of John Snow, who finished with a game-high of 25 points. He hit for 12 in the first half."

Hoosiers post 75-65 victory

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana took the lead for good on a five-point play and posted a 75-65 Big Ten basketball win over Michigan State Monday night, keeping the Hoosiers in the thick of the conference race with an 8-3 record. With the score tied at 15-15, Indiana's Steve Downing was fouled as his field goal try was counted on a goal-tending call. Spartan Coach Gus Gannakas was hit with two technical foul calls for disrupting the call. Downing hit the free throw to complete his three-point play and John Ritter made both technical foul tosses for a 20-15 Indiana lead. The Hoosiers led up at the half, 36-29, and led by as many as 16 in the second half over the Spartans, who are now 3-7 in the loop.

and a corrective procedure which eliminates most of the wrist action that caused the ball to roll at all angles. If he can refrain from breaking his wrists, something he accomplished in the Hope tourney, Palmer can make up for the string of dismal days when the big check was a mere illusion during the last two years. Kathy Whitworth, the lean Texan who holds the money record for lady pro golfers with career earnings of over $400,000, is ecstatic about Palmer's return to form. Miss Whitworth, honored as the LPGA champion, said she's a member of Arnie's Army and "simply thrilled by his winning the Bob Hope tournament. I know the disappointment of a dry spell."

Behagen rallies Gophers to win

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Illinois managed to keep the game close until the final five minutes as it pulled within two points at 65-63 at 4:55 remaining. But then Brewer hit a field goal and two free throws to push the Gophers into safety. Both Brewer and Illinois' Rick Schmidt fouled out of the game as Illinois' season record dropped to 11-8 with 5-1 in Big Ten play. Minnesota earned its 17th win against two losses. The triumph gave the No. 4 ranked Gophers a 7-2 Big Ten record for a .778 percentage compared to 6-3 for Indiana and 7-2. Purdue topped from the league lead to a 7-3 record and 700 in losing to Ohio State Monday. Brewer netted 20 points and Behagen 24 as the Gophers wiped out Illinois' 33-30 halftime lead in the first 23:12 of the second half. Both also participated in Minnesota's domination of the boards which gave them the chance to come from behind. Nick Weatherspoon, the Big Ten's second leading scorer, was Illinois' leader with 23 points; 17 of them in the second half, while Jeff Dawson had 22.

Class A wrestlers edge B field in All-star meet

JEROME — The class A district champions won the thinnest possible of victories over the B field in the first annual fourth district wrestling all-star meet Monday night. The A field, getting the edge when Jerome sophomore Norm Cochrane narrowly defeated Filer's John Courtney 2-1 in the heavyweight finale, won seven weights against five for the B field. Magic valley's only state champion, Rocky Sherbine of Wood River, won the 101-pound class. A couple of the qualified individuals were unable to compete due to illness, including Twin Falls' Mark McKain. His absence robbed the meet of what was one of the anticipated highlights against Filer's Ron Griff.

Griff wound up being named the outstanding wrestler of the tournament, getting seven votes from the participating coaches. This left him one ahead of Burley's Paul Garrett, a runner-up in the state 188-pound class. Also during the affair, Vic Jackson of Burley and George McAdams of Kimberly were named the class A and B district coaches of the year by the Fourth District Coaches Association. Probably the highlight of the meet was the final rematch between Jerome sophomore Norm Cochrane and Filer senior John Courtney. Cochrane won it by a hair breadth 2-1 decision, Courtney just missing a two-point takedown in the second round. It marked the 12th time the two had met over the past two years with Cochrane holding a 7-5 edge at the end of it. A rather disappointing crowd about half filled the Jerome gymnasium for the first attempt at all-star wrestling in the state. The night was marked by frequent overtime matches, pointing up the comparability of the two fields. Results of the matches placing first through fourth include: 101 pounds, Sherbine, Wood River, pinned Callen, Jerome; 3-4, McNeil, Minico, decided Reibich, Glenns Ferry, 2-0 in overtime. 108 pounds, Yturbe, Buhl, decided Harper, Minico; 3-4, Jones, Minico, decided Burks, Wendell 4-2. 115 pounds, Anderson, Burley, decided Jefferson, Wood River, 6-0; 3-4, Anderson, Burley, decided Hulet, Wendell 4-0. 122 pounds, Robinson, Burley, decided West, Duple, 3-4, Hala, Wendell, 4-0. 129 pounds, Harper, Minico, decided Eslinger, Kimberly, 6-3; 3-4, T. Cochrane, Jerome, won third by forfeit. 188 pounds, Garrett, Burley, pinned Reddick, Jerome; 3-4, Mathews, Oakley, decided Baker, Valley, 8-5. Heavyweight, N. Cochrane, Jerome, decided Courtney, Filer, 2-1; 3-4, Jones, Burley, pinned Heuther, Kimberly.

Low-key baseball talks continuing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Representatives of baseball owners and players continued their low-key negotiations Monday in an effort to resume full scale bargaining that would avert a baseball strike. National League president Chub Feeney and American League President Joe Cronin accompanied owner spokesman John Gaherin to the offices of Marvin Miller for a session that lasted two hours and 45 minutes. Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players Association, refused comment on the meeting saying, "one question would only lead to another and we are honored not to discuss negotiations."

Also representing the owners were Barry Roma of Gaherin's office, James Garner, the American League attorney who works for a Cleveland law firm, and Lou Hoynes, the National league attorney who works for baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn's former law firm in New York. Joe Torre, St. Louis Cardinal infielder was the only player representing the association. Meetings will continue in Gaherin's office Tuesday at 2 p.m. Dick Moss, Miller's associate, said "some players have been calling us to keep in touch with the situation and we've called others to inform them of what's going on." The association has scheduled seven regional meetings around the country with major-league players. The first is to be held at the International Inn in Los Angeles at 2 p.m. EST Friday. Should a settlement be reached, Miller has said, the regional meetings would be called off. Spring training is scheduled to open March 1, but all owners are abiding by league directives not to open camp until a contract settlement is reached.

Carolina wins over Stetson

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Seven-footer Danny Traylor dominated an out-manned Stetson team to lead South Carolina to an 81-52 victory over the Hatters Monday night, the eighth victory in a row for the Gamecocks. Traylor, five inches taller than the tallest Stetson player, dropped in 22 points with most of them layups and hook shots. Senior Kevin Joyce scored 13 points and was credited with 12 assists, one shy of the school record.

A-2 teams begin tournament play

The A-2 district basketball tournament opens at College of Southern Idaho gymnasium tonight and the A-3 meet has its first round pairings firm up for a Wednesday start.

Completion of the pairings for the A-3 tournament, which again will be held at the Shoshone High School gymnasium, rounds out the final step for Magic Valley teams on their way to possible state honors.

Due to a tie in the final Little Six Conference standings and with the addition of Declo, the A-3 coaches had to wait about 48 hours later than the other four area tournaments to get their show firm up.

Wendell and Kimberly hold the first-round byes in the A-3 which gets underway at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday with Declo meeting Shoshone. Glenns Ferry will go against Valley in the finale.

On Thursday night, Wendell will meet the Declo-Shoshone game winner while Kimberly is pitted against the winner of the Glenns-Ferry-Valley opening battle.

Also on Wednesday night, the sixth district A-4 tournament opens at Murtaugh with the home-standing Red Devils going against Hagerman at 7 p.m. and Raft River meeting Hansen at 8:30 p.m. Oakley plays the Murtaugh-Hagerman winner while Castleford goes against the Hansen-Raft River victor in Thursday night's games.

Wendell has forged into a minute lead in the A-3 tournament while Kimberly, winding up the season with four straight victories, including one over Wendell in overtime, looks like a strong darkhorse candidate.

Wendell ran through the A-3 teams 7 until closing a five-point lead in the closing seconds and falling to Kimberly in the season finale.

Kentucky tops Georgia 99-86

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Kevin Grevey poured in 40 points to lead hard running Kentucky past Georgia midway through the second half Monday night for a 99-86 Southeastern Conference victory.

The Bulldogs appeared on their way to an upset leading through the early going and holding a 45-40 halftime edge. But they gradually cooled off and by 9:30 left to play, Kentucky took the lead and never lost it.

Tim Bussett led Georgia with 36 points, but was unable to score during the final eight minutes.

Mike Flynn added 22 points for Kentucky and Charley Anderson had 20 for Georgia.

American players advance

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI) — All four of America's seeded players advanced in the national indoor open tennis championships Monday by beating foreign competitors.

Top-ranked Jimmy Connors, Belleville, Ill., beat Edison Mandarino of Brazil, 6-3, 6-0. Second-seeded Alex Mayer of Wayne, N.J., struggled past Milan Holcok of Czechoslovakia 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Third-seed Clark Graebner, New York, ousted Patricio Coraño of Chile 6-3, 6-3, and fourth-seeded Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat Australian Ian Fletcher 6-3, 6-2.

Two of the three remaining foreign seeds, Spain's Juan Gisbert and Germany's Karl Meiler, retained with easy first-round victories over Americans Roy Barth and Raz Reid.

Romania's Ilie Nastase, the top foreign seed makes his debut Tuesday against Patrick Duple of Alabama.

Nastase and Graebner are the only players here who have ever won the tourney before. Graebner won two years ago, and Nastase captured the title in 1970.

Tuesday's other big matchups, Graebner meets Frew McMillan of South Africa and Mayer faces McMillan's countryman Byron Bertram.

Kimberly, which would up with a backdoor 4-12 season, still impressed by taking six of its last eight outings. Much of this was due to the point explosion of 6-3 Rick Nelson.

The darkest of horses, however, could be Shoshone which had a losing year but sufficient ingredients to have been better than 9-11. Shoshone won most of their early games by narrow margins and then lost most of the late ones by small scores. Helping the Indians should be the homecourt advantage.

From the seasonal outlook, however, none of the teams can be counted out. A new factor is introduced in Coach Dale Swan's Declo Hornets, who play in the A-4 Magic Valley Conference until tournament time.

The Hornets bring an offensive potential that none of the others have shown heretofore. They have four men averaging in double figures for the season.

But they also have shown a lack of ability to keep the other team from scoring.

The problem with Declo, so far as the other teams are concerned, however, is that the Hornets offensively have the potential to outscore their defensive ineptness. The Hornets could well decide who will be the champion if they don't take it themselves.

Another watchout in A-3 is the legendary ability of Coach Gordon Brown to get the Glenns

Nebraska wins 76-64

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Freshman Gerrert Fort scored 24 points and Lee Harris added 22 to lead Nebraska to a 76-64 Big Eight basketball victory over Oklahoma State Monday night.

The Cornhuskers led the entire game, taking a 37-28 advantage by halftime. OSU rallied in the second half, but could not get closer than five points.

The leading scorer for the Cowboys was Kevin Fitzgerald with 22.

The victory gives Nebraska a 3-4 conference record and 8-13 overall standing. Oklahoma State is 1-8 in the league and 5-16 for the season, following five consecutive home losses.

Dwight Lamar leads victory

JACKSONVILLE, La. (UPI) — All-American Dwight Lamar scored 28 points in his last home game to lead the University of Southwestern Louisiana to a 109-78 drubbing of Arkansas State in Southland Conference basketball Monday night.

Freshman Larry Fogle added 22 points and 13 rebounds for USL, which brought its season record to 20-2 and its conference mark to 11-0.

J. H. Williams scored 18 points for Arkansas State, which fell to 5-14 for the season and 1-11 in league play.

The Ragin' Cajuns led all the way, outshooting the Indians 51 per cent to 41 per cent from the floor and 70 per cent to 66.7 per cent from the foul line, and outrebounding them 53-45.

Don Johnson given award

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (UPI) — Don Johnson of Akron, Ohio, was named the Sporting News Professional Bowling Association (PBA) Player of the Year for the second consecutive year Monday night.

Tom Hudson, 25, also of Akron, was announced as the Sporting News Rookie of the Year for the circuit.

The results of the balloting among members of the professional bowling tour were announced at a dinner preceding the start of the $50,000 Winston-Salem Classic on Tuesday.

Johnson edged Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis in the voting despite the fact that each won three major tournaments in 1972.

Johnson led the official money race with $50,043 in tournament winnings to Burton's $45,050.

Ferry Pilots at their peak for tournaments. Coach Brown, despite a 6-11 record overall, hasn't given up on this bunch of youngsters.

The other team is Valley, which labored to an 11-9 record, with sometimes great and sometimes bad performances. The Vikings have good overall potential but are inconsistent almost from minute to minute.

Their biggest lapses seem to come on the backboards where rebounding is often about as dominant as it is non-existent at other times.

The result of the A-3 meet should ride on the ability of Wendell to continue its season long defensive harassment and surprisingly good rebounding. Probably the smallest team in the league, Wendell has been able to at least approximate most opponents' total takedowns. This has helped offset the lack of a truly good shooter.

Wendell probably gets more under-the-basket shots than any team in the area despite its lack of size. A succession of games, however, could dampen the quickness that makes most of the Trojans success possible.

Archibald remains top scorer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tiny still leads Mr. High Pockets in the National Basketball Association scoring race.

Nate Archibald, Kansas City-Omaha's 6-foot watchman guard, zeroed in at a 34.1 scoring pace, through last Sunday's games, to top the league point parade. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the 7-2 Milwaukee Bucks All-Star center trails with a 30.7 game average. There is no other player over the 30-point mark.

Archibald, equally adept at handling off as in scoring, maintained his assists lead with an 11.4 average.

Two of the other three key statistics are the domain of Los Angeles Lakers pivotman Wilt Chamberlain. The 7-1 Chamberlain is operating at a record-breaking pace with his 7.30 field goal percentage. Big Will holds the floor shooting standard of .683 set with Philadelphia during the 1966-67 season.

Chamberlain also leads in rebounds with an 18.6 game average.

Underhand flipper Rick Barry of Golden State is first in foul shooting with a .913 percentage on 261 of 286 net connections.

Archibald had the highest total for a game last week with 49 points against Houston on Feb. 13. Chamberlain's 30 rebounds against Portland on Feb. 17 were tops for that category.

Peter Revson is early leader in mini-games

REVONDA WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Grand Prix race driver Peter Revson was the surprise early leader Monday over other idols of the athletic world in a goofy tournament known as the mini-Olympics.

Revson won a tennis tournament and a 100-meter swim sprint to pile up 20 points worth $5,000. He was ahead of such competitors as baseball's Johnny Bench, skier Jimmie Killy, world pole vault champ Bob Seagren and hockey star Rod Gilbert.

Former world heavyweight boxing champ Joe Frazier was a dropout in the swim sprint. Frazier belly-flopped into the water in a 50-meter qualifying heat, swam one length of the 25-meter pool and stopped without making the turn. After hanging onto the edge of the pool to get his wind back, Frazier walked the length of the pool back to the starting point.

"I don't have any trouble staying in the ring, but I sure do have trouble staying on top of the water," Frazier said.

Bench, the Cincinnati Reds' catcher recovering from chest surgery for cancer, also failed to complete his heat in the swimming competition. All-time great quarterback Johnny Unitas finished dead last in his four-man heat.

Bench's earlier showings were good enough to give him a tie for second place with bowling star Jim Stefaniich midway through the first day of the two-day event, at 11 points.

They were followed by hockey star Gilbert, who had 9 points after losing to Revson in tennis. The athletes get $300 for each point scored. With $122,000 in prize money at stake, they were not just horsing around. The catch is that none of them can enter the events they are famous for.

Revson, 32, was unable to explain his success in his first swimming competition since he was at summer camp at the age of 11.

"I have a pool at my apartment that I swim in all the time, but I never swim in it," Revson said.

Faced with the weight-lifting contest Monday night, Revson groaned, "Oh, my Lord."

Revson finished second in the swim meet, with Killy third.

Bowling star Stefaniich shot a 5-over-par 41 on nine holes at a 50-yard dash, a half-mile run, and a two-mile bike race at this new 26,000-acre community under development in Florida's lower Gulf coast. The point of all the big-name competition is to promote the project.

The temperature Monday was in the 40s, the breeze was gusting to 20 miles an hour and drizzling rain was falling on

Classes start

TWIN FALLS — Fly tying on Wednesday nights from 7 to 10 p.m. in room 216 on the CSI campus will cover more Idaho continuing education elaborate design and techniques.

Ruel Stayner, instructor, said the course is for intermediate fly tyers and is a follow up of a beginner class just concluded. Dying the beginner class, basic tying was taught along with selection of material and the suggestions of specific types of flies effective in this area.
