Egypt hints truce in Mideast at end

By United Press International
Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafiq hinted today that Egypt might end the Middle East cease-fire and resume its war of attrition with Israel across the Suez Canal, the Middle East News Agency (MENA) reported in Cairo.
Shafiq was addressing the opening of a Social Security conference. He devoted part of his speech to denouncing Israel's shooting down of a Libyan airliner in which at least 106 persons were killed Wednesday, including one American.
"If the enemy wants to scare us, we will tell him we are waiting in our positions here and as a minimum we can get him back to the situation of 1970 and make him exhausted," Shafiq said.
In 1969, and up until Aug. 7, 1970, when an American-initiated cease-fire took effect, Egypt and Israel fought almost daily artillery duels and staged raids across the Suez Canal. It became known as the war of attrition.
Arab commentators called today for concerted Arab action against Israel and Arab guerrilla attacks against Israeli property throughout the world in retaliation for the shooting down of the Libyan airliner.

There was speculation in Beirut that the air incident and Israel's punitive raid into Lebanon which killed 31 Arabs earlier on Wednesday might torpedo current Middle East peace efforts including a new initiative reported underway by Egyptian Foreign Affairs adviser Mohammed Hafez Ismail.
Ismail, termed by Egyptian President Anwar

Sadat as "my Henry Kissinger," was conferring in Washington today with President Nixon. Nixon sent condolences to the Egyptian and Libyan leaders at the time of the plane incident in what appeared to be an implied rebuke to Israel.
King Hussein of Jordan, vacationing in Palm Beach after talks with Nixon, called the downing of the Libyan plane "shocking and inhuman." He dispatched a message to be broadcast over Amman Radio.

"We had no choice. It refused orders to land."

Rental measure views diverse

BOISE — Landlords and tenants argued before a joint Judiciary legislative public hearing Thursday night about what proposed legislative measures would do to their obligations under law.
Those who spoke on behalf of property owners tended to oppose the major proposal, or call for an interim study committee.
Those representing tenants said the measure was needed to provide an even balance of rights and obligations.
Sharon Galley, a Twin Falls representative of the Community Improvement Association, (CIA) a low income group, argued before the committee for a bill that would require equal obligations of both landlords and tenants.
Discussing her own difficulties with past landlords, she argued that the cost of assistance through current law is prohibitive for the poor.
Rita Gee, also speaking for the CIA from Twin Falls, told the committee she had never had difficulties with the landlords from whom she leased dwellings, but nevertheless asked for a bill that would remedy a situation that she said excluded currently landlord rights.
The Senate bill, she said, "possibly isn't perfect," but was a solid "first step."
Randall Fredricks, an attorney representing the Boise Board of Realtors, said the measure would not lead to a "fair and equitable" relationship between landlord and tenant.

Gold higher; dollar weaker

LONDON (UPI) — The price of gold leaped to new highs today, touching $95 an ounce at one point in early trading in London. The dollar took a sharp drop in Europe in early trading, bringing hints of a new international monetary crisis.
But the dollar steadied after government banks intervened and bought up dollars to keep it at the price set by the recent 10 per cent devaluation.
"Something has to be done," one London currency dealer said when the dollar sank to its lowest point since devaluation.
"We can't go on like this," Gold Skyrocketed to $95-per-ounce early today on London's free market and went to new highs in Zurich, Rome and Hong Kong.
But at the London afternoon price fixing, the gold price dropped for the first time in two weeks. It tumbled $4 from its morning official price of $89. London. The dollar took a sharp drop in Europe in early trading, bringing hints of a new international monetary crisis.
The dollar's plunge and gold's climb were directly related.
London dealers said speculators and international money managers simply did not trust the dollar over the weekend, when exchanges are closed and government decisions on currency rates usually come. They were switching instead into "anything else" — gold, Swiss francs, marks, the copper even — the once-weekly British pound.
As they unloaded their dollars, the dollar price plunged. During the first morning rush the atmosphere was one of crisis.
The dollar dropped 3.4 cents in London. In Frankfurt, Asterdam, Brussels and Stockholm it hit the "floor," the price at which central banks start buying to keep the dollar price up.
A West German government spokesman said the central bank intervention was brief and small scale — it bought less than $10 million, compared with the $6 billion it bought in the crisis before dollar devaluation two weeks ago.
As the banks moved in the dollar steadied in every European market and even recovered somewhat. In London it regained more than 2 cents of the 3.4-cent drop. But at midday it took $2.484 to buy a pound.

Virus said cancer cause

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Viruses from outside rather than genes on the inside appear to be the cause of cancer, according to a Columbia University researcher.
Dr. Sol Spiegelman reported here Thursday his research with identical twins indicated at least some forms of cancer were not part of a person's genetic heritage.
"We've raised the curse off the disease," said Spiegelman. "We don't have to fight our own genes in order to control cancer."
Spiegelman's research tends to disprove a theory that outside effects such as radiation, chemicals, nicotine and smog can start a genetic sequence that causes cancer.
Spiegelman believes viruses from outside the body are the cause and, if true, he said many forms of human cancer were open to normal means of correction once the human cancer viruses were found and identified.
For his research, Spiegelman used two sets of identical twins, one suffering from cancer, the other normal.
He said that when mixing the deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) molecule present in every cell in the twins with cancer, the DNA molecules formed hybrids. But he said that when the malignant DNA was mixed with molecules from the healthy twins, they did not mix, indicating there was no inherent cancer sequence of genes in the DNA molecule of the healthy twins.

Anti-war group slates protest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Antwar activists, unconvinced that the Vietnam cease-fire spells the end of the war, said today they would picket the White House Saturday demanding complete American withdrawal from Southeast Asia.
The picket line, to be composed of members of the steering committee of the National Peace Action Coalition and local Washington peace groups, will be the first antiwar demonstration in Washington since the Vietnam accords were signed Jan. 27.
At the same time, however, NPAC spokesmen gave some indication that in the future the movement will stress domestic concerns, particularly President Nixon's dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity.
Alling activist Julius Hobson, a member of NPAC's national steering committee and the vice presidential candidate of the radical People's Party in the November election, accused Nixon of "transforming the war in Vietnam to 13th and U" — a reference to a Washington ghetto.
Hobson, suffering from cancer of the "bone marrow," appeared at the NPAC news conference in a wheelchair. He said that the dismantling of the poverty programs "signals an attack on blacks and poor."
"I'm damned frightened of this man Richard Nixon," Hobson said, adding that he felt "more danger at this time than in any time in my life."

Panel members review budget

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer
BOISE — Republicans on the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee met without the Democrats Thursday to discuss the general fund budget "from one end to the other."
The unannounced meeting, from which newsmen were excluded, took place near the end of the Senate floor session for the day.
Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, said no votes were taken in the closed meeting, and although the matter of public school funding was discussed, no final consensus was reached. He said it looked like the proposed $12 million increase would be put back, however.
The Joint Committee sent out a $57.8 funding bill for public schools on Monday, and then rescinded the proposal on Wednesday on a strict party line vote.
The move brought sharp criticism from the minority Democrats during floor debate Thursday, when Sen. John Evans, D-Malden, accused the Republicans of resorting to "arm twisting" and "threats" to get the two thirds approval of the committee.
Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the committee, responded that the committee was "schooled by the action" — it had taken Monday and said he was "sorry" the vote was a strict party line division. Republicans hold two thirds of the seats on the joint committee.
The Thursday afternoon closed door session, which one member said was called by High and Rep. William Roberts, R-Boji, committee co-chairman, included a discussion of writing a general fund budget within the $155.4 million budget figure adopted by the Republican caucus in both houses of the legislature in the last few days.
"In order to do that we've got to look at all the budget here," Yarbrough said. "We've got to see if we can do all that."
High said following the meeting that it was still his "strong feeling" that public school funding should still be the "first priority."
The committee, in a regular daily meeting, heard conflicting testimony from representatives of organized labor and the mining industry over the general fund budget for the state mine inspector.
No final budget was approved.
An effort to open up for reconsideration the already agreed upon general fund figure of $67,000 for the State Planning and Community Affairs Department was successful, but the committee then failed to agree upon an alternative figure.
The meeting adjourned in confusion after a series of motions to set the department's budget failed by narrow votes.

Needy American food stamps up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 12 million needy Americans will get a 3.6 per cent cost-of-living hike in government food stamp allocations July 1 to help keep pace with the rising cost of groceries, it was learned today.

Government economists have predicted that retail food prices this year will rise by 6 to 6.5 per cent above 1972, considerably more than the hike scheduled for food stamp recipients.

Under this formula, officials base food stamp allocations for the year starting July 1 on the cost of foods in a standard "economy diet plan" as of the previous December.

Tourist harm claims denied

By BONNIE-BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Charges of the modern-day environmentalists that tourism is "raping the resources of the west" were refuted by a Wyoming Travel Council official Thursday night.

Gene Bryan, assistant director of the Wyoming Travel Council, addressed more than 300 Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce members and guests in the annual dinner at the Holiday Inn. He said environmentalists would have "us build a fence around our state and save it for them alone."

Bryan who said the Wyoming tourist promotion program was funded this year by a $1.3 million budget, said tourism in his state is a clean industry.

"It requires no additional schools or other costly accommodations, but it builds our roads, bridges and buys our food," he said.

Bryan, a former newspaper managing editor in Laramie, told Twin Falls chamber members there is room for good conservation and environmentalism without driving the tourist from the scenic mountain areas of the west.

"Most of the critical environmentalists who charge tourists are raping the western beauty and natural resources want us to save their mountains for them and to keep all others away," Bryan said.

"You are destroying what I think I would like to enjoy," is the cry of the environmentalist from New York or California who has never been to Wyoming, the speaker said.

"These are not conservationists. They are isolationists," Bryan said. Wyoming, with the nation's oldest national park, Yellowstone, several national monuments, and Teton National Park, depends heavily on tourism because of the sparse population, he said.

Unlike Oregon, which is conducting a "don't move to Oregon" campaign, he said, Wyoming is still welcoming the tourist.

Wyoming, he said, is concerned about clean water, pure air and unspoiled natural beauty.

Wyoming will never become a "Lake Erie," Bryan said. "We won't let it. We are taking measures now to preserve and protect our state's beauty but we believe in letting people enjoy it too."

Ten years ago we didn't have an environmental and today we are one," he said.

The speaker said states must take steps to preserve and protect their scenic and fragile mountain areas. Land use studies, environmental protection agencies and similar measures are functioning in most states and much of the alarm of the environmentalist is unfounded, he said.

Steps should be taken, he said, to make certain there are proper and adequate facilities for the public before an area is opened to the public.

"Be a good host, not a disserviceable landlord" he told the chamber officials.

He also discussed the Wyoming concept in tourist promotion to get the tourist out of his automobile and into the country side by planning guided tours in which "one vehicle instead of several dozen will take the tourist to scenic areas."

He suggested hiking trails and horseback trips to remote areas will show the tourist the real scenery of the state without benefit of automobile fumes and excessive use of concentrated points. Even in Yellowstone Park, he said, less than 10 percent of the area is actually used by man.

Bryan substituted for Frank Norris Jr., director of the Wyoming Travel Council, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Harold Hirt, KMYT general manager, was master of ceremonies for the banquet program. He also introduced the 1973 chamber of commerce president, John Rosholt, and retiring and newly elected chamber directors.

Fred Wanzner, retiring president, thanked his board of directors. Ray Rostron, manager and Louise Bush, secretary, for their services in the past year.

Rosholt said other officers include Dan Ghenehain, vice president, and new directors, Jim Sinclair, Richard Kirkman, Jack Muldoon and Kenneth Mann.

Retiring board members are John Bishop, Charles Sieber and Norman Tarter, who were presented certificates of appreciation.

UF campaign reports record total pledged

TWIN FALLS — The 1973 United Fund campaign wound up with pledges totaling $93,519, a new record in Twin Falls.

James Barnhart, United Fund treasurer, told the annual business meeting of the organization this morning that the campaign contributions were 12 1/2 per cent above the previous year's pledges.

The total fell short of the $114,000 goal, however.

The United Fund directors, obviously pleased with the success of the 1973 campaign, chose new directors and officers who will oversee the operations of the 1974 campaign.

According to William Faulkner, outgoing UF president, there is a good possibility the next campaign will raise over $100,000 for the first time.

He said the national average increase among United Fund campaigns had been around five per cent, far below the 1973 campaign performance in Twin Falls.

Outgoing campaign chairman Fred Frazier and Faulkner were among those cited for their work.

New officers and directors were elected unanimously. The officers are James Sinclair, president; Fred Frazier, vice president; Ruth Ainsworth, secretary, and James Barnhart, treasurer.

New directors chosen to join others on the 48-member board were W. H. Hanes, Dr. Thad Schales, William Routh, Dr. Howard Runk, Eddie Engelhart, Nancy M. Brown, William Howard and James P.

Rosenbaum.

The executive committee will consist of the new officers and Steve Bancroft and the 1974 campaign chairman, who has not yet been named.

Spring-like conditions on area's ski slopes

TWIN FALLS — Spring ski time has arrived early according to this week's ski reports from area resorts.

No new snow is reported this week except at Sun Valley where just over an inch fell on the ski slopes.

US Forest Service reports show Sun Valley has 35 inches at the top of Baldy and 42 inches at the Roundhouse with 25 on the valley floor. The roads are dry except for occasional icy spots and weather is sunny with temperatures from 25 to 35 degrees.

Magic Mountain has between 48 and 60 inches of snow on ski slopes with no new snow this week. Buns are packed and the area is operating Friday through Sunday with buses running Saturday and Sunday at 4 p.m. from Newton's in Twin Falls.

The road is bare in the lower canyon and some snow-floor in the upper canyon. Snow tires are recommended. Weather is clear and sunny temperatures from 25 to 35 degrees.

Pomerelle reports drifts up to 15 feet deep at the top of the mountain and no new snow this week. The resort has 29 inches at the lodge and the road is clear and widened but snow tires or chains are required. Temperatures are 30 to 40 degrees in the daytime and weather is clear.

Soldier Mountain reports peak snow depths ranging from 10 to 60 inches and packed snow of 36 to 45 inches. No new snow is reported this week. Temperatures are from 35 to 40 degrees daytime hours and the area operates Wednesday through Sunday.

Bus service is available on Saturdays and Sunday leaving Newton's in Twin Falls at 7:30 a.m. and Woods Cafe in Jerome at 8 a.m.

Rotarun reports total depths of 24 inches and no new snow this week. The road is clear and dry and weather is clear with temperatures around 30 to 40 degrees.

Rotarun operates Saturday and Sunday and for night skiing from 4 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. A ski school packages program opens Saturday with registration from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday and lessons from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Snowmobiling is listed good in the Ketchikan area, improving in the Harley region and good in Fairfield but sportsmen are cautioned about steep canyon areas. In the South Hills it is listed as very good.

Roberts estimates school fund hike

By DAVID HUBO
Times-News writer

REP. ROBERTS predicts

BOISE — Speaking "personally," Rep. William Roberts, R-Boise, Thursday estimated a total general fund budget for the coming fiscal year of about $157.5 million. That figure, he said, would include an increase of about $9.5 million for public schools, but no money for kindergartens. Any kindergarten appropriations, he said, would have to be made separately. Although both the House and Senate Republicans, caucusing separately in recent days, approved a general fund figure of $155.4, Roberts said it would be difficult to write a budget for that amount, especially taking into account an anticipated $1 million in Social Security costs to the state as the result of federal amendments to the Social Security law. Although the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, of which Roberts is co-chairman, Monday approved a public schools funding level of $57.8 million, that action was rescheduled Wednesday.

The committee's action Monday, approving as it did the public school figure first among general fund expenditures, had reversed a long standing historical precedent. But Tuesday a majority of Republicans on the committee had changed their minds on the figure they voted out a day earlier and tried to reconsider the move. One Republican, Rep. Paul Worthen, R-Boise, balked, however, and sided with the Democrats, and the necessary two-thirds majority needed to reconsider lost. By Wednesday, however, Worthen had changed his mind and sided with the other Republicans in the effort to rescind the funding level. Roberts said part of the problem with the proposal was that it granted "too large an increase to schools for the size budget anticipated, but also said that a provision that stipulated that 75 per cent of the increase should go to teacher and non-administrative personnel salary increases needed redrafting because of the varying levels of state support to schools.

Measure asks longer Gem spending holdback

BOISE (UPI) — House taxwriters introduced Thursday a bill some indicate is designed to put Gov. Cecil D. Andrus on the spot. A short measure, it continues in full force and effect Andrus' general fund appropriation holdback on spending for all purposes other than higher education, exempted by Andrus. For the past year the governor and the Republican-controlled legislature have been embroiled in a dispute over how much revenue the general fund tax resources will produce this fiscal year. Andrus said the amount would be lower than the legislature estimated and therefore ordered a holdback in spending. On Jan. 12 he lifted the order insofar as higher education was concerned but declined to remove the restraints on other agencies. Republican legislative leaders contend Andrus was wrong and that his action will create a surplus. Andrus disagreed. If the bill introduced Thursday passes both houses and becomes law it will settle the question by preventing the governor from spending any surplus should such become apparent. Andrus, in course, could lift the holdback before the bill passes or reaches him. Or he could veto the bill.

Judicial election bill clears House

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate Thursday passed 26-8 a House bill which provides for the retention of magistrate judges by a vote of the people. Senate proponents of the measure argued that magistrates should be accountable to the people, while opponents said the proposed law would turn justice into a popularity contest. Sen. W. Dean Abraham, R-Caldwell, said magistrate judges in the state handle a great number of cases each year and these persons could vote out a judge for administering justice. The bill would provide that judges would be appointed for the first two-year term and then he would have to run for four year terms on his record. But Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry, said more communication is needed between judges and the people and voting on judges' records would help clean up some of these problems.

Samples secret

BOISE (UPI) — A house bill making it illegal for a person to release blood sample information taken from automobile accident victims passed the Idaho Senate 15-11 Thursday. The measure, which earlier passed by the House, would make the release of such information a misdemeanor. The proposed law would also eliminate the possibility of a jail sentence for a minor traffic violation.

Brewery fee proposal OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The House Revenue and Taxation Committee voted to introduce Thursday a bill to impose a $200 annual fee on breweries whose beer is sold in Idaho, even though the brewery may not have a business site in the state. Rep. James Elgin, R-Caldwell, questioned the concept, asking whether the state does this for every product manufactured elsewhere and brought into Idaho for sale. Richard Cade of the Division of Liquor Law Enforcement pointed out that wineries now pay such a fee as he suggests the breweries pay. In other action, the committee put off a decision on a bill proposed by Rep. Eyre, D-Pocatello. It would grant a limited amount of property tax relief to persons 65 or older on the basis of income. His proposal would require them to pay only a certain percentage of their income in property taxes.

Environment damage scored

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

BOISE — Warned that the state would be sacrificed on the "federal altar" of stricter controls if it did not act, the House Health and Welfare Committee Thursday voted out a measure providing penalties for violations of environmental protection laws.

Dr. James Bax, administrator of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health, which is asking for the legislation, told the committee the "trap of federal encroachment in control of Idaho's sacred water rights is clearly there."

With only one dissenting vote, the committee approved the measure without amendment, in direct conflict to the direction of the House, which had sent the measure back to committee for amendment earlier in the week.

The understanding the committee had in the meeting, however, came undone almost immediately, and the bill was amended on the floor during the House session. Rep. Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, chairman said there were "indications" that the bill would be defeated in its original form and the amendment tacked on would eliminate the threat of a jail sentence for violators.

The committee also voted to send a companion bill, establishing a procedure for compliance schedules, back to the House for amendment on general orders.

Rep. Ray Pfanger, R-Salmon, told committee chairman Andersen he still could not support the bill providing penalties, and was urged by the chairman that "the people won't like it" if the state's rivers become polluted.

"I'll take my chances," Pfanger replied.

Bax told the committee his department has received a letter Wednesday warning that the federal Environmental Protection Agency will not accept a state program providing civil fines of less than $5,000 and criminal penalties of less than $10,000 with a minimum of $250 per offense.

Robert Bushnell, general counsel for the DEP, told committee members he didn't know whether the program outlined in the legislation would meet those federal standards. But Bax told members he and his staff would try to get federal compliance for the penalty provisions with federal officials.

Bax told committee members the Water Quality Act was "passed by the Congress and cannot be repealed by the Idaho legislature. The only question remaining, he said is whether the legislature was going to "turn control of water quality and water use over to the bureaucrats of the Potomac."

A brief effort to get the committee to delete a passage of the controversial legislation specifying the penalties for misdemeanors failed when several of the members said it wouldn't "fool anybody."

Merger backed

BOISE — The Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee Thursday gave a "do pass" recommendation to a proposal merging the Departments of Environmental Protection and Health and Social and Rehabilitation Services.

The proposal has already passed the House.

Dr. James Bax, DEPH administrator, appeared before the committee to request the legislation, which is expected to result in more federal money to the state if the merger is approved.

In other action, committee members voted out without recommendation a measure providing for the licensing and regulating of naturopaths. An effort to move the bill out of committee Wednesday had failed on a tie vote.

Tax relief bill delayed

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. John Eyre, D-Pocentello, urged the House Revenue and Taxation committee Thursday to consider his "circuit breaker" bill to provide property tax relief for the low-income elderly.

After listening to Eyre for more than an hour, the committee finally decided to put off a decision on the matter until later and to go with other items on its crowded agenda.

Rep. Vernon F. Ravyspelt, R-Tuttle, suggested exploring the question further on Friday.

Eyre's bill would grant a limited amount of property tax relief to persons 65 or older on the basis of their incomes.

Basically, his proposal would require them to pay only a certain percentage of their income in property taxes and then would exempt them up to certain dollar amounts on additional taxes. The exemption would apply when the taxpayer applied to the state for a refund.

His bill limits total state payment of relief to $2 million. If claims against the state exceeded that amount the claimants would be given refunds on their property taxes only in a pro rated amount.

Eyre said one of the advantages of his plan is that the state provides the tax relief and not the local taxing districts.

Drunk driver bill delayed

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the Senate State Affairs Committee today delayed action on a bill which would impose additional penalties on persons arrested for drunken driving following a debate by two House attorneys.

Attorney Samuel Kaufman told the committee that he opposed the measure because it was "un-American and rotten and should be put in the ash can where it belongs."

But Attorney T. H. Eberle said the measure included safeguards and it was not unconstitutional because driving was a privilege granted by the state.

The bill, which was returned to the committee from the floor of the Senate earlier this week, calls for a person arrested of drunken driving, negligent homicide, or leaving the scene of an injury accident to surrender his license to the arresting officer.

The bill would also provide for a speedy trial if a license was surrendered to a policeman.

Tot class decision next week

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed kindergarten bill that would let local school districts initiate state-operated kindergartens will be up for final consideration next week.

Thursday, the House Education Committee which had put off a decision on the measure for a few days, approved the bill for introduction, minus any amendments.

Committee members voting against the introduction action were chairman Kurt Johnson, R-Idaho Falls, and Reps. John Sessions, R-Boise, and C. L. Butch, D-Idaho Falls.

Study asked

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee has voted to introduce a resolution calling for an interim study concerning anti-litter legislation outlawing non-returnable beverage containers and called for refund prices on cans and bottles.

Donna Ustick, Fuller say vows

TWIN FALLS — Donna Ustick and Lyle (Fritz) Fuller were united in marriage in evening rites Feb. 9 at the First Presbyterian Church, Jerome.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Will, Eden, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Fuller, Twin Falls.

Rev. William Barrett performed the ceremony before altar arrangements of sprays of white and blue carnations and sagebrush.

The bride wore a blue floor-length princess-style gown with long sleeves enhanced with white daisies on the sleeves and at the neck edge. Blue and white ribbons and daisies were entwined in her hair. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and sprigs of sagebrush.

Bette Will, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

Dee Pendergraft served as best man. John Wells was the usher.

Mrs. Denis Taylor, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guestbook.

Marie Will and Linda Childers, sisters of the bride, were in charge of the gifts.

Mrs. Alvin Meyer, sister of the bride, and Mrs. John Wells, sister of the bridegroom, served the cake.

Mrs. Fred Smith, sister of the bridegroom, served the punch.

Mrs. Terry Williams, sister of the bride, served the coffee.

Competition set for Girls State

TWIN FALLS — Competition to select 1973 Twin Falls Girls State delegates at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the American Legion Hall will be open to the public.

The Girls State program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and is designed to give young women an opportunity to better understand state government.

Oriette Sinclair, chairman of the auxiliary's Girls State committee, said the non-partisan program is a practical application of Americanism and good citizenship.

During the Sunday afternoon program, nominees will be expected to give a brief biography and each will then answer questions designed by the Girls State committee. Six judges representing CSI and American Legion Auxiliary will select the 1973 delegates.

Only high school junior class members are eligible. Local winners will attend the 27th session of Girls State at the Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, June 17-23. Highlight of the week is the formal inauguration ceremony and oath of office administered to state officials by the governor of the state of Idaho.

The final day of the session is spent in the statehouse in role with girls assuming participation in the state offices to which they are elected in the Girls State elections.

Delegates will be sent to the session through financial assistance from community organizations, the Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Business and Professional Women, Soroptimist, Altrusa Club and Twentieth Century Club.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a divorced man for two years now. He has a child by his ex-wife, and my problem is that he keeps reminding me in no uncertain terms that his child will always come first!

I just can't accept this. I don't think any woman could. We have had several very serious arguments over this. He tells me he loves me, then he quickly reminds me that his child will always come first. (This child lives with his ex-wife, but he has generous visitation rights.)

After he's had a few drinks he talks about marriage, and I think he really means it, but when it comes to setting a date, he has so many reasons why he has to wait.

There's only one big problem, Abby, I really love this man in spite of everything. So what should I do?

FOOLISH

Women's club luncheon held

TWIN FALLS — The Country Women's Club met for its annual potluck dinner Wednesday at the home of Genevieve Bird.

Mary Parks, vice-president, conducted a short business meeting.

Lloyd Nicholson and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sparks were guests. Nicholson sang several solos.

Date and place of the next meeting will be announced.

Happy Hearts Printed Pattern

by Marlan Martin

Give up on him!

DEAR FOOLISH: Tell him your name isn't "Avis," and you don't intend to try harder because you're Number Two. I respect a divorced parent who considers his child, but the closest, most enduring relationship of all is the husband-wife relationship. Kiss the man goodbye before he beats you to it. He's trying to discourage you.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column about hunting prompts this letter. Hunting is a sport to which I am morally opposed. My husband knows my objections, but since he is an adult, I realize that his decisions are his own, and it is with his own conscience he must wrestle. I don't participate in his hunting trips, and have no intentions of doing so.

The problem centers around our 12-year-old son. My husband wants to buy him a gun and introduce him to the sport. Our son, eager to participate in activities with his father, is excited by the prospect.

I don't feel that humans have the right to kill animals unless their lives are directly endangered, or unless they need the meat for survival. We are an upper-middle-class urban family, and neither of these situations is likely to occur.

My husband says that he wants our son to know the joy of our rapidly vanishing wilderness areas. I say, "Fine, take him camping and teach him the craft of the woodsman."

He claims he wants our son to know the challenge of stalking elusive game.

I say, "Fine... let him stalk with a camera. And if he needs to have a trophy... bring home some pictures."

He says he wants our son to be skillful with a rifle. I don't mind that. We have access to an excellent skeet-shooting range and instructors.

Finally, and worst in my opinion, my husband says he wants our son to be a man, and that my refusal to sanction the hunting will turn him into a sissy.

Abby, to me, a true man (or woman) is one who rejoices in the beauty of life, who works hard to preserve all of that beauty, who respects mankind and all animals, and who kills only as a necessity and never for pleasure or sport.

Many of our traditional and superficial concepts of manhood and womanhood are being questioned these days, and I think that the question of hunting as a means of developing masculinity deserves being considered by more Americans.

DEAR ANIMAL LOVER: Well said. But let's hear it from another animal lover:

DEAR ABBY: Those meat-eaters who throw a fit about harvesting wildlife have got to be some of the biggest hypocrites of all time.

Just where do they think beef, pork and mutton come from? Anybody who's raised a 4-H calf, or nursed along a runt pig or an orphan lamb knows that these animals are every bit as lovable as the majestic buck or graceful doe.

How much kinder is death from a hit on the head with a sledge hammer than from a bullet? All meat eaters are guilty.

In case you're wondering, yes, I eat meat. And no, I don't hunt. And yes, I love animals (present population, one dog, four cats, six horses, and one pig).

Young bull meat sale rules eased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New government rules which could help cut beef costs by easing the sale of fresh meat from young bulls have been announced by the Agriculture Department. Department specialists estimate production costs for young bull beef — which will officially be labeled in the future as "bullock" — can be 10 percent or more below the cost of fattening steers.

As beef from steers, which are castrated bulls. To make sure the consumer knows what he's getting, however, and because beef from young bulls "may be more variable in palatability than steer beef with the same quality indicators," the bull meat will carry the term "bullock."

Officials said that although the bullock label will be available for animals up to 24 months of age, most market bullocks probably would be slaughtered at 14 to 18 months. At these ages, below two years, bulls — even though retaining all their male sex organs — do not produce the tough, stringy and strong meat most consumers associate with the term "bull meat."

Annual auction slated

JEROME — The 10th annual stud auction, sponsored by the Jerome County Recreation Association, will be at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Charles Hosman, chairman, said Thursday the event will be at Producers Livestock Marketing Association, Jerome, and will feature horses from Idaho, Utah, and Nevada. He said the proceeds from the non-profit auction will be used for the PFA and 4-H projects; trophies for horse shows; adding money to racing purses and improving racing facilities. Hosman said 50 per cent of the services of specified horses will go into a separate fund or savings account for added money to be paid in purses for a two-year-old futurity which will be run in 1976.

He said a horse clinic will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Jerome High School gym. Dr. Marvin Beerman, Denver, Colo., will show slides and lecture on "Locomotion, Breeding and Care of Males" and provide general information on show and race horses. Hosman said the clinic is free and open to the public.

Gem cattleman wins award

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Kenneth Monfort, president of one of the world's largest cattle feeding operations, will be awarded the "Order of the Silver Bull" which is presented annually by the Western Chiro-lis Association. The presentation of the 1973 medal will be the feature of the 9th annual meeting of the association in Caldwell, March 6-8.

Can you afford not to grow?

Not growing is like standing still... and standing still is almost like going backwards. It takes a larger investment, more operating capital and better management skills to grow. But most people need financial assistance somewhere along the line. Not to stand still, but to grow. Your Production Credit Association provides the money to invest in equipment, supplies and facilities for greater growth, income and profits. Providing credit services for farmers and ranchers is our job. There is great satisfaction in sharing plans for growth and watching people and their farms or ranches grow and prosper.

Annual meeting at Malta

MALTA — The annual meeting of the Raft River Rural Electric Cooperative Inc. will be Saturday at the Raft River High School, Malta.

Three directors will be elected to the board for three-year terms. Directors with expiring terms are Clair Robinson, district No. 1; Wallace Taylor, district No. 2; and Wallace Spencer, district No. 3.

Candidates for the director posts include Clair Robinson, Ronald Haltman and Stanley Campwell, district No. 1; Wallace Taylor, Bert Tracy and Richard Barnes, district No. 2; and Wallace Spencer, Kenneth Richins and James Pretwell, district No. 3.

Nominations of additional candidates will be accepted from the floor. All members, regardless of the district in which they reside, may cast a ballot for a candidate in each district. The ballots may be cast by proxy or in person.

Donald P. Hadel, administrator of Bonneville Power Administration, will be guest speaker. He will discuss power supply and increased rates.

There also will be reports given in the geothermal project of the Rural Electrification Association Cooperative.

A free lunch will be served at the Malta school lunch room beginning at 11 a.m. by the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers. All cooperative members are urged to come for lunch and be registered for the meeting before 1 p.m. There will be door prizes.

Planning merger proposed

SPOKANE (UPI) — The State of Washington could be left without any reclamation planning, representation at a proposed consolidation is carried out within the Bureau of Reclamation.

Roy Sipimen, Upper Columbia planning officer for the bureau, said today tentative plans have been made to close the Spokane office this spring. "Nothing definite has been done," he said, "but the thinking right now is that the entire office will be done away with." Sipimen said the various regions of the Bureau of Reclamation had been notified by their head office to consolidate planning functions in the regional offices.

Sipimen, who heads the planning for Washington, Northern Idaho and Western Montana, said the consolidation would move the planning function for the area to Boise.

Idaho leader

TOP YIELD In the 1972 National Corn Growers Association irrigated contest for Idaho was 227.15 bushels per acre recorded by Glen Dale Farms, Inc., of Harold Menser, Murtaugh. Menser also won the Idaho contest in 1971 with 219.57 bushels per acre. He also placed fifth in the national contest. Contest fields had to be 25 acres or larger. First place went to David Case, Minden, Neb., with a yield of 255.03 bushels per acre, a record.

Erosion studies progress

KIMBERLY — Engineers from the Agricultural Research Service here are conducting hydrologic field studies at five locations in eastern Idaho.

Three of the locations are dry land grain fields east of St. Anthony, another is north east of Arimo and another is southwest of Malad City.

Assisting with data collection are soil conservation district personnel and cooperators, and the Marsh Valley High School Future Farmers of America, class, according to C. E. Brockway of the ARS station.

The study will provide runoff data from those locations which can be used to improve the design of runoff and erosion control structures and to show the relative effectiveness of conservation practices to reduce soil erosion and conserve water on the fields, he said.

Volumes of runoff water and eroded soil are collected in basins and level diversions that are equipped with water level recorders. The data is processed to give runoff and annual erosion rates that will be related to recorded weather conditions, soil surface conditions, and recent cultural practices.

District meeting March 5

IDAHO FALLS — The Annual District 1 water users meeting will be March 5, at the Westbank Restaurant, Idaho Falls, at 10 a.m.

The Committee of Nine will meet March 4 at 7:30 p.m., according to Arthur L. Larson, Snake River watermaster.

Water levels for the week of Feb. 20 and one year ago are: Jackson Lake, 634,900 acre feet, 630,000; Moran, 386 cubic feet, 391; Palisades Reservoir, 946,100 cu ft, 895,400; Island Park Reservoir, 98,000 cu ft, 98,600; Heise, 3,691 cu ft, 3,400; Shelley, 5,990 cu ft, 5,000; American Falls Reservoir, 1.03 million cu ft, 1.27 million; Neeley, 8,440 cu ft, 10,100; Lake Walcott, 56,300 cu ft, 61,200; Snake River near Mindoka, 8,530 cu ft, 10,000; Snake River at Milner, 9,250 cu ft, 10,000.

Precipitation levels for last week, Feb. 17-19, and normal for Feb., are Island Park, 1.07 inches, 2.55, 1.47; Moran, 28, 1.00, 2.28; Palisades, missing, 82, 1.30.

Snow depths for now and for one year ago are Island Park, 48 inches, 53; Moran, 3752.

THERE'S JUST NO END TO THE THINGS YOU CAN DO IN THE WEST EACH DAY

Limited results from last winter indicate that conventional "snow melt" formulas which have been developed for large, high altitude watersheds cannot be used to predict the runoff rates and volumes from dryland grain fields, Brockway said.

Lewiston hearing on Salmon set

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Forest Service officials said Wednesday a public meeting is set for March 8 here at which time they will present their plan to give a stretch of the Salmon River scenic status.

The Forest Service's plan calls for giving the river scenic status from its mouth to Rigby, and recreational status from there to Tepper Creek, and Wild River status on to Corn Creek.

From Corn Creek upstream to the North Fork, the river would be classified as recreational under the plan.

The meeting will be held at the Lewis-Clark Ponderosa Motor Inn here.

Switch to THIMET the big one for wireworms and other potato pests

Because—it offers these advantages:

- A single treatment controls wireworms in the soil.
- Also gives early season control of aphids, leafhoppers, leaf miners, flea beetle larvae and psyllids.
- By controlling psyllids and leafhoppers, THIMET helps prevent "psyllid yellows" and "purple top" virus diseases.
- Provides true systemic action from within the plant for long-lasting protection.
- Placed below the soil surface, THIMET eliminates drift problems.
- Eliminates hazard to beneficial insects.
- No residue problems at harvest when used as directed.
- No adverse effect on flavor or chipping qualities.

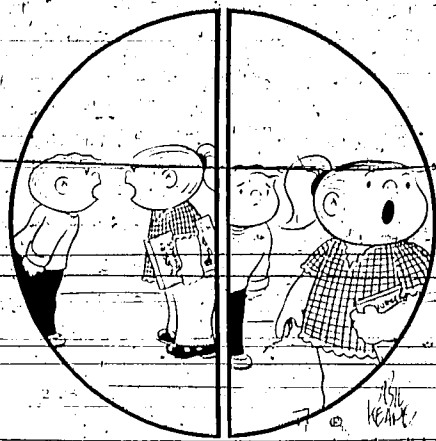

Plan ahead—contact your THIMET supplier now. Before using THIMET, stop and read the label. American Cyanamid Company, Princeton, New Jersey.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

What place do you call home, young lady? "A cow is not safe to trust within flimsy fencing around a new pasture until she has brought forth a calf in the unfamiliar surroundings..."

Q. "HOW MANY new private airplanes take off for the first time nationwide everyday?" A-About 18, Enfold.

Q. "WHAT'S a silver bullet?" A-A martini with a little scotch floated on top. Sounds peculiar, doesn't it? Bartenders say they're frequently ordered around Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland and Chicago.

LOVE AND WAR When you propose matrimony to a young fellow, watch her eyes. What she does with them is significant, according to University of California researchers. If each time you look at her, your eyes hold hers for a moderate interval, that's good. Be optimistic. But if she tends to glance quickly away, that's bad. Laugh lightly and postpone the thing.

THAT POISON known by the medical boys as clostridium botulinum is so potent, just one little shot glass full of the stuff would be enough to kill every human being on earth.

MOST RESPECTED teacher in the high school is the athletic coach. Generally, generally. So say the surveytakers who queried students nationwide.

WITHIN 20 YEARS, predict the computer boys, just 2 per cent of us in factories and on farms will run our everything, the other 98 per cent of us will need a fascinating, if factual.

QUARTERBACKS Mainly, why do football quarterbacks get hurt? Consider the analysis of Benny Friedman, the first passer of note in college football at the University of Michigan in 1925. "They stay upright after they throw the ball," says he. "This leaves them open—I tell young passers to finish their motion in a crouch. That's how I did it and I never got hurt."

DON'T KNOW if this proverb is particularly wise, but do know the Arabs for generations have thought it to be so. "A foolish man may be known by six things: Anger without cause, speech without profit, change without progress, inquiry without object, putting trust in a stranger, and mistaking foes for friends."

ONLY ONE in every 10,000 babies is born with a tooth showing. EGGS FROM WHICH both whales and mice develop are just about the same size. AVERAGE STARTING salary for pharmacists nationwide is $234 a week.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES The daytime is excellent for going after what you want, speaking your piece directly, yet in a kindly and subtle manner. As the day wears there are some difficult planetary positions which makes it advisable to be tactful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrating out-of-towners and obtaining data you need is fine in the morning. Decide on those new outlets you have in mind. Avoid discussing serious matters with anyone in the evening.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A day to be with closest tie in the morning and have a happy and profitable time. Important responsibilities should be handled early as possible. Evening is fine for charming talk with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can come to a better understanding with associates today than has been possible for some time. One who has been an opponent could now become a friend. Have a good time tonight.

MON CHILDRIN (June 22 to July 21) Engage in projects that bring you progress today and then take health treatments you need in the afternoon. Make effort to improve your wardrobe so that you can more confidence.

LIO (July 22 to Aug. 23) A fine day for recreation. You can easily rebuild your energies and elevate your consciousness. You have a particular skill that should be put to use. Avoid arguments with anyone.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Any duties at home should be handled during the day. The evening should be spent reading and relaxing. Try to please kin graciously. Use tact with one who is demanding. Keep calm.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) You are able to accomplish a great deal where errands and appointments are concerned, so get an early start and persist. Talk to those who are expert in a hobby you like and get advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Plan what must be done to add value, beauty and comfort to your property and then start wheels in motion. Go to a business expert for the advice you need. Follow his or hers carefully and wisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make arrangements to entertain good friends. Discuss philosophical matters and exchange ideas while staying your own aims. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan to contact the right people so that you can get the help to make your fondest dreams come true. An expert will give you confidential advice so go after it. Don't waste time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a good friend who can be of great assistance to you, so accept help graciously. Attend a group affair and deepen friendships that appeal to you. Dress in good taste.

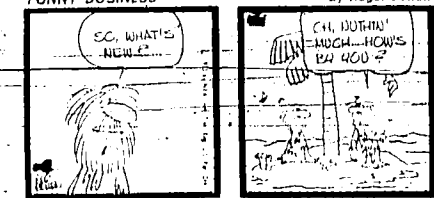

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There are outside affairs that need your attention early, so get busy and straighten them out properly. Later buy whatever you need, the most. Don't overtax your energies. Relax tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those ambitious young people who wants to make a mark in the world, but has to overcome a natural shyness in the matter. Be sure to have as many young playmates around who can help to build your progeny's ego. Teach early not to monopolize the conversation for best results. The field of imports and exports is fine. Foreign languages are good.

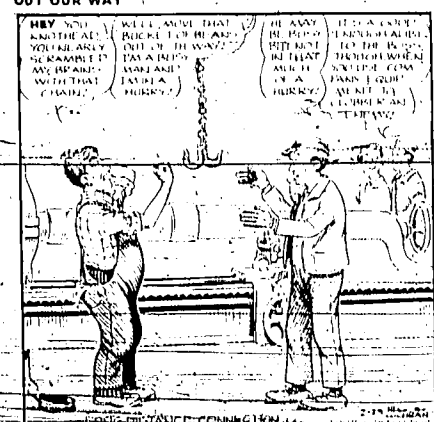

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.

Benefit movies slated for SV

SUN VALLEY—Two benefit movies have been scheduled by the Sun Valley Ski Education Foundation which supports the Junior Racing Program.

According to Janet Kneeland, newly re-elected foundation president, the films are "Young Winston" and "The Thief Who Came to Dinner." All showings will be at the Sun Valley Opera House.

"Young Winston" will be shown Saturday and Sunday. The Saturday showing will be at 8:30 p.m. Two special showings for Blaine County residents have been scheduled for 7:15 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Sunday.

"The Thief Who Came to Dinner" will also have two showings dates — Saturday and Sunday, March 3 and 4. The Saturday premiere will be at 8:30 p.m., with Blaine County showings at 7:15 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Sunday.

"Young Winston," based on Sir Winston's writings, stars Robert Shaw, Anne Bancroft and Simon Ward and is directed by Richard Attenborough.

Mrs. Kneeland said movie producer Ray Stark is sponsoring the "Young Winston" showing. She said Mr. and Mrs. Stark have been avid supporters of the Junior Racing Program in Sun Valley for many years.

The foundation president said, thanks to the Starks' gracious generosity, the premiere of "Funny Girl" was shown at the Opera House in 1969. "On Her Majesty's Secret Service" was shown in 1970. "The Owl and the Pussycat" in 1971, and "Diamonds Are Forever" in 1972.

Mrs. Kneeland said these showings have substantially added to the budget of the Sun Valley Ski Education Foundation and have always been outstandingly successful.

"The Thief Who Came to Dinner," a new Warner Brothers film, stars Jacqueline Bisset and Ryan O'Neal as a pair of jewel thieves who burglarize the wealthy socialites of Houston.

Walter Hill did the screenplay and the film features the music of Henry Mancini.

"The Idaho premiere showing of 'The Thief Who Came to Dinner' will be one of the first showings in the United States. The Hollywood premiere is scheduled for March 7.

The special premiere of "Thief" is being given to the foundation by the producer-director, Bud Yorkin, a recent visitor at Sun Valley. Yorkin presently produces "All in the Family," "Sanford and Son" and "Maude."

Advance ticket sales for both films will be conducted in several locations at Sun Valley and Ketchum.

Monkey business

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two commercial airlines Thursday disputed a report from the Colorado Health Department that a pet-monkey which later died of tuberculosis was allowed to scamper in their passengers' cabins during flights.

A spokesman for American Airlines in New York said, "We don't carry monkeys in the passenger cabin. We don't have any record of that happening."

A United Airlines spokesman in Chicago said that airline also had rules against animals in the passenger cabin.

Dr. Martin D. Dunn, chief of veterinary services for the Colorado Health Department, said Wednesday the monkey was allowed to mingle with passengers on an American flight from Rochester, N.Y. to Cleveland last Dec. 22, and on a United flight from Cleveland to Grand Junction, Colo. the next day.

He said that although it was in a carrying case it was released during the flight, thus exposing the passengers to the disease.

DES dispensed 'like water'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A city, UCLA, Syracuse, Princeton, Minnesota, Harvard, and Iowa State.

"In cases we know about DES is used with unacceptable carelessness, in some cases without even the most elemental requirements of an experiment," she said.

"Advocates for Medical Information, an Ann Arbor student group, reported to us last November that the Health Service at the University of Michigan was dispensing DES like water," she said.

"At that time, women were not warned of possible side effects other than nausea or of its unapproved status."

She said followup at the University of Vermont is "jackadamical" and that at Oregon State, the health center gynecologist said: "I tell the

TF burglaries checked

TWIN FALLS — Two burglaries were being investigated Thursday by Twin Falls City police.

Franklin Gibbs, Twin Falls, told officers someone entered his parked 1962 sedan Wednesday afternoon and took a $210 pay check.

He said the vehicle was parked on the United Oil Parking lot at the time and the check was from United Oil where he is employed.

Ruby Bandy, Twin Falls, told officers someone broke into her house at 501 Fourth Ave. W. and removed a number of furniture items.

She estimated the value at $93. Taken were several small tables, a console radio and two chairs.

Riders plan

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Purple Sage Riders Club will start their 1973 season with a kick-off breakfast March 1 at Smitty's Pancake House.

A ride will be held following the breakfast and anyone wanting to ride should bring their horses. Parking space is available at the rear of the building. The women's riding group meets each Thursday during spring, early summer, and fall months for one-day trail rides.

Hope up for Laos POWs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. defense officials hope the cease-fire today in Laos will result in a new list of American servicemen held prisoner of war in that country.

So far the Communist Pathet Lao have acknowledged holding only seven U.S. military men and three civilians. That list, provided through the North Vietnamese Feb. 1 in Paris, was immediately labeled incomplete by the United States.

In contrast, U.S. officials have accepted Communist listings of 581 living military and civilian POWs in North and here. The king and queen of hearts are just excess baggage.

Your play is to win the trump lead in dummy, ruff a heart, enter dummy with a second trump and ruff the last heart.

Now you lead a low diamond. East wins and must lead a diamond back. Play low. Sooner or later an opponent is going to have to lead a heart and give you a ruff and discard or lead a club and solve your finessing problems.

CARD SENSE

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Hungarian Paul Lukaacs, who now lives in Tel Aviv, has long been famous for his single dummy problems. Today's hand is printed by courtesy of the Bridge World magazine.

Your problem is to find a way to be sure to make your four-spade contract irrespective of what the defense does or where their cards are.

In the actual setup there is no problem. You know where the queen of clubs is and can always finesse against it.

This type of problem is known as a single dummy problem and there is a catch

What do you do now?

A "Bid" one spade. Do not double or bid one no-trump because you hold just one diamond.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid one spade. North bids two spades. What do you do now?
