I'm going to cry, Sam'

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Verl Chesley, Burley, returned home Saturday night after a wrenching reunion with their son Larry, who was imprisoned in North Vietnam for nearly seven years.

The ecstatic parents met Larry at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., on Feb. 17.

They said Larry will come to Burley in 7 to 10 days, after he has returned from a visit to Ogden, Utah, to see his daughter Debbie, 11, and son Donnie, 9.

The parents also said Larry wants time to gain weight to return home in the same physical shape as he left. There is no medical reason for big delayed homecoming, the Chesleys said.

Larry's underweight condition was the most striking change in her son, Mrs. Chesley said. But he is quickly remedying the situation, she added, with lots of ice cream and three large meals per day. Verl Chesley said his son had gained 12 pounds since his release.

The parents kept mum on most of the particulars concerning Larry, his condition, and his treatment as a POW.

They said he would be most willing to speak for himself when he arrived in Burley.

They did confirm that Larry will probably stay in the Air Force long enough to retire, perhaps four or five years. Verl Chesley said he was happy to report that Larry's back injury is not as bad as feared and will not require surgery.

He said numerous treatments had been suggested by military doctors at Travis.

Mrs. Chesley said her son feels he has come home with honor and is looking forward to a trip to Washington, D. C., for a personal visit with President Nixon.

She said when Larry was preparing to disembark at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippine after his release, he turned to a fellow POW and said, "I'm not going to cry, Sam. I'm not going to cry."

But when Larry stepped off the plane and saw the many small children waiting to greet the returnees with miniature American flags and bright faces, he turned to the same friend and said, "I'm going to cry, Sam."

Gaining weight

MRS. VERL CHESLEY stands with her son, Larry, before leaving him to return to Burley. Larry, an Air Force captain, had been held captive in North Vietnam for seven years prior to his recent release. According to Mrs. Chesley, Larry is regaining weight by eating mounds of ice cream. (Photo special to the Times-News from the Chesley family).

Arab blow asked

By United Press International

Arabs mourning the death of 106 persons killed when Israeli Phantom jets shot down a Libyan airliner last week called on Libya's rulers today for revenge against Israel. The Lebanese newspaper al-Moharir asked Arab oil-producing nations to use their oil as a reprisal weapon against the United States.

Despite the crisis brought by the Libyan plane incident, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir left Tel Aviv today for talks with President Nixon and said she believed Middle East peace efforts would not be affected by the incident since peace would prevent such tragedies.

Joseph J. Sisco, the State Department's ranking Middle East expert, said Sunday Nixon had laid a foundation for progress toward a Mideast peace settlement in recent meetings with Jordan's King Hussein and Egyptian envoy Mohammed Hafez Ismail.

"I think, frankly, that both sides would like to find a way to coexist and that is why I feel the doors of diplomacy remain open," he said on the CBS "Face the Nation" program.

With Arab nations outraged by the plane incident, U. Gen. Ahmed Ismail, the Egyptian War Minister, flew today to Moscow for what Egyptian political sources in Cairo said was probably another attempt to get weapons from the Soviet Union.

Ismail headed a high-level military delegation on a visit that signalled a return to military cooperation, following the visit of a Soviet military delegation to Cairo two weeks ago.

Ismail is commander-in-chief of Egyptian armed forces and of those of the Federation of Arab Republics, comprising Egypt, Syria and Libya.

Hassle mars Viet talks

By GERARD LOUGHRAN

PARIS (UPI) — Foreign ministers from the major world powers met today to seek a lasting peace for Vietnam, but the opening session was marked by squabbles and a threat by Canada to abandon its peace-keeping role on grounds the Vietnam cease-fire was not working.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers told the conference, "Our common goals and aspirations impel us to concentrate on a single objective — peace." He said signing of the peace accord promised that an era of conciliation truly has begun.

Canadian External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, chairman of today's opening session, was more pessimistic. He said the cease-fire was not working and Canada would quit its supervising role unless permanent political machinery is set up to organize the peace.

Canada is one of four nations which agreed to police the cease-fire. The others are Hungary, Poland and Indonesia.

"The cease-fire has not been effective throughout South Vietnam and the four-power Joint Military Commission has not operated effectively," Sharp said. "The Vietnamese parties are still engaged in hostile activities."

He said Canada would resign from the commission March 30 unless the problem is settled.

Today's opening session lasted for two hours and 20 minutes and then legal experts from Washington and Hanoi got together to work on details of how to guarantee the peace. Conference spokesmen said the two sides would seek to produce a joint declaration to submit to an all-party drafting committee Tuesday for eventual signature.

The conference includes delegates from the United States, Russia, China, North Vietnam, South Vietnam, the Viet Cong, Britain, France, Canada, Poland, Hungary, Indonesia and the United Nations. It will reconvene Tuesday morning.

Ministers planned bilateral meetings during their free afternoon, including a session between Rogers and Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the British foreign secretary. Rogers already had chatted with Chinese Foreign Minister Chi Ping-fel and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

No rehearsing of abort rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its controversial decision last month on abortion laws and directed lower federal courts to decide questions about nine state statutes in light of that ruling.

The Jan. 22 decision was interpreted as striking down most state anti-abortion laws.

It allowed abortion during the first three months of pregnancy at the decision of a woman and her doctor. States were allowed to regulate abortions after that point depending on the length of the pregnancy. But abortions were permitted at any stage if necessary to preserve a mother's health.

Citing those guidelines, the Court today in separate actions returned cases to lower tribunals in Missouri, Illinois, North Carolina, Texas, Utah, Kentucky, South Dakota, Connecticut and Ohio.

Viets mum on release

By ARTHUR HIGBEE

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam refused today to answer U.S. queries on whether another group of American prisoners of war would be released Tuesday as scheduled, U.S. sources said. Washington had expected about 100 more to be freed.

"Our delegation to the prisoner of war subcommittee asked pointedly three times whether they (the North Vietnamese) had the list (of prisoners) and they didn't answer at all," said the source close to the four-power Joint Military Commission (JMC).

A second group of U.S. prisoners tentatively was scheduled for release Tuesday under the timetable outlined in the cease-fire plan. But the North Vietnamese failure to turn over a list of prisoners for release indicated such a release might not come off until later.

A four-hour meeting of the JMC subcommittee on prisoners today broke up in Saigon without progress, the U.S. source reported. He said the unit probably would meet again Tuesday.

The Communists did not say so but it appeared the hitch in the prisoner release may have stemmed from riots at the Da Nang in which five North Vietnamese cease-fire supervisors were injured.

Violence broke out Sunday at the after a crowd, mostly women, made a pilgrimage to a graveyard where thousands of victims of the Communists' 1968 Tet offensive are buried.

Wage rules unchanged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration said today wage standards for the economy as a whole during Phase III of the government's economic stabilization program would be no different than they were during Phase II.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz also said a special committee would be established to help hold down wage increases in the inflation-prone food industry.

Federal reserve hikes prime rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an effort to squeeze the supply of credit around the country and hold down inflation, the Federal Reserve Board today started charging its member banks 1/2 of 1 per cent more to borrow funds.

The FRB's discount rate goes from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent Monday. It is the second upward adjustment in five weeks and pushes the rate to its highest level in 15 months.

The discount rate is the interest the 12 federal reserve banks charge on loans to commercial banks. The prime rate is what commercial banks charge on short-term loans to their best customers.

The move toward higher interest rates should act as a brake on the current economic expansion by making it more expensive for business to finance investments and consumers to purchase expensive goods on credit. It also could attract foreign-held dollars back to the United States and help diminish the dollar pool that has fueled the turmoil in world currency markets.

Yacht report wins $5

TWIN FALLS — Alert Mrs. Golden McMurdie of Twin Falls will be mailed $5 for her newspaper tip about a yacht being built in Buhl.

Mrs. McMurdie telephoned the Times-News to say the yacht was being built out of concrete, and was resting on large props in the yard of a Buhl home. Her tip resulted in the feature story about the 71-ton yacht in Sunday's newspaper.

If you know of something you would like to see in your newspaper, phone 733-0031 or use the Times-News toll-free lines. It could be worth $5.

Israel asks peace

By RICHARD C. CROSS

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel Defense Minister Moshe Dayan appealed today to the Arab and Foreign Minister Abba Eban for "peace and normal neighborhood relations" and to "acknowledge that Israel, in governments of the world for hindsight, was wrong in judging understanding in the aftermath of the Boeing 727 with 113 persons of the Libyan airliner incident, aboard was a hostile aircraft. The two themes emerged Dayan urged the Arabs once again to accept his proposal for a hot line between their capitals and Israel for use in times of emergency.

The Arabs rejected the proposal when he made it last week.

"The only solution is peace and normal neighborhood relations," Dayan told the Knesset (Parliament) in Jerusalem. "But even in the absence of peace, there is nothing down than human life, and we must do everything to preserve it."

Eban, answering questions of law students at Hebrew University, said Israel expects governments of the world to separate the tragic death of 106 persons and "serious political considerations."

"The governments should be able to differentiate between the two and not have one influence the other," he said. "Within time, there shouldn't be an effect on our future relations with other friendly governments."

Prime Minister Golda Meir left today for Washington and talks with President Nixon, and said she believed the furor over the plane incident would not affect the outcome of the talks since peace would prevent such tragedies from happening again.

Leaves for US

ISRAELI PREMIER Golda Meir wards off questions from newsmen at Tel Aviv airport today prior to departure for U.S. and talks with President Nixon. She said downing of a Libyan airliner this past week "will not affect my talks with President Nixon." Purpose of her visit is to discuss American efforts to bring about partial Mideast settlement. WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress opens an investigation today to learn what role American dominated multinational corporations played in the recent international monetary crisis that led to the 10 percent devaluation of the dollar.

The hearings by the subcommittee on international trade of the Senate Finance Committee, scheduled to last five days, also are expected to touch upon what influence such conglomerates have on U.S. foreign policy.

White House economic aide Peter Flanigan was the leadoff witness at the hearing, which was chaired by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. He was to be followed by Donald M. Kendall, board chairman of PepsiCo, Inc. Other witnesses during the hearings will be top executive of General Motors Corporation, IBM World Trade Corporation and Union Carbide Corporation, as well as AFL-CIO President George Meany and United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock.

Committee sources said they also want to learn what agreement, if any, the administration has made with labor leaders concerning the new trade bill in which President Nixon seeks authority to raise or lower tariffs against foreign imports at will.

The main issue during the hearings, the committee sources said, was whether or not these American-controlled conglomerates acted against the best interests of the United States, particularly in the recent monetary crisis.

The committee wants to determine whether the conglomerates, which have an estimated $260 billion in assets, jumped into the market in exchange for stronger currencies for short term gains or strictly to protect their own financial interests.

The transfer of only a small amount of such assets could have a staggering impact on any national currency, the committee sources said.

It was Flanigan's first congressional appearance since being given the additional duties of executive director of the President's Council on International Economic Policy.

Last summer Flanigan repeatedly refused to answer questions, on grounds of executive privilege, before the Senate Judiciary Committee concerning operations of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company. Flanigan testified at that time in support of the nomination of Richard Kleindienst as attorney general.

Fund lid battles erupting

9 receive Cub awards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon was expected to be challenged again this week by an angry Congress over federal spending levels and the power of the purse.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., say they will introduce measures that would allow Congress to assert more muscle over federal expenditures.

The Javits' bill, to be introduced today, would authorize the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to spend an estimated $3 billion more than the White House requested for this fiscal year. The bill would be aimed at blocking any cutbacks on impounding of authorized funds by Nixon.

Humphrey's legislation would limit presidential authority to withhold spending of funds appropriated by Congress.

"For too long, the Congress has been content to accept the President's definition of what the nation's priorities should be," Humphrey said in a statement Sunday. "It should do so no longer."

The bill would prohibit impounding of funds when such an action "terminates or otherwise impairs legislative intent of a program."

HAZELTON — Nine Cub Scouts from Pack 138 receive awards at the annual Blue and Gold dinner Friday evening.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The rocket-spacecraft combination that will ferry the first men to the Skylab space station in May was moved to the launch pad today for final flight preparations.

The 3.4-mile move, about a six-hour task, marked a significant step toward the start of the nation's next manned spaceflight project. The Apollo lunar exploration program ended in December.

The Saturn 1B rocket, carrying a modified version of the Apollo command ship, left its lowering assembly building at 5 a.m. MST standing upright on its mobile-launch platform

Hanoi Challenges Nixon

WASHINGTON — Having so disrupted the proposed inspection process that fighting has continued unabated during nearly four weeks since the "consofire" in Vietnam, Hanoi now can be counted on to renege on its agreed troop withdrawal from Laos.

Communist strategy: maximum military pressure in South Vietnam as the U.S. totally disengages. By stalling inspection through the four-power Joint Military Commission (JMC), the Communists have permitted heavy operations by North Vietnamese troops throughout South Vietnam.

The result: no inspection teams were sent into the interior while fighting equalled — sometimes surpassed — the peaks of the last six months. During one night last week, Communist gunners fired 1,400 mixed mortar and artillery rounds into South Vietnam, airborne troops at Quang Tri.

Peace Without Bandages

Lewiston Tribune Predictably, some conservative members of Congress who cheered each ton of destruction dumped on North Vietnam are protesting administration proposals to help repair the damage.

But helping a former enemy back on its feet is not an admission of guilt, and it has always been an astute investment. There was no thought of reparations or U.S. admission of guilt in the help given Germany and Japan in the wake of World War II.

seem to be saying is that the United States should not be doing the decent thing abroad because the President is doing the indecent thing to American social programs. Two wrongs make a right, Mondale appeared to be saying, but wouldn't it make more sense to count the blessing that Mr. Nixon at least has his mind open on half of what he should be doing?

Church, however, does not turn a completely cold shoulder on the situation. And he has a point in counseling against unilateral U.S. aid under formal American sponsorship. He suggests that American aid, if any, should be through world and regional agencies.

North and South, to reunite. As the staff report put it, both the South's Park and the North's Sung want reunification, but each under his own leadership.

He demanded the U.S. abandon its bases in South Vietnam, though Woodward insisted all bases had been turned over to the Saigon government.

Solons begin 8th week

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — A month ago Idaho lawmakers were talking about Feb. 24 as a possible date for final adjournment. But that day has silently slipped by and now new dates of March 3, 10, 17, have been set.

Today begins the eighth week of the legislature with major finance measures still facing the House and Senate, along with bills to legalize abortions in the state, reorganization of state government by a mandate of the people, stream-channel bill, and much-talked-about tax relief for property owners.

The Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee — which puts together all appropriations bills for state agencies — will deal with major agencies this week, including health and welfare.

Saturday, the 18-man committee made recommendations for 16 agencies, including a $13.4 million appropriation for higher education.

Joint committee members still face an appropriation for public schools in Idaho. Last week, members settled on a $57.8 million figure which would have given schools in the state's 115 districts a $12 million increase.

But the measure was rescinded two days later when Republicans said the bill was impossible to word because of a clause giving non-administrative employees 75 per cent of the increase for salaries.

The senate will face a debate on state government reorganization early in the week. Last November, voters approved a constitutional amendment calling for a reduction in the number of state agencies, commission and boards. The total number after reorganization would be no more than 20. The task must be completed by Jan. 1, 1975.

The house still has before it such measures as school district reorganization and kindergartens.

TF page would vote

TF page 'votes' in Legislature

BOISE — During the floor sessions of the Senate, there are usually four pages seated in various spots in the chambers ready to deliver the unending flow of messages the senators write.

But according to Kent Christensen, a Twin Falls High School student serving as a page in the second half of the legislature, he can become pretty wrapped up in the debate proceedings.

"I find myself voting," Christensen said last week. "In a roll call vote I'll want to say 'aye.' I really have to work not to shake my head or stand up and agree."

The Twin Falls student, who worked on Republican campaigns during the 1972 elections, hopes his introduction into the state legislature will be another step on the road to a political career. "I want to go into law school and then politics," he said. Although his current job is routine, the Twin Falls page insists it isn't boring. "I'm really surprised," he said, "I thought it would be a lot of mind-boggling things. I'm surprised at the scope of things they debate. It's never boring."

His work day, generally from 8:30 to mid-afternoon, is consumed with delivering the messages, filing copies of bills in the senators' bill books, doing work. Some of the teachers attend to the details that always seem to crop up.

A most unusual assignment, he said, was when he was dispatched to a downtown Boise drug store to pick up the prescription that had been ordered by Senate President Pro Tem James Ellsworth, H-Leader.

Gem school fund case set today

BOISE (UPI) — The State Treasurer will go to court today against the State of Idaho alleging the Investment Board and the registration for investment funds in a manner that may be unconstitutional.

Named as defendants in the case brought by Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon are the State Investment Board, the Department of Finance, Commissioner of Finance Tom McElidowney and the State of Idaho.

Judge Alfred C. Hagan, fourth judicial district court, Boise, is scheduled to hear the case.

Miss Moon contends that the act creating the Investment Board does not adequately provide for losses of Public School Endowment Funds that were invested before the enactment.

"She says there was a loss prior to the legislation and it was not provided for although article 9, section three of the Idaho Constitution states "the state shall supply thereof and the registration for investment funds in a manner that may be unconstitutional."

According to the facts in the case, there was an actual loss of $1,758,023 as of March 25, 1969 between that date and Dec. 31, 1972. Miss Moon alleges there was a further loss of $36,555.

Miss Moon, represented by attorney Wayne P. Fuller, Caldwell, also alleges the statute establishing the Investment Board is unconstitutional. She contends the constitution vests the responsibility to invest those funds and this cannot be legislated away from that office.

Gem sessions tend to exceed 60 days

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News
BOISE — Whoever started the rumor that the Idaho legislature meets for 60 days had probably been reading the state constitution instead of watching the legislature in action.

That constitution says legislators are to be paid $10 a day for no more than 60 days of a regular session, 20 days of a special session.

That works out to about $1.25 an hour for an eight-hour day; a more common length for a legislator's day is 14 hours, in which case he would be getting 71 cents an hour.

Most employers who paid wages like that would be explaining themselves to the wage and hour division of the Department of Labor, but the people of Idaho figure that's plenty for the men who write their laws.

And it could explain why the legislators tend to be stingy in writing budgets.

However, that 60-day pay limit makes a lot of people believe that legislative sessions last 60 days except in extraordinary circumstances. Not true. There have only been eight sessions in state history that lasted 60 days or less — and 35 sessions went longer. The average length of a session is 64.20 days.

They are getting longer, though. Since 1961 — the year of the most recent 60-day session — the average has been 72 days. Both the longest and the shortest sessions have occurred during that past decade.

In 1967 the legislature remained in session 89 days and adjourned on March 31 — just in time to keep from becoming 90-day wonders and April Fools.

That broke a record that had stood since 1890-91 when the First Legislature met for 83 days.

The shortest session was 55 days in 1970. There was a 55-day session in 1943, but it ran 13 hours longer than the 1970 session. In fact, adjournment did not come until 4 a.m. the next day.

It was not until 1925 that Idaho had a legislative session as short as 60 days. Then it had three in a row — 1925, 1927, and 1929. Four years after that it got out in 59 days.

There was a 60-day session in 1945, then the one 12 years ago which also adjourned at 4 the next morning.

The most common length has been 62 days. That has happened 12 times. The 62nd day is always a Saturday, which might explain why they choose to leave then. There have been six 61-day sessions.

The most common adjournment date has been March 8. That has been getaway day on eight occasions. This year, March 8 will be the 60th legislative day.

The 41st Legislature, meeting in 1970-71-72, spent more time in session than any previous legislature. It held a three-day organizing session, an 18-day special session, and regular sessions of 69 and 75 days, for a total of 165 days in Boise.

Reds near Cambodia capital

PHNOM-PENH (UPI) — Communist forces pounded government targets as close as 12 miles to Phnom Penh, after launching their heaviest nationwide offensive of the Cambodian war, military spokesmen said Sunday.

American spokesmen in Honolulu said U.S. warplanes carried out strikes Sunday in Cambodia, the only country not included in the Vietnam cease-fire agreement. The spokesmen gave no details of the American raids.

But the Cambodian high command said Khmer Rouge (Cambodian Communists) hit government strongholds along two major highways—Highway 3 from the capital to Kompung Som, the country's only deep-water-seaport, and Highway 2 from the capital to the Mekong Delta.

Some of the fighting, which lasted all day and saw the two sides use heavy weapons, occurred within 12 miles of Phnom Penh, the command said. Officials called the fighting "fierce" and said the nationwide offensive was the biggest launched so far by the Communists.

The high command also reported Communist attacks on the new provincial capital of Tram Khnar, 22 miles south of Phnom Penh, and on the Damnak Reachea military garrison. It is over this route that most of the capital's fuel, food and military supplies move.

In fighting there, officials said, government casualties were one dead and seven wounded.

At another point two miles from Nzak Luong, spokesmen said, Communist gunners blasted government positions with 82mm mortars. There was no report of battle losses.

In the capital itself, Chinese merchants closed their shops and barred their gates Sunday after several hundred soldiers ran through the streets around the central marketplace firing M79 grenade launchers into the air.

Labor asks tax change

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Leaders of organized labor have called for an excess profits tax and elimination of the business investment tax credit as part of the Phase III economic program.

"If equity is to be achieved during this current period of government restraint of wages, the soaring rise of corporate income must also be restrained," the AFL-CIO Executive Council said.

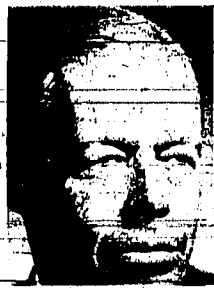

Congress and broadcasters to block what it said were efforts by President Nixon to force television and radio networks and stations to get their news and comments into line with administration policies.

"The attempt of the administration, whether by carrot or stick, to induce licensees to an ideological slant more to the administration's liking, is a grave threat to First Amendment freedoms," the council said. "It should be flatly rejected by the industry, and, if the industry is too shortsighted to perceive its own long-range interest, by the Congress."

The council also said Western negotiators in the coming European Security Conference should insist on Soviet abandonment of the Brezhnev Doctrine and on the Russians making bigger troop cuts than the Americans in Europe.

Under the Brezhnev Doctrine used by the Soviet Union to invade Czechoslovakia in 1968, the labor leaders said Moscow "has arrogated to herself the right to intervene militarily in the internal affairs of her East European satellites."

They also said the Russians should make bigger troop cuts than the United States in Europe to offset the growing Soviet and East European military forces in recent years.

Laos front turns quiet

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Acting Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak reported a decline today in the amount of fighting between royalist troops and Pathet Lao Communist forces. There was a lull at Paksong, a Communist-held town and the scene of the heaviest fighting since a truce came into force five days ago.

But Sisouk said chances of recapturing Paksong, a key southern town in the Bolovens plateau, appeared slim because of United States refusal to commit helicopters in support of Laotian forces.

He said government troops could recapture Paksong if they met no resistance from Communist troops. Officials said there was no fighting at the town, the scene of U.S. bombing earlier.

Of American refusal to give Laotian troops helicopter support, Sisouk said: "Our hands are tied. The Americans want to play the game strictly."

A Western source said U.S. air power remains available if Laotian officials consider it vital in combating post-truce hostilities. B52 bombers carried out some raids earlier after the government called for help in fighting in the deep south of the country.

U.S. sources said advisers stationed near Paksong would continue defensive and supply

President Nixon so far has rejected suggestions for controls on profits and abolition of the investment credit enacted in 1971 to spur economic recovery.

"The labor council, winding up its midwinter meeting today, said wage increases have fallen under the administration's economic controls, but profits rose 4 per cent in 1971, went up another 15 per cent in 1972 and were expected to rise an additional 15 to 17 per cent this year.

In other action, the AFL-CIO council called for a full-scale congressional investigation of the growing trend of business mergers and acquisitions which it said is concentrating economic power into fewer and fewer hands.

The council also urged

Mushroom callback broadens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another 50,000 institutional-sized cans of mushrooms which may contain the poison that produces botulism are being recalled by an Ohio canner.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said Sunday the recall was in addition to 29,500 cans recalled last week ago.

FDA officials said they had received no reports of botulism poisoning traced to the mushrooms.

The new recall involves all No. 10 cans, a size not ordinarily sold for home use, an FDA spokesman said.

The firm involved, United Canning Corp., of East Palestine, Ohio, voluntarily agreed to expand the recall to include all of the large-sized mushroom cans it had produced since Sept. 4, the FDA said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The FBI, under orders from the Nixon administration, tapped the phones of newsmen and White House aides in an attempt to trace possible leaks to the press, Time magazine reported Sunday.

In its current edition, Time said "four different sources in the government" reported the wiretapping, which began three years ago over the objections of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Cease-fire celebrated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and 300 members of Congress have celebrated the cease-fire in Vietnam with a worship service at the White House.

The President invited 300 bipartisan members of the Senate and House, their families and other guests to the White House Sunday to observe "the first time in nine years the United States is at peace."

Nixon planned to turn to domestic affairs today, sending the human resources part of his State of the Union message to Capitol Hill at noon EST.

Baseball sides reach agreement

NEW YORK (UPI) — Play

A possible delay in the scheduled March 1 opening of spring training was averted Sunday when representatives of baseball's club owners and players announced agreement on a new three-year contract.

Cincinnati Reds had hardly heard the news before he donned a pair of spikes and headed for his team's training complex in Tampa, Fla.

"Gret, now we can get started. I'm anxious to get going," said Bench, the National League's Most Valuable Player last year.

MINN. —

Group's executive board, comprising a player representative from each of the teams, will be held Wednesday in Miami. At that time the board is expected to urge ratification of the pact.

Club Feeney, president of the National League, said shortly after Sunday's meeting that the members of the owners' player relations committee had been informed of the agreement and that all clubs would be notified and told that spring training camps may open on schedule.

Rockets slip by Kentucky

DENVER (UPI) — Rookie guard Claude Terry, pressed into duty by fouls and illness, made two free throws with six seconds to play Sunday to give the Denver Rockets an 87-86 American Basketball Association victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

The victory, the sixth straight for Denver, stunned the Colonels, who had come from behind and only needed to run out the clock in the final 26 seconds for the triumph.

But guard Al Smith, who had 19 points, made a diving steal at mid-court and, while lying on the floor, threw the ball to Terry, who was fouled by Ron Thomas as he went in for a layup.

With the Rockets in the bonus situation, Terry missed his first free throw, and then sank his next two. Terry played only 18 minutes and had seven points.

Rick Mount of the Colonels, who finished with 13 points, fired a desperation shot from 22 feet at the buzzer, but the ball bounced off the rim to give Denver its first win at home over Kentucky in two years.

Cash outmoded for service work

DETROIT (UPI) — The back shops of the nation's auto dealers are becoming part of the cashless society as more and more accept credit cards for service work.

Mercury dealerships participating in the program. And for Ford alone, this is part of a $1 billion operation annually.

Until Ford's recent announcement of the nationwide plan, credit business was on a hit-or-miss basis — some dealers accepting credit cards, others only cash and maybe personal checks. Ford estimates 15 per cent of its service business in the coming year will be credit card transactions.

The plan makes credit card purchases at Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealerships available to an estimated 10 million motorists who hold one or more of five major cards — MasterCard, Bank Americard, American Express, Diner's Club and Carte Blanche.

The credit plan announcement follows Ford's introduction last fall of a continuing service improvement program with the goal of "No Unhappy Owners."

CSI recruiting minority and low income students in Talent Search

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — An effort is underway to recruit minority and low income students to attend the College of Southern Idaho.

The program is called Talent Search and has been in operation at the college since last June. At present 29 students are enrolled at CSI through the program.

According to Blanca Ingram, full-time Talent Search counselor and recruiter at CSI, the program is funded by the federal government as part of the Trio programs, which also include Special Services and Upward Bound.

Mrs. Ingram said the main effort of Talent Search in the Magic Valley area is directed at Mexican-American students, but the program is available for all low-income and minority students, regardless of race or sex.

Talent Search attempts to find "average low income students" in the public school system and encourage them to attend in continuing their education, Mrs. Ingram said. She said that the program as such does not have financial aid available to students, but Talent

Search counselors work with school financial counselors and others to provide funding. So far, she said, no student has been turned away because of a lack of financing.

Student tuition funding and money for expenses, Mrs. Ingram said, is available through Equal Opportunity Program grants, supplemented by National Defense Education Act loans and student work-study jobs.

Mrs. Ingram said she is responsible for recruiting in Minidoka, Cassia, Twin Falls and Jerome counties. She said she hopes to triple the chicano population at CSI by next fall.

The chicano student in the public schools, Mrs. Ingram said, is often passed from grade to grade without acquiring basic language skills until finally the student reaches an academic level at which it is obvious he can't cope, and then he drops out of school.

As an example, Mrs. Ingram said that out of a group of 84 students who were attending junior high in Rupert only 16 made it to their senior year in high school.

Mrs. Ingram said the chicano student's culture is suppressed in the public schools, that program at CSI has been very English is taught as a mother successful because of support language "without correlation" from the school, especially from with the pupil's true mother president James L. Taylor and language of Spanish and that the school counselors.

The already set up a scholarship chicano student often lives a fund for students, she said.

She also noted that students personally day by day in which enrolled in Talent Search work the Anglo culture is ingored at part-time to recruit other home and the Mexican culture students for the program.

Hopefully, Talent Search. Ingram said, there are no University, will have a satellite chicano studies at CSI, program similar to CSI's nor cultural studies. But plans underway at Boise State College are, about to get them into the beginning next summer Mrs. Ingram added.

Nixon impounds sewage money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last fall Congress overcame a veto by President Nixon and put on the books an ambitious law: its goal was to make all the nation's waters pure by 1985, and its price tag was $18 billion.

touchy about spending the investors' money to put relatively clean discharge in the same river.

From the time of passage until June 30, 1974, the law provided for $1.1 billion to help cities across the country build sewage treatment plants. But in November, Nixon revealed that he would allow only $5 billion of that amount to be spent, and impounded indefinitely the other $6 billion.

The legality of Nixon's action with its implications for the whole constitutional separation-of-powers concept — really never has been tested in court. Ruckelshaus says the President is in the right because the law authorized him to spend money, "not to exceed" the amounts mentioned in the bill. That means, he contends, anything from nothing up to the full amount.

Nixon said he took the action in the interest of a balanced budget, and to prevent an infusion of money that would cause inflation in the construction industry.

The people who wrote the law said the impoundment was illegal interference with the powers the Constitution gives Congress. But so far they don't seem to be able to do anything about it.

The sewage treatment plant issue is important because the law says that all municipalities must have secondary treatment facilities — systems which result in largely pure discharge by mid-1977, and by mid-1983 they must apply more advanced technology beyond secondary treatment.

The federal money accounts for 75 per cent of the plant construction funds, the states and local communities must raise the other 25 per cent. There are no accurate figures yet available on how many construction projects have been delayed by the President's action.

In his budget last month, Nixon noted the $5 billion that will be spent and said an additional $5.1 billion would be going out to meet federal commitments on sewage treatment projects to which the government obligated itself in previous years.

"A total of $10.1 billion has been set aside in a short period of time for waste treatment facilities," Nixon said. "I believe that more funds will not speed our progress toward clean water, but merely inflate the cost while creating substantial fiscal problems."

William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, says the government was spending $215 million a year in 1969 for sewage treatment plants, and that has risen to $3.9 billion during the current business year.

"So in the last three years we have spent at a rate three times as high as in the previous 15 years," he added. "These figures should be borne in mind when discussing just what we are spending."

But for the forces involved in creating the law, particularly Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., chairman of the House Public Works Committee, what is not being spent remains more important than what is.

Blatnik said Nixon's action "kicks the whole thing haywire. It's the greatest act of irresponsibility by a President... he upset the whole program."

Adds Muskie: "What he's done is rewrite the act after Congress overrode his veto."

The 1985 pure water goal now is uncertain, one Blatnik aide said, and the impoundment could indirectly affect the law's mandate that industries discharging into waters implement the "best practical" technology to stop it by mid-1977, and the "best available" technology by July 1, 1983.

"Suppose along the Ohio River cities can't get money to build proper treatment facilities," another Blatnik aide theorized. "Then you might have a steel plant that might be

Exercise set near TF

TWIN FALLS — An overnight escape and evasion tactics exercise will be conducted near Twin Falls March 24.

Reserve Officer Training Corps ranger companies from Idaho State University, Pocatello, and Utah State University, Logan, will conduct the exercises. It will simulate the rescue of a downed pilot from enemy territory, according to Charles J. Odle, Idaho public information officer for the ISU rangers.

Legionnaires grow plump

OMAHA, French Somaliland (UPI) — The Foreign Legion, the legendary last resort of criminals, star-crossed lovers and wartime losers, is trading in its rifles for plumbline and roadbuilding equipment.

The Legion, founded by King Louis Philippe in 1831 to help control France's African colonies, long ago marched out of its Sahara desert fortresses — romanticized in such movies as "Beau Geste" — and abandoned its baggy red trousers and blue coats.

With France's once great African and Asian empire shrunk to a few tiny enclaves the legion soon may have no useful task — to fulfill — and nowhere to call home. One-tenth of its strength, the 1,000 men of the 13th demi-brigade, are stationed in this last French colony in Africa: its role here is to show the tricolor, and maintain order among the estimated 200,000 "Afrs" and "Issas," nomadic tribesmen in the area.

There have been periodic secessionist movements in the past, but the 8,000 square mile territory currently is quiet. The Legion's enemies are the flies and the searing 120 degree heat that has baked the territory dry.

"We're doing a lot more roadbuilding than fighting here," one Legionnaire said in the guardpost at this forward base. "France must be lovely right now. I'll be out of this hole in a few months."

"Most Legionnaires have big, more bellies than I do," a Djibouti restaurant owner complained. "All they do is wench and drink. They don't fight."

Few Frenchmen here — soldiers or civilians — agree with the restaurant owner on the Legion's fighting abilities. For them, the Legionnaires still are elite shock troops — cast in the same mold as the men who helped conquer Algeria, fought in almost continuous campaigns in places from Africa to Crimea to Indochina (and incidentally Mexico in support of Emperor Maximilian), and suffered 31,000 casualties among 45,000 troops in World War I.

Officers say the Legion has more volunteers than it needs. Any man between the ages of 18 and 40 can join but he must pass a tough physical examination. A large number of Legionnaires are Germans — an estimated 40 per cent here. Officers are exclusively French, and their numbers reportedly are increasing in the ranks, too, where a Frenchman can get a higher enlistment bonus than if he joins the regular army. In the ranks pay is about $200 a month.

Officers are allowed to take their wives to duty posts such as this one; enlisted men are not. Officially the Legion will not take anyone with a known criminal record but officers said few questions are asked about the past and once enlisted, a man can change his name.

The insignia of the Legion is a grenade with the spouting flames and its motto: "Honor and Faithfulness."

But for a mercenary army whose ranks have swollen after every European war — with volunteers from the defeated forces, the Legion's unofficial motto is more relevant: "Legio Patria Nostra — The Legion is Our Fatherland."

'New' hunter uses camera

By BOB JOHNSON
Times-News Writer

SALMON — There's a new breed of hunter roaming the wilds of Idaho. They are equipped with an outdoor guide and a camera. They are coming to photograph the elk, deer, cougar, bear, mountain goat and sheep. They're taking pictures of the wild rivers, the mountain peaks, the remaining of a historic past. They don't have a hunter's instinct, but rather a taste for aesthetics. Outfitters and guides in the Salmon area now are booking their "Camera Safaris" for the coming season. The "hunt" for pictures will be carried on in the primitive areas of the Salmon River country. The "Camera Safari" is being aimed at a vast new audience seeking an outdoor experience to take home. They have no desire to hunt to kill but to capture the beauty and excitement of the wilderness. Martin Capps, Salmon, president of the Idaho Outfitters and Guides Association, notes it out there are backpacking and trail rides. The guides, looking at a new source of tourists, are aiming their brochure advertising at the camera oriented clientele. Those interested in shooting big game are advised the best time in the Salmon River country is March, April and early May while the herds are still down from the high country because of winter snow. Come spring, the animals move higher. As the season advances, snow capped mountains, towering above flowering meadows and plunging brooks bordered in new green vegetation provide early summer camera material. Summer is an opportunity to take pictures of the rivers, the high country, the lakes, the mountain peaks, the fly fishermen, the Indian paintings, the jet-boats scurrying down river, the rubber raft drifting with the current. Fall is a time of color, with leaves turning gold and red. Fishermen are out for steelhead. The rivers are changing to blue as the water drops.

Floating the Middle Fork or jetting the main Salmon is a photographer's delight. The white, foaming rapids, the green, silent pools, the cliffs and spires are there to shoot. The outfitters and guides are offering all this along with their services of boatman, packer, guide, cook and entertainer. And they're looking for every breed of photographer — from amateur to professional. What they have to offer are the Middle Fork of the Salmon River — one of the nation's first "Wild Rivers"; the main Salmon River, with the second deepest gorge on the Continent; the Idaho Primitive Area with its Bighorn Crags, and the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area.

School funds asked

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The Gooding State School for the Deaf and Blind will receive a general fund appropriation of $804,000 for the coming year if the recommendations of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee are adopted by the legislature.

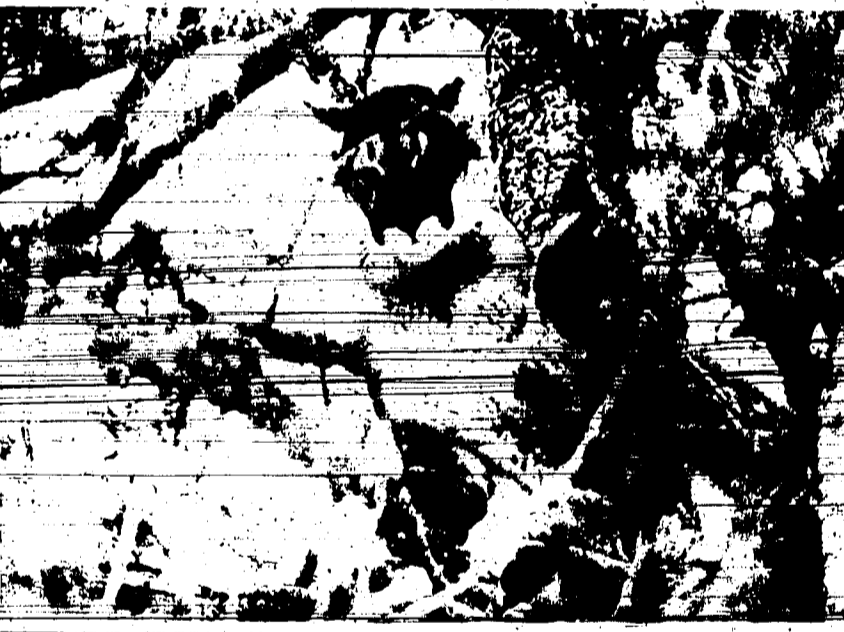

The Committee set the funding level — the request submitted to the lawmakers by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus — over the weekend. It compares to $858,000 for the current year, but falls below the $1.08 million the school's director, Edward Reay, had requested for the year beginning July 1.

In his appearance before the joint committee earlier in the session, Reay had warned the lawmakers that failure to approve the larger figure could jeopardize a special statewide "Itinerant Teachers" program that had been established to help visually handicapped people learn to read. In an interview following his appearance before the committee, he said the governor's request could have a "crippling" effect on the programs at the school, and could lead to staff resignations.

Spring attraction

IN THIS spring, Bighorn Sheep are seen along the rocky cliffs of the Salmon River.

Exciting 'shot'

COUGAR, the big cat, is exactly what the "Camera Safari" is looking for. This one, perched in a tree, glares back.

'Shooting' big game

CONFRONTED by a bear, the look seems to indicate members of the "Camera Safari" have not enough time to snap a picture.

Cattlemen give awards

GOODING — Leroy Hess, Bliss, former deputy sheriff, was presented two $500 awards Saturday at the Elmore Cattlemen's Association annual meeting. The awards, from both the Idaho Cattlemen's association and the Elmore group, were for Hess' efforts in apprehension of two persons later convicted of cattle theft in this area. John Olson, Boise, executive secretary of the Idaho Cattlemen's association, and Lee Trail, Glenns Ferry, Elmore Cattlemen, made the presentations. State Sen. Wilson Steen, Glenns Ferry, was elected president of the Elmore group during the meeting Saturday afternoon. Bill Mink, Gooding, is the new vice president and James Cramer, Fairfield, is secretary-treasurer. Ralph Steele, Idaho Falls, president of the Idaho Cattlemen's association, spoke. Other officials introduced included Noah Brackett, Twin Falls, western director of the National Cattlemen's Association, and Al Bauser, Fairfield, state director. The meeting concluded with a banquet and dance Saturday night at the IOOP hall.

Burley man must pay back wages

BOISE — A Burley man has been ordered to pay $3,500 in back wages to employees of laundries he owns in Rupert and Twin Falls. L. A. Boyd, operator of Boyd's Norge Laundry and Dry Cleaning Village, Twin Falls, was ordered by Judge J. Blaine Anderson of the Boise U.S. District Court to pay $5,544 in unpaid minimum wages and overtime compensation to 10 employees in Rupert and 16 in Twin Falls. Boyd was also assessed court costs of $61.16. Judge Anderson ordered Boyd to pay wages of not less than the $1.60 minimum and overtime at one-and-one-half times the regular rate. The suit against Boyd was filed by the Department of Labor on behalf of Boyd's employees.

Rupert crash

RUPERT — A state police car sustained about $3,000 damage in a collision with a Times-News van here at 4 a.m. Sunday. According to Rupert Police reports, state policeman Deton Jones, 29, Burley, suffered a cut lip when his vehicle collided with a van truck driven by Timothy Lynch, 22, Kimberly, near the intersection of Highway 24 and Sixth Street. Neither driver was hospitalized. The Lynch vehicle, owned by the Times-News, also sustained about $3,000 damage. Jones was headed east on Highway 24 when Lynch pulled in front of him from a parked position near a grocery store, according to the police report. Lynch was cited for failure to yield right of way by Rupert police.

Alabama family injured

JEROME — Three people were in St. Benedict's Hospital today following a one-car accident on Interstate 80 Sunday morning. Listed in good condition today are Mrs. Glenda Broxson, 20, and her daughter, Taryn, 12. Mrs. Broxson's husband, Timothy, 38, listed in fair condition with head injuries. All are from Wetumpka, Ala. According to Bill Bunn, investigating officer, the accident occurred at about 10:30 a.m. Sunday one-half mile west of Wendell. Bunn said Mrs. Broxson, who was driving, failed to negotiate a turn. The car left the highway, rolling several times in the median strip. All occupants were thrown from the car. A three-year-old son of the Broxsons, Timmy, uninjured in the accident, is being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Benson, Wendell. The car was demolished, Bunn said.

Shoshone accident reported

SHOSHONE — About $700 damage resulted to a car Saturday night when it struck the rear of a parked pickup truck in Shoshone. Chief of Police John Shaffer, Shoshone, and Ronald Scott, 19, driver of the car, reported he took his eyes from the road momentarily just before the crash occurred. The pickup, owned by George A. Benson, Wendell, received damages estimated at $85. Passengers in the Scott car, Carl Sweet, 20, and Tony Rose, 16, both Shoshone, were treated by a local physician for minor injuries. Shaffer said Scott was cited for inattentive driving.

Blaine race results given

HAILEY — A heavy snowfall accompanied the running of the Sawtooth Snowmobile Club's 70-mile individual cross country race Saturday at the Wood River Recreation Area. "White out" conditions produced several minor accidents. Jim Thornton, Burley, was treated for a hair-line fracture of the collar bone and was released from Moritz Community Hospital, Sun Valley. Out of 32 starting machines, 18 completed the race. The event features a 75-per cent return including trophies of entry fees to the winners. About 50 spectators attended. Results for the stock classes were as follows: 300 cc: First, Willis Castle, second, John Urnek, both Ketchum; and third, Jay Guffy, Bellevue. 340 cc: First, Rocky Sherbine, Bellevue; and second, Stan Bird, Hailey. 440 cc: First, Bob Potts, Gooding; second, Larry Heil, Castleford; and third, Randy Bird, Hailey. In the open class, results were: First, Bill Karst, Hailey; second, Steve Housel, Ketchum; and third, Phil Ramsey, Hailey.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Junior High multipurpose room.

Senator raps school proposal

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, accused the state department of education today of being "dishonest" with legislators seeking information and then talked the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee into holding up a proposal until the department could provide further data. The proposal, SB1153, would provide for greater statewide equalization of public school funding. It had reached the floor of the senate last week, but was pulled back into committee to work out some conflicts with legislation in the house. Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, chairman, tried to get the committee to put the proposal back onto the floor for amending, but the effort was defeated on a 6-5 vote and no further action is expected until later this week. But Budge, who has insisted all along that the equalization bill was "irresponsible legislation" because no one could explain its impact on the state's taxpayers, said the State Department of Education was "not presenting the committee with accurate facts on both sides to let us know the impact on children."

3 arraigned in Ketchum

KETCHUM — Arraignment was set for today for three Blaine County residents, each charged with possession of a controlled substance and grand larceny. Arrested Sunday evening by Ketchum police were James F. Conrad, 34, and Steve D. Myers, 21, both Ketchum, and Jamie Bergstrom, 23, Sun Valley. All were being held this morning in the Blaine County jail. Bond had not yet been set.

Blaine man arrested

KETCHUM — A Ketchum man was named in two charges of driving while under the influence early this morning. According to Ketchum police, Fritz Kaser, 31, was arrested on that charge and released from the Blaine County jail on a $252.50 bond. He was later arrested in Ketchum on the same charge and was being held this morning on a second $252.50 bond.

Jerome meet set tonight

The special meeting has been called to hear insurance proposals from agencies in the Magie Valley. The district's insurance program expired Feb. 15, and the school's insurance is presently being carried under a 30 day grace arrangement.

Lincoln fair dates set

SHOSHONE — The annual Lincoln County Fair will be held at Shoshone Aug. 3-4, county extension agent, Ivan Hopkins said Friday. The date was selected over the previously set Aug. 10 and 11 date in order to secure a carnival.

Meet set

JEROME — The Idaho State Employees Association will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Jerome County courthouse court room. The major item of business to be discussed will be an up to date legislative report, plus a general discussion on resolutions for General Council of the ISDA.

China may need US wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — China may need heavy imports of wheat and perhaps some additional corn in the U.S. fiscal year beginning July 1, Agriculture Department specialists predicted today.

Experts who drafted a report published by the agency's Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) did not specifically forecast new U.S. grain sales to China.

But their language left open the possibility of a new round of business following up last year's Chinese purchases of American corn and wheat.

One sign of official Chinese concern about grain supplies, according to the report, was an article in the Chinese Communist Party journal, "Red Flag," last December. It urged each of China's 800 million people to "save a mouthful of grain day."

The report said drought and other weather damage held 1972 Chinese grain production below expectations and forced a doubling of wheat imports for the year ending June 30, 1973. China has increased grain acreage for 1973 harvest, the report noted, but weather and planting problems appear to have dimmed hopes for a substantial increase in output.

The outlook at this stage appears to be for a winter wheat crop not significantly larger than last year's unless optimum growing conditions prevail.

Mea while, China's domestic requirements will continue to increase, and unless this year's rice and coarse grain harvests are considerably better than those of 1972, wheat import requirements will likely continue large in fiscal 1974.

Coarse grains (such as corn) for food might also be imported again," the report said. Officials said last year's poor Chinese Grain crop, at least 10 million tons below the previous year, temporarily interrupted a substantial growth in production which had been under way for a decade.

This column has had several letters regarding the excessive advertising of the various models now appearing on the market.

The general question seems to be regarding the potential for investment which is either claimed in the advertisements, or intimated.

Medal collecting is not a new phase of numismatics. Man has always recorded historical events on medals, and they date from ancient times.

In the last ten years, some medalists have begun to strike commemorative medals for everything from wars to the celebration of a local picnic.

All of these are loudly acclaimed for their investment potential, with a half-phrased threat that if such-and-such a medal is not purchased by a given date, you will forever lose out on the chance to make your fortune.

Unfortunately, a great many medals dating back a couple of hundred years, are still available for much less than the price of these modern strikes.

At the same time, most of the medals struck in silver now are advertised as a "hedge" against inflation, remarking on the value of silver.

The catch is that silver can be bought on the open market for around $2 an ounce, while medal makers are selling it to you at from $8 to $12 an ounce — with a picture struck on it.

If you want to invest in silver — by all means, do so — but buy it on the market, melted into bars at somewhere near the market price.

On the other hand if you are investing in medals purely because of their aesthetic values — the beauty and pride of ownership — that is a different story. They are truly "a thing of beauty and a joy forever" — but they certainly won't make you rich!

A final word — don't expect to sell the medals you buy now for anywhere near what you pay for them. A medal selling now at around $8 would bring you about $2. Dealers are offering them much under-market value at any coin show.

If silver begins a price raise and gets up around $12 an ounce — you may get your money back.

In other words — buy them if you like them — but not for investment.

Ernest E. J. Burley recently saw an ad for some "Bust" half-dollars. Will you explain this term? What is a "bust" half dollar? Does it have any value?

Answer: The "Bust" part of the half dollar does not denote its condition.

The half-dollars minted in this country from 1807 to 1839 carried the picture of a female facing left, representing the bust, or upper half of her body, with the "Bust" rather prominently displayed.

This is a presently much-sought-after coin, by collectors, and in the finer grades worth considerable, although a great many can be obtained at reasonable prices in the lower grades.

Half-dollars were not collected much until the last few years, hence the prices were much lower than on some more popular coins. They are now rising in value.

$30 cure
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — A University of Michigan urologist has reported a $30 cure for male impotence, that works in six weeks or less. The therapy, explained by Dr. Sheldon L. Fellman of the OM Medical School, has an 80 per cent success rate.

The treatment consists of a vacation from sexual duties for the husband plus a series of six male hormone shots spaced a week apart. Given by a private physician, the shots cost about $5 each. By the time the last injection is given, Fellman reports, four out of five patients have recovered their full sexual powers.

Canned goods prices to rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers may face tight supplies and high prices for canned foods late this year and in early 1974 unless the Cost of Living Council eases the mechanics of controls on canners, industry spokesmen warn.

Many canners are laying out their 1973 production schedules now by contracting with farmers for the vegetables and other crops which will be processed next summer and fall.

Unless the council acts before the contracting period winds up about the end of March, "I don't see how we can be very aggressive in contracting for acreage," said Dr. Lawrence W. Van Meir, chief economist for the National Canner Association (NCA).

Industry complaints against current regulations include the mechanics of enforcing controls over margins between the cost of raw farm products and the selling price of canned peas, corn, tomatoes, beans and other popular foods.

Under current regulations, large firms must "pre-notify" the government before raising prices to reflect increases in the cost of the non-controlled raw farm products.

In 1972, Van Meir said, the Price Commission delayed acting on request for pass-through price hikes until late October and much of last year's production had to be sold at relatively low prices.

To prevent a repetition of last year's performance, Van Meir said canners want the pre-notification requirement dropped or, at least, a system under which canners can get preliminary price approvals as a basis for signing their supply contracts with farmers.

Like some other industries, the canning group also is groaning at the way it's affected by profit controls. The bi-price years on which these controls are set — despite some relaxation of rules for Phase III of the Economic Stabilization Program — catch many canners with subnormal profit rates.

San Francisco's cable cars have a maximum speed of 9 miles an hour.

If you make good grades at school

You're the one we want (especially if you plan to go to college)

We've noticed it. Our best carriers all seem to be above-average students. Perhaps it's because in the daily management of their routes, they apply the lessons they learn in the classroom. Like arithmetic in making change and in keeping a record of their profits. Or, maybe it's because newspaper route management is just one of those things a good student can do well. In any case, if your grades are A's and B's and you plan to go to college, we want to hear from you. We can show you how to build a savings account that can be a help when you get there. Why not get started today... by calling us. There may be a route available in your neighborhood.

Soviets to join copyright talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Union — "One Day In The Life Of Ivan Denisovich" and copyright convention may ultimately give them greater control over the publication abroad of dissident Russian authors, Soviet literary sources said Saturday.

The sources said the Soviet Union, the world's largest book publisher, probably will join the 1992 Geneva Convention soon with the signing taking effect June 1.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a law against what you can put in a person's casket when you bury him?
I have a good friend who made me promise that if he died before I did, I would get a fifth of the best bourbon money can buy, take a real big swig, replace the cap, and put the bottle beside him in the casket.
I told him I would gladly do this, but I need to know if there is a law against it in Michigan.

Wants big send-off

DEAR READER: Any undertaker can tell you. And so can a Michigan lawyer. (I wonder what your friend has in mind? Spirits for the spirits, maybe?)

DEAR ABBY: Please do the country a big service by saying something about women who invite their friends to their homes and then try to sell them everything from jewelry to kitchenware to clothing. I attended four such parties in the last two weeks, all of which I tried to decline, but my friends would not take no for an answer. They all said, "You don't have to BUY anything. Just come!" Once there, I am bombarded with the worst kind of high-pressure salesmanship, and I always end up buying something so as not to look cheap.

I hate to say I will come and then not show up. Will you please tell women how some of their friends feel about being taken advantage of in this manner?

ALL PARTIED OUT

DEAR PARTIED: Your problem is your inability to say NO. Some women appreciate being introduced to new products this way, and they enjoy the parties, too. If you don't, simply decline.

DEAR ABBY: Two girls I consider my closest friends have steady boy friends. (I don't have anyone special right now.)

Both of these girls have told me that they have had dreams about me in which I am the central character. They also say their boy friends are in these dreams, but they won't tell me how the dreams come out. I have asked them whether I am the hero or the villain, and they both reply, "It depends on how you look at it."

DREAMED ABOUT

DEAR DREAMED: That depends on how the dreams come out. You can be certain of one thing. They consider you a threat!

DEAR ABBY: I am so tired of hearing husbands and wives complain that their marriages fell apart because one or the other got fat. How ridiculous can some people get?

Louie and I have been married 13 years. I went from 110 to 186, and Louie went from 165 to 230, and it didn't harm our love life one bit. In fact, it's better than ever. One thing it did was to get rid of all the jealousy. Our marriage will last forever. Who'd want either one of us?

A Lovelier You

AFTERMATH OF REDUCING

By Mary Sue Miller

A lovely writes: "I have been on a reducing program and lost a large amount of weight. My figure looks fine but my face is drawn and droopy. How can I gain weight, just in the face?"
The Answer: You can!
A drawn look is not an infrequent aftermath of reducing, particularly if a woman neglects her skin while on a diet. In such a fix you really do not want to gain weight in the face, but to gain tone — pull up the slack facial muscles.
The routine below helps to prevent the problem, when you use it during and/or after reducing. The action helps to keep the musculature tight, while the flesh that once propped it up drains away.
1. Open mouth wide and hold, keeping jaw tense. Next slowly purse lips into a small circle. Pointing tongue, stick it out for several seconds. Relax and repeat 3 times.
2. Hold face in hands, palms under chin and fingers along sides of cheeks. Now chew hard and deliberately while you press up with palms and down with lower jaw. Continue for 1 minute.
3. Purse lips, open eyes wide and lift eyebrows upward as far as possible. Hold for 5 counts and repeat 10 times.
When feasible, massage a bit of moisturizing cream into the face before exercising. Afterward pat on a mild astringent. Above all, do try to keep your body on an even keel from now on.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Do not try to force anything today or tonight if it is essential if you now wish to get ahead that you build a firm and secure foundation to your life and take no chances. Most everyone is in an argumentative frame of mind and will resent discussing their aims or being blocked in gaining them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You want to get into some new outfit, but you had better let an expert pick it out for you. You have new associates who are fascinating but are not exactly what you wanted. Give them a little more time to catch on to the ropes.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have made promises that need to be kept scrupulously now, so get an early start on such. Closest ties are very cooperative early, but later the mood changes. So make hay while the sun shines.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Get the okay from partners for handling all those business problems ahead of you and they are soon behind you. Evening is good for resting and rebuilding energies. If yours is a sedentary job, exercise.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Study prices well before you shop and be more concerned before you handle other financial affairs as well. The intuitive faculties more. Study private goals intelligently and get advice confidentially from expert also.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Try not to force a good friend into doing something that is important only to you, and get busy at it yourself. Avoid group meetings that could bring on real trouble. Arguments are best kept out of sight now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those delightful young children who feels that a tight has to be put up for whatever is wanted, so teach early to have a more cooperative attitude toward others, show that a kind word accomplishes much more and with less trouble. Teach to be compassionate also, or the world will be cold toward your offspring. A very hard worker in this chart, one who will persevere until aims are attained. Send to right schools. # What's What

That more men than women share is common knowledge but the why of this remains open to debate. One theory seems to explain it. Recent studies out of the University of Florida indicate that more men than women prefer to sleep on their backs most of the night. Women more often than men tend to sleep face down. Conjecture is that if the girls likewise chose to sleep on their backs, they'd snore as much.

FASHION STUDIES show that year of a woman's life when she is most apt to be employed on a payroll is age 48 now. DIDY-OI-RE-A-I-I-E there are 28,540 jumps on the typical better basketball. IN ENGLAND, please note, the telephone companies charge for their phone books. THE RECORD SHOWS one woman has announced never gets to bed before 11 p.m. NOTE OF THE LATE Top 10, high-grossing motion pictures has ever been rated either R or X.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q: How many of the couples who divorce and often remarry each other again soon find themselves just as miserable as before the divorce?

A: About 43 percent of those studies show. And another 13 percent still don't call their remarriage altogether dandy.

Q: YOU II, will you send me that report on how some doctors remove tattoos with common table salt?

A: Will do. No charge. In fact, will send said report to anybody else likewise interested, who marks me a long-stemmed self-addressed envelope, so long as the supply of reports lasts, at my rate.

PERT-PROFIT

Statisticians say a busy mechanic makes an average of $8.66 an hour, but over the cost of labor and participation each repair job. State humming up up. Pay attention.

FOR SOME PECULIAR reason, when you ask people to name the four states that begin with the letter I, most only can come up with three: Idaho, Iowa, and Illinois.

HIGH AUSTRALIAN city of Darwin's said, has the highest per capita consumption of beer, the highest rate of illegitimacy, and the lowest death rate in the white blooming continent.

IN THIS HARDWARE store, Consider I costs 30 cents, Consider II costs $1.00 and Consider III costs $2. What is this item that is so priced? When I sprang the foregoing puzzle on the Lad friend, she said house numerals. Bright girl. Go thou likewise and ask somebody.

ABOUT 1.60 PER CENT of the work you do with one hand needs that thumb there to do it.
