Political spying funds linked to Nixon lawyer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, had control of a secret fund that may have contained as much as half a million dollars during the presidential campaign, the Washington Star-News said today.

The newspaper said the money was kept at a Newport Beach, Calif., bank and that it was used in part "for political spying and disruption" including payments to a Los Angeles attorney, Donald W. Segretti. Segretti previously was identified as an undercover operative during the Nixon campaign.

The West Coast fund, the Star-News said, was kept in a hidden bank account at the Newport Beach branch of the Bank of America.

The money was funneled into the account by cashier's checks bought with cash at a different Newport Beach Bank, the Security Pacific National Bank, the newspaper said.

There have been previous reports of Washington funds during the Nixon campaign totaling $750,000 or more, with some of it being used for political surveillance activities, allegedly including the Watergate bugging case.

The newspaper said "various sources" put the total amount that passed through the Newport Beach account as "anywhere from $200,000 to $500,000."

It apparently was closed out, the Star-News said, early last year — well before the break-in of Democratic headquarters at the Watergate building in Washington June 17.

The new disclosure came as:

—The Washington Post said it was told by "highly reliable sources in the executive branch" that Nixon was warned as early as last December that some former and present close associates "were probably deeply involved."

—The Watergate grand jury continued its investigation of the case today, with Dean, White House legal counsel, expected to appear either today or Tuesday. He has said he will not be a "scapegoat" in the affair.

—Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said he found it "inconceivable" that the President's subordinates would not have told him about the Watergate bugging plans.

—White House sources indicated the President plans to announce the resignations of a number of key advisers, as a result of the Watergate investigation, possibly within a few days' time.

—The New York Times said G. Gordon Liddy, one of the convicted Watergate conspirators, had been passed word by the White House to tell all he knows about the case, but that Liddy has refused.

The Star-News quoted investigators as saying that Kalmbach made payments from the West Coast fund to Segretti, rather than from Washington-based funds as previously had been believed. These payments have been said to have totaled $30,000 to $40,000.

The Star-News said a Senate subcommittee learned of the fund last fall but that the findings were not disclosed. It said the new special Senate Watergate committee now was looking into the matter.

The Post said that Nixon was advised in December and again in January about possible involvement of Mitchell, his onetime campaign manager and former attorney general, along with Dean and possibly others on the staff in the Watergate affair.

LATEST TO speak on a Watergate bugging case is Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., who said in television interview Sunday it is "inconceivable" President Nixon did not have prior knowledge of plans to bug Watergate offices of Democratic National Committee. (UPI)

today in brief

Wounded Knee move awaited

PINE RIDGE, S. D. (UPI) — Federal negotiators awaited word today of possible new plans for ending 56 day old occupation of Wounded Knee by militant American Indian Movement members.

Federal officers kept close watch on the hamlet over the Easter weekend but reported little activity.

Colombia collision kills 9

CAI, Colombia (UPI) — Nine persons were killed and 12 others injured today in the head-on collision of a passenger bus and freight truck near Corinto, in northern Colombia. Most of the casualties were workers from sugar mills in the area.

Meat boycott hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another meat boycott may be tried in May, Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., a leader in the early April boycott.

Rosenthal said the first effort had "almost no effect" on meat prices but consumer groups wanting lower prices and changes in the nation's agricultural system may try another boycott. Those groups are calling on consumers to refrain from buying meat on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

China growth cut planned

SIANGHAI (UPI) — Premier Chou En-Lai said today China hopes to reduce its population growth to 1.5 per cent per year by 1980.

Chou made the statement in a conversation with Mexican President Luis Echeverria, who toured a cooperative farm today during a visit to mainland China. Mexico and China signed a trade agreement Sunday.

Indian protesters jailed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Six armed Indians protesting construction of a new governor's mansion were arrested on charges of assault and trespass Sunday when they attempted to occupy the ground.

The Indians charged the construction on the 11 acre American River site would destroy an ancient burial ground and valuable historic relics.

Viet fighting slackens

SAIGON (UPI) — Truce violations dipped to the lowest level in seven weeks since the Vietnamese cease-fire, South Vietnamese officials said today.

But there were also reports of more fighting along the Mekong River where supply convoys for Cambodia assemble and that Communist troops were pressing closer to the former imperial capital of Hue.

Israelis visit holy sites

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israelis by the thousands trekked into the old walled city under sunny skies Monday to visit the Wailing Wall, Judaism's holiest shrine, on the last day of the Passover feast.

They took the place of a nearly equal number of Christian pilgrims who had observed Easter Sunday with sunrise prayers and a pontifical mass at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

After the service priests told police that a Frenchwoman, Marie-Claire Mario, 37, had thrown a stone at the pillar to which Jesus was bound on the way to his crucifixion.

Blaine aide drops hat

HAILEY — Blaine County attorney Stephen W. Boller said today he will not represent the county in any matter dealing with a proposed land development planned near Hailey.

Boller said the step was taken to prevent possible conflict of interest.

Boller is presently Blaine County attorney, city attorney for Hailey, and counsel for McCulloch Properties, Inc.

Boller said today he will not represent McCulloch in any hearings before the county or city, but will continue to work for the California-based firm.

Earlier Boller had also disqualified himself from handling litigation involving the McCulloch Properties Inc., and the City of Hailey.

Boller said the potential for conflict of interest was apparent to him when he was first contacted by McCulloch in early-March of this year.

He said he notified McCulloch of the possibility of conflict of interest developing, and said the firm agreed that other counsel might have to be arranged to represent the firm.

Boller said he had received informal approval from most Hailey City Councilmen to continue his city role, and informal approval from the county commissioners to continue working for the county.

Boller said when the possibility of conflict of interest was apparent in early March, he had decided to represent McCulloch instead of the city or county because "I believe in what they're doing. I believe this is the only way to go in this county, rather than having haphazard subdivisions. You have to have planned developments."

"It's become a matter of principle with me."

Boller stressed that his removal from any city or county role involving the McCulloch case would remove the possibility of conflict of interest, particularly since all parties had been told of the possibility of conflict early in March.

In addition, Boller said, he had taken the question of conflict of interest to the Idaho Bar Association commissioners "at least three or four weeks ago."

"I said, 'Look fellows, here's what's happening. They said they could see no ethical problem.'"

Twain Falls attorney Tom Nelson, a member of the State Bar Commission, confirmed today he had discussed the situation with Boller last week.

He said he had informally told Boller that "in view of the disclosure to everybody" the arrangement was allowable.

But he emphasized that the bar commission had not met to discuss the matter and also said there had been no formal charges or complaints brought.

Boller said whatever attorney the county hires to replace him concerning the McCulloch case would be paid from the county prosecutor's budget.

He said he would not pay his replacement from his personal salary, however.

He said he had never before encountered a situation in which there was a possibility of conflict involving his city or county duties.

He has been county attorney since 1971. Hailey attorney since 1969 and had been Ketchum attorney from 1967 to 1972.

County planner asked

TWIN FALLS — The president of the Twin Falls League of Women Voters appealed to the county commissioners today to use federal revenue sharing money to hire a professional planner.

Mrs. Ella Nelson identified a planner as "one of the most pressing needs" facing the county and called for someone "who could supervise the actual specifics in planning for our future growth."

She made her remarks at a morning session at which League members met with the commissioners, who have set aside the first three days of the week for the public to react to their proposals for allocation of the federal revenue sharing funds.

The federal government has returned money totalling $412,000 that the county has already budgeted.

Of that total $402,000 is for capital outlay and the remaining $10,000 is for administration of the funds, if necessary.

The commissioners have announced proposals for less than half the total thus far.

While saying they spoke as individuals, the League members also urged the expenditure of some of the money for recreational development for area residents as well as tourists.

Nixon returns

KEY DISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon, planning what appeared to be a major shake-up in his White House staff, returned here today from an overnight visit to a private island retreat in the Bahamas.

Nixon landed at mid-morning following an hour and 15-minute flight from Grand Cay and reports he would act soon on results of his own investigation into the June 17 bugging of the Democratic Headquarters and announce resignations of some high-ranking assistants.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, the only Nixon aide available to reporters, had no comment on reports in the Washington Post that Nixon had been warned as early as last December that some of his assistants were involved in the Watergate case and subsequent coverup attempts.

US Court sets review of solon commissions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether members of Congress violate the Constitution by holding commissions in the military reserves.

The justices will hear arguments on the issue in the fall or winter and hand down a written opinion next term. At issue were two lower court rulings in the District of Columbia that the longstanding practice is unconstitutional.

The Defense Department appealed the decisions.

In other actions, the Court:

—Agreed to hear an appeal by the Interior Department from a ruling in an Arizona case that the federal government must provide general welfare assistance to all Indians, not just those living on reservations.

—Agreed to decide next term whether a firm which has a policy of refusing to employ aliens is violating the 1964 Civil Rights law.

—Refused by an 8-1 vote to hear an appeal by a Baltimore Sun reporter, David M. Lightman, who is facing jail for contempt if he refuses to give a county grand jury the location of a shop mentioned in an article on lax law enforcement at Ocean City, Md.

—Agreed to review local school board policies in Cleveland, Ohio, and Chesterfield County, Va., which require women teachers to give up their jobs midway during pregnancy. Lower federal appeals court handed down conflicting verdicts on the issue.

—Declined to hear an appeal by a student who was suspended from school in Chattanooga, Tenn., for wearing a jacket with a patch replica of a Confederate flag on the sleeve. The Court let stand a lower court ruling that while the ban on the flag itself was unconstitutional, school authorities had the right to suspend the Braimer-High School student, Rod Melton, under their disciplinary powers.

The challenge to members of the House and Senate holding reserve commissions was initiated by a group of noncongressional reservists who opposed the Vietnam war.

7 killed in blast

RUBBLE REMAINS piled on site of half block long tenement in El Paso, Tex., where gas explosion Sunday morning killed seven persons and injured 23 others. Firemen said floor was blown into ceiling, then ceiling and roof collapsed. Gas from underground leak in street apparently accumulated beneath floor, investigators said. (UPI)

Cambodia fuel arrives

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Two supply ships and six tankers carrying more than two million gallons of fuel arrived in Phnom Penh today after a perilous journey up the Mekong river from South Vietnam.

Two of the ships were hit by B40 rocket-propelled grenade fire during the six-hour trip from Tan Chau, a river town nine miles inside South Vietnam. The captain of one ship was slightly wounded. One crewman aboard another ship, a South Korean vessel, was killed and three others were wounded by fire from the banks of the river.

Crewmen said the convoy came under fire three times inside Cambodian waters.

On Saturday, a 103-vehicle carrying "miscellaneous supplies" for the refugee swollen capital of nearly 2 million residents made a 135-mile run up Highway 4 from the deepwater port of Kompong Som, according to the high command.

Military sources meanwhile said U.S. B52 bombers and swing-wing F111 jets Sunday attacked Communist positions around two major cities in southern Cambodia which have been under heavy attack.

Easter concert well received

BY PAUL STEWART
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Religious, popular and Broadway music were mixed in the right combination Sunday afternoon by the College of Southern Idaho Concert Band.

Under the baton of Lawrence M. Curtis, director, the band presented its spring and Easter concert before a half-filled Fine Arts Building auditorium. Those present showed their enjoyment of the concert — which featured tenor Eugene Milden and soprano Mary Walker as guest artists — with emphatic applause.

Milden and Mrs. Walker presented selections in solo and duet from three Broadway musicals — "South Pacific," "Mame," and "Carousel" — and then joined in the majestic strains of the finale, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

Drive Hamilton, student president of the CSI band, directed the band in the "Washington Grays March" midway through the program. Other highlights of the program included a tribute to Bacharach and David selections from "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Spiritual for Band."

TF public meet set

TWIN FALLS — Minimum statewide standards for stream channel alterations will be discussed at a public meeting Friday, May 4, in Twin Falls.

The State Department of Water Administration, in announcing the meeting, said the purpose of the proposed standards for the alterations is to reduce processing time for stream channel alteration permits and to provide guidelines for the construction of stream channel alterations.

The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Idaho Power Co. Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Kidnap suspect gives up

TAMARACK, Idaho (UPI) — A five-day search in Central Idaho forests ended Sunday after a volunteer with a tracking dog was shot and wounded and an elusive kidnap suspect surrendered.

"Halt and surrender," shouted armed law officers as they approached Robert Kennedy, 41, New Meadows, Idaho, hiding in underbrush near here Sunday.

Both he and the deputy were set free later.

"He's nobody's fool," Hileman said, describing the twists and turns of the search for Kennedy. Hileman said the suspect was intimate with the mountainous, wooded region of the search, which extended 10 miles north and south of New Meadows.

When the search began Wednesday, Kennedy was 10 miles north of New Meadows, Hileman said.

By Friday, he was in the Tamarack area 20 miles to the south, where he sought, and received, help at a local lumber mill.

He posed as a deputy sheriff at the mill and got a guy to haul him down to the Pine Ridge Grocery Store at Tamarack, where he picked up some sandwiches, Hileman said.

Then he went back to the mill, waited for the night watchman to get off work, and the watchman took him to Council Meadows.

where he bought new tools and socks, along with three cans of chewing tobacco," Hileman added.

Then Hileman said, Kennedy headed back into the woods south of Tamarack, where dogs and deputies picked up the trail again.

As the search not-tightened, Hileman said, the party of dogs and men was only 45 minutes to an hour behind the fleeing suspect.

Greek officials ban paper sale

ATHENS (UPI) — The Greek government today banned the sales of two newspapers for publishing a statement by former Premier Constantine Karamanlis asking the military regime to hand over power.

The newspapers were the Athens afternoon newspaper Vrachyni and Salonika's Thessaloniki.

The government's decision to confiscate the two newspapers came too late to keep Vrachyni from the newsstands in Athens where most of its copies were sold minutes after it appeared at midday.

Some buyers were seen taking several copies of Vrachyni and covering them with other newspapers.

"I bought 10 copies and will give them to friends who cannot get the newspaper," one man said.

A spokesman for Vrachyni said security police had raided its printing plant and confiscated the remaining copies of the newspaper.

"What they are doing is illegal because they do not have a prosecutor's writ," the spokesman said.

Police also raided the Athens newspaper distributing agency, whose director was summoned to the office of deputy Premier Stylianos Pattakos, an agency spokesman said.

Chief prosecutor Constantinos Fafoutis was called to Pattakos' office, a source at the prosecutors' office said.

In Salonika, police moved in and confiscated the afternoon newspaper Thessaloniki before it left the printing plant, a spokesman at the newspaper said.

The newspaper is being reprinted without the former premier's statement, the spokesman said.

Orangemen show Britain loyalty

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant Orangemen marched peacefully through downtown Belfast today to demonstrate their loyalty to Britain in traditional Easter Monday parades.

The Orange Societies date from 1795, when they were formed after a violent clash between Protestants and Roman Catholics in County Armagh. They take their name from William of Orange, a Protestant who defeated Roman Catholic King James II to become king of England.

There were no incidents reported during the Protestant marches.

The British army, in the meantime, launched a manhunt for a leader of the militant Provisional wings of the Irish Republican Army who appeared briefly at a rally in Belfast Sunday. David O'Connell, commander of the Provisionals, was not arrested when he made his speech Sunday.

Security forces pushed the hunt for O'Connell, one of the most wanted men in Northern Ireland.

In another, a sniper fired at an army outpost in the Ardoyne district Sunday, but missed the soldiers and slightly wounded a nearby civilian instead.

A one-week truce called by the IRA in Londonderry's Roman Catholic neighborhoods began without any incidents. The army reported peace and quiet in the city. The truce was called by the IRA Provisional wing to coincide with a Catholic festival.

Book of poems given at meet

TWIN FALLS — Olive Kelley presented her book of poems, "Tumbleweeds," at a meeting of the Idaho Writers' League Saturday at the Idaho Power Auditorium.

Mrs. Kelley will autograph copies of the book at her home this week.

Jeanette McMane, Steve Manker, Pearl Campbell and Olive Kelley reported sales for the month.

Sudie Hager, president, announced an open title contest for writers from June 1 to Aug. 1.

Lucille Cunningham, Filer, presented a program on "What Happens to a Short Story." The story discussed was "The Lottery" by Shirley Jackson.

May Burkhardt presented her manuscript, "The New Neighbors." Manker read his manuscript, "Flight," for discussion.

The meeting was followed by a social time.

Roll call for the May meeting is "Beyond the Wall."

TF Emanon Club has salad fete

TWIN FALLS — The Emanon Club of Twin Falls met for a salad luncheon Friday at the home of Erna Tucker. Co-hostess was Beulah Sweet.

The meeting opened with roll call on "What we like about spring." Club Collect was read by Elsie Miller. Edith Knight and Lois Snow were in charge of the program.

(Cheryl Armstrong and Linda Armstrong sang three numbers accompanied by guitar. Guests were Ella Giese and Mary Ann Sweet. The May meeting will be May 25, at the home of Margurite Knutt.

Tree damaged at TF home

TWIN FALLS — Nile Casten, who resides at 1201 Evergreen Drive, told officers Sunday morning someone drove an automobile across his lawn breaking off a tree.

He said the incident occurred sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Sunday. He told officers the persons drove onto the lawn from one side, traveled about 100 feet before hitting the tree and then traveled another 66 feet in leaving the lawn.

Reports given at Filer Grange meet

FILER — Mrs. Craig Dunlap told members of the Filer Grange that Idaho Power meter readers have been asked to check for abandoned refrigerators and freezers.

She said, at a Friday evening meeting, that the meter readers have been asked to be sure children cannot accidentally be locked in the abandoned appliances either because the doors are removed or locked or the latches rendered inoperative.

Sandy Walters presented a legislative report on Watergate case, the kindergarten controversy and on Office of Economic Opportunity programs.

Plans were made for a picnic dinner at 7:30 p.m. May 4, honoring graduates. Loren Drake was installed gatekeeper.

Ed Sharp thanked members for attending a housewarming given by the Grange for him and his wife. He and Mrs. Sharp served refreshments.

Jacket, skis taken

TWIN FALLS — Dale Butrah reported to Twin Falls police Sunday someone took a pair of K-2 skis valued at $160 and a jacket from his parked automobile at the College of Southern Idaho parking lot.

The owner said he believed the automobile was locked when it was parked in the lot. The coat was valued at $45, he said.

Officers were also asked to investigate the theft of a metal detector from an automobile owned by C. E. Anderson, 523 Ash St. The equipment was valued at $200 and was taken from the vehicle while it was parked near the Blue Top Bar.

GF student gets grant on hawks

POCATELLO (ISU) — Leon Powers, an Idaho State University graduate student in biology from Glenns Ferry, has been awarded an $800 grant to assist his research on a species of desert hawk called ferruginous because of its rusty coloring.

The award is from the Frank M. Chapman Memorial Fund of the American Museum of Natural History, New York. Chapman was a distinguished early American ornithologist.

Powers is studying the behavior and nesting ecology of the hawk, chiefly in the Curlew Valley near Holbrook, Idaho, and Snowville, Utah.

The ferruginous hawk is one of the largest birds in the hawk family, Powers said, having a wing span of between four and five feet. He describes it as a migratory bird that spends the winter in the southwestern states and returns to Idaho in spring, nesting usually in short juniper trees but sometimes on the ground.

The grant is mainly to assist Powers with transportation costs to and from the Curlew Valley and with equipment expenses, including for time, large photography of the hawk's nesting habits.

Powers also is studying the physiology of a year-old ferruginous hawk he keeps at his home in Pocatello. The bird was taken from the nest last summer and trained to hunt like a falcon by Rich Howard, formerly of Pocatello and now a student colleague of Powers doing research work on a different aspect of the ferruginous hawk at Utah State University.

Powers' study will form part of his dissertation for a Ph.D. degree in biology from ISU. He believes the information he gathers could help in the management of birds of prey that some biologists believe is a growing need in order to save endangered predator birds.

Powers recently gave a summary of his first year's research on the hawk at a meeting at Colorado State University sponsored by the Raptor Research Foundation to consider techniques of conserving birds of prey.

Powers holds a B.S. degree in zoology from Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, and a Master of Science degree from the University of Idaho. His adviser in the ISU Department of Biology is Dr. Charles H. Frost.

Floods cause 4 deaths

By United Press International
Rampaging floodwaters of the Mississippi River and its tributaries chased more people from their homes today, forcing the removal of 3,000 residents of one Illinois county alone.

At least four deaths have been blamed on flooding Mississippi and Missouri rivers in Missouri and Illinois. River watchers said today the worst is yet to come when the Mississippi is expected to crest at a record 42.5 feet.

Heavy weekend rains gave new strength to pounding floodwaters north and south of Quincy, Ill., where Civil Defense workers, National Guardsmen and volunteers hoped to complete the evacuation of 4,800 persons by mid-morning.

Residents of flood-threatened dwellings piled valuable possessions and whatever furniture they could handle onto their own cars, many trucks or panel trucks furnished by helpful citizens.

The advancing Mississippi battered three Adams County levees, and the National Guard, ordered out Sunday by Gov. Daniel Walker labored to shore up the soggy floodwalls.

Some industrial plants along the river were forced to halt operations but the town of Quincy was not endangered, authorities said.

In central Louisiana, workers battled floodwaters and strong winds Sunday to protect a hospital and 150 homes.

At a five-mile stretch of levee west of Jonesville, La., state crews piled up sandbags fortified there by a National Guard helicopter. As a backup measure, officials worked to build a ring levee around the western section of Jonesville to encircle the 50-bed Catahoula Parish Hospital.

Twenty-five Jonesville families left their homes Sunday and National Guardsmen worked all night piling sandbags on a levee being eroded by swift water in the Black River.

The east-west levee running across Catahoula Parish along U.S. 84 was being torn by water flooding open fields and driven against the levee by powerful southerly winds.

"They'll have the best of it done today or Tuesday," said Ted Hussler, Jonesville town clerk.

At Morgan City, near the Gulf Coast, a sunny Easter Sunday brought an unexpected drop in the Atchafalaya River and Army engineers said the crisis had past for the time being at least.

Brandt, Nixon meet slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt believes he has "no grounds for worry" that the United States will make a substantial reduction in its troops in Europe in the near future.

Brandt noted in an interview published Sunday by U.S. News and World Report that he would confer with President Nixon in 10 days, and he said "I am not going to Washington in a mood of being afraid of anything."

"I am going there to discuss important elements of policy co-operation in the economic and political and security fields," he said.

LOUISIANA National Guard Infantrymen from Jonesboro do their groundpounding loading sandbags aboard barges at the Army Corps of Engineers Bayou Foule Docks. The barges, covered with sand bags are to be kept ready in case of levee break. Floodwaters from the Mississippi in the Atchafalaya Basin toward Morgan City endangering its levees. (UPI)

Emergency preparations

Strategy sessions end

By United Press International
Arab world military leaders ended a two-day strategy session Sunday in Cairo and said they made some progress in mapping plans for confronting the Israeli enemy.

At the same time, Egypt announced it would build "popular resistance training camps" as part of President Anwar Sadat's campaign to mobilize all material and human resources in the country.

achieved at the meeting, there was no success in attempts aimed at reviving the Jordanian front against Israel.

Shadi said the Jordanian front, which collapsed when King Hussein expelled Palestinian guerrillas in September, 1970, "was not assumed satisfactory form yet, though more attempts will be made to revive it."

Shadi said the meeting did not take up the Israeli commando April 10 raid on Beirut.

"The conference cannot deal with particulars," he said, "but with the overall method of confronting the Israeli enemy."

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el-Zayyat said Sunday that his country was determined to "re-establish our territorial integrity."

"I don't speak about military action," el-Zayyat said on the CBS "Face the Nation" television program. "I speak about defense."

Gunfire kills 6

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — William R. Bonner got into an argument Sunday with Otha Leavitt, believed to be his grandmother. Police were trying to determine today why that triggered a wild, two-hour outburst of violence in which 16 people were shot, six of whom died.

Bonner, 25, wounded in the legs in a chaotic gun battle with police, was in serious condition at the County-USC Medical Center jail ward, where he was held on murder charges.

Among the wounded was a security guard who forced a car carrying Bonner to the curb and tried to shoot him. The guard, Versell Bennett, was felled by two bullets in the head. Authorities said he may have been hit by police shooting at Bonner.

Police at first believed robbery was the motive for some of the shootings, but said today there were indications Bonner knew all the victims. The shootings took place at six locations.

The dead included Mrs. Leavitt, 53, killed with a 20 gauge shotgun at Bonner's home at the start of the rampage.

Police said two teenagers—Anthony Thomas, 16, and Carolyn Cleveland, 17—were shot and wounded nearby. They were believed to have been with Mrs. Leavitt. Miss Cleveland was in critical condition.

In the next two hours, a 13-year-old girl, Athene Wells, was shot to death at a service station and her 18-year-old sister, Vickie, 16, was critically wounded.

—A mechanic at a service station, identified by sheriff's deputies as Raleigh Henderson, 33, was shot and killed.

—Javi Thompson, 67, was killed by a shotgun blast in the stomach at a liquor store. His killer critically wounded Thompson's wife, Edie Mae, 64, and son Alfred, 15.

At another liquor store, Robert L. Smith, an employee, was shot and critically wounded, and Roosevelt Jenkins, another employee, was wounded in the leg.

At a third liquor store, Smitty Sneed, 57, the owner, was shot to death, and a customer, Duly Oscar Bennett, 58, was wounded in the shoulder.

Diane Lore Andrea, 22, was killed by a shotgun blast in the neck at her home.

An all points bulletin was out for Bonner by that time. Police said a patrol car sighted him near Miss Andrea's home and

The city of Hamtramck, Mich., has more residents of Polish blood than some of the leading cities of Poland.

Bonner tried to fire at the officers but there was no ammunition in his shotgun.

Enlisted men still used for household duties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The military services have rejected pressures to stop using enlisted men to perform household chores such as grocery shopping, babysitting, bar tending, and car washing for generals and admirals.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and marines told the General Accounting Office (GAO), an investigative arm of Congress, that high-ranking officers and their wives need help so they can devote full time to military duties and community activities.

The presence of enlisted aides permits both the general officer and his wife the degree of freedom necessary to carry out wide-ranging, never-ending, demanding and sensitive functions essential to leadership in the military community, the Army said.

The GAO released a report last week estimating that assignment of enlisted men to such tasks costs the government about $21.7 million annually. Sen. William A. Proxmire, D-Wis., attacked the practice as "absurd" because top officers are paid "the equivalent of $50,000 a year and more" in salaries and benefits.

Gas may explode in oil community

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (UPI) — State and local officials intensified efforts today to guard against a possible explosion of volatile gas seeping from craters that have pockmarked this community.

The local Red Cross chapter planned to set up facilities on the outskirts of town to aid the approximately 60 families routed from their homes after the gas and mud filled peyzers began erupting Wednesday night. State authorities completed a stand by arrangements to insure adequate firefighting manpower and equipment for any possible emergency use.

Meanwhile, Amoco Production Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana which is being blamed for the craters, said it planned to begin drilling shallow relief holes to ease gas pressure today. State geologists theorize the craters were caused by a natural gas leak during oil drilling in the area.

A similar proposal to drill Saturday was rejected by the Michigan Natural Resources Department because of the high concentration of the potentially volatile gas.

Suspect captured

MERCED, Calif. (UPI) — Two days of murder and kidnap across 500 miles of Northern California ended Sunday when a fugitive accused of rape was shot and captured by lawmen in the Sierra foothills.

Authorities said John P. Bunyard, 28, the suspected "Nob Hill rapist" of San Francisco, killed two women and kidnaped at least 10 persons during his bizarre flight that started Friday noon at Lake Tahoe.

Bunyard was taken into custody after a police sergeant fired two quick shots at the already wounded suspect in a dead-end alley after a frantic husband jumped Bunyard as he held a gun to his wife's head.

Shoshone High School honor roll released

SHOSHONE — Seven sophomore students at Shoshone High School made the all A honor roll for the past six week period, John Meeks, principal, said today.

Also on the all A list were three seniors and three juniors.

The sophomores were Ruth Paught, Rob Haddock, Dawna Jacobson, Lara Kidner, Steve Saris, Mark Warbis and Tee Williams.

The juniors were Cindy Bergin, Wanda Paught and Austin Webb, and seniors were Dave Davidson, Patricia Freeman and Heather Tews.

In addition, other seniors on the A honor roll for the six weeks were Jan Bateman, Ramona Baumann, Pam Chapman-Owens, Stephen Chatterton, Stan Chess, Leslie Churchman, Tom Dallas, Sandy Depew, Ted Everett, Charlene Gray, Bill Hata, Michele Lucretia, Kim Oneida, Rick Peak, Myra Swarner, Clair Thorne, Val Urrutin and Calvin Webb.

Other juniors on the A roll, besides those with all A grades, were Steve Anderson, Lucy Herrlichon, J.D. Bowlin, Jodi Clayton, Jan Hoffman, Jim Egersdorf, Cheryl Errington, Brenda Hubbs, Colleen Jones, Debra Morris and Linda Webb and Jeff Pate.

Other sophomores on the A honor roll, besides the all A students, were Paul Freeman, Becky Pennington, Don Setser and Ed Thomason.

Freshmen on the A honor roll were Ralph Ballard, Larry Chapman, Alan Garrett, Carley Jones and Calvin Morris.

Eighth graders were Sue Beilla, Toby Clayton, Patti Paught, Carla Hahn, Chris Hansen, Martin Kidner, Carol Saras and Richard Webb while seventh graders were Joel Bate, Mary Beila, Tom Craft and Jason Webb.

Seniors on the B honor roll were Tony Hozzuto, Randy Bryant, Robyn Hooper, Janet Jacobsen, Dale Kerner, Larry Mabbitt, Ken Meservy, Homer Owens, Ted Pagaoga, Connie Peterson, Brenda Scott, Mike Sorensen, Ann Struchen and Ron Young.

Juniors were Mike Aoi, Rhonda Blackburn, Kristy Burkett, Dehl Connell, Rosen, Kathy Gallimore, Claudine Graham, Chris Harris, Richard Jones, Jack Kelley, Rodd Rosen and David Scott.

Sophomores were Mark Anderson, Dorona Carpenter, Leah Fixsen, Steve Kelley, Susan Robinson, Brian Ross, Dehl Scott, Shelly Sorensen, Viki Stimpson and Kathy Stowell.

Freshmen were Tammy Blackburn, Danny Churchman, Kathy Davidson, Penny Davis, Mary Haddock, Cindy Hicks, Bryan Kinghorn, Brian McGhee and James Monroe.

Eighth graders were Cornelia Baumann, Kathy Churchman, Todd Errington, Christy Jones, Bill Ohlinger, and Dwan Scott, while seventh graders were Lori Blackburn, Deanna Braun, Tammy Carraway, Renee Crawford, David Garrett, Rick Gonzales, Curtis Kidner, John Pagaoga, Donna Pierson and Deanna Sorensen.

Memorial planted

A ROSE TREE in memory of Mrs. Jessie Sabala was planted at the Wood River Convalescent Center, Shoshone, Friday. Left to right, Bill Moon, custodian, does the planting while Mrs. Claudio Murula, Manager and granddaughter, Tina Marie Erwin and Mrs. Beverly Hall watch. Mrs. Sabala's children presented the tree in memory of their mother.

Shoshone pet owners offer $200 reward

SHOSHONE — A $200 reward is being offered by pet owners in Shoshone to anyone furnishing information which leads to conviction of a "dog poisoner."

Increased incidents of dog poisoning have caused the pet owners to offer the reward.

Three dogs have been treated in the past week for ingestion of poisoning, according to the Shoshone veterinary hospital.

One small dog owned by Floyd Sprakles has died from the effects and one dog had to be destroyed by the owner because of apparent convulsions before word of the recent poisoning had gotten around.

In March several instances of poisoning were reported to the law officers, according to John Shaffer, chief of police.

Boise band, drill team win trophy

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News
BOISE—The Capital High School band, flag corps and drill team are settling back into normal routine after winning trophies and friends in the east and leaving behind a reputation for excellence in talent, attitude and behavior. Chaperones and officials who accompanied the 215 students from Boise to Washington, D. C., and officials and working people who encountered them on the trip have been unanimous in their praise for the group.

Typical was a waitress who, after serving them at meals for four days in a Washington hotel, sought out a chaperone to say, "This is the best group that has ever stayed here."

Moreover, the drill team won the trophy as the best marching corps unit of the dozens entered in the Cherry Blossom Parade.

It was to march in that parade that the group earned almost $100,000 in individual jobs, group projects and contributions from last August until departure day April 3.

Although they went to march, and came home with first prize, the educational value of the trip rather than the parade itself seemed uppermost in the minds of many of the students by the time they got back home eight days later. They had seen many of the major historical sites in New York, Philadelphia, Gettysburg, Washington, Williamsburg and Jamestown.

Only three complaints were heard from the students: New York hotel rooms are too small. One chain restaurant, which shall remain nameless, served them greasy hamburgers, and was booted roundly every time their buses passed one of its establishments.

And they wished they could have spent more than half a day in Williamsburg.

The praise they got came from such people as Debbie Reynolds, who starred in the Broadway show they saw, and the Japanese ambassador, who wound up with one of the 1,000 Idaho potato pins they passed out.

But possibly the deepest compliment came from the drivers of chartered buses who spent 15 hours a day with them for four days in Washington, and wept when the youngsters left their buses for the last time.

The trip also served as a major unifying factor in Boise. Parents working toward the trip found themselves getting acquainted with more people and taking a deeper interest in their own children and their friends.

Businessmen chipped in to help, and found themselves with teen-age friends. Even the other two public high schools, with whom there is a rivalry that sometimes approaches dislike, wound up as Capital High supporters — Borah High sent a delegation to see them off, and Boise High's band, in uniform, welcomed them home.

There was a feeling that this experience may have done away with the less pleasant aspects of the intricacy competition.

The drill team uniform from their white boots up to their identical upswept hairdos, drew a running wave of applause as they marched down Constitution Avenue.

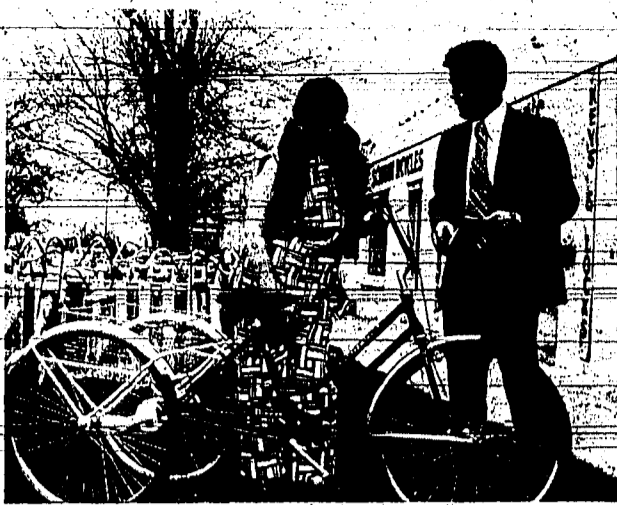

They were ordered out of the parade just after they passed the Washington Monument and sent back to march past the grandstand a second time, this time stopping in order to accept their first place trophy, a two-foot replica of the Washington Monument.

That becomes the newest and perhaps proudest addition to the Capital High trophy case, but the trip might be better remembered for other things — the new historical insights and perspectives the students brought back to Boise, and the considerable amount of good will for Idaho they left behind them in the East.

Hold SAT fees

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some good news: The line is being held on fees for major college entrance tests.

Trustees of the College Entrance Examination Board voted to keep fees at the present level instead of hiking them, despite rising costs. The most well-known of the board's tests is the SAT—Scholastic Aptitude Test—taken by high school juniors in preparation for college entrance. The fee is $6.50. Last year 1.5 million students took the SAT.

Bicycle presented

Transportation provided girl

FILER—Dorothy Campbell, 13, a student at Filer elementary school, will no longer be a "shut in."

The young handicapped girl has been given a three-wheel bicycle from Twin Falls County March of Dimes funds. The bicycle was purchased by the March of Dimes from Hafner's key and bike shop at a special price for the young girl. She will use it for transportation from her home to school and for visits to the library or other places she needs transportation. Although she lives only five blocks from school, she is unable to walk the distance, but will be able to ride the three-wheel bicycle. It includes a small cart-like rack for books or other items to facilitate use. A daughter of Mrs. Bessie Campbell, Dorothy has been dependent upon her mother for transportation to school and other areas. Because she works at Sky View nursing home, Mrs. Campbell said she has difficulty getting Dorothy to places an average elementary school student needs and likes to go.

Nevada allows acupuncture

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Governor Mike O'Callaghan has signed into law a bill making Nevada the first state to allow the practice of acupuncture on the general public.

Although the act becomes effective immediately, Nevadans and those from outside the state will not be able to take the needle treatment until the governor appoints a board to license the doctors who want to practice the Chinese medicine.

A spokesman for the governor's office said no time has been set for making the appointments.

Prof. Lok Lee King, an acupuncturist who conducted demonstrations on more than 100 patients free of charge, has indicated he will establish a clinic in Las Vegas as soon as possible after the board is named.

Some of Lok's patients included legislators who later voted to approve the bill.

Gooding student listed in who's who

GOODING—Dennis Goodman has been selected for the "second consecutive year" to the "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

He received a letter in basketball and played junior varsity football. May 5 Dennis will compete in Coeur d'Alene for a scholarship in the Graduating Seniors' Bowling Tournament. He will play in the scratch division.

Dennis has been outstanding freshman and a delegate to Boys State, class representative of the band, president and vice president of the Ski Club, secretary-treasurer of Boys' Association and a member of the French Club and honor roll.

Jerome sewer system needs overhaul, report contends

(Editor's note — This is the sixth and final in a series on a report prepared by the Idaho Water Resource Board on the sewer and water systems in Jerome, Eden and Hazelton, and what improvements are needed.)

JEROME — As with most communities, Jerome's water system preceded its sewer system by several years.

Until the early 1930s when the Works Progress Administration installed the first sewer lines, pit privies were extensively utilized.

Then, as modern sewer pipe was unavailable, most installed was wood stave or Orangeburg pipe, which has since been replaced. In 1949, a large sewer project replaced the remainder of the wood pipe and extended the sewer lines. At that time sewage lift stations were placed at the two locations on Elm Street. Extension to the sewer service has since occurred in those areas north of Eight Avenue.

Installed in 1940, the first sewage treatment plant consisted of six Imhoff tanks. By the late 1940s, the capacity of these tanks was insufficient to provide adequate treatment for the expanded flows.

Therefore, in 1951 and 1952 much of the present treatment plant was installed. It consisted of both primary and secondary treatment with anaerobic sludge digestion. Most of the mechanical equipment was salvaged from the facilities of a local Japanese-American labor camp installed during World War II.

Since this equipment has been used for ten years prior to installation in Jerome's facility, it is now 10 years old.

The last major improvement occurred in 1969 when an aerated lagoon and activated biological filter were added to the system. These facilities were sized to bring the overall plant BOD and suspended solids removal to 85 per cent.

Increased discharges from the local industry have since lowered the plant efficiency to less than the design operating efficiency and have caused some of the mechanical equipment in the plant to fail due to the overload.

The existing collection system provides sanitary services to most of the developed portions of the community. A few of the homes west of Elm Street are not serviced due to the lack of drainage between the homes and the collecting sewer, according to the report.

When originally placed the collection system functioned very well allowing growth within the limits of the placed laterals. Expansion of the sewer system to areas other than those originally served was not contemplated. This has resulted in serious limitations to the growth of Jerome from the point of view of providing sewer services, the report says.

Expansion of the present system to the east is prohibitive without providing a lift station or a long conveyance trunkline. Expansion to the south is prohibitive unless the existing trunkline is lowered, or a sewage lift station is installed. Only to the north, where the natural relief has permitted sewage drainage, has significant residential expansion occurred, the report said.

Jerome Public Works Director D. W. (Bill) Block said he did not foresee a moratorium being placed on the issuance of building permits due to lack of facilities at the city sewer and treatment plant.

But he says the problem needs immediate attention. Jerome Mayor Jack Russell said the city is aware of the problem and "handling each problem as it came up. However, he noted that the city has budgeted some of its revenue sharing money to place the system in good operating condition.

Recent studies to ascertain the amount of sewage flow contributed by Ida Gem Creamery indicated that in many locations the line, which serves the creamery, is flowing at maximum capacity and, therefore, this line is undersized. A similar but more critical situation exists for the main line in the sewage treatment plant.

Two lift stations have allowed service to the south portion of Jerome. It is reported that all of the pumps used in the lift stations are original equipment and in poor condition. Also, the pumps in Lift station 2 are undersized for the present flow conditions.

Jerome's existing sewage treatment plant provides primary and secondary sewage treatment before discharge of the effluent into the "N" canal. The present plant was designed to treat a peak day flow of 1.0 mgd with 85 per cent removal of the BOD. The facility includes a grit chamber, comminuter, primary clarifier, activated biological filter, trickling filter, secondary clarifier, aerated lagoon and primary digester.

Analytical computations indicate that the velocity of flow through the grit chamber exceeds three feet per second, thereby, causing the grit chamber to be nonfunctional. The grit, normally removed in a grit chamber, is being pumped through a lift station to the primary clarifier.

All of the pumps in this lift station have required repair and/or replacement within the past six months due primarily to the abrasive character of the grit which passes through them.

Calculations have indicated that the detention period within the primary clarifier is less than one hour where it is desirable to have a minimum detention period of two hours. As a result, less than 40 per cent of the settleable solids are removed in this unit. Properly sized, a primary clarifier can remove as much as 70 to 80 per cent of the settleable solids.

treatment will ever be utilized again because of the extensive renovation necessary to make it operable.

The secondary clarifier, like the primary clarifier is overloaded. The actual flow that goes through this clarifier is unknown due to the unmeasured recirculation of flow through the dehydrated biological filter. It is in excess, however, of the flows through the primary clarifier. This clarifier lacks proper sludge removal equipment and a surface skimmer.

Such a skimmer would collect the sludge from the activated biological filter rather than permit this floating debris to gain access to the aerated lagoon. Like its counterpart, the mechanical lagoon, a baffle-weir arrangement has been installed to function as a chlorine basin. The contact time is reported as five minutes and, therefore, quite insufficient. A minimum of 60 minutes of chlorine contact time is now required for all municipal effluent discharges in Idaho.

Recently, the primary digester has not been working. An anaerobic digester such as the digester in the Jerome treatment plant is meant to provide an oxygen-free atmosphere to allow anaerobic bacteria to consume the solids. A tilt in the floating cover of the digester allows the entrance of air, providing an improper atmosphere for sludge digestion.

The methane and hydrogen sulfide gases normally collected in the digester have vented to the atmosphere, resulting in numerous complaints from local citizens. A check of the digester heating system shows it works sporadically and non-uniformly.

Because the digester has been used for 30 years, it is likely that the heating equipment, steel walls, floating roof, and gas collection system have deteriorated to the point that it may be more economical to build a new digester than to renovate the existing one.

One major industry is discharging into the Jerome sewage treatment facility, the Ida-Gem Creamery.

The creamery produces a wide variety of products including butter, cottage cheese and cheese. Each of these products require different processing and, therefore, produces different wastes. One extremely potent waste, whey, is utilized in by-product manufacturing and is not discharged into the collection system.

Most of the cooling water, spillage, and wash water from the various processes are discharged, however, a portion of the wastes are injected into a dry well hole in the lava formation upon which the city is built. Because of the possible contamination to the groundwater presently being pumped for municipal uses, it is expected that this practice will be discontinued in compliance with present federal and state regulations.

A survey conducted in July, 1972, found that approximately 80 per cent of the total BOD and water entering the Jerome sewage treatment plant was contributed by the Ida Gem Creamery. Since the survey, the creamery has reduced its flow appreciably by recycling its cooling water, the report says.

Perhaps the key to Jerome's future expansion plans is the renovation of its sewer collection facilities to provide service to the surrounding area heretofore unable to receive this service. Such expansion of the collection and conveyance system should be in harmony with the projected future land uses.

The report says replacement of the main lines into the sewage treatment plant and along 13th Street from Fourth Avenue to Eight Avenue are needed immediately. It is anticipated that in future the sewage treatment facilities will continue to provide treatment for both domestic and industrial wastes. The sewage treatment facilities are proposed in the report to employ the use of the salvageable portions of the existing treatment plant.

The proposed construction will include grit chamber, comminuter, primary clarifier, new equipment for the existing biological filter, activated sludge unit, secondary clarifiers, sludge thickener, two stage digester, sludge drying beds, and associated equipment, chlorine contact chambers and associated piping and pumping facilities at a cost of $2,362,000 for the total project.

Block said that the city of Jerome had budgeted $14,500 this year for a comprehensive sewer study.

He noted that the city council is expected to soon make a final decision on a consulting firm.

"As soon as this decision is made we plan to start the study immediately," Block said.

Block explained that the study will require eight to nine months and the final report should be made available to the city council by November.

The study will involve analysis of the collection system, anticipation of the city's growth pattern, analysis of the treatment plant and processing of sewage waste, and will provide recommendations for future expansion needs.

He noted that the study by a consulting firm will satisfy the requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for future funding of any necessary improvements of a new plant.

Block said that sewer projects have been funded up to 75 per cent by federal grants, with an additional state participation between 10 and 15 per cent while industry is required to carry its fair share of the load.

This would mean that local citizens would only have to finance five to six per cent of a sewer project.

The anticipated study will list future needs of the sewer system for the city and with the coordination of all agencies of government involved a two to three year lead time will be required before construction would commence, Block said.

The project could be completed within a five year span, he said.

"Perhaps the key to Jerome's future expansion is renovation of its sewer collection facilities . . ."

The activated biological filter has consistently proven to be the only piece of equipment in the Jerome treatment plant that is free from mechanical breakdowns and provides a reasonable BOD removal. Its removal rate has been measured as high as 70 per cent and as low as 50 per cent. However, the excessive flows through the filter have caused sloughing of the bacterial growth. Due to the location and type of sampling, it is doubtful that the previous BOD tests have reflected this sloughage with an actual lower BOD removal efficiency than recorded.

The trickling filter is not now functioning. Furthermore, it is not anticipated that this portion of Jerome's sewage equipment in the secondary clarifier is 30 years old, antiquated and in constant need of repair.

Due to the overload on the clarifier, the majority of the suspended solids is settling within the confines of the aerated lagoon. An accumulation of sludge on the bottom of the lagoon has led to a septic condition. The odors emanating from this lagoon have caused numerous complaints from local citizens.

It has been reported that some of the sludge gas has predated the pond sealing equipment. Such action has caused excessive gas deterioration. The suspended solids and BOD at the outlet of the lagoon are reportedly greater than those at the inlet.

McClure to talk at Friday event

TWIN FALLS — Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, will address the annual Twin Falls Republican banquet and dance Friday night.

The "GO Party," which will be preceded by a no host Get Acquainted Party beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, will begin at 7:30. Dinning will be from 9 p.m. until midnight.

Idaho Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy will serve as master of ceremonies of the annual event.

According to David Mead, spokesman, persons unable to attend the dinner are invited to visit with McClure during the dance.

The public is invited to the event.

Tickets, costing $7.50 may be obtained from Republican officials throughout the county or may be purchased at the door.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Eddy Merckx of Belgium won the 1972 Tour de France bicycle race for the fourth year in succession. The World Almanac notes Merckx's time for the 3,840 kilometers (about 2,100 miles) was 108 hours 27 minutes 59 seconds. He completed the race on July 23, 1972. Felice Gimondi of Italy finished second.

Only 5 other presidents besides President Nixon have served during a time when there were no former living presidents. The World Almanac recalls they were Washington, John Adams, Grant, Theodore Roosevelt and Hoover. Of these periods Washington's 8 years was the longest and Hoover's was the shortest—two months.

Nat-Soo-Pah owner buys UP station

TWIN FALLS — Today was moving day for the old Twin Falls Union-Paciffic Railroad station.

The station was sold to Nat-Soo-Pah owner Gary Robbins after Union Pacific moved into new headquarters last year. Robbins said today the station, which was cut in half and moved in two sections, will be used for a dance hall and recreation room at his resort. He hopes to have the building installed and ready for use when the swimming pool opens May 5.

Robbins said the cost of the facility, including the purchase price, would be about $10,000 by the time it was moved. Remodeling would add another $5,000, he said.

The station was moved by G. P. McAlister House Moving of Heyburn. Warren McAlister, a brother of the firm's owner and driver of one of the vans hauling the structure, said the sections weighed about 60 tons apiece.

McAlister said the 17-mile trip to Nat-Soo-Pah should be completed later today. "If everything works out right," the journey got off to a slow start when the roof of the first section hooked on a power pole and Idaho Power workmen had to tip the pole back to let the building pass. There was little damage to the building and none visible to the power pole.

Owner Robbins said a stone fireplace in one of the sections was dismantled and discarded when its 32 tons proved excessive for the movers to handle.

J. L. Fuller, a retired Union Pacific ticket agent who worked in the station for several years, said he thought the building was erected in 1904 or 1905. UP hauled all the material from Shoshone on its own tracks, Fuller said.

Minico school trustees due $3 million budget

By MARY ANN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — A $3.06 million budget will be presented to the Minidoka County School Board for preliminary approval tonight.

Last year's budget was about $2.7 million.

Although there was a cut back of three mills at the local level, Supt. Darrell Hatfield said, the majority of the additional funds come from increased state appropriations.

Teacher representatives will present to the board tonight a $6,600 base salary schedule for next year. If this is approved, the budget, which is based on $6,500 base salary schedule, will have to be revised, Dr. Hatfield said.

Funds will either have to be taken from other portions of the budget and added to salary allocations or the board will have to decide to carry over an $11,000 deficit to next year, Hatfield said.

The board, however, will have to approve the budget in some form so it can have the two required publications before the budget hearing May 15. The hearing is set for the same day as the trustee elections this year.

The hearing must be held one month before the annual meeting in June, so the board has very few days leeway in making their decisions.

Hailey meet set

HAILEY — A meeting to discuss proposed McCulloch land development project will be sponsored tonight by the newly formed Local Citizens in Support of the Hailey City Council.

The session will begin at 8 p.m. at the St. Charles parish hall, Hailey. The public is invited to attend.

Board, League confer

They also emphasized the need for planning for future sewage disposal needs.

Commissioner William L. Chancey, chairman, agreed, saying he envisioned the day when there would be "one sewer system from Hansen to Hunt."

Commissioner Mel Leonard told the League women the county was working with the Idaho Water Resource Board to keep abreast of the country's sewage disposal problem.

Mrs. Ingrid Strope, Twin Falls, showed the commissioners slides of a family trip to Europe and told them they should consider obtaining easements along Rock Creek inside Twin Falls City for recreational uses.

In addition, she suggested the construction of bicycle lanes alongside some county roads.

Mrs. Joan Bean, Twin Falls, asked the commissioners to consider a Green Belt system along the Snake River.

The three-member panel has suggested the expenditure of the funds for several projects:

- refurbishing of the county courthouse facade, requiring of the building's electrical system and replacement of windows in the four-story building. The cost is estimated at $66,000.
- remodeling of the county jail to provide additional space for 24 juvenile detainees, $50,000.
- refurbishing of another county building, a nurses home, also on Addison Ave. West, at an estimated cost of $6,750.
- a $57,000 updating of the water main system at the county fairgrounds near Filer, which the commissioners estimate will save the county $12,000 in insurance premium costs a year.

Petition signed

SALMON — A petition, signed here by 264 persons, asks the Forest Service to remove the Clear Creek-Garden Creek area from the list of candidate areas proposed for study for possible inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System.

The 43,264-acre area is west of Salmon and borders the Bighorn Crags of the Idaho Primitive Area.

The petition was sent to John R. McGuire, chief of the Forest Service.

It noted the area was "once committed to forest management and would provide strong community support for the community of Salmon and the State of Idaho. Earlier commitments for development should be honored."

Collection pond set

SALMON — The city is constructing a small collection pond for sewage leaving the westside sewer line to prevent it from entering the Salmon River as in the past.

Mayor William Cannon noted the action is being undertaken as a stopgap measure until the Environmental Protection Agency approves the city's application for funds for a sewer system on the west side of the Salmon River.

Two new motels and a cafe are being connected to the present sewer line and will be adding to the sewage flow.

The pond will be located at the outfall of the line adjacent to the Salmon River.

Plans call for extending the line to the new sewage lagoons as soon as federal and state participation in the project is approved.

Burley council sets meet

BURLEY — City residents here will have an opportunity to voice opinions on the proposed new city-county law enforcement building in a special City Council meeting tonight.

The Burley council has set a public hearing on the proposal for 6 p.m. in the council chamber. The meeting must be held before the council can legally donate two city lots for construction of the building.

The agreement deals with the City of Burley and Cassia County for the building, which is scheduled for construction between the city hall and the county building, provides the city donate the two lots, the county construct the building, and both city and county share in the operation costs.

The law enforcement building will house communications equipment, jail facilities, records, room, laboratory and offices for the Cassia sheriff's department and the Burley police department.

The county commissioners and city council members have tentatively approved the law enforcement center construction and operation agreement.

DDT control plan denied

SEATTLE — A request by the U.S. Forest Service to use DDT to control tussock moth infestation of Douglas fir in Oregon and Washington has been denied by William D. Ruckelshaus.

The Environmental Protection Agency administrator in denying the request said "I am of the opinion that the benefits do not outweigh the risks in this proposed DDT control program. Accordingly, I deny this specific emergency exemption you requested for the use of DDT."

He said Forest Service representatives in Oregon and Washington indicated to him that the presence of a virus in Tussock moth larva in the infested area suggests that the Tussock moth population will probably collapse during 1973 following its normal three year growth cycle.

He did "say there" is not general agreement on the projected time of the population collapse.

Ruckelshaus said that based on presently available data, chemical control of the tussock moth would, under the most adverse circumstances, reduce timber loss by no more than 200 million board feet and that salvage operations could further reduce that loss by about 50 per cent.

Such a loss would represent less than one-tenth of one per cent of the nation's total fire reserves.

11 seek Jerome school posts

JEROME — Jerome residents will have their choice of 11 candidates when they vote to fill five seats on the school board Tuesday.

Only three of five incumbents are seeking reelections; Board Chairman Gordon Hofffield and trustees Leroy Weigle and William Kersey. Incumbent trustees Dale Vining and James Keith did not seek reelection.

(Trustee hopefuls from zone 1 include incumbent Kersey, Alyn Chojnacky and Richard C. Johnson.

Zone two: Incumbent Weigle and Darrel Wolfe.

Zone three: Lyle Van Orman is unopposed.

Zone four: Donald F. Allen, Mrs. Forrest (Cheryl) Hyman and Mrs. Terry (Janet) Stewart.

Zone five: Incumbent Hofffield and Jack Thomason.

Voting will be in the high school gymnasium and polls are open from 1 to 5 p.m.

Area accident injures three

KIMBERLY — Three persons were taken to Magle Valley Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon following a two-car accident two miles east of Red Cap Corner on Highway 50.

Rebecca Dohse, 27, Kimberly, is listed in good condition today.

Treated and released were Allen Spencer, 29, Boise, a passenger in the Dohse vehicle, and Jane Jansen, 19, Hansen.

State Patrolman William Green said Miss Hansen was traveling north on a county road and is charged with failing to stop at a stop sign before driving onto Highway 50. Her vehicle collided with the Dohse auto which was traveling west on Highway 50. The accident occurred at 4:05 p.m.

Lemhi reports

SALMON (UPI) — Idaho Rep. Orval Hansen heard from Lemhi County residents recently that their main concern include meat prices, land use, and timber policies.

Hansen said his office had received letters concerning the proposed rollback in meat prices. "I will strongly oppose such a mandatory rollback," he said, adding it would discourage the production necessary to assure adequate production of meat at reasonable prices.

On the subject of timber, Hansen said he felt it was unwise to cut back on Forest Service manpower and budgets during a time when more services were being demanded.

Knicks rally past Boston in playoff

NEW YORK (UPI) — Victor Matveyenko's overtime heroics, enabled the Knicks to tie at 101-101 and draw a second overtime period.

DeBuschere's goal with 2:02 left in the second overtime period gave New York the lead for good at 108-106. Glanville then made a foul that was Dave Cowens's sixth personal and DeBuschere followed with another basket to make it 111-106 and the Knicks were home free as they outscored the Atlanta Division champions 16-9 in the second overtime session.

Jo-Jo White scored 34 points for Boston and Cowens had 33 as the Celtics turned in a surprisingly strong performance without their ace forward John Havlicek who did not suit up because of a shoulder injury.

Using pressure tactics at times bordering on the rough side, Boston took command in the second period. White scored 12 of the Celtics' last 14 points of the season and Boston left at intermission with a 48-42 lead.

The Knicks were held to only 14 points in the third quarter as White and Cowens widened the margin to 72-56 entering the fourth quarter. Frazier and Glanville then led a 13-0 surge that left New York trailing 75-73 halfway through the fourth quarter.

VOLUME BUYING MAKES THE DIFFERENCE — VOLUME BUYING MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

Dundee still hopes for boxing title

NEW YORK (UPI) — With his best fighter, his bread and butter, silenced with a broken jaw, Angelo Dundee still sparkles with optimism and talks about fighting for the heavyweight title.

No, not with Muhammad Ali, the former, fast-talking champion whose speech has been slowed considerably since his shocking and painful loss to Ken Norton last month. Ali, who had been working towards a multi-million dollar match with titleholder George Foreman, now is out of action until the fall, waiting for his cracked jaw to mend.

The man who has moved ahead of Ali and into the title picture is Jimmy Ellis, Muhammad's longtime sparring partner back in the days of Cassius Clay, who overcame that dubious distinction briefly in 1968 when he earned a share of the heavyweight title.

But even during his short run of success—Ellis was flattened by Joe Frazier after making just one defense of his World Boxing Association title against Floyd Patterson—James Ellis has always remained a good fighter with no gate appeal. He has, through the years, let the paragon pass him by.

"I guess it was the exposure, or I should say the lack of it," explained Ellis. "No one knew me. Now they know my name and it's a great feeling."

At 33, Ellis is fighting for one more chance at the championship. His string of seven straight knockouts since Ali stopped him in 12 rounds two years ago, suggest there is still hope.

Chris Dundee, Angelo's brother and one of the country's top matchmakers, has already offered Foreman $1 million to make his first defense against the fourth-ranked Ellis in Miami Beach. Dick Sadler, Foreman's manager and trainer, is seriously considering the fight and admits, "It's one of the few bonafide offers I got."

"We're lookin' for Foreman, Norton, Frazier," said Angelo, who trains both Ellis and Ali. "Jimmy's already beaten the Quarrys—the Pattersons—the Bonavenas. He's only lost to two heavyweights ever, Frazier and Ali."

"Foreman's got some question marks and we would like to answer them. Jimmy's so anxious to get the fight, he's offered to throw in $100,000 of his purse."

Ellis, the son of a Baptist minister who to this day sings in the church choir, has never been able to shake the saintly-type label—and that hasn't helped him make a living in the fight game.

"Jimmy's a great guy," said Dundee. "A clean liver, hard worker, dedicated to his family and his church. He's a wonderful human being and a helluva fighter. In his last fight in Huntington, W. Va., he knocked out this guy Joe Harris in two. But that's not the whole story."

"It was a benefit for the Green Acres Children's Home for the mentally retarded."

Montreal tops Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Second period goals by Rejean Houle, Marc Tardif and Yvan Cournoyer sparked the Montreal Canadiens to a 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers Sunday in the fourth game of their Stanley Cup semifinals before a national television audience.

The Canadiens, who now lead Philadelphia 3-1 in the series, meet the Flyers Tuesday night at the Forum in Montreal in Game 5.

Philadelphia got on the scoreboard early in the first period when Capt. Bobby Clarke chipped in a shot from Bill Barber from the point.

Houle tied the game at 1-1 for Montreal in the second period when he deflected Pierre Bouchard's shot into the net. Bouchard took a pass from Guy Lafleur to set up the play. On a power play about seven minutes later, Tardif came from behind the net on goalie Doug Favell's right side and slipped the puck under his knee pads to put the Canadiens ahead 2-1.

Both teams were skating four aside when Cournoyer slapped a rebound off the boards past Favell's right side for Montreal's third score.

The Flyers had a golden opportunity to score in the second period when Montreal was skating two men short, but Canadiens' goalie Ken Dryden proved equal to the challenge. Dryden made at least three big saves, one coming as Serge Savard skated without a stick late in the second period. Montreal's Larry Robinson went to the penalty box for five minutes after cutting Clarke with his stick.

But the Flyers could not rush the puck into the Montreal zone as the Canadiens' front line, centered by Henri Richard and Peter Mahovlich, constantly checked them off the puck.

Crusaders defeat New England 5-2

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Gary Jarrett had a hat trick and Rob Buchanan pitched in with a pair of goals. Sunday as the Cleveland Crusaders rallied to defeat the New England Whalers, 5-2, in a nationally televised World Hockey Association East Division championship playoff game.

It was the first victory in four tries for the Crusaders, who now trail the Whalers 3-1 in the best-of-seven series which returns to Boston Thursday night for game No. 5.

The Crusaders took a 2-1 lead on Buchanan's goal, which was sandwiched around Tim Sheehy's fifth goal of the series for the Whalers.

Jarrett's first tally was the only goal of the second period, but New England reduced the margin to 3-2 on a score by Larry Pleau at 1:16 of the third period.

Jarrett then scored two more goals from near the crease to ice the victory for the Crusaders.

Margaret Court defeats Casals

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Australia's Margaret Court overcame a sluggish start Sunday to defeat Rosemary Casals in three sets and win $6,000 first prize in the Jacksonville Invitational Tennis tournament.

"I feel I am very fortunate to have won," Mrs. Court said after her 3-7, 6-3, 6-1 victory that boosted her earnings to $83,000 this year.

It was her third straight win on the Virginia Slims women's professional tennis circuit and 10th victory in the past 12 tournaments.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 24, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES Unique and unusual results can follow whatever activity you now place in motion, so be sure you do not insist on routine and usual conditions. A big chance to show your true talents and special aptitudes of an up-to-date mature nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Relatives, acquaintances and allies now understand your needs and go all out to show you their generosity. Discuss a problem quietly and honestly and get right results. Keep sober and avoid accidents.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find more up-to-date system for handling work at hand and get it done in half the time. Cooperate more with higher-ups and co-workers, too. Some new discovery can pep up your health considerably.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Delve into some new kind of amusement that could give you a great deal of pleasure, added vigor. Some new attitude will bring more rapport with closest ties. Stop being so opinionated.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you use more modern methods, mechanical gadgets you can get all those tasks behind you much faster and with less waste, more accuracy. Prove your loyalty to associate. A greater use of imagination is wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22) If you just get proper tools ready, you can then fly through tasks ahead of you easily. Listen to the ideas of co-workers. They can be most helpful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Forget those unimportant tasks and be off to the places that give you real incentive or pleasure. Later in the day get into that creative work that expands your horizons considerably. Impress others with your fine ability.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use a more modern approach if you want to improve the conditions at your home, with the help of family ties. More time should be given to the personal side of life. You are just in right mood for that today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do those things that bring you the active enjoyment of good friends and allies, so that there can be more success and rapport in the future. Improve routines. Evening is fine for working on your favorite hobby.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Contact persons who are practical and get them and for your finest aims. Use good judgment if you want the backing of financial experts, bankers, etc. Visit with some sick friend in p.m. and cheer up this person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are very magnetic today and can make those you like very happy and can get into whatever you most enjoy. Dress well and make a fine impression on others. Gain the benefits you want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take a good part of this day to make right plans for whatever it is you have in mind for the near future. Talk over with a good adviser whatever your aims are. Show you are a stable, intelligent person.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get together with that good pal who has your welfare at heart although of a serious and blunt nature, and get good advice, help. Attend social affairs that can be both pleasurable and profitable in the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY The child will be one of those practical thinking young people who seldom indulges in wishful thinking and will handle every situation that comes up in a straightforward and direct way. Give the finest religious and ethical training you can early in life, although it may be somewhat hard to do. The latter part of life is apt to be spent in philosophical study. A good marriage is indicated. Some travel in early life is wise.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

OUT OUR WAY

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Even old Solomon himself had something to say about that sort of woman sometimes described as "beautiful but dumb." Specifically, in Proverbs 11:22, averred he "As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion."

No, not all the postal employees in this country are pregnant, but 2,300 of them are, right now. Falls on the majority of pigs curl clockwise. Acupuncture needles aren't just like sewing needles, but pliable like thin guitar strings. All cats are heterosexual, veterinarians say. Did I tell you that the item of feminine apparel called the bra is known to change its shape 14,000 times a day?

By year's end, expect the marketing hereabouts of a transistorized pocket TV set, no bigger than a deck of cards. With a one-inch screen. The British makers say it should sell for less than $100.

CREDIT RISKS

Those citizens whose surnames begin with the letter "R" appear to be the promptest of bill payers while those whose names begin with "E" seem to be the slowest. Or such is the remarkable claim of a credit expert who has made a lifetime study of the statistics. Coincidence? Undoubtedly. Still, this authority admits his findings have made him a bit more liberal with "R" people than with the "E" folk.

- Q "How many lady nudists in this country?"
A About 300,000
Q "Where does Martin rank among the most common surnames nationwide?"
A It's No. 8. Right after Davis, No. 7, and just before Anderson, No. 9.

SHAVED COLT

If you were to shave a newborn foal, it a mother would kick it out of the barn. So contends a man of science. No doubt he arrived at this remarkable fact theoretically. But if he shaved some colt to prove his point, I submit the old mare should have kicked him out of the barn, what?

Debate goes on as to the ideal length of time a couple should remain engaged before they get married. But how long the average engagement actually lasts is no more a matter of debate. Latest studies show it's 10.8 months.

True, among those professional painters regarded by the art critics as great, the men far outnumber the women. But it's also true that women comprise about 65 per cent of the amateur painters.

Erroneous is the belief that the blondes who come from Scandinavia. They're from Ireland, in fact.
