today in brief

Viets set prisoner exchange

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting increased today in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, but the South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong agreed to release several hundred civilian prisoners—the first break in their long political deadlock. The agreement came only four days before the deadline set by the Paris peace agreement for release of all civilian prisoners.

Filipino rebel aid scored

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today his martial law government is fighting a rebel force in the southern Philippines estimated at about 20,000 men equipped with modern arms supplied by foreign sources. Speaking on nationwide radio and television, Marcos left no doubt that an active rebellion was under way in the predominantly Moslem provinces on Mindanao island. But Marcos said government forces were in control of the situation and he saw no need at present to seek outside assistance.

'Rough Rider' dies at 95

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (UPI) — Frank Brito, one of two surviving members of Teddy Roosevelt's "Rough Riders," died Sunday at El Paso, Tex., at 95.

Brito was born at Pinos Altos, N.M., in 1877. He lived in Las Cruces until two years ago. The "Rough Riders" made up a volunteer cavalry regiment for the Spanish American War in 1898, participating in battles in Cuba.

Mitchell testimony due

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell today was expected to appear before a federal grand jury investigating a $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's reelection campaign. William G. Hundley, one of Mitchell's lawyers, said in his Washington office that he expected Mitchell to testify.

Skylab crew into isolation

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The crew of the first Skylab mission entered a 21-day isolation period today to avoid exposure to infectious diseases that could force a last minute change of astronauts. Charles "Pete" Conrad, Paul J. Weitz and Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, who are scheduled to spend 28 days in space aboard the giant Skylab workshop starting next month, will live at the Johnson Space Center in a trailer house.

GI addict numbers dwindle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Only 7.2 per cent of former servicemen who were identified as drug users in Vietnam still have the habit, the chief of the Pentagon's drug control program reports. Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, assistant defense secretary for health, reported the statistic Monday and confessed it surprised him.

Leary draws added term

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Timothy Leary, leader of the LSD "turn on" movement in the 1960's, was sentenced Monday to serve six months to five years additional time for escaping prison. Leary was serving a six month to 10 year sentence for marijuana possession when he escaped from a prison camp in 1970. He also faces trial in California on charges of being involved with an international drug smuggling ring.

'Hot summer' warning issued

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (UPI) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Monday night told striking students at Antioch College to look for a "warm spring and hot summer" because of cutbacks in poverty programs. The students began the strike last Friday because they are afraid that financial aid to needy students will be trimmed. The strike has shut down classes in campus buildings.

MIA search team enlarged

SAIGON (UPI) — The four-government team in charge of searching for bodies of missing Vietnam War soldiers agreed today to allow each country 35 members—a move which technically would allow the United States to increase its number of military men in Vietnam to 244. When the team was first conceived, the United States sent only 14 members. However, sources close to the team said the additional 21 slots would probably be filled by soldiers already in Vietnam assigned to the Defense Attaché Office (DAO).

Conspiracy deal denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House insisted today that President Nixon never made any offer of a shortened jail term in return for silence from Watergate conspirator James W. McCord.

According to testimony by McCord to a grand jury investigating the Watergate—a transcript of which was obtained by columnist Jack Anderson—the wife of E. Howard Hunt, a co-conspirator, told McCord "executive clemency" would be available to him after a year in jail if he pleaded guilty and remained silent.

Only the President can grant executive clemency from a federal prison sentence.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, was asked about the matter this morning and declared: "There was absolutely no discussion with the President on this matter. Nor was there any offer from the President."

Asked if anybody else in the White House could have been involved in any such promise to McCord, Warren limited his statement to Nixon himself. "I speak for the President," he said.

McCord is one of seven men facing prison for the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters last June 17. There have been recurring allegations that at least some of the men were promised money and assurance of pardons or clemency if they kept silent about details of the plot.

McCord has testified both before the grand jury and Senate investigators since telling the trial judge last month that others besides the seven were involved in the case and that perjury was committed at their January trial.

The transcript of McCord's testimony before the grand jury, obtained by Anderson, showed that McCord testified that admitted co-conspirator E. Howard Hunt, who pleaded guilty to all charges, told him last year, prior to the presidential election:

"We have legal fee money for you."
McCord, according to the transcript, said he asked "what good along with it?"

McCord continued, "He put it this way — 'everybody's naturally interested in knowing whether you're going to keep quiet.'"

McCord said he accepted money for legal fees for the forthcoming trial but did not pledge to keep quiet. He said Hunt's wife—who was later killed in an airplane crash in Chicago—raised the matter of silence at a meeting with him Nov. 30.

McCord said that he interpreted her message to the Watergate defendants as being "there wasn't going to be any more money unless you fellows agree to plead guilty and take executive clemency at a later time to keep your mouth shut."

The transcript of McCord's testimony shows he quoted Mrs. Hunt, previously reported as a conduit for payments to the defendants, as saying unnamed persons "want to know if more than one year is okay with you — staying in jail more than one year, and then executive clemency."

Hunt and four others pleaded guilty but McCord said he refused to do so. He and G. Gordon Liddy, a former White House aide, were convicted.

Judge John J. Sirica last month deferred sentencing McCord, indicating he would get a softer sentence if he cooperated with current Watergate investigations.

Anderson's disclosure of grand jury testimony was the subject of an emergency meeting of the 15-judge U.S. District Court Monday and a grand jury was asked to investigate how he obtained transcripts of testimony. Officials have said the transcripts are authentic.

Anderson said today he would refuse to divulge the identity of the source of the material and said he had never condoned any law violation by sources. He said the source of the transcripts he obtained was entitled to have them.

The President spent a long Easter weekend in Florida and the Bahamas, and was believed preparing to announce some major changes in the White House staff. There were published and broadcast reports that he telephoned John W. Dean, who has been widely mentioned as his likely successor in the knowledge of the Watergate, on Sunday to reassure him that he still was White House legal counsel.

US jets hit Red outposts

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. B52 bombers and F111 jet fighter-bombers flew heavy all-night raids in support of an offensive by government troops to regain lost territory 5 to 10 miles south of Phnom Penh, field reports said Tuesday. The raids stalled a rebel drive just below the Cambodian capital.

Tuesday's raids were believed to be among the heaviest since U.S. bombing resumed 48 days ago. Military sources said the strikes were centered around the battered market town of Takhman, five miles south of the Cambodian capital.

The big bombers also hit targets around the besieged provincial capital of Takeo, 55 miles south of Phnom Penh, military sources said.

Windows rattled in Phnom Penh for four hours between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. Tuesday as the big American planes pounded Communist positions between Highway 2 and Highway 30, only a few miles from the center of the city.

After the bombing Cambodian government troops swept into the area to recapture patches of territory from the Communists.

Spokesmen for the Cambodian high command said government troops recaptured the town of Sraam, 15 miles south of the capital on Highway 2. Field reports indicated Cambodian forces made slight progress in pushing back Communists elsewhere in the same region.

In another development, sources close to the government said Tuesday Phnom Penh has at least a two-month supply of rice stockpiled and that the supply is "larger than last year at this time." This represents a dramatic improvement in the situation last September, when rice stockpiles had dwindled to a three-week supply.

The sources credited a $26 million aid program which has imported 130,000 tons of rice from Thailand for alleviating the shortages.

The sources said there did not appear to be any "thriving" black market in the American-supplied rice.

Top Nixon aide

— PRESS SECRETARY Ronald L. Ziegler has emerged as President Nixon's top domestic advisor, at least temporarily, with presidential aides snarled in allegations concerning the Watergate case. Ziegler, 33, is senior advisor with Nixon during Florida White House visit. (UPI)

Minico-trustees OK teacher pay

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — If a move to "support the teachers" at the Minidoka County School Board Monday voted unanimously to adopt the $8,000 base salary schedule set forward by county boards.

The board accepted the schedule, costing about $11,000 over that prepared by Supt. Darrell Hatfield, even though it necessitated a shuffling of funds within the preliminary budget for 1973-74.

Assistant Supt. Doyle Lowder presented the $3 million budget to the board at the beginning of the special meeting Monday night and proposed four changes following the board's approval of the higher salary schedule.

By transferring about $2,000 from administrative travel expenses, $2,000 from estimated insurance costs, $5,000 from capital outlays and $1,200 from "other instructional expenses" the salary increase can be written into the preliminary budget, Lowder said.

TF joint planning endorsed

By DALE STEWART
Times-News city editor

TWIN FALLS — A bid for joint City-County planning was endorsed Monday evening by the Twin Falls City Planning and Zoning Commission.

The commission endorsed a proposal by City Manager Jean Miller that a letter be sent to the Twin Falls County commissioners proposing county revenue sharing funds be used to match city funds already appropriated for starting comprehensive planning.

The county commission is currently conducting a series of hearings on use of revenue sharing funds.

Miller told the zoning commission $20,000 has been budgeted by the city for starting comprehensive planning. In a draft of the letter to be sent to the county officials, he said this is the right time to obtain professional assistance in developing a comprehensive plan for the heavily populated and developing area of the county including the city of Twin Falls.

The planning and zoning commission zipped through six public hearings and approved all six requests in a little more than half an hour. Then it devoted more than an hour to a review of other activities related to planning and zoning matters affecting Twin Falls.

Cassia bond vote today

BURLEY — For the third time in a little over a year, residents of School District 151 voted in a bond election today.

Polls are open until 8 p.m. as the school board puts before residents a $3.9 million proposal.

A bond issue has not passed in the district since 1959, though attempts have been made nearly every year since then.

$2.1 million is asked for construction of a Burley Junior High School with capacity of 900-1000 students.

$600,000 is asked for a new Declo elementary school. Another addition at Raft River High School is proposed for $150,000.

Remodeling proposals at Oakley High School will cost about $250,000.

Also asked is $450,000 for remodeling Burley Junior High School.

The proposal also allocates $150,000 for a contingency fund to allow for adjustments in cost estimates.

According to Supt. Harold Blauer, funds asked in the bond proposal are urgently needed to continue a good educational program in the district.

Residents may vote at Oakley High School, Burley High School, Declo City Hall, Burley Junior High School, Albion School, Almo School, Southwest School, Raft River High School, Bean Growers' Warehouse, Unity Light and Power Co., and the Springdale School.

Any citizen age 18 or over who resides in the school district may vote. It is not necessary to own property and voters may register at the polling place, Blauer said.

Polish chief visits Cuba

WARSAW (UPI) — Polish President Henryk Jablonski flew to Cuba today for a four day official visit, the Polish news agency PAP said.

He was accompanied by Foreign Minister Stefan Olszawski and Defense Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski, the agency said.

Snake probed for missing pair

LEWISTON (UPI) — Two light planes and a pair of helicopters jumped off at daylight to join the search for two men missing since Monday afternoon in the cold, swift Snake River about 50 miles south of here.

The aircraft joined five boats searching for Edward V. Williams, 45, Meridian, state official and former state legislator, and unsuccessful candidate for Congress, and Jack Bowman, about 40, Lewiston, a construction worker and cousin of Williams.

The two disappeared Monday afternoon when an 18-foot riverboat piloted by Bowman, capsized in the turbulent river in the Imnaha Rapids. Six other members of the party were dumped into the river.

The six, including State Aeronautics Director Darrell Manning, 40, his wife, Rochelle, 37; Dr. Sam Taylor, 50, and his wife, Jean, 46; Director of the Human Resources Development Council Martin Peterson, 30, and a friend, Barbara Dodson, 22, a Boise legal secretary, were all rescued.

However, they were not pulled from the river until they had drifted downstream for several miles.

Miss Dodson went the farthest, 12 miles, to where she was pulled from the river by two fishermen, Otis Curran, Clarkston, Wash., and David Barber, Lewiston. The two returned and helped the others.

The survivors had clung to floating cushions, while traveling through the swift rapids of that section of the river.

Mrs. Taylor, after being rescued, said, "It was terrifying to be there a couple of hours without knowing where everyone was."

All six were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lewiston but only Miss Dodson was admitted. Doctors said she was in good condition but was suffering from exposure. They kept her in the hospital overnight for observation.

Gov. Cecil Andrus, a good friend of Williams, joined the search party late Monday night. Plans called for him to travel along the banks of the river in a four-wheel drive vehicle looking for Williams and Bowman.

Ron Hayes, a friend of Williams when he lived here before moving to Boise several years ago, said he doubted Williams was alive.

Blaine house burns

BELLEVUE — A two-story frame house sustained extensive fire and water damage Monday evening in Bellevue.

Ric Showalter, a volunteer fireman, was treated on the scene for a minor head laceration he received while fighting the blaze.

The fire occurred about 8:15 p.m. at the Daryl Diamond residence on South Third Street.

The house is owned by Ruth Meyers, Bellevue.

Diamond said apparently a spark from the fireplace ignited the attic roof on the second floor.

According to city watermaster Mitchell Lete, about 20 volunteer firemen responded to the call.

The fire was contained on the second floor and was out at 10:10 p.m. according to Lete.

Lete said the number of compartments between the second floor ceiling and the attic as well as the layered roof structure increased the difficulty in fighting the fire.

City Marshal Duane Dudley said about 25 persons aided in removing goods and furnishings from the home and storing them in neighboring garages.

Dudley said two juveniles were seen taking a box of goods from the scene and that investigation will continue into the incident.

Diamond estimated damage to furniture and clothing at $500.

Several volunteers remained after the fire was put out to watch for flareups.

Wounded Knee Indians arrested for assault

PUNISHED — A federal official said today eight members of a "third force" Indian roadblock outside the government's perimeter around Wounded Knee were arrested Monday night for assaulting federal officers.

Richard Hellstern, a deputy assistant attorney general and chief negotiator, said the arrests came after the Indians barred the passage of Community Relations Service (CRS) workers of the Justice Department through the roadblocks.

He said Wayne Gilburn, director of the U.S. marshal's service, and two of his men went to the roadblock to discuss the halting of CRS workers.

He said there were "no fistfights or firing," but the discussion became "so belligerent and rough that we decided to file assault charges against them."

The eight Indians were taken to Rapid City, S. D., where they will be arraigned, Hellstern said.

Dick Wilson, chairman of the Ogala Sioux, said he has called on "all able-bodied Ogala Sioux" to head toward Pine Ridge with their rifles today in order to establish another roadblock at the same site.

Nixon denies he offered clemency

—In other Watergate developments: —The Baltimore Sun said McCord was considering filing a multimillion dollar suit naming White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, Dean and former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, among others, accusing them of violating his civil rights by involving him in wrongdoing on the pretext he was working on behalf of the White House.

—The Washington Star-News quoted presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman as saying he recommended last summer to the Nixon re-election organization that "the fullest disclosure about Watergate" be made. Clark Muegler, the campaign director, in a separate interview with the newspaper said Ehrlichman may have been "talking with some anxiety about Watergate" with some persons "but that concern was never communicated to me."

—The Washington Post said federal prosecutors had decided to subpoena Mitchell's wife, Martha, to testify before the grand jury.

—McCord, only one of the seven Watergate defendants, free on bond, was given permission by Judge John J. Sirica to take a three-day family vacation at Ocean City, Md., but was denied permission to go to London for a television interview.

—Federal court testimony showed Glenn J. Sedam Jr., lawyer for the Nixon campaign organization, was told after the Watergate arrests occurred last June not to do anything about it, and instead a Mitchell ally, Robert C. Mardian, was made "project officer" for the matter.

—G. Gordon Liddy, former Nixon campaign official who has been sentenced to 7 to 20 years in prison in the Watergate case, has declined advice from both the White House and his own lawyer to tell what he knows about the case. "He is a man of singular fortitude—with the emphasis on singular" said his attorney, Thomas A. Kennelly. "He's going up the river but he's not taking any captives or lieutenants with him." Another source said, "I don't know if he's protecting anybody... He's willing to take his punishment, and he's taking it alone."

New flight set from TF

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls will get a new afternoon jet to Salt Lake City, Las Vegas and Southern California beginning Sunday.

Paul Shoaff, manager for Airwest station at the Twin Falls City-County Airport, said today the new jet flight would provide an earlier arrival in Las Vegas than is now offered by the airline and also first-time service direct to Santa Ana and San Diego. The spring schedule coincides with start of daylight saving time Sunday.

Shoaff said the new schedule will provide for five flights daily in and out of Twin Falls. There will be two morning flights, one east and one west; an early afternoon flight going west and a late afternoon flight going east and south, plus a night jet going west.

"The new schedule will permit either morning or evening flights out of Twin Falls with direct connections east and south to major cities," Shoaff said. "Eastbound connections out of Salt Lake City will be improved as will Airwest continued flights to Arizona, Nevada and Southern California points."

Systemwide, the spring schedule will be bolstered by adding a DC-9 jet and opening of the industry's first international jet artery linking Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Spokane and Calgary. This new 1,300 mile international corridor will be easily accessible for passengers from Twin Falls.

Shoaff said that Terry Ashton, vice-president for planning, anticipates increased traffic — a "sharp increase" — this spring and summer.

The carrier's system-wide percentage of seats filled is expected to increase to the highest sustained level in its history. It is also expected that passenger loadings will increase by seven per cent. In Twin Falls boardings made new records during each of the first three months this year.

Fares have been lowered on segments linking Kallispell and Great Falls, Mont., with Spokane and cities in Arizona and Southern California that can be reached by the new jet artery through Las Vegas and Los Angeles. Other adjustments include special tour and group fares.

New schedule books are available without charge at the Joslin Field terminal building office or at local travel agencies.

The federal government has made no final ruling on Airwest's application for a direct daily flight from Twin Falls to San Francisco and probably on to Los Angeles and a daily return flight from those areas to Twin Falls. Approval of this application would offer direct connections from Magic Valley to all west coast points and would permit businessmen a full day in San Francisco before returning home that same evening. Flight time from Twin Falls to San Francisco would be about 1 hour and 20 minutes. Airwest officials said.

GARY SMITHERS speaker

Seminar draws crowd

TWIN FALLS — Public school cooks and nutritionists from throughout Idaho attended a school lunch seminar in Twin Falls Monday.

Sponsored by the College of Southern Idaho and Idaho Power Co., the seminar drew about 270 to the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium for lectures and a panel discussion on food preparation.

After a welcome by CSI Vocational Director Orval Bradley and a report by Cecil Olsen, state director of the school lunch program, the group heard a lecture on "Baking and Roasting Ovens" by Gary Smithers, northwest commercial zone manager, General Electric Co.

Smithers said convection ovens, which have been on the market about 12 years, are designed to move forced air around the oven chamber, allowing lower temperature settings and shorter cooking times than conventional ovens.

"You can't tell me an oven has a mind of its own," said Smithers, a graduate of Dunwoody Baking Institute and the Siebel Institute of Baking.

Smithers said most oven problems — blamed on equipment malfunction or the result of human mistakes — "It's the person who makes the error," he said, "not the oven. The person who puts the food in is usually responsible for the product."

The seminar also included a talk on "Safe Food Service: Bacteria and Food Storage" by Gerald Hurst of the South Central Health Department; a discussion of "Using the School Lunch to Teach Nutrition" by H.H. specialist Carolyn Barnes; "Tidy for Menu Planning" by Cassia County Extension Home Economist Joan Kelly-Pace; and "Care of Equipment" by Helen Walker of Idaho Power Co.

TF city-county planning bid ok'd

Among them was a review of work by a transportation planning committee to develop highway corridors and toll routes in and around Twin Falls. Milar said the committee is about ready to present its collected data to the public for its opinion.

The planning and zoning commission recommended residential low density zoning upon annexation for two areas. No objections were made during those hearings. The two areas are Lot 35 in Orchalara Subdivision and a 3.5 acre subdivision near Eastland Drive and Stadium Boulevard.

Final plats for both areas were also approved subject to concurrence by the city engineer.

Rezoning of two areas in Twin Falls was approved following public hearings at which no objections were made.

Rezoning from commercial general to industrial was approved for 14 lots in the north half of the 300 block on Second Avenue South occupied by Everett Mattress Co. That firm owns all but one lot in that half block and the other half of the block is now zoned industrial.

Larry Everton told the commission the firm plans to erect a new building on a new vacant lot and to improve the appearance of two other existing buildings.

Rezoning of 10 acres in South Park near Highland Avenue and Lois Street from residential — medium — to industrial was approved on request of Circle A Construction Co. The firm uses part of the site for a yard and equipment storage.

Lloyd Walker, representing the firm, said the change would allow expansion of existing facilities, including a new office building, and would follow the trend toward industrial development in the South Park area.

A variance permitting use of existing fencing to screen the property of Scott Refrigeration Co. was approved. Jack Scott, representing that firm, said the present fence is about 5.5 feet high, but the required fence would be 7 feet high.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance, permitting sales and service of new and used trucks, farm and industrial equipment, and boats, travel trailers and snow machines in industrial zones was approved.

Jack Donner spoke in favor of the change. Commission member Tom Shafer suggested broadening the terms of the ordinance to include recreational vehicles.

Chairman John Rosholt presented a draft of a revised subdivision ordinance. The commission decided to meet again next week for a workshop session to continue reviewing it in detail.

May 14 at 8 p.m. was set for hearings on several requests including two annexations in the South Park area of a site contemplated for KEEP Radio station and of property owned by the LDS Church — and at least one variance request and another annexation, of Lot 19 in Orchalara Subdivision.

Milar to attend conclave

TWIN FALLS — City Manager Jean Milar will be attending the Rocky Mountain regional Public Works Association convention in Bozeman, Mont.

Milar said he plans to leave later this week for Montana and the meeting which is similar to the session held in Twin Falls a year ago.

He said public works planning will be the featured topic of discussion during the meeting and state officials of Montana and Idaho will address the public works officials and a national Public Works Association vice president is also expected to address convection sessions.

Milar said 1973 is the "year of planning" according to all indications and conventions to which municipal and county government officials are going to be emphasizing planning programs this year.

Funds okayed

TWIN FALLS — Approval has been received for $70,457 in federal funds toward the purchase of fire, rescue and crash equipment at the Twin Falls City-County Airport.

City Manager Jean Milar said today the Federal Aviation Agency has approved the figure as 55 per cent of the cost of the equipment as shown by the low bid received.

The equipment is required by FAA on all air carrier airports. Previously FAA had approved $55,000 for the equipment on an estimate basis.

Couple donates time to youth

TWIN FALLS — A young Twin Falls couple, Mike and Sue Stump, has donated much time and energy to assisting at Harbor House the last month and a half.

The Stumps take the children on excursions, movies, picnics and other tours around the area. Occasionally they stay with the children to relieve the resident administrators of Harbor House, Dan and Ann McConnell.

The volunteer work supplements the couple's time spent in CSI classes and is made possible by their involvement in the Idaho Student Mental Health Association, which promotes such activities as Hotline and assistance with Harbor House and related projects.

The Stumps also attempt to procure material benefits and assist with public relations for Harbor House.

As an example, the Stumps secured insurance from the student and county mental health associations for funds to purchase tickets for older children at Harbor House to attend the Carpenters' concert at CSI next month.

Gooding meet set Thursday

GOODING — The Gooding County Planning Commission will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse. Ray Mickelson of the Idaho State Planning and Community Affairs Agency will discuss zoning with the commission.

Search continues for missing men

"He was strong as a bull and was a good fighter but if he didn't get out of the river quickly, he'd be dead because he didn't have a life jacket on and the river is so cold at this time of year," Hayes said.

Neither Williams nor Bowman wore life preservers. Dr. Taylor, whose wife is a receptionist for Gov. Andrus, said none of the survivors could remember why, although they discussed this point after the accident.

All but Williams and Bowman were on a backpacking trip that began last Friday with a seven-mile boat ride starting at the Hells Canyon Dam.

From that point the group hiked through the wilds to a place on the river known as Pittsburgh Landing, about 75 miles upstream from Lewiston.

About 5:30 a.m. Monday, Bowman and Williams left here by boat to pick up the party and return them to Lewiston. The boat capsized about 2:30 p.m. in the Innahua Rapids about 50 miles upriver from here.

The canyon is extremely narrow from that point to the place where the survivors were rescued and the water was reported extremely fast.

Williams' current position was that of a project director with the Pacific Northwest Regional Commission in which he was Idaho's representative representative.

Born in Lewiston in 1928 as one of seven children, Williams attended Lewiston schools, Lewis-Clark State College, and graduated with a degree in education from the University of Idaho.

After joining the Army in 1946, he was mobilized for the Korean War with the Army National Guard from which he retired recently as a captain.

Williams served five years in the Idaho House of Representatives, two years as a minority leader.

A sports enthusiast, Williams coached football and belonged to the American Legion and the Elks in Lewiston, where Andrus once lived.

Filer man charged

FILER — Gene Hartwig, 23, Filer, was cited by Twin Falls county sheriff's officers early today for leaving the scene of an accident and inattentive driving.

Deputies said his vehicle crashed into a fence at the Dr. D. A. Jackson property west of Twin Falls, taking out about 60 feet of the fence. Hartwig was later located in Filer and issued the two citations, officers said. The accident occurred about 3 a.m. today.

WASHINGTON — The administration official who delivers top-secret documents to my office every Tuesday and Friday reports that the "Butz Plan" has been received with considerable enthusiasm by President Nixon's top advisers on cutting the Federal budget.

Tax Load Grows

Americans are paying the heaviest taxes in history and there is no relief in sight. About 36 cents of every dollar of every income in the country goes for Federal, State and local taxes — a dangerously high level.

needs and commitments. On the other hand, they are perhaps better aware than the Congress are watching closely to see what they do with the money and a good many have felt it wise to deposit the money at interest and wait and see.

Higher taxes are considered one way to fight inflation but certainly not the most popular. Less government spending is an obvious first choice, but so long as revenues are large, there will be any number of worthy programs to dissipate them.

Priorities in spending are always controversial and the arguments are hotter now than ever. By now it should be apparent to the most obtuse individual that the government cannot afford to do everything for everybody, yet the grandiose ideas of the Great Society die hard.

After all, the dream of a land of peace and plenty, of milk and honey, has intrigued mankind for centuries. And it comes closest to realization only through the productive energies of free men.

There can be no absolute freedom but the relative freedom we enjoy is diminished as taxes rise.

Thus, on the average, the tax payer can only begin to earn something for himself about May 2, the first third of the year being dedicated to the tax collectors.

Just since 1942, taxes have multiplied 14 times, from $31 billion to $336 billion and still the Federal deficit has risen and cities and states have upped their demands for Federal help, despite increasing taxes on sales, property and incomes.

Federal revenue sharing, when it did come, found some local governments wondering what to do with it. Tax hikes and the booming economy gave some states and localities surpluses. Thus, in those places, fat checks from Washington stirred talks of tax cuts and dreams of all kinds of new spending programs.

State legislatures and local taxing bodies are not eager to cut taxes for fear that future revenues might not be adequate for their

Note to Mrs. S.S. When hair "doesn't seem to grow at all," it's usually an optical illusion. Especially with fine hair, such as yours, the hair shafts tend to break off when they reach a certain length — a few today, a few tomorrow, a few next month. Then the broken-off shafts continue to grow, or a new hair grows from the root. That's why it seems as though the hair isn't growing.

of some companies, who still consider a husband and wife a "package." A particular advantage of the married man over the single man is the former's ability to handle informal contacts like home entertaining.

It's almost the opposite with women in business.

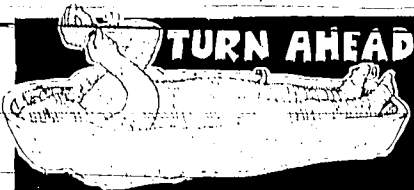

While the Tropman study found that marriage in itself did not affect women's careers, unless they had small children, many companies see the single woman as more promotable than the married woman because there is no husband to be considered in moving the single woman to a new location.

The magazine for managers reports that a study of 6,000 men aged 45 to 54, by Dr. John Tropman of the University of Michigan's School of Social Work, found that the married man's prospects for upward job mobility are three times greater than those of divorced, separated or widowed men.

Not the least of the things the married man has going for him is the conscious or unconscious bias

The Time Approaches

Might as well get ready for it. In fact you might practice now and then so you do not forget what to do.

When you go to bed next Saturday night be sure to remember to turn your old clock ahead one hour because Daylight Saving Time starts at 2 a.m. Sunday. Now, of course, if you want to turn the timepiece ahead promptly at 2 a.m. Sunday, then stay up until that time. But you might fall asleep and miss some precious time.

So just to be on the safe side, we suggest the "go-to-bed" procedure next Saturday night.

But just don't forget to do it — and you can't say we didn't give you enough warning!!

THINGS POLITICAL

Will be sort of getting crowded in the Twin Falls area the latter part of this week. Come Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. at CSI, Cong. Hansen will be speaker at a mental health sponsored banquet. And then come Friday evening, starting at 7:30 p.m. — that's when the eating starts — Senator McClure will be at the Holiday Inn, guest of honor as the Republicans throw a dinner-dance for him. Dancing is slated to start at 9 p.m. The Senator will make a speech at the dinner. Lots and lots of people will be at both events.

Prevention spearheads attack on mental illness

By LIZ JOHNSON

For the South Central Idaho Mental Health Center, Inc.

TWIN FALLS — The key attack against mental and emotional illnesses lies in prevention; in whatever can be done to help assure the healthy development of the young during life's most formative years.

Children need a climate of love, of mutual respect, of appropriate limits, of being cared for. They need an environment — at home and at school — which fills their need for guidance, for discipline, for enrichment of their potential as creative and productive human beings.

Mental health centers, therefore, can perform a useful purpose by promoting those elements of child rearing, of school practices and community programs, which foster the healthy growth of children into mature adults.

Exerting an influence on the developing child second only to that of the family, the school has a special responsibility for fostering healthy growth.

When given assistance by mental health specialists, school administrators and teachers can detect and deal with many early signs of disturbance in children and their families.

Of the 27,725 school-age youngsters in Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Lincoln, Jerome, Twin Falls, and Minidoka counties, national averages suggest that between 10 and 12 per cent have moderate to severe emotional problems requiring some kind of mental health service.

This means that approximately 2,773 youth have either personal or social problems severe enough that they should receive some professional counseling service.

A survey conducted by the Idaho Department of Education in 1969 suggests that at least 1,765 students in the Region have some sort of behavior or learning problems.

Behavior problems include students who

Of the children actually enrolled in special education programs, only one was officially diagnosed as emotionally disturbed. A total of thirteen students in the region were listed as trainable mentally retarded, 174 as educable mentally retarded, 181 as perceptually impaired (difficulty in hand-eye coordination), 3 listed as other, and 40 students with a combination of problems.

Thus a total of 443 students with primarily physical or retardation problems are actually enrolled in special education classes.

An additional 1,800 students with emotional problems severe enough to warrant professional attention, are receiving little or no help with their problems from the school system.

The Child Development Center, which serves primarily retarded children, reported that of the 500-600 children they diagnosed last year, 200-300 had emotional problems — for which psychiatric help was necessary — help that their staff could not provide.

Other mental health centers in the state report that 47 percent of their case load is comprised of persons 18 years of age or younger.

Three of the region's school districts employ school psychologists. Their primary job is to administer intelligence, interest and social development tests. They do counsel students, but may not have the time nor the experience to handle severe problems.

Only one district employs a social worker. A preliminary survey of school districts indicates that both students and families need psychological help in dealing with school and family problems. It further indicates that present staff is not sufficient to provide the type of comprehensive services needed to handle the problem.

What happens to youngsters who do not receive proper counseling for emotional problems?

Many times they wind up in trouble with the law and are put on probation. More than 500,000 youngsters are brought before the courts each year in the U.S. for antisocial acts.

If present trends continue, one in every nine youngsters will appear before a juvenile court before the age of 18.

In Region 5 last year, 636 or approximately 2.6 per cent of those youths between the ages of 7 and 17 were sentenced to court.

Of the total, 537 were referred to Youth Rehabilitation, 38 were placed in the Youth Training Center, and 29 were placed in a home other than their own. With no counseling services available, little can be done to solve the emotional problems of those juveniles repeatedly brought before the court.

The figures speak clearly for themselves; the number of children suffering from mental or emotional disturbances today constitutes a problem we cannot ignore, the number seeking treatment is rising steadily, and adequate treatment facilities and personnel are sorely lacking.

The community mental health center can be the focus for a wide variety of facilities and services needed to help children and their families. Various groups and agencies can work together to provide the needed services.

The mental health center, in conjunction with other community programs, can also act as a preventive force in the community. Its consultation and education service can help protect and strengthen the mental health of children and adolescents through work with schools and other community agencies which serve young people.

During the spring of 1969 the Idaho Department of Education appraised some of the problems of the school children. They surveyed the school teachers in the state to learn about the children.

The first four columns of the following table should be self-explanatory. Behavior problems was defined as: exhibits aggressive

EXISTING SERVICES

The Child Development Center in Twin Falls and its satellite office in Rupert provides diagnostic and evaluative services to children through sixteen years of age with sub-average intellectual functioning which originates during the developmental period.

Also aided are those who demonstrate an impairment in adaptive behavior which hinders them from functioning adequately in their unique environment regardless of the cause of source of the impairment.

In addition, short-term therapy is provided to eliminate inappropriate behavior, enhance development and identify more adequate techniques for teaching and managing the individual child. The staff provides recommendations to parents, teachers, and other persons or agencies on the most effective methods of working with these children.

The center's main office is in Twin Falls. It has a satellite office in Rupert and hopes to open another one in Gooding. It currently has 16 full-time staff members and 25 volunteers to handle a yearly case-load of 500-600 children. The center estimates that it would refer about 200 children to the Mental Health Center each year.

The Child Development Center has been accepting applications to help children with problems other than those the staff is trained to handle because the need in the area is so urgent, and the center has been the only place for people to seek help.

Harbor House in Twin Falls can house up to six children at any one time. It is designed to provide temporary custodial care for children who come to the attention of any of the authorities in the Twin Falls area, either by reason of delinquent conduct or neglect or parents.

The House is used to provide custodial care of these children until the probate court reaches its decision concerning the outcome of each individual case.

The Other Side of Time is located in Blaine County and can house up to four (4) children at any one time. It is designed to provide long-term custodial care for children who come to the attention of the authorities, either by reason of delinquent conduct or parental neglect.

The Idaho Youth Ranch is located in the rural area outside of Rupert. It provides both custodial care and individual schooling (for those not able to attend a public school). The ranch can house a maximum of thirty-four (34) boys. These boys come from all over Idaho and the majority are between the ages of 10 and 17. They are referred to the ranch by agencies and the courts for numerous reasons including parental neglect and delinquent conduct.

In addition to the above programs, the public schools in the area employ three psychologists, 34 special education teachers, seven speech therapists, one social worker and one nurse.

The Adult Development Center serves mentally and physically handicapped individuals ages 16 and over. They have a work-training and evaluation unit service the handicapped, actively workshops for mentally retarded individuals and a clinical unit for general diagnosis and case planning.

The center also provides an eight-week in residence evaluation and training program. For the purpose of further isolating the individual's developmental level and difficulties and initiating appropriate specialized therapy, in-depth, psychological, vocational, educational, and social evaluations are administered. Neurological or medical evaluations may be arranged.

They will also help the client find a job and a place to live. The goal of the Center is to enable every client the opportunity to undergo, to the fullest possible extent, a normal life experience.

The Adult Development Center works mainly with the retarded; however they are currently accepting people with other problems. Although the Center is not equipped to handle these people, they are accepted because there is no other place for these people to get the assistance they need.

The vocational rehabilitation process includes a pattern of services planned for the total needs of the mentally and physically disabled person.

To be eligible for these services, a person must have a disability which interferes with his productive activity or which threatens his

He must also show a reasonable likelihood of being able to engage in a suitable occupation after the services are provided. Services are obtained, through purchase, from the full span of community resources.

Some of these resources are: private physicians, public and private hospitals, rehabilitation centers, workshops, educational institutions, and employers.

These services may include, but are not limited to: diagnostic services, counseling and guidance, physical restoration, artificial appliances, training, transportation, tools and equipment, and job placement.

exhibit aggressive misbehavior in the classroom or on the playground which interferes with the instruction or safety and welfare of other pupils.

This term also includes those children who may be withdrawn, anxious or tense to a remarkably noticeable or restrictive degree.

Learning problems include those who have failed to be promoted or who have been socially promoted two or more times; those who read three or more grades below their present grade placement; or those who have low scores on intelligence tests.

Any one of the above reasons can indicate that a child has emotional problems that prevent him from learning well and interacting with others successfully.

Emotional disturbance in children is almost completely ignored by the schools because of the difficulty in obtaining an adequate diagnosis of the problem.

Reluctance on the part of school officials and parents to admit that behavior problems or learning difficulties may have a psychological cause also makes it difficult to help children with emotional problems.

Therefore, the school systems primarily deal with those students who have an obvious retardation or perceptual impairment.

During 1972, none of the 30 special education classes in the region dealt specifically with children who had emotional disturbances.

Welfare changes aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposed changes in federal welfare regulations will reduce fraud, errors and other abuses of the system, the government's chief welfare official said Monday.

Robert D. Carleson said the changes would "give the states more discretion in how they actually manage the welfare system — to be able to bring in some of the administrative efficiencies that can reduce a lot of the error and a lot of the fraud."

Carleson, special assistant to the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), proposed the changes last week. They were designed to eliminate payments to ineligible persons, overpayments and other administrative errors.

In an interview with the conservative weekly Human Events, Carleson said one of the proposals would change the "fair hearing" system which currently allows welfare recipients to challenge the level of their payments at a hearing on the state level.

He charged that welfare rights organizations have abused this system with "concerted campaigns... to have a lot of people file a lot of requests for a fair hearing, intending to jam the process" and to prevent action against ineligible recipients.

One of the proposed changes would set up a system of local hearings to reduce the backlog of pending hearings at the state level. Carleson said another change would allow the states greater discretion to try new methods to tighten the system.

"We're in fact encouraging governors to come up with new ways of managing their welfare systems that will permit greater effectiveness, greater efficiency, and a tightening of eligibility," he said.

Carleson, who as California welfare director was able to eliminate 274,000 persons from the state's welfare rolls in 23 months, also said that beyond the rules changes "there should be some changes in federal (welfare) law."

"I think we're quite concerned about the effect of the 30 and one-third rule," he said,

"where we practically defy a woman to get off welfare once she gets on..."

The rule allows a welfare mother to deduct the first $30 plus one-third of her private income, as well as the costs of child-care and work-related expenses, as an incentive to go to work.

Although the law would have to be changed by Congress, Carleson said "we believe there can be some real tightening administratively" of the work-related expense deductions for recipients.

About two-thirds of the more than 600 active volcanoes in the world encircle the Pacific Ocean, says National Geographic.

Suit hits district boundary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a case that could affect many big metropolitan areas, the Supreme Court was asked Monday to "knock-down" jurisdictional boundaries that separate white suburban schools from inner city blacks.

The case directly concerned only Richmond, Va., and two adjacent rural counties, but the NAACP Legal Defense Fund (LDF) said it represents a prevailing problem of desegregating inner city schools within the narrow, inflexible limits of political boundaries.

Campaign finance records demanded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Common Cause filed a motion Monday asking President Nixon's chief fund raiser and finance committee to turn over campaign finance records within 72 hours or be judged in contempt of court.

The motion filed in U. S. District Court by the self-styled "citizens lobby" seeks "all records, documents, communications and other writings pertaining to contributions and expenditures" from Jan. 1, 1971 through April 6, 1972, which the Finance Committee for the reelection of the President agreed to file on Nov. 1, 1972.

The motion asks that Maurice Stans, the President's chief fund raiser, the finance committee and other "predecessor committees" provide the documents within 72 hours or be held in contempt.

The records, which reportedly have been in a New York warehouse, include details of expenditures such as budgets, invoices and vouchers plus names of contributors.

In accordance with the Nov. 1 agreement, the committee supplied names of contributors — but not details of expenditures — for the period before March 10 which were made public and names of donors between March 10 and April 7 which were not disclosed pending the outcome of litigation.

Vessel burns, sinks

HONOLULU (UPI) — A raging fire swept the Navy minesweeper USS Force while it was in the Philippine Sea Monday, but its crew of 70 managed to abandon ship just before it sank. Navy officials reported all aboard were safe.

An air-sea rescue aircraft dropped communications gear to the 65 enlisted men and five officers bobbing in life rafts 820 miles west of Guam. Three ships sped toward the scene.

A spokesman for the Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet in Honolulu said, "We can confirm there were no deaths in the blaze of undetermined origin."

Military sources said it was the first sinking of a Navy ship since the tragic disappearance of the submarine USS Scorpion with 99 men aboard in May of 1968.

Pentagon official testifies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The official who classified the Pentagon Papers "top secret-sensitive" says he did so without any knowledge of the applicable rules or regulations.

"I don't believe I know what Executive Order 10450 is or was," testified Leslie Gelb at the Pentagon Papers trial Monday.

"The only instruction I had was a movie, the theme of which was beware of blondes who may be excessively friendly—they may be Russian spies."

Gelb was the defense department official who oversaw compilation of the secret Vietnam history of the war in Vietnam that Daniel Ellsberg leaked to reporters.

He was cross examined Monday by lawyers for Ellsberg and co-defendant Anthony Russo at their trial on espionage, theft and conspiracy charges.

Gelb said that when the first volumes of the study reached his desk, he decided on a security classification together with another Pentagon official, Morton H. Halperin, and two Army colonels.

No analysis was made of the Papers, nor was he familiar with the presidential order setting out standards for classification, Gelb testified.

It was decided that the documents should be classified according to the highest classification given the sources they were distilled from, he said.

"I guess, because of my failure to instruct the secretaries otherwise, they typed 'top secret-sensitive' on everything," he said.

The second part of the classification denotes material that is "politically sensitive," he said.

5,000 wait for flood to recede

By United Press International

An estimated 5,000 flood-displaced persons waited patiently today for their submerged lands to reappear as the rampaging Mississippi River rolled southward under sunny skies and drying winds.

But the mighty river, still burdened by abnormal spring rains, buried more than 1,400 homes along its course from lower to the Gulf of Mexico at New Orleans. The National Weather Service said record high crests of the Mississippi and its tributaries were still in store for many towns along the way.

The highest flood crest in history—43 feet—was predicted Thursday for St. Louis, where floodwaters were already lapping at the grassy slope leading up to the tall Gateway Arch.

At least four deaths have been blamed on the latest flood of the Mississippi and its feeder streams.

Record crests were commonplace for Mississippi-bound rivers. The Iowa River reached a depth of 18 1/2 feet at Wapello, eight above flood stage. The Skunk River was up to 27 1/2 feet at Augusta, Iowa, more than 12 feet over flood level and more than two feet above the danger zone.

An Iowa Civil Defense worker said the situation at Burlington was "no worse than in 1965 and that was supposed to be the big one."

A record crest of 23.5 feet was measured at Keokuk and water was still rising over the 16 feet flood mark.

Civil Defense authorities said 3,800 inhabitants of the Quincy, Ill., area hopped to return to their homes today or Wednesday. They were moved out of their flooded dwellings

Sunday and Monday.

In St. Charles county of Missouri, where the Missouri River joins the Mississippi, authorities said it was impossible to count the number of persons forced to leave their homes because of high water.

In Arkansas, Gov. Dale L. Bumpers ordered 50 National Guardsmen to help with the evacuation of an endangered area along the Arkansas River.

In the rich Mississippi Delta region around Greenwood, Miss., agriculture experts estimated the state's cotton crop may be cut by 15 to 20 per cent because of the floods.

Army engineers said the Yazoo River, which climbed to a 37-foot crest during flash flooding last month, would reach its flood stage, 35 feet, by April 30 at Greenwood, Miss., a city about 50 miles east of the Mississippi.

The Mississippi remained at 50 1/2 feet deep at Vicksburg, about seven feet above flood stage, and the National Weather Service said it would begin a slow rise toward a crest of 51.2 on May 7.

Michigan geysers force evacuation

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (UPI) — This community was a virtual ghost town today after ten more families were forced to leave because of the discovery of a new natural gas crater containing high concentrations of the volatile substance.

The density was so great the gas was visible," said Grand Traverse County Sheriff Richard Weller after viewing the new blowhole.

Drilling operations continued in an effort to relieve gas pressure which has caused more than 100 geyser-like eruptions in this tiny northern Michigan resort area. The latest exodus Monday brought to 60 the number of families evacuated since the bubbling mud and gas filled craters began spouting six days ago.

Amoco Productions, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana, completed its first shallow relief well at 400 feet Monday afternoon, but reported finding neither water nor gas.

The well was drilled east of Williamsburg, and was one of a series planned by the company to find the gas formation which would ease the pressure packed earth under the town.

The gas was believed to be escaping from an Amoco well drilled four miles south of here, although the company is steadfastly refusing to accept blame pending further study.

Amoco officials did not reveal for the first time Monday, however, their well caved in at the 1,000-foot level three days before the eruptions began last Wednesday. They said the cave-in resulted in the need for special equipment to bring the gas in the well under control, but it did not arrive until Sunday.

"There is no hope for relief until we get that well sealed," said Don Bateman, gas safety engineer for the Michigan Public Service Commission.

About 250 state and local officials remained in the area to keep people out, watch for possible fires and protect abandoned homes. Most of the town's residents, who haven't been allowed to return to their homes because of the danger, were staying with friends and relatives in the area or were temporarily housed in summer resort cabins.

Senators, Soviets discuss trade, Jews

MOSCOW (UPI) — Seven U.S. Senators met Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and said after 3-1/2 hours of talks Monday that they were encouraged by prospects for increased Soviet-American trade.

The seven-member delegation also reported receiving assurances from the Kremlin leader that Soviet emigration taxes on Jews had been suspended.

The senators said Brezhnev, who is scheduled to visit Washington in June, made a strong appeal for the United States and the Soviet Union to turn away from arms competition and cooperate more closely.

by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., that would block most favored-nation trade status to the Soviets unless they remove all restrictions on emigration.

Mutually-favored-nation status grants a country tariff treatment "equal to the most favorable given to a United States trading partner."

The legislators said Brezhnev repeated assurances he gave President Nixon last week that a so-called education tax on emigrants with higher education, which mainly affected Jews, has been suspended. But they declined to say more until they report to the President.

The fluent sex

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you say women are gabrier than men, you're not just talking through your hat, according to a researcher who has been counting their words.

The average business man speaks 11,580 words a day, but his wife speaks 12,620, Dr. Karel Muncik of Prague, who is writing a book on the subject, told the National Enquirer.

A waitress spoke 12,900 words a day, a policeman 10,660, a soldier 7,000, a priest 3,420 and a monk 860 words.

Sten, however, replied when asked if his council was recommending a tax increase now that "no, we are not."

He said there were other ways of curbing the rapid economic growth rate, such as tightening the current Phase III wage-price controls, which have been in effect since Jan. 10, and holding the line on federal spending.

Slein earlier conceded that the economy was growing too fast and observed the trick is to

Kissinger seeks Atlantic charter

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a major policy speech, Henry A. Kissinger called Monday for a "new Atlantic charter" to ease recent economic, political and military strains between the United States and its old allies in Europe.

"We must strike a new balance between self-interest and the common interest," he said. "We need a shared view of the world we seek to build."

Kissinger told editors attending the annual Associated Press luncheon at the 87th American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) that Europe—along with Japan—has grown stronger and less dependent on the United States.

This, he said, has caused several problems that require a new understanding and a new agreement between the United States and Europe.

For this reason, Kissinger said, President Nixon will engage in a "personal and direct" approach to the leaders of Britain, Italy, West Germany, France, other European countries and NATO later this year.

"It is the President's purpose," Kissinger said, "to lay the basis for a new era of creativity in the West."

By the time Nixon makes his trip "toward the end of the year," Kissinger said, the United States will have worked out a new Atlantic charter setting goals for the future.

The original Atlantic charter was an eight-point declaration drawn up in 1941 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill that would govern the relationship between Europe and the United States after World War II.

A few hours after Kissinger spoke, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the United States would maintain its political and military commitments as a means of building a stable and peaceful world.

But he said this would mean, among other things, that the United States must resist

"tempting" calls to reduce military spending and the number of American troops in Europe.

"Neglect and isolation," Rogers said, "are apt to flourish in the pleasant climate of détente."

Atrocities covered, says Herbert

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Lt. Col. Anthony Herbert, who claims he was forced out of the Army because of his charges of Vietnam coverups, said Monday he still believes Congress will investigate reported atrocities in Southeast Asia.

Herbert said his accounts of the atrocities could easily be verified but the Army failed to launch an investigation. He said he was forced to retire after blaming his superiors for the lack of action.

Herbert, now attending graduate school at the University of Georgia, rejected claims by Barry Lando, producer of the "60 Minutes" show on CBS, that the atrocity reports were unfounded. Herbert said if the television tapes were released, "We could prove everything."

In the May issue of the Atlantic Monthly, released Sunday, Lando wrote that, "We went all over the country following (Herbert's) leads but when it came to critical facts, the people he had told us would support his claims just did not."

Economic adviser Herbert Stein

Inflation dampening actions considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An administration economist, who concedes the economy is growing too fast, says a tax increase is being considered as one means of slowing inflation.

"We are studying the possibilities of inflation-dampening actions," Chairman Herbert Stein of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said Monday, "and something in the tax field would be a natural thing to consider."

cool off the expansion without plunging the economy into a recession.

Some observers have speculated that a tax increase is the best way to achieve this goal.

Stein said the inflation rate, which recently has surged at its fastest pace since the Korean war, is "not itself very serious."

"The question is what does this portend for the future," he said.

At a briefing for newsmen, Stein took note of the clamor over rising prices.

Projects await federal money

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus said Monday a backlog of more than $15 million in sewage treatment projects around Idaho hangs in limbo and no one can say when promised federal money will be available.

Andrus said 24 Idaho communities have finished preparations, including passing bond issues in many cases, but find themselves unable to proceed because of a delay in federal funds.

Environmental administrators from Idaho and nine other states, he said, met with Environmental Protection Agency Director William Ruckelshaus in Washington, D.C., last week but were not able to get a commitment as to when federal 1973-74 sewage treatment grant money will be unfrozen.

Andrus said meanwhile, the job of cleaning up Idaho streams is unable to proceed according to plan.

EPA is to furnish 75 per cent of the funds for approved projects, the state provides 15 per cent from dedicated funds, and the communities raise the remaining 10 per cent.

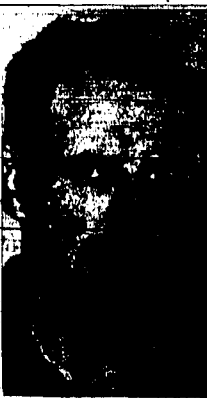

"Many of the municipalities have spent three or four years getting their projects ready to go. After meeting the myriad of requirements set forth by both federal government and the state, they are stymied," Andrus said.

This delay in federal funding will mean that construction in colder areas — such as Montpelier — may have to be postponed until the spring of 1974.

Andrus said the EPA was refusing to distribute any of appropriated waste treatment funds until new federal regulations spelling out grant procedures are published.

"We don't think the ground rules will change very much, and the staff of the Department of Environmental and Community Services is ready to assist the cities so grants can be processed quickly, once federal funds are turned loose," he said.

The last project funded was five months ago with an award to Burley. Communities awaiting funding are Paris, Heyburn, Twin Falls, Moscow, Idaho Falls, Kimberly, Ammon, Sandpoint, Rupert, Donnelly, Basalt-Firth, Orofino, Paul, Wendell, Payette, Priest River, Albion, Montpelier, Payette Lakes, Horseshoe Bend, Salmon, Hazelton, and Jerome.

ROBERT KENNEDY
... arraigned

Kennedy faces charges

COUNCIL (UPI) — The man who eluded law enforcement officers for five days in western Idaho was arraigned Monday on three felony charges including two charges of kidnaping.

Robert Kennedy, 41, New Meadows, also was charged with one count of assaulting a deputy sheriff with a deadly weapon. Bond was set by Magistrate Bob Whiteman at $50,000.

The arraignment was continued until 10 a.m. April 30 for Kennedy and his temporary attorney, Carl Swanstrom to decide if Kennedy desires a preliminary hearing and to pick up attorney for the duration of the trial.

Magistrate Whiteman said Kennedy was offered a court-appointed attorney but needed more time to confer with Swanstrom, before deciding.

Prosecuting Attorney W. Richard Sanders said Kennedy was hipped when he appeared in court and told the prosecutor his boots had chipped his foot.

A fourth felony charge, armed robbery, was deleted from the arraignment when it was determined the alleged crime occurred in Idaho County rather than Adams County.

Idaho County Prosecuting Attorney William Taylor said investigation is underway to determine what charges might be filed against Kennedy in that county.

Some charges brought but I can't tell at this moment what they will be," Taylor said.

Kennedy surrendered to law enforcement officers late Sunday afternoon when officers closed in on him in a wooded area eight miles south of New Meadows.

The search for Kennedy began Wednesday 10 miles north of New Meadows and ended 10 miles south near Tamarack.

He was hunted for the alleged kidnaping of a 14-year-old McCall girl and the abduction of Adams County Deputy Sheriff Keith Fish.

The girl was released by the kidnaper and Fish escaped after he was tied up along a seldom-used road. The girl's mother paid $1,000 ransom, which was recovered.

manhunt came to an end, a Caldwell dog handler, Duane Tullis, 44, was shot with a high-powered rifle.

Tullis, who was a deputized volunteer, remained in serious condition Monday at St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise with wounds to the face and left hand.

Students give 'ransom' funds

BOISE (UPI) — Catholic students at Boise State College have contributed more than $800 to "ransom" a baby from abortion as a gesture of concern for the anti-life philosophy in the United States.

The Rev. Perry W. Dodds of St. Paul's Catholic Student Center, in an interview said "Often times we're not really positive in our opposition to moral evil."

The collection was taken up Good Friday, a day the center usually does not take up collections.

"We wanted a quiet, unpublicized gesture of concern for the anti-life philosophy in the United States," said Fr. Dodds.

He said he had discussed the project with Bishop Sylvester Triglia of the Catholic Diocese of Idaho and had received his approval.

Fr. Dodds said there is no potential recipient for the collection at the moment.

He has talked with local doctors who will help find a woman to give the money as "ransom" that will pay for her maternity expenses so she will have her child "rather than taking the easier and cheaper way to have an abortion."

Dodds said the money "is not to be considered a bribe although I'm not saying I'd be above it — and if my some day come down to that."

He said only one collection was taken up at the student parish and "we will do the best we can" with that amount.

If it proves to be a positive approach, he hopes other churches might do likewise.

He did not know of specific other churches involved in such an action but believed similar steps were taken by at least two churches on the east coast.

"We would hope it would always be abundantly clear to any woman contemplating an abortion that it never needs to be considered a matter of money."

"Money should not be the basis for such a decision," he said.

Fr. Dodds also said the fund would be given to the appropriate mother regardless of her religious beliefs or her plans for the child after its birth.

Professor dismissed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho State University biology professor Dr. Rufus Lyman has been dismissed for violation of a State board of Education directive and for insubordination.

Board President Dr. John Swartley, Boise, acknowledged a registered letter of dismissal had been mailed to Lyman at ISU. The termination is effective immediately.

Lyman, with 20 years' tenure, was the subject of a Faculty Affairs Committee investigation.

Swartley said the decision to dismiss Lyman was unanimous. He said Lyman had acted in direct contravention of a policy and directive of the State Board of Education, but did not elaborate.

Lyman said his dismissal may have resulted "because of strict disciplinarian views" he has expressed to the Faculty Advisory Committee.

Walter Wigginton, ISU Faculty and Professional Staff Association President, said his group has voted to affiliate with the American Federation of Teachers as part of the AFL-CIO.

Wigginton said it was a definite possibility a federation trouble shooter would be called in to assist in Lyman's behalf.

Swartley acknowledging the dismissal action was unprecedented but sanctioned under the Idaho Code, said the move was not indicative of more board involvement in the status of faculty positions.

He said it should not be considered "a move on our part to eliminate existing tenure policies."

Symposium slated

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Representatives of six Indian groups and black and Chicano leaders from Washington State University are scheduled to take part in a symposium on minorities at Lewis Clark State College Thursday and Friday.

Director Gene A. Mueller, professor of history at LSC, said the meeting will focus attention on minorities as a whole.

Mueller said its purpose was to give people an awareness of the existence of minorities in forms of people and show that human difficulties are often overlooked because of inaccuracies of stereotyping.

Scheduled speakers include Jack Edmo, Boise, director of the Idaho Intertribal Board and Dr. Fred Grant, Boise, director of the Idaho Human Rights Commission.

Charge dropped against Magee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The State of California has decided to drop murder charges against convict Ruchell Magee for his part in the 1970 Marin County courthouse shootout.

Attorney General Evelle J. Younger announced Monday that Magee, 34, a San Quentin lifer who was the "other defendant" in the Angela Davis case, would be tried only for aggravated kidnaping at his second trial starting May 23.

The first trial of Magee on murder and kidnaping charges ended last month with a hung jury. He was accused of killing a judge and helping take five hostages during the courthouse escape attempt that ended in a gun battle and four deaths.

Miss Davis was previously acquitted of the charges.

Magee's attorney, Robert Carrow of Novato, Calif., labeled Younger's decision "nothing more than bureaucratic obstinacy, a waste of the court's time and the taxpayers' money."

Younger said the murder count would be dropped because the jury at the first trial voted 11-1 for acquittal on that charge.

Mr. Younger is, at best, inconsistent," said Carrow, saying that the jury voted 12-0 for acquittal on aggravated kidnaping, which carries a sentence of life imprisonment without possibility of parole.

The defense attorney said the state apparently hoped to convict Magee of the lesser offense of simple kidnaping, on which the jury deadlocked 11-1 for conviction.

Soviets pleased with 'Expo' plan

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Two Soviet officials said Monday their country was pleased to be participating in the Expo '74 World Environmental Exposition.

Nicola D. Filippov, commissioner general for the exposition for the Soviet Union, and Dr. L.R. Khiks, Soviet architect and designer of the "Russian" exhibition, made the statement at an afternoon news conference. Filippov said "This is a world exposition sponsored by the International Exhibitions Bureau with its headquarters in Paris. The Soviet Union is a member of that organization and we are happy to take part in this exhibition."

He said the last time the Soviet Union participated in an international exposition was at Osaka, Japan, in 1970.

Women to attack male assailants

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bronx Councilman Anthony J. Mercorella, concerned by police figures which show rape up by more than 33 per cent last year over the previous year, today called on women to turn the tables on would-be attackers by assuming an attack role themselves.

"I don't mean scratching and kicking him," said Mercorella, "but a direct, vicious assault."

If he's choking the victim, she should try to gouge out his eyes.

He warned that if a woman merely scratches the attacker's face, it won't stop the rape, but might infuriate him to do more violence.

"But," said the lawmaker, "if a woman is in a position to scratch a man's face she should be able to pluck his eyes out."

If a woman is raped, Mercorella said, it is important that she report it rather than overcome by shame or fear, keep the crime to herself.

He pointed out that if one woman is successfully assaulted, the rapist will continue on, attacking 10 or 15 more women.

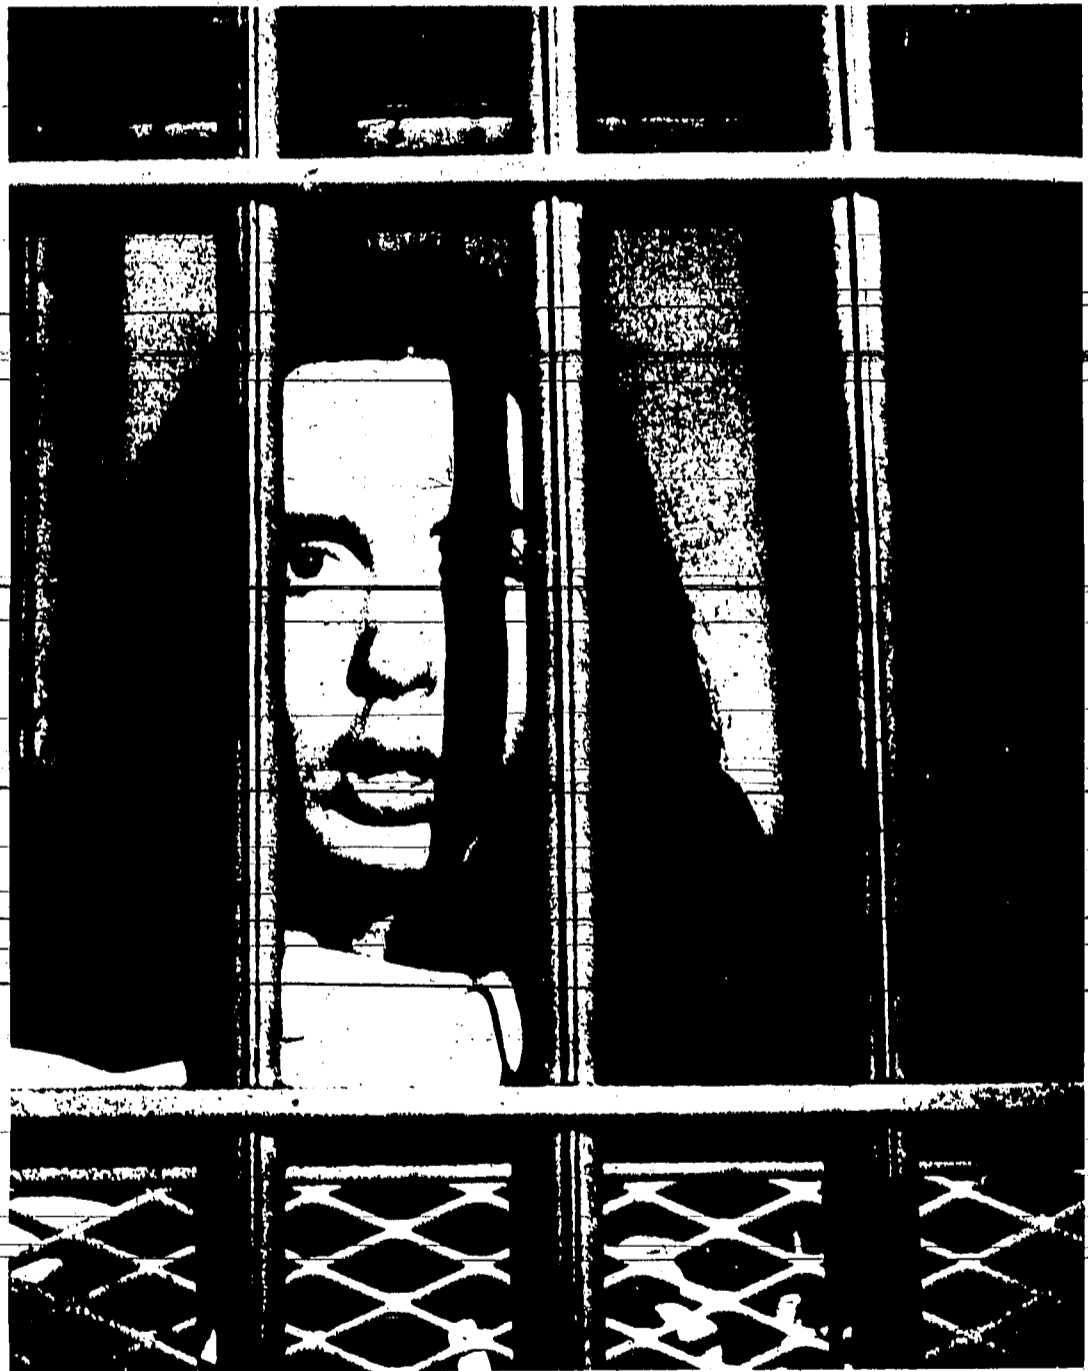

Mercorella—father of three daughters—also had this advice for young girls and women:

"At home, keep your door locked when you're alone and don't open it for anyone—man or woman—if you don't know them."

"Never get into a car if you don't know the driver."

"If you're out late, try not to go home alone. If you have to be out at a late hour, go home the way in which there are a lot of people. Stay away from dark alleys and abandoned buildings."

Shoplifting isn't a schoolgirl prank — it's a crime. When you steal, you're a criminal. And they put you in jail. It's as simple as that.

Authorities are getting tough with shoplifters. No "second chance" any more. No "let's have a little talk" if you're a kid from a nice family. Today they throw the book at you. If you're too young for the penitentiary, you can still make reform school.

Even with a suspended sentence, you've had it. You report to a probation officer regularly. No college wants you. Your life becomes a nightmare.

Fire damages roof

KIMBERLY — Minor damage resulted to the roof of a frame house on Lake Street in Kimberly Monday.

Edwin Gill, fire chief, said the fire started from a stove pipe and chimney. He said some water damage also resulted inside the building as a result of fighting the fire. The home was occupied by the Bowman family, Chief Gill said.

They were at home when the fire broke out about 7:30 a.m.

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Nixon is adamantly opposed to reducing American forces in Europe without similar withdrawals by the Russians, but he expects the NATO allies to shoulder a fair share of the defense burden, Henry A. Kissinger said Monday.

Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser, said "to maintain the military balance that has ensured stability in Europe for 25 years, the alliance has no choice but to reach an agreement on our defense requirements ... All governments of the Western Alliance face a major challenge in educating their peoples to the realities of security in the 1970s."

Addressing the annual luncheon meeting of Associated Press, Kissinger said that in Nixon's forthcoming trips to European capitals, he will be covering with the leaders he meets the broad range of mutually concerned matters, from trade relations to updating NATO defense policies.

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — The University of Idaho has announced its academic calendar for next year.

The board of regents approved the calendar, which shows the start of the fall semester Sept. 5. That semester will end Dec. 21 and the spring semester will start Jan. 14, 1974, and end May 17.

HOISE (UPI) — Four stately silver maples that have lined the western edge of the Capitol along Eighth Street for more than 50 years are being removed.

Thomas Payne, administrator of building services, said two of the trees are dead and the other two are dying and cannot be saved.

He said the four, which stand on an estimated 80 feet tall, are being removed by a commercial service at a cost of near $250 per tree. Two of the trees were topped today.

Payne said the four trees were being removed at the recommendation of the City Forestry Department, which examined them this winter.

Hazelton open house slated

MR. AND MRS. RALPH BALSCH

HAZELTON—Mr and Mrs. Ralph Balsch, Hazelton, will be honored at an open house in observance of their Golden Wedding Anniversary from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Their daughter, Mrs. Vernon Patrick, Redmond, Ore., and their son, Gene Balsch, Caldwell, and their families will serve as hosts for the event.

Relatives and friends of the couple are invited to attend the open house which will be at their home west of Hazelton. The family requests no gifts.

Jackpot dance scheduled

JACKPOT — Laddies from Twin Falls, Jerome and Buhl will attend the seventh annual dancing party of the Jackpot Volunteer Fire Department Wednesday night in the Lucky Seven hall here. Fire Chief Jay Snyder reports.

Ray Crumbliss and "The Saints," a group from Twin Falls, will entertain.

Idaho and Nevada conveyors who supply Jackpot have made donations to the cause, Assistant Fire Chief Everett McNulty advises. Food is being donated by Cactus Pete's casino and drinks by Barton's 93 club.

Receipts will be used to buy fire fighting equipment for the 15-volunteer department.

Assisting with arrangements are Capt. Darrall Hinds and Lt. Douglas Lancaster.

The first colonization of Florida was by Spanish at Pensacola in 1559.

Show slated

VIOLET TIME will be the theme of a flower show exclusively for African violets May 5 in the IOOF Hall in Twin Falls. Alice Proscott, left, and Mrs. Paul Prochnow look over two of the plants they will be showing. The show is open to the public from 1 to 8:30 p.m. and sponsored by the Magic Valley Saintpaulia Club.

Wendell miss, Renn plan rites

WENDELL — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burks, Wendell, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Leah Geissler, to Buzz Renn.

Renn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Renn, Hallett. Miss Geissler attended Boise State College for one year and will be graduated from the College of Southern Idaho in May as a registered nurse.

Renn attended Boise State College for two years and is now employed by Hartwell Excavation, Idaho Falls.

Valley Briefs

JEROME — There will be a card party at 2 p.m. Wednesday, May 2, at Heritage Homes, sponsored by the Jerome Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons. The public is invited.

TWIN FALLS — The Dr. Lotz Mission Circle of the First Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ross Prather, 584 Cindy Drive. Officers will be installed.

TWIN FALLS — Mountain Rock Grange members will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

TWIN FALLS — CSI Faculty Wives and Women's group will hold its April business meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Keith Farrell, 974 DelMar Drive. The nominating committee will present a slate of officers. Members planning to attend should contact Mrs. Cindy McElfresh, 734-5557 or Mrs. Jane Pratt, 734-8277.

TWIN FALLS — Goodwill Club will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harold Freeman, 271 No. Lacust St. Roll call will be answered with favorite poem or book. Annual committee reports will be given and officers elected. There will be a May basket exchange and parliamentary rules drill for the program.

Minnie finds home

SALMON — With tender love and care, Minnie Mouse is living into old age at the Neal James' residence here.

With the help of her friends, the James' children, Melanie, and Gordie, Minnie is cared for daily.

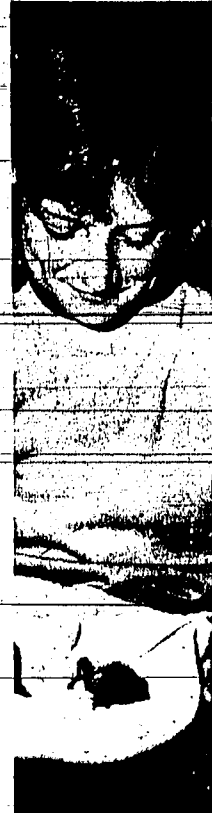

The kangaroo mouse was found three and one-half years ago and brought home by the youngsters' grandfather.

In the beginning, everyone called the mouse "Mickey," but the name was changed when "Mickey" joined by white mice for company, produced a litter of 6.

When the rest of the mice had 2) other mice the James' decided enough was enough and gave them all away except Minnie.

Minnie remains healthy and active, not even hibernating during the winter. She lives in a cage in the living room.

The only change is the loss of her 3-inch-long tail, nipped off by her white mice companions.

Holds pet

MELANIE James, 9, Salmon, holds mouse "Minnie," who hides her head.

without any of the three top honors.

With yesterday's hand, had South opened one heart North would respond four clubs. South would look at his queen high suit and sign off at four hearts.

Today we have given North the same hand as yesterday, but changed the South hand a trifle so that his six-card trump suit is headed by the ace.

North responds four clubs and South knows there is a trump trick out against him but only one unless West shows up with all three missing trumps.

South likes his hand enough to invite a slam by means of a four-spade cue bid and North does the rest. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

BEETSALAD
1 cup sugar
1 cup water or 1/2 cup water and 1/2 cup pineapple juice
1 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
3 shakes allspice
Mix the above ingredients and bring to a boil. Dissolve one three-ounce package lemon or lime gelatin in the hot mixture. Add one and one-half cups drained shoestring beets, one cup drained crushed pineapple, one-half cup diced celery and one-half cup beet juice. Let set and serve with salad dressing.

SAEAD DRESSING
1 cup mayonnaise
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
1 tablespoon finely sliced green onion with some of the tops
1 tablespoon thinly sliced celery
Combine and let stand several hours. If too thick to spread on the salad, thin with a small amount of milk.

Had "leftovers" for supper last night—what was left under the meat in the casserole after the kids scrounged all the goodies.

Dr. F. Norman Berry said he was impressed with the results, but officials said the technique would be used mostly in special cases or when a patient is allergic to conventional anesthetics.

Jewelry trends include safety items

Keeps vow

TWIN FALLS — All that glitters is not merely decoration. Jewelry trends now include safety jewelry including whistles, personal burglar alarms and key holder pendants.

The whistles come in a variety of shapes and sounds; the alarms are smaller than a pack of cigarettes, and key holders conceal a pendant with a latch behind the ornament to carry keys.

Convertible jewelry is an interesting choice for spring. Use a six strand, pearl necklace as a belt by making a slight adjustment of the clasps. A caftan touch is an ear frame in gold, filigree which completely encircles the ear and is held in place by a matching earring.

Those who have angora sweaters and sweater dresses will want dainty chains with a butterfly, bluebird, or miniature rose. Use the pendant, wide bracelet or dramatic earrings for the "shirtwaist" look.

Chains and pearls complement the long line look of pants and Faverblouse linked or solid bracelets often ring both wrists and hoop earrings are dramatic.

Even beachwear may be accessorized with bracelets, chains and pendants worn with swim suits or cover-ups.

KENOYA, W.Va. (UPI) — The Rev. Carl H. Hartman ate his dinner on the rooftop of the Poplar Street Church of God Sunday, keeping a vow he made last September.

The 30-year-old minister promised his congregation if Sunday School attendance ever reached 150, he would eat his dinner on the rooftop.

Easter Sunday drew 153 worshippers.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I cringed when I read the letter from a man who was looking for a nice lady with some sort of physical handicap. He should look for a nice psychiatrist (handicapped or otherwise) to help him get over the idea that he is superior to one who is physically handicapped. The poor man is obviously handicapped himself in that he is disturbed.

However sad, there are more people than most realize who share this man's sick point of view. It is this attitude which has made second-class citizens of physically handicapped people.

I know a lovely, bright young woman who has teaching credentials, but because she is blind she cannot get a teaching position. The reason is simple. An employer will not hire a handicapped person if he can get one who is "normal."

ANOTHER 2D CLASS CITIZEN

First-class citizens

DEAR CITIZEN: Not ALL employers discriminate against the handicapped. Some (God bless 'em) give them preference. And one of the reasons I am such a "robin' tootin' booster of The Goodwill Industries is because they exist in order to give the physically handicapped an opportunity to be self-supporting, self-respecting first-class citizens.

DEAR ABBY: May I reply to "Dot in Chicago," the waitress who wondered why customers take their wraps to their tables instead of checking them in the checkroom?

My mink coat mysteriously disappeared from a restaurant checkroom. Our insurance did not cover theft of items in restaurants or theaters. The restaurant's insurance did not cover customers' belongings. The restaurant management refused to reimburse me on the grounds that the checkroom girl didn't remember me or my coat in spite of the fact that I had a photo clipped to my loss claim.

Also, during a period of two and one-half years, five of my husband's hats disappeared from restaurant hat racks, with "not responsible for loss of personal property" signs. His loss: $185.

Try using these so-called "free" checkrooms. Any tip less than four bits results in a scream of "CHEAPSKATE!"

DEAR RLC: Offhand, I'd say you didn't have a very good insurance policy. And if you accepted these losses under the circumstances you describe without consulting a lawyer, you are naive.

DEAR ABBY: Shame, shame on you for giving out erroneous information. You told "All Partied Out," who wrote to complain about jewelry, kitchenware, and clothing parties, that some women appreciate being introduced to new products and enjoy the parties. Is that so?

After 25 phone calls, a little blackmail, and a lot of crying I finally got three to say maybe they would come, two perhaps, and one if the dog doesn't have puppies. I was the only one there: I almost had two: I let the air out of my daughter's tires, hid her car keys and held on to her hair until she was too tired to fight. But when the party lady came and I let go to answer the door, my daughter escaped out the back. I am convinced women who will submit to extortion are an extinct species. The next one that asks me to have a party will be in trouble.

Please run, don't walk, to the nearest mall box and send me air mail, special delivery, the name, address, and phone number of "All Partied Out." If she attended four of these parties in two weeks her name would sell for a fortune on the black market. Women the world over would trade the milk money for her phone number. It would bring enough to pay the national debt, restore the dollar, and send me and my jewels (recently purchased at a one-woman show) on a Caribbean cruise. ANXIOUSLY AWAITING Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 88700, L. A., Calif. 90088. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hailey-McCulloch fuss aired at public meeting

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Proponents of a proposed McCulloch Properties Inc. development were ventilated before a crowd of about 200 persons Monday night.

The meeting was sponsored by the newly formed Local Citizens In Support of the Hailey City Council and was chaired by Bill Otterstein.

In attendance were representatives from McCulloch Properties, including Robert P. McCulloch Jr., president of the California based firm; Hailey city officials and Blaine County officials.

McCulloch described the facilities and provisions for the 650 acre property southeast of Hailey, which the firm has petitioned for annexation into the city.

A group of county residents is presently circulating a petition asking that the development not be annexed.

He said the plan stemmed from a six-month effort and said he felt the development "would be a great addition to the city of Hailey."

Al Comtaruk, Bellevue, asked about sewage facilities on the site.

Joe Coombs of Trico Development Corp., the engineering and planning firm for the development, said contact had been made with the Idaho State Health Department.

He said the development firm would construct the entire outfall system and would construct or fund "any needed additions," to the Hailey sewage treatment plant.

Responding to a question about employment opportunities for the residents in the development, McCulloch said he felt that people would not move into the area "until they have jobs or some other means of support."

During the construction phase, McCulloch said, building will be the "single biggest business."

He said the policy of the firm was to work with local builders. Stanley Phillips, Hailey, said he had observed an influx of people into the area who had found employment, but need housing. He said housing was a requirement whether McCulloch came into the area or not.

John Pearson, Hailey, said the area had a limited amount of winter work. "There is no way we can stand another 6,000 residents."

Bryan Clark, Hailey, a teacher, questioned the development's impact on the school system. He said with the planned new high school, the bond issue will be brought up to the legal level.

"What is McCulloch going to do for the school system besides giving 18.3 acres?" He said, "what percentage of the cost of schools goes into land," and enumerated such additional costs as construction, equipment and staff.

Marty Martindale, a former Blaine County assessor, said, "You're not going to get new schools by discouraging enlargement of the tax base." He said, "We are going to have that many people here whether they (McCulloch) do it or not."

Only about 7.3 per cent of Blaine County land is privately owned, Martindale said, and the value of what is built on that land will determine what schools will be constructed. McCulloch said the present growth rate in the upper Blaine County is about 12 per cent a year. He said the development was designed as a portion of that rate.

Estimates project that the development will contain about 2,200 residents in 16 years," McCulloch said.

George Zacho, Ketchum, said because of the "major impact" of the development, it "behoves the people of this town to support a moratorium on any development," to allow an impact study of its effects on the Wood River Valley.

Martin Albrethsen, said "McCulloch has already completed a study."

Dick Noguez, Bellevue, said an impact study would be "wasting our tax money." He said a study was not done when Union Pacific sold Sun Valley and said he felt that a request for a study now was "trying to shut the barn door after the horses were out."

Curtis Cruger, Ketchum, said, "The people of Hailey and Blaine County have to decide how many people they want. It doesn't have to double and triple." He said that development can be stopped or slowed down.

Mrs. Dennis Shellhorn, Hailey, said that planning and zoning commissions have been formed throughout the county to promote "slow controlled growth." She said annexation has been found as a loophole, especially with agricultural land, to bring city densities into areas where people did not conceive those densities.

Phillips said community residents "have a choice." He said "the choice is simple. Will we have well planned development such as McCulloch, or poorly planned development?"

Blaine sewer law suit negotiated

TWIN FALLS — Principals involved in a Blaine County lawsuit over sewer system hookups hinted today at a negotiated settlement.

A press statement, issued over the names of Ketchum Mayor Kenneth Richey and Bud Siemon, chairman of the Sun Valley Water and Sewer District, said a meeting held Monday was "very beneficial," and sought "to resolve settling the pending law suit by attempting to reach satisfactory arrangements between all persons concerned to increase the capacity of the existing sewer treatment plant."

A suit filed in Fifth District Court earlier this month, resulted in a temporary restraining order prohibiting hookups to the sewer system. Ketchum brought the action against the Sun Valley Water and Sewer District and other defendants to stop further hookups to the sewer system until its capacity for sewage treatment is increased.

A further hearing into the case, originally set for last Thursday, was rescheduled for later this week, but has been postponed, according to the three paragraph statement issued today.

The hearing is put off until May 17 "by agreement of the parties," following an anticipated May 15 meeting with engineers to discuss possibilities of increasing the capacity of the treatment plant.

District Judge Charles Scoggin today said he could not confirm the May 17 hearing date because "I don't have the file in front of me." He did say it was possible the date could be set with the consent of the attorneys in the case.

Willis Benjamin, a Ketchum attorney representing the city in the case, refused elaboration on the press statement, citing a "confidential" relationship. He would not specify who attended the meeting Monday or where it was held.

Declo vote today

DECLO — Declo voters will have until 8 p.m. today to cast their votes for a proposed new city sewage treatment plant. The Declo City Hall will be open from noon until 8 p.m. today for balloting on a $135,000 revenue bond election to raise city funds for a portion of the total project cost.

The total cost for the plant and the lagoon property will be about $408,856. Grants from the state and the Environmental Protection Agency are expected to take care of $255,125 and a loan from the Farmers' Home Administration to pay another $127,700.

for the land, which is located on the Doyle Willard Farm two and one-half miles north of Declo.

The project is designed for over 100 hook-ups with the ability to add more for houses or trailers in the future. The city has been experiencing problems with septic tanks and the drainfield.

Forest office to move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today plans to consolidate three of its regional offices in Utah, Montana and New Mexico, moving the headquarters to Denver.

The Forest Service said the regional forester offices in Ogden, Utah, Missoula, Mont., and Albuquerque, N.M., will be downgraded to service centers by June of 1974.

The move would draw and quarter the five-state Intermountain Forest Service Region with offices in Ogden, Utah and Wyoming forests in the Intermountain Region would be transferred to the jurisdiction of Denver, while those in Idaho would go to Seattle, and national forests in Nevada and California now administered by the Intermountain Region would be under control of the San Francisco office.

Officials in Ogden said the move would affect about 400 employees there, leaving an estimated force of 90 supervisors for administration of the local forest service lands.

Sterilizer installed

INSTALLATION of a $21,000 autoclave is expected to be completed this week at St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome. The sterilizer is part of a remodeling and modernization program presently underway at the hospital.

Head Start charge aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time the Head Start program for preschool children has started charging some low income and middle class parents for enrolling their children.

Administration officials said today the Head Start charges initially will affect only children who enroll in local programs.

But by next fall, all Head Start children from families with annual incomes of $4,576 or more will be charged monthly fees based on income and number of children in the family.

But parents will now have to provide verification of their income, she said, which they have not had to do previously.

About 120 children are enrolled in the Twin Falls Head Start program.

It also was learned today that the administration is considering a sliding fee schedule for working poor families with children in subsidized day care. Federal Head Start and welfare officials told UPI that the day care proposal will be published later this month, when the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) announces new regulations.

Special levy vote slated

MURTAUGH — Murtaugh school patrons are voting today on a four-mill override levy.

Polls in the district, which includes portions of both Cassia and Twin Falls County, will be open until 8 p.m. Voting will be held at the Murtaugh High School auditorium and the Robert Allred ranch, on the Poothill road, six miles south and three miles east of Murtaugh.

Supt. Florin Hulse said the override levy is needed to maintain the present curriculum level. But he said the four mills, in addition to the 27 mills now allowed by the state, still represents a tax reduction this year.

If the special levy is approved, it will provide a total of 31 mills, compared to last year when patrons approved a 6 mill override levy in addition to the 30 mills allowed by the state, for a total of 36 mills.

In addition to this five mill reduction, the bond levy is being reduced from 7 to 5 mills this year, for a total of 7 mill reduction to district taxpayers; Hulse said.

Burley building site opposed

BURLEY — Three persons opposing a proposed building site for the city-county jail attended a Monday night public hearing before the Burley City Council.

The public hearing was opened by Mayor Garis Tomerston Truman Bradley, Burley, said the proposed architecture would not blend in with the old courthouse and county buildings.

He said the new jail would cut out the north and south views of the present buildings and would ruin the decor of the downtown district.

Bradley said he believed other city land would better serve the new building project.

Ed Elliott supported Bradley's opinion. Most of the discussion pertained to the 10-foot the proposed jail would be extended past the other two buildings. The only alternative is a second story to the new jail which is economically impossible without a raise in taxes, council members said.

The council tabled the decision on the donation of two city lots for the county-city law enforcement building, pending a special executive session Thursday afternoon.

Heyburn woman found guilty

RUPERT — A Heyburn woman was found guilty by a jury Monday in Rupert Magistrate's Court of misuse of Public Assistance funds.

From May to August, 1972, Mary Ann Morrison obtained Public Assistance in amounts greater than she was entitled to, by means of false representation. The plaintiff failed to report additional income to Jo Dugdale officials.

The fraudulent use of the funds was charged by John Gunnell of the Department of Public Assistance. Paul T. Smith, assistant attorney general, argued the case for the state, with James Anest speaking for the defense and Magistrate Judge Anderson presiding.

The jury began deliberation at 2:30 and reached its decision at five o'clock.

Sentence will be passed May 14 following pre-sentence investigation.

TF break-in reported

TWIN FALLS — About $25 damage resulted to a door and frame of an apartment located at 219 Sixth Ave. E., city police said today.

The damage was caused in a break-in of the apartment, but officers said apparently nothing was taken from the unoccupied unit. Owner is Garry Lisenbee, 227 9th Ave. N.

Minidoka okays pay base plan

A $2,000 increase had been written into administrative travel expense this year bringing a total allocation of $6,000. Now the allocation will match last year's $4,000 outlay.

The $5,000 shifted from total capital outlay will bring those funds down to $35,000 which is still more than the $27,800 allocated last year. The loss in this change, according to Lawler, will be equipment.

The reduction of the $112,200 insurance allocation was made on the assumption that not all teachers will want the newly provided full insurance coverage. The district is paying the full payout for insurance policies next year. This year, only 85 per cent of the teachers are signed up for insurance, and the district is only paying a small share of the cost.

Other instructional expenses, as listed in the preliminary budget, would be cut by $1,200 to $32,700 to accommodate the teacher salary increase. Last year's allocation for this category was $37,300. This is a sort of "catch-all" category under instructional expenses and this year's total allocation in that fund is about a $230,000 increase over last year's.

The loss will hit instructional materials being requested by district school principals.

School board members approved the proposed changes. Lawler will review the figures, and make any needed adjustments before releasing the budget for printing. The board will make a final decision on the budget following a public hearing May 15.

The preliminary budget had allowed a total of $1.96 million for instructional expenses. The teacher salary schedule as accepted necessitated an increase to $1.97 in that category.

The fund allocations provide merely for a maintenance budget, Dr. Hallfield said. The only additions were two special education teachers whose costs, although listed in the budget, will come from state and federal funds, he said.

'Entrapment' out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that defendants cannot claim "entrapment" as a defense even though a government agent supplies them with the means of committing an illegal act.

JEROME — Five trustees will be elected to the Jerome School Board today from a field of 11 candidates.

Polls will be open until 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Two major issues have developed in the campaign. They are the degree of control over the administration appropriate for the superintendent of schools and dissension among current school trustees.

Zone 1 candidates are William Kersey, incumbent, Alvin Chojnacky, and Richard C. Johnson.

Kersey said that after one term he has learned what is involved in district operations and does not feel there is dissension among trustees.

Chojnacky said "Dissension among board members has brought about a lack of trust in the people they are supposed to be working with and representing." Board members should cooperate fully once a decision is reached, he said.

Johnson said he is running because he is "concerned with dissension within the board."

In Zone 2, incumbent Leroy Weigle and Darrel Wolfe are candidates.

Weigle said that after two years on the board he is more aware of the job's responsibilities. While board members may not always agree, they have a duty to the taxpayers, he said. "If we did agree on every issue brought before the board, what purpose would we have for a board of trustees?" he asked.

Wolfe said he filed because he believes there should be a contest in each district and dissension reduces the board's effective operation.

Lyle Van Orman is the lone candidate in Zone 3. He said he is running because he feels there "is a real need for cooperation on the board" and trustees should be allowed to state their opinions.

Three candidates are seeking the Zone 4 seat — Donald F. Allen, Mrs. Forrest (Cheryl) Hymas and Mrs. Terry (Janet) Stewart. Allen said he is interested in maintaining a high academic level in the district and feels that with a united board trustees should give maximum support to the administration.

"We need to be concerned with full high school accreditation, meeting the problems of special education and children with learning problems, and the sudden growth of Jerome," Mrs. Hymas said.

Mrs. Stewart said parents are too often forgotten "when it is they who have the prime responsibility for their children and not teachers or other authorities." She said trustees should represent their constituents and their opinions.

In Zone 5, present board chairman Gordon Hollifield is opposed by Jack Thomason.

Hollifield said he is seeking re-election because he is concerned with taxpayers' right to know and to have a say in what goes on in the school district. He said he believes the trend toward central control of school systems by state and federal agencies should be reversed.

Thomason said he believes school board members should have an open mind, be willing to discuss issues, and go along with the rest of the board to accomplish the best for the system. He said he believes the superintendent should be allowed to run the school system without being questioned regarding administration.

Correspondents face expulsion

Awards received

DISPLAYING awards from North Side Soil Conservation District are Linda Bell (left) and Shannon Humbach, fifth grade students at Jerome. They were among seven chosen to receive the awards.

NEW YORK (UPI) — American foreign correspondents are under increasingly heavy pressures from some governments to be careful about what they report or face expulsion, Frederick W. Benton, president of United Press International, said Monday.

Benton said four UPI correspondents have been arbitrarily forced from their posts abroad in the past 18 months and subtle pressure is currently being applied to the fifth. In the case of the ousted four, visas were withdrawn "without reasonable explanation or any explanation at all, with one exception."

Speaking at the annual UPI breakfast on opening day of the American Newspaper Publishers Association 67th convention, Benton said ousting of the correspondents was in apparent retaliation to "unfavorable press reports appearing in this country and not necessarily even attributable to UPI, or resulted from just plain anger at the U.S. government."

"This sort of thing has not just been limited to UPI," Benton told several hundred publishers. "Other large American news organizations have been similarly affected. There have been several other threatened actions against us and, of course, in every case there is an implied threat to all correspondents, whether American or otherwise."

"Members of the press are being told in effect to be careful or get out."

The UPI correspondents were Donald Davis, acting manager in Vietnam; Martin P. Houseman, who was declared persona non grata in Chile;

Raymond Wilkinson, who was expelled from Lebanon; and Leon Daniel, who was forced to leave Thailand.

Benton said in each case the individuals were absolved of any spoils-wrongdoing by the responsible governments and UPI was able to put replacements in the four bureaus.

"An international news gathering organization, we've learned to live and cope with pressure from many directions, but still it's a form of harassment that does not bode well for international news coverage or the American concept of a free press and a free exchange of ideas and information," Benton said.

He told the publishers they should be fully aware of the "fear-of-God" approach by some governments because UPI is essentially an extension of American news rooms. He urged them to "help us sell the concept of unencumbered flow of information" when they make foreign contacts or travel abroad.

UPI Senior Editor Vernon Scott, who writes about leisure and entertainment, noted that newspapers are reporting on life-styles where magazines left off. Attendance and the 36-hour week make possible multiple cosmetic surgery, and multiple marriages.

Handicapped living studied

BOISE (UPI) — The first step toward development of a statewide plan for community living facilities for the handicapped will be the organization of an ad hoc study committee at a Boise meeting Thursday.

The Idaho Association for Retarded Children will sponsor the meeting, according to Gilbert J. Mauthe, IARC executive director, at the Intermountain Gas Co. auditorium on Cole Road.

He said the meeting is open to persons interested in the "demanding task" of providing home-like residential facilities for handicapped persons. Ten of 12 residents who are not totally independent but require only minimal supervision would live with foster parents in each community living facility.

Beet test set

NYSSA, Ore. (UPI) — In the interest of growing a better sugar beet, the Amalgamated Sugar Co. has offered farmers money to plant test beets along with their regular crop.

Manager of the seed production program here, Don Oldemeyer, said the Nyssa sugar plant is responsible for growing test beets for Amalgamated's territory. He said the young beet plants are planted for seed stock, and seed harvested this fall will be planted in larger fields next spring to test for sugar content and yield.

Oldemeyer said the variety improvement program began 18 years ago and now 80 plots — from Parma to Weiser — are being used for the project. The plants are nurtured by the West Coast Beet Seed Co., which provides seed for the sugar industry.

N. Side district honors 7

JEROME — Winners of the North Side Soil Conservation District awards were announced Monday by Roger Fiala, chairman of the information and education committee.

Fiala said this is the second year that the North Side Soil Conservation District has sponsored a special award which goes to fifth grade students that have conservation theme in their science project.

Presented special certificates were Shannon Humbach, Linda Bell, Brian Twithell, Jeal Moss, Kim Atkin, Kay Weigle, and Andra Steele. Each of the students attend Jefferson Elementary school and participate in the annual school science fair from which their projects were chosen to be shown at the Jerome County Fair this summer.

The Great Salt Lake is 4,200 feet above sea level.

USDA radio lines open

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Monday launched a new broadcasting service aimed at getting farm news to city people.

The service, one of a number of new projects being financed with a $500,000 fund voted by Congress last year, will offer commercial radio stations a daily series of recorded "news items" and features from Agriculture Department employees.

Stations will get the service free, although they will have to pay the cost of long distance calls to a recording machine in Washington. The machine will automatically play items recorded by the government broadcasters for taping and later use by individual stations. Claude W. Gifford, director of communications for the department, said the new project would offer one to three items daily "giving the local angle on things the Agriculture Department does."

For example, he said, department staffers might take regular estimates of cattle on feed and present them in terms of how much beef is headed for the supermarket.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — General Dairies, Inc., formerly H-I Land Dairymen's Association, reported record sales in 1972 of $31,364,000, an increase of 9.5 per cent from 1971.

Company president A. Eugene Pace, Coalville, said 54.8 per cent of total revenue went to the dairy farmers comprising the co-operative. Pace said that compared to 53.8 per cent the previous year.

The figures were announced at the corporation's annual meeting here Friday.

Leveling our load curve uses facilities wisely

Load balancing is part of our responsibility as electric suppliers. To keep electric rates as low as is reasonably possible for all of our customers, and to encourage investors to buy the securities which pay for generating and transmission equipment, we must put our facilities to the best possible use the year around.

The growing popularity of electric heat is bringing winter electric loads closer to our summer peaks. Meanwhile, not only can it add to your comfort and convenience, but when installed to Idaho Power's recommended Gold Medalion insulation standards, it's wise use of energy.

Yankees defeat Milwaukee 5-2

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Designated hitter Jim Ray Hart drove in two runs including the winning tally as the New York Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 5-2 Monday night behind the seven-hit pitching of George Medich and Lindy McDaniel.

Pietro Garcia and Bob Coluccio homered for the only Brewer runs in picking up his first major league win. McDaniel held the Brewers scoreless for the final 3-2-3 inning to pick up his second save. He allowed three of the Brewers' seven hits.

The Yankees' victory broke a string of seven straight losses to the Brewers, dating back to last season. It was their first over Milwaukee in three tries, this season. Hart, who collected two hits, improved his batting average to .015 on eight hits in 13 tries as a designated hitter since being purchased from San Francisco last Tuesday. His single in the fourth drove in the first New York run and his fifth inning double drove in the third and deciding Yankee run. Medich held the Brewers to one hit until the sixth when

John Havlicek may not play

BOSTON (UPI) — John Havlicek remained a big question mark Monday as the Boston Celtics drilled for their do-or-die meeting with the New York Knicks. The two clubs meet Wednesday night in the nationally televised fifth game of their battle for the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference championship. The Knicks hold a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series and need only one more win to move into the NBA league championship round. Havlicek pulled muscles in his shoulder and neck during the third quarter of Boston's 90-91 loss to the Knicks here last Friday night. He was out of action Sunday afternoon when New York pulled out a 117-110 win in two overtimes. "I can lift my arm now," Havlicek said Monday, "but very slowly. Right now, I don't believe I could make a layup if my life depended on it."

Keenan ready to sign pact

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Larry Keenan, who led Memphis State to the finals of this year's NCAA basketball tournament, is ready to sign with the ABA's New York Nets, a Memphis newspaper said Monday.

The Press-Scimitar said the Memphis Tams, who drafted the 6-9 junior in secret undergraduate drafts earlier this year, will receive a reported $50,000 in cash and a player to be named later in exchange for their rights to Keenan. The newspaper said it has learned that an attorney representing Keenan has asked the NBA to withdraw his name from the league's list of hardship applicants, making him ineligible for the NBA draft Tuesday. The announcement of Keenan's signing with the Nets will be made after the club announces a new coach for next year, the paper said, with that announcement expected Monday night or Tuesday.

Foreman might meet Frazier

HOUSTON (UPI) — Promoter Laidene Gilliam said Monday she was optimistic about signing heavyweight champion George Foreman to defend his title against Joe Frazier in the Astrodome late this summer. Mrs. Gilliam said Yank Durham, Frazier's manager, was anxious for a rematch. Foreman knocked out Frazier in the second round in Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 22. Mrs. Gilliam sent a telegram to Dick Sadler, who manages Foreman. It is the opinion of fans and sportswriters that the best match to promote in the Astrodome is George Foreman vs. Joe Frazier, she said. "I am ready to announce a date. Please have the champion or your advisers let me know when Foreman will be ready." After Foreman won the title, Sadler said he promised Mrs. Gilliam's late husband, Earl Gilliam, the chance of handling Foreman's first defense. Mrs. Gilliam succeeded her husband as promoter for Texas Boxing Enterprises.

Taylor is picked top rookie

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brian Taylor, of the New York Jets, edged Jim Stiles of the Dallas Chaparrals by just two votes to win the American Football Association's rookie of the year honor Monday. Taylor, a 6-foot-3, 180-pound guard, followed in the footsteps of his brother Bruce, who was named APFA's rookie of the year in 1970 while playing defensive back with San Francisco Forty-Niners. It was believed the first time in major pro sports that two brothers have won the rookie award in different sports. "Bruce and I are very close," Brian said while visiting his brother in San Francisco. "When he won the honor, it gave our whole family a wonderful feeling. My making it is like a dream. We had talked about the possibility back in February."

George Gorvin and Mike Raper, both of the Virginia Squires, each received five votes to tie for third place in the balloting. Jim Chones of the Jets got two votes and Claude Varden of Kentucky received one. Taylor, who passed up his senior year at Princeton to sign with the Jets, averaged 15.3 points a game for the Jets in 63 games. He began the season as a reserve despite three dislocated fingers on his right hand which forced him out for three weeks toward the end of the season.

Hunting is said to be safer than ever, accident rate down

By JIM HUMBOLDT
Idaho Fish-Game Department
Today hunting is safer than ever. The National Safety Council reports a 7.4 percent decrease in hunting accidents in the past decade. A leading insurance company points out hunting is safer than swimming or fishing. The National Rifle Association is spreading the word through paid advertising in national outdoor magazines. BUT... Some people aren't interested in facts. They want hunting stopped forever. Here's what they are repeating often enough so the public is starting to believe them: "The yearly death and accident rate among hunters and innocent civilians indicates that hunting should be outlawed."

attending theaters, churches, concerts, and lastly, hunting. With this list, a hunter should be able to smell danger when the spouse suggests, "Let's go to a movie. Or a picnic. Or a symphony concert." When such perils are imminent, one outdoor wags suggests hunters grab their guns and take to the woods until the hazard is past. Anti-hunting sentiment in North America, as well as Europe, continues to proliferate at an alarming rate and has become a political force threatening the future of hunting as a sport. For example, Francois Edmond-Blanc, international super salesman for hunting and wildlife conservation, says anti-hunting pressure is greater in Europe than America but predicts that hunting will survive. "I don't believe sport hunting will ever be abolished," said the 65-year-old French businessman-zoologist who is administrator general of Du Consul International de la Chasse (International Council of Hunting and Shooting). "There are two major reasons why. Business interests make too much money out of it (sale of equipment), and the governments recognize the large financial contributions made to the conservation of wildlife by the hunters." Edmond-Blanc came to the United States recently, visiting many cities in a nationwide tour that included Washington, D.C., for discussions with federal wildlife officials, and Las Vegas for Safari Club International convention. This organization is dedicated to the upgrading of hunting and the conservation of wildlife on an international scale. Edmond-Blanc named England, Italy and Switzerland as the countries with the strongest anti-hunting movements, describing them as "worse and more powerful" than those in America, according to an interview published in the Los Angeles Times. "In England, the old women's associations are always protesting without an over-whelming amount of success. In Switzerland, anti-hunting forces have succeeded in closing hunting in two states. While the anti-hunting controversy in America is generally based on philosophical and moral grounds, the dispute in Europe is political with the poor opposing the rich," said Edmond-Blanc.

Carolina faces crucial contest with Kentucky

CHARLOTTE (UPI) — After looking like a winner all season long, the Carolina Cougars lay it on the line here Tuesday night in the final game of their ABA Eastern Division playoff series with the Kentucky Colonels. With the series deadlocked three games each, the winner of the contest will face Indiana for the ABA championship. The Cougars entered the best of seven series evenly matched with Kentucky after downing the New York Nets 4-1 in preliminary play for the Eastern Division crown.

The two teams are so evenly matched that, including playoff action, they've each scored the same number of points against each other. The Cougars, however, hold a one game edge in the regular and playoff contests leading Kentucky 3-2. "We didn't want to go back to Charlotte and have the whole season decided on one game. That's a big gamble. In one game anything can happen. We really did want to win," said dejected Cougar Coach Larry Brown after the Colonels won 110-100 and evened the series hit 3-3. Carolina, consistently a strong team behind the shooting of ABA Player of the Year Billy Cunningham and the regular scoring power of Joe Caldwell, will have to face Wendell Ladner, Artis Gilmore and Rick Mount, the sparks in the Colonel game. In the sixth contest in Louisville Mount hit 25 points while Gilmore pumped in 18. Ladner was held to 15 before he ran into the Cougars glass water cooler in the fourth quarter, taking a chunk out of his back, severing a muscle in his left arm and cutting his left leg. Despite his injuries Ladner will see action in the decisive game. "We don't show much emotion and we might lose a lead because we are sometimes too passive. That's why Wendell puts a spark in this team diving on the floor and all," said Colonel Coach Joe Mullaney.

United States edges Australia

LONDON (UPI) — Rick Colella produced the swim of his life today to snatch victory by a single point for the United States in the 18-nation Coca-Cola International. The U.S. wound up with an 118-117 edge to take the team trophy from Australia which won it by the same margin when the event was last held in Britain two years ago. Australia held a seven-point margin going into the final race of the 24-event meeting after wiping out the four point lead the U.S. gained in Saturday's first day races. Colella, a 21-year-old from Seattle, Wash., had to win the 200 meter individual medley to take the maximum eight points, and he did it by recording a 2:09.5 time that was more than two seconds better than his previous fastest. The Aussies did not have a swimmer in the last race, but Colella was pushed all the way by British team member David Wilkie, the Olympic breaststroke silver medalist who broke the British and Commonwealth record with a 2:10.0 clocking. Britain finished third with 86 points in the team trophy contested by four nominated swimmers from each country. Canada was fourth with 63 and followed by the Netherlands with 57. Two more stirring performances, although non-scoring for the U.S., came from 15-year-old Heather Greenwood of Fresno, Calif., and 20-year-old Ken Knox of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Heathers, who was only third alternate for the 28-strong U.S. squad, beat the mighty Shane Gould, Australian triple Olympic Champion, and Knox wrote himself into the books as the world's fastest swimmer. "Miss Gould was unable to produce the world records she hoped for but won three events for Australia before Miss Greenwood clipped 2.3 seconds off her personal best to win the 200 freestyle. Shane was second in 2:07.7. The 200 came only 15 minutes after Heather cut nearly four seconds off her previous fastest time with a 9:49 clocking that earned second place to Miss Gould in the 800. The Aussie won in 9:01.8 with sadly off-form Olympic Champion Keefer Rothhammer of Santa Clara, Calif., third. Knox won the 100 in 51.7, a time bettered only by the now retired Americans Mark Spitz and Gerry Heidenreich.

Smith will play for Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Junior Bubba Smith is no longer disgruntled and will play for the Baltimore Colts this year.

Smith, a six-foot-eight defensive end, said last December he wanted to be traded — upset over the firing of interim head coach John Sandusky and Thomas' ensuing housecleaning of seven veterans, including quarterback John Unitas. Smith even sold his plush bachelor home in the suburbs and moved to Los Angeles. "Bubba has been in the office six times to talk and I think he definitely wants to play here and is serious about it," said Thomas. "The doctors are very happy with his rehabilitation."

McLain signs with minors

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Denny McLain, the last pitcher to win 30 games in one season in the major leagues, has signed a contract with the Iowa Oaks of the American Association, it was announced Monday. Team President Ray Johnston said McLain would join the team in Oklahoma City Monday and would be ready to pitch "within a week after that."

McLain started spring training with the Atlanta Braves but was conditionally released before the start of the season. The right-hander said he was joining the Triple A farm team "because I am anxious to pitch and that money is no object in this deal." Oaks officially stressed McLain's contract was with their team only, and had no connection with their parent major league team, the Chicago White Sox. Terms of the contract were not announced.

Warriors come back to topple Lakers

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors, humiliated by a 56-point loss here Saturday, stayed alive in the NBA Western Division playoff final by coming back to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 117-109 on the hot shooting of Cazzie Russell Monday.

The win was Golden State's first in four playoff games, with the series shifting to Los Angeles for game five on Wednesday night.

Russell, who scored only 14 points in the first three games of the series, tallied 33 points in only 29 minutes of action Monday, eight of them in the crucial fourth quarter as the Warriors broke open what had been a seesaw battle much of the night.

Packard scores first victory

POCATELLO — New professional Jim Packard scored the first victory of his brief career while the Twin Falls mummy and Burley teams went one-two in the Riverside course pre-am Monday.

group of pro Earl Simpson and amateurs Glenn Blakeley, Tom Church, Woody Kerbel and Steve Goggen.

West led the Lakers with 32 points and had to take up most of the club's scoring slack left by the absence in the on-tro second half of Jim McMillian, who injured his knee in Saturday's game. McMillian played 18 minutes and scored eight points in the first half but was unable to return after the intermission.

Golden State, which shot an embarrassing 23 per cent in the overwhelming defeat, two nights ago, hit six of its first nine shots from the field as Nate Thurmond for the first time in the series managed to gain control of the boards over Will Ojuberlain.

Packard fired a four-ender par 67 to win the professional sweepstakes by one shot over Preston Pro Hill Downs. Dave Berrett, Blackfoot, was third with 71 and Al Jones, Montpelier, had 72.

In the upper division, Wayne Humphrey, Pocatello, led gross scorers at 77 and Hal Holden, American Falls, nipped Steve Hoggen, Burley, 65-66 in the net division.

Russell canned six straight baskets and Jeff Mullins chipped in with a pair as the Warriors built their big second quarter surge, but the West went to work almost single-handedly.

Pheasant testing being phased out

A decade of experimental work with Japanese green pheasants is being phased out by the Idaho Fish and Game Department, it was disclosed today.

Experimental results over the past ten years have been discouraging, mainly because of problems such as low egg production, egg fertility and chick survival.

The lead changed hands 11 times in the third quarter before Golden State finally went ahead to stay on Jim Barnett's basket with four seconds remaining in that period.

Golden State built up a six point lead in the first four minutes of the final quarter on the shooting of Thurmond and Russell, and then held on for the lone victory in the series.

The first Japanese green pheasants were brought to Idaho from Virginia for experimental work in 1963. Additional birds and eggs of this species were obtained later from Virginia, Tennessee and Washington.

According to Dick Norell, game bird supervisor, original plans called for a small release of green pheasants in 1966, with larger releases up at the Jerome game farm. The experimental program was to run five years, when it would be evaluated for effectiveness.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened irregularly in moderate trading Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shortly after the opening bell, the widely followed Dow Jones industrial average had slipped 0.90 to 891.55. However, advancing issues topped declines, 142 to 129, among 407 issues on the tape.

Prices dropped Monday under investor concern about inflation and a suggestion late in the day by Herbert Stein that the government might consider lowering the 7 per cent tax credit for investment in business equipment to help cool the economic boom. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee, took issue with the suggestion. The Dow lost 7.83 on the day.

A survey by the University of Michigan indicated consumer confidence was badly shaken by soaring food costs last month. It said food prices impact on expectations about business conditions and unemployment was even larger than on personal finances.

FAMILY CIRCUS

"Jeffy called this peach a plum! Boy! He sure doesn't know his vegetables!"

GASOLINE ALLEY

LIL ABNER

What's What

L. M. Boyd

One out of every four salesclerks, it's contended, takes tranquilizers. And one out of every five secretaries is said to do likewise.

Median age of the lady teachers now is 35. A dozen years ago, it was 41. Median age of the men teachers now is 33. That hasn't changed much.

Those researchers who check out the most intimate matters must one out of every six wives in this country breaks the Sixth Commandment at some time during her first six years of marriage.

That the matador-of-Portugal never kills the bull has been reported. Client asks therefore how he gets the infuriated beast out of the ring when the fight is done. Pretty tricky. Six trained cows are turned into the arena. He calms down promptly. And they convey him through an outbound chute.

LAUGHING GAS

Q: You said people used to have laughing gas parties by sniffling nitrous oxide. I thought that was poisonous?

A: It is the science boys dilute it greatly to make laughing gas. And a number of citizens, not knowing its nature, are now gone. Deadly stuff.

Q: In China, do the women wear bras?

A: The young ones do, the old ones don't, mostly.

Anybody who needs to pose for a driver's license photograph should brown into the camera, not smile. Such is the opinion of the Automobile Legal Association. Says its Safety Director Phillip C. Walworth: "How many drivers smile when they're asked by a police officer to show their licenses?"

No lemming athlete should forget that the one-hand chinning record is held by a girl.

MOTEL MOVIES

At least two Los Angeles motels recently bumped their room rates from $7 a night to $25 or more. They didn't get full occupancy at the lower prices. They do now. The why of this is curious. On closed-circuit television in said rooms, they show slightly dirty movies. The Gibson Bibles didn't draw the customers in such a spectacular manner, says one operator, wistfully.

Heat a diamond in the open air sufficiently and it will vaporize as carbon dioxide. Heat it in a vacuum sufficiently and it will turn to soft-graphite. That's all, laboratory closed for today.

Weren't you aware that the leg of the average woman is about a half-inch wider at the crotch than was the average feminine pin just 35 years ago?

Most dangerous place in the world to run for political office, it's believed, is the Philippines.

Also known as a woman's hair grows a smidgeon faster when she's expecting.
