Ex-aide seeks immunity

Panel OK's minimum-pay hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House labor subcommittee voted 8 to 6 Wednesday to raise the $1.80 hourly minimum wage to $2.20 in one year.

The bill also would raise the $1.30 an-hour minimum wage for agricultural workers to $1.90 in two years and extend coverage of the law to 1.1 million domestic workers and 4.7 million federal, state and local government employes.

New Argentine chief sets talks

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President-elect Hector J. Campora returned to Argentina late Wednesday and agreed to hold talks with the ruling military junta today. Campora takes office in three weeks. He had conferred in Madrid with former dictator Juan D. Peron. In Argentina, martial law imposed to combat a wave of guerrilla violence continued in effect.

East-West trade said peace key

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Samuel Pizar, an American expert on East-West trade, told Communist and capitalist businessmen today world peace is in the hands of Washington and Moscow and depends on trade and industry rather than diplomacy.

Pizar, speaking at the opening of a three-day conference on ways of bringing the world's products to both Communist and capitalist consumers, referred to the impending Washington visit of Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and said:

"The fate of East-West detente is now suddenly in the hands of the White House and the Kremlin. And the engine of this detente is trade, industry and technology, rather than old-fashioned diplomacy."

Agnew seeking kinder press

WOODLAWN, Md. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, once the leading news-media critic of the administration, Wednesday called for an end to the "unfortunate hostility" between press and government.

Agnew, speaking before the Maryland Press Club, said a good deal of the trouble is the fault of the administration. He admitted his part in the hostility but did not apologize for past criticism.

House OK's airport tax ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to ban airport bond issues fees charged airline passengers by local governments was approved by a 266-16 vote in the House Wednesday. The Senate has passed a slightly different bill and a compromise measure will be negotiated.

The taxes range from 50 cents to $3 per passenger. Affected by the legislation are 44 airports or airport authorities.

New Dakota negotiations?

WINDHOLE, S.D. (UPI) — Federal negotiators are expected to return to Wounded Knee today amid American-Indian Movement predictions Friday could bring either a peaceful end to the occupation or a move into the village by U.S. forces.

Meantime, Russell Means, AIM leader, has been indicated by a federal grand jury along with four others on charges of conspiring to illegally transport arms across a state line and to cross state lines with intent to incite a riot.

Golda warns against new war

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir marked her 75th birthday today by advising Egyptian President Anwar Sadat against making good his threats to reopen the Middle East War.

Mrs. Meir's staff toasted her with wine and gave her orchids and a birthday cake at the beginning of a busy Tel Aviv work day which, a spokesman said, would not end until 10 p.m.

It was in a question-answer session with high school graduates that she spoke of Sadat.

"We the Israelis and the people of the world, and even Sadat himself, know there is no chance for him to achieve anything by opening fire," she said. "Therefore I can only advise him not to fulfill these threats."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's former top lieutenants, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, today faced prosecutors — and possibly a grand jury — investigating the Watergate scandal while a third deposed White House aide was reported bargaining for immunity.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman, who resigned Monday from their White House duties while professing innocence of any wrongdoing in the scandal that has rocked the administration, arrived an hour and a half early for their meeting with prosecutors, apparently to avoid an army of reporters.

They said in advance they would welcome an opportunity to respond to allegations said to have been made to the prosecutors or the grand jury by former White House Counsel John W. Dean III and others that they had a hand at least in alleged efforts to cover up the scope of the bugging plot.

The New York Times quoted federal investigators as saying they had uncovered evidence of intensive efforts by Nixon campaign workers aimed at damaging Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's image when he was considered a prime Democratic presidential candidate in 1971 and early 1972. The scheme, the Times quoted investigators, was intended to get the Democrats to nominate Sen. George S. McGovern, considered by the Nixon camp to be the weakest foe for the incumbent President.

Sen. Lloyd Weicker, R-Conn., a member of the Senate Watergate committee, suggested that the White House sought to delay announcement of L. Patrick Gray's resignation as acting FBI director to include it with those of four other top officials announced on Monday. Gray announced his resignation last Friday.

Columnist Jack Anderson said Haldeman "pulled strings" in the administration to gain a presidential pardon for imprisoned former Teamster President James R. Hoffa in late 1971. Anderson also said a letter written by Hoffa's son to then Attorney General John N. Mitchell said young Hoffa had been told that Mitchell was working in behalf of the elder Hoffa's release.

The Washington Star-News said today that a lawyer for Dean, tried by Nixon as his legal counsel, had been negotiating secretly for two weeks with government investigators over Dean's demand for immunity from prosecution as the price for full testimony on what he knows about the plot.

The Star-News said the negotiations for Dean were being conducted by Charles H. Shaffer, a former federal prosecutor in the U.S. attorney's office in New York who also formerly worked in the Justice Department's criminal division.

The newspaper said the government was "seriously considering" the immunity request but that the prosecutors wanted proof first that the information, and documentation, he has is sufficient to exempt him from prosecution. Shaffer was described as unwilling to disclose such details in advance of a pledge.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman, chief of staff and chief domestic advisor for Nixon respectively, are expected to talk secretly Friday with counsel for the Senate's special Watergate committee.

A federal attorney said at midmorning he was not sure whether Haldeman and Ehrlichman would testify today before the grand jury, saying only "you never can tell."

FORMER WHITE HOUSE aide John Ehrlichman, who resigned earlier in week due to implications in Watergate scandal, leaves home for White House today. He is still on duty there during transition period. Ehrlichman was scheduled to appear today before federal grand jury investigating Watergate case. (UPI)

Bombing fund cut beaten by House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today defeated, 31 to 14, a bid to deny the administration funds for the bombing of Cambodia. It was the first legislative test of President Nixon's cease-fire policies in Indochina.

The committee turned back an amendment by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-Conn., to kill a $430 million request to continue military operations. The action faces stiff opposition on the floor.

The policy-making Democratic steering committee voted earlier in the day, 18 to 3, to urge Democrats to delay the funding authority when it comes to the floor.

The appropriations committee's actions came as the panel worked to complete action on a 1973 supplemental appropriations bill.

Vast land plan told

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Plans for another giant land development adjacent to Hailey were presented Tuesday night before the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission.

The plan is envisioned as a "prototype" for development of Blaine County ranchland, its developer said today.

Plans for the four-square-mile development 1 1/2 miles northeast of Hailey were aired at the public hearing, but there were no protests voiced.

The plan follows on the heels of a controversial mile-square development south of Hailey and another three-square-mile development west of the city proposed by California developer Robert McCulloch Jr.

The newest plan, proposed by John Koppes, Ketchum, project developer, would sell lots of about 1,000 units in multiple-family dwellings and up to 200 single-family units — roughly the same potential size as the McCulloch development.

McCulloch had said he expected at least a 4,000-person population growth at his developments.

The Koppes and McCulloch developments could bring more than an additional 8,000 persons into the immediate vicinity of Hailey within a short time.

Koppes and his architect, Jack Smith, told the Blaine planning commission that the development would take about 10 to 12 years for completion.

Koppes told the planning commission that 100 of the planned single-family units hinge on completion of a land trade with the Bureau of Land Management.

Koppes presented no specific plans for sewage or access roads, but promised to provide specific information prior to "final approval."

He said that Environment West research and Planning, Inc., Ketchum, had been hired to make an environmental impact study of the project.

He said project population would not be determined, but that Environment West would develop population estimates as part of its study.

Koppes said today his project would be sited at all income strata, but would be generally lower-priced than similar sites at Sun Valley.

Speaking of the quarter-acre sites, he said, "We want to keep as many sites under $10,000 as possible."

Among the improvements Koppes said he plans are a pony lift for skiers, and a "prairie barn-type community center" and a cooperative store.

In addition to buying building sites, Koppes' patrons would also be buying a "share" in the operation of the Indian Creek Ranch.

He said there would be "strict architectural control" with the intention of encouraging understated architecture.

The planning commission took the matter under advisement, and set a meeting for Tuesday night for further project review.

Lebanese troops, guerrillas battle

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese government troops and Palestinian guerrillas battled in Beirut again today and there were reports the fighting was spreading to other parts of Lebanon. Damascus Radio said casualties were heavy today and that 12,000 Palestinians in Syria had been alerted for action in Lebanon.

President Suleiman Franjich warned guerrillas battling the Lebanese army in Beirut today that Lebanon will not tolerate an "occupation army" on its soil. He did not elaborate but the implication was he would drive out the militant guerrillas whose activities have brought repeated Israeli retaliation.

The fighting Wednesday took a heavy toll of lives. The Beirut newspaper Al Safa said 60 were killed and 150 wounded in the clashes. Guerrilla sources said the guerrillas lost 34 dead and 133 wounded.

Premier Amin Hafez and key ministers met during the night with guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat and arranged a cease-fire. But it was of short duration. The fighting resumed shortly after dawn this morning.

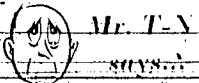

After a brief lull grew steadily in intensity during the day.

Crash kills 39

SALVADOR, Brazil (UPI) — A bus carrying 55 persons collided Wednesday with a heavy truck near this northeast Brazilian town, killing 39 persons, among them 13 children.

Another 17 persons were injured, two of them critically, police and medical officials said.

Use to be when an area settled up, you could move. Now you can't do more than holler most of the time.

TF firm might close, city warned

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In a "no threat" letter, Idaho Frozen Foods has warned city officials it might close its Twin Falls plant.

Under increasing pressure to join or get out of the city's plans for a sewage treatment facility, company president J. W. Routh said in a letter to City Manager Jean Miller, "Consolidated Foods Corporation (parent company of Idaho Frozen Foods) is certainly going to take a good look at the situation and consider the return or the lack of return on their investment before deciding whether or not the operation should be continued."

Idaho Frozen Foods has delayed a decision to participate in the sewage project since a new federal ruling more than tripled its share of construction costs.

A high ranking regional official of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recently scored the city for the hold up in construction, blaming some of the delay on efforts to reach an agreement with Idaho Frozen Foods.

That official named Idaho Frozen Foods and Amalgamated Sugar Co. as major causes of the "very badly polluted" Rock Creek.

In his letter to Miller, Routh said, "I in no way want this to be considered as a threat" and proceeded to point how the possible loss of Idaho Frozen Foods would hurt the economy of the city and area.

"We have been doing some checking concerning the civic impact if the plant is brought out," Routh said.

He said the firm pours more than $8 million yearly into the area economy, including $3.8 million for purchase of potatoes, $2.3 million in payroll, $2 million through supply and labor purchases, $450,000 for utilities, $33,000 in real estate taxes and $50,000 in state income tax. Although he listed Idaho Frozen Foods' payment of $80,000 in state income tax, Routh said it is "unfortunate" that his business "operates on a very small margin of profit."

Off to work

FORMER WHITE HOUSE aide John Ehrlichman, who resigned earlier in week due to implications in Watergate scandal, leaves home for White House today. He is still on duty there during transition period. Ehrlichman was scheduled to appear today before federal grand jury investigating Watergate case. (UPI)

Wholesale prices rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices for meat and most other foods fell in April after increasing sharply for five straight months, the government reported today.

But these food price declines, signaling possibly lower retail prices in the near future, were more than offset by the largest monthly advance for industrial commodity prices in 22 years.

The result was a 0.8 per cent increase last month in the overall Wholesale Price Index, a big improvement over the 2.2 per cent rise in March.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said the index for farm products and processed foods and feeds went down 0.7 per cent in April. For example, livestock prices dropped 5.3 per cent, egg prices went down 5 per cent and processed meat prices declined 2.9 per cent.

One component of this index, consumer finished foods — those ready for retail sale — went up 0.4 per cent in April, 1.4 per cent after adjustment for seasonal factors.

The report was the first to show the effects of a ceiling on meat prices imposed by President Nixon in March and a nationwide meat boycott by many consumers during the first week of April.

The BLS said industrial commodity prices increased 1.4 per cent in April, the largest monthly advance since a 2.1 per cent jump in January, 1951.

The overall advance of 0.8 per cent in April compared with increases of 2.2 per cent in March, 1.9 per cent in February, 1.3 per cent in January and 1.0 per cent in December.

The report came a day after President Nixon, predicting "price increases will probably be higher than we would like for some months," ordered a closer watch on price boosts by big business.

Specifically, he ordered the nation's largest corporations to give the government 30 days advance notice when they want to raise prices by more than an average 1.5 per cent above the level of Jan. 10, the start of the current Phase III stabilization program.

The BLS said the Wholesale Price Index (WPI) in the six-month period ending with April went up at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 17.3 per cent, also the largest since the height of the Korean War in 1951.

He also used "the 450 families employed by Idaho Frozen Foods" as leverage in pointing out the "taxes, spendable income, etc." generated by his firm.

Routh closed with a request that the city "continue to do everything in its power to assist in working out this problem."

The city has submitted an appeal "in behalf of" Idaho Frozen Foods to EPA requesting waiver of approximately $1 million of the firm's obligation under the new federal grant policy.

Although the city immediately needs Idaho Frozen Foods' dollars, Miller said building the sewage treatment facility without the firm has not been ruled out.

He said the city will construct a smaller treatment unit. If Idaho Frozen Foods will not participate, costing approximately $2.3 million compared to the $4 million facility currently planned.

Without Idaho Frozen Foods, the city's share would be about $230,000 rather than $150,000 under current plans, according to Miller.

Reds fire on US plane

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong move southward on an aircraft carrier, firing on an American reconnaissance plane because it flew over territory the Viet Cong controls near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

A Viet Cong statement broadcast by Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency did not say if the plane was shot down, but Communist forces opened fire and "timely" punished the reconnaissance plane.

The broadcast heard in Saigon said the reconnaissance plane was flying about 3,000 feet high from Quang Tri city along Highway 1 to Gio Linh, along the DMZ.

"Worth noting," the statement said, "is the fact that the spotter plane was flying along the very air corridor reserved for International Commission of Control and Supervision planes by the Provisional Revolutionary Government."

Quoting a Hanoi-based Viet Cong spokesman, the statement added: "The above mentioned

Nixon, Pompidou to meet in Iceland

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and French President Georges Pompidou will meet in Iceland May 31-June 1, the White House announced today.

They will review plans for a new Atlantic charter, officials said, and Nixon also is expected to discuss with Pompidou the forthcoming visit to the United States of Soviet Premier Leonid I. Brezhnev, which will begin about June 23.

Nixon will first meet with Brezhnev in Washington and then perhaps travel with him to San Clemente, Calif., and San Francisco.

Palestine rebels battle in Beirut

(Continued from p. 1) Aguerilla statement said the army also clashed today with guerrillas at the village of Hasbaya and Al Khayam in South Lebanon near the Israeli border, but there was no confirmation of this in Beirut.

UPI television cameraman fighting at a Beirut suburb nine miles north of Beirut where the government used tanks to drive out guerrillas.

"The army was firing heavy machineguns at the convent and the guerrillas shot back with their lighter weapons," he said. "The army brought up four tanks and surrounded the convent. When the army moved in the shooting stopped."

Most of the action centered around a series of Palestinian refugee camps in the southern outskirts of Beirut. Today it was largely confined to the region of two camps, Sabra and Shatila, where thousands of Palestinian refugees live.

There was no official report in Beirut of today's casualties, but a guerrilla statement issued in Damascus, Syria, said that in this morning's fighting "the

Communists overran Cambodians

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces firing a barrage of toxic gas shells overran two battalions of Cambodian government troops 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, killing 20 and capturing 500 others, military sources said today.

The sources said the attack occurred Monday north of Neak Laong, an important ferry town on the Mekong River. The main government unit operating in the region is the 2nd Paratroop Brigade.

Disclosure of the attack and its heavy casualties came as the Communist command said the Cambodian troops, striking in a driving thunderstorm that prohibited U.S. air raids, launched new attacks south and northeast of Phnom Penh early today.

The command said the Communist thrust occurred 16 to 18 miles from the capital and that fighting was intense.

Closer to Phnom Penh along the eastern bank of the Mekong, military sources said government troops today recaptured the village of Prek Laong, which was shelled intensely Wednesday by rebel gunners.

Government troops moved into the battered village soon after dawn, the sources said, skirting huge craters left by U.S. fighter-bombers during Wednesday's fighting.

Almost all the villagers fled during Wednesday's attack, but a few were there today picking through the debris for their possessions. There were no reports of civilian or military casualties.

Military sources said details of Monday's attack were sketchy but that 500 prisoners were simply "led away" by the Communists. As of today, the sources said, only one had returned.

The heavy losses placed in further jeopardy future Viet convoys up the Mekong River to Phnom Penh from South Vietnam. The last river convoy to reach the Cambodian capital arrived April 23. The eight-ship convoy came under a heavy Communist attack from the riverbanks near Neak Luong that killed one seaman and wounded three others.

Sources in Phnom Penh said another convoy would try to make the perilous journey up the Mekong to Phnom Penh at the beginning of next week.

The attack near Neak Luong was not reported by the Cambodian command but was confirmed today by both American and Cambodian military sources with access to secret reports from the front.

Command spokesman, however, reported a number of toxic gas shelling against Cambodian forces in the area recently.

Phones grow in TF area

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls district has had the fastest growth rate in Mountain Bell's Idaho service area, Charles F. Hall, Rotarians, yesterday.

Hall, Idaho vice president and general manager of Mountain Bell, said the district had a 19 per cent increase since 1970. 3,000 new telephones in Twin Falls and 10,000 new in the area.

By 1976 Hall expects 3,500 new main telephone subscribers, which doesn't include extension phones. This would bring the total to 14,000 main telephones in Twin Falls. Using 2.3 people per phone, Mountain Bell expects Twin Falls to have a population of 32,000 in the next four years.

At the end of 1972 Mountain Bell had an investment of $10 million in Twin Falls and $29 million in the district. $1 million alone was spent in Twin Falls in 1972 and 3.2 million in the district.

Forecasts for 1973-74 project $2.5 million being spent in Twin Falls, a 25 per cent increase, and $1.1 million for a 23 per cent increase in the district.

Mountain Bell employs 254 people in Twin Falls with a payroll over $2 million. The district has over 300 employees and a $2.7 million payroll.

Telephone service began in Detroit in 1877, a year after Alexander Graham Bell demonstrated his invention in Philadelphia.

40 entries set for TF parade

TWIN FALLS — More than 40 entries will participate in the Twin Falls Music-Week Parade Saturday afternoon.

Route for the event, which will be a highlight of Music-Week observance, was announced today by Mrs. Clayta Christensen, parade chairman.

The parade will start from the Sears-Robuck store area at 1 p.m., moving down Main Street to Fourth Street East. From there it will turn left to Second Avenue East, returning to Shoshone Street and turning right to city park.

Floats and other participating units will begin assembling at 11:30 a.m. in the vicinity of the Sears store.

The presentation of trophies and other parade awards will be at the band shell following the conclusion of the parade.

Among those appearing in the parade are Miss Idaho, Vickie Hawkins of Boise, and Capt. Larry Chesley of Burley, who returned earlier this year after a long stay in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp.

There will be about half a dozen bands and the same number of drill teams marching, along with floats and other entries from around the Magic Valley. Floats will use song titles to illustrate the theme of the parade, which will focus on the various cultural aspects found in the Magic Valley.

Before and after the parade, there will be performances of music, Shakespearean plays, pottery, weaving, painting and art displays on the downtown mall and at the Town and Country Shopping Center by persons from the Magic Valley area.

The parade is being presented by the Music-Week and Twin Falls merchants.

It is the second year for the Music-Week parade. Last year's procession required about an hour to pass any point on the route of march.

Lincoln officials convene as board

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County Commissioners currently are meeting as a board of tax equalization.

The law requires that Commissioners meet as a board of equalization at least once each month over a four-month period with the last of the four meetings being held on the fourth Monday in June.

It is during this time that anyone with questions pertaining to their taxes should meet with the Commissioners. Any adjustments on taxes must be made during this time or they cannot be changed until the following year.

The Commissioners will meet Monday, to continue their business and the regular May meeting will be on May 14.

Incredible Stuff

With so much incredible stuff already laid out on Watergate, the American people may find it hard to accept the notion that much of the story is still concealed from view. Yet this is very likely true.

One reason for the disparity is that a good many newsmen are at once self-inhibiting and inhibited by circumstance in dealing with the issue.

Some get cues about the involvement of some Nixon administration figures in the espionage-sabotage undertaking. But only a handful of investigative reporters have developed a consistently useful network of sources which can use cues.

Secondly, though the steady flow of disclosures makes it seem "open season" on nearly everyone tied politically to President Nixon in any way, the fact is most reporters are trying to show restraint. Reputations are at stake, and caution is obviously dictated.

As an example, until FBI sources said Acting Director Patrick Gray destroyed documents pertaining to the Kennedys which had been in the hands of convicted Watergate participant E. Howard Hunt, restraint had to govern comment on Hunt's relationship to others, and the full range of his activities.

Weeks ago we had barely seen the tip of the iceberg, that when we got a larger glimmering of Hunt's doings it might make the 1972 bugging of the Democrats' Watergate offices look almost minor.

Contained in this cue was the clear suggestion that Hunt fundamentally was engaged not in seeking ordinary political intelligence about the Democrats, but in a dogged quest for every particle of "dirt" about them. We already knew that materials had been removed from Hunt's White House desk before the FBI got at them. More recently we learned that a presidential aide, represented by a lawyer who has given the man's name only to a grand jury, removed eight cartons of materials from Hunt's White House office.

The FBI's specifics just offered on Gray support the judgment on Hunt and suggest that the contents of his office would give this already painfully so-called case new dimensions on the seamy side which would be almost unbearably revolting.

If FBI sources have it right that Hunt's Kennedy files also contain phony State Department cables intended to implicate the Late President John Kennedy in the 1963 assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem, then we may have a crucial sign that Hunt was willing to manufacture damaging evidence if he could not unearth it.

Hunt was hired by former White House aide Charles Colson. They are old college associates, both active in alumni work at their school. We have no evidence to suggest Colson works and lives in the kind of isolation widely portrayed as governing President Nixon. Did Colson not know what sort of man he was hiring when he took on Hunt? It is difficult to accept.

The whole Colson-Hunt arena is ripe for fuller inquiry. Colson has been busy picturing himself as "clean," as warning Mr. Nixon of trouble. Is the self-portrait the real one?

Criminals Have Class

It's bad enough that we've got crime, but criminals just don't have any class any more.

This is the complaint of Akron, Ohio police Capt. John Traub, a 27-year law enforcement veteran.

"There's no craft these days," he says. "When I came on the force, I met people who were really proud of their craft."

Pickpockets for example, once took pride in their skill. Nowadays, they consider it acceptable simply to knock their victims down.

Safebreakers used to show finesse, but "now they're butchers who wreck safes." Burglars have forgotten the art of casing a joint. "Now two guys just bust in a place."

There's one area, however, where the old "pride of workmanship" still exists: car thieves who can dismantle a vehicle in minutes.

"It's a whole new craft," says Traub.

OLD BRIDGES

The city of Rocky River, Ohio, has a problem. It wants to demolish and replace the Rocky River Bridge which spans, appropriately enough, the Rocky River just west of Cleveland. It seems the bridge is crumbling.

TIMELY QUOTES

"The overweight consumer is the most unprotected consumer of all." Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.), chairman of a select committee on nutrition, announcing hearings into the multitude of popular diet plans.

"The technique of the Communists is, you never defend you never talk about anything that went wrong. They never admit anything went wrong. This is the technique of the performers in Washington." George Meany, AFL-CIO.

"I have the impression people seem to believe anything is good for them and contend a lethal is more dangerous." Judge John Schomay, Muskegon, Mich., after telephone snuff.

"The Arab situation is different from the situation that existed in Vietnam, because here the Arabs are in disgrace here, thus allowing the common enemy to take advantage of the situation and expand." Geraldine El-Hamamsi, Cairo, journalist.

WASHINGTON — The Democratic Charter Commission, whose status and role is baffling a lot of people in and out of the party, is being plagued with internal and external tribulations.

Internally — the commission's McGovernite deputy director, Joseph Grandinison, is rowing with Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss — who wants to get rid of him.

Externally — Democratic governors are having misgivings about the commission barging into their states and holding public hearings. The first is scheduled for this week in Des Moines, with Wisconsin next and Ohio maybe. Its Gov. John Gilligan is among those who are fearful the still-seething factionalism that annihilated McGovern in last year's election.

Gilligan, no McGovernite, nervously waked a tight rope then and emphatically doesn't want to have to do so again when he runs for reelection next year. Other governors and Democratic candidates for other offices have the same qualms. "They are vigorously insisting on letting sleeping dogs lie."

But commission chairman Terry Sanford bent on drafting a new party charter for submission to a "mini-convention" to be convened sometime next year, is determinedly pushing ahead. The former North Carolina governor is now head of Duke University, but he is not letting that deter him.

Apparently, he feels he can adequately handle the demands of both jobs.

The Charter Commission, created by the McGovernite-dominated 1972 convention, was mandated to draft a charter to be submitted to a mid-term convention in 1974. This was put over late at night after a protracted session when many delegates had left and McGovernite activists and other leftist elements had full sway.

Regular party, labor and other anti-McGovern forces have long been against this device scheme — and make no bones about it. If national chairman Strauss had his way, he would junk both the commission and the "mini-convention."

But the commission is autonomous and functions outside of the National Committee. Strauss has no direct authority over it. He does have considerable influence in the commission's recently-elected 27-member executive committee — which is narrowly divided between the regulars and militants.

Strauss is bounting on that to exert a restraining hand on the commission's charter drafting, and also on transforming the "mini-convention" into a one-day meeting instead of a full-blown convocation — which could erupt into all sorts of troublesome headaches. On that, the Texas is strongly supported by state and congressional Democratic leaders — who are scared stiff at the thought of a potentially explosive wide-open convention.

"The last thing our people in Congress and in the state houses want," says Strauss,

"is a convention before next year's elections. It was a dumb idea to start with, and gets worse as time passes."

If Strauss can put it over, and he is working feverishly at it, the one-day conference would be held in a border state after the November 1974 elections and would be limited to two matters: consideration of the proposed charter; and the guidelines and other procedures for selection of delegates to the 1976 national convention.

Apparently, this plan is not wholly to the liking of commission chairman Sanford.

The inside word is he favors an unrestricted "mini-convention" and not a one-day conference. The North Carolinian, one of the few Southern leaders who actively supported McGovern, is credited with presidential aspirations — which may well have something to do with his stand. It definitely had a lot to do with his selection of Joseph Grandinison, a diehard McGovernite, as the commission's deputy director.

Grandinison favors a wide-open 1974 convention and a truncated interim charter.

McGovern's manager in the 1972 New Hampshire primary and later a top member of his national campaign staff, Grandinison, who reportedly gets $20,000 a year, has irked not only Strauss but other party chiefs. There has been backstage spitting about him ever since he was appointed by Sanford.

Strauss insists Grandinison has to go.

"I have told Terry," he declares, "that either he fire him or I would."

So far, however, nothing has happened.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

You Lose It

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 37 years old, 5 feet 5" and weigh 135, which my own doctor admits doesn't make me look heavy or overweight.

I recently had a three-hour sugar-tolerance test which showed 191 at one hour, 160 at two hours and 130 at three hours, indicating diabetes.

However, my doctor won't start me on medication, which doesn't make sense to me, as my sugar was also high last year. His only advice is to lose 25 pounds.

Do you think this wise, or should I consult another doctor? N. L.

Doubtless you can shop around and find somebody who will put you on diabetes medication instead of telling you what you ought to do — lose some poundage. But I hope you won't.

Your sugar tolerance test is, as you realize, indicative of diabetes. The question, however, is whether the diabetes is mild enough at this stage to be controlled by proper diet. It's better to control it, if possible, without medication. At 37, you have a good many years ahead of you, and if you can keep the diabetes under control by diet instead of medication for some of those years, you're going to be a lot better off.

Once you've lost the 25 pounds that your doctor wants you to shed, it can be determined whether you do or don't need medication now.

Your present doctor knows what he is doing. Follow his advice.

only enough to get all the sleep you need. It has nothing to do with your height — and at age 10 you've got a lot of growing to do still.

Did you ever hear Robert Louis Stevenson's little verse that starts out, "In winter get up at night and dress by yellow candle light. In summer quite the other way; I have to go to bed by day."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have an undescended testicle. I am 22 and want to know how much effect this will have on having children.

Does one undescended testicle usually render you sterile totally? And what kind of care is needed to get rid of this problem? J. S.

The single undescended testicle should have very little effect on your fertility. You would be in a position comparable to the young woman with a single ovary. A single undescended testicle is usually a developmental defect in cases of bilateral (both testes) undescended, then some defect in the pituitary gland is suspected.

In both single or bilateral cases, measures can be attempted to correct the situation if detected early enough. This can be either surgical correction or use of hormone.

At your age, it is too late, I would think, to attempt hormone therapy.

I do strongly urge you to have the undescended testicle removed since there is a chance that it could cause serious problems later on, including malignancy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What time should I go to bed? In summer I go to bed at 10:30 but after school starts I have to go to bed at 8:30. I am 10 but I'm only four feet and a half. D. H. I.

Such hours are very reasonable. There's no set rule for when you go to bed so long as you get sufficient sleep, awake refreshed and are alert in school.

So when you have to get up every morning in time to get to school, you need to go to bed really want to. Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Producing," tells you how naturally — and — without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of this newspaper, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, use zip code, stamped envelope.

The Other Side

JEROME — The results of the recent school board elections in Jerome have raised questions that are central in a representative form of government.

Those questions have to do with the relationship between the electors and the elected and the responsibility any office holder should and must feel to his constituency contrasted with the human need to follow naturally held beliefs.

In Jerome, that translates into a question of how to write a school budget for the coming year; how much new money should go to teachers and how much to textbooks, and who should make the final decision.

Jerome voters went to the polls a week ago Tuesday and prescribed the oldest and most simple of political remedies: throw the bums out.

Three incumbents were defeated in elections, two didn't seek reelection, and the result of that is the entire, divided and quarrelsome five-member panel is replaced with five brand new school trustees.

That is what creates the problem, however: the present five-member board is supervising the budget writing for next year and according to administration sources has forced superintendent John Campbell to put more money into capital outlay and textbooks and less into teachers' pocketbooks than he would like.

The percentage increases only widens the income gap, it is still short of what the state legislature intended when it allocated $11 million new dollars to public schools for the coming year. Jerome teachers received about a 3 per cent increase this year. Legislative intent calls for 10 per cent over the two years.

But the trustees who have approved that salary raise have been rejected; three of them explicitly did not approve of something, and some people are sure to decide that the size of the pay increases was one of the factors in their defeat.

One need look no further than the teachers to find a nucleus of voters that would throw the bums out of office.

Campbell, whose glee at the election results seems to border on euphoria, believes he will have a problem in acclimating the new school board members to the intricacies of budget writing.

But that might not be a problem because it is the old school board members who will, by law, approve next year's budget.

That in turn raises the basic question: What is the point in having an election, removing the trustees, and then having them remain in office to write a budget, conceivably the single most important decision a school board makes all year.

Conversely, would anyone seriously suggest the old school board members rewrite the budget the way the new members would have it written, or resign in advance of their term expiration to give the new members the opportunity to fix the budget. No one would suggest the existing school board acted in poor faith in its budget deliberations. But the members have obviously been rejected, and we must assume, so has their budget handiwork. Still, those trustees have a right to finish out their terms and put their stamp on the budget, and there is no real reason they should relinquish that right.

Jerome has an immediate history of nasty squabbles involving public officials. The state Supreme Court has recently heard an appeal from a newspaper libel suit that results from a city council problem with the former chief of police. Previous efforts to recall the offending councilmen have been forwarded.

Jerome voters have managed to avoid, thus far, the unpleasantness of the earlier case in the school board elections. If anything, they have succeeded in model tradition, an overturn in government on their school board, quietly, convincingly and absolutely.

But in doing so they have raised tough questions for everybody involved; the old board rejected for its ways but never the old in power, and the new one, holding a mandate but technically not in power until after the budget must be approved.

What ever happened to the fellow who tried to recall Senator Church

By LESTER KINSOLVING
Special to the Times-News
SAN RAFAEL, Calif. —
Newsweek magazine reported in its "Perspective" column last week that ITT public relations man Neil McReynolds has been in Idaho rounding up background material on Senator Frank Church.

McReynolds, who the newsmagazine identified as a former aide to Washington's GOP Governor Dan Evans, was reportedly focusing on Senator Church's reelection campaign next year.

Church has launched a full-scale probe of ITT's activities in Chile.

If there is any substance in this speculative report, McReynolds might do well to investigate the effect of another well-heeled outsider who attempted to purge "young Borah" on his own turf.

William Penn Patrick, 42-year-old millionaire owner of the International Holiday Magic conglomerate, headquartered in this suburban city just across the Golden Gate from San Francisco, is currently claiming that he was "only superficially connected" with the unsuccessful 1967 campaign to recall Senator Church.

Patrick, a one-time candidate for Governor of California, entered Idaho politics shortly after he informed the arch-conservative California Republican Assembly that U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren should be "hung as a traitor."

His attempt to "oust Idaho's senior Senator" as well (although by ballot rather than gibbet) attracted little more support than his urging of the gallows for Warren and the California Governor's office for himself.

(When California pollster Mervin Field reported that one per cent of the electorate supported Patrick, the candidate charged that the Field poll was "corrupt, dishonest and rigged" — for which he was awarded $200,000.)

Patrick has since suggested that his involvement in the campaign to recall Church was the reason why he was subsequently the target of legal action by the Federal Trade Commission.

The FTC has charged Patrick's conglomerate with conducting an "unfair and deceptive, lottery-type, multi-level merchandising program."

That this is in any way connected with his campaigning against Church might be plausible if Church, the Democratic Dove, had been a crony of either Lyndon Johnson or Richard Nixon.

There is also the fact that Patrick has been the recipient of a virtual snowstorm of similar lawsuits or injunctions, from plaintiffs having no relationship to Senator Church.

For example, there is Michael Kelly, Deputy to the (Republican) Attorney General of California, Evelyn Younger, Kelly has filed five William Penn Patrick, a 42-year-old millionaire now has his problems with lawsuits and an old sabre jet which crashed into an ice cream parlor, killing 22, mostly children.

Since the number of new participants is finite, the scheme must at some point reach its natural or imposed limits, leaving a considerably number of participants who will not be able to receive similar compensation because the supply of new participants will have been exhausted.

Patrick has responded to this legal action by filing suit for $10 million against the Attorney General naming the entire bench of San Francisco and Marin Counties as co-defendants, charging harassment and intimidation.

Patrick has also embarked on what is known as "the paper war," by taking out full page newspaper ads, with such headlines as:

"Is lynching legal in California?" — this illustrated with himself in a noose.

Patrick was not available for comment when I contacted Holiday Magic Inc. Sherman Coultas, who identified himself as liaison man for Holiday Magic's legal department, told me:

"I have yet to see an article written about Mr. Patrick in any journal that wasn't full of inaccuracies."

In order to assist me in avoiding any such allegations, Coultas is willing to answer only a few questions, such as the total number of lawsuits now filed against Mr. Patrick.

Would he simply tell me how many lawsuits have been filed by Mr. Patrick against others? Coultas: "No comment."

This bore something of a resemblance to Patrick's appearance before the FTC, in which, after having said "I have nothing to hide," he took the Fifth Amendment.

During the past two years, particularly, Patrick has proven to be a one-man Mother Lode for lawyers. For among other litigations by him or against him have been the following: There have been suits or injunctions against four of the Holiday Magic conglomerates, including Stay Royal Promoters (engine transmission additives) Alex Taylor (clothing) Ameriprise (Home care products) and Bob Cummings, Inc. (Vitamins).

(Clarence Robert Drville Cummings, the movie and TV actor who is known as Holiday Magic as "Uncle Bob," reportedly has a five year contract as Vice president of Holiday Magic, at a salary of $100,000 per annum.)

There have been a number of civil suits against still another Patrick conglomerate enterprise: Leadership Dynamics Institute.

This is an "exclusive group" organization, which charges clients up to $1,000 for a four day "leadership school."

But one male client named Lieberman charged in a lawsuit that he was "beaten, harassed, threatened, menaced, kicked, subjected to bodily injury and mental shock by teachers untrained in psychology."

And Lola Lesinski and Shirlene Tunney, in a suit for $250 million, charged that they had been put in coffins, hung on a cross, beaten and undressed.

Patrick also owns a fleet of old planes, called Spectrum Air. One of these planes is a Sabre jet fighter which was at one time sold to be a city monument, for $800. The plane was subsequently bought and reconditioned by Spectrum Air — not long before it crashed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor, killing 22 — mostly children.

A Marin County weekly, Ebb Tide, editorialized against what it charged was Patrick's having misused both airport and radio facilities — the latter for purposes of playing "kid's games" with one of the pilots.

Patrick promptly sued for $6.4 million — which libel case was dismissed. Undaunted, he is reportedly planning to sue the Battered Business Bureau.

Patrick in turn has been charged with fraud in a $1.1 million suit filed by Betty Westmore, widow of one of the famed Hollywood makeup artists. Mrs. Westmore charges that her late husband was promised $3,000 per month and a percentage of the profits, by Patrick, which she alleges, has not been paid.

Patrick was born in the Eastern North Carolina hamlet of Roper. A high school dropout, he joined the Air Force, rising to the rank of Sgt. before returning to school and eventually obtaining a college degree.

He then entered upon a number of careers, first as a school teacher and then, successively as proprietor of a jewelry store, operator of a wig business and, later, door-to-door salesman.

He discovered the system of pyramid selling, while peddling vitamins. He applied this principle to cosmetics made in a San Jose bathtub, by two California housewives.

Patrick estimates that his conglomerate is today worth $100,000,000 with 300,000 distributors.

One of these distributors used to be Glenn W. Turnor, whose "Dare To Be Great" system which Patrick angrily contends was copied and mutilated from Holiday Magic's recently issued by the Security and Exchange Commission.

A telephone call to Holiday Magic's still headquarters building here still evokes the response:

"Good morning (afternoon) — Holiday Magic loves you!"

At least one exception to this syrupy salutation (besides the Senior Senator from Idaho) is California Deputy Attorney General Mike Kelly — whose primary case load is now all Patrick.

Art sale breaks records

NEW YORK (UPI) — An art auction which brought $6.8 million for 47 paintings from the collections of Los Angeles industrialist Norton Simon set records Wednesday night for four top French Impressionists. Frantic bidding at the sale of Simon art at Sotheby Park Bernet Galleries Inc. propelled works by Cezanne, Degas, Manet and Renoir to new price heights. Gasoline and Manet still lifes received initial bids of $500,000 and were knocked down within minutes for $1.4 million each.

The sale topped the previous world auction record of $6.6 million set in London in 1970. Experts attending the sale attributed the highly competitive buying to collectors' distrust of the world monetary system and their sustained confidence in art as a blue chip investment. Best evidence of the art world's enthusiasm was $160,000 paid for a small, sensuous Gericaunt drawing "The Kiss." French masters are rare on the market; its sale estimate was only $50,000 — $70,000 more than it last sold for in London in 1963. Cezanne's "Vase of Tulips" (1891) went to an unidentified telephone bidder.

Students' long hair unrelated

BOISE (UPI) — The administrative assistant to the state superintendent of public instruction said Wednesday educators in Idaho and the nation are spending too much time deciding lengths of male students' hair when there are other things to be done.

Roy Truby, assistant to State Supt. D. F. Engelking, spoke to newsmen about student rights and responsibilities recently adopted by the Idaho Board of Education. "I think educators in Idaho have other things to do except to determine school boys' hair length," Truby told a gathering at the Idaho Press Club's headline luncheon.

The same too much money has been spent in legal battles in the 480 court cases nationwide concerning the length of male students' hair.

Idaho has had several district and supreme court cases involving the length of hair.

Truby said the policies recommended to the state school districts by the state board of education, which covers student government, dress and grooming, discipline, search and seizure and student records, are conservative.

Two school districts in the state have refused to accept the guidelines.

Truby said some of the opposition generated by the policies comes from the fact that some administrators and teachers do not want their authority challenged by students.

"We're dealing with a ship which is at sea," Truby said. He added that there have been U.S. Supreme Court decisions which state student rights "do not stop at the school-house door."

He said student rights are being directed by the courts and that is the way it is "whether the people like it or not."

Japanese surgeon perfects operation

TOKYO (UPI) — The fate of another American baby rested today in the hands of Dr. Kenjiro Suruga, the only surgeon in the world who has perfected a delicate operation for a rare and lethal birth deficiency of the liver.

Seven-month-old Theresa Rose DeGaurth of Milwaukee became the fourth American baby this year brought to Suruga, who performed a 6-1/2-hour operation Wednesday on little Jennifer Rice of DeGatur, Ga.

Both Jennifer and Theresa suffer from biliary atresia, constriction of the duct that transfers bile from the liver to the large intestine. The defect usually results in fatal damage to the liver from accumulated bile.

Phase II meat boycott planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phase II of the meat boycott—a national day of protest against food prices—is due Saturday. But so far it does not appear to have the widespread public support won by last month's meatless week. The protest is being backed by the National Consumers Congress, a loose coalition of local groups and individuals active in the meat boycott.

The group was formed with the help of several congressmen, notably Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., who at the time were pushing legislation to force a rollback of all prices and interest rates. That legislation was soundly defeated in the House. Since then there has been little congressional interest in or rallying point for the May 5 protest planned by the boycotters.

The decentralized nature of the new organization and the lack of continuing national publicity has left the impact of the protest doubtful. At least two consumer groups—the New York Consumer Assembly and the Citizens Action Program of Chicago—said they detected a move away from the protest approach toward a more long-range attempt to question and monitor the government on the food price issue.

The Consumers Congress itself has already moved in that direction. It asked the Cost of Living Council and cabinet members for a meeting to discuss the food price situation. The Council said it was coordinating such a session, but no date was set.

A spokesman for the Chicago organization said he hoped the Cost of Living Council would eventually agree to hold meetings around the country, at which consumers could confront officials directly. There are some organized efforts under way for the Saturday protest, however, especially in New York City. A group calling itself Women United For Action said it would picket the headquarters of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. (A&P)—the country's largest supermarket chain, on Saturday. It also said some of

Connally political future open

HOUSTON (UPI) — John B. Connally, Democratic protégé of President Lyndon B. Johnson, said his switch to the GOP doesn't necessarily mean he is seeking the presidency in 1976, but he left his political future open.

"I seek no office, political or appointive," the former Nixon cabinet member told reporters Wednesday who asked him whether he would try to wrest the Republican presidential nomination from vice President Spiro T. Agnew in 1976.

During the same news conference, which the life-long Democrat assembled to announce his official entry into the Republican party, he said "a lot of things can happen between now and 1976."

"I want to serve my country any way I can," Connally, 56, disabused reports President Nixon would hire him as a top aide to help solve the Watergate crisis, and said he had no plans at present to leave his private law practice in Houston and go back to Washington.

GOP finance Last test unit charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The finance committee of President Nixon's re-election campaign has been charged by the Justice Department with concealing a $200,000 contribution by financier Robert L. Vesco.

The three-count charge, filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court, accuses the finance committee of failing to make reports and maintain records of the contribution, received April 10, 1972, three days after the Federal Election Campaign Act went into effect.

This law requires disclosure of major contributions and expenditures. The maximum penalty on each count is a $1,000 fine.

Vesco's donation—given during the SEC inquiry—was returned by the committee after the November election. The committee has denied that it violated the law.

The government charged that Maurice H. Stans, finance chairman, failed to make a report within five days of Vesco's donation to campaign treasurer Hugh P. Sloan Jr., as required by law.

The committee also was charged with failing to keep a record of the amount of the donation and the name, address, occupation and principal place of business of the contributor.

The third count said the committee, acting through Sloan, failed to report the contribution to the Office of General Accounting in the Federal Accounting Office.

The money was known to have come from the Bahamas Commonwealth Bank in Nassau, often used by Vesco as a business base.

The Washington Post reported Wednesday that former Attorney General John N. Mitchell interceded in Vesco's behalf in January, 1972, in the financier's unsuccessful attempt to take over a bank in Lebanon-Mitchell-Inter-headed Nixon's re-election campaign.

The committee said Wednesday that it did not report Vesco's campaign contribution on the advice of attorneys. A spokesman said that under the law a "contribution" also constitutes a "contact, promise or agreement"—indicating that Vesco's donation had been promised before the reporting law went into effect.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Skylab space station has passed its last ground test and engineers today put the ship that will launch its first crew through the final hours of another countdown rehearsal.

The big orbiting laboratory is scheduled to be launched tomorrow May 16. Astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Wolitz will fly up to it the next day in a modified Apollo command craft.

Conrad, Kerwin and Wolitz were not taking part in today's test because of the hazards involved with a rocket, loaded with 192,000 gallons of kerosene, liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen. They will rehearse their role in the countdown Friday after the fuel has been drained from their Saturn IB rocket.

The three astronauts, to spend a record 28 days in orbit, passed preliminary physical examinations in Houston Wednesday and Dr. Lawrence DiIulio said they were "in high spirits in anticipation of their launch."

Break-in confirmed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few days before John F. Kennedy was nominated for the presidency at the Democratic convention of 1960 someone broke into his doctor's office in New York and apparently tried to read his medical files.

The physician, Dr. Eugene J. Cohen, confirmed the break-in Wednesday but said he did not believe the burglar saw the files because they were under another name. But the file marked "K" had definitely been tampered with, Cohen said.

ly that two convicted Watergate conspirators broke into the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Asked whether he believed Nixon campaign personnel were responsible for the attempted burglary, Cohen said:

"I think they have enough going for them in the Watergate incident without adding anything additional in terms of wrongdoing."

Cohen said the only files touched in the office, which he shared with several other doctors, were his marked "K."

Trial dismissal aired

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The judge in the Pentagon Papers trial ordered lawyers for both sides to submit legal arguments today on the possibility of terminating the trial because of proving entanglements with the White House and Watergate.

U.S. District Court Judge Milt Byrne appeared to be giving serious consideration to declaring a mistrial or dismissing all charges against co-defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo.

The judge sternly admonished Justice Department lawyers that "time is important," saying they have not complied with his orders to turn over any files and reports in the government's hands concerning "improper acts" by Watergate figures that would contaminate the government's case.

The judge is simultaneously running a personal investigation of Watergate-Ellsberg links, with the jury out of court and going forward with the trial testimony, which is almost concluded.

In developments during the trial Wednesday, it was revealed that:

—The special White House investigation of the Pentagon Papers leak included probes into the lives of Ellsberg's wife Patricia, and New York Times reporter Neil Sheehan, who broke the Pentagon Papers story.

—White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman, who resigned because of Watergate developments, told the FBI he knew nothing about the White House investigation of Ellsberg.

—White House Domestic Affairs Adviser John Ehrlichman, also a Watergate casualty, told the FBI he did not know what had become of the records of the investigation, which he admitted earlier he ordered at the request of President Nixon.

—The judge met twice with Ehrlichman, while the trial was in progress, in connection with the possibility the judge would be named director of the FBI. Defense lawyers have characterized Ehrlichman's offer as a "attempt to offer a bribe to the court, in the virtual presence of the President of the United States, frustrated only because the judge refused to listen to the offer."

The judge earlier revealed from the bench a meeting with Ehrlichman, at Ehrlichman's request, in the Western White House April 5 to discuss a "future assignment." Wednesday, he confirmed reports the assignment mentioned was director of the FBI and also reported a second meeting with Ehrlichman in Santa Monica, Calif., two days after the San Clemente meeting.

The judge stressed he told Ehrlichman he could not discuss the possibility in any way while he is presiding over the Pentagon Papers trial.

Tax levy raised

LEWISTON (UPI) — The Port of Lewiston Commission has increased the Nez Perce County property tax levy from three mills to five.

The action came Tuesday at a regularly scheduled port district meeting.

The commissioners adopted a budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of $1,270,000.

B. H. Wittman, Lapwai, Port Commission chairman, said the five mill levy will be needed to match a more than $1 million federal grant approved for the district last week.

Madrid police riot

MADRID (UPI) — Hundreds of police seized the coffin of a slain colleague from its hearse Tuesday and paraded it around downtown Madrid demanding permission to use firearms against demonstrators.

Witnesses reported the policemen shouted demands for the resignation of Interior Minister Tomas Garricano Goni. Some cried, "Let's get the Reds!"

At the same time, political sources reported some high-ranking military officers met to discuss the situation created by a series of May Day clashes in Spain in which one police man had his throat cut.

The coffin of policeman Jose Antonio Gutierrez, 21, was seized by the police after a funeral mass at the headquarters of the security police. Top government and police officials attended the ceremony including Interior Minister Goni and Spanish Vice President Adolfo Lario Carrera Blanco. Outside, riot police dispersed demonstrators outside the headquarters.

Gutierrez funeral mass was recited in a chapel inside the building. As a hearse bearing Gutierrez' coffin emerged from the building, policemen seized it and carried it on their shoulders from Puerta del Sol to Plaza Espana, the city's two main squares shouting for permission to use firearms.

The parade, which the news agency Europa Press said consisted of at least 2,000 persons, moved down Gran Via, the main business street. The coffin was finally placed back on the hearse which had followed the policeman.

Policemen sang "Cara al Sol" (Face to the Sun), the battle hymn of the Falange, Spain's right-wing movement. "At one time, one officer told the policeman: 'If they don't rescind the no-shooting order, we won't move against demonstrators anymore or use our own judgement!'"

Six other policemen were injured Tuesday night trying to break up a left-wing demonstration near Madrid's Atocha train station in which Communist youths, marching behind red banners, attacked police with iron bars, sticks and knives.

The government said it had issued orders that police use no firearms against May Day marchers even though street demonstrations are illegal in Spain.

Political sources said the death of Gutierrez could prompt the government to adopt a harder line against opposition.

In Barcelona, a lockout of workers at the SEAT auto factory, Spain's biggest, also created tension.

Refuge defense sought

BOISE Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus is urging the state's Congressional delegation to help protect two of Idaho's national wildlife refuges, including one in Minidoka County.

In a letter to the state's senators and representatives, Andrus appealed for help in protecting what he termed "an integral part of the basic waterfowl population of the state," the Minidoka National Wildlife Refuge near Burley and the Deer Flat National Wildlife Refuge near Nampa.

"Southwestern and south-central Idaho are probably some of the finest waterfowl hunting areas in the nation," Andrus wrote. "It enjoys one of the longest duck seasons and most liberal bag limits allowed under federal regulation. To a large extent, Minidoka and Deer Flat refuges make this possible."

The government said it had issued orders that police use no firearms against May Day marchers even though street demonstrations are illegal in Spain.

Political sources said the death of Gutierrez could prompt the government to adopt a harder line against opposition.

In Barcelona, a lockout of workers at the SEAT auto factory, Spain's biggest, also created tension.

Skylab prepares for launch

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Engineers put the Skylab space station through a long countdown rehearsal and simulated launch Wednesday in a major step toward flight May 14.

The mock blastoff occurred on schedule at 1:30 p.m. EDT. The test included fueling the Saturn 5 rocket with more than 900,000 gallons of propellant. It was stopped just short of rocket ignition.

The only major problem developed about 5 a.m. EDT when a huge liquid oxygen pump at the launch pad failed during fueling operations. The pump was replaced and fueling resumed. Engineers at the control center 3 1/2 miles away quickly switched to a backup unit and began pumping oxygen into the second stage 50 minutes behind schedule.

One of the objectives of the drill was to uncover such problems so they could be corrected in time to avoid a delay in the actual countdown. A second countdown drill also was underway 8,700 feet away on the Apollo and smaller Saturn IB rocket that is to take off May 15 and fly Charles "Pete" Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Karwin and Paul J. Weitz to a rendezvous with the orbiting Skylab.

Code requires Rupert parking

RUPERT — A new ordinance requiring all new buildings in Rupert to have off-street parking received the first reading at a city council meeting Tuesday night.

The ordinance, which will be available to the public, will be read twice more before becoming effective.

If passed, the new ordinance provides that dwellings may use driveways or garages for off-street parking and requires theaters and auditoriums to provide one parking space for every four seats.

High schools will have to provide one parking space for every four auditorium seats and elementary and junior-high schools will provide three parking spaces for every two classrooms.

Parking space needed for office buildings and stores will be determined by the number of offices occupying the building or the square footage for certain types of buildings.

Bids for new park equipment were opened with Home Supplies, Rupert, bidding $3,967.40 for four Big Valley dugouts and $2,857.47 for benches for the swimming pool. Benches for the dugouts and eight wood and steel movable benches were bid at $9,063.68.

The only other bidder was Stadiums Unlimited, Granel, Iowa, bidding $570 for eight aluminum benches and $2,712 for eight portable benches with $75 for wheels, tongs and assembly.

The council will study the bids further before making an award.

The council decided to honor city employees with service awards at the annual city picnic in August. Three $25 bonds will be given with retiring city employees to receive $50 bonds.

The Minidoka County treasurer's office has notified the city that it will no longer calculate and collect the city irrigation bill. The county had received one and one half per cent of the collections for the service. Mayor Johnson and city attorney will discuss the matter further with the county treasurer.

All city offices will be closed Thursday afternoon for Minidoka County Commission chairman Wayne Hollenbeck's funeral. All city employees except police and emergency personnel are affected by the closure.

More power to Spiro

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has given Vice President Spiro T. Agnew an expanded role in developing administration policy as part of a shakeup of the White House power structure.

White House sources said Wednesday Nixon has decided to make Agnew vice chairman of the Domestic Council, chief forum for the formulation of domestic policy. The President is chairman.

Nixon met with Agnew Tuesday for an hour following a meeting with his Cabinet. A White House source said further talks would be held between the two on Agnew's expanded role.

Fraternity men queried in death

CHICO, Calif. (UPI) — Forty fraternity men were questioned Wednesday about the rape slaying of a shapely teen-aged brunette whose partially nude body was found in an orchard after an all-night "beer bust."

The body of Patricia Catherine Parish, 18, was identified after her parents told sheriff's deputies she failed to return home from the huge, 4,000-fruit party at the Tau Gamma Theta fraternity.

An autopsy disclosed Mrs. Parish recently separated from her husband and the mother of a 6-month-old girl, had been strangled.

The victim was found shortly after sunrise Tuesday by James Brasha, owner of the orchard near the fraternity house. His wife told authorities the party ended about 3:30 a.m. and shortly after that she heard "a blood curdling scream."

Mrs. Parish was wearing a blue blouse and brown sandals when found. No skirt or slacks were found and her blouse had been pushed up around her neck. Deputies said there were large bruises on her neck.

Authorities also said they found two small tattoos on her body. One was a heart on her right hip and the other was the letter "W" on her left thigh.

The fraternity party was one of several held around Chico State University as part of the annual Pioneer Days festivities.

In addition to the fraternity members, deputies said they were questioning as many persons as they could who attended the party.

After the disclosure of the girl's death, Chico University President Stanford Gazler ordered a cutback in activities of the school and said the whole tradition of pioneer celebrations should be re-examined.

All fraternities decided to ban other scheduled beer parties and the Associated Students canceled two street dances.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Christian University has a new degree program which its administrators say will help dispel any "un-American" image overseas.

The program offers a major in "comparative studies." TCU Professor Dan Heldman says it will teach students patterns of life in foreign countries and their cultures, politics, economics and social structures.

Sheepman appointed

BOISE (UPI) — Roy Stroschein has been appointed to the State Highway Board.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus announced Stroschein's appointment replacing the late John Fanning.

Andrus said Tuesday night that Stroschein is a "man of experience and integrity who possesses a good working knowledge of southeast Idaho. He is particularly close to the problems at the American Falls Dam and I am confident he will be an outstanding addition to the Highway Board."

Stroschein is a former state representative, a sheep rancher and potato farmer in the Aberdeen area.

Swensen's Magic Markets Offers You A BERRY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS

Especially if you're thinking about strawberries, if you're thinking about strawberry cream pie, strawberry shortcake, strawberries dyar ice cream or strawberries in homemade ice cream or if you would like to just sneak off by yourself and eat a whole bowlful, one at a time, then Swensen's Markets are the place to go, for big ripe luscious California

On the other hand if you've been thinking about freezing strawberries for later on, making strawberry jam or jelly, or preserving strawberries in any way whatsoever, or if you have an urge to sneak off somewhere and just literally gorge yourself on about 15 cups of strawberries, one at a time, then come to Swensen's Magic Markets this weekend where you'll find full crates of ripe delicious California

STRAWBERRIES

Magic Dam sewer planned

SHOSHONE Efforts to solve sewage disposal problems for the growing population around Magic Reservoir will be discussed here this afternoon. Interested groups and subdividers will meet in the Bureau of Land Management office to continue discussion. A committee has been named to research costs of measures which must be taken to meet minimum health standards. Dr. Wayne Carle, medical director of the South-Central Idaho Health District, Twin Falls, said many cabin owners along the reservoir are now using individual septic tanks or simply open pits which could contaminate the water supplies. He said at least three land owners are planning subdivision of their land to be sold in lots. The Bureau of Land Management is a principal land owner, he said, and along with the Idaho Fish and Game Department, Health Department and Wood River Resource group is working to reach a solution.

One proposal, Dr. Carle said, is the creation of a sewer district through which the property owners could install a treatment facility. Choice lots, he said are adjacent to the water which prevents them from having a drain field a suitable distance from the water. Pumping the sewage up hill would be necessary for these cabins, he said.

Dr. Carle said the committee has been formed to look into costs of a central treatment facility and pumping costs and to make recommendations as to the most reasonable means of treatment.

He said the development in question is along the west end of the reservoir which is in Blaine and Camas counties. Blaine County has an active zoning commission and county zoning has recently been adopted in Camas County which will help regulate future development in the area, Dr. Carle said.

He said while no definite development plans have been announced, subdividers interested in land sales could conceivably have 200 to 300 lots available for individual building.

Australian miss, Morgan marry

TWIN FALLS — David K. Morgan and Marlene Owen Williams were married March 30 in the LDS Temple at Ogden, Utah, with Thomas S. Bingham officiating.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams, Bulteen, Victoria, Australia, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Morgan, Twin Falls.

Wanda Morgan, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Raymond W. Ethridge was best man.

The couple was honored at a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. Gladys Summers, Mrs. Bud Toywell and Mrs. Dorothy Vauk assisted with the reception.

After a wedding trip to Southern Utah canyons, the couple resides at Route 2, Twin Falls. The bridegroom is employed by the Depot Grill.

Program info missing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three theaters at Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall were without regular program magazines Tuesday, as a result of the bankruptcy of Saturday Review magazine.

Saturday Review's programs division published the program for the Metropolitan Opera, Philharmonic Hall, and Tully Hall at Lincoln Center and for Carnegie.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Forty years ago Ted Lightner of New York was one of the five or six best players in the world. He still plays rubber bridge regularly and in our opinion is now the best octogenarian player anywhere.

Through the years his game has been characterized by soundness rather than brilliance, but once in a while he comes up with a feat that boggles the mind.

He hit on the happy choice of the nine of clubs opening against South's four-spade contract. The promptly collected these club tricks and it was up to Ted to discard on the third one.

He thought quite a while and finally got rid of his ace of hearts.

East looked surprised. A kibitzer almost fell off his chair. Dummy laughed uproariously, but declarer was strangely silent. He knew what was coming and he knew his contract was doomed.

Sure enough, East led a fourth club and Lightner's queen of trumps was the setting trick.

Was his play a lucky guess? Not at all. He was sure to beat the contract this way. He wasn't sure any other way.

Rebekahs donate money

TWIN FALLS — Members of Primrose Rebekah Lodge No. 78 voted to send a monetary gift to Odd Fellows and Rebekahs in Wilder during a meeting Tuesday night.

The donation will help replace the burned Wilder lodge building.

Mrs. Betty Dameron, noble grand, honored her left support, Mrs. Marjorie Benedict, presenting her a canteen plaque.

A committee was appointed to devise means to raise funds. It was announced that district deputy president Mrs. Anna Kennedy, lunch, will make her official visit to the lodge May 15.

Mrs. LaVerna Rudolph and Mrs. Blance Walner, co-chairmen of the program committee, presented a spring-mother's day program featuring a raffle, songs by Mrs. Joyce Kelly and poems about spring and mothers. May baskets had been prepared and were presented to Mrs. Dameron and Mrs. Clorren Heck, vice grand, by Mrs. Martha Smith.

Colorado miss, May recite vows

HAGERMAN — Amy Ann Leibold became the bride of Wade E. May in 7 p.m. rites April 11 at the Sweetheart Chapel, Loveland, Colo.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Leibold, Longmont, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence May, Hagerman.

Rev. Fred Jones conducted the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with two baskets of white gladioli and yellow Spider chrysanthemums flanked by candleabra tied with yellow bows.

Mrs. George Bogey was organist.

The bride wore a gown of sheergaze and ribbon threaded Venice lace. The bishop sleeves were closed at the cuff with a ring of lace and the gown featured a high ruffled neckline with a sheer yoke. A chapel-length train fastened at the back of the empire-style A-line silhouette gown.

Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a Venice petal lace headpiece which surrounded her face. She carried a corsage of pink rosebuds atop her sister's white job's daughters Bible. Inside the Bible she placed an Irish linen and lace handkerchief.

Brenda Bebensee was matron of honor for her sister, Linda, Kuse, was bridesmaid and Lisa Leibold, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Ron Custer, Hagerman, was best man. Steve and Stan Baker, cousins of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Serving as candlelighters were Paul Leibold, brother of the bride, and Scott May, brother of the bridegroom.

Carrie Lea Bebensee, niece of the bride, was flower girl. The couple was honored at a reception in the reception room of the chapel after the ceremony.

Rita Backy attended the guest book.

The couple was honored at a dinner given in Boulder, Colo., by the bridegroom's parents on April 13.

The bride has attended schools in Lyons, Colo., where she was an honor student and cheerleader. She moved to Hagerman later and was graduated from Longmont High School Feb. 23.

The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Hagerman High School. He is employed as a farmer.

After a two-day honeymoon trip to Denver, Colo., the couple is at home in Hagerman.

Senior recital slated Sunday

GOODING — Cheryl Anderson will be presented in a senior recital at the Idaho State Deaf and Blind School Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the school chapel.

Miss Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ali Anderson, Nampa. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Deloris Robinson, music instructor at the state school. Guest artist will be J. Hill, Twin Falls. He will play a group of piano solos and will join with Cheryl in performing two currently popular selections.

Miss Anderson has been attending the state school since September, 1964. She has performed in choir, mixed quartet, girls' trio, girls' sextet and mixed octet. She attended six District IV music clinics and high school music festivals, receiving ratings of I and II over the years.

She was president of the Gooding Junior Music Club for three years. She was the first place winner in the 1972 Music Essay contest for Idaho, Utah and Montana, as sponsored by the Federated Music Club. She has participated in several Federated Music Club Junior Music Festivals, receiving a gold cup in 1970. Scholarships from the Federated Music Club in Twin Falls enabled Cheryl to attend music camp at the University of Idaho the summers of 1969 and 1971. This year she has been singing in the Gooding High School Choir and has been active in the Gooding Methodist choir.

Temporary shelters approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee Tuesday unanimously approved a bill to build temporary shelters and provide counseling for youngsters who run away from home.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., subcommittee chairman, passed the Senate late last year but was never acted upon by the House.

The bill would authorize $10 million a year to finance houses to provide shelter, food and counseling for the estimated one million young Americans who run away from home every year.

Hughes honored

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y. (UPI) — Millionaire recluse Howard Hughes will be one of 17 persons inducted into the National Aviation Hall of Fame here May 19.

A spokesman for the aviation society said Hughes will be honored because he set a world land-plane record in 1935, reaching a speed of 325 miles per hour.

Hughes, in 1936, set another world record when he flew around the world in a time of 3 days, 19 hours, and 14 minutes.

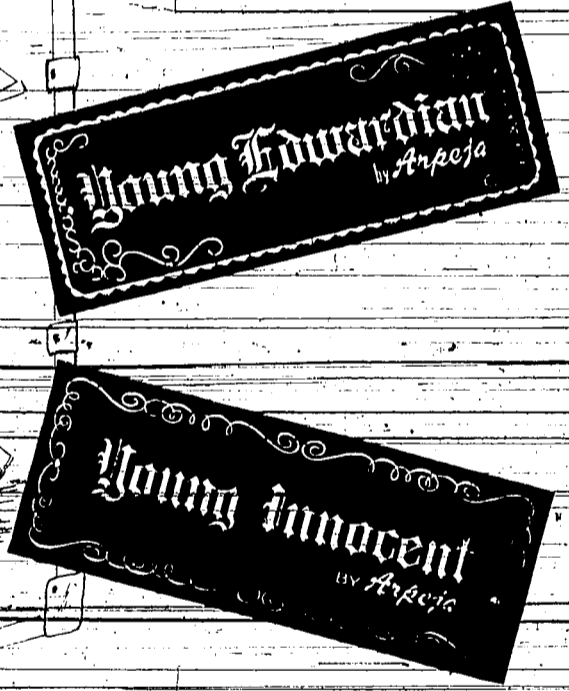

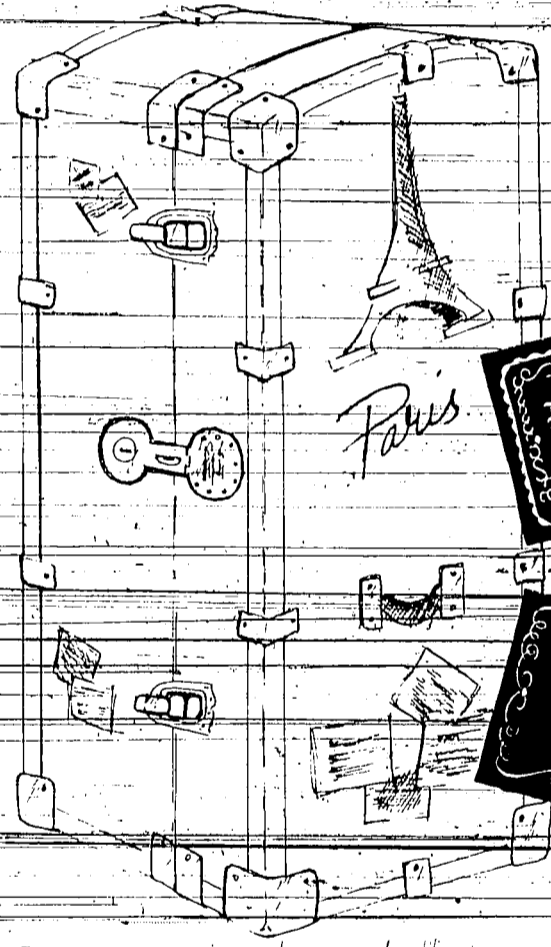

The spokesman said it was "very doubtful" that Hughes, who hasn't been seen publicly in years, would attend the ceremony.

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, will also be inducted into the hall of fame.

The spokesman said Bell was also a flying enthusiast and experimented with man-flying kites.

Before the season.

Yours

JACKSON, Mich. (UPI) — The sign on the bathroom at the Moonlight Center here just says "Yours."

Hank Lewis, the owner of the restaurant bar, is tearing down the "His" and "Hers" signs in favor of a more unisex approach.

Lewis said Tuesday he was building two restrooms in the upstairs of his bar, but after the completion of one, both sexes started to use it.

"Nobody seemed to mind," he said. "So we decided to take down the 'His' and 'Hers' signs and put up one sign that says 'Yours.' We don't anticipate any problems."

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are retired. As a child my husband was kicked around. Didn't have much education, but Bernie schooled himself and became a very big business success. We have no money problems, but I have a big problem with Bernie.

He has decided that he is a "performer." He has had no musical training, but now he tries to play the mouth organ by just blowing in and drawing out. He doesn't wait to be asked, he comes the mouth-organ everywhere, and offers to play. It is simply terrible, but people don't know how to discourage him.

We recently went to a party and Bernie held the floor for 45 minutes attempting one song after another. It was dreadful. I was so embarrassed I couldn't hold my head up. Meanwhile he rambles, misuses a natural talent.

Lessons needed

I have a feeling people are looking at us sideways. I asked Bernie not to play in public until he learns a few numbers, but he blew his top and said "Everyone else thinks I'm great. You're just jealous."

He reminds me of a man we both knew who had a good voice when he was young, but in his later years his efforts to entertain were pitiful. When he died I heard people say, "Well, now we won't have to listen to Shanty Town anymore."

How can I handle this? I love him, but he won't listen to me.

BETTER HALF IN ARIZONA

DEAR BETTER: If you can't resist Bernie's best friend to tell him the truth about his "talent," and he continues his compulsion to share it, urge him to practice and hope he improves, and try to prevail upon him to make his performances brief.

DEAR ABBY: My husband isn't an alcoholic, but after he's had a few he gets very generous and starts giving away things (His cutlimes, expensive pens and pencils, even the necktie he is wearing). He practically forces things on people, some of whom he hardly knows.

Some folks realize it was the booze talking and the next day they will return whatever he's given them. But most people just keep it.

Is there a solution to this problem? HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes, Sobriety.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live on the same street with my in-laws, and since we have the same last name, the Post Office is constantly getting our mail mixed up. When my mother in law gets our mail by mistake, she opens it and reads it. Then she brings it over. She knows all our business before we do.

I told my husband to tell his mother to quit opening our mail, but he doesn't want to start a fight. Don't tell us to ask the Post Office to be more careful. They have every excuse in the book from mail sorters who can't read, to addresses they aren't able to make out. Sometimes I think they do it on purpose. What should we do? NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Sure your husband doesn't want to irritate his mother, a Post Office box might be a good investment.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Fashions for men feature elegance

TWIN FALLS Men have come alive to the possibilities of fashion this year. Most styling is classic with a return to the elegant, gentlemanly look. Masculine eyes have focused on clear colors—white, burgundy, navy, true red, and browns, color combinations abound in patterns and in coordination. The layered look combined with color is a favorite mode of fashion expression.

A trunk top over sport shirt is complementary both to patterned shirt trends and revival of plaids such as the argyle in both sweaters and slacks. Coordinates have gained importance as many makers now feature sports shirts, sweaters, sport coats, blazers and slacks in mix and match separates.

Texturds have gained importance too as seersucker stripes reappear with diagonal twills, and the nubby linen and silk looks.

A Lovelier You

HOUSEHOLD HELPERS

By Mary Sue Miller

Note to birds: career girls with high ambitions, forget the old hands.

Household chores get done more efficiently and quickly when you have the right tools. As a result your house looks sleeker. And so do you.

- Two pails, one for suds and one for rinse water. Double pails are sometimes preferred.
- Three brushes—stiff, soft, and whisk.
- Five types of brushes—one each to scrub vegetables, bottles, pans, toilet bowls and to pre-heat hand laundry.
- Floor mop, string for washing and sponge for touch-ups of tile, plastic-covered and other suitable surfaces. If lacking vacuum or waxer for floors that need such care add a soft dust mop and lamb's wool polisher.
- Dish mops—one if it has detachable sponges. Otherwise a large package of vari-sized sponges serve a myriad of purposes. When in doubt reach for a sponge.
- Cloths—a soft silver polisher, a treated touch-up silver polisher, and at least a dozen soft cloths for tending furniture, lamps, etc.
- Cleaners—Soaps, powders, flakes, beads, pastes and liquids that perform specific jobs. You do not use more by having a variety, maybe less. There is less frustration and less fatigue for sure. And that's the aim of every Ms.

Blue jeans serious art form?

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UPI)—In case all those embroidered, painted, patched, bleached and spotted jeans left any doubt, it's official now. Blue jeans have arrived as a serious art form.

At Wesleyan University's Davison Art Center here, the jeans scene is being celebrated with an exhibit that's all jeans and, in one case, more than a yard wide. A 76-inch waist pair. The smallest jeans in the show, size zero, is for babies.

Betsy Gehman, an actress with the school's drama department, is one organizer of the show. She said the Wesleyan exhibit is the first in the world to display blue jeans as an art medium.

Mrs. Gehman and the other organizers of the show, Richard Wood, the school's art librarian, literally searched the streets of metropolitan and rural communities for entries.

"Parade, but I would like your pants for a show," Mrs. Gehman recalled in an interview saying to many strangers who happened to be wearing jeans with unusual decorations. Like finds from a hunting expedition, each pair is mounted with care. Some, such as decorated denim jackets, are stuffed with tissue paper before mounting.

Mrs. Gehman, coordinator of program and development at Wesleyan's drama department, also was drawn to jeans as an art form through her 13-year-old daughter's business. Pleasant Gehman runs a jeans patching service. She calls it bottoms up and charges 50 cents for a plain patch (the reverse of a piece of denim). A fancy patch—lots of embroidery—costs $10. Pleasant has discovered that government majors and pre-law students don't want embroidery. Plain patches for them. Pre-med and art majors go for the wild patches.

One pair of jeans in the show has been patched and embroidered so much that there's little of the original fabric left. Vintage jeans.

A number of girls entering jeans probably left over from high school have shown what a gal does with jeans that are a happiness and security object but too small. The legs are split up the inseam and a triangular patch put in fore and aft, from crotch to hem, making a skirt.

Some jeans in the show have lettering embroidered on to say something. The interpretation is up to the viewer.

TF aides okay salary raises

By DAVID ESFO
Times-News writer

County commissioners have approved pay raises for some elected county officials effective next January. The percentage increases for the five elected officials will be less than the commissioners themselves just received from the state legislature.

A resolution adopted by the commissioners provides raises for the county assessor, clerk, sheriff, treasurer and coroner. All but the coroner are full-time positions.

The raises range in size from the 3.2 per cent for assessor Ron Taylor, a boost to $9,800 from $9,500 to an anticipated 4.2 per cent raise for sheriff Paul Corder, a boost to $9,900 from $9,500.

The commissioners themselves received a boost of 4.8 per cent this year from the state legislature, which sets their salaries as well as the pay for county prosecutors.

State law gives commissioners the authority to set the other salaries.

If adopted, the new salaries would raise the county's elected officers' payroll to $81,200 from its current $79,700. The changes would also maintain treasurer Ruth K. Jones as the lowest paid employee elected by the voters. Her salary would rise to $9,600 from its current $9,250, an increase of 3.8 per cent. Mrs. Jones is the only woman elected to county-wide office.

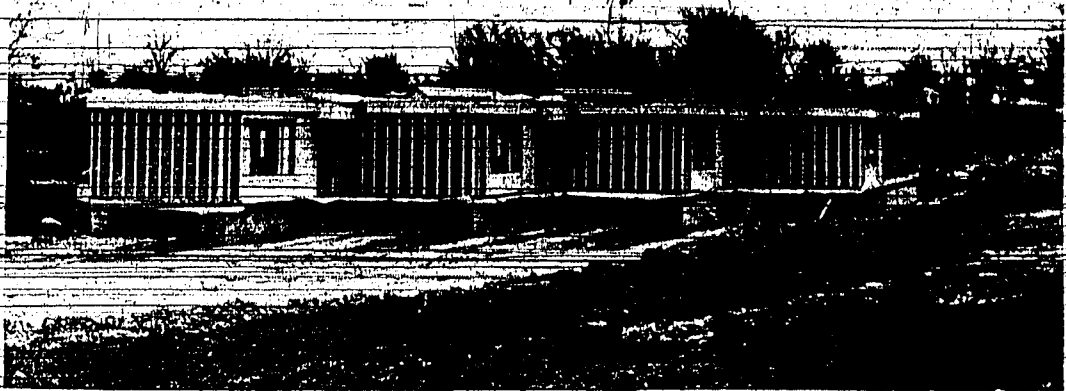

The proposed new salaries include:

- Ron Taylor, assessor, an increase to $9,800 from the current $9,500, 3.2 per cent;
- Clerk Harold Lanecker, a boost to $10,150 from his current $9,750, 4.1 per cent;
- Coroner Clyde Edwards, an increase to $1,350 from the current $1,300, 3.8 per cent;
- Sheriff Paul Corder, an increase to $9,900 from the current $9,500, 4.2 per cent;
- Treasurer Ruth Jones, an increase to $9,600 from the current $9,250, 3.8 per cent.

The commissioners, William L. Channey, Merl Leonard and William D. Wiseman, receive $800 annually, an increase from the previous $8,400. The legislature also increased the salary of prosecutor Robert Galley to $14,000 up from the $10,500 it had been.

Channey said Wednesday the commissioners had agreed to increase the payroll $1,600 and had divided the money among the elected officials.

He said they hadn't figured percentage increases for the officials compared to their own.

Jerome council annexes land, amends ordinance

By CHARLOTTE REIL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome City councilmen annexed two acres of land adjacent to the new LDS Church site and amended a beer ordinance Tuesday night.

The newly annexed land is just east of the city and is zoned to coincide with that annexed and zoned for the new LDS Church.

The beer ordinance adopted Tuesday night will eliminate a restriction that no beer can be sold in cans or bottles within 300 feet of any church or school.

Members of the Bible Church were present to protest the amended ordinance during the meeting.

Councilman Marshall

Everheart abstained from voting on the ordinance saying in his opinion the 300-foot limit should not be dropped. Councilman S. N. Weeks said the city has no other course but to change the ordinance as it makes nearly every grocery store in town in violation if the 300-foot limit is retained.

Mayor Jack Russell said the state law does not include such a restriction and the new city ordinance is now in compliance with the state law.

A report from the zoning board was read. The zoning board set May 14 at 7 p.m. as the time for a public hearing on two zoning variances for two Jerome residents who wish to construct within the 25-foot setback required under the city ordinance.

May 14 was chosen for a public hearing on a city ordinance on zoning of trailer houses. City Building Inspector Lynn Bingham reported legal notice on the trailer house ordinance will not be ready for publication in time for the May 14 meeting. Another date will have to be set later, councilmen said.

A request from George VanHoezer, owner of Wood Cafe, Jerome, for liquor catering permit for the May 5 hospital fund dance done at St. Jerome's Catholic Church's new parish hall died for a lack of a motion.

City Clerk Marilyn Bragg told the council a meeting will be held May 11 at Wood Cafe by the association of Idaho Cities to discuss long range planning and capital budgeting.

Shoshone tests 'gun'

SHOSHONE — Shoshone police are testing a special radar "gun" by recording the speed of freight trains passing through the city.

The City Council is considering a joint city-county purchase of the "gun" for use by the police department.

Police Chief John Schaffer said an existing city ordinance limits the speed of trains within the city limits to 35 miles per hour. Trains exceeding that limit will be fined in the future, he said.

Citizens have complained recently about the speed of trains traveling through the city. Schaffer said the "gun" enables officers to get a visual reading on speed and permanently lock in the speed for use as evidence, he explained.

Shoshone police officials met with council at its April meeting and suggested the joint purchase and use of the device. They said the unit would cost $902.30. The city officials tabled the purchase decision for further study.

Burleyites protest

By ROBERT SCHLEEF

BURLEY — About 20 persons protested the proposed new zoning ordinance Wednesday night at a public hearing of the Burley City Zoning Commission.

They asked the commission to recommend changing the ordinance to keep two areas of the city under commercial classification. In the proposed ordinance the two sections would be designated as residential.

Most of the protesters live in the two sections. One area is in the northwest corner of the city bounded by Overland avenue on the east, the railroad tracks on the south, city limits on the west and the Snake river on the north. The other area is located east of Overland between Eighth Street and the Snake River, east to the city limits.

Many of the people living in the area operate small businesses and want the classification retained as commercial-1 or 2.

The suggested classification of R-3 residential would allow professional offices, mortuaries, homes for handicapped, clinics and hospitals as well as homes.

Bill Parsons, city attorney, said the zoning commission was "not trying to railroad the ordinance through, and is only an advisory board for the city council."

"We're only trying to do what is right," he said.

It also was pointed out during the hearing that the new ordinance would stop all building on lots smaller than 6,500 square feet. Most of the lots in the older section of the city are 125 by 50, giving an area of only 6,250 square feet. Many of these lots are not vacant, but it was pointed out these lots are already established and permission to build on them would be readily granted, Parsons said.

Montana man hurt in mishap

BURLEY — A Montana man was injured Wednesday in a one-vehicle accident one mile west of the Salt Lake City interchange on Interstate 80.

Don Albert Monroe, 26, of Miles City, Montana, suffered slight injuries when the truck he was driving went off the roadway and turned onto its left side, pinning him behind the steering wheel.

Barbara Monroe, the other occupant of the truck who was in the sleeper, was uninjured. Both were taken to Cassia Memorial Hospital where Monroe was treated and released.

The accident reportedly occurred when Monroe looked into his mirror to check the location of a vehicle he had passed. The truck hit the guard rail and slid alongside it for 138 feet. Then the vehicle moved over on top of the rail, straddling it for 180 feet. Finally the truck turned onto the left side and slid 75 feet down the meridian before it stopped. Monroe was cited for inattentive driving.

The truck and trailer, owned by Garret Feed Co., Miles City, Mont., sustained about $7,000 of damage.

TF officials get warning

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Commissioners were warned for the second time in a week Wednesday that the federal government was subverting the democratic process across the country.

A delegation of Women for Constitutional Government met with the commissioners to discuss the county's revenue sharing money.

It was said it was the "bait" which would be used to establish a system of regionalization which would have President Nixon appoint an administrator, leading to the phasing out of local forms of government.

Members of the Idaho Tax Equality Association warned the commissioners of the same threat last week, and urged them not to spend any revenue sharing money on hiring a planner to coordinate any revenue sharing programs.

The women who met with the commissioners Wednesday, Mrs. Edna Emerson, Kimberly; Darlene Miller, Hansen, and Mrs. Winona Mason, Kimberly, warned of the effects of an executive order they said President Nixon had signed dividing the country into ten regions, an action, they said, which violates the U.S. Constitution.

TF Elks Lodge gets tax notice

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County assessor Ron Taylor said Wednesday he had sent the local Elks Lodge a notice that its property tax exemption was being removed.

He also said he had enclosed a letter to the lodge members explaining his action came at the specific direction of the State Tax Commission.

In a related matter, Taylor also said 11 federal and charitable organizations in the county had filed affidavits with his office, swearing to a membership policy of non-discrimination.

The Tax Commission directed Idaho's 44 County assessors several weeks ago to remove all Elk property tax exemptions from the books because of their policy of limiting membership on the basis of race.

In addition, it ordered a survey of all other charitable and similar groups, and said they had to file an affidavit with the treasurer if they desired to continue to get their exemption.

The Twin Falls Elks Lodge had been receiving a one-third tax exemption of its downtown property and building in Twin Falls. The removal of the exemption will increase the county's assessed valuation by about $12,000, according to Taylor.

TF revenue funds draw interest

TWIN FALLS — While the county commissioners try to decide how to spend it, Twin Falls revenue sharing money is drawing interest in local banks.

County treasurer Ruth K. Jones said Wednesday the county has already realized about $5,000 interest from the about half million dollars in revenue sharing it has on deposit.

The first entitlements, Mrs. Jones said, were deposited in equal amounts of $105,305 in two banks, Twin Falls Bank and Trust and Idaho First National Bank in Twin Falls.

They have produced a total of $3,163 in interest. The second check from the federal government, for $202,130, was deposited in equal amounts with the Bank of Idaho and First Security Bank, Mrs. Jones said, and have resulted in interest of $2,242.

The third entitlement, amounting to $123,715 for the first quarter of 1973, was all deposited with the Idaho First National Bank in Piler, according to the treasurer.

Franchise granted

SALMON — A franchise has been granted by the Salmon City Council to Jackson Hole Cable Telecommunications, Inc., Jackson, Wyo., to establish a cable television system in Salmon. The company is to begin construction within six months after it has received certification from the Federal Communications Commission and arranged for the use of existing power and telephone poles.

Blaine accepts bid

HAILEY — The Blaine County commissioners have accepted a $21,800 bid for the purchase of a tandem axle diesel truck. In accepting the bid Wednesday from United Oil of Idaho, Twin Falls, the commissioners rejected two other lower bids because their anticipated delivery dates would vary from three to four months. Delivery of the purchased truck is expected within 30 days.

Commissioner Jack Bennett said, "if we don't get immediate delivery, the truck is of no value. We are in the middle of our road work right now."

Bidders on the truck, in addition to United Oil, included Aco Hansen Chevrolet, Twin Falls, $21,149; Magie Valley International, Twin Falls, $21,345; and L. A. Stevens, Hailey, $22,708.

Accident fatal

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — A Clarkston, Wash., woman died at a local hospital Wednesday, a few hours after a head-on collision on U.S. 12 near here.

Idaho State Police identified the victim as Candy Hirst, 49. She was a passenger in a car driven by Regina L. Miller, 18, Welppe, Idaho, when it collided shortly before midnight Tuesday with a car driven by Carl L. Gled, 33, Orofino, Idaho.

Eden man charged

TWIN FALLS — Delbert Lee Crawford, 27, Eden, was in custody in Twin Falls today in lieu of $10,000 pending a court appearance on two felony counts.

Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said Crawford was arrested late Wednesday by Twin Falls officers with the assistance of the Jerome County sheriff's office.

He is charged with two counts of obtaining controlled substance under false pretenses.

60 Eagle Scouts feted at Burley

BURLEY — More than 300 persons attended the 24th annual Eagle Scout recognition banquet Tuesday night at the Ponderosa Inn.

About 60 boys who have earned the Eagle rank during the past year were guests of their sponsors, who were businessmen from throughout Magic Valley.

Capt. Larry Chesley, Burley, former prisoner of war in Vietnam, gave an acknowledgement to the Eagle Scouts.

Featured speaker E. LaMar Buckner, president of Buckner Insurance Consultants, Ogden, Utah, and past president of the Lake Bonneville Council, Boy Scouts of America.

He urged the young Scouts to look to the future now that they had completed this commendable achievement in earning the top rank in Scouting. He is a past president of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and is president of the Weber State College LDS Stake.

Special recognition during the banquet program was given to four Magic Valley men by Darl S. Gibson, Snake River area council Scout executive.

They were State Sen. John Barker, Buhl; Andrew James, Gooding; Keith Merrill, Paul, and Wiley Dodds, Twin Falls.

These outstanding community leaders each earned his Eagle badge in the 1930s, Gled said.

Alan R. Johnson, Post 52, Rupert, and 1973 Boy Scouts of America national youth representative, gave the acknowledgement to the sponsors.

Guests were welcomed by C. P. Parrish, Twin Falls, council president, with Steve Heuston, troop 6, Hailey, giving the pledge of allegiance, and Phillip Barrett, troop 141, Jerome, the invocation.

Erduyan Stauffer, Jerome, sang and Steven Weed, Post 424 Burley, gave the benediction. Earl H. Griffin, Rupert, was chairman of the banquet committee, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Damparell, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dille, Mr. and Mrs. George Forscher, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gehrke, Mr. and Mrs. George Hany, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hansen, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. Don Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shirts, Mr. and Mrs. John Woodbury.

HAILEY — Blaine County School District teachers and principals have petitioned for a study of the effects of the proposed McCulloch development on the school system.

According to Brian Clark, Bellevue elementary teacher, the petition, bearing about 100 signatures, has been directed to the school board with a request that it be forwarded to the Hailey City Council.

Petition signers include all district principals and all teachers except several who were absent when the petition was circulated, as well as non-certified personnel, Clark said.

The Bellevue teacher said the petition "is not anti-McCulloch or pro-McCulloch. We are just asking for an objective report."

Clark said he initiated the petition because "my classroom is full and the junior high school is overflowing. I want to see what the impact of McCulloch will be."

According to a cover sheet accompanying the petition, the signers state they are concerned with the impact of both construction families and children of the proposed development's permanent residents.

"It is of interest that the first group contributes little to the tax base, yet impacts on the services," the cover sheet states.

The petition requests the board to recommend that the council direct McCulloch

Properties Inc. to conduct the impact study before the council officially decides in a public meeting whether or not to annex the 650-acre development site.

The signers recommend that McCulloch Properties initiate and complete a "comprehensive education impact study" in conjunction with the school board or the board's duly appointed representatives and the superintendent of schools.

After study completion, the petition requests that the report be evaluated by the school board and be made available to interested county residents for two weeks prior to the council annexation hearing.

The first area of concern for the study recommended by the petition would be the development's effect on student population. This category, the petition states, should include the number of school children, which will be attending county schools and student density distribution in the county.

The petition recommends that each facet of additional operational requirements to be brought by McCulloch development be studied individually.

These considerations should include, the petition states, school land; physical plant; instructional equipment and supplies; administrative personnel; teachers; non-certified personnel; number of school buses; and school bus routes.

Examination of school revenue is also recommended by the petition including the source of funds to finance the possible impact; analysis of projected changes in the tax base created by the development; and tax level impact on present county taxpayers created by the development.

The petition concludes, "we the undersigned staff of Blaine County School District No. 51, believe that the City Council of Hailey, Idaho, realizes that its decision will greatly affect all citizens of Blaine County."

"We also believe the Hailey City Council, duly elected, with the best interests of its constituents at heart, desires to collect and evaluate essential information needed to make an objective decision," the petition states.

Ambulance in Lincoln much better

SHOSHONE Ambulance service technicians in Lincoln County have improved considerably during the past 15 years, Francis Bergin, ambulance owner, said Tuesday.

When Bergin first began operating the ambulance service, "he had only a cot, blankets and linens inside the emergency vehicle. There was no training required to operate the service."

Standard first aid was the first required qualification with an advanced first aid course requirement added in 1965.

With Medicare came requirements for a first aid kit and, since that time general improvement has come about throughout the state, particularly during the last three years with adoption of the American College of Surgeons' recommendations for equipment and training.

By 1975 the emergency medical technician training must be completed by anyone operating the ambulance.

Lincoln County has two men who have completed this course, Bergin and Sheriff B. J. Anderson, who finished the 81 hour course in April of this year. The 27 sessions were held at the College of Southern Idaho and were taught by doctors in the Magic Valley.

Those who passed the course were presented a certificate of qualification. Their course outline dealt with 95 subjects, from the role of the emergency medical technician to use of mechanical aids, treatment for cardiac arrest, bleeding, shock, childbirth and vehicle readiness.

The equipment in Bergin's vehicle today meets requirements of the American College of Surgeons and the Idaho Department of Environmental and Community Services.

The modern day ambulance service is a chain of emergency care—comprised of doctors, hospitals and ambulances.

Bergin said cante given at the scene of an accident by someone untrained can lead to extended recovery time or in some instances, permanent injury or death.

Bergin's "certified" ambulance is equipped with a first aid kit, inflatable air splints, Thomas splints for broken hips, fire extinguishers, portable suction equipment for clearing breathing areas, portable resuscitator, blood pressure cuffs, airways for adults and children, air Oth kit for emergency child birth, regular bed-pans and related equipment for longer trips.

Bergin said about $2,000 is invested in the equipment itself, in addition to a two-way radio hooked up with the sheriff's office. The ambulance itself is more than a $6,000 investment.

He said he felt the investment was a "good one," however, and looks forward to more improvements and services.

The two-way radio connection to the hospital has proven a real help since installation last August, as the necessary facilities can then be ready for a patient at his arrival.

Bergin does look at his own ambulance service of the last 15 years with justifiable pride. Out of about 1,500 patients, he has given ambulance service, only four have died in transit.

Aide quits under pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The officials said Krogh asked Transportation Department Secretary Claude S. Brinegar "for a few days leave" after Brinegar told him to make himself available to answer questions about his role in the Watergate case.

Krogh, 34, a former aide to presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman before taking his Transportation Department post, denied under oath during Senate confirmation hearings in February that he was involved in the Watergate bugging conspiracy.

The officials said Krogh and told Brinegar he needed time "to work out his problems."

Krogh has admitted that he hired Liddy to work for his task force in seeking news-leads on the Pentagon papers and that he, along with David Young, a former National Security Council member, hired Hunt. It was learned that Young had resigned his post.

Former USDA official backs portions of Nixon farm plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former high-ranking Democratic farm official has urged Congress, in effect, to adopt several key elements of President Nixon's controversial plan for phasing out income-supplement subsidies on major crops.

The advice, in direct conflict with the stand taken by a number of leading Congressional farm bloc Democrats, comes in a paper drafted by John A. Schnittker, a private consulting economist who was undersecretary of agriculture in the Johnson administration.

Schnittker's proposals were included in a collection of study papers by private and university economists published by a subcommittee of the Congressional Joint Economic Committee. The committee said the studies should be considered as representing only the personal views of the authors, and not the thinking of the panel or its staff.

Schnittker's "personal view" put heavy stress on his belief that even though most U.S. farm production currently comes from commercial-size farms which he said are "generally doing well in today's markets," the government should continue programs for stabilizing farm prices and production because important parts of the farm economy are "inherently unstable."

But the government's direct payments to growers of grains and cotton, which serve as supplements to relatively low-level crop support loans — and should be sharply reduced, Schnittker said.

The former federal official said payments to wheat growers should be cut to about $100 million a year, about half the amount paid in recent years.

Schnittker said this could be done by authorizing the secretary of agriculture to eliminate a portion of the current payment which serves as pure income supplement, while retaining a part of the payment needed to persuade farmers to cooperate in any needed surplus-control programs.

Using the same approach for cotton,

Schnittker said annual payments could be slashed to about $300 million a year — about one-third the average of recent years. For corn and other feed grains, Schnittker offered no precise figures but said cutbacks could be made by eliminating current floors under farm payment rates.

Schnittker's proposals were published as the senate agriculture committee this week began "make-up" sessions to draft a proposed five-year extension of basic farm programs, which expire at the end of 1973. The former undersecretary said any move to lower the current $55,000 per crop ceiling on government payments to individual farmers would be wasted motion unless congress was willing to accompany the limitation with tight controls against splitting up big farms.

"The real outcome of the $55,000 limitation in the 1970 act (which did not forbid farm splitting) is to make it inconvenient for farmers to collect their welfare grants for growing cotton, but not so inconvenient as to stop the payments," Schnittker said.

Teamsters make gains

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — The Teamsters Union has made another serious inroad on the ground previously held by Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Union.

The Teamsters said Tuesday as many as 17 growers in the Arvin and Porterville areas had signed with the Teamsters, after contracts with the UFWU expired.

Two unions for the right to represent grape field workers. Chavez has called the struggle a life-or-death battle for his union, and the AFL-CIO is backing the UFWU in its fight with the Teamsters, the nation's largest single union.

The Teamsters are in the AFL-CIO Grape Division. John Kovacevich said Tuesday that of the growers in the Arvin and Porterville areas "practically all have signed (Teamster contracts) except those growers in the Delano area and (John) Gummara."

The announcement last month that growers producing 85 per cent of the table grape crop from the Coachella Valley had switched from UFWU to Teamster labor contracts set off a confrontation between the two unions.

The UFWU contracts with Gummara and the Delano growers do not expire until July 21, but they are also reportedly negotiating with the Teamsters.

Kovacevich said the contracts with the Teamsters call for the field workers to get $2.30 an hour, plus unemployment, pension and medical benefits.

Chavez only the day before conceded much of the state's grape industry to the Teamsters. He said he expected many growers who now have contracts with the UFWU to switch unions.

Consequently, he said, he was extending his call for a grape boycott which was originally confined to the Coachella Valley area — to the rest of California and Arizona.

Idaho crop work gains

HOISE (UPI) — Idaho farmers made good progress in planting spring crops last week and a start finally was made in the eastern area where wet soils have caused delays, a crop report said today.

Newly planted crops are making good growth and stands generally are uniform and in good condition, the federal report said. Considerable reseeding of fall sown small grains continues in parts of northern Idaho because of winter injury.

Irrigation is becoming more general as moisture requirements of crops increase, the report said. Rain is generally needed in north Idaho where most crops are grown under dry land conditions.

April Snake water levels reported

IDAHO FALLS — The Snake River water report for April was released this week by watermaster Arthur L. Larson. ## Thefts sting Aide named

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Lawmen in California's central valley have a honey of a problem.

The rustling has doubled this year, according to the State Department of Food and Agriculture.

The department said Monday that beekeepers had 558 colonies stolen during April, bringing the yearly total to 684 — more than double last year's 310. Each hive is worth about $80.

HEXBURG, Idaho (UPI) — Loren Grover has been named coordinator of the "Ricks" college Agriculture Department. He has been at Ricks since 1968.

Dr. Larry Maxwell, dean of agriculture, announced the appointment of Grover, who has been serving as coordinator of the economic department for the past year.

US report hints slowdown in April for food prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A monthly government report which frequently gives advance warning of future trends in retail food prices shows the food price rise of recent months may begin to slow down.

The Agriculture Department's mid-month report on raw farm product prices, which had recorded a 24 per cent leap in just six months and which hadn't produced a downturn in a year, showed a 1.3 per cent decline in the month ending April 15.

With average prices for cattle, hogs and other livestock falling 5 per cent, the all-product index slipped back from the record-high level reached in March, but remained 32 per cent above a year earlier.

Reduced prices for livestock, milk and strawberries were partly offset by higher prices for soybeans, corn, wheat, onions, lettuce and broiler chickens.

Earlier, administration officials had predicted that their anti-food inflation campaign, consisting largely of efforts to increase farm production this year, would slow the rise in retail prices this spring of summer and would bring raw farm product prices at the end of 1973 down to the levels recorded around the end of 1972.

Farm

Calculations based on Agriculture Department figures showed that the farm price average, following the 1.5 per cent decline in April, were still 9 per cent above the levels of last December.

One factor still clouding prospects for later in the year is the weather. Floods and rain-drenched fields have delayed planting and led some farm experts to fear producers will not reach the government's goal of a 6 billion bushel 1973 crop.

The April price report showed live beef cattle slipped from 43.5 cents a pound in mid-March to 42.4 cents in mid-April, still far above the 31.9 cents of a year ago. (It takes 2.28 pounds of live cattle to equal one pound of beef on the retail counter.) Live hogs slipped from 38.3 cents a pound in March to 35.1 cents in April compared with 23.5 cents in April, 1972.

Prices for beef cattle and hogs had reached record levels in mid-March but were forced down later by factors including consumer boycotts and President Nixon's order putting a ceiling on wholesale and retail meat price.

Average mid-April prices included:

- Wheat $2.15 a bushel, $2.06 and $1.36; rice $9.71 per cwt, $7.08 and $5.58; corn $1.192 a bushel, $1.37 and $1.13; cotton (upland) 27.06 cents a pound, 26.34 cents and 30.75 cents; sorghum grain $2.56 per cwt, $2.50 and $1.87; soybeans, $6.14 a bushel, $5.05 and $3.37.

Flooding may cut crops

CLEVELAND, Miss. (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said Tuesday that flooding in the Mississippi Valley may prevent farmers from cultivating up to one and a half million acres this year.

Butz told agriculture leaders at the annual meeting of the Delta Council he does not expect the loss of acreage to have a major effect on the nation's supply of food and fiber.

The agriculture secretary said the loss of cotton from the Mississippi-Delta—if farmers are unable to plant this spring may have a "bullish effect" on the market.

Butz got an aerial view of the flooding when he flew from the Moline-Davenport area in Illinois to St. Louis, Memphis and south over part of the Delta, where about 600,000 acres are inundated.

"It's serious," Butz said of the flooding. "We are quite concerned about it."

He said the federal government will "do all we can to help" but that the determination and ability of individual farmers will in large measure determine the outcome.

"I am confident that when the rains stop our farmers will be out there," he said. "Our farmers really know how to produce."

The former dean of the Purdue University College of Agriculture said farmers have been too severely restricted by federal policies during the past years and he wanted to see the industry free.

Bruins gun for fourth straight SIC crown

Jerome and Wood River to vie for SCIC championship

The Twin Falls Bruins will offer their fourth straight Southern Idaho Conference title Friday evening while the South-Central Idaho Conference title will be decided that afternoon in Piler in the major A-1 and A-2 action this week.

In addition, the class A and B girls will travel to Homedale Saturday to decide the regional title and eliminate down to the finalists for next week's state runoffs in Twin Falls. All other schools, the A-3 boys, will run at 1 p.m. Friday at Murtagh in district finals.

Twin Falls, which won 20 years between SIC track titles, should win another but the perennial powers, the Borah Lions and Capital Eagles will put up a stiff challenge. Running preliminaries will go at 3:30 p.m. at Bruin Stadium with field finals at 5 p.m. and running finals at 6 p.m.

In the SCIC, the field events start at 10:30 a.m. and are followed with running finals at 3:45. Only three defending champions are back in the SIC and all three are from Magic Valley. Bair of Minico has the best effort of the state in the shotput at 161, about 11 feet better than he threw in winning the SIC last year. Gary Sievers, Twin Falls, could well lower the half-mile standard of 1:57.9 he established as a junior. Facing the toughest challenge will be Bruin Brent Thompson in the 220-yard dash. In that one, he'll be facing teammate, Bill Woodson. Minico's Roy Young, Idaho Falls' Van Ashton and Borah's Mike Chase.

Its among those same people in the 100-yard dash and it should be a blanket finish in both short races.

Top features should come in the relays where Borah and Twin Falls, basically, are practically tied for best times. This will be true in the half-mile, the mile and the quarter-mile relays. Borah holds the edge in two — by less than a second — and they are tied in the 800 in the medley. Twin Falls will go after Nampa, which has the best time by three seconds.

The quarter-mile, based on past times, should repeat Harold Cook of Idaho Falls against Bruin Bruce Cooper who now holds a 2-1 edge in the series. They are the only two under 30 seconds in the field but some others have been close.

The hurdle champions probably will come from the Boise area with Ericson of Borah and Reichert of Capital the two main events. Twin Falls' best shot will come from Jeff Miller in the lows.

The Bruins also rate well in the field events where John Blake is favored in the pole vault and Thompson in the long jump. Tony Kevm should be a strong shotput challenger. The high jump has a couple of 6-6 leapers from Nampa and Caldwell and the western division should dominate the new triple jump. Bair looks awfully good against the field in the discus — barring an off day.

In the distances, Pat Charlton of Twin Falls should rate as the favorite but it could be a good race with Laythe and Kaufmann of Borah. The Bruins have a kicker there in junior Doug Larsen who was second in the eastern division and a similar finish would greatly enhance Twin Falls title chances Friday. At two miles, Dave Berg and Larsen carry the Bruin and eastern division hopes. The trouble with trying to predict the distances is the question Nampa's Hill He would have to be a strong challenger in the mile and two mile. Helping Twin Falls' outlook in the half-mile is the possibility that Bruin Scott Hansen could be close behind Sievers at the finish line.

In the SCIC, Jerome and Wood River will battle it out for the team title and Gooding, Piler, Mountain Home and Buhl should be pretty well back. Jerome won it last year with excellent depth, scoring only four first places, with Wood River second.

Jerome Coach Karl Kleinkopf believes the key to his hopes lie in Jerome's ability to break up the Wood River distance juggernaut. Wood River Coach Bob Shay doesn't believe he has sufficient overall depth to seriously challenge the Tigers.

This is one of the few meets that the sprints are totally up

Wadkins rated favorite for waterlogged Houston tourney

HOUSTON (UPI) — Missing most of the "big name" golfers that attract the huge galleries, the $205,000 Houston Open begins Thursday on a waterlogged course with Lanny Wadkins the favorite.

Wadkins won the favorite's role because he captured last week's tournament — the Byron Nelson Classic in Dallas — and because he was one of the few golfers to tour the drenched Quail Valley course Wednesday.

Wadkins not only "toured" it, he shot a six-under-par 66 in the pro-am, which was interrupted an hour by rain and was finally canceled completely during a second shower while most of the players were finishing their second nine holes.

The par 36-36 72 course has been soaked by constant rains in the last month.

The 23-year-old Wadkins, however, putted precisely through the soggy greens to win the pro-am.

"I'm making putts for a change," Wadkins said. "I've for grabs. None of the participating schools has a real burner and the 100 and 220-yard dashes could go to anybody.

But Jerome rings in strong in the quarter-mile and both the Tigers and Wolverine have solid distance strength. Wood River returns mile and two-mile champion Rick Ward and half-mile king Kevin Swigert.

They are backed by several probable placers, not the least of these being the Brothwell brothers. However, Jerome has good distance ability and could get the green-wave break-up coach Kleinkopf is seeking.

Jerome's Thackeray looks like the class of the hurdle field and Brent Watson, Buhl junior, should repeat in the discus. State champ Toby Walgamott again should win the SCIC shotput and Wood River probably will take two or three places out of the pole vault possibly the first two with Collier and Hurst.

Wadkins, a four sophomore, ranks fourth with $75,682.

hit the ball well, before, but the aults are dropping now.

Lakers look to home court for 2-0 edge

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, 3-point winners despite a thrilling New York Knicks comeback Tuesday night, attempt to make it 2-0 in their NBA championship series Thursday night before the teams move to the East Coast.

"If we win two," said Laker coach Bill Sharman, "that would give us a tremendous psychological boost."

The defending champion Lakers, who went into the best-of-seven game final series as 8-5 favorites, are unbeaten in eight playoff games at home this season.

They won four of the Forum in beating the Chicago Bulls in seven games in their opening series and then captured three at home in taking out the Golden State Warriors in five contests in the Western Conference finals.

However, New York got to the finals by beating the favored Celtics 94-78 in Boston Sunday.

"We had a letdown after the Boston series but that's part of the game," said Knick coach Red Holzman. "I'm not worried."

In the series opener here, the Lakers were sailing along with a 20 point lead late in the third quarter before the Knicks surged back. Los Angeles finally prevailed 115-112.

New York's Willis Reed credited 36-year-old Laker giant Wilt Chamberlain with Los Angeles' opening victory.

Buhl amateur golf meet set Saturday

Buhl, Magic Valley's amateur golf season opens this weekend with the annual Buhl amateur at the Clear Lakes Country Club course.

The tournament is expected to draw about 130 to the newly enlarged course which this year will offer three new holes to the participants.

Larry Malone, Twin Falls, is defending champion and looked sharp in posting a one-under par in the final round of last weekend's two-man bestball in Twin Falls. Newt Carter, Boise, who has won the thing a few times also will be back along with most of the top amateurs from the Magic Valley area. It should be a stiff championship fight.

Entrants may play at their convenience and with foursoomes of their own choosing Saturday. However, no foursomes will be allowed to tee off between 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Saturday to allow the early morning starters to turn without a long delay.

Those interested in participating should contact the club and request a tee time. Bruce McNeel into the battle, which opens at 9 a.m. Caldwell figures to be tough and Highland would have to be considered a challenger since it handed Twin Falls the only two setbacks the Bruins have had this season.

anticipate five flights with the field divided according to established handicaps.

Most professional Frank Stewart said all entry money will be returned in the form of merchandise prizes.

The championship will again be based on 45 holes, that flight playing 27 holes Sunday. The other flights will play 18 each day.

Behagen scores 18 as US rips Soviets

ATROUPE (UPI) — Jones-Behagen and Bobby Jones triggered an explosive offense that carried the United States national team to an 8-37 victory over the USSR Wednesday night, giving the Americans a 2-1 lead in the series.

Behagen ripped the Russian defense for 18 points in the first half and Jones and Ernie DiGregorio chipped in 10 points each to lead the Americans' rout.

Two big scoring spurges by the Americans midway through each half broke the game open.

Cal and Ryan edge Tigers in 12 innings

DETROIT (UPI) — Art Kusnyer doubled home the tie-breaking run and then scored himself on a sacrifice fly in the 12th inning Wednesday night to give the California Angels and Nolan Ryan a 5-3 win over the Detroit Tigers.

CC tops Yanks on disputed hit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Kirkpatrick's disputed two-run double in a three-run sixth inning paced the Kansas City Royals to a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday night, giving Paul Splittorf his fourth win of the season.

The loss also snapped a four-game Yankee winning streak.

Ryan picked up his fourth win in five decisions despite giving up 10 hits and walking eight. He struck out seven and stranded 15 Detroit baserunners.

Secretariat looks sharp in last tuneup for derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Secretariat, favorite for Saturday's Kentucky Derby, turned in a sparkling workout at Churchill Downs Wednesday before a host of track observers but his owner and trainer missed it.

With jockey Ron Turcotte in the saddle, Secretariat worked five-eighths of a mile over a rain-soaked, sloppy race track in 58.3 seconds. The 3-year-old colt's fractions were 23.45 for the quarter-mile and 37.74 for the half mile. He pulled up six furlongs in 1:12. "Nothing, I didn't see nothing," fumed trainer Lucien Laurin when he returned to the stable from the grandstand from which he had Secretariat's owner Mrs. John Tweedy attempted to watch the colt in action. "I couldn't get in."

"We didn't see much of it," Mrs. Tweedy said. "But we did see him come through the stretch and what we did see looked beautiful."

"We couldn't get back into the race track. The other day Lucien couldn't get past the guard to go through the tunnel, so he decided to drive out on the street to the back of the grandstand. Every gate was chained. We finally found a way in and just saw him coming through the stretch."

Turcotte then went onto the track with Angle Light, the Wood Memorial winner who will run in an entry with Secretariat. This time Edwin Whittaker, owner of Angle Light, went along. They got through the tunnel and watched Angle Light clock off five furlongs in 59 seconds with fractions of :24, :46, :55, and galloping out six furlongs in 1:12.35.

"He handled the track well," Turcotte said of Angle Light. But Whittaker has ruled that Angle Light be scratched if the track is muddy for the Derby on Saturday.

After Laurin had talked to Turcotte and checked the time, he visibly brightened up.

"I'm very, very happy with the works," said Laurin. "I thought both of them were fantastic."

Davis' hitting helps Sutton end three-year jinx by Cubs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Right-hander Don Sutton beat Chicago for the first time since 1970 and for only the third time in his eight-year pitching career — and Willie Davis slammed a pair of home runs for three RBIs Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Cubs 4-1.

Winning his third straight game after losing his first two starts of the year, Sutton gave up only six hits while striking out eight. The Cub run was unearned.

Davis, hitting .240 at game time, went a perfect 4-for-4, homering off Cub starter and loser Milb Wappas in the second inning for the first Dodger run.

Watson, Astros drop Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Bill Watson homered to break a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning and singled home two runs during a four-run seventh inning Wednesday night to lead the Houston Astros to a 9-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I'm not afraid of any of them. I'm not worrying about any other horse. I have a good rider, my horse is coming up to the race exactly as I want him to, so why should I worry. Let them worry about me."

Starkora also dropped out. "He has a crack in his left front foot," explained trainer Roy Gilman. "It's not a quarter-crack but it could develop into one if you don't watch it. He had to miss a six-furlong workout today."

Reds' homers sink New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pete Rose and Dave Concepcion each hit two-run homers and Johnny Bench added a solo blast to power the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-1 victory Wednesday night over the New York Mets and Tom Seaver.

Deceived Wives Anonymous, that's the name of an outfit in Belgium's Brussels. The town now is said to be the infidelity center of Europe. Possibly because it's headquarters for common market operations. Numerous attractive secretaries from the several member nations live there. The Deceived Wives say their husbands had these foreign girls transpire.

Tests at McGill University indicate most people can hear better with the right ear than with the left. Even the bones of little beans eaten by a snake are completely digested. Most of the deepest places in the oceans are not out in the middle, but close to land. It's still the custom among the Ethiopians to eat their beef raw. The adult education classes now are pulling in a lot more customers nightly than the motion picture houses.

It was not some Washington gossip columnist, but Eleanor Roosevelt herself who wrote that she attempted to hone her memory by eating three chocolate-covered garlic balls for breakfast daily.

HARDEST PUNCH

Am asked if the boxing experts can identify the hardest punch ever thrown by a fighter in the ring. Undoubtedly not. Still, a candidate blow for that distinction might be the left-hand shot which Jack Dempsey threw at Jess Willard in the first round of their encounter on July 4, 1919, in Toledo. It splintered Willard's cheek bone in 13 places.

Q—Any way to cheat the Nevada slot machines?
A—Three ways, I'm told. Some cheats—1. Bore holes with battery-powered drills and manipulate the works with stiff wires. 2. Influence the mechanisms with magnets. 3. Buy slot machine keys from crooked inside men.

Q—Does an oyster ever turn out more than one pearl at a time?
A—Happens frequently. In fact, more than 100 pearls have been found in a single oyster.

When surveyors polled 300 coeds at the University of Wisconsin, they learned most of those young ladies didn't particularly like their own looks. Too bad. Generally, they wanted to be shorter. And about seven pounds lighter, average. Also, their lap measurements weren't satisfactory, they felt. Too big at the hips, too small at the bust. A like number of college men there didn't much care for their looks, either. They wanted to be heavier and considerably taller, almost to a man. That so many should be dissatisfied with themselves is sad. Stand by for a profound philosophical essay on this matter shortly.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime gives you a chance to use your cleverness to put your affairs on a higher plane. You can gain the good will of all with whom you have business dealings. The afternoon finds some obstacles that require self-control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep occupied during the morning contacting others for constructive purposes, but spend the evening reading and enjoying the quiet at home. Do your shopping early. Get a good night's sleep.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your financial position and see what should be done to build to present income. Obtain ideas from banking expert that are helpful. Engage in favorite recreation tonight, but watch the cost.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) See what you can do to have a happier personal life. Plan to see your close friends more often. Engaging in a new hobby now could bring great satisfaction. Make plans for the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Much studying and thinking can now help you gain the things you want the most. Obtain good ideas from experts. Follow your intuition which is good. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being with good friends to gain your mutual objectives is fine now. Don't ask for any special favors tonight. Get the information you need at a social gathering. Study it well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Making plans with bigwigs about a civic affair is fine but make sure you do nothing to jeopardize your reputation. Buy whatever appliances are necessary to make your job easier. Relax tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Engage in a new outlet that is appealing and through which you can increase your income. Making new allies is wise, but make sure they are the right ones. Postpone an important decision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Make sure you handle all your affairs in a most conscientious way and get right results. Your hunches are good now and should be followed. Using good judgment tonight is vital.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Any arguments with an associate should be discussed in a reasonable way for best results. Be sure to handle an important civic matter in the afternoon. Make future plans tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle all that work with vim and vigor and reach soon to be behind you. Take health treatments in the afternoon. Start shopping today for new apparel you want. Express more happiness.

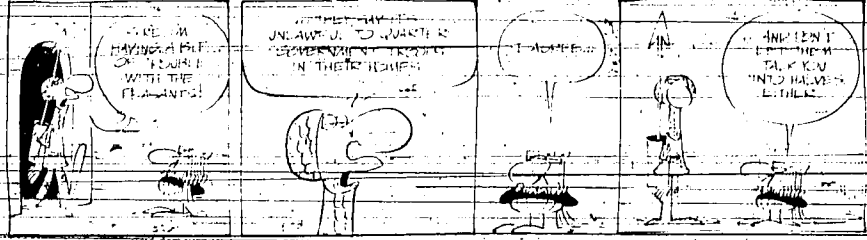

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking clearly now and can accomplish a great deal, especially in the field of entertainment. Put those special talents to work and commercialize on them. Do more reading.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have an opportunity to improve situations at home and should waste no time in doing so. Listen to the advice of others and follow the best. Get the new appliances that are necessary.

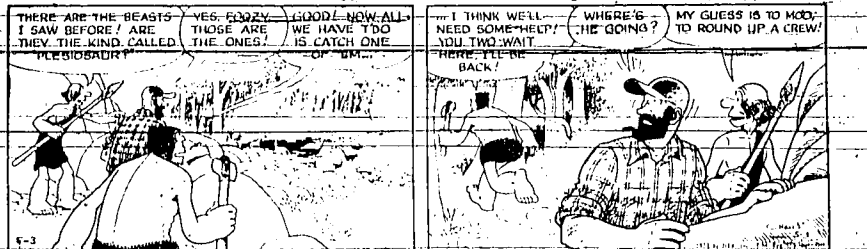

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will develop the ability to whittle ideas down to a practical value and make them profitable. The inventor is in this chart and the education should be directed in such directions. Teach to finish whatever has been started. Being discriminatory where playmates are concerned is wise.

Award given

DAVE HAMLETT, named Twin Falls realtor of the year, accepts plaque from Bruce Meacham who won the award last year. Hamlett was named at the realty group's monthly meeting at the Holiday Inn Tuesday night.

Starts run

WOICESTER, England (UPI) — Joyce Wellings, 24, started a regular run today as driver of a 40-foot-long truck. Miss Wellings passed a heavy vehicle driving test Tuesday.

Realtor award to Hamlett

TWIN FALLS — David R. Hamlett was named "realtor of the year" by the Twin Falls Board of Realtors Tuesday. Hamlett received a plaque emblematic of the honor during the meeting. He is now eligible to compete for state honors.

During the meeting, Don Taylor, board president, announced plans for the spring clinic at Hurley May 17. The meeting will be at the Ponderosa Inn.

Taylor said the board will distribute litter bags to various firms for public use as part of its National Realtor Week observance later this month. George E. Haney, Jr. gave a presentation on listings during the meeting.

Hamlett was chosen on the basis of business accomplishments, professional and civic activities. He has been active in real estate for the past 15 years, and is a past board president and past chairman of Multiple Listing Service. Hamlett is currently a member of the MLS executive committee.

Friday meeting scheduled in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Association of Idaho Rehabilitation Facilities will meet Friday at the Child Development Center on Harrison Avenue according to H. Dwight Whittaker, president.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. No luncheon is planned for those attending.

The morning agenda will include presentations by Bert Hendershott, executive director, and Ken Jones, president of the Northwest Association of Rehabilitation Industries, Seattle, Wash. They will discuss certification of rehabilitation facilities.

Their presentations will be followed by a discussion of procedures for bidding on state purchases of supplies and services and rehabilitation facilities by Dan Pilkington, Idaho purchasing agent.

During the afternoon session, Roger Suthre, state supervisor of special needs for the Idaho Department of Vocational Education, will discuss possible funding of training programs for handicapped persons and Dave Rich, assistant director of the Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Service, will review funding of client service programs and the accreditation of facilities.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Club sets auction

TWIN FALLS — Interact Club will conduct an auction of donated and discarded articles at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the front of Twin Falls High School.

Bill Woodson, club president, said proceeds from the event will be used to support the club's service projects, including care of an overseas orphan, school non-income activities to meet current obligations and provide funds for 1973-74 events.

Persons having unused items which they would like to donate may bring them to the school prior to the auction Saturday or call 733-9391 to arrange for pickup, Woodson said.

Turmoil grips FBI year after Hoover

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On May 2, the first anniversary of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's death, the agency which he created during nearly 50 years of dedicated effort is in turmoil. Employee morale has hit a low ebb and a temporary director is trying to salvage the reputation of the nation's top law enforcement agency.

The FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, which Hoover founded, ignored the passing of his day in its May issue and no tributes were planned. Hoover's friend and long-time FBI associate, Clyde A. Tolson, has spent much of the past year selling Hoover's expensive antique and art collection. His estate was valued at about $500,000.

"We've had so much trouble since Mr. Hoover died, we can't afford to live in the past," one veteran agent remarked. "But there's no question that this mess over finding a leader would sadden him."

It might, but, as another associate observed, part of the problem is that "Hoover was the FBI." He trained no one to take his place. And when Hoover, a life-long bachelor, died suddenly of a stroke in the early morning of May 2, 1972, at his home in Northwest Washington, an era ended.

His career dated back to 1917, when he started as a Justice Department law clerk and he was promoted into the top spot in 1924, by his investigation of the Teapot Dome scandal of the Harding administration.

Hoover's agency, which he ruled with an iron hand, remained above politics. He was often criticized in later years, but he survived it all.

The day after Hoover died, President Nixon named L. Patrick Gray III, a career Navy captain and lawyer with no law enforcement background, to serve as acting director until Congress should act on his nomination as the FBI's permanent chief.

It was the first time Congress ever had been asked to approve an FBI director. Hoover, the first man appointed to the job, did not face Senate confirmation and there was no such requirement until the 1960 Omnibus Crime bill. Gray became an early victim of the Watergate affair after he admitted to the Senate Judiciary Committee that he furnished FBI files to White House Counsel John W. Dean III — who Monday was fired by the President.

Gray withdrew his nomination, but stayed on as acting director for two weeks until he resigned after further disclosures attempting to link him to Watergate.

Gray has been replaced temporarily by William D. Ruckelshaus, former head of the Environmental Protection Agency, who does not want the job permanently.

Gray was credited with many improvements at the FBI — easing regulations for agents, lightening their workload and establishing a better liaison with the Washington headquarters. But the administration's inability to settle on a permanent director has undermined the agency.

Senate Democratic whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia has introduced legislation that would remove the FBI from the Justice Department and make it an independent agency. Byrd's bill would provide for the director and assistant director to be chosen by the President for 7-year terms subject to Senate approval, but the legislation seems to have little chance.

The primary idea behind Byrd's bill is to remove the FBI from politics, a problem that never surfaced in Hoover's day. The FBI's present agents claim this also can be done simply by nominating a career man to head the agency.

As one career agent put it: "We simply are getting tired of having all these political hotshots brought in to run this agency with no particular background when there are so many qualified career men waiting in the wings. This is not what Mr. Hoover would have wanted."

Worry about Watergate cropping up in Europe

LONDON (UPI) — European allies of the United States are beginning to show signs of international anxiety over the Watergate affair for the first time since the scandal broke into the open.

It is not primarily the shock over a mushrooming American domestic crisis and its spread to high echelons of the Nixon administration that has hit European policy makers.

They are worried over what the scandal could do to President Nixon himself and whether it could weaken his position to the point where his effectiveness might be impaired. Until a few days ago European diplomats and politicians followed developments in Washington with amazement rather than worry. But suddenly the picture began to change, and the issue started becoming a matter of European self-interest.

The question European politicians have begun to ask is whether Nixon will be able to "deliver" the Congress for the vital decisions now under preparation for future relations between the United States and Russia and the Atlantic Alliance.

They are asking what would happen if the President were to emerge weakened and his powers of decision impaired. The Europeans, Russians and Chinese want to deal with a strong President and consider it imperative that he be effective.

The uneasiness in Europe is heightened by forthcoming talks in a new relationship between the United States and the Europeans, as fore-shadowed in Henry Kissinger's announcement of a new Atlantic Charter.

The President has signified through Kissinger that he would want to proceed quickly with his new concept.

Some European leaders reacted with reserve when the plan was first put to them last week. And in the past few days there has been a new note of caution. Voices are now raised for a go-easy strategy on the part of Europe, counselling a wait-and-see approach.

A pause has been suggested to allow the dust to settle, especially if there were to be more trouble ahead in Washington.

So far, none among the world's key leaders has come out against Nixon or turned their back on him.

None of the known Western leaders has taken a public stand on what is still diplomatically termed a domestic affair. Most appear ready to give Nixon the benefit of the doubt.

None of the Communist leaders has as much as whispered a word publicly in the context of the Watergate affair which they have so far kept secret from their people.

The general line nearly everywhere is one of hope that the crisis will blow over, if only because the opposite could have very serious consequences for the whole new pattern of international cooperation that has been emerging from recent American initiatives and leadership.

In Our Time

IN A RECENT WASHINGTON, D.C. COMPETITION WITH CHEFS FROM FAMOUS RESTAURANTS, U.S. ARMY COOKING INSTRUCTORS FROM THE FORT LEE, VIRGINIA QUARTERMASTER SCHOOL TOOK EIGHT OUT OF 14 TOP AWARDS.

IT'S NO WONDER THAT TODAY'S ARMY CHEFS ARE BETTER THAN EVER. THANKS TO TOP QUALITY INSTRUCTORS, THE MORE VARIED MENUS, AND THE IMPROVED TRAINING PROGRAMS, ARMY CHEFS ARE PREPARED TO COOK ANYTHING FROM STEAK TO PIZZA; FROM LEMON MERINGUE PIE TO APPLE TURNOVERS.

MANY ARMY POST CAFETERIAS REGULARLY FEATURE MEXICAN, ITALIAN, SOUL, CHINESE, AND OTHER "ETHNIC" DISHES.

AFTER COMPLETING THEIR CLASS IN ALL ASPECTS OF FOOD PREPARATION, ARMY CHEFS ARE ASSIGNED TO STATIONS AND POSTS THROUGHOUT THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES AND FOREIGN STATIONS. COOKING IS A WHOLE NEW EXPERIENCE IN TODAY'S ARMY.

Location changed

TWIN FALLS — A new location will be necessary for the Monday blood-drawing of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile unit. The mobile unit will be in Twin Falls at the Catholic Parish Hall on Seventh Avenue and Second Street East Monday from 9 to 9 p.m. with a quota of 100 pints. David Johnson, in charge of the evening event, said the past two drawings have missed the quota and it is important a good turn out is obtained Monday.

Saigon, Viets reject plans

PARIS (UPI) — Saigon and the Viet Cong today rejected each other's plans for the political future of their nation and South Vietnamese Deputy Premier Nguyen Lau Vien said the Communists are trying to conquer the country militarily. Viet Cong Minister of State Nguyen Van Hieu said he knows nothing of a meeting reportedly scheduled between President adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho to discuss treaty violations. "We have no information about any such meeting," Hieu said. At their eighth meeting last week at suburban La Celle-Saint-Cloud, South Vietnam proposed a 10-point program leading to elections Aug. 28 and complete withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops. In return, Saigon offered to demobilize an equal number of its soldiers. The Viet Cong submitted their own plan for elections after compliance with certain conditions. At today's meeting, the ninth between the two sides aimed at organizing South Vietnam's political future, Vien told the Viet Cong: "In examining your proposals, we regret that your side is trying to increase its military forces in order to impose a Communist regime on the South Vietnamese people. We are led to believe that since you cannot achieve political conditions that would allow you to seize power in the near future, your side continues fighting in order to conquer South Vietnam by force of arms." Vien said the Viet Cong plan was unacceptable because it stated pre-conditions for the holding of elections.
