Firm asks huge commercial zone

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Approval of plans for a giant 122-acre "regional shopping center" north of the Twin Falls High School was urged Monday by Sierra Life Insurance Co.

If built, the development would occupy more area than the current downtown Twin Falls commercial district.

Officials of the Twin Falls-based insurance company asked the area be rezoned from residential to commercial use to facilitate the project.

Equipped with maps and backed by his Boise architect, Sierra Life president Fred Frazier outlined his firm's plans before the Twin Falls city and county officials.

Frazier's development would take in a large parcel of land crossing Madrona Street North and extending to Falls Avenue East on the south and nearly to Evergreen Drive and Blue Lakes Boulevard on the north and west.

Frazier was defensive in his presentation, saying adverse comment often follows commercial development plans.

"I can sell the land for twice what I have in it if you say no," he told the Twin Falls city councilmen, county commissioners, and city and county zoning commissions.

The Sierra Life development proposal was prompted by "a great number of people who have approached me wanting to put in buildings," according to Frazier. He said the K-Mart discount store chain was among the interested "people."

But Frazier stressed that "not one thing is planned anywhere" yet, discounting reports that Skaggs-Albertsons is seeking a building site in the area.

Sierra Life plans a 7-59-15 year building program, Frazier said, a six-lane road with "high speed" entries and exits at Blue Lakes Boulevard will be constructed through the shopping center to Madrona Street, he added.

When Frazier said his firm would allow a uniform development plan, Twin Falls City Manager Jean Milar asked, "How are we assured that small sections of the area would not be sold after rezoning?"

Milar suggested that the new owners could then break away from unified development plans and adopt haphazard architectural and usage plans.

Milar asked if there would be any car lots allowed in the development. "All we're asking for now is rezoning," Frazier said. "We would still have to present plans."

County Zoning Administrator Ed Woods said the county and city are nearing agreement on a joint zoning policy, under which the two governmental units would work together in zoning land near the city.

Current joint agreement plans would give the proposed Sierra Life development area a residential designation, Wood said.

"Lots of adverse comment" concerning the Sierra Life proposal has already been registered with the county, according to Woods. "People thought the area would be retained as residential," he added.

The proposed "shopping center" is surrounded on the north and south by residential areas.

James Koutnik, chairman of the county zoning commission, asked Frazier, "Why not just ask the city to annex the area and take it out of the county's hands?"

Frazier answered, "Do you want to lease it from us and pay the additional taxes while we develop this during the next 15 years?"

In a telephone interview this past Friday, Frazier said, "Really, I don't have anything planned. It really looks to me like Twin Falls is barnyard planning all over the place."

"I'm talking about a complete planned unit that would be done right. I do think we need somebody in this town who has the guts and gumption to do something more than three acres."

Senate calls Dean in bug case probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A subpoena was issued today for John W. Dean, ousted White House counsel, to undergo questioning under oath this week by investigators of the Senate's special Watergate committee.

The question of immunity for Dean for public testimony remained undecided.

The committee voted to ask a federal judge formally to issue an order to exempt Dean from further prosecution in exchange for testimony, but made clear that whether he actually is given immunity would depend on the value of his information.

The Washington Star-News said today Dean's efforts apparently had fallen through to get immunity from federal attorneys in exchange for testimony before a grand jury investigating Watergate, and that his lawyers now were concentrating on getting an exemption from the Senate committee.

The immunity requested by the committee for Dean presumably will be issued promptly. Neither the Justice Department, which transmits the request, nor the federal court which handles it has any grounds for refusing it, Senate sources said.

The Senate committee plans public, televised hearings on the Watergate and similar incidents of political espionage and sabotage. Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said today plans now call for the first hearings to begin May 17 — about two days later

'Painted ladies' swarm into Valley

JEROME (UPI) — "Butterflies are free," and it's a good thing because if fourth graders at Lincoln Elementary School here had to pay for them, they'd be out of lunch money for a month.

The 29 pupils of Mrs. Melba Rowlands in Jerome — population 2,500 — have been studying butterflies for the past year in conjunction with a University of Toronto research project, and since the weekend have witnessed unusually large numbers of the "painted lady" — or thistle butterfly — variety migrating through Southern Idaho.

"There are just thousands of them moving West," Mrs. Rowlands said of the two-inch wide insects that have an orange-tan background overlaid with black spots and black mothing.

Called by telephone, she said she counted about 40 of the dainty insects — the proper name is Vanessa Cardui — flutter every minute for the better part of Sunday over her back yard. "You can just imagine how many of them there are."

Her nine-year-olds who have a penchant for catching and bringing to school wiggly caterpillars and mature monarch butterflies, became interested in the insects. And from a butterfly book they wrote to the Canadian research center for information.

For $5, entomologists at Toronto certified the kids as official researchers and sent paraphernalia on how to raise, tag and follow monarchs. (Continued on p. 13)

Shoshone passes levy

SHOSHONE — A 2.5 mill maintenance and operation levy for the Shoshone school district was approved in a special election Monday.

There were 120 votes for and 84 against the levy. Only a simple majority was needed to pass the issue. Supt. Kenneth Crothers said today this will increase the general fund sufficient to allow the school board to meet the legislative request of 10 per cent raise for teachers. The levy will bring in $11,750 per year.

All non-certified personnel in the district will also receive a 10 per cent salary increase. He said the school has been faced with the question of either calling the election to increase the fund or establishing a cut in programs for the salary increases.

After votes were canvassed by the school board Monday night, a public hearing on the school budget was conducted. It was adopted at $316,760. The current year budget is $302,524.

Supt. Crothers said the budget increase is largely for salaries but $2,300 will be used elsewhere. Due to fewer students enrolled in the district, plans are to eliminate one fourth grade teacher at the elementary school and one half-time teacher who has been working in both the junior and senior high schools. The present program can be maintained through a revised grouping of students.

Rezoning sought

Wounded Knee pullout starts

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (UPI) — The evacuation of the tiny historic hamlet of Wounded Knee by followers of the American Indian Movement who occupied it 71 days ago began peacefully today in bright sunshine.

But first reports indicated there were no top AIM leaders among those found in the village.

A spokesman at Roadblock 3, one of the focal points of the line of federal officers which has surrounded the village for weeks, said that AIM leader Dennis Banks apparently had sneaked out of the village and his whereabouts were unknown.

Two others, Carter Camp and Leonard Crow Dog surrendered Monday. They were taken to Rapid City, S.D., where they were arraigned on charges including assault on federal officers, obstructing federal officers, larceny, breaking and entering and arson.

All the charges grew out of the Feb. 27 armed occupation of the village and events since.

Watching the scene from Roadblock 3 was a force of federal marshals who, under terms of a May 8 agreement, were to search the village after the occupiers leave. Also there were several traditional chiefs of the Sioux tribe and Kent Frizzell, Interior Department solicitor.

Voters in Camas OK school levy

FAIRFIELD — Camas County School District voters Monday approved a 5 mill override levy and rejected two incumbent trustees.

Supt. Harold Stroud said the 5 mill maintenance and operation levy will provide for salary increases granted teachers and non-certified personnel. They will receive a 9.5 per cent increase. Stroud said the 5 mills will bring in $18,500 per year in the district.

Voters in the district approved the levy, 53 to 12. Funds will also allow the district to add a home economics class to the high school.

In the trustee election, incumbents Tom Spackman, running unopposed, received 13 votes and Joe McCarter, also unopposed, received 14 votes. Spackman was reelected in Zone 1 and McCarter in Zone 2.

Now we know what all those pretty butterflies are.

Richardson hands free for probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday that Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson has a "totally free hand" to conduct the Watergate investigation.

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said this includes granting of immunity from prosecution to some people in the case if Richardson believed it was necessary to encourage testimony.

Ziegler's response came in answer to a question on whether a statement by President Nixon on April 17 — that any individuals holding "a position of major importance" in the administration should not be given immunity — might inhibit testimony from them.

Prosecutors frequently grant immunity from prosecution to suspects in order to get evidence on others.

"The whole question of immunity is a decision that must be made by the Justice Department," Ziegler said.

Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said the first round of hearings would be significant. There have been reports that the initial hearings will not deal specifically with Watergate — the burglary and bugging of Democratic headquarters.

Ervin told reporters in response to a question, "I have no information that President Nixon was personally involved in this (Watergate) matter."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he felt Nixon still needed to reassure the American people that a "truly independent" investigation would be made of the scope of the scandal.

Muskie, an early target of reported political espionage efforts by the presidential reelection organization when he was rated the leading contender for the Democratic nomination, said Nixon's "own ability to govern the country" is partly at stake in the situation.

Elliot L. Richardson, named last week by Nixon to take command of the government investigation of the scandal, said Monday that after he is confirmed as attorney general, he will name a special Watergate prosecutor, but made clear the appointee would be answerable to him.

"One of the problems," Muskie said "is the question of the extent to which the special prosecutor will be truly independent in making decisions on such matters as immunity (from prosecution) of witnesses."

At the same time, a defense for Nixon and a sharp rebuke of the press for "reckless" stories suggesting Nixon had a personal hand in Watergate cover-up efforts came from an unusual source — Democratic Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, a frequent Nixon critic.

"The press is rapidly developing a reckless momentum of reporting innuendo and rumor in this Watergate case against President Nixon," Proxmire said in a prepared Senate speech. He asked:

"Doesn't the President have the same simple right that every other American has to be innocent until proven guilty? ... Doesn't he deserve at least this measure of faith until proven a liar?"

The White House issued a fresh statement, authorized by the President on Monday saying Nixon had no advance knowledge of the burglary-bugging of Democratic headquarters here, or had any part in subsequent attempts to cover up the extent of the plot.

Bob Woodward, a Washington Post reporter given a large measure of credit for many disclosures that caused the Watergate case to become a national issue and an administration crisis, said in commenting on the Post's award of a Pulitzer prize for the Watergate investigation.

"We have to ask what the President knew and how much he knew, but we must be careful not to make speculations and work on facts alone."

A new Louis Harris public opinion poll published today showed that by a margin of 77 per cent to 13 per cent, those questioned did not "think President Nixon should resign."

Dwindling fuel supply plan set by President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration hopes to have an emergency plan to deal with the nation's dwindling fuel supplies worked out by the end of this week, it was learned today.

Under consideration are a "priority order system" to allocate fuel to various types of customers on the basis of need or perhaps the use of a longstanding contingency plan designed originally for national security purposes in the event foreign oil supplies were cut off.

The plans would be designed to cope with petroleum shortages in three broad areas — certain geographic regions, including the farm belt; independent refiners and marketers who are being cut off from gas supplies by the big firms; and hospitals and other government agencies which are providing "critical public services."

The administration sketched its alternatives at a meeting in the office of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew called at the insistence of 10 farm state senators who were worried about the impact of fuel shortages on farm operations.

Deputy Treasury Secretary William L. Simon, who led the meeting, he had been named the administration's chief oil policy representative, reportedly said he would make "definitive recommendations" soon and "I want to have this program in place at the end of this week."

Implementation of such a plan would come in the form of an executive order signed by President Nixon.

American Party airs protest

KIMBERLY — American Party officials announced Monday they had put together an overnight letter campaign several days ago protesting the "Genocide Treaty" pending before the U.S. Senate.

Mrs. Alice Jackson, Kimberly, Idaho's party secretary, said nearly 9,000 letters were prepared and mailed to senators protesting the ratification of the treaty, which she said could subject returning American soldiers from Vietnam to extradition and prosecution for actions they took while fighting in the Vietnam War.

Mrs. Jackson said those participating in the letter campaign were from Burley, Twin Falls, Kimberly, Albion, Bridge and Jerome.

If the treaty is ratified, Mrs. Jackson said, "any American citizen accused of such a vague and undefined crime as 'causing mental harm' to a member of a minority group could be taken from the United States for trial in a foreign country."

Good From Bad

The Watergate scandal, senseless and illegal from the outset, and the resultant spread of questions reaching to the very door of President Nixon, may yet bring some good to the American political system.

First, the mess must be cleaned up so that more important affairs of greater national significance can receive proper attention. It is the duty of the judicial system to discharge faithfully its task of clearing the innocent and punishing the guilty.

Accepting ultimate responsibility, Nixon pledged to the people that every effort will be made to bring out the truth, fully and impartially. He picked Elliot Richardson as his new Attorney General with complete authority to pursue Watergate's slimy trail wherever it leads.

Nixon turned to Richardson as "a man of unimpeachable integrity and rigorously high principles," who would be fair and fearless. He also gave Richardson authority to choose a special supervising prosecutor for Watergate and related affairs.

Only full disclosure of all the facts will satisfy the American people and the judicial system provides the only proper method.

Nixon took pains to assure the people there will be no whitewash of the White House.

Meantime, there are larger duties of the office of the President, with which Watergate should not interfere — the quest for peace, control of inflation, reduction of nuclear arms, providing jobs for those able to work and generous help for those who cannot.

It may be that Watergate will result in needed reforms of the political process and past partisan abuse. Nixon set this as a bipartisan goal.

Departure of John Erlichman and H. R. Haldeman could improve relations between the White House and the Congress, long critical of cavalier treatment at the hands of Nixon's trusted aides.

The national interest militates strongly against pre-trial speculation and accusations.

In the words of Henry Kissinger: "We have to ask ourselves whether we can afford an orgy of recrimination, or whether we should not keep in mind that the United States will be there for longer than any particular crisis and whether all of us do not have an obligation to remember that the faith in the country must be maintained, and that the promise in the country should be eternal."

Watergate must be kept in perspective, a sordid aberration on the part of men who should have known better.

The President of the United States, lonelier now than ever, has humbly opened his heart to people. Each citizen owes it to himself and his country to support his ideals and dreams of a better life for all.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's belated purge of top White House staffers who betrayed him in the Watergate hugging and cover-up was an "adequate" start, in the word of a long-time associate, but major power centers in his own party are not jumping with new-found joy.

Republican party — as contrasted to the buttoned-down Nixon apparatchiks now purged from the White House — feel that the President was pushed into action against his will. They fear he is still dealing with Watergate by a series of tactical expedients, not by the grand strategy of full disclosure they want.

ANDREW TULLY

Double Standard

WASHINGTON — Chafing with a liberal friend the other day, I expressed apprehension over published leaks from the grand jury room concerning the possible involvement of high Nixon administration officials in the Watergate bugging scandal.

Thus, the need for secrecy is absolute, because grand jury proceedings are exclusively a prosecution show. Only the prosecution's case is presented; the defendant in effect has no rights of defense.

Under such circumstances, everything possible should be done to protect the accused's reputation. The grand jury's system of secrecy says the evidence heard by the 23 jurors must not be published.

Given the long and ugly Watergate cover-up by Mr. Nixon's closest aides in the White House, it is understandable that such Republican establishmentarians as Sen. Barry Goldwater, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Senate minority leader, and many, many more are insisting that

Capital Outlays

Capital spending statistics are among the most closely watched economic barometers, for a number of good reasons.

Confidence on the part of the business community is most directly affected by its willingness to invest large sums of money in new plants and equipment. And capital spending, though inflationary in itself, also forms a cushion against inflationary pressures when factories begin to approach maximum production.

Spending for capital items in 1973 is overreaching most earlier forecasts. The total this year will be a new record.

Despite the increased capital spending, the economy may be heading into new inflationary problems in some sectors because demand exceeds output. Estimates are that factories are now operating above 90 percent of capacity. Remaining at this level of production historically has meant a new surge of inflation.

MR. SPECTATOR

Time Is Moving

July 13th isn't really as far off as it looks — and members of the Twin Falls High School Class of 1923 holding their 50th Reunion here on that date know that to be a fact.

But they are moving right along and we received word from those in charge that as of now (and thanks to Mr. Spectator, they said) all but 12 of the class members have been accounted for.

These "lost souls" still at large are Laverna Adams, Hilda Chase, Alfred L. Dean, Bernadette D. Follis, Heleh G. Jungst, Bernice Kelly, Thelma McCreary, Elizabeth Romes, Theodore Taylor, Archie Tucker, Victor Vilarde and Mildred Willson. If any of you "found souls" know the whereabouts of the missing dozen then write the Class of 1923 Reunion Secretary, P. O. Box 604 in Twin Falls or call Nona Yochim Verano or Emma Wagner, also both of Twin Falls.

Officials have said they believe everyone will have so much fun at the reunion starting on that date (July 13) and continuing through the next day (July 14) they have invited members of other classes in that time span to join them. So far they have received reservations from a few members of the classes of 1920, 1921, 1924 and 1925. If you're interested in this then write the Reunion Secretary in Twin Falls at the postoffice box listed.

Deadline for making reservations, we have been informed, is May 30 so if you want to go then get on the ball.

AID REQUESTED

Mr. Spectator received a letter the other day from Jim Comstock, a newsman on the West Virginia Hillbilly of Richmond, West Virginia 26261. As a newsman he is just about ready to retire but as a final, big project is getting together the producing of a 50-volume West Virginia Heritage Encyclopedia.

Names and addresses as well as a brief biography are requested. Chosen candidates for inclusion in the volume will be written to personally.

Panama Canal

WASHINGTON — The Panama Canal would become directly embroiled in the tensely explosive Middle East tinderbox — if the virulently anti-U. S. radical rulers of Panama have their way.

They are apparently seeking funds from oil-rich Libya to construct a sea-level canal — in direct competition with the waterway built and controlled by the U. S.

There have reportedly been discussions on that between Libyan strongman Col. Muammar Qaddafi, ferociously anti-Israel and hostile to the U. S., and Panamanian finance minister Jose Guillermo Aizpu, rabidly anti-U. S.

Libya, a major oil producer, had an income last year from this source of some $2 billion — expected to increase to at least $2.5 billion this year.

Although Libya has only a minuscule army and no navy or air force (despite the purchase of 70 French supersonic Mirage fighters), Qaddafi vocally is the most truculent of the Arab war mongers.

Also, the foreign ministers of the two countries are to exchange visits.

Panama Canal

Parliamentary foreign minister Tack and ambassador Boyd have been vigorously courting the Arab delegations at the United Nations — stressing their hostility to the U. S. and support of the Arabs' enmity to Israel.

Boyd is an avowed Marxist who makes no bones about advocating violence and terrorism to gain desired ends. In 1958, he led a riotous anti-U. S. demonstration in the Canal Zone which had to be suppressed by force.

Tack blocked efforts to work out a compromise resolution at the Security Council meeting in Panama.

According to the inside account, Aizpu proposed a $2 billion loan to Qaddafi to construct a sea-level canal which would be owned and operated jointly by Panama and Libya.

It's not difficult to decide which — so instead of going out of your mind with worry, just make an appointment with your doctor for a pelvic examination and Pap smear.

There are, you see, reasons for a normal woman having such bleeding after some months without any. Ovulation (egg production) ceases with menopause, but studies disclose that the ovaries can still produce a little estrogen (the ovarian hormone).

This ordinarily is about one-tenth of the amount that used to be produced. However, it is also known that the amount can vary, and if a sudden temporary surge occurs, the membrane of the uterus will respond with a flow of blood.

Likewise so-called "breakthrough bleeding" can occur if you are still taking a high-control pill, or hormone medication for menopausal symptoms. In such cases, an adjustment in the amount you take usually corrects things.

But since bleeding also can be a sign of cancer or other disease, the only wise thing to do, and the only way to stop worrying, is to have a checkup by your physician.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

All Worry

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm about going out of my mind with worry. I'm at menopause age and stopped menstruation for about six months. Then I started to menstruate again. Is that the way the change of life is? — M. J. S.

There are possibilities of nothing harmful in such resumption of menstrual bleeding; there are also occasions in which it can be a sign of something wrong.

It's not difficult to decide which — so instead of going out of your mind with worry, just make an appointment with your doctor for a pelvic examination and Pap smear.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you comment on the value of vitamin E for treating heart trouble? A well-meaning neighbor quotes nutritional books claiming that vitamin E can heal scar tissue and repair a damaged heart in time.

My doctor says that buying vitamin E is a waste of money and no one has ever offered proof that it is of value to the human system. — H. P.

I fairly well agree with your doctor except for one point. Vitamin E does have its uses — but it is so prevalent in so many foods that I simply never have heard of anyone lacking enough of it from his regular foods.

As to vitamin E supplements "healing scar tissue" and so on, no. It's a fad. And so many extravagant claims have been made for it that the whole thing has become preposterous.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a craving for seeds — apple seeds and sunflower seeds. What value are they, if any, other than protein? Are they fattening? — Mrs. J. C.

The husks, of course, are principally fiber. Of the digestible portion, sunflower seeds run 24 per cent protein, 47 per cent fat and 20 per cent carbohydrate, rich in minerals and having some vitamins A and B. Apple seeds run in similar proportions.

Fattening? Anything with that much protein, fat and carbohydrate is fattening if you eat enough of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please

write what "glycosuria" means. This is very important to me. Is there a booklet on this? — Mrs. F. C.

Glycosuria means too much sugar in the urine — and this most generally means diabetes. The booklet would be "Diabetes, The Sneaky Disease." Available for $5

Newsman sees control drive success

WALTER CRONKITE
... 'press to heel'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walter Cronkite believes the Nixon Administration "has tried to bring, and may have succeeded in bringing, the press to heel" in America.

In an extended and candid interview in the June issue of Playboy magazine, the CBS newsman accuses the Nixon administration of "an orchestrated, coordinated campaign" against the press.

Cronkite said he felt Spiro Agnew's 1969 speech in Des Moines, Iowa, in which the vice president attacked TV news commentators as "a tiny, enclosed fraternity of privilege men elected by no one and enjoying a monopoly, sanctioned and licensed by government," was a turning point in the administration's attitude toward the news media.

"I think that was the open declaration in the battle," Cronkite said. "Before that it was simply felt that this administration's antagonism had been about like the antagonism shown by previous administrations."

"The administration has tried to bring, and may have succeeded in bringing, the press to heel. It has tried to suggest in every possible way that the press has no privileges in the society, that, indeed, if anything, the press should be put under much closer scrutiny by society as a whole."

"And this, I think, is a dangerous philosophy. This campaign against press credibility, to divide the nation from the press, is continuing and is being stepped up, as a matter of fact."

Cronkite said that although he regretted using the term "conspiracy" in a speech a couple of

"I can't see how it's possible to have such an orchestrated, coordinated campaign without some prior plan and agreement — which really comes out to be a conspiracy," he said.

Cronkite termed the President's temperament "regrettable, particularly for a man in his position."

The Nixon administration attitude toward the press "will get back a little bit, I think, to the President's personality; to his remoteness. He has never been able to sit down with newsmen, put his feet up, get out the bourbon bottle and say, 'Come on, gang, let's have a drink; you guys sure laid it into me today,'" Cronkite said.

"That's the sort of thing that goes on all over Capitol Hill every afternoon. And I think that because President Nixon can't do that, his aloofness grew into coolness, into misunderstanding of the press, and then into antagonism toward the press and eventually into a campaign against it."

Cronkite pointed out Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz' remark in February after announcing that the cost-of-food index had risen in January: "Of course, the press is going to misinterpret this."

"That was quite a prejudgment, it seems to me," Cronkite said. "How do you misinterpret the fact the food prices have gone up by the greatest percentage in 20 or 25 years?"

"I would love to be able to shut up about all of this. I don't want to stand out here as a spokesman for the free press against the President of the United States and against his administration. That's not a comfortable thing to have to do."

"The attacks haven't come from our side, though. We're like the troops in the trench during a cease-fire that's being violated by the other side. You know, if we could just lay down our arms and say, 'Come on, the Constitution says we have free speech and a free press, and broadcasting ought to be a part of it; now let's just admit that and acknowledge that this is the way this country has always run, and let's run it that way.' Gosh, that would be great."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Monday the administration was financing the bombing of Cambodia illegally, and someone could go to jail.

Aspin said testimony by Defense Department officials showed that $195 million has been transferred from surplus to deficit accounts to support the bombing of Cambodia in contravention of a law prohibiting transfers without congressional authority.

Pentagon officials have testified the money has not been legally transferred but held in escrow pending congressional approval.

Refugees create fresh threat against Lebanon

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI-Foreign News Analyst

In July, 1958, U.S. forces landed in Lebanon to help put down an anti-government uprising supported by Syria and Egypt and stemming at least in part from the presence in Lebanon of Palestinian refugees.

In October, 1969, in the midst of a similar crisis, the U.S. State Department warned it would view "with greatest concern" any threat to the integrity of Lebanon.

In May, 1973, the Lebanese government once again finds itself threatened by elements from the outside, and again becomes the focal point in a crisis with potentially grave international complications.

In an action similar to King Hussein's ouster of Palestinian guerrillas from Jordan in 1970, democracy in a parliamentary sense the only working democracy in the Middle East. She prefers to remain the area's banker and center of tourism.

She has supported the Palestinian cause, but did little to fight Israel in 1948 and nothing in 1956 and 1967.

She also has sought to live by a curious double standard.

The 1949 armistice accord supposedly guaranteed peace on the Lebanese-Israeli frontier. In the 1967 war both sides respected it.

On the other hand, the formula by which she gained peace with the guerrillas in 1969 guaranteed the guerrillas a safe haven and gave them certain infiltration routes into Israel. The only conditions were that the guerrillas did not use Lebanese villages as bases, did not fire across the border and did not operate in the Mediterranean coastal zone.

The guerrillas prefer to operate from Lebanon because the mountains on either side of the border are ideal for guerrilla operations, most Israeli industry is located in the north and from Lebanon, the guerrillas can strike directly into Israel rather than Israeli-occupied territory.

Dole sees GOP convert 'contender'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, former Republican national chairman, says he considers Republican convert John B. Connally already a "strong contender" for the party's presidential nomination in 1976.

"He represents that broad middle-ground," Dole said, "and I see right now the vice president, Mr. Agnew, and John Connally as the front-runners, even though Connally has been a Republican only a few days."

Connally, former governor of Texas, secretary of the Navy and protégé of President Lyndon B. Johnson, joined Nixon's cabinet as treasury secretary in 1971. He headed "Democrats for Nixon" in 1972. He announced his switch of party affiliation to the GOP last week.

The small Lebanese army moved against the guerrillas who had made Lebanon their new base.

Tough Lebanese President Suleiman Franjeh declared Lebanon would not become the base for a guerrilla "occupation army" and he added:

"I don't believe that any other Arab country has given our Palestinian brothers what we have given them."

It was true that in Lebanon the guerrillas had enjoyed the most freedom and the best communications with areas outside the Arab world to be found anywhere in the Middle East.

Krogh's affidavit implicates Nixon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Nixon personally ordered the "greatest urgency" in investigating Daniel Ellsberg, and John Ehrlichman gave the investigators "authorization to engage in covert activity" that led to a burglary, according to a former White House aide's affidavit.

'BUD' KROGH

The statement by Egil "Bud" Krogh, described in other statements as one of the key figures in the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, was revealed Monday at the Pentagon Papers trial.

Krogh's affidavit gave no indication that the President knew about specific operations of the White House team investigating Ellsberg, such as the burglary. Krogh said Ehrlichman learned of the break-in only after it had occurred and commended the team, saying it "far exceeded the scope of any covert activity which had been approved in general in advance."

Krogh said the President was concerned over whether the Pentagon Papers leak was the act of an individual or "the result of a wider conspiracy to engage in espionage." There was evidence to show Ellsberg was not acting alone, and reports from the FBI that the Russian embassy in Washington received the papers before American newsmen, he said.

The affidavit said Krogh was personally instructed by President Nixon in the presence of John D. Ehrlichman that the continuing leaks of vital information were compromising the national security of the United States, and the President instructed the affiant (Krogh) to move ahead with the greatest urgency to determine the source of the leaks.

There was evidence to believe that Ellsberg's psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis Fielding of Beverly Hills, Calif., had information that "may hold the key," Krogh said.

"General authorization to engage in covert activities to obtain a psychological history or ascertain associates of Dr. Ellsberg was thereafter given the special unit by John D. Ehrlichman," Krogh's affidavit said.

The break-in, according to other affidavits made public in the trial, was directed by G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt Jr., former White House security specialists who were later convicted for the water-gate bugging.

Hostage freed

U. S. CONSUL General Terrence G. Leonhardy embraces his wife, Ellen, after he was freed late Monday by leftwing Mexican guerrillas who kidnaped him four days ago. He entered his home after acknowledging greetings by newsmen. (UPI)

Political hostage free after 'trade'

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — U.S. Consul General Terrence G. Leonhardy walked into his home late Monday in borrowed clothing and a three-day beard, freed by leftwing guerrillas who held him nearly 100 hours as a political hostage.

Diplomatic colleagues said he was weak and tired, but "okay."

The release of Leonhardy, the first U.S. diplomat abducted in Mexico in modern times, was expected late Sunday after 30 so-called "political prisoners" — most of them accused terrorists and bank robbers — were freed and flown to Havana in exchange for Leonhardy.

Leonhardy said in a statement that his ordeal again emphasized the need for all governments to cooperate in stamping out international terrorism.

He did not mention details of his kidnaping — carried out last Friday by four armed men who later described themselves as members of the leftwing People's Revolutionary Armed Forces.

He did express thanks to Mexican authorities who complied with demands by the guerrillas to free the 30 prisoners, among them four women. The kidnapers threatened to kill Leonhardy if the 30 were not freed and flown to Cuba.

Authorities bowed to the demands Sunday, then started a long wait to see if the kidnapers would free Leonhardy.

He appeared at 10:45 p.m., walking into his suburban home through a back-door past two newsmen who recognized him.

He was wearing a yellow shirt and pants and shoes — different clothing than he wore Friday when guerrillas stopped his car and forced him away at gunpoint. Leonhardy also was unshaven, but otherwise appeared in good shape.

Leonhardy later issued a statement saying: "I want to express my feeling about how happy I am free, free again, reunited with my family, friends and colleagues, both Americans and Mexicans."

Scenic flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An United Airliner Flight 642 from Cleveland descended toward Washington's National Airport Monday, passengers heard the voice of Second Officer Richard Martineau pointing out the White House, Washington Monument and the Capitol, then:

"Now those of you on the left side of the aircraft may see some odd-shaped buildings next to the Kennedy Center. Those are the famous or infamous Watergate apartments."

The passengers were still laughing as the plane touched down.

Lebanese jets hit strongholds

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese air force jets hit Palestinian guerrilla strongholds in the western outskirts of Beirut today, according to a statement issued today hours after the military assumed control of the city.

Premier Amin Hafez proclaimed a state of emergency Monday night after the army and guerrillas resumed fighting, breaking an uneasy four-day truce already marred by sporadic fighting.

Hafez made the announcement of the state of emergency during a cabinet meeting under President Sulaiman Franjeh, which had been considering a draft agreement for peace.

Two planes took part in the attack today, the army communique said, the first time planes were sent into action since a new round of clashes in the areas of the Palestinian refugee camps erupted at 10 p.m. Monday.

The scream of the jets flying over the capital woke up citizens around 7:15 p.m. The explosion of the rockets echoed through the city.

Witnesses in apartment buildings watched the planes make several runs over the area near Beirut's international airport, which was closed to international traffic Monday night.

The communique broadcast by Beirut radio said:

"Early today, two planes rocketed the positions of heavy weapons and armed concentrations on the outskirts of the Bourj-Barjeh (refugee) camp.

Denver fights floods

DENVER (UPI) — The South Platte River continues to pour over its banks north of Denver as metropolitan area residents, evacuated ahead of the worst flood in the area in eight years, return to their homes.

Denver officials flow over the city Monday and estimated damage would go into the millions of dollars.

Weld County Commissioner Glenn Billings said in Greeley Monday night that the swollen river was exceeding the levels it reached during the destructive 1965 flood. He said the county water commissioner estimated the water flow at 40,000 to 45,000 second feet at speed 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Billings said a dike on the east side of the river in Evans, Colo., south of Greeley, had given way and he expected the 700-foot bridge over the river would be washed out.

No deaths were reported as the "cross" of water flooded through the towns of Wootenburg, La Salle and Avans on its way northeastward to the Nebraska border.

Military men plan testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four military men convicted of fraud for running a billion dollar racketeering ring on Army posts planned to tell a Senate subcommittee today how they did it and about coverup actions by their superiors.

Their testimony involves a tangled web of kickbacks, theft, black-marketeering, influence peddling and other illegal activities in the operation of post exchanges and mess halls in Vietnam, Germany and the United States.

In several instances, military investigations intended to root out the corruption were curtailed or ignored by officers high up in the military chain of command, according to investigators.

Former Sgt. Maj. William O. Woodridge, Sgt. William Higdon and former Sgts. Seymour "Sandy" Lazar and Theodore "Sam" Biss, all convicted in the U.S. District Court in Los Angeles Feb. 28, were to appear before the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on

Union talks at impasse

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — No new meetings have been scheduled between the Sunshine Mine Company and the United Steelworkers Union to settle a two-month strike, according to a federal mediator.

Henry M. Nichols of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said Monday the talks were at an impasse. He said the last meeting between the company and the union in April had failed to bring about an agreement.

The union went on strike at Sunshine Mine on March 11, just as the mine was returning to full production following a major fire in May, 1972, in which 91 miners died.

Four hundred men were laid off by the strike. Sunshine is the nation's largest and richest silver mine.

Peru faces big economic crisis

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — The military government of Gen. Juan Velasco said Monday it is expropriating the country's entire fishing industry, once the biggest in the world, because of an economic crisis confronting it for two years.

The fishmeal industry alone produced one-third of the foreign currency income annually through 1972.

But since early 1972, the industry has been hard hit by bad weather conditions that severely hampered anchovy fishing.

Tantalean said the government's expropriation decision was evoked by the heavy debt the industry faces as well as the absence of anchovies.

Mazda Motors officials dispute engine reports

COMPTON, Calif. (UPI) — Officials at Mazda Motors dispute a report that their rotary engine develops more major problems than conventional engines. A survey research team headed by David Power said that one in five Mazda owners they contacted said that their cars went "boing-boing instead of hummin'" after 30,000 miles. Power, whose study focused on 500 cars bought in the United States before October, 1971, said the findings "signal a need for a longer look at the consumer acceptability of the Mazda powerplant under U.S. driving conditions." His firm said Sunday that after the same amount of mileage that five or ten per cent of conventional engines will show power plant problems, half the Mazda rate. C.R. Brown, general manager of Mazda Motors of America, said the frequency of problems in the new rotary engine is far lower than the Power survey shows. Brown said some 00,000

Mazdas have been bought since they were introduced to the United States in 1970, and that only 130 of the owners surveyed had more than 30,000 miles on their cars and 40 reported engine problems. Power's conclusion is "a pretty grandiose statement based on just 40 cars," the Mazda official said. The research team, J.D. Power and Associates, said the most frequent problem was failure of "O" rings, a type of seal which, among other things, prevents water from escaping the Mazda cooling system. Failure of the "O" rings can result in severe engine overheating, warping and burn-outs. They cost $250 to replace. Mazda's Brown, who said rotary car owners are a "pretty hung-ho" lot who like to experiment with their car, suggested that a lot of rotary problems stem from that experimenting. Brown said about 1,000 of the 90,000 rotary engine owners have reported some kind of engine problems. He said, though, the Japanese-built auto switched to stronger "O" rings a year ago. He denied it was based on a chronic failure of the old one "It's like upgrading a seat belt," he said.

Mail fraud statute questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether illegal use of someone else's credit card constitutes a violation of the mail fraud statute. The Louisville, Ky., case will be heard next fall or winter and decided by written opinion. The Justice Department appealed after the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Oct. 4, 1972, reversed the mail fraud conviction of Thomas G. Mace in connection with his use of a BankAmericard. Evidence showed that Mace had lived in the Louisville apartment of Charles L. Meredith early in 1971 and left with Meredith's BankAmericard and his automobile. He used the card to obtain food and lodging at inns in California, Florida and Louisiana. The card was issued by Citizens Fidelity Bank & Trust Co. of Louisville. A bank official testified that the bank eventually received all the sales receipts through the mail. The mail fraud statute makes it an offense to use the postal service "for the purpose of executing" a fraudulent scheme.

Washington Post wins '73 Pulitzer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Washington Post won the 1973 Pulitzer Prize for public service Monday for its investigation of the Watergate scandal.

It was one of 11 prizes awarded in journalism, eight in letters and one in music. There was no prize this year for editorial cartoons.

Among the other winners was a second Pulitzer for the Post, to political reporter and columnist David S. Broder in the category of commentary. Max Frankel, Sunday editor of The New York Times, won the Pulitzer for international reporting for his coverage of President Nixon's trip to China.

Howard Simons, managing editor of The Post, said the prizes brought "singular honor to this newspaper and especially to its young and hard-digging reporters, Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein." The Pulitzer award mentioned the "dominant role" Woodward and Bernstein played in keeping the story in the news by uncovering new developments.

Woodward told UPI the press must dig even deeper in the Watergate scandal. "We have to ask what the President knew and how much he knew but we must be careful not to make speculations and to work on facts alone," he said.

Bernstein said official denials of the Post reports bolstered morale of the team working on the case. "The kind of denials we got were affirmation to us." But he said the denials also had an intimidating effect. One false step and your credibility was destroyed.

The drama prize went to Jason Miller for "That Championship Season," a play once rejected for production on Broadway. But a persistent Miller took the play to Joseph Papp, who produced it.

William Andrew Swanberg, who was recommended by the prize committee in 1962 for his biography of publisher William Randolph Hearst only to have it turned down by the trustees of Columbia University who have the final say, was awarded the prize in biography for "Lace and His Empire," a work about Henry T. Luce, the founder of Time, Inc.

Robert Lloyd and Clark Hoyt of The Knight Newspapers won a prize for national reporting for their disclosure that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, had a history of psychiatric treatment. The disclosure led to Eagleton's departure from the Democratic ticket.

Other awards announced Monday:

The Chicago Tribune for distinguished general or spot news reporting within a newspaper's local area of circulation, for uncovering flagrant violations of voting procedures in the primary election of March 21, 1972.

The Sun Newspapers of Omaha for distinguished investigative or other specialized reporting within a newspaper's local area for uncovering the large financial resources of Boys Town, Neb. The stories led to reforms in the organization's solicitation and use of funds contributed by the public.

Roger H. Linscott of the Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, Mass., for distinguished editorial writing, for the body of his editorial writing in 1972.

Huynh Cong Ut of the Associated Press for spot news photography for his photograph "The Terror of War" depicting children in flight from a napalm attack.

Brian Lanker of the Toledo Capital Journal for feature photography for his feature on childbirth as exemplified by the photograph "Moment of Life."

Ronald Powers of the Chicago Sun-Times for distinguished criticism for his critical writing about television during 1972.

Eudora Welty, in the fiction category, for her novel "The Optimist's Daughter."

Michael Kammen, 35, a professor at Cornell University, in the history category, for his work "People of Paradox: An Inquiry Concerning the Origins of American Civilization."

A special citation was awarded to James Thomas Flexner for his four-volume biography, "George Washington." He is a former reporter with the New York Herald Tribune.

Two co-equal prizes for general nonfiction were awarded to Frances FitzGerald for "Fire in the Lake: The Vietnamese and the Americans in Vietnam" and to Dr. Robert Coles for "Children of Crisis," volumes two and three.

Maxine Winokur Kumin, 53, was awarded the prize for poetry for her fourth collection of poems entitled, "Up Country."

Elliott Carter in music for "String Quartet No. 3." Carter also won a Pulitzer in 1960 for his "Second String Quartet."

Heavy rains, slides hit Japanese island

TOKYO (UPI)—At least five persons died and hundreds of persons were driven from their homes today by torrential rains and landslides on Japan's southern island of Kyushu.

At least five other persons were reported missing, police said.

The weather station in Nagasaki said 8.3 inches of rain fell between midnight and 9 a.m. with 2.65 inches of it coming in one hour.

Fire department trucks toured the city before dawn, warning residents of hilly areas to leave their homes because of the danger of landslides.

Meany may leave Nixon's council

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany has been increasingly impatient with President Nixon's economic and other domestic policies, and the AFL-CIO executive council's spring meeting, opening today, should show how far this impatience goes.

At the extreme, the 35-member council could decide to pull Meany and the other three AFL-CIO members off the administration's Phase III Labor-Management Advisory Committee, just as they withdrew in protest from the Phase II Pay Board, and withdraw the union's support of and cooperation with Phase III.

That would amount to something of a declaration of war on the White House. It would signal a "sky is the limit" approach by labor in contract bargaining this year and imperil the entire Phase III program.

Meany already has said union negotiators should heed Nixon's advice to Americans to "help themselves" by helping themselves to big wage increases in upcoming bargaining despite the administration's 5.5 per cent wage guideline.

Gas gives you a BETTER DEAL

ENJOY A COOL SUMMER FROM THE PEOPLE WHO BROUGHT YOU A WARM WINTER

There are fewer moving parts with a gas air-conditioning system. No compressor. No refrigeration gas. Longer life. Lower maintenance costs. Lower operating costs. And a gas flame never wears out.

The use of gas for air conditioning helps balance Idaho's energy requirements since the supply of natural gas is more plentiful than other energy sources during the summer months.

LEASE Gas Air Conditioning For Home or Business 5-YEAR LEASE Installation is included in the lease. Low monthly payments. The equipment will be maintained by Intermountain Gas during the lease period. Equipment may be purchased at any time during or at the end of lease.

In Idaho we have gas to burn . . . but we want to burn it wisely. Gas water heating is a wise use of energy.

Supreme Court denies felons vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today in a North Carolina case that a state may deny the vote to convicted felons. The court in a brief order affirmed a decision in this effect on Dec. 12, 1972, by a special three-judge federal panel in Rockingham. Lower courts have disagreed on the issue, but in referal states have been free to prevent felons from voting. In North Carolina, they cannot vote unless their rights are specifically restored. The case acted on today was appealed by Fred W. Fincher, 31, of Wadesboro, who was convicted of forging a check in September, 1966. After completing his jail sentence on March 27, 1970, he served misdemeanor sentences in Scotland County and is now out of jail. Fincher did not apply for restoration of his voting right but sued on the ground that denial was "cruel and unusual punishment" in violation of the Constitution and deprived him of "equal protection of the laws." In another suffrage case, the court agreed to examine a New York state law which denies

Land board revises rules

BOISE (UPI) — A revised version of proposed emergency regulations for navigational aids on Idaho lakes will apparently continue the existing controversy. At its last meeting April 13, the State Land Board agreed to take full control over encroachment of the state's navigable lakes, but sent proposed emergency rules back to the drawing board for revision. Principal objections to the proposed emergency regulations were to the use and definition of "mean high water mark." An attorney for a Lake Coeur d'Alene property owners association contended it threatened existing property rights of lake-front owners. In the revised version of the SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnam plans to invite relatives of some of the Americans who died in prison camps or plane crashes there to visit the servicemen's graves, a spokesman from Hanoi said Monday. The spokesman, Maj. He said the team will go to Hanoi "in the next few days" to

Voyagers on raft drift on Atlantic

LAS PALMAS, Spain (UPI) — Thirteen human guinea pigs exposed their last hours of privacy today before setting out on a three-month voyage that will make all of their actions and words public. The volunteers will leave Tuesday aboard a large raft to drift across the Atlantic in an experiment devised by Mexican anthropologist Santiago Genoves. "The space around us will be so vast, and our own craft so small that no one will be able to see or do anything without the rest being able to see or hear," said Genoves. If all goes well, he said Sunday, they will land at Yucatan, Mexico. "We are still busy preparing food, getting the equipment ready and loading the raft," Genoves said. "We hope to get away Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest." Genoves' purpose in putting together in isolation six men and seven women of different races and backgrounds, he said, is to test their capacity to co-exist and their reaction under stress. He said he hopes the experiment will reveal some of the reasons for conflicts in the world. Included in the crew are black and white Americans and a Jew and an Arab. "They cannot take even a book or a newspaper with them. Anything like a book, which could allow someone a form of escape, is out," said Genoves, who twice took part in explorer Thor Heyerdahl's Ra I and Ra II raft Atlantic crossings.

are rampant in the world and, according to the Bible, retribution comes as a consequence. The world is suffering a great "time of trouble." There is much cause for great rejoicing, however, because this dark cloud of trouble has a silver lining. God's now invisible and visible supernatural government will soon be established on earth, and will make it a new worldwide paradise. Crime and corruption will be abolished, and all men of good will can then have everlasting safety, peace, joy and life. For details, write: The Bible Standard, Chester Springs, Pa. 19425. Newsmen keep civil sources

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court left undisturbed today a lower court's refusal to extend to civil cases the rule requiring newsmen to disclose confidential sources to a grand jury investigating crime.

The court acted in a brief order on a Chicago civil rights case raising the issue.

The lawsuit was brought in Chicago federal court by a group of Negroes alleging racial discrimination in housing by 60 defendants between 1952 and 1969. The defendants were charged with selling houses to Negroes at an excessive price through "blockbusting" — that is, "fostering panic flight" by whites, buying their homes at depressed prices and reselling to blacks at inflated prices.

Another diamond throws you in but you lay down your king of hearts and continue with the seven to your partner's eight. Back comes a spade and your king is the sitting trick. Kelsey's comment is, "This one may seem too easy but in a Gold Cup match one West thought he could afford to discard the king of hearts." Of course, this happened in England but there are plenty of fine bridge players there. This time one went wrong. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Here is another H. W. Kelsey hand. This time you are West and open the three of hearts against South's three no-trump. This produces the nine, 10 and queen and a low diamond is led back. You play low and dummy's queen drops your partner's jack. A club lead knocks out your ace and you play a heart to take care of dummy's ace. Three rounds of clubs follow and you have to make a discard. Obviously you aren't going to unguard your king of spades. Or are you? South prospective buyers is that hippies must live there. This is far from the truth as they are wonderful people and good friends and neighbors in every other respect.

Humiliation necessary if condition persists

I would gladly hire my gardener to clean up their yard—but, of course, I don't want to humiliate them—so we remain unsold and we may have to reduce our price to the level where other careless people can afford it. In that case we would be doing a disservice to our other good neighbors as well as hurting our own financial position.

So, Abby, be a good girl and pass on a hint that no doubt would be appreciated by property sellers all over the U. S. A.

DEAR STYMIED: You must be kidding! Why don't you tell these "wonderful people," whom you call your "good friends," to clean up their yard not only for themselves but for you? And if you would "gladly" hire your gardener to clean up their yard but fear "humiliating" them, go ahead and hire him. Those neighbors need to be humiliated.

DEAR ABBY: After 18 months, I'm still hopelessly in love with my ex-wife. Are there statistics available regarding the incidence of second marriages to the same partner? Do they work better than the first-timers?

Not knowing where she and our two children are complicates matters. Reading this may move her to contact me if she has experienced the same doubts and loneliness that I have felt since the day we parted. HEARTBROKEN IN DINUBA, CAL.

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Forget the statistics and get down to cases. If she's keeping her whereabouts a secret from you, that's probably the way she wants it. In which case I suggest you forget it. If that's not the case, ask her lawyer to get in touch with her and try to negotiate a reconciliation.

DEAR ABBY: I have a tender face and my husband has a rough beard. It was no problem getting him to shave before going to bed. On our honeymoon I said: "Old men shave in the morning, and young men shave at night." We've been married for 27 years, and he still shaves at night.

Burley council accepts building site proposal

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

BURLEY — A letter from the county commission and local opinion spurred a council decision to accept the original site proposal for the new law enforcement building.

The Burley City Council agreed Monday night to convey city ground between the present city hall and county buildings to the county for construction of a new law enforcement center.

The county commission sent a letter to the Council early last week refusing to accept any site but that originally proposed. The letter followed a joint public meeting in which members of the council raised questions about the viability of that site.

Public opinion at that meeting was divided and heated.

The county favored the site as more efficient, practical and assure for their operations. Burley police chief, Ken Barry said the alternate site, at the corner of 14th Street and Albion Avenue, was perfectly workable and would be suitable to his department's needs.

A public opinion poll conducted last week by the South Idaho

Press gave 82 votes for the original site, 52 for the alternate site and two for still other locations. Although the poll was not conclusive, council members said that in talking with local residents, preference for the original site was high.

By accepting the original site, councilman Cloyd Taylor said "we're not jeopardizing our future that much." The law enforcement building will be adequate for 16 years and by then it may be necessary to tear down the court house and build a new one, he said.

Although he didn't want the building there, councilman Jim Roper said "if that is the only way we can get together with the county we will have to do it."

Maintenance costs for retaining separate facilities for the city and county would become prohibitive in the future, Roper said, and the building is needed at this time.

City attorney William Parsons said it was unfortunate that the site had become a personal issue when the council had merely been carrying out required public hearings and acting upon them in a professional manner.

With the formal agreement between county and city now, the actual architectural work of drawing up plans can begin. The city retains the right to approve or reject these final plans.

As it now stands, the center will be built back even with the rear of the court house, requiring conversion of present diagonal parking spaces to parallel. This location will pull the front of the building back nearly in line with the front of the present courthouse.

The council accepted a bid of $3,510 for a 1973 electrical service panel van from Frank Motor Co. Burley Action was delayed on bids for a new garbage truck pending recommendations from the head of the sanitation department and the shop superintendent.

Police Chief Barry asked for confirmation of nine promotions and two appointments to the police department, along with corresponding raises in salary. The council accepted Barry's proposals.

Lt. Ralph Marah will be promoted to captain as assistant chief of police, detective sergeant Rex Madden, will be promoted to lieutenant and corporal Kenneth Harkness will be promoted to patrol sergeant.

In addition three first class patrolmen will be promoted to corporal and three third class patrolmen will be promoted to second class patrolmen. Two new officers will be officially added to the force.

Base salary is set at $528 per month with the new assistant police chief receiving $655 per month.

Recommendations by the Burley Safety Committee that 13th and 14th streets be made one way or changed to parallel parking were referred to the City Planning Commission.

Additional recommendations for creating turn bays on East Main Street will be referred to the state.

An allocation of up to $10,000 was tentatively agreed upon for Rod-Cleaning-Machines-Inc., Los Angeles, for checking and sealing city sewers. Mayor Garis Robertson will inspect a similar project using special television cameras which is being conducted by the same company in Rupert before making a final decision.

Wendell sets budget hike

WENDELL — Wendell school board members approved the 1973-74 budget of $587,720 Monday night.

Six persons attended the public hearing, but no objections were voiced on the budget which is 15 per cent increase over last year's budget of $508,517.

Most of the increase in expenditures will go for salary increases, higher bus contracts and insurance costs. Teachers received a 10-15 per cent hike in their pay scale.

Supt. Lawrence LaRue said the district will receive $53,000 increase in state funds for next year plus $10,000 extra in special education funds, and the 2.15 mill levy approved by voters last week for kindergarten will bring in an estimated $10,000. In addition there was about $22,000 excess in general funds which contributed to the budgeted income.

LaRue said the district has been able to provide the salary hike, and finance kindergarten classes next year despite a reduction of 5.85 mills in local taxes.

This included the five mill override which was eliminated this year, as well as the three mill cut, from 30 to 27 mills, made by the legislature for the entire state. This totals eight mills, and minus the 2.15 for the kindergarten, leaves a 5.85 reduction, LaRue said.

In addition there has been reduction in the bond redemption levy this year.

HENRY WOODALL, a Twin Falls business man, is sworn in as a Twin Falls City Council member by Edythe Kuntz, city clerk, during a council meeting Monday night. Woodall replaces Tom Nelson, who has moved out of the city limits.

Rupert flood controlled

RUPERT — Flooding is under control today in the irrigation district northwest of Rupert following heavy rains over the weekend.

Minidoka irrigation district officials say the flooding is controlled, although heavy rains could renew earlier conditions.

Following the rains Saturday night, Cap Hawley Lake two miles north and one mile west of the Minidoka County Hospital flooded onto nearby fields. Irrigation district employees constructed drainways and used pumps to bring the floods under control late Monday night.

Federal Aviation Agency officials said today a chance of thunderstorms this afternoon could bring more heavy rains. More than 1.15 inches of rainfall was recorded during a Saturday thunderstorm in the Rupert-Burley area.

Irrigation district spokesmen said today that crop damage from the floods is expected to be fields planted in potatoes, grain and hay.

About 80 acres of farm land were under water for a short period. Farms belonging to Ross Newcomb and Don Kester Jr. were hardest hit.

Newcomb had a field of grain just beginning to sprout that was flooded. Kester had an alfalfa field and an unplanted field flooded by the overflow.

TF building plats okayed

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — With the spring come the flowers — and construction in Twin Falls.

Four subdivision plats were approved by the City Council here Monday night. Eager land developers wanted to get an early start in this year's construction season.

Plans for the Westgate Subdivision in the northwest part of the city were submitted by R. G. and Deann Messersmith and James and Patty Natvig. The area is near the intersection of Fella Avenue West and Sparks Street.

The Natvigs also joined with Maurice Clifton in plans for the North by Northeast Subdivision, near the intersection of Eastland Drive North and Stadium Boulevard.

The Wycoff Company received approval of plans for the Wycoff Industrial Subdivision, between Fourth Avenue East and Kimberly Road and immediately west of Eastland Drive.

The City Council also passed judgment on a subdivision outside the city limits.

Council approval was required because the development was within one mile of the city. The Donna Leigh Subdivision, located one-half mile east of Eastland Drive and adjacent to Falls Avenue, is planned by several families; Duane and Dorina Hanson, Francis and Ruth Fox, John and Paulette Erickson, Jack and Carolyn Holland and Roger and La Rae Bolton.

Tom Nelson, a four year member of the City Council, resigned Monday night to be replaced by Henry Woodall, a Twin Falls businessman. Nelson resigned to move outside the city limits. Nelson bequeathed a box full of past city audits and the city code to Woodall, "to be used in good health."

Woodall was appointed by Mayor John Christoffersen as council liaison to the fire and parks and recreation departments.

The council heard a lengthy request by Lloyd Walker, representing Arley and Bob White, for city utilities for the Whites' mobile home court on Eastland Drive.

Although the court is outside city limits, Walker said it meets every current county and city zoning law and every proposed city and county zoning law.

He said the council could not, with justification, turn down the request since every lawful utility request thus far had been granted, including one by Walker for an area immediately north of the mobile court.

The council postponed action on the request.

Mayor Christoffersen said the councilman had not seen the proposed city-utility zoning ordinance and could not act until its formal presentation.

Councilman Winston Jones said, "Nothing has changed since we met with Mr. White a month ago." The council had delayed its decision then, until joint zoning was established.

In other action, the councilmen:

- Passed a resolution accepting a $70,457 federal grant for purchase of fire and rescue vehicles at the city-county airport. City manager Jean Millar said the grant would cover 55.75 per cent of the costs.
- Authorized a call for bids for purchase of two pick-up trucks, one for the fire department and one for the airport department. Bids will be opened June 8.

Mexicana float wins

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Comunidad Voluntaria Mexicana float was awarded the Music Club trophy for best of show.

The trophy was not for best music as earlier reported in the Times-News.

The group was also awarded a trophy for first in organization. The Times-News regrets the error.

DECS board sets Twin Falls meet

TWIN FALLS — Abortions and new federal welfare regulations will be on the agenda when the Idaho board of the Department of Environmental and Community Services holds a two-day meeting in Twin Falls this week.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the Holiday Inn. It will be the first since creation of the department by legislation a month ago.

John Van Orman, Jerome, chairman of the board, said the group would act on proposed regulations altering the methods of distributing grants to municipalities for sewage treatment facilities.

Also to be discussed are proposed policies on abortions statewide, recommendations for skilled nursing homes and intermediate care facilities and the federal welfare regulations.

Board members will also select a replacement for former secretary Margot Tregoning, who resigned her position to assume the job as deputy regional coordinator for northern Idaho within the new department.

Her position on the board has been taken by Robert Doolittle, Priest River, who will be attending his first meeting.

All board sessions are open to the public.

Rail car burns

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone city volunteer fire department was alerted at 1 p.m. Monday to extinguish a fire on a westbound Union Pacific car as it arrived in town.

There were six bundles of lumber destroyed. Cause of the fire is unknown and damage cost was not yet determined, Railroad officials said Monday evening.

The fire department reported the fire under control by about 1:30 p.m.

Burriss appointed

BOISE (UPI) — James D. Burriss has been officially appointed as the Idaho Budget Director.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus announced last month that Burriss would replace D.E. Chillberg as the director, but official confirmation was needed from the Treasury Department, which "loaned" Burriss to Idaho under the Federal Executive Loan Program.

At the same time, Andrus noted he had appointed Mrs. Edward Hillis, Rupert, to replace the late Wayne Hollenbeck as a Minidoka County Commissioner.

Burglary probed

Officers reported the breakin occurred between 5 p.m. Friday and Sunday morning when it was discovered. The ski lodge was broken into through a rear door and a lift building was entered by tearing off a lock.

Missing were tools from the lift building, two pair of ski boots, an antique clock, a mirror, two cases of pop and a small amount of candy and gum.

TF woman injured

TWIN FALLS — Two vehicles were damaged and one woman injured in a two-car crash Monday at the intersection of Blue Lakes Boulevard and Filer Avenue.

Vivetta Hunter Millor, 56, Twin Falls, was traveling south on the boulevard when her car collided with one driven by Mark D. Rasmussen, 24, Hogerman. The Rasmussen vehicle was turning left from Blue Lakes Boulevard onto Filer Avenue when the accident occurred.

Alice Murray, 78, a passenger in the Millor vehicle suffered head and back injuries. Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Millor vehicle and about $200 to the Rasmussen vehicle.

Mrs. Murray was hospitalized at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and listed in fair condition today.

Contract awarded

GOODING — Gooding city councilmen awarded contracts Monday night to repair the city swimming pool and purchase a pickup truck.

The contract for the pool repair was awarded to Clark and Becker, Gooding, for $1,447, and the pickup truck for the street department's use will be purchased from Rice Motor Co. for $2,885, the low bid.

City Clerk George Silva said the council also approved eight building permits, for a total of $44,022.

'Painted ladies' seen in Jerome

For the past year, Mrs. Rowlands' classroom has been a temporary home for the black and orange beauties that are allowed to fly freely around the room after they come out of their cocoons. After a few days, they are tagged and liberated in the school yard.

Students' interest peaked when news was received of the large migration of the painted lady.

"I heard about them on a television show from Salt Lake City," Mrs. Rowlands said. "They said they were migrating from New Mexico into Arizona and were in Utah more than a week ago."

"On the broadcast, they said the painted lady had been tagged in the United States and found later in Hawaii," she added.

She recalled when her students were given that piece of information one budding entomologist observed, "they must've hitchhiked across the ocean."

Dr. Charles Baker, an associate professor of biology at Boise State College, told UPI if environmental factors are favorable during certain years — lots of precipitation and food plants — The painted lady breaks out in great numbers especially in the southwestern U.S. and moves north.

Why north? "You tell me," Baker said. "They just fly against a prevailing wind. In the spring of the year there are more winds in the western United States out of the north than south."

Baker said he had counted up to 100 of the butterflies go by per minute moving east to west in southeastern Oregon.

It seems the insect's migratory habits are clashing with human means of travel in Southern Idaho. Unsuspecting motorists traveling on highways are hitting the flyers as they move westward against the wind.

Mrs. Rowlands, a teacher for more than 20 years, said when she and her husband returned from a recent trip to Burley, "Our car radiator was covered with them. They all must be flying the same place."

Hailey sets 2 land proposal meets

HAILEY — Two major proposed land developments will be topics of two separate meetings tonight in Hailey.

At 7 p.m. at the Hailey City Hall, the Hoyle Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct a public hearing on the McCulloch-Proprietor, Inc. petition for annexation of a 650 acre proposed development site into Hailey.

According to commission chairman Grant Patterson, the commission will use findings from the hearing to make a recommendation to the city council, who will then conduct a public hearing May 15. Findings from that hearing and the commission's proposal will be taken into consideration in the council's decision.

Proposed for the McCulloch site southeast of Hailey are about 243 acres for single family homes, 80.8 acres for condominiums and 55 acres for low rise apartments and duplexes.

Also planned is an about $800,000 year round tennis club and recreation center.

At 8 p.m. at the Blaine County Courthouse, the county Planning and Zoning Commission will continue a meeting conducted last week on the proposed Indian Creek planned unit development.

The proposed development comprises about 2,500 acres and is located about 1.5 miles northeast of Hailey.

Sought by the developers is tacit approval for the planned unit development and initial approval for 150 single family units.

Project developer John Koppes, Ketchum, said last week the plan would include about 1000 units for multiple family dwellings and up to 250 single family units.

Also planned is a "prairie barn type community center," a cooperative store, and a cooperative ranching venture.

Among other meetings in Blaine are three scheduled tonight and Wednesday by the Blaine County Program and Facilities Study.

Tonight, a "concerned conference" will begin at 8 p.m. at the Wood River Junior High School, Hailey.

According to study coordinator Walter Hoos, the conference is in addition to an earlier series of conferences to provide added opportunity for interested residents to participate and to provide information for the study.

The meeting will include an orientation to the goals and methods of the Idaho Needs Assessment Program and formal working sessions for small groups. The groups will identify and give priority to projected learner needs which they consider important, Hoess said.

Wednesday, two meetings have been scheduled with a team from the University of Idaho College of Education, including Dean Evvrott Samuelson, Dr. Terry Armstrong and Dr. Tom Bell.

A meeting with faculty and principals will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Bellevue Elementary School. At 7:30 p.m. on open meeting of the study's instructional program group will be at Wood River High School.

Hoess said the public is invited to attend either or both meetings.

Thursday morning, individual meetings may be arranged with the team through the Blaine County School Administration Office, Hailey.

Butz reports American farms' year 'banner'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz reported Sunday that American farmers had a banner year in 1972. In his annual report, Butz said U.S. agriculture had record net income of more than $19.2 billion last year with farm exports totaling $8 billion. He predicted a $10 billion export total this year, an increase of 25 per cent. "The level of farm prices reached an all-time high for many farm products," he said in his 106-page report. He said gross farm income, net income, income per farm, and income per resident of a farm all reached record highs. At the end of 1972, farm prices were 23 per cent above the average in 1968. Butz said that domestic demand was up "moderately," but foreign sales "dominated the economic picture," rising dramatically. He noted that the Soviet Union bought more than $1 billion of American grain and seems ready to buy perhaps half that in the coming year. "This is truly the international age of agriculture," he said.

Butz said the increase in farm income last year cut in half the annual rate of farm abandonment — 50,000 farms in 1972, compared with the recent average of 100,000.

Chavez scores US aid

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Cesar Chavez says the Nixon administration has allied with the Teamsters Union and California grape growers to wipe out his United Farm Workers Union. Chavez, speaking at a weekend rally, said Teamster president Frank Fitzsimmons spoke to the American Farm Bureau convention at President Nixon's request and arranged to pressure the UPWU. "It was there," Chavez said, "that Fitzsimmons and the growers made their deal to bring farm-workers into the Teamsters and try to destroy our union." Fitzsimmons replied that he was satisfied his union represented the majority of Conchella Valley field workers.

Pay rule told

SEATTLE (UPI) — Retail and service industries and farm employers were reminded this weekend that if they want to employ full-time students at less than the federal minimum wage this summer, the Fair Labor Standards Act requires application approval in each case. Officials of the Labor Department said the law allows the Secretary of Labor to grant certificates to individual establishments in the two industries and in agriculture, authorizing them to pay full-time students 85 per cent of the applicable minimum wage.

New sugar pact talks commence

GENEVA (UPI) — Negotiations began Monday on a new international agreement to govern an annual trade in sugar worth $1.5 billion. The present five-year international sugar agreement expires Dec. 31. The agreement covers half the total world trade of $3 billion, making sugar the second most important commodity for developing countries' exports. The other half is regulated by special preferential arrangements, particularly by the United States and the six original members of the Common Market who do not belong to the international agreement. There are 33 exporting countries and 20 importing countries belonging to the present agreement. Negotiations will last through May, with a second conference scheduled for September and October, under the auspices of the United Nations Trade and Development Organization. Sugar prices have soared recently because of a steady decline in Cuban output and a series of poor seasons in the Soviet Union.

The first commercial canning of shrimp in the United States was in 1867 at Grand Terre Island, La.

Reservoir matches '72 level

SHOSHONE — On May 1, Magic Reservoir was as full as it was a year ago. It has been full for about a week. Water was in the canal for North Shoshone almost a week prior to that. Water was turned into the canal for Richfield April 30, depending on weather of course, there should be free water for a week or so. This is purely an estimate and not to be construed as what will happen, according to Leon Grieve, manager of the Big Wood Canal Co. As of April 30, American Falls was full to the restricted elevation. It contained 1.27 million acre feet of water. At a joint meeting of the Big Wood Canal Company and the American Falls Reservoir District No. 2 boards of directors a comparison of this year was made with former low water years of 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1966. In 1961, the lowest water year since most of us can remember, a total of 355,270 acre feet was used from American Falls Reservoir. This year there is the prospect of starting on storage probably within a week with a total of 265,000, or 90,000 acre feet short of our shortest year.

The boards agreed they should buy 135,000 acre feet of extra water if it is available from spaceholders who might have water to sell. Since there is a shortage, the boards agreed to start on 100 per cent delivery through May then decide at the next meeting whether the delivery rate should be changed. Grieve said.

Baltimore tops Athletics 8-2

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Boog Powell clinaxed a three-run second inning with a two-run single to back Doyle Alexander's five-hit pitching as the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Oakland A's 8-2 Monday night.

Baltimore chased losing pitcher Rolfe Fingers in the second and tagged relievers Paul Lindblad and Horacio Pina for four more runs as Alexander won his third game against no defeats.

Deron Johnson, Oakland's designated hitter, spoiled Alexander's shutout bid with a solo homer in the sixth inning. The A's added a run in the ninth. Earl Williams singled across Bobby Grich in the Oriole first inning after Grich was struck by a Fingers' pitch and stole second base.

The Orioles loaded the bases in the second inning on singles by designated hitter Terry Crowley, shortstop Mark Belanger and Al Bumbry reaching on an error by Fingers. After Rich Coggins forced Crowley at home plate, Grich coaxed a walk to score Belanger and Powell, batting only 193, singled to center to score Bumbry and Coggins as he greeted Lindblad.

Don Baylor singled in the third inning, went to second when shortstop Ted Kubiak tagged him out but dropped the ball on a steal attempt. Brooks Robinson walked out Crowley singled to score Baylor and send Robinson to third base. Belanger's sacrifice fly scored Robinson.

Derby winner arrives at site of Preakness

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Secretariat, winner of the Kentucky Derby with a record smothering performance, and Sham, runnerup with a time that also belated the old mark, arrived at Pimlico race course Monday to keep their engagements in the 98th running of the $150,000-added Preakness on Saturday, May 19.

The order of their arrival was in reverse from the way they finished the Derby, Sham owned by Sigmund Sommer, checked in shortly before 1 p.m. and an hour later Secretariat was unloaded from his van along with Edwin Whittaker's Angle Light, who was 10th in the Derby. Each was in the air about 1 1/2 hours.

The one-two finishers in the Derby have quarters at opposite ends of Pimlico's stables. Secretariat bedded down in stall No. 42 and Sham in 32. Anete Light, stablemate of Secretariat, was placed in a stall two doors away from his more illustrious stablemate.

Secretariat's party was small alongside that of Sham's entourage. Eddie Sweat, who has been in charge of the leading horses trained by Lucien Laurin, was in charge of the Derby winner. Also in his party was exercise boy George Davis and a groom for Angle Light.

Designated hitter outshines hurlers

BOSTON (UPI) — Even the least effective of the designated hitters in the American League are outperforming all the pitchers in the National League.

Take the four worst batting averages among the designated hitters—Milwaukee, the New York Yankees, California and Kansas City—and compare them with the entire pitching staff in the National League.

All pitchers in the National League have batted 405 times, 98 more than the designated hitters of Milwaukee, New York, California and Kansas City.

But the four team's DH's have scored 30 runs to 16 for all the NL pitchers, they've out-hit the pitchers 57-45 and driven in 36 runs, compared to 20.

Milwaukee's designated hitters have the worst batting average, according to statistics released Monday by the American League. They have hit only .169 in games through May 2. National League pitchers have a combined batting average of .111.

Overall, the designated hitters in the American League have a .256 combined batting average with 410 hits in 880 at bats, with 101 runs scored, 113 RBIs and 22 home runs, including two grand slams.

A spokesman for the American League said there was a "strong basis for the conclusion" that the performance of the designated hitters was primarily responsible for a 15-point hike in the combined league batting average.

In 24 games last year the league had an overall average of .231 with 101 homers and 620 runs batted in. This year the combined average is .245 with 186 home runs and 846 RBIs.

The designated hitter may not be the entire answer, "but he has to receive a big share of the credit for the sudden rise."

The Chicago White Sox hold the overall lead in the designated hitter category with a .339 batting average. Boston, with Orlando Cepeda working as a one-man gang, is second with .333, followed by Minnesota at .292, Baltimore at .270, Oakland at .239, Cleveland at .236 and Detroit at .200.

Designated hitters for Texas were hitting an even 200 through May 2. Kansas City followed at .198, California had .185, New York hit .183 and Milwaukee trailed with a .169 average.

Parsons leads Nascar

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Benny Parsons, who five years ago was wheeling a taxi cab in Detroit, has moved into the front position in the NASCAR standings with but one race remaining in the first leg of the Winston Cup series.

The Winston Cup, paying $120,000 to NASCAR Grand National drivers, is divided into three legs, during the racing season, the first leg ends with Saturday's Music City 420 at Nashville, Tenn. The winner of the first leg will receive $10,000. Second place pays $4,000.

There is a four-way battle for second spot. Former Winston leader James Hylton and Cecil Gordon are separated by less than a point for second place with Cale Yarborough and Richard Petty close behind.

Parsons, of Ellerbe, N.C., has a total of 2479.30 points following his third place finish in the wreck-stricken Winston 500 at Talladega, Ala., Sunday. He was previously third in the standings.

Gordon, of Horse Shoe, N.C., was sixth prior to the race. His fifth place finish jumped him to second in the standings with 2261.95 points. Hylton, of Inman, S.C., has 2261.00 points. Yarborough, in fourth position, has 2255.50 points while Petty, another victim of the 15-car pileup at Talladega, has 2201.50 points.

Mets beat Braves, snap loss streak

NEW YORK (UPI) — Felix Millan's third hit of the game capped a six-run eighth inning rally Monday night that gave the New York Mets a 7-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves and snapped a five-game losing streak.

Tom Seaver scattered six hits to earn his first victory since April 12.

The Braves led 2-1 in the eighth when Wayne Garrett and Rusty Staub led off with back-to-back singles against starter Pat Dobson. Former Met Danny Frisella relieved and Ed Kranepool, greeted his first pitch with a run-producing double. Jim Gosger was walked intentionally to fill the bases.

After Jerry Grote struck out, Frisella walked. Bud Harrison to force in the second run of the inning.

Seaver then hit an apparent double play grounder to short but second baseman Dave Johnson's relay went wild and Kranepool and Gosger crossed the plate. Ted Martinez walked and Millan singled home Seaver with the fifth run. Back-to-back walks to Garrett and Staub forced home another run before reliever Phil Niekro got Kranepool, the 12th man to bat in the inning, to ground out.

The Mets took a 1-0 lead in the fifth when Harrison and Seaver walked. Martinez hit into a forceout and Millan, with only two RBIs in 101 previous at bats, lined a run-producing single with two out.

The Braves went ahead in the seventh when Dusty Baker led off with his fifth homer, Martinez dropped Marty Perez' line to center for a one base error and Johnny Oates followed a sacrifice with an RBI double. Seaver struck out eight and walked two in gaining his third victory against three Johnson. Pat Dobson was saddled with his fourth loss in six decisions.

Charged up Knicks seeking decisive victory tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks rediscovered gold in their ranks and the rush is on for a second National Basketball Association championship in four years.

Willis Reed and Earl Monroe were not standouts in the first two games of the title series with the Lakers as the teams split a pair in Los Angeles.

There was a complete reversal in form on Sunday, however, as the two Knicks turned resourceful and helped beat Los Angeles 87-83. Reed scored his 1973 playoff high of 22 points and held Will Chamberlain on almost equal terms under the boards.

Monroe tallied 21 points and jumped Gail Goodrich's scoring radar with a brilliant second half defensive job that held the Lakers guard to two points after intermission. Goodrich netted 12 in the first half.

"Earl hurt us," admitted an injured Jerry West, who may see only limited action in tonight's fourth game because of a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg. "Monroe is a different player now. He's quicker and we've got to do a job on him."

Monroe scored from all angles, hitting from outside, going around Chamberlain for reverse layups and contributing a game-high six assists.

Reed collected 10 rebounds to 13 for Chamberlain, but his main asset was in making Will leave his post to stop the Knick captain's outside shooting. This left the lane open for Monroe's drives.

"Will intimidates you," Reed said. "You have to think about his blocking your shot when you go inside against him."

Monroe agreed that the 7-2 Chamberlain could make a player change his mind about shooting.

"When he intimidates you, there's a tendency to stop dribbling toward the hoop and change direction for the corner," Monroe explained. "He's taller, but I'm quicker."

The player who appeared most apprehensive of Chamberlain was Walt Frazier, usually the Knicks' strongest offensive weapon. Frazier did very little driving against Big Will, contenting himself with trying for high arching shots that Chamberlain can't block for fear of a goaltending call.

Los Angeles, seeking to reverse the losing trend, must depend on the presence of West to engineer enthusiasm, just as Boston did with injured John Havlicek. The Celtics forced the Knicks into seven games before bowing to New York.

"I've never missed a playoff game," said West, who pulled a hamstring in his left leg during the second game of the current series. "There's pain in both legs now, but I can't let it stop me."

West has scored 72 points in the three games against New York. He was en route to another fine scoring effort when he was hurt in the third quarter Sunday. "Mr. Clutch" scored 16 points in the first half, but only one point after intermission as he sat out most of the second half because Coach Bill Sharman refused to risk further injury for the veteran guard.

Additional exemptions go to 1972 U.S. amateur champion Vinny Luny, 1972 Masters champion Tommy Aaron, PGA champions of the last five years not otherwise exempt—Julius Boros, Raymond Floyd, Dave Stockton and Gary Blayer—the 15 lowest scorers and ties for 15th place in the 1972 Open and the 15 leaders on the PGA tour in the USGA point system in 1972.

Rankin advanced on list

ATLANTA (UPI) — Judy Rankin moved up from 15th to eighth on the LPGA money list this week thanks to her victory in the Raleigh (N.C.) Golf Classic.

The $1,500 Miss Rankin won Sunday raised her earning for the year to $16,336.

The top seven spots remained unchanged with Kathy Whitworth, only double winner during the first 10 LPGA tournaments of this year, on top with $40,489.

Miss Whitworth is followed by Mickey Wright, $35,569; Joyce Kuzmierski, $28,933; Carol Mann, $28,430; Betty Burfeindt, $23,000; Mary Mills, $18,832; Marlene Hagge, $16,689 and Miss Rankin.

Rounding out the top 10 are Sandra Palmer at $15,567 and JoAnn Prentice at $14,753.

Next LPGA stop is the $30,000 Lady Carling Open at Towson, Md., Friday through Sunday.

Montreal could clinch hockey playoff tonight

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens, with three hockey victories already under their belts, could capture their 16th Stanley Cup Tuesday night against the Chicago Black Hawks.

Mayor Jean Drapeau is planning a parade Wednesday for the team through the streets of Canada's largest city if the Canadiens should wrap it up Tuesday.

The Canadiens won the fourth game of the Stanley Cup final round Sunday, as they defeated the Black Hawks 4-0 in Chicago, to grab a commanding 3-1 lead in their best of seven series.

Despite the Canadiens' victory in Chicago, Head Coach Scotty Bowman is still worried about the Hawks.

"I feel we'll have to give our best and play 60 minutes of hockey," he said.

Bowman is looking for his first Stanley Cup victory as a coach. Referring to Chicago, Bowman said, "They have a real leader in Stan Mikita. He's one of the best players in the league and they miss him when he's not on action." Mikita was out of action for the second game of the series with a severe finger injury.

Mikita, a native Czechoslovakian, was a bit disheartened after the Hawks' loss Sunday.

"Everyone of us is going to have to go all out on Tuesday," he said. "Not just one or two lines either. All the lines will have to get off their butts and get going. We'll have to forecheck the Canadiens in their own end, that's the only chance we'll have to help ourselves. Remember they still have to win that fourth game."

Chicago's veteran coach Billy Reay wasn't willing to give up either.

"I think my team can play better than that. I know we can," he said.

Frank Mafrovlisch, Montreal's left winger who has been picking up a lot of criticism for his play in this series, would just as well have the season end Tuesday.

"It's been a long year for me," said the 500 goal career scorer. "Except for two games I missed last fall in the Canada-Russia series, I haven't had any time off from hockey since August, and that's a long time."

Golfers begin to qualify

FAR HILLS, N.J. (UPI) — A field of 3,577 golfers will begin local qualifying tests to fill 117 places for the 1973 U.S. Open Golf Championship at the Oakmont, Pa., Country Club, June 14-17.

The tournament proper will have a 150-man field, but 33 places already are set for players who are exempt from all qualifying. Another 69 are exempt from local qualifying but will compete in sectional play.

There are 3,679 entries for this year's Open, third largest in U.S. Golf Association history, although considerably less than the record 4,279 who signed up for the 1971 championship at Ardmore, Pa. The USGA has limited sectional qualifying to 600.

The 3,577 men will tee off on either Monday or Tuesday, May 21 or 22, at 56 sites in local qualifying rounds. They compete for 531 slots in June 7-8 sectional play at 13 locations.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus leads the list of exempt players. Also entered without qualifying are former Open champions Lee Trevino, Tony Jacklin and Orville Moody.

Additional exemptions go to 1972 U.S. amateur champion Vinny Luny, 1972 Masters champion Tommy Aaron, PGA champions of the last five years not otherwise exempt—Julius Boros, Raymond Floyd, Dave Stockton and Gary Blayer—the 15 lowest scorers and ties for 15th place in the 1972 Open and the 15 leaders on the PGA tour in the USGA point system in 1972.

Kentucky trying for playoff lead against Indiana tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Darnell Hillman at forward and veteran Roger Brown on the bench in the revamped lineup used by coach Bob Leonard Saturday. The Pacers defeated the Colonels 90-86 Saturday in the bruising fourth game struggle that saw Mount and Indiana's Donnie Freeman get into a fistfight.

Hillman gives them better defense," Mullaney said. "He can be awfully tough on Dan Issel—about as tough as anyone in the league. With Hillman in there, George McGinnis can concentrate more on offense and not worry so much about picking up defensive fouls while guarding Issel."

As Mullaney sees it, the Indiana game plan is no secret. "Just try to get Artis Gilmore and Dan Issel in foul trouble early and minimize their playing time," Gilmore was saddled with four fouls early Saturday when his output shrank to 18 points and eight rebounds.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see them going to Mel Daniels as much as they can. I don't put some defensive fouls on Artis," he said. "But that can be risky, too, because Daniels could get some offensive fouls called against him when there is contact with Gilmore."

Houston shuts out Montreal Expos 6-0

MONTREAL (UPI) — Cesar Cedeno hit his fifth home run of the season and Dave Roberts shut out the Montreal Expos on six hits Monday night as the Houston Astros bent the Expos 6-0 for their ninth straight victory.

Cedeno's homer came with none on in the eighth inning when the Astros were leading 3-0. Houston jumped on Montreal starter and loser Eric McNally who dropped his first game after winning his first two decisions for three runs in the second inning.

Bob Watson and Lee May hit consecutive singles before Doug Rader flied out. Johnny Edwards followed with another single to score Watson. Tommy Helms singled to load the bases and Roberts' helped his own cause with the fifth single of the inning to drive in another run. Jim Wynn's sacrifice fly scored Edwards to put the Astros in front 3-0.

In the ninth inning Montreal leftfielder Clyde Mashore, who was making his first start in an Expo uniform this season since returning from the Peninsula Whips of the International League, dropped Edwards' second fly. Wynn drove in his pop run of the game when he tripped Edwards home and then scored on a single by Roger Metzger.

Roberts picked up his third win against one loss while walking seven and striking out two. The best the Expos could do was to get to him for two hits in the opening inning but he ended the threat by forcing Mashore to hit into a fielder's choice.

The $1,500 Miss Rankin won Sunday raised her earning for the year to $16,336.

The top seven spots remained unchanged with Kathy Whitworth, only double winner during the first 10 LPGA tournaments of this year, on top with $40,489.

Miss Whitworth is followed by Mickey Wright, $35,569; Joyce Kuzmierski, $28,933; Carol Mann, $28,430; Betty Burfeindt, $23,000; Mary Mills, $18,832; Marlene Hagge, $16,689 and Miss Rankin.

Rounding out the top 10 are Sandra Palmer at $15,567 and JoAnn Prentice at $14,753.

Next LPGA stop is the $30,000 Lady Carling Open at Towson, Md., Friday through Sunday.

Crampton tops money chart

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bruce Crampton's $41,000 paycheck for winning the Houston Open Sunday lifted the Australian-born golfer to the top of the PGA money standings on earnings of $152,866 in 1973.

Jack Nicklaus, absent from the Houston tourney, lost the money lead he had held since the Masters as he dropped to second place with $146,064. Lee Trevino is third with $125,881 and Lanny Wadkins, fourth at $97,333.

Rounding out the top 10 are Chi Chi Rodriguez, $72,824; Rod Eganeth, $67,434; Bob Dickson, $66,279; Johnny Miller, $62,435; Horner Blancas, $58,233; and Bud Allin, $57,652.

Rain persists at Indianapolis track

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Rain and a spin by John Mahler brought out the yellow light at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway during practice Monday.

The track was closed for the day at 3:45 p.m., when the intermittent showers persisted.

Mahler, of Bettendorf, Iowa, earned the dubious distinction of having the first spin at practice since the track opened April 28 for a month of preparation for the May 28 running of the 500-mile classic.

Driving an Eagle, Mahler looped the car in the third turn as the back end simply drifted towards the wall. He slid more than 700 feet, mostly to a stop at the end of the short north chute.

The car did not make contact with the wall, and other cars were on the track at the time, but none had trouble dodging Mahler.

Mark Donohue, Newtown Square, Pa., was the fastest of the 13 drivers for the day. The 1972 winner was clocked at a "snail pace" 184.011 miles per hour around the 2 1/2-mile oval.

Rookie Johnny Parsons, Indianapolis, son of 1950 winner Johnny Parsons, was timed at 179.211 Monday, second fastest of the day.

Making their first appearance this year were Sam Posey, San Juan Capistrano, Calif., and Larry Cannon, Danville, Ill. Posey was just in from Lime Rock, Conn., where Sunday he finished second to Mel Minter in the Schnafer Trans-Am.

The rain Monday, with the possibility of more showers Tuesday, began worrying drivers in their search for speed because Saturday is the first day of qualifications for the 33 starting positions.

Most drivers will take at least a 180 average over the four-lap qualification run to make the field this year.

frantic 89-80 victory that clinched the current series against the Soviet Union.

In a game that matched the driving intensity of Munich, the Americans found themselves trailing 73-69 with only 50 seconds left to play, although by that point the Russians had lost four key players due to fouls.

But DiGregorio, the flashy 6-foot guard from Providence who led all scorers with 25 points, sank a long one-hander to cut the U.S. deficit in half and just 14 seconds later, he hit a driving shot to gain a tie.

The U.S. had a chance to win it in regulation when Ron Behlgen rebounded a missed Russian shot with 21 seconds to go but, after running down the clock, DiGregorio missed the last shot.

But he made up for it in the opening minute of overtime as first he hit a driving shot and then followed with a shot from the left corner. The Russians managed to match those four points but George Karl followed with his first basket of the game on a jump shot to put the U.S. in front for good at 79-77, and big Marvin Barnes, a strongman under the boards, followed with three consecutive baskets for a comfortable 85-77 lead.

The Russians could counter with only three foul shots and after DiGregorio thrilled the crowd of 15,734 with a brilliant display of ball control to kill the clock. Sven Nater and Barnes added final field goals to swell the winning margin to nine points.

It was the fourth victory against a single loss for the U.S. in this cross country tour against the Russians and clinched the series which has one game to go, at Baltimore Wednesday night.

Barnes was the second high scorer with 21 points. Tom Henderson had 14 and Behagen 10.

Aleksandr Belov, the hero of the Russian victory in the Olympic games at Munich, led the Soviet Union in scoring with 13 points although he was in foul trouble in the second half and fouled out with 0:50 to go in regulation time.

The Russian team, trailing for most of the game and losing a total of five men one in overtime to foul trouble, put on a magnificent show and looked like they could register another upset when Ivan Dvornik, a heavily built 6-foot-0, put the visitors ahead 68-67 when he received credit for a basket on a goaltending call against Len Elmore. The USSR then built its lead to 73-69 before DiGregorio went to work.

There were 73 fouls called, 37 against the U.S., but the Americans lost only Elmore on fouls during regulation. Fred Saunders and Behagen then fouled out in overtime.

The Americans led by as many as nine points in the first half but a series of turnovers by the U.S., combined with some cold shooting, allowed the Russians to score seven straight points and close to within 36-35 at the half.

The U.S. had made its spurt in the first half when Coach Bob Cousy inserted Nater, Barnes and Elmore into the lineup at the 8:15 mark. Within minutes, they stretched the U.S. advantage from 16-12 to 24-16 with each of the substitutes providing one basket along with rebounding help.

The U.S. outrebounded the USSR 32-28 with Elmore getting eight and Behagen seven.

Tim Bassett signs pact

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The American Basketball Association's San Diego Comets' second-round draft choice Tim Bassett Monday.

The 6-foot-8, 225-pounder from Georgia was a seventh-round choice of the National Basketball Association Buffalo Braves.

"I never considered going with Buffalo," he said. "There's no comparison between Buffalo and San Diego in the winter."

Bassett led Georgia Braves with 14.2 a game and also averaged 17 points a game.

Phillies beat Reds in 14th

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Pedro Borbon walked Mike Ryan with the bases loaded Monday night to force in the winning run in the 14th inning as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2.

The winning rally started with two outs and none on when Greg Luzinski walked and Bill Plummer, a catcher who wound up at third base when the Reds ran out of infielders, booted Bill Robinson's grounder for an error.

The runners advanced on a passed ball before Mike Tompkins intentionally was walked to fill the bases. Ryan then drew his walk on a 3-and-2 pitch to force in Luzinski.

All the Phillies runs were unearned.

They got their first two in the second when Bill Robinson singled, came all the way around as Mike Anderson's grounder got through Dave Concepcion for a three-base error and Terry Harmon Cincinnati.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day. Take the best from your past, analyze it and update for big progress towards your most desired ambition. Be sure to give some compliment to those you want to see more.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good day to contact friends and cooperate with them on projects of hobbies of mutual liking. Greater happiness is possible with the one you love. Stop being so belligerent.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look about your home and decide how to improve it for more harmony, comfort, and beauty. Plan to entertain more in the future. Put across that idea which can increase your income.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find the right method now that can make you more productive and active and bring you more money and happiness. Get together with relatives, friends and join forces. A good neighbor can be helpful also.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate on big sums you can command, instead of worrying about the small bills you owe. A big business expert can give you suggestions that are invaluable. Follow them to the letter. Buy a comfortable pair of shoes.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can put your best foot forward now with others and accomplish a good deal through social activities in p.m. Some entertaining can be helpful. Invite only the right people.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Sit in the quiet of your study and decide how to have more of the good things of life, but keep your ideas to yourself. Follow your hunches, which are accurate now. Avoid acting hastily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You can gad about, see people with excellent results if you project your special type of charm. You can handle affairs wisely. Don't let an unfriendly person interfere with your progress.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study whatever is puzzling to you and come up with the correct answers; go to right sources for data you need. Plan your romantic pastime for the p.m. early if single, otherwise mate is most cooperative.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Investigate new interests that are appealing and get out of that dull existence. Make new friends among those whose experience has been different from yours. Avoid that depressing person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know exactly how to handle many responsibilities today. Make collections, pay bills. Figure out how to respond to mate better. Come to that time when you are so happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Being with associates so you can make better arrangements for the future is wise today. Cement better relations. A good day for reconciliations with others. Take the initiative and all day time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can be highly efficient at all that work you have ahead of you and get excellent results. Interest new people and co-workers in some plan you have that can be most profitable. Avoid one who gossips.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who can make a real name for self, provided you encourage to think big, to get into matters of policy with others that can bring real success; and not to become so involved in small details of a project that big issues are neglected. Give good religious training and good diet for best results. Sports should not be stressed. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

To that long list of bright accomplishments by Leonardo da Vinci, add the discovery of the fact that the age of a tree can be determined by a count of its rings.

It's known politicians in general tip none too heavily in restaurants. But that elected politician said tip best is the city mayor. Surveys show senators still tip least.

When reporters asked that renowned world traveler Lowell Thomas to name the world's most beautiful and exciting city, he listed—10 candidates—1. San Francisco, 2. London, 3. Paris, 4. Bangkok, 5. Rio de Janeiro, 6. Denver, 7. Seattle, 8. Portland, 9. San Diego, 10. Colorado Springs.

ROBIN HOOD

Q: "Is it true that the historians now have proved that the real Robin Hood liked men, not women?"

A: Not true. The historians say they're certain he never knew anybody called Maid Marian, that he lived a chaste life in the woods with no feminine companionship whatsoever, but that the ballads of his time indicate he was dedicated, devoutly religious and exceedingly masculine. His real name is said to have been Robin De Kyme. And the English researcher James Lees contends he was born in 1226, most probably at Kyme in Lancashire, and lived in the reign of Edward I, not Richard I. Lees says he was no hotshot with a longbow, incidentally. Just so.

Did I tell you a giraffe's tongue is about 18 inches long?

ANOTHER FEAR

Among the oddball fears, also list, please, something called "night of sleep phobia." He who suffers from that weird condition tends to get both anxious and irritated whenever he notices somebody doze off. A husband maybe pops in temper, if he sees his wife drift off in her rocker during his preferred TV show. Or, vice versa, Dr. John Fleming of Guy's Hospital in London says the malady is rare but real.

Will bet you a quarter on the corner you can't name that long rod that glassblowers manipulate to make their pretties. It's a punty.

No newborn infant is afraid of water, it's said.

That turkeys stand upright when laying eggs is common knowledge. Less widely known is the fact that some chickens do likewise. Thus the long fall, as you might imagine, leads to crack the eggs. So savvy chicken farmers keep tabs on nests wherein they regularly find cracked eggs, then wrap the craning necks of those most upright birds.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened irregularly lower Tuesday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shortly after the opening bell, the Dow Jones Industrial Average had declined 1.20 to 940.43. However, advances outnumbered declines, 131 to 115, among 301 issues across the tape.

The stock market fell Monday. Volume, which had showed some strength the previous week, petered out as investors worried over the jump in prime lending rate to 7 per cent by most of the nation's major banks. The Dow slipped 3.16 to 950.71, calling to a halt temporary technical rally begun last week.

Pears over rising inflation were heightened by predictions of higher steel prices by the chairman of U.S. Steel, Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers Monday tried to ease some of the concerns over the course of the nation's economy.

He said while the economy, like the stock market would fluctuate, large disturbances will not occur without exceedingly foolish and exceedingly improbable policies.
